Springfield undergoes growth spurt

By Pat Young

Signs of growth are evident in Springfield Township.

The Springfield Township Board unanimously approved final plats for two subdivisions and site plans for two new businesses in the township at the Feb. 11 board meeting, and tabled until a future meeting a third site plan.

"It has been six or seven years since we've had two subdivision plats and three business site plans on the agenda at one meeting," said Supervisor Collin Walls before the meeting.

The first site plan approved by the board was for Holly Greens Storage, a mini-storage unit to be built in the Holly Greens Industrial Park on Enterprise Road.

The township planning commission recommended approval of the site plan with a few changes, according to Walls.

Two feet had to be shaved off the end of the buildings to meet setback requirements and placement of the buildings on the property had to be moved 5 feet, Walls said.

This would make the center drive narrower but

Independence man dies in fire

An Independence Township man died from smoke inhalation Sunday when his house on Eastlawn Avenue caught fire.

Gary Tyrer, 43, was found dead by Independence Township firefighters at about 2:40 a.m., said fire department Capt. Steve Ronk.

A neighbor called the fire department, said Ronk, but the house had been burning one to two hours before they were notified and flames were visible in the windows.

Firefighters found Tyrer in a back bedroom with first- and second-degree burns on his face, arms, feet, chest and torso, he said.

They attempted cardio pulmonary resuscitation, but it was too late, he said.

Apparently, the fire started in or near a chair in the front room, said Ronk. The exact cause is unknown, he said, adding not enough evidence was left in the house to determine the source.

Nearly 40 percent of the house was damaged, he said.

Tyrer was alone at the time, and there was no evidence of a smoke detector, said Ronk.

"Possibly, if he'd had a smoke detector, it could have made a difference," he said.

The fire was brought under control within 15 minutes, he said, and firefighters spent about six hours investigating and cleaning up.

The Oakland County Medical Examiner's report listed the cause of death as smoke inhalation.

HOPPING WITH SPIRIT: Stephany Tedder flies through the air during the leap frog race at Clarkston High School. The event was part of the Spirit Week Field Day on Friday morning. Following a variety of madcap contests—including the Mummy Wrap, Marriage Race and The Chug—the junior class was declared victorious, with the seniors placing second and the sophomores finishing third. More photos are on Page 52.

Springfield Township is growing in spurts

[SPRINGFIELD, continued from Page 1] would still allow enough room for fire lane and customer traffic between the buildings, he said.

The board approved the plan, as changed, with the stipulation that developer Joe Noll provide a copy of easement agreements with neighboring businesses and a letter stating that hazardous materials and flammable liquids would not be allowed in the storage units, prior to the issuance of a building permit.

The main concern of the board dealt with the issue of flammable liquids in the units.

Trustee Charles Oaks asked if there would be regulations regarding what could be stored in the units. Noll assured the board that renters would have to sign a contract which stated the rules and regulations.

"No flammable materials would be allowed," Noll said.

Oaks questioned Noll about whether cars or other machinery with gasoline inside could be stored in the units, again expressing concern about fire hazards.

"Mr. Oaks, I assume you're on the fire department," Noll said. (Oaks is a volunteer firefighter in Springfield Township.) "I suggest you look at the new mini-warehouses along Dixie Highway in Waterford township. It's mostly domestic storage.

"Because of your background, I can see why you're concerned," he continued. "But I can assure you, there is rarely a problem with fire."

He added, drawing chuckles from residents on hand at the meeting, "with my luck, it (a fire) would be in this township."

Another new business getting the nod from the board was Schwan's Sales, to be located in Valentine Industrial Park on Andersonville Road.

Grant Ward, a land surveyor and engineer from Rose Township, represented the owners of the wholesale frozen food business.

Schwan's is a national enterprise, with nine other locations in the Michigan area, he said. The business sells wholesale such foods as frozen pizza, seafood, and ice cream to supermarkets, and also sells certain food items directly to individuals.

"The planning commission wants additional landscaping in front (of the building)," Ward said. "We've submitted these plans, but are now getting input that we may have too much asphalt for what we need, and we would like to be able to go back and reduce the amount of asphalt."

The board unanimously voted to approve the site plan so construction could begin. The approval requires landscaping and paving approval by the board prior to occupancy by Schwan's.

Both subdivision approvals involved subdivisions started in the '70s that are now expanding, Walls said. Englewood Meadows 3 is near Dixie Highway and I-75, with 11 new one-half acre lots.

Twenty lots of one-and-one-half acres and larger were approved for Greentree Estates 2, at the northern end of the township near Kier Road.

The board also tabled a site plan submitted by Metal Form Industries, located at Dixie Highway and Enterprise Drive.

The site plan included landscaping and new asphalt and parking as well as an addition to the building constructed without prior approval from the township board.

No one representing Metal Form was present at the board meeting, and the board unanimously voted to table the request until the developer has had a chance to address the concerns of the board.

Road task force established

A road task force comprised of local government officials was established by State Sen. Richard Fessler (R-West Bloomfield) last month.

The objective of the group is to create major road corridors in Oakland County, said Rick Simonson, Fessler's administrative assistant.

Area members include Independence Township Supervisor Frank Ronk, Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls and Clarkston Village Council President Sharron Catala.

"There's no question that we're outgrowing our roads, and it's a mess," said Simonson.

Specifically, the task force hopes to make a Hagerty Road Corridor between I-275 and M-59, he said. Also, they plan to develop a corridor in Milford between I-96 and M-59.

In the Independence Township area, the committee would like to connect M-59 and I-75, he said.

Everything is in the planning stages, he said, and they don't know where they'd actually create the corridors.

The task force has met twice and plans to meet March 4 in Lansing, said Simonson.

Drug abuse program to continue

SEARCH at CHS addresses student problems

By Kathy Greenfield

SEARCH, a program designed to deal with drug and alcohol abuse by Clarkston High School students, is now permanent.

In July 1985, the Clarkston board of education agreed to support the program for a two-year trial period. SEARCH is an acronym for Support Education Awareness Resources for Chemical-free Health.

On Feb. 9, the board unanimously agreed to make the program permanent following a presentation by CHS teachers and SEARCH coordinators, Katie MacKay and Linc Smith. MacKay and Smith designed and implemented the SEARCH program.

Because the district is in the process of budgeting for the 1987-88 school year, MacKay and Smith requested that the board study a written report they submitted, consider their oral comments and approve continuation of financial support for the program, perhaps at a future meeting.

"Personally, I don't need any more time to think about it," said board member Elaine Schultz. "I think it's an outstanding program and I move to make it permanent."

Board member John Needham also voiced his support, and board member Mary Jane Chaustowich suggested that the board consider expanding the program in line with recommendations made by MacKay and Smith.

The existing SEARCH program is conducted by MacKay and Smith. Both teach half-time and work half-time as coordinators of the program.

As stated in their SEARCH progress report, the main goals of the program are support, education and awareness.

"One of our greatest frustrations is we feel that people still don't understand the magnitude of the problem."

—Katie MacKay
CHS teacher

Support is provided through weekly group meetings for CHS students who may have substance abuse problems (Insight Groups), who are concerned about friends and family members (Concerned Persons Group) and who have had treatment for substance abuse (After Care Group). MacKay and Smith are also available for meetings with individuals.

Evening group meetings for parents, the second and fourth Wednesdays each month, provide family support. Parents can also schedule individual meetings with MacKay and Smith.

The education goal has been addressed with presentations about SEARCH to all high school students and some junior high school students in the district.

In addition, a half-day of instruction for teachers was conducted in October 1985, a four-day workshop on substance abuse was attended by 50 community members in November and each week, faculty members at CHS receive written information on substance abuse.

Two types of awareness have been addressed; community awareness primarily through newspaper and school newsletter articles, and MacKay and Smith have gained working knowledge about treatment programs by visiting nine residential facilities.

Among the recommendations made by MacKay and Smith were the following:

- Creation of a climate at CHS in which it is OK for students to discuss concerns not necessarily related to substance abuse, such as divorce, peer pressure and parental neglect and abuse.

- Closer examination of the suspension policy at CHS to define more clearly the differences between possession, selling and intent to deliver drugs and establish more severe punishment for more severe offenses.

- Building greater parental involvement at CHS with more parents participating in the parent support group and in a PTO.

- Development of a stronger substance abuse program in elementary schools and a SEARCH program in the junior high schools.

- Establishment of an employee assistance program to help staff members with mental, physical and emotional health problems.

- Involvement of the entire community.

"One of our greatest frustrations is we feel that people still don't understand the magnitude of the problem," said MacKay. "It is a community problem."

One statement, for example, said frequently by parents is, "It's ONLY alcohol."

Alcohol is the number one killer for 15- to 24-year-olds, she said.

Missing skier's body found in woods

By Chris Gerbasi

A 24-hour search for a missing Independence Township cross country skier ended when he was found dead by members of a search party in the southeast corner of the township Monday afternoon, according to Marine Sgt. Don McLellan of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The body of Phyleetus J. "Butch" Van Wagoner, 38, was discovered deep in the woods off Maybee Road, about one mile east of Clintonville Road at approximately 1 p.m. after an extensive search.

An autopsy was to be conducted Tuesday morning to determine the exact cause of death, said McLellan, and results were not expected for a couple of days.

"There appears to be a gunshot to the head," said McLellan. "There was one set of footprints near the body and they found the firearm there also."

Van Wagoner, who lived on Hillcrest, was seen leaving his house on cross country skis by a neighbor at about 10:30 a.m. Sunday, according to Capt. Steve Ronk of the Independence Township Fire Department.

Ronk said Van Wagoner's wife and children were at church at that time.

"He didn't return home, his family and friends looked most of the afternoon and when it got dark, they called for help," said Ronk.

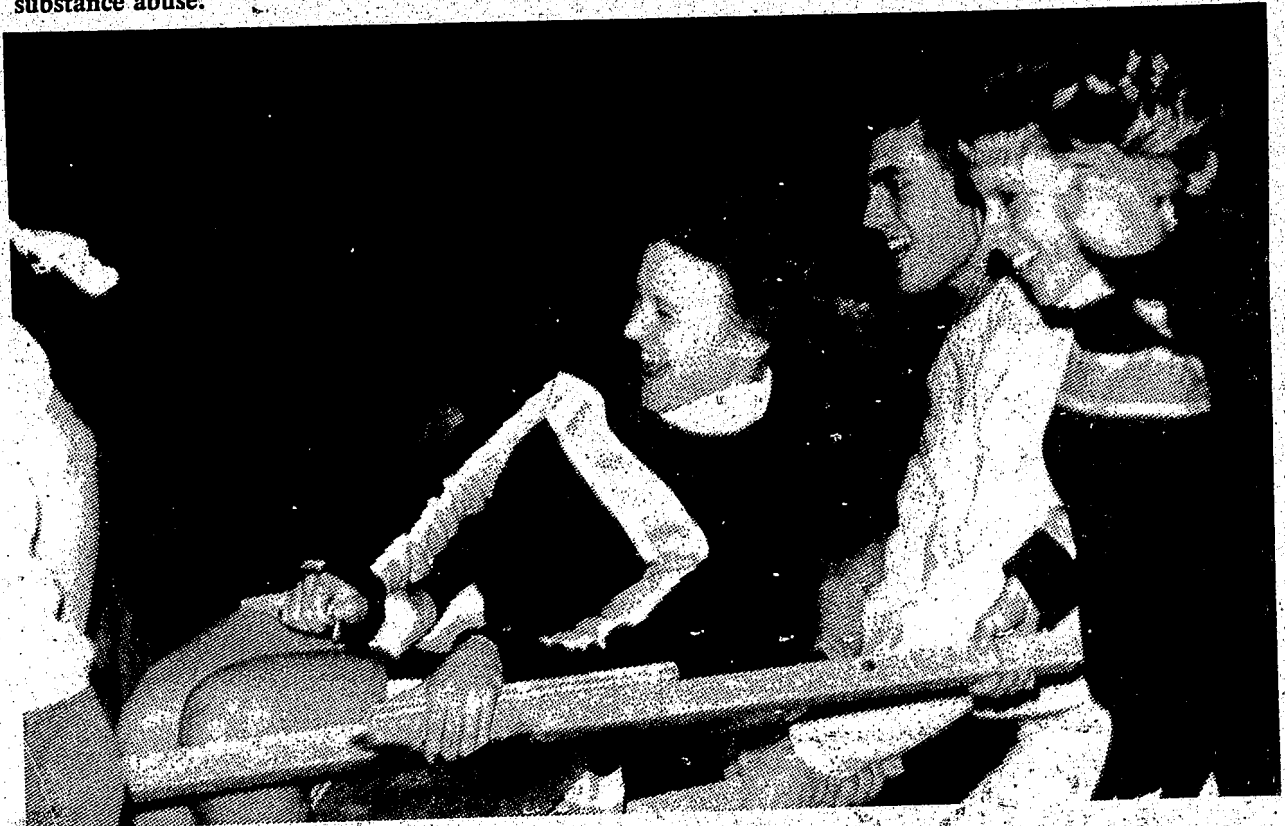

McLellan was called in at about 7:30 p.m. and 50 to 100 officers, neighbors and co-workers of Van Wagoner's combed the area on foot, snowmobiles and all-terrain vehicles.

The search was stopped at 2 a.m. Monday and resumed at 8 a.m.

McLellan said 58 people were out in the field at that time, along with a helicopter from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

He estimated that four square miles were covered on foot by searchers.

"I've never witnessed this many people before in a coordinated effort," said McLellan.

PR award won by teachers union

All 292 members of the Clarkston Education Association can stand up and take a bow for winning the E. Dale Kennedy Award, says Dorothy Leaming.

The award was presented Feb. 5 at the Michigan Education Association's annual public relations conference at Detroit's Westin Hotel.

Leaming, the public relations chairperson for the Clarkston teachers' union, made a presentation about the award to the Clarkston board of education on Feb. 9.

"Many, many teachers have participated" in public relations efforts, she said. "We have all received the award. It was for the association at large and they all deserve a big pat on the back."

Twenty-two districts from across the state won the award this year, she said. Requirements included the submission of a notebook detailing public relations efforts.

Also submitted were two spot-advertising videos with the theme "Clarkston School Employees Make Caring a Way of Life."

The videos were "homegrown and lovingly done," Leaming said.

The award is a quill ballpoint pen and inkwell cast in gold-colored metal and engraved with "E. Dale Kennedy Award, CEA-1987."

Kennedy was a former director of the Michigan Education Association who believed in the importance of public relations, Leaming said.

Students can opt for attention, not detention

By Chris Gerbaal

Garry Pullins is trying to change detention into attention at Clarkston High School.

The change is more than just substituting a couple of letters to give discipline a positive connotation.

The Attention program is an after-school effort by Pullins, a social worker, to communicate with students who might otherwise serve detention or be suspended for some disciplinary reason.

Pullins, who works for the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, got together with Clarkston vice principal Brent Cooley to start the program in January. Pullins meets with students Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Cooley came up with the "attention" phrase, with the idea that kids who disrupt class or cause other problems are looking for attention.

"The kids are relegated to this as punishment for some behavior," said Pullins. "We want them to recognize their behavior patterns, what they did to get into trouble and why they did it."

The goal is to keep students from repeating the disruptive behavior. Since January, Pullins has met with about 18 students and there have been no repeat offenders.

To help his cause with the two or three students he sees each session, Pullins hands out packets which are individualized for offenses, such as cutting class or disturbing a class.

The students read the packets and answer questions such as, "Explain the reason for what you did" and "How do you think most students view you?" and "State two goals that might help you to not be disruptive in class again."

"I explain to them that I don't work for the school," said Pullins. "The answers are all confidential, and I see that as positive because they can open up and tell what they think about the school and policy and so on."

The students also discuss their behavior, reasons for it and how they could change among each other.

"They seem to enjoy doing that," Pullins said. "They're able to vent their feelings and state how they feel, and I think they're much more honest with me since I'm not connected with the school. They'd probably hedge a little with someone else."

Once referred for discipline, a student and his or her parents have the choice of a suspension, if that's called for, or the Attention program.

"Our whole philosophy is prevention," said Pullins about the Youth Assistance group. "And the Attention program coincides exactly with that."

Bank remains closed for now

How long will Pontiac State Bank on Main Street in Clarkston be closed?

Nobody knows yet, said manager and assistant vice president Christine Downing.

They haven't received engineering reports yet on the bank ceiling that collapsed two weeks ago, she said.

They don't know the extent of the damage or the time or cost to fix it, she said.

For the present, they've opened a temporary office behind the bank in the Clarkston Mills Mall.

They'll take limited cash transactions at the temporary office, and the Bank Now machine still operates in front of the Main Street office, she said.

Customers can also use the two other branches in the area at Dixie Highway and Maybee Road and on Sashabaw Road.

The temporary office is working out "very well," said Downing, adding that they're looking forward to moving back to the Main Street office.

Assessments—and taxes—up

By Julie Campe

Taxes are going to increase for almost every property owner in Independence Township.

Most of the 8,037 notices mailed last Friday show an increase in property value assessment, said Independence Township Assessor David Kramer.

Township-wide assessments usually take place about every four years, he said.

While neighborhoods experienced a wide range of property value increases, some were as high as 21 percent, he said.

Houses weren't individually assessed, said Kramer, adding, "Sales (in the past four years) are monitored to determine how much of a change there was in assessments."

If houses are selling for more, assessments go up, he said.

"The values were raised at different increases, depending on the sales activity in a specific neighborhood," said Kramer.

A neighborhood is defined as a group of homes that economically complement each other, he said.

For tax-paying purposes, property is assessed at half its market value, he said.

The assessing office has received several phone calls about the increase—mostly people who want to understand how the assessment is determined, said Kramer.

"If people don't understand, they should by all means call," he said. The assessing office number is 625-8114.

A Board of Review meets March 9 and 10 to handle only two issues: the accuracy of an assessment and hardship—if a person literally cannot pay his property tax, said Kramer.

Appointments for the Board of Review must be made through the assessment office.

Zoning map passes unanimously

The eastern half of a new zoning map for Springfield Township, except for two small portions, was unanimously approved by the township board Feb. 11.

The western half of the map was approved at the January meeting.

A lot-size amendment to the zoning ordinance, which would make all residential lot minimums 10 to 20 percent larger, was also unanimously passed by the board.

One eastern portion of the map to be republished is a parcel of land owned by Ed DePoorter just south of Oakhill Road on Dixie Highway, the location of the Four Seasons Inn and several other small businesses.

DePoorter and Pontiac architect Bruce Smith were on hand at the board meeting to object to changing the zoning on a portion of the 26-acre parcel.

"We have discussed expansion to the Four Seasons complex, adding units because there has been considerable requests for this," said Smith. "We would like to see the neighboring property (to the Four Seasons) remain C-1 (local business)."

The new zoning map allows for 300 feet of frontage to be C-1, with the rear of the property R-1 (residential).

The board unanimously agreed to increase the frontage property to be zoned C-1 to 450 feet.

According to Smith, expansion plans will begin as soon as the weather allows.

Due to an error in the legal publication of the eastern half of the zoning map, lots 1, 2 and 3 of the Springdale subdivision near Dixie Highway and I-75 were omitted.

That portion of the map will also be republished for second reading at the next township board meeting.

Real eye-opener

A special meeting of the Springfield Township Board has been scheduled Saturday, March 7, at 7:30 a.m.

The purpose of the early morning meeting is to "brainstorm and make long- and short-range plans for the township," said Supervisor Collin Walls.

"It's just something we haven't the time to do during regular board meetings," he said.

The special meeting date was unanimously approved by the board at its monthly meeting Feb. 11.

Letter to the editor

What's the next step?

Do your readers know that the Clarkston schools offer psychology as a course applied to high school completion. It is not even a recognized science as many would believe because of its commonness.

Clarkston community "Ed" offers yoga, past-lives readings and astrologer courses. These are blatant non-Christian "religious" practices—they have no place being promoted and taught in the school system. The next step, I suppose, is seance classes?

The school system could save itself a few dollars by cutting out this kind of garbage.

Mrs. D. Wozniak

P.S. I did not appreciate your 1-7-87 article about psychic predictions. That junk belongs in supermarket tabloids!

The way we look

I've sometimes played the "match the person with the career" game, in which you guess what a person does for a living by the way he or she dresses, walks and talks.

The activity is perfect for those times you find yourself sitting or standing around in a public place: large waiting rooms, airports, hotel lobbies, restaurants, malls, and so on.

A related bonus is that you can get to know yourself better—deal with your prejudices, so to speak.

What, for example, constitutes the perfect image for a teacher, judge, secretary, rock star, homemaker, salesperson, student, bus driver, accountant, carpenter, doctor, lawyer, merchant or chief?

Then, too, you can ponder such philosophical questions as, "Is life a movie in which we've all been typecast?"

Actually, I hadn't thought too much about the images people project for a long time—until a few months ago.

The place was the State Capitol Building in Lansing. I was there to attend a government affairs day for journalists from across the state.

I wasn't sure where the meeting began, so I wandered down a corridor that looked like it led somewhere.

I could see several people walking through the lobby way up ahead and was surprised when I realized that I knew, without doubt, that most of them worked for newspapers.

They weren't all dressed the same, either. Some wore corduroys and crewnecks, others wore suits, and there was a fair share of feet in high-heeled pumps as well as practical walking shoes.

Later in the day, we all gathered for lunch. Three people from the same newspaper sat across the table.

The woman wore a suit and proper blouse; one man wore a conservative suit and tie; and the other man wore a sport coat, a shirt open at the neck and seasoned blue jeans.

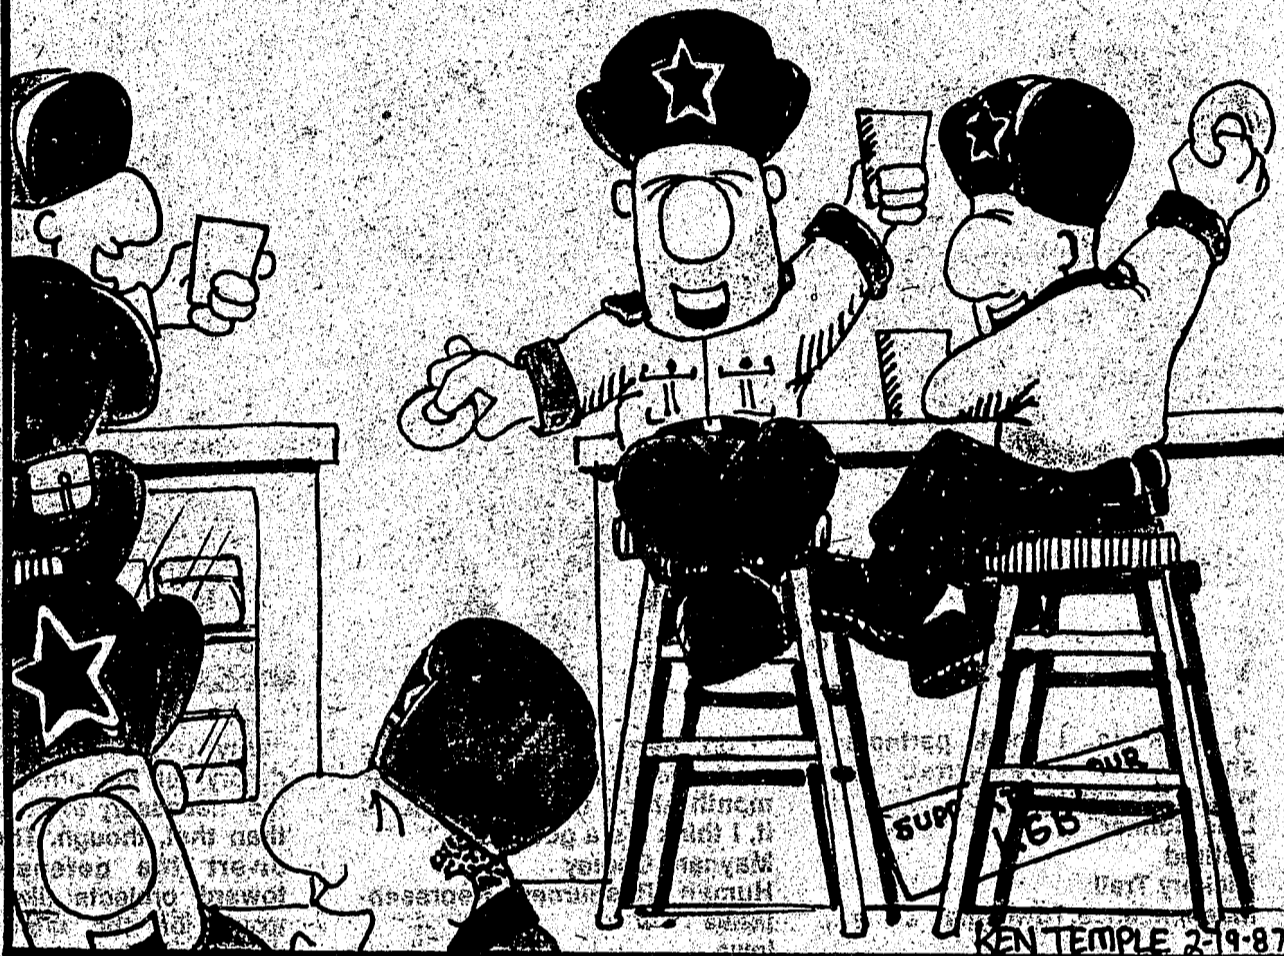

The woman was a reporter. The man in the suit was an editor. The other person, the one in the blue jeans, was the owner of the newspaper.

Now, that surprised me.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

I'm a frequent quoter of Gumperson's Law, which is probably interchangeable with Murphy's Law, McGurk's Law, and your own law.

All somewhat resemble the Law of the armed services, depending which you want to attribute it to, "If something can go wrong, it will."

Readers can appreciate these "laws" more if they have ever wondered why they have to go to the bathroom when their hands are dirtiest. Or, why you hit every stoplight when you have the least amount of time.

You can credit whoever you wish with the following:

All warranties expire upon payment of invoice. You should give Murphy specific credit for his "law": Mother Nature is a bitch. As reported a few years ago, that saying is one of seven framed on the wall at Forest Lawn Cemetery. It goes with, "Everything takes longer than you think."

Columnist Jim Bishop once wrote: The chance of bread falling with the buttered side down is directly proportional to the cost of the carpet. And: If it jams, force it. If it breaks, it needed fixing anyway.

But, back to Gumperson: A Smith & Wesson beats four aces.

Nothing is impossible for a man who doesn't have to do it himself. Along the same line; Anything you try to fix will take longer and cost more than you thought.

Are you beginning to understand Gumperson? Toothaches never start until late Saturday night. The executive who can smile when things go wrong is about to blame it on somebody else. Beauty is only skin deep; ugly goes to the bone.

Government comes to mind with this observance: The greater the funding, the longer it takes to foul up the project. Or, where you stand on an issue, depends on where you sit.

Repairmen are not forgotten... The repairman will never have seen a model quite like yours before... When a broken appliance is turned on for a repairman, it will work perfectly.

I have some personal favorites, some that I've even found myself using in this business, this one in particular: There's never time to do it right, but there is always time to do it over.

Another favorite: The light at the end of the tunnel is the headlight of an oncoming train. And, when all else fails, read the directions... when in doubt, mumble. When in trouble, delegate... no matter which checkout line you choose, all others will move faster.

In the same Jim Bishop column mentioned above, he wrote, "Long before Murphy, it was Dr. Lester Keiser, a psychiatrist with a sense of humor, who propounded the law of life in 13 words."

(1) You can't win; (2) You can't even break even; (3) You can't even quit the game."

Should AIDS testing be mandatory to receive a marriage license?

"I think so. I think partners should be forewarned to whether it exists or not."

"Why not? It's already mandatory for the other problems. It's necessary to do a lot more than that, though. They should divert the defense budget toward projects like AIDS. It would be the more humane thing to do."

Police don't do stakeouts

Jim Fitzgerald

There are a few things you should know.

• A west side Detroit dry cleaning shop was burglarized three times in a week. Each time the thief gained entry by prying open the same hole in the corrugated metal roof of the building. Even Inspector Clouseau, the bumbling movie detective, could see there was a pattern to these crimes.

Earl Radcliffe, the owner of the dry cleaners, decided the burglar should be caught when he came calling a fourth time. To set a trap, Radcliffe delayed repairing the roof and placed some fluorescent light tubes on the floor below the hole so the burglar would drop in noisily. Radcliffe got a gun and spent a few nights in the dark shop.

When the alleged burglar arrived, exactly as expected, Radcliffe downed him with a non-fatal shot. It was good police work. Why didn't the police do it? Is it only on TV that cops set up stakeouts? Why did a 64-year-old businessman have to take the obvious steps necessary to protect his property and risk being charged with using force? (He wasn't.)

Oh, you know, there aren't enough police to catch

all the burglars in the neighborhoods. There are barely enough to join hands and form an unbroken line of defense against muggers from Cobo Hall to the RenCen. Sometimes the mayor is embarrassed because he doesn't have enough police bodyguards to provide a decent crowd at his public appearances.

When our police say they need citizen help in fighting crime, they mean more than phoned tips and willing witnesses. It's a dangerous shame that so many citizens have guns, of course, but what are you going to do when a burglar comes through your roof every few days - hit him with a wet noodle?

If I lived in a neighborhood where the dry cleaner did the police work, I'd take my dry cleaning to the precinct police station.

• I was a little disappointed recently when Focus: HOPE, my favorite charitable organization, refused to accept Christmas money raised by employees of a Windsor strip joint. The Rev. William Cunningham, executive director of Focus: HOPE, explained he didn't want help from an enterprise that made money by exploiting women.

It has always been my sincere contention that Father Cunningham comprises a moral majority all by himself. But I couldn't help wondering if Focus: HOPE believes it has never accepted donations from businessmen who patronize strip joints or otherwise finance the exploitation of women. Wouldn't it be fairer to allow strippers to gain the wonderful feeling it gives all of us - to give to a good cause, especially for Christmas?

And then this month I read about John Rye, a Birmingham businessman convicted in a federal court of failing to report $1.3 million in income. At Rye's sentencing, his lawyer pointed out that Rye had contributed to several charities, including Focus: HOPE to which he sold a company worth $1.5 million for $1.

Father Cunningham testified on Rye's behalf during his trial and was present at his sentencing. He probably didn't say anything about not wanting to accept donations from a man who exploited taxpayers.

Rye's sentence included three years in prison with all but five months suspended. Rye told the judge: "I am a child of God; I err."

As do all children of God, including strippers.

Youth Assistance plans for teen activity center

By Julie Campe

A teen center is in the works for the Clarkston area, although organizers are still addressing the details.

A special committee was formed last week from the Clarkston Youth Assistance (CYA) to figure out where, when and how to go about it, said Youth Assistance chairperson Merelyn Mallet.

"I just think the kids want someplace to go, someplace besides sitting out in front of Quik Pik," she said.

The CYA is an organization devoted to the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

Two Clarkston High School students have worked with CYA in the planning for previous activities, and they're helping plan the center now, said Mallet, referring to Lori Irwin and Sandy Coulter.

The students and several CYA members observed a teen center at a Rochester school two weeks ago, said Mallet.

"We were really impressed," she said, adding the students could swim or play volleyball or basketball or sit and talk.

About 200 people regularly show up for the Rochester program on Saturday evenings, run by the students, and they're charged $1 admission, she said.

For Clarkston's teen center, they hope to let the area's ninth- through 12th-graders run it, she said. Irwin and Coulter plan to visit the junior high school student governments and talk about it, said Mallet.

They still have to figure out where to hold the program, but they'll find someplace, she said.

"Ideally, it would be in the high school, but we have to check on the feasibility," she said.

The next committee meeting is at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 18, at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, 5300 Maybee Rd., Independence Township.

The seven-member committee is comprised of people from several organizations, not just CYA, said Mallet, and everyone is welcome to attend the meeting.

For more information, call the CYA office at 625-9007.

DDA won't use school debt money

An agreement with Clarkston Community Schools prevents the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) from using funds the schools planned to use to retire bonded indebtedness.

The Independence Township Board unanimously approved the agreement on Feb. 3.

"It's certainly a key agreement," said township Clerk Richard Holman, after the meeting. "We're just living up to what we've always said we would do."

The DDA uses tax increment financing (TIF) to improve lighting, sewers and landscaping on parts of Dixie Highway and M-15 in the township.

The township TIF uses 1985 as a base year. If property values increase, and revenue from township, school, and county taxes increases above the amount collected in 1985, the DDA captures the extra money for use in the DDA areas only, said Holman.

The new agreement doesn't allow the DDA to use the money the schools would use to retire their debt—about 2 mills, he said.

Two mills are $2 in taxes for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

Garden expert to speak Feb. 26

Everyone who feasts on snow melt and full-color garden catalogs is invited to talk with landscaper Deborah Silver during a program sponsored by the Clarkston Community Historical Society.

The free program is planned Thursday, Feb. 26, at 7:30 p.m. at Clarkston Village Hall, 20 Depot, one-half block west off Main Street in downtown Clarkston.

Silver is to present slides illustrating period garden design and uncommon plants and share the national award-winning expertise of Goldner Walsh Inc., a nursery and design center.

This winter, the nursery has drawn blueprints for the renovation of the extensive landscape and flower gardens at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island.

Silver plans to work on the gardens until August, using her interest and degree in biology with her creative skills as a landscape artist.

The Grand Hotel will then showcase her talent as a pastel and watercolor artist.

Wint marks decade at county parks helm

By Julie Campe

As far as Lewis E. Wint and Richard D. Kuhn Jr. are concerned, recreational activities are an important part of life.

"As people live longer and retire earlier, the need for parks and activities becomes greater," said Wint, who was elected in January for the 10th year as chairman of the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission.

Kuhn was appointed to a three-year term on the parks commission by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, of which he is a member.

Both live in Independence Township and enjoy their work in recreation.

"Recreation is important to all people, young and old alike," said Kuhn. "I want to make sure that we provide not only for senior citizens, but the younger people, the juniors, too—at a reasonable cost."

"I hope Oakland County maintains its place as a model parks and recreation system," he said, adding he's looking forward to working under Wint's direction.

Kuhn is also chairperson of the Oakland County Board of Commissioner's public services committee and a member of the planning and building committee. An Oakland University graduate, he attends Detroit College of Law.

On Feb. 4, Wint received a Special Award from the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association for outstanding contributions to recreation and parks from a person not professionally employed in the field.

"The award was especially meaningful because it came from the professionals," said Wint.

Wint has been involved with the parks commission since 1974, and he likes it, he said.

"It's been very rewarding," said Wint. "I really have enjoyed it. We've been acknowledged as having one of the finest park systems in the United States."

The 10-member parks commission has a long-term plan of developing the Orion Oaks County Park, about 1,000 acres at Clarkston, Joslyn and Baldwin Roads, he said.

They've begun fencing the area to protect it, said Wint.

Lewis Wint

Richard Kuhn

"We hate to fence it in. It's such beautiful land, but it's being raped by ATVs, people cutting trees and dumping trash," he said.

The commission also plans to open the county's second wave pool at Red Oaks in Madison Heights, he said.

UAW members to receive job retraining here

By Kathy Greenfield

Up to 25 laid-off auto workers may find careers to fill their futures in a job retraining program conducted by the Clarkston Community Education Department.

The 500-hour electra-mechanical technician course would prepare the former factory workers for entry level positions in the repair and installation of such items as VCRs, robots, microwave ovens, burglar alarms, computers and cellular telephones, said Jack Ellis, Clarkston's adult vocational education coordinator.

The $63,000 course, taught at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center, is to be paid for by General Motors and the United Auto Workers, sponsors of a cooperative effort to retrain unemployed UAW members.

The vocational education center on Big Lake Road in Springfield Township is overseen by the Clarkston school district. It serves high school students from Brandon, Holly, Clarkston and Waterford.

A letter of intent from GM-UAW, to support the course has been received, Ellis said. The next step is a signature on the actual contract.

Ellis presented a brief report on the retraining program at the Clarkston board of education meeting Feb. 9.

"We were the only public school invited to participate in this retraining," he said.

After the meeting, Ellis said that Clarkston was the only public school that participated in a Job Fair at the UAW Hall in Pontiac. Other participants were from community colleges and private schools, he said.

During the Job Fair, 135 UAW members who were "laid off or planning to be laid off" signed up to take a test to qualify for the course, Ellis said, and 85 people have been tested.

From the 85 applicants, 20 will be chosen to take the course with the total cost paid for by GM-UAW. Up to five more persons can take the course, but they will be required to pay for textbooks, an amount under $100, he said.

In order to fulfill the contract, Clarkston Community Education must place 16 people in jobs following the retraining, Ellis said.

The course is expected to begin March 3 and be completed by July 3. It will meet from 2 to 8:30 p.m.

weekdays, after high school vocational education students have completed their coursework at 1:30 p.m.

"We're very excited about it. It's a great opportunity. We have good facilities. We have good equipment," said Ellis. "If everything works well, we hope to do more for them (GM-UAW)."

CHS students get boost from clubs

Cash from the community will help six Clarkston High School students attend Project Close-up, a workshop on government, in Washington, D.C.

The Clarkston Optimist and Rotary clubs have awarded a total of $600 for the trip planned the week of March 2.

"It's a good plus that the community has supported us in word and deed," said James Wenger, the CHS teacher who will accompany the students.

While at the United States capital, seniors Kristi Bas, Andy Kar, Jon Midtgard, Cindy Merritt and Monica Strobehn and junior Tracy Manning will meet with senators and representatives, Supreme Court justices, representatives from the State Department, lobbyists and others in an effort to become acquainted with the issues and problems facing the nation's government.

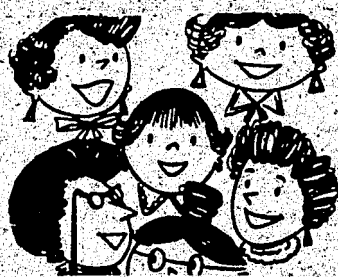

They are among about 100 high school students from across Oakland County who plan to attend the workshop, Wenger said.

Close to $700 is required of each student. The six students have been involved in fund raisers at the school during the past six weeks, and the CHS Student Council has contributed $125.

Jim Evans, president of the Optimists, and Floyd Seal, Rotary president, notified school officials of the contributions from their clubs.

The assistance is appreciated by the six students, said Dr. Robert Burek, CHS principal.

"The financial support of the Rotary and Optimists is part of a continuing commitment by the two groups to support youth and youth programs in the Clarkston area schools," Burek said.

Waterford Hills condos win final OK

Clarkston Bluffs Condominiums, on the north side of Waterford Hill off Dixie Highway, received the final OK from the Independence Township Planning Commission on Feb. 12.

"Compared to what we initially started with, the overall project should be quite nice," said planning commission Chairperson Joseph Figa after the meeting.

It helped that the planning commission and developers worked together on the project, he said.

The commission voted 4-1 to approve the final site plan. With no comment, Carol Balzarini voted "no."

The commission had granted preliminary approval Feb. 5, with 11 changes or clarifications required for the final site plan, said Figa.

The developers met all but one requirement, some minor landscaping details, and they have 30 days to comply, he said.

One of the developers, Charles Bowles, complimented the planning commission after the meeting.

"I think they're great," he said. "They told us what they wanted, and they didn't change their minds. They have the community's best at heart."

Bowles said he's excited to begin, and road construction will start in March, weather permitting.

Starting at $125,000, the 148 units are to be made of red brick, cedar siding and fieldstone, and some units will be built into the hill.

The landscaping plan includes transplanting about 600 trees now growing on the hill, including about 300 with 12-inch diameters, said Bowles.

"We're going to save everything we can," he said.

Bowles, Roy Lilley and Philip Seaver are the developers; Dave Dobran, architect; Jim Buckerfield, engineer; and Environmental Artists, landscapers.

THE WINNERS: Jeff Buchmann and Kyle Powell race to their first-place finish in the Marriage Race, a game during Spirit Week Field Day at Clarkston High School. They had to don clothing items, complete tasks at three stations and run across the gym.

Program designed for stepfamilies

A three-week class titled "Strengthening Stepfamilies" is the latest offering by the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee.

The class is to meet on Thursdays, Feb. 26 and March 5 and 12, at 7:30 p.m. at Dr. James O'Neill's office, 5885 M-15, Independence Township. The fee is $10 a couple plus materials.

The program will explore the following topics:

- Understanding that certain fears and concerns are normal.
- Helping your children and stepchildren overcome difficulties—sharing a parent, adjusting to new stepsiblings.
- Taking the time to mourn losses.
- Starting out—where to live, how to handle finances, developing new household routines and traditions.

- Building your couple relationship.
- Having an "ours" baby.

Two couples will lead the class.

Tom and Laone Trese have 17 children of their own. Laone was a co-teacher of the "Parent Quest" program offered last fall by Youth Assistance and Clarkston Community Education. Tom is a family counselor and social worker at Kimball High School in Royal Oak.

Rick and Lynn Coxen have children from their previous marriages and expect a new baby this spring. Their special family unit gives them experiences to share with other stepfamilies.

For more information or to register for the "Strengthening Stepfamilies" class, call Clarkston Area Youth Assistance at 625-9007.

Road could lead to new Springfield post office

By Pat Young

The Davisburg Post Office outgrew its tiny quarters in downtown Davisburg several years ago, according to Davisburg Postmaster Bruce Bergum.

But the Springfield Township Board took action Feb. 11 that could be just the prescription for the post office's growing pains.

The board unanimously voted to request that the Oakland County Road Commission convert a private driveway to a public road.

"We are attempting to buy a piece of land from the Davisburg Medical Center," said Bergum when contacted after the meeting. "The land sits back off the road a bit, so that's why we need to have the drive become a public road."

"We'd prefer to stay near downtown

(Davisburg)," he said.

Bergum said the process on the new post office could start with the purchase of the property as soon as the driveway is converted to a road.

If converted to a public road, the driveway would be maintained by the county. It is located off Andersonville Road, a quarter-mile from the downtown area.

"This would provide both short- and long-range benefit for the medical center and possible future development as well," said Township Supervisor Collin Walls at the board meeting. "Plus, it keeps the post office here."

The driveway will have to be brought up to county standards before the road commission will approve it, said Walls, and a lot depends on what the property owner is willing to do.

Dennis Pajot, a spokesperson for the Oakland County Road Commission, said the conversion could take weeks or months due to the heavy workload of the road commission, but engineers could be sent out to study the situation as early as next week.

Sheriff's log

Tuesday, Feb. 10, a drywall was kicked in at the Pine Knob ski lodge on Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

Tuesday, five sheets of insulation were kicked out of a house under construction on Balmoral Terrace, Independence Township.

Tuesday, the doors of a shed were kicked in at a factory on Broadway Street, Springfield Township.

Tuesday, a six-shot revolver was stolen from a residence on Reeder Street, Independence Township.

Tuesday, a motorcycle was stolen on Wildwood Loop, Independence Township.

Wednesday, a video camera and player, VCR and a shotgun were taken from a residence on Eaton Road, Springfield Township.

Wednesday, a VCR, $50 in change, a necklace and a bracelet were stolen from a residence on Pelton Road, Independence Township.

Friday, three minors were found in possession of beer on Aspen Court, Independence Township.

Friday, a car's windows were soaped on Allen Hill Court, Independence Township.

Friday, a shotgun, VCR, three paintings, a television and silverware were stolen from a residence on Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

Saturday, two motorcycles were stolen from a garage on Waldon Road, Independence Township.

Sunday, a mailbox was knocked off its post on Boyne Highland Trail, Independence Township.

Sunday, two more doors were kicked in, this time at a residence on Deer Lake Court, Independence Township. Apparently, nothing was taken from the house.

The above information was compiled from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Stop signs proposed

More stop signs may soon be placed in two Springfield Township subdivisions.

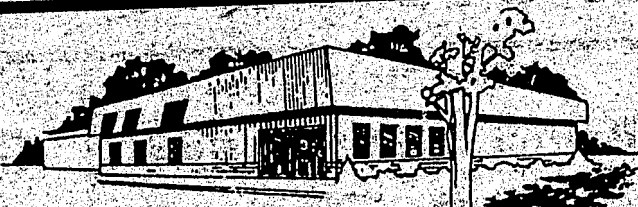

The township board received a letter from the Oakland County Road Commission regarding requests for more intersection control in the Robert Bruce subdivision, off Big Lake and Farley roads, and in the Hillman subdivision in the Big Lake area.

Requests had been made by subdivision residents to the road commission, which in turn asked for input from the township board.

On Feb. 11, the board unanimously voted to recommend approval of the additional stop signs.

Following a study by road commission engineers, stop signs could be erected at Hillman and Morning roads in the Hillman subdivision, and at intersections along North Bay Street in the Robert Bruce subdivision.

The final decision on the signs will be made by the road commission. The decision could be made in the next few weeks, said Dennis Pajot, road commission spokesperson.

Clarkston Jr. High vs. Sashabaw Jr. High

Cougars 47, Wolverines 33

Feb. 10—The crosstown rivalry wraps up the season for both teams and Sashabaw comes out on top to sweep the two-match series.

The Cougars finish 10-2 in dual meets and have lost only four matches in the last three seasons.

"It's always a pleasure to beat Clarkston," said Sashabaw coach Jim Banes. "It's a nice competition."

"It's been a pretty good season for us," he said. "I think we'll be every bit as stronger, or stronger, next year as this year."

Winning for the Cougars against Clarkston are Kevin Kildal at 76 pounds, Mike Stanton (95), Joe Kilgore (101), Garry Line (108), Rick Herzog (128), Sean Cervantez (135), Keith Buhl (141), Jerry Lawrence (148) and heavyweight Tony Miller.

Pulling off wins for the Wolverines are 86-pounder Derek Moscovic, Damon Michelsen (115), Dennis Miller (121), John King (158), Joel Davis (170) and Joe Webb (180).

Clarkston finishes with a fine 7-3 record on the season.

"With the kids we had, they did a nice job for us," said Wolverine coach Dick Moscovic. "They're a hard-working bunch of kids and I think it showed. They did more than what they thought they could do at the beginning of the season."

Clarkston Wrestling Club Invitational at Sashabaw Jr. High

Feb. 15—The club hosts its own tournament and wins 20 medals, including nine for first place:

8 & under novice: Erhen Drescher second at 60 pounds; and Elvis Jones third at 60.

8 & under advanced: Arron Grant first at 40; Kevin Barnes first at 70; Jason Tiefenback second at 50; and Dennis Busch third at 55.

9-10 novice: Jesse Laycock first at 65; Chad Auten first at 70; Jason Simpson second at 65; and Jeremy Keiser third at 85.

9-10 advanced: Armin Michelsen first at 75; Chad Granlund second at 55; Corey Grant second at 65; and Mark Endreszl third at 60.

11-12 novice: Steve Carpenter second at 90.

11-12 advanced: Brett Walter first at 60; Jeff DeRoseau first at 70; and Jerry Anderson first at 80.

13-14 advanced: Damon Michelsen first at 126.

15-16 advanced: John Anderson third at 121.

Also, Kevin Barnes takes third at 67 pounds at a Mid-Michigan Wrestling Association tournament in Bentley Feb. 14.

Basketball

Clarkston Junior High Wolverines 70, Pierce 66

Feb. 12—Reggie Reed has a great all-around game to lead the 7-7 Wolverines. He scores 22 points, grabs seven rebounds, passes for nine assists and comes up with eight steals.

Clarkston leads by as many as 19 before coasting. Pierce had beaten the Wolverines, 65-44, earlier in the year.

Bill Knight adds 20 points, 15 rebounds and six steals and Jason Brown scores 15 for Clarkston.

Mason 58, Wolverines 46

Feb. 10—Mason pulls away in the fourth quarter and Clarkston turns the ball over 33 times in the contest.

Reed is the only Wolverine in double figures, with 20 points.

Clarkston/Sashabaw 7th/8th Grade

Feb. 11—Clarkston's seventh graders (4-2) triumph, 43-36, over Lake Orion, while the eighth-grade team falls to 0-6 with a 42-19 loss to Lake Orion.

For the seventh-grade team, Jeremy DeLoney scores 20 and Mark White, Dave Studt and Dave Smith also contribute.

The eighth-graders play their second game without top scorer Mike Stoutenberg, who broke his ankle in practice Feb. 6. Dennis Wyss scores six and grabs 10 boards against Orion.

Feb. 9—Both Sashabaw teams down their Clarkston rivals, with the eighth-grade team winning its first game, 39-24, and the seventh graders winning, 34-33, on a last second shot by Mark Peterson.

The Cougar eighth-graders (1-4) are led by Chris Wasilk's 15 points and Darrin Masters' nine.

Jerod Johnson scores nine and Kevin Kozolwicz gets 10 rebounds in the losing cause for Clarkston's eighth-grade squad.

In the seventh-grade game, Lucas Fedio hits a shot with six seconds left to give Clarkston its first lead of the game, but Peterson comes back with a 12-footer as time runs out.

Fedio scores seven for Clarkston and Dugan Fife leads Sashabaw (4-1) with 10.

Volleyball

Clarkston High Junior Varsity Wolves 15-15; Waterford Mott 4-1

Feb. 16—The Wolves have a field day serving and walk over Mott to improve to 6-1 in the Greater Oakland Activities League and 17-7 overall.

A victory at Lake Orion this week will give them the league championship.

Coy Carlson serves seven aces against the Corsairs and Tisha Sherman, Kari Abbott, Kelly Avenall and Shawna Jordan are all perfect from the serving line. Jessica Smith goes four for five in attacks with one kill.

Wolves 12-15-15, Kettering 15-13-5

Feb. 11—Clarkston trails 13-12 in the second game, but fights off the Captains and then coasts in the third game.

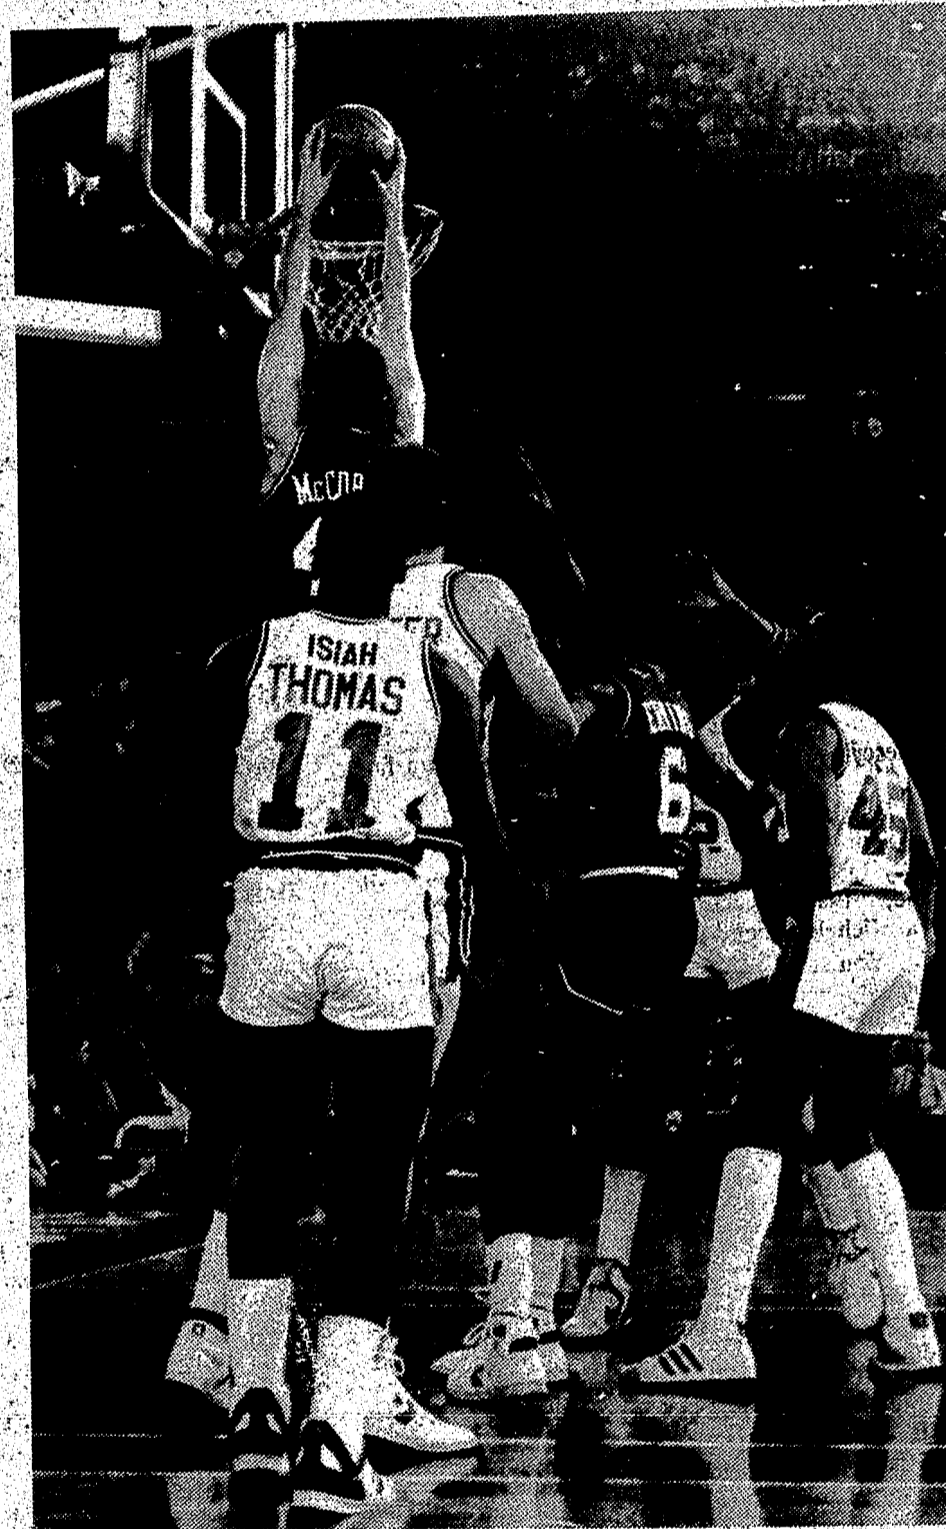

Heather Behrens serves 11 of 11 with five aces, Tammy Jeans is nine for nine with three aces and Avenall is eight for eight with two aces. Abbott sets 20 of 29 balls and also gets four kills.

Sashabaw Junior High

The Cougars improve to 13-4 with a 7-15, 15-5, 15-5 victory over Lapeer East Feb. 10 and a 15-2, 7-15, 15-4 win against Howell Feb. 9.

Sue McKoin and Emily Zubalik lead the attack against Howell, but at a scrimmage tournament in Lakeville Feb. 14, both players suffer ankle injuries which may sideline them this week.

Clarkston native Tim McCormick goes in for an easy dunk as 52,745 fans look on at last Saturday's Detroit-Philadelphia game. McCormick scored 23 points in his first visit to the Dome this season.

McCormick comes home again

Doors open up to opportunity

By Chris Gerbasi

It would be nice to think that 52,745 fans came out to see Tim McCormick play for Philadelphia against Detroit at the Silverdome last Saturday night.

That wasn't the case, as about half of the fans came because of a promotional giveaway, but McCormick certainly had his share of family, friends and fans in the stands.

One of Clarkston's best-loved athletes responded on Valentine's Day with 23 points, although it wasn't enough to keep the Sixers from losing to the Pistons, 125-107, before the largest crowd to ever see a basketball game in the United States.

Sports

The contest marked McCormick's first appearance at the Dome this season and also his first as a Sixer.

"Excitement" rather than nervousness, was how he described playing in front of the hometown fans again.

"I was going through the scrapbooks, there's a lot of fond memories," said McCormick, as he patiently answered questions in the locker room after the game, dressed, packed his traveling case and sipped on a Michelob Light.

"You see all your old friends, some you haven't seen for four or five or six years. It brings back a lot of nice memories."

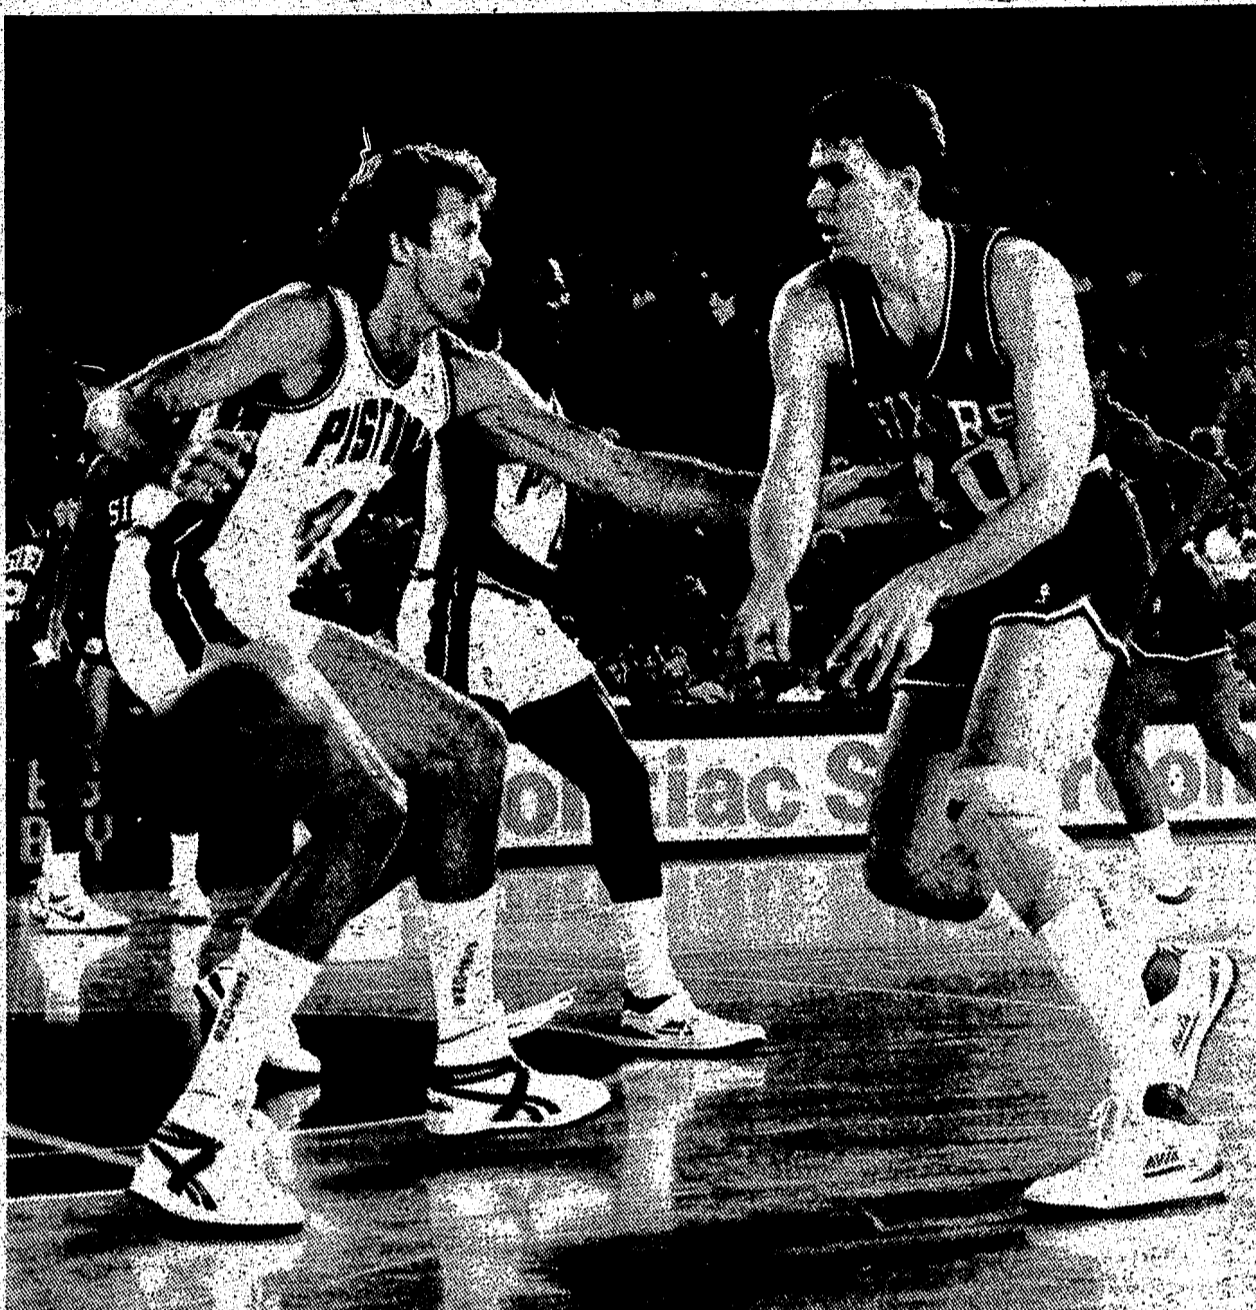

It's been one of those "right time at the right place" kind of seasons for McCormick personally, but a frustrating one for his team.

The third-year player was elated to be traded just before the season started from Seattle, one of the worst teams in the league last year, to the vaunted Sixers.

He then stepped into the starting lineup at center early in the season when Jeff Ruland went down with an injury. Ruland's injury was a big blow for the team, which had a very un-Sixer-like 28-22 record as of Saturday.

But for McCormick, the situation has meant a great amount of exposure playing in Philadelphia.

The Sixers have long been one of the NBA's elite, the kind of team that has young fans all over the country buying jackets and caps with the team's logo on them.

Philadelphia's Tim McCormick passes off as Detroit's Kurt Nimphus guards. McCormick has been starting at center for the Sixers since an injury sidelined Jeff Ruland early in the season.

Suddenly, McCormick was one of them, wearing not just a cap, but a Sixers uniform, among Charles Barkley, Maurice Cheeks and, of course, the Doctor, Julius Erving.

McCormick himself was once that adoring young fan, wanting to meet Erving after a game when McCormick was still in high school.

"I watched Julius and the way he handled reporters," McCormick said. "And I wore red high-top Converse shoes, just like him, and I took off one shoe and went over to him and had him sign it."

"He asked me about my high school team and I thought that was so special that he would do that," he said. "When I got home, the other shoe, I threw it away and put the one he signed on my mantel."

McCormick is still asking Dr. J for autographs. After Saturday's game, he asked Erving to sign programs for some friends.

"He's made the most of his opportunity," said Erving. "He's trying to establish himself and he's gotten a lot of mileage out of it."

"I knew what my role would be when I was traded," said McCormick. "I knew I'd be a backup to Jeff Ruland. I also knew he has not been healthy for the last couple years and that if I played hard maybe I'd get my chance."

"Fortunately for me and unfortunately for Jeff and the team, that happened early in the season."

While the team's acquisition of Ruland from Washington for Moses Malone made the big headlines, it's now the McCormick deal which has become important.

He's the only Sixer to play in every game and he's averaged 11.8 points per game and 7.5 rebounds a contest. And he's made a home for himself.

"I think their (Philadelphia fans) reaction was very positive," McCormick said. "I just go out and play as hard as I can. They've been very nice to me. They like basketball and if you play hard, they enjoy that."

"It's a great place to play and I hope to stay there for quite a while."

Skiers continue their roll in postseason

After one of the toughest meets of the season, the rest should be all downhill for the Clarkston ski teams.

Actually, that's easier said than done, since the last two meets are the regionals, this Thursday at Pine Knob, and the state finals March 2.

But the Wolves more than held their own at last week's Southeastern Michigan League Championships at Alpine Valley as the boys won and the girls took second place.

"Competition-wise, this was probably our hardest meet," said coach Don Balzarini. "There were more strong teams here and it's probably tougher than the regional numbers-wise."

The SEML meet brought together the top three teams from Pine Knob, Mount Holly and Alpine Valley, along with some top individuals.

Clarkston's boys team romped, gathering 82 points compared to 134 for runner-up Grand Blanc. Lakeland was third with 151 points, Rochester Adams was fourth at 184 and Birmingham Brother Rice was fifth at 188.

Sophomore Rob Brown finished second in the slalom and third in the giant slalom for the Wolves.

In the slalom, he was followed by Gunnar Karlstrom (ninth), Mike Foyteck (16th), Matt Ritter (21st) and Jeff Roeser (31st).

Ritter raced to sixth in the GS, Foyteck was eighth, Karlstrom 17th and Jeff John was 31st.

While the girls lost a meet for the first time this season, they came in second to a talented Grand Blanc team, 123-134. Adams was third with 147 points, followed by Rochester, 155, and Flint Powers, 190.

Shelly Purdy had the best performance among the Wolves, skiing to sixth in the slalom and seventh in the giant slalom.

Tina Sheppard was 15th in the slalom, Jackie Jablonski was 16th, Laura Howse 25th and Serena Brown 27th.

Howse wound up 15th in the GS, Sheppard was 24th, Tammy Spaven 26th and Suzy Learmont 38th.

"They did a good job," said Balzarini. "We got help from people like Jablonski and Spaven, who got faster, had a strong meet and helped us a lot."

Wolves bear down for a Mott rematch

Six straight victories have served notice that Clarkston is again a basketball team to be taken seriously.

The Wolves are now in the thick of the Greater Oakland Activities League title chase after a 54-46 win at home over Pontiac Northern last Friday.

They also defeated Holly, 58-45, Feb. 10 and are 10-6 overall. Their 3-2 league mark is one game behind Waterford Mott's 4-1 record. The Corsairs are 11-3 on the season.

Both teams have three league games remaining, with the most important one coming this Friday when Clarkston travels to Mott and tries to avenge an earlier 53-40 loss.

"We've come out of some bad times," said coach Dan Fife. "We've started three juniors and they've given us a lot."

"But what's probably made the difference is that the three kids who aren't starting anymore are playing with the same intensity that they did to start," he said. "Sometimes a senior will quit on you in that situation."

The Northern game was not an artistic success, as neither team shot particularly well, but Dan Jokisch put his signature on a masterpiece performance.

He scored inside and outside and finished with 30 points, to go with 16 rebounds. His two best games this season have come against the Huskies. Previously, he had 26 points and 18 boards in a 77-52 blowout at Northern.

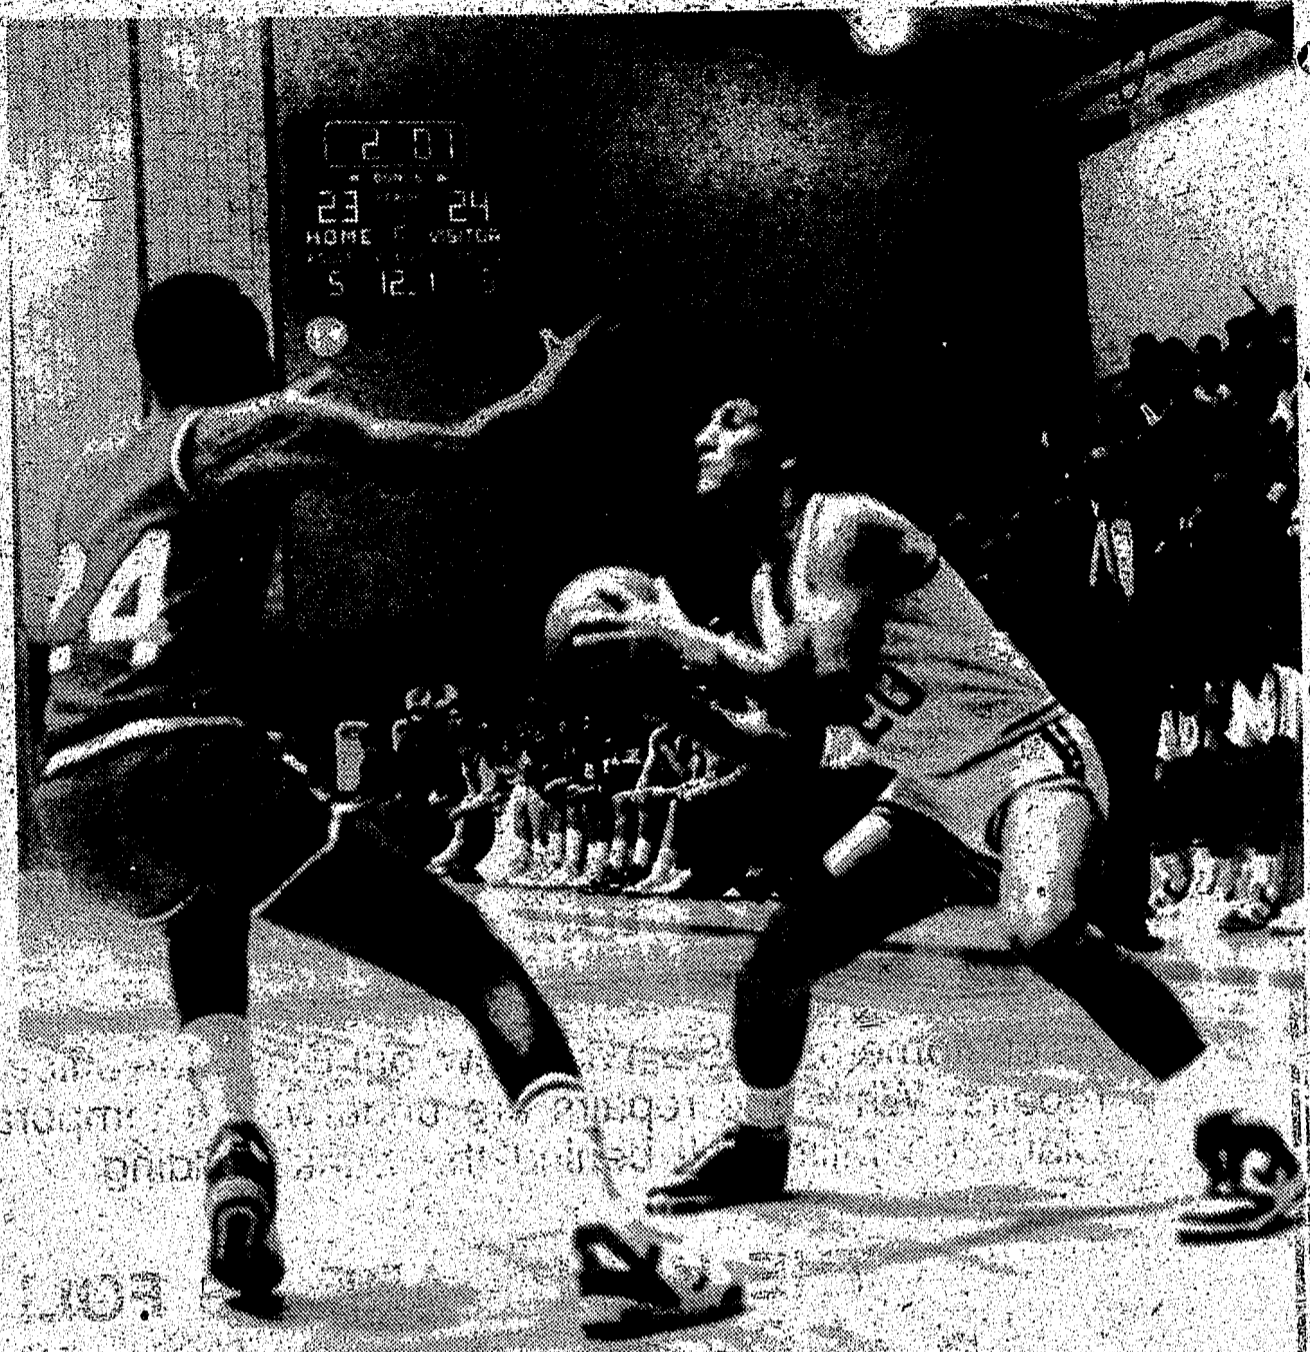

"He has a lot of respect for Northern and their kids," Fife said. "He's struggled all year. He's played to the level of competition that he thought it was."

The game was tied at 24 at halftime as Jokisch had 12 points and Northern's Ben Crenshaw popped in 10. He finished with a team-high 19.

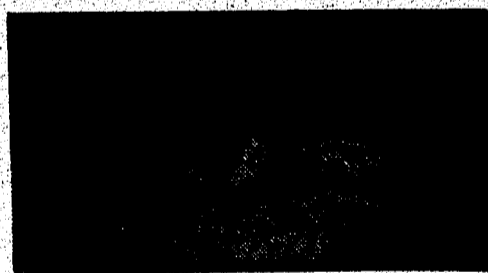

Jokisch and Steve Secatch sparked an 8-1 run in the third quarter, which gave the Wolves the lead for good. They led 40-34 after three, and by as many as 13 points in the fourth quarter.

In the Holly contest, Jokisch paced a balanced scoring sheet with 13 points and 13 rebounds. Jeff Tungate pumped in 12 and Josh Newblatt scored nine, and Clarkston went out to a 19-10 first quarter lead and never looked back.

"Some games it doesn't look that good, but we are playing better," said Fife. "And if we don't have as smooth a game, that shouldn't detract from the fact that we're winning."

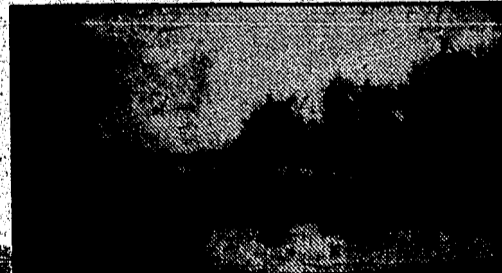

Josh Newblatt looks for an opening against Pontiac Northern's Ty Hill in action last Friday. The Wolves won, 54-46, to pull to within one game of league-leader Waterford Mott, which they will play this Friday.

Spikers win league, but look to playoffs

Ho-hum, another league title. That seemed to be the reaction Monday when Clarkston's volleyball team clinched the Greater Oakland Activities League championship with a 15-4, 15-0 yawner over Waterford Mott.

In fact, coach Nancy McCarrick forgot to say anything about it in her postgame comments to her team.

The Wolves have won or shared the crown the last four years under McCarrick, who obviously has higher aspirations in mind.

"We've faced real good competition. There's teams with better records, but they haven't played anybody and I'm hoping that helps us further on down the line," said McCarrick, meaning the post-season playoffs.

Against Mott, Coreen Hummel served all 15 points in the second game and Missy Odell served six in the first.

Clarkston was 7-0 in the GOAL going into this week's match at Lake Orion and 31-7 overall.

Six of those seven losses have come against top 10 teams, including two against Sterling Heights Stevenson last Saturday at the Clarkston Invitational.

The Wolves lost their first match of the day to Stevenson and also their last, 10-15, 12-15, in the tourney finals.

They beat highly ranked Warren Woods Tower for the third time this season and also defeated Ferndale, Rochester and Flint Northern.

In what McCarrick called the team's best match of the year, Clarkston topped Waterford Kettering, 15-8, 15-8, Feb. 11. Odell had six kill hits and Wendy Cohoon had five.

Wendy Cohoon, Ali Fedie, Gina Houck and Missy Odell scrambled but couldn't win this point against Rochester last Saturday.

Clarkston won the match, however, but eventually lost in the finals of its own invitational.

Odell heads for WSU

In the past, Missy Odell has said she likes volleyball, basketball and softball equally.

But when a decision had to be made last week, she signed a letter of intent to play volleyball at Wayne State University.

She will receive a partial scholarship for her freshman year and possibly a full scholarship for her last three years.

"I could've played both basketball and softball (at Wayne State); the coach wanted me for both," said Odell. "But I wanted to concentrate on one sport."

So she'll play volleyball under coach Matt Peck. She also received a solid offer from Northwood Institute, but it was not as attractive.

"Wayne has a wider variety of majors I might be interested in," said Odell, who may major in physical education or physical therapy.

"They have great players and they were really nice and friendly," she said. "One of them might have a chance to play in the Olympics and she'll be a senior when I'll be there and I hope to really learn from her."

"It's going to be nice and I hope I really enjoy it down there."

Crystal clear

Great seats, huh buddy?

Chris Gerbasi

Courtside to history
Out of 52,745 seats filled at the Silverdome last Saturday, I couldn't have asked for a better one than sitting on the sideline taking pictures of the Pistons-Sixers game.

There's never been more people gathered to watch a basketball game at any time anywhere in the country since the day Dr. Naismith nailed a peach basket to the wall.

Basketball? Heck (yes, heck), that's more fans than some of the Lions football games attracted this past season.

The primary reason for the overflow crowd was that the Marathon Oil Company annually picks out a game, buys 25,000 tickets and then distributes them.

The other reasons, of course, were the smooth-running Pistons and their opponents, the Sixers, who always draw well at the Dome.

For Philly fans, the main attraction is still Dr. J, Julius Erving, who's making his final rounds in the league this year, along with Charles Barkley, who's kind of a "Refrigerator" with wheels.

Unfortunately for those fans, Barkley stayed home because of cellulitis, which either means he has inflammation of cellular tissue or he needs to work off unsightly fat.

And the Doctor, while still a smooth operator, did not put on a clinic, although he did score 15 points.

Whatever the reasons for the crowd, it was impressive to look up from the court and see that I was entirely surrounded by fans.

It was my debut as a photographer at a Pistons game and, quite frankly, I think the management should be more careful about giving out press passes. There were some shady-looking characters with cameras, perhaps myself included.

But it was great to be that close to the action; to be a few feet away as Isiah Thomas went down the court one-on-two, split the defenders, made an improbable scoop shot and drew a foul.

Or to see the intensity and anger on the faces of Erving and Adrian Dantley as they staged their own little mini-duel of drives to the hoop.

And there were also some old faces, on and off the court.

In the stands were a couple of old favorites who wouldn't miss a chance to show off before a huge crowd and if you've been to many games, you probably know them.

The old guy with bushy eyebrows and glasses, who wears a white hat and a wide tie, always has a sign, kicks his heels high to the music during timeouts and won't take "no" for an answer when he asks a section to start cheering. I mean, the guy is almost violent. You must cheer.

Then there's the bosomy blonde who's not shy, wears revealing white outfits and likes to shake her, uh, hips to the timeout music.

A classic scene is when the two of them get together to get the fans stirred up. I saw them near each other late in the game, but thousands of people were disappointed when the P.A. announcer talked throughout a timeout.

On the court, it was nostalgia time as Crazy George entertained during the game. George was one of the sideshow attractions the Pistons needed several years ago when they were only winning 16 games in a season.

He's a master dribbler and ball-spinner and while he looked the same, he appeared a little rusty at dribbling five balls. But who's going to fault him for that?

The other familiar face, of course, was Tim McCormick. Sometimes I still can't believe that he starts at center for the Philadelphia 76ers.

I remember seeing him play, and sometimes being booed, at Michigan and it seems like he's ridden a very fast wave of success from his senior year to an NBA career.

After the game, it was good to hear the sincerity in his voice when he said he would always miss Clarkston.

Grapplers finish fourth at league meet

A fourth-place finish among five teams may not seem like much to brag about, but Clarkston wrestling coach Scott Strickler was not disappointed with the Wolves' effort at the league meet last Friday.

"It was pretty close between the top four," said Strickler. "I was quite satisfied, to tell you the truth. It's a tough league. The three ahead of us are ranked in the top 10 in the county."

Lake Orion won the Greater Oakland Activities League meet with 154 1/2 points, followed closely by Pontiac Northern with 151 points. Waterford Kettering totaled 139, Clarkston had 110 and Waterford Mott 50.

Five Wolves advanced to the finals of their respective weight classes and Scott Emery emerged victorious at 145 pounds. Emery decisioned Steve Benninger of Lake Orion, 7-5.

Settling for second place were Chris Luzi at 112 pounds, Daye London (119), Rob Lund (126) and Matt Stark (185).

Taking third were Mark Ice (105), Troy Castle (198) and heavyweight Mark Oswald.

Earlier last week, Oswald helped Clarkston attain one of its season goals by pinning James Whitlow in 35 seconds to give the Wolves a perfect 6-0 record at home.

They wanted to go undefeated at home and they needed a pin from Oswald to eke out a 36-35 victory over Beecher. For the second time this season, Oswald pulled out a win for his team.

Clarkston also routed Armada, 63-12, to lift its record to 12-7 in dual meets. The Wolves were 7-11 a year ago.

The next big meet is the district this Saturday at

Scott Emery gets a leg up on his Flint Beecher opponent last week. Emery, who wrestles in the 145-pound class, was Clarkston's only victor in last Friday's GOAL meet, as the Wolves placed fourth.

Walled Lake Western.

"It's probably the second-toughest district in the state," said Strickler. "Realistically, I hope for four, maybe five kids to make it out (to the regional)."

"We've had one kid each of the last two years (go to regionals) and we're hoping to make a better performance. It would be a good experience for the kids to taste the regional."

Muhleck gets shot at OCC

Tom Muhleck is making the most of his playing time for Oakland Community College's basketball team.

Although the 1983 Clarkston grad doesn't see a lot of time off the bench, he has averaged four points, two assists and two steals per contest in the 18 games he's played.

Muhleck, who did not play basketball in high school, recently had his best game of the season in a victory over Henry Ford. He scored six points, dished off four assists and had three steals in just 15 minutes of action.

The guard also leads the team in free throw shooting, at 93 percent.

OCC is 19-7 overall and 11-4 in the Eastern Conference of community colleges.

Soccer clinic slated in Waterford

The United States Soccer Federation is holding a referee clinic beginning March 1 at the Waterford Police Station.

The clinic is open to adults and boys and girls 14 years of age or older. It is scheduled every Sunday and Tuesday evening at 6:30 through March 22.

Successful completion of the clinic will qualify students to work as referees and linesmen for the Waterford Youth Soccer League, Waterford Parks and Recreation Adult Soccer Programs and other soccer competition in the northwest Oakland County area including Independence Township.

The fee for the clinic is $15 and $2 for a rule book. The station is on Crescent Lake Road, between M-59 and Hatchery Road.

For more information, call Waterford Parks and Recreation at 623-0900 or Ken Wikle at 623-6414.

Fund established in Carter's memory

A fund in the memory of Alfred Carter has been established by the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee.

Carter, who died Feb. 4, was a member of the Youth Assistance committee for 24 years. He had served as its chairperson two years and had worked on many subcommittees.

The fund will help continue Carter's work on the organization's summer camp program, which provides camp scholarships for needy youngsters.

Contributions to the Alfred Carter Memorial Fund are tax-deductible. Checks, payable to Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, may be sent to: Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, 6590 Middle Lake Rd., Clarkston, MI 48016.

Fund raiser provides double-duty for hearts

Aerobic dancers can put their hearts to work, in thought and deed, and help raise money for the American Heart Association on Saturday, March 14.

Dance for Heart is planned from 9 a.m. to noon at Spring Lake Country Club, 6060 Maybee Rd., Independence Township.

The dance-exercise extravaganza is being sponsored locally by the Fitness Connection. Participants will collect donations from friends, relatives and co-workers for every minute they exercise. Each dancer can win prizes based on the amount of money collected.

Men, women and children of all ages may participate, said Jan Fife, local Dance for Heart coordinator.

Since it began in 1980, more than 200,000 men, women and children have danced and exercised in Dance for Heart events across the country. Their efforts have raised millions of dollars to help the fight against heart diseases.

For more information on the local event, call the Fitness Connection at 625-6780 or Spring Lake Country Club at 625-3731.

Workshop carries upbeat message

By Julie Campe

When Gene Grier began to talk to the near 150 Clarkston music students last week, they listened.

They were hesitant at first—a few talkers and whisperers, a few joke-makers and non-participants—but in just a few minutes, Gene won them over.

And when his wife Audrey began to talk about choreography, the students were raring to tap their toes and clap their hands.

And that's what they were there for. The Griers were giving a music workshop at Sashabaw Junior High School, open to all music students in Clarkston schools.

Gene talked about attitude and style and discipline and technique, and Audrey talked about rhythm and pride and hard work.

"You are so intelligent, so talented, so slick. You should feel good."

—Gene Grier

And the students? They listened. They tried it. And they were rewarded with a concert by the 50 Academy Singers, featuring 11 of Clarkston's own residents.

Gene began by talking about the musical instrument of humans, the voice.

"A singer supports the tone from the bottom of his toes to the rest of his body," he said. "The whole body is the instrument. . . . You have to carry it around 24 hours a day."

People should take care of their instruments and learn how to use them properly, he said, cautioning against screaming at football or basketball games and demonstrating the proper, more effective way to project your voice.

[See GRIERS, Page 40]

Gene Grier sings "I love you" to an embarrassed Jennifer Willett from Sashabaw Junior High. He used an opera-style voice and a pop music-style voice to demonstrate style.

"The style of movement should match the style of song," Audrey Grier tells the 150 Clarkston students who participated in the music workshop Feb. 11. They moved to "Oh, Beautiful" and other songs. Afterward, the Griers' 50 Academy Singers performed at SJHS.

Beef up mealtimes

Betty Wagner

Good news for beef lovers! According to Kathleen Hawkins, home economist for The Michigan Beef Industry Commission, beef contains 10 percent less fat than it did 30 years ago.

Fat reduction has been accomplished through management of feeding and breeding. And more than half the fat is unsaturated.

The above information, along with the trimming of fat to one-quarter inch by many meat departments, should alleviate concerns about enjoying beef. Look for Meat Nutri-Facts, nutritional information for fresh meat, available at many meat cases and counters.

Do you have an outstanding family-favorite beef recipe (conventional, microwave or outdoor grill)?

If you do, you may want to enter the National Beef Cook-off scheduled Sept. 20 to 22 in Sun Valley, Idaho. For entry rules, write to: National Beef Cook-off, 44 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611.

Here are the first- and second-prize winners from 1986.

HOT HUNAN HOAGIES

Bette Phillips' first-prize recipe was converted to microwave directions by Kathleen Hawkins, director of education, MBIC.

- 2 pounds top round steak, cut 1 inch thick
 - 3 cloves garlic, mashed
 - 1/2 cup each dry sherry and dark soy sauce*
 - 1/4 cup vegetable oil
 - 1 tablespoon grated ginger
 - Relish (see recipe below)
 - 8 hoagie rolls
- Partially freeze beef and cut diagonally across the grain into thin slices. Place beef in plastic bag or utility dish. Combine garlic, sherry, soy sauce, oil and ginger. Pour over steak. Marinate in refrigerator 4 to 8 hours, turning at least once.

Remove strips from marinade and place in shallow quart dish. Microwave on high power (600-700 watt microwave oven) 6 minutes. Stir and continue to cook 5 to 6 minutes or until desired doneness.

*Dark soy sauce is available in Oriental markets.

RELISH

- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
 - 1 teaspoon each sesame oil and white wine vinegar
 - 1/2 teaspoon dark soy sauce
 - 1/4 teaspoon sugar
 - 1/8 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
 - 1/2 cup each sliced green onions, chopped mushrooms, chopped green pepper and chopped red pepper
- Combine vegetable oil, sesame oil, vinegar, soy sauce, sugar and hot pepper sauce. Add green onions, mushrooms and peppers. Let stand 30 minutes. Yield: about 1 1/4 cups.

BEEF RAGOUT COUNTRY STYLE

Heidi Smith's second-prize recipe was converted to microwave directions by Betty Wagner. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

- 2 pounds boneless beef chuck eye roast, cut into 1 inch cubes
- 1/2 tablespoon olive oil
- 3 large onions, each cut into 8 pieces
- 3 to 4 large cloves garlic, crushed*
- 1 28-ounce can tomatoes, drained and quartered
- 5 tablespoons chopped parsley, divided

- 1 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon each salt and pepper
- 3/4 cup Burgundy wine
- 3/4 cup beef broth
- 1/2 pound mushrooms, quartered
- 1 6-ounce can pitted ripe olives, drained
- Hot cooked noodles
- Parsley

Preheat browning dish at high power for 7 to 8 minutes. Add olive oil, then beef. Microwave at high 1 minute. Stir. Add onions; microwave at high 1 minute. Stir. Add garlic, microwave at high 1 minute.

Add parsley, thyme, salt, pepper, wine and beef broth. Stir well to mix in spices. Cover tightly. Microwave at high 5 minutes. Reduce to 50 percent (medium) power for 30 minutes.

Stir well. Add quartered tomatoes and more liquid, if necessary. Cover; microwave at 50 percent for 25 to 30 minutes or until beef is tender. Add mushrooms after 20 minutes of final cooking time.

*Microwave cooking tends to intensify flavors, so reduce spices according to your taste.

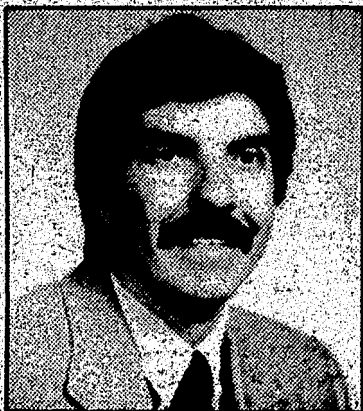

This recipe may also be prepared in a deep 3-quart dish, if a browning dish is unavailable.

Home economist Betty Wagner is an Independence Township resident. Her Microwave Plus cable-TV program appears on Independence-Clarkston channel 11 Monday through Thursday at 7 p.m.

Newlyweds: Michele and Richard Kelley.

Crites, Kelley exchange their marriage vows

Michele Lynn Crites and Richard Lynn Kelley Jr. were married Jan. 24 at the Church of the Resurrection in Independence Township. The Rev. Alexander Stewart performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Charles and Cheri Smith of Chesnut Hills Court, Independence Township, and Ronald and Barb Crites of Hadley. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mozden of Interlochen, Fla., and Mrs. Ruth Crites.

The bridegroom's parents are Dawn and Richard Lynn Kelley of Dartmouth Drive, Independence Township. His grandmother is Mrs. Alice Kelley.

The bride graduated from Clarkston High School in 1978, and the bridegroom graduated from CHS in 1977.

The bride wore her mother's 22-year-old wedding gown and veil. In 1965, the gown cost $59 and the veil cost $17.

The silk flowers intertwined with French white roses were made by Carol Welch, the bride's aunt.

Maid of honor was Lisa Bookie of Independence Township. Bridesmaids were Missy Crites, the bride's sister; Dawn Kelley, the bridegroom's sister; and Jodi Hamerstein of Hadley. Caitlin Hoffman of Chesnut Hills Court was the flower girl.

Best man was Bob Giza of Independence Township. Groomsman were Chuck Humphrey, Joe Cunningham and Dale Evans. Ushers were Timothy Berquist and Michael Smith. David Lynn, of Lapeer, was the ring bearer.

For the wedding reception at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Independence Township, the feast for the 400 guests was prepared by the bride's stepmother Barb Crites and her aunt Jeri Lynn.

The newlyweds are residing at River's Edge Apartments in Waterford Township.

At school

Quentin Chiappetta plays the role of Judge Omar Gaffney in an upcoming production of the play "Harvey" at Interlochen Arts Academy, Interlochen. Play dates are Feb. 27 and 28 and March 1 at the Grunow Theater.

Quentin, a drama student at Interlochen, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Chiappetta of East Washington Street, Clarkston.

New arrivals

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Jones of Oakhill Place, Groveland Township, welcomed their fourth child into their family on Feb. 2.

Almee Elizabeth, born at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, weighed 7 pounds 2 ounces.

She was greeted at home by 7-year-old twins Christopher and Andrea and 4-year-old Darrin.

Grandparents are Mrs. James C. Jones of Ortonville, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones Sr. of Harbor Springs and Mrs. Amy Rose of Stuart, Fla.

Dan and Carole Muscat of Wyoming, Mich., welcomed their first child into the world Feb. 17.

Melissa Marie was born at 3:52 a.m. at Butterworth Hospital, Grand Rapids. She weighed 6 pounds 3 1/2 ounces.

Grandparents are Frank and Mary Muscat of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cameron of Saginaw.

It's a girl for Linda and Steve Gee of Waterford Township.

Their first child, Jessica Ray, was born Feb. 12 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. She weighed 7 pounds and measured 19 inches long.

Honors

Matt Hamlin is on the dean's list at Midwestern Baptist College, Pontiac.

A fourth year student at the college, he is the son of Bruce and Hazel Hamlin of Clarkston.

His home church is Emmanuel Baptist Church, Pontiac.

Grads

Three local students are among bachelor-degree candidates at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Degrees from the university's college of literature, science and the arts are expected by Brian Hall of Waterford Hill Terrace and Gregory McMichael of Hubbard Road.

Jonathon Territo of Allen Road is to receive his degree from the university's school of music.

Stephen Wyckoff has graduated from Grand Valley State College with a bachelor's degree in physical education.

Wyckoff resides on Middle Lake Road, Independence Township.

Club notes

Members of the Sashabaw Plains Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) met at the home of Miss Charlotte Maybee for a tea sponsored by the local board members.

Guest speaker Mrs. Billy Jones of Warren, state DAR Centennial chairman, told members of the many activities planned for the national DAR Centennial, which will be celebrated from September 1989 through September 1990.

The chapter has recently chosen two eighth-grade students from Sashabaw Junior High School as winners of the DAR History Essay Contest.

Joshua Sutton was the first-place winner with his essay titled "Freedom." Jason Schultz won second place with "Writing of the U.S. Constitution."

Both boys were awarded medals and certificates of appreciation.

In service

Navy Seaman Recruit Ronald Markus has completed eight-week recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Illinois.

Markus joined the Navy in November 1986. He is the son of Robert Markus of Blue Water Drive, Springfield Townships.

Grandparents are Nancy and Ben Gee and Elaine and Don Moody, all of Clarkston. Great-grandmother is Dorothy Nowak of Clarkston.

At college

Mark Southby and Rick Whittaker are members of the 1987 Ferris State College, Big Rapids, Varsity "A" Ski Team.

The team placed second in their divisional meet last week, close behind the University of Michigan.

Their finish allows the Ferris State team to go on to the Collegiate Regional Ski Meet in Minnesota on Feb. 21.

Southby, a 1985 Clarkston High School graduate, and Whittaker, a 1984 CHS graduate, were members of the CHS ski team.

Southby's parents are Dick and Linda Southby of Ohio and formerly of Clarkston.

Whittaker's parents are Lynn and Sally Whittaker of Sun Valley Drive, Independence Township.

Bill Basinger, a senior at Oakland University, Rochester, has recently been initiated into the Sigma Pi fraternity.

Basinger plans to attend the University of Detroit Law School after graduating from OU with a degree in political science.

He resides on East Washington Street, Clarkston.

Mascar-Huttenlocher

Pat and Geraldine Mascar of Grosse Pointe Woods announce the engagement of their daughter Kimberly Ann to David Perry Huttenlocher, the son of Richard and Mary Beth Huttenlocher of Parke Lake Drive, Clarkston. The bride-to-be is to graduate in May with a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Her fiancé plans to work for Huttenlocher, Kerns, Norvell, Inc. of Pontiac upon graduation, also in May, from U-M with a bachelor's degree in business. A November wedding is planned.

THEN, POPPY SEEDS: After sixth-grader Margie Matteson measures exactly two ounces of dough for rolls, another sixth-grader will form it into a ball and sprinkle it with poppy seeds. The Balley Lake Elementary School students visited the Northwest Oakland Vocational Educational Center last week as part of a sixth-grade participation program, a way to acquaint them with the facilities and let them think about a career, said NWOVEC Principal Daniel Manthel. They tried various activities offered by the school, and each received a souvenir.

Clarkston music students rate high at festival

Grayce Warren is probably wondering how much better Clarkston music students can be.

Ten individuals and groups (37 students) received the highest rating given at the district Solo and Ensemble Festival Feb. 7—more Clarkston students than any other year. Several others also received the second highest rating.

"Last year, we did extremely well and this year, we topped that," said Warren, the Clarkston High School vocal music teacher.

"I'm so proud of these kids," she said. "It takes discipline and pride on their parts, and it takes a lot of hard work."

A rating I means: outstanding performance, well-prepared and presented, shows musicianship and accomplishment.

A rating II means: good performance, well-prepared and presented, shows good musical accomplishment, but lacking in fine details.

From Sashabaw Junior High School, eighth-grader Erin Gaiser received comments only: "excellent literature, good Italian, excellent preparation, lovely appearance."

From Clarkston Junior High School, ninth-graders Jayson White and Mark Young received a I for their duet, and Young also received a II on his solo.

Job sharing works for Schrams

The couple split their ministering and parenting duties, 50-50

By Julie Campe

It's not unusual for married couples to work together, although it's still rare enough to turn a few heads.

But for the Schrams, of Independence Township, it's the nature of their job and the fact that they share it equally that attracts attention.

"Bill is the dreamer, and I bring concreteness to his dreams."

—Rev. Jenny Schram

"She can bring me down to earth, and I can stretch her thinking."

—Rev. Bill Schram

Bill and Jenny Schram are co-pastors at Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road.

They split the job duties right down the middle, said Bill.

Both of them are part-time pastors. They alternate Sunday preaching; they take turns answering phone calls. And with two small children, ages 2 and 4, they take turns babysitting.

They seem suited to the job, to each other and to their methods of working.

"We complement each other," said Jenny.

[See SCHRAMS, Page 43]

The Revs. Bill and Jenny Schram enjoy their work as co-pastors at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church. They've preached there since 1980, and have two children.

Griers give upbeat workshop

Before long, Gene got to the real point of his teachings and the first rule of his academy.

"You have to be responsible for the quality of your own life," he said.

If you're unhappy, do something that makes you feel good, he said. Don't complain, do something about it.

"A wonderful thing about being young is you have the right to be wrong," he said. "You have the right to be yourself. . . . You are so intelligent, so talented, so slick. You should feel good."

And when the students took to the floor to try Audrey's choreography, they looked intelligent and talented and slick.

They looked good.

The Academy Singers are students aged 14 to 22 who meet every Saturday at Oakland University to practice. They sing mostly popular songs, and they travel around the country giving workshops and concerts, said Gene.

Over 300 people are on the waiting list to audition. And it's no accident that a large number of the members are from Clarkston schools, he said, calling the Clarkston music teachers some of the best in the nation.

Gene even wrote and dedicated a song to Janice Merz and SJHS. Merz is SJHS music teacher and the organizer of last week's workshop.

"I'm just so excited," said Merz before the workshop. "It's probably the one and only time it'll happen to me."

The dedication to "We're Movin' On" reads: "For Jan Merz, director, and all of the delightful singers from the Choral Music Department, Sashabaw Junior High School, Clarkston, Michigan."

5. Received a report from Dorothy Leaming on some of the activities of the Clarkston Education Association which included two video tapes that were made for the local cable television channel. The association recently received recognition from the Michigan Education Association for work in the area of public relations.

6. Following a progress report presented by Katie McKay and Robert "Linc" Smith of the high school, the Board agreed to authorize continuing the substance abuse program, SEARCH.

7. Teacher tenure was approved for Mrs. Virginia Beetz, a teacher at Sashabaw Junior High.

8. Accepted the district compliance document presented by Mr. Mason for the New Michigan Clean Indoor Air Act.

9. Accepted the resolution of agreement between the school district and Independence Township for a Downtown Development Authority. William Jackson will represent the school district.

10. Agreed to support a high school trip requested by teacher Mike Kaul and presented by Dr. Burek.

At the request of President Thomas, Dr. Burek presented administrative guidelines for different types of trips involving high school students. The guidelines will be presented in policy form for Board approval at the next regular meeting.

11. Mr. George White presented an overhead projection report on the results of the recently completed district public opinion survey.

12. The meeting adjourned at 9:35 p.m.

Mary Jane Chaustowich
Secretary

Respectfully submitted,
Richard A. Holman, Clerk
Beth A. Lawrence, Clerk

When does dependency on alcohol develop?

Dear Cat Paw:

How much does a person have to drink to become dependent on drinks and get withdrawal and all that? What's withdrawal like?

Concerned

Dear Concerned:

Alcohol is an addictive drug. When it is taken in sufficient quantities, the body becomes adapted or accustomed to its presence.

Drinking as much as a quart of liquor daily for one week can create a state of physical dependence. After physical dependence is established if consumption is curtailed, there will be symptoms of withdrawal.

Not everyone physically dependent on alcohol who stops drinking has the same set of symptoms.

In part, the severity of the withdrawal state depends on how long someone has been drinking and how much. Other factors are the person's physical health and his or her unique physiological characteristics.

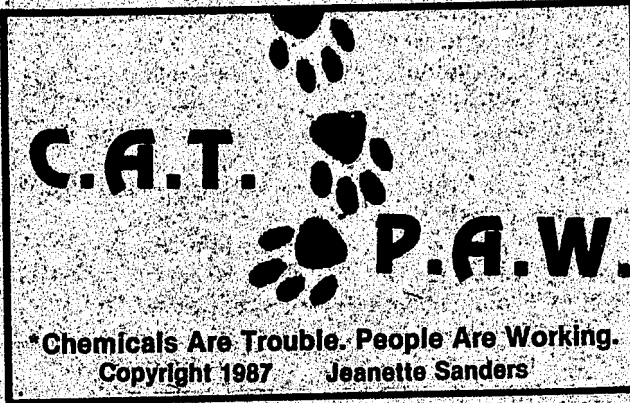

In short, it is impossible to predict accurately the difficulties of withdrawal.

Dear Cat Paw:

I have a friend and her mother is married to a drunk. Why does she stay with him when he is so rotten to the family?

Don't Understand

Dear Don't Understand:

C.A.T. P.A.W.
 Chemicals Are Trouble. People Are Working.
 Copyright 1987 Jeanette Sanders

I don't understand it either. I can just guess why this woman is staying with a person who is cruel and drunk. She could have a need for her husband's financial support.

It would be best for all concerned to visit AA-Anon and AA and get some help. The family is in as great a need of help as the alcoholic.

Dear Cat Paw:

Can you please explain polydrug to me?

I'll Be Waiting

Dear Waiting:

Polydrug refers to simultaneous use of different mood-altering drugs, either one drug with another drug, or another drug in combination with alcohol.

Another form of polydrug abuse is sequential use or abuse. People generally have their drug of choice. If what they want is unavailable, however, they will use something else that is at hand. It is only a temporary switch.

There are also people who use multiple drugs in an attempt to achieve different particular moods or feelings.

This may mean uppers in the morning, downers to unwind later in the day, drugs to counteract fatigue, drugs to promote sleep and drugs to feel better.

Dear Cat Paw:

What drug is "fingers"?

Want to Know

Dear Want to Know:

My dictionary states: Hashish of Mediterranean origin that comes in finger-shaped sticks.

Cat Paw author Jeanette Sanders, a Springfield Township resident, is a state certified drug abuse counselor and a member of the Clarkston Area Chemical People, an organization devoted to the prevention of substance abuse among the community's young people.

Hazel D. Arnold

Hazel D. Arnold, 83, of Independence Township died Feb. 12.

She was a member of the Seymour Lake United Methodist Church, Brandon Township, and the Joseph C. Bird Chapter No. 294 OES, Clarkston.

Surviving are her children, Russell G. Arnold of Ortonville and Mrs. Joseph (Patricia) Blaylock of Lake Orion, seven grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren; and brothers and sister, John Exline, George Exline and Mrs. Mary Molnar, all of Indiana.

The funeral was conducted Feb. 16 at the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Independence Township, with the Rev. Heidi Reinker officiating. Burial followed in Ottawa Park Cemetery, Independence Township.

Rose Eghigian

Rose Eghigian, 76, of Independence Township died Feb. 14. She was a long-time resident of the Clarkston area.

Surviving are her husband, Paul; brother, Joseph and his wife Clara Babajian of Lakeview; and many nieces and nephews.

The funeral was conducted Feb. 17 at St. John's Armenian Church of Southfield. Burial followed in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit. Arrangements were made by Edward Korkoian Funeral Home, Royal Oak.

Memorials may be made to St. John's Armenian Church of Southfield.

Gary A. Tyrer

Gary A. Tyrer, 43, of Independence Township died Feb. 15. He was a jitney driver at General Motors Corp. Parts Department.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Valorie O'Donnell of Taylor; and brother, Patrick Tyrer of Waterford.

The funeral was conducted Feb. 19 at St. Daniel Catholic Church, Clarkston, with the Rev. Charles Cushing officiating. Burial followed in Ottawa Park Cemetery, Independence Township. Arrangements were made by the Goyette Funeral Home, Clarkston.

Jenny's specialty is elementary age kids. Bill prefers adults and teens.

"Bill likes administrating and all that kind of hassle; I like the programatic areas," said Jenny. "Bill is the dreamer, and I bring concreteness to his dreams."

"She can bring me down to earth, and I can stretch her thinking," said Bill.

It all began when they met at the McCormick Seminary School in Chicago. Married in 1979, they began preaching at the Sashabaw church in 1980.

They had been interviewed at dozens of churches, but the Sashabaw church was the first that seriously accepted their ideas of sharing the job, said Bill.

It was the first church that did not refer to them as the "Rev. Schram and his wife," said Jenny. And the church expected equal time from both; not the Rev. Schram and help from his wife, she said.

So they took the job without hesitation. They're satisfied, they said.

And they agree on the best part of the job—the people.

"I've always been a people watcher," said Bill. "This job is tailor-made for people who love people. You always expect good, but it's surprising just how good people are."

"Not only people living out their faith but seeing their faith grow," said Jenny. "And when that happens, it's like a contagious disease, and it spreads. It's exciting to see that happen."

With two pastors, there are a few drawbacks, said Jenny. The office is only big enough to hold one desk, for instance.

And they have a tougher time leaving the job when they leave the office. They talk about it at home, and it's on their minds a lot, she said.

"It's not just a job, it's part of who you are," said Bill.

The only real disadvantage to the job is the temptation to work full-time, he said, but since the kids have been born, it's a little easier to stick to the job description.

"Kids have a way of changing lives and filling them up," he said, adding, "Our 4-year-old has a tendency to think we go to church so she can go to the toy room."

Being a minister can be tough and, at times, stressful.

"You like to solve everyone's problems, so you don't have to see them in pain," said Jenny.

"There's a big temptation to try to fix things yourself," said Bill. "But it's really not me who has to fix things. I can help. But the people have to do it, and God has to have a hand in it."

"There's stress in seeing what happens," he said. "In death, there's so little we can say. It's the saddest occassion in the ministry, and yet it's when I'm most aware of the value of having faith—before you reach the crisis."

But the ministry has its bright points, too, they said.

"Nothing goes wrong at weddings, I've decided, as long as the bride and groom are there," said Bill.

They always tell couples their own wedding story as an illustration, said Bill.

They wrote their own wedding vows and memorized them. They were so confident that they didn't even give a copy to the minister.

But when the time came to say them, they each said a different version. Jenny, having forgotten a part, simply continued with what she remembered and inserted the forgotten part at the end.

It worked out fine, and afterward, one woman complimented them for saying different vows, said Bill.

2nd-graders show writing skills

A pair of writing assignments allowed Pat Andrus' second-grade class at Andersonville Elementary School to test their writing skills.

The children were asked to write autobiographies because there was some confusion about the difference between biographies and autobiographies.

Now she's certain they'll remember which is which, Andrus said.

The tall tale writing assignment was presented with a challenge.

"They were supposed to get me to say, 'That's impossible!'" said Andrus.

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF JUSTIN TROTT (An Autobiography)

My name is Justin Trott.

I was born in my home on Big Lake Road. There is a lake by the road. I don't remember much about what happened to me before I was four.

I know I must have been busy because I watch my brother run and play all the time. He is two years old. We play and sometimes fight even though we love each other.

When I was five, I learned to ski. In September of 1984, I went to school for the first time. That was a big day.

On December 16th, 1984, my brother was born. I was there helping Mom. Garrett, my brother, squeezed my hand right away.

In first grade, I played soccer after school. I also made a Halloween ghost and a turkey in ceramics class.

Now I am in second grade. I play with Jon, Chris and Shawn at recess. I like to walk in the woods. When it's summer, I go swimming, tubing behind the boat, bike riding and skate boarding. I play with Sarah Ashley a lot, too.

In winter, I go sledding, skiing and enjoy making snowmen and having snowball fights.

Now I am 7½ years old. I have a long life ahead of me. I would like to be a basketball player someday. I guess I will have to wait and see. I hope there will be a lot of surprises.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY

By Gordon Golec

I am 8½ years old. I have blond hair and blue eyes. I was born in July. July is in the summer.

I like summer because I can swim and play without my coat, hat and gloves. I can play my favorite game, baseball.

I love baseball. I am very good in baseball. I won the Most Valuable Player trophy in my all-star game last summer. I am very proud of myself.

I moved to Clarkston from East Detroit at the end of last summer. I am in the second grade at Andersonville School. I like living here very much. The End!

THE SPACE CADET

By Stacey De Vos

Once there was a space cadet. It was a monster. I hid behind a rock, peeked out and saw that he had green hands and green feet.

Then another monster popped out and he said, "Are you hungry?" I said, "No!"

One hundred monsters popped out and crowded around me. They threw a bunch of soup at me. That is why this paper is so messy.

CAT AND DOG

By Heather Moore

I have a dog named Shaggy and a cat named Angel. One night they started talking! Angel asked Shaggy what his name was and Shaggy said his name.

Then Shaggy started to dance, so Angel started to sing and while singing, Angel started to tap dance. Then they stopped; they saw a pig.

The pig was very, very fat! Shaggy barked. The pig got scared and ran into the kitchen, then stopped. It saw a cow. Shaggy barked again.

The cow got scared so it ran in my room and all the animals went after it. They all stopped. They saw a buffalo. The buffalo said, "Let's dance!"

Shaggy said, "Angel will sing, Mr. Pig will play the guitar, Mrs. Cow will play the piano, Mr. Buffalo will play the drums and I will dance."

They heard a soft voice. Angel said, "Look!" They all looked, and what did they see? A purple fish and a green fish.

The green fish was talking to a fly and telling the fly to go away, but the fly would not go away, so the green fish ate the fly.

Then the green fish asked the purple fish, "Will you marry me?" The purple fish said, "Yes." So Shaggy said to Angel, "Will you marry me?" Angel said, "I do!"

The pig said to the cow, "Will you marry me?" The cow said, "I will!"

The buffalo started to cry because he did not have an animal to marry. He went into my mom's room where he saw a whale, but he did not want to marry a whale!

He went into my brother's room. When he opened his eyes, he saw a beautiful buffalo. He asked if she would marry him. She said, "I will marry you!"

The next day, they had a party. Angel wore a skirt, Shaggy wore a tie, Mr. Pig wore a hat, Mrs. Cow wore a skirt, too, and Mr. and Mrs. Buffalo wore pants and a shirt, and the fish wore hats.

They all lived together and had parties every Sunday.

THE BASEBALL PLAYER

By Jeff Deevey

Once there was a baseball player and he was big. He was very big! Well, since he was so big, nobody could pitch to him.

One game they got smart and used ladders when the game began. The big baseball player got a pitch and he hit it and it was going so fast that it froze.

When the next game started, the big baseball player was first at bat. He got a pitch and hit it and it went so slow that the ball burned.

The next game started and the big baseball player was first at bat and he got a pitch and he hit it and then it hit a black hole and got swallowed and that was the last ball that anybody had.

The big baseball player went down in history, but, oh, I forgot to tell you that he was bigger than Paul Bunyon and his name was Jeff Deevey!

Selective Service System

DO YOU KNOW AN 18-YEAR OLD MAN?

If you do, he should know that he is required to register with the Selective Service System. Young men born on or after January 1, 1960 must register within 30 days of their 18th birthday. All it takes is five minutes to fill out the simple form at the local post office.

So if you have a student, son, relative or neighbor who is 18, or about to turn 18, make sure they know about Selective Service registration.

For posters, brochures and speakers, contact the Selective Service System, Washington, D.C. 20435.

Registration. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the Law.

Printed as a public service.

This may look like a sure cure clinic for Twinkie overindulgence. But, no. Instead, the eating contest was part of the friendly competition between classes during the Spirit Week Field Day at Clarkston High School on Friday morning. Stuffing themselves at the tables are [from left] sophomores Chris Corpus and Chris Parker, juniors Eric Hutchins and Jeff Brock, and seniors Mike Noel and Mike Grable. The junior team won.

Games they play

While this is not quite a "before" photo, it's right at the beginning of the Mummy Wrap contest eventually won by the team representing the junior class at Clarkston High School during Spirit Week Field Day. Pictured above are two of the three-member junior team: Marny Banker, the mummy, and Chris Cole, an enthusiastic wrapper.

This is an actual "after" photo, snapped when Banker, Cole and smiling Angela DeLaRosa learn they've won the contest.
