Crash ends cop chase

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A high speed chase June 3 through downtown Clarkston ended with the arrest of two men for attempted bank fraud.

Oakland County Sheriff's Department deputies following the suspects caught them after they crashed into a car at about 3 p.m. in front of the Clarkston Professional Building, commonly called Dr. James O'Neill's office, on M-15.

Robin Charles-Keeley, 31, of Flint and David Michael Smith, 37, of Swartz Creek were arraigned Friday in 52nd District Court. The defendants stood mute and a not guilty plea was entered. Their preliminary hearing is June 12 at 2 p.m. at the court.

Smith was charged with failing to obey a police officer's signal, a one-year misdemeanor; felonious assault, a four-year felony; and attempting to attain over $100 under false pretenses, a five-year felony. His bond was set at $35,000.

Keeley was charged with attempting to attain over $100 under false pretenses. His bond was set at $5,000.

The incident started when the suspects attempted to open a commercial account at Manufacturer's Bank at Bluegrass Drive and M-15 in Independence Township.

While the bank checked the validity of a temporary Michigan driver's license presented as identification, the suspects left the bank, driving south on M-15.

Deputies Steve Parker and Don Moore responded to the call. Driving north on M-15, they noticed the Voters reject school tax increase proposal

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

Clarkston school district voters soundly approved the 3.79-mill tax renewal and soundly defeated the 4.25-mill increase on Monday's ballot.

Milford Mason, superintendent of Clarkston schools, summed up his reaction with: "Obviously disappointed."

"We've just got some tremendous challenges out in front of us and we've got to deal with them," he said.

Voters also re-elected Janet Thomas (1,824 votes) and Elaine Schultz (1,747 votes) to four-year terms on the board of education. They were the only candidates on the ballot.

The millage defeat means budget cuts of $1.02 million. The cuts were previously approved by the board.

About $674,500 in cuts directly affect people, with layoffs for 15 teachers and the elimination the following positions: one administrator, three library aides, one clerk, two special education aides, two bus drivers, two and one-half custodians and one grounds maintenance.

Rather than eliminate programs, the board voted to make across-the-board reductions, with the following changes at the elementary school level: gifted education—one teacher instead of two; media centers—one librarian to serve the five elementaries instead of three; physical education—two teachers instead of four; music—two teachers instead of three.

Teacher aides will no longer be hired to ease the burdens of large class sizes. Last year there were four aides on staff. In addition, the exploratory foreign language classes in elementary schools will be dropped.

On the secondary level, the substance abuse program will be closed at the high school and library aide positions have been eliminated.

Supplies account for $674,500 of the reductions. The largest portion represents non-replacement of textbooks. Also, computers will not be refurbished at the high school and junior highs and building maintenance will be lowered.

The defeat also means new textbooks will not be ordered and other plans for improving the curriculum will not occur.

Board opposes bill to ban library videos

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Video tape rentals by the Independence Township Library received support June 2 from the majority of township board members.

In a 4-2 vote, the board approved a resolution opposing a state Senate bill that would prohibit public libraries from charging for tapes.

Librarian James Hibler said the Birmingham library came up with the idea of sending resolutions from local governments to the state Legislature.

Two board members voiced opposition to the resolution.

"I don't have any difficulty with instructional tapes, the classics or travelogues," said Trustee Dale Stuart. "I have a large problem with this resolution that indicates approval of renting videos readily available in private enterprise."

Government shouldn't compete with private industries, Stuart said, and he would favor a resolution asking that the bill be toned down to allow only tapes not readily found in the private sector.

Treasurer John Lutz said he would vote against the resolution and added the final draft of the bill would probably be much different than the first draft.

Trustee William Vandermark favored the resolution.

tion.

"I don't think it's an unusual thing for libraries to have videos," he said. "It's the modern way to learn."

Trustee Carol Balzarini said the video rentals might draw people into the library.

Voting to approve the resolution were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Clerk Richard Holman, Vandermark and Balzarini. Lutz and Stuart voted no. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent.

Of the about 150 videos in the library, most of the feature films are popular and may also be found in video stores in the area, said Hibler.

In a May interview, Hibler said the library started renting video tapes because people asked for them.

Since the library doesn't have an inventory as large as commercial businesses, they're not competing, he said.

22 percent turn out to vote Monday

The turnout of 3,530 voters in Monday's election was about 22 percent of the 16,000 registered voters in the Clarkston school district.

The district includes almost all of Independence Township, about half of Springfield Township and tiny portions of Waterford, White Lake and Orion townships.

Superintendent Milford Mason said the turnout was high compared to elections when increases are not sought, but low compared to just under 6,000 voters in 1981, the last time a tax increase, which was approved, was on the ballot.

For the 3.79-mill renewal, voters cast 2,266 yes votes and 1,215 no votes, for approval by 1,051 votes of 65 percent.

For the 4.25 new mills, voters cast 1,972 no votes and 1,504 yes votes, for rejection by 468 votes or 57 percent.

Because of the Headlee Amendment, the operational levy for the district will drop to 32.1294 mills from 33.33 mills levied last year. The amendment requires a rollback in taxes when property assessments increase at a higher rate than inflation as determined by the Consumer Price Index.

State aid is tied into the number of mills levied, so reductions will follow in state aid as well, Mason said.

The net result will be an increase in revenue of about $4 a student or $24,000 over last year. The district's budget for K-12 education is about $18.5 million.

Tax is rejected

Mason said he will recommend that the board of education go back to the voters for approval of a tax increase.

Clarkston schools have the second lowest operational millage levy of Oakland County's 28 public schools, and Mason said he does not believe residents are supporting the schools as they should.

"If it goes too long, people are going to see it reflect in their property values," he said.

Adler: 'Now I'm a dam expert'

Mill Pond dam works again

BY JULIE CAMPE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

To allow weed killer, the Mill Pond in Clarkston is a few feet lower this week—thanks to a working Mill Pond cofferdam.

The dam on Washington Street at the south end of the pond was restored to working order. Sunday, said Ed Adler of Lehman Investments, which owns the dam. Adler also owns Clarkston Mills Mall. It was an eventful year for Adler and the dam, he said. The dam has been broken for about a year and the Clarkston Village Council sued Lehman in January to get the dam fixed before the heavy rains in spring and summer.

In the process of fixing it, Adler contacted scuba divers and former dam owners and reviewed Henry Ford's original dam drawings.

He's relieved to finally have a working dam.

"I'm absolutely thrilled," said Adler. "I'm ecstatic. I'm so happy. I'm glad I got it fixed."

"And now I'm a dam expert, and if you know anyone who needs a dam fixed, you can have them call my crew," he said.

He credited scuba divers Vic Dawson and Roger Bower for the repairs.

"I didn't think they could dismantle the thing under water, but they did," he said. "The valve was all worn out. We had it rebuilt at a machine shop."

The divers worked about 25 feet under water where it was dark and murky, Adler said. Even with lights, visibility was only about 2 inches.

"We rigged up lights, . . . but it was like fog," he said. "It's fixed now, so it can be opened and closed. Everyone in Clarkston should be happy now. Another major crisis has passed."

Mill Pond property owners are also happy to see the dam working again.

"I'm very glad it's fixed," said Jennifer Radcliff, who lives on the pond. "We now have our safety valve back. I'm glad that Mr. Adler was able to accomplish that. I know it's been a tough situation."

While the pond level is lowered, the pond residents also plan to clean up the shoreline, she said.

During the weed-killing treatment in the pond, the water level is lowered so the chemicals don't flow into Parke Lake, Adler said.

Paving partnership?

Two townships may work together in paving Rohr Road in Independence and Orion townships.

Independence Township received a notice from Orion Township that the residents had asked for a contribution for the road paving.

Independence usually contributes about 10 percent of road improvement costs if it has enough money.

With "significant drainage problems," the cost for the 1.5 miles is estimated at $900,000, said Independence Township Clerk Richard Holman at the June 2 meeting.

Only one side of one-half mile is in Independence, so the cost would be about $150,000.

But the Independence Township portion may not be affected by the drainage problems, he said.

The board voted 6-0 to authorize the township engineers to estimate the cost of paving the township's portion of Rohr Road. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent.

In Independence, 23 lots and 21 homes are on Rohr Road, said Holman.

Building planned for office center

A building is planned for the 52nd District Courthouse complex on Lorac Drive, Independence Township.

Developer Tom Rademacher applied for a final plat approval last month, but building director Beverly McElmeel discovered the preliminary plat approval had expired in February 1986.

Rademacher returned to the township board on June 2 for an extension of the approval and approval of the final plat.

At the meeting, township planner Richard Carlisle said the preliminary plat met all current zoning ordinances.

The board voted 6-0 to extend the preliminary plat approval with one condition.

Rademacher must produce a deed restriction that includes an agreement to be special assessed for a municipal water system when the system becomes available to M-15—probably around 1989 or 1990, said Supervisor Frank Ronk.

At the meeting, Rademacher agreed, adding a municipal water system would greatly benefit his project.

The board is to approve the final plat after it receives the deed restriction regarding the water assessments.

Four injured in Dixie crash

Four people were injured Friday in an accident that held up traffic for about 25 minutes on Dixie Highway in Independence Township at 12:30 p.m.

Rudolph Lynn Orlick, 34, of Independence Township, driving southbound on Dixie Highway, turned left into Kurtis Kitchen and Bath Center and was hit by a car driven by Robert Verne Adams, 19, of Waterford Township.

Orlick was in stable condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital on Monday.

Adams was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, and discharged the following day.

Treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital were passengers in Adams' car: Curt Andrew Sibel, 18, of Waterford, and Daniel LeMarbe, 18, of Union Lake.

Traffic is stopped for 25 minutes Friday while Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies clear the scene after an accident on Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

Ceremony marks occasion

Theater renamed in memory of principal

BY ALISA NASS

Clarkston News Special Writer

In memory of John Kirchgessner, the Clarkston High School Little Theater was renamed the Kirchgessner Theater in a ceremony June 2.

Kirchgessner was the CHS principal when he was killed in an airplane crash in March 1986.

Nearly 100 people attended the ceremony. A 20-by-24-inch painting of the principal on the back wall of the theater was unveiled by his wife Jan and sons, John and Jerrod.

The CHS Class of 1986 provided the painting while two nameplates above the entrance doors and a light for the painting were provided by the school district.

Kirchgessner's mother Eleanor and sister Connie Lutz were present. Jan Kirchgessner's mother Georgia Poplar and aunt Ruth Scott, both of Ohio, also attended.

"He had a drive for perfection, even though we told him it was impossible," said Dom Mauti, past CHS principal, of Kirchgessner's work in Clarkston schools.

Kirchgessner started working in the Clarkston school district as a science teacher at Sashabaw Junior High School for three years. He spent three years at Sashabaw as assistant principal and 10 years as an assistant principal at CHS. He was principal of CHS from July 1985 until his death.

Many speakers related humorous accounts of events in which Kirchgessner had been involved.

"He had a sense of humor, he could laugh at himself," said Gordon Grice, a Sashabaw Junior High science teacher.

Grice described one joke he played on Kirchgessner shortly after becoming a vice principal at the junior high.

Kirchgessner had caught a student throwing stones at the building, and as one of his first official acts, sternly brought the student in and began to question him, said Grice.

When opening the desk drawer for a pen, to his surprise, Kirchgessner found it full of plastic peanuts, placed there by Grice.

Kirchgessner laughed and let the student go, said Grice.

In tribute to Kirchgessner's humorous side, CHS graduates Dean Vanderkolk and Shawn Smith performed his favorite Vaudeville sketch, "Who's on First."

When the two were students, said Jan Gabier, a CHS assistant principal, "they would come in the office ever so often and do that, and we would laugh."

Kirchgessner was involved in many of the faculty plays presented in the theater and was said to always have his lines learned by the first rehearsal.

Jan Kirchgessner said her husband practiced his lines over and over in the car, and once when traveling to Ohio for Christmas she had to beg him to quit practicing and turn on the radio.

"It couldn't be better," she said of the dedication.

Because of his interest in the theater, the renaming was a very appropriate memorial for her husband, she said.

Cars are like houses. Some feel better than others. I like the one I have now.

The car perception doesn't have much to do with why houses feel good. People usually don't hang curtains in their cars or put up wallpaper (although there was that rash of whatever-on-board signs and bumper stickers continue to be popular).

Still, it's hard to say why the car feels good except that I'm comfortable in it.

All of the above is why the letter I received a couple of weeks ago bothered me.

My trusty auto has been recalled. I can't stand it.

The letter that accompanied the recall described in ugly detail what could happen if something to do with the gas line overheats in heavy traffic. Basically, it said the car could stop without warning.

Aaaargh!

A photo I took this week reminded me of a long-standing inside chuckle we've shared many times at the news.

Because we drive to most locations, we have cars to park.

On more than one occasion, our cars have appeared in the background of photos in The Clarkston News.

I joke about having contests to see who can get his or her car in the paper most often, then I cut the car out of the photo if I can and hope we all try to remember to park in out-of-the-way places.

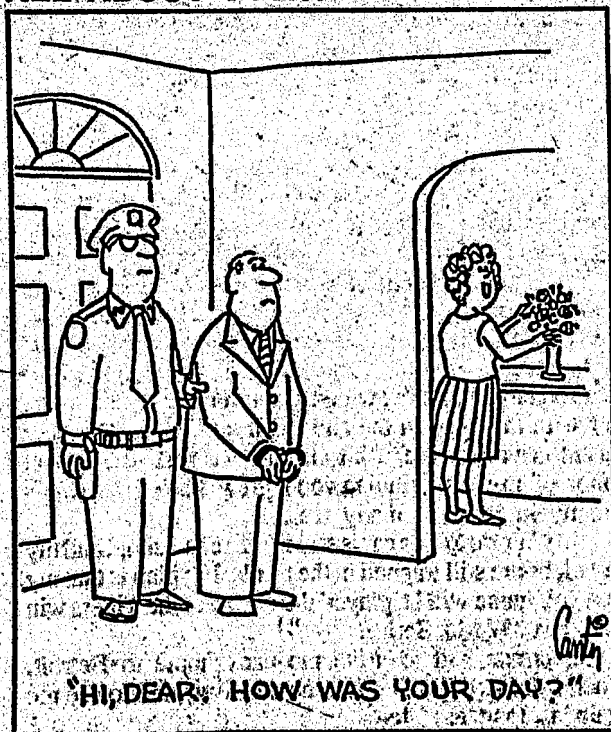

That reminds me of one of my favorite stories involving taking photographs for the News.

A mother once told me that her children knew which car belonged to me. Whenever they saw me meandering around town, they tried to do something interesting so I'd stop and take their photograph.

Some children really do keep track of the photographs. Several times, children in different locations have told me precisely how many times they've "been in The Clarkston News," how many times their brothers or sisters have appeared in photos, and so on.

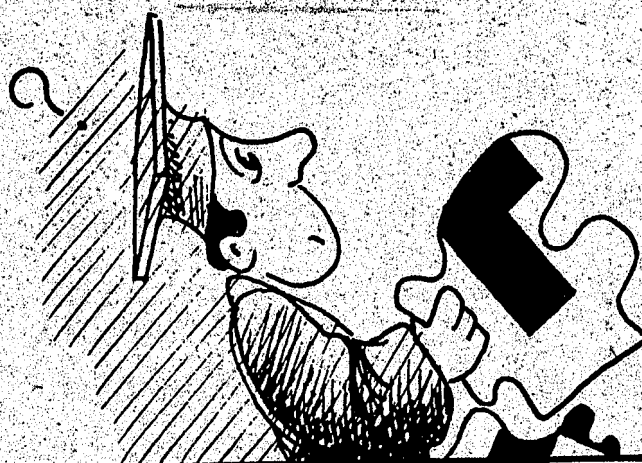

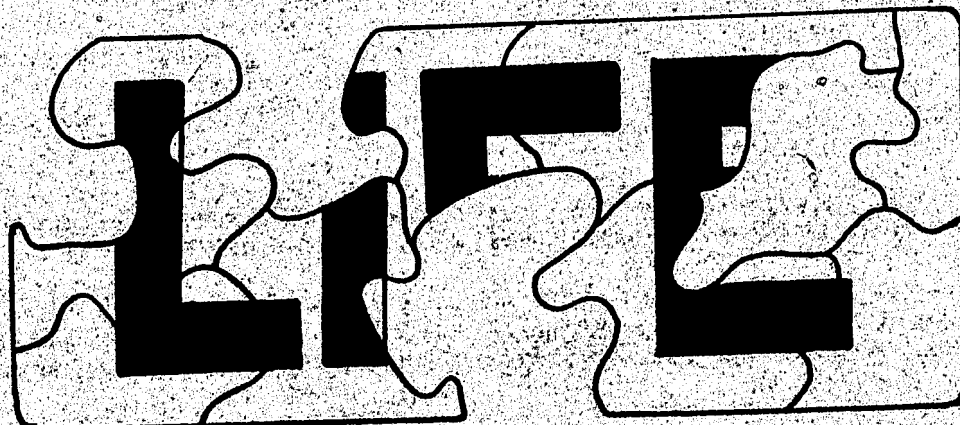

"Take my picture, please," is a phrase I'll never forget.

It's the beginning of the reunion season, the time when army units, families, classes and churches get together again.

The Cascade Christian Church near Grand Rapids had such a reunion last year, and from it came the following anonymous reflections. Leon Storm, of Lake Orion, passed it along. It was their 60th.

We were before television. Before penicillin, polio shots, antibiotics, and frisbees. Before frozen food, nylon, dacron, Xerox, Kinsey. We were before radar, fluorescent lights, credit cards and ball point pens.

For us time-sharing meant togetherness, not computers; a chip meant a piece of wood; hardware meant hardware, and software wasn't even a word.

We were before Black Tuesday and the stock market crash; before Lindbergh and Amelia Earhart.

We were before panty hose and drip-dry clothes. Before ice-makers and dishwashers, clothes dryers, freezers, electric blankets, and Lincoln Continentals; before Edward and Simpson; before men wore long hair and earrings and women wore tuxedos.

In our day cigarette smoking was "in", grass was to mow, Coke was to drink, and pot was something you cooked in. We were before day-care centers, house-husbands, babysitters, computer dating, dual careers, and computer marriages.

In our time closets were for clothes, not coming out of, and a book about two young women living together in Europe could be called "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay".

In those days, Playboy referred to J. M. Synge's hero of the Western World, bunnies were small rabbits and rabbits were not Volkswagens.

In our time there were five-and-ten cent stores where you could buy things for 5 and 10 cents. You could buy a Chevy Roadster for $599 and gas was eleven cents a gallon.

What we DID have in 1926 were comics like Fatty Arbuckle and wall-eyed Ben Turpin, villains like Lon Chaney and Louis Walheim, and romantics like Valentino and Tyrone Power.

We had milk home delivered in glass bottles and icemen. And, we had Calvin Coolidge, who reduced the deficit by 10 percent (two billion dollars) in three years.

We had humorists who were funny -- Thurber, Benchley, Corey Ford, E. B. White, Chaplin and W. C. Fields.

We had fountain pens and bottles of ink. We played thick 78 rpm records with cactus needles that always needed sharpening, saddle shoes, convertibles and rumble seats. Those who went to college mailed their laundry home in cardboard containers and it came back with brownies.

Most of all, we had fun.

Videos improper

Recently the Michigan Legislature began consideration of some minor, but important legislation. More and more public libraries throughout the state are increasing their video business.

It is one thing to make available educational tapes or travelogues and the like; however, renting out first-run movies is improper and should be stopped.

It is simply government competing with private enterprise, whether it is a thousand tapes or one.

The majority of our township board adopted (on our behalf?) a resolution directed to the Legislature opposing the proposed legislation that would ban this practice.

Trustees Carol Balzarini and William Vandermark support this government competition, calling the proposed legislation ludicrous and drawing analogies to books that were obviously off the point.

A fundamental principle of our successful system is free enterprise, and this means free from competition by government. No matter how small the level of business, the concept has no place in our society or in our community.

I support the library and I know they do good work, but they should not be permitted to expand into businesses where private enterprise is already serving.

Friendly faces People count for assistant manager

Sue Mudge may be ahead of her time.

In general, women are only now beginning to combine careers with child rearing and marriage. But Sue has done it for years.

A 16-year resident of Griggs Drive, Independence Township, Sue began working at Pontiac State Bank in 1970. She's worked at the Main Sue Mudge, a Griggs Drive, Independence Township resident, likes to spend time with her husband Eldon and their children: Tracie, Annmarie, Amy and Andrew.

Street, Clarkston, office for eight years. Now she holds the title of assistant manager.

"I'm not exactly your typical housewife that stays home," she said. "There's nothing wrong with that, but it's not for me."

With four kids ranging in age from 19 to 3, Sue probably uses her management skills at home, too. Plus, she's been involved with the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club, Clarkston SCAMP and her church, Good Shepherd Assembly of God.

With careful planning, Sue also manages to spend time with her husband, Eldon.

"My husband and I do a lot of things together. We do yardwork together. We do housework together," she said.

But she wouldn't have it any other way, she said, adding she loves her job.

"I like to work with numbers and figure things out," said Sue. "I like to talk to people. It's interesting. It's nice to be able to help people, especially if they're older."

One of the toughest parts in her 17 years at PSB was the merger with National Bank of Detroit—because of all the new forms, she said.

But it's working out well, now, and they offer a few more services because of the merger, she said.

"Sometimes it makes it more interesting to go through the changes," she said.

Teed off

Jim Fitzgerald

On the first tee, where the bets are made, I explained why I would be playing unusually lousy golf and deserved special consideration, such as two strokes per hole. The other members of the foursome wouldn't believe all the terrible things that happened to me on my way to the golf course. You won't, either. But I swear every word that follows is the complete truth, so help me Tammy Bakker.

Actually, although the golf game was on Friday, the misery began on Wednesday. Because I hadn't played since last fall, I went to a driving range to knock the rust off my mighty swing. I hit 100 balls and raised a horrible blister on my right thumb.

I am one of the few right-hand golfers who own a right-hand glove as well as the widely used left-hand glove. I used to think it looked sissy to wear two golf gloves, but then I noticed that big league baseball players put special gloves on their hands for running the bases on their feet. And I decided I shouldn't be ashamed to wear two golf gloves, even if my opponents did ask if I were expecting a snowball fight.

But I left the right-hand glove in my car at the driving range. Two days later, the blister still hurt something awful and a lesser man would have canceled the golf match. However, I'd been watching the Pistons-Celtics basketball playoffs and was determined to play with pain. Perhaps my opponents would be shook into double bogies by the sight of my clenched-teethed grit, not to mention the bandage making a fearful bump in the thumb of the right-hand glove that I would surely not forget a second time.

THE GAME WAS 40 miles north, at Indianwood Golf Club in Lake Orion. I decided to drive my World Series car - the 1977 Olds with 130,000 miles on it. Usually the only time I drive it is when I don't want Tigers fans to celebrate a world championship by setting my 1984 Olds on fire. But my wife was driving the newer car that morning, leaving home at the same time and going in the same direction, but 20 miles farther.

She passed me in Pontiac, waving happily, just two minutes before the radiator blew up and my World Series car stopped running. A passing motorist (Tom Hawthorne of Rochester, may Tammy Bakker bless him) took pity on an elderly fellow pounding his car hood and sobbing. He drove me to a phone where I arranged for a tow truck and for Jim Sherman to come rescue me.

Sherman publishes five newspapers a week in Oakland County (that's not much circulation but, then again, he doesn't need many paperboys). He is the poor fool who invited me to Indianwood. Sherman arrived at the busted car scene in time to help me discover my trunk lock was broken and I couldn't get to my golf clubs, golf shoes and right-hand glove.

UNDER THOSE circumstances, I thought an appropriate solution was suicide. But Sherman insisted I play with clubs borrowed from a man named Pansy (this is still the complete truth, folks). In street shoes. In a right-hand glove purchased at Indianwood for $15, more than Michael Jackson pays for one glove, which only increased my agony.

It was decided the only fair thing to do was force each of the three other players to have me for a partner for six of the 18 holes. The winner turned out to be the guy who had me for the last six holes because by that time the 94-degree heat forced me to quit swinging and remain seated in the cart with my head in ice and a gin and tonic. The only decent drive (for me) I hit all day was lost because, in honor of my visit, Indianwood grew knee-high rough directly in front of many tees.

My World Series car is still in the repair shop, and my golf clubs are still trapped in the trunk. The plan is that my next golf game will be played the day after the Tigers win their next World Series.

Sherman had to drive me back home to Detroit. When I thanked him, he said he never wanted to see me again as long as I lived.

car, a mid-70's Ford Elite. When the deputies pulled behind the suspects and turned on their lights signaling them to pull over, the chase began.

The suspects narrowly missed hitting a funeral procession at Goyette Funeral Home as they sped through town, Parker said.

In town, the deputies slowed to 55 mph and lost sight of the suspects, but Smith smashed into the rear of an Ortonville woman's car—spinning it around—and ended up hitting a tree and sliding into a ditch.

The woman's car was totaled and she suffered whiplash injuries. Her 16-year-old daughter suffered a mild concussion.

The woman and her daughter were in town for a doctor's appointment. They were waiting to make a left-hand turn onto M-15 when the accident occurred. Their car was towed away with a bent rear axle.

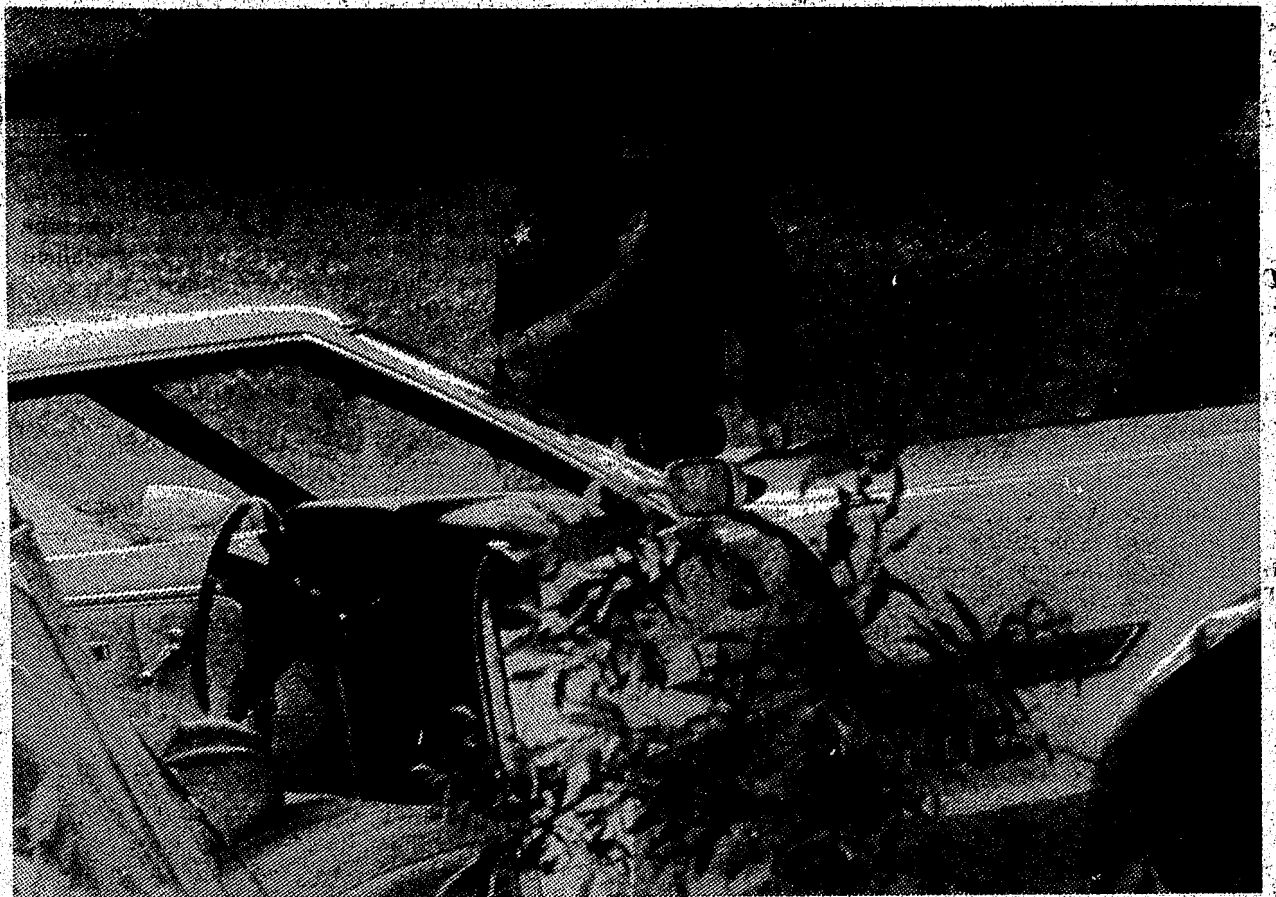

According to the woman, when the men got out of their steaming car, one carried a briefcase and a gun.

She said the man motioned with the gun and told her to stay in her car. The felonious assault charge resulted from her claim.

She said she didn't get much sleep Wednesday night and was still shaken from the experience.

The deputies arrived on the scene seconds after the accident occurred and the suspects were apprehended without incident at the Country Value Hardware Store in the A & P shopping center.

Parker said they found a hat and wig disguise in Deputy Don Moore of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department leans up against the Ford Elite the suspects tried to escape in on June 3.

The suspects were apprehended by police after a short chase when they crashed into an Ortonville woman's car.

the bushes near the accident, but no gun was found on the suspects or by a tracking dog.

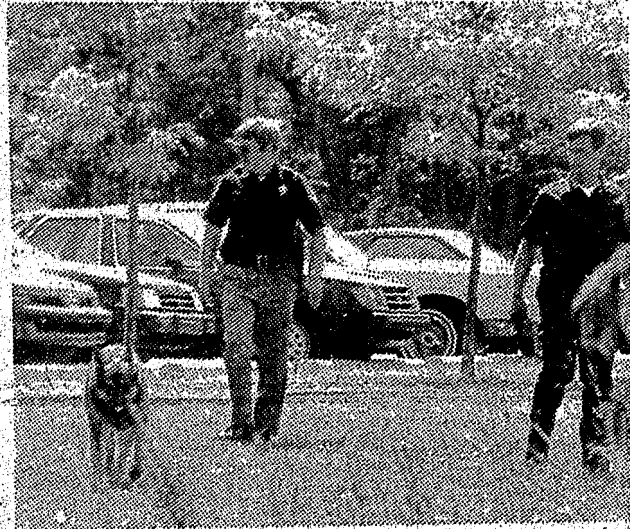

The case is under investigation by the FBI, the Michigan State Police and the Ann Arbor Police Department, said Sgt. Anthony Velat of sheriff's department detective bureau.

Three commercial accounts drawn on a bank in Highland and two in Ann Arbor were found in the briefcase Smith was carrying. The accounts were valid because no checks had been cashed, he said, but "they were going to do something and started the process."

"We believe they were getting ready to perpetrate this fraud scam," said Velat.

Officers from the FBI believe the suspects may have been involved in a statewide bank fraud scheme, he said, in which a number of accounts would be opened with false names and addresses.

A number of checks would be cashed the same date and by the time banks discovered there were insufficient funds, the suspects would be gone, leaving a trail of false identification, he said.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies Don Moore (left) and Jim Evans along with a tracking dog search the field near the accident site.

Board calls for DNR hearing on Deer Lake

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Concerns about safety and heavy boat traffic on Deer Lake and a Deer Lake Study Committee report have prompted a request for a public hearing with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

On June 2, the Independence Township Board voted 6-0 to approve a resolution requesting the DNR hearing.

Eight Deer Lake area residents spoke at the meeting.

Rob Stawarz, a member of the Deer Lake Study Committee and president of the Deer Lake Homeowners Association, protested a proposal by Trustee Carol Balzarini.

At the May 19 meeting, Balzarini had suggested the board ban jet skis, develop an ordinance to prevent the use of one lake lot for access by property owners off the lake and take prompt action against overnight boat storage on outlots.

"Balzarini was irresponsible in thinking that she could pass this by the township without public comment," said Stawarz.

He also said those ordinances were biased and would only benefit the Deer Lake property owners.

At the May 19 meeting, the board took no action on Balzarini's request.

At the June 2 meeting, other lake area residents also spoke.

Gary Zabel of Phelan Drive asked who had the power to limit the power of speed boats on the lake.

Township attorney Gerald Fisher said the township would have to ask the DNR, who would make a recommendation which the township could adopt.

Chuck Myers, a Sagamore Drive resident, suggested that the sheriff's department patrol the lake and give tickets to safety violators. Even a few weekends would help, he said.

After the board voted to request the DNR public hearing, Balzarini responded to Stawarz's comments.

The purpose of her proposal was to take action on the issues—any action, even if it meant to reject the proposals, she said, adding residents had complained to her that the board was doing nothing.

She was not trying to slip anything by the residents, she said.

The 137-acre lake holds a nearly 40-ac. no-wake zone at the north end, five private beaches, one public beach, 44 docks and 14 rafts.

Complaints from lake lot owners, lake area residents and users of the public access site have included: noisy boats, too many boats, misuse of wetlands, unsafe boat operations and concern about future development around the lake.

Old fire station comes down

BY PAT YOUNG

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It took less than an hour on June 2 to level a building that housed the Independence Township Fire Department for 33 years.

Next to the old Station 2 at Clarkston and Sashabaw roads—less than 4 inches away at some points—stood the spacious new $522,000 building that would soon be occupied by the firefighters.

The new Station 2, built by O'Brien Waterford Construction Co., was on schedule. Construction time was approximately 210 days, with completion projected for mid-June.

It was time for the old station to go.

Firefighters worked out of the old building until May 30, and have been temporarily assigned to other stations until occupancy of the new station in about a week. Many stood watching as the demolition began.

Nationwide Wrecking out of Utica was contracted by O'Brien Waterford Construction to handle the demolition.

The old building was constructed during World War II in the early 1940s. Trailers were manufactured in the building, and later a Case Tractor dealership operated out of it.

The fire department took over the building from the Roger Walstead family in 1954. Mrs. Walstead still lives next door to the station.

"There's a lot of old memories there," said Acting Fire Chief Gar Wilson. "You kind of keep those and move on with the times."

As a power shovel clawed away at the cement block walls of the old building, more than one firefighter on the scene could be heard saying: "I kind of hate to see it go."

Two hurt in crash

Two Independence Township residents were injured in an accident on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, about 6 p.m. June 1.

Sally Ann Mudge, 41, was driving southbound on Dixie Highway, when she stopped to make a left turn near the Old Kent Bank. A car behind her, driven by Andrew Everado Muniz, hit her car and pushed it into oncoming traffic where it collided with another car.

Mudge was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Muniz, 31, was treated and released from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

The driver of the third car, William Russell Hamilton, 31, of Clarkston, was not injured.

Oxford Bank opens branch in Independence

Faye Mersino, manager of the new Clarkston branch of Oxford Bank at 7199 Ortonville Rd., greets customers on Monday, the first official day of business.

BY PAT YOUNG

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Oakland County's oldest bank came to Independence Township on Monday.

Oxford Bank purchased the building and much of the equipment from Manufacturers Bank, at 7199 Ortonville Rd. at the Bluegrass Drive intersection.

Oxford Bank officially began banking services June 8 at the new Clarkston branch, but through July 10 there will be representatives of both banks on hand.

"Customers will be able to perform transactions with either bank until then," said Jeff Davidson, assistant vice president and branch administrator out of the main office of Oxford Bank in Oxford. "The intent is to make it an easy transition for customers."

Banking hours will remain the same for now, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, and 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Saturdays. After the 30-day period, hours will change to regular Oxford Bank hours, which provide longer drive-in hours (until 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday).

"In the very near future, we will offer 24-hour automated teller services," Davidson said. "We are a member of Magic Line."

Manager of the Clarkston branch of Oxford Bank is Faye Mersino, an officer of the bank with 25 years of experience with Oxford Bank.

"I think it's great to come into a new area, make new friends and give them our services," said Mersino, a Brandon Township resident. "I'm looking forward to it."

Oxford Bank, which was founded in 1884, is locally owned and independent, said Davidson. In addition to its main office in Oxford and the new Clarkston branch, the bank has offices in Lake Orion and Addison Township.

SCAMP funds

For the first time, Clarkston SCAMP is to receive money from Independence Township through the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) fund.

The township also donates to SCAMP, a five-week summer camp for children and young adults with special needs, from its general fund.

At the June 2 meeting, the township board approved the funding proposal for its $49,428 CDBG—federal money to be used for low to moderate income areas.

As of the last census, Independence Township didn't have any areas designated low to moderate income, said township Treasurer John Lutz, so the money must meet other federal criteria.

The allocations follow:

- Special Assessment Fund: $7,414
- Minor Home Repair: $14,828
- Senior Citizen Center: $9,885
- Public Service: $7,414
 1. Consortium for Human Dev., $2,000
 2. Chore service, $1,200
 3. Home Meals, $714
 4. SCAMP, $2,250
 5. Clarkston Youth Assistance, $1,250
- Planning and/or management: $7,414
- Contingency: $2,473

Film at 11? No, but close

The first regular video taping of an Independence Township board meeting got mixed reviews from the board members.

"It really wasn't a lot different to me," said Supervisor Frank Ronk. "Whether you're on camera or not, you're in the eyes of the people anyway. . . . It wasn't disruptive."

Treasurer John Lutz agreed.

"It doesn't bother me," he said. "I've seen them there before. It's no big deal."

It was a different story for Clerk Richard Holman.

"I'm not real comfortable with that yet," said Holman. "I think it's going to take some time. . . . I didn't see any significant (difference in the meeting length)."

The taping was like any other meeting, said Trustee Dale Stuart.

"I think it's fine for them doing it," he said. "I think people will be bored stiff watching it."

Trustee William Vandermark liked the experience.

"I guess I thought it was fun," he said. "It's good that they cover the meetings. I don't feel any different at all."

"It gives people a chance to keep an eye on government," he said. "I don't think it will be a big seller, but it's helpful."

Trustees Carol Balzarini and Daniel Travis could not be reached for comment.

The taping is just one more public service through the public access, said Joel Burnell, public access supervisor for the Independence-Clarkston cable studio.

"I'm really excited about it," said Burnell. "I like politics, and I think the community needs to know what's happening at the township level."

The meeting broadcast debut was Thursday, June 4, on Independence-Clarkston cable-TV channel 11 and meeting tapes are to be shown every Thursday at 8 p.m. following Tuesday township meetings. The board meets the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

The first taping took a lot of work, said Burnell. Volunteers Gary and Brian Polley and Nancy Rose were the crew.

"The first night is always hard," Burnell said. "There's always bugs to be worked out."

Truck sale cuts cost

Sold: One 1969 red fire truck.

For $16,527, Armada Township bought the pumper from Independence Township.

The township board approved the sale at its June 2 meeting. Armada was the highest of three bids, said Gar Wilson, acting fire chief.

The money from the sale is to help purchase equipment for two new pumpers the township bought in April, he said.

"I'm happy with this (amount)," said Wilson.

Township approves Maybee Road expansion

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Maybee Road extension southwest across Dixie Highway, Independence Township, is one step closer to a reality.

On June 2, the township board voted 6-0 to hold a public hearing on a special assessment district to pay for the extension.

The district would include four property owners: Durant Enterprises, Inc., owned by Alex Dandy, who owns Hamady Food Stores; Regal Motors; Clarkston Assoc.; Fox Management—owners of Lancaster Apartments; and Frank Kulha of Dearborn.

"I think this is a very good move," said Trustee William Vandermark. "I think it will be a benefit to the four property owners involved. . . . The whole concept indicates good planning in that area."

The cost for property acquisition and construction is estimated at $454,000, said township attorney Gerald Fisher.

The public hearing, set for July 21, is to hear objections or suggestions from the four benefiting property owners.

To form a special assessment district, approval from a majority of the property owners is necessary. The public hearing is the first step.

At the May 19 meeting, the board talked about the complications of extending the road.

Clerk Richard Holman said the extension is necessary because a township traffic study completed in April shows traffic to be a serious problem at the Dixie-Maybee intersection.

Also, Lancaster Apartments west of Dixie Highway behind Clarkston Motors is projected to generate a significant amount of traffic, he said.

Since Lancaster developers are ready to begin Phase II of the 276-unit project, the traffic issue should be solved before the apartments are built, according to the planning commission.

The Maybee Road extension is scheduled for 1992 in the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) plan. But to pay for it, the DDA planned to use tax increment financing (TIF). The legality of TIF is under consideration in the Michigan Supreme Court at this time.

Fox Corp., one of the benefiting property owners and the developer of Lancaster Apartments, would pay for the Maybee Road extension costs if the DDA would reimburse them in 1992, said Holman.

But if TIF were found illegal by the state Supreme Court, the township wouldn't have a way to reimburse Fox.

The board opted to try forming a special assessment district so the benefiting property owners would pay for the road extension, said Holman.

Boxer likes Marine Corps

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

As a boxer, Ron Olsen of Independence Township keeps himself in pretty good shape.

And his three months in the United States Air Force also helped condition him last year, but that was not enough to prepare Olsen, 20, for the workout he received in the U.S. Marine Corps.

When he returned from boot camp in San Diego, Calif., last week, Olsen talked about his experiences.

He had gained 17 pounds—mostly muscle, he thinks, because he actually dropped in his pants size. His civilian pants were too big, he said.

Workouts included running on the beach in combat boots, all sorts of drills and timed sit-ups, push-ups and three-mile runs.

Olsen received a perfect score in physical fitness and finished seventh in the platoon.

It was a relief to finally finish boot camp, he said.

"When you get through boot camp, it makes you feel great," Olsen said. "There's no other feeling. I've never had a bigger accomplishment. When they finally call you a Marine, it's great. It gives you confidence. It turns you into a leader."

He compared the Marines to the Air Force.

"It was a lot tougher," he said of the Marines.

"Physically, it's really demanding—and mentally."

"At first they degrade you, and tell you you're nothing because you're not a Marine. . . . The most important thing they gave anyone is discipline. You have respect for everyone, especially your drill instructor."

"I'm looking forward to going back there (Camp Delmar, San Diego)."

Olsen signed up for four years, he said, but added, "The way it's going now, I might go for 20."

"I didn't have any direction, and that's what (the Marines) gave me," he said.

The first thing he did when he finished boot camp was eat pizza and drink pop.

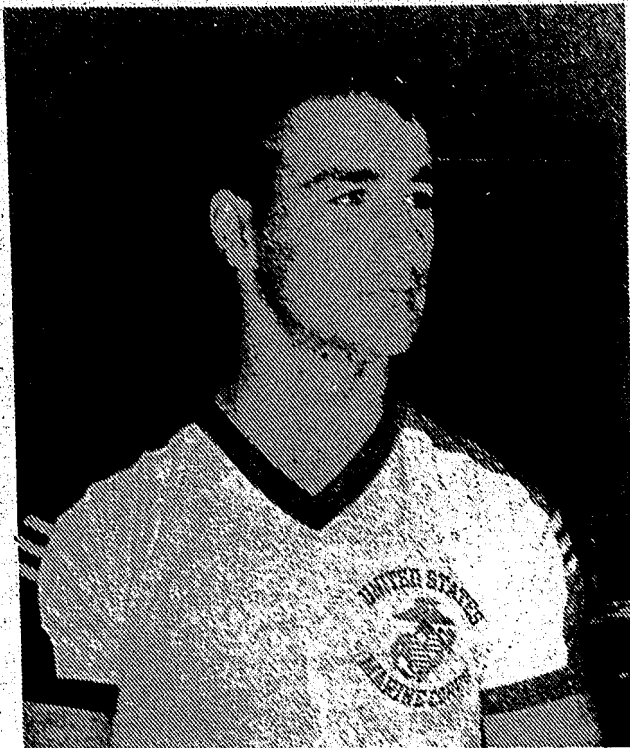

"We weren't allowed to have it," said Olsen. "When we graduated, we all went to a pizza place, but we ate so much pizza and drank so much pop that we didn't feel too good."

Olsen fitted in a little boxing while at boot camp. He won his fight in the Smokers Tournament.

"The platoon was going crazy in the stands," he said. "My drill instructor came just for my fight. He left when it was over."

It's been a great experience, he said, and credited his foster parents, Dale and Rose Grable of Oak Park Drive, Independence Township, for their help.

"They're great. They've given me a lot of confidence and support, especially in boot camp. I think I've grown up a lot," he said. "It kind of forces you to. It makes you think about what you have to do. . . . It gives you integrity."

During Marine boot camp, Ron Olsen most missed pizza and pop.

Dedication planned June 24

Park amphitheater nears finish

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

John Sowels is proud of the work he's done on the Irwin and Sadie Cohn Amphitheater under construction at Independence Oaks County Park.

The outdoor theater is down the hill from the Independence Township park's nature center. The dedication ceremony is planned June 24, and Sowels expects the work to be completed with bench seating for 150 to 200 for park programs.

The structure has been under construction for nearly two years. About $50,000 of the $58,000 cost was covered through donations to the Oakland Parks Foundation in honor of the Cohns.

Much of the work also involved volunteer time. Sowels, the supervisor for the Technical Support Division of the county parks, is in charge of the building project as part of his job.

But he's spent many evenings and weekends at the site, about 150 hours of his own time, he figures. "I love this one," he said. "It was quite a challenge because it's not a square building."

The Holly resident also enjoys spending time at Independence Oaks. "I like the quietness, the solitude out here," he said. "It's a beautiful park."

On Saturday, Sowels drove the backhoe carrying topsoil to the site while about 25 volunteers worked to spread the soil. The volunteers included Sowels' crew of 10 and members of the parks foundation and their families and friends.

When the amphitheater is completed, it will be used for the nature center's day and evening programs, said Kathleen Dougherty, parks naturalist.

"In addition, to that, they'll make it available to scouting groups and groups of that nature," she said. A small fee will be charged, but it has not been set.

There will be access for the handicapped and a sound system good enough to amplify bird songs and wildlife sounds, but not of concert quality. Films and slides will be viewable in the evenings.

"We'll definitely expand our program," Dougherty said, adding that she's happy for more opportunity to serve the public.

Money for the 32-by-30-foot building was donated in memory of Irwin Cohn and in honor of his wife, Sadie, an Orchard Lake resident.

The Cohns sold 421 acres, which included the amphitheater site and Crooked Lake, to the county parks department "at charity rate" in 1971, said

A campfire area is part of the project [at left] and benches will seat 150 to 200 people for day and evening programs at the Irwin and Sadie Cohn Amphitheater under construction at Independence Oaks County Park. The project is to be completed by June 24.

Francis Greenebaum, executive director of the parks foundation.

After Cohn died in 1984, his family donated $16,500 in his memory to the parks foundation. Cohn was a founding member of the foundation, which was formed in 1983.

After it was decided to build an amphitheater in honor of the Cohns, their friends donated the remainder of the money, Greenebaum said.

John Sowels drives a backhoe carrying topsoil down the path to the amphitheater. When work is completed, sod will cover the soil.

Wolves fall in regional final

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Fantastic records look impressive, but being the underdog has its advantages.

Clarkston's varsity softball team found the role of the underdog to their liking this year at the Waterford Mott Regionals Saturday.

The Wolves, despite a near .500 record in the regular season, came within one game of winning their fourth regional title under Coach Carla Teare.

Saginaw Arthur Hill slipped past Clarkston, 2-0, to capture the championship in a hard-fought game.

At the finals, the Wolves proved to be tougher than their season record showed. They surprised a powerful Central team with a 4-2 victory.

Missy Odell was the winning pitcher for the Wolves. Central had seven hits in the game but they were spread out.

"Missy really started pitching great," said Teare of a late-season spurt by her ace pitcher. "When you get good pitching, you will win."

Stacey Shurtz had a sacrifice fly to knock in one run and Odell singled in another one for the victors. Marci Morgan slammed a home run to right field, just beating the throw at the plate.

After a little celebration, the Wolves took the field again and squared off against Arthur Hill in the finals.

Odell was the losing pitcher in the 2-0 loss, but she allowed just two hits and only one of the runs was earned.

"We made some errors today and that is why we lost," said Teare. "When you get so close, it hurts."

While Clarkston didn't score any runs, the Wolves hit the ball hard in the finals, but it was always right at the opponent, Teare said.

Arthur Hill got all the runs it would need in the top of the first inning of the championship game when it used a Clarkston error and a double-steal to manufacture a run.

The Wolves threatened to tie the score in their half of the first, but a runner was thrown out stealing to end the threat.

Arthur Hill struck again in the second inning when a walk and a wild pitch brought home the team's second run.

The only other time Clarkston was able to threaten came in the sixth inning.

Morgan started the inning with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Kris Castillo. Maggie Gdula then singled to put runners on first and third.

Jessica Shoup bounced out to third and Arthur Hill turned it into a double play when Morgan tried to score from third.

Coach Teare said she sent Morgan home on the play hoping that it would spark Clarkston.

"I was trying to make something happen," she said.

Clarkston finishes with a 19-16 record, but Teare is proud of the way her club stuck together through adversity this season.

She said it took quite an effort to continue playing well when things were going bad for the team.

Sometimes entering the playoffs with a subpar record actually can help a team more than hurt it.

"I don't care about won-lost records much," said Teare. "We get overlooked a lot because of our record."

Sports

Balance gives Wolves GOAL title

Balanced scoring was the key to success for Clarkston's girls varsity soccer team this season.

The Wolves won the Greater Oakland Activities League title with a 5-1 record and finished with a 9-8 overall record.

"To capture the GOAL is pretty respectable," said Coach Hana Olsen, especially since the team had to fight off injuries during the season and three players were playing varsity soccer for the first time.

Clarkston's only loss in the GOAL was a 4-1 setback against Lake Orion at home April 9.

Last season, the Wolves registered a subpar record of 4-8-1.

The main reason behind the great improvement this spring was the scoring from the midfielders and defenders.

For example, Shelly Purdy—a midfielder—scored five goals. That made her the third-highest scorer on the team this season.

Another midfielder, Ashley Adams, also did extremely well around the goal area, netting four markers.

Other contributors were Tracey Roek with two and Maggie Satis with three from the midfield position. Defender Paula Gulan scored three goals. Jackie Jablonski had three and Stacey Stricklin had two.

"That is pretty good," Olsen said of her team's balanced scoring this season.

The top scorers on the team were Ruth Webb with nine goals and Brigitte Brown with six.

The team's Most Valuable Player award went to Shelly Purdy for her fine offensive contributions this season. Goalie Sue Haran was named the team's most improved player.

"Sue did just a fantastic job in goal," said Olsen.

Olsen said the entire defensive squad was outstanding, and the Wolves were blown out of only one game, a 7-1 pasting by Lakeland.

On the whole, most of the games were tight defensive battles.

"I'm pleased with the way we played," said Olsen. "Our scores were rather low, but we did a nice job."

But once again, Olsen pointed out that while the scores were low, they were spread out among the team's 17 members—12 of them scored.

Sans and Webb are the top seniors on the team and Olsen will have to find replacements for their fine play.

Call for volleyball

Volleyball teams are still needed for the Wednesday co-rec and Thursday men's power leagues, said Pat Haaseth, of the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

Starting June 17 and running eight weeks, the Wednesday games start at 6:30 p.m. The sponsor fee is $100. The six-person teams need three men and three women. Players must be at least 16 years old.

The Thursday games start at 6:30 p.m. June 18 and run for eight weeks. The sponsor fee is $110, including the official's fee. Four-man teams of 16-year-olds or older are needed.

For more information, call 625-8223.

Talent not enough for Sashabaw

Although Sashabaw's baseball team ended up with a sub-.500 record this season, Coach Tom Smith said it wasn't due to a lack of talent.

The Cougars finished the regular season with a 5-12 record.

"When we were hitting, we weren't fielding and when we were fielding, we weren't hitting," said Smith, describing his club's problems this season.

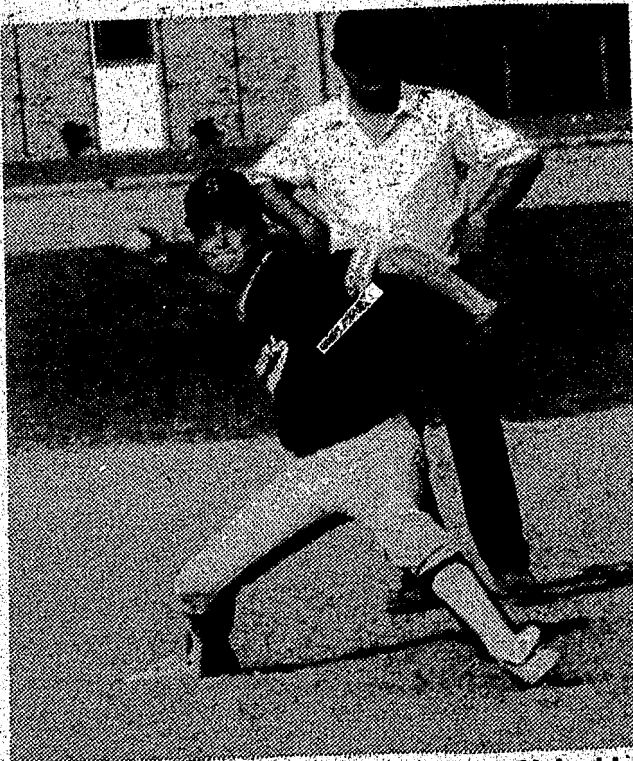

Smith said playing on a regulation-size field for the first time probably affected the way his team performed.

Nonetheless, a few individuals from racked up some impressive numbers.

Glen Adams batted .405, had two home runs and knocked in a team-high 16 RBIs for the Cougars.

Mike Ponkey was second on the team in runs batted in with 10. He also swiped nine bases and batted .343.

Dave Potts smacked one homer and collected

Kevin Keilitz was named the Most Valuable Player on the Sashabaw Junior High baseball team. He led the team in innings, strikeouts and wins.

nine RBIs while batting .350.

The Most Valuable Player award was given to Kevin Keilitz. He had a .333 batting average, scored 13 runs and picked up three wins to lead the pitching staff.

Keilitz also led the team in innings pitched, strikeouts and earned run average.

The Most Improved award went to Gary Kaul and the Coaches Award was given to Potts.

The Coaches Award honors the player who displays the best sportsmanship throughout the season.

"These are a super group of kids," said Smith. "They will really do well at the JV (level)."

Other players that contributed were Derek Manning, Ron Williams and Matt Boucard.

Manning started the season on the bench but soon won a job starting at third base. He finished with a .313 batting average.

Williams played outstanding defense in the outfield for the Cougars and made several run-saving catches.

Boucard batted .313, and Smith said he was a steady and smart ballplayer.

The Cougars' determined play—even while losing—impressed him a lot this season, Smith said.

"They didn't get down on each other at all," he said. "They have learned a lot this season."

McCormick basketball camp enrollment continues growing

Enrollment is booming for the second annual Tim McCormick summer basketball camp that is less than two weeks away.

Last year, 92 children signed up for the week-long program and, according to Larry Marhle, response to the program is growing every day.

Mahrle, a teacher at Clarkston High School and former basketball coach, will be one of the coaches at the camp. He is also in charge of sorting all the mailed registration forms.

So far, 51 people have signed up for the camp, which runs from June 22-27.

"We are running well ahead of last year's pace," said Mahrle. "It's been just fantastic." Participants will be split into two groups—fourth through sixth-graders and seventh through ninth-graders—and run through different skill tests during the two-hour daily sessions.

Marhle said McCormick will bring Philadelphia 76ers memorabilia, including posters of Julius Erving and mini-basketballs, to hand out as awards and gifts to the participants.

Besides McCormick, his younger brother Mike and Marhle, three other Clarkston area people will coach at the day camp: Jeff Tungate, Scott Weaver and John Gaulin.

The cost is $55 for the week with an additional $10 for late registration at the door.

To register for the basketball camp write to: Tim McCormick Basketball Camp, P.O. Box 533, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Time out

Leave it alone

Peter Auchter

Some things are better off left alone.

Tom Monaghan should adopt that philosophy if he ever gets any crazy ideas about remodeling Tiger Stadium.

I haven't been down to the old ballpark on the corner of Michigan and Trumbull yet this season, but the summer is just getting under way. There's plenty of time left to go down and root for the home team.

Tiger Stadium has a good comfortable feeling to it that I just can't seem to get enough of—kind of like that old pair of jeans I won't throw away. A new pair just won't do.

I like it when the box seats in the upper decks resemble a swimming pool after a rain delay. It adds something to the game when you watch it with wet feet.

Having a new stadium would take all the fun out of watching the Tigers play.

At least now when they are not winning, a proud father can say to his wide-eyed son during the youngster's first trip to the ballpark, "This is the seat I sat in when the Tigers won the 1984 World Series. See, here's the gum I left under the seat."

Such special moments would be lost forever should Monaghan decide to rip out the heartbeat of Detroit and replace Tiger Stadium with a modern bowl that resembles 90 percent of the other parks in America and Canada. (Yes folks, Canada is just as septic when it comes to ballparks as America.)

You just can't have special moments in a modernized ballpark.

I still remember the first time I ever attended a game at the old ballpark. The tickets were a present from my father for my 13th birthday.

I was never much of a baseball fan and never had followed the Tigers closely. That one day changed my life completely.

After just one look at the fresh-cut green grass and a close-up look at the hulking ballplayers, I was hooked. I was a Tiger fan.

It didn't matter that the Tigers lost that game on May 20, 1978, to the Boston Red Sox. I loved the look and smell of the park.

Even a two-hour rain delay midway through the contest didn't dampen my spirits.

From that day forward, I was a true-blue Tiger fan. I went back for a few more games that year and have always made sure I see at least one game a year at Tiger Stadium.

It remains a special treat for me to be able to go downtown and enjoy a game of baseball. (And get my feet wet, if I so wish.)

While high-priced crybaby athletes may have taken some of the fun out the game, Tiger Stadium is worth the price of admission alone.

Hey Tom, don't change a thing!

Billig, Merritt named to All-Academic team

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Active is the word the best describes Clarkston High seniors Jeff Billig and Cynthia Merritt, who were recently named to the GOAL All-Academic Team. The Greater Oakland Activities League sponsored the first annual award, which honors two students from each high school in the league.

Jeff Billig played three varsity sports for Clarkston and was president of the honor society during his senior year.

Billig and Merritt were nominated by Athletic Director Paul Tungate and Principal Dr. Robert Burek.

Each candidate must be a senior carrying a minimum of a 3.5 grade point average and be an active participant in a GOAL activity.

Billig had a GPA of 3.83 and was president of the National Honor Society during his senior year. He has played varsity football, basketball and baseball.

Winning the award in its first year was a pleasant surprise for Billig.

"I was shocked when I found out," he said. "I didn't think that I would ever win something like this."

He plans to attend Hillsdale College in the fall and play baseball for the Hillsdale Chargers. If that doesn't work out, he said he might try his hand at track. Billig said he likes to remain active.

"I can't be just sitting around. I'm always doing something," he said.

One of his favorite recreational activities during the summer is playing golf. He also holds down a part-time job at McDonald's.

Like Billig, Merritt thrives on keeping busy.

She has served on student council two years. She has not only taken on the responsibilities of planning traditional activities, but has developed new programs that have proved successful, such as the "Senior Prom" dinner dance at the township senior citizen center.

She served on the planning committee for the Oakland Schools Youth Leadership Conference and was a presenter at the conference.

In late March, she spent a week in Washington, D.C., in the Close-Up program, which helped students learn about government by watching legislators in action.

She works at Ritter's Farm Market and will work at Pine Knob this summer.

Merritt also plans to begin college in the fall, but she isn't sure which school she will attend.

Cynthia Merritt went to Washington D.C. recently to learn more about how the United States government works.

A class portrait of the Clarkston High School Class of 1937 reveals the way graduates were their hair and dressed for senior photos 50 years ago. There were also many other differences, which graduate Eleanor (Baynes) Gunter talked about at the reunion last week.

Class of '37 meets for 1st reunion

BY PAT YOUNG

Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was a long time coming.

When the Clarkston High School class of 1937 gathered for a 50-year reunion last week, it was the first time the class had reunited since graduation.

The reunion, attended by 20 of the original 32 classmates, took place June 3 in the Back Court Restaurant at the Deer Lake Racquet Club. Some of the classmates came from as far away as Florida, Oregon, South Carolina and California for the reunion.

Wives, friends and one of their teachers, Virginia (LaForge) Walter, brought the attendance to 34 people. Roses, the class flower, adorned the luncheon tables.

Class mementos were present in abundance: senior books, programs from the senior play, copies of speeches, scrapbooks, snapshots and yellowed copies of a 1937 Clarkston News with graduation class photographs.

"I just thought that after 50 years, we ought to have a reunion," said Louise (Gulick) McIntock, one of the organizers of the event and secretary of the class.

Also planning the reunion were Eleanor (Baynes) Gunter, treasurer of the class, and Genevieve (Beardslee) Parker, the mother of Paula Blanchard, the first lady of Michigan.

McIntock said they heard from almost everyone from the class. Six had died and two were never found.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of the six who had passed away: Durward Ash, Mildred Butters Hursfall, Wilson J. Denton, Laura J. Robinson, Lester H. Spencer and Fay Tondur.

Classmates who attended were: Ruth (Ferguson) Amy, Ortonville; Donald E. Bain, Gould City; Hilda (Barnett) Lowrie, Waterford; Eleanor (Baynes) Gunter, Clarkston; Earl C. Beardslee, Ovid; Genevieve (Beardslee) Parker, Gaylord; Ruth (Borst) West, Linden; Jean (Conklin) Nelson, McBain; Shirley (Douglas) Mosher, Medford, Ore.; and June (Dunston) Axford, Greenville, S.C.

Also in attendance were: Louise (Gulick) McIntock, Waterford; Reta (Halsey) Dodd, Muskegon; Forrest G. Irish, St. Clair; Donna (Lowrie) Yerkey, Grand Blanc; George Lewis Putnam, Drayton Plains;

Margaret (Shaughnessy) Rexford, Zephyr Hills, Fla.; Hazel (Sommers) Beauregard, Orange, Calif.; Caroline (Walter) Gilbert, Drayton Plains; Dorothy (Wilson) Carlson, Interlochen, and Marian (Yost) Bates, Clarkston.

"It's funny how you get scattered all over the country," said Bain.

Following the 1 p.m. luncheon, classmates gathered for a short program, which Gunter opened by relating a story.

She was telling a 20-year-old friend about their candlelight graduation ceremony in what is now the Clarkston Junior High School. The younger woman jokingly asked if it was candlelight because electricity wasn't invented yet.

"Let me refresh your memories about the good old days," Gunter said.

Among her reflections about 1937 were the following:

In 1937, a bunny was a small, furry animal, not a scantily clad woman. A rabbit was an animal, not a Volkswagen. Hardware was hardware and software hadn't been invented yet.

The Class of 1937 was before M & M's, Scotch tape and sunroofs. They didn't know pizza or fast food, electric typewriters or disco. It was before men wore long hair and earrings, and before women wore tuxedos.

Pot was something you occasionally sat on. Scoring meant you did well on an exam. Gas was 11 cents a gallon.

"And so it was in the '30s," Gunter said. "The way we were—and we loved it."

Village cop contract still on hold

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With minor wording changes, the Independence Township board approved a police contract with the Village of Clarkston at the June 2 meeting.

The village had approved a similar contract at its May 25 meeting and will have to approve the amended contract before it takes effect. At the June 8 village meeting, the council didn't have the amended copy so it took no action.

The township board voted 6-0 to approve the contract that called for the village to pay the township an amount equal to 2.5 mills for police coverage, and the township to direct the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCS) to provide one patrol unit 20 hours a week specifically in the village.

Also, the village is entitled to all revenues collected from all traffic and ordinance violations within the village.

"We're happy with (the contract)," said Supervisor Frank Ronk after the meeting. "We're just finishing the wording."

The previous contract said the deputies would provide service to the village; the change said the township would direct the deputies to provide service to the village—a technicality, said Ronk.

Currently, the village pays 1 mill to the township for police coverage. The township contracts with the OCS for service.

Last November, the township voters approved a 1.5 mill increase for police and now pay 2.5 mills total. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

Teen shoots man

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Springfield Township man was injured in a shooting at 6:15 p.m. Monday following an argument with a neighbor.

During the argument, the victim, Christopherson Shiner, 32, of Villa Crest Street apparently slapped Matthew Downer, 17, in the face, said Lt. John Taylor of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Downer, also of Villa Crest Street, Springfield Township, went into his house and returned with a .22 caliber rifle, said Taylor.

Downer shot Shiner once in the left side.

Shiner is in critical but stable condition in the intensive care unit at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Downer, a former Clarkston High School student, was arraigned in the 52nd District Court Tuesday. He stood mute and Judge Gerald McNally entered a not guilty plea on his behalf. The preliminary hearing was set for 10 a.m. June 18.

If Shiner is unable to attend the hearing, it may be adjourned to a later date to allow him to testify.

Downer was charged with assault with intent to murder, which carries a life penalty, and possession of a firearm and commission of a felony, a two-year imprisonment penalty. His bond was set at $30,000.

Downer, who has no previous serious police record, was unable to pay the bond and is in the Oakland County Jail.

Township supports solution to solid waste problem

To speed up the solid waste solution in Oakland County, Independence Township adopted a resolution June 2 supporting three budget increases for the Municipal Solid Waste Board (MSWB).

The resolution called for a township contribution of $22,108, the township's pro rata share of the MSWB's total budget increase of $1,112,034. Once the solid waste disposal is in use, the township may recover its costs in its charges to the users.

At the township meeting, Supervisor Frank Ronk talked about the solid waste disposal problems.

Landfills in Oakland County are expected to last four to five years at the present rate of use, said Ronk.

A few years ago, they had projected the landfills to last 18 to 20 years, he said.

"It's important to get involved now to get landfills to handle surplus solid waste—and ash from the (planned) incinerator," he said.

Part of the resolution approved a "fast track," a plan to bring a waste-to-energy facility to Oakland County sooner and with less cost—saving the MSWB about $14 million.

Also, with the money up front instead of waiting for financing, construction of the waste-to-energy facility could begin in the fall of 1988.

The other two budget increases were to pay for consulting engineering costs and a new sanitary landfill to be used in conjunction with the waste-to-energy facility, said Ronk.

The board voted 6-0 to approve the resolution.

A waste-to-energy facility would involve a process of burning waste and selling the energy, said Ronk.

Friend to friend

Losing a friend isn't easy

Dear Friend to Friend,

I am a freshman at Clarkston Junior High School and I'm worried about going to the high school next year.

I have heard very scary stories about the older kids picking on me, trying to embarrass me. Just the fact of being a sophomore and having to work my way back up frightens me.

I feel embarrassed to discuss this with my parents or friends because I feel like a wimp for being concerned.

Freshman

Dear Freshman,

You are not alone with these anxieties. It is not as bad as the rumors seem to be.

We feel that whenever people face a major change in their lives, they face many fears about the unknown. Change, however, is healthy and this is your chance to make a good beginning.

You will meet new friends, enjoy new experiences and build memories to last a lifetime, both good and bad. Enjoy the good ones and learn from the bad ones.

Get involved in school activities—there will be one you feel comfortable with from sports to drama.

You are the one in control of how your high school years turn out and so you have to make the best of it. Find a teacher or counselor to talk to about your feelings if you are still upset when you start in the fall.

Remember, relax and have fun!

Dear Friend to Friend,

I have a very good friend, who I think is a very good friend, but I am not sure. We were supposed to go somewhere, but it worked out that I couldn't go (my mother wouldn't let me).

Now it seems our friendship has dwindled to just politeness. How do I regain our friendship (meaning how do I get over my pride) and renew our friendship?

Lost in Friendship

Dear Lost in Friendship,

You know what you have to do to open up your communication with your friend. GO AND TALK TO HER!

Why don't you ask her to do something specific so she knows that you still care. You have to be specific and not "do something soon."

Keep in mind, however, that people change and what you might have had in common in the past might not be there anymore. This feeling is very difficult to put into words and, instead, people just drift apart.

We understand that losing a friend is never easy. You probably don't realize this now, but this gives you a chance to find and develop new relationships.

Letters to Friend to Friend are answered by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under the sponsorship of Aware, a community group devoted to action and education against chemical dependency.

Students can submit letters by placing them in the designated "problem locker" at CHS, Clarkston Junior High or Sashabaw Junior High.

Letters can also be sent to Friend to Friend in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Sewer to grow

A sewer extension is planned along Waterford Road from Dixie Highway to Maybee Road.

On June 2, the Independence Township Board accepted a petition to form a special assessment district to pay for the sewer installation.

Once the sewer is installed, Joseph Kosik said he can continue with his plans to build apartments and condominiums on 35 to 65 acres north of Maybee Road near the Waterford Road intersection, across from Spring Lake.

Kosik, the sole owner listed in the special assessment district, is to pay the estimated $400,000 construction cost over 15 years.

But seven property owners have not volunteered their property for sewer easements, so the township may have to condemn the property, he said.

The board voted 5-1 to accept the petition. Trustee Carol Balzarini voted no and could not be reached for comment after the meeting. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent.

A municipal sewer system is needed for any multiple housing development in the township, said Clerk Richard Holman after the meeting.

By accepting the special assessment district petition, the township did not commit to condemning the property, Holman added.

Flea market

Baked goods, balloons, a dunk tank and all sorts of items for sale are to be featured at the seventh annual Mt. Zion Flea Market.

The events are to help raise funds for Mt. Zion Christian School, which serves grades K-8.

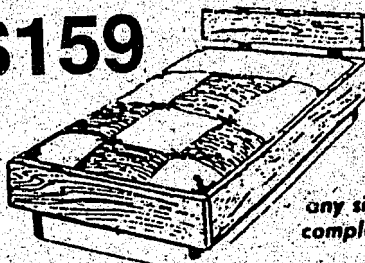

The market will be open from 9 to 5 Saturday, June 13, at the corner of Clintonville and Mann roads, Waterford Township.

For more information, call 674-1415 or 674-1503.

Manning, Cook, Terpstra top CJHS awards

The students at Clarkston Junior High School were outstanding this year, said Principal Duane Lewis.

At the top were Wendy Manning and Matthew Cook, winners of the principal's awards.

The awards are based on the students' scholarship, contributions to the school, leadership qualities and personalities.

This year, Lewis considered 16 finalists before choosing Manning and Cook, he said.

Manning and Cook were respected by their peers and the faculty and were excellent students, said Lewis. And they've been involved in a number of activities in the school.

The McGrath Award was given to John Terpstra, who showed the characteristics that Bud McGrath, a former teacher, counselor and coach, would have respected, said Lewis.

Terpstra is polite, respectful, a good student and was involved in extra-curricular activities and showed school spirit, said Lewis.

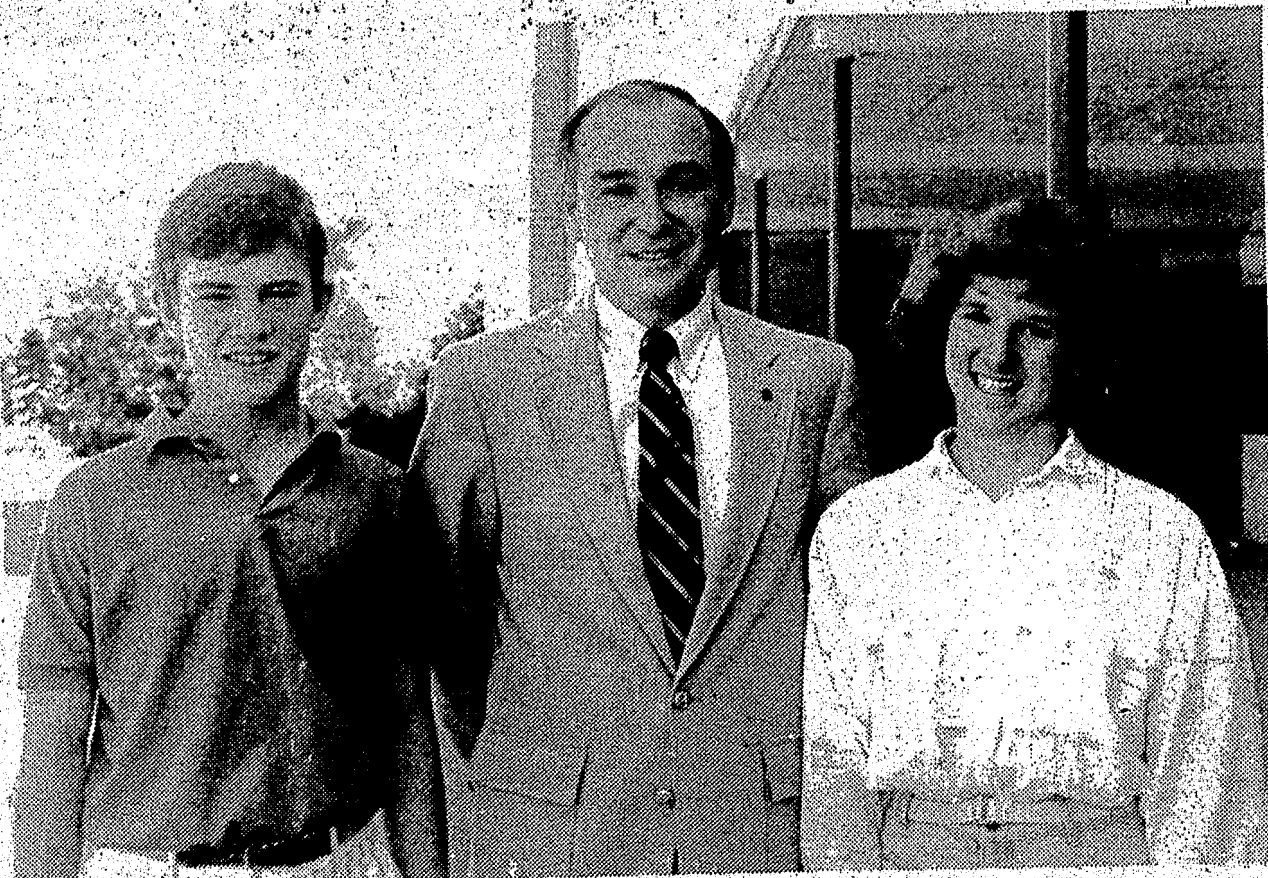

Other awards were given for all A's in a subject, honor roll and attendance.

Departmental award winners were:

- Home Skills I—Kelli Ehlers.

- Physical Education—seventh grade, Devin Dupree, Michelle Irish; eighth grade, Andrew Deloney, Stacey Secatch; ninth grade, John Terpstra, Jody Lopucki.

SECTION 2

The Fortress Hohensalzburg overlooks the "Old Town" of Salzburg, Austria. Most European cities have sections called old town and they're usually worth exploring. Salzburg, which got its name from the salt mines outside the city, is where "The Sound of Music" was filmed.

Adventure in France—and beyond

A final European fling before coming home to Clarkston

Editor's note: In the third portion of a three-part series, Independence Township resident Sharon Hahn writes about her travels through Europe with her mother, Olive Bryce.

BY SHARON HAHN
Clarkston News Special Writer

I watched the rolling hillside become mountainous terrain as the train made its way from Avignon, France, to Geneva, Switzerland.

I considered myself a seasoned traveler now that I'd backpacked my way through much of France under the guise of "foreign study."

But I was more anxious about the next two months traveling with my mom throughout Switzerland, Austria and southern Germany than I had ever been traveling alone.

My mother, who retired last year, loves to travel. And my dad encourages her to do so. She was delighted to be included in a part of my European sojourn, but I wanted her to know there could be problems.

"I sleep cheap, Mom," I warned, knowing hotel costs don't have to be excessive.

Inexpensive hotel rooms were never short on cleanliness and comfort, although they regularly lacked elevators, bellboys, televisions and minibars.

She assured me that was OK, but could we please have a bathroom in our room? Some of the cheaper rooms in the budget hotels required walking down the hall to a community bathroom.

It was a small request, and I agreed.

"And I never make hotel reservations ahead of time," I said. A true vacation means not responding to any set schedule. But this always entails a risk.

"That's OK," she said. She wasn't worried.

But I was.

We would be headed toward German-speaking countries, and I was still struggling with my French. I had no idea what problems would arise, nor how my mother would respond. Would I never outgrow that fear of "What will Mother think?"

But clutching my bibles, "The Thomas Cook Continental Timetable," listing all the train schedules throughout Europe, and Frommer's "Dollarwise Guide to . . ." (one for each country we would encounter), I prepared a tentative itinerary, flexible enough to allow us an extra day here and there should we find an interesting spot.

One guideline I set for myself was to arrive in towns early in the day. This made it easier to find acceptable lodgings. Unfortunately on my trip to Geneva, I had disregarded this rule.

It was after 5 p.m. when the train pulled into the Geneva station.

I headed directly for the tourist bureau. These are usually found in or near the train stations throughout Europe and are very helpful in obtaining room accommodations for weary travelers.

My mom's plane was arriving the next morning, so I asked for a room for two nights.

"There are no rooms available anywhere in Geneva," the clerk announced, explaining an exposition had filled all hotels for the next three days.

"But my mother . . .," I said.

She understood.

Her fourth phone call, searching for the last-minute cancellations, located a room in a nearby hotel.

"Does it have a bathroom?" I asked, pushing my luck.

"Not in the room," she said.

But I had underestimated my mother's flexibility. She proved to be a very good sport and delightful traveling companion. She was eager to see places she had only read about, and if that meant she had to walk up a flight of stairs to a bathroom, so be it.

She approved of the schedule I had

We spent one day and one night in Innsbruck, Austria, which was adequate. By arriving early in the day, there was enough time to see the sights in the small town.

drawn up. In Switzerland we would spend a day in Geneva, Bern and Zurich before going on to Innsbruck, Salzburg and Vienna, Austria. We could hit Munich, Germany, on our

During the eight-hour return trip to Geneva, Switzerland, by train, my mother, Olive Bryce, catches up on the news. The best and easiest-to-find newspaper in English was the Herald Tribune, printed in Europe by the Washington Post.

National and statewide recognition was achieved by eight pupils from the Clarkston Academically Talented Program.

All fourth-, fifth-, and sixth-grade CAT students participated in the Michigan Mathematics League Test and the nationwide Math Olympiad problem solving competition.

In the Mathematics League test, Shea Kammer, a sixth-grader from Clarkston Elementary, tied for second in the state with a score of 37 out of 40. Kammer also tied for first place in Oakland County.

Fifth-grader Anthony Marrical of Bailey Lake Elementary and sixth-graders Andrea Matzelle, Eric Woodward of Clarkston Elementary and Brad Hranach of Pine Knob Elementary also demonstrated outstanding math ability by each scoring 30.

The Math Olympiad competition involved taking one test a month for five months. An overall score of 25 points was possible.

The following sixth-grade students scored high enough to receive outstanding achievement awards of trophies or gold pins:

Josh Surre, Kristi Upham, Katie O'Brien, Shea Kammer, Eric Woodward, Andrea Matzelle of Clarkston Elementary; and Brad Hranach of Pine Knob Elementary.

The award is presented annually to an eighth-grader whom the faculty perceives to be outstanding in personal qualities as well as academics.

Correction

The graduation announcement for Karen Thomas in last week's Clarkston News should have said she was graduated magna cum laude with an associate's degree in nursing from Mercy College, Detroit.

Three from family at West Point

Microwave-plus Michigan berries

Betty Wagner

It's Michigan's strawberry season again; a favorite time of the year for berry lovers. And no berries could be fresher!

Ask for Michigan strawberries at your favorite produce department or have some fun and pick them yourself at a berry picking farm.

Look for two new varieties this year. They are called "All Star" and "Kent." They promise to be juicier, redder, bigger, brighter and, naturally, very tasty. Ask for them.

After you have eaten your fill of these delicious and nutritious treats, try these quick microwave recipes.

STRAWBERRY PORTOFINO

Makes 2 servings

1 cup fresh strawberries, quartered

3/4 cup port wine

1/2 cup water

1/2 of 3-ounce package raspberry flavored gelatin

1 cup vanilla ice cream

Soak berries in wine for 1 hour. Place water in 2-cup glass measure. Microwave at high for 1 minute or until boiling. Stir in gelatin until dissolved.

Add strawberries and wine. Spoon into 2 dessert glasses; chill until firm.

Place ice cream in small bowl. Soften at low (30 percent power) for 20 to 30 seconds or just until soft.

Spoon ice cream over strawberry-gelatin mixture. Enjoy!

(Recipe courtesy of Whirlpool Corp.)

FRESH STRAWBERRY JAM

Makes 10 8-ounce jars

5 cups crushed strawberries, washed and hulled

2 teaspoons lemon juice

1 to 1 3/4-ounce package powdered fruit pectin

7 cups sugar

Combine fruit, juice and pectin in a 4-quart microwavable bowl. Cook, covered, at high for 10 to 11 minutes or until mixture boils. Stir once during cooking.

Stir in sugar. Cook, uncovered, at high for 10 to 12 minutes or until mixture boils hard for at least 1 minute.

Skim off any foam with a metal spoon. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Store in cool, dry place.

(From "Kenmore Microwave Cooking," a Benjamin Co. Book; reprinted with permission of publisher.)

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her "Microwave Plus" cable-TV program is aired Monday through Thursday at 7 p.m. on Independence-Clarkston channel 11.

Exchange student's mom arrives for CHS graduation

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Eva Magnemyr and her mother, Milvor, shared special moments and memories as Eva graduated with the Clarkston High School Class of 1987.

Eva, an exchange student from Gothenburg, Sweden, spent the year with a host family, Pat and Jane O'Rourke, who live on Townview Drive in Independence Township.

Eva was graduating with her new-found American friends and Milvor traveled from Sweden to observe this milestone in her daughter's life.

"It will be great memories," says Eva, with a warm smile that flashes frequently across her face. "We don't have anything like this in Sweden."

In Sweden, students are required to go to school through ninth grade and then most, over 90 percent, continue on for two, three or four years. Graduation is not the big ceremony it is in America, though Swedish families celebrate graduation in much the same way, with family gatherings, parties and gifts.

Eva is excited about the graduation ceremony at Pine Knob, even though she must return home and go to twelfth grade again next year.

"It doesn't count in Sweden for my senior year, but it counts a lot to me," Eva says. "It's been great."

"In Sweden, we must choose a field to go into after the ninth grade, more like college, and then everyone in that field takes all the same courses," she says. "We can't choose our classes like you do."

Their schedules also vary from day to day. Some days they start at 8:15 a.m., other days at 10 a.m., depending on the classes.

"Something you have here that I think would be good in Swedish schools is hall monitors and passes," Eva says. "In Sweden, everyone is running around in the halls."

Exchange student misses home

Milvor observes that "school is more important here," which she thinks is very good.

"Here, you do more with school. You have friends. You socialize," Eva adds. "In Sweden, we go to school only to study. There are no sports or clubs."

Eva participated in CHS Student Council as an exchange student and was the equipment person for the color guard.

Outside of school, she was a ski guide for blind people at Pine Knob during the winter. An excellent skier, Eva became interested in the activity because a cousin of her host family is blind.

Milvor arrived in Clarkston on May 30 and had a little time to travel around the area with her daughter before the June 8 graduation.

"I think Clarkston is very friendly. Everyone makes you feel so welcome," she says. She's wearing her "I Love Clarkston" T-shirt.

Eva agrees, saying it will be sad to say goodbye to all her friends.

"I thought it would be harder (to be an exchange student) than it was," Eva says. "Everyone has been so nice."

After graduation, the two will travel to Boston to visit Milvor's cousin. They will do some more traveling, and on June 20, they will return to Sweden.

Waiting at home to see pictures of the graduation and to see Eva for the first time in almost a year are her father, Ralph, and her 17-year-old brother, Martin.

Her father was a sea captain, but took a "land" job years ago to be with his family.

It has been a lot of fun, but different, Eva says, to have so many younger "brothers and sisters" around. The O'Rourke's have three children, Mary Ellen, 12, Tim, 9, and Ben, 14.

Eva has missed her family, and says she has especially missed her dog, a Welsh springer spaniel named Cindy.

"I could call home and talk to my family," Eva says. "I couldn't talk to my dog."

Milvor, who laughs as easily as her daughter, has been helping around the O'Rourke home and cooking "surprise" dinners. She is even adding a Swedish touch to the graduation meal: Swedish meatballs and a Swedish fish casserole called fiskgratang.

Her 17-year-old daughter, an honor roll student at CHS, is already making plans to return for a visit next year.

As for her future plans, Eva says, "I want to work as a travel agent or something that has to do with people and travel."

Eva will take home souvenirs and a suitcase full of American clothes, but mostly, she will take home special memories of her "senior" year in America.

Call her Charlie

If this 8-week-old female kitten were a male, you'd almost have to name her Charlie to go with the Charlie Chan mustache she sports.

She has four brothers and sisters looking for homes and names, too. They are black, black and white and tiger striped. All are litter trained, started on their vaccinations, wormed and cute as kittens can be.

The kittens can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The adoption fee is $15, plus a $25 spay or $15 neuter deposit.

Many moves set groundwork for new career

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Sharon Cook didn't know it at the time, but while she was moving around the country, decorating seven homes along the way, she was cultivating a career.

The Independence Township woman launched that career when she and her husband, Bud Cook, purchased a Decorating Den franchise this year.

Billed as the "colorful store that comes to your door," Decorating Den has around 500 franchises around the country, 16 in Michigan.

Sharon's is the only one in the Clarkston area. She works out of a Decorating Den van, carrying over 3,000 samples of wallpaper, carpet, draperies and blinds, plus a book illustrating custom-made furniture carried by the company.

"My husband is transferred a lot," Sharon says. He is sales manager for the western region of General Motors.

"So I've always been involved with decorating, and have taken classes in decorating at every stop we've made along the way. Since we've moved so much, I guess I'm lucky that I enjoy it," she says.

Sharon's career with Decorating Den actually began when she read an article on the 17-year-old company in a magazine last fall, and decided it would be interesting.

"It leaves my time flexible," she says. "I can still make time to travel with my husband."

She spent eight days in Dallas earlier this year in a "get acquainted with the company" training seminar and is still busily stocking her van with the tools of her trade.

"It's been a great learning experience, from the ground up," she says. "I've had to learn the business end as well as the decorating end, but fortunately, my husband will be a big help with the bookkeeping."

Sharon has a library of "back-up materials, a list of installers and wallpaper hangers, and a number of designated suppliers to work with, as well as access to the Troy Design Center.

"There is no charge for coming out to a person's house or helping with decorating ideas," Sharon says. "I really believe that today's women know pretty much what they want. They just need a little assistance, someone to make sure they're on the right track.

"And having everything right there at the house is a big plus. You can see how things will look in the home," she says. "It's convenient. People's time is so limited today."

Sharon's goal is to do well enough to attend the national convention in Acapulco at the end of the year. On-going support and training is readily available to her at the regional Decorating Den offices in Southfield.

"I wanted to do something I could really enjoy and be helpful, too," Sharon says. "During all my moves, I think it would have been so good to have someone come to my house like this."

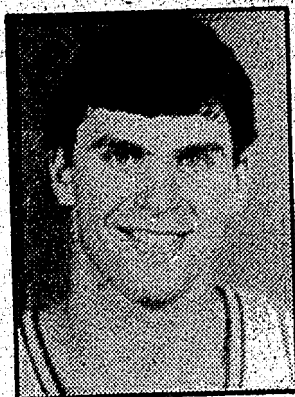

She says she has been her own best customer while converting the den to an office and redoing the living room, dining room area of the Deerwood home where they have lived for five years.

Sharon's children think the new business is great, too. Her 21-year-old daughter Tonya is studying business at Michigan State University, and her 16-year-old son, Steve, gets to drive the car now that mom is driving the Decorating Den van.

Sharon Cook stands outside her Deerwood Road home by the van she will use in her new decorating business. She and her husband, Bud, purchased a Decorating Den franchise.

MESSAGE FOR TEEN DRIVERS: A new sign on the fence next to the driveway at Clarkston High School carries an important concept, says Brent Cooley, assistant principal. "I think it's reflective of the feeling the school has, certainly the staff has, about the safety of our children even when they leave school," he said. The sign was donated by Bob Glover and hung by students in Dick Moscovic's woodshop class. The students posing with the sign are [from left] Jason Pelushewski, Bill Mathisen and Ed White. Said Pelushewski: "I looked at it a couple of times and decided it was a pretty good idea."

Trains, castles, mountains highlight trip

way back to Geneva.

Our two weeks together were relatively problem free (unless one considers one backpack, one Pullman-size suitcase, two carry-on cases divided between two women getting on and off trains, negotiating narrow aisles and underground stairways to be a problem, which, of course, we did not because we were too busy laughing).

And early April in Europe had more pluses than minuses. The weather was often mild, though often overcast, threatening springtime showers.

There were no summertime crowds, eliminating the necessity of standing in long lines; but the cruises along the beautiful waterways had not yet begun. And although prices were beginning to rise, they were much lower than at their high-season peak.

The trains were a delight; comfortable, convenient and, in this part of Europe, almost always on time. And in most cases, the stations are located in the very part of town you want to be.

But the greatest advantage to traveling Europe by train is in meeting the Europeans. Seated face-to-face in cozy compartments encourages conversations, and most of the travelers we met spoke fluent English.

They related stories the guidebooks that hadn't covered, pointing out particular points of interest as the trains sped through their countries.

"I sleep cheap. Mom," I warned, knowing hotel costs don't have to be excessive.

Switzerland proved to be the most expensive, but our self-guided tours and side trips (with maps and suggestions from helpful desk clerks in our hotels) kept the costs down.

The scenery approaching Innsbruck was incredibly beautiful. We traveled high in the mountains and could see the snow-capped peaks at close range.

"Not long ago I spent a day and a half stranded on this train," said our Swiss-born traveling companion. "Took them that long to shovel us out when an avalanche covered these tracks."

Today they have constructed what appear to be gigantic snow fences in an attempt to keep the snow in its place.

We spent one day and a night at each city on our schedule, working our way to Vienna. We were becoming proficient at living out of suitcases, not bothering to unpack at each stop.

Each morning we began with a breakfast of coffee or hot chocolate and a basket of croissants and breakfast rolls (usually included in the price of the room).

Fashionable dress shoes quickly gave way to comfortable walking shoes, and the wrinkled clothing that did not hang out with exposure to steam from a hot shower was worn without a second thought.

We hand washed that which would dry overnight and the rest was worn a second and third time. What saved me from being mistaken for the bag lady I was beginning to feel like was being with my mother who continued to look band-box fresh.

We were excited about seeing Vienna. And while there is no better way than on foot, we decided a horse-and-buggy tour would be a nice change. It gave us a quick orientation while giving our feet a break.

I called a friend, living in Vienna, whom I had met the year before while at school in Avignon. She met us at the hotel and became our guide for the day.

It began at Demer's, the oldest coffeehouse in Vienna and ended with dinner in an open-air wine house of Grinzing, where restaurateurs served wine grown in their own vineyards.

We allowed ourselves two days in Vienna. It wasn't enough.

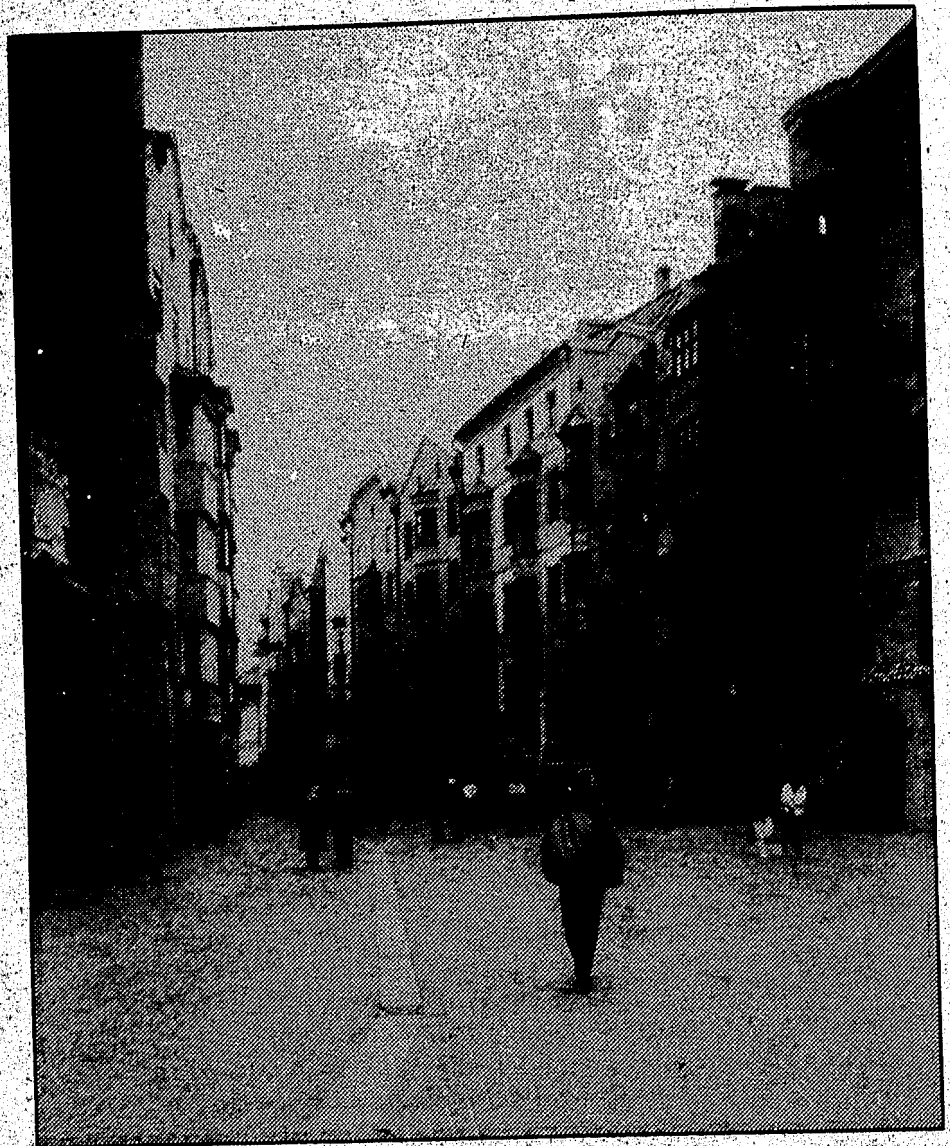

We had exchanged our Swiss francs for Austrian shillings. Once in Munich, we had to familiarize ourselves with the German mark. Tipping customs also changed at each border, and we kept our guidebook handy for quick reference.

With only three days left for Germany, we took day-long tours heading out of the city into the Bavarian countryside.

An unforgettable tour was that of the castle of Neuschwanstein, home of "Mad" King Ludwig II, and one of many castles used as a model for Disney's Cinderella Castle.

Perhaps Ludwig wasn't so mad, I thought, noting that his castle had central heating, hot-and-cold running water and a kitchen I would die for. And considering he has been dead for over 100 years, he may have just been ahead of his times.

We averaged less than three hours a day on the train when we traveled. But an eight-hour trip back to Geneva was unavoidable.

Our luck held with us, and a Geneva businessman shared our compartment, keeping the day from seeming long. He was a wealth of information, including a suggestion where we might dine that Sunday evening in Geneva when most of the restaurants were closed.

I had exhausted my mom, or she had exhausted me, but it was a tired, though contented, twosome that separated the next day when she left for home. My departure from Paris was still a day away.

I walked around Geneva, window shopping, stopping at sidewalk cafes and watching the hustle and bustle of a city still very much alive.

How could anyone want to leave all this behind?

But, in spite of the fact Europe nourishes the soul in ways I can't explain, there must have been a greater force at work.

I was ready to go home.

Students give teacher symbolic 'A'

BY PAT YOUNG

Clarkston News Staff Writer

"Buena, Buena!"

Cheryl Seelbinder's third-hour Spanish class reacted with the Spanish words of praise when the announcement came over the P.A. system that she was chosen Teacher of the Semester at Clarkston High School.

The entire student body nominates teachers who they feel are deserving of the distinction, and the CHS National Honor Society chooses the Teacher of the Semester from the top three nominations.

"I think a teacher needs to care about students and want to be here," says Cheryl Seelbinder, after winning the Teacher of the Semester award from CHS students.

In addition to a commemorative certificate presented by the NHS, Seelbinder received a gift certificate for two dinners at the Lion's Den restaurant.

But the applause from her students is what being Teacher of the Semester is really all about.

"I do enjoy teaching, so I assume that it comes across in the classroom," Seelbinder says. "I try to vary my teaching methods so it won't get boring. I try to make it fun and keep their interest up."

The 27-year-old Spanish teacher has been at Clarkston High School for five years, teaching second, third and fourth year Spanish.

A graduate of Troy Athens High School, she earned her bachelor's degree in Spanish and reading from Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant. She is currently working on her master's in education at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

"Since I was a little girl, I always wanted to be a teacher," she says. "I had a great Spanish teacher in high school, and I thought it would be fun to teach Spanish."

Seelbinder likes to be involved at the school. She is sponsor of the Spanish Club and co-sponsor of the senior class. In the past, she has also sponsored student council. She helps out at school track meets and frequently volunteers to chaperone school dances.

She loves to travel and has taken many of her Spanish classes on summer trips to Spain.

Scrapbooks of the trips, plus some of her Spanish materials and photographs of her own school days were showcased in a Teacher of the Semester display for a week at the high school.

A little embarrassed by all the attention she has been getting, Seelbinder says it is a nice honor to be chosen Teacher of the Semester.

"It may never happen, but if I get tired of teaching, I will stop teaching," she says. "I think a teacher needs to care about students and want to be here. You have to love teaching in order to make an impact on students."

Church marks payoff of mortgage

Sunday was a day of celebration for more than the usual reasons at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road in Independence Township.

Following the morning service, a mortgage burning and balloon launch marked the end of a $25,000 mortgage taken out in 1971-72 when the church was built.

A building fund drive was started in May 1986 to pay off the mortgage and enough money had been raised by February 1987—three months ahead of schedule, said the Rev. William Schram, pastor of the congregation since September 1980. The congregation now numbers 115.

"I love it. It's fantastic," he said. "We aren't the world's biggest church, so to raise the money in that time really made everybody feel good about themselves and proud of what they could accomplish."

Special guest at the celebration was the Rev. Mark Caldwell, pastor of the congregation when the church was built. Caldwell now works in the Presbytery of Detroit as a guest preacher.

Harneds say aloha to Clarkston

BY ALISA NASS

Clarkston News Special Writer

The word open house took an unusual twist when Norm and Eleanor Harned celebrated their son Greg's graduation from Clarkston High School with a Hawaiian Luau.

The June 7 luau came from a collection of ideas to do something different and original, said Greg, who plans to study securities and brokerage this fall at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

The family had taken a trip to Hawaii several years ago, said Mrs. Harned. Since they haven't been able to return, the idea was to bring some Hawaii to Michigan.

A theme party's a little different and this is our last graduation party," said Mrs. Harned, who began planning the party in January.

The Harneds have three children, Cindy Laatsch, 22, of Holly, Carolyn, 21, and Greg, 17.

Guests, most dressed in colorful Hawaiian garb, received a shell necklace or lei of silk flowers. The shell necklaces from Waikiki in Honolulu, Hawaii, were brought back by friends of the family. Mrs. Harned made the leis by hand out of silk flowers.

A large shell was blown to call the guests to dinner, which featured a whole roasted pig. "We got up at 4 a.m. to roast the pig," said Mrs. Harned.

Fresh fruit adorned the table and live music was provided by the DJ, Smooth Moves. Specially planned activities included volleyball and hula hoop competitions.

Relatives Ruth, Michael, Marin and Eric Bergman traveled from Kenora, Ontario, Canada, to attend the party and grandmother Winona Harned arrived from West Virginia.

"It's more fun than anything," said Mary Ann

Greg's family poses for a photo in the back yard of their Clarkston Road, Independence Township home. From left are Greg's sister Cindy Laatsch of Holly, Greg, his parents Eleanor and Norm and his sister Carolyn. About 100 people came to the party.

Gutwald of Grosse Pointe. "I think it's an excellent idea."

"I think theme parties are absolutely the best. It's fun to get dressed up," said Joan Lech of Bloomfield Hills.

"I like it a lot," said Greg of his party. "The weather's right, the pool's right, the food's right and the friends are right."

A Bicycle Rodeo and Family Picnic finishes up the school year for members of Cub Scout Pack 341 of Bailey Lake Elementary. Twenty scouts, including Jon Dean, participated in the event

Saturday at Indian Springs Metropark. Awards were presented to the following boys: Tigers (first grade)—first, Mike Critzon; second, Charles Vincent; third, Justin Nelson. Wolf (second grade)—Steven Zerba, Bryce Nelson and Brent Zorka. Bears (third grade)—Jon Dean, Jesse Laycock and Jeremy Ayres. Webelos (fourth and fifth grades)—Mike Bills.

Whoa, Nelly!

Tony Vincent watches the action from the sidelines. The rodeo consisted of tests of balance, breaking, exceleration time and coasting distance. The event was organized by parent Bob VanCura, treasurer of the pack.

Parent volunteers Brace Case (left) and Jim Sitko measure the breaking accuracy of Steven Zerba. The bike rodeo course was set up at the beginning of the eight-mile bike path that winds through the park in Springfield and White Lake townships.
