400-acre park wins approval

By Pat Young

A new, 400-acre park could become a reality in Springfield Township.

On Nov. 12, the township board unanimously approved a formal agreement, and the property could be acquired for a township park as early as next summer.

The land that Springfield Township calls Shiawassee Basin Preserve is a 400-acre parcel just west of downtown Davisburg and north of Davisburg Road. A final name for the park has not yet been decided.

Three hundred acres of the land is environmentally sensitive and includes wetlands, wildlife and the major portion of Long Lake, which is also undeveloped, according to township Supervisor Collin Walls.

The other 100 acres, across from Davisburg Elementary School, is farmland and flatland which would be ideal for recreational purposes, including ball fields and park areas, Walls said.

"We feel it is necessary to preserve what we feel is very, very environmentally sensitive land," he said. "And the farmed part of the parcel will be ideal for developing recreational areas, which we feel the township doesn't have that much potential for presently."

The township applied to Michigan Land Trust Fund for a grant to acquire the 400 acres, and the grant is now approved, along with the formal agreement. The grant would pay for 90 percent of the appraisal, or an amount not to exceed $527,000.

The land is owned by Mary and Ed Barker of Springfield Township. According to the agreement, [See PARK, Page 20]

Three arrested in Springfield

Three men were arrested in connection with a breaking-and-entering and auto theft in Springfield Township on Monday.

The incident began at about 5 a.m. when Deputy Phil Liechok observed the three standing next to a 1976 Mercury on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township, said Lt. Glenn Watson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

According to Watson, the men told Liechok they had run out of gas and had to call a friend in Pontiac. About 45 minutes later, Liechok rechecked the site and saw a late-model Jeep sitting in the woods next to the Mercury.

When Liechok prepared to stop, the Jeep pulled out and, with Liechok in pursuit, headed east down Davisburg Road before pulling over, Watson said.

The suspects, Cary Bothwell, 20, of Orlando,

Fla.; Anthony Abner, 17, of Pontiac; and Jeffrey Caswell, 18, of Ft. Garland, Colorado, were arraigned the same afternoon before 52nd District Judge Gerald McNally.

They were charged with breaking and entering of a building, a 10-year felony, and unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle, a five-year felony.

The men stood mute, a not-guilty plea was entered and they asked for a court-appointed attorney, said a court spokesperson.

Bond was set at $5,000 cash per person per charge, none of them posted bond and they were returned to Oakland County Jail.

The preliminary examination, to determine if the case will be bound over to circuit court, is scheduled Nov. 24 before McNally.

Line of trucks may be on the move

By Julie Campe

The line of Hamady trucks on Dixie Highway at Maybee Road may soon be moved.

Independence Township Supervisor Frank Ronk plans to ask the owner, Alex Dandy, to remove the trucks between Clarkston Motors and House of Maple, Oak and Pine this week, he said.

"The property is not zoned for the storage of trailers," he said, adding the owner's purpose was to stop trespassing on his property.

The township offices have received a few complaints, said Ronk, and most of the callers said the trucks were unsightly or were illegal advertising.

Dandy, the owner of Durant Enterprises which owns the property, filed a lawsuit in Oakland County Circuit Court Oct. 28, charging Fox Corp. and A.T.V. Construction with trespassing. Dandy also owns Hamady Brothers Food Markets.

The suit asked for an amount in excess of $10,000 in damages, a court order to stop the unauthorized use of Dandy's land, and a restraining order to stop the construction of Lancaster on the Lakes Apartments.

Fox and A.T.V. received a court order to stop trespassing, said Ronk, so there's no reason for the trucks to be there.

Fox and A.T.V. are building Lancaster on the Lake Apartments on property behind Dandy's.

According to the lawsuit, the builders made a road on Dandy's property and piled trees, trash and piping there.

Dick Fay, vice president of construction for Fox Corp., said the builders use the paved service road to Hosler Pontiac and don't trespass.

The excavators, A.T.V., had inadvertently piled dirt on Dandy's property, he said, but they started clearing it off right away.

The restraining order was denied, said Fay, because there was no proof that Fox Corp. had trespassed.

"We only have a superintendent and a pickup at the site anyway," said Fay. "There's nothing we could have done."

"The restraining order would not have allowed A.T.V. to clean off the material," he said. "All but a small amount of dirt is cleaned off."

Fay called the lawsuit an abuse of the legal system.

"The legal system was designed to remedy real injustices, not to go cause problems for people," he said. "It's a tempest in a teapot—a lot of hot air about nothing."

Dandy had a different opinion on the matter.

"(The court's decision) renews my faith in the judicial system that one's property is protected and that one's rights are protected," he said.

Another hearing is to be held before Judge Francis O'Brien regarding the portion of the lawsuit seeking $10,000 in damages.

Independence OKs $50,000 budget

Following no comments by the public at a public hearing Nov. 10, and the Independence Township Board approved spending about $50,000 in Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds.

The CDBG, funded by the federal government, is to be used to help low to moderate income residents or low income areas, to aid the planning and management of the funds and to help public service organizations. All must meet federal guidelines.

This fiscal year, the appropriations are as follows:

- Public service, 15 percent, about $7,500 in donations including $2,000 to the Oakland Livingston Human Services Agency, $1,000 to Clarkston SCAMP, $1,000 to Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and $3,500 to the Consortium for Human Development.

- Planning and Management, 15 percent, about $7,500. The money is designated for use in the Downtown Development Authority along portions of Dixie Highway and M-15.

- Senior Center, 20 percent, about $10,000 for paving the parking lot.

- Special Assessments, 15 percent, about $7,500.

- Minor Home Repair, 30 percent, about $15,000.

- Contingency, 5 percent, about $2,500 to be used if projects are more expensive than planned.

The board approved the appropriations in a 6-0 vote. Trustee Dale Stuart was absent.

Clarkston reading, math scores hold steady

By Kathy Greenfield

Scores are holding steady for Clarkston Community Schools on the annual Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) math and reading tests, and William Potvin is pleased.

Potvin is the school district's administrator in charge of testing.

"I think it's an accurate reflection of the continuous emphasis that we put on reading and math," he said. "We're continuing to do a good job of teaching reading and math."

The MEAP test is required by the Michigan Department of Education for all fourth-, seventh- and 10th-graders in public school districts statewide. The scores reflect the percentage of test-takers who answer at least 75 percent of the questions correctly.

This year, the state added a science test to the MEAP. The science scores in Clarkston were low, but not out of line with those in other districts, Potvin said.

In Clarkston, the largest differences were in fourth-grade scores, which jumped about 6 points in both reading and math over last year's scores.

Last year, the reading score dipped six points, so the increase put reading back at its expected level, Potvin said.

Because of a recent change in the math program, his reaction to the math increase was a bit different. "We introduced a new math series a year ago and that's where you would expect to see some change," he said. "All of them (the fourth-graders) had a good solid year for the new math program."

The math and reading scores for seventh- and 10th-graders were within three percentage points of last year's totals.

"The small fluctuations that we experience every

4th grade math	83.4	83.8	89.9
4th grade reading	89.4	83.5	89.3
4th grade science			50.4
7th grade math	76.8	77.2	75.8
7th grade reading	90.8	92.9	90.7

10th grade reading	89.3	92.0	89.7

year, none of them are statistically significant," Potvin said.

Because the district is in the first two years of a curriculum plan that has added numerous classes, the tests relieved one concern, Potvin said.

"As you begin to give more emphasis to other curriculum areas, the reading and math might suffer. Our teachers are beginning to teach more and more subjects better," he said.

Among changes are more emphasis on writing, work on scientific thinking skills with work toward selecting a new science text for grades K-8, a new social studies program in grades K-8, introductory foreign language classes in elementary grades, physical education classes for grades K-6, a new health program for grades K-7, 10-week computer keyboarding classes for fourth-graders, new math textbooks for K-8, new algebra textbooks for grades 8-12, and the addition of a math, science and computer requirement for graduation.

More changes will continue over the length of the four-year curriculum change program, and Potvin said science is one area where students' knowledge should improve.

"We're not happy with the (science) test scores, but we know we have to do something with science," he said. Work has started to improve the science curriculum and "it will keep going. We're not going to panic. . . . We have been (and will continue) doing something about it."

The MEAP science test was also different than the math and reading tests, which were designed to test basic knowledge, Potvin said, because it was more of an achievement test.

"It's how much science do you know? It's a very, very difficult test, and that's OK," he said, but low scores "don't necessarily mean kids aren't learning—it's a different way of testing."

This year, MEAP scores on math and reading went up in some Oakland County school districts, unlike Clarkston where they stayed steady, but Potvin said he's unconcerned about that.

"Our scores could go up if we instituted some very special programs and special emphasis," he said. "It's not that we don't want our scores to go up. We just don't want to overemphasize it."

Teachers in Clarkston do not ask their students to perform sample test question exercises before the tests, Potvin said.

Instead, teachers review skills learned in previous grades at the beginning of the school year, and during test periods they encourage the students to do their best and strive to keep testing rooms quiet.

"It's what good teachers do with kids," Potvin said.

Paying tribute: Leaders praised at breakfast

By Kathy Greenfield

Up before the birds and seated for breakfast at 7:30, 104 people gathered Nov. 12 at the Deer Lake Racquet Club for the first Community Breakfast.

Their purpose was to pay tribute to the Independence Township and Clarkston Community Award winners: Howard Huttenlocher, Edward Thomson, Rita Burdick, Joan Kopietz and Dr. Gary Symons.

"These leaders we honor today who are special and unique . . . were among words of appreciation offered to the five honorees during the opening prayer by the Rev. Douglas Trebilcock of the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

The accolades continued throughout the program, including emcee Lewis Wint's observation that "it takes a lot—a lot—of time" to make significant contributions to a community.

The awards ceremony was held in conjunction with Independence Township's 150th birthday celebration this year.

State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss (R-Lake Orion) presented framed proclamations from the State House of Representatives to Huttenlocher, Thomson and Burdick.

Huttenlocher's award was for "Citizen-1986." Now retired, he established the H.W. Huttenlocher Insurance Agency in Pontiac in 1932. During an eight-year tenure as president of the Village of Clarkston, he was responsible for adoption of a zoning ordinance, the location of a Ford factory with its beautification program, complete road resurfacing and a sound financial program.

Thomson was recognized with the "Community Pride-1986" award. Since moving to Clarkston in 1951, he has served two terms as village president and has held positions on the village planning and zoning boards and beautification committee and the township solid waste committee.

Burdick was honored with the "Volunteer-1986" award for her work on the Independence Township Sesquicentennial Council. During the year-long celebration of the township's 150th birthday, she spent countless hours conducting meetings, organizing committees and supervising events.

As "Business Person-1986," Kopietz of Tierra Arts was presented with a plaque noting her "outstanding service to the community." She has been in charge of Concerts in the Park and village banners.

After receiving a framed proclamation praising his community pride, Ted Thomson holds up the award for the crowd to see. The award was presented by state Rep. Mat Dunaskiss.

Dr. Gary Symons received a plaque for the "Historic Preservation-1986" award for his dedication to restoration including work on his Terrace Building in downtown Clarkston and his residence, also on Main Street.

Plans are under way for next year's community awards, which will be presented in conjunction with Michigan's sesquicentennial celebration during Michigan week in May, said Christine Downing, community awards chairperson.

Village apartments win 1st approval

By Julie Campe

More apartments may be coming to Clarkston. The Village Council approved, 5-2, the rezoning of the 59 S. Main Street lot from commercial to multiple residential at the request of the owners. The change requires a second approval at a public hearing Nov. 24.

The owners plan to build apartments in the "Sutherland House," said John Steutzer of the planning commission, but they're not sure how many or when construction is to begin.

In the same motion, the council approved the rezoning of the adjacent lot, the "Plumb House," at 69 S. Main from commercial to residential.

In order to eliminate spot zoning and to return the property to its original zoning, the council approved the change.

The owner of the Plumb House has six months to establish use of the building as commercial before it becomes residential, according to the zoning ordinance.

"If we had people clamoring for commercial space downtown, that would be one thing, . . . but it seems to me it's a better use of this property," said Trustee William Basinger.

"We have a basic philosophical question," he said. "How big should the commercial district be? . . . I don't know why we have to worry about expansion. I think we have an adequate business district now."

He noted that the business district is one-and-one-half times the size it used to be if the Clarkston Mills Mall is included.

Trustee Fontie ApMadoc concurred.

"A lot of people are looking for apartments," she said. "We need more, but I'm not sure about the Plumb House."

Trustee James Schultz said he was concerned with losing the commercial space.

"It's the only small spot left for small shops," he said. "I don't want to see our commercial district clipped out."

"It's a natural transition from commercial to residential," said Trustee Eric Haven.

President Sharron Catallo voiced her approval of the change.

"The Plumb House is undesirable as commercial because there's no parking," she said.

Schultz and ApMadoc voted "no," and Catallo, Basinger, Haven and trustees Fred Roeser and Frank Millard voted "yes."

Board hires firm as financial adviser

The Downtown Development Authority is to receive some help with finances from Stauder, Barch and Associates of Ann Arbor.

Independence Township approved, 6-0, the hiring of the financial consultants at the Nov. 10 meeting. Trustee Dale Stuart was absent.

In order to coincide the street light installation and sewer, water and landscaping improvements with the Michigan Department of Transportation's widening of Dixie Highway and M-15, the township needs help with the financial planning, said Clerk Richard Holman at the meeting.

Work on Dixie Highway in Waterford began last month. Work on Dixie Highway in Independence is to begin next spring. Improvements on M-15 are not scheduled until 1990.

The consultants are to charge $75 an hour, not to exceed $4,000 for the total project. The money is to come from the planning and management portion of the Community Development Fund, he said.

The DDA was established to improve water and sewer systems and the appearance of the area on M-15 to Paramus Drive and on Dixie Highway to White Lake Road.

Lake board approved in Springfield

A Dixie Lake Board was approved by the Springfield Township Board on Nov. 12. The action followed petitions given the board signed by two-thirds of the residents of Dixie Lake.

David Fields of Graham Road was appointed as the township resident on the lake board.

Other lake board members will include, by law, the Oakland County drain commissioner, a county representative appointed by the chairman of the County Board of Commissioners and a representative of the state Department of Natural Resources. They will appoint a fifth member from the Dixie Lake area.

The lake board is a mechanism which will allow a study of the lake and determine what needs to be done to maintain it, according to township Supervisor Colin Walls.

It also allows for establishment of a special tax assessment district for the purpose of collecting fees from Dixie Lake residents who will benefit from the lake improvements, he said.

Following a question by Dixie Lake resident Phil Kowalewski of King Road, Walls explained that the amount of dues from Dixie Lake residents would not be affected. Rather, only the method of collection would change, he said.

Evans believes in herself, marathons

By Pat Young

Behind the desk of Pat Evans hangs a poster of a runner with the words "I believe in me." The poster has a strong impact, but then so does the woman who hung it there.

Evans has taught special education in the Clarkston school system for the past 13 years, nine of those at Clarkston Junior High School.

"Because my job is stress-related, I wanted to do something to give me time to clear the tape," she says.

So she started running in 1979 at the age of 43.

"When I run, it's time by myself and for myself," she says. "And there is no one saying 'Mrs. Evans,' 'mother' or 'dear.'"

"It was no easy task to start running," she adds. "It took me 11 times out the door to even run a mile."

She has since finished five marathons, and on Oct. 19 she finished the Detroit Free Press International Marathon ninth overall in her age division (45-49) with a time of 4:27.41.

She says her greatest thrill at this year's marathon was not only finishing herself, but seeing her good friend Steve Himburg qualify as a wheelchair racer for the Boston Marathon.

Last year, she finished the Detroit marathon 10th overall in her age division, but actually had her best time ever, running the 26-mile, 385-yard course that begins in Canada and ends in the United States in 3:54.

"My goal has been to finish a marathon in under four hours," she says. But she didn't start running seven years ago with the idea that she would become a marathon runner.

"It was never my intention to run more than three or four miles," she says. "I just became more and more interested in running. The more I could do, the higher goal I would set for myself."

"When you make a commitment like that, I think it makes you stronger mentally, physically and emotionally."

She wasn't planning to run the marathon this year, but saw the movie "Flashdance" again and was re-inspired by the words from the movie: "When you lose your dreams, you die." Now she says she would like to think she could run a marathon every year until she is 60.

The trim teacher, who looks much younger than her age, says she is the only person she knows who is eagerly looking forward to her 50th birthday, which occurs next month. She will "age up" in running.

Independence Township resident Pat Evans' love of running is depicted by a poster hanging behind her desk at Clarkston Junior High School.

Alice's lament

Kathy Greenfield

Alice (her real name) is tired of being labeled "student."

She's also mind-boggled at the possible titles that could be bestowed by her part-time job. Should it be busboy (inappropriate), buserperson ("too early 1980s," she says), buser (or would it be busser, and, if so, should she kiss the customers), and so on.

Alice is a friend of my daughter, who is also a student.

We entered into the conversation about labels during dinner last weekend when I presented a timely question, "Does anybody have an idea for my column?"

Alice noted that she's heard that question before. My husband, son and daughter (not their real names) all expressed variations of their ever-popular, "I don't care what you write about—as long as you don't write about me."

Alice, nice person that she is, said I could write about her any time.

So, we talked about labels for a while. "This is just the beginning," I said. "You'll have many labels throughout your lifetime."

Some of them are more interesting than others.

It used to tickle me when, before we had children, I was frequently introduced as the owner of Flea, our late Yorkshire terrier. He was cute, feisty and well-liked and that label always brought an animated response.

As the years went by, more and more labels were added. In some settings I was blank-and-blank's mother; in others, blank's wife. There have been job titles, neighborhood titles and identifications linked with the former owners of houses I've lived in.

Most recently, of course, a frequent label is editor of The Clarkston News. That also brings reactions, too numerous to mention at this time.

Now that I'm thinking about it, editor is an interesting word in the world of labels. Unlike actor or waiter, whose sister words are actress and waitress, there is no built-in gender identification. Thank goodness, otherwise people would be dealing with "editress" or some other such silliness.

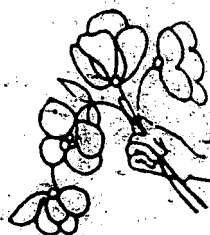

So, Alice, my message to you is that student isn't bad; all things considered.

As a word, it has many pluses. As a conversation piece, it never falls flat—people love to hear about where you're going to school, what you're studying and what your goals are.

I have heard many people say they wish they were students again. My guess is that some day you, too, will look back on your student days with special fondness.

Volunteers praised

We wish to express our appreciation to the following students of the student council of Clarkston High School for their volunteer services of raking leaves from our yard: Sandy Coulter, Cynthia Merritt, Melissa Wilkinson, Kelly Kurz and Jeff John.

A good job, well done!

Pauline Powell and Rebecca Gould

They eased the pain

We would like to express our sincere appreciation to our veterinarian and his staff for the concern and care shown us and our "little girl" while she was in their care.

Although we lost our puppy, it was certainly through no lack of effort on the part of those at the Alderman Clinic in Ortonville: effort above and beyond the call of duty.

Our name is not important . . . but theirs are! Thank you Dr. Alderman, Lori and the rest of the staff. We're still crying, but knowing how hard you tried and how much you cared is helping.

A headline in Crain's Detroit Business magazine reads: "Office development boggles the mind."

It certainly does. Have you been in the Telegraph, Twelve Mile, Northwestern area lately? Or Troy? Or I 275? Or Ann Arbor?

Practically every week our Auburn Argus newspaper, serving Auburn Hills, carries stories of new developments, office and high tech, if there is a difference.

The magnitude is even more than mind boggling. New, swank hotels, new moderate hotels, a $300 million miniature city on Big Beaver, 1.8 million square feet in Southfield Galleria, and an $85 million Arboretum office park in Farmington Hills.

Three million square feet of office space is scheduled for the uncompleted I 696 extension, and another 9.7 million square feet are on the drawing boards.

The new Chrysler research and development building for Featherstone, I 75 and Squirrel is nearly a square mile and the under-roof part is 2.5 million sq. ft.

Crain says, "The intangible in all this development is demand. Whether tenants are available is still the big unknown."

Is there really that much speculation money? Maybe not. One Denver company canceled a 2 million sq. ft. project in Detroit last year.

And, while all this is going on, General Motors is cutting employment 25 to 35 percent, depending on the time of day, and temporary layoffs on assembly plants in Flint are mounting.

But, as one developer told me, "We always have these ups and downs. We have to live with them and work harder to get our share."

The State of Michigan thinks it found a way. We have built up a $400 million "rainy day" fund. We can only hope it's still there if the economic rains hit in early 1987.

In the meantime, whatever is being built, seems to be occupied before the landscaping is finished. Still, one would think there has to be a saturation, if only temporarily.

Kindly, generous Glenn Dill brought us a package of "Polish Donut Seeds" for best results plant near a coffee bush. (They could just have easily been called "Editor Donut Seeds.") They are cheerios.

The "How to plant" instructions are: (1) Carefully place one (1) seed at bottom of 10 foot hole, 5 feet apart in any type of soil. When mature, bush will grow to a height of six feet.

For glazed donuts: Pour 20 pounds of sugar in each hole.

If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, or plants fail to grow in 5 years, dig up seed for a pro-rated refund.

Like the pet rock, someone will actually buy these packages of seeds at 25 cents each, 3 for $1.00. Glenn did.

What will happen to the village?

If we do not have a shopping district, there will not be a Village of Clarkston.

With the widening of M-15 to five lanes south of the village, I sincerely believe the state highway department will take all parking off M-15 so traffic can move faster through our village, and we have enough of that already.

The Village Council has spent thousands of dollars for designs by Vilcan and Lehman and more importantly by Betty Lee Francis. Wouldn't you like to see some of these implemented?

I know that most of the villagers could care less about the business section; however, instead of losing retail businesses, we should be doing everything possible to encourage them.

If they go, so goes the entire village. We, on M-15, already know what the traffic is doing.

No. 1, taxes should be lowered by Oakland County in the business section so landlords can lower their absurdly high rents and fix up their stores to attract more customers.

No. 2, we must have more convenient parking. The village would like to acquire the parking area (no more land) already behind the stores on the east side of M-15. It should be donated by the owners.

This area could be leveled and a lot more parking spaces put in. Make a brick pedestrian walk behind the grill and drugstore. Some of the businesses need to fix up the backs of their shops.

When the fire station moves from Church Street, I hope the township will sell us the building for $1 and help us demolish it, so we can put in more parking.

No. 3, new and wider sidewalks should be installed in the business district with pedestrian lights and trees.

No. 4, get rid of those nasty trash cans. In other small villages and towns, people must be neater and, or, the business owners must care a lot more.

There are many of us who remember the days when early in the morning Rudy would be washing and sweeping the sidewalk from Mill Street to Washington. At the same time, Charlie Robinson would be doing the same south of Mill Street to Depot Road.

We did not have ugly trash cans in those days, or messy sidewalks and gutters. Where is our pride?!

The shopping center at M-15 and I-75 is still in the works. New stores and offices are planned at Waldon and Sashabaw. There will be more strip businesses on Dixie Highway after it is widened to five lanes.

What will happen to the village?

We have an M-15 study group working to try slowing down the traffic and to find alternative routes.

Take heed, drivers, we already know a faster route. For those going north of Clarkston, take the Dixie to I-75 south and get off at M-15. For those going south of Clarkston, take I-75 north to the Dixie south.

Try it. You'll like it.

Community pride

Participation by so many residents in the 1st Annual Community Awards breakfast certainly depicts the pride of our community.

Congratulations again to the award winners—Jim Huttenlocher, Ted Thomson, Gary Symons, Joan Kopietz and Rita Burdick.

The initiation of this event by the Awards Committee, Pontiac State Bank (especially through the efforts of Chris Downing) is to be commended and I look forward to the 2nd annual breakfast in May.

'If it Fitz . . .'

Stay within earshot

Jim Fitzgerald

A BTM should have good hearing. I learned this through the founder of FoFOOO. Pay attention, because this is important stuff having to do with national security.

I told you what FoFOOO means last fall, but you probably forgot, so I repeat. FoFOOO is my fan club. It stands for "Friends of Fitz, the One, Original, Only." (That means the club is unique, not me.)

FoFOOO was founded in 1985 by Glenn Baker when he was a civilian employee of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in Khamsi Mushayt, Saudi Arabia. Baker has since been transferred to Sagami-hara, Japan, where he continues to foster FoFOOO out of pity for a columnist who has no fan club in his own country, not to mention his own family.

According to a government memo aimed at Baker and co-workers, "the term 'Biochemical Test Monitor' (BTM) will be used instead of 'Observer' for the purpose of the civilian urinalysis program."

IN SEPTEMBER, an executive order signed by President Reagan required that "procedures for providing the specimen must allow individual privacy," the memo said, but a new order issued in October requires "that each specimen is collected under direct observation."

So naturally, now that the observer is actually required to observe, he or she will no longer be called an observer.

There's more, but don't you love it already?

The duty of a BTM is "to ensure that the individual cannot access a container previously filled with a foreign substance or a prepared sample," the memo said. "For example, employees/applicants should not be allowed to carry such items as briefcases, carry bags, or purses into the collection area. Coats for all employees/applicants should be left outside. Sleeves should be rolled up, and a visual check of potential hiding places in the stall or collection area should be made prior to giving the employee/applicant the collection bottle."

But why should BTM have good hearing? Because, according to the memo, "individual privacy shall be assured by permitting employees or applicants to produce urine specimens alone in closed stalls or other similar structures or enclosures. There will be no observation of an employee's or applicant's private anatomy. The BTM will maintain control of the integrity of the specimen by listening for normal sounds associated with urination."

A BTM must be able to hear the sound of the slightest tinkle coming from the other side of a wall.

What if the tinkle sounds suspicious?

"If at any time during the testing procedure the BTM has reason to believe or suspect that an employee or applicant is attempting to adulterate or substitute the sample," the memo said, "he or she should stop the procedure and inform the installation biochemical testing coordinator (IBTC) of that individual's conduct. The IBTC will then determine if direct observation is required."

Stop the procedure? In midstream?

Besides good hearing, a BTM should also have sensitive hands because "when the bottle is returned to the BTM, he or she will verify the normal warmth of the sample."

Life was less complicated when I worked for the Army 42 years ago. To protect national security against drug abusers, all the authorities had to do was watch out for staggering drunks. Once I tripped over my footlocker and smashed two full fifths of whisky against my bed rail. An investigating sergeant knew immediately that I'd caused the noise and alcohol odor because I was the only soldier in the barracks crying my heart out.

Today, our soldiers are probably investigated by a TTS (Tinkle Tech Sergeant).

Dispensing good cheer at the pumps

By Julie Campe

If Florence Roy were to grumble and frown when at the gas pumps, she'd have good reason.

Every morning, she's up and working before dawn, opening the Roy Brothers' Standard Station with her son Mike.

But she doesn't grumble, and she doesn't frown. She loves her work.

She and her husband, Jean J., have owned and operated the service station for 27 years.

"We've (had) an awful lot of nice customers over the years," says Florence. "That makes for a good environment. They've been loyal and good for us. I like people, and it's just a nice area. They always kind of bring the best out of you."

At the service station at M-15 and Dixie Highway, Florence opens at 6 a.m. with her son Mike. She's in charge of the daily bookkeeping, cashiering, chauffering, "go-fering" and anything else that needs doing.

"I'm versatile," she says.

People wonder what keeps her so cheerful, especially in the early hours. Florence has her own secret for keeping her spirits up.

"My 10 wonderful children," she says.

Joyce, Mike, Jeanne, Mark, Chris, Mary, Dennis, Colette, Shawn and J.P. have all worked in the business at one time or another.

"This has been a good thing, a good experience," says Florence. "My husband always said, 'The family that works together stays together.'"

She has enjoyed every minute with her children, she says.

"For me, it was great, but times were different then. It's a more hectic pace now. Women have to work. I think they miss out on a lot," she says.

"It's a short time. One morning you wake up, and they're all grown. For me, I wasn't just their mother; I got to be their teacher, their nurse, their counselor, their referee."

"I wouldn't trade it. . . . The good Lord blessed us all with good health, which is worth a million bucks."

In her spare time, Florence is preparing for the holidays. She's cleaning her large house in Holly and painting a bedroom.

She expects about 50 people on Christmas Day—all of her children and in-laws and 12 grandchildren.

"We're a party by ourselves," she says.

She's grateful for all the customers and would like to spread good cheer to them all.

"I wish them all happy holidays," she says.

Florence Roy smiles this much every day, even before the sun comes up.

Whittingtons open second Marco's Pizza

By Chris Gerbas

Some pizza store owners might not want to move into a new location two doors away from a competitor.

But that didn't worry Diane and Glen Whittington, owners of Marco's Pizza on M-15. Little Caesar's is practically next door.

"We weren't hesitant," said Diane Whittington.

-What's new-

-in business-

"We know there's competition in every town and you just have to face it head on, I guess."

This is the second Marco's location for the Whittingtons. The other store has been in Lake Orion for 17 years.

They had been looking for a building in the Clarkston area for some time. They signed a lease in the summer and the store has been open for about two months.

The name Whittington does not exactly lend itself to fine Italian cuisine, so Glen named the store after his nephew.

But when it comes to preparing the pizza dough, stay out of the Whittingtons' way.

"We make all the dough," Diane said. "Nobody else has ever done that."

Are there any secrets?

"If there are, you're not going to get them."

Naturally, the Whittingtons think they have the Marco's Pizza co-owner Diane Whittington is flanked by managers Ward Goltz Jr. and Grant Goltz. Glen and Diane Whittington opened Mar-best pizza in town. And they've spared no expense in trying to accomplish that with the new store.

"It is expensive," said Diane. "Of course, we wanted all new equipment and we wanted it to be nice inside. That's a big part of the success of a business."

"I don't think we did run into any problems," she said. "We moved locations in Lake Orion a couple years ago, so we knew what to expect."

Diane said business has been good so far and the couple expects to eventually open another store. They're not sure when or where, but it may not be the only pizza parlor on the block.

Planner plans his resignation

John Gray's 10 years as a trustee on the Independence Township Planning Commission have been a good experience, but he has decided not to seek re-appointment.

"I have some other commitments that I want to do, so that's the main reason," he said at the Nov. 13 meeting.

His term expires in December, as do the terms of Chairperson Neil Wallace and Vice-Chairperson Holly Stephens.

The planning commission voted unanimously to recommend the re-appointment of Wallace and Stephens to the seven-member commission.

After the meeting, Wallace commented on Gray's decision.

"John is a valuable member of the community, and he's made some great contributions to the planning commission," he said. "It's a sabbatical, I hope."

West Bloomfield is off Wolves' schedule

By Chris Gerbasi

West Bloomfield will not play Clarkston in football next season nor in basketball this season and both schools issued an apology for their football teams' actions Oct. 31.

Clarkston High School principal Dr. Robert Burek and athletic director Paul Tungate issued the following statement regarding the Clarkston-West Bloomfield football game, which was called with 54 seconds left when a fight broke out:

"We apologize for the actions of the Clarkston football team in the final minute of play in the game with West Bloomfield. We do not accept nor do we condone this behavior. Our football team has represented our school and community well during the past season and it is regrettable that this incident occurred. Steps have been and are being taken to address the situation and to prevent further such actions by our student-athletes. We have met with West Bloomfield officials and the result has been most productive. It is the strong desire of both schools to maintain a positive relationship and steps have been taken to this end."

Burek and Tungate met last week with West Bloomfield principal Gary Faber and athletic director Jim Feldcamp.

According to Tungate, the foursome viewed key incidents from the game on videotape and received reports from both coaches and the game officials. Faber issued an identical statement on the West Bloomfield end.

Tungate said no individual would be singled out for disciplinary action because, one, the football season is over and, two, both teams instigated incidents.

"For all practical purposes, this is the end of it," said Tungate.

He also said that while next year's football schedule has not been finalized, West Bloomfield would not be on the Wolves' schedule.

A West Bloomfield at Clarkston boys varsity basketball game Jan. 13 has been canceled. The Wolves will entertain Farmington instead.

The football game was called with 54 seconds remaining and the Wolves ahead 42-7. After Clarkston intercepted a Laker pass deep in its own territory, a fight broke out and both benches emptied onto the field.

Several Oakland County deputies, along with coaches and officials from both schools, helped restore order.

Wolves shoot for a share of GOAL title

By Chris Gerbasi

No one could have imagined Clarkston's girls basketball team giving up 72 points to anyone this season.

But that's exactly what happened at Waterford Kettering Nov. 11.

The Wolves came into the contest yielding about 36 points per game, but were blitzed 72-55 by the Captains, who made up for an earlier 49-39 loss on Clarkston's floor.

Clarkston came back two days later with 72 points of its own in a 72-52 victory over Waterford Mott.

But the loss spoiled the Wolves' shot at an outright league title. They needed a win at Lake Orion Tuesday to share the Greater Oakland Activities League championship with Kettering. Entering the week, they were 6-1 in the GOAL and 16-3 overall, while the Captains were 7-1 and 16-3.

The rivals will likely meet again this Saturday night in the district playoffs at Mott. Kettering must get by the Corsairs Thursday night, while Clarkston has a bye and will play the winner of that game.

The winner of Saturday night's game will face the Pontiac Northern-Pontiac Central winner for the district title Nov. 24 at 7 p.m.

Kettering was on fire in the second half of last week's game and shot 33 for 65 from the floor overall.

Most of the buckets came inside as Nicole Leigh was eight for eight and scored a game-high 20 points. Mikki Bryce had 12, Kris Davis added 11 and Kelly Kraft scored 10. Bryce and fellow guard Kristi Lyons had nine assists each.

The Captains led 35-30 at the half despite 16 points from Michele Wyniemko. She eventually fouled out with 17 points and Missy Odell finished with 12.

The Wolves tried to run, as they always do, but couldn't execute the fast break.

"We were out of sync all day," said coach Dave McDonald. "The trick in these games is getting a lead and they shot us out of it."

"This was our wildest game all year," he said. "We usually play excellent defense. Nobody usually sticks it in on us."

The Mott game marked the return of Gina Houck and the last home game for her and fellow seniors Wyniemko, Odell and Lisa Ladd. All four started.

Houck, excited to be back in the lineup after missing 14 games with a knee injury, responded by scoring the first four points of the game.

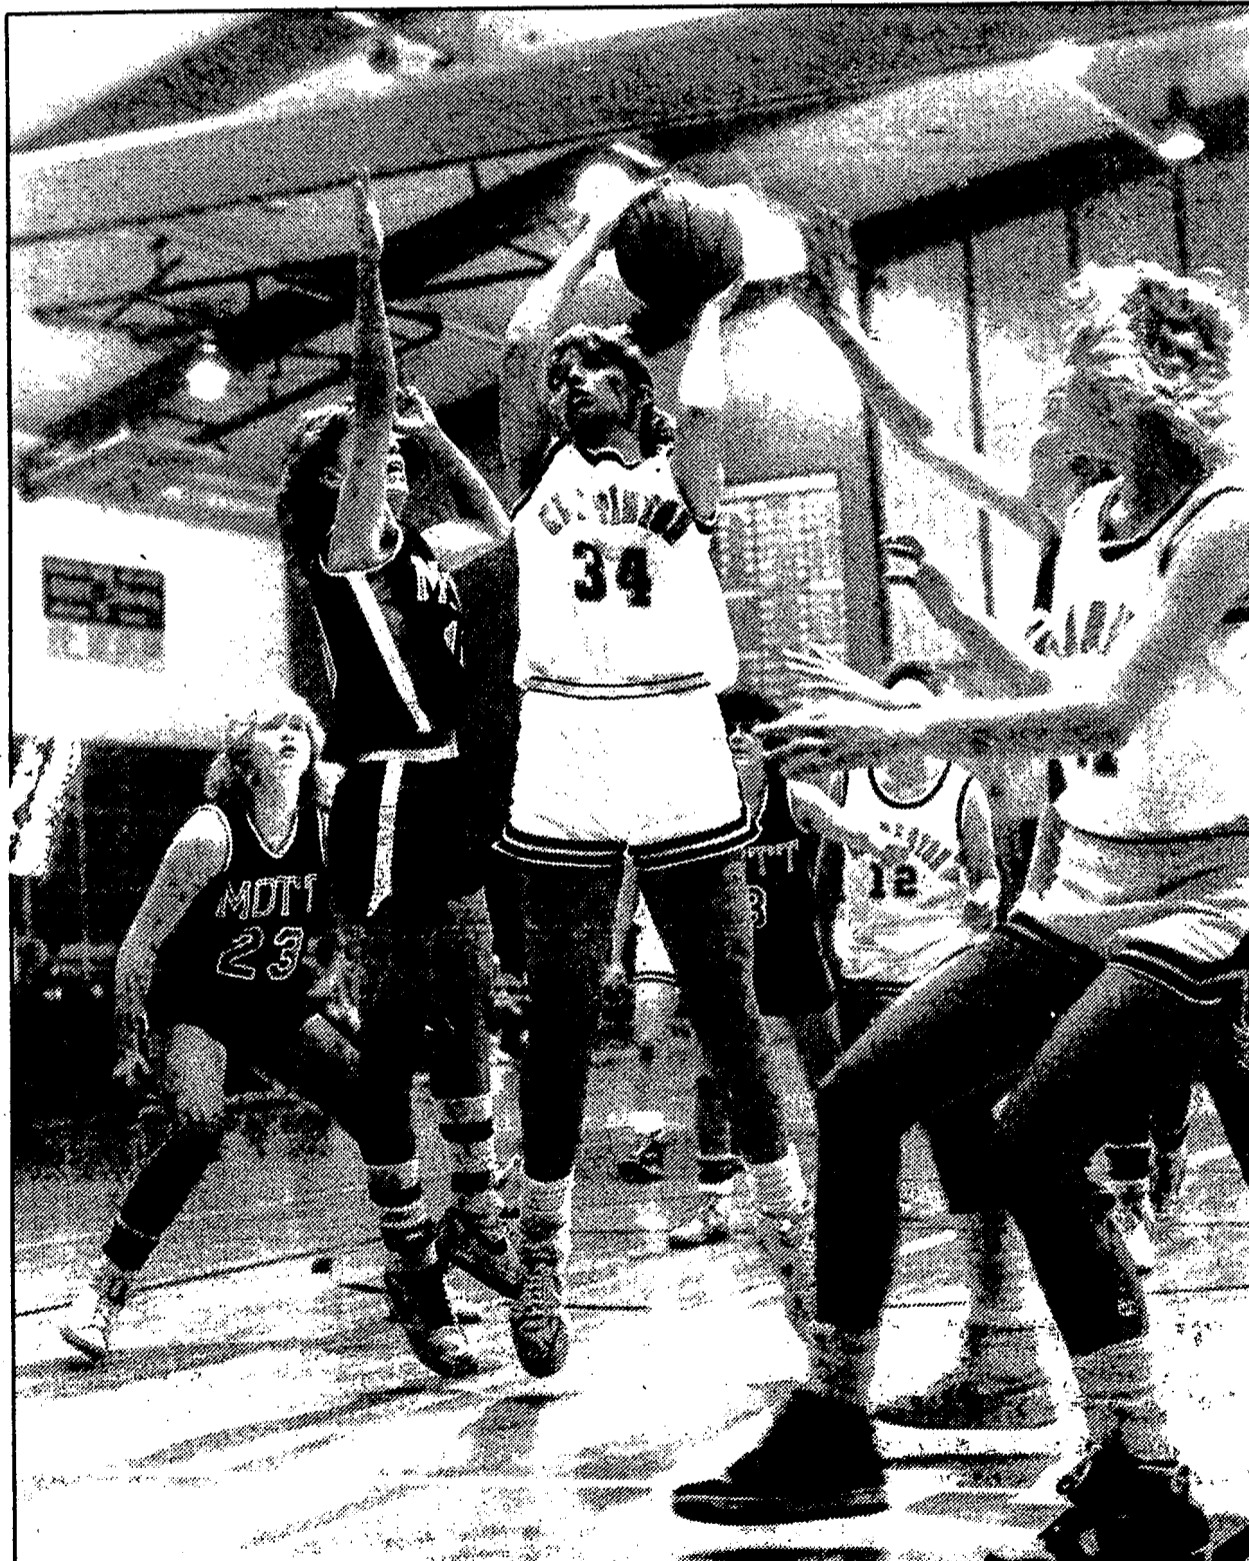

The Corsairs hung tough and only trailed 33-26 at halftime, but the Wolves opened up a 53-37 lead after three and that was that.

Wyniemko poured in 18 points, to go with 17 rebounds and Odell had 11 points and 13 boards. Ladd scored 10 and passed for five assists.

GOAL Standings (as of Nov. 17)

	League	Overall
Waterford Kettering	7-1	16-3
Clarkston	6-1	16-3
Lake Orion	3-4	7-12
Waterford Mott	3-5	11-8
Pontiac Northern	0-8	4-13

Sports

Clarkston's All Fedio goes up for a shot over a Waterford Mott defender in girls basketball action last Thursday. The Wolves won, 72-52. They play a district playoff game this Saturday against the winner of the Mott-Waterford Kettering game.

Crystal clear

Decisive week

Chris Gerbasi

What irony.

The Clarkston schools administration makes it perfectly clear that it will stand firm on banishing a football player for chewing tobacco, then, a few weeks later, it takes no disciplinary action when players are involved in a fight during a game.

The administration issued an apology for the football team's part in a fight with West Bloomfield Oct. 31. The game was called with 54 seconds remaining when both benches emptied onto the field. No player was singled out for punishment.

Timing is everything. No action was taken partly because the football season is over. Also, it would be hard to single out one or two players when several players from both Clarkston and West Bloomfield were in the middle of the scuffle.

Actually, I didn't expect any harsh discipline to be handed out and I don't think any should have been.

Apparently there's always been bad blood between the two teams. I don't know anything about that, but it seems like a good idea to discontinue the series.

But while it's hard to find fault with the decision, it's still ironic.

The firm stand against chewing tobacco was designed to enforce discipline, enforcing discipline with rules. Aren't there rules against fighting?

What it gets down to is players playing under control, officials keeping control of games and coaches and parents doing their best to teach control.

Athletic director Paul Tugate said, "For all practical purposes, this is the end of it." Let's hope so.

Ouch.

That Clarkston-Waterford Kettering girls basketball game hurt. I'm not accustomed to seeing the Wolves lose this season and boy did I lose a lot of sleep that night.

Kettering looked great in blowing the game open in the second half. The Captains made some smooth inside passes, hit a high percentage of those inside shots and did what they had to to keep the Wolves from getting back in the game.

While Clarkston could have wrapped up the GOAL title with a win, the game was still not THE game. That one will come Saturday in the district playoffs, should Kettering defeat Waterford Mott in the playoff opener Thursday.

The two regular season games were for bragging rights, the playoff game has district championship possibilities.

If Kettering faces Clarkston, the winner would then have to beat the Pontiac Northern-Pontiac Central winner for the title. Both of those teams are well below .500. So there are a couple of ifs involved, but they're not big ifs.

It's the game the Wolves let slip away last year and the game they want badly this year. Another loss to Kettering would take a lot of the luster off a shining season.

It's a similar situation to the Michigan football game when they play that team from Ohio this Saturday.

After watching the Wolverines lose to Minnesota last week, a fan's first reaction is to become violently ill.

But a win over that other team will still put Michigan in the Rose Bowl. A loss will spoil an otherwise great year.

I'll be watching both games on Saturday and they'll pretty much make or break my weekend. I don't want to have to deal with my relatives from Ohio on Thanksgiving if, God forbid, Michigan loses.

And the Wolves probably don't want to hear anything from Waterford people, either.

Hoops leagues

Independence Parks and Recreation will be offering men's 30 and over and teen boys' basketball leagues this winter, along with an open league and Class C league.

The season gets under way in January and games will be played on Sundays at Clarkston High School.

Teams must carry a minimum of nine players and fees are $15 for residents and $20 for non-residents. Fees must be paid between Nov. 21 and Dec. 12 for the men's league and between Dec. 2 and Dec. 29 for the boys' league.

JV Wolves move hoops record to 15-4

While Waterford Kettering's varsity team was getting revenge on Clarkston, the Wolves' junior varsity group turned the trick in their rematch with the Captains.

Atoning for a two-point loss in October, Clarkston edged Kettering, 42-40, Nov. 11. The Wolves then improved to 15-4 with a 47-38 victory over Waterford Mott Nov. 13.

Clarkston led 25-15 at the half in the Kettering game and had to withstand a second-half rally. Jenny Grohs paced the Wolves with 15 points, five assists and five steals. Cindy Beal scored 11 and grabbed 10 rebounds and Evonne Atkin had nine points.

Beal was the difference against the Corsairs in a closely contested game. She hit for 11 points in the second half and wound up with 15. She also had 10 rebounds.

Grohs also put in 15 points and again had five steals. Deanna Green pulled down 14 rebounds from the guard position and Stacy Shurtz scored eight.

Coach Himburg enjoys junior high football season

Clarkston Junior High football coach Steve Himburg is helped back to the sidelines after a timeout in a game this season. Himburg said there were few problems in being accepted as one of the coaches by the players.

By Chris Gerbasi

Steve Himburg wanted to be sure there would be no problems when he became the football coach at Clarkston Junior High.

Way back in early June, he and co-coach Dave Campbell held a meeting for the players, in part, to discuss Himburg's wheelchair.

"During the meeting, I explained to them about my accident and asked if there were any questions," said Himburg.

"There was some curiosity on their part," he said. "Maybe in the back of their minds they thought, 'What is this situation where a guy in a wheelchair is going to coach us football?' But that didn't last very long."

Himburg broke his neck 12 years ago diving into a swimming pool, but he has remained athletic by competing in marathons and shorter races.

This was his first season as a coach in Clarkston, but some of the players were familiar with him because he tutors at the junior high.

The 3-6 season was not without its trying moments for Himburg.

"It was slightly frustrating to want to demonstrate something and not be able to," he said. "I had to be a little more creative."

All through the season Himburg said he was impressed with the players' attitudes considering the losing record. He also thinks they'll maintain a different attitude about people in wheelchairs.

"A couple days before the Detroit marathon (last month), they gave me a good luck sweatshirt, and that was a pretty big thing, to show they were behind me," Himburg said.

"I think it carried over to the parents and so on, too, to see someone with a disability participate in the community and do something that just anybody would like to do."

Himburg will work out this winter in the Silverdome, he hopes to compete in a marathon or two out West and he's also qualified for the Boston Marathon in the spring. And he would definitely like to coach again next year.

Building planned for industrial park

Clark Cumming received approval from the Springfield Township Board on plans for a building with a garage-door fence in Holly Greens Industrial Park on Enterprise Road.

New park?

the land acquisition from the Barkers must be completed by the end of 1987.

The township board also accepted a bid from James Navarre to appraise the land at a cost not to exceed $4,200.

Township Treasurer Patricia Kramer expressed concern about whether the land will be used for all public recreation, or whether they could restrict such usage as motorcycles.

"The intent is to preserve and protect the land," she said.

Walls said the land has to be open to the public, but not to do whatever they want.

The environmentally sensitive area of 300 acres might have only footpaths, for instance, so people could enjoy the natural preserve, he said.

The action, approved 4-1 on Nov. 12, allows the township's and Cumming's attorneys to work toward final settlement in a consent judgment in the Springfield Township vs. Cumming lawsuit.

Clerk Calvin Walters cast the "no" vote, saying he was not comfortable with the garage-door fence.

The lawsuit was filed while Cumming was operating his business in a residential area. The township has agreed to drop the lawsuit if he builds in Holly Greens Industrial Park, according to Township Supervisor Collin Walls.

Cumming's poured walls and cement business will be fenced with an unusual product—garage doors.

"It sounds different, but it really looks pretty good," said Walls, who had inspected another industry using the same method of screening.

The motion approved by the board allows for a maximum of two years for the completion of paving the gravel drives and approves the garage door material for fencing.

Construction will begin following mortgage approval and he hopes to have the driveways paved by this summer, Cumming said.

competing against women in the 50- to 54-year-old division.

Evans trains by running five miles a day, resting on Fridays, and "running long" on Saturdays. How "long" she runs on Saturdays depends on how close it is to a marathon.

Her students think it's great to have a marathon runner for a teacher, and her own children, Michael, 24, and Kara, 21, get a big kick out of it too, Evans says.

"Their friends at Michigan State called me Marathon Mom."

Teaching and running certainly fill her life, but Evans says it doesn't take away from time she shares with her husband, Terry, because he travels a lot with his job.

"I just like the challenge. It's a high adventure for me, like climbing a mountain (is) for someone else," she says.

"And I feel it is fun to accomplish something that so few people choose to do."

Volunteer program off to good start

By Kathy Greenfield

The 11 volunteer coordinators for Clarkston schools took a break last week when they gathered for lunch on National School Volunteer Day, Nov. 12.

It was a day worth celebrating, for the women oversee 200 classroom volunteers who work in Clarkston schools at all levels, from elementary to high school, said Jeanne Molzon, youth projects coordinator for the school district.

Molzon stresses that a strong volunteer program provides a major contribution to a school district.

"I think it's vital in order to maintain an excellent school system," she said. "It provides students and teachers with enrichment, and with that one-to-one experience so many students need and a general classroom often cannot have."

When Molzon moved to the district in 1978, there were no volunteer programs. She asked to organize one at Clarkston Elementary School and she put her first program together there in 1979.

By 1981, she had joined with fellow Clarkston schools volunteer Barbara Banker to author a manual titled "Volunteers Make a Difference," which was sold to several school districts and is currently used as a guide for the volunteer program here.

Although they are now both employed by Clarkston schools, Banker as community services coordinator, the women continue to believe strongly in the importance of volunteers.

Last year, they were two of the five members of a steering committee that planned the first statewide conference for school volunteers attended by 300 people.

Molzon provides examples of the ways the 200 active volunteers in Clarkston contribute to the schools. In elementary schools, "you'd find them sitting

"We know there are a lot of advantages to the students (and) it really changes people's ideas of what students are like. It's very rewarding for volunteers."

—Jeanne Molzon

in a hallway outside a classroom with a student sitting in a chair next to them, listening to a student read; you'd find them in a computer room; you'd find them using flash cards with a small group of children in a classroom."

In junior highs, they may be working with youngsters who are learning disabled, providing help with assignments from their regular classrooms or helping teachers in shop, drafting or home economics classrooms.

"It's where the teachers don't have enough hands to help students individually," she said.

At the high school, they may be in the office, the library or working with guidance counselors.

Other services provided by the army of workers include running off dittos, decorating bulletin boards or typing.

The volunteer coordinators recruit volunteers within their schools, set up schedules and provide training if necessary.

The push for a coordinated volunteer effort in the schools began last year when the board of education decided to establish the district volunteer coordinator post filled by Molzon.

She provides assistance to the individual coordinators in each building with such items as a handbook, monthly meetings and nametags worn by every volunteer, which say VIPS, for Volunteers in Partnership with our Schools.

"It's really just trying to make the role of volunteers coordinators easier," Molzon said.

Last year, volunteers in the district devoted some 11,000 hours of help. This year, Molzon said she hopes the number grows.

Her next step is a search for additional volunteers from the community who do not have children in school including senior citizens.

In addition to the program helping schools, the volunteers themselves gain several benefits, she said.

For new people in the community, it's a way to meet their neighbors. For others, it's an opportunity to gain some experience with items like computers.

"There's advantages both ways," she said. "We know there are a lot of advantages to the students, (and) it really changes people's ideas of what students are like. It's very rewarding for volunteers."

The volunteer coordinators honored at the luncheon include Karen Helms from Andersonville; Linda Lewis from Bailey Lake; Becky Basinger from Clarkston Elementary; Mary Himburg, Leanne Sexton and Andrea Tappero from Clarkston High School; Katherine Roller from the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center; Pat Nienstedt from Pine Knob; and Theresa Hund and Anna Raymond from Sashabaw Junior High School.

Molzon is looking for a person interested in serving in the volunteer coordinator capacity at North Sashabaw Elementary.

Optimists sponsor speech contest

A speech contest open to all boys and girls under age 16 as of Dec. 31 is being sponsored by the Clarkston Area Optimist Club.

The deadline for entering the contest is Monday, Jan. 12, and an early announcement is being made to allow participants time to work with coaches.

Each contestant will be assigned a coach. The Optimists are working with school officials to provide assistance by such professionals as English teachers.

The official oratorical contest subject is "Promise Yourself." Contestants must speak on the official subject for not less than four minutes and not more than five minutes.

Scoring is based on personal qualities, material organization, delivery and presentation and overall effectiveness.

Trophies will be awarded to first place, second place and runner-up winners in each division. The first-place winner will be eligible for further competition leading to a $1,000 scholarship.

Clarkston area school principals have been given copies of contest rules and entry forms. Completed forms should be returned to the school office.

For further information, call Duane Lewis, principal of Clarkston Junior High School, at 625-5361.

Study meeting spot changes

Due to a scheduling conflict, the location of the citizens' police study group meeting on Nov. 19 has been changed.

The meeting is to be held at 7 p.m. on the third floor of the Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main Street in Clarkston.

Public Safety Chief James Stewart of Huntington Woods is to speak about public safety departments—combined police/fire.

Topics at past meetings have included speakers from the Oakland County Sheriff Department and the state Police Department.

The police committee plans to study the available types of police coverage and make a recommendation to the township board based on the amount of coverage and cost, said chairperson Frank Millard.

CJHS student wins Edison poster contest

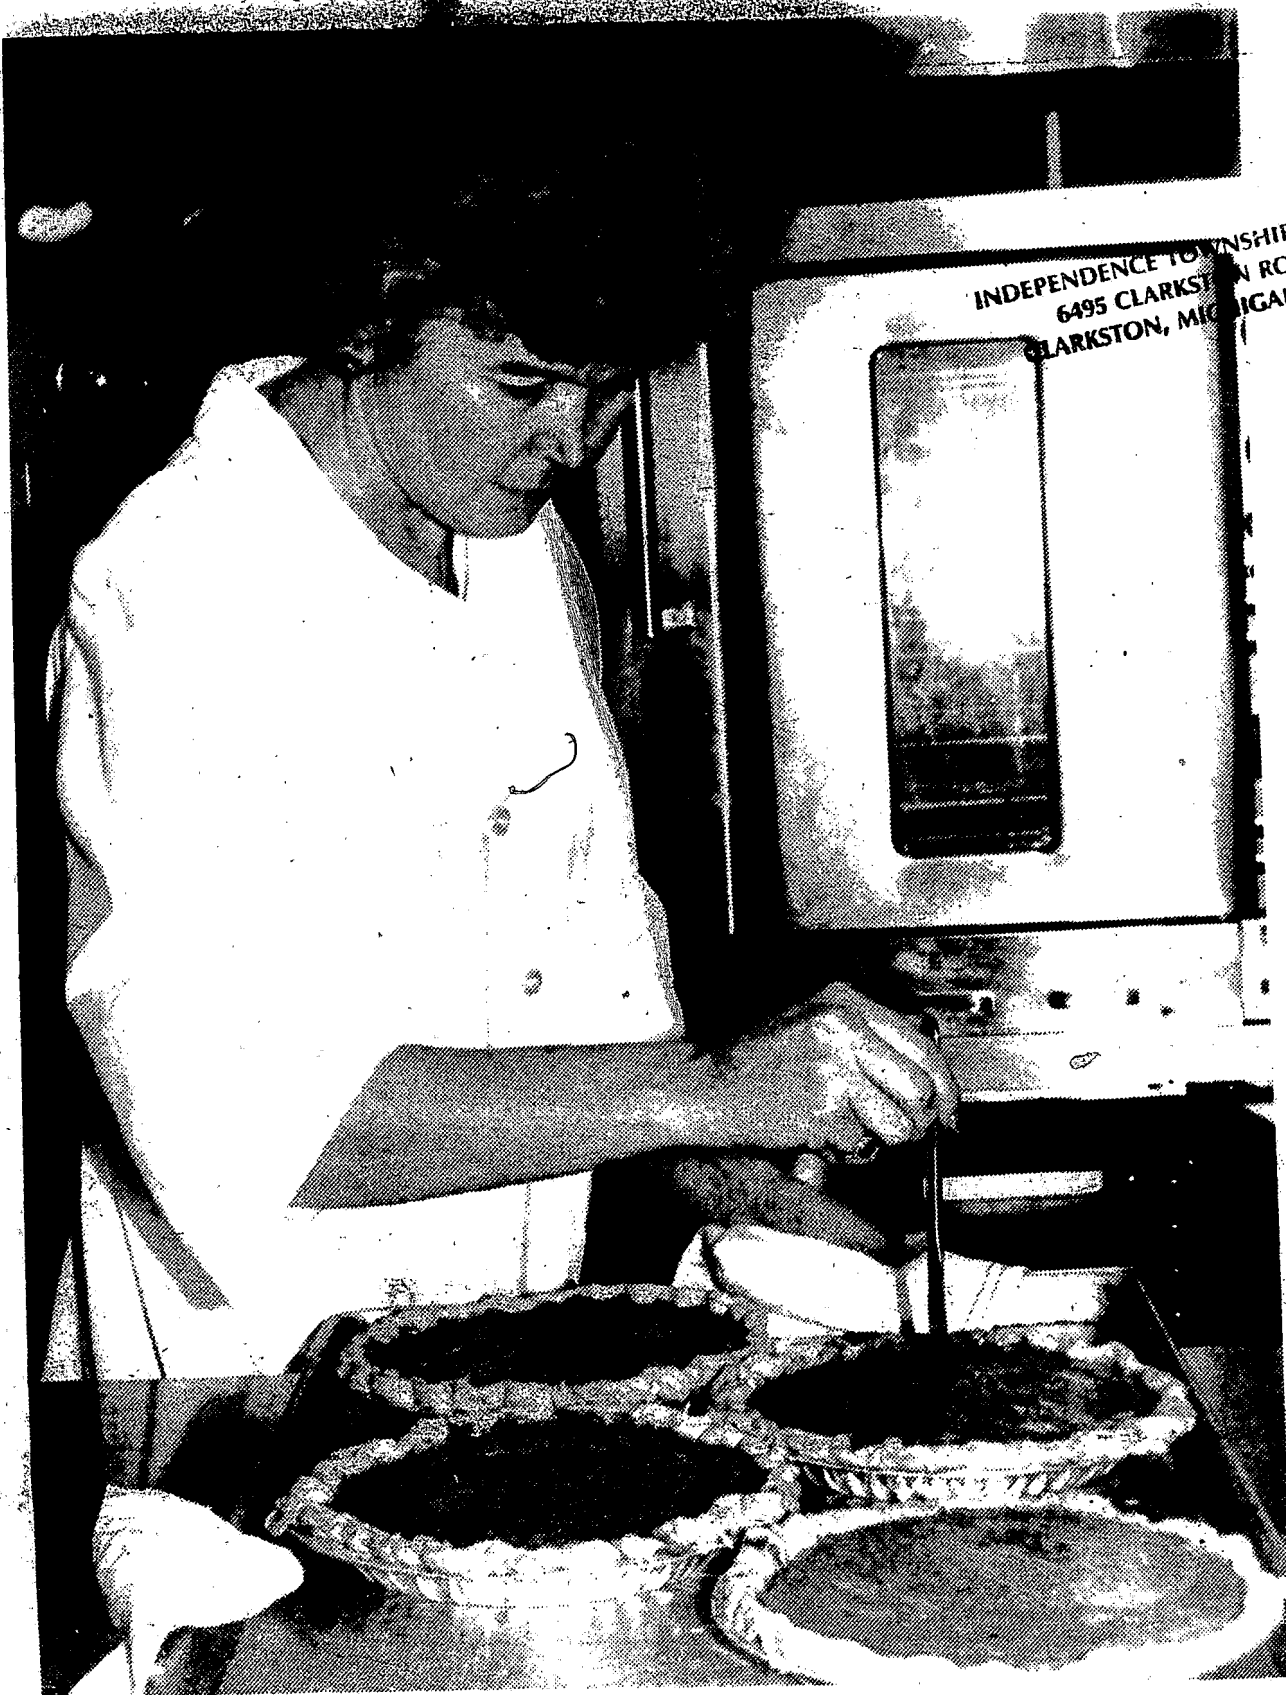

Kari Upham, a Clarkston Junior High School eighth-grader, took first place for her age group in Detroit Edison's 20th annual Play it Safe poster contest.

She'll win a trophy for her comic-strip-style poster, said Sally Lindeman, CJHS art teacher.

Entries in the contest came from all over Edison's coverage area and included about 100 from CJHS alone, said Lindeman.

"She's a very talented young lady," she said. Kari's top award in the eighth-grade division was announced the first week in November.

Her poster is now entered in the overall contest, and if it wins she'll be able to choose a prize from several selections offered by Edison.

It's pumpkin pie time! Checking to see if a special order of pies are finished is Christine Kevern, teacher at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center (NWOVEC). The students plan to prepare pecan, pumpkin, apple and cherry pies to sell at the annual bake sale the Wednesday before Thanksgiving. Also for sale starting at 9 a.m. will be rolls and muffins. The sale will end when all baked goods are sold.

Madrigal Singers learn more than just songs

By Julie Campe

For most of the 16 members of the Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers, it all began in junior high school.

They were in a school assembly, and they heard the "Mads" sing in a special concert just for them.

That was enough. From that point forward, they wanted to belong to the group.

"Ever since I started chorus, I wanted to be in Madrigals because they're the best group," said Kelly DuFree during the sixth hour class a few weeks ago.

"It's like a goal you set for yourself," said Jeff Funck.

To be in the group, they had to audition in front of the current Madrigals Singers and the director, Grayce Warren.

They had to sing a song of their choice, showing the range of their voices. Then, they had to sight read: Sing a piece of music on first sight, without having sung it before. And they had to sing with another person, to see how well they could carry their parts.

Then, if they made it, they had to endure Madrigal initiation.

That meant the new members were slaves of the old. And the old took every opportunity to make them remember it.

For some, it was singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" in front of a non-music class, or wearing a Band-Aid on their noses all day, or serenading a person of the opposite sex.

One had to sing "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning" and one had to sing "I Can't Say No" to a custodian while wearing white boxer shorts covered with hearts.

"Initiation is not meant to hurt anyone," explained Funck. "It's to see how new Mads can laugh at themselves and if they can function well under pressure."

Eventually, the singers did get to work. But some were surprised at the rigors of the class.

"It's a lot different than I thought it would be," said Lori Neff. "There's more hard work than I thought."

"It's not as glamorous as I thought," said Amy Travis.

"It's more than just knowing music; it's feeling natural performing it," said Kevin Baert.

They perform about 40 to 50 times a year, the girls wearing long formal gowns, and the boys tuxedos.

They sing for just about anyone who invites them—nursing homes, hospitals, conferences and conventions, weddings.

They sing mostly madrigals—16th century lyrical music—usually without accompaniment. They also sing popular, religious and holiday songs, as well as Broadway musicals.

Every year they travel to Detroit and sing "The Star-Spangled Banner" at the Tiger game.

This year, they were invited to sing at a state education convention.

Warren, the director of the group for 16 years, is proud of them.

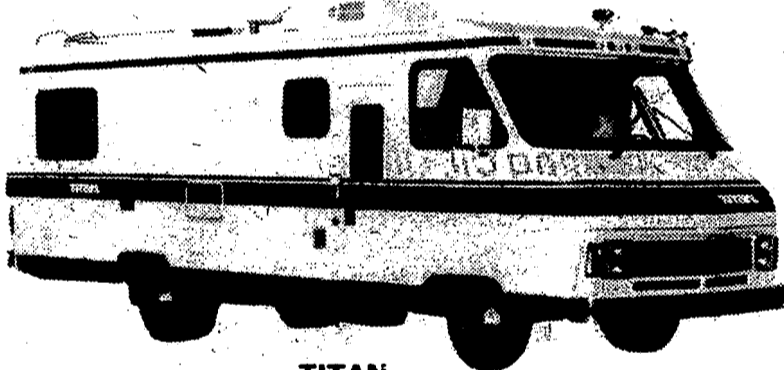

"I enjoy the high standard of teaching and learning that takes place in the class," she said. "The things that they learn are far greater than the music they learn—confidence, pride, poise, dedication."

[See MADRIGALS, Page 27]

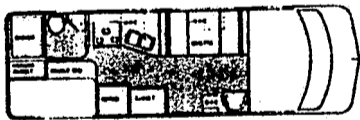

The Madrigal Singers concentrate on learning George Gershwin's opera "Porgy and Bess."

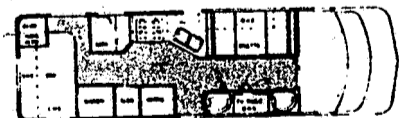

From left, Jeff Funck, Kim Cosner and Steve Edens work on their parts.

Steve Edens is one of the 16 Madrigal Singers. Some of their favorite pieces to perform are "Parting Blessing" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Lori Neff prepares for upcoming concerts during the group's sixth-hour class.

"It's an honor to be in Madrigals," says Amy Travis. Besides the traditional madrigal tunes, she likes to sing "Allen a Dale," a favorite of fellow members as well.

Each year, about 20 students from each of the university's three upper classes are chosen for the honor.

A 1985 graduate of Ottawa Hills High School, Binard is a former Clarkston resident. He is the son of Sally Binard of Toledo, Ohio, and the late Arthur Binard.

Candle factory glows in state gift guide glory

By Pat Young

The Davisburg Candle Factory, well-known in the area for quality candles and the good aromas that waft from open windows on a warm day, has gained even wider recognition in the last two years.

The Davisburg Candle Factory is listed in Michigan Gift Guide II, as it was in the 1985 edition, Michigan Gift Guide I.

The guide is a collection of Michigan-made products published in time for the holiday gift giving season by the Office of Michigan Products Promotion, within the Michigan Department of Commerce.

Former Clarkston resident and Michigan First Lady Paula L. Blanchard serves as special unpaid adviser to the commerce department's director.

In the preface to the guide she states, "We have spent the past year combing the state for unique Michigan-made products. This year's selection—while including updates on many of last year's featured products and companies—includes nearly 75 new items we've learned about."

The Davisburg Candle Factory, with its taper line that dips over 350 candles during a 3½ hour rotation and its own secret method for producing clear and vivid colors, has attracted many visitors in its 20-plus years of existence, even more since the gift guide was published.

New owner of the factory, Mary Tebo, is already seeing the effects of the gift guide this year, and she feels the guide had "a direct influence on business" last year, too.

Tebo purchased the business in June.

"I was living in Oregon and wanted to change professions," she says. "I also wanted to move back to the Clarkston area where my family lives."

Her brother alerted her to the business opportunity, and she "flew out, saw it, and bought it," all in the same weekend.

"I think the quality of the candles is what really sold me," she says. "I don't want to mass produce or get too big to lose that quality."

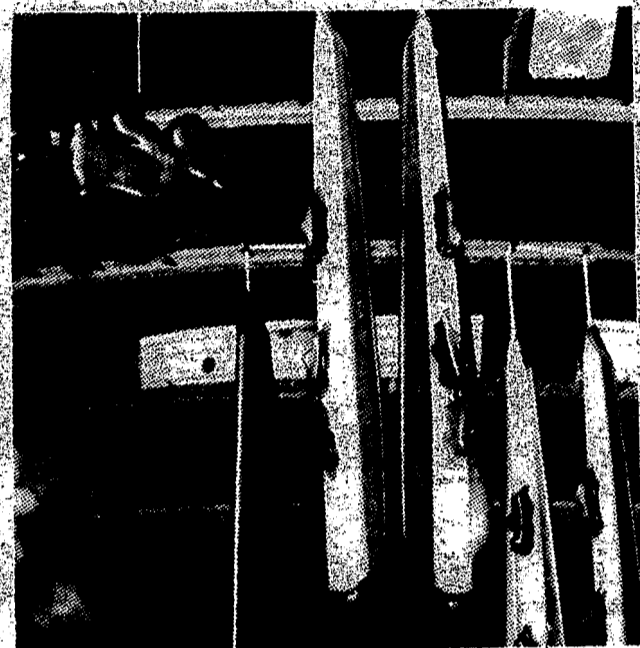

She also has high praise for her four year-round workers. June Hutchinson is a master candle maker who worked there 20 years ago with the original owner, Charlie Going. Nancy Townson is a candle decorator and Nancy Miller works the molding and taper line. Bob Carter individually creates all the saucer candles with a special compression machine in [See CANDLE, Page 32]

Mary Tebo, owner of the Davisburg Candle Factory, dips candles in one of many custom colors created in the shop.

"I think the quality of the candles is what really sold me," says new owner Mary Tebo. "I don't want to mass produce or get too big to lose that quality."

Christmas candles hang to dry after completion. Candlemakers at the Davisburg Candle Factory have been busy stocking up for the holiday season.

Home makers the country over are reducing energy costs as much as 30 per cent by replacing wornout, drafty, and unsightly windows with Poly-Tex Rigid Vinyl Windows.

In fuel savings alone they are finding that Poly-Tex windows can pay for themselves in a relatively short time.

Superior to others. Better than windows made of wood, metal, or combinations of materials, Poly-Tex windows are extruded from a special formula, rigid vinyl (PVC) that offers outstanding insulating properties, exceptional strength, durability, and freedom from maintenance. Rigid vinyl will not conduct heat or cold, will withstand extreme temperatures and high velocity winds, while remaining free of condensation and frost.

Unlike other windows which can pit, scratch, mar, rot, conduct heat and cold, and absorb moisture, Poly-Tex windows will retain their gleaming white appearance and never require painting or refinishing.

Candle factory

the basement

This machine and the taper line are both "Charlie inventions," Tebo says.

After making a basic candle from high-quality paraffin wax which burns slowly (one inch an hour), the hand-cut decorations are individually attached to the candle and the finished product dipped in a sealing coat of wax.

This final coat is a different mix of wax which burns more slowly; thus, all the candles are dripless.

Saucer balls are given a special "high glaze" and tapers may be dipped to custom colors. The factory also specializes in custom orders—matching tapers to the design on dishes or wallpaper, for instance, and special wedding or anniversary orders.

"We can do almost anything, if given three weeks," says Tebo.

Extra workers have been added to help with the holiday rush at the candle factory, which also ships wholesale around the country and has a shop in Frankenmuth.

Fall displays have given way to smiling Santas, Christmas mice and shelves of Christmas candles in every imaginable color and scent.

Months ago, Tebo received notice of Michigan Gift Guide II and immediately sent in samples of this year's work to the photographer. Again, the factory was included in the booklet.

"I think the gift guide is a really neat idea," says the new owner and newly returned resident of Independence Township.

The Gift Guide II, which features nearly 200 Michigan companies, is available free of charge. Call toll-free 1-800-MI-PRODS or write: Office of Michigan Products Promotion, Michigan Dept. of Commerce, P.O. Box 30004, Lansing, MI 48909.

Incredible edibles

Tempting turkey casseroles

Sliced turkey fresh from the oven is wonderful. But, as the week after Thanksgiving rolls on, turkey can become downright boring.

Recipes for turkey casseroles that will keep on tempting tastebuds were gleaned from the "Incredible Edibles" cookbook published by the Clarkston Community Women's Club.

Turkey Tetrazzini was submitted by Angel Haven of Clarkston. Turkey Divan is from the kitchen of Barbara Wright of Southfield.

TURKEY TETRAZZINI

1 8-ounce package linguini or spaghetti
Butter or margarine
1 small onion, diced
¼ cup all-purpose flour
2½ cups milk
1 2½-ounce jar sliced mushrooms
1 chicken flavor bouillon cube or envelope
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cracked pepper
4 slices white bread
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 cups cubed cooked turkey or chicken

1. In a 6-quart saucepot, cook linguini as label directs; drain. Return linguini to saucepot; keep warm.

2. Meanwhile, in 2 quart saucepan over medium heat in 3 tablespoons hot butter or margarine, cook onion until tender, stirring occasionally. Stir in flour until blended. Gradually stir in milk, mushrooms with their liquid, bouillon, salt and pepper; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is slightly thickened. Remove saucepan from heat; stir in cheese.

3. Tear bread into small pieces to make 2 cups coarse bread crumbs. In small saucepan over low heat, melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine; remove from heat; stir in bread crumbs; set aside.

4. To linguini in saucepot, add sauce mixture and turkey; gently toss to mix well. Spoon mixture into 12-by-8-inch baking dish. Top with bread crumbs. Bake in 350 degree oven 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

TURKEY DIVAN

1 10-ounce frozen broccoli
10 slices turkey (or chicken)
1 can cream of celery soup
¼ cup milk
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese
Dash paprika

Partially cook broccoli; drain. Place broccoli in 1 quart casserole; cover with turkey slices. Mix together soup and milk. Stir in cheeses. Pour over turkey. Sprinkle with paprika. Cover. Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 to 45 minutes until hot.

Proceeds from the sale of "Incredible Edibles" cookbooks are used on community service projects. The $6 books are available at the Independence Township Library, Village Book Store, Carol's Village Grill, Gayanne's Floral Concept and Pontiac State Bank's downtown Clarkston branch.

Lakes DAR winner boasts myriad of activities

By Julie Campe

Jodi Trzcinski, winner of this year's DAR Award at Our Lady of the Lakes High School, seems perfectly suited to her goal of being a pediatrician.

"That's what I've wanted to do since fifth grade," says the Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes High School senior.

"I love kids. I like to work with people. And medicine, just the thought of it really interests me—the way the human body works."

Her favorite class is math, which should prove useful in her career.

"It's always been interesting for me just to see how things work out. It just comes easy to me."

Jodi lives on Newcastle Road, Orion Township with her parents Jerry and Judy. She has a Clarkston mailing address.

She's active in many activities in high school, but most of all, she just likes to help people, she says.

"I've always liked to do things to help other people. I don't feel it's a job. I feel it's more of a learning experience."

Her attitude is part of the reason Jodi is the winner of the Good Citizen Award from the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), Sashabaw Plains Chapter.

"I was shocked when (principal) Mr. Uberti told me," says Jodi. "I guess I felt privileged. . . . It made me feel really good."

The award is given by the teachers and administrators and is based on service and scholarship, says Carl Uberti.

Jodi has a 4.0 grade point average and has been involved in many extra-curricular activities:

- 9th grade: varsity softball.
- 10th grade: vice president of class, National Honor Society, varsity softball, junior varsity cheerleader.

• 11th grade: student council vice president, National Honor Society, varsity cheerleader, varsity softball, second team state softball, Prep Bowl Scholastic All Catholic Award, multiple speech contest award, student council award.

• 12th grade: student council vice president, captain varsity cheerleader, National Honor Society, French club, Prep Bowl Scholastic All Catholic Award, homecoming court.

"Jodi is a very worthy recipient," says Uberti. "We're proud of her. She's a worthy representative of the school."

Jodi hasn't decided on a college yet, but she plans to apply to Notre Dame, she says. In the meantime, she's going to enjoy high school.

"School is, right now, the center of my life," says Jodi. "I do a lot with my family, too. I love to go on vacation. We go up north all the time. I love nature, too. It's something that's always amazed me."

Jodi Trzcinski is the winner of the Sashabaw Plains Chapter DAR Award at Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes High School. She plans to study medicine and to become a pediatrician.

Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education Regular Meeting - Nov. 10, 1986 Synopsis

1. Approved minutes of the October 13 regular meeting and October 27 special meeting as submitted.
2. Approved expenditures in the amount of $2,731,091.81.
3. Presented the employee recognition award to Marjorie Dever, a counselor at Clarkston Junior High.
4. Mr. George White presented the SCAMP funding reimbursement check in the amount of $51,401.20.
5. Received a report from junior high administrators Duane Lewis and Dave Reschke regarding moving sixth grade to junior high and initiating a middle school concept. To help the crowded conditions at the elementary schools a temporary grade organization would be 6-9, with the long-term recommendation being grades 6-8.

Many concerns expressed by members of the audience had already been addressed by the Board through many discussions and meetings they have had over the past nine months.

After receiving the 6-9 grade organization report the Board asked Mr. Lewis and Mr. Reschke to study the concept of housing grades 6-7 at Sashabaw Junior and 8-9 at Clarkston Junior and report at the December meeting. (It has already been determined that it will not work to house 6-7 at Clarkston and 8-9 at Sashabaw.)

The Board also asked the elementary principals to study and report back at the December meeting what the impact would be to their building if it remained a K-6 organization.

6. Due to the amount of time spent on the sixth grade issue, the staff development report will be presented at the next regular meeting.

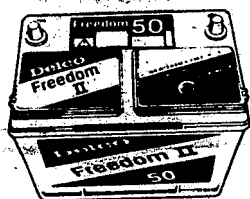

7. The meeting adjourned to executive session at 10:15 p.m. to discuss employee negotiations.

The meeting reconvened for official adjournment at 12:10 a.m.

New CHS club to fight drug abuse

By Kathy Greenfield

You don't have to drink alcoholic beverages and take drugs to have fun, says Kelly Saunders, a Clarkston High School junior who learned that lesson the hard way.

Kelly is the organizer behind a new club for CHS

"I see so many people out there who are hurting. I just try to do everything I can to help."

—Kelly Saunders

students called F.A.C.T., an acronym for Fighting Alcohol and Chemicals Together. Its sponsors are CHS teacher Katie MacKay and the CHS Student Council.

The first meeting of F.A.C.T. is planned Tuesday, Nov. 25, at 2:30 p.m. in Room 232 at CHS.

The club's purpose is to increase student awareness about substance use and misuse, to promote positive attitudes against drugs and alcohol and to provide healthy ways of having fun as alternatives to drug use.

"Since it's such a problem we have in our community and everywhere else, I thought it would be a good thing for people to get into," Kelly says. "There should be a program even for students who don't have a problem with it."

Kelly's first-hand experience with a substance abuse problem began when she was a seventh-grader at Clarkston Junior High School.

"It really progressed bad," she says, and by the time she was a 10th-grader she was drinking and taking cocaine. With the help of her parents, who intervened, she went through a residential treatment program.

"I've been sober a little over a year right now," she says. "This isn't unrealistic about me. This is what a lot of kids go through. Now I've changed so much. I have so many goals."

"I see so many people out there who are hurting. I just try to do everything I can to help."

Kelly has shared her experiences by speaking at meetings in several communities.

She is the student representative on the Clarkston Area Chemical People committee, an organization devoted to the prevention of substance abuse among the community's young people, and she is the student representative for the CHS S.E.A.R.C.H. program, which offers classes and workshops for dealing with substance abuse.

She is also a member of the CHS Student Council and she just started a part-time job at a doctor's office.

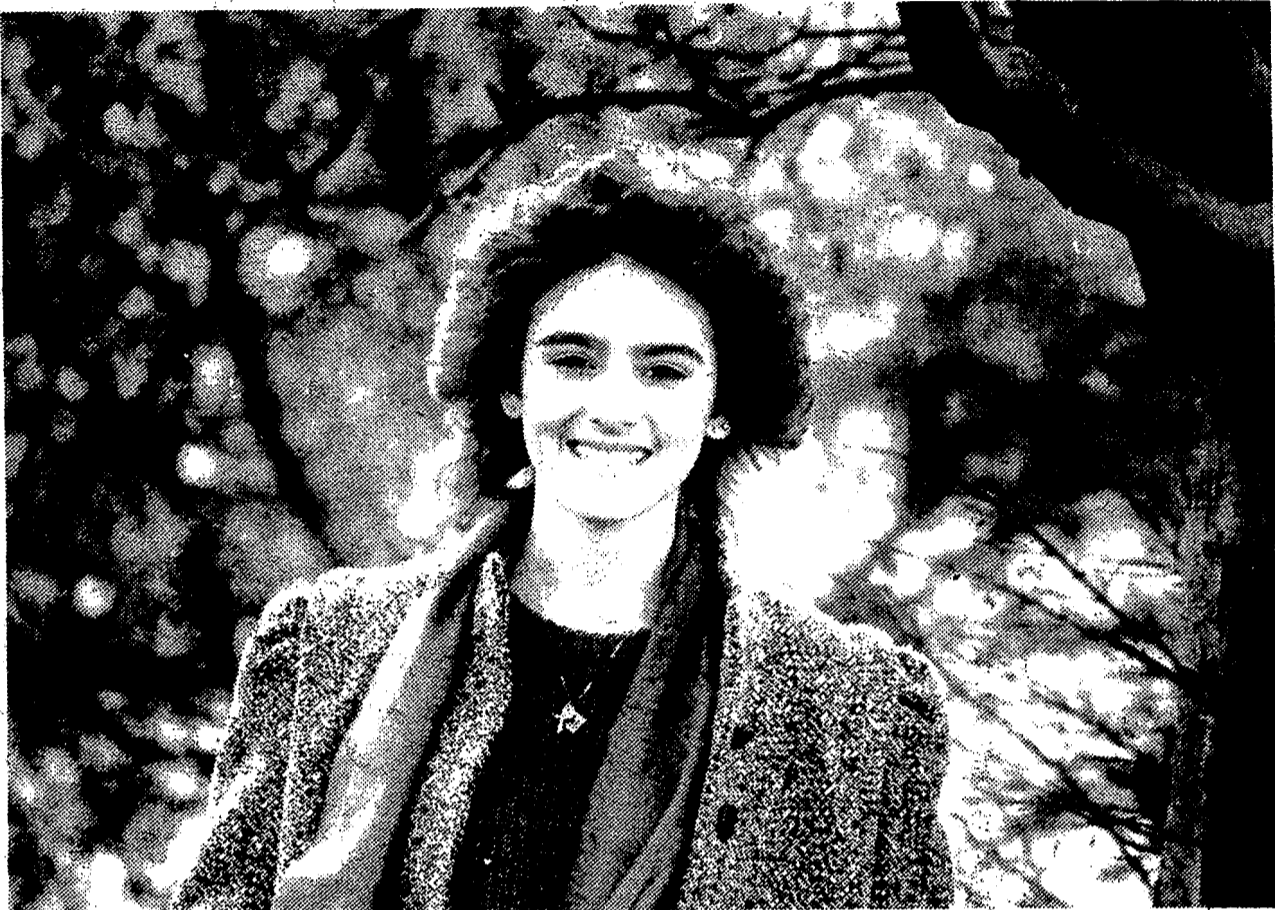

As Kelly has shared her experiences, she has found herself in the role of adviser to fellow students.

"A lot of people (with substance abuse problems) come to me and ask me questions: 'What do I do?' People write notes, . . . people who want to know about treatment," she says.

One of Kelly's goals with F.A.C.T. is to present information and activities that will help others so they will never have to go through what she has experienced.

"I just don't like people hurting. A lot of times people think it's all fun and games—it sure gets you there," she says. "I know a lot of people who have gotten nothing but trouble out of it. If we could keep that from happening . . ."

She would like club members to create skits to perform at elementary and junior high schools, to promote the idea of "Don't Use Drugs" with posters at CHS, to hold fund raisers to pay for speakers at CHS on such topics as drinking and driving and self-image, to arrange field trips promoting chemically free fun, to sponsor chemically free dances, and to support other community and school efforts.

One of the messages Kelly Saunders wants to see promoted by fellow members of F.A.C.T. at CHS is this: "Not everyone uses drugs. It is OK to say no to drugs."

But perhaps the key goal is to "create an atmosphere where there are more students not using alcohol/drugs" than students using them.

Before F.A.C.T.'s first meeting, Kelly plans to distribute 1,000 flyers that include this message:

"Are you concerned about all of the drug and alcohol usage among your peers?"

"Do you worry that it seems as though you have to drink at parties, dances or football games to be accepted?"

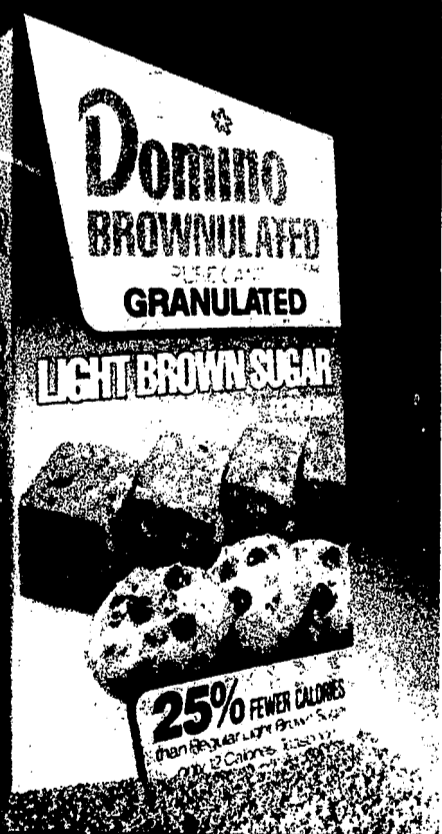

"Do you want to make a difference to promote a healthier environment?"

"Then join F.A.C.T., a new club which stands for Fighting Alcohol and Chemicals Together."

Septic system adds to cost

Independence Township Fire station No. 2 is to receive a new septic system.

The township board approved, 6-0, the lowest of four bids, $5,360, from Shorby's Sanitary Service of Pontiac.

"This is one of the crappiest bids I've seen," quipped Trustee William Vandermark at the Nov. 10 meeting.

The station on Sashabaw and Clarkston roads has needed the new system since summer, said Fire Chief Dale Bailey.

In October, the board approved building a new $531,000 fire station at the site to replace the current building. The construction of the septic system will coincide with the building of the new station, which has already begun.

Cable quest to begin

Cable television for Springfield Township? The township board decided at the Nov. 12 board meeting to look into the possibility.

Township Supervisor Collin Walls said they have had several requests and inquiries from residents about cable.

He also said there is some indication United Cable might be interested, because the firm services Independence Township and one Clarkston school within Springfield Township.

"We will begin investigating the cable possibilities," Walls said.

Call for firefighters

More volunteer firefighters are needed in Springfield Township, according to Fire Chief Marlan Hillman.

"I guess the 300 hours of training kind knocks the edge off the enthusiasm," he said.

Springfield firefighters are paid according to four different classifications, from $5 an hour for trainee to $10 an hour for those who have reached the highest training level.

Pay is per hour, with a minimum of one hour per fire call.

Springfield Township residents interested in serving as volunteer firefighters may contact the fire chief or call Springfield Township Hall at 625-4802 or 634-3111.

How many people use cocaine all the time?

Dear Cat Paw:

I need some advice. I know I have a problem with drinks at parties. Maybe I even have an alcohol problem—I don't know. I may even be an alcoholic, although I don't sleep in streets or any of that stuff that alcoholics do. What should I do? I sure can't tell anyone.

Help Me

Dear Help Me:

You have two choices. You can cling to your denial and be destroyed by your disease or you can accept the fact that you have a disease and get some help.

Alcoholics Anonymous is always there to help you. Please attend a meeting this week.

You will learn, among other things, that most alcoholics don't sleep in streets and that you can talk about your problems to others.

Dear Cat Paw:

How many people use cocaine all the time?

Curious

Dear Curious:

According to the Newsweek poll of August 1986, there are 5 million regular cocaine users and 20 to 24 million people have tried it.

Dear Cat Paw:

My husband uses cocaine and it's destroying our marriage. He won't listen to me and he won't stop. What can I do?

Worried Wife

Dear Worried Wife:

Talk to your husband about how his drug use is making you feel instead of what he's doing.

Understand, first of all, that you have options. There may be very little you can get your husband to do at this point, but you can take charge of your own life.

Your husband can solve his drug problem for himself when he is ready. You can only support him, but he has to take the steps.

Join a support group in your area and meet wives and husbands in similar situations. Stop being a victim and start living!

Dear Cat Paw:

Someone tried to give me some THC. What is this stuff?

Student

Dear Student:

THC as a drug form is a white crystalline substance converted from hashish oil. It is twice as potent as the hashish oil, extremely rare and very expensive.

More often than not, it is actually another substance like LSD or PCP that has been misrepresented.

Cat Paw author Jeanette Sanders, a Springfield Township resident, is a state certified substance abuse counselor and a member of the Clarkston Area Chemical People, an organization devoted to the prevention of substance abuse among the community's young people.

Springfield planning board spots filled

Two seats, vacant since October, on the Springfield Township Planning Commission have been filled.

Don Holmes, a resident of Dixie Lake, and LeAnn Oliver of Woodland Trail were recommended for the positions by Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls.

The seats were vacated by the resignations of Steve Secatch and Barry Byrne in October.

In the same motion, the board unanimously approved the reappointment of planning commission members David Field of Ormond Road, Joe Gorka of Woodland Trail and Zona Sommers of Clark Road.

The board originally defeated a motion that would have replaced Sommers with Dennis Vallad, as recommended by Walls.

During discussion, Patricia Kramer said that since Sommers had been sitting on the board, she should be asked to return.

After the motion was defeated, Walls said he did not feel strongly enough about the replacement to make it an issue and he recommended Sommers' reappointment.

Marge Reuter of the Springfield Estates Mobil Home Park and township Trustee Glen Vermilye, whose terms were not expired, will also continue to serve on the planning commission.

Food for the needy

Needy families can receive food this Christmas by contacting Hamady Brothers Food Stores.

To receive food, send a card with the needy family's address to Operation Christmas, P.O. Box 28, Flint, MI.

The program has fed 30,000 families a year since 1981, said store owner Alex Dandy.

Students write of putting out fires

After putting out fires in a 55-gallon drum, the 24 students returned to the classroom and took out their pens and pencils.

The assignment for the ninth-graders enrolled in the handcrafts class at Sashabaw Junior High School was to write an article on the experience suitable for a newspaper, said their teacher Tom O'Brien.

Samples of their work follow:

By Stacey Jaronecki

Today was just another ordinary day at Sashabaw Junior High until I got to Handcrafts.

Mr. O'Brien told us we were going to have a demonstration on fire extinguishers—how to use them and what they were used for. So I assumed this was going to be boring, but it wasn't.

Capt. Ashley of Independence Township Fire Department gave a very interesting talk on fire extinguishers. He told us what kind of fire extinguishers to use for different types of fires and how to hold them.

Later, we got to try them out for ourselves. When I finally got my chance at putting out the fire (in the barrel), I used all the stuff Capt. Ashley had given us and used the P.A.S.S. system.

P.A.S.S. stands for P—pull the pin, A—aim, S—squeeze the extinguisher, S—and use sweeping strokes.

I followed this to the best of my ability and had the fire out in a matter of seconds.

By Wally Wyndemko

On Oct. 21, our Sashabaw Junior High fourth-hour Handcrafts had Mr. Ashley and Engineer Johnson demonstrate how to use a fire extinguisher.

They had many different kinds of extinguishers and, by filling a half barrel with water and gasoline, anyone who wanted to had a chance to put out the fire on their own.

Mr. Ashley also warned us of important dos and don'ts such as never put water on an electrical fire and never put flour on any fire, because flour is an explosive and would blow up like dynamite.

In the end, it was a learning experience that was pretty cool.

By Sheri Smith

On Tuesday morning, Oct. 21, Mr. O'Brien's fourth-hour Handcrafts class gathered around to watch the firefighters in action.

Capt. Ashley and his assistant D. Johnson gave a demonstration on how to use fire extinguishers.

They talked about which extinguishers to use on which fires and said they should be refilled after every use or they could leak gas.

Some students had the chance to put out the fire that was lit in an oil drum. Some said it wasn't as hard as they thought it would be.

There are some extinguishers that are dangerous. They could leak gas and explode. You should have them checked every few years.

By Stacey Hovanec

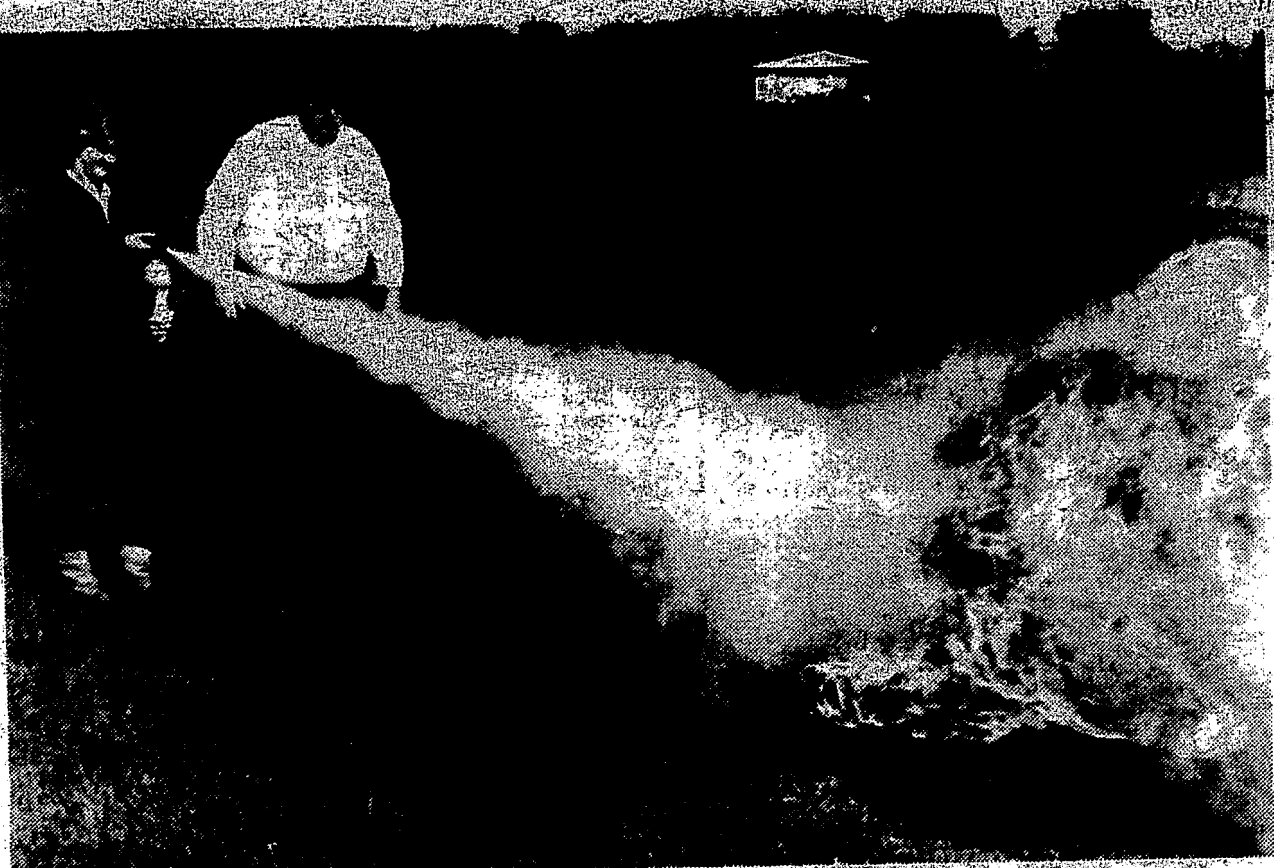

On Thursday, Oct. 21, our Handcrafts class went to a demonstration on fire extinguishers. I thought it would be boring, but it wasn't.

Capt. Ashley and his assistant, engineer Dave Johnson, were ready to demonstrate the fire extinguishers.

First, Capt. Ashley told us about the different kinds of extinguishers to use on the different kinds of fires. He demonstrated for us how to use one of the fire extinguishers.

Then we got a chance to use the extinguishers ourselves to put out a gasoline fire, which he had set inside a barrel. It was scary at first, then it wasn't so bad.

We learned a lot and I'm glad we had the chance to use a fire extinguisher.

Capt. Neil Ashley of the Independence Township Fire Department watches as ninth-grader Barb Caster gains practical experience in using an extinguisher on a gasoline fire.

PRAYER to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit you who make me see everything and who show me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you, no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after the third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this prayer as soon as your favor has been granted. Wish granted. ILLX45-4

An argument over loud music leads to the decision to leave home by one runaway, played by Jennifer Johnston. In the next scene, she's hitchhiking along a busy road.

Michelle Dorman plays a college student working toward a degree in social work.

In this scene, Kenlea Pebbles plays the role of a runaway during a group session.

'Runaways'

"Runaways," a play by Jay Christopher, appears on stage at the Clarkston High School Little Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21 and 22, at 8 p.m. Tickets are $2.50 and they may be purchased at the door or reserved by calling CHS at 625-0900. The play, presented by the

CHS Drama Club, revolves around a Runaway House for young people. It deals with the anguish of two social workers as they try to communicate with the teens and the stories of the runaways themselves. Among cast members gathered for a portrait are Jennifer Kar, Jeff Moore, Marie Powell, Carrie Slade, Kenlea Pebbles, Vicki Chenoweth, Lori Neff, Michelle Dorman, Romy Tappero, Joe Gentile, Jennifer Johnston, Laura Manser, Allan Watson and Ron Rizk.
