Tobacco issue erupts again

By Kathy Greenfield

A confrontation Monday night by community members upset over the Clarkston High School athletic policy ended in a reaffirmation of the school board's intention to maintain the rules.

The controversy began when high school football player Mike Norman was caught chewing tobacco in school and was removed from the football team for the remainder of the season.

At a special meeting Sept. 29, the board was asked by Norman's parents and other community members to reconsider the penalty. In a 4-2 vote, the board defeated a motion to reduce the penalty to suspension for two football games.

Following the special meeting, the decision was reviewed by a committee of Superintendent Milford Mason, CHS Principal Dr. Robert Burek and Athletic Director Paul Tungate.

The school's varsity coaches were polled and it was decided no change would be made.

At Monday night's board of education meeting, community members spoke out against the ruling at the beginning and end of the meeting during time allotted on the agenda for questions and comments from the audience.

Springfield taxes go up this year

Taxes are going up in Springfield Township.

The 1987 tax millage adopted at the Oct. 8 meeting of the Springfield Township Board includes 1 mill for fire, 2 mills for police, and 1.41 for the general fund, up .41 from the 1 mill levy in 1986.

One mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation. The total mill levy of 4.41 would amount to $4.41 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

Springfield Township resident David Fields questioned the .41 increase, saying he felt it was premature without definite goals, and was a heavy increase during a flat economy.

Trustee William Whitley noted that the police fund reserve is depleting, there is a significant depletion of road funds and the loss of Federal Revenue Sharing funds amounting to $35,000.

The millage was passed unanimously by the board.

"We have benefited from a millage decrease several years ago, but we knew that when it came time to raise it, we'd take some flack," said Trustee Glen Vermilye.

Moving rumors 'premature'

Secretary of State's Independence office to stay put for now

By Julie Campe

Recent media reports that the Independence Township Secretary of State branch office may be closing are premature, said a spokesperson for the state Monday.

A report recommending the closing of some or all of 19 branch offices, including Independence, was issued by the state auditor general's office, said Paul Charette.

Reducing the number of offices to reduce costs was the intent, he said, but it was only a suggestion to investigate the possibilities, not a command.

"It would be premature to say that any branch office is closing, . . . but we're always interested in what the auditor says about improving efficiency," he said.

The state requires at least one branch office in every county and at least one branch office in every city with 10,000 population or more, he said. In addition, the secretary of state department attempts to have enough locations so no person will have to drive more than 20 miles or 20 minutes.

If the Independence branch were to close, the next closest offices would be in Fenton, Milford or Pontiac, which has three offices, he said.

For the 1987 fiscal year, they'll be operating with full funding for 181 offices, said Charette. Also, since the study is a year old, it may already be outdated. It covered Oct. 1, 1982, to Sept. 30, 1985, he said.

According to the study, in the 1983-84 fiscal year, the average revenue per dollar spent was $26.10. The Independence office's average was $20.47, one of the 19 lowest figures in the state.

"It gets people excited when you talk about closing offices and moving people . . ." said Charette. "We're always looking for the best location, but things are booming that way. The department will do whatever they can to meet the needs of the public."

Verbal battle erupts at school board meeting

Gerald Black, the father of two CHS graduates and a ninth-grade student, spoke first. His daughter was robbed by two young men in the Clarkston community earlier this year, he said, and one of the young men is currently a member of the football team.

Black said he could not equate allowing someone who had committed a crime to play football while someone who had chewed tobacco could not.

"I, as an individual, feel the crime and the punishment do not fit one another," he said. "I would like to see something done."

School board President Janet Thomas said no policy currently exists regarding athletic eligibility for students who had committed crimes but that a policy was being considered.

Parent Shirley Secatch, who spoke several times, accused the school board of not listening to members of the community.

She repeatedly asked the board to review the rule, and said a double standard exists for athletes because students caught smoking or chewing tobacco are not dismissed from other activities, such as student government or band.

"What exactly would it take to get that policy changed?" she asked. "I think it should be one rule for all."

"You guys, you're just ignoring us, so we'll come every month and drive you crazy, and we know how to do it," she added. "Each month, we'll bring a few more people who might just talk a little longer. What will it take to get you to look at the rules?"

Thomas said that when all the coaches had been contacted and they "by and large supported the rules" the policy was being reviewed.

"I think that's a very just way to look at the policy," she said. "I have no problem with what they did. I think they were being very thorough."

Gary Norman, the father of suspended football player Mike Norman, suggested seeking opinions of parents before a final decision is made.

"You guys, you're just ignoring us, so we'll come every month and drive you crazy, and we know how to do it. Each month, we'll bring a few more people who might just talk a little longer. What will it take to get you to look at the rules?"

Thomas said all school policies, which fill two large notebooks, are reviewed in the late spring or early summer.

"I would anticipate there will be no changes" in the athletic policy, she said.

"So by what's transpired, you feel there's no need to redo it?" Norman asked.

At the special school board meeting, "the feeling was the policy should stay," said Thomas. "It was a policy that was needed and it was determined that it should stay intact."

"We anticipate it will remain in effect as a constant school policy for a long period of time," she added. "In fact, I'll be very unhappy if it's changed."

Norman then asked if the rule would be enforced. He said he had heard of a recent incident that involved a charge that an athlete was chewing tobacco on a school bus. In a closed hearing, it was determined that the student was chewing sunflower seeds, he said.

"I certainly hope it will be enforced, because it's a hard policy," said Thomas. "In fact, I do think any adult who does not follow up . . . there should be a severe reprimand for the adult involved."

"We anticipate it will remain in effect as a constant school policy for a long period of time. In fact, I'll be very unhappy if it's changed."

—Janet Thomas,
School Board President

CHS student Kate Conlen said a student government committee was working on getting the policy changed.

"There's a lot of angry students, too, about this whole deal," she said. "I know there's a lot of people who would like to see it changed."

Thomas responded by saying the student government's time would be better spent trying to support the policy.

Springfield denies rezoning to allow mining

By Pat Young

Applause greeted the Springfield Township Board's unanimous decision Oct. 8 to deny a rezoning request that would allow gravel mining.

Approximately 30 Springfield Township residents were in attendance at the Oct. 8 meeting during the decision on a request for rezoning from light industrial to extraction on property owned by Ben Hawkins.

The property is located at the southwest corner of Davisburg Road and Dixie Highway behind Pontiac Steel.

Hawkins, who walked into the meeting shortly after the discussion began, said he had no intention of turning the land into a mining operation, but only wanted to take down the hill to make it more saleable for commercial use.

Members of the crowd, most of whom exited the meeting following the decision, expressed concern about the possibility of another gravel pit in the area.

Ralph Przybylski said, "Being on the Springfield Township Fire Department, I can tell you that is the worst corner in Springfield Township. If you add more gravel trains, you will have some problems."

There was a letter from Captain Carl Matheny of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department road patrol opposing the rezoning for much the same reason.

Norm Shubert of Harbor Town Road was a little more explicit. "It would take (guts) to support such a rezoning request. That area is already the worst eyesore on Dixie Highway."

Another Springfield Township resident, David Fields, said, "If this ordinance passes, I'm going to quit my job and go into the windshield business." He explained that the gravel trucks on Dixie Highway were hard on windshields, and that he had replaced too many windshields in his own cars.

Only 14 of the 33 acres in question would actually have material removed, according to the request submitted by Hawkins and Ken Hopper of the Thompson-McCully Co. Township Supervisor Collin Walls said it would amount to about 1 1/2 tons of material.

"The rezoning request is not in the best interest of the community," said Township Trustee William Whitley.

He said it could allow for mining, increase truck noise and traffic, and have a negative effect on safety. He also said there were enough gravel mining operations in the area and other methods were available to balance the land.

Walls agreed. "I believe it is the petitioner's responsibility to show need. I stood at the top of the hill and observed a beautiful piece of property. Maybe someday if someone comes to us with a specific proposal, we'd consider it. But right now, it's purely extractive. I concur with the board's decision."

Responding to the decision, Hawkins said, "I think the board needs to look into the future. The hill is going to come down, whether you like it or not. People who are interested in the property want a large piece of usable (commercial) land, not a hill."

"And sure, it's a beautiful piece of property," he added, "but (if it were residential) who'd build a house on a hill overlooking Pontiac Steel?"

Runaway found here

A 15-year-old Children's Village runaway was apprehended at an Independence Township residence Oct. 10.

The boy was found at a home on Mary Sue Street near Maybee Road, according to the police report. Four plastic bags of suspected marijuana were confiscated from another juvenile at the residence.

The runaway was returned to the Children's Village. Charges may be filed against the other juvenile pending analysis of the suspected drug, said Lt. Glenn Watson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Man stabbed in bar

A Holly man is in stable condition after being stabbed in an altercation at a Springfield Township bar Oct. 10.

Mark Vanhouse, 24, was stabbed in the chest at the Four Seasons Inn, 10816 Dixie Highway, said Lt. Glenn Watson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

David Buning, 33, also of Holly, was arrested and charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. He could face up to a 10-year sentence if convicted.

Buning pleaded not guilty at his arraignment Monday. He is being held on $5,000 cash bond or surety. His examination hearing has been set for Oct. 31.

The incident occurred at approximately 11:55 p.m. A fight broke out, which involved two or three other men, said Watson. Vanhouse was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, where he was in stable condition Monday.

Girl Scout negotiations continue

By Pat Young

Rezoning of Girl Scout land remains an unresolved issue in Springfield Township.

At the October Springfield Township meeting, the board voted unanimously, following a closed-door session, to reject the Scout's latest proposal and stand by the resolution adopted at the September board meeting.

The proposal included three main points:

1. The township will agree to change the zoning on 188 acres from recreational to R1. R1 lots are 57,000-square-foot with 1,500-square-foot homes.

2. Any development is subject to the provisions of all township ordinances.

3. Any change in zoning which might take place in the normal course of the legislative process would be valid and the consent judgment would not take priority over that zoning process.

"We will continue on and see if we can get it resolved," said Bill Reddish, director of properties for the Michigan Metro Girl Scouts, following the board's latest decision.

"Our initial application was for R3 (20,000-square-foot lots and 1,200-square-foot homes)," he said. "We changed that request to R2 (40,000-square-foot lots with 1,200-square-foot homes), with the developer to cluster homes. This was approved by the Oakland County Zoning Board and the Springfield Township Planning Commission."

"Our latest proposal was identical to that suggested by Mr. Walls in May," Reddish said.

Walls agreed that the planning commission did approve R2, but said the township board denied the request because of the physical restraints on the land, which made it a great recreational area but not as desirable for residential.

He also said the request didn't fit existing development patterns.

"Existing development in the area is in 2 1/2-, 5- and 10-acre parcels," Walls said.

"One of the things that got the ire of the people of Springfield is the fact that a non-profit organization named individual township members in a lawsuit," he said. "And the majority of residents oppose the rezoning request."

Former bus driver killed in car crash

A 73-year-old Independence Township woman was killed in a two-car auto accident on M-59 Oct. 8.

Helen Orr died at Pontiac General Hospital from injuries sustained in the accident. She was a retired school-bus driver for Clarkston Community Schools.

Orr was traveling east on M-59 near North Oakland Boulevard at about 2:28 p.m., according to the traffic report.

While making a left turn into the Atlas Foodland parking lot, her car was struck broadside by a car driven by 16-year-old Scott Gauthier of Pontiac.

Gauthier was driving westbound on M-59. He and two passengers received minor injuries and sought their own medical treatment, said the report.

The accident is presently under investigation by the Waterford Police Department.

Junior Miss Pageant is 25 years old

The wearer of this year's Clarkston Junior Miss crown will be the 25th girl to receive the honor.

It's the silver anniversary for the pageant, which takes place Saturday, Oct. 25, in the Clarkston High School Little Theater at 7 p.m.

Twenty high school girls will compete for the title and over $4,000 in scholarships.

The winner will receive a $1,000 scholarship and will move on to the state Junior Miss competition in Marshall in January.

As part of the festivities, the previous 24 Clarkston Junior Misses have been invited to the pageant, said chairperson Barbara Hamaker.

Two Clarkston winners went on to capture the state crown, Cheryl Davis in 1976 and Julie Beamer in 1983. Davis will be one of five judges this year.

After the judges interview each of the contestants, a luncheon will be held the day of the pageant. For the pageant, the girls will perform a physical fitness routine and a 90-second individual talent display. They will also be judged on poise and appearance.

The Clarkston program has been run for six years by an independent committee chaired by Hamaker. For the first 19 years, the Clarkston Jaycees organized the event.

Sixteen of the 20 Clarkston Junior Miss hopefuls pose on stage in between practicing for the pageant. They are (in alphabetical order) Michelle Blomberg, Heather Brooks, Lauren Carlson, Michele Crites, Jennifer Fenton, Victoria Geyer, Chandra Manuel, Diane Rash, Kim

2 resign; 8 apply

Eight candidates have applied for two Springfield Township Planning Commission seats vacated by resigning members Barry Byrne and Steve Secatch.

Byrne resigned for health and business reasons, and Secatch has moved to Independence Township, according to Supervisor Collin Walls.

Walls said he plans to make recommendations for the vacant planning commission seats at the November township board meeting.

Public roads wanted

Residents of the Sunny Beach subdivision and Westview Road are seeking conversion of their private roads to public road status.

A petition was submitted by residents of Westview Road to the Independence Township Board to request public road status from the Oakland County Road Commission (OCRC). Westview is located off Pine Knob Road near Clintonville and Maybee roads.

Off Eston Road, residents on several roads in the Sunny Beach subdivision are seeking public road status: Clearview Drive, Crestview Drive, Pleasantview Drive, Longview Drive and Hillandale Drive.

Road maintenance costs including snow removal must be paid by residents of private roads, while the road commission maintains public roads.

The board voted unanimously Oct. 7 to authorize Clerk Richard Holman to obtain OCRC requirements on converting the roads.

Tax issues appear on agenda

One tax abatement designed to encourage new business was revoked and another one is under consideration by the Springfield Township Board.

At its Oct. 8 meeting, the board decided to revoke an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate for Metal Form on Dixie Highway. The action will not be effective until 1987. Metal Form has not paid taxes for 1985 and the summer of 1986, according to Supervisor Collin Walls.

Township Treasurer Patricia Kramer suggested that the board take action to collect delinquent taxes from Metal Form.

Representatives of Android Corp., a new business in the former Systemation building on Dixie Highway, and the next-door-neighbor of Metal Form, requested an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate.

"I didn't plan this," joked Walls when the two items appeared back-to-back on the meeting agenda. He complimented Android on improvements to the building.

Android makes automatic assembly machines and robots, according to Richard Niazzy, president. He and Android comptroller Greg Nichols were at the meeting.

A decision would have to wait until the Oct. 22 special township board meeting, said Walls, because taxing jurisdictions must be given notice.

Couture shock

Kathy Greenfield

A couple of weeks ago, I decided to browse in a department store. I left in shock.

It's not that I didn't realize clothing prices had gone up. It's not even that it wasn't gradual (I'm still reeling from my son's growth spurt a few years ago right after we purchased $60 jeans and other fancy stuff).

I just wasn't prepared for the $300 casual dress.

So there I was, browsing. It wasn't anyplace fancy—not the designer department (although what isn't anymore).

I had time to spend, so I pondered a variety of styles. There, side-by-side, hung everything from wool skirts and color-coordinated sweaters to the more contemporary sweatshirts that evolved to dress-length.

My mind got busy. I realized it would be easy to spend $200 for pants and a shirt too casual to wear to work.

I found two-piece outfits and cocktail ensembles that far surpassed the price of my wedding gown. (All right, so it was a long time ago. But, still, the price sticks in my memory as the most expensive dress I ever expected to wear.)

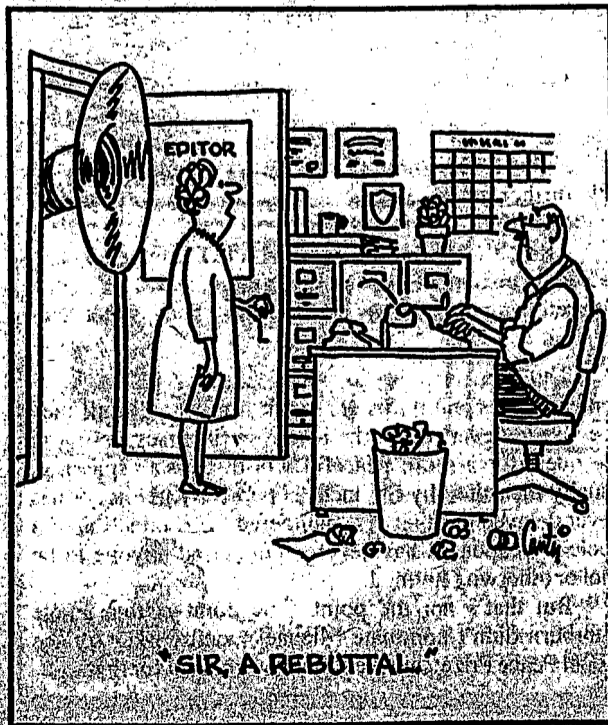

There I was meandering through the department, checking every rack when I spotted a dress I liked. It was perfect for the short transition season between summer and winter.

Then I noticed the plastic belt. Then I checked the price. It seems to me that a $300 work dress should come with a belt you wouldn't have to discard, don't you agree?

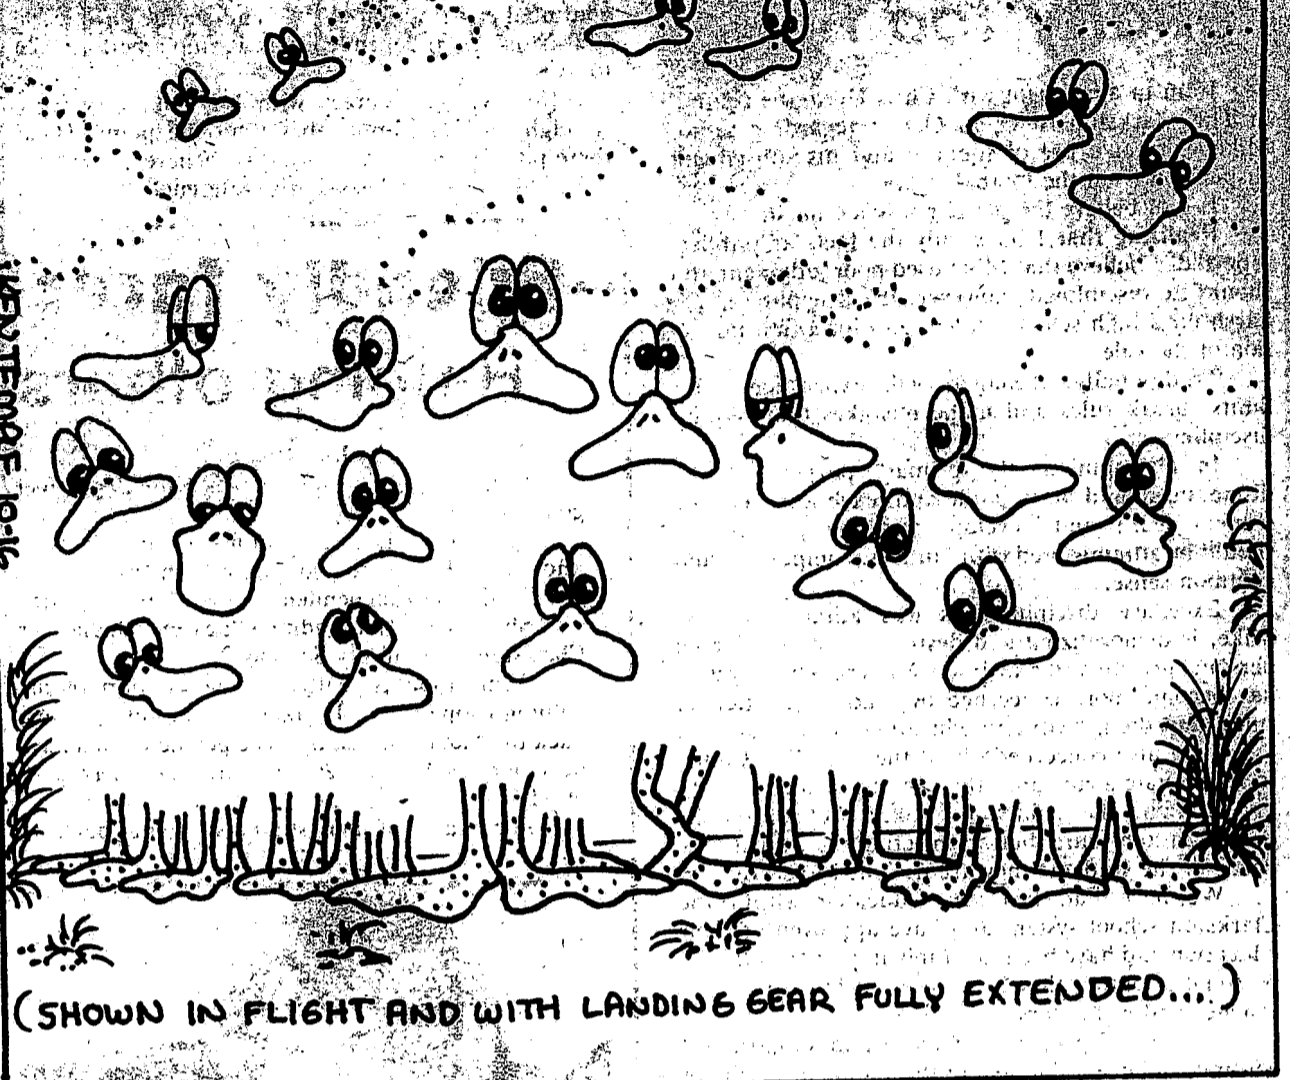

Maybe they put the dress there for its psychological power. Everything else suddenly looked less expensive.

But I think the lesson here is that we made our big mistake as consumers when we willingly began paying $60 (and up) for prewashed-to-look-used blue jeans.

ALL ABOUT TOWN

INTRODUCING - THE FIRST PRODUCTION STEALTH DUCKS DESIGNED TO ELUDE THEIR SEASONAL FOES - THE DUCK HUNTER...

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

For the most part I live a planned life. I mow the lawn on a certain time and day, get up and come to work at specific times, write this column at a designated time, etc.

My pocket calendar is always handy, and particular dates and appointments noted far in advance.

Usually, it disturbs me to have planned events, work or pleasure, interrupted.

What I'm saying is, I'm not a spur-of-the-moment person. No, "Let's jump in the car and run over and watch the freighters," for me. Or go to a ball game, visit relatives, or even go for a quick boat ride on the lake.

However, in the last couple weeks two quick-opening plans were offered and accepted. One came last Sunday morning, the first day of sunshine in three weeks.

My grass, like yours, was six inches high and growing. It had to be cut . . . until Harry Rosen called and ask if me and my bride would like to fly to Charley's River Crab for breakfast.

I told him no, and mentioned the lawn. He said his was higher. Well, I did want to see Indianwood's new golf development and the new basketball arena.

What followed was over four hours of great enjoyment. The River Crab sent a van to the airport and took us back to an absolutely outstanding brunch.

Then Harry, and his wife, Beverly, flew us over the flooded area around Saginaw (island buildings in acres of water), and south to the other two attractions.

Going over ground-level-familiar areas in an airplane is a fun adventure in guesswork. You just know that town is Mayville and it's really Brown City, etc.

The other 'spur' happening was the previous Thursday. While playing the final night of our golf league, Joe Phipps asked if we wanted to take a boat tour around Lake Orion after the game.

We've lived here over 30 years and never had the opportunity before to see the many houses around the 22 miles of shore line that outline Lake Orion.

My goodness, the bucks spent on the water side of those residences . . . many which you would never recognize from the road past the 'back' of the house.

Joe the guide, who lives on Park Island in Lake Orion, kept us oriented as we toured the numerous coves and circled islands. I guess we were a little surprised, though we shouldn't have been, at how many people we know live on Lake Orion. It is an attractive lake.

Two sudden decisions certainly don't make a habit, but they gave a nice spark to our otherwise regimented life, for which we thank Harry and Joe.

Penalty too harsh

I am in agreement with Chris Gerbasi's column in The Clarkston News on Oct. 8 regarding senior Mike Norman's use of tobacco and his subsequent suspension from the football team.

I, too, believe the penalty was too harsh.

Realizing that I have only the facts as publicly reported, I believe that Mike used poor judgment and should be disciplined; however, the discipline is too harsh for a high school student and for a first infraction of the rule.

Traditionally, teenagers will experiment, test limits, break rules and make mistakes that require discipline.

In my opinion, the primary purpose of the discipline should be to guide and teach and help the student learn and develop, and the punishment should be administered with fairness, compassion and common sense.

Excessive discipline, as was administered to Mike, is demoralizing and destructive, allows for no personal growth and may imply that the school system has become more concerned over administration of rules than the growth and education of the students.

I am also concerned about the school's inability to re-evaluate a rule until the end of a school year. In my opinion, the guidelines should be continually evaluated to be sure they are meeting the educational needs of the students they are designed to serve.

We have had two sons educated within the Clarkston school system and have approved of their education and have been favorably impressed with the personal attention they have received from teachers, coaches and counselors.

I hope this personal attention and support will continue to be a major goal of the system and will not become secondary to the administration of rules.

Thomson tribute

During a township meeting last week, I looked up and saw him in the audience. It wasn't the first time he was there to participate and be heard on an important community problem.

Yet, in a community of people who care, Ted Thomson still stands out.

Even if we disregard (somehow) the variety of formal community leadership positions he has held; his continual contribution of time and energy have made Clarkston and Independence Township a better place to live.

Not everyone agrees with him on every issue (though most do). But, that's not the point. He is there participating, doing what he believes is best for the community, and making a difference.

He has strengthened this community by assisting and advising those who venture into public service. He has charmed us with his amiable manner that smooths his feisty drive for common sense. More important, he has been there helping folks who need help, just because they do.

Thanks, Ted.

Friendly faces Helping others pays dividends

Helping other people makes Kim Boose feel good.

"It may sound corny, but it's very gratifying to know that I've done something to help someone else," said the Independence Township resident.

She teaches four adult education classes for Clarkston Community Schools.

"Education is really the biggest part of me helping people. . . . It takes a lot of guts to come back to school," she said. "The people I teach have been out of school 10, 20, 30 years. They need a lot of TLC."

For many of her students, going back to school is a big transition. They don't always have the confidence they should, and she tries to give it to them.

Kim Boose teaches adult education classes in the evenings and substitutes for elementary schools during the day.

"That's really the neatest part I do," she said.

She helps people in other ways, too—mostly by encouraging them to meet their potential.

And she's active with her family. She and her husband Kurt have three children, ages 1, 6 and 9, and the family also includes a dog, a salamander, three kittens and two cats.

They've only lived in Independence a year, and they plan to move into a new house on Northview Drive soon. Before moving to Independence, they lived in San Diego, Calif., for six years, and they welcome the change.

"We're closer to our families now. . . . My husband likes the small-town atmosphere, and we heard that Clarkston had the best schools," she said.

But Kim isn't just a super mom, she has hobbies of her own as well. She's a substitute elementary school teacher, and she reads a lot. She does toll painting and stitcheries. And even though she doesn't get the chance too often, she and Kurt like to sail. But most of all, she likes to spend time with her family.

"I like being a Mommy. That's why I only work part time," she said. "My Crockpot works overtime."

'If it Fitz . . .'

Grateful for Thorburn's restraint

Jim Fitzgerald

Several readers suggested I should jump all over the coincidence of Oakland County Circuit Judge Thorburn appearing on both the back and front pages of last Saturday's Free Press.

Now why would I want to do that?

On the back page, I mentioned that Judge Thorburn sends peace-game players to jail forever for trespassing.

On the front page, it was reported that Judge Thorburn acquitted a defendant Michael Odell Parker who admitted participating in a crime in which the victim was robbed, beaten, shot twice, thrown down a sewer and left for dead.

Parker, 22, wasn't sentenced to one day in jail. A few months ago, 79-year-old Carlon Foltz served almost 100 days for refusing to promise not to repeat his terrible crime—stepping over a no-no line onto a factory driveway to protest nuclear weapons.

Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor John Slevin was shocked by Thorburn's freeing of Parker in the non-jury trial. That's our great criminal justice system at work," Slevin said, adding that Parker's lawyers had begged for a plea deal—we wouldn't give them anything. Now he's going to walk.

THE VICTIM of the crime, 21-year-old Jeffrey Dudley, somehow survived after eight operations but suffered permanent heart damage. Dudley was in court and outraged by Thorburn's verdict. Crying and yelling threats, Dudley had to be forcibly restrained from attacking Parker.

"That judge believed that murderer instead of my son," Dudley's mother said. "This is terrible."

What's all the fuss about?

Thorburn's reasoning was that Parker wasn't as bad as his two accomplices in the attack. One of them got a life sentence and the other received 22 to 60 years. Parker was acquitted because, after Dudley was shot twice, in the chest and side, Parker allegedly didn't want him shot a third time in the head.

Parker testified that, to stop the third shot, he announced to his two buddies that Dudley was already dead. Judge Thorburn said Parker risked his life to save Dudley's life.

Several observers commented that the victim, who was playing possum, hadn't noticed Parker's alleged lack of enthusiasm in the robbery and attack. And, they asked, even if Parker wasn't clean-up batter in the felony order, didn't he deserve some time in prison?

It's even been suggested that Thorburn could at least have made Parker stay in jail until he promised never again to participate in a robbery-shooting, no matter how much he might want to be present to prevent the victim from being shot three times instead of only twice.

I CAN'T understand the attitude of those people who think it's an outrage for Parker to go completely unpunished. Given Thorburn's reputation for going to extremes, his critics should be grateful the judge didn't go any further in rewarding Parker for possibly saving Dudley's life.

After all, Thorburn didn't suggest that a ticker-tape parade be held in Parker's honor, and he receive a medal for preferring that victims be shot in the body rather than the head.

Thorburn is a judge whose idea of justice is to sentence nuns and ministers to jail forever, or until they promise to never repeat the heinous crime trespassing in the quest for a more peaceful world. This trespassing, usually measured by the inch, is purely symbolic. It has never delayed or otherwise hampered the production of a nuclear weapon. It has never even caused anyone to be shot or otherwise harmed.

But that's not the point. The point is that Judge Thorburn didn't nominate Michael Odell Parker for the Nobel Peace Prize, and we should be grateful for that.

Drug abuse series at Voc Center

By Kathy Greenfield

Community members who want to learn more about drug and alcohol use and abuse can attend a five-part series beginning Oct. 27 at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

"Alcohol Drug/Use and Misuse," presented by the Henry Ford Hospital Chemical Dependency Treatment Programs, will meet Monday evenings at 7:30 through Nov. 24. The cost is $6 per household for the entire series or $2 per session. Senior citizens and students will be admitted free.

About two years ago, Marilyn Case attended the series at a school in Bloomfield Hills. Case is a member of the Clarkston Area Chemical People, one of the series' local sponsors.

"It was an excellent series. It was real informative. It was easy enough to understand. They took you step-by-step," she said.

She praised the professionalism of the presenters, and said the program was especially useful for people who are facing a drug or alcohol abuse problem in their families or with someone close to them.

"I can't stress enough—it's an excellent program for anybody to go to," she said. "I hope everyone goes."

Topics for the sessions include the following:

•Oct. 27: "Alcoholism/Chemical Dependence: The Disease" (early indicators, progression, physical complications); speaker Sis Wenger, community education coordinator Henry Ford Hospital/Maple Grove; movie "I'll Quit Tomorrow."

•Nov. 3: "Alcohol, Drugs and Teens" (impact on the adolescent, indicators, progression); speaker Fred Schade, evaluation therapist, Maple Grove Youth Treatment Center; recovering young people.

•Nov. 10: "Impact on the Family"; speaker William Harshman, individual/group therapist, Henry Ford Hospital Maple Grove; movie "The Family Trap."

•Nov. 17: "Intervention—a way to enable the chemically dependent person to accept help"; speaker Renee Gerger, intervention specialist, Henry Ford Hospital Chemical Dependency Treatment Programs; movie "The Intervention"; a recovering family.

•Nov. 24: "The Community's Response"; speaker Judy Ernst, parent peer group coordinator, Birmingham/Bloomfield Families in Action; Part I: What Parents Can Do; movie "Sons and Daughters, Drugs and Booze"; Part II: What the Community Can Do."

Other local sponsors of the series are Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, Clarkston Community Schools, Clarkston Rotary, Clarkston Optimists, Consortium for Human Development, the CHS S.E.A.R.C.H. Program and Independence Township Ministers.

For more information, call Maplegrove Community Education at 661-6170, Clarkston Area Youth Assistance at 625-9007 or the Rev. Bill Schram, chairperson of the Chemical People, at 673-3101.

100 to attend drug program

One hundred community members plan to attend a four-day drug education program in November sponsored by the Clarkston Area Chemical People and Clarkston Community Schools.

Participants include 50 members on the staff of Clarkston Community Schools and 50 community members invited to attend.

"Hopefully, what we will end up with are people from the community very well trained in the issues of substance abuse—recognizing it, treatment and intervention—who will then be a resource for the community for very many years," said the Rev. Bill Schram, chairperson of the Chemical People.

For every person with a substance abuse problem, six others are directly affected, said Linc Smith, CHS teacher and co-coordinator of the CHS

S.E.A.R.C.H. program aimed at helping students affected by substance abuse.

"It's not just a school concern. It's something that affects our community at large," he said.

The goal is to establish a substance abuse coordinating council that would share information and work to fight the problem, he said.

The program titled "Chemical Dependency: The Community, the Family and the Schools" will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on four consecutive Mondays beginning Nov. 3. It will be presented by Henry Ford Hospital Chemical Dependency Treatment Programs.

Participants will not be charged.

The $8,000 cost, which includes substitute teachers, lunches, notebooks with reading materials and the program fee, is being divided equally by the Chemical People and the school district, said Schram.

Stay of demolition

Exactly one year after the matter was first considered, the Springfield Township Board voted 3-2 to give Alan Krasinski "just two more weeks" to begin work on his home in Lake Maria Woods subdivision in Springfield Township.

Last month, the board agreed to advertise for bids to demolish the home, but in the interim, the board received notice from Krasinski's attorney that a mortgage was procured Sept. 7, one day after the board's demolition decision.

Opposed to giving the Krasinskis more time were Township Supervisor Collin Walls and Trustee William Whitley.

"I think fair notice was given," Whitley said.

The board received no response to its advertisement for bids for demolition of the house, but if the Krasinskis have not started work on the home in two weeks, demolition bids will again be sought.

Ralph Przybylski of the Springfield Township Fire Department asked if it would be cheaper to let the fire department burn the house down for practice.

Walls said it would be less expensive, but the area is densely treed, and containing the fire might be a problem.

No one representing the Krasinskis was at the township meeting.

The matter is to be reviewed at a special meeting of the township board on Oct. 22.

Budget talk scheduled

A public hearing scheduled Oct. 8 on the proposed 1987 budget for Springfield Township was postponed two weeks due to an error in the legal notice.

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls apologized to the residents attending the township monthly meeting and announced that a special meeting will be held on the budget proposal Oct. 22 in Springfield Township Hall.

The proposed budget totals $803,575.

Board appoints 3

New faces now fill several Independence Township appointed positions.

Robert Pilarcik of Independence Township has been appointed to the Wetlands Board, effective Oct. 7. He is filling the vacancy left by Ruth Basinger when her three-year term expired in August.

The purpose of the five-member board is to review potential developments of wetland areas in the township and to protect the wetlands' function as retention areas for flooding.

Township Trustee Carol Balzarini has been appointed to the citizens' Police Study Committee, filling the vacancy left by Clerk Richard Holman. He resigned due to his appointment as Secretary-Treasurer of the township's Downtown Development Authority Board.

The committee's purpose is to review the township's law enforcement options and make a recommendation for the best service to the township board.

Beverly McElmeel, township interim building and planning director, has been appointed to the Economic Development Corporation. She fills the position left vacant by the resignation of former building and planning director Kenneth Delbridge.

The EDC works to promote and control growth in the township by providing low-interest revenue bonds to developers.

All appointments were approved unanimously by the Independence Township Board on Oct. 7.

Doyle to California

Independence Township Parks and Recreation Director Tim Doyle plans to head for California.

His destination is Anaheim for the annual six-day National Recreation and Parks Congress.

At the Oct. 8 meeting, the Independence Township board unanimously approved spending about $1,000 for the budgeted trip. The cost includes air fare, room, registration and food.

Meet candidates

Candidates for the hotly contested 6th District United States Congressional seat are to appear at a luncheon Wednesday, Oct. 27.

Democrat Bob Carr and Republican Jim Dunn will present their views on the issues affecting Oakland County. The luncheon is planned from 11:45 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at White Lake Oaks Country Club.

The 6th District stretches between Lansing and northern Oakland County and includes Independence and Springfield townships.

The luncheon cost is $10 a person. Advance reservations are required. Call 683-4747 or 644-1229 for reservations and information.

Dedication rites hail Calvary's expansion

The addition on Calvary Lutheran Church is completed and dedication ceremonies are scheduled Sunday, Oct. 19, after the 8 and 10:30 a.m. services.

Ground was broken a year ago for the $400,000 construction project that doubled the building size, said the Rev. Robert Walters.

The addition at 6805 Bluegrass, Independence Township, included classrooms and a fellowship room, lounge and office.

"The great need for Christian education and fellowship has resulted in the fulfillment of our dream to add sufficient facilities for these purposes," Walters said.

The dedication coincides with the church's 25th anniversary. A banquet to celebrate the anniversary is planned at 5 p.m. at the church, also on Oct. 19.

Meeting canceled

The Nov. 4 regular Independence Township Board meeting has been canceled because it falls on General Election Day.

They unanimously approved the cancellation at the Oct. 7 meeting.

Call on committee

Patricia Call has been appointed to the Oakland Schools Parent Advisory Committee for Special Education.

Call's appointment was approved in a 6-0 vote at Monday night's Clarkston board of education meeting.

400 turn out at annual SCAMP Walk

"It really was wonderful," said Pat Brumback about the 11th annual Walk for SCAMP.

This year about 400 walkers gathered initial pledges of $17,162.25 before they took three- or 10-mile hikes Sunday.

Generally when the money is collected, people contribute more, so she expects about $20,000 to be raised, said Brumback, who served as chairperson this year with Greg Seaman and Marty Wheeler.

Tallies are higher than last year, she said, comparing the pledges to those of two or three years ago.

"The best part were the kids. They were so enthusiastic," she said.

This year, she had a chance to visit other fundraising efforts in other communities, and she came back even more impressed by the Walk for SCAMP.

It's wonderful the way the Clarkston community works to help send handicapped children and young adults to the five-week summer camp program, she said.

Brumback had words of praise for the Clarkston Optimists who staffed rest stops, the Pontiac Civitans who prepared food for the walkers and members of REACT, a CB club, who monitored the routes.

Clarkston school district teachers also deserve recognition for promoting the fund raiser and for manning check-in booths, she said.

"This is really phenomenal. It's just amazing that so many people turned out," she said.

RUNNING FOR DOLLARS: If this were a race, these members of the Clarkston High School cross country teams would be winners—in more ways than one. From left, Jeff Funck, Merideth Green and Kevin Baert were among the first finishers of the Walk for SCAMP on Sunday. They gathered pledges and ran 10 miles to benefit the summer camp program.

Football

Clarkston Junior High
Wolverines 12, Flint Central 6
 Oct. 9—John King scores both Clarkston touchdowns and gains 189 yards in total offense as the Wolverines end a four-game losing skid. They are now 2-4.

King scores on runs of 30 and three yards and Guy Kennedy rushes for 75 yards.

Flint Central manages just two first downs. Bill Kruger makes 17 tackles for Clarkston and King is in on 14 tackles.

"Hopefully, this will turn the tide for us," said co-coach Steve Himburg.

Sashabaw Junior High
Crary 16, Cougars 7

Oct. 8—Two poor snaps on punts set up Crary's touchdowns and doom the Cougars, 2-3-1.

Crary recovers the two bad snaps, which set up short scoring drives, and also get two two-point conversions.

Dane Davis scores on a quarterback sneak to give the Cougars a 7-0 halftime lead, but it's not enough.

Soccer

Clarkston High School Varsity
Wolves 2, Waterford Mott 1

Oct. 10—Matt Beamer scores the winning goal in the second half to lead the Wolves, who improve to 7-3.

Beamer is set up by Rob Laurie. The goal comes after Clarkston goalie Mark Whitcomb stops a Mott penalty shot with the game tied 1-1. Jeff John notches the other goal for the Wolves.

Wolves 3, Flint Powers 2

Oct. 8—Beamer again nets the game-winner for Clarkston with about 10 minutes remaining. Laurie and Mike Koslosky also score as the Wolves come back from a 2-1 deficit.

Oct. 6—Whitcomb turns away 10 shots to help the Wolves to victory. Curt Caruso and Bill Cashin score two goals each.

Clarkston High Junior Varsity
Wolves 1, Flint Powers 0

Oct. 8—Cory Wisner records the shutout in goal and Brad Dedrick scores the only goal Clarkston needs. The Wolves move to a 5-2 mark for the season.

Wolves 8, Lapeer East 0

Oct. 6—Jim Brueck scores twice and just about everyone gets in on the act as Clarkston pounds Lapeer East. Wisner and Bart Roeser split time in goal and share the whitewash.

Springfield Christian Academy Varsity
Eagles 7, Baptist Park 2

Oct. 6—Jim Adams nets three goals to pace the Eagles over Baptist Park of Taylor in the first game of a four-team tourney.

Matt Montgomery gets a goal and two assists and Jeff Dexter assists on three goals.

SCA, 14-4 with the victory, is ranked number one in the Michigan Christian Schools poll.

Basketball

Showdown:

Wolves hope to avenge last season's loss to Captains

By Chris Gerbas

Wake the dog, phone the neighbors, as David Letterman might say, it's time for some basketball. Forget about the Brandons and the Hollys and bring on the mighty Waterford Kettering Captains for the Clarkson girls team.

The Wolves and the Captains, both 8-2 after last week, square off this Thursday at Clarkston High. The battle will follow the junior varsity contest, which gets under way at 6 p.m.

The teams' two meetings this season could very well decide the Greater Oakland Activities League championship, at both the varsity and junior varsity levels.

Sports

For those of you just tuning in, Clarkston has a score to settle.

After finishing second to Kettering in the league standings, the Wolves took the highly ranked Captains to the limit in the district finals last season before falling, 52-48, in double overtime.

"We don't want it that close," said Clarkston senior Missy Odell. "We want to end it when it's supposed to end."

"That (the loss) gets us more pumped up for the game," said Michele Wyniemo, senior forward. "We'll be ready for them."

The Wolves tuned up for the showdown with a 49-25 victory over Brandon and a 65-40 win at Pontiac Northern.

Clarkston was sluggish against the Blackhawks, but showed its depth against the Huskies. Both Odell and Wyniemo missed the Northern game, Odell with a twisted ankle and Wyniemo with a sick stomach. Both are expected back in time for Kettering.

Coach Dave McDonald received outstanding performances from juniors Jane Selent and Ali Fedio, who picked up the scoring and rebounding slack.

Selent scored 20 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and Fedio had 15 points and 20 boards. Senior Lisa Ladd added 11 points.

"They (the team) were a little worried," said McDonald. "They're not dumb, they know those two are important."

McDonald may be worried Thursday, as he hopes his players don't perform any of Letterman's "Stupid Human Tricks."

Despite losing three key players to graduation, Kettering is still a team to be reckoned with. Gone are all-stater Cindy Lyons, center Julie Nickman and forward Lisa Kline.

Junior Kris Davis has emerged as the team's leading scorer at about 11 points per game. Guard Kristi Lyons and forward Kelly Kraft have considerable playing time under their belts and Nichole Leigh and Mikki Bryce round out the Captains' top five scorers.

"We're an all together different team," said Kettering coach Charlie Shires. "Last year, we had a lot of experience all the way through. This year, we're young and sometimes we play like young kids."

But the "youngsters" are playing well. And McDonald knows it. And Shires knows he knows it. There are no secrets and there will be no surprises Thursday, unless there's a blowout.

"It's a good competitive situation," said Shires. "We don't underestimate them."

"We know what each other will do," McDonald said. "We'll see who's pumped up more."

The junior varsity matchup is of equal importance. The Captains went undefeated to win the GOAL last year and Clarkston was second, losing twice to its foe.

The Wolves come into the game at 9-1 after finally losing, to Pontiac Northern, last week. The Huskies prevailed, 59-53, the most points Clarkston has allowed this year.

Jenny Grohs led the Wolves with 19 points, Wendy Scroby had 11 and Deanna Green had 10 rebounds.

"It was a tough one," said JV coach Larry Sherrill. "They wanted that 10-0 milestone. But maybe the loss will make them a better ballteam."

"I know they're going to work hard this week," he said. "You don't have to worry about Clarkston getting up for Kettering."

Clarkston's Jane Selent popped in 20 points against Pontiac Northern in the absence of Missy Odell and Michele Wyniemo.

Central deals Wolves first loss

By Chris Gerbas

So much for a perfect season.

Maybe it had to happen sooner or later, but somebody finally exploded on the Clarkston football team. And up in smoke went the Wolves' unbeaten record.

Flint Central built a 21-0 halftime lead and went on to down the Wolves, 34-20, in Flint last Friday night. Both teams are 5-1.

"They're a good football team, no question about it," said Clarkston coach Walt Wyniemo. "We made some mistakes and they capitalized. You can't give up 21 points in a football game and expect to win it."

One of those mistakes was a Clarkston fumble at the Central 35-yard line. The Indians' David Johnson picked up the loose ball and went 65 yards for a score, which put the Wolves at that 21-0 deficit at halftime.

Halfback Larnell Sykes had scored the first two touchdowns, one on a 35-yard pass from Johnson and another on a 10-yard run.

"We didn't perform very well," said Wyniemo. "I don't know the reason for that. If I knew that, I'd be a Houdini."

Clarkston had some magic going in the third quarter when it got back in the game with two touchdowns in about five minutes.

A Central fumble set up Mike Gilbert's 15-yard scoring run and then Dan Jokisch picked off a pass in Indian territory. Gilbert eventually scored again, from one yard out, and the Wolves were down, 21-14.

But Sykes scored again, on a 35-yard run, and each team added a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Josh Newblatt hit Jokisch for a five-yard touchdown pass.

With his team trailing, Newblatt threw 32 times. He completed 15 for 219 yards, with three going to Keenan Powell for 69 yards.

Jokisch combined with Joe Hamelin and Jim Turk for 16 tackles and eight assists on defense.

Lake Orion	1-2	4-2

On deck

The Wolves can win the Greater Oakland Activities League championship outright with a victory at Lake Orion Friday night. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

The defending champ Dragons have not had an easy time with their GOAL foes this season. They are 1-2 in the league and 4-2 overall.

Lake Orion shut out Waterford Mott, 14-0, last week for its first league win. The Dragons had previously lost to Pontiac Northern and to Waterford Kettering.

Loss No. 2

Not only did Clarkston lose its first football game of the season last Friday on the road, but the Wolves were thrown for a loss at home as well.

When the players and staff returned to the high school varsity lockerroom after the game, they discovered that someone had broken into several lockers.

About 15 lockers were tampered with and, apparently, some items were taken. There was no damage to the secured doors and it was not known how entry was gained to the lockerroom, according to the police report.

Hamelin in middle of team's defense

By Chris Gerbaal

An old football adage is "The best defense is a good offense."

While Clarkston has shown it can have an explosive offense, the Wolves' defense has more than held its own.

The Wolves ranked sixth in the county going into last week's Flint Central game, allowing just 134 yards per game.

At the center of that defense are linebackers Joe Hamelin and Mike Wells. Wells led the team with 25 tackles after five games and had 14 assists. Hamelin was next with 22 tackles and 15 assists.

"Mike Wells has helped a lot," said Hamelin. "When I mess up, he's there to save me and when he messes up, I'm there to save him. If it weren't for him, it would be a lot harder on me."

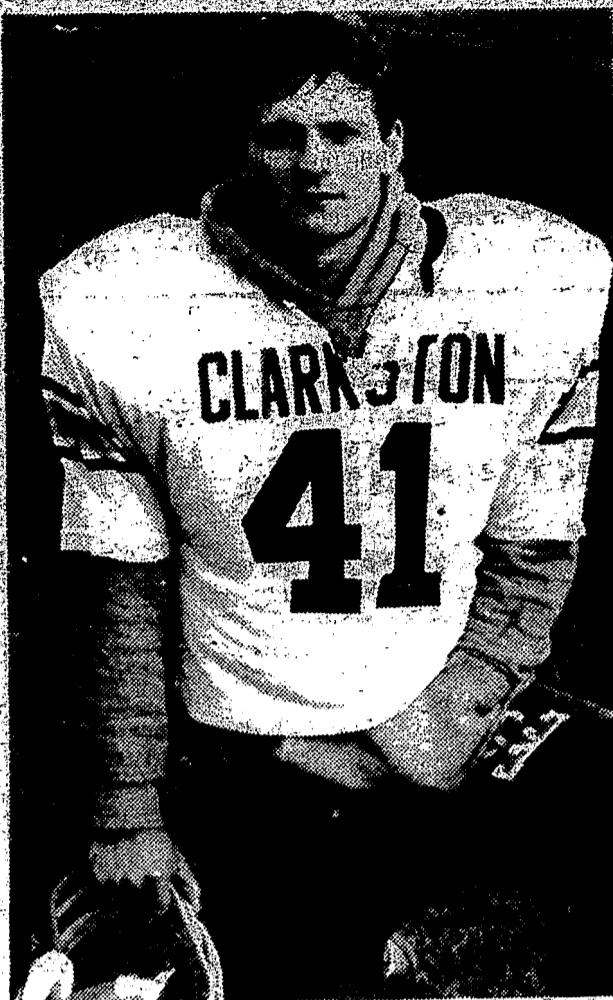

Hamelin also credits defensive coordinator Brad Fischer with bringing in a complex, yet effective, system, which features six fronts. Fischer is in his first year as a coach for the Wolves.

"He came up with a whole new defense," said Hamelin. "It was complicated to learn. We were shaky the first couple games, but since then, we've done good."

Clarkston gave up 21 points in the season opener to Romeo, but just 32 points in the next four games. That's helped the Wolves survive a couple games when they put only seven points on the board.

Hamelin's been on the other side of the ball as well, seeing action at running back and guard. He's also played basketball and baseball. But it seems he was born to play linebacker, a position he's played since his days with the Clarkston Chiefs.

"I'm too short and too slow for basketball," he explained. "I'd rather hit people than be hit."

Senior linebacker Joe Hamelin was one of the reasons the Clarkston defense was so stingy through the first five games of the season.

Hamelin hopes the Wolves keep hitting the rest of the season.

"It's all coming together now," he said. "We've got to keep it going. I think everybody knows to just take it one game at a time. I don't think anybody's too cocky yet."

McInnis is No. 1

Kathleen McInnis reigns supreme among Oakland County girls cross country runners.

Clarkston's senior all-stater was first, ahead of 185 other runners, in a time of 20.02 at the county meet last Saturday.

"I look at this as the culmination of her high school career," said Wolves' co-coach Mike Kaul.

"She's run in the shadow of Laura Matson (all-state graduate of Bloomfield Hills Andover)," he said. "She was so strong as a sophomore and a junior and now she's won the Oakland County meet. This is the biggest meet in the state."

McInnis' effort helped the Wolves to a seventh-place team finish for the race, which was run at Mar-shbank Park in West Bloomfield. Milford won the 34-school girls division.

Kate Conlen was 15th with a 20.43 time and sophomore Meredith Green was 22nd at 21.04. Melissa Elfes, weakened by anemia, had a time of 23.49, for 115th place. Amy Rice was 122nd and Emily Winfield was 134th.

Cliff Dwelle of Lake Orion won the boys division with a 15:52 time and Lakeland won the team title.

Brian Baert once again paced the Clarkston runners. He was 105th out of 270 competitors, with a time of 18:20. Jeff Funck was close behind at 18:24 (109th) and Jim Hotary ran an 18:40 (128th).

Those times were a little higher than the runners had hoped for, but the Wolves did manage to finish 27th among 39 schools.

"That was an ego boost for them," said Kaul. "To finish ahead of 12 teams is not bad."

The boys' team had previously lost to Brighton and, narrowly, to Waterford Mott, 27-29, in dual matches last week. Clarkston is 1-6 in league meets and 1-7 overall.

The girls easily disposed of Mott to go to 7-0 in the GOAL, but lost their first dual-meet of the season to Brighton, 27-30. They're now 8-1 overall.

Netters sixth, golfers seventh in region

Clarkston's tennis and golf teams had similar finishes in their regionals last week, but took different paths to get there. The Wolves' tennis squad performed well against tough competition, while the golfers suffered a bit of a letdown.

As a result, the netters placed sixth among 12 teams in the regional and the golf team swung to a tie for seventh in the 18-team field.

The Wolves won seven matches on the courts at Waterford-Oaks, Bloomfield Hills, Lahser and Andover finished one-two with 26 and 17 points, respectively.

Number one singles player Ashley Adams bowed out in the second round to eventual singles champ Elizabeth Nau of Lahser.

But number three Rhonda Bowes and number four Shelley Rood advanced to the semifinals in their divisions before being knocked off.

Bowes finally lost to the top seed, Nicole Ashare of Lahser, 6-3, 6-2. Rood also faced the top seed in her group, Beth Rauth of Lahser, and lost, 6-0, 6-0.

Clarkston's number two singles player, Coreen Hummel, was bumped off in a three-set match in the second round against Erin Rourke of Rochester.

After the regional last Friday, the Wolves took care of Waterford Mott, 6-1, in a make-up of a rained-out match. They had previously lost to Holly, 4-3, Oct. 9 and finished the season with a 7-3 dual match record.

The golfers wound down their dual season with an easy 173-228 victory over Pontiac Northern Oct. 7. That gave them a 5-5 overall dual mark and a 4-4 record in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

But in regional play at the Pontiac Country Club, the Wolves could only put together a 344 score, 23 shots behind winner Birmingham Brother Rice. That was, however, only three shots behind GOAL rival Waterford Kettering.

Ken Mercier led Clarkston with an 84, Gunnar Karlstrom and Randy Nelson had 86s and Jeff Brock an 88. Magnus Lundblad of Walled Lake Central won individual honors with a 76.

Clarkston JV also beaten by Central

Junior varsity running back Neville Lamotte gets sandwiched by the Flint Central defense in action last Thursday. The Indians made big plays all night to beat the Wolves, 26-6.

Wolves fall, 26-6

Big plays added up to a big loss for Clarkston's junior varsity football team against Flint Central Oct. 9.

Look at any statistic but the 26-6 score and it might appear that the Wolves won the game.

But the Indians came up with some long scoring plays and Clarkston could score just once on five opportunities inside the 20-yard line.

By halftime the Wolves had run 32 plays to Central's 10 plays, but the scoreboard read 14-0 in favor of the Indians.

"It was a frustrating game in many ways," said Clarkston co-coach John Craven, whose team is now 3-3.

"Statistics-wise, we probably beat 'em all over the place," he said. "But it was the big plays. They made them and we didn't."

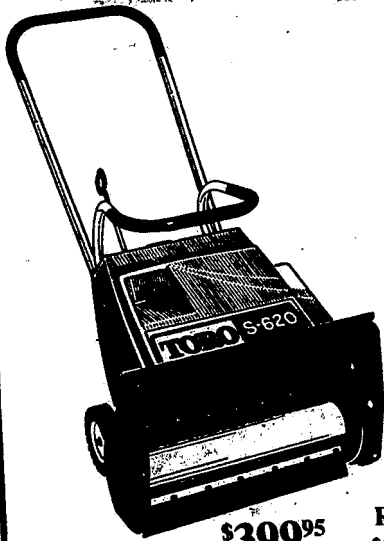

The Wolves did get one big play in the third quarter when they blocked a punt and recovered the ball at the Central one.

Quarterback Scott Oppmann took it in from there and the score was 14-6.

But the Indians came right back. On fourth and 10 from the Clarkston 40, Central threw long and got a pass interference call to put the ball at the 15. The Indians eventually scored and the Wolves could not capitalize on their opportunities.

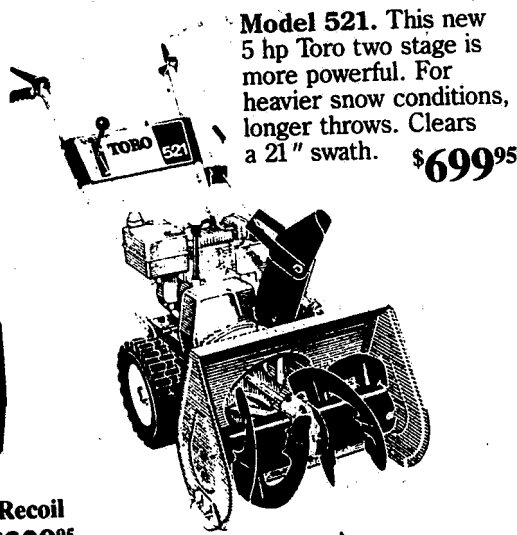

"The offense has got to suck it up and put it in there," said Craven, who nonetheless was pleased with the performance of the offensive line, comprised of Rob Karp, Jason Campbell, Kevin Thomas, Mark Hargett and Joe Martinez.

Wolverines bounce back over Cougars

Clarkston got sweet revenge in its junior high girls basketball rivalry with Sashabaw last Thursday.

After losing at home, 52-31, early in the season, the Wolverines went into the Cougar den and came away with a 33-22 victory.

Clarkston is now 2-6 after a 36-19 win over Howell earlier in the week. Sashabaw dropped to 1-7. The Cougars also lost to Lake Orion last week, 50-30.

"We came out smoking in the second half," said Clarkston coach Dennis Bronson. "We had at least 10 breakaway hoops that we missed; otherwise, we would've blown them out. They're playing together more."

The Wolverines were up by four at the half and increased that lead to 29-22 at the end of the third quarter.

Sashabaw could not connect in the fourth quarter.

"It was a complete turnaround from the first game," said Cougar coach Jayne Bannister. "They (Clarkston) played an excellent game. For some reason, we couldn't get it together."

Rhonda Jokisch had a game-high nine points for the Wolverines before going out late in the game with a twisted ankle. Erin McAuliffe added six points. Heather Koned led Sashabaw with eight points.

Jokisch also paced Clarkston in its win over Howell with 15 points.

Against Lake Orion, the Cougars fell behind, 21-0, after the first quarter and that was too much to overcome. Emily Zubalik led the comeback effort with 12 points.

Clarkston Junior High's Celeste Steinhelper puts up a jumper against Sashabaw. Steinhelper had five points in the Wolverines' 33-22 victory over the Cougars.

Rambling

Chris Gerbasi

Here's another of my patented hodgepodge, mishmash, pellmell columns:

Michigan-Michigan State? Forget about it. The Reagan-Gorbachev Summit? Nothing. Those matchups have got nothing on the Clarkston-Waterford Kettering girls basketball rivalry.

Well, OK, I'm exaggerating. But when it comes to Oakland County girls basketball, it may be the best rivalry going.

Kettering had one of the best teams in the state last year before getting knocked off in a tough regional. The Wolves finished second to the Captains in the GOAL and lost a memorable double overtime game in the district finals. The junior varsity competition is equally fierce.

If you never go to another girls basketball game in your life, check out Thursday's game. There'll be door prizes, an NBA Slam Dunk contest at halftime, 8-by-10 autographed pictures of Jerry Mathers will be distributed to all children 14 and under and it's Wristband Night.

Well, OK, I'm exaggerating. But the game should be enough of an attraction.

I feel kind of responsible for Clarkston's football loss to Flint Central last week. I didn't go to the game after seeing the Wolves' five victories and perhaps I'm a good luck charm. I'll be back in action Friday at Lake Orion and I'll try to wear the same clothes as I did at Waterford Mott.

On the other hand, maybe I'm bad luck. No sooner do I write about Clarkston's defense than it gives up 34 points to Flint Central.

I talked to cross country runner Melissa Elfes last Wednesday and two days later it was discovered she's anemic. The Prep Profile last week was golfer Gunnar Karlstrom and he went on to shoot only an 86 at the regionals.

I have a history of jinxing athletes. In college, a field hockey player scored three goals in the first two games of the season. I did a story on her and she didn't score the rest of the year. Whenever I did track feature before a big meet, the athlete would flop. Clarkston athletes beware.

Anyone who thought I wouldn't write something about the Michigan-MSU game was sadly mistaken. That final again, MICHIGAN 27, michigan state 6.

I settled for watching the game on TV in Ann Arbor and celebrating at my long-time hangout, Rick's American-Cafe.

I didn't go to the game because I couldn't afford the scalpers' prices. It was either food or the game and, believe me, it was a tough choice.

So I'm ready to settle in and catch the second half of "Moonlighting," one of my favorites, last Tuesday and what do I see? Baseball.

I thought the season ended in early August when the Tigers blew it against Boston and all the pennant races were decided. Certainly nobody followed the last two months of the season.

The games just dragged on and on. Two years ago, the Tigers won the World Series on Oct. 14. This year, the series is just getting under way.

But the game on Sunday, with Boston beating California, 7-6 in 11 innings, changed my mind about watching the playoffs and World Series. I've never seen so many exciting plays in one game.

So I'll watch the series and root for anyone but the Mets.

Auditors retained

For the sixth year, Plante and Moran of Southfield will serve as auditors for Clarkston Community Schools.

The board of education approved retaining the firm in a 6-0 vote Monday night.

William Jackson, district financial manager, recommended contracting with the firm, which he said is one of the largest that deals with school systems in the state.

The fee for 1986-87 was estimated by the firm to be between $15,300 and $16,800, depending on the time spent on the annual audit. In 1984-85, the district paid $15,875 and in 1985-86, the fee was $15,700, Jackson said.

Food van bought

A new vehicle for transporting food is being purchased by Clarkston schools.

The Chevrolet van will replace a 1977 Suburban "with holes in it, where it's been known food has disappeared," joked William Jackson, district financial manager at Monday night's board of education meeting.

In a 6-0 vote, the board agreed to spend $10,250 on the van from Bowman Chevrolet of Independence Township.

Board gives $1,500

A donation of $1,500 for Clarkston Area Youth Assistance was approved in a 6-0 vote Monday by the Clarkston board of education.

Garry Pullins, the Youth Assistance social worker, made the request.

"It's been gratifying how the schools have worked very closely with Clarkston Area Youth Assistance," he said, noting the joint effort in founding a latchkey program, drug and alcohol abuse prevention programs and other programs designed to prevent juvenile delinquency.

71, OR SO, YEARS AGO: From the collection of Ivan Rouse comes this photograph from yesteryear. Main Street is viewed facing north, circa 1915. At right stood the Baptist Church, which now houses the Clarkston Church of God. At left stood the home and office of Dr. Clark J. Sutherland, which is now under restoration (without the porch) and is proposed for use as an apartment building. The next visible building on the left is now the Clarkston

Conservatory of Music. "It's a great picture, I think, and very rare," said Rouse, who is director of the conservatory. Coincidentally, when Rouse was born, he was delivered by Sutherland.

'My wine has a good kick to it'

Naturalist shares his wine-making talents

By Julie Campe

Jack Smith has an appropriate name.

A jack of all trades, he's a self-taught naturalist, a wine-maker, a geologist, a gem-cutter, a guitarist, a vocalist, a cook, a magician, an auctioneer, a sailor, a real estate salesman, a song writer, a ballroom dancer, a sail maker, a barber and an antique collector.

"Loving my wife is my favorite hobby," he said.

The Clarkston News

Wednesday, October 15, 1986

He and his wife live in Rochester, and Jack volunteers at Independence Oaks, giving nature hikes or talking about geology or giving wine-making demonstrations.

"I'm very fortunate. God has given me a lot of talents, and I share them," he said. "I'm retired, and I'm busier than I ever have been in my life."

Whenever Jack sets out to learn a new hobby, he takes lessons or classes if they're available. To learn the art of wine-making he went to Wine Unlimited in Royal Oak, and the owner showed him everything he needed to know.

"I can make a really good bottle of wine for less than a dollar, including a bottle," he said.

He makes about 300 bottles a year, and has his own company, The Mule Kick Wine Company.

"My wine has a good kick to it," he said.

But when he gives a wine-making demonstration, it's only an introduction, he said. A person should really take a class and read all about it.

"Don't pick the grapes first and then learn how," he said.

His personal favorite wine to make and drink is gooseberry. But wine can be made from just about anything: dandelions, tomatoes and fruits of all kinds.

"Dandelion wine is the finest wine in the world," said Jack. "Nothing will beat it. . . . But most people are lazy and won't do the job well."

You can only use the blossoms, he said. And that's where most people make their mistake. If you use any greens, the wine will taste just like dandelions.

"I'm very fortunate. God has given me a lot of talents, and I share them."

"It takes all day to pick enough dandelions to make a bottle of wine," he said.

You should think about it before you jump into a hobby and especially wine-making, he said.

"If you're a wine or an alcoholic, stay away from it. Don't make it. Or if you have friends or relatives who are, don't make it. They'll just drink it," he said.

After you've taken a class or watched a wine demonstration, prepare to make your own, he said.

"Write down everything you do," he said. "You're experimenting every day with wine-making."

Using eight gallons of water, 18 pounds of grapes (or 28 quarts of berries) and about 10 pounds of cane sugar, you can make 10 gallons of wine, he said. You can get five bottles from a gallon, so you get 50 bottles per batch.

And it's not necessary to remove the grapes from the stems. Just use the whole bunch, stems and all. And don't buy a press. You won't use enough grapes to need a press, he said.

First, you have to sterilize all the containers. Use glass. Wood and pottery aren't absolutely airtight, and bacteria sometimes gets in. Plastic isn't as clean as glass, and it's harder to sterilize.

Put your fruit into the container and add a bacteria inhibitor. Some people wrap their fruit in cheesecloth, but it's not necessary if you use Jack's a red and white maple to a group of children from Detroit Country Day School.

method of siphoning later.

Let the fruit and inhibitor stand for 24 hours. If it doesn't stand for 24 hours first, the inhibitor might later kill the yeast. Next, add yeast, sugar and water. Using a hydrometer, an instrument that measures sugar content, begin with a specific gravity (sp) of 1085. Simply keep adding sugar until reading is 1085. Let set about four days. When the hydrometer reading is 1030 sp, jug it.

To jug it, draw off the solution into gallon jugs with a siphon, using a vapor lock to seal it. A vapor lock allows gases to escape but doesn't allow oxygen to enter the jug. Jack's special idea is to use a modified tea caddy at the end of the siphon to filter the wine.

Let the solution set for four weeks.

After four weeks, about 2 inches of sediment will be at the bottom of the jug. Siphon the liquid from the top of the jug into another jug, again using a vapor lock. Let it set another four weeks. Repeat the process until the solution is clear, about six or seven months.

Bottle the liquid. If you use a cork, the bottle must stay on its side and must be rotated to keep the cork wet. If the cork dries, oxygen might get in and bacteria might grow.

Plastic tops are also available, but the screw cap is the best, said Jack. It's easier to install and gives a more airtight seal. Also, it's easier to store, since the bottles may rest upright.

The alcohol content is usually 12 percent or 24 proof, which is pretty good wine, he said.

"Anything over 12 percent is pretty hard to take," he said.

"If you make a weak batch, . . . mix it with some mint," he said. "I grow my own spearmint, but you can buy it. Don't use the kind with oil."

It's a great after-dinner drink, he said. If it's a little too thin, add corn syrup.

If your batch is too strong or too bitter, mix it with fruit. When you mix wine with fruit, it's called a cooler, he said. Specifically, if mixed with orange, it's a driver.

Or you can mix it with cranberry juice or cran-anything juice.

In this method of wine-making, the alcohol comes from the sugar, he said, rather than from the grapes, as in the Italian method, so don't add sugar.

"Some Italians will think I'm cheating. . . . They're pretty uppity about that," he said.

"The Italians used to gather grapes, and they used to tramp them down and add no yeast, no sugar, just juice. If the grapes were sweet that year, the wine was sweet that year. Any bacteria that was there would go in. They'd have maybe one good batch every five years. I want to control my wine. I use tame yeast—yeast that I know where it came from."

Jack loves to make gooseberry wine, but dandelion wine is the finest in the world, he says.

Jack loves making wine, loves learning about it, and loves entertaining with it. He has a respect for the art of making it.

"Wine is older than the number of years we have on our calendar," he said. "In some parts of the world, they used to have to drink wine because the water was no good."

He even has a prediction about the future of wine-making.

"Michigan is going to be the number one wine-maker in the world—even better than the Napa Valley—because of Lake Michigan and the winds come right off. They have the finest grapes in the world," he said. "Napa has already stolen first place from Europe."

Springfield quilters stitch for good causes

By Julie Campe

It's a good thing Margaret Marcell was raised in Scotland. The sewing skills she learned there have come in handy in the past two years.

She and about 30 others have been making quilts for Michigan's Sesquicentennial Quilt Contest in Springfield Township. She's coordinated the group and at the same time continued to work on her own sewing and knitting projects.

"In Britain, the first thing that you learn to do is knit, so I've been knitting for years," she said.

Making a quilt is a lot of work, she said, and she's never completed a quilt of her own, so the experience was a good one for all concerned.

She had taken one quilting class, and that, along, with her own sewing experience helped when the others had questions, said the Davisburg resident. The women met every Thursday at the Springfield Township Hall and "just worked together," she said.

They started by cutting out the pieces of material. Then, they sewed them all together and quilted them in strips. Each person would take a strip home to work on, she said. Finally, they put all of the strips together, added the edging and ended with a finished project.

Materials for the queen-size quilts were donated by area organizations: Davisburg Rotary Anns, Springfield Historical Society, Davisburg Scotties, Neighbor for Neighbor and Davisburg Rotary. All of the quilters donated their time with one stipulation.

"We made (the quilts) in the condition that all the money goes back in the community. . . . just to help people," said Margaret.

One quilt has been sold for $1,000, and the other four are to be raffled for $1 a ticket. The drawing will be held the weekend of the quilt show, Oct. 18 and 19 at the Springfield Oaks Activities Center on Andersonville Road.

Tickets may be purchased at the quilt show or in advance from the quilt sponsors.

Margaret poses with one of the five quilts she and the Springfield quilting group made. Their names are embroidered on the back. The quilts will be on display Oct. 18 and 19.

Quilts on display

Quilts, quilts and more quilts are planned in a free show as part of Springfield Township's sesquicentennial celebration.

About 100 will be on display, including five to be raffled. Some of the quilts will be for sale and others just for show.

The Oct. 18 and 19 event will be held 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Springfield Oaks Activities Center, 12451 Andersonville.

Fall rain springs haiku-style poetry

The recent long, long rainy spell inspired the fifth-grade pupils of Dorene Cutshall at Pine Knob Elementary School to create the following haiku-style poems.

Haiku poems are a Japanese verse form of three unrhymed lines, usually about nature.

Fall brings thunderstorms.
Lightning cracks and rain, down pours.
Down the roof and off.
—Brook Robbins

As the rain poured down,
Snuggled against their mother,
Fawns shiver with cold.
—Amy Kitchen

When rain comes again,
It will not be a fun time.
When spring comes, it will.
—Mary Simon

The lightning flashed.
It scared me and my friend's dog.
We jumped onto the floor.
—Wesley Adkins

I do not like rain.
It gets sopping wet outside.
I can't ride my bike.
—Brett Marietta

It is pouring rain.
It is wet and muggy.
Nature is cleaning.
—Heather Tillman

It was raining out.
We were at our school working.
There was a flooding.
—Dathan Mason

Lightning is frightening.
Even when it is raining.
And you are real-scared.
—Tim Messing

The rain falls all day.
We play games in the rainfall.

Do you like rainfalls?
—Sonia Navarro

It was wet outside.
After raining in the night.
And storming loudly.
—Angie Schaefer

The rain rushes down.
The lightning hits the big trees.
The thunder rumbles.
—Jennifer Wisser

The lightning so bright
Hits the treetops in the field.
Trees are bending low.
—Theron Shaw

It has rained all week.
The rain came down really hard.
Friday, it will rain.
—Steve Kerstein

I heard loud thunder
Also a flash of lightning.
Then I was frightened.
—Weston Mockridge

The lightning hit our home.
The lightning knocked over a tree.
The tree hit our house.
—Scotty Snider

A bolt of lightning
Is part of a rainy storm,
And it is scary.
—Eric Younger

The storm was so bad.
The lightning lit up the sky.
And I was frightened.
—Todd Vagts

Cats don't like storms.
The cat is scratching the door.
It is very wet.
—B.J. Hamill

It was storming out.
The thunder was very loud.
It was raining hard!
—Melissa Dowdy

It's raining today.
It was pouring yesterday.
It will rain again.
—Josh Watson

The lightning is bright,
And it's coming down cracking.
It is very loud!
—Kevin Scholz

I see a rainbow.
It's from all of the rain we have had.
It's a pretty sight.
—Laura Kroepin

The bright lightning flashed.
The loud thunder went ka boom!
Again, the lightning flashed.
—Rob Lawson

I heard thunder.
It went bang crash all night long!
Now it is peaceful.
—Lisa Zumwalt

The leaves really fell
After the terrible storm.
Then the tree fell down.
—John Sword

I don't like bad storms
Because they are so scary.
Most people hate storms.
—Sherri Cobb

Color burst

Stephanie Bechtel

The autumn season of 1986 has begun and brought with it many new things.

The green leaves that we have grown so accustomed to during the summer months no longer exist.

Instead, bright red, orange and gold ones are invading our trees and causing them to brilliantly light the overcast, gray skies that have lingered above us for the past few weeks.

Although several changes are happening in nature, they are also occurring elsewhere.

I have always felt that fall has a dramatic effect on our attitudes and the way many people think.

During autumn, many things die, making way for new, but instead of being dark and dreary as many people believe death is, it is bright and colorful, contrasting beautifully with the dull pre-winter sky.

It has always seemed to me that people are much more moody, in a romantic way, through autumn.

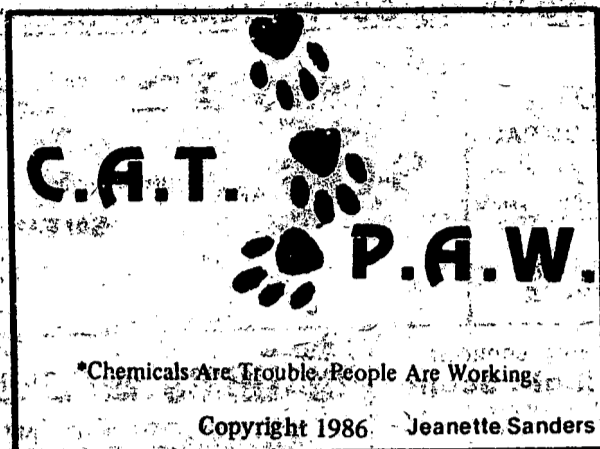

Everything seems peaceful. It's almost like a different world.

But while thinking these thoughts of the peace and color, romance and excitement of the beginning of a brand new, beautiful season, keep in mind that fall, like everything else will slowly come to an end.

Enjoy these changes before the cold winter air arrives, sweeping away all past seasons.

Only unhappy kids use drugs?

Dear Cat Paw:

Isn't it true that only disturbed and unhappy youngsters become addicted to drugs?

Wondering

Dear Wondering:

It's a misconception that only kids who are disturbed or who have broken families or an unhappy home life are addiction prone.

Any of these things certainly can increase somebody's vulnerability to addiction. However, it's important to understand that these aren't necessary and sufficient conditions.

Many people, even by an expert's assessment, might not be especially addiction prone but can become addicted when exposed to drugs.

Dear Cat Paw:

Why is it dangerous for teens to use drugs more than anyone else?

Teen

Dear Teen:

There is the danger of drugs controlling your life by changing your brain chemistry. Drugs also slow down the process of growing up, especially in teenagers who have had a long history of drug use.

Some kids may be 17 years old but have the social development of a 13-year-old. They haven't had a chance to develop social skills like dealing with stress and boredom and having positive relationships.

Using drugs just makes growing up harder. The adolescent years, in particular, are a time to work out your relationships with other people and with the environment, to make critical life decisions, to do career planning and to deal with your emerging sexuality.

Trying to do these things successfully while you're dosing your brain with a powerful mood-altering chemical is nothing short of an unnecessary handicap.

Dear Cat Paw:

Are we making any progress with our children about their alcohol consumption?

Concerned Citizen

Dear Concerned:

According to a Gallup poll, one-sixth of American teenagers say that alcohol has been a cause of trouble in their homes; one-eighth admit that their drinking has caused trouble for others.

Eighty percent agree that regular teen users of alcohol are headed for trouble in adult life. And two-thirds of American teens favor a minimum drinking age of 21.

Like most of the general public, teens are realizing that the images they see today gloss over the realities of alcohol use.

Cat Paw author Jeanette Sanders, a Springfield Township resident, is a state certified drug abuse counselor and a member of the Clarkston Area Chemical People, an organization devoted to the prevention of substance abuse among the community's young people.

Hate milk? Try these alternatives

Betty Wagner

Osteoporosis is an insidious disease that strikes many women. The unfortunate victims suffer 30 percent bone loss before they are aware they have this preventable disease.

Exercise and a well-balanced diet contribute to the development and maintenance of strong bones. The American Dietetic Association recommends that women, especially, follow such a life-style to ensure good health.

Dairy products are especially high in calcium, an essential mineral for strong bones. It is recommended that adults eat two milk group servings daily, teenagers four and children three.

Studies indicate that women would do well to consume an additional two servings of calcium-rich foods, such as sardines, canned salmon with bones, broccoli and collard greens.

To maintain ideal weight, choose low-fat products, which contain as much calcium and those high in fat. Many adults do not care for milk, so the following recipes are offered to augment calcium intake with tasty foods.

Calcium is a mineral and is not harmed by freezing or heating. The microwave oven cooks delicious calcium-rich foods in minutes.

CHICKEN CHALUPES, Serves 4

- 1 chicken breast, split and skinned*
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 1/2 cups Monterey Jack cheese
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 1/2 cup sliced black olives
- 1/2 can green chilies, diced
- 1 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
- Paprika
- 6 7-inch flour tortillas

Place chicken breasts in shallow dish with thickest part to outside, cover with plastic wrap, microwave at high power 3 minutes.

Turn and continue cooking at high 2 more minutes, or until done. Cool. Remove meat from bone and dice.

Mix together soup, sour cream, Monterey Jack cheese, onion, olives and chilies. Reserve 2 cups. Add chicken to remaining sauce and divide among the six tortillas.

Roll up each tortilla and place seam side down in a 7-by-11-inch Pyrex baking dish. Top with the reserved 2 cups of sauce, sprinkle with paprika and cover with plastic wrap.

Microwave at 50 percent (medium) power 10 to 15 minutes, or until hot in the middle; or set temperature probe at 140 degrees. Sprinkle Cheddar cheese on top. The cheese will melt from the heat of the cooked food.

*Note: Leftover chicken may be used.

CHOCOLATE VELVET CHEESE FUDGE

- 2 sticks butter
- 8 ounces Velveeta Cheese
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 2 pounds confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups chopped nuts

Cut each stick of butter into pieces to hasten melting. Place in 6- to 8-cup Pyrex bowl or measure. Microwave at high power 1 1/2 to 2 minutes, until melted.

Add cheese that has been cut into pieces. Microwave at 50 percent (medium) power 2 to 2 1/2 minutes. Stir in cocoa, vanilla and confectioners' sugar.

Cook at high power 4 minutes, stirring every minute. Fudge should be liquid. Stir in nuts and pour into 9-by-13-inch pan. Refrigerate. Line the pan with waxed paper for easy removal of fudge and to ease washing the pan.

IRENE'S CHEESY-MUSHROOM SAUCE

- 1 can cream of mushroom soup
- 1/2 to 1 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 dashes red hot sauce
- 1 teaspoon dried parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1 cup grated cheese

Combine all ingredients except cheese. Microwave at 70 percent power (medium high or roast) 4 minutes, or until sauce is hot. Stir once. Add grated cheese; stir to blend and to melt cheese.

Tip: Sauce may be frozen in small portions in 5 ounce paper cups. To defrost for a quick sauce, microwave at high power 1 minute; stir; and microwave 45 seconds to 1 minute more, or until desired serving temperature. Stir when edges bubble to hasten heating.

The following two recipes are from "Microwave Times," September/October 1968, Pages 12-96. Reprinted with permission of publishers, Recipes Unlimited Inc.

WHITE SAUCE MIX

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 1/4 cups nonfat dry milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup flour

1. Microwave (high) butter in uncovered 1-quart microwave-safe bowl 20 to 30 seconds or until softened.

2. Add remaining ingredients. Combine with fork or knife until mixture is crumbly. Cover tightly and refrigerate.

QUICK WHITE SAUCE

- 1 cup water
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup White Sauce Mix

1. Microwave (high) water in uncovered 2-cup glass measure 1 1/2 to 2 minutes or until boiling. Stir in sauce mix with fork until smooth.

2. Microwave (high) 30 to 60 seconds or until thickened.

3. For cheese sauce, add 1/4 to 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese before microwaving in step 2.

Home economist Betty Wagner, an Independence Township resident, is a graduate of West Virginia University. Her Microwave Plus cable-TV program is aired on Independence Township's channel 11 Monday through Thursday at 7 p.m.

130-IN MEMORIUM

ITS BEEN THIRTY FOUR YEARS now since our Lord took my Mother home, though it seems like only yesterday we were sitting at my kitchen table sharing coffee and talking over the current events in our lives. I still feel the pain of her passing, and miss her with each day, but when its late at night and everyone's asleep, I'll see her smiling face, her cheery eyes, and her beautiful wavy hair. I'll hear her gentle voice soothing my troubles away, and I'll almost feel her warm embrace. And then I'll know as I always do, that she hasn't really gone forever, as she lives on with me here, in my memories and in my heart. In loving memory of Gertrude Mae Clyne who passed away Oct. 1, 1952. Sadly missed by her daughters & son, Mable Spring, and family, Ontonagon, MI, 49953. IILX40-2

DO YOU KNOW AN 18-YEAR OLD MAN?

If you do, he should know that he is required to register with the Selective Service System. Young men born on or after January 1, 1960 must register within 30 days of their 18th birthday. All it takes is five minutes to fill out the simple form at the local post office.

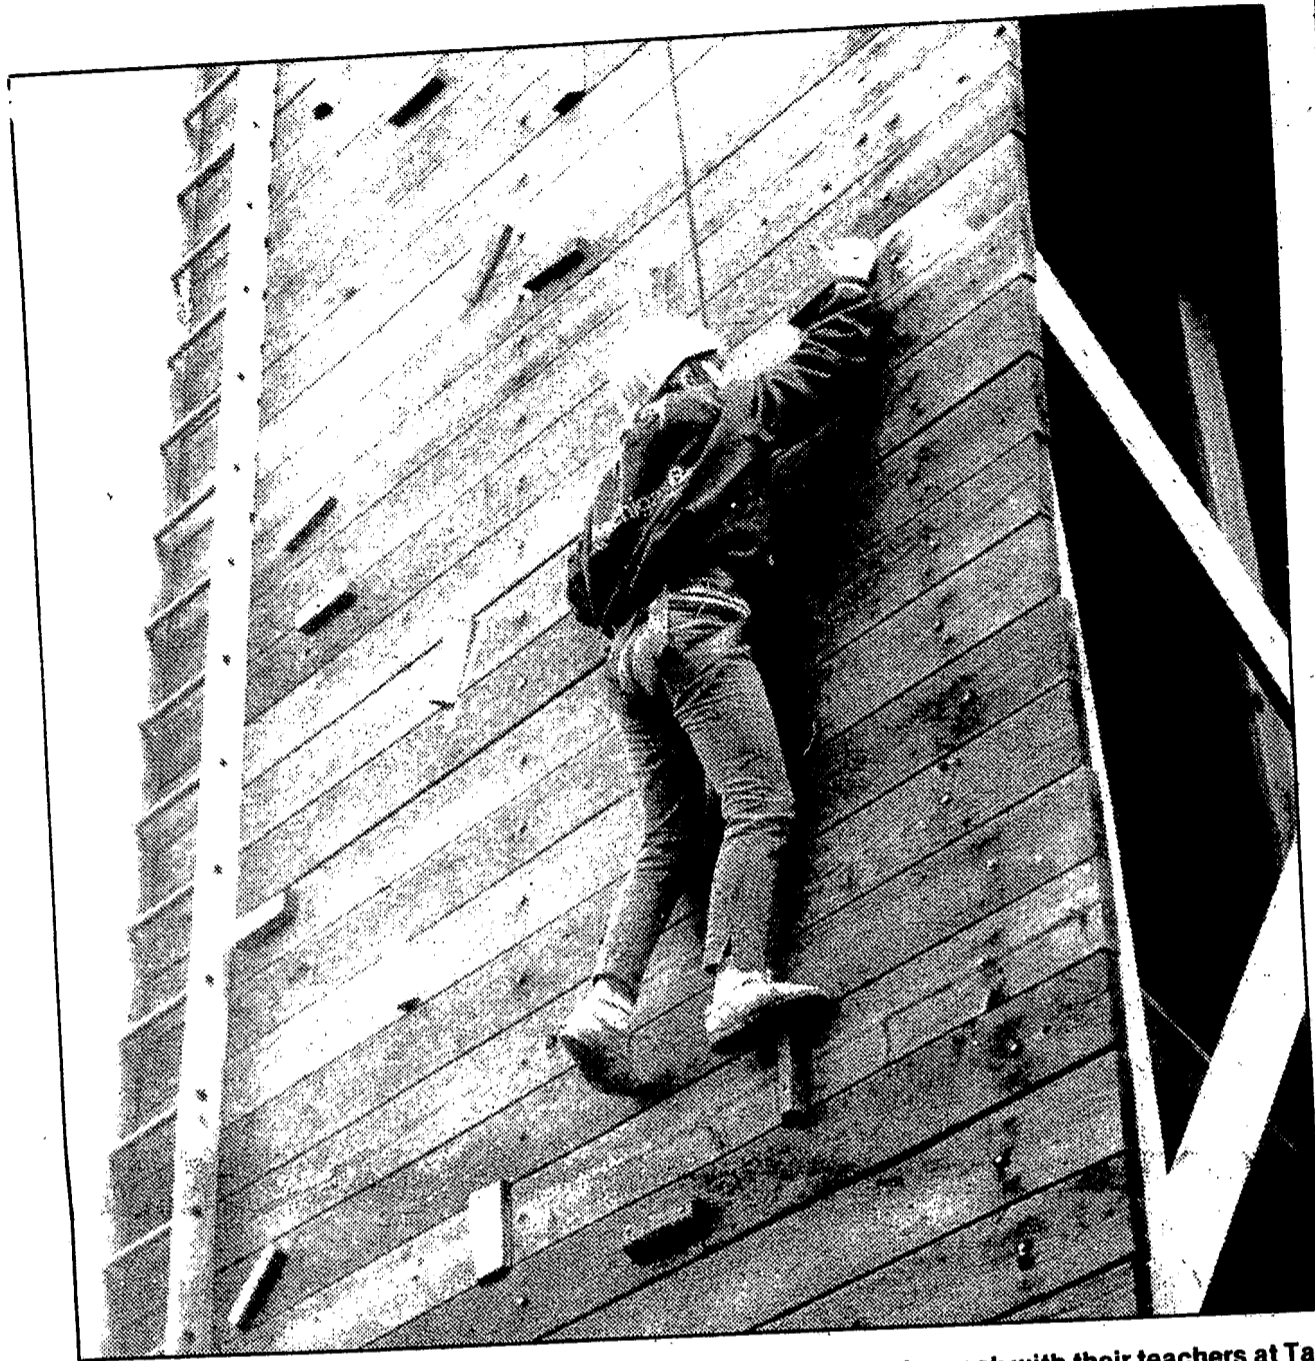

So if you have a student, son, relative or neighbor who is 18, or about to turn 18, make sure they know about Selective Service registration.

For posters, brochures and speakers, contact the Selective Service System, Washington, D.C. 20435.

Registration. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Printed as a public service.

Just one more step

Michelle takes one step at a time, and reaches as far as she can with her arms to scale the tower. She and 126 other sixth-graders from Andersonville and North Sashabaw elementary schools spent a week with their teachers at Tamarack, learning about science-related subjects. They also learned pioneer skills, backpacking and map and compass survival.

Michelle Wade, a sixth-grader at North Sashabaw Elementary School, uses a ladder to reach the first blocks of the tower climb at Camp Tamarack in Ortonville.

As Michelle reaches the top, the onlookers cheer.

The other members of Michelle's group watch and yell encouragement as she nears the top of the tower.
