Books, school plan on hold

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

Recent decisions by the Clarkston board of education hinge on the results of the June 8 election.

Only if voters approve the renewal of 3.79 mills and approve 4.25 additional mills will new textbooks be ordered. (One mill is $1 in taxes for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.)

And although the taxes would not help pay for the proposed new high school, the board will not proceed with plans to ask for voter approval to build the high school unless voters OK the June 8 millages.

The board approved the $68,752 for textbook purchases, pending a positive outcome for the millages, on May 11, said Alberta Ellis, director of curriculum services.

The list follows:

•$4,347 for 250 books, including shipping costs,

for the new "Computer Applications" course required for all eighth-graders next year.

•$3,030 for 160 books for a new course, "Basic Algebra," for general education students not planning to attend college.

•$5,094 for 360 books for "Essential Mathematics," a class that will replace the existing ninth- and 10th-grade mathematics course.

Road worry

Complications threaten Maybe extension plan

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

If there's a way to extend Maybee Road west across Dixie Highway before 1992, Independence Township board members would like to do it.

The board discussed the possibilities at its May 19 meeting, but took no action because there are too many unknowns, said Clerk Richard Holman.

The issue is complicated, said Holman.

The extension is scheduled for 1992 in the township Downtown Development Authority (DDA) plan. But to pay for it, the DDA plans to use tax increment financing (TIF), the legality of which is under consideration in the Michigan Supreme Court at this time, he said.

Fox Corp., the developer of Lancaster Apartments west of Dixie Highway across from Maybee Road and behind Clarkston Motors, would pay for the Maybee Road extension costs if the DDA would reimburse Fox in 1992, said Holman.

But if TIF were found illegal by the state Supreme Court, general fund money would have to be used to repay Fox, said Holman.

Board members said they shouldn't jeopardize the general fund, he said.

Another option would be to assess the property owners to pay for the extension, said Holman, but the majority of property owners don't want the road.

To form a special assessment district, approval from the owners of the majority of the property is necessary, he said.

Another choice would be legal action by the township to take the property for the road. But the township would still have no way of paying for the construction, said Holman.

The extension is necessary because a township traffic study completed last month shows traffic to be a serious problem at the Dixie-Maybee intersection, he said.

Add to that the traffic from Lancaster Apartments behind Clarkston Motors and the problem is intensified, said Holman.

Since the Lancaster developers are ready to begin Phase II of the 276-unit project, the traffic issue should be solved before the project is built, according to the planning commission, said Holman.

several decisions regarding plans for the proposed new high school.

After discussing the past performance of the architectural firm, Charles W. Sherman & Associates of Bloomfield Hills, which oversaw the building of the multipurpose rooms on Clarkston's five elementary schools, the board voted unanimously to retain the firm for architectural plans and for managing the building of the high school if voters approve necessary tax hike.

The board then voted to wait until after June 8 to proceed with previously approved plans to seek voter approval of $25 million for a new high school and $19 million for repairs, remodeling and renovation of existing school buildings.

"If they (the voters) can't vote yes on 4.25 (mills), then we have no choice," said board member Elaine Schultz.

Schultz.

"If you can't run with what you've got, you can't add to it," said board member John Needham.

The board also gave Superintendent Milford Mason the go-ahead to continue pre-negotiations for the 90 to 100 acres that would be needed for a new high school. Under consideration is property at White Lake Road and Dixie Highway.

If the new high school is eventually approved by voters, the existing Clarkston Junior High School building would be used by community education; CHS would become a middle school for grades six through eight, and the new CHS would include up-to-date, science and computer labs; swimming pool, football stadium and athletic fields.

A special board meeting is planned Thursday, June 11, to meet with Sherman & Associates and review progress on building plans to date.

Density doubles for 121 rural acres

Developer Ben Benson passed the first step for a 121-acre subdivision on Sashabaw Road when the Independence Township Board approved a zoning change.

On May 19, voting 5-1 against a planning commission recommendation, the board approved rezoning that will allow 1.5-acre lots. The previous zoning required a minimum of 3 acres.

Clerk Richard Holman was absent. Supervisor Frank Ronk, Treasurer John Lutz and trustees Daniel Travis, Dale Stuart and William Vandermark voted "yes."

Trustee Carol Balzarini voted "no." At the May 5 meeting, Balzarini said the township should preserve rural zoning and that the zoning change may encourage others with rural zoning to seek changes.

Before construction can begin, site plan approvals are needed from the planning commission. The property is west of Sashabaw Road between Independence Oaks and Clarkston Road.

Blood drive Monday

The chance to donate blood is coming in June. Calvary Lutheran Church, 6805 Bluegrass Dr., Independence Township, is hosting a Community Blood Drive from 2 to 8 p.m. on Monday, June 1, for the American Red Cross.

The church hopes to find more blood donors than in previous years, said Cindy Love, an organizer of the event.

"We'd like to get 50, but unless the community really helps, I don't know if we'll do it," she said.

5 win praise at award breakfast

BY JULIE CAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Applause, orange juice, scrambled eggs and beaming faces greeted five winners of the Michigan Week Community Awards last Wednesday.

One hundred fifteen people attended the second annual breakfast at 7:30 at the Deer Lake Racquet Club.

The following were honored: Lillian Bauer, citizen; Rademacher Group I, property beautification; George "Rex" Fenstemaker, volunteer; Kathleen L. Greenfield, business person; and Jennifer Radcliff, historic preservation.

"I was pleased with everything," said Christine Downing, chairperson of the event. "I was glad to see the community respond to it. . . . I'm looking forward to next year."

Master of ceremonies William Belaney, executive vice president of Pontiac State Bank, complimented the recipients for their outstanding contributions to the community.

Bauer, a Clarkston resident for 50 years, was honored for her hard work and dedication as secretary for the Village of Clarkston and the Clarkston United Methodist Church. She also volunteers for other groups.

Rademacher Group I, comprised of Thomas Rademacher, Richard Ayers, Charles Bowles, Rudy Lozano and Ken Rogers, was honored for the landscaping and construction of the 52nd District Court House and office buildings on Lorac Drive. The 23,000-square-foot, two-story Early American building was praised for conforming to the historic charm of the area.

Fenstemaker, a 50-year Clarkston resident, was honored for his outstanding work as a volunteer firefighter, a maintenance volunteer at the fire department and for contributing his time for community projects.

Greenfield, editor of The Clarkston News for seven years, was honored for her professionalism and contributions to the community in representing government, schools, churches, groups and other happenings in the area.

Radcliff was honored for her donations of time, energy and talents to maintain the historic qualities of the area, specifically the restoration of the John Green house, built in 1857. The exterior has been restored to the mid-19th century design, while the interior has been restored to be used adaptively.

Dixie parcel rezoned

A 14,400-square-foot parcel of land on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, may now hold an office building.

On May 19, the township board voted 6-0 to approve rezoning the property from single family residential to office.

South of White Lake Road, the site is on the east side of Dixie Highway between Cummings and Lakeview roads.

Owner Dave Plautz plans to build after he receives the the necessary site plan approvals from the planning commission, he said.

Resident cards ease exit from Pine Knob

People with Clarkston mailing addresses can receive resident cards from the Pine Knob Music Theatre.

When placed in vehicle windshields, the cards will allow drivers to turn left on Clarkston Road when using the Pine Knob Road exit after music theater shows. Those without cards will be directed by traffic control officers to turn right.

Proof of residency is required when requesting a card. A driver's license will do.

The cards can be picked up at the music theater's main trailer, adjacent to the music theater parking lot, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The cards are valid for the 1987 music theater season.

Thomas Rademacher and his wife Carol [center] are congratulated after Rademacher

Group I received the 1987 property beautification award for the Clarkston area.

Lillian Bauer is citizen of the year for the Clarkston area.

Howard Huttenlocher [right], 1986 citizen of the year, congratulates Rex Fenstemaker, 1987 volunteer of the year.

Jennifer Radcliff has won the 1987 historic preservation award.

Kathleen Greenfield, here with her husband Dick, is business person of the year.

Computers OK'd

About $26,000 in computers may improve efficiency in four Independence Township departments. On May 19, the township board unanimously approved the computer purchases for three departments.

An IBM personal computer and terminal at $5,000, per set, were approved for the clerk's and for the treasurer's office. For $4,000, the department of public works is to receive one terminal and the equipment to connect it via phone lines to the township's main frame.

The computers are to be used for billing, word processing, budget preparation, record management and other uses, said Clerk Richard Holman after the meeting.

The board voted 4-3 to approve the purchase of three IBM personal computers with printers and disk drives for the fire department. The cost is $12,000.

Trustees Dale Stuart, William Vandermark and Daniel Travis voted "no" because they objected to spending that much money without a test trial of one computer, said Holman.

Others voted for the purchase because the fire department dispatches from all three stations and only one computer couldn't be tested, he said.

Scouts elect Eberhardt

Carol Eberhardt was recently elected second vice president of the Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council.

Eberhardt, a Clarkston resident, was named to the post at the 66th annual meeting held at Oakland University May 6.

The Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council is a United Way/United Foundation Agency.

On the ballot

More questions on two tax requests

On June 8, Clarkston school district voters face two local questions—the renewal of a 3.79-mill property tax and a request for 4.25 mills.

This is the second of a three-part series of most frequently asked questions of the Citizens for Millage Committee. Coordinators of this committee are Jerry Reeves, Alan Weverstad, Michele Weverstad and William Potvin.

Next week's topics: Voting information, how Clarkston compares, cost to homeowners.

Q. Besides the millage request, what is the district doing to respond to the projected budget deficit?

A. At a special meeting on April 6, the board of education authorized staff and program cuts totaling $1,020,962.

Personnel reductions included 6.25 elementary teachers, 7.5 secondary teachers, one special education teacher, one administrator, nine teacher aides and 6.5 auxiliary staff for a total of $694,590.

Non-personnel cutbacks amounting to $346,370 included a 12 percent reduction in teaching supplies, elimination of planned purchase of computers for the elementary and junior high schools, and cuts to seventh- and eighth-grade athletics.

An additional $201,265 targeted for new programs will not be implemented.

Q. What will the new millage be used for?

A. The list follows:

- Purchase of computers for junior high and elementary schools.
- Science textbooks for grades K-8.
- Health textbooks for grade seven.
- Social studies textbooks for grade nine.
- Essential Math, Applied Algebra and World History textbooks for high school.
- Instruction for word processing in grade five.

- Instruction in German in grade six and junior high.
- Purchase of textbooks for German classes.
- Introduction of visual arts program in grades K-3.

- Expanded staff training in teaching skills.
- Purchase of Computer Application textbooks for junior high.
- Instrumental Enrichment program in grades 8-10.

- Girls interscholastic athletic program in grades 7 and 8.

Q. What if only the 3.79 mills is approved?

A. The planned $1,020,962 reductions in staff, programs and supplies will be implemented along with $201,265 in new programs which will not be implemented.

These cutbacks coupled with a shrinking fund balance will seriously impact the quality of education Clarkston can provide its students.

Q. What if both issues are defeated in June?

A. Additional cuts of at least $1,653,502 beyond those indicated above will be made in both staff and programs.

Q. When was the last millage increase?

A. In 1981, a request for an additional 3 mills was supported. A bond issue to build the multipurpose rooms passed in 1984.

Q. What has happened to the plans to improve facilities?

A. The board of education has agreed to place a bond issue proposal before the voters for a new high school and renovation of other buildings.

This is contingent upon the successful passage of the 3.79 renewal and 4.25 new mills on June 8. If both millages are successful, the issue may appear in late September/early October or in January 1988.

Kathy Greenfield

It was a reporter's nightmare. As I remember, Julie Campe volunteered to be the one to cover the Community Awards breakfast last week.

Since I was the recipient of the business person award, on the day before, I provided some special instructions for my employee: "Don't take very many pictures of me."

"OK, Kathy," she agreed.

Bright and early the next morning, the plot thickened, for also in attendance at the breakfast was Jim Sherman, the publisher and owner of The Clarkston News.

Sherman, bless him, was also providing instructions for Julie. What he said was something like this, "Take lots of pictures of Kathy."

Julie had no choice. That's exactly what she did.

I started to get a little uncomfortable when every time I looked up, there was Julie aiming her camera and "popping flashbulbs."

"Julie," I said through gritted teeth. "Stop taking my picture!"

She just smiled.

I figured out what was happening when Sherman motioned Julie over and began drawing a diagram on the back of a program.

Back at the office, she relayed his instructions, accompanied me to the front of The Clarkston News building and said things like, "OK, now look at the bakeshop . . . now look at me . . . now look at that car over there."

The UPS delivery person happened by and shared his amusement over the apparent situation.

Later, Julie and I had a good laugh over the events of the morning. She did manage to get a flattering photograph of me during the breakfast. There were also some that would serve well in the blackmail department.

Surprise for 75

Normally, Wednesdays are those orphan days of the week that belong neither to "new week" status nor to the "early weekend" push.

But Blue & Gold Club members managed to make Wednesday, May 20, a Red Letter Day for a group of very surprised teachers at Clarkston High School.

What a treat to be greeted by red carpet service and tickertape celebrity. From banners to balloons and cookies to carnations, the students really did "go ahead . . . and make our day!"

It's no small task to throw a party for 75, and we sincerely acknowledge all their hard work and appreciate all their efforts on our behalf.

Super day—super group, Blue & Gold!

A resounding thank you to our newest service group and to all the CHS students from all your teachers.

Jim's Jottings

We opened pike season in the Upper last week. The "we" is my friend Pansy Baldwin and I.

Pansy is the guy, some will remember from previous Jottings, who gets bewildered looks when introduced. Some also recall our saying calling this man Pansy is like calling a 300-pounder, Tiny.

Pansy, ain't!

We've fished together over 35 years, seldom catching anything legal. But, May 15 was my day. I caught a pike big enough for a shore lunch.

I caught the largest perch of my life, 12-incher. And I caught the largest rainbow trout of my life, 12-inch, which I topped a half hour later with a 14-incher.

I had hold of something much bigger. It really grabbed my line. "I got this one hooked," I told my surprised companion.

Right, I caught a DNR net . . . it didn't fight at all.

But, this column isn't about fishing, it's about camp, or rather, camp food. We believe fishing and hunting camp diets should be meat, potatoes, bacon, eggs and bread. That's all.

Fried potatoes, bacon, eggs and toast for breakfast, meat sandwiches at lunch and meat and potatoes for dinner, the latter embellished with a suitable toast to, "It don't get any better than this."

However, the womenfolk like to send "things" to camp. We don't mind the cookies and cakes, but they also send dips, relishes, cheese corn puffs, and this time, of all things, Rice Pilaf.

Pansy and I know what rice is, but not a Pilaf. He said it was something Mrs Baldwin was "into" these days, but something she doesn't eat.

After another toast and considerable discussion, we still didn't conclude if it was a main dish, appetizer, or side dish.

Nor could we figure out the directions Mrs Baldwin sent.

"If too dry, add a bit of water. If too moist-cook with lid off."

When you figure we didn't know what we had in the first place, how were we to judge too dry or moist? Anyway, the stuff wasn't too bad after we added enough Lawrey and Accent seasoning.

Other "things" Mrs Baldwin sees we have enough of in camp is rhubarb and prunes. Usually, each is accompanied with a note about regularity.

Since Pansy and I are just about as "regular" guys as you'll find anywhere, I don't know why his wife keeps sending these same jars, year after year.

Editorial

'Trust me,' Uncle Sam keeps saying

Americans can't find out which U. S. firms are doing business with the Soviet Union. Under the Export Administration Act it's kept secret.

Thus we are deprived of finding out just who's profiting from improving life in the very country that the White House suggests in its military budget is evil, unfriendly, and untrustworthy.

And, if we can't find out what U. S. businesses are selling to the Soviet Union, we are unable to tell whether Americans are figuratively selling the Soviets the rope they may use to hang us someday.

The Arizona Republic newspaper in Phoenix sued the U.S. to get the names released of businesses selling things to Russia.

Our government hired eight attorneys to fight the newspaper in Federal Court in San Francisco. It's cost the Republic $19,000 in two years, guess what it's cost the taxpayers?

Our country has a Freedom of Information Act and the First Amendment that says the public has a right to know many things, but apparently not what the government doesn't want to tell.

What's wrong with our knowing what American companies are selling to Russia? Our government says this might reveal secrets to competitors.

What it comes down to is Uncle Sam saying "trust me!"

There's nothing wrong with trusting people. We all have to trust some people some of the time. But there is also such a thing as false trust, or putting our trust in the wrong places/people. We trust this isn't one of them. JAS

We welcome our readers' opinions. Letters to the editor must arrive at The Clarkston News office by noon Monday to be considered for publication in Wednesday's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual on any one topic. 'Daze' cheers

I would like to congratulate and thank the Clarkston Rotary Club, Independence Parks and Recreation and all of the people involved in the Clarkston Fun Daze.

I'm sure that I don't know who they all are, but I know it takes a tremendous amount of time and effort for an activity like this to be the success that it was.

The 5-K and 10-K courses were both very challenging, and it was rewarding to know that one could conquer all those hills and return to the refreshments and raffle drawings in the park.

With the help of Mother Nature, it turned out to be a beautiful day for Clarkston and anyone who took advantage of the day's activities.

Once again, our hats are off to all involved and we're very much looking forward to the 2nd Annual Clarkston Fun Daze Run.

Courthouse tale

My first experience at the luxury extravaganza courthouse located in Independence Township was very educational.

My traffic ticket, termed "disobeyed traffic signal," was issued by a state police officer. It was very questionable to say the least, but she reminded me I could take the case to court.

My experience in our court of justice was a real eye-opener and an expression of no justice for the taxpayer.

This ticket was issued a few weeks ago and I made an appeal for an informal court hearing, inasmuch as the infraction was very questionable and should be reviewed by a judge.

I appeared for my court date at 3 p.m. and my case was finally heard at 4:45 p.m. by his Honor Judge McNally.

My courtroom waiting proved very interesting because everyone who appeared before the judge walked away with no points but a $40 traffic fine.

I counted approximately $1,000 in traffic fines during my two-hour ritual plus a wedding ceremony. I'm not certain who paid in this case.

I finally appeared before the judge and after 15 minutes of "point of no return" discussion, he admitted that the violation was very questionable, but considering my 78 years and no accidents or violations for over 30 years, he would reduce the fine from his usual $40 to a mere $25 and no points.

I will admit at this point I was just about ready to blow my stack, but I contained myself, and walked disgustedly out of the court.

I have another frustration to be made at this point. Why must an arresting state officer be present at any of these informal court hearings?

I'm completely confident a detailed report on all traffic violations are completed with the issuance of every violation.

My question is: How can our police protection be reasonably effective in the protection of the general public, particularly today with drugs and crime running rampant throughout the Michigan area.

I counted eight state police officers present in court that day waiting for their particular traffic violation cases to come before the judge.

I paid the $25 fine, despite the fact that the judge only listened to the arresting state police officer. So they call this a court of justice for all!

I could take my "federal case" to a circuit court, but after my experience, I'm reasonably certain I can find more constructive endeavors to waste my precious hours.

I have lost faith in our judicial system.

Where's music?

I am so disappointed in The Clarkston News!

There have been musical concerts at all levels of our school system since May 3 and not one picture or special article was printed.

These students and teachers work extremely hard all year to bring entertainment and culture to students and parents alike.

Gloria Lacey, the newest member of the musical team, teaches at three elementary schools.

She is a brilliant teacher. The children respond to her with enthusiasm and respect. Her Andersonville Elementary concert May 12 ended with a standing ovation and an armful of flowers.

She's a rare and beautiful person and one this community needs to keep.

If The Clarkston News would only support such outstanding teachers and programs, we might pass the upcoming millage and have a better balanced education.

Heavy writing for all

Jim Fitzgerald

Unaccustomed as I am to public speaking, I was asked to say a few words upon being honored at the annual dinner of the Metropolitan Detroit Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union on Thursday. The following is my speech.

Thanks a lot. When it was revealed in the newspaper that the ACLU agreed with something I wrote - agreed enough to give me an award - I heard from a few of my fans. They said they'd always suspected I was a pinko commie homo bleeding heart, and now - thanks to my ACLU endorsement - they know it for sure.

As usual, I thanked these fans for their letters and phone calls, and for not wrapping their messages around rocks and throwing them through my living room window. I like to think this unbroken window means my detractors are finally buckling under the power of my pen, and while they still disagree with my opinions, they no longer wish me violence. But more likely it means they can't throw rocks as high as my 26th-floor apartment.

When I was a newspaper writer living nearer the ground, in a small rural town, rocks were thrown against my home, a cross was burned on my lawn, and my effigy was hung in my doorway. Whistles and pious threats were made against my physical well-being, and I was especially impressed when an unhappy reader threatened to punish my wife for something liberal I wrote.

THIS ALWAYS works in the movies and on TV - the brave hero never fears for his own life but caves gentlemanly when the villain threatens his spouse. My response was to write a column extolling equal rights for women in all sectors, including the right to suffer for her husband's freedom of the press. That's how one male feminist was born.

That was around 25 years ago. In those days, in that small, Republican, all-white rural town, a question often asked was: Why does our crazy editor write so much about the civil rights of minorities when we don't have any minorities?

Why indeed? The reasons began simply, at age 18, during World War II, when I saw black soldiers treated differently from white soldiers. They were segregated into the most menial jobs and into the worst barracks at the swampy end of the training camp. They weren't allowed to attend the "white" chapels and when I asked a chaplain why, he told me to stop causing troubles to quell. "That's not fair, especially it's not fair in the United States. What about the Bill of Rights?" I said then. And ever since I've worried about what's not fair, and in the quest for fairness, I've caused a little trouble. Always I've tried to disagree with the bigots and fascists without being disagreeable - give them a laugh with the barb - but haven't always succeeded.

In 1967, when the riots closed Detroit liquor stores, many blacks drove 65 miles north to buy liquor at the store across the street from my office. Several readers suggested the editor should spend a day counting all the blacks buying booze to get drunk and cause trouble. Instead, I counted all the whites buying booze, including members of the local clergy, and speculated that because many more whites than blacks bought liquor, whites must cause much more trouble.

AFTER I WROTE editorials like that, it was often suggested that I move to Detroit and live with "them." Eleven years ago I took that advice, and the most gratifying thing that's happened to me since I arrived is to be honored by the ACLU.

Some of my critics say they love it when I write about my granddaughter Emily and I should do it all the time and forget the heavy ACLU-type stuff. I say I write the heavy ACLU-type stuff for Emily - and everyone else's grandchildren.

The ACLU operated on the principle that the violation of one person's civil liberties weakens the civil liberties of all of us - including Emily. There is no principle more important than that.

People are the name of his bowling game

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Bowling is as popular as ever, says Al Allard of Cherry Hill Lanes North on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Al Allard, a 22-year employee of Cherry Hill Lanes North, formerly Howe's Lanes, doesn't bowl himself, but he knows almost every aspect about the game.

A Waterford Township resident, Al started working at the bowling alley 22 years ago, when it was called Howe's Lanes.

"I used to work on Saturday mornings with Mrs. Howe, with all the kids," said Al. "We had about 200 kids in here through the day. Now that was exciting, kids running everywhere. That activity keeps you young."

Al does just about everything, from laying carpet and taking care of the pins to fixing the scoring machines—a "Jack of all trades, master of none," he called himself.

"In the course of the years, I've washed dishes, cooked hamburgers, tended bar, run the counter, painted the building—many a time—cleaned up," he said.

"My biggest wish is that people who bowl could go back and see the mechanism and how it works, so that when something goes wrong, they'll know how long it takes to fix it. Most people have no idea, and it's a total disaster."

"It's hectic when you're trying to keep 100 women happy at one time, to make sure they get started at the same time in their leagues."

Just the same, Al likes his job, he said.

"It's something different every day, it seems like," he said. "You meet thousands of people through the years. There's not many places I go where I don't see someone I know. I enjoy working with my hands, and that's basically what I do."

"What keeps a person on the job are the people you work with," he said. "The Howes were great people, and this bunch are really nice, easy people to work with," said Al.

Likewise, the manager, Ken Hochstein, has praise for Al.

"He's sort of our all-round handy man," said Ken. "He came as part of the furniture and fixtures. We've come to rely on him, as far as our mornings go. He does a little bit of everything—more than he's asked to do. I appreciate the extra effort in everything."

In his tenure at the bowling alley, Al's had a few surprises, he said.

"I found a guy locked in the bar one day," he said. "One morning I opened the door, and he said, 'Hi.'"

The man had been locked in all night, Al said. "Once, I was working here early one morning on these machines. All the doors were unlocked. I saw something move. I looked again, and it was a man with a gun. He saw me and pointed it at me."

It turned out to be the police, he said. Someone had called to report a suspicious truck—Al's—parked outside the bowling alley.

But that's all part of the variety of the job, Al said.

Do you know someone who works in the Clarkston area and deserves recognition for a job well done? We'd like to share your praise. Call The Clarkston News at 625-3370 weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. or drop us a line at 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Sheriff's log

Monday, a trailer was stolen from a Hawksmoore Road address, Independence Township.

Monday, a $200 video cassette recorder and four tapes worth $227.80 were rented from an Independence Township video rental business and they were never returned. The renter no longer lives at his listed address.

Tuesday, a license plate was stolen from a vehicle on Ivy Court, Independence Township.

Tuesday, two Independence Township residents were given tickets for fishing without licenses in a stream off Eastview, Independence Township.

Tuesday, a Springfield Township resident left her purse in an Independence Township fast food restaurant. When she returned an hour later, the purse and the contents were gone, including $150 cash and a 35mm camera.

Tuesday, someone entered a Whipple Lake Road, Independence Township, home through a bedroom window but didn't take anything. Apparently, the thief was interrupted by the return of the owner.

Wednesday, plywood and studs were stolen from a Pine Valley Street address in Independence Township.

Wednesday, with a key or screwdriver, someone scratched a car roof on Felix Drive, Independence Township, causing over $100 damage.

Wednesday, someone destroyed golf ball washers worth $125 at Spring Lake Country Club, Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Thursday, 10 large landscaping rocks were taken from a yard on Indian Trail, Independence Township.

The above information was compiled from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Tickets on sale for CHS grad party

It should be a party to remember. That's the word from organizers of the Clarkston High School class of 1987 post-graduation party.

The party, planned to follow the graduation ceremony June 8, will take place in the Deer Lake Racquet Club.

Tickets at $10 a person went on sale at the school last Wednesday during lunch hour, and nearly 20 were sold the first day.

"We've had a very positive response from students and parents alike," says Pat Unsworth, co-chairman of the event.

Tickets will be on sale every lunch hour in the main lobby of Clarkston High School and will continue to be sold up until the day of graduation rehearsal, June 5.

Door prizes to be given away at the graduation party will be showcased at the school, with different displays each week.

In addition to door prizes given away during the party, ticket purchasers could win even before the event.

A drawing after the first 100 tickets are sold will net the winning ticket holder two center front seats to the Beach Boys concert at Pine Knob. The prize for a drawing after the second 100 tickets are sold is a free ticket to the graduation party.

Doors at the racquet club will open at 10 p.m. for the party and close at 11 p.m. (Students must arrive during that hour and cannot return if they leave.) The party will continue until around 3 or 3:30 a.m., with lots of activities squeezed into those hours.

In addition to the use of the banquet rooms, swimming pool, tennis and racquet ball courts, there will be a moonwalk, casino games, a hypnotist show, videos of school activities and of the party itself, an impromptu air band contest, a disc jockey and a few surprises, too.

Among the surprises are "something special" planned for senior pictures which are part of the admission "price." The graduates will all get their pictures back.

And of course, there will be lots and lots of food, Unsworth says.

"I'm overwhelmed with the response of the community and all the help and donations we have received for this party," she says.

More information about the Clarkston High School class of 1987 post-graduation party is available by calling Unsworth at 625-3985 or co-chairman Dod Savas at 625-8285.

The site plan for a new building on Dixie Highway next to Kim's Convenience Store was approved May 13 by the Springfield Township Board.

The developers of the proposed six-unit structure anticipate it to house a pizza store, video store, law office, dry cleaners and print shop.

The building will share a single drive with the convenience store. Michael Odette and Charlie Rash are owners of the two properties.

The combination of the two properties as a single tax parcel, the planting and replacement of designated trees and movement of the sign were changes made before approval was granted.

The motion was carried by six votes.

Barn approved

A proposed 4-H Pole Barn received support from the Springfield Township Board on May 13.

Board members passed a motion to charge only cost for the site review plan and waived the building fee for the 10,600-square-foot structure that will not include electricity or plumbing.

Steve Jantz of Springfield Township asked if the action would set a precedent and how the board would determine what organizations receive a fee reduction. Due to this concern, Trustee William Whitley voted against the motion.

During discussion, board members said the action would not be precedent setting, that the site planner had already decided not to charge 4-H and that the building would also serve for community use.

The site for the proposed building is the Springfield Oaks Activities Center on Andersonville Road.

Business briefs

Schutte is promoted

Bill Schutte, a Clarkston area resident, has been promoted to energy services supervisor by the Consumers Power Co., Jackson. He will supervise a crew of eight people responsible for installing gas mains and new gas services. Schutte began his career with Consumers Power in 1972. He is married and has two sons.

Consumers Power's metro region serves over 630,000 customers in southeast Michigan.

Chiropractor award

Two Clarkston area chiropractors were in the spotlight at the recent state convention of the Michigan Chiropractic Council (MCC) in Lansing.

Dr. John Cowan headed the convention in his role as president of the MCC and Dr. Keith DeLap received the MCC's Outstanding Service Award at the gathering of chiropractors from throughout the state.

"It is a real pleasure for me to give this award to a man with whom I have had extensive professional involvement," said Cowan. "I am very aware of the unselfish devotion to the profession Keith has demonstrated with no reward other than personal satisfaction and the gratitude of his peers."

Agency joins 'Big I'

Towncenter Underwriters Inc. of Clarkston has joined the Independent Insurance Agents of Michigan (IIAM), headquartered in Lansing. Marvin Zmudzynski is president of Towncenter Underwriters.

Through his affiliation with "the Big I," Zmudzynski subscribes to a professional code of ethics and receives the benefits of membership in the state's largest organization of insurance agencies.

IIAM membership is comprised of 1,050 agencies and 6,000 insurance professionals.

Pletcher is president

Android Corp. of Springfield Township has announced a series of expansion moves including the appointment of Robert L. Pletcher as president. The firm, on Dixie Highway, manufactures high-speed assembly machines and systems. Pletcher brings to Android more than 30 years' experience in the machine tool industry and hi-tech equipment manufacturing business. He studied engineering at the University of Detroit. With Pletcher at its helm, the firm plans to launch an extensive expansion program, said R.R. Nazy, chairman of the board and chief executive officer. Android recently moved its operations to the building formerly occupied by Sys-mation.

Thanks on menu

Throughout the school year, parent volunteers help make life a little easier for teachers and staffs.

Now, as the academic year is coming to a close, schools are repaying the favor. Volunteers in all the schools are being recognized for their efforts.

Normally, volunteer recognition luncheons are scheduled at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Center.

But the teachers and staff of Andersonville Elementary School are putting a new twist on the luncheon—they are preparing it themselves and serving it at the school.

The idea may have originated in March when the PTO, with the help of many volunteers, prepared the annual teacher appreciation luncheon.

"The luncheon at the Voc. Center is lovely, but the teachers wanted to be personally involved," says Andersonville Elementary Principal Sharon Devereaux.

The entire staff at Andersonville Elementary School is helping with the project.

"It was their decision to do this," Devereaux says. "I was delighted."

Seventy-five parents have been invited to the school's multi-purpose room on May 27 for the 11:30 a.m. luncheon. Among other things, the staff is preparing spaghetti, salad and desserts. They are even preparing the table settings.

Teachers will be dropping in during their breaks to help out and greet parents, according to Devereaux.

Clarkston Schools Superintendent Milford Mason has been invited to attend, and will be presenting awards to the volunteers, acknowledging their participation in the school system.

Following the luncheon, students will entertain the volunteers with a musical performance.

"We really have volunteers that do everything," Devereaux says. "They help out all the time. They're marvelous."

"And we have a nice spirit between families and teaching staff," she says. "There's real appreciation on both sides."

Church praised

A conceptual site plan was approved and a special land use granted for a 130-seat church on 6 acres on Clarkston Road, west of Sashabaw Road, in Independence Township.

The minister of the Crossroads Free Will Baptist Church had submitted the request several years ago, but the request had expired, said township planner Richard Carlisle.

On May 14, the township planning commission unanimously approved the conceptual site plan and special land use, contingent upon zoning board of appeals approval for minimum lot width and width-to-depth ratio requirements.

"I want to compliment the developer on a nice landscaping plan. It was very well done and will complement the building," said Chairperson Joseph Figa.

After the meeting, the Rev. Jim Walker said construction is to begin as soon as final approval is received.

Loans available

Some businesses in Independence Township may be eligible for low-interest loans for building improvements.

The township board unanimously approved a resolution on May 19 adopting a commercial assistance program (CAP), a method to help communities improve their business districts by providing loans through federal Community Development Block Grants.

The township approved the resolution for use in the Downtown Development Authority, an area on parts of Dixie Highway and M-15 designated for revitalization by the township.

According to an Oakland County CAP brochure, eligible projects can include the following: exterior building work, exterior property work, interior building work, energy conservation, handicapped access, additions, grounds improvements and property acquisition.

Wolverines win final dual meet

Clarkston Junior High School's boys and girls track teams finished the 1987 season in style May 23 at the Oakland County ninth-grade track meet at Milford.

The boys finished fifth out of the 24 competing teams. The Wolverines were the top junior high team at the meet. (The top four teams were from four-year high schools.)

John King took third place in the shot put and sixth in the 440-yard dash. Ed Gilleland finished fifth in the high hurdles.

Eric Becker placed sixth in the 220 dash. The mile relay team (King, Fritz Lamm, Joel Lowe and Becker) and the 440 squad (Jeff Locher, Lamm, Lowe and Becker) finished fifth in their events and the 880 team (King, Lowe, Locher, Becker) took third.

The girls team finished eighth out of the field of 22 teams. Several Wolverines had outstanding performances.

Rhonda Jokisch took second in the high jump.

Jenny Mahler finished third in the two-mile run and fourth in the mile and Celeste Steinhelper ended up fourth in the 440 run.

Michelle Folwell placed fourth in the 100 dash, fifth in the 220 dash and sixth in the 440 run.

The two-mile relay team of Robyn Harris, Missy Sloan, Nancy Needham and Jenny Mahler finished fifth at the meet.

"I am very pleased," said Coach Mike Taylor. "Everybody came through as well or better than expected."

In their final dual meet of the season, Clarkston coasted past Pierce at home.

The boys team closed out its season with a 3-2 record after a 75-41 win May 20. The only two teams able to beat the Wolverines were Sashabaw and Lake Orion.

"These guys are the hardest working group I have ever had here," said Taylor. "I'm real proud of them."

King won the shot put (35-2) as well as the 400-yard dash (56.48) for the Wolverines.

Lamm won the long jump with a leap of 16 feet, 1 inch and Gilleland took first in the 110 hurdles with a time of 18.52.

Locher finished first in the 100 dash (12.20) and teammate Tom Holliday ended up a close second (12.42).

Holliday won the 800 run, crossing the finish line in 2:25.30. Becker took top honors in the 200 dash with a time of 24.86.

The boys team also won the 800 relay (1:42.31).

Reflecting on the season, Taylor said he has noticed some improvement in the team. He also knows why the squad got better and better.

"There is a lot of leadership on this team," said Taylor. "It's a quiet kind. They just go out and do (their job)."

The girls team defeated Pierce 80-41 to up their mark to 4-1.

The team's only loss came against Sashabaw this season.

"The girls team is really talented this year," said Taylor.

Shannon Vagts and Folwell paced the girls victory by winning two events apiece.

Vagts took first in the shot put (23-8) and the discus (66-10). Folwell won the 100 dash (13.33) and the 200 dash (28.62).

Other winners for Clarkston were Jokisch in the high jump (4-0), Mahler in the 1600 run (5:45.44), Steinhelper in the 400 dash, Sloan in the 800 run and Harris in the 3200 run with a time of 14:52.62.

The Wolverines also won the 400 and the 1600 relay races.

Girls track

Ladd, Fedio qualify for states

Clarkston's girls track team came within a point of defending their Greater Oakland Activities League championship at Wisner Stadium May 19.

Ali Fedio, Wendy Cohoon, Lisa Ladd, Kate Conlen and Melissa Elfes all won individual events for the Wolves.

Pontiac Northern won the GOAL championship with 85 points.

Lake Orion finished a distant third with 38 points, Waterford Mott took fourth with 29 and Waterford Kettering finished fifth with 16.

"We ran real well," said Coach Gordie Richardson of the Wolves' effort at the league meet. "Another point or two here or there and we have won it."

Fedio won the discus with a throw of 103 feet, seven inches. Ladd won the long jump with a 16-foot, 3-inch leap.

Cohoon had a busy and successful day, winning two individual events and running a leg on a first-place relay team.

She won the high jump (4-10) and the 800-meter run (2:27.1) by herself.

Along with teammates Conlen, Elfes and Green, she helped Clarkston win the 3200 relay with a time of 10:09.

Distance running is one of the strengths of the team.

Conlen won the 1600 run for the Wolves with a time of 5:41. Elfes finished first in the 3200 run (12:33.5).

One-race Pontiac Northern picked up valuable points in was the 1600 relay race.

"They just had better kids in that event," said Richardson.

The Wolves didn't have much time to ponder the loss as they prepared themselves for a weekend tournament.

The girls team traveled to Hazel Park High School Friday for the Oakland County Track Meet.

The Wolves didn't field an entire team due to injuries and prom night, but one athlete did manage to record her best performance to date.

Detroit Country Day, Rochester and Pontiac Northern were the top three schools at the meet.

Fedio finished second in the discus. She is headed for the state meet Saturday along with teammate Ladd.

While they didn't field an entire squad, the Wolves still accomplished what they had wanted to.

"I'm really happy with our performance," said Richardson. "It's been an interesting year."

Wolves blitz Oxford in 2nd half

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Incentives helped get the automakers out of hot water and Hana Olsen used the same technique to get Clarkston's varsity soccer team back in gear May 21.

The Wolves trailed winless Oxford 2-0 at halftime and appeared headed toward an embarrassing loss at home.

But a pep talk by Olsen—offering a few extra days off in exchange for a better second-half performance—inspired her troops to score four unanswered goals in a 4-2 win.

"They (her players) probably thought that it was going to be an easy game," said Olsen. Clarkston defeated Oxford 6-0 earlier in the season.

Oxford got in front early on goals by Jacqui Spicer and Sally Clark.

Clarkston came out flat in the first half and allowed Oxford to control the play. But the second half was a completely different story.

It didn't take long for Olsen's halftime pep talk to start working.

Tracy Roek scored the first goal for the Wolves during the opening moments of the second half.

That goal seemed to make Clarkston more confident as it continued to swarm around the Oxford net searching for an opportunity to tie the game.

The Wolves didn't have to wait long. Jackie Jablanski booted in the game-tying goal a few minutes later from short range. Oxford just missed netting another goal seconds before Jablanski scored.

Shelly Purdy knocked in the eventual game-winning goal midway through the second half for the Wolves.

But the game was far from over. Oxford still had one more golden opportunity to tie the game when Spicer broke in alone down the sideline on goalie Sue Haran. Spicer cut in front of the net and drilled a hard shot just over the cross bar.

Ruth Webb sent the crowd home happy when she added an insurance goal with a little tip-in by the side of the net late in the game. Brigitte Brown had and assist on the play.

The victory ups the Wolves' record to 8-7. The team is currently ranked first in its district.

Olsen was quite relieved that her team was able to regroup in the second half to defeat Oxford.

"We wouldn't have been able to live this one down if we had lost," said Olsen.

The coach said that a combination of things probably led to her team's sluggish start in the game.

The heat and humidity, studying for final exams and prom night made it hard to concentrate on the game, said Olsen.

"Sometimes it's just all in your head," she said. "You just have to say you are going to do it and then do it."

With a mighty kick, senior Ruth Webb advances the ball downfield against Oxford on May 21.

Webb scored the final goal in a furious second-half comeback for the Wolves.

Clarkston wins tourney game

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston flexed its muscles a little Monday during a 5-3 decision over Lakeland in a George Gary Tournament game.

The Wolves defeated Lakeland in their opening game of the tourney in Pontiac's Jaycee Park.

Two big hits helped Clarkston overcome the strong Lakeland pitchers.

Gary Ritch slammed a three-run home run to left field in the bottom of the fourth inning to hand Clarkston its first lead of the game and Mike Peel poked one out the sixth to seal the win.

"It was a nice way to win," said Coach Roy Warner. "We got a couple of key shots in there."

Jeff Tungate pitched a complete game to pick up the victory. He allowed six hits while fanning six and walking just two batters.

Lakeland opened the scoring in the first inning when it turned a walk, sacrifice and a single into a run.

That's how the score remained until Ritch connected in the fourth inning with Josh Newblatt and Peel on the bases.

Lakeland rallied to tie the score at 3-3 the next inning and nearly took the lead. Clarkston threw out a runner at the plate.

Aside from the home runs, Clarkston didn't have very many opportunities to score.

The Wolves scored only one run without help from the long ball. That run came in the fifth inning.

With two outs and nobody on base, Stacey Turner beat out an infield single by diving into first base.

Rob Ronk was safe at first on an error, putting runners on first and third for Newblatt.

Newblatt hit what appeared to be a harmless fly ball to center but it caromed off the fielder's glove and Turner was able to score.

Ronk also tried to score on the play but was thrown out to end the inning.

Tungate allowed only two hits over the final two innings to hold Lakeland in check.

"(Lakeland) has plenty of good hitters," he said. "They are a good ball club."

Clarkston defeated Lakeland 10-3 earlier this season, but Warner knew his club would be in for a battle.

The Wolves advanced to the next round against Berkley High School.

Maggie Gdula's bunt falls here, but she hits a triple in the seventh inning to tie the score, 1-1, against Rochester Adams. Gdula scored the winning run on a Jessica Shoup double.

Wolves turn table on foe

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston redeemed themselves against Rochester Adams last Friday with a final inning that contained the stuff dreams are made of.

Last year, Adams beat Clarkston in the district softball finals. This year, Clarkston won the pre-district match, 2-1, at home.

"It was kind of revenge for us," said Coach Carla Teare, whose varsity teams have won the district title four times and won the regional title three times in her eight years of coaching at Clarkston High School.

The Wolves were down, 1-0, in the bottom of the seventh inning when junior Marci Morgan walked to first. She advanced to second on a wild pitch. After Kris Castillo flew out to center field, senior Maggie Gdula took her spot at the plate.

She tripled, sending Morgan home for the tying run. Next, senior Jessica Shoup doubled, and Gdula's run clenched the game.

Teare complimented senior Missy Odell for good all around play.

Odell pitched a one-hitter and struck out six. With six assists, she accounted for 13 outs. Odell also got one of the Wolves' three hits in the game.

"Overall, I was really pleased with our performance," said Teare. "The last few games, we've had good defensive outings. . . . It's kind of boosted our morale, and it's boosted the team's confidence."

The Wolves meet Grand Blanc Saturday in the district semi-finals at 11:30 or 12 at Halbach Field, Rochester. If they win, they'll play the finals the same day.

Cougars finish season in style

Sashabaw Junior High School's track teams went up against the toughest competition in the state Saturday in Milford and fared well.

The girls team took sixth place out of the 22 competing schools with 35 points. Milford won the event with 71. West Bloomfield and Farmington finished second and third, respectively.

Coach Chris Krueger noted that the Cougars' finish was the highest of any junior high entered in the competition. Most of the teams came from four-year high school programs.

The two-mile relay team of Sue Cohoon, Lisa Palazzola, April Ferguson and Sonja Schaffer placed second with a time of 10:55.2.

That time broke the school record by five seconds, according to Krueger. The girls also came close to setting records in two other events.

Schaffer was named the Oakland County Champion of the 440 run when she won the event with a time of 1:04.5.

The mile relay team of Cohoon, Holly Neadow, Beth Dempsey and Schaffer were clocked at 4:28.2 and finished first.

Nikole Westphal finished fifth in the discus (79-11). Sarah Kortge took sixth in the 110-yard high hurdles with a time of 19 seconds.

The 440 relay team of Cohoon, Kortge, Westphal and Dempsey placed fifth with a time of 56.1 seconds.

Besides running in both relay races Cohoon also finished fifth in the 880 run (2:37.6).

"I thought that the girls did an excellent job," said Krueger. "We were planning on setting some school records and we did."

Coach George Porritt was just as pleased with the boys team.

Sashabaw finished 10th in the team standings with 26 points. Clarkston had 36, which was good for fifth place.

Ron Gibson brought home an Oakland County Championship in the pole vault when he soared over the bar at 10 feet, 6 inches.

Gibson's best mark before the meet was 10 feet.

JV bats are booming

After sleepwalking through the first five innings of play, Clarkston's junior varsity baseball team erupted for 11 runs May 20 to rout Waterford Mott at home.

The Wolves merced Mott by scoring 11 times in the sixth inning.

Mott led 1-0 when the winning rally started for Clarkston. It began innocently enough with a walk.

Erik Mackson then tried to sacrifice the runner into scoring position. A throwing error on the play left runners on first and third base and opened the floodgates for the Wolves.

Bill Larkin squeeze bunted home the tying run and another scored on a wild throw to the plate to give the Wolves a 2-1 lead.

Larkin later scored on a wild pitch.

The final eight runs of the inning all came with two outs.

Matt Carson had an RBI single, Mackson had a two-run single, Darin Brandt plated another run with a single and Bill Jawlik's RBI single to center completed the rout for the Wolves.

Dan Underwood was the winning pitcher for the Wolves.

Clarkston closed out the regular season with a game against Lake Orion on May 21.

The Wolves defeated the Dragons, 9-6. Eric Phillips was the winning pitcher.

John Koslosky and Joe Herron had a couple of hits and RBIs apiece to pace the team offensively.

Clarkston finishes with a 15-8 overall record and a tie for the Greater Oakland Activities League title.

The Wolves needed to beat Mott Wednesday and then hope that Waterford Kettering would defeat Mott Friday to gain the tie for the championship.

"(Tying for the title) is something that we have been shooting for in the last couple of weeks," said Coach Kurt Richardson.

A group of Clarkston Elementary sixth-graders and a chaperone [at right] make their way through the Grand Hallway at the Field Museum of Natural History. The museum guide who led their tour praised the youngsters for their behavior and knowledge.

Chicago trip delights 6th-graders

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

Pack 69 sixth-graders into two tour buses, add three teachers and 22 parents, head to Chicago for the weekend—and what do you get?

Clarkston Elementary School teacher Barbara Glover selects words like "fun" and "positive" to describe the results.

Seven months ago, Glover and fellow Clarkston Elementary sixth-grade teachers Wiladean Moore and Jerry Ostrom began planning the field trip that began at 6 a.m. Friday, May 15, and ended at about 12:45 a.m. Sunday, May 17, when the buses rolled back into town.

In the beginning, Glover was wishing aloud that she could take her entire class to Milwaukee, Wis., to share a museum she visited there. From there, the conversation went to, "Chicago isn't that far away. Chicago has wonderful museums . . ."

The teachers planned the trip through Scholastic Travel Inc. There were all sorts of details to be worked out, of course, and many nights of planning, all of which paid off.

One of Glover's favorite moments involves the reaction of a guide at the Field Museum of Natural History.

"The guide was very impressed by the children, how well behaved they were and how they knowledgeable they were," she says. "When I was walking with her, she said, 'They're certainly a credit to their teachers and it's obvious a lot of planning went into this trip.'"

"We did stress behavior a lot," Glover says, "and it paid off because the kids were really well-behaved."

Their itinerary included lunch and a guided tour at the Field Museum of Natural History; a tour of the Shedd Aquarium; a dinner, swimming and sleep-over at the Holiday Inn; tour of the Sears Tower; lunch and a tour at the Museum of Science and Industry; and a sightseeing cruise on Lake Michigan.

Other highlights for Glover included the look on the children's faces when a shark swam by on the other side of the glass at the aquarium, the cruise with its wait for the locks to fill with "a billion gallons of water," the four-course hotel dinner ("You would have thought this was a group of little executives") and the dinosaur exhibit at the museum ("That was awesome, like the kids like to say").

"The reason I love this kind of experience, to give children the experience, is for the rest of their lives, even if they don't go again, the kids can say, 'I've been there,'" says Glover. "I think it's a broadening experience and well worth it."

Shortly before leaving Chicago for the bus ride home, the sixth-graders and their chaperones gather for a group portrait in Grant Park near the Buckingham Fountain.

Inside the Sears Tower are, from left, Eric Carlson, Shea Kammer and Eric Ryan. After the trip was over, Shea said, "It felt like you were on top of the world."

"I liked the trip there and back because you could sit with your friends and talk and see the scenery."

—Nathan Werner

"I just liked seeing everything."

—Jenni McArtle

"I liked the Field Museum because of the new exhibit called 'Gems.' They had really large things, a 5,000 carat topaz."

—Skip Higdon

"I liked the city itself because of the architecture of the buildings."

—Charlie Perrault

I liked the "Museum of Science and History. You got to see the stages of a baby being born (prenatal development). It was just neat. It was so small, all the way until it was a baby."

—Tom Euty

I liked "the boat ride. I just like being on boats."

—Derek Lachman

I liked "the aquarium. There were different kinds of fish—stingrays and stuff."

—Kara Wilkinson

Andy Myers enjoys the view as they wait for the locks to fill with a billion gallons of water to allow passage from the Chicago River to Lake Michigan.

Adventure in France

Gypsies to French classes to babysitting, a medley of experiences

Editor's note: Independence Township resident Sharon Hahn spent three months in Europe in 1986 and, again, in 1987, mostly in Avignon, France. She's sharing her memories in a three-part series, which begins this week.

BY SHARON HAHN

Clarkston News Special Writer

She got off the train just outside the small walled city of Avignon in southern France not far from the Mediterranean.

She was weighted down with a backpack, two heavy-weight carry-on cases and a large purse strapped tightly around her neck.

American students arrive every day in Europe, carting more baggage than is necessary, but well prepared, they hope, for their foreign study experience.

She was just another student. But there was one difference. She was me. And the next day would be my 46th birthday.

My first trip to Avignon was a year ago. Maybe it was the empty-nest syndrome. Maybe it was the letters I received from my son while he was on foreign study in Germany. Maybe it was mid-life crisis. Maybe all of the above.

But as I spoke to my husband of my dream of living in a foreign country and learning the language, I was delighted when he said, "So, do it!"

Even today, I'm not sure how serious he really was. But I took him at his word.

I quit my job as an advertising copywriter and shortly after the first of the year, I found myself, one sunny afternoon, approaching the 14th century walls surrounding the little French town that still holds the Papal Palace of the Middle Ages.

It wasn't until I reached in my purse for my hairbrush that I noticed my passport, traveler checks and Eurailpass were gone. I had been robbed.

This would be my home for the next three months.

Exhaustion was setting in. In an 18-hour period, I had crossed the Atlantic, changing countries, languages and time zones, taken the rapid TGV train four hours due south from Paris, and was presently dragging myself and my belongings over the cobblestone streets that looked so picturesque in brochures but were hurting my feet.

I made my way through narrow streets, past two little beggar girls who requested I cross their palms with silver, and an elderly monsieur who fell

When I stepped off the train, this was my first view of Avignon. The wall that surrounds the city was first built in the 14th century. It is very low—too low to keep anyone from climbing over. Gone, however, is the moat that once circled the city as well. It was covered and made into a street.

In the 14th century, Rome ceased to be safe for the pope of the Roman Catholic Church and the pope was moved to Avignon. The Palace of the Popes was home for several popes over the years. Now the barren building, which is being renovated, is open for tours.

into step with me speaking earnestly of l'amour.

Hearing my "No," he flashed a toothless grin, dropped back and disappeared from my life forever.

Locating my apartment would wait another day. "Tonight, we will treat ourselves to the luxury of a hotel," I told myself. Speaking like this, in the plural, gave me a feeling of not being quite so alone.

I checked into the Hotel d'Europe, a small but gracious palace from the 16th century filled with lovely antiques and all the comforts of home.

It had been a full day. I was proud of my accomplishments. Despite my woefully lacking sense of direction and my shaky high-school French, I had arrived.

It wasn't until I reached in my purse for my hairbrush that I noticed my passport, traveler checks and Eurailpass were gone. I had been robbed.

"It was the Gypsy girls," the police

Weekday afternoons, I babysat for 3-year-old Frederic Millet. He spoke French better than I ever hope to be able to speak French, and he's a sweetheart.

officer said as I recounted the events of the day.

"But they were so young!" I said. And so good at what they do, I thought.

CHS Class of '35 parties in Clarkston eatery

BY ALISA NASS

Clarkston News Special Writer

The Clarkston High School Class of 1935 celebrated their 52nd reunion May 29 at the 20 Depot Street restaurant.

Seven graduates and two former teachers attended from an original class of 24 members.

Present were graduates Gene McNieve of Bowling Green, Ky., Max Taylor of Flint, Marquerite Andrews Russell of Hudson, Fla., Ed Tallenger of Waterford, Allison Holcomb of Burlington, Wis., Jeanette Miller Davis of Drayton Plains and Ruth Walter Davis of Waterford.

Also there were former teachers, Virginia LaForge Walters of Clarkston and Bob Waters of Clarkston. Walters taught English literature, civics and history. Waters was the athletics coach and taught science.

"They were very talkative and chewed a lot of gum," said Waters of the class.

"You used to have a drugstore near the light and we use to hang out there," said Taylor.

"Waterford and Drayton Plains only went to the 10th grade," said Walters. Students then attended either Pontiac or Clarkston schools, she said.

Some of the graduates came from out of state to attend. Russell, from Florida, had a double purpose.

"I came special for the reunion, and our oldest grandchild is graduating from college," she said.

Graduates and spouses of the CHS Class of 1935 catch up on what everyone has been doing. The luncheon at 20 Depot Street marked their 52nd reunion.

Class photos, yearbooks and graduation pictures comprise some of the memorabilia of the Class of 1935.

95th birthday

Five generations gathered in Grand Blanc last month to celebrate Annie Haslock's 95th birthday.

Haslock, a Springfield Township resident, was born in London, England, and moved to Springfield over 75 years ago.

She was aided in her celebration by her sons, James Haslock of Stockton, Mo., and Harvey Haslock of Springfield Township, as well as 11 grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

The party was at her oldest granddaughter Marilyn Shaw's home.

To make five generations, her granddaughter Nancy Johnson of Foster Road, Springfield Township, brought her daughter Kris Little of Lake Shore Drive, Springfield Township, who brought her children, Ronnie and Jennifer.

Nancy's daughter Karen Richard's children, also fifth generation, were present, too: Bobby and Jeffrey Richards.

New arrival

It's a boy for Don and Carolyn Walker of Foxchase Lane, Independence Township.

Christian Paul was born May 15 at 3:44 p.m. at Pontiac General Hospital. He weighed 7 pounds, 6 ounces and measured 20 inches long.

He was welcomed home by his sisters, Holly, 14, and Jennifer, 9.

Grandparents are Eugene and Margaret Crawford of Lake Orion and Clara Walker of Pontiac.

Great-grandmother is Nancy Crawford of Pontiac. Great-uncle is Wallace Amidon of Waterford.

Johnson-Linhart

Roger and Linda Johnson of Marlon, Ind., announce the engagement of their daughter Kelly Ann to Terence David Linhart, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Dale Linhart of South Whitley, Ind. The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Helen Johnson of Clarkston-Waterford and the late Howard Johnson. A student at Taylor University, Upland, Ind., she is majoring in psychology. Her fiancé is a graduate of Taylor University and is Campus Life Director for Wells County, employed by Youth for Christ. An October wedding is planned in South Whitley.

CLARKSTON HIGH GETS A FACELIFT: Forty student council members continued an annual tradition May 14 when they sponsored a Sun Day cleanup of the high school. Students trimmed hedges, painted benches and planted flowers throughout the entire day. From left, Maggie Sans, Terry McNally, Kristin Allison and Kellee Dudy paint a bench in one of the school's courtyards. (Photo by Peter Auchter)

Grads

Eleven local students are among prospective May graduates from Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

The list includes two master's degree candidates. Michael Baker of Susin Lane, a public administration major; and David Walters of Davisburg Road, business management major.

Students to receive bachelor's degrees are: Julie Bruce of Ashare Court, a journalism major; Diane Dobson of East Circle Drive, a marketing major; Karen Geukes of Snowapple Drive, a marketing major; Craig Grable of Oak Park Drive, a physical education and French major; David MacLennan of Overlook Drive, an accounting major; Marget Nelson of Clark Road, an interpersonal and public communication major; William Swick Jr. of Holcomb Road, a general administration major; Lori Thomas, who has a post office-box number, an accounting major; and Lisa Verbouw of Maybee Road, a psychology major.

Sharon Serb is to receive her master's degree in guidance and counseling from Oakland University, Rochester, on June 7.

The Snowapple Drive, Independence Township, resident is a member of the Golden Key National Honor Society and Psi Chi, a national honor society in psychology.

She plans to continue her education to earn teaching certification and to further her development in school counseling.

Serb's son Doug will be a junior at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, in the fall. Her daughter Christine is a sophomore at Clarkston High School and a varsity cheerleader.

Honors

Paul Irwin is on the dean's list for the winter semester at Grand Valley State College.

A 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, she is majoring in psychology and special education.

Her parents are Cliff and Linda Irwin of Laurenton Road, Independence Township.

John Hughson, a former Clarkston area resident, has joined Continental Airlines in Washington, D.C., as a ticket agent. Hughson was recently graduated from Southeastern Academy, Kissimmee, Fla.

Terri Peck Day has graduated from Maranatha Baptist Bible College, Watertown, Wis., with a bachelor's degree in Bible and business management.

While attending Maranatha, she was a cheerleader and dorm monitor and was involved in signing for the deaf.

She and her husband John will continue to reside in Watertown where he is continuing his education in pastoral studies.

Her parents are Jack and Mary Jean Peck of Oak Park Road, Independence Township.

In service

Navy Fireman Apprentice Patrick King has completed eight-week recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego, Calif.

A 1986 graduate of Mountain View High School, Mesa, Ariz., he joined the Navy in February 1987. He is the son of Marvin King of Woodglen Road, Independence Township.

Army Sgt. John Puckett has arrived for duty with the 55th Support Battalion, West Germany.

He is the son of LeRoy and Leona Puckett of Pine Knob Lane, Independence Township.

A power generator repairer, Puckett is a 1983 graduate of Clarkston High School.

Air Force Sgt. Susan Piercy has arrived for duty with the 1931st Communications Wing, Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska.

A maintenance data systems analyst specialist, Piercy is a 1979 graduate of Clarkston High School.

Her parents are Dan and Doris Leach of Bronco Drive, Independence Township.

Her husband is Air Force Sgt. Donald Piercy.

Art of Fantori graces town shop

While English artist Liz James of England visits her friend Ethel Morris of Clarkston, she's showing her fabric work at Aura Fine Art on Main Street, Clarkston.

James signs her work with the name Fantori. Her art is similar in workmanship to Hmong stitchery—she combines hand needlework with machine stitchery to make wall hangings and pillow covers.

Sewing all her life, James began with dressmaking and didn't start abstract designs until about two years ago, when she lived in Pakistan.

Describing her sewing machine as her paint brush, she calls the scraps of Liberty fabric she uses her paints.

James usually sells her work in European craft shows but is happy to be in the United States, she said.

"Americans are more able to understand this type of art," said James. "I'm very happy to show here in Clarkston. I've visited Clarkston twice before. I love the country feel."

Fabric artist Liz James is selling her work at Aura Fine Art of Clarkston for a while, a change from her usual selling place of European craft shows.

Friend to friend

Parent problems

Dear Friend to Friend,

I'm really concerned about my parents. My father's an alcoholic and won't admit it. My mom gets high and works nights. God knows where. My sister sleeps with my dad and my mom doesn't care. My dad beats on me all the time because I won't sleep with him or do what he says. I've been to counseling, but it just doesn't help. Am I normal? Please help!

Confused

Dear Confused,

We are very sorry to hear of your home life; however, no one should have to deal with this. We are pleased to hear that you have seen a counselor and suggest you keep seeing him/her.

It appears that your counselor has helped you to realize the problem and how you feel about the situation. But you need something more.

If you are still seeing the counselor, then you should demand that he or she help you find a different place to live.

You are not abnormal. This problem is more common than you might think. Alcoholism is involved in about 40 percent of the cases of child abuse.

You cannot control your parents' actions and you are not to blame for them.

There are other agencies available such as Alateen at Colombe Center, Common Ground, your school social worker or through the SEARCH program at Clarkston High School. You may also feel comfortable seeking advice from your church.

Your mother may be as frustrated as you are and may not know who to deal with it. Encourage your mother to become involved in your counseling.

Even though right now things seem tough, there are other alternatives for you. We feel encouraged by your strength in that you see a problem and are trying to solve it.

Dear Friend to Friend,

I am a very good looking guy and I want all nice things, but I don't have them.

I am ashamed of my house, not that it's junkie but that it's small and in a bad neighborhood.

I think my friends go by your appearance. Do they? Do they go by money? Please answer my questions and maybe I won't be ashamed.

Ashamed

Dear Ashamed,

It is unfortunate you feel that your "friends" are judging you on your material wealth. Maybe you should take a look at what qualities you value in a friendship.

We feel friendship should be based on trust, caring, support, things you have in common and, most of all, the person that you are.

Where you live is not important, but to develop your personality and appreciate the things you do have are important.

The other thing to consider is to set goals for yourself to pursue and strive for your own happiness and others will be attracted to you.

Dear Friend to Friend,

I've got a friend (female) and she keeps leading me on. I like her a lot. But every time I get close to her, she says she only wants to be friends. Then it starts all over. I've only fallen for it twice, but that's too much for me. What can I do.

Very Confused

Dear Very Confused,

Take advantage of enjoying your friendship with this person. If you really care about her and pursue the girlfriend/boyfriend relationship, you might destroy the friendship that has developed.

It is hard to be infatuated with someone when the affection is not returned.

Do not take this as a rejection. She may be an affectionate person with all of her friends and does not realize she is "leading you on."

Letters to Friend to Friend are answered by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under the sponsorship of Aware, a community group devoted to action and education against chemical dependency.

Students can submit letters by placing them in the designated "problem locker" at CHS, Clarkston Junior High or Saababaw Junior High.

Letters can also be sent to Friend to Friend in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

M-15 Widening
between US-10 and Paramus Road in Oakland County

The Michigan Department of Transportation is calling a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 25, 1987 in the Clarkston High School Auditorium, 6595 Middle Lake Road, Clarkston, Michigan, Oakland County.

The purpose of this hearing is to provide the opportunity for a public discussion of the treatments under consideration for the proposed widening of M-15 between US-10 and Paramus Road. The alternatives will not have an effect on the wetlands.

A description of the alternatives, maps, and other pertinent information including comments from interested federal, state, and local governmental units, as well as local groups and officials, is located at the Independence Township Hall, 90 North Main Street in Clarkston, the MDT District Office, 18101 W. Nine Mile Road in Southfield, and in the Bureau of Transportation Planning, Third Floor, Transportation Building, 425 W. Ottawa in Lansing.

This hearing is held in accordance with Federal & State Public Involvement/Public Hearings Procedures. Information concerning the relocation assistance program and the right-of-way acquisition program will be provided at the hearing. Testimony will be taken from interested citizens regarding the social, environmental, and economic impact of the proposed alternatives. Written statements and exhibits in place of, or in addition to, oral statements made at the public hearing, or requests for copies of the Environmental Assessment for this project, may be submitted to Philip J. Chisholm, Hearings & Mitigation Section, Michigan Department of Transportation, P.O. Box 30050, Lansing, Michigan, 48909, at any time up to fifteen days after the date of the public hearing.

To further assist you in understanding the proposals, representatives of the Michigan Department of Transportation will be present in the Clarkston High School Auditorium one half-hour before the hearing to answer any questions you may have.

In addition, information on this project or any Michigan Department of Transportation planning program may be obtained by calling (517) 373-9534.

Kids step back in time for old-fashioned day

BY ALISA NASS

Clarkston News Special Writer

Coonskin caps and sun bonnets were the fashion when Clarkston Christian School pupils recreated school life as it was in 1837.

The "Old-Fashioned Day," May 20, was in celebration of Michigan's sesquicentennial. Teachers and students, dressed in period clothes, experienced for a day what school was like 150 years earlier.

Classrooms were combined to create a one-room school to work on reading, writing and arithmetic.

"Students brought their lunches in baskets and tin pails," said third-fourth grade teacher Bonnie Laudeman.

A large 150th birthday cake and homemade ice cream topped off afternoon games of red rover, hot potato, drop the handkerchief and a scavenger hunt.

"One of the things we tried to show them was that it was a lot stricter back then," said Mark Krantz, who instead of being the principal, was the headmaster.

The consensus among students was split. Many liked the seemingly smaller amount of homework but didn't care too much for some of the new rules.

"We only had a little work, reading, math and writing," said Billy Miller.

"They didn't have a lot of paperwork," said first-grade teacher Pam Albright. Instead the pupils performed "a lot of recitation, boardwork and slatework."

"If you were bad, you had to sit in the dunce's seat" said pupil Emily Ford. Out of the 74 pupils, only two admitted to having to sit there.

Other rules included no talking in class and walking single-file to recess with hands behind their backs.

The children could not begin working on math problems until they were all on the blackboard, and they had to wait until everyone was ready to eat lunch.

Andrea Jones and Carrie Sherman (left) enjoy cake and homemade ice cream during "Old-Fashioned Day" at the Clarkston Christian School.

Adventure in Avignon

I hadn't felt a thing.

While one was kissing my hands in appreciation for the coins I had given them, the other one was lifting my travel wallet. I abhorred the activity, but admired their skill.

The police report was my ticket to getting the stolen items replaced. Traveler checks were replaced within 20 minutes.

Getting a new passport required a trip to the American Consulate's office in Marseille, an hour by train. But it took four weeks and four trips to Marseille until I was issued a new Eurailpass.

The difficulty stemmed from my failure to separate my pass from the receipt. I had no proof of purchase and verification had to be sent from place of purchase in the United States.

Eventually, all was replaced and safely tucked away in a money belt I wore (night and day), although it added inches to my waistline. Vanity lost out to security.

While I found Europe to be relatively safe for a woman traveling alone, I tried to be inside each night by dark.

I enrolled at Centre d'Etudes Linguistiques d'Avignon, a small private school offering all levels of French. I was put in the beginning class.

Students from Australia, Switzerland, Germany, Austria, Arabia, Japan and Clarkston, Mich., aged 16 to 65, formed very special friendships while they attempted to master "la langue française."

My apartment, which I found after four days of luxury hotel living, was an unheated, one-room, sparsely furnished studio apartment. But it was clean, safe and the price was right.

So I said goodbye to my charming hotel and its English-speaking desk clerks and moved into my new quarters.

It proved to be thoroughly adequate, albeit uncomfortably cold during the two weeks of below-freezing temperatures. But much can be said for European down comforters like the one I snuggled under each night.

Avignon is known for its mild winters . . . and a snowfall is a rarity. But what would otherwise be a delightful winter haven is occasionally disturbed by the Mistral, wind that funnels down through the Alps and explodes unmercifully into Avignon from time to time.

I've never experienced anything like it—not even here in Michigan.

My days were full. Classes each morning ran from 8:30 to 12:30 with a half-hour break for coffee, tea or chocolate at a nearby cafe.

Coffee-break conversations were never dull and often touched on politics.

Austrians are saddened that Americans believe Waldheim had Nazi affiliations.

French were not surprised by political misbehaviors of our American government. They were surprised, however, when an actor was elected president.

Europeans in general view Americans as children—rich and powerful children—with much to learn.

In the afternoons, in exchange for my tuition, I babysat Frédéric, the 3-year-old son of the school's director. We spent our afternoons going to the park, walking into town or playing in the back yard.

He knew many people in town and made himself acquainted with those he didn't know.

He would peer into the face of a man sleeping on a park bench and say, "Tu dors?" (You are sleeping?) Or yell something at a construction worker doing road maintenance that caused the man to turn off his truck, descend from the cab and begin walking toward us.

"What did you say to him, Frédéric?" I asked nervously, forgetting he didn't speak English.

Seems he only wanted to know what the man was doing, and the worker took a five-minute break to explain to this child the necessity of a new road.

Each day was a new adventure.

While I found Europe to be relatively safe for a woman traveling alone, I tried to be inside each night by dark. Not having radio, television or telephone made some of those nights seem pretty long.

But clothes needed washing (in the bathroom sink) and reading could be done (curling up under the comforter to keep my fingers and nose warm, lighting the pages with my flashlight).

There was another American living in my apartment building. Maggie was from Oregon and spending a year in Avignon teaching English at the university.

Occasionally she would drop by for a chat, invite me for a marvelous home-cooked meal or help me out when something wasn't working in my apartment.

She filled me in on little-known facts about the other tenants. The man upstairs was in jail from time to time—but never for violent crimes—the previous woman to rent my apartment was a hooker. That's why my apartment had three locks on it.

I'm not sure I was better off knowing any of this, but it certainly added a touch of color to my surroundings.

Weekends, I escaped. You couldn't ask for a prettier small town than Avignon. But small it was.

Twenty minutes by foot would take you from the wall at one side of town to the wall at the other side of town. It doesn't take long before those walls start closing in on you.

It was a congenial group, a mini-United Nations. I thought. How easy it is to be so compatible when everyone shares the same goal.

That's when my Eurailpass was put to work.

Buying a Eurailpass before I left this country enabled me to travel by rail throughout Europe (with the exception of England) for the period of time stipulated on the pass.

Eurailpasses are available for two weeks, one, two or three months. Avignon is nicely situated in that I could reach Paris, Nice, Monaco, Dijon or Geneva, Switzerland, within four to five hours by train.

Two of these weekends, I was able

The striking effect created by painting scenes on windows was found in more than one building in Avignon. The city is famous for its summer festival of the arts, and I can't help but think the festival and the window paintings are somehow related.

to share with my husband. It was a long way for him to come for a weekend, but worth every mile, I thought.

A month into my stay, I had more company. My son was finishing his foreign study so he and a friend came to visit for a few days. With two young men so close to my side, I could go out after dark.

I felt so liberated. We saw "Rocky IV," dubbed in French. Rocky was wonderful speaking French. He sounded so . . . so . . . French!

We went to a delightful little restaurant where I ate without restraint.

Til then I'd been settling for bread and cheese and fresh fruit bought at the marketplace. Dieting in France is impossible. Irresistible aromas of freshly baked pastries wafted across the pedestrian walkways all day, every day. It was so unfair . . . and so wonderful.

"Don't put your hands in your laps," advised John, my son's friend who had done his foreign study in Aix-en-Provence.

Contrary to what children are taught in this country, in France it is important to keep both hands above the table while dining. The reason for this, I was told, is the convenience of always having two hands available as needed for cutting and eating the food.

The boys helped me move into an apartment with two bedrooms and heat. But buckets had to be spread throughout the living room when it rained.

That probably explained the fungus-type growth on the wall. Washing it down did no good, as it grew back in a couple of days. I accepted it as part of the decor.

One day I arrived at school to learn a new student had come from the States from Cincinnati, Ohio. I invited her to share my apartment.

We hit it off immediately—and the pleasure of understanding a spoken word was a joy I promised myself I would never again take for granted.

All-day outings arranged by the school were eagerly awaited. Thirty to 40 students would tour the Provence, by bus, seeing the old Roman capital, Arles, where Van Gogh painted some of his most celebrated works.

Or we'd visit the Camargue, a botanical and zoological nature reserve at the Mediterranean.

Sometimes we'd stop at the Fontaine-de-Vaucluse, long-time home of Italian poet Petrarch, to see the underground waters emerging as resurgent springs from caves at the base of towering cliffs. The waters rushed and tumbled over rocks within the gorge—a breathtakingly beautiful spot.

The day ended with mentally and physically exhausted students who had for 12 hours chatted in any language they could make themselves understood, climbed hills and countless number of stairs, examined ancient underground passageways and tried to absorb all they had seen and heard . . . explanations, of course, offered only in French.

The bus ride back to Avignon was usually quiet with the sound of middle-east music coming from the band-box held by one of the Saudians. Not exactly a hand-clapping, foot-stomping melody, but not unpleasant either.

It was a congenial group, a mini-United Nations, I thought. How easy it is to be so compatible when everyone shares the same goal.

Classes continued, changing as students came and went. I had settled into a comfortable routine. The weeks flew by, with winter giving way to spring. And all too soon, it was time to leave.

It had been a wonderful three months and I had learned so much . . . even a little French. As I walked back to the train station on the first leg of my journey home, I promised myself "We will return."

And so "we" did.

Clerk's intern seeks practical experience

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Besides airplanes and animals, Jenni Ulman is intrigued by government.

The Oakland University, Rochester, student is studying public administration.

Although she plans to get a pilot's license next year, and she enjoys spending time with her animals—two cats, a rabbit and a 10-year-old, 12-inch-long goldfish—Jenni's first interest is government, she said.

This summer she hopes to learn more about it, while she's serving a 16-week internship in the clerk's office at Independence Township Hall, she said.

The experience may also help her choose a career direction, said the Waterford Township resident.

"I want to work in government, but I'm not exactly sure where I want to go yet," said Jenni, adding she's considering a master's degree in public administration or business administration.

"I like government," she said. "It's interesting. It's diverse. It's not just doing the same thing every day. . . . I like to know what's going on."

And she finds the entire field interesting, she said.

"I was (studying) political science, but I changed over to public administration because there were more jobs available. With public administration, I could use what I learned," she said.

And Jenni is learning a lot.

Putting herself through school, the 22-year-old West Bloomfield High School graduate is taking classes in the spring and summer semesters and working full time at Sears in addition to her 20-hour-a-week internship.

And she and her husband, Doug Grimes, plan to fit in sailing, rafting and camping this summer. Plus, Jenni likes to do crafts in her spare time—sewing, crocheting, metal designing.

Jenni Ulman looks forward to the rest of her 16-week internship at the Independence Township clerk's office, she says. "Everybody here has been really friendly," Jenni said.

A Republican, Jenni said she's still formulating many of her opinions on issues. But she plans to graduate in December, and maybe then she can put to practice what she's learned so far.

"I really don't have any major complaints with the way (government) runs now," she said. "Realistically, I think it runs fairly well. . . . You definitely need it. Things won't work if you don't have it. . . . Sometimes I think it's too much, and sometimes I think it's not enough."

Calcium boosters

Betty Wagner

May is nearly over; osteoporosis, the calcium deficient disorder that robs our bones, will be with us all year long.

Women, especially, need to monitor calcium intake every day of every month.

But some of us become more tolerant to lactose as we age. We become deficient in the enzyme lactase which breaks down milk sugar (lactose).

This can cause some discomfort when we consume large amounts of regular dairy products in our quest for calcium to fight or prevent osteoporosis.

Buttermilk and yogurt, because they contain 20 to 30 percent less lactose than milk, are excellent calcium sources for lactase deficient people.

Also, there is a lactose reduced low-fat milk now on the market. Check the dairy case of your favorite grocery store. If you do not find it, ask for it. Use it interchangeably with milk in recipes or drink it plain.

Or add liquid lactase enzyme to regular milk to break down the lactose. Drug stores carry the enzyme.

Irene Cameron of the Dairy Council of Michigan offers the following recipes suitable for lactase intolerant people.

HOMEMADE YOGURT

- 1 quart skim milk
- 1/2 cup non-fat dry milk solids
- 1/3 cup lowfat yogurt
- 2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
- 1 tablespoon cold water

Mix skim milk and dry milk in a 1 1/2 or 2 quart measure. Insert temperature probe into measure. Heat in microwave at high until temperature probe reads 180 degrees.

If you do not have a temperature probe, check temperature with a quick-reading thermometer or use a special microwave meat thermometer inserted in measure.

Remove from oven and cool to 110 degrees. Stir in yogurt and softened gelatin. Mix with a rotary beater until smooth. Place in a cooker for 6 hours. Remove and refrigerate yogurt to set. Make your own fruit yogurt by adding fresh or canned fruit.

BAKED CHICKEN WITH YOGURT SAUCE

- 1 14-ounce can artichoke hearts
- 3/4 cup plain lowfat yogurt
- 1/4 cup chopped green onions
- 1 tablespoon Dijon style mustard
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon thyme
- 4 pieces boneless chicken breasts
- Paprika
- Chopped fresh parsley

Place green onions in a small Pyrex bowl. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave at high for one minute. Set aside to cool. Add remaining ingredients.

Drain artichokes. Cut in half and place on bottom of 1 1/2 quart Pyrex baking dish. Place chicken pieces on top of artichoke hearts; cover with sauce. Sprinkle with paprika and chopped parsley.

Cover with waxed paper; microwave at 70 percent (medium high or roast) for 20 to 30 minutes or until chicken is done. Let stand several minutes.

BUTTERMILK

- 1 quart reconstituted non-fat dry milk or skim milk

1/2 cup commercial buttermilk

Stir these two ingredients together until well blended. Let this mixture stand at room temperature until thickened. The thickening process may take most of the day. Chill. Save 1/2 cup of this mixture to use to make your next batch.

Oops! Asparagus Soup from my Wednesday, May 13, column "Bone up on calcium" failed to list the amount of flour that should be used. Mix 2 tablespoons flour with the 2 tablespoons butter to make a roux.

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her Microwave Plus cable-TV program airs on Independence-Clarkston channel 11 Monday through Thursday at 7 p.m.

New pastor greeting

Maranatha Baptist Church plans installation of its new pastor, Glen D. Currie, on Sunday, May 31, at 2:30 p.m.

Songs, music and a message by Dr. William Rice, pastor of the Inter-City Baptist Church, will highlight the hour.

The church is at 5790 Flemings Lake Rd., west off Sashabaw Road and north of the I-75 interchange, in Independence Township.

Judge McNally to judge kids' essays

Judge Gerald McNally has been selected by the State Court Administration as one of the judges for a statewide writing contest.

McNally, of the 52nd District Court in Independence Township, will critique entries in the National Bicentennial Writing Competition for high school students.

The topic of the competition is "The Constitution: How Does the Separation of Powers Help Make it Work?"

The top three essays from each of the six regions and subregions throughout the state will vie for state awards.

McNally will be a judge at the regional level.

Chief Justice Dorothy Comstock Riley, State Board of Education President Barbara Roberts Mason and Wayne State University President Dr.

David Adamany will select the state's three winners from among the 18 essays selected at the regional level.

The first-place winner gets $1,000 plus an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., to meet President Reagan, the Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, members of the National Bicentennial Commission and leaders of Congress. Second- and third-place finishers win $500 and $250, respectively.

Pet of the week

No pets allowed

It's the pits when landlords won't allow pets. Just ask Crockett. His former owners had to give up the 2-year-old neutered and front declawed cat when they moved to no-pet housing.

Crockett is a brown, tiger-striped cat with white chest and paws. The affectionate cat gets along well with children and other pets.

Crockett can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The adoption fee for Crockett is $25.

Crockett: A family move left him homeless.

Gabier wins top post in MPAAA

Jan Gabier, assistant principal at Clarkston High School, was named president-elect of the Michigan Pupil Accounting and Attendance Association (MPAAA) during the association's spring conference May 6 in Bellaire.

MPAAA is a state-wide organization of approximately 450 professionals representing child accountants, attendance people and auditors.

"State aid is based on pupil count on the fourth Friday of the month," says Gabier. "So what MPAAA does is work closely with the state on maintaining uniform attendance and auditing procedures."

"We're a network between local school districts, intermediate schools and the State Department of Education to keep people around the state informed on up-to-date attendance rules and procedures."

Gabier came to Clarkston High School as an English teacher in 1961 and was named assistant principal in 1969.

She has been active in MPAAA since 1979. She served as its secretary for five years and on its executive board for seven years.

She will serve as president-elect this year, and will become president next spring, serving the year after as past-president on the executive board.

"It's a super organization," she says, "and I'm pleased to be a part of it."

Bowling results

About $4,000 to send needy children to camp was raised at the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance fourth annual Bowl-a-thon.

The event took place April 5 at Cherry Hill Lanes on Dixie Highway.

The top winners were: David Merz, Brooke Bennett and Rick Carpenter.

520-hour gift

Heidi Vines received special recognition from Clarkston Area Youth Assistance for putting in 520 hours as a candy striper at Pontiac General Hospital.

The Clarkston High School student was given a plaque during the May 12 meeting of Clarkston youth assistance. Carole Meyers, who is in charge of youth recognition, presented the award.

Student volunteers were also recognized with plaques and certificates at the annual Clarkston Area Youth Assistance Banquet in April.

ST. JUDE, O HOLY St. Jude, Apostle and martyr great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. To you I have recourse the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance, help me in my present urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Mary's and Glorias. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us in all who invoke your aid. This novena has never been known to fail. Those novena must be said for 9 consecutive days. Thank you St. Jude. IILX41-2p

125- CARD OF THANKS

WE WISH TO THANK our neighbors and many thoughtful friends for their expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement. We extend our deepest appreciation to Rev. Murphy and to the Edward Bossardet family for their support and kindness. We share many warm and pleasant memories of a very special man who will be deeply missed by all. The family of Harmon A. Fitch. IILX21-1

THE FAMILY OF Clara McCombs would like to thank friends and relatives for their kindnesses in our hour of bereavement. IILX20-2

130-IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY OF TODD Rea, seven years ago, June 1, 1980. When the family gets together, there is one we fail to see, it fills our hearts with sadness thinking how it used to be. It broke our hearts to lose you, but you did not go alone, for part of us went with you the day God called you home. Deeply missed by his parents, Gerry and Karen, sisters Tammi and Patti and brother Steve. IILX21-2

Day-long celebration at park to welcome good old summer

Bring a picnic and join in the celebration of Michigan's Sesquicentennial at the second annual "Good Old Summertime Family Day" at Independence Oaks County Park.

On Saturday, May 30, a Walk Michigan family hike, square dancing, games and pony rides will highlight the afternoon's activities.

Picknickers may also enjoy folk concerts, nature activities and an animal petting farm. The OAKlowns clown troupe will be on hand to assist in the merriment.

Additional activities include an arts and crafts show, antique steam engine display, radio-controlled sailboat racing, "Tom Sawyer" activity area and "Pioneer Playground," an official Sesquicentennial magician and a chicken barbecue.

"Good Old Summertime Family Day" hours are noon to 10 p.m. with a fireworks display after 8 p.m. A rain date for the fireworks has been scheduled for Sunday, May 31.

A park vehicle entry fee of $3 a vehicle for Oakland County residents will be charged. The fee is $5 for non-residents. After 8 p.m., the entry fee is $1.50.

The park is on Sashabaw Road, two miles north of Pine Knob, in Independence Township. For more information, call Oakland County Parks and Recreation at 858-4944 or Independence Township Parks and Recreation at 625-8223.

FARMERS NEW WORLD LIFE

Three times they fire the rifles in salute to departed comrades from the Clarkston area. The Campbell Richmond Post of the American Legion began the events by placing flags on the veterans' graves on Sunday. A parade and cemetery ceremony marked Monday's memorial.

Veterans' salute

Photos by Julie Campe

The list of deceased area veterans is long. It took this American Legion member about 20 minutes to read them all to the crowd who gathered at Lakeview Cemetery to pay their respects.

In the parade down Main Street, Clarkston's Clarkston Junior High School's flag corps joined in the event.
