Springfield prison site possibility

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

Springfield Township is one of eight possible sites in Oakland County for a new 600-inmate regional prison, but township Supervisor Collin Walls recommends a wait-and-see approach.

"I don't think it's time for anyone to panic or become unnecessarily alarmed," Walls said. "Until Friday, I won't know exactly what we're talking about."

On Friday, government officials from the eight communities are to gather at the Thumb Correctional Facility just outside of Lapeer in Lapeer County.

AS U.S. CONGRESSMAN BOB CARR talks during the dedication ceremony last week for the improved Dixie Highway, Independence

Speed limit goes up north of Clarkston

Lead-footed automobile drivers got a break on Sunday, Nov. 29, when the State of Michigan raised the speed limit on rural interstate highways to 65 MPH.

More than 700 miles of Michigan roads are considered rural including a section of I-75 north of Dixie Highway to Flint, according to the Department of State Police.

School buses, trucks and passenger vehicles towing certain trailers are not included in the new 65 mph limit.

Interstates routes are those designated with an "I" (I-75, I-94, I-96, etc.).

Along with the higher speed limit, Public Act 154 of 1987 also provides stiffer fines for those who are caught speeding.

The following is a list which shows minimum fines and corresponding points for speeding on all freeways. These numbers are minimums, the actual fine and cost could be higher.

> Speeding from 56 to 60 mph draws a $10 fine and no points.

> Drivers are penalized one point and $20 if they are caught speeding from 61-70 mph.

> Speeders in the 71-80 MPH bracket must pay $30 and get two points.

> Drivers nabbed going more than 86 mph will be charged $50 and pick up four points.

Radar detectors, which were being considered for banning, are not a part of the new law.

To better enforce the new speed limit, 120 Michigan State Police troopers were hired. A $5 assessment on all moving violations was instituted to pay for the extra traffic patrol, but the surcharge has been challenged under the Headlee Amendment.

New speed limit signs were installed Monday, Nov. 30, and signs will be posted just past the entrance ramp at each interchange.

Carol round Clarkston's Christmas tree

A holiday tradition in the Village of Clarkston will continue on Dec. 4 when residents gather for Family Night.

The annual event will take place at the Christmas tree on the corner of Washington and Main streets downtown between 7 and 8 p.m.

In addition to singing Christmas carols, viewing the lighting of the tree, sharing good fellowship and enjoying cider and donuts, residents are invited to decorate the tree with homemade ornaments.

"Many Girl Scout and Brownie troops make ornaments for the tree as a project and many families enjoy making special, weatherproof decorations," says Joan Kopietz. "It's kind of an annual tradition for many people."

She and her husband, Buck, owners of Tierra

Arts and Design in Clarkston, are sponsoring the event. They took it over from the Clarkston Business Association last year and plan to continue the tradition that has been carried on for about 16 years.

Members of Clarkston Rotary Club put the lights on the tree and erected the Christmas decorations in the downtown area. They are also in charge of taking everything down after the holidays.

It's not only Clarkston-area residents who benefit from the special activities of Family Night.

Once the tree has been decorated, feathered wildlife is often seen enjoying the birdseed ornaments and other treats that have also become a traditional part of the decorations on Clarkston's Christmas tree.

Springfield may house prison

They were invited for the meeting and a tour of the new regional prison by Wade-Trim-Dzuirman of Rochester, the consulting firm hired by the State Department of Corrections to select an Oakland County prison site after the Oakland County Board of Commissioners could not agree on one.

John Dzuirman, president of the consulting firm, said the new prison will be similar to the one in Lapeer.

Walls said the site chosen in Springfield is adjacent to the toxic dump off Woodland Trail, which is a state-designated Natural Beauty Road.

He said he knows there are at least 160 acres available, although he's not sure if more or less property would be needed. The property is in the southwest quadrant of the township.

"The dump site doesn't bother me. The Natural Beauty Road does because, obviously, it limits access to the land. The road cannot be altered and most of it's about wide enough for one car," Walls said.

Walls said the consulting firm was supposed to choose three or four sites from which the final prison location would be selected but because of public outcry it was decided to have a meeting at this point.

In addition to Springfield, sites under consideration are in the village of Holly, the city of Auburn Hills and the townships of Oxford, Oakland, Holly, Lyon and White Lake.

Corrections

Kim K. Morris should have been listed as a honorable mention winner in tennis for the Wolves in last week's fall sports all-honors list in the sports section of The Clarkston News.

The Clarkston Community Women's Club should have been given credit in the Nov. 18 report for providing the $200 Spirit of Junior Miss Award and for providing a luncheon at the Spring Lake Country Club for the contestants and others involved in the 1987 Clarkston Junior Miss program.

Dedication marks Dixie improvements to date

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After blocked driveways, confusing lane closings and mile-long traffic backups, the improvements to Dixie Highway from M-15 to White Lake Road were officially completed last week.

At the Nov. 24 dedication ceremony, United States Congressman Bob Carr joined local government officials from Independence and Waterford townships in officially opening the improved highway.

"We want to thank the people in the surrounding towns for their consideration and hope that the future road will provide more mobility and safety for tourism and people associated with this lake country environment," said Carr, a Democrat, who resides in East Lansing.

If the U.S. Congress hadn't approved the $12 million for the entire 10-mile stretch on Dixie from Telegraph to I-75, the project wouldn't have begun until the 1990s, said Carr.

The $12 million from the Highway Trust Fund, from gas tax revenue, was in addition to the state of Michigan's usual share of the trust fund, he said.

The people in the area were very cooperative, he said, mentioning township officials, business owners and residents.

The remainder of Dixie Highway is to be completed in phases, said Tom Henderson, project engineer for the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The portion from White Lake Road to I-75 is to begin in April 1988 and is to be completed by Oct. 15, 1988, said Henderson.

For the portion from Hatchery Road to M-15, the tentative schedule calls for completion in November 1988.

From Hatchery south to Telegraph, all lanes will be open for winter traffic, but the final improvements are to be finished in the spring.

REMOVAL OF THE LAST BARRELS symbolizes the completion of improvements to Dixie Highway from M-15 to White Lake Road in Independence Township. Local government officials joined Congressman Bob Carr last week in the dedication ceremony.

Pot hole presents car repair problem

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Tired of hitting bureaucratic red tape, an Independence Township man decided to air his differences at the village council meeting Nov. 23.

Gerald Grzywinski of Holcomb Road hit a pot hole in front of a residence at 184 Holcomb which caused more than $300 in damages to his Buick Riviera.

After being told by Oakland County to contact Independence Township about recovering damages and then being told the road was village property, Grzywinski spoke before the council to explain his problem in person.

"My purpose is to inform the council of what happened," he said. "I don't want to make an issue of it."

Grzywinski said he contacted the village's insurance carrier Huttenloch's Kerns Norvell, Inc. to find out if he could be reimbursed for the damages.

When a claims agent gave him approval he went ahead and had the car repaired, said Grzywinski. But the agent called back later the same day to tell him she had made a mistake and the village's policy didn't cover such claims.

Grzywinski said he then called the mechanics to stop work on his car but it was too late. He had to pay the $372.66 repair bill.

Village council members sympathized with Grzywinski on his problem but said the village wasn't liable since the road is county owned.

Grzywinski was advised by the village council to contact the Oakland County Road Commission if he wanted to seek reimbursement for damages.

Clarkston village officials receive 10 percent salary increases in 1988

A 10 percent raise for village council officers was agreed upon by the council members at the Nov. 23 meeting.

Wages for 1988 had to be set prior to the elections since they could not be altered afterward by law, said village attorney John Steckling.

The village council instructed Clerk Norma Goyette to research past pay raises and current salaries. She gave her report at the Nov. 23 meeting.

President Sharron Catallo currently makes $3,500 per year. The last time the president received a raise was 1985. The president will receive $3,850 for the coming year.

Council members voted 5-0 to approve the president's new salary. Catallo abstained from the voting.

The village clerk makes $5,900 and the village treasurer (Artemus Pappas) takes home $5,700.

Raises were given to them in 1984 and 1985, respectively. The clerk and treasurer will make $6,490 and $6,270, respectively, in 1988.

The village council voted 6-0 to approve the clerk's and treasurer's pay raise. All three of the officers are elected to their posts.

"I know how hard everyone works," said Catallo. "This is a full-time part-time job."

Village council members decided not to give themselves a raise at this time. They currently make $25 per meeting.

Inflation was the main reason behind the raise, said Trustee William Basinger.

There have been no raises since 1984 (1985 for the president) so 10 percent is a reasonable sum," he said.

The final date for the election has not yet been determined by Oakland County, said Goyette. It will take place sometime in March.

Board OKs funds for more teachers

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

Reacting to a critical needs list, the Clarkston Board of Education agreed in an informal tally Nov. 23 to spend $83,164 for the equivalent of four full-time teachers plus two classroom aides for the remainder of the school year.

The board was split on whether to hire two additional teachers, one for elementary physical education and one for elementary music, so that proposal will be reviewed at the board's next regular meeting on Dec. 14.

The board will also vote formally Dec. 14 on the recalls and hiring necessary to fill the pre-approved teacher and aide positions as of Nov. 30.

The teachers and aides are to be hired for the following buildings: Andersonville Elementary, half-time kindergarten teacher and first grade teacher; Clarkston Elementary, half-time kindergarten teacher and aide for fifth grade with 34 pupils; North Sashabaw Elementary, first-grade teacher and classroom aide split between fourth grades with 33 and 34 pupils; half-time special education teacher at Sashabaw Junior High; and half-time special education teacher at Clarkston Junior High.

The Nov. 23 special meeting at Andersonville Elementary School was a study session to discuss problems created when school district voters defeated a tax increase request, for the second time this year, in October.

The critical building and system needs list was a pared down version of a $448,355 list submitted by principals and administrators. A meeting Nov. 20 of the officials had resulted in the top priority list considered by the board on Nov. 23.

Because the district's enrollment increased this year, revenue is expected to increase by about $395,000. In the district's 1987-88 general fund budget, expenditures exceed revenue by $657,000.

Board members expressing discomfort with hiring the music and physical education teachers were Thomas Bills, Mary Jane Chaustowich and John Needham.

"The public let us know that they're not about to vote a millage at this present time," said Chaustowich. "I think we're going to have to start living within the millage we have."

Needham said he was uncomfortable with adding teachers this year and having to cut back next year when an expected $1.5 million to $2 million is to be trimmed from the 1988-89 budget.

"We're playing federal government, spending more than we've got," he said.

"The public let us know that they're not about to vote a millage at this present time. I think we're going to have to start living within the millage we have."

Mary Jane Chaustowich

Support for hiring the music and physical education teachers came from board members Stephen Werner, Elaine Schultz and Carolyn Place.

"There's a great deal of distance between our buildings, as you know," Schultz said. "I'm in the buildings and I see (music and gym teachers) coming and going."

High stress on the current music and physical education teachers, who travel between several buildings, was mentioned by Assistant Administrator William Neff and Pine Knob Elementary School Principal George White.

"It is a judgment on my part with the existing schedule they could not carry on until the end of the year," said Neff.

"We can't expect them to continue on," said

White, calling the proposed $17,000 expenditure "a very small price to pay."

Clarkston Elementary School Principal William Potvin pointed out that with the addition of some new classrooms, the load on music and physical education teachers would become even greater.

Al Bartlett, an officer of the Clarkston Education Association (CEA), the teachers' union, noted the sincerity of the principals who spoke about the need for an additional physical education and music teacher.

"Can we do something to run a more efficient program this year?" he asked.

Bartlett also noted that there are other critical areas because the high school needs smaller class sizes and textbooks and is in risk of losing its accreditation unless another library staff member is hired.

Tom Brown, CEA officer, noted that the board was responding to the proposed critical needs list as if there were choices.

"It's a total package. It's not a shopping list," he said. "This has been determined by people who are there and know what has to be done."

Lansing bumps taxpayers again

Some of the actions of our state legislators would be laughable if it weren't so frightening. Or vice versa. The federal tax reform gave the state a windfall that deservedly belongs to us taxpayers. Lawmakers, being what they are, have been extremely reluctant to give back any money they receive even if it isn't theirs to do with.

Now a bipartisan House-Senate conference committee has agreed to give the money back by increasing personal exemptions on income tax. It will be increased from $1,500 to $2,000. The $3,000 personal exemption for senior citizens, blind, and deaf stays the same and disabled persons was added.

Why the exemption wasn't increased for all is not mentioned in Speaker Gary Owens' letter.

What is mentioned is that this plan cuts $195 million from the budget, 2.1 percent across the board in most state departments.

This includes, of course, education and medicaid. So, here's how the Senate is forcing the House to go along with their "tax in-state insurance companies" stand. The Senate didn't go along with House passed legislation on tax refunds because it had no provisions on increasing insurance company taxes.

The Senate acts like state taxpayers wouldn't be paying more for insurance if they force the companies to pay more taxes.

The Senate position would allow the school aid and medicaid money to remain at the budgeted level if the House votes with them on raising the taxes of in-state insurance companies.

Blackmail? Of course. Politics? Of course.

Another example of how the taxpayers lose? Of course! JAS.

Magic potion

Kathy Greenfield

I was puttering in the kitchen and Elizabeth was standing at the table taping together pieces of a plastic foam egg carton we'd cut up earlier.

When my 5-year-old neighbor visits, activities range from talking to baking to playing games to the type of activity she was involved in, which started when she told me that you could make things out of egg cartons and I emptied one and gave it to her.

Excitement reigned over the "gift," which she promptly announced to several people, which makes me wonder what in the heck we're doing with toy stores that cover acres, but that's an aside.

With Elizabeth, one activity frequently glides into another, which is what happened when seemingly out of nowhere she asked for some spice.

"What kind of spice would you like?" I asked.

It was apparent that Elizabeth wasn't sure how to answer, so I provided a list of possibilities: cinnamon, nutmeg, oregano?

After a pause, she settled on exotic-sounding oregano. She also wanted a bowl and some water.

Curious, but knowing that her purpose would unfold in due time, I provided the above. The room took on the aroma of spaghetti for 100.

Then she asked for some sugar, which I dumped into the bowl while she stirred. Since it was obvious that no one was going to drink her concoction and that there's no recipe on earth that begins with a bowl of water, oregano and sugar, I had to ask, "Elizabeth, what are you making?"

"Sugar and spice," she said, her voice indicating that I should have known. "It will make everything nice."

There was, indeed, a clue. Shortly before the mixing project began, my husband breezed through the kitchen and asked Elizabeth if she knew the saying about little girls, sugar and spice and everything nice.

Elizabeth said she did and then, apparently, began to think about it. Frankly, I like her interpretation. I know a lot of places that could stand a batch of sugar and spice.

When the mixing was done, Elizabeth decided what to do with the goodwill mixture that was sloshing around dangerously every time it was picked up.

Figuring that frozen oregano wasn't such a bad idea, I agreed.

A day later, the magic continued when the freezer was opened by an adult who, with wrinkled nose, asked, "What's this?"

The answer brought a chuckle and a smile, two things that are a significant part of everything nice, don't you think?

Will Gov take credit for slowdown?

Michigan's economy started declining in 1980. Cars weren't selling, companies were laying off, some left Michigan, and state government was cutting back.

To make the state meet its budget, the then Gov. Milliken changed the fiscal year to make it 15 months long.

In January, 1983 James Blanchard took over in Lansing. After calling Milliken's plan voo-doo bookkeeping, he put through an increase in income tax, and when the budget balanced (and a surplus was created) he took full credit for Michigan's rising economy.

He failed to notice publicly that General Motors, Ford and Chrysler started rehiring as cars began to sell again in 1984. No credit was given to the private sector for helping bring prosperity back to Michigan.

Well, now things have slowed again in the economy. Gov. Blanchard has ordered a selected freeze in hiring in state government.

Also, now the car makers are laying off workers as cars aren't selling at the pace of 1985.

Governor Blanchard took credit for the economic upturn, will he assume responsibility for the economic downturn?

Making up Christmas want lists is not a requirement to continue in our family, but we certainly apply considerable pressure for such a list.

It's just as easy to give something a person wants than to give something we think they need.

Notice we said "want" list for receivers and "need" item for the givers. Lots of us don't really "need" whatever, but when we give a gift we like to think it's needed.

Lists help avoid faking pleasantness Christmas morning. Lists also help avoid receiving such things as:

- Throw pillows that never match anything in the house.
- Dusting powder.
- Tools you purchase by calling a toll free number.
- Matching clothing for you and your spouse, you and your kid, you and your dog.
- Any record album purchased at a grocery store.
- A desk size photo of Jerry Falwell.
- Blouses that need to be dry cleaned.
- Bikini style jockey shorts.
- Things that you'd throw away, but somebody gave them to you so you don't dare.
- Anything "one size fits all."
- Scented candles.
- Books by Jane Fonda.

- Pencil holders.
- Cologne that's manufactured in New Jersey.
- Signs for your office that say "Think" or some such nonsense.
- An umbrella stand.
- Books on real men, real women, recipes for quiche, etc.
- Plumbing supplies.
- Velvet painting of Elvis Presley.
- Anything Elvis.
- Collection of different herbal teas that all taste alike.
- Tickets to a Detroit Lions vs Kansas City Chiefs game.
- Tickets to any Lions game.
- Ten dollar gift certificate for places that don't sell anything for under $100.
- Gift certificates from lousy stores.
- Polyester anything.
- Coffee mugs that say Mom, Have a Nice Day, or World's Greatest anything.
- Plastic handbags or wallets.
- Plastic anything.
- Makeup in the latest experimental colors.
- Any album from Prince, Michael, or Who.
- Subscription to Playboy, Playgirl, or Uncensored magazine.
- Books of AIDS and/or Herpes jokes.

Letters to the Editor

Gravel supporter

Our officials have had some experience in being taken into court over Earth extraction. The area south of I-75, the hill at Sashabaw is one prime example.

The dedication and ceremony for the improvement of Dixie Highway should be lauded for the use of God's material to make our roads. No "greencheese from the moon" nor "pie in the sky" was used nor was any of it hauled to the site by horse and wagon.

For anybody who objects to this letter, please appreciate my experience. I-75 took over two acres of my place. How many of you moved out here for the ease of I-75 in your driving habits?

Would it be nice to know how much the attorney was paid to take that recent case to the Michigan Supreme Court?

No wonder the officials are more up front with citizens than they used to be.

How ironic! Bill Vandermark says he does not favor gravel extraction. When he himself lived in the Walters Lake area, he was greatly in favor of using township taxes to fix up those private roads.

How does he expect the material would become available? Does he have a magic wand to wave or would he like it hauled in by horse and wagon?

As for that master plan, planned by human officials, man's plans have been known, consistently, to be changed.

God put the gravel where it is and gave man the brains to move his earth around to make transportation easier than with horses.

Even Clarkston wouldn't have become what it is today without a far-seeing practical pioneer named Butler Holcomb. I do believe, moving God's earth to make the Clarkston Mill Pond.

He wasn't intent on making a beautiful place. Now, I hope you youngsters and newcomers realize that he used more of God's earth to dam up the creek that nature had flowing southward, and downhill, in that location.

He built the mill to use nature's water power to grind the grain to enable the people to eat better. Of course, they could have pounded the kernels of wheat, oats and corn or tried to chew it with their own teeth.

Even Henry Ford I recognized the value of raw resources in our area.

As for the lowering of property values, the assessed value of my property has never been lowered in 34 years here at I-75, Sashabaw and Waldon Road.

Thank yous due

Thank you to the American Legion and Clarkston Rotary for their scholarship money and the Clarkston Community Women's Club for the scholarship money and luncheon.

Also I want to thank the business people and professionals, concerned parents and community people who donated to make Junior Miss possible.

I would like to thank Dr. Burek and the custodians at the school who were also very helpful to us, and thank you to the members of the Junior Miss Committee.

I've had several phone calls about the 50/50 raffle, so for those of you who are curious, S. Stevens of Independence Township won $270 in the drawing.

Trustee opposed to gravel mining

This letter is in reference to the proposed continuation of gravel mining on a site adjacent to the existing Salem-Burroughs Gravel Pit on Oakhill Road between Sashabaw and Dartmouth.

I am against this proposal and I will not vote for it. The reasons against it are overwhelming:

1. Property values will be negatively affected.
2. Noise from the site and from the trucks.
3. Dust on and off the site.
4. Traffic and safety problems.
5. Violation of the Township Master Plan.
6. Gravel pits are ugly; gravel isn't green.
7. The danger that it will not be reclaimed as promised.
8. Gravel mining has been there for 30 years; enough is enough.

The only reason for this proposal of continuation of gravel mining is the proposed paving of Oakhill Road from Sashabaw to Dartmouth at the expense of Salem-Burroughs.

This project would not be good for the community.

The real caring

Re: Who Are You? Too Petty to Print. Listen to Fontie. Signature Needed. (Letters to the Editor, Nov. 18.)

My family didn't just move here last week, last year or even 30 years ago. We date back as far as the middle 1800s.

I doubt many of you can say the same, which maybe would explain why you couldn't possibly understand what the real caring about Clarkston is.

I deplore the fact that you as residents of the village, and obviously readers of The Clarkston News, think only your issues should be printed.

Personalities are what any town is made up of and inadvertently influence what issues arise from that town. I can't remember The Clarkston News ever being called the Village News.

The accessibility to the press belongs to everyone! Fontie ApMadoc and I do agree on some things, after all. Freedom of Speech and Freedom of the Press to print it.

As to stabbing her in the back, I do not have a vendetta against Fontie, just a clear difference of opinion.

After she lived in Clarkston 30 years, instead of writing a kind and caring farewell letter, upon her leaving, she herself writes a poison pen letter to all of Clarkston. Just who stabbed whom in the back?

To set the record straight, I did not request my name be withheld on my first letter. The Clarkston News withheld it because of a misunderstanding.

Now, in light of the apparent hostility, I do request my name be withheld.

Still Wondering Whatever
Happened to Live and Let Live!!

We welcome our readers' opinions. Letters to the editor must arrive at The Clarkston News office by noon Monday to be considered for publication in Wednesday's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual on any one topic. We discourage copies of letters sent elsewhere, and require all letters be signed and include a phone number and address. We may withhold names on request, but will not publish unsigned letters. Address all letters to: Letters to the Editor, The Clarkston News, 55 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

'If it Fitz ...'

Fitz knows the holdup

Jim
Fitzgerald

A letter from L.M. Carollo, of Warren, whose address label describes her as a Miss, not a Ms., began: "You know what, Jim? Some of the stuff you put out is so darn dumb I don't know whether to laugh, cry, or throw something at you! All that MCP (male chauvinist pig) garbage in a recent column."

Carollo was upset by my description of a woman driver who, in my (biased?) opinion, waited away too long before beginning to search her purse and car for the ticket and money needed to exit from a parking garage.

"I'd laugh loud and long, Jimbo, if, on arriving at the toll booth, you too had to scramble for your ticket and money, holding up traffic behind you. But of course you wouldn't admit to that, eh?"

A similar complaint came from Pat Heavener, of Northville. "The incident would have been just as humorous in the third person," she wrote, and enclosed a clipping of the offending column with every feminine pronoun crossed out.

I guess Heavener thinks I should have substituted "they" and "them" for "she" and "her," even though there was only one person in the woman's car. Or maybe I should write "his or her car," implying that I can't tell a man from a woman - or that I'm terribly afraid of being called a MCP.

IT'S TRUE that I regard myself a strong feminist and am severely stung by such accusations as made by Carollo and Heavener. But it's also true that I have a guilty little secret: I believe women are much more likely than men to delay the progress of civilization by waiting until the fast second to begin looking for material they could easily have started reaching for 10 minutes - or 10 days - earlier.

According to my mail and several unscientific saloon surveys, many people agree with me. In the same mail that brought the MCP charges there was a note from M. Sarna, of Troy, saying the late-fumbling conduct of the woman in the parking garage was "VERY typically female!!!" And Sarna added:

"Great article! Like I tell my husband, it's a good thing I don't carry a loaded shotgun with me in my car. There'd be a whole lot fewer women drivers!!!"

Fortunately, Sarna said "husband" rather than the genderless "spouse," otherwise, I wouldn't know there is at least one woman who blames women for the unnecessary delay at the head of the line. (I also wouldn't be wondering if women are more likely than men to use exclamation points.)

BESIDES AT toll booths, it happens in banks, supermarkets and at bus stops and automatic teller machines. A woman waits, doing nothing, until she finally reaches the point of transaction. Suddenly she appears surprised to be where she's been waiting to get for 20 minutes. She opens her purse and begins fumbling while the men in line behind her begin sobbing.

So help me, I even know a woman who begins looking for her checkbook when the church usher sticks the collection basket into her pew.

I've never seen a man behave so irrationally. I have my toll ready before the toll booth is built. I was born with bus fare in my hand. (My wife says that's irrational, but what does she know? She also objects because I insist upon leaving for the theater before the movie is made.)

It would be proper if women such as Carollo and Heavener would simply concede it's a fact, not a MCP illusion, that women are the world's leading queue quakers. Perhaps it would be fair if it were also conceded that some similarly grievous breach of humanity is committed exclusively will be accepted here.

I'll even pose a suggestive question: How often have you seen the initials FCP?

JUST BEFORE the winners of the Waterford Jr. Miss were announced, Jennifer Dakroub's mother was almost as excited as Jennifer. "It was like reliving it," said her mother, Lynn.

Jr. Miss follows mom's footsteps

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Jennifer Dakroub was crowned Junior Miss of Waterford on Nov. 21, the event was especially meaningful.

"I was really happy because my mom was Junior Miss in Waterford, too, in 1965," said Jennifer, an Independence Township resident who attends Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes High School. "So it was kind of a family tradition."

Using a poem she wrote in French, Jennifer performed in English and French for her talent in the pageant.

After a judges' interview and judging on poise and appearance, physical fitness and scholastic achievement, Jennifer was awarded first prize—a $500 scholarship, roses, a trophy and a chance to compete in the state competition Feb. 19 and 20 in Marshall. The competition was sponsored by the Waterford Jaycees.

"It was fun," said Jennifer. "I was relieved that it was over with. The practices took a lot of time."

She's looking forward to the state Junior Miss, where she will compete with Clarkston's Junior Miss Rachel Young, whom Jennifer knows.

"I was comfortable in Waterford's where I knew some of the people," Jennifer said. "At state, I don't know what to expect. I'm kind of nervous about that."

Jennifer's school and outside activities should help prepare her.

A member of student council, National Honor Society and the drama, French and forensics clubs at WOLL, she also debates and maintains a 4.0 grade point average.

"I'm used to speaking in front of people and being on stage, so that helped me out. It was fun," she said.

She also works part time at Laura Ashley's in the Somerset Mall, Troy.

Jennifer resides with her brother, Joey, and her parents, Joe and Lynn, in their Washington Street, Independence Township, home.

Friendly Faces

TO ENSURE A SMILE on every customer's face is Blaine Aldrich's goal at the American Speedy Printing Center in Independence Township.

Happy customers are his type

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A vocational school course first sparked Blaine Aldrich's interest in printing six years ago and he's been in the field ever since.

Now manager of the American Speedy Printing Center on M-15 in Independence Township, Blaine hopes to one day own several of his own centers.

"I had no idea I'd be here this long, but it's worked out well and I'll be here for a long time," he said. "I'd like to own multiple centers. I'd love that. That's my dream."

A Brandon Township resident and a graduate of Holly High School, Blaine appreciates the program he took at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Center in Springfield Township.

"I have to give them a lot of credit," he said. "They got me into it. I started working here when I was still in high school, and I've been here ever since."

Blaine also appreciates the Clarkston area.

"This town is great. It's a good group of people," he said. "They're nice. They're all down to earth."

Working with people is what he most enjoys about his job.

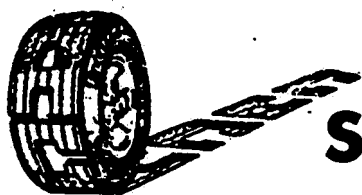

"They're interesting," he said. "Nothing is ever the same. I just enjoy my job, and you have to enjoy what you do. If you don't, you won't be good at it."

Blaine credits his parents for developing his attitude when working with customers.

"They're good people. We have a neat bond. My whole family is really close," he said.

He spends most of his time at work making sure every part of the operation goes smoothly, but when he's not in the office, he can be found skiing, golfing, playing racquetball or watching sporting events - especially hockey.

Do you know someone who deserves recognition for a job well done? We'd like to share your praise. Drop us a line at The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48016, or call 625-3370.

Child care bargain for yule shoppers

A Christmas story and craft time from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays, Dec. 5, 12 and 19, is available at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church for any area youngster from preschooler through sixth-grader.

Children can attend the sessions for all or part of the day. There is a $1 per day charge to help cover refreshment costs and children must bring their own lunches. Beverages and snacks will be provided.

The idea came from a church member who is a mother of small children, said the Rev. William Schram. She wanted a chance for the children to learn more about the real meaning of Christmas and she needed some time for shopping without the children along.

Advance registration is requested by calling 673-3101. The church is at 5300 Maybee Rd., adjacent to North Sashabaw Elementary School, in Independence Township.

Wolves 57, Holly 32

Nov. 23--Clarkston rolled over Holly in a district game at home as 11 players scored.

The victory set up a rematch with GOAL rival Waterford Kettering in the finals of the district.

Against Holly, Ali Fedio was the leading scorer with 13 points.

Sue McKoin and Michelle Baker added 11 more apiece. Rhonda Jokisch scored six points.

While the game was decided early, the fans and players still had plenty to cheer about.

The first big cheer came when Kris Castillo returned to the court for the first time since her injury in October.

An even louder cheer went out when she scored her first bucket.

With only a few moments left in the game, Coach Dave McDonald put in a few players from the junior varsity squad.

Emily Zubalik scored a three-point basket as time ran out in the game from long range as the crowd erupted into cheers once again.

Wrestlers ready for season

Optimism reigns supreme for grapplers

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Balance is the key word for the boys wrestling team for the upcoming 1987-88 season.

The Wolves have a couple of grapplers in each weight class from 98 pounds all the way up to heavyweight and appear ready to compete in the tough Greater Oakland Activities League.

"We are a lot more solid this year," said Coach Scott Strickler. "We have a good nucleus from the junior highs."

Clarkston finished third in the GOAL last season behind Pontiac Northern and Lake Orion and Strickler expects those two squads to be the ones to beat this year.

Returning wrestlers include senior Mark Oswald in the heavyweight division. Oswald is the only senior on the 37-member squad.

Chris Luzi (112 pounds), Dave London (119) and Eric Wall (105) are the other veterans returning to the team.

Wrestlers from both junior high programs also are expected to contribute this season, said Strickler.

John Anderson and John Terpstra are two of the new faces who should make an impact on the team. Strickler is pleased with the inspired play of the newcomers as a whole.

"They are all hard workers and know the fundamentals," he said. "I don't have to yell at them all the time."

Strickler is in his third year at the helm and he has seen the Clarkston program build its way up to respectability.

The Wolves were 8-11 in his first year and 14-7 last season, including two tournament victories. Strickler expects the success to continue in 1987-88.

"Our goal is to get better and better (each season)," said Strickler. "We shouldn't have any trouble accomplishing that this season."

With the balance the Wolves have on the team, no one weight class will pull the Wolves down during a match.

"We are not going to give up any freebies," said Strickler.

Clarkston opens the season Thursday, Dec. 3, on the road against Milford. The GOAL season doesn't begin until after the Christmas break.

"We are looking forward to the season opener," said Strickler. "We want to get our feet wet."

Captains oust Wolves, 60-43

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The clock struck midnight for the Cinderella Wolves late in the second quarter as they dropped out of the girls basketball districts.

Clarkston, battling GOAL foe Waterford Kettering for the third time this season, came up short in the district final it hosted.

The Captains won the rubber match of the season series, 60-43, on Nov. 25. Waterford Kettering advances to the regional in Ferndale.

For most of the season the Wolves were playing undermanned due to injuries. Unlikely candidates moved into starting - and sometimes starring - roles and led Clarkston to a 15-8 season.

"We had a great season," said Coach Dave McDonald afterward. He had expected such a season when all of his players were healthy. When the injuries set in McDonald lowered his goals a bit - but the players didn't.

The loss hit them hard, especially the seniors who wore the Wolves uniform for the last time.

"We really wanted to win this game so we could keep on playing," said senior Kris Castillo. Castillo was one of the injured players who missed a good portion of the season.

Kettering scored first in the game and led the entire way. The Captains built up a nine-point cushion by halftime.

The closest Clarkston could get in the second half was six points.

Kettering's depth on the bench proved to be too much for the Wolves when Clarkston ran into foul trouble.

"(Kettering's) got enough players that you can't sit on just one of them," said McDonald.

Two players scored in double figures for Clarkston. Seniors Ali Fedio had 11 points and Michelle Baker added 10. Sophomore Sue McKoin made eight points.

Cage star ready for college

BY PETER AUCHTER

From humble beginnings, a Clarkston High senior blossomed into an all-star center for the girls varsity basketball team this season.

Surgery on both ankles plus learning the fundamentals of the game severely hampered Ali

Fedio's progress in basketball when she moved back into the school district four years ago.

Her progress was not always picture perfect, but she was determined to continue playing basketball. High school Coach Dave McDonald noticed the hard-working Fedio and watched her improve over the years.

Two-time Olympic medalist awards trophy to area club

Martial arts training involves many different aspects besides kicking and punching, said an Olympic gold-medal winner.

Kiel Soon Park, who won two medals in judo for Korea and coached medal-winning teams for his native land, visited Joe Sanders Martial Arts class Saturday, Nov. 21, for an awards ceremony and belt promotions class.

Park watched the students execute their warm-up moves from his seat on the floor of the Pine Knob Elementary gymnasium. If anyone was out of synch, Park would correct the situation immediately.

After the class ended, Park explained why he expects perfection from martial arts students.

"It is not just kicking and punching," said Park, the president of the International Council on Martial Arts Education (ICMAE). "You need to have a total background."

Besides mastering the motor skills, students of the martial arts also must be disciplined enough to do well in school and display good sportsmanship at all times, Park said.

Instructors who do not teach their students the entire martial arts procedure are cheating them, said Park, who is the director of Park's Judo and Karate School in Akron, Ohio.

Park said Sanders was not one to cheat his students. After the belt promotions were announced, Park congratulated Sanders on becoming a fifth-degree blackbelt. Sanders has been involved in martial arts training for more than 20 years.

"He is a talented person," said Park. "(His students) are lucky to have him."

Endless hours of practice helped Sanders accomplish as much as he has in the martial arts world, said Park.

At the end of his visit, Park presented Sanders club, nicknamed "The Force," with the first-place team trophy from the United States Open in Akron, Ohio, on Oct. 10.

Seniors will lead Wolves on court

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Statistics can sometimes be misleading. Such is the case with the boys varsity basketball team this season.

Although eight seniors fill out the roster of Dan Fife's team, only three have had previous experience at the varsity level.

Jeff Tungate, Mike Barnes and Josh Newblatt are the returning veterans the Wolves will need to rely on to excel in 1987-88.

"The leadership on the team will come from them," said Fife. "All of them will play a lot."

Clarkston sported a 14-7 record last season after starting out 2-4. The Wolves won the Greater Oakland Activities League title to boot.

Gone from last year's squad is 6-foot-7 Dan Jokisch and 6-5 Steve Secatch. The Wolves have not been able to replace their height. To compensate for the loss, Clarkston will alter its game plan.

"We won't be as physical a team as we were in the past," said Fife. "But we will play physical when we have to."

After the top three players on the team, the Wolves are a little thin on the bench.

The play of the fourth and fifth players and the bench will play a major role in how well the Wolves do on the court.

Successful basketball teams are a part of Clarkston's tradition and Fife said the current edition is ready to take its place among the many winning teams from the past.

"What they want is respect," said Fife. "They want people to know that they are as good as past Clarkston teams."

The 1987-88 squad will get its chance to make its mark early in the season when the Wolves host Redford Catholic Central on Friday, Dec. 4.

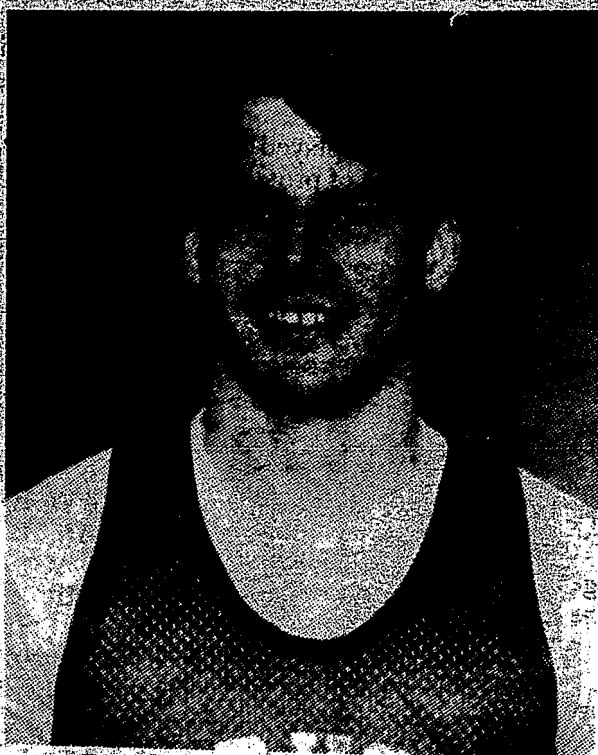

In the 11 times the two teams have met since Fife began coaching the Clarkston team, the Shamrocks have won six times.

Fife knows his team will have to execute their plays perfectly to beat Catholic Central.

"Our margin of error is a lot smaller this year than it has ever been in the past," he said.

College scholarship awaits sports star

field Township, currently is having a season she could only dream about four years ago.

She has averaged 17 points, 12 rebounds and nearly three blocks per game for the 14-7 Wolves and has won numerous honors for her hard work including being named All-County and Player-of-the-Week.

"It's surprising how far she has developed since ninth grade," said McDonald. "She works extremely hard, that is one of her best attributes."

All of the post-season honors Fedio has won so far have come as a pleasant surprise.

"It's all been very nice," said Fedio. "All of my hard work has finally paid off."

Besides the awards, Fedio has won something else this season - recognition.

One of the top division II college teams in the country, Saginaw Valley State, has offered her a full-ride scholarship.

Decisions on where she will attend college will have to wait. Fedio began practicing with the volleyball team as soon as the basketball season ended at the district finals on Nov. 25.

Basketball may or may not be in her future plans, she said.

"I want to keep my options open," said Fedio. "When I visited Saginaw Valley, the players all were very nice. I wouldn't mind playing there."

The college scholarship offers would not be rolling in if Fedio had decided to quit basketball while struggling in the ninth grade.

She credits Clarkston Junior High coach Dennis Bronson for keeping her spirits up when things went wrong.

"Mr. Bronson really helped me a lot since he didn't criticize my lack of coordination," said Fedio.

When she played ball in the 10th grade, Fedio showed signs of promise but wasn't an outstanding player yet, said McDonald.

ALI FEDIO knew she would have to play a major role for the Wolves this season if they were to stay competitive in the tough Greater Oakland Activities League. Fedio captured All-County honors for her efforts.

Fedio continued to get better in her junior year and then attended various basketball camps around the Midwest last summer to get ready for the 1987 season.

Since many of the Wolves' top players had graduated, Fedio knew she would have to play well for the team to win. She responded to the challenge in style.

"I knew going in what was expected of me," Fedio said. "I had to pick up some of the slack."

The season hasn't been all roses for Fedio, however. She has experienced hardships as well.

Midway through the season, a collision with an opponent knocked her two front teeth loose and she missed several games while recovering from the injury.

After finding out no permanent damage was done to her teeth, Fedio was chomping at the bit to get back on the court.

"It was frustrating and kind of a bore," Fedio said of sitting on the bench.

McDonald said he hopes Fedio's work ethic will rub off on the younger players before she leaves.

"She is a good role model for the others to follow," the coach said. "She has worked hard and will be well rewarded (with a college scholarship offer)."

Time out

Holiday spree

Peter Auchter

Working for the holidays ...

With the passing of Thanksgiving, I can hardly wait until Christmas rolls around - but not for the obvious reasons.

Sure the presents are great and it's a good time to visit with friends and relatives and go to church, but sports fans get an extra dose of games to watch during the holidays.

During Thanksgiving, I managed to gobble down a large amount of turkey, stuffing, yams, mashed potatoes, gravy and salad. I also met with family and friends and had the opportunity to talk over old times.

I missed going to church, though. (I had to work the basketball game.)

While allowing my body ample time to digest the fantastic turkey dinner my sister made, I had to find a way to keep my mind occupied.

Sports seemed like a perfect solution to my little problem.

Luckily, the Lions - by some miracle of fate - didn't sell-out their football game against the lowly Chiefs so I didn't have to suffer through four quarters of embarrassment.

The second half of the NFL double-header proved enough to make up for the blackout of the first game.

Dallas and Minnesota hooked up in an all-out offensive assault. To make things even better, the game went into sudden-death overtime. Unfortunately, the hated Vikings won the game but it was still fun to watch.

Once the NFL games ended, my attention turned to the colleges. Especially the Notre Dame-Miami contest Saturday afternoon.

For the second time in a row, the team I was pulling for (Notre Dame) lost. But it still was fun to see the game.

Now I'll take a little break from the couch potato action and move back into the real world until Christmas.

By then, the Lions will be history and the NFL playoffs will be getting under way. College bowl games also will be just around the corner.

Even if it's just the Blue-Gray college all-star game pitting the best of North versus the best of the South I'll be happy to vegetate in front of the boob tube.

Around the holidays, sports fans don't even need cable television to get their fill of their favorite athletic events. The networks supply all we need.

Unless, of course, your favorite sport happens to be Australian rules football.

Program to address attention problems

As a second in a series of Active Parent Presentations, a Southfield pediatrician is to speak on the "attention deficit child."

Sponsored by the Clarkston Schools Special Education Parent Dialogue Group and the Special Education Department, the program is planned at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 19, in the Clarkston High School Kirchgesner Theater.

The program may be helpful if your child or student seems:

~Inattentive - often failing to finish things started, often doesn't seem to listen, easily distracted, has difficulty concentrating on school work.

~Impulsive - often acts before thinking, shifts excessively from one activity to another, has difficulty organizing work, has difficulty awaiting turn in games and play.

~Hyperactive - runs about or climbs excessively, has difficulty sitting, is always on the go.

Pediatrician Ruth Robin is to discuss the frustration experienced by students with this problem, as well as the frustration of parents and teachers.

Robins will include the following:

~What attention deficit disorder is.

~How it blocks your child's ability to perform up to potential in school.

~How it can be treated.

A question and answer period will follow.

To show you our great selection of personalized writing stationery.

It makes a perfect gift, or treat yourself!

You'll be delighted with the variety of designs in every price range.

Progress on hold

Millage failure devastates curriculum plan

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

Steps to improve course offerings in the Clarkston school district have come almost to a standstill due to lack of funds.

"It's dismal," says curriculum director Alberta Ellis. "I still believe that what our board adopted back in 1984 was a very credible plan."

Ellis became the central office administrator in charge of curriculum and staff development for the district in 1984 and she proposed the five-year plan, which received praise from the board of education - and the warning that progress could continue only as long as money was available.

In October, when school district voters rejected a 4.25-mill tax increase request for the second time, Ellis saw much of the plan go on indefinite hold and some of the strides made in 1985-86 and '86-87 were rescinded when the board approved budget cuts of over $1 million.

And as the school board begins steps toward making more cuts for the '88-89, estimated to be $1.5 to $2 million, more could be lost.

"If Clarkston is going to be competitive with other school districts, we have to move ahead and not backwards," she says.

That's not to say she's given up. She spends some of her time applying for grants and working on ways to make improvements that cost little or nothing.

"What we're going to have to continue to do is try to improve the curriculum as it stands and in addition explore those areas where we can use existing staff," she says.

She looks at organized parent groups, such as band and athletic boosters and gifted education, with envy.

"It's unfortunate that you don't have a community group interested in what's going on in curriculum," she says. "I'm not sure how you can create a lot of parent interest, really, in your instructional program."

A support group in the community "spreading the word about what we could have in Clarkston" would be a plus, she says.

Ellis is proud of the changes already in place that could make a difference in the students' futures.

Physical education now includes Skills for Adolescence on an every-other-day basis. Quality decision-making skills are stressed as well as goal setting and thinking about consequences of actions, and the teachers are excited about the program, she says.

Some excellent teachers were found who were willing to work one-quarter time to introduce foreign languages to elementary pupils.

Graduation requirements have been increased and, accordingly, more levels of math and science have been added for grades 9-12.

But as Ellis goes over the list of proposed changes for this school year, most of which never happened, the changing climate emerges.

In addition to not starting a six-week introduction to German for all sixth-graders, the introduction to French for fifth-graders was dropped. Fourth-graders still have six weeks of Spanish. German may be added second semester because a state grant was received.

German was not added as a language choice for ninth-graders and over 100 ninth-graders who wanted to take Spanish or French this year could not.

German was not added to the high school curriculum.

An introduction to word processing rather than an emphasis on learning the skill will be in effect for fifth-graders. More printers could not be purchased to offer the more comprehensive course.

The revised health-physical education curriculum for grades 7-12 is not in place.

Fine arts (one hour every other week) for elementary school pupils was not started, nor was a fine arts course piloted for junior high in preparation for making it a required course.

The social studies curriculum was revised for grades 9-12. New textbooks have been selected for social studies, but not purchased.

A computer applications course is now required in junior high school.

A new science program for grades K-6 is ready, but it cannot begin until textbooks can be purchased.

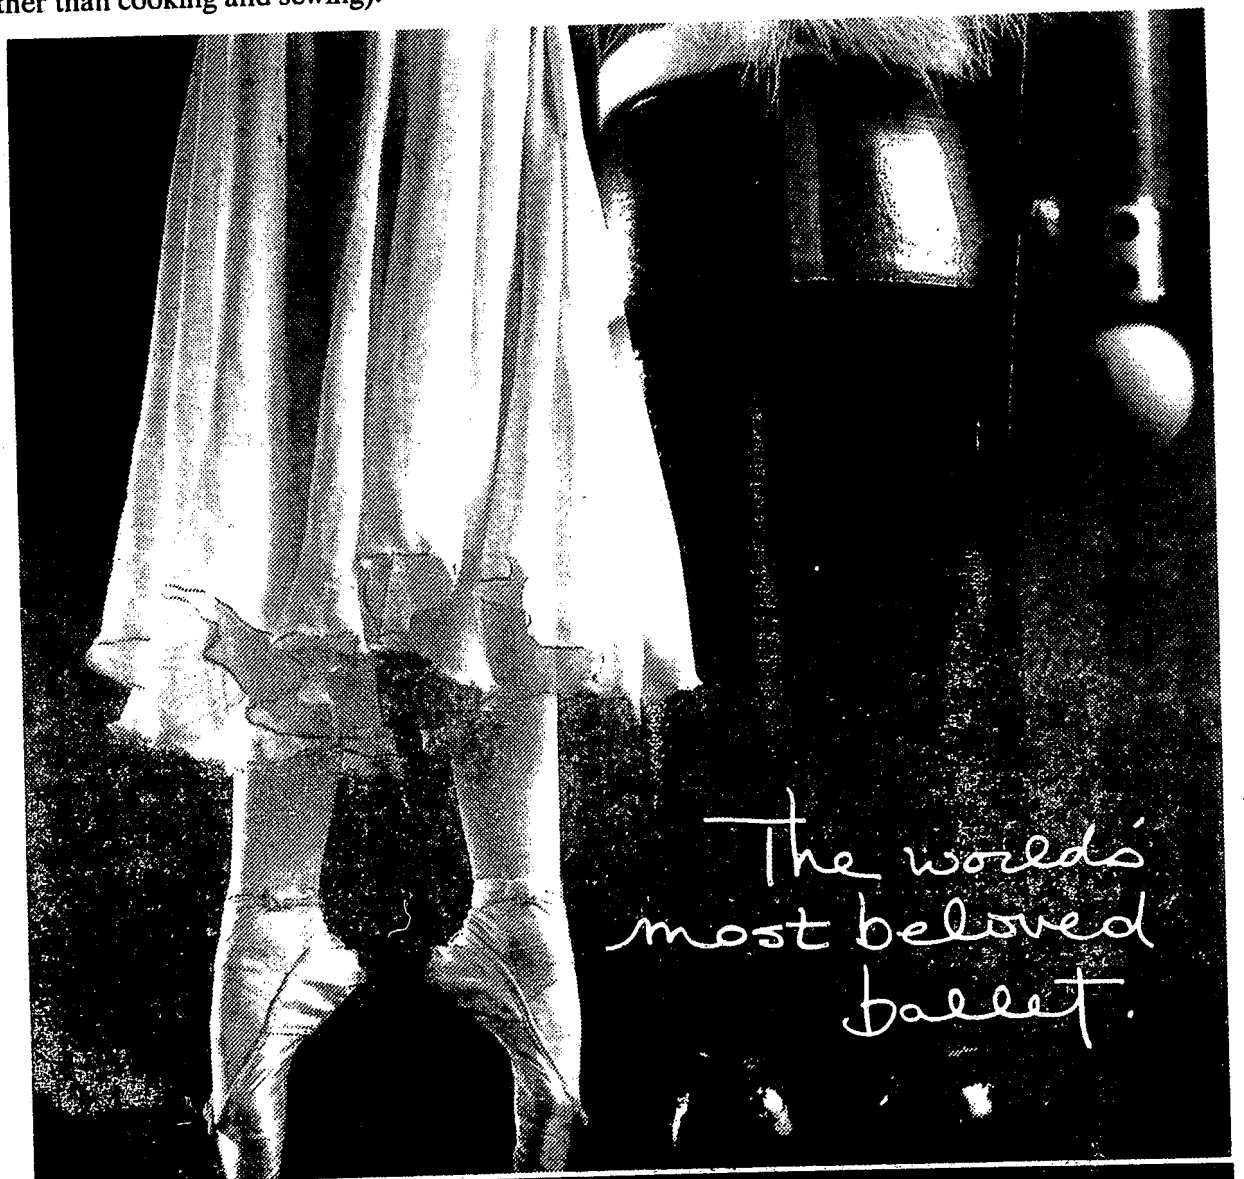

Pilot programs were not started in junior high industrial arts (more emphasis on group skills and computers) and home economics (more emphasis on family issues nutrition and shopping wisely rather than cooking and sewing).

"If Clarkston is going to be competitive with other school districts, we have to move ahead and not backwards."

Alberta Ellis

The building trades program (building a house) was not rekindled at Clarkston High School, but work is progressing toward beginning a program at the vocational school which would serve students in four districts.

Rated PG (popcorn's great!)

Suzanne
Baumann

I went to the movies a little while back. I sat in the theater for several minutes before it started, and I suddenly realized I was missing something. I reached into my coat pocket and felt a dollar bill between my fingers. "I'm going to buy some popcorn," I announced.

I pushed my way through the aisles until I reached the refreshment stand. Upon my command, the man behind the counter grabbed a cardboard container and a metal scoop and reached into the glass popping box.

"You want butter on that there popcorn you asked for?" he inquired, annoyed. I declined.

I remember the first time I realized movie popcorn tasted fine even without butter. I was about 9 years old, maybe 10.

My sister and I went to the theater for the first time without an adult. We both wanted buttered popcorn, of course. Butter cost extra and for each of us to get a box would be more money than we brought with us.

I ended up sacrificing the butter, but through the whole film I kept wondering if they made a mistake and gave me some anyway. To me, it tasted like they did.

The real answer was I didn't know what movie butter tasted like! Since then I've heard the "butter" is really just oil, poured on to keep it all moist, but at that time it was news to me.

I once read that out of all the movies ever shown, "Star Wars" sold the most popcorn. I do vaguely remember munching on some when I saw the show. In fact, I can't stay in a movie theater for very long at all without a few kernels in my mouth.

Probably if I go into acting and make it to the big screen, you'll see me up there; my character eating a bowl of popcorn!

This is a general outline of the way I eat popcorn at the movies:

1. Buy a round waxed, cardboard tub (small or medium in size, no butter).

2. Eat none before the show starts, but roll a piece between the thumb and forefinger to get the feel for it.

3. Chew two kernels for each of the opening features ("coming soon," the car advertisement, description of the local bank) building up on your intake through the beginning credits.

4. Have a steady stream of popcorn going to your mouth from that moment on until you run out. If the movie isn't over by then, start ripping the carton into teeny little shreds of paper.

5. While walking out on the very last of the ending credits, throw the "popcorn tub confetti" in front of the light being projected on the screen to make little shadows. (Tell me if this works, for I've never had the height or the guts to do it myself.)

Perhaps this snacking hang-up of mine is no more than a nervous habit. Even so, we'll always be an inseparable trio: popcorn, the movies and me.

Suzanne Baumann, a ninth-grader at Sashabaw Junior High School, is working with The Clarkston News this school year through the SJHS mentorship program.

Crash injures 2

Two people were injured Monday night in a two-car accident on M-15 at I-75, Independence Township.

About 5:25 p.m. Nov. 30, Candy Jean Reed, 18, of Brandon Township, was driving south on M-15, which was wet from the rainy weather, according to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

A car, driven by Arthur Roland Ripley, 54, of Amy Drive, Independence Township, pulled in front of her vehicle from the southbound I-75 exit ramp, according to the police report.

Reed had no time to react and crashed into Ripley's vehicle.

Reed, who was not wearing a seat belt, suffered minor injuries and was treated and released from the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center.

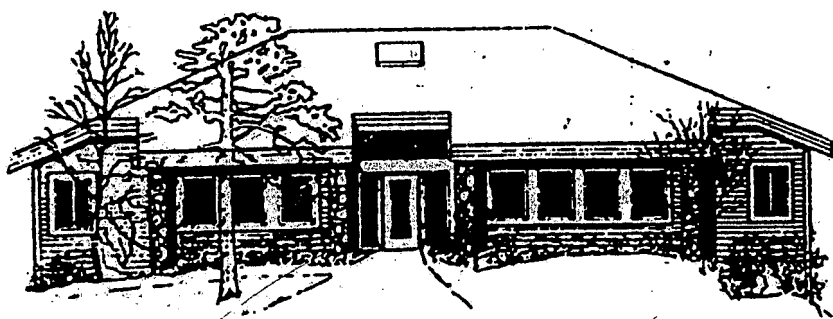

Ripley, who was not wearing a seat belt, suffered serious injuries and was issued tickets for failure to yield and for operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor, according to the police report.

Ripley's passengers, A. J. Ripley, 16, and Sean Clauw, 15, both of Amy Drive, were not injured. A. J. Ripley was wearing a seat belt; Clauw was not.

Millage failure prompts party

Kids rally to cheer up teachers

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After the second millage failure of the year, teacher morale was pretty low in Clarkston schools, said Ginny Farmer, assistant principal of Clarkston Junior High School.

But if the students have their way, the morale won't stay low for long.

"The kids came to me the day after the millage failed to see what they could do to make their teachers feel better," said Farmer.

Three students from David Bihl's Gifted and Academically Talented Education class, Heather Flor, Amy Ginn and Meredith Higdon, talked to Farmer and counselor Marge Dever. Then the student council worked on it.

And the concept of Teacher Recognition Day (TRD) was born.

In order to make the day a complete surprise to the teachers, the students hid the identity of TRD by calling it Turkey Rip-off Day.

They made banners and wrote thank-you notes and bought flowers for the teachers and they even bought a pizza lunch.

And on Wednesday, the day before Thanksgiving, the teachers received their recognition.

"It came from the kids, and that's what's really neat," said Farmer.

The students, volunteers from sixth to ninth grade, felt good about all their work.

"We think it's a great opportunity to show our appreciation and show how much we love our teachers," said Susan McNally, an eighth-grader.

"This will help them through the (disappointment) of the millage failing and we should back up our teachers," said Justin Tappero, a seventh-grader.

Chris Tabor, 12, a sixth-grader, agreed.

"They help us, and we should help them just as much," he said.

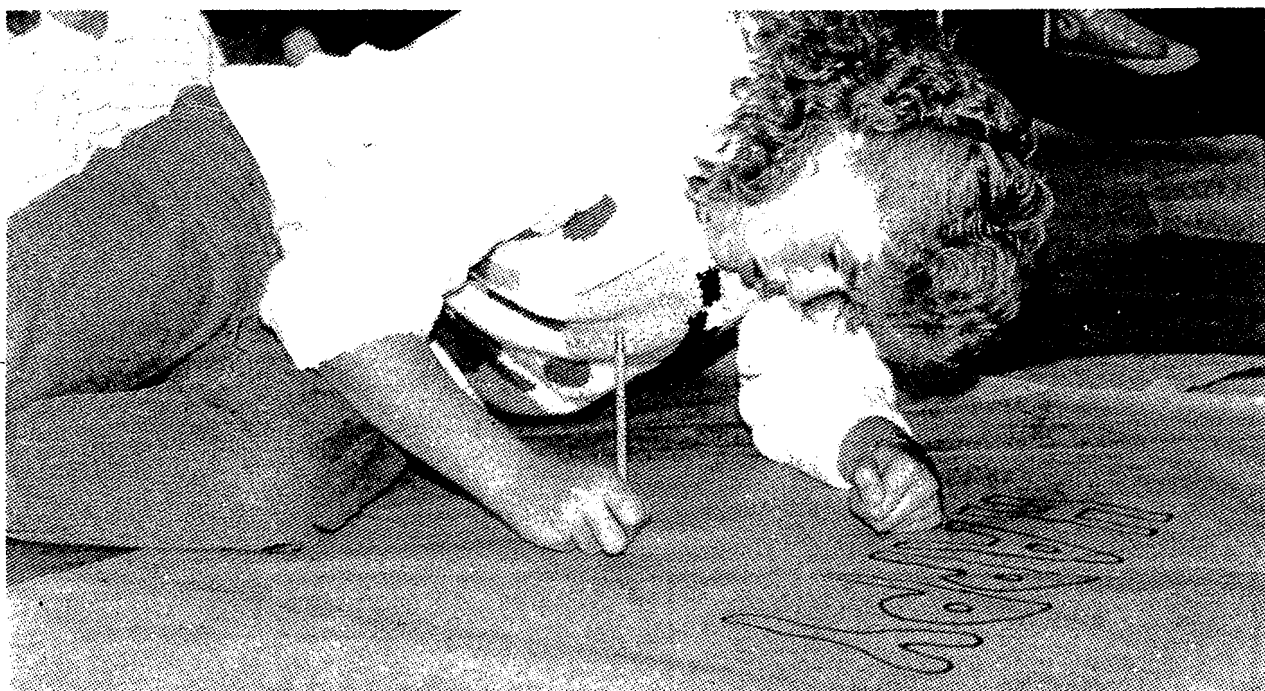

"Teachers are what make kids learn more," said Jeremy Zeman, 13. "They get into the lessons. They appreciate what they're doing for the kids, and they give you a chance. They also want the kids to have as much fun as possible in the lessons. It makes them feel good that we appreciate them."

"The teachers deserve something like this. ...

They deserve more than just being paid," said Melissa Barnett, 13.

"They help make your future," said Andrea Matzelle, 12.

"I don't really know my teachers, but I think they do a good job," said Jenni McArdle, 12. "They're the main part of the school. ... Our teachers help us and we never do anything for them, so this is our thank you. ... They've been cooped up too long. They need some fun."

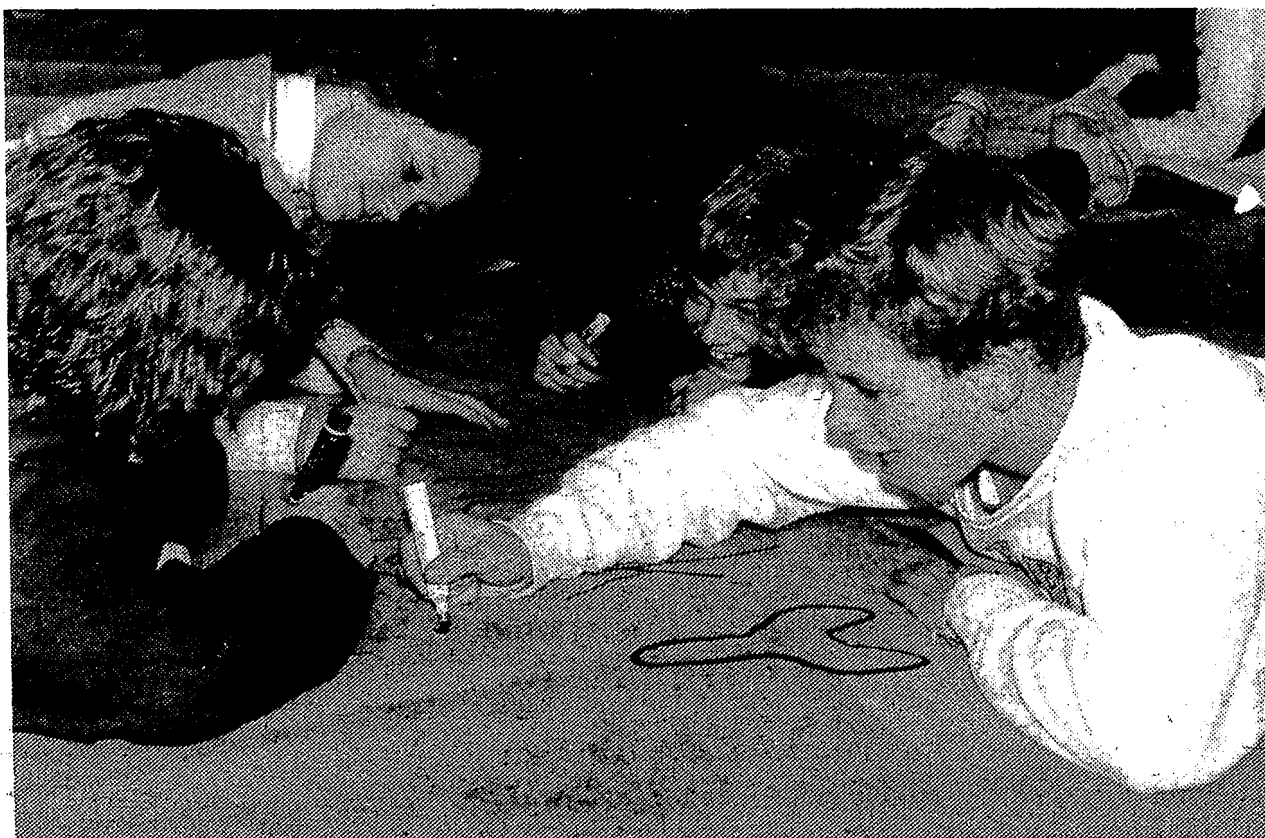

CONCENTRATION IS THE KEY for Lesley Allen, 12, a seventh-grader at CJHS. She's working on her "Happy TRD" poster that eventually hangs in the hall at school.

TEACHERS ARE THE OBJECT of all the work from Eric Chapman (left), 13, and Anthony Oclepka, 13. The two made one of the banners for TRD at Clarkston Junior High School.

O'Neill and Justin Tappero. The students kept their project a secret from the teachers.

Programs on cable-TV Channel 65 are broadcast week nights from the Independence-Clarkston studio of United Cable.

Week of Dec. 7 to Dec. 11

6 p.m. - Cherie's Craft Corner: Arts and Crafts with Cherie Hartwick of Tierra Arts and Designs of Clarkston. This week: "Fun with Ribbon."

6:30 p.m. - This is The Life: Contemporary drama series sponsored by St. Trinity Lutheran Church. This week: "In Need of Repair" - frustrated by hectic family schedules and demands, a woman walks out on her family.

7 p.m. - Microwave Plus: Microwave cooking tips with Betty Wagner, Clarkston's own home economist.

7:30 p.m. - Independence Update: Clarkston school and community news by Clarkston High School Media II students.

8 p.m. - Oakland County Parks: Program series about the county park system. This week: "Tales of Scales" - reptiles at Independence Oaks Nature Center.

8:30 p.m. - Shirley's World: Psychic discussion hosted by Shirley Lynch of Clarkston. This week's topic: "Being the best you can be."

9 p.m. - Best Medicine Co.: With host Joe Hoo (Joe Armstrong) of Clarkston, laughter is the best medicine.

9:30 p.m. - Special Presentation: A visit to the Oakland-Pontiac Airport: An inside look at our county airport. This one hour program includes interviews with FAA and Air Traffic Control officials, aerial views and highlights of the 1987 Air Show/Open House. (Hosted by Rocky Martina of Clarkston. Produced and edited by Larry Smith.)

SORTING THE CANS of food was the third step in the can drive sponsored by student council at Clarkston High School. Here, Kellee Duty, an 11th-grader, helps after the group collected 250 cans at school and gave them to the Senior Citizens Center, Clarkston Road, Independence Township. Seniors at the center will make food baskets for the needy with $300 from the seniors, $100 from the Clarkston Ministerial Association and a donation from the American Legion.

Color her happy

Catie Baetens' mom, Sue, is so proud of her daughter for winning a coloring contest that she wants to share the news.

Catie, now 7, was 6 when she entered the fall coloring contest sponsored by Entenmann's Bakery of Livonia.

Her entry was selected from among 150 to receive a $5 bill, a black forest cake, box of chocolate chip cookies and a cream cheese coffee cake, Mrs. Baetens said.

The Baetens reside on Pine Ridge Drive in Independence Township.

Honors

Sarah B. Hunter, daughter of Thomas and Geraldine Hunter of Middle Lake Road, Clarkston, has been named an Alumni Scholar at New York University (NYU).

A graduate of Clarkston High School, Hunter was a member of the National Honor Society, a National Merit semi-finalist and represented Clarkston at Girls' State.

The NYU Alumni Scholars Program each year honors freshmen in the College of Arts and Science who present superior academic records and demonstrate exceptional intellectual ability, leadership and maturity.

Besides a financial award, the award winners are provided with the opportunity to broaden their intellectual and cultural experience by taking advantage of New York City resources through a special program of lectures, films, cultural and social events.

Boys send balloon, get letter from afar

One day, Steven Woolfenden and David Brazel had nothing to do, so they thought of an adventure.

It was Friday the 13th, and it was very dark, but their adventure wasn't scary.

They took two helium balloons that David happened to have in his home on Michigamme in Independence Township.

They wrote notes and attached them to the balloons and then sent them off, to be carried by the wind.

A few days later, Steven received a letter from Jeremy Stabler of Danville, Penn., saying he found one of the balloons in a field near his home on Nov. 14, the day after the send-off.

The boys were surprised to get a reply so quickly.

"We just wanted to see how far it would get or if anyone would write back," said Steven. "David wants to get some more balloons."

According to the letter, Jeremy was hunting near his house when he found the message. The balloon was almost totally deflated, he wrote.

The boys aren't sure what their next adventure will be, said David, adding that he and Steven, seventh-graders at Sashabaw Junior High School, have been friends since kindergarten.

The ripple effect

Three Clarkston students were selected to attend a one-day workshop organized by the biochemistry department of Michigan State University.

The experience of students Jennifer Conkle, Kelly Eberhardt and Darren Heil was on outgrowth of a summer activity of Clarkston Junior High School science teacher Mary Fowler.

During the summer, Fowler was chosen to participate in a five-week institute on molecular biology sponsored by the National Science Foundation and MSU.

The teacher accompanied the students to the workshop on Saturday, Nov. 14. The students had an opportunity to study spectrophotometry and tissue culture techniques and tour the X-ray crystallography laboratory facilities.

New arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown of Waterford are the parents of a baby girl.

Katilyn Elizabeth was born Nov. 8 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. She weighed 7 pounds, 14 1/2 ounces and measured 19 1/2 inches long.

Her brother, Andrew, is 3 years old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Beatie of Waterford and Mr. and Mrs. Don Brown of Seminole, Fla.

Grad

L.A. LAWYER: John J. Higgins was graduated this year from the Pepperdine Law School in Malibu, Calif., and he recently passed the bar exam. A 1978 graduate of Clarkston High School, Higgins is employed by the law firm of Roper & Folmo in Los Angeles, Calif. His parents are Wayne and Lillian Higgins of Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township.

At college

Mike Kosolsky is a member of the Central College, McPherson, Kan., soccer team that captured the National Little College Association title Nov. 7 in St. Louis, Mo.

Kosolsky, a freshman, is a graduate of Clarkston High School. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Kosolsky of Flemings Lake Road, Independence Township.

Central (17-4) defeated Webster University, 1-0, in the championship game.

During the season, Kosolsky had one assist.

Birthday pine

A WHITE PINE with needles so soft they tickle was planted at the Clarkston Learning Center, Maybee Road, Independence Township, last week in honor of Michigan's Sesquicentennial. The students in Kim Boose's and Jan Rathburg's adult education class decided to plant the state tree as one project in their Michigan Sesquicentennial unit. The tree was donated by Nature's Rain Irrigation. (Photo by Julie Campe)

Ceramics are her specialty

Craft festival participant is ready for year 7

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ceramics began as an occasional hobby for Independence Township resident Candy Margetson. But it quickly advanced as she became a charter participant and perennial crafter at the annual Davisburg Christmas Craft Festival.

Candy originally began the craft booth with two friends, Sally Pellitier and Pat Brian, all doing ceramic and other "crafty things," she says. But Candy's specialty is little ceramic villages and they soon took up so much room in the booth that the women created two booths, side by side.

"Candy's Villages" and "Sally's Curiosity Shop" have been neighboring booths at the Davisburg Christmas Craft Festival ever since.

Pat was the energetic force that kept the others going, even convincing them to dress in old-fashioned hats and long skirts for the first few years of the festival, until Candy tripped on hers and said "they had to go."

This year, as Candy and Sally participate in the seventh year of the craft festival, it will be a bittersweet experience, Candy says, because their "driving force," Pat Brian, passed away on Nov. 24 following a long illness.

"But she would want us to carry on. It was a fun, crazy thing we all did together," Candy says, "Sally will have a few of Pat's crafts at her booth."

If the ceramic villages that Candy creates look familiar to browsers at the craft festival, it may be because she also displays them at her father's bakery, Pete's Oven in Drayton Plains, and at Beverly's of Clarkston.

"People stand and play with them like doll houses," Candy says. "They might buy, say, the church, to start with and then add more."

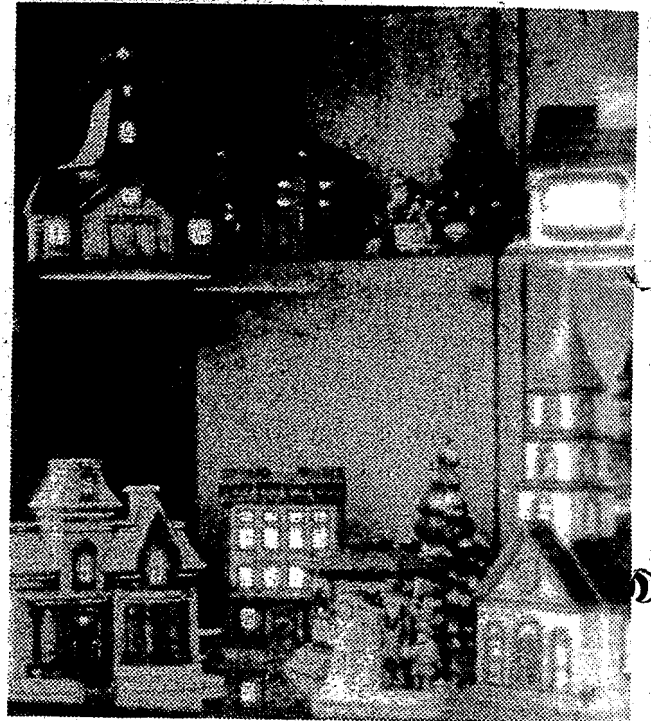

With country so popular these days, she says the barns, schoolhouses, general store and other country structures are big items.

"What's neat is that one particular building will have special meaning to a person," she says. "For instance, the old courthouse or the bank or the sweet shop (might be a memento of a person's career)."

The little ceramic villages are warmly lit from the inside with lights and she creates animals, people, trains and cars to make the ceramic scenes come alive. The buildings can also be ordered with music boxes inside.

Candy says a friend, Mary Ann Brecht, helps her at the Davisburg craft festival. And Mary Ann, too, enjoys doing ceramics as a hobby.

"Ceramics stays interesting," Candy says, "Because each year new molds come out that you can work with."

CERAMIC VILLAGES are created by Candy Margetson, who plans to sell them at the Davisburg Christmas Craft Festival at Springfield Oaks.

Craft festival this weekend

Sixty booths, designed to create a village storefront setting, will offer a variety of crafts to choose from at the Davisburg Christmas Craft Festival on Dec. 5 and 6.

The seventh annual festival will be Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Springfield Oaks Activities Center on Andersonville Road at Hall Road in Springfield Township.

Among the crafts on display will be Christmas ornaments, hand-woven rugs, Tiffany glass and dried flower arrangements. Demonstrations of tinsmithing, woodcarving, painting and flower arranging will be conducted throughout the festival.

Paul Lewis of Pontiac, who specializes in silver pencil drawings, will be on hand with some of his work including portraits and renderings of airplanes, cars and horses.

Most of the craft vendors are local, said Deanna Lopez, show promoter.

Homemade desserts, caramel popcorn and other refreshments will be available. Door prizes will be awarded both days.

Soviet children sang with joy over Clarkston gifts

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Letters, bookmarks, photographs and a banner reading, "Greetings from America!" traveled to the Soviet Union last month and settled in a school in the city of Tashkent in the republic of Uzbek.

Meanwhile, sixth-grade students in the Sue Banworth's Clarkston Academically Talented (CAT) class anxiously awaited the reactions to their efforts.

They were fulfilled Monday by Annette Remsburg, who delivered their gifts during her trip to the Soviet Union.

The pupils in School No. 9 in Uzbek were excited to receive the items and greeted Annette with flowers and recitations and songs in English, she said.

After the banner presentation, the children burst into song again - "If you're happy and you know it, clap your hands," and Annette joined in.

"They loved it," she said. "They were impressed that you had used Russian and that some of your cards had Russian."

Annette gave the Soviet eighth-graders travel information about Michigan and a Michigan calendar and she gave them a Polaroid camera, donated with a lifetime supply of film by Polaroid.

"They were delighted to see pictures of all of you working on your banner," she said, adding that the Soviet children would probably send photographs of themselves.

But it may take a long time, she said. Her postcard to her parents took three weeks to reach Iowa and letters take longer.

The teachers and pupils were curious about the Clarkston students, she said.

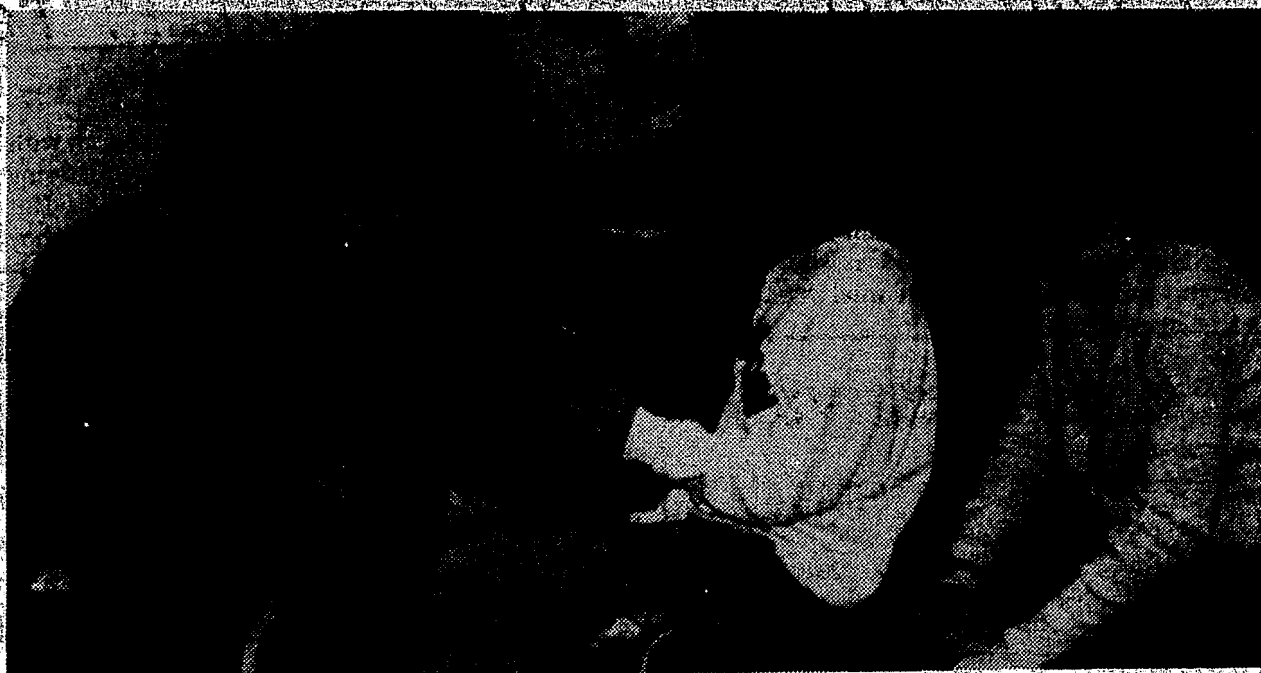

"In Moscow, there are many foreign visitors, but very few people from our country go the extra five hours by air to (Uzbek). ... We felt a bit like martians," she said. "They were very curious what we looked like, what we talked about."

In Uzbek the children go to school Monday through Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 2:05 p.m. Many of the children are involved in clubs and activities after school until 7 and the activities are strongly encouraged, said Annette.

This leaves little time for families to be together on the weekend, so many family outings occur during the week.

Once, Annette went to a circus and lots of children were there. She was surprised at all the social messages, she said, adding she didn't have to speak Russian to understand them.

For example, a bomb came down from the center of the circus and a clown turned it into a dove.

CLUSTERING AROUND A SOUVENIR from the Soviet Union are (from left) Matt Little, Joshua Harsch, Brad Shires and Shana Linesman.

She attended a ballet, where the social messages about the responsibility of bringing up children were directed to parents.

As founder of the Michigan branch of Peace Links, a national organization formed to educate people about nuclear arms buildup and to prevent nuclear war, Annette made the journey to connect people in the U.S. with people in the U.S.S.R., she said.

"We don't have to change each other," she said. "We just have to understand each other. ... We must learn to get along to save our planet. We have been so sheltered from what goes on in that land. ... Each of you can share what you're learning with your family and friends."

Annette passed photographs and souvenirs around the room for the students to see and she continued to describe what she saw.

"Although the people are all very different, they are all people. They smile. ... They have different skin colors," she said.

Sixth-grader Sara Klopfer asked why a (See DOVE, Page 51)

Cut your own tree

Christmas shoppers can cut their own Scotch pine trees and buy hand-crafted gifts and bake sale items at Camp Oakland's farm house on Drahner Road at James Hunt Boulevard in Oxford.

Sale hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Dec. 5 and 6, continuing on Saturdays and Sundays through the next two weekends, Dec. 12-13 and Dec. 19-20.

Shoppers may opt to have a young resident of Camp Oakland chop down the tree, bundle it and load it in their car. Five- to 7-foot-tall trees are $20 each.

Shoppers can also browse through gift items produced by residents of Camp Oakland.

10-point buck stops here

The deer seemed plentiful, so Steve Fulcher decided to try some bow hunting for the first time near his home on Dora Lane.

Fulcher had been hunting in Independence Township for about two weeks when the 10-point buck appeared.

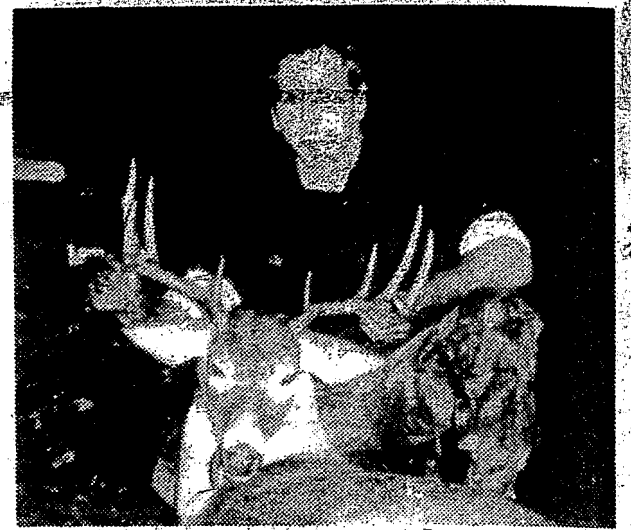

"I was amazed. This was the largest one I've seen anywhere," he said.

The buck was taken with a compound bow at 5:30 p.m. on Oct. 28, a cold, windy, rainy evening.

Fulcher, 22, has been hunting for about 10 years. This year he took four bucks, two bow hunting and two with a rifle.

Venison is a family favorite.

"We all process it ourselves and we eat it all year round," Fulcher said.

USUALLY, HIS FAMILY hunts in the Houghton Lake area, says Steve Fulcher.

Pet of the Week

Dressed in proper attire

Call her Sabrina, even if she looks like Sylvester.

She's a 2-year-old, black and white short-haired cat with green eyes and the "tuxedo look" of Sylvester the Cat.

Sabrina was a stray fortunate enough to find her way into the loving arms of a humane society worker.

She is healthy, front declawed and spayed. All she needs now is a good, permanent home.

She is curious and playful and would be a good loving companion for a family with older children. She is compatible with other animals, but would make a better "only pet."

Sabrina can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The adoption fee for Sabrina is $25.

SHE'S A SYLVESTER look-alike.

Cheese arrives Dec. 9

The Davisburg-area government cheese distribution will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Dec. 9 in the Mill Pond building on Broadway Street in Davisburg.

The distribution center serves people with low incomes and senior citizens in Springfield Township and portions of Independence and Rose townships.

Those who receive the commodities must have approved registration cards. For more information, call 634-8605.

Dear Friend to Friend:

First of all I want to say I read your column regularly and I really enjoy it.

My problem is that there is this girl in my VOC class, I'll call her Amy. She is very domineering and bogue to the other people in the class including me. For instance, she cuts people down all the time and makes them feel as if they were dirt.

Everybody can take some teasing but she goes too far. Lately it's been getting worse and feelings are getting hurt and tensions are high.

How can I defuse the situation before it explodes?

Peacemaker

Dear Peacemaker:

It sounds to us like this girl is expressing her frustrations, although inappropriately. Usually people who behave in this fashion are insecure and so they try to lower everybody else's self-esteem.

Keeping this in mind, try to understand where she is coming from. She may not know how to make friends and might think cutting people down is the best or only way to communicate with others. She may have learned this from her parents - "people living with criticism learn to criticize."

The next time she belittles someone, try killing her with kindness. Grit your teeth and pass her a compliment and smile. This is SO hard, but you are taking her steam away. Be friendly to her before she starts her cutting down of others.

Maybe you need to confront her with something to the effect of: "You really have a lot going for you, but when you cut down others it makes you look bad."

Something else to keep in mind is that you can't solve the classroom's problems, just work on how you handle the situation.

Dear Friend to Friend:

My ex-girlfriend's brother (who is away at college) had me stop over at her house to drop some things off.

I didn't think she would be home and I felt I was just doing the mother a favor, but my old girlfriend was there.

I really didn't have a problem, but the situation made me feel uncomfortable and guilty. I enjoyed my conversation with her and then her mother came home and we all had dinner together and it was very enjoyable.

I don't want to lead my ex-girlfriend into thinking there is a chance of getting back together but I enjoyed the evening. I appreciate the friendship, but why am I experiencing this anxiety?

Just Want to be Friends

Dear Just Friends:

Several of us have been in this same situation. Sometimes it seems like it is harder to break up with the family than the individual.

You get to know the family well and develop a bond, almost like being a member of their family.

There really is no provision in our society to continue these relationships as friends. The anxiety stems from the awkwardness of the situation for which there are no clear-cut guidelines.

We as a group can't even agree. One of our arguments is: In order to move on to new relationships, you have to cut yourself off completely from previous ones. If seeing the family makes you feel uncomfortable, don't set yourself up for this anxiety.

The counter-argument to that is people shouldn't have to give up satisfying, rewarding relationships. In order to have the relationship with the family continue, it does take time to work out those intense feelings with the ex-girlfriend or boyfriend.

Not knowing the whole situation, and knowing that each relationship is different, you must choose the path that is right for you.

Dear Friend to Friend:

My letter appeared in the Sept. 16 issue of The Clarkston News. At that time I signed myself as the "outsider" because I was from a new school district and had trouble meeting friends who had the same values as I did concerning drugs, including alcohol.

Since that time I took your advice and joined a club - the Just Say No Club - and met many new friends. Through these new friends I have joined the Blue and Gold organization. This, in turn, helped me to meet a whole new set of friends.

I really thought that your idea of getting involved was kind of corny, but I tried it anyway and it paid off. I just want to pass along to others the importance of putting in that extra effort to get to know new people.

Thanks again!

The Insider (no longer the Outsider)

Dear Insider:

Thank you so much for giving us some feedback on your situation. We're glad that everything turned out successfully for you!

You are a classic example for all incoming students and for those who are just not involved in extra-curricular activities. Good for you!

Congratulations on a successful feat. Now that you have become more involved and started to make new friends, you have the ability to encourage others to follow in your footsteps. Your positive attitude shows us that you're going to accomplish a lot.

Good luck in your endeavors, and thanks again for writing back.

Letters to Friend to Friend are answered by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under the sponsorship of Aware, a community organization devoted to action and education against chemical dependency.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY Spirit. Holy spirit. You make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideals. You give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrongs that are done to me and you are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with you, and my loved ones, in your perpetual glory. Amen. Persons must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking for your wish. After the 3rd day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then, promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. Impossible wish granted 11-16-87, JAS. Dove pin symbolizes traveler's thanks woman in a photograph had so many lines on her face.

"The older people have been through a lot in the Soviet Union and I think we have much to learn from their experiences," said Annette. "They have a wealth of stories. Some of the history they wish to forget. But with this new openness, they're willing to talk about it."

While in the U.S.S.R., Annette attended mass at a Russian Orthodox Church, where the congregation stood for three hours because there were no seats. To sit while worshiping was thought to be disrespectful to God, she said.

"People thought that once the older people died, the church would cease. That isn't the case," she said.

Before her presentation was finished, Annette presented CAT Coordinator Joanne Stroebel with a dove pin, given to her by teachers in School No. 9.

"This pin means a lot to me and I'd like to give it to Mrs. Stroebel for her efforts," she said.

Joanne was pleased with the cultural exchange across the ocean, she said, and other CAT classes in the district were prepared to send their letters and bookmarks.

Some of the children included gum because they heard it was hard to find in the Soviet Union, she said.

"You know what's great is that we've got the Summit coming up in two weeks and here we've got people reaching out in our own back door," she said.

Sixth-grade teachers work in teams at Clarkston's two junior highs

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

While sixth-graders at Clarkston Junior High School commemorated the first Thanksgiving with a special program, sixth-grade teachers reflected on another first - the first year of teaching sixth grade at the junior high school level.

To celebrate Thanksgiving, the sixth-graders gathered in a "circle of thanks" before taking turns putting cans of food for the needy in a basket and trimming a "Thanksgiving tree" with paper candles.

Each student wrote what he or she was thankful for on the candle and the decorated tree reflected those thoughts: good food, new friends, family, life, good health, freedom, education,

God, home, love.

The teachers placed a candle at the top with their own thoughts on what they were thankful for: their students.

When the basket of canned goods was brimming and the tree was trimmed, the students enjoyed punch and Thanksgiving cookies. The canned goods would later be delivered to the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center for distribution.

The special program last Wednesday was the culmination of an interdisciplinary unit on the real Thanksgiving.

Interdisciplinary units are a new part of the sixth-grade curriculum and part of what the teachers are so excited about, according to Barb Glover, one of the team of sixth-grade teachers at Clarkston Junior High. Wiladean Moore and Jerry Ostrom are the others.

"Each interdisciplinary unit (covering science, English and social studies) is on one theme," Glover explains. "The first one was on the Constitution, the second one on becoming a better student (learning skills needed such as outlining, organizing and note taking) and this last one was on the real Thanksgiving."

"It's fantastic. We are delighted with the way things are going. It's been a very smooth transition for the students."

Lee Brown

The units, which the team of teachers prepare themselves, give them a chance to expose the sixth-graders to the different areas of study than their regular curriculum and to do it with a team-teaching effort.

The regular curriculum itself is a little different for sixth-graders at the junior high this year. They have different teachers for social studies (Glover), language arts (Moore) and science (Ostrom).

In the afternoons they have "home base" class, with the same teacher for reading and math, but they are still able to go to the other teachers for help when needed, Glover says.

"They have the best of both worlds," she says. "They have the junior high atmosphere but the smallness and warmth of self-contained classes."

"It is so much easier for the students," she says. "It eases them into the junior high level."

"They have the best of both worlds. They have the junior high atmosphere but the smallness and warmth of self-contained classes."

Barb Glover

Glover is as happy with the new system as the students are, saying, "I love it. I wake up in the morning smiling and go to bed exhausted, but still smiling!"

Her feelings are echoed by teachers at Sashabaw Junior High School, where other first-year sixth grade classes are taught. (This year, all but Bailey Lake and Andersonville elementary schools are involved in the new program and next year all sixth grades will be incorporated into the junior high level.)

"It's fantastic," says Lee Brown, one of the sixth grade teachers at Sashabaw. "We are delighted with the way things are going. It's been a very smooth transition for the students."

Sashabaw has the same types of programs as Clarkston Junior High, but has more students and two teams of sixth-grade teachers.

In addition to Brown, team leader on one team, there is John Matheus and Tim Hewelt. The other team includes Tom Brown, leader; Jan Mack; and Jim Sanford.

SIXTH-GRADERS at Clarkston Junior High School culminate a study of Thanksgiving by decorating a Thanksgiving tree with candles and donating canned goods.

God rest ye merry, gentlemen

God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen is another of the traditional carols for which no author is known. It has been a favorite of carolers from the times of the minstrels of old England until present day. Since neither the words nor music can be traced to an individual it is surmised that many have added their own flair to the song throughout the centuries.

Joy to the World

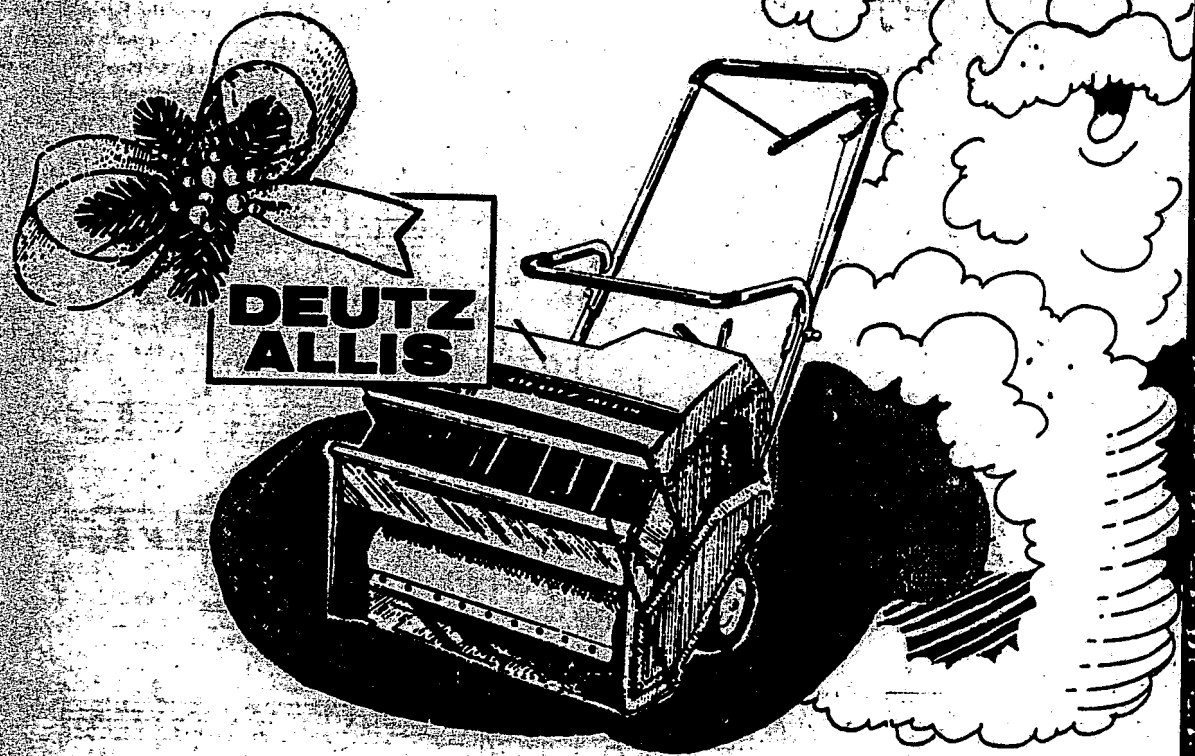

Joy to the World was first sung in England where the father of hymns, Isaac Watts, wrote the words. The music it was originally sung to was written by Edward Hodges. But later, an American musician, Lowell Mason, revamped the old carol and put it to the music here by the composer, Handel. Joy to the World dates back to 1719 when it was first published.

The First Noel

The First Noel is one of the oldest and most mysterious of our carols. No record is known of its origin. Sir John Stainer harmonized this version from the many renditions of his day. The song is not in keeping with scripture: the shepherds didn't see the star. But the music and words of this old song remind us all of the wonder of the season.

What Child Is This?

The words What Child Is This are sung to the old English tune "Greensleeves" which was popular before the time of Queen Elizabeth. It was one of the best-liked tunes of its day and Shakespeare mentions it twice in "The Merry Wives of Windsor." The present words about the Christ Child were written by William C. Dix during the reign of Queen Victoria.

HARK! THE HERALD ANGELS SING

Written in 1730, the words to this song were inspired by the pealing of the church bells on Christmas morning. Charles Wesley was to become one of the most famous protestant hymn writers. However it was not set to music until 1840 when Dr. Cummings of Waltham Abbey fitted it to this tune by Mendelssohn. It was published as such in 1856.

Away in a manger

This song has often been attributed to Martin Luther, although it is not confirmed that he did write it. But it does come down to us from that era, sung to the tune of a German Folk-song. It has been a favorite all these years of little children everywhere with a tune that is easy to sing and a lullaby message enjoyed by all ages.

O Come, All Ye Faithful

O Come, All Ye Faithful was originally sung in Latin and didn't become popular until after the English translation in 1841 by Frederick Oakeley. The music is usually credited to John Reading, an English organist at Winchester during the later half of the 17th century.

It came upon the midnight clear

This is another of our American born carols. A Unitarian minister from Boston, Edmund H. Sears wrote the poem which was later set to music by his friend, Richard S. Willis. The real Christmas message rings out to ages in this beautiful carol written in 1849: "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

We Three Kings is an American original. The carol has been with us over one hundred years and has become one of the most well known of all carols. Written in 1857 by John Hopkins, We Three Kings tells the story of The Three Wise Men of the Orient. These are the gifts they brought to the Christ Child, each having its special meaning.

Oh Little Town OF BETHLEHEM

Inspired by his visit to the Holy Land, Phillips Brooks wrote this hymn for his Sunday School Class in 1868. He was rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity in Philadelphia at the time and asked the organist, Lewis Redner to set it to music. Redner says the melody came to him in a dream on Christmas Eve and that he barely had time to finish the music for the services the next day.

I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day

Written in 1864 by Henry W. Longfellow, these words were later set to this tune by J. Baptiste Calkin. The last four bars come from an old "amen." Samuel Longfellow was better known than his brother as a writer of religious poetry, but this carol, one of the most famous, is attributed to Henry.

Angels, from the Realms of Glory

Angels, from the Realms of Glory dates back to December 24, 1816. It is attributed to James Montgomery and first appeared in a paper he edited. It was included in one of the Church of England's first hymnbooks and has been widely known in both England and America. It was formerly sung to the tune of an old French carol but is more widely known at present with the music which accompanies it here.

WILLIAM C. DIX, 1861

Arr. from CONRAD KOCHER, 1838

1. As with glad-ness men of old Did the guid-ing star he hold;
2. As with joy-ous steps they sped To that low-ly man-ger bed,
3. As they of-fered gifts most rare, At that man-ger rude and bare,
4. Ho-ly Je-sus, ev-'ry day Keep us in the nar-row way;

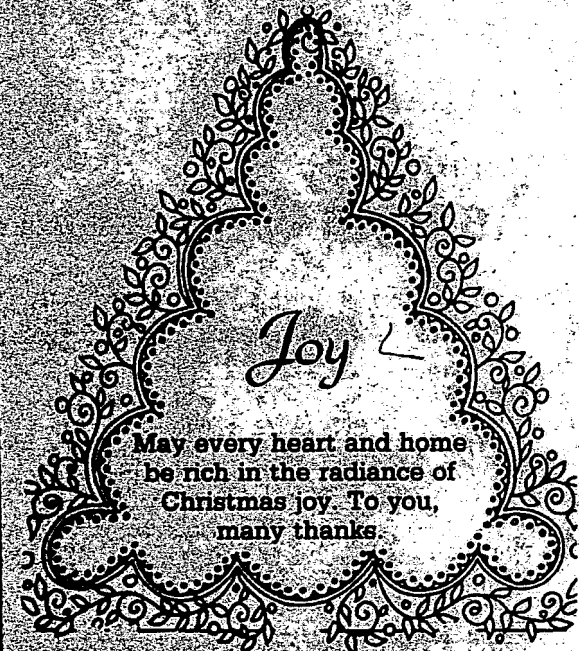

As with joy they hailed its light, Lead-ing on-ward beam-ing bright;
There to bend the knee be-fore Him whom heav'n and earth a-dore,
So may we with ho-ly joy, Pure and free from sin's al-loy,
And, when earth-ly things are past, Bring our ran-somed souls at last

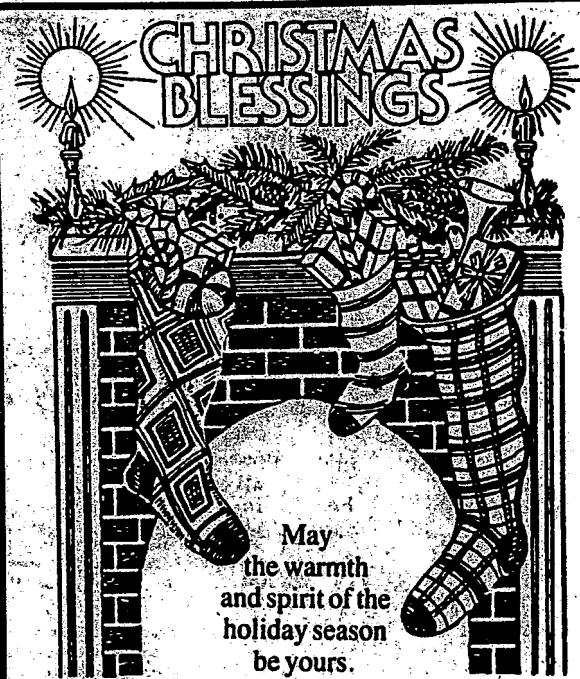

So, most gra-cious Lord, may we Ev-er-more be led to thee.
So may we with will-ing feet Ev-er seek thy mer-cy-seat.
All our cost-liest treas-ures bring, Christ, to thee our heav'n-ly King.
Where they need no star to guide, Where no clouds thy glo-ry hide. A-men.

Good King Wenceslas

This is a song about a king who was really a duke. Duke Wenceslas, the Holy ruler of Bohemia was known widely for his good deeds and kindness to the poor and for his liberality at the Feast of St. Stephen celebrated on December 26. This is another of the carols whose author remains a mystery, but the Duke dates back to the 10th century, so we know at least that the song has been around for centuries.

The Old, Old Carols

Carols have been written for all seasons of the year, but those sung at Christmas time have become so well known that generally, when we speak of carols, we mean Christmas carols. Many of our oldest carols have no known history. Even before the Christian Era, songs of this type were sung. They are the expressions of happiness of some forgotten person. Saint Francis of Assisi is said to be one of the first to make the singing of Christmas carols popular by having the story of the first Christmas enacted and accompanied by a sermon and singing.

Christmas songs became even better known through the mystery plays which dramatized scenes from the Bible. At first the songs were sung between acts, and later were woven into the plays themselves.

For many years a part of the holiday season was the singing of Christmas carols by groups of people going about from house to house. The stern Puritans forbade the singing of these happy songs, but anything so loved by the people could not die. The carols were remembered and taught to the children. In the nineteenth century carols became popular again, and the custom of community singing of Christmas carols has grown in popularity. Many fine new carols have been written, but the best loved are those that have come down to us through the centuries.

Tempting Holiday Coasts

GOLDEN EGGNOG

- 4 eggs, separated
- 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar, divided
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups mashed bananas (about 4 medium)
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 3 cups milk
- 1 cup half-and-half or light cream
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 cup light rum

In large mixing bowl beat egg yolks, 2 tablespoons sugar and salt until light. Beat in mashed bananas, vanilla, milk, half-and-half and nutmeg. Stir in rum. Chill. In small bowl beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Fold beaten egg whites into banana mixture; refrigerate until ready to serve. Sprinkle with additional nutmeg. Makes twelve 1/2-cup servings.

DANISH WARM WINE PUNCH

- 3 sticks cinnamon
- 20 whole cloves
- 1 cup water
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup slivered almonds
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 half-gallon burgundy wine
- 1 bottle (4/5 quart) port wine
- 1 cup light rum
- 1 cup akvavit or brandy
- Thinly sliced oranges for garnish

In small saucepan combine cinnamon sticks, cloves and water. Cover and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Strain and discard spices. In large saucepan combine spiced water with all remaining ingredients. Heat over medium heat but do not boil. Serve in heat proof glasses and garnish with orange slices. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

HOT SPICED PINEAPPLE CIDER

- 1 can (46 ounces) pineapple juice
- 3 quarts apple juice
- 3 cinnamon sticks
- 10 to 20 whole cloves
- 1 apple, sliced

In large saucepan warm pineapple and apple juices. Add cinnamon sticks. Put cloves into apple slices and add to juices. Simmer on low heat 20 to 30 minutes. Cover. Let stand 8 to 10 hours or overnight. Heat again to serve. Garnish with apple slices, if desired. Makes 1 gallon.

MULLED WINE

- 1 1/4 cups light corn syrup
- 1 cup water
- 6 whole cloves
- 3 whole allspice berries
- 1 stick cinnamon
- 2 cups dry red wine
- 1 cup fresh orange juice
- 1/2 cup fresh lemon juice

In saucepan combine corn syrup, water and spices. Heat to boiling; stirring constantly. Boil 10 minutes. Let stand one hour; strain. Combine syrup mixture, wine, orange and lemon juices and heat until hot. Makes about four 1/2-cup servings.

SPICED APPLE GROG

- 3 cups boiling water
- 8 four-sided tea bags
- 3 cups apple juice or cider
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 8 whole cloves
- 1 cinnamon stick, broken
- 1/2 cup rum, optional
- Apple wedges for garnish (optional)

In tea pot pour boiling water over tea bags; cover and brew 5 minutes. Remove tea bags. In large saucepan combine apple juice, sugar, cloves and cinnamon. Bring to boil, stirring occasionally, then simmer 5 minutes. Remove spices and stir in tea and rum. Serve in cups or mugs and garnish, if desired, with apple wedges. Makes 10 servings.

MOCHA GROG

- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 can (14 ounces) sweetened condensed milk
- 4 cups water
- 1 1/2 cups strong coffee
- 1/2 cup brandy
- 1/4 cup light rum
- Cinnamon sticks and grated nutmeg for garnish

In 3-quart saucepan combine cocoa, cinnamon and salt. Add sweetened condensed milk and mix until smooth. Over medium heat stir in water, coffee, brandy and rum. Heat thoroughly but do not boil. Garnish with cinnamon sticks and grated nutmeg. Makes 7 cups.

FLOATING ALMOND FANTASY

- 6 cups boiling water
- 8 four-sided tea bags
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- Sweetened whipped cream
- Silvered toasted almonds

In teapot pour boiling water over tea bags; cover and brew 5 minutes. Remove tea bags; stir in sugar and almond extract. Serve in cups or mugs topped with whipped cream and almonds. Makes 10 servings.

COCONUT RUM EGGNOG

- 6 eggs, separated
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar, divided
- 2 cups heavy cream
- 2 cups milk
- 2 cups coconut rum liqueur
- Nutmeg

In large mixing bowl beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in 1/4 cup sugar until stiff, glossy peaks form. Using same beater and small mixing bowl beat egg yolks with remaining 2 tablespoons sugar until mixture is thick and creamy, about 5 minutes. Fold yolks into beaten whites. Stir in cream and milk. Add coconut rum liqueur. Chill thoroughly. Stir well. Pour into punch bowl and sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes 10 cups, 20 servings.

Warm wishes for a happy holiday season and a healthy prosperous New Year!

Gifts & Candies

HARD SAUCE-FILLED PRUNES

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- About 3 dozen pitted prunes
- Sliced, natural (unblanched) almonds

In small bowl of mixer, cream butter until light and fluffy. Gradually beat in confectioners' sugar until smooth. Beat in vanilla; chill. Form into about 3 dozen small balls; set aside. With thumb and fingers, shape prunes into small cups. Fill with hard sauce balls. Garnish with almonds. Serve in small paper baking cups if desired. Makes about 3 dozen prunes.

MINCEMEAT-CARROT RELISH

- 2 cups shredded carrots
- 1 1/2 cups ready-to-use mincemeat
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion

In medium saucepan, over low heat, combine all ingredients. Mix well and cook 8 minutes or until well heated through. Pack into decorative jar and serve as an accompaniment to fowl. Makes about 2 cups relish.

INDIVIDUAL CAKE "PRESENTS"

- 1 frozen pound cake, thawed
- 2 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar
- 3 to 4 tablespoons milk
- 1 tablespoon butter, softened
- Assorted food colorings
- Decorating icing in tubes or cans

Cut off ends and round top of pound cake to form rectangle; cut into 8 blocks. Make frosting by stirring together sugar, milk and butter; blend until smooth. (Use commercially prepared white frosting instead, if desired.) Divide frosting in half; color each portion as desired. Frost blocks; use decorating icing to make design of ribbon tied around a box, or, make Christmas tree, Santa head, wreath or other holiday designs. Makes 8 presents.

MARINATED FRUIT BALLS

- 4 dozen maraschino cherries, well drained
- 1 cup blended Canadian whiskey
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1/4 cup powdered cocoa
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1 pound confectioners' sugar
- Candy shot

In bowl combine cherries and liquor. Let stand at room temperature at least 2 days. Toss occasionally. In bowl combine butter, cocoa and corn syrup until smooth and well blended. Gradually blend in sugar until mixture leaves sides of bowl and forms ball. If necessary, drain cherries, reserving liquor for fruited punch. Roll about 1 tablespoon fondant around each cherry. Roll each candy in shot. Place on waxed-paper lined cookie sheet. Chill, then store in airtight container. Makes about 4 dozen candies.

SPICY WONDERS

- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 cup sherry cooking wine
- 1 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
- 2 teaspoons ground allspice
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 3/4 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup chopped dates
- Sugar Glaze (recipe follows)

In large mixer bowl, cream butter and sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time. Beat in sherry (batter will appear curdled). Combine flour, allspice, baking powder, baking soda; mix in creamed mixture. Fold in walnuts and dates. Drop dough by teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated 350° oven 10 minutes or until edges are brown. Cool on baking sheets 2 minutes. Place on wire racks. Spoon Sugar Glaze over each cookie. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

Sugar Glaze

Combine 2 cups powdered sugar with 1/4 cup milk and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract.

SPICED NIBBLES

- 4 cups rolled oats
- 1 can (4 ounces) shredded coconut
- 1/2 cup sesame seeds
- 1/2 cup shelled sunflower seeds
- 1/2 cup toasted wheat germ
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 cup chopped dried apricots

In large bowl combine oats, coconut, sesame seeds, sunflower seeds, wheat germ, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add honey and oil; mix well. Spread into two baking pans. Bake in preheated 350° oven 20 minutes or until golden, stirring occasionally. Cool. Stir in raisins and apricots. Store refrigerated in tightly covered containers. Makes 10 cups.

SPICED MOCHA MIX

- 1 cup powdered cocoa mix
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg

Combine above ingredients and spoon into decorative jars. Attach tags with these directions: "Into each cup place 5 heaping teaspoons spiced mocha mix. Stir in 1/4 cup boiling water or milk. Makes 1 cup."

CHOCOLATE PEANUT CLUSTERS

- 1 package (12 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 1 can (14 ounces) sweetened condensed milk
- 2 cups oven-toasted rice cereal
- 1 cup peanuts

In top of double boiler, melt chocolate pieces over boiling water; stir in sweetened condensed milk. Remove from heat; stir in cereal and peanuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed-paper lined baking sheets; chill 2 hours or until firm. Store at room temperature in loosely covered container. Makes about 2 pounds or 48 candies.

Easy Breads

BASIC BREAD MIX

- 9 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 1/4 cup double acting baking powder
- 2 cups vegetable shortening

Combine flour, salt and baking powder. Sift twice into large bowl. Cut in shortening with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Store in closed canister in cool place. Makes about 12 cups.

SOUR CREAM COFFEECAKE

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 3 teaspoons orange peel
- 2 cups sour cream
- 2 cups Basic Bread Mix
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts

Cream butter and sugar and add eggs, beating until fluffy. Fold in 2 teaspoons orange peel and 1 cup sour cream. Fold in Basic Bread Mix and raisins and mix only until flour is moistened. Pour into greased and floured 9-inch square pan or tube pan. Spread remaining sour cream over batter. Combine bread crumbs, sugar, nuts and 1 teaspoon orange peel and sprinkle on top. Bake in preheated 375° oven 50 to 55 minutes. Serve warm. Makes about 9 servings.

CRANBERRY BREAD

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup fresh cranberries
- 2 teaspoons grated orange peel
- 1/4 cup sour cream
- 2 cups Basic Bread Mix
- 1 cup raisins

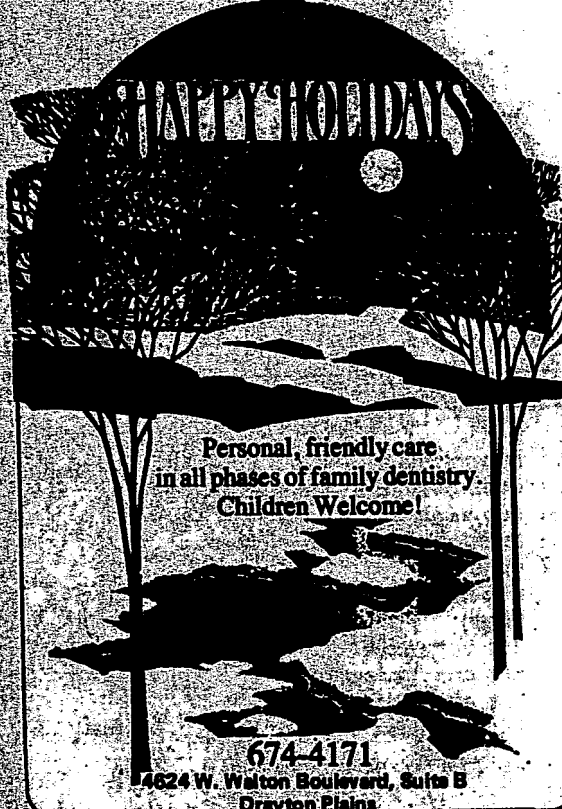

Cream butter and sugar and add eggs, beating until fluffy. Chop cranberries by hand or in blender and fold into creamed mixture along with orange peel and sour cream. Fold in Basic Bread Mix and raisins and mix only until flour is moistened. Pour into greased 9-cup Bundt pan. Bake in preheated 375° oven 45 to 50 minutes. Cut into squares and serve warm. Makes about 9 servings.

BANANA BREAD

- 1 cup raisins
- 2 cups Basic Bread Mix
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup mashed bananas (2 large)
- 1/4 cup buttermilk
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
- Lemon juice

In large bowl combine raisins, Basic Bread Mix, sugar and soda. In smaller bowl beat eggs; then add bananas and buttermilk and add to dry mixture, mixing only until well moistened. Fold in nuts. Pour into greased and floured 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in preheated 350° oven 55 to 60 minutes. Stir together 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar and enough lemon juice as needed. Drizzle evenly over warm bread. Cool completely before cutting. Makes 1 loaf.
