Snowmobile accident kills college senior

By Carolyn Walker

A 21-year-old Springfield Township woman was killed and her companion injured in a snowmobile accident Dec. 28.

Linda J. Masak, a 1982 graduate of Clarkston High School, was a passenger on a snowmobile driven by Kevin Knapp of Lake Orion when the vehicle struck a closed steel gate, said Jeanie Masak, Linda's mother.

The incident occurred at 10:55 p.m. at the Bald Mountain recreation area in Lake Orion while the pair was snowmobiling with three other couples.

Both were transported to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital where Knapp was treated and later released, Mrs. Masak said.

Linda was a senior at Central Michigan University and was planning to major in financing.

"She was a very loving person and loved by a lot of people," Mrs. Masak said. "She touched an awful lot of lives."

The funeral service for Ms. Masak was held Dec.

Fire takes toll on area house

A fire just after noon Dec. 28 caused approximately $20,000 in damages to a Peach Street residence and its contents, said Independence Township Fire Chief Dale Bailey.

Firefighters believe the 12:07 p.m. blaze at the home of James Richardson resulted from a faulty chimney, Bailey said.

Most of the damage, which included smoke damage and actual burning, was sustained in the garage, he added.

There were no injuries, but it took firefighters approximately two-and-one-half hours to extinguish the fire.

Man dies in M-15 accident

By Carolyn Walker

A 21-year-old Brandon Township man has died of injuries he received in a 12:30 p.m. Dec. 28 auto accident on M-15 in Independence Township.

Dale Tippet died Dec. 29 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after being removed from a respirator, said his mother Fay Tippet. His corneas were donated for transplantation.

Dale Tippet

Tippet was stopped, preparing to make a left turn into Tony's Auto Parts, when his vehicle was hit from behind by a pickup truck driven by Metamora resident William Beadlescomb, 45, said a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. Tippet's car was forced off the road upon impact, the report said.

Beadlescomb was not injured in the accident.

According to the report, alcohol was a factor in the accident and prosecution is anticipated.

"Something's going to have to be done about drunk drivers," said Tippet's mother. "The kid's life just started."

Tippet was a 1982 graduate of Brandon High School and was a machinist at Xcelior Machine Services in Oxford.

The funeral service for Tippet was held at the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home on Jan. 1 with the Rev. R. Kenneth Shelton officiating. Burial followed at the Wixom Cemetery.

Tippet is survived by his parents, James and Fay Tippet of Brandon Township; brothers, William and David Tippet and John, Michael and Keith McAvoy; and sisters, Mrs. Brad (Barbara) Wellman and Lisa McAvoy.

He is also survived by grandmothers, Mrs. Gertrude Tippet and Mrs. Marie Watkins.

Memorials may be made to the Dale S. Tippet Living Memorial Fund. Donations are being accepted at the Pontiac State Bank, downtown Clarkston Branch.

In memory

The following poem was written by Linda Bass in memory of her friend Dale Tippet, who died following a car accident on M-15 Dec. 28.

DALE

Dale Tippet, our family, our friend,
The special guy to lend us a hand.
For Dale, we'll miss you very much,
Your thoughtful ways and your special touch.
For Dale, your memory will always remain,
The laughter, the love, and sometimes the pain.
For you were loved by many and so
That's why it's so hard to let you go.
The rides on the horses on a sunny July,
Through those whispering woods and their quiet reply.
You may be gone from us, apart,
But not far away from our loving heart.
The things you wondered, the ways you cared,
The family you loved and quietly shared,
How do we forget what's special as you?
For I guess we won't because we all love you.

Children report suspicious man

Two Independence Township children reported that a young man attempted to entice them into his truck Jan. 2, said a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The incident reportedly happened as the two girls were walking along Greenhaven Drive near Perry Lake Road in the township.

According to the report, the man asked the girls to have a seat in his truck before driving away as they ran for assistance.

The girls described the suspect as approximately 19 years old, blond, 5 feet 10 inches tall and 160 pounds. He was driving a brown or black short-bed pickup, the report said.

Police do not have any suspects in the incident, said Lt. Glenn Watson of the sheriff's department. They have not linked the report to an incident last fall in which a child was enticed by a man driving a gray van, Watson added.

The case remains under investigation.

Needham wins 6-month school appointment

By Kathy Greenfield

A strong background in personnel and labor relations gave John H. Needham the winning edge.

Needham has been appointed by the Clarkston board of education to fill the seat of David Kithil until June.

Kithil resigned because of a job promotion with the Eastman Kodak Co. and a move to the firm's home base in Rochester, N.Y. In June, the remaining two years of Kithil's four-year term will be on the school election ballot.

The board voted 6-0 to appoint Needham to the position at a hour-long special meeting Monday night.

Two candidates were interviewed, Needham and Dr. Bruce Harlton. The board voted 4-0 not to consider a third candidate, Ann Glenn, whose letter expressing interest in the appointment was received after the Dec. 31 deadline.

"I think that both gentlemen who were interviewed were really strong candidates," said board President Janet Thomas.

"The fact that John has done extensive work in personnel and labor relations was the plus-factor in his getting the decision over the other man, although they both had strong areas," she said. "It was a difficult decision, frankly."

Needham, 44, resides at 6116 Middle Lake Rd., Clarkston. He and his wife, Rosalind, have four children. The oldest is a sophomore at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and the others attend Clarkston Community Schools.

He is employed by Rockwell International of Troy as director of salaried personnel and was previously director of industrial relations for the firm.

He holds a bachelor's degree in industrial and labor relations from Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

Needham is on the board of directors of the Delta Dental Plan of Michigan, a member of the personnel advisory board of the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council and a member of St. Daniel Catholic Church.

"I'm in general pleased with the school system. I don't see myself as a crusader," Needham said. "The school is going to be facing some challenging times, not unlike any other school district. I think it's going to be very challenging from that aspect."

"I'm looking forward to working with the board," he added. "I know most of the people on it and have a lot of respect for all of them."

Needham is to take the oath of office at the board's regular monthly meeting Jan. 13, when Kithil's resignation will become official.

The school board will also vote Jan. 13 to fill Kithil's position of board vice president.

Snow woes

Some Clarkston residents are breaking laws related to snow and winter activities, and tickets are going to be issued, says Village Marshall Charles Smalley.

One common violation involves the ordinance that bans parking on village streets from 2 to 6 a.m.

"People are just parking all over town" and the situation makes it difficult if not impossible to plow village streets, says Smalley.

"Also, a lot of people are plowing their snow out in the street and that's a violation of state law," he says.

The up to $100 fine could be charged to the property owner or the person plowing the snow.

In addition, residents are responsible for shoveling sidewalks in front of their homes. The large number of joggers and walkers makes the clearing essential, he says.

Another problem involves snowmobiles and three-wheeled recreation vehicles, neither of which are allowed to operate in the village.

Financial aid facts

Information on scholarships, grants and loans will be provided to parents of seniors during Financial Aid for College Information Night at Clarkston High School.

The meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 14, in the high school auditorium.

The speaker will be Judy Tatum, associate director for financial aid at Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti.

There will be time for questions on financial aid and instructions will also be given on filing a financial aid form.

For more information, call the high school guidance office at 625-0900.

Two charged in Brandon fire

By Carolyn Walker

A Brandon Township businessman and one of his former employees have been arrested on arson charges related to an April 1984 house fire, said arson investigator David Pement of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Brandon Township resident Gary John Eynon, 45, the owner of Johnson's Sales at Sashabaw and Seymour Lake roads, was arraigned on nine charges before 52nd District Court Judge Gerald McNally on Dec. 26. The charges included arson of a dwelling and attempting to obtain money under false pretenses.

Eynon faces a preliminary examination before McNally on Feb. 7.

His business manager, Gregory Scott Brewer, 25, of Berkley, was arraigned before McNally on Dec. 23. Charges against Brewer included conspiracy to commit arson and conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses. His preliminary examination is scheduled Jan. 2.

Both men have been released on bond.

The charges stem from an incident in which a residence on Johnson's property was burned, allegedly to obtain insurance money, Pement said.

Brewer had lived in the residence until two weeks before the fire, when he moved across the street and the home's insurance coverage was increased by approximately $12,000, Pement said.

The men allegedly received some $19,000 in insurance payments and attempted to gain more with allegations of merchandise thefts, Pement added.

A report claiming the theft of several chainsaws was made after the fire, Pement said, but police believe the chainsaws' serial numbers had been removed and the equipment sold to customers.

Police are asking for assistance in recovering the chainsaws.

They request that anyone who purchased a Stihl brand chainsaw from Johnson's Sales after the date of the fire contact the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at 858-5454.

Police will attempt to determine if the item is one of those with a removed serial number, Pement said.

To date, two chainsaws have been recovered.

Fiery farewell

A fond farewell to the Christmas season brightens the sky Sunday night in the field alongside Calvary Lutheran Church. The annual burning of Christmas trees marks the beginning of Epiphany, when the Three Wise Men visited newborn Jesus and revealed him as Christ to the Gentiles. For at least six of the approximately 12 years the church has observed Epiphany with a bonfire, church members Warren Frasa (left) and his sons Mark and Craig have lit the fire. Following the tradition, members of the church and the community said goodbye to the holiday season by singing Christmas carols as the trees burned. They were led by the Rev. Robert Walters. The one bonfire he'll never forget, says Walters, was the year the fire department arrived. That year, as always, the fire department had been contacted for a permit to burn, but the message hadn't been passed on to the evening crew. "They roared up and they were a little peeved until they found out we had called earlier," says Walters. "But that was OK. . . . It added to the fun."

January thoughts

Kathy Greenfield

A friend who's an avid cross country skier and a regular on Independence Oaks trails shared a story that proves, once again, that dogs can be good friends to men.

He was caught up in a line of traffic at the entrance booth when he realized: (1) His wife had the family vehicle with the annual sticker; and (2) He didn't have his wallet and, therefore, he didn't have the necessary cash to pay the daily vehicle entrance fee required for those who do not have annual stickers.

He pondered the traffic, decided he didn't want to waste the time to leave the line, drive home, return to the park and get back in line with money.

He decided to seek mercy from the young woman in the booth.

He explained his plight. The young woman said she would telephone park management and ask if it would be OK to let him through, just this once, without paying.

He looked out his rearview mirror and watched the line growing longer.

Finally, she told him the outcome of the call. If he could prove he was an Oakland County resident, she could make the exception.

His mind raced. No wallet. Nothing in the glove compartment.

Then, the answer to his problem flashed to mind: the dog!

His dog had come along for the ride—and the dog's tag included their home address in Clarkston. It was proof enough.

I have this ancient pair of boots. I think they were sort of in style about 10 years ago. I found them a long time ago in a Hudson's basement sale.

The reason I snapped them up had to do with the sheep skin lining and uppers. I knew they'd be warm. I was correct.

Every spring, I toss them in the back of my closet—to use the following winter only in case of emergency.

Every January or so, I'm so tired of having cold feet that I dig them out, put them on and wear them as often as possible.

This week, my son told me the boots make me look almost like a Viking. My only lacking characteristic, he said, is height.

You don't have to look good to feel good, I said, taking advantage of the moment to share some motherly wisdom.

The boots bring to mind another January phenomenon.

About the time I get tired of cold feet, I also get tired of cold ears, and never go out without a hat.

Hats are not kind to their wearers' hair.

A friend glanced at the group collected around a kitchen table and gave the mashed look the best description I've heard: "Snow hat hair-dos."

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Did you ever hear so many people make that particular, year-end, unlikely promise (resolution)... to lose weight?

If all the people could lose all the weight they think they should lose, the planet earth could speed its revolutions.

Everyone would be nicknamed Slim;

The draped look would be 'IN' in clothes;

Fat farms would convert to raising chickens.

But they won't. It's not for lack of will power.

most of us have plenty. We have never used it.

It's just doggone tough to quit eating, between meals and otherwise. Twelve minutes after I decide to diet, my right arm raises straight out and my fingers become the positive force attracted to the negative refrigerator door handle.

This post-holiday season I have eliminated diet from my speech. I'm going to sneak up on it, fool my mid-section (ok, lower mid-section) yearnings. January 1986 is weight consideration month.

Maybe I will and maybe I won't lose weight. I tell my straining belt line. Be ready to take up a few notches, but you may have to fall back a notch first.

It's not that I over indulged during the holidays. I only ate what was put in front of me, just like my mother taught. Trouble is I ate everytime anything passed by the neighborhood.

At one pre-dinner party I ate over half a smoked pheasant from the hors d'oeuvre display. Then there were the cashews, you know, the larger cashews, and the crabmeat chip dip, and the cheese-salami-cracker tray, and the...

Just before New Year's Eve it dawned on me I hadn't had a hunger pain in over 3 weeks. I used to look forward to them at least three times a day. One tinge and I'd squelch it with a tablespoon of peanut butter.

Dipped in salad dressing.

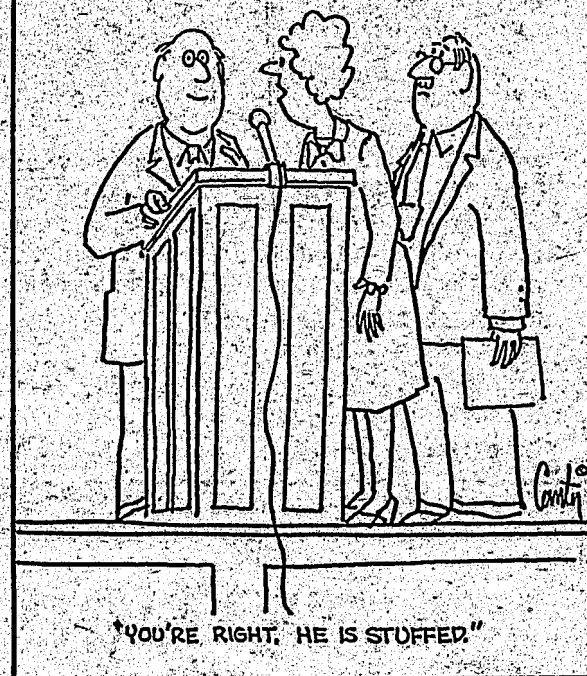

Before I came up with my latest idea of trying to lead my stomach astray through fakery, I took to hiding my girth with Jaymar Sansabelt slacks. Those are the kind with a 4-inch waistband lined with rubber to keep a shirttail from flying.

I finally concluded the shirttail sticking slogan was fakery by Sansabelt. Not that it doesn't hold shirttails in; it does. But, it also makes a 40-inch waist a 39—beyond which I refuse to go. I think it's neat to have my waistline match my age.

Sansabelt allowed me to do this. And, as Bob Hope sings, "Oh, well, it was swell while it lasted, we did have fun, and no harm done. Thanks for the memories."

It's those darn memories that make it so tough to consider weight reduction. Have you ever tried smoked pheasant?

I wonder if Sansabelt comes in industrial strength?

Letters to editor

An idea for Sen. Reigle

Our US Senator, Don Riegle, spent $546,000 of our money in 3 months this year to send us news letters. He ranked 5th on the senatorial list, that topped out at $1.6 million for California's Cranston.

All in all, it looks like the senators will cost us $50 million for their letters in 1985.

Our senator says his postage bill just shows how hungry we are for news. Or does it show how loose our senator is with other people's money?

It's not that our senator doesn't pay any attention to money. He picks up some $75,000 a year in speaking fees. How much of that he earns on our time, we don't know.

But give the senator the benefit of the doubt. Maybe we voters do want his newsletters. In that case, make us ask for them.

Congress requires government agencies to do that. If we want to get the free Great Lakes monthly water level report, we have to pay for the information.

Let Senator Riegle include a coupon with his next mailing. If we want to continue to get his newsletters, we'll send it in. Fair enough?

—Lapeer County Press

'Silent readers' should write

So many people have asked me why you print the letters I write to the editor.

I tell them that "I write just how I feel." "They" are so concerned about the mechanics of grammar, sentence structure, phrasing, etc., that they just don't feel comfortable putting down on paper what they want to say.

I believe it goes back to hang-ups from English classes in the early grades and/or really lack of practice in such classes.

Schoolroom workbooks with "choosing a one-word answer" or "filling the blanks" don't give the students the needed practice in clearly stating their thoughts.

"If you can think it, you can say it. If you can say it, you can write it," is a quote from my old-time classes in the one-room country school of Andersonville.

Of course, rewriting and rewriting again helps, but how many spend the time rewriting?

As to "letters to the editor," I firmly believe that the "silent readers" have much to offer in the way of their suggestions, criticisms, accolades, etc., but feel too intimidated to express themselves for fear of ridicule.

I always read the letters to the editor and find fresh viewpoints from reading the thoughts of others.

P.S. By the way, I never could spell as a child.

Worst Christmas

This year it seemed like Christmas was going to be our best ever.

At the beginning of December, after waiting six long years, we were blessed with the birth of our beautiful baby girl. Times were better and we were able to buy our families some nice gifts for Christmas this year.

As it turned out, this year was our worst ever.

On Christmas Eve, after visiting our grandparents, we returned home to find our house had been broken into. All the gifts from under the tree were missing and Santa's gifts were taken out of our closet.

Do you know of a youngster who received a Cabbage Patch Doll named Julia Hedda? She has brown hair and was wearing a white dress with pink edges.

Did someone you know receive a young boy's size 8 army jacket, hat and canteen? Our 7-year-old son would have loved it, what about yours?

How about a unicorn figure that stands about 12 inches high done in mother of pearl with a gold horn?

How about a Trivia Trunk or a 24-inch cobra sterling silver neck chain or a set of silver stone cookware or even a wooden bread box?

This is only a small amount of what they took. I hope whoever took these gifts enjoys them. I know our family would have.

They also took our JVC VCR and remote control plus all of our tapes. The model number on the VCR is TUS10U.

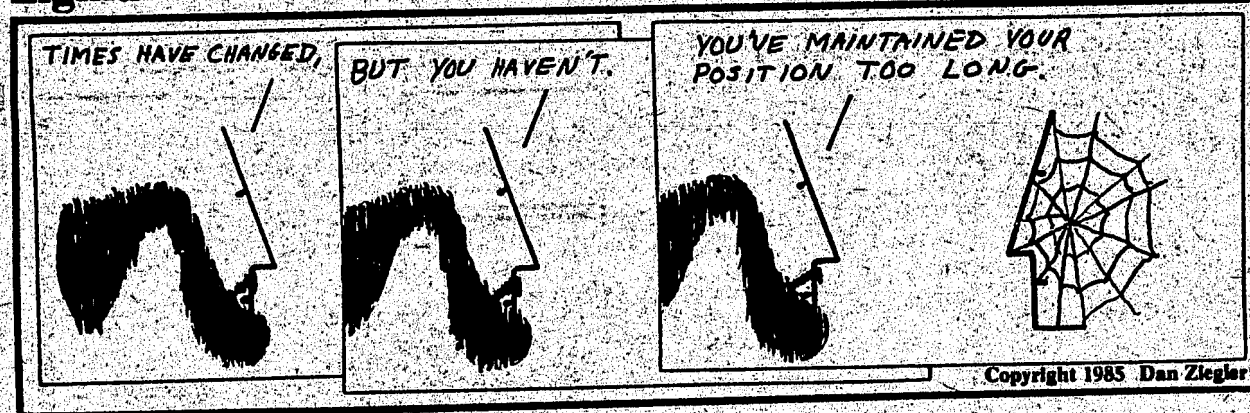

The only thing we were thankful for this year was being able to spend Christmas with our family and friends.

When we were growing up, we were taught that "it was better to give than to receive," not that "it was better to take." Where did you grow up?

'If it Fitz ...'

Twelve peeks at 1985

Jim Fitzgerald

The year 1985, as recorded here, passes in review.

JANUARY — To accommodate smaller golf courses, the MacGregor Golf Co. announced the invention of a golf ball that, when hit, goes only half as far as a regular ball. Nonsense. That type of golf ball was invented in 1945 and I've been hitting it ever since.

FEBRUARY — Nabisco Brands Inc., maker of Ritz crackers and Oreo cookies, merges with R. J. Reynolds Industries Inc., maker of Camel and Winston cigarettes. Now I can't eat my favorite snacks without worrying about being sued for adding to the wealth of a cigarette manufacturer. Merging corporations put us all in peril. There is, indeed, tunnel at the end of the light.

MARCH — In a Florida pool, for the first time in more than 50 years of swimming, my wife paddled in water over her head. "You swim like Ethel Merman," I said. She said Ethel Merman is a dead singer. I swear to God I meant to say Esther Williams.

APRIL — ABC-TV hired young Ron Reagan as an entertainment reporter. Does anyone — anyone anywhere — honestly believe President Reagan would have been re-elected if voters hadn't been certain that his son would someday be a TV personality?

MAY — Memorial Day was celebrated three days early so everyone killed in our wars could enjoy a three-day weekend.

JUNE — Hazel Park Raceway advertised "300" TVs throughout the raceway, so patrons could watch the Tigers play baseball while playing the horses. By September, the faded Tigers were ready to advertise horse racing during every game, with patrons allowed to bet on which horse was fast enough to run from second to third on a ground ball to shortstop without being lassoed by Sparky Anderson.

JULY — Two opponents of legal killing complained when a Detroit restaurant menu called its chili "Capital Punishment." I suggested equal time: A really indigestible, stomach-churning soup called "L. Brooks Patterson."

AUGUST — In a Mackinac Island speech, Jody Powell, former press secretary for President Jimmy Carter, said the White House should keep a list of all brave columnists who say the U.S. should use guns and bombs in hostage situations, and next time, before the shooting starts, trade the columnists for the hostages.

SEPTEMBER — Mick Jagger had promised if his latest child was a boy, he'd marry the mother. For twin boys, perhaps he would not only marry the mother but also let her move into the main house. For twin girls, have the wench beheaded!

OCTOBER — Richard Nixon was named to arbitrate the contract dispute concerning how much major league umpires should be paid for working playoff games. He was expected to tape a playoff series, erase 18 innings, and appear on national TV to deny that he covers up when he goes to bed.

NOVEMBER — When Egyptian commandos stormed a jetliner held hostage in Malta, 58 people aboard were killed, and 38 survived. Calling the operation a success, Egypt explained it attacked the plane, instead of continuing negotiations, "to avert a catastrophe." Huh?

DECEMBER — I took the last few days of the year off to help out around the edges of the most momentous event of 1985. Any minute now, Emily is scheduled to become a big sister. I shall return Jan. 8, which is fair warning for readers bored by bragging grandfathers.

For 1986, you should be as happy as I am.

Al and Puss—a rescue

Carolyn Walker

Among the world's many unsung heroes lived Al from Al's Service Station.

Al was a lanky, gray-haired fellow who didn't care if you were a little kid and you called him by his first name.

And he was never too busy to help out in an emergency—the kind that might have required a father when the neighborhood dads were at work.

On any given day during the 1950s, you could approach Al with a look of terror in your eyes and he would respond cheerfully with wrenches and a hacksaw.

My mother called upon his good will at least three times during my youth. Once to get a gum-machine ring off my swollen finger. Once to get the neighbor girl's hand out of her bicycle chain. And once to find our cat Puss who was trapped under the hood of our car.

Puss was a giant, black angora cat who drank from our fish bowl, cavorted with skunks and dominated our pet Dachsund. She was fearless.

But she didn't adapt well.

Puss led a charmed life right up until the day we moved three streets over.

Like most cats, Puss didn't take readily to a change of address. She had grown accustomed to life in our cozy old residence where our bird had called her "kitty, kitty, kitty," where she had mastered climbing the front storm door, and where she had performed countless entertainments for mother's bridge club.

After the move, mother took all the cat-precautions she could think of to facilitate the change. In the basement of our new house, she kept Puss supplied with food, water and cat-box; and gave Puss the benefit of several weeks of in-home care before turning her loose in the new neighborhood, hoping she would adjust.

The first thing Puss did with her new freedom was climb under the hood of our car, as we were to learn later when mother turned on the motor to take us to school.

Instead of the customary purr (forgive me) of a healthy engine, we heard a screeching "Me-e-e-ow-w-w-w."

Mother turned off the car amid my sister's and my horrified shrieks and exited the automobile to search unsuccessfully for Puss.

Finally, after driving us some five miles to school, mother pulled in at good old Al's to find out where a cat could become trapped in a car. She feared the worst.

Al handled the problem like a true professional.

"Stand back in case she jumps," he said to mother as he lifted the hood.

With the hood raised, mother and Al got a first-hand look at a terrified Puss resting on the engine, her tail stretched at least eight inches.

Puss' eyes were aglow with fear as Al tenderly removed her from her perch and handed her to mother, who was amazed that Puss had made the five-mile ride to school then the three-mile ride back to Al's under the hood, relatively unharmed.

Al explained to mother that Puss had probably entered the hood from a wheel well and had her tail stretched in the fan of the car before finding comparative safety on the engine.

After the incident, because her tail dragged beaver-like at least six inches on the floor behind her, Puss bravely faced corrective surgery.

She lived out her life in relative piece and comfort.

As for Al, I remember my sister and I growing so old and capable that we no longer had childhood mishaps requiring his aid.

One day while still young, I mistook another man at church for Al. He didn't look quite right, but I figured that was because he was dressed in a suit and not his usual oily, service station uniform.

"Hi, Al," I said.

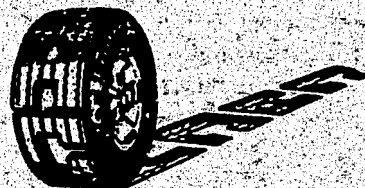

"My name's not Al," the man retorted.

"Too bad," I thought, shrugging. "You couldn't have done any better than to have been born Al from Al's Service Station."

Wolves open league with win

By Dan Vandenhemel

When the Clarkston Wolves dressed for their basketball game against the Lake Orion Dragons, they forgot one thing—boxing gloves.

Not that the Jan. 3 game, won by the Wolves 68-40, was a brawl, but there was a lot of pushing and shoving going on.

Clarkston coach Dan Fife said he expected a tough game.

"We've had one of those officials before and he usually lets the kids play," Fife said. "I told the kids to expect a physical game. They had to go after everything as if they wouldn't get called for a foul. I think a game like that helps the kids become more aggressive."

The Wolves jumped out to a 6-0 lead before the Dragons could get a shot off. The bumping let Lake Orion scramble back into the game and Lake Orion trailed 13-11 after the first quarter.

"I told the kids to expect a physical game."

—Dan Fife

During the rest of the half, Clarkston outscored host Lake Orion by nine and waltzed to victory in the second half.

Ed Whitaker had the hot hand for the Wolves, again. The senior forward netted 30 points, 10 assists, 10 rebounds and six steals; not a bad night's work, said Fife.

"Eddie was just super," the coach said. "He accounted for 50 of the points with the assists counted in."

Fife indicated that expecting Whitaker to pile up the statistics like he has would be unfair. That's why Fife was happy Mike Walters found his shooting touch against Lake Orion. Walters has been off the mark for part of the season, Fife said.

Most of the senior forward's 15 points came from mid-range jumpers.

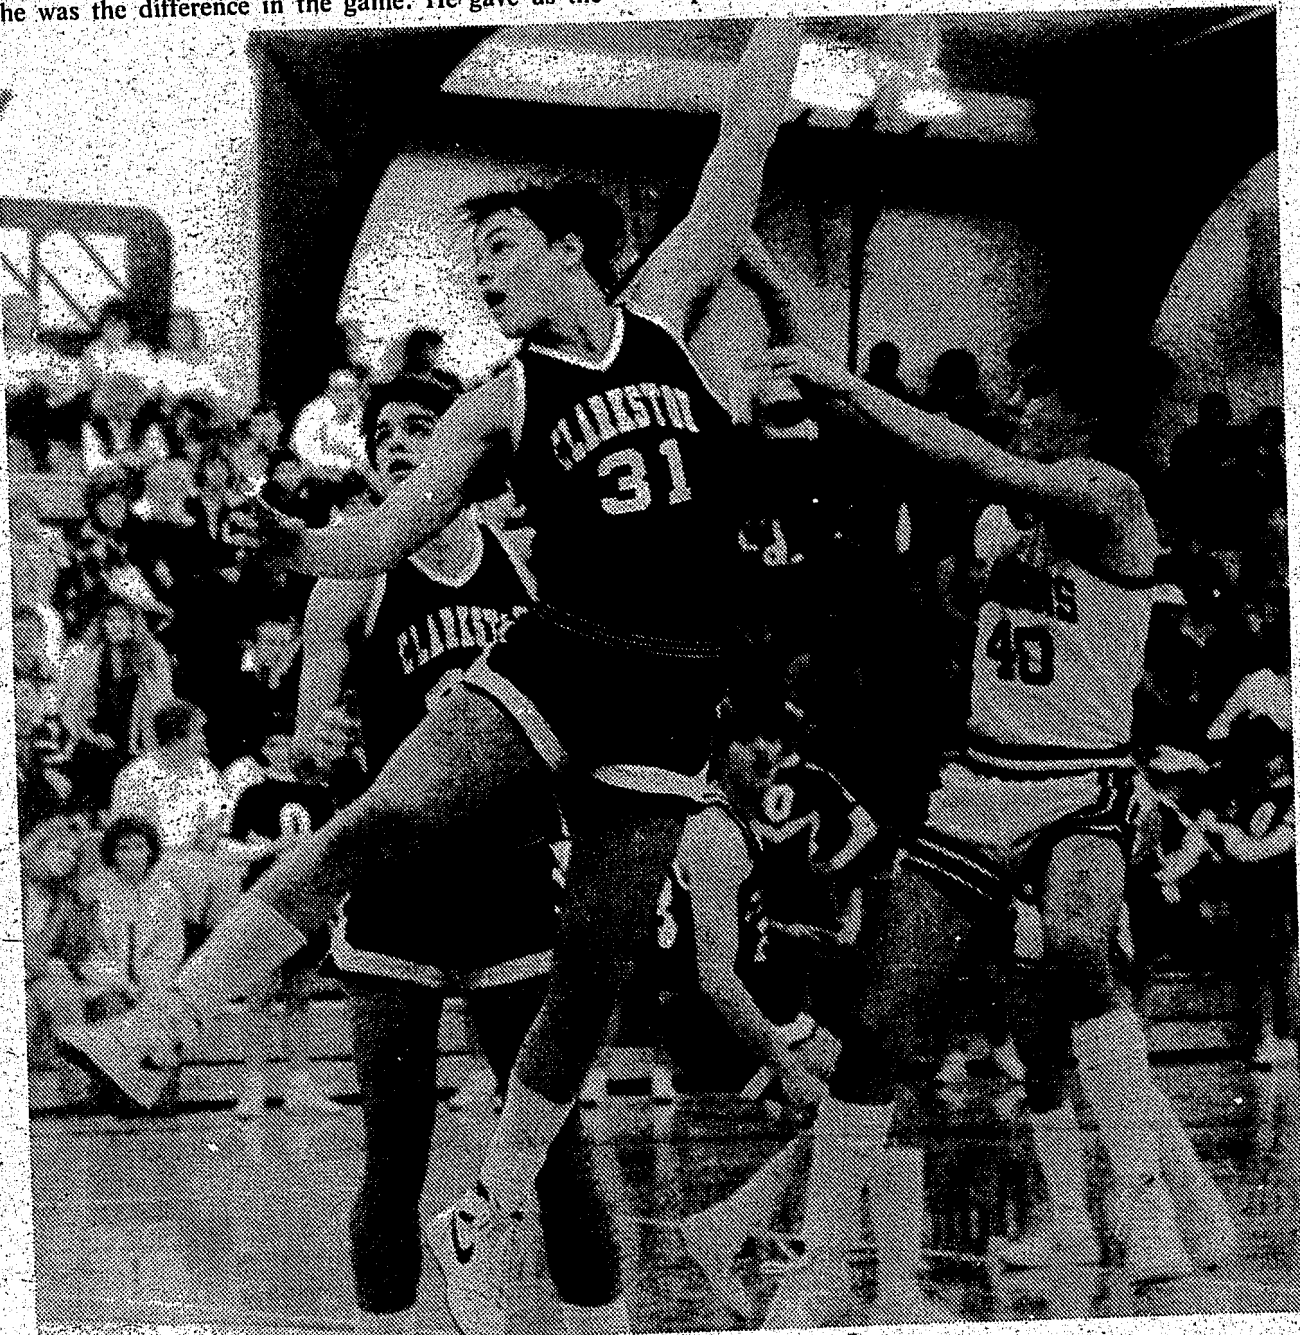

"We're going to need him down the line," Fife said. "I think he might have been putting too much pressure on himself to produce."

Another player receiving the coach's kudos was Jim Hall. The 6-foot-2 junior came off the bench and took advantage of the physical tempo of the game. "That's his type of game. He had a very good game," Fife said. "Jimmy is very aggressive. I think he was the difference in the game. He gave us the spark off the bench."

The Wolves move their record to 4-1 and 1-0 in the Greater Oakland Activities League. The Dragons drop to 2-4 and 0-2 in the league.

Jim Hall, 31, played a big part in the Wolves' 68-40 victory over Lake Orion. Hall came off the bench and scored all eight of his points in the third quarter.

Snowy softball

The weather is cooperating with Independence Township this winter.

The parks and recreation department is scheduling its annual Slip and Slide Classic for Jan. 18 at Spring Lake Country Club.

The softball tournament has been canceled the last two winters because of good weather.

The cost for the tournament is $60 a team, which includes officials, baseballs and free T-shirts for the winners.

Deadline for entering is Jan. 13.

For more information, call the parks and recreation department at 625-8223.

Sports

Tournament format upsets CHS coach

By Dan Vandenhemel

Clarkston wrestling coach Greg Gwisdalla is unhappy about the way the annual Oakland County wrestling tournament is held.

Gwisdalla said he has heard complaints from fellow coaches and parents stemming from the finishing time the first day of the tournament. The tournament is traditionally set the Friday and Saturday before Christmas.

The Wolves didn't return to Clarkston until after 2 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 21, said Gwisdalla.

"A lot of parents were calling my house wondering where their children were and I don't blame them," Gwisdalla said. "A lot of coaches are upset, too, at the way the tournament is held."

This year, 48 of the 53 county varsity wrestling squads turned out for the tournament. The first day of the event was held in two locations, Oakland University and Farmington High School.

The major complaint by the parents and coaches, said Gwisdalla, is the double-elimination format. A wrestler has to lose twice before he is gone from the tournament. This is the third year for the double-elimination system.

Gwisdalla suggested that the tournament go back to a carryover system, which is a complicated form of single elimination, because it would take less time.

"This is crazy to have double elimination with 48 schools," said Clarkston's coach. "This is supposed to be an extracurricular activity for high school students. Some people treat this as a religion. I don't think it's fair to keep a kid out until two in the morning for a wrestling tournament."

John Major, wrestling coach of Brother Rice High School and president of the Oakland County Wrestling Coach Association, said he didn't know what caused the delay this year.

Major said the wrestling at Farmington started about 1:30 p.m. and finished around 2 a.m. At OU a couple of charting mistakes pushed the starting time to 3 p.m. but they still finished by midnight.

"I'm not really sure what the hold up was at Farmington. We were at Oakland, and other than starting late it went all right," Major said. "Every spring we have a coaches' meeting to discuss and plan the next one. We're always trying to upgrade the tournament, but it's hard when only 10 or 12 coaches show up at the meeting."

Tourney helps Wolves prepare for season

By Dan Vandenhemel

There was good and bad news about Clarkston High School's play in its pre-season volleyball tournament.

Part of the good was the Wolves making it to the semi-finals of the Oakland University Volleyball tournament on Dec. 28. They lost to the eventual champions Bishop Foley, 15-12, 4-15, 13-15.

Part of the bad was the way the Wolves played against Bishop Foley.

"They served well and we didn't receive the serves well," Wolves coach Nancy Foster said. "We should have been in the finals. I don't want to talk about the second game. The third game we were leading something like 12-6 before we lost."

Those were about the only negative things Foster had to say about the tournament. There were 16 teams in the event held at Oakland University and Rochester Adams High School. Two pools of four teams met at each school before the quarter finals at OU later in the afternoon.

Clarkston won its pool by beating Howell, Rochester Adams and splitting with Milford Lakeland.

The quarterfinals against Dryden went quickly with the Wolves winning, 15-9 and 15-12.

Clarkston also placed two players on the all-tournament team. Seniors Kecia Powell and Michelle Taulbee were selected to the eight-member squad.

"With only eight kids selected and Clarkston having two of them, that's pretty good," said Foster.

At the beginning of the season, Foster was counting on a strong lineup that gave the Wolves a flexible game plan. But shortly before the tournament, setter Laurie Brandt broke her leg skiing. Foster is expecting Brandt to return to the lineup by the middle of February.

"It's just cracked, so she should be back," the coach said. "We had to use Wendy Cohoon and Missy Odell as setters. They did a good job but we couldn't vary our offense. We just kept setting to the side were Kecia and Michelle were."

Advancing to the semi-finals was a surprise to Foster. Other than Powell and Taulbee, there aren't many players with varsity experience on the roster.

Up My Alley

License lineup

Dan Vandenhemel

My first New Year's resolution is on the books. I will not, repeat will not, wait until the last minute to renew my license plates next year.

Since my birthday just passed, I was one of the loonies that was standing in line Dec. 30. There easily were 100 people looking like matches in a box waiting at the Secretary of State's office in Clarkston.

From 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., I heard people talking and complaining about the line.

Most of the people thought it was the fault of the four employees that 100 people couldn't walk in and out of the office.

Any other time during the year, there would be no lines and very few grumpy people.

When I finally moved to the front of the line, I asked one of employees behind the counter if the lines were normal. She said the lines of renewers started to increase a week before Christmas and it's always that way.

To compound the problem of long lines, the mandatory emission testing went into effect Jan. 1. Every car owner in the tri-county area renewing their license plates after Jan. 1 has to have their cars tested.

To beat the deadline, many people with birthdays in January and the first two weeks of February flocked to the offices to save the $10 testing fee.

So the lines were a little longer, and some people were looking to place the blame on anyone but themselves.

Maybe there could have been something done differently at the Secretary of State's office. Maybe two lines instead of the one long one would have eased just a little tension.

But there was little hope with that many people waiting until the last day of the year to get new license stamps.

One woman standing in line said it's the American way. We stand in line to make Christmas purchases and we do it for our license plates.

Americans also like to complain and pass the proverbial buck.

Well, I'll take part of the blame. My birthday was Jan. 5 and I got the renewal notice the first part of December. I had the whole month to take care of business.

I procrastinated like 100 other people, and I'm willing not to blame someone else for something I helped cause.

The Seer

Found Monday morning under mail slot in The Clarkston News' front door: Another prediction from the famous soothsayer, the Seer, who continues to forecast the Friday night basketball games for Clarkston High School.

Jan. 10, Clarkston at Waterford Kettering—Last week, the Seer showed his greatness by coming within a point of the exact point spread of the Clarkston-Lake Orion game.

As a matter of fact, if the game wasn't switched to Lake Orion at the last minute, the Seer would have perfectly predicted the spread.

What do I do for an encore? Watch this prediction.

Clarkston historically has had tough ballgames at Kettering, but Captain coach Charlie Shires can't pass his fine girls' basketball record on to the boys.

The Captains are struggling and are thin on talent. They do have one excellent athlete in guard Tom Larkin. Forwards Tim Maxfield and Todd Drase also complement the team.

But Kettering can't contain Ed Whitaker.

The only way this game will be close is if Clarkston gets into early foul trouble. Don't bet on it. The Wolves will win easily: Clarkston by 17.

League needs volleyball players

Players and teams are still needed for the Independence Township co-recreation volleyball league.

The parks and recreation department program begins Jan. 16 at Clarkston Elementary School. Game times are 6, 7 and 8 p.m.

The cost is $10 a person. Rosters can range from six to 12 people. One of the league rules is an equal number of men and women must be on court at the same time. Registration deadline is Jan. 13.

For more information, call the parks and recreation department at 625-8223.

Sarah Kortge (left) as "Doctor" tries to find out what's wrong with the clown without jokes, played by Christy Helms.

Putting her height advantage to use, slap-stick style, is Susan McKoin as "Mr. Big." Sue Cohoon plays "Mr. Little."

Clownin' in public

There's much ado about naming a clown without jokes until she sings a Christmas song and is named after the way she makes people feel—"Happy." The Media I students at Sashabaw Junior High School presented the play "The Clown's Christmas Party" Dec. 19 to pupils from North Sashabaw Elementary.

Kristen Bilicki (left) played the role of "Mr. Quiet" and Donna Cataldo appeared as "Mr. Lean and Look." In an aside, Media I instructor Jan Inman noted that many of the performers saw media students from SJHS perform the same play five years ago, when they were third-graders.

CHS gym opens after 3 months of repairs

By Dan Vandenhemel

Students and bouncing balls have replaced workers and sawdust in the Clarkston High School gym.

After almost three months of nonuse, the gym opened its doors to students again Jan. 6.

The gym has been out of commission since Oct. 10 when the floor buckled in two locations under the bleachers.

Five girls' basketball games, one boys' basketball game and numerous practices and gym classes had to be canceled or relocated.

Superintendent of Clarkston schools Milford Mason said the repairs took a little longer than expected.

"It took two weeks to find out what the problem was to begin with," Mason said. "We had to tear up the floor to try to find the problem."

Water leaking from the roof through the cinder block walls accumulated under the floor, said Mason. The moisture caused the floorboards to swell.

The Independence Township Fire Department lent a helping hand with a fire hose to find the problem. Firefighters sprayed the roof to simulate a heavy rainstorm.

"We had the floor torn up and could watch where the water was coming from," Mason said. "We couldn't wait for it to rain during normal working hours."

The repairs and engineering costs totaled around $30,000.

"Not ever having something like this done before, I don't know if that is a good price or not," said Mason. "Our insurance company will take care of a big share of that. We have a $5,000 deductible."

Russian is proud to be American

By Carolyn Walker

Lubomyr Hewko glories in his American freedom.

He cherishes it, he respects it and he nourishes it.

A five-year member of the Independence Township Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals, Hewko says America is a land of opportunities.

He speaks as a man who has known terror and oppression, but also as a man who has found his dream, and lived it in Independence.

A refugee of Russia, Hewko, at 14, fled that country's totalitarian system with his family near the end of World War II.

He subsequently traveled to America where he became a student at Wayne State University when he was 20 years old.

"I could see that in this country the opportunities are unlimited," he says. "I could see my future was in higher education."

Hewko is a General Motors automotive engineer with a bachelor's degree from Wayne State University and a master's degree from the University of Michigan. He has lived in the township since 1979 with his wife Natalie and their three children.

As he relaxes in his spacious home, he reflects on his past and his service to his community.

The 56-year-old has lived under three governments, he says: Russia's, Hitler's and America's.

In fleeing Russia, Hewko says his family was struggling to escape a lifetime of fear and a lack of personal freedoms, including the right to practice their religion.

"Their constitution is just a farce," he says. "The courts are run by the KGB. A younger person, if he is spotted going to church, his career is shot."

"You have to really live there to understand what terror can do," he says, adding that some neighbors spy on one another.

But things are wonderfully different here, he says, adding that he is grateful for the opportunity to participate in local government.

Hewko was appointed to the Independence Township Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals by former Supervisor James Smith approximately five years ago.

"I think it is a privilege," he says of working on the two boards. "People can actually change things. The United States, there's no doubt, is the greatest country in the world."

As he considers the differences in his old and new life-styles, Hewko anticipates many changes for Independence and offers suggestions about how they should happen.

The area is going to go through a drastic transition from farm to residential-farm to suburban residential in atmosphere, he says.

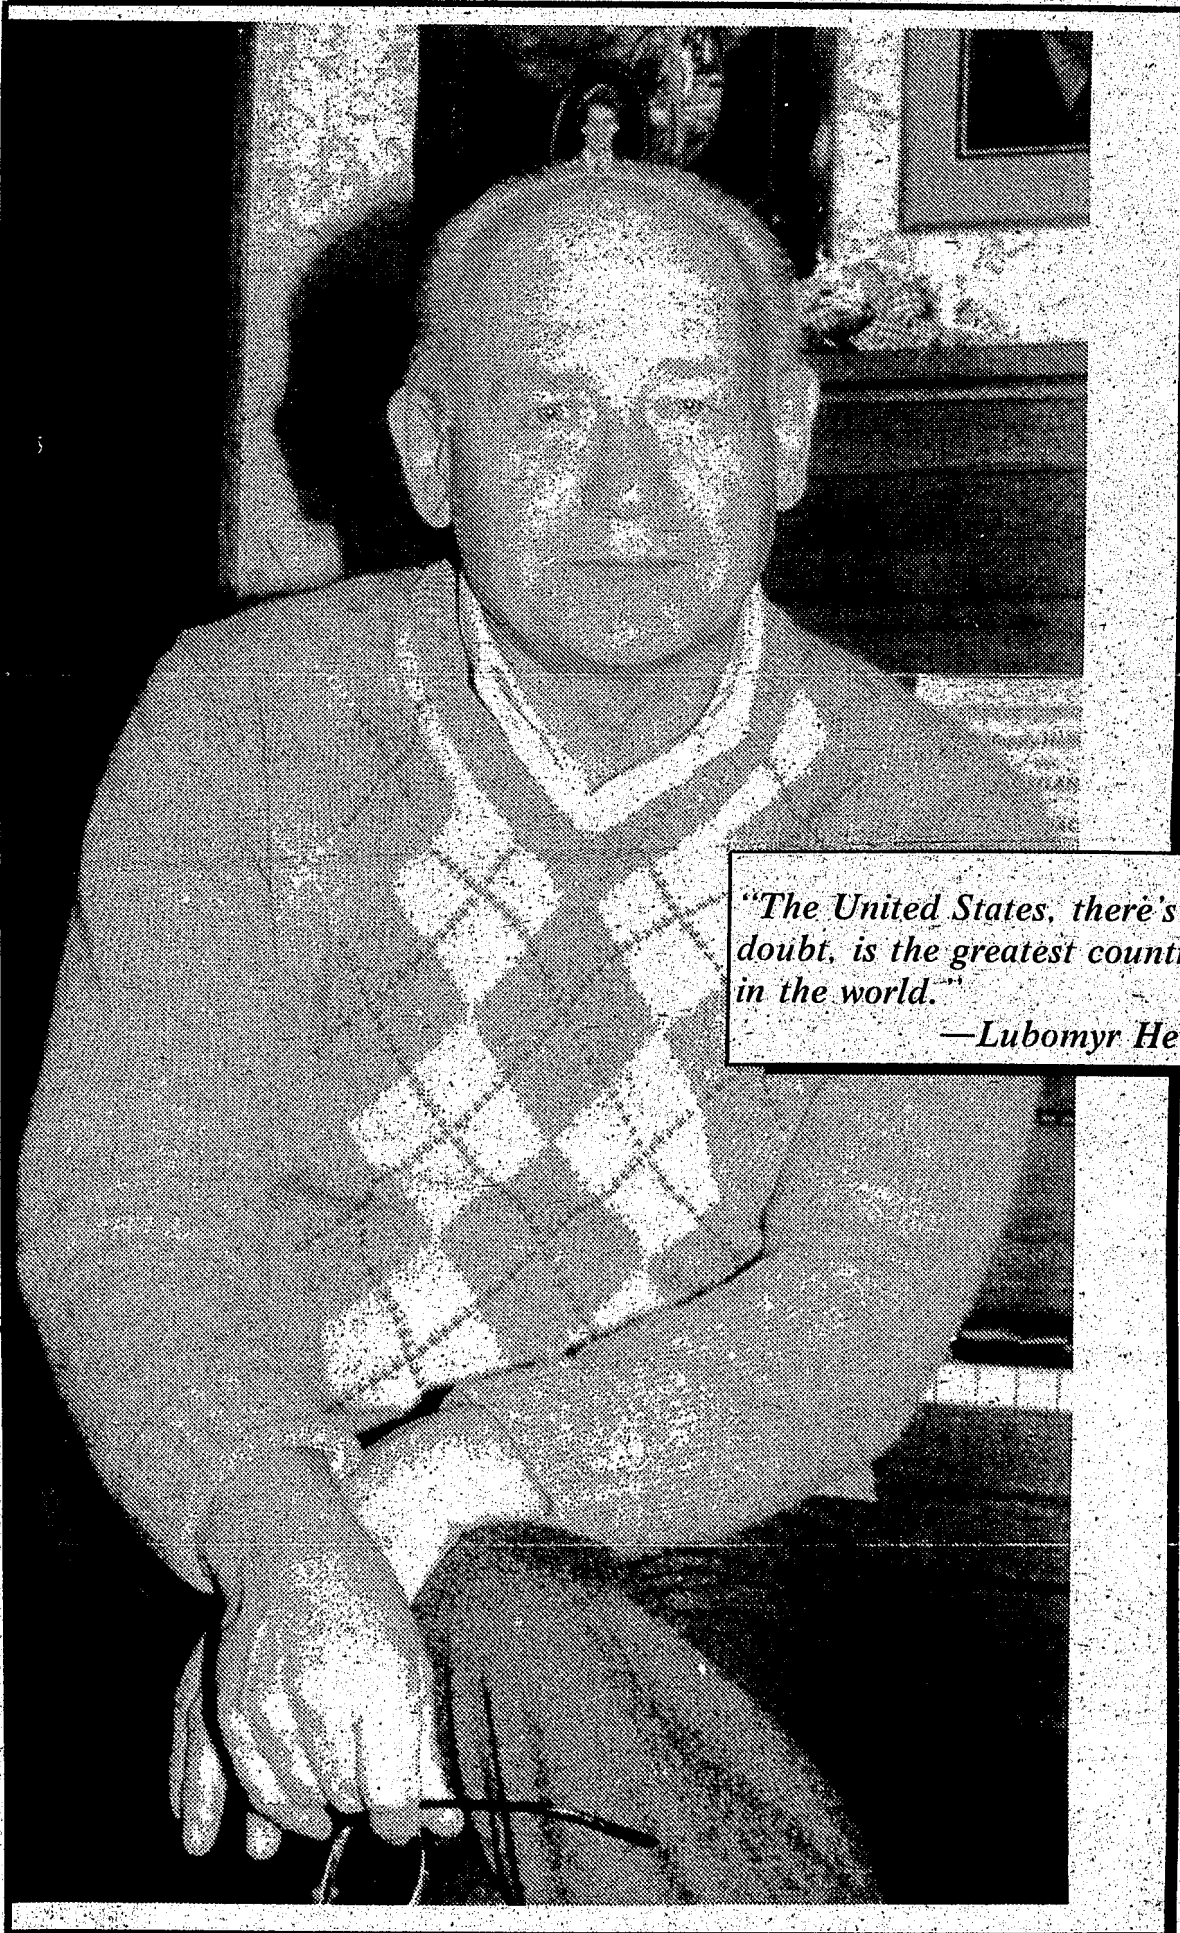

People moving to Independence who were not born with emotional ties to the area will be the ones to make decisions in the near future, he says. Those decisions will be tempered by the commission's recently adopted master plan, he says.

"I think in general the planning commission has a good control of the township land use," he says, referring to the plan. "I think for the most part, the commission was very effective."

Hewko also believes Independence should actively encourage the type of businesses it desires rather than waiting for happenstance. In this way, the atmosphere and growth of the community could be monitored, he says.

Provisions for a civic center and for performing arts would be a welcome addition to the community, he adds.

"We're next to be a first-class, deluxe community," Hewko says, referring to a progression in which Independence would follow the developments of Troy and Rochester.

"The United States, there's no doubt, is the greatest country in the world."

—Lubomyr Hewko

"The community ought to have some kind of a plan to approach this," he says. "Some of it is inevitable."

Hewko says he considers the eastern portion of M-15 near Dixie Highway unsightly and says that area is prime for improvements with the development of the Clarkston Surgical Center and the new 52nd District Courthouse.

Improved landscaping and the elimination of curb cuts along that stretch would be a bonus, he says.

"You come in from Dixie Highway and (your) first impressions of Clarkston you get from that," he says.

Though Hewko is stepping down from his positions on the two boards this year because of time constraints, he says he plans to maintain his community involvement, possibly in an ad hoc capacity.

Of his participation on the two boards he says, "I enjoyed it very much. It was a very worthwhile and wholesome experience. I found it very rewarding."

Township couple adorn brochure

Gliding along on their cross country skis, Dick and Pat Portenga adorn the cover of the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department cross country ski brochure.

The Independence Township couple regularly use Independence Oaks County Park for skiing, so much so that "I was on" (a brochure cover) once before," says Dick.

Nonetheless, he says, it's a thrill.

The brochure includes a map of the four groomed trails at Independence Oaks plus details including the level of difficulty of each trail, ski rental fees, hours and a telephone number to call for snow conditions.

Copies are available at the park on Sashabaw Road or by calling 858-0906.

All ages can participate in ski races

Novice and experienced cross country skiers of all ages can test their skills at the "Springfield Oaks Challenge" on Saturday, Jan. 18.

The races, co-sponsored by Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Michigan, begin at 10 a.m. for experienced skiers and at 1 p.m. for novices. Race distances range from 4 to 15 kilometers.

Last year, despite a temperature of 21 degrees below zero, the race had over 100 participants, said Dan Stencil, recreation supervisor for Oakland County Parks and organizer of this year's race.

Registration will be taken the day of the event and all participants are eligible for door prizes.

The fee is $5 a person or a "Blue Card" can be purchased for $10, which pays for participation in all five Blue Cross-Blue Shield sponsored races.

The other races are planned Jan. 26 at Glen Oaks Golf Course in Farmington Hills, Feb. 2 at Rogell Golf Course in Detroit, Feb. 9 at Whispering Willows Golf Course in Livonia and Feb. 15 at Independence Oaks County Park in Independence Township.

The Springfield Oaks Golf Course is open all winter for cross country skiing. It is located on Andersonville Road near Hall Road in Springfield Township.

Township.

For more information on cross country skiing events and activities in Oakland County Parks, call Dan Stencil at 858-4944.

Winter lessons

Registration is now being taken for winter term classes at the Pontiac Art Center.

Art classes are available for ages 4 through adult, dance classes for teens and adults and piano for beginners.

The 10-week sessions, which meet once a week, range in cost from $25 to $75 for members. Non-members pay an additional $5 fee per class. The term begins Jan. 14.

The art center, a privately supported non-profit organization, also offers art shows and a lecture series beginning Jan. 16 on "Women in the Arts."

For a brochure, write the Pontiac Art Center, 47 Williams, Pontiac, MI 48053, or call 333-7849.

Honors

Sue Stefanski, a Clarkston High School senior, is included in the 19th annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1984-85."

Jeffrey Lawrence has been named to the dean's list at the DeVry Institute of Technology in Lombard, Ill.

He resides on Waldon Road, Independence Township.

Four local students are on the dean's list at Michigan Technological University, Houghton, for the fall quarter.

Andrew Hollibaugh is a freshman majoring in electrical engineering.

David Hunter is a junior majoring in civil engineering.

Scott Meyland is a freshman majoring in mechanical engineering.

Mark Sommers is a senior majoring in metallurgical engineering.

Hocking competing

Clarkston's Junior Miss Dana Hocking heads to Marshall Jan. 24 and 25 for the Michigan's Junior Miss finals.

She will be among 28 finalists in the statewide scholarship program competing for the title of Michigan's Junior Miss and over $5,000 in cash scholarships.

Awards are based on scholastic achievement, poise and appearance, physical well-being and a 10-minute interview with the judges.

In service

James R. Mather, a 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, graduated in December from the United States Navy's Welding A School in Philadelphia, Pa.

Mather, who was home on leave for the holidays, will be stationed on the USS Coral Sea out of Norfolk, Va., as an HT fireman apprentice.

A resident of Springfield Township, Mather is the son of Robert and Geri Mather.

Tom Bennett, a 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, graduated Dec. 20 from the United States Army aviation training center as a crew chief at Alabama's Fort Rucker.

Bennett will be stationed in Frankfurt, Germany. He is the son of Brooke and Sue Bennett of Springfield Township.

Army Pvt. Chris Eschker is serving as a track mechanic with the 7th Air Defense Battalion, Chaparral Missile Unit, Fort Ord, Calif. A 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, Eschker graduated Nov. 1 from advanced training at Fort Knox, Ky. His parents are Louis and Barbara Eschker of Avalon Road, Independence Township. Writes Eschker: "California is better than I imagined!"

Sweet music for top SCAMP walkers

Three outstanding walkers were awarded prizes recently for their efforts on behalf of the 1985 Walk for SCAMP.

Brent Hummel, a fifth-grader at North Sashabaw Elementary School; W. Scott Graham, a Clarkston High School student; and Al Clark, an adult who enjoys walking for his health, each received a portable radio with headphones for the highest actual dollars collected during the event, said Betty Haran, former coordinator for the North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corp.

Corp.

Brent raised $183, Scott $109 and Clark $263.

SCAMP is a summer camping program for disabled students and the Walk for SCAMP is its major fund raiser.

"Scott ran the 10 miles as part of the track team. He returned to the park sweaty and tired but very successful," Haran said. "Brent walked and enjoyed the trip around. Both are great and we're proud to have them take part in the SCAMP walk."

Wilder-Farmer vows exchanged

Theresa Wilder and Dennis Farmer were united in marriage at the Bethany Pentecost Tabernacle.

The Rev. John Tucker performed the 5 p.m. ceremony Oct. 26.

The bride wore a white gown and carried a bouquet of white and burgundy roses.

Maid of honor was Verna Childers. Bridesmaids were Janet Lucas, Penny Miracle and Barb McDonald. They wore burgundy dresses. The maid of honor's bouquet was of white flowers and the bridesmaids carried burgundy flowers.

Flower girl Christy Ervin wore a burgundy dress and carried a white basket with burgundy flowers. Ring bearer was David Taylor.

Best man was Wayne Farmer. Groomsmen were Tim Lucas, Darryl Wilder and Charles Corn.

The bride's parents are Homer and Dortheda Wilder of Pontiac. A 1980 graduate of Pontiac Northern High School, she is employed by K mart.

The bridegroom's parents are William and Connie Farmer of Pheasant Run Road, Independence Township. A 1982 graduate of Clarkston High School, he is employed as an assistant manager at K mart.

The couple's wedding reception was held at the American Legion Hall.

They took their wedding trip to Florida and are residing in Garfield Heights, Ohio.

Club notes

April Reinhardt and Samantha Morley were guests recently at the State Capitol where they were honored for their work with handicapped children, the elderly and veterans.

House members passed a resolution sponsored by Rep. Mat Dunaskiss (R-Orion Township) to honor the girls.

April is Senior Miss Poppy and Samantha is Junior Miss Poppy for the Chief Pontiac No. 377 American Legion Auxiliary.

Grads

Ten students from Independence and Springfield townships are among prospective December graduates at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

Susan Davis of Williamson Road is to receive a master's degree in business management.

Bachelor degree-candidates are Randall Adkins of Neal Road in instrumental music; Mary Birkett of White Lake Road in fashion merchandising and management; Christopher Ernst of Fawn Valley Drive in general business administration; Kathy Johnston of Curtis Lane in psychology; Patrice O'Neil of Waldon Road in dietetics; Patrick Otenbaker of Iroquois Road in management information services; Joel Partlo of Paramus Drive in broadcast and cinematic arts; Mercedes Sanchez of Sashabaw Road in interpersonal and public communication; and Lynne Shull of Bridge Lake Road in hospitality services administration.

At college

The Lake Superior State College basketball team is getting some help from Dave Jokisch.

The 1984 graduate of Clarkston High School is starting at a forward position for the Lakers and is averaging nine points a game and over five rebounds.

In his last two games, the 6-foot-6 Jokisch scored 12 points and 14 points in losses to Western Michigan and Michigan Tech.

Billee Hampshire served as news director of the 300-watt student radio station WMHW this semester at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

A senior at the university, she is majoring in broadcast and cinematic arts.

Her parents are William and Edythe Hampshire of Independence Township.

'Singing Plumber' plans concert

Bob Taylor, "The Singing Plumber," is to appear in concert Sunday, Jan. 12, at the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

The concert is planned at 4 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door for a $5 donation. The church is located at 6600 Waldon.

Taylor is well known in Michigan, particularly for his renditions of the national anthem at Tiger Stadium. He has also appeared on the J.P. McCarthy radio show and with Mike Douglas, Arthur Godfrey, Jimmy Durante and on Kelly and Co.

At the present time, he is a disc jockey on WJR Radio, is heard on singing telegrams and has made frequent concert appearances.

He is to appear at the Clarkston United Methodist Church with accompanist Jim Wilhelmsen, an Ann Arbor resident who teaches piano at the Clarkston Conservatory of Music.

Proceeds from the concert will be used to purchase additional bells and robes for the choir.

Taylor's appearance is the first in a series of programs sponsored by the church's music department.

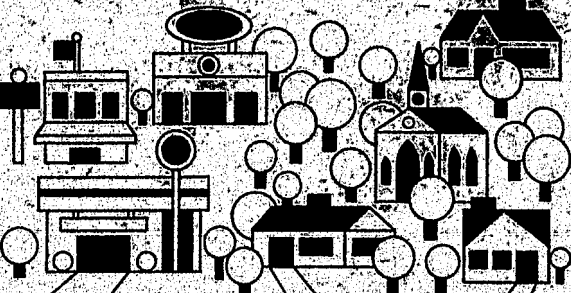

Small chamber-type musicals round out the series with a Feb. 24 appearance by soprano Connie Grubaugh and a March 23 appearance by cellist Laura Deming.

For more information, call the church at 625-1611.

The voice of Bob Taylor accompanied by pianist Jim Wilhelmsen (left) is to be heard this month in a concert at the Clarkston United Methodist Church on Waldon Road.

SCAMP wins $4,500 grant

By Carolyn Walker

Some handicapped youths from northern Oakland County will benefit from the generosity of others this summer.

Clarkston's SCAMP program for disabled students was awarded a $4,500 grant from the Community Foundation for Southeastern Michigan in December.

The one-time-only grant, one of 23 given by the foundation, is to be used to help multiply handicapped and physically handicapped or otherwise health impaired students during SCAMP's 1986 season, said Betty Haran, former coordinator of the North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corp.

SCAMP is a summer camping program for 3- to 26-year-olds from northern Oakland County who have physical or mental disabilities. The program is funded entirely through donations and the efforts of the funding corporation's fund raisers.

"This is (SCAMP's) first foundation grant from an outside, objective group," said Haran.

The Community Foundation, located in Detroit, was organized in 1984 by a group of civic leaders and spearheaded by Joseph L. Hudson Jr., whose family owned the J. L. Hudson stores, said Mariam Noland, executive director of the foundation. It services non-profit organizations the southeastern Michigan region.

The foundation's first grants were awarded in June 1985, she said, adding that its money is received from contributions, other grants and corporations.

In making donations, the foundation looks at the recipient's need, capability of using the money correctly and "the difference it would make in lives and the community," Noland said.

Tax form help

Senior citizens can receive assistance with complete income tax filing at the Waterford Senior Citizen Drop-In Center.

Beginning Jan. 20, appointments may be made Mondays through Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and on Fridays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

There is no charge for the service, but a donation to the senior center may be made. The money will be used to assist with the transportation program.

The center is located at 6455 Harper, near Percy King, in the Lotus Lake School. Call 623-6500 to make an appointment.

Skiing benefit

Members of the Clarkston High School ski team are seeking individual skiers for the upcoming second annual Clarkston SCAMP Ski-a-thon.

Organizers are encouraging members of the general public and former ski team members to participate this year, said Carol Balzarini, wife of Don Balzarini, the team's coach. The ski-a-thon was previously restricted to members of the ski team.

The event, co-sponsored by SCAMP and the team, is scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, Jan. 18, at the Pine Knob Ski Resort, 7777 Pine Knob Rd., Independence Township.

The purpose of the ski-a-thon is to raise money through pledges for Clarkston SCAMP, a summer camping program for handicapped youth, said Balzarini, adding that suggested pledges are 10 cents per downhill run.

Last year, skiers raised approximately $1,400. Anyone presenting pre-paid pledge money of $100 or more will be given a free lift ticket and one free group ski lesson, Balzarini said.

Hot chocolate will also be provided for participants.

Interested skiers can obtain pledge sheets at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston, or by contacting the Balzarinis at 625-5948.

125- CARD OF THANKS

PLEASE ACCEPT MY thanks for all the expressions of kindness at the time of the loss of my father, Harold Holmes. Everyone was so nice, the paramedics, Oxford Police, Pastor May, Bossardet Funeral Home, and all our friends and neighbors. Everyone was so supportive. Thank you. Special thanks to Judy Joanne Bellairs. ILLX2-1c

WE WOULD LIKE to thank the Oxford Fire Dept., Police Dept. and Fleet Ambulance for their immediate response to our medical emergency on Dec. 30th. There was no time to be transported to the hospital when they arrived and Fireman John Moore, aided by the others, delivered our healthy baby boy, William Floyd. We are grateful that such fine men serve our community. Our compliments to all for the job well done. Richard & Sandra Cole.

130-IN MEMORIAM

DALE. Dale Tippet, our family, our friend. The special guy to lend us a hand. For Dale, we'll miss you very much. Your thoughtful ways and your special touch. For Dale, your memory will always remain. The laughter, the love, and sometimes the pain. For you were loved by many and so that's why it's so hard to let you go; the rides on the horses on a sunny July. Through those whispering woods, and there quiet reply. You may be gone, from us apart; But not far away from our loving heart. The things you, wondered. The ways you, cared. The family you loved, and quietly shared. How do we forget, what's special as you? For I guess we won't, because we all love you. Love, Linda Bass. ILLX1-1f

Life-style and work blend for woman

By Kathy Greenfield

An aura of quiet intensity surrounds Betty June Alexander when she talks about her business.

As the owner of Balanced Life, which she operates out of her Springfield Township home, Betty June preaches a life-style philosophy based on "self-care with gentleness."

"Literally, it's my life," she says.

Her approach includes yoga, reflexology (working with pressure points on hands and feet), iridology (a direct observation of the body's condition through the eye's irises), the natural colon hygiene method of Dr. Robert Wood, transformation (using Dr. Richard Moss' technique of sacred meditation to access your authority over your own energy), birth education and family bonding, and Reiki-healing (the transformation of energy through hands).

Now age 58, Betty June's interest in alternative health care methods began some 30 years ago.

"I was having physical health problems, which came to a point about 1955 when I was advised to learn more about the food I ate and that I could regain my health thereby," she says.

"In the process of doing this, I found out about whole and natural foods. Natural foods led to learning about natural healing. That's when I began learning about self-care with gentleness, which is the basis of my work."

Later, she and her husband Paul took a yoga class at the YMCA. Her personal benefits were so profound, says Betty June, that she began studying to be a yoga instructor; and in 1963, her teaching began.

Since then, "I've easily had 20,000 students," she says, and her enthusiasm for yoga continues.

"The yoga, to me, is really one of your ultimate self-healing therapies because you really do eliminate difficulties by your own work," she says.

"It really helped me to recognize how I was dealing with situations in my life. Of course, the increase in energy was absolutely amazing. I need much less sleep time to have adequate rest."

Betty June has been a guest speaker at numerous meetings and has taught classes in executive management of stress.

She meets with small groups and individuals in her home on Rattalee Lake Road. She also teaches classes in yoga and in Balanced Life through Clarkston Community Education.

She suggests that people observe how they deal with stress, and says that fatigue and stress should never be fought with another cigarette or cup of coffee.

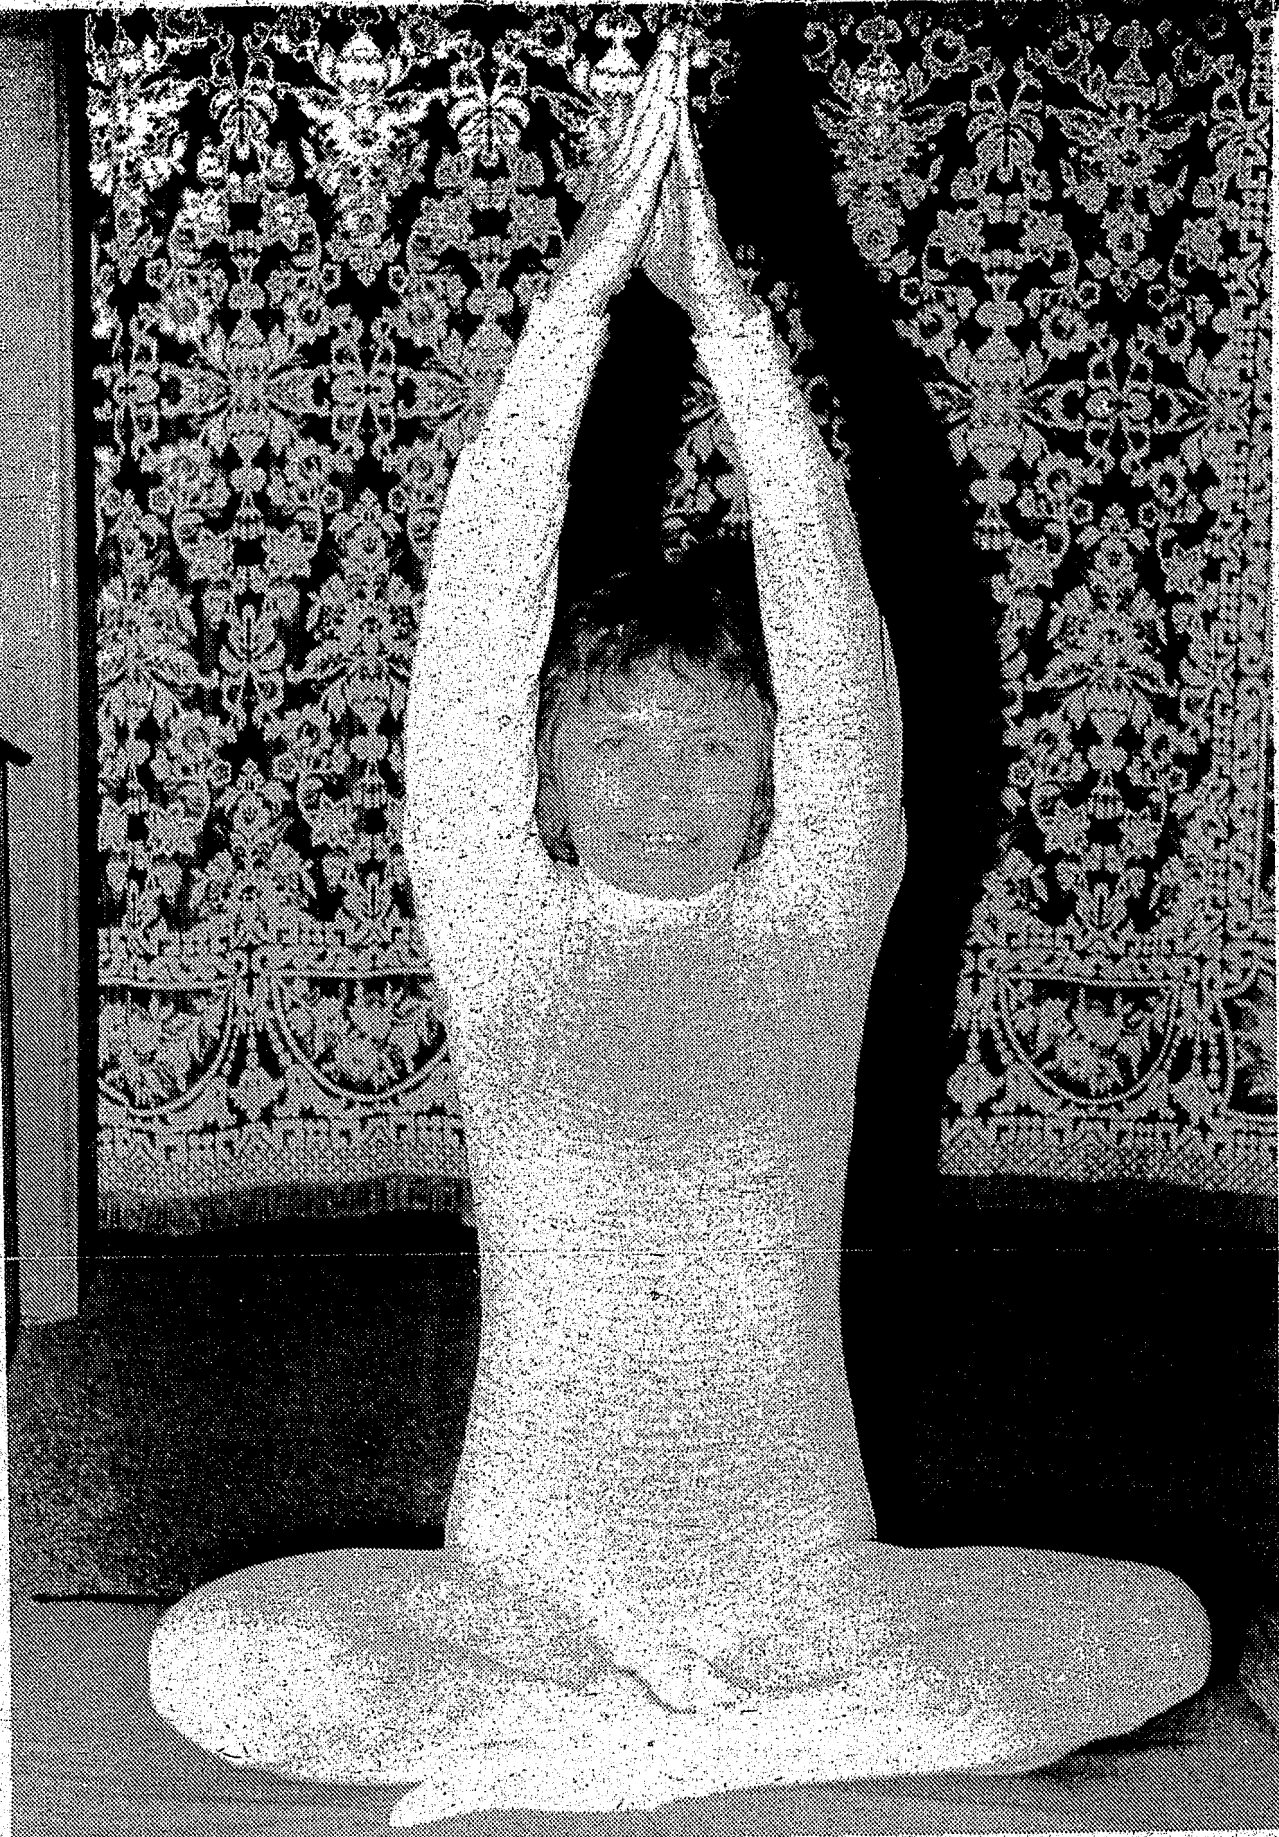

"The fatigue results from lack of oxygen; for one thing, so learning proper breathing is a key," she says. "Another is using less stimulants, less stimulating food and not overeating."

Even the types of foods a person eats can play a role, according to Betty June.

"Whole, natural foods, primarily from the environment where you live, permit a great harmony in your system," she says.

Michiganders, for instance, should eat tropical fruits only on occasion—apples that grow in the area, she says, are better.

"A lot of it is getting to the real essence of how all this body was created to use. When people learn that, what seems very complex becomes very, very simple," says Betty June.

Betty June Alexander assumes the Seated Mountain yoga position. The cover of the yoga album recorded in 1971 for her students features her photo in the same classic stance.

Double-header: Kirk's mom highlights Gibson/Rozema weddings

By Dan Vandenhemel

The double wedding bells of the Gibsons and Rozemas rang all the way to Independence Township.

Dec. 21 was the date of the wedding of Detroit Tiger Kirk Gibson and JoAnn Sklarski and former Tiger Dave Rozema and Sandra Sklarski. Sitting back and enjoying herself was Kirk's mom, Barb Gibson.

Barb is the drama director at Clarkston High School. During the first two weddings of her children, as the mother of brides (Jackie and Christine), she had to worry about planning everything.

"I've never been the mother of the groom before," she said. "It's the first time I had nothing to do but enjoy myself. It's a different feeling watching your son getting married. I couldn't be happier with the girl he married. JoAnn is very nice."

Over 600 invitations were sent and about 500 turned out for the ceremony and reception.

With that many people invited and the bridegrooms being professional baseball players, security was tight.

"Kirk said he was very concerned about publicity over the wedding," said his mother. "He wanted it a very private affair. He didn't want any problems and there weren't any at all. The Detroit Yacht Club is used to handling that kind of situation. Everything was very nice."

Gibson said the double ceremony went smoothly except when it came time for the minister to present the rings. He dropped one of them.

"I'm not sure whose ring he dropped but I could tell there was a little comment made at the altar and everyone started to laugh," Barb said.

The two couples drove from the church to the reception in a limousine. Instead of the customary tin cans trailing the car, baseball bats bounced along.

Because of the grooms' professions and Kirk's contract dispute with the Tigers, the Detroit media kept close tabs on the two couples and the approaching date.

"All the attention made the wedding a little anticlimactic," Barb said. "The wedding and Christmas coming right together made it a very hectic week. And for Christmas, Kirk and JoAnn had about 30 people over for a Christmas dinner. I told them they were crazy."
