Bryan is home!

*Do not go gentle into that good night.
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.*

—Dylan Thomas

By Carolyn Walker

The sun shined down on Bryan Weightman as the last stretch of his miracle unfolded at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport last week.

A protective mask covering his mouth and nose, Bryan emerged from the airplane terminal a tiny victor in his mother's arms.

Behind him were the clutches of death and a two-year struggle with congenital leukemia. Before him was life.

Two-year-old Bryan returned to Independence Township on May 8 after four months in Washington state, where he underwent bone marrow transplant surgery.

The transplant from his father, Michael, offered Bryan his only hope for long-term survival from acute lymphocytic leukemia. Bryan was born with the often-fatal disease.

Waiting for him at the terminal, were some 20 friends and relatives—all jubilant at Bryan's remarkable recovery.

Bryan had been near death twice before the House fire stops labor pains

By Julie LePere

What began as a special evening for two expectant parents literally went up in flames.

On May 6, Denise and Pete Short and their two children left their home on Oak Park Drive in Independence Township. Denise was in labor.

They went to Denise's parents' home in Waterford intending to leave their children there when her labor became more advanced.

At about midnight, the call came from the Independence Township Fire Department that their home was on fire. A neighbor had told the fire department of the Shorts' whereabouts.

"I was going into labor when the fire started, but with all of it happening, (the labor pains) stopped," Denise said.

The fire department received a call from the Shorts' neighbor at 11:23 and had the fire contained in a half hour, said Fire Marshall Gar Wilson.

"The fire definitely started in the couch," he said, but added he is still speculating on the exact cause.

The living room was completely gutted and the rest of the house suffered heavy smoke and heat damage, said Wilson.

Still pregnant, Denise and her family are staying with Denise's parents.

"We have to redo the whole inside (of the house)," she said. "In close to six to seven weeks, we should be able to move back in."

The Shorts' insurance should cover the costs, she said, but added, "We have a lot of things that will never be replaced. But that's OK. Everybody's OK. That's the important thing."

She praised the fast and efficient work of the fire department and the efforts of neighbors, especially one man.

"I would like to thank the neighbor man—I don't know his name—the man on the corner who wrapped himself in a blanket and went through (the house) to check on the kids," she said.

This weekend:

Get rid of trash

The weekend spring cleaners in Independence Township have been waiting for is almost here.

The township's annual Spring Cleanup is scheduled on Saturday and Sunday, May 17 and 18.

From 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. both dates, residents can dump their discards at the DPW building at 6050 Flemings Lake Rd.

There are no restrictions on the types of trash. As DPW director George Anderson put it, residents can dump "anything they want to bring."

When the dumping days are over, the township will pay to have the trash hauled to a dump. Anderson said he expects the cost to be about $24,000.

"We get a tremendous amount of participation," he said. "It keeps the roads a lot better than they used to be. Even though they're bad, it's still a lot better than it used to be."

Those who haul discards to the dumping site should be prepared to show their drivers' licenses as proof of residence.

Mt. Zion denied use permit

By Carolyn Walker

A proposed 40,000-square-foot church was denied by the Independence Township Planning Commission in a 4-2 vote May 8.

Members of the Mt. Zion Temple had requested a special land use permit to construct a building off Maybee Road near Clintonville Road and the I-75 overpass.

Special land use permits are required by the township for churches proposed in residential areas.

According to Chairman Neil Wallace, the request was denied because the church "represented too significant an erosion of the tax base" and the proposed building is 40,000-square-feet in size and 42 feet tall.

The church, proposed for 20 acres, would have needed 1,200 parking places and because of that and its size would not have been compatible with neighboring residences, Wallace said.

Members of the church intend to petition the commission's decision to the zoning board of appeals, said the Rev. Loren Covarrubias, pastor of the church, following the meeting.

"(The denial) wasn't an issue of the building. It was an issue of the property taxes," he said. "We're going to do everything we can do to use that property."

"We feel that God has spoken to us to use that property so we can't accept no from them. That's the site we intend to use."

Covarrubias said the congregation views the rejection as a violation of their right to practice freedom of religion.

They had petitioned the commission for a special land use permit last July but the request was tabled because of wetlands considerations.

The six-year-old Mt. Zion congregation is currently located on Clintonville Road at Mann Road in Waterford Township.

Church members plan to retain the old building for a school and to worship at the proposed site. The sites are about one-quarter of a mile apart.

Voting to deny the special land use were Wallace, Joseph Figa, Betty Jo Fussman and Carol Balzarini.

John Gray and Holly Stephens voted for the development.

Commission member Brent Bair was absent.

Eatery may reopen

The restaurant at the Clarkston Mills may be reopening this summer, said mall owner Ed Adler.

When Adler renewed his state liquor license this year, he asked for the inclusion of dancing on the license, he told the Village Council at the April 28 meeting.

The state is likely to approve the request, said Adler, because owners usually ask for a dancing license with their initial liquor license.

Although the details aren't yet known, Adler said he hopes the restaurant will be open before summer is over.

Family awaits word on missing resident

By Kathy Greenfield

Friends have eased the pain of waiting by the telephone for word of missing Independence Township resident Roger Walstead.

"Everyone has been so supportive. I don't know how to tell you how many people have been here," said Elaine, Walstead's wife of over 50 years. "I guess that's the thing that's kept us going."

Walstead, 75, was last seen on Monday, May 5, near Johannesburg and Lewiston. His cream-colored 1978 Dodge mini-motor home was found Thursday, May 8, in Georgia, apparently abandoned by Joel Paul Hanna when he fled from law enforcement offiers.

Hanna, a suspect in the May 3 slaying of Otsego County Sheriff's Deputy Carl Darling Jr. near Lewiston, was killed during the pursuit.

Walstead had driven from his Independence Township home to northern Michigan for a week of turkey hunting.

"He's good-natured and enjoys people, but he also enjoyed going off by himself occasionally in his mini-motor home," said Walstead's daughter, Beverly Morgan of Ortonville.

Morgan said her father is "a lover of nature, a true sportsman" who prefers to do his hunting "with a camera rather than a gun."

Before traveling to the Lewiston area, where his turkey license was good, he had visited his nephew Ed Bailey, also an Independence Township resident, at Bailey's cabin in Pickford in the upper peninsula.

During the visit, he called his wife. Walstead was pleased he had managed to videotape an elk, she said, and he was having a wonderful time.

Four days later, the FBI called to tell the family Walstead's van had been found in Georgia.

Since then, Walstead's only daughter, his wife, family members and friends have kept vigil by the telephone waiting for calls from the police and FBI agents searching Montmorency and Otsego counties for clues to his whereabouts.

On Monday, May 12, the family learned that a search in the Johannesburg area with heat-sensitive infrared lights had been fruitless. They were also told Walstead's billfold was found in Kentucky.

"They don't know where to look now," said Independence Fire Chief Dale Bailey, Walstead's nephew. "They're trying to piece it together to find out where he might be—anywhere from here to Georgia. It's like looking for a needle in a haystack."

Bailey recounts Walstead's goodness

By Kathy Greenfield

Roger Walstead is a jovial man who likes to talk to people, said his nephew Independence Township Fire Chief Dale Bailey.

And, said Bailey, "he's probably the one that got me started in the fire department."

Walstead's community involvement as an on-call firefighter in Independence Township is likely to have influenced many others.

Now 75, and retired as a heavy equipment operator, Walstead spent some 25 years of his life from the early 1950s to mid-1970s answering fire department emergency calls.

He was assistant fire chief at the fire department's Sashabaw Road station and he helped build up the fire department during the 1950s.

Walstead built the building that now houses the Sashabaw Road fire station. During the late 1940s and early 1950s, it housed his Case farm machinery dealership. He and his wife, Elaine, later sold the building to the township for use as the fire station.

During those years, Walstead was also active in the Clarkston Rotary Club, a businessmen's community service organization.

He was employed by the Oakland County Road Commission as a grader operator, and most recently, he worked as a heavy equipment operator.

"In fact, he did a lot of work on I-75," Bailey said.

An avid photographer, Walstead's interest in wildlife and hunting has continued into his retirement years.

Bailey fondly remembers many deer hunting trips with his uncle to the upper peninsula.

He also remembers that his uncle never shot a deer with anything more powerful than a movie camera.

The same is true for Walstead's turkey hunting hobby. A couple of years ago, Walstead switched from a 16mm movie camera to a VCR camera and his camper van equipment included a television for instant replay of his photographs of wildlife.

The permits for turkey hunting are granted by lottery and "he always gets a permit—nobody else does—but he's never shot a turkey," Bailey said.

This year, for the first time, Walstead decided to seek a turkey hunting permit for the Lewiston area rather than the upper peninsula.

This hunting trip was one he was especially looking forward to because illness kept him home last year.

Walstead's illness gave him another opportunity to help others as a volunteer participant in the cancer research program at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Roger Walstead, 75, was last seen in the Lewiston-Johannesburg area on May 5.

Council orders Mill Pond repairs

By Julie LePere

The Clarkston Village Council has called for immediate repairs to the Mill Pond's overflow structure.

The council voted unanimously to request Clarkston Mills owner Ed Adler to start the repairs and to report on the progress biweekly.

The action followed a presentation by Mike

Powell, village engineer.

The dam, as well as the overflow outlet structure, has suffered from poor past maintenance, allowing the erosion of the soil around the structures, said Powell at the May 12 village council meeting.

"It hasn't been maintained, and in some storms, water has gone around (the structures)," said Powell.

The problem with the dam, he said, is the broken control mechanism.

A wheel at the top of the dam has a 1 1/4-inch rod that runs to the bottom of the structure, said Powell. At the bottom, the rod turns gearing to raise and lower the gate.

The rod is probably broken somewhere because the wheel just spins, he said.

Powell has seen Henry Ford's 1945 drawings of the dam, but the drawings of the control mechanism have not been found.

Adler, owner of the dam, is trying to get the actual construction drawings from the Ford Archives, said Powell.

But if the drawings can't be found, Powell, a certified scuba diver, may resort to diving and checking visually to identify the exact workings of the mechanism.

The dam needs to be fixed in case of a heavy rainfall, which would cause the water to travel around the structures, flooding the surrounding areas.

Since the control mechanism is faulty, if the flood gates open, the Mill Pond water and anything in it will drain uncontrollably.

As an example, Powell explained a possible worst situation. If a rainfall of one foot or more occurs, which has a probability of happening once in 10 years, then "we could possibly lose the outlet structure and all the Mill Pond water would end up in Parke Lake."

"Even just a one- or two-inch rainfall would allow water to go around the outlet structure," he said.

When making the repair request, the council discussed taking stronger action. They talked of giving Adler a deadline for the repairs or taking legal action. But in the end, they opted for the request because Adler had acted in good faith in the past.

Adler could not be reached for comment.

Bryan comes home after transplant

transplant and at least once after, when he contracted a frequently fatal virus.

While waiting for the plane to land, Bryan's paternal grandmother, Catherine Weightman, recounted some of the many tribulations the family had faced including Bryan's two years of daily chemotherapy treatments and additional radiation therapy.

"Today is day 99 from the transplant," she said, "her eyes glistening with tears of joy. "They've been going through it for two years. "They have been a real inspiration to the rest of us. . . . All they ever say is, 'Bryan makes it easy.' "

As Bryan's mother Nancy, a teacher at Pine Knob Elementary, put her feet back on Michigan ground she uttered a single sentence of relief amid the welcoming cheers: "God, it's good to be home."

Two days later, during a phone interview in which Bryan could be heard squealing happily in the background, Nancy told their story.

It began only eight hours after Bryan was born on March 30, 1984.

Bryan exhibited bruising and a swelling of his nose which made doctors suspicious of his condition directly after birth.

A high white blood cell count led to a bone marrow test, which five experts misdiagnosed as normal, Nancy said. Two weeks later, the leukemia diagnosis was made.

Bryan came close to death at Halloween time and again at Christmas last year, but he rallied.

On Jan. 13, the family flew to Swedish Hospital in Washington for the transplant.

While there, Nancy's parents, Rose and Lou Graziano, joined them to help them maintain their vigil. She credits them as being a source of strength. "My folks were just tremendous," she said.

Other patients in the 60-bed transplant unit and their families also helped them cope by sharing their hopes and their fears.

"The support of all the families and friends was a big part of it," Nancy said. "And there was a big spiritual part that I didn't know was there.

"That's where it's at. It's all in God's hands. You have to say, 'It's up to you (God) and I'll accept whatever happens.' "

Among the many friends Bryan made at the hospital was a special 14-year-old girl named Erica. Bryan called her Erica-ca.

"She was the neatest 14-year-old. And she and

Bryan is accompanied by his parents Michael and Nancy as he gets off a plane in Detroit wearing a mask to protect him from germs. The 2-year-old spent nearly 100 days in Washington state recovering from his surgery.

Bryan became friends," Nancy said. "He'd always say, 'Go see Erica-ca.' They were sort of like motivation for each other.

"The Monday before we left, she passed away. It was really hard for us. "He still asks about her. We've told him she's gone to heaven."

Erica died of pneumonia from CMV virus, a complication of transplant surgery, 128 days after her transplant.

Bryan also contracted CMV virus on day 30 after his procedure was performed. Though he came close to death, he was one of only a few to survive.

"There was a real outbreak of it when we were there," Nancy said. "Most kids don't make it through. We were one of the few that have."

Almost all the patients they met in Washington relapsed or died, she added.

"It's like my husband says, 'It's a miracle,' and that sums it up.

"You get strength from somewhere. It's not until everything is said and done that it really hits you."

Among the other people the Weightmans met were a family that had lost two children to cancer and a Japanese woman who had been at the hospital since July, alone with her son.

She left behind her in Japan a husband and a 15-month-old baby.

"You sit and you think you're sort of lucky when you listen to other people's stories," said Nancy. "You live one day at a time."

Now that Bryan's home, he has to be careful about his contacts with strangers. When people visit, they must wear masks. And if Bryan goes outside to play with other children, or visits a shopping center, he must wear a mask.

In January, he must make a trip back to Washington for follow-up tests.

In the meantime, Bryan is happy to be back in Independence.

"He's doing fine. He's really glad to be home," Nancy said. "When he saw his room, his eyes got big as saucers."

She went on to say she shares similar feelings, although she was sad to leave her friends in Washington behind. "As soon as we landed I was really glad I was home. . . . To be coming home as a family."

With the help of his father and modern medicine, little Bryan Weightman raged against the dying of the light. And the sun responded. It shined down on his miracle.

Board tables Clarkston Road condominiums

By Carolyn Walker

Condominiums proposed by developer Frank Walker have been temporarily stymied by the Independence Township Board of Trustees.

On May 6, the board voted unanimously to table Walker's zoning change request until they can meet with the planning commission for their comments. Last month, the commission recommended approval of Walker's project.

A date for that meeting has not been set. Walker proposes building 20 condominium units on Clarkston Road across from Clintonwood Park.

He has asked that the 8.5-acre site be rezoned from rural residential to single family dwelling.

Walker also plans to ask for a Planned Unit Development (PUD) zoning change in the future, he told the board. PUD zoning permits a variety of uses on a single parcel of land, with board permission.

The single-family-dwelling status would allow four units per acre under a PUD, versus three units per acre as rural residential status would allow.

Trustee Carol Balzarini, who sits on the township planning commission and originally supported the proposal at a commission meeting, changed her mind and went against the proposal at the board meeting. "I firmly believe the intensity is too much," she said.

Other board members agreed that condominiums would significantly increase the intensity of traffic.

Walker appeared upset at the board's decision and accused the township of zoning areas for multiple developments in undesirable parts of the township.

"What we're trying to do is give the community what it is in need of," Walker said. "How would you like to live behind Food Town?"

"I've been telling the township board and the Village of Clarkston that there's a need. I feel like I'm banging my head into a brick wall every time I come back here.

"This is a new form of development in this area. If you can't work with a local builder and developer, you're going to get somebody from the outside who has a whole lot more staying power than me.

"Somewhere along the way you'll make a mistake and they'll pounce on you.

"It's very difficult to work in this community." Supervisor Frank Ronk, Treasurer John Lutz, Clerk Richard Holman and trustees Balzarini, William Vandermark, Dale Stuart and Daniel Travis voted to table the proposal to the May 20 board meeting agenda.

Teens need help

Recently, I've been reading a lot about vandalism and loitering by Clarkston's teens. As summer approaches, I'm sure the problem will only escalate.

Maybe it is time Clarkston residents and businesses took a serious look at what the community has to offer for teenagers.

Most teens just want to be with their friends, to gab, to have a bite to eat, see a movie and just enjoy each others' company; but there is no place in Clarkston that allows them to do this.

I think it's time that parks and recreation, community education, local businesses and individuals got together and offered teens a place to go and something to do.

Keeping teens busy is the best way to discourage delinquency.

I am sure if we all think long and hard, we can come up with some excellent ideas on how to make this summer enjoyable for both our teenagers and the community.

Back off on kids

Recently, all I've been reading about in the newspaper is the big moped crackdown.

I feel that the Oakland County Sheriff's Department is stopping kids just for riding without licenses, not even thinking whether or not they're driving recklessly.

They complain about kids driving without licenses when they don't give kids a chance to get one.

I think that if a person is just using it to get around town and is obeying all the laws, there nothing is wrong with it—unless they're going as fast as they can or driving recklessly.

I would like to quote from a clipping, "Riding is illegal unless the rider finds private property to ride on." Mopeds are not made for off-road use.

One of the rules is wearing a helmet. The police don't think twice whether a person is wearing a helmet and driving safely.

Write good things

I just returned from visiting my Aunt Thelma Irish. She had an article from your paper of Feb. 19, 1986, Henry Ford's Clarkston Connection, second in a series.

I don't think it was very nice to implicate that he was having an affair with Fanny Flower Irish. I don't know where you got this article, but I think you were not properly informed.

I think if she was to take care of the property, she should have been paid. I'm sure you would want to be compensated.

My Aunt Thelma Irish was very upset and she thinks you should be brought to court for such an article, and also people shouldn't publish articles like that unless they have proof.

It seems to me if a paper can't write good things about people, they shouldn't write anything. But some papers can't find news otherwise.

Sashabaw cheer

Congratulations to the Sashabaw Junior High Wind Ensemble and Mr. Doty for their excellent performance at the state band festival.

These terrific young musicians had worked extremely hard to be there and were extremely proud to be representing their school as the first junior high band from Clarkston to ever perform at that level of competition.

Congratulations again Sashabaw—you really earned it! You were really great representatives of your school.

Rambo pregnant?

Carolyn Walker

Picture, if you can, the mighty Rambo at his obstetrician/gynecologist's office.

Doctor: "So, Mr. Rambo, you say you have had occasional vomiting for the past few weeks and your breasts are tender?"

"Why don't you just hop up on the table, here, and let's see if we can figure out what's happening."

"Take off your field boots and put your feet in these stirrups. That's fine, Mr. Rambo. Now, spread your legs and scoot way, way down to the end of the table."

"You may want to cover yourself with this little paper sheet while I adjust the light. This isn't going to hurt."

At this point, the doctor calls in the nurse and snaps his hands into a pair of rubber gloves.

He grabs the cool, metal scope and prepares for action.

"Relax, Mr. Rambo," he says, smiling. The examination confirms the doctor's suspicious. "Mr. Rambo, you're going to be a mother," he says.

Scenes like this one must have played across the minds of thousands last week as the British made the astounding announcement that it is possible for men to have babies.

Just think of the many responses Rambo could make: "But, doctor, I'm a virgin. I couldn't be pregnant. Doctor, can I still do all the things I enjoy? Will I have to give up war and mayhem? How 'bout football? I'm not entitled to a maternity leave from work. Do you think I'll be able to breast feed?"

Imagine Rambo awakening in the night with a food craving. Picture him trying on maternity tops at Hudson's or knitting tiny booties as the months drag on.

Now envision his delivery.

Doctor: "Would you rather have the baby standing up or lying down?"

"Try to relax, Mr. Rambo, I know you don't want it, but we have to give you this enema. Then the hospital residents and nurses want to check and see how far you have dilated."

Nurse: "Remember to pant, Mr. Rambo, and time your contractions with the clock on the wall."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Rambo, you can't have anything to drink before you deliver. Just suck on these ice chips."

"Push, Mr. Rambo. You're not pushing."

"Mr. Rambo! You'll have to quit screaming. You're frightening the other mothers."

Rambo: "The ba-a-aby's coming."

According to news reports, the British scientists behind the male-mother scheme say men could be impregnated with a fertilized egg, which would attach itself to the bowel or a major organ and grow to term in the abdomen. The baby would then be delivered by cesarian section.

What they failed to mention is that fertilization and delivery do not a mother make.

Years of experience tell me it just isn't that simple.

Timing is everything

Kathy Greenfield

Several people I know have been telling me about particularly "bad weeks" lately.

Part of the problem, I think, has to do with daylight savings time, which I despise.

It makes me go haywire twice a year. When it changed at the end of April, I found myself looking at the clock in our office 10 times a day.

And then when I'd look, I still wasn't sure of the hour, so I'd get up and stand closer to the wall clock to make sure.

I don't need such hassles.

It could be that part of what goes on this time of year has to do with the change of season, too.

I have no complaints about springtime, though. It's one of my favorite times of the year.

The only bad thing about the season involves the inevitable need to wash windows, walls, curtains and carpets.

I'm thankful that the men in my life cleaned the carpeting in our house.

The dog in my life, however, chose the same time to throw up at least seven times—on the clean carpeting causing a great scurry for brushes, buckets and ammonia.

After doing battle with some spots, I was beginning to question the joy part of pet ownership.

Then, late one night when I arrived home the dog in my life was the only creature still awake.

He was tired from running around in all the warm weather, so he remained in his sprawl near the doorway.

What he did next may endear him to me for all of his days.

When he looked up and wagged his tail, it created a soft thumping sound on the carpeting. He kept at it for quite a while.

I bent over and gave him a hug.

Maybe that's why people have pets. They have the ability to show their love with meaning and simplicity.

- Friendly faces -

In Carol Currey's 17 years at Hallman's, she's met a lot of people and made many friends.

'It's like they built store around her'

By Julie LePere

Carol Currey, of Hallman's Apothecary in Clarkston, enjoys every aspect of her job.

"I just like everything about this job. . . . I never get bored with it," said the 19-year Independence Township resident. "I've had two bosses . . . and they've both been really good to me."

Carol takes care of the cash register, the film, the stock and the Lotto tickets; and she even dusts.

"I've had the most fun with the Lotto," said Carol, as a line of customers formed on the busy Wednesday, Lotto day.

Carol has worked at Hallman's for 17 years and likes talking to the people she meets.

"I like people," she said. "I like working with people. That's why I've stayed here as long as I have."

In her spare time, Carol plays with her dog

Ginger, reads and puts together jigsaw puzzles. She also watches football and Tiger baseball.

Carol has her own philosophy about her friendliness: "When you deal with the public, you want to be nice to them because you want them to come back. . . . I like talking to the people. . . . When I see a person's face, I remember it."

It's a talent appreciated by customers and by Carol's boss, apothecary owner Bob Bennett.

"She's a nice lady," he said. "She's been here a long time. It's like they built the store around her."

Do you know someone who works in a Clarkston area business and deserves recognition for a job well done? We'd like to share your praise. Call The Clarkston News at 625-3370 weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or drop us a line at 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

'If it Fitz . . .'

Surprises and sentiments

Jim Fitzgerald

My friends were surprised for three reasons: (1) I gave a speech; (2) I gave it at a stag party; and (3) I gave it to a group of known killers.

An explanation was demanded and I blamed it all on Preston Mann, a little old fat guy who owns a hunting preserve for rich people in Lapeer County, where I lived in poverty for 25 years. My speech was part of a roast of Mann, and I'd put up with anything for a chance to insult him.

The main reason I dislike giving speeches is they are usually part of a banquet program that lasts too long. After dinner, I like a nap, not a treasurer's report, introduction of special guests, minutes of the last meeting and remarks from the present president, immediate past president and incoming president. After which the main speaker speaks, if he can still stay awake, and then the program chairman takes 15 minutes to say the survivors can finally go home.

In recent years, roasts have become a popular form of this after-dinner torture. The idea is that 10 people take three-minutes each to say nasty things about the roastee. The ferrible reality is that half the 10 people take 20 minutes each.

The Mann roast began with cold drinks at 6 p.m. and ended with numb buns five hours later. The absence of women encouraged the boys to leap all barriers against sexist and profane jokes. As a supporter of women's lib, I had mixed feelings. I thought Mann's wife and other female friends should have been invited to see him roasted, however obscenely. But I also wanted to apologize to the waitresses.

The party was a fundraiser - $100 per ticket - for the Ruffed Grouse Society. Four hundred men attended, many of them members of Mann's hunting preserve club. Certainly I was the only person there who wouldn't recognize a ruffed grouse if it dropped on my shoes. But I did recognize that if a ruffed grouse were alive, and Preston Mann held it up in front of their guns, most of the audience would pay him to let them kill it.

I am anti-killing-for-fun; also anti-speeches and anti-stag-parties. But still I couldn't resist the opportunity to get even with Preston Mann. He has been insulting me for 30 years. A typical example is this, Mann quote from a Flint Journal interview:

"Jim Fitzgerald is a maudlin shanty Irishman apt to burst into tears any moment over Bambi. He's an intellectual bully who writes too much against hunting and fishing."

So it was a pleasure to tell the assembled killers that a hunting preserve is an outdoor butcher shop. Birds and fish are stocked so customers can order what they want. All they have to do is kill it-and pay for it. At Mann's place, he'll charge you for swatting a mosquito. And some of the birds are trained to fly into your pocket and commit suicide.

Any hunter who goes home from a hunting preserve empty-handed shouldn't feel any dumber than the husband who lost the grocery list.

Mann says if I don't enjoy killing animals, I shouldn't eat the meat produced by slaughterhouses. My answer is that if a man who slugs a cow in the head enjoys his work, he needs therapy. Mann says it's good therapy to kill 50 birds an hour at a hunting preserve because it allows the killer to release aggressions and relieve tensions.

I guess it would be good therapy for slaughterhouse workers to break into McDonald franchises late at night and set hamburgers free.

Anyway, it was good therapy for me to say stuff like that at the Mann roast. And Mann's retort was typically honest: "There is something weird about anyone who doesn't enjoy killing anything."

The guy actually thinks he's in a respectable business. What's really weird is that I like him anyway.

PUD recommended for condominiums' site

By Carolyn Walker

Twenty-two condominiums may be built off Clarkston Road.

On May 8, the Independence Township Planning Commission voted 5-1 to recommend a zoning change to Planned Unit Development status for the units proposed by MBM Associates.

The 15-acre site west of Perry Lake Road is currently zoned for residences. The PUD zoning permits a variety of uses on a single parcel of land.

The votes were cast following statements from several members of the community during a public hearing.

Fontie ApMadoc, a resident of the Village of Clarkston, recommended their approval.

"There is to me a tremendous need (for) we in-between people," she said, referring to seniors who no longer want to own houses but who are not ready for retirement villages. "I don't want to move away if I can help it."

Other residents were opposed to the development.

"You're talking right in my backyard," said Joy Henry, a Clarkston Road resident, expressing concerns about drainage. "I'm against it."

Eva Wilson, also of Clarkston Road, echoed her views. "If you flood my house, then you're in trouble. We're not going to be flooded out. We've been there 32 years."

Other residents voiced concerns about drainage and traffic.

According to Peter Miller, a representative of MBM Associates, the units are geared at the "empty-nester" or couples with no children.

They are to be constructed of brick and wood in a 16-unit horseshoe design, he said, with six additional units planned for a section near Perry Lake Road.

A portion of the property is to be donated to the Independence Land Conservancy.

Chairman Neil Wallace cast the lone dissenting vote.

"Except for Fontie ApMadoc, everybody that spoke, spoke against it for several reasons. I think they hit it," he said after the meeting.

Voting to approve the project were John Gray, Joseph Figa, Holly Stephens, Betty Jo Fussman and Carol Balzarini. Brent Bair was absent.

The zoning change request must now go to the township board, which will have the final say regarding its approval.

Firefighter trip

A trip to Florida is in store for Independence Township firefighter Mike Fahrner.

On May 6, the township board approved the trip at the request of Fire Chief Dale Bailey.

Beginning June 16, Fahrner is to spend five days in Florida where he will attend classes on the control of hazardous wastes.

It is estimated that his trip will cost $1,000.

Street lights face changes

By Carolyn Walker

Faced with the possibility of being in the dark, the Independence Township Board has begrudgingly approved a street lighting conversion.

Glenn R. Spence petitioned the board on behalf of Detroit Edison at the board's May 6 meeting, requesting permission to convert 98 township lights from incandescent to high pressure sodium.

Spence, the marketing service representative for Edison, told the board the change must be made or existing lights would be removed.

"The Michigan Public Service Commission has advised us that all Edison-owned incandescent street lights must be phased out by Jan. 1, 1987," Spence said in a letter to Clerk Richard Holman.

The state is mandating the changes to improve cost effectiveness, light quality and longevity, Spence said, adding that there would be no cost changes to township residents.

Some of the lights to be changed are on Frankwill, Summerhill, Dixie, Drayton and Riverview roads, according to Holman.

Some board members expressed consternation that the change is being forced on the township, but they agreed the more intense lights would probably be a deterrent to vandalism.

"Unless it's something that we have to do, . . . I have problems with you going through with it," said Trustee Dale Stuart. "We have a choice of having no lights or whatever (Detroit Edison chooses)."

Voting to permit Edison's changes were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Holman, Treasurer John Lutz and trustees Daniel Travis, Carol Balzarini and Stuart.

Trustee William Vandermark voted no.

Church OK'd for Maybee Road site

The Eagles and Baptists have agreed to agree and the Independence Township Board has given them their blessings.

On May 6, the board voted unanimously to grant a zoning change so the Waterford Baptist Church congregation can construct a church building off Maybee Road.

The church is planned for five acres next to the existing Clarkston Eagles Lodge.

Church representatives had requested that the site be rezoned from commercial to residential, which permits the building of churches in neighborhoods when a special land use permit is issued.

On April 10, at a meeting of the township planning commission, the Eagles and Baptists signed a document stating the church would not interfere with outdoor Eagles gatherings at which liquor will be served.

After the agreement was signed, the planning commission voted to recommend the zoning change to the board.

Members of the board offered little comment before approving the change.

According to church representative Ken Johnson, construction is to begin in early June.

Church representatives plan to appear before the planning commission for final site plan approval on May 22, Johnson said.

Commission rules against Boron carwash

By Carolyn Walker

Following a lead set by several objecting residents, the Independence Township Planning Commission voted to recommend denial of a carwash for Sashabaw at Maybee roads.

Boron Oil Co., owners of a vacant service station building at that intersection, petitioned the commission for a zoning change at a May 8 public hearing. Two lots adjoining the station are also involved in the request.

Robert Hermann, a representative of Boron, asked the commission to recommend a zoning change from commercial to multiple service, which would permit a service station with carwash.

The final decision on the request must be made by the township board.

Because the frontage of the property is short of zoning standards and the building has been vacant for over a year, Boron would have to go to the zoning board of appeals to reopen or receive the rezoning to start a business, Hermann said.

Several residents spoke out against the change.

"As a resident . . . I'm against it," said Carol Massaccesi of Huron Street. "There's enough gas stations. We all need gas to go to work, but we don't need them on every corner."

Resident Wayne Brennan also voiced concerns.

"It's an eyesore and the neighborhood does not need another gas station," he said.

Hermann responded by saying, "I'm frankly quite embarrassed. I'd like to clean it up. We'd like to remove that eyesore and provide the community (with modern services)."

Of the proposed $450,000 "gas and go" station Hermann also said, "We're quite convinced that it is a viable corner."

Commission members expressed concerns that the proposed station would represent a too intense use of the corner and would increase traffic problems.

"I don't think it's an appropriate use for that corner," said member Holly Stephens.

"What is the economical use of that property?" asked member John Gray, who said the property should be in use and rezoned for light commercial if a carwash/service station is too intense.

"My concern is the traffic, pure and simple," said Chairman Neil Wallace.

Commission members present voted unanimously to deny the proposal. Commissioner Brent Bair absent.

Oakhill Road picked for repairs

Some $105,000 in tri-party funds are to be spent on Oakhill Road improvements this year.

On May 6, the Independence Township Board agreed to commit tri-party funds to improving the east side of Oakhill at M-15 in cooperation with Brandon Township.

Independence is to pay $73,220 and Brandon is to pay $32,600 for the improvements, said Clerk Richard Holman. Work is to include modifying a dangerous grade at the intersection and paving.

Portions of Oakhill lay in both townships.

The decision was made to direct the money at Oakhill because the intersection is perceived as hazardous.

Board members also expressed concern about the "rough" conditions of the west side of Oakhill, but said there is not enough money to make the modifications at this time.

Supervisor Frank Ronk said he and Brandon Township Supervisor Edwin Pierson asked Oakland County to pay for modifications to the west side of Oakhill.

"Needless to say, we talked on deaf ears," he told the board, to a round of laughter.

Board members intend to continue seeking help for the improving of west Oakhill.

Of the $73,000 committed to the project, the township will be responsible for one-third of that amount, Holman said.

The tri-party program includes funding from the township, Oakland County Road Commission and Oakland County Board of Commissioners. Each is responsible for one-third of the expenses.

The township costs are to come from a county tax rebate, Holman said.

A construction date has not been set, he said.

Sign meeting set

The issue of ground signs in Independence Township has spurred Trustee Carol Balzarini to call for a special meeting.

At the May 6 township board meeting, Balzarini proposed a joint meeting of the township board and planning commission to view slides of attractive signs. She is a member of both governing bodies.

The two boards have been bouncing the issue of ground sign height and proportions back and forth for several months, anticipating an amendment to the current ordinance, which allows 20-foot-high signs.

The idea of a joint meeting was well-received by the township board, and the meeting was scheduled at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 15, at the township hall annex.

Balzarini also suggested that signs be considered for the township hall, parks and three fire stations.

Members of the public and businesses may attend the special meeting.

Hitting keeps varsity on top

By Julie LePere

By beating Kettering Monday, the softball team remains undefeated in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

The varsity Wolves beat the Captains, 4-1, for a 7-0 league record.

Terri Sherman was the winning pitcher in the low-scoring game.

Kettering was ahead, 1-0, in the second inning, but Clarkston scored three in the bottom of the second. The Wolves scored one more in the third inning, and nothing was scored after that.

Several good defensive plays gave the game some excitement, said Coach Carla Teare.

A good relay from center fielder Maggie Gdula to shortstop Ellen Fleming to third base player Tammy Pittman caught a runner going for a triple and got her out.

In another good defensive play, catcher Stacey Shurtz threw out a girl stealing second in the seventh inning.

Both plays contributed to the low score.

Hitting well were Gdula, two-for-three, including a triple and two runs scored; Sue Stefanski, two-for-four; Beth Tilley, two-for-three; and Fleming, two-for-four.

The girls also beat Lake Orion Friday, 14-1, with Sherman pitching.

Excellent hitting ensured that win.

Stefanski hit five-for-five and scored three runs.

Doubles came from Jessica Shoup, Missy Odell and Gdula. And triples came from Melanie Upcott and Tilley.

In the Royal Oak Dondero tournament last weekend, the Wolves did not fare as well. They lost to East Detroit and Waterford Mott. Their win over Royal Oak Shrine was not enough to advance them out of their pool.

If the girls win their pre-district game against the winner of the May 23 (prom night) Bloomfield-Lahser game, they will play at the district tournament May 30 at Halbach fields in Rochester.

Until then, they still have to beat Waterford Mott again on May 14 to carry the GOAL title alone.

Love provides winning edge

By Julie LePere

Wendy McCarthy's love for horses gave her the edge in the state 4-H horse bowl competition last month.

Out of 250 participants, Wendy took first place in the senior non-team division of the Michigan State University event.

"I was excited," said the Clarkston Junior High School ninth-grader. "I couldn't believe it really happened."

The award was based on her answers to various questions about horses: reproduction, care, food, tack, history and the skeleton.

Originally from Massachusetts, the McCarthy family moved to Springfield Township in June 1985 because of a job transfer for Wendy's father, Bruce.

In Massachusetts, Wendy and her sister, Erin, had been involved with horses, but had never owned one. Wendy did take two years of riding lessons.

The reality of owning a horse was a surprise for Wendy and Erin.

After they moved, their parents bought Marzama, a purebred Arabian horse.

"When we moved out here, they told us we'd have four acres. We said, 'Great, we can have horses.' My mom said, 'You're never having a horse.' But now, we own two," Wendy said. "They surprised us. It was supposed to be for Christmas, but my dad couldn't wait."

Last October, Marzama came to the Pegasus Arabian Farm in Oxford where the McCarthys board her.

"I like her personality," said Wendy. "She's very lovable, and she's gentle."

"It's hard when you're first starting out, I guess. You have a big responsibility when it comes to taking care of a horse. They're just like babies; they take a lot of care."

"As far as riding goes. . . you learn from your mistakes."

Marzama gave birth to her daughter, Nisan, on April 1, and the McCarthys have learned a great deal from the experience.

"(When a horse is pregnant), you have to give them lots of grain so they'll build up lots of milk, so they'll have enough for the baby," said Wendy. "You have to stop riding two weeks before the baby is expected, and then you have to wait one-and-a-half-months after the baby is born to ride."

Wendy just can't get enough time with Marzama. "I try to get up here at least once a week," she said. Her mother, Nancy, drives her to the stable in between their combined work and school schedules.

"I think it's super," said her mother about the horse. "It's good for them. I know where they are.

Wendy McCarthy rides Marzama for the first time since the purebred Arabian horse gave birth to Nisan. Wendy plans to show Marzama in English and Western styles this summer.

They're at 4-H or out here (at the stable). . . They're good kids, so I let them do what they want."

Wendy is considering computers or cosmetology for a career, but she's certain about one aspect of her future.

"I want to have a big horse farm. My Dad does, too. I guess the whole family does," she said. "I just want to be around horses as much as I can."

Fleet of foot take a win

By Julie LePere

The Sashabaw Cougars finished in front of Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Central to take first in the girls' Pontiac Northern Invitational track meet this month.

Pontiac hosted all of the Greater Oakland Activities League junior high schools in addition to Pontiac Central.

"We don't have any real superstars," said Sashabaw Coach Kris Krueger. "We're just a solid team."

Placing first in only three events, the team took lot of third and fourth places.

"The girls really work hard. They've been improving their times every meet," he said. "That's our goal. If the times are improved individually, then the whole team will improve."

First-place finishes came from: Lisa Bertling, high jump; Joelle Choops, 440-yard run; and Marigrace Mini, Emily Winfield, Heather Fricks and Meridith Green, two-mile relay.

In second place were: Nicole Hocking, long jump; Kristi Love, discus; Hocking, 220-yard dash; Green, two-mile; Cydney Schilling, Bertling, Choops and Kelly Kurz, mile relay.

Finishing third were: Nicole Messing, long jump; Green, high jump; Schilling, Bertling, Choops, and Kurz, 880-yard relay; Green, mile run; Winfield, 880-yard run; Schilling, 330-yard hurdles.

In fourth place were: Pam Conwell, long jump; Kim M. Morris, high jump; Gina Sheppard, 110-yard hurdles; Hocking, 100-yard dash; Traci Souheaver, Bertling, Barb Lobdell and Hocking, 440-yard relay.

In fifth place were: Kurz, shot put; Kim K. Morris, mile run; Kurz, 440-yard dash; and Mini, 880-yard run.

Finishing sixth were: Kim K. Morris, shot put, and Shellie Mead, discus.

"I was surprised because I knew Pontiac Northern and Pontiac Central would be strong," said Krueger.

The Cougars' dual meet record is three wins, one loss. They run at Pierce on May 20 at 4:30 p.m.

Fourth singles player Peter Hollis reaches for the serve. He lost this one against Lake Orion, but the junior still plays tough. He's had more three-set matches than anyone on the team, said coach Dick Swartout, and if he works hard this winter, he'll compete at first singles next season.

Netters win GOAL title

The boys' tennis team has clinched the Greater Oakland Activities League title.

They beat Waterford Mott, Waterford Kettering, Lake Orion, and Pontiac Northern. Plus they tied with Lake Orion in the League Meet at Waterford Oaks last week. Their season record was nine wins, two losses.

"We did really well," said coach Dick Swartout. "It's a good accomplishment to beat Lake Orion twice in GOAL meets. We've pretty much accomplished what we set out to do."

The team will compete in the regional meet at Waterford Oaks on Friday. The play begins at 9 a.m. and includes teams from area Oakland County schools.

The two top finishing teams will compete in the state tournament. Swartout predicts that Bloomfield teams will advance to the state meet.

"We don't have enough depth to do well in the regionals, so the league title is our goal," he said.

Walter earns second place

Brett Walter, 9, continues to win for the Clarkston Wrestling Club.

Last week, he placed second in the United States Federation Wrestling Association Five-State Regional Tournament.

The Bailey Lake Elementary pupil qualified for the tournament by placing second at the district, regional and state tournaments.

In addition to his place in the USFWA, he holds the second-place titles for Michigan in the Amateur Athletic Union and in the US Federation wrestling associations.

Next, Brett plans to enter the National AAU tournament in Indianapolis on July 10.

Anyone interested in wrestling with the club should call president Cheryl Walter at 625-7356.

Mark Gaylan catches for the Wolves against the Dragons. Despite a good team effort, Lake Orion comes out on top.

JV gives one game to Dragons

By Julie LePere

The junior varsity Wolves are now tied with Lake Orion for the Greater Oakland Activities League championship.

In the first round, the boys' baseball team beat Lake Orion, but they lost a close one to the Dragons, 5-4, on Friday.

"(Zach) Brown pitched a good game, but we lost," said coach Kurt Richardson.

Their overall record is 13-2, and unless Clarkston or Lake Orion loses another league game, they will share the title.

In other games last week, the Wolves were much more successful.

Against Pontiac Northern, Jamie Shuttleworth pitched for the win. Brown and Joe Herron contributed two hits apiece toward the victory.

The Wolves beat Milford, 20-5, with Herron pitching a two-hitter. Josh Newblatt had two hits and five RBIs. Herron hit four and batted in three runs.

Against Royal Oak Dondero, the Wolves won, 17-6. Shuttleworth was the winning pitcher with relief from Aaron Hesse. Newblatt had three hits. Herron, Mike Gilbert and Mark Galan each hit two.

They play their last game on May 14, at home, against Waterford Mott at 4 p.m.

There's No Trick To Placing A Want Ad

Soccer team roughs it

By Julie LePere

So far this season, the soccer team has experienced blisters, ankle and knee injuries, thunderstorms, a shoot-out—and even a broken-down bus.

But the team is enthusiastic and eager to learn, said coach Hana Olsen.

"On the whole, I think the girls are playing well," she said. "I'm enjoying it. The kids are great."

Their overall record is four wins, six losses, one tie. Their league record is 4-4-1.

They play the regular North Oakland Soccer Association schedule, consisting of Milford, Lakeland, Lake Orion and Oxford, as well as some non-league games.

"We're learning from these other teams," said Olsen. "For instance, Brighton has been playing for six years."

The Wolves played the tough Brighton team last Thursday and lost, 4-0.

"They're an excellent team," the coach said. "Considering they had 45 shots on the goal, our defense played quite good."

"Defense held them. . . . Brigitte Brown was very good. And Sue Kithil, Tracey Piazza and Jenny John did outstanding. They had their work cut out for them."

The game was especially draining for the team since it was their fourth game of the week, said Olsen.

Several team members suffered ankle and knee injuries, and most had blisters. With back-to-back games, it's difficult to recuperate in between, she said.

The bus even broke down on the way to Brighton.

"So we were stranded on the highway for an hour and a half, and we were an hour and a half late for the game," said Olsen.

On Wednesday of last week, the Wolves beat Oxford, 4-1.

"Oxford is a good team," said Olsen. "It was kind of a learning experience to get your team into an aggressive situation and control the game."

Scoring goals for the Wolves in that game were Ruth Webb, Shelly Purdy, Maggie Sans and Ashley Adams.

The Wolves also played their most exciting game of the season last week against Walled Lake.

With two periods of overtime and an interrupting thunderstorm, the game was finally decided by a shoot-out.

A shoot-out calls for five players from each team to shoot against the goalie of the other team, one-at-a-time. The team scoring the most goals wins.

Clarkston outscored them, 3-2.

"Ruth Webb scored the first goal, and Shelly Purdy tied it up. The winning goal came from Sue Kithil," said Olsen. "Our goalie, Joanne (Beck), saved three of five shots."

The Wolves took last weekend off to rest and recover and prepare for their last week of play, said Olsen. She seems pleased with their performances, but she's already looking toward next season.

"I would like to get some speed into next year's team," she said. "We'll have to recruit from the track team."

The Rev. Andrew Yatsco poses with the grand prize he won at Cherry Hill Lanes.

New-fangled prize

Now that he owns a Gravatar Video game, the Rev. Andrew Yatsco has a problem—he's not sure what to do with it.

Yatsco, 69, is a semi-retired priest who resides at the Colombiere Center in Springfield Township.

He won the full-sized video game at the grand opening of Cherry Hill Lanes, formerly Howe's Lanes, on Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

"It doesn't fit into our surroundings, if you know what I mean," he said. "I tried to operate it and I don't know how."

Bowling is another story, however. The priest and some fellow Jesuits from Colombiere spend time every Friday bowling at Cherry Hill Lanes, which is how Yatsco's name was entered in the drawing.

A former theology instructor at St. Ignatius High School in Cleveland, Ohio, Yatsco also served as a bowling coach during his 26-year teaching career.

He's lived at Colombiere for about two years.

The video game was donated as a prize for the bowling alley's grand opening on April 25, 26 and 27 by United Music Co. of Dearborn.

Jan Gabier is 'Woman of Year'

By Kathy Greenfield

The "Woman of the Year" pin is fastened on Jan Gabier's collar. The plaque that acknowledges the award hangs above her office desk.

She's pleased to have been selected for the annual honor bestowed by the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women, and it shows.

"I was just floored, and very proud," she said.

Gabier, an assistant principal at Clarkston High School, received the plaque and pin on Thursday evening.

Her good feelings about the honor grew as she looked around the room and realized club members included many prominent women in the community from bankers to realtors to school officials to business owners.

"To be selected by an organization or to be nominated by a professional organization, let alone be selected, means a lot to me," she said. "The people in the organization come from a wide variety of backgrounds—it's a pretty austere group."

The award also indicates a shift in attitude about educators, she said, and serves as an indication that people are beginning to recognize the professionalism of educators.

"Another thing it's done is give me more pride in my job," she said. "You like to be told what you're doing is right and good. Everybody likes that to happen."

In Gabier's case, the award has resulted in about a half-dozen congratulatory flower arrangements and plants including one from the CHS student council.

Co-workers have also contributed to her positive feelings by saying such things as, "It's nice to know other people realize what we have in you."

Gabier's career as an educator began as an English teacher in 1961 at Clarkston High School. She has remained at the school ever since, except from 1964-65 when she left to teach English at Clio High School.

In 1965, she became head of the English department at CHS; and in December 1969, she became an assistant principal.

Her bachelor's and master's degrees are from Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, and she is currently working toward an educational specialist's degree at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Her extracurricular activities include holding the office of secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Pupil Accounting Association; membership in Kappa Delta Gamma, a honor society for women in education; and charter and current membership in the Oakland County Attendance Dropout Task Force.

Past activities include the founding of the ski club at CHS and leading a squad of cheerleaders to a state championship as coach.

As an assistant principal at CHS, her job duties involve scheduling and overseeing daytime and evening activities, student discipline, meetings with parents, organizing drivers' education, and the list goes on.

Overseeing the day-to-day operation of CHS, with a student population of 1,583 plus 70 faculty members and additional staff members, keeps Gabier more than busy—but she maintains her sense of humor.

"It's not boring, I'll tell you," she said. "In the trenches, that's what I say."

Jan Gabier's selection as the Woman of the Year is an honor she appreciates. The award has been a program of the Waterford-Clarkston

Business and Professional Women since 1958. It was established to honor women who improve the quality of life in the community.

Old favorites spring to life

By Kathy Greenfield

"Vaudeville: Rewritten, Rehearsed, Reedicious!!!" sprang to life last summer in a van.

The collection of 24 comedy sketches and songs will make its debut Saturday and Sunday, May 17 (8 p.m.) and 18 (2:30 p.m.), at the Clarkston High School Little Theatre.

The stars are 10 CHS students from the school's drama department.

The directors, scriptwriters and compilers are Dean Vanderkolk and Shawn Smith, recent CHS grads themselves—Vanderkolk in 1984 and Smith in 1985.

The directing duo became interested in vaudeville when they were CHS students.

It all began with a talent show. Vanderkolk, then a junior, and Smith, a sophomore, performed the vaudeville routine made famous by Abbott and Costello, "Who's on First?"

The routine became their specialty. They presented it at parties, during a drama awards program, at church banquets and for free passes for putt-putt golf.

They began collecting sketches along the way; and they mastered a few more.

All the while, they were learning about vaudeville—that between 1922 and 1932, attending vaudeville performances was the thing to do; that there are many versions of each famous vaudeville routine (they've found 15 versions of "Who's on First?"); and that there were some very popular students. Every detail is important. "I don't think people realize how difficult vaudeville can be," says Smith.

Becky Olney tosses her first pie—ever—during a rehearsal for the vaudeville tribute. Her target is Dean Vanderkolk, who quickly ducks. Look out, Joe Wilson!

Alas, the pie zooms in for a precise plop. The good news for Wilson? It's real whipped cream. Olney has so much fun, she gleefully repeats the routine.

There'll be plenty of whipped cream pies flying about during "Vaudeville: Rewritten, Rehearsed, Reedicious!!!" The play will be presented Saturday, May 17, at 8 p.m. and Sunday, May 18, at 2:30 p.m. by the Clarkston High School Drama Department. Tickets are $1.50. They may be purchased at the CHS Little Theatre door, or to make reservations, call CHS at 625-0900.

Activities galore for seniors

An exercise class, softball teams, a Mother's Day dance and a Mother's Day dinner are among activities scheduled at the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center.

Body Recall, a specially designed exercise program for senior adults, begins Monday, May 19, at 8:30 a.m.

The hour-long class meets for 10 weeks on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Instructor is Carol Lippincott. The fee is $30 for three days a week, $20 for two days and $10 for one day. Advance registration is required.

A 55-and-over softball league is available for men and women. The league has three levels of skills and a co-ed team is available.

The co-ed team practices Tuesdays and Fridays at 10 a.m. at Clintonwood Park in Independence Township. The other two teams meet for practice on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 9:30 a.m.

League play, which includes traveling to and hosting other 55-and-over teams in Oakland County, begins in late May or early June. The fee is $5 and a physical card is required.

A Mother's Day dance is planned Friday, May 16. The $1 fee includes hors d'oeuvres and live musical entertainment.

A Mother's Day dinner will be held on Tuesday, May 20. The full four-course meal costs $5.

The T.O.P.S. (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) group meets at the senior center carriage house every Thursday evening at 6. The group is open to all age groups.

Any senior adult, age 55 and over, can join in the senior center's scheduled activities, which include a daily lunch program.

Free guided tours of the facility in Clintonwood Park at 5980 Clarkston Road, between Sashabaw Road and M-15, are available upon request. Call 625-8231.

Does smoking pot hurt the lungs?

Dear Cat Paw:

I'm pregnant and drink a couple of times a week. I'm not an alcoholic and only drink a couple of drinks or so at a time. Am I doing anything to hurt my baby?
Mama

Dear Mama:

The United States Surgeon General advises women who are pregnant to consume NO alcohol.

How the alcohol interferes with normal prenatal growth is not fully understood. Nor is it known if there are critical periods during pregnancy when alcohol is especially hazardous.

Research suggests that the alcohol level of fetal tissues may be higher than those in the mother.

Case reports of women who drank alcohol during delivery and on whom blood level studies were done indicate that the newborn baby's blood and tissue alcohol levels do not drop as fast as the mother's.

The reason, presumably, is that the infant has a premature liver. Newborns do not have the fully developed enzyme systems necessary to metabolize and eliminate alcohol as rapidly as their mothers do.

As little as two drinks a day can cause a 10 percent risk of abnormalities. Ten drinks a day can cause 50 percent risk of abnormalities and over 10 drinks per day, 75 percent risk of abnormalities.

Why take a chance? 🐾

Dear Cat Paw:

What happens to the brain when you get drunk?
Wondering

Dear Wondering:

The major effect of alcohol on the brain is that of a depressant. Thinking becomes fuzzy and orientation, recent memory and other mental functions are altered.

An electroencephalogram (EEG) done when someone is high would show a slowing of normal brain waves associated with this mild state of delirium.

These acute effects are completely reversible if there is no chronic alcohol use. 🐾

Dear Cat Paw:

Does smoking pot hurt the lungs like smoking cigarettes?

*Chemicals Are Trouble. People Are Working.

Copyright 1985 Jeanette Sanders

Dear Puffer:

Users over a period of time are subject to chronic bronchitis and severe emphysema.

Because marijuana must be inhaled deeply and held longer in the lungs than tobacco smoke, the lungs of marijuana users are more blackened than the lungs of tobacco smokers.

The concentration of THC is greater in the lungs than in any other body tissue and reveals serious breakdown in lung tissue among marijuana users.

A study of marijuana smokers who had smoked up to 30 grams of marijuana a month over a period of six to 15 months showed they had developed destruction of lung tissue that would require 20 years or more of tobacco smoking to develop.

Almost half of those who smoke marijuana suffer from chronic sore throat and laryngitis. The same amount suffer from respiratory diseases and a few have chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

Some suffer from restrictive lung disease and all suffer some impairment of lung function. Over a long term, marijuana use leads to degeneration of the cell nuclei in the lungs and can result in a condition leading to lung cancer. 🐾

Phelan-Gabruk

Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Phelan of Fawn Valley Drive, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter Kathleen Mary to Matthew Michael Gabruk, the son of Matthew Gabruk of Syracuse, N.Y., and the late Mrs. Matthew Gabruk. The bride-elect graduated from Clarkston High School in 1980. She currently attends Houston Community College and is employed as a property manager in real estate in Houston, Texas. Her fiancé is a graduate of Clarkson University in Potsdam, N.Y., and is employed as an accountant with Kidde Corp. in Houston. An October wedding is planned.

Honors

Nancy Weir has been named to the dean's list for the winter semester at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

A 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, she just completed her freshman year at WMU, where she's majoring in business accounting.

Her parents are Larry and Shirley Weir of Knolls Drive, Waterford Township.

Robert Haley McLaughlin accumulated numerous honors during his years at Adrian College before graduation with a bachelor's degree in science on April 27.

In early April, he was presented the Biology Award of Excellence from Adrian.

During his undergraduate years at the college, McLaughlin held offices as secretary of Beta Beta Beta Biology Honor Society, pledge trainer and treasurer of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity and president of the Order of Omega Greek Honor Society.

He was also a member of College Republicans and Children of the American Revolution, and he wrote articles for College World.

While McLaughlin received research and teaching assistantships from Purdue University, the University of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine, he has elected to accept a research fellowship in cell and molecular biology at Wayne State University, Detroit, where he plans to work toward a Ph.D. degree in cancer biology.

A former Birmingham resident and a student at St. Regis school, McLaughlin graduated magna cum laude from Clarkston High School in 1982.

He is the son of William and Patricia Haley McLaughlin of Deerwood Road, Independence Township.

Mentors wanted for gifted program

Mentors are needed for the ninth-grade gifted program at Sashabaw Junior High School during the 1985-86 school year.

The program that places students twice a month from noon to 3 p.m. in Independence Township business and professional settings will begin its third year next fall.

"I like the fact that the kids get to work in areas that are of interest to them," said teacher Sue Kiser, who directs the program.

"They're learning new skills, plus it gives them a chance to go out into the working world. It's a real change from the school-day."

For the 1985-86 school year, students have expressed an interest in learning about the following areas: automotive design, animation, movie making, sports medicine, gourmet cooking, computers, nursing, languages, ornithology, toy design, fashion design, chemical and mechanical engineering, law and oceanography.

Anyone interested in working with a student, or anyone who knows of someone who might consider becoming a mentor, can call SJHS at 674-4169 and leave a home telephone number and profession.

Microwave-plus

More cookbook samples

Betty Wagner

Thank you, friends, for your generous sharing of recipes for the Seasonal Cookbook of Microwave Plus columns. We all hope for a nice profit for the SCAMP program from the cookbook sales.

Today's offerings are from chef Rick Guisenger of the Back Court, Carol's Village Grill and Marty Johnston.

BACK COURT

AMERICAN CHEESE SOUP

- 1 stick butter
- 1/2 cup minced onion
- 1 1/2 tablespoons paprika
- 1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
- 1 quart (4 cups) milk
- 3/4 pound sliced American cheese (18 slices)
- 1/8 teaspoon each of salt and pepper
- 1/16-1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Melt butter in a large Pyrex bowl or measure for 1 1/2 minutes at high power. Add chopped onions; microwave at high power for 60 seconds, stirring after 30 seconds.

Mix together paprika and flour, and add to butter. Microwave at high power for 1 minute, 15 seconds. Stir after 45 seconds. Add milk.

Microwave at high power for 8 to 10 minutes or until mixture thickens, stirring every 2-3 minutes.

Cut stacked cheese slices into blocks. Add several blocks of cheese at a time, separating into slices. Stir after each addition. Add salt, black pepper and cayenne pepper.

Reheat to serving temperature at 50 percent (medium) power. If your oven has a probe, set temperature to 145-150 degrees.

Garnish with dried or fresh snipped parsley. Soup will thicken as it stands.

VILLAGE GRILL'S NACHOS

- 5 ounces ground beef
- 1 1/2 teaspoons taco sauce
- 1/2 cup chopped tomatoes
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 3 green onions, sliced
- 1/4 cup grated cheddar cheese
- 1/4 cup grated mozzarella cheese
- Corn chips

Place ground beef in plastic colander set in Pyrex pie plate. Microwave at high power for 2-3 minutes or until beef is pink. Stir after half the time.

Stir in taco sauce. Spread corn chips over 8-inch microsafe dish. Top chips with cooked beef, vegetables and cheeses.

Microwave at 50 percent (medium) power for 2 minutes or until cheeses have melted.

MARTY'S FRENCH COCONUT PIE

Here is a creamy rich delight discovered in Kentucky by Marty's mother-in-law and embraced heartily by the Johnston family and friends. It's as delicious in the springtime as it is served for Thanksgiving dessert.

- 1 prebaked pie shell
- 1 stick (1/2 cup) butter or margarine
- Pinch of salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon white vinegar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

3 eggs, slightly beaten

1 cup-plus shredded coconut

Melt butter in Pyrex bowl at high power for 60 seconds. Stir in sugar.

Mix salt, vinegar and vanilla with eggs. Add to butter mixture. Stir to eliminate lumps. Mix in 1 cup flaked coconut.

Pour into prebaked pie shell. Sprinkle additional coconut on top of custard. Microwave at 70 percent power (roast) for 8 minutes, turning half way through. Center should be barely set.

Place pie under gas or electric broiler until brown. Turn, if necessary, for even browning. Place cooked pie on wire rack to cool, then refrigerate. Serve cold.

If you have a favorite recipe you would like to share, send it with your name and phone number to Microwave Plus, Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. She teaches microwave cooking classes at Sears at the Oakland Mall and through Clarkston Community Education.

SENDING SCHOOL SPIRIT ALOFT: "One, two, three, Andersonville School is great!" they shouted before releasing over 300 bright red balloons into the sky above Andersonville Elementary School on Friday afternoon. The big balloon send-off was the culmination of School Spirit Day. Many of the pupils and staff members wore red school shirts with white lettering for the celebration. Each balloon carried a pupil's signature and the address of the school on Andersonville Road in Springfield Township, in hopes that finders of the balloons in far away places will write. [Photo by Kathy Greenfield]

Vietnam vets wanted to march in parade

A group of Vietnam veterans marching together in Clarkston's Memorial Day Parade is Janice Nelson's goal.

Nelson, a member of the Prisoner of War (POW) Committee of Michigan, would like the veterans to carry a POW flag.

"The POW committee is always looking for ways to make the public aware of the plight of the POWs," she said. "There's at least 2,500 still missing in the Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia area."

The Memorial Day Parade is planned at 10 a.m. on Monday, May 26. Veterans interested in marching can reach Nelson at 625-0238.

Ups & downs

Rachel Gianakos

Many teenagers are anxious to go to all the upcoming concerts at Pine Knob. Some favorites coming are Mr. Mister, Simple Minds, Loverboy, Starship, and more.

Pine Knob is many people's favorite summer hangout, especially since many think it is a lot safer to see a concert here in Independence Township, rather than going all the way to Detroit in an unfamiliar area.

Concerts can sure beat going to the movies, and there haven't been that many good movies out lately.

At Pine Knob you can scream and yell and not have to worry about getting in trouble.

It is also fun to see the different and weird ways people dress at different concerts.

At Pine Knob you have an opportunity to see all your friends over the summer, too.

Last year, some of the better concerts included Bryan Adams, Powerstation—with O.M.D., and the Beachboys. This summer we are looking forward to many more great concerts, especially Mr. Mister.

Rachel Gianakos, a ninth-grader at Sashabaw Junior High School, is working with The Clarkston News this school year in conjunction with the SJHS mentorship program.

Register now for Clarkston SCAMP

Plans for Clarkston SCAMP's 1986 summer program are ready to begin.

The five-week program will run from June 23 to July 23 on Mondays through Thursdays at Sashabaw Junior High School on Maybee Road.

There are limited spaces, and parents are urged to register their youngsters immediately. Program costs are $160 for Clarkston school district residents and $180 for out-of-district residents.

Clarkston SCAMP was organized 11 years ago to meet the special needs of youth in northern Oakland County.

It began with 80 youngsters and has expanded to 220 children, youth and young adults between the ages of 3½ and 25.

The camp serves the mentally impaired, learning disabled, emotionally impaired and physically impaired. A large pre-school component has also been introduced.

For more information, call Clarkston Schools Special Services at 625-3330 during business hours.

Dine out for your feathered friends

Tickets are now on sale for the fourth annual Sportsmen's Dinner to benefit Ducks Unlimited Inc.

The dinner is planned Thursday, June 19, at 6 p.m. at the Deer Lake Racquet Club on White Lake Road in Independence Township.

Tickets are $40, half of which will purchase an annual membership to the non-profit organization.

"All the funds from Ducks Unlimited go toward the purchase (and management) of very rapidly vanishing wetlands in the United States and Canada, and that's where the waterfowl live," said Mike Cascone.

The dinner is sponsored by the North Oakland County Chapter of Ducks Unlimited. Highlights, in addition to the meal and open bar, include door prizes and an auction.

One person at each table of 10 will win a wooden decoy carved by John Hyde of Independence Township.

Tickets for the dinner feature a miniature reprint of Independence Township artist Russell Cobane's painting "Harmony." In 1985, Cobane was named the Michigan Ducks Unlimited Artist of the Year.

Anyone interested in the protection of wildlife would enjoy the dinner, Cascone said.

"We have a good time. It's fun. It's all Clarkston people," he said. "We considered moving it to a larger facility, but it's Clarkston's dinner. It just wouldn't be the same, so we decided to keep it here."

To purchase tickets, call Cascone at 625-6842, Bob Ward at 625-1955 or Mike Robertson at 394-1249.

Kids hear guests

Ten speakers representing a variety of occupations met with ninth-grade pupils at Sashabaw Junior High School on May 7.

The speakers were sponsored by the Boy Scout Explorer Division, which had surveyed social studies students about their choice of careers at the beginning of the school year, said Mari Anne Pace.

Included in the speakers were a photographer, veterinarian, graphic artist, hair stylist and aviator.

Members of the Art III class drew posters for the event.

Vaudeville routines find way to CHS stage different resources," said Vanderkolk.

"Most of these sketches, there are a lot more than one version, so we rewrote them to fit our needs," said Smith. "We tried to cut and paste to make it what we wanted to say and how we wanted it to run."

Most of the work took place when they were touring last summer with New Direction Ministries.

During the seven-week, 12-state tour, they participated in 43 performances.

"We had all kinds of time in the van to sit around," said Smith, so they decided, "Why not do a show?"

At first, they planned to present the show themselves. Then they found sketches they wanted to use with three and four people.

They thought about forming a vaudeville troupe, but rejected the idea as too expensive. Next, they tried community theater groups but were told the year's schedules were filled.

Then they visited CHS and told drama department director Barbara Gibson about the script.

Gibson read it and asked if they would like to have high school students put on the show.

They considered the option.

Then she asked Vanderkolk and Smith to direct their creation.

"Mrs. Gibson can talk you into anything just about anything," said Vanderkolk fondly.

When the curtain goes up, five weeks will have passed between the auditions and the performance.

Vanderkolk and Smith are not being paid for their time. They don't seem to mind.

Poppy Days help veterans

Volunteers from American Legion posts carrying bouquets of paper poppies will be out in force on May 15, 16 and 17.

During the Poppy Days, legion and auxiliary members will ask for donations to aid needy veterans and their families in the community and in hospitals and veterans' facilities throughout the state.

Those who contribute cash will be presented with a bright red poppy made by a veteran.

In Independence Township, there are two American Legion posts, Campbell Richmond No. 63 on M-15 and Chief Pontiac No. 377 on Mary Sue Street.

Two Poppy Girls represent the Chief Pontiac Post and the American Legion's 18th District, which covers Oakland County.

Lake Orion resident April Reinhardt, 16, is Senior Miss Poppy; and her niece, Samantha Morley, 6, of Pontiac is Junior Miss Poppy.

Since September, the girls have visited legion posts across the county and given speeches about the poppies and how they are made.

In addition, they've marched in parades and appeared on television. The girls also received a resolution from the Michigan House of Representatives honoring them for their work.

"I like it a lot," says April about Poppy Days. "It benefits the veterans. The legion is really important to me . . ."

In a soft voice, Samantha shares the speech she's memorized about poppies. It's identical to the one her aunt presented a decade ago when she was Junior Miss Poppy, and it ends like this:

"P is for the people
 "O is for the ocean
 "P is for the pride
 "P is for patriotic
 "Y is for you, the ones that help."

Junior Miss Poppy Samantha Morley is following in the footsteps of her aunt, Senior Miss Poppy April Reinhardt (left). Ten years ago,

April held the title of Junior Miss Poppy. The girls are sharing the story of Poppy Days with American Legion posts, and on TV and radio.

IN MEMORY OF Kim Rentchler Holly: "Kim, although we got to know you for such a short while, we were all touched by your warmth and by your smile. We know your passing was not to be in vain because of your precious gifts someone will live, someone will see again. As we go about our daily lives, you often cross our minds and we stop and say a silent prayer for your family you left behind... We miss you". The Fischers.!!LX19-1

Doug Doty, the Sashabaw Junior High School band director, leads his students in a practice session at school before the Michigan State Band Festival.

Stacie Carlson (right) is among the flutists in the SJHS Wind Ensemble.

Band rates

Sashabaw Junior High School's Wind Ensemble returned from the State Band Festival on Saturday, May 3, with a Division II rating.

The rating represents "a good performance, shows much accomplishment and promise," said Doug Doty, SJHS band director.

Richard Blatti, one of the judges at the festival, wrote, "Your performance here today was exciting and musical. You should be proud of having accomplished so much."

The band prepared three numbers for performance and received two B-pluses and one B for their efforts, and they received an A for sight reading.

"I'm very proud of the group of students I have this year," said Doty. "They have worked all year and they should be proud of their success this past year."

Chip Sloan works on connecting the tires for kids to run over. He was assisted by PTO member Jeff Chamberlin and Andersonville principal Bill Neff.

Carol Glement of Springfield Township helps paint the soccer goal at Andersonville Elementary School. PTO president Jerry Reeves organized the Fix-Up Day and about 20 people gathered to help clean up the grounds on Saturday.

Michael Zortman finds out he's a good painter when he and his friend, Paul Sommers [not pictured]) help the PTO fix up the playground. The boys painted lines for hopscotch.

After painting hopscotch lines, Marc Chamberlin helps paint the soccer goals.
