Part-time deputy to patrol

Clarkston tackles traffic woes

In an effort to combat speeding cars and loud trucks, the Clarkston Village Council plans to hire an Oakland County Sheriff's deputy to work a few hours a week on a trial basis.

"We had to do something to control traffic," said President Sharron Catallo after the Oct. 27 meeting. "We've had a tremendous amount of complaints about truck traffic (on Holcomb and Main Streets)."

Speeding cars on Main Street are also a problem, she said.

The village is to sub-contract a deputy from Independence Township, which contracts for police officers from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Starting in mid-November, the deputy is to work two roving four-hour shifts wherever the village has the most need, Catallo said—probably in the early morning before the Main-Washington Street traffic light is working or late evening after the light is off.

In a 7-0 vote, the council approved the estimated $4,000 cost of the deputy until the end of the year.

By then, they'll be able to evaluate the situation to see if they should continue or try something else, Catallo said.

Trustee Frank Millard, former police officer and head of the Citizens' Police Study Group in Independence Township, is to monitor the police officer's performance and effectiveness.

Voters OK police tax

By Julie Campe

Almost 50 percent of Independence Township's 13,000 registered voters went to the polls Tuesday, approving the police millage and supporting the re-election of Gov. James Blanchard.

The additional 1.5 mills for the police fund for three years passed with 2,666 "yes" votes and 2,141 "no" votes.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation. The millage is to take effect in December 1987 unless the state Legislature grants special permission to begin collecting this year.

The millage approval was good news to township officials, who plan to hire an additional four to six Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies with the money.

"I'm excited to say the least," said Trustee William Vandermark after the election. "It's something we needed very badly, and the citizens saw fit to vote it in. Needless to say, the democratic system still works."

In the governor's race, Blanchard (D) received 3,538 votes and William Lucas (R) received 2,419.

Other township results included: Secretary of State—Richard Austin (D), 3,605, Weldon Yeager (R), 2,242; Representative in Congress—Bob Carr, 3,163 (D), Jim Dunn, 2,964 (R); State Senator—Richard D. Fessler (R), 3,379, Martha Blom (D), 2,101; Representative in State Legislature—Mat Dunaskiss (R), 4,085, Greg Young (D), 1,624; Circuit Court Judge—Lawrence Ternan, 2,365, Jessica Cooper, 2,002. County Commissioner—Richard Kuhn Jr. (R), 3,697, Francine Ballard (D), 1,688.

Elizabeth's tree

Elizabeth Ronk is guest of honor at a tree-planting ceremony planned Saturday, Nov. 8, at Clarkston's Depot Park.

The planting of the flowering crabtree is in tribute to Mrs. Ronk's 36 years as Clarkston's Postmistress and to service as honorary chairperson of Independence Township's 150th birthday celebration this year, said Fontie ApMadoc, chairperson of the Village Beautification Committee.

The tree is a gift of the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club, which is conducting the ceremony.

"I've known (Mrs. Ronk) many years, 27 or 28, from the time she worked in the old post office," said ApMadoc. "I love her very much. She's a sweet, sweet person."

The ceremony will be held at the south end of the hill in the park at 11 a.m.

Sixth grades may move to junior high in '87

By Kathy Greenfield

Discussion on moving sixth grade into Clarkston's two junior high schools is on the agenda of the Monday, Nov. 10, board of education meeting.

Overcrowding in the elementary schools and increasing enrollment have resulted in the need to address a solution, said Superintendent Milford Mason.

"If we're going to see any relief there, we have to make a move into the junior highs and simultaneously start a middle school program," he said. "I see it happening next year if our intention is to be able to properly handle the elementary grades."

A middle school traditionally houses grades 6-8 with grades 9-12 in high school. The current plan is to temporarily house grades 6-9 in Clarkston's junior high schools.

Tree issue settled

The Village of Clarkston and the Goldsmiths of Washington Street have reached an agreement about two village trees removed by the Goldsmiths.

The Goldsmiths agreed to have the tree stumps removed or ground, plant one 4-inch tree now and pay the village to plant a 3-inch tree in the spring.

Earlier this fall, the Goldsmiths removed the pair of diseased catalpa trees in front of their house. The trees were messy, their falling branches created a liability, they were too close to the driveway and cars often bumped into them, said Donald Goldsmith at an earlier village council meeting.

At the time, they didn't know the trees were village property, he said, apologizing.

Council members explained that the village maintains each tree as long as possible, and that the village's tree trimmers said the catalpa trees could have lasted several more years.

The council asked the Goldsmiths to remedy the situation at a Sept. 8 meeting. By writing letters, they reached an agreement Oct. 17.

The only other possible solution would be "a raft of portable classrooms," Mason said, indicating their expense and lack of durability.

At a special board meeting Oct. 27, Duane Lewis, principal of Clarkston Junior High School, and David Reschke, assistant principal of Sashabaw Junior High School, discussed the possibility of adding sixth grade to their buildings.

Both agreed the change was possible, but stressed that it should not be a permanent solution.

If housed in the junior highs, sixth-graders could be exposed to middle school opportunities, such as metal and wood shops, foreign language classes and fine arts, the principals said.

Reschke said the sixth-graders could be housed a corridor that would keep them together in the building at Sashabaw.

"I would like as little unplanned contact (with ninth-graders) as possible," he said.

Lewis said keeping all sixth-grade classes together at Clarkston Junior High would be impossible; but he also said an effort would be made to provide some separation.

vide some separation.

"Having ninth grade together with sixth grade isn't a very good situation," he said, indicating that three years should be a maximum time limit.

Board member Mary Jane Chaustowich expressed some concern about the plan.

"I don't like the situation no matter how you slice it. I don't like the transportation problems involved," she said.

Board President Janet Thomas stressed that the overcrowding problem required a solution.

"We're not talking about ideal situations here, but as close to ideal as we can at this point in time," she said.

Board member Carolyn Place suggested housing sixth- and seventh-graders at one junior high and eighth- and ninth-graders at the other.

Lewis and Reschke were also asked to discuss that possible solution on Nov. 10.

The meeting is to begin at 8 p.m. in the board office, 6389 Clarkston Rd.

About a half-dozen trucks line vacant property in this picture taken from the east side of Dixie Highway at Maybee Road. The barricade was formed last week in a trespassing dispute over a vacant lot. The lot owner filed a lawsuit against the developers of the lot behind this one.

$10,000 lawsuit filed

Truck barricade means 'No trespassing'

By Julie Campe

The Hamady truck barricade lining Dixie Highway at Maybee Road symbolizes problems between property owner Durant Enterprises and the developers of the property behind it.

The dispute apparently began when the developers of Lancaster on the Lake Apartments began construction and used a portion of the vacant Durant lot.

On Oct. 28, Durant owner Alex Dandy filed a lawsuit in Oakland County Circuit Court charging Fox Corp. and A.T.V. Construction with trespassing. Dandy also owns Hamady Brothers Food Markets.

The suit seeks an amount in excess of $10,000 in damages and calls for a court order to stop the unauthorized use of Dandy's land.

Fox and A.T.V. are building Lancaster on the Lake Apartments on property behind Dandy's.

According to the lawsuit, the builders made a road on Dandy's property and piled trees, trash and piping there.

Dandy said he complained to the township and Oakland County, but received no help.

"It seems that the taxpayers don't have any rights in Independence Township," Dandy said. "I'm planning to take my rights as a citizen to court."

Dick Fay, vice president of construction for Fox, said he was unaware of the suit or of an existing problem on Oct. 31.

The excavator had inadvertently put dirt on Dandy's property because he didn't know the property boundaries, said Fay.

"As soon as we found out, we started clearing it off right away," he said. "We figure they'll be our neighbors for a long time. We sure don't want any problems. We aren't being malicious or anything."

The only road the builders are using is the service drive to Hosler Pontiac, said Fay.

"We have a paved road that goes right to the edge of the property. We have no reason to use an empty lot," he said.

The case has been assigned to Judge Francis O'Brien. No court date has been set.

Board wants new high school

Meeting planned with public relations expert

By Kathy Greenfield

After eight months of special meetings, the Clarkston board of education has moved closer to asking voters to approve construction of a new high school.

The board is considering a roughly $34 million proposal that would include about $25 million for a new high school at a yet-to-be-determined location, no longer using the present Clarkston Junior High School building for standard classes, and building and grounds improvements across the district.

The proposal also includes changing the grade organization to a middle school concept, with grades K-5 housed in elementary buildings, 6-8 in middle schools and 9-12 in high school.

The plan proposes using CJHS for community education programs including preschool and latchkey, and using CHS as a middle school.

"We're trying to look at what it's going to take to put our school facilities in shape for the next 15 to 20 years," said Superintendent Milford Mason after the Oct. 27 special meeting.

Because the current CHS building has been used at over 100 percent of its capacity for eight years and due to "constant pressure to improve and upgrade programs," the building is no longer adequate for a quality high school program, Mason said.

"We feel (a new high school) is something that's going to have to happen and it would be cheaper now than to try to put it off further," he said.

Mason said he hopes the question will go to voters in the fall of 1987.

If voters approve the construction, "we're looking at 1990 in terms of being able to utilize whatever the outcomes are," he said.

Although precise plans for a new high school building, projected to cost about $25 million, have not been drawn, board discussions have indicated there would be improved academic facilities including science and computer labs, plus a swimming pool, football stadium and athletic fields.

During its months of discussion, the board of education pondered several options including an addition to CHS with and without a swimming pool, and building a new elementary school instead of a new high school.

The board's intention to seek voter approval for a new high school culminated at the special meeting last week.

Following a two-hour discussion, board President Janet Thomas conducted an informal poll of board members. The board's seven members agreed to begin working toward approval of the plan.

Board member Mary Jane Chaustowich expressed some reservations including concern about setting up "divisive situations in the community." She cited the high school built in adjacent Brandon Township that sat empty until voters finally approved a tax for operating funds.

In response, board member Stephen Werner referred to community meetings about the proposal the board intends to conduct.

"I fail to see why this issue would become a divisive issue in the community... if we analyze the situation and determine a need and how best to rectify the need," he said.

The board agreed on the next two steps to prepare for taking the question to voters.

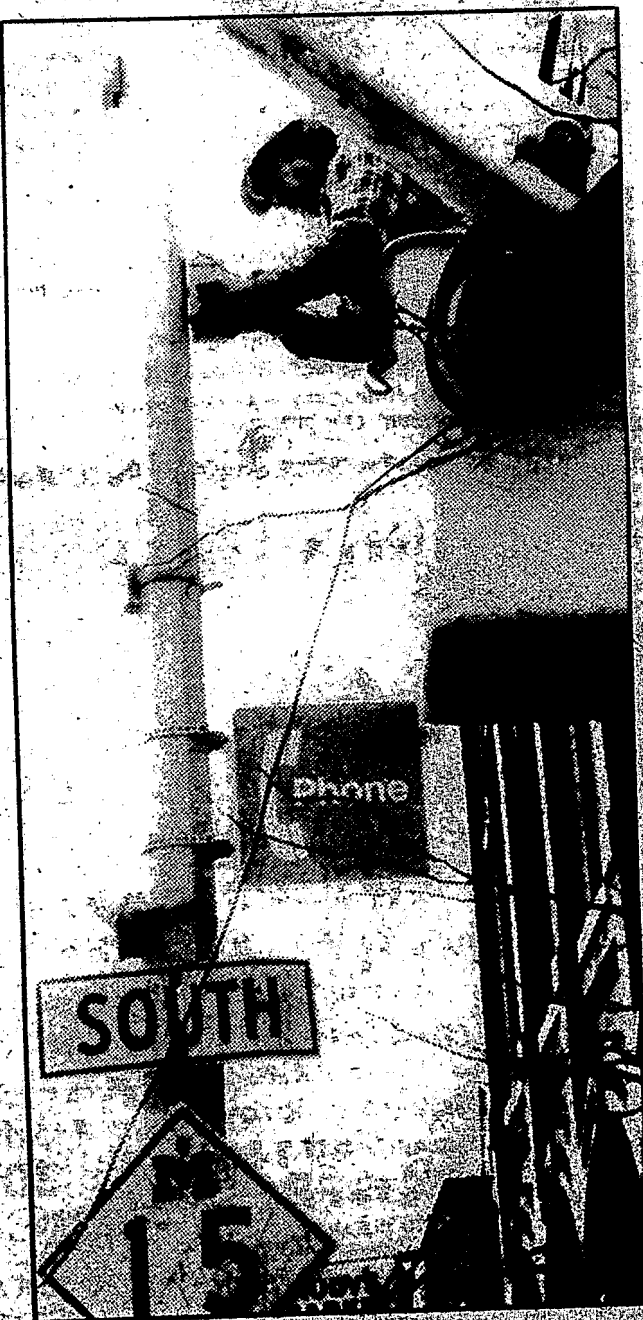

A special meeting is scheduled Thursday, Nov. 13, at 7 p.m. at the board office, 6389 Clarkston Rd., with Ned Hubbell, the director of public relations for the Michigan Department of Education.

The plan is "to talk about elements of preparing for carrying off a successful election campaign," said Mason.

Then meetings with community members will be planned to find out their reactions to the proposal.

From there, the board has indicated a willingness to change plans or modify them based on community reaction. The board also indicated an unwillingness to spend money on architectural fees for high school building plans unless there appears to be community support.

Their intention was summed up by board member John Needham with, "We shouldn't mind being leaders, but I don't mind looking over my shoulder to see if anyone is following."

CHRISTMAS IS COMING: Last week, the street light poles in downtown Clarkston underwent a subtle change, but a significant one for the coming holiday season. Riding in the bucket while installing plugs for Christmas decorations was Bernie Nagel, a cable splicer for Detroit Edison. The 12 poles are being prepared for new decorations, which the Clarkston Rotary Club purchased and will hang this month. Last year, the club took a stand refusing to hang decorations and string electric cords all over town until Edison would agree to install plugs. The battle was settled earlier this year when Edison agreed to do the work and the Rotary Club agreed to pay plug installation fees. (Photo by Kathy Greenfield)

Condos OK'd

By Julie Campe

After a year and five different approvals, Newport Condominiums received the final OK at a special meeting Oct. 27.

With no discussion, the Independence Township Board approved, 4-3, the rezoning of 8.5 acres from single family residential to planned unit development (PUD).

The 28 units on Clarkston Road across from Clintonwood Park are owned by Frank Walker and William Hahn.

Previous approvals came from the planning commission and the township board.

Trustees Carol Balzarini, Daniel Travis, and William Vandermark voted "no" without comment. Past concerns included inconsistency with the master plan, too high density and unsuitable usage of a PUD.

A PUD permits varied uses on a single parcel of land and/or allows unusual pieces of property to be developed.

Supervisor Frank Ronk, Clerk Richard Holman, Treasurer John Lutz and Trustee Dale Stuart voted "yes." In past meetings, they complimented the project, commented on the benefits of sewer services and said the quality of the project far outweighed any negative points.

The project is to connect with the Clinton Oakland sewer system, extending the sewer line without cost to the township.

Construction is to begin as soon as they receive building permits, said Walker after the meeting.

"I'm excited about it," he said. "It's been a long time, but I think that the board has thought about it long and hard and has made the right decision, at least in my point of view."

Centered around a "landmark oak," the project is to feature waterfalls, a nature walk, gazebos and picket fences. High ceilings and bay windows are included in plans for the condominiums, which will range in cost from $89,900 to $134,900, Walker said.

Swamp talk

Kathy Greenfield

People don't say "swamp" anymore. In vogue is the term "wetlands."

When a friend made that observation the other night, I immediately agreed. I even remembered scrambling for a dictionary a few years back to make sure wetlands was one word instead of two.

I don't have to look anymore. Wetlands has become the word of choice. People just don't say swamp very often. It's so unsophisticated.

The more I thought about that, the more it bothered me. Swamp is such a great word.

When I was growing up in the country, swamps were favorite places. We rafted on them and ice skated on them (unless you've skated around trees and other stuff sticking out of swamp ice, you've never enjoyed the essence of country skating).

We observed polliwogs grow into frogs and toads, spotted occasional snakes (they didn't want to have anything to do with us, either) and fought mosquitoes.

When the swamps around our house were filled, there were fewer mosquitoes—and fewer birds, fewer spectacular creatures such as dragonflies, fewer types of animals (the raccoons all but disappeared) and fewer varieties of plants.

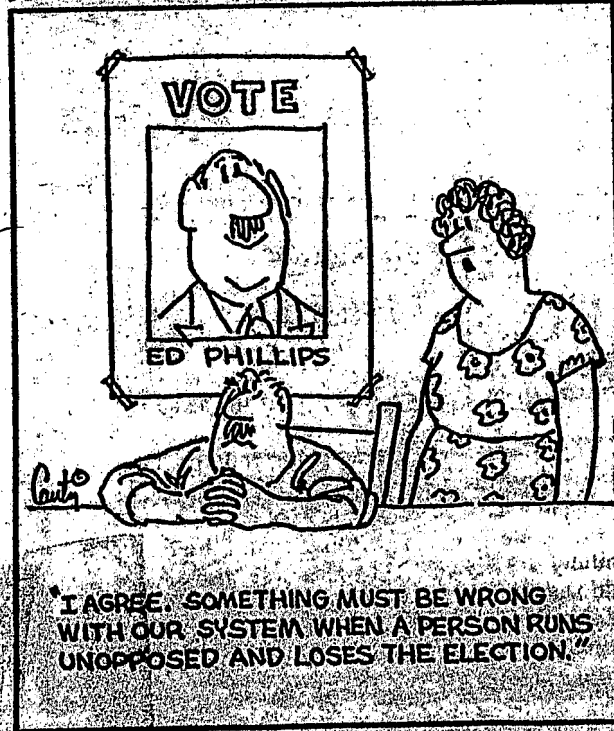

When you grow up around such wonders, you begin to realize the importance of swamps, otherwise known as wetlands.

How, I wonder, could any child possibly announce to a parent, "I'll be at the wetlands" instead of the more adventurous-sounding, "I'll be at the swamp."

Our language changes constantly. Words are in vogue, then they are replaced. The reasons can be many—certainly in this case wetlands can apply to more than swamps, which are part of the whole.

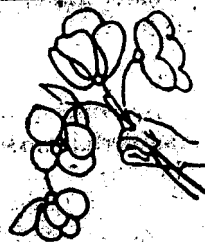

But I will continue to like the word swamp, and I intend to use it whenever possible. Some things are sacred.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Gleaned from the Delta Reporter, Gladstone, U.P. Michigan:

The mystique of deer season is very difficult to explain to anyone who has not witnessed it or experienced it. All of us here in the Upper Peninsula are participants, voluntary or otherwise, for deer season involves such a substantial segment of the population that it cannot be ignored.

Schools close, factories shut down, and some areas of commerce almost come to a halt.

Other areas of commerce, however, thrive, for they have learned that deer hunters are not exclusively preoccupied with hunting deer. The hunters must not only clothe themselves properly and adequately, but food and drink are vital ingredients of the seasonal recipe.

If one is realistic it has to be admitted that deer hunting season is just as much a social occasion as it is a hunting expedition. There are toasts to be drunk and songs to be sung and excursions to be made, and purveyors of those earthly delights do well during the last half of November.

If you can accept the fact that deer season is more social than anything else, then many of the attendant mysteries are revealed. Man is a social creature, and enjoys social customs. The solitary hunter is few and far between. Gregarious by nature, most nimrods gather in camps and then proceed, not only from camp to camp, but from watering hole to watering hole, from community to community.

It is when the hunters congregate that the tales are told, and it is in such places that legends have their origin. Truth is an early casualty in such congregations, but most hunters never let facts stand in the way of a good story. This is the time of year that they are at center stage.

This is the one time of year that a person can cut loose without raising collective community eyebrows. It is a time to whoop and holler whenever you darn well feel like it; a time to eat what you like when you want to eat it, and likewise with drink; a time to shed the worries and responsibilities of the ordered life, a time to scratch wherever you itch; a time to thumb your nose at the system.

The advent of deer season is greeted with happiness or despair, depending on several things, but one thing is generally sure. It is difficult to ignore it.

And don't try to call us. We'll be at camp.

Show of support Cheers, jeers

We would like to show our support of the Clarkston School Board for upholding the rule regarding the use of tobacco by athletes.

Our main objective in Youth Assistance is to prevent juvenile delinquency.

Although some decisions are very difficult and unpleasant to make, we believe that upholding the rules established by the schools will prove to be beneficial to all the young people in the community.

Rules do change

I don't know all facts on the smoking controversy, but when I read of the "no smoking" rule at Clarkston High School I wondered how it would affect our high school kids.

This rule brings back some memories of the '70s. My sons were graduates of the late '70s, but I vividly recall when a smoking area was set aside for students to smoke.

As a parent, I called and spoke to an assistant principal. My question was, "How can you permit something parents don't permit until our kids are given permission at home?"

I was asked if I truly thought my kids didn't "sneak smokes." I felt then, as now, that a great number of kids would do so, but opening a smoking area would create more smokers and it was, in a sense, saying, "Devil with your parents; if you want to smoke you can."

After some arguing, I questioned if our kids could drive to school without a school permit. The person I spoke to informed me it would be breaking rules, and if I permitted it I'd be in a bit of trouble.

Yet they broke a graver rule by permitting smoking.

To make a "long complaint short," I feel our kids were free to smoke for so long and now the rules are as they should have been all along.

That is a hard rule to follow suddenly, so our kids are punished for a freedom they were given and used very freely, and as with adults it's a hard habit to break.

Perhaps the kids might accept if they were told, "We goofed, kids, when we let you smoke all these years, so let's work together getting our house in order."

Marge Runkle

We would like to take this opportunity to praise the Clarkston High School Marching Band for their excellent performance at Plymouth on Oct. 25.

We were so proud of you! It was the best performance we have seen in three years.

Congratulations, Mr. Chapman and band members, for a job well done.

Jeers

I was really disappointed in the coverage of the Clarkston Junior Miss pageant in last week's Clarkston News.

Since we were out of town and unable to attend the pageant, I was looking forward to the (usually excellent) pictures and article in the News.

When the News can use pictures and articles on five pages about the Independence Township Library's Halloween festivities, I would think you could spare a little more room to laud the time and effort put into the Junior Miss pageant.

With 20 lovely young ladies putting their "best foot forward," I should think there would be better pictures available than the one shown.

After the girls worked so hard, they deserved to see more than just half of Mary Ellen's face (practically buried in the classifieds) in their local paper.

Petition power

Nearly 4,000 people put their signatures on a petition for a full traffic light at Waldon and M-15. Such massive evidence on citizens' desires must carry weight with the powers that be.

That petition seemed to climax the efforts of others to get some improvements at that intersection.

Just three months from the time of the presentation of those signatures to the Oakland County Road Commission for its review, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) approved the project.

In spite of dire predictions when we started the petition for the light at Waldon and Sashabaw, it was operating 13 months later.

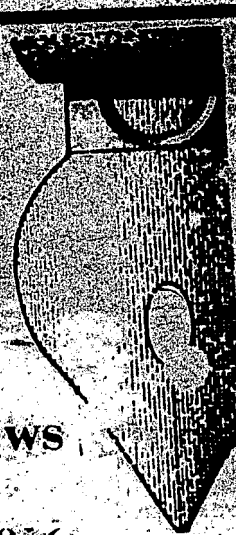

In spite of more dire predictions when we started the next petition, MDOT gave approval six months from starting the collection of citizen signatures.

We have yet to see what will come of the other part of that last petition—installation of ramps at I-75 north of the Sashabaw bridge.

We petitioned for a "temporary light" at Sashabaw and got so much more.

So many citizens spoke and they were listened to then and again about M-15/Waldon.

As for myself, I've done my stint on petitions. Someone else can take up for improvement of M-15 through our area.

A difficult loss

On Saturday morning Nov. 1 at approximately 8 a.m., our Pug American, Canadian, Bermudan Champion VIP's Victoria O'Rolling Glenn (known as Muggly) was killed in our driveway on Reese Road.

We are devastated. She was a companion, a clown and a devoted friend. We would feel much better if whoever hit her would call and say they are sorry.

And please everyone drive with care on city streets and country roads. Spare our children, our pets and our wildlife.

'If it Fitz . . .'

Good manners bring pity

Jim Fitzgerald

Long ago, my mother convinced me it is 'good manners' for a man to stand up when a woman leaves or returns to the table in a restaurant. My wife knew that, but, in a frenzy to protect her salad, she momentarily forgot.

It was embarrassing. It happened in the dining room of a northern Michigan resort, and she made me feel like some sort of a lettuce thief. She made me feel like writer Mickey Spillane must have felt when he discovered where his wife was sleeping.

Mickey and Sherri are no longer wed to each other. She recently asked a Nevada court to award her more of his money than she got when they split in 1983. Testimony revealed that during the final months of their marriage on the same day her divorce was granted.

"Such actions certainly are not those of a caring, faithful, loving spouse," the judge said in denying Sherri's request.

Right.

IT HAS BEEN previously recorded here that my wife is passionately protective of her salad. She is forever fearful that a waitperson will take it away before she is done with it. I have to cut her meat for her because she always sits with one arm around her salad plate.

She likes to nibble at her salad throughout the entire meal. She refuses to eat it under deadline, between the soup and the main course, or under duress. Early in our relationship, she got the duress from me when I noticed waitpersons waiting for her to finish her salad before bringing our meat and potatoes.

One Friday night in 1954, I politely but hungrily said: "I have to be to work Monday morning." Ever since she has dutifully made room for real food by moving her salad away from the center of her table, setting while yelling at everyone in sight that she isn't done with it.

She has learned to be forever wary of the zeal with which many restaurant employees clear tables. At fancy restaurants, when we get out of our car and the parking valet says, "Good evening," my wife answers, "I want to keep my salad."

But not even conduct that weird had prepared me for what happened on the night of my embarrassment. I'd ordered off the cheap side of the menu, which didn't include salad. My wife went for the four-course maximum and, as she got up to go to the salad bar, I stood up in mannerly memory of my mother.

"Where do you think you're going?" my wife asked. "You don't get any salad."

GOOD LORD. The woman has reached a point where she can suspect her own husband of trying to steal her radish slices while they're still on the salad bar.

"Such actions certainly are not those of a caring, faithful, loving spouse," I said. A short but colorful discussion followed.

Our waitress also misunderstood my vertical position. My only beef against Women's Lib is that it sometimes leaves an old-fashioned guy confused about what to do with the good manners learned from his mother.

The waitress approached my wife and whispered: "You can share anything you get off the salad bar with him."

Pity. That was all I needed. Pity for the poor jerk who couldn't afford two salads.

"I can't stand to be pitied, even if I am married," I told the waitress with a scornful laugh. "I am laughing scornfully at the suggestion that this distrustful chick would share her salad with anyone, anyone in this miserable world full of starving people who never even get to eat a crouton, let alone put their arm around it."

Like I said, I felt like Mickey Spillane.

Public road quest to begin with Algonquin

By Julie Campe

Algonquin Road may be the first of five miles of Thendara Park subdivision roads to be converted from private to public.

Residents on private roads are responsible for maintenance including grading, snow removal and dust control. As a public road, the responsibility of maintenance belongs to the Oakland County Road Commission (OCRC).

On Oct. 14, the Independence Township Board authorized township engineers to make final engineering plans for Algonquin only, at the northeast corner of the township off of North Eston Road.

If the OCRC approves the plans, the matter will go to Oakland County Circuit Court in the usual conversion procedure, said Clerk Richard Holman.

However, the road improvements required by OCRC haven't been made yet. Normally, roads have to meet OCRC standards—proper width, grade and easements—before OCRC will consider conversion, Holman said.

The board expects legal objections from Clarkston Golf Course owners on the north side of Algonquin, so it is asking for approval early—before residents pay for expensive improvements, according to Holman.

The golf course owners, the Frechettes, question the validity of the petitions, and they don't want to give up any of their property to make room for drainage and signs, said Jean Frechette after the meeting.

"We would go to court on it before we would let them take our property," said Frechette. "It would put us out of business. We've been here for 30 years, and the terrain hasn't changed in all these years."

"We're not against paying the road. That's all right. One of our greens is within 10 or 12 feet of the road. We'd either have to eliminate the hole or it would be hazardous for all the people who go up and down the road. They would take all the trees, and they screen the road."

"This is something they're doing for the benefit of others."

The amount of property needed adjacent to the road won't be known until final engineering plans are complete, said Holman. The owners would be paid for their property.

If property owners will not agree to sell their land, the township still has the right to condemn and take the land, he said, but they prefer the cooperation of all involved.

The township has spent $10,000 on the project to date and has budgeted an additional $20,000 for expected engineering and legal expenses, Holman said.

At this time, that is all the township expects to contribute to the project, he added.

While the township traditionally covers 10 percent of the costs to help residents convert private roads to public roads, the township can't afford 10 percent of this project, he said.

The estimated $1.6 million cost of the entire subdivision includes engineering, paving and improvements, which the residents will have to pay through a special tax assessment.

Most of the residents of Thendara are appreciative of the township's help, said 13-year Algonquin resident Karen Macalpine. They've been working on the conversion for about two and a half years.

The condition of the Thendara roads are "absolutely horrid," she said.

It's a beautiful but hilly terrain, said Macalpine, but "with all of the rain, there have been washouts here so bad that a car has literally fallen into a hole."

Residents currently spend about $145 per home each year for road maintenance.

To cover the renovations, each resident will have to pay about $5,000 to $6,700 for the $1.6 million project, to be spread over a 10-year period—about $500 to $600 a year for 10 years, she said.

Since Algonquin is the opening of the subdivision, some residents at the beginning of Algonquin, in addition to the Frechettes, don't see the need for the conversion, she said, but the necessary signatures from 51 percent of the residents and 51 percent frontage lots have been obtained.

The costs of renovating are high, but it will be worth it, said Macalpine.

"We spend a lot every year for cruddy roads. It's just like throwing good money after bad. You just can't keep up with it. It's necessary. There's almost no alternative," she said.

New restrictions rule ground signs

Permanent ground signs in Independence Township are to be shorter and smaller, effective immediately.

With little discussion, the township board approved, 6-1, the amendment's second reading at a special meeting Oct. 27.

Trustee Dale Stuart voted "no," objecting to the rigidity of the ordinance. It doesn't make exceptions for unusual circumstances, he said.

Under charter township rules, two readings and approvals are necessary for any adoption or amendment of an ordinance.

Reducing clutter and improving the landscape are the reasons for the change, said Supervisor Frank Ronk, at a previous meeting.

The amendment permits only one sign per site, not higher than 6 feet, set back 15 feet from the right of way. The ratio of width to height on the sign face is not to exceed three to one.

The previous ordinance allowed 20-foot high signs of various widths and more than one sign per site, depending on the size and location of the property.

Clarkston High Junior Varsity Wolves 12, West Bloomfield 0

Oct. 30—The Wolves defense scores one touchdown and sets up the other as they wind up their season with a 5-4 record.

A 23-yard interception return by Doug Lederman puts the ball at the West Bloomfield one-yard line. From there, quarterback Mark Galan takes it into the end zone.

Galan came down from the varsity team due to injuries to both JV quarterbacks. Scott Oppmann broke his hand in practice the Monday before the game, so Galan had just two days to practice with the team.

Matt Eby scores the other Clarkston touchdown, recovering a fumble in the end zone.

Jamie Flanigan gets 10½ tackles, three sacks and a blocked punt, Lederman gets eight tackles and two sacks, Eby has six tackles, three sacks and two fumble recoveries and Rob Karp gets a sack, a recovery and a blocked punt.

Mark Hetherington, Mark Hargett, Jason Campbell and Chris Ketzler also contribute on defense for the Wolves.

"It was really a defensive struggle all night," said co-coach John Craven. "It was the hardest hitting game we've had, both ways. There was a lot of popping going on."

Losing both quarterbacks typified the season for Clarkston, which was the most injury-riddled season Craven has seen in 14 years of coaching.

"We struggled a lot," he said. "We were only completely healthy for the first game and that only lasted for the first quarter. Also, the schedule was one of the toughest in our history. We could've been 7-2, but I'm very pleased with the season."

Basketball

Clarkston High Junior Varsity Wolves 33, Brighton 24

Nov. 1—Stacy Shurtz scores 10 points as the Wolves win their 13th game against only two losses.

Peggy Agar chips in with six points and Kelly Avenall adds five. Natalie Messing grabs seven rebounds and Jenny Grohs passes for five assists.

Wolves 58, Lake Orion 37

Oct. 28—Clarkston coasts behind Cindy Beal's 18 points and 10 rebounds.

Grohs puts in nine and Messing and Agar score six apiece.

Clarkston Junior High Mason 41, Wolverines 27

Oct. 27—Clarkston once again gets off to a slow start and can't come back. The Wolverines drop to 3-10.

Clarkston trails 14-3 in the first quarter, and that was the ball game.

Rhonda Jokisch scores 15 and Jamie Lerner and Jody Lopucki get four each.

"I don't know if it's Mondays or the good teams, but they're tentative in the beginning," said coach Dennis Bronson. "They're afraid to make mistakes and, therefore, they make more of them. After they get going, they do all right."

Wolves just miss state playoffs

By Chris Gerbas

Before anyone forgets, the score was Clarkston 42, West Bloomfield 7, the Wolves finished their season at 8-1 and just missed a spot in the state playoffs, which they haven't made since 1977.

Those facts may be lost on some people, or at least obscured, after last Friday's Wolves-Lakers game was called with 54 seconds left due to a bench-clearing incident.

Clarkston's Joe Hamelin intercepted a West Bloomfield pass deep in his own territory and a fight broke out.

The sidelines emptied, bringing out several Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, both schools' athletic directors, Clarkston's principal and just about everyone but the cheerleaders.

The teams were separated and the game was called, but Clarkston's Hank Zilka came out of the fracas with his arm broken in two places.

Sports

"It's not good for high school athletics," said Clarkston coach Walt Wyniemo. "It takes away a lot from the game."

Wyniemo and Laker coach Dominic Livedoti spent as much time on the field as some of their players. In the third quarter, they had to call their teams to the sidelines after some shoving almost cleared the benches.

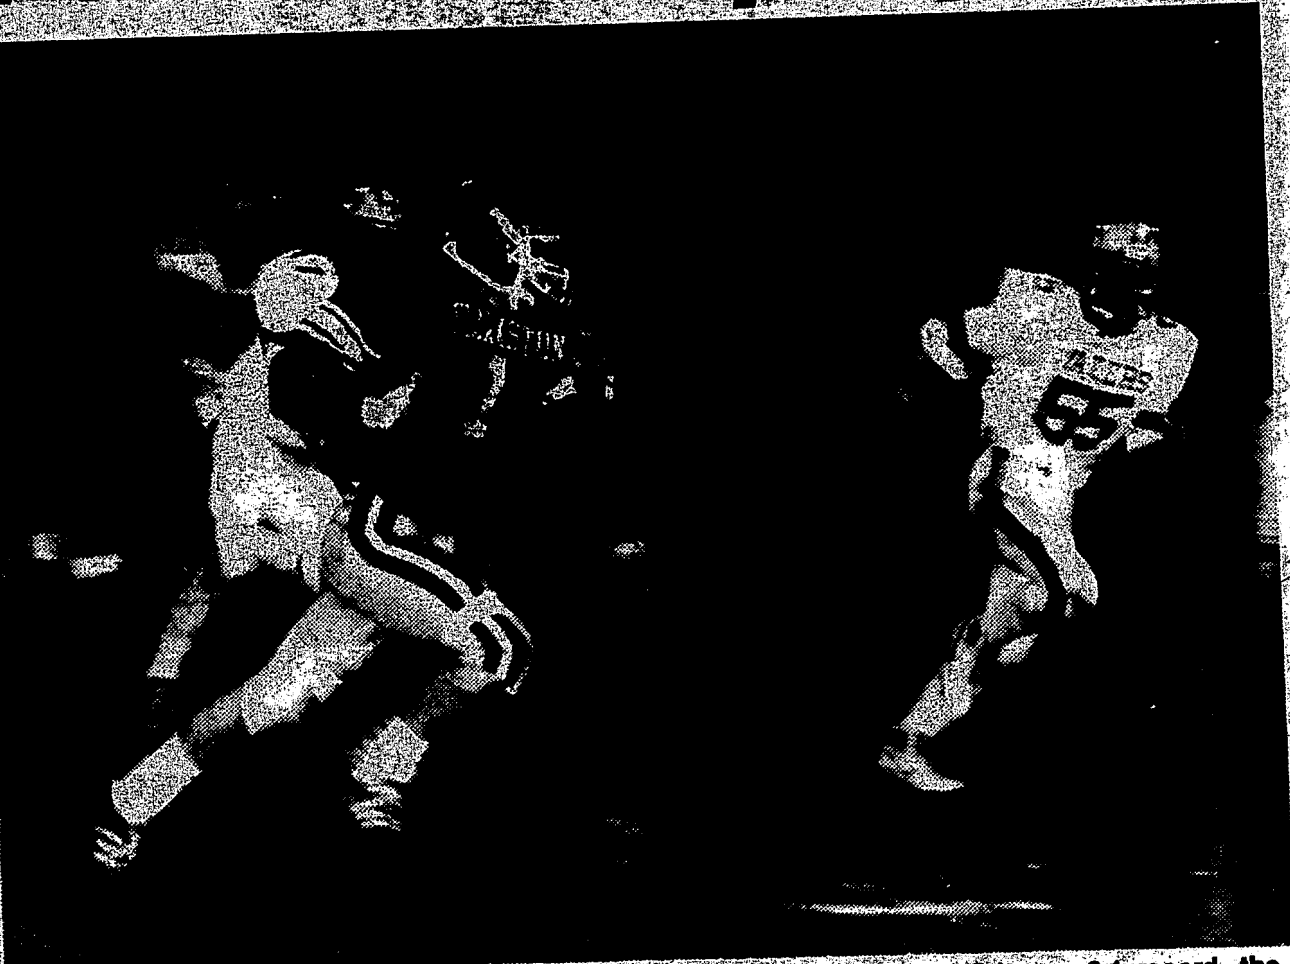

In the game itself, the Wolves rolled to 28 points in the second half to put the game out of reach. The 8-1 mark is the team's best since 1980. The Lakers finished 5-4.

Wyniemo and his players had to play wait-and-see over the weekend to find out if Clarkston would sneak into the fourth and final playoff position in Region I.

The Wolves were seventh in the region entering the West Bloomfield game. Two teams ahead of them, Flint Carman-Ainsworth and Flint Central, lost last weekend, but Clarkston narrowly missed the playoffs.

Flint Northern captured the fourth spot with 102.7 points, compared to Clarkston's 102.1. A win here or a loss there would have made the difference.

"It's funny how I try to tell everyone what a difference one game can make," said Wyniemo. "But we accomplished a lot. We won the GOAL, we had an 8-1 season and there were a lot of teams within the state that would've been happy to be in our shoes."

Stacy Turner speeds around right end against West Bloomfield last Friday. Turner picked up 98 yards in 13 rushes in Clarkston's 42-7 trounce.

A win over West Bloomfield was essential for a shot at post-season play and Clarkston took care of that in the second quarter on a Josh Newblatt quarterback sneak touchdown and a nine-yard scoring pass from Newblatt to Dan Jokisch. That gave the Wolves a 14-7 halftime lead.

Newblatt completed eight of 17 passes for 98 yards on the night, with five going to Jokisch for 56 yards. Stacy Turner gained 98 yards on 13 carries and linebacker Mike Wells led the defense with five tackles, two for losses.

Clarkston blew open the game with two touchdowns in both the third and fourth quarters. Newblatt added another short run, Keenan Powell powered his way to two touchdown runs and Joe Herron capped the scoring with an eight-yard run. West ing of the Lakers. Despite an 8-1 record, the Wolves missed out on the playoffs.

Bloomfield never really threatened.

Then the game blew open in another manner with 54 seconds remaining.

There had been taunting and yelling from both teams throughout the game and Wyniemo was planning on not having his team shake hands after the game to avoid a confrontation.

Then, suddenly, everyone was running onto the field. According to Wyniemo, videotapes showed a West Bloomfield player punching Hamelin after the interception.

"You're ahead 42-7, why do you want to fight?" Wyniemo said. "What makes me mad, I guess, is that I said to the kids (in the third quarter), don't let this get out of hand. Let's not have this ruin our season. This could come back to haunt us."

On Halloween, no less.

Crystal clear

Brawl game

Chris Gerbas

What a sorry way to end a season.

Clarkston's football season was supposed to end with a victory over West Bloomfield and then possibly a playoff appearance.

Instead, it ended with a 42-7 victory and a bench-clearing brawl.

As bench-clearing brawls go, it didn't last long, but there was apparently some punching going on and one Clarkston player broke his arm in the altercation.

It was also serious enough to stop the game with 54 seconds left and it was serious enough to have the West Bloomfield players get on their bus before the Clarkston players could leave the field.

Some of the Clarkston players didn't see it that way.

Some of them just laughed after the game while waiting for West Bloomfield to leave.

"Let us go coach, they're scared, they're not going to fight," said one player.

The laughing players telling each other what happened during the scuffle, some barely paying attention to coach Walt Wyniemo, who was trying to settle them down—that's what really had to embarrass anyone who's watched the Wolves this season.

"They're just kids, it doesn't take much adrenalin to get them charged up," said Wyniemo after the game. "If somebody calls you a name, what are you going to do?"

"We (both head coaches) knew it was getting very emotional out there," he said. "We both tried to keep it down."

It's hard to say where things went wrong or why there was so much animosity. Neither team would have won any congeniality awards Friday.

Right from the start of the game, West Bloomfield fans and players were yelling derogatory comments about Clarkston that could be heard on the field, comments such as "You play like s---" and "You're lucky to be 7-1."

The fans also baited the officials and at one point Laker coach Dominic Livedoti yelled at them, "You're letting things get out of control."

He didn't help matters any when later in the game he went 10 yards onto the field to complain about a call and was slapped with a misconduct penalty.

The pushing and shoving after plays were over went back and forth, and in the third quarter, the coaches had to pull their teams off the field to cool down.

With a big lead, some of the Wolves couldn't resist taunting the Lakers after a tackle or laughing after an incomplete pass.

The brawl was inevitable, really. It was no surprise. There were just too many bad feelings between the teams by the end of the game.

A parting shot by a West Bloomfield player was, "Hope you get your a-- kicked in the playoffs."

Unfortunately, there'll be no playoffs for Clarkston. A playoff game could at least erase some of the negative memories of the West Bloomfield game.

If the incident had happened at any other point of the season, it would probably be forgotten.

"I said (to the players) we're doing our job," said Wyniemo. "Don't let this get to you. We want people to remember the game."

For whatever reason, they will remember.

Decision due

Clarkston High School principal Dr. Robert Burek and athletic director Paul Tungate will review officials' reports and game films before deciding possible disciplinary action due to the Clarkston-West Bloomfield fight last Friday.

Burek said he was awaiting reports from the game officials this week.

"We want to talk to people who were present on the scene, such as the coaches and officials," said Burek. "We want to view the films and talk to these people before we come to a disposition."

Knights tryouts

The Lady Knights 12 and under AAU state basketball champs will be holding tryouts Nov. 8 for their 1987 teams.

Three teams will be organized, two for girls 13 and under and one for girls 15 and under.

Girls run 12th at states; McInnis fractures leg

The state girls cross country field proved to be tougher than Clarkston had expected and the Wolves placed 12th in the finals among 27 teams.

That is still the best finish ever for a Clarkston team in the state finals.

"The competition was unbelievable, absolutely unbelievable," said Clarkston co-coach Mike Kaul.

Kaul estimated that about 45 girls broke 20 minutes last Saturday compared to about 30 a year ago. The top 15 runners earned all-state recognition.

Kathleen McInnis, a two-time all-stater, ended her high school cross country career by fracturing her leg near the finish line at the Flint IMA Brookwood Golf Course.

Kaul said that about 10 runners passed her in the last 100 yards as she paced herself to the finish.

McInnis was 30th with a 19:39 time, Merideth Green was 33rd at 19:44 and Kate Conlen was 34th at 19:47. Ironically, while all three broke 20 minutes, the Wolves could not break into the top 10 as they had hoped.

In fact, Melissa Elfes had one of her best times of the season, 21:11, and Amy Rice had her best time ever, 22:09. Elfes was 111th, Rice was 160th and Emily Winfield was 174th with a time of 22:52.

Kris Salt of Dearborn Edsel Ford won the race in an amazing 17:58 time.

"I couldn't believe it," said Kaul. Ann Arbor Pioneer won the team title with 91 points and Sterling Heights Stevenson was second with 125.

Kaul said McInnis could hear her ankle pop. They were aware that she already had the beginnings of a stress fracture. The injury will not endanger her running career.

"She was so upset. She felt she let the team down," said Kaul. "I was very happy with 12th place."

Earlier in the week, Green won the Royal Oak Kimball Freshman/Sophomore Invitational. Green, a sophomore, won in 20:11, 30 seconds ahead of her nearest competitor in the 75-girl field. Winfield, also a sophomore, was 31st.

Wolves win two more

It's becoming routine, but two more easy wins last week gave the Clarkston girls basketball team eight straight victories and a 13-2 record.

The Wolves pushed aside Lake Orion, 52-36, Oct. 28 and then crushed Brighton, 62-38, last Saturday.

Clarkston was sitting atop the Greater Oakland Activities League standings with a 4-0 mark heading into this week.

The Wolves never really had any trouble against Lake Orion, but it was a physical game which the Dragons never let Clarkston put away.

The Wolves scored 17 straight points in the first half to gain control and Lake Orion would only get as close as 10 in the second half.

Senior Missy Odell led a balanced attack with 12 points and Michele Wyniemko and Michelle Baker scored 11 each. Wendy Scroby came off the bench to score eight points. Odell also had seven assists.

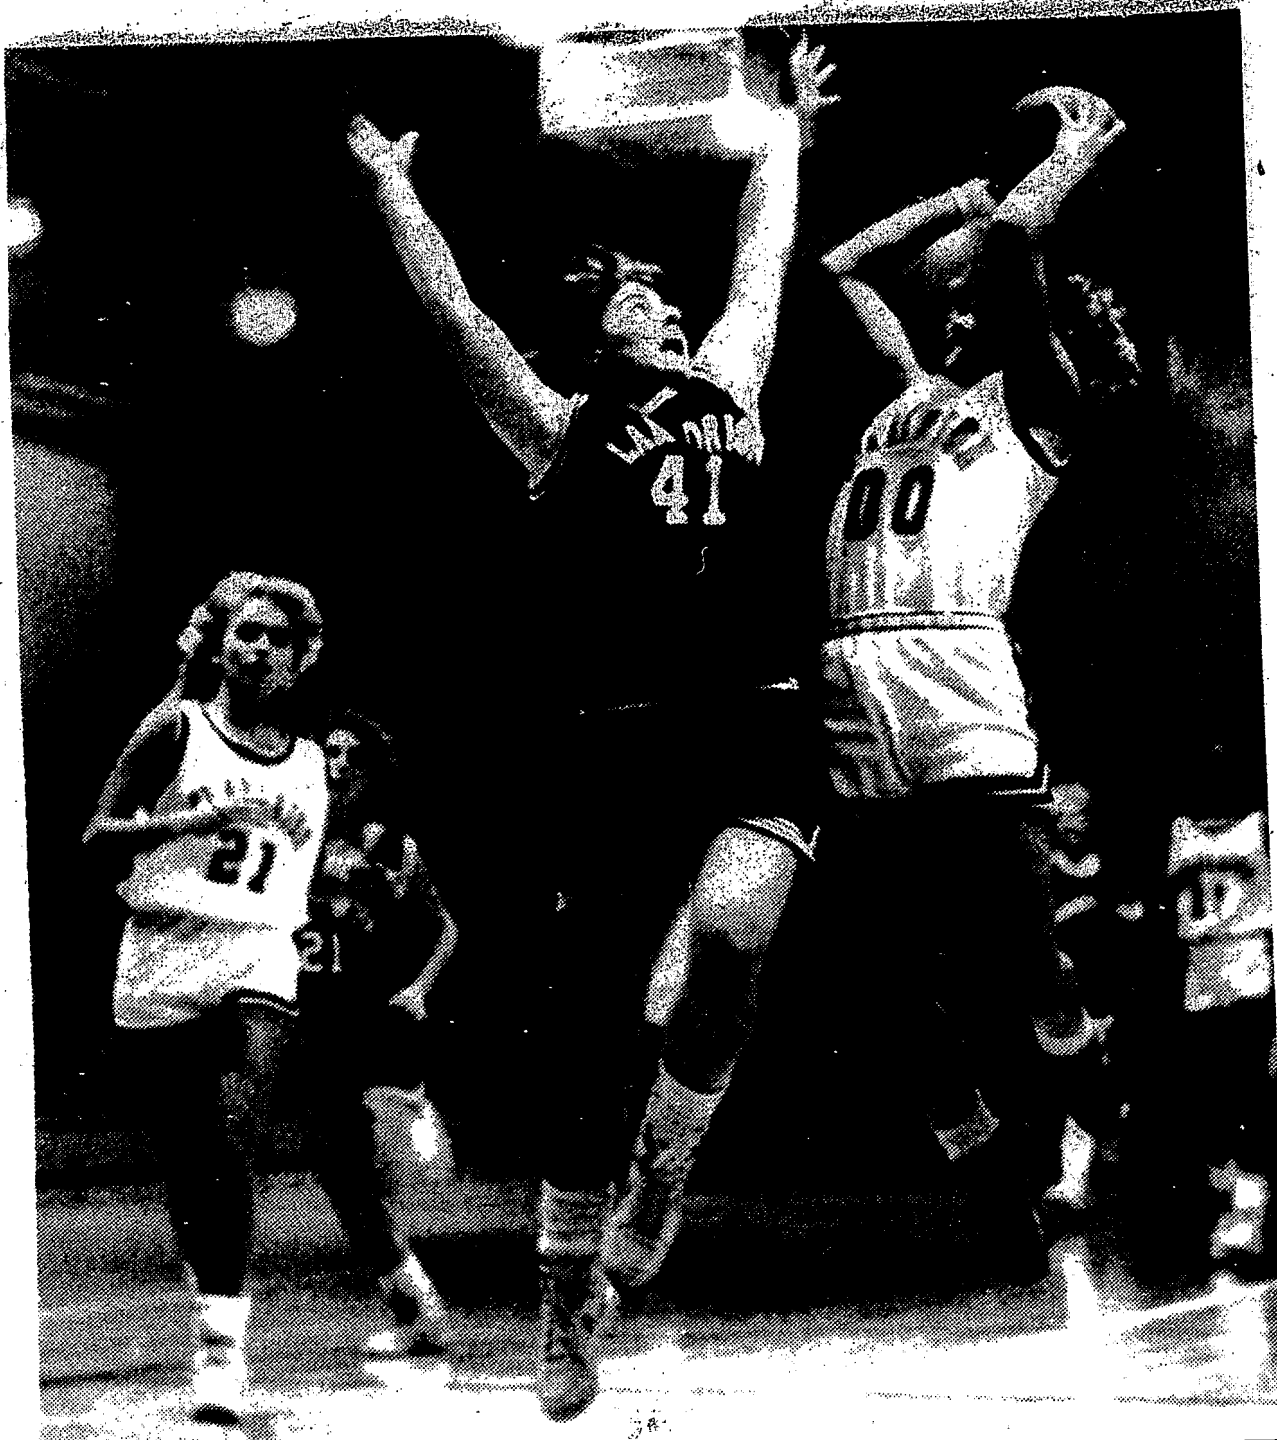

Kelly Carlson had a game-high 18 points for Lake Orion. The Dragons, who had hoped to contend in the GOAL, are 3-2 in the league and 7-9 overall.

The Wolves were again nagged by injuries. Starting guard Lisa Ladd jammed a finger during the tip drill before the game and Jane Selent missed her second game due to strained knee ligaments. Selent was back in action against Brighton.

Clarkston jumped out to a 18-7 first quarter lead and were ahead 30-12 at the half.

Baker, not known for her scoring, has been putting the ball in the hole lately and she topped the Wolves with 12 points, along with Wyniemko. Odell and Ali Fedio scored eight points each.

Lisa Ladd fires over Lake Orion's Kelly Carlson in action last week. Ladd played with a jammed finger she suffered in the pre-game tip drill. Clarkston won, 52-36.

Cougars leave no questions, win big, 34-6

No tornadoes, no doubts, no question about it. Sashabaw definitely beat Clarkston last week, 34-6, in junior high football in the last game of the season for both teams.

The earlier encounter between the teams Sept. 10 was called in the third quarter due to a tornado warning. The Cougars won that contest, 14-0, but Clarkston wanted to show what it could do in a complete game.

For a half last Wednesday night, the game seemed evenly matched. Sashabaw controlled the ball, but the score was deadlocked at 6-6 at intermission.

A blocked punt set up the Cougars' score, a 20-yard pass from Dane Davis to Wally Wyniemo, in the first quarter.

The Wolverines tied it with 1:55 left in the half on a middle screen pass to John King. King cut to the sideline and went 40 yards for the touchdown. He wound up with 122 yards on the ground.

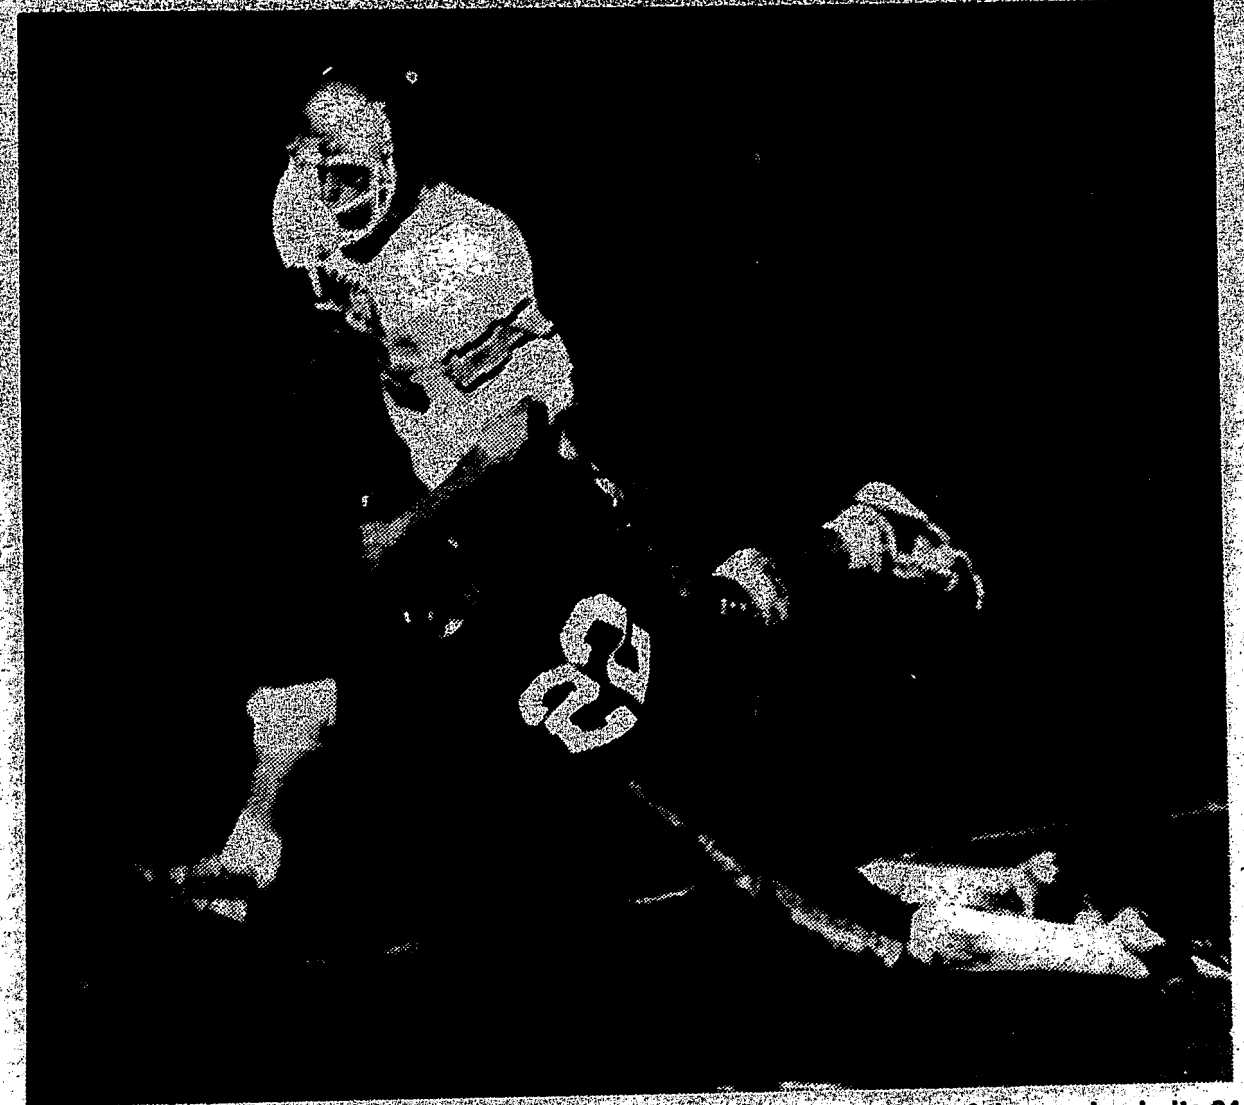

Sashabaw exploded in the second half, however, with two touchdowns in the third and two more in the fourth quarter.

Davis had an 80-yard scoring run and threw two touchdown passes of 35 yards to Wyniemo and Kevin Keilitz. Davis ran for 130 yards and passed for 147 in the game.

Rich Johnson added a touchdown on a 10-yard run.

"We really got the passing game going in the second half," said Cougar coach Kurt Richardson, who credited the offensive line of Jerry Lawrence, Jim Beck, Ron Gibson, Mark Hamelin and David Coin for a fine job.

"Our pass defense broke down," said Clarkston co-coach Steve Himburg. "I thought it'd be a much tighter game."

Sashabaw finished the season at 4-4-1, while the Wolverines were 3-6.

"I wasn't happy with the overall record, but I was happy with the performance put forth by the kids," said Richardson. "There wasn't any attitude problems and that shows a lot for ninth-graders."

"I was pleased with the kids," said Himburg. "They had a lot of desire and really good attitudes. They never really gave up."

SCA captures state hoops title

Springfield Christian's Vicki Rose cuts down the nets as the rest of the Eagles look on. The Eagles downed Faith Baptist of Davison, 36-29, to win the Christian schools state title.

By Chris Gerbasl

Athletic director David Vanaman will have to order some new basketball nets for the Springfield Christian Academy gymnasium.

The nets came down last Saturday as the SCA girls basketball team celebrated its Michigan Christian Schools Division I championship.

The Eagles held off Faith Baptist of Davison, 36-29, to win the state title in only their fifth season of competition. The victory also avenged a finals loss to Faith Baptist last year.

SCA is 18-1 this season, while Faith fell to 12-2. The Eagles were 13-3 a year ago.

"Mentally, yes, we're a better team this year," said coach Vicki Slayton. "Talent-wise, I think we're better, too."

Julie Combs and Alice Rockafellow joined returning starters Kim White, Heather House and Vicki Rose this season to give Slayton a solid starting five.

House, the only senior on the team, and White, a sophomore, led the team in scoring throughout the season, while Rose and Rockafellow controlled the boards.

Against Faith, White led the way with 12 points and Rose had 10. Sandy Stubblefield, Angela Burton and Julie Walters each scored eight for Faith.

Faith, also nicknamed the Eagles, led 6-5 after one quarter, but SCA shut them out in the second quarter, 11-0.

SCA increased its lead to 27-14 after three quarters, before Faith started to rally.

The Eagles chipped away at the lead and pulled to 30-25 with 3:25 left in the game. Faith had three one-and-one opportunities down the stretch, but missed all three and couldn't get any closer.

"We just wanted to beat them really bad," said White, who has been playing organized ball since seventh grade.

"We were confident, but we knew they could win if we didn't play tough," she said. "At the end, we knew we'd pull through."

"We have the experience," Slayton said. "We've been in it the last three or four years. We know the pressure, it wasn't new to us."

SCA had made it to the finals with an easy 44-11 victory over Genesee Christian in the semifinals Oct. 28. White scored 19, House added 15 and Rockafellow pulled down 14 rebounds.

There's a 22 ft. sailboat inside this house on Andersonville Road

The folks who live here always wanted a sailboat. The only thing that kept them from setting sail was money. Then they discovered all the money they needed right inside their own home. We call it Pontiac State Bank's Money from Home.

Our Money from Home account lets you open a revolving line of credit secured by your home. It's a variable-rate, simple-interest loan, beginning on the date of your transaction.

The interest rate is just 2% above the prime rate as published in The Wall Street Journal.* And you pay only 2% of the unpaid balance or $90 per month, whichever is greater.

Pontiac State Bank's Money from Home gives you new financial flexibility. With Money from Home, you may never have to apply for a loan again. Just open your checkbook and write a check for anything you want.

Come on in and talk to a friendly banker at Pontiac State Bank today. You've made a lot of mortgage payments over the years. Now, enjoy your home for all it's worth.

PREP PROFILE:

Hall hopes to make it to Princeton

Jim Hall is a senior football player who was recently named first-team all-league tight end in the GOAL. He also runs track and plays basketball.

Born: Dec. 21, 1968.

Occupation: Works at McDonald's.

Favorite sport: Football.

Favorite food: Lobster tail.

Favorite music: Billy Joel.

Favorite movie: "Against All Odds."

Favorite TV show: "Family Ties."

For fun: He likes to go out with his girlfriend to movies.

Idol: Los Angeles Raiders tight end Todd Christensen.

Biggest thrill and accomplishment: Playing varsity football as a sophomore.

Goal: To be accepted to Princeton.

If he could change one thing: He would be faster.

Most embarrassing moment: In 9th grade basketball, he scored in the wrong basket.

Chiefs bow, 13-12

Two points were all that kept the Clarkston Chiefs from capturing the inaugural Super Bowl in the Suburban Midget Football League Sunday.

The freshman Chiefs were nipped by Rochester, 13-12, as the Redskins scored the winning touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

Nathan Abney scored both touchdowns for the Chiefs, who concluded their season with a 7-1 record. The Chiefs also won the league championship for 8-10-year-olds. Rochester was 5-3.

"The kids all enjoyed it," said Chiefs president Jeff Davis. "We were thinking that it might be too much pressure at that age to go to a Super Bowl, but they enjoyed themselves."

Rochester's junior varsity team also won its Super Bowl, 43-0, over Lapeer and in the varsity bowl, Lakeland defeated Lake Orion, 19-8.

Lutz skis to 8th

Jonathon Lutz is starting early.

Competing in the nationwide Coca-Cola Junior NASTAR ski racing program, the Clarkston-resident placed eighth in the state in the 1- to 4-year-old category during the 1985-86 season.

Lutz, now 5, recorded a 136 handicap while racing at Pine Knob.

NASTAR's handicap system has all skiers racing against a national standard time; racing against the clock, in essence.

Over 140,000 youngsters, ages 1-18, competed last year and gold, silver and bronze medals were awarded.

For his effort, Lutz received a certificate, patch and a listing on the state rankings poster.

Embarrass the Sportswriter:

Writer plays 'Shank, Pass and Kick'

"Winning isn't everything, it's the only thing." —Vince Lombardi, famous "Punt, Pass and Kick" coach

By Chris Gerbasi

Welcome to another edition of "Embarrass the Sportswriter."

Remember the good old days of the NFL? When CBS had a great theme song, 300-yard passing days were hard to come by, a fumble was a fumble, a quarterback could be tackled and nobody had to listen to John Madden?

And at halftime of the good old games from the good old days, they'd show "Punt, Pass and Kick."

They'd line up a whole bunch of kids, ages 8 to 13, and when they got to the 13-year-olds, some 6-foot-8, 300-pounder would hurl the ball out of the stadium and the crowd would ooh and aah.

Well, I took on some 13-year-olds last Saturday in the Clarkston Jaycees' "Punt, Pass and Kick." I didn't win.

I shanked my punt, OK? But the sun was in my eyes. I was momentarily distracted. I have a trick knee. I had just given blood. And protoplasm. I was temporarily insane.

So I lost. In fact, I was ninth out of 10 competitors. All because of the punt.

Former Lions running back Rick Kane was in attendance to hand out awards.

"I hope you win, for your sake," he said to me.

Joel Davis won the 13-year-old division with 283 points. Although nobody followed up on checking his birth certificate, he didn't look a day under 16.

Points are totaled from how far the ball travels in feet minus how many feet it lands away from a white line target.

I had the best throw, thank God, at 104. I was worried about the kick because I never could kick well off a tee, but I had the third best kick.

But the punt. I took my eye off the ball and shanked a line drive to the right which nearly maimed some innocent bystanders. It was by far the worst punt, a net of 12 feet. It happens to the best of them. And the worst of them.

So I didn't get a trophy, but these youngsters did: 8-year-old Armin Michelsen with 156 points; 9-year-old Jon Dean, 188; 10-year-old Jason Buchman, 140; 11-year-old Danny Scheib, 201; and 12-year-old Devin DuPree with 255 points.

I have a year to train before I take on DuPree and the other 13-year-olds next time.

This 11-year-old did not shank his punt. Gerbasi did. This 11-year-old displayed concentration and coordination. Gerbasi did not. Danny Scheib ended up winning the 11-year-old competition. Gerbasi did not win against the 13-year-olds.

Breakfast to honor first Community award winners

A special breakfast to honor the first community award winners is planned at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 12, at the Deer Lake Racquet Club.

The Community Awards program was established this year by an independent committee to "honor those individuals who have given their time and energy," said chairperson Christine Downing.

The community isn't named in order to include anyone who would like to participate, she said.

To be nominated, a person must be involved in an area community, she said, listing Independence Township, the Village of Clarkston, Springfield Township and Brandon Township as examples.

"It's a way of saying thank you to people who may not belong to a specific group," said Downing.

This year, the awards are being presented in conjunction with Independence Township's Sesquicentennial celebration. In future years, the awards will be presented during Michigan Week in May.

The $10 tickets are available at Independence Township, the Village of Clarkston and Pontiac State Bank offices.

The winners, chosen on the basis of open nominations, are:

- Howard Huttenlocher, Citizen Award for his contribution to the community in civic organizations and as Clarkston Village Council president.

- Edward (Ted) Thomson, Community Pride Award for his involvement in many Clarkston and Independence Township governmental bodies, officially and unofficially.

- Dr. Gary Symons, D.D.S., Historic Preservation Award for the restoration of the building at 20 S. Main St., Clarkston.

- Joan Kopietz, Business Person Award for her dedication to business and to the community, with her work on the concerts in the park and village banners.

- Rita Burdick, Volunteer Award for her many hours of work on the Independence Township Sesquicentennial committee.

For more information, call Downing at 625-5041.

BREATH OF SPRINGTIME: "Smells great!" says Mona Hart about the lily blooming in front of her home on Hummingbird Lane in Independence Township. But that's no surprise. The remarkable thing is that the lily bloomed Oct. 27 after some hard frosts. It may be the plant's way of saying thanks. Seven months ago in Flint, Mona rescued the Easter gift from her mother-in-law Hazel Hart's garbage. "She said, 'You know they never grow.' I said, 'Let me try it,' so she thinks it's extra special," says Mona. [Photo by Kathy Greenfield]

World record is his goal

By Pat Young

Roy Rouse is solidly convinced he can lay bricks faster than anyone in the world, and he plans to have concrete evidence to prove it.

The 39-year-old bricklayer from Independence Township took the first steps toward his goal Oct. 25 when he won a regional speed bricklaying contest in Pontiac.

The contest, sponsored by the Michigan Division of U.S. Brick, was conducted at Borin Boice Builders Supply. Rouse, who owns Brothers Masonary and General Contracting, broke the United States record.

"I laid 209 bricks in 20 minutes," Rouse said, "and that beat the U.S. record by 41 brick."

For winning the regional contest, Rouse received a week-long cruise on the Medusa Challenger, a cement freighter equipped with plush accommodations for passengers that travels the Great Lakes, and $100.

He will go to Lansing Feb. 21 to compete in the national competition, which he is also confident of winning.

"I'm going to break the world record when I go to Lansing," he said. "I've already broken it in practice runs."

The world record is 725 bricks in one hour. Rouse said he has laid 1,090 in one hour. He hopes to lay 500 bricks in the half-hour national contest.

"It's easy to lay the brick," Rouse said. "But to lay them and do it right, that's the key."

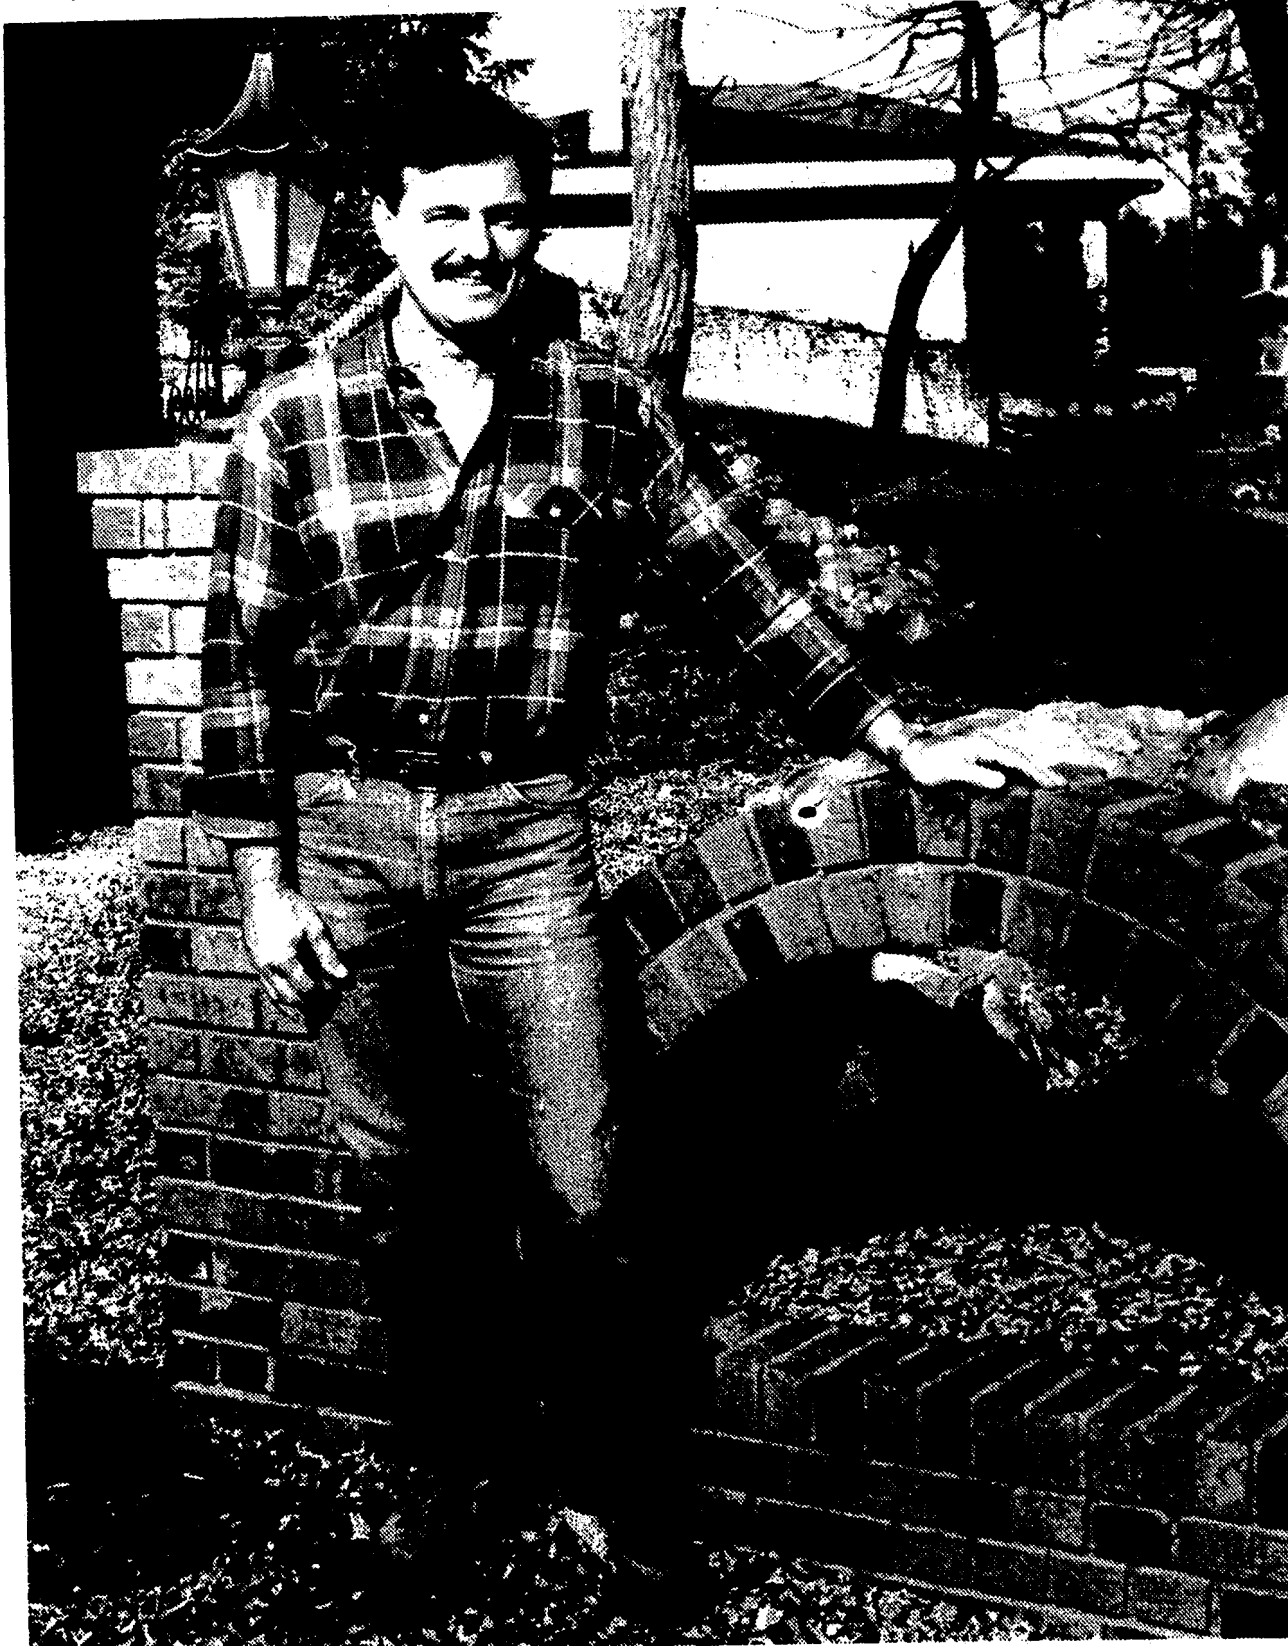

In the contests, a 15-foot wall must be built level to within one-quarter inch. Rouse said his wall in the regional competition measured perfect.

Competing bricklayers are allowed two helpers to put mortar and bricks within reach, but any other help from the assistants results in disqualification. Rouse's helpers in the regional competition were his brother Randy and Donald Rush.

"I've been laying brick since I was 15," Rouse said. His father and grandfather were also bricklayers in the Oakland County area, and Rouse has seven brothers who are bricklayers. His own 22-year-old son also plans to become one.

If Rouse wins the national competition, he will earn $20,000 in cash and prizes including a new truck. But what is really important to him is getting the world record.

"The contest in February is one day after my 40th birthday," Rouse said, "and I'm going to bring home the Guinness Book record for bricklaying."

Roy Rouse, regional champion bricklayer, aspires to break the world record in February. A sample of his work is found in the back yard of his Independence Township home.

Halloween with the Springfield Township Senior Citizens Young at Heart group is a lot of laughs. Dorothy Venezia came to the party decked out in finery last Thursday, and Sally, the bearded lady, provided the humor. First-place winner of the "Put the Spider on the Web" contest was Signe VanDeusen. [Photos by Julie Gampe]

We call it Trans-Van

A versatile new way to get around town and country.

Whatever your needs are, Champion's new Trans-Van Motor Home fills them.

As a transportation vehicle it combines the best in handling, maneuverability and styling. Almost every driver in the family will be comfortable handling it. What's more, the Trans-Van Motor Home can easily be used for most types of towing when equipped with the proper towing package.

Plus, as a luxury van, Trans-Van gives you more interior room and luxury appointments like color-coordinated interiors, thick carpeting and plush fabrics than a van conversion. And, the exterior has two-tone paint striping using color-coordinated metal-flake colors.

As a motor home, Champion's Trans-Van has all the conveniences of home. Compare it to converted van campers. You'll find that the self-contained Trans-Van gives you a lot more for your money with extra living room (it's 8" wider than a standard van). Plus, you get the comfort and convenience of six feet of stand-up headroom and more storage space throughout.

Some of Trans-Van's outstanding standard features include a bath, thermostatically controlled furnace, water heater, L.P. tank, holding and fresh water tanks, refrigerator, range, and hot and cold running water. Its dinette converts into a bed offering sleeping arrangements for up to four people depending on floor plan.

Trans-Van adds up to big savings when you travel. You can cut lodging and food bills and sleep snugly in its heated, fully-insulated, steel-framed cabin. Try that in a van conversion!

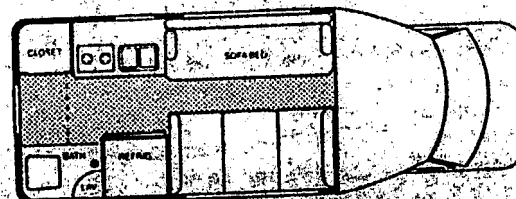

Compare Champion's versatile Trans-Van Motor Home. You'll have more in styling, transportation value, room and especially construction quality! It's a new experience in traveling.

Champion's quality engineering starts with steel-cage framing plus a steel-reinforced chassis—features that make a difference.

New arrivals

It's a boy for Mark and Beverly Thompson of Fox Chase Lane, Independence Township.

Bryce Edward Thompson was born Oct. 29 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

He weighed 6 pounds 2 ounces and measured 18½ inches long.

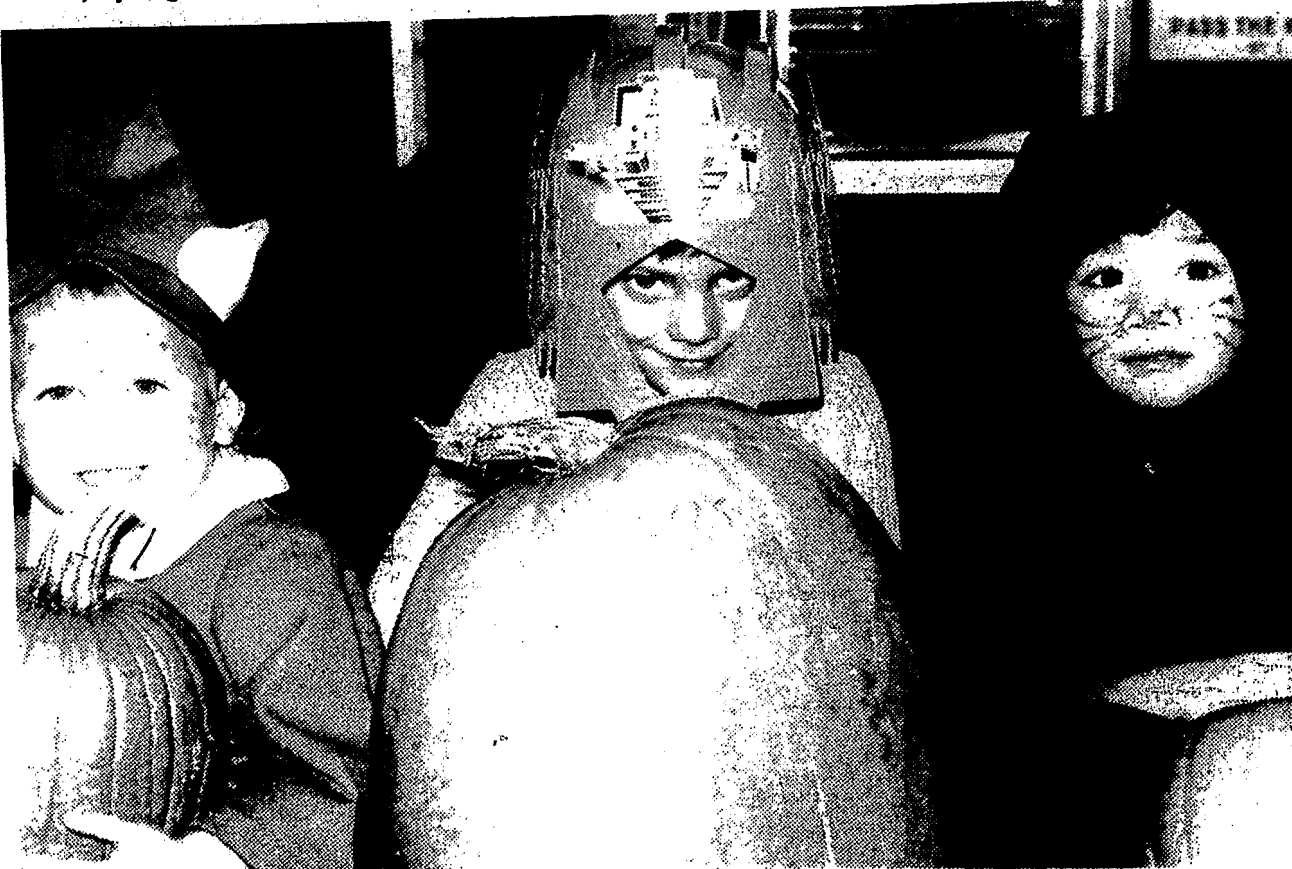

Grandparents are Roscoe and Betty Bell of Spokane, Wash., and Clancy and Doris Thompson of Brazil.

It's a girl for Dr. Anthony and Beverly Aenlle of Deerhill Drive, Independence Township.

Jennifer Lynn was born at 10:14 a.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. She weighed 7 pounds 3 ounces and measured 19 inches long.

Jennifer is the Aenlles' fourth child. Her brother and sisters are Jeffrey, 10½, Lisa, 9, and Michele, 16 months.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Camaiani of Peoria, Ariz., and Mrs. Amparo Aenlle of Houston, Texas.

THE WINNERS: Halloween pumpkins are the prizes for (from left) Leah Walsh, Phillip DeVries and Kristin Lee in the Independence Township Library's "Great Pumpkin" guessing game contest. There were 719 kernels of popped corn in the glass bowl. All three children's guesses were within one kernel, so a drawing determined the winner. First-prize winner Phillip, 5, teamed up with his dad, who added

700 to his son's guess of 18. Leah, 3, made her guess of 720 with the help of her brother, who popped corn at home, filled a similar bowl and counted. Kristin, 4, was helped by her mom, who counted squares and multiplied to come with with 720. Between 800 and 900 guesses were submitted, said children's librarian Anne Rose. GIFT FOR STUDENTS: Last week, Pontiac State Bank representatives Christine Downing and Lois Duff presented a banking computer program to Clarkston High School to acquaint students with the world of finance. When the group gathered for a photo in Jim Ashmore's computer class, senior Simon Lawlor showed his computer program to Downing, manager of PSB in Clarkston, an affiliate of National Bank of Detroit. Lawlor is an exchange student from England. The new program includes units on credit, checking, savings and the "world according to (student's name)," showing his or her future financial outlook. Call for members

An invitation to any woman actively engaged in a business or profession is extended by the Waterford-Clarkston Chapter of the Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW).

November is guest month and the BPW chapter would like any women interested in knowing more about the club to attend.

The organization is a women-helping-women group. Women's issues, interests and modern-day problems are part of the program.

Personal and professional growth and current news issues are discussed at monthly meetings, and the organization offers special programs, workshops and conferences.

The Annual Spring Fashion Show and Dinner raises money for scholarships awarded to area high school graduates and women continuing or returning to school.

The local club is part of a national federation.

The Nov. 13 meeting is planned at King's Court Restaurant, 2505 Pontiac Lake Rd. at 6 p.m. Reservations must be made by Nov. 6. Call Denise Schöns at 625-3776.

Astrologer appears

Programs on public access cable-TV channel 11 are broadcast from the Independence Township studio of United Cable.

Monday through Thursday
Nov. 10-13

6:30pm—This Is the Life: "The Last Rodeo" is this week's episode in the drama series sponsored by St. Trinity Lutheran Church of Independence Township. An aging rodeo star learns to accept his daughter's help and finds that her love is a gift to be appreciated, not rejected.

7pm—Microwave Plus: "Micro-quick Savory Soups" is the topic for this week's program presented by home economist Betty Wagner of Independence Township.

7:30pm—Independence Update: The local news and feature program is produced and crewed by Clarkston High School Media II students.

8pm—Oakland County Parks and Recreation Presents: "All Seasons Nature Show."

8:30pm—World of Glass: Part II of the series with host Rocky Martina, owner of A World of Glass in Waterford Township.

9pm—Shirley's World: Independence Township psychic Shirley Lynch conducts a discussion with guest Karen Jones, an astrologer.

9:30pm—Clarkston Junior High School Variety Show.

Independence Township cable channel 11 programs are broadcast Monday through Thursday evenings. Other times, the station features a billboard with community service announcements and the schedule of the evening's programs.

Incredible edibles

It's soup season

Take the edge off a crisp autumn day with a batch of homemade soup, then add some crispness of a different sort with a salad you've prepared the day before.

The recipes are reprinted from the Clarkston Community Women's Club "Incredible Edibles" cookbook.

The chicken soup recipe was submitted by Grace Ryan of Dearborn; cream of broccoli soup by Sandra Meyer of Clarkston; and nine-layer salad by Ailee Kowalski of Rochester.

CHICKEN SOUP

- 2 13 3/4-ounce cans chicken broth
- 1 whole chicken breast, split (about 1 pound)
- 1/2 cup sliced carrot
- 1/2 cup sliced celery
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh onion
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup medium egg noodles

In saucepan, combine all ingredients except noodles. Simmer, covered, 30 minutes. Remove chicken. Trim meat from bones. Add to soup.

Stir in noodles. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Garnish with chopped parsley, if desired. Serves 4-6.

CREAM OF BROCCOLI SOUP

- 1 medium onion, diced
 - 6 cups chicken broth
 - 1 head fresh broccoli, chopped
 - 2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
 - 3 cups half-and-half
 - 1/2 cup cooking sherry (optional)
- Cream sauce base:
1/2 cup butter or oleo
1/2 cup flour

Cook diced onion and chopped broccoli in chicken broth until tender. Melt butter in pan and blend in flour to make cream base. Add cream sauce to broth; cook 2 minutes; stir to blend.

Remove from heat. Add Cheddar cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Add half-and-half and sherry. Serves 8-10.

NINE LAYER SALAD

OR TWENTY-FOUR HOUR SALAD

- Lettuce
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 cup chopped water chestnuts
- 1 package frozen peas
- 5 hard-boiled eggs
- 1 pound bacon, fried crisp and crumbled
- Parmesan cheese
- 1 pint mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 4 tomatoes, diced

Mix first four ingredients and top with frozen peas (do not cook). Cover and refrigerate overnight. Put layer of Parmesan over peas. Mix mayonnaise with sugar and spread over salad. Next, top with chopped eggs, then tomatoes and finally bacon. Use large clear salad bowl.

Proceeds from the sale of "Incredible Edibles" cookbooks are used on community service projects. The $6 books are available at the Independence Township Library, Village Book Store, Carol's Village Grill, Gayanne's Floral Concept and Pontiac State Bank's downtown Clarkston branch.

CHS students share anti-smoking message

By Kathy Greenfield

The Clarkston High School students call themselves "Smokebusters."

As members of Students Against Smoking, they carried their message to fifth- and sixth-graders at Clarkston Elementary School on Oct. 23.

The elementary pupils watched a film, then went back their classrooms for discussions led by the CHS students.

They talked about the dangers of smoking, and backed up their beliefs with facts about nicotine and tar. They talked about the annual expense. And they listed social problems of smokers, such as smelly clothing and bad breath.

In one room when the pupils were asked how many had relatives who had died from diseases related to smoking, about a dozen hands were raised.

After a half-hour discussion, Mike Ely, a CHS junior, asked the class, "How many people, after we've talked to you, are going to go out there and want to smoke?"

Not one hand was raised.

The group of about 15 CHS students came together through the efforts of Kristi Martin, a junior.

The emphasis is on combating negative peer pressure, Martin said, "to help the kids say no; let them know they can."

A transfer student this year from Grand Blanc High School, Martin was active in a similar group there, and Dr. Robert Burek, the new principal at CHS, was previously the principal at Grand Blanc High School.

At a board of education meeting last summer, Burek announced that smoking by all students including 18-year-olds would be banned at CHS. He also mentioned the possibility of forming a group of high school students who would take an anti-smoking message to elementary schools.

After the meeting, he was contacted by Clarkston Elementary School principal William Porvin, who requested such a program.

From that discussion, Burek talked with Martin and the pilot anti-smoking program was formed.

It was "really well-received by staff and kids," said Burek. "We think it went extremely well, and I'll be approaching other elementary schools in the district to see if they would be interested in a similar program."

Kristi Martin (left) and Tara Carncross lead an anti-smoking discussion in a Clarkston Elementary School classroom. Martin formed the Students Against Smoking group. Carncross, who recently joined, gathered information for a CHS newspaper article.

Does pot retard psychological development?

Dear Cat Paw:

I have quit smoking pot for about a year now. Within the last four before that, I smoked more than my share. I've heard you say smoking retards psychological development. Well, I can tell.

I've killed lots of brain cells within this time. I know I can't bring back the ones that are dead, but is there a way of psychologically promoting the ones that are there to make up for the ones that are dead?

I really would appreciate your help. I get so agitated with myself because I really do have a hard time sometimes. This situation has even caused a problem with my boyfriend, whom I care a great deal about.

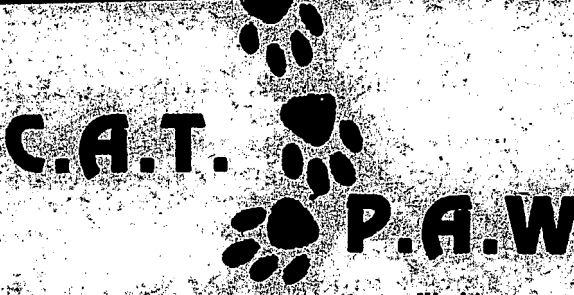

Thick

Dear Thick:

You might want to see a doctor to determine if there is any real physical damage.

If your problem is not that severe, a psychologist or counselor would be able to give you methods of rejuvenating your learning skills and strengthening your "brain power" through practice.

Damaged or dead cells cannot be replaced, but in some cases alternate pathways around destroyed cells can be found through the brain.

Sign up for some extra evening classes just for fun—force yourself to use your brain. It won't be easy, but you sound like a determined young lady who really wants to help herself.

Dear Cat Paw:

Exactly in what part of the body does THC stay and build up?

Wondering

Dear Wondering:

THC accumulates in the brain, lungs, salivary glands, small intestine, kidneys, adrenal glands, muscles, liver and testes.

Dear Cat Paw:

I'm pregnant and want to know if I can drink just a little during my pregnancy without hurting my baby.

Future Mom

Dear Future Mom:

A recent study at the Georgia Mental Health Institute in Atlanta shows there is no safe level of drinking during pregnancy.

Babies whose mothers drank alcohol during pregnancy were at higher risk for learning disabilities and delayed motor development.

In this study, babies whose mothers did not drink at all had the healthiest nervous systems and highest intellectual ability at age 1.

CHS singers perform

The Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers sang for about 500 people in their second performance of the year last week.

"It was an honor," said their director, CHS vocal music teacher Grayce Warren. "I was extremely proud of them in their performance Tuesday."

At a nationwide Dropout Prevention Conference at the Westin Hotel in Detroit's Renaissance Center, they sang for about 20 minutes and honored award winner Terry Thomas by singing "Parting Blessing."

Thomas, director of pupil personnel at Oakland Schools, instituted the conference and was honored for his efforts.

The 16 members of the CHS group perform about 20 times per year.

"I'm absolutely delighted with them," said Warren. "They show a lot of dedication and enthusiasm."

HONORED SINGERS: The first quartet from Clarkston Junior High School to win acceptance in the Michigan Junior High School Choir includes (from left) Mark Young, Christi Oppmann, Anissa Howard and Kevin Brown. The group practiced during and after school with their teacher Mary Conklin and parent volunteer Yvonne Lowe, who is the choir director at Calvary Lutheran Church. They auditioned for the choir Oct. 25 in Lansing. Of the 45 quartets that tried out from 39 schools, 19 were selected. Following rehearsals at Muskegon, Marshall, Ann Arbor and Lansing, the honors chorus will perform Jan. 24 at the Midwestern Music Educators Conference in Ann Arbor. Last year, a trio from CJHS was chosen for membership in the honors choir. [Photo by Kathy Greenfield]

"Quality Proves Performance"

Tony Losinger gets a double treat when he's chosen to help man a fan.

As the fans blow to fill the giant balloon with air, Sarah Perry and Jonathon Lutz attempt to muffle the noise.

Bigger than life

An up-close look at a hot air balloon provides a treat for pupils at Clarkston Christian School. The balloon was unfolded and inflated before the children's eyes Oct. 23 at the school on Clarkston Road.

Howard Steele, of Independence Township, whose son Shawn is enrolled in the school arranged for the event through Sky Adventures of Rochester. The balloon is owned by Father & Son construction company.

A doll house purchased at a garage sale several years ago gives Millie lots of space to fill with miniatures, and memories. Closeups include one of Millie's favorite miniature sets and the hobby room with "Grandpa and The Clarkston News."

Samples of some of the smallest scales of Millie's Miniatures fit in the palm of her hand.

Each piece is crocheted, then finished with Elmer's Glue.

Vivid imagination, nimble fingers

It's a winning combination for Millie Gates, creator of miniatures

By Pat Young

Crocheting miniatures has evolved into a large-scale hobby for Millie Gates.

Six years ago, she decided to funnel the skills she had garnered from years of crocheting into something smaller than afghans and pillows.

"I started making tiny crocheted baskets," Millie says, "and then one day, I turned the basket over and thought, if I just put a little back on this, it would make a cute chair."

One thing led to another. After the chair came a couch, and then a chaise lounge, baby buggies, lamps, tables.

"The possibilities are endless," she says.

Millie's Miniatures will be one of many displays at Santa's Workshop Show and Sale, sponsored by the Clarkston Jaycees Nov. 15. The show will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Clarkston High School, off Waldon Road between Sashabaw and M-15 in Independence Township.

This will be Millie's fifth show since she began creating miniatures. Last year, she won Honorable Mention and Most Popular Vote awards with her display at the Oakland County Art Show in Summit Place Mall.

The petite mother of two grown children, who looks almost miniature herself, literally bubbles over with enthusiasm for her hobby.

"I've always liked miniatures," Millie says. "Every time I see something in miniature I think how cute it is."

An entire room in Millie's comfortable country home on Pine Knob Road in Independence Township is devoted to her hobby. Wooden cabinets with leaded glass doors display shelves and shelves of her creations, none of which are made from patterns.

But the focal point of the room is a doll house she picked up at a garage sale three years ago and has lovingly filled with memories.

"This is like a house I grew up in in the '40s," she says. "Early attic."

Every room in the house, decorated down to the tiniest detail, is a showcase for her hobby. Delicate miniature furniture that looks like wicker is done in scale, one inch equals one foot. She also works in half-scale and quarter-scale.

"I've been told that I have a vivid imagination," Millie says.

That fact is easily recognizable in her doll house. Beads turn into bottles. A dab of Elmer's Glue turns into eggs in a crocheted basket on the kitchen table, or into a robin perched in a tiny grapevine nest on the doll house roof. A tiny sponge cake on the dining room table is literally made from a sponge and "frosted" with plaster.

Millie is a good customer for Elmer's Glue. She stiffens all her crocheted miniatures by rubbing them with the glue and then drying them on little forms. Her miniatures take anywhere from 15 minutes for a little basket to hours for a crocheted hat.

Millie Gates crochets miniatures in her hobby room inside her Pine Knob Road home. She holds a sample of a larger creation, a hat suitable for hanging on the way.

Often asked if working on such tiny details isn't tedious, Millie replies, "I don't find it tedious at all. In fact, I get antsy if I can't work on the miniatures. And it doesn't take good eyes, just good glasses."

At Santa's Workshop, Millie will offer everything from miniature furniture, baskets and hats to tiny flowers made of twine and—what else?—Elmer's Glue.

"They may look very delicate," she says, cupping a tiny chaise lounge set she has finished with matching cloth cushions in her hand, "but they are really very durable things."

"They last for years."
