Near camp sale riles residents

BY ALISA NASS
Clarkston News Special Writer

Concern over the possibility of a resident camp for state wards in Rose Township brought about 50 residents to the May 13 Springfield Township Board meeting.

The state Department of Social Services (DSS) is considering the 242-acre Camp Holly, west of the Springfield border and northwest of Rattalee Lake and Weber roads, as a possible site.

Camp Holly is owned by the Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council in Detroit. North Oakland Girl Scouts are not involved.

Negotiations with the DSS to purchase or lease the land are currrently under way, said Lisa Raycraft, director of communications for the Michigan Metro Girl Scouts.

"It's too early to say if a sale is inevitable," she said.

A long-range plan to sell or lease the camp has existed since 1984 when two Girl Scout councils merg-

Slow dump days

Five times less people dumped trash during Spring Cleanup last weekend than in the 1986 cleanup, said George Anderson, head of the Independence Township Department of Public Works.

"It was slower than the last few years," he said.

"I think people are resisting the charge," said Anderson, referring to the per load fee the township charged this year to help pay for the disposal. In previous years, residents could dump for free.

"It's gotten to the point where we had to do something because of the cost," he said. "It'll take us two weeks to dump this year because we had trouble finding landfills."

About 650 people dropped their trash at the Flemings Lake Road site Saturday and Sunday, leaving about one-third the trash last year's dumpers left, he said.

CHS junior prom quest ends

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

The push is over for a second prom to take care of members of the junior class this year at Clarkston High School.

"We struck out trying to get an alternate site for the prom," said CHS principal Dr. Robert Burek.

Problems surfaced at the end of April when 300 $35-a-couple tickets went on sale for the junior-senior prom May 22 at Petruzzello's Banquet Hall in Troy.

Members of the senior class had first access to the tickets and they sold out before the juniors had a chance.

Some members of the junior class had purchased dresses and placed orders for tuxedo rentals, and a few seniors who had waited until the last minute to buy tickets were turned away.

Another site was found and a tentative junior prom was arranged, but the plan folded when not enough students showed an interest.

There were a variety of reasons for the outcome, Burek said, citing that it would have been "tough to pull it together in the next two weeks" for the students who needed to buy dresses and rent tuxedos.

"Next year will be better," he said.

A decision has not been made, but two possibilities are under consideration for 1988—having a junior-senior prom at the Flint Hyatt, which can accomodate 1,000 people; or having separate dances for the seniors and juniors.

A meeting with the class sponsors is planned to determine the direction before this school year ends, Burek said.

We'll publish all photos of graduates—for free—in the June 10 edition of The Clarkston News.

All you have to do is fill out the form on Page 49 of this week's Clarkston News.

To the rescue

Terri Hendren, a Clarkston Post Office mail carrier, has had a few strange experiences during her 12-year career, but last Friday, she chalked up one of her better stories.

Hendren was delivering mail on her route when a near-hysterical woman on Drayton Road ran up to the mail box to hail the carrier.

A large black bird had somehow gotten inside the woman's home. The woman, widowed two years ago, was very frightened. She had been in her yard for half an hour, afraid to re-enter her home.

Hendren took a chair-back cover off a piece of furniture and spent 15 minutes chasing the bird around the house. She finally cornered the bird, threw the cover over it, and let it loose out the front door.

Hendren said she "wasn't all that keen on birds, either," but the elderly woman was so frightened that she had to do something to help.

The woman, still shaken, thanked her—several times.

You could say Hendren's experience was "for the birds," but you could also say that postal carriers sometimes do special things that are beyond the call of duty.

ed, leaving the Metro Council with more land than needed to service members, she said.

Under the proposed plan by the DSS, an 80- to 90-bed work and learn camp would be operated on the property. Boys between ages 15 and 17 who committed offenses against property and not persons would be the targeted group for the camp.

The average stay would be 26 weeks. Emphasis would be placed on activities to further skill development and educational goals.

The camp would be modeled after the Colorado Outward Bound, Michigan Expeditions programs. The majority of the participants would be from Wayne County.

The camp would serve Wayne, Genesee, Macomb and Oakland counties, said Township Supervisor Collin Walls.

"It's an idea created by Coleman Young and supported by Gov. Blanchard," said State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss (R-Lake Orion), who was present at the Springfield meeting.

Legislation concerning the proposal is expected within the next 30 days, said Dunaskiss, and the DDS time schedule is to have the camp functional by July 1.

Dunaskiss said the program should be scaled down to one camp of 50 beds for a trial basis, instead of the proposed three camp sites statewide at an estimated cost of $13 million.

Concerns from 10 residents who spoke expressing opposition to the camp were supported by applause at times from the audience.

Discussion concerning the camp lasted about an hour. The board took no action.

"The final decision has not been made yet," said Dunaskiss, advising the residents to put "as much of a wall as possible" against the proposal.

"I have approximately 242 signatures that we have collected from Springfield Township residents," said Barb Hansen of Rattalee Road. "Those people are definitely opposed to this."

"What it boils down to me," said Bob Lyon of Rattalee Road, "if the government says they're going to do it, they'll do it."

"It's time we put our foot down and tell them to get their butts out of here," said Keith Byrd of Eaton Road.

"We're talking about a permanent facility," said LeAnn Oliver of Woodland Trail, voicing her concern that there are no hospital or medical services in the area and that the fire station is volunteer.

"The people you are getting are not going to be Girl Scouts," said Hank Marvin of Rose Township.

Over 100 people attended a meeting to voice opposition to the camp an hour earlier in R[illegible] Township.

There are considerably more questions than answers at this time," said Walls.

It is very possible something regarding the camp would be on the next meeting agenda, he said.

Campaign counts for coordinators

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

They've helped plan 40 neighborhood coffees, helped run a telephone survey to find positive voters and worked on methods to get those voters to the polls—and they've been filmed for a video presentation.

"Enthusiastic about Clarkston schools" is an apt description of the co-coordinators of the millage campaign for the June 8 Clarkston school district election.

Jerry Reeves and Al and Michele Weverstad took on the task after they accepted an invitation to attend a millage meeting in mid-April.

They were among 20 to 25 parents from across the district identified by the school principals as supportive of the schools. When filling out a form, Reeves and the Weverstads checked a box that said they would be willing to coordinate the millage campaign.

They are working to convince Clarkston school district voters to approve the 3.79-mill tax renewal and 4.25-mill tax increase, which will appear in separate questions on the ballot. (The total of 8.04 mills represents $8.04 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.)

While they agree that their job is difficult, they have confidence.

"I think we're going to win," said Al.

In support of Al's statement, Jerry refers to charts from the Michigan Department of Education that rank Clarkston 27th out of the 28 public school districts in Oakland County in revenue per pupil and 20th for present millage levied.

> "People with kids, it's obvious why they should vote yes, but people without kids should vote yes because it maintains their property values."
> —Al Weverstad

"Once the people realize where Clarkston stands in relation to the rest of the county, . . . they'll realize we need them both just to keep the quality of education where we have it today," said Jerry.

"Our school board has done one hell of a job," he added. "They've given us more for our money than any other school district."

Reeves and the Weverstads have divided their duties as millage co-coordinators, but all three will be on the video presentation.

They were filmed asking questions, all of which were raised at the mid-April meeting. Answers to the questions, filmed separately, will come from school district officials.

Al called the video taping "a long experience."

Jerry said, "It was different."

And Michele said, "There was one person who couldn't remember (the) lines—me."

The video is to debut May 20 and then be used at every coffee and on the Independence-Clarkston cable-TV public access channel.

School officials recommended making the video and "everyone agreed it was the best way to go," said Jerry.

The video will ensure that the same information is presented at each coffee, Michele said.

She, Al or Jerry plan to attend each coffee, along with a school district administration member, to answer questions after the video presentation.

Jerry has been in only one previous video, filmed last year during the Andersonville PTO's cleanup day at the school playground and aired on cable-TV.

"I never did see that one, and I'm glad," he joked.

Al's reaction to participating in the millage video was similar. He expects the film to resurface, he said. "As we did this, I thought, on our 25th wedding anniversary, one of our children will bring this up and say, 'See what fools our parents are!' "

The video experience aside, they're serious about the importance of the millage, and they have concrete reasons why.

"People with kids, it's obvious why they should vote yes, but people without kids should vote yes because it maintains their property values," said Al. "Clarkston is a good place to live, and part of the reason it's a good place to live is because we have good schools."

"Once the school system starts going downhill, people start looking for another place to live," added Jerry.

An additional fact illustrates their commitment to the community. Al and Jerry, both engineers, commute to their jobs.

For Al, it's 33 miles one way to Warren where he works in the Chevrolet-Pontiac-Canada group for General Motors Corp.

"This is home," he said. "There's very few places in metropolitan Detroit that you can say that about."

For Jerry, it's a 42-mile drive one way to Highland Park and his job with Chrysler Motors.

"We could live closer, but I don't want to leave Clarkston. I love Clarkston," he said.

When there's a job to do, ask a busy person

Far more than observers, Jerry Reeves and Al and Michele Weverstad have experience in school volunteer work that lends credence to their support for the school tax proposals.

Jerry, of Big Lake Road, Springfield Township, has been a resident of the district five years. His son is in the fourth grade and his youngest child will begin kindergarten in 1988.

He wrote the bylaws for the PTO at Andersonville Elementary and served as its president for two years. He's also cub master for the Webelos and cub master for the Cub Scout group.

He ran the cheese and sausage sale fundraiser at Andersonville last fall, which netted $10,000 and resulted in a $5,000 sound system for the multipurpose room, $4,000 in playground equipment and some money for field trips.

The Weverstads, of Valley Park Drive in Independence Township, have lived in the Clarkston area 11 years.

Before moving to their current address, they lived in a portion of the Thendara Park subdivision that was, at first, in the Lake Orion school district. Six years ago, they successfully lobbied to have the area changed to Clarkston schools.

"We fought to be part of Clarkston," said Al, explaining that their confidence in the district is not new.

They have a senior at Clarkston High School, a third-grader and a preschooler.

Michele has been a homeroom mother every year and the Weverstads have supported their oldest daughter's cheerleading efforts since she joined the squad in ninth grade.

They accompanied the cheerleaders to a competition in Nashville, Tenn., this school year, and "I think we're at every sporting event," said Al.

"We know all the kids and, basically, they're good kids," said Michele.

They also worked as volunteers at the Clarkston Elementary School Fair and are active in planning the senior graduation party for CHS students this year.

Parade to start at 10 a.m.

The Clarkston Memorial Day parade is Monday, May 25, at 10 a.m.

The parade will start from the corner of Church and Buffalo, to Main Street, to Washington, west to Holcomb, then to Lakeview Cemetery where a memorial service will be conducted.

The American Legion Campbell Richmond Post No. 63 of Clarkston sponsors the parade and leads the memorial service. Post members will also place flags on veterans' graves at Lakeview Cemetery on Sunday morning, May 24.

Post Commander Melvin Mercier requests that no horses, autos, bikes or pets enter the parade because of the solemn purpose of the day.

Call the post at 625-9912 or John Lynch at 625-3994 for more information.

The program at Lakeview is comprised of the following: National Anthem by the Clarkston High School Band; invocation by Paul Petty, post chaplain; "America the Beautiful" by a vocal group, roll call of deceased veterans; "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by the CHS band; "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" by a vocal group; the "Gettysburg Address" by the Rev. Philip Somers Sr.; a salute to departed comrades with a wreath, rifle volley and taps; and the benediction by the post chaplain.

Mt. Zion gets OK on Maybee Road church

BY JULIE CAMPE
The Clarkston News

After over an hour of discussion, Mt. Zion Temple received conditional approval for a special land use and conceptual site plan from the Independence Township Planning Commission.

The more than 20 acres on Maybee Road, near Clintonville Road and the I-75 overpass, may be used for church-related activities only—no school, counseling center or public entertainment.

With a 2,000-seat capacity, the 26,000-square-foot barn-like structure is to be used for various purposes—a gymnasium, multipurpose room and auditorium, said the Rev. Loren Covarrubias, pastor of the church.

The church's first request for the special use and site plan was denied by the planning commission in May 1986. The first plan called for 1,200 parking spaces and a 40,000 square foot building—an erosion to the tax base and too intensive a use for the surrounding rural residential zoning, said commission members last year.

At present, the church is buying an adjacent 32 acres under land contract, said Covarrubias, but not for a specific purpose.

"We're thinking in long-range plans," said Covarrubias. "There's no sense in us being pinned in, especially with them thinking of putting an interchange there."

Some commission members expressed concern over the church's plans for expansion.

"You've scaled it down, and yet, . . . you've still hinted at, 'Yes, we'd like more,' " said Chairperson Joseph Figa. "I'm still concerned about you coming back and wanting to add and add and add. . . . I have no problems with a church there. . . . I get the feeling that you want to start with the church, but that you want to end up with the big plan."

Covarrubias said they would abide by the planning commission's guidelines.

"We assumed that was the will of God for us when you asked us to change our plans," he said. "We know that whatever changes we make would have to come back to the planning commission."

Two members of the audience also addressed the issue.

Neil Wallace, former planning commission chairperson, suggested that the commission consider everything when granting the special land use permit.

"I urge you to do so with a great deal of caution because it seems to me it can be expanded fairly easily," he said, adding a planned unit development would offer the commission more control.

Jeanne Hamilton, a Cecelia Ann resident and Mt. Zion member, said the church membership may expand.

"If that happens, it means we're well received in the community and the people want us," she said.

Commission members commented before they approved the land use and site plan.

"The concern we have is not the expansion of the ministry but the intensity of the use on this land," said Richard Oppmann.

Carol Balzarini said, "It's a very ambitious project, and what you're looking for tonight could be just a beginning. . . . I don't think any of us want to mislead you. Tonight, we wouldn't be approving anything more than a church."

The commission unanimously approved the special land use.

With changes to the landscaping, porch lighting, building materials and slight architecture alterations, the commission unanimously approved the conceptual site plan.

Only property used for church purposes is tax-free, and two more site plan approvals are necessary before construction can begin.

The church is ready to begin upon receiving full approval, said Corravubias.

Village rejects road proposal

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Village Council decided May 11 not to support a road funding proposal from the Oakland County Road Commission that is designed to generate funds for road repair and maintenance.

The village council said existing funds from county, state and federal levels are enough to handle needed work in Oakland County.

"We think that there are a lot better things that they could be doing with the money (the state currently has)," said President Sharron Catallo.

Trustee William Basinger, who made the revisions to the proposal, said the ambiguity of the proposal was its downfall.

"There are many options out there for them to use," said Basinger of the council's decision to ask the state to use existing funds for road repair and maintenance.

Brent Bair, of the Oakland County Road Commission, presented the funding proposal at the April 27 village council meeting. Road repair costs in Oakland County will exceed available revenues by more than $700 million over the next decade, he said.

Bair said the road commission's goal is to have municipalities pass resolutions asking state legislators to support the commission's funding proposal.

"A lot of the things the proposal is asking for are already being introduced (to state legislators) in one form or another," said Bair. The proposal, which was developed by the Urban Association of County Road Commissions, included the following:

Permanent removal of the gasoline sales tax cap and adjusting the base to generate 2 additional cents each year for the next three years.

Increasing the Michigan Transportation Fund by 15 percent through the additional sales tax and the reduction of discounts and administrative fees.

Increasing the urban percentage of the road commission internal formula from 10 to 15 percent.

The county road commissions from Oakland, Macomb, Wayne and Genesee were the groups responsible for developing the road funding package.

"This (funding proposal) is something that has been worked on for a long time," said Bair.

So far 18 communities, including Independence and Springfield townships, have endorsed this proposal while only four or five decided they wouldn't, said Bair.

"We are asking that (municipalities) recognize that there is a problem (with lack of funds for road repair) and ask that they support this program," he said, adding that the majority of the communities he has been in touch with have shown support for the proposal.

Lightning causes $60,000 damage

During a thunderstorm last Thursday, a house on Perry Lake Road, Independence Township, was struck by lightning, causing a fire.

The lightning apparently struck the TV antenna and the full length of the roof burned, including the attic and two bedrooms, causing about $40,000 in structural damage, said Gar Wilson, acting fire chief.

About $20,000 in contents were damaged in the house near Cranberry Lake Road, Wilson said.

No one was home at the time, except a dog, which firefighters rescued, he said.

"I thought the guys did a super job," said Wilson. "We had the storm to deal with, too. The guys were on the roof, and it was lightning and raining."

They had the fire under control in 30 to 45 minutes, he said.

Lightning prevention is difficult, Wilson said, adding people should ground electrical wires when possible.

"It's an act of nature. . . . It's kind of an unpredictable source of power," he said.

Gas line ruptures

About the same time lightning struck a house on Perry Lake Road, causing a fire last Thursday, lightning struck a tree on Waldon Road, rupturing a gas line and causing a fire.

Independence Township firefighters extinguished the blaze, which caused minimal damage, east of Sashabaw Road, said Gar Wilson, acting fire chief.

Also, electrical wires in two township locations fell about the same time in the heavy rainstorm, said Wilson.

LINE DOWN: When a main electrical line fell on Washington Street, Clarkston, Monday, 2,000 addresses were left without power for 4 hours, 15 minutes, in Independence, Springfield and Brandon townships. Here, Gar Wilson, acting Independence Township fire chief, supervises the area until Detroit Edison employees arrive. Apparently, a tree that hadn't been trimmed recently grew heavy with rain and caused the line to break, resulting in a small fire, said Kevin Shaffer, a lineman for Detroit Edison.

Clothing care shop approved in concept

A laundromat and dry cleaners are in the works for 18,300 square feet on Sashabaw Road, near Maybee Road, in Independence Township.

At the May 14 meeting, the township planning commission unanimously approved the conceptual site plan.

Variances from the zoning board of appeals for lot width and size are necessary before final site plan approval can be given, said planning commission Chairperson Joseph Figa.

With minor landscaping changes, the commission gave its OK for the concept.

Owner Sang Jin Lee said he plans to start construction as soon as he receives final approval.

Opinions

Some static

Kathy Greenfield

The lights went out. The computer flickered. Panic reigned.

Electricity is one of those things we rely on out of necessity. We know how important it is, but we don't think about it until disaster strikes.

But who would have thought a primary line would break after a little bit of rain on Monday?

And who would have thought that four hours later the power would still be off?

By the time the lights burned brightly again—roughly four hours and 15 minutes later—and the word processors we rely on totally for writing, editing and setting news releases regained their dependability, I knew I was in deep trouble.

The afternoon was very strange.

At first, I moved to areas with available light from the large windows at the front of our office.

Later, I realized that I needed to be in my office to organize material and use the telephone. I ran across the street to buy candles, and the kind people at Hallman's gave me two.

I lit them, put them on my desk in my office, which has no windows and sits at the back of the room.

I had this instant understanding of why electricity swept the nation after its discovery. Candle power just doesn't make it.

We did laugh. My office looked so eerie with candles glowing that I figured it would make a perfect complaint department. The shadows were intimidating and no one would dare say anything bad under such conditions.

The result of the power outage is that some stories did not get written. We'll catch up next week, barring any unforeseen problems.

'Come live here' program great

The "Chamber of Commerce" effort of Clarkston schools in entertaining and enlightening area Realtors is to be lauded.

Earlier this month the district put on a Realtors' orientation program at the Voc Center. About 50 real estate people attended the breakfast meeting.

It was the intent of the School Board-Administration sponsored event to help Realtors show their clients that Clarkston is a good place to raise families.

Schools, obviously, play a big part in creating that atmosphere. In this case, Clarkston Schools became the Chamber of Commerce, the community booster, the cheerleaders for the entire district.

What a great idea. Two major purposes were served by this approach. First, especially in the minds of school people, is more families can combat declining enrollment and help pay for making a great school district even better.

Second is getting the right word to the first people interested home owners will see. The brochures prepared by the district promote the area. Potential buyers can be made aware of the type of community this is; its make-up, its history.

As Supt Milford Mason said at the meeting, "We have a lot of pride." Indeed, 'we' can have a lot of pride in both the schools and the district the schools serve.

And, what better source for collecting the necessary information and getting it to the public than the schools? The schools-realtors get-together is, we repeat, a great idea, one that we would encourage at least on an annual basis. JAS

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Jesus' name keeps coming up in songs (not necessarily hymns), bumper stickers, and posters displayed by sports fans.

Someone held the familiar "John 3:16" in front of the tv camera as it panned the hockey audience last week at Joe Louis Arena, forheavensake.

Everyone knows Jesus stays away from hockey games.

When Jim and Tammy Bakker had the nation's attention, before Gary Hart captured the limelight, an oft-played song was, "Would Jesus wear a Rolex on his television show?"

Going back a few years the country western stations were playing "Drop kick me Jesus through the goalposts of life." Which, once again put Jesus into the sports scene.

And, there's a biggy for those who like less visibility in their cars, "I don't care if it rains or freezes as long as I have my plastic Jesus Scotch taped on the dashboard of my car."

These songs have all the universal appeal of the one titled, "I'm gonna hire a wino to decorate my home."

For all you who haven't heard these musical endeavors, believe me, they are all legitimate songs ... or at least not illegitimate.

James Brady did a piece on Steve Allen in the May 10 Parade magazine. I've been a Steve Allen fan for many years, since before he headed the Tonight Show that now stars Johnny Carson. Allen was before Jack Parr.

Remember the stars on his Steve Allen Show, 1956-60? Tom Poston, now the handyman with Bob Newhart. Pat Paulsen, now wine and Traverse City promoter, and perennial presidential candidate. And, Louie Nye, character actor on various shows. It was Nye who responded "Hi Ho, Stevereeno".

Allen has written over 4,000 songs, plays lots of piano, including on a current breakfast cereal commercial, played the lead in "The Benny Goodman Story" movie, played Broadway, and just published his 28th book.

When I come back I want to be Steve Allen. Even to the point of being shy, as Brady says Allen is.

I see where the United States Supreme Court ruled Rotary Clubs must accept women members. At an international convention, who would they sit with?

Since none of the Middle East countries, and probably all other Rotary Clubs in the world, have a males only rule, the atmosphere would be cool and silent.

Why would our highest court involve itself with service club membership? They can't agree on what is pornography to help clear the way to cleaner minds, they split and change their vote on the Miranda rule, and render 6-5 decisions frequently.

Under my government all non-unanimous Court decisions would void the law and require it being rewritten for clarity.

Also under my rule the Court would not have time to worry about service club memberships.

A new post office for Davisburg?

It's true that the Postal Service is working on a new building to house the post office, but as one looks down Broadway, you may ask, "Why does Davisburg need a new post office?"

The town doesn't look any larger than it did 25 or 50 years ago. In fact, some long-time Davisburg residents may say that the town is smaller today than it used to be.

While this may be true, the surrounding area has grown by leaps and bounds.

When the current post office was built back in 1962, it was designed and built to accomodate equipment for two rural routes and 150 post office boxes.

The population served in 1962 was a little under 3,000. Today we have an operation that has four rural routes and 212 post office boxes. We now serve a population of more than 8,200.

If you haven't been around the area surrounding Davisburg lately, you would find that only a short drive would be necessary to witness the tremendous growth that has taken place and is continuing to take place.

We are projecting that within two years, we will probably be adding another rural route and we already maintain a waiting list for post office boxes.

Although the Postal Service would like to remain in downtown Davisburg, there just isn't a large enough piece of property to accomodate the size of the building we need as well as necessary parking and maneuvering room.

Because of this fact, we are looking at properties away from the downtown area but within a half mile of the existing post office.

Even though we need more room today, it will probably be at least two years before we actually move into a new post office.

Bruce Bergum
Postmaster
Davisburg

Will it work?

The State of Michigan is back to its benevolent ways of thinking it knows what's in the best interest of our local communities.

The state Department of Social Services has announced that it wants to establish a Work and Learn Camp for juvenile criminals at the Girl Scout's Camp Holly in Rose Township.

The work and learn camps are a plan initiated by Mayor Young, written by the department of social services and endorsed by Gov. Blanchard.

The plan involves sending 13- to 16-year-olds, from a four-county area, who have committed crimes against property to a camp for rehabilitation. They would be paid minimum wage for the work they perform and taught how to live in society.

The plan calls for an 80-bed facility to house juveniles for 26 weeks under the supervision of counselors. The long-range plan calls for three camps to house approximately 300 youths at a cost of $13 million annually.

The Rose Township camp would cost the state $3.7 million, or given the camp's capacity, approximately $23,120 per youth per six-month visit.

It seems to me that a plan giving a paying job and six months at camp for committing a crime is fundamentally flawed.

Besides, aren't we simply moving a juvenile detention center to a rural setting and paying these young people to do "make-work" jobs? Is this truly teaching them to live in society?

The department of social services has not received legislative approval for the work and learn program. Appropriations from the state have not yet been requested. It is evident to me that the program was put together in a hurry and without thorough planning.

Before we make a major allocation to this program, we should find out if it's really going to work.

I would hope a much smaller pilot program would be used to study the success ratio of the program before we invest our tax dollars.

In the meantime, I will oppose any budget requests for this program in the Legislature.

Poppy thank yous

Our gratitude is extended to The Clarkston News, the merchants of the area who allowed us to display our posters and to the many volunteers who braved the monsoons to sell poppies during "Poppy Days" on May 14, 15 and 16.

The biggest bouquet goes to the wonderful people of our community, without whose generous support "Poppy Days '87" would not have been such a great success.

Deer hunters see white

Jim Fitzgerald

Because I haven't been paying enough attention to Michigan's annual deer harvest, I was confused to read a recent Associated Press report saying: "The state will reprint one million hunting licenses and tags after the state Department of Natural Resources decided that the tags that hunters wear on their backs might be mistaken for a deer's white tail."

"We obviously don't want any of our hunters mistaken for game," said Bruce Gustafson, supervisor of special investigations for the DNR's Law Enforcement Division. He didn't explain why it's cowardly to shoot a man in the back but OK to shoot a deer in the tail.

THE LAST I KNEW, the DNR was awarding four-color shoulder patches to hunters who harvest deer and bring their crop to DNR counting stations. Besides honoring successful harvesters, the patches enable the DNR to measure the size of the deer harvest with maximum accuracy. No counter, no patches.

Before patches, a lot of harvested deer weren't counted and the DNR was forced to record the annual fall harvest in approximate figures that were sometimes questioned. After all, how reliable is it to count harvested deer as they are guzzled by on the fenders of Chevrolets? Some of those triumphant harvesters drive around the block 25 times.

At first, I thought the tags that looked like a deer's tail had replaced the shoulder patches as something successful deer harvesters can wear with pride. But a cursory investigation indicated the Associated Press could have been more precise in its harvesting nomenclature. The tag comes attached to the hunting license worn on the hunter's back. When a deer is harvested, the tag is ripped off the license and attached to the deer, usually to its mouth.

Therefore, a tag on a hunter's back indicates just the opposite of a badge on the shoulder - a deer has not yet been harvested. And a white tag on a deer would indicate not just as well the deer has already been harvested because it might now be shot in the mouth as well as the tail. Also, a hunter can still earn a shoulder patch by harvesting a deer - mouth-wise or tail-wise.

In the case of the million reprints, the problem was that the licenses, with or without tags, still attached, looked like a deer's tail because they were printed on white paper. When hunters complained about the danger of shooting each other in the back, the DNR dumped the risky licenses and ordered reprints on different colored paper. The reprint cost $104,000 but Lord only knows how many hunters lived it will save.

YOU MAY HAVE NOTICED that, throughout this education report, I've referred to deer being harvested, not killed. "Harvest" is my favorite euphemism. It upsets my stomach to write that Farmer Brown was awarded a shoulder patch for killing his wheat, which he tied to his Chevrolet and drove around the block 25 times.

My second favorite euphemism is "Deer Feed" as advertised on signs in front of hundreds of stores and gas stations up north during deer season. That sounds like an invitation to be kind to hungry animals. If the signs said "Deer Bait," passing pacifists might be sickened by the though of deer being lured to their harvest by carrots and sugar beets piled in front of a tree that has a hunter behind it.

Incidentally, I didn't ask my favorite outdoors writer for information concerning this column because, according to my favorite newspaper, he is in South Africa riding in a truck equipped with a winch for hauling heavy dead meat and shooting animals the size of barn doors. He probably would have stayed home and shot barn doors except they don't bleed and would look funny on his den wall.

Onward and upward, and don't harvest until you see the whites of their tails.

Millage series answers questions

On June 8, Clarkston school district voters face two local questions—the renewal of a 3.79 property tax and a request for 4.25 new mills.

This is the first of a three-part series of most frequently asked questions of the Citizens for Millage Committee coordinated by Jerry Reves, Alan Weverstad, Michele Weverstad, William Neff and William Potvin.

Next week's topics: Proposed reductions, what the millage will provide and facilities update.

Q. What is the reason for the millage proposal?

A. To renew an existing 3.79 mills, which was approved in 1977 and expires this year. The request for an additional 4.25 mills is due to insufficient operating funds needed to run the district. Both are for a period of four years.

Q. Why has this problem arisen?

A. Three factors have come into play to create an operating budget deficit of over $1.2 million.

First, long-term enrollment projections received in December predict a loss of 46 (K-12) students next year.

Second, the district's millage rate will be reduced due to the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment.

Third, the Legislature has cut the increase in state aid funding for the 1987-88 school year.

Q. What is the projected loss of millage due to the Headlee Amendment?

A. The latest figures from the township and county indicate a rollback of 1.2 mills for 1987-88. The final figure will not be known until the fourth Monday in May when the state confirms all SEV figures. Another rollback of approximately .8 mill is expected in 1988-89.

Q. How do the recent increases in property assessments affect the school district finances?

A. Increased assessments do not mean more money for the school district. When the Headlee Amendment rolls back millage rates and the state contribution to the district is decreased, it actually means LESS money for Clarkston than more. The local taxpayer ends up paying more and the state pays less.

Q. How can a prediction be made of declining enrollment with so many residents moving to Clarkston?

A. Clarkston school enrollment has been studied by a team from Michigan State University over the last six years.

One large factor in the determination of declining enrollment is the declining Oakland County birthrate and the percent that Clarkston draws of that.

Each year, the incoming kindergarten class is considerably smaller than the graduating class.

Q. Didn't the district receive additional revenue for all the new students that enrolled last fall?

A. Clarkston received additional money for only those 65 new students enrolled by Oct. 1. The school district did not receive any revenue from the state for the additional 127 students enrolled since Oct. 1.

Q. Last year, Clarkston got a 7 percent state aid increase. Won't the district get the same this year?

A. No. The proposed state aid increase has dropped from 7 percent in 1986 to 3.4 percent next year. This represents a considerable decrease in state dollars to the district.

Suspects still on the loose after murder

Authorities are still searching for two Springfield Township residents in connection with the kidnapping, murder and robbery of a Waterford Township man last week.

The FBI, Michigan State Police and Waterford Township Police are trying to find Jerry Strickland, 25, a West Virginia prison parolee of Hagerstown, Maryland, and Melissa Munday, 16, a Maryland runaway who apparently lived with Strickland in Springfield Township, and their 3-month-old infant, said Lt. Richard Finkbeiner of the Waterford police.

The couple have been charged with kidnapping, killing and robbing Elmer DeBoer, 38, a courier for Union 76, he said.

DeBoer was reported missing Monday, May 11, when a Union 76 station on Dixie Highway near Andersonville Road, was reported robbed.

Munday was a cashier at the station; Strickland was a former employee of a different Union 76 station; and DeBoer collected money from the Union 76 stations in the Oakland County area, said Finkbeiner.

Apparently, DeBoer was carrying about $8,000 to $10,000 when he was abducted.

DeBoer's body was found Tuesday, May 12, in a clearing in Rose Township near a heavily wooded area. He died of gunshot wounds to the head, said Finkbeiner.

Police believe the couple headed toward the east coast and may be driving a 1976 two-tone blue Ford pickup truck with a camper on top or a 1986 blue Chevrolet Camaro.

"We're still looking for them," Finkebeiner said.

SMOLDERING STUMPS: Larry Wormnest, engineer for the Independence Township fire department, soaks a burning stump in a field off Oakhill Road. The stumps caught fire for the second time in a week on Monday, said Capt. Mike Fahrner, adding they don't know the cause of the first fire. The second was probably from the smoldering interior of the stumps, he said. [Photo by Julie Campe]

Code targets ORV

Off-road vehicle riders could soon risk impoundment of their vehicles if caught in violation of a proposed Springfield Township ordinance.

On May 13, board members approved the first reading of the ordinance, which would allow the township to locally enforce the impoundment of the vehicle and hold the parents of minors responsible for violation of the Michigan Vehicle Code under off-road recreational vehicles (ORV).

"I have been hearing concern on the quads, minibikes and motorcycles for several years," said Supervisor Collin Walls. "Over the the last year or two, it's been getting increasingly worse and riders of (these) vehicles increasingly younger."

Persons between the ages of 12 and 16 may operate an ORV if they are under the direct supervision of a person at least 18, or are on land owned by or under the control of a parent or legal guardian, according to the Michigan Vehicle Code.

The code also states that registration is not required if the ORV is operated exclusively on land owned by or under the control of the vehicle owner.

When the 14-member Clarkston High School Mime Troupe does "popcorn," their whole bodies are involved. First, they're rolled up, tight as corn kernels waiting to let off steam.

Then, they start to hop as the grease sizzles. When the grease becomes really hot, kernels start to pop wildly until they finally explode into full, fluffy popcorn. The ensemble's eighth annual Mime Night was 7:30 Tuesday, marking the last performance for eight seniors, said student directors Danielle White and Michelle Pettit. All skits were original, written this year, said White. [Photos by Julie Campe]

Celebration time

A banquet on Wednesday, May 27, will honor 10 Clarkston school district employees who are retiring.

The party is to begin with a social hour at 6 p.m. at the Deer Lake Racquet Club on White Lake Road. The banquet is to begin at 7 p.m.

Tickets are $13 and they may be purchased at any school in the district.

The following people are the honored guests:

•Lela Funk, cafeteria manager at Clarkston High School, 23 years, 8 months.

•Louise Mauti, secretary at the Clarkston Learning Center, 22 years.

Path connection

A safety path, gravel for county roads and the paving of two approaches to M-15 are planned for Clarkston and Independence Township this summer through the 1987 Tri-Party program.

In Clarkston, a connection of the village sidewalk to the township safety paths on Clarkston Road is scheduled for this summer, including changing the steps at Robertson Court to ramps, said Dennis Pajot, Oakland County Road Commission (OCRC).

To cover the $3,524 cost, the village, Oakland County and OCRC are to pay a third each, or about $1,175.

The village council approved the projects and the expenditure on April 13.

In the township, the west approach of Oak Hill Road at M-15 is to be paved, as is the approach of Hadley Road at M-15. Also, about 3.6 miles of county gravel roads are to receive new gravel.

The township projects are to cost $96,626. The township, Oakland County and the OCRC are each to pay one-third, or about $32,200 each, said Pajot.

The township board approved the projects and the expenditure on May 5.

ANTI-HUNGER CRUSADE: About 200 walked 10 kilometers Sunday to fight world hunger. Last year's CROP Walk brought in $10,000; 25 percent was used in the community. Sponsored by the Independence Township Ministerial Association, the walk started at St. Daniel Catholic Church on Holcomb Road, Clarkston. Organizers won't know how much money was raised for two weeks, when all the pledges have been collected.

Cougars win 'meet of the year'

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For Chris Krueger, this was THE track meet of the season.

Krueger, coach of Sashabaw Junior High School's track team, wondered how well his charges would match up against the Wolverines.

"This was the most difficult meet of the year because it was Clarkston," said Krueger. "I was worried because Clarkston has done so well this season."

As it turned out, Krueger worried for nothing. Sashabaw's boys team downed Clarkston, 90-47.

Two Cougars paced the victors by winning a couple of events apiece.

Kevin James won the long jump with a mark of 17 feet and the 440-yard dash with a time of 58.73.

Sean Cervantez handled the hurdle events with ease, taking firsts in the 110 high hurdles (17.77) and the 330 low hurdles (46.17).

Another Sashabaw athlete with an outstanding performance was Ron Gibson in the pole vault. He cleared the bar at 10 feet, easily outdistancing second-place finisher Jeff Locher of Clarkston by 1½ feet.

Bill Kilgore won the discus with a throw of 76 feet, 4 inches; Nolan Golub ended up first in the mile run (5:09.6); Dan Schell won the 880 run (2:17.5); Dan Davis took first in the 220 dash (24.58); and Ryan Forbes completed the two-mile run in 11:44.74 to finish first.

"We have had an excellent season and now only have two more meets to go," said Krueger.

Two Clarkston athletes earned first-place honors for the Wolverines.

Tom Holliday won the high jump by clearing the bar at 5 feet, 4 inches.

Locher finished first the in the 100-yard dash with a time of 11.93.

Besides those outstanding individual efforts, the 440 and 880 relay teams won for Clarkston. The members of those winning teams are John King, Fritz Lamm, Eric Becker and Locher in the 440 and King, Lowe, Locher and Becker in the 880.

"We were down for some reason," said Clarkston's Coach Mike Taylor of his team's flat performance.

"I'm disappointed in the way that we lost and not the fact that we lost," said Taylor.

While the loss may have been a little hard to swallow, Taylor is proud of how much the Wolverines have accomplished this season.

"Our track program has been on the rise," said Taylor. "We are starting to get some stability here and it is helping to build a good program."

Scharl wins at regionals

Boys Coach Walt Wyniemko thought the high school track Class A regional hosted by Rochester would be tough, and he was right.

Only one competitor from the Clarkston team—Matt Scharl—qualified for the state championships at Alma College May 30.

"With a couple of teams from Flint, plus Rochester, we knew that it was going to be tough," said Wyniemko.

The top two finishers in each event at the regional plus athletes who met qualifying standards advance to the state meet.

Scharl cleared the bar at 13 feet, 6 inches to win the pole vault for the Wolves. He won the event easily. Scharl outdistanced his nearest competition, John Huggard of Rochester Adams, by almost 3 feet.

"We have one going to the states and I wish that it were more," said Wyniemko, adding that he is proud of what his charges accomplished at the regional.

Clarkston finished eighth overall in the 16-team regional with 24 points. Flint Powers won the event with 70 points. Troy, Flint Northern, Troy Athens and Rochester rounded out the top five schools in the meet.

Pontiac Northern was sixth. Lake Orion took seventh place in the team standings, just four points ahead of the Wolves. Wyniemko said a bad handoff in the mile relay race cost Clarkston a chance to win and gain a few extra valuable points.

Despite the miscue, Wyniemko had no complaints about his team's performance.

"We did extremely well," he said.

While Scharl was the only state qualifier, several other members of the team had respectible showings against the stiff competition.

The 400-yard relay team of Scharl, Steve Lamborn, Norman Carmichael and Jeff Shoupe took sixth place. The 2-mile relay team of Brian Baret, Jim Hall, Chris Locher and Chris Blimka ended up in fifth place.

In the 800 relay, Shoupe, Carmichael, Hall and Gunnar Karlstrom also finished in fifth place.

Besides being part of the 800 relay team, Karlstrom had an outstanding day individually.

He took third place in the long jump and fifth in the 200 dash.

Sweet revenge for Wolves

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Hitting makes all the difference in the world.

Just ask Clarkston's varsity baseball team. They lost a heartbreaker to Waterford Kettering on the road May 4 when Kettering scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to win 4-3.

The Wolves gained a measure of revenge Friday afternoon at home when they whipped Kettering in both ends of a double-header.

"When we lost that game, we hit the ball but everything went right to them," said Coach Roy Warner.

Clarkston batters had better luck at home as they pounded out a 12-2 victory in the opener and an 8-0 whitewash in the non-league nightcap.

"We hit real well today," said Warner. "It was a nice ballgame for us to have."

In the opener, the teams traded two-run homers in the first two innings before the Wolves exploded offensively and buried Kettering.

Josh Newblatt knocked in the game-winning run during a three-run uprising in the third inning by hitting into a force-out with the bases loaded.

Mike Peel gave Clarkston a comfortable 10-2 lead with a grand slam home run in the fourth inning.

Zach Brown started the game and pitched five and one-third innings giving up just six hits. He struck out nine batters and walked two.

Jeff Tungate, however, was the winning pitcher.

Pitching helps JV Wolves win

Strong pitching helped Clarkston's junior varsity softball team finish second in a tournament hosted by Anchor Bay on May 16.

The Wolves lost, 6-3, to the host team in the finals despite a fine pitching performance by Dana Austin.

"We just couldn't get the hits to fall," said Coach Rich Erhardt adding that the game was really close all the way.

Austin fanned 10 batters, but it wasn't enough for the Wolves. The team's record now stands at 10-7 in Erhardt's first season at the helm.

Erhardt said that the final game was a defensive struggle as both teams turned in outstanding plays in the field to prevent runs from scoring.

Clarkston also avoided making errors.

"I'm happy with the way we played in the tournament," said Erhardt.

Earlier in the day, the Wolves advanced past Marine City in the opening round.

Clarkston then slugged it out with Romeo in its next game and came out a 16-14 victor.

Jodi Lawrence was the winning pitcher for Clarkston. Lawrence tired in the sixth inning and Austin was brought in to save the game. She struck out the side to preserve the win.

"Dana's pitching was really good," said Erhardt.

The top hitters for Clarkston in the tourney were Tisha Sherman and Kari Abbott.

The Wolves had a lot of baserunners in the two games but failed to push many of them across the plate.

While the loss to Anchor Bay in the final was disappointing, Erhardt said it was a good learning experience for his young squad.

"We haven't played a lot of close games this season," he said. "It's been up and down. We have either won big or been mercied."

Dana Austin's pitching was one of the reasons Clarkston's junior varsity softball team took second place in a tournament hosted by Anchor Bay over the weekend. [Photo by Peter Auchter]

Family fishing tourney coming

Fishing is a favorite summer activity for many. So is going on picnics.

The activities are combined June 6 in the "Family Fishing Tournament and Picnic," sponsored by the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission, from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. at Independence Oaks County Park.

Proceeds from the will be donated to the March of Dimes.

The tournament is planned in conjunction with the Department of Natural Resources "Free Fishing Weekend."

The event will include family and individual fishing tournaments along with prizes, contests and a picnic lunch.

Participants are asked to bring along a bobber, some bait and a boat (boat rental is available).

For more information on the tournament, call 858-4942 or 432-3232.

League forming

Independence Parks and Recreation is sponsoring a men's morning softball league.

Games will be played Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 10 and 11:15 in Clintonwood Park.

Team fee is $125 for 20 games and participants must be at least 18 years old.

If it's a major fire or a minor oddity, we want a call at the News. 625-3370

National honors for club wrestlers

Jeff DeRoseau and Brett Walter won national titles May 17 for the Clarkston Wrestling Club in the Federation Wrestling National Championships.

DeRoseau earned the top spot in the 70-pound weight class of the 11- to 12-year-old division. Walter won his in the 60-pound class.

Corey Grant finished in second place at the national meet in the 70-pound class for 9- and 10-year-olds.

Damon Michelson took fourth in the 126-pound class in the 13- to 14-year-old age group. His brother Armin also competed in the competition held in Bloomsburg, Penn.

At the federation state meet in Grand Rapids on April 25, Aaron Grant won a state title in the 40-pound class and Jason Tiefenback finished second in the 45-pound group in the 8-and-under division.

DeRoseau and Walter earned state titles at this meet and Grant won a silver medal for second place. Eric Endreszl took home a bronze medal for his fourth-place finish in the 9- to 10-year-old age group.

The club now will take part in the AAU Regionals at Eastern Michigan University and then participate in the AAU National Championships in Indianapolis, Ind., on July 4.

Time out

Lights out

Peter Auchter

It's amazing how much attention a little thing like a lamp in my living room can draw from first-time visitors.

Now before anybody gets a crazy idea, the lamp isn't one of those hoola-girl figurines with a light bulb sticking out of her head. It's a Detroit Lions football helmet with a light sticking out of its head.

Just because I happen to like the Lions and display their helmet in my apartment, people think they have the right to insult it.

Enough is enough. I'm giving all these people fair warning—stop it now.

Those who can't wait to boo the Lions once again in the fall had just better keep their mouths shut. I like my lamp.

Maybe the reasoning behind insulting my lamp is that it's cheaper than buying a ticket for a game this fall.

Training camp hasn't even started, so before anybody gives up on the Lions this season (I know it's easy to do, but please fight the urge), let's take a look at their chances.

I think the Lions will finally do some things this year, such as win more games than they lose. In the NFC Central Division, that may be enough to win it all.

Wouldn't that be special?

But then that is just my point.

I don't even want to talk about it.

Now that I think about it, my football helmet lamp does look a little silly sitting in the living room all by itself. It needs some company.

I wonder where I could pick up a Tigers lamp cheap?

Wolves pound Captains twice

Jeff Newblatt is one of many Wolves who pounded Waterford Kettering's pitching in a double-header sweep at home Friday afternoon. Newblatt knocked in a run in the opener to give Clarkston a lead it never relinquished.

[WOLVES, continued from Page 21]

He was on the mound for two-thirds of an inning and fanned one batter.

Tungate, Turner and Peel all had two hits apiece for the victors.

Dave Larkin went one-for-two from the plate.

The Wolves scored five times in the opening inning and never looked back. Rob Ronk had an RBI double, Newblatt bunted home a run and Peel and Gary Ritch had an RBI hit apiece.

Stacy Turner then smacked a two-run homer in the second inning for the Wolves to hand them a comfortable 7-0 lead.

Jeff Billig got the rare opportunity to pitch and he made the most of the situation.

Billig went all the way and gave up only two hits and fanned six batters. He didn't allow any walks.

Billig isn't pitching more often because of his outstanding defensive capabilities in the outfield, said Warner.

Once again, the team spread the hitting around. The Wolves collected 14 hits in 30 at-bats against Kettering.

Tungate, Turner, Ronk, Peel, Ritch and Larkin all had two hits apiece for Clarkston. Ronk also had three runs batted in.

Four leagues are being formed for area volleyball enthusiasts to compete in this summer at Clintonwood Park.

Registration deadline is June 1 at the Independence Parks and Recreation office, 90 N. Main St.

Curt Catallo rounds a turn at the Waterford Hills Race Track. In his racing debut, the 19-year-old Clarkston resident took first in the feature race.

Catallo debuts as a winner

Catallo, a Clarkston resident, currently is majoring in literature at Bennington College in Bennington, Vt. He flew in for the weekend race on Friday and returned to college after the race.

Oakland County Sportsmen's Club sponsors one race a month at the Independence Township track. Curt, 19, won the Class 4 feature race.

His father, Clarence, also raced Sunday and ended up third in his class and fifth overall. Catallo recently started racing again after a 12-year absence from the sport.

While he was happy to get back behind the wheel of his formula Ford racer, Catallo enjoyed his son's debut performance a lot more.

"He did just super," said Catallo. "It was real exciting for him to beat cars with more horsepower than his."

Curt finished the day the fastest in his class, quite an accomplishment when some of the other cars entered were high-powered Corvettes, said Catallo.

Catallo added that his son plans to continue racing the Lola sports 2000 car they purchased last winter.

Girls meet

Track rivalry continues

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The rivalry between Clarkston and Sashabaw Junior High Schools continued May 13 with a track meet held at the high school.

The Cougars girls team raced past the Wolverines for an 83-45 victory. The win marked the second time in the week that Sashabaw has defeated Clarkston.

At the Pontiac Invitational hosted by Pontiac Northern High School, the Cougars came in first, one place ahead of the Wolverines.

Sashabaw won the 1600-meter and the 3200 relay races May 13.

The 1600 team comprised of Sue Cohoon, Lisa Palazzola, April Ferguson and Sonja Schaffer set a school record en route to winning the event.

"I'm really pleased," said Sashabaw Coach Chris Krueger. "They even had to come from behind."

Robyn Budday, Palazzola, Ferguson and Schaffer were the members of the winning 3200 relay team.

Nikole Westphal continued smashing school records this season as she won both the shot put and the discus events.

Westphal's 84-foot toss in the discus broke her old mark by 3 feet, her third school record this season.

Other double winners for the Cougars were Kortge, who won the 300 low hurdles and the 100 high hurdles, an event Sashabaw has been strong in this season.

Krueger also noted that April Ferguson, who won the 800 run, ran her best time of the season.

Jenny Mahler won the 3200 run and the 1600 run for Clarkston. Michelle Folwell took the top spots in the 100 and 200 dashes.

"I'm pretty happy. They are a hard-working group," said Wolverines coach Mike Taylor. But that didn't help ease the pain of Clarkston's first dual meet loss of the season.

Clarkston's dual meet record is now 3-1. The team's only two losses have come against Sashabaw. (The second loss came in the Pontiac Invitational last week.)

"We were flat and we didn't run our best," said Taylor.

Other winners for Clarkston were Missy Sloan in the long jump with a leap of 14 feet, 10 inches and Rhonda Jokisch in the high jump.

Fun Daze was fun for all ages

The first Clarkston USA Fun Daze on Saturday was a resounding success, said Dick Greenfield, Fun Daze chairman.

The weather cooperated and over 400 people participated in the 5-kilometer and 10-K runs from Depot Park in the Village of Clarkston.

Greenfield's favorite story involves a runner in the age 50-and-over category who telephoned him after the race.

The avid runner said he decided to try the Fun Daze race even though he knew it was a first-time event and expected some disorganization and a rather boring course.

The man said the race was the best of about 50 he's run across the state.

While there were a few rough edges, particularly an innocent wrong turn by about 20 runners in the 10-K course that shortened the race, Greenfield said he was pleased.

"It was wonderful," he said. "We look forward to doing it next year."

The run portion of Fun Daze was sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club, Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department and Runnin' Gear.

Also featured were a breakfast by the Independence Township firefighters, entertainment by Clarkston High School deejays and The Senior Strummers band from the township senior citizen group.

A magic show, moonwalk provided by the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department and free ice cream from E.F. Hutton, the Fun Daze corporate sponsor, rounded out the event.

"All in all, I think everyone enjoyed themselves. It was something for all ages," said Greenfield. "It was everything I dreamed it would be."

Accounting on proceeds from the races, T-shirt sales, button sales and raffle are not complete, he said, but he's certain there will be enough money to ensure a race next year the weekend before Memorial Day.

There should be some money for the Fun Daze committee to allocate for a community improvement project, he said, and to achieve its motto: "Striving for a Greater Independence."

ONE MILE FUN RUN

Male: Tie, Jamie Jones, 11 years old; Mike Cameron, 13.

Female: Joy Ling, 11 years old; Sarah Schultz, 16.

Female, 50 and over: Patricia Evans 53:59; Lucille Hall 1:01:31.

Male, 50 and over: Bob Price 43:01; Ed Sharon 46:21.

Total race results are posted in the parks and recreation department office at Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Runners can receive their time by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the parks and recreation department at the Township Hall address.

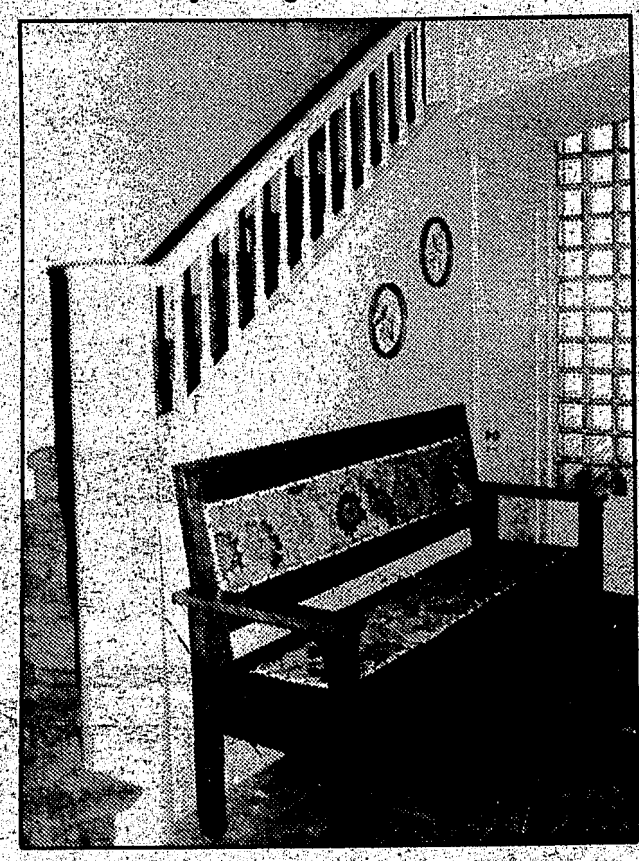
The home of Eric and Nancy Haven on Robertson Court in Clarkston is one of six homes featured on the Clarkston SCAMP Home Tour V planned for May 30 and 31. Ticket information is available by calling 625-3330.

The Haven home in Clarkston features high ceilings and large, sunny windows throughout, including a bow window in the living room and windowed walls in the dining room leading onto an enclosed porch. The home was built in 1937-39 by Milton O. Clark, a direct descendant of the original Clark family who founded Clarkston.



The front entrance of the Haven home leads to a large foyer and wooden staircase. When the brick, 4,000-square-foot home was built, it was considered quite unique for the time.

SCAMP Home Tour V preview

The Havens' house is one of six on weekend tour, May 30 and 31

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It has been called by long-time Clarkston residents an "old library type of home."

Old-timers say when the house was built in 1937-39, it was "quite contemporary" in contrast to its Greek Revival and Victorian architectural neighbors, perhaps even controversial.

Today, the 4,000-square-foot brick home on Robertson Court in Clarkston does not spark any controversy because of its uniqueness. Rather, it is admired as one of Clarkston's historical assets, nestled among towering trees on a sloping lawn overlooking Parke Lake.

Owned by Eric and Nancy Haven, the home is one of six featured in the Clarkston SCAMP Home Tour V on May 30 and 31. The tour is sponsored by North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corp. All proceeds will go toward operation of SCAMP, a summer camp program for children and young adults with special needs.

The home was built by Milton O. Clark, a direct descendant of the Clarks who gave Clarkston its name in 1832.

Clark built the house as a retirement home, but he sold the home in 1941 to the Rummins family because he could not take the cold winters.

The Rummins family lived in the home 40 years before selling it to the Heagarty family. The Havens purchased the home in 1985.

"The Heagartys did a lot of tasteful major remodeling, so we didn't have to do that much when we bought it," Nancy says. "And our furniture fit right in."

The Havens formerly lived in a Greek Revival-style home on Buffalo Street in the Village of Clarkston. But they needed more room for the family, which includes 12-year-old Chris and 9-year-old Carey.

Nancy, a member of the Clarkston Community Historical Society, wasn't sure she wanted to leave her historical home, but is now convinced the history of her "new" old home makes it even more unique than its physical features reveal.

And its physical features reveal a lot.

The original copper roof had to be replaced, but copper screens in the basement, leaded glass windows on the front of the home, and plumbing that would cost twice the normal rate today are indications of the care this solid, 50-year-old home was built with.

A huge bow window in the living room of the home offers a panoramic view of Parke Lake and the large, flower-bedecked back yard. Cushioned window seats, like the window itself, run the full expanse of the living room wall.

"I grew up on Main Street," Nancy says. "I can remember water skiing on the lake and looking at this house."

Large, sunny windows and doors showcase nearly every room. A window-wrapped room off the dining room was once the maid's quarters. A call bell on the wall no longer works, or is needed, and a call bell under the dining room table is now covered by creamy beige carpet.

High ceilings throughout speak of the home's history, while a landscaped, walkout basement could have been designed yesterday.

The Haven's have turned a portion of the basement into a family recreation room, which is warmed by a huge fireplace.

"This house is a vintage all its own," Nancy says. "We feel privileged to own it."

There will be two showings of the homes featured in the Clarkston SCAMP Home Tour V. May 30 will be the Golden Patrons tour at 7 p.m. with a private champagne reception at the Catallo home. Tickets are $50 per person. The Sunday tour will run from 1 to 4 p.m., with a complementary reception at the Clarkston Cafe. Tickets are $15 per person.

Tickets and further information are available by calling Bunny Newmarch, North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corp., at 625-3330.

Bordine's wins award

Bordine's Better Blooms of Springfield Township is to be honored nationally in July for outstanding advertising efforts.

One of 26 nursery firms selected from nearly 3,000, Bordine's is to receive an award from the American Association of Nurserymen at its national convention in Montreal, Canada.

Ann Stewart, advertising coordinator of Bordine's, was pleased to hear of the award—given for excellence in newspaper advertising, she said.

"Bordine's feels honored to receive an award from this association because it means that we're recognized nationwide," said Stewart, an Independence Township resident.

"But awards are awards; they're not as important as having people come into Bordine's," she said. "To win that award is proof that it's effective advertising, and I've reached the goal that I've tried to reach."

Bordine's was founded in Rochester in 1939 and specializes in garden store retailing, landscaping, greenhouse plants, flower arranging and trees and shrubs.

The Advertising Effectiveness Program of the American Association of Nurserymen was established in 1966 to provide nursery business people with a professional analysis of their advertising efforts.

Territo named fellow

Joseph Territo, D.O., has been named a Fellow by the Academy of Osteopathic Directors of Medical Education. He was inducted April 30 during the annual meeting of the academy in Tuscon, Ariz.

Territo is the medical director and director of medical education at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, a post he has held since 1978.

We was graduated from the Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine in 1967 and did his internship at POH during 1967-68. Previously, he was active in general practice in the Waterford area.

He and his wife, Beverly, have six children and five grandchildren. They reside in the Clarkston area.

Patsy Nunn has "gained a lot of personal friends" in the past five years of owning and operating her own business, she said. "I've loved every minute of it."

Sales award won by Patsy Nunn

Patsy J. Nunn was excited to win a National Sales Leadership Award from American Speedy Printing Center.

To qualify, her store on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, had to reach at least $240,000 sales annually and demonstrate consistent sales performance.

One of 20 recipients, the Waterford Township resident accepted the award at the PrintTrends Midwest Regional Conference on March 21 in Novi.

"I was very excited to hear," said Nunn. "Of course, our store had been doing very good, so it didn't come as a big surprise, but it's always nice to be recognized."

She credits the store manager for much of the success.

"Blaine Aldrich has been my right-hand man in here," she said. "He's great. Everybody loves him. . . . You've got to have teamwork to make it go."

Nunn also appreciates her customers and tries to treat "people like I would like to be treated myself," she said.

"I'd just like to thank all of the people in the neighboring areas because they've all helped me get where I am today," Nunn said.

Helps Ronald McDonald House

"Ann Arbor's Cookin'!" and you can be, too, with the new Ann Arbor cookbook sold to raise money for the Ronald McDonald House.

The Village Book Store at 26 S. Main St., Clarkston, added the recipe book to its shelves two weeks ago. The $12 cost can be deducted from state income taxes.

The proceeds benefit the Ronald McDonald House, a temporary home for families of seriously ill children receiving treatment at Mott Children's and other Ann Arbor area hospitals. Since opening in November 1985, the facility has been used by over 200 families.

The book, holding over 600 recipes, features 70 from Ann Arbor restaurants. Since the fundraiser helps children, the cookbook offers a special children's section with such recipes as playdough and fudge.

A few samples follow.

OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN WITH HONEY

¼ cup margarine
⅓ cup honey
1 tablespoon soy sauce
⅔ cup sesame seeds
2½ to 3 pounds chicken, cut up

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Melt margarine in a saucepan and combine with honey and soy sauce. Dip chicken in mixture and roll lightly in sesame seeds.

Place skin side up in 9-by-13-inch pan. Bake uncovered for about one hour or until tender. Baste occasionally. (4-6 servings)

CHOCOLATE LOVERS DELITE

1 18½-package devil's food cake mix
1 3½-ounce package instant chocolate pudding mix
2 eggs
1¾ cups milk
1 12-ounce package semisweet chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mix everything in a bowl for 2 minutes or until well-mixed. Pour into greased and floured Bundt cake pan. Bake for 1 hour or until it springs back.

MICHIGAN COOKIES

1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup butter or margarine
1 egg, well beaten
2 1-ounce squares melted unsweetened chocolate
1¾ cups all-purpose flour, sifted
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
½ cup nuts, chopped

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Cream sugar and shortening in a bowl; add egg, beat until creamy and fluffy. Add chocolate and blend well.

Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with milk to shortening mixture. Add nuts. Drop by teaspoon 3 inches apart on oiled baking sheet.

Bake for 8-10 minutes. Remove from oven. May frost. (Makes 5 dozen 1½ inch cookies.)

Alice Churchill's love of bowling has carried her all the way to the senior citizens olympics.

Churchill shines

Although Alice Churchill is going to St. Louis, Miss., for a week this summer, it's not just a vacation.

The Brandon Township resident plans to compete in the national Senior Citizens Olympics June 27 to July 3. To qualify, she had to win the Michigan senior citizens bowling tournament in Rochester.

"I'm really tickled," said Alice, a member of the senior citizens groups in Ortonville, Independence Township and Waterford Township.

"It'll be an honor to represent Michigan. . . . It's going to be kind of exciting, I think. All 50 states are going to be there,"

The cost is $900, and she'll be wearing a complete Michigan uniform, she said.

Alice appreciates all the financial help she's received from friends and organizations, she said.

"The only way I'm going on this is through contributions. . . . Now I have to bring a medal back," Alice said.

Alice bowls several times a week and also golfs and plays senior citizen softball and volleyball.

Sesquicentennial treat

Nicholas McCormack and Anthony Knakal are just two of the many pupils McDonald involved in her musical/educational program about how Michigan became a state 150 years ago.

Andy Miller is a little hesitant about volunteering to play the unusual musical instruments Brenda McDonald brought along when she presented her "Happy Birthday, Michigan" program to the first- and second-graders at Bailey Lake Elementary School May 14.

Schons chosen BPW Woman of the Year

BY ALISA NASS
Clarkston News Special Writer

Speechless is how Denise Schons described herself after being named Women of the Year by the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club.

Criteria for the award included contribution to community welfare, leadership, business achievements, ablity to get along with people and the upholding of family life.

Presentation of the award was made during a dinner, May 14, at the King's Court on Pontiac Lake Road. She received a plaque and pin. Schons' mother, Wilma Hubble, attended with her.

For 25 years, Schons has lived in Independence Township with her husband Delmer and sons, Bill, 25, and Mark, 15. All were very proud of her, she said.

A four-member panel, not associated with the club, along with a BPW member made the decision. Any woman living in the Waterford-Clarkston area was eligible for nomination.

"I don't have to be rewarded for what I do," she said. "I do it because I like it."

Schons is branch manager of the Dixie-Maybee office of Pontiac State Bank. In December, she received a promotion as assistant vice-president.

Employees of the Dixie-Maybee branch presented Schons with yellow roses and an orchid corsage. A few customers also sent her flowers, she said. Schons has worked in the banking field for 30 years.

"I love it," she said. "You wouldn't stay in banking this long if you didn't."

In addition to being an active BPW member and past president, she is 26-year member and past matron of the Fellowship Order of the Eastern Star No. 428.

Schons is an appointed member of the Independence Township Downtown Development Authority and Economic Development Corp. She is also involved with the Michigan Week Community Awards and worked on the SCAMP Home Tour.

Denise Schons has been named the Woman of the Year by the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club.

Party safely with schools' Safe Home pledge

As the party season approaches, the push is on for more parents to sign a "Safe Homes" pledge.

By signing the pledge, parents agree that they will not allow parties or gatherings in their homes when they're not there and that they will not serve nor allow underage youth to consume alcohol or use illegal drugs in their homes or on their property.

Those who sign the pledge further agree that their names will go on file at the school their children attend and be released as a "Safe Homes" pledge supporter if another pledge signer calls.

The pledge program is co-sponsored by Clarkston Community Schools, Clarkston Area Chemical People, Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and Aware.

The pledge was first distributed in school newsletters in the fall of 1986 and about 260 names are on the list, said the Rev. William Schram, chemical people chairman.

"With spring being a nice time for parties, we thought it would be a good time to remind people of the pledge," Schram said. "We want to keep the issue in front of people's minds."

The purpose, he said, is to enlist parents to help prevent alcohol and drug abuse by teens and to get people involved o show "there's a community consensus about inappropriate use of drugs and alcohol."

Keeping drugs and alcohol out of parties should be a cooperative effort "to provide as safe an environment for teens as possible," Schram said.

Elsewhere in this week's Clarkston News is a complete list of parents who have signed the pledge and a form that parents can sign and mail to the Clarkston Area Chemical People, an organization devoted to the prevention of substance abuse among the community's young people.

Peta's pantry

Bravo!

Peta Birrell

I'm still thinking of all the parties ahead of me in the next few weeks. Appetizers are dancing through my head in all shapes and sizes.

Here is a good Mexican appetizer to fix. Even if you don't have any Mexican blood, I guarantee you'll love this dish.

MEXICAN PIZZA

1 8-ounce can refried beans and 2 7½-ounce cans bean dip
3 avocados
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup sour cream
½ cup Miracle Whip
1 package taco seasoning mix
8 green onions
2 medium tomatoes
2 cans ripe olives
1 8-ounce package shredded Cheddar cheese
2 bags nacho chips

Spread refried beans on the bottom of an 11-inch glass dish.

Peel and mash three avocados; combine with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Spread over refried beans.

Combine sour cream, Miracle Whip and taco seasoning mix and spread over top.

Cut green onions, tomatoes and olives and sprinkle over the surface. Top with Cheddar cheese and serve with nacho chips.

An Apple for the Teacher

Not a 'sitty' person

by Ruth Duling

"Enjoyment, lifetime fitness attitudes, some challenges for kids . . . to try some things new . . . and skill building" are the focal points of Mary Lynn Colwell's health and physical education instruction at Clarkston Junior High.

She reflected that sometimes she meets people who really disliked their gym classes in school. In contrast, Mary Lynn stresses "individual accomplishment so the child gets something out of class he can enjoy."

She decided to major in physical education when she went to Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, because she wanted to be a teacher but felt she was not a "sitty" person, so the combination of activity with classroom work has been particularly satisfactory.

Colwell, who has taught health and physical education for 17 years at CJH, is a life-long resident of the Clarkston-Lake Orion area.

Before moving to her junior high position, she taught P.E. and ninth- through 11th-grade English at Clarkston Senior High for five and a half years.

When the school district began its curriculum revision work two years ago, Colwell, currently the coordinatior for health and physical education, became involved because she was interested in getting the P.E. and health curriculum coordinated in the system.

She has been active in a number of curriculum groups and activities in the district over the years.

She notes with satisfaction that she successfully met the challenge of juggling the demands of teaching, being a wife and a mother, since she has taught since her family was young.

Mary Lynn Colwell has taught health and physical education at CJH for 17 years.

Her family consists of her husband, Denny; daughter, Ann, 22, a teacher in California; daughter, Susan, 19, a sophomore at Michigan State; and son, Mark, 16, a junior at Clarkston High.

Colwell is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma sorority and the American Association for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance.

She also has served on the music committee of the United Methodist Church and works on the bazaar.

She is an avid reader and enjoys sewing as well as taking short vacations and attending her children's school and sport activities.

Although she is enjoying the increased freedom that comes with her family growing up, Mary Lynn will soon begin pursuing a long-time goal for herself.

She is beginning course work toward a master's degree in curriculum at Oakland University.

Clarkston is proud of this enthusiastic and dedicated member of its secondary staff.

An Apple for the Teacher is provided through committee for the Clarkston Education Association. This week's author is Ruth Duling, chairperson of the English department at Clarkston Junior High School.

Garden center has down-to-earth philosophy

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A potato first sparked an interest in gardening for Bonnie Hale.

"I was maybe 10, 12 years old, and my mother was peeling potatoes," she said. "I took the skins and planted them. I watered them, and watched them all summer."

Her mother thought she was crazy, she said, but "in the fall, I dug them up and found little potatoes."

Ever since, she's had an interest in plants and the earth, Bonnie said.

She and her husband Rich, a former Grand Trunk Railroad employee, have opened Sunburst Garden Center on M-15 in Ortonville, a garden store for people like themselves who love plants.

They even have a down-to-earth philosophy behind their store.

What's new in business

"The average homeowner can't afford to go and have an elaborate design done," said Bonnie. "Most of the plants in the nursery are small potted plants, things that a person can pick up and put in the back of their car or pickup, something they can buy a few at a time and work on their yard on the weekend. . . . We want to help the average person," she said, adding they would order unusual plants on request.

"We want to help the people pick the right plant for the right spot," she said.

Bonnie, a master gardener, bought plants wholesale for several years on behalf of a nursery school to resell as a fundraiser, she said. And she used to write a newspaper column called, "Know it all, grow it all."

Rich and Bonnie Hale look over their nursery stock at Sunburst Garden Center. The couple opened the store to fill the needs of local gardeners.

"People just associate me with plants," she said.

The Hales enjoy their business, so far, although it's pretty busy, Rich said.

"In the springtime, it's really rough. You'd like to be able to work 24 hours a day," he said.

They come close.

They start their day by getting up at 2:30 a.m., driving to Eastern Market in Detroit and returning with about 25 flats of plants.

Between 6:30 and 7:30, they shower and clean up, they said. At 8:30, they unload the truck, and they open at 9 a.m. During the busy season, they'll stay open until 9 p.m., at which time they'll do their bookwork, said Bonnie. At 10 or 11 p.m., they go to bed.

The Hales also keep house plants, garden tools, Ortho products and cut flowers inside, and they're pleased to offer the necessities to customers, said Bonnie.

"It's a challenge," she said. "Even after all the years of going down to market, it's still exciting."

Friend to friend

Comparisons hurt

Dear Friend to Friend,

While on vacation in Los Angeles, I found out that I've got AIDS and I really don't know what to do. I haven't told my parents yet. But how can I face them and tell them? I need help desperately. Please help!

Help

Dear Help,

It's difficult for us to relate to your problem, even though we've all had things we couldn't tell our parents.

However, in this situation you don't have a choice. A disease as serious and deadly as AIDS cannot be hidden from your family.

When you have secrets, it makes it feel like you're carrying the weight of the world on your shoulders.

From personal experience, we know you will feel a lot better when you have talked about the problems you're trying to deal with.

Dear Friend to Friend,

I've got an older brother and I always get compared to him. He always gets good grades, is good in sports and has a lot of friends. Because of him, I can't even get any dates as most guys just consider me the "little sister." What can you suggest?

Little Sister

Dear Little Sister:

One thing that we can suggest is that you be patient. It's all part of growing up and living in a family.

While you are being patient, learn to be your own person so you don't have to live up to the image of your brother.

Don't try to compete with him, but find things you enjoy that you're good at. In time, we're sure that others, including your family, will realize that you are not just the Little Sister.

When that begins to happen, you will be asked out on dates.

Letters to Friend to Friend are answered by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under the sponsorship of Aware, a community group devoted to action and education against chemical dependency.

Students can submit letters by placing them in the designated "problem locker" at CHS or Clarkston or Sashabaw junior high schools.

Letters can also be sent to Friend to Friend in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Saunders successful in campaign

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Winning the senior class presidency was more than just a political victory for Kelly Saunders, a Clarkston High School junior.

"I've always wanted to do things like this, but I was never in the position," she said. "Because I'm recovering from drugs—I've been on drugs almost my whole life—I only watched everybody else.

"And now that I'm in the position, I went for the top, the class president, and I got it. It shows me, if I can do this, I can do anything."

As class president, the Independence Township resident would like to do a lot of things.

"I hope to just make the senior year a really good year for my class," said Kelly, a two-year student council member. "And I hope to get other people involved, so we can have lots of fun."

Getting votes was a tough task, said Kelly. She campaigned for several days, putting a poster on the football field fence, hanging a banner from the school roof and placing posters around the school.

She also gave cards with a piece of gum attached that read, "Stick with me." And she handed out buttons and 600 fliers.

"See, I wanted to win," said Kelly. "I'm always into doing things. It was like a challenge.

"I took this on myself, and I worked for it. And I worked hard. And I got it," she said. "I guess it just gives me self-confidence and a more positive self-esteem. . . . It applies to everything. I can do well at anything if I put my mind to it."

Kelly recalled the moment she heard about the victory.

"I was so excited. Our class was in the library, and I was sitting in the corner of the library. . . . Mrs. Medlin handed me a card that said, 'Your class elected you.' She said I won by a landslide.

"(My mom) was the first one I told. As soon as I found out, I ran to the phone. . . . I was so excited."

Her mother took her out to dinner to celebrate, she said.

Besides student government, Kelly is the student representative to Aware; she's involved with the SEARCH program and the after-care; she started a student group called Fighting Alcohol and Chemicals Together; and she gives community talks on substance abuse.

The campaign proved to be an educational experience for Kelly, she said.

"I didn't know politics were so competitive. . . . I just didn't think it was that way.

"It also feels good that my friends and a lot of kids at school voted for me," she said. "Usually, these things are a popularity contest, but people have told me I won because I've proven I could turn things around."

Campaigning for president of the senior class was fun, said Kelly Saunders. She had some help from her friends and her parents, Carole and Jeff Ryder, she said.

Notice of Public Hearing On Increasing Property Taxes

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on June 2, 1987 at 6:30 p.m. at 6389 Clarkston Road the Board of Education of the Clarkston Community Schools will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1987 of an additional proposed millage rate of 5.0003 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 36.3794 mills be levied in 1987 for operating purposes if election proposals of 3.79 mills and 4.25 mills receive favorable votes.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1987, otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982 by 15.0024 percent.

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the school district. State equalized valuation will not be finalized until after the fourth Monday in May. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Education must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the heaning is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate for operating purposes. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

The Board of Education has proposed this millage for operating purposes in recognition of the responsibility to maintain and sustain an effective educational program for the community.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Pet of the week

Puffer is a people-loving pet.

Puffer T. Cat

Puffer is a 1-year-old solid white cat with a solid gold heart. The neutered male cat loves people, pets and all the attention he can get.

The gold-eyed cat is deaf, which is not uncommon in white cats. He is litter-trained and up to date on all shots.

Puffer can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The adoption fee for Puffer is $25.

Obituary

Deborah Kay Bilbey

Nine students have been named April Students of the Month at Clarkston High School.

Students achieving this distinction are: K.C. Baran, son of Margaret and Larry Baran of Hummingbird Lane; Jeffrey Billig, son of William and Elaine Billig of Mustang Drive; Joe Gentile, son of Don and Birtie Lou Gentile of Dark Lake Road; and Christine Hardy, daughter of Judith Hardy of Paramus Drive.

Also named are: Wendy Hollibaugh, daughter of Andy and Diane Hollibaugh of Sylvan View; Christine Serb, daughter of Sharon Serb of Snowapple Drive; Scott Thompson, son of Larry and Joyce Thompson of Overpine Drive; Danielle White, daughter of Robert and SueZanne White of Felix Drive; and Robert Wiltfang, whose guardians are Dennis and Lora Baker of Edgewood Road.

This marks the sixth consecutive month the award has been given. Over 50 young men and women have been honored for outstanding contributions to Clarkston High School.

It is anticipated that additional forms of recognition will be initiated, according to CHS principal Dr. Robert Burek.

Singers are invited to join St. Daniel's Summer Sing, a chorale session of Broadway Show Tunes and popular music directed by Don Zielinski.

Rehearsals will be Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9 from June 16 through July 28 at St. Daniel Church, 7010 Valley Park Dr., Clarkston.

Opportunities for male and female solos and duets as well as S.A.B. ensemble music will be open to all interested singers.

Parish members as well as non-parish members are welcome. Performances will be planned and announced during rehearsals.

For more information, call Zielinksi at 682-8168.

Historical talk May 27

Susan Affleck-Childs, coordinator of the Commercial Assistance Program (CAP), Oakland County Community Development Division, will be the guest speaker at the Clarkston Community Historical Society's annual meeting.

The meeting, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. May 27 in the Clarkston Village Hall on Depot Road, will also include election of officers for the society.

As coordinator of CAP, Affleck-Childs directs the operation of a $4 million commercial property rehabilitation program in 19 Oakland County communities. She also establishes community selection criteria, prepares program guidelines and develops promotional materials.

The public is welcome to attend the meeting.

Clare calls for Cobane

Independence Township artist Russell Cobane is the featured artist for the 1987 Michigan Great Lakes Wildlife Festival.

Festival activities will be set up at several locations in Clare, Mich., on May 23 and 24. Over 5,000 people are expected to attend, according to the festival committee.

Cobane was commissioned for the limited edition of the signed print "Daybreak" for the Wildlife Festival. Though nearly sold out, a few prints may still be available at the festival.

A mechanical illistrator for 17 years and more recently a wildlife artist, Cobane has won numerous awards for his work, most recently the 1987 Michigan Trout Stamp contest.

Highlight of the festival are four contests: the Michigan Ducks Unlimited Carver of the Year and Artist of the Year, the Michigan Great Lakes Photographer of the Year and Wildlife Amateur Carver of the Year.

Proceeds from the Wildlife Festival will be used for regional conservation projects. More information about the festival is available by calling (517) 386-2442 or 386-7492.

Lifelike parts for faces

Technician creates cover-ups for cancer victims, others

BY SHARON HAHN
Clarkston News Special Writer

It's that time of year sun worshipers have waited for all winter long.

Despite the risks of premature wrinkles and skin damage, we soak up the rays and delight as our winter pale turns to a healthy-looking golden brown. How can something that helps us look so good, be so bad?

David Guelde, president of Prosthetics Unlimited Inc., knows better than most the devastating effects of the sun.

The 30-year-old, whose lab is in the Clarkston Professional Plaza, makes above-the-neck prosthetics for patients whose surgeries for skin cancer have been so extensive that surgical reconstruction is impossible.

He's also helped accident and burn victims who have lost an ear, eye or nose be able to face the world again wearing a lifelike silicone prosthesis that gives them a more normal appearance.

Maxillofacial prosthetics was a new field seven years ago when he entered it, Guelde said. Today, there are still relatively few who do what he does.

"There's only one other place in Michigan that I know of that makes maxillofacial prosthetics," he said. And many people, he added, don't know this work is available.

Guelde has photos of a woman who had lost her nose and the roof of her mouth through cancer surgery. She had only an opening where her nose used to be. The distance between her eyes and mouth had lengthened abnormally.

It was a challenge, he said, to make a nose to fill the space that didn't appear grotesque. The photo taken with her new nose showed a normal-looking woman, with no unusual features.

She was so pleased, she had three of them made, he said. Two for winter and one with a darker skin tone for summer.

Artistic ability enhances the work, Guelde said, but sometimes what's needed is luck. "So much of our success has been due to luck," he said.

"And because you're really good at what you do," said Kathy Kohan, his sister and "right-hand man" in the lab.

Guelde's background was in pre-dentistry as a dental technician. Becoming a maxillofacial prosthetics technician was a natural direction to go in, he said.

Guelde developed his skill while involved in a government funded program for three years at the University of Indiana.

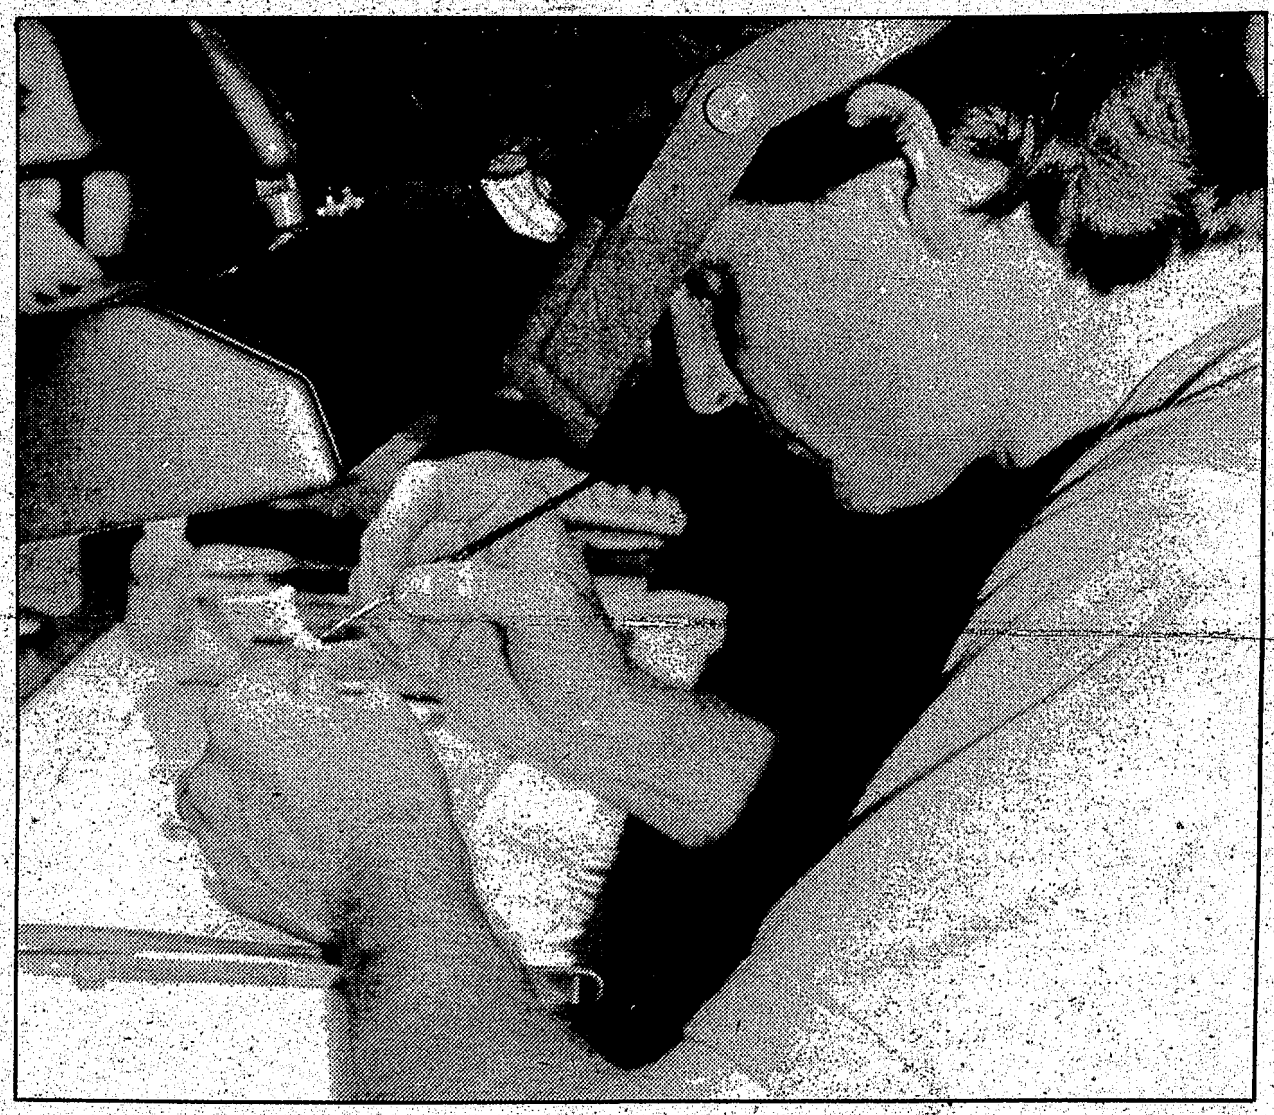
While there, he developed a device for implanting facial hair, he said, which the university has since patented.

"This had been one of the biggest obstacles in (the making of) prosthetics," he said.

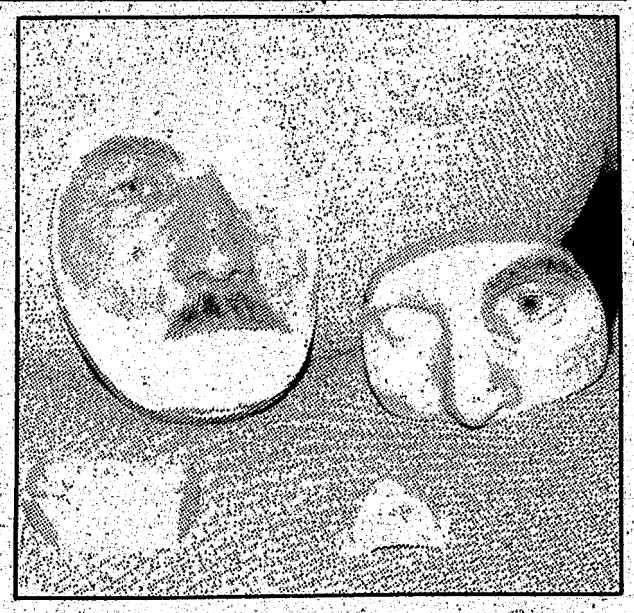
He incorporates both fields in the work he does at Prosthetics Unlimited.

"Most of what we do here is crown and bridge dental work," he said. "We may have 2,000 dental patients to one maxillofacial patient. But one (maxillofacial) case is as demanding as hundreds of dental jobs."

And those patients need 100 percent dedication, he said. "The work (surgery) they are having done is so devastating, they don't want to go out in public.



David Guelde spends 99 percent of his time in the lab area of Prosthetics Unlimited on M-15 in Independence Township. Examples of his work, at right, illustrate its lifelike quality.



"Most of what we do here is crown and bridge dental work. We may have 2,000 dental patients to one maxillofacial patient. But one (maxillofacial) case is as demanding as hundreds of dental jobs."

"You've got to bust your tail to give them what they need," he said.

The reward for this kind of work is not financial, Guelde said. "If I just had this, I'd make zero dollars a year.

"It's not lucrative, but it enhances the practice," he said. "You get a little more satisfaction out of doing things for people than in getting money for it, so we try to fit them in as we go."

Guelde explained that the cost of a nose may run $350 from his lab, but the patient may pay as much as $1,500 to the doctor. Or the doctor may charge nothing, he said.

Insurance may or may not cover the cost of maxillofacial prothetics. Rudolph Difazio, spokesperson for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, said there wasn't a blanket policy for these cases.

"Each individual case is judged on its medical merit," he said, explaining it would have to be

Can tanning every summer cause cancer?

Questions may be directed to The Cancer Information Service: The Cleveland Clinic Foundation, 9500 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio 44106. All questions will be answered by mail

Q. Someone I know has cancer and is being given what the doctor calls "palliative treatments." As I understand it, this means they have given up on her. She is a very young woman, and I don't understand why the doctors won't do anything more for her.

A. When speaking of cancer treatment, there are those types of aggressive treatments which cure the patient of the disease, and those non-aggressive treatments which will not cure the patient but will make the patient comfortable.

Palliative treatments are used after all aggressive treatments have been done.

The hope for all patients would be that they could be cured of their cancer. Chemotherapy, radiation or even surgery are very good in achieving a cure.

However, some types of cancer can't be cured even with the modern treatments we have available. Then the goal changes from cure to making the person comfortable. There are many options available to make the patient comfortable.

So when you question why the doctors aren't doing more, the answer may be that at this point there may not be any treatment available to cure the patient or put the disease in remission.

Palliative treatments, which focus on treating the symptoms of the disease, may be the only treatment option available.

There is much cancer research being done now, so our hope would be that a cure for cancer would be found in the near future.

—James K. Weick, M.D.
Chairman, Dept. of Hematology/Medical Oncology

Q. I am a long-time "sun worshiper." I always look so much healthier with a tan. I now have a basal cell skin cancer, and my doctor suggested that it probably was caused by tanning every summer. Can this be true?

A. We often equate a well-tanned look with a healthy, active lifestyle. But overexposure to sunlight is far from healthy.

Such exposure can make the skin age prematurely, resulting in a wrinkled and tough, leathery look to the face, as well as painful sunburns.

These concerns, however, are not the worst effects of overexposure to the sun. A great majority of the 400,000 or more cases of skin cancer that occur are sun-related.

Fortunately, the vast majority of these cases are curable. With proper treatment, 95 percent of patients with basal cell carcinoma can be cured.

But, as the old saying goes, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." This is particularly true for people who are at high risk for developing skin cancer: individuals with light skin, notably redheads and blonds, and those who burn easily.

People with dark complexions or dark skin, including blacks, are less likely to develop skin cancer.

But for all people, some common sense steps are recommended by the American Cancer Society. First, avoid sun exposure, particularly between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., when harmful ultraviolet rays are strongest.

Second, wear as much protective clothing as possible, including hats.

Third, use a sunscreen preparation, preferably one containing PABA (para-aminobenzoic acid) and one with an SPF of 15 or higher.

Finally, be aware of the fact that damaging exposure can also come from a tanning booth light source. This light is not safe.

For more information on this topic, you can send for a free brochure titled "Sense in the Sun."

Q. I am a 20-year-old college student. A friend my age has been told that she has polyps in her colon. Her doctors recommend that she have her entire colon taken out, before a cancer develops. Isn't it unusual for someone so young to have polyps in the colon? Doesn't surgery seem like overkill?

A. It is unusual for a young adult to require such an operation. But there is one instance in which removal of the colon at that age can be life-saving.

From your description, it sounds as though your friend may have familial polyposis, one of a few precancerous conditions that is inherited.

In involved families, the condition is passed from one generation to another, affecting about 80 percent of the children. Left untreated in young people, this polyp condition will develop into cancer in almost all cases.

The colon polyps usually cannot be detected until puberty. By the time the patient reaches young adulthood, polyps typically cover the entire large bowel and rectum.

Actual symptoms of the disease—such as bleeding and diarrhea—usually do not develop before age 30. By that time, however, there is often extensive cancer throughout the colon and rectum.

If the polyp-covered areas are removed before they have a chance to become cancerous, the patient has a much greater opportunity to live a full and productive life.

That is why such extensive surgery is recommended for young—and otherwise healthy—adults with this condition.

Q. I saw something in a newspaper recently about a pain medication called "Brompton's Cocktail." Can you tell me about this?

A. Recently, a well-known columnist applauded the use of "Brompton's Cocktail" as a means of relieving pain for cancer patients.

The original Brompton's cocktail, used in London, included morphine or heroin, cocaine, alcohol, syrup and chlorofoam water.

This mixture is not often used now, as research shows most people require only one drug to control their pain and fewer side effects occur when one drug replaces four.

While the majority of cancer patients do not have pain, about 20 percent have severe chronic pain which interferes with enjoyment of life.

Usually even severe pain can be controlled with medication given by mouth. If swallowing problems or nausea are present, drugs may be given by rectal suppository, under the tongue or by injection.

In years past, it was thought that narcotic medications could only be used for a short time and then would become ineffective.

Now we use such medications whenever needed but gradually increase the dose over time. This is not only effective, but safe, if done gradually.

Some patients worry about "addiction" to narcotics. Hoever, true addiction is a psychological craving for a "high," while persons with cancer are merely looking for pain relief.

If a patient does become dependent, and no longer has pain, he is simply placed on gradually decreasing doses of the drug for about 10 days, and can stop the medication without side effects.

Fitness quest pays off for couple

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two-and-a-half years ago, Tom Callahan had to take oxygen just to sit in front of the television.

He had a heart problem, a partially collapsed lung, high blood pressure and chronic bronchitis and had undergone heart and cancer operations.

During a trip he and his wife, Nancy, took to California, he had a gall bladder attack. After surgery, he fell out of bed in the intensive care unit and broke his left wrist.

"Psychologically, I was down, too," Tom says, and so was Nancy.

She had a pinched nerve in her neck, a bad disk in her back and more pounds than she wanted.

Today, you can usually find Tom, retired after 37 years with Pontiac Motor Division, working out at the Deer Lake Racquet Club during the day. Nancy, who teaches sixth grade at Schoolcraft School in Waterford Township, works out in the evenings.

Both are usually at the club on weekends, and at least three evenings a week, the Independence Township couple go square dancing or round dancing.

They rise daily at 4:30 a.m. to begin each busy day. Nancy grades school papers and Tom does the housework.

"I've always had high blood pressure. Now, my blood pressure is the lowest it's been in 40 years, and my last lung test was better than two years ago."

—Tom Callahan

Nancy, at 48, has dropped six dress sizes and says she feels great. Tom, at 60, looks like he's been working out all his life, and says he feels great, too.

The turnabout came when they decided, after a long deliberation, to join the racquet club last August so they could work out.

"We had been doing some square dancing, and we had visited the racquet club several times," Tom says. "We finally just said, 'Let's do it.' Everyone down here has been so friendly and helpful.

Guelde has seen many tragic cases, but the children are most upsetting to him.

"That's why I left the University of Indiana," he said. "Next door to us was the cerebral palsy unit. Across the hall was muscular dystrophy. All I ever saw were all these children having to deal with devastating (disabilities).

"There were kids that had different types of cancers and would lose an eye," he said. "We were there to patch things up. We would make them a new eye. They still couldn't see, but it wasn't as traumatic for them."

With a more normal appearance, he said, they could go out shopping with their moms and dads.

He spoke at length of those children. Some he had become close to, and some had died. "If I could work on just adults, that would be fine," he said.

Guelde's respect for the patients is obvious.

Making a prosthesis

1. Mastercast "impression" is taken to duplicate patient's facial areas or area to be worked on. Impression is poured with stone.
2. A clay sculpture is done by hand of the defective area to resemble the other side of the face using previous pictures, etc.
3. Patient returns for clay "try-in."
4. If successful, clay modeling is then converted to mold at which time the clay is removed and silicone is put in its place in a flask.
5. Case is heat processed to cure silicone (which has been matched to skin color).
6. After silicone case is removed from flask, patient trys-in. At this time, detail is applied for a natural skin appearance.
7. Case is delivered for permanent use. All cases are removable for cleaning.

When a young person has his or her ear pierced seven and eight times, as is becoming popular these days, it's possible for the nerve to be severed. Infection can set in and the ear can be lost.

"They are amazing people," he said. "The will to live, the attitude some of these people have . . ." He shakes his head, remembering the disfigurements he has seen.

The most popular prosthetics are ears, Guelde said.

When a young person has his or her ear pierced seven and eight times, as is becoming popular these days, it's possible for the nerve to be severed. Infection can set in and the ear can be lost, he said.

The designing of an ear is important because there are many critical factors, Guelde said. "Working in conjunction with the doctor enables us to get the placement of the ear exactly right to maintain the optimal hearing ability."

A maxillofacial prosthesis is made of Dow Corning medical grade silicones and can be matched to the patient's own skin tone.

Guelde uses the natural hair of the patient when possible for eyebrows, eyelashes and nasal hairs. Details such as moles and skin blemishes can also be added.

Artificial eyes are made of custom-colored acrylic and Guelde adds touches that help make them match the other eye.

The prosthesis is applied with medical adhesives, and the paper-thin margins (edges) can be blended to the skin with makeup, giving a natural appearance. All are removable for cleaning.

"When the prosthesis is in place, no ultra-violet light passes through," he said. "It acts as a Band-Aid to the defective area.

"And if the fit is good, and there are no drastic tissue changes, the prosthesis can last indefinitely."

Because what he does is so specialized, Guelde said he could take his work just about anywhere. "I had an opportunity in Lake Tahoe to work for five specialists," he said. " 'Name your price,' they said."

Although Guelde sometimes puts in more than 100 hours a week at the lab, he said he likes it there.

"I really couldn't ask for more than I have now. I like being my own boss, and business is far better than I ever dreamed," he said.

The young technician admits to using his skills in less serious endeavors. "We used to make grotesque Halloween masks," he said, recalling a young man who wore one of his masks into a bar and won a $500 prize.

Terry (Sawyer) Guelde manages her husband's business out of their home. They have two sons, ages 3 and 5.

Education and nursing director — and more

Beverly Walters wears many hats at the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center

BY ALISA NASS
Clarkston News Special Writer

Beverly Walter's job as director of nursing and community education for the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center involves hard work and commitment, but for Walters it marks just the beginning.

In addition to the center, Walters works part time for Dr. James O'Neill, is a member of the Children's Advisory Board for Havenwyck Hospital and recently served on the Early Childhood Education committee for a statewide task force on dropouts.

"My first love and experience has been in the community. It's nice when people began to look toward the Care Center for their needs."
—Beverly Walters

Walters has lived in Independence Township for 16 years with her husband, the Rev. Robert Walters, and their sons, Robert, 22, and Michael, 19. The Rev. Walters is pastor of the Calvary Lutheran Church on Bluegrass Drive in Independence Township.

Walters has worked at the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center since it opened in December 1983.

"It's a difficult job to describe to people because it involves so many different things," said Walters, "The job description is not concrete."

Some of the diverse functions of Walter's job include hiring staff, overseeing and planning the wellness programs and ordering supplies.

"Through the center we've been able to offer some programs in the community that wouldn't be offered," said Walters on how her job makes a difference.

Walters wasn't able to give a set number of hours she works a week. "My job at this time is very flexible," she said.

In charge of planning and supervising the wellness programs offered in the evening, Walters usually works as a troubleshooter and at times janitor when the building is used. "Sometimes I am still here until 10:30 p.m. putting chairs away," she said.

Wellness Program classes range from stress management, managing diabetes and a diet workshop to freedom from smoking in 20 days, among others.

Walters is directly involved with the eating disorders support group. She also is the leader of the Helping Hands of the Handicapped, a support group for the parents of handicapped children. Although the group is not currently meeting, Walters remains in contact with some of the parents.

Recently, Walters worked to help the passage of a special millage vote for special education.

She said the rewards from her job come from knowing her programs are making a difference.

"People stop me on the street and tell me they haven't smoked in two years or whatever it is and that makes me feel good," she said.

She also mentioned that three pins for the weight loss of 50 pounds were passed out recently in the diet workshop.

"My first love and experience has been in the community. It's nice when people began to look toward the Care Center for their needs," said Walters, "I feel I have become closer to the community and gotten to know a lot of people."

She has also learned what it is like to have a handicapped child or eating disorder, she said.

When not working at the center, Walters enjoys various activities.

"I love to read and garden," she said. She also sings with the church choir and is an adviser of the women's organization at the church.

For the first time in 10 years, Walters is not teaching an extensive Bible study group for adults.

"I finally had to draw the line. The work at the center was eclipsing time for (teaching) preparation. I enjoyed it, and miss it," she said.

Prior to living in Michigan, Walters was a public health nurse in Chicago for three and a half years. She also helped put a planned parenthood program in place while living in Decatur, Ill.

Walters said she has found the knowledge helpful at the ambulatory care center.

Community health has appealed to Walters since her public health experience at Wayne State University, Detroit, where she received a bachelor's degree in nursing. She is also a registered nurse.

"I like to be out in the community meeting (people's) needs other than physical," she said, referring to the degree of social work involved in her work.

Because her job at the center involves administrative duties, Walters works part time at O'Neill's office for patient contact.

"I would not totally want to be in administration at this point, where I don't have contact with the patients," said Walters.

Hippocrates, who lived in Greece about 460-377 B.C., wrote diseases followed the changes of the seasons and that some were caused by intense heat or cold.

The Cost of Ignoring Anxiety

By Jack Gorman, M.D. Associate Professor of Clinical Psychiatry, Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, NY.

Persistent jitteriness, insomnia and difficulty concentrating may be symptoms of anxiety disorder—the most common emotional problem. Symptoms lasting more than a month call for a visit to your doctor.

Insomnia, difficulty concentrating, inability to relax. These can all be symptoms of anxiety. These symptoms come and go at one time or another in most of us. But when they persist for more than a month, the problem may be an anxiety disorder.

One in 12 adults is affected by anxiety disorder. In addition to the symptoms above, some victims experience panic attacks—sudden unprovoked bouts of terror accompanied by pounding of the heart, gasping for breath and, sometimes, a fear that one will faint or die. Many panic disorder victims also develop phobias, such as agoraphobia, the fear of going out unless escorted by a trusted companion. This disorder keeps some victims housebound for years.

A growing body of evidence on the causes of anxiety disorders points to biochemical abnormalities in the brain, possibly inherited ones. Stress is another suspected cause.

Three-quarters of anxiety disorder victims are never properly diagnosed or treated. And the price they pay—in terms of complications—can be high. Anxiety disorders may interfere with work and personal life. They may trigger depression and aggravate physical symptoms, including those caused by heart problems.

Many victims make the mistake of trying to allay anxiety with alcohol or self-medicate it with drugs. As a result, alcohol and drug abuse are more common among untreated anxiety disorder victims.

Anxiety treatments include various types of psychotherapy and medication.

If you experience anxiety symptoms for a month or more, they may signal an anxiety disorder. The best course of action is to see your doctor.

There are almost six million red blood cells in a cubic millimeter of human blood.

GUM DISEASE: AS COMMON AS THE COLD, AS SNEAKY AS HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Seventy-five to ninety percent of all Americans suffer from gum disease. A silent disease with few symptoms, it may be far advanced before you realize you have it.

If you've heard of gum disease, you probably know it as "pyorrhea" and think of it as a problem of the elderly. The truth is it is often found in the very young and many in their twenties already suffer from it.

Causes 70% of tooth loss

Studies show that 70% of all tooth loss is caused by gum or periodontal (around the tooth) disease. If you lose your natural teeth, your diet, your health and your appearance will be affected. Your diet, because many foods are not easy to eat with false teeth. Your health, because food intake will be affected. Your appearance, because your jawbone deteriorates when teeth are extracted, and the shape of your face can change. Also... losing your teeth makes you "feel" old because many people associate dentures with old age.

Your teeth should last a lifetime

Modern treatment of gum disease makes it possible for most of us to keep our teeth. Even if you already have gum disease, it can be controlled and your teeth saved.

You can be confident that you are receiving the best gum care available by seeing a periodontist. a highly trained dental specialist in the diagnosis and treatment of gum disease. To be an Active Member of the American Academy of Periodontology, a dentist must have completed two or more years of advanced training in treatment of periodontal diseases beyond a degree from a dental school and must limit his or her practice to the specialty of periodontics.

The advantages a specialist gives you

Specialization develops the practitioner's sensitivity in diagnosis and continually improves his or her technical skills, developed during special training, to assure the most effective treatment.

Treating this disease exclusively, your periodontist can devote full attention to scientific developments in this field, and quickly distinguish among the many ways in which the disease affects you as an individual.

Nancy says it's a new world

"Dick Armstrong (who works in the Nautilus equipment room) knew my case and was very helpful, starting me off with light weights," Tom continues.

"And Lois Srock (an aerobics instructor at the club) really encouraged both Nancy and I to do the aerobics."

If aerobics class conjurs up visions of near-goddess bodies in designer tights, think again. Aerobics classes frequently have a wide variety of ages—and sizes—all working out at their own abilities, wearing everything from leotards to tattered sweat pants.

Tom usually does only the stretching part of the class and works on the Nautilus equipment. Nancy likes the low-impact aerobics, and also enjoys working on the equipment. They frequently swim, too.

"I've always had high blood pressure," Tom says. "Now, my blood pressure is the lowest it's been in 40 years, and my last lung test was better than two years ago."

Tom's doctors have been aware of his exercise program. Each person's body and condition is different, and should be treated accordingly. But both Tom and Nancy encourage people, especially as they get older, to do something to stay fit.

"Here we were, completely depressed, and then we started this," Nancy says. "My back problem has disappeared. I never take pain pills anymore.

"I've never done anything like this before," Nancy continues. "But, my feeling was I have 40 more years to go. I had to do something to stay fit. This really made a difference for us."

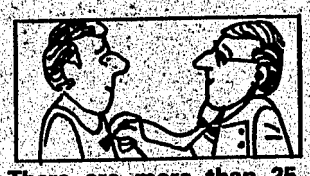
"Attitude has a lot to do with it," Tom adds. They are happy.

Nancy says it's a new world.

"You don't have to do something this vigorous, but I think you should do something for your age," she says. "Get out and walk. There are birds and flowers out there."

Of all the joints in the human body, the ball and socket joint, found at the hip and shoulder, permits the greatest range of motion.



There are more than 25 million people with high blood pressure—hypertenion—in the United States.
