Superintendent search is complete

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

The Clarkston school district's new superintendent, who will take over the job July 1, began his career in Clarkston some 22 years ago.

Gary Haner, now 44, and his wife, Sue, did their student teaching in the district before joining the staff in 1966. He taught sixth grade for five years at Pine Knob Elementary School, and she taught first and third grades at Pine Knob. They owned a home on Snowapple Drive.

"As a married couple, our roots are in Clarkston," said Haner during a telephone interview from Pinckney, where he is currently superintendent of schools. "We're anxious to get there."

He's also eager to become involved in the community, he said, and plans to spend time in Clarkston before he's on the payroll, attending some school board and club meetings as well as meeting with current Superintendent Milford Mason, who is retiring after 12 years as superintendent and 27 years on the district staff.

The decision to hire Haner was unanimously reached at a special board of education meeting on Saturday, April 16. The board also interviewed Roy Bassett, the superintendent of the Woodhaven school district. The third finalist, Dr. Timothy Jenney, withdrew his candidacy early last week.

Following the second interviews with Haner and Bassett, the board deliberated about an hour before deciding to offer the job to Haner, said board President Janet Thomas.

"In the end, it was very obvious that Mr. Haner wanted to come to Clarkston, and maybe that made it easier," she said. "I just think everybody feels very positive, very up, about the decision."

Thomas praised Haner's background and his experience in working successfully with several boards over the past decade.

"He tends to be very visible in the community," she said. "We think his whole concept of public education is going to fit very well in Clarkston."

The board also set Haner's annual salary of $74,000 plus a $5,000 tax sheltered annuity, medical and life insurance and an automobile.

After Haner left Clarkston in 1971, he served as an elementary school principal, first in Howell, then in Waterford. He was superintendent for instruction in Gaylord from 1976-78; and superintendent of schools in Martin from 1978-80, Grand Rapids Baptist from 1980-83 and Climax-Scotts from 1983-85.

In 1985, he became superintendent of Pinckney schools, a district near Ann Arbor with 3,200 pupils, as compared to Clarkston's enrollment of 5,800.

Recognize excellence in the Clarkston area

Know anyone who's responsible for outstanding contributions to the community?

Nomination forms for the third annual Michigan Week Community Awards are available at the Independence Township Hall, the Village of Clarkston Hall and the Clarkston area offices of National Bank of Detroit (Pontiac State Bank).

The awards are to be given during a breakfast Wednesday, May 25, at the Deer Lake Racquet Club. The program features dining, entertainment, award presentations and a guest speaker.

Hearing set on water extension

A public hearing on the plan to extend the community water supply to some 50 homes on Perry Lake Road and Northview Drive, Independence Township, is planned Tuesday, April 26.

The meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in Independence Township Hall, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Representatives from the state Department of Health, the state Department of Natural Resources and the township plan to attend the meeting, said Lois Elliott Graham, an environmental sanitarian with the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Individuals who are affected or potentially affected by groundwater contamination are invited to attend the meeting, she said.

Planners put hold on 121-acre condo project

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Construction can't begin yet on 54 site condominiums proposed for 121 acres off Sashabaw Road in Independence Township.

The planning commission voted 6-0 April 14 to table the final site plan for Sashabaw Creek Meadows until 10 conditions are met.

Subject to review by the township engineer and township planner, developers Trinity Investments Inc., must provide plans for a greenbelt area, the sign location, lighting and sign details, a passing lane on Sashabaw Road and mailbox locations, and alter the master deed to include wetlands protection and control of landscaping, common areas and architectural style.

2nd plaza phase wins approval

A site plan for Phase II of Oakhill Plaza on Dixie Highway was approved by the Springfield Township Board on April 14.

The new building will be constructed just north of the first Oakhill Plaza building, which was completed in 1987 next to Kim's Convenience Store.

Oakhill Plaza Phase I houses the law office of Michael Odette, one of the developers of the complex. It also houses a deli, bakery, video store and chiropractor's office.

Odette said construction is already under way for Oakhill Plaza II, and when completed in three or four months, it will house a dry cleaners and more offices.

"There are many services needed out this way," he said.

Tabled for up to six months was a portion of the plan that called for a gas station as part of the complex. Odette said he wanted to wait until a tenant was found.

Commission members voiced concern over common areas, landscaping within the "building envelope," long-term architectural control within the complex and the protection of wetlands and scrub area on the property, which backs up to Independence Oaks County Park.

The site condominium allows the condo association to own the entire subdivision, except for a 150-foot by 200-foot lot, or building envelope, owned by the resident, where the house of the resident's design is built.

The houses are not connected, and property outside of the building envelope is considered a common area to be maintained by the association. Any changes to the common area or within the building envelope must be approved by the architectural control committee, comprised of the developers in the beginning.

The project received a variance for private roads from the Zoning Board of Appeals. Although the construction is designed to meet Oakland County Road Commission (OCRC) specifications, Trinity Investments requested private roads because construction will begin sooner without waiting for OCRC approval, said

Ben Benson, a partner in Trinity Investments.

The condo association is to provide maintenance and snow removal from the roads and driveways, as well as garbage disposal and lawn service in the common area.

Chairperson Brent Bair, who is director of planning and development for OCRC, noted that the OCRC would be paid $900 a year for year-round care of a road system such as the road planned for Sashabaw Creek Meadows.

In contrast, he said, the condo association would be paying $1,600 a year for snow removal only from the road and the driveways.

Contaminated sites includes some here

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two contaminated sites in Independence Township are on the updated list of the 530 worst sites in Michigan and are prioritized to receive immediate action by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), if the sites haven't been addressed already.

Three sites in Springfield Township and an additional site in Independence Township were also included on the list but have already received interim action and are not scheduled for treatment in the near future.

● Of the highest priority sites, seven residential wells on Sashabaw Road were found contaminated with gasoline, and the homeowners have already been connected to the township municipal water system.

The Sashabaw Road site was ranked as one of the 88 worst sites in the state because of the potential long-term impact on the environment as well as the hazards to humans if they were to drink the water, said Andrew Gabel, DNR environmental quality manager.

Another area, however, received a lower ranking but actually has a greater need for immediate attention, Gabel said.

● Nineteen wells on Northview Drive and Perry Lake Road were found contaminated with ethyl ether, freon-type compounds and benzene.

Although the long-term damages to the environment probably won't be as hazardous as the Sashabaw Road area, the site needs immediate attention because it affects drinking and cooking water, he said, calling it "one of the more serious sites in the state."

Residents in that area currently use bottled water and are to be connected this summer to the township municipal water system.

Neither site is scheduled for cleanup because government agencies don't have enough money to treat every site, said Gabel. Only the most dangerous sites receive federal and state funding for repairs. For ideally, all the sites should be cleaned, he said.

"I hope the sites will get cleaned up," said Gabel. "Typically, private parties do more cleanup than government agencies, which is the way it should be."

"Over a thousand sites have had some type of action, but it's not complete action. ... There's still a lot to do out there."

Sites that have already been treated for immediate problems include the following:

● Buckeye Pipeline, near Deer Lake off Dixie Highway - a pipeline that leaked chemical products into the soil and was treated with private funds.

● Pontiac Steel, on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township - groundwater was found contaminated with heavy manufacturing materials from a dry well at a metal processing business; received partial remedies with private funds and is monitored by state agencies.

● Springfield Township Dump Site, Woodland Trail (previously called Shindler Road, off Ormond Road) - groundwater and soil were contaminated with PCB, Benzene, Toluene and Xylene from barrels in the dump; received partial remedies and evaluations from state and federal agencies.

● Oakland County Road Commission, Dixie Lake, off Dixie Highway, Springfield Township - Surface water, groundwater and residential wells were found contaminated with sodium chloride from a salt pile at the road commission storage site; received partial remedies with private funds; evaluation pending.

Sites of environmental contamination are updated each year, said Gabel.

"A lot of effort goes into it. A tremendous number of people work on it," he said. "People don't tend to panic (when they see the list), but they do get concerned."

Unfortunately, only the very worst sites will be cleaned up in the near future, he said, adding the state Legislature is considering bond bills to pay for some of the cleanup. The matter could appear on the November ballot, he said.

"A bond issue would best help the state address the problems," Gabel said.

Man injured in freak accident

A 43-year-old Independence Township resident was seriously injured in an accident in his front yard April 15.

Charles Griffith of Clarkston Road was in critical condition April 19 at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital with injuries to his arm, side and head.

About 10:40 p.m. April 15, Griffith and a relative tried to haul trusses from the front yard to the back yard of Griffith's residence on Clarkston Road near Sashabaw Road, according to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD).

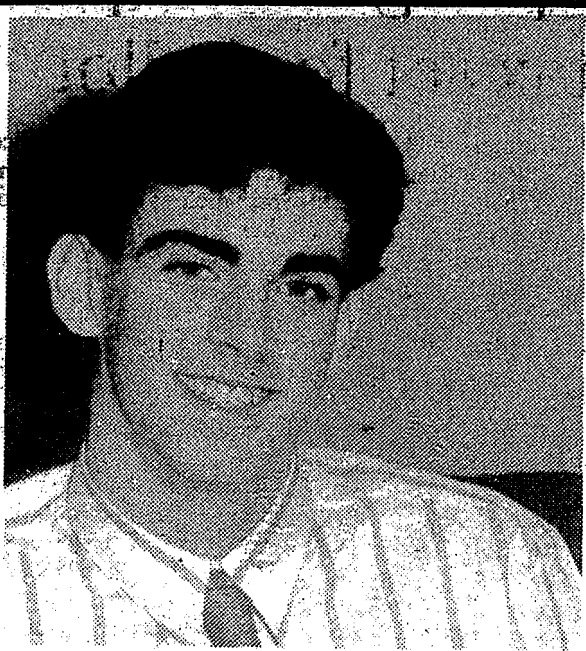

They had wrapped a cable around the trusses and tried to pull them with a truck, according to the police report.

Before the accident occurred, Griffith was standing near the trusses, while his relative drove the truck. On the second pull by the truck, the relative thought he saw Griffith waving his arms, so he stopped the truck and ran back to see what was wrong, according to the police report.

Somehow, Griffith had been caught under the trusses and had lost an ear, almost severed his arm at the armpit area and injured his head and side.

It was dark, and no one witnessed the accident. The victim was unable to talk, so the cause of the accident was unknown as of April 18, according to the police report.

DARREN MILLER is the winner of a prestigious National Merit $2,000 Scholarship.

Merit scholar

Word that he won a coveted National Merit $2,000 Scholarship was exciting news for Darren Miller.

"I'm really psyched about it. I'm thrilled," said the Clarkston High School senior.

The award puts Miller in the vast minority of high school seniors across the country. More than one million students entered this year's National Merit Scholarship Program, the list was narrowed to 15,000 semifinalists, then 14,000 finalists and, finally, 1,800 recipients of National Merit $2,000 Scholarships.

Said CHS Principal Dr. Robert Burek: "To be selected as a National Merit finalist is the most prestigious honor a student can receive in high school. Receiving a National Merit Scholarship is frosting on the cake. Clarkston High School congratulates Darren and his family."

Miller is one of the 11 students in the CHS Class of 1988 with the Top 10 grade point averages. He plans to attend Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., and major in biomedical engineering.

Merchants want more retail

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Downtown business owners agree that Clarkston doesn't lure shoppers from afar as it has in the past.

Most want to see a return of retail outlets. To village officials, however, the situation isn't as clear cut.

The village planning commission began researching Clarkston's commercial zoning ordinance, township ordinances and other documents recently to see what could be done to stop the erosion of the business district.

One suggestion would split the commercial zoning ordinance into two or more parts (retail and office) to allow the village control over what businesses move into the downtown shopping district.

Another idea was for the village to spend money to upgrade the downtown area and make it more attractive to walking shoppers. Such items as new historic-style street lights would be a good idea, business owners said.

Planning commission members and a few concerned business owners brought the issue up at the April 11 village council meeting by asking council members for some guidance and a preliminary plan of action.

Planning commission chairman John Stuetzer attended the village council meeting to discover whether or not council members wanted to pursue the issue.

The chairman also said he was interested in what other business owners and the general public had to say about retail outlets downtown.

Village council members said they couldn't act on the issue since they didn't know all the particulars involved.

The owner of One More Time T-shirt and consignment shop, on Main Street, was disappointed nothing was accomplished at the meeting.

"My opinion is that it's real easy to sit there and say, 'Yes, there is a problem' and then not act on it," said Carol Eberhardt, a former village president.

She suggested that a joint committee between the village planning commission and concerned business owners would be a good first step.

Most of business owners are alarmed at the dwindling number of retail outlets downtown.

Cliff Hammond, owner of It's About Time in the Clarkston Mills Mall, has seen a drastic change since 1981 in the number of retail shops versus offices and professional service stores.

"(Clarkston Mills Mall) was totally retail then and now Sadow's Auction Gallery and I are the only ones left," he said.

Probably the main reason his business has prospered in Clarkston while others have failed is due to the specialized product he sells.

His clock business doesn't need a lot of traffic to be successful, so it's perfectly suited for a small quaint town like Clarkston, he said.

"I think that Clarkston is ideal for specialized businesses," he said. "I have been very successful."

Josephine Ebenstreicher, of Daisy Chain Gifts in Clarkston Corners, bought into the business in October and she would support a plan to provide more retail outlets downtown.

Listening to customers day-in and day-out has convinced her there is a need for shops in Clarkston.

"People always come here and ask me if there is a clothing store in town," she said. "I have to tell them 'no'."

Although she admits there is no room for it, a strip mall with 10 or more shops in a row would be perfect for downtown shoppers, she said.

Bob Bennett, owner of Hallman's Apothecary, said retail outlets are important for Clarkston and anything the village council could do to help stop the erosion should be done.

Bennett certainly isn't alone in his thinking.

"We totally agree" that something must be done to save retail said Diane Brozovich, manager of Coach's Corner.

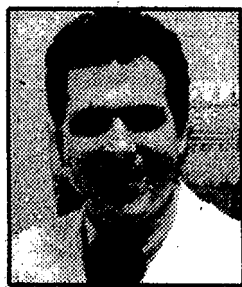

Since Coach's Corner has been downtown for the past 13 years, she has seen a lot of stores come and go. Right now, retail is down and that's bad for Clarkston, she said.

"It really does hurt downtown shopping," she said.

Monday, April 11, five metal garbage cans worth $1,400 were smashed at Sashabaw Plains Park, Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Monday, a neighbor of a Clintonville Road, Independence Township, man cut the branches off one side of an apple tree instead of trimming only the portion of branches that were hanging over his fence.

Monday, a microwave oven was stolen from a residence on Major Road, Independence Township.

Tuesday, 100 sheets of plywood worth $850 were stolen from an address on Klais, Independence Township.

Tuesday, a moped was found on North Main Street, Clarkston.

Tuesday, a $25 purse was stolen from a locked Clarkston High School locker.

Wednesday, a 10-year-old Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, resident was caught shoplifting three packs of chewing tobacco worth $4.30 from M & R Drugs, Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

Wednesday, a 19-year-old Waterford Township resident received a ticket for drinking from a keg of beer while waiting in line for tickets at Pine Knob Music Theatre, Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

Wednesday, a snowmobile trailer was taken from a Hadley Road, Independence Township, residence.

Thursday, a $10,000 Pontiac TransAm was stolen from the Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, car pool lot near I-75.

Thursday, building materials were dumped on Hadley Road, Independence Township, but the culprit was later contacted by police and cleaned up the mess.

Thursday, a pellet or BB was shot through a vehicle window at Clarkston High School, Independence Township.

Thursday, footprints and a kicked-in back door on Greene Haven Drive, Independence Township, indicated that someone tried to break into a house but may have been scared away by dogs.

Friday, a 17-year-old Yale Road, Independence Township, resident was given a ticket for hosting a party and serving alcoholic beverages to minors. About 100 to 150 Clarkston High School students attended the party near Whipple Lake Road.

Saturday, two Waterford Township teens were given tickets for possession of alcohol on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

Saturday, someone smashed the front and rear windows of a vehicle at Old House Inn, Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

Saturday, a $280 dirt bike was stolen from Dixie Party Store, Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

Saturday, two mailboxes on Foster Road and one on Edgar Road were smashed in Springfield Township.

Saturday, kitchen cabinets, paint and other construction materials were dumped alongside Clement Road, Springfield Township.

Saturday, a rock was thrown through a rear vehicle window on Farley Road, Springfield Township.

The above information was compiled from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Springfield cop tax set for ballot

Voters will be asked to renew half of the police millage in Springfield Township in the Aug. 9 election. The police millage in Springfield is 2 mills, half of which expires in 1988. The other mill expires in 1995. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

On April 14, the Springfield Township Board unanimously authorized placing the renewal of 1 mill for police coverage on the ballot. If approved, the mill would be in effect for 10 years.

Trustee William Whitley asked if the 2 mills now in effect are sufficient for future costs.

Supervisor Collin Walls said the figure should suffice for the near future and that if a deficit occurred, there would be sufficient reserve until the electorate could vote on a new police millage.

The board also authorized Walls and Clerk J. Calvin Walters to sign the 1988-89 contract for police coverage with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

For 1988, $257,000 has been budgeted for the police contract, between 5 and 10 percent over last year.

Springfield Township resident Steve Jantz as well as several board members complimented the job the sheriff's department is doing in Springfield Township.

New map to cost $700

By the end of July, Springfield Township will have a natural resource inventory map to use for planning and development.

The board unanimously approved $700, the cost of materials for the map, at its April 14 meeting. Oakland County Planning will prepare the map and absorb the cost of labor.

The map will be "four to six maps in one," said Supervisor Collin Walls.

Maps covering information such as zoning, soil and developed areas of the township will be a standard size that can be overlayed into one natural resource map.

Out to lunch

Kathy Greenfield

Since the past few weeks proved to be a popular vacation time for those who write columns on these pages, I thought out loud about simply taking a vacation from writing my column.

During a staff meeting, my co-workers at The Clarkston News suggested that I could state that I'm permanently out to lunch and either eliminate my columns or reprint so-called favorites from the past eight years. (Much laughter accompanied these suggestions. Everyone's a comedian.)

In a variation on the theme, I'm calling this collection of random thoughts "Out to lunch."

The history lesson regarding Juan Ponce de Leon's search for the Fountain of Youth is wasted on children. I can remember, back then, chuckling over how ridiculous the search was, not to mention the Spanish explorer's striped knickers.

Although a question mark always accompanies the man's year of birth (1460?), according to my calculations he was in his early 40s when the search commenced.

I don't know about you, but I know plenty of people in that age group conducting similar quests, knowing that if they run enough miles, eat enough health food, drink bottled water, think only positive thoughts, and so on, they're gonna live forever.

My sister and her husband, my parents, my husband and I were all stuffed in our car (almost none of which seat six comfortably anymore) while driving to a restaurant adjacent to the Lake-side mall in Sterling Heights.

My father, a greater Detroit area resident practically his entire life, decided to share some local history.

He said the land alongside the now busy highway used to be the site of huge rhubarb and vegetable farms. Rhubarb! It must have been a whole lot more popular than it is today. I can remember my grandmother referring to it as a "spring tonic."

Last week I found a quarter. I dipped my hand into a puddle of ice water (Can you believe snow in April?) in order to call it my own.

Later, as I pondered how pleased I was at finding the coin, it occurred to me that the child in me must still be alive and well.

... But, I almost never pick up pennies.

We've recently had the kind of skies that showcase those magnificent white lines made by jet airplanes.

They seemingly start from nowhere and drift into forever. I always wonder about the plane's destination and am newly astonished that heavy metal objects can fly through the sky.

This, too, is an exercise that harkens back to my youth.

I hate to admit this, but I miss the wonder of huffing and puffing giant factory smokestacks.

When smokestacks were modified to prevent pollution from spewing forth, we lost the instant roadside entertainment they once provided.

I miss country billboards, too.

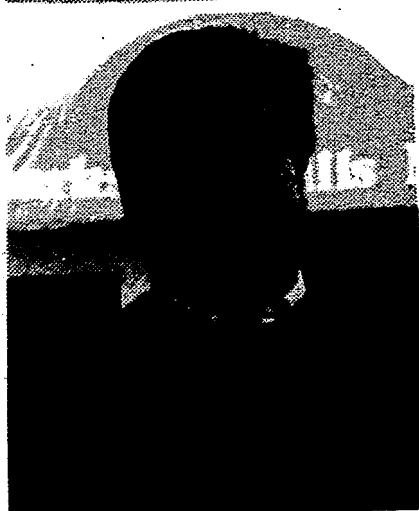

This morning, I noticed that one of the tulips in my yard has burst into bloom. Hurrah!

Jim Sherman is on vacation.

Letters to the Editor

Position clarified

Thursday evening during our April board meeting, the Springfield Township Board made a decision that some residents of the township may not understand.

In order to better serve the people of the community, in order to better prepare for tomorrow and in order to prepare for and deal with the growth we are and will be experiencing, we agreed to hire a planning and development coordinator. This will be a full-time administrative level position to handle and process zoning, development and planning matters. This person will also be responsible for the implementation and coordination of the township economic program.

I do not believe our decision needs to be defended, but it might be helpful if some of the reasons were explained.

Some of us remember when there were no offices at the Township Hall and elected officials worked out of their homes. Looking back, it is hard to believe that that began to change 20 years ago.

Change in a community, like the aging of an individual, is hard to see one day at a time. But change does occur, and in a community like ours that change can be seen occurring almost every day.

Most of us, if we are honest, would prefer to stop the change or growth, but we cannot. We can be prepared for it, direct it and control it so that it occurs in the proper location and in an acceptable manner.

Our community has changed during the last 10 years. The population has increased by approximately 40 percent. The number of households (mobile homes, condos, apartments and single-family homes) has increased by approximately 45 percent, tax parcels have increased by 25 percent and the number of businesses has doubled.

Ten years ago the number of employees responsible to the township board was 10. Today there are nine, including the supervisor, clerk and treasurer. The positions or responsibilities have changed. Some part-time are now full-time, but the numbers are correct.

Ten years ago we had seven full-time, one half-time and two part-time people on the payroll. Today we have eight full-time and one half-time.

For fiscal year 1987, employee salaries, including supervisor, clerk and treasurer, represented 26.5 percent of total expenses, but 10 years ago, these salaries represented 31.9 percent of total expenses. There has not been a material increase in staff or an increase in the percentage of the budget spent on salaries.

The cumulative effect of changing state law, federal regulation, increasing requests for help from residents, changes in the community and the resultant need for additional help may not be apparent to most of those outside the township office, but it is real.

This community's commitment to planning, zoning, balanced development and a balanced local economy began long, long ago. We have watched the development to our south and east, and have tried to prepare for the changes that development will bring our way.

The decision to hire an individual with education, training and experience in land use planning and economic development was not made in haste.

We began to discuss the position two or three years ago. We determined it was a priority and began to plan for it over a year ago, and we included funds for the position in the budget presented to the public and adopted over five months ago.

We believe that this new employee will allow us to reduce some of our costs for consulting engineers and planners, and this savings combined with fees paid by developers will cover a significant portion of the salary.

We also believe that this new position will allow us to better serve the community and prepare for the future.

Keep opportunity

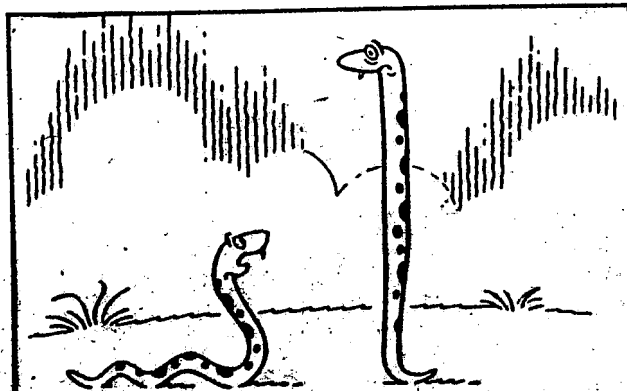

Education ... to educate ... to bring out ... to elicit. Interesting concept! Education and opportunity ... to bring out the opportunity ... to elicit opportunity.

The Clarkston school crisis certainly gives new meaning to the words social security. How do we balance public needs in a compatible relationship with our private resources?

Opportunity often versus entitlement. Perhaps no one is entitled to income programs that always keep up with the rate of inflation, but clearly everybody is entitled to an opportunity. Reduction in class status for Clarkston High School will certainly hurt students' opportunity to do, to be, to become.

I hope concerned residents of the Clarkston school district will bring education and opportunity together in our upcoming millage election.

Soccer team says thanks

We would like to thank all the people who supported us in our plight to use the high school athletic field for our home games.

Thanks to all the friends, parents and faculty of this school system who voiced their support at the March 14 board meeting and, in particular, Paul Tugate, our athletic director, who scored that important goal when we really needed it.

Our thanks also goes out to the overwhelming school participation in the bleachers at our first home game April 13, supporting and cheering us on.

Thank you all for being there when we really needed you. It does make a difference.

Winning spirit

Jim Fitzgerald

While Jim Fitzgerald is vacationing, we're running columns he wrote for other newspapers before coming to the Free Press in 1976. This one's from 1970.

It was written somewhere, perhaps Tom Sawyer whitewashed it on a fence, that a father should take his son to baseball games.

My dad took me to Navin Field to see Hank Greenberg knock home runs into Cherry Street. And I take my son to Tiger Stadium to see Al Kaline knock home runs into the grandstand where Cherry Street used to be. Cherry Street was moved back and just the other day they renamed it Kaline Drive. Onward and upward.

My only problem with my dad was that he wasn't just a fan; he could also play baseball. He once pitched a no-hitter for the University of Detroit and he was signed to hurl for the Washington Senators. Only a chronic sore arm prevented him from becoming a major league hero. At least, that's what Grandpa and Grandma used to tell me.

Naturally, Dad would like to have seen his only son shine on the diamond. He never said much about it, but I knew that Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Bridges at Navin Field were second choices. Dad would rather have seen me pitch for the Port Huron Skunks at Pine Grove Park.

But dad never complained

I tried. From the time I was old enough, I went out for every team there was. It turned out there were only three things wrong with my game. I couldn't hit the ball, or throw it, or catch it. But I was a great cheerleader.

Because of my lungs, I was allowed to join several schoolboy teams. And in later years, I even belonged to an Army team that starred a couple of guys who later played professionally. My main position was behind the wheel, driving the team bus.

The only time I got in the game was when only eight other guys showed up. Then they'd stick me in right field and bat me ninth, behind the pitcher. Sometimes I played 10-man softball and the 10th man was always stationed right in front of me.

I didn't give Dad much to be proud of. He never complained, but I've never forgotten the humiliation of inning after inning in right field, never touching the ball. And when a left-handed pull hitter came up, the manager switched me to left field. And when a tardy teammate finally arrived, perhaps limping and blind in one eye, he'd pinch-hit for me.

I was Charlie Brown before anyone ever heard of Charlie Brown.

A chip off the old right fielder

The other day I got to wondering about my 12-year-old son, Eddie. I raised him to be a baseball fan, but I never pressed him to be Babe Ruth or Sandy Koufax. He's on a midget league team and I didn't want him to think he had to make me proud.

So I told Eddie about what a bum I used to be on the ball field. I confessed to all those lonely innings, stuck far in the corner of the outfield where the ball never came.

"That's nothing," laughed Eddie. "I play the outfield, too. And there's always a man out there cutting the grass. He never stops; he just cuts around me. He knows nothing's going to happen out there. I'm getting to know him pretty well."

Marvelous. No wonder I like to watch the ball games with Eddie sitting beside me. Fortunately, we usually take his mother, too. If a foul ball comes our way, she can catch it.

What really bugs me is to read where some scientist just told Congress that Wheaties, the Breakfast of Champions, is no good. I grew up on that stuff, trying to become a sports champion. And now this scientist says Wheaties have so little energy value, a guy might as well have a shot of whisky for breakfast.

Now he tells me.

Certification achieved by Independence clerk

After meeting requirements in education, experience and service, Clerk Richard Holman was recently awarded a Certified Municipal Clerk designation by the International Institute of Municipal Clerks.

"It's nice to have," said Holman, who has served as Independence Township clerk since 1983.

"I worked hard," he said. "I'm proud of the designation. ... It means I'm qualified to serve as a clerk in any municipality anywhere in the U.S. It's widely recognized."

To earn the certification, Holman completed 100 hours of clerk institute courses at Michigan State University, East Lansing, including courses on managerial-leadership skills, social and interpersonal concerns and functionally related subjects.

In addition, Holman holds a bachelor's degree in economics from Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, and a master's degree in public administration from Wayne State University, Detroit.

He is one of 94 city, village and township clerks in Michigan who are designated Certified Municipal Clerk.

Before coming to Independence Township, Holman served as city treasurer and finance director for the City of Wixom, administrative assistant to the city manager for the City of Huntington Woods and assistant branch manager of the City National Bank of Detroit.

Springfield to add planning, building inspector

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A new, full-time position for a planning and development coordinator was unanimously approved by the Springfield Township Board on April 14.

The board also formally adopted "STEP" (Springfield Township Economic Plan), an economic revitalization plan developed by township planning consultant Richard Carlisle.

One of his recommendations was the addition of economic development responsibilities to the new planning position.

The primary duties of the new planning and development coordinator, when hired, will be to direct the planning and the building department, and to act as an internal administrator to handle, for instance, zoning processes.

Secondly, the person will work with business people in the community, and in some ways, serve as do chambers of commerce or other business organizations.

The new position, to be advertised by the board in the near future, will have a salary range of $23,000 to $27,000. A job description of the position was prepared by the township supervisor, clerk and planner.

Supervisor Collin Walls, who encouraged the board to approve the new position, said it is "an important reference to the growth we've seen."

Members of the board agreed that the new position would be beneficial, as did one member of the audience, Springfield Township resident Nancy Strole.

"This area is growing, and there are inevitable changes whether we like it or not," she said. "I don't think you in your positions can be all things to all people at all times. And I think it (the new position) is a good idea."

STEP, the economic plan adopted by the board, which included a recommendation for the planning and development position, outlines projections and suggestions for economic development and revitalization in Springfield Township.

Summaries of the plan, which Walls calls one of the best he's seen, were distributed to board members at the April board meeting.

In addition, a group of business people in the community have formed to study the new plan and begin to work toward practical application.

Senior party promises to be memorable

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Before the seniors from Clarkston High School go their separate ways after graduation, students will have one last chance to party and reminisce.

Deer Lake Racquet Club will once again open its doors to CHS seniors for an all-night party to celebrate graduation.

The evening will be full of games, activities and good times for all, say Sandy Nelson and Sue Rogers, two of the organizers.

If last year's party is any indication, it also will be a good time for friends to talk about old times and sign each other's yearbook.

"We want them to have a nice ending to their high school career," Nelson said.

The party is scheduled for June 15 and will run from 10:30 p.m. until 5 a.m. During that time, for $10 students can play tennis, wallyball or swim.

Other activities include Ping-Pong, caricatures and a hypnotist. A disc jockey and dance floor also will be available.

Plenty of food, such as pizza, chips and soft drinks, will be served. Principal Dr. Robert Burek said students were overwhelmed with what they saw at the party last year.

"It's like a candyland for them," he said.

Tickets for the evening go on sale beginning May 30 and ending June 10. The first 200 students to sign up will receive free T-shirts.

The entire 500-member senior class at Clarkston High is invited.

Last year, about 350 students showed up at the party and organizers expect just as many - maybe more - for the party this time around.

The theme for this year's party is "Go for the Gold." Decorations will have an Olympic theme and a torch may be carried from graduation at Pine Knob to the racquet club.

Letters have been mailed to area merchants, churches and service organizations asking them to donate items to make the party a success. The event is not funded by the school.

The Clarkston Village Players will stage a benefit performance of "Move Over Mrs. Markham" on May 18 at 8 p.m. to help defray the costs of the post-graduation party.

Deer Lake also helps out by hosting the party at a low rental rate.

"Not to many facilities of that nature would do that for us," said Nelson.

The organizers of this year's party say it's important for parents to get involved, especially those who still have children in school, so they will be able to stage a more efficient party the following year.

Anyone interested in helping should call the high school at 625-0900.

275 apartments planned off Maybee

A 276-unit apartment complex off Maybee Road, Independence Township, was approved in concept by the planning commission.

Commission members voiced approval over the environmental aspects of the plan, of which about 30 percent is wetlands.

"It looks like you've put a lot of care in trying to minimize the impact on the wetlands," commission member Joseph Figa told the developers from Fox Associates.

In addition, a woodchip exercise path is to follow the perimeter of the apartments and parking area, separating it from the wetlands. About 14 exercise stations are to be included on the path.

Planned for about 50 acres behind Food Town, northwest of the intersection of Maybee and Sashabaw roads, Bridgewater Apartments were approved conceptually, subject to improving the north entrance from Sashabaw Road, adding a passing lane on Sashabaw Road, enclosing the trash containers, relocating the carports, extending the pavement at the south entrance from Maybee Road, and including details for the architectural style.

Fox Associates, which also developed Lancaster Lakes Apartments on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, plan to include tennis courts, a pool, a Whirlpool and a sauna in the apartment complex.

Construction is to begin this fall, said Dick Fay of Fox Associates.

Board chooses superintendent

(SUPERINTENDENT, continued from Page 1) the June 13 ballot plus a bond issue of $5.2 million for building repairs, Haner said he's excited about coming to Clarkston.

The school district has an excellent reputation statewide and there is the potential to "do some really quality things because of its size," he said. The district is among the 50 largest in the state.

"Clarkston is not unlike most of the school districts in the state of Michigan. Almost every district in Michigan that is in-formula is going to face a crisis in the next two years," he said.

"I'm optimistic that the solution to Clarkston's financial problems is there and that the district will be successful in passing a millage," he said.

The key, he added, is that the people in the community and the district staff still have the desire to turn the situation around.

Haner holds a bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, plus a master's-plus 30 degree from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

He is currently a member of the Kiwanis Club, on the board of directors of the Brighton area Chamber of Commerce and on the board of directors of the Livingston County Economic Development Office.

He and his wife have two children, Bret, a junior at Pinckney High School, and Connie, a sophomore.

Because of his son's involvement in school, Haner plans to commute to Clarkston the first year of his job as superintendent. His daughter plans to transfer to Clarkston schools, perhaps in January 1989.

His wife, who has been substitute teaching, plans to seek full-time employment as a teacher in a district other than Clarkston, he said.

Wint wins honor from Oakland Parks Foundation

Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission Chairman Lewis E. Wint and Michigan Department of Natural Resources Recreation Resources Division Chief O.J. Scherschligt will be honored by the Oakland Parks Foundation at its sixth annual dinner on May 4 at the Addison Oaks Conference Center near Oxford.

Wint, director of Lewis E. Wint and Son Funeral Home, Independence Township, has been chairman of the 10-person Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission for the past 11 years. He is a founding member and has been a trustee of the Foundation for the past five years.

Lewis E. Wint

He is actively involved in the National Recreation and Park Association and the Michigan Recreation and Park Association. He has been honored by the Detroit United Way Foundation with a Heart of Gold Award for outstanding voluntary contributions.

Also honored will be Scherschligt, who is also the featured speaker at the dinner. He will discuss trends in state funding of recreational programs. As head of the state's panda project, he recently traveled to China and will answer questions about his trip.

Oakland Parks Foundation officers for 1988-89 will be elected at the annual dinner, which is being underwritten by Barton-Malow Company and Oak Management Corporation. Jack Hays, Oakland County corporation counsel, is chairman of the dinner.

During the past five years, the Foundation has raised more than $175,000. It has funded an outdoor amphitheater, a nature trail for blind and handicapped, summer "Great Escape" sports and nature camps for disadvantaged youngsters, and summer programs for seniors. The Foundation has also sponsored a number of special events, including family fun days, which drew some 11,500 to the county parks.

Springfield opts to help with paving

Several King Road residents were at the Springfield Township April 14 board meeting to request a contribution toward the paving of their road, located at the south end of Dixie Lake in Springfield Township.

Residents had previously filed the necessary petitions for the request.

The board voted 6-1, with Trustee William Whitley the only no vote, to approve a contribution of 7.5 percent of the estimated cost. The Oakland County Road Commission estimates the cost at $136,000. The township's contribution would be no more than $10,200.

The residents' individual assessments, amounting to between $1,400-$1,900, would be reduced by about $100-$140 because of the township's contribution.

Saying that it wasn't up to the township to encourage people to blacktop roads, Supervisor Collin Walls noted that King Road wasn't the typical rural road. There are 50-foot lots with houses on every one, he said.

Residents on neighboring Ellis Road did not want their road paved.

Free concert at CHS

A nationally recognized high school concert ensemble from New York will join the Clarkston High School Symphonic Band for a performance in the Kirchgessner Theater on Tuesday, April 26.

Eden Central High School has toured locations spanning from Chicago to New England and Florida to Canada.

The band members are selected by audition and must attend one group lesson per week in addition to the five class rehearsals.

While in Clarkston, the Eden band members will be housed in the homes of host families of CHS band students.

Other Michigan locations they will be visiting and performing include Bloomfield Hills Lahser and Andover high schools, Ann Arbor Huron High School and the University of Michigan.

The concert is open to the public and admission is free. The program begins at 7:30 p.m.

Free lecture on health

Dr. David Harold, Clarkston urologist, will present a free lecture April 27 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Dr. James O'Neill's office, 5885 M-15. To register for the lecture, call 625-CARE.

The lecture will cover a variety of topics relating to urology, including the diagnosis and treatment of prostate disorders, urinary tract infections and stress incontinence. Harold will also answer questions from the audience.

The lecture is part of Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center's ongoing wellness and health education program.

28 jobs available

Twenty-eight jobs in the Clarkston area are available for 14- to 21-year-olds who meet low income guidelines or have a disability or handicap.

Those interested in the work opportunities through Independence Township offices and the Clarkston school district should apply quickly, said Judy Monroe, who's in charge of the program with Richard Ernst.

The jobs pay $3.35 an hour, begin June 20 and continue for eight weeks, 30 hours a week.

Among positions available are clerical aides, library aides, maintenance positions, SCAMP aides, and work in the bus garage, and senior citizen center.

Each candidate will be interviewed to determine if he or she is eligible for the program, Monroe said, and an effort will be made to match jobs with interests.

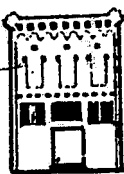

The Summer Youth Employment and Training Program is funded through the federal Job Training Partnership Act.

For more information or to apply, visit the Clarkston Learning Center at 5275 Maybee Rd., Independence Township, or call 674-4791, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

SELLING YOUR HOUSE?

By Kay Kelley

The Invisible Homeowner

Let me show your home. You leave! The ideal way to sell your house is to put everything into first-class shape, list with me, and let me sell the property for you. When I bring in a buyer, you go out! Here's why:

The prospect isn't thinking about buying YOUR old house—he's shopping for HIS new home. He doesn't want to intrude on your privacy, and he in turn should have the opportunity to "move in" mentally without distraction.

Another reason is that prospects hesitate to "poke and prod" or to ask important questions in front of the owner. But if I can hear the prospect's objections—and counter them with good sales points—the property is well on its way to being SOLD. CALL TODAY AND ASK FOR KAY.

Register for Fun Daze

Applications for the second annual Fun Daze are now available at the township parks and recreation department and Runnin' Gear.

Another activity for the May 21 event at St. Daniel Church on Holcomb also has been added, said Chairman Dick Greenfield.

A dunk tank will be set up in the church parking lot from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. with "local celebrities" volunteering as dunk victims.

Principals from Clarkston High School, township supervisor Tink Ronk and Superintendent Milford Mason all are candidates for the dunk tank, said Greenfield.

The cost to participate in the various runs and walks scheduled during Fun Daze are as follows:

● Two dollars for the one mile fun run/walk and the 5 kilometer walk on or before May 6. The cost is three dollars after that date.

● Five dollars for children under 12 who register for the 5 kilometer or 10 kilometer run on or before May 6.

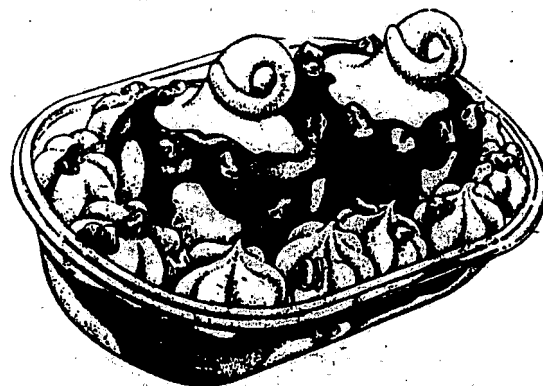

● Eight dollars for adults who register for the 5K or 10K runs on or before May 6. The cost goes up to $10 after that date.

All participants in the longer runs (5K or 10K) receive a free T-shirt. Others can purchase shirts for $7.

Scoreboard

Soccer

Clarkston High Varsity

Wolves 4, Waterford Kettering 0

April 18 - Clarkston still hasn't been scored upon this season.

Excellent defensive performances were turned in by Katie Rieman, Shelley Purdy, Angela Buchanan and Karen Lowe.

Tami Mitchell scored two goals and Erin McAuliffe and Jackie Jablonski notched one apiece.

The Wolves' upped their record to 1-0-1 with the victory. They tied Lake Orion 0-0 to start the season April 13.

Softball

Clarkston High JV

Wolves 8, Lapeer West 3

Wolves 13, Lapeer West 5

April 14 - Clarkston routed the host Lapeer team twice on opening day to start the season out right.

Jamie Law was the winning pitcher in both games for the Wolves.

Michelle Sykes collected the only Clarkston hit in the first game. The Wolves were able to win with a medley of errors, passed balls and stolen bases, said Coach Al Cuthrell.

The second game was just about a mirror image of the first except Clarkston hit a little better, he added. Rochester 4, Wolves 3

April 16 - In the Chippewa Valley JV Tournament, Clarkston won an opening round game by forfeit when Ladywood Livonia didn't show up.

The Wolves were knocked out by Rochester in the next contest.

Errors led to the team's downfall, said the coach. The winning run was scored off an error in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Wolves 18, Brandon 8

April 18 - Law had two hits to pace an 8-hit attack for Clarkston as they routed Brandon at home.

Clarkston built up a 16-2 lead after four innings and coasted to an easy victory.

Clarkston Junior High

Wolverines 27, Sashabaw 6

April 12 - The host Wolverines were anything but hospitable to their crosstown rival Sashabaw on opening day of the junior high softball season.

Colleen Cruz was the winning pitcher for Clarkston. She tossed a one-hitter and fanned eight batters.

At the plate, five Wolverines had three hits apiece. Jenny McChesney paced the team with four hits.

Wolverines 14, Pierce 9

April 14 - Clarkston trailed 9-6 late in the game but rallied with eight runs to pull it out and preserve its perfect record.

McChesney was the winning pitcher. She allowed only six hits.

Wolverines 20, Holly 14

April 18 - The host Wolverines teed off on Holly to collect its third win this season against no defeats.

The contest was filled with walks and errors, said Coach Dennis Bronson, and the cold weather made it miserable for the players.

Baseball

Clarkston High Varsity

Lapeer West 5, Wolves 3

April 14 - Foul weather and a sour loss started off the season on a bad note for Clarkston. Both teams started off quickly.

West scored twice in the first inning on two hits, one walk and an error.

It didn't take Clarkston long to respond. Jeff Tunge popped a one-out double down the left-field line and Matt Carson brought him home with a line single to center.

The score remained the same until the fourth inning when the Wolves rallied to take the lead, 3-2.

Aaron Hesse and Zac Brown started the inning with back-to-back singles then, following a sacrifice by Mark Galen, Josh Newblatt singled home Hesse to tie the game.

Brown was out at the plate attempting to score on the same play. Doug Bronson then put Clarkston out in front with an RBI single.

Lapeer West tied the game with a single run in the sixth inning and won it in the seventh with a two-run rally.

Clarkston High JV

Wolves 10, Lapeer West 2

Wolves 6, Lapeer West 3

April 14 - The visiting Wolves got off to a quick start in 1988 by sweeping a double-header from Lapeer West.

Kevin Keilitz and Eric Phillips pitched excellent games for the Wolves, said Coach Kurt Richardson.

Doug Letterman had a three-run homer and seven RBIs for the victors. Todd McGlochlin had four hits.

Wolves 9, Brandon 0

April 18 - Clarkston won its third straight game and its first at home as the Wolves routed Brandon.

Tony Simmons was the winning pitcher. The team has allowed only one earned run during its three games this year.

Letterman had two hits in three trips to the plate and Keilitz was 2-for-4.

Clarkston Junior High

Sashabaw 13, Wolverines 11

April 12 - Chris Carter led a strong hitting performance for Clarkston with four hits in four trips to the plate.

The team had 16 hits in the game, yet still lost it. Pierce 23, Wolverines 7

April 14 - Jerrod Johnson slammed a home run and had three hits for Clarkston as the Wolverines suffered their second straight setback.

Holly 17, Wolverines 14

April 18 - Clarkston woes on the diamond continue as Holly wins one on the Wolverines' home turf.

Clarkston had eight hits in the game and has a team batting average of .500, yet still is seeking its first win under new coach Bill Bildstein.

Sashabaw Junior High

Cougars 13, Clarkston 11

April 12 - The game was shortened to six innings because of darkness, but the visiting Sashabaw team still was able to pull out the victory.

Chris Wasilk was the winning pitcher for the Cougars in relief.

Darren Masters, Tony Miller, Matt Smith and Mike Stanton all knocked in two runs apiece for the victors.

Sashabaw played excellent defense, said Coach Tom Smith. The team turned two double plays to snuff out Clarkston rallies.

Cougars 12, Brandon 2

April 14 - Wasilk struck out seven and pitched a two-hitter to pace Sashabaw.

Mike Corcoran has two hits and two runs batted in to lead the offense. Jim Jenkinson played excellent defense at catcher, said Smith.

Tennis

Clarkston High Varsity

Wolves 6, Lakeland 1

April 12 - Clarkston opened the season with an easy victory over visiting Lakeland.

Individual results are as follows:

Keith Turner (C) def. Chris Dotson, 6-1, 6-3; David Redding (C) def. Andy Poxan, 6-4, 7-5; Ron Priebe def. Ian Halloran (C), 7-5, 6-0; Steve Hollis (C) def. Joel Dinzero, 6-2, 6-3.

Pitching keys victory for Wolves

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After three frustrating tries, the varsity baseball team finally notched its first victory for the 1988 season.

The win came at the expense of new Greater Oakland Activities League member Brandon on the road Monday afternoon.

Behind the excellent pitching of junior Ben Underwood, the Wolves (1-3) romped over Brandon, 12-0.

Underwood fanned two batters, walked none and allowed just five hits over seven innings to pick up the victory.

Coach Roy Warner was especially pleased to note that Underwood didn't issue a free pass all afternoon. It was the key to victory, he said.

"That was the difference," he said. "This time we didn't have the merry-go-round working."

Offensively, the Wolves spread it around as six players collected two hits apiece. The big hitters were Mark Galen, Zac Brown, Mike Peel, Aaron Hesse, Underwood and Matt Carson.

Jeff Tungate and John Koslosky both had a hit an RBI apiece.

Clarkston broke the game open in the fifth inning with a five-run uprising. The Wolves scored three more times in the sixth and polished off the Blackhawks with two runs in the final inning.

But the game revolved around the pitching, the coach said. Whatever team gets a good performance on the mound probably will win the game.

"Hopefully our pitching will become more consistent," he said. "Our ERAs are higher than the national debt right now."

Clarkston's pitching woes got the Wolves into trouble over the weekend during a double-header at Lansing Waverly.

The Wolves walked 18 batters in the two games and consequently lost both of them.

In the opener, Clarkston lost 7-5 but left the bases loaded in the final inning. Seven free passes were issued to Waverly batters.

The results got worse in the nightcap when 11 batters walked during a wild 13-10 loss.

Clarkston valiantly tried to rally in the final inning once again - the team scored five times - but left the bases loaded.

"If we had gotten a few key hits, we could have won both games," the coach said.

Underwood had six hits in the two games to pace the Wolves. Tungate collected seven runs batted in off his five hits.

JIM SHUTTLEWORTH winds and delivers another offering to a Lapeer West batter April 14 during opening day for the varsity baseball team at Clarkston.

Sports

Performance excites players, coach

Soccer team ties powerful Lake Orion

Undaunted by preseason polls, the girls soccer team opened the 1988 season by tying highly rated Lake Orion.

Two Lake Orion shots kissed the goal posts during the final 20 minutes of play, but the Wolves were able to keep the ball out of the net to preserve the 0-0 draw at home April 13.

The Dragons were picked to challenge Brandon for the Greater Oakland Activities League title before the season began. With a small roster of 12, many people didn't think Clarkston would be competitive.

Now that the Wolves pulled off the minor upset, those people might want to change their minds. Coach Hana Olsen knew her team would struggle this season, so the fine showing was a pleasant surprise.

"I don't know whether we were that good or (Lake Orion) was that bad," she said. "We had some close calls."

Goalkeeper Sue Haran turned away eight shots to earn the shutout. Her ear-to-ear smile after the final whistle told the whole exciting story for Clarkston.

Another advantage Clarkston enjoyed was playing on the high school football field for the first time since 1986.

To welcome the Wolves home and usher in the new season, the largest soccer crowd during the past two years attended.

With fast-paced action at both ends of the field throughout the game, the fans had plenty to cheer about. In between Orion's two goal-post fingers late in the contest, Clarkston also had a good threat or two.

A corner kick with about 10 minutes left slipped behind the Orion goalkeeper but couldn't find its way into the net after a mad scramble.

"We did great. I'm very pleased," said the coach. "We worked hard and our defense was very good."

Rochester, Wolves battle in annual Andover Relays

Track teams from Clarkston and Rochester high schools held their annual party at the Bloomfield Andover Relays over the weekend.

For the third straight year, the two teams finished first and second. In 1986 and this season Rochester was the top team. The Wolves were victorious in 1987.

The Andover Relays is a unique event since both boys and girls compete as one squad in this meet.

In relay races, two boys and two girls run for each team. In field events, the height or distance from the boy and girl are combined to determine the final score.

Because of the unusual scoring system, a winner must possess both strong boys and girls teams, said boys coach Walt Wyniemo.

"A boy could jump 6-foot-6 in the high jump and if the girl doesn't make (the jump), then you could be left out," he said.

It's easy to see why Wyniemo stresses team play over individualism in this meet. It's a matter of survival. "It's the team that (wins) it," he said. "That's what makes this so fun."

The Wolves finished the day at Andover with two first-place awards.

The team of Chris Vandermark, Jenny Mahler, Jim Hotary and Kate Conlen won the 400-meter relay and Keenan Powell, Ali Fedio, J.J. Price and Michelle Baker were victorious in the shot/discus relay.

Clarkston also took home two second-place finishes.

The 400 relay team of Wendy Choops, Mike Barnes, Sonya Schaffer and Jeff Locher were clocked at 3:53.48. In the sprint medley, Choops, Shupe, Jane Selent and Chris Blunka took 2:48.9 to finish the race.

In the 1600 relay Vandermark, Lisa Palazzola, Paul Reading and Mahler took third as did the 800 relay team of Barnes, Conlen, Chris Locher and Schaffer.

Weather, Brandon no match for Wolves

On a sunny but cold and blustery day, the varsity softball team routed Brandon for its first win of the year.

Although the weather didn't cooperate much, the Wolves were able to pound the Ladyhawks for a 9-2 victory Monday afternoon on the road to square their record at 1-1.

Coach Carla Teare appreciated what her players went through on the field to pull out the victory.

"It's real difficult to concentrate" in cold weather, she said.

Outstanding defensive performances were turned in by Jackie Patrick at third base and Stacey Shurtz at catcher.

Both were instrumental in helping Clarkston keep Brandon off the scoreboard until the final inning.

"They did an excellent defensive job," she said.

The first four innings of the game were a classic pitching duel with Heather Luchenbach matching her opponent pitch for pitch.

Luchenbach finished with a three-hitter and the victory. She walked four and struck out two.

Clarkston opened the scoring in the top of the fifth inning. Luchenbach opened with a single. Dana Austin singled her to second base.

Jackie Patrick then hit a grounder that Brandon mishandled and threw past first base. By the time the ball was returned to the infield, one run scored and runners were on second and third.

Kari Abbott was safe on a fielder's choice play, and Tisha Sherman followed with a two-run single to center. The ball slipped past the centerfielder and another run was scored. Sherman ended up at second.

Heather Behrens then clubbed what appeared to be a two-run homer to center, but she was called out for allegedly missing second base. The play went into the scorebook as a run-scoring single.

By the time the onslaught was over, the Wolves had scored five times and were in control of the game.

Clarkston added four insurance runs in the seventh inning.

Behrens cleared the bases on a three-base error by Brandon to get things rolling in the final inning of play. Marci Morgan finished things off with an RBI single.

Brandon mixed together two walks, an error and a double to score twice in their half of the seventh and ruin Luchenbach's shutout bid.

Teare said the key to the game was Clarkston's ability to stay close early in the contest.

"If you can stay close, then you will have a chance (to win)," she said.

Hug me

Peter Auchter

Hugs have more varieties and variations than ice cream or donuts.

But what should rank as the world's most unusual hug is set for April 20 in downtown Detroit, weather permitting.

A large group of Detroit Tigers fans will band together and circle the aging and decaying baseball stadium on the corner of Michigan and Trumbull to celebrate the old gal's 76th anniversary.

The show of support has a lot more meaning now since some high-ranking officials are lobbying for a new domed arena to replace Tiger Stadium.

Last summer, I penned a column on how Tigers' owner Tom "Money Bags" Monaghan should push to keep the old stadium in service as long as humanly possible. A good ballpark figure would be about another 76 years.

My stance hasn't changed one bit since then. I enjoy watching games at Tiger Stadium. I don't want things to change. I still vividly remember my very first time at the ballpark. It's a day I'll never forget.

The place has character, kind of like an old faded pair of jeans. Even though your mom screams bloody murder every time sees them, they still get the job done comfortably and affordably.

With a little renovation (OK maybe a lot), the old stadium will be a safe and cozy place to see the Tigers rip into their American League opponents. So it costs $45 million to do the job? Who cares?

What's the use of being filthy rich if you can't spend your money on something that will make a large group of people happy? Especially if I'm in that particular group.

Besides the sentimentality of it all, Tiger Stadium is important for the baseball players.

Home-field advantage is as important to the club as a right-handed power hitter right now.

With all of its little nooks and crannies - not to mention the jungle-like infield grass - the players have been tailor made for Tiger Stadium.

A new ballpark probably would end up looking like all the other new places around the American and National Leagues. Blah, blah, blah. That's all I have to say.

Just ask the girls varsity soccer team about home-field advantage.

They played their opening game against powerful Lake Orion on the high school field in front of a good-sized crowd and pulled off a minor upset with a 0-0 deadlock.

If the game had been played on the barren field at Sashabaw, who knows what the result would have been.

Home stadiums become a part of the athlete. When you change the site, you change the player. The fans also will change.

After all, who would hug a domed stadium?

Players needed

A few soccer players are still needed to fill out the rosters of Independence Township Parks and Recreation teams for the spring season.

Boys and girls can sign up for the 12-and-under age division at the parks and recreation office, 90 N. Main Street. The season begins April 25.

The cost to register is $25 per child. For more information, call 625-8223.

Call for coaches

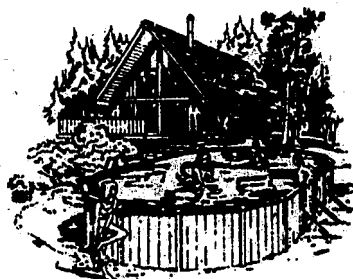

Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department needs volunteer coaches for its T-Ball program this summer.

Game times are on Mondays and Wednesdays at 10 a.m. Interested persons should contact the parks and recreation department at 625-8223.

Boosters meet at CHS

Clarkston's Athletic Boosters Club will meet in the Media Center of Clarkston High School on Monday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Seniors seek more players

Senior citizens with softball experience are encouraged to join the Clarkston Merchants A or B division teams.

The A division is for those who are age 55 and over. Play is highly competitive and provides a good jump for players in the 35-and-over league.

The B division is moderately competitive for those interested in fun and recreation along with good competition.

Practices begin May 1 in Clintonwood Park in Independence Township at 9:30 a.m. Both teams are entered in the Macomb/Oakland County League.

The Merchants A squad will open the 1988 season May 20 in Northern Virginia with the Capital City Classic.

The team also has entered tournaments in Mount Clemens (world series of senior softball), Toronto and Pennsylvania.

Anyone interested in joining the team can contact manager John Thomas at 625-5083 for more information.

Marathon for MDA

A 24-hour Wallyball Marathon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association will be hosted at the Waterford Hill Courts on April 23 and 24.

Individuals or teams can participate for a few hours or all 24. Prizes include T-shirts, Walkman radios and a grand prize of a Watchman television.

Sponsor sheets are available at Waterford Hills, 6110 Dixie Highway in Independence Township, or call 476-2920 for more information.

Drunk driving foes sponsor Junior Mr. parody

Laughs, legs and the limbo were in abundance April 14 at the Junior Mister contest at Clarkston High School.

Sponsored by Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) as a fundraiser, the evening was a parody of the Junior Miss Contest - a scholarship program for high school senior girls.

Senior David Gray scored the most points to capture the crown, but all the contestants performed well, said teacher Bill Curtis, a SADD sponsor with teacher

Mary Tippen.

"It was a close contest," said Curtis. "From our standpoint, all 10 guys were winners."

"They were all fantastic, very good natured, very good sports. They really got into the spirit and made it enjoyable for the audience. We couldn't have asked for better contestants."

The whole fund-raising idea came from junior Lizz Webb, one of the founders of SADD, said Tippen. About a dozen SADD volunteers helped produce the show.

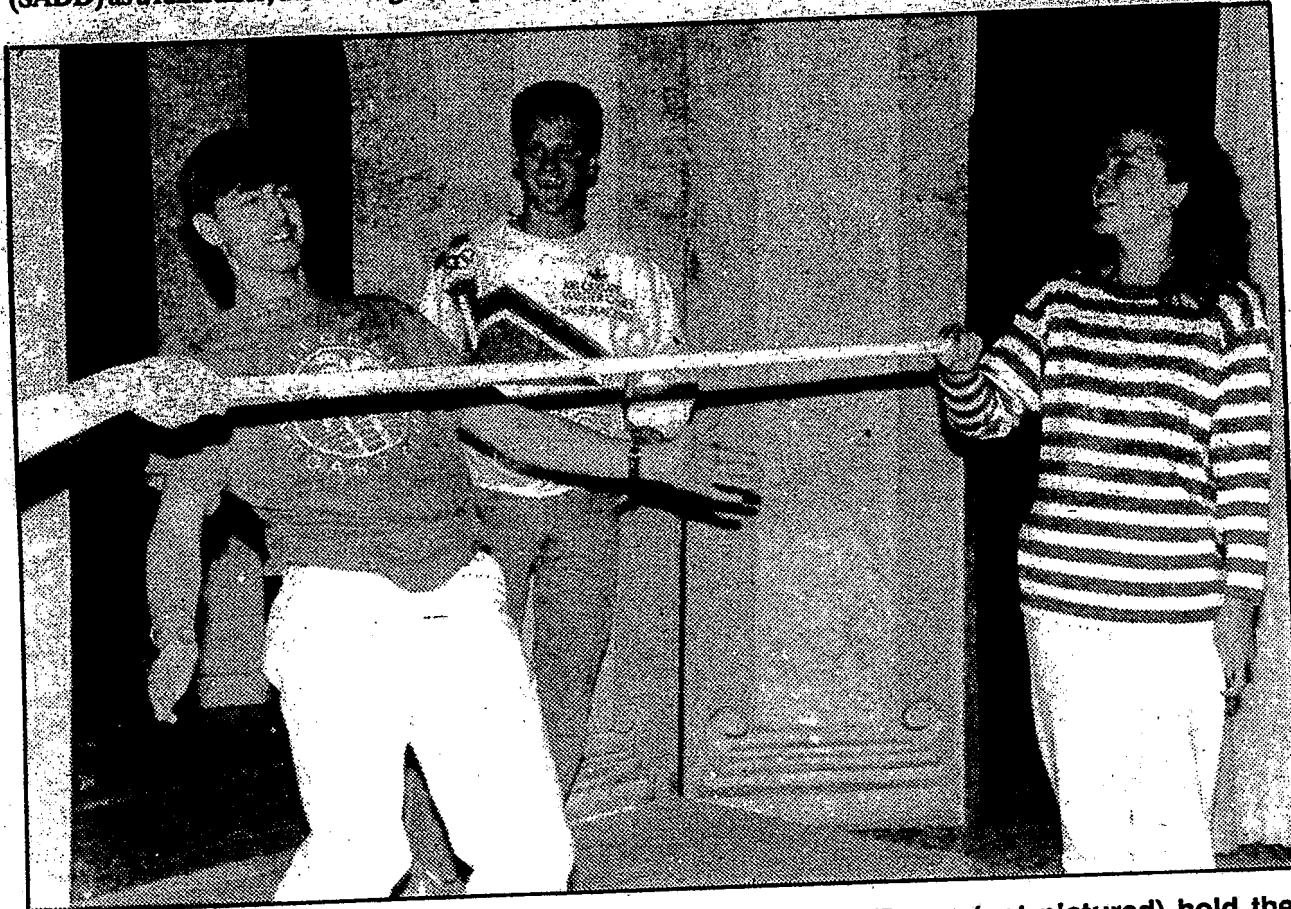

Junior Mister participants competed before eight judges and about 100 audience members in the following categories:

- Poise and appearance - a walk across the stage with a book on their heads.
- Physical fitness - a try at the limbo, proving their flexibility.
- Physical appearance - a modeling of shorts and legs.
- Formal wear - an original toga with a neck tie.
- Judges interview - sexiest look, best line and best strut.

The 10 contestants were chosen by their peers, who voted by donating pennies, nickels and dimes for their favorite contestants.

In all, $150 was raised for SADD, which will use the money for anti-drinking promotions, such as posters, speakers or video tapes, said Curtis.

As did the about 80 SADD members, the Junior Mister contestants pledged that they would not drink and drive, and they would not get in a car with anyone who is drinking and driving.

THE LIMBO shows how limber the Junior Mister contestants are. Practicing the day before the April 14 competition is Lynn Crowell, an 11th-grader. Juniors Lizz Webb and Jennifer Fauss (not pictured) hold the limbo bar as Brad Gaulin awaits his turn at the flexibility test.

No Life Insurance Is Worth Dying For

Lifeline Ultimate

Is the most revolutionary advancement in life insurance since life insurance began.

Lifeline Ultimate is the only life insurance policy to offer policyowners a 3-way benefit: death benefit protection and tax-deferred cash accumulation at interest-sensitive rates plus

An Accelerated Benefit which makes an immediate cash payment equal to 25% of the policy's face amount upon occurrence of most life-threatening, catastrophic illnesses (cancer, stroke, heart attack, coronary artery surgery, kidney failure)

The Accelerated Benefit pays cash directly to the policyowner and there are no restrictions on the use of the money. Lifeline Ultimate is the only life insurance policy that can provide living benefits when they're needed most, while maintaining the traditional protection/savings advantages only interest-sensitive life insurance can offer.

Staff, students sing praise of janitor

Dale Hamilton's pride and spunk is admired by all at Learning Center

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

April 14 was a good day to see a very special relationship in full bloom at the Clarkston Community Learning Center.

That was the day that Dale Hamilton, head custodian, mentor to students, spirit lifter to the staff and all-around goodwill ambassador, celebrated his 34th birthday.

A sign outside the building read: "Happy Birthday Chicken Dale." He was tagged with the nickname by preschool students after coming to work in a giant chicken costume on Halloween.

Inside, signs decorated the halls, and gifts characteristic of Dale's own brand of practical jokes were heaped on his desk, including a small yellow bathroom plunger and a gravestone mourning the passing of his youth.

A pile of birthday posters created by the adult education class was delivered by a senior citizen from one of the classes. And the entire student body of the alternative high school turned out after class to sing happy birthday to Dale and present him with a card signed by all.

"He's our best public relations person," says Kathleen O'Donnell, director of Community Education and building principal. "And he makes the staff laugh at itself, at him and at our circumstances, especially during stressful times."

Dale started kindergarten in the Learning Center building on Maybee Road years ago when it was still Sashabaw Elementary School. A lifetime resident of the area, he was graduated from Clarkston High School in 1972.

Two years later, he joined the Clarkston school district staff as a custodian, and in November of 1986, was promoted to the position of head custodian at the Learning Center.

"I plan on being here until I retire," he says, with a smile that never seems to leave his face. "Unless I win the lottery."

There has been a significant difference at the center since Dale joined the staff, Kathleen says. Mechanical problems, which plagued the building, were fixed and a lot of things Dale had never tried before were done, such as tiling a kitchen floor or fixing an answering machine.

Then Dale put a little of his upbeat personality into the extras. There are probably few schools with as many custom cabinets or wall-sized bookshelves with fitted doors, and certainly there are few schools with such colorful boiler rooms.

They call it the "Rainbow Connection."

The room was "really ugly" when he got there, Dale says. So he obtained color coding guidelines for the pipes, and with the help of two alternative education students who work with him on a co-op program, he transformed the bleak room into bright red, blue, orange, green and yellow.

To the co-op students, Dale serves as mentor and role model, showing them that working hard can make a difference.

"His is not a glamour job, but he does it with such an upbeat attitude," says Kathleen. "This is the perfect place for him to work."

Students at the Learning Center range from two weeks to 80 years, and activities range from preschool to adult education and alternative high school. Working there requires great flexibility.

Mark Fay, a 19-year-old alternative education student who works with Dale, says, "He has a good attitude, he's always working and he's honest. I've learned discipline and a change in attitude from him."

Mark says he now takes more pride in keeping the building clean and gets after his friends to do the same. Dale has earned the respect of students of all ages at the center.

"They trust him explicitly," says Beth Ford, academic adviser. "This is the first year we've had a student government, and he is the only one they would trust to count the ballots.

"I'm not sure what he has that instills that kind of belief," she says, "but if I knew, I'd bottle it."

Dale says he likes his work and likes meeting a lot of different people. He colors his workday, as well as

Friend to Friend

Student complaint

Dear Friend to Friend:

I am an 11th-grader at Clarkston High School. I am in the Learning Resource Center (LRC) program. Why can't we be normal high school students? We are always treated differently from other students.

Also, why can't we enter into honor classes to pursue our career or our goals? They think we can't handle the class. They have to give us a chance.

If we don't pass the class, that's our problem. Plus, we will learn our lesson not to take those classes.

We have to hand in our schedules early. That does not give us a chance like the other kids. We just want to be treated fair and equally! How can I deal with such a problem?

LRC STUDENT

Dear LRC Student:

For all practical purposes, you are a normal high school student. Just because you are in the LRC classes, you do not have a below average intelligence.

In fact, in this particular program, you must be at least average or above average in intelligence to participate. One of our panel members is in the LRC program.

If you are an LRC student, an individualized education plan is developed each year that maps out your high school program, which you should participate in along with your parents, teachers, administrator and other support staff.

This plan is a legal process to develop the best program to fit your needs. If you think you should participate in an honors class, voice your opinion there.

Some students from the LRC classes have participated in honors classes, so if you really feel that you are capable, we say, go for it!

Friend to Friend is written by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under the sponsorship of Aware, a community group devoted to action and education against substance abuse.

Cookbook recipes, artwork wanted

"Seasons - A Celebration of Microwave Cookery," a cookbook coordinated by Clarkston home economist Betty Wagner, will benefit North Oakland SCAMP, and members of the community are invited to participate in the project.

A contest is being conducted for the cover design of the book, which will be a hard-cover edition.

The contest is open to the public. Sketches must be submitted in black and white, but the cover of the book will most likely be done in color. (Artists submitting design ideas may submit color illustrations to suggest up to four colors.)

Entries should be sent to the SCAMP office, to the attention of Bunny Newmarch, executive coordinator for North Oakland SCAMP Funding Corp., 6590 Middle Lake Rd., Clarkston, MI 48016.

Deadline for the contest is May 30. The prize is recognition for the design - and the satisfaction of helping a good cause.

Clarkston SCAMP is a five-week summer camp for children and young adults with special needs in northern Oakland County. The camp serves students in the school districts of Pontiac, Rochester, Auburn Hills, Lake Orion, Oxford, Huron Valley (Milford area), Waterford, Brandon (Ortonville area) and Holly (Davisburg and Grand Blanc) as well as Clarkston.

A few suggestions for the design are: rural outdoor settings; a hint of food, food crops or eating; a "countryish" setting of food, reflective of the North Oakland area; or a collage of scenes incorporating all of these ideas. Another contest will be conducted among school students for artwork for the book's interior. The cookbook will have a seasonal theme, with recipes in spring, summer, fall and winter sections. Students are invited to design lead-in pages for each season's section.

Newmarch is sending information on the contest to school districts. Pontiac, Rochester and Auburn Hills schools will be invited to design fall artwork; Lake Orion and Oxford, spring artwork; Huron Valley and Holly, winter artwork; and Waterford, Clarkston and Brandon, summer artwork.

Again, the prize is recognition in the book and the satisfaction of helping a good cause. The deadline for the student contest is also May 30.

Wagner is inviting North Oakland residents to submit recipes for the microwave cookbook. Recipes can also be sent to the SCAMP office.

For more information on the cookbook or the contests, call Newmarch at the SCAMP office, 625-3330, or Wagner at 625-1377.

Register for ACT workshops

College-bound students planning to take the ACT test can sign up for one of two workshops offered through the Clarkston Community Education Department.

ACT Preparation Workshops for public or private school students are planned for May 9 and 17 from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Clarkston High School. The fee of $19 includes textbook.

Time-saving techniques, test-taking strategies and study hints will be included. Batteries of tests will be used during the class and additional practice tests will be included for home use.

Karen Davison, a college counseling consultant, will lead the workshops, designed to help prepare students for the four sections of the exam--English, math, social studies and natural science.

Registrations are being taken at the Clarkston Learning Center, 5275 Maybee Rd., Clarkston, 48016. Deadline for registration is May 1. More information is available by calling 674-3141.

CHS hosts contest

Outstanding jazz bands throughout the state will visit Clarkston High School on Saturday, April 23, for the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Regional Jazz Festival.

Performances in front of a panel of professionally trained judges begins at 8 a.m. and ends at 5 p.m. There will be no admission charged.

Besides Clarkston's Jazz Ensemble (scheduled to perform at 8:30 a.m.), the other participating high school bands are:

Flint Carman-Ainsworth Jazz Band, Farmington Harrison Jazz Band I & II, Dearborn Edsel Ford Jazz Band, Wyandotte Roosevelt Jazz Ensemble, Lansing Waverly Jazz Ensemble, East Detroit Jazz Ensemble, Utica Eisenhower Jazz Ensemble, Mount Clemens Lutheran North Jazz Ensemble, Walled Lake Central Jazz Ensemble, Novi Jazz Ensemble, Sterling Heights Ford Jazz Ensemble, East Lansing Jazz Ensemble and Monroe Jazz Ensemble.

Pinewood Derby winners take trophies

Medals and trophies went to the top winners in the Pinewood Derby of Cub Scout Pack 199, Pine Knob Elementary, on April 17.

The cars raced down the track for about three hours at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club before the final victors emerged.

Winning overall Pack trophies were Ryan Haller, first; Chris Vargo, second; and Bryan Paolucci, third.

Those who placed in the three smaller divisions won gold, silver or bronze medals.

In the Tiger Cub division, Vargo was first; Ron Tolbert, second; and Nathan Gottshall, third.

In the Bear Den I division, Haller placed first, Jason Frack was second and Richard Hamill, third.

In the Bear Den II division, Paolucci came in first; Jessi Odell, second; and Zachary Taylor, third.

"Thank you to all the dads that helped this year. They did a good job," said Donna Heyniger, committee chairperson for the Pack.

Pomeroy, second place; Samantha Leonard, first place; and Shalae Montney, third place.

Winners prove dreams can come true

"Surprised" was the unanimous reaction when three eighth-graders found they had won the local level of a statewide essay contest.

Samantha Leonard, Nathan Pomeroy and Shalae Montney placed first, second and third respectively with essays they wrote in their English class taught by William Rathburg at Clarkston Junior High School.

Sponsored by the Farm Bureau Insurance Group, the topic was "America and Me."

The three winners, who received certificates for their achievements, wrote about how dreams can come true in America.

"I wrote that I could be anybody from Bill Cosby to Sally Ride," said Samantha.

Their families were also happy for them, said Shalae.

"My grandma cried when I told her," she said.

"My mother made brownies for me," said Samantha.

Nathan, who does well in many academic areas, said his parents were happy for him as well.

For placing first, Samantha's name will be engraved on a plaque for permanent display in the CJHS trophy case. Her essay will advance to the state level of competition, from which the top 10 essays in Michigan will be selected.

The top 10 winners will receive plaques and U.S. savings bonds ranging in value from $500 to $1,000.

Class of '78 to celebrate

Plans are under way for the tenth reunion of Clarkston High School's Class of 1978.

The party is planned Friday, Sept. 2, at the Deer Lake Racquet Club in Independence Township. Reservations must be made by May 15.

Classmates who have not received information regarding the reunion should call 683-5749, 689-6151 or 625-5107.

In service

Marine Private Matthew H. Brady has completed the Marine Corps Basic Combat Engineer Course at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

He is the son of Patrick G. and Louise K. Brady of Holcomb Road. A 1987 graduate of Clarkston High School, he joined the Marine Corps in October 1987.

Honors

Lisa Young, a 1984 graduate of Clarkston High School, received three academic awards at Adrian College, Adrian, April 18.

At a banquet honoring 36 award winners, Young was presented with the outstanding senior in family arts and sciences award; the French language award, presented to a French major in recognition of fine academic achievement in language studies, participation in related cultural activities and contributions to the department of foreign languages; and the Alpha Chi scholarship award, given to the senior members who have maintained good standing in the Alpha Chi National College Honor Scholarship Society.

Young is a senior majoring in fashion merchandising and French. She is the daughter of James and Carolyn Young of Holcomb Road, Independence Township.

Thirteen residents in Independence and Springfield townships were recognized for outstanding academic achievement during the past academic year at Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, on March 27.

On the honors list with a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 (of 4.0) or better were Independence Township residents: Christine A. Bodziak of Onandaga, Julie A. Daniel of Lancasterlake Court, Stacie L. Glowaz of Trotter Lane, Dale M. Kath of Cherrylawn, Laura L. Manser of Ellis Road, Marilyn G. Ormiston of Pelton Road, Elaine R. Quigley of Oneida and Kelly D. Sokol of Chickadee.

From Springfield Township, honors list members were: David P. Cassar of Maureen Lane, David J. Coudneys of Eagle Road, Kerin S. Grable of Lakegrove, Maureen P. Perko of Woodland Trail and Stephen A. Stack of Eagle Road.

Stack was also recognized for earning all A's during the past year.

Word has been received from Michigan State University, East Lansing, that Tasha Vaara has achieved the honor of being on the dean's list.

She is a freshman majoring in English. Her parents are Mel and Jo Vaara of Church Street, Independence Township.

Engagement

USHMAN-TIPPERY: Dr. and Mrs. Gary Ushman of Independence Township announce the engagement of their daughter Kelley Lynn to Sam W. Tippery, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Tippery of Monroe. The bride-to-be will graduate from Wayne State University, Detroit, in May with a bachelor's degree in secondary education. Her fiancé is a 1986 graduate of Ferris State University, Big Rapids, with a degree in pharmacy. He is employed as a pharmacist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. A May wedding is planned.

New arrivals

James Ryan Petersen was born April 12 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, to Andrea and Jim Petersen of Independence Township.

James is the Petersens' first child. He weighed in at 7 pounds, 14 ounces and was 20 inches long.

Proud grandparents are Lori and Greg Masserang of Independence Township and Vern and Norma Petersen of Milwaukee, Wis.

Great-grandmothers are Johanna Skirchak of Independence Township and Mary Masserang of the Detroit area.

Christopher Adam Chase was born April 10, 1988, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac, to Nathan and Patricia Chase of Independence Township.

Christopher, who is the first child for the Chases, weighed in at 6 pounds, 5 ounces and was 20 1/2 inches long.

Grandparents are Roland and Kathryn Lescelius of Flushing and Jane Chase of Temperance, Mich.

Great-grandparents are Peter and Kathryn Stok of Christmas, Fla.

'What's your favorite book?' brings many replies

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

There's a reason "What's your favorite book?" is among the more well-known conversation starters.

The Independence Township Library asked that question to some 70 people and of the over 40 responses received so far, none are duplicates.

A staff brainstorming session for a way to observe National Library Week, April 17 to 23, led to the idea of popping the question.

The library sent bright pink forms to a group chosen to reflect all segments of the community, from school administrators and teachers to business people and clergy. They added some higher level government officials including Michigan's Gov. James Blanchard.

A display has been set up at the library at 6495 Clarkston Rd., and as more replies flow in, more names and cherished books will be added to the list.

Library Director James Hibler said the question was purposely vague, leaving the option of naming an all-time favorite or a favorite among titles recently read.

"Interpretation was up to the individual," he said. "Some people put down a book they liked as a child. Some liked a book more current, so we had a real good variety."

Children's Librarian Anne Rose was in charge of mailing and displaying the responses.

"It's great fun to open them and find out what different people's books are," she said.

There were a few surprises, most notably that all clergy were expected to say their favorite was the Bible, and so far none has. Clarkston Board of Education Trustee Carolyn Place, however, did opt for the Bible.

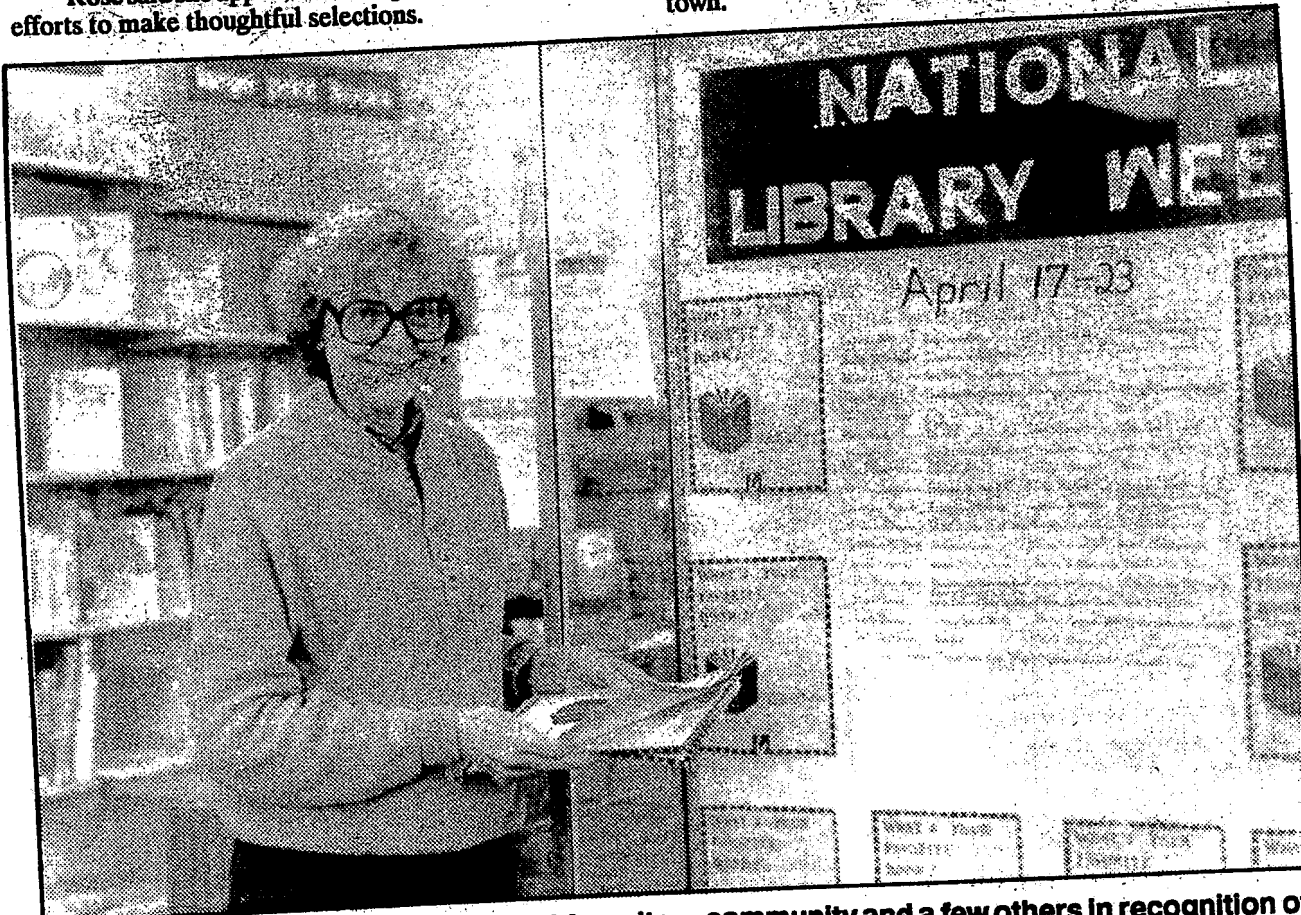

Other choices included "The Cat in the Hat Comes Back" by dentist and Clarkston Chamber of Commerce President Bruce Mercado; "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" by Clarkston High School principal Dr. Robert Burek; "Thomas Jefferson" by Clarkston Community Historical Society President Jennifer Radcliff; Stephen King's "Different Seasons" by CHS student Brian Rignon; "Winds of War" by Clarkston schools Administrative Assistant William Neff; and Bernard Malamud's "The Fixers" by Rose.

Gov. Blanchard selected "Paddle to the Sea" and United States Sen. Carl Levin chose the Columbia Desk Encyclopedia.

Rose said she appreciated the participants' obvious efforts to make thoughtful selections.

"They seemed to be really honest choices," she said.

And for readers shopping for a personalized list of book recommendations, the library's the hottest spot in town.

ANNE ROSE created the display of favorite books chosen by members of the Clarkston community and a few others in recognition of National Library Week.

Pet of the Week

SHE'S LOOKING for a loving home.

Misty is a little lamb

She looks a little like a coyote, but she has the disposition of a lamb.

Misty is a 1 1/2-year-old shepherd mix, with a blend of black and tan coloring. She's so friendly and playful that she's earned a special place in the hearts of shelter workers.

Misty would be better with older children, and might be a little shy with a new family at first. She's very quiet dog and would be easily trained and housebroken.

Misty can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The adoption fee for Misty is $65, which includes her spaying before leaving the shelter.

Speaker at Sashabaw

Dr. Beverly Parke, a nationally known lecturer and author of the book "Teaching the Gifted Child in the Regular Classroom," will speak in the Sashabaw Junior High School library room at 7:30 p.m. April 28.

The program is sponsored by the North Oakland Association for the Academically Talented (NOATT) and is free to the public.

NOATT is presenting the program to help teachers and parents cope with questions and concerns about teaching the bright child in the classroom.

Parke, who has spoken in Clarkston in the past and was favorably received, is associate professor at Wayne State University's Department of Education, specializing in gifted education.

Reunion

Benedictine High School, Classes from 1958 to 1976. All graduates, parishioners, neighbors and friends are invited to the Alumni Party on Friday, April 15, from 5 p.m. to 2 a.m. at Monahan K of C in Livonia. Contact Tom Watters at 476-8385 or Diane Reffner at 397-0143.

Octogenarians share fond memories

BY CAROLYN WALKER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Though there is only one year's difference in their ages, Virginia Husted remembers cousin Mary Ingamells as a caretaker of sorts: "She kept track of me and told on me when I got into mischief."

Sitting back in Mary's Waterford Township centennial home, the women, 85 and 86 years old, laugh good-naturedly at that memory. It is one of many they share from their Independence Township girlhoods.

The two spent their early years on family farms near Pine Knob and recall, now, an era far different from today's.

Turn-of-the-century Clarkston, they say, was a one-doctor town that boasted oil street lamps, a grist mill, horse-drawn buggies and outhouses.

It was a place where girls felt safe strolling after dark, their only threat an occasional practical joker.

For Virginia and Mary, there was a six-mile buggy ride to school each day from home. During the winters of their high school years, they boarded with their grandparents, Mary and Theodore Phillips, who resided on Holcomb Street.

MARY INGAMELLS DISPLAYS an old soapstone while Virginia Husted looks on. The two recall a favorite memory of their grandfather Theodore Phillips. He could remember, he told them, the first banana he ever saw. He purchased it in Clarkston, and, not realizing it had been picked before it was ripe, found it most distasteful after his first bite.

"We drove horses to high school until Thanksgiving most years. By that time it was very dark before we got home and very cold. School started at 9 a.m. and let out at 4 p.m."

Virginia Husted

"We studied by kerosene lamp light," Virginia says. "The house was heated by a stove in the living/dining room and a cook stove in the kitchen."

"By leaving the bedroom door open, some heat went to the room across the hall. It was cold in there. We (See MEMORIES, next Page)

Memories remain fond for two octogenarians used to take hot water bottles or heated soapstones to bed in cold weather.

A soapstone, Mary explains, hauling an old one in from the kitchen, is a large square stone which is heated on the stove, wrapped in paper and placed strategically for warmth.

Virginia, recalling how she and another cousin, Edith, used to sometimes get the best of Mary while staying with the Phillipses says, "We'd go out and sit in the toilet and read until Mary got the dishes done."

The reading material, an old Sears Roebuck catalogue, doubled as toilet tissue, she adds, noting how times have changed.

During that time of the school year when the girls did not stay at their grandparents', they would ride horse-drawn buggies to school, leaving the horses in their grandfather's care.

"We drove horses to high school until Thanksgiving most years," Virginia says. "By that time it was very dark before we got home and very cold. School started at 9 a.m. and let out at 4 p.m. Grandfather Phillips... kept our horse in his barn. He met us when we came in the morning, unhitched the horse, put it in the barn, and fed and watered it at noon.

"Then, when we came from school, he had the horse hitched to the buggy so we could leave for home. Most students driving in from the farm had to rent a stall in someone's barn and handle their own horse and feed it at noon."

In the fall, many school districts had potato-digging vacations so students could stay home to pick up harvested potatoes.

The girls' fathers, however, were Clarkston school board members, and, because they believed education too important to be interrupted, did not permit potato-digging vacations for local pupils, Virginia says.

That work was saved for Saturdays, when students could earn 5 to 10 cents per bushel for picking up potatoes.

Virginia also recalls that when World War I broke

"They tramped all over the country hunting that robber. Most farmers kept guns. They needed them to protect their stock. We were used to a loaded gun in the woodshed, and we were not allowed to touch it."

Mary Ingamells

out and young men were being drafted, high school students were permitted to attend a protest march on Main Street.

A woman, whose name she can't remember, stood before the group and sang, "I Didn't Raise My Boy To Be A Soldier (I Brought Him Up To Be My Pride And Joy)."

"I'm quite sure the band played," she says, thinking hard and explaining why the people protested. "We grew up when there weren't any wars. We weren't used to draft boards."

Mary remembers their school days as being fraught with practical jokes. One in particular, Bradley Miller, delighted in tormenting Mary.

Oftentimes, he would wait until Mary was crossing the (then) wooden bridge over the Mill Pond, then spur his horse to kicking, much to Mary's horror.

Another boy, whom she did not name, also used to tease the girls by standing on his front porch and ringing a bell furiously to make them think they were late for school.

Mary, who says she was somewhat plump, would run pell-mell for the school building, only to find herself winded and early for class.

As Mary gets up to return the soapstone to the kitchen, Virginia mentions the time the Clarkston bank was robbed, a highlight in its time. All the men with guns were asked to help track the thief, including their fathers.

"They tramped all over the country hunting that robber," she says. "Most farmers kept guns. They needed them to protect their stock. We were used to a loaded gun in the woodshed, and we were not allowed to touch it."

Conjuring up these adventures from their youth, the ladies bring to mind a Clarkston that is most likely gone forever. It was a Clarkston where neighbor helped neighbor, children honored their elders and everybody felt safe, Virginia says.

It was, adds Mary, a good place to grow up.

What's Cooking

Pat Young

Nuts about nut bread?

If you're planning a spring luncheon, or if you're just nuts about nut breads, this simple recipe is sure to be a hit at mealtime.

For a change of pace, you can shorten the cooking time and put the batter in oiled and floured muffin tins for applesauce nut muffins.

APPLESAUCE NUT BREAD

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup applesauce
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 3 egg whites
- 3 tablespoons skim milk
- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts

In a large bowl, combine sugar, applesauce, oil, egg whites and skim milk. Mix thoroughly.

Add flour, baking soda, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Combine until all ingredients are well blended. Stir in chopped nuts.

Spread batter in oiled and floured 9x5x3-inch loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees for 60-70 minutes, or until bread tests done.

It's dark inside

Sleepers - they're a peculiar bunch. When I speak of "sleepers," I'm talking about those students whose main goal in class is none other than studying the insides of their eyelids.

When I speak of sleepers, I am also speaking solely of the hardcore variety. You see, sleepers come in two categories - hardcore and recreational.

I myself, I must confess, am a recreational sleeper. We are merely slaves to a situation. Give us a 7:45 a.m. lecture on the inner workings of federal government or a post-lunch lecture on French verb structure and it's all over; at least for a few minutes, anyway.

The hardcore sleepers, though, they're a bit different. To them, sleeping is not just a mere class-time interlude, it's an entire subject unto itself.

Their regime usually goes about like this:

Come to class, sit down, decide whether or not to stow books on the floor or on the desk (depending if the sleeper desires a pillow or not).

Look briefly attentive, as not to disturb the teacher, and remain visible until the roll is taken. (After all, sleepers may be absent in mind during class, but they must be present in body.)

Here, however, is where sleepers distinguish themselves and hence, earn their name. Sleepers take sleeping seriously. For, you see, they have taken sleeping to the very threshold of an art form.

And they're proud of it. Just as the artist employs certain techniques in his work, so does the sleeper.

There are those individuals defiant in their actions, who make no effort to hide their state from the teacher. To them, they are above caring, which is probably why they are sleeping in class in the first place.

Then there are those who go to great pains to conceal their conduct. These sleepers usually try such tricks as facing in the opposite direction than that of the teacher when sleeping, for a teacher can't condemn what he or she can't see.

They even have the audacity to try to prop themselves up in front of an open book, thus giving the illusion of reading.

Sleepers aren't very difficult to identify, either. They're the folks walking down the halls, faces marked with those tell-tale red sleep lines. They also seldom have eyelids opened more than halfway.

You see, sleepers change classes the way most other people change bedrooms in the middle of the night - lethargically. Which, for them, just about sums up their high school experience!

David Kwasnick is a Clarkston High School senior.

Upbeat janitor keeps them all on their toes

every else's in the center - with a boundless sense of humor.

After covering a secretary's desk with Styrofoam peanuts, Dale walked in one day to find his office crammed full of hundreds of inflated balloons.

Dorothy Frank and Kathy Garwood, a secretary and clerk at the center, say Dale gives them a hard time about working in the office late and keeping him from finishing his cleaning. So one day they unplugged his vacuum while he was working, and he reciprocated by locking them out of their office, he thought.

What he did was lock himself into their office. They waited about 10 minutes before letting him out.

They even presented him with a large key for future emergencies as a birthday present.

It's always fun to get a "gotcha" on Dale, they say, because he is so quick witted.

"We have to plan ours, but his are impromptu, off the top of his head," says Linda Irwin, program coordinator for LatchKey.

Dale built and painted storage shelves for the LatchKey program, as well as bookshelves for the Sunshine Childcare Center.

"He's just special," Linda says. "He has a spirit about him that makes your whole day special."

He entered Linda's room once, noticed a little stuffed pumpkin on her desk, and said, "Oh, I see you had a self-portrait done."

And though he may fuss and fume about "helpless women," Kathleen says, it was Dale who trudged through the winter weather with a full gas can to get a teacher's stalled car started one morning.

Because of his outstanding efforts, the staff of Clarkston Community Learning Center nominated Dale for the school district's Employee Recognition Award. His wife Linda was with him at the April board of education meeting when he received it.

"I was surprised," says Dale, who also has two daughters at home, Karrie, 12, and Stacy, 6. "You think of 'higher-ups' getting awards. Not me."

And perhaps that is what is most admirable about Dale Hamilton.

Even with an entire school as his fan club, Dale doesn't really think he's "special."

Pine Knob expands music concert selections

Pine Knob Music Theatre in Independence Township has already scheduled more concerts for the 1988 season than played all last season, according to Simone Prince, public relations director. And more concerts will be added throughout the season.

"We've added an additional series (there are 10 instead of 9) and more variety this year," Prince says. "There's more for everyone - more rock, top 40, country, and more concerts for the older audience."

Tickets are currently on sale for the 1988 Miller Genuine Draft Concert Subscription Series, as Pine Knob Music Theatre enters its 17th season of entertainment under the stars. Tickets for the series can only be purchased through the Subscription Series Office, 872-1600 in Detroit, or ordered by mail by sending check or money order to: Pine Knob Series Tickets, 432 Fisher, Detroit, MI 48202. Series tickets will be on sale through April 22.

Single concert tickets are on sale for the season opener, White Snake, performing on May 13, and for Robert Plant, who went solo after Led Zeppelin disbanded in 1980, performing on May 28. Tickets for both concerts are $20 for pavilion, $15 for lawn.

Single tickets may be purchased at any Ticket Master location or at the Pine Knob Box Office, located off Sashabaw Road near Clarkston at the music theater's main entrance. Tickets may be ordered by phone using Visa/Mastercard by calling 423-6666.

Individual ticket sales to future concerts will be announced as they become available.

The 1988 Miller Genuine Draft Concert Subscription Series includes:

Series One: Julio Iglesias (July 1), Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme (July 21), Jackie Mason (July 25) and one other performance to be announced. Tickets for Series One are $90 reserved and $45 lawn (excluding Jackie Mason).

Series Two: Julio Iglesias (July 2), Barry Manilow

(July 30), Linda Ronstadt (Aug. 24), George Benson (Sept. 9). Tickets are $88.50 reserved; $58.50 lawn.

Series Five: Lynyrd Skynyrd (June 9), George Thorogood and the Delaware Destroyers (July 3), Loverboy (July 7), Aerosmith (Aug. 11), and one other concert to be announced. Tickets are $92 reserved, $67 lawn.

Series Six: Jethro Tull (June 14), Heart (July 4), Moody Blues (July 8), Huey Lewis and the News (Aug. 28), YES (Sept. 1). Tickets are $93 reserved, $69.50 lawn.

Series Seven: Depeche Mode with special quest

OMD (May 21), Squeeze (July 9), Belinda Carlisle (July 20), Robert Palmer (Aug. 9), UB40 (Aug. 20). Tickets are $86.50 reserved, $63.50 lawn.

Series Eight: Willie Nelson (May 30), Southern Pacific, Baillie and Boys, SKB, Shenandoah (July 17), Alabama (Aug. 7), Barbara Mandrell (Sept. 2), Dwight Yoakam (Sept. 17). Tickets are $88.50 reserved, $63.50 lawn.

Series Nine: Billy Ocean (June 25), Kool and the Gang (June 30), Earth, Wind and Fire (July 22), Temptations, O'Jays (Aug. 6), The Jets with special guest Jermaine Stewart and Stacey Q (Aug. 16). Tickets are $90.50 reserved, $66.50 lawn.

Series Ten: James Taylor (Aug. 8), Huey Lewis and the News (Aug. 27), Bruce Hornsby and the Range (Sept. 3), and one concert to be announced. Tickets are $75 reserved, $56 lawn.

New subscribers should include a $5 service fee for any series order.

5 area women win scholarships

This month the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club awarded five area women with scholarship funding for continued education.

Scholarship Chairman Rebecca Ridley-Badger of Pontiac announced a total of $1700 awarded this year to: Clarkston residents Carolyn Chenoweth (University of Michigan, law), Kelly Eberhardt (school undecided, biology/medicine); Waterford residents Michelle Morrissey (Grand Valley State College, elementary education), Leatrice Young (University of Michigan, masters in nursing), and to Troy resident Mary Sutton (Oakland University, management information systems).

The scholarships are made possible through the BPW annual dinner and fashion show at Deer Lake Racquet Club. Profits comprise the scholarship fund which assists women in the community returning to school from the workforce, high school graduates going on to college, and the woman who is furthering her educational studies.

Organized in 1919, BPW was founded for working women, providing a networking opportunity for personal and professional growth. The Waterford-Clarkston BPW chapter is one of over 100 in Michigan. More information on the club is available by contacting Joan Kopietz at 625-2511.

Parcel Identification Number: 08-32-226-004

Common Description: Dixie Highway, South of Maybee Road
Any further information regarding the above Public Hearing may be obtained at the Township Planning Office during regular office hours 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday, or by phone at 625-8111.

Richard A. Holman, Clerk

Village of Clarkston

Village of Clarkston minutes of regular meeting April 11, 1988, 375 Depot Road, Clarkston, Michigan 48016.

Meeting called to order at 7:37 by President Catallo, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

The Oath of office was given to the President, Treasurer, Clerk and Trustees.

Roll: Present: Roeser, Haven, Basinger, Catallo, Millard. Absent: Excused: Schultz and Symons.

The minutes were corrected and approved.

Basinger made a motion to pay the bills totaling $11,922.90. Seconded by Roeser. Roll: Yes-4. No-None. Motion carried. This is minus the Police protection for February of $3,841.71.

Basinger gave a report on the Macintosh G.E. Computer and prices and what the print of the computer was like. Basinger will check the full price.

Moved by Basinger, "That the revised 1997-88 General Fund Budget totaling $275,480, be approved to reflect actual revenues and disbursements to March 31, 1988."

Seconded by Millard.

Interim 1988 - Budget.

Moved by Basinger, "That the interim 1988-89 General Fund Budget totaling $275,480 be approved by the Council."

Seconded by Haven.

Roll: Yes-Roeser, Haven, Basinger, Catallo, Millard.

No-None.

Moved by Basinger, "That the revised 1987-88 Road Funds Budgets in the amounts of $31,342 for Local Roads and $54,508 for Major Roads be approved by the Village Council. These revenues and disbursements reflect actual amounts to March 31, 1988."

Seconded by Roeser.

Roll: Yes-Roeser, Haven, Basinger, Catallo, Millard.

No-None.

Moved by Basinger, "That the interim 1988-89 Budget for Local Roads in the amount of $31,342 and Major Roads in the amount of $54,508 be approved."

Seconded by Haven.

Roll: Yes-Roeser, Haven, Basinger, Catallo, Millard.

No-None.

Motion carried.

Basinger made a motion to approve the site plan for Clarkston Village West proposed site condominium date 11/2/87 and bearing as a last date of 2/1/88 notation by the Fire Marshall, conditioned upon:

- 1) That no changes are made to the site plan as approved;
- 2) That the notice required by PA 71 be filed;
- 3) That approval of the plan, as complying with Village Ordinances be given by the Village Engineers;
- 4) That the developer submit a proposed Master deed complying with the Village condominium Ordinance as so approved by the Village Attorney;
- 5) That the developer pay the site plan review fees as authorized by Ordinance, set by the Village engineers and approval by the Village Council.

Let the minutes reflect for the benefit of the Township Planning Commission that the conditional approval granted by the Council is given in light of the concerns raised by the Township Planning Commission over wetlands and filling in the floodplain. Since the Village engineer has indicated the vast majority of these types of land are in the Township and the Township should thus be the primary entity to review these. Should the Township require any changes to the site plan, Mr. Lazono will be required to obtain new Village site plan approval.

Seconded by Millard-Roll: 5-Yes. 0-None. Motion carried.

The bids for the Sweeper were read. The Council would like Rick Carpenter to look over the bids before the next meeting and recommend what he would like.

Buck Kopietz reported to the Council how the retail business feels about the problems in the Village. Carol Eberhardt also gave some good ideas on the future of the Village Business District. John Stuetzer also felt that the first step is zoning.

Roeser made a motion to allow these people to use park Gazebo for the weddings;

Carrie Evans - July 9, 1988 - 6:00 p.m.

Nick Kalas - July 23, 1988 - 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Paula Page - June 11, 1988 - 12:00 noon.

Seconded by Millard. Motion carried.

Motion by Roeser to adjourn at 11:54 p.m. Seconded by Haven. Motion carried.

RUNNING IS THE only solution for quick movement through the snow and windy weather for (from left) Jennifer Phalen, Dawn Bain and Lisa Hoisington. The Clarkston High School students dashed to a car in the school lot during a blast of snow on Friday.

Spring surprise

THICK SNOW COVERS the cars parked in the CHS lot. Most students let the snow slip away as they drove off, presumably in search of hot lunches. A couple of hours later, only traces of the white stuff remained.

A SNOWSTORM ON April 15 blankets bushes and cars, including those around Clarkston

High School. Student Sue Meeker hurries to her car in the high school lot at about 11 a.m.

Wednesday, April 20, 1988 — A supplement to The Clarkston News and Penny Stretcher

How do I avoid fall invasion of yellow jackets?

Spring brings the crocus up, the groundhogs out of hibernation and gardeners out of the woodwork with questions for the extension specialists at Michigan State University.

Q. What's the difference between determinate and indeterminate tomato varieties?

A. Determinate tomatoes grow to maturity, flower and set fruit within a short period. All fruits normally ripen within a few days. Vines are compact and well adapted to caging. They can also be allowed to grow unsupported.

Indeterminate varieties continue to grow all season and blossom and set fruit in clusters that ripen over a long period. Without support, the plants tend to sprawl.

Q. I grew a huge pumpkin last year and saved some seeds to plant in my garden. Now my neighbor tells me the pumpkin probably cross-pollinated with my other squash crops and I won't get pumpkins like the parent pumpkin. Is this true?

A. Some species of squash, gourds and pumpkins can cross-pollinate one another. Such crossing doesn't affect the current year's fruits - an acorn squash doesn't become a squashkin if it's pollinated with pollen from a Connecticut field pumpkin.

But if you save the seeds, the plants they produce may bear fruits quite unlike the one the seeds came from. The offspring of your garden crops are especially likely to be different from their parents if the parent plants were hybrids.

In either case, the resulting plants are quite unpredictable.

If you're curious and want to plant some seeds from squash grown in your garden just to see what you get, it could be an interesting experiment.

But it's not recommended to rely on such plants for your main harvest. The fruits may lack the traits that made the parent plants desirable.

Q. How can I get rid of the mushrooms that come up in my lawn every spring? They're always in the same spot.

The Garden Corner

A. Mushrooms are the fruiting bodies of various kinds of fungi. They grow from an underground network of fungus threads that feed on decaying organic material in the soil.

Unless you can remove the decaying wood or other material they're growing on, your best bet is to dig up or mow off the young mushrooms.

This will at least prevent them from releasing the spores that will produce more mushrooms. Over time, the organic material will finish decaying and the mushrooms will no longer be a problem.

Q. My luck in raising transplants hasn't been spectacular. If I decide to buy plants this year, how do I pick good ones?

A. Look for dark green, stocky plants. Avoid light green, spindly ones - they may be diseased or malnourished. Look for obvious signs of insect or disease problems. Smaller, younger plants that haven't yet started to flower or bear fruits will get established faster in the garden and produce more than plants that have flowers or fruits on them when you plant them.

Q. I had so many yellow jackets around my house last fall that my back yard was practically unusable. Is there anything I can do this year to prevent that kind of invasion?

A. The invasion began in the spring when overwintering females began to build nests and lay the eggs that would develop into the hordes of yellow jackets you saw in the fall.

The key to control is destroying the queens and the new colonies in the spring, before numbers begin to build.

Any yellow jackets you see flying around on those first balmy spring days are probably females looking for good nesting sites. Controlling these lone females now is much easier - and safer - than trying to control their hundreds or thousands of descendants a few months from now.

Q. Do seeds have an up side and a down side? If so and I plant a seed upside-down, will the plant grow right side up?

Petro update

A 15-year-old study of America's energy needs had presented a sobering vision of the future. It predicted the nation's energy use would rise almost 20 percent by the late 1980s. But according to National Wildlife magazine, energy use in the United States has actually fallen. The effects of energy conservation are being felt worldwide as well with savings totaling some 250 billion dollars a year.

Some rather pointed information

The spines of many cactuses, such as the hedgehog variety, help the plants shade themselves.

According to International Wildlife magazine, most cactuses have very thick skin that helps keep life-giving water inside. But this thick skin also means the plants have a hard time keeping cool.

That's where the spines come in. They cover the plant so thickly that their skins are always in the shade.

Potpourri pointers

One way to enjoy flowers longer is to dry them for potpourri, the fragrant mixtures used to keep rooms, closets and drawers smelling fragrant and fresh.

A combination of dried flowers, herbs, seeds, roots, spices and a preservative to hold the scent, potpourri is easy to make if you follow a few simple steps.

Gather flowers and herbs for potpourri in the spring and summer. Pick flowers when they have just opened and are perfect, and herbs just before they flower. Seeds should be picked when they are ready to fall, and roots at the end of the summer.

The next step is drying - either in box lids outdoors in the hot sun or on covered shelves in a linen closet, warming oven or darkened room, passage or cupboard that is warm and well ventilated.

Drying can take two weeks or more. Leaves should be brittle but not shattering, and petals should feel dry and slightly crisp. Roots should be completely dry, with no soft centers.

The dried floral material then is mixed with powdered orris root, the preservative, and your choice of spices.

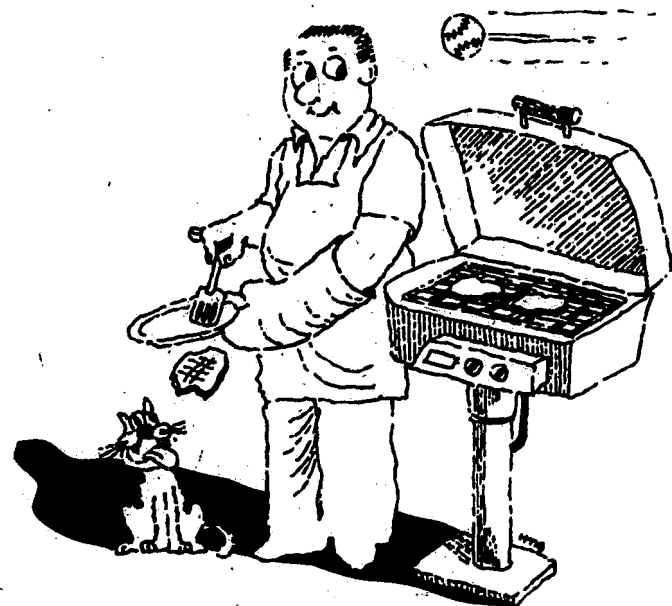

Store the mixture in a covered container for two to three weeks, shaking frequently, before putting it into jars, scent bottles and bowls, or sewing it into sachets, cloth bags or pillows.

Gas grill cooking tips

The natural gas grill provides dependable outdoor cooking with a convenient fuel supply. The American Gas Association recommends these energy saving tips when using a gas grill:

- Limit preheating time.
- Use only one burner on dual burner grills unless both burners are needed.
- Use the lowest flame setting possible.
- Cook with the grill cover closed for more smoked flavor and shorter cooking times.
- Cook slow cooking foods on grill to keep heat out of the kitchen and save on air conditioning.
- Cook several foods or entire meals at one time on the grill.
- Cook a full grill of steaks or burgers. Reheat extras later.
- Thaw frozen foods before grilling unless otherwise directed.
- Use a thermometer or timer to eliminate over or under cooking.
- Keep "burn-off" cleaning time to a minimum.

House in the country

The Radunz home catches breezes and sunshine

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The home of Mark and Hetty Radunz offers a pleasant sight to passers-by rounding the corner of their country road in Groveland Township just north of Clarkston.

Framed by trees at the road, the contemporary home sits back in a sunny clearing, the culmination of plans and dreams Mark and Hetty have been working on for three years.

They met in the travel business, on a ski trip in Vermont, and today still work in the travel business. They have been married five years.

Mark purchased Radunz Travel in Pontiac from his father when he retired in 1985. This month, Mark and Hetty opened a branch office of Radunz Travel in Waterfall Plaza on Dixie Highway.

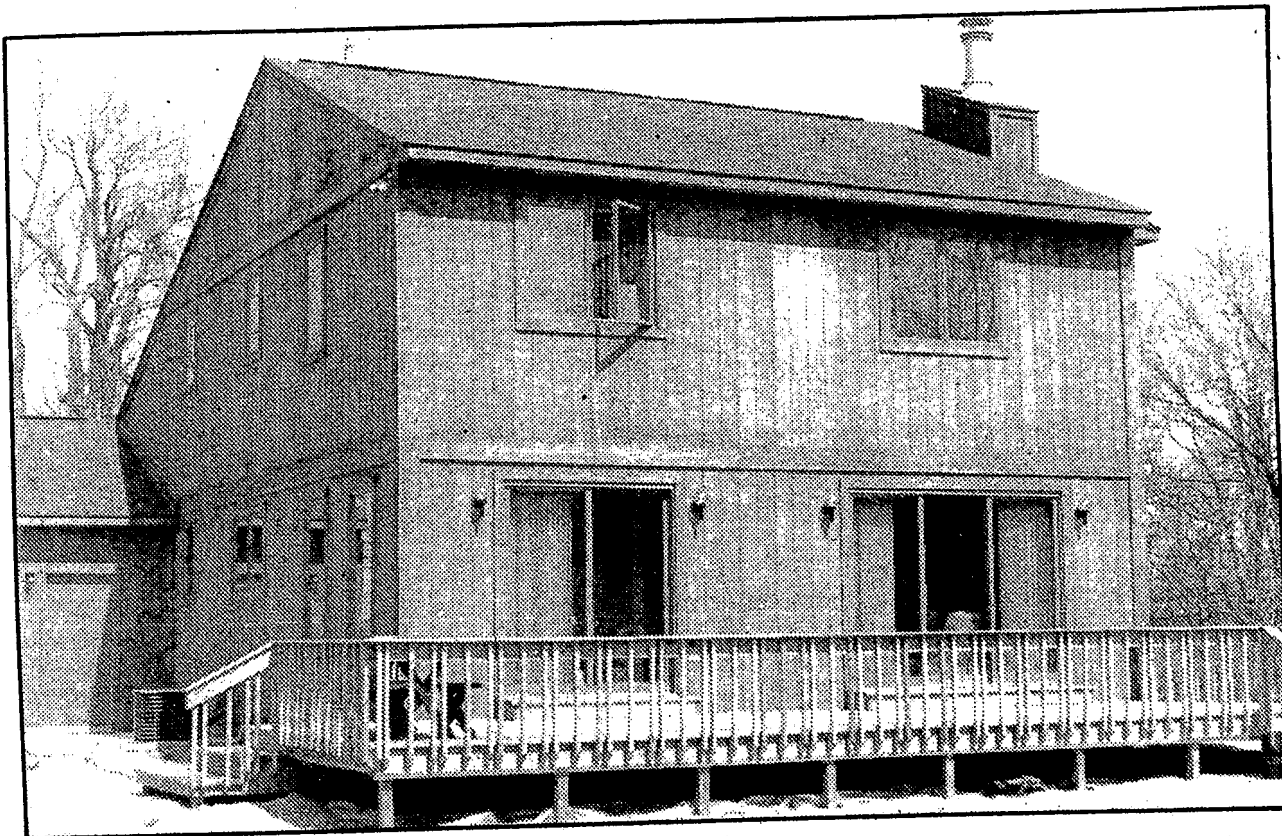

They lived in the Waterford area while they planned their new home, which proved almost as large a task as building it.

"We kept looking at plans and couldn't find exactly what we were looking for," Mark says. "So we went home, cleared off the kitchen table and drew what we wanted. Then we took it to an architect."

They spent a long time researching all those little things they wanted in the home, Hetty adds. They soon realized that in order to afford their dream home, they would have to make a few adjustments in the plans, and they would have to do a lot of the work themselves.

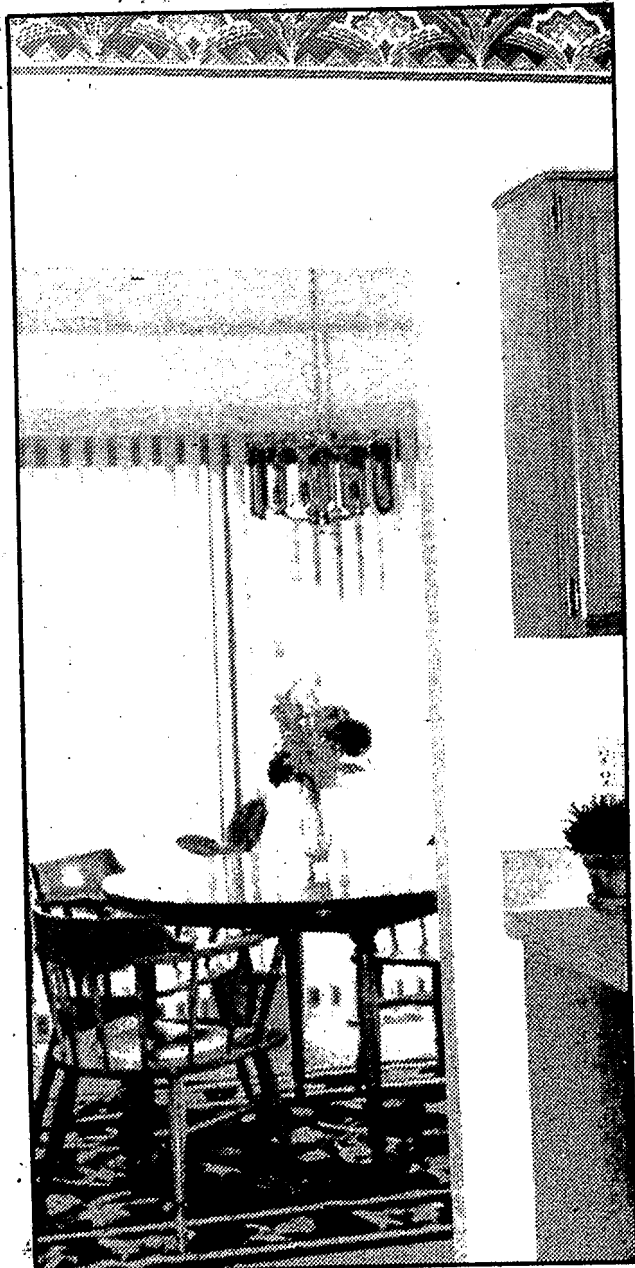

They hired a good friend and builder, Mike Hubbell, to help them build the home. They set up a little camper trailer on their 2 1/2 acres, where they spent

(See COUNTRY, Page 10)

THE RADUNZ HOME north of Clarkston in Groveland Township utilizes passive solar energy with its direct southern exposure, polarized thermopane windows, and continuous roofline that deflects the weather on the north side of the home.

A SOUTHWESTERN BORDER brightens the kitchen of the Radunzes' contemporary country home north of Clarkston.

MARK AND HETTY RADUNZ pause on the stairs in the entranceway of the contemporary country home they share with three cats, who seem quite happy with the country life.

Herb gardening makes comeback

In the gardens of American pioneers, herbs had a prominent place. Various herbs provided seasoning for food, home remedies for treating illness and injury, fragrances for potpourri and soap making, and dyes for homespun fabrics.

In spite of today's supermarket, which makes it easy to have dried herbs on hand year round, herb gardening is making a comeback, says Lee Taylor, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University.

"Interest in various kinds of ethnic cooking and the desire to reduce or eliminate salt from the diet are contributing to a renewed interest in home herb gardening," he says. "People's interest in old-time crafts, Indian lore and folk medicine is also a factor."

Most herbs are generally easy to grow, Taylor says. They do best in full sun, though many will tolerate light shade. Herbs will grow in any good garden soil that is neither very acid or alkaline - a pH of 6.5 to 7.0 produces the best herbs.

"The soil for an herb garden does not need to be highly fertile," Taylor says. "On highly fertile soils, herbs tend to produce a lot of foliage that's poor in flavor. A less fertile site with some organic matter in the soil and good drainage will produce quality herbs."

Herbs grown outdoors rarely have trouble with insects.

You can start an herb garden with seeds or purchased transplants.

Sow seeds indoors in late winter and transplant small plants outdoors after the danger of frost is past, or seed directly into the garden after frost.

Direct seeding works well with dill, anise, coriander and fennel, which don't transplant well.

Some herbs - including sage, rosemary, lavender, marjoram, oregano, lemon balm, mints and thyme - are often available as plants. Place them in a prepared spot in the garden after the danger of frost is past.

Good herbs for a beginner's herb garden include rosemary, chives, thyme, dill, sage, lavender, basil, borage and mints.

"When you harvest herbs depends on the type of herb and the part of the plant harvested," Taylor says. "With some herbs - such as parsley, borage and thyme - you harvest only the young green leaves or the leaves and the blossoms. In other instances - such as dill, coriander and sweet fennel - you harvest the seeds or seedheads. A few - such as angelica and lovage - produce usable roots."

Leaves, flowers, stems and seeds are usually dried for storage. Others, such as coriander and tarragon, do not dry well and so keep better if they're blanched and frozen or preserved in vinegar or oil. You can freeze dill, chives and basil without blanching.

Even if you never harvest herbs for use indoors, you can enjoy them in the garden. Herbs offer a variety of foliage colors and textures, and many produce attractive, fragrant flowers. Plant them in a designated herb garden or mix them in with annual and perennial flowers, use them as borders or grow them in containers.

"Growing herbs has become so popular in Michigan that herb fanciers have formed an association, Michigan Herb Associates, and sponsored a major herb conference," Taylor says.

For more information on Michigan Herb Associates, write Taylor at the Department of Horticulture, 240D Plant and Soil Sciences Building, MSU, East Lansing, MI 48824.

Learn the art of stenciling

Are you interested in the beautiful effects of stenciling but put off by the high cost of pre-cut designs? Or perhaps you'd like to create your own masterpieces.

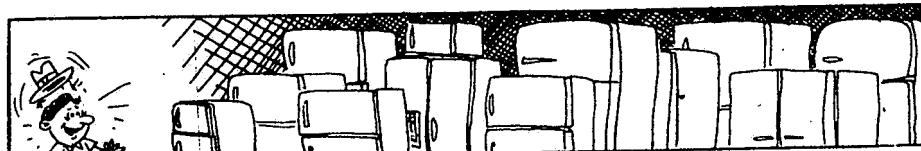

The April program sponsored by the Clarkston Community Historical Society is your solution.

The program-demonstration "The Art of Stenciling" is to begin at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 20, in the Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot.

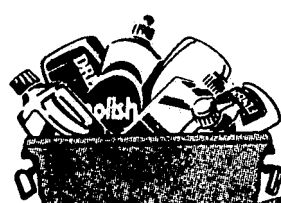

The demonstration and discussion will be led by Jody Richter, a stencil artist from Lake Orion.

The program is free and open to the public.

The Sun's power in watts is 380,000 billion billion kilowatts—enough to run 176 billion billion frost-free refrigerators just about forever.

Blossoms can brighten garden in shade

What if your property doesn't get much sun? Many consider that a blessing.

A shade garden can be most delightful, especially in hot, sunny weather when the cool shelter of a lush shade garden can refresh both mind and body.

Shade gardens offer many advantages over their sunny counterparts. Clearly, physical labor is easier in the shade than in the sun.

Shade-loving plants also require less maintenance. You don't have to water as often. Fertilizing with a liquid plant food can be cut to once a month, rather than the usual weekly application.

Many people are surprised at the number of lovely plants suitable for shade. You can choose from annuals, perennials, hardy bulbs, tender bulbs, ground covers, vines, evergreens, deciduous flowering shrubs and small trees.

The perennials and annuals, however, will be the backbone of the shade garden.

Some easily found perennials that you can enjoy for years in your shady garden include bleeding heart, columbine, coralbells and hosta.

Annuals you will find perfect for shade are begonia, coleus, impatiens and torenia.

Vines to consider include clematis and nasturtium. Specimen trees commonly used in a shady garden are flowering dogwood and Japanese maple.

Three shrubs famous for their shady performance are azalea, hydrangea and rhododendron.

Among the many evergreens you can use in the shade, some of the better known are barberry, boxwood and camellia.

For ground cover try forget-me-not, lilly-of-the-valley or sweet violet.

Improvement.

Well, it's that time of year. Time to turn your home improvement ideas into reality before winter is upon us. And Old Kent can help, with a variety of competitive rate loan plans to make those ideas affordable.

Plus, this year is a great year to put those plans into action. Because well-maintained homes are holding their values and selling faster in today's real estate market. Which means your investment can pay dividends in the future.

Best of all, you only pay interest on the money you borrow - for the amount of time you borrow it. So every time you make an early payment, double payment or lump-sum payment, the amount you owe is reduced automatically. That way, you're in control over the amount of interest you pay over the life of the loan.

All it takes to get started is the few minutes you'll need to fill out an application at one of our convenient offices. So stop in soon. We'll do everything we can help you make your home more enjoyable. With payments that are more affordable.

"OUR SPECIALITY IS YOUR FRAME OF MIND"

Country's fresh, airy feeling is inside, too

THE SUNNY ENTRANCE WAY features a high ceiling and extra-wide staircase to the second many weekends. In October last year, five months after construction began, they moved in.

The cedar-sided home is stained a natural redwood and has a continuous roofline from the garage to the peak of the house, which gives the 1,800-square-foot home a striking look. One adjustment they made to their plans was the continuous roofline. They found that more roof angles would add considerable construction cost.

A main feature Mark and Hetty were looking for in a home was passive solar.

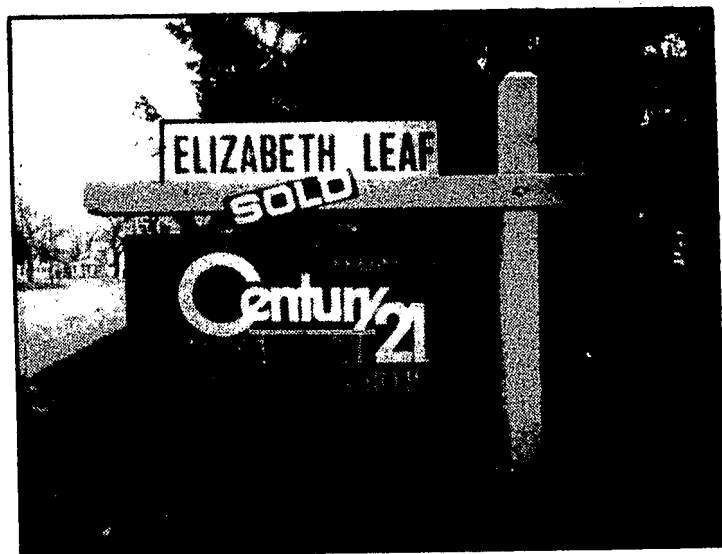

"The house is placed on the property relative to sun and wind," Mark explains. "It has a direct southern exposure and only one window (in the tall entranceway) on the north side."

On the north side is the garage, blocking wind and weather from the main home. To further ensure the passive solar qualities of their home, walls are 2-by-6 instead of 2-by-4, and everything is extra insulated. The attic, for instance, has seven inches of blown insulation on top of six inches of rolled insulation.

All the windows are Anderson, thermopane polarized glass. The high-performance glass allows sunlight in all winter, when the sun is low, but blocks the hot summer sun, which is higher in the sky.

'Not a single inch of wasted space'

Since the prevailing weather comes from the southwest, all the windows on the south side open in both directions, and on the west side, they open to the southwest.

A FAMILY HEIRLOOM hutch and dining room set grace the sunny dining room of this Groveland Township home built by Mark and Hetty Radunz.

"This allows us to catch the slightest breeze," Hetty says.

When they're not catching a cool breeze, they do have central air. And they use a propane gas-fired furnace to finish the job of warming the house in winter. But they both say the passive solar features help a tremendous amount.

Even their tile-framed fireplace in the living room helps heat the home with a fan and heat exchanger. And ceiling fans in the living room and bedrooms help circulate the air.

Extra-wide stairways, placed at the sides of the house so they wouldn't cut into living space, give the home a spacious look, as do the light, sunny rooms and the clean contemporary lines.

A hint of the southwest in the decor, such as a southwestern border of wallpaper and Santa Fe tiles hanging in the kitchen, are evidence that the young couple have relatives in, and a fondness for, the southwest.

A spacious bath off the master bedroom boasts an oversize whirlpool, "a gift to ourselves," Hetty says.

The basement is 8-1/2 feet deep. Mark is a karate instructor, and he likes the extra height for practicing his pastime.

The house Mark and Hetty planned and built fits their lifestyle, and their pocketbook. It is a simple, energy efficient home.

"There's not a single inch of wasted space in this house," Hetty says.

Their home has all the flourish of more costly homes, and better yet, it's in the country.

"We love it out here," Hetty says. They used to house sit for Mark's godparents nearby, and Hetty says she always knew they would live out there someday.

Mark and Hetty's three cats, exploring their new outside world for the first time since winter, seem in happy agreement with their owners' choice.

"I love the dirt roads. You see animals when you drive," Hetty adds. "That's country."

Poison ivy control is not simple

Anyone who spends any time outdoors in Michigan who has never had poison ivy needs to count blessings and knock wood.

Poison ivy (Toxicodendron radicans) goes by several names - including three-leaved ivy, poison creeper, climbing sumac and poison oak - and grows in several forms ranging from an upright woody shrub to a slender vine running along the ground or growing on trees or shrubs.

Its leaflets, which occur in groups of three alternately along the stem, have a variety of finishes (from dull to glossy) and margins that may be smooth, toothed and/or lobed.

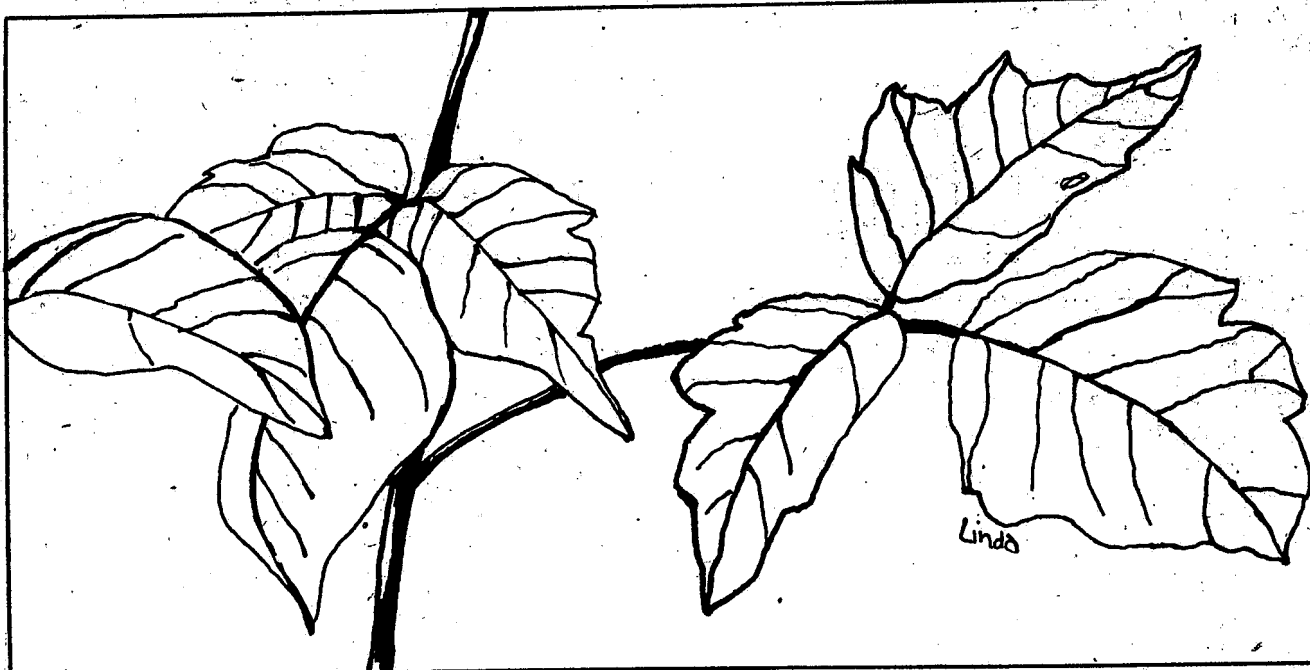

"Poison ivy is so variable that 'leaflets three, let it be' is about the only advice on identification that holds true," says Doug Lantagne, extension forestry specialist at Michigan State University.

Avoiding contact with any plant with leaflets in groups of three is no guarantee against poisoning, however.

The plant oil that causes the itching, inflammation, swelling and blister formation in sensitive individuals can be easily transferred to clothes, tools, other objects or pets. It's also present in the smoke from burning poison ivy.

So, though direct contact with the plant is the usual route of exposure, touching something that has picked up the oil or smoke from burning plants can cause poisoning.

Poison ivy may be found growing throughout Michigan in fence rows, along railroad rights-of-way, alongside roads and power transmission lines, in parks and nature preserves, in woods and meadows, and even in suburban back yards, where it is often involved with landscape plants.

Artwork by Linda Walsh-Lapinski

"Controlling poison ivy in your home grounds can be difficult," Lantagne says. "You can usually dig it out if the soil is wet and there are only a few plants. Trying to remove roots from dry soil, on the other hand, usually does not eliminate the problem because pieces of root that remain in the soil sprout and form new plants."

Of course, anytime you dig plants or cut them back to the ground, you run the risk of poisoning.

Chemical control options are also available for poison ivy. The trick is to kill the poison ivy without harming the lawn, trees, shrubs or other desirable plants nearby.

"Read the labels on the herbicides you find at your local garden center," Lantagne says. "Any that list poison ivy on the label will control it, though some will require several treatments to be effective. Most will also damage other plants that come in contact with the airborne spray or the active ingredient that remains in the soil after the poison ivy is dead."

Always follow label directions on mixing and applying herbicides, Lantagne adds. The directions will tell you how to use the product safely and effectively.

Gardens near and far celebrate advent of spring

BY ELAINE STEIB

The chilly days of late winter have melted away and the days of a green, warm spring are just around the corner.

For those anxious to plan a spring vacation, areas of Michigan, Chicago and Charleston can be just the place to see blooming flowers and gardens.

Plan a trip in April or May when garden walks are at their peak in scent and color.

In Michigan, plan on visiting:

The Dow Gardens - Located in Midland, the gardens are open from 10 a.m. to sunset seven days a week. An annual admission card ($1) is required.

Hidden Lake Gardens - Michigan State University maintains 670 acres of natural landscape scenery and cultivated plant collections in the Irish Hills. Features include a greenhouse complex, lake picnic area, six-mile paved drive, five miles of hiking trails and thousands of labeled trees, shrubs and flowers. From April 1 to Oct. 31, the garden is open from 8 a.m. to dusk. The cost is $2 a person on weekends and $1 on weekdays.

Blossomtime Festival - Southwest Michigan's fruit belt welcomes the season with its annual festival May 1-7. The highlight is the Grand Floral Parade on May 7 with 30 floats moving from St.

Joseph to Benton Harbor.

Holland

Tulip Festival -

From May

11-14,

visitors will get a chance to see three parades, stage shows and tulip farms.

Grand Traverse Bay region - Go see the cherry orchards. In spring, the blossoming fruit trees provide wonderful contrast with a countryside so green it's sometimes called Little Ireland. There are plenty of accommodations for a week or a long weekend.

The Lincoln Park Conservatory - The outdoor Main Garden covers more than a city block and is a rainbow of color in the spring. Grandma's Garden shows off almost 40,000 old-fashioned blooms.

Chicago Botanic Garden - A series of interconnected islands, lakes and waterways display 2,300 varieties of plants over 300 acres.

If you want to go south in the spring, visit Charleston, S.C. It's dripping with magnolias and Spanish moss. The city is filled with colorful private gardens, making every walk a special occasion.

The most famous gardens are on the plantations, and they are filled with azaleas and camellias.

Spring flood: What to do if water fills your basement

If your basement is taking on the appearance of an indoor pool, you have a problem.

Detroit Edison offers safety tips to help protect your family, home and electrical appliances before, during and after a flood.

Before flood threatens:

- Have your electrical outlets in the basement or other areas rewired for placement above your estimate of the highest possible water level. Make sure your wiring complies with the National Electric Code.

- Disconnect electric power to all basement outlets, appliances, extension cords and equipment, including furnaces.

It also might be advisable to shut off the natural gas at your meter.

- If possible, raise all appliances above the anticipated water level.

When basement is flooded:

- Never step into a flooded basement or other area if water is in contact with power outlets or any electrically energized appliance, such as a washer, dryer, freezer, furnace blower motor, dehumidifier or lamp. You could receive a severe and possibly life-threatening shock. Not even rubber boots can guarantee protection in this situation.

- Do not attempt to remove a fuse or turn off a circuit breaker while standing in water or on a damp floor. This should have been done before the basement flooded. If you must have the electricity to your basement disconnected, call an electrician or Detroit Edison.

After the flood:

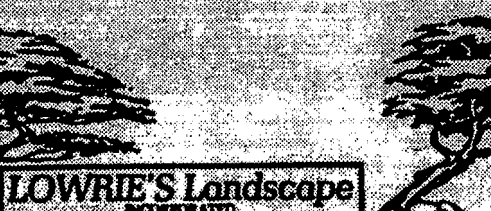

- When the water in the basement has receded, don't try to operate or determine the condition of appliances or other equipment that has been submerged. You could be in danger of electrical shock.

- Your best safeguard is to call a qualified electrician to determine the condition of your basement's electrical wiring, an appliance repair agency to service your appliances and a furnace service to check and restart your furnace. These agencies are listed in the yellow pages of your telephone directory.

Add murmuring grasses to your landscape

Think of "landscaping grasses" and most of us picture an expanse of manicured green lawn.

But, there are many other kinds of grasses that can be used in place of shrubs or perennials: tall, graceful-murmuring grasses that look great all year round (with a once-a-year cutting); some that can be plucked to make dry grass arrangements; and, as a bonus, most are highly attractive to wildlife (especially to birds and butterflies) for both food and shelter.

Meadows and prairies are primarily grasses. The grasses lie thick under the showy meadow wildflowers - sort of like the noodles under a colorful pasta sauce (though I admit my image may have occurred to me in one of my hungrier moments).

Whether your yard can accommodate a meadow or just a spot or two of decorative grasses, there are some native kinds to consider:

● Switch grass (Panicum virgatum): A tall (4 to 6 feet), dense-stemmed grass that hisses and rustles pleasingly in winter winds. It's a good soil binder and is often used in erosion control work. Its dense growth makes it good wildlife habitat and its large seeds attract a wide variety of sparrows. Its bleached blond winter color enhances a landscape.

● Big Bluestem (Andropogon gerardi): Another tall (4 to 6 feet) grass, a mainstay of midwestern United States prairies and excellent as a forage for cattle as it once was for buffalo. Its early summer first leaves are blue, but its flower heads are deep purple. Its texture is quite delicate.

● Indian grass (Sorghastrum nutans): Another tall grass, and one in colorful but subtle bloom in early to mid-August. It sprouts readily in full sun in good, warm soil. It forms a dense clump, thereby lending itself well to individual plantings. A fascinating side-feature: the dried seeds wriggle and writhe, jump and twist when moistened with water - probably a help to these light seeds in reaching the soil through dense, unburnt prairie thatch.

● Broom sedge (Andropogon virginicus): A relative of big bluestem, it is intense pinkish-orange in winter, spectacular against new-fallen snow. Its tiny seeds are relished by a number of sparrow species.

If you'd like to seek out some native grasses available for landscaping, you'll find a good resource in "Grasses, an Identification Guide" by Lauren Brown.

Seeds for grasses may be harvested during the winter months from nearby fields or ordered from a nursery or mail-order house that sells grasses, as species or as mixtures.

Why not give grasses a try?

Carpenter ants can become household pests

Hundreds of species of ants live in the United States. Fortunately, most of them never think about coming indoors.

In Michigan, a number of ants may become household pests, but the ant capable of causing the most trouble inside is the carpenter ant.

"Generally, a large black ant one-fourth to one-half inch long is likely to be a carpenter ant," says Gary Dunn, extension entomologist at Michigan State University. "They get their name from their habit of excavating wood for their nests."

Unlike termites, they don't eat wood. But the end result is the same: wood riddled and weakened by the insects' excavations.

Carpenter ants usually start their excavating in moist wood. Once it gets established, an ant colony generates enough moisture to support decay fungi. Together, the ants and the fungi can do serious damage.

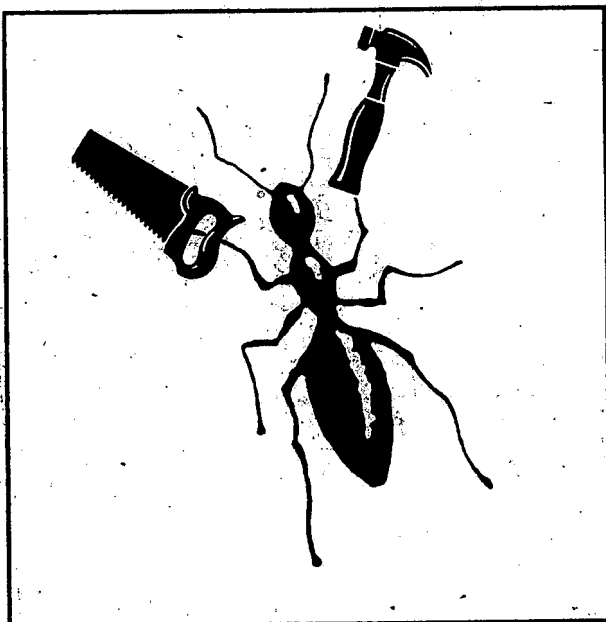

"Carpenter ants sometimes come into the house on firewood," Dunn says. "Any wood that you suspect of harboring ants should be left outdoors until you're ready to put it on the fire."

If in midwinter you find big black ants indoors that could not have come inside on firewood, you can generally assume they are nesting inside. At any time of the year, finding five or more ants in your house in one day suggests an infestation nearby.

Observe the ants' coming and going to determine whether they are coming in from outdoors. If the ants' travels take them over a doorsill at one corner of an exterior door that doesn't fit tightly, you know they're coming in from outdoors.

If you trace them behind the refrigerator to a hole behind the baseboard or an electrical outlet, they may or may not be nesting inside.

The best way to control an ant infestation is to treat the nest directly with an insecticide recommended for ant control. If you can't find the nest, you will have to use insecticidal sprays or dusts on surfaces where ants crawl.

Spray or sprinkle insecticide dust as close as possible to the place where you think the nest is located. Be sure to treat cracks or other openings that ants use to enter a room or nearby surfaces they may crawl over.

Spray or dust once a month and give the insecticide a few days to take effect. If ants still appear, they are entering over surfaces you failed to treat. It may take several treatments to achieve control.

If ants are coming from outdoors, try to find the nest and apply an insecticide. To discourage further ant invasions, you can treat the ground around foundation walls and under porches and steps with an insecticide in granular form.

Carpenter ants may be nesting in decaying wood inside the house or in rotten wood outside and merely coming in to forage for food.

Removing the decaying log or tree stump or replacing any rotting wood in your house needs to be part of the control process. If you fail to do this, the welcome mat will be out for future invasions.

"Baits are sometimes effective in controlling ants when you can not find the nest," Dunn says. "Baits contain a poison that foraging workers eat and carry back to the nest to feed the queen and immature ants. To be effective, baits must be attractive to the foraging ants. For instance, a sugar-based bait will not appeal to ants foraging on grease. And even a bait that the ants would find desirable won't work if you don't put it where the ants will run into it."

Take good care of your wooden deck

Whether you're planning a new deck or planning to spruce up your old one, you may save time and money by avoiding a too "wooden" attitude. Here are some hints that may help.

● Use a stain and preservative specifically designed for decks. They'll protect against sun, water and heavy traffic longer than others.

● Before you assemble a new deck, stain the underside and edges of the boards. It makes the job easier, with less dripping. Before staining the tops, let them weather. Four to six weeks of weathering - six months for pressure-treated lumber - lets the stain and preservative penetrate more deeply for better protection.

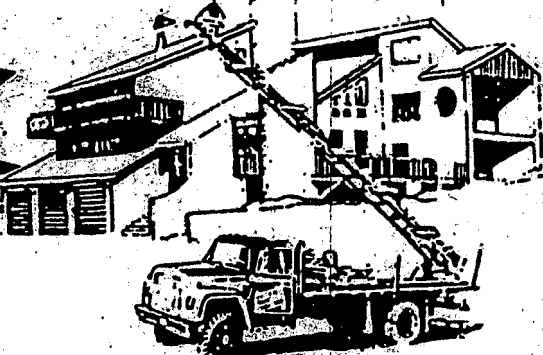

● Stain a small section first. Pick an inconspicuous area and brush out your stain. Get a feel for how it goes on, how long it takes to dry and how it looks on wood.

Asking the right home insurance questions

BY ESTHER PETERSON

Your home is probably the single largest purchase you will make in your lifetime. Knowing the right questions to ask before purchasing homeowners insurance

How to inventory

Do you know what you own? You probably think you do, but could you come up with a complete list of all your personal possessions if you had to - your furniture, appliances, clothing, valuables, and everything else you keep in your home?

Having an inventory of your possessions can be a huge help if your home is damaged by fire or wind, or if some of your possessions are stolen. Such a list is needed if a homeowner's insurance claim is to be settled fairly.

Now is a good time to put together a list or inventory of all your personal property.

Get a clipboard, a pen and some paper and go from room to room, recording key items of information for each item: When it was acquired; the serial number, if any; the purchase price; and what it would cost to replace it.

If you wish, take photos of your possessions also. Be sure to take close-ups of smaller items, and don't forget to photograph the contents of drawers and closets.

Videotaping is becoming a popular way to do a home inventory. You can record information on each item on the audio portion of the tape. Audio tapes alone are a possibility.

Whatever method you use, keep your completed inventory in a safe place away from home, such as a bank safe deposit box, along with receipts for your major possessions.

And keep your inventory up-to-date. When you acquire new things, add them to your list, photo collection or videotape.

can help reassure you that this large investment will be properly protected in case of theft, fire or other losses.

When do you need homeowners insurance?

Most lenders require that a buyer have homeowners insurance before a mortgage loan can be secured. If your home is paid off, you still need insurance to cover your possessions and to repair or replace your home in case of fire or other damage. If you're renting, you should have insurance to cover your possessions and the cost of interim housing if your apartment or house is damaged so extensively that you can't live there during repairs.

What is protected in a standard policy?

A homeowners policy will cover your property from accidental losses such as fire, theft and vandalism specified in your policy. Some policies, though, cover all losses except those caused by some peril such as flood or earthquake. Be sure and ask what losses are covered. A standard policy also contains liability insurance to cover accidental losses or injury to visitors to your home. For example, the medical expenses for someone who hurts his back while slipping on a rug in your house would be covered.

Are there coverage limits on certain items?

Yes. Jewelry, furs, antiques, art collections and other expensive items are covered in a standard policy, but only up to a specific figure. If the value of the items you own exceeds that figure, you should buy extra insurance to cover them.

How much coverage do I need?

A lender will usually require coverage for the amount of the loan to be certain that the loan is paid off in case of a total loss. You should consider, however, insuring the replacement cost of your home. Some policies automatically increase the amount with inflation. Others don't, so be sure to ask.

Where can I purchase homeowners insurance?

Ask for recommendations of insurance agents and companies from friends, co-workers or from your real estate agent. It's to your advantage to shop around to get the best policy at the best price for your needs. Don't purchase a policy just on price, but also understand a higher price doesn't mean better coverage or service. Make sure the coverage is adequate, and check out the agent and company to ensure you'll get quality service in the future.

Is landscaping insured?

A homeowners policy covers outdoor trees and plants up to a certain amount, although lawns are usually not covered. The coverage protects against fire, lightning and vandalism, but not disease.

Besides purchasing insurance, how else can I protect my home?

Install a smoke detector and a good security system. If your home has a fireplace, be sure you use a fire screen. Of course, never allow anyone to smoke in bed. The kitchen is a particularly vulnerable area, so it is important to keep the broiler clean and the appliances unplugged when not in use. You should also engrave valuable items such as your television, stereo, computer, etc., with your social security number or other identification. This will help return the item in case of theft.

What do I do after a fire or other damage or theft?

If you have a small fire that you extinguished yourself, it still may be important to contact the fire department. Sometimes a fire looks like it is extinguished when it is not. Next, contact your insurance agent or company to initiate the claims procedure and help arrange for temporary housing if necessary. You can help speed up claims procedures by having an up-to-date inventory of your possessions. Room-by-room photos are excellent reminders.

What's the difference between termites, ants?

A. You don't have to worry about planting seeds upside-down. Unlike bulbs and corms, which have to be properly oriented with the root end down, seeds will manage to get their roots down and their tops up no matter how you plant them.

Q. I've never grown a vegetable garden. What would be some easy, foolproof plants for my first try?

A. No plants are foolproof, but some give better returns for the space they take up with fewer problems.

Bush snap beans generally have few disease or insect problems. Summer squash, cucumbers, tomatoes, peppers, leaf lettuce, spinach and carrots are also good crops for beginners.

If you don't mind dealing with little green caterpillars, you can add broccoli and cabbage to your list.

Crops such as peas, sweet corn, potatoes and vining squash are not particularly difficult to grow, but they tend to take up more space in proportion to their harvest.

If your garden space is limited - or if you're trying to keep your first garden small and manageable - these might be good crops to avoid.

Q. How can I tell if the swarms of flying insects around my house are ants or termites?

A. Winged ants are wasp-waisted - that is, they are pinched at the waistline - while termites are thick-bodied with no discernible waistline. The front and rear wings of termites are about the same size, while ants have smaller rear wings.

Q. Is there any way to prevent the old apple tree in my yard from producing apples? The tree is too big to spray easily so the apples get all wormy. Then, when they fall on the ground, they rot and make the whole yard smell like apple vinegar.

A. The best way to cure your problem is to turn the apple tree into firewood and plant another tree that doesn't bear fruit.

Of the other alternatives to prevent fruiting, removing the blossoms is obviously out of the question because of the size of the tree.

And if the tree is difficult to spray, using hormone sprays to discourage fruit-set will not be easy. Not that that's simple in any case. It requires precise application of just the right chemical at just the right concentration at precisely the correct stage in fruit development.

Too high a concentration may harm foliage and growing shoots; too low a concentration may cause even more fruit to form than usual.

Spraying the wrong chemical or applying the right chemical at the wrong time may have no effect at all. Even if you do everything right, an untimely rain may wash the spray off.

In other words, there is no easy way to have a fruit tree without fruit.
