GROOMING TIME: With the first baseball game scheduled Monday night, Jeff Spires got busy Sunday afternoon grooming the field on the

First Church of God property off Clarkston Road in Independence Township. Spires joked about his headgear, designed to ward off the dust, by preceding his name with the title "sheik." He and his son, Dave Latimer, volunteer their time to maintain the diamond.

Village opts for more cops

By Peter Aughter

The Clarkston Village Council voted April 27 to pay an additional mill to Independence Township in exchange for increased police coverage.

Trustees Frank Millard and William Basinger put together a proposal that would give the township the extra mill for 10 hours of normal police service per week.

One patrol car would monitor traffic on the streets of Clarkston for two hours each weekday between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. under the plan President Sharron Catallo will present to township officials May 5.

The village council, in a 6-0 vote, authorized Catallo to sign the police contract with the township.

Independence Township had ask the village council to accept a 1.5 mill increase for police coverage which would have raised the village's total millage to 2.5.

The village council decided that 1 mill would be enough to cover the service it is requesting.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

"Our main concern is traffic (control)," said Millard. "We are getting that now, but we just want to have it down on paper."

Catallo agreed.

"We want specific time (for traffic patrol) each weekday," she said.

Millard and Basinger explained to the village council that the extra mill would be split.

Half of the mill would be used for the extra service the village is requesting (10 hours per week) and as good faith; while the other half would be contingent on the village actually getting the patrol it asks for.

Independence Township currently contracts for police coverage from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the village contracts with the township for the same coverage.

The village pays 1 mill or $14,000 for its police coverage. If the village council's plan is acceptable to the township, that figure will be doubled.

Mail carrier wants wasps to buzz off

About 25 times a day, mail carrier Diane Wheeler says she literally dips her hand into a hornet's nest.

The reason is simple; This is the season for wasps to prepare for their offspring and many of them have selected mailboxes for their housing projects.

Wheeler, who delivers mail to about 420 boxes in the Village of Clarkston and surrounding subdivisions, notes that the situation is dangerous not only for herself.

Children love to put things in mailboxes when they play—and then there are those who pick up the mail Wheeler's placed inside.

But, she says, there is a simple solution. She read about it "a long time ago somewhere" and has successfully used the technique herself in a shed on her property.

"If they put a mothball in their box, the wasps won't want to go anywhere near them," she says.

Mason is named acting assistant fire chief

By Julie Campe

With several stipulations, firefighter Gordon Mason was appointed acting assistant fire chief April 21 by the Independence Township Board.

He is to perform some of the duties of Assistant Chief Gar Wilson, who was appointed acting fire chief due to a prolonged illness of Chief Dale Bailey.

Some complications surrounded Mason's appointment.

Mason first injured his knee on the job in 1984. He re-injured it in February and is only able to perform in a light duty position—no actual firefighting.

Board members and union members voiced concern over possible precedence setting by the action.

"In view of medical reports, Gordon will not be able to handle his duties as fireman in the normal sense of the word," said Trustee Dale Stuart.

"We have the means to deal with this situation, and we should stick with it," he said, adding that light duty positions cannot be provided for everyone who is injured.

"It's my impression that if we don't have a legal binding precedent, we have a moral responsibility for the next person in this situation. . . . I can't vote to have a limited position created in the fire department when we have the means to settle it," he said, referring to the township worker's compensation program.

Others favored the action.

"As long as I understand this is not setting a precedence and as long as the firefighters understand this is not setting a precedence, I have no problem making Gordie a test case," said Trustee Carol Balzarini.

Stuart countered her stance.

"This is not the first situation. It happened last year, and we followed the contract. With no (light duty) work available, we followed the next step (worker's compensation)," he said.

Clerk Richard Holman favored the appointment.

"This is different from other cases in that it's not just one injured person, but we're also missing a position," said Clerk Richard Holman. "We would not even be looking at this if we didn't need to fill the assistant fire chief position.

Bob Cesario, president of Local 2629 of the International Association of Fire Fighters, expressed concern about changing the job description of assistant fire chief and fire marshal by making it light duty.

The assistant chief traditionally fights fires, he said, adding that the union agreed with the proposal if the job description isn't changed.

The board voted 4-1 to appoint Mason to perform the light duty positions of assistant fire chief, fire marshal—a temporary position, not to be taken by anyone as precedent setting.

Treasurer John Lutz and Trustee Daniel Travis were absent. Trustee Dale Stuart voted "no."

When the time comes to fill the position permanently, Mason will not be favored in hiring, according to the agreement.

Mason's new duties include fire investigation and prevention.

Teen center to debut

The Teen Center at Clarkston High School makes its debut Saturday, May 2.

Hours are 7 to 11 p.m. and teens can come and go as they please from 7 to 9:30. At 9:30, the doors will be locked.

Admission is $1. Those who participate must be in grades nine through 12. In addition, they must attend Clarkston schools unless they are guests of Clarkston students. Each student may bring one guest.

Activities planned include music, dancing, games, cards, basketball and volleyball. Pizza, pop and candy will be sold at cost.

The Teen Center is sponsored by a committee of Clarkston Area Youth Assistance. Students will operate the center, which is opening this school year on a trial basis. The next date is May 16.

If the center operates successfully, it will become a permanent part of the schedule during the 1987-88 school year.

New center fills Rx for women's health care

Medical specialists join forces to provide services in Clarkston

By Pat Young

Women's Health Center of Clarkston, opened this month by Dr. Susan E. Coleman, offers a unique approach to comprehensive health care for women.

"It's the first of its kind in Michigan," says Coleman's husband, Michael Mosharo, who is director, administrative services, at the center.

The concept evolved out of Coleman's observation of the needs of her patients, 75 percent of whom are women. The center, which Coleman calls her "Clarkston model," was developed after three years were spent researching women's health centers nationwide, as well as on-going discussions with recognized consultants in women's health.

Women's Health Center of Clarkston is designed as a complete health care resource for women of all ages, Coleman says.

The center is located at 7650 Dixie Highway in Pine Ridge Place. Coleman, a board-certified specialist in internal medicine, has been practicing in the Clarkston area for over five years.

Comprehensive primary care for minor and major illness will be handled by Coleman and two nurse practitioners, Victoria Rose, who specializes in diabetes management, and Julie Johnson, who specializes in geriatrics.

Gynecological and obstetrical care will be handled by Dr. Richard Meils, a gynecologist, and Dr. Jacqueline Compton, gynecologist and obstetrician.

"Dr. Meils and Dr. Compton are both well-known, respected physicians in the area," Coleman says.

Breast examination and education, and low-dose mammography will be offered, with Susan Locher, a certified X-ray technologist, in charge of mammograms.

"The low-dose mammography is the only one in North Oakland County we know of," says Mosharo. With the incidence of breast cancer increasing, both Mosharo and Coleman emphasized the importance of breast examination.

The clinic will offer expert treatment of menopausal problems, diabetes management, osteoporosis screening and management, and nutritional counseling, as well as mental health counseling provided for by highly qualified therapists, according to Coleman.

Psychologists Gail Beck and James Wendell will be on the staff of the center, along with social worker Ellen Wendell, to handle all areas of women's health care needs, children's counseling, and psychological testing.

Counseling will be available in partial sessions or group sessions for those of limited income.

Health education and wellness programs oriented to women will be offered in conjunction with St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

"The Women's Health Center is independently owned and operated, but we have more closely affiliated with St. Joe in order to provide a more comprehensive approach to women's health needs," explains Coleman.

The center offers an on-site laboratory and diagnostic services. A women's health reference library is being established for patient access.

The center has extended its hours, and is now open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and until 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

"The Clarkston model is unique because most women's health centers do not handle all areas of health care in one clinic," says Mosharo.

"We thought about how to integrate it," Mosharo adds. "Why couldn't it be an integrated team approach?"

The center is also unique because it sees male patients. Coleman, who already had many male patients, will continue to see these patients.

"In fact, many are glad to see the doctor is so innovative," says Mosharo of the male patient reaction to the new center.

The center will be staffed by male as well as female specialists, because, as Coleman puts it, "We all know quality is not gender related. The key is to get the best care that can be provided."

"The key to the center is recognition of the woman as a partner in her own health care," Coleman explains.

With all services on site, patient medical records are easily accessible to the doctors to enhance their ability to treat patients, Coleman adds.

"And any referrals to the center from other doctors will be referred back to that doctor," Mosharo adds. "Our intent is to make referring physicians part of the team."

Coleman feels the women's health center today is an outgrowth of the neighborhood alternative health care providers begun during the women's movement of the '60s.

"Women have come into their own," Coleman says.

The clinic layout, like the services it houses, is designed to work like the spokes in a wheel, from the comfortable waiting room, to patient rooms and education areas, work and lab areas, and the nurses station.

"You can get all needs taken care of at one place," Coleman says. "Plus, we treat the whole person."

Fireworks afoot

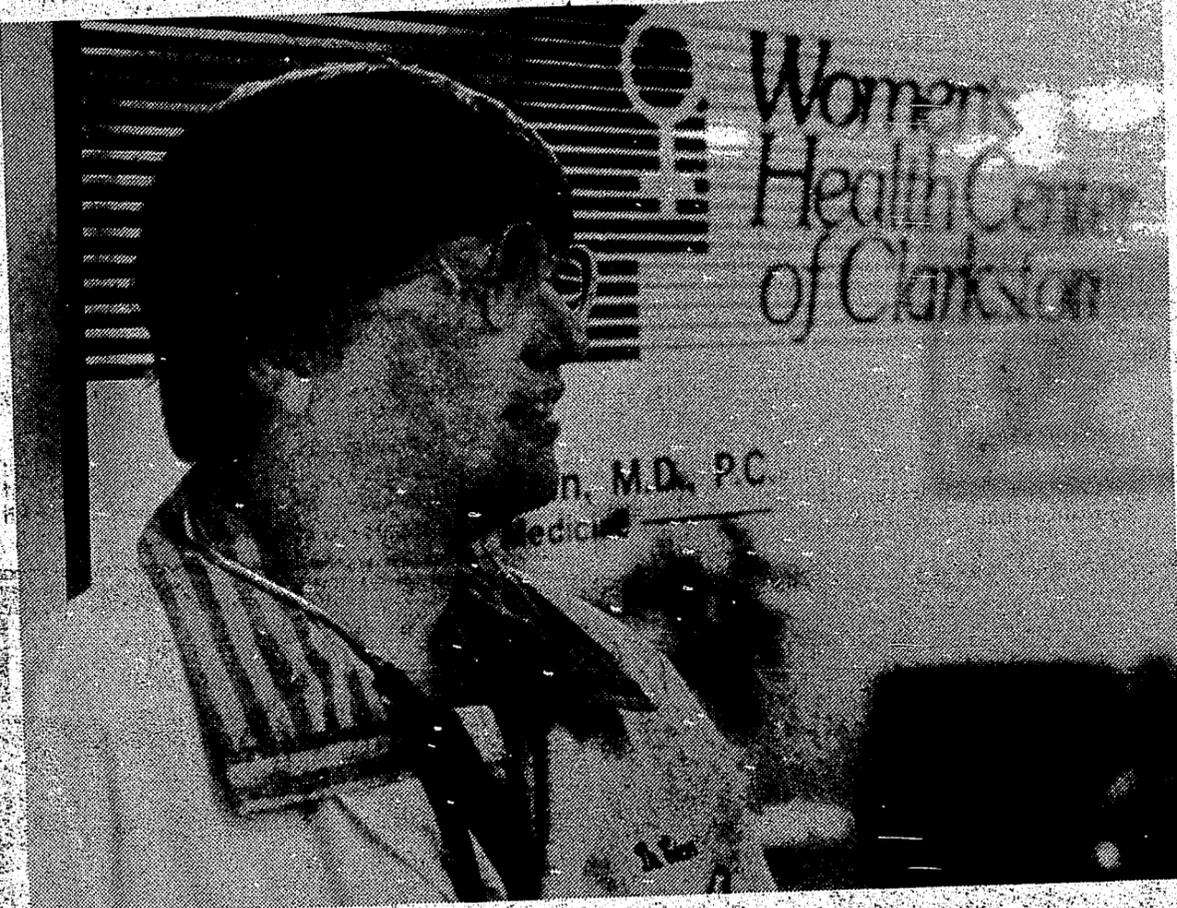

Last year's family picnic at Independence Oaks County Park was such a success, organizers have decided to do it again—with a bang.

Fireworks will start at dusk at The Good Old Summertime Family Day, planned from noon to dark on Saturday, May 30 (May 31 if it rains).

Activities include music, fishing, children's games, swimming, hay rides, remote control sailboat races, nature center tours and an animal petting zoo.

Sponsored by Oakland County Parks and Recreation, Independence Township Parks and Recreation and Independence Township, the cost is $3 per car for the day or $1.50 per car after 8 p.m. for fireworks only.

For more information, call 625-8223.

Dr. Susan E. Coleman opened the Women's Health Center of Clarkston at Pine Ridge Place on Dixie Highway this month. She will also continue to see male patients.

Most recent purchases push tab to $125,000 to equip fire station

By Julie Campe

Bids were approved for $28,073 worth of equipment and furniture for the new fire station at Sashabaw and Clarkston roads.

The Independence Township Board authorized the purchases April 21. The money will come from the fire fund.

Two 1,000-gallon underground fuel storage tanks are to be ordered from the low bidder, K and K Service Station Maintenance Co. of Waterford, for $10,035. The board approved, 5-0, the bid award. Treasurer John Lutz and Trustee Daniel Travis were absent.

The tanks are to hold no-lead and diesel fuel to service all of the departments' vehicles, said acting fire chief Gar Wilson. They are to replace two smaller tanks at the station now, but unusable with the new station because of their location.

Ashley Fire Extinguisher Sales and Service of Clarkston are to provide a hose washer and drier for their low bid of $11,400, including shipping. The board approved the bid award in a 5-0 vote.

New furniture, including four twin beds and frames, a seven-piece dinette set, two stuffed chairs, one couch, seven end tables and one room divider, were approved, 4-1, from Beattie Interiors, Waterford Township, for $3,900. Beattie was not the low bidder but had the best quality, said Gar Wilson, acting fire chief.

Stuart voted, "no" with no comment.

For the training room, 30 chairs from Quill Office Supply of New Jersey for $416.40 and 14 tables from Hertz Office Supply of Illinois for $702.10 were approved, 5-0.

From Sears, two refrigerators and one range were approved, 4-1, for $1,619.97. With no comment, Stuart voted "no."

With the refrigerator from the old station, the new station will have three refrigerators—two men per refrigerator, said Wilson.

The $522,000 fire station is to be completed around July 1. About $125,000 has been spent to date to equip the station, said Wilson.

Also budgeted are a car for the fire chief and computers, said Wilson, adding that they haven't decided whether to purchase them or not.

Rules to greet Deer Lake season

By Julie Camps

In a Deer Lake Study Committee presentation to the Independence Township board, the suggestions ranged from no boat restrictions to disallowing motor boats entirely, to something in between.

At the April 21 township meeting, the board accepted the report, except for a jet ski provision, and directed parks and recreation department head Timothy Doyle to administer the report suggestions and to request a public hearing with the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The decision followed a presentation by Doyle, study committee chairperson, and over an hour of discussion with the standing-room-only crowd.

Residents had complained about too many boats, noisy boats, unsafe boat operations, misuse of wetlands and future development around the lake, said Doyle.

He outlined the 50-page report compiled by the 12-member study committee, comprised of a representative from each lake user group, as well as township representatives.

"According to the DNR, somewhere down the road, motorboats will be disallowed on the lake," said Doyle. "To forestall that, everyone must work together. As soon as we start having problems, they've all got to go."

About 15 members of the audience voiced their opinions, which ranged from doing nothing to closing the public access to banning outboard motors.

"I'd like to ban jet skis," said Al Burkemo, a Phelan Drive resident, referring to the committee recommendation of banning jet skis at the public access site only.

"It's a foolish position for the township to take that it will be self-regulatory (by lake residents)," he said. "It doesn't work that way. I don't think you should have two standards (one for public access and one for private access sites)."

Carol House of Sagamore Drive had a different perspective on the lake problems.

"The township has to look at this as a zoning problem," she said. "There's something that can be done. I strongly recommend having the planning commission look into this to protect our lakes."

Doug Carlson of Phelan Drive told of his experiences.

"We're in the middle of the lake," said Carlson. "We observe everything that's going on there."

"We see all the near misses; we hear all the noise. I'd ban all boats if it were up to me. I don't think you want to get the pontoons off the lake."

Jo Fussman, the planning commission representative on the committee, explained the committee's problems.

"This is a microcosm of what we're up against," she said. "Everybody loves the lake, but they love it in different ways."

Several board members complimented the report and voiced comments.

"If we accept the report, it doesn't mean we accept all the provisions," said Trustee Dale Stuart. "As far as jet skis are concerned, unless we adopt an ordinance banning jet skis entirely from the lake, I don't think we can ban them only from the public access. The surface of the lake belongs to all equally."

The board voted 5-0 to accept the report. A summary of the report follows:

•The township is to discourage high speed motor boats.

•People who use the public access for boating will be informed to stay in the water; they have a right to water surface only. All other shoreline is private.

•The committee interpreted the deed restrictions for two outlot areas as meaning no boat storage on the property, but it's OK in the water.

•To lessen the high boat-traffic, the township should look for future park land acquisition for more public access to other lakes.

•Future development should be consistent with the current zoning, and the committee recommends establishing a minimum 50-foot setback from the water's edge (normal high water mark).

•A keyholing ordinance should be developed by the planning commission and township board.

•To help enforce the rules, lake residents and property owners agreed to display the township yearly boat sticker on all watercraft to assist in the township inventory.

•To help limit the number of boats on the lake, the public access will close (no boats allowed to launch) when the boat parking lot is full—about 15-20 boats.

•During periods of heavy boat traffic, lake residents and property owners are to self-regulate to maintain safe boating conditions.

•Alcohol usage on the lake is prohibited. Residents are to help govern by reporting the boat registration number to the township when they see violations. Rule-breakers may lose their privileges.

The 137-acre lake holds a nearly 40-acre no-wake zone at the north end, five private beaches, one public beach, 44 docks and 14 rafts.

In 1986, 828 public beach passes and 226 boat permits were sold by the township. About 840 boats were launched last season, and 17,310 people swam at the beach last summer.

Blaze stopped

A house fire on Mann Road, Independence Township, caused about $500 in damages Tuesday, April 21.

The owner quickly stopped the fire using a dry chemical fire extinguisher, so the damages were minor, said Capt. Neil Ashley of the township fire department.

The fire began in a utility room, apparently caused by a malfunctioning water heater. The utility room suffered the most damage; the rest of the house suffered smoke damage, he said.

ApMadoc quits council post

After serving 11 years on the Clarkston Village Council, Trustee Fontie ApMadoc resigned in a letter at the April 27 meeting.

ApMadoc, a 13-year resident of Clarkston, said she would miss some things about the council, but she made the right decision.

"I felt there was too much confusion, and I didn't feel we were accomplishing anything," she said after the meeting.

"I'm going to get more involved with (Clarkston Area) Youth Assistance," she said, adding she plans to move out of state, too, and she needed more time to find the right location.

ApMadoc had served three years on the council as president.

Council President Sharron Catallo said ApMadoc's expertise was helpful over the years.

"Her resignation was accepted with regret," said Catallo. "After her many years on this council and as past president, she has given me a lot of guidance, and I'll miss her. . . . It's hard to replace someone who's been here that long."

Catallo plans to appoint a replacement at the May 11 meeting.

Minor ATV mishap

A 16-year-old Independence Township resident suffered minor injuries when the all-terrain vehicle he was riding hit a tree last Thursday on Pine Knob Road, near Whipple Lake Road.

Apparently, he was driving slowly, about 5 to 10 mph, and was talking to a friend at the same time, said Capt. Neil Ashley of the township fire department.

He's not sure how he hit the tree, said Ashley. The patient was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Opinions

Deficit week

Kathy Greenfield

Whole families can come down with colds, but we topped that last week when the family fleet almost went kaput.

It all started on Monday.

A frantic phone call from the fleet outpost in East Lansing ended with the suggestion that the car be taken in for repairs.

The next day, the car was pushed to the service department of a dealership. Part of me would like to have been there to see how that was carried out.

On Tuesday, breakdown number two hit. That car was driven to its repair destination on Wednesday morning.

Wednesday afternoon brought yet another frantic phone call, this one from the driver of fleet vehicle number three who was marooned in a parking lot down the road.

No problem—we still had one car ready to roll. The trick was figuring out how to share it between three people and to get everyone where each had to go and home again.

The whole mess was further complicated because our jobs require driving during the daytime.

The only chuckle I got out of it was provided by my brother-in-law, who paused between gales of laughter to suggest pursuit of a story for The Clarkston News titled "Within walking distance."

We juggled time schedules, borrowed a vehicle for a short time and managed to muddle our way through in a land without public transportation.

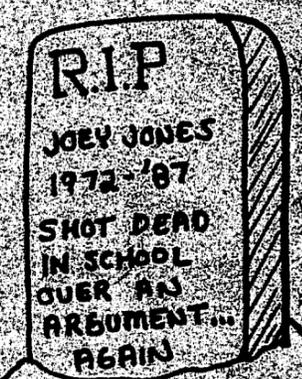

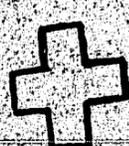

And by Friday, the fleet was back in working condition. One car had to go back for re-repairs on Monday, but we were able to handle everything with two cars in operation on the homefront.

Suffice it to say that the least expensive repair was $30, with startling leaps for each subsequent vehicle.

My sister, who has a knack for putting things in perspective, labeled it as one of those ever-popular deficit spending weeks.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

I usually read the "Over 50" page (because they don't have an over 60 page) in the Free Press. And, I listen to retirees. In both cases I try to learn what people do when they quit working for a living.

I'm not ready to quit, but someday, Lord willing and the creek don't rise, I may. Knowledge gathered now may help later.

So far, mostly I've learned that once you get past the first year, you never get completed whatever it was you started to do that day.

A talk with Jean and Gene Sura at their home in Mesa, AZ helped me figure out what can fill a day, quickly.

They retired at too young an age about 11 years ago, leaving the Lake Orion-Oxford area first for Cedar, MI then Mesa.

One thing they have continued through the years is the evening cocktail hour. It was during this period of the day when Gene told of THE major complaint he has with the world.

It's the work he has to go through to take advantage of all the double coupon offers.

One in particular has humiliated. His voice rises, his color deepens, his arms wave faster as he tells of the impossible task of complying with refund getting instructions.

Seems he had to send in six bar-code areas of a label to get a couple bucks back on a fifth of something.

He said, "The instruction said to soak the label off. Jim, I soaked it overnight. I steamed it. I tried to dig it off. Nothing worked. It even said to tear along the perforation.

"Finally, I took a knife and cut the bar code (it was on a plastic bottle) out. Then I put them in an envelope and wrote the company a letter.

"I told them just what I thought of their company, and how they had no intention to give any refunds, that there were no perforations, and they were only trying to drive people nuts trying to get the bar code off in once, piece.

"You know what," Gene said, "I got my two bucks."

With such activity as that to look forward to, I think I'll stick to my current frustrations.

North of Mesa, in Carefree, are some more recently retired friends, Bill and Bev Matus. He's the former director of Camp Oakland in Oxford.

Bill walks 2 miles every morning. "I haven't lost any weight, and I don't feel better," he said, "but I do it."

The Matus' read a couple books a week, drive a lot (9,000 miles last year), and take real estate (both have licenses in Mich). Of those choices, I could handle the reading, hardly a compelling reason to quit work.

The Matus' and Suras have one thing in common: lots of friends who fill their west side winter.

I'm going to keep reading and listening until I can figure what I would do in retirement.

Friendly faces

Haven't I heard you somewhere?

By Julie Campe

Leon McNew's voice brings back memories for some of the customers at the Clarkston Cafe on Main Street, Clarkston.

Sometimes, they recognize his voice before they recognize his face, he said.

Detroiters remember him from his 12 years at Channel 7-TV. McNew was the station's first full-time news anchorman.

Flint people remember him from sports broadcasting on WWOK and from TV sports coverage on WTAC (now Channel 12, Flint).

Newcomers remember him as "that man with the nice voice who seats us at the Cafe."

Clarkston has been a great place to "retire," he said. The Royal Oak resident is general manager at the Clarkston Cafe, at the request of the owners, his son and daughter-in-law Patrick and Lee McNew and Lee's father Don Hayes.

"I love Clarkston," he said. "I think it's just a magnificent town. I think it's the friendliness of the people, and they took so readily to me, being a newcomer. Clarkston is just like that."

"I was born in a small town, Covington, Okla., and Clarkston just kind of brings back memories—where everybody knows everybody, and when you walk down the street, people say hi to you."

Leon moved to Flint at age seven. He was graduated from Flint Central High School and worked at A.C. Spark Plug until he was drafted for World War II.

He served three-and-a-half years in the 15th

[See CAFE, page 29]

At age 65, says Leon McNew, he needs the two days he takes off from managing the Clarkston Cafe, but he thoroughly enjoys working in Clarkston. It reminds him of Oklahoma.

Letter to the editor

Limit boat power

The recent meeting of the Independence Township Board opened "a can of worms" regarding excessive traffic on Deer Lake.

There isn't any question that on weekends and holidays all lake-front residents are victims of the convulsive rumble of high-powered speed boats pulling skiers at speeds out of control for a small lake, and Deer Lake is far too small a lake for fast ski traffic.

I have witnessed a few high-powered boats with skiers in tow just about take over the entire lake because the average pontoon boat lover was fearful of the reckless operation of these high-powered boats.

I contend the average lake-front taxpayer is entitled to a bit of peace and tranquility on weekends and holidays, plus the privilege of a pontoon boat ride around the lake without the fear of a costly boat mishap.

I feel the following is a step in the right direction:

We desperately are in need of a law-enforced "power limitation" on all watercraft not to exceed 35 horsepower.

This limitation does not eliminate water skiing, but I'm reasonably certain it will eliminate the high-powered, speed-crazy operator, together with the thrill-happy skiers, who will be forced to seek larger lakes for their future escapades.

Teens need lobby

Detroit youngsters need a National Curfew Association (NCA) to protect their right to stay out all night, the same way Detroit handgun totes have the National Rifle Association (NRA) to protect their right to make Detroit the murder capital of the world.

It appears certain that the Michigan Legislature, an almost wholly owned subsidiary of the NRA, soon will pass legislation forbidding Detroit or any other community to pass local ordinances against the sale and/or ownership of handguns.

But the Legislature did nothing to prevent the Detroit City Council from passing an ordinance regulating what time of day youngsters of various ages can go outdoors.

THE MAIN PURPOSE of the curfew is to make it more difficult for Detroit kids to shoot and be shot. So the question is: If the Legislature lets cities use a curfew ordinance to curb shootings, why not let them use a handgun ordinance for the same purpose?

Dumb question. All a curfew does is keep a teenager indoors where he or she might not get shot, or shoot someone else. But an ordinance forbidding the sale and/or ownership of handguns could hinder a hunter from killing an animal.

Ninety-nine percent of those people (hunters) are not criminals; they are not the ones committing crimes. It is young children. It is older people. Those are the ones," said NRA member Sen. Gilbert DiNello, D-East Detroit, supporting Senate approval of a bill forbidding local governments from enacting get-tough ordinances on handguns.

And DiNello added: "You don't need a gun to kill someone, you can use your bare hands."

Certainly. If a four-year-old boy doesn't kill himself with a pistol he finds lying around the house, he'll strangle himself. If a skinny 14-year-old boy can't use a handgun to kill a husky 17-year-old football player, he'll punch the young man to death.

Many people expect DiNello to apologize for blaming most crime on people younger and older than hunters. It will be recalled that last year, after voting against a state subsidy for the Holocaust Memorial Center in West Bloomfield Township, DiNello said he knew "of no Jewish people who are poor." But after seeing how stupid his words looked in print, he publicly apologized.

However, it's been a couple of weeks since DiNello exonerated hunters and put the criminal label on young children and older people, and there's been no public apology. Probably DiNello doesn't think what he said looked stupid enough in print. I'm sure he'll keep trying.

UNLIKE DINELLO, the slightly more reasonable opponents of local anti-handgun ordinances don't claim a hunting license guarantees good citizenship. They claim such ordinances cause dangerous harassment of hunters who travel across city borders in pursuit of their prey. An Ecorse resident driving to St. Clair to kill squirrels is arrested in Detroit for illegal possession of a handgun. And before you know it, squirrels have taken control of St. Clair's government.

The point is that teenagers also travel, so a National Curfew Association is needed to donate money to political campaigns and promote state legislation forbidding local curfews. Otherwise, a 16-year-old from Ecorse is arrested for crossing the border into Detroit on the way to a midnight movie in St. Clair. And before you know it, the movie industry is dead.

Finally, let's not hear any nonsense about how there might be some short-run disadvantages to a handgun ban in Detroit, but it could eventually be a great thing because other big cities would follow our lifesaving example and the long-run result would be a handgun-free society.

In the long run, there won't be anybody left except our children and grandchildren, and who cares about them?

Keep those flames in the pile to burn

Spring cleaning combined with high winds and dry fields are the ingredients for the high number of grass fires this time of year, said Gar Wilson, acting chief of the Independence Township Fire Department.

"Most of the grass fires are probably started by somebody burning," he said, adding that 15 to 20 have been reported so far this year.

The best way to prevent fires is don't burn, he said.

If you do burn, have the fire under control at all times, said Wilson, listing some guidelines for controlling the fire.

- If there's any wind at all, don't burn.
- Never leave the fire unattended.
- Keep nearby some means of extinguishing a fire—a garden hose, for example.
- If possible, separate the fire from areas that will burn—plough around the site, for instance.

To burn on open ground, get a fire permit by calling the fire department at 625-1924. Burning garbage is not allowed, but leaves, tree limbs and scrap lumber are OK.

If burning it will cause black smoke, it's not allowed, he said, mentioning tar paper, shingles, rubber or petroleum products.

No permit is required to burn in an approved barrel—a metal container with ventilation and a screen on top.

Also, know your neighbors and be courteous, said Wilson.

"If your neighbor has a breathing problem, don't burn when the wind is blowing toward his house," he said. "And don't burn if your neighbor has clothes hanging outside."

Should radar detectors be banned?

Foster care home expansion denied

Girdley Country Estate for Ladies will have to remain with six residents for now.

The owner of the adult foster care home, Rollene Girdley, did not receive permission from the Independence Township board to expand the home to hold 12 occupants.

Under the township's zoning ordinance for licensed care facilities, anything over six occupants requires a multi-family residential zoning. The three-acre estate on Rantlee Lake Road is zoned rural residential.

Either a zoning change or variance would be required to expand, both unlikely to be granted, said township attorney Gerald Fisher.

Girdley said the house wouldn't be enlarged, nor would the traffic be greater.

The board voted 5-0 to deny the expansion request.

After the vote, Girdley said she would consider asking for a zoning change.

Peter Auchter is now on staff at the News.

New on staff

Peter Auchter is the new sports reporter at The Clarkston News.

Auchter, 21, joined the staff April 21. In addition to sports reporting, he will cover the Clarkston Village Council and write general features. He resides in Pontiac.

A journalism major at Oakland University, Rochester, he completed his course work for his bachelor's degree last week. He was graduated in 1983 from Lake Shore High School in St. Clair Shores.

His previous experience includes an internship at the Macomb Daily, Mt. Clemens, from August through April, where he worked in the sports department and did occasional articles on other topics.

He also covered college sports for the Oakland Sail, the OU newspaper, for over a year.

Party store approved in concept

A new liquor store is in the works for Dixie Highway, Independence Township, between Elias Brothers Restaurant and Curtis Kitchen and Bath Centers.

On April 23, owner Hani Najor received unanimous conceptual site plan approval from the planning commission, contingent upon approval from the zoning board of appeals.

At 100 feet wide, the nearly half-acre site needs variances for lot frontage, side yard setbacks, the number of parking spaces and the size of the loading zone maneuvering lane.

"Everything on the site plan, given the nature of the site, is at a minimum right now," said township planner Richard Carlisle, adding he approves the variances because they allow for better landscaping.

"I think the plan is very well done," said Chairperson Joseph Figa. "If it comes off as well as it looks, it will be one of the better landscaped plans we've received in a while. I don't like all the variances."

Najor owns two liquor stores in Detroit and chose Independence Township for his third location because "it's a nice area," he said.

Rezoning paves way for some improvements

A 1-acre site at White Lake and Andersonville Roads was rezoned from motor vehicle service station to commercial at the April 21 Independence Township board meeting.

The owners plan to improve the site, but the commercial usage of the property was non-conforming so no improvements or changes were allowed, said township planner Richard Carlisle at an earlier meeting.

The rezoning will allow improvements to be made.

The property is surrounded by light industrial zoning, with residential zoning on the other side of Andersonville Road.

The board voted 5-0 to approve and adopt the rezoning, Treasurer John Lutz and Trustee Daniel Travis were absent.

Top fundraiser in Booster's shoot-a-thon aims for pros

By Julie Campe

If he doesn't become a pro basketball player, Patrick Stegeman might try baseball or maybe soccer. At age 10, all the possibilities are still open—he just can't decide which sport he likes best or how far to take it.

Patrick, an Almond Lane, Independence Township, resident, plays all three sports during the summer, and he won a weight-lifting set in a recent basketball shooting competition.

But he wishes he had won the trophy for the Clarkston Athletic Boosters shoot-a-thon. The weight-lifting set was for the person who raised the most money.

"I had no idea that I was going to earn that much ($117)," said Patrick. "Twenty-five people pledged me. I kind of wanted the trophy more. If I could have made more baskets out of 100, I could have won both."

He made 56 of 100, not bad for a fourth-grade Clarkston Elementary School pupil, but not good enough for Patrick.

He wants to be the best.

"I hope I take after my dad. He's 6-foot-4. I want to be about 7-foot-1. I'd play basketball," said Patrick.

Of course, if he grew that tall, that would rule out baseball; the strike zone would be too low, he said.

"Another thing, I'm going to run track because I'm fast," he said.

Meanwhile, he's going to start using those weights he won to get ready, Patrick said. And he plans to keep watching his favorite sports teams.

"I like the Detroit Red Wings, the Detroit Pistons, the Michigan Wolverines—not State—the Flint Spirits and the Detroit Tigers."

He and his best friend go to most of the Clarkston High School basketball games, and Patrick hopes to play on the high school team, too, one day.

SMITHMAN, CLARKSTON 623-9300

Mixed bag from the desert state

By Jim Sherman, publisher

Regular readers of this fine newspaper know that when the publisher's column, Jim's Jottings, is on vacation, a travel article will follow.

This time, however, I'm not zeroing in on a particular spot or event, but will bring you a collection of notes. You can pick and choose as to your liking.

INDIANS CLOSE ROAD

Let's start with the conflict between the Pima Indians and the city of Scottsdale. This conflict has nothing to do with the conflict between the Navajo and the Hopi Indians in Arizona, where the Navajo want to buy part of the Hopi lands and move them to another area.

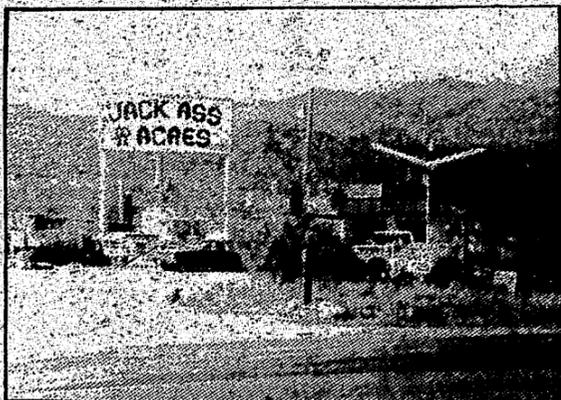

The Pima dispute is over a 5-mile stretch of Pima road, the dividing line between the reservation and the City.

Scottsdale has been paying the Pimas $7,000 a year for use of the northbound lane. The Indians asked for more money. Scottsdale refused. The break came in early December, 1986.

The Indians barricaded the northbound lane. It has been closed ever since, except for a one week period at Christmas.

When we left there in mid-April Scottsdale proposed to buy the property on the west side of Pima road for about $140,000 and build a new lane.

When I suggested to a couple couples who live in Arizona all year that Scottsdale pay the Indians more money, I heard: 1. The Indians got all they have from us for nothing and we're still paying their way, and, 2. The Pimas are just being stubborn.

Off highway 17, north of Phoenix, this ranch is the entrance to the town of New River.

All the treaties John Wayne arranged in the west have gone for naught.

PINNACLE PROMOTERS

We went to tourist magnet number one, Pinnacle Peak Patio for dinner. PPP is noted for cutting off neckties of patrons, sawdust floors, mesquite cooked steak, and too big beans.

Waitress Kathleen has worked there three years, and "cut off about 300 ties". This promotion has not gone unnoticed by promotion minded salespeople.

Conventioning companies have issued ties to their

Eating, golfing, land prices, even the Indians are heard from people with the company logo, like IBM, printed in big letters. The ties are cut off and stapled in one area in PPP giving the company a sort-of billboard.

PPP can seat 1,600. They serve about 900 meals each weekday, and 2,000 on a Sat. or Sun. They've been cutting and serving for 30 years.

PPP is about 25 miles north and east of Phoenix-Scottsdale.

IT ONLY SOUNDS CHEAP

The sales tax in Phoenix is 6 percent. 25 miles north, in Carefree, it's 6.5 percent. Next door in Cave Creek it's 7 percent. Makes Michigan's 4 percent seem cheap.

Along the same line, property values in the north Scottsdale area are something else. A golf course lot at Troon, Desert Mountain, Desert Highland and the Boulders, all within 10 miles of each other, are at least $330,000. A buildable off-golf course lot is about $150,000.

We were told an 8.2 acre parcel bordering the new Scottsdale TPC course sold for $4.6 million. They are putting single family homes up, starting at $355,000, on 38 lots, each about 53x120 feet.

Mountain side lots are a half million dollars and up. The point is, you hear these prices mentioned so often you begin to believe you can afford something that costs "only $100,000".

GOLF EXPENSIVE

We mentioned some high priced, private golf courses above, and we could add Desert Forest as being within that 10 mile radius. Non-members cannot play these courses unless with a member, then the cost will likely be over $100 each.

A pro at The Boulders told us how some golfers get on his course. One rents a room at the Boulders Resort at $300 a night. He can then play the course for $55 and bring three guests who pay $75 each.

That makes an 18-hole round cost $145. Each. It includes the carts.

Developers are planning two more 18-hole courses at Desert Mountain, and the lot costs are expected to be higher than the $330,000 on the first 18.

Dave Ritchie is president of the nearby Rio Verde development. He's a former Community National Bank vice president in Pontiac and former Indianwood Golf Course member. Chatting with him at Rio Verde, we asked if there wasn't a saturation point for these expensive lots. He shook his head no.

And, the rest of us shake our heads and ask over and over, "Where does all this money come from?"

We played 3 courses around Carefree, AZ. Scottsdale TPC, where they played the Phoenix Open in January, costs $56 a round. Rio Verde is $45. Superstition Springs is $38.

The latter is brand new and beautiful. You can bet it will not be $38 in '88.

EATING IS INTERESTING

Dinner climaxes every day, but more so on vacation. We enjoyed Molly McGee's Conglomeration. All waiters and waitresses are dressed as fairy tale or nursery rhyme characters. Robin Hood, complete with English accent, waited on us, along with the upstairs maid, Snow White seated us.

Molly McGee is in Phoenix and Scottsdale. We went to Crazy Ed's in Cave Creek to hear Dixieland music for cocktails and to La Mirada's for Mexican food.

The Dixielanders play from 7 to 11 with no breaks... for $70 each, and their own entertainment. Five of the six are retirees. They have circus, orchestra and hobby backgrounds in music. One is a retired professor from Whittier College, CA.

We were with the Bill Matus and Gene Suras, and

The Boulders' architecture is boulders. The hotel and casitas are made to blend into the rocks.

we liked it so much we listened for 2 hours, ate, and came back for the finish.

Crazy Ed's is sawdust floors, waitresses in very tight, very cut off jeans, very young, and barbecued whatever. It's loud, it's risqué posters on the walls, it's a tourist delight, the food is thrown on the table, the glasses are Mason jars, the dress code hasn't been written, pop corn is free, and you can get married in Ed's chapel next door. Even our 2-year-old grandson loved it.

We recommend the Golden Nugget Hotel in Whittier, AZ as a nice place to eat. Good atmosphere, good food, reasonable prices, but our waitress was a reject from the Godzilla school of eatery.

We do not recommend Pinnacle Peak. The New York strip steaks are about 8 oz and $12. The beans too much, the salad only adequate. It's just too much of whatever it is.

A very fine place is the L' Auberge Ltd in Sedona. Class all the way.

The southwest is said to be the fastest growing area in the US, with the greatest potential for continued growth. Arizona is growing at the rate of 70,000 a year.

What's amazing to us is that only 17 percent of the land in that state is privately owned. All the rest is state, federal and Indian territory.

And it looks like the 17 percent is already taken.

Charlie Drumheller, left, and Jerry Leannais pause on the porch of the clubhouse at Superstition Springs golf course in Mesa. Fountains, waterfalls, towers, and sand are blended for a beautiful setting.

Charlie Drumheller hits a fairway shot on the Scottsdale TPC, and in the background the 600-room Pinnacle Peak hotel is under construction with a Dec. 1 opening date.

GM appoints Leonard

Samuel Leonard has been appointed director of emission control on the General Motors Environmental Activities Staff (EAS).

He began his GM career in 1966 at a GM scholar summer student with AC Spark Plug Division in Flint.

After receiving a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from Michigan Tech University in 1970, he joined AC Spark Plug's Emissions Laboratory as a test engineer.

He received a law degree from Wayne State University in 1977 and became a member of the Michigan Bar Association.

In 1979, he transferred to EAS as an emissions liaison engineer. He was promoted to manager of heavy duty truck and service activities for emission control in 1984.

He assumed the position of manager of federal activities last March and was serving in that capacity when promoted to his new assignment.

He and his family reside in the Clarkston area.

Taylor is promoted

David O. Taylor, a Clarkston area resident, has been appointed first vice president, corporate public relations department at Comerica Inc. He joined the corporation in 1983 as an assistant vice president and was named vice president in 1984. Prior to joining Comerica, he headed public relations for The Bendix Corp. Earlier in his career, he was a news broadcaster on WJR radio, Detroit. Taylor is a member of the Public Relations Society of America.

Fundraiser provides 8 scholarships

Eight women were announced as scholarship recipients at the Annual Spring Dinner and Fashion Show sponsored by the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club on April 21.

Profits from each fashion show are used to provide scholarships for the following year to women in the community returning to school from the workforce, high school graduates going on to college, and women looking to further their educational studies.

The 1986 dinner raised $2,350 and the funds were awarded to Clarkston residents Bonnie Valuet (University of Detroit Law School), Nancy Wier (Oakland University, accounting major), Rochelle Fromm (OU, math major), Shelly Cox (radio and TV communications), Laura Bruce (Michigan State University, Lyman Briggs College, pre-med), Dawn Kline (MSU, interior design), Tamara Woodbeck (Oakland Community College, liberal arts), and Waterford resident Kathleen Spence (OCC, exercise and sports medicine).

Joan Rogers was chairperson of this year's fashion show at the Deer Lake Racquet Club.

For more information on the BPW organization, call Joan Kopietz, membership chair, at 625-2511. The next meeting is May 14 at King's Court in Pontiac. For reservations, call Denise Schons at 625-3776.

Grange Hall to close

From May 4 to about the middle of the summer, a portion of Grange Hall Road in Holly Township will be closed.

A 2.2-mile stretch, between Eddy Lake Road and Fish Lake Road, will receive about $108,000 worth of resurfacing and repairs, said Dennis Pajot, Oakland County Road Commission spokesperson.

Detouring to Tinneman Road is advised.

Clarkston trio help OCC to title

By Peter Auchter

Usually first-year players don't make much of an impact on their team. Nothing could be further from the truth for three Clarkston High School graduates who play softball for Oakland Community College.

Terri Sherman, Ellen Fleming and Laura Hurren all have helped OCC clinch its third straight league title.

"We are the first team in the league ever to win three titles in a row," said coach Steve Ogg.

Oakland Community College's record currently is 16-0 in the NJCAA Eastern Conference and 29-5 overall.

Ogg gives Sherman and Hurren much of the credit for the team's success.

"Terri (Sherman) is one of the league's best pitchers and Laura is one of the best players," he said.

All three lived up to their coaches' expectations April 25 in a double-header sweep of Delta Community College.

In the opening game, Fleming went one-for-three, scored a run and knocked in another one.

Hurren collected two hits in four plate appearances, one of which was a double, and drove home three runs.

Currently Hurren leads the team with a batting average hovering around the .450 mark.

Oakland Community College whipped Delta in the opener by a score of 9-1.

Terri Sherman gets set to mow down yet another batter in Oakland Community College's double-header sweep of Delta Community College last Saturday at home.

Sports

In the nightcap it was Sherman's turn to shine. Sherman picked up the win, as the Raiders routed Delta once again, to run her season record to an outstanding 13-2 mark.

"It's been fun," Sherman said about her first season on the team: "I just wanted to go in and play my hardest."

Sherman won another game April 26 to clinch the title for the Raiders. Hurren led the way offensively by hitting a home run and a triple and knocking in four runs in the 9-2 win.

The Clarkston trio struck again April 23 in Flint against Mott Community College in a double-header sweep for the Raiders.

Hurren, who is the team's second-string catcher and also plays first or third base, was red-hot at the plate and finished with seven RBIs on the afternoon.

Meanwhile, Sherman was baffling the Mott hitters on the mound to gain the shutout.

With the regular season rapidly coming to an end, the Raiders are looking forward to the playoffs.

"We want to make it to the Nationals," said Sherman, a 1986 graduate of Clarkston High School. "If we can beat (NCAA) Division II schools, then we should be able to beat other junior college teams."

The team's confidence level rose sharply after the Raiders won a softball tournament hosted by the University of Detroit over spring break.

Originally only four-year universities were invited to participate in the tournament. But when an opening occurred just before the tourney was to begin, Ogg managed to talk the coaches into letting his club in.

Offensive surge leads Cougars in comeback victory over Holly

So far this season it has been either feast or famine for Sashabaw's ninth-grade baseball team.

After only getting three hits in a season-opening loss, Sashabaw responded with a wild 13-12 victory over Holly April 15.

Oxford dealt Sashabaw a 5-0 road loss April 5 to start the season off on a bad note. Kevin Kelitz, Chris Smith and John Anderson all had a hit apiece for the Cougars.

But it didn't take long for the hitters to redeem themselves.

Sashabaw had to rally three times before downing Holly. The Cougars were down 4-0 early and then 7-3 before the hitters took control of the game.

Sashabaw soon grabbed a 10-8 lead and then a 11-10 advantage late in the contest.

"It was a real good game," said Cougar coach Tom Smith of his club's win over Holly. "The kids showed a lot of heart."

David Potts, who had two hits, three runs batted in, and four runs scored, knocked in the tying runs during the sixth-inning rally that won the game with a two-run single.

Glen Adams eventually got the game-winning RBI in the sixth and he finished with two hits on the day.

Mike Ponkey also had a big day for the victors. He smacked a two-run home run and had three RBIs on the afternoon.

The winning pitcher was Kelitz. He pitched the final one and two-thirds innings.

The season-opening loss to Oxford was tough to take but Smith wasn't totally surprised by the outcome.

"We just ran into a real tough pitcher," said Smith.

The way his charges responded in the second game, though, left the coach optimistic about the rest of the season.

"They were being a lot more aggressive," he said. "They were hitting a lot more consistently and their fielding wasn't bad either."

It's a good thing the hitting slump was short lived for Sashabaw because the league as a whole appears to be loaded offensively, according to Smith.

The Cougars return to action 4 p.m. Thursday at home in a double-header against Pierce.

Brothers race ATVs for fun

By Peter Auchter

When Chris Grabowski got an ATV for his eighth birthday three years ago, no one could have predicted the success he and his older brother Derek would have as amateur racers.

The Grabowski brothers recently competed in the Silverdome Supercross competition and both fared quite well in their respective age groups.

Derek Grabowski, a junior at Clarkston High School, finished eighth in the quad competition. Chris came home from the race with a first-place trophy.

That marked the second straight year Chris has brought home a first-place trophy from the competition.

Between the two of them, the Grabowski brothers have won more than 130 trophies during their three years of racing.

Their careers as ATV lovers began simply enough, with just one bike as a birthday present.

"Chris got one for his birthday and then I got one so we could race," said Derek.

After mastering the basics by driving around their neighborhood, the Grabowskis decided to enter some local competitions, and they haven't stopped racing since.

"We got better and (needed) more competition," said Derek, who took second place in the Midwest Racing Association last year.

Competitive racing runs in the Grabowski family. The brothers' father, Gene, used to race motorcross.

"They didn't have ATVs when I was younger," said Gene.

Whenever ATVs are mentioned, safety is the first subject that always seems to come up. It is something heavily stressed by the Grabowskis.

"Without knowledge, everything is dangerous," said Gene. "ATVs have been getting a lot of bad publicity recently."

Safety is one of the reasons many of the ATV riders now compete on quads (four-wheelers) instead

[See ATV, page 24]

Derek (left) and Chris Grabowski have been racing ATVs like the ones pictured above for only three years, yet between them they have won more than 130 trophies.

Clarkston High grads are an instant hit

Not only did the team prove it belonged at the tournament, the Raiders won it.

That probably helped the team forget about a less-than-perfect spring training trip.

"I had no idea of what to expect," said Hurren, a

1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, of her team's chances this season. "Our spring (training) was kind of iffy."

What has made the team so strong this season? Confidence in their ability and an optimistic outlook has brought this team success, according to Fleming.

"This team is just so much different (from high school)," said the 1986 graduate of Clarkston High School. "Everybody is ready to give support. It is a lot more positive."

Hurren also said the team gets along well, and she has high hopes come playoff time.

"I have a feeling that we will go to the Nationals," she said. "We come through with the key hits."

All three Clarkston High graduates get along well, especially when Sherman is on the mound and Fleming and Hurren flank her at first and third base.

In fact, they all get along so well they have thought up a nickname for themselves.

It's the "Clarkston Connection" and if they continue to perform on the diamond as they have so far this season, it's a name Eastern Collegiate Conference foes will not soon forget.

In high school all three members of the "Connection" were active in sports.

But that is not to say it dominated their lives from sunup to sundown.

"I have my goals (in sports)," said Fleming, "but school will always come first."

At Clarkston High, Fleming played softball.

Sherman also played softball for Clarkston and was on the volleyball team. Although she loved both sports, she decided to stick with softball in college.

Hurren played basketball and softball for Clarkston.

"I was best at that," said Hurren of her decision to play softball in college. "I like being active."

With the way the Raiders are performing, it looks like they should stay active in their quest for a national title for quite some time.

"We are going to play our hardest," said Hurren. "We are a good team and our record shows it."

Regional play for the Raiders begins the week of May 8.

Laura Hurren grounds out this time at bat, but she still managed to contribute two hits and three RBIs in a 9-1 rout of Delta Community College. Coach Steve Ogg observes the play from the background.

of three-wheelers.

Derek already is riding a quad and his younger brother is eagerly awaiting the arrival of his own quad.

"Only eight more days," said Chris with a grin.

Although the quads provide riders with more stability, they also allow racing at a faster speed, which increases the danger factor.

The four-wheel racers "go like gangbusters," said Chris.

Derek, who likes the quads, agreed with his younger brother that four wheels can get more dangerous than three.

"It allows you to get in trouble at a higher speed," he said.

Gene noted that at a recent competition 80 percent of the 300 bikes were quads.

For the Grabowskis, one of the nice things about racing ATVs is that it has become a family-oriented sport, said Gene.

"I have started to see more couples and groups get involved. It is kind of like a big carnival out there (at the track)," he said.

When the Grabowskis first started racing ATVs, not too many people were involved in the sport. But now attendance is on the rise, as are the number of competitors on area tracks.

"The spectators that come out to see us are the ones that get a bike and get involved," said Gene.

The Grabowski brothers usually take part in a couple of races each week and have raced about nine months out of the year.

Nearby tracks for ATV racers are in Brown City, Inlay City, Irish Hills and Milan.

One of Chris' greatest accomplishments recently occurred at a race in Milan.

The 11-year-old was competing in the 12-15-year-old age class and ended up taking second place.

The family also packs up the van occasionally and takes a trip into Canada for some foreign competition to keep themselves sharp.

ATV races usually consist of two motos (five laps each) and while they may be sitting down the entire way, the sport is far from relaxing.

"You get real tired afterward," said Derek. "It is a very demanding sport."

It is not only taxing for the driver, but for the vehicle as well.

"There is a lot of time involved, a lot of maintenance," said Derek.

Dave Hancock helps out the Grabowskis as their mechanic and Oakland Sports gives them a discount on supplies.

For now, the Grabowskis are pleased with what they have accomplished and are waiting for the national competitions to start.

Two years ago, Derek took seventh place at the nationals in Ohio.

Even with all the racing success the Grabowskis have enjoyed since Chris' birthday three years ago, some things never change.

The Grabowski brothers can still be found today racing with the neighborhood kids after school down by the pond.

Hole-in-one causes grin

Eleven-year-old Joey Dakroub has accomplished something many long-time golfers only dream about.

On April 23, Joey shot a hole-in-one on the eighth hole, par 3, at Heather Highlands in Holly. His father, Joe Dakroub, and Dick Weiss witnessed the 155-yard stroke.

Joey has been golfing for only two years, said his mother, Lynn.

The golfing milestone has created some excitement around the Dakroub household on East Washington Street in Independence Township.

Lynn called Joey's Florida grandparents, Juanita and Carl Roselli, and shared the news with them.

"My parents, they've been golfing for 40 years and they've never had one," she said.

Joey, a fifth-grader at Clarkston Elementary, took the achievement in stride.

"His dad was jumping up and down—and Joey just grinned," said his mom.

Obstacles hinder Himburg in marathon

Steve Himburg, pictured here coaching football for Clarkston Junior High School, finished the Boston Marathon in three hours and 14 minutes under less-than-favorable weather conditions.

Steve Himburg was in the right place at the right time when he participated in the 91st edition of the Boston Marathon.

Himburg, of Independence Township, was more fortunate than 10 other wheelchair competitors who crashed at the start of the April 20 race and caused a massive pile-up.

"I was able to avoid it because I was far enough back so that I could still use my brakes and steer around (the crash)," said Himburg Sunday evening.

Most of the racers involved in the mishap were not seriously injured and ended up finishing the marathon.

Only three out of the 10 racers were unable to continue in the race, said Himburg.

The accident occurred early in the race and was on a downhill portion of the course. The participants had reached speeds of approximately 35 mph before the crash, so it's amazing there weren't more injuries.

Himburg was able to avoid that problem, but he couldn't escape the poor weather conditions.

"There was a very strong head wind and that made it tough," said Himburg.

As if that were not enough, Himburg also blew a tire halfway through the race, yet he still managed to finish with a time of three hours and 14 minutes.

The tire blew out after 13 miles, which made the final 13 a struggle to complete.

"The last part of the course is where you hit the hills," Himburg said.

While his finishing time did not meet Himburg's expectations, he was pleased with what he accomplished.

"It's a very difficult course and I had never done that one before," he said.

Himburg has been an active marathoner since 1982. He tries to make all the local races and occasionally travels to others, including one in San Diego, Calif.

Last year in the Detroit Marathon, Himburg finished in two hours and 52 minutes. This year, his goal is to improve on that mark.

"I want to take five or six minutes off my time," he said.

One thing Himburg won't soon forget about the Boston Marathon is the support provided by the observers.

"You can't beat the crowds," he said. "They were all along the whole course sometimes five or six (rows) deep."

With support like that, it's easy to see why Himburg enjoyed the race so much. The crowd may even have made the physical punishment easier to take.

"The crowd was really encouraging," he said. "It's a special event."

When he isn't on the race course, Himburg keeps himself busy by coaching at Clarkston Junior High School.

Time out

Promises, Promises

Peter Auchter

I promised myself when I started this job that I would not sit down and write a silly column about myself.

the kind that would make me look like an illiterate and biased reporter the first week on the job.

You know what I'm talking about, don't you? It would start off something like "Hi, my name is Peter Auchter and I am the new reporter for The Clarkston News."

Then it would go on to say, "I just graduated from Oakland University (Michigan, not California) and I just love to write."

Now I say, "Who really gives a hoot in hell about any of this?"

Certainly not me. I wouldn't be caught dead writing a sappy piece like that much less reading it. It's just not like me.

What is like me? Well, sit back in that easy chair because I'll be glad to tell you.

As you already know, I'm an OU grad (I love the sound of that) who majored in journalism. Since I have always loved sports but lacked the talent to competently compete, I did the next best thing—write about it.

They always say those who can, do; and those who can't, write about it. That is me in a nutshell.

Wait a minute. Didn't I just promise that I wouldn't go into a long, drawn-out story about my life? Oh well, I guess it's too late to stop now.

But that is plenty about me. Actually I would like to go on forever, but I have run out of interesting things to say. That brings me to my next point, what this column is going to be all about.

I want to use this space for thought-provoking commentaries on sports, especially those pertaining to the Clarkston area.

What that means in plain English is I'm going to write about the first thing that pops into my head. (Just kidding.)

So if you happen to think of any good ideas while lying awake in bed some night, please jot them down and give me a call. I'd love to hear them. (Not at 3:30 in the morning, however.)

But seriously, since I am new to the area I'm going to need some help finding things to write about. Any leads you can provide will be appreciated.

One final note, if you happen to see a confused individual who resembles the one in the picture above this story at a sporting event, please stop and say hello.

I'd love to hear about the stories you would like to see in the paper.

Otherwise, I might have to sit in the office and get creative. (That could prove to be very dangerous.)

If you don't believe that, then just go back and read this column again.

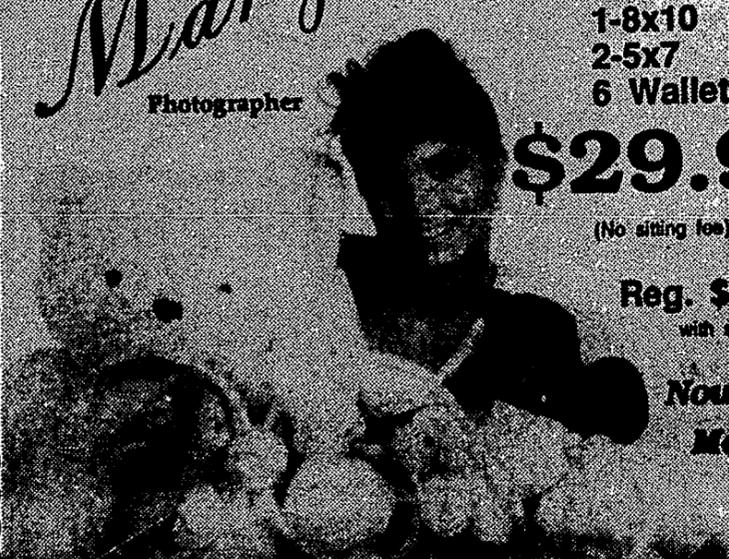

But things will get better in the future—I promise.

Cafe's host

Air Force in Italy, flying 46 missions as a navigator.

"In 1945, I came out of the service, and there was a big strike at General Motors in Flint," he said. "I couldn't see sweating that out; it looked like it would be a long one."

He almost fell into a career, he said. "I'd always liked sports," said Leon. "I liked the Midland Dow Chemicals, a pro basketball team in Flint. Once, I listened to the broadcast (for them), and I came home and told my wife he was terrible. She said, 'Well, smarty-pants, if you think he was so bad, why don't you do it?'"

"So the next day, I walked into the radio office and said I'd like to try broadcasting. They handed me a script to read, and I was hired."

At WWOK in Flint, he provided commentary for basketball, baseball and golden gloves boxing. Then, he covered sports for WTAC-TV, Channel 12, Flint.

During an annual Central-Northern Thanksgiving football game broadcast, the station manager for Detroit's Channel 7 heard Leon and asked him to audition for Channel 7. And he was hired.

So Leon worked with Fred Wolf in the Motor City Speedway Races, doing pit interviews.

And he played Captain Flint on WXYZ for a kids' show—sort of a movie host, wearing a uniform, he said. And he appeared on "The Lady of Charm," where he would taste her cooking "and tell her how good it was whether it was or not."

He even made a Peabody Award-winning documentary in Africa, covering the fighting when the Belgian Congo declared independence. He interviewed the president, Joseph Mobutu, using his high school French. Mobutu is still president of the country, now called Zaire.

He also helped Soupy Sales with Tello announcements and announced Chevrolet ads for Dinah Shore and Pat Boone shows.

And he was Channel 7's first full-time news anchorman.

"I was doing news seven nights a week, two shows, at six and eleven," he said. He left after 12 years in 1967 to find something a little less hectic.

He became news director for WJBK radio, then opened his own business—Video Packers Inc., a company that packaged TV shows including "My Kind of Town."

Ten years as general manager of Prencor Inc., a manufacturing firm in Royal Oak, followed.

When he retired, his son recruited him for the Clarkston Cafe.

He still works five days a week, at a little slower pace, he said, and he likes to spend time with his wife of 45 years, Patricia, and his two children and four grandchildren.

"I've seen a lot in my lifetime," said Leon. "It's been very rewarding. I had a lot of fun doing it, but I wouldn't give two cents to do it again."

Do you know someone who works in the Clarkston area and deserves recognition for a job well done? We'd like to share your praise. Call The Clarkston News at 625-3370 weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or drop us a line at 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Rezoning OK'd for Sashabaw center

Arkan Jonah received the final OK on rezoning his property at the corner of Waldon and Sashabaw Roads, Independence Township.

With no comment, the township board approved and adopted the second reading of the change of about 9 acres to planned shopping center from single family residential and highway commercial.

In past township meetings, Jonah, who owns several grocery stores in the southeastern Michigan area, said he plans to open a mid-sized, full-service grocery store and lease space for other service businesses, such as a drug store, dry cleaning or offices.

On April 21, the board voted 5-1 to approve the change. Treasurer John Lutz and Trustee Daniel Travis were absent.

Trustee William Vandermark voted "no." At the April 7 meeting, Vandermark said he did not favor the rezoning because office zoning was intended for the area, and the change could encourage strip commercial development.

Celebrity series

Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall announces its celebrity series for the 1987-88 season.

The series will open Oct. 14 with Jane Meadows, entertainer and wife of comedian Steve Allen.

Charlotte Ford, daughter of Henry Ford II and author of "Charlotte Ford's Book of Modern Manners," will speak on Nov. 11.

Carmen Harlan, co-anchor of WDIV-TV News and recipient of many awards for her media work, will speak Jan. 13, 1988.

Bill Schustick, an American troubadour, will entertain Town Hall Feb. 10, bringing the history of America to life with his songs and ballads.

Concluding the series will be Bonnie Prudden, an authority on physical fitness, who will talk on "Feeling Good Over 50."

Tickets for the 1987-88 series of five lectures are now available by sending a check for $37.50 and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall, P.O. Box 1889, Pontiac, MI 48056.

All lectures begin at 10:30 a.m. at Roma's of Bloomfield, 2101 S. Telegraph Rd. Celebrity luncheons at $7.50 each follow at noon, with reservations limited to series ticket holders.

More information is available by calling 673-0306.

Wildlife artist wins state honors

By Pat Young

Independence Township artist Mary Arnold Kalocsay displayed a penchant for art early in life.

By the time she was in kindergarten, she was painting backdrops for grade school plays.

"That's when I first learned how to make a leaf look like it was turned," Mary says.

She continued to paint throughout school, and studied art at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. But the 33-year-old artist only recently began entering competitions, and rewards are already coming her way.

Mary earned an honorable mention in the Michigan Department of Natural Resources "Sesquicentennial Living Legends Art Contest." Her entry was an oil composite incorporating a sampling of Michigan's flourishing wildlife over an outline of the state.

A major event in the DNR's lineup of sesquicentennial-related activities, the contest was established to pay tribute to the state's "living legends," not only the natural resources, but also the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the preservation of these resources.

Over the years, Mary never stopped painting, but she worked for many years, first supporting herself and then supplementing the family income after marrying her husband, Carl, in 1981. It was only recently that she felt she could stop working outside the home and devote herself full time to her first love—art.

"My biggest goal in life is to really make it with my art," Mary says.

Now that she is working at it full time, Mary feels her chances are better.

"The quality of my work is much better when I work at it every day," she says.

Mary works in many mediums—acrylics, oils, pencils, watercolors. But her main mediums are acrylics and pencils, and her main love is wildlife painting.

It's no wonder.

Mary and Carl are avid outdoors people. They are both involved in archery, bow and arrow hunting, fishing, backpacking, canoeing and hiking.

Mary frequently takes photographs for her paintings, or sometimes works from observations. Recently, she says, she sat quietly and watched a fox and her kits for an hour. The memory, no doubt, is firmly etched in her mind for a future painting.

The DNR award is Mary's first major award. But her work has also been featured three times on the cover of Michigan Bowhunters Magazine, and earned top place for that honor one year.

She has also illustrated two books, on archeology and sociology, which are on file in the United States Congressional Library.

"That was really interesting," Mary says. "I did old artifacts, canoes, pottery, burial sites. I learned a lot in the process."

She sells her work through several galleries, including Chandler's Wildlife Gallery in Petoskey and Traverse City, and in Wild Wings Gallery in Plymouth. She sent a piece to The Presence Gallery in New York, and the owner liked it so much she bought it herself.

"I will get involved in more competitions," Mary says. "It's a good outlet for getting your work known."

She also gives private art lessons, a job she finds rewarding and fun, and she teaches art classes through Waterford Township adult education at the senior citizen center.

"The students thrive on information you have to give them," she says. "And it keeps you on your toes. I'm always studying too."

At home on Pine Knob Road, she works "everywhere in the house" and sometimes outside when conditions are right.

Her canvas is currently perched on the dining room table, where she sits, wearing blue jeans and a casual shirt, working on a piece she is entering in a New Mexico contest. Her goal, she says, is to come in first in a competition.

"I'm glad I can devote myself to art now," Mary says. "It's something I've always wanted to do. It's just something inside me."

Artist Mary Arnold Kalocsay works on a painting in her Independence Township home. She recently earned an honorable mention award in the "Michigan Sesquicentennial Living Legends Art Contest."

3 CHS teens soar to rank of Eagle Scout

Three new Eagle Scouts have joined the ranks of Boy Scout Troop 189 of Clarkston.

Mark Frasa, Andrew Tudor, and John Murphy were inducted by a court of honor at Springfield Oaks Activities Center on Feb. 6.

Twenty-five boys have attained the rank of Eagle Scout in the troop since it was founded in 1969. Troop 189 is sponsored by Calvary Lutheran Church of Independence Township.

Mark Frasa, 14, the son of Warren and Sandy Frasa, is a ninth-grader at Clarkston High School. He has been a scout five years and has earned 24 merit badges.

Last year, Frasa went on the High Adventure trip to Laurel Highlands and has attended summer camp five years. He is active in the marching band at CHS.

For his Eagle Scout service project, he made hat and plume cases for the marching band equipment.

John Murphy, 17, is the son of John and Norma Murphy of Waterford. He has been in scouting seven years and has earned 21 merit badges.

A senior at CHS, he plays the saxophone. He is also active in the Order of the Arrow, an honorary camping group.

Murphy was a scout in troops 51, 199 and 189. His service project was making a cross-country ski trail at Independence Oaks County Park.

Andrew Tudor, 16, the son of Bill and Marjorie Tudor of Clarkston, is a 10th-grader at Clarkston High School. He has earned the 21 merit badges required for the Eagle rank and has attended five summer camps. He was also on the High Adventure trips to the Grand Canyon and to Algonquin Provincial Park.

Tudor's service project was building a float for the Independence Township Sesquicentennial Council.

The court of honor began with an invocation by committee member Terry Howard. After dinner, the scouts of Troop 189, under the direction of Senior Patrol Leader Todd Howard, led the opening ceremony.

Ed Fletcher, assistant scoutmaster, introduced the guests for the evening. An Eagle Trail slide presentation, featuring the three Eagle candidates and other scouts, was given by Assistant Scoutmaster Dr. Edward Lock.

Former Scoutmaster Kenneth Vinstra was guest speaker for the evening. The Eagle Scouts of Troop 189 led the Scout Oath Eagle Ceremony.

For the presentation part of the ceremony, Chuck Case, former Troop 189 committee chairman, gave the Charge to Eagle Scouts.

Assistant Scoutmaster Dennis Zelenak was in charge of the presentation of the Eagle badges, mother's pins, certificates and neckerchiefs.

Craig Frasa, Eagle Scout, Troop 189, presented the badge to his brother, Mark. Bill Tudor, scoutmaster, presented the badge to his son, Andrew; and Wayne Burling, former assistant scoutmaster of Troop 51, presented John Murphy with his Eagle badge.

The most recent Eagle Scouts of Troop 189 of Clarkston are (from left) Andrew Tudor, Mark Frasa and John Murphy, all students at Clarkston High School.

Fletcher read letters of commendation from each Eagle Scout's scrapbook and the closing ceremony was led by Troop 189 with Adam Rosenthal, bugler, playing taps.

Elephants provide a memorable sight for visitors to the African plains in Kenya. A variety of wildlife can be seen by the visitor who goes on photography safari in this east African country. Jim Smith snapped this photograph while on safari six years ago.

INSIDE AFRICA

Out of Africa and back in Clarkston, couples reminisce

By Pat Young

Like a scene from "Out of Africa," Kenya comes alive for the visitor.

Rightfully so.

The movie was filmed on the vast, primeval plains of this beautiful African country, the same area viewed by many visitors who go on photography safaris in Kenya.

At least two Clarkston area couples have experienced Kenya during the last six years. Ron and Betty Wagner of Independence Township left on a 10-day safari right after Christmas last year. Jim and Betty Smith of Clarkston took a three and a half week safari in 1981.

Kenya, Jim points out, is a land of many landscapes, from the plains to tangled jungles to 19,340-foot-high Mt. Kilimanjaro on the western border shared with Tanzania.

Standing alone on the horizon, Mt. Kilimanjaro is the tallest solitary peak in the world. In central Kenya, Mt. Kenya soars to 17,000 feet.

Caressed on the east by the Indian Ocean, Kenya is bordered to the north by Ethiopia and Sudan and to the west by Uganda as well as Tanzania. Though it sits on the equator, Kenya is not extremely hot, because much of the terrain is approximately 5,000 feet above sea level.

There was the elephant, protecting her baby, that waved her trunk warning to the van, and another that actually charged the Smiths' vehicle, causing the driver to "quickly drive in reverse."

Both the Wagners and the Smiths began their sometimes dusty but always exciting safaris by flying into Nairobi, the country's capital, a civilized, bustling oasis of concrete and skyscrapers.

By contrast, after barely leaving the city in pop-top minivans used for the trip, the safari travelers got a preview of days to come.

"It was lovely to see giraffe feeding as we drove across the plains," Betty Wagner says. "Even at the start of the trip, we saw animals very close to the city."

The safaris concentrate on the African plains, traveling roads considered primitive by American standards and viewing animals in their natural environment and usually indifferent to the humans passing by.

And for good reason. In Kenya, the only way to shoot wildlife is with a camera. Hunting was banned in 1971 in an attempt to restore ecological balance to the delicate land.

"There are many different safari companies," Ron says. "We went through acquaintances. Chuck and Karen Bazy and their Safari Adventures Limited. Chuck has been in Africa nearly 50 times and is a very knowledgeable guide."

But all safaris have similar itineraries. People rise at 6, enjoy wonderful Kenya coffee and go out to see the animals. They return to a breakfast of fresh fruits, pastries and freshly baked breads.

Then the vans drive on to the next lodge, stopping mid-day for a buffet lunch described by the Wagners and the Smiths as a wonderful meal, showcasing the many fresh fruits and vegetables farmed in Kenya, plus salads, desserts and more.

Late afternoon and early evening are spent viewing the animals again, and dinner is a late buffet, not

Teen to teen

An introduction

All of us at one time or another have felt alone with our problems.

Often we have felt there was no one to talk to or nobody who would understand. But many people go through similar problems and anxieties.

This column is designed for young people to have a place to turn for help and support in dealing with these day-to-day issues.

We are a group of everyday teens with varying lifestyles who care and want you to know it.

When you have problems, questions or concerns, we have a place for you to turn. Drop a note in the "problem locker" at your school.

Problem lockers will be available at the Clarkston junior and senior high schools for your convenience; or sent a letter to Teen to Teen, in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Your letters will be published anonymously with a response in The Clarkston News.

After reading one of the letters and its response you may discover that you've experienced a similar situation. If you have a successful or supportive response, please put a letter in the problem locker or send it to the News.

These problems may include: relationships concerning parents, friends, love life; school; alcohol; drugs; or anything that happens to be bothering you at the time.

We appreciate your problems and letting us offer you our support.

Sincerely,
Teen to Teen

Letters to Teen to Teen will be answered by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under the sponsorship of Aware, a community group devoted to action and education against chemical dependency.

Potato pride

Betty Wagner

Not one potato, nor two potatoes, but three potatoes are needed to create each of these delicious and nutrient dense microwave recipes using white or yellow flesh Michigan potatoes.

Yellow flesh potatoes have been served and enjoyed in Europe for many years. Michigan farmers have been growing them for over three years.

The beautiful yellow flesh makes an attractive presentation and offers a unique taste. Try them baked and you can forget the butter.

Show pride in Michigan! Support Michigan products!

BAKED POTATOES

3 large Michigan potatoes

Scrub potatoes. Prick with a long-tined fork. Place in a triangle on a microsafe rack (a bacon or roasting rack will do). Microwave at high for 9 to 11 minutes; turn over and rearrange after half the time.

Potatoes should yield to finger pressure, but will not be completely done. Wrap in paper toweling or foil and let stand to finish cooking for 5 minutes before eating.

POTATO SNACK

Stave off hunger pangs and a tendency to nibble on junk food by offering potatoes for a between meal snack or appetizer. The potato peelings add fiber to the diet.

3 medium potatoes, unpeeled

Scrub potatoes; cut each into 18 pieces by cutting the potato in half lengthwise, each half into three lengthwise strips, and each strip into thirds.

Place potato cubes in a casserole dish. Cover and microwave at high power for 7 to 8 minutes a pound, stirring 1 or 2 times. Cook cubes until just tender, not mushy. Serve hot with dipping sauce, or chill cooked potato cubes and serve with dipping sauce for an unusual snacking treat.

DIPPING SAUCE

1/2 cup low-fat plain yogurt or sour cream

1/4 teaspoon dill weed

1/4 teaspoon minced chives

3/8 teaspoon curry powder

Mix all ingredients together, taste and adjust seasonings. Chill.

FLUFFY POTATO SOUP

(Adapted from "Potato Recipes," Michigan

Potatoes.)

3 large Michigan potatoes (1 1/2 pounds)

1/2 cup water

1/2 cup sliced green onions

1 13-ounce can low-fat evaporated milk

3/4 to 1 cup low-fat milk

1/4 teaspoon each white pepper and dill weed

3 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley

Salt to taste, if desired

Peel potatoes; cut into same-size cubes. Place in casserole or large Pyrex measure. Add water; cover with a tight-fitting lid or vented plastic wrap.

Microwave at high power 12 minutes or until tender. Stir after half the time. Cool slightly.

Meanwhile, place green onions in a small microwavable dish, cover and cook at high power for 1 1/2 minutes. Set aside.

Pour potatoes and water into food processor or blender. Process until smooth, or if you like chunky rather than creamy potato soup, pulse processor until potatoes are small chunks rather than smooth.

Slowly pour in evaporated milk while processor is running. Return potato mixture to casserole dish. Add green onions, spices and enough milk to produce desired consistency.

Place temperature probe in dish, cover loosely with plastic wrap and set power at 50 percent (medium) and probe to 140-150 degrees, or heat at 50 percent power until desired serving temperature.

Note: Milk produces a creamy soup consistency. For thinner soup, use 1 cup water instead.

Home economist Betty Wagner, an Independence Township resident, appears weekly on her Microwave Plus cable-TV program, which airs at 7 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays on channel 11.

Couples share their memories about Kenya

as spectacular as lunch.

Betty Smith says their meals often included game. But Betty Wagner says game was not as plentiful on the menu five years later.

In camps at night, visitors could stay up and view animals coming to the water holes or feeding. The wildlife provided the entertainment—and the music—of the African night.

The Smiths visited Africa in the fall during migration season and, therefore, observed many more animals than the Wagners did.

"Millions of wildebeest were crossing the plains," Jim says. "It reminded you of pictures you'd seen from years back when buffalo crossed the American plains."

Thousands of animals get trampled to death in the migration. Betty Wagner says that when they traveled near a river crossing in late December, wildebeest carcasses were still there, remnants of the frantic crossing months before during migration. It is the only unpleasant memory she has of the trip.

Wildlife provided lasting impressions on both couples.

There was the elephant, protecting her baby, that waved her trunk warning to the van, and another that actually charged the Smiths' vehicle, causing the driver to "quickly drive in reverse."

There was the rare rhino and her baby at the water hole. The baby, which is born with the familiar horn, causing mother to start when it accidentally poked her while nursing.

The lions, haughty and majestic, had no fear of man. While not tame by any means, they wouldn't move for the vehicles, creating memorable close encounters along the route for visitors with cameras in hand.

Giraffes, with their elongated necks and their distinctively dappled hides, fed from the top of acacia trees, nonchalantly chewing needles that could go right through the sole of a shoe.

The bottom end of the same tree provides food for the gerunuk. A thin, long-necked member of the gazelle family, the gerunuk stands on its hind legs to nibble acacia leaves.

There were so many animals to see—hippos, zebra, baboons, monkeys, hyenas, the rare wild dog, an occasional, thrilling glimpse of a cheetah or the allusive leopard.

Exotic birds provided breathtaking sights, with their paintbrush colors and individual characteristics. The weaver bird, for instance, hangs a nest upside down from a tree, with only a small opening for a door, to keep out snakes.

Even the lodges, some visited by both the Wagners and the Smiths, provided memorable encounters with animals.

At the Samburu Lodge there were many crocodiles, monkeys and baboons. The little monkeys, with babies hanging from them, would steal food right off the plates.

The Maraserena Lodge, reminiscent of a Flintstones' house according to Betty Wagner, was another place where monkey "bandits" were plentiful.

Lake Naivasha Lodge was memorable for the hundreds of colorful flamingos gracing the water's edge.

Gates were closed at dark, Betty Smith says. All visitors had to be inside by then, because the wildlife is best viewed from a safe distance at night.

The Smiths visited the Mt. Kenya Safari Club, opened in 1959 by the late actor William Holden and several friends who "changed the tune" of the former sportsmen's club to one of wildlife conservation.

The Wagners visited the Mt. Kenya Game Ranch, an adjacent tract of a thousand acres that shelters hundreds of wild animals, and a nursery for orphaned or injured animals.

The other thing that impressed the Smiths and the Wagners about Kenya was the people.

"They were so friendly and gracious," Betty Wagner says. They stopped in just to see a government office in Nairobi, for instance, and were given a first-class tour.

The people of the countryside provided memories, too.

Ron says, "Getting into the countryside and seeing the people was like stepping into a page of National Geographic magazine. The grass huts, the fear of photographs because it might take their spirit away, made it seem unreal."

Jim and Betty Smith reminisce over their trip to Africa at the home of Ron and Betty Wagner, who took a similar trip six years later. They admire some of the Wagners' African carvings.

The Smiths, too, were impressed with the native Africans. Jim points out that "some of the best Olympic athletes come from the African tribes."

A minor difference in the trips the Smiths and the Wagners took was that many of the lodges had been upgraded from "zip-up" tent walls to enclosed buildings.

A major difference in the two safaris was the number of animals to be seen, even taking into account that it was two different seasons.

The elephant population in Africa, Jim says, has dropped from 165,000 in 1972 to less than 60,000 in 1980. The rhino is dangerously close to extinction, as is the leopard.

But conservationists are trying to change the trend, and Kenya is encouraging its neighbors to take stronger conservation action.

Even though Africa is changing, there are still breathtaking sights and animals roaming their natural environment to be enjoyed by the visitor.

"It's exciting, even after the eighth or ninth day," Ron says of their photography safari.

"We'd like to go back," Jim says.

Both families joined wildlife societies to encourage preservation of the animals. And they all said, if you can go, you should go.

Even with the conservation efforts, there is always the push of civilization. The question remains, will Africa remain rich in wildlife for mankind to enjoy in the future?

A carved elephant and African jewelry are some of Ron and Betty Wagner's favorite purchases from Kenya. The Wagners took a photography safari of Kenya over the last Christmas holiday.

Kindergarten's her favorite

by Pat Smith

Anne Moller has taught for 18 years, 15 of those in Clarkston and three in Sheffield Lake, Ohio.

She has taught kindergarten and the early elementary grades. Kindergarten is her favorite. She says she enjoys young children because they are "loving, truthful and enthusiastic toward learning."

She is currently a kindergarten teacher at Pine Knob.

Anne was born and raised in Herkimer, N.Y. Her mother was a teacher and it followed that Anne started thinking about teaching while in high school where she was president of the Future Teachers club.

She attended New York State University at Buffalo and Kent State, among other schools, but received her bachelor's degree and, later, a master's degree in early childhood development from Oakland University, Rochester.

She is a member of Alpha Delta Kappa, an international teachers sorority.

There's a bit of Ireland in Anne and her travels have taken her there. She enjoys sharing Irish tales, songs and dances with her students and has even made green costumes for St. Patrick's Day!

A Willie Nelson fan, she enjoys all of the performing arts. She collects Hummels and has a collection of brass. Anne says she plays "at" golf and is a football fan (a well-kept secret).

Always willing to work hard and lend a helping hand, Anne has served on many of the district's committees: Math, COPE, Professional Development and Curriculum Committee. She has been active in the

In spite of her busy schedule, Anne finds time for her family: husband Dan; young adult children Pat, Mike, Sean and Darrolyn Robinson; and junior high son Michael. She is especially proud of her grandchildren, Timmy, Danny and Mike Robinson.

Anne Moller is an example of Clarkston's finest teachers. She is innovative, involved, caring and loves what she does.

Brenda on beauty

Avoiding makeup mistakes

Brenda Ward

I was leisurely shopping through a major department store when I arrived at the cosmetic department.

I'm sure many of you know that this is the time of the year when all the various cosmetic vendors try to "wow" you with their latest and greatest.

It is often very confusing with so many claims to work wonders, so many appealing displays and so many price differences.

Makeup always parallels the fashion industry and this season's fashion trend is to return to a very romantic, very feminine look.

The top designers' clothes are in celebration of the female form. You'll see lots of loose, soft and airy pastels as well as bold figure-flattering brights. There is also a great emphasis on accessories.

Makeup should be used as one of your prettiest accessories.

Here are a few tips to take the mistakes out of makeup, from the very beginning, when you are purchasing your new items for spring and summer.

•Never shop for makeup when you are in a hurry. In other words, don't wait until the night of the party to select the colors to wear with your new dress.

•If you have a hard time making decisions, take along a friend whose opinion you trust.

•Once in the cosmetic department, look for a sales consultant that your visual observation approves of. Do you like the way she is wearing her makeup? Can you relate to her style of dress? Does she have a friendly smile? Ask yourself any or all of these questions to size up the person you choose to ask for help.

•Don't be afraid to ask questions or to express your exact needs and expectations of the products you buy. The more you reveal about exactly what you want, the better service you are apt to receive.

•Do try testers whenever they are available. Many colors look different in the compact than they do applied to your skin.

•Don't be afraid to ask for samples. Many cosmetic companies provide them and they are made for you, the consumer, to gain faith in a product before you buy it.

•If you happen to meet an especially friendly salesperson and you like her style, don't be afraid to ask for a makeup lesson or makeover. Most major companies spend a lot of money on quality training for their sales consultants. Many of these salespeople, or beauty advisers, are very good at demonstrating and applying makeup for you. This service is most often free of charge.

•My best advice is to buy only a few items at a time. Haven't we all had the experience of spending too much on a bunch of things that we didn't know what to do with once we got them home? After all, once you have mastered the art of the perfect way to accentuate your eyes with three new colors of shadow, you can always go back for the eye pencils to match. Don't overwhelm yourself.

•Do concentrate on one area of concern. Don't go looking for skin care products and be swayed into a major makeup purchase.

•Do remember to coordinate your purchases sensibly. If you buy a new lipstick and you have gorgeous nails, don't forget to buy matching polish. Many of the most popular new colors vanish quickly.

•Once you have purchased products, save your receipts and the boxes the items came in. If you should have any problems such as a sensitivity to a product or it is not of expected quality, almost all major department stores will happily give you a refund or exchange as long as you have the box and/or receipt.

I hope these few pointers will make your cosmetic shopping a little easier. Remember, makeup is fun. Don't rely on it to completely change your looks. Instead, enjoy it to enhance your loveliest features.

Coming next: Mistake-proof makeup application for all skin types.

New pastor takes lead at Maranatha Baptist

By Kathy Greenfield

The Rev. Glen D. Currie, the new pastor at Maranatha Baptist Church, was an answer to a prayer.

The church at 5790 Flemings Lake Rd. in Independence Township had been without a pastor since the retirement of the Rev. Philip Somers two and one-half years ago.

Visiting ministers had provided sermons, but the congregation needed a full-time pastor, said Assistant Pastor Stephen L. Sanders.

Sanders was expressing that need in prayer during a church seminar in Southfield in conjunction with Bob Jones University of Greenville, S.C.

His request was overheard by Currie and a friend, who were sitting on the other side of the room.

"That gentleman (the friend) stood up and said, 'You've got your pastor right here,'" said Sanders, who followed up by getting Currie's resume and discussing the idea with the Maranatha Baptist Church pulpit committee.

Currie was invited to speak a couple of times and, after a 98 percent vote, the committee officially called in Currie on April 5.

He will officially assume the post on Sunday, May 3, with services at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Currie chooses one word to describe his reaction to his new job: "Ecstatic."

"As I've gotten older and over the years, it's been my desire to get into my own church and pastor, and I was just waiting for the Lord to lead me where he wanted me to go," he said.

The congregation, which numbers about 80, is equally pleased with their new pastor, Sanders said.

"We're anxious to get going and get growing again," he said.

Currie, 33, was raised in Southgate and attended Inter-City Baptist Church in Allen Park.

He was graduated from the Inter-City Baptist High School in 1972 and from Bob Jones University in 1976, when he became assistant to the pastor at Inter-City Baptist Church.

In 1982, he received a master of divinity degree from the Detroit Baptist Theology Seminary.

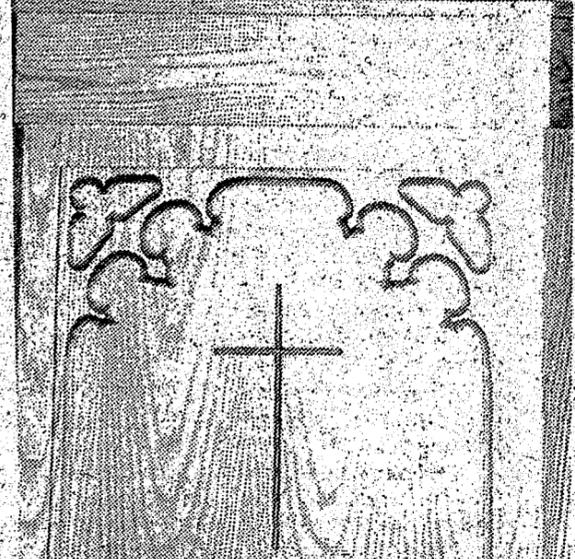

Because he's been at the Inter-City Baptist Church 11 years, Currie said he had mixed emotions about leaving, but he's "looking forward to great opportunities in Clarkston."

"One of my primary goals is to preach the word of God and meet the needs of people and let people know we're here," he said. "I plan to personally go out and vigorously meet people."

Another goal is to build a sanctuary for the church. Services are now conducted in a multipurpose area, which also serves as a gymnasium.

Currie, his wife Susan and their children, Scott, 9, Kristin, 7, and Laura, 3, are currently residing in Allen Park, but they plan to move to the Clarkston area as soon as they sell their home.

"It's a beautiful area. We've fallen in love with it," he said.

The Rev. Glen Currie will preach his first sermons as pastor of Maranatha Baptist Church on Sunday, May 3.

Crossing the monkey bars in her backyard, Becky DeLong, 7, finds it easiest to use the monkey's own technique—swinging from bar to bar. Becky and six neighbors played outside on Simler Drive, Independence
