State offers police officers to 6 townships

By Chris Gerbasi

The Michigan State Police department has offered free services to six townships in Oakland County, including Independence and Springfield, in exchange for the cost of six dispatchers.

The proposal calls for the state police post to be relocated from Telegraph Road in Waterford Township to a location in the northern end of Oakland County.

Independence. Springfield, Brandon, Groveland, Holly and Rose townships would pay the cost of six dispatchers.

The state employs dispatchers for about $30,000 each annually. Independence, Springfield and Brandon presently have contracts with 16 county deputies for $880,000 annually.

The proposal has brought a negative reaction from the sheriff's department, which fears the deputies may be laid off.

The Pontiac state police post presently has 24 road troopers patrolling the county. If the post relocated, a minimum of 30 to 35 troopers would patrol the six townships. They would relinquish their freeway duties in the southern half of the county, according to Lt. Matt Hogan of the state police.

"This location is becoming less and less useful," said Hogan, who would not speculate on what would become of the Pontiac post if there was a move.

The townships must decide by July 15 whether to accept the offer. Members of the Independence, Spr-[See STATE POLICE, Page 2]

300 apartments proposed for Dixie

By Carolyn Walker

An anxious crowd of approximately 25 kept the questions going for over an hour as developers proposed a 300-unit apartment complex for Dixie Highway.

The planned apartments, to be called Landcaster on the Lakes, are to be situated behind the new Randy Hosler Pontiac Dealership on Dixie and run adjacent to single-family residences on Waterford Hill.

According to Dick Fay, Landcaster's representative, the 48.8 acre site is currently under the control of a consent judgment which would permit up to 300 apartments. The judgment also states that at least 50 percent of the property must be used for recreation.

The property had formerly been proposed for a K mart shopping center.

The commission voted 6-0 to table conceptual approval of the project pending a walking tour of the site.

According to Fay, the development would include brick and aluminum sided one- and two-bedroom apartments, a club house, pool and tennis

It would be constructed in two phases, the second being built only after the first phase had proved successful.

"We're real excited about this development," he said.

While Fay expressed enthusiasm, most residents in the audience expressed doubts.

They raised concerns about the density, road accesses, traffic, aesthetics, police coverage and surface water run-off into nearby Greens Lake.

"To add 500 units or 300 units to an area that is understaffed police-wise is ludicrous," said Scott Robeson of Parview Drive.

"Would you have bought a piece of property there (on Waterford Hill) a year ago knowing that monstrosity was going to be built?" asked Steve

Members of the planning commission also expressed concerns about the project calling it "larger than Mediplex," a three-phase, 20-acre senior citizen development recently approved for Dixie.

Chairman Neil Wallace compared the proposed single entrance into the project to a cul-de-sac and expressed concern that it would deviate from the township's 600-foot-long-maximum, cul-de-sac regulation.

The rule will not permit cul-de-sacs of longer length because of the difficulty they present to public safety vehicles.

In addition, commissioner John Gray proposed walking the site with the township planner and engineers to make sure the units would be built as far from existing residences as possible.

This proposal drew a round of applause from the audience.

In voting to table the matter, the commission agreed to seek an opinion on the density from [See DIXIE, Page 2] ingfield and Brandon boards met Monday with representatives of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

"There are a lot of questions that have got to be answered on both sides," said Independence supervisor Frank Ronk. "We've got to find out just what the state is going to offer and how it compares to what they do now."

Speeding solution

Reduced speed limits in Springfield Township may be invoked if a majority of residents petition the township board.

According to township Supervisor Collin Walls, 25 mph limits will be considered for roads where 51 percent or more of the residents request the move.

Complaints about speeding on some gravel roads in the community prompted the decision. The board can only consider roads within its jurisdiction, as some speed limits are established by the county, said Walls.

township attorney Gerald Fisher, an opinion on the open spaces from planner Richard Carlisle and further information on the proposed township Downtown Development Authority, which will include the business district along Dixie.

The DDA is proposed to assist in the financing of sewers along Dixie.

The walking tour of the site is planned for 6:30 p.m. on June 19.

SUNDAY I - 10 PM.

The offer came last Thursday in a proposal drawn up by Lt. Milton Johnston, the Pontiac post commander, and Capt. James Kneale, District II commander.

"It is not our intention to displace any police service already present in those townships," said Johnston. "There's plenty of room for both the state and sheriff's department.

"We want to move into the area that we serve primarily," he said. "In the north end, a number of townships don't have their own police departments. We could work in a more efficient and businesslike manner if the post is out there."

Springfield Supervisor Collin Walls said he did not believe that an acceptance of the state's offer would necessarily dictate a termination of the sheriff's department contract.

"It would be an addition to the present (patrol)," said Walls. "It would be nowheres near sufficient to replace it."

One question which must be answered is whether a joint answering service for the proposed 911 emergency network would work for both the state and sheriff's departments.

"We don't feel if they (state police) can dispatch that it would work," said Oakland Undersheriff Billy Nolin. "We wouldn't want them to dispatch our troops and they wouldn't want us to dispatch their troops. It wouldn't work with one dispatcher to take all the calls."

Siren confusion

Some confusion arose last week when tornado sirens sounded twice in the Clarkston area.

A tornado warning was issued at approximately 9 p.n.. Wednesday, June 11, and a siren was set off at the Oakland County Disaster Control center in Pontiac.

The warning expired at 9:45 p.m., but another warning was issued at 10 p.m. and another siren sounded.

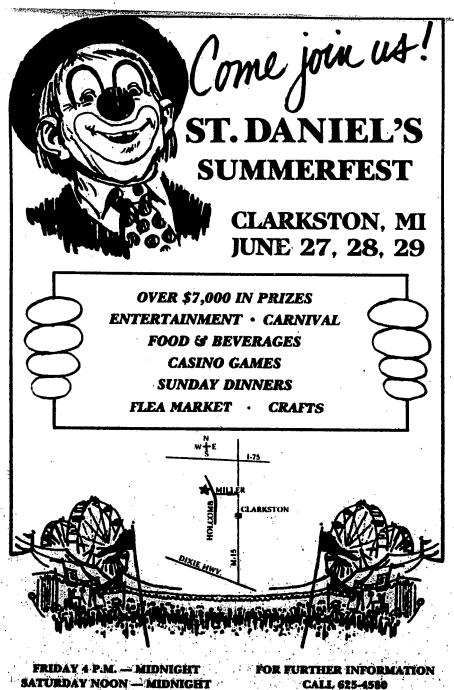

Some residents interpreted the second siren as an all-clear signal, but the county does not sound all-clear signals.

The control center suggests that when a warning signal is heard, people should take cover and turn on their televisions or radios to find out when the warning expires.

Only one siren is sounded per warning and residents should keep police and fire telephone lines clear.

Letters back up denial of Mt. Zion Temple

By Carolyn Walker

Surrounded by an uneasy but complete silence, Chairman Neil Wallace formally read the Independence Township Planning Commission reasons for denying a special land use permit to the Mt. Zion Temple.

Present at the June 12 reading were some eight parishioners and their pastor, the Rev. Loren Covorrubias, who had been redirected to the commission by the zoning board of appeals (ZBA).

The commission had denied the land use request last month and the ZBA, in action taken June 5 during an appeals process, sought written documentation of their reasoning.

The ZBA has the power to overturn decisions made by the planning commission.

Before reading the statement, Wallace told the crowd he would not take public comment and said, "We are powerless at this point to reverse (our decision)."

He then went on to read the document, which cited inappropriate erosion of the tax base, increased traffic, potential burdens on public services, and the size and height of the proposed structure as the commission's reasons for denial.

"This proposed use, particularly taking into consideration the number of existing churches in the community, represents an inappropriate erosion of the community tax base," he read in part.

"In that respect, it unreasonably burdens public services without a balancing contribution. "That is, it not only removes property from the tax rolls which would, in the future, contribute significantly, but it does so while at the same time necessarily calling on and using substantial public services and facilities."

Wallace also read from a statement in which he denied allegations that the commission was interfering with the parishioners' rights to practice their religion.

Mt. Zion Temple proposes building a 52,000-square-foot, 48-foot-tall building on 20 acres off Clintonville Road near Maybee Road and the I-75 overpass. They anticipate in the future acquiring approximately 23 more acres.

Currently, they have a church building located on Clarkston Road near Mann Road in Waterford Township. That building would be used as a school facility after the new structure's completion.

A poll of the commissioners during the meeting indicated that most agreed with the comments included in the written statement.

Commissioner Betty Jo Fussman, expressing concerns about adjoining wetland areas, added that low-lying portions of the site might not be capable of sustaining a septic field.

A motion to approve the letters for submission to the ZBA was then passed, 4-1-1.

After the meeting, Covarrubias said the church would continue its fight by returning first to the ZBA.

"We really intend on really going through," he said. "They still have not really addressed legal reasons. I think they're just trying to cover up their real reasons (tax erosion)."

Wallace, Fussman, Carol Balzarini and Joseph Figa voted for the motion. Brent Bair, who was absent when the May 8 vote to deny was made, abstained, and John Gray voted "no" without comment. Commissioner Holly Stephens was absent.

FATHER AND SON: Lee Gallivan gives 5-yearold Robby some assistance on how to stand while casting for fish from the shore of the Clarkston Mill Pond. They'd been fishing for a while. "I just catched three fishes," said Robby. "Caught them all by himself," added Lee. The Gallivans, who live in White Lake Township, go fishing together quite often. It's a father-and-son activity they especially enjoy. [Photo by Kathy Greenfield]

Approval near for Baptist church

Although the Baptists did not receive their anticipated final site plan approval for a proposed church, they did receive a special land use permit and conceptual approval.

After no residents participated in a public hearing portion of the meeting, Chairman Neil Wallace made two comments about the churches before the site plan review began.

"I have been consistently stating all along that we have to be careful of the placement and number of churches in this community," he said. "The situations are significantly different."

According to Wallace, the Baptist church will be located off a paved road, Maybee, and will incorporate a much smaller parcel of land than the proposed Mt. Zion Temple, which was denied a special land use permit.

"I think for the benefit of everyone, making those comparisons is useful," he said.

The Baptists propose building a church on five acres near the Clarkston Eagles Lodge and Sashabaw Plains Park.

A motion to approve the proposal conceptually was approved 6-0 as was a motion to table final site plan approval to a future meeting.

Before final site plan approval will be considered, the developers are to address soil erosion concerns, a buffer near a bordering residential area, the moving of some parking spaces to the rear of the facility and the identifying of trees to be preserved.

Also included in the motion, was a notation that proposed building expansions be eliminated from the current considerations.

Church breaks ground for addition

With ever-increasing attendance at its services and school, the First Church of God broke ground for a new office and classroom complex June 8.

The addition will serve as an administrative center for the church and Clarkston Christian School.

The church, located on Clarkston Road, has experienced rapid growth during Dr. N. Edward Ross' tenure as pastor, which began in December 1984.

The church has sent out 75,000 invitations to families to attend services.

"Our emphasis is on reaching people," said Ross. "It's more of a philosophy that permeates everything we do. We do not exist for ourselves, but we exist for others."

The complex will have four offices, five classrooms, restrooms and one area that can be opened into a 1,350-square-foot fellowship area and will also serve as chapel for the school.

The estimated cost of the addition is $250,000 and completion is expected by Nov. 15. Members of the congregation pledged over $75,000 over the next two years.

Average morning worship attendance has doubled in the last tow years and Ross said he expects it to double again in the next two years.

The school has grown from a total enrollment of 70 in day care through second grade in the 1984-85 school year to a projected 270 for infant care through fifth grade this fall.

Ross also anticipates a sanctuary being built within five years which would eventually seat 3,500 people.

Complaints prompt letter from board

After several complaints about loudspeakers at Tra-Tech Midwest, the Springfield Township Board decided at its June 11 meeting to send a letter to the company addressing the matter.

The van conversion shop located on Dixie Highway has a loudspeaker paging system and has been the cause of complaints on and off for six to nine months, said township Supervisor Collin Walls.

The letter will state that residents are still experiencing noise problems and will ask Tra-Tech for its cooperation, according to Walls.

"We made the mistake of not asking for performance guarantees," said Walls. "We'll find officially what is their (Tra-Tech) program and what their timetable is."

A few residents attended the meeting and also cited loud music emanating from the shop and frequent horn-blowing by patrons to enter the shop.

Tra-Tech management had no comment on the

Crommett wins voc ed award

By Julie LePere

After 30 years in practice and seven years of participation with the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center, Dr. William Crommett received an award that took him all the way to Arlington, Va.

He and Beverly Spoor, his employee of 23 years, have given their time and facilities to students in NWOVEC's medical assisting program.

As a result, NWOVEC Principal Daniel Manthei nominated him for a state vocational education award for excellence, which he won.

"Physicians are very busy people and the first thing he's done is given us his time, and he's done it consistently for 10 to 11 years," said Manthei.

The state committee then nominated him for a national vocational award for excellence, which Crommett also won.

He and 39 others from all around the country won awards in different fields and received them at a special luncheon and ceremony in Arlington on June

Besides chairing the medical advisory committee at the NWOVEC, the osteopathic physician has hosted students for on-the-job training and for their one-day observation requirement.

He has also donated the time of his office manager, Spoor, for full days to assist during the annual Health-O-Rama in Independence Township, a day-long health screening clinic.

Crommett, whose practice is on Williams Lake Road in Waterford Township, credits Spoor with the achievement.

"She's done most of the work, and she drags me along when it's necessary," he said.

He is pleased with the award, but is still considering the implications.

"We enjoyed the trip to Washington, and I'm rather pleased that I can be of some use," he said. ". . . I think it's kind of sad that in the whole state our efforts have been outstanding. That means the rest of the state is not doing what they should be do-

Dr. William Crommett and his office manager Beverly Spoor recently traveled to Virginia to accept a national award for outstanding service for vocational education.

Kidnapping charge

An Auburn Hills man has been charged with a 10-year felony in connection with the attempted abduction of a 5-year-old from the front yard of his Springfield Township home.

Charles R. Starr, 29, was arraigned Monday at 52nd District Court and charged with assault with intent to kidnap.

The suspect failed to post the $20,000 cash bond and he was returned to the Oakland County Jail, said a court spokesperson. His preliminary examination is scheduled Friday at 52nd District Court at 1 p.m.

During the attempted abduction on April 12, the child's mother intervened and a suspect drove away in a gold pick-up truck, said Detective Lt. Glenn Watson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

A description and composite drawing provided by the child and his mother led to several tips and to the arrest of the suspect, said Watson,

He praised the efforts of Sgt. James Manning. "He took very little evidence and kept on it. Persistence paid off for him," said Watson.

Clarkston Road, Independence Township

Sunday, a VCR was stolen from a residence on Woodhull Drive, Independence Township.

Sunday, a tire on an ATV was cut on Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

The above information was compiled from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Pontiac man nabbed

A 17-year-old Pontiac resident has been charged with a 15-year felony in connection with a May 12 purse snatching on Surrey Lane in Clarkston.

Joseph D. Carson was arraigned at 52nd District Court on Monday. He was charged with the breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling with the intent to commit larceny.

Police believe the incident is connected to a rash of purse snatchings from senior citizens in the general area including two in Clarkston, said Detective Lt. Glenn Watson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

In the Surrey Lane incident, a woman had just returned home when her telephone rang, Watson said. When she went to answer it, two men kicked in the door and snatched her purse from a chair.

Other police departments were having problems with similar thefts and a joint investigation resulted in the arrest about two weeks ago of Johnnie Johnson, 20, also of Pontiac, Watson said. Johnson was charged with a similar crime in Rochester.

Carson's cash bond was set at $20,000, which he did not post, and he was returned to the Oakland County Jail, said a court spokesperson.

His prelimary examination is scheduled at 52nd District Court on June 26 at 1 p.m.

Letter of thanks

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Clarkston Village Players very much for choosing me as the recipient of their most generous scholarship.

I think Clarkston is very fortunate to have groups such as theirs who are willing to devote so much time and money to aid the graduating seniors of Clarkston High School.

I am sure I speak for everyone in saying that their efforts are greatly appreciated.

David Johnston

Thank you, Clarkston

We've enjoyed six great years in Clarkston and are now being transferred to Rochester, N.Y.

A special thanks to Clarkston Community Schools for providing an excellent educational experience for our three children and to the Clarkston United Methodist Church for friends and fellowship.

We leave with fond memories of Clarkston and the community spirit that makes this such a special place.

Rally was successful

Many thanks to the members and staff at the Deer Lake Racquet Club who made our "Rally for the March of Dimes" a success. We reached our goal of $5,000.

A special thank you to Forrest Milzow for his generosity in donating the court time as well as all the food and beverages; and to the staff members who worked so hard handling the arrangements.

The proceeds will be presented to the March of Dimes on TV-50's "Born America" telethon June 28 and 29.

Thanks again for your support and contribution to fight birth defects.

Fatherly approach

Kathy Greenfield

While scanning the Fathers for Equal Rights of America newsletter that arrived in mail to The Clarkston News, my eyes fell on an item headlined "Show Your Affection."

It was a book review for "The Working Parent Dilemma." My eyes moved to the starred items at the end.

In the advice for dads was this gem: "Voice delight often at just being your children's father."

While this is a good idea for fathers, it's equally as good for mothers, I thought, so I decided to "voice delight at just being my children's mother" at the very first opportunity.

That night, as it worked out, my children and I were going out to dinner at a local eatery.

I began looking for an opening in the conversation to make my prounouncement, and had to laugh to myself.

My daughter and son were sharing verbal pokes at each other, as siblings sometimes do.

"C'mon you two, be nice to each other," I said.

"I think I'll wait until later to tell them how delighted I am to be their parent," I thought.

Later, at home, I decided to wait no longer. I marched into the living room where they were continuing their verbal gymnastics.

"I just want you both to know that I'm really glad you're my children," I said.

Needless to say, they both looked a little startled. I felt compelled to offer an explanation.

"In case you're curious," I said, "the reason

I'm telling you this is because I read this article today that said fathers should express their feelings to their children and I decided it was a good idea for mothers, too."

"Thanks, Pop," said my son.

"Mother's getting a little weird," said my daughter.

I like them anyway.

ALL ABOUT TOWN

Jim's Jottings

Nits and bits observed in the old country.

One of the things that struck us as we toured Scotland and Ireland is lack of junk yards on the outskirts of towns. I don't know what they do with wrecked cars, which they surely must have, driving on the wrong side of the road like they do.

Along a similar line, parking lots in shopping areas, empty lots, or even front yards do not have cars parked with for sale signs on them.

This 8-day golfing tour was no different from any other organized event'... the on-time are penalized to accommodate the late.

There are 72,000 places to buy something to eat in London, but the first place we found for breakfast, after walking quite a ways, was Cafe Cave Emily on Kensington Road. It was a hurried meal.

The punk look in London leads me to believe the "me first" generation is now in its second generation.

Friends who had visited England encouraged us to "go pubbing". We tried. Each one we tried had the atmosphere of an unclean saloon with the hangers-on out numbering the conventionals 10 to 1. They just aren't comfortable.

I don't know what restaurants would do for help if it weren't for the Orientals.

Clerks in stores over there come in the same categories as here: the careless, the helpful, the business-like.

Of the four airports we were in, we felt the security was tightest in Manchester as we headed through a separate door for "Ireland only" passengers. Had to show the inside of my hat.

The displays of suntan lotion in Scotland and Ireland are ridiculous.

Jim Sherman

The only hotel we stayed in that had matches in the room was Dumloe Castle in Kilarney.

I swear the only two golf clubs any of my caddies know are a driver and eight iron. Wedges are something Americans use, they say. My eight iron was out so much it's tarnished from the Irish sea mist.

Hazel watched a woman spinning yarn from sheep's wool. What she noticed was the woman was spinning un-washed wool. That's what they make into fishermen's coats. They repel water.

During our first "getting lost" period, right off the plane in Prestwick, we noticed a large number of what I called government housing. Several multifamily, two story, stucco dwellings. They were in many towns.

Turns out they are sort of government housing, only they call them council housing. They are places for people to live while getting started or new to the town.

The biggest concern of the British Isles is unemployment. Layoffs in ship building while we were there brought out the anti-Thatcherites.

The biggest social issue is divorce. Should it be allowed? Bishops are taking stands both ways. Probably bookies are taking bets on it.

Coffee is served when waiters get darn good and ready, not when you first sit down for breakfast. And, the cream is served hot. Toast cold. Unbuttered

That's as roughing it as it got for our 16 days.

Motto was joke

The reply to Christine Wyatt's letter in the June 11 issue, I agree with the principle of what she is saying, but I believe that something should be brought into yiew.

The senior class motto, "Violence is American as cherry pie," originated as a joke.

A social studies teacher at the high school was showing a filmstrip, and "violence is American as cherry pie" was a part of the dialogue.

The instructor commented, jokingly, how funny it would be as a class motto. When the ballots were handed out, the class members voted.

They penciled in "Violence is American as cherry pie." Because of lack of participation by the rest of the senior class, it became the majority and, therefore, the class motto.

It escaped the yearbook adviser because she was on vacation at the time when that section of the yearbook was edited and sent to the printer. The yearbook staff was on its own in the motto decision and did the best it could.

As a senior, I was shocked to see the motto when I opened my yearbook for the first time. However, I realize that it was a joke, and however sad it may be, it is written and done.

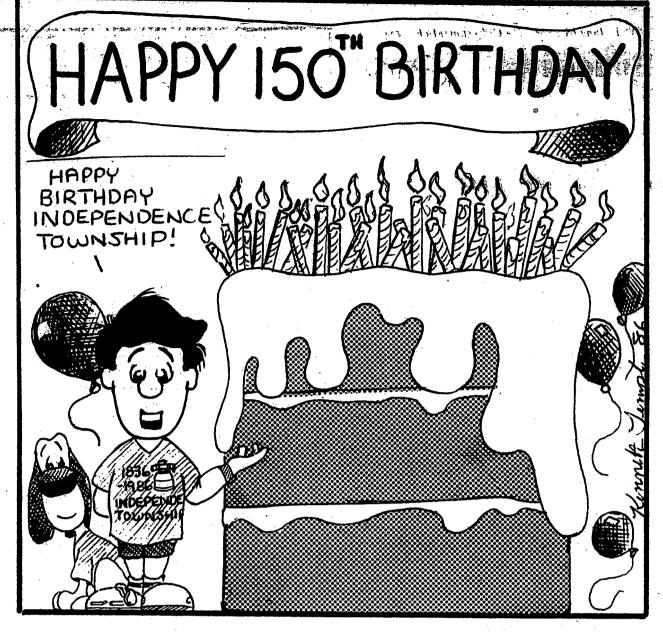

I do not intend to live by that motto, and I highly doubt that any other members of the Class of 1986 will either.

The whole incident could have been avoided if the acting principal, Mel Vaara, had had a chance to proofread the pages before they were sent to the printer.

However, with the death of Mr. John Kirchgessner in March, the school yearbook was the last thing on his mind. Education was the top priority, and I am very happy to say that the administration assembled after Mr. Kirchgessner's death has achieved everything they had hoped for.

I graduated last night, June 12, and it was a beautiful ceremony, and one of the saddest and happiest moments of my life. I will always remember Clarkston High, and will always come back.

And no matter what the motto, I will forever be proud to be a member of John Kirchgessner's first and last class, the liberty class, the silver anniversary class, the best class. The Class of 1986.

Gray hair matter

It is unfortunate that the Class of '86 motto can't be taken in the light-hearted manner in which it was meant.

The phrase, taken from a government class film, "Violence is American as cherry pie," was certainly not meant as a social statement, but was chosen in jest because, as all we good Americans know, the correct phrase is "American as APPLE PIE," like in baseball, hot dogs, mom and apple pie!

The motto's meaning, then, is "Violence is unAmerican as cherry pie is unAmerican."

The motto was chosen and printed in the year-book at the beginning of March. This was before Mr. Vaara became acting principal. He, therefore, had no knowledge of it and is due an apology for being attacked. There were more important things going on at that time.

The lady asked in her letter last week if the prin-[See MORE LETTERS, Page 8]

Another way to buy a car on Saturday Jim Fitzgerald

10 1 10 Level 1979

A lot of people — not to mention the federal government — are apparently unhappy because practically all car dealerships in metropolitan Detroit are closed Saturdays.

They should write to Ann Landers.

There are allegations that the dealers got together one dark night and agreed Saturday closings would be a dandy way to cut overhead and limit competition — and to hell with working-stiff customers who want to spend one of their days off shopping the dealerships.

But so what? Ann Landers would advise you it's easy to buy a car even if the dealerships are closed every day.

I'll admit it used to bug me that Detroit area dealers were the only ones in the nation to close en masse on Saturdays. Although it probably should be noted that I get even madder at bankers' hours.

My bank — and many others — is not only closed Saturdays. It is closed until 9:30 a.m. and after 4 p.m. every weekday. This is in a world where normal working hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. So, besides Saturdays, people also can't do their banking before or after work on Monday through Friday. (Some branches extend Friday hours if you don't mind driving that far.)

However, everybody is free to spend their payday lunch hour lined up in front of 12 teller windows six of which are closed.

Why doesn't the Federal Trade Commission investigate banks as well as car dealers? Perhaps because of automatic tellers. You can use them 24 hours a day but you can't get similar service by sticking a plastic card into a car dealer's mouth.

Automatic tellers are fine for withdrawing cash if there's some in your account, but don't try to borrow any. And I'm afraid to make an automatic deposit for fear I'll make a mistake and send my money in the wrong direction, creating a computer glitch that will take the bank 16 years to untangle.

But you don't care about that. You want to hear Ann Landers' advice on buying cars. She gave it in Ralph Nader's latest book, "The Big Boys," recently excerpted in the Free Press. She described how easy it is to buy a Cadillac:

"In 1983, I called and said I had a 1980 Cadillac limousine. I wanted a new car. Baby blue, everything on it. A glass window separating passengers from the chauffeur. He said, 'They're hard to find, but I'll get you one.' The next morning—and I had called him late in the day he had a car for me. A 1983 Cadillac. He said it was in a suburb and that he could have it to me by 3 p.m. ... It was perfect.' He phoned all over the country and found precisely the car I wanted."

Let's find to show the inside of my hat

Who was "he" — the car salesman Ann Landers phoned? He was Roger Smith, chairman of General Motors. I don't know if she phoned him on Saturday.

That's why I'm no longer concerned about when car dealerships are closed. I'm sure Roger Smith is no elitist. He has a feel for the ordinary guy working on his productions lines. He wouldn't do anything for Ann Landers that he wouldn't do for me.

So the next time I need a new car, I'll just phone good old Roger and tell him exactly what I want. He'll deliver it to my door the next day, along with the payment book. You can do the same thing, and the dealerships won't ever have to open.

While I have Roger on the line, I'll ask if he agrees with the FTC that Detroit area dealers got together one dark night and conspired to increase profits by closing Saturdays.

Also, I'll ask what he would do if all cities and states got together one dark night and conspired to help ordinary taxpayers by no longer giving tax breaks and free lollipops to auto manufacturers looking for the cheapest place to build a factory.

If that happened, would Roger Smith write to Ann Landers?

That's as roughing it as it got for our 16 days.

-More letters

[MORE LETTERS, continued from Page 7] ting of the motto was an attempt by a disgruntled employee to embarrass the school administration, the board, the community-oh, I Love It!!!-and the answer is no, I'm just a parent (I don't even have a child in the high school) who gives of her time because she cares about the kids and enjoys working with them.

Granted, this was not an inspirational message and certainly wouldn't have been my choice, but that's exactly the point, it's not my choice, but theirs-good/bad, understood/misunderstood, and what's done is done.

I have a motto I'd like to give to the Class of '86-"Stand up for what you believe, Be strong enough to admit when you're wrong, Keep your chip up and go through life with a smile on your face and laughter in your heart."

I've learned that being too serious about too many unimportant matters brings on too many gray

Who said that class mottos are supposed to be peaches and cream? Today's society is a violent one-and everyone seems to be ignoring it.

The opinion in your letter is that this entire class is somewhat less than human. The world they grew up in is less than humane (a world the class and '70 and all those before helped create).

Before you start spewing off, take a look at what the motto did, it got your attention.

How many kids' attention did it catch? How many attitudes will it change to help end world violence? If it has or will change one, then it's done a

Ronk is pleasure to work with

By Julie LePere

Mary Ronk, teller supervisor at Pontiac State Bank in Clarkston, has lived in Clarkston for 43 years.

She graduated from Clarkston High School when it was still housed in the present Clarkston Junior High School. And she still enjoys the town, she said.

"What I like most about my job is the contact with the people," she said. "I've known a lot of them for a long time. It's a nice town to work in."

She has worked at the bank for eight years and handles the cash control, schedules vacations and performs regular teller duties.

Her coworkers appreciate her performance on job

"Mary always has a warm welcome, a few friendly words, and a pleasant good-bye for customers," said Christine Downing, her boss. "It is always a pleasure to work with Mary. Her efficiency and dedication on the job serve as an outstanding role model."

When she's not working, Mary spends time with her grandaughter, Andrea, or she watches her son Rob play baseball.

"He keeps us busy in sports," she said.

She plans to continue smiling at the bank and spending time with her family.

Teachers tee

M.J. Blazo, Mary Ellen Hanson, Jan Modesitt and Margo Lay pose before teeing off at the B.J. Hanson golf outing held at Spring Lake Country Club June 13. Teachers and administrators from the Clarkston school system gathered to honor Mrs. Hanson's late husband, who was a teacher and athletic director in Clarkston.

Norman's work lands job with Brown

By Julie LePere

Discipline, talent and a lot of hard work have built a potential pro athlete out of former Clarkston High School nose guard Kurt Norman.

The former Hillsdale College outside linebacker recently signed a two-year free agent football contract with the Cleveland Browns.

"It was a hectic day, the day of the draft," said Norman.

It was the week before finals, and he and his teammates sat around the TV, watching ESPN, the cable sports channel. They hoped for news of the National Football League and United States Football League drafts. There had been some speculation that Norman might be drafted.

"But nobody knows" who will be drafted until it happens, he said.

So they just waited.

If an athlete isn't drafted, he said, then he may get a call from a team who hopes to sign him as a free agent.

So they waited the next morning, too.

After a sleepless night and no news of his name appearing on a draft list, Norman received the call from Cleveland.

He talked with his parents and his agent, and he also received phone calls from New England, Kansas City, and the USFL Memphis Showboats, before returning Cleveland's phone call.

"One minute, I didn't think anything was going to happen, and the next minute I was on a flight to Cleveland," he said.

Norman, as well as all the draft picks, still has to make the team in July.

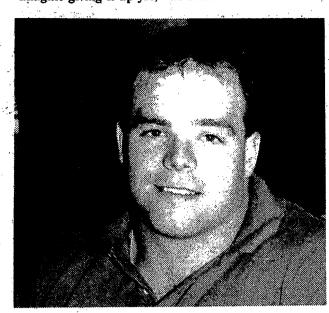

"Nothing is guaranteed," he said. "Even if you're drafted, you might not make the team. The difference between being a draft pick and a free agent is the money upfront. They get more money in the beginning.

'It is an advantage to being a free agent if you're not drafted in the first two rounds," he said. "If you're drafted, you have to go to that team.'

He will play inside or outside linebacker for Cleveland, which signed receivers in the draft, he

For Norman, the chance to continue playing football is like an answered wish.

"I'm fortunate to have been as far as I have without being hurt. . . . I'd like to go on for a few more years and play the game because I love it. I can't imagine giving it up yet," he said.

Kurt Norman, 1982 CHS graduate, has signed a pro football free agent contract with the Cleveland Browns. "I owe a lot to my parents and my brother (Mike)," he said.

Although he's always loved sports, he hasn't always excelled at them.

"When I was younger in athletics, I wasn't quite as good as everyone else, but my parents kept working with me because that's what I wanted to do," he said.

"I played Chiefs (little league football), but I didn't play very much. I played baseball, but I didn't play much. But I loved to do it, and I just kept working at it."

He mentioned several people who helped him in his younger days in sports: Dave Smith and John Craven, former Clarkston Junior High School football coaches; and Walt Wyniemko, CHS football coach, who played Norman at the varsity level as a sophomore.

"Basically, my inspiration came from my parents. They taught me discipline and the way to act," he said. "It's sort of carried over to on the field and off the field.

'One more person who helped me out was my Uncle Bill. He introduced me to weight lifting. . . That was about five or six years ago. I owe him a lot."

At Hillsdale while accumulating credits for his health and physical education and psychology teaching certificate, Norman also accumulated honors on the gridiron.

He was the most valuable freshman in 1982 and first team All-GLIAC (Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Confrence) in his junior and senior years.

His senior year, he was the team's MVP and made the All-America first team.

He was the most valuable player of the game in the quarter-finals of the national play-offs against Salem, W.V., and MVP in the national championship game against Central Arkansas (Hillsdale tied, 10-10, for the title).

He had 29 quarterback sacks last season, a new school record.

"It's like scoring a touchdown," he said about the feeling of bringing down the QB. "That's what we worked for. Basically, that's what I was, a rush

He had a total of 60 QB sacks and 280 tackles in his four years at Hillsdale.

And one game still stands out in Norman's memory, the national semi-final game against Mesa,

"We were losing, 21-0, in the fourth quarter, and we came to tie it up with just seconds left in the game. And we won it in double overtime and went on to the national championships.

"That was just an incredible game,"

This summer, Norman is working with his parents, Gary and Kathy, and playing softball for C.A.C.C. Lifesavers in the Independence Township Parks and Recreation league. And he's staying in "July 20 I report to camp," he said.

He is thinking about life after football, as well. "My career goal is I'm leaning toward law enforcement. I haven't looked into it yet," he said. "I've been kind of sidetracked."

Lady Knights make name in AAU games

By Chris Gerbasi

Dr. David McChesney knew there was a lot of basketball talent in the area, but little did he know

McChesney helped organize the Lady Knights, a girls 12-and-under team, along with Al Land and

In their first season of competition, the Knights won the Michigan AAU state basketball tournament in their age group Memorial Day weekend.

Jodie Dom runs through a driving drill against Michigan AAU championship in May and will Erin Kraft during a Lady Knights practice ses. ... compete at the national tournament next slon... The 12 and under team captured the month in Virginia.

The Amateur Athletic Union is involved with the Junior Olympics program and conducts tournaments for boys and girls of all ages. The Lady Knights will next move on to the National AAU tourney in Roanoke, Va., July 18-25 to challenge teams from across the country.

"We had no anticipation of going to the nationals," said McChesney, an Independence Township resident. "We were quite surprised."

The Lady Knights had to win three games at the tournament in its five-team division.

"We didn't know what to expect," he said. "The Detroit teams had a lot of tall girls. We have a fairly tall team, but there's choking and nerves and those are things we couldn't control."

The Knights showed they could come through in the clutch by winning their semifinal game at the buzzer and a closely contested finale, 39-34.

At the nationals, the team will have to show it's consistent as well. The Knights could play as many as 12 games in seven days in the double elimination tourney and about 30 teams will compete in the 12-and-under class.

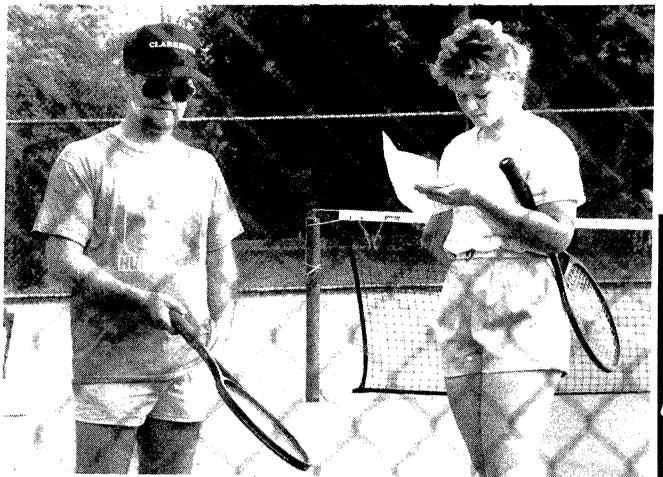

The Knights are composed mostly of Waterford girls, but they've added a couple of girls from out of the area for the nationals.

"I'm trying to get to the point where we have 10 or 11 players who can all play equal time," said coach

McChesney hopes to expand even more next year to bring talent in from other areas.

"We're trying to establish the name of Lady Knights so people know about it," he said.

The Knights are presently holding practices at any available gym they can find. Then they'll gear up for the trip to Roanoke, but they need to raise some money. For sponsorship information, call 674-4659.

Kelly Craig, 1985 CHS graduate, plays tennis for Purdue University in Indiana. This summer, she and Mary Smith, 1983 CHS graduate and Eastern Michigan University tennis player, will participate in the amateur circuit on the East Coast.

Competitive Craig carries on tennis success at Purdue

By Julie LePere

If the sky is the limit, Kelly Craig is nearing the tops of the trees. The Purdue University tennis player is trying to go as high as her ability and determination will carry her.

The 1985 Clarkston High School graduate has played tennis since she was nine, and her only thought is of how she can improve.

"What I like most about tennis is winning and seeing how good I can be and who I can beat," said the Independence Township resident. "My dad says I'm too competitive because whatever I do I have to do it better. . . . He's competitive, too. I get it from him."

Her freshman year at Purdue was a good one, and her team finished sixth in the Big Ten. Although she took the transition from high school to college in stride, she still noticed the differences.

"I had a really good season," she said. "I was playing really well coming off junior tennis.

"It was a big transition from junior tennis to college tennis because in junior tennis you only think about yourself. In college, you're a team. Like after you're finished playing, you can't go do your homework, you have to go cheer on your teammates.

"It's really hectic at school because I'm either going off to a match or studying for an exam. . . . There's really not much time for anything else. You've got to practice every day. You've got to do Nautilus. You've got to run. There's a lot of extra things that go with it

"There's three freshmen, so that makes it easier because they haze you so bad. I have to pump gas every time. I can't wait until next year. Then I won't have to pump anymore gas."

It may be hectic, but Kelly handles it well. She earned a 5.0 (of 6.0) grade point average while studying for a major in business.

"I want to go to law school. I want to be a lawyer," said the 19-year old.

This summer she will, of course, play a lot of ten-

"Mary Smith (another CHS tennis star who plays in college) and I are going to play in the amateur circuit this summer. We'll go to Boston; Erie, Pa.; and Cleveland, Ohio. If we do well in this, we're going to play in New York and Maine.

"We've both been working really hard. We've been playing every day.

"Mary and I, ever since we were little, we played at the (Deer Lake Racquet) club every single day. It's weird that we're still doing it. We could have quit like everyone else we played with. But here we are, still trying to go as high as we can go."

One by one, Kelly is achieving her goals.

"Before I went to Purdue, I played a lot of national tournaments. . . . Those were my goals ever since I started playing tennis. Ever since I was little, I wanted to get a national ranking, and I finally did."

Kelly is ranked 119th in the nation and 11th in the Western ranking.

Tungate is back

Paul Tungate is back at the athletic director's job full-time after a unanimous vote by the Clarkston school board June 9.

Tungate had previously held the job on a fulltime basis until the school system cut back on the sports program several years ago.

"We've got more programs now," said Tungate. "We've added soccer and upgraded the basketball program and there's enough to justify the move.'

Tungate will be in control of interscholastic athletics at the high school and two junior high Clarkston. schools

He will now give up his part-time teaching position at the high school.

"I'll miss the classroom," he said. "I've enjoyed the students I've had. There's not time for both. We have a good athletic program and I want to maintain that."

Park seat vacant

Springfield Township is looking for someone to fill a vacancy on its parks commission until the November election.

One spot became available after a resignation in May. Three candidates will compete for two parks commission openings in the Aug. 5 primary and two trustee positions will also be on the ballot.

But the township needs someone on an interim basis until the winners of the general election take office in late November.

"With five other members, they supervise the maintenence and operation of our four parks and the summer activities," said township Supervisor Collin

Township focuses on buildings

Township employees will be snapping photographs of all buildings in Independence and Clarkston over the next couple of months.

The project is an effort to upgrade assessing department records, said township assessor David Kramer.

"There are a lot of records in our office that we do not have photos for. The old cliche "a picture is worth a thousand words" is especially true when you're talking about the value of property," he said.

Two summer employees, Jamie MacDormott and Jeffrey Pitoniak, will be taking the color photographs. The project is expected to take eight weeks.

McDormott and Pitoniak will be carrying letters of authorization on township stationery signed by Kramer.

They are not authorized to enter homes, garages, pole barns or any buildings, Kramer said, and they will be driving a navy blue Pontiac Lemans, license plate number 72X601.

The project does not involve reassessments, said

"Every assessing office I've ever had any dealings

Rezoning hearing set

The first of two required hearings involving two possible rezonings was held by the Springfield Township Board June 11.

One requested rezoning involves 7.15 acres in the Englewood Meadows subdivision near the vocational center on Big Lake Road. The rezoning would allow additional homes to be built as well as additional road access to the Lake Maria Woods subdivision.

The other request concerns three acres on Dixie Highway between Williams Lake and Andersonville roads where Thomas Lowrie wishes to convert a house into a landscaping business office.

Gordon Spelbring poses with his mother's baby carriage made of wicker with metal wheels.

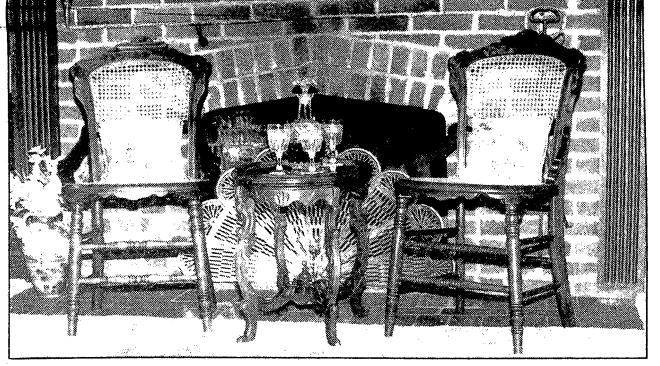

The stone fireplace in the new addition is surrounded by several rocking chairs, some from Spelbring's family, some from the old CHS when it was housed in Township Hall.

The original brick fireplace is enclosed in the original wooden mantle in the front room. The English Tudor home will be one of five featured on the Clarkston SCAMP Home Tour.

The antique mirrored dresser is in an upstairs bedroom to be toured this weekend.

SCAMP Home Tour preview

A peek inside one of five houses on the benefit tour this weekend

By Julie LePere

About 10 years ago, Gordon Spelbring moved into a 1928 English Tudor style house on Wompole Drive in Clarkston.

He has since added 2,000 square feet and has redecorated all of the rooms.

His house is one of the five historic homes and a garden featured in the Fourth Annual Clarkston SCAMP Home Tour this weekend.

The tour of Spelbring's home will reveal his love of antiques. The house is furnished with them or replicas of them, attesting to his hobby of 25 years.

The house's history begins with its builder and street namesake, Al Wompole.

"He owned all of this land, and it was an orchard (Orchard Heights). He built all of these older homes in here," Spelbring said.

After Wompole retired, said Spelbring, his hobby was building homes in different styles. Each of the homes on Wompole Drive represents a different style.

"This home was built in the English Tudor style," he said. "Most of the shrubbery was planted by him. There's still wild flowers that he planted."

A new two-story addition gave the house a total of nine rooms.

"I had it detailed as closely as possible to the original right down to the woodwork. . . . It's hand plastered cement on the outside in the English style," Spelbring said.

"Also, there's a lot of rocks around the house, and that was also a collection started by Mr. Wompole. He collected big rocks of different colors."

A way to say thanks

Emily Ayres prepares the soil to put a petunia in place at Bailey Lake Elementary.

Among the planters at the American Legion Post 63 are Raven Persiul [front] and Anne Marie Druskinis. About 60 Girl Scouts, Brownies and Daisies spent time the morning of June 7 planting flowers purchased by the troops to say thanks to their five sponsors. The American Legion Post donated space for recruitment night and the cookie depot and presented the group with five backpacking tents and totes. Clarkston United Methodist Church provided space for meetings, leader training and ceremonies. Andersonville Elementary provided classroom meeting places. And United Cable Communications loaned video equipment and allowed scouts to earn service hours at the studio.

Two receive MD degrees from WSU

Two Clarkston area residents have been awarded MD degrees from the Wayne State University, Detroit, School of Medicine.

Robert M. Blau and Thomas A. Swanson were among the medical school's 256 graduates who received their degrees on June 3 at Ford Auditorium.

Troop 189 is No. 1

If you ever get lost in the woods, you should hope to run into Boy Scout Troop 189.

The troop was number one out of 54 groups from Michigan and Canada during a Camporee held in April at Camp Dearborn. Scoutmaster Bill Tudor presented a trophy to the troop as part of a ceremony Tuesday night at Clintonwood Park.

Troop 189 has 30 boys from Clarkston and Holly, aged 11 to 18. Thirteen of them competed at the Camporee and were split into two patrols, one of which was first overall and one which finished sixth.

The boys participated in 11 events, ranging from tests of scout skills to coordination activities.

In service

Army Pvt. Leland Erdman has arrived for duty with the 8th Infantry Division, West Germany.

Erdman is a tank systems mechanic. A 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, he is the son of Donald Erdman of Pontiac and Sharon Rader of Davisburg Road, Springfield Township.

Airman Deborah Kent has graduated from the United States Air Force food service course at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo.

She is the daughter of Jimmy and Sharon Kent of Mary Sue Street, Independence Township.

Marine Pvt. Robert Doll has completed the Infantry Combat Training Course at Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

A 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, he joined the Marine Corps in November 1985. He is the son of Walter and Susan Doll of Clarkston Road, Independence Township.

James Gentile, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University's Reserve Officer Training Corps, recently was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the United States Army.

Gentile, of Dark Lake Road, Independence Township, was commissioned into the Army's aviation branch.

Honors

Christopher Bruce is on the Hillsdale College dean's list for achieving academic excellence during the 1985-86 school year.

A graduate of Clarkston High School, he is the son of Hilda Bruce of Guyette Street.

Gregg Babcock has been inducted into the Tau Beta Pi national engineering honor society at Lawrence Institute of Technology, Southfield.

A junior at LIT, Babcock is majoring in mechanical engineering. He is in the top eighth of his class.

Membership in the honor society is based on academic merit, approval of a screening committee, the LIT engineering faculty and the national Tau Beta Pi office.

Debaters fare well in competitions

For three years, Richard Stevens has spent hours coaching and organizing the largest extracurricular activity at Our Lady of the Lakes High School: Forensics and Debate.

This year, Stevens, who is head of the science department at OLL, saw his effort pay off.

The team grew from 15 to 42 students, and the seven-member debate team placed fourth overall in the Detroit Catholic Forensics League.

On the team were Clarkston area residents Mary Blachura of Parview Drive and Greg Hickman of Trotter Lane.

They were also two of 15 students from OLL and 2,000 from across the state who attended the Spring Tournaments held at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island.

By competing throughout the year, Mary, Greg and Steve Smith of Waterford won three out of six seats in the Student Congress category of the National Catholic Forensic League final competition held over Memorial Weekend in Baltimore, Md.

Besides participating in the meet, the students were able to tour the city and join in with "Hands Across America" in downtown Baltimore.

For their work, Mary, Greg and Steve were each awarded the "Outstanding Debater Award" by the Detroit Free Press.

Chapman re-elected

Clifford K. Chapman of Clarkston High School was re-elected president of District 4 by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association (MSBOA) June 1.

District 4 includes Oakland and Livingston counties, excluding the area east of both 1-75 and M-24.

Chapman and other association officers were elected at the annual spring meeting at Michigan State University.

The association has nearly 1,600 members throughout the state and each year more than 100,000 students from 1,200 schools participate in MSBOA festivals.

Grads

William L. Lewis received his master's degree in business management and supervision on June 7 from Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

Lewis, who resides on Hillview Shores Drive in Independence Township, is a 1959 graduate of Avondale High School and a 1966 graduate of Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

He is employed by General Motors Truck and Bus as a Crosby Quality education system instructor.

Fifteen local students are among recent graduates of Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Three received masters' degrees: Robert Grimes of Curtis Lane majored in curriculum and instruction; Joanne Hiscox of Thendara Road majored in business administration; and Lisa Steele of Kingfisher Lane majored in telecommunication.

Twelve received bachelors' degrees: Donna Arpolka, who has a Clarkston post office box number, majored in criminal justice; Sandra Bullen of Kingfisher Lane majored in criminal justice; Ann Colwell of Princess Lane majored in elementary education; Janis Devlin of Eston Road majored in psychology; Lauren Greer of Tappon Drive majored in general business administration; James Holden of Balmoral Terrace majored in political science prelaw; Elizabeth Johns of Clement Road majored in audiology and speech; Cheryl Kraus of Waldon Road majored in marketing; Lisa Laurie of Reese Road majored in computer science; Edward McInnis of Kier Road majored in marketing; Joseph Stetz of Oakhill Road majored in telecommunication; and Annette Weber of Bridge Lake Road graduated with honors in merchandising management.

Iannelli-Anderson

Olga Anderson of Waterford and Gerald Anderson of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of Diane Iannelli of St. Joseph to their son John L. Anderson of St. Joseph.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Iannelli of St. Joseph.

John, a 1975 graduate of Clarkston High School, is employed by Volt Energies. Diane is a graduate of St. Joseph High School.

They plan to be married in September.

Mercy doctor honored

The residents in internal medicine at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, recently gave special praise to their instructor Michael Baker, M.D.

Following a vote by the residents, Baker won an award for excellence in teaching. The award, an engraved plaque, was presented at the hospital's House Staff Graduation ceremony on June 7.

Baker's office is located at 5825 M-15 in Independence Township. He resides in Brandon Township.

Bachelor's degrees were recently awarded to two Clarkston area residents by Michigan Technological University, Houghton.

Glenn Fugitt majored in mechanical engineering and Nancy Westlund majored in science and technical communications.

Mark Edward Reene was graduated with high distinction from the University of Michigan-Flint.

The Clarkston High School graduate received his bachelor's degree in business administration.

Jennifer Lee Rise was one of 664 seniors who graduated May 18 from Smith College, Northhampton, Mass.

Rise majored in modern European studies and minored in chemistry for her bachelor's degree. She attended Bowdoin College during her junior year and is a graduate of Kingswood School Cranbrook.

Her parents are Dr. and Mrs. Noel Rise of Deer Lake Court, Independence Township.

Nancy Anne Dennis has received her bachelor's degree in management from Saginaw Valley State College, University Center, Mich.

She resides on Holcomb Road in Independence Township.

O'Brien-Fortune

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Brien of Independence Township announce the engagement of their daughter Erin to Carl Fortune of Petoskey, the son of Mariene Fine of Grand Ledge and the late Edwin Fortune. The bride-to-be graduated from Clarkston High School in 1979 and from Oakland Community College. A certified medical assistant, she is employed by Burns Clinic of Petoskey. Her flance is employed by Pat McKeown Ford of Charlevolx. They plan to be married in August.

Although Spelbring's love of antiques shows in every room of the house, several pieces are more valuable to him than others.

"I appreciate the ones I've got that are from the family because they mean a lot more," he said. "Probably my favorite would be an old sea chest. . . . It's about four generations old. It's quite large. It takes two men to lift it—without anything in it. It's in its original state.'

(C. See - Chada - Not

Much of the furniture from his family has endured since they first homesteaded the land for their Indiana farms in 1826. Spelbring still has the original homestead certificates signed by presidents Andrew Jackson and Martin Van Buren, and his mother still owns the land.

"The original log home that was built in the 1820s is still standing and has been offered to Connor's Prarie Settlement near Indianapolis," he said. "They're contemplating moving it."

When Spelbring is not refinishing furniture or working as a social worker for Clarkston schools, he travels. He's been to most of Europe and has plans of returning. He's also traveled in the United States.

While pursuing an interest in historical events, he and his mother followed the trail of Civil War battles listed on his great-grandfather's certificate from

It was interesting, he said, because the trail of battles nevered veered more than 10 miles from I-75. Both the highway and the soldiers traveled the easiest

In addition to Spelbring's 20th century Tudor Revival house, the home tour includes the Lynn residence at 71 N. Main, the restored Green farmhouse moved to Main Street from Dixie Highway in 1984, the former Methodist Church on Buffalo Street that is now the residence of the Catallos, the Methodist parsonage owned by the Stern family on Church Street and the Basinger garden with a gazebo on Washington Street.

Saturday's tour begins at 7 p.m. and will run until 9 p.m. Registration will begin at 7 in the village parking lot at Main and Washington streets. A patrons' reception will follow at the Catallos' home on Buffalo Street. Tickets are $50 a person.

Sunday's tour begins at 1 p.m. and will run until 4 p.m. The $15-a-person tickets include a light lunch at the Clarkston Cafe on Main Street.

Transportation will be available for those who have difficulty walking.

Proceeds from the tour will go to Clarkston SCAMP, a five-week summer camp program for handicapped children and youth from the northern Oakland County area.

To purchase tickets, call Donna Kolisnyk at 625-8456 or SCAMP Home Tour at 625-3330.

The Spelbring residence on Wompole Drive was built by Al Wompole, who built all the older homes on the street as a hobby after he retired.

"Really wonderful" was the consensus when members of the Clarkston Community Women's Club were discussing the Bavarian Apple Torte recipe submitted to their cookbook by Kathy Jones of Clarkston.

BAVARIAN APPLE TORTE

Crust:

1/2 cup margarine

1/3 cup sugar

1/4 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup flour

Filling:

1 8-ounce package cream cheese

1/4 cup sugar

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Topping:

⅓ cup sugar

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

4 cups peeled, cored and sliced apples

(2 large)

1/4 cup sliced almonds

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Cream butter and sugar. Beat in vanilla. Blend in flour. Mixture will be crumbly. Pat into bottom and around sides of 9-inch spring form pan.

Prepare cheese filling. Beat together cream cheese and sugar. Add egg and vanilla, blending well. Pour into pastry lined pan and spread to Combine sugar and cinnamon. Toss apples in sugar mixture. Spoon apples over cream cheese layer; sprinkle with nuts.

Bake 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 400 degrees; continue baking for 25 minutes. Loosen torte from rim of pan. Cool before removing. Makes eight to 10 servings.

"Incredible Edibles" cookbook sales provide funds for community service projects of the Clarkston Community Women's Club.

The book, which costs $6, is for sale at the Independence Township Library, Village Bookstore, Carol's Village Grill, Gayanne's Floral Concept and Pontiac State Bank's downtown Clarkston branch.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PROCEEDINGS TO DETERMINE PUBLIC HIGHWAY

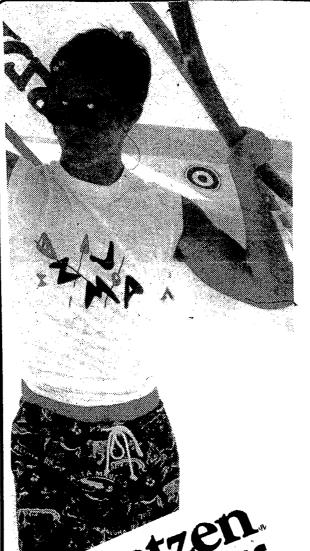

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Charter Township of Independence, acting upon Petition of 51% or more of the property owners along Meadowlawn Road, between Havelock and Princess, and upon the written consent of the Oakland County Board of Road Commissioners, has commenced a circuit court action, entitled the Complaint of the Charter Township of Independence for Adjudication that Meadowlawn Road, Between Havelock and Princess, is a Public Highway, Oakland County Circuit Court Case No. 86-312202-CZ, seeking a determination by the Court that Meadowlawn Road, between Havelock and Princess, in Independence Township, is a public highway. The road in question is situated in the northeast 1/4 of Section 29 of the Township.

An Order for Hearing was entered by the Court setting a hearing in the case for July 16, 1986 at 8:30 o'clock in the morning before the Honorable James S. Thorburn. At such hearing, if there are no objections to the Petition, the Court will be requested to enter judgment determining that Meadowlawn Road between Havelock and Princess is a public highway, and further determining the length and boundaries of such public highway.

A copy of the Complaint filed in the case may be examined at the offices of the Charter Township of Independence, 90 N. Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan.

Why do people take tranquilizers?

Dear Cat Paw:

Is tobacco a drug? I say no and my friend says yes. We have a dinner riding on this one.

Dear Hungry:

Get your money out, your friend wins. Tobacco is a drug. The addictive chemical, among 50 or so ingredients of tobacco, appears to be nicotine.

The cigarette rushes the drug to the brain, puff after puff faster than mainlined heroin.

Each cigarette is capable of 10 doses, and it's estimated that the pack-a-day smoker gets 70,000 "hits" per day

Tobacco is extremely addictive. People know that cigarettes are deadly in the long run, still millions of people go on abusing their bodies with tobacco because they can't stop.

Dear Cat Paw:

Why do people take tranquilizers?

Wondering

Dear Wondering:

Tranquilizers are usually used to relax, or relieve tension, to get to sleep, to relieve pain and frequently to escape reality.

Dear Cat Paw:

Why do kids bend to peer pressure and start using drugs?

Concerned Parent

Dear Parent:

There are several reasons. The main reason is probably because they want to be accepted by their

Another reason is that we don't teach children how to make a decision. Decisions are made for children all the time. Children who haven't learned to decide for themselves are vulnerable to pressure.

Why don't you pick up a book at the library and become informed?

Can yellow-jackes and red-birds make you act

Dear Friend:

Yellow-jackets and red-birds are slang names for Nembutal and Seconal-both barbiturates. They are capable of causing hallucinations and bizarre actions.

Dear Cat Paw:

How do you keep up with the drug jargon and why does it keep changing?

Dear Adult:

Drug slang changes. New drugs demand new words. My main source of drug slang is a book entitled "Drugs from A to Z" by Richard R. Lingeman.

Doing London

That's Victoria Tower, left, the Palace of Westminster (House of Parliament) with the scaffolding, and Big Ben. Pollution has turned the stone black on many buildings. This scaffolding is for sandblasters.

At least from our point of view

I'd like to have the scaffold concession for London. Whoever has it must make a mint.

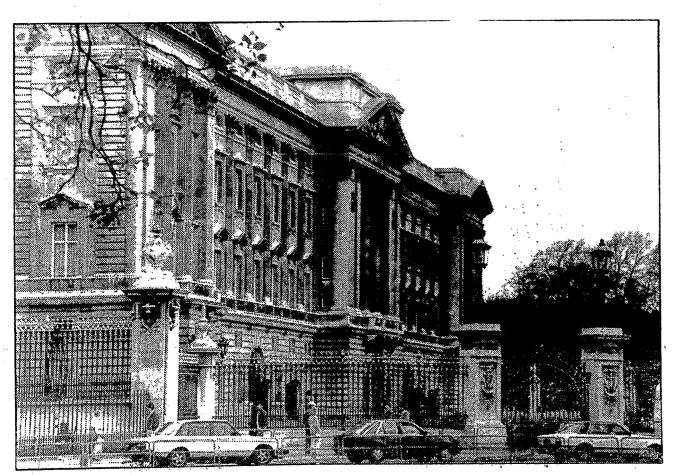

A person shouldn't include an entire city in his remarks when he only sees a small portion, but London appears to be under a total rebuilding program.

The House of Parliament, several embassies, even Harrods is scaffolded. I hasten to add, rebuilding is not the only reason for the scaffolding. Much of it has to do with cleaning. Seems modern day pollution has blackened the centuries-old stone.

Hazel and I took a 3-hour taxi tour of London's historic places, walked one of the main shopping districts for 7 hours, and sat in front of a pub and people watched for an hour. The latter was as enjoyable as the rest.

Londoners would say we didn't really see their town, but we saw what most tourists see.

London is a giant of a town (biggest in the world, with extensions, at 3,070 sq. miles), and it has over and under ground transportation that makes getting around easy. Too, there are numerous information centers, in case a helpful citizen doesn't speak English.

Buckingham Palace. The top of the iron fence is gilted.

The train station we arrived at is three and a half miles from our hotel. We took a double-decker bus one way and subway the return, both with unbelievable ease.

There are 8.5 million residents in London and 3 million more tourists and businesspeople. If they don't like the public transportation there are thousands of lookalike taxies. However, we were surprised at the large number of private cars on the streets.

Apparently the narrow streets and constant congestion doesn't discourage drivers. Either that or they have as much patience as their reputation indicates.

London was a side trip between eight days of golfing and touring Scotland and 4 days in Ireland. We planned it ahead with reservations at Kensington South, a hotel that is, you guessed it, being renovated.

Friends had told us to not drive into London, but park our car at a railroad station north of town and take a train. We parked 5 hours away in Preston, a working man's town north of Liverpool, where everything around the station is being rebuilt.

We enjoyed the train ride both ways, and were fascinated by the freight canal that kept crisscrossing under the rails.

It appeared only McDonalds, Kentucky Fried and some pizza parlors were open when we arrived in midafternoon Sunday. With several hours of daylight left, we took advantage of the hotel travel corner and hired a taxi for a "half-day London" (3-hour) tour.

The driver was Julio Hernandez, and that's about as British as you get, it sometimes seems. Julio came to London 20 years ago from the Canary Islands. He wasn't always easy to understand. The large car price is 44 pounds, $71. London isn't cheap, as we'll point out from time to time. Our very modest hotel room, off the main drag, was $110 a night.

Julio took us down a dead end street to show us where Winston Churchill died, 28 Hyde Park Gate. We circled Hyde Park. On one corner, called the speaker's corner, a person can speak from their soapbox on anything except God and the Queen. The driver said many of the talks were on Africa.

Along the outside of a Hyde Park fence artists and concessionaires are lined for 2 miles selling and displaying.

The Hyde Park area (Prince Charles' home, Kensington Palace) is in Hyde Park) is expensive. Apartments across the road go for $1100 to $1700 a week. A hotel, Inn-on-the-Park, costs $232 a night.

We stopped by Buckingham Palace for several minutes while I took pictures. We missed changing of the guard, an 11 a.m. ceremony. Many people peer through the high, gilted, wrought iron fence surrounding the palace. We were told the queen was absent because the flag wasn't flying.

In front of the Palace is a large cemented area with a Queen Victoria memorial; the guard called it the wedding cake. It's really a great work of sculpture, or several works, and gilted. Like many homes of leaders, the Palace is surrounded by a public park.

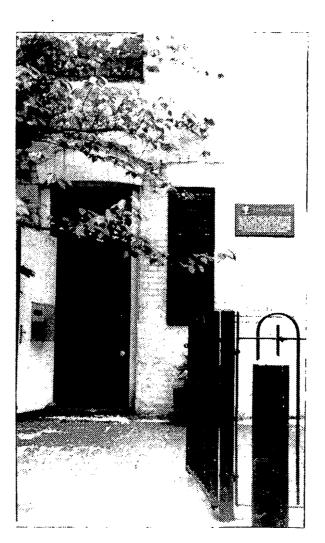

Another tourist stop is Westminster Cathedral. You know the one? It was built in 1894 and seats 2,000.

Close by is Westminster Abbey. We were allowed to go in, but not into the main chapel, and no photographs, please. The area we could peruse has the burials in the floor and donation pots in various places.

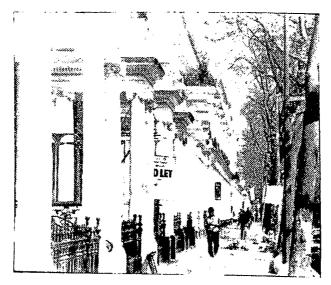

Money is asked for restoration.

According to our guide, and our elementary history books, King Henry the 8th built Westminster Abbey in 1067 when he started the Church of England... which he did so he could re-marry without beheading his first wife. The facility is impressive in antiquity and ornateness

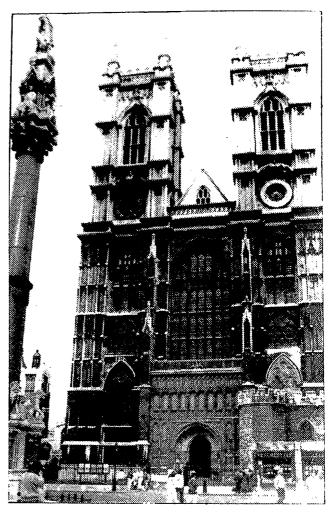

It was then on to the House of Parliament, also called

House of Commons, and Big Ben. Julio said Big Ben and Parliament were built on the Thames from stone from Ireland. The clock weighs 14 ton.

Enroute to Tower Bridge the guide inched his way along some narrow streets until he found Bear Gardens Museum, where in 1662-68 William Shakespeare performed on stage.

We drove by the Tower of London where the crown jewels are supposedly kept 3 stories underground. It was the home of Henry the 8th, a jail, and now a museum.

Julio took us for a short ride in what he said is referred to as the "City of London". It's a 2-square-mile area with 5,000 banks . . . he said. The driver also said there are 72,000 restaurants in London where you can get abite or a meal.

Monday was our day to walk, and what a terrific day it was. Bright sun, 75 degrees, flowers in full bloom. Gorgeous. We walked by Hyde Park, then south on Queen's Gate to Brompton, and east.

For some of our music loving friends, a picture of The Royal College of Organists, white trimmed in red.

We were enthralled with the sheep grazing on hillsides everywhere in Scotland. Here's three going up a hill path along side a stream not far from Gleneagles. Forty five miles from this area there is snow on the mountains and skiing in early May. It's one of the gorgeous views from the golf course.

We went into the museum of natural history, and Victoria and Albert Museum. Huge places. Then into the shopping district. We did a lot of window shopping, mostly with our hands on our wallets.

Prices are high. So are rents. A rule of thumb on renting shop space on Brompton is 200 pounds ($370) a square foot for the first 20 feet off Brompton ($15 to $20 is common in our cities). One small shoe store we asked about pays $75,000 a year rent. They had men's shoes is the window for $900.

$500 sweaters were not uncommon, nor were $9,000 watches, and $600 sport coats.

Hazel looked into some antique stores, but didn't see anything like she collects . . . thank goodness.

The Brompton-Kensington shopping area was busy, and outdoor cafes were full. We stopped in front of Tatter's pub and sipped wine for over an hour (our feet were tired). I talked to a bartender about rents and he brought out a real estate book.

It showed numerous places for sale in the area, most of them for a specific number of years. Like, you can buy a 4,200 sq. ft. place for 985,000 pounds (about a mil and a half), but after 64 years it reverts to whoever you bought it from.

A 5th floor, 2-bedroom apartment overlooking Hyde Park is $225,000 and you have it for 75 years.

Mostly at Tatters we people watched, and made the same observation we've made here, people sure can look beautiful...and weird.

It was certainly apparent London is an international city. We heard few British accents. Clerks seemed from everywhere except England and the United States. A great many were from the Middle and Far East. The number from the Middle East sort of made us wary considering current world conditions.

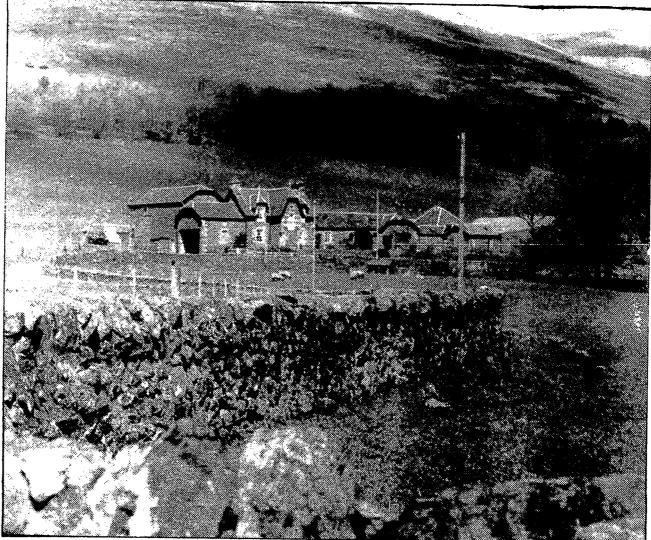

The day's walk wore on us 60-year-olds. I wondered to myself how to prepare for it, and concluded taking off 20 years was the answer.

Of course, we did Harrods, the world's largest department store. We did not do all four floors. No need to look at furniture. We did do toys, which could probably take one day in itself. Harrods brags about having every-

London is the home of the punk look, we're told. These four were not far from Harrods. The look shook our camera.

We took part of three days to drive the back, one lane, roads in Scotland. So many scenes were typical of what we've seen of Scotland, it was difficult picking one. This is sort of typical, though perhaps the housing is larger than most. The stone fences, trimmed hedges, and grazing sheep are everywhere.

Walking the streets is fun, but, oh! so tiring thing, and they probably do, including prices. I'd say they are at least 25 percent higher than, say Hudsons.

Our walking, particularly side streets, took us by rows and rows of columned buildings. Many had name-plates near the doors, nameplates of embassies such as Iraq, Pakistan and smaller countries. I guess I expected all embassies to be single buildings with stately looks.

We did not do any fancy eating in London. No name places, unless it was the tea room in the Thistle Hotel across from Hyde Park. That's kind of fancy.

We left London very pleased with our decision to go there. Seeing firsthand all the buildings the history books of our youth mentioned was interesting, even a little exciting.

Of course, many are in the daily news now. We're glad we went and saw Fleet Street where over 20 international papers are published, theater district with some 50 theaters in a small area, Albert Memorial with the cross on top facing the wrong direction, Shell and Mobil oil company complexes, and the people and the shops.

We won't miss the renovations.

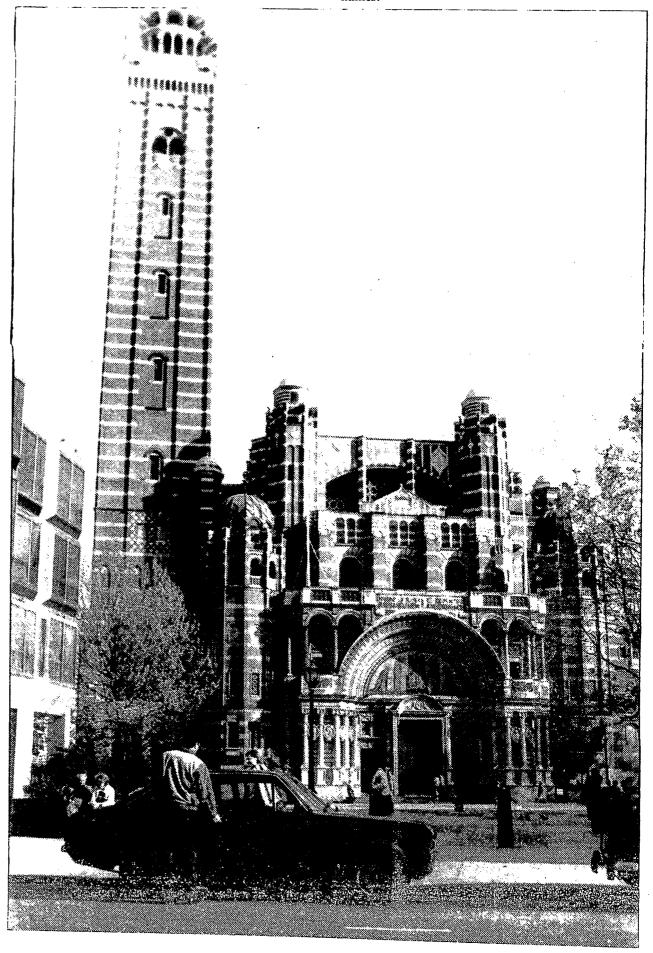

Tower Bridge, the last bridge over the Thames before it reaches the English Channel. It's a pretty bridge, trimmed in baby blue. The building to the left is a modern looking hotel.

Not an uncommon site on one of the busiest shopping corners in London, a punk-look biker. You can't see his tattoos, but he and many his age, boys and girls, wear tattoos in London.

Many pubs in the United Kingdom have great sounding names, like this one in London, The Bunch of Grapes. "Fox" and "Barrel" are used in many names.

Winchester Cathedral with its 200-ft tower alongside. It's hard to get back far enough to get it all in a picture, hence the parallax.

SEARCH continues at high school

SEARCH, an acronym for Support Education Awarness Resources for Chemically-free Health, began this year at the high school through the efforts of teachers Katie MacKay and Linc Smith.

Mackay and Smith will continue coordinating the program this summer.

'We thought that summer was a high risk time for substance usage among adolescents and adults, (and) if Clarkston schools was going to make it a high priority for nine months of the year that it should continue the rest of the year," said MacKay. "We were fortunate enough that the school district felt the same

The drop-in center for adolescents or parents who feel they need more information or someone to talk to will be open from noon to 4 p.m. Tuesdays and noon to 3 p.m. Wednesdays.

The parents' group will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesdays, and the after-care group for students will meet at 3 p.m. Wednesdays.

A kickoff picnic for the activities portion of the program is planned Tuesday, July 8. Plans for specific events for 10th-through 12th-graders such as softball, horseback riding and canoeing will be discussed then.

"A lot of kids feel that Clarkston is isolated with nothing to do and we want to offer some alternative to being bored, therefore turning to substance abuse," said MacKay.

'One thing that we're trying to promote is there is a good number of kids who aren't using substances and to start giving them some attention," she added.

For more information on the summer SEARCH program, call CHS at 625-0900 on Tuesdays from noon to 4 p.m. or on Wednesdays from noon to 3 p.m.

Resident reports bogus group

A Clarkston resident reported receiving a phone call from an apparently bogus police organization soliciting funds last week.

Theresa Hund said her husband got a call from someone representing the "Clarkston Police Association." The caller asked for contributions to help the police videotape children as a safety precaution.

Hund realized there is no such association and contacted the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Lt. Glenn R. Watson confirmed that the organization does not exist and said the department does not endorse any soliciting over the phone.

49 adults receive their diplomas

By Julie LePere

Not everyone graduates from high school when he

Some wait until they're 20 or even 61, as was the case last Wednesday when 49 students received diplomas in a ceremony separate from the other 469 Clarkston High School graduates.

The fourth annual adult and alternative education graduation ceremony was held in the filled-tocapacity CHS Little Theatre.

The graduates were in the program for many different reasons. Some of them shared their thoughts at the ceremony.

"I'm the old man of the group," said 61-year-old

Edgar Dowd. ". . . I've been out of school for over 40 years. I asked myself, 'Could I handle something like this?' "

He found he could handle it just fine. Lacking only five credits, he completed the required classes and turned up Wednesday wearing a cap and gown.

"I have to thank my wife for telling me, 'No. you're not staying home tonight, you're going to school,' " he said.

The next speaker, Tom Haworth said, "It is hard to put my feelings into words, but all I feel is the feeling of accomplishment."

And Bill Lythgoe felt the same.

"This is a special day," he said. "This diploma isn't the end for me. It is just the beginning, hopefully a beginning to further my education in the field of

And Ellen Pash couldn't believe she made it.

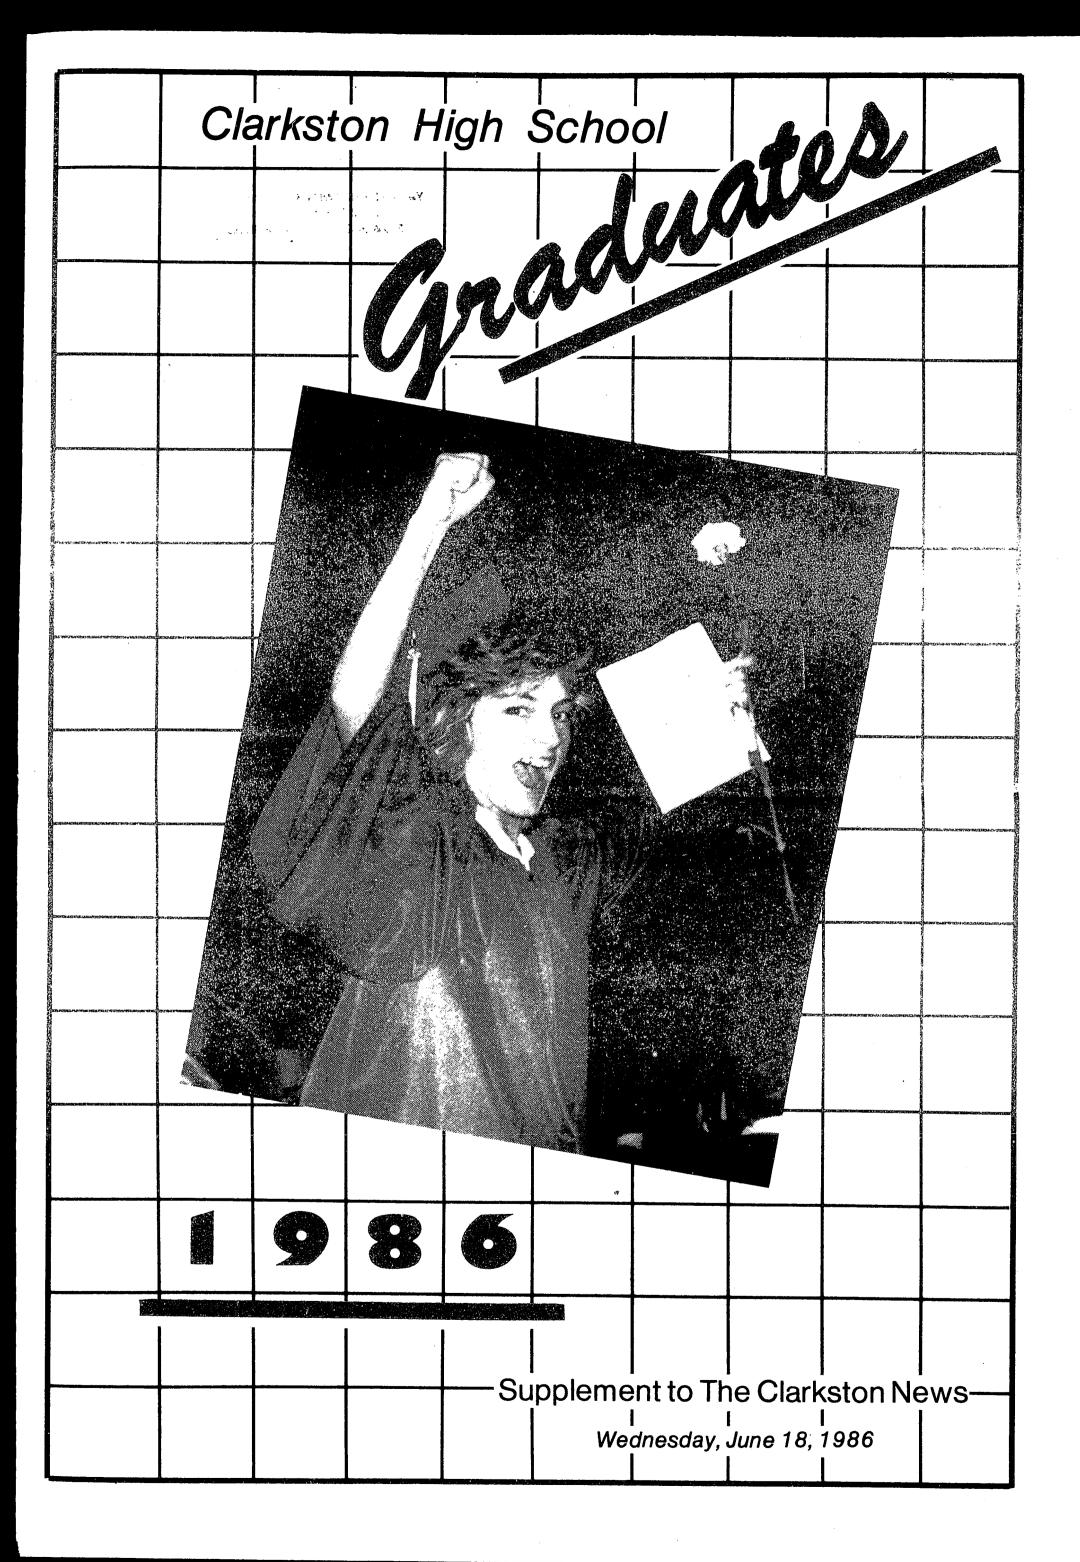

"I didn't want to come back to school," she said through tears and encouragement from her fellow grads. "I had twins. . . . But, if I didn't finish school, how could I expect my kids to? . . . I've decided this isn't the end. This is the beginning. I'm going to (Oakland Community) college in January.

The class of 1986 includes: Deborah Ann Alonzi, Matt J. Batzloff, Pamela Jean Bennett, Clifford T. Buckmaster, Christopher J. Cantley, Mary Ann Charest, James Edward Cheek, Bonnie J. Corby, Sheryl Lyn Couture, Steven Gerald Cudejko, Daniel Defore, Lisa Marie Dettore, Edgar J. Dowd, Sandra Kay Drew, Rose Marie Field, Cindy Marie Garner, Michelle M. Giacalone, Paula Anita Hamby, Thomas R. Haworth, David Ray Hayward, Joy Ann Jidas, Patricia Jean Kett, Cynthia Leigh Kidd, Timothy Paul Kinkle, Dawn Joyce Kovary, Kelli Jean Lane, Shelley Marie Lawless, William Pereira Lythgoe, Heidi Lynn Margetson, Jeffrey Bowen McLintock, Lana Reneee MacDonald, Marielle Jean Miller, Ellen Marie Pash, Lisa I. Perria, Peter Michael Preseau, Rickie Lou Profitt, Kristi Kay Reitano, Thomas Louis Self, Rose Marie (Griffin) Sparkman, Rodrick Stanley, Carolyn Clarisa Brown Stuetzer, Rebecca Lynn Taylor, April L. Tinsler, Rebecca Ann VanOvermeer, Joseph Robert Wilder, and James Mark Williams.

A graduate talks during the reception with Ginny Farmer, adult education coordinator. The ceremony was held in the packed Little Theatre at Clarkston High School.
