See three contributing problems

4 deputies speak out on crime

By Carolyn Walker

Deputies from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department say they share citizen concern about the recent rash of criminal activity in Independence Township.

But they add they are frustrated by out-of-town criminals, an uninformed public and a shortage of manpower.

Before the Monday night meeting which addressed the potential for neighborhood watches, three of the six deputies who patrol Independence explained the crime situation from their perspective. All three are Independence residents.

Officer shortage is a significant problem, according to Deputy Jim Snover, who has worked Independence 12 years.

On three days a week, two officers per shift patrol

Independence together, he says.

The remaining four days, the shifts are staffed by one officer and that is simply not enough, Snover says, adding that multiple calls frequently come in from wide-spread areas of the 36-square-mile township.

"You can't spread yourself that thin and do an adequate job," says Deputy Robert Gohl. "Calls can vary so much."

Citing an example, Snover estimates deputies responded to 1,200 calls during the month of January, including family fights, B&Es, larcenies and property destructions. Those figures do not include traffic citations or accidents.

To emphasize their frustrations, the officers explain one time-consuming, recurring problem: trespassers who ride off-the-road vehicles at the former Double D farm off Clintonville Road.

Deputies have been requested by township officials to issue citations there because of two fatalities at the site last year, according to Deputy Thomas Quisenberry.

If a call comes in that there is a B&E in Thendara Park while he is answering a call at the Double D, it could take him 20 minutes to respond, says Snover, who works alone four days a week.

"I can't be over there and taking other calls," he says. "It's virtually impossible to cover all the calls."

It can take as much as 10 minutes to get off the motorcycle-torn farm terrain and 10 minutes to wind his way to and through Thendara to the incident site, he adds.

Since May, he and Quisenberry have issued 101 citations at the Double D, Snover says. One of those was for an Independence individual. The rest were to out-of-towners from as far away as Detroit.

There-in lies another problem, the officers agree.

Many criminals are coming to Independence from southern Oakland County because of its easy accessibility via I-75, Dixie Highway and M-15, Snover says, calling it "transient crime."

Deputy Ed Stout, who lives and works in Springfield Township, agrees. "They get their property loaded up and jump right on the freeway and go," he says.

In addition, responding to calls about family fights or the destruction of mailboxes constitute time-consuming, though necessary aspects of their jobs, the officers say. "It's the type of call everybody wants a report written on, but the solvability is almost nil," says Stout.

Those same incidents result in limited time for Neighborhood watches proposed

Sheriff and public voice crime concerns

By Carolyn Walker

Approximately 50 residents braved the rainy November weather to hear Oakland County Sheriff John Nichols discuss neighborhood watch programs Monday night.

Nichols and Sgt. Don McClellan of the sheriff's department spent over an hour talking about home and self-protection at the general meeting at Independence Township hall.

Most of the residents in attendance were from the northwest quadrant of the township, which has been the site of several recent burglaries, said township Trustee Carol Balzarini, who organized the event with Supervisor Frank Ronk.

After listening to the officers' presentation, several citizens raised questions about police protection and the nature of crime in Independence. Many said they had been victims of breaking and enterings (B&Es).

Two deputies who patrol Independence and one who patrols Springfield Township were also in the audience.

The purpose of the meeting was to instruct citizens on how they might organize watch programs in their own neighborhoods with the assistance of sheriff's personnel.

"Our purpose tonight is not to sell you a bill of goods," said Nichols. "(Watches) are not the panacea to all evil (and we're) not attempting to tell you we can't do anything because we don't have enough police out there."

Before turning the meeting over to McClellan, Nichols constructed a scenario of how crime happens, saying it's founded on "individuals, motivation and something to go after."

"(It's) based on a series of profit and loss," Nichols said. "Your job and our job is to increase the risk that a thief takes."

"Learn to drive defensively, walk defensively and live defensively."

According to McClellan, 75 percent of the crimes committed in Independence are the result of area youths between the ages of 13 and 21. Most crimes occur between 2 and 8 p.m., he said.

"A lot of times it's very unintentional. . . . It just happens."

Audience member Springfield Deputy Ed Stout, added that several B&Es had been the work of Detroit, Troy and Sterling Heights individuals.

"These were guys that have been hitting places," he said. "Yes, we have had some people from other areas."

Several residents asked Nichols about the typical response time to alarms or calls and the need for more officers.

"Learn to drive defensively, walk defensively and live defensively."

—Sheriff John Nichols

"The problem lies in the availability of a response unit," Nichols said. "More cops is not the panacea. There's so many unknowns that you're dealing with."

In Independence, one to two officers patrol the township per shift.

In describing a typical night, audience member Deputy Gordie Hays said, "It's busy, busy, busy. Normally we are sent from call to call to call." He emphasized that more police would not necessarily decrease crime, but would lead to better apprehension.

McClellan agreed, and said that deputies would "not drive 100, 80 or even 60 miles-per-hour," to respond to calls, thus endangering themselves or others.

"More police doesn't mean that they're (criminals) not going to do it," McClellan said, "but better apprehension."

Before closing the meeting, the officers told the audience that sheriff department representatives expected routine patrols and follow-up work.

"(We are) caught in the middle on a lot of calls," adds Gohl, who says fighting families or traffic violators frequently resent their involvement.

According to Snover, the addition of one more officer per shift and two more investigative officers (currently there is one, Det. Sgt. Doug Hummel) would enable local deputies to "break even."

The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) recommends that communities have one police officer for every 1,500 residents, per shift, says Gohl. Independence has a population of about 21,000.

The officers also advocate citizen help. "Rarely would you see any officers who are opposed to having people involvement," says Stout. "You just can't stress enough personal involvement."

Adds Snover, "If you see one of the deputies, ask him. (The public) don't really understand what we encounter on our jobs."

would be willing to meet with any neighborhood representatives desiring to establish a citizen's watch.

McClellan emphasized that 51 percent of the residents in an area would need to participate and handed out safety brochures.

"We should instill in ourselves the need to take protection," Nichols said.

"If crime prevention is going to work, you're going to make it work . . . and reap the benefits," McClellan said. "If it's going to fly or not depends on how much effort you put into it. It's your program, not ours."

Police millage defeated often

Voters in Independence Township have defeated a millage increase for police services five times since 1976, according to Clerk Richard Holman.

Township residents currently pay 1 mill for services through the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. Voters approved the 10-year millage in 1980.

The 1 mill generated $265,814.64 in police funds for 1985, with an additional estimated $24,000 generated by the Village of Clarkston, which contracts for police protection through the township.

The township pays about $337,000 for police services for 12 months, Holman says. The figure includes six deputies, their equipment and supervisory costs.

During budget adjustments at the Nov. 5 meeting, the township board agreed to transfer $78,000 from the 1985 general fund to the police fund to meet payments. An additional $48,000 is expected to be transferred from the general fund in 1986.

Springfield nixes rezoning of Girl Scout land

By Dan Vandenhemel

The zoning of 188 acres of land in Springfield Township is staying the same, recreational.

The township board denied a request for the rezoning by the property owner, Metro Detroit Girl Scout Council. The application requested a change from recreational to residential with a minimum of one acre lot sizes.

Voting for the denial were Supervisor Collin Walls, Treasurer Patricia Kramer and Trustee William Whitley. Voting for the rezoning were Clerk Calvin Walters and Trustee Glen Vermilye.

The board made the decision at its Nov. 13 meeting in front of a number of residents in opposition to a zoning change.

John Cornies of Big Lake Road said he was opposed to the rezoning because he'd like to see the area remain rural.

"I just moved into Springfield Township from Clarkston because I wanted to get away from a busy area. I would move again if the rezoning is approved," said Mike Fedio of Rusty Lane.

William Reddish, the Girl Scouts' director of properties and purchasing, attended the meeting but remained silent.

After the meeting Reddish said, "We know exactly what we are going to do about it, but I have no comment on it at this time."

The motion to deny the rezoning by Whitley included his concern for maintaining the low density population in the area and the environment impact of the wetlands.

Walters said his reason for supporting the rezoning was the change would have been in line with the residential property in that area.

Of the 188 acres, about 50 are wetlands and would have stayed as is. A total of over 240 acres are owned by the Girls Scouts, close to 50 are already zoned for one acre residential.

An engineering report presented by the township board stated there would be 83 acres available for construction.

The land surrounding the Girl Scout property is zoned for one-half acre residential lot sizes.

United Way urges survey response

Daniel Artman has a message for the 280 Independence Township households that received mail surveys last week from the United Way of Pontiac-North Oakland.

"It's important for the people who received the surveys to return them to the United Way office, because we need their input for the survey to be a success," said Artman, public relations director for United Way.

"The results from the survey will let us know what the responders see as being the most important (health and human service) needs in northern Oakland County," he added.

When the surveys are tallied and reports completed by the end of 1986, the results are to be used to guide the distribution of donated funds, influence programs of the United Way and inform community leaders of the concerns of their residents.

The United Way represents 58 health and human service agencies.

The project included the mailing of 5,000 surveys in the Pontiac-north Oakland service areas, which include Brandon, Independence, Orion, Oxford and Waterford townships and the cities of Auburn Hills and Pontiac.

The number of surveys sent to each community was based on its percentage of the total population, Artman said.

Residents who received the surveys were selected at random from a mailing list, he said. In addition, the surveys were mailed to people who work in the communities and to the 58 United Way agencies.

For more information on the Community Needs Assessment Project, call the United Way of Pontiac-North Oakland at 456-8805.

ATV fence barrier approved for park

All-terrain vehicles zooming through the fitness trail at Clintonwood Park have prompted an order for $2,738 worth of fencing.

The 970 feet of chain-link fencing are to be funded from a Michigan Water and Land Conservation Grant.

The grant was recently obtained by Timothy Doyle, director of the township parks and recreation department.

"We are having a big problem with ATVs," said Doyle.

Most of the vehicles come from neighborhoods bordering the Clarkston Road park, he added.

The township board reviewed bids from four companies Nov. 5 and approved Wee-Guard Fence Co. of Waterford for the project.

The new fencing is to be added to an existing fence near the southwest corner of the park, Doyle said.

Guard cost split by council, board

The wages of the school crossing guard at M-15 and Middle Lake Road will be shared equally by the Clarkston school district and the Village of Clarkston, according to Superintendent of schools Milford Mason.

The cost should come to approximately $1,200 for each, Mason said.

Prior to the agreement, the guard was paid with village funds.

With the authorization of the school board, Mason said, he approved splitting the cost after meeting with village council Trustee James Schultz.

Members of the council confirmed the decision to split the cost at their Nov. 11 meeting.

The agreement, which follows on the heels of a similar agreement with Independence Township for a crossing guard at Maybee Road, is to be retroactive to the beginning of the school year, Mason said.

Petitions are available for village offices

Petitions are available for Clarkston village residents interested in running for positions on the village council.

Six two-year terms are due to expire next year, according to village Clerk Norma Goyette. They include the positions of president, treasurer, clerk and three trustees.

Petitions can be obtained at the village offices on Depot Road between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The deadline for turning in petitions, to be signed only by registered village voters, is Dec. 17.

If two or more persons from the same party run for the same office, a primary will be held in February, Goyette said. If only one person per party runs, there will be no primary.

The election is scheduled in March.

David Potts, of Springfield Township, was pulled from his car several minutes before it burst into flames following a car/train accident at Big Lake Road west of Andersonville Road in Springfield on Nov. 13. According to a Springfield firefighter, Potts drove into the side of a train that was coming to a stop at approximately 3:30 a.m. Alone in the accident, he was transported to the Pontiac General Waterford Ambulatory Care Center, where he was treated and released.

Employee contracts approved by Clarkston board of education

Two employee contract agreements were unanimously approved by the Clarkston board of education Nov. 11.

"We have, I believe, two more to go. This is the seventh now we've worked on since June," said Conrad Bruce, administrative assistant and chief negotiator for the district.

The head custodian contract, which covers 10 staff members, includes raises of 25 to 35 cents an hour at every level, Bruce said.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Nov. 20, 1985 5

The raises represent a 6 percent increase the first year and a 5.8 percent increase the second year of the two-year contract.

A one-year contract was approved for the administration office secretaries and clerk.

The seven secretaries and clerk will receive a raise of over 6 percent because their previous wages were "below some districts immediately surrounding," Bruce said. "We felt to be competitive, we had to go a little over 6 percent."

Village PUD objections

Concerning Planned Unit Development (PUD) for the village, so many townspeople have spoken favorably about objections, which I made at the Nov. 11 council meeting, that I am taking this means to extend my comments.

First, let me commend the council members for their sincere efforts to assure orderly change and growth. It is my belief, however, that PUD would work contrary to their stated interest.

Let's look briefly at the 30 years my family has lived here, during which both my wife and I served on the council—and battled through more than one assault against the integrity of the village.

During that time, the largest share of investment in the village has been made by homeowners, buying existing houses, improving and remodeling, and to a limited degree, building new.

Deviations from this pattern have been the construction of four multiple units, only one of which has been visibly out of character with the neighboring environment.

There have been also three additions to the business district and varying degrees of remodeling existing structures.

All of this change has taken place within guidelines established by custom, initially, and by zoning ordinances more recently.

Under existing law, variances to zoning restrictions are granted in cases of hardship—that is unfair or inequitable restraint.

An exception was the somewhat tortuous maneuvering that permitted the addition of the Ritter house to the business district, and was considered in the public interest.

All of this takes time and tax-derived money, which is as it should be. In the end, the process has worked reasonably well to maintain the character of the village—one which is essentially low-key.

Planned Unit Development offers to radically alter the process of controlling change—and quite possibly the character of the village.

It would, in my opinion, provide a packaging process, which, by its nature, would be an invitation to professional developers to circumvent the present zoning ordinance. And, it includes a very appealing diversion: Design approval.

Consider these conditions if PUD is enacted:

1) There will be no need to prove or show hardship to win variance. The question will be whether the package makes sense to present and future councils, appointed boards, and those members of the public who will attend hearing after hearing. (Developer money and talent can be counted on, usually, to outlast public concern and patience).

Councils have been, and will be, good, bad and indifferent. Which of these will prevail in the public interest under developer pressure?

2) The requirement for design approval can shift focus from the purpose of a development to its appearance. Is it pretty? More to the point, is it "colonial"? Or, whatever fashion may prevail. (The Methodist church is now the only Colonial structure in the village. Next nearest is the A&P.)

Must future council members qualify in architectural aesthetics? And, viewed objectively, which of the older business structures would be acceptable if presented as an addition or replacement? Maybe two.

Yet these, as much as the residential streets, make up the basic character and quality of the village. The reality of Clarkston is that it is a design-agglomerate that somehow fits together.

3) Planned Unit Development makes good sense for large areas such as Independence Township, where control of runaway growth and development, involving large acreages, is important.

But change and development affecting Clarkston's few hundred acres and homes—and businesses—has been controlled reasonably under present law.

I do not believe that PUD offers a combination of process, politics and public interest that will improve on present methods, as they have worked in Clarkston.

To the contrary, I believe PUD would attract speculative investment, which would be adverse to the character and interests of the village.

Wet musings

Kathy Greenfield

Random thoughts after a month of mostly rainy days:

Last week, I was mugged by the newspaper vending machine on the corner. When I bent over to pluck out the paper, my purse strap slipped off and looped over the hinge.

Instead of going "clunk," the sound of the door trying to shut was more like "clumph." I knew then that something was awry.

"You stupid thing," I said out loud. I had visions of having to find another 20 cents to get my purse out. Luckily, that was not the case.

Personal note to the man walking by when I was conversing with the vending machine: I have a legitimate excuse—I was in a hurry to get out of the rain.

Two days after I began taking megavitamins, I came down with one of the worst colds I've had in years.

Moral: Money can't keep viruses away.

Every time I needed my umbrella, it was in the car. Every time I was in the car with my umbrella, it stopped raining before I got where I was going.

The umbrella still looks like new. My naturally curly hair has reached record-breaking frizzy heights.

Too much rain really makes people edgy.

One morning, my husband-the-optimist said, "Use your imagination. Pretend it's a beautiful sunny day."

"Grrrr," I replied.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Wonder where swearing came from?

My uncle Clifton used to say the only reason people swear is because they aren't intelligent enough to think of correct words.

I like him anyway.

Swearing, using some really bad words, seems to be about the most "in" thing going these days. At major college stadiums, in many movies, in practically all popular books, and on the streets of America four letter words punctuate the air with increasing frequency.

Often it seems, the louder the better. I think it is getting to be too much, but that's not what prompted the subject this week.

Once in a while a Veteran's Day brings a memory of my days in service that causes an inward if not an outward smile.

Our ship was in Siapan in the South Pacific and the war had just ended. A movie was going to be shown up on deck that night.

At dusk, the Captain and the next two highest officers came aboard ship with three women. Enlisted men's experience with American women in the Pacific was rare, but the sight of them on our ship was none the less appreciated.

Not so appreciated were our leaders, some of whom we knew were married, escorting the women to the wheelhouse where they could see the movie, and we couldn't see them.

The first couple minutes of the movie were uneventful. Then slowly the crew turned. Hands were raised into the projected light, and onto the screen that brought great laughter when there should have been embarrassment.

And whispered words grew to crescendo. I mean bad words were shouted. The women were insulted to no end. And, the officers got hit by words and phrases that would singe a printer's ears.

Next day a bulletin, written by the ship's doctor, came out. It said, in part, 'next time the ship has guests the crew will please refrain from using words that rhyme with . . . and there followed the whole list of rhyming words.

But, you know what? The officers never brought another woman on board.

My brother Dair retired last month from A-C Spark Plug in Flint, and he brought one of the notices from his tool and dye department.

It reads: NOTICE. This department requires no physical fitness program. Everyone gets enough exercise jumping to conclusions, flying off the handle, running down the boss, knifing friends in the back, dodging responsibility and pushing their luck.

Car complaints

Lee Iococca can tout quality all he wants, but he sure has a long way to go to make a believer out of me. I am the proud owner of a 1985 Dodge 600. I have owned the car for approximately 13 months now and have put 22,500 miles on the car in that length of time.

My previous cars were GM cars, which I drove from 40,000 to 45,000 miles in two years before turning them in.

I have never put so much as one thin dime into my GM cars and problems were always fixed. It may have taken more than one trip to the dealer to fix them, but they always eventually got fixed.

Enter the Dodge 600!! So far, there are two problems with the car that Chrysler claims not to be able to fix.

The dealer claims that until Chrysler changes their engineering, these things will continue to be a problem.

Do you know how annoying it is to have your air conditioning whistle or to have your seat constantly clicking because the seat cracks are defective?

The topper is currently in progress. On the way to work yesterday, the driver's seat back gave way very nearly putting me into the back seat while driving on I-75.

I immediately went to the dealer who later in the day informed me (after consultation with Chrysler) that the repair job would have to be paid for by me to the tune of approximately $135.

'If it Fitz...'

Ethics not important

Jim Fitzgerald

"Ethics have nothing to do with it; it's a matter of survival."

That's what I heard from one of the 12 stockbrokers who contacted me after reading last week's column in which I questioned the ethics of a broker who quit Merrill Lynch without notice at 4 p.m. Friday and, in the next morning's mail, solicited his clients to move with him to another brokerage firm.

"It's not unethical to resign at 4 p.m. Friday, it's traditional," another broker said. "If you're dumb enough to give two weeks' notice, the firm fires you on the spot and prevents you from taking your records out of the office. I know one firm that discovered a broker was planning to quit so he was called in and fired, and when he returned to his desk, there were two deputies there to stop him from removing any material from the building."

All but one of the 12 brokers insisted most brokerage firms won't hire an account executive away from another firm unless he (she) brings clients with him.

"They tell us to quit suddenly at 4 p.m. Friday, so our old boss can't react—phone our clients and try to keep them—until after the weekend," said one broker who's changed employers twice. "They help us prepare solicitations to mail our clients the same day we resign."

"We are victims of the industry. If we don't act in what may appear an unethical manner, we're out of luck."

Most of the brokers—who are employed at five different brokerage firms—stressed that they work strictly on commission. Usually they get 37 cents of every dollar of brokerage fee business they generate—with the boss paying office overhead, advertising costs and a few benefits. They develop their own accounts, they claimed, and that gives them the right to take those accounts to another firm.

I heard two horror stories from brokers who claimed they were suddenly fired, after many years of prize-winning service, for not meeting a sales quota.

"I couldn't meet that quota without selling garbage and I wouldn't do that to my clients," one of them said. "But if you ask my old employer if they have a sales quota, they'll deny it."

I did ask, and they did deny it. I also asked three other management spokespersons if they fire brokers as soon as it's discovered they plan to quit. Only in rare cases, management answered, when it's necessary to protect the firm's accounts.

Which poses the question all-important when discussing business ethics: Who owns the accounts—the broker who handles them or the firm employing the broker?

The firm owns the accounts, without a doubt, management insists. Even many brokers concede this is technically true. But they still insist that management's bring-your-clients hiring policy makes it necessary to take accounts with them when they switch employers in the dark of night—"Ethics have nothing to do with it."

But it is true that most firms won't hire a broker from another firm unless he brings clients with him? Management emphatically denies it. However, I talked with only one job-switching broker who agreed. He said he'd "like to think" his present employer hired him for his expertise, not for the clients he brought with him.

While evaluating ethics in the brokerage business, it's fair to remember stock brokers aren't unique. Hairdressers, advertising executives and many other employees take clients along when switching employers.

Also you might recall that one of the best-known brokerage firms—E.F. Hutton—recently pleaded guilty to 2,000 counts of fraud.

How reasonable it is to expect good business ethics from crooks?

Washroom drama

Carolyn Walker

Names in this story have been changed to protect the innocent.

There are some things that are simply not done, whether because of the dictates of society, customs of the times or gentlemen's agreements.

ALL ABOUT TOWN

It has come to my attention of late, however, that a Mrs. Goodforu of Flint, in an act of desperation, undertook to defy convention and wash her child's Cabbage Patch Doll, Beryl Marie.

Mrs. Goodforu reportedly performed The Act alone in the privacy of her laundry room, while her unsuspecting daughter, mother to Beryl Marie, was at school.

If Beryl Marie is a typical Cabbage Patcher, she has probably been on vacations and to camp, slept with pets and lounged under kitchen tables—all the while maintaining her distance from water.

In short, she was probably filthy.

A euphemism for filthy, generally used by observers who note the dolls frequently have fat and grimy little arms and legs, is "well-loved."

Mothers of small children quickly become accustomed to "well-loved" dirt and other untidy conditions; but not so grandmothers, who frequently have been removed from such messes by the passage of time.

So it was that Mrs. Goodforu, grandmother-by-adoption to Beryl Marie, apparently reached her wit's end.

In an act that could only be described as bordering on temporary insanity, Mrs. Goodforu placed Beryl Marie in a pillow case. And, concerned only that she not be detected, tossed Beryl Marie into the washing machine.

Imagine if you will, the machine filling with water and spinning cycle to cycle, with poor Beryl Marie pounding about the drum with a thump, thump, thump.

Picture Mrs. Goodforu standing by the washer, her heart pounding in anticipation, eyes wide with concern.

Would Beryl Marie exit the machine in one piece? Would her braids still be in place or hopelessly tangled? Would she, in fact, come out clean? Would her daughter be heartbroken when she learned of Beryl Marie's ordeal?

Mrs. Goodforu undoubtedly stood anxiously by the washer, frequently checking the time to make sure school had not let out and her daughter had not arrived home during Beryl Marie's cleaning.

With the cycle completed, Mrs. Goodforu had only one option before her; to open the pillow case and peer inside. Not an appealing thought.

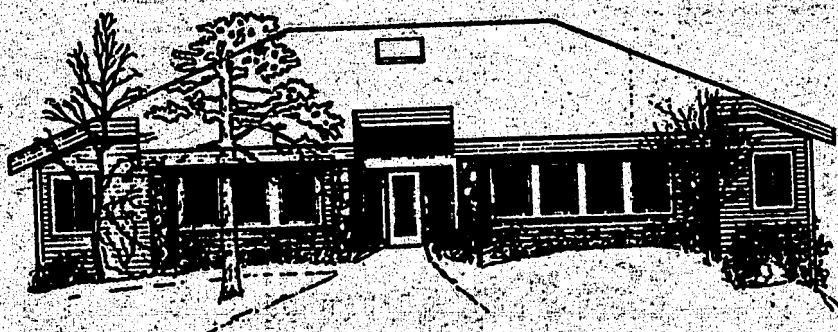

Imagine her glee when she extracted Beryl Marie from the case, a glistening, happy-clean being!

Congratulations are in order for Mrs. Goodforu, who dared to experiment where no woman had ventured before her. Who braved the potential wrath of her daughter for the worthy cause of cleanliness.

Necessity is the mother (grandmother?) of invention.

Good for you, Mrs. Goodforu.

Four receive awards for school work

For four Clarkston schools employees, peer recognition came in the form of certificates and black Cross pens engraved with "Clarkston Community Schools" in gold.

The four have received Employee of the Month honors this school year under the Employee Recognition Program approved by the board of education last year.

On Nov. 11, Bob Brumback and Duane Lewis received the tributes.

Brumback, the director of special services, was nominated by Clarkston Elementary School principal Bill Potvin.

Duane Lewis, the principal of Clarkston Junior High School, was nominated by Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent of schools.

At the Oct. 14 meeting, Larry Saville and Linc Smith received the honor.

Saville, a social studies teacher in the Alternative Education Program, was nominated by Ginny Farmer, adult education coordinator.

Smith, a Clarkston High School teacher, was nominated by staff members at the Clarkston Learning Center.

Winners of the Employee of the Month awards are selected by a committee chaired by Vaara. They are nominated by fellow staff members for contributions above and beyond normal work responsibilities.

The awards are given at the regular monthly board of education meetings.

News in the making

Channel 7's Jerry Hodak [center] was in town last week interviewing Dr. John Cowan at the Cowan Chiropractic Clinic on Sashabaw Road. Hodak's special news report will include coverage of a Detroit hospital in which MD's and chiropractors work together, he said. Cowan, who supports such practice, was interviewed on the subject because he is president of the Michigan Chiropractic Council, Hodak said. The program is expected to air during the 11 p.m. news next week. Also in the photograph are Mike Kalusa, a Springfield Township resident and cameraman for Channel 7; and Dianne Farrington of Southfield, an audio technician. [Photo by Kathy Greenfield]

Gym-recess issue remains unsettled

By Kathy Greenfield

Debate continues over the Clarkston school district administrative policy that eliminates a recess on the two days a week elementary school pupils have physical education classes.

At the Nov. 11 board of education meeting, discussion centered on an administrative position statement issued by Superintendent Milford Mason.

Clarkston Education Association (CEA) president Allen Bartlett said the teacher's union plans to continue fighting against the district's position.

Mason's written statement said elementary teachers could plan alternate indoor activities on physical education days to give their pupils a break from regular studies, such as time in the computer rooms, media centers or multipurpose rooms.

Several teachers who spoke at the meeting reacted with anger.

"I consider this more or less a slap in the face," said Jerry Ostrom, a teacher at Clarkston Elementary.

The teachers are lobbying to keep the recesses intact. They contend that because physical education classes are scheduled throughout the day, some pupils do not get a break for hours, and the teachers say they would appreciate having the extra time for planning purposes.

The idea, Mason said after the meeting, was to clarify the policy and suggest teachers do what they have traditionally done when pupils get restless.

"The basic position of the district has been, at all costs we should not continue to reduce the amount of scheduled instruction time for teachers," he said.

According to Mason, the elementary teachers' schedules include 1 hour, 23 minutes a day for planning/release time. If two more recesses were added, there would be an additional 30 to 40 minutes a week—time when teachers would not be with pupils.

Bartlett contends that the teachers need more planning time and that the pupils need a break from a structured classroom environment, which includes physical education classes.

"There are two major issues, one that directly relates to the students and one that directly relates to the teachers," he said after the meeting. "The thing we're running into here is a reluctance to deal with the issue of additional (planning) time for our elementary staff."

"Don't treat us like second-class citizens, that's the essence of the argument," he added.

The administration's hard management rights stance has affected the spirit of cooperation that led to quickly settled teachers' contracts over the past two years, he said.

"On this issue, it was a time for them to say to elementary teachers that they are aware of the time it takes to prepare classes," Bartlett said. "At least it would have been a sign of good faith, that we appreciate the work you've done for this community."

"I don't know how this district got such a good staff, and they have a good one," he added. "At times, I don't think they deserve us."

When the CEA brought a formal grievance before the board of education in October, the board upheld the decision to eliminate the recesses.

Now the CEA is planning to take the grievance procedure to the next step. Discussions are under way to select an arbitrator agreeable to the administration and the CEA, and the CEA has asked the Michigan Education Association for financial assistance.

If the MEA does not agree to help cover the cost of an arbitrator, which Bartlett estimates will be $1,500 for each side, the CEA will have to decide whether to continue the grievance on its own.

"In our opinion, it's a shame to go to an arbitrator because it's going to end up costing us money and it's going to end up costing them money," said Bartlett.

The CEA represents the 287 Clarkston school district teachers, about half of whom are elementary school teachers, according to Bartlett.

"From what I've heard, there's quite a degree of strength," he said. "Some of the people who have come to the (board of education) meetings and spoke are not the quote, unquote, union radicals."

Legal issue dropped by volleyball players

By Dan Vandenhemel

For now, Jeff Toretta and Jeff Funck will not be playing volleyball at Clarkston High School. The pair of students decided not to take the issue to court.

"We feel we didn't have much of a chance," Toretta said. "There was the question if it would be worth the money. Maybe it is and maybe it isn't, but we're not going on with it."

Since Toretta is a senior, he said the idea of playing volleyball this year is all but dead. Funck still has a year to go in school and is taking steps to find out if there is interest in a boys' volleyball team.

He is preparing a petition for a boys' team in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

"We feel we didn't have much of a chance."

—Jeff Toretta

"I think there is enough interest," Funck said. "I've talked with several friends and they would all like to play. I think I can get over 100 signatures."

Funck has talked with people in the Grand Blanc, St. Clair Shores, and Livonia Stevenson school districts and they expressed a similar interest in starting a boys' team, he said.

In the meantime, Toretta and Funck are managing the Clarkston High School volleyball squad and the Sashabaw Junior High team.

"The girls don't think it's fair that we're being excluded from playing," Funck said. "They said they wouldn't mind if we played on their team, but they said it would be better if the boys had their own team."

Toretta has accepted the fact he will not be a varsity volleyball team member this season.

"It hurts," Toretta said. "I'm still managing. I'm still playing volleyball. I guess it's better than nothing."

"A lot of people know about it now," he added. "Maybe it's a starting point for something."

CJHS downs SJHS 60-40

Courtside Wolverines dominate Cougars

By Dan Vandenhemel

Clarkston Junior High controlled the basketball court this fall against Sashabaw Junior High.

The Wolverines won both meetings between the schools. They recorded a 60-40 victory Nov. 12 and 48-32 triumph Sept. 10.

"The Sashabaw kids played much better the second game," Clarkston coach Denny Bronson said. "We just controlled the entire game. Sashabaw seemed so hyped up for the game they missed a lot of easy shots."

Cougar coach Jayne Bannister said that as the season progressed, other coaches were coming up to her to compliment the team's improvement.

"The girls were very excited before the game," Bannister said. "They knew before the game that it could be a the most disappointing loss or the most exciting victory of the season—unfortunately it was disappointing."

In the recent game, Jenny Grohs recorded a game-high 26 points for the Wolverines with Kristine Fromm and Evonne Atkins adding seven points each. For the Cougars, Cindy Beal tossed in 20 points and Kelly Avenall had 14.

The Wolverines finished the season with a 9-9 mark while the Cougars posted a 6-14 record.

"Any victory for us was a highlight," Bannister said. "The girls really worked hard for everything. I'm looking forward to coaching again next year. I learned a lot for a rookie coach."

Bannister said Beal and Avenall were the best players on her team, and not far behind were Natalie Messing, Karrie Woolley, Wendy Shrokan and Jessica Smith.

"I have to say they've all improved since the start of the year," the coach said.

For the Wolverines, Grohs help set 11 of the 20 school records this season. Two of the records for the transfer student from Waterford were steals with 150 and points with 314.

"Besides the steals and points, she also had 27 assists, which were third on the team and just short of last year's record of 30," Bronson said.

Deanna Green set the assist record this season with 45 and Atkins followed with 30.

The 9-9 record for the Wolverines was a big surprise for Bronson, especially the way the season started.

"At one point I thought we'd be lucky to win a game," Bronson said. "We turned things around the last part of the season and should have been 8-1 for the last nine games. But 7-2 isn't bad."

"The parent support we had was one of the big reasons for our success. They were at every game and cheered the girls on."

"At one point I thought we'd be lucky to win a game."

—Bronson

Clarkston's Evonne Atkins blocks the path to the basket for Sashabaw's Kelly Avenall. The Wolverines win this game, 60-40.

Defense concerns CHS coach

Wolves opening game for the tournament is Nov. 25

By Dan Vandenhemel

The Clarkston Wolves lost twice to Waterford Kettering this season and are looking forward to a third try.

The meeting could take place in the finals of the girls' basketball district tournament next week.

But if that is to happen, Wolves coach Dave McDonald said the defense is going to have to give up less points than the offense can generate.

The Wolves open the tournament at Waterford Mott on Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m. against the winner of the Mott-Pontiac Northern game. If the Wolves come out on top of that game, they'll play Nov. 26 in the finals at 7 p.m. against the winner of the Kettering-Pontiac Central contest.

"With a little luck it'll be Clarkston at Kettering in the finals," McDonald said.

Improvement needed on defense

The Wolves' 67-63 loss to Brighton on Nov. 16 only supports McDonald's theory about the defense. "We should have beat them," he said. "We scored 63 points and still lost. Our defense needs some work."

One element that hurt the Wolves in Brighton was having four starters foul out of the game.

Michelle Taulbee, Sue Lovelady, Missy O'Dell and Michele Wyniemko all watched the final minutes from the bench. Taulbee led the team with 17 points, O'Dell hit for 13 and Lovelady had 11.

After falling behind early in the game, the Wolves staged a comeback before the fouls started to total up.

"The referees called a tight game. I never saw a game called that close," McDonald said. "They were consistent about it. We kept doing the same things and they kept calling them."

The 11-8 record the Wolves hold doesn't sit well with McDonald. He thought his team would win more ball games.

"We've got to make some adjustments on defense," he said. "We're not covering the big floor. It hurt us at Lahser and at Brighton. We've adjusted to the small court at Sashabaw but we haven't been able to cover up on a bigger floor."

The Wolves are playing their home games at Sashabaw Junior High because the gym floor at the Clarkston High School is under repair. The floor buckled Oct. 10.

Up My Alley

The eyes have it

Dan Vandenhemel

"You can't hide those lyin' eyes."

The rock group Eagles sure knew what they were talking about when they wrote that song.

There is no deception in the eyes. The eyes could be the deep blue of a pretty woman, deep brown of a man or pitch black of a dog or other animal.

It's the eyes that stick out in a memory. Eyes show knowledge, fear, trust, or a dozen other attributes.

Looking into someone's or something's eyes can solidify a friendship or rip a person apart.

On Nov. 15, I saw a dog get killed on I-75. The driver of the car pulled off to the side of the road. His eyes were wide and white. I could tell he was scared to death by what just happened.

In that brief moment, he was trying to figure out how it happened. He possibly was thinking of his own pet.

He didn't have a chance to avoid hitting the dog. He swerved to the slow lane shoulder right as the dog continued to cross from the fast lane.

I'm sure the driver is going to remember that moment and probably the look in the dog's eyes the rest of his life.

One night, many years ago, a pair of animal eyes were embedded in my mind.

An opossum streaked in front of my car. A second before the animal was killed, he stared into my eyes. I can still see the look in those eyes.

The eyes were almost saying goodbye.

The eyes leave a lasting memory. They conjure up visions from everywhere.

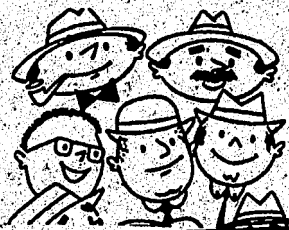

When I saw the dog being hit, I saw my 17-year-old puppy waiting at home. She will forever be a puppy because of her size and bounce. The excitement is all but gone from her 10-pound body. This is probably her final year.

This is incredibly hard to write. Babe has been a member of the Vandenhemel family for 15 years. At least we know she is going.

The owners of a road kill rarely have a clue that their pet is leaving them. That is even harder.

this dry?

every heated home needs the springlike comfort of proper humidity

Heating a home often reduces indoor relative humidity to lower than recommended levels. So moisture should be added for comfort and protection. The ideal solution—an Aprilaire Humidifier. Humidistat-controlled, high capacity, for whole house humidification with minimum maintenance.

Join Smoke-out

The Michigan Department of Public Health urges smokers to participate in this year's Great American Smokeout Thursday, Nov. 21.

The health department states that there are many good reasons to quit smoking. Foremost is the fact that tobacco is the leading cause of death in the U.S., and it is the greatest known carcinogen. According to the Surgeon General, tobacco use causes approximately 360,000 deaths in America every year.

For that reason the health department supports two bills now pending in the state legislature which are designed to protect the public from the health hazards and effects of cigarette smoke. This would be done by limiting smoking to designated areas in public places such as stores, schools, offices, work places and auditoriums.

The health department's support of these measures is based, in part, on the results of a statewide survey recently conducted by the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research. The survey was done at the request of the American Heart Association of Ingham County and the American Lung Association of Michigan.

The U of M study showed that 82.5 percent of the state's adults support such legislation, while only 13.8 percent oppose it. Support was 86.5 percent among non-smokers and perhaps surprisingly, 73.8 percent among smokers. The health department sees the survey results as a clear indication that the public wants restrictions placed on smoking in public places.

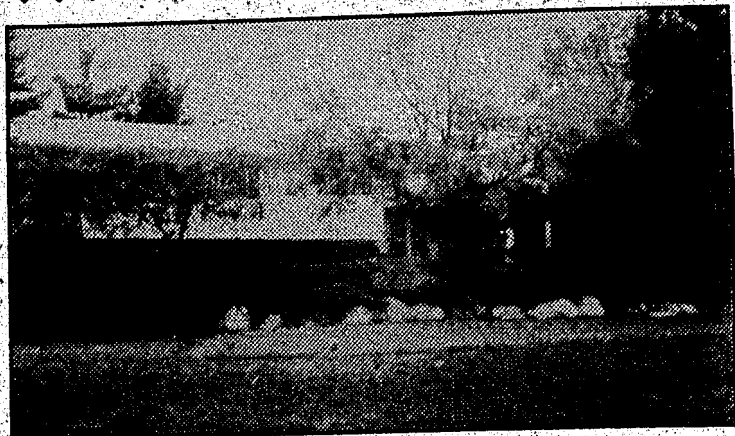

Another study has shown us that non-smokers whose families smoke two packs of cigarettes a day inhale the equivalent of two cigarettes per day through "passive smoking." This study determined that, in general, the smokier the environment in which a non-smoker moves, the more smoke he or she inhales.

Smokers who participate in the annual national Smokeout will not only give their lungs and hearts a day-long rest, but will also spare their friends, relatives and colleagues from the dangers of secondhand smoke.

For those of who smoke, it's worth a try, the health department states.

WITH PRECISION: Learning to roll and tumble are part of the martial arts classes taught through the Clarkston Community Education Department. Here, Kurt Erkert (left) and Kevin Winship complete a tumble and prepare to set up for another one. The class is taught by Joe Sanders, a 4th degree black belt in karate, hapkido and judo. The six-week session costs

$25 a person and meets Mondays and Thursdays from 6 to 7:30 p.m. A new session began last week with 38 participants. Two more would enable the group to split up, with beginners meeting the first hour and one-half and the intermediates attending a second session until 9 p.m.

Sister's love bridges flooded land

By Carolyn Walker

As a misty November rain falls down about her Independence Township home, Rita Timulak sits at her kitchen table peering over news clippings.

She looks at them hard, as if by concentrating on the pages before her she could envision her sister and the people of Parsons.

Rita has talked to her sister, JoAnne Sikarskie, five times since Nov. 4.

Five times since the three-day rains came to West Virginia; and the waters of the Black Fork River and its tributaries washed away Parsons and severely damaged several neighboring communities.

"Every time I talk to her on the phone, we cry," Rita says, adding that it was three days after the flood before word of the Sikarskies was received.

But they were lucky, she adds. Their family and house survived. Now the Sikarskies are busy helping their neighbors rebuild the town, devastated by the worst flood to hit the area in over 100 years.

It has been three weeks since the waters killed at least 15 of Parsons' citizens. The living in Parsons, a community of 3,000 at the base of the Allegheny Mountains, are still without electricity, Rita says. Their water is contaminated and most of their homes are gone.

"Just from reading, it's hard to imagine what other people are going through," says Rita of the victims, 28 of whom are still missing. "It (the flood) covered all of Parsons. My sister was really lucky because she lives up on a hill.

"All night long you heard these cries for help and you couldn't do anything about it."

—JoAnne Sikarskie, as quoted

"You cannot tell the town. Because most of the houses were on hills, they all slid off. The ones in town were buried with mud (and) 10 feet of raging water," Rita says, recounting her sister's version of horror. "Nothing is in its right place."

JoAnne and her husband Fred, both of Michigan, met at an Appalachian Mountain mission several years ago. After marrying, they set up housekeeping in Parsons, where they are teachers and the parents of three children. A fourth is on the way in January.

Rita tells the story of the flood in JoAnne's words: "She said, 'You could hear the water.' She was not sure how fast it was moving and if it would cover her house. It happened during the night.

"No one expected that bad of a flood. They saw the river rising, but it's done that before. It's never covered the town before. The land is so fertile. . . . That's why these people have their houses along the river.

"She said, 'You just felt so helpless. All night you heard these cries for help and you couldn't do anything about it.'"

"It just makes me so thankful that I live where I do. But I want to help," says Rita, who is heading a drive to send financial support to Parsons. "Everything that was in her town was lost; schools, churches, businesses, bridges, roads.

"The only way they said they could ever rebuild is if they get government aid. Because there was so much damage in West Virginia, it's hard for all the communities to help.

"My little nephews were saying that it might turn out to be a ghost town."

As the community struggles to recover from the devastation, the people find themselves shoveling mud out of houses one by one, investigating wires so electricity can be restored, boiling drinking water, searching for food and caring for their neighbors' children.

Rita Timulak pours over Michigan newspaper accounts of the flood in Parsons, W.Va., where her sister, formerly of Waterford, and sister's family are residents.

"The people are so friendly. They're all helping each other. They're comforting each other," Rita says. "The damage was so bad that most of them feel like they'll have to tear down and start over."

As she talks about helping the people of Parsons, Rita looks again to the clippings and recalls her family's vacations there.

"Almost heaven, that's kind of what it looks like in summer," she says, wistfully.

"Now you look down and there's hardly anything left."

Timely turkey cooking tips

Traditionally, the holiday season is the time when families and friends come together for large, home-cooked feasts.

It is also the time when doctors see a jump in illness due to improperly prepared food.

Feeding a large group calls for special measures. Phil Kirkwood, deputy chief environmental health for the Michigan Department of Health, and Jon Gould, chairman of the Michigan Restaurant Association, suggest using the same guidelines as Michigan restaurants follow:

- Defrost your bird in the refrigerator. This calls for some forethought because large birds may take a few days to completely thaw.

- Use a meat thermometer when cooking turkey. Insert the thermometer into the center of the bird and cook the turkey to at least 165 degrees Fahrenheit.

- Wrap leftovers and store them in the refrigerator or freezer. Don't leave turkey, dressing or gravy at room temperature for more than two hours.

- Re-heat leftovers to 165 degrees. Simply warming food can release bacteria rather than destroy it.

Dear Cat Paw:

Can you tell if a drug is going to harm you? I've heard that some people can smoke pot and not have anything happen to them, then smoke another one of the same kind and it would harm them.

Wants to Know

Dear Wants to Know:

No, you can't tell just by looking at a drug if it's going to harm you. Street drugs are not controlled or inspected by the government or any other organization.

Much of it isn't pure and a lot of it isn't even what you think you are buying. It isn't at all unusual to get grass that has been dipped.

Marijuana has a unique feature—it can be shared and that particular joint might only affect one person, but it will destroy that person.

No one knows why. We can only guess. The influences are numerous but one thing is certain—no one knows which joint has your name on it.

Dear Cat Paw:

Why don't they make a law against drugs?

Tell Me

Dear Tell Me:

There is a law against illegal drugs. But as long as there is a market for drugs, someone will supply the demand and make money. It is a very big business!

Send your questions to Cat Paw in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Readings move to New Zealand

The Reading family is heading home. Home for the six-member family is New Zealand. Nov. 16 was their last day in Clarkston.

Chris and Gail and their four sons, John, 18, Grant, 16, and twins Paul and David, 15, are returning to the country in which all four children were born.

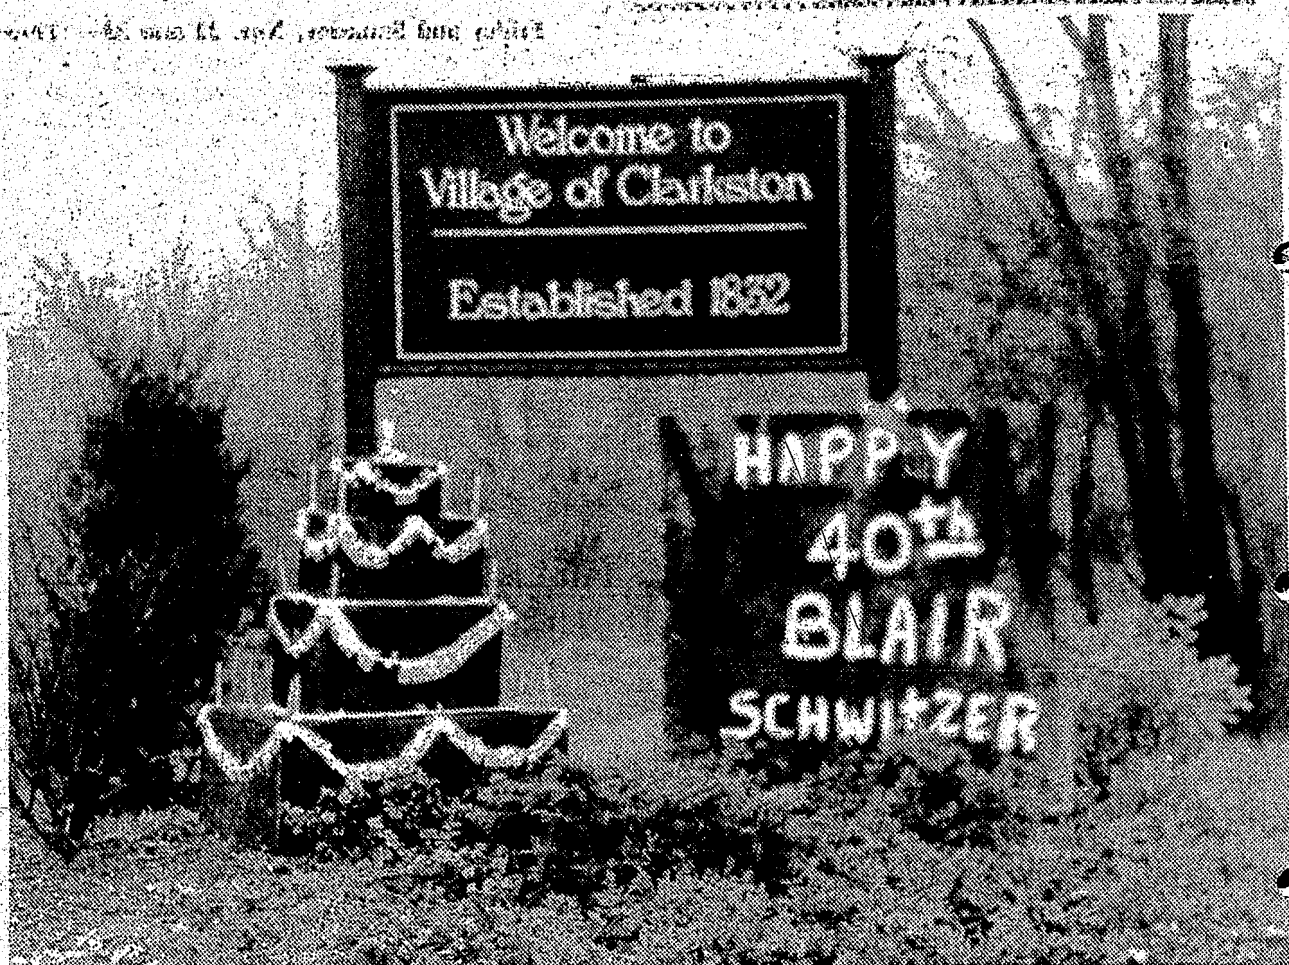

The Readings moved to the United States in 1978. They stayed in Los Angeles for one month before moving to Fowler Drive, Independence Township.

"It was our own decision to go back," said John, a senior at Clarkston High School. "We're going back because our family is back there. I'm very excited and depressed at the same time."

"I know I'm going to come back to the States to go to school on the West Coast, either at UCLA or USC," John said. "And if I get that far, I'm know I'm going to come back here to visit."

AWARD-WINNING TEEN: Tammie Dutton was chosen Miss Congeniality in the USA Teen Miss state scholarship pageant Oct. 6 in East Lansing. The award was the fourth highest in the pageant, which had 130 participants. Her love of competition led to joining the pageant, says Tammie, a 10th-grader at Clarkston High School. She has a collection of trophies and ribbons won in other activities. For her horseback riding skills, she won the Grand Champion trophy at the Oakland County 4-H Fair this year and was named 1986 Teen of the Year by the Blazing Saddles 4-H Club. Among her free-style rollerskating trophies are first place in Indiana, second place in Ohio and first place in Livonia, all won in 1984. In addition, Tammie is vice president of Explorers Post No. 345. Her parents are Dwayne and Betty Dutton of Rohr Road, Independence Township.

FAIR'S FAIR: Blair Schweitzer had participated in her share of practical jokes when a group of her friends decided to commemorate her 40th birthday with a cake at the Village of Clarkston sign on M-15. There were other tidbits placed about town on Nov. 13. Says Blair, "It was great fun." Vern Cangemi made the cake. [Photo by Carolyn Walker]

At school

Marcia Veltre is working as an associate teacher in Lenawee County Schools through the Adrian College education department.

She has temporarily joined two teaching staffs, instructing the learning disabled at Michener Elementary and a third grade at Lincoln, both in Adrian.

Associate teachers work with regular classroom teachers, gradually assuming more responsibility. They gain classroom experience before seeking permanent teaching positions, and they work toward teacher certification.

A senior at Adrian, Veltre is the daughter of Renold and Gene Veltre. She graduated from Clarkston High School in 1982.

Siegfried Heuser is one of 296 new students who enrolled this fall at Ripon College, Ripon, Wisc.

A freshman at Ripon, he is a graduate of Roeper Country Day School. His parents are Siegfried and Karen Heuser of Ellis Road.

Jeffrey Alan Farough is on the dean's list of the school of business administration at Wayne State University, Detroit, for the spring and summer 1985 semester.

Farough was inducted into the Golden Key National Honor Society at a reception held at Fairlane Manor in Dearborn this month. His mother and sister, Jennifer, were in attendance.

His parents are Tim and Lavonne Farough of Clarkston Road, Independence Township.

Two Oakland University, Rochester, students from Clarkston are employed by two area firms this fall in a cooperative work experience arranged by the university.

Craig Verch, a mechanical engineering major, is working with Parke Davis.

Helen Colburn, an accounting major, is working with the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

In service

1st Lt. Patrick Mullen has graduated from the Squadron Officer School at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.

He is scheduled to serve with the 354th Civil Engineering Squadron at Myrtle Beach Air Force Base, S.C.

A 1980 graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology, he is the son of Betty Mullen of Burgundy Drive, Independence Township.

His wife, Debra, is the daughter of Eugene and Jackie Foote of Church Street, Independence Township.

Clarkston exhibitors

Three Clarkston craftspersons are among the 156 midwest exhibitors participating in The Artists' Connection third annual Arts & Crafts Show.

Carolyn Hunt makes reed and splint baskets, John Hyde's work is carved decoys and Linda Chambers makes wood banks.

The show is planned Saturday, Nov. 30, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 1, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Hillcrest Country Club, 50 S. Groesbeck Hwy., Mt. Clemens. Admission is $1.

Grad

Cheryl Lynne Maxam graduated from Albion College in September.

A Clarkston High School graduate, she majored in political science and speech communication/theater at Albion.

She is the daughter of Noel Maxam of Clarkston and Marjorie Maxam of Troy.

RAM CHAMP: Bell 278 was selected the Champion Ram in the Romney breed category at the 29th Keystone International Livestock Exposition in Harrisburg, Pa. The ram was exhibited by G. Bellairs & Family of Hillside Farms on Big Lake Road, Springfield Township. Posing with the prize ram is Gloria Bellairs. The exposition was held Nov. 9-13.

On campus with...

Kay Ellis

"Joe?"
"Yes?"

"How do you file this card?"

If you were in the University of Detroit-Clarkston Campus library the first two weeks of November, this is the conversation you heard between Joe D'Elia and me as I started my new job.

Our library hires a student to work 10 hours a week to assist the librarian. Julie Persha, the last library assistant, left at the end of October for surgery. Mary Kuechle, the assistant director of U of D-Clarkston, remembered I needed a job, and I was hired.

One of the many things I did in my free time the second week of November was to fill out blood drive posters for student council. You may see them around Clarkston.

The student council is having a blood drive Dec. 2 from noon to 6 p.m. in the Colombiere Center gym. For more information or for an appointment, call 625-0270.

The main topic of discussion at school lately is the semi-formal dance we are having Dec. 12. It's planned the last day of exams at Springfield Oaks and is open to U of D students and their dates.

Of course, everyone is talking about who is going and what everyone is going to wear. Hopefully, it will become an annual event.

Kay Ellis is a freshman at the University of Detroit's Clarkston Campus at the Colombiere Center in Springfield Township. She resides in Lake Orion.

Obituaries

John M. Adams

John M. Adams, 55, died Nov. 15. Retired from the United States Post Office in Clarkston, he was a life-long resident of Clarkston.

He was a member of the Campbell Richmond Post American Legion No. 63, Cedar Lodge No. 60 F&AM, Moslem Temple AAONMS of Detroit, Scottish Rite of Free Masonry and Parents Without Partners of Pontiac.

Mr. Adams was a former member of the Independence Township Fire Department. He served in the United States Air Force during the Korean conflict.

Surviving are his children, Gerry of Phoenix, Ariz., Berry of Flagstaff, Ariz., and Paul of Tempe, Ariz.; and brother, Chester, of Sun City West, Ariz., and formerly of Clarkston.

The funeral service was held Nov. 19 at the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection with the Rev. Alexander Stewart officiating. Burial followed in Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township. Arrangements were made by the Goyette Funeral Home, Clarkston. Memorial tributes may be made to the American Legion Post No. 63.

Marvin Beekman

Marvin Beekman, 72, of Lansing died Nov. 6. He retired in 1973 as director of special education for the State Department of Education.

Mr. Beekman worked for more than 40 years in the field of special education. Through his efforts, the state legislature passed the law in 1973 requiring school districts to supply funds for special education.

Surviving are his wife, Pauline; children, Suzanne Mills of East Lansing, Lynwood Beekman of Okemos, Edward Beekman of Okemos and Mrs. Terrence (Patricia) Evans of Clarkston; and 10 grandchildren.

The funeral service was held Nov. 9 at the Plymouth Congregational Church.

Get a Chex® Party Mix Tin for yourself or a friend, only $2.50 plus 1 Chex® brand Cereal Proof-of-Purchase.

Traditional Chex® Party Mix

The recipe that's been a favorite for years.

1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine	2 1/2 cups Corn Chex® cereal*
1 1/4 teaspoons seasoned salt	2 1/2 cups Rice Chex® cereal*
4 1/2 teaspoons French's® Worcestershire sauce	2 1/2 cups Wheat Chex® cereal*
	1 cup salted mixed nuts

Preheated 250° oven. Melt butter in large shallow roasting pan (about 15 x 10 x 2 inches) in oven. Remove. Stir in seasoned salt and Worcestershire. Gradually add cereal and nuts, mixing until all pieces are coated. Bake 1 hour. Stir every 15 minutes. Spread on absorbent paper to cool.

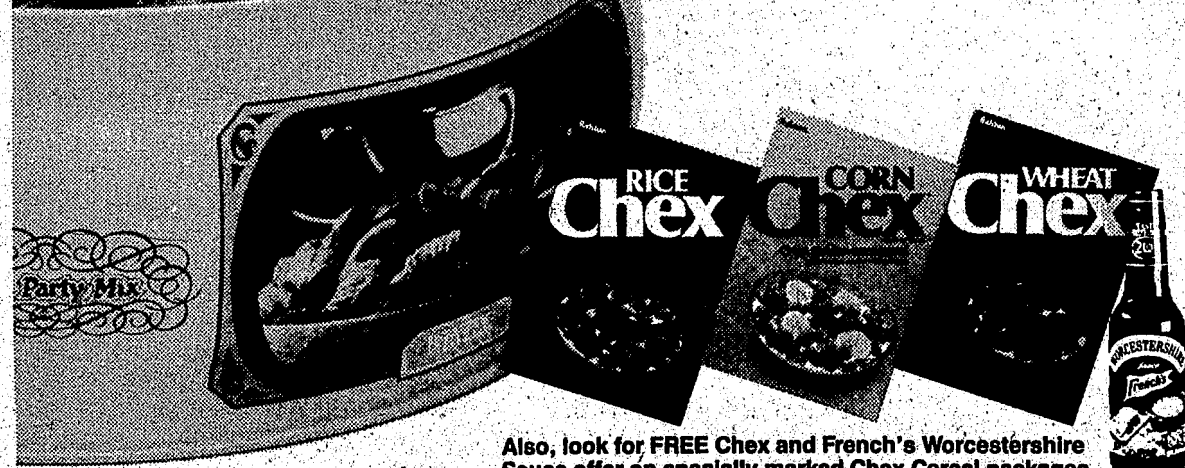

Microwave directions: In large 4-quart bowl or a 13 x 9 x 2 inch glass dish melt butter on High 1 minute. Stir in seasoned salt and Worcestershire. Gradually add cereal and nuts, mixing until all pieces are coated. Microwave on High 6 to 7 minutes, stirring every 2 minutes.

*Measure cereal in glass measuring cup.

650 watt Microwave. Time adjustments may need to be made if another wattage oven is used.

Makes 9 cups.

Holiday support for bereaved parents

"How to Help Ourselves Through the Holidays," is the November meeting topic of Compassionate Friends, a support group for parents who have experienced the death of a child.

The north Oakland chapter of the organization was formed in November 1985 by Fred and Joanne Miska, who lost a son to cancer; Dot and Roger Marjon, whose daughter was killed in an auto accident; and Connie Allen, who lost a baby shortly after birth.

Compassionate Friends meet the fourth Monday of every month. This month's meeting is Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Anne Hall in Brandon Township.

For more information, call the Miskas at 627-4241, Connie Allen at 627-3288 or the Marjons at 627-4250.

The cook can sleep in

Betty Wagner

Remember when we had to rise early on Thanksgiving morning to prepare the turkey for the oven so dinner could be served at a reasonable hour?

Well, there's good news for microwave owners: This Thanksgiving, the cook can sleep in. A delicious stuffed turkey breast with all the trimmings will cook in less than an hour.

Most people like white meat, so by choosing the breast, we will consume all the meat and not waste some of the carcass. And there will still be a large bone for turkey soup.

To further simplify the day for the cook, the dessert can and should be made the day before. The Cranberry Orange Torte needs 24 hours to mellow in the refrigerator.

STUFFED TURKEY BREAST

- 6 pound turkey breast
- 8 ounces stuffing mix
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1 rib celery, chopped
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1/4 cup kahlua
- 1/4 cup apricot preserves

Heat 1 1/2 cups water until simmering, about 2 1/2 to 3 minutes. Add stuffing mix, melted butter, onion and celery. Stir well.

With breast side down, loosely stuff cavity. Cover stuffing with plastic wrap to prevent overcooking. Use wooden toothpicks to secure plastic wrap. Place on bacon rack or microsafe rack in a Pyrex baking dish.

Mix the kahlua and preserves together with a fork and spread half the mixture over the turkey breast.

Turn breast side up after half the cooking time. Spread on remaining kahlua mixture. Spoon remaining dressing around the turkey breast for the last half of the cooking time.

Cook for 11 minutes a pound or until the internal temperature of the poultry is 180-185 degrees and juices run clear.

Allow to stand in tented foil for about 10 minutes before slicing. This makes a very brown, crisp turkey and dressing. Shield any areas with foil, if necessary, to prevent over-browning.

MASHED POTATOES

Peel and cut into similar-size pieces 1 pound potatoes. Add 1/4 cup water and cover with a tight-fitting lid.

Microwave at high power for 6 to 8 minutes a pound, stirring after half the time. Let stand for 3 to 5 minutes.

Pour off and save the liquid. Whip or mash potatoes. Add liquid as needed to make smooth potatoes. If desired, also add milk for creamier potatoes. Season to taste with butter, salt and pepper.

GRAVY

In a 2-cup Pyrex measure or Pyrex bowl, mix together 2 tablespoons fat with 2 tablespoons flour. Microwave at high power for 20 to 30 seconds, or until bubbly. (This eliminates a raw flour taste.)

Stir in 1 cup pan juices or chicken broth. Microwave at high power for 1 1/2 to 2 minutes, stirring every 30 seconds. Season to taste. Gravy will thicken during standing time.

CRANBERRY ORANGE TORTE

Reprinted with permission of The Detroit Free Press. Adapted for the microwave by Betty Wagner.

- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 cup diced, pitted dates
- 1 cup fresh whole cranberries
- Grated rind of 2 oranges
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 3/4 cup vegetable oil
- 3/4 cup fresh orange juice
- Whipped cream or topping

Mix together the flour, 1 cup sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Stir in cranberries, dates, walnuts and orange rind.

Combine beaten egg, oil and buttermilk. Beat well. Blend into flour-fruit mixture.

Grease a 12-cup microsafe bundt dish and coat with graham cracker crumbs. Elevate on a microsafe rack. Microwave at 50 percent power for 14 minutes, turning every 4 minutes.

Turn again and microwave at high power for 3 to 5 minutes, turning half-way through. Let stand 10 minutes before removing from dish.

Mix together 3/4 cup sugar and 3/4 cup orange juice. Microwave at high power for 1 to 1 1/2 minutes.

Prick top of cake with skewer or long-tined fork. Slowly pour orange juice mixture over cake. If necessary, spoon excess juice back over cake until all is absorbed.

Cover tightly with plastic wrap and refrigerate for 24 hours before serving. Top individual slices with whipped cream. Cake will keep for a few weeks in the refrigerator if tightly wrapped.

Home economist Betty Wagner, an Independence Township resident, is a graduate of West Virginia University. She teaches microwave cooking classes at Sears at the Oakland Mall and through the Clarkston Community Education Department.

Successful Money Management

People all across America, of different ages, incomes and careers, have one thing in common.

They have a desire to be financially independent. This is a dream they share with millions of Americans. Yet, most people will never achieve the kind of financial success and security they dream of.

Almost everyone will try. They take the first step by working hard. However, they fail to take the important next step. They don't put their money to work!

The good news is you can learn how to make maximum use of your dollars at the next Successful Money Management Seminar. You'll work 90,000 hours before you retire. Now 10 1/2 hours can make it all worthwhile.

We developed this educational workshop to teach you—the non-expert—how to save money, invest wisely, take advantage of our tax laws, and provide a secure future for your family.

We focus on practical, proven money management tools that can help you right now! You won't hear about any get-rich quick schemes or get a sales pitch for another more expensive seminar.

Like most people, you have probably promised yourself that you will plan ahead, set goals, and learn more about money someday. So don't hesitate.

For most people the tuition is not a major expense. However, the hard thing for some people to justify is the time commitment. Yet, this "time-out" is the step you must take. The three-evening Seminar is your golden opportunity to spend some serious time thinking about your money. And since money is an important part of your life you deserve to pay at least this much attention to your financial future.

You are in a take charge position right now.

Join us, along with other people like you who want to make their dreams become reality.

Look over the Seminar agenda.

You need to learn more about these important topics.

For instance, you'll learn a proven money management technique called repositioning. This simple process is an effective way to put more of your hard earned dollars to work for you.

You'll learn about tax-advantaged investments that have long been thought of as tools for the rich, but are also available for middle income Americans. Whether you earn between $25,000 and $75,000 or even more, this will be an enlightening education.

We've made the Seminar convenient and enjoyable. So, if you've always wanted to get ahead financially, we've made the Successful Money Management Seminar the perfect place to learn how.

Musicians sought for Clarkston community band

Anyone who plays a wind, brass or percussion instrument is invited to participate in the Clarkston Community Concert Band.

The band begins its rehearsals for the year Sunday, Nov. 24. The practice sessions are planned from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Clarkston High School band room.

There is no charge for participation or membership. Music folders, music and a variety of instruments will be provided. The repertoire will include a wide variety of music from Sousa to Bach, as well as contemporary wind literature.

A performance calendar will be established to serve the Clarkston community and the north Oakland County area.

If interested, contact Clifford Chapman at Clarkston High School, 625-0900.

Give gift of home-made fruitcake

Fruitcakes are traditional Thanksgiving and Christmas treats. They are usually butter cakes with just enough batter to mold together a combination of fruits or fruits and nuts.

If you are planning to make fruitcakes for your holiday gift-giving, here are some helpful tips from the Cooperative Extension Service of Oakland County:

- When preparing a fruitcake, slice citron, orange and lemon peel finely. Cut candied fruit into larger pieces. Currants and seedless raisins are left whole. Nuts are usually coarsely cut. Commercially packaged candied fruits are also available.

- Fruits are easier to cut if you dip your kitchen scissors or knife in water occasionally.

- Fruitcakes can be made in a variety of sizes and shapes. You might like to bake them in a tube pan, muffin pan, loaf pan, juice or coffee can, or a fancy fluted mold. Almost any container can be used if it is properly prepared.

- Small loaf pans, fancy molds or juice cans should be well greased. Muffin pans can be greased or lined with baking cups. For large loaf cakes, line the pans with brown paper and grease with shortening.

- Bake fruitcakes in a slow oven (300 degrees) until the cake tests done in the center. Place a shallow pan of water on the floor of the oven to give it a softer crust. Use the following baking times as a guide.

9x5x3-inch loaf pan, 6 1/2 cups batter, 2 1/2 hours baking time

8 1/2x4 1/2x2 1/2-inch loaf pan, 5 cups batter, 2 hours baking time

5 1/2x3x2 1/2-inch loaf pan, 1 3/4 cups batter, 1 1/2 hours baking time

4 1/2x1 1/2-inch round foil baking pan, 1 to 1 1/4 cups batter, 1 hour-25 minutes baking time

1-pound coffee can, 3 1/2 cups batter, 1 hour-50 minutes baking time

9- or 10-inch tube pan or mold, 2 1/2 quarts batter, 3 to 3 1/2 hours baking time

8-inch ring mold, 3 cups batter, 1 hour-40 minutes baking time

6-ounce orange juice can, 1/2 cup batter, 50 minutes baking time

1 1/4x1-inch cupcake pans, 1 rounded tablespoon batter, 20 minutes

3x1 1/2-inch cupcake pans, 1/3 cup batter, 40 minutes baking time

- Cool the cakes thoroughly before wrapping them, then wrap carefully in heavy foil, plastic wrap or plastic bags. Store in a cool, dry place.

- Most fruitcakes need to be aged a month or longer to mellow the flavors. Decorate or frost the cakes after aging and cut with a sharp, thin-blade knife.

PREDICTING YOUR FUTURE???

Many people still think that cholesterol is all bad. Not so. Our bodies make cholesterol since it's essential to good health. In 1975 researchers discovered part of the material they were calling cholesterol was really a high density lipoprotein or HDL for short. ALSO called "good cholesterol". Other researchers found that they could predict who was going to have a heart attack by determining how much of the good cholesterol was present in their blood. This was done by first determining the TOTAL CHOLESTROL (TC) and then determining the amount of HDL. This gives the HDL/TC ratio. If it's 13 you are at high risk, if it's up around 27 you are at very low risk according to the researchers. In 1980 a retired pharmacologist reported how AMERICAN GINSENG appeared to change the cholesterol of the people he studied, moving one man with a ratios of 15 up to over 27 in nine months.

130-IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY of Mike Allen who passed away Nov. 19, 1976. God hath not promised skies always blue, flower strewn pathways all our lives through; God has not promised sun without rain, joy promised sun without sorrow, peace without pain. But God hath promised strength for the day, rest for the labour, light for the way. Grace for the trials, help from above; unfailing sympathy, undying love. Missed by Grandma, Mom, Dad, brothers and sisters. ILLX46-1
