AFTER THE MEMORIAL DAY PARADE reaches Lakeview Cemetery a short service for all the veterans who died is conducted. American flags, put in place by members of the Campbell Richmond Post 63 of the American Legion the day before the memorial service, are proudly flying in the wind for all to see.

A vocal group entertained the audience during the service by singing "America the Beautiful" and "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground."

August primary race shapes up

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Only Republicans filed for Independence Township Board seats by the 4 p.m. deadline Tuesday, so it looks as if the next township board will be chosen in the August primary election. The full-time officials are running unopposed, but there are six candidates for the four trustee seats.

In Springfield Township, the competition will be a little stiffer, as three people try for the treasurer's position, two for the office of clerk and five for the four trustee positions.

Immediately following the May 31 deadline, clerks in Independence and Springfield offices were validating the signatures on the petitions.

In Independence, running unopposed are Supervisor Frank Ronk, Treasurer John Lutz and Clerk Richard Holman.

Hoping to fill four trustee positions are incumbents Carol Balzarini, Daniel Travis and William Vandemark; and newcomers Frank Millard (a Clarkston Village Council trustee), Mel Leroy Vaara (assistant superintendent of Clarkston Schools) and George Vitinaros.

Current Trustee Dale Stuart is not seeking reelection.

In Springfield, Supervisor Collin Walls, a Republican, is running unopposed. Incumbent Clerk J. Calvin Walters is running for the clerk position against fellow Republican William T. Watkins.

Fighting for the Republican nomination for the treasurer's seat on the August ballot will be Lois Stiles (R) and Ruth Ann Hines, a current township board trustee. On the Democratic Party ballot, Joe Gorka, current chairperson of the planning commission will run unopposed in August and against the winner of the Republican primary race in November.

Current Treasurer Patricia Kramer is not seeking reelection.

Only Republicans are vying for the four trustee positions, so one of the five candidates will be eliminated at the August primary. Incumbents Charles Oaks and Glen Vermilye are running with Nancy Strole, Dennis Vallad and Margaret Bloom. Current Trustee William Whitley is not running, and Trustee Ruth Ann Hines is seeking another elected position.

Seven Republicans are running for six park commission positions, including Tim Holmes, Helen Vergin, Helen Craig, William Leddy and incumbents Robert Clark, Betty Hull and E. Roger Bower. Not seeking reelection are Glen Guilds, Linda Kolasz, and Charles Going, who is deceased.

On the non-partisan six-member library board, candidates are James Banes and incumbents H. Aldene Nihill, Kristine Bower, Mary Watson and Ruth Gruber. Current members Susan Parker and Irene Hubbach are not running.

Meet candidates in the morning

On Wednesday morning, June 8, the Clarkston Area Optimists Club is sponsoring a "Meet the Candidates" breakfast from 7:30 to 9 a.m. in the 20 Depot Street restaurant.

Candidates for the Clarkston Board of Education have been invited to make five-minute presentations. This will be followed by a brief question and answer period, with questions passed to the platform on cards until 9 a.m.

The "Meet the Candidates" breakfast is scheduled during the Optimists Club's regular Wednesday morning breakfast meeting time at 20 Depot Street. Tickets to the Light quest fails for M-15, Cranberry intersection

Drivers in Deerwood subdivision and on Cranberry Lake and Perry Lake roads will still have a wait to enter M-15 from Cranberry Lake Road during busy morning and evening hours.

Supervisor Frank Ronk's request for a traffic light at the M-15-Cranberry Lake Road intersection, Independence Township, was recommended for denial by engineers in the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT).

"We're going to be back at them for some kind of adjustment," said Ronk, after receiving the May 9 letter with results of the traffic study. "It's a burden right now getting onto M-15, and with the next phase of Deerwood, it's going to be a heavier burden."

He requested the MDOT do a study after the third phase, 160 residences, of Deerwood is completed, he said.

According to the MDOT letter, the traffic signal was not recommended for the following reasons:

1. Traffic volumes are not high enough on Cranberry Lake Road to warrant a signal.

Although M-15 meets the major street minimum volume warrant for 14 hours, Cranberry Lake Road fails to meet the minimum volume warrant for a single hour.

2. Overall delay time to Cranberry Lake Road traffic would not be decreased by adding a signal.

In eight hours, 99 vehicles approached the intersection from the west, and 295 approached from the east on Cranberry Lake Road. A gap study (measuring the time between vehicles) taken for the same period shows 11 of the 32-15-minute periods studied did not average at least one gap in two directions per minute. For eastbound Cranberry Lake Road vehicles, only one delay exceeded one minute. For westbound Cranberry Lake Road vehicles, eight exceeded one minute - the longest being two minutes and 23 seconds.

3. Lack of a correctable accident pattern.

Accident data for the three-year, nine-month period from January 1, 1984, through Sept. 30, 1987, shows 10 accidents reported at the intersection. Of the 10, two were right-angle type accidents, which might have been minimized with a traffic signal.

Corrections

In last week's edition, the time was incorrect for the "Meet the School Board Candidates" session planned by the Clarkston Optimist Club on Wednesday, June 8.

The event is planned from 7:30 to 9 a.m. at the 20 Depot Street restaurant.

Due to an editing error in the May 25 report on the Deer Lake Beach lease, it was not clear that the following statement regarding the Deer Lake Beach lease was made by Village Trustee Frank Millard.

"I think the township is doing an excellent job administrating the beach. We're grateful to them, really. But the expired contract was left strictly to the township's option to renew every five years. ... We would like some input on long range policies," Millard said.

The finishing times for the 10K female runners, ages 18 to 29, in the Clarkston Fun Daze race were inadvertently left off the list in last week's Clarkston News. The list follows:

10K run for females age 18 to 29 - 1, Karen Arsen, 46:10; Mary Lovasco, 46:32; Laura Johnson, 46:36; Annette Starr, 47:41; Phyllis Shawver, 48:57; Gaylyn Katz, 51:18; Denise Milke, 52:40; Ellen Tyckoski, 55:32; Debra Abbeg, 55:56; Mary Jo Colonna, 55:57; Teresa Henry, 60:32.

Voters can meet board candidates

(VOTERS, continued from previous page) event, are $6 and may be purchased at the door. If residents do not wish to eat breakfast, they may still come in to hear the candidates speak without purchasing a ticket.

On Thursday evening, June 2, the League of Women Voters of the Clarkston Area is also sponsoring a "Meet the Candidates" event. Questions submitted by audience members will be the primary focus for this session, set for 7:30 p.m. in the Independence Township Annex, 90 N. Main in Clarkston.

Cards will be provided so the audience can submit questions any time during the presentation, which will be filmed by Independence-Clarkston cable-TV for airing on Channel 65.

Community pride flows for award winners

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

More than a century ago, Abraham Lincoln captured the essence of the annual Michigan Week Community Awards: "I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives, and so live that the place will be proud of him."

Emcee Lew Wint presented Lincoln's appropriate quote during the third annual awards breakfast May 25 at the Deer Lake Racquet Club.

Independence Township and Clarkston community pride flowed for those selected for honors in five categories by the Michigan Week Community Awards Committee.

"Citizen - 1988"

Artemus Pappas

A 30-year resident of the Village of Clarkston, Pappas served as village clerk for 10 years before becoming village treasurer, a post he has held for 16 years.

"Besides being a teacher in our community for 24 years, he's a very good neighbor and a wonderful friend," said village President Sharron Catalo.

During the presentation, Catalo also praised Pappas for his dedication, ready smile and "ever-steady influence in the village" - and revealed that the Pappases had celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary the day before. The news brought a round of applause from the crowd of 75.

"Volunteers - 1988"

Edward and Lila Fletcher

The lengthy list of volunteer activities pursued by Edward and Lila Fletcher was presented by George White, principal of Pine Knob Elementary School.

Involvement in St. Daniel Catholic Church, the Athletic Boosters Club, the Clarkston Academically Talented school program, Camp Fire, Boy Scouts and millage campaigns were mentioned.

At Pine Knob Elementary, Ed knows where all items are stored for the annual school fair and Lila's the resident expert on cheese and sausage sales.

When the breakfast bunch laughed at that, White noted that the most recent sale brought a $20,000 profit.

As parent volunteers, "Ed and Lila are always there," said White, adding that the couple are "a real complement to our community."

"Property Beautification - 1988"

Beverly's of Clarkston

Don and Beverly Short were honored for their remarkable renovation of a former used car lot into a fantasyland of flowers and gifts called Beverly's of Clarkston.

As Beverly took the needed time to create the proper atmosphere, residents eagerly awaited the opening of the shop at 7150 Ortonville Rd., just north of the Village of Clarkston, said Martha Wheeler of Oxford Bank.

"It wasn't to open until it was perfect," Wheeler said, adding praise for the building's outside appearance and noting that Beverly's "talents go right from the road, right inside the building."

"Business Person - 1988"

Roland G. Wilson, Fire Chief

Gar Wilson's devotion to the Clarkston community shows in his work record: 28 years as head of the village department of public works, 18 years as an on-call township firefighter, 13 years as a full-time firefighter, three years as fire marshal and one year as chief of the Independence Township Fire Department.

"Gar is a very special person in many ways," said Norma Goyette, village clerk. "He has always cared for people and always been available whenever needed."

"Historic Preservation - 1988"

Stephen and Kelly Hudson

The work by Steve and Kelly Hudson on their former village home at the corner of Main Street and Clarkston Road restored it "to its previous grandeur," said Jennifer Radcliff, former president of the Clarkston Community Historical Society.

"It was a joy to me. I support anyone who will work that hard on a home everyone can enjoy," she said.

The Hudsons are now working to restore the village home they purchased on Buffalo Street.

Winners of the citizen, volunteer and property beautification awards were presented with official documents from the state Legislature by State Rep. Mat Dunaskiss. Plaques were presented to the winners of the business person and historic preservation awards.

Dunaskiss also presented a special award of a state flag that had flown over the Capitol in Lansing to Christine Downing of National Bank of Detroit's Clarkston branch. Downing has served as chairperson of the Michigan Week Community Awards Committee for three years.

He praised Downing for her efforts and noted that what makes Michigan great goes beyond its lakes and other geological attributes. "It's that natural resource of people," he said.

Downing accepted the flag by saying, "I'm just thrilled with this, and I will certainly find a place to fly this flag."

Rezoning request passes first hurdle

Nearly 16 acres off Pine Knob Road, south of I-75, could be rezoned from rural residential to single family residential.

After a public hearing May 26, the Independence Township Planning Commission voted 6-1 to recommend rezoning to the township board, which has the final say.

Carol Balzarini, who cast the only no vote, said the surrounding parcels, zoned single family residential, were larger than the 15,000-square-foot minimum lot size under single family residential zoning.

"I don't have a problem with large acre parcels mixed with small acre parcels," she said. "I'm not willing to rezone. I think Mr. (Ozzie) Jackson should try to develop as it is."

Jackson plans to build and sell four $80,000 to $90,000, 14,000- to 15,000-square-foot houses on 15,000-square-foot lots and one house on the remaining 13 acres, of which most is wetlands.

Jackson said he planned to donate the about 10 acres of wetlands, just south of I-75 across from Sashabaw Junior High School, to the Independence Land Conservancy, which would prevent the property from ever being developed.

Chairperson Brent Bair said the rezoning was consistent with surrounding land use.

"I have no problems with this," he said. "My ultimate concern, as always, is does it conform to the master plan? ... The answer is yes it does."

During the public hearing, four people voiced concerns over drainage, the dumping of trash which occurs frequently on the vacant parcel where Pine Knob dead-ends at I-75, and juveniles from SJHS who cross the property and then cross I-75.

"We hear horns and brakes all the time," said Truman White of Pine Knob Lane. "Some kids are going to be killed."

Bair said township employees would contact the Michigan Department of Transportation to ask them to erect a more permanent fence.

Jackson said said the dumping would probably diminish because the property would be occupied.

Planners recommend approval of M-15, I-75 mall

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Plans for Independence Point, a mall proposed for M-15 near I-75, received the first approval from the Independence Township Planning Commission.

After a public hearing May 26, the commission unanimously recommended approval by the Independence Township Board for a rezoning of the 6.12 acres from planned shopping center and single family residential to planned unit development (PUD).

A PUD is a rezoning of a parcel of land in accordance with a specific site plan. It allows different uses on one site and requires approvals from the planning commission and the township board.

The commission voted 6-1 to approve the conceptual site plan for a two-story, 20,000-square-foot medical office and two one-story buildings totaling about 18,000 square feet for retail businesses.

Steve Secatch, who cast the only no vote, objected to an exit onto Northview Drive from the site.

"Otherwise, the concept is great," he said.

Secatch requested an extensive buffer between the parking lot and the Clinton River, which runs between the property and I-75.

"The less people that know about the river, the better it will be taken care of," he said.

Joseph Figa said he liked the concept of a campus-like development.

"It looks like you've tried to do something with the back, ... so it almost looks like a second front," he said. "It's very attractive, but it's a little trendy-looking."

He also suggested adding more landscaping between the development and the nearby residential area and voiced concern over traffic exiting on Northview Drive.

Richard Oppmann favored the proposal.

"It's a good design, an appropriate use of the PUD and a favorable conceptual site plan," he said.

During the public hearing, three residents voiced their opinions, including Northview Drive resident Donald Moody, who asked for more landscaping between the residential property in the rear of the mall and the parking lot.

Ann Glen of Reese Road said she was concerned over adding offices to M-15 and to further development north on M-15.

"Do we really need more offices?" she asked

Chairperson Brent Bair responded: "We have a large parcel of (commercial) that is owned by somebody, and they have a right to do something with it," he said.

Bair also referred to a letter from Northview Drive resident Ralph Patterson, who could not attend the meeting.

Patterson noted that the parking lot would be noisy and that it could be a gathering spot for kids with skateboards or teens with cars. He asked for a minimum 100-foot setback between the development and his house adjacent to the property on Northview.

The Northview Drive exit is a right turn only with curved curbing to prevent drivers from turning left, said architect Gregory P. Heil, representing Poponea, Af-folder Investment and Development.

A right turn only exit is also planned for M-15 near I-75. A boulevard entrance and exit is proposed for another driveway on M-15 closer to Northview Drive, Heil said.

Heil told the commission and audience that the buildings were designed to appeal to pedestrians. Architects tried to break down the mass to give an "illusion of village-like characteristics," he said. "It will act as a gateway to the existing historical section of Clarkston."

The site plan drew favorable comments from township planner Richard Carlisle.

"This project has evolved through these new owners to a land use mix that is less intensive," Carlisle said, referring to earlier proposals for a supermarket or a fast food restaurant.

"The nature of the design is oriented to smaller scale retail uses," he said.

As a comparison, he listed projected traffic generation for Independence Point and other possible uses.

Independence Point would generate about 2,600 trips a day, 339 at the p.m. peak hour; a 50,000-square-foot shopping center (no offices), 5,800 trips a day, 770 at the p.m. peak hour; a 70,000-square-foot office, 900 trips a day; a 40,000-square-foot supermarket, 5,000 trips a day; a fast food restaurant (which could be built on a portion of the property without a rezoning), 2,600 trips a day.

Each solicitor must wear lapel ID card

With good weather comes solicitors of all sorts, who must have a license to sell their wares in Independence Township, said Clerk Richard Holman.

Last week, the clerk's office received complaints about unlicensed magazine salespeople selling in neighborhoods, he said.

Salespeople can be a nuisance, but residents can take several steps to lessen the impact, he said.

"Even if they have a license, they don't have a right to harass people on their own property," Holman said. "Ultimately, (residents) have the right to say no and tell them to get off their property."

Salespeople must carry the township permit and are also required to wear a township identification card on their lapels stating they have a township license.

If solicitors don't have a permit or if they misbehave or refuse to leave the property when asked, residents should call the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (858-4950) to report the illegal activity and should call the township (625-5111), as well, he said.

The township will record the information to control future permits for the organization, he said.

"The solicitor's license is not designed to discourage people," Holman said. "... We want to know who they are, so if we have any complaints we know who to talk to."

'If it Fitz...'

Childhood fantasies

Jim Fitzgerald

Various businesses are forever sending me news releases and photographs, in search of publicity. On behalf of Emily, I thank them for all this helpful material.

Like most six-year-olds, my granddaughter Emily lives much of her life in fantasyland. She pretends to be a teacher, waitress, entertainer, mother and so on. Whatever role she's playing, Emily is always a person in authority, giving orders to imaginary idiots who wouldn't know how to breathe without her firm guidance.

All this play-acting requires props, preferably from the real world, not the toy store. Emily doesn't want to read to her students from childish Dick and Jane books, she wants real adult books, the kind of authentic reading that can make you emotional when you get to the page that Emily's little sister, substituting for an imaginary idiot, colored with purple crayon.

I am Emily's prop man. I mail her news releases and photos that used to go into my waste basket. This stuff looks important to Emily, who has never met a public relations representative in heat. Emily shuffles the papers on her desk, or distributes them to the imaginary idiots, or reads aloud from them in her most intellectual voice, even though she can't read. She glues the photos to walls.

Emily's mother, Ferd, appreciates my supply of press pap because it distracts Emily from more incendiary activities, such as giving her little sister a horsey-back ride down the basement steps, on roller skates. My reward is that Ferd sometimes eavesdrops on what Emily does with the pap, and reports back to me.

It is my contention that the most fun a stealthy adult can have is to crouch in the shadows and watch the pretending of innocent little kids who have no idea you are such a big sneak. Emily and I get together only once or twice a month, so I must depend on her parents to keep me up to date on her fantasy world. The latest report may be the funniest.

The morning mail from me brought Emily a press packet promoting Sesame Street traffic safety program. She immediately set up a classroom in her bedroom, while her mother peeked through a crack in the door.

"Before passing out the news releases to her students," Emily told them there were certain rules they would have to obey, or they couldn't stay in school," Ferd later told me. "One of those rules, Emily said, was no running in the hallway.

"Then there was a long pause, and Emily said there was one exception - they could run in the hallway if they had to get back to the classroom in a hurry because they were hurt.

"Another long pause. 'Of course,' Emily said, 'if you hurt your foot or leg, you won't be able to run, so a friend can run for you!'

"Then there was an even longer pause, and Emily said: 'If you don't have a friend, and your leg or foot is hurt, you can scootch along on your butt, like this.' And Emily demonstrated the hallway butt scootch for her pupils.

"There was another pause while Emily pondered further. 'Of course, if your left arm and left leg are hurt, you won't be able to scootch like that,' she said, 'but you can scootch like this.' And Emily demonstrated the half-butt hallway scootch.

At this point sneaky Ferd had to retreat so Emily wouldn't hear her laughing. So I can't tell you how a student with both legs and arms hurt manages to scootch. It probably helps to have a very talented butt.

Speaking of butts, the giant slide on Belle Isle recently opened for the season, and Emily and I were there, butts on burlap mats, plunging down the slick bumpy surface, sometimes airborne, often screaming. After three trips, I said no more. It wasn't the ride down that was killing me, it was the walk back up.

"People will laugh at an old man like me on a kids' slide," I told Emily.

"They won't laugh if you're with the famous Emily," she said.

She was pretending I was Dr. Frankenstein and she was Boris Karloff.

Reason to worry

When somebody around Clarkston town says banquet, awards ceremony or major fund-raiser, then ties in the word "emcee," the sequence usually continues with Lew Wint.

He's hosted the vast majority of events I've attended and reported on for The Clarkston News over the years.

Those who frequent these functions know they can always count on some local jokes to make them laugh, some gentle teasing of the government folk and even an occasional "Can you believe he said that?"

Wint always does his homework. He's up on current events and always takes time to credit the cause and those responsible for behind-the-scenes work in putting on the program.

Something happened at the annual Michigan Week Community Awards Breakfast last week that surprised me nonetheless.

At the end of the program, Wint noted that he was supposed to make closing remarks. He directed the crowd that included township and village officials to the purpose of the breakfast. "It says community awards," he began.

He noted what has happened in other communities now split into the city of this and city of that.

"We must not let anything or any person divide our community. We must, all of us, not be part of the silent majority," he said.

Wint went on to talk about the sense of community Clarkston and Independence Township still enjoy. "It's so special. We're all proud of it, and we've got to keep it," he said.

A couple of days later, I asked him what inspired the words he shared. The whole combination of disputes between village and township officials over items such as police coverage and, most recently, the Deer Lake beach lease served as his inspiration, he said.

The village has applied to become a city - to protect itself - and there will be hearings, a decision by state officials and, if they say yes, an opportunity for the town's residents to vote on the question only if a petition is filed.

But beyond the question of cityhood, about which we'll all learn more as the year or so that the process takes goes by, the bad feelings that exist between village and township officials worry Wint.

"I think it's scary and I think it's serious," he said.

He also said residents who are upset by the battles should "stand up and get counted."

"I think we have such a unique situation here with our Main Street, our downtown and any excuse to have a parade," Wint said. "I'm so proud of the community and that it is a community, that it just worries me."

I'm with Lew.

Jim's Jottings

Auburn Hills Councilman Dale Fisk invited me to speak at his town's Memorial Day festivities. Because of a prior commitment I couldn't accept.

I haven't missed many Decoration Day dedications, speeches and parades in my 37 years in small town newspapering. And, in recent years when war veterans have given the address I've found myself saying, "I should offer to speak some time."

As red, white, and blue as I am, and as much as I know Memorial Day chairmen are searching for speakers, I should make some notes and offer to talk to the crowd.

Not that I'm a speaker. Not that getting up in front of people is easy for me. Not that those in attendance would care at all what I have to say. I have an ego, but not that big.

It's just that I really am proud to be an American. John Philips Sousa's music thrills me, color guards passing by give me chills, men in uniforms of various services make me proud.

The look on people's faces on Memorial Day is different from any other day of the year. Their reverence, respect, and dignity shows.

Any Memorial Day speech I'd write would, of course, have to have some reference to my days in the United States Navy. Gosh, I was proud to wear those whites and blues, especially in parades. Even marching from Great Lakes Training Station to a football game on base brought my shoulders back a little further.

This pride and patriotism strengthens with passing time. I'm more aware of more things that have been accomplished in the United States by fellow citizens.

We learned the Gettysburg address and Preamble to the Constitution in a 1-room school in rural Michigan. In Washington a couple years ago we stood before President Lincoln, sitting in his big chair, and found we could still recite the words he spoke in the 1860's while following the sculpted words at the memorial.

At 61 I truly understand what I had to learn when I was 10. It takes some of us longer.

My Memorial Day talk, besides mentioning the faces, would include young people holding small flags given them by parents to wave on this day... how they and the riders of decorated bikes make me smile and feel good.

I always leave a Memorial Day celebration feeling better. The taps, lowering of the flag and prayer at the cemetery stir me, and when it's over, even that solemn as it is, gives me a satisfying inner feeling.

Memorial Day, is, of course, just that, a day for remembering Mom, dad, family, those who died serving their (our) country, those who served, those who may die serving, and remembering our country, America... land of the people, by the people and for the people.

Letters to the Editor

A history lesson

Six years ago as a Brandon school district resident, I witnessed the same situation we as a community now face with the Clarkston schools, insufficient funds to support an educational program, which is adequate but certainly not extravagant.

The Brandon voters refused to increase the millage for three years. The school system deteriorated to the threat of North Central accreditation loss until the millage finally passed.

During this time, we went to the five-hour day, dropped many languages, science and art programs and were forced to run a pay for and volunteer athletic program, which resulted in spending more for raffle tickets and pot luck dinners than any tax increase.

In addition to all this, we lost over 100 students to private schools, which resulted in an additional quarter million dollar revenue loss since we were also in in-formula district. This, by the way, required additional millage when it finally passed to make up for the pupil loss.

After all was said and done, no one came to our rescue, least of all the state, which has been claiming the need for education funding to reform for years but has yet to show any results.

Please, voters, believe me as a parent who saw his children complete high school in this environment. A "yes" vote on both the June 13th proposals is necessary for the survival of Clarkston schools.

It's like the commercial, "You can pay me now or you can pay me later." And as you know, the later cost is much more, not only in dollars but more important, the education of our children in this community.

Paul Ilg

The winning side

"It is good to be on the winning side, even if the final victory isn't scheduled for our life time."

Maybe it's about time we make "final victory" a part of our schedule. Victory for excellence in education.

It is unthinkable that any responsible parent would deliberately choose a school system that could not or would not provide the best education possible for their children.

Unfortunately, second best does not benefit from the rewards of the winner. We admire and praise those who strive for excellence, who go for the "gold."

We cannot expect our students to achieve the best if we don't provide an atmosphere of excellence - discount mania prevails! "The best for less" entices.

These slogans cannot apply to education. We get what we pay for. If we choose to ignore or vote "not" for the millage, we lose.

If a caring, concerned, compassionate generation is the kind of citizens we want to graduate from our schools in Clarkston, then we must be a caring, concerned, compassionate community. And we need the leadership provided by all the dedicated teachers we can get!

Maybe someday we can expect more equity in the appropriation of state funds for education. But can we afford to wait?

Let's get on the "winning side" now. Let's have the victory. Vote "yes" for the millage increase.

Mary F. White

Citizens beware

Beware: Citizens of Clarkston are being solicited for yet another millage increase.

The school system's budget exceeds $19 million presently. At this point Clarkston enrollment is 6,000 students. That figures to be $3,200 per student. More than a good private education. So now we're being asked for more.

At one of the school board meetings the school board was asked why they haven't gone to Lansing to get the money we citizens already paid for our children's education. No answer.

We asked why Bloomfield Hills and Pontiac school systems are getting anywhere from 2 to 4 percent more money per pupil than Clarkston students. No answer.

Our tax money is put into a big pot for all students rich or poor to get an equally good education. Why aren't our children as good as Bloomfield Hills and Pontiac students?

Let me remind you this community's tax dollars and assessments are high, one of the highest in the state. We pay taxes to the government (which is supposed to be a non-profit organization) to provide us with good roads, police protection and education for our children.

We don't have good roads, our police protection is inadequate. Now we're being told our children aren't getting any of this money we've poured into the system to provide for their education.

So we ask this, "Is it our state legislature pocketing our money and using it to drive drunk down our roads endangering us and our children? Or are our school board members pocketing the money? Or are our school board members too yellow-bellied to go up to our drunk legislators and get our money?"

We paid for our children's education with our tax dollars and lottery moneys and all we hear are threats of taking the education away. It's scary to see none of our money being used in its proper areas.

It doesn't take a mental giant to figure out our money's being peed into some hole and none of our officials wish to elaborate on which hole.

We, the people want a good basic education for our children without the frills. We want them to learn to read, write and do arithmetic. Instead we get rich people who want us to provide their children with fine arts, foreign languages, social workers, sports, etc.

We feel if your child excels in sports, acting, etc., pay for it yourself. We wouldn't expect our neighbors to pay for our child's swimming lessons, acting lessons, etc. We as realistic citizens know and understand if our child has special needs we should provide for these special needs ourselves as parents, not our neighbors.

This is a very, very obnoxious tax burden being placed on citizens in this community who dwell in humble dwellings and are struggling to survive here as it is.

A thief who breaks and enters into your home and steals all your valuables is a lot more honorable than our school board officials and our politicians who simply take our money and threaten our children's education.

We say unto you, we CARE. We CARE about our money going to the right places because we aren't so well abounding with money that we can afford to pay for our children's education twice to three times again. Care About Realistic Education.

A realistic, responsible person doesn't give a cocaine addict more cocaine to relieve him of his addiction. Nor do we wish to be forced to give spendthrifts more money for things they don't need.

You talk about your well-rounded education. A well-rounded education concentrates on the basics. Vote no on the Clarkston school millage increase June 13.

Proper perspective

It is sometimes difficult to visualize the concept of today's youth as the leaders of tomorrow until you attend a high school class reunion.

Class reunions give us, adults, such a good perspective of time. Indeed, many of our former classmates became the "leaders of tomorrow" and the "promise of the future." But they don't get there by accident.

Their parents, teachers, youth leaders and communities invested time and money into them to develop wholesome people who are now giving back to society in service and productivity.

Good school programs are expensive, but not as expensive as the cost of supporting those who drop out or get into trouble with the law due to the lack of good prevention programs in the schools.

Strong schools, with sufficient support programs provided by counselors, special teachers, coaches, music and drama directors and club sponsors, build strong students who eventually contribute to society rather than become a burden to it.

Through the Clarkston schools, we are investing in the successful development of today's youth by providing a variety of educational opportunities that meet a variety of needs and by encouraging positive activities, which keep Clarkston youth productively occupied.

However, if the proposed millage should fail on June 13, the students will be shortchanged by 1) a shortened school day resulting in cutbacks in curriculum choices, 2) a reduced staff resulting in larger classes, less individual attention and no special programming, 3) the lack of extracurricular activities such as band and sports.

This is the result of a continuous reduction in state support for our schools, coupled with rising costs.

Although it appears that higher property assessments and community growth would generate more money for schools, this doesn't happen in in-formula school districts such as Clarkston.

Rather, the state guarantees us a given amount according to our millage level, and if growth occurs, the total stays the same but the state provides a smaller share of that total.

Only if the millage increases will the state raise our allocation and provide a larger percent of our total funds.

More community support is needed to maintain plans for excellence in education in Clarkston and to ensure safe and adequate facilities.

A "yes" vote on both issues is not only an investment in our youth but also an investment in our own property values.

The quality of the schools in a community directly affects the price and saleability of a home. Another reason to vote yes twice on June 13!

Straight Answers to Tough Questions

Facts about 1981 raises

Editor's Note: "Straight Answers to Tough Questions" is the work of the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee, a pro-millage and pro-bond group of citizens working to promote the June 13 school election.

Q. Who are you kidding about a budget crunch? I see new construction plans right now for Clarkston Elementary. Who's going to be paying for that?

A. The new classroom construction is for classroom space for autistic children. The building costs, maintenance, teachers, etc., will all be covered by the Oakland Intermediate School District. There will be no direct cost to Clarkston schools.

Q. I know that the last time a millage was passed - in 1981 - all the administrators got fat raises. Why should I vote for this one if it's just going to happen again?

A. Here are the facts about the 1981 raises. You decide.

1980 and 1981 were years of high inflation, 13.5 percent and 10.5 percent, respectively. Teacher contracts that covered those years kept pace with inflation. Depending on seniority, teachers received raises of 8 and 10 percent.

Nine administrators (of which four were at Central Office and the rest were supervisors such as transportation and grounds) had not settled their contract as of June 1981. Most contracts begin on July 1, which is the beginning date of each school year.

Because the school system was having financial problems, this group of administrative people offered to lead the way toward lower increases by settling on a 7 percent contract. In the next year, the wages of these nine people were frozen, resulting in no increase at all in 1982-83.

The total dollar amount for the 1981 increase was about $18,000, out of a total budget of almost $14 million.

Poor timing? Sure. Fat raises? Hardly. All administrators? No way.

Q. Why do we need a bond issue too? How did the school buildings get into the shape they're in?

A. While routine maintenance has never been ignored, more costly repair items have been postponed.

Plans to make major repairs were made, but were put on hold because of growing financial problems.

Operating our educational programs took priority over building improvements.

Passage of the $5.2 million bond issue would give us funds needed for major repairs on buildings and bringing a variety of items up to code.

Q. Will all of our programs be reinstated if the $5.2 million bond issue fails?

A. No, if the bond issue fails, money from operational funds will have to be used to make emergency repairs on the buildings, thereby taking money away from educational and extracurricular programs.

Q. I can't believe that 80 percent of the school budget goes for salaries and benefits. Isn't that outrageously high?

A. Compared to other school districts throughout Michigan, this is not high. Educating young people is labor intensive - that is, it takes people to make a school system work.

When you consider the number of people that pass through a child's school day, you get some idea of the importance of labor. Starting with the bus driver in the morning, the entire school day (lunch included) is shaped by people who come into contact with the child.

Q. My grandson's teacher is awful. I won't support the millage until there are merit programs to evaluate teachers.

A. If you had arthritis in your hand, would you apply a tourniquet to your shoulder to cure it? Of course not, you would work on the arthritis. Cutting off school money will not solve your concerns about teacher merit systems.

Complaints or concerns should be taken to the school principal or building administrator. Teachers are evaluated yearly until they receive tenure, which takes two or three years.

After that time, they are evaluated by their administrator every two years. If a teacher is to be demoted, he or she must through a tenure dismissal process brought on through the formal process of tenure hearings. In this way, an "awful" teacher can be handled.

Through tenure laws, teachers (who work under a labor contract) can be rewarded for exceptional teaching. They may negotiate this into their contract.

Township supports liquor license bid

Owners of Las Piramides Mexican restaurant may soon be serving sangria with a burrito dinner or a botana.

After the issue was tabled at the May 3 meeting, the Independence Township Board voted 4-2 May 17 to recommend the Dixie Highway restaurant above all others for a liquor license from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, which has the final say.

Voting in favor of the recommendation were Supervisor Frank Rönk, Treasurer John Lutz, Clerk Richard Holman and Trustee Dale Stuart.

Voting no were Trustees Daniel Travis and Carol Balzarini. Trustee William Vandermark was absent.

Discussion on the license centered on debris, vandalism and improvements to the parking lot and building. At the May 3 meeting, Travis said the neighboring business owners were against the license because of the potential vandalism and trash problems.

"I have to listen to the neighbors," Travis said. "They're the ones most exposed to the expansion of this use."

Edwardo Quintana, speaking for his father, restaurant owner Salvador Quintana, said that the state would regulate the hours of operation, so it would be closing earlier. The restaurant now closes at 4 a.m., he said.

At the May 17 meeting, Trustee Carol Balzarini said the entire Independence Commons shopping center where Las Piramides is located needs repairs.

The huge pot holes in the driveway make it difficult and dangerous to drive from Dixie Highway into the parking lot, she said, and the parking lot is not marked for parking spaces, which may also be dangerous.

Stuart said he would prefer no bar stools, so liquor would only be served at tables.

"That invites someone who comes to eat rather than someone who just comes to drink," he said.

Lutz said the Quintanas have been doing business for eight years in the community and keep improving their store, so Las Piramides deserves the license before new businesses that may apply in the future.

No other Independence Township business had applied for the township's two remaining licenses. The number of licenses available to the township is to be adjusted again after the 1990 census, said Holman.

Quintana said the owner of the shopping center planned to repair the potholes after he received the Dixie Highway widening plans. Plus, Las Piramides is to be remodeled to accommodate handicapped customers and will not include seats around the bar, he said.

Deer Lake condos on hold for DNR review

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With a certified court reporter silently recording every word, Developer Rudy Lozano again presented the Independence Township Planning Commission with his plan for site condominiums near Deer Lake - a plan the commission had denied a month earlier.

This time, the commission first defeated Richard Oppmann's motion to approve the plan for Village West Condominiums and then tabled the issue until the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) rules on Lozano's proposal to fill flood plains near Deer Lake.

After the May 26 meeting, Lozano said he would either file a lawsuit or donate the property to a boys club and take the tax credit. The proposal, which rests in the township and in the Village of Clarkston, has already received approvals from the village council and the village planning commission.

At the April 28 meeting, the township commission denied approval of the conceptual site plan because the plan violated the intent of the wetlands ordinance.

Lozano said at that time that he would appeal the decision at a township board meeting.

At the May 26 planning commission meeting, Lozano said he returned to the commission at the advice of his attorney, who said the commission does not have jurisdiction over flood plains or wetlands. The attorney also suggested hiring the court reporter for an accurate record of the meeting, Lozano said.

"The only thing I'm asking for is a point of fairness," he said.

On three occasions, the commission has given different reasons to table and to deny, and it's unfair, he said, adding Village West is not being treated as other developments are.

"I'm not saying you don't have a right to be concerned. ... I'm saying this body has a history of approving (site plans) with conditions. ... I think the bottom line is you either like the concept or you don't," Lozano said.

When Steve Secatch suggested modifying the plan to avoid problems with a private road easement and the flood plains, Lozano also objected.

"An individual has the right to the best use of his land. ... We're not going to give up one or two lots to salvage the wetlands," he said.

"We're talking about fairness. If you would have raised that issue five months ago, (the DNR permit) would have been (requested immediately). ... You people are very inconsistent, and it's only for one reason. You just don't like the project."

Oppmann, who cast the lone dissenting vote to table and who also serves on the township wetlands board, said some wetlands and flood areas can properly and safely be filled for construction.

The DNR would make sure it was done correctly, he added, so he voiced approval of the project.

Chairperson Brent Bair, who was absent from the April 28 meeting, was the only other commission member who supported an approval, conditioned upon DNR approval.

Joseph Figa said he's heard complaints that the DNR may not be restrictive enough. He noted that his subdivision - Old Sturbridge off Perry Lake Road, built in a low-lying area - now has problems.

"We're allowing things to be developed ... that are going to cause a tremendous amount of problems and adversity to the future homeowners," he said.

Township attorney Gerald Fisher said the commission could require details about areas of concern to be included in a master deed for the condominium owners.

Jo Fussman said the developer wouldn't be held up if the commission tabled the issue because the developer still needed DNR approval. Also, the site condos are not like other proposals when approvals are granted with conditions, she said.

"This project is unique because of the proximity to Deer Lake," Fussman said.

Lozano objected to tabling the plan.

"I wouldn't have a problem with that if I thought it was the last issue," he said. "But the history of this board is not indicative of that."

Two residents objected to the project. Sharon Hurlbert of Phelan Drive said she represented the Deer Lake Homeowners Association.

"We are very concerned with this corner because it is one of the last wetlands left," she said, adding the homeowners have requested a public hearing from the DNR.

The site condominium plan on six acres off White Lake Road is like a small subdivision, only the condo association would own the land, and the homeowner would own the building site, in which a house of any design could be built.

The condo association is to provide garbage removal and lawn and road maintenance, and no boats are to be launched from the beach property.

Free Michigan maps

A free map highlighting Michigan's unique location at the heart of the Great Lakes is now available from the Michigan Department of Transportation.

About 400 changes were made in the 1987 map to bring the 1988-89 edition up to date. Additions this year include the recently signed circle routes of Lake Superior and Lake Michigan and the general locations of Michigan's elk and moose herds.

Also included is information on Michigan historical markers, highway distances from city to city, all state parks and fares charged on such facilities as the Mackinac Bridge.

The map is available at all MDOT district offices and welcome centers. They also are at state police posts and district offices of the Department of Natural Resources.

The Department of Transportation will mail maps to individuals upon request. Requests should be made on a post card - not in a sealed envelope - and should include a name, address and zip code. Post cards should be mailed to:

Tax tribunal: Assessment objections move higher

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With a firm but noncommittal voice, Claris Cwirko asked questions and explained terms to five Independence Township residents who hoped for a favorable ruling from her on their appeals of local tax assessments.

A hearing officer with the Michigan Tax Tribunal, Cwirko is also an attorney and spent all day May 25 at the Oakland County Equalization office, hearing small claims from Independence Township.

Before each session, Cwirko explained to the petitioner that the hearings were informal and that they would have a chance to present their cases, followed by township assessor David Kramer's response. Each petitioner would also have an opportunity to summarize their reasoning.

She would study all of the material submitted (at least 10 days prior to the hearing), as well as the statements during the hearing, and would mail her ruling within 60 days, she said.

For most, this was a first appearance before the Michigan Tax Tribunal (MTT), and more people showed up than in past years, said Kramer.

"The number (of petitioners) is increasing because value is increasing, and a lot of people don't understand," he said. "Some people are surprised their value is supportable, and they withdraw their appeal."

On May 25, three or four withdrew, leaving six cases involving five people.

Since the burden of proof is on the property owner, the petitioner has to be prepared, said Kramer, adding he brings along all of his evidence.

"I don't go to the tribunal unless I think I'm right," he said. "If I found I'm in error, I'd call the taxpayer up and tell them."

The cases Wednesday included Jack Reekwald, a Parview Drive resident, who sought a refund from 1984 to 1986, when he said a clerical error was made. He also protested the 1987 assessment of his property on Greens Lake.

Norm Cristea brought two cases to the tribunal - a multiple residential parcel on Pine Knob Road, which he said wasn't completely rented in 1987 and the value was miscalculated, and a residential parcel on Washington Street next to the Clarkston Mills Mall, which he said has a faulty foundation, so the assessment doesn't reflect the real value.

Gary Veltman's property on Bitterbush has been involved in a lawsuit and had different identification numbers in the Oakland County Register of Deeds and the township assessing department, he said. Therefore, the property couldn't have been sold, so the market value would be zero or close to zero, he said.

Kramer refuted the cases with a packet of information on each, and Cwirko absorbed all of the information.

Cwirko said she would consider every factor and send her response. If the petitioner doesn't agree with the her decision, he may appeal to the Michigan Court of Appeals, she said.

Small claims in the MTT is the second formal step to appeal an assessment and requires a $25 filing fee if the property owner doesn't live on the parcel in question. The appeal is free if the property owner lives on the parcel.

This year's hearings were for values from 1987. To protest 1988 assessments, residents should file before June 30 and should follow the instructions on the back of their results from the township board of review. Hearings for 1988 will be scheduled for 1989.

The township board of review is the first formal step to appeal an assessment.

Each year, residents receive the township's assessments, which determine the amount of property tax for each parcel. A parcel is assessed at half its market value.

If a property owner thinks the assessment is inaccurate, he should first call the township assessing department to make sure there isn't a clerical error.

If there's no error, he should make an appointment with the township board of review, which consists of three appointed township residents who are knowledgeable about the value of property.

In an informal hearing in March, the board of review accepts the property owner's evidence, which should consist of hard facts, such as the sales data for similar properties in the township, and sends its ruling within 60 days.

If the resident still doesn't agree with the assessment, he may appeal the decision at the MTT. The process may be complicated, and it would be helpful to property owners to know their options, said Kramer, after the tribunal hearings. If anyone has questions, he or she should call the assessing department at 625-8114.

Water study for future

An $8,500 water study is to update Independence Township's water plan to prepare for growth.

The township board approved the study and expense with a 5-1 vote. Trustee Dale Stuart voted no because the study wasn't let for bid.

George Anderson, director of the department of public works, said the township engineering firm of Hubble, Roth and Clark (HRC) should do the job. He added that professional services should not be let for bid.

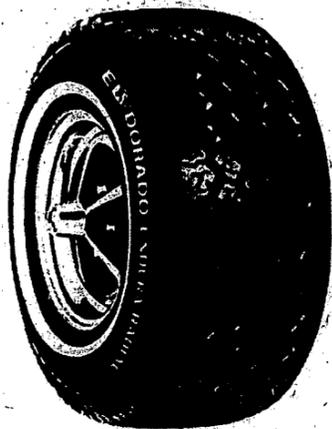

The last study was performed in 1967, said Tom Biehl of Hubble, Roth and Clark (HRC).

In recent years, the township water system has been extended to serve Lancaster Lakes Apartments, Dixie Highway, Clarkston Bluffs Condominiums, Dixie Highway, and Newport Condominiums, Clarkston Road.

Coming soon are extensions to Northview Drive and Perry Lake Road. Other possible projects are the proposed Bridgewater Apartments, Maybee Road, and a proposed residential development near Spring Lake, Maybee Road.

The study is to include: Some individual well tests for water flow, existing fire flow pressures and deficiencies, potential sites for an elevated water tank, priorities for expansion and an updated map.

The study and accompanying changes would reduce fire insurance costs, said Biehl.

Drivers are needed

Volunteers from Independence Township are needed to drive elderly senior citizens who have no transportation, said the director of the Pontiac-based Lighthouse program.

No special skills are required although training sessions are provided at no charge at different times throughout the year for the "Caregiver Program."

"Caregivers" are volunteers who help people remain independent in their own homes by providing assistance with transportation, light housework and friendly visitation, she said.

Seniors and volunteers are matched on a one-to-one basis, if possible, with members of their own congregation or denomination.

If you have a small amount of spare time and could help with occasional transportation, call Rosellen Loye, director of the Lighthouse Caregiver Program, at 335-0322.

Dirt buster bought

After Department of Public Works employees gave their stamp of approval, the village council agreed to purchase a new street sweeper.

For $24,373, the village bought the sweeper from the Tennant company based in Minneapolis, Minn. Bids on the sweeper ranged from a low of $19,000 to a high of $32,000.

DPW workers, after a test run, decided on the Tennant because the village's old sweeper (in service for more than a decade) was a Tennant and they never had any problems with it, said President Sharron Catalo.

She said a new sweeper was needed because the old one was beginning to wear out. Also the cab wasn't enclosed and village employees had complained that people were throwing things at them while they were sweeping the streets.

The new sweeper stands taller than the old one and includes an enclosed cab.

Tennant agreed to buy back its old machine for $2,500, but the village decided to sell it to the township for the same price, Catalo said.

PARADE WATCHERS arrive early and in large groups to stake out the best possible spots to view the annual parade as it marches down Main Street Monday morning.

Springfield donates cash to Common Ground

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

About 20 years ago, Common Ground began as a grass-roots, teen-helping-teen organization.

Today, it has grown to a large, non-profit corporation staffed by 20 professionals and 250 volunteers, which served 17,125 people in Oakland County through its crisis line and clinics alone in 1987.

Jennifer Hill, development director for Common Ground, appeared at May board meetings in Springfield and Independence townships to solicit support and let the rural areas of Oakland County know Common Ground is there to help.

"We are reaching out to extend our services, trying to integrate more with communities and build our support base," Hill said.

She said only two Springfield Township residents were assisted by Common Ground in 1987, but she pledged to change that.

"We want people in the outer areas to know we're here," she said.

The boards in Springfield and Independence townships voted to contribute $200 each to Common Ground, with agreement among board members that Common Ground does an exceptional job of helping people.

Common Ground, with headquarters in Birmingham, receives 60 percent of its funding from the state, through contracts with Community Mental Health and the Office of Substance Abuse Services, Hill said in a later interview.

The remainder of funding comes from a major fund-raiser in the fall, "Art in the Park," and from some of the more than 43 communities in Oakland County that it serves, as well as from grants for some of their activities.

Common Ground mans the official 24-hour crisis intervention service for Oakland County. Anytime of day or night help is available for any life crisis, including suicide and substance abuse, by calling 645-9676.

In addition to handling phone calls, the staff sees people on a person-to-person basis.

The volunteer staff goes through 80 hours of training and commits to at least a year of service before joining Common Ground, according to Hill.

Common Ground also maintains an information and referral service, with files on 10,000 human resource topics, including shelter, AA and health support groups.

There is a medical clinic that meets twice weekly, offering everything from gynecological exams and general health checks to marriage license tests and birth control.

Before birth control is prescribed, however, clients must go through human sexuality discussion groups, "old-fashioned rap sessions," as Hill describes them.

The medical clinic is free, but a $5 donation is asked of those who can afford it.

There is also a legal clinic that meets weekly, staffed by attorneys who volunteer their time to offer legal counseling.

A Speakers Bureau is another service of the organization, with free speakers provided on any topic dealt with by Common Ground, including health issues such as AIDES. The staff does training in many areas, such as crisis intervention, for a nominal fee.

Common Ground also has an Outreach Program, offering a series of workshops on self-esteem building throughout Oakland County. Currently, their Project Self program, which is funded by a grant, reaches youth from the ages of 10 to 17. Hill said they would like to get another grant to reach even younger children with Project Self.

"We sit on a number of task forces, including Oakland County Youth Assistance," Hill added. "And we have court placement programs."

Through the court placement, Common Ground offers community hours as an alternative to incarceration, Hill said.

The majority of clients served by Common Ground are between the ages of 15 and 35, but Hill stressed they help clients of any age, from any walk of life.

Just like the name implies, Hill said, "We meet on common ground, and maybe together we can work out a solution."

Growth prompts more phone services

Around June 11, residents with 623 and 625 telephone exchanges are to be hooked up to a new $3.7 million computerized telephone call processor, which will allow Custom Calling services from Michigan Bell.

The services were planned for a few years down the road, but growth came faster than expected, said Vincent Fordell, corporate affairs manager.

"Even with the best laid plans, the growth factor can be estimated but not pinpointed," he said. "Things are growing very swiftly out there. There's a lot of demand. We're just trying to keep the Clarkston area up to date."

Since April, 1987, 800 new telephone lines have been added in the two exchanges, and the existing equipment is working at 100 percent capacity, Fordell said.

The connection to the new computerized processor will be made during a quiet period for the least possible interference to telephone callers, he said.

The new Custom Calling features that will be available include:

Call Forwarding - automatically transfers an incoming call from one telephone to another.

Call Waiting/Cancel Call Waiting - lets a customer using the phone know that a second call is waiting to be answered and allows the customer to make important calls without interruption from the Call Waiting tone.

Speed Calling - permits a customer to reach frequently called numbers by dialing special codes.

Three-way Calling - enables a caller to add a third party to a conversation.

Dial 1 Plus - option for long distance service through: AT&T, Allnet, ITT, Litel, MCI Dial "1" Long Distance Service, U.S. Sprint Dial "1" Service or Logical by Communique Telecommunications. (Right now, customers who use any long distance company other than AT&T must dial up to 22 digits - this will allow long distance calls by dialing a "1" plus the area code, then the number.)

Warmer weather increases the dangers of dog bites. Last year, more than 3,000 of the nation's letter carriers were bitten by dogs. The U.S. Postal Service needs your help. Please help stop dog attacks in their tracks by keeping your dog fenced or leashed.

AN ARCHITECT'S RENDERING of a house in the second phase of Pine Knob Manor Homes shows a style similar to the homes in the first phase on Bristol Park Drive, off Pine Knob Road.

2nd phase OK'd for Pine Knob III

Ten site condominiums on Pine Knob Golf Course are the second phase of Pine Knob Manor Homes III off Waldon Road, Independence Township.

The planning commission unanimously approved the conceptual site plan for the 4.081-acre project on May 19.

The approval was contingent upon the extension of the private Bristol Park Road to Pine Knob Road and a review of the road maintenance provisions in the deed restrictions.

The 21 sites in the first phase sold quickly, said developer Alex Bruni.

"Unless we have a little trouble with the stock market, we'll be back with the third phase and develop it all at once," he said.

Commission member Richard Oppmann complimented Bruni on his presentation.

"The fast sale of the previous phase speaks for the quality development here," he said.

In the condominium project, the land is owned by the condominium association. The homeowners build, own and sell their homes as in any single family residential area.

Homeowners can design any floor plan to almost any size, although the building sites are designed for a 65-square-foot area.

Unlike the first phase, Phase II has few hills and trees, so the home sites are to be raised above the other levels, and trees are to be added, said Bruni.

Construction is to begin as soon as possible. One more approval is necessary from the planning commission.

Enrollment declines; jobs go unfilled

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

At a time when the state's unemployment rate hovers near 9 percent, there are technical jobs unfilled for lack of skilled people.

Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center is feeling the pinch of the phenomenon. Faced with decreasing enrollment, program and staff cuts have already been made for the fall. And some of the areas where the demand is greatest are also the areas where enrollment is decreasing the most.

According to Neal Sage, placement coordinator at NWOVEC, areas where demand is currently high include dental assistants, medical assistants, automated office (secretarial and business-related fields) and printing (typesetting and press work).

"Most of the positions I have right now, I don't have skilled people to fill," he says.

Dental assistants are a prime example.

Carolyn Jacobs, who works with her dentist husband Milton Jacobs of Pontiac and chairs the dental advisory committee at NWOVEC, says there is a critical shortage of people coming out of the dental program.

Enrollment is so low in the dental fields that NWOVEC will drop its two daytime programs in the fall unless more students enroll before June.

"The need is greater because there are more dental offices and the public is more dental health conscious," Jacobs says. "When we are short a girl, it's an instant need, and it puts us in a real crunch if there is no one available."

She says there are 21 calls into NWOVEC right now for dental employees that can't be filled.

"They're talking about college grads not getting jobs, and here there are technical jobs going wanting," she adds.

Sage says that part of the low enrollment in health related fields is because wages in those areas used to be low. But due to the demand, entry-level positions in the dental fields are bringing an average of $5 to $6 per hour, and it's not uncommon for dental assistants with experience to get jobs at $8 or $9 per hour, he says.

State statistics show that 3 percent of today's jobs require less than a high school education, 17 percent will need a four-year college degree, and 80 percent will need technical training, the kind of training offered by NWOVEC.

"I think we need to understand that not all kids go on to college," Sage says.

John Tucker, admissions counselor for NWOVEC, says some of the hardest hit areas of decreasing enrollment are in the medical and dental fields, computer accounting and automated office.

Part of the reason for decreasing enrollment is that increased graduation requirements are leaving students with less time for technical-vocational classes. A class at NWOVEC takes 2 1/2 hours, or three class periods. With students at Clarkston facing five- or six-hour days, they need those hours just to take required classes.

Another reason for decreasing enrollment, says NWOVEC assistant principal Doug Pierson, is because

"Most of the positions I have right now, I don't have skilled people to fill."

Neal Sage
Placement Coordinator

the population of students that the center draws on, mainly 11- and 12th-graders, is decreasing. That trend is expected to continue for the next few years.

NWOVEC serves Clarkston, Waterford, Holly, Brandon and Our Lady of Lakes schools. In 1981, the center's enrollment was 806. In 1987, enrollment had dropped to 676.

One action NWOVEC has taken to combat decreasing enrollment is to identify those classes where academics have been infused and work with the school districts to allow students to get credit for some required classes, such as math or science. In other words, a school would waive the requirement if the student takes a class at NWOVEC infused with that subject.

There are a lot of math skills, for instance, in the printing classes, Pierson says. And they are working with schools on other required classes, such as English.

But the waiver to fulfill required classes is a "mixed blessing," says NWOVEC principal Dan Manthei, because there is a concern that some colleges won't give credit for math, for instance, if the requirement is fulfilled at NWOVEC rather than at the high school.

Manthei says he would like to implement a program where an academic teacher would be on the NWOVEC staff working in conjunction with a technical teacher. Students could fulfill required classes while at the same time gaining "hands-on" experience and salable skills. Such programs are already working in Detroit.

Manthei, Pierson, Tucker and Sage all echo one dominant point about NWOVEC: There are some real advantages to technical-vocational training.

Students leave high school with salable skills that prepare them for careers or launch their college educations (students can get advanced placement at selected colleges by completing vocational classes). Their skills will also reap higher wages than unskilled students leaving high school, making them better able to finance a college education, if that is what they want to pursue.

For some students, it is a way to find out what area they are interested in before entering college. For others, it is technical training that will help fill the demand for skilled employees as Oakland County's technical industries mushroom.

"We're past vocational and into the technical fields now," Pierson says.

Even the name (the school is commonly called the "voc school") is obsolete. More appropriate would be a name like technical-vocational center to reflect the reality of what's going on, Tucker says. Discussion of a name change is currently under way.

Automotive electronics is a new class at NWOVEC, which deals with the computer control systems of today's automobiles. There is a "crying need" for such technical training, Tucker adds.

Ken Walker of Wolverine Machine in Holly, chairman of the machine trades advisory committee at NWOVEC, says there is a "severe shortage" of students skilled in any of the machine trades. He also said there is an "attitude problem" about whether or not students going on to college should have salable skills.

There is an increased push for academics in the schools, while at the same time people are being imported into the area to fill technical positions, Pierson says.

"The point is, you'll have many students who won't make it through college and they need salable skills," Pierson says.

Students who have graduated from high school can still attend NWOVEC free of charge until they are 20 years old. Adults may also take classes, for a tuition charge.

"If we in Oakland County don't provide the people to fill all the technical jobs being created, we'll import people while our own people are in entry-level positions."

Dan Manthei
Principal

Manthei sees a change taking place in the training sector of education to more of a "tech-prep" atmosphere. The emphasis is on secondary training and post-secondary training, with students more likely to go on to trade schools.

"We have to change. We can't continue the same delivery process we've used for years," Manthei says. "The needs are different."

"There is a severe shortage in the technical fields," he says. "If we in Oakland County don't provide the people to fill all the technical jobs being created, we'll import people while our own people are in entry-level positions. I'd prefer to turn the system around to meet the need."

But the problem is that people will not accept the fact that technical education is important and necessary for the work force, Pierson adds.

"Everyone is going to be a doctor or a lawyer or an Indian chief," he says. "The reality is that not everyone is going to be one, but most do need some technical training. For some reason, it's not recognized until too late."

BASEBALL

Sashabaw Junior High
Lake Orion 4, Cougars 1
Cougars 2, Lake Orion 0

May 24 - Darrin Masters tossed a no-hitter to lead the host Cougars over the Dragons in the nightcap for a split of the twinbill.

Masters struck out one and walked two during the five-inning game to pick up the victory.

Mike Stanton and Tom Hackbardt each scored a run for Sashabaw in the second game.

"It was a very good game," said Coach Tom Smith. "It was tight all the way."

The coach said the Dragons tagged a couple of long drives of Masters in the first inning but got nothing else the rest of the game.

"There was good defense behind him," he said. "There was only one error in the game."

Sashabaw needed the good pitching performance since it only had a few hits itself, he added.

In the opener, Matt Smith was the pitcher for the Cougars. He was the victim of no support as the Sashabaw bats fell silent. The team had only three hits against excellent Lake Orion pitching, the coach said.

"Our bats were a little slow," Smith said.

Mason 8, Cougars 7

May 26 - Sashabaw ended the season with a tough loss against Mason on the road.

The Cougars fell behind early in this one and trailed 7-4 after five innings. The team scored once in the sixth and twice more in the final inning of play but couldn't push across the winning run.

Sashabaw left the bases loaded in the first and last innings as Mason shut the Cougars down when it had to.

"We had a little trouble getting the big hit," the coach said.

Mason scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh off a sacrifice fly.

Although the Cougars lost, they did get some good performances.

Chris Wasilk had a two-run triple and an RBI groundout. Mark Galbraith added two hits and two runs batted in.

George Crouch started the two-run rally in the seventh for Sashabaw with a double in a pinch-hitting role.

Masters chipped in with a RBI single.

The loss left the team's final record this spring at 8-6. It marked Smith's first winning year since he has coached the team. He was pleased with the way his charges played.

"Most of the games we were in all of the way," he said. "It was a good overall season."

Clarkston Junior High
Wolverines 11, Mason 0

May 24 - The host Clarkston team pounded out its third victory of the season by beating Mason.

Chad Hetherington pitched a one-hitter for the victors. He also added two hits and four RBIs at the plate.

He allowed a double in the first inning and then shut down the visitors the rest of the way.

Jerrold Johnson was hot at the plate for the Wolverines. He contributed three hits and three runs batted in to the attack.

Brandon 7, Wolverines 6

May 26 - Clarkston ended its spring season on a sour note by dropping a close decision against Brandon.

Kevin Juszyta and Johnson had three hits apiece and were the top hitters for the Wolverines.

Clarkston finishes the season with a 3-10 record but really came on strong in the latter half of the schedule, said Coach Bill Bildstein.

The team finished with a batting average of .356 and stayed close to all of its opponents.

"We hit the ball," the coach said. "We hung in there and nobody blew us away."

Clarkston High JV

Wolves 9, Royal Oak Dondero 8 (10)
Wolves 7, Dondero 2

May 26 - Clarkston made up a double-header with Dondero from an earlier rainout.

In the opener Tony Simmons and Todd Bennett collected two hits apiece for the victors.

Corey Olsen was the winning pitcher in relief for Clarkston.

Bennett was on the mound in the nightcap and he picked up the victory.

Todd McGlaughlin went two-for-two at the plate to lead the hitters.

SOFTBALL

Clarkston Junior High
Mason 4, Wolverines 3

May 24 - Host Clarkston came this close to beating an unbeaten Mason squad last week.

The Wolverines are the only team that has managed to score on powerful Mason this spring, said Coach Dennis Bronson.

Clarkston gave the home crowd a thrill by racing out to a 3-0 advantage, but errors proved to be its downfall.

"We made a couple of key mistakes," Bronson said. "I knew that we would have to play perfect."

Jenny McChesney was the pitcher for Clarkston. She allowed seven hits and fanned five batters.

Jenny Bruce and Allison Poche had a hit apiece for the home team and Colleen Cruz knocked in two runs. Heidi Parrott added a run-scoring hit.

Although the Wolverines came up short in the end, the coach was still proud of their performance.

"The kids played their best game of the season," he said. "The whole team played well."

Wolverines 13, Brandon 3

May 26 - Clarkston peppered Brandon's pitchers with 16 hits en route to an easy victory.

McChesney led the hit parade with two home runs and four runs batted in.

Bethany King, Poche, Cruz and Beth Walker all had two hits apiece.

Becky Kosek, Bruce, Parrott, Heather Carr and Julie Bishop chipped in with a hit.

"It turned out pretty good," the coach said of the season.

Clarkston finishes with a 11-4 record. McChesney was named the Most Valuable Player and Kim Kolody the Most Improved Player.

Boys track team wins GOAL title from Northern

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Nobody can accuse the Clarkston High boys track team of resting on its laurels.

Fresh from winning the Greater Oakland Activities League championship outright for the first time, the team sports at least one member ready to do it all over again next spring.

"We are going to make it two in a row next year," predicted Jody Lueck, who won individual GOAL titles in the long jump, 110-meter hurdles and ran a leg on the winning 800 relay team.

Clarkston breezed through the dual meet portion of the season unbeaten to set up a chance for an outright title if it could win the league meet on May 24.

In track, the final standings are determined equally by a team's dual meet record and where it finishes in the league meet.

Pontiac Northern has been a thorn in the Wolves side for numerous years, but at the GOAL meet Clarkston came out smelling like a rose in the competition it hosted at the high school.

The Wolves finished first in seven events, second in two and third in six others. All were important for Clarkston, said Coach Walt Wyniemko.

"We knew going in that a lot of guys would have to help us," he said. "The kids did an excellent job. No question about it."

Clarkston amassed 151 points to win the meet. Pontiac Northern was second with 130 and Lake Orion third with 98.

While the score might not indicate it, the competition was fierce in the most of the events.

Junior J.J. Price won a GOAL title in the discus with a throw of 139 feet, 11 inches, one of his best throws of the season. He needed to be at his best, he said.

"The competition was pretty stiff," he said. "Especially in the top three (discus throwers)."

As the team improved meet by meet this season, the Wolves' confidence level was sky high.

"We knew we could do it," Price said of the league meet victory. "We went through the whole season knowing we could do it."

Other GOAL champions include the 3200 relay team of Mike Barnes, Chris Vandermark, Mike Kovalesky and Paul Reading with a time of 8:20.4; the 800 relay team of Jeff Shupe, Keenan Powell, Marc Pierson and Lueck, who were clocked in at 1:34.02; and the 400 relay team of Pierson, Stacy Turner, Dane Davis and Shupe (44.78). Barnes was an individual champion in the 800 run.

For a complete listing of all the Wolves who placed at the league meet, see the scoreboard page.

Two take titles

Two wrestlers from the Clarkston Wrestling Club captured national titles recently in a USA Kids Wrestling Federation tournament.

Brett Walter, in the 11- and 12-year-old group, won in the 65-pound class. Jeff DeRoseau (75 pounds) did likewise in the 13 to 14 age group.

Corey Grant (75) finished third in the 11 to 12 age group.

Eighteen states were represented at the national meet in Bloomsburg, Pa. The Clarkston kids are coached by Bob DeRoseau.

JAY TUDOR passes a runner from Mason's ninth-grade boys track team while running a leg of the 2-mile relay during a recent meet at Clarkston High School.

Wolves lose slugfest to Adams finish season game above .500

On a hot and humid afternoon, Rochester Adams' bats were booming as it ousted Clarkston from the prep baseball playoffs.

The host Highlanders used their hot hitting to down the Wolves 13-8 Friday afternoon in pre-district action. Adams converted every Clarkston miscue into a run as it rallied from an early 3-2 deficit to top the Wolves. "There was no opportunity for mistakes," said Coach Roy Warner. "We tried to battle back but they kept hitting it."

Clarkston finishes with a 12-11 record. The Highlanders began the scoring in the bottom of the first when they squeezed home two runs, one on a RBI single to right and the other on a squeeze bunt.

The Wolves rallied in their next turn at the plate with doubles by Josh Newblatt, Zach Brown and Mark Galan. The last two hits scored runs to tie the game.

In the third inning, Aaron Hesse doubled home Jeff

Tungate, who had singled, to put the visitors up by a run.

The game began to slip away from Clarkston in the bottom half of the third when Adams answered the Wolves' rally by pushing six runs across the plate. Two home runs and a mental mistake helped Adams get its runs.

Nobody scored again until the fifth when Tungate singled home Doug Lederman to make it 8-4.

Adams finished off the Wolves with a five-run rally in the bottom of the fifth. The big rally included a three-run homer, Adams' second one of the day.

With one out in the sixth, the Wolves loaded the bases on a single by John Koslosky and walks to Brown and Erik Mackson. Lederman then knocked home one run with an infield hit. A wild pitch brought home another. Tungate then capped a 4-for-4 day at the plate with a two-run double to center field to make the score 13-8 in Adams' favor.

Girls track team sets 2 records at county meet

Two record-setting performances paced the girls track team to a seventh-place finish at the Oakland County Meet.

Sonya Schaffer and Jenny Mahler set records in the 800-meter run and 3200 run, respectively.

"The girls had an excellent run," said Coach Gordie Richardson. "We ran some good times. It's the time of the year when you are supposed to."

Schaffer ran a 2:20.4 in the 800 and finished in fourth place. The winner of the race was Kristie Westerby of Troy with a time of 2:13.5.

Mahler finished fifth in the 3200 run with a clocking of 11:38.76. She broke the school record set by Kathleen McInnis (11:45.1). Julie Moore of Lakeland won the race with a time of 11:24.1.

In the 1600 run, Lisa Palazzola and Mahler ran fourth and fifth, respectively, to provide Clarkston with a strong showing.

"We had a good meet," the coach said. "Especially the distance kids."

Clarkston amassed 22 points and tied with Pontiac Central for seventh in the team standings. Rochester Adams won with 78 points. Troy finished second with 65 and Detroit Country Day third with 58. Twenty teams participated in the meet.

Other good performances were turned in by the 3200 relay team of Kate Conlen, Nicole Chinavare, Mahler and Schaffer, who ran the race in 9:53.2 to finish in fifth place.

Individually, Ali Fedio placed second in the discus with a throw of 119-9. Tammy Gibson of Walled Lake Western won the event with a toss of 120-10.

Five of the Wolves now will prepare for the state meet this weekend at Eastern Michigan University.

Fedio and the 3200 relay team will represent the Wolves. Richardson said the athletes are looking forward to making a good impression.

"They are pumped up to set a school record," he said of the relay team. "The kids are capable of it."

Peter Auchter

Memories from a memorable Memorial Day weekend ...

Now that it's playoff time for high school sports, my job becomes even more interesting than it already is. (I know some of you will have difficulty believe this, but it's true.)

My only complaint last week was that two games were scheduled at the same time in different locales. The baseball team was playing at Rochester Adams and the softball team at Waterford Mott.

Since The Clarkston News staff of sports reporters consists of me, that meant someone was going to be left out.

But who?

The decision wasn't an easy one to make. After a sleepless night Thursday, I finally decided the baseball team was the one to watch.

My logic was simple. It turned out to be wrong, but it was simple all the same.

I had already witnessed a confrontation between Mott and Clarkston on the softball diamond and the results were not favorable. I had never seen Adams play, so I just assumed the Highlanders would be pushovers.

We all know what happens when people assume, don't we?

Oh well, I guess there always will be next year.

Not knowing the outcome of the girls' game (I missed the late news Friday night), I eagerly awaited the arrival of Saturday's paper with all the prep sports in it.

I started glancing through the pages hoping the game wasn't all that exciting, but that the Wolves had won.

Well, much to my dismay the team pulled out a thrilling 6-5 win over Mott by scoring four times in the final inning. They did it! After three losses during the regular season, the Wolves' chances of advancing were blacker than coal. But the team responded under pressure and came out shining brighter than a diamond.

And I missed it all. I wonder if they will be able to do this again this week when the playoffs continue? This time I won't be foolish. I'm bringing the camera and lots of film. A magic moment could happen at any time.

Let's just hope I don't miss it.

The attendance at the Clarkston Junior High 7th/8th grade track meet at the high school last week amazed me.

I've seen armies with less numbers than the Wolverines had going against Waterford Pierce.

Talking with co-coach Raymond Cooper after the meet, it seems that CJH had almost 150 kids turn out for the team this spring. Over a 100 are currently part of the squad.

It's no wonder the high school track programs are flourishing since the "farm teams" are doing so well themselves.

The biggest problem the team had this season probably was getting everyone into a group picture after the final meet last week.

After all, the boys team at CJH finished unbeaten for the second straight season and the girls team only had one loss.

Northern wins GOAL meet, ties Wolves

Bitter rivals battle for title

The Wolves beat Pontiac Northern once this season but couldn't turn the trick again at the the GOAL girls track meet last week.

In head-to-head competition, the Wolves handled the Huskies to finish the dual meet season unbeaten. It meant they had a chance to win the Greater Oakland Activities League title outright.

While they didn't accomplish that goal, Coach Gordie Richardson still was happy with the team's performance.

"We did all right," he said. "We did a lot better in the field events this time."

The Wolves had a few miscues that cost them points that would have made the meet closer and put more pressure on the Huskies, the coach said.

Northern won the meet with 152.5 points. Clarkston was next with 138.5 and then came Lake Orion with 107 and Waterford Kettering with 59.

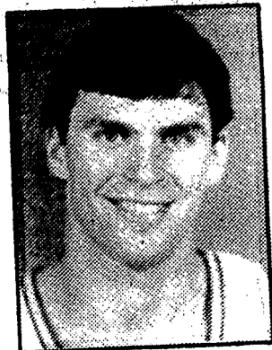

Individual champions for Clarkston are Ali Fedio in the discus, Jenny Mahler in the 1600-meter run and the 3200 run and Sonya Schaffer in the 800 run.

The relay teams also continued to run well as the 3200 foursome of Kate Conlen, Nichole Chinavare, Mahler and Schaffer circled the track in 10:03.55.

Since Clarkston was the dual meet champion and Northern captured the league meet title, both shared first place in the final GOAL standings this spring.

The only competition left for the Wolves is the state meet at Eastern Michigan University on June 4. Fedio, in the discus, and the 3200 relay team will be representing the girls team from Clarkston High.

Junior high track teams close with a bang

Pictures, hugs and enthusiastic performances closed out the spring track season for the 7th/8th grade teams from Clarkston Junior High School.

Heading into the Wolverines' final meet against Waterford Pierce on May 26, the girls and boys teams were unbeaten.

The boys continued their winning ways with a 90-33 pasting of Pierce, but the girls lost, 70-53.

In the boys meet, the Wolverines finished the day with 11 first-place awards. Will Madison, Mat Dougherty and Jason Kinsler won two individual events apiece to pace the victors.

Madison was victorious in the shot put with a throw of 37 feet, 11 1/4 inches. In the 400 dash, he won with a clocking of 58.55 seconds.

Dougherty won the 200 dash with a time of 25.9 and the 1600 run with a clocking of 5:16.64 for the Wolverines.

Kinsler took home firsts in the 100 dash (12.10) and the long jump (18-4 1/2).

Other individual winners for Clarkston included Devin DuPree in the grueling 3200 run with a time of 11:04.73 and Luke Fedio in the 100 hurdles with a clocking of 15.06.

The 400, 800 and 1600 relay teams also were winners for Clarkston.

Derek Moscovic, Scott Rooney, Eric Ryan and Jeremy Deloney combined their talents in the 800 relay and finished the race in 1:47.43.

The 400 relay team of Madison, Deloney, Moscovic and Kinsler won with 49.81 and the 1600 team of John Conlen, Derik Grandlund, Deloney and Kinsler clocked in at 4:12.49.

While finishing the season unbeaten for the second consecutive time, the Wolverines managed to break several school records en route.

The 400 relay team of Moscovic, Madison, Deloney and Kinsler set a record this season with a run of 49.4 seconds. DuPree did likewise in the 3200 run with a clocking of 11:03.1.

Because of the school's rich track history, setting a record isn't easy, one of the team's coaches said.

"We have some very good records," said Raymond Cooper. "To break them you have to be fantastic."

The girls and boys teams are coached by Cooper, Chuck Keegan and Mike Olivier.

The girls also set several records during a very successful season.

Record smashers for Clarkston included Candy Trim in the shot put with a toss of 33-8 and Trim again in the 55-meter hurdles with a clocking of 10.1.

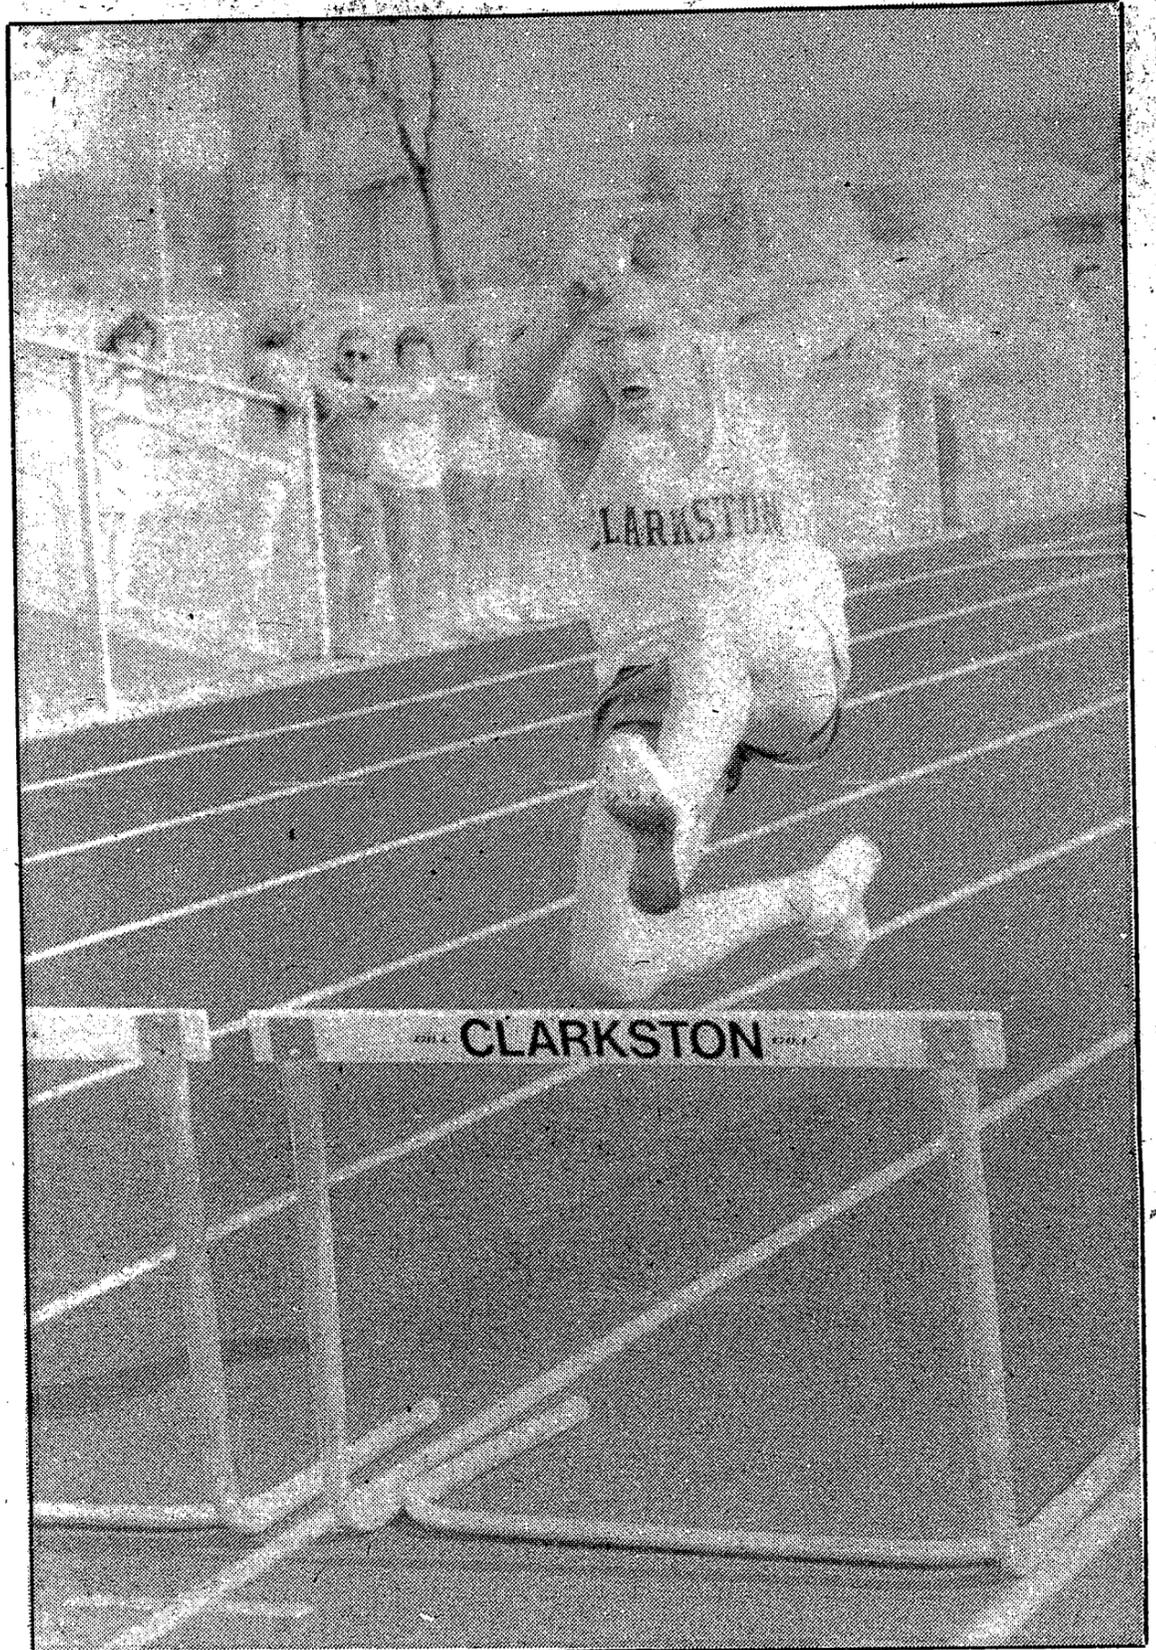

The 800 relay team of Christine Stamas, Kelli Ehlers, Traci Groner and Jenna Lopucki set a record with a time of 1:56. The previous record stood at 1:59.1.

Against Pierce, the girls team finished first in seven events but couldn't top the visitors.

Trim won three individual events with good performances in the shot put (29-7 3/4), 55 hurdles (10.74) and the 100 hurdles (16.79).

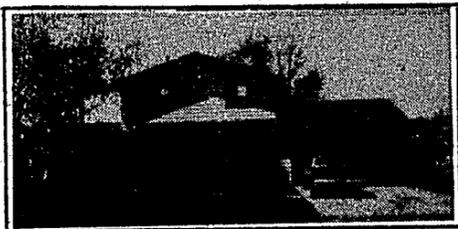

Alison McChesney won the 1600 run and Tanya Dylag the 400 dash for the Wolverines.

The 800 relay team of Lopucki, Groner, Stamas and Ehlers raced to a 1:56 finish, and the 1600 foursome of Mary Ellen O'Rourke, Stamas, Melissa Barnett and Dylag clocked in at 4:46.98 for Clarkston.

RICK DETKOWSKI clears the hurdle during high 7th/8th grade track meet at the high school Thursday afternoon.

Last loss toughest for girls soccer team

After it all was said and done, a subdued Clarkston team left the soccer field for the final time this spring. What the Wolves left behind after a disappointing 4-1 loss to West Bloomfield May 25 in the Bloomfield Andover district were fond memories of a 6-3-4 season. "We still had a good season," said Coach Hana Olsen. "(This loss) can't take that way from them."

The Wolves never could get untracked against the host Lakers during their district battle and fell behind 2-0 midway through the first half.

West Bloomfield pressured Clarkston right from the start and kept the ball in its end of the field before booting the ball into the far corner of the net to go up 1-0 just seven minutes into the game.

Then a fluke goal off a long shot that just barely got over the goalie's outstretched arms upped it to 2-0 about 16 minutes into the game.

Olsen knew her team was in trouble. "The aggressiveness just wasn't there," she said. Clarkston got on the scoreboard before halftime when Jackie Jablonski drilled home a rebound off Nancy Carosella's shot to cut the Lakers' advantage to 2-1. Ashley Adams prevented a Lakers goal just before the half with quick thinking after the ball slipped past goalie Sue Haran.

The second half was a mirror image of the first as West Bloomfield pressed Clarkston. Haran made a fine diving stop right off the bat, but the Lakers kept the ball in play and banged one off the goal post.

The Lakers eventually converted two of their many chances into goals to win the game going away. Now that the season is complete, it's time to take a quick look back at how the Wolves performed this season. A game-by-game synopsis follows:

LAKE ORION: The Wolves opened the season with a 0-

0 deadlock against a good Dragons' squad. For the first time since 1986, the Wolves played on the field at CHS and a good crowd showed up to support the team.

WATERFORD KETTERING: The Wolves continued to play well at home, easily downing the Captains, 4-0. Tami Mitchell scored twice and Erin McAuliffe and Jackie Jablonski netted one apiece. Sue Haran picked up the shutout in goal.

At OXFORD: The Wolves played the Wildcats to a 1-1 draw. Brigitte Brown scored Clarkston's goal.

LAPEER WEST: McAuliffe, Brown, Nancy Carosella and Mitchell all scored a goal apiece to pace Clarkston to another home victory, this time a 4-0 whitewash of Lapeer West.

At LAKE ORION: The Wolves suffered their first defeat of the season against GOAL foe Lake Orion on the road, 3-0.

with a tough 2-1 loss against the Corsairs at home. Jablonski scored Clarkston's goal.

MILFORD: Clarkston returned to its winning ways at home with a 5-4 win over Milford. McAuliffe scored twice while Brown, Jablonski and Karen Lowe notched one apiece.

At BRANDON: Mitchell scored Clarkston's only goal of the game midway through the first half as the two teams played to a 1-1 tie.

At WATERFORD KETTERING: Mitchell once again was the team's lone goal scorer as they nipped the Captains, 1-0.

BRANDON: Mitchell and Brown kicked in two goals apiece as Clarkston tied the Blackhawks, 4-4, to rob Brandon of a GOAL title.

At WATERFORD KETTERING: Clarkston started district play on the road with a convincing 6-1 victory. Brown made three goals, Mitchell two and Jablonski one for the victors.

Wolves fight the elite teams while at Oakland County meet

Some of the best teams of the state are right here in Oakland County, say the members of the boys track team.

A day before the meet Jody Lueck and J.J. Price agreed that there would be stiff competition at the Oakland County meet hosted by Birmingham Groves on Friday afternoon.

Their prediction came true as the Wolves found the going tough, finishing in 12th place with 13 points. Southfield won the boys title at the meet with 107 points. Pontiac Central took second with 68 and Oxford third with 54. Twenty teams participated.

Lueck jumped 20 feet, 6 inches in the long jump and finished second behind Joe Jefferson of Orchard Lake St. Mary's.

Mike Barnes took sixth in the 800 run and ran a 1:58.8.

Two athletes from the boys team will represent the Wolves at the state meet at Eastern Michigan University this Saturday.

Barnes in the 800 run and Jeff Shupe in the 200 run qualified for the meet. The events get under way at 10

Wolves win

Just like clockwork, the varsity softball team responded under pressure in the playoffs and won.

For the past two seasons, the Wolves have trudged through the regular season, saving their best performance for post-season play.

Last year, the team ended up a game away from a regional title after finishing in the middle of the pack in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Friday afternoon at Waterford Mott, the Wolves took one big step toward the regional title with a thrilling 6-5 predistrict victory over the Corsairs.

Forget that the Wolves had lost - convincingly - to Mott three times during the regular schedule. The playoffs are a new season and Clarkston is a new team it appears.

The Wolves scored four times in the top of the seventh to pull out the victory against Mott.

Kris Castillo, Stacey Shurtz and Jackie Patrick all had two hits apiece for the victors. Marci Morgan scored twice.

JULIE BRAZEL winds and delivers another softball game on May 27. Sashabaw was mercied in five innings.

Sashabaw places at county meet

Several good performances were turned in by the Sashabaw Junior High track teams at the recent Oakland County Meet.

For the boys, the 2-mile relay team of Derek Raymond, Jay Tudor, Todd Wozniak and Paul Brisson set a school record with time of 9:03 on the track at Milford.

Raymond also finished fourth in the 2-mile race for the Cougars at the county meet.

The boys team ended the dual meet season with a 2-3 record. Chris Figa was a bright spot on the team, he was unbeaten in the 1-mile race all season.

For the girls, Stephanie Cashin and Tracy Chamberlain led the way. The Cougars took 23 points at the meet to finish in eighth place.

Cashin placed second in the 400, fourth in the 100, fifth in the 200 and 6th in the long jump. Chamberlain took third in the long jump and fifth in the 300 hurdles.

The girls team finished the dual meet season with a 3-2 record.

Multiples and how we compare

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Accompanying the recent growth in Independence Township and other areas of Oakland County are problems with traffic and fears of pollution, crime and more expensive services, such as fire, police, planning, water and sewers.

In areas with undeveloped land, the time is approaching where the owners may wish to use the property, which could mean a quickly increasing population and the accompanying traffic woes.

Zoning change adopted

From now on, special permission won't be necessary to build more than one building on one lot, except on single family residentially zoned property in Independence Township.

In a 6-0 vote on May 17, the township board approved the second reading and adoption of the change to the zoning ordinance. The previous ordinance applied to every zoning except multiple family residential and required developers to receive special land use permission from the planning commission.

Planners approve office

Independence Square, a proposed 10,300 square foot office building, received the planning commission's unanimous approval for a final site plan.

The building for professional offices is planned for 1.2 acres off M-15, north of I-75, in Independence Township.

"This building has a very residential look to it," said commission member Carol Balzarini. "If you're behind the building, all you see is a one-story building. That will be a plus to the neighbors."

Developer Ozzie Jackson, who plans to use some of the space for his office, said he hopes to begin construction in August or September.

The site is zoned highway commercial and is near The Michael Group on the east side of M-15.

In Waterford Township, citizens demanded a moratorium, or a temporary cease, of the construction of multiples (condominiums and apartments). The moratorium was issued by the township board in May.

In Independence Township, citizens banded together to form Citizens for Orderly Growth. Its main objective is to study growth and offer ways the township government can deal with it.

A similar citizen's group exists in Orion Township. At the center of growth concerns are multiple developments, which are fewer in Independence Township than in surrounding townships, said township planning consultant Richard Carlisle, who also serves as planning consultant to Springfield Township.

Following is a summary of Carlisle's data:

Multiple family use trends in Independence Township

Year	Acres	% of Township
1973	56.5	0.2
1983	78.5	0.3
1986	87.0	0.4
1988	160.0	0.7

Multiple family land use in other communities (1986)

Community	Acres	% of Community
Bloomfield Twp.	601	3.7
Brandon Twp.	228	1.0
Farmington Hills	1,049	4.9
Highland Twp.	264	1.1
Novi	770	3.8
Orion Twp.	202	0.9
Rochester Hills	876	4.2
Southfield	1,341	7.9
Springfield Twp.	180	0.8
Troy	674	3.1
Waterford Twp.	479	2.1
W. Bloomfield Twp.	623	3.2
White Lake Twp.	225	1.0

The potential for multiple family developments in Independence Township are determined by the vacant land zoned for multiple, of which there is 492.6 acres. However, 252.5 acres are wetlands and water, so the net acreage available is 240.1 acres.

The master plan proposes an additional 136 acres, of which only 52 acres are accessible by roadways (not landlocked).

ELIZABETH DIEHL of Independence Township patiently waits for the Memorial Day Parade to begin from her viewing spot among the legs in downtown Clarkston.

Rezoning approved

Rezoning has been approved for two parcels of land in Independence Township.

The township board approved the second readings and adoptions of the rezonings in a 6-0 vote on May 17. Trustee William Vandermark was absent.

On Andersonville Road near White Lake Road, about 28 acres, including a small lake, will change from heavy and light industrial to single family residential.

Between Almond Lane and Walters Road on Waldon Road, 4.61 acres of rural residential, which has a three-acre minimum lot size, will be changed to single family residential, a 15,000-square-foot minimum lot size.

DQ sells to help kids

If you satisfy your urge for ice cream this weekend by indulging in a Blizzard at the Clarkston Dairy Queen, you should know that sick children will benefit.

The Clarkston Dairy Queen and other Dairy Queens in the area are participating in a national event, The Children's Miracle Network Telethon, which is being televised locally on Channel 50 June 4 and 5.

The telethon is part of the work of the Osmond Foundation, set up to help children's hospitals nationwide and internationally.

For every Blizzard sold at the Clarkston Dairy Queen this weekend, 50 cents will go to William Beaumont Hospital's pediatrics unit, recipient of the money raised in this area.

Two four-year employees of the Clarkston Dairy Queen, Jenny Robbins and Melissa Wilkenson, will present a check to Channel 50 at 4:30 p.m. on Sunday representing the money raised during the "Blizzard Benefit."

For every $1 raised across the country during The Children's Miracle Network Telethon, the International Dairy Queen Corporation will add 10 percent.

Bollman goes to seminar

Thomas Bollman of Chanto Road, Independence Township, attended a two-day utility seminar on installation of utility lines and other underground services last month.

Bollman is an Energy Services System Supervisor II for Consumers Power Co. in Royal Oak.

The session was held in Perry, Okla., at The Charles Machine Works Inc.

McGee begins 1-year residency

Jennifer McGee will be serving her residency in mortuary science at the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home in Independence Township, where she has been employed during the past two summers. She was graduated from Wayne State University School of Mortuary Science with a 3.63 grade point average. At Wint's she will be completing a one-year residency training period, which is a state requirement for becoming a licensed funeral director. Her parents are Ralph and Marilyn McGee of Holly.

Group home proposed for Pelton Road

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A group home for up to six developmentally disabled adults is planned for a 1 1/2-acre parcel on Pelton Road in Independence Township.

The Macomb Oakland Regional Center (MORC), which places adults in group homes, foster homes or in independent living programs, proposed the project across from the Waterford Hills race track, said Jim Clark, developing specialist.

If the process runs smoothly, construction could begin this fall, and the facility could open in January 1989. But the process could take a long time, which could delay construction until next summer, said Clark.

Notices were sent to 27 people who live within a 500-foot radius - the distance for which notices are required by the state licensing agency, said Clark.

Independence Township is also publishing a notice in The Clarkston News, and MORC welcomes comments from residents, he said. A public hearing is not required.

"If there were a couple of families with some serious concerns, we would be happy to meet with them," he said. "It's beneficial to have people understand."

MORC already operates a few group homes in Independence Township, as well as nearly every community in Oakland and Macomb Counties, and residents are usually concerned in the beginning but not after they understand the system, he said.

"The fear of the unknown is one of the most difficult things for a human being to deal with," he said.

Usual concerns center around possible danger to neighboring children and the deterioration of property values - which don't generally exist, he said. "We simply have to demonstrate that we can be good neighbors."

In the past, most disabled adults lived in institutions, so, for some people, this may be the first contact with a someone in a wheelchair or with someone who thinks differently.

"We're effecting a basic social change," Clark said. "It's not something that's out of sight or out of mind. ... We all grow from that experience."

Since 1977, Michigan law has considered group homes for up to six people as a single family residential use. The rights of mentally retarded persons have been established, and it is illegal to discriminate against them and make them live in an institution unless they're dangerous to themselves or others, said Clark.

MORC serves 2,000 people including those living in 160 group homes.

Spring Lake sewer to get lift station

A sewer lift station for the Spring Lake sewer district is to be constructed by the second lowest bidder, rather than the normal procedure of hiring the lowest bidder.

On the recommendation of Department of Public Works Director George Anderson, the Independence Township Board voted 6-0 to hire AVS Construction of Auburn Hills, to do the work for $380,749.

Lawrence M. Clark Excavating Co. of Ypsilanti, with a low bid of $373,939 was not recommended because two of four references were negative, said Anderson, adding the decision could be left up to Shouybib Investment Co., who is to pay the entire cost.

Township Attorney Gerald Fisher said Shouybib was willing to pay up to $450,000 for sewer construction, and Trustee Dale Stuart said the township should make the decision.

"In the long run, we're responsible for seeing that this is done efficiently and done right," Stuart said.

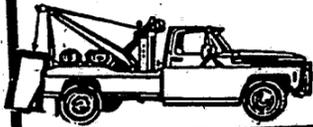

Shouybib's two 35-acre parcels zoned for multiple housing need sewers before they can be developed on Maybee Road, west of Spring Lake.

The sewer is to follow Waterford Road, connecting Shouybib's property with the existing sewer on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

In the township, AVS construction also connected sewers in Chestnut Hills off Maybee Road to Lancaster Lakes Apartments off Dixie Highway.

They're going too fast

Two residential areas of Springfield Township will soon be posted with 25 m.p.h. speed limits.

Residents of Hall Road (from Andersonville to Scott roads) and Tindall Road (from Broadway to Rattalee Lake Road) presented signed petitions to the township requesting that the roads be posted.

Both are gravel roads, and under Michigan law, the speed limit on unposted gravel roads is up to 55 m.p.h. depending on whether conditions are safe to go that speed.

The board voted in both cases to forward the petitions to the Oakland County Road Commission and request that the areas be posted as residential - meaning 25 m.p.h. speed limits on both roads.

Sweeper moves nearby

Independence Township will be using a Village of Clarkston hand-me-down to clean township parking lots and possibly the safety paths.

The board voted 6-0 to approve the $2,500 purchase of the village's about 15-year-old street sweeper, which needs repairs.

George Anderson, director of the department of public works, said the sweeper would last three or four years after repairs - and longer if it is not used on the township's nine miles of safety paths. A new street sweeper would cost about $18,000 or $19,000, he said.

LEADING THE WAY for the Clarkston parade are the Campbell Richmond Post 63, The American Legion and the Color Guard from Chief Pontiac Post 377 as this year's parade begins its march to the Lakeview Cemetery on Monday morning of Memorial Day.

Schools pay tribute to 11 retirees

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Warm-hearted wishes, good-natured jabs, a few tears and a lot of applause were the ingredients for a memorable evening that honored 11 retirees of Clarkston Community Schools.

The fifth annual retirement dinner, organized and hosted by Clarkston Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara, took place May 25 in the Deer Lake Racquet Club. Retirees, former retirees, families, friends, staff and parents enjoyed a buffet dinner as well as entertainment by the Clarkston High School Jazz Band and Madrigal Singers.

The Clarkston News

Wednesday, June 1, 1988

Board of Education Trustee Thomas Bills launched the recognition of retiring staff members by saying, "What really makes (the Clarkston school district) outstanding is the dedication of the people in it."

Notable this year is the retirement of Superintendent Milford Mason, who has served in that capacity since 1976 and has been a part of the Clarkston school system since 1961 when he became principal of Clarkston High School.

Following is a capsule of the tributes to Mason and the other 10 retiring staff members:

MILFORD MASON

Clarkston Board of Education President Janet Thomas, speaking on behalf of Mason, noted that he is respected throughout the county as a superintendent who works positively with his staff.

Looking back, Thomas said, "I remember when I was a young mother and didn't know much about the central office. I didn't know which one was Milford and which one was Mel Vaara. But as my knowledge became more sophisticated, I knew that Milford had the stunning white hair and Mel ... well."

Her humorous jab at Vaara's Telly Savalas lack-of-hair style drew laughter that frequently erupted in an evening of "roasts" as well as remembrances.

Board Vice President Carolyn Place also spoke on Mason's behalf. As "senior board member," she reminisced about his life in Clarkston, after first noting that he graduated "a long time ago" from high school (1948) and from college (1952).

Mason began his teaching career in the Vermontville Community Schools as a coach and junior high instructor, later as a principal, and then as Thornapple High School principal. But Place said his "really smart move" was coming to Clarkston.

Place said "we can point with pride" at changes in the schools under his leadership, and she closed with these thoughts on giving:

"To your enemy, forgiveness; to an opponent, tolerance; to a friend, your heart; to the students, service; to all men and women, charity; to every child, a good example; to yourself, respect. Tonight we offer our respect for a job well done."

Mason, upon receiving his award from board Secretary Mary Jane Chaustowich, said, "I've been wrestling with how to compress 27 years into five minutes."

He thanked Place and Thomas for the kind words, noting that he wasn't the "first choice" for the superintendent's job. The first choice went to California and found something better, he said, so Clarkston's school board offered him the job.

Mason paid tribute to his family - especially his wife, Joan - saying they were very supportive of his career, and people you could really talk to "when the chips were down."

"I am indebted to the central office staff who made (See BANQUET, next page)

A CONGRATULATIONS from Marlene Reed goes to Eugene McCurdy, who's retiring after 31 years of teaching in Clarkston Schools.

A PINK FLAMINGO is not exactly what Margaret (Peg) Dougherty would have wanted as a retirement gift from her boss, Kevin Bickerstaff, but the gift brought lots of laughs to her family and co-workers.

A SCRAPBOOK HOLDING 27 years of Milford Mason's history with Clarkston Schools was a gift from retired Clarkston High School counselor Marilyn Hanson. At the retirement dinner May 25, Kathleen O'Donnell takes a peek at the collection with Superintendent Mason.

 it pleasurable to come to work," Mason said. He also praised community people, parents and staff for support and for "making things happen."
 Mason and his wife will be spending some time up north now that he is retired, and he closed by saying, "In the words of that great American philosopher, Mae West, come up and see me sometime."

MARGARET (PEG) DOUGHERTY
 Dougherty is retiring after 11 years as secretary at the bus garage. Transportation Supervisor Kevin Bickerstaff spoke on her behalf.

"Rumor has it that Milford Mason decided to retire after he heard she was retiring," Bickerstaff said. But what Bickerstaff really wanted to know from Dougherty was, "Are you leaving because of me, or because of Mel Vaara?"

After praising her work at the bus garage, he gave her a pink flamingo as a "gift."

Chaustowich presented her with a retirement plaque, and Dougherty said, "I can't believe I'm leaving this now. Heck, I'm just beginning to get the hang of it."

She added that retirement will be great, and said, "I'm sorry I'm taking Milford Mason down with me. I'm sorry to cut his career short, but a guy's gotta do what a guy's gotta do."

JEAN THOMPSON
 Thompson served as secretary to the superintendent and office manager since January of 1986. Before that, she was an administrative-office secretary for the Clarkston schools since 1974. She has retired and moved to Gaylord with her family, but came down for the retirement banquet.

Her most recent boss, Mason, spoke on her behalf. "She is sometimes known as Tom Tom or Jean, Jean the popcorn queen," Mason said. "She is loyal, competent, friendly, resourceful, an excellent confidant, and outspoken in the good sense."

The "unofficial Jean" loves a good time and loves the outdoor life, he added, which fits their lifestyle in Gaylord.

Thompson, upon receiving her award, said, "I didn't prepare a speech. You can't concentrate on a speech on the golf course."

DORIS ALDRICH
 Aldrich retired after 14 years as a bus driver for the Clarkston schools. She was hired in October of 1973. She was unable to attend the banquet, but Vaara, who is director of auxiliary services, spoke on her behalf. "It is an important job, dealing with the health and welfare of the children," he said.
 He commented on how tragedies such as the Kentucky bus accident really bring to light the important and difficult task bus drivers have.
 "We really appreciate the good job they do," he said.

RENOLD VELTRE
 Veltre came to Clarkston schools in 1967 and worked as general custodian and head custodian at Pine Knob Elementary, Clarkston Junior High and Andersonville Elementary before retiring.

 He and his family have moved back to California and were unable to attend the retirement banquet.
 Vaara, praising Veltre's work, said, "We appreciate the fine job he did."

VIRGINIA SHELTON
 Shelton came to Clarkston in 1958, first teaching sixth grade at Clarkston Elementary and most recently, English and math at Clarkston Junior High. She is retiring after 30 years with the school system, with plans to travel and do church work.

Shelton was unable to attend the banquet, but Duane Lewis, principal at Clarkston Junior High, spoke on her behalf.

"Ever since I've known her, she has been a quiet, soft-spoken woman (with a southern accent), but a firm disciplinarian in the classroom," he said. "She is an excellent teacher."

NORMA YOUNG
 Young worked as a secretary in West Bloomfield and Birmingham schools before coming to Andersonville Elementary, where she served as secretary for nearly 10 years. She retired at the end of 1987 and was unable to attend the banquet.

William Neff, director of administrative Services for Clarkston schools, praised her work as a secretary.

He read a poem, "Eight Hours in the Life of an Elementary School Secretary," that illustrated the various duties, both official and unofficial, that make up the "job description" of that many-faceted person, the elementary school secretary.

STANLEY McCLELLAND
 McClelland was employed by Clarkston schools in July of 1971 as a groundskeeper. He remained in that position until retiring in September of 1987.

Vaara commented on all the good apples McClelland was known for bringing in from his orchard. He also noted that "When Stan got tired of hearing complaints, he'd just turn his hearing aid down."

"Stan was hard to replace," Vaara said. "In fact, with staff cuts, he wasn't replaced."

McClelland, upon receiving his award, said, "I'm not much at making speeches," and he thanked the administration for honoring him.

DORIS AMOS
 Amos is retiring as cafeteria manager at Pine Knob Elementary. She was hired in 1966, and her work in the cafeterias took her to Bailey Lake and Sashabaw Junior High before Pine Knob.
 Speaking on her behalf was Mary Clay, supervisor of food services for Clarkston schools.
 Clay noted that "the real meat of Amos's job" was the children's nutrition, and Amos had served nutritious meals to over one million Clarkston students.

 After receiving her award, Amos thanked Clara for "all the nice things she said," adding, "Maybe I should ask for a raise after all that."

CAROLYN YOUNG
 Young is retiring from work in the Clarkston schools as a reading consultant and a teacher. Hired in 1974, she taught at South Sashabaw, Andersonville, and most recently, at Pine Knob.

Due to her husband's transfer to minister at a church in South Carolina, she is leaving Clarkston at the end of the school year.

Speaking about Young was Pine Knob Principal George White.

"It's been a pleasure knowing Carolyn the past four years at Pine Knob," he said.

He described her as a "lady who loves teaching and loves kids."

In accepting her award, Young said, "I teach because I have a special place in my heart for children. God bless you, it's been a privilege to work with you."

EUGENE McCURDY
 McCurdy worked at the Flint Post Office and taught in Oxford, Camden-Frontier and Holly schools, and at General Motors before coming to the Clarkston school district in 1957. He has taught business courses at Clarkston High School and retires as business department chairman.

Speaking on behalf of McCurdy was fellow CHS teacher Walt Wyniemko.

"There are three phases of life, youth, middle age and geez, you're looking good," Wyniemko said. "And you're looking good, Gene."

Wyniemko said "a few friends" sent their wishes to McCurdy on his retirement: "Best of luck, Eugene McCurdy." He also said, "Ronald Reagan sent best wishes too, and by the way, Nancy says the stars are very good for you now."

Several other "friends' wishes" later, Wyniemko went on to praise McCurdy's long teaching career and related school activities.

When he accepted his award, McCurdy said, "It's been a long day. I went to Lansing with my wife's fourth-grade class (Joy McCurdy teaches at Pine Knob). After watching our legislators, I've decided on a new career. I want to be a politician."

McCurdy talked of memories throughout his career, and looked back fondly to his first teaching job in Oxford in 1951, where he met the "lovely lady" that would become his wife.

He talked of becoming "Mr. Green Thumb" now that he is retired, and he said, "If the good lord will do as good a job with me in the future as he has in the past, I'll have no complaints. God bless you all."

Shoplifting talk strives to thwart potential crime

BY PAT YOUNG

Clarkston News Staff Writer

In Oakland County and nationwide, shoplifting by teenagers is skyrocketing. More than 25 percent of the children referred to Oakland County Juvenile Court are there because they committed the crime.

For this reason, Garry Pullins of Clarkston Area Youth Assistance spends a good deal of time every spring talking to fifth-graders in the Clarkston school district.

Pullins, a child welfare worker with the Oakland County Probate Court Juvenile Division, also counsels juveniles who end up in his office when they are apprehended for shoplifting.

He explained that the reason he talks to fifth-graders is to try to get his message across before they get to the highest risk age, before they do something that could get them in serious trouble.

Because the crime rate is skyrocketing, he said, society is making it harder on the kids who shoplift, trying to make them more responsible for their own behavior.

On May 24, the fifth-graders at Bailey Lake Elementary School were hearing the message Pullins stresses: Just don't do it. Ever.

He showed the pupils a movie about a young girl who first shoplifted on a dare and thought "it was fun" - until she got caught. The movie illustrated how the crime put a black mark on her record and caused her parents to lose all trust in her.

"Remember the three words, 'I dare you,' that got the girl in trouble," Pullins said. "If friends dare you, don't take that dare. Don't let anyone talk you into doing things that break the law."

After the movie, Pullins asked the students about the movie and shared some thought-provoking facts with them:

- Even if they are with a friend who shoplifts, they could be apprehended as accomplices.

- Shoplifting is a serious crime. It is considered larceny from a building, which is a felony, and is prosecuted more severely than a misdemeanor.

- Every year, stores lose millions of dollars due to shoplifting, which raises the cost of the merchandise for everyone.

- Once arrested, the crime will be on their records, demanding explanation and causing embarrassment whenever it is revealed.

- A criminal record could keep a young person out of college or out of a profession.

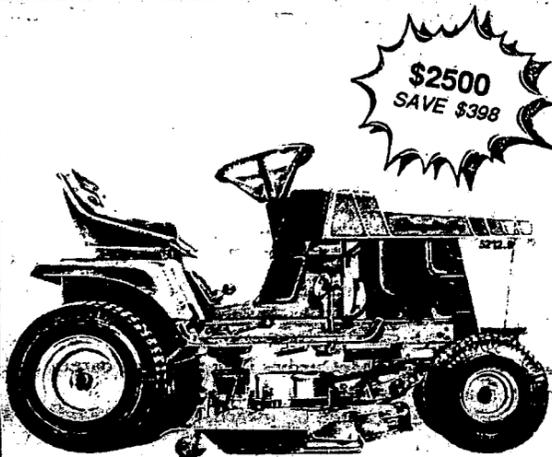

- A job that requires bonding, even that of a stock boy, probably will be closed to a youth with a record. He or she might also be turned down for federal, state, county or city jobs.

"Just remember, it only takes getting caught once to mess up your life," Pullins told the class. "It's not worth the risk."

Brotherly love

For a Brother Returning Home From School

My room all a jumble,
The icebox - quite bare;
For he has returned,
My home now his lair.

Yes he has returned,
That great tempest of knowledge;
Back for the summer
My brother from college.

Every day he sleeps,
Eleven, twelve or later;
His resemblance quite like that
Of a dead alligator.

And when he arises,
Of my words do take heed;
Stay away from the kitchen
Or become alligator feed.

For with classes no longer
Ruling all his days,
His lessons are not taught
By ham, cheese and mayonnaise.

And when he's not eating
His fancy does change;
"Quick, off to Dave's room
And let's rearrange."

But throughout it all,
I do not mind,
For we are brothers
Two of a kind.

And as we are brothers,
I'm glad home is he;
For there is no place
I'd rather him be.

David Kwasnick is a Clarkston High School senior.

Cleanup success

About 25 people turned out on May 7 to clean up Green Lake Park, a tiny "vest pocket park" off North Bay and Foster roads near the Green Lake subdivision in Springfield Township.

"We had a good response," said Sherry Swindell, Springfield Township parks and recreation director. The park clean-up day was a joint effort between the residents and members of the park commission.

Residents spent two hours cleaning up the park, and also procured two new benches for the ball fields, Swindell said.

The parks commission put in new sand around the equipment, cleared rocks from the ball fields and painted equipment, she added.

One Green Lake resident, Jim Fancher, owns Rich Sign in Pontiac and donated a new sign for the park.

Dog bites are no laughing matter

BY BENJAMIN F. LONG
Officer in Charge, Clarkston Post Office

There's nothing funny about a dog bite.

The confrontation between dogs and letter carriers seems to have become almost classic humor. But what's funny about the pain, lost work time and possible delay in mail delivery caused by dog bites?

The Post Office doesn't think dog bites are a laughing matter, and neither should anyone in this community.

Last year, more than 3,000 of this nation's letter carriers were bitten by dogs. Many of the injuries were serious, and some of the victims suffered permanent disfigurement.

The cost to the Postal Service and dog owners who subsequently paid both injury costs and punitive damages in many dog bite cases exceeded $3 million. Many more dollars and injuries can be counted among non-postal workers and individuals who were also bitten by dogs.

Nobody's laughing now.

The common assertion that "he doesn't bite" is not supported by these painful statistics. Any dog will bite if it feels it is protecting its territory or its owners.

The problem isn't with dogs, however; it's with dog owners.

The simple (and painless) solution to this problem is for pet owners to recognize their responsibility to keep their dogs restrained by a fence or secure leash or tether. To do so is just being a good neighbor.

Most dog owners are responsible about restraining their pets, but there are a few bad apples. And for those dog owners who don't choose to act responsibly, the Postal Service is ready to put some teeth into protecting its letter carriers.

Dog owners who do not restrain their pets risk lawsuits and interruptions of home mail delivery. The Postal Service will seek to recover damages when a carrier is bitten and counsels its injured carriers wishing to sue on their own.

The Postal Service will also interrupt mail delivery where loose dogs are a problem - including, in extreme cases, to entire neighborhoods. And there's nothing funny about that.

Help the Postal Service better serve you. They are committed to giving you the best mail delivery in the world, but all of us have to deal with the problem of dog bites. And that's no joke, either.

All-night party planned for CHS graduates

For the second year in a row, graduating seniors from Clarkston High School will have a chance to gather for a well-organized, all-night party to culminate the year.

The post-graduation party is planned to begin at 10 p.m. on Wednesday, June 15, following the graduation ceremony. It will take place in the Deer Lake Racquet Club and go on until 5 the next morning.

Co-chairing this year's committee of parents planning the event with the help of senior class officers and CHS Principal Dr. Robert Burek as administrative liaison are Sandy Nelson and Sue Rogers. Linda Irwin is in charge of publicity.

"The racquet club makes this possible by donating a portion of their facility," Irwin said.

CHS seniors will have the use of the indoor pool, tennis and racquetball courts, and the banquet area of the club.

Irwin also praised merchants and members of the community who have donated money and prizes for the party and the committee of parents who have spent "countless hours putting this thing together."

There will be food served all night, including a continental breakfast toward dawn. On hand will be a disc jockey, a hypnotist show and an artist doing caricatures of the students.

There will be dancing, swimming, impromptu games and entertainment, and plenty of time for the students to visit and reminisce. They are being encouraged to bring along their cameras and yearbooks.

Tickets at $10 each are on sale at the high school, before school and during the lunch hour, through Friday, June 10. The first 200 students to buy tickets will receive T-shirts printed up for the event.

Once at the party, students must stay. If they leave, they may not return. A parent committee and school administrators will be on hand to monitor the party, but Irwin said that last year there was no trouble.

"The parents just blended in and the kids were well behaved," she said. "They had a good time."

Theme of the post-graduation party is "Go For the Gold and Beyond," an Olympic theme chosen by the students and parent committee working together.

Irwin also said, "Dr. Burek has really spearheaded this and has been an invaluable help because he started this all last year.

"The party is a nice closure to their graduation and to 13 years of public education," Irwin said. "And the spirit and enthusiasm of the kids is great. They are really looking forward to this."

shirts that will be given to the first 200 graduating seniors to buy tickets to the event. Post-graduation party tickets cost $10 apiece.

Friend to Friend

Tired of teaching

Dear Friend to Friend,

I am a teacher at CHS and I think I have teacher-itis.

The students can use the excuse that they just don't want to work anymore; however, being a teacher, not only do I have to still work, but I have to be even more entertaining to keep the students interested!

I know this is my job, and I really do enjoy my work ... but I am ready for school to be over. I am dedicated but lack motivation.

From a student's point of view, please help (and please don't ask me to take the mature approach!).

IT'S VACATION TIME

Dear It's Vacation Time,

Many people in the community are jealous that you only have until June 17. But as a responsible adult, you really have no choice but to tough it out until summer begins.

But there are so many ways to relieve some of this vacation anxiety (tension breakers):

Run your nails down the chalkboard.

Clean the erasers on some smart alec's head.

OK, quit teaching, we don't mind - just have pizza parties for the last few days.

Show videos!

Call in sick. Substitutes are always miserable to take your place.

Wear your cutoffs and tank tops and maybe you'll get suspended!

We hope we have given you some "practical" suggestions to get you through until the end of the year! Smile and make the best of it.

Dear Friend to Friend,

I'm a student at CHS and I'm very frustrated with the community support of schools. I keep thinking how school will be next year if the millage doesn't pass on June 13.

A lot of kids don't necessarily like the work at school, but they do enjoy the extracurricular side. But how will it be next year without the proper funding for the things that supposedly make school a positive experience?

There's more to school than reading, writing and arithmetic, and even if that's all there is to an education,

Clarkston students still couldn't compete in these areas.

We have oversized classes and inadequate supplies. We don't have classes to accommodate students who have different learning abilities (either special help or advanced placement classes).

People need to realize that by voting for the millage they are not just doling out more money, they are investing it in the future.

I am writing this letter from the point of view of an advanced placement student. I am realizing now that even though I've taken the most advanced classes offered, I still cannot compete with students from other schools.

Clarkston schools have always been regarded as having high standards for education, but if you look closely at our school system, you will realize that we are very close to the bottom of the barrel in Oakland County.

Voting "no" for the millage will affect the entire community, in such far-reaching areas as property taxes and housing values.

I hope those people who are thinking of voting "no" for the millage will reconsider. WE NEED YOUR SUPPORT!!

HONORS STUDENT

Dear Honors Student,

What can we say? Everything you wrote is absolutely true! We hope by printing your letter, people will realize how important it is for the millage to pass.

But there is still hope. There are a lot of concerned students, professionals and community people working to get the millage passed.

We feel that your letter will help voters decide to vote "yes" to the millage on June 13. It's very good to know that there are students concerned about their education.

"Friend to Friend" is written by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under the sponsorship of Aware, an organization devoted to action and education against substance abuse.

Letters may be sent in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

An Apple for the Teacher

Lee Johnson, NWOVEC

By Scott Irwin

Lee Johnson is the recreational vehicle/small engine instructor at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

He was born in Union City, Tenn., but was raised in Flint. Lee's father was a mechanic and the owner of a service garage in the Flint area. He learned the majority of his mechanical skills while growing up and working at the family business.

He was an excellent baseball player during his school years and signed a minor league contract with the Detroit Tigers. He was a player for two Detroit Tiger farm clubs: Valdosta, Ga., and Erie, Pa. This ended after two years when Lee was called up during spring training to pitch against the big team - the Detroit Tigers!

He served up his best pitch to Al Kaline, who promptly put the ball out of the park! Shortly afterwards, it was back to Flint and the family service garage. With the family business ebbing, Lee started college at Eastern Michigan University during the day and work nights at the Buick plant. Eight years later, he received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Eastern.

Lee's first teaching job was that of auto mechanics instructor at Flint's Southwestern High. His next instructor stint was at Mott Community College, where he remained for the next 11 years.

During this time, Lee came to teach at Northwest Vocational in the small engine programs. The past couple of years have been a planning stage for the transition from small engines to automotive electronics.

The change is being made because of higher employment demands, higher interest area and more versatility for males or females leading to related fields. After many years in this field of education, Lee is looking forward to the challenge of the new program.

He is proud of the fact that two of his five children are the fourth generation in their family to be involved in automotive service work. One daughter is a service writer at Dittrich Oldsmobile and his youngest son is a mechanic at the same dealership.

Another interest of Lee's is the 10-year restoration of a 40-foot 1938 Matthews Cabin Cruiser. There is a projected launch date of June 1988. Happy boating, Lee!

An Apple for the Teacher is provided through a committee of the Clarkston Education Association. This week's author, Scott Irwin, is auto body instructor at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center.

Pet of the Week

TINY TWINKLES needs a new home.

Diamond in the ruff

Twinkles really sparkles as a pet. She is polite, well behaved, quiet and playful.

She is a 6-year-old Italian greyhound and schnauzer mix, described by some as "so homely she's cute." (But then, looks are only skin deep.)

She is already spayed and would make a mature family a wonderful pet. She is too small and shy for a family with active youngsters or large pets.

Twinkles has no bad habits. Her only problem is that she is homeless and needs a good family to love her.

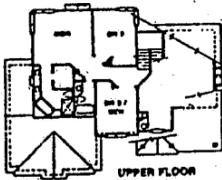

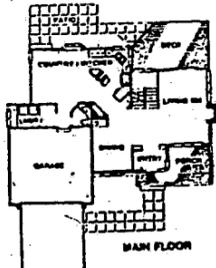

Twinkles can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The adoption fee for Twinkles is $35.

Party-perfect casseroles

Most people like Italian foods and most people like Mexican foods. Here are two Italian-Mexican microwave casseroles that could simplify your preparations for graduation parties.

Prepare them ahead and refrigerate, pop them in the microwave at the last minute, then onto a hot fry for serving.

Pat Young offered the Mexican Lasagna casserole in her "What's Cooking" column last month in The Clarkston News.

I couldn't wait to convert it to microwave directions and service to my panel of one, expert taster Ron Wagner. He gave it rave reviews, so I want to share it with you. Pat said the recipe came from Grace Heike, who also works at the News.

MEXICAN LASAGNA

- 1 pound ground turkey
- 1/2 cup chopped onions
- 1 16-ounce can refried beans
- 4 8-inch flour tortillas
- 2 cups chopped tomatoes
- 1 4-ounce can chopped green chilies
- 1 1-1/4-ounce package taco seasoning
- 2 cups (8 ounces) Co/Jack cheese
- 1 cup sour cream and salsa

Defrost frozen turkey according to oven directions or at 30 percent (defrost) power for about 5 minutes, breaking apart as turkey defrosts. Saute defrosted turkey at high power for 3 minutes.

Add chopped onions; saute for 3 more minutes. Drain. Stir in refried beans, chopped tomatoes, chilies and taco seasoning.

Place two tortillas in the bottom of a greased 7-by-11-inch Pyrex baking dish. Spread half the, chicken mixture over and sprinkle with half the cheese.

Repeat with remaining two tortillas and chicken mixture, reserving the rest of the cheese until after the lasagna has cooked.

Cover with waxed paper; microwave at 80 percent (reheat) power for 15 minutes, rotating 1/2 turn after 7 1/2 minutes. Add remaining 1 cup cheese; let stand 5 minutes.

Serve with salsa and a mixture of 1/2 cup plain yogurt and 1/2 cup sour cream or reduced calorie sour cream.

During one of my microwave cooking classes for community education, Lynn Carlson brought in this recipe that she had gotten from her friend Linda Boyer, formerly of Clarkston and now the first woman mayor of Mt. Airy, Md.

LYNNE'S MEXICAN MANICOTTI

- 8 large manicotti shells, uncooked
- 6 1/2 ounce can tuna or 3/4 cup shredded cooked chicken or 3/4 cup cooked ground beef
- 1 cup refried beans
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cummin
- 1 1/4 cups water
- 8 ounces Picante sauce
- 1 cup sour cream or plain yogurt
- 1/4 cup chopped green onions

1/4 cup sliced black olives

1 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Mix together tuna, chicken or beef, refried beans, oregano and cummin. Stuff into uncooked shells. Place shells in a single layer in a 6-by-10-inch Pyrex baking dish.

Combine water and picante sauce. Pour over shells; cover and microwave at high power for 10 minutes, rotating 1/2 turn after 5 minutes. Turn over shells.

Re-cover and cook at 50 percent (medium) power for 18 to 20 minutes, rotating 1/2 turn after 9 to 10 minutes. Let stand until all liquid has been absorbed.

Top with Monterey Jack cheese, then sour cream, onions and olives.

There is still time for you to contribute your favorite microwave recipe (or have me adapt your favorite recipe to microwave directions) for the SCAMP microwave cookbook, "Seasons, a Celebration of Microwave Cookery."

Just send your recipes with your name and phone number to Microwave Plus, Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016. And you don't need to be a Clarkston or Independence Township resident.

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her "Microwave Plus" cable TV program airs at 8 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays on Independence-Clarkston Channel 65.

WORKERS READY new pavilion seating at Pine Knob Music Theatre in Independence Township for the 1988 concert season. The pavilion will hold approximately 6,600, with seating capacity for an additional 9,400 available on the lawn.

Pine Knob: alive and kicking

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Pine Knob Music Theatre opened its summer concert season on May 21.

Close to a million concertgoers enjoy concerts under the stars each summer at the music theatre, located in Independence Township.

As the music theater enters its 17th season, more concerts are scheduled, topping last season's 80-plus shows. Tickets for individual concerts are now on sale, according to Simone Prince, public relations director, and new concerts are added throughout the season.

Tickets range from $18.50 to $17.50 for pavilion seats and $12.50 to $15.50 for lawn tickets. Ticket information is available at the Pine Knob box office off Sashabaw Road, at any Ticket Master location, or by calling 423-6666.

Approximately 600 more seats have been added to the pavilion's 6,000 capacity, and new sod has been added for the comfort of approximately 9,400 who watch each concert from the lawn.

Pine Knob Music Theatre has included a full page in the concert program this year with alternative routes to and from the theatre to help alleviate the traffic problem, especially with construction currently underway on I-75.

The outdoor concert facility tucked in the hills near Clarkston opened in 1972, and has been offering top names in the entertainment world ever since. A 48-by-58-foot stage offers the flexibility for a wide variety of productions.

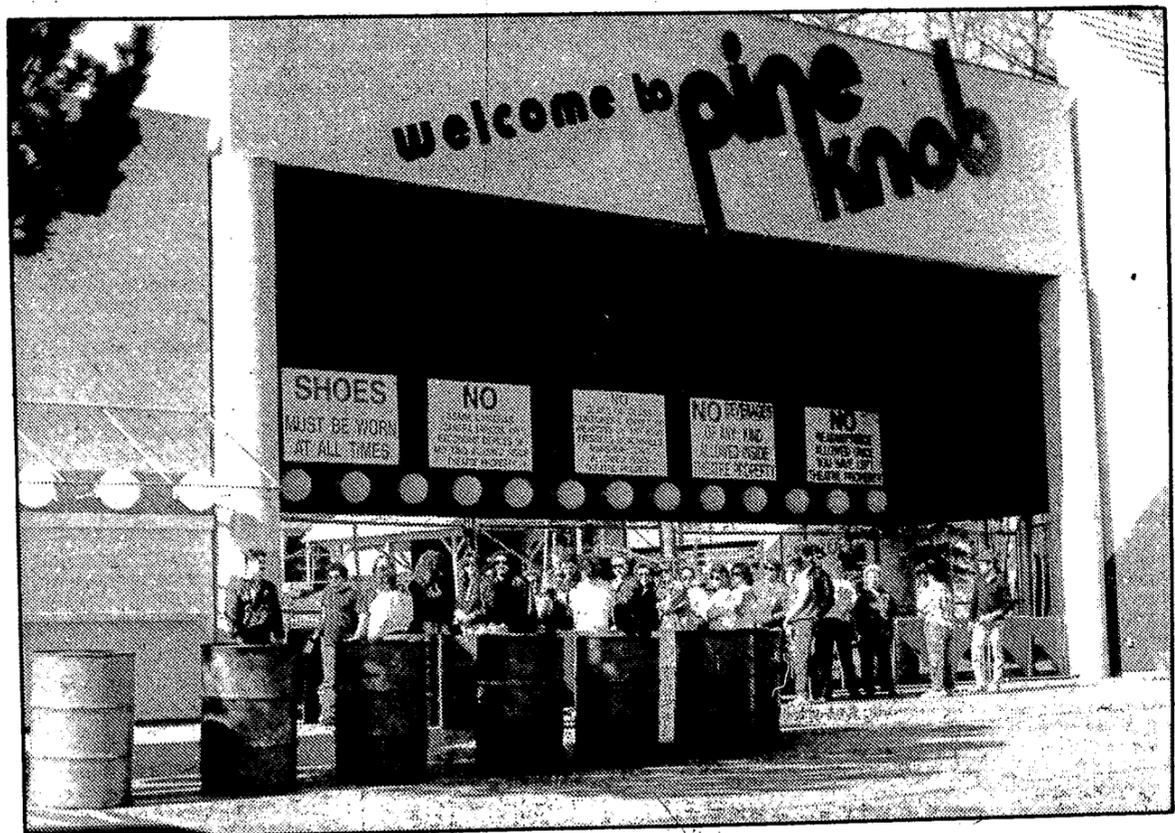

In the winter season when the music stage is silent, ski slopes just beyond are bustling. Pine Knob Ski Lodge offers skiers 20 runs ranging from beginner to advanced, five chair lifts (two double and three triple lifts) and seven tow ropes. Lift tickets last season were $16 and rentals were about $13.

A restaurant in the ski lodge is open during the winter season, but is closed in summer.

Nearby, under separate management, the Pine Knob Golf Course and Country Club abuts posh homes in Pine Knob Manor Homes.

Pine Knob Golf Course, off Waldon Road, is open to the public. Weekdays, the 18-hole course is $20; weekends it is $22. Nine holes of golf any day of the week is $11.

CONCERTGOERS line up for tickets to performances at the Pine Knob Music Theatre box office off Sashabaw Road. The music theater is entering its 17th season.

Yes, we're open!

Suzanne
Baumann

In this column, there's one particular subject concerning myself that I tend to avoid; maybe it shows, maybe not. The fact is, I lead the life of a kid. I am one! I'm 15 years old, a ninth (but almost tenth) grader, and a girl.

Being a teenager to me means being aware. A young child knows and thinks for himself, but doesn't really realize that the people he knows are equally as important.

Even all the storybooks, TV shows, and Sunday school classes they are subjected to can't seem to put it in their heads clearly enough.

From what I've seen, the world's cruelest people are between the ages of 7 and 12. If anyone reading this happens to fall in that age group, I apologize, but someday looking back, you'll probably feel the same way.

The reason isn't entirely their fault. Their eyes have been opened to the "Wonderful" world of insults and verbal attacks, and they are just dying to use them.

I thought of myself as a walking target for hatred at age 9. I had friends, but as a whole, I considered myself worthless. In fact, there were a few times I wished I was dead!

All pre-adolescents think they themselves are weird or drastically different from their peers, only to discover in their teen years they're not as bad as they thought. (That's why we sometimes come off as being arrogant little ingrates.)

Teenagers tend to be more open than any other age group. The moment they realize they have friends that will listen, they immediately say whatever's on their minds. This can be both good and bad; relationships of all sorts are broken left and right, all on account of a slip of the tongue.

There are more good sides to it than bad, however. During a particularly intense group conversation, I revealed a secret of mine; one that, until that point, I was embarrassed to tell. It amazed me when my friends admitted they've been in similar situations, many of them even worse than mine!

I still have my secrets, as do the other kids, but we still seem to say whatever we want, whenever we want, which may not be such a terrible thing to do.

Even the teenagers' method of conversation is unlike all the other age groups: a large, informal group, interrupting one another, but no one seems to mind (somebody will bring it up eventually), trying out new faces, voices and jokes.

"Has anybody here seen ...," "Does anyone remember ...," and "I am so ..." are some of the most common ways to start a conversation. People slip into the group all the time, always accepted.

Teenagers, although socially aware of their surroundings, still have the smallest amount of common sense humanly possible.

We're the ones who push the doors that have eight-foot-tall "pull" signs on them. The ones that put on a pair of sweat socks just to shop for a pair of dress shoes, and end up purchasing shoes that will only fit when we wear those socks with them. We're also the ones who sit on the ledge of a balcony 20 stories up just to get a better view.

Of course, no writing under this topic is really complete without mention of the generation gap. Adults, as we all know, were teenagers once as well.

Sometimes during a family reunion, I see my parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles get a couple decades younger, and imagine what a typical family evening must have been like for them.

I can't help but wonder if I would be any different as a person if I had been raised in a different period in time. In my opinion, the '80s seem to be a rather dull decade.

There isn't too much people my age can really get involved in. I feel like everything around me - clothing, entertainment, music, even the news - seems to be warmed over from the past 30 years.

Adolescence is the shortest period of anyone's life. Personally, I consider it the best part of mine ... so far, that is.

Suzanne Baumann is a ninth-grader at Sashabaw Junior High School.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY Spirit. Holy spirit - You make me see everything and show me the way to reach my goals. You give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrongs that are done to me and you are in all instances of my life with me. In this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Persons must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking for your wish. After the 3rd day your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Then, promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. Impossible wish granted. THE FORMAL LIVING ROOM of the Brunis historic Main Street home features an Itali-anate bay window, the perfect showplace for Peggy's harp.

PEGGY BRUNI shows the antique purse and doll collection she displays in an English art nouveau cabinet.

SCAMP Home Tour preview

Village of Clarkston farmhouse has stood on Main Street for 132 years

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The stately Main Street farmhouse of Alex and Peggy Bruni is one of six homes featured in Clarkston SCAMP Home Tour VI on June 4 and 5.

The Bruni family moved to Clarkston because they wanted to raise their children, 11-year-old Alex and 9-year-old Erica, in an area with traditional values.

They lived at Pine Knob, where Alex is involved in residential real estate development, while they renovated their Main Street home.

Alex grew up in a family of "historical home renovators" and put his talents to work on the Clarkston home, which was built in 1856.

The property originally belonged to Butler Holcomb, who sold it to Jeremiah Clark in 1837. Joseph Harris purchased the property and it is believed that he built the historic farmhouse which is sometimes called the "Harris Home."

In more recent history, the home belonged to George Harris, who was married to a descendant of Jeremiah Clark. While Harris owned the home, Henry Ford, who owned the adjacent property - now Independence Township Hall, was a frequent visitor.

There were several more owners before the Bruni family purchased the home in the summer of 1986. In February 1987, renovations were complete and the Brunis moved into their new home.

The main floor of the 1,850-square-foot home has 9-foot ceilings. The upper level has peaked ceilings, which gives the second floor a spacious look.

A SUNNY DECK off the kitchen of the Brunis restored farmhouse in Clarkston is a favorite with the family.

A large skylight brightens the country kitchen, which features a slanting "shed" roof and a bay window in the family breakfast nook.

Beyond the kitchen is a formal dining room, with the original woodwork. In the remainder of the home, the Brunis have replaced woodwork with period style.

One door in the dining room leads to the front porch. The Brunis have been told the dining room once served as the temporary Clarkston Post Office, and this door was used as the entranceway.

Another door in the dining room leads to the formal living room, where Peggy's harp gracefully fills the space in front of an Italianate bay window.

Just beyond the living room is a cozy family room that also opens into the kitchen. A fireplace at one end of the den has been redone with an 18th century mantel. Above it, an overmantel has been custom made to fit an Italian oil painting.

Peggy decorated the home in traditional style, using shades of blue and rose, and filled the home with 18th century English antiques. Her many collections are displayed throughout the home.

In the den, showcased in an English art nouveau cabinet with a Tiffany pomegranate tree carved on the face, is a collection of antique purses. In the living room is Peggy's Chinese rose medallion china collection, displayed in an 18th century English break front cabinet.

"I think some of the people on the tour, especially the ladies, might be interested in the collections," Peggy said.

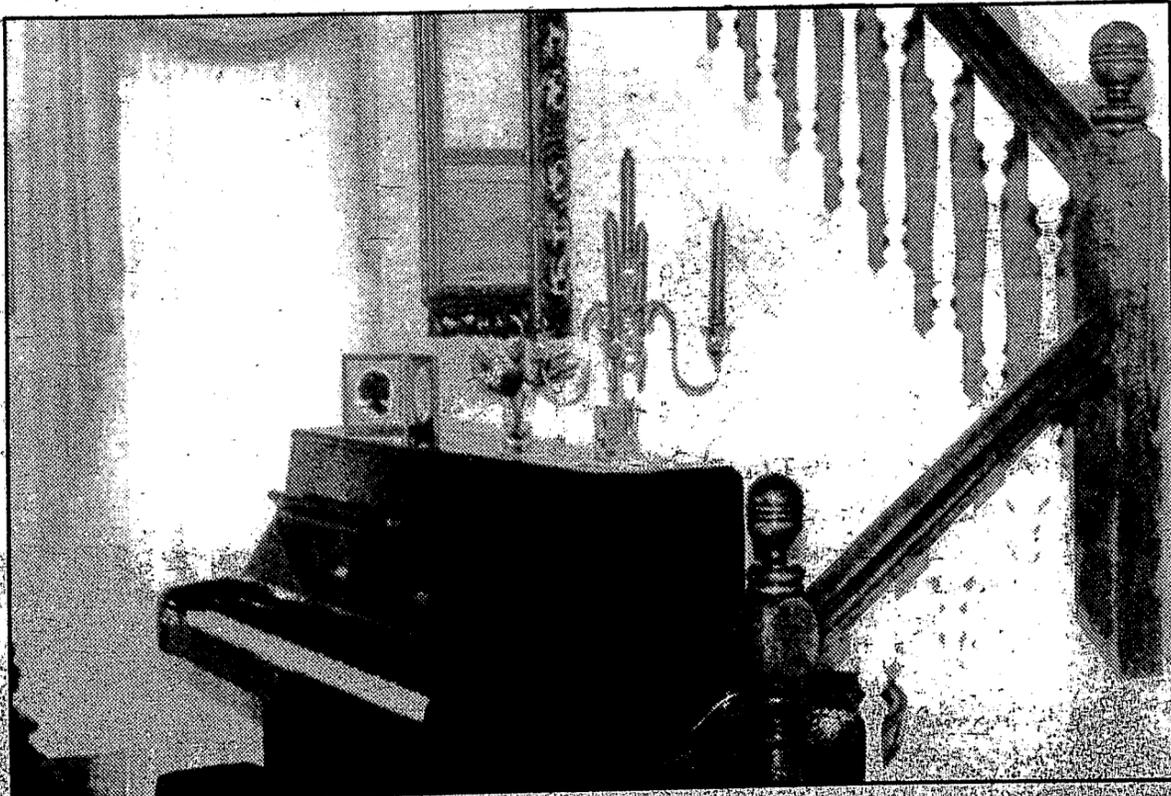

Four other historic homes, three in the Village of Clarkston and one outside, will also be featured on the SCAMP Home Tour. The sixth home, of ultra modern design, is located close to the village.

Tours will have shuttle bus transportation provided, starting from the parking lot at the corner of Main and Washington streets. This is also the location of registration and ticket sales.

A Golden Patrons Tour on Saturday evening will offer a premiere showing of all homes and a private champagne reception. Registration is at 6:30 p.m. and the tour is at 7 p.m. The cost of the Golden Patrons Tour is $50 a person.

Sunday Tour is June 5, with ticket sales and registration opening at 12:30 p.m. and continuing until 2 p.m. Tours will be conducted between 1 and 4 p.m., with a complimentary reception at the Clarkston Cafe for all patrons. Tickets for the Sunday Tour are $15 per person.

To accommodate early registered patrons with tickets, the Cafe opens at 1 p.m. for those who prefer the reception before the tour.

ALEX BRUNI'S PIANO graces one wall of the living room. The wood-railed stairway leads to upstairs bedrooms. A portion of a Japanese sculpture can be seen on the far left.
