Teachers ratify

By Carolyn Walker

It went down to the wire, but teachers in the Clarkston School District voted to ratify their contract Monday night.

"The details are short and sweet . . . finally," said Allen Bartlett, president of the Clarkston Education Association, which represents 292 teachers in the district.

Approximately 210 members turned out to approve the contract by a three to one margin, Bartlett said.

Teachers failed to ratify the contract Aug. 18 when some 120 members missed the association's general meeting.

Subsequently, the second meeting was called with teachers scheduled to return to work Tuesday. Students are expected in the classrooms on Aug. 27.

Bartlett declined to discuss terms of the three-year contract pending ratification by the board of education.

The board is expected to vote at their regular meeting Sept. 8, according to Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent of schools.

Man charged with assault

By Chris Gerbas

An Independence Township man was apparently stabbed and his niece's boyfriend was arrested and charged last Friday.

Jesse Eversole, 27, of Ennismore Road, was allegedly stabbed in the abdomen with a 9 1/2-inch hunting knife by Michael McDowell, 30, also of Independence Township.

McDowell was charged with assault with intent to commit murder and was arraigned in Magistrate Court over the weekend. He is being held on $60,000 cash bond or surety at Oakland County Jail.

McDowell's hearing was set for Aug. 26 at 52nd District Court.

Eversole is in stable condition. According to police reports, the incident began when Eversole's niece, Audrianna Beard, came to the Eversole house from next door, where she lives. McDowell remained in the car in the driveway.

Eversole approached the car to ask McDowell to leave and a pushing match ensued, said the report. McDowell allegedly pulled a knife and stabbed Eversole.

McDowell tried to flee, but was stopped by Eversole and his brother, Corbin Eversole, according to Officer Tim Doyle of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Andy Tudor (foreground) and Scott Tudor, scouts from Troop 189, watch while brother Jay crawls out from under a layer of sesquicentennial birthday cake. Andy is in charge of the float, which will represent the sesquicentennial committee in Monday's Independence Township Labor Day Parade.

Scouts are in holiday spirit

By Carolyn Walker

Don't be surprised if you see a big pink and white birthday cake traveling down Main Street on Monday.

The truck-size cake is the handiwork of boy scout Andy Tudor and some of his cohorts. And it is scheduled to enhance next week's "A Salute to Independence" Labor Day Parade.

Andy, 15, has spent recent days leading a pack of scouts in the construction of the float for Independence Township's Sesquicentennial Committee. He is one of their youngest members.

The scouts of troupe 189 are working on the service project to earn credit toward their Eagle badges. Andy was given the task of designing, planning, organizing and leading the construction of the cake. And that's no small matter, er, matter.

Andy says he searched books for a float idea before coming up with the cake theme in honor of the township's 150th birthday.

"I did all the design," he says.

The cake's base is a hay wagon borrowed from Camp Oweki. Atop of that is a wood skirting followed by wood crates for the layered look.

The foundation is covered by white floral sheeting, which Andy compares to "fuzzy garbage bags" and graced with candles.

The Springfield Township resident is the son of Marjorie and Bill, who is his troop leader.

Early deadline at newspaper

Due to the Labor Day holiday, there will be an early deadline for news and advertisement items at The Clarkston News. Display ads for the paper should be in the office by 5 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 28.

Story ideas, letters to the editor and classified advertisements should be in the office by noon Friday, Aug. 29.

Parents kick up ruckus over soccer fields

By Julie Campe

Some of the parents of area soccer players are unhappy with the condition of Independence Township soccer fields.

About 15 people attended the Aug. 19 township board meeting to present problems as well as a petition, signed by 250 to 300 concerned people.

Donna Smith, of Independence Township, read the complaints, listing inadequate maintenance as the big problem which has caused several injuries this season.

Independence Parks and Recreation Department has not taken their complaints seriously, she said.

"The soccer program can be a solid investment into the physical well being of future generations," she said.

Trustee Dale Stuart suggested that the recreation department investigate the complaints and report at the next meeting.

Several more people spoke about the problems. "I've been with the soccer program for six years," said Carolyn Bielak. "The fields have gradually deteriorated. We've asked the (recreation) department to cut the fields and fill in the holes. . . . Bailey Lake is completely covered with water in the month of May."

Many players have been injured from the holes or long grass, she said.

Dominic Alessi suggested the township contact past soccer directors, such as Hana Olsen and Andy Caldwell, to get their input.

"We have met once with the director of parks and rec.," said Alessi. "To be fair, they did answer us. They told us they needed funds. What we want is your real consideration. . . . The Sashabaw Plains fields are inadequate. They are not regulation size fields. I dare say if it were little league or adult softball, it wouldn't be that way."

Stuart answered that they would contact past directors.

Under consideration for future soccer fields is Bay Pointe, said Treasurer John Lutz. The parks and recreation department hopes to buy the property on Andersonville Road.

The site has 20 to 30 acres of open field, he said, and parks and recreation Director Tim Doyle hopes to build soccer fields there.

The board members voted 5-0 to ask Doyle to respond to questions and report at the next regular township meeting Sept. 2.

Supervisor Frank Ronk and trustee Daniel Travis were absent.

51-lot subdivision wins 1st approval

A new subdivision is in the works for Independence Township.

On Aug. 14, the planning commission voted 5-1 to grant tentative preliminary plat approval for the Independence Valley subdivision proposed by Dr. John Ylvisaker of Bloomfield Hills.

Owner of the 140 acres off Pine Know Road near Sashabaw Road for nine years, Ylvisaker proposes dividing the site into 51 lots of at least 1 1/2 acres each.

He had requested the commissioners' approval of the first phase only, which they were reluctant to do.

They voted, instead, to approve the entire project with three stipulations.

Explaining that they didn't want to approve the project in phases because of the uncertainty of the future, commissioner Holly Stephens said, "We could be stuck with a real nightmare when we have this real nice plan now."

The project must go to the township board three times for final approval.

Before their appearance in front of the board, the developers must make adjustments in the lot sizes, lot lines and southerly access road as mandated in the commission's motion.

"We approve of the plat in concept," said Chairman Neil Wallace, who made the motion for approval.

Commissioner Carol Balzarini cast the single dissenting vote without comment.

After the meeting she explained her stance. "I'm just not comfortable with the project," she said. "And I guess there's no other way to explain it than that."

Balzarini, who is also a township trustee, said she would like to see more specifics before final approval is granted.

Planners support wild animal ban

Now's the time to stifle that urge to buy an elephant, moose or anaconda.

Members of the Independence Township Planning Commission voted 6-0 to recommend amending the township's wildlife ordinance Aug. 14.

The amendment, drafted by township attorney Gerald Fisher, comes in the wake of a lawsuit involving Independence and the Murdoch family, owners of a Siberian tiger and bobcat.

That lawsuit is currently being appealed by the Murdochs in the Michigan Court of Appeals. They were told to remove the animals from their Allen Road farm by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick Mester last year.

As proposed, the amendment would permit wildlife only in approved zoological gardens, which would require a special land use permit.

The temporary or permanent keeping of wild animals would be denied in other circumstances.

In addition, the amendment defines the term "wild animal" as "an animal which is not customarily devoted to the service of mankind." "The characterization of an animal as being wild shall not be altered by virtue of the fact that one or several generations of the animal in question have been maintained in captivity."

The amendment must now go before the township board for a final decision.

Township to help pave roads

Residents on several dirt roads are to receive a little monetary help from Independence Township in paving the roads.

Cedargrove Road and Whipple Shores Drive paving, estimated to cost $103,869, will be funded by the residents; with 10 percent of the fee, not to exceed $10,400, to be paid by the township.

Pine Knob Lane and Stevens Road, north of Maybee Road next to Sashabaw Junior High and elementary schools, is estimated to cost $114,300. The township will pay 10 percent, not to exceed $11,400.

The Pine Knob Lane residents also plan to seek contribution from Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education, said resident Mark Arnold.

The township approved the contributions from the general fund unanimously at the Aug. 19 board meeting.

Supervisor Frank Ronk and Trustee Dan Travis were absent.

"We try to assist residents, when on their own initiative, they attempt something like this," said Trustee Dale Stuart. "Even though we're running a little short (of money); it's the type of initiative we should continue to support."

Join in salute (and good food too!)

No place loves a parade like Clarkston and this Labor Day is no exception.

A "Salute to Independence" parade commemorating the township's 150th birthday is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 1 at 10 a.m.

The parade, sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club, will follow a route beginning at Clarkston Junior High School, going west on Church Street, north on Main and ending at Miller Road.

Prior to the parade, from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m., the Independence Township Fire Fighters Association will host its annual pancake breakfast in the village park off Depot Street.

The all-you-can-eat breakfast includes pancakes, sausage, milk, coffee and juice. Prices for adults are $3 and for children are $2.

Proceeds from the breakfast will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Following the parade from 11:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. the American Legion will sponsor a corn roast at the Campbell Richmond Post 63 located at 8041 M-15 just north of I-75.

Fresh buttered corn, grilled hot dogs, chili dogs, sloppy joes, beverages, homemade desserts and other goodies will be available at reasonable prices.

At noon on Sunday, Aug. 31, the township fire fighters will host their annual waterball competition with various area fire departments.

The competition will be held in the village parking lot off Depot Road.

For further information about these events contact Bob Cesario, 3 E. Church St., Clarkston, 625-1924.

Woman dies after concert

A 33-year-old woman collapsed in the Pine Knob Music Theatre parking lot and later died Aug. 22.

Maria Cartha-Rinz of Ferndale fell and said she was feeling sick in the lot at approximately 10 p.m., according to police reports.

She was transported to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital where she was pronounced dead at 11:49 p.m. by Dr. John Hayden, said the report.

According to the report, Dr. Hayden indicated that the woman died of heart failure. An autopsy was to be conducted Monday.

"There's nothing suspicious about the death," said Lt. Glenn R. Watson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. "It came in as natural causes, but we are investigating it."

Clarkston man held in stabbing

Beard said in the report that McDowell was hit with a baseball bat or similar object. Police confiscated a 1-inch-by-25-inch steel pipe.

"The detention came right after the stabbing," said Doyle. "The victim and his brother subdued him (McDowell) and he was struck with various objects. (He was detained) eventually by half the neighborhood."

McDowell was treated and released with minor injuries at the Clarkston Medical Clinic.

Permit law to be enforced

Village vows to keep watch

By Julie Campe

In the Village of Clarkston, building permits are needed for nearly everything, and the village council has decided to consistently enforce relevant ordinances.

Permits are needed for such projects as building a deck, replacing rotted roof boards, building a bridge, a pond, a fence or any attached structure. A permit is not needed to replace shingles.

It's OK to replace a window without a permit, but not to close it up or create a new one.

The question of enforcement arose at the Aug. 11 meeting. Ted Thomson of the zoning board of appeals and the planning commission asked about the consistency of enforcement. The council decided at the Aug. 25 meeting to enforce, to the best of their abilities, every permit.

"I feel a building permit is a consumer safety," said council president Sharron Catallo.

Village attorney John Steckling agreed, and mentioned the importance of enforcing ordinances. It's not fair to let some building projects pass without permits and require it of others, he said.

If building occurs without a permit and is noticed, a stop work order will be placed on the job until proper permits have been acquired, he said.

In any case, village residents should ask Ken Delbridge about required permits, said Catallo.

Delbridge is director of the Independence Township Building Department and is the agent for the Village of Clarkston.

Although the village does not employ a full time building inspector, a part-time person will be checking the building progress in the Village and reporting on even minor building.

At the grand opening of the Clarkston Office Center, 5850 Lorac in Independence Township, 13 people pose while Judge Gerald McNally and former state Rep. Jim Dunn cut the ribbon. From left (front row), Ken Rogers, McNally, Dunn, Charlie Bowles, Tom Rademacher, Rudy Lozano, [back row] Independence Township Treasurer John Lutz, Oakland County Clerk

Lynn Allen, Oakland County Prosecutor Brooks Patterson, Deputy Oakland County Executive Jim Dunkle, Ed Pierson, Dick Ayers and Richard Kuhn, Jr. Gary Jackson was the architect for the 23,000 sq. ft. building. Owners Bowles, Rademacher, Ayres, Lozano and Rogers plan to build more offices as the need arises.

Sheriff's log

Monday, August 18, was "No Signs Day". Somebody apparently didn't want his neighbor to move because a "For Sale" sign was stolen on Parview Road, Independence Township. On Fawn Valley Road, someone may have wanted to go swimming in a pond because a "No Swimming" sign was knocked down.

Search on for Clarkston Junior Miss contestants

As the Clarkston Junior Miss Program anticipates the celebration of its 25th anniversary, the junior miss committee announces that it is seeking interested contestants.

Plans are underway for the Oct. 25 program and the committee is seeking Clarkston-area high school senior girls.

Barbara Hamaker will be at Clarkston High School on Thursday, Sept. 4 during the lunch hours to sign up interested girls.

On Sept. 8 there will be an orientation meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the high school for participants and their parents.

In addition, the search is on for all former Clarkston junior misses to participate in the anniversary program.

Anyone with information regarding a former junior miss is asked to contact Hamaker.

As part of their annual scholarship fund raising, the Clarkston Junior Miss Committee will be selling carmel apples during the Labor Day Parade and will also be sponsoring a variety of games at the Legion Corn Roast.

Anyone interested in helping or making a donation should contact Hamaker at 625-4041.

Public access may get student

A new part-time employee may be hired to assist in public access cable production if the Clarkston Village Council approves its portion of the costs.

The Independence Township Board voted 5-0 to contribute to the $500 cost to hire a Clarkston High School student part time for the rest of 1986.

The two governmental bodies are to split the expense based on the number of village cable users compared to the number of township cable users.

They are also to split the $1,800 cost for 1987. The employee will work 10 hours per week, be paid $3.35 per hour and will have no benefits. The job begins at the start of the school year.

If the village does not approve the cost, there will not be sufficient funds to hire anyone, said township Trustee Dale Stuart.

Supervisor Frank Ronk and Trustee Daniel Travis were absent from the Aug. 19 meeting.

Dunaskiss has wills

Copies of "fill-in-the-blanks" wills are available at the office of State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss (R-Lake Orion).

The wills are designed to allow Michigan citizens the convenience of a will without the assistance of an attorney.

The forms are recommended for anyone over the age of 18 whose estate is uncomplicated.

Residents of the 61st District, which includes Independence, Springfield, Brandon, Orion, Oxford, Addison and Oakland townships, may obtain copies of the will and brochures explaining the procedure by writing the lawmaker's Lansing Office, Room O Capitol Building, Lansing, MI 48909 or by phoning 1-517-373-1798.

Friendly faces

Johnson 'the best' bartender

By Julie Campe

Dawn Johnson has found her niche. Her bartending career at the Clarkston Cafe has spanned nine years, and she's still contented with her job.

People are what make it enjoyable, she said. "They're nice; they're friendly; they tip big; and they make me laugh," she said.

She enjoys her occupation so much that after she finishes her 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. shift at the Cafe, she works evenings at Harley's in Union Lake.

"I love making Spanish coffees," she said. "People love them, especially in the winter."

The Mount Clemens resident even manages to squeeze in some of her favorite hobbies, such as softball, golf, water skiing and sunbathing.

On a Wednesday afternoon, some of her patrons at the Cafe contributed their opinions about her.

"She's probably the best bartender I've ever seen. . . . She's friendly; she's nice," said Steve Ketchum.

"I don't even drink, and I think she's the best bartender I've seen," said Steve's wife, Leslie.

The management is also pleased with her work.

"She's just great," said manager Lynda Stumph. "She's very responsible. There's always a smile on her face. Many customers come just to see Dawn. She makes everybody really feel at home."

Dawn Johnson has been the daytime bartender at the Clarkston Cafe for nine years, and the patrons have become accustomed to her smiling service. The Mount Clemens resident also plays softball.

Suggestions

Carolyn Walker

Unfortunately, emergencies happen. And they do not discriminate, either.

Recently, a friend of mine had the nasty experience of receiving a phone call in the night announcing that her son had been involved in an automobile accident.

It was the kind of phone call we all dread. The kind that sends fear and panic coursing swiftly through your system.

For me, it was a reminder of our human vulnerability.

But it also brought to mind the many times I sat on the "other" side of the desk as an employee of a local emergency room.

I can't begin to count the number of times I had the unpleasant task of telephoning some unfortunate family to tell them that a loved one needed treatment in our emergency room.

I learned a great deal about coping during that period in my life and often wished I could share my knowledge with others.

Maybe this is my chance.

Here, born of my own experience, are some common sense tips that could help you or someone you love in an emergency:

•Along with your driver's license, always carry your telephone number and that of your nearest relative. And make them easy to locate in a wallet.

Some hospitals will not administer treatment to a patient without proper consent, unless it is a matter of life or death.

If you are unconscious or a minor, consent must be obtained from a responsible relative, such as a spouse or parent.

•If you are vacationing or are away from home, even for a few hours, leave written permission with your babysitter allowing a physician to treat your children.

Area hospitals distribute forms to the public for this purpose and they can be obtained by calling the hospitals' public relations departments.

That note or form should also include your insurance information, any medical allergies and your regular doctor's number, as well as a phone number where you or a grandparent can be reached.

If you are a jogger, cyclist or walker, carry identification, including phone numbers, with you. All too many joggers have been found unconscious, injured or ill by the roadside with no identification.

•Do not swim alone, even if you are an accomplished swimmer. Do not dive into shallow water.

•Do not leave children unattended at pools or lakes—and that means keeping an eye on them. Children have been known to drown while loving parents sat nearby with their eyes buried in a book or newspaper.

•Store your medications and household cleaners, paints, etc. out of the reach of children. Put them under lock and key if you have to—and that goes for you grandparents out there.

Many small children live in safe homes only to visit grandma's, where they get curious about heart medicines and other pills.

•Have the phone numbers of your local police, fire department and poison center near your phone. It doesn't hurt to memorize them.

•Store flammable liquids in proper containers and do not light matches, cigarettes, etc. in a closed garage where fumes may have accumulated.

•Do not drink and drive.

•Do not give your small children hard candies or nuts to eat; and advise your older children not to eat these same items while running or bicycling. A fall is all it takes to choke.

•Wear shoes when you mow the grass. Never use a metal utensil, such as a fork or knife, to reach toast stuck in a toaster; and do not permit your teething infants to chew on electrical cords. Fatal shocks or burns can result.

•Learn how to do cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and the Heimlich Manuever, sometimes called the "hug of life." You never know when you may be called upon to use them. Many hospitals and Red Cross facilities offer these courses.

Some of you may find yourself laughing at these seemingly fundamental tips.

I can tell you, however, that I have seen people die or sustain serious injuries under all of the above circumstances because they didn't follow good judgement.

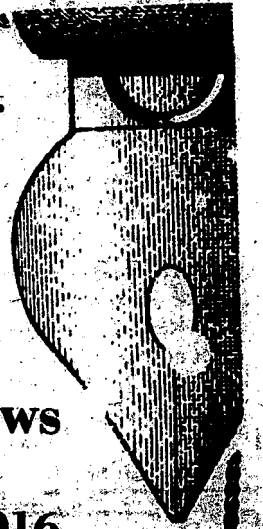

It was so unnecessary. And so sad.

Jim's Jottings

I and motors don't mix. Given the option of having a second motor on anything so-powered and I'd go the extra buck.

Particularly this is true on outboard motors, but it certainly isn't confined to them. This morning a motor went out on a folder in our printing plant.

We bought a machine a few years ago to put one section of a paper inside another. It cost several thousand dollars. Within a year the motor quit. The company said, "Put a fan on it."

Instead we bought a larger motor that wouldn't get hot. It gets hot, and the machine quits. It may not be the motor, but until proven otherwise.

We're on our third motor of our 1984 Olds.

We took some friends out for an evening ride on our new pontoon boat. The new 35 hp motor quit, and we were towed in by a young lad in a rowboat and 5 hp motor.

A couple of us went fishing in the same pontoon boat a year later. A visiting fisherman from Warren hauled us home that time.

Fishing from a pontoon boat is terrible anyway if there is a wind, so I bought a smaller runabout with an 85-horse motor. The first time we put it in the water we took a daughter and friend with us.

When the motor quit on the other side of the lake, Susan and Tim went for the pontoon boat.

The pontoon motor quit just a few hundred feet from our dock.

Last weekend we offered a ride around the lake on our pontoon to our neighbor and their guests.

The motor warmed up just fine, then quit. The guest was an engineer, thank goodness, and he got the motor to run long enough to tour Tan Lake.

Every year the adult education schedule offers "small engine repair" classes, and every year I tell myself to sign up. Every year I don't.

When you live on a couple acres in suburbia, you collect engines like you wouldn't believe.

Lawn mower, roto tiller, string trimmer, tractor, snowmobiles, outboards, my goodness one is always broke. My right arm is seven inches longer than my left just from pulling starting ropes.

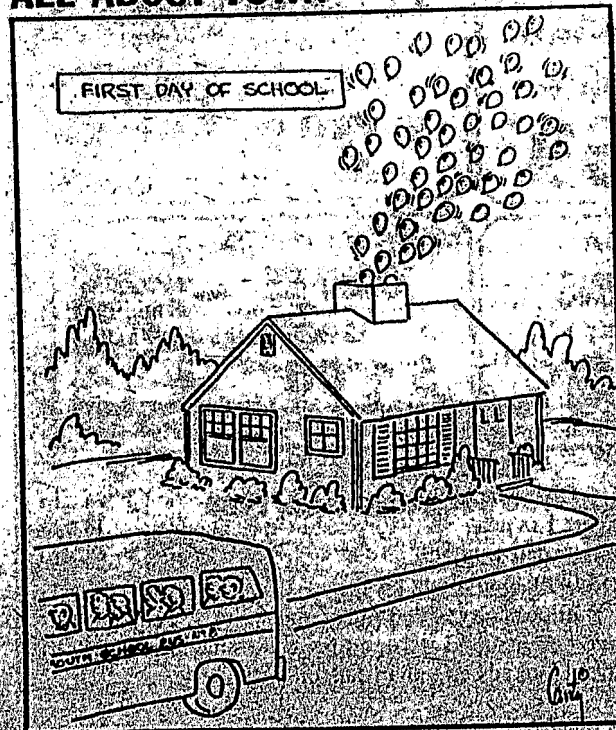

I've had so much experience with spark plugs, AC and Champion are after me as a consultant.

The trouble with spark plugs is a matter of accumulation. Since I never throw anything away, I have drawers full of old spark plugs. And, they are mostly useless. I have no idea when I'll buy another Model A Ford to test the plugs I saved.

However, carburetors are really my speciality. One winter day I installed a carburetor kit on a snowmobile in less time than you can spell R-E-L-I-E-F, or is that Roloids?

I do have a little trouble adjusting carburetors. The only time I can get the screwdriver in the right slot is when the motor is stopped, which is no good at all, which is what I think of all stopped motors.

People will still pay with tax reform

All those who believe they will have more money after the tax reform bill passes, please stand up.

We don't see anyone standing. There is only one place government gets taxes. From the people. Us!

It currently takes more money to run the federal government than we are paying in taxes, hence the deficit.

"Tax reform" almost always means higher income for government. There is no reason to believe this bill will lower government income.

The bill may lower the amount due on April 15. The bill may increase taxes for corporations. The bill may force everyone to pay at least some income tax.

But, to repeat an old phrase, corporations don't pay taxes, people do.

Corporations have to make a profit, they have to satisfy investors by paying dividends, and to do it they have to raise prices to the people . . . and they will.

And, the new bill will not be without loopholes, regardless of what backers say. Before Congress is through, some wording will be able to be interpreted a way perhaps not intended, and attorneys and financiers will find it.

In the end, money usually wins out. That's where the influence comes from toward politicians; that's what the common folks don't have, and aren't likely to have any more of when the tax reform bill becomes law. JAS

Don't complain

This morning, (we) overheard car drivers and their passengers cussing out or about the road construction workers and equipment handlers.

(It) causes us to be ashamed of some people who, I'll bet, have never worked in such dangerous circumstances.

Would they rather the roads being worked on be shut off completely and detours be laid out during the construction time, like on Sashabaw at (the) Lake Oakland area?

Instead of being mad for the inconvenience to them, they should be glad the roads are being fixed. Some will (complain) to have the roads repaired but some will (complain) while they are being fixed.

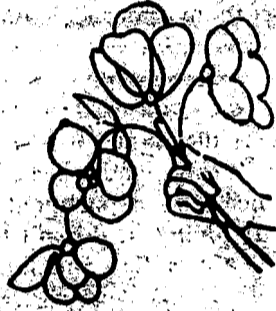

For every worker out there exposed to stupid drivers, they themselves and their loved ones worry for their own safety from drivers sitting comfortably inside cars cussing the workers for just doing their jobs.

A little patience and consideration will do wonders for everybody.

Iva and Alvin Caverly

Optimist Club

The Clarkston Optimist Club was chartered into existence on Wednesday, August 20, 1986.

Thirty-one members of the Clarkston business and professional community were installed as charter members.

The Optimist International is a service organization whose main emphasis is in helping and sponsoring youth-oriented activities. The main thrust has been in drug education, beginning at the elementary school level and up.

This goal has fit in well with the newly installed president of the Clarkston Optimists, James Evans, director of the Consortium for Human Development, a Clarkston counseling clinic and drug abuse center.

Jim has been active in the Rochester Optimist Club for the last three years and was a natural to extend the northward movement to Clarkston.

The other members of the executive board are vice president, Henry Richardson; second vice president, David Kramer; secretary, Dr. Bruce Mercado; and Treasurer, John Lutz.

The membership is by no means closed and new members are welcome and needed.

This is a young group of motivated men anxious to make an impact within the community in which they live and work. If there is any truth to the saying that youth breeds enthusiasm, then the Clarkston Optimists will be a welcome asset to the Clarkston area.

The Club meets at 7:30 a.m. every Wednesday at Zim's Spirits and Eatery, 4880 Baldwin Road, Orion Township.

Dr. Harvey Rose

'If it Fitz . . .'

Hitting 60

Jim Fitzgerald

Terrible Jean, my much older sister, gave me a small birthday party in her yard. In big letters, signs on several trees told the world the bitter truth: "Jim is 60."

A warm greeting card from another sister put it this way: "Your birthday should not go unnoticed. Let's take a moment and think about the word, 'Decrepit.'"

A niece gave me a lovely get-well card with this message: "You don't look bad for 65."

Another sister said the good news was she'd hired four women to dance at my party, and the bad news was "they're all around your age."

A card from yet another sister contained instructions for preparing the birthday cake: "Perhaps it would be better to light just one candle than to curse the brightness."

Actually, there were two candles on the cake, one in the shape of a 6 and the other a 0. The wick on the 0 proved insufficient. No matter how many times it was lit, the flame flickered and went out.

"That impotent candle is aptly symbolic," a brother-in-law said.

Terrible Jean, a commercial artist, created a special birthday card. The message was: "A good brother is hard to beat." The drawing showed a husky woman beating up on her little brother.

And my gift from Terrible Jean was two five-pound dumbbells to help me get in shape to defend myself against much older sisters. When I went home, I had to carry the dumbbells out to the car one at a time.

It should be noted that Terrible Jean is now selling personalized stationery and other paper products under the label: "Notes by Terrible Jean." The woman has no shame. It isn't enough that she gains pleasure from treating me terribly. Now she's making money off my misery.

The most lavishly wrapped gift came from the same brother-in-law who made the insulting crack about the candle. He is even older than Terrible Jean, if you can believe it. He has been retired so long, no one alive can remember what he used to do for a living.

Inside a large box, wrapped in piles of tissue paper was one red tomato. The brother-in-law said he grew it himself. You have never seen an uglier tomato. An attached poem said:

*It's wrinkled and ugly, a tomato disgrace
Worst thing of all - it looks just like your face
A face ravaged by boozing, debauch and sin
In a contest of beauty, the tomato would win!*

Naturally, it was heartwarming to receive so much laudatory attention from my loving relatives simply because of one more birthday. I don't think I deserved it. But, nevertheless, I accepted all their praise and good wishes with sincere gratitude and vowed that someday, by God, I'll get even.

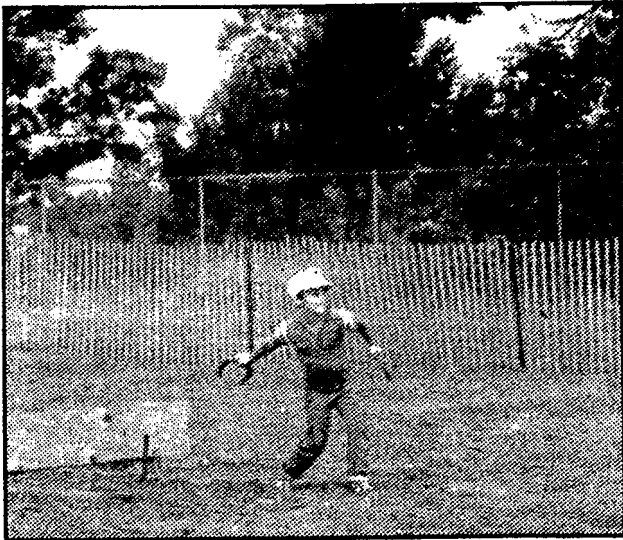

I've been assured by experts that the 60th birthday is a real milestone because it confirms the rapid approach of retirement, Social Security, complete loss of memory, and burial plans. It is much more significant than the 50th birthday when all I had to worry about was midlife crisis and why my wife gave me a book titled: "Middle Age: Change or Die . . . Grow or Stagnate."

It is apparently required that people newly arrived to my position be ever-willing to answer the question: "Well, how does it feel to be 60?"

OK. Mentally, I feel the same as when I was 18 except I'm no longer worried about being drafted. Physically, I can play golf as well today as 42 years ago, but I was awful then, too.

Importantly, I feel lucky that so many people I love have been around so long they can remember way back when I looked better than that tomato.

Lifeguards dive into competition

By Julie Campe

All lifeguards are created equal, or so was the philosophy of last Saturday's competition.

Four Independence Township lifeguards competed in the Auburn Hills First Annual Lifeguard Competition, and they came home better for it, said Chris Kortge.

"We were very proud of everybody, especially considering what the competition was like," he said. "They were all competitive swimmers."

The competition consisted of swimming 350 yards across a lake, paddling a rescue board twice across the lake, running a mile (which a lifeguard never has to do, says Kortge) and swimming to a flag 15 feet under water and retrieving it.

The rowboat event was canceled because the first two contestants broke the oar locks, he said.

Independence's girls' team of Denise DiJanni and Stephanie Moore placed first in front of all other women's teams. They did not finish in the top four of the entire 16 teams, however, so they did not make it to the finals.

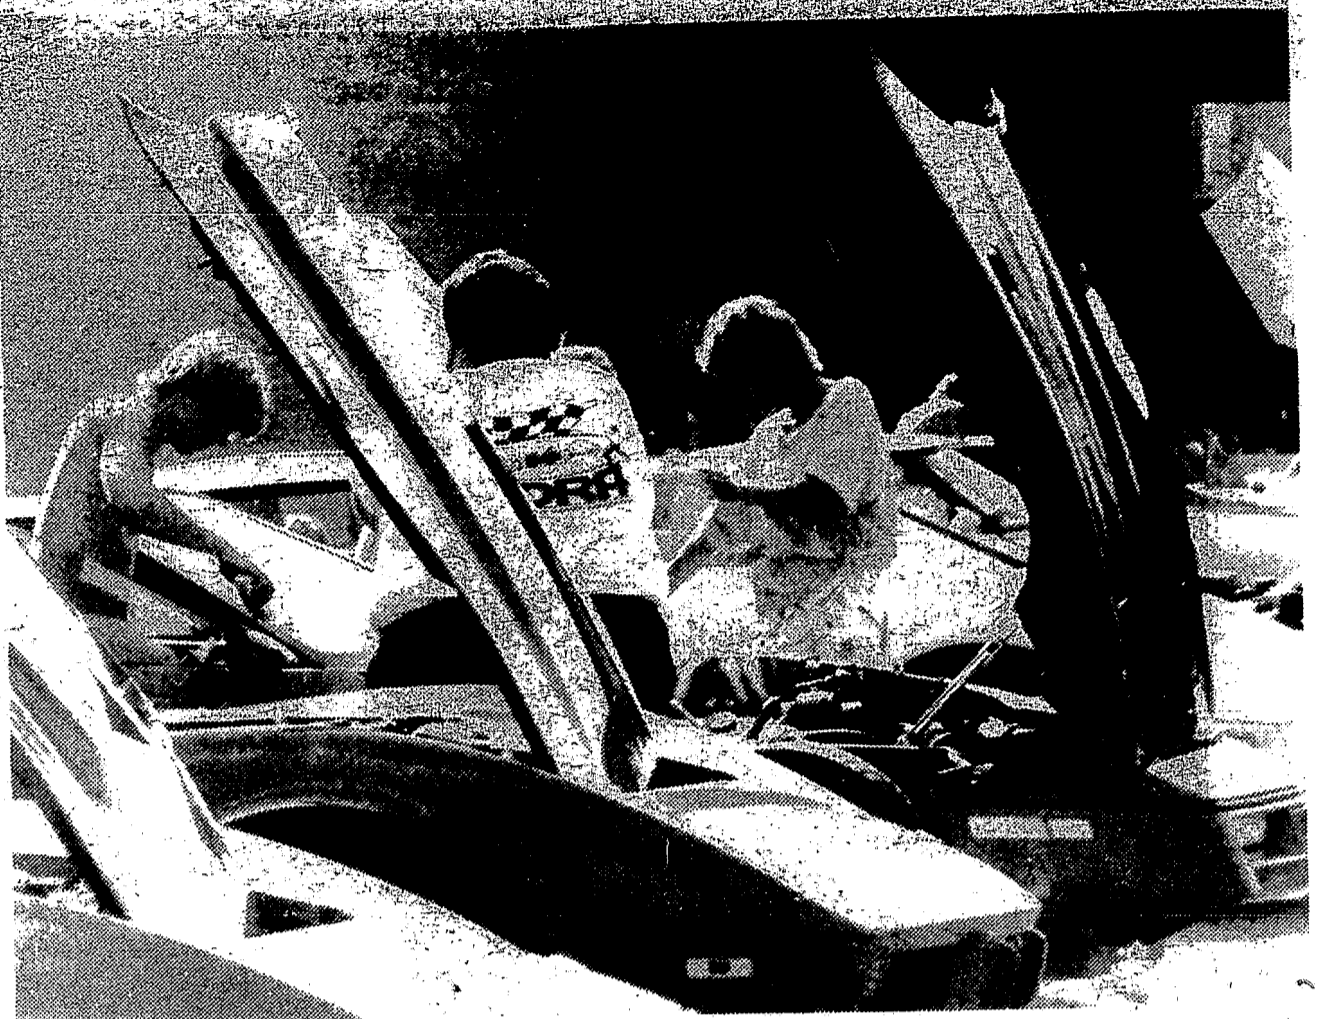

"It didn't matter that they came in first (of the women) in every event because 'all lifeguards are created equal,' they said," said Kortge.

Robert Aitchison and Kortge made up the township's men's team, and Aitchison won the mile run, but they, too, did not make it to the finals.

"We were proud of Rob and the girls' performances," said Kortge. "We're looking forward to next year."

Kortge hopes that some of his suggestions will be used by the competition's organizers for next year's event. He would like to see shorter distances in swimming and running to make it more realistic.

"But it was run pretty well," he said.

Football preview:

Wolves will play wait and see

By Chris Gerbas

Walt Wyniemko will not say whether this year's version of the Clarkston football team will be as good as last season's 6-3 group.

"I am not a prognosticator," said the Wolves' head coach. "The harder we work, the better we'll get."

Gone from last year's team are quarterback Bob LaPort, fullback Mike May and others, such as Dave Lederman, Mike Black and Tom and Jim Ruelle.

Fifty players came out this year, including about 20 seniors. But to listen to Wyniemko last week, it would appear that few positions are decided for the Sept. 5 home opener against Romeo.

Three first-year varsity players are scrambling for the quarterback job: Josh Newblatt, Mark Galen and Brian Galley. As many as eight players could see action in the backfield.

Sports

If anything is set it would be the receiving positions, where the Wolves have three experienced pass-catchers in Dan Jokisch, Jim Hall and Craig Chamberlain. This is the third year on the varsity for each of them.

"If we can find somebody to throw them the ball, they have potential," said receiver and inside linebacking coach Marty Martinez.

"All three are big-play players," said Martinez. "Last year, they went to double-covering Jokisch, but this year they won't be able to do that with the other two guys there."

Wyniemko, naturally, would like a balanced attack from his multiple offense.

"Only time will tell," he said. "If we can't get them (receivers) the ball, that's a problem. If we can't block for (the runners), it's a problem."

"It's precision and meshing points and togetherness," said Wyniemko. "We're going to work on it much more and not just work on it, but execute it."

The defense seems to be just as undecided, but Wyniemko and his two first-year coaches will get a better look at all the players during the first scrimmage this week.

Dan Jokisch catches a pass during CHS varsity football practice.

"They (the defense) have a long way to go," said defensive coordinator Brad Fischer. "There are signs of improvement. Certain people are coming forth. But there's a lot of positions up for grabs and quite a few newcomers."

Among the seniors battling for defensive spots are Matt Stack, Roger Turk, Joe Hamelin, Chuck Hagyard, Hank Zilka, Mike Grable, Norm Carmichael, Rob Ronk and Jeff Billig.

Jokisch will again handle the punting chores and Turk and Chamberlain will placekick.

"They can kick," Wyniemko said. "How consistent we are is what we're working on."

Wyniemko will also have to deal with what he called a very tough schedule. The schedule includes four straight road games, against Waterford Mott, Flint Central, Lake Orion and Midland, before the season finale at home against West Bloomfield.

The Wolves open at home against Romeo and South Lyon and also host Waterford Kettering.

A highlight will be Clarkston's first game ever at the Pontiac Silverdome, against Pontiac Northern. That game is slated as part of a four-game bonanza on Sept. 20 and will begin at 5 p.m.

"It's a nice experience for the kids, but it's another football game," said Wyniemko. "We're not going there to absorb the fun and games, we're there to play a football game."

Along with eight other games. And apparently only time will tell what's in store for the Wolves.

Cross country preview:

Girls will be on the move; boys hope to climb ladder

By Chris Gerbas

Mike Taylor and Mike Kaul are using the same means, but Clarkston's girls and boys cross country teams may reach different ends this season.

The co-coaches did everything they could to attract as much talent to the teams as possible, such as sending out letters to athletes and running an ad on local cable television.

But while the girls will fight for their league title, the boys will try to lift themselves out of the cellar, where they finished last season.

Kathleen McInnis, an all-stater two years in a row, all-league runner Melissa Elfes and Kate Conlen will be the backbone of the girls team.

"That's a real good nucleus for the girls," said Taylor. "They might go 1-2-3 in the league."

The Wolves were runners-up to Lake Orion in the league last year and Taylor wants it all this year.

"That was a disappointment last year," he said. "We had a chance to win it. It'll be a real disappointment if we don't win the league. We're stronger than last year."

The boys team will have to deal with the loss of last season's top runner, Jeff Toretta.

"Toretta was an outstanding individual, but he didn't get very much support," Taylor said.

Last year's number two athlete, Brian Baert, will try to fill Toretta's running shoes. Senior Jeff Funck and junior Jim Hotary should improve, said Taylor.

"I'd like to say we'll be more competitive," Taylor said. "We don't have a lot of depth and we don't have a star up front. But we do have a real good attitude and they work their butts off."

Both teams have had to work hard and often this month since the season gets under way next Thursday with the Rochester Invitational.

Taulbee heads for hoops at OCC, then on to BG

On a trip to Cedar Point's rides, Michelle Taulbee decided to take a ride by Bowling Green University and she liked what she saw.

Taulbee, who starred in both basketball and volleyball before graduating from Clarkston, will play hoops for the Falcons.

But first she'll have a one-year stopover at Oakland Community College.

"A lot of people say it's really hard your first year (of college)," said Taulbee. "This will give me a chance to get my feet wet and get ready for Bowling Green."

Taulbee had considered some other schools, including Wayne State and a school in Rhode Island. A few other colleges didn't get back to her with offers, but OCC definitely wanted her for basketball. She'll get a scholarship for her second semester.

"He (coach Larry Hojna) was happy I was going to play for them," Taulbee said. "We had a summer league that ended a couple weeks ago. He had me inside and at outside shooting forward, like I played in high school."

Taulbee doesn't know how much she'll play this season, but she's hoping she can get Bowling Green's coach to watch her.

"I haven't gotten it all straightened out yet," she said. "I have to see if I can get a basketball scholarship or if I can try out for an academic scholarship."

If a spot on the Falcons' basketball team falls through, Taulbee could switch to volleyball since their team was interested in her. Either way, she'll stay at Bowling Green to get a degree in illustration.

What's the key this year, Coach?

Chris Gerbasi

It's time once again for the fall sports season to begin and to get a preview of what to expect from coaches, let's go to our New York studio where Brent Hamburger is standing by live with Coach Al DeCliche. Brent?

BRENT: Thanks, Chris. Yes I am here with Coach DeCliche, where a dramatic story is unfolding. As I'm sure you're all aware of, Coach DeCliche and his Garfield Institute of Pavement football team have a 109-game winning streak. With two more victories, the Steamrollers will break the all-time high school record. Coach, thank you for joining us. Can you break the record?

DeCLICHE: Well, Brent, we're really not thinking about the record. As a matter of fact, I didn't even know about the record until you just mentioned it. I don't pay attention to those kinds of things.

BRENT: Now that you know about the record, how will you approach it?

DeCLICHE: Well, Brent, we're just going to go out there and play one game at a time. Of course, it would be kind of difficult to play two games at a time, why we'd have to get another field and some more players and . . .

BRENT: What would the record mean to you, Coach?

DeCLICHE: Well, Brent, it wouldn't really mean anything to me. It's just another game. All that matters is that 'W'. It would mean that we've been fairly successful.

BRENT: Some experts are saying that you may have the finest high school team ever.

DeCLICHE: Well, Brent, you have to remember that before this winning streak, we had lost 110 games in a row. I just think things are starting to even out.

BRENT: You've won your state championship seven years in a row.

DeCLICHE: We've had some breaks go our way.

BRENT: You outscore your opponents by an average of 35 points.

DeCLICHE: We have an opportunistic offense.

BRENT: Your defense hasn't allowed a point for three years.

DeCLICHE: We bend but we don't break.

BRENT: Let's face it, Coach, you play a powder-puff schedule and you're not going to lose a game this year.

DeCLICHE: We're not going to look past anyone. On any given day, any team can beat any other team.

BRENT: Okay Coach, let's take a look at your team. Your quarterback, John Whitebread, is being recruited by all of the top colleges in the country.

DeCLICHE: Well, Brent, he may not start. We haven't decided who's going to start yet. It's a dogfight right now. Any one of 16 kids could start at quarterback.

BRENT: What about your fullback, Joe Cement?

DeCLICHE: He has all the potential in the world. He gives 110 percent. He'd run through a brick wall for you. I've seen him do it. Did it last week. He's out for the year.

BRENT: That's too bad. How about your defense? You have some of the biggest players in the country.

DeCLICHE: The best defense is a good offense. If we can't control the ball, then that will put pressure on our defense.

BRENT: This week you play archrival Holy Father St. Don Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic School for the Religiously Athletic. How does that game shape up?

DeCLICHE: They've got a tough team as always. We'll have to play hard. I think if we score more points than they do we'll be in pretty good shape.

BRENT: One last question, Coach, how do you think you'll do this season?

DeCLICHE: Well, Brent, if we work hard and mature as a team, stay healthy, have some bounces go our way, I think we're very capable of playing a nine-game schedule.

BRENT: Thanks, Coach. Now back to Chris in the booth.

Soccer preview:

Wolves will not need to rebuild

By Chris Gerbasl

Any high school team that lost 11 seniors would usually follow with the traditional "rebuilding" year. But Neil Granlund is confident about his Clarkston boys soccer team this season.

"They got in two sessions of indoor soccer, some were on a traveling team in the spring and they had a session at a soccer camp this summer," said Granlund. "They gained a lot of experience that way."

Gone from last year's 11-5-2 club are such players as Phillippe Duchene, the leading scorer in the county a year ago, Ron Forbes, Tom Purves and J.R. Keelin.

This season Granlund will count on senior forwards Matt Beamer and Greg Cherniak and midfielder Mike Koslosky.

Junior Curt Caruso will also contribute at forward and senior Mark Whitcomb will handle the goaltending chores. Whitcomb played the last two years on the junior varsity squad and has the most experience in the nets.

"The skill level is up all the way around, in ballhandling, shooting, dribbling, trapping and passing," said Granlund. "It's much higher than it has been."

This is only the fourth season for Clarkston soccer and Granlund said when the program started many of his players had never played soccer before.

"The players now in our youth program start as young as five," he said. "When we started practice,

Ron Forbes, with shirt, practices with the Clarkston soccer team last week. Forbes has graduated, but Wolve coach Neil Granlund expects an even stronger team this season.

we had 54 players report."

Granlund will carry about 17 or 18 players and he's conducting two practice sessions a day in preparation for the North Oakland Soccer League.

Waterford Mott and Waterford Kettering have joined the league this season to make it an eight-team league.

Granlund expects Lake Orion and Milford to be somewhere near the top of the standings at the end of the year, as well as the Wolves.

Another new twist this year is an expanded playoff format, which will feature district and regional action similar to the basketball format leading up to the finals at Bloomfield Hills Andover.

Forbes will try fortunes at Spring Arbor

By Chris Gerbas

Although Ron Forbes still practices with the Clarkston soccer team, he's ready to move on to bigger things.

Forbes, who graduated this year, is trying to make the Spring Arbor College team this season.

"I've been here the last three years. It wouldn't be the same if I wasn't here," said Forbes while taking a breather from a Wolves scrimmage.

But this week Forbes and fellow grad Tom Purves will be working out with Spring Arbor, which is just outside Jackson.

They both trained there last spring under coach Fletch Simpson.

"He's for everybody there," said Forbes, a midfielder. "He doesn't just want you for the soccer team, he wants you to learn and go to school and get a good education."

But Forbes does not have the team made. He's cautious about his chances.

"You have to run three miles in 18 minutes," he said. "They want people in shape. They don't want anyone lagging or dragging."

"There's 29 guys trying for 18 positions," said Forbes. "I have just as good a chance as anybody else. I'm hoping they have a JV team. That would be nice so I could get into it slow and concentrate on grades more."

Forbes and Purves helped Clarkston to an 11-5-2 record last year. That team also included J.R. Keelin, who is going to Stetson, and Derek Brown, who is trying out at Oakland University.

Forbes definitely wanted to go somewhere where he could play soccer. He was considering Oakland Community College, but thought he'd give Spring Arbor a shot.

"It's a lot better deal," he said. "I can get away from home...not that I want to get away from home."

Ron Forbes, who graduated from Clarkston this year, is trying out for the Spring Arbor College soccer team this week.

His whole family got away from home last summer when they went to Italy and Forbes got a chance to play for an Italian team in a tournament. Soccer, of course, dominates European sports.

"They kept the ball away from me, they didn't trust me," said Forbes. "But when I did get the ball, I made two assists."

"They thought I was a pretty good player and that was a compliment for me," he said.

Now he'll see what the Spring Arbor team thinks of him.

Seniors lose finale

Clarkston's senior softball team fell short in its quest for a division title, losing 15-5 to Troy last week.

The Merchants had to settle for second place with a 7-4 record. Troy wound up 8-3. The Troy squad had also downed Clarkston two weeks ago, 4-3, to set up the showdown for the A-Division championship.

"That was the worst we've gotten beat in the four years I've been here," said Merchant manager John Thomas of the finale loss. "It was just one of those days."

Clarkston's B- and C-teams also finished second in their senior divisions, which are for players 55 and older. They were both 8-4.

All three teams started out the summer with 6-0 records, before slipping a bit.

"We didn't play the way we should have," Thomas said of the last half of the season. "I think we took it for granted and it kind of affected us in practice."

Thomas has lined up some new recruits for next year and said that all three senior teams should be improved.

IT CAN BE HARD TO GET YOUR MUFFLER REPLACED IF THERE'S A HOLE IN YOUR GUARANTEE.

With some muffler guarantees, it seems like the only thing that's guaranteed is a hassle.

Because a guarantee that's good in only a few locations is no good if you're far from those locations.

Nor will it last very long if the place you got it from is out of business in a year.

For the past 30 years, Midas has made its guarantee so solid you won't have any hassles.

If anything should ever go wrong with your Midas Gold Muffler, we'll replace it free for as long as you own your car.

At over 1500 locations. In all 50 states. Period.

So before you buy your next muffler, look at the guarantee.

And come to Midas for one that's filled with value instead of holes.

Netters will have top four players back

Under the watchful eye of coach Dick Swartout, Jenny DuPre and her Clarkston teammates hope to contend for the Greater Oakland Activities League championship. The Wolves have their top four singles players returning.

By Chris Gerbas

Dick Swartout hasn't really been able to evaluate his girls tennis team yet, but he knows he'll be able to rely on four players.

With several girls on vacation this month, Swartout won't make his final cuts until next week.

He does know that his top four singles players are back, including number one, Ashley Adams.

"I assume Ashley will play well and we have a lot of players returning with experience that I expect to do well," said Swartout.

Adams went 14-4 last year and advanced to the state regional semifinals. Also returning are Coreen Hummel, Rhonda Bowes and Shelley Rood.

"We'll wind up with pretty much all new doubles players," Swartout said. "We have some sophomores who will challenge for singles, except for number one."

The Wolves were 7-7 last season, good for second in the Greater Oakland Activities League behind Lake Orion.

"They're our main competition," said Swartout. "We've gotta beat them. I expect it to come down to Lake Orion and us to challenge."

Driver's ed, this isn't

In Pine Knob lot, cops
learn to handle cars

By Chris Gerbas

Flying in a car through a winding course, one gets the impression Deputy Ed Stout enjoys his work.

Stout and Ron Hoskins, both of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, are teaching a driving course at the Pine Knob parking lot this summer.

The course is for road officers as well as officers just out of the police academy.

"Some guys come out and think they know everything, but they don't know everything they need to know," said Stout, who has been teaching since the mid-'70s.

The course consists of a quick lane change, a tight half-circle, a serpentine, a sharp J-turn and a brake and steer section.

Stout traveled the course at hair-raising speeds without so much as nicking a cone.

A passing time is 1 minute 40 seconds through the course twice. For each cone knocked down, one second is added to the time. Stout can go through in about a minute and a half.

"You won't run into these situations every day (on the job)," he said. "But it gives an idea of how the car handles."

"How many times on the highway are you going to be in a situation that tight and be able to do it the wrong way?" said Stout. "This is the proper way of teaching."

A driving student zigzags through the course set up by Deputies Ed Stout and Ron Hoskins of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

They help hone the skills of both experienced officers and new officers.

Look who's got the golden touch.

Burnell focuses on 'Country Cable'

As new cable-TV supervisor for Independence, he's right at home

By Julie Campe

The school of hard knocks, along with a few college courses, educated Joel Burnell in the world of cable production, he said.

The Independence Township resident is United Cable's new community access supervisor, and he's eager to meet the challenge.

It all began with Burnell's love of music. He first sang and played the guitar on Channel 62, and next produced his own shows.

Eventually, he did some commercial work, even directing Mel Farr's (superstar) auto commercials. He's responsible for the special effects showing Farr and Billy Sims flying through the air.

"I got quite an education there, from the camera all the way up," he said.

This led to a job with United Cable (then called Tribune/United). His past experience for the company included work in the Independence Township, Royal Oak and Orion Township offices.

He's presently responsible for coordinating the public access program and getting groups involved in Channel 11, WATV.

The public access channels show electronic classified ads and Clarkston Schools, religious, government and library bulletins.

Channel 11 is a non-profit production of local people and their show ideas. No fee is charged to produce a show. Interested people may simply contact Burnell, complete one of three free workshops and get to work.

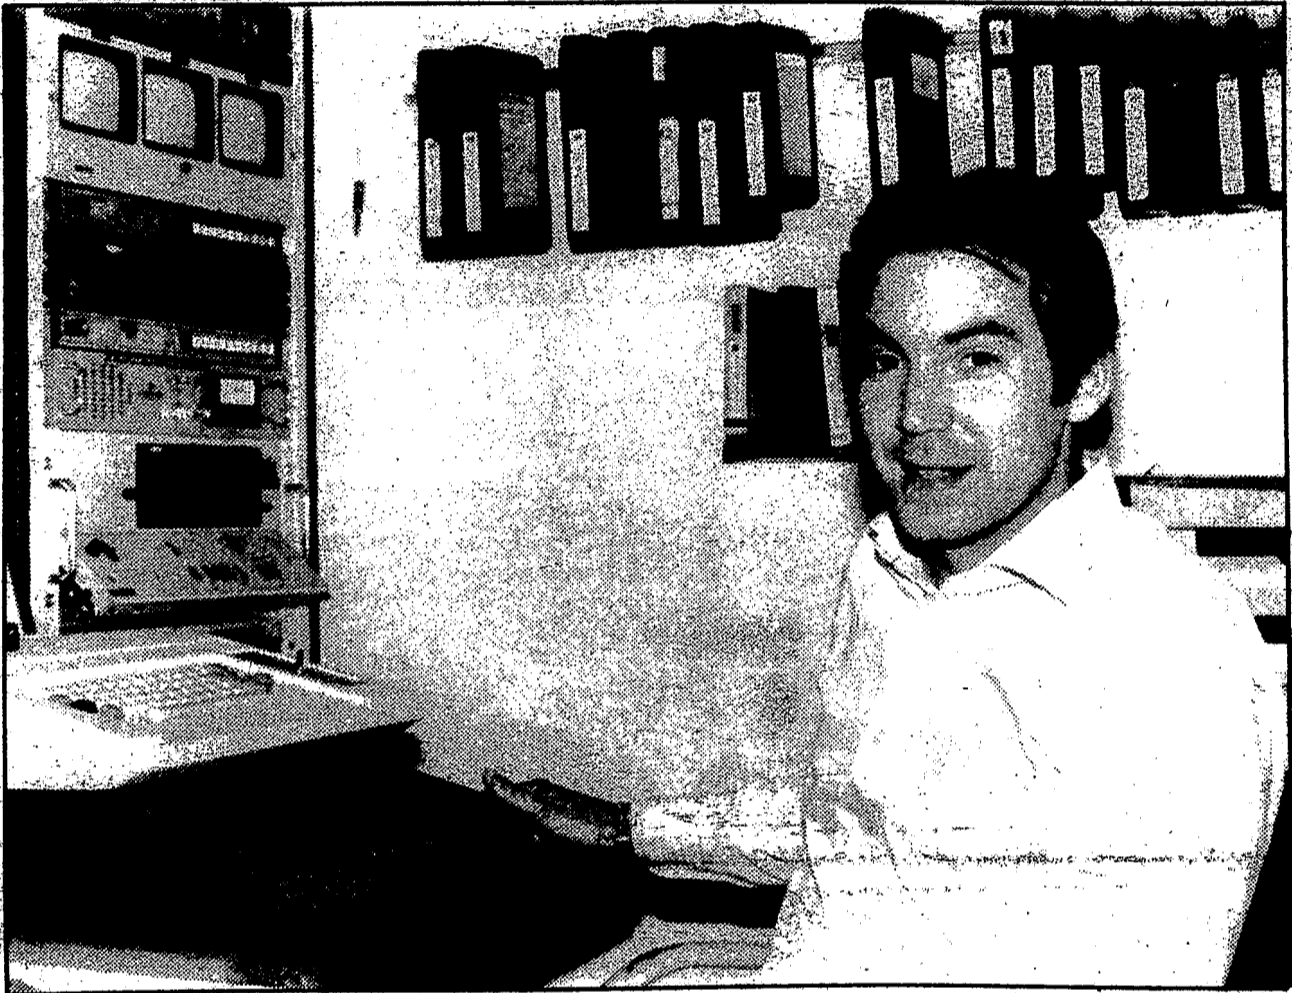

"Mainly, I just oversee the operations. I don't give them ideas. Hopefully, they have their own ideas," said Burnell. "I try to let them do as much of it as they can, because it's fun for them. Plus, it's their own creation."

With a little imagination, an appropriate set can be made. Betty Wagner's Microwave Plus is a good example, he said. With a few cabinets and a microwave, the set looks complete.

"And after she gets done, she leaves the goodies for us," he said, mentioning the brownies he had eaten following her show.

He also oversees the Clarkston High School advanced media class productions, and he enjoys seeing the students create.

"They probably get more experience here in high school than in most colleges, just because of the facilities," he said. "Each one is trained in a different area."

This year, the class will film and air CHS football games.

"It will take about the whole season to get the bugs out," he said, but in the future they may air other local sports as well.

He enjoys most aspects of his job, he said, but one of the best is the location.

Born and raised in Independence Township, he graduated from CHS in 1978.

"Working here is a lot of fun for me because there are a lot of familiar faces," he said. "And I'm really good at giving directions. They (United Cable employees) call this 'Country Cable' because it's way up her in the boonies.

"I like the excitement of the whole industry itself," he said.

Ron Howard hopes for Mr. Michigan title

Ron Howard will be one of 70 contestants in the Mr. Michigan U.S.A. Pageant on Wednesday.

By Julie Campe

Ron Howard, 28, doesn't like to model, and he doesn't like to dance, but he is a semi-finalist in the Mr. USA Michigan Men's Pageant this week, which requires both skills.

He'll have to wear a bathing suit and a tuxedo, and dance in the opening number. And if all goes well, he'll be asked an on-the-spot question during the finals.

"It's funny because I'm into body building, and (my fiance) Toni called them, and they said they weren't looking for the body building type," said Howard, who has a Clarkston mailing address.

He was one of 70 out of 180 applicants chosen from an interview to participate in the pageant.

"I've lost about 25 pounds for this," he said. "It's mostly the smaller guys who win."

Besides body building, Howard likes other physical activities. He runs and bikes, and he owns his own landscaping business.

Other than that, he likes to relax at home, he said.

"Believe it or not, I like to cook," he said. "Toni is a gourmet cook, so she teaches me a lot. I like to make baked chicken—it's the simplest—and Toni makes a lot of different sauces to go with it. We've gotten into the health food now, so we don't use too much salt or sugar."

So, what qualifies Howard for the title of Mr. Michigan?

"They told us they were looking for the boy next door," he said. "I don't think I'm better than anyone. I think I'm at least equal. . . . It's the experience, anyway."

"He's just real down to earth," said Toni. "He's just not your typical weightlifter. Most of them want to stand out in a crowd. He'd rather not be noticed in a crowd. He's shy. People like that."

The winner of the Mr. Michigan title will receive $25,000 in prizes and scholarships, and possibly other benefits, he said. The winner will also compete in the Mr. U.S.A. Pageant in California.

For Howard, it's the experience that matters most, he said.

"I've been in body building contests before, so I'm just treating it like that."

Play tickets on sale

Season tickets are now available for the 26th season of plays put on by the Clarkston Village Players.

Season tickets are $18 for one set of four. They regularly sell for $5 a piece.

Productions planned by the community theater group at the Depot Theater, 4681 White Lake Road, Independence Township, include the following:

• "A Murder is Announced" by Agatha Christie, a mystery, Oct. 24, 25, 31 and Nov. 1, 7, 8.

• "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" by Paul Zindel, a drama, Jan. 16, 17, 23, 24, 30 and 31.

• "The Gin Game" by D. L. Coburn, a tragic-comedy, March 13, 14, 20, 21, 27 and 28.

• "Saving Grace" by Jack Sharkey, a romantic comedy, May 8, 9, 15, 16, 22 and 23.

To order tickets, send a check or money order to Clarkston Village Players, P.O. Box 214, Clarkston, 48016. Include the dates you wish to see the plays and the tickets will be mailed directly to you.

Bazaar slated

Have a hankerin' to sell a craft?

Non-profit groups are invited to become part of this year's Clarkston SCAMP Charity Bazaar.

The bazaar, scheduled for Oct. 6 through 11 is to be held at the Summit Place in Waterford Township. Handmade and homemade items may be sold at rented booths.

Daily cash prizes will be given to booths judged on their creativity, displays, costumes and merchandising following the theme "Michigan Look About You."

Proceeds from the booth rentals go to Clarkston SCAMP, a summer day program for handicapped youth.

Groups wishing to participate in the bazaar should contact Jack Hunt, 332-4178 or Sandy Scutt, 394-0190.

Spiders drive her buggy

Michelle Blomberg

Everyone has fears. I know I do. But while some people are fearing war or dying, I'm fearing my next encounter with a spider.

I'm scared to death of spiders. Don't ever leave me alone in a room with one because I would first freeze in my tracks and then I'd become hysterical. I would probably scream for help or start crying, depending on how big the spider is.

I know, I know, I'm huge compared to a little spider. Most spiders are totally defenseless next to a human being. I should not be afraid of a little insect with eight legs. But I can't help it. I've always been and I always will be.

Not all spiders bother me. Tiny ones that are less than half a centimeter long don't really shake me up. Granddaddy spiders bother me, but not too much. The big yellowish-brown ones that build their webs in the grass are a different story. They bother me a lot. I hate it when I'm cutting the lawn and I come up to a web with a spider in it.

Usually I'll run right over it and kill the little creep.

What I hate most about other outdoor spiders is the locations of their webs. It is the worst feeling when you are walking on a path through the woods and you feel something soft and threadlike break against your face. Right then you know you've walked through a spider web.

You immediately tear at your cheeks with your hands, slapping off any of the remaining web. Then you shake your head and run your fingers through your hair making sure there is no spider in it.

Or maybe you're walking down a wooded path and you come to a huge web strung across it with a huge spider sitting right in the middle.

But you don't see this spider and its web until you are just about to walk into it. Then you catch yourself and you jump back, your heart beating rapidly. You cringe at the thought of what might have happened if you hadn't seen the spider.

But what really takes the cake when it comes to spiders is the large brown kind that appears every once in a while in your house.

If I'm watching TV and I look up and see a spider crawling down the wall, my eyes become frozen to it while my lungs scream for my mom.

My mom isn't too brave when it comes to spiders either, but she's not as chicken as I am. Last time we had a spider in the house, my mom got rid of it by sucking it up in the vacuum.

I hate knowing the fact that on a given day, even if there are no spiders visible in our house, that doesn't mean there aren't any hiding. Once when I was four years old, I heard the ice cream truck coming. I ran to my room, threw open my closet, took my shoes out and started putting them on.

One shoe was half way on when all of a sudden a big brown spider scrambled out of the shoe and onto my foot.

I don't remember how I reacted but I know I was badly frightened. To this day I still check my shoes before putting them on.

I know a lot of people think it's ridiculous to be afraid of spiders, but I don't. Spiders are gross! The way they move—scurry then pause, scurry then pause—it's gross.

The fact that they make disgusting webs for the purpose of catching bugs and sucking their blood is sick.

Also, the way they dangle on a web from a beam, their legs flailing, just makes me want to scream.

Spiders are disgusting and frightening and I know a lot of you agree with me.

Anglers' lines

Nineteen youths baited their hooks and participated in a fishing contest at the Springfield Township Mill Pond on Aug. 16.

The event, sponsored by Scout Troup 192 was a part of Summer Fun Day sponsored by the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Commission.

Winners in four age categories were:

•Seven year olds and under: Jeff Chambers, longest fish, 7 3/4-inch perch; Jeremiah Burger, most fish, 12.

•Eight-, nine- and ten-year-olds: Keri James, 8 1/4-inch bass; Jerry Spencer most fish, 26.

•Eleven-, twelve- and thirteen-year-olds: Adam Bane, longest, nine-inch cat fish.

•Fourteen-, fifteen- and sixteen-year-olds: Mike Pfanning, longest 4 1/2-inch bluegill.

Honors

Traci Leana Sherman is on the dean's list at David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tenn.

She recorded a perfect 4.0 grade point average for the spring quarter, which is required for placement on the dean's list.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sherman of Bridge Lake Road, Springfield Township.

Harmon N. Sage, a Woodglen, Independence Township resident, received a specialist in arts degree from Eastern Michigan University June 25.

Goerss, Beattie join hearts in Hartland

Amy Elizabeth Goerss and Thomas James Beattie were united in marriage at the St. Augustine Church in Hartland on June 28.

The Rev. Douglas Trebilcock and Father William Carolin performed the ceremony for 200 guests.

The bride wore a cathedral length train of white organza with hand sewn sea pearls on the neckline and bodice. She carried calla lillies and white roses.

Mary Ann Winter, the bride's sister of Spring, Texas, was the matron of honor. She wore a full length dusty rose dress made of light weight taffeta. Bridesmaids were Leila Zagar of Laguna, California; Lisa Collins of Lockport, New York; and Susan Beiter of Rochester, New York. All wore pink taffeta dresses.

Best man was Brad Beattie, the groom's brother. Groomsmen were Matt Goerss, Jon Kenyon and Dan Rush. The ring bearer was Joshua Goerss of Fenton.

The reception was held at Heather Highlands Golf Club in Holly.

The bride's parents are William and Arline Goerss of Fenton. She is currently enrolled at the University of Detroit-Clarkston.

The bridegroom's parents are Robert and Doris Beattie of Independence Township. A graduate of Michigan State University, he works in production control at AC Spark Plug Division-General Motors.

The couple took their wedding trip to Sanibel Island, Florida. They reside in Independence Township.

Newlyweds: Tom and Amy Beattie

New arrival

NOTICE
PUBLIC MEETINGS
FOR M-24 WIDENING
LAKE ORION, MICHIGAN

The Michigan Department of Transportation is calling public meetings from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. and 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, September 4, 1986 at the Lake Orion Village Hall, 37 E. Flint, Lake Orion, Michigan.

The purpose of this meeting is to provide area citizens the opportunity to view the plans and discuss right-of-way acquisition procedures for the portion of M-24 from Clarkston Road in Orion Township to Elizabeth Road in the Village of Lake Orion, Oakland County. This project was discussed at a public hearing held July 24, 1986.

Department representatives will be present to discuss the relocation services and payments that will be available to all relocatees. Relocation assistance for displaced occupants is based on occupancy of the home at the time of purchase negotiations. Moving costs, funds to purchase housing, rental payments, and other benefits will be made available to eligible occupants whether they own or rent the housing to be purchased for the right-of-way.

Because no formal presentation will be given, please feel free to stop in any time between 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. or between 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. To further assist you, information on this project or any Michigan Department of Transportation planning project may be obtained by calling (617) 373-9534.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed bid proposals for the construction of a new Fire Station, Independence Township, 7825 Sashabaw Rd., Clarkston, MI will be received by the Owner, Independence Township, c/o Chief Dale Bailey, Independence Township Fire Department, 3 Church St., Clarkston, MI 48016, until 3:00 p.m., Tues., Sept. 16, 1986 after which all bids will be publicly opened and read.

Bidding documents may be obtained from the Architect, G.H. Forbes Associates, 231 S. Woodward, Birmingham, Michigan 48011 (313) 642-3430 on or after August 26, 1986 upon payment of a $100.00 deposit per set, refundable.

The work consists of demolition of the existing structure and construction of a new one-story 6,400 sq. ft. fire station with brick exterior walls, block backup, steel frame, concrete floor construction, metal roof.

Each Bidder must deposit with his bid a 5% bid bond, certified check or bank draft. The successful bidder will be required to furnish Performance Bonds and Labor & Material Bonds each in the amount of 100% of the contract amount.

Springfield puts out call for quilters

The Springfield Township Sesquicentennial Steering Committee is conducting a search for quilters throughout Michigan and surrounding states.

Heritage quilts, new or old, are wanted for the sesquicentennial quilting show, Oct. 18 and 19. The show is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. both days.

Quilts should be insured if mailed, and an N.O.A. certified teacher, Jan Parcell, will have the expertise needed to display your quilt, according to a press release from Neighbor for Neighbor, Inc.

Sesquicentennial quilters have taken on the project of making seven hand-sewn, queen-size quilts, five of which are to be raffled off.

The raffle drawing is planned for 3 p.m. on Oct. 19 at the quilting show.

Tickets for the show can be purchased at the Springfield Township Hall in downtown Davisburg, or from members of Neighbors for Neighbors, Springfield Historical Society, Rotary Anns or Sesquicentennial Quilt Committee, all of which are sharing in the event.

To inquire or obtain forms contact Deanna Lopez, 634-5674.

Incredible edibles

Take it easy

Meal planners intent on enjoying the final days of summer will want to try refreshing Summer Chicken with Green Grapes and quick-to-prepare Porcupine Balls.

The recipes are reprinted from "Incredible Edibles," a cookbook published by the Clarkston Community Women's Club.

SUMMER CHICKEN WITH GREEN GRAPES

- 2 1/2-3 pound fryer chicken, cut up
- 1/2 lemon
- 1/2 cup butter, melted
- 1/2 cup white wine
- 1 cup seedless green grapes
- Paprika

Halve a lemon. Rub well over chicken pieces with the cut side. Sprinkle with salt. Let dry on rack 15 minutes.

Heat 1/2 cup butter or margarine in skillet until bubbly. Brown chicken in butter (about 10 minutes); turning. Pour in 1/2 cup wine; spoon sauce over chicken.

Cover; simmer until chicken is tender (30-35 minutes). Add seedless green grapes, simmer 3 more minutes. Dash generously with paprika. Pass sauce in a bowl. Serves 4-6.

—Dorothy Lowe, Clarkston PORCUPINE BALLS

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1/2 cup rice (uncooked), washed
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 1 can concentrated tomato soup
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup water
- 2 tablespoons fat, melted
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt

Blend beef, rice, green pepper, onion, salt and pepper together. Shape into meatballs about the size of a walnut. Arrange balls in a large heavy skillet.

Pour tomato soup, water and melted fat over meatballs. Use high heat until steaming. Turn to lowest heat and cook 45 minutes. Serves 4.

—Anna Correll, Detroit

Proceeds from the sale of "Incredible Edible" cookbooks are used on community service projects. The $6 books are available at the Independence Township Library, Village Bookstore, Carol's Village Grill, Gayanne's Floral Concept and Pontiac State Bank's downtown Clarkston branch.

SESQUICENTENNIAL

SPECIAL SESQUICENTENNIAL EDITION

Col. Sidney Waldon: He named Pine Knob

By Carolyn Walker

To hear Anna Bennett tell it, Col. Sidney Dunn Waldon was a man extraordinary.

He was an African adventurer who boated down the Congo, an avid aviator who flew with the Wright brothers, a leader who helped get the United States Air Force its military status and who founded the air strip that was to become Selfridge Air Force base.

He was also a lover of simple nature and beauty.

Waldon chose to express that love on the hills of Pine Knob, where he resided with his second wife, Helen.

Aside from his home and his namesake, which adorns a local road, Waldon left behind very little evidence that he ever called Independence Township home.

But his memory lives on vibrantly in Anna's mind.

Anna, now 85, and her husband, Clifford, who is deceased, raised their two children in Waldon's presence at a home on Pine Knob while Clifford worked as chauffeur for Helen.

"This is what Mrs. Waldon used to tell us," says Anna as she recounts the story of Col. Waldon.

He was born and raised in London, England, and for unknown reasons, came to reside in America.

During World War I, he went into the armed forces as a captain and a member of the signal corps, where he was eventually promoted to colonel, Anna says.

"By his walk, you could tell he had done a lot of marching," she says dreamily. "He had a fabulous walk."

Following his first wife's death, Waldon joined four companions for a journey through Africa which began in Cairo.

They traveled up the Congo River "to where they could go no longer by boat and then they walked across Africa and landed in Cape Town," Anna explains.

While his companions toted guns, Waldon was content to record his exploits on film. "His was all with a camera," Anna says, attesting to his love of nature.

After his return to America, Waldon moved from Birmingham, Mich., to Pine Knob into what "was supposed to have been a bachelor's home," Anna says.

That mansion-home, which he built, is now the Mansion Restaurant.

According to Anna, Waldon purchased nearly 900 acres and several farms surrounding the hill, which he named Pine Knob.

She recalls that Pine Knob is one of the highest hills in Oakland County and that during his days on the hill, when there were fewer trees, one could see buildings in Detroit from Waldon's residence.

Anna and Clifford shared that view with Waldon from the home he provided them alongside his. The Bennetts resided in the house that is now LaVeranda Ristorante.

According to Anna, Clifford was picked to be Helen's chauffeur after she came to the Riker garage in Pontiac seeking a driver.

Clifford was selected to drive her to Detroit in 1927. "After that, she wouldn't have anyone else," says Anna, adding that he stayed until 1940.

While living at Pine Knob, Waldon maintained an interest in automobiles and airplanes and was active in air racing.

After his stint in World War I, he worked as an engineer for the Packard motor company and then for Cadillac.

In addition, he was a co-founder of the Lincoln Highway in Detroit, according to Anna.

Following the bombing of Pearl Harbor, "the country called him again," she says, adding that he went to Hamilton, Ohio, as a counselor for General Engineering Co.

Waldon died of a heart attack in Hamilton in [See WALDON, continued on Page 11]

Anna Bennett, now 85, fondly remembers life at Pine Knob with the Waldons.

How Pelton Road got its name

By Julie Campe

Betty Pelton is a small woman with white hair and a peachy complexion, but it's her eyes that tell of her 86 years of courage and hard work.

Her eyes look straight out, unblinking and unafraid.

Her life has been filled with adventures including her marriage and settling in Independence Township in the early 1920s.

Betty Pelton

It all began years ago in London, Ohio, when her own mother provided a courageous example to follow. Betty's father died when she was 8 years old, and her mother raised Betty and her brother by working at whatever she could.

"We had nothing, but I never gave it a thought," said Betty.

In 1920, she met and married her husband Bill with the same sort of courage.

"I saw my husband once before we were married," she said.

Mutual friends arranged the two-year correspondence between Betty and Bill, who was in the Army and stationed at El Paso, Texas.

"I had to ask my mother (for permission to write), and she said yes. She read every letter.

"She had my brother go down to the train station with me to meet him—to make sure I wasn't kidnaped, I guess. He fell in love with me the first time he met me because he said I'd bring him up. I appreciated his qualities.

"The next time I saw him was on our wedding day."

The newlyweds decided to go north to Michigan and build their own house. It would be risky because they didn't have jobs, and they knew nothing of farming. But in the true spirit of pioneers, they decided to take the challenge.

They first settled in Pontiac. Bill found work at Oakland Motor Car Co. and they built their own three-room house four years later. It took $300, which was a lot of money in that economically depressed time, said Betty.

Their new home was on what is now Pelton Road. West of Sashabaw Road and south of Maybee Road, Pelton Road connects Waterford Road with Sashabaw Road.

When Betty first moved there, Sashabaw was a mud road, and Pelton Road didn't exist.

"In 1924, I could stand in the yard, and I could look for miles and miles, and there wasn't a house nowhere," she said.

The Peltons had no water, no electricity and no phone.

They tried for water first, she said.

They dug holes by hand in about a dozen different areas before they finally found water. Toward the end of their search, they left the holes open to be filled in later. Before they could fill them in, they were hit by a typical Michigan snowstorm that left a flat terrain in their backyard.

One day, Bill went out back and disappeared in one of the holes. He came up sputtering about filling in the holes and Michigan snowstorms, said Betty, laughing.

"It was an interesting life. . . . It was lonely, but I didn't notice. I was happy. I was in love with my husband, and I was happy when my second daughter was born."

The Peltons' first daughter died at age 5 from a strep infection, she said. The birth of Mary Louise shortly thereafter brought much happiness.

By this time, they also had a cow, pigs, beef cattle, chickens, and Bill grew a vegetable garden.

And they had added onto their house and built a 25-foot picnic table.

"They used to call the house the Pelton Hotel because we had so much company. I just loved it," she said.

They had a phone then, and in order to get electricity, they had to promise to buy an electric stove, she said. Edison named the road after them when they installed electrical wires.

At one time, Bill worked evenings at General Motors, and sometimes he would come home late and find Betty frantic with worry. After one very late homecoming, he quit. Even though he had no other job, he didn't want to put Betty through that, she said.

Back then, the big auto companies were run a little differently, said Betty. They didn't want to lose a good worker like Bill. When he told them why he quit, they offered him a daytime job in the personnel office.

Having no education or experience in the area, Bill refused. They persuaded him to try and learn, however, and he did. Before he retired, he was director of personnel.

"So my bawling helped after all," Betty said.

"Bill always said, 'Every man is needed, even a sweeper,'" she said, and attributed his success to that attitude.

In and out of the hospital in his later years, Bill died in 1975, and Betty moved to a Clarkston apartment where she still lives.

She's satisfied with her life and thankful that her mind is still sharp, she said. She spends time with her daughter and two grandchildren and sometimes thinks about the old days.

"Kids, now-days don't know anything about it. They don't know how to deprive themselves. We didn't have anything and never thought anything about it. . . . I do know that we appreciate our heritage more," she said.

Trains: A link in township's history

By Connie Lektzian

In the early days of Independence Township, there were a great many things going for the farmers.

The farms and orchards were productive, they had water power that ground their grain and sawed their lumber and their village had stores that sold most of the necessities they couldn't make themselves.

These first settlers consumed most of their produce within the township, but as the farms expanded they found they needed a greater market.

Trips to Pontiac or Flint over the corduroyed Saginaw Trail were long, bone-shaking journeys.

For a farmer to take his produce into Detroit, it entailed night and day driving to ensure arriving with his load of fruit or butter and eggs in some degree of freshness.

Then in 1851, the railway was extended to pass near Clarkston.

This brought up a serious debate. There was no direct road from the village to the railroad and there were many in favor of moving the village to the other side of Saginaw Trail.

The deciding factor in leaving the town on its old site was the water power, at that time still vital to the life around it.

The first railway was anything but luxurious. It was nicknamed the Huckleberry Line because passengers could jump off the first car as it ambled through swampy sections, pick a handful of huckleberries and catch the last car as it rolled by.

As the railway service improved, so did the township's economy. Tourists began to come into Clarkston, a trickle that grew to a flood of 12 coach cars to haul vacationers from as far away as Chicago.

There were the Vliet House, Deer Lake Inn and Caribou Inn to accomodate these people. When these were crowded, rooms in private homes could be rented for $2 a week.

The depot became a Sunday night meeting place for people out for an evening drive. They watched the locomotive disgorging more vacationists and picking up the returnees.

But the railway crossing was the scene of tragedies, too. White Lake Road was only a narrow dirt trail that crossed the unmarked tracks.

More than one farm wagon or buggy was demolished and the driver killed when the warning whistle went unheeded or a man tried to beat the train across the tracks.

Several depots burned and were rebuilt on the same foundations. These incidents occurred when the coal-fired locomotives spewed sparks over the dry old wooden buildings. Then there was nothing to do but watch them burn.

The railway, which at one time was the Detroit Milwaukee Line, was taken over by the Grand Trunk.

In 1916, George Marshall became the station master. Starting out as a dispatcher, he had already served the railroad for 11 years before he came to the Clarkston station.

Marshall was Clarkston's stationmaster for 43 years and only once, during a flu epidemic, was he absent.

He started his day at 7 a.m. by lighting a fire in the old pot-bellied stove and cleaning the two-room depot.

The bus from Clarkston, first horse drawn and later motorized, made a couple trips a day, carting back and forth passengers, mail and freight. In the day-long hustle and bustle, the station master's job was by no means a lonely one.

In fact, he sometimes had visitors who unintentionally remained all day. Several times, people missed the morning train, which was rarely on schedule, and had to wait until the bus returned to take them back to the village.

Of course walking wasn't crowded, but a woman dressed for a shopping expedition in the big city wasn't in any mood to tackle a country road while wearing her high pointed shoes and whale bone corset.

Life on the Maybee farm

by Julie Campe

Charlotte Maybee was raised in a period of time when farming was the mainstay of life. Women had their work, and men had theirs, or so many of the people believed.

It was the beginning of many changes.

In her lifetime, she has seen steam-powered farm equipment replaced by gasoline run machines; houses heated by wood and later coal and oil and electricity.

She has flown in airplanes and then watched in awe as a rocket headed for the moon.

She saw farmers' wives raise daughters who would become self-sufficient workers and make their own living.

"My father's feeling was that a woman's place was in the house rather than on the farm," said Charlotte.

As a child, Charlotte worked mainly inside, but as an adult, she has fully supported herself as a kindergarten teacher and director of child care licensing.

"My mother told me, 'If you see as many changes in your lifetime as I've seen in mine, I (can't imagine) what kind of a world it would be,'" she said.

Born and raised in Independence Township, Charlotte well remembers life before the changes.

Her family owned a dairy farm on Maybee Road. Part of the farm is now Spring Lake Golf Course, and the old farmhouse where Charlotte was born still stands next to Spring Lake.

An only child, she spent many of her hours performing inside chores at the farm, except during potato picking time when she and neighboring children would have to pick the potatoes.

Potatoes were the cash crop for the Maybees. Their other crops were grown mainly for animal feed.

"Potato picking was my least favorite chore," said Charlotte. "My father called me the Statue of Liberty of the Potato Patch because everytime he turned around, I was standing up."

She and the neighboring children were paid 2 cents per bushel picked, and if times were good, they might get a nickel, she said.

She remembers getting electricity on the farm. Maybee Road was named after her family by Detroit Edison when they assigned street numbers to the houses for the purpose of bringing the lines out, she said.

And she remembers the first electric stove. Edison would not bring lines to the house unless the Maybees agreed to buy an electric stove.

In the beginning, Charlotte's home was heated by the wood from their wood lot. Then they switched to coal. Both needed frequent stoking, and eventually they got a hot water furnace, an oil burner.

"I remember how great it was to just touch the thermostat to get the heat," she said.

When they bought their first electric refrigerator, her mother made lots and lots of ice cream.

"She had this great recipe with melted marshmallows and whipping cream, and everyone looked forward to coming over for dessert," Charlotte said.

"We didn't make ice cream all that often because we sold whole milk. Your pay depended on your butterfat, so we didn't make too much butter or ice cream unless there was a surplus."

For their meals, the Maybees would eat whatever was in season. Her mother canned a lot, so they had a variety of fruits and vegetables to eat year-round.

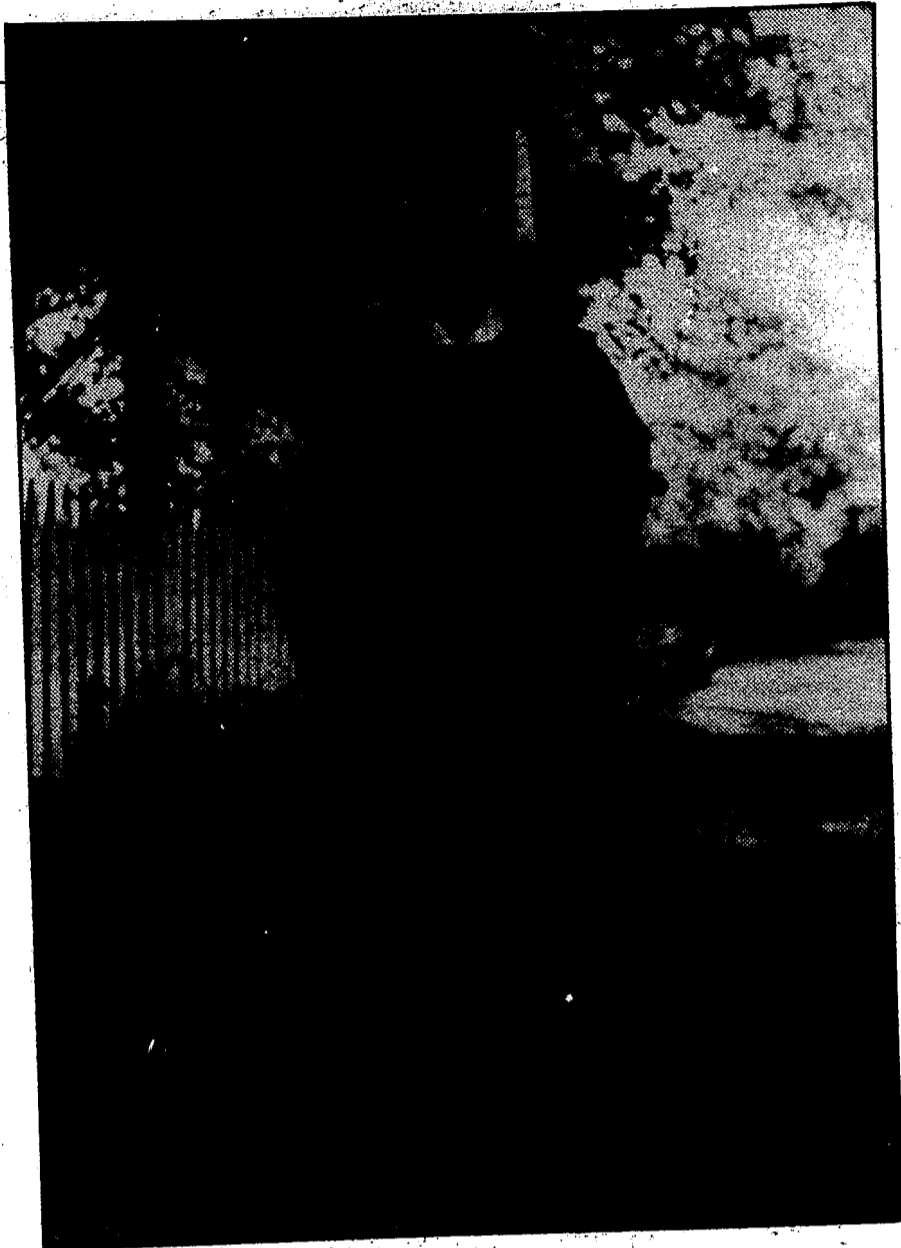

"She would also can beef," said Charlotte. "It was served with gravy on a potato or biscuit. That was my favorite."

Charlotte attended Waterford schools until 10th grade when she went to Clarkston High School, housed in the present Clarkston Junior High School. She graduated in 1944 and went to Michigan State University.

Following in the footsteps of her mother and grandmother before her, Charlotte received a degree in education.

She accepted a teaching job in Flint and lived there for about 20 years. She served as the preschool coordinator and head start director in Flint as well.

Then she retired from teaching only to return working as director of child care licensing for the state department of social services. Eventually, she was transferred to Oakland County, and she moved back to Clarkston on Middle Lake Road, where she now lives.

At right, from top to bottom, Charlotte, age 22, about age 11 and about age 4.

A close-up of the farmhouse shows Charlotte's father as a baby, dressed in white, sitting on his mother's lap in the doorway. Taken about 1896, the photo includes the family dog.

Fully retired, or so she says, Charlotte keeps active in a flurry of activities such as the Sashabaw Plains Cemetery Association, where her whole family of pioneers are buried. She is the fifth generation of Maybees in the Independence Township area.

She serves as secretary of the Sashabaw Plains Daughters of the American Revolution Chapter. Her ancestor Charles Beardsley was a patriot in the American Revolution.

mother's lap in the doorway. Taken about 1896, the photo includes the family dog.

And she's become interested in geneology. Since most of her ancestors have stayed in the area, she has relatively easy access to five generations of records.

She is also a fifth generation Miller on her mother's side. Miller Road in Clarkston is the namesake of her grandfather's brother. Her grandfather's family ran the Miller Dairy where St. Daniel's church is now.

Inns thrived when Clarkston was

By Carolyn Walker

In between inns in Independence Township stood the tiny Village of Clarkston.

And Detroiters, weary from their work, seeking a place to vacation, flocked to the inns for fun and refuge.

It's hard to picture now, but during the first half of this century, Clarkston was, well, "up north" for a lot of folks.

"This was all summer resort area out here," says Tom Boothby, owner of Boothby's gift shop, whose father had a financial interest in the Deer Lake Inn.

"People from Detroit came out here all through the summer. The dining rooms were what brought them out."

Deer Lake Inn off Dixie Highway was constructed by siblings May, Nell and Billy Berry, who later sold it and bought the Caribou Inn on Main Street, according to Boothby.

Deer Lake "was built, definitely, like the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island" and attracted some big spenders such as Harvey Firestone, Henry Ford and actor Jackie Coogan as well as small-time folk, Boothby says.

Travelers came to Independence by train or horse-drawn buses and took rooms at the inns, where they could dine in large dining rooms and enjoy the privileges of local lakes.

In addition to the Deer Lake and Caribou inns, a third inn called Green Acres was available.

According to Boothby, Green Acres was more "residential" than the others and was housed in the old Vliet residence near Church Street behind Holcomb.

Elizabeth Ronk, who is this year's sesquicentennial honorary chairperson, was an waitress at Green Acres some 60 years ago.

She remembers it affectionately as a summer residence to appreciative families.

"They would have lots of fun," she says. "Mrs. (Myra Belle) Vliet had such a knack for running things. She knew what she was doing. It really was a landmark."

While the inns did a good business around the turn of the century, the depression-era spelled the beginning of their demise, says Boothby.

Business suffered thereafter, and the three were eventually torn down to make way for progress.

The Vliet home operated as an Inn under the ownership of Myra Belle Vliet. Later it took on the name of Green Acres. In the older days, it could be viewed from Deer Lake, where visitors enjoyed swimming and boating. A subdivision now stands on its site behind Holcomb Road.

Green Acres was housed in the Vliet-on-the-hill home off Clarkston Road behind Holcomb. When too many guests arrived, the overflow was sent to stay in residences throughout the village of Clarkston, says Elizabeth Ronk. A working farm which raised food for the inn was located nearby.

The Caribou Inn stood at Washington and Main streets in the Village of Clarkston. It underwent several structural changes before being torn down for a parking lot.

Deer Lake Inn, built by the Berry siblings, was a major attraction in Independence Township, says

Tom Boothby, who vacationed in the township with his family when he was a youth. Big-name spenders such as Henry Ford and Jackie Coogan spent time at the Inn.

Forman remembers years at Ford plant

By Chris Gerbasi

In the first half of this century, Ford Motors had numerous small specialty plants across the state and among those were two in Clarkston.

Thomas Boyns, 86, lived in Clarkston for 50 years, beginning in 1929, and worked for Ford for 30 years. About 10 of those years were spent at the plant near the Mill Pond on Washington Street. Another plant was located near what is now the Independence Township Hall.

Boyns was a foreman at the plant during the World War II years when one of the specialties was making controls for bombers.

Henry Ford owned quite a bit of land in the Clarkston area and made frequent visits to his factories.

"I remember one particular day," said Boyns. "There was a railing around the steam engine and he put his hands on the railing and looked out at that Mill Pond and the lawn and there were lots of flowers and he said, 'Isn't this beautiful?'"

"No expense was spared. I think Clarkston was one of his favorite places," said Boyns.

Ford would come in a couple of times a week, in a chauffeur-driven car with another car or two in his entourage.

"He'd shake hands with the men sometimes, walking down the line, but not between the machinery," said Boyns, who occasionally passed the time of day with Ford.

"He'd go as far up as the steam engine. He liked steam engines, they were his playthings. He always wanted a water wheel. They were pretty much a hobby of his."

The plant was exceptionally clean with polished hardwood floors and glistening brass.

"It was kept up so there wouldn't be any room for complaint," said Boyns.

The plants employed about 40 men, but Boyns said that they did not have a very big effect on the town. There was no other industry except the Terry Machine Company and the town was a quiet place to live in, much as it is today.

For entertainment in the '30s, a dance was held once a week at the old opera hall above the stores on Main Street.

Boyns and his wife organized the dances as part of their church work with the youth of the community. The top floor of the Township Hall was also used as a dance floor.

"The young people were creating their own pastime," said Boyns.

After the war and Ford's death in the late '40s, the small plants began to close. The Clarkston plants shut down in about 1945 and Boyns worked there for another year showing the machinery to prospective buyers.

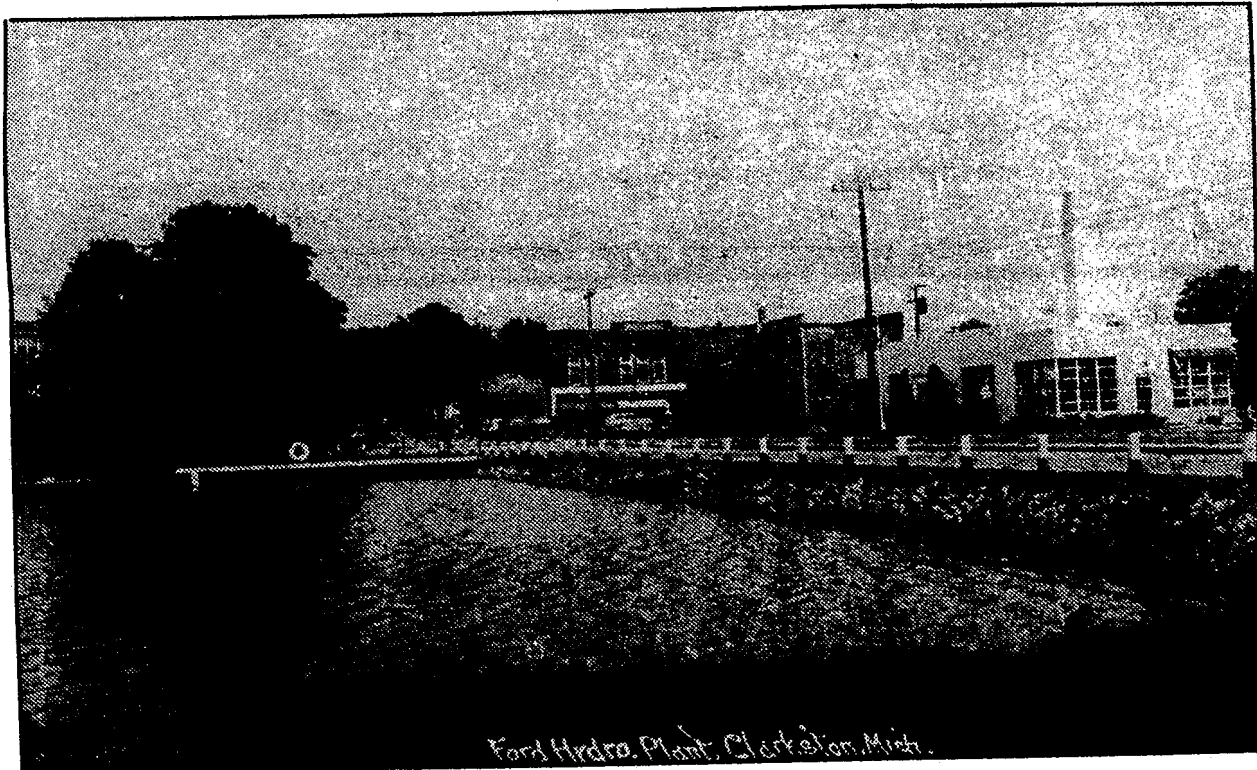

"That was one of the worst jobs I ever had," he said. "A whole year with nothing to do."

Boyns' Ford jobs moved him around, but his home remained Clarkston until 1979, when he moved to Waterford Township.

"The town has not changed all that much," he said.

Thomas Boyns worked for the Ford Motor Co. for 30 years, with 10 of those years being at the Hydro plant in Clarkston. Boyns recalls that Henry Ford made frequent visits to the plant.

During the World War II years, the Ford Hydro plant on Washington Street, viewed here from the west side of the Mill Pond on Washington Street, was busy producing controls for bombers. The plant closed after the war ended, as did most of the small Ford plants.

Money coming in

There were over 20 lucky winners, including Independence Township, in a raffle conducted by the sesquicentennial committee early this month.

Nearly $500 was netted by the committee during the raffle, which followed the Festival of Cars Parade Aug. 2.

The money is to go toward the purchase of a town clock for Independence in honor of its 150th birthday.

To date, the committee has raised a total of $8,500 for the clock through special events and the sale of souvenirs, said Rita Burdick, a committee member.

A clock has not yet been selected, nor has an exact location, although the committee hopes to place it within the Village of Clarkston downtown district, Burdick said.

Among the items given away during the raffle were tickets to Pine Knob Music Theater, a ride in a hot air balloon, tickets to the Meadowbrook Concours d'Elegance vintage car race and posters.

Artist Ron Wagner deserves the credit for this week's cover.

Wagner is a resident of Independence Township. He is a graphic designer and owner of Producer's Graphic Services of Royal Oak.

Anna Bennett recalls Col. Sidney Waldon

1945 at the age of 72 and Helen died later, also in Hamilton, from injuries she received in an automobile accident.

"They were ready to come back to his beloved Pine Knob," says Anna of the days preceding his death. "He had his plans for Pine Knob. He was going to build new homes for the help. He just never got to it."

Anna looks to her hands folded in her lap and her breath catches as she speaks of the those days and men gone by.

"He was a very nice man," she says softly.

This picture of Clifford Bennett was taken at Pine Knob at a picnic. After the colonel's death, Helen Waldon sold Pine Knob to Ford Hospital and the buildings were used for the treatment of terminally ill patients, according to Anna Bennett.

This is how Col. Sidney Waldon's home appeared when he was living there. It is now the Mansion Restaurant at Pine Knob Ski Resort off Waldon Road in Independence Township.

Charlotte Maybee remembers country living

Her family also once owned the Waterford Hill property. Her father, James Russell Maybee was born in the old farmhouse on the hill, and his family ran the orchard there.

The family's geneology led her to an interest in history. She's a member of the Clarkston Community Historical Society and served as secretary of the board for a couple of years.

Now, Charlotte sings in the United Methodist Choir and is secretary of the board of the United Methodist Women. She's president of Delta Kappa Gamma, a teacher's honorary society in Flint.

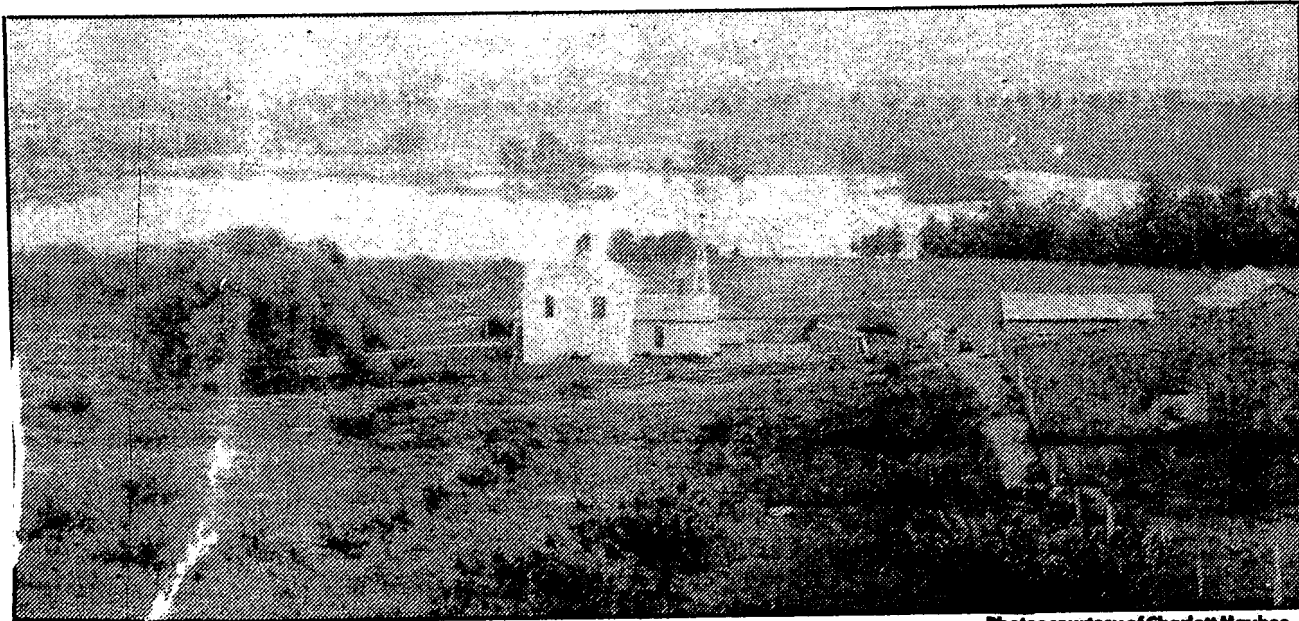

Another interest began with a trip to Ireland during college, and she's been traveling ever since. Last fall, she went to China with a friend, Pat Beach.

But she's not too busy, she said.

"It's a nice even mix. I'm not overburdened. . . . I have it paced very nicely."

Charlotte Maybee now lives on Middle Lake Road in Clarkston. As a child, she was raised on a farm on Maybee Road, named after her family.

This is the view of Charlotte Maybee's grandparents' farm on Waterford Hill, where her father, James Russell Maybee, was raised. From the top of the hill looking south, Van Norman Lake can be seen with Waterford on the horizon. The photo was taken about 1896 or 1897.

Why We Played A Supporting Role In The Restoration Of A Community Opera House.

Near the turn of the century, two-bits and a little bit of luck put you near the front of the standing room only crowds that were the hallmark of this opera house.

Mary Pickford, at the time just a blossoming star, graced its stage.

As did Annie Oakley's traveling show of six-guns and other assorted shootin' irons.

In fact, over the years, what with all the stars of vaudeville and theatre who performed here, you would have thought it was Broadway in New York.

Not a small midwest town's main street opera house.

Even talking movies couldn't do to the grand old place what a major fire, many years of neglect and then a condemnation notice would finally do.

Close its doors. Seemingly for good. But to the townspeople, the show just had to go on.

So when private citizens and business people got together to restore this priceless landmark, a lot of our people asked what part they could play.

You see, we're not just bankers. We're part of the community.

So we believe that sometimes it's just as important to lend a hand as it is to lend someone money.

At First of America Bank, we're proud we were part of the impressive community cast of characters that raised the money it took to bring the opera house back to life.

And we applaud the entire town's contribution to the performing arts.

The railroad

In September 1959, the depot door closed on the last passenger and the railroad discontinued its service to Clarkston.

Since the advent of the auto, both passengers and freight had gradually diminished, and now for days at a time there would be little activity at the depot.

At this time Mr. Marshall retired, leaving behind a history of 54 years of service with Grand Trunk. He was awarded a gold lifetime pass, not only on the Grand Trunk but the Canadian National Railway as well.

And it was the end of an era for Clarkston.

The above story was condensed from an article that appeared over a decade ago in The Clarkston News. It has been reprinted with permission of Connie Lektzian, as part of the ongoing sesquicentennial celebration. Lektzian is a co-chairperson of the Independence Township Sesquicentennial Council.

This Clarkston depot was destroyed by fire in 1923, and another building was erected on the site. It served as a train station until 1959 and is now the home of the Clarkston Village Players.

who must pause during performances when trains roll by. Now called the Depot Theatre, it is located on White Lake Road, right next to the tracks.

For Information

Hello,
Sesquicentennial people...
this is Alice Gwynn. Listen,
Aunt Sara from Phoenix loved the Governor's personal invitation to Michigan's family reunion, but wouldn't you know Aunt Ruth found out about it and... oh could you?
You're a dear... and then there's Uncle Russell... and my best girlfriend Judith... and my other best girlfriend
Ramona...

Free
travel information sent with every invitation.

A Michigan Family Reunion.

Of course Aunt Sara loved the invitation. Who wouldn't like feeling so special that someone had the Governor invite them for a visit. And really, don't worry about hurting anyone's feelings because Governor Blanchard will invite as many people as you'd like to have come. Plus they'll get lots of information on why Michigan is such a wonderful place to spend a vacation. There'll even be a little something in the mail for you — like a copy of Michigan's Travel Planner. That way you'll know all the when's and where's of what's happening in Michigan. Who knows, between you and the Governor, this may turn out to be Michigan's best reunion ever.
