The wheels of government are slowly turning toward installing a full traffic light signal at Main Street and Waldon Road in downtown Clarkston.

"In concept, it has been approved. We have the indication if some of the minor geometrics could be made, we would be willing to signal that intersection," said Paul Riley, district traffic engineer for the State Highway Department.

Highway department employees are in the process of preparing a drawing to present to the Clarkston Village Council, he said.

The geometrics include the widening of Main and Waldon at the intersection.

A few parking spaces on the west side of Main Street may have to be eliminated to allow left turns onto Waldon with enough space for southbound traffic to pass on the right, Riley said.

In addition, a portion of the hill in front of Tierra [See MAIN-WALDON, Page 2]

Communication problem cited in Rohroff death

Teachers absent; no ratification

About 120 teachers were absent Monday night from the Clarkston Education Association's general meeting, and the result was too few votes to ratify the tentative teachers' contract.

"Our constitution says for a contract to be approved or rejected, it must be with an affirmative vote of the majority of the membership," said CEA president Allen Bartlett.

Hoping that teachers will be back from vacations, the CEA has scheduled another meeting on Monday, Aug. 25. School is to begin for teachers on Tuesday and for students on Wednesday, Aug. 27. Although Bartlett would not say what the vote was among the teachers present, he did say the majority was affirmative.

The CEA represents the 292 teachers in the Clarkston school district.

The tentative three-year contract was approved by negotiating teams representing the teachers and the school board after a weekend bargaining session that ended Aug. 4.

Following ratification by CEA members, the contract must be approved by the board of education. The present teachers' contract expires at the end of August.

Parade pitch

Attention paraders-to-be: It's not too late to sign up for the Clarkston Labor Day Parade.

Float builders, marchers, riders, musicians, classic car owners—one and all can still sign up, said Gerald McNally, parade chairperson for the sponsoring Clarkston Rotary Club.

The theme for the Monday, Sept. 1, parade is "Salute to Independence." Parade time is the usual 10 a.m. and the parade route follows standard procedure—beginning at Clarkston Junior High School, west on Church Street, north on Main and ending at Miller Road.

For a registration form, call McNally at 625-4997 during business hours or write to him in care of 52nd District Court, 5850 Lorac Dr., Clarkston, MI 48016. 2 Wed., Aug. 20, 1980 The Clarkston (Mich.) News

John jams-traffic

When Elton John canceled last Friday's performance at Pine Knob Music Theatre, it caused a bit of a traffic problem.

The cancellation announcement, because of laryngitis, came at about 7:30 p.m. The Lions-Seahawks football game at the Silverdome was scheduled for 8 p.m. and that caused a jam in the 1-75 Sashabaw area.

"It was a little congested." said Debble Barno, promoting and publicity director at the Knob. "We didn't have any major problems, it went smoothly."

About one-quarter of the crowd was in the theater when the announcement was made; so there was both incoming and outgoing traffic into the parking lot.

"I know they had some traffic problems, but I'm not aware of any accidents," said Sgt. Jeff Reem of the Michigan State Police.

John also had to postpone Saturday's show.

"I don't think there was much of a problem on Saturday to my knowledge because the concert was canceled earlier in the day," said Reem. "I saw the concert (on Sunday) and there was no problem."

John made up Friday's show on Monday and will make up Saturday's concert this coming Monday at 8 p.m.

Try out for play

Auditions for the Clarkston Village Players' first play of the season are scheduled Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 25 and 26.

The casting sessions for Agatha Christie's "A Murder Is Announced" will be held at the Depot Theatre on White Lake Road at 7:30 p.m.

New members are welcome. Verne Vackero is directing the mystery. Play dates are Oct. 24, 25 and 31 and Nov. 1, 7, and 8.

Rohroff drowned, said Johnson. Neither of his two life preserver air pockets had been inflated, which he would have had to do by pulling cords. He did not rise after hitting the water.

Despite differing media reports, there is no evidence that his lungs collapsed, he said.

The 23-year-old Springfield Township resident joined the National Guard after his discharge from the United States Army's 82nd Airborne Division last September.

Rohroff's family will be compensated by his Servicemen Group Life Insurance Policy, which is commonly about $50,000, said Johnson. The military must first verify the death and verify the beneficiary before payment is made.

The military is trying to solve the communication problem, said Johnson, but "We have not put a freeze on training."

Riley said it was too early in the planning stages to determine a precise installation date and stressed that the project has yet to win full approval.

"If it goes in, it would probably be next year," he said.

Citizens speak out at safety hearing

By Carolyn Walker

Soft-spoken paperboy Matt Conlen drew a round "of applause as he expressed his views with those of 14 adults at a safety path public hearing last week.

Matt stepped to a microphone before a crowd of about 30 and put into words what was on the minds of many of those who were present: Safety.

"I ride on the edge of the road as far as I can so I won't get hit," he said. "I get honked at. They (drivers) yell at me and tell me to get off the road. I don't like it.'

The Aug. 13 hearing, held by the state Department of Natural Resources at the Independence Township hall annex, was convened at the request of resident Neil Wallace. When a hearing is requested, one must be held before a DNR permit can be issued for a project.

Its purpose was to address citizens' concerns about wetlands along a safety path route proposed for Clarkston Road.

The 1,350-foot path has been hotly debated for several months, although it was given formal approval by township officials in July.

While many at the hearing agreed with Matt and expressed concerns about the safety of cyclists and pedestrians who must now use the road, others said

"The wetlands serve a function. The safety path is not so important, it seems to me. that we must risk the . . . beauty . . . and wildlife it harbors.

the construction of a safety path would damage 25 acres of wetlands at the site near Parke Lake.

FLEA MARKET PREVIEW: Three members of the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center gather with a few of the items for the annual Flea Market. The sale is planned Friday and Saturday, Aug. 22 and 23, at the center on Clarkston Road in Clintonwood Park, between Sashabaw Road and M-15. Hot dogs and ice cream will be sold as well. Hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. both dates. There will be at least 15 tables. Posing, from left, are Sally Miller, Virginia Rotta and Eleanor Kerzka.

... beauty ... and wildlife it harbors."

Tom Boyd, also a Clarkston Road homeowner, agreed with Wallace and asked if any DNR consideration had been given to an artesian well, the natural flow of the Clinton River and water that flows under the road from the north side of the road.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Aug. 20, 1986 3

Those three matters were presented to him 22 years ago by the DNR when he proposed filling acreage at the site, he said.

"I feel this is a serious problem that has many negative . . . consequences," said Boyd. "I don't think this problem has been seriously studied."

Others in the audience, however, said the wetland problem could be solved without compromising the safety path project.

"If we have a problem there, let's address it," said Dick Greenfield, a Robertson Court resident and member of the township safety path committee.

Gerald McNally, a township resident and 52nd District Court Judge, said the township could be liable in an injury should the path be constructed on the north side of the road as some have requested.

Such a move would require residents to cross the road to get to the township library and an existing sidewalk near the village limits.

McNally compared it to putting a diving board at the shallow end of a pool.

"I would suggest to you that if they should put a bike path on (the north side) you're creating a dangerous situation," he said, endorsing the path's proposed connection to the township library.

"Unless we can get to it, (the library) doesn't do any good," McNally said.

Paul VanKlaveren, chairman of the safety path committee, told the two-man DNR board that the committee had seriously studied five alternate routes as well as other considerations before proposing the route on the south side of Clarkston Road.

"This has not been a haphazard project," he said.

"This is the last important link of our safety path," said Church Street resident Mel Vaara. "It is a safety problem.'

Brooks Williamson, DNR representative for Oakland County and Barry Horney, supervisor of the land resource programs division of the DNR's Pontiac district, comprised the DNR hearing board.

They made no comment during the meeting but said afterward that residents may submit written statements for 15 days (from Aug. 13) before they will consider whether or not to issue the project a DNR permit.

It could take approximately 60 days for the two men to reach a final decision, Williamson said.

Citizens wishing to make written comments should send their letters to: Department of Natural Resources, 2455 N. Williams Lake Rd., Pontiac, MI 48054. Writers should note a reference to file 86-14-460 on their letters.

The approval was tentative subject to wording of judgment.

A day-long search for an 11-year-old Springfield Township boy ended when he was found unharmed on Dixie Highway last Friday night.

The boy had run away from home Thursday morning, according to Det. Sgt. Anthony Velat of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

An extensive search involving dog units and a helicopter was conducted Friday morning and after-

The dog and helicopter searches had been discontinued when Deputy Steve Pearson spotted the boy on Dixie near Tim's Towing at about 6:30 p.m., said Velat.

According to Velat, the boy ran away because he hadn't been getting along with his parents. He ran away from an uncle who saw him on Thursday afternoon, said Velat.

'He just didn't want to get caught," Velat said. "His stubborness made it difficult. He had his mind set on one thing."

The boy was gone for about 32 hours. The searchers included two county canine units plus two from the state police and four from Lapeer and Oxford, along with a helicopter from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

The Metro Girl Scouts had originally made the request in April. The organization wanted the acreage, bordered by Hillsboro Road and Crosby Lake Road, to be rezoned from recreational to residential. That request was rejected 3-2 by the board.

"There was a camp there, but it hasn't been used for quite some time," said Bill Reddish, director of property and purchasing for the Girl Scouts Council. "It needs to be zoned residential to dispose of it," said Reddish.

The Girl Scouts filed a suit against the township and named Supervisor Collin Walls, Treasurer Pat Kramer and Trustee William Whitley in the suit. Those three voted against the request.

A consent judgment was then made out of court, which will give the Girl Scouts Council its rezoning. According to Reddish, the property has already been sold for residential use, but he would not disclose any details of the purchase agreement.

The Davis family's roots began in Springfield Township in 1836 with Cornelius Davis, the first settler. The township's 150th anniversary this year celebrates that beginning, and among the community's treasures is the John Harvey Davis house, built in 1879, and now a museum operated by the township's historical society. Members of the Davis family visited the home Sunday during their 100th reunion celebration. The gathering was acknowledged by the Michigan Sesquicentennial Commission as it gears up for the state's 150th anniversary in 1987.

Davis-Loose-Erwin clan meets for reunion No. 100

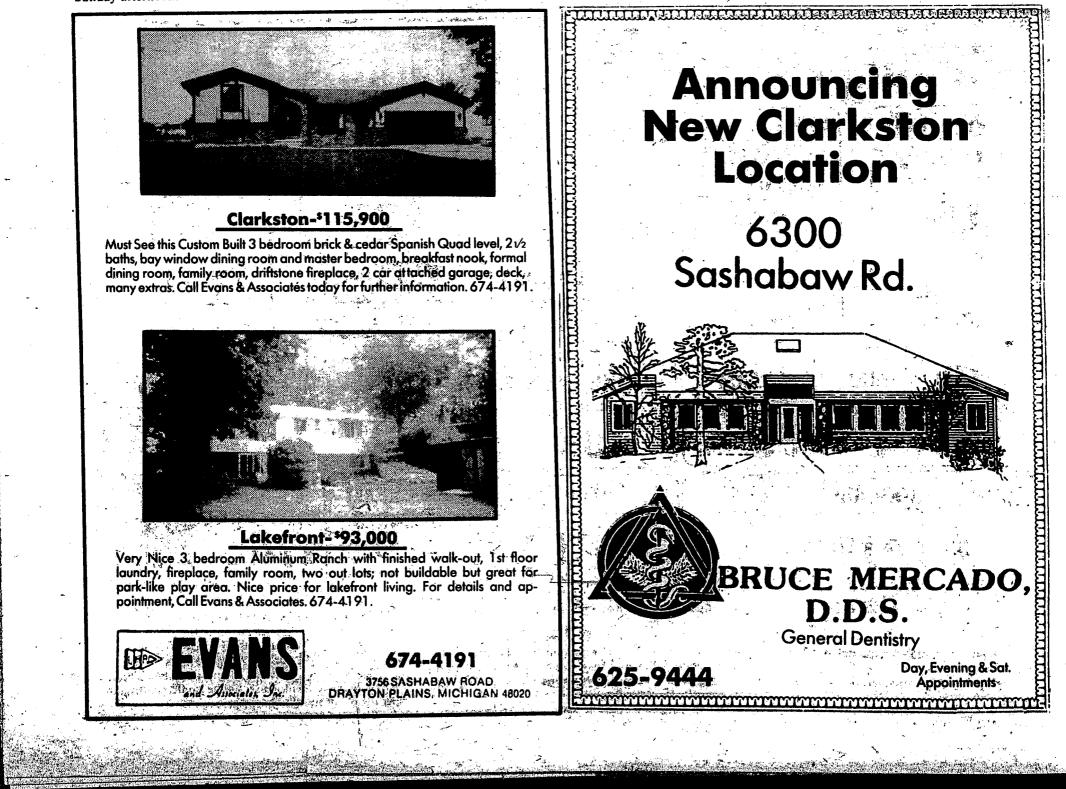

By Kathy Greenfield

The cousins, both great-great-grandchildren of Jerome Davis, stood chatting outside the historic James Harvey Davis house in Springfield Township on Sunday afternoon. Their talk, appropriately, settled on relatives, while the Davis house provided a backdrop for the 100th reunion conversation.

Marilyn Limberg of Seymour, Wisc., and Naomi Dunston of Ann Arbor hadn't-been to a Davis-LooseErwin family reunion since they were children.

The women had just completed a tour of the Davis house, built in 1879.

"It's kind of neat. You walk in and say. 'Gee, [See DAKIS, Page 5]

Davis family celebrates its roots

the affair, it was a day for touching roots. The oldest celebrator was 93-year-old Mrs. John

S. (Betty) Davis; the youngest, a month-old baby related to Donald Davis.

The day began with a service at the Davisburg United Methodist Church. A picnic lunch catered by the church women followed at the Springfield Oaks County Park Activities Center, and the Springfield Township Historical Society kept the Davis house on Andersonville Road open for tours.

All locations were significant in the family's history, said reunion president Judson Davis of His great-grandfather John C. Davis, Davisburg postmaster and builder of the Davisburg Mill, donated the land for the church and parsonage.

The 180 acres that make up the golf course and the original park area of Springfield Oaks were donated by Manley Davis in 1926 at his father Daniel's suggestion. The park system recognized the donation by allowing the family to gather there without paying a rental fee.

Judson Davis and his wife Marjorie provided most of the family history on display, which included family films, working materials for a family history book and copies of the extensive family tree.

A time capsule was supposed to be buried during the reunion, but it was decided to wait a month to allow family members more time to write letters to future generations.

Also in the capsule will be newspaper articles about the family, the family tree, a mailing list and the Davis Family Cookbook.

Plans are to open the capsule in 25 years—during the year 2011-

Davis has been president of the reunion for 32 years. He remembers the postcard announcing the get-together received by his father the year after he and Marjorie were married, and the decision to attend.

"Son of a gun if I didn't get nominated president. Been that ever since," he said. "It's been fun."

Youth donation

Springfield Township will contribute $1,200 to the Holly Youth Assistance, it was decided at the township board meeting.

The Youth Assistance group offers programs geared at the prevention of juvenile delinquency including counseling.

Path fight Opinions should end

Safety paths have been the topic of squabbles in Independence Township ever since their construction began. In the planning stages, maps were drawn showing an ideal situation with paths providing safe links along virtually every main road. There was talk of requiring developers to include safety paths in their construction.

It was a worthy dream; and in 1980, township voters approved a 10-year one-half mill tax to fund paths.

Reality struck when residents along main roads began to balk at paths through their front yards.

Battles ensued, mostly quiet ones settled out of the public eye. But planners and the township board began taking the path of least resistance, and most paths were built where there were no houses.

Patches of paths here and there became the reality. People began to wonder why the paths weren't linked together.

Then the wonder turned to the specific. [See SAFETY, Page 7]

The flurry of back-to-school activities has taken a new direction at our house.

Instead of shopping for some clothes and maybe shoes, with two going away to college we're shopping for virtually every everyday item.

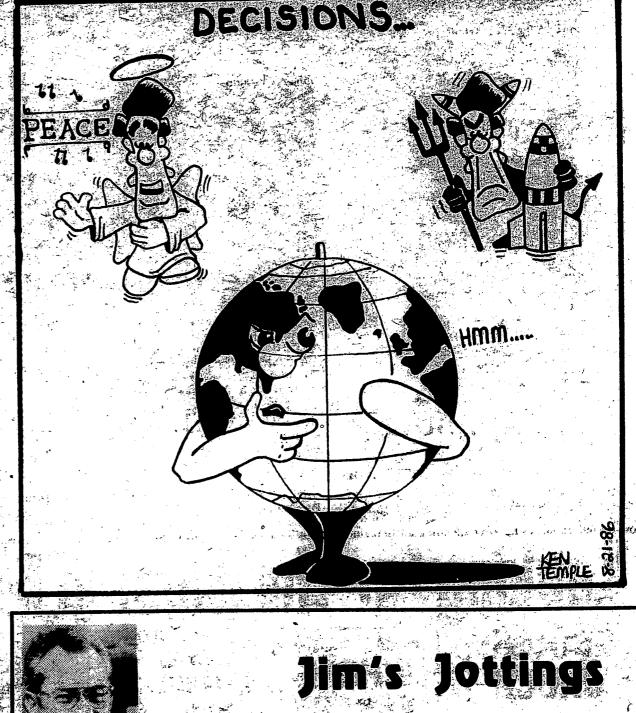

Towels, sheets, laundry soap, toothpaste, laundry basket, bath soap, aspirin, shampoo, and so on, have been added to the list.

Instead of only asking such questions as "How's your sock supply?" or "Do you need a sweater?" we're saying, "You have to have a soap dish," "You'll need enough underwear for two weeks" and "What kind of shampoo do you want?"

Logically, four people using supplies in one location should be roughly equal to four people using these things in three locations. Realistically, this isn't the case; and I still haven't figured out why.

Last year, with one at college, our food expenses did not vary. We still had plenty of laundry to wash. We had to shop for bathroom supplies on a regular basis. And the electric bill went up, and so did the gas bill. I'm trying to forget what happened to

LADA PARTICIPAL TRANSFER

We, as residents of Independence Township, are so fortunate to have picturesque parks and community participation Numerous comments from "out-of-towners" and

"in-towners" were received the evening of the sesquicentennial ice cream social and historic car miniconcours in the Village Park.

Even the servers, with chocolate ice cream up to their elbows, throroughly enjoyed the event. The entire weekend wouldn't have been such a success without the participation of the Church Street Singers on Friday evening, the fire department for conducting the vintage car parade, the Optimist Club and the Jaycees for selling souvenir and raffle tickets, not the mention the ever-faithful volunteers of our council and the excellent publicity we've received. This event so typifies our historic community and we're pleased so many of your joined in its 150th celebration. With more fund-raising events and donations. we'll be able to leave a lasting momento to Independence Township this year.

Thus, the Clarkston Road safety path battle began and it's been rumbling for years

The issue of liability if someone was injured on the path was raised. The issue of an earlier board decision not to build the path was raised. And so on.

Most recently, the issue of wetlands preservation has been tossed in.

Make no mistake: We're strongly in favor of protecting wetlands, but we're equally sure that, in this case, steps can be taken to during path construction to maintain the wetlands. We're glad the Michigan Department of Natural Resources is involved, for they will make sure such steps are taken. And we're getting weary of the Clarkston

Road safety path battle. While we understand how traumatic change can be, we can't quite muster major concern over the Clarkston Road residents' front yards.

They chose to live on a major road. Easements are part of their property And, as anyone who lives alongside a sidewalk can tell you, there's nothing awful about them. In fact, saying hello to passersby is rather pleasant; and you never have to walk in yards or the road to get where you want to go on foot,

It's time for this battle to end.

They believed he mentioned the royal relationship to influence potential customers impressed by doing business with a prince Michael is now out of the weapons business and on the water. After 1 promised not to reveal his name, the agent said the biggest reason for guarding the close relatives of any president was the fear of kidnapping by terrorists. Certainly President Reagan would treat the kidnapping of Michael Reagan in the same hardheaded manner as the kidnapping of Terry Anderson. So why spend thousands of dollars guarding presidential relatives if terrorists know it wouldn't do any good to kidnap them.

can't we do the same thing? If I were the father of Anderson, it would make me feel a lot better about taxpayers paying thousand of dollars to protect, power-boating Michael Reagan from being

Magical memory

Carolyn Walker

The magic of the stars has not dimmed with the passing of time-at least not in my mind. I have eyed the Big Dipper and its partners from various points across the United States. From in front of my long-deceased grandmother's house, from a hill at Girl Scout camp, from car windows on cold winter nights and from the back of a truck bed as a child on a hayride with my best friend.

Always I looked at them with a deep awareness of something powerful, pervasive, eternal, unexplainable.

Every time, I paused to wonder. And to think about how the stars have stimulated the curiosity of mankind through they ages.

I've considered the fact that they are the link between the past, the present and the future.

They've covered native Americans forging a hard livelihood from the land, just as they do me.

They've shone down on relatives I never knew. Loomed around men and women who braved to join them in space.

They are forever.

On Tuesday night, I found myself marveling at them again, this time with my teenage daughter, who wanted to see a shooting star.

We parked ourselves with pillows and blankets on the balcony of our house and waited, surrounded by the soft restlessness of night and occasional passing cars.

Have you ever seen one, a shooting star, she

Yes, when I was little.

Describe one so I'll know what to look for, she went on, her eyes scouring the sky.

Now there's a task, I thought.

How do you describe a shooting star: A flash of light in heaven? A ball with a tail on it? A carriage for your wishes?

Collecting my thoughts, I began by telling her that I thought God had a great plan when he decided to put stars in the sky. Their simple beauty is there for us no matter the conditions on earth. A reminder of God's patience and endurance.

How do you know God did it, she then asked, relating to me the Big Bang Theory espoused in schools and including in her description definitions of asteroids, black holes and dying suns.

We laughed as I joked, "In the beginning there was the Big Bang . .

It sounded so absurd.

My description was woefully inadequate: A shooting star is a streak of life across the sky, I said, evidence of greater things in heaven.

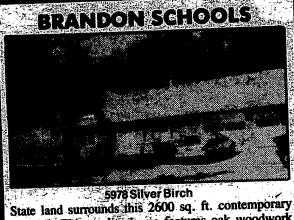

Had I my wits about me, I should have gone on to explain the importance of having faith in things unseen, about not needing proof for everything.

We lay on the balcony for over an hour, sharing the simple peace that can exist between a mother, a daughter and their creator.

Finally, a shooting star flashed over us as hoped for and anticipated.

It was, as it always is, an experience that excites. It's wonderful when things longed for week and the first materialize. But we didn't really need it. By that time somthing greater was drawing us together. Something that is going to last forever.

Dr. Baylis realized dreams before his death

By Kathy Greenfield

Shortly before Dr. Shelby M. Baylis, 58, died Aug. 14, two of his fondest dreams had come true.

His son Dr. Loren Baylis had decided to joined his family medicine practice on M-15 in Independence Township, and the horse his son Lincoln had trained at the family's Shel-Mar Farm in Independence Township had won the title of Michigan Trotter of the Year.

The Baylis family moved to Independence Township in 1979, the same year Dr. Shelby Baylis opened his family medicine practice in the township.

Baylis' heart valve surgery, also in 1979, prompted the move from Bloomfield Hills, said his wife, Maria. He had always wanted a farm and had always liked Clarkston.

"We all said the same thing-it was the best move we ever made," she said.

The horse farm, which began as a hobby, became a successful business overseen by Baylis and his sons.

The farm was recognized by the prestigious Michigan Harness Horse Racing Association for pro-^educing championship horses, and horses trained at the farm won major state races the past two years.

In addition to the Trotter of the Year award this year, a horse trained by Lance Baylis won state Pacer of the Year honors in 1985.

In recent months, Baylis had been excited at the prospect of his oldest son joining his family practice.

Always his dream was to have Loren come into practice with him," Mrs. Baylis said. "This was such a dream. I want people to know that Loren is coming in and taking over where he left off."

Originally, Dr. Loren Baylis was planning to join his father's practice in September. Following his graduation in 1982 from the Georgetown University School of Medicine, Washington, D.C., he had served his internship at Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, and then worked as a family physician in Atlanta, Ga.

He had agreed to work for a few years in the South because his wife is from South Carolina, he said.

"For years I had always thought I would go in with him," he said.

A loss of energy and difficulty breathing prompted Dr. Shelby Baylis to travel back to the hospital in Houston, Texas, where his original heart valve surgery was performed seven years ago.

Following tests, the decision was made to perform heart valve surgery immediately. An infection set in and Baylis did not regain consciousness during the three weeks before he died.

His son Dr. Loren Baylis has taken over the family medicine practice, and comments from his father's patients have reaffirmed his admiration for his father's caring manner.

"He wasn't the kind of doctor to rush into a room and hand you a prescription and rush off." he said. "He took the time to talk with the patients-that's the biggest thing-and it's not all done with prescriptions and drugs."

Baylis admired his father's listening ability, his intellect, his sense of humor and his parenting skills with the Baylises' nine children.

"He did a lot with the kids-I used to wonder when he slept," he said, listing outings to baseball games, golf courses and the like.

"He treated each one of us as an individual, not like 'the kids.' Each one was a separate person, and that's exactly how he treated his patients.'

Owner gets time to secure home

The owner of a dangerous dwelling in the Lake Maria subdivision in Springfield Township has until the end of November to secure the building.

Alan Krasinski appeared at the township board meeting Aug. 13 and said he has been unable to obtain a loan to make the necessary improvements on his house.

Trustee William Whitley motioned to have the board send a letter to Bloomfield Savings, where Krasinski has applied for a loan. The letter will give the company two weeks to decide on the mortgage.

If the loan is approved. Krasinski will have a week to get a building permit and must finish the exterior by Noge I. If the loan does not come through, his deadlines will be extended by 30 days.

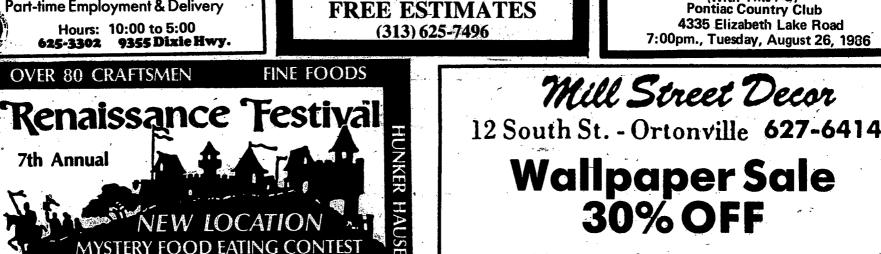

If he does not finish the exterior by the end of November, the board will consider demolition.

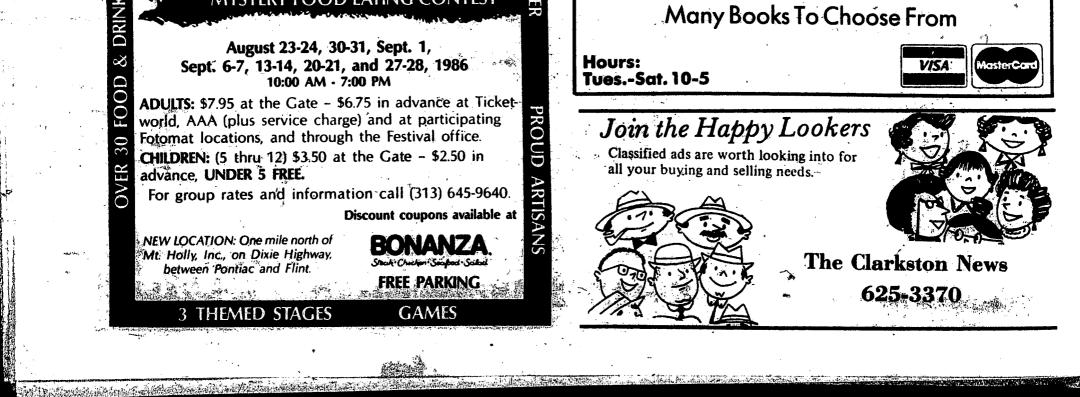

The motion was approved, 4-1. Supervisor Collin Walls voted against it because he wanted automatic demolition of the building if the deadline is not met.

Late plans prompt planners to table condos

By Carolyn Walker

Tardiness worked against the developers of the Clarkston Road, Newport condominiums Thursday night.

Having received some plans for the project several days after its established deadline, the township planning commission tabled a request by Frank Walker, and William Hahn to rezone the condo site to Planned Unit Development (RUD).

In rezonings, the commission must make a formal recommendation for approval or denial to the township board. The board then makes the final decision

The motion to table came after a public hearing, which Vice President Holly Stephens allowed to continue because members of the community had come to present their concerns.

Stephens told Walker and Hahn that under other circumstances she would have tabled their request without-consideration and said voting on it with-late. information was not in the best interest of the commission or the development.

During the public hearing, Clarkston resident Ted Thomson and township Trustee William Vandermark questioned the appropriateness of using a PUD classification for such a project.

Walker and Hahn propose building 28 units on 8.5 acres across from Clintonwood Park

The two received an RIA (single family dwelling) status for the project, which permits an extra unit per acre when combined with PUD, in June. PUD zoning permits varied uses on a single parcel of land. "I'm very disturbed . . . on the fact that we're using PUD to break zoning," said Thomson, adding

McDunn named

Patrick McDunn of Clarkston was appointed to the Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council by Gov. James Blanchard Aug. 7.

McDun, a teacher at Birmingham Brother Rice High School, spearheaded the organization of Detroit's EMS program.

He will represent consumers on the council and will serve a term expiring Jan. 1, 1989. He succeeds William Stapish of Bay City who did not seek reappointment.

that he understood PUD to be geared at large, multiuse developments.

"I think to use it this way is incorrect." he said. Vandermark agreed. "I'm not in favor of this development at this site. There's no question that it's not in keeping with the master plan,

"It will have a tendency to open up the whole Clarkston Road corridor," he said, referring to a precedent that could be set for developing condos the length of the road.

"If we're going to do it, the master plan should be changed."

Vandermark said the township has used the master plan in the past to defend its stance against gravel pits in court and that misuse of the plan could be self-defeating should the township be faced with lawsuits on any future projects.

A third resident, Bob Lawson of Delhi Street,

Public hearing called on PUD raised several questions about the proposal's wells, hook-up to the Flemings Lake Road sewer and screene

"What am I going to be tooking at?" he asked, ing. adding that he was neither for nor against the development.

Walker and Hahn had no comment on the situation as the commission prepared to table.

I really don'f feel I can vote one way or the other based on last minute information," said commissioner Betty Io Fussman, expressing the views of the commission Voting to table were Fussman, Stephens, Joe Figa, John Gray and Carol Balzarini. Commissioner Brent Bair was absent.

Commission Chairman Neil Wallace abstained. He is involved in litigation with one of the developers, whom he did not name.

The Planned Unit Development ordinance, commonly known as PUD, currently used by Independence. Township came under attack by citizens and members of the planning commission Aug. 14.

Based on the contention that PUD is being used by developers to circumvent other zoning standards. commission Chairman Neil Wallace called for a public hearing to amend the ordinance,

He proposes an amendment that would permit PUDs only for developments of 100 acres or more.

PUDs are being viewed as just one more site plan. That's not what they were intended," he said to his fellow commissioners. "What it is, is contract zoning, which is illegal.'

He then called PUD "broadly drafted" and said. "It's not doing what we intended it to do."

Wallace said that when PUD was originally ap-3 proved he envisioned it being used for large, difficult projects, such as Pine Knob Music Theatre and Ski Resort.

He said previously existing zoning classifications should suffice for smaller developments.

Commissioner Carol Balzarini disagreed with Wallace's proposal, saying that township attorney Gerald Fisher and planner Richard Carlisle are in the process of reviewing the ordinance.

have all the information at hand?" she asked, adding that projects could be weighed individually pending Fisher and Carlisle's opinions.

"Fisher and Carlisle have no magic lock on what's good for the community," responded Wallace. "I think it's time to get the debate started before it goes any further.

"I'm personally aware that there are other developers (who are preparing projects) and, frankly. are laughing up their sleeves.

"We could review some projects that are inappropriate, I think we have to bring some consistency to what we do-"It can begin to generate the debate," Wallace said, adding that the 100-acre proposal is subject to change. Wallace's motion to conduct a public hearing followed Frank Walker and William Hahn's request for a PUD classification for 28 condominiums they plan off Clarkston Road.

At that hearing, resident Ted Thomson and Trustee William Vandermark questioned the appropriateness of PUD for the condos.

Voting to conduct the public hearing on Sept. 25 were Wallace, Joe Figa. John Gray and Betty Jo Fussman. Balzarini voted against the motion and

Odell disposes of writer in H-O-R-S-E

By Chris Gerbasi

Welcome to another edition of "Embarrass the Sportswriter."

I am a man called horse. Missy Odell made that clear to me three times in the playground basketball game H-O-R-S-E.

For the uninitiated, H-O-R-S-E is basically a one-on-one game where if one player makes a shot, the other player has to duplicate it.

Anything can happen. Odell is a senior starter on Clarkston's team and a versatile athlete. But skill does not always win out over luck, so I knew I had a decent shot at winning.

We played at Odell's place. I didn't mind giving up the home-court advantage, because H-O-R-S-E should be played in somebody's driveway.

When I got there I saw that the hoop was not attached to the garage, but was the pole variety. That immediately took away my off-the-garage shot variations.

I briefly warmed up by laying some bricks and then Odell went to work. She reeled off three straight letters on some outside shots. Nothing fancy. I just couldn't hit a shot.

She finally missed and I made a comeback with a broad jump-type shot from behind the basket, a short left-handed shot and a left-handed reverse layup. I was back in it, tied at H-O-R.

"Are you left-handed?" Odell asked. No, but I felt some momentum. I wanted to win. A lot.

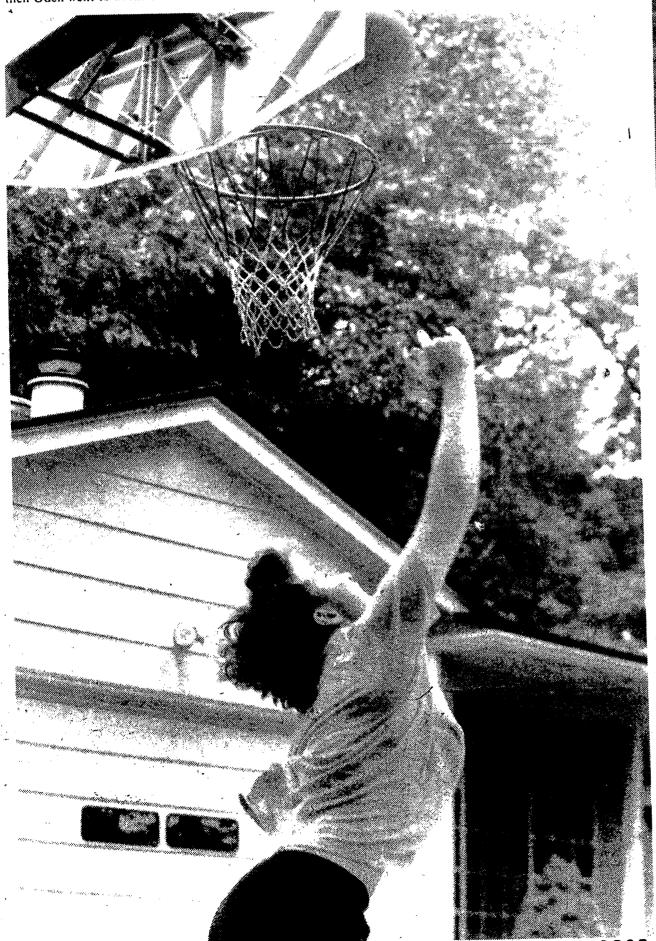

But she eventually finished me off with about a 15-footer. I lost, H-O-R-S-E to H-O-R.

That would be as close as I got. The one game turned into two-out-of-three, but I was stone cold the rest of the way.

Odell was a little more creative in the second game. She started the game with a behind-the-back. through-the-legs layup attempt. I was relieved that she missed the shot because I could have seriouslyhurt myself just trying it.

Then she said she was going to run down a pathway and take off from the free throw line. I thought then what's she going to do, fly 15 feet and jam? But she did almost make a scoop shot.

Gerbasi had to hit the backboard with his hand on this shot. He hit the backboard, but missed the layup.

Odell did hit a back-to-the-basket, bend-overbackwards shot. I was no stranger to the shot, but I was off the mark.

My left hand came back to haunt me as I missed several layups. Meanwhile, Odell was hitting from long range, short range and behind the basket.

I was on the brink of elimination and she hit ... 20-footer from the corner on her lawn. I calmly porped in my shot, but it was too little, too late. I got shi t out and again I was a H-O-R-S-E.

"I don't like this rim. I'm not getting any Gerbasi got one of his few letters on Odell when she couldn't handle this broad jumpfrom-behind-the-basket shot. But Odell was in control otherwise, sweeping three H-O-R-S-E games.

bounces," I said.

"They're nice to me," said Odell. She got a lot of shooter's bounces, while I got a lot of sportswriter's bounces.

Two-out-three turned into three-out-of-five. When I asked for a third game. Odell's face seemed to say. "What's the point?'

"I'm determined to beat you," I said.

But it was more of the same. I got one letter on her with a Rick Barry underhanded free throw, but that was it.

She made a shot from behind the basket which hit the top of the backboard, the front edge of the rim and then dropped in and won the game when I missed a five-footer.

The whole thing only lasted about 20 minutes and she didn't even break a sweat. She had a very nonchalant attitude, like "Here I am winning another game of horse."

Maybe some time I'll play her best-out-of-19.

Jennifer Hayes displays the cup she won at the Bloomfield Hunt Horse and Pony Show last month. Hayes, 11, and her pony, Shamrock Leprechaun, have teamed up this summer and Hayes has won a hunter division championship.

Hayes rides to victories with Shamrock Leprechaun

By Chris Gerbasi Jennifer Hayes is only 11, but she's an old-timer when it comes to ponies.

She's been fiding pomes competitively for four years and this year she won her first title in the pony hunter division.

In hunter classes, the horses are judged for style and jumping. Her pony is Shamrock Leprechaun, who got his name when he was born on St. Patrick's Day 13 years ago. He's been lucky for Hayes, who has owned him 10 months.

"I like him a lot, he has a nice disposition," said Hayes: "When you come into the stable, he knows it's you.

"He does weird little things," she said. "He'll stick his nose between the boards in the stall looking for carrots. On trails, he acts like a dressage horse, he prances around."

In Michigan Hunter Jumper Association meets this summer, Hayes piled up 106 points heading into the finals this week. Points are awarded for the top four finishes.

Among her wins are a first place in the hunter division at the Bloomfield Hunt Horse and Pony Show in mid-July. She then won the equitation division a week later in the Hunter's Run Show.

Also at the Bloomfield Show, Lauren Caston of Clarkston was runner-up in the large pony hunter class on Zim's Valley Girl. She duplicated that effort at Hunter's Run.

Donna Caston was champion at that show in the open adult hunter group with Rolling Stone and Holly Hetherington won the children's hunter division with Centerfold.

In equitation classes, the riders are judged for smoothness.

"It's easier on me. I don't have to worry as much about how I look. I just have to make the pony look good."

Either way. Hayes has to strap on a protective hat, which she doesn't like the looks of too much. "They make everybody look' like idiots," she said.

Next year, Hayes will have to move into the 12- to 17-year-old division, which will offer stiffer competition. One of her friends, Erin Cartwright, is in that group. At 13, she's "really old" to Hayes.

But moving up will also mean shipping out Shamrock Leprechaun. Hayes will buy a larger pony next year because she's outgrowing Shamrock.

"It'll be kind of hard," she said. "After a couple months, you get attached. He's your best friend, your buddy."

Hayes hopes to continue riding as long as possible and someday own her own barn. She has found her niche with horses.

"It's a nice social life for her," said her mother, Ann Hayes. "She's made a lot of nice friends and they have a lot in common.

"She tried a lot of different things, gymnastics, ballet, tap dance," she said. "She wasn't too interested in all that. But ponies she loves to ride."

Smith wins first national tennis

By Chris Gerbasi

Mary Smith happened to run into a couple good doubles partners and came away with her first national tennis championship last week.

Smith, of Independence Township and Eastern Michigan University, teamed with Julie Kaczmarek of Lansing, Ill., to defeat Christine and Wendy Gilles, 6-3, 6-4, in the U.S. National Amateur Championships in Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.

Smith almost pulled off a mixed doubles victory as well with Warren Brooks of Pittsford, N.Y. They fell to Elizabeth Daly and Mike May, 4-6, 7-6 (7-3), 7-5.

The EMU senior has been touring all summer through the East and Midwest. She met Kaczmarek and Brooks at the national tournament. Smith won three rounds of qualifying in singles play before losing in the first round of the tourney.

"I came off the singles court and she (Kaczmarek) asked me if I wanted to play doubles," said Smith. "I had heard of her and knew she was a good player. It was quite unusual. We matched real well." Most of the duos they faced were established teams. Smith also met Brooks by chance when she needed a practice partner and he was hitting some balls.

"We were a pretty good team," Smith said. "We were very close to winning. We had them, we were up. Then we just kind of folded up."

Still, Smith was surprised she did so well. "I know I can compete with girls that are the top in the nation," she said.

For her victory, she received a gold tennis ball.

"I would have preferred a singles win, but this was my first national championship. I'm going to get (the gold ball) fixed so I can wear it around my neck," she joked.

Crystal clear Goodbye, Olympia, hello Donnelly

News Item: Olympia Stadium falls beneath the wrecking ball.

There it was in black and white. A picture in the paper of Olympia, half-destroyed. The Red Wings haven't played there for six years and I knew it was supposed to be demolished.

But there it stood for all these years and I saw it every time I went downtown and for some reason 4 thought they wouldn't go through with it.

But they did and when I saw that picture I knew I had to get one last look at the old Red Barn.

So myself and Mike Lank traveled down to Grand Boulevard in the old Red Zephyr. (Thank you for all the cards and letters while my car was sick. It's now on the road to recovery, zipping past cars throughout greater Oakland and Wayne counties.)

We thought the area would be roped off and heavily guarded. But there was just one rent-a-cop there who asked us for directions to Metro Airport.

At first we just stood still and looked at the rubble and the wreckage for a while. We had been here six years ago for the final game when the Wings rallied for a 4-4 tie against Quebec before a huge, raucous crowd.

Our seats were still intact in the mezzanine and so was one of the long scoreboards. We had to get a souvenir.

There were plenty of bricks in the debris, enough to rebuild the place in a backyard. So we grabbed a brick each and then we saw some seat cushions.

But then I saw a row of three seats, still together, with just one cushion missing. I had to have it.

Soon, after a little scrubbing, I'll sit on my porch and remember when the Wings played in a real building.

News Item: Mike Donnelly signs a contract with the New York Rangers.

That may not mean too much to most readers, but I went to school with Donnelly.

We weren't friends, but we knew each other. He probably wouldn't remember me today and I wouldn't remember him if he weren't a great hockey player.

I wrote about him in high school, I wrote about him in college and now I'm writing about him now that we're both "pros." He had a great career in college, but it never hit

He had a great career in conege, but it never in me how good he was until last week.

It's very strange to realize that somebody I knew in high school is now making hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

If you knew Donnelly in high school, the idea of him with large sums of money in New York City might be a dangerous thought.

But I'm sure he's matured. He'll now rub elbows with New York athletes and celebrities. He will become a celebrity. A guy out of Livonia Franklin will be a star.

Phil Esposito, one of the all-time hockey greats and the Rangers' general manager, actually said, "We gotta get this guy."

My five-year high school reunion is coming up. Donnelly will probably be on the road somewhere. But I wouldn't mind if he came back in a fancy suit and a limousine and rubbed it in everybody's face.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Aug. 20, 1966 23 Delegates amoze

The Republican delegates for Independence Township continue to be a source of amazement.

At the county Republican convention for District 6, the group of 11 elected in the Aug. 5 primary had to take some coffee breaks while other communities voted on delegates to fill their ranks.

'Independence Township was the only township that had every precinct with an elected delegate. It's the first time anybody can remember that happening," said Burke Ried, director of the township for the Republican County Committee.

The slate of 11 elected delgates selected the six delegates and five alternates to represent Independence Township at the state convention on Friday and Saturday at the Radisson Hotel, Detroit.

The delegates, or alternates if delegates are absent, will vote on delegates for the Republican National Convention in 1988 and have a voice in other party business.

"It's just the beginning of a process, but it sort of blows up in a hurry as it goes down the lines," said Ried.

Delegates for the state convention include Richard Kuhn Jr., Rudy Lozano, John Lutz, Thomas Ritter, Patrick O'Rourke and Neil Wallace.

Alternates are Robert Campbell, Carol Balzarini, Michelle DeLadurantey, Lee Gardner, Guy Passmore and Burke Ried.

What's hot; what's not

Jeans top list of back-to-school essentials

By Julie Campe

Most kids have a definite idea of what's hot and what's not, at least when it comes to school clothes. This year, several strains of styles are hot, although most kids agree about what's not hot.

While it's OK to wear Grandpa's overcoat from four decades ago, it's not OK to wear Grandma's polyester stretch pants.

And T-shirts and sweatshirts are in, but the Izods from just two years past are out. According to some. stirrup-pants are out but broaches are still in, and the Madonna look is out.

Jeans are still the mainstay of fashion. For guys, it's Levi's 501 Blues or Lee jeans, according to Tony Hawk and Mike McGill, 10th-graders at Clarkston High School.

Chuck Gottlieb, an 11th-grader at Waterford Kettering, will only wear Levi's, and he'll top them with an Adidas T-shirt.

For gym class, bright Bermuda shorts are essential for David Marks and Chad Hetherington, both 13-year-old eighth-graders at Clarkston Junior High School.

Some people begin with the standard Levi's and add the elements of their own personal style.

Richard Hartwick, a 16-year-old Avondale High School senior, works summers in Clarkston. He starts with blue Levi's. Next he adds a T-shirt and gym socks.

Then, he laces up black leather combat boots and dons his blue jean jacket (with a freshly painted b gargoyle on the back).

To top the look, he wears a safety Mohawk hairstyle. It's safe because the sides of his head aren't bald, like a true Mohawk, and his strip of hair on top is wider and longer.

"I'm not really into styles." says Hartwick. "I just wear whatever. Most people deal with the trends. I'm not into that. I like dressing the way I want to."

For Hartwick, the best shopping centers are Joe's Army Navy or the Salvation Army, although he did order new combat boots from Germany.

For girls, jeans also take the number one spot in fashion essentials.

Different colored Guess jeans are hot this year. but the old Levi and Lee standbys are OK too.

Holly Heatherington and Blythe Becker, both 13, wear Firenza sweaters with their Guess jeans. The CIHS eighth-graders also wear penny loafers and Vaurnet T-shirts. Different colored jeans are OK for Jenny Robbins, too, as long as they don't have patterns.

"Flowers are going out," said the CHS 12thgrader.

But "big sloppy sweatshirts with designs" are in. says Rachel Young, CHS 11th-grader. Also, high-top tennis shoes (low tops are out), Reebok's or Sporto's, should be worn with colored jeans. Colored socks (matching the jeans) should be pulled over the pant legs, she says.

Safari colors are in for fall, says Melissa Wilkinson, 17. Dark green, red and khaki are hot. Pink is out. She also predicts the end of a new fashion.

"Coca Cola was hot for summer, but I think it will be going out." she says, mentioning price as a factor.

College sweatshirts and varsity jackets are always in style, say most.

The only uncomfortable fashion essential cited this year is jewelry. Some of the earrings or bracelets are too heavy or too big, say Wilkinson and Robbins.

Comfort is achieved by bagginess this year, or at least by wearing clothes a little too big. Angela Miracle (left), a CHS senior, wears jeans

But in all style strains, comfort is the main concern, and it's achieved by baggy clothes. For Stacy Saul, 17, men's clothing provides the bagginess.

'Big shirts, jackets. Anything big," she says. "I and a T-shirt and a short burgundy hair style. Stacy Saul, an OCC freshman, wears men's shoes, a baggy jacket and comfortable shirt.

like the tailored look, instead of lace and all that junk."

She wears short leather combat-style boots, jewelry and short hair. [See FASHION, Page 26]

26 Wed., Aug. 20, 1986 The Clarkston (Mich.) News

Students prepare their fall fashion statements

[FASHION, continued from Page 25] "Short hair or really long hair is in. No inbetween. Bobbed hair is out," said Saul.

Angela Miracle, 16, agrees, as long as comfort is the primary concern.

"I'm going to be working and going to school, so I have to wear clothes that I can wear to both," she says. "My shoes have to be comfortable."

For a comfortable hairstyle, Miracle wears a short, short hair cut tinted burgundy.

Anything goes, it seems, as long the outfit begins with jeans (but not designer jeans).

Jeans and tennis shoes are still the most popular school attire. Melissa Wilkinson [left],

Scrumptious school lunches

Restaurant chefs provide some tasty recipes for kid-pleasing menus

By Julie Campe

When school starts Aug. 27, students will come prepared with the first day essentials: Clean gym clothes, paper, pencils and a lunch or lunch money. Some of the hot, school provided lunches are popular, but sometimes kids just won't eat them. So they take a cold lunch.

But even cold lunches are tiresome at times. To Gary Grzywacz, head chef at The Clarkston Cafe, 18 S. Main, recommends his Clarkston Cafe Back-To-School Luncheon Salad.

'It's a well-balanced lunch that they can throw together at school and impress their friends," said Grzywacz.

Now's the time to start getting school lunch ideas. With school starting Aug. 27, kids soon will be making such important choices as peanut butter and jelly or tuna salad?

WANTED USED GUNS

EXPERIENCED RE housekeeper LIABLE looking for clier ford/Metamora for client in Oxarea. 628-1986. IIILX33-2

WANTED: Tool crib wire, 4x8 sheets or larger, no holes or bends. 628-9179. 1111LX33-2

NEEDED: BABYSITTER, every other Saturday, 6am to 4pm for 5 and 21 month olds, Lake Orion village. 693-6473.!!!LX33-2

Ingredients: lettuce, lunch meat, cheese, nuts, fruit, salad dressing.

First, tear lettuce into bite-size pieces and put them in a ZipLock plastic bag. In another bag, put thin strips of ham, chicken, turkey or salami or whatever meat your child prefers. Add strips of cheese, again the type your child prefers. Add nuts, the child's preference (almonds, pecans or peanuts are some of Grzywacz's suggestions). Add diced fruit-apples, pears, oranges, etc.

In a small bottle (an old pill bottle will do, says Grzywacz), put your child's favorite salad dressing.

When it's lunch time, the child can simply add all ingredients to the ZipLock lettuce bag, shake it up. and eat it with a plastic fork.

Send a small loaf of French bread (or a slice of any bread) along with the two bags of salad ingredients, and they'll be all set.

Nutritionally, the lunch includes protein from the meat and cheese, grain from the nuts and bread, and fruit and vegetables. The meal incorporates each child's likes and dislikes, he said.

Another salad idea comes from Brian Homeszyn of the new 20 Depot Street Restaurant, Clarkston. Most kids should like a Tuna Salad Sandwich, he said

Ingredients: 3 oz. mayonnaise, 1 oz. relish, 1 oz. chopped green onions, 1 can white albacore tuna, black olives (optional).

Mix all ingredients in a bowl. Fold gently. Spread on bread.

Serve with fruit.

It's easy to make. The older kids can even make it themselves. And most kids will like the taste, he said

Pine Knob Mansion's (5580 Waldon Rd., Independence Township) Bryan Rexford offers a Pita Pocket Sandwich.

"When they're fresh, you can put everything in it, and it won't fall out the ends," he said.

Ingredients: pita bread, turkey, bacon, cheese and lettuce.

Pile ingredients between the two sides of bread, and the sandwich is complete. Kids like the novelty of it, and it's easy to make and not messy to eat, he said.

Another lunch idea, bound to be popular, is Next Day Pizza from Steve Gabriel of The Nickelodean Restaurant, 10081 M-15, Independence Township.

"From the parents' standpoint, it's nutritious," said Gabriel. "From the child's standpoint, it's good."

Ingredients: leftover pizza, refrigerated.

Wrap it up, and send it to school. It's still good, hot or cold, he said.

Back-To-School Special Two Sealants - No Charge With Exam and Cleaning! Offer Expires September 30.

Sealants act as a barrier to harmful plaque and acid. Have us apply a plastic sealant to

We go back to school in less than a week. Yuck! What do we have to look forward to? Well, actually there is a lot When you first think of school starting, of course you think of all the negative aspects. Getting up early every morning, having uninteresting or hard classes; having mean teachers and doing homework every night are not thoughts that inspire excitement.

But you have to put aside the negative and think about what good things can happen during the school year.

I find it hard to focus on good things related to school, especially during the final weeks of summer vacation.

But it is true that good things do come with the school year. Good things such as seeing friends, meeting new people and being involved in groups, activities or sports. There are a lot of things to do at school besides get an education.

There are many different groups and organizations at the high school.

Groups that meet after school include yearbook, drama, Spanish club, science club and computer club. Groups that meet during school hours include band, chorus, media, mime and student government.

All of these organizations are alike in that they give us students a chance to work with and become friends with other students having the same interests.

These groups also help us discover and develop talents while giving us something fun and constructive to pass our time with.

Teamwork is an important concept not only learned from team sports but from other organizations as well.

Teamwork is vital in putting together a school musical production. Everyone must learn his or her own lines, songs and dance steps in order to keep things going smoothly for everyone else.

People must work together to build sets, gather props and sew costumes. Without teamwork, a musical production would be nothing. Chorus and band are good examples of working together. These groups wouldn't be what they are if people didn't work as a team.

Certain instruments have to be played together at certain times, certain harmonies have to be sung at certain times.

Working with other people to achieve a goal is one of life's necessities and this is learned in school.

Not only are school organizations an educational experience, but they are fun and teach the lifelong necessity of teamwork.

So if you feel this school year will be a drag, why not think of joining an extrcurricular group or sign up for a chorus or band class? You may find it interesting.

Children's picnic menu

During the summertime, kids of all ages naturally think of picnics. Food seems to taste better when eaten outside by the pool, by the lake, under a shade tree or before a concert.

Two years ago at the International Association of Cooking Professionals' annual meeting, I met Thayer Wilson Wine who recalls many pleasant childhood memories of picnicking by the lake at her home in Clarkston.

Now Thayer lives in Tennessee and is food writer for The Jackson Sun, but many of her family members still live in the Clarkston area.

During a recent visit to see her family, Thayer and her niece, Karla Schweitzer, who attends Bailey Lake Elementary, were guests on the Microwave Plus cable TV show.

The topic was "Picnic for Kids." Thayer planned the menu and instructed Karla in chopping and cooking techniques. The microwave oven provided a speedy and safe way to prepare some of the picnic foods.

CHICKEN IN A POCKET

1 whole chicken breast, skinned, boned and halved

1 stalk celery, chopped

3 tablespoons taco sauce 1/4 cup sour cream or plain yogurt

Shredded lettuce

1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese

12 pitted black olives 4 small whole wheat pita bread

Place chicken pieces in a Pyrex dish. Top with chopped celery and cover loosely with plastic wrap. Microwave at high for 2 minutes.

Turn over and rearrange chicken pieces. Cover and microwave at high for 1 more minute or until juices run cicar. Cool, then dice or shred.

Combine with taco sauce, sour cream, lettuce, shredded cheese and black olives. Slice top quarter off pita pockets. Stuff each pocket with chicken mixture.

Wrap and chill before packing in insulated picnic bag. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Note: Remember to open the plastic wrap away from you to avoid a steam burn.

FRENCH WHITE BEAN SALAD

2 tablespoons olive oil

1 tablespoon white wine vinegar with tarragon or parsley

1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard 1 can (16 ounces) great northern white beans, drained الع المورية بي

i station and rinsed 2 green onions, minced

Combine olive oil, vinegar and mustard in a bowl. Add rinsed and drained beans and minced onions. Stir to mix well. Cover and refrigerate until ready to pack in an insulated picnic bag. Makes 4 servings.

PINEAPPLE DATE BREAD

1/2 cup all purpose flour 1 cup whole wheat flour

3/4 cup brown sugar

I teaspoon baking soda

1/2 feaspoon salt

1 egg

1/3 cup vegetable oil

8 ounces crushed pineapple with juice

1 cup chopped dates

Grease a 41/2-by-5/8 Pryrex loaf dish. Sprinkle with graham cracker crumbs.

In a large bowl, combine all-purpose flour, whole , wheat flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and baking soda. Stir well with wire whisk.

In another bowl, combine egg, milk, oil, pineapple with juice and dates. Stir dry mixture into milk and date mixture. Mix until all dry ingredients are moistened.

Turn batter into prepared loaf dish. Shield each end with a strip of foil. Elevate on microsafe rack. Microwave at 50 percent power for 8 to 10 minutes.

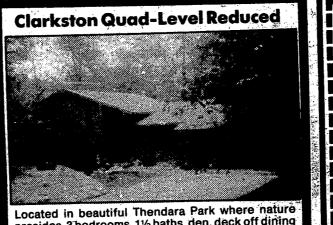

Turn one-quarter turn every 2 minutes or place on a microwave turntable. Remove foil and microwave at high power for 4 to 6 minutes. Let stand for 10 minutes on a heat-proof surface before removing from the dish.

Home economist Betty Wagner, an Independence Township resident, is a graduate of West Virginia University. Her Microwave Plus show appears on Independence Township public access cable TV channel 11 at 7 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays.

Our Compliments To The Chef. And All The Staff Who Keep Meals On Wheels Rolling.

About two decades ago, a group of some very enterprising people first opened the doors to what has ever since been a favorite local eatery.

In that time, not a whole lot has changed in the way they run things. The menu's simple. But the food is always hot, fresh and wholesome. A lot of the staff works for free. And most provide their own cars and gasoline so the operators can still offer home delivery.

And, as it's always been over the years, they've never once made a red cent to show for it all. But they did manage to make firm believers out of us. They're Meals on Wheels, after all. So while it is not surprising that they 12. are not in business to make a profit, they still have to pay their bills like everyone else to stay in business. Otherwise, hundreds of homebound senior citizens and hundreds more less-fortunate people might go hungry every day. So when they fed us the facts on their cash flow moblem we give them the line cash-flow problem, we gave them the line of credit they needed to keep things rolling. Not just because we're bankers. But because more importantly, we're part of the community. You see, at First of America Bank we think non-profit organizations like Meals on Wheels, who make sure that those in need do not go hungry, are something everyone will eventually profit from some day. C FIRST OF A MERICA Were Community Banks First.

What's wrong with being happy on drugs?

Copyright 1986 Jeanette Sanders

Dear Cat Paw:

I wish people would leave us alone! I don't do heavy drugs. I'm happy with my pot and I like being high. Loving It

Dear Loving It:

How do you know what you are when you're stoned? You can't tell how you feel if you're high because you're covering everything up.

Yours is a classic response of a drug user. If you were really so happy, you wouldn't be using drugs in the first place!

If you ever want some help to quit drugs, write again and I'll refer you.

Dear Cat Paw:

I have tried to quit smoking cigarettes at least 10 times. I always go back and start again. Why is this happening to me? Tired and Still Puffing

Dear Tired:

There is a new report out by the Harvard School of Public Health which states that nicotine has the same addictive effects on the human body as heroin.

The report also states that 75 percent of both nicotine and heroin users who quit their habit start using again.

Keep trying! You obviously know the risks of smoking and want to quit. It's a difficult battle, but many have won it and so can you.

Dear Cat Paw:

How do depressants work on the body? Curious

Dear Curious:

Depressants dull the senses and produce a sleepy, floating sort of sensation.

They reduce the user's sense of awareness to the point where his outlook on life no longer presents an accurate image of conditions as they really exist.

Barbiturate withdrawal can cause death. It is best to get medical help with this problem.

Dear Cat Paw: Can using drugs cause a problem for your whole life?

Dear Short Time User:

It is possible even in a short period of time to have some brain damage from drug use, thus causing lifelong ill effects.

It is also possible while stoned that you may kill someone while driving, which would also be a lifelong burden.

Drug abuse hurts the user as well as the innocent bystander.

Cat Paw author Jeanette Sanders, a Springfield Township resident, is a state certified drug abuse counselor and a member of the Chemical People of Clarkston.

THIS IS TO THE DRIVER of a vehicle that ran over our family Beagle on Baldwin Road between Drahner Road and Seymour Lake Road and Seymour Lake Road during the early evening hours 7:30/9pm, Saturday, August 16. Couldn't you take a few minutes time to check his dog tag and notify us in-stead of leaving him to die along the road side. Your heart must be made of stone. Just remember what goes around comes around goes around comes around and you'll get yours. Hope you can live with your conscience knowing you've broken a family's heart.

It's a festival of mud (covered in straw), says Linda Caruso in an English accent. Caruso, of t the new location of the Renaissance Festival, one mile north of Mt. Holly on Dixie Highway, it's a longer walk from the parking lots to the gate.

The festival outgrew the former location at the Colombiere Center in Springfield Township.

The new walk to the gate provides plenty of time to gain the right state of mind enter the festival.

As the gates near, sounds from within provide a greeting: An occasional shriek, laughter, rustling and English accented vendors yelling to sell their wares.

Once inside, the sights are overwhelming. All of the workers are dressed in 17th century garb, and the foods and wares are similar to that time period's goods.

Turkey legs, cider, juggling acts, archery, weaving and more provide the entertainment for the weekend.

Tickets are available at the gate. For more information, call 645-9640.

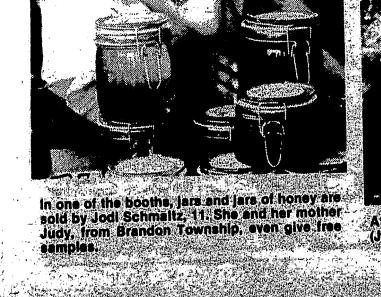

A step back in time

Children, too, travel back in time over the weekend. Aurora Marcus-Kurlonko, 3, from Hazel Park, never wanders far from her artist mother.
