Layoffs hit teachers

By Kathy Greenfield

Eighteen Clarkston school teachers received layoff notices following action by the board of education Monday night.

In a 7-0 vote, the board approved the layoffs. The board met the previous Monday to approve a plan for deciding how many layoffs would occur if voters fail to approve a 4 1/4 mill tax increase in the June 8 election.

They selected an option that would reduce most extracurricular programs for elementary schools, including music, physical education, media and foreign language, and cut back the teaching supply allowances.

Theatre named for Kirchgessner

In tribute to John Kirchgessner, the Clarkston High School principal killed in an airplane crash in March 1986, the Clarkston High School Little Theatre has a new name.

On Monday night, the Clarkston board of education unanimously approved the name change to the Kirchgessner Auditorium.

Superintendent Milford Mason presented the proposal on behalf of the John J. Kirchgessner Memorial Committee, made up of CHS teachers Jim Wenger, Sonia Letcher and Kathi Pierson and CHS Assistant Principal Jan Gabier.

"Following John Kirchgessner's death last year, a committee of people formed to consider a fitting memory of John," Mason said.

Kirchgessner had appeared in faculty plays in the theater, and although a proposal for a new high school is to go on the ballot, the committee said they felt the current high school auditorium should carry Kirchgessner's name because it was the building he occupied.

The CHS Class of 1986 is providing a 20-by-24-inch oil of their principal to be placed on the back wall of the theater.

The board of education agreed to provide a light for the painting and to provide two nameplates to be placed over the entrance doors.

A formal dedication is to take place in May.

Birtsas retires; Reschke named

By Kathy Greenfield

Following the announcement April 13 that Sashabaw Junior High School Principal Gus Birtsas will retire Aug. 14, the Clarkston board of education appointed David Reschke to the post, effective July 1.

Following the action, those in attendance at the meeting provided "standing applause for Gus" per the suggestion of Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara.

Before the meeting, Superintendent Milford Mason talked about the 26 years he and Birtsas have worked together in the school district.

"It's been a pleasure to work with a fellow like Gus, because even when we might disagree on issues, we were never disagreeable," said Mason. "We always worked for the common good and what was good for the students. That's a quality I really, really enjoy."

"Obviously, it goes deeper than that," he added.

"My kids have been with his kids. We've sort of grown up together."

Reschke was hired as assistant principal at SJHS three years ago. He was previously employed by the Waterford school district, working most recently on staff development.

He is a candidate for a doctorate degree in education administration from Michigan State University and holds a master's degree in curriculum and instruction from MSU and a bachelor's degree in English from Eastern Michigan University.

Mason recommended Reschke for job "without qualification."

Board member Thomas Bills, who made the motion to approve the appointment, said he did so "with great pleasure and equal confidence."

The board approved Reschke's promotion in a 7-0 vote.

Swan eggs find warmth in Bloomfield incubator

By Kathy Greenfield

The destination has changed for the six eggs retrieved by Independence Township residents after a pair of swans were shot and killed April 4 and 5 in a channel between Lake Oakland and Woodhull Lake.

Originally, swan breeders from Lapeer were considering taking the eggs, but they decided they would only accept the baby swans after they hatched.

That's when Brenda Weathers, who had been keeping the eggs warm under light bulbs in the den of her Meyers Road home, began making phone calls.

"I called the Detroit Zoo, the Audubon Society—you name it, I called," she said. "Everybody just kept referring me to other places."

Finally, a veterinarian in Southfield, who specializes in exotic birds, suggested calling the Gasow Veterinary Hospital in Birmingham.

Enter Dr. James Mangner, a veterinarian who studies wildlife and who, last year, oversaw the hatching a batch of swan eggs after a pair of swans were killed under similar circumstances.

Weathers took the eggs to the veterinary hospital on Wednesday, where they were put into an incubator.

Now, they're inside an incubator at the Bloomfield Hills school district's Farm and Garden Center on Square Lake Road.

According to Mangner, the next step is simply to wait. The 3- to 4-pound eggs have an incubation period of 28 to 30 days, he said, and swan eggs usually hatch around April 15.

"It's a question whether they're fertile or not," he said. "Don't count your swans before they're hatched."

If cygnets, or baby swans, do emerge, they will be placed on lakes where other swans live. Last year after the seven cygnets hatched, Mangner let four go on Quarton Lake and three were taken to a lake in northern Michigan.

Even when the eggs are hatched in an artificial incubator, the cygnets do remarkably well when returned to nature, he said.

"Honestly, they'll fend for themselves," he said. "Their instinct for survival is pretty strong. They just adapt and do pretty good."

The nesting swans on the Independence Township channel were killed by rifle fire.

Residents observed two junior-high-school-age boys, one firing what is believed to have been a 22-caliber rifle at the swans before the bodies were found.

The police and the DNR were notified, but no suspects have been found, Weathers said.

She's finding solace in knowing the eggs are under the care of qualified people—and she's hoping she'll be able to visit the newly hatched cygnets.

"I'm kind of excited," she said. "At least I did a good deed."

18 Clarkston teachers laid off

Administrative Assistant Conrad Bruce announced the names of the teachers who would receive layoff notices, which are required by law to be presented at least 60 days before the school year ends.

"I've been involved in these layoff procedures for a number of years. Each time it becomes more difficult to do," he said.

"We do work hard to find highly qualified people, and I'm on the hiring committee also," he said. "It's very difficult to hire a highly qualified person and lay off that person nine months later."

The reasons for the layoffs, as included in the motion, were an anticipated continued decrease in district enrollment, anticipated reduction in state aid funding, anticipated loss of revenue created by the Headlee Amendment and the expected return from leaves by three higher seniority teachers.

Before the meeting, Superintendent Milford Mason said the layoffs of two or three of the high school teachers may be rescinded at the May board meeting, based on student demand for specific classes during registration.

The layoff list follows:

Elementary: Geraldine Allison, Robert Devereaux, Betty Kozma, Gloria Lacy, Joanne Stroebel, Carla Teare.

Secondary: Virginia Beetz, Victoria Braquet, Kelly Cutshaw, Rene Debs, Betty Duris, Richard Erhardt, Linda Johnson, Michael Kaul, Patricia McMillen.

Vocational School: Rebecca Iaquina.

Special Education: Caren Chamberlain, Janice Kirchgessner.

'All of us here care'—Smith

Special ed report makes recommendations

By Kathy Greenfield

Parents who came to the April 6 Clarkston school board meeting to hear a special education report got an earful.

Robert Brumback, director of special services for the district, began the report, which lasted one hour and 40 minutes.

The 50-member audience listened attentively. About 20 of those who attended were parents and the remainder were district teachers and administrators.

Brumback noted that the report resulted from a complaint by Robert Newlin at the board's March meeting and he challenged Newlin's charges as "inaccurate and misleading."

Special education in Clarkston schools has "an excellent reputation in Clarkston, Oakland County and the state," he said, emphasizing that the 620 impaired students served from the district deserve an "atmosphere free of anger and mistrust."

"This school district has made every effort to provide a quality education for these children," he said.

Reacting to Newlin's charges that the district was not complying with state laws mandating special education, Brumback continued to staunchly defend the program.

While every piece of paperwork is not perfectly in order, he said the district is "extremely cognizant of state and federal guidelines" and "we do adhere to the law and its guidelines."

"Never before have I been accused of trying to circumvent the law," he said, adding that there have been "only two formal complaints," both filed in 1984-85 and both resolved within the year of filing.

Of the 27 complaints filed in Oakland County in 1986-87, none involved the Clarkston school district, he said.

A stream of educators involved in special education followed.

They ranged from administrators who sit on the building teams that oversee referrals of children to special education to a school psychiatrist to special education teachers of special needs students from preschool to high school.

Linc Smith, a special education teacher at Clarkston High School, summed up staff presentations by saying, "All of us here care about these kids a great deal."

Brumback spoke again, providing some statistics Newlin had requested. Of the 96 special needs students at CHS, 20 have received at least one suspension this school year. Eleven special needs students have left school this school year; six moved out, one was in jail, one was in juvenile detention, one transferred to Clarkston's alternative high school and two were dropouts.

Brumback also made some recommendations for improvements, which included the establishment of a parent dialogue committee, a special education newsletter and a review of the suspension and attendance policies.

He also recommended some staff additions, but noted that they were unlikely when the district is laying off teachers due to financial difficulties.

Following the presentation, board member Carolyn Place, a special education teacher in the Holly school district, said she was impressed with the caring attitude of the teachers who spoke.

"You don't manufacture that, you have it—and I think we have it," she said.

Several parents also spoke.

Gail Dickerson requested a program at the elementary school level to teach all children about learning disabilities.

"These kids get teased quite a bit," she said.

She also asked that more remedial help be provided for children in the elementary grades.

Newlin reacted by saying, "I have been overwhelmed by what I've seen. I have learned more since 8:15 about the special education department than I have since 1983, and I am very pleased to see what can be done."

When Newlin asked if he could discuss specific questions about his family, however, Brumback intervened.

"I'm not interested in getting into a dialogue publicly about a specific student. That is not fair to that student," he said.

"I'm willing to listen to any parent in this district who has a problem," he added, indicating he would be willing to discuss such matters in private.

Other parents spoke about the need for better services for the learning disabled at the elementary school level.

One parent, Bunny Newmarch, shared her praise for the system.

"We've had nothing but a positive relationship with all our teachers," she said. "We've had nothing but positive feelings and lots of success."

Inventory grows

New equipment, $37,878 worth, should help the Independence Township fire department fight grass fires and stock two new fire trucks.

The township board approved, 6-0, each of five bid awards April 7. Clerk Richard Holman was absent.

Twelve self-contained breathing apparatuses, Survivair Mark II, and nine extra bottles, for a total of $1,285, are to come from Argus Supply Co. of Roseville.

Two Honda generators for each of the new pumpers cost $980 each from Quality Lawn, Waterford Township.

Miscellaneous fire equipment for one pumper costs $12,709 from Apollo, Southfield. The other pumper is to be equipped with the material from an old pumper to be sold this spring, said acting fire chief Gar Wilson.

A pick-up truck from Flannery Ford, Waterford Township, costs $14,849 including a snow plow. The truck is to be used to fight grass fires in the spring and summer and for anything else in the winter, said Wilson.

The skid unit, or pumping operation for the grass truck, costs $7,075 from Almont Fire Apparatus, Almont.

Sashabaw shopping center nets first approval

By Julie Campe

Arkan Jonah is one step closer to building a grocery store and shopping plaza at the corner of Waldon and Sashabaw roads, Independence Township.

The township board approved a first reading to rezone the nearly 9-acre site to planned shopping center from single family residential and highway commercial.

A second reading and adoption is necessary before the zoning takes effect.

Jonah, who owns several grocery stores in the southeastern Michigan area, said he plans to open a mid-sized full service grocery store and lease space possibly for a drug store, service businesses and offices.

Jonah also plans to extend the township sewer system to the site from about a mile south on

"The Sashabaw corridor is pinpointed as the golden corridor—high quality, a good tax base."

—Richard Carlisle
Township Planner

Sashabaw Road.

Township planner Richard Carlisle spoke in favor of the rezoning. With the planned shopping center zoning, it could be planned as a single unit instead of a number of strip units, giving the township more control, he said.

"The Sashabaw corridor is pinpointed as the golden corridor—high quality, a good tax base," he said. The projected research, office and light industrial zoning planned for the area will need supportive commercial, he said.

A commercial development at that corner may also relieve the traffic congestion at the Maybee/Sashabaw roads intersection, he said.

Trustee William Vandermark did not favor the rezoning.

"Office (zoning) was intended for this area," he said. "This could encourage strip commercial development."

With little discussion, the board voted 5-1 to approve the first reading. Clerk Richard Holman was absent. Vandermark voted "no." Voting "yes" were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Treasurer John Lutz and trustees Carol Balzarini, Dale Stuart and Daniel Travis.

22 condos win cluster approval in Springfield

By Pat Young

Cedar Cove could debut as the first condominium development built in Springfield Township under the cluster provision of the township ordinance.

The condominiums, described by developer Jim Hanks as a "first-class project, an asset to the township," won approval in a 4-0 vote of the township board April 8.

"Yes" votes were cast by Clerk Calvin Walters and trustees Glen Vermilye, Ruth Ann Hines and Charles Oaks.

Treasurer Patricia Kramer and Trustee William Whitley were absent from the meeting. Supervisor Collin Walls abstained because he is involved in a partnership with Hanks on a different project in Rose Township.

Cedar Cove will be located on the north side of Dixie Lake, between Nanjos and the Springfield Inn. Twenty-two units, ranging in size from 1,043 square feet to 1,600 or 1,700 square feet, will be clustered around a deep ravine on the 12-acre site.

Building of a model unit could begin in May. The price range would be about $100,000 to $110,000, and Hanks described the brick and cedar, single-family units as "appealing to a nice group of people, frequently retired people."

Hanks said the project has already been approved by the appropriate Oakland County agencies. It has also been reviewed by the Springfield Township Planning Commission, township engineer and planner.

The planning commission requested two revisions, that the playground and recreation area be moved from the west to the center of the project and that the area parallel to Dixie Highway be bermed.

"We could have built as many as 34 units, but we wanted to keep the density down," said Hanks, a Rose Township resident. "We don't want to rob the property. We will spend approximately $130,000 in landscaping alone, more than any of our other projects."

The condos would have a guard house at the entrance, a gazebo and Dixie Lake privileges. There is a channel leading from the condo area to the lake.

The lake access prompted several questions from the audience.

David Fields, a Dixie Lake resident, asked if there would be improvements to the channel.

Hanks said yes, if needed. Following approval from the board, his next step was to go to the state Department of Natural Resources to determine the environmental effect on Dixie Lake.

Lee Rogers, another Dixie Lake resident, asked if the condominium residents would pay special assessment taxes to help with weed control on Dixie Lake, and Hanks said yes.

"Again, this kind of unit often sells to retired people, and maybe only 10 of the residents would use the lake," Hanks said. "But we definitely plan to use the lake."

He explained that great care has been taken to lessen any environmental impact on the lake, such as putting septic tanks in excess of 200 feet from the water when the health department requires 75 feet.

One other resident, Harry "Pat" Tinson, whose property adjoins the Cedar Cove site, had a different concern.

"Will there be any screening along the western edge between our property?" he asked.

Hanks said no, but there is some distance between the building project and the property line, as well as trees.

"It's been a good many years. I've gotten kind of used to looking out across my property at the lake," Tinson said.

Tinson also expressed concern that the "condo group" wouldn't turn out to be "one of those pain in the a-- groups who move to the country and want to change things."

Hanks said that while he couldn't guarantee what kind of people would buy the condos, "this type of first-class project draws first-class people."

Neighbors object to apartments

By Julie Campe

A large home divided into apartments on Thendara Boulevard drew comments from five area residents during a public hearing April 7.

The property, near Walters Lake in the northeastern quadrant of Independence Township, is zoned single-family residential. Any other use of the property, owned by Peter Keelin, violates the zoning ordinance, said township attorney Gerald Fisher.

The purpose of the public hearing was to receive direction from the surrounding residents, he said, adding the township had turned to the courts to correct the problem.

At one time, the house was used by the owner and two renters, but now it's used by the owner and one renter, he said.

The home also violates several minor building codes, said township building inspector Derek Place.

All residents who spoke in the public hearing were against anything but single-family zoning of the property.

"We will fight any rezoning," said Bill Bronsing, speaking for his brother Roy who owns the lot adjacent to the property and could not attend the meeting.

"If we allowed a variance there, we might be setting a precedence for other variances in the same line," said Dan Lipinski, a Thendara Boulevard resident.

The township board members also spoke on the issue.

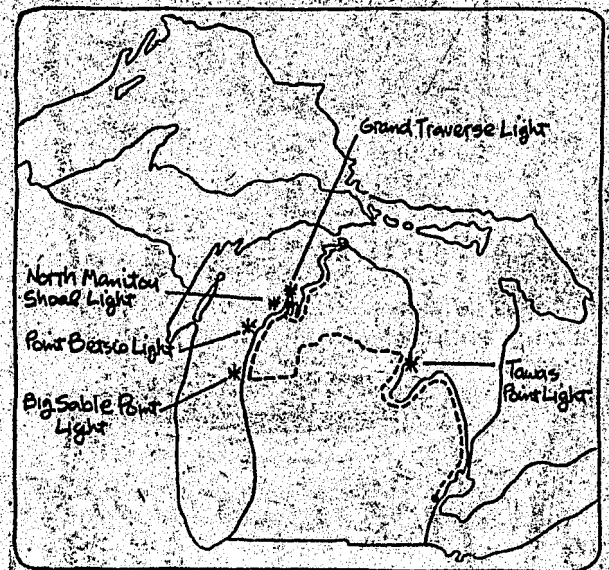

"It's a totally residential area, and there's no good cause to show why," said Treasurer John Lutz. "Since I live in that area, and I know there are other homes doing this, I'm opposed to any compromise with the owner."

Supervisor Frank Ronk said he had received several letters opposing the usage because of noise and cars parked in the street.

The board voted 6-0 to pursue the current litigation and to investigate all means of resolving the problem.

Keelin had no comment after the meeting.

Gun-totting man robs gas station

A Dixie Highway gas station was held up by a young male wielding a gun Sunday morning, according to a police report.

A female cashier at the Jet Station at 6550 Dixie, Independence Township, reported the robbery at about 6:45 a.m. An unknown amount of money was taken, but it was believed to be less than $100, the report said.

The cashier said the suspect fled on foot and a tracking dog was brought to the scene by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, but the search was unsuccessful.

Lt. Glenn Watson of the sheriff's department said no arrest has been made in the case.

2 trips approved

Short trips are in store for two Independence Township officials.

Treasurer John Lutz is heading for Chicago, Ill., to attend a seminar for advanced cash management.

In a 5-0 vote, the board approved $300 for the fee and meals. Lutz abstained; Clerk Richard Holman was absent.

Assessor David Kramer plans to travel to Indianapolis, Ind., to take an 8-hour examination to increase his specialist title for assessing.

The board approved, 5-1, the $150 fee. Trustee Dale Stewart voted "no."

"I don't relish opposing these things with department heads," said Stuart. "I don't approve of out-of-state travel unless you can't get the same thing locally. I have a similar problem with this because it's not necessary. It's like a tuition refund. If we did pay, we wouldn't pay for him to drive back and forth."

He voted for approval of Lutz's expense because it did not include travel and accommodations, he said.

Good, clean fun

Kathy
Greenfield

Not too many years ago, I visited a teen dance hall in the Waterford area.

I must admit I was a bit overwhelmed when I realized that after paying the hefty admission price, the male students were being frisked at the door, purses were being checked and a guard-type was patrolling the parking lot with a walkie-talkie in hand.

To the kids, it just didn't matter.

They wanted to go and dance and be together. The adults watching their every move didn't seem to decrease their fun one iota.

There was a lesson there, and I'm happy to see somebody picked up on it.

While my offspring are too old to participate, I am delighted that, finally, something is being done to provide some "good, clean fun" kinds of activities for Clarkston teens.

I'm referring to the Teen Drop-In Center in the planning stages for Clarkston High School. The center for ninth- through 12th-graders will begin a trial run May 2 and continue for four sessions.

Admission will be an affordable $1 and the gym will be open. There'll also be dancing and a variety of games including Ping-Pong and Trivial Pursuit, and pizza and pop will be sold at cost.

Students will be responsible for all phases of the program. They've done most of the planning with a minimum of parental guidance and they are going to fill staffing needs.

I'm told that if everything operates smoothly, the drop-in center will re-open in the fall.

The idea is so simple, yet outstanding, that I'm left wondering why no one ever tried it before.

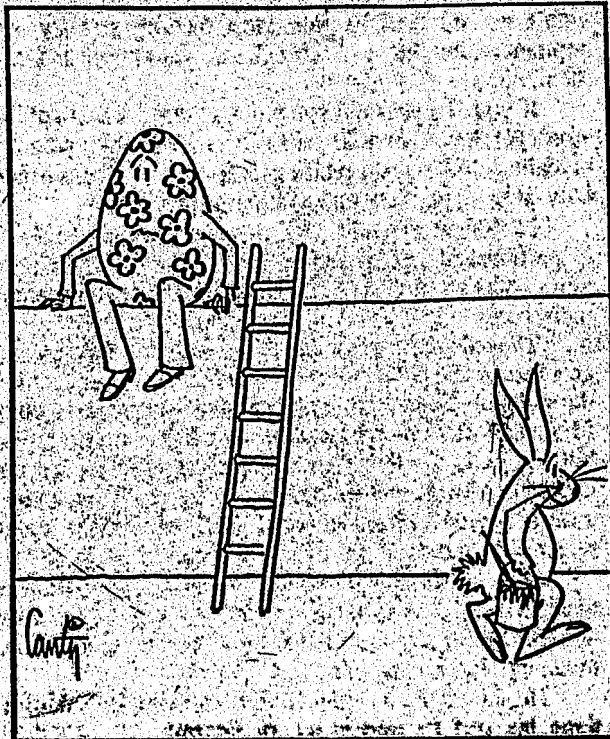

Over the years, I have listened to people make plans for a community center that would serve the same purpose. "But first, we need a swimming pool."

Balderdash! Three cheers for those responsible for taking a reasonable approach to a long-time problem.

Now, if someone could just think of something for the other neglected age group: the seventh- and eighth-graders.

My fond hope is that the drop-in center will work so well for the older students that a similar proposal will come through for the younger ones.

ALL ABOUT TOWN

Letters to the editor

Senseless killing

By opening The Clarkston News today, I was deeply wounded by the headline and article on the front page describing the senseless killing of a pair of swans.

I have been a nature and wildlife lover and enthusiast all my life. Since we are living in Independence Township (since 1968), we are fortunate enough to enjoy nature and wildlife on our own property and back yard.

Inspired by the wonderful display of wildlife art at the Civic Center in Southfield on April 4, I am determined to write to Susan Gunther Siegrist of Burton and ask her for a print of her painting "Royal Splendor" depicting a swan just preparing to take off.

If the murderers are ever found and convicted, and if they are juveniles, I would like to present the parents of those kids with a copy of "Royal Splendor" to introduce them to the beauty of wildlife and educate them about the importance of preserving those resources for our future generations.

I would like to share a quotation by John F. Kennedy that I ran across accidentally. I feel it could be used to solve many problems for all ages in the whole United States:

"How we Americans spend leisure time might seem to have little bearing on the strength of our nation or the worth and prestige of our free society. Yet we certainly cannot continue to thrive as a strong and vigorous people unless we understand and use creatively one of our greatest resources—our leisure."

Rape myths

Rape is a very horrifying problem in our society today that a lot of people would rather just ignore because "it'll never happen to them."

This is one of the biggest misconceptions about rape that exists, and there are some cold, hard facts about rape that need to be brought to the public's attention.

Every seven minutes, a girl or woman is raped in the world and 25 percent of all girls by the time they reach age 18 have been sexually abused.

These statistics are outrageous and many people just do not realize how severe this problem is.

The reason that the statistics are so high is not because there are a bunch of strange men out on the loose, contrary to popular belief.

In actuality, 88 percent of rapes are committed by someone you know, inside your own home. The problem here is that the only rapes we ever hear about are the ones that occur in dark alleys by crazy men who jump out of the bushes.

In fact, this is the most frequently reported rape and the least frequently committed.

Women are more prone to report this kind of rape because they know for certain they were violated against; whereas, in the more frequent type of rapes, they start to have doubts and won't report it because it is someone they know.

This is called "date rape" or "acquaintance rape" and it is where the problem starts. If you are forced to perform a sexual act against your will, that is rape under any circumstances.

It doesn't matter if it is your boyfriend, your friend or your husband, because under NO conditions should a woman be forced to do something she doesn't want to do.

A lot of women feel guilty because they feel they "owe" sex to a man under certain conditions. There is NEVER a time when a woman should feel that she owes a man sex, no matter what the situation may be.

People have to realize that when a woman says no, she means no. One popular idea is that no really means yes, and she really wants to but she's scared.

If a woman says no, that should be the end of that, no questions asked. Many rapists use the argument "she pushed me too far; she can't say no now" as justification for rape.

NO ONE ever deserves to be raped and under no circumstances should the victim be blamed.

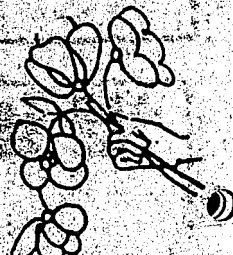

I cannot stress enough how important it is that people be informed of how the majority of rapes really occur. The longer people are kept in the dark about rape, the more complex this problem will get.

And remember, it can happen to anyone, and that means you.

Thanks to all

The Retailing/Marketing class at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center would like to thank you for your excellent coverage of our recent fashion show.

Your photography and copy were both of excellent quality and the students were very pleased to see their pictures in the paper.

The proceeds from the sale of 125 tickets to our fashion show help to support our students when competing against other D.E.C.A. Clubs in both regional and state competition.

The Essence and Coach's Corner supplied the fashions for the show and several area businesses contributed door prizes.

A special thank you to everyone involved.

People count for this cashier

By Julie Campe

After 21 years at Food Town, Carol DeVault has seen several changes and noticed a few trends. "This store is much bigger," she said. "The one I started out in was a Food Town not a third this size."

And the dress codes for the employees have changed, she said.

"When we started, we wore uniforms like beauticians and nurses. They were white uniforms, then pastels, and now we wear a smock and whatever you want underneath."

"We've changed registers about five different times," she said, adding they plan to switch to scanners this summer.

Also, many customers are buying microwave dishes and microwave foods.

"Like my son says, I'm a great cook as long as you don't get rid of the microwave," she said.

A Waterford Township resident, Carol is a cashier and also stocks the candy and gum at the store at Sashabaw and Maybee roads, Independence Township. After so many years on the job, she knows many customers by name and likes it that way.

"I enjoy people," said Carol. "I just like waiting on the people. Little kids who come through are a joy—the elderly, too. If you spend some time with them, they really appreciate it."

A few years ago, she switched to the delicatessen but asked to become a cashier again after only a week.

"I just missed the hand-to-hand contact with the people," she said. "You'll very seldom catch me off the register. I prefer it that way."

"I don't think you can ever work with the public without caring about people. It just wouldn't work."

"Over the years, I've very much appreciated my job," she said. "I had two children and raised them myself, and that's where my religious strength has come in. I know I couldn't have done it without His help. This was the first job I applied for (after a divorce), and I thank Him for that."

'If it Fitz . . .'

If dying were outlawed, only outlaws would die

Jim Fitzgerald

To stop bus system employees from stealing dollar bills, the Detroit City Council decreed that passengers must soon stop using dollar bills to pay dollar fares. The next logical step will be to stop murders by making it against the law for citizens to die.

"Instead of inconveniencing passengers, why don't the police arrest the thieves?" my friend Ralph asked.

Because the police are too busy with more important matters. For instance, Detroit youngsters are getting shot at an alarming rate, so the City Council adopted an ordinance requiring that everyone 15 or under be off the street by 10 p.m. every night, and everyone 16 and 17 be gone by 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 10 p.m. other nights. That's for daylight saving time. During standard time, the disappear hour is 8 p.m. for everyone 15 and under, and for 16- and 17-year-olds it is 9 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

But any youngster can get shot outdoors after curfew if he or she is accompanied by an adult—someone 18 or over.

OBVIOUSLY, IT ISN'T easy for police to enforce these complex curfews. They must at all times know what day it is and what time zone they are in. Also, cops should be able to determine a person's age simply by looking at him or her. Otherwise, a cop could be accused of harassment—detaining an adult without probable cause for believing he or she is a youngster, or stopping a 17-year-old without good reason for suspecting he or she is a 15-year-old.

In these days of wild hairdos, garish cosmetics, many-layered clothing and weird life-styles, it is difficult to tell a 12-year-old from a 40-year-old. It is expected that Detroit cops will receive special training from professional age-guessers hired from carnivals.

Professional weight-guessers also may be hired to train cops for the time when the City Council solves the problem of crowded sidewalks by making everyone weighing more than 180 pounds stay home between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m.

"It's nothing to joke about," my friend Ralph said. "Those curfews are unfair. They penalize all youngsters because a few people shoot youngsters, or because a few youngsters commit crimes in the street. Why don't the cops just arrest people who do something wrong and leave everyone else alone?"

Because that's not the way things work in the modern fight against crime. Crime victims must be made to realize that they are the cause of crime. If you stop parking your car, it won't get stolen. If you stop walking in public, you won't get mugged. If you stop owning jewelry and appliances, burglars won't break into your home and take them.

If your 16-year-old son stops going out at night, he won't get shot. If your 20-year-old daughter stops wearing revealing clothing, she won't get raped. And if you would only stop dying, no one could murder you.

IT IS ONLY NATURAL that some employees of our Department of Transportation steal dollar bills. What do you expect them to do—steal quarters that would make their pants jingle and sag embarrassingly?

The only way to stop the thefts is to stop bus passengers from using dollar bills to pay dollar fares. Never mind the stubborn dissenters who insist the public wouldn't buy $1 socks from a merchant who wouldn't accept a dollar bill. They can take their sock business elsewhere, but there is only one DOT, and we must treat it generously; otherwise it couldn't afford to spend $1.2 million for a bus repair job approved by the City Council at $80,000.

Consider the case of the 17-year-old boy who freezes to death on a street corner next winter because he had only a dollar bill to pay the $1 bus fare—but he died before breaking the 9 p.m. curfew.

He should die a happy victim, knowing he's doubly done his part to stop crime in Detroit.

Roadside trash dumping troubles Boy Scout

By Kathy Greenfield

In October, 13-year-old Ethan Lee and seven other members of Boy Scout Troop 49 worked all day cleaning up garbage along a 5-mile stretch of Bridge Lake, Big Lake and Clark roads.

Trash is beginning to reappear along the rural roads and Ethan is concerned.

"It's surprising how quickly it adds up," says the eighth-grader at Clarkston Junior High School.

"There is a lot of trash and it makes the road look bad. It makes the property look bad. It's kind of stupid to dump it," he says.

Ethan organized the cleanup project as a portion of his work toward the Eagle Scout award, which he expects to receive in May.

He and his fellow Scouts picked up 40 bags of trash, mostly fast-food wrappers, plus six mufflers, about eight tires and a couch.

During the project, Ethan also wrote letters and reports about the project and he talked to Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls about his idea of organizing the cleanup.

"I had always thought about it and thought it would be a pretty good project," says Ethan, "and he said, 'Yes, that would be what the county needs most.'"

Ethan still feels good about the project—much of the trash had been there for quite a while and much of it was pulled from under weeds and behind bushes.

But the wrappers are gradually reappearing and he's particularly perturbed about plastic bags filled with drywall dropped along Clark Road in intervals that would suggest somebody tossed them from the back of a pickup truck.

Ethan has some ideas about how the dumping could be eliminated.

One thought he would like to see carried out is the placement of "no dumping" signs with information on the fine for breaking the law.

His other thought involves communication. "I thought it would be a good idea to tell people, because I don't think people realize how big of a problem it is," he says.

Bags of drywall recently dumped on Clark Road in Springfield Township are cause for concern for Ethan Lee, who organized a cleanup of the roadside last fall.

Residents air views on police

By Julie Campe

Less than 1 percent of Clarkston residents turned up for a public hearing on police coverage in the village April 13.

The seven people who spoke in the 50-minute hearing gave ideas ranging from paying exactly what Independence Township asked, to setting up a "mini-contract" with Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD), to negotiating with the township for an appropriate payment with specific services rendered.

"I'm all for keeping the (present) police no matter what it takes because we're going to need them," said Rita Chisolm of Miller Road.

Several spoke about the future.

"I'm not concerned about this particular increase, but what about future increases?" asked Susan Basinger of East Washington Street. "As the township grows, will they continue to ask us to contribute? I'm not sure I'd like to contribute for growth we're not controlling."

Harold Goyette, who owns a business on Main Street, said the business district has grown, not necessarily in the number of businesses but in the amount of business conducted.

"More people are coming in the town, and more will come in," said Goyette. "We need to protect ourselves. It's important that we take this protection now, so we don't have to look for it in the future and not be able to get it. Our vacant stores will be filled in the future."

The council members varied in their ideas.

"We've really never had any complaints about lack of police coverage, but I can understand how we have to increase it somewhat," said President Sharron Catallo. "But there are specific demands I'd like to ask for."

Trustee Fontie ApMadoc said she'd like the revenue from tickets written in the village, and she'd like to pay only a percentage of the amount asked—based on population and size combined.

Trustee William Basinger did not favor paying the entire amount requested with the current contract.

"This has nothing to do with the competency of the sheriff's department," he said. "Nor is this saying the township has made a mistake by raising its millage. They did what they had to do."

"It's not a question of paying our fair share," he said. "It's just that a 150 percent increase is not our fair share."

He listed the differences between the two municipalities.

The township is about 36 square miles in size, while the village is about 1.5 square miles. It takes more time and money to cover a larger area, he said.

The village has a lot less calls than the township, according to the Sheriff's Log in The Clarkston News, which doesn't list all calls but the significant calls, he said.

The needs are different, he said. The township has sparse traffic, sparse population and sparse housing. The village, a highly populated area, needs traffic control.

"Why should the township force us to go to 1 mill or 2.5 mills? Why not something in between. I'd rather work with the township to come to a solution," he said.

The village general fund, from which they pay the township for police coverage, holds 7.5 mills, he said. The amount for which the township is asking would call for spending one-third of the money on police alone.

"That's why I oppose just tagging along," he said. "What's going to happen when it goes to 4 mills? What's going to happen when it goes to 6 mills?"

"I think most of us favor specific traffic control, but there's nothing in our contract guaranteeing this," said Basinger.

Township Trustee Carol Balzarini also voiced her opinion on the matter.

"Even though we're two governmental bodies, we're still one community," she said. "It's like the fire millage township-wide. Nobody quibbles over how many fires are in the village versus how many are in the township. The health, safety and welfare of the community is everybody's concern, not just the township's or the village's."

The council members decided to have Basinger and Trustee Frank Millard negotiate with the township for the cost and amount of coverage acceptable to both parties.

The township contracts for police coverage from the OCSD, and the village contracts with the township for the same coverage.

Last fall, township voters approved an extra 1.5 mills for the police fund. Since village residents didn't vote on the issue, the proposed village contract called for an amount equal to the extra 1.5 mills, or a total of about $35,000 for 2.5 mills, to double the police coverage.

The village pays the current $14,000 for police protection out of its general fund. The majority of general fund revenue comes from taxes paid only by village residents.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

Plans sent back to 'go'

The builder of Oakhill Meadows 2 subdivision on Oakhill Road, Independence Township, will have to start almost from scratch on the project.

The township board denied an extension for the final preliminary plat approval April 7.

The passage of too much time and changes in construction codes were the reasons board members gave for voting "no" on the 31-acre site.

"I have a real problem extending what we granted three years ago based on what we initially approved seven years ago," said Trustee Dale Stuart.

The board voted 6-0 to deny the extension, and advised the builder, Gerald Bandy, to meet with the building department to update plans to meet current standards.

CHS 'Teen Center' to open in May

Saturday, May 2, is the date set for the opening of the Teen Center at Clarkston High School.

Sponsored by the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee (CAYA), a group devoted to the prevention of juvenile delinquency, ninth- through 12th-graders may "hang out" from 7-11 p.m. at CHS, said Merelyn Mallett, CAYAC chairperson.

They received final approval from the school and are looking forward to the first night, she said.

"I think it's exciting," said Mallett. "I think it's going to be wonderful. It's needed, and everybody's been helpful."

A $1 entrance fee will be charged per person. Only students living in the Clarkston school district and one guest per person may attend, she said.

Students are to run the entire program, with adult volunteers helping only when needed.

Activities available will be basketball, volleyball, euchre, Monopoly, Trivial Pursuit, UNO, music, dancing, and maybe floor hockey and Ping-Pong. Pop and pizza will be sold at cost.

The Teen Center is scheduled to be open the first and third Saturdays in May and June, said Mallett.

The first four sessions will be a trial run for the center, she added. Key to its future will be student participation, both in operation and attendance.

If participation is substantial, plans are to reopen the Teen Center on a regular basis beginning in the fall.

For more information, call the CAYA office at 625-9007.

18 more houses

More houses are in store for south of Waldon Road and east of Almond Lane in Pine Tree Valley subdivision.

Developer Gerald Anderson received final plat approval from the Independence Township Board April 7 and plans to build 18 houses, he said.

Construction of the road and one house have already begun, said Anderson.

Honey Queen from Springfield

By Pat Young

Dawn Balhorn, 18, of Springfield Township, has been named Michigan's 1987 Honey Queen.

The Davisburg-area resident competed for the title with women from all over Michigan during Agriculture and Natural Resources Week on the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing.

The Michigan Beekeepers Association sponsors the pageant during its annual convention. This year's competition took place March 24-25.

To capture the title, Dawn had to write an essay on honey, answer questions about her goals in a private interview and perform on stage in talent competition. She performed a comedy skit.

Dawn also had an on-stage interview. She was asked why she wanted to be honey queen and what she had to offer to help promote honey if she won.

"I told them I felt I could help promote honey because I already know how to promote a product," Dawn said. "With my job now, I'm a service promoter for a travel agency in Southfield. I travel all over promoting the agency as a service representative."

Dawn is a 1986 graduate of Holly High School, and also attended the Travel Education Institute in Southfield. She plans to pursue a career in the travel industry.

"I also told them (the judges) I really enjoyed meeting all the people involved with the pageant, the beekeepers," Dawn said.

She won a tiara and sash, a $500 scholarship and an expense-paid trip to Houston, Texas, in January to compete in the American Honey Queen competition.

Dawn's first competition was at 14 in the Miss Michigan Teen All American pageant. She was a semi-finalist. She's been a semi-finalist many times since in the last four years, but this is her first crown.

"It's been a long time coming," said her mother. "And we're just thrilled."

Dawn lives at home with her parents, Sheron and David Balhorn.

In the future, Dawn may compete in more

Birtsas retires as principal after 33 years

By Kathy Greenfield

Even though he's decided to retire Aug. 14, Gus Birtsas hasn't lost his enthusiasm for Clarkston schools.

Birtsas' career as an educator spans 33 years including the last 15 as principal of Sashabaw Junior High School and the previous three as assistant principal.

"I can't feature a better place to work than the Clarkston school district; number one because of the support, the outstanding teachers," he says. "When the real estate agents say Clarkston schools are good, they know what they're talking about."

Two factors led to his retirement plans: surgery that required nine weeks off this school year and an upcoming birthday. He'll turn 62 in September.

"I was thinking of this before the illness," he said. "I'm 62 and it's time to retire."

Birtsas began his teaching career in Eau Claire for one year and spent the following two years in Comstock before joining Clarkston schools.

In his early years, he taught junior high school English. Later experience included teaching history, eighth-grade science and math, and physical education. He also coached varsity track, JV football and basketball and varsity baseball.

The 33-year timespan includes five years when he quit teaching to sell insurance for Massachusetts Mutual. He rejoined Clarkston schools in 1969 as assistant principal at the then brand new Sashabaw Junior High School.

"We didn't even have tiles on the back floors or lighting in the back halls when we opened the doors," he says.

Sixth-graders were part of the school's population for the first four years, but after attendance grew they were switched back to elementary school buildings. Enrollment has ranged from 700 to 1,000.

Over the years he's seen many changes and some similarities. One recent change is that student requirements are getting a little bit tougher. Teachers are also more involved now in training and upgrading their skills, he says.

One noteworthy difference has to do with student smoking, at one time a common occurrence.

"Smoking has gone down tremendously," he

Strelchuk joins board

Dennis Strelchuk, an attorney who lives on Carriage Trail in Springfield Township, was appointed to the zoning board of appeals by a unanimous vote at the April 8 Springfield Township Board meeting.

Strelchuk fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Ina Golden. She resigned, effective March 19, because she was moving to Rose Township.

"It's time," says SJHS Principal Gus Birtsas about his retirement in August, but he knows says. "Kids are listening to the ads about what smoking can do to you. We do not have a smoking problem—that has come down to nothing."

He ponders the question of whether junior high school students have changed before offering his answer.

"Kids are the same. I don't see that kids have changed that much," he says. "We went through the '60s and '70s where there were problems with kids, but the pendulum has swung back with parental support—and we're getting that."

His memories of the hardest times involve teacher layoffs, which have occurred several times over the years as dictated by financial reasons and by declining enrollment.

"Teacher layoffs have really hurt me . . . and when we have to eliminate programs that we feel are important to kids," he says.

His fond memories involve the monthly morning parent group meetings, the staff and the students at Sashabaw Junior High School.

"Working with kids keeps you young, mentally he'll miss the job. "It's just been a marvelous place to work," he says.

young and physically young. It does," he says. "I don't know where these years went. They've gone by so fast. I think part of it is because you're working with young kids and no two days are the same."

A Clarkston resident, Birtsas plans to spend his retirement time working around the house and yard, doing some traveling and attending baseball games.

His voice is proud as he talks about the two children he and his wife, Carolyn, raised in Clarkston. Both Clarkston High School graduates, Tim and Annie Birtsas still consider Clarkston home.

Tim plays baseball in the Pacific Coast League and he's working toward returning to the Oakland A's major league baseball team.

Anne works at St. John Hospital, Detroit, as a nuclear medical technologist.

Birtsas says he's not sure how he'll feel when September rolls around.

"People say there's a culture shock when school starts in September and you're not there," he says. "I will miss my co-workers and seeing the kids come through year after year."

Springfield seeks clear definition of blight

By Pat Young

The biggest question about a proposed anti-blight ordinance, more commonly known as a "junk ordinance," in Springfield Township is: What is blight?

The anti-blight ordinance was scrutinized during its first reading at the April 8 township board meeting.

And the winner is . . .

Nominations for the upcoming second annual Michigan Week Community Awards on May 20 are needed by Monday, April 20, said Chairperson Christine Downing.

Award categories for people who work or live in the Clarkston area are: citizen, volunteer, property beautification, historic preservation and business person.

The winners will be recognized at a special breakfast at the Deer Lake Racquet Club. Nomination forms and the $10 breakfast tickets are available at Independence Township Hall, Village of Clarkston Hall and Clarkston area Pontiac State Bank offices.

Jaycees donate $1,000

The Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Committee (CAYAC) will be able to provide $1,000 more worth of help to youngsters in the area this year, said Merelyn Mallett, chairperson of CAYAC.

The Clarkston Area Jaycees donated the $1,000 April 7, she said.

"It's wonderful," said Mallett, adding that the money will probably go toward the Teen Center or to send underprivileged youth to summer camp.

"It does all stay in the Clarkston school district," she said.

The CAYAC is an organization devoted to the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

Township Supervisor Collin Walls said that almost every question posed could be answered by a clear definition of what is considered blight and, therefore, would be dealt with in the ordinance.

The ordinance, which has gone through several revisions, was prepared by township planner Richard Carlisle and recommended by the planning commission.

The township board unanimously voted to have the township attorneys go over the ordinance, and then attempt to publish it in time for a second reading at the May 13 board meeting.

There was concern from the audience about the portion of the ordinance dealing with storage of vehicles.

A vehicle left sitting, even if licensed, for a period of 90 days could be termed an abandoned car under the ordinance. An unlicensed vehicle, if intended to be used, would have up to 60 days to be licensed.

"What if a person is going on vacation?" asked Zona Sommers, a township resident and member of the planning commission.

"What about campers? They're not mentioned in the ordinance," said board member Charles Oaks.

In other discussion on the ordinance, township Supervisor Collin Walls said there should be a local process for appeals.

He also asked whether the ordinance should govern the exterior of structures, but the board agreed that would be going too far.

Sommers asked for a definition of "rubbish," especially as it dealt with what is unsightly in a yard.

The ordinance governs piles of debris, and residents wanted to know if this meant garbage or grass clippings, piles of rotting wood or building materials neatly piled.

"My junk may be your treasure," said township resident Steve Jantz.

Input wanted from lake residents

The Dixie Lake Board will hold a public hearing April 27 in Springfield Township Hall regarding special tax assessments for Dixie Lake residents.

The Dixie Lake Board was formed recently to handle such problems as weed harvesting in the lake. Richard Coon is chairman of the lake board.

David Fields, secretary of the board and township representative, was on hand at the April 8 township board meeting to ask for a loan for this summer's harvesting, which would be paid back by the special assessment.

"Without a special assessment, there will be no harvesting on the lake this year," Fields said, "and a bigger problem next year."

The township board voted unanimously to establish an account of up to $21,000 for the weed harvesting on Dixie Lake.

Oakland County Treasurer C. Hugh Dohany has been appointed treasurer and custodian of the funds for the lake board.

The first harvesting, at $12,000, would be in July. The remainder of the money would be loaned for a second harvesting, if there was time yet this summer.

The public hearing on April 27 would determine how to establish the special assessment for residents of Dixie Lake. A second hearing on June 8 would be the actual presentation of the special assessment and the amount per resident.

Collection of the special assessment would begin no later than the December tax bill and payback to the township would be completed by April 1, 1988.

Baseball

Clarkston High Varsity Wolves 9, Milford 8

April 13—Jeff Tungate drives in the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning to give the Wolves a come-from-behind victory. Clarkston (4-1) had trailed 7-2.

Tungate goes four for four at the plate, as does Jeff Billig, who also picks up the win with one inning of relief work.

Gary Ritch, who started on the mound, and Dave Larkin get two hits apiece. Larkin also contributes a sacrifice bunt in the last-inning rally.

Wolves 17, R.O. Dondero 0

R.O. Dondero 2, Wolves 1

April 11—It's a feast and then famine for the Wolves as they split a double-header at Royal Oak Dondero.

Jamie Shuttleworth goes the distance on the hill in the opener, allowing four hits and striking out eight, and he gets plenty of support from his teammates.

Mike Peel leads the attack with three hits and four runs batted in. Billig, Tungate, Larkin, Stacy Turner and Rob Ronk get two hits each and Billig and Turner also knock in four runs each.

The nightcap ends when Dondero scores on a base hit in the bottom of the 10th off of Tungate. Doug Bronson accounts for the lone Clarkston RBI and is two for four.

Wolves 7, Lapeer East 4

Wolves 7, Lapeer East 5

April 7—Tungate surrenders just one run in six innings of relief and strikes out eight to get Clarkston's baseball season off to a winning start in the first game. Turner and Aaron Hesse drive in two runs apiece.

The Wolves complete the sweep behind the arm of Ritch, who goes 6 2/3 innings, and the bat of Turner, who again knocks in two.

"We squeezed a few runs in, we were double-stealing, we used the hit and run; it was pretty much a total offensive game," said coach Roy Warner of the season debut.

Clarkston Junior Varsity Milford 4, Wolves 3

April 13—After giving up three runs in the first inning, the Wolves come back to tie the game, only to allow the winning run to Milford in the fifth inning. Ben Underwood takes the loss for Clarkston, now 2-3.

John Koslosky knocks in two runs for the Wolves and Chris Parker accounts for the other run with a bases-loaded walk.

Wolves 13, R.O. Dondero 7

Wolves 8, R.O. Dondero 0

April 11—Clarkston takes two at Dondero as Matt Carson and Eric Phillips notch victories, with Phillips getting a four-hit shutout.

Bill Jawlik and Joe Herron bang out three hits each in the opener and Underwood goes three for three with three RBIs in the closer.

Lapeer East 6, Wolves 5

Lapeer East 13, Wolves 6

April 7—The junior varsity season gets off to a shaky start as the Wolves drop two. Carson is two for three in the first game and Underwood and Herron are both two for four in the second game for Clarkston.

Springfield Christian Academy

April 10—The Eagles fall to Holly, 9-5 in varsity-baseball action. The loss evens their record at 1-1 after a season-opening, 8-2 victory over Flint Atherton April 9.

Springfield's junior varsity squad is also 1-1, with a win over Atherton and an 8-7 loss to Holly.

SCA's varsity softball team opens its season with losses to Atherton and Holly.

Softball

Clarkston High Varsity Milford 6, Wolves 2

April 13—Clarkston (2-1) loses its first game as errors and walks prove costly.

Senior pitcher Missy Odell strikes out 11 batters, but gives up six hits and five walks and the Wolves also hand Milford some unearned runs. Maggie Gdula provides a bright spot with a homerun for Clarkston.

Wolves 11, Lapeer East 0

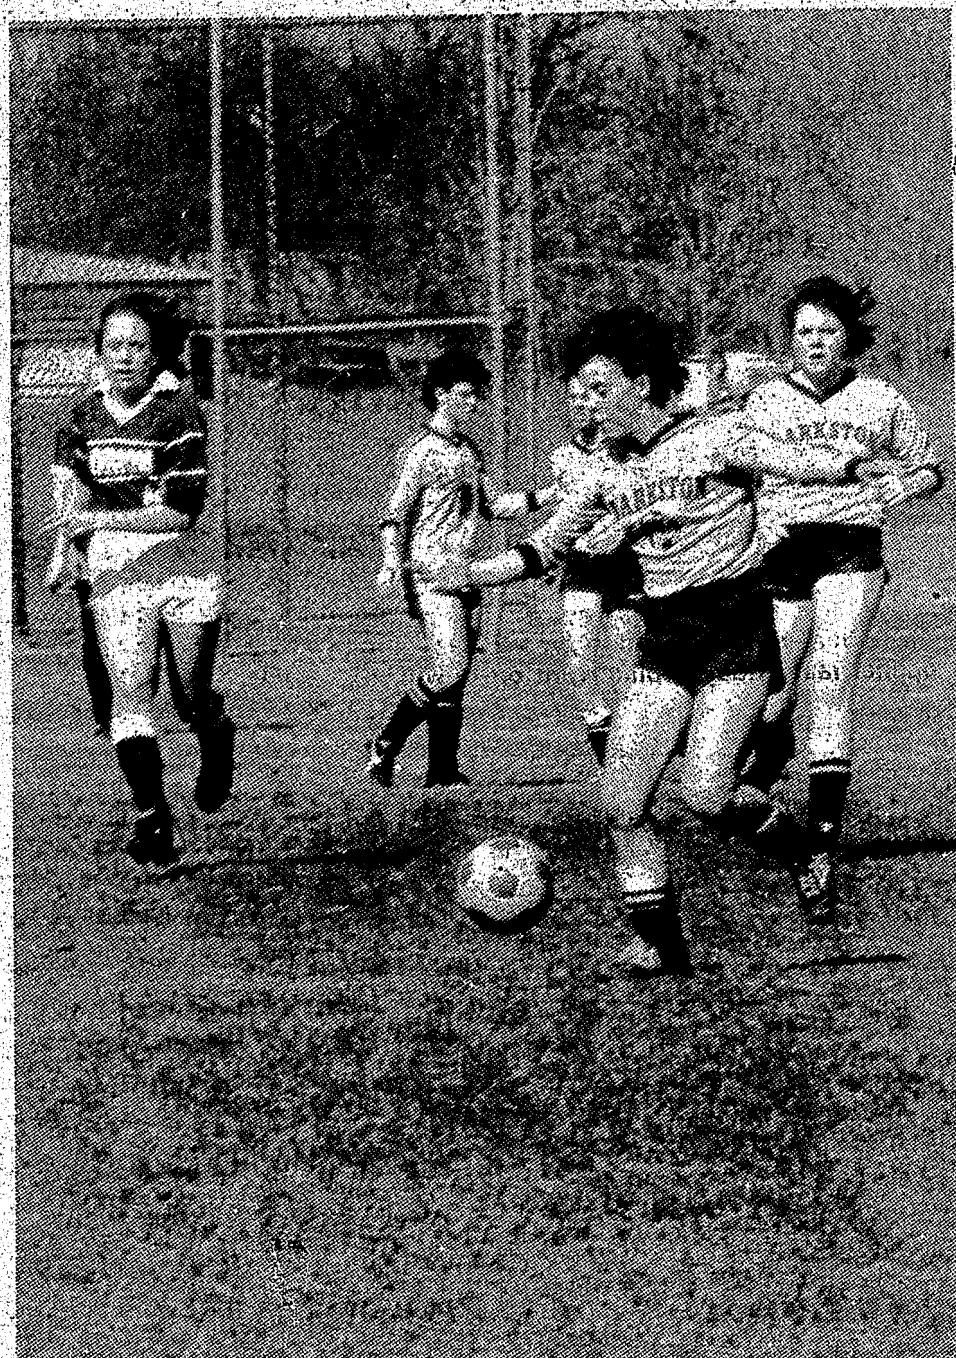

Wolves 14, Lapeer East 4

April 7—Clarkston routs Lapeer East in two mercy-shortened games in the Wolves' season debut.

Coach Carla Teare receives some fine pitching from Heather Luchenbach and Missy Odell. In the opener, Luchenbach allows just three hits, strikes out three and helps herself at the plate with three RBIs. Nicole Carry also drives in three for Clarkston.

Odell mows down her opponent in the second contest, getting 12 of 15 outs on strikeouts. Stacey Shurtz gets two RBIs after rapping out three hits in the opener.

"They still need to work on all aspects of the game," said Teare of the opening games. "But I was pleased with how it turned out. I was definitely pleased with that (the pitching)."

The Wolves are in control of the ball at this point, but they struggled against Lake Orion last Thursday and lost, 4-1. Ruth Webb scored for Clarkston, which has a 0-2 start.

Netters open with two wins

Clarkston's Steve Hollis returns a shot from Dave Waack of Lakeland in the Wolves' tennis opener last Friday. Hollis went on to win, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2, and Clarkston won the match, 6-1. The Wolves also beat Waterford Mott, 5-2, on Monday.

Clarkston tennis coach Dick Swartout may be thinking a little differently about his boys team this week after a 5-2 victory over Waterford Mott on Monday.

"This was a major upset as far as I'm concerned," said Swartout. "They (Mott) have pretty much everybody back (from last year), plus a few good new kids."

"We beat them both times last year, but I had a lot stronger team last year, or at least I thought so," he said. "This was an exciting win for us."

Perhaps more impressive than the victory itself is that the Wolves lost the first set in six of the seven matches, but came back to win four of them.

"I was encouraged the way they didn't give up," said Swartout, whose team is 2-0. "It was tough. The one and two (singles players) were the last ones on, so all the pressure was on those guys."

Both Pete Hollis (No. 1) and Grant Reading (No. 2) came through for Clarkston after dropping the first set of their matches. Hollis defeated Eric Begsrud, 1-6, 7-5, 6-2, and Reading downed Rick Schell, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

The number one doubles team of Dave and Paul Reading won 6-0, 6-4 over Mark Chewning and Jim Sparre, the number two team of Jeff Brock and Dave Racine beat George Hensel and Shawn Cassidy, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, and Eric Chambers and Chris Walker outlasted Dave Ruckie and Chris Kelley, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, in the number three match.

In that match, Chambers and Walker trailed 5-1 in the third set tiebreaker before pulling it out, 9-7.

The wins for Mott (3-1) came when Steve Dean did in Steve Hollis, 7-5, 6-3, and when Paul Hunt beat Cory Whisner, 7-6, 3-6, 6-0.

The Wolves opened their season with an easy 6-1 win over Lakeland (1-4) last Friday.

Both Pete and Steve Hollis won, as did Grant Reading and the Reading doubles team, the Brock-Racine duo and Chambers, paired with Brad Dedrick. Only two of the matches went to three sets.

Kickers cut down twice

Two losses, plus the loss of her starting goaltender, have made Clarkston soccer coach Hana Olsen shake up the lineup a bit this week.

The Wolves dropped their first two games of the season last week and played without goalie Joanne Beck, who is out indefinitely with mononucleosis.

Clarkston was a little lethargic in losing to Lake Orion, 4-1, last Thursday. One of the Dragons' goals deflected off a Clarkston defender and two others just slipped away from goalie Sue Haran, who stepped into Beck's shoes. Ruth Webb tallied the lone Wolves' goal.

"We're having difficulty in hustling out there," said Olsen. "We have to hustle after the ball more."

In an effort to shore up the defense, Olsen plans to switch some of her more sure-footed players to defense and will start Nan Stingley in goal this week. Stingley has never played the position before.

Brandon edged Clarkston, 3-2 in the opener, despite goals from Ashley Adams and Brigitte Brown April 7.

"We played rather well. They just outshot us," said Olsen. "We'll start winning, hopefully. We've got to get the lead out of our legs."

Lake Orion consistently beat Clarkston to the ball in their soccer match last week. Clarkston coach Hana Olsen will juggle the lineup a bit in an attempt to rejuvenate her team.

Tracksters regain Andover Relays title

Clarkston's victory at the Bloomfield Hills Andover Relays last Saturday was literally a total team effort because of the unique pairing of boys and girls.

The annual meet calls for two boys and two girls to run together in each event and when it was all over, the Wolves came out on top for the second time in three years.

Clarkston piled up most of its 62 points in the last half of the competition to overtake defending champ Rochester, which finished with 58 points.

Rounding out the top five were Milford 54, Pontiac Northern 46 and Rochester Adams 43.

The Wolves won just three events, but had several fourth-, fifth- and sixth-place efforts.

"We scored in a lot of events and that was the key to our success," said girls coach Gordie Richardson. "We were quite a bit behind with three or four events to go. We didn't think we could win it."

But Clarkston finished strong, winning the 4x800 and 4x100-meter relays, capturing the high jump competition and taking third in the 4x400 relay.

Chris Locher, Kate Conlen, Jim Hall and Wendy Cohoon combined for a winning time of 9:10.8 in the 4x800. Norm Carmichael, Lisa Ladd, Jeff Shupe and Jane Selent ran the 4x100 in 47.5 and Locher, Hall, Joelle Choops and Cohoon were third in the 4x400 with a 3:55.9 time.

Hall and Cohoon were also part of the high jump team, along with Keith Mercier and Tara Carnecross. They had a combined height of 21-6.

The Wolves also had a second-place showing in the 4x200 relay, as Carmichael, Ladd, Gunnar Karlstrom and Selent finished in 1:39.6.

Both Richardson and boys coach Walt Wyniemko feel a combined event such as Andover's brings their teams closer together.

"You have to have skilled people on both sides and they have to perform together," said Wyniemko. "They practice together and root for each other, but this gives them more of a chance (to work together). It's really a fun meet."

Both teams had some fun at the expense of Waterford Mott last Thursday, scoring easy victories. The boys won, 98-39, while the girls shrugged off a slow start and went on to win, 93-35. They're both 2-0 in dual meets going into this week.

Matt Scharl set a school record in the pole vault at 13-5½ and also won the discus at 116-7½ as the boys grabbed nearly every event.

Karlstrom won the long jump (20-7½) and the 200-meter dash (22.59) and Hall won the 400M dash (53.11) and was part of first-place teams in the 3200M and 800M relays.

On the girls side, junior Ali Fedio was first in both the discus (96-2) and the shot put (28-3¼), and Conlen raced to wins in the 800M (2:38.3) and 1600M runs (5:47.9).

Two Clarkston teams make the baton exchange in a 4x100 relay race against Waterford Mott last Thursday. The Wolves team of Norm Carmichael, Jeff Shupe, Keith Mercier and Gunnar Karlstrom eventually won the race in a time of 1:36.68.

Cohoon and Odell will be roomies

Wendy Cohoon will follow friend and teammate Missy Odell to play volleyball at Wayne State University, Detroit.

Cohoon, a Clarkston senior, will sign a letter of intent this week and will receive a partial athletic scholarship. Odell chose WSU earlier this year and the two "Dream Team" performers will room together at college.

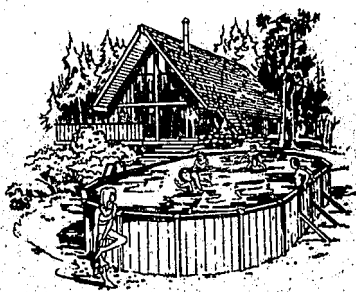

"With both of us being there, a lot of the nervousness won't be there," said Cohoon, who will take a liberal arts curriculum. "We're used to each other."

"I probably won't contribute a whole lot (next season)," she said. "I'll be learning from the setter they have. It'll be good for me. They have their whole starting lineup, but we'll be stepping right up after freshman year."

Cohoon also considered playing volleyball at Oakland University, but decided she would fit in better at Wayne State.

She also runs track for the Wolves, but felt she could only be competitive at the Division III level in college, a level which does not offer scholarships.

Site plans are OKd

Two revised site plans, one for a new business and one for a trailer park expansion, were unanimously approved by the Springfield Township Board April 8.

Schwan's Sales, a wholesale frozen food business, was given the green light on its site plan for lots 11 and 12 in Valentine's Industrial Park.

The original site plan was approved at the February board meeting, but there were stipulations for revising the landscaping and submitting a new paving plan because the business requested a reduction in the requirements for asphalt based on expected traffic.

The approved revised plan had additional landscaping, including gold tips in front of the refrigerator units, and a paving plan that meets requirements.

Springfield Estates Mobile Home Park got the nod on 13 new home sites adjacent to Oakhill Road.

Concerns of the board had been met in the revised site plan, including sidewalks and recreation space geared to the new occupants. The plan also included a 2-foot high berm and landscaping along Oakhill Road.

Force is out of this world at tourney

"It was an astronomical showing. It was unbelievable," said Joe Sanders.

Sanders was speaking of his team's performance at the 12th Annual Tri-State Tae Kwon Do Karate Championships near Youngstown, Ohio, last Saturday.

His club, the Clarkston Force, brought 49 members to the event and went home with 61 trophies in form, fighting and breaking competitions. The Force's members range in age from 6 to 46.

Sanders, the team's instructor, said the trophy total is unprecedented. In setting the new standard, the Force also won the team title for the second straight year. The championships attracted 381 competitors from 21 clubs in six states.

"It's very rewarding for any instructor to see the results of his efforts reflected in the results of his students," said Sanders. "And there's no way to describe the team spirit that was present all day."

Aside from the victory, of equal importance to Sanders was the vocal support his squad received. Over 130 relatives and friends made the trip from Clarkston, decked out in royal blue colors, displaying huge banners and chanting "Let's go blue" throughout the day.

"I'd like to thank all the parents and relatives and friends who took time out of their schedule to support the team," Sanders said. "It was greatly appreciated."

The cheering stopped and was replaced by silence to allow Matt Woods to concentrate during the men's breaking competition. Woods holds a green belt, four steps below a black belt, yet Woods more than held his own against a black-belt rival.

Woods finished second, but not before he performed a seven-board palm heel break, which is at the second-degree black belt level.

"It was an awesome demonstration," said Sanders. "After it was over, he got an entire standing ovation."

Sanders was also pleased with his contingent of 11 women, who came away with 16 trophies. Ten of those women have just joined the club within the last six months.

Karen Thomas and Denise Houser (white belts) were first and second, respectively, in fighting and form; Jane Coleman (orange) was also first in those categories; Linda Childers (orange) was first in the masters form division; Laura Schilling (yellow) was second in form; Heather Ruff (orange) was second in fighting; 12-year-old Kasey Pierce won her fighting class; and Jenny Schilling (orange) was second in fighting.

Among other members who brought home trophies was Brian Childers (children's orange belt), who was second in breaking and third in both fighting and form.

It was a dominating performance for the Force. One member, Tom McCloskey, overheard an instructor say, "Looks like Sanders brought his animals down again."

Ironically, Sanders didn't see many of his "animals" because he was refereeing some other matches.

"I don't know if that was good or bad," he said. "I get so nervous because I want them to win so bad. But I try to look calm and show no expression."

Sanders couldn't help but crack a smile though, when the second- and third-place instructors, who have studied under Sanders, presented him with the team trophy. But Sanders wants more, namely the U.S. Open title in October, a title the team won last year.

"I'll go on record right now," he said. "We're going to repeat that performance and win the grand championship for the second time. They're already dedicated to it."

In the meantime, Sanders and four students will travel to Seoul, Korea, in June for a week-long stay which will include a two-day seminar and dinner with the President and Vice-President of Korea.

And Sanders can never have too many students. The Force, which is sponsored by Clarkston Community Education, accepts new enrollments every first Monday of each month. It meets Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays at Pine Knob Elementary school.

Goalie Raguso hopes to further career

Although he's only 19, Tony Raguso finds himself searching to prolong his hockey career.

Raguso recently completed his junior "B" league season with the USA Jets, out of the Detroit Skating Club in West Bloomfield.

The goalie is now "over-the-hill" for that level in Michigan and is hoping to hook on with either a college team or a Canadian junior team. He could play at the junior level in Canada until he's 21.

Right now, Raguso is waiting to hear about summer tryout camps from a number of teams, such as junior "B" teams in Chatham and Windsor, Ontario, junior teams in St. Louis and from Wisconsin-Lake Superior College.

Making any one of those teams would be a step up in competition for Raguso, who said his best shot might come with the Windsor Bulldogs.

"I haven't seen what they're (Windsor) like yet," said the 1985 Clarkston graduate. "I've talked with them. It's possible they might need a goaltender."

"The college teams are a lot stronger. They're definitely more advanced," he said. "But you have a better chance of getting looked at, at a school. I want to go to school, but I'd also like to work at this as a career."

Raguso does have some credentials. He led his five-team league this season with a 2.91 goals against average, for which he received a trophy. The Jets finished second in the league and third in the playoffs.

Other teams in the league include St. Clair Shores, Royal Oak, Taylor and Woodhaven, but Raguso has gotten used to traveling over the years since there are few hockey teams in the Clarkston area.

This was his third season with the Jets and before that, he played two years of midget "AA" hockey in Southfield.

He started playing when he was 3 years-old and moved into the nets when he was 10.

"I liked the equipment and I liked the recognition the goalie gets," he said.

Some of his goaltending idols are former Detroit Red Wing Eddie Giacomin, who was recently inducted into the Hall of Fame, the late Pelle Lindbergh and New York Islander Billy Smith, one of the more "physical" goalies in the NHL.

If Raguso patterns himself after any of those three, it might be after Smith. Raguso had the dubious distinction of leading his league in penalty minutes for goalies this year.

"I started them and someone else finished them," Raguso said of his altercations on the ice. "My

This is a Raguso original. He studies graphic art at Oakland Community College, but hopes to make his career in sports psychology after his playing days are over.

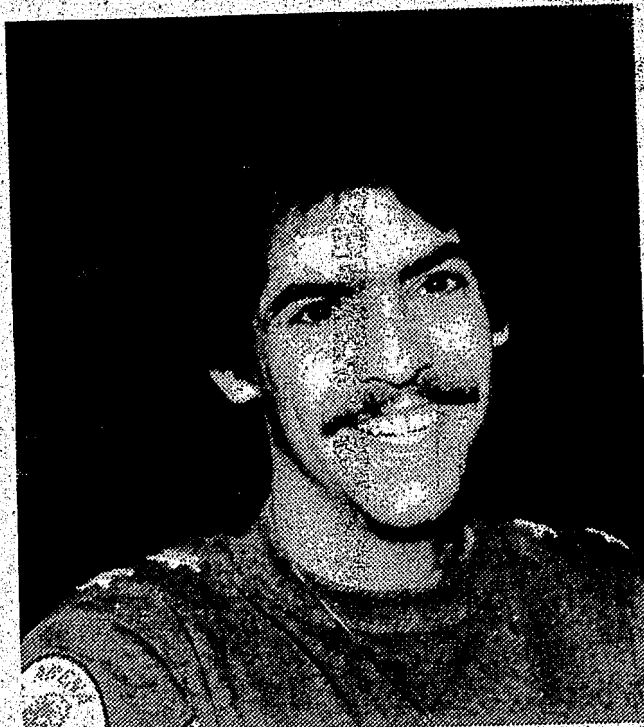

defensemen would usually jump in and they never let me finish them. Then they'd get mad at me for some reason."

While waiting for another hockey opportunity, Raguso is watching plenty of the NHL playoff action on television and yes, he is a Red Wing fan.

Naturally, Raguso would one day like to be on the other side of the TV screen, but if that doesn't happen, he plans to stay close to sports by studying sports psychology.

In the meantime, he attends Oakland Community College, where he studies graphic art and draws, among other things, goaltenders.

IF IT'S A MAJOR FIRE or a minor oddity, we want a call at The Clarkston News. 625-3370

Tony Raguso is trying to catch on with another hockey team now that his days with the USA Jets are behind him. Raguso, a goaltender, is a 1985 graduate of Clarkston High.

Call for Fun Daze sponsors

Sponsors are needed for the Clarkston USA Fun Daze—a Michigan Week celebration for runners, walkers and park-goers scheduled from 9 to noon, Saturday, May 16.

Planned as an annual event, sponsors would help fund the program that includes: Breakfast by the Independence Township Firefighters Association, 10-kilometer, 5K and one-mile runs; 5K and one-mile walks; and a moonwalk and mobile unit with games from the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission and the debut appearance of the Clarkston Rotary Clown Troupe.

Proceeds for the events in Depot Park, Clarkston, are to help develop Depot Park and the Independence Township community, in keeping with the motto, "Striving for a Greater Independence."

Fun Daze is sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club, the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department and Runnin' Gear.

The 1 mile fun run or walk and the 5K fun walk are free.

Fees for the 10K or 5K runs are $7 for adults who register before May 1, $5 for children 12 and under, and $9 after May 1 for everyone.

Advance registration forms are available at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department office in Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston, and at Runnin' Gear on Dixie Highway in Waterford Township.

To sponsor the program or for more information, call Chairman Dick Greenfield at 625-0421.

38 teens praised

By Kathy Greenfield

The annual banquet to honor teens for volunteer work has "turned out to be a real nice way" to recognize the many good things young people do, says Carole Meyers.

The Clarkston Area Youth Assistance's third annual Youth Community Service Award banquet was April 9 at the Clarkston United Methodist Church.

Thirty-five teens took their turns at receiving framed certificates and a round of applause recognizing good works, which ranged from volunteering at the library and at hospitals to working at Clarkston SCAMP, the summer camp for handicapped children.

Three teens, all Clarkston High School students, received plaques for outstanding contributions.

Deborah Gordon was honored for her 324 hours of service at Pontiac General Hospital, which included helping in the training of new Candy Strippers.

Amy Newmarch was recognized for giving over 110 hours of volunteer time, spanning six years, to SCAMP.

Kelly Saunders won the award for her activities in student government and for being the student representative for the Clarkston Area Chemical People. She has given talks on substance abuse at Maplegrove and at three area high schools and she has been instrumental in forming FACT, a new club at CHS aimed at encouraging drug-free entertainment.

The names of certificate-winners and the organizations that received their gifts of time follow:
Shelli Duby, CHS student: A Candy Stripper at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, she has donated 96 hours to the rehabilitation center.

Rose Marie Fabrizio, Marion High School student: She has donated 40 hours to the school library.

Kari Griffith, CHS student: She works weekends as a volunteer at the Oakland Animal Shelter and raised a puppy to donate to Leader Dogs for the Blind.

Teresa Hofman, CHS student: Her hospital volunteer work spans a 3½-year period.

Kristin Larkin, CHS student: She has worked two years as an office aide at CHS.

Andrew Tudor, CHS student: A member of the Independence Township Sesquicentennial Committee, he spent many hours working on events including the design and construction of the first-place float in the Labor Day Parade.

Several students were part of groups that worked to improve their community. Each participant received a certificate.

Sandra Coulter and Lori Irwin, CHS students: Their contributions and hard work helped make the first SKI DAY a success, they are active in student government and are currently helping with the formation of the Teen Drop-In Center at CHS.

Heather Flor, Amy Ginn, Chuck Grech and Amy Tower, all Clarkston Junior High School students: They have all contributed their time as volunteers at the Independence Township Library.

Mike Carr, CJHS student; Jenny Chester, CJHS student; Heather Cooper, CHS student; Anna Miracle, CHS student; Britt Ried, CJHS student; Dee Dee Rogatz, CHS student; and Amy Weiler, Our Lady of the Lakes student: The teens all received praise for their volunteer service at Clarkston SCAMP.

Kristi Martin, Students Against Smoking chairperson, and fellow CHS students David Gray, Julie Kidd, Lisa Langdon, Amy Laidler, Jim Tedder, Amy Rogers, Matt Woods, Tammy Jeans, Brian Fausett, Shelly Purdy, Sherri Rico, Kathy Carroll, Heidi Vines, Mike Trebilcock and Kristen Kuehl: The group visited elementary schools and made presentations encouraging children not to start smoking.

Kelly Saunders' mom, Carole Ryden, and her stepfather, Jeff Ryden, share their admiration for Kelly's volunteer work that resulted in the plaque award.

Deborah Gordon's plaque is admired by Cheryl Everett, the volunteer director at Pontiac General Hospital.

Plaque-winner Amy Newmarch accepts congratulations from Fontie ApMadoc, village council member. Amy's volunteer work at SCAMP spans six years.

Britt Ried and her mom, Margie, share their pleasure in Britt's award for volunteering over 100 hours at SCAMP.

Andrew Tudor and his dad, Bill, admire the award Andrew won for designing and building the sesquicentennial float.

Party plans are firm for CHS Class of 1987

By Pat Young

There's one graduation party in the works that's sure to please parents and students alike.

A committee of Clarkston High School parents, with CHS principal Dr. Robert Burek as administrative liaison, are spearheading a community-wide effort for a CHS class of 1987 post-graduation party.

The party will be in the Deer Lake Racquet Club following 7:30 p.m. graduation ceremonies at Pine Knob. Doors will open at 10 p.m. and close at 11 p.m. Students must arrive at the party during that hour and will not be allowed to return if they leave. The party is scheduled to run until about 3:30 a.m.

Many facilities at the racquet club will be available including pools, courts and banquet rooms.

Party co-chairmen Dody Savas and Pat Unsworth don't want to give away too many surprises they have planned for the students, but there will be a DJ, air band, videos of school activities and a special surprise they will only describe as a "time capsule."

In addition to a ticket (cost of which is yet to be determined, but will be $5 to $10), students must present a senior picture when they enter the party. They will get it back—in the form of yet another surprise.

Students have had their say on the location of the party, plus foods and entertainment they would like.

"We've had good input, so far, from the kids," Savas said. "We would love it if every single senior would show up."

The party is being supported by service organizations, churches, merchants, parents and other groups in the community in donations of money, prizes, food and favors. Ticket sales to seniors the end of May will also help finance the party.

"It's the first post-graduation party of its kind at Clarkston in at least two decades, and we're really excited about it," said Burek, applauding the community effort.

"It's a good alternative to substance abuse, and a way for seniors to be safe in one of the most important moments of their lives," Burek added. "And it's a way to say farewell and best wishes to a wonderful group of kids."

In addition to co-chairmen Savas and Unsworth and Burek as administrative liaison, the post-graduation committee is comprised of:

Carol McNally, treasurer; Bill Neff, site committee; Angel Havel, entertainment; Betsy Travis and Linda Lapinski, decorations; Judy Bas and Sandy Diederich, door prizes; Pamela Hummel and Shirley Andryco, food; Marty Alice Cook and Karel Howse, favors and booklets; Dave Larkin, cleanup; Michelle Weverstad, evening workers.

Dody Savas [left] and Pat Unsworth are co-chairmen of a committee that is organizing a post-graduation party for Clarkston High School's Class of 1987.

Richardson-Couture

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Richardson of Houston, Texas, announce the engagement of their daughter Cheryl to Michael John Couture, son of David Couture and Ruth Ann Couture.

The bride-to-be is a 1980 graduate of Clarkston High School. She is employed by Budget Rent a Car Southwest Florida as sales manager and is enrolled as a candidate of the Institute for Certified Travel Consultants.

Her fiancé is a 1977 graduate of Clarkston High School and the president of American Speedy Printing Centers in Naples, Fla.

An August wedding is planned in Naples.

New arrivals

It's a boy for Thomas and Jacque Enzor of Orion Township.

Jason Thomas was born at 2:33 p.m. March 18 at Pontiac General Hospital. He weighed 7 pounds 12 ounces and measured 20 inches long.

Jason is the Enzors' first child and the first grandchild of Jim and Mary Kilcline of Springfield Township. He is also the grandson of Dale and Mickie Enzor of Waterford.

Kristin and Kevin Williams of Orr Road, White Lake Township, welcomed their first child into the world March 21.

Jacob Lee was born at Huron Valley Hospital, Milford, at 11:15 a.m. He weighed 7 pounds 6 ounces and measured 19½ inches long.

Grandparents are Darrel and Faye Williams of Clarkston, Fred and Judy Heagarty of Barrington, Ill., and Kent and Terry Shebelut of Galt, Calif.

The Batchelders have another banner on their mailbox. Six months ago, the banner announced the birth of their first granddaughter. Now, they're heralding the arrival of their first grandson.

"Oh gosh, it's exciting," said the proud grandmother.

Brent Michael Batchelder was born April 12 at 4:02 a.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. He weighed 7 pounds and measured 19 inches long.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Rick Batchelder of Lake Orion.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sommerfield of Westmont, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Derrel Batchelder of Davisburg.

Great-grandparents are Loretta Sommerfield of Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Bill DeCarteret of St. Petersburg, Fla., Vivian Batchelder of Milford and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kochanski of Warren.

At college

Alma College freshman Kara Nicholle and sophomore Hope Waller are among 56 students who will perform in Alma's Winter Term Orchestis Dance Concert.

Nicholle will appear among 20 dancers in the avant garde "Waiting For..." and will be among 18 dancers dressed in tinfoil costumes in the light-hearted "You Can Be A Star."

Waller co-coreographed and will dance in the ballet "Les Filles Du Moulin Rouge." She will also appear in "Four Little Swans," a classic ballet, and she is one of seven dancers in the serious, dramatic and technically difficult modern ballet "Sad Birds."

Nicholle, of Parview Drive in Independence Township, is a 1986 graduate of Waterford Mott High School. She is the daughter of Earl and Mary Nicholle. She plans to major in education at Alma.

Waller, a 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, is the daughter of James and Lenora Waller of Allen Road, Independence Township. She plans to major in French at Alma.

Nightlinger, Thompson are wed

Rebecca Nightlinger and Ronald Thompson are residing in Jackson following their March 21 wedding at St. Brigid's Catholic Church in Midland.

The bride, a 1980 graduate of H.H. Dow High School in Midland, earned a secretarial degree from Delta College. Her parents are Jerry and Linda Nightlinger of Midland.

Newlywed: Rebecca Thompson.

The bridegroom, a 1980 graduate of Clarkston High School, holds a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Michigan Technological University, Houghton. He is employed at Glibert Commonwealth in Jackson. His parents are Larry and Joyce Thompson of Almond Lane, Independence Township.

The Rev. Edward Vella performed the traditional double-ring ceremony before 500 guests at an altar decorated with spring flower arrangements.

Organist and soloist was Fred Szczepanski of Saginaw.

The bride approached the altar wearing an ivory satin Victorian-style gown with re-embroidered fantasia flower lace appliques on the fitted bodice. Delicate cut-work detailing accented the satin puff sleeves and the satin chapel train.

She wore a lace and pearl spray tiara with fingertip illusion veiling and carried a bouquet of white orchids, daisies and baby's breath.

Attending the bride was her sister, Shawn Nightlinger of Midland. Bridesmaids were Kathy Sauer, Lori Fockler and Tammy Hoyt of Midland and the bride's sister, Wendy Thompson of Clarkston.

The bridal attendants wore satin floor-length gowns of crystal teal with sweetheart necklines, fluted ruffles and tuxedo-type peplums.

They carried baskets of spring flowers and wore gold chain necklaces, gifts from the bride.

Danielle Hoover of Parma, Ohio, was flower girl and the bride's cousin, Kyle Arthur of Midland, was ring bearer.

Mark Bahorski of Southfield served as best man. Groomsmen were Dennis Hughes, Pete Ludwig and the bridegroom's brother, Todd Thompson, all of Clarkston, and Loren Kinne of South Bend, Ind.

Seating guests were Mark Nightlinger of Indianapolis, Ind., brother of the bride, and Scott Thompson of Clarkston, brother of the bridegroom.

Present for the ceremony were grandparents Russell and Laura Arthur and Mary Nightlinger of Midland, Edward and Alberta Hiske of Grosse Ile and Nona Thompson of Drayton Plains.

Following a reception at Williams Township Hall in Midland, hosted by the bride's aunt and uncle Pam and Geff Arthur, the couple left for a two-week honeymoon trip to Hawaii.

Pre-nuptial parties were given by Pam Arthur, Shawn Nightlinger, Patti Hoyt and Tammy Hoyt in Midland, and Wendy Thompson, Terri Martina and Lisa Martina in Clarkston.

In service

Marine Staff Sgt. Stephen Finch recently deployed to the Republic of Korea for exercise Team Spirit with Marine Wing Support Squadron-174, Camp Foster, Okinawa.

Kindergartners learned a hula dance in Debbie Licata's class at Andersonville Elementary. It was part of a pretend Hawaiian cruise they took April 8 after studying about transportation.

Moms and grandmoms helped by making the flowered shirts, grass skirts and paper flowers.

Let's pretend

cruises for all the kindergartners. They also passed out pamphlets of information.

Stephanie Nault and Ryan Kunkle cut out Hawaiian Islands. The class also made pineapples out of balloons and tissue paper and sampled real tropical fruit—pineapple and kiwi.

Now Serving You At Select Agent Locations

You are invited to attend the Dave Barba Evangelistic Crusade at the First Baptist Church, which is located at 5972 Paramus, Clarkston. The services will be held nightly from April 19-24th beginning each night at 7:00 p.m. (Easter Sunday, 11:00 a.m.; 6:00 p.m.).

Dave Barba, the evangelist, was born in Memphis, Tennessee. As a teenager, he was active in singing, acting, and photography. His interest in photography led him to attend Bob Jones University in Greenville, South Carolina to study cinematography. While a Junior at Bob Jones, he was converted to true Christianity. After finishing college with a B.A. in Christian Education, he earned a Masters degree in Theology.

Immediately upon completion of graduate school, Dave and his wife Claudia moved to Milwaukee, Wisconsin to plant a new Baptist Church. Beginning with one family, they watched the church grow in twelve years from a temporary location in a bank basement to over 500 people.

The evangelist, also a vocal soloist and recording artist, has preached in many states in the USA and in several foreign countries. He has also preached on several television stations and authored published articles, tracts and songs.

Accompanied by his wife and three children, Dave Barba will provide various musical selections as well as children's services during the meetings.

Brenda on beauty

3 easy remedies

Brenda Ward

Spring brings warmer days, the color green and fresh, clean air . . . and then there are those little annoying things we begin to notice.

Hands chapped and dry from cold weather exposure; bodies not quite as smooth due to dry atmosphere and temperature extremes; faces we wish were younger, tanner, smoother, softer—the list goes on.

Don't despair. Here are three easy remedies with quick and noticeable results, so you can concentrate on the beauty of nature in springtime.

For hands: Take 2 tablespoons of pure olive oil and about 1 quart of very warm water. Mix together in a medium-size mixing bowl. Soak hands for 15 minutes. Don't rinse, but dry with a rough towel.

Massage on the richest hand cream you own from fingertip to elbow and perform no more housework or spring cleaning for the rest of the day. Repeat weekly until hands improve. Excellent for rough, dry cuticles, too.

For body: Take 1 cup of Kosher salt. You will also need a loofah. Fill your bathtub with warm water and a couple drops of your favorite bath oil.

Stand in the tub with your loofah and make a paste with the Kosher salt and water, using a little salt at a time. Gently rub the loofah and salt mixture over wet skin, concentrating on elbows, knees, heels and wherever you are extra dry.

Immerse your body in the warm water and oil.

The salt will continue to soften your skin. Dry off with a natural fabric towel. Moisturize your skin from neck to toes. Your skin will feel dramatically softer and silkier.

For the face: Incorporate this mini, at-home facial into your regular routine. Cleanse your skin thoroughly; pat dry. Fill a medium-size saucepan half full of water and bring to a boil.

Carefully place the pan of hot water on a hot pad on your kitchen table. Put a towel over your head and the steaming pan—don't get too close.

Remain this way until the steam cools. Now pat skin dry and use your favorite mask. Lie down for 10 to 20 minutes. Remove the mask with warm water.

Pat your face dry. Dab on toner (for dry skin) or astringent (for oily). Gently, with upward motions, massage on your prescribed moisturizer.

All of these home treatments are best enjoyed in the evening before you retire. And there you have it: Three easy recipes for top to toe loveliness in the convenience of your home.

Kids can camp at county park

Youth groups in Oakland County can partake in group camping at Independence Oaks County Park. Scout troops, church groups, handicapped programs or other youth organizations can camp for a day or overnight.

Independence Oaks is the largest of the Oakland County parks, with more than 1,000 acres and Crooked Lake, a non-motorized boating and fishing lake, and 8½ miles of marked trails for hiking and nature viewing.

The park's nature center features weekly programs, guided walks and individual exploration of hands-on activities.

Camping fees are $1 a person per night for Oakland County residents and $2 for non-residents. Group leaders are admitted free. Firewood for campfires is provided for a nominal fee. Boat rentals begin May 1, with beach facilities available beginning May 23.

The park is on Sashabaw Road, 2½ miles north of I-75 in Independence Township.

Group leaders should call 625-0877 to register. Camping is reserved on a first-come, first-served basis.

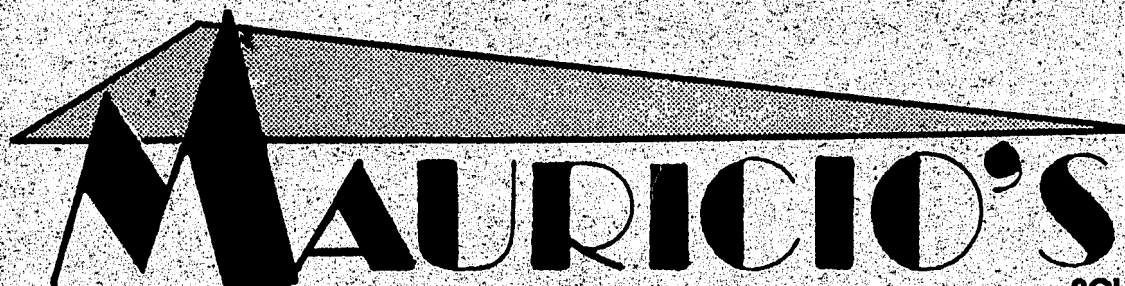

Take a class

An array of classes offered by Clarkston Community Education can put spare time to good use this spring.

Several workshops meet one time: Ink and Scrub Welcome Goose, April 15; Stenciled Sweatshirt, April 15; Eucalyptus Wreath, April 29; and Grapevine Half Basket, May 6.

An Herbs class meets four times, once a week, beginning May 2.

Fees range from $7 to $34. For registration information, call 674-0993 weekdays from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Microwave-plus

Instant replay of instant meals

Betty Wagner

Betty Wagner is on vacation, so she requested a reprint of recipes from her Microwave-plus column published March 19, 1986, in The Clarkston News.

To round out the meal prepared in the microwave oven, she suggests fresh bakery rolls reheated in the microwave until warm to the touch and a dessert of fresh fruit compote or tart.

BONELESS PORK ROAST

Place 2 to 3 1/2 pound evenly shaped roast, less than 4 inches in diameter, in oven cooking bag in microsafe dish.

Sprinkle with gravy mix or herbs. Secure bag with plastic closure, string or strip cut from bag.

Microwave at 30 percent power (low or defrost) for 22 minutes a pound or until internal temperature reads 170 degrees.

Turn roast over and around half way through cooking time. Let stand, covered with foil, for 10 minutes.

For pork center roast or pork shoulder blade Boston roast, follow the directions for boneless pork, except microwave 20 minutes a pound at 30 percent power.

APPLESAUCE

6 cups cooking apples, cored, sliced and peeled

1/2 cup water

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1/2 cup sugar or red cinnamon candies

Mix apples, water and lemon juice in 2-quart microwave casserole dish. Microwave at high power 10 to 12 minutes or until apples are tender and can be mashed.

Stir in sugar or candies. Microwave at high power for 1 to 2 minutes or until sugar and candies melt.

Sprinkle with cinnamon or nutmeg if sugar is used as sweetener. Serve warm or cold.

NEW POTATOES AND PEAS IN CREAM SAUCE

Scrub 1 pound new red or yellow potatoes. Pierce potatoes with a toothpick or peel a strip in the center of each.

Cover tightly. Microwave at high power for 6 to 8 minutes. Stir, from the outside to the center, half way through cooking time.

FRESH FROZEN PEAS

Pierce the box with a long-tined fork. Remove wrapper, if foil. Place on a microsafe paper plate lined with a paper towel. Microwave at high power 4 minutes. Combine with cooked potatoes. Stir in white sauce.

BASIC WHITE SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

2 tablespoons flour

1 cup milk

1/4 teaspoon white pepper

1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon salt, if desired

Melt butter at high power for 20 to 30 seconds in a 2-cup Pyrex measure. Blend in flour. Microwave at high for 20 to 30 seconds or until bubbly.

Stir in 1 cup milk. Microwave at high for 1 minute. Stir. Microwave for another minute or until thickened, stirring every 30 seconds.

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her "Microwave Plus" cable-TV show is aired Monday through Thursday at 7 p.m. on Independence-Clarkston cable channel 11.

Pins to count for scholarships

A Bowl-a-thon is planned May 16 to benefit the Clarkston Junior Miss scholarship program.

The group is seeking bowlers and sponsors for the fundraiser May 16 at 1 p.m. at Cherry Hills Lanes North on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Sponsors pledge money, so much per pin knocked down, based on three games. All proceeds go to the Junior Miss scholarship program for the coming year. Last year, Clarkston Junior Miss contestants received almost $5,000 in scholarships.

Bowl-a-thon registration forms and sponsor sheets may be picked up at Cherry Hills Lanes, or call Pat Unsworth at 625-3985.

Girls who reside in the Clarkston school district, are currently in their junior years in high school and who are interested in being in the 1987-88 Junior Miss program should contact Barbara Hamaker at 625-4041.

Reunions

Pontiac High School, January and June Classes of 1947—The 40th reunion is planned Saturday, Sept. 12, at the Deer Lake Racquet Club in Independence Township. The cost is $25 a person. A mixer party is scheduled at 6 p.m. Friday at the Elks in Pontiac (no reservations necessary). Write to Class of 1947, P.O. Box 313, Pontiac, MI 48056.

Cass Tech. High School, Class of 1977—The reunion weekend is planned June 12 through 14 with a Friday night reception, dinner dance on Saturday at Cobo Hall and picnic on Sunday at Belle Isle. Tickets are $25 a person. To make reservations, call 355-9472.

Clarkston gallery features local art

By Julie Campe

As far as Karen Weaver is concerned, the more people who have and appreciate art, the better. "I love art. I want to put art into as many hands as possible," she said.

Democratic art, she calls it—beautiful, affordable, enjoyable—art on paper done by the people, for the people. That was one of the purposes of opening the gallery, she said.

The gallery that fills the upstairs of Aura Fine Art, 20 S. Main St., Clarkston, is a real treat for art lovers—a whole room filled with work by local artists.

It's open during store hours, and people are welcome to just look, or they may buy the artwork, she said.

Water colors, lithographs and block prints line the walls, but no oils.

"I like oils, but oils are not as affordable," Weaver said.

Also in the gallery are sculptures, baskets and glasswork.

"These things can add texture and add perspective dimensions in a house," she said. "Besides, they're just beautiful in their own right, too."

The gallery is one of the best parts about the store, she said.

"Culturally, this area is the boondocks because we're away from the city, and we're a small town," said Weaver.

"But we are not the boondocks when you look at the caliber of artists here," she said, mentioning Larry Falardeau, Russell Cobane, Donella Reese Vogel, Pam Kessler, Robert Hubbach, Patrick Smith and David Taylor.

In the gallery now is a watercolor exhibition by Falardeau: A series of lighthouses and Michigan shoreline scenes that he painted in 1986—a tribute to Michigan's 150th birthday. The Sylvan Lake resident uses watercolors, and in one painting, he used water from Lake Michigan in the paint.

Falardeau paints because he likes to paint, she said, adding he donates 10 percent of the proceeds from his work to the buyer's favorite charity.

Cobane, an Independence Township resident, is someone who has gone from "best to better," she said. The 1986-87 Duck Stamp winner, Cobane also

Clear speech is her goal

by Dorothy Leaming

"Wed, wed woses" is not a musical sound to the ears of speech therapist Gloria Spitler.

An Ohio native, Gloria has a bachelor's degree in speech and hearing from Bowling Green University and has done graduate work at Eastern and Western Michigan universities.

She married Ron Spitler, a fish biologist with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Gloria has had teaching experience in Carman, Otsego and Jackson Intermediate school districts when Ron's work required that he be in these communities. She has worked in Clarkston 14 years.

Gloria, a small Italian dynamo constantly in motion, lives in Lake Orion.

She is on a committee serving as liaison between school and community and finds it interesting to see the educational community from another perspective.

AAUW and Lake Orion Families in Action, a substance abuse information sharing group, also occupy her time.

She likes to be physically active and to be outdoors; thus, jogging, cross country skiing and gardening are naturals for Gloria.

Speech therapist Gloria Spitler has worked in Clarkston schools for 14 years.

Growing vegetables has given way to flower gardening, and there may even be some red roses in her future. She enjoys reading and is handy with a needle.

Ron and Gloria have two daughters: Jennifer and Stacey. The girls are active in sports and their father also serves as their softball coach.

The family has enjoyed some camping vacations to the southern and western United States. A recent trip to North Carolina and the Outer Banks was especially memorable.

Extracurricular professional activities are important to Gloria. She is active in professional organizations on a county and state level and is on the policy board of the Professional Development Committee in Clarkston.

It makes Gloria feel good when children can go back to their classrooms and share experiences or participate in discussions with less struggle and greater intelligibility.

She enjoys the challenge!

WELCOME HOME TO FAMILY FASHIONS...

Storyteller rewards prolific student readers

By Julie Campe

When Joanne Ladd spoke to fourth- and fifth-graders in Clarkson schools Monday, she assumed the character of her great-great-grandmother Elizabeth Goodrich.

She wore a long dress, bonnet and gloves and spoke with an expressive, shaky voice.

A librarian in Flint, Ladd talked about Michigan pioneers, specifically her family, in honor of Michigan's Sesquicentennial.

It was a treat for the 85 students who listened at North Sashabaw Elementary School.

Elizabeth Goodrich, as portrayed by Joanne Ladd, was born in 1812 on a ship in the Atlantic Ocean.

In 10 weeks, they had met the challenge of reading at least 10 of 15 books chosen by media specialists.

"It's really been wonderful because it gives us an opportunity to get to know these pupils who are really wonderful readers and really like to read," said Beatrice Cohen, media specialist at Andersonville and Pine Knob elementary schools.

Goodrich, alias Ladd, started at the beginning. "I was born in 1812 on a ship in the Atlantic Ocean," she said, adding her birth certificate states the place of birth as New York because that's where the boat docked.

She was the only baby born on that ship, and the captain gave her parents a piece of fabric he got in Korea. Goodrich, alias Ladd, showed it to the listeners.

And she told a Korean folk tale that the captain had told her parents about a boy, a pheasant and a snake. She made sounds like the snake and pheasant and also like the bells in a temple.

Then she resumed her life story.

Her parents had come from Goodrich Castle in Wales. When they reached New York, her family took a flat-bottomed boat on the Erie Canal to Detroit and then to Lansing where they eventually settled.

The Erie Canal was only about 4 feet deep, so a flat-bottomed boat was the only way to go. Many families from New York traveled west with that route, she said.

She eventually got married in Michigan, and she and her husband, Columbus Goodrich, started a farm and planted apple trees. Her husband even built a special building just to make applesauce, and neighbors often lined up their wagons to use it, too.

Once, when she was "with child," she met some Indians who gave her a turkey feather fan to help her keep cool.

"I have never seen such a fan as this since," she said, and invited the children to try it after she told her stories.

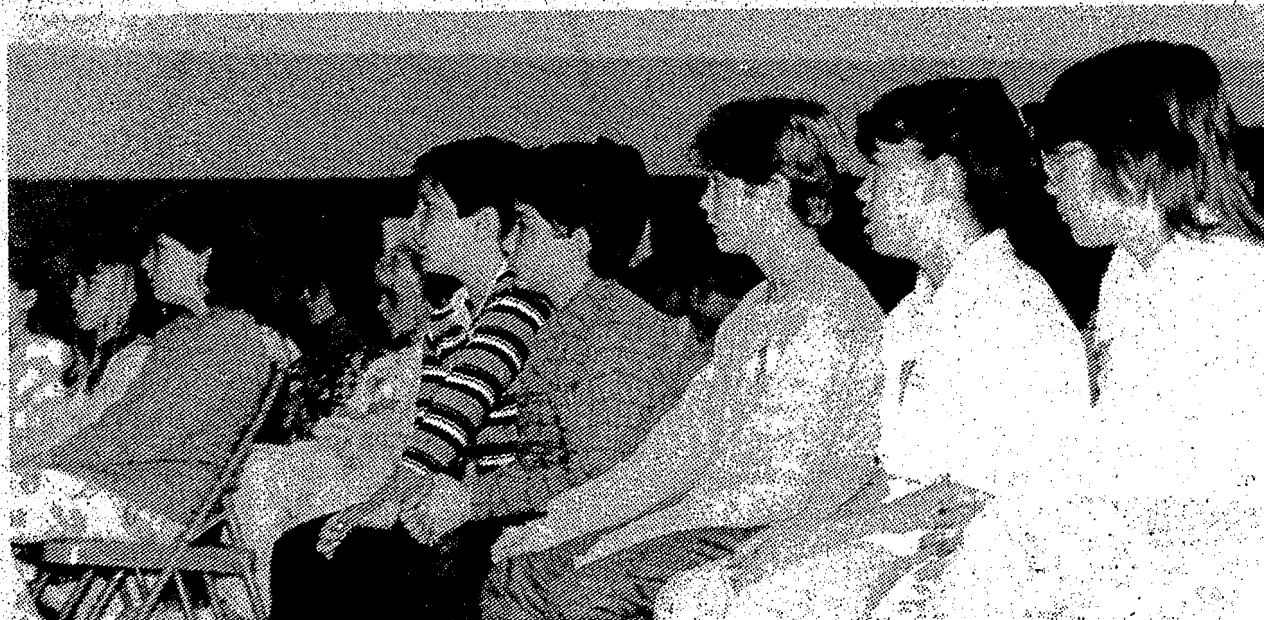

Her husband was one of the first members of the Grange, a union of farmers who met often and talked about the farming business: when to plant, when to harvest, where to get the best prices.

And they told stories at the Grange, she said. A few members of the audience helped her with "The Turnip Seed," a story she'd heard at the Grange, written by Leo Tolstoy.

Eventually, the Goodriches had six children, and she's very proud of every one of them, she said. One son invented the dimmer switch for automobiles, at that time operated with the foot.

She showed baskets and pewter and quilts and books used by Michigan pioneers.

And she thanked the children for their attention because not only were they good readers, but good listeners, too.

The readers who met the media challenge and read 10 books in 10 weeks relished their reward Monday. They heard professional story-teller

Joanne Ladd talk about Little Mossback Amelia, a bear cub tied to an apple tree and the man who loved cows.

Wildlife artist captures award

By Pat Young

The wildlife in Russell Cobane's paintings looks like it could come to life at any given moment—ducks could take flight in the dawn, wildcats walk off the canvas or trout leap from the lake.

Even a dewdrop, suspended in time by his paintbrush, looks like it could drop into the lake.

The Independence Township artist recently won the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) 1988 Trout-Salmon stamp design award. The stamps are required purchases for fishermen.

He was also selected to do the Indiana state sponsor print for 1988 for Ducks Unlimited.

Cobane's home and Marshland Woods Studio are tucked away in the rolling farmlands and woods north of Clarkston, where he works on his wildlife paintings and the commercial art he has been doing for 17 years.

He remains a respected name in the world of commercial art, but his first love is wildlife painting.

Cobane does a lot of hiking in the woods, observing and photographing wildlife. Every detail, down to

"With paintings, I can get back-lighting and interesting colors that you can't get with a photograph. I like to create a mood with my paintings."

—Russell Cobane

the number of feathers on the duck, is captured in his work.

"With paintings, I can get back-lighting and interesting colors that you can't get with a photograph," Cobane says. "I like to create a mood with my paintings."

The latest awards add to his growing list of honors as an artist.

He has only been doing wildlife art since 1984. In his first competition that year, he tied for first place in the Michigan Duck Stamp and placed eighth in the Kentucky Trout Stamp and in the top 10 in the Michigan Trout Stamp.

In 1985 competition, he placed in the top 10 for the South Carolina Duck Stamp. The same entry titled "Unity" received a Best of Show Puddle Duck Award at the Kansas City Ducks Unlimited show.

He also won top 10 status in Illinois and Michigan trout stamp competitions and in the top 10 in Michigan Duck Stamp. He was named Michigan Ducks Unlimited Artist of the Year in 1985.

In 1986, Cobane won the Michigan Duck Stamp competition and was named 1986 Print Artist of the Year for the National Wildlife Federation, designing the stamp print for the federation's 50th anniversary commemorative edition.

In addition, Cobane is a leading photo-realistic commercial artist who has achieved Master Status. He is a Center for Creative Studies alumnus and winner of the Scarab Club Award for advertising art.

Anyone who has leafed through a catalog or magazine has seen his work, which is so highly detailed and realistic that it matches or even exceeds photographs. His product illustrations have included everything from motorcycles and cars to Coleman camping equipment and candy bars.

Cobane met his wife, also an artist, in a studio. They live and work in their Independence Township home, and their daughter, Kelly, is an eleventh-grader at Clarkston High School.

Their home reflects their love for the outdoors. It is warm with wood trim and earth tones and accented with wildlife paintings throughout.

In the two-acre pond out front, Cobane occasionally casts his fly rod for an hour of fishing. Wild ducks drop in for a visit now and then.

"I love the outdoors," Cobane says. "I guess when I got busier and got outside less, I just needed to bring the outside in by painting it."

6 named CHS students of month

Six students have been selected as Students of the Month, for March, at Clarkston High School.

As part of a recognition program at CHS, this is the fifth month the award has been given.

The honored students are Tara Carncross, the daughter of Gordon and Beverly Carncross of Bridge Lake Road; Ryann Chase, the daughter of Sue and Charles Chase of Clarridge Road; Kelley Cook, the son of Bob and Mary Alice Cook of Main Street; Brenton Corliss, the son of Paul and Nancy Corliss of Andersonville Road; Dawn Muth, the daughter of Sheryl and Doug Couture of Tuscarora Road; and Scott Ritter, the son of Tom and Karen Ritter of Clarkston Road.

A second component of the recognition is planned the evening of April 29 when students with a grade point average of 3.8 or better will receive an academic chenille letter at a special program in their honor.

Superintendent Milford Mason and board of education President Janet Thomas will be special guests at the ceremony.

Five fourth-graders capture creativity award

Fusca Creativity Award during spontaneous problem solving at Odyssey of the Mind state competition.

By Pat Young

Five Clarkston Elementary School fourth-graders who also attend Clarkston Academically Talented (CAT) classes at North Sashabaw Elementary School received a special honor April 4.

Brad Agar, Alex Bruni, Chris Duling, Timothy Szykula and Kevin Taylor were competing in Odyssey of the Mind state competition at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, when they earned the Ranatra Fusca Creativity Award.

They were one of only five or six teams out of 300 competing to earn the award, which is designed to recognize outstanding creative ideas.

Judges who bestowed the honor on the Clarkston team for their spontaneous problem-solving wrote, "This team functioned extremely well. As a group they were creative, entertaining, enthusiastic and confident."

The students also had to compete in a structured problem solving activity. They had to build a bridge across two tables five inches apart, and were given 60 toothpicks and a cubic inch of clay to work with.

The team competed against pupils from first through sixth grades, and first had to compete in Odyssey of the Mind regional competition March 7 at Clarkston High School.

CAT teachers are Sue Banworth and Joanne Stroebel. The students are from the fourth grade classes of Ruth Kelsey, Natalie Hewko and Karen Yakmalian.

"Sue is the one who accompanied the students to the competition and has been particularly involved with OM," said Stroebel. "We're real proud of these kids."

Plan now for summer day camp

A summer day camp program for boys and girls is available at Camp Oweki in Independence Township.

The sessions, offered by the North Oakland Camp Fire Council, include crafts, games, nature awareness and Red Cross swimming lessons.

Each five-day camp has a theme: Horse Camp, June 22-26 and June 29-3; Frontier Days, July 6-10; Wohelo Week, July 13-17; Jungle Mania, July 20-24; and Splash Bash, July 27-31.

Fees vary from $40 to $85, depending on the session. Bus transportation and financial assistance are available. Youth ages 12 to 16 may be part of the Junior Counselor program. A latchkey program is available for children of working parents.

Camp Oweki is off Waldon Road, west of Sashabaw Road. For a brochure, call 338-4036.

Family move includes house

Most people don't have to get approval from a township board to move to that township.

But since the Ken Moody family is planning to move their whole house, they were in attendance at the Springfield Township Board's April 8 meeting.

The Moodys got approval to move their house from Crosby Lake Road in White Lake Township to Shiawassee Creek Farms in Springfield on a 4-1 vote from the board.

Two board members were absent and Supervisor Collin Walls voted "no." He said it is "unsafe to move a house of that size (about 1,700 square feet) through downtown Davisburg."

Ron Durst, a house mover from New Haven, was in attendance with the Moodys.

The route he would take is from Crosby Lake Road to White Lake Road, then north on Andersonville Road to Broadway, and east through Davisburg to the property, just east of the cemetery on Dilley Road.

Moody, a builder, said he would have to cut off the solar room and the garage and rebuild the home on the property. He assured the board that he would have the wood-framed ranch completed in much less than the allowed 120 days.

The house moving is planned this summer and the Moodys must comply with the required permits.

They were also asked to notify the Springfield fire chief about the move, so he could make any necessary precautions for rerouting fire trucks.

The house, which is 56 feet long, 26 feet wide and will measure 15 feet to the peak when elevated on the trailer, will effectively block the entire road for a period of time.

Party invitation

A wine-tasting party sponsored by the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club is open to all community members.

The fundraiser is planned Friday, May 8, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Colombiere Center on Big Lake Road in Springfield Township.

Beverages will be from the Cloverleaf Vineyard and on the menu are appetizers and desserts. Musical entertainment will also be provided.

Tickets are $15 apiece or $25 a couple. All proceeds will go to the club's scholarship fund.

For tickets, call Emily Hemmendinger at 625-5126, Janette Hitchcock at 625-5126 or Kay Robertson at 625-2317. Attendance is limited, so early reservations are recommended.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Ruth London, April 15, 1985. We will always feel her life touching ours, her voice speaking to us, her spirit looking out of others eyes, talking to us in the familiar things she touched, worked with, loved as familiar friends. She lives on in our lives and in the lives of all others that knew her. Sadly missed by her husband, Victor London, daughters Shirley Martin, Eva Arnold, Beverly Anderson and families. IILX36-1p

125- CARD OF THANKS

TO MARRIE HADDAD AND THE STAFF OF The Big Boy Restaurant of Oxford, Michigan. We wish to send you our heart filled thanks for all your have done for us in our time of sorrow. We thank you for the beautiful flowers, and for all the food that you donated for the luncheon after the funeral. The collection that you took up for a headstone has been put with other contributions and will be used for that only. Your words about Andy in the paper showed only a small part of the love and caring that you hold in your heart for people. Your caring reaches far beyond the doors of your restaurant for people. If they give out awards for love, caring, thoughtfulness, and big hearts, you would take first place in all of them and more. This community is a much better place because of people like you. You are to our family, persons of the year. The family of Andy Valliencourt. IILX15-1*

Local art fills Clarkston gallery

won the 1987 Trout Stamp award—with an image on Cranberry Lake of a loon, titled "Daybreak."

His work is popular in the area probably because people are familiar with the nature scenes and also enjoy wildlife, said Weaver.

Vogel's work also sells well, she said. Painting mostly landscape scenes and flowers, sometimes found locally, the Independence Township resident works mostly with pastels and colored pencil.

Some of her wood block prints are part of the Detroit Institute of Art's (DIA) collection, and she was a finalist in the DIA's poster competition this year with a piece that was first displayed in Aura, said Weaver.

Kessler, also a township resident, is hard to keep in stock, said Weaver. She paints fruits and vegetables in an "organic way, not sentimental at all," she said, adding as an example that an onion might still have a clump of dirt on it.

A Springfield Township resident, Robert Hubbach, uses watercolors to paint landscapes, usually of local scenes. He's moving from a realistic style toward abstract, said Weaver.

"Usually, that's a sign of a very good artist, that they change and move forward to meet new challenges," she said.

Patrick Smith, another township resident, displays his woodcarving in the store, and David Taylor's woven baskets and glass vases are also exhibited, said Weaver.

Taylor, who plans to move to Clarkston, uses popular colors with unusual materials to make his baskets, she said. "The execution is far superior to anything I've seen," she said.

She met the artists in different ways, including judging art shows or they've introduced themselves.

"It's not hard to find out about artists," said Weaver. "There are more good artists out there than there are people to represent them."

A gallery serves an important function for the artist and the buyer, she said.

"When a person criticizes a work of art, it's kind of the artist who is being criticized," she said. "That's why you have galleries, to protect the artist. . . . It puts them at a higher level than that, which they should be. A person could say something to me that they might not be able to say to the artist."

"I don't think an artist can or should explain himself. The art should speak for itself because maybe it has a form all its own, an integrity all its own."

Art is a passion for her, she said. And if people can appreciate art, they'll have more enjoyment in their lives.

Bird house contest reason to chirp

The Clarkston Farm and Garden Club is sponsoring a Bird Housing Contest for kindergartners through sixth-graders enrolled in Clarkston Community Schools.

The contest rules follow:

- Build a bird house, box or platform suitable for a nesting bird. (Parental help acceptable.)
- Give the house, box or platform a finishing coat of stain, varnish, paint, etc., to protect it from the weather.

- Attach your name, grade and teacher's name to your project.

- Bring your project to school on Wednesday, April 29. The grade level judging will be on Thursday, April 30.

Ribbons will be awarded as prizes. In addition, the club will donate a group of bird books to each school library and to the Independence Township Library.

Last year, the 40-member club donated $3,400 to youngsters from Clarkston schools through scholarships for high school seniors and a pine seedling planting activity for elementary school pupils.

Cheese day April 22

Cheese and other government commodities will be distributed in Springfield Township on Wednesday, April 22.

In order to receive the food items, recipients must qualify under federal low-income guidelines and must be pre-registered.

The distribution is from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Mill Pond building on Davisburg Road.

For more information, call Jackie Summers at 634-8605.

OPEN BOWL "FREE" ALL SUMMER LONG

For anyone joining our Spring/Summer leagues the bowling fee is only $3.75 per week (plus prize fund). Your league will receive FREE 1st Place Trophies, plus everyone will receive a special pass for absolutely "FREE OPEN BOWLING" for the entire Spring/Summer season starting in May.

Marshmallows fell like rain Saturday and kids ran like crazy to gather them up. About 5,000 were dropped from an airplane at Springfield Oaks County Park, and kids could trade them in for Easter goodies. Colored marshmallows were worth more.

It's a bird, it's a plane...

April Walton, 6, and Rory Ruller, 5, searched hard and long for the 300 dozen Easter eggs hidden by the Springfield Jaycees. Rory's Halloween pumpkin doubled as his egg carrier.

Carl Rogers found 17 eggs during the Easter Jaycees, at Springfield Oaks County Park Spring Fling, sponsored by the Springfield Jaycees, Saturday.

Photos by Julie Campe

Stephanie Rose, 2½, treasures the colored marshmallow she found. She came with her dad, Patrick, from Waterford.

The Easter Bunny was a popular figure during the nature walk, egg hunt and marshmallow drop Saturday. The event was at the Springfield Oaks County Park.
