Free no more: Fees set for Spring Cleanup

By Julie Campe

A fee is to be charged for dumping trash during Spring Cleanup this year to make up for the loss of Federal Revenue Sharing (FRS) funds to Independence Township.

Also, several materials will not be allowed to be dumped because they're too expensive to dispose of, said George Anderson, director of the township department of public works.

Fuel oil drums, barrels, propane cylinders, automobiles or vehicles of any kind and chemicals of any kind will not be allowed this year, he said.

The program, previously funded in full by FRS, will be paid for with $25,000 appropriated in the budget and an estimated $25,000 in fees from residents who dump trash.

At the Feb. 3 meeting, the board unanimously approved the fees set by Anderson.

"Charging a fee is preferable to no cleanup at all," said Trustee Daniel Travis.

About 2,400 loads were dumped by residents at the site last year, said Anderson. It cost about $20 per load or $49,500 total to haul and dump the trash last year.

Included in the cost is about $4 per tire, he said. To cut costs, he suggested also disallowing the dumping of tires, but some of the board members objected.

"One of the main reasons we do this is to clean up the roads," said Trustee Dale Stuart. "I'd just as

McElmeel new building head

After five months of operating without a building department director, the Independence Township Board hired Beverly McElmeel, interim director since September.

With no discussion, the appointment was unanimously approved Feb. 3, the day after the board conducted interviews for the position. Over 35 people applied for the job.

A round of applause from the board members and audience followed the vote.

"It's a pleasure working for you," said McElmeel.

"This is getting to be a somewhat progressive board," quipped Trustee Carol Balzarini, commenting that McElmeel is the first female department head.

Seven of the township's eight department heads are male.

After the meeting, Supervisor Frank Ronk said he was happy with McElmeel's work.

"I feel she'll make a good building director because she's been involved in the department for a number of years," he said. "I think her caliber of person can handle the job."

"She gets along well with people. She's not overpowered by the large amount of building in the area. . . . Past performance, as far as I was concerned, played an important part in the decision to appoint her."

The title was official Feb. 4, and McElmeel's salary of $35,500 is in line with the other department heads, said Clerk Richard Holman at the meeting.

Bank closed indefinitely

By Julie Campe

Customers and employees of Pontiac State Bank (PSB) on Main Street, Clarkston, were met with a lot of unknowns in the past week.

As of Tuesday morning, nobody knew the extent of the damage from the bank ceiling that collapsed Feb. 3.

They don't know the cost and they don't know how long the bank will be closed, said William Belaney, executive vice president of PSB.

They do know the cause of the collapse—fatigue, according to the engineers, said Belaney.

"I guess buildings get fatigue, too, when they get old," he said.

The 70-year-old building held "too much weight for too long," he said.

PSB has opened a temporary office in the Clarkston Mills Mall, behind the bank, and the office can handle limited cash transactions, he said. Or customers may use the automatic teller machine in front of the bank, he added.

"Those who don't have 24-hour Bank Now cards will get top priority if they want one," he said.

To reach a safety deposit box, Belaney said to contact someone in the temporary office.

The temporary office is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday.

Also, extra employees have been added to the other two Independence Township PSB locations: on Sashabaw Road and at Maybee Road and Dixie Highway, he said.

Village doesn't sign contract

By Julie Campe

The Clarkston Village Council decided Monday not to sign the police contract with Independence Township to double police coverage.

The council took no action at the Feb. 9 meeting, so the village continues with the current contract for access to one Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) deputy. The village pays about $14,000 a year for the coverage.

The new contract called for about $35,000 per year and access to two deputies.

At the meeting, the council members said they would consider hiring part-time deputies for traffic control or extending the authority of the part-time village marshal instead of paying extra for sheriff's deputies.

Several of the council members expressed their views during the 15-minute discussion.

The village population hasn't increased, nor have their calls, said Trustee William Basinger.

"I just can't see paying 150 percent more, and we just don't need it," he said.

Trustee Frank Millard agreed "as long as we can count on them to answer our calls, and in an emergency they come," he said.

According to township Supervisor Frank Ronk, only one car would be assigned to the village, and if it were busy, the village call would have to wait, said

President Sharron Catallo.

That's the way it is now, said Basinger, adding he didn't have any reason to change.

Millard said he'd talk to the sheriff's department about contracting for permanent part-time traffic control.

"If we decide later to give the (township) more money, I'm sure they'd be happy to accept it," he said.

After the meeting, Ronk said he wasn't sure how the village's decision would affect the township, and the board would talk about it after they received official notice.

"I just feel it would be so much better if everybody paid the millage, and everybody in the township and village were one happy family," he said. "But if that's not the way they want it, we'll just go in the other direction."

"That's kind of like one of our subdivisions saying we don't want to participate," he said. "We have to look at the whole township. We have to be fair with everybody. Either you have it or you don't."

"There's a possibility that we would just provide one car, and wherever that car was, they'd have to wait for that one car. But it wouldn't work out that way. If there were an emergency, a fire on Main Street or something, both cars would be in the village."

You can't have the best of two worlds. You can't short the township."

The township contracts for police coverage from the OCSD, and the village contracts with the township for the same coverage, he said.

Last fall, township voters approved an extra 1.5 mills for the police fund. Since village residents didn't vote on the issue, the proposed village contract called for an amount equal to the extra 1.5 mills to double the police coverage.

The village pays for police protection out of its general fund. The majority of general fund revenue comes from taxes paid only by village residents.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

McCormick back in town

Forget about "Cats," the hottest ticket for Clarkston residents should be for the Detroit-Philadelphia basketball game this Saturday night at the Silverdome.

The Sixers always draw well, but Clarkston will have a special rooting interest as one of its favorite sons, Tim McCormick, returns home.

Actually, McCormick just left town this past Sunday after visiting his family for a few days. He'll be able to spend some more time with them this weekend and, of course, they'll be at the game.

"A lot of people say they're going," said Tim's dad, Tom, who watches every Sixer game on satellite. "The whole family's going, plus a lot of friends."

It will be McCormick's first appearance at the Dome in a Philadelphia uniform. He was traded there from Seattle just before the season started.

"He loves it," said Tom McCormick. "He says it's a great place to live and a great place to play."

McCormick got a chance to start at center for the Sixers when Jeff Ruland went down with an injury and he's performed well.

The team has suffered numerous injuries, but compiled a 28-19 record at the All-Star game break, 6½ games behind Boston in the Atlantic Division.

McCormick's one of the reasons Philadelphia has remained close. He's the only Sixer to play in every game and he's among the league leaders in field goal percentage.

Since the Silverdome seats so many fans, it shouldn't be as difficult to get a ticket as it may be for a "Cats" performance at Birmingham Theatre.

But any McCormick fans who happen to miss Saturday's game will get another chance March 14 when Philadelphia is back in town.

Correction

An incorrect date was published last week for the "Town Hall" meeting in Clarkston by the Oakland County Mental Health Division.

The meeting is planned Thursday, Feb. 19, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main.

The program includes a brief presentation about county mental health programs plus time for questions and answers.

48.8% support new high school

Majority grade schools A or B

By Kathy Greenfield

Residents bestowed honors on Clarkston Community Schools when 70.9 percent of the 396 people called Jan. 28 in a random telephone survey rated the district with a grade of A or B.

In addition, a majority (61.7 percent) of the residents expressed willingness to support a bond issue for repairs to existing school buildings and 48.8 percent said they would support a bond issue for a new high school.

"I'm pleased," said George White, chairperson of the survey committee and principal of Pine Knob Elementary School, about the survey results.

The telephone poll, conducted by 45 volunteers, was "an effort to get some feedback" about the residents' opinions, White said.

The results have allowed him to be "cautiously optimistic," he said, because while the 48.8 percent supporting a new high school was not a majority, an additional 23.7 percent said they were undecided.

"It provides us with an opportunity to potentially build a new high school," he said.

Those who voiced support for a new high school were then asked if the building should include an auditorium and swimming pool, and the "yes" reply by 80.8 percent was significant, according to White.

He called it "a reflection of the quality of life that

"It provides us with an opportunity to potentially build a new high school."

—George White

people living in Clarkston expect."

White deemed one response "a pleasant surprise," that 51 percent said they were aware that recent studies of the district's school buildings show a need for major repairs.

He also pointed out the response to "Where do you get most of your information about Clarkston schools?"

"Another thing that (the survey) shows us is the importance of our local newspaper, namely The Clarkston News, in reaching a special readership, because we found 22 percent of those surveyed received most of their information from The Clarkston News," he said.

Statistically, the 396 responses should reflect the opinions of the district's population of about 21,000, White said.

The accuracy is reflected in a comparison between responses from a survey done by the district four years ago, he said.

If four years are added to the responses to "How long have you lived in the Clarkston school district?" on the old survey, the changes are reflected in this year's replies, he said.

White also compared the grade A through E ratings in the two surveys, calling the most recent results "very consistent if not a little higher than what we had four years ago."

The 45 people, mostly parents, who volunteered to make the telephone calls gathered Jan. 28 for a meeting at the district's administration office, left to make their calls from school buildings or homes, and met afterward at the office to submit the responses.

As a reward, a meat and cheese tray was provided by the district at the final meeting, White said.

"They came out of it overall quite positive, excited about it. Most of them had fun doing it," he said. "They found the people they called to be very cooperative for the most part."

White made a report on the survey results at the Feb. 9 board of education meeting.

The board scheduled a special study session to discuss the results on Monday, Feb. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the administration office on Clarkston Road.

Clarkston Schools Community Survey

Hello, this is _____ I'm a volunteer calling for the Clarkston Community Schools.

We're conducting a telephone survey to find out what people think about the public schools in Clarkston. We'll be calling almost 400 randomly selected citizens during this study, and would like just a few minutes of your time for some important questions.

(Note: The tallies reflect the direct responses to the questions. The 396 people called were not given a list of possible answers to choose from.)

1. First, how many years have you lived in the Clarkston school district?

- Less than one year—3.3%
- 1-3 years—10.2%
- 4-6 years—10.2%
- 7-10 years—21.1%
- 11-15 years—16.3%
- 16 or more years—39.4%

2. Do you have any children of school age or younger?

- Yes—54.5%
- No—45.5%

3. Do your children attend public schools or private schools?

- Public—80.8%
- Private/parochial—8.9%

2 face robbery charge

A Pontiac man and woman were arrested Feb. 4 and charged with armed robbery for the holdup of a Clark Gas Station in Independence Township, said Lt. Glenn Watson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Robert Oren Cole, 26, and Kay Annette Voorhies, 24, are each being held in Oakland County Jail on $125,000 cash bonds.

The station, at 4951 Sashabaw Rd., was robbed of $67 Jan. 30.

Chase ends in death

A car chase that went through Independence Township last Thursday night ended with one man dead and another in critical condition from gunshot wounds, according to Lt. Glenn Watson of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The chase ended on Dixie Highway near Tripp Road in Groveland Township at about 10:40 p.m. Officers pursued a stolen Blazer truck, which was eventually driven into a ditch.

Hirschell Darnell Browning, 19, of Detroit was found dead in the truck from a bullet wound to the head, Watson said it may have been a self-inflicted wound, but he did not know whether it was accidental or intentional.

The other suspect, the driver of the truck, was shot in the chest by an officer when the officer approached the vehicle and the suspect reached for a gun sitting in his lap, Watson said.

Watson did not release the name of the suspect, who is in critical condition at Hurley Medical Center in Flint.

According to Watson, the two men stole the Blazer at gunpoint from two Orion Township girls.

Later, a sheriff's department deputy was about to stop the vehicle for a minor traffic violation when the suspects fled north on Dixie until they ran into the ditch.

1st female department head

McElmeel 'delighted' with job

Beverly McElmeel was appointed director of Independence Township's building and planning department last week after holding the interim position since September.

By Julie Campe

Although she's the first female department head for Independence Township, the fact doesn't mean anything special to Beverly McElmeel.

She's worked in the department for about 10 years and has served as interim director since September.

She only spoke of being female when asked about it.

"Being a woman is not the issue," she said. "I'm for the qualified person, whether it be male or female. It would be a challenge for anybody to take on a new position."

"It's probably more of a challenge because I'm a woman. But women have been in planning for a long time," she said, mentioning Joan Benzing, Carolyn Place, Holly Stephens, Carol Balzarini, Joan McCrary and Betty Hallman.

"The opportunity is there. This township board looks at everyone, and it doesn't matter—man or woman—as long as you're qualified for the position."

You certainly can't say they didn't give everyone an opportunity," she said.

Over 35 people applied for the job. McElmeel was appointed at the township board meeting Feb. 3.

"I was surprised. You never know what a board is going to do. It was a nice surprise," she said. "I'm delighted for the opportunity. It's a pleasure to work for the township board and the people we serve."

She anticipates the same amount or a little less building activity this year compared to last and plans to concentrate on enforcing all ordinances and building codes to continue quality development in the township, she said.

Her job is more of an administrative position, said McElmeel, adding she attends all meetings of the planning commission, zoning board of appeals and township board.

The department meets with developers and builders and potential property owners and handles all complaints.

"We're a service department. We try to help in any way that we can," said McElmeel. "We have expert consultants at our beck and call."

The consultants include planner Richard Carlisle, engineer Tom Biehl and attorney Gerald Fisher.

"It's knowing when to call these people in. You have to use good judgment," she said.

She also mentioned township Supervisor Frank Ronk.

"He's been close to the department," she said. "He was there for me if I had some problems or I needed an opinion. He has been a great support."

Everybody has been."

And she talked about her co-workers.

"We have an excellent staff," she said. "With that in mind, we're going to be able to do the job well. It's a team up here. . . . Everyone works together."

"There's a lot of activity. You just have to get your priorities straight and just take things as they come."

McElmeel has been married 23 years to her husband, Jim. They live on Rustic Trail, Independence Township, and like to spend time with their three grown children: Sheila, Jim and Mary Beth.

McElmeel is also active with St. Daniel Church, and she tries to find time to ski, she said.

Closet images

Kathy Greenfield

Sometimes I think about my house with few closets and wonder what life was like in 1923, the year it was built.

I think about my TV- and movie-induced perceptions of the Roaring Twenties and decide that all those feathers and sequins were probably nonexistent in the three (count 'em, three) closets in my home.

In fact, I'm sure. Flappers didn't live there. Instead, I imagine that this was a home for serious people who loved the outdoors.

When the house was built, windows were installed in abundance to let the sunshine in, but closets were not high on the list of priorities.

There is ample space for minimum needs—work clothes (I have been told a downtown merchant lived in my house) and Sunday best.

There is enough space, too, for work-around-the-house clothing. I conjure up closet images of a few "casual" dresses—and some aprons—for the woman of the house and outfits appropriate for gardening.

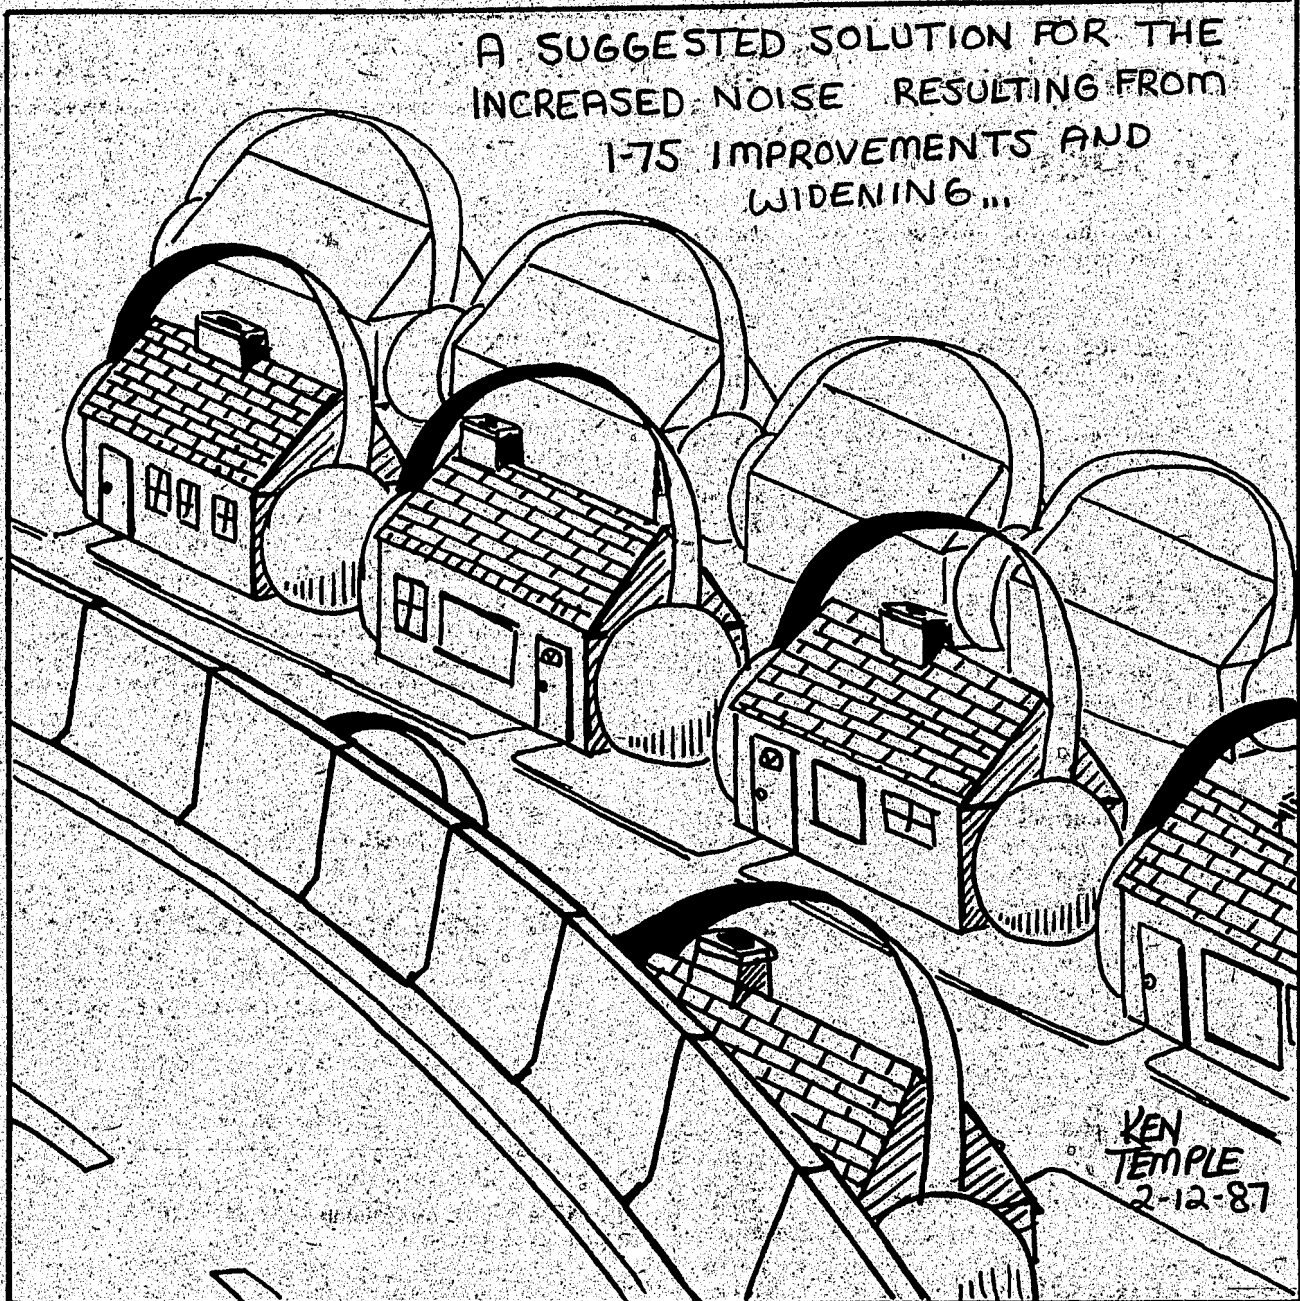

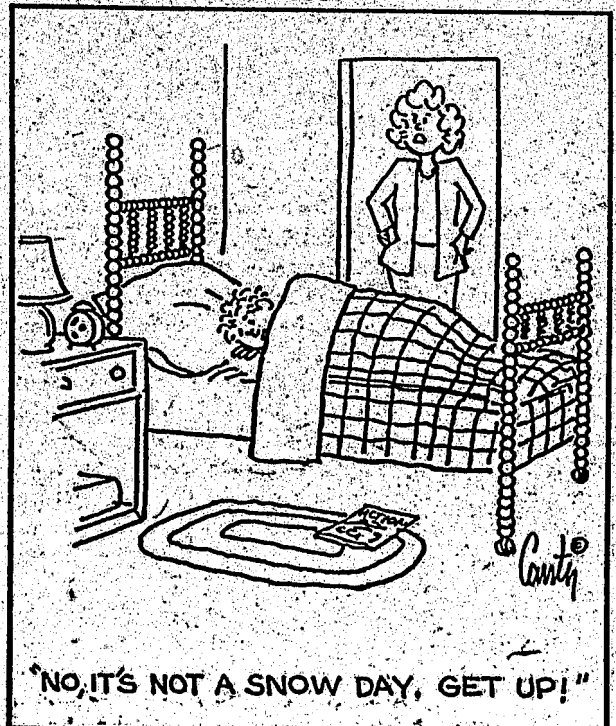

Outside, there continues to be evidence that someone who lived in my house had a special fondness for flowers and pine trees—and I like that.

Over the years, we have dealt with few closets by adding a couple of small wardrobes with space for hanging clothes, using storage bags in the basement for seasonal clothing and using small trunks and other containers instead of end tables.

Sometimes I find myself thinking about adding to my clothing collection—that, for example, there's a dire need for four new outfits for spring and five more to "dress for success" in the summertime.

Then my thoughts turn to the closets and I imagine what life was like in Clarkston for the people who lived in my house in 1923.

ALL ABOUT TOWN

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

An article in The Clarkston News last week about a man cooking on a wood burning stove sure shook the cobwebs in my memory.

In our farm home in the middle of the Great Depression, 1934-35, the kitchen would probably be called a multi-purpose room today. We cooked, ate, and bathed in it.

Forgive me if some of my recollections appear exaggerated, but only my sister and brothers know the truth, and none of them can write... otherwise they would be corresponding regularly.

One of our homes, as very long readers of Jottings may recall, was 2 miles south of Vernon and 2 miles west of Durand. I saw it just the other day; square, white, and much smaller than when we lived there.

The kitchen range (cook stove) had four round plates on the left, an iron surface on the right over the oven, and a 128 gallon water reservoir hanging on the right end.

The best thing about the reservoir was it was near the door. The worst was carrying the water to it from a windmill 14 miles down the road, through 9 feet of snow in the winter and 218 degree heat in the summer.

The heat from the stove kept the water in the tank hot enough for dishes and bathing, which sometimes was the same water when my sister's turn came along on Saturday night.

Actually, I don't know about my sister's baths. I was told she was a girl, and to stay out of the kitchen. At age 8-9 I understood the 'stay out' part.

The heat from the stove also kept a space above the range warm enough to be called a warming oven for biscuits, pies and wet gloves.

Back to the stove, which is the way most of us appreciated it in the winter time. I knew only enough about using it to fill the reservoir, and to take one of the plates off to get the frying pan closer to the flames for faster cooking.

Then as now, I loved pan fried potatoes. One morning, before the birds and mother were up, I crept downstairs, cut some boiled potatoes from the supper the night before, put them in a frying pan, crumpled up some paper in the stove, put some kindling on the paper, lit it, and set the pan in the hole where the round plate belonged.

That's where I was, standing on a chair, pancake turner in hand when mother arrived.

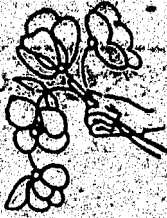

I can still see and hear her chuckling, as she lifted the pan, and said, "Son, it would cook better if the fire was going."

The Clarkston News story was about a Groveland Township man who cooks on a wood burning range. He and his wife (who cooks on a modern range) say food tastes better the old fashioned way. I agree, especially when mother did the cooking.

Great time for kids

A very big thank you to Nancy Bildstein and to co-chairman Randy Vaughn for our school fair last Saturday.

All the time and effort by these two went to make the fair a huge success. Thanks also to the many interested parents, teachers and friends who helped work.

Without all of you, we couldn't have made it such a great time for our kids.

Thanks from chairman

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who helped make Clarkston Elementary's school fair such a success.

A big thank you to my co-chairman, Randy Vaughn. I honestly couldn't have done it without him.

We had Pontiac police officers on hand to arrest the kids and put them in the Clarkston Elementary jail. You were great with the children, and I appreciate that.

Also, a big thank you to Fred Jones, who spent many sleepless nights building our jail.

Last but not least, a super thank you to Mr. Potvin, the teachers and you great volunteers (too numerous to mention). You all created a Super Day.

Letter to the editor

Take that, Fitz!

Jim Fitzgerald is a pleasant enough person, if you go for the wimpy Sad Sack types.

He is an indulgent grandfather who allows his five-year-old granddaughter Emily to write his newspaper column for him several days a week, which is a great improvement. (His boss, Neal Shine, also writes the column several other days a week, and that also is a great improvement.)

Fitzhenry is married to a wonderful woman who obviously deserves canonization in reward for her missionary work among the heathen.

As a columnist for the Detroit Free Press and Oxford Leader, Fitzpatrick enjoys power, prestige and big bucks, but we don't talk about bucks to him because then we will get a lecture on the evils of deer season.

All in all he is a fairly fine fellow, except for his one weakness: He is afraid of the Upper Peninsula.

He should know what afraid is. He lives on the 26th floor of a fortified tower adjacent to the Detroit River. There is barbed wire rolled concertina style along the sidewalks in front, and armed guards with patrol dogs interrogate anyone, including Emily and Neal Shine, who come within 100 yards of the main entrance, which is a pillbox providing cover for a machine gun and a bazooka.

While still in college, Fitzhugh hit his head when falling off a stool at Mac's Bar, resulting in periodic hallucinations that convince him he is an authority on anything and everything, including the Upper Peninsula. In most people this would be harmless, but Fitzharris insists on rushing into print with his comments.

Thus it was recently when he chose to analyze the plan of Detroit Mayor Colman Young to establish juvenile offender camps in the U.P., where "the frigid zones of the north would help cool some of these hotshots out."

That quote is from Mayor Young, but Fitzbumble felt the need to follow up with some observations of his own. "My theory is that, because of the lousy weather and depressing isolation, sane people would be willing to pay any amount of money to get out of the U.P.," he wrote.

Noting that some people were offended by that attitude, he continued, "It seems that some people actually like it up there. They enjoy dog-sledding for hundreds of miles without seeing one sign of civilization, not even a drive-through Wendy's... There are those who believe the U.P. economy (presently two pasty shops run by Joe Mack) could use the income generated by a penal system for Detroit criminals. Local people—already armed with muskrat traps—would be hired to guard the convicts."

Well, there's more, but you get the idea.

Out of curiosity, we picked up the main news section of that same issue of the Free Press and noted some of the headlines extolling the quality of life in the Motor City. Such as: "Police say victim helped nab rapist," "Citizen tips sought in killings," "Youth, 14, shot in hand," "Indicted judge now charged with extortion" and "Suspect makes the (10 Most Wanted) list."

It is true that most Upper Peninsula residents are missing out on such fun and excitement as is evidently going on in Detroit, and it is also true that our economy is no match for theirs (presently two soup kitchens run by Mayor Young), but it seems the Free Press was being rather cruel when it also reported "Shortage of snow threatens (U.P.) carnival." This was big news because that same day an inch of snow had fallen on the Motor City and all traffic was halted, waiting for a warming spell.

If Mayor Young really wants to improve the quality of life for his constituents he should develop a plan that would reward outstanding citizens by allowing them to escape to the Upper Peninsula where they could get away from criminals, scuzzballs and nutty newspaper columnists.

They might even learn to love Joe Mack's pasties.

Winter's Exultation

By Bruce A. Stewart

Breezes that bite through bone
Coldness that slices at stone
Air brittle to the touch
Inhalation is crisp but a must Majestic the command of winter
its gallery is a display to gander.
At this point and time the firmament couldn't behold grander.
There's a drunkenness about it all to walk under a cloudless
celestial body and feel how singular

I'm not sure about other people

Ego, tire both deflated

Jim Fitzgerald

It is probably traitorous for a Detroiter to admit it, but I don't like cars. I own two cars but always walk to work, or take the bus. I brag about how long it's been since my cars moved in the same way other people brag about how long it's been since they smoked a cigaret.

My 1977 Olds hasn't gone anywhere since last October. The only reason I still own it is because the dealer wouldn't give me anything for it when I bought a 1984 model. That made me angry.

All I want from a car is dependable transportation and reasonable comfort. I don't care how fast it goes, how much mileage it gets, what it looks like, or whether it's good for picking up sexy women. My 1977 Olds filled my requirements completely, and I resented some uppity dealer calling it worthless.

The only reason I bought a 1984 model was my wife, who is always driving out of town to buy something or visit someone. She decided it wasn't safe to be on the freeway alone in a car with more than 120,000 miles on the odometer. She said if I really loved her, I wouldn't risk her life just to prove I'm an independent, unsuperficial, and strong enough to resist the slick entreaties of Lee Iacocca and other trucksters.

SO I BOUGHT a new car to keep from becoming the villainous subject of a TV movie about a wife acquitted of murder—and subsequently elected president—because the only reason she killed her husband was to defend herself from dying of loneliness in a broken-down 1977 Oldsmobile marooned on I-75.

Disgustingly enough, although I seldom drive our family cars, I am responsible for their maintenance. Otherwise I have to iron my own shirts. So it was last Saturday, after being told only 356 times that the right front tire of the '84 Olds was low, I agreed to do something about it.

Despite my exceedingly unmechanical bent, I thought it would be easy. My wife said any fool could put air in a tire, and I believed her. At the gas station, I was bugged to discover that air now costs 25 cents, but that didn't make me cry. The first whimper didn't come until, after bruising several knuckles, I became convinced there was no way in hell to affix the nozzle of the air hose to the tire valve stem, which was fiendishly obstructed by two spokes of the wire wheel cover.

How could such a thing be in a world full of tires that often need air?

A small boy passing by said I'd have to remove the wheel cover. It was locked. It took a long time—and more advice from the little boy—to find the key in the glove compartment because it didn't look like any damn key I'd ever seen.

WITH THE wheel cover unlocked, I still couldn't remove it. The small boy said I'd have to pry the cover loose with the tire jack handle. What jack handle? The small boy said it was probably with my spare tire. That was when the whimpering turned to tears. I was humiliated to admit to a small boy that I had no idea where my spare tire was. It wasn't in the trunk.

I would have to take the floor out of the trunk to find the spare tire and jack handle, the small boy said. It was at this point that I put the small boy on my payroll. The financial cost of one short squish of air was $3.25. The cost to my psyche was much greater.

I don't understand a so-called civilized world that makes it so difficult to put air in a tire. Don't tell me that locked wheel covers thwart thieves. I had one stolen last year and it cost me $125. I learned that every self-respecting thief has his own wheel-cover key, easily obtained at the nearest car dealership. Besides, why doesn't the valve stem protrude outside the wheel cover?

Whatever happened to the old-fashioned hubcap? Why must the tire jack be located so you can't reach it without taking everything out of the trunk, including the floor? How come small boys are smarter than I am?

Stuff like that drives me nuts. I'm going to start ironing my own shirts.

Some Dixie plans on hold

By Julie Campe

When Dixie Highway is widened this summer, the sanitary sewer, street lighting and landscaping components will not be included, as initially planned by the Independence Township Board.

The safety paths and a lesser length of water lines are still in the plans. The other projects were deferred to a later date.

The board had hoped to coincide the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) projects with the Dixie Highway construction to prevent extra construction costs, said Clerk Richard Holman.

But when the board approved the DDA plan in December, they did so with the condition that money would not be borrowed from other funds until a backup financing plan was in place.

They needed the backup plan because the tax increment financing (TIF) method was being challenged in court. If the TIF were determined unconstitutional, the township would have no way to return the borrowed money, said Holman.

A decision on the constitutionality of the TIF is not expected until March, he said.

Since the Michigan Department of Transportation needs the highway construction plans before that date, the board voted to scale back the DDA project.

At the Feb. 3 meeting, the board voted 6-1 to approve the new plans. The safety paths are to be paid from the safety path fund, and the water lines are to be paid for with $25,000 from the Economic Development fund and $108,000 borrowed from the sewer special assessment fund.

The $108,000 is to be paid back with TIF money, if the court rules in favor of the TIF, said Holman. If the court rules against the TIF, the money is to be paid back with general fund and water fund money.

Trustee Dale Stuart cast the lone "no" vote.

"I do not think we should be jeopardizing the entire township with what was intended to be a localized expense," he said.

The DDA was established to improve sewers, water, lighting and landscaping on parts of Dixie Highway and M-15 in the township and to promote economic development in the area.

The projects are to be paid for with TIF and not extra money from the taxpayers, said Holman.

To determine the DDA revenue, the assessed property values within the DDA as of Dec. 31, 1985, are used as a base. If the property values increase over time, the DDA captures the extra tax money from county, township and most school millages. The money is used for improvements in the DDA only.

Clarkston Bluffs need one more OK

Waterford Hill condos closer

By Julie Campe

By summer, clusters of condominiums may emerge from the north side of Waterford Hill.

At the Feb. 5 meeting, the Independence Township Planning Commission granted preliminary final site plan approval for Clarkston Bluffs Condominiums. The condos are on the commission's Feb. 12 agenda for consideration of final approval.

The commission gave the developers 11 points to clear up before they would grant final approval, including showing on the site plan which trees are to remain, adding a minimum of four street lights, extending the boulevard entrance to 138 feet and adding landscaping at various areas.

"I think this is going to be a very nice development," said Chairperson Joseph Figa. "I'm pleased with the architectural style."

The landscapers plan to transplant many of the trees on the hill, including some 60-foot trees, said developer Charles Bowles.

Plans do not include using the land platted for a road leading to Balmoral Terrace, he said, adding that they intend to deed the land to the adjacent property owners or homeowners association, if they're willing.

An emergency road leads to Maple Road, and will be so marked, he said.

If the condos receive final approval this month, construction is to begin in April, said developer Roy Lilley, adding the building will probably take two to three years.

Starting at $125,000, the 148 units are to be available in five floor plans with two or three bedrooms.

"Out of these floor plans, we can do a multitude of things," said Lilley. "The individuals can do whatever they want with the interior."

The exteriors are to feature red brick, cedar siding and fieldstone, and some units will be stepped into the hill, he said.

The architect is Dave Dobrin; the engineer, Jim Buckerfield.

The commission voted 3-1 to approve the preliminary final plans. Figa, Jo Fussman and Richard Oppman voted "yes." Without comment, Carol Balzarini voted "no." Brent Bair was absent.

Want a zoo?

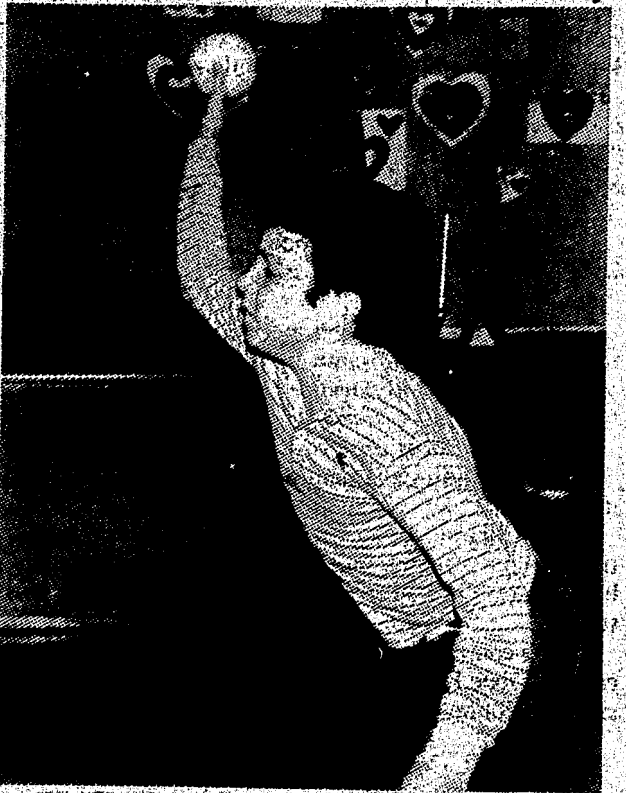

If a resident wants to open a zoo or botanical garden in Independence Township, he may need special land use permission from the planning commission.

On Feb. 3, the township board approved, 7-0, the first reading of a township animal maintenance ordinance.

The proposed ordinance clarifies the present ordinance and is not really a change, said township attorney Gerald Fisher.

When the owners of a Siberian tiger challenged the ordinance in court last year, the ordinance was upheld, he said, but the clarification is needed.

Wild or exotic animals, those not normally domesticated even if several generations have lived in captivity, are not allowed in the township except with a special land use permit, he said.

Dixie site stays commercial

By Julie Campe

Voting against a planning commission recommendation, the Independence Township Board denied the rezoning of about 4 acres on Dixie Highway from highway commercial to multiple family residential.

At the Feb. 3 meeting, the board also sent the matter back to the planning commission to give them a chance to correct a procedural error.

At the second planning commission meeting on the rezoning, the owner, Jeffrey Leib, wasn't notified, said Richard Carlisle, township planner.

Township attorney Gerald Fisher said Leib should have had an opportunity to attend.

The board voted 5-2 to deny the rezoning and refer it back to the planning commission.

Voting to deny the rezoning were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Treasurer John Lutz and Trustees Carol Balzarini, Daniel Travis and William Vandermark. Clerk Richard Holman and Trustee Dale Stuart voted against the motion.

"We shouldn't ignore the position of the planning commission by denying the rezoning," said Stuart.

Instead, the township board should only refer it back to the planning commission for another hearing, he said.

Before the board members voted, Carlisle said the rezoning was initiated by the planning commission, not by Leib, the owner, and the owner did not favor the rezoning.

Leib also owns the property behind the highway commercial zoning planned for Clarkston Bluffs Condominiums.

The planning commission was trying to protect the area in front of the proposed Clarkston Bluffs, between Balmoral Terrace and Maple Road, Carlisle said.

The commission was also trying to minimize curb cuts on Dixie Highway and to avoid a highly commercialized frontage, he said.

Philip Seaver, a developer of Clarkston Bluffs, said he planned to build a desirable commercial development and that he did not plan a car wash or party store.

He also planned only one curb cut for the condominiums and whatever commercial development is built, he said.

From the late Stillman Elwell's
"Sleigh Tracks"

Just a tiny little snowflake,
Oddly fashioned it is true,
Shining brightly on the window,
White as lilies, pure as dew.

Ah! What mystery surrounds it,
In its drifts the children play,
Yet is locked the wealth of kingdoms
In its icy prisons gray.

Falling gently as a blanket,
Soft and sweet as babies' breath,
Or in swirling, raging madness,
Driving men to bitter death.

Trackless forests know its grandeur,
Barren wastes its fetters feel,
Mighty regions are imprisoned,
As it were with bonds of steel.

All the wisdom of the ages,
All the truths the sages know,
Come to naught before the power,
Of the tiny flake of snow!

Dentist office coming

A new office building may soon be added to Lorac Drive, off Citation Drive, in Independence Township.

The township planning commission gave conceptual site plan approval to dentists George Krull and Jim Williams to build their 9,000-square-foot office.

"The building's beautiful," said Chairperson Joseph Figa, noting it was compatible with the nearby 52nd District Courthouse.

"It could be a nice asset to the area," he said.

With little discussion, the commission approved, 4-0, the conceptual site plan. Brent Bair was absent. Before construction begins, final site plan approval must be received from the planning commission and a front yard setback variance from the zoning board of appeals.

Krull and Williams, whose present office is in the Clarkston Professional Plaza, plan to begin construction in May.

Friendly faces

You can judge book buyers by their covers

By Julie Campe

People who buy books are different from other retail shoppers, according to Carolyn Nicolai and Jean Vidlund.

The women work part-time at the Village Book Store at 26 S. Main St., Clarkston, owned by Georgene Sloan.

Although they rarely work together, their views on their customers are similar.

"Book people are different," said Carolyn. "I've worked in other retail areas. (Book people) are friendlier, less likely to complain. It's just easier all the way around."

"People come in and order a book, and before long you're talking about the subject," said Carolyn.

"We do a lot of talking in here. We like to share our thoughts and ideas. The store is much more conducive to conversation, more so than other types of retail businesses," she said.

Jean also spoke of book people when talking about the store.

"It's a picnic working here," she said. "It presents all the nice things. Book people are nice people."

"I think people have all the qualities that make up the best of humanity. They can be the other way around, too, but most are not," she said.

Friendliness seemed to be rooted deeply within Jean and Carolyn. Jean traced it to her earliest beginnings.

"I think I had a good childhood," she said. "I had lots of good experiences in my life—and lots that weren't so good—but I think I never stopped learning. I think that's the secret to life. And enjoying my age. I enjoy whatever age I'm at."

And, of course, both enjoy reading.

"You have to like to read to work here because people ask for a lot of recommendations," said Carolyn.

Carolyn prefers historical sagas, suspense thrillers and occasionally non-fiction, she said. And she has favorites.

"In recent years, it would probably be 'Thornbirds,' but I also like the Stephen King thrillers," she said. "I can only read one type of book for so long, and then I have to change."

Jean, too, enjoys reading and would read more, if her eyes would allow it, she said.

Reading mostly non-fiction, she also likes children's books.

The Village Book Store owner is pleased with her employees.

"I just really think both exemplify what the store is about," she said. "They're both friendly."

'Round midnight

Chris Gerbasi

Stream of consciousness... at midnight... when a column has to be written... immediately.

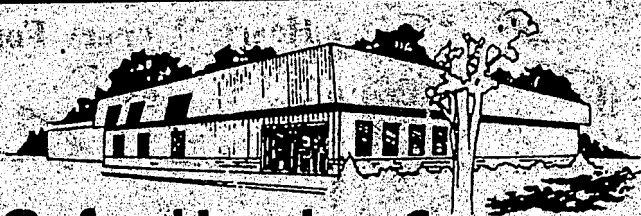

I was thinking that I hope Tim McCormick scores 40 against the Pistons this Saturday, but, more importantly, I hope he gets a big hand. . . and I'm sorry I missed the NBA All-Star game on television Sunday, it's the first I've missed in years, but I was coming back from Toronto at the time with Greg Eno, who had to drive in what the weatherman called "white-outs," which means that the wind was violently and relentlessly blowing snow across the highway, at times reducing the visibility to zero. . . and, of course, I'll miss the NHL games against the Soviets this week because I think they're only on ESPN and I don't have cable, but, all in all, I don't think I'd want cable anyway because then I'd watch more TV than I do now. . . but it was good to see Ann-Margret on the tube this week, of course, I don't want to make any sexist comments because certain mothers out there may not like it. Gordie Richardson said the other day that if nobody had been critical of me, then I hadn't written anything and he's right and I said the cheerleaders didn't like me because they haven't been in Prep Profile and isn't it great, by the way, that I know all the Clarkston athletes' favorite foods? . . . but back to the matter at hand, which is, of course, who is Gordon Preston? Why was Gordie Richardson mistaken for him? Why was Preston mentioned in Joe Falls' column? Is there something Richardson isn't telling us? Is Preston dangerous and, if so, how can he be stopped? . . . and has the old Rodney Dangerfield line been updated, that is, "I went to a fight the other night and a Clarkston game broke out". . . no, it hasn't, but there's a definite impression that other schools don't like Clarkston. . . maybe because the teams win all the time. . . just like at Michigan and I think Dan Jokisch is going to have a lot of fun in Ann Arbor, everyone should go to college away from home at a large university, if they have the money and, speaking of money, I know nothing of yachting, a rich man's sport, but I'm glad the America's Cup is back in America, although nobody knew anything about it until we lost it. . . another rich man's sport is professional wrestling, yes, those clowns are some of the highest paid athletes, check that, actors, in the world and it saddens me, no, mortifies me, that some event, "Wrestlemania III" or "Maniacs on the Loose IV" or whatever it's called, is coming to the Silverdome and, I must face the truth, there will probably be tens of thousands of fans in the stands, shaking my faith in Detroit sports fans, but is it a sport and what is a sport these days? . . . well, I won't get into that, but I was just thinking.

Clarkston High Varsity

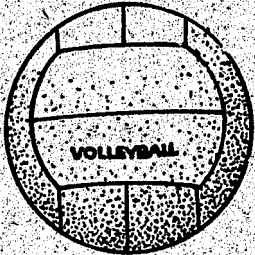

It was a week of revenge and recognition for Clarkston's varsity volleyball team, as the Wolves defeated Brandon, 16-14, 15-4, Monday and also cracked the top 10 in the state rankings.

Clarkston, 25-5, has quietly snuck into the 10th spot in the latest Class A poll. Brandon is fifth in Class B and had knocked off the Wolves, 13-15, 15-8, 15-9, before a noisy Blackhawks crowd Feb. 2.

The Blackhawks came well-armed with supporters when they traveled to Clarkston Monday and jumped off to a 9-4 lead in the first game.

Missy Odell, who served and hit well throughout the match, helped the Wolves tie it at 9-9 with her serving.

The lead seesawed and Brandon had chances to win leading 14-13, but couldn't put it away. Slams by Odell and Kelly Laidig gave Clarkston the game and Coreen Hummel served five points.

The come-from-behind victory seemed to spur the Wolves on, as they blew Brandon out in the second game. Maggie Gdula served six points and the team only missed three serves the entire match. Odell had six kill hits overall and Laidig had five.

Odell also served for nine points in the Wolves' 15-1, 15-4 victory over Pontiac Northern Monday. That put Clarkston at 5-0 in the league with a chance to wrap up the title at Waterford Kettering this week.

Clarkston had also beaten Waterford Mott, 15-10, 15-8, last Thursday as Gina Houck had four kill hits and Hartland, 14-16, 15-4, 15-2, Feb. 2 behind Shelly Heyman's 10 aces.

Sashabaw Junior High

Feb. 2—The Cougars have an easy time with Milford, winning 15-0, 15-9. Christy Graham and Lori Highlen do most of the serving for Sashabaw, now 11-4.

Basketball

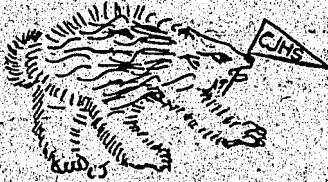

Clarkston High Junior Varsity

Wolves 60, Dearborn 51

Feb. 6—Keenan Powell paces Clarkston with 17 points and the Wolves move to 8-6.

Ben Underwood adds 11 points, Mel Hemminger grabs eight rebounds and Darin Brandt keys the defense with six steals.

The Wolves also give a strong defensive effort against Rochester, but fall to the 11-0 Falcons, 46-39, Feb. 3.

Clarkston Junior High

Crazy 67, Wolverines 53

Feb. 5—The Wolverines miss the front end of nine one-and-one free throw attempts in the fourth quarter and fall to 6-6.

Jason Brown scores 20 points for Clarkston, Reggie Reed adds 12 and Bill Knight chips in 10.

Wolverines 67, Lake Orion 64

Feb. 3—Clarkston comes back to win after being down 10 points at halftime.

The scoring is spread around as Knight leads the way with 17 points and nine rebounds, Reed scores 16, Brown gets 16 points and 10 rebounds and Fritz Lamm puts in 10 points and snags eight boards.

Sashabaw Junior High

Van Hoosen 61, Cougars 49

Feb. 5—Gary Kaul's 19 points is not enough to prevent Sashabaw from losing its 11th game against one victory.

Wally Wyniemko has an all-around good game with 10 points, nine rebounds and four steals. Derek Black gets a team-high 12 boards to go with nine points and Dane Davis adds six points.

Pierce 53, Cougars 46

Feb. 3—Sashabaw plays well, but drops another game. Black scores 13 and hauls down nine rebounds, Wyniemko gets 11 points and seven boards and Kaul and Davis score six apiece.

Clarkston/Sashabaw 7th/8th Grade

The Clarkston eighth-graders drop to 0-4 with a 58-34 loss to Lake Orion Feb. 4. Mike Stoutenberg and Jerod Johnson score 10 points apiece.

Stoutenberg, with nine points, and Johnson, with eight, again topped Clarkston in a close 37-32 loss to West Bloomfield Abbott Feb. 2.

Clarkston's seventh-grade team improves to 3-1 with two victories last week.

Jeremy DeLoney pours in 20 points and Lucas Fedio gets 12 in a 51-43 win over Lake Orion Feb. 4 and Devin DuPree, Jamie Young, Derek Bildstein and Ben Beridon also play well.

DeLoney scores 12 and Young nine as the Wolverines down Abbott, 35-28, Feb. 2.

The Cougars' seventh-graders (3-1) split, losing to Mason, 27-25, on a last-second shot Feb. 3 and defeating Lake Orion, 36-17, Feb. 2.

Omar Trevino scores nine and Dugan Fife eight in the loss and they also lead Sashabaw in the win, with eight and 11 points, respectively.

Wrestling

Clarkston High Varsity

Wolves 65, Oxford 6

Lake Orion 43, Wolves 15

Feb. 3—Clarkston splits and is 10-7 in dual meets and finishes 2-2 in the Greater Oakland Activities League. The league meet is this Friday at Waterford Kettering.

Against Oxford, Eric Wall, at 98 pounds, Mark Ice (105), Simon Lawler (112), Dave London (119), Rob Lund (126), Doug Lederman (132), Jim Tedder (155) and Troy Castle (198) all defeated their opponents. Dan Stuk tied Ray Raab 9-9 at 145 pounds.

In the Lake Orion match, Chris Luzi (112), London, Lund and Stuk managed victories.

Sashabaw Junior High

at Lake Orion Invitational

Feb. 7—The Cougars finish fourth among 14 teams at the meet. Lake Orion wins, followed by Walled Lake Western and Rochester West. Clarkston rounds out the top five.

Mike Stanton wins the 95-pound weight class for Sashabaw. Tom Buday (87) and heavyweight Tony Miller capture second in their respective classes, Joe Kilgore takes third at 107 pounds and Sean Cervantez (134) and Jerry Lawrence (147) finish fourth.

Van Hoosen 42, Cougars 39

Feb. 3—The Cougars lose for only the second time in dual meets this season and are 9-2.

Joe Kilgore (101), Garry Line (108), Cervantez, Lawrence, Bill Kilgore (157), Dan Schell (170) and Miller each win for Sashabaw.

Clarkston Junior High

at Lake Orion Invitational

Feb. 7—The Wolverines grapple to a fifth-place showing at the meet as Derek Moscovic wins the 86-pound weight class and Joe Webb is victorious at 180 pounds. Damon Michelsen comes in third at 114 pounds.

Wolverines 60, Walled Lake Central 30

Feb. 3—Ten Clarkston wrestlers pin their opponents: Moscovic, Jeff Tabor at 93 pounds, Michelsen, Dennis Miller (121), Brian Alessi (128), Tim Kerr (134), Will Madison, Webb, Joel Davis (169) and heavyweight Mike Willett.

Clarkston Wrestling Club

at Hoover Invitational, Hazel Park

Feb. 8—The Clarkston grapplers win 12 awards, half of those coming for first-place performances:

8 & under novice: Ehren Drescher second at 60 pounds; Hans Hoemke third at 45; and Elvis Jones third at 60.

8 & under advanced: Arron Grant first at 40; Jason Tiefenback first at 50.

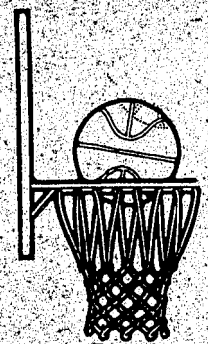

9-10 novice: Jason Simpson first at 65.

9-10 advanced: Corey Grant first at 65; and Armin Michelsen first at 75.

11-12 advanced: Brett Walter first at 60.

13-14 advanced: Ruben DeLosRios second at 112; Rick Mini second at 126; and Damon Michelsen third at 119.

Kevin Barnes also finished second at 67 pounds in the eight and under advanced class at a Mid-Michigan Wrestling Association meet in Lake Fenton Feb. 8.

Jokisch picks football and the Wolverines

By Chris Gerbasi

To the surprise of almost no one, Dan Jokisch will follow his brother Paul's footsteps to the University of Michigan.

The 6-foot-7, 210-pound Clarkston senior will sign a letter of intent this week to play football for the Wolverines. He was also heavily recruited to play basketball in college.

Dan is built along the same lines as Paul and, like his brother, he will play split end and wear number 84 at Michigan. He also played safety and punted for the Wolves.

"I'm looking forward to it," said Jokisch, who was an all-state football selection last season. "It's a big challenge to follow his name."

Paul just completed his football career with Michigan and is next awaiting the NFL draft in April.

While Jokisch also considered Michigan State, Indiana and UCLA, his choice was never really in doubt.

The Jokisches are a tight-knit family and obviously Paul had a big influence on Dan's decision, along with his parents and basketball coach Dan Fife, who also went to U-M.

"I went to Indiana just to see if I'd like it," Jokisch said. "UCLA is just way too far. I liked Indiana better than Michigan State. I don't know if I could play for them (MSU). I think I'd get ragged on."

"At Ann Arbor, I know a lot of people and teammates and coaches," he said.

When Jokisch came back from his trip to Indiana Feb. 1, his mind was made up and he announced his decision last week.

A tougher choice for Jokisch may have been the one between football and basketball.

His brother originally went to Michigan to play basketball, but switched to the gridiron when his playing time dwindled. It apparently left a bad taste in Paul's mouth and Dan said that was a factor in picking football.

When talking of basketball, Jokisch's tone of voice makes it clear he will miss the sport.

"I wanted to play basketball, but it's just too hard," he said. "Maybe I can practice with them (Michigan) a little bit."

Ironically, the announcement that he'll play football will now allow him to concentrate more on the remainder of the basketball season. At times this year, he has appeared frustrated or pressured on the court.

"I know what I'm going to do now and that will take a little pressure off me," Jokisch said. "Now we can shoot for districts and league and I don't see any reason we shouldn't win it."

Sports

Wolves still in the hunt

Without even playing a league game, Clarkston saw its chances improve as the basketball race tightened slightly in the Greater Oakland Activities League last week.

The Wolves won two non-conference games while league leader Waterford Mott lost to its crosstown rival, Waterford Kettering.

That left Clarkston at 2-2 in the GOAL, 1½ games behind the 4-1 Corsairs. Kettering, Lake Orion and Pontiac Northern are all 2-3.

The up-again, down-again Wolves suddenly find themselves winners of four straight games and are 8-6 overall. They won at Dearborn, 64-57, last Friday and rallied at home to defeat Rochester, 56-49, Feb. 3.

Dan Jokisch, who has been constantly playing in foul trouble recently, had a game-high 24 points along with 15 rebounds to pace Clarkston and Jeff Tungate connected for 18 points. Steve Moore led Dearborn with 21.

"We played well, we played smart," said coach Dan Fife. "The guard play was much better; they got the ball to Jokisch. And the officials took care of Danny. Most games they've (opponents) been beating on him. But they (officials) protected him."

A 15-8 second quarter gave Clarkston a 33-24 halftime lead, which it was able to protect.

That was not the case in the Rochester contest, as the Wolves couldn't hold onto a 29-24 lead at intermission.

The Falcons slowly built a 42-37 advantage after three quarters and then went up 44-37 to start the fourth. Jokisch was being swarmed by the Rochester defense and was held scoreless for the first three quarters.

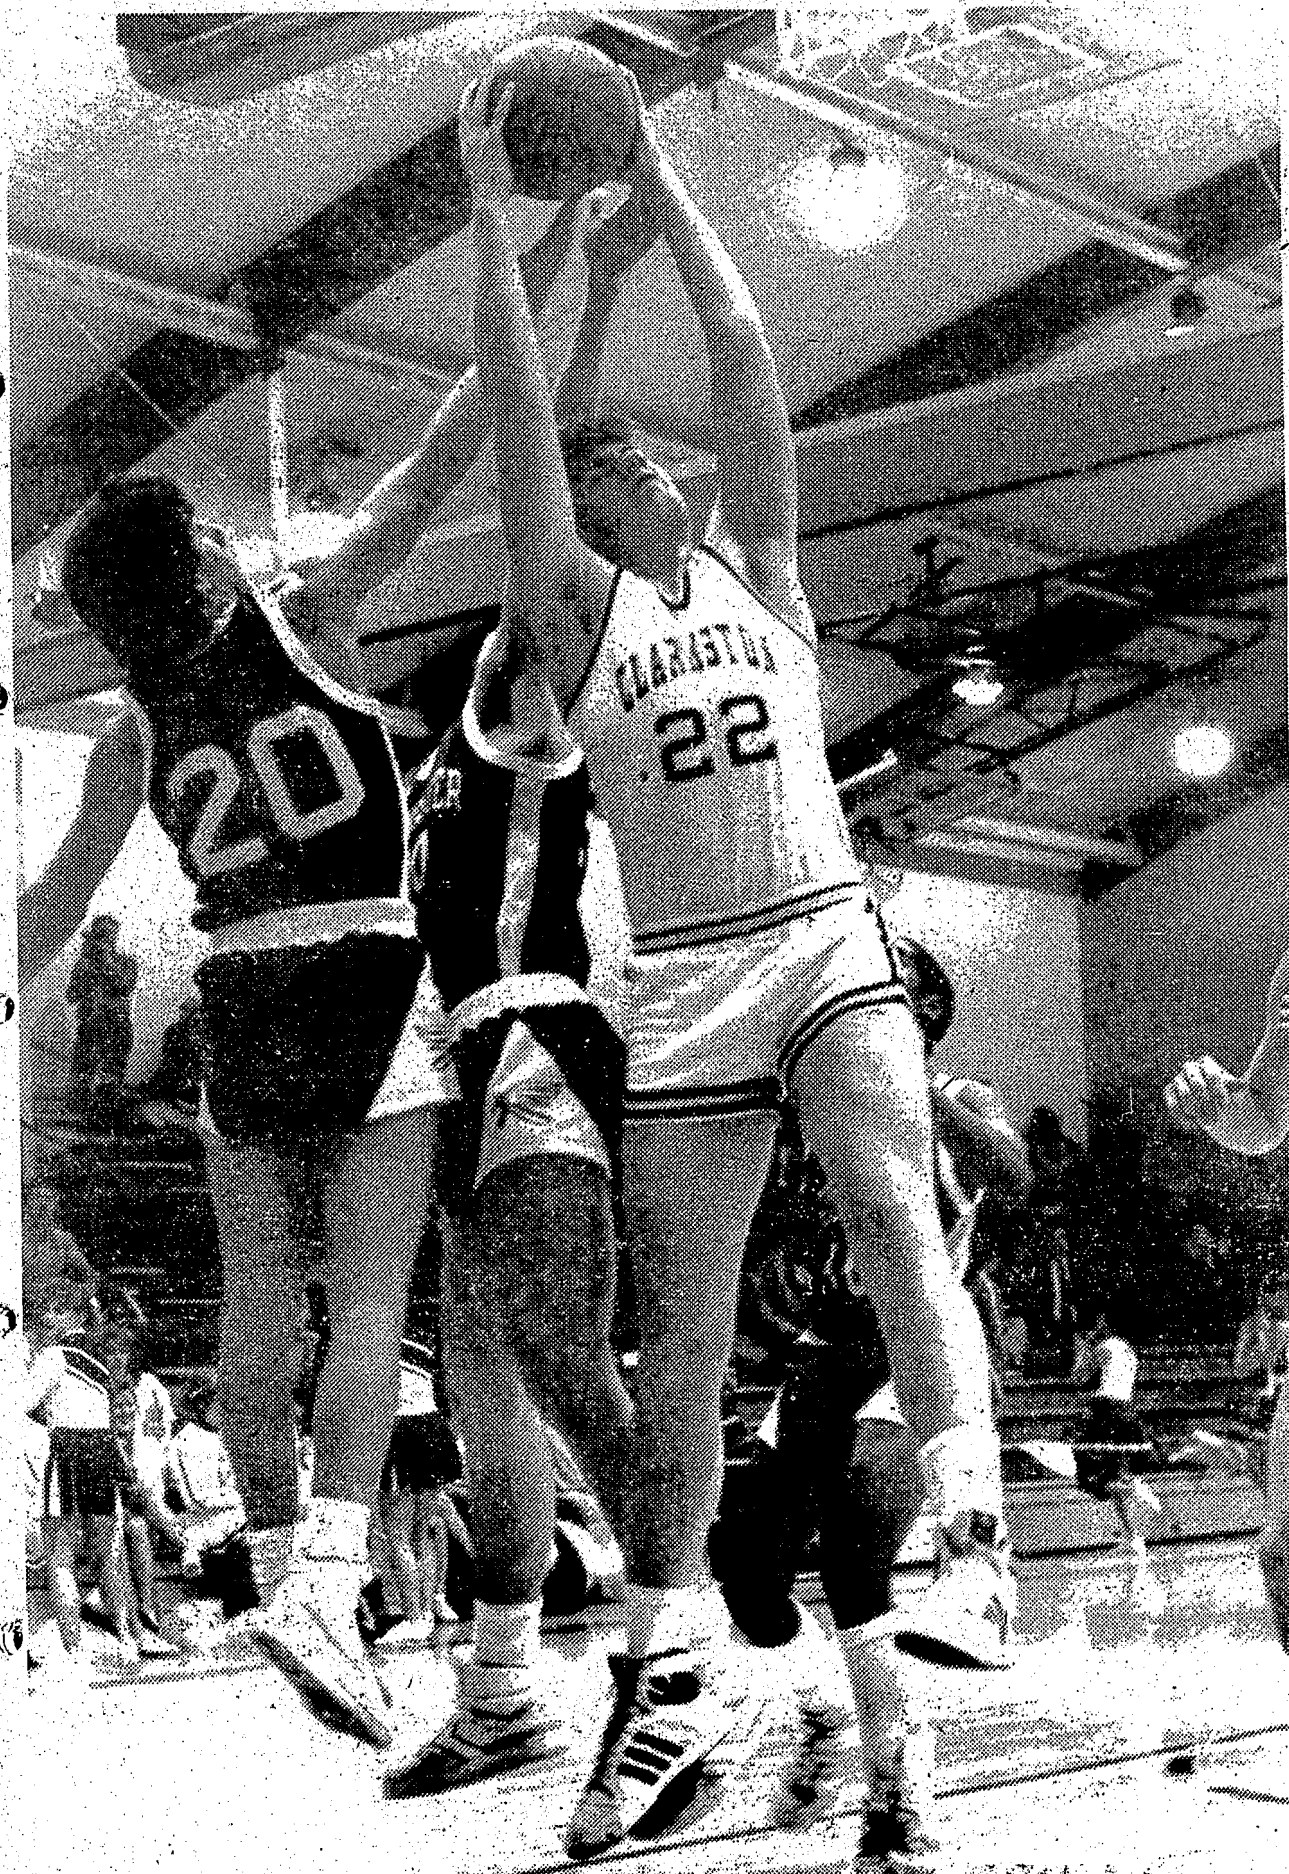

But Tungate, a junior guard, went to work in the fourth, driving, hitting from the outside and even tipping in a missed shot underneath.

He scored 10 in the quarter and two Jokisch drives put the Wolves in front, 51-49, with two minutes left. Tungate finished with 18 points.

After another non-league game against Holly this week, Clarkston hosts Pontiac Northern this Friday. The Wolves blew out the Huskies on the road, but Northern has been strengthened by the return of Sam James and Anthony Lavallis, who had both been academically ineligible.

Clarkston probably has to win the remainder of its league games to have a good shot at the title.

"This is a big week for us," said Fife. "We'll be in good shape if we can come out with these two games."

Steve Secatch of Clarkston goes high to grab rebound away from Rochester's Mike Moscato. The Wolves needed to rally in the fourth quarter to beat the Falcons, 56-49, Feb. 3. Clarkston has now won four straight games.

Chris Luzi is a sophomore Clarkston wrestler who has one of the best records in the county in the 112-pound division. He also plays hockey for fun.

Born: June 21, 1971.

Nickname: Cooch, from a character in the movie "Vision Quest."

Favorite sport: Wrestling.

Favorite food: Hamburgers.

Favorite music: Eddie Money.

Favorite movie: "Vision Quest."

Favorite TV show: "Taxi."

Idol: Olympic wrestling champ Steve Fraser.

Biggest thrill: Making it to the Soap Box Derby World Championships in 1982.

Biggest accomplishment: Making the varsity wrestling team this season.

Goal: To attend and wrestle at Iowa University, which traditionally has a strong wrestling team.

If he could change one thing: He would be stronger.

Most embarrassing moment: He dated two girls at the same time last year and he showed up at a basketball game with one and ran into the other one.

Skiers win conference title

It's been a smooth season for Clarkston skiers and they continued to coast last Thursday as both the boys and girls teams won their conference championships.

The Wolves won the eight-team meet at Pine Knob and will next compete in the Southeastern Michigan League championships this Thursday at Alpine Valley. That competition brings together both conferences in the league.

At the Knob, Rob Brown had a big day for Clarkston, winning the giant slalom in 47.74 and placing second in the slalom with a time of 44.64. Mike Huebner of Rochester Adams won in 44.36.

The Wolves easily outdistanced Adams in the boys team standings, 42-62. Rochester was third with 122 points.

Gunnar Karlstrom finished fifth in the GS (50.41), Matt Ritter was seventh (50.70), Mike Foyteck 10th (51.34), Jeff Roeser 13th (51.70) and Jeff John 17th (52.51).

Clarkston dominated the slalom event, taking five of the top nine spots.

After Brown, Karlstrom was third (46.30), Ritter sixth (47.84), Foyteck eighth (48.06) and Rob Laurie was ninth (48.31). Jeff Roeser was 11th (48.56) and Todd Roeser was 14th (49.42).

Shelly Purdy had the best performance of the day for the girls, racing to third in the giant slalom. She had a 55.37 time.

Renee Aho of Adams won both the GS and slalom, but Adams again came up short to the Wolves, 79-98. The Rochester girls were third as well, with 103 points.

Following Purdy in the GS was Tina Sheppard, who finished ninth (56.91), Laura Howse 11th (57.61), Serena Brown 13th (57.86), Tammy Spaven 17th (58.43), Jackie Jablonski 19th (58.66) and Suzy Learmont 23rd (59.23).

Sheppard led the Wolves in the slalom, compiling a 53.88 time, good for sixth place. Howse was eighth (55.01), Jablonski 13th (56.36), Purdy 16th (57.75), Learmont 18th (57.88), Trisha Bennett 25th (61.05) and Brown 27th (62.04).

Meloche heads for Calgary and a shot at the 1988 Olympics

Jim Meloche is working to get in shape for his upcoming trip to Calgary, Alberta, Canada, where he will be vying for a position on the Olympic Ski Patrol in the '88 Winter Games.

Jim Meloche could qualify this month for the 1988 Winter Olympics.

No, he's not a hockey player or a speed skater and he's not on the U.S. luge team.

But the 43-year-old Clarkston resident is in the running for a spot on the Olympic Ski Patrol.

Meloche is the Oakland County Parks patrol director. He leaves Feb. 16 for a nine-day training session in Calgary, Alberta, Canada, the site of the '88 Winter Games.

Two other members of the county's Nordic Ski Patrol, Steve Campbell of Coldwater and Roger Tyrrell of Lake Orion, will attend the camp.

They are three of just seven candidates from the United States. Overall, 67 cross country skiers are competing for 24 positions.

"They said from the start that there's very little chance of anyone outside of Calgary, let alone outside Canada, of being chosen," said Meloche, who's originally from Ontario. "But I thought I'd give it a shot."

Meloche nominated himself for a position. His duties would be, as they are at Independence Oaks, to patrol the trails and provide first aid. The biggest previous event he worked was the 50 kilometer Birkebeiner in Wisconsin the last two years.

To prepare for his tryout, Meloche is skiing 30 to 40 kilometers a weekend.

"I'm going to compete with 20-year-olds," he said. "I'm doing my best to get into shape, but it could be a bloodbath."

His physique isn't the only thing he needs to work into shape. He also needs to brush up on his French to communicate with the foreign competitors.

The training will take place at the Canmore Olympic complex, an expansive layout built specifically for the Games and all of the Nordic events. The skiers will be judged on skiing skills, first aid skills, teamwork and leadership.

Meloche has never been to Calgary and he won't know if he'll be making a return trip for the Olympics until this summer, when the final selections will be made.

Jenny Grohs shows her serving form at the Clarkston junior varsity invitational last Saturday. The Wolves advanced to the semifinals.

JV spikers on the upswing

Right now it appears Clarkston's junior varsity volleyball team is good, on the verge of being very good.

The 15-7 Wolves advanced to the semifinals of their own invitational last Saturday, before losing to Utica Eisenhower, 14-16, 13-15. Eisenhower went on to beat Rochester, 15-9, 12-15, 15-10, in the tourney finals.

Coach Gordie Richardson rattled off statistics that showed the Wolves had a great day. And they did, but brief lapses of concentration cost them.

They were ahead in both games in the semis, only to let Eisenhower back in it.

"We lost the momentum and they just came back," said Richardson. "We played as close to perfect as we could and still lost. The kids were very disappointed."

Still, Richardson is pleased with the progress his team has made after a slow start this season.

"The team as a whole is really starting to come around," he said. "We're getting more well-rounded play from everyone."

In pool play at the invitational, Clarkston defeated Sterling Heights Stevenson, 15-6, 15-4; Ferndale, 15-12, 15-5; Flint Northern, 15-1, 15-4; and split with Rochester, 12-15, 15-1.

Some of those stats Richardson was talking about include 87 percent serving as a team, 87 percent serve reception and 72 percent on digs.

Kelly Avenall was 19 of 21 serving with eight aces, Tisha Sherman was 23-24 on serve reception, Heather Behrens was 34-36 on serve reception and Jenny Grohs had a 75 percent attack ratio.

After the lengthy tournament Saturday, the Wolves came back to play twice Monday. They beat Pontiac Northern, 15-1, 15-9, but lost to Brandon, 4-15, 14-16.

In the second Brandon game, Clarkston rallied from a 10-4 deficit to pull ahead, 14-12, but couldn't finish off the comeback.

The Wolves had defeated Brandon, 16-14, 12-15, 15-11, Feb. 2, along with beating Hartland, 15-8, 15-6. Sherman served eight aces against Brandon.

They slipped past Waterford Mott, 15-11, 15-8, last Thursday.

Taulbee leads way

Michelle Taulbee's 14 points and game-high 16 rebounds helped Oakland Community College to its ninth straight victory, 69-63 over Flint Mott last Saturday.

The Clarkston grad has helped the Lady Raiders to a 10-2 Eastern Conference record and a 16-4 overall mark. OCC is in first place in the East, leading Schoolcraft, which is 8-3.

Stacie Gills led the Lady Raiders against Flint with 15 points, Heidi Erlandson scored 14 and Joanne Gregory had 11.

Correction

A photo caption in last week's paper incorrectly stated that Rob Lund lost his wrestling match. Lund pinned his Pontiac Catholic opponent.

Carter: 'volunteer par excellence'

By Kathy Greenfield

Through extensive volunteer work, Al Carter touched many lives.

The former chairperson of Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and Springfield Township resident died Feb. 4 in the Veterans Hospital in Saginaw. He had spent about three months in the hospital, the last month in a semi-coma. He was 62 years old.

Carter had been active in volunteer work with about a dozen different organizations for over 25 years. A 32-year employee with General Motors Service Parts Operation in Flint, he had retired in 1980. "He was one of the finest men I've known," said the Rev. Alexander Stewart. "His time was for anybody that needed it."

Stewart had worked with Carter for about 20 years in Youth Assistance.

In addition, Carter was very active as a volunteer for Special Olympics and he "gave gallons of blood to Red Cross," said Stewart. "It wasn't in pints. He'd given it so long, it was in gallons."

Carter's activities had slowed in recent months, following the discovery of a brain tumor in November 1985.

The Youth Assistance Committee was able to recognize his many contributions in April with a reception honoring Carter. Among the guests was United States Congressman Bob Carr (D-East Lansing), who had nominated Carter for a President's Volunteer Action Award.

"I didn't consider it service because I enjoy it," said Carter at that time, adding that he should have honored the guests at the open house because they had been so supportive during his illness.

Among those at the reception was Garry Pullins, social worker for Youth Assistance.

Last week, Pullins talked about the man he had known 11 years.

"Obviously, he was a volunteer par excellence," said Pullins. "Over and above that, he was a personal friend of mine."

Carter had been involved with Youth Assistance some 24 years, he said, and had been active in virtually every phase of the organization, which is devoted to the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

He was chairman of the general committee in 1981 and 1982, and long-time chairman of the camp committee. "That was his first love," said Pullins. "He would go door-to-door getting kids signed up for camp."

Al Carter of Springfield Township will be remembered for his years of volunteer work.

He was also active in research and program development; in recruitment of adults to serve in PLUS, the organization's big-brother, big sister program; and in planning career exploration field trips for high school students.

Through the organization's Youth Involvement Committee, Carter and a group of high school students started a coffee house years ago at the county mental retardation center, Pullins said.

Although Youth Assistance is no longer involved, between 200 and 300 young retarded people continue to meet Wednesdays at the coffee house, he said.

Pullins also shared a fond memory about Carter that involved their friendship.

Carter was an excellent cook, and every year he'd bring Pullins' favorite dessert, banana split cake, to the Youth Assistance committee's picnic.

The agreement was that Pullins got to take home any leftover cake.

"So the joke was I would try to hide it so I could take it all home," said Pullins. He paused before adding, "A lot of good memories there—he certainly won't be forgotten."

Carter and his wife, Sylvia, had been married 10 years.

"He was a very wise person. At times he didn't say much. He seemed to do a lot of deep thinking, and when he came out about how he saw a situation, he'd just call it like he'd see it," she said. "He seemed to be ahead of his time."

From his Youth Assistance activities to being active in the Metropolitan Baptist Church in Flint to simply being a good listener, he was "one in a million," she said.

"He was fruitful. I am thankful to God that he has given me such a husband and given me 10 wonderful years," she said.

Fees to be charged for Spring Cleanup

soon leave the tires in, or they're liable to leave them for us somewhere else."

To charge a fee per tire dumped wouldn't work very well because it would cost more to pay employees to count tires, said Anderson.

The cleanup is scheduled May 16 and 17. Tickets to dump may be purchased at the township treasurer's office, 90 North Main St., Clarkston, or at the gate to the dump site, 6050 Flemings Lake Rd., Independence Township.

Fees per load are: $5 for an automobile; $15 for autos with a single axle trailer or for a pick-up truck; $25 for a pickup with a single axle trailer, a flatbed single axle truck, a dual axle trailer and a five-yard dump truck.

Because of the fees, Anderson said he doesn't expect as many residents to dump the first year.

"It's going to upset a lot of people because it's been a freebie for years," he said.

DASH OF LOVE:

Eateries dish up their stories of romance at the tables

By Pat Young

Romantic scenes are often replayed at area restaurants. Over candlelight at tables or in dimly lit booths, proposals are made, anniversaries are toasted and, well, love is celebrated.

Especially around Valentine's Day, these scenarios are frequent occurrences. There is something to be said for intangible motivators, like Cupid, for setting the romantic wheels in motion.

They don't remember the names, but many restaurant owners and employees do remember the incidents.

Nanjo's Restaurant owner Nancy Clouse recalls the time a young couple met there at the bar, and then returned to the Springfield Township restaurant on Dixie Highway to become engaged.

They've been married awhile, Clouse says, and return to the restaurant often.

Another incident Clouse recalls is the time a young man brought in long-stemmed roses ahead of time and had the waitress place them on the table.

He placed the engagement ring around the stem of one rose, and waited until his sweetheart noticed during dinner.

Unique methods of proposing stand out in the minds of other restaurateurs, too.

Martha Post, an owner of Alexander's Restaurant on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, remembers the time a young couple came in and he ordered a bottle of champagne, placing an engagement ring in his sweetheart's glass when she wasn't looking.

This technique can create more surprises than bargained for. Michael Van Every, long-time employee of La Veranda at Pine Knob, also remembers a ring in a champagne glass.

"It's fairly dark in here," he says. "She didn't see the ring and almost swallowed it."

Another time at La Veranda, a young man about to become engaged used a similar technique. He had

"It's fairly dark in here. She didn't see the ring (in the champagne glass) and almost swallowed it."

*—Michael Van Every
of La Veranda*

frozen the ring in an ice cube and placed that in her drink.

Clarkston Cafe in downtown Clarkston has had so many proposals at a table by the fireplace that manager Leon McNew says they call it their "engagement table."

Frequently, the waitress is given the ring to present at the table with after-dinner drinks.

Engagements, of course, usually lead to weddings, and many area restaurants have been the scene of weddings and wedding receptions.

A memorable wedding took place at 20 Depot Street Restaurant in downtown Clarkston even before the restaurant opened for business.

"A young couple married on the bridge outside the restaurant," recalls owner Ed Adler, "and then we opened the restaurant for them to have their reception afterwards."

It was a beautiful day. Several employees remember the wedding on the bridge connecting rustic walkways that wrap around the Clarkston Mills Mall where the restaurant is located.

They also remember that the couple returned a year later for their first wedding anniversary when the restaurant really was open for business.

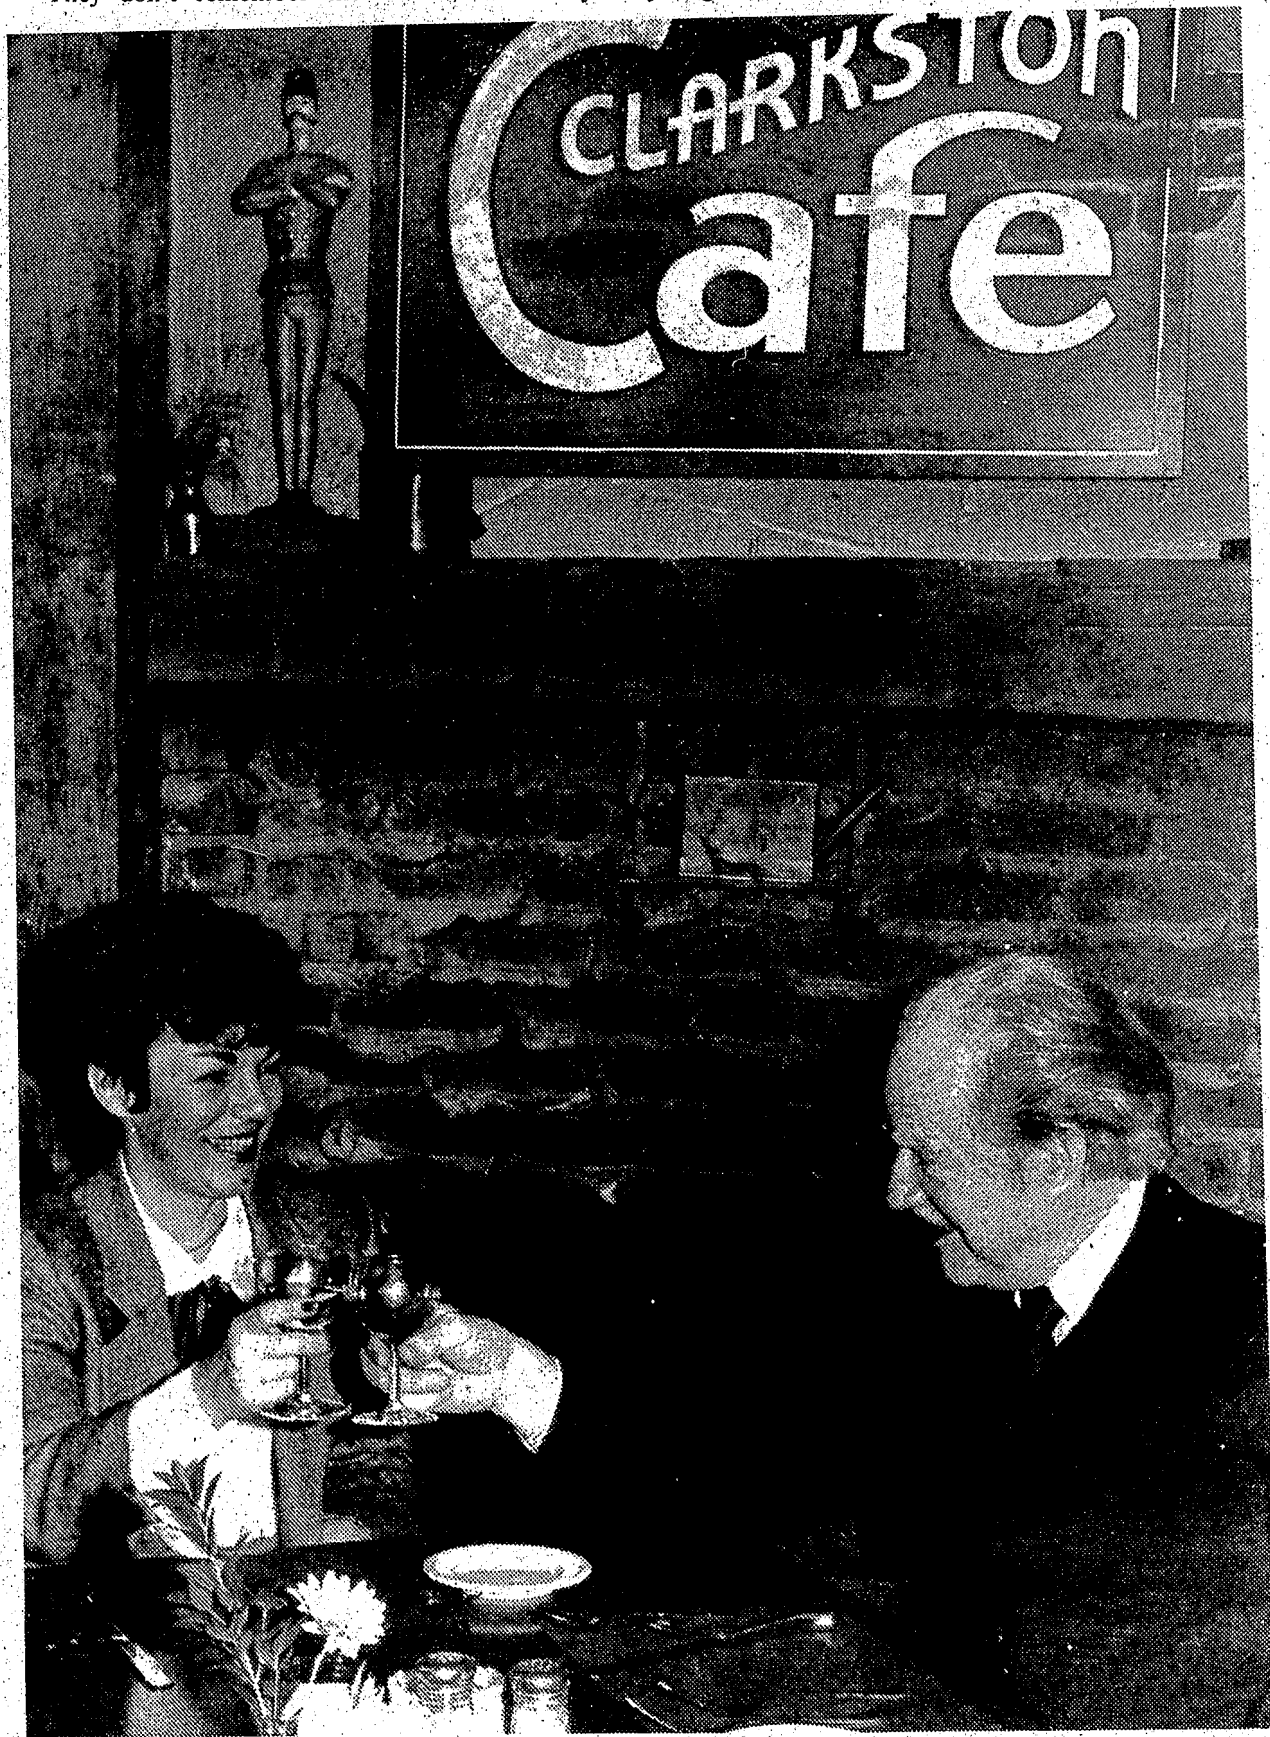

Steve Gabriel, manager of The Nickelodeon Restaurant on M-15 in Independence Township, recalls a unique wedding in the greenhouse area of the restaurant, followed by a reception.

Anyone who has eaten at The Nickelodeon knows the greenhouse—a glass-encased, plant-filled sunken room complete with a pond.

Once married, many couples return to the places where their romances bloomed. Most restaurateurs recall anniversary and birthday celebrations, complete with everything from balloons to belly dancers.

But Van Every recalls a very special moment for one couple that didn't require any extra fanfare.

A young wife took the occasion, over a quiet dinner table for two at La Veranda, to announce that she was expecting a baby.

While they are not getting engaged, Don Hayes, an owner of the Clarkston Cafe, and family friend Sharon Stocker pose at Table 40—called the "engagement table" because so many proposals occur at this romantic spot in front of the fireplace inside the Cafe.

Dry cleaner owner grew up in the business

By Julie Campe

Since age 13, Catherine Feneley has been in the dry cleaning business, and she loves it.

Born and raised in Clarkston and a 1977 Clarkston High School graduate, she worked at several of her parents' dry cleaning businesses while growing up, eventually managing some of them.

Last Thanksgiving, the Waterford Township resident opened her own business—Deer Lake Custome Cleaners at 6700 Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

And she still enjoys the dry cleaning business.

"I've always been my own boss," she said. "This is very challenging, very exciting, and I love it."

What's new in business

"It's the one thing that I know best, of all the things I've got going," said Catherine. "I enjoy getting the response of my customers. . . . They've been very welcoming."

Besides same day dry cleaning, they do minor repairs—a button or small seam—at no charge, she said, even if the customer doesn't ask for the repair.

They also accept shirt laundry. They send them out to be cleaned, although they have plans to buy their own shirt laundry unit, she said.

Leather, suede, wedding gowns and drapes, too, come through Deer Lake, she said.

Dry cleaning is a process of cleaning a fabric without water—good for wools and silks and other fine materials that water might harm, she said.

Instead of water, they use a liquid they call perc, a chemical to mix with a little detergent. They also use certain chemicals to treat certain stains.

In treating a stain, it helps if the customer tells them the cause of the spot, she said. They use different chemicals for different spots.

Dry cleaning prevents clothing from shrinking and doesn't wear out the fibers as it does in regular washing, said Bonnie Lendrum, her dry cleaner.

Bonnie is Catherine's secret ingredient; she's "the best dry cleaner I've ever seen," said Catherine.

She found another secret weapon in Liz Smith, the presser, who takes care of pants and skirts and jackets and anything else. Liz also performs Deer Lake's minor alteration service.

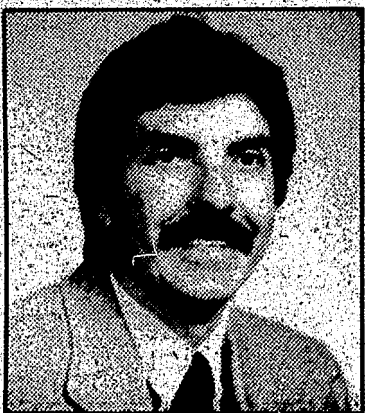

After the clothing is cleaned and pressed, it's put in order and tagged. The garments are then stuffed with tissue to prevent wrinkling and brushed to remove lint.

Next, they're checked again and bagged and put in another line. They're checked once more and then placed on the conveyor belt for easy removal when a customer picks up.

Catherine is proud of her business.

"You pay a lot for your clothes, and you should have them look as good as they can for as long as possible," she said.

Chris Davenport and Patti Lux are among the winners in the Independence Township

Library's second annual Valentine Contest for junior high school students.

Their Valentines are winners

Judges Janet McCord and Anne Hubchen dealt with almost double the entries in the second annual Valentine Contest for junior high school students sponsored by the Independence Township Library.

Children's librarian Anne Rose praised the volunteers for tackling the difficult task the second year in a row.

She also praised the quality of the about 85 entries including two large batches from students of Sally Lindeman at Clarkston Junior High School and Katy Edwards of Our Lady of the Lakes School.

"Lots of imagination was shown and originality," Rose said.

The first-place winners in the three categories won "bags of bucks" filled with 20 Kennedy half-dollars. All other winners received posters.

In the art and design category, first place went to Kim Bell, second to Gerek Granlund and third to Karl Jasinski.

In the wit and humor category, the first-place winner was Jason Trycinski. Chris Davenport won second place and Rick Detkowski, third.

In the poetry category, Andreia Spicer won first place and second-place honors went to Doug Daisy.

General honorable mention awards went to Patti Lux and Jill Valuet.

The judges also added a crafts category and awarded posters to Debbie Truba for a yarn heart creation and Kari Upham for a decorated teddy bear.

All entries are on display at the library, 6495 Clarkston Rd.

Grads

Four local residents are among the 1,207 graduates with bachelor's degrees at the end of the fall term from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

DAR contest winners share love of history

By Julie Campe

The research wasn't so bad, but finding 600 words to write about the United States Constitution was difficult, said Joshua Sutton and Jason Schultz.

The Sashabaw Junior High School eighth-graders placed first and second, respectively, in an annual essay contest for junior high school students sponsored by the Sashabaw Plains Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR).

Schultz pretended to be Benjamin Franklin, writing a letter to a newspaper editor, telling people about the constitution. He likes Franklin, he said.

"Ben Franklin was an important person in history—in the constitution and America," said Schultz. "He did a lot of stuff."

"He was the oldest person involved with the constitution. He did a lot for our country," he said, adding that Franklin created the post office and wrote an almanac and newspaper.

Schultz is the son of Luther and Elaine Schultz of Clinton Drive, Independence Township.

Sutton chose John Hancock.

"I was . . . urging the people to accept the constitution because it would unite the nation and protect them from Britain," he said.

Hancock, too, was important in history, he said.

"He was going to be president if Virginia did not accept the constitution, so he was a very strong supporter of it," he said.

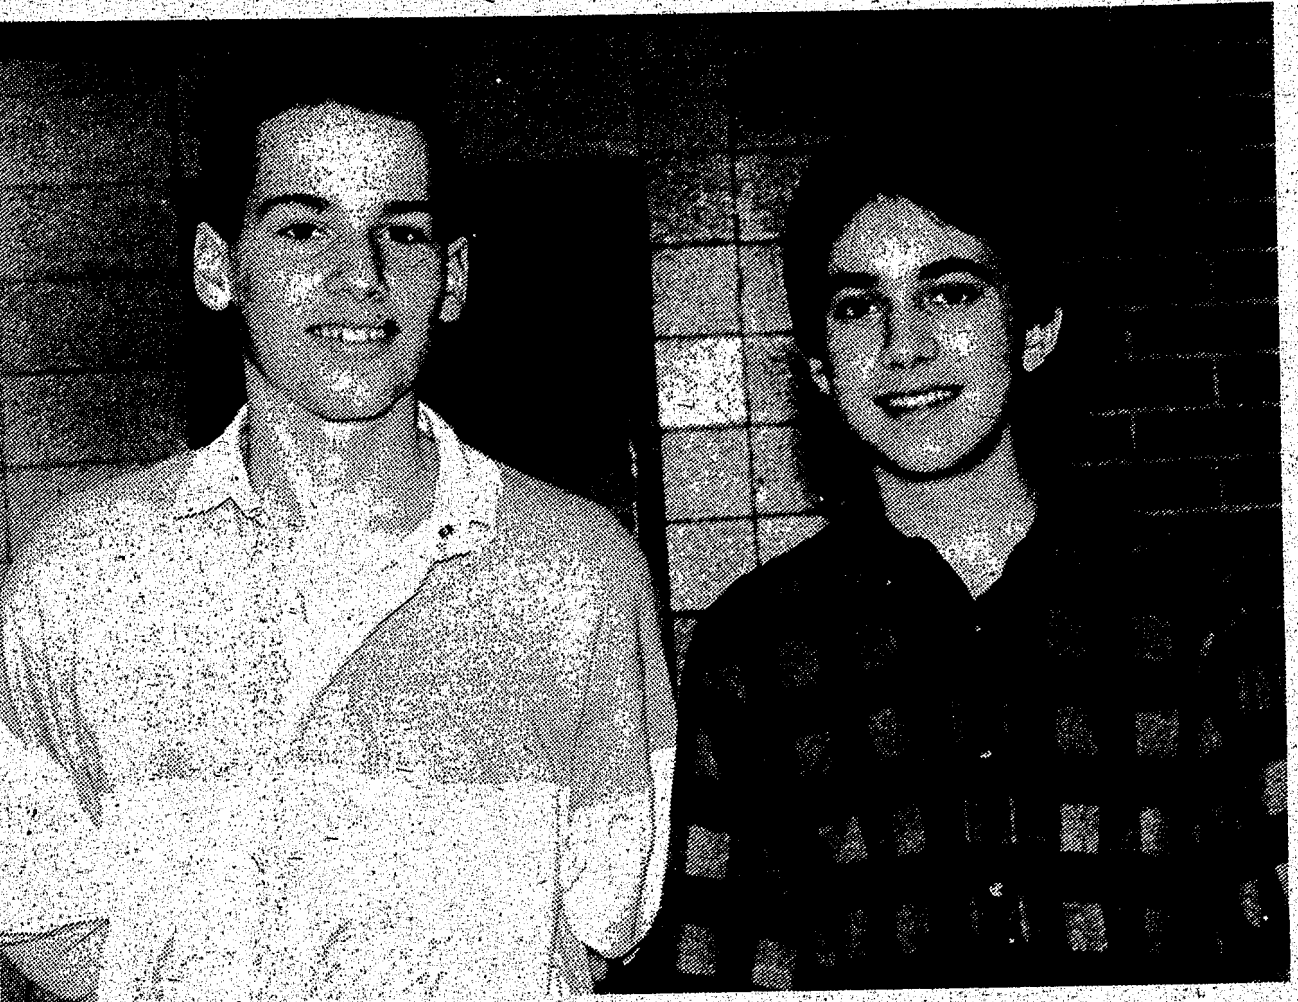

"I used a few analogies that people usually wouldn't use," said Sutton.

He told the people of the U.S. to look at themselves as individual ants and to look at Great Britain as a lion.

"If the lion took one individual ant, he'd win. But if the ants all got together, they'd beat the lion," he said.

Sutton is the son of Dan and Linda Sutton of Woodcreek Trail, Independence Township.

Sutton's essay is to be entered in the state competition. The winner at state receives a U.S. Savings

The boys were the only entrants this year, she said, adding they usually have more.

essay contest sponsored by the local chapter of the DAR.

"They were both very good," she said. "I was not one of the judges, but I got to read them, and I was very proud of both of them. When you have two good ones, it's really rough trying to pick."

Student newspaper back on track at CHS

By Chris Gerbas

"Haphazard" is how Pat Walsh describes the way he got involved in Clarkston High's school newspaper last fall.

It really came about by accident, because Walsh knows computers and the paper is designed on computers.

"I had never done anything with a paper before," said Walsh.

But now Walsh, as student editor, has helped put out three issues of Wolf Tracks. It was called The Howler for two issues, on administrative adviser Brent Cooley's suggestion, but it was eventually changed.

A student newspaper has been lacking at the high school for several years. There have been some false starts, but Cooley hopes Wolf Tracks will go the distance.

He also has no background in journalism, but he said the administration is completely in favor of the students' effort.

"We're hoping to get it back," he said. "It's good for kids who may not have another forum to show off their talents."

He also emphasized that writing need not be the only talent that can be brought to the paper.

Naturally, the paper needs to be laid out and distributed and everyone who works on Wolf Tracks is working on their own time. There's been a core of about 10 to 12 students who have remained on the staff throughout the year, led by writers Dave Kwasnick and Joe Hamelin.

The students meet after school, but Cooley hopes the paper will generate enough interest to offer a journalism class next fall.

Walsh, a senior, won't be around by then. He'll study literature in college, but he's found a new appreciation for newspapers.

"It's interesting how much (work) it entails," he said. "We'll have two weeks when we do nothing and then the next two weeks it's near pandemonium trying to put it together."

Walsh expects the once-every-six weeks pace for the issues to pick up. Wolf Tracks is neat and clear in appearance and will soon be able to print photos, but Walsh hopes to expand and polish the product.

He credits Susan Reeves with lending stability to the paper. Reeves has recently been added as a teacher adviser and she was formerly the editor of the Central Michigan University student paper.

"She's helping a lot with getting us organized," said Walsh. "She's been a wealth of information. She's put some framework into it. I can't stress how much she's helped."

A journalism class next fall would do much to solidify Wolf Tracks' place at the school.

"It can be a student-driven phenomenon," said Cooley.

Snow Shock!
By: Dave Kwasnick

"Whaddya mean shovel the driveway? I've already done it three times today! So what if it's snowing again, I'll wait till it stops." Now, the way I understand it, in Michigan this is a mistake, because I won't stop until some time in late March. "Is this normal?" I ask. I find the answer is sadly, but truly, yes!

Now, for most of you out there, I'm sure you're used to this by now. You probably think nothing of all the snow and ice. But for someone experiencing his first "Michigan Winter," well, let's say things can get a bit strange.

Case #1-School Cancellation: From what I can tell so far, it would take somewhere between two and four feet of snow to close school around here. (And that would be most likely just for the day.)

Coming from an area where two to three inches would do the trick, this is somewhat of a shock. If we have six or even (dread the thought) seven inches of snow, you might as well

Policy Pointers
By: Brent Cooley

Student driving and parking is a much discussed issue at Clarkston High School. The purpose of the parking policy is to insure the orderly and safe use of the parking lots at C.H.S.

Each student is given a sheet with rules and regulations. These same rules and regulations are in the student handbook.

Safe and orderly vehicle use is in the best interest of all people in the school community.

Students who have their cars towed as a result of parking violations must understand the need for proper rules.

We are working with all the groups that use the parking lots in order to insure the greatest utilization of the parking space, without posing undue safety risks to people.

Ooooooh, that's scary

After the second turn in the haunted house, kids were met by total darkness and the yells of Frankenstein (John Coval) and Dr. Frankenstein (Dale Bargerion). A popular attraction at the Clarkston Elementary School Fair on Saturday, the long lines didn't hold back the crowds.

Although Laura Ginn won't talk to strangers, she's not afraid of the witch at the end of the haunted house. Not even the big hat and scary make-up made her afraid of her mother, Mickey. [Photos by Julie Campe]

Do you die younger if you drink than if you don't?

C.A.T. P.A.W.

Chemicals Are Trouble. People Are Working.
Copyright 1987 Jeanette Sanders

Dear Cat Paw:

Can you find some information on STP for me? I'm not sure what it is or if it is a drug, but it was in a book I read and sounded like a drug. Hope you have some luck.

Reader

Dear Reader:

My drug dictionary defines STP as a synthetic hallucinogenic drug chemically related to amphetamine and mescaline.

STP achieved notoriety in the summer of 1967 when hospitals began receiving cases marked by psychotic reactions to the drug. The effects of the drug were said to be more dramatic and longer lasting than those of LSD.

The most disturbing aspect of STP is that it seems to have a cumulative effect.

Dear Cat Paw:

What happens when you drink and are taking antibiotics from a doctor because you're sick? Does the drink do anything to the medicine from the doctor?

Temporarily Sick

Dear Temporarily Sick:

I am told that certain antibiotics, especially those taken for urinary tract infections, have been known to produce reactions such as nausea, vomiting, headaches and hypotension when combined with alcohol.

Please be honest with your doctor and tell him that you drink while you are taking medication. It could at times save your life.

Dear Cat Paw:

Is it true that alcohol is not healthy for you and can give you all kinds of sicknesses and stuff that people who don't drink can't get? Do you also die younger if you drink than if you don't drink?

Drinking Fool

Dear Drinking Fool:

A recent study of mortality from all causes over a 10-year period in non-drinkers and persons with varying degrees of alcohol use revealed that persons who consumed the least amount of alcohol a day, starting with zero, had the lowest mortality rate of any of the groups.

It is important to realize that health problems can arise from any alcohol use. One does not have to be an alcoholic first.

It is becoming increasingly popular to discuss alcohol use as a risk factor for the development of a variety of illnesses rather than limit the focus to alcoholism and major diseases.

Dear Cat Paw:

Is there any relation to drug use and teen pregnancy?

Parent

Dear Parent:

According to a recent study at Johns Hopkins University, about 96 of each 1,000 young women from 15 to 20 years old become pregnant.

Alcohol and drugs seem to dramatically increase the likelihood of teen pregnancy.

Cat Paw author Jeanette Sanders, a Springfield Township resident, is a state certified substance abuse counselor and a member of the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee, an organization devoted to the prevention of substance abuse among the community's young people.

Incredible edibles

Say it with cake

With red and pink the colors of choice for Valentine's Day, desserts can fit wonderfully into the scheme of things.

Two such recipes, for Strawberry Cake and Easy Light Cheesecake, are part of the "Incredible Edibles" cookbook published by the Clarkston Community Women's Club.

The cake recipe is from the kitchen of Rita Spagnola of Drayton Plains and the cheesecake recipe was submitted by Hazel Scheiderer of Clarkston.

STRAWBERRY CAKE

1 package white cake mix
1/2 cup water
1 cup oil
1 small package strawberry Jello
4 eggs
1/2 cup frozen strawberries, thawed; or fresh, sliced

Mix first four ingredients for 2 minutes at medium speed. Add strawberries and mix well by hand. Pour into two greased and floured 9-inch pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

EASY LIGHT CHEESECAKE

2 small or 1 large red Jello
1 cup boiling water
8 ounces cream cheese
1 13-ounce can Pet milk
1 cup sugar
Graham cracker crust
1 stick oleo

Boil water and mix into Jello. Let Jello cool. Beat Pet milk until light and fluffy. Add remaining ingredients. For crust, use graham cracker crumbs and melted oleo. Use 9-by-12-inch container.

Proceeds from the sale of "Incredible Edible" cookbooks are used on community service projects. The 36 books are available at the Independence Township Library, Village Book Store, Carol's Village Grill, Gayanne's Foral Concept and Pontiac State Bank's downtown Clarkston branch.

Jaycees win service award

An award from the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association (MRPA) was given to the Clarkston Area Jaycees last week.

The president of the MRPA, who presented the award, just happened to be from the Clarkston area, said Mark Hallman, president of the Clarkston Area Jaycees.

Jaycees.

Timothy Doyle, director of the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, made the presentation during the MRPA annual conference in Dearborn. Doyle is president of the MRPA.

The award was for outstanding achievement in community service. Over 200 communities were eligible, said Hallman, and 20 awards were given.

The Jaycees' community service projects included their annual Easter egg hunt at the Independence Township's Clintonwood Park and a donation of enough money to buy two electric scoreboards for the softball diamonds at Clintonwood, he said.

"We're very pleased with the award," said Hallman.

American Legion aids Palazzola

American Legion Post 63 is taking a step to help Tony Palazzola.

The members are hosting "Take a Step for Tony," a spaghetti dinner at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 22, at the legion hall, 8047 M-15, Independence Township.

All the proceeds are to go to Tony.

"We think he's a deserving young man," said Dan Daniel, a member of the legion. "It was a tragic thing that happened. The members in our legion post are all from our community, and we like to do things to help. This is a good opportunity."

The dinner includes salad and homemade bread, and they're asking for a $5 donation, he said. The legion is to pay the cost of the food.

Tickets may be purchased at Post 63 or from Donald Kevern by calling 625-2223.

Kevern organized the "Help Tony Walk" fund to raise the $16,000 Tony needs to attend a rehabilitation center in Las Vegas this March.

Palazzola, a 1980 graduate of Clarkston High School, lost the use of his legs in a plane crash at Pontiac Oakland Airport last March.

Charter Township of Independence Notice of Proposed Zoning Ordinance Amendment

Regarding Maintenance of Animals

At a regular meeting of February 3, 1987, the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence introduced an amendment to the following section of the Township Zoning Ordinance No. 83, as amended:

Sections 5.19, 21.02, 21.03

The proposed zoning ordinance amendment pertains to the maintenance of "wild animals" in the Township.

Amendment to add to paragraph H to Section 5.19 to read as follows:

h. Except as authorized in an approved wildlife reserve or zoological garden, wild animals shall not be permitted to be maintained in the Township, temporarily or permanently. For purposes of this Section, the term wild animal shall mean an animal which is not customarily domesticated and customarily devoted to the service of mankind in Independence Township. The characterization of an animal as being wild shall not be altered by virtue of the fact that one or several generations of the animal in question have been maintained in captivity.

Section 21.03, Paragraph 2, "Zoological Gardens" shall be moved to Section 21.03 so as to make such a use a special land use.

The proposed zoning ordinance amendments will be voted upon on February 17, 1987 at the Township Hall Annex, 90 North Main, Clarkston, MI 48016. A complete copy of the proposed text amendment is available at the Clerk's Office, 90 North Main, Clarkston, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted,

Richard A. Holman

Township Clerk

For Betty Smith of Clarkston, 30 was the magic number for retirement. "I think 30 years is enough," she says.

Betty Smith will miss her work

By Kathy Greenfield

The dentists changed, as did the office location, but for 30 years Betty Smith was on the job.

She began working as a dental assistant for Dr. Don Stackable when his office was in his home on Main Street, Clarkston, adjacent to what is now the "One More Time" T-shirt and gift shop.

Then, as now, Betty lived on East Washington Street in Clarkston. Traffic leads the list of changes she's seen.

"I used to be able to walk to work and see maybe two cars go down Main Street," she said, "and, of course, there are so many people I don't recognize. Used to be you'd walk up the street and you knew everybody you saw."

Originally from Birmingham, Mich., Betty and her late husband Dean discovered Clarkston when her parents purchased a cottage on Deer Lake.

"We were familiar with Clarkston and loved it, and found a house we wanted to buy," she said.

Stackable's house-office burned down and in 1962 he moved his practice to a new building on M-15 near Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

In 1979, Dr. Donald Nanney joined Stackable in the practice. Stackable retired the following year, but Betty continued working as a member of the front office staff handling the insurance paperwork.

She's retiring at the end of February.

"I will enjoy retirement, but I enjoyed the work and I'll miss the people up there," she said. "Actually, I'll miss working. I thoroughly enjoyed it."

Betty, in turn, will be missed, said Nanney. "She's a very loyal and conscientious employee and she's always been very helpful," he said. "We're going to miss Betty. She's a real nice lady."

Nanney also shared her reputation as "a walking dictionary."

"She knows how to spell everything," he said.

Following her retirement, Betty will continue to call Clarkston home "because I love Clarkston," she said.

She plans to continue enjoying her hobbies of reading and knitting, and she'll bask in the sunshine during visits to her two daughters, one in Hawaii and the other in California.

Volunteers needed for youth programs

Oakland County Juvenile Court Volunteer Programs will conduct training and orientation sessions Feb. 18 and 25 from 7-9 p.m. in the Juvenile Court Conference Room, second floor, east wing of the Oakland County Court House, 1200 North Telegraph Road, Pontiac.

Those interested in volunteering to work with children aged 6-16, are urged to attend.

Retired state police sergeant recaps career

By Pat Young

After nearly 27 years, Detective Sgt. Richard Chartier retired from the Michigan State Police on Dec. 30.

Chartier, 52, of Independence Township, joined the force in 1960. After a 14-week training course at recruit school, he began as a trooper at the former East Lansing Post.

Following training for a canine unit, he was assigned to the Pontiac Post in 1963, where he had served ever since.

One of the department's first dog handlers with the canine corps, Chartier earned a departmental honorable mention award for locating a young child lost in a swamp.

"It was in the early '60s that a boy about 3 years old wandered away from his home in north Oakland County," Chartier recalls. "Before calling out a large search party, I was first called in to determine if the scent was strong enough for the dog to track. It was.

"The dog followed the scent into a swampy area until he could hear the boy crying. He was standing in waist deep water.

"At times like this, it was a very rewarding job. The family kept in touch for quite a while, letting me know how the boy was doing."

This was Chartier's first dog, Hans. But Hans was hit by a car and killed after a year and a half of duty.

He then trained a new dog, Yul, who served with him until Chartier was promoted to detective sergeant in 1973. At that time, the dog was retired and remained at Chartier's home as a family dog.

"The dog you trained would always be a part of the family," Chartier explains. "That was part of the deal. They road with you during duty in the patrol vehicle, and stayed at your home the rest of the time."

The canine unit is trained to track convicts as well as lost children, and is used in "man work." This means dogs could be sent to apprehend, or to protect handlers when necessary, Chartier says.

His second dog, Yul, was one of the first dogs in the state to be trained in narcotics.

"There was just a great deal of satisfaction in dog handling," Chartier says.

When Chartier was offered the position of detective sergeant, he said he almost opted to remain with the canine corps.

Chartier was awarded individual and unit citations for professional excellence stemming from his work on investigative cases.

"What stands out in my mind the most from all my years with the force is not individual cases, but rather the cooperation between different law enforcement agencies," he says. "Sometimes, especially when you were working on assignments with overlapping jurisdictions, you might be working with three and four different agencies trying to resolve cases."

Chartier explains that, in the past, the state police was more of an "assistance where needed" agency, as compared to being more traffic oriented now.

He recalls investigative cases he worked on such as the much-publicized kidnapping of the son of a General Motors executive. But there are interesting memories from road patrol, too.

"Once, we stopped a beat up old car on the expressway because it was going slow and the driver's outfit was, well, different," Chartier recalls.

The driver was rock star Alice Cooper, before he gained national fame, returning from a performance in Flint. When they opened the trunk, they found a large snake that he used during performances.

Being a Michigan state trooper had its rewarding times and its interesting moments for Chartier. But it also had its sad moments.

"It is very hard to deliver death messages to families," he says. "You never get used to that."

Chartier doesn't plan to stay retired for long, although he did celebrate retirement briefly by taking a vacation with his wife, Jeanne. The Chartiers have five grown children and three grandchildren.

Detective Sgt. Richard Chartier retired from the Michigan State Police on Dec. 30.

Chartier says he would like to remain in the Oakland County area and find another position in investigative work.

"People in Oakland County don't realize the advantages and resources they have here in their law enforcement agencies," he says.

One reason 52-year-old Chartier retired from the state police was because retirement is mandatory at age 56.

As he puts it, "I wanted to retire while I was still marketable for another position."

After her jail sentence is up, the notorious Amanda Yarber poses for her mug shot.

Greg Shupe waits patiently while he does his time. He did try to pick the lock, but jailer Frank Millard caught him. At the school fair Saturday, kids could put their parents, friends or enemies in jail for two tickets (a quarter each). Real police officers volunteered to cover the school beat that day. They jailed people for such things as being too short.

Jailbirds

Eulallo Lee G. Reyes has to keep Brian Trebilcock, 12, in handcuffs until they get closer to the prison cell. Amy Derosher turned him in, said Brian.

Photos by Julie Campe

After two minutes in the slammer, Virgil Martin is ready to get out. He's not sure, but he thinks Kristy Swartout squealed. The jail, designed and built by Jill and Fred Jones, was the biggest attraction at the school fair. Rumor has it that skinny kids sneaked out between the bars.
