1987 good for building

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Overall building activity has remained steady in Independence Township in 1987, according to Beverly McElmeel, township building department director.

While new residential and commercial building have slowed compared to the record-breaking year of 1986, other activities have remained constant, she said.

"It was a good year," said McElmeel.

In 1987, the building department issued 598 structure permits, compared to 600 in 1986. Structure permits are necessary for additions, decks, garages, pools, barns, commercial improvements, new buildings and other projects, she said.

In 1987, 244 single-family residential permits were issued for $25.5 million worth of building; in 1986, 318 were issued for $31.2 million.

Apartments and condominium permits increased to 71 units in 1987 from 26 in 1986, mainly due to Lancaster Lakes Apartments on Dixie Highway, McElmeel said, adding Clarkston Bluffs on Dixie Highway and Newport Condominiums on Clarkston Road also contributed to growth in multiple units.

The number of electrical, plumbing and heating permits also increased from 1,395 in 1986 to 1,865 in 1987.

In commercial construction, four projects worth $1.3 million were well below the $4.6 million (five projects) in 1986, McElmeel said.

Commercial remodeling increased to nine permits in 1987 from seven in 1986.

McElmeel doesn't expect the same growth in 1988, but she does expect the building department to stay busy, she said.

"I think we'll see a drop again, but I don't think anything drastic. ... If it happened in 1987, 1988 won't be better," McElmeel said. "All in all, it will still be a good year."

Forecast for 1988 is mixed

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Mixed forecasts for 1988 were given by an automotive parts sales manager, a vice president of a brokerage firm and a college professor of economics; and two of the three expressed concern over a recession in 1989.

Ed Schreitmuller, an Independence Township resident and western sales manager for General Motors Parts, said 1988 would be OK.

"Parts and accessories sales generally follow economic trends," he said. "When people have money to spend, they tend to keep up the maintenance on their vehicles. When times are tough, they let things slide a bit. I believe 1988 will be one of those in-between years, neither really great nor really bad."

Clarkston resident Clarence Catallo expressed similar feelings about the fate of 1988.

This year the market will probably end up where it starts, with a few fluctuations during the year, said the executive vice president of E.F. Hutton (to be called Shearson Lehman and E.F. Hutton in January).

The government will probably continue to lower the interest rates to encourage the economy and offset a recession, said Catallo, adding the money should help the auto companies sell autos.

Because they're already diversifying, the companies should be less affected by difficult economic times than during the last recession, he said.

Catallo expects the Clarkston area to continue to grow.

"Clarkston should remain a bedroom community with some manufacturing. Growth is apparent as Birmingham becomes more trendy; ... Clarkston is the next obvious choice," he said.

All A's but not tops

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

Their daughter Rachel's perfect academic record at Clarkston High School indicates she could be class valedictorian, but due to inequities in the grade point averaging system she ranks seventh in the class, say James and Carolyn Young.

The Youngs took their problem to the Clarkston board of education's special meeting Monday night.

As a result of the discussion, which lasted about an hour and one-half, high school officials were asked to present possible methods to correct the inequities on Monday, Jan. 11, at the board's regular meeting. Senior class ranking is officially determined at the end of the first semester.

Two aspects of grade point averaging methods were vigorously questioned by the Youngs: bonus points granted to transfer students for classes not offered in Clarkston and the existing formula that can lower the grade point average of students who take more courses.

In their daughter's case, she took all available bonus classes and received A's in all of them, the Youngs said. She also took more than the required number of other classes and received A's (4.0 maximum) in all of those.

Because of the way the formula works, a higher number of 4.0s result in a lower grade point average when the average is figured to the thousandths.

The Youngs suggested rounding off the figures at hundredths.

"So what if you have five kids at 4-point? ... What's

Since the Ohio, Michigan and Illinois region of E.F. Hutton finished first in sales revenue and percentage, that indicates the area is still healthy, he said.

"Michigan remains the best place to do business in the USA," said Catallo.

Also, the stock market fall last year shouldn't affect the economy too much, he said.

"The effect of the Oct. 19 crash will be that people will watch their investments much more closely than ever before," he said. "People now realize that a bull market doesn't go on forever."

People are more concerned with safety than in the past, he said, adding two or three good opportunities to make money still exist.

"As long as interest rates are trending low, bonds, income vehicles and common stocks will be good buys -- if they were good buys before the crash," he said.

Ronald L. Tracy, chairperson of the economics department at Oakland University, Rochester, said 1988 brings a "precarious economy."

"Being an election year, I suspect the government is going to put a lot of effort into avoiding a recession," he said, adding it would probably be successful for a while.

The government will try to avoid a recession by increasing the money supply, he said.

Former president Jimmy Carter did it at the end of 1979 and the beginning of 1980--the shortest recession in history, Tracy said, and this administration will probably start earlier.

"We've been in a five-year recovery, which is a very long time," he said.

"I don't anticipate a strong economy," Tracy said. "I fear that... because of (the government's) efforts to avoid a recession, by the end of the year, we may see signs of inflation.... By 1989, we'll probably begin a recession"

The national unemployment rate and inflation rate will probably increase from their present rates of about 6 percent each, he said.

This area would be one of the first to feel the signs of a recession, said Tracy.

"Michigan tends historically to be affected more by a recession and helped more in prosperous times than other areas of the country," he said.

Michigan will probably see a bad 1988 because, in part, it will be a difficult year for the auto industry, he said.

"We like to think we're not affected by the auto industry" because they're diversifying, he said, adding the auto companies would still be hit hard.

Tracy said unemployment will probably increase in Michigan and the state government would begin complaining about revenue.

Oakland County tends to be a little better off than the state, which means that other counties will be worse, he said.

Oakland County is in good condition because it's

"I believe 1988 will be one of those in-between years, neither really great nor really bad."

Ed Schreitmuller

one of the fastest growing counties in the country and it has a high per capita income, he said.

"I think Oakland County will be going fairly comfortably this next year because of its demographics, where it's situated and all of the other good things that are happening.

"Even the last recession, Oakland County was better off than many areas in the state," he said.

"The recent growth in Oakland County, in the Rochester area and in Clarkston, is going to stabilize," he said.

House sales will stabilize and homes will be on the market longer, he added.

"Being an election year, I suspect the government is going to put a lot of effort into avoiding a recession."

Board seeks public opinion

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

A time schedule has been set for selecting a new superintendent for Clarkston schools and the board of education is seeking public opinion on the kind of person who should be hired for the job.

The input from residents and staff members of the district is wanted for the job-description brochure. Superintendent Milford Mason is retiring at the end of June.

The board agreed on the schedule following the presentation Monday night by Dr. William F. Young, spokesperson for the seven-member consortium of administrative placement directors of Michigan's seven state universities. The consortium's members are paid by the universities they represent with the school district responsible for paying expenses such as lodging, mileage and meals, if needed. Of the seven members, Young said four or five would meet to screen applications.

The goal is to have the brochure completed by Feb. 1, with a March 18 deadline for applications, the consortium screening on March 21 and interviews on the evening of March 25, all day Saturday and possibly Sunday.

Young told the board that he expects 35 to 50 applicants for the job and he recommended interviewing about six candidates.

"Clarkston is considered to be a good, solid community with a good, solid school system and I think you will have a lot of good, qualified people," Young said.

The consortium's responsibility will be to recommend the candidates they consider best for the job.

"Probably one of the biggest services we provide is maybe those applicants we tell you to stay away from," Young said.

They do the screening in one day, then the board of education conducts all face-to-face interviews.

The board's immediate task is to produce the job-description brochure listing qualifications, a description of the community, size of the district and size of the budget.

The board decided to encourage public participation in deciding what kind of leader the district needs.

They are sending letters to parent-teacher groups, booster clubs, township boards, village council and employee groups.

Individuals in the community who would like to offer their opinions may write to Janet Thomas, President, Clarkston Board of Education, 6389 Clarkston Rd., Clarkston, MI 48016.

The deadline for receiving opinions is Monday, Jan. 18.

Work and learn camp contract off

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The contract for a work and learn camp for youthful property offenders was canceled Dec. 29, but the state Department of Social Services is currently preparing specifications for a new camp, one-half the size of the original proposal.

The contract between DSS and International Field Studies, the camp management company hired to operate the first of three proposed youth camps, ended Dec. 29 when a suitable site for the camp was not procured.

According to Chuck Peller, spokesperson for DSS, bid specifications are currently being put together for a new, 50-bed unit. The original DSS proposal was for a 100-bed camp.

Specifications will be sent out soon to potential bidders, Peller said. There are no other major changes in the proposal to house 15- to 17-year-old property offenders primarily from the Wayne County area. Peller said it could be up to three months before bidding is complete.

The original contract between DSS and IFS met strong resistance from residents of North Oakland County when several north Oakland County sites were considered, including a Girl Scout camp in Rose Township near Davisburg.

The contract was also questioned by the Oakland County prosecutor's office because the county board of social services was not given adequate time to review the contract before it was signed.

As of now there are no sites selected. "That will be up to the successful bidder," Peller said.

People who go fishing have to deal with the fish that got away.

The same analogy exists for people out fishing for photographs.

The one that got away from me last weekend was a boy walking down a street carrying a skate board under one arm and a pair of skis under the other. Snow, of course, was on the ground but the street was perfectly clear.

He was wearing a blue jean jacket, apparently warm enough for a mild, sunny winter day.

I even thought of title for the photograph: A Boy for All Seasons.

The problem was that my fingers were frozen from taking photographs without gloves, the only way it works, just a few minutes before. More importantly, the roll of film in my camera was used up.

I did have an unused roll of film in my pocket, but if I had taken the time to put it in the camera he would have been long gone and to ask him to wait would have changed the moment.

So the boy for all seasons is just a memory in my mind, which isn't all bad.

After taking newspaper photographs for so many years, I've found myself thinking, in black and white, on many occasions that what I'm seeing would make a wonderful picture.

I don't keep a loaded camera hanging around my neck (or sitting on the shelf) at all times, although I've thought about trying such silliness for a while.

Mostly, I've thought about how wonderful it would be if I could take photographs without a camera -- send an image to Kodak paper with my mind, if you will.

Another of the mental photos I'm saving from this season happened when I was on my way to purchase batteries for my camera.

It was right after Christmas and because there was no snow, I was wondering if I could find someone trying out a new bicycle on the streets of Clarkston.

What I saw was a boy carrying a large, allegedly portable radio down the street. He seemed to be struggling under its weight a bit, something that would have been hard to capture on film but worth a try.

I imagined that the radio was a Christmas gift and the boy was on his way home from a friend's house where they had filled a room or two, or more, with the stereophonic sound of rock 'n' roll.

Of course, by the time I bought batteries, installed them and began to fish for photos, the boy with the boom box got away.

I soothed myself by noting the other reality of photography: If you take out a camera, things change.

The other reality, which I deal with constantly, is that if you take out a camera, things change.

That's another photographer's dream: to become invisible at will.

She was every high school cheerleader who ever made me feel inferior. Probably in her mid-30s, she still had that snappy, athletic, I'm-a-little-bit-of-a-superior-kind-of-a-person spring in her walk.

Trim, she was dressed in a tailored, navy blue skirt with white blouse, blazer jacket and pump heel shoes.

Her carefully-coiffed, shoulder-length hair bounced as she pranced, eyes forward, self-confident, past the other mothers.

They were a motley bunch, gathered by the dozens to see their children off to camp. Some were pregnant. Others had toddlers or babies in tow, their spare hands dragging their campers' over-stuffed sleeping bags at their sides.

Most looked sluggish and distracted, dressed in blue jeans and sneakers or beat up penny loafers, with sweat shirts barely covering their aging waistlines.

Not Miss Cheerleader. She was striding briskly toward her destination, a child's Samsonite suitcase clutched in her hand like a briefcase.

She had the poise of a professional woman and I wondered what she did outside the home. Accountant? Attorney? Anchorwoman?

Her clone of a daughter walked just a few feet behind her. Neither saw the people about them.

Attired in an old pair of corduroys and my favorite rumpled sweat jacket with the broken zipper and tears in the armpits, I took notice of the dreary November day.

A fine mist of rain fell from heavily clouded skies and the earth was soggy. To me, it didn't seem the right weather for camping, but few others appeared to care. Especially the eager kids, and Miss Cheerleader.

As I watched her stride by, I thought back to high school and that elite class of women: cheerleaders.

Specially chosen, pretty, popular, in control, datable, they all looked like they came from the same cookie cutter.

During assemblies they stood, six-deep, in the middle of the sneaker-and-sweat-smelly gymnasium, swinging their bosoms and hips and working the student body into a frenzy.

They jumped in the air, touched their toes with their legs straight at the knees without grimacing, then fell gracefully into the splits while chanting, "One, two, three, four. Who are we for? Boom-chicka-boom" and all that.

Miss Cheerleader brought me out of my pensive and slightly jealous mood quite unexpectedly. She was just about mid-line in my field of vision, maybe eight to 10 feet from me, when, suddenly, she turned a heel.

Down she went with a forceful splash, sprawling headlong - Samsonite, blazer jacket, hairdo and all - into a big, deep, mud puddle.

Boom-chicka-boom.

Jim's Jottings

I once told Elizabeth Baldwin that a mutual friend was going on a diet. She remarked, "That's no big deal, I'm on a constant diet."

Well, I'm not on a constant diet, but I diet about four days a week. The days depend on lingerings after golf in the summertime, and the numbers of parties in winter.

My daughter, Luan, has passed along a diet I think I can live with every day. I won't need to fast four days to lose the poundage added from a weekend of gluttony.

Called the Stress Diet, for breakfast you have a half grapefruit, one slice of whole wheat toast and 8 oz skim milk.

Lunch is a 4 oz lean broiled chicken breast, one cup steamed zucchini, one Oreo cookie, and herb tea.

This diet entitles you to a mid-afternoon snack. You eat the rest of the package of Oreos, a quart of Rocky Road ice cream, and a jar of hot fudge.

Dinner consists of a loaf of garlic bread, one large pepperoni and mushroom pizza, one large pitcher of beer, three Milky Way candy bars and an entire frozen cheesecake eaten directly from the freezer.

Luan, who is eating for two, also has diet tips with her diet.

1. If no one sees you eat it, it has no calories.
2. If you drink a diet soda with a candy bar they cancel each other out.

3. When eating with someone else, calories don't count if you both eat the same amount.

4. Food used for medicinal purposes NEVER counts such as: Hot chocolate, brandy, toast, and Sara Lee Cheese Cake.

5. If you fatten up everyone else around you, then you look thinner.

6. Movie related foods don't count because they are simply part of the entire entertainment experience and not a part of one's personal fuel, such as Milk Duds, popcorn with butter, Junior Mints and red licorice.

7. Cookie pieces contain no calories. The process of breakage causes caloric leakage.

We all have friends who: A. Avoid weighing themselves all together, B. Only use their doctor's scales, C. Weigh themselves once a month on Tuesdays, or D. Check their weight every day.

I go the latter school. Nude with toothbrush I check my weight every morning. Some Monday mornings I feel like I have to bend to see the numbers, at which times I blame it on not wearing my glasses to brush by. Trouble is my subconscious keeps telling me it's the waistline, not the eyes.

I think it's my lack of trust that keeps drawing me to the scales. I don't trust my own dieting. I don't trust the mirror, and I don't trust the scales.

Letters to the Editor

Plaque rejection

I have received a message that the Independence Township Board wishes to present me with a plaque for my years of service on the planning commission.

Not surprisingly, I think this presentation, the reasons behind it, and particularly its time, inappropriate.

A year ago I was dumped from the planning commission after five years as its chairman, while still in the midst of trying to bring some sense and order to the development of this community.

This plaque is an empty gesture and an insult meant to ease some consciences and pave the way for diluting the planning commission into a developer's doormat.

It is time that coming to grips with the very real problems that face this community becomes more important than perpetuating the power and control of those who offer nothing more than congenial personalities.

My service and commitment to this community will not end with a plaque. Put this plaque in storage until I have given up because it becomes inevitable that our community is transformed into a Troy-Livonia-Rochester look alike.

I have no use for this plaque and I hope I never do.

Gravel mine issues

Re: Property rights and mining; Salem gravel pit and Independence Township.

Property and the right to use it is not the problem. Use of the property as long as it does not inflict any injury to others is an obligation and the problem.

The owner and/or his agents (companies, corporations, etc.) have the right but also the obligations in the use of their property. The (local) government is charged to enforce the obligations and to protect the rights of others.

All injuries to others (i.e., noise, dust, wear and tear, debris, property value, health and safety hazards, contamination, water levels, environmental protection, etc., to name a few) should be the legal and moral responsibility of the owner.

The enforcement of these should be the legal and moral responsibility of the government. If both owner and government live up to their obligations, there would be no problems—but have they?

Perhaps the government should take more steps to enforce obligations and ensure the rights of others at this time.

By revising ordinances and consent judgments, it may allow easier enforcement, quicker remedies and adequate protection/restoration of others' rights.

Next, the issues of expanding and use of property beyond one owner and across public rights of way (the road) are in question. The issues should be dealt with on separate and individual bases. Separate rights and obligations should be set forth for each.

The existing property and use had been scheduled for completion and restoration at least 10 years ago, but is still being used.

The expansion would not only add to this operation but extend the restoration and use indefinitely, based on past history and performance. The completion and restoration of the existing property and use should be performed, as previous consent judgments outlined, as a separate issue.

The "expansion" should be dealt with as a new and separate issue bound by rights and obligations newly ordained.

For the government to say "no" to the use of the property could easily end in a legal-losing battle.

For the government to separate and deal with the rights individually and to more adequately enforce obligations is a better solution.

1 minute too late

We (my wife and I) checked out a movie tape on Friday, 12/4/87 and returned it one day later, plus one minute, and were charged a full extra day! Let us explain.

Our friendly neighborhood store rents video tapes. When a tape is checked out, it is stated that it must be returned the next day by 6 p.m.

Despite a diligent effort on our part, we entered the store on the required day at 6:01 p.m. with tape in hand. The time was per their clock directly above the check-out counter.

Since there were four or five customers lined up at the check-out counter, we proceeded to survey the tapes with the intent of renting another.

This only took four or five minutes, since the selection is rather small. When we actually did get to the counter, we were pronounced late on the returned tape and told that the extra day must be assessed despite any persuasion on our part and no discretion whatsoever on their part.

We were late and we must pay! We paid, but needless to say, the newly selected tape was left on the counter.

So, tape renters, beware of this not so friendly neighborhood store.

'If it Fitz ...'

Careful in the kitchen

Jim Fitzgerald

A few days before Christmas, my wife brought home an orphan. She was so proud. "It's the first time I felt I was able to do it," she said happily.

She discovered the orphan at the supermarket check-out counter, leaning against a display of newspapers. She knew she was dealing with an orphan because they didn't meet at the produce counter.

"It was a bargain - only 69 cents," she said. The orphan was a package of four green peppers.

It was several years ago that my wife first told me how orphans are made at the supermarket. I'd overheard her tell a friend about asking assistance from an A&P clerk "who was busy picking up orphans." Usually I stay out of such kitchen-based conversations for fear any interest I show might be misinterpreted as a desire to take part in some phase of the food-shopping-cooking operation.

A MAN CAN'T be too careful. For example, a Snickers bar had fallen to the bottom of the icebox where I couldn't get it by simply reaching in and grabbing - the usual extent of my visible knowledge about how to feed myself at home. (Tip: for men my age determined to avoid kitchen service, it's a good idea to say "icebox" instead of "refrigerator." This conveys the impression you shouldn't be trusted within 20 feet of modern kitchen appliances for fear you will use the electric can opener to squeeze an orange all over the floor. Another good idea is to ask your wife how to get Channel 7 on the microwave.)

So I slid the vegetable container out of the bottom shelf of the icebox so I could reach the Snickers, and then neatly returned the container to where it belonged. It was a foolish move because my wife had sneaked into the kitchen to do her favorite thing - monitor my candy consumption - and she watched with wonder as I displayed some knowledge of how to operate an icebox.

"Look at what you did!" she exclaimed. "I had no idea you knew how to remove the vegetable container. I'm so proud of you."

She was so proud she phoned both our daughters to give them the startling news about their father's progress in the kitchen. Hell hath no sarcasm like that of a woman who loves Snickers bars but can't eat them without gaining weight, and her husband can.

ANYWAY, NOW THAT my wife knows I know how to remove the vegetable container, she may expect even more from our relationship, kitchen-wise. She may stop taking me seriously when I put the card in the front window that tells the iceman whether to carry in 25 or 50 pounds for the ice box.

Which explains why I hesitated to ask my wife why an A&P clerk was picking up orphans. She might have suggested I go grocery shopping to see for myself, which is something I don't want to do unless Hess & Son Groceries reopens in Port Huron. I used to shop there for my mother by handing a Hess her list, and he quickly handed me a bag of what she ordered. Charge it, and goodbye.

There were no checkout lines, and the Hesses killed chickens in their basement, after purchase, fresh from the farm, instead of having them shipped in from chicken factories where they lived in chicken-skintight cubicles instead of barnyards. Such marvelous grocery stores will return about the same time the iceman cometh.

But there might have been a column in supermarket adoptions of children whose mothers turned them in with their coupons. So I asked the question, and my wife explained that supermarket orphans are items removed from their proper shelf by customers who later decide they don't want them. So they abandon them on any old improper shelf, where they remain until collected by a clerk.

Or until adopted by a customer. My wife was so happy to give a home to those four green peppers that I couldn't believe she served them for dinner that night. I wouldn't have eaten mine, except it was stuffed with hamburger.

Our want ads blanket over 31,000 homes like a soft summer rain. 625-3370

Michigan Winter

By J. Johnson

The sun so bright that it squints your eyes
The sky of the clearest blue
The crunch of frost, mittens lost
Icicles of every hue

Blinding rays off virgin snow
No glasses dark enough
A footstep squeaks, children's shrieks
Hockey games too rough

Bundled bodies, puffs of breath
Careful steps on ice
Rosy cheeks, anxious weeks
Michigan winter's nice.

Careful not to wish away
Your life, not a single day
Winter brings joy our way
Also strife, but not to stay
Soon trees will bud, flowers bloom
And robins merrily sing
As ice jams break and freighters take
Cargo in glorious spring

Daytime robberies are foiled by actions of alert homeowners

In separate instances Monday, criminals broke into two occupied residences during the daytime in Independence Township, and the homeowners and Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) canine unit chased the suspects.

About 9:50 a.m. Jan. 4, two teens walked into a Waterford Road home and surprised the homeowner, who was sleeping in the bedroom, according to the OCSD report.

The resident chased the boys from the home and through the neighborhood, south of Pelton Road, according to police.

The OCSD canine unit tracked the suspects for an hour and neighbors helped in the search, but the dogs lost the trail after distractions of snowmobiles, cars, people and other dogs, according to the police report.

The about 15-year-old male suspects were described as follows: one with white pants, long gray overcoat and scarf, about 5-foot-9; one with jean clothes, about 5-foot-9.

About 11 a.m. Monday, a Clarkston Road homeowner heard glass breaking and found a young male who had allegedly broken the window and entered, according to OCSD reports.

The homeowner grabbed a baseball bat and chased the suspect back through the window, where another suspect was standing. The homeowner followed them through the window and chased them down the road.

When OCSD deputies arrived, they caught and arrested the 18-year-old suspect who had been outside the house, according to police reports. The deputies tracked the other suspect, about 20 years old, for about an hour with no success.

Police confiscated the vehicle the suspects had used.

The name of the arrested suspect was withheld until he is charged at the 52nd District Court.

The homeowner suffered a cut hand from the broken glass window and the escaped suspect is probably injured, too, according to the OCSD report.

Anyone with information about either incident should contact the OCSD at 858-4950.

Health center remains in planning stage

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Construction of the proposed Clarkston Health Care Center (CHCC) is to begin this spring, said pediatrician James O'Neill, M.D., a developer of the project. "We're still planning it; we're still going to build," he said, of the project to be located between Dixie Highway, M-15 and Hidden Lane, Independence Township.

O'Neill said he expects to announce an agreement soon to operate the proposed health center in conjunction with a major local hospital group.

In June 1987, the planning commission granted a request for a planned unit development (PUD) for the 2.54-acre parcel. A PUD allows different uses on one parcel, which can be developed in phases.

The medical facility is to be comprised of a new

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Jan. 6, 1988 9
80,000-square-foot building. O'Neill's present building, the Clarkston Village Clinic/Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center building and the Clarkston Professional Plaza on M-15.

Designed by architect Thomas Gunn, the new building is to be constructed west of the existing buildings and is to share parking and one driveway to Dixie Highway and M-15.

The center is to offer 24-hour urgent care, outpatient surgery, the offices of area physicians and specialists' offices.

Also included in the plans are outpatient mental health services, day care for mentally and physically disabled adults, community education programs and a medical library.

The three-level building is to be constructed with sandy beige and soft red bricks and topped with cedar shingles.

Child with lighter causes house fire

A New Year's Day house fire in Independence Township was caused by a boy who was playing with a lighter under his bed, said Fire Chief Gar Wilson.

About 11:25 a.m. Jan. 1, the fire department received the call to the Whipple Lake Road home, said Wilson.

Apparently, the boy had accidentally started the fire with a lighter. He tried to extinguish the fire himself and when he couldn't, he awakened his father in the next room, said Wilson.

Firefighters spent one-half hour bringing the fire under control and spent two hours at the site, he said.

Three rooms were damaged in the house with possible damage to the roof, Wilson said, adding no monetary figures were available yet.

The boy suffered a slight burn on his arm, but it didn't require medical attention, said Wilson. No one else was injured.

Man breaks leg in building mishap

A Bellville resident broke his leg last week in a construction accident on Deerhill Drive in Independence Township.

Robert Reid, 29, was helping lay pipe in a trench when he walked too close to the Mack Sneaker, a pipe pulling machine, and a bolt in the machine caught his leg and pulled him into it, according to the report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

According to the police report, the bolt securing the bore bit was too long and not designed by the manufacturer of the machine.

Reid was treated and released at Pontiac General Hospital.

WHILE THE DOCK provides a memory of summer past, the first ice fishermen of winter test the conditions on Parke Lake on Sunday afternoon. The temperature was a balmy 28 degrees, but the ice was still questionable due to the late freeze, so no attempt was made to venture across the icy expanse to get their names. (Photo by Kathy Greenfield)

College life gets tough at Brown U.

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Freshmen usually have a tough time adjusting to college life. Doubly so, if they happen to be athletes.

But few can honestly say they have been through what a recent Clarkston High School graduate experienced when he enrolled at Brown University in Rhode Island.

Jim Hall, of Ortonville Road, Independence Township, graduated from CHS in 1987 and played football, basketball and track.

When he joined the freshman football team at the Ivy League school, he eagerly anticipated his first college season.

Little did he know what was in store.

"Brown is the only team in the Ivy League which uses its freshman team as tackling dummies," said Hall with a grin.

Therefore, the freshmen don't practice as a team and don't have very many set plays to use when they face other Ivy League freshman teams.

The results are almost predictable. Brown's freshman team finished with a 2-4 record.

"Our offense is run right, run left and our defense doesn't have a blitz," he said.

While lining up against guys who are a couple of years older, many pounds heavier and much more experienced doesn't sound like fun, the situation is a good learning experience, said Hall.

"You are going up against some of the best guys in the league every day," said Hall. "The practices were harder than the games. The games were like a day off."

Hall, who is a split end, and his freshman teammates may have taken quite a beating during the practices physically, but none of them were verbally taunted by the varsity players.

Everyone is treated like an equal, even the freshman football players, said Hall.

"They will knock you down, but then they will pick you up and buy you dinner," he said. "It's kind of what you would expect at that school."

A good freshman season for Hall, capped by winning the team's Most Valuable Player award, has left him brimming with confidence that he will crack the starting lineup next fall.

Besides, the guy starting in front of Hall will graduate this year.

Hall, who is thinking of majoring in business or economics, has not regretted attending the university in Providence, R.I.

Students who attend Brown had better get their priorities straightened out ahead of time. No athletic scholarships are offered and, according to Hall, athletes who attend the university are a unique breed.

"They look like the dumb jock type but then you see them in the classroom whipping out calculus formulas," said Hall. "It is very impressive to see."

THE FRESHMAN FOOTBALL program at Brown came as a total shock to Jim Hall.

Former Clarkston prep star continues to shine at OCC

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The desire to be the best they can be pushes the women's basketball team at Oakland Community College to new heights.

For an Independence Township resident on the team, the Lady Raiders work ethic might pay off with a free ride to Florida.

Just as the team pushes itself to be better and better, so does Michelle Taulbee.

The sophomore got off to a fast start this season and has scored in double figures several times as OCC has run up a 12-0 record before the Christmas break.

Her tough play and fine scoring touch has drawn attention from the women's basketball coach at the University of Central Florida.

Needless to say, when Taulbee found out the school was interested in her talents she was elated.

"I was surprised when my coach (Larry Hojna) told me they were looking at me," said Taulbee. "It seems like a definite possibility to me."

Fantastic weather is one advantage the southern school has over Bowling Green University in Ohio, another place Taulbee is considering.

Recently, Taulbee got a Christmas postcard from the coach telling of weather in the 80s. But the weather conditions take a back seat to the academic programs the schools offer, Taulbee said.

"Both schools have good art programs," she said. "That's what I am going to school for."

Taulbee still has plenty of time to decide since OCC's season is only half over. Besides, deciding which school is best for her is not a new problem.

When she graduated from Clarkston High School in 1986, she had the opportunity to play basketball or volleyball at several schools.

One offer came from Syracuse University in New York. The program was moving up to Division I status and needed more players.

The only drawback was lack of visits home for Taulbee. She found out the travel schedule allowed her only one trip home, at Christmas time, for the season.

She then decided a two-year stay at Oakland Community College would be better. As it has turned out, the decision was a good one.

Friends who went straight to a four-year college found themselves sitting on the bench watching the experienced players.

At OCC, Taulbee has become an integral part of a winning program.

"I'd rather play than sit any time," she said, "and OCC does play four-year colleges like Adrian and

Time out

Team bonding

Peter Auchter

My latest experience in the sporting world was an interesting one. At least it seemed like it was after a little help from my friends.

What did I do?

No not downhill skiing or parachuting or even wrestling... I went bowling.

Yes, the good old American sport of rolling a heavy object down a lane trying to make as much noise as possible. If you happen to hit a few of the pins as well, all the better.

Unfortunately, I wasn't lucky enough to hit very many pins during my first game. But I sure did cause a lot of racket.

The people I went bowling with couldn't contain their laughter whenever it was my turn, you see.

My bowling adventures took place on a recent Saturday night with my girlfriend and all her siblings and their spouses.

It was a battle royal between the men and the women. It was also five (women) against four (men). It was fun. (We won all three games.)

The evening provided me with an excellent chance to do some male bonding.

But the evening didn't start out too smoothly for me. In fact, it was downright embarrassing.

Since I hadn't been bowling in a couple of years, I knew I would be a little rusty. I got off to a worse start than the Lions.

My first ball raced down the lane straight as an arrow - right into the gutter.

Ditto for my next chance.

So what did I see on the big electronic scoreboard in front of me? A couple of goose eggs.

Not one to be disappointed quickly, I discounted my poor start on nerves and decided to come out from under the scoring table and try again.

Once again, I got the same results. That's when my teammates kicked in with a little advice.

"Don't look at the pins but at the marks on the floor," they said.

I tried keeping one eye on the marks on the floor and one on the pins. Using this unorthodox method, I finally knocked down a pin. That's right a single pin.

In the third frame, I finally started rolling and killed off four more pins to give me a grand total of five after three frames.

I finished my first game with a 64.

The rest of the night only got better for me. My second and third games were both over 100. I was proud of my accomplishment. I even bowled a few strikes.

The best part of the whole evening was when everybody else thought I was sandbagging it in the first game. It helped remove some of the embarrassment I felt.

It was a great evening. I felt just like one of the guys.

Ski for fun

Start the new year by resolving to stay fit and have fun at the "Family Affair Ski Tour."

This non-competitive event is scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 9 from noon to 4 p.m. at Independence Oaks County Park.

Power 96 FM Radio will co-sponsor the event with the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission.

"The Tour" provides a perfect opportunity for the whole family to try out new ski equipment and enjoy winter's beauty at one of the county's most scenic parks," said Dan Stencil, chief of park operations.

The Independence Oaks Nordic Ski Patrol will give presentations, demonstrations, waxing clinics and show a movie on cross-country skiing. Free group lessons for novice and intermediate skiers will also be offered.

Ski rentals will be available for a $6 fee including a non-refundable $1 damage insurance cost.

Each participant will receive a park ski patch and trail guide booklet. A complimentary beverage will be provided and complete food concessions will be available.

Other activities will include open skiing, ice skating, ice fishing and hiking. The Nature Center will also be open for tours and individual exploration.

The cost of the event is $7 for the family or $2 per person and includes the park vehicle entry fee.

A drawing for a complete set of cross-country ski equipment, compliments of The Ski Company Ltd. of Rochester, will be conducted at 4 p.m.

Independence Oaks County Park is on Sashabaw Road, two and a half miles north of I-75, near Clarkston.

For more information, call 858-0906 or 625-0877.

Group fears little

Some people enjoy the thrill of skiing so much they don't let their handicap get in the way of having fun.

Such is the case with the Optical Illusions group which skis at Pine Knob Ski Resort every Sunday morning during the winter season.

Blind men and women can participate in the program that allows them to experience the thrill of rushing down a snow-filled slope on a cool and crisp day.

Instructors ski with the blind and give them directions as they head down the hill together. For many, it makes for an unique experience, said assistant manager Rosemary Murray.

"It's such an eerie situation (going down a hill blind)," she said.

The program is in its 15th year and area residents are encouraged to join. Murray said nothing short of a weather emergency keeps the skiers off the slopes.

"It could be the most miserable morning and they still will be out there," she said.

For more information about the group, call Pine Knob at 625-0800.

Alma."

And play she does. Hojna doesn't allow his squad any time to get cocky or rest on their laurels. He runs them hard in practice to keep the team sharp and their goals in sight.

"We have a chance to become the first Michigan junior collegiate team to go undefeated," said Taulbee. "I'm pumped up about it."

Should OCC reach its lofty goal, Taulbee will have yet another fond memory from her days as a Lady Raider.

MICHELLE TAULBEE hopes a scholarship offer from Central Florida will come through and take her away from the nasty Michigan winters.

Hopes to play in college

Trade brightens goalie's future

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Christmas came early for an Independence Township hockey player this year.

Robert Laurie, a goalie for the floundering Bloomfield Jets of the North American Junior Hockey League, was traded Dec. 1 to the Detroit Junior Red Wings.

The move was an excellent one for Laurie, a senior at Clarkston High School.

While with the Jets, Laurie competed with two other goaltenders for time in the nets. On top of that, a weak defense didn't provide much protection once he did start a game.

His goals-against average ballooned, said Robin Nominelli a team spokesperson for the Jets, but it wasn't much of a surprise when the conditions he played under were known.

Sometimes Laurie was peppered with as many as 50 or 60 shots on goal per game.

With the Red Wings, things have taken an about-face for Laurie, of Reese Road, Independence Township.

"I'm real happy," said Laurie of the trade that brought him to the Red Wings. He is one of only two netminders on the Fraser-based squad, which translates into more playing time.

One such game was Jan. 2 against his old teammates, the Jets. This time Laurie was in the nets for the Red Wings as they bombed Bloomfield, 8-2.

While he was a Jet, losses as large as 15-1 were not unheard of. The team as a whole won just four games out of its first 25. The losses continued to pile up for the Jets.

During the past month since trading for Laurie, the Red Wings have lost only two games.

The Junior Red Wings overlooked the misleading statistics Laurie chalked up as a Jet when they traded a forward for the goalie.

ROB LAURIE will be seeing more playing time in the nets now that he has been traded to the Junior Red Wings of Fraser.

Laurie attended the United States Olympic Training Center Midget Camp in Marquette this summer. He also was the top-rated goalie in the Bantam League in 1985.

Obviously, the Junior Red Wings were hoping a change of scenery would do Laurie a world of good. So far the plan has worked.

"The Red Wings are real excited to have him," said Laurie's mother, Arlene. "He has played in all but two periods of the games they have played since they traded for him."

Another aspect of the team that pleased Laurie was the high level of coaching offered by the Junior Red Wings. For example, one of the team coaches runs a school just for goalies.

Since Laurie has aspirations of continuing his hockey career into college, that's good news.

"It's definitely a move in the right direction since he is really getting some good coaching," said Laurie's mother.

Springfield man bags big one

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A carnival-like experience surrounds the small city of Atlanta in Northern Michigan when elk hunting season rolls around.

A Springfield Township man had the opportunity to take part in the festivities in December when he garnered one of only 130 hunting permits from the state.

Lee Strine took full advantage of the situation - more than 38,000 hunters vie for the few permits each year - when he shot and killed a 545-pound bull with his 300 magnum Winchester on opening day.

"It was a nice once-in-a-lifetime experience," said Strine.

People in Atlanta set up headquarters downtown and all the elk shot are strung up for display. Strine's was the 11th one killed and he earned a small trophy topped by an elk.

Many sightseers in the area wanted to snap a shot of his kill and all the others hanging around town.

"There were a lot of people taking pictures," he said. "I could barely get out of the office (after bringing his kill in to be tagged)."

The special hunt, just for elk, was from Dec. 8 through 13.

Strine said the animals eat eight to 10 times the amount of greenery deers consume. Needless to say, farmers in the area don't appreciate their presence. Hunters can usually get permission to hunt on the farmers' land in hopes of thinning out the elk population.

Hunters who were lucky enough to capture a permit in the lottery system could choose from five areas around the Atlanta area. Strine was in Zone A, the one most officials figured the most elk would be found.

Most hunters who hit one before Strine hunted in a zone south of Atlanta.

Before the short season began, hunters had to attend a seminar in Atlanta. Representatives from the state Department of Natural Resources talked to the group and rules and regulations were discussed.

Hunter nabs 545-pound Elk while in Northern Michigan

Anyone caught killing more than one elk was up for a $1,000 fine, Strine said, and hunters were expected to track down any elk they shot.

Sometimes, though, that was easier said than done. When an elk is shot in an open field, the others in the herd will surround the wounded animal, said Strine.

Hitting just your elk becomes quite a challenge.

The work doesn't end once the animal is shot, either. Moving a 500 pound or more carcass without the aid of a crane can easily cause a few problems.

Strine began hunting in 1954, at age 17, with an uncle. That year he bagged an eight-point buck. He has been hooked on hunting ever since.

"That's what got me started," he said. "I just like to hunt."

Next fall, Strine will return to deer hunting since he will not be able to put his name in the lottery for an elk permit.

All those who picked up a permit this year are automatically disqualified the following season.

Board addresses ranking inequities

wrong with that? That means you have five kids that have performed fantastically. What's wrong with no ranking? What's wrong with Top 10?" James Young asked.

"Many children have worked like the dickens to receive the grades they have," he said.

Dr. Robert Burek, CHS principal, confirmed the Youngs' charge that some transfer students received bonus points for classes not offered at CHS.

Burek said the situation was discovered after the Youngs complained about inequities. Apparently, some counselors were granting the bonus points and others were not, he said.

Board member Stephen Werner questioned whether transfer students should be allowed to be valedictorians, but board member Mary Jane Chaustowich said it would be unfair to punish students because their parents had moved. Other board members voiced support for Chaustowich's opinion.

The board members did agree that bonus points should not be granted to transfer students for courses not offered at CHS.

They also agreed to consider removing all such bonus points from all transfer students who now have them on their records.

The district's current policy, instituted in September 1983, gives bonus points of .25 per semester for calculus, chemistry II, physics, economics, psychology, Spanish IV and French IV. Bonus points of .5 per semester are given for only one class, advanced placement English.

The board discussed the possibility of dropping bonus points altogether, but board members indicated that the solution was not desirable.

"I don't think the system's wrong, I just think it needs fine-tuning," said board member John Needham.

Finally, the board agreed that it would be best to think about what had been said and to consider ideas presented by high school officials for making the system more fair.

Superintendent Milford Mason suggested that the board consider that any action would create a reaction from other parents of other top academic students. "I wonder if you'll ever get out of the pit if you change it now," he said.

He also recommended that the valedictorian-salutatorian designations be dropped in favor of naming the top 10 students.

Before the Youngs departed, James Young told the board that the issue was a very emotional one for them. "I kept myself in check pretty good tonight," he said.

"You did a good job. Your daughter should be proud of you," said board President Janet Thomas.

Fire damages house

A chimney fire Monday spread to other parts of a house on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, causing about $35,000 damage.

About 6:30 p.m. Jan. 4, a resident of the Bringard family house, north of Clarkston Road, arrived home and saw the chimney fire, said Fire Chief Gar Wilson.

The rest of the family was inside the house and didn't know about the fire, Wilson said, adding the fire soon spread to the attic and roof.

It took the fire department about 20 minutes to get the fire under control and about 45 minutes to extinguish it completely.

The cold weather made the task difficult because the trucks and men were freezing, said Wilson. Firefighters had to cut the roof to extinguish the fire completely.

No one was injured.

Area students share interests at Interlochen

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two local students, who met last summer when they discovered they both attended Interlochen Arts Academy in northern Michigan, are dancing their way through high school.

Holly Hudson, 17, is the daughter of Julie Hudson of Independence Township and James S. Hudson Jr. of Waterford Township. Her new-found friend at Interlochen is Amy Poole, 16, daughter of David and Katherine Poole of Springfield Township.

Both girls attend the private, college prep boarding school that offers training in music, dance, theater, visual arts and creative writing. And both girls study dance.

Their school day begins at 8 a.m. with academic classes throughout the morning. From noon until 5:30 p.m. they study dance, including ballet, jazz, modern dance and composition, which is like a choreography class for modern.

Holly, a senior at Interlochen, took dancing as a child, but says her serious training started as a freshman. She attended Valley School, a private school in Grand Blanc, and began studying at Interlochen her sophomore year.

"I really love it," Holly says. "It's a challenge, a good way to express yourself, and also a good form of self-discipline."

After graduation, Holly is looking at colleges where she can focus her studies on modern dance and jazz, and hopes that will lead to a position with a professional dance company.

Amy's ambitions are to be part of a professional ballet company. She, too, began dancing as a little girl. Her serious training started in the seventh grade.

During her sophomore year, Amy studied at the National Academy of Art in Champaign, Ill., before attending Interlochen this year as a junior. Last summer she trained at the Rochester School of Ballet.

Holly spent six weeks of the summer studying with the American Dance Festival at Duke University, Durham, N.C. She had the opportunity to study with teachers from all the modern techniques as well as meet some of break at Holly's Independence Township home. Both girls study dance at the northern Michigan arts academy.

West Point brothers hail from township

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ron Conwell, 19, is a plebe. His brother, Dale Conwell, 22, is a firsty. The terms refer to their classes at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York.

The Conwells are residents of Meyers Road, Independence Township. Dale was the first to begin at West Point.

After he performed well on the Preliminary Scholastic Achievement Test, Dale received a lot of letters from colleges and universities, he said. West Point looked the best.

"Initially it was a free education," he said. "Other than that, my grandfather had served in the military; my dad had; my grandfather had. I figured I'd do that and kill two birds with one stone."

Ron, who went to Oakland University, Rochester, for a year before going to West Point, said he considered other schools in the beginning.

"At first I wanted to go to another university to keep my individuality," he said.

But he liked a lot of things about the academy: the prestige, the chance to serve his country.

"We go there to be an officer in the Army," he said. "If you don't want to be an officer, you're going for the wrong reason."

Dale, who is studying physics and engineering, explained the regimented way of life.

"The biggest factor would be simple discipline," he said.

He wakes up at 6 a.m., attends a 7:15 class and attends mandatory formation and mandatory breakfast. He has 20 credit hours a semester; plus, they wear

(See BROTHERS, Page 36)

MANY OTHER SIBLINGS attend West Point, say the Conwell brothers. Dale (left), a 1984 Springfield Christian Academy graduate, and Ron, a 1986 Clarkston High School graduate, also go to school with their cousin, R. J. Johnson of Georgia.

Army, 'Aussies' work together down under

BY STAFF SGT. RICHARD D. GLYNN

NORTH QUEENSLAND, Australia--Boomers, bully beef and billabongs may sound a bit odd to the average North American ear. But to Army 1st Lt. Michael B. Wells, it's an understandable lingo meaning male kangaroos, corned beef and a stagnant pool of water, all of which he experienced recently during a combined American-Australian Army military exercise.

Wells, 26, is the son of Gayle B. Wells, who lives on Juniper in Brandon Township with a Clarkston mailing address, and Frances C. Wilson of Earlton, N.Y.

Wells and some 800 fellow soldiers of the 25th Infantry Division (Light) from Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, beat the bush with their Australian army "mates" during the "Diamond Dollar" exercise last October.

The maneuvers, aimed at testing American and Australian "interoperability," or the ability to meld tactics, equipment and communications of two or more nations into a cohesive fighting force, offered the GIs a chance to fight alongside their "Aussie" counterparts against a guerrilla force in the primitive setting of northern Queensland.

"I'm the forward support platoon leader for the U.S. task force in the Diamond Dollar exercise," said Wells, a member of the 725th Maintenance Battalion at Schofield Barracks. "My small 14-man maintenance team provides vehicle and generator repair as well as a parts inventory for the American vehicles."

Queensland is a place of extremes, a mixed blessing for the soldiers training in this area, where they may eat dust and dodge wild boars in one place and swelter in humid tropical heat while watching out for crocodiles in another area. But it's the variety of the land, flora and fauna that makes this an ideal training site for both armies.

"So far, this exercise has been a learning experience," said Wells, a 1979 graduate of Waterford Mott

High School. He went on to earn a bachelor's degree from Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, before entering the Army.

"This is my first deployment off Hawaii and my first time away from North America," he said. "I've seen new landscapes and peoples. And even though the family separation is the most difficult part of this exercise, I've gained valuable knowledge about my job and about real war hardships and problems."

"What's the most interesting to me, however, is the first hand view of the Australian animals, specifically the marsupials, like koalas and kangaroos," he said.

Along with experiencing a new country, one that has had long cultural and historical links with America, the soldiers of the 25th Infantry Division were able to experience people as unique as a wombat or koala bear is to this continent--the Australians.

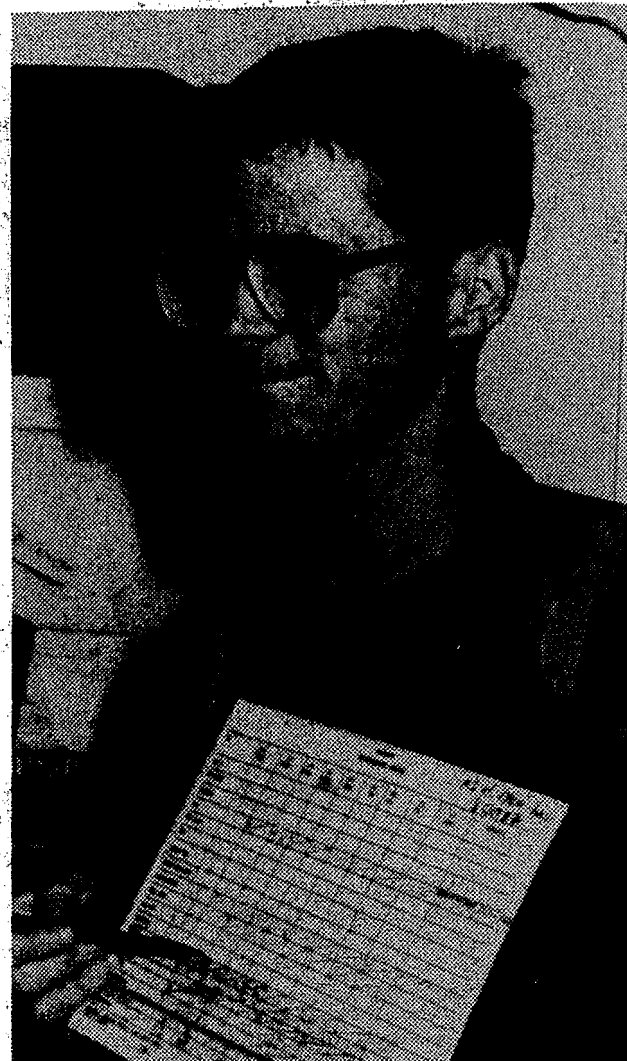

"The Australians are very friendly and likable," said Wells. "They have a great sense of humor, a trait which makes hardships in the bush bearable. They work extremely hard with little supervision and always take their responsibilities seriously. The Aussies also have an enjoyable accent."

While most soldiers say meeting and making friends with Australia's slouch-hatted soldiers during a three-week stint in the bush is a great experience, many look forward more to their five-day "R and R"--military talk for rest and recreation--in Townsville, one of Queensland's coastal resort cities facing Australia's Great Barrier Reef.

"I'm looking forward to some R and R time," Wells said. "I hope to spend most of my time shopping for gifts for my family, and hopefully, I'll get to visit a wildlife reserve while I'm in Townsville. I just enjoy being in a different country."

Wells and his wife, Cynthia, have two sons, Brian, 2, and Jason, 7 months.

The above story was provided by the U.S. Army and Air Force Hometown News Service.

Oh how a son beams like the sun
on the best of blue sky days.
And how the son and sun are obscured
by clouds of darkened greys.

Thank God for ears that listen to the things we have to say.
And thank God for patience to see us through hard times along the way.

By Bruce A. Stewart

Nobody there but people in white.
Friends who care soon out of sight.
Always in pain, waiting your turn.
Craving the youth your body once burned.

Hospital rooms change quickly into home.
No grass, no carpet, just a slab of stone.
Cold to the touch and meant to be.
Easy removing with a slow entry.

People soon forget you and leave you alone.
No cards, no wishes, no telephone.
Little respect in dying, less feelings of love.
Praying for a heaven and a god above.

I'm sorry it ended and I always knew that you deserved much more than the company of two.
I know you wanted never to die.
At peace I pray you will finally lie.

Bruce A. Stewart resides in Independence Township.

New arrivals

Art and Melinda Lincoln of Union Lake greeted the new year with twin girls born Jan. 4.

Andrea Lee and Alanda Elise were born at Botsford Hospital, Farmington. Andrea weighed 6 pounds and measured 19 1/2 inches long. Alanda, whose name is comprised of the first two letters of her grandparents' first names, weighed 6 pounds, 12 ounces and measured 21 inches long.

The girls have two brothers, Nicholas, 5, and Matthew, 2 1/2.

Their grandparents are Alice Lincoln of Union Lake and Dale and Ann Bratt of Clarkston.

Great-grandmother is Mrs. Lester Bratt of Minnesota.

Thomas James and Amy Elizabeth Beattie of Independence Township welcomed their first child into the world Dec. 20.

Thomas James Beattie II was born at Pontiac General Hospital. He weighed 6 pounds, 7 ounces and measured 19 inches long.

Grandparents are Robert and Doris Beattie of Clarkston and William and Arline Goerss of Fenton.

It's a boy for Mr. and Mrs. James (Jodi Allen) Norton of Nashville, Tenn.

Nicholas William was born Dec. 31. He weighed 7 pounds, 3 ounces and measured 19 inches long.

His grandparents are Roberta Allen of Clarkston and the late William Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Norton of Tennessee.

Great-grandmother is Jennie Wiechert of Clarkston.

Engagement

TURNBULL-HATFIELD: Bob and Marci Turnbull of Oakhill Road, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter Liz to Douglas Hatfield, son of Charles Hatfield of South Bend, Ind., and Diane Hatfield of Mishawaka, Ind. The bride-elect has an associate's degree in business from Ferris State College, Big Rapids, and is working toward an associate's degree in court reporting, also at Ferris. Her fiancé has a bachelor's degree in computer information systems from Ferris. He is employed by Crowe, Chizek and Co. of South Bend as a computer consultant. A June wedding is planned.

Engagement

OKROS-RYESON: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Okros of Deer Hill Drive, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter Michelle C. to Gregory Ryeson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ryeson of Buttercup Road, Independence Township. The bride-elect, a 1981 graduate of Clarkston High School, received a bachelor's degree from Oakland University, Rochester, in 1987. Her fiancé, a 1979 CHS graduate, is an owner of E.G. Nicks of West Bloomfield. An August wedding is planned.

Grad

Ruth Zawacki was graduated from Oakland University, Rochester, with a bachelor's degree in industrial hygiene.

A 1982 graduate of Clarkston High School, she is employed by Delisle Consulting of Kalamazoo. Her home address is on Greene Haven Drive, Independence Township.

Honors

Reed Swanson is among the 32 students from Methodist College, Fayetteville, N.C., selected for the 1988 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Selection was based on academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

His parents are Palmer and Gayle Swanson of Independence Township.

In service

Navy Ensign Peter Hooper was commissioned in his present rank upon completion of Aviation Officer Candidate School.

During the 13-week course at the Naval Air Station Pensacola, Fla., Hooper was prepared for future duties and responsibilities as a commissioned officer and to enter primary flight training.

A 1981 graduate of Clarkston High School and a 1986 graduate of Oakland University, Rochester, with a bachelor's degree, he joined the Navy in June, 1987.

What's Cooking?

Pat Young

Dieter's delight

The most common New Year's resolution I've heard is "I'm going to lose weight." After all the heavy holiday eating, it wouldn't hurt most of us to eat a little less.

Here's an easy beef recipe that only has 156 calories per serving. Combine it with a serving of rice and a tossed salad and you have the makings for a light winter repast.

BEEF BOURGUIGNON

- 3/4 pound lean beef (such as tenderloin)
- 2 teaspoons cooking oil
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup dry red wine
- 1/4 cup chicken broth
- 1/8 teaspoon dried, crushed oregano
- 1/8 teaspoon dried, crushed thyme
- 1 small bay leaf
- Salt and pepper
- 3 to 6 fresh mushrooms

Cut beef into 1/2-inch cubes. In a 2-quart saucepan, cook meat in hot oil until browned. Add onion and flour, stirring to coat. Add wine, chicken broth and seasonings.

Cover and cook over low heat 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 hours. Add mushrooms 5 minutes before end of cooking time. Remove bay leaf before serving. (If mixture seems too dry, add additional chicken broth during cooking.)

Keep home safe against thieves

Before leaving on vacation, it's vital to take precautions against burglary.

Elaine Glasser, Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service home economist, offers the following suggestions:

Halt mail and newspaper deliveries and have someone pick up free circulars laying outside the house.

Lower the sound of the telephone bell so the ring can't be heard outside.

Arrange to have the lawn mowed or the snow shoveled.

Put lights, radios and a television on automatic timers to make them turn on and off periodically while the house is vacant.

Inform local police and trustworthy neighbors of a planned absence.

Install a burglar alarm and check window and door locks.

Make an inventory of personal belongings before departing. Take photographs of precious or expensive items and store them in a bank vault.

For more information about home protection, the Insurance Information Institute is offering a free booklet, "How to Keep Your Family Burglar Unhappy." To receive a single copy, call toll free 1-800-221-4954.

uniforms. They have mandatory drills and intramurals. Everything is regulated, even their meals, he said. "There's a dietitian there, and she's a tyrant," he said.

Ron has special duties as a plebe in the four-class system made of plebes (freshmen), yearlings (sophomores), cows (juniors) and firsties (seniors).

He calls everyone in the upper classes "Sir," he marches 120 steps a minute everywhere he goes and he reads and memorizes the front page of the newspaper and the front page of the sports section every morning.

Every morning before breakfast, the upperclassmen quiz the plebes and they get a slug (a bad mark) if they fail to answer correctly.

As a plebe, Ron also must deliver laundry, mail and newspapers to the upper classmen.

"It does increase your memory. It all has a little bit of purpose behind it," he said, adding delivering laundry helps develop organizational skills.

Although they're in the same regiment, Dale doesn't pick on Ron too much, said Dale. The only time was ring weekend, a special ceremony for firsties.

Dale made Ron say the following: "Oh my God, sir, what a beautiful ring. What a crass mass of brass and glass. It must have cost you a fortune. May I touch it please, sir?"

They laugh about it now. It's all a part of the academy, said Ron.

"It was hard to adjust, at first," he said. "At Oakland, I jumped into my car and went to my classes or didn't go to class. Here, they control everything, even half my checking account.

"You get in there and days go by. And all of a sudden, you realize you haven't been by yourself in a month.

"A lot of people have a strange perception of West Point. They see the flashy uniforms and the marching. But nobody sees the inside, the daily grind. You have to struggle for time," Ron said.

The Conwells' parents are enthusiastic about their sons' experiences.

"We're proud," said their father, Walter. "It's not too many people who can say this... They're young. If war came, they'd most likely have to go anyway. At least now they're well-trained. What better training could they get?"

Their mother, Gayle, misses them.

"As a parent, there's a lot of pride in what they're doing, but there's a lot of loneliness, too," she said. "They don't get as much time home as other college students."

Ron, whose girlfriend also lives in Clarkston, agrees with his mother.

"That's really hard when you have to leave someone that long," he said. "If it weren't for family attachments, West Point would be simple. Because you miss everyone you left behind."

West Point is like any other college in some ways, said Dale.

"They do drink," he said. "It's a college as far as that's concerned. No class except first classmen are allowed to drink on the post."

And no alcohol at all is allowed in the barracks.

Almost no one uses other drugs and a urinalysis is done randomly, he said. When he was a cow, he was tested twice in two months.

Even marijuana is infrequently seen, said Dale.

"There's no room to tolerate something like that," he said.

"Because if you're leading men, you can't take a chance of that happening," said Ron.

Dance brings girls together

the professional dancers in companies performing at the festival. In six weeks, she attended 23 dance concerts.

The "grand finale" of the festival was the opportunity for students to perform on stage.

"It was the real highlight," Holly says. "The finale was choreographed by Ruby Shang, a well-known choreographer from the Julliard Music School in New York City."

Both girls have the opportunity to study with well-known visiting artists at Interlochen and both performed in the school's production of "The Nutcracker" in December.

Amy, who also danced "The Nutcracker" at the National Academy of Art, says the stage doesn't scare her anymore. In fact, it's almost routine. She attends Interlochen on a scholarship, as do about 45 percent of the nearly 450 students at the school.

Both Holly and Amy plan to try out for casting in Interlochen's spring touring production, which will have excerpts from a ballet as well as modern and jazz pieces. The production will be visiting fairly close to home for the girls, in Detroit and Farmington Hills.

Taking college prep classes all morning and dancing all afternoon doesn't leave the girls with a lot of spare time. And when they come home for holidays, they must practice the same strict eating habits which are enforced at the school. After all, dancers are very physically fit people.

Holly and Amy are working toward careers that most girls only dream of, and both say it's what they love best.

"It's hard to explain why I really enjoy it," Amy says. "It's just what I want to do."

Survey reveals millage's weak points

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

A telephone survey by the Clarkston Community School District indicates that the tax hike request on the October ballot was defeated mainly because residents believe their taxes are too high.

George White, principal of Pine Knob Elementary, served as chairman for the survey in which 355 randomly selected residents were called. Statistically, the number should provide a reliable indication of the opinions of the entire school district.

The survey "was helpful in quantifying some of the reasons why the millage might have failed, and that was the whole purpose behind it," said White.

The residents were called Nov. 18-20. The results were submitted to the school board and the communications committee as steps are taken toward the board's decision on whether or not to put the millage question on the ballot in June 1988, White said.

District voters defeated the request for 4.25 additional mills in June 1987 and October 1987. (4.25 mills are $4.25 for each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.)

White said he believes the community does not understand that as property values increase and more homes are built, the in-formula Clarkston school district does not receive more money.

As more money from increased assessment comes in, the state's portion of the formula increases so residents pay more of the expenditure and the state pays less.

White said the only way the district can continue to offer quality programs is to agree to support the schools.

"It isn't as though we're asking the community where people live to support schools," White said. "What we're challenging is to support schools completely."

Nine questions including the following were asked (percent or more):

Do you have a car? 96 percent.

Do they attend private or public schools? 96 percent.

Why do you think people voted "no" on the Oct. 27th millage? (Taxes too high, 34 percent; administrative costs too high, 23 percent; do not know, 15 percent; other, 15 percent.)

Why do you think people voted "yes" on the Oct. 27th millage? (Kids in schools, 49 percent; need money, 28 percent; need money was established, 25 percent.)

Where did you get your information about the millage proposal? (Clarkston News, 65 percent; word of mouth, 27 percent; school employees, 23 percent; Oakland Press, 23 percent; Reminder, 18 percent; Clarkston Connection, 13 percent; building newsletters, 12 percent; children, 12 percent.)

What source of information was most helpful? (Clarkston News, 45 percent; word of mouth, 21 percent; school employees, 15 percent.)

The principals, teachers, teacher aides and parent volunteers who made the telephone survey asked to indicate each person's reaction.

49.2 percent to 1.

Two thirds of the parents rely on The Clarkston News for millage news. Less than one-fifth get it from The Reminder. People turn to The News for news.

Everybody's Science

A sure cure for drunken peanuts

BY SEAN ADAMS

It's in bad taste for people to get drunk. But when peanuts get drunk, they just taste bad. Why? Scientists believe that high alcohol content may be one reason for off-flavors in peanuts.

Uncured peanuts produce alcohol and other compounds when exposed to temperatures below freezing or above 95 degrees F. Peanuts are sometimes exposed to sub-freezing temperatures immediately after they have been dug up and left in the field to begin drying.

Then, five to seven days later, they are moved to bins where they are dried in hot air. Extremely high or low temperatures during this critical time interfere with respiration, causing the peanuts to produce alcohol and other compounds.

Peanut inspectors cannot accurately measure alcohol levels and related off-flavors because they rely on a subjective test -- taste. So scientists with USDA's Agricultural Research Service in Raleigh, N.C., have developed an experimental meter to do the job more precisely.

"It's sort of like a breathalyzer test for drunk peanuts," says chemist Harold Pattee. "It helps separate good-tasting peanuts from bad-tasting ones. The good ones can be sold whole or made into peanut butter, while the bad-tasting ones can still be processed into oil and other products."

The Clarkson (Mich.) News Wed., Jan. 6, 1988 39

In laboratory tests, the meter works like this: About three ounces of peanuts are ground up in a blender for 10 seconds. A sensor inserted briefly into a hole at the top of the blender detects alcohol vapor given off by the peanuts, just as a smoke detector senses smoke.

The sensor causes a buzzer on the meter to go off when the alcohol level is high enough that peanuts would be unacceptable to a trained test panel, according to James W. Dickens, the agency agricultural engineer at Raleigh who designed the meter.

The meter is being tested in three of the top four peanut producing states -- Georgia, Texas and North Carolina. If it works, it could be useful to peanut producers, processors and inspectors.

At a cost of about $500, the meter would also be cheaper and more practical than chemical tests now being developed.

The above story was provided by the Agricultural Research Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Charter Township of Springfield

Notice

Second Reading

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE TOWNSHIP BOARD OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF SPRINGFIELD will hold a SECOND READING at their regular meeting on Thursday, January 14, 1988, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan. The 2ND READING will cover the following changes to the Zoning Ordinance #26:

Article XIV

*Delete Section 14.00, Front Setback Variations, and replace with the following.)

Section 14.00. Encumbering of Land Required to Satisfy Regulations. No portions of a lot or parcel used in connection with an existing or proposed building, structure, or use, and necessary for compliance with the area, height, bulk, density, placement, and related provisions of this Ordinance shall through sale or otherwise be used as part of the lot or parcel required in connection with any other building, structure, or use existing or intended to exist at the same time.

*Add the following paragraph to Section 14.01, Non-Conforming Uses.)

(8) Non-Conforming Lots of Record. When the owner of a non-conforming lot of record does not own and cannot reasonably acquire sufficient abutting land to enable him to conform to the requirements of this Ordinance relating to minimum lot area, minimum lot width, or both, such lots of record may be used by such owner as building sites provided that all other requirements of this Ordinance are met, and provided that not more than one dwelling unit shall occupy any lot except in conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance for required lot area for each dwelling unit.

*(Sections 14.02 - 14.04, Parking Requirements, remain unchanged.)

*Delete 14.05, Uses Not Otherwise Included Within a Specific Use District, and replace with the following.)

Section 14.05. Driveway Approaches.

(1) Driveway tapers and acceleration, deceleration, and passing lanes are considered necessary to ensure the safe movement of traffic.

(2) All uses or proposed uses which are subject to site plan review requirements as set forth in Section 16.07 of this Ordinance shall provide paved driveway tapers to provide access to and from paved or gravel roadways.

(3) Acceleration, deceleration, and passing lanes for driveway approaches entering on a public roadway may be required during the site plan review process as determined by the Township based upon the following considerations:

(a) Traffic volumes, accident data, horizontal and vertical alignment, and sight distance conditions of the public roadway upon which a driveway is entering.

(b) Other unique site conditions such as land use, topography, or other national conditions.

(c) Traffic generated by the proposed use.

(4) Driveway tapers and acceleration, deceleration, and passing lanes shall be designed and constructed in accordance with the standards of the Oakland County Road Commission for roadways under their jurisdiction and the Michigan Department of Transportation for roadways under their jurisdiction.

*(Section 14.06, Landscaping and Greenbelts, remains unchanged.)

*(Section 14.07, Signs, remains unchanged.)

*Delete Sections 14.08 - 14.12 and replace with the following.)

Section 14.08. Essential Services. Essential services shall be permitted as authorized and regulated by law and other ordinances of the Township. The construction of buildings associated with essential services shall be subject to the provisions of Section 16.07, Site Plan Review. Otherwise, the construction, maintenance, and alteration of essential services shall be exempt from the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 14.09. Public Communication and Public Utility Microwave Towers. Public communication and public utility microwave towers and their attendant facilities shall be permitted in all districts subject to the following provisions:

(a) The proposed use shall be subject to Section 16.07, Site Plan Review.

(b) Said use shall be located on the site so that the base of the tower is a minimum distance from all property boundaries equal to the height of the tower.

Section 14.10. Exception to Height Limits. No building or structure shall be erected, converted, enlarged or structurally altered to exceed the height limit hereinafter established for the district in which the building is located. Exceptions to height limits shall be subject to the following provisions:

(a) Roof structures for the housing of elevators, stairways, tanks, ventilating fans, or similar equipment required to operate and maintain the building, and fire or parapet walls, skylights, towers, steeples, stage lofts, and screens, flagpoles, chimneys, individual domestic radio and television aerials, energy conservation devices, water tanks, or similar structures may be erected above the height limits herein prescribed. However, no such structure may be erected to exceed by more than fifteen (15) feet the height limits of the district in which it is located; nor shall such structure have a total area greater than ten (10) percent of the roof area of the building; nor shall such structure be used for any residential purpose or any commercial or industrial purpose other than a use incidental to the main use of the building.

(b) Public communication or public utility microwave towers shall be subject to the provisions of Section 14.09.

Section 14.11. Permitted Projections Into Required Setbacks. Certain architectural features such as cornices, eaves, gutters, awnings, and bay windows may project no more than three (3) feet into the required front or rear yard and no more than two (2) feet into the required side yard.

Section 14.12. Obstructions to Visibility. No obstructions to vision creating a safety hazard shall be permitted at road intersections, within road rights-of-way, or at driveway approaches.

Section 14.13. Fences, Walls, and Screening Structures. Unless otherwise provided for herein, the following provisions shall apply:

(1) Within the limits of the required front yard space of a lot within a residential district, no fence, wall, or other screening structure shall exceed three (3) feet in height.

(2) On lakefront lots, fences which are located between the main building and the lake shoreline shall be of an open air type, permitting visibility through at least eighty (80) percent of its area for a length of fifty (50) feet from the shoreline.

(3) Retaining walls shall be designed and constructed in accordance with applicable building code requirements.

(4) Entranceway structures, including but not limited to walls, columns, and gates may be permitted and may be located in a required yard, except as provided in Section 14.12, Obstructions to Visibility, provided that such entranceway structures shall comply with all codes and ordinances of the Township.

Section 14.14. Accessory Buildings and Structures. Accessory buildings and structures, except as otherwise provided for in this Ordinance, shall be subject to the following regulations:

(1) Attached and detached accessory buildings shall be subject to all setback and height restrictions applicable to principal buildings and structures.

(2) The total of all attached and detached accessory buildings located on a parcel shall be subject to maximum lot coverage requirements and shall be subject to the following restrictions in floor area based upon parcel size:

Parcel Size	Total Accessory Floor Area
1 acre or less	1000 square feet
more than 1 acre to 2 1/2 acres	1500 square feet
more than 2 1/2 acres to 5 acres	2000 square feet
more than 5 acres	10,000 square feet

Farms shall be exempt from restrictions on Total Accessory Floor Area.

(3) Any accessory building, such as a garage located adjacent to a side yard where a side entrance is proposed, shall have a minimum side yard setback of thirty (30) feet as measured from the entrance of said accessory building to the side yard property line.

Section 14.15. Moving Buildings. Moving of buildings within, into, and out of the Township shall be approved by the Township Board prior to such moving. Approval shall be contingent upon the Board determining that the following conditions have been met:

(1) Adequate insurance is provided to protect any improvements in the public right-of-way.

(2) Adequate police protection has been arranged for with the appropriate police agency.

(3) Where a structure is moved into the Township, the structure must comply completely with all codes and ordinances prior to obtaining a certificate of occupancy.

(4) Adequate financial guarantees are posted with the Township to ensure completion of the building and site work within one (1) year from placement of the building on the site.

(5) Proper arrangements have been made and routes chosen to ensure continuation of school bus, police, fire, emergency, and similar services to all areas of the Township.

Section 14.16. Single-Family Dwelling Unit Standards: No single-family dwelling located outside a mobile home park or mobile home subdivision shall be permitted unless said dwelling unit conforms to the following standards:

(1) Square Footage. Each such dwelling unit shall comply with the minimum square footage requirements of this Ordinance for the zone in which it is located.

(2) Dimensions and Codes. Each such dwelling unit shall have a minimum width across any front, side, or rear elevation of twenty (20) feet and shall comply in all respects with the Township Building Codes, including minimum heights for habitable rooms. Where a dwelling is required by law to comply with any federal or state standards or regulations for construction and where such standards or regulations for construction are different than those imposed by the Township Building Codes, then and in that event such federal or state standard or regulation shall apply.

(3) Foundation. Each such dwelling unit shall be firmly attached to a permanent foundation constructed on the site in accordance with the Township Building Codes and shall have a wall of the same perimeter dimensions of the dwelling and constructed of such materials and type as required in the applicable building code. All dwellings shall be securely anchored to the foundation in order to prevent displacement during windstorms.

(4) Undercarriage. Prefabricated dwelling units shipped to the site shall not be installed with attached wheels or axles. Additionally, no dwelling shall have any exposed towing mechanism, undercarriage, or chassis.

(5) Sewage Disposal or Water Supply. Each such dwelling unit shall be connected to a public sewer and water supply or to such private facilities approved by the local health department.

(6) Storage Area. Each such dwelling unit shall contain a storage area either in a basement located under the dwelling, in an interior closet or utility room, or in a separate or attached structure of standard construction similar to or of better quality than the principal dwelling, which storage area shall be equal to 10 percent of the square footage of the dwelling or 100 sq. ft. whichever shall be less.

(7) Architecture. All dwellings shall be aesthetically compatible in design and appearance with other residences in the vicinity. All homes shall have a roof overhang of not less than six inches on all sides or alternatively with window sills or roof drainage systems concentrating roof drainage at collection points along the sides of the dwelling. The dwellings shall not have less than two (2) exterior doors with the second one being in either the rear or side of the dwelling. Steps shall be required for exterior door areas or to porches connected to said door areas where required by Township Building Code.

(8) Compatibility Determination. The compatibility of design and appearance shall be determined by the Township. Determination of compatibility shall be based upon the character, design, and appearance of residential dwellings, located outside of mobile home parks, within 2000 ft. of the subject dwelling. The foregoing shall not be construed to prohibit innovative design concepts involving such matters as solar energy, view, unique land contour.

(9) Additions. Each such dwelling unit shall contain no addition or room or other area which is not constructed with similar quality workmanship, materials, and construction standards as the original structure, including permanent attachment to the principal structure and construction of a foundation as required herein.

(10) Building Permit. All construction required herein shall be commenced only after a building permit has been obtained in accordance with the applicable Township Building Code provisions and requirements.

(11) Exceptions. The foregoing standards shall not apply to a mobile home located in a licensed mobile home park except to the extent required by state or federal law or otherwise specifically required in this Ordinance and pertaining to such parks. Mobile homes which do not conform to the standards of this section shall not be used for dwelling purposes within the Township unless located within a mobile home park or a mobile home subdivision district for such uses, or unless used as a temporary residence as otherwise provided in this Ordinance.

Section 14.17. Lots Abutting Water Bodies.

(1) In any district where lots abut a lake, stream, pond, or river, the minimum setback of any principal or attached accessory structure from the ordinary high water mark shall be fifty (50) feet. Docks and boat houses shall be exempt from these provisions.

(2) The minimum distance of any septic system from the ordinary high water mark shall be one hundred (100) feet.

Section 14.18. Lot Depth to Width Ratios. The depth of a lot shall not exceed the width of a lot by a ratio of more than four to one.

Section 14.19. Minimum House Size. The following minimum house sizes shall apply in all residential zoning districts:

- 1 story = 1000 square feet
- 1 1/2 story = 1250 square feet
- 2 story = 1500 square feet

Section 14.20. Minimum Frontage on a Public Road. All lots or parcels shall meet minimum lot width as required and shall front on a dedicated public road. This requirement may be modified by the Zoning Board of Appeals subject to the following conditions:

(1) Minimum lot size requirements as set forth in Article XXIII Schedule of Regulations shall be met.

(2) Access to the lot or parcel shall be provided by a sixty (60) foot access strip of land with frontage on a public road. Said access strip shall not exceed 660 feet in length and shall be contiguous to the balance of the lot or parcel it serves.

(3) No portion of the access strip shall be used for building purposes.

(4) The access strip shall possess suitable topographic, soils and drainage conditions in order to construct a private driveway.

(5) No other lots or parcels shall be permitted use of the access strip.

(6) Measurement of the width to depth ratio shall exclude the access strip.

(Revise Section 3.03 as follows:)

Section 3.03. Application of District Regulations. The regulations herein established within each zoning district shall be the minimum regulations for promoting the protection of the public health, safety, and general welfare and shall be uniform for each class of land, buildings, structure, or uses throughout each district. Wherever the requirements of this Ordinance are at variance with the requirements of any other adopted rules or regulations, ordinances, the most restrictive or those imposing the higher standards shall govern. Except as hereinafter provided, district regulations shall be applied in the following manner:

(1) No building shall hereafter be erected, altered, or moved, nor shall any building or premises hereafter be used for any purpose other than is permitted in the district in which said building or premises is located, except by appeal as herein described by this Ordinance.

(a) Principal Uses Permitted. Uses shall be permitted by right only if specifically listed as principal permitted uses in the various zoning districts.

(b) Accessory Uses and Buildings. Accessory uses are permitted only if such uses are clearly incidental to the permitted principal uses.

(c) Principal Uses Permitted Subject to Special Conditions. A use permitted subject to special condition is a use of land or buildings requiring some measure of individual consideration and therefore, shall be permitted subject not only to the minimum requirements specified for such use in the zoning districts in which such use is located and any applicable requirements found elsewhere in this Ordinance, but also after the submission of a site plan as set forth in Section 16.07 of this Ordinance, review and recommendation by the Planning Commission and approval by the Township Board subject to any special conditions imposed by the Board in granting approval. In evaluating and deciding each application for such special land use and imposing any special conditions upon approval of same, the Township Board shall apply and base its decisions upon the standards contained in Section 16.08 of this Ordinance and any other applicable special conditions imposed in this Ordinance.

(d) Any use not specifically allowed as a principal use permitted, as a permitted accessory use, or as a principal use permitted subject to special conditions, is prohibited.

(2) No building shall hereafter be erected or altered except by appeal as herein described by this Ordinance, to:

(a) Exceed the height limit specified for the district in which such building is located.

(b) Occupy a greater percentage of lot area than is specified for the district in which such building is located.

(c) Intrude upon the required front, rear, or side yards, as specified for the district in which such building is located.

(d) Accommodate or house a greater number of families than is specified for the district in which such building is located.

(e) Provide less living space per dwelling unit than is specified for the district in which such building is located.

(3) No lot area shall be so reduced or diminished that yards and other open spaces shall be smaller than specified, nor shall the density of population be increased in any manner except in conformity with the area regulations; nor shall the area of any lot be reduced below the minimum requirements herein established for the district in which such lot is located.

(4) No part of a yard or other open space required for any building for the purposes of compliance with the provisions of this Ordinance shall be included as a part of a yard or other open space similarly required for another building.

(5) In all single-family residential district, there shall be permitted only one principal building per lot, except as provided elsewhere in this Ordinance.

(6) Whenever any street, alley, or other public way within the Township shall have been vacated by official governmental action and when the lands within the boundaries thereof attach to and become a part of lands adjoining such street, alley, or public right-of-way shall automatically and without further governmental action thenceforth acquire and be subjected to the same zoning regulations as are applicable to lands to which same shall attach.

and the same shall be used for the same use as is permitted under this Ordinance for such adjoining lands.

(7) Whenever any fill is placed in any lake or stream, the land thus created shall automatically and without further governmental action thereafter acquire and be subjected to the same zoning regulations as are applicable to lands to which the same shall attach or be adjacent, and the same shall be used for the same purposes as are permitted under this Ordinance for such adjoining lands. No use of the surface of any lake or stream shall be permitted for any purpose not permitted on the land from which the use emanates.

(8) Front yard setbacks are measured from the edge of the existing right-of-way. Where a parcel of lot is at an intersection, the setback shall be measured the maximum requirement for the district considering each side as a front yard area.

(9) Measurements of Setbacks from Internal Drives and Streets: Where developments contain drives and streets without a recorded easement or right-of-way, setbacks shall be measured from a point thirty (30) feet from the centerline of the drive or street.

ARTICLE XV

Environmental Performance Standards

Section 15.01. Purpose: No use, otherwise allowed, shall be permitted within any district which does not conform to the following standards of use, occupancy, and operation, which standards are hereby established as the minimum requirements to be maintained within said area.

Section 15.02. Airborne Emissions.

(1) Smoke and Air Contaminants: It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to permit the emission of any smoke or air contaminant from any source whatsoever to a density greater than that permitted by Federal Clean Air Standards and those standards promulgated by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources according to Act 348 of 1965 as amended. There shall not be discharged from any source whatsoever such quantities of air contaminants or other material which cause injury, detriment or nuisance to the public or which endanger the comfort, repose, health, or safety of persons or which cause injury or damage to business or property.

(2) Odors: Any condition or operation which results in the creation of odors of such intensity and character as to be detrimental to the health and welfare of the public or which interferes unreasonably with the comfort of the public shall be removed, stopped, or so modified as to remove the odor.

Section 15.03. Noise.

(1) Noise which is objectionable as determined by the Township due to volume, frequency, or beat shall be muffled, attenuated, or otherwise controlled, subject to the following schedule of maximum noise levels permitted:

Octave Band in Cycles Per Second	Along Residential Districts - Boundaries Maximum Permitted Sound Level in Decibels		Along All Non-Residential District Boundaries Maximum Permitted Sound Level in Decibels
0 to 150 Hz	70		70
150 to 300	60		66
300 to 600	52		60
600 to 1200	46		53
above 2400	34		41

(2) In addition, objectionable sounds of an intermittent nature, or sounds characterized by high frequencies, even if falling below the aforementioned decibel readings, shall be so controlled so as not to become a nuisance to adjacent uses.

(3) Air-raid sirens and related apparatus used solely for public purposes are exempt from this requirement. Noise resulting from temporary construction activity shall also be exempt from this requirement.

Section 15.04. Vibration.

(1) No use shall generate any ground transmitted vibration in excess of the limits set forth in (4) below. Vibration shall be measured at the nearest adjacent lot line.

(2) The instrument used to measure vibrations shall be a three-compartment measuring system capable of simultaneous measurement of vibration in three mutually perpendicular directions.

(3) The vibration maximums set forth in (4) below are stated in terms of particle velocity, which may be measured directly with suitable instrumentation or computed on the basis of displacement and frequency. When computed, the following formula shall be used:

$$PV = 6.28 Fx D$$

Where

PV = Particle velocity, inches-per-second

F = Vibration frequency, cycles-per-second

D = Single amplitude displacement of the vibration,

inches

The maximum velocity shall be the vector sum of the three components recorded.

(4) Table of Maximum Ground-Transmitted Vibration.

Particle Velocity, Inches-Per-Second
Along Non-Residential District Boundaries	Along Residential District Boundaries
0.10	0.02
0.20	0.02

(5) The values stated in (4) may be multiplied by two for impact vibrations, i.e., discrete vibration pulsations not exceeding one second in duration and having a pause of at least one second between pulses.

(6) Vibrations resulting from temporary construction activity shall be exempt from the requirements of this section.

Section 15.05. Waste Disposal: All solid, liquid, and sanitary wastes shall be treated and disposed in accordance with the standards of the Oakland County Health Department, Michigan Department of Health, and Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Treatment or disposal of waste shall not create a hazard or nuisance to neighboring uses.

Section 15.06. Outdoor Storage: For those uses requiring site plan review, the outdoor storage of goods, materials, and equipment, except trucks operated by the principal business, shall be subject to the following conditions:

(1) The location and size of areas for such storage, nature of items to be stored therein, and details of the enclosure, including description of materials, height, and typical elevation of the enclosure shall be provided as part of the information submitted under Section 16.07. Site Plan Review.

(2) Such storage shall not be located within the area between the front face of the building, as extended across the entire width of the lot, and the street right-of-way, or in any required side or rear yard.

(3) Such storage shall not be located in any required parking or loading space.

(4) Such storage shall be strictly and clearly incidental to the principal use and only products and materials owned or produced by the principal business, and equipment owned and operated by the principal use shall be permitted for storage under the sub-section. Such storage shall not be permitted as a principal use of a lot.

(5) The area for such storage shall be screened from view on all sides in a manner as approved during the site review process.

Section 15.07. Trash Containers. Outside trash disposal containers shall be screened on four (4) sides with an opaque fence or wall at least as high as the trash container and shall be constructed of material which is compatible with the architectural materials used in the site development. Gates which provide access to the container for maintenance shall be made of an opaque material also compatible with the architectural materials used in the site development. Gates which provide access to the container for maintenance shall be made of an opaque material also compatible with the architectural materials used in the site development. The dumpster or other trash container shall be located in a manner which is accessible to the disposal vehicles, does not interfere with vehicular circulation or parking, and does not create an adverse impact to neighboring properties. The Township may further require internal storage and/or the use of trash compactors where, in the determination of the Commission, the public health, safety, and welfare is served.

Section 15.08. Electrical Disturbance, Electromagnetic, or Radio Frequency Interference. No use shall:

(1) Create any electrical disturbance that adversely affects any operations or equipment other than those of the creator of such disturbance.

(2) Cause, create, or contribute to the interference with electronic signals (including television and radio broadcasting transmission) to the extent that the operation of any equipment not owned by the creator of such disturbance is adversely affected.

Section 15.09. Glare and Exterior Lighting.

(1) Glare from any process (such as or similar to arc welding or acetylene torch cutting) which emits harmful ultraviolet rays shall be performed in such a manner as not to be seen from any point beyond the property line, and as not to create a public nuisance or hazard along lot lines.

(2) Glare from automobile headlights or commercial or industrial vehicle headlights shall not be directed into any adjacent property so as to become a nuisance.

(3) Exterior lighting shall be located and maintained to prevent the reflection and glare of light in a manner which creates a nuisance or safety hazard to operators of motor vehicles, pedestrians, and neighboring land uses. This provision is not intended to apply to public street lighting.

(4) Exterior doors shall be located, operated, and maintained so as to prevent any glare and light from creating a nuisance or safety hazard to operators of motor vehicles, pedestrians, and neighboring land uses.

Obituaries

Joseph O. French

Joseph O. French, 72, of Tucson, Ariz., and formerly of Ortonville died Dec. 30. He was a retired supervisor from Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp.

Mr. French was a member of the Ortonville Masonic Lodge No. 339 and the Sabbat Temple, Tucson.

Surviving are his wife, Marion; children, Randy French of Flint and Gary French, Sandra Bowen, Jami Truman, Sally Swayne and Suzanne Pierson, all of Ortonville; 12 grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; and sisters, Louise Hutchins of Clarkston, Emily Kless of Indiana and Marion McNair of Livonia.

The Masonic Memorial service was Jan. 1 and the funeral was Jan. 2 at the Goyette Funeral Home, Clarkston, with the Rev. Richard Peacock officiating. Burial was in Ortonville Cemetery.

Laura Ruth Harland

Laura Ruth Harland, 103, died Dec. 22 at the Grovecrest Care Center in Independence Township.

Born Nov. 11, 1884, in Goderich, Ontario, Canada, she was a resident of Royal Oak from 1957 to 1974. After 1974, she lived at St. Anne's Mead, a retirement home in Southfield.

She was a member for over 50 years of P.E.O., Chapter I; a member of Ingleside Club of Detroit and of the New Century Club of Detroit; a longtime member of the Woodward Avenue Presbyterian Church; and a member of the Northbrook Presbyterian Church of Birmingham.

Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. James B. (Betty) Smith of Clarkston; grandchildren, James A. Smith of Winnetka, Ill., Laura Weld of Rockford, Mich., Wesley J. Smith of Honolulu, Hawaii, and Kathy Meek of Birmingham; and 11 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was Dec. 28 at the Bell Chapel, William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Memorial tributes may be made to St. Anne's Mead, 16106 W. 12 Mile Rd., Southfield, MI 48076.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Notice

Charter Township of Springfield

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF SPRINGFIELD will hold a meeting on Thursday, January 21, 1988, beginning at 8:00 p.m. at the Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan to hear the appeal of:

1. Richard Detkowski, 8637 Crosby Lake Road, Clarkston, for a variance to: 1) waive the hard surface requirement for the driveway, parking and storage areas; 2) change the rear setback from the required 50 feet to 30 feet; and 3) change the side yard setback from the required 30 feet to 25 feet. SW 807-36-376-015.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the maps and variance requests may be examined at the Springfield Township Clerk's Office, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan, during regular office hours Monday through Friday until the date of the meeting.

A few consumer tips

Consumers should be aware of precautions to take when responding to telephone solicitations.

The Oakland County Chamber of Commerce offers the following tips from a consumer awareness bulletin:

Never give your credit card number over the phone unless you made the call.

Be wary if the seller says payments for something must be made right away.

Get specific names and titles of people in charge of the company or organization represented.

Check with consumer protection offices and the Better Business Bureau to see if any complaints have been filed against the organization.

Be careful of offers of free merchandise or products. The handling fees may be more than the value of the gifts.

Pet of the Week

This lop-eared bunny loves people.

They call her Esmerelda

She's big (15 pounds). She's adorable. And she's adaptable.

"She" is a 2-year-old short-haired brown rabbit named Esmerelda. This bunny is used to being a house pet, so she's already litterbox trained and she's been around dogs and cats.

Esmerelda is very people oriented and has become another shelter favorite. All she needs now is a good permanent home.

Esmerelda can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The adoption fee is $10.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY Spirit. Holy spirit. You make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideals. You give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrongs that are done to me and you are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with you, and my loved ones, in your perpetual glory. Amen. Persons must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking for your wish. After the 3rd day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then, promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. Impossible wish granted. LH. IILX21-2p

Money-Back Guarantee

1. If you run your ad for 2 issues in The Clarkston News, Penny Stretcher, Ad-Vertiser, The Oxford Leader and The Lake Orion Review and pay within 1 week of the start date of the ad.

2. If you fail to get any inquiries within 30 days after the stop date of the ad.

3. After the 30 days, fill out one of our refund applications and mail or bring to us.

We will refund your purchase price (less $1 for postage and billing costs) within 7 days after receipt of your application.

Please remember we can guarantee only that you'll get inquiries. Since we have no control over price of value, we cannot guarantee that you'll make a deal.

You may pick up a refund application at The Clarkston News, The Oxford Leader or The Lake Orion Review or you may write for one. (Please do not phone.) The guarantee applies to individual (non-business) ads. The refund must be applied for between 30 and 90 days after the start date of the ad.

SUNSHINE AND SLICK SNOW make Dec. 30 a good day for sledding. Chrissy Kovacs (left), 10, of Chevlane Drive and Brook Robbins, 11, of Milane Drive, Independence Township, took advantage of the ideal sledding conditions in Brook's yard last week.

NOTHING IS LIKE a taste of newly fallen snow, and Stephen Boggemes, 5, of Cram-lane Drive, Independence Township, tests the last snow of 1987 on Dec. 30.

Flurry of fun

THE FIRST BIG SNOWFALL this winter provides brisk entertainment for Stephen Boggemes (left), 5, and Matt Bemister, 5, of Independence Township. The boys played in Matt's yard on Chickadee Drive on Wednesday, Dec. 30.
