No lease

Township, village bicker over beach lease length

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Improvements to Deer Lake Beach and parking lot have been put on hold until the Independence Township Board and the Clarkston Village Council reach an agreement on the beach lease.

In April, the township board approved a renewal of the five-year lease in existence since the mid-1970s, but the village council rejected it and instead offered a one-year lease covering two summers.

At the May 17 meeting, the township board tabled the issue until Supervisor Frank Ronk could negotiate an agreement with village council President Sharron Catallo.

Ronk said Catallo was out of town, but he would talk with her when she returns.

"The village is looking at cityhood. ... That might change the character of the whole thing," Ronk said. "It's probably a four- to five-year program."

Board members did not favor a one-year lease.

"I have somewhat of a problem with this, in that we are in the process of installing nearly $3,000 worth of fencing down there," said Ronk.

Parks and Recreation Department Director Timothy Doyle said the parking lot and beach are to be improved this year as well.

He asked how to proceed with the improvements and the day-to-day operations of the beach.

Board candidates to present their views

Candidates for the Clarkston Board of Education have been invited to participate in two upcoming "Meet the Candidates" nights.

Questions submitted by audience members will be the primary focus for the session planned by the League of Women Voters of the Clarkston area on Thursday, June 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Cards will be provided so audience members can submit questions any time during the presentation. Questions may be submitted for a specific candidate.

The session will be filmed by Independence-Clarkston cable-TV for airing on Channel 65.

On Wednesday, June 8, the Clarkston Area Optimists Club is sponsoring a "Meet the Candidates" night from 7:30 to 9 at 20 Depot Street restaurant. The candidates have been asked to make a presentation.

Search is on for unlicensed dogs in township

Dog owners, beware.
Workers from Oakland County Animal Control (OCAC) are going door to door in Independence Township to count animals and to be sure that each dog is licensed.

In Independence, as well as other townships, a majority of dogs are not licensed, said Carl Anderson, manager of OCAC. In the first month, 1,000 tickets have been issued.

"It's really surprising how many unlicensed dogs there are out there," Anderson said, adding an annual census is required by state law.

In the past, different methods have been used, but this is the first time a team of six people has traveled door to door, he said. The census is to continue through September.

If dogs are not licensed, owners will receive a ticket, which will cost about $30. Plus, they'll be required to purchase a $15 license after they prove their animals have received a rabies vaccination, he said.

If a dog owner buys a license within 15 days of receiving a ticket, the ticket will be voided, said Anderson.

The census next year should be easier because the county now has a computer system that will hold the names and addresses of licensed dog owners, and notices will be mailed, he said.

One purpose of a license is to control rabies, which have been found in Oakland County bats each year. Rabies have been found in dogs in Lapeer and Tuscola counties, he said.

Licenses also provide a dog's way home if he gets loose.

Last year, 13,000 animals went through animal control; 1,000 were returned to their owners; 1,000 were adopted; and the rest were put to sleep, Anderson said.

Independence, Clarkston debate Deer Lake beach lease length

"I think the township is doing an excellent job administrating the beach. We're grateful to them; really. But the expired contract was left strictly to the township's option to renew every five years. ... We would like some input on long range policies."

Residents have complained about congestion but not about operations, Millard said, adding the village would like to take part in solving congestion problems and would eventually like a long term lease again.

Trustee Dale Stuart said they hadn't received a notice to leave, so Doyle should sell beach passes as usual and hire lifeguards and swimming instructors but should not begin the long-term improvements until the contract is settled.

Township Attorney Gerald Fisher noted another change in the village's proposed lease.

The new lease says that any improvements would remain on the property after the lease is terminated.

The first lease called for the village to pay one-half of the costs for any improvements not covered by permit sales.

He also said that residents who buy beach passes should be notified that the passes are subject to a lease agreement.

Village Council Trustee Frank Millard, who was in the audience during the discussion, said beach passes shouldn't be affected by the lease.

"I don't think this season will be affected," he said. "... There isn't any intent to deprive the citizens of the beach this summer, if at all."

Improvements are not the biggest issue with the village, but rather control of the beach is the issue, Millard said. The previous lease was perpetual in nature, since it included an option to renew for five years if the township gives a 60-day notice, he said.

"The way the township is growing, the village isn't sure if it wants to tie it up long term," he said.

After the meeting, Millard said the village did not want to take back the beach and operate it.

Planners approve of renovation project in concept

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A building on Ortonville Road that formerly held a car dealership is to be renovated for office and commercial use.

Ed Adler, of Lehman Investments which owns the 2.53-acre property on M-15, said he planned to remodel the exterior and the interior and rent the space for office and commercial space.

The Independence Township Planning Commission unanimously approved his conceptual site plan May 19 with compliments on the improvements.

"It looks like a very noticeable improvement to the area," said Richard Oppmann. "It's a well-prepared plan."

Joseph Figa also liked the project.

"It will be a big improvement for the township," he said. "It will spruce up the entrance to the village."

Jo Fussman voiced approval for the proposed remodeling.

"It's a beautiful exterior," she said. "It will enhance the area greatly, compared with what we've been looking at for a couple of years."

Steve Secatch suggested contacting the owner of the adjacent property on the north side to jointly improve the area between the two buildings. He suggested removing the cyclone fence and turning the area into a landscaped strip.

Township planner Richard Carlisle said the plan met most ordinance requirements and needed minor lighting and landscaping changes.

"Because of its location, the size of the lot and the proximity to the village, this site has a lot of potential," he said. "I'm excited about the multi-use."

The site was previously used as an auto dealership by Hosler Pontiac, said Carlisle, adding the variances issued by the Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) for setbacks were still in effect, and the project would not need another ZBA approval.

Adler, who owns the Clarkston Mills Mall, Washington Street, Clarkston, explained his plans for the interior.

"I have a feeling that it's going to be mostly offices, maybe 30 to 40 percent commercial," he said. "I would prefer offices. Offices are easier to get along with, less traffic."

Interest in the property has ranged from a car dealership to sales representatives who need a small space to make phone calls and store their samples.

"I've never owned a piece of real estate that I've received so many phone calls about," he said. "I sort of went through this with the Clarkston Mills. It was very unsuccessful as retail. We just went through a transition. ... We're going to get this started and sort of play it by ear."

Bruce Mercado expressed approval.

"It's an interesting concept, and I hope it works," he said. "There's certainly a need for it."

The Rev. Robert Walters, of Calvary Lutheran Church behind Adler's property, said the church property still holds debris from Haupt Pontiac.

"If I know Mr. Adler, I know it will be taken care of," he said.

"I'm looking forward to a more attractive neighbor. Mr. Adler isn't attractive, but the building will be," he said, joking.

Home and happy

A 43-year-old Independence Township man who was injured in a freak accident in his front yard April 15 is home from the hospital and recuperating.

"It's good to be home," said Chuck Griffith, of Clarkston Road.

Griffith, who returned home May 20, had been in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital exactly five weeks, after many hours of surgery, he said.

He injured his head and arm when he was somehow caught beneath a pile of trusses that were being hauled from his front yard to his back yard.

Griffith is to return to the hospital in four to six weeks for neurosurgery to restore the use to his right arm, he said, commending the staff at POH for their good work.

"They're just tremendous," he said. "I could have lost my arm."

The quick action from the Independence Township emergency medical technicians and from Fiet Ambulance also saved him, he said.

"Two or three doctors said I never should have lived through this. Because of their response, I did."

A social worker at Troy High School, Griffith hopes the summer is enough time for surgery and recuperation and plans to return to work in September, he said.

In the meantime, he's glad to be home and appreciates all the help he's received.

"The community has been so responsive to us, it's overwhelming. Many of them I don't even know. It's unbelievable. We just want to let them know how grateful we are."

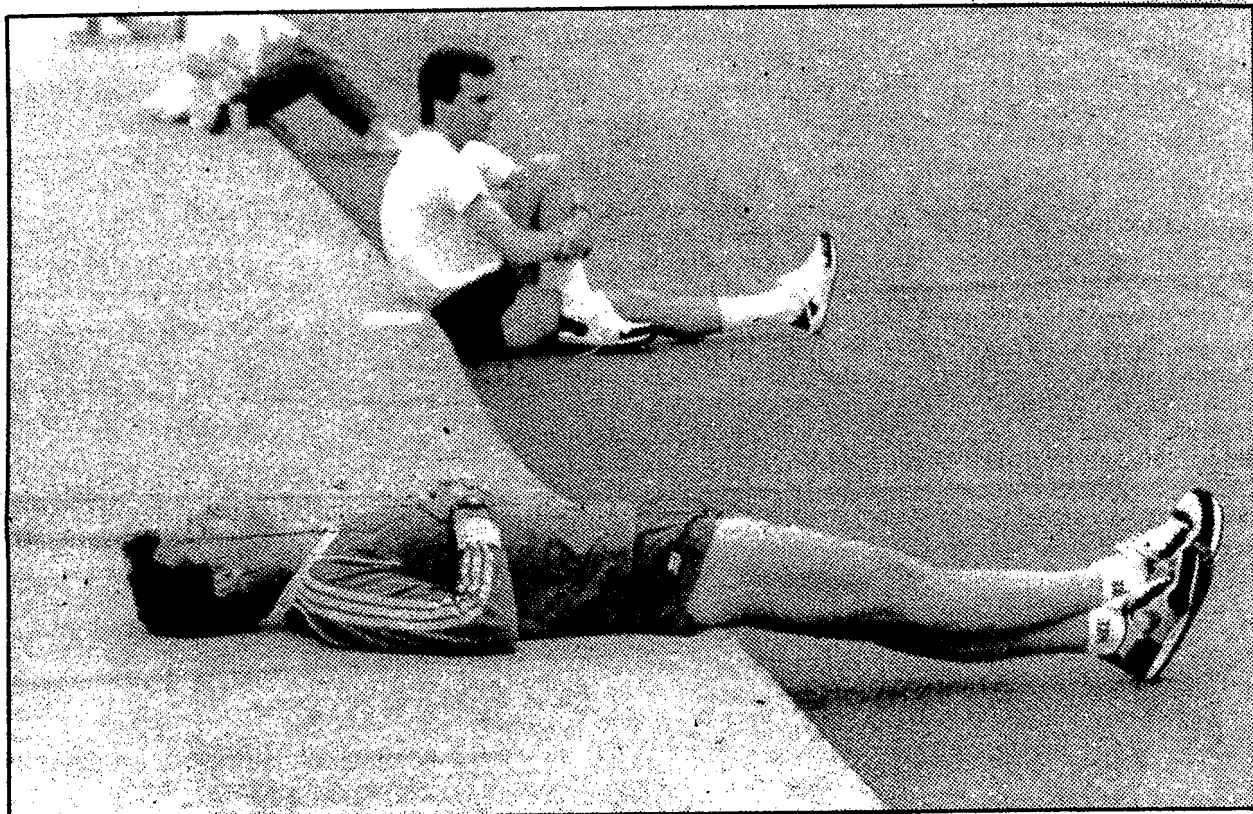

Parents from Bailey Lake Elementary School signed up for a day each and brought meals every day for a whole month. Deputy Steve Parker from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department stopped by to see how he was doing. And his family has been supportive, too, he said.

"The boys (Brandon, Brent and David) are happy to have me home. They're good little nurses."

While his wife, Sheri, visited him at the hospital, her parents, Weldon and Asaleeta Morgan ran the household, he said. Also, his daughter, Courtney, traveled from Pennsylvania to visit.

Other people from the community volunteered help for a day, too, he said.

"It's a good community," said Griffith. "We'll try to pay them back."

Pond dispute headed for courts?

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A class action suit against the owner of the Mill Pond cofferdam to stop the lowering of the water level is possible by week's end.

If the Mill Pond doesn't return to normal by Thursday, the village council has instructed its attorney John Steckling to pursue an injunction against the dam owner Ed Adler.

On Monday night, about 50 people attended the village council meeting to ask for the help. All who spoke said it was difficult for them to get answers from Adler and the Department of Natural Resources.

Something needed to be done quickly to prevent serious damage to the area, both in property value and ecologically, they said.

"There is distortion being done," said Jack Cruikshank, a Glenburnie Drive village resident. "What kind of person are we dealing with?"

Before taking Adler to court, however, the village council decided to let DNR officials try to settle the water level problem with the dam owner. An official from the DNR was to inspect the Mill Pond May 24.

Another Glenburnie Drive resident, Bill Morse, also spoke out at the village council meeting.

He had been to the local DNR office earlier in the day and reported that an officer there said Adler had no right to shut off the water supply.

He said the DNR probably is the best recourse for the Mill Pond residents at this point in time. The more complaints they hear, the faster something will be done, he added.

"The wheel that squeaks gets the oil," he said. "So everybody squeak."

Morse also inquired about whether or not he was entitled to a tax refund since his property is taxed as being on the waterfront.

"I'm being taxed for waterfront property, not mud property," he said. "I want my taxes changed."

The Mill Pond residents asked the village council if they would take over control of the cofferdam. When asked by the village council for his opinion, Steckling gave two thumbs down.

"I have not been in favor (of the village taking over the cofferdam) because of the major unknown liabilities," he said. "Somebody always will be unhappy. There is not enough water to go around."

President Sharron Catallo said she personally doesn't care who owns it and that Adler has never seriously discussed giving it to the village.

Adler could not be reached for comment.

Crash injures one

An 83-year-old Royal Oak man was seriously injured May 19 when he hit a semi truck head-on in a construction zone on Dixie Highway, east of I-75, Springfield Township.

Axel Peter Jacobsen's condition was improved May 24 at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

The driver of the truck, Kevin Michael Speaks, 28, of Burt, was not injured.

Apparently, Speaks was entering Dixie Highway from an I-75 and was making a wide turn, when Jacobsen ran into him, according to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Both drivers were wearing seat belts, and no tickets were issued, according to the police report. Dixie Highway was closed for about two hours during the investigation and clean up.

Lake Oakland stump battle ends

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The root of Lake Oakland residents' problems may disappear this week.

The final tree stumps on the shores of Lake Oakland are to be removed from American Legion property and from property owned by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) at the north end of the lake in Independence Township, said Oakland County Drain Commissioner George Kuhn.

Kuhn met May 11 with representatives of the DNR and from Lake Oakland and negotiated a settlement that would not use the five-foot stumps. The type of habitat to be used instead has not been determined, said Kuhn.

In February, the stumps were placed on four areas of the frozen Lake Oakland to replace fish habitat damaged by residents who overzealously cut tree stumps last fall during a four-foot lake lowering authorized by the DNR and the drain commission.

When residents protested the size and sudden appearance of the stumps, a compromise was reached in three areas, where "substitute logs" of concrete pipes and mats of crushed stone on fabric were placed.

The DNR proposed keeping the fourth area natural by placing some of the five-foot stumps in front of the legion hall where lake users don't water ski.

However, members of the American Legion Chief Pontiac Post 377 voted to not allow the stumps at their end of the lake.

Jack L. Banycky, chairperson of the board of trustees at the Legion, said the Legion members were concerned with stumps that might protrude above the water or just beneath the surface.

"I think it's rather foolish to lower the level of the lake to take the stumps out, and then put them back in," he said, adding the stumps are unsightly in their current spot on the Legion beach.

The liability of a man-made habitat, such as large stumps, could be costly if someone were injured, said Kuhn, adding he was pleased to work out the problem with the Legion and with the representatives at the Lansing meeting.

"It was a pretty smooth meeting," Kuhn said. "I want to commend the DNR publicly for working out the negotiations. ... That ought to be good news to the people. We've wrapped up the whole issue. It's been a long, drawn-out battle. I feel very happy about it."

2 signs wanted for Dixie condos

A year after construction began, developers of Clarkston Bluffs condominiums, on the north side of Waterford Hill returned to the planning commission for a change to the site plan.

Developer Charles Bowles told the commission May 19 that he planned to change the sign location and add landscaping and two entrance structures on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

After a brief discussion, the commission voted 6-1 to approve the modified site plan but restricted the site to only one ground sign - either in the median or on one of the entrance structures - as the ordinance allows.

Instead of placing the sign in the island of the boulevard entrance, Bowles proposed to put one sign on both sides of the entrance and surround it with a brick structure that would be built into the hills with landscaping around it.

Richard Oppmann cast the lone no vote.

"We've spent a lot of time trying to limit the number of signs in the township," he said. "... It would set a very dangerous precedent in the township. The sign looks very nice, but I would not be in favor of it."

Bowles said he planned to apply for a variance from the zoning board of appeals (ZBA) to have two signs.

Chairperson Brent Bair, who also serves on the ZBA, did not favor two signs.

"I have difficulty setting a precedent. We can't sit here and approve two signs," he said, adding it was a ZBA decision.

"The ZBA is going to ask, 'Where's the hardship?' ... Topography can be a hardship. I'm not convinced it is here. ... If we do that, we're going to be faced with two signs on every boulevard entrance, maybe not as nice as this."

Bowles explained his reasoning. The sign ordinance allows one sign, but each sign has two sides. His proposal simply split the sides and put them somewhere else. Also, the signs looked better on the sides rather than in the median, and the median sign might restrict the view of drivers.

Clarkston Bluffs is a 148-unit condominium project built into the north side of Waterford Hill.

Memorial Day events honor war veterans

Memorial Day is for remembering and honoring community veterans who gave their lives in our wars and for those who gave services to their country.

With this in mind, Campbell Richmond Post 63, The American Legion, invites all community residents to join in honoring those veterans who gave their lives and those who gave service to their country.

Post members will place flags on veterans' graves on Sunday morning, May 29. A Memorial Day parade will take place on Monday, May 30 at 10 a.m.

Post 63 and the Color Guard from Chief Pontiac Post 377 will lead the parade from the corner of Church and Buffalo to Main Street, then down Washington, west to Holcomb, then to Lakeview Cemetery where a memorial service will take place.

Commander Melvin Mercier, of the American Legion, requests that no horses, autos, bikes or pets enter the parade because of the solemn purpose of the day.

The program at Lakeview will include: the national anthem, invocation, a vocal group singing "America the Beautiful," roll call of deceased veterans, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," vocal group singing "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," the Gettysburg Address, salute to departed comrades (wreath, rifle volley, taps), and a benediction.

The first proclamation of Memorial Day declared, in part: "The 30th of May is designed for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country."

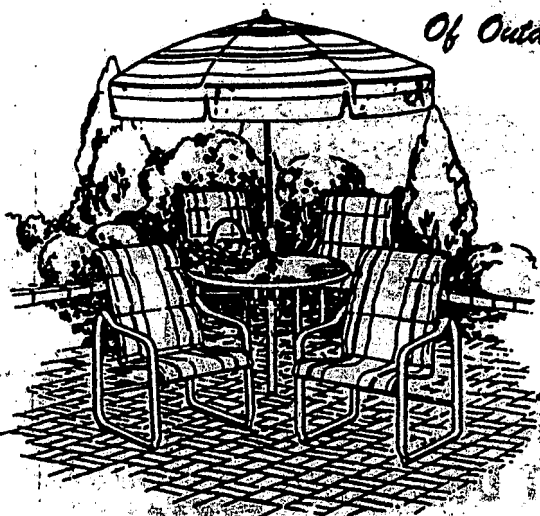

It is the purpose of the Commander in Chief of the G.A.R. to inaugurate this observance with hope that it will be kept up from year to year while a survivor of the war remains to honor his departed comrades.

Memorial Day remembers these lost comrades: Civil War dead - Union, 364,000, Confederate - 143,000; Spanish American War - 11,000; World War I - 116,000; World War II - 406,000; Korean War - 55,000; Vietnam War - 58,000.

Opinions

Dog tale

Kathy Greenfield

"How Smart Are Animals?" read the cover of Newsweek with the subtitle "They Know More Than You Think." I doubt it, thought I, but I read the report anyway.

I learned about scientific tests with chimps, parrots, sea lions and dolphins. The report took on a philosophical tone, frequently questioning the definition of "smart" - do we (or should we) measure intelligence only by human standards?

The chimp can master sign language words, but can it put together sentences in the proper sequence? Higher mathematics seems lost on creatures other than people. Should such things as sensitivity to the earth's magnetic field (and a remarkable sense of direction) count?

My working knowledge about animals comes from having them as pets, knowing them as individuals and realizing, as my husband puts it, that they've all outsmarted us.

He's the one who treats every creature as if it were a fellow human. It doesn't matter that they don't speak English, he talks to them all the time. They've all responded by adoring him.

One of the most interesting of our menagerie was Nicky, a parakeet. His open-door cage sat above a topless wooden box lined with straw, the home of our two guinea pigs. One day I noticed that he was in the box with the guinea pigs, each of which was easily four times his size.

Using his beak as a pointer, he was herding the guinea pigs at will, a game he never tired of, although the guinea pigs did.

More recently, our cat surprised me. As Felicia's grown older, she's become more sedate and she no longer wants to romp outside during the winter months. She also eats Brandy's dry dog food if her bowl is empty.

We took her to the vet's for some shots and were told (no surprise) that she was too fat. Our daughter came home for a visit and she, too, expressed shock at her condition. "It's because she never wants to go out in winter any more," I said.

The next time the front door was opened, she shot outside, and she kept going out on a regular basis after that - snow or no snow. She's no longer tremendously chunky.

My favorite thinking animal story, however, involves Hooper, the black Labrador retriever of friends. She came over by herself for a visit last summer.

Hooper had been over several times with her owners. She likes our house, because she and Brandy have what could only be called a friendship, but she is not a roamer and she has been trained not to cross Main Street without an escort. Apparently, though, this was a trying time.

Work was under way on Hooper's house and uproar and strangers were the watchwords. We decided she was seeking refuge at the home of her friend. Maybe she just needed to "talk."

First date

Carolyn Walker

The trauma of my teenage daughter's first date to a dance started when we stood before the bathroom mirror perfecting her hairdo.

Instead of reaching down to put braids in her hair like I used to do not so very long ago, I reached up with a hot curling iron and attempted to turn curls into her resisting brown hair.

She really is taller than me now.

Peeking around her shoulders into the mirror my eyes met hers, full of mischief and beauty and enthusiasm for life.

"I have turned into my mother," I told her, meaning that worry marks now cross my face and that my youthful figure is gone, my hair is gray and my dances are behind me.

"My mother used to stand where I am now, fiddling with my hairdo. And I used to be you - the beautiful girl in the mirror."

My words went right past her. "Ooh! This hair never will do what I want it to do - unless I'm not going anywhere," she said angrily and harumphed out of the bathroom to get her shoes.

Her date for the evening belongs to my best friend. I remember when he was born, all head and mouth and big blue eyes.

Standing in our living room in a suit and tie, with his hands shrugged into his pockets, he was a handsome vision of emerging promises: maturity, responsibility, confidence.

The only thing was, he wasn't wearing any socks.

His mother and I drove them over to get the couple they were doubling with and to meet their parents.

There was a lot of picture taking, during which the teens looked "tortured" as my friend put it, and a lot of reminiscing. The five parents present couldn't agree on whether or not it had been a long time or a short time since they were in high school.

We all did agree, however, that some day the teens would be glad they had their first dates documented on film.

A lot of important things happened at the ninth-grade dance, I found out later.

One girl fell while dancing, a lot of couples danced at least three feet apart, one girl got permission to stay out until dawn, a few couples showed up in formals and tuxedos even though they weren't supposed to, some kids could only slow dance, at least one boy took a 10th-grader, and the chicken eaten at a restaurant after the dance was mostly batter and not much meat.

However, the first thing my daughter said when she got into the car to come home was, "My feet are killing me. I've got blisters on my toes and they broke."

Her date said, "Oh, gross!"

And I thought, but did not say, "He's the one who should have the blisters. He's not wearing any socks."

I was glad they couldn't see me misty-eyed and smiling to myself in the dark.

Jim's Jottings

Grandson Danny has a sister, Karen Marie. Mother Luan, father Bob, Danny and all grandparents are doing well, thank you.

I know all you other grandparents think yours are the most perfect, most beautiful, most contented, most, most, most.

But, Karen is really most, etc.

Round faced, blue eyed, blond ... button nose, shell-like ears, delicate fingers, cute toes, soft and quiet.

I know the latter won't last long, but at 24-hours-old I'll take it.

Right now Danny would rather have a ride on the tractor or boat than talk about Karen. But he has got it figured out that his sister is a girl, his mother is a girl and his grandmother is a girl.

He learned in three years what it took this grandfather 15 years to learn.

My fishing crazy brother Dair said he picked out a certain lake to fish in Canada, but he had to fly into it. The pilot at the Soo told him the lake was too full of fish to land the plane. I think that's the same guy who once told me we would have to push the fish aside to launch a boat.

I got a handy-dandy "exercise away your calories" sliding scale from Oxford Bank. It says if I eat an ounce of potato chips I'll have to run 8 miles to burn off the 150 calories in the spuds.

If I eat a banana split it'll take 67 miles of swimming at 2 miles an hour to use up 540 calories. A bologna sandwich, one of my favorites, with 313 calories, can be reduced to pre-eating level with 49 miles of bicycling. Or, I can burn off the 313 calories with an hour of cutting hedges.

One of the fastest ways to burn off calories is to ski cross country on hard snow, uphill at maximum speed. That takes calories off at 1,116 an hour.

It also puts you under either psychiatric, physicians or undertaker care, at which time you will not be concerned with your caloric intake.

A timely quote from Dave Marr, former Professional Golf Association champion: "Never bet with anyone you meet on the first tee who has a deep suntan, a one iron in his bag and squinty eyes."

And this: A young worker who had been loafing for most of the past year approached an older man just before he was to be reviewed for a raise. "Do you think," he asked anxiously, "that if I really work hard for the next two weeks, I'll get a raise?"

"Son," the older worker replied, "you make me think of a thermometer in a cold room. You can make it register higher by holding your hand over it, but you won't be warming the room."

Keep future bright

Vote YES to the millage this June!!
As a 1982 Clarkston High School graduate, I am begging the voters of the Clarkston community to vote YES for the millage this June. Current and prospective students of the Clarkston school system deserve a quality education.

Due to the availability and quality of the faculty, administration, textbooks, equipment, small classes, school-sponsored clubs and athletics, my 1982 classmates and I have a bright future ahead of us.

The well-rounded education my classmates and I received from the Clarkston school system is due to the voters who said "yes" to us when we needed it the most. If we all vote yes again, we will make the difference between a bright future and no future for the students in Clarkston schools. Voting yes makes the difference.

In closing, I could not make my plea any stronger than the Letter to the Editor previously printed by Jeff Hueber. If possible, I feel many would benefit by a reprint of Jeff Hueber's letter.

Please vote YES!

Drain concerns

In July of this year a project is slated to commence in the Clarkston area known as Phase I of the M-15 drain project.

This involves the placement of a 5-by-8 foot storm drain in the wooded area behind Dr. James O'Neill's office, ending up with a settling basin at the back of the Clarkston Cinema parking lot and then emptying into Dollar Lake.

The drain is being constructed in three phases, and when completed, will accommodate ALL water run-off from the Clarkston High School area down. The plans call for an approximately 30 foot wide, 8 foot deep, 120 foot long open settling basin to be placed at the end of the drain.

This basin will be immediately adjacent to my property (on Hidden Lane). To be exact, it will border my entire front lawn!

Although my own personal concerns regarding the impact this project will have on my property may seem unimportant to the community as a whole, there are concerns that will impact other residents around the lake and it is these concerns that have prompted me to write this letter.

The run-off that will be directed into this drain will be emptying into Dollar Lake. It is important to note that Greens Lake properties will be directly affected by this project as well.

Many concerns have been expressed including the pollution of the lakes, the higher water levels, the endangerment of wildlife, contamination of Dollar Lake residents' wells, back-up of already taxed septic fields and the destruction of another wooded area in this township.

The frustration felt when trying to get these concerns addressed is overwhelming. Repeated calls to the Department of Natural Resources regarding the permit they issued have left many questions unanswered.

Storm water gushing through a large drain brings with it oil from roads and parking lots, fertilizer from lawns and various other debris.

Will the settling basin filter all of this before emptying into the lake? Who will maintain this project long after the initial construction is completed?

Five years from now will Dollar lake be safe for swimming and will the fish, ducks and geese still have a safe and clean haven in which to nest?

Will the settling basin become a cesspool and breeding ground for mosquitoes and rodents? Will the basin be fenced enough to keep a curious child from falling in?

I will not argue the necessity for some type of drain in this particular area, but is this the right solution?

Residents of Dollar lake and surrounding lake-front property owners should demand answers before it is too late. I implore you to contact the DNR in Lansing and the Oakland County Drain Commission to voice your concerns.

Keep the music

The upcoming millage election is the talk of the community. Arguments, pro and con, are being aired everywhere.

In such matters it is easy to say "no" and be done with it. But if that happens this time, our school system will be forced to take a major step backward in the quality of education and offerings made available to our children.

The music program at Clarkston is one of the best in the state, as the recent first division ratings attest. Our musically talented students need the opportunity to attain their individual and collective potential.

If the Plan "A" reductions are implemented for the next school year, our outstanding music programs across the district will be devastated. Our young music people will be denied the opportunity to continue their pursuit of excellence that they have so eagerly strived for, along with many of the committed and dedicated staff who have helped them pursue this goal.

To paraphrase Edmund Burke: "Bad things happen when good people do nothing."

The Clarkston Band Boosters have done everything we can to support Clarkston's music programs. Please join us Monday, June 13, and vote to support the excellent music programs in Clarkston. Our children deserve that from us.

The ripple effect

Nobody likes higher taxes, including me. However, I don't see how we can afford NOT to pass the millage increase on June 13th. A failure would cause too much irreparable damage.

We know the obvious facts, that we would lose teachers, administrators and staff, that some teachers will have to teach classes they are not prepared to teach, that we would limit classroom books and supplies, that we would eliminate classes, music, sports and other activities, that we will shorten students' days, that we would lose college accreditation, etc., etc.

However, I believe that we should also warn the community of what would happen to the community as a result of failure to pass the millage.

Having lived in a community where the millage did not pass, I would like to share some concerns and firsthand observations that I experienced.

Not only were our kids' educations limited but the parents and the community were loaded with additional responsibilities and commitments.

Many parents had to hire sitters to supervise their kids during the additional free time and during those conflicting times when their older kids had classes.

Many parents had to get up earlier to get the kids to school on time. Many sent their kids to school at a later shift and their evenings were limited while their kids were still in school.

Many parents had kids going to school at different times and had to adjust meal times accordingly.

Sports could possibly continue if enough parents are interested and volunteer their time and talents, but it will be difficult to get participation from kids who have to get up early in the day or return for practice at a time when the late shift kids get out of school, not to mention the extra transportation requirements and the additional costs.

The community businesses had to put up with

'If it Fitz . . .'

Cover story

Jim
Fitzgerald

In February, when Mayor Coleman Young phoned me, it was a surprising first. Through the years, our limited exchange of information has always been accomplished through his press secretary. The mayor expressed concern for the safety of a citizen I'd written about, and I hung up with the warm feeling that he really cared about something besides luring conventions downtown.

But now I wonder if there were a more sinister motive for Young's phone call. I'll return to that question in a few paragraphs, but first, there must be this preamble.

Lately there have been many media reports concerning the age of Coleman Young. Several sources say he will be 70 on May 24. But has anyone actually seen his birth certificate?

The mayor recently blasted the media for reporting that around 125 Detroit cops are being investigated for possible illegal involvement with crack cocaine. The mayor apparently believes any such investigation should be a secret from the public until it is completed; charges are made, trials are held, the guilty are sentenced, appeals are filed, convictions are overturned, lawsuits are filed by the police union, all accused officers are cleared and awarded back pay and damages totaling $5 million each, and 20 newspaper reporters are shot for lying in print.

In the meantime, local newspapers will run comics on the front page and TV news will concern the growing number of bag ladies who launched acting careers by first performing before hidden police cameras in Greektown.

In view of these circumstances, it's fair to question the advance publicity given the mayor's alleged 70th birthday. The media have told the public that, in honor of the occasion, the civic center has been renamed in Young's honor, seven birthday parties are planned, and merchants were asked to donate enough gift wrapping to package the riverfront so the mayor can take it home with him when he leaves office. (Young's abdication is expected sometime after the People Mover lives up to passenger projections, or the National Basketball Association playoffs end, whichever comes first.)

What if the hoopla's hokum?

But what if all this advance hoopla were based on hearsay and information received from unreliable sources? What if the mayor's top aides simply wanted to party, so they made up his birthday and leaked it to a gullible press? What if the whole thing is a rumor started by Wayne County Prosecutor John O'Hair so he can raid the seven birthday parties, find seven marijuana butts, and confiscate the Coleman A. Young International Civic Center for use in the fight against drugs?

Or what if the press is simply lying about the 70th birthday to make Young look too old to govern, and he's really only 19? In complaining about reports of the cop-cocaine investigation, the mayor said some stories could have been fabricated by reporters. If they'd lie about police, would they lie about Young's age?

Maybe he was checking up

The last question ends the preamble and brings us back to my phone call from Mayor Young. He said he wanted the identity of an elderly woman who'd complained to me about the crack house next door to her home. She said police raided it Jan. 1 but it was back in business Jan. 22. For obvious reasons, I didn't print her name and address.

At first, I thought Young simply wanted to make sure that crack house was closed, and I was pleased to give him the woman's name and address.

However, that was before he accused the press of lying. Now I'm wondering if the mayor really cared about the woman, or suspected I made her up, and wanted to catch me in a fabrication.

Is it outrageous to make such a suggestion about our esteemed mayor? No more outrageous than for Young to say this newspaper lies to get a sensational story. I know some of the reporters branded liars by Young's accusation, and when he apologizes to them, I'll apologize to him.

students who had additional free time. They limited access to their stores. Kids will congregate wherever they can feel comfortable, and sometimes they will be a nuisance.

Some will very likely end up in trouble, not because they are bad kids, but simply because they have too much free time.

Needless to say, in my former community student morale dropped, teacher morale dropped, community morale dropped, and pride dropped along with the morale.

I moved into this township just a short while ago and I was impressed with the community spirit and pride. I did not see any slum districts nor did I notice any poverty conditions. There is no doubt in my mind that we can afford to support the school system 100 percent.

How can we tell our kids that we really do not care for them? How can we let them even think that they are not important? How can we build self-esteem in our kids if we do not give them a quality education? How can we send these kids to higher education when they are not prepared?

We have to remember that some of these kids may be the future leaders of this community and of our nation.

Even if we do not have kids in school, how can we let them down and look at our neighborhood parents with a clear conscience if we do not support the schools?

Needless to say, I would be very disappointed if the millage did not pass on June 13th, and I would be ashamed to admit that I lived in a community that did not support its school system.

I don't think I could ever consider moving into a neighborhood of that type and I know that many others feel the same way. Obviously, it will be difficult to sell homes and property values will plunge to lower levels. I think that if community pride is allowed to drop it will take a considerably long time and an immense effort to recover (if it were at all possible).

Therefore, I urge all voters to support our kids, support their parents, support our schools, support our community and maintain our spirit and pride. Vote "yes" twice on June 13th.

Better than average

At a recent school board meeting a Clarkston community member addressed the board regarding the upcoming millage vote in June.

He said he could not understand the need to keep pushing for an increase since young people today simply need the basics and should only be given enough of an education to become average citizens. He went on to say that he had not been accepted at any university, but still managed to provide for his family.

While this single person's view, I am sure, is not the overall feeling prevalent in Clarkston, it made me wonder how much people really do know about the district and what it has to offer.

As a 1987 graduate of Clarkston High School now attending Michigan State University, I feel Clarkston schools did a better than "average" job of preparing me for college.

Clarkston is respected as a district with an emphasis on academic excellence and a sufficient amount of extracurricular activities, which provide an all-around quality education.

This is a result of the excellent staff of educators, opportunities available to students, and community support of the schools.

While some community members may have mixed emotions concerning millage issues, they owe it to themselves to acquire the needed information to make clear sound decisions.

Attending board meetings, asking questions, and above all, taking the time to learn, for instance, what Plan A, Plan B, the Headlee Amendment, and in-formula district policies do for Clarkston are a beginning.

After recently talking to many Clarkston graduates about schools and the millage, the consensus reached was that while we have such positive feelings about the education we received, it is frightening to see our brothers, sisters and community in such a desperate situation.

Please take the time to become informed, and by all means vote in June.

Dawn Diederich

Stop complaining

Let's face one undisputable fact, Clarkston: Our school system is in a crisis. With buildings crumbling, teachers burdened with too many students and vital programs cut, morale is at an all-time low.

You can blame the school board, the administration, the union, the governor, or anyone you like, but the truth remains: You get what you pay for, and we spend less on our students than almost every other district in Oakland County.

Our schools are the foundation of this community and we can't continue to grow unless we have a firm footing. When we stop growing, we start dying. So COME ON, CLARKSTON! Stop the finger pointing, the complaining, the mistrust.

It's time we put the past behind us and start anew. It's time to reverse the downward spiral. It's time for each and every one of us to accept the responsibility of quality schools and quality community. Vote YES on the bond and millage June 13th.

Bruce Harlton

Chip and Adam

There are two blond headed boys in our neighborhood, both Clarkston products.

One, "my hero," my son Chip, graduates in June. The other, my neighbor Adam, who likes to watch me bake cookies and talk to me about "serious stuff," starts kindergarten in September.

Harry Chapin said, "All your life's a circle," and in our neighborhood, we believe that. But it worries us that Adam may be denied his rightful place in the quality circle that Chip participated in for the last 13 years.

It worries us because Adam has no say in what makes up that quality. We, as adults, do; and we're taking our anger about taxes out on Adam and his eager 5-year-old buddies.

I will be the first to admit that property taxes are too high and for that matter, all taxes are too high! I also know that Michigan school financing is totally unequal and wrong.

Working in a neighboring district, I understand, too, that sometimes it looks like we're overspending in education in all the wrong places.

All these are valid arguments for voting no. The one argument I have for voting yes is the kids.

Clarkston kids should not have to shoulder the burden of our anger about taxes. It is hard enough facing the emotional and physical traumas of childhood in the eighties without adding more to it. It's tough being a kid today. Ask any teacher to list the crises faced by students everyday. The list is almost endless.

We all know school financing should be changed. There are many ideas starting to germinate in the Legislature to give us hope that this will happen.

Unfortunately, Adam and his buddies can't wait to grow up until we convince the Legislature that school financing has to be equalized.

And granted, there's some argument for schools budgeting better by "eliminating waste and frills." But, deep down inside, we all know the schools just wouldn't ask for money if they didn't absolutely have to.

Millages are too costly - in terms of money, time and community relations to waste on "frills."

I know it's a lot easier to pull a lever that says "no" than it is to find another way to cut our own personal spending. But I also know what a good quality education means to every kid in Clarkston.

All precious gifts need nurturing. Children are the most precious of all gifts. We can not be willing to run away and hide from our children until someone else does something. We are all hoping for school tax reform soon, but children are still growing up while we're hiding and waiting.

My children are grown and leaving Clarkston schools, but as long as I must, I'll vote yes on millages. Not for my son, Chip, he's graduating proud from Clarkston; but for Adam and his little friends so that they, too, can graduate proud from Clarkston.

Sharon Galley

Student support

I have attended Clarkston Community Schools since my first day of kindergarten at Pine Knob Elementary in 1976. Twelve years later, my education at Clarkston is drawing to a close. Next year I will be a senior at CHS.

I am writing to express my concern about the millage proposal. If the millage is defeated for a third time, massive cuts will greatly affect the quality of education in this community.

Straight Answers to Tough Questions

How good are Clarkston schools?

Editor's Note: "Straight Answers to Tough Questions" is the work of the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee, a pro-millage and pro-bond group of citizens working to promote the June 13 school election.

Q. Why is the millage rate for this June election higher than the one that was asked for last October?

A. A majority of citizens who attended the school board's public hearings requested that the board of education ask for whatever mills necessary to reinstate all programs and provide an adequate education for Clarkston's kids.

Also, in the next year, Headlee rollbacks will exceed 1 mill, which would have required further cuts in programs if the millage rate request had not been increased.

Q. Does Headlee affect the school budget or is this just an excuse for poor management?

A. Have you looked around Michigan lately? We're not the only good school district that is losing money to the Headlee Amendment. Areas that have seen a rapid increase in property values during times of low inflation are affected most severely.

Yes, the Headlee amendment really does affect the school budget. Because of Headlee, the Clarkston school district was forced to reduce taxes by 1.2 mills in 1987. This resulted in a loss of $525,000 to the district. And more Headlee rollbacks are on the way.

The Headlee amendment was designed to prevent property taxes from increasing faster than the consumer price index. An in-formula district such as Clarkston suffers under Headlee because the state aid is based on the number of mills taxed. The reduction of 1.2 mills in 1987 cost Clarkston $90 per student in state aid money. This is fact, my myth.

Q. How can we need money with all these expensive houses going up and with increased assessments? Aren't we collecting more taxes now?

A. While we are collecting more taxes now, we are not generating more money for our schools. This is because Clarkston is an in-formula district. This means that part of our operating expenses come from the state. In Clarkston's case, the state controls over 90 percent of our budget.

When we generate more taxes, from increased assessments or larger numbers of houses, the amount of state aid is reduced.

For example, let's assume that Michigan guarantees us $3,000 yearly for each student. If our local property taxes generate $2,000, the state kicks in $1,000 to reach the total of $3,000.

However, if our assessments increase or many new homes are built, it's possible that local taxes might generate $2,500. What will the state give us then? You guessed it - $500. The result: the same dollar amount per student in spite of increased assessments or new housing.

Q. Isn't it true that the state Legislature is going to help out the schools? If they can bail us out, why should we increase taxes?

A. Don't hold your breath. While it appears that our state legislators recognize the need for changes in the state funding of education, they are unable to agree on a plan.

Unless real results surface soon, some people feel we will all be waiting until after the next governor's election in 1990. This has become a political football in Lansing.

Remember, for every school district that wants a change, there's another school district that likes things just the way they are.

The fact is, our kids need money now! Any changes made at the state level will not be able to impact our district in time to prevent major cutbacks. In the meantime, our legislators need to hear from us regarding the changes we expect.

Here's how to reach them: The Honorable Richard

Fessler, Room 130, The State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48913; The Honorable Mat J. Dunaskiss, Room O, The State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48913.

Q. I just moved here. My realtor said these were good solid schools. How did they get such a good reputation?

A. Clarkston has a history of caring about its children and traditionally has passed millage for schools and supported the efforts of teachers and administrators.

Consequently, we have earned a good reputation, substantiated by test scores, curriculum offerings and the success of our graduates. It would be a mistake to expect, however, that the good reputation built in the past provides any assurance of esteem in the future.

The choice we face now is whether to experience continued reductions in school personnel and programs, or to live up to our reputation and work together to re-establish excellence in our schools as a high priority.

Q. I understand that the Clarkston school district has a surplus. Why don't they spend that money before raising taxes?

A. They will spend that money. When the present school year ends on June 30, 1988, the school district will have a fund balance of about $823,000. (If you don't believe us, ask the state auditors who check the books regularly.)

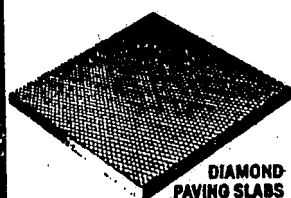

This money is needed to operate the school system in July, August and September, until the money from taxes is received. The vast majority of taxpayers wait until the last minute to pay their taxes, so the school district gets little money until late September.

If we spend our fund balance down to zero, the district would have to borrow to make it in October. It would obviously cost us more to repay those loans with interest and would not be financially responsible.

Detailed fact sheets are available on some of these questions by calling 625-4402.

Toxic site wells struck by vandals

Damage to test wells at a former toxic waste site in Springfield Township has been estimated at $35,000 by officials of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The former illegal dump site south of Woodland Trail near Ormond Road contains four state DNR wells used to monitor pollution.

Sometime between April 23 and May 13, vandals apparently gained access by cutting a hole in a chain-link fence and filling the 2-inch diameter wells with sand. The vandalism was discovered May 17 by a DNR environmental analyst.

DNR officials, baffled by the vandalism to the test wells, said the vandals exposed themselves to toxic chemicals. DNR officials use protective suits when they enter the fenced off area.

Survey goes on

Distribution of a survey to determine Independence Township residents' opinions on the community's growth is about two weeks from completion.

The 20 members of Citizens for Orderly Growth (COG), who have been knocking on residents' doors and asking them to complete surveys, have covered about half the township to date, said Jerome Wilford, a member of the COG survey committee.

The volunteers have found a high level of interest and have been well-received, Wilford said, which would account for the high level of return - almost 40 percent - so far.

"In terms of most types of surveys, it is very, very good, but they're being hand delivered," he said.

COG members plan to work toward receiving 600 to 700 responses to their survey, which would be statistically significant with the township population of about 23,600.

The organization was formed in 1987 due to concern about growth in the community and the effect it will have.

"It's a sad commentary on human nature," said Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls. "I can't conceive of a motive other than vandalism. No one could possibly benefit from damage to those wells."

The site, discovered in 1979 strewn with barrels of industrial waste, was one of three Oakland County sites that qualified for U.S. Super-Fund money designated to clean up toxic waste dumps.

The toxic waste was removed as soon as the site was discovered, but DNR officials use the wells to monitor contamination of groundwater at various depths and to track the direction of the contamination.

Opinions on retail stores vary

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

About 50 people packed village hall Monday night to voice their opinions on why retail outlets have been leaving Clarkston and offices moving in.

Business owners, landlords and residents all had their say, and their opinions varied greatly.

Susan Montgomery, owner of the Village Bake Shop, said high rents are causing small business owners all types of financial woes.

"It's not big business here," she said. "Do you want a shopping district? If so, then you have to hold on to it."

While others disagreed with her, she said parking really isn't a problem for business owners downtown. If the product is unique and low-priced, the people will find a way to patronize the downtown shops.

"It's not about parking," she said. "If the rent is high, then you have to charge more. We need to have control over that."

One Independence Township resident took issue with Montgomery's claim that the rent in Clarkston is too high.

Denise Howard, a former village resident, said she has always wanted to open a shop downtown but has been told by friends not to do it. Clarkston shoppers have no loyalty, she said they told her.

"People of Clarkston don't spend their money here," she said. "I hate to say it, but I'm starting to pull into Wonder Drugs."

Howard said she has checked out the rents in several different communities while thinking about opening a shop and Clarkston's isn't outrageous.

One village resident spoke out in favor of saving the shopping district - to a point.

"I support downtown businesses," said Nancy Rogers of 49 S. Holcomb. "I would support more businesses if it is contained downtown. I don't want to become a Birmingham. I don't want it to turn into a large shopping mall."

Another problem discussed was that business owners tend not to stay open late enough for Clarkston residents who commute.

If businesses stayed open late one or two nights a week or maybe opened on a Sunday, they would not be in danger of failing, said Howard.

"People will come in (to shop) while waiting for a seat at the Clarkston Cafe," she said.

Places like the Cafe and the bank, can draw a lot of customers to neighboring retail shops, said Buck Kopietz, owner of Tierra Inc.

When the bank downtown cut down on its hours, customers went elsewhere and downtown business owners lost out, he added.

Kopietz recently attended a workshop called "Retail leakage in small communities." He presented what he learned to the village council.

"Most retail needs other retail to attract customers," he said.

Joan Kopietz, co-owner of Tierra, said there must be a balance between offices and retail outlets downtown.

"Our problem right now is that offices are moving into (retail) spaces," she said.

One landlord, who is currently renting his building on 31 S. Main as offices, strongly disagreed with her assessment.

"I purposely left it empty to find retail," said Ron Dunlap of his building. "I let it sit empty for six months and turned down 10 offices."

He added that a couple of major franchise shops inquired about renting the building but declined after doing market studies on the viability of the downtown shopping district.

Renting the space to offices was his only solution, he said.

Dunlap suggested that the village spend money on improving the looks of the shopping district.

"If you improve the way the village looks then the people will come back," he said. "We need to clean up the village."

Kopietz agreed that sprucing up the village will help business owners. But the owners must take the responsibility for the way things look around their building.

"You want to have people who care for the village," he said.

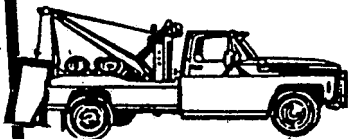

After nearly two hours of discussion, the village council decided that a market study would be the best route to go.

Residents agreed with that decision.

"The village isn't going to support big business," said Main Street resident Jerry Wilford. "Stop talking in terms of what it used to be. A market study would indicate what (shoppers) want. If you zone (offices) out, you need retail to go in."

More Letters

(MORE, from Page 8)

Teacher layoffs will increase class sizes which are already too crowded. Replacement of the textbooks will again have to be put off.

Clarkston is already on the verge of losing its accreditation and will most likely lose it if the millage fails. Some advanced placement classes will not be offered and the length of the school day will be reduced.

I believe I speak for all of the students at CHS as I urge you to vote yes for the millage on June 13th.

Fire tax renewal on August ballot

Voters in Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston will be asked to renew the township fire millage on the August primary election ballot.

The current 3 mills, approved in 1978, expire Dec. 31, 1988. It is the sole funding for the Independence Township Fire Department, which also serves the Village of Clarkston.

Three mills are $3 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

The township board approved the ballot proposal in a 6-0 vote but changed the time period to four years instead of 10. A four-year millage would lessen the long-term affects of the Headlee rollback and would allow the election to coincide with each national election and with each new seating of the township board, said Supervisor Frank Ronk.

Residents may tire of renewing the millage every four years, but a four-year term would allow more control, he said.

If the millage renewal request fails in August, there would still be time to ask for it again at the Nov. 8 general election, said Trustee Dale Stuart.

Residents are already concerned with millage requests because of Clarkston Schools, said Stuart, but voters should note that the township request is for a fire fund renewal only.

"I think that's an important point. ... We are not asking for more than is in existence at the present time," he said.

New employee

A new full-time laborer is to help maintain the parks and recreation system in Independence Township.

Richard Schrader, a former seasonal employee, started May 18 at $9.18 an hour.

Hiring Schrader reinstated a position that was eliminated four or five years ago when the township was short of money, said Timothy Doyle, parks and recreation director. Schrader brings the number of full time laborers to four, he said.

"He's doing a fine job," Doyle said of his recommendation to hire Schrader.

Clarkston High JV Lake Orion 7, Wolves 6

May 16 - Clarkston opened the scoring, but the Dragons took control with four runs in the second to slip past the Wolves.

Clarkston came back to score twice in the fifth and sixth innings to make the game close. Shaun Wilson had two hits and scored both times to lead the offense.

"It was an interesting ballgame, but there were a few key errors," said Coach Al Cuthrell.

Wolves 30, Pontiac Northern 11

May 17 - Everyone got a chance to play in this game for the Wolves as they romped over the Huskies.

The Wolves scored seven times in one inning and nine times in another to win easily. The big inning was the fourth - the Wolves scored 11 times.

Waterford Mott 14, Wolves 4

Clarkston 14, Waterford Mott 1

May 19 - Jami Law pitched both games and picked up the victory in the second game for the Wolves.

Michelle Sykes, Julie White and Amy Blome each had three hits to pace the victors in the second game. Rebecca Poche chipped in with two hits as Clarkston pounded out 16 hits in the game.

Clarkston's record now stands at 16-8.

Clarkston Junior High Wolverines 17, Cray 13

May 17 - Jenny McChesney hit a grand slam homer among her four hits to pace Clarkston over Cray.

Becky Kosek, Jenny Bruce, Kim Kolody and Allison Poche all added two hits apiece for the victors.

Beth Walker was the winning pitcher.

Wolverines 10, Lake Orion 10

May 19 - The two teams played for eight innings but accomplished nothing since the game ended in a draw.

The game ended when the umpire left to cover another game after the eighth inning, said Coach Dennis Bronson.

"It was an exciting and enjoyable game," he said. McChesney and Bruce both had four hits for Clarkston.

Sashabaw Junior High Crary 10, Cougars 5

May 17 - A very determined effort by Crary helped them beat the Cougars, said Coach John Matheus.

Sashabaw collected six hits in the game, nobody had more than one against tough Crary pitching.

Baseball

Clarkston High JV Lake Orion 8, Wolves 4

May 16 - Bill Knight had two hits in three trips to the plate to pace Clarkston in a road loss to the Dragons.

May 17 - Todd Bennett and Chris Smith each collected two hits for the victors.

Wolves 6, Waterford Mott 3

Waterford Mott 12, Wolves 7

May 19 - Eric Phillips pitched well in the opener for the Wolves. His record stands at 4-2 with an excellent earned run average of 1.48.

Smith had two hits and Bennett had a home run and a good catch in the field.

Clarkston High varsity Wolves 7, Lake Orion 2

Koslosky and Josh Newblatt had three hits each while Matt Carson and Brown chipped in with two apiece.

Sashabaw Junior High Crary 6, Cougars 2

May 19 - Sashabaw couldn't get untracked until the final inning against a tough Crary pitcher as they lost on the road.

The Cougars had seven hits in the game, including four in the seventh, but couldn't score enough runs to overcome Crary. The game ended when Sashabaw hit into a triple play with the bases loaded.

Crary led 1-0 after four innings and then blew the game open with three runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth before Sashabaw came back in the seventh.

Matt Smith was the pitcher for the Cougars. He allowed eight hits and three earned runs.

Darren Masters and Mike Stanton each contributed an RBI hit to the Cougars' attack. Mike Corcoran added a double for Sashabaw.

Tony Miller had a busy day at first base, finishing with 16 putouts.

Crary 9, Wolverines 7

May 17 - Clarkston left the bases loaded in the final inning as it fell just short of beating a tough Crary squad.

Three errors in the sixth inning allowed four unearned runs to score and help Crary get the upper hand in this close contest.

"We outthit them and outplayed them but the errors cost us," said Coach Bill Bildstein.

Kevin Juzysta, Dave Eby and Paul Hurren had two hits each and Jerrod Johnson added two hits and three runs batted in for Clarkston.

Lake Orion 9, Wolverines 3

May 19 - Nobody had more than one hit for the Wolverines as they fell against the Dragons.

"I was told that we would not do that good," he said. "Most of the kids improved as the year went on and that's what we strive for. If we win meets along the way, then that's great."

First-place winners for Sashabaw are as follows:
LONG JUMP: Tracy Chamberlain, 14-feet, 8-inches.
SHOT PUT: Stephanie Shilling, 23-1 1/2.

Boys track team is flying high

After easily defeating Lake Orion, the boys track team remained just a meet away from clinching its first ever GOAL championship.

Clarkston beat Orion, 91-46, to finish the dual meet season undefeated, something the Wolves have fallen just short of doing in years past.

The team and Coach Walt Wyniemo are dedicating the Wolves' success this season to all the previous teams who just missed winning a Greater Oakland Activities League title.

"We remember all the teams that came within a win of getting the title," Wyniemo said. "That is what makes this year so special."

All that was left for the Wolves was the win the GOAL meet May 24 at Clarkston High School. In track, the dual meet season and league meet count equally in determining where a team finishes in the final standings.

Clarkston has been denied the title the past four years because of losses to one team - Pontiac Northern. This year the Wolves handled the Huskies in head-to-head competition to set up a possible title shot.

Against Lake Orion on May 17, Clarkston took firsts in 10 of the 17 events. Jody Lueck won three individual events for the Wolves.

Lueck took firsts in the high jump (5-feet, 10-inches), long jump (21-4) and 110-meter hurdles (15.55 seconds).

J.J. Price led a trio of discus throwers for Clarkston against Orion with a toss of 136-2 1/4. Keenan Powell was second at 134-10 3/4 and Jon Mahler third at 121-4 to give a Wolves a sweep in the event.

Distance runners Chris Vandermark in the 1600 and Jim Hotary in the 3200 also were winners for the Wolves.

Mike Barnes won the 800 run while Jeff Locher cleared all the obstacles in the 300 hurdles in 42.96 for another Clarkston first-place finish.

The 3200 relay team consisting of Paul Reading, Mike Kovalesky, Vandermark and Barnes won with a time of 8:19.72 and the 400 team of Marc Pierson, Stacy Turner, Dane Davis and Jeff Shupe did likewise with a clocking of 45.49.

Two Wolves qualified for the state meet at Eastern Michigan University June 4.

Both Barnes and Shupe made the cut and will go to EMU to represent the boys team.

As a team, Clarkston finished the day with 26 points and ended up in 10th place out of 16 schools.

UP AND OVER, Clarkston's Jeff Locher easily clears the bar while pole vaulting during the Class A regionals at West Bloomfield High Saturday morning.

Record falls for relay team as 5 qualify for the states

A record-setting performance boosted four Wolves into the state meet at Eastern Michigan University on June 4.

The 3200-meter relay team consisting of Kate Conlen, Nicole Chinavare, Jenny Mahler and Sonya Schaffer circled the track at West Bloomfield High on Saturday in just 9 minutes and 52 seconds during the Class A regionals.

Coach Gordie Richardson said the foursome beat the state qualifying time by six seconds and set a school record en route.

In individual competition, Ali Fedio won the discus with a throw of 114 feet, 10 inches. She automatically qualified for the state meet.

The top two finishers in each event, plus others who make qualifying times or distances, are invited to the Class A state meet at EMU.

Clarkston took 10th place out of the 16 teams competing at West Bloomfield with 24 points. Flint Central won the girls regional title with 73 points.

"We had a reasonably good performance," said Richardson.

Other Greater Oakland Activities League teams competing were Pontiac Northern, which finished third; Lake Orion, 13th; and Waterford Kettering, 14th.

Several other Wolves just missed qualifying at West Bloomfield.

Schaffer ran a 5:24.2 in the 1600 run (the qualifying time is 5:24.1) and Mahler crossed the finish line in the 3200 run in 12:06. She fell six seconds short of qualifying.

The 400 relay team also missed the cut, but the coach wasn't terribly disappointed.

"They went out and gave a good accounting of themselves," he said. "They did as well as I expected they would do."

Clarkston also qualified a relay team for the Oakland County meet this weekend at West Bloomfield.

Meredith Green, Chinavare, Celeste Steinhelger and Schaffer ran a 4:17.6 in the 1600 relay to qualify.

Late news

With a 6-1 pasting of league foe Waterford Kettering Monday night, the girls soccer team began tournament play on a high note.

Brigitte Brown notched three goals, Tami Mitchell netted two and Jackie Jablonski got one as the Wolves exploded against the host Captains.

"It was unbelievable," said Coach Hana Olsen. "It seemed like we were scoring a goal every five minutes. It was great."

Clarkston started fast and scored all six of its goals before the half, the coach said. The Wolves were up 6-0 at the intermission.

Nancy Carosella played well and picked up three assists with some excellent passing, said Olsen. Karen Lowe and Shelley Purdy also collected two assists apiece.

Sue Haran and Katie Rieman each played a half in the nets for the Wolves.

The victory ups the team's record to a fine 6-2-4 heading into Wednesday's game against West Bloomfield. Game time is set for 4:30 p.m. at West Bloomfield.

SONYA SCHAFFER runs the anchor leg of the 3200-meter relay for Clarkston High.

GOAL champs

Squeaking past Waterford Mott, the boys' tennis team from Clarkston High captured its third league title in four years.

The Wolves outscored the host Corsairs, 36-34, during the Greater Oakland Activities League meet May 17.

Keith Turner, at No. 1 singles, and Steve Hollis, at No. 4 singles, were individual champions for the Wolves. Kevin Ortwine and Todd Cook, at No. 2 doubles, and Eric Chambers and B.J. Deloney, at No. 3 doubles, also won GOAL titles at their respective positions.

Turner, a sophomore, and Hollis, a senior, were named to the All-League team for the Wolves.

After winning the GOAL crown, Clarkston ended its season at the regionals on May 20.

The Wolves finished sixth out of the 14 teams participating. Coach Dick Swartout said it's just about where he expected to finish.

It took three sets before Turner was beaten by the No. 1 seed in the semifinals. Chambers and Cook also made it as far as the semis before dropping out.

Cook ended up as the "sleeper" on the team this spring, the coach said.

The senior never had participated in varsity tennis before this year. He finished his rookie season with an excellent 10-1 record teamed up with Chambers.

"He was a major factor," the coach said. "That's a pretty good accomplishment, since he never played before his senior year."

Everybody else on the team played up to expectations, he said. That helped the Wolves post an excellent 9-2 record.

Gymnast posts career-best

A Clarkston Junior High School student saved her best performance of the season for a recent Junior Olympic State Class IV Gymnastics Competition.

Kathy Jackman competed in the vault, uneven parallel bars, balance beam and floor exercise. She had her career-best overall score of 33.3 out of a possible 40 points during the competition in Rockford on May 7. She finished fifth overall.

She is a member of the Golden Circle Gymnastics Club of Grand Blanc. Her parents are Davisburg area residents Tom and Theresa Jackman.

Time out

Sock it to 'em

Peter Auchter

The battle had just ended. The joy of victory and agony of defeat (in a moral sense) was still fresh on the opponents' faces.

In one corner, the battered and bewildered Brandon team sat in a circle around their coach, wondering what went wrong.

In the other, Clarkston High's soccer team walked around as if it were on Cloud 9. Everyone was talking at once, everyone was happy and everyone couldn't wait to go for free pizza.

But first there was a little business to take care of.

A sports tradition as old as the game of soccer itself, had to be carried out. The coach needed a good soaking from her players.

The instrument: a gallon jug filled of ice water.

The perpetrator: Erin McAuliffe, team member.

My interview ended prematurely - I decided to back away early to allow the girls a good shot. I sat back and watched the ancient ritual being acted out.

Ooh, what fun! The girls must have taken their cue from the New York Giants' Harry Carson. He made a habit of dousing Coach Bill Parcells after big wins during their run to the Super Bowl championship a few years back.

Only bad thing about it was that Carson usually used a much larger container of water. Oh well, maybe they'll get it right if they win a district title.

After the short shower, it was off to a pizza place to celebrate a heroic comeback.

For those who are not too well versed in the sport, a 3-0 lead late in the first half of a game is akin to a 10-0 advantage in baseball heading into the final inning of play. You are supposed to win when you are ahead by that margin.

But the Wolves didn't stop believing they could rally, and they did. In fact, the team had several excellent chances to win the game. They were all over Brandon like a bad cold.

A little kick here, another boot there and before you knew it, the teams were tied and the home-town cheers were growing louder and Louder and LOUDER.

What fun to watch!

Afterward, the team was brimming with confidence and ready to take on the world. It's amazing what a little confidence and encouragement can do.

Have you hugged your kids today?

Wolves' rally falls short against Mott

A tremendous rally fell a few runs short as the varsity baseball team split a double-header with powerful Waterford Mott last week.

Both teams came out with their hitting shoes on Thursday afternoon at Clarkston High School and began pounding each other right from the start.

Mott hung on to win the first game, 17-14, and then lost the nightcap, 8-2, in six innings.

The Corsairs, powered by a three-run home run by Steve Amell, scored four times in the opening inning. Clarkston answered with two runs of its own on a RBI double by Jeff Tungate and a run-scoring error.

John Koslosky threw a runner out at the plate to spoil a Mott rally to end the top of the second. Matt Carson then singled home Doug Lederman, who had doubled, to draw the Wolves to within a run.

The floodgates then opened up in the third inning as Clarkston pitchers began issuing walks to Mott batters as if they were a dime a dozen. A grand slam by Eric Paul deep into centerfield highlighted a five-run inning for the visitors.

Mott eventually built up a 17-5 advantage before the Wolves woke up and made a game of it.

"We were doing what we could," said Coach Roy Warner. "We pitched everybody and then just kept pecking away."

Tungate and Josh Newblatt both homered for Clarkston during its big rally. Four players - Tungate, Newblatt, Aaron Hesse and Koslosky - finished with two hits apiece for the Wolves.

After three hours of play, the game ended as a 17-14 loss for the Wolves.

"We came back a long way," the coach said.

In the nightcap, the two teams traded places as the Wolves jumped out to an early lead. Clarkston led, 4-1, after three innings of play.

The Wolves put the game away with three runs in the sixth inning to pick up their third victory in four games last week.

Mike Peel started the rally when he was hit by a pitch. Lederman singled and the runners advanced a base on a bad throw.

Randy Nelson then blasted a sacrifice fly to deep left to score one run. Tungate and Hesse followed with RBI singles to close out the scoring.

The second game was called after six innings because of darkness.

Top hitters for Clarkston were Lederman with a homer and single; Tungate and Newblatt with three hits, and Hesse and Koslosky with two each. Ben Underwood was the winning pitcher.

Soccer team plays spoiler role

Slyvester Stallone would have been proud of the girls soccer team last week.

Brandon, a highly rated team, drew first blood with an early goal off a penalty kick and built up a comfortable 3-0 lead in the first half.

But the Wolves hung tough and rallied "Rambo-style" against what appeared to be insurmountable odds. They destroyed Brandon's chances for a league title with three second-half goals to finish in a 4-4 deadlock.

Coach Hana Olsen never doubted her team could handle the high-powered Blackhawks.

When it was all said and done, Olsen was all smiles.

"The girls worked really hard," she said. "Offense, defense, midfield, all of them. I couldn't have asked for anything more."

The tie bumped Clarkston's overall record to 5-2-4 and 3-2-3 in the GOAL. The tie, the second one between the two teams this year, prevented Brandon from capturing the league title.

Tami Mitchell and Brigitte Brown netted two goals apiece for Clarkston.

After Brandon jumped out to its quick lead, Brown got the first of her two goals late in the half by redirecting a shot from right in front of the net.

With the wind at their backs during the second half, the Wolves pressed Brandon from the start.

Mitchell got the Wolves within one goal early off a long drive from the edge of the penalty box that just slipped inside the goal post.

Before they eventually tied the game, Clarkston had several golden opportunities right in front of the Brandon goal.

"We started shooting more," said Mitchell of the team's successful comeback. "We're very happy (with the tie)."

Mitchell brought the Wolves to within a goal once again on an unusual score, to say the least.

"I didn't even know it went into the net," she said after the ball bounced off her side to score.

Karen Lowe started the play with a direct kick on the Brandon goal. Mitchell broke for the net, hoping to pounce on a rebound when the ball deflected off her side and past a surprised goalie. Minutes later she drilled one just over the crossbar to nearly tie the game.

Smelling victory, or at least a tie, the Wolves continued to press Brandon and kept the play on the opponent's side of the field.

The pressure paid off when Mitchell's rebound shot was booted home by Brown to tie the contest with less than 10 minutes left.

"We made a heck of a comeback," said Erin McAuliffe.

Brandon finishes the regular season with a 12-1-3 record and may face Clarkston again in the districts.

Should the two teams meet again, the Wolves will begin the contest with confidence.

"If we play like we did in the second half, I think we can do it," said Mitchell of her team's chances in district play.

IF IT'S A MAJOR FIRE or a minor oddity, we want a call at The News. 625-3370.

Clarkston gunned down by Corsairs twice

Good pitching - as in one hit in five innings - stopped the varsity softball team in its tracks during a double-header loss to Waterford Mott last week.

After getting bombed, 13-2, in the opener, the Wolves stuck with the Corsairs most of the way during the nightcap before losing, 7-3.

"We didn't play well at all," said Coach Carla Teare. "We got only one hit (against Julie Clarkson) and it was a blooper that didn't get out of the infield. That's how little hitting we did."

Tisha Sherman started the second game with a single. A passed ball advanced her to second base, and after a walk to Marci Morgan, a wild pitch got her to third. She eventually scored on a wild pitch.

A spectacular sliding basket catch of a sinking liner by Kari Abbott with the bases loading in the bottom of the first kept Mott off the scoreboard for a while.

The Corsairs picked up a run to tie the game in the third inning off a wild pitch.

Stacey Shurtz put the Wolves back out in front with an RBI single that plated Morgan who started the rally with a single.

Mott broke the game open with three runs in the fifth to stake itself to a 4-2 lead.

Seniors take league title

Another volleyball league title is in the bag for a senior citizen team from Clarkston.

The seniors captured the title with an excellent record of 33-3 against teams from Troy, Warren and Sterling Heights.

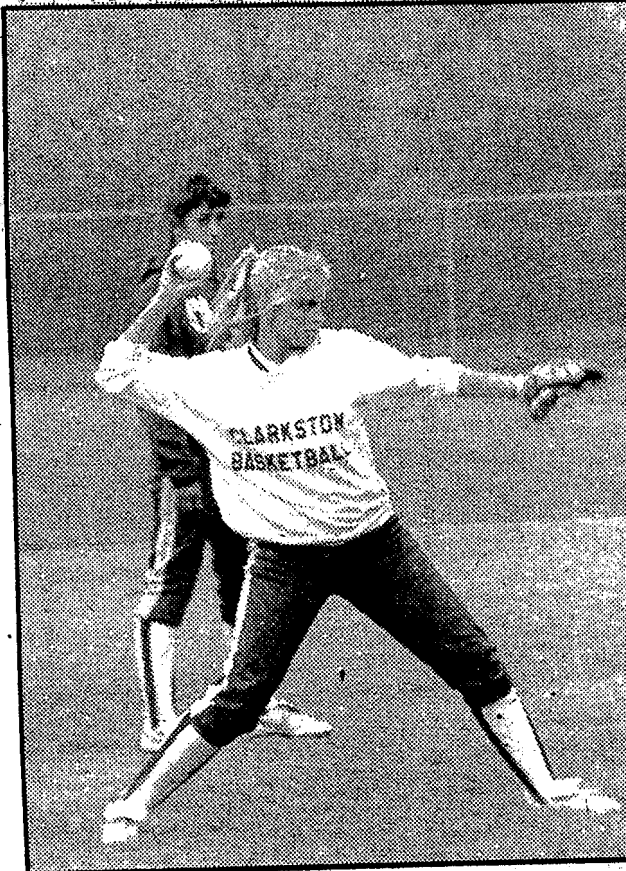

The team's victory marked the sixth consecutive year the seniors from Clarkston have either won or finished second in the league standings.

Members of the 1987-88 team are Max Jarrett, Bud Keyser, Harry Stormer, Don Counts, John Thomas, Bill Pfahler, Ray DeFiore, Don Bush, Mike Miszczak, Doug Roy and Everett Blackerby.

Manager Thomas said he plans to enter two teams in the league next year because of increased interest.

Morgan started another Clarkston rally in the sixth with a single. Kris Castillo walked and the Shurtz sacrificed them up a base. An error after a fly out by Heather Luchenbach scored Morgan to cut the Wolves deficit to 4-3.

But Mott responded under pressure and put the game away with another three-run outburst in the sixth inning.

Clarkston went down one, two, three in the seventh to end the game.

"We hit better in the second game, but it wasn't enough," the coach said.

Earlier in the week the Wolves romped all over GOAL foe Pontiac Northern, 20-1. Stacey Grutza had three hits and Shurtz and Abbott collected three runs batted in apiece.

Clarkston then faced Lake Orion and dropped a 16-6 decision. The Dragons pushed across eight runs in the final inning to blow out the Wolves.

Shurtz went 2-for-4 with two runs batted in and Jackie Patrick added a double. Sherman had two hits for the Wolves.

BMX season opens

Another season of bicycle motocross (BMX) is ready to roll on the BMX track in Waterford Oaks this summer.

A non-sanctioned beginner program will be offered May through August on Wednesday evenings to familiarize new riders with the sport.

Weekly practices will be held, weather permitting, on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 5 to 8 p.m. at the park on Scott Lake Road between Watkins Lake Road and Dixie Highway in Waterford Township.

BMX is a growing sport with competition on the local, national and international levels. Riders range in age from three to 60, and it is not uncommon to see entire families competing at races.

The 1988 National Bicycle League Sanctioned program began May 14 and continues through Sept. 24. Waterford Oaks will host a National Bicycle League "War of the Stars" with riders from across the United States participating.

For more information about the Waterford Oaks BMX track, contact Vicki Zuithof, BMX coordinator, at 858-0915.

Voters guide for June 13 election

The Clarkston News voters guide for the Monday, June 13, school district election was prepared in cooperation with the League of Women Voters of the Clarkston area.

The League selected the three questions for the candidates and helped edit responses when necessary. Patricia Rowe and Betty Sans, voters service coordinators, worked directly with The Clarkston News.

A non-partisan organization, the League was established in 1920 to encourage citizen participation in government. It never supports or opposes any political party or candidate.

8 vie for 2 Clarkston board of education seats

Eight candidates for the two four-year terms on the Clarkston Board of Education will appear on the Monday, June 13, ballot.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Clarkston school district residents who reside in Independence Township will vote at their usual precincts. School district residents who reside in Springfield and White Lake townships will vote at Andersonville Elementary School, and those who reside in Waterford Township will vote at Clarkston High School, Precinct 4.

Also on the ballot will be a request by the Clarkston school district for 5.5 additional mills for operating purposes and a request for permission to borrow $5.2 million for repairs to school buildings. (For more details, see "Millage" and "Bonding" on Page 29.)

In addition, there are 13 candidates for two six-year terms on the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees, an unpaid position. (For more details, see story on Page 29.)

Positions on the Clarkston Board of Education are part time. The board's regular meetings are the second Monday of each month and special meetings are scheduled as needed. Board members are paid $30 a meeting, not to exceed 52 meetings a year. On the average, the board meets 24 times a year, for an annual taxable income of $720. Board members are paid only for meetings they attend.

Working in cooperation with the League of Women Voters of the Clarkston area, The Clarkston News asked each of the eight Clarkston Board of Education candidates to answer three questions in writing in 100 words or less and to provide biographical information. Their responses follow:

Karen E. Foyteck

Karen E. Foyteck, 46, of 6960 Langle Dr., has resided in the Clarkston area 18 years. She is business manager for North Oakland Office Machines.

Foyteck has a bachelor's degree from Wayne State University and has done graduate work at Oakland University.

She and her husband, Doug, have three children. Mark, 21, attends Central Michigan University. Mike, 16, attends Ferris State University. Matt, 16, attends Clarkston High School.

Under background, she lists the following community activities: "Clarkston Co-op Nursery - board, Clarkston Elementary School PTO - board, Cub Scout den mother, Sashabaw Junior High Parents Group, Clarkston Community Women's Club - board, and Clarkston Athletic Boosters."

Q. The teacher union contract calls for a reduction in teaching periods for each teacher from six to five in the high school beginning in 1988-89. In view of this change and other budgetary constraints, specify three recommendations you would make to assure continuation of quality education in the Clarkston schools.

"Use every possible resource to ensure at least a six-hour school day for students. Six hours will allow students to take desired classes, use the library, receive tutoring and see counselors. We must provide a well-rounded education.

"Make certain that all students have books and materials needed for their classes, and that curriculum goals and objectives are being accomplished in all classrooms.

"Establish a 'Library Book Fund' for donations to purchase books and upgrade our library collection. The library collection has not been adequate for some time, and we need to implement an improvement program."

Q. State your assessment of the current school buildings.

"All of our present buildings are in need of repair, although some facilities need more extensive work than others.

"We need to prioritize what can be fixed rather than replaced and look into alternative methods of repairing items that seem to require repeated maintenance.

"The needs of a projected increasing enrollment require us to make optimum use of each facility and to actively engage in short- and long-term planning so that we don't have to undo tomorrow what we have renovated yesterday.

"We need to use all the community resources and talents available to us to ensure safe, cost-effective facilities."

Q. What do you feel is the most urgent issue to be addressed by the new school board?

"Communication at all levels is the school board's most urgent issue. While printed material is available to the community, Clarkston residents need to feel their ideas and concerns are not only 'heard,' but 'listened to.'"

"Many creative and interesting ideas have come from public hearings, and we need to investigate these possibilities. The school board must lead the way in re-establishing community ties and trust.

"We cannot meet the needs of our students without cooperation and open communication between administration, staff and community. A combined effort must be made to rebuild the trust between citizens and the schools."

Thomas L. Howard

Thomas Lee Howard, 39, of 8265 Perry Lake Rd. has resided in the Clarkston area 11 years. He is employed by Birmingham Public Schools as a school social worker and is an attorney, with an office at 39 S. Main, Clarkston.

Howard has a bachelor's degree in social sciences from Michigan State University, a master's degree in teaching from Oakland University, a master's degree in social work from the University of Michigan and a juris doctorate degree from the Detroit College of Law.

He and his wife, Constance, have four children. Anissa, 14, and Derenda, 12, attend Clarkston Junior High School. Leah, 9, attends Clarkston Elementary School. Daniel is 3 years old.

Under background, he writes: "I have worked as a school social worker in Birmingham for 10 years; working primarily with children and families of special education children. I have conducted a private practice in counseling with children and adolescents with The Maple Clinic Inc. in Birmingham and Ortonville. My law practice has been steadily growing to the point that I will be moving much more into the legal field. My interest is in family, juvenile and education law."

Q. The teacher union contract calls for a reduction in teaching periods for each teacher from six to five in the high school beginning in 1988-89. In view of this change and other budgetary constraints, specify three recommendations you would make to assure continuation of quality education in the Clarkston schools.

"First, I recommend passage of the millage and bond issues. This community has traditionally provided a good, solid, basic educational program. Without additional funding it is unlikely that this will continue. With funding we can meet this challenge."

"Second, I recommend the fostering and expansion of a solid working relationship between the schools and our community. Without this, the resolution of present and future problems will be difficult indeed."

"Third, I recommend that where, and if, curtailment of existing programs is required, such curtailment must not occur in core academic areas such as English, mathematics and the sciences."

Q. State your assessment of the current school buildings.

"The physical condition of buildings is poor. Major repairs and renovations must be made to assure continued reliable use."

"A good basic educational program requires adequate, up-to-date facilities not only for classes requiring minimal equipment (English) but also for such subjects as science, biology, physical education and the arts. Library/media and cafeteria facilities will need to be renovated or expanded."

"Excluding these areas from consideration diminishes the significance of a well-rounded, comprehensive educational program."

"Current school buildings are barely adequate for the population. As increased numbers enter our school system, decisions must be made to properly provide for their education."

Q. What do you feel is the most urgent issue to be addressed by the new school board?

"I believe that the most urgent issue to be addressed by the board is the issue of its own credibility and leadership in this community."

"The board should embark on a concerted effort to explain, publicize and present its long- and short-term plan of operation, development, expansion and financing in a manner that citizens will digest and accept."

"An issue-by-issue presentation is best so that all can understand the needs, problems and potential solutions."

"The result will be the creation of a solid working relationship between this community and its schools, which will serve us well."

Sheila J. Hughes

Sheila J. (Goins) Hughes, 43, of 5342 Parview has resided in the Clarkston area 35 years. She is a part-time bookkeeper for the Golden Eagle Restaurant in Rochester.

Hughes is a 1963 graduate of Clarkston High School.

She and her husband, James, have two children. Scott, 10, and Jason, 7, attend Pine Knob Elementary School.

Under background, she writes: "Worked for Dr. Bullard after graduating, became involved with credit union work in 1965 and worked up to assistant treasurer, manager of Research Federal Credit Union-Warren for GM Tech Center. For the past five years, I have been active with Pine Knob PTO. I served as historian, two years as treasurer and as president this year. I have been attending school board meetings on a regular basis for the past two years."

Q. The teacher union contract calls for a reduction in teaching periods for each teacher from six to five in the high school beginning in 1988-89. In view of this change and other budgetary constraints, specify three recommendations you would make to assure continuation of quality education in the Clarkston schools.

"One way we could assure the continuation of quality education would be to have a zero hour at the end of the day for students wanting certain classes to take them at that time."

"This could be done by having a teacher give up their conference time with pay to teach a class, or the class could be in the morning with that teacher going home early."

"If there will be no extracurricular activities (band, vocal music, drama, etc.) due to millage cuts, we would have no other choice but to have a pay to play program."

Q. State your assessment of the current school buildings.

"Each building needs repairs of different degrees on them. Some are not as bad as others. Every elementary building will be filled to capacity in the next two years. Our high school is bursting at the seams."

"We need to provide lunch facilities so students do not need to leave the grounds for lunch, and we need a larger auditorium."

"The elementary buildings all need new roofs, some need service kitchens, and we need to provide handicapped facilities in each."

Q. What do you feel is the most urgent issue to be addressed by the new school board?

"Assuming we have a successful millage, we will to become the eyes and ears for our community, finding out the needs and wants for the education of our children."

"We must provide a basic education with extras, such as music, drama and skills which will enable them to be ready for employment if they are unable to receive additional education."

"We need to address the facilities (space and repairs) along with improving our athletic areas at our junior high schools."

"These items will take a back seat if our millage is defeated, then we will need to address a successful millage."

John H. Needham

Incumbent John Needham, 46, of 6116 Middle Lake Rd. has resided in the Clarkston area 14 years. He is director of human resources for Rockwell International.

Needham has a bachelor's degree in industrial and labor relations from Cornell University and was graduated from the MIT Program for Senior Executives.

He and his wife, Rosalind, have four children. Jill, 21, is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan, where Claire, 20, is also a student. Andrew, 19, attends the University of Dayton. Nancy, 15, attends Clarkston High School.

Under background, he writes: "My two-and-one-half years on the school board and my personnel and labor relations experience in Rockwell plus the fact that I have been a member of the board of directors for Delta Dental have given me a broad business perspective."

Q. The teacher union contract calls for a reduction in teaching periods for each teacher from six to five in the high school beginning in 1988-89. In view of this change and other budgetary constraints, specify three recommendations you would make to assure continuation of quality education in the Clarkston schools.

"Approval of the millage and bond issue is obviously a key to quality education. Without it, an additional $1.7 million will be cut from the budget eliminating all extracurricular activities, fewer teachers, a shorter student day, 20 percent fewer teaching supplies, fewer counselors, etc."

"Secondly, parental involvement is important to ensure their children attend classes, do their homework and make a diligent effort to get the most out of their education."

"Third, set standards of expectation that faculty, staff and students alike are aware of to maximize the educational process."

Q. State your assessment of the current school buildings.

"Our buildings are old - ranging in age from Sashabaw Junior High at 19 years to Clarkston Junior High at 59 years."

Charles Sherman and Associates recently completed an audit of all our buildings. They then ranked deficiencies according to their seriousness. The $5.2 million bond issue addresses the most critical needs at each of the facilities."

"Virtually all buildings, except the bus garage, require extensive roof repair. Other necessary repairs are required to correct code violations, renovate restrooms, replace boilers and make other corrections to protect taxpayer investment and help make the facilities a more conducive place to learn."

Q. What do you feel is the most urgent issue to be addressed by the new school board?

"The school board along with Gary Haner, the new superintendent, need to serve as a focal point between the schools and community. We all need to work together in this time of financial adversity to maintain high standards."

"The board needs to ensure that the entire community is aware of the schools' needs and that the school system is sensitive to the desires of the community as it relates to our children."

Thomas Sokolnicki

Thomas G. Sokolnicki, 35, of 5811 North Edgar Rd. has resided in the Clarkston area two years. He is employed by General Motors Proving Grounds CPC Division Measurement and Electrical Engineering. He is also a residential licensed builder.

Sokolnicki was graduated from Dondero High School in 1970, attended Lawrence Tech in 1970 and 1971 and is currently attending classes at GMI.

He and his wife, Peg, have two children, Kristyn, 7, and Andrew, 5, attend Pine Knob Elementary School.

Under background, he writes: "I have been married 14 years. I worked at the Proving Grounds for over 10 years. I have restored many cars including 21 Corvettes. I have done remodeling and construction. I built my own house and pole barn. I have also finished basements. In my 10 years working at the Proving Grounds, I have done extensive electrical and emission testing in Colorado, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Alaska, Canada and Australia."

Q. The teacher union contract calls for a reduction in teaching periods for each teacher from six to five in the high school beginning in 1988-89. In view of this change and other budgetary constraints, specify three recommendations you would make to assure continuation of quality education in the Clarkston schools.

"The first recommendation would be to start planning for the next teacher contract, increasing teaching periods to six hours. Some teachers are very dedicated and excellent, but I don't like the fact that they would agree to a five-hour day.

"Secondly, the board and administrators need to plan ahead, budget and spend taxpayers' money more efficiently. The condition of our buildings is proof of this.

"Third: The problem of discipline needs to be returned to the home environment. I understand that we need two vice principals in the high school so one can spend most of his time on discipline."

Q. State your assessment of the current school buildings.

"There is no excuse for the condition of our buildings. It is beyond my comprehension how they reached this state. There is mold growing in the classrooms. There is water leaking into electrical boxes in the lavatories from the roofs.

"If we don't address the school building condition immediately, serious problems could occur.

"The administrators and school board should get at least three different companies to evaluate our school building conditions and give three estimates and evaluations.

"Then when we proceed with repairs, we need to keep a tight rein on our budget. Also the workmanship should be watched closely."

Q. What do you feel is the most urgent issue to be addressed by the new school board?

"Most urgent are to assure the quality of education in the school district and to obtain the financial resources necessary for good educational achievements.

"If elected, I would like to set up a long-term plan. We need to strive for cooperation with the teachers' union and other school employee unions. Money alone can't guarantee a quality education.

"Also, I have great interest in maintaining a great school system. I have young children in the district, and being a licensed builder I have interest in seeing the Clarkston schools get back into shape and to see to their upkeep every year."

Dwight Spiker

Dwight Spiker, 50, of 5421 Burgundy Dr. has resided in the Clarkston area 22 years. He is an assembler at B.O.C. Orion.

Spiker is a graduate of Oxford High School.

He and his wife, Jpanne, have two children, Betsy, 25, is a teacher and John, 23, attends Central Michigan University.

Under background, he lists: "Independence Township volunteer firefighter - 14 years, president of Firefighters Association from 1980-84, Clarkston Athletic Booster Club - eight years, Clarkston Athletic Booster Club president from 1985-present."

Q. The teacher union contract calls for a reduction in teaching periods for each teacher from six to five in the high school beginning in 1988-89. In view of this change and other budgetary constraints, specify three recommendations you would make to assure continuation of quality education in the Clarkston schools.

"The first recommendation to assure quality education in the Clarkston schools would be updating texts for students. Even with our financial situation, I think we should try to make available the most current texts.

"Secondly, I feel the district should establish an objective committee which would evaluate teachers' and administrators' effectiveness. Also, teachers should have an adequate opportunity to attend productive in-service workshops.

"Lastly, I believe the student-teacher ratio should be kept as low as feasibly possible. This would allow more interaction, enable teachers to do more elaborate lessons and thus enhance the learning within each classroom."

Q. State your assessment of the current school buildings.

"Although a building is not the most important part of the educational process, it must be a conducive place to learn. Some buildings are in dire need of repairs.

"For example, the third grade class at Pine Knob Elementary was subjected to constant dripping from the ceiling and the subsequent buildup of mold and mildew. No child or teacher should have to work under those conditions!

"Also, there are numerous code violations which need to have the district's immediate attention."

Q. What do you feel is the most urgent issue to be addressed by the new school board?

"The new school board needs to establish a long-range development from which future goals may be met. Possible funding for this plan must be addressed so we, as a community, will not "scramble" to assure the quality of education in Clarkston.

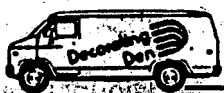

"Also, the board should look at developing more positive communication with the community by being more open and honest with problems or needs of the district."

Millage proposal

What it says:

"Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Clarkston Community Schools, Oakland County, Michigan, be increased by 5.5 mills ($5.50 on each $1,000) on state equalized valuation for a period of 3 years, 1988, 1989 and 1990, to provide additional funds for operating purposes?"

What it means:

The increase will basically restore programs to their 1986-87 level. The money will go for school operational expenses, such as staff salaries, classroom supplies and textbooks.

For a homeowner with a home assessed at $50,000, or one-half the market value of $10,000, the 5.5 mills would raise the annual tax bill by $275, or 75 cents a day.

Bonding proposition

What it says:

"Shall Clarkston Community Schools, Oakland County, Michigan, borrow the sum of not to exceed Five Million Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($5,200,000) and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds therefor, for the purpose of partially remodeling, partially re-equipping and improving existing school facilities and their sites?"

What it means:

The $5.2 million would be used to cover major maintenance needs and safety code violations in the district's buildings.

Using a facilities study commissioned by the board of education from Charles Sherman Associates of Pontiac, the board has selected specific projects that need attention. Among them are major roof repairs in every school building, some boiler replacements and removal of electrical code violations.

The bond would be repaid over 16 years. The rate for taxpayers the first year would be about 1/2 mill because it only covers a portion of the year. The first-year cost for a homeowner with a $50,000 assessed valuation would be $25. In subsequent years, the rate is not expected to exceed .93 mill. For the same homeowner, the annual cost would then be $46.50 or less.

Notice of Public Hearing On Increasing Property Taxes

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on June 6, 1988 at 5:00 p.m. at 6389 Clarkston Road the Board of Education of the Clarkston Community Schools will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1988 of an additional proposed millage rate of 6.6144 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 36.5622 mills be levied in 1988 for operating purposes if election proposal of 5.50 mills receives favorable votes.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1988, otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982 by 20.5868 percent.

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the school district. State equalized valuation will not be finalized until after the fourth Monday in May. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Education must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate for operating purposes. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

The Board of Education has proposed this millage for operating purposes in recognition of the responsibility to maintain and sustain an effective educational program for the community.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Mary Jane Chaustowich
Secretary, Board of Education
William D. Jackson
Director of Business Services

Paul Van Klaveren

Paul Van Klaveren, 38, of 6443 Woodglen Dr. has resided in the Clarkston area nine years. He is senior staff assistant at General Motors, Warren.

Van Klaveren has a bachelor's degree in industrial engineering and a master's degree in engineering management.

He and his wife, Maryagnes, have two children. Renee, 9, attends Clarkston Elementary and Amanda, 12, attends Clarkston Junior High School.

Under background, he writes: "My job requires that I manage various projects. This requires that I be able to work well with people, establish responsibilities and provide accountability to the customer. I am required to develop yearly budgets, justify the cost and sell specific items in the budget, and track expenditures. Locally, I have been a member of the Independence Township Safety Path Advisory Committee for the last four years and its chairman the last two. I am a member of the Clarkston Junior High parent advisory group and have volunteered my services many times at Clarkston Elementary."

Q. The teacher union contract calls for a reduction in teaching periods for each teacher from six to five in the high school beginning in 1988-89. In view of this change and other budgetary constraints, specify three recommendations you would make to assure continuation of quality education in the Clarkston schools.

"I believe that quality education can be characterized by the following: qualified and enthusiastic teachers and administrators, a solid curriculum plan, up-to-date facilities and a supportive community.

"To address these items, I would first recommend high standards of achievement for teachers and administrators and recognition for outstanding work.

"I would recommend that a district-wide curriculum plan be developed and followed and competency testing be implemented to ensure continued quality.

"I would also recommend working with the community to develop a three- to five-year operations plan including staffing requirements curriculum plan and required facilities."

Q. State your assessment of the current school buildings.

"Current school buildings in the Clarkston district tend to be overcrowded, lacking in facilities and in need of repair. The bond issue on the ballot addresses the needed repairs.

"Based on the latest enrollment estimates, crowded conditions and lack of proper facilities will not be alleviated unless something is done. For example, based on a 1987-88 facilities report, Clarkston schools have a total capacity of 5,235 students. This year's enrollment was 6,051. The projected enrollment in five years is 6,294.

"The media center and cafeteria facilities in the high school were built to service 900 students. The current enrollment is 1,599."

Q. What do you feel is the most urgent issue to be addressed by the new school board?

"Assuming the millage and bond issue pass, the most urgent issue is the development of the three- to five-year operations plan. The plan must take into account curriculum, staffing and required facilities.

"If this does not get under way soon, we could find it too late to respond to future demands. Involvement of the community in developing the plan is key to its success.

"The operations plan can then be used as a map by the school board and administration in the execution of their duties. The community can use the plan to understand the funding requirements."

Robert Wyatt

Robert J. Wyatt, 37, of 8181 Deerwood Rd. has resided in the Clarkston area 11 years. He is superintendent of plant engineering and maintenance for GM Truck & Bus.

Wyatt has a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and has taken additional courses in quality improvement and business management.

He and his wife, Christine, have two children. Jillian, 11, and John, 9, attend Clarkston Elementary School.

Under background, he writes: "15 years' experience as an engineer, maintenance supervisor and engineering supervisor. My job requires constant learning and teaching. Ongoing quality improvement efforts require a good working relationship with our unionized work force."

Q. The teacher union contract calls for a reduction in teaching periods for each teacher from six to five in the high school beginning in 1988-89. In view of this change and other budgetary constraints, specify three recommendations you would make to assure continuation of quality education in the Clarkston schools.

"1. Quality education can only be continued if further program cuts are avoided. We need Plan B so we need the proposed 5.5 mills.

"2. We need a full day of high school instruction. We need to have an equal number of high school teachers taking their planning period during the school day.

"3. We need to upgrade the high school library to accreditation standards. We need to learn how comparable districts are providing quality education under similar budget constraints."

Q. State your assessment of the current school buildings.

"Our district's buildings average 30 years old with out K-12 instructional buildings an average of 32 years old. Our newest instructional building, Sashabaw Junior High, is 19 years old. As old buildings, our schools need maintenance.

"It is unacceptable to have classroom activities rained out. Our buildings need minor rearrangement to satisfy our current needs. Our high school library does not meet accreditation standards and the cafeteria cannot accommodate all of our students.

"Fortunately, structurally sound older buildings can be economically maintained and modified."

Q. What do you feel is the most urgent issue to be addressed by the new school board?

"Our new school board must develop an ongoing educational program that includes full day instruction at all levels with current curriculum based on current textbooks.

"We need to stop making excuses about the unfairness of state funding and concentrate on providing a quality education with a minimal increase in taxes.

"The community must be kept informed on the problems that must be dealt with and the progress made to solve these problems."

Rainbow Connection leads to wishes come true

Children with life-threatening illnesses are helped by Clarkston-based charity

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Tara sat clutching a doll, dressed in her Sunday best and wearing a big grin at Detroit Metro Airport. Next to her was 9-year-old Gary, hands folded neatly in his lap, and 14-year-old Christopher, with earphones around his neck.

The three children and their parents, Russell and Barbara Nutting, were on their way to Disney World to enjoy a few days of fun together at a time in their lives that is shadowed with uncertainty and pain.

The Clarkston News Section 2 Reflections

Wednesday, May 25, 1988 Page 33

Tara, soon to be three, was diagnosed with a brain tumor this past winter. Surgery and therapy are taking their toll on both Tara and her family.

With excitement mounting for the Nutting family, most of whom had never flown before, Barb and Russ talked about Rainbow Connection, the organization that made their dream trip to Disney World a reality.

"I think it's the most wonderful thing that there are people out there who care," Russ said. "It's just heart-warming," added Barb, who said she was too excited to sleep the night before.

Rainbow Connection is a non-profit organization based in Clarkston that grants wishes to terminally or chronically ill children throughout Michigan. On May 18, the organization was making Tara's wish to visit "Mickey Mouse's house" come true.

The East Detroit family flew to Florida, visited Disney World and Epcot Center - tickets were compliments of the Disney organization - and flew home on May 22.

"It's something the whole family could share," said Pati Campbell, executive director of Rainbow Connection. "They need something else to think about besides hospitals."

Pati said that people and companies are very generous with donations and discounts when Rainbow Connection is granting wishes. And that adds up when the organization has made 25-30 dreams come true since its inception in 1985.

Rainbow Connection evolved after a tragic plane crash involving a Clarkston family on May 9, 1980. Fifteen-year-old Timothy and 11-year-old Jennifer Dobson died, along with their father, Ronald, in that accident. Their mother, Janet (Dobson) Vernier, was the sole survivor.

For the next four years, college scholarships were awarded to Clarkston High School students in memory of the Dobson children.

Getting in touch

Rainbow Connection, with headquarters in Clarkston, is a non-profit organization that grants reasonable wishes to terminally or chronically ill children in Michigan.

On the board of directors for Rainbow Connection are Janet Vernier, L. Brooks Patterson, Joseph Newmyer, Jeffrey Leib, Arthur Trowbridge, Dan Shanoski, Greg Anderson, Elwyn Dobson, Tony Carmen and Thomas Finnerty. Pati Campbell is executive director.

Persons interested in more information about Rainbow Connection, or in receiving Rainbow Connection's bi-yearly newsletter called Spectrum, may contact Campbell at 666-2800 or write to Rainbow Connection, 20 W. Washington, Suite 1, Clarkston, MI 48016.

OFF TO DISNEY WORLD to see Mickey Mouse's house is Tara Nutting (in the arms of her father, Russell) as the family boards a plane at Detroit Metro Airport on May 18.

Money was raised through the Dobson Open, a golf outing organized by Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, who was a good friend and golf buddy of Ronald for many years.

As the fund-raiser grew, it was decided to do something for children who were seriously ill. Through her own tragic experience, Janet sees this as a chance to lift the spirits of sick children, in memory of the two children she lost.

"I didn't have to watch my children die daily," Janet said, knowing that for some families the happy moments made possible by Rainbow Connection could be some of the last they share together. "These families live with this on a daily basis."

But for these families, there is always hope, Pati added. There are many who make it.

The Nutting family told her: "Every day we wake up and think, this can't be real."

But on May 18, with Tara smiling at the prospects of seeing the Disney characters she loves, problems seemed far away and the only thing that seemed unreal was that they were actually boarding a plane bound for Florida.

These are the moments, Pati said, that make her feel like "Santa Claus." It's a good feeling, she added.

To raise money for wishes, Rainbow Connection has expanded its fund-raising efforts. The golf outing, still an annual event, is planned July 25 at the Great Oaks Country Club in Rochester. There is also an annual holiday benefit, a Valentine's Day party.

This year, Rainbow Connection hopes to have Christmas cards for sale, with cover designs by some of the children whose wishes have been granted.

"It would be a marvelous money-maker for the holidays," Pati said.

Two other fund-raisers are in the works for Rainbow Connection. One is a benefit 10K and 5K run, the "Rainbow Run," sponsored by Runnin' Gear and Prescription Fitness, both in Waterford Township, on June 10 and 11. The other is a fund-raising event being organized by Tradewinds Aviation at the Oakland-Pontiac Airport.

After several Clarkston-area families requested donations in lieu of flowers in memory of loved ones, Rainbow Connection has just completed another project.

Memorial envelopes describing the non-profit organization have been printed. In part, the envelopes

"... You can't help but feel good when you give these kids the best time of their lives, something their families will remember forever."

Pati Campbell

Rainbow Connection

read: "Your gift to The Rainbow Connection memorial fund will help us to make dreams come true ... (and) help us bring joy to children who because of their illness have known little joy."

Janet is hand delivering the memorial envelopes to area funeral homes and hospitals.

Rainbow Connection has granted many wishes since it began, the first being an appearance by Muhammad Ali at Children's Hospital. They have delivered VCRs and Cabbage Patch Kids as well as trips to various parts of the country.

"You can't think negatively; you can't help but feel good when you give these kids the best time of their lives, something their families will remember forever," Pati said.

The Nutting family waved happily as they disappeared down the boarding ramp at Detroit Metro Airport. The last sight of them was Tara grinning over her father's shoulder as she waved goodbye.

The conversation between Pati and Janet drifted to a generation that grew up with the Mickey Mouse Club as this next generation family prepared to acquaint themselves with the well-known Disney characters at Disney World.

"It's a good feeling to see them so happy, sharing such a happy experience," Pati said.

"They need a break right now," Janet added. "They need to go to never-never land."

Party celebrates priest's 50th year

With an Irish theme, the families at St. Anne Parish, Ortonville, are holding a golden anniversary party June 3 for the Rev. John Hardy's 50 years of priesthood.

Born in Ireland, Hardy was ordained in 1938.

Hardy is to celebrate the Mass at 6 p.m. Friday at the church on Ortonville Road. Following is an open house for the whole community with song, food and conversation.

The Rev. John Hardy in 1938 and 1988.

Classmates take two top prizes

Two of the top three prizes in a county-wide poster contest for fifth-graders were won by pupils from Clarkston Elementary School.

Beth Eby won second prize of $75 and Mike White won third prize of $50 for their entries in the "Exercise For Your Heart" contest sponsored by the Oakland County Division of the American Heart Association.

There were 670 entries, said their teacher, Debbie Shotwell, which made their achievement all the more impressive.

"I was just very proud of them. It was a much bigger deal than I had thought," she said.

For her poster, Beth used the caption "Take Care of Your Heart." She drew a "bunch of hearts" with pictures of people exercising inside, she said. Their activities were baseball, skiing, ice skating, dancing and swinging on a swing.

"I couldn't believe that I won," she said.

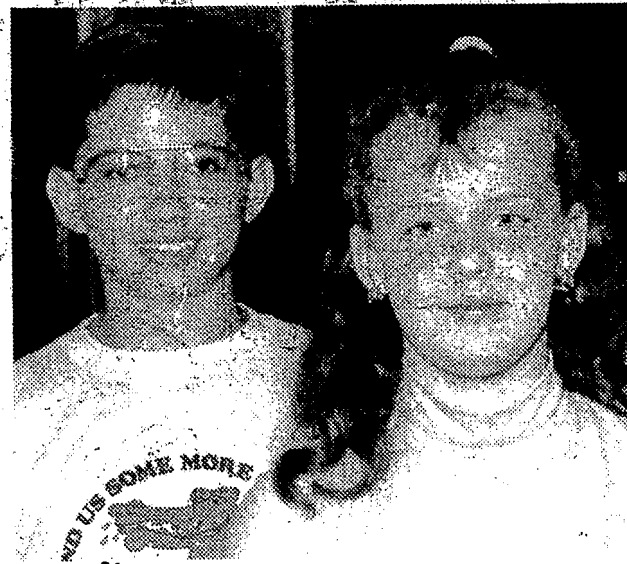

For Beth, the prize was the second for her artistic ability—when she was in the third grade, she won a poster contest for her grade level.

Mike's poster theme was "Keep Your Heart Healthy." He drew "a guy walking down in the city," he said. Four little pictures on the top and bottom showed him jumping, playing tennis, weight lifting and swimming. Also in his poster were a building, which was drawn because of a friend's suggestion, and a portion of a car.

"I just was happy. Glad I won," he said.

Beth said she may go shopping with her winnings; Mike said he planned to put his cash in the bank.

And they're both looking forward, along with members of their families and teacher, to the upcoming awards banquet at Meadow Brook Hall on the Oakland University campus in Rochester.

THEIR FAMILIES are proud of their achievement, say Mike White and Beth Eby. Beth is the daughter of Ray and Jan Eby, and Mike's parents are George White and Martha White.

Remember When The Family Doctor Was Like Part Of The Family?

Remember what it was like when you had a family doctor? When you needed to see him — for whatever reason — he greeted you by name. He took the time to listen to you and explain things. And even as a child, you felt at ease and comfortable. Those things you liked so much about the family physician are alive and well at MercyCare.

MercyCare Family Medical Center combines modern medicine with an old-fashioned concern for the patient. We offer diagnostic services on site and flexible hours to match your schedule. If there's a need for more specialized care, you can be referred directly to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital-Pontiac and its staff of 450 physicians and 42 medical specialties.

When you choose your medical care, come to MercyCare Family Medical Center.

Two seniors win GOAL academic honors

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Excelling throughout their prep careers in and out of the classroom earned two Clarkston High School seniors a special honor recently.

Mike Barnes and Kelly DuPree were invited to a luncheon at Gino's Restaurant in Keego Harbor May 18 to pick up their All-Academic team plaques for the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Since this is only the second year for the award, neither one knew such an honor existed. Both were happy they had won, they said.

The GOAL sponsors the award to honor two students from each high school in the league.

Barnes and DuPree were nominated by Athletic Director Paul Tungate and Principal Dr. Robert Burek.

Each candidate must be a senior carrying a minimum grade point average of 3.5 and be an active participant in a GOAL activity.

Barnes has been involved in a variety of after-school activities, especially sports, while at Clarkston High School.

On the basketball court, he has garnered many post-season honors. He earned the Blue and Gold award in ninth grade, the most valuable player for the junior varsity in 10th grade, the most improved player for the varsity in 11th grade and the most valuable player for the Wolves' varsity squad this past season.

He also was a tri-captain of the team in 12th grade and selected to the All-GOAL and All-County teams due to his fine play on the hardwood.

The Independence Township resident also participated in track during his ninth- and 12th-grade years. He earned a most valuable player and spirit award in ninth grade.

In the classroom, he has maintained a grade point average of 3.89 and picked up an Academic Chenille Letter in grades 11 and 12.

He plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall and probably major in pre-med.

"I'll try to run track and play intramural basketball, but that's about it," he said.

DuPree, on the other hand, will attend the Spartans' rival, the University of Michigan.

She is unsure of her major and is enrolled in the school of liberal arts.

At Clarkston High School, she is a member of the National Honor Society and has received the school's Academic Chenille Letter for maintaining a 3.87 grade point average in her junior and senior years.

DuPree attended Girl's State last summer and is a four-year cheerleader. She earned the most improved award in grade 11 and the leadership award during her senior year. Currently, she is a member of the principal's select leadership group.

As captain of the CHS varsity cheerleaders, she led the team to regional, state and national honors this past season.

She is involved in vocal music as a member of the CHS Madrigal Singers and probably will continue to sing when she attends U-M in the fall.

"I might join the chorus," she said.

The Springfield Township resident also is active in church youth activities, president of the National Youth Fellowship and serves on the United Youth Council.

Barnes and DuPree said they are looking forward to their freshman years at college. Their short-term goal is simple: keep their grades up and don't get into any bad habits.

KELLY DUPREE will head off to Ann Arbor in the fall for her freshman year at the University of Michigan.

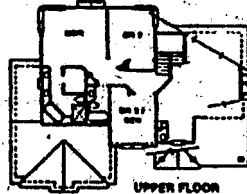

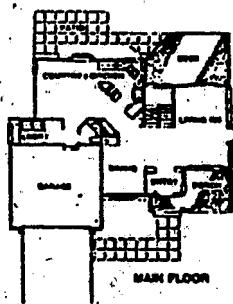

MIKE BARNES plans on staying active in after-school activities when he attends Michigan State University in the fall.

Pet of the Week

This dog likes people

Samantha lost her home when her former owner became seriously ill. Now this people-loving, 3-year-old dalmation needs a new home.

Samantha is deaf, which is not uncommon for dalmations. She used to be an outside dog, so she needs a little work on housebreaking, but she is very responsive and trainable.

She loves children; in fact, she prefers people to other dogs. She is very playful and active, and would make some family a wonderful pet.

Samantha can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Friend to Friend

All smiles

Dear Friend to Friend:

I am feeling a little bad because my mother and I got in quite a big fight. I really feel that she provoked me into it. She really started it. She knows how to make me really upset.

Well, she did and I got really upset and to make a long story short, we started pushing and shoving and it ended up with me hitting her.

I still believe that she deserved it but I feel uncomfortable about what happened. How can I stop her from starting this again? How can I control my temper?

MAD DOG

Dear Mad Dog:

Parents often have a way of getting on your nerves. We do have a way of driving our parents to distraction, too. But, if a parent provokes a teenager to the point that they are so angry they hit their parent, then that parent has a serious problem.

In this situation, the mother is the adult and she should act like one.

One suggestion is to have a family meeting and try to enlist the other parent as an ally in attempting to find ways of talking about the problems in the family and what can be done to prevent further such angry fights.

A teenager faced with a parent who frequently provokes arguments may try to use thinking strategies to keep his anger under control.

You can use breathing or relaxation exercises to gain control over your anger. You can consider what would happen if you let yourself get too angry.

You can make a list of things you could do in these situations to get away from your mother or work through your anger in some safe ways.

Unless you take control over the situation, you will lose, not your mother.

Dear Friend to Friend:

I really don't have any problems, but I needed a place to vent my feelings. I am very happy. I love to be in love!

I am smiling all the time and when I don't get to talk to him, all I can do is think about the next time.

Now, don't get me wrong. I am not going to put my life on hold, or stop it over this guy, but it sure is fun!

He does so many neat things for me. One day when I went to my car, there were flowers on it, and we went for a picnic in the park, and he sends me cards in the mail just because.

It is fun having the "child" in me show through. So, no problems but thanks for sharing in my happiness!!

TRULY IN LOVE AGAIN

Dear Truly,

we are glad to hear a positive, fun letter. It sounds like you have a good perspective when you say your life won't stop for him.

Keep your goals in the forefront and enjoy the rest. Thanks for writing!

What's Cooking

Pat Young

Peach of a side dish

There's bound to be a few chilly days yet this spring, when it's fun to warm the house by baking something in the oven.

On the next gray day, try this curried fruit. Served warm, it goes with just about any meal. And it's especially good with chicken or chops barbecued on the grill.

CURRIED FRUIT

- 1/3 cup butter or margarine
- 3/4 cup brown sugar
- 3 or 4 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 (16-ounce) can pear halves
- 1 (16-ounce) can peach or apricot halves
- 1 large can pineapple slices
- Maraschino cherries

In saucepan, melt butter or margarine; stir in sugar and curry.

Drain and pat dry the fruits. Layer in a 1 1/2-quart shallow casserole, putting peach halves on top. Pour in butter mixture and place a cherry in the center of each peach half.

Bake one hour, uncovered, in a 325-degree oven. Serve warm.

Studying pays big dividends for 5th-grade spelling champ

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Eleven-year-old Bobby Vance credits his mother and a fellow competitor for helping him place first in the Clarkston school district spelling bee.

"Half the reason I won was because of Julia Freeland," said the fifth-grade Andersonville Elementary School student from Ross Samuel's class. "The night before she came over, and we studied from 4:30 to about 9, except for about an hour. We ordered pizza."

His mother, Nancy, also helped him study before the bee. Plus, he wrote each word on the list five times, he said.

"It was a pain, but it worked," he said.

Bobby first spelled "intersperse" then spelled "horticulture" to take first place.

"It got to me and this other girl, Jeni Myers," he said. "We had to spell about 11 words."

"I was really nervous because there were people I didn't know all around me," said Bobby. "I just went up there. ... I got used to it and just tried to spell the words."

Bobby didn't know immediately that the bee was over, he said.

"At first, I didn't know I had won, and they started clapping. I was waiting for the next word. ... (When I realized it), I was happy. I just had a big smile on my face. I got to call my mom from the board office. (My parents) were really happy for me."

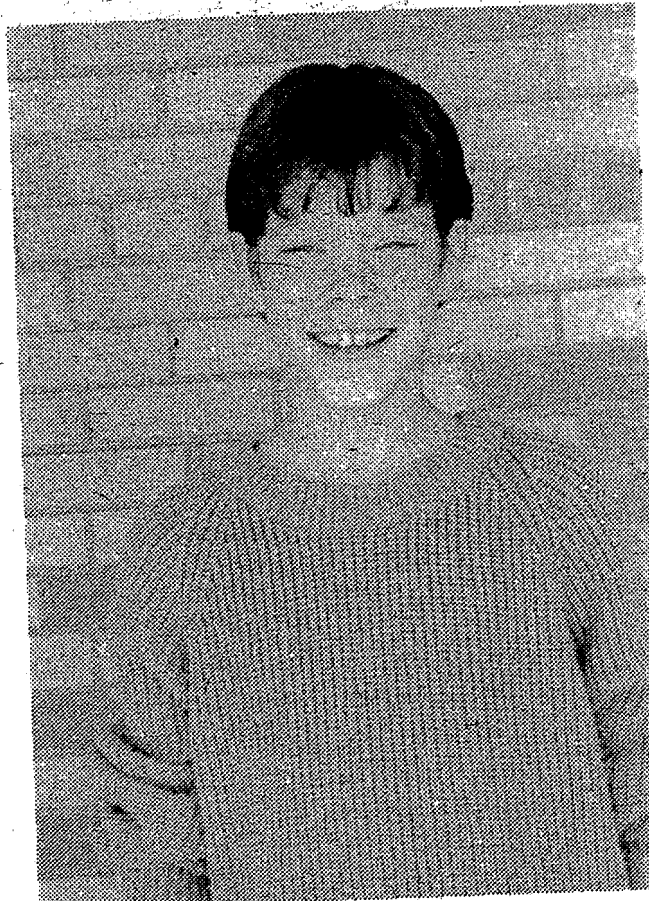

Bobby said modestly that he really isn't a top student.

"I'm OK in spelling. It's just that I studied really hard," he said.

The bee, with 25 super spellers, was held April 27 at the administration office. The top five spellers and an alternate from each of the five elementary schools participated.

Bobby won an American Heritage Dictionary, and runner-up Jeni Myers, from North Sashabaw Elementary School, won a thesaurus.

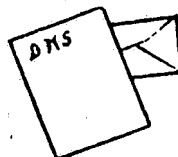

Each participant received a folder with a group photo and a certificate and, following the contest, lunch at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

SUPER SPELLER Bobby Vance is the son of Nancy and Bob Vance of Brucedale Drive, Springfield Township.

It covers everything from the symptoms and treatment of the common fever, to how to identify a heart attack or stroke and what action should be taken. Also covered are the proper first aid treatments for insect bites, sunburn, cuts, bruises and much more.

Fast lane fiasco

David Kwasnick

I've had enough. No, I've had more than that, I've had too much.

I'm writing my congressman and begging him to sponsor a bill that deals with those "people" who drive too slowly in our highway's passing lanes.

My letter would go something like this:

Your Eminence, Representative Extraordinaire Robert Carr (It doesn't hurt to talk nicely),

Sir, you, more than anyone, must realize the annoyances of being stuck in a long line of "Carrs." For this reason, I am writing you now.

Sir, there is a menace on our roads, a "Dead Menace," if you will. They are out there at this very moment, causing torment for God-fearing, Chevy-loving people like you and me.

Sir, there are deadbeats on our highways, more specifically, on the very essence of our great freeway system - the passing lanes of America.

Yes, Congressman Carr, it is true. I have seen, experienced members of this evil horde at work. Their plot is a simple, yet astonishingly, effective one - destroy us through that which we value most in our lives, our cars.

Picture this: Mom lovingly pulls a fresh-baked pie, an apple pie, from the oven. Oh, doesn't it smell delicious? Outside little Jimmy is playing ball, baseball, with the neighborhood children. Run, Jimmy, run. Life in Suburbia is as it should be. All is swell.

But, not five miles away, a revolution is taking place. They are on the roads; the Dead Menace is at work. As contented commuters zip swiftly along, a plan is being sprung into effect.

Armed with a single Toyota, or dare I say, a Yugo, one of these agents of dissent secretly slips into the passing lane. He immediately slows his car to 50 miles an hour.

The results are disastrous - traffic is tied up for miles upon miles. Good ol' American industry screeches to a halt - its lifeblood workers ironically stuck on their own highways and byways. Anarchy ensues, crash, bang, capitalism tumbles, Democrats and Republicans agree on things, Phil Donahue appears on Oprah Winfrey. Life as we know it ceases to exist.

Luckily, Congressman, this was merely a hypothetical situation. But it doesn't have to be.

Therefore, in response to this most serious peril, I humbly request you sponsor a bill that does one (or more) of the following:

1. Makes the death penalty available to those caught doing 55 or less in a passing lane. Public stoning is preferable.

2. Waives the charge of murder for anyone dispatching the above-mentioned person.

3. Deports the person in suggestion No. 1 to the country of his/her car's origin (since it will most definitely not be the U.S.).

4. Lose this bill, like everything else, in committee. Have a nice day.

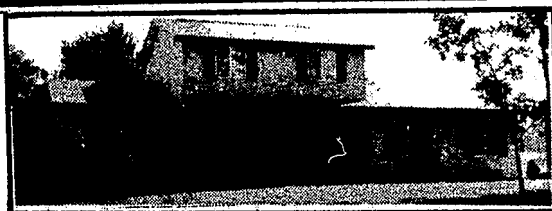

Your obedient servant,
David Kwasnick

Radio broadcasts to aid motorists

Two radio stations will broadcast updated construction information for travelers on parts of I-75 this summer, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) announced.

Motorists from the Michigan-Ohio state line to Flint can tune in the messages on their radios by dialing 530 AM, north of Flint and 1610 AM near Luna Pier, just north of the state line.

The radio information system is part of the transportation department's "Mobility '88" program designed to minimize inconvenience to motorists in highway construction areas.

The department has numerous road improvement projects along I-75, including six miles of recycling construction in Monroe County, 15 miles of improvements near Pontiac (including Independence Township) and 14 miles of repairs at Flint.

A second advisory radio system along I-94 in southwestern Michigan also is in operation.

CHS senior off to Naval Academy

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

To reach her goal of becoming a career officer in the Navy, a Clarkston High School senior expects a little rough sailing.

Selent: Anchors away

But hardships are nothing new for Jane Selent. She has weathered through her fair share while at Clarkston High School.

A knee injury temporarily knocked the wind out of her sails during her sports career. The Springfield Township resident bounced back this spring, however, and is currently a member on the girls varsity track team.

Besides basketball and track, Selent also played for the volleyball team. Outside of athletics, she is a member of the National Honor Society.

Doctors at the Naval Academy tested her knee when she went there for a routine physical and gave their stamp of approval, she said.

While in Annapolis, Md., for the physical, Selent also went through several screenings and spent a night in the dorms to see what college life will be like in the fall. She discovered it won't be a cakewalk by any stretch of the imagination.

"The first year will be really hard," she said. "The physical training sounded really tough."

Selent first became interested in the Naval Academy when its track coach contacted her while she was in 10th grade.

First letters came and in later years the coach followed those up with phone calls to encourage Selent to secure a needed nomination to the Naval Academy.

She was nominated by Congressman Bob Carr, who annually appoints three students to the Naval Academy from his 6th District, which includes Independence and Springfield Townships and communities stretching from Pontiac to East Lansing.

Now that the paperwork and testing is all but over, Selent can relax until her reporting date on July 6.

"It's going to be a short summer," she said.

CAREFULLY, Chris Russel (left), Matt Anderson (center) and Nathan Buckmester, from Carol Richard's first-grade class, tuck the soil and peat moss around the freshly watered roots of a maple tree. Donated by the Bailey

Lake PTA, over 700 trees were planted by the entire school population May 11. PTA member and landscaper Barbara Deegan chose the plant materials and designed the plan.

Growing together

FOR A FIRST-GRADER, the shovel is easier to handle with some help. Dana Runyon, 7, from Betsy Spiker's class, gives a strong effort, while PTA member Sue Parker digs in behind.

A MAPLE TREE consumes the energy of some busy first-graders from Carol Richard's class at Bailey Lake Elementary. The children were asked to take pride in and to take care of their newly planted playground tree, which stands between the school and the basketball court. Third-grade teacher Mel Rassler helped plan the schoolwide tree planting day.

Millage kickoff brings together facts, figures

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It could have been a national convention, complete with balloons and slogans and cheers. But behind all the hoopla at the Clarkston High School gym May 18 was a totally different campaign, one just as important to area residents.

While some parents handed out "Blue Ribbon Kids Need Blue Ribbon School" pamphlets, others watched Pep Band members perform and cheerleaders and pom-pom girls lead cheers to vote "yes-yes" in the June 13 school election.

In the upcoming school election, voters will elect two school board members from a field of eight candidates and two Oakland Community College board of trustees members from a field of 13 candidates.

But the "yes-yes" vote that millage workers are fervently striving for are the 5.5 millage increase and the $5,200,000 bond issue that are needed to operate Clarkston schools at least on the level of the 1986-87 school year, and do some badly needed repairs on aging school buildings.

Without the millage increase, school programs will be drastically cut, school days will be shortened and extra curricular activities dropped at the junior high and high school level, and elementary schools will lose music, physical education, foreign language and reading support. Elementary school media centers will close except for one day a week.

Without the bond, emergency repairs will still have to be made to schools, such as roof repairs and work where violations to current safety codes exist. The money for those repairs would come out of the schools operating funds, further crippling the financial posture of the district.

Millage workers are taking a different approach for the upcoming election. A direct, person-to-person approach has been implemented to get people to understand the need.

Workers want people to have the correct information. They are attempting to answer all the questions in the minds of voters.

What will the millage increase cost, for instance. A home assessed at $50,000 (which means a home worth $100,000) would have an increased annual cost of $275. That amounts to 75 cents per day to the taxpayer. Residents who are eligible to receive Michigan Homestead Property Tax Credits can be reimbursed for up to 60 percent of the increased millage and senior citizens can be reimbursed for 100 percent, up to $1,200.

The bond issue is for a 16-year loan. For the first year, the millage increase would be .5, or $25 a year for that same home assessed at $50,000.

The most the annual millage increase would be in following years is .93, and maybe not even that much, according to William Jackson, Clarkston schools director of business services.

The "Blue Ribbon Kids Committee" of volunteers working to pass the millage and bond issue is made up of teachers, staff, citizens, and mostly, of very concerned parents. More keep volunteering to help every day.

"I even have people coming up to me in the supermarket wanting to help," said Alberta Ellis, director of curriculum for Clarkston schools and administrative liaison for the millage task force.

"People are concerned about property values as well as the students."

The committee is making telephone contacts, preparing fact sheets and brochures detailing information for undecided voters on the Headlee law, school funding, salary rates and ranking.

"For instance, did you know that Clarkston is way at the bottom end of the scale in Oakland County for administrative salaries?" said Barbara Johns, who co-chairs the task force with William Bleisath.

The group is working to get information to anyone who has questions about the school district, and that information is available by calling the board office, 625-4402.

"We'll be staying in tune with our voters right to the election booth," Johns said.

"Getting into the college of their choice will be much tougher for kids," said Bleisath. "If they're going to have a chance, they have to have the new basics, like computer literacy."

If the millage passes, Ellis said the school district would start phasing in "new basics" so the students would get a competitive basic education for the 80's.

Bleisath added, "Even the kid who is not going on to college needs a strong curriculum to handle his life at age 19."

Volunteers at the millage kickoff event May 18 in the CHS gym echoed the same sentiments: Optimism that the millage will pass this time because people better understand the urgency, better understand the facts, and because people are even more worried about their children's futures.

One millage worker, Susan Leigh, sitting with her baby, a "future Clarkston student," said, "I'm hoping the reason it will pass is because people decide their children are as important as their pocketbooks."

Another, Mary Ann Emich, carrying a "Vote Yes" sign, summed up her feelings this way: "I think it's going to pass because it HAS to pass!"

CODYWEVERSTAD, 4, shows her support of Clarkston schools with a balloon and blue ribbon. Her mother, Michele (right), is active in the millage campaign. Volunteers working on the "Blue Ribbon Kids Need Blue Ribbon Schools" campaign filled the Clarkston High School gym in support of the millage increase and bond issue.

How the state aid formula works

Ninety percent of the Clarkston school budget is made up of local property tax and state funding, based on the "in-formula" plan. The remainder is from sources such as interest.

The state aid formula changes each year (and has had a trend toward less aid), but for this school year it is:  $$75.10 \times 32.1294$  (the currently levied local millage) +  $$350.00 = $2,762.92$ . This is a formula created in the state legislature.

The $2,762.92 is the amount the state guarantees Clarkston, as an in-formula school, per child.  $$2,762.92 \times 6,051$  (the number of children in the school district) = $16,718,000.

Clarkston is an in-formula school because it does not generate more than the $16,718,000 by itself. Clarkston generated about $12,358,000 this year, and the state contributed the rest. Clarkston would need a tax base of several hundred million dollars more to generate a figure greater than $16,718,000.

Out-of-formula schools are those where there is a large tax base, usually generated by large industries, like schools in Troy, Rochester, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, etc. Not only do these schools generate more tax money, but their money is not limited to the in-formula ceiling.

For example, if Clarkston were out-of-formula and collected $18,000,000 in school taxes, they would keep all of the money for operating the schools.

When assessments go up and more school tax money is generated, Clarkston still gets only the $16,718,000. It just means the state saves money by not having to kick in as much to make up the difference. It should also be noted that not all of a taxpayer's bill goes to the schools.

If the millage is increased, the new millage figure is used in the state formula, so the end result is more money per student.

Headlee is a law which limits the tax millage based on the Consumer Price Index. If inflation is low and property is escalating, Headlee "rolls back" the amount which can be levied.

Clarkston school district voters have actually authorized 33.33 in school millage, but because of Headlee, they can only collect 32.1294. Another roll back is anticipated next year, causing even less millage for the schools.

The state school aid fund is generated by sales tax, sales of tobacco and liquor (63 percent) and by the state lottery (17 percent). The state makes up the difference. State lottery has not created a "bigger barrel" of state aid money, only a changing of what percentage of money comes from where. In other words, the lottery does not create more money for the schools.

The last millage increase in Clarkston was in 1981.

FUTURE "CLARKSTON STUDENT" Scott Leigh and his mother, Susan, share a quiet moment during a lively kick-off campaign on May 18 for the millage election.

A VICTORY did, indeed, belong to Jill Jones, whose arms are raised as she and hundreds of others begin the 5K and 10K Fun Daze events. Jones, an Independence Township resident, finished second in her age division (40-49). (Photos by Kathy Greenfield)

in the one-mile walk/run on Saturday morning received a bright yellow Fun Daze pennant.

Celebrate good times

MAD DASH: Jeff Caraway (left) and Jeffery Dengate race toward the finish line for the 5K Fun Daze run. The boys took fourth and fifth places in the 12-and-under category.
