Teen charged with family murder

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The 14-year-old Springfield Township boy charged with the June 22 shooting of his father, mother and 11-year-old sister remains in Children's Village, Pontiac, awaiting a July 6 hearing in Oakland County Probate Court.

Amid flashes from media cameras during a June 28 probate court hearing, the referee found sufficient evidence to substantiate charges against Brandon Wayne Carnell, of 8711 Andersonville Rd. near Edgar Road, said his court-appointed Bloomfield Township attorney, Mitchell Ribitwer.

Brandon was charged with two counts of open murder, one count of first degree murder and three counts of possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony. The case will be heard by Judge Sandra Silver.

Ribitwer said Brandon would be tested psychologically to evaluate his competency and criminal responsibility.

In the meantime, Brandon is trying to cope with all of the court proceedings in addition to the grief over the loss of his family, said Ribitwer.

"It's pretty crazy," he said. "He's frightened, scared, upset by the whole thing. It's an overwhelming thing."

Many people following the case have expressed sympathy for Brandon, and that's not surprising, said Ribitwer.

"He was physically and psychologically abused," he said, adding he could not be more specific. "There definitely was a problem. It's a sad thing. He's still a child. I guess there would be some sympathy for him, especially after all the facts are brought to light."

If proven guilty of the charges, the maximum time the Springfield Christian Academy 10th-grader could be held in an institution is until his 21st birthday.

The shootings occurred around 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 22, said Lt. Bruce Nail of the Oakland

NEWSPAPER PHOTOGRAPHERS were asked to snap the Carnell family photo while it was tacked to the bulletin board at Dixie

County Sheriff's Department (OCS).

About 10:37 p.m., police received a phone call from Brandon's father, Michael, 35, who said he and his wife and daughter had been shot by someone. Suddenly the communication stopped, so deputies were immediately dispatched.

Baptist Church, where the Carnells were life-long members. Church members patiently answered media questions after the tragedy.

Deputy Ken Parker found the three victims at the residence and was met by Brandon, who was unarmed, and who said his family was shot by a white man and a black man.

Later, Brandon told detectives that he had shot his

In the days following the shotgun killing of the Carnell family in Springfield Township, family friends and neighboring residents tried to figure out what would make a boy shoot his parents and sister.

Most said they couldn't sleep at night after the June 22 incident in which 14-year-old Brandon Wayne Carnell allegedly used a .20 gauge shotgun to kill his mother, father and 11-year-old sister. Friends and neighbors near the Andersonville Road residence tried in vain to find an explanation.

"It's just a tragic, tragic thing," said Dr. Paul Vanaman, pastor at Dixie Baptist Church and principal of the church-run Springfield Christian Academy, where

SOME GAWKERS were so bold that they stopped their cars and walked around the Carnell house, peeking in windows, according to neighbors around 8711 Andersonville

Rd., Springfield Township. Some curious people even tried to reach the pond at the back of the property where police found the shotgun believed to be the crime weapon.

Neighbors try to make sense of slayings

the Carnell children attended school.

"We have no explanation to how or why something like this happens," he said, describing Brandon as a "normal" student.

Brandon's grandparents were charter members of the 34-year-old church, and Vanaman performed the marriage ceremony for Brandon's parents. Two of Vanaman's sons were part of the wedding party.

Brandon played basketball and soccer for the school, and his parents, Michael, 35, and Carol, 36, were members of the church choir and other groups. The entire family attended every church service.

"The Carnell family and my family were close," he said. "They grew up together. ... We're kind of in shock right now. They're not the type that people said, 'You have to keep an eye on him. He's going to shoot somebody someday.'"

The Carnell neighbors were equally shocked and struggled to understand. John Fox, who lived two doors from the scene of the crime, best expressed the sentiment of the neighbors - many who didn't know the Carnell family very well.

"What happened between him and his family, I don't know," said John. "Nobody knows. Maybe we'll never know."

Still, he and his wife, Myrtle, couldn't help thinking about it.

"Strict parents, strict school. Maybe between the two, he just couldn't take it," said Myrtle. "They were the perfect family. Whenever they went out to the car, they always had their arms around each other."

"Never heard a squabble out of the house," said John. "You wouldn't think anything like that would happen because, as a family, they were close knit. I suppose the kid maybe didn't like to be disciplined. Maybe his father disciplined him too much. I don't know."

Brandon, who often mowed neighbors' lawns, was described by neighbors as hard-working, studious and serious. Friends didn't visit him at his house, but he played basketball with his sister and father at their driveway hoop.

Pauline Palmer, the next door neighbor who babysat Brandon and his sister until last year, said she liked Brandon and still could not believe the shooting occurred.

"He was always a nice boy," she said. "You can't say there was anything wrong with him. He didn't seem troubled to me. Never had any friends, though. That was the only strange thing. He was a loner. ... He was always into books all the time. He was smart."

Even after talking to dozens of reporters and police investigators, Palmer still cannot get the subject out of her mind. She groped for an answer.

"They were strict disciplinarians with the children," she said. "Maybe they were overly extreme with their discipline with them. They can take so much, and it finally comes out one way or another."

"You don't know what went through his mind. It must have just hit him all of a sudden. He wasn't going to take it anymore," she said.

There was one other strange thing about the children, said Palmer. Brandon and Candace were chronic liars while she was babysitting for them. Candace was worse, but they both lied about unimportant things.

As an example, Palmer described the time Candace got into her perfume. Pauline noticed the perfume bottles had been moved on her dresser, and when she smelled it on Candace, she asked her about it.

But Candace answered very politely, "No, Mrs.

Palmer. I didn't use your perfume."

"It didn't matter, but it was just the idea that she was lying," said Palmer. "I wasn't going to punish her for it because I know how kids are."

After the shooting, Palmer saw the bodies of the Carnell family removed from the house, and it sickened her, she said.

Yet, she felt kind of sorry for Brandon, as did Myrtle Fox.

"He hasn't got a home. He hasn't got any parents. He hasn't got a family," said Fox.

Irrigation system keeps farmer afloat

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Editorial cartoonists poke fun at it, but few others - especially farmers - find anything humorous about a drought.

"It's the worst it has been in the eight years I've been working," said Timothy Boals, a Clarkston resident and consultant for farmers throughout southeastern Michigan. "You can tolerate some drought but there is no way you can keep up. Every day brings them closer to the point of no return."

Boals works for Grower Service, a Lansing-based company, which sells chemicals to farmers. Through his business travels, he has seen most of Michigan hit hard by the dry weather.

The statistics from the National Weather Service in Flint tell of the sad plight farmers are facing.

After weathering the driest month in the record books (May rainfall totaled only .34 inches), the precipitation for June is about 2.5 inches below normal, said Dennis Fruehauf, a weather specialist. As of June 23, Michigan was six inches behind in rainfall compared with last year.

Temperatures also have wreaked havoc on the land. Nine times this month there have been record highs and twice there were record lows, he said.

"It's been an abnormal month," Fruehauf said. "But it's not nearly as severe (here) as in the other parts of the U.S."

With a little advance planning, one area grower has stayed one step ahead of the drought so far this year.

Thanks to a decade-old irrigation system, one Springfield Township orchard owner hasn't experienced many major problems.

Ed Masters, of Bridge Lake Road, bought the watering equipment in anticipation of a drought that never materialized 10 years ago. Over the years, Mother Nature always has provided him with more than enough moisture to grow his crops.

This summer he is finally getting his money's worth out of the irrigation system that feeds off a private well.

He currently farms 30 acres of land, growing cherries, strawberries, apples, peaches, blueberries and various other kinds of fruit.

Aside from a low cherry and strawberry crop and some withered up apricot trees, the plants and trees are doing fine - and so is Detroit Edison.

"I'm going to have problems paying the electric bill (for the irrigation system) if this drought keeps up much longer," he said.

Cherry trees should - under normal conditions - produce about 200 pounds of fruit per tree but Masters said he would probably average 20 pounds per tree this year.

The strawberry crop wasn't any better for him. But he admits his problems are minor compared with grain farmers.

He can relate to their problems because he was a grain farmer before switching over to fruits in 1967. The stability of owning a drought-resistant orchard appealed to him.

"It is a disaster for a lot of them," he said. "A complete failure. I can appreciate that."

ED MASTERS has had some apricot trees wither, but thanks to an old irrigation system on his farm in Springfield Township, he's weathering the drought.

High temperatures heat up retail sales, too

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Despite drought-like conditions, several area business owners in weather-related fields haven't seen their profit potential dry up.

According to statistics from the National Weather Service in Flint, May was the driest month in the record books with only .34 inches of rain falling during the 31-day period.

June hasn't been much kinder with only .63 inches of precipitation as of June 27.

Dry weather translates into plenty of dry and thirsty throats around town. Many Clarkston-area residents have found the Dairy Queen on M-15, Independence Township, to be a great place to beat the heat.

"When it's hot, people want something cold," said Audra Snyder, owner of the Dairy Queen. "I can't keep the slush machine filled. Everybody wants a cold slush."

Dinner business has also increased, she said, attrib-uting the rise to people's reluctance to cook in the extreme heat.

When the temperature rises into the 90-degree range and stays there over an extended period, there is a noticeable drop in the number of customers - albeit only momentarily.

"Most people are just trying to keep cool during the day" and tend to stay indoors, she said. But customers return in droves when the sun sets.

But while the sun's shining, people are scurrying to find a cool place to stay. With 11 straight days of 90-degree weather in June, the relief air conditioning offers is at a premium.

After last summer's blistering heat, people have a new found appreciation for the air conditioner, said Thern Nichols, owner of Nichols Heating and Cooling of Independence Township.

"People no longer consider air conditioning a luxury but a necessity," he said. "We are putting in a record number of air conditioners."

Customers have been asking for installation since early spring in preparation for a long hot summer, he added. While the hot and dry weather brought his company a lot of business, he won't be sorry to see it go - when and if it finally does leave.

"I'd welcome the rain and the cooler weather," he said.

So would Pete Gannon, owner of Pool Mart on M-15, Independence Township, even though business is blossoming in the sweltering heat.

"We do need the rain," he said. "However, it's having a great effect on business - everybody wants (a pool)."

Gannon predicts that sales are up 20 to 28 percent over last year because of the unusually hot and dry weather conditions during the spring and summer seasons.

Even though some communities are issuing watering bans or restrictions, the pool business shouldn't be affected, he said.

"We truck the water in," he said. "A pool doesn't use that much water when it's filled."

Dixie shopping center unveiled

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston Oaks shopping center, planned for eight acres on Dixie Highway, could solve a dispute between Independence Township and the developer of an apartment complex behind the proposed site.

Plans for the 72,000-square-foot center include a private road that would connect Lancaster Lakes Apartments behind the site to the traffic signal at Dixie Highway and Maybee Road.

Developer Ed Boutros, who has developed shopping centers in Warren, Sterling Heights, Farmington Hills and Canton, Clinton and Waterford townships, said the shopping center was only in the planning stage and many things could change.

A demographic study and growth projections show Independence Township as a prime spot for the proposal, he said.

"That area is a very nice, upscale area and an excellent base to grow from," he said. "That location is excellent for retail, and we're delighted with the road."

Clarkston Oaks is to include a 42,000 square-foot supermarket, an 11,000-square-foot drug store and 20,000 square feet for other retail stores.

Lease negotiations are in progress with a major supermarket chain and a major drug store chain, said Boutros, who did not want to announce the names until the contracts were signed.

Boutros said he agreed to the private road agreement with Fox Corp., developers of Lancaster apartments, because Fox would allow the water from Clarkston Corners to be retained in a pond on the apartment complex site.

He plans to purchase the Clarkston Oaks property from Durant Enterprises, owned by Alex Dandy, who also owns Hamady Brothers Food Markets.

The Clarkston Oaks property rests between the House of Maple, Oak and Pine and Clarkston Motors on the west side of Dixie Highway across from Maybee Road.

Fox Corp., developer of Lancaster apartments, filed a lawsuit against the township in April seeking permission to begin construction of the second phase of the project.

In July 1987, the planning commission granted conditional approval for the second phase of Lancaster with the stipulation that building could not begin until construction starts on the Maybee Road extension (planned for 1990) or the Dixie Highway widening in front of the apartments (planned for 1989).

At the June 21 meeting, the township board considered accepting the private road proposal in the Clarkston Oaks development in lieu of the planning commission stipulations but did not make a decision, and Fox Corp. has not yet dropped the lawsuit, said Clerk Richard Holman, after the meeting.

Lancaster Lakes Apartments rests on 48.8 acres west off Dixie Highway across from Maybee Road. The complex is to contain about 280 units.

At the June 13 planning commission meeting, the Clarkston Oaks shopping center received conceptual site plan approval with approval of the Dixie Highway access solution.

"We are happy to see the second access problem to Lancaster be resolved with access to a signal," said Chairperson Brent Bair after the meeting. "We're very happy about that."

The commission also favored the shopping center concept but suggested minor changes in landscaping, parking configuration and stop signs, he said.

"Generally, it looks pretty good," he said.

Dixie-Maybee smash-up

BRAKE FAILURE is the cited cause of the Tuesday, June 21, accident on Dixie Highway at Maybee Road in which a vehicle driven by Dale Louis Bargeron, 40, of Pinewood Drive, Independence Township, was hit by a vehicle driven by Jeffrey Ralph Hughes, 33, of Orion Township. Hughes also sideswiped a vehicle driven by Todd Dennis Guerin, 18, of Lancaster, according to the report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. All drivers were wearing seat belts, and only Bargeron, who drove the smashed vehicle in the above photo, suffered minor injuries. Hughes received tickets for failure to stop at a safe distance and for defective brakes. (Photo by Pat Young)

Memories

Jim Fitzgerald

Jack Gardner died June 1. A few weeks earlier, Dick Blazo died. So did Byron Duckwall. It would be stretching it to call them good friends of mine. During the last dozen or so years, I saw them almost never.

But they were old acquaintances from the days of auld lang syne - the good old times - and I find I can't help bringing them to mind.

It's my age, I'm almost 62, and every day I read the obituary columns, hoping to find that no one around my age had died. I'm always disappointed, and my mortality edges closer. It's especially uncomfortable when the deceased was an old friend or acquaintance, someone I shared good times with.

Hey, I don't want to die for a long time yet. I want to be a great-grandfather, to see if it's as pleasant - and worrisome - as being a father and grandfather. But those three old acquaintances didn't want to die, either. It happened to them - two cancers and a heart attack - and it can happen to me. Any time.

How do you like today's column so far? Can you stand the merriment? I'm sorry; I don't intend to be morbid. I'm not really sure what I intend. Just to remember, I guess, and appreciate. And ask the cliché question: Life is short, so why don't we try harder to enjoy it, and be nicer to each other?

Tootsie Roll Man

Jack Gardner was the oldest - 74. Byron Duckwall and Dick Blazo were a few years younger. They all lived - and died - in Lapeer, where I worked for the local newspaper for 25 years, before moving to Detroit in 1976. Jack always had Tootsie Rolls in his pocket. He slipped them to my children in church, or on the street. Years later, he gave them to my grandchildren. They called him the Tootsie Roll man.

Jack, a successful foundry executive, and I didn't agree on everything - I was too liberal. He said he read my movie reviews so he'd know what not to see - the ones I liked. But our differences weren't abrasive. On the contrary, our arguing was a big part of the fun of being with him. And I'll always remember what a strong, loving husband Jack was during the long illness of his first wife, who died much too young.

When my wife and I moved into our first unrented home, Dick Blazo and his family were our neighbors. No one in the neighborhood had much money and the main recreation was a monthly potluck party that moved from basement to basement to basement. Once, about 1960, about 20 of us went canoeing on the Au Sable, a disastrously damp experience for an indoor boy like me, but the source of many laughs for years to come. I haven't been in a small boat since.

And I haven't had a nicer neighbor than Dick, always quick to do something neighborly, always slow to say a mean word about anyone. Dick Blazo was retired from General Motors when he died, only a few weeks after receiving a cancer diagnosis.

Remembering Duck

Byron Duckwall, always called "Duck," was enjoying retirement from his lumber business when a heart attack took him instantly at home.

Duck, like me, was a Michigan State alumnus, and we went to many MSU football games together. In his prime, Duck was one of Michigan's finest amateur golfers, but he was nice enough to play with me and not laugh out loud at my swing. Hardly ever.

Duck used to hire my son to mow the lawn at his home with the great yard and woods in the back. And a couple of years ago, when he and his wife began spending more time in Florida, they sold that house to my daughter and son-in-law. Two of my grandchildren live there now, and whenever I visit them, there is sure to be a moment when I think sadly - and fondly - of the man whose home it used to be.

This is for Duck and Dick and Jack, for the families they left behind, and for auld lang syne. It ends for all of us, so give a cup of kindness while you can.

Party prep

Kathy Greenfield

Early one mid-week morning as I was sitting down at my dining room table, my attention was drawn to a figure on a ladder at the house across the street.

Instantly, I found myself facing a "What's wrong with this picture?" scene. "There's no paint brush. There's no paint," thought I, watching more closely.

Finally, he pulled out a cloth. "Good grief, Jim's scrubbing his two-story house," I said to myself.

I'd been observing a frenzy of activity over there for weeks - the tearing off of aluminum siding on the porch, Sandy scraping and painting, flowers planted, lawn manicured and the frequent watering the drought has required for happy landscape greenery.

Later, when I left for work, I shouted a greeting to my neighbors as they busily kept at it. Jim shouted back that he was taking a few days' vacation to prepare for THE PARTY.

Kate (Clarkston High School, Class of 1988), their second oldest in a family of four, provided the reason for the graduation celebration.

Over the next few days, my neighbors kept working and I kept wondering if parties were worth it knowing all the while that the party provided incentive to complete projects "on the list" of some very busy people. Their home, by the way, looked fine before all this started.

I thought about Jake, real name Karen, a neighbor many years ago in Indiana along with Arlene, a former home economics teacher.

Jake tossed parties all the time, choosing rather dippy-sounding themes that always turned out to be great fun. The party I remember, though, was a treasure hunt. Jake wrote clever clues, broke the guests into teams and we scattered about the apartment.

Later, Arlene managed to mention that she couldn't understand how Jake could give such a party when her house was so, well, dusty in some places. Top of the refrigerator (Jake and Phil were short), behind the washing machine, and so on. (Arlene and Fred were tall.)

Of the three of us, Phil was the woman who worked. Arlene and I tended our babies and kept things in order, which was the only reason my house was sparkling clean and why I spent time doing things such as planning menus for the month.

Now I work, of course, and if Arlene and I were still neighbors, she could talk about the dust in my house.

Over the years, I've thought about Phil every time I've worried over whether or not my home was in order enough to admit guests. The thing was, people were always at Phil and Jake's place, laughing, talking and relaxing.

Near the end of the week, I strolled over to my neighbors' front yard to tell them their house looked wonderful. It literally sparkled in the sunshine. Sandy appeared to be a bit tired and Jim hadn't shaved for a while (after he washed the house, he painted it).

Apparently, I wasn't the only member of our neighborhood who had noticed all the hard work going on. From a rolled-down car window the next day, came this tongue-in-cheek serenade for Jim and Sandy: "Summer time, and the livin' is easy."

The party, by the way, was perfect.

Jim's Jottings

In her browsing antique dealer's collections of discarded items, Hazel has occasionally picked up an iron animal.

One such item is a horse and sulky. Hazel bought it at least 20 years ago. The driver was not with this great find, but Hazel found a jockey that seemed to go with the horse-sulky combination.

The antiques set on a bench in front of a window at our place in Engadine. For the past half dozen years our kids make more use of the retreat than we adults. Hazel doesn't even average every other year.

I want to make sure you get the picture. It had been at least two years since Hazel had seen that horse and cart. Yet, the instant she opened the door and looked into the room, she said, "What happened to my horse and sulky? And, where's the rider?"

I didn't even know what she was talking about. Hazel's memory for her acquired treasures can be compared to her memory of mistakes I've made since Oct. 22, 1949. She remembers them all.

Also, on this bench is an autograph book. Visitors to Sherman's North are supposed to sign in and add a couple words.

A review of the pages told us who had been at the place, when, and with how many kids.

Like my parents, and their parents, and most all parents, the quick conclusion was, "What did those kids do with our toy?"

The place was searched top to bottom on hands and knees, the yard was combed, and neighbors queried.

Over the next four months many phone calls were made, accusations became stronger, anger raged, nostrils flared, and the value of the antique doubled with every mention.

Four months brought us to November and Deer Hunting Season.

The go-northers start organizing their plans, equipment and clothes about November 1. Son-in-law Bob Offer's schedule is no different.

While handling one of his hunting boots he noticed a difference. Was it the weight? The rattle? Ah, it was the antique horse and sulky.

A call was made quickly to Hazel. You talk about a personality change! When she realized her grandson, Danny, had put the toy in his father's shoe everything was okay. It was more than okay. It was funny. It was clever. It was imaginative. It was refreshing, encouraging, and huggable.

Danny wasn't talking then, so it did no good to ask him what he did with the jockey. He's talking now, but if he told us where he put the little man we'd have to guess what he said.

It matters little. Hazel's quite sure her grandson put the driver in another of his father's shoes, and she's just waiting for the right season for him to find it.

And, as long as Danny Do-Right did it, there is no loss at all.

Too easy on drunks

I have been an Independence Township resident for over two years and my family is pleased with all the features of this wonderful community - except one - the Pine Knob Music Theatre.

On countless summer nights, I have listened from my living room as the concert-goers exit to a cacophony of screeching tires and all too often crunching metal along the Clarkston Road curves between Clintonville and Eston roads.

On Saturday, June 11, as I drove west on Clarkston Road on my way to pick up my daughter from work, another of the Pine Knob "Partiers" decided he wanted to play leap frog around the usual line of crawling traffic.

His last attempt planted his auto into the front end of my vehicle.

I am sitting here now in the obvious discomfort of my injuries. Were it not for my seat belt, today would probably be my funeral.

My pain has turned to disgust for the three 17-year-old "drinkers" who felt a concert, a few drinks and a long drive back to their Rochester Hills home was a great way to "Party Hearty!"

I have lost the use of the vehicle I earn my living in and common household tasks must be deferred to someone else at my own expense.

My disgust turns to rage when I think of the apparent callous attitude the Pine Knob management has with regard to drunks leaving their facility. The Sheriff's Log in today (June 16) in your paper lists 31 teens cited for possessing alcohol, yet all of these people were permitted to leave the concert without being detained.

When will the people of this community open their eyes to the senseless carnage and property damage inflicted upon us?

When will we cry, "Enough !!!," and force Pine Knob to crack down on all the drunk drivers they spawn each summer or discontinue the presence of any alcohol on their grounds, for sale or consumption?

I am more than disappointed in the sheriff deputy's response. The obviously impaired 17-year-old, after failing all of the usual psycho-physical tests given a potential drunk driver was not given a Breathalyzer test or even asked if he would submit to one.

He was simply cited for wreckless driving and driven to a telephone by the deputy. I guess the inconvenience of hauling a drunk driver down to the station was just too mundane an activity, since it happens so often as a result of Pine Knob concerts.

After all, I was not maimed or killed, just an overnight stay at the hospital, no big deal!

We will never control drunk driving until law enforcement is carried out to its fullest extent and all drunk drivers are prosecuted!

Send lists of five

As community development vice president of the Clarkston Jaycees, I am interested in residents' thoughts regarding our community.

I would appreciate it if community members would mail their responses to the following question: "In your opinion, what are the five most important things that should be done to make our community better?"

As Clarkston Jaycees, we would like to be more involved in our community. All responses would be greatly appreciated.

A wonderful party

The second annual post graduation party for CHS seniors was a huge success. Over 350 young men and women attended the party from 10 p.m. to 5 a.m. at Deer Lake Racquet Club.

It is impossible to thank all those who contributed to the success of the evening, but certainly the co-chairs Sandy Nelson and Sue Rogers deserve major praise for their work in orchestrating the activity from January through the magic night of June 15.

They and their committee chairs gave a tremendous amount of time to "Go for the Gold and Beyond," the theme of this year's party.

The community of Clarkston, and most especially the churches, service groups and businesses were simply fantastic in their support of the activity. Over $7,000 and close to 200 door prizes were contributed by these groups.

The post-graduation celebration was more than a party. It was the finest farewell a community could give to its young adults as they leave us and begin a new life.

They are truly "Blue Ribbon Kids" but of equal importance Clarkston is a "Blue Ribbon Community." You again proved that fact. We thank you.

The Morning After

By Bruce A. Stewart

Alcohol served a purpose
And the purpose fit the occasion.
Seems to me it clung to a reason of persuasion.
Never the same and always to blame.
Can't think of a good one.
Just junk on the vein with a label of the same.
Washed with water or split with rocks.
Primed for passion then knocked by its stock.
Wonder why I go back.
Shouldn't be that way.
Feeling so good it works its way.
Crawling into feelings and love.
Working its way to Saturday and misfortune.
Looking at her with terror inside.
Blocking the truth with sheer suicide.
Draw the line somewhere and soon forget.
The bottle speaks louder and the pain you regret.
Juiced on abuse I take a number.
Wait for my turn to kiss the glass.
Another night, another morning and another class.

Tonight ...

By Tom Erickson

Tonight; the lakes turned into mirrors,
Rivers; became the chromium excess
Of the early evening sky.
Looking down but seeing up ...
You let the dew run down your cheek,
Letting my emotions in, for just a peek.
And you touched; as you've never touched
Before.
We became, just for a fleeting instant;
Invisible before the stars.
Sucking the breast of love as young babes,
Sucking the sweet milk of love until;
Love ran dry.
And left us here.
A Man,
And you, A Woman ...
Naked to each other's mind,
Seeing everything there was to find.
The soft breeze that wakes the trees ...
Kissed.
Turning mirrors back into lakes,
Before the first business eye could Partake.
I had a secret,
I LOVE YOU!
Standing on the corner, catching the bus ...
Never to see;
You, again ...
Never to be
The two of us,
Never for you to know.
The happiness,
Of the early morning dew,
And the complete thought
Of TWO.

To bay or not to bay, that's the question

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A split vote forced the village council to table a proposal from the Michigan Department of Transportation to construct a $6,000 two-spot parking bay on Main Street.

When the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) installs the traffic signal at the intersection of Waldon Road and Main Street in Clarkston later this

Jet skis bother Middle Lake folks

Plans are under way to adopt an ordinance that would ban noisy jet skis from Middle Lake.

Through a letter written by attorney Larry Barnett, several Middle Lake residents complained to the village council recently about their lake problems. They requested an ordinance similar to the one at nearby Parke Lake, which allows only no-wake boat motors, be drafted for their body of water.

Since Middle Lake lies partly in the village and partly in the township, the council and the township board must send a resolution stating they are in favor of an ordinance to the state Department of Natural Resources, said village Trustee Frank Millard.

Then a public hearing must be conducted and if it turns out favorably, an ordinance banning jet skis can be written immediately afterward.

The village council voted 6-0 to adopt the resolution stating they are in favor of a Middle Lake ordinance. Millard said he would send a copy to the township office so the board could act on the matter, then forward it to the DNR.

year, several on-street parking spaces will be removed to provide room for a left-hand turn lane.

Dr. Gary Ushman, whose Main Street dental office would no longer have on-street parking in front, was opposed to the plan and asked the village council to seek an alternative to losing the spots.

Council President Sharron Catallo met with MDOT officials on several occasions in an attempt to work out a solution. She said MDOT was concerned about safety and wouldn't allow the on-street parking close to the intersection to remain.

Finally, an MDOT engineer devised a plan that would return two of the four lost parking spaces by gouging out the curb area in front of Ushman's office and building a parking bay.

MDOT said it would gladly do the extra work constructing the bay, but the village would have to swallow the $6,000 price tag.

Some village officials balked at paying for the parking bay.

"I think that it's absurd to pay $6,000 for two parking spots," said Trustee Douglas Roeser. "They (MDOT) were asked to just retain those two spaces."

Frank Millard was puzzled over where the proposal came from.

"I never recall talking about building this," he said. "We never discussed this."

After a motion was made to reject the proposal, three village council members (Millard, Basinger, Schultz) voted "yes" and three (Eric Haven, Roeser and Catallo) said "no."

NOTICE

Because of the construction at the Oxford Bank's main office, the main office lobby will remain open until 6 p.m. on Thursday, June 30th.

All offices will be open regular hours on Friday and Saturday, July 1st and 2nd., and will be CLOSED, Monday July 4th.

Trustee Gary Symons, the other voting member of the village council, was not at the meeting to break the tie.

Those who voted against the proposal asked Catallo if there was any other way to save the parking spaces. Discussion included that the village shouldn't have to pay for the bay if they opt for it.

"What concerns me is that it's a state highway," he said. "If they displace the parking, then they should pay to restore it."

Before casting her vote in favor of the parking bay, Catallo was upset others on the council were in disagreement.

"I sat through all those meetings (with MDOT) and you all knew about it," she said. "We literally begged them to do something. So I am voting 'no!'"

The issue was tabled by a 6-0 vote until the next regular meeting on July 11 to allow all seven members to make the decision.

Deer Lake Beach-goers have no worries — yet

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Deer Lake Beach has no lease, but beach-goers will have no worries this summer. Independence Township officials say, however, they will not operate the beach next season without one.

Energy saving tips

Keeping energy costs down while staying comfortable during hot summer months doesn't have to be an impossible dream. The following tips were provided by Consumers Power Co.

- Run major appliances such as dishwashers and clothes dryers at night or early in the morning, when temperatures are cooler, to take advantage of natural ventilation.

- Keep direct sunlight out by closing drapes, drawing blinds or using awnings. This will keep inside temperatures lower and let your air conditioner run less.

- Lowering the temperature setting on an electric hot water heater cuts back one of the biggest household electricity users.

- For rooms with window-mounted air conditioners, close off furnace registers to prevent cool air from escaping into the basement.

- Close off rooms not in use during the day, such as bedrooms.

- Utilize an attic fan during the night to draw hot air from the house, thereby creating a breeze effect while you sleep.

At its June 21 meeting, the township board discussed the beach lease with village council president Sharron Catalo. The village owns the beach site.

Council members did not want a renewal of the last five-year contract, said Catalo, adding the village did not want to take over beach operations.

The township has been running the beach for 15 years or more and should continue, but village residents might want a say in the operations and a July public hearing will provide the opportunity, she said.

"After that many years, we only thought it was fair to hear from the public," she said. "As far as we know, there is no problem. ... We just thought it was time to do it. We didn't think it would kick up this much dust. ... We were trying to do the right thing. ... I think much more has been made of this than necessary."

Without a lease, said township attorney Gerald Fisher, the township could be asked to leave the beach at any time. Also, the township should not spend money on long-term improvements without a contract because there would be no guarantee of reimbursement for beach improvements.

Trustee Daniel Travis noted that the original contract between the village and township was to placate township and village residents. The township would have the benefit of using the beach and the village would have the benefit of township recreation programs at the beach.

Catalo also said township employees should stop telling beach pass buyers that their beach privileges are in jeopardy because the village won't agree to a contract.

"I find (it) a little disgusting, to be honest with you," she said. "It just doesn't sound very neighborly."

Supervisor Frank Ronk said he didn't know if employees were telling customers about the contract negotiations, but he said lake users should be aware.

"We've got to cover ourselves," he said. "If we get in a big harangue with the village, we may have to close the beach down. ... I'd like to solve this thing with as little conflict as possible."

Township board members voted 6-0 to operate the beach without a lease, to make no major improvements and to cease operating the beach if a lease is not signed before the 1989 season.

Curriculum director takes post in Howell

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Fresh from a millage victory in the Clarkston school district, Director of Curriculum Alberta Ellis will take on a new challenge.

Ellis is leaving Clarkston schools to become the new assistant superintendent in the Howell school district in Livingston County.

Her new position became official Monday evening, June 27, at the Howell school board meeting. Tuesday was her last official day with Clarkston school district. She will use vacation time in July, and begin her new job in Howell on Aug. 1.

"I'm pleased that I'm going out at a time when Clarkston is on its way up," Ellis said. "To me, that's important. The spirit and mood is real positive in Clarkston."

Ellis played a key role in the recent school election, when voters approved a 5.5 operational millage increase for Clarkston schools. Had the millage failed, Ellis's administrative position would have been one of four cut due to budget reductions.

"Being aware that I might have been re-assigned, I had to be looking for new opportunities," Ellis said. "The timing was ironic. My second interview for the position was the day after the election."

"At that time, I had to weigh the two options," she said. "This seemed to be a good career move."

The new job will be an expanded version of her current position, Ellis said. As assistant superintendent, she will have responsibilities beyond curriculum.

Howell also has a new superintendent, Bill Manuel, who was part of the committee who chose Ellis for the assistant superintendent position. The last superintendent retired, and the assistant took a new position with Brighton schools.

Ellis's new contract requires her to live in the Howell school district, so she and her husband, Jack, a pilot out of Oakland-Pontiac Airport, will be leaving their Independence Township home. Their only daughter, Katie, lives in East Lansing where she is a junior at Michigan State University.

Originally from Ohio, Ellis received her bachelor's degree in education from Youngstown State University. She received her master's degree in business and distributive education from MSU, earned an EDS (educational specialist) from the University of Michigan, and is in the process of completing her dissertation for her Ph.D. from MSU in curriculum instruction and administration.

She was a secondary teacher on an administrative internship in Walled Lake schools when she was hired 1 1/2 years ago to come to Clarkston. She served as assistant principal of the Northwest Oakland Vocational ALBERTA ELLIS works at her desk in the Clarkston school district administration building during her last days as director of curriculum. She begins a new career as assistant superintendent of Howell schools in Livingston County on Aug. 1.

Education Center for seven and one-half years before being named director of curriculum, the position she held for the last four years.

"I am leaving with mixed feelings," Ellis said.

"I'm pleased that I'm going out at a time when Clarkston is on its way up. To me, that's important. The spirit and mood is real positive in Clarkston."

Alberta Ellis

"Everything is looking up for the schools. I think we're pulling together here. So in one sense, I feel good leaving while things are on an upward trend."

Part of her job as director of curriculum in Clarkston was to update the school curriculum to meet future needs.

"We looked down the road at the skills kids would need in the year 2000-plus," she said. "Just look at what technology is doing today. We need to implement things into the curriculum (to keep up with it) and we need all the elements of staff development that go with it."

She added that curriculum development process enabled a lot of teachers to get involved in leadership roles and enabled the staff to learn more about how changes evolve in the schools.

Ellis said, "It's time for a change. I've been here 11 1/2 years. You always look at the experiences you've gained and what you have to offer (at a new school). You recognize that each district is unique."

Her first new challenge, she said, will be looking at the Howell curriculum. And since Howell is also an in-formula school, she may face another challenge in a year or two - another millage election, this time in Howell instead of Clarkston.

Flag etiquette, just in time for July 4

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Even before its independence, the United States used its own flag to represent America. But it was in 1777, after the Declaration of Independence, that the Continental Congress decided the flag of the U.S. should be 13 stripes of alternating red and white with 13 white stars on a blue field in the upper left corner.

Called the Stars and Stripes, the Star Spangled Banner and Old Glory over the years, the U.S. flag has transformed into the 50-star version we salute today.

Every U.S. citizen should know how to properly display and salute the U.S. flag:

- The U.S. flag is usually displayed outdoors only in good weather between sunrise and sunset. It may be flown at night on special occasions, such as parades, but should then be spotlighted.

- In a parade, salute the flag at the moment it passes. Put your hand over your heart or, if in uniform, give the military salute. Men should remove their hats.

- In a parade, when the flag is carried with other flags, it should always be on the marching right. If there are many other flags, carry the flag alone in front and in center of the line.

- Use red, white and blue bunting for patriotic decorations, never the flag.

- On a car or float, hang the flag free. It can be tied to the antenna or on a staff clamped firmly to the vehicle, but never draped.

- When the flag is displayed with grouped staffs, place the U.S. flag at the center and highest point. With crossed staffs, put the flag on its own right, with its staff on top.

- Behind a speaker, hang the flag flat against the wall. On a platform or in a church, put the flag in a stand to the right of the speaker. Any other flags should be on the left. Off a platform, the flag should be in position of honor to right of audience or congregation.

- From a building, hang the flag on a staff or on a rope over the sidewalk, with its canton away from the building.

- Over the street, hang the flag with its canton to the east on a north-south street or to the north on an east-west street.

- On the same halyard, hang the flag above other flags or pennants. Never hang one national flag above another in time of peace. The only flag which flies higher than the U.S. flag in this country is the United Nations flag at New York City headquarters (or church pennants when naval chaplains conduct services at sea).

- Hang the flags of several nations on equal staffs, with the U.S. flag on its own at right. Only at the U.N. is there an exception - flags are flown alphabetically in order of the countries' names in English.

- Never hang the flag upside down unless you mean it as a signal of some serious emergency. It is a recognized distress signal.

Patriotic project

Four new flags are flying in Independence Township, thanks to the Clarkston Rotary Club.

Rotary President John Priebe said the local service project was his choice this year, and something he had in mind for a long time.

New 35-foot flagpoles, at a total cost of $5,500, were installed at Lakeview Cemetery, Deer Lake Beach, Independence Township Library and at Clintonwood Park.

The project was begun in May and finished in June. The poles were professionally installed in concrete, Priebe said.

Funds were raised for the project last fall with a Rotary car raffle.

Post-parade society gathering

They own antique or collectible cars, they live in the Clarkston area, and they enjoy getting together.

That was the impetus for creating the "Clarkston Touring and Chowder Society," a group of 15 area residents who like to "tour, eat and drink," according to Jon Abbott, one of the founders of the group.

The Clarkston Touring and Chowder Society, which had its first meeting in February, will debut on its first "tour" in the Clarkston July 4 parade.

Following the parade, members of the Touring and Chowder Society will display their cars in Depot Park for people to admire. They have invited anyone with a special car to join them.

"I don't know if I robbed (the name) or made it up," Abbott says of the Clarkston Touring and Chowder Society. "It's just a 'tongue in cheek' kind of club. All 15 members are on the board."

The club wants to stay small, and has an annual "dues" of 50 cents a year to keep the membership "elite." They plan a few Sunday tours, maybe a longer tour this fall.

Abbott owns a 1956 Rolls Royce, among other vehicles. There is another Rolls Royce, plus Ferraris and other exotic cars owned by the society's membership.

"Basically, we're just a gang of car buffs in Clarkston who like to get together a few times a year to kick tires and drink beer," Abbott says.

Parade facts

This year's July 4 parade honors all volunteers who give of their time with a theme of "Volunteers of America."

The parade, sponsored by the firefighters of Independence Township, begins lining up at 8:45 a.m. in the parking lot of Clarkston Junior High, Waldon Road, and gets under way at 10 a.m.

The parade will travel west on Church Street to Main and north through downtown to Miller Road, where it will end.

Before the parade, a pancake breakfast will be served at the Clarkston Masonic Temple beginning at 7 a.m. Sausage, scrambled eggs, orange juice and coffee are also on the menu. The building is on the corner of Main and Washington streets in downtown Clarkston.

A NEW FLAGPOLE installed by Clarkston Rotary at Lakeview Cemetery has been newly landscaped with brick walkway, benches and flower-filled pots.

Avid golfers win trophies

Two Independence youths place first, second at Oakland County tourney

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Corey Bildstein's secret of success on the golf course is simple: Bring along a friend.

For three years the 11-year-old Independence Township resident entered the annual Oakland County Junior Invitational as a solo act - and never captured a trophy.

For this year's tournament, co-hosted by Springfield Oaks and White Lake Oaks on June 23-24, the Clarkston Junior High student encouraged a friend, Jayson Buchmann, to enter the event.

The change of pace worked wonders as Corey finished second and Jayson, of Dixie Highway, Independence Township, won the 11-and-under division by a whopping eight strokes.

To win the 14th annual tournament, golfers must complete nine holes at each course (Springfield and White Lake) with the lowest score. About 140 people from all over Oakland County participated. Of those, 25 were in the same age division as the Clarkston kids.

Jayson, who has been playing golf for three years, shot a 44 at Springfield and a 40 at White Lake.

His pal, Corey, a six-year golfer, finished with a 45 and a 47 at the two courses. He beat out the third-place golfer by a single stroke.

Although both just shrugged their shoulders and grinned when asked why they liked the sport, it's obvious they are dedicated.

"They play at Spring Lake every day," said Bill Bildstein, Corey's father.

RAY HEATON of the Little Caesars softball team belts another hit to drive in a run, helping his club to its eighth victory in as many games this season.

Softball season in gear for athletes of all ages

Men behind, 2-1

Sid Vaidya of Utica became the first male of the season to hit a hole-in-one at Pine Knob Golf Course, Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

He used a 5-iron to blast the ball 165 yards into hole three on Monday, June 27.

Vaidya had golfed for about five years but had never hit an ace before, he told Kate Stevens in the Pro Shop. He was golfing with three friends at the time.

Hetherington bags no-hitter

For a former Clarkston Junior High School student, the beat goes on. Chad Hetherington was the top pitcher for the ninth-grade baseball team at CJH this spring and picked up Most Valuable Player honors for his outstanding play. He continued his remarkable success on the mound while pitching for the Independence Parks and Recreation Pony League team Ozzie Jackson last week by tossing a no-hitter during a 12-1 win over Nu-Day Construction. Hetherington fanned seven batters and only walked a couple of batters en route to victory. His team is now 2-0 on the year and in first place.

Women lead, 2-0

The second hole-in-one of the season was shot Tuesday, June 21, at Pine Knob Golf Course. Anita Utley of Warren used a 3-wood on the 15th hole to score the first hole-in-one in her five-year career. The ball traveled 121 yards. Kate Stevens, who reported the achievement from the Pro Shop at the golf course, was happy for Utley. "I'm pretty thrilled because we've had two ladies, and we haven't had a man yet," Stevens said.

Time out Something to celebrate

Peter Auchter

While people all across America are celebrating their freedom on Independence Day with loud, obnoxious behavior, a small group of dedicated guys will take the field looking to conquer the best the free world has to offer.

No guns, cannons or nuclear weapons will be used. Just the good-old American staples: bats, gloves and plenty of balls.

Not one, but two senior citizen softball teams from Clarkston will pack up their gear and head off to battle other clubs from across the country and Canada for the World Series championship.

The hometown guys were out on the practice field at Clintonwood Park on Monday morning sharpening their skills. All sound eager and ready for the challenge the World Series presents.

Both teams are entered in the 60-and-over bracket and should be competitive. They play the games in Clinton Township, but the drive should be well worth it if you're into slo-pitch softball.

Manager John Thomas, who also doubles as a player on the "A" squad, said the Clarkston team has been together for eight years and has gradually matured into a contender.

Last season, this group finished third in the World Series in their first attempt at the championship. Only teams comprised of all-stars (taking the best players from an entire league and entering them as one team) could top the Clarkston Merchants.

Eight years ago, this team began as a co-recreation group. Today, it has metamorphosed into a top-notch senior softball team.

The "A" team had finished first or second in its league six straight seasons before getting off to a rough start this summer. The "B" team currently is off and running away from the pack in its league.

With a tradition like that, it's only fitting they are headed off to the World Series of softball.

Here's hoping they have a ball at the games and maybe even capture a trophy - if not the whole ball of wax.

Bicycle safety pointers can help young riders

School is over and youngsters are out in force. It seems like a good time to remind them of a few bicycling safety tips put out by the Michigan Department of State:

When driving your bike, sit on the attached seat. Always keep both hands on the handlebars unless signaling.

Give hand signals to warn other drivers when you plan to turn or stop. Drive defensively and scan the area before making your turn.

Slow down or stop at all crossroads, side streets and driveways. Make sure there is no traffic before crossing. When you cross a busy street, get off your bike and walk it.

Drive on the right side of the street, a safe, reasonable distance from curb or shoulder. Travel in the same direction as the cars.

Even though you have a legal right to share the road, always be alert for motorists who refuse to yield. Automobile drivers are often so busy watching out for other things, they don't see your bike.

Don't weave in and out of traffic. Drive in a straight line, and don't get between lines of traffic, not even to pass slow moving cars.

Where it is legal, smaller youngsters and beginning bicyclists should drive on the sidewalks. Always give pedestrians the "right-of-way." When coming close to pedestrians, you must signal with your voice or your bike's horn or bell.

Don't show off. If you want to fool around on your bike, get away from traffic, including people on foot. Find an area where you won't bother others, and don't try stunts that could hurt you, other people or property.

Carry only the number of persons designed for the bike. Only a tandem bike - a "bicycle built for two" - may legally carry more than one person.

Carry packages in a basket or carrier and never let them be in your way.

Hitching a tow by holding on to a moving vehicle is illegal and very dangerous.

Bicycles are NEVER allowed on freeways. Whenever there are usable bike paths, you are required to use them instead of the street.

If you have to drive after sunset, your bike must have a strong light on the front and good reflector on the back.

Wear light-colored clothes and stay away from busy streets.

Bad weather makes driving more dangerous for bicyclists and other drivers. Ride more slowly and wear bright clothing for extra visibility under such conditions.

Don't enter traffic from between parked cars. Ride three to four feet from parked cars you are passing to prevent the possibility of a car door being opened on you.

Some dogs chase bikes. They may get in your way and they may snap at your legs as well as at your wheels. Keep your bike between you and the dog.

Sewer gratings or manhole covers can throw you out of control or flip you over. Beware of them.

Cross railroad tracks at a right angle, or walk your bike across.

WITH A SILVER SHOVEL in hand, the Rev. Michael Klafehn of St. Trinity Lutheran Church on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, reads a prayer to the congregation before breaking ground Sunday morning for an addition to be built this summer. The 8,000-square-foot building will house classrooms, offices, an expansion of the kitchen and a fellowship hall. The project should take six months to complete. Church member Roy Seelbinder is construction manager. (Photo by Peter Auchter)

Sheriff's Log

Wednesday, June 22, a misprogramed computer was caught making harassing telephone calls. A Waterford Road, Independence Township, resident said she received phone calls 11 minutes apart, but when she answered, there were no voices or breathing. The phone company checked the origin of calls and traced them to Ford Motor Co., Dearborn, which had a computer that was misprogramed and was making the calls.

Wednesday, a beacon light on a 200-foot-high radio tower was shot three times with what is believed to be a high-powered rifle. The tower off Ascension Road, Independence Township, is owned by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Wednesday, a Chestnut Hill, Independence Township, resident was driving northbound on Dixie Highway near Waterford Road, when someone in a passing vehicle threw a bottle at his vehicle, causing $100 damage.

Wednesday, four Independence Township teens were given tickets for loitering at Quik Pik, M-15, Independence Township.

Thursday, a bottle was thrown through a vehicle window on Chickadee, Independence Township.

Thursday, a Perry Lake Road, Independence Township, resident reported a prowler in his bushes. Police investigated but didn't find the teen. Neighbors told the police the boy was hiding to get up nerve to visit a girl in the neighborhood.

Friday, a purse stolen from Burger King, Dixie Highway, Independence Township, was found in the alley behind Ritter's Farm Market, next to the restaurant. Credit cards were missing.

Friday, an outdoor chair worth $90 was stolen from the front porch of a residence on Mockingbird, Independence Township.

Friday, a 29-year-old Pontiac man appeared before Judge Gerald McNally at the 52nd District Court after he was caught driving with a revoked license. After his hearing, the man drove away in a car - even though his license is revoked until 1996. Deputies saw him and gave chase when he wouldn't stop. The suspect abandoned his car and fled on foot to New Life Weight Loss Clinic, M-

15, Independence Township, where police apprehended him.

Friday, 25 teens were given tickets for possession of alcohol at Pine Knob Music Theatre, Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

Friday, four minors were caught with suspected marijuana and open beer in a vehicle behind Quik Pik, M-15, Independence Township. The driver was arrested, and the others were released to their parents.

Saturday, $60 cash was stolen from a wallet inside an unlocked vehicle at Marco's Pizza, M-15, Independence Township.

Saturday, a black, wrought iron table and chair worth $300 were stolen from a porch in front of a residence on Indianwood, Independence Township.

Sunday, after a wedding at the First Baptist Church of Clarkston on Paramus Drive, Independence Township, thieves apparently entered an unlocked window and stole a U.S. flag, two $250 tape players, a $107 amplifier, a $1,200 mixer, a $150 equalizer, a $450 power amplifier, 25 cassette tapes worth $50, two fire extinguishers and a wall clock.

Sunday, two Southfield motorcyclists received tickets for trespassing in a field off Greenview, Independence Township.

The above information was compiled from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Fall from golf cart fatal

A Howell man died June 21 following an accident at Springfield Oaks Golf Course on Andersonville Road, Springfield Township.

Robert Weiss, 54, was riding with three people in a golf cart, heading to the parking lot around 6:20 p.m. June 19. When the cart turned a corner, Weiss fell out and apparently hit his head, said Lt. Bruce Nail, of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

He died around 7 p.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, two days after the accident.

Fireworks on hold

If there's waterworks between now and July 4, there may be fireworks.

That's the word from Independence Township Fire Chief Gar Wilson.

"I'm not sure what we'll do until the last minute," he said. "If we get a substantial amount of rain, we might go ahead with the fireworks (with a brush fire truck standing by). But if not, due the fire danger, there's a good possibility we'll cancel it."

Wilson said he had talked to the Pine Knob Music Theatre management, and they agreed either way.

So, if you're a fireworks fan and the week is dry, you'll probably be disappointed. But if it rains a lot this week, watch the sky over Pine Knob Music Theatre, Sashabaw Road, on July 4 about 10:30 or 11 p.m. The fireworks display would follow the Heart concert at the Independence Township outdoor music theater.

Beautiful noise

Sparks will fly July 3 during fireworks displays at Addison Oaks and Groveland Oaks county parks.

Addison Oaks, an Oakland County park, is on West Romeo Road, nine miles north of Rochester near Oxford. Groveland Oaks County Park is on Dixie Highway and Grange Hall Road, near Holly.

A park entry fee of $4 per vehicle for Oakland County residents ($6 for non-residents) will be charged. Picnicking, fishing, boating and hiking trails are available at both parks. The fireworks are planned at dusk.

For more information, contact Addison Oaks at 693-2432 or Groveland Oaks at 634-9811.

Concerts begin Friday

The first of five concerts in the park is scheduled for Friday, July 1.

The concerts, which are free and open to the public, begin at 7 p.m. in Clarkston's Depot Park.

Music for the first program will be performed by the Emil Sutt Band. The second concert, July 8, will be performed by Len Heller and the Shadows.

This year, for the first time, the concerts are sponsored by the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce. Different area organizations are "hosting" the concerts, which are planned each Friday at 7 p.m. during July.

Each host group will help with the programs and the selling of refreshments, which help pay for the concerts, said Joan Kopietz of Tierra Inc. and organizer of the Concerts in the Park series.

Clarkston Rotary will be helping with the opening concert.

family. The weapon, a .20 gauge shotgun, which police think Brandon found in a closet at home, was found in the shallow end of a pond at the back of the Carnell property.

Brandon's mother, Carol, 36, and his sister, Candace, were pronounced dead at the scene after they were found in the kitchen. Apparently, Carol had been shot in the back while she stood over the sink, and Candace was also shot in the back.

Michael Carnell, who had been shot twice - the first time as he walked from his car to the house after returning from a computer class at Oakland Community College and the second time in the kitchen - was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, where he was pronounced dead the same night. Police believe he was shot about five minutes after his wife and daughter were killed.

Police wouldn't reveal most of Brandon's statements to investigators, but said Brandon "felt that he was being picked on by other family members," said Nail.

OCSO Detective Sgt. Anthony Velat, in charge of Springfield Township, said Brandon complained about harsh discipline, but did not mention any physical abuse.

Sewers are topic of 3 public hearings

Paying for three sewers is the topic of three public hearings planned for a special Independence Township Board meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 12.

The about $400,000 Spring Lake Sewer, to travel along Waterford Road from Dixie Highway to Spring Lake, is to be paid for by Shouybib Investment Co., which needs the sewer before it can develop two 35-acre parcels on Maybee Road, west of Spring Lake. Condominiums or apartments are planned for the property.

Another sanitary sewer is proposed for Sashabaw Road from McDonald's Restaurant to Waldon Road.

The estimated $355,000 cost is to be paid for by benefiting property owners along Sashabaw Road.

Along Northview Drive, a sanitary sewer is proposed to accompany a proposed water system that is to be extended from Perry Lake Road, north of I-75. The water connection is to be paid for by the Federally funded Super Fund because 19 wells along Northview are contaminated with toxic substances.

The sewer, estimated to cost $190,000, is to be paid for by Northview Drive residents.

For more information, call the township hall at 625-5111.

Smiles, care and concern and weight loss too, that's what New Life Weight Control Centre means to me. I had gone through other weight control programs but I didn't like the group atmosphere. I knew I needed a more personalized situation. I needed 1 on 1. I not only had a weight problem but a heart problem. My doctor was recommending I lose weight to improve my health. I tried to lose weight by myself and became heavier and more depressed, so through a suggestion of a friend, who was in the program and losing weight I called New Life Weight Control Centre.

I first explained my health problem to Mary and she immediately contacted my doctor for his approval. He was all for it. We were watching my health as well as my weight.

Mary and Jane are always there when I need them. They helped me through the hardest time of my life, they helped me lose weight and help me feel better about myself. By learning to eat properly I've not only lost the weight and am able to keep it off, but my energy level has increased and I FEEL GREAT, not only physically but mentally.

I wish everyone could come here and share Mary's and Jane's kindness, support and help. I hope to keep their friendship forever. Remember you are what you eat.

The beginning: an office in the hall

Tim Doyle recalls his 17 years as township recreation director

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Seventeen years ago, Tim Doyle walked to the basement of the Independence Township hall and surveyed his new office - an empty hallway.

He soon set up an eight-foot folding table for a desk and brought in his own portable file holder. With a $30,000 budget (including $11,000 for his salary), Doyle was ready to begin as the first director of the township parks and recreation department, or as Doyle more accurately recalled - the recreation department. The township didn't own any parks.

Last week, Doyle resigned from his position, leaving about 330 acres of park land and water, a budget over $500,000 and a full-time staff of 10 plus 130 summer employees.

The move should be beneficial personally and professionally, he said, during an interview at Clintonwood Park on Clarkston Road, his favorite facility developed during his tenure.

For several months, he had been planning to return to Michigan State University, East Lansing, to begin work on a doctoral degree in the fall, but only his close friends and family members knew of his decision.

He decided to quit a little sooner for personal reasons that included spending time with his children: Tara, 19; Shane, 17; Ryan, 9; and John, 4.

"I can spend some real, quality time with my kids this summer and prepare myself for the fall," said the 43-year-old, adding he earned his master's degree from MSU six years ago.

Although he's looking forward to studying his field in depth, he said he's going to miss his old job.

"I've been fortunate to have some good people working with me. We've all gotten along well and have been able to help each other out. ... It's been a good atmosphere," he said, mentioning, in particular, his secretary, Pauline Esselink, who carried on his end of the job when he was out of the office.

He will also miss the park system and especially Clintonwood Park. As he talked, he looked around and described the former orchard that has slowly evolved into the hub of the township park system.

Beginning with only two softball fields, a multipurpose court and tennis courts, the park now boasts another softball field, two playgrounds, four sand volleyball courts, three soccer fields, four outdoor horseshoe courts, a senior center with transportation and programs, a one-mile fitness course, a park shelter and numerous picnic sites.

"I feel proud," he said. "(It's) a real tight attachment to all these things because they weren't here before."

For Doyle, the benefit of working in Independence Township rather than a larger community has been involvement in all levels of parks and recreation.

PRAISE FOR CLINTONWOOD PARK from parks and recreation professionals makes Tim Doyle realize his accomplishments Some cities have used the park and programs as models for playground equipment or fitness trails or baseball and softball leagues.

"I've really enjoyed being able to get out here with a shovel with my guys and work with them and sweat with them," he said.

He recalled some of the landmarks during his 17 years - the first vehicle (now there are nine), the first employee and the first land purchase (Clintonwood).

Six supervisors have run the township in the past 17 years: Gary Stonerock, Robert Vandermark, J. Edwin Glennie, Floyd Tower, James Smith and, now, Frank Ronk.

"It's been interesting," Doyle said. "They have different management styles. ... Overall, our support has been good. You're always going to have one or two people who question what you're doing, ... but that's their job."

Doyle has been physically active since childhood and has continued the interest into adulthood. Fitness will be his general area of concentration when studying at MSU.

"The '80s have kind of been a fitness era in itself," he said. "A lot of it is faddish, ... but I was doing it long before it became a fad."

Further, fitness can be linked to recreation, which is important to the youth of today, especially since physical education isn't required in many schools, he said, citing nationwide study results from the President's Council on Fitness.

"The youth in America are in worse shape these last 10 years than the previous 10 years," he said. "That is amazing, with the fitness movement of the '80s."

He noted that television has negatively impacted the lifestyles of American children.

"Kids need to spend a little more time with the TV off and (need to) grab a magazine or a book or do something," he said. "Their mind's going to turn to putting if they don't get out and use their body."

Doyle's agenda this summer includes backpacking with his children, entering a few triathlons, traveling with Shane's rowing team, helping Shane's football team at Orchard Lake St. Mary's in strength training, and just being with his children.

He was happy about one other upcoming development. When he once again becomes a Spartan this fall, his daughter, Tara, will also be a student at MSU.

"We might run into each other on campus, and I'm sure will run into each other a lot on purpose," he said.

Fox named art director

William R. Fox has rejoined the staff of French & Rogers Inc. of Troy, an advertising agency, as art director. Fox will be responsible for the agency's art direction on all projects, coordinating the design of advertisements, brochures, literature and annual reports.

He was employed at the French & Rogers from 1981 to 1985 and, most recently, was employed for three years as senior art director at Alexander Marketing, Detroit. A 1974 graduate of Ferris State University in graphic design, Fox resides in the Clarkston area with his wife and daughter.

Clergyman leads group

A clergyman who resides in the Clarkston area was chosen recently as Program Commission Chairperson of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) Michigan Region.

The Rev. Donald Zumwalt, pastor of First Christian Church, Pontiac, and North Oakland Christian Church, is to coordinate programs in outdoor ministries, peace-seeking, leadership training and communications.

The Christian church is governed congregationally, but works in education and missionary services with other congregations.

Swoffer attends tax seminar

Shirley Swoffer, manager of the Clarkston office of H & R Block recently attended a training seminar in Flint.

A variety of tax and management topics are taught at the monthly seminars, held June through December, by H & R Block. The purpose is to provide better understanding and application of all the rules that came with the tax reform.

Baker marks 15th anniversary

Marilyn Baker was one of five employees honored in a banquet recently for their years of service to the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission.

The Clarkston area resident has worked for the parks commission for 15 years.

The commission is a nine-park system operating facilities and programs including two waterparks, campgrounds, a nature center, swimming, boating, fishing, tennis, activities centers and dozens of special events.

Olsen attends annual meeting

Robert A. Olsen was among 5,000 members of the Million Dollar Round Table gathering in Atlanta, Ga., June 19-23.

During the meeting, more than 100 speakers discussed subjects of concern to those in the life insurance and financial planning fields. An independent international association, the organization is comprised of 19,000 financial planners and life insurance sales force.

Olsen is a chartered financial planner and president of Oakley, Olsen and Associates Inc. of Clarkston.

Steamroller crash

An 18-year-old Warren woman was critically injured on her way to work Monday, June 27, when she ran into a steamroller on I-75.

Patricia R. Leibel was listed in critical condition Tuesday at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, said Deputy Mark Newman, accident investigator at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Around 7:47 a.m. Leibel was driving in the right northbound lane of I-75, just south of Clarkston Road, Independence Township, when she lost control of her 1979 Chrysler.

She crossed the left lane and dropped into the median, where she hit a 10-ton steamroller driven by Hugo Burman, 61, of Keego Harbor.

Independence firefighters had to cut Leibel out of the badly damaged vehicle, and traffic was tied up for close to three hours.

Burman received minor injuries and was treated and released from the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center.

Leibel was wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident, and alcohol was not a factor, Newman said.

The OCSO investigators are working toward discovering how Leibel lost control of her vehicle, he said, adding the construction zone did not cause the accident.

"For being under construction, (I-75 is) in good condition," he said, adding that all barrels, signs and pavement markings were in the proper places, and the speed limit was posted at 45 mph, he said.

Seat belts probably saved their lives

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Twelve-year-old Amanda Langefeld of Independence Township remembers covering her head as she felt the impact and glass flew all around her. Seven-year-old Brandon Langefeld went into shock and remembers nothing.

But their mother, Michelle, remembers everything about the terrible accident that completely totaled their new 1987 Pontiac Bonneville on Jan. 29. And she thinks about what could have happened if all three of them hadn't been wearing safety belts.

"Since the accident, it's automatic. They buckle up; there's no more playing games. They know what could happen."

Howard Langefeld

Five months later, Amanda and Brandon are taking part in a celebration of "survivors" during National Safety Belt Use Week (June 26 through July 2), along with children from every part of the country who survived a serious traffic accident because he or she was wearing a safety belt.

The entire family, including their father, Howard, will be traveling to Washington, D.C., to participate in events surrounding Safety Belt Week, their transportation and two nights lodging paid for by the American Coalition for Traffic Safety. Susan Akin, Miss America 1986 and a safety belt survivor, along with Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse will also attend the festivities.

"I've always wanted to take the kids to see Washington, D.C.," Michelle says. "It's too bad I had to almost kill them to get them there."

The family is eagerly looking forward to this positive outgrowth of the accident, but nobody in the family was smiling on Jan. 29.

Michelle had just left her mother's shop on Telegraph near Voorheis in Pontiac and was preparing to make a left turn onto Ruth street. Two lanes of traffic stopped for her. A vehicle in the third did not see her and hit her car broadside at 55 mph.

"It was one of those courtesy things," says Howard, "where people motion you to go on through. It happens all the time."

Amanda was in the back seat and Brandon was in the front. Amanda had just reached down to get something out of a shopping bag for Brandon, who was turned facing his sister.

The impact crushed Brandon's front passenger seat and trapped Amanda's leg in the back seat. Michelle's glasses were thrown from the car. All three were taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

When Howard arrived at the hospital, he says they didn't know the extent of the injuries. But fortunately, it turned out none of them were seriously injured. There weren't even any broken bones, just cuts and bruises and the emotional trauma that goes with serious accidents.

Michelle and Howard praise the hospital staff and say their solid, heavy car helped, but they know that without safety belts the situation could have been very different.

"One police officer told me if my son didn't have a seat belt on, he might not be here today," Howard said.

"After we hit, I saw my brother just laying there not moving," Amanda says. "I was really scared."

"It was really traumatic," Michelle adds. "Both of my kids were hurt, both were crying. Which do you go to first?"

Fortunately for the Langefeld family, safety belts were always used. Howard says they started when the children were babies, and when they were little, they would make a game of "buckling up."

Recently, they saw a news release about the safety belt celebration in Washington, D.C. They called, and were chosen as one of the families of "survivors" to represent this area in the festivities, most of which will

Crash victim, 4, has reason to dance

BY CAROLYN WALKER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Amy Licatovich, 4, buzzes, er, scoots around the house in her bumble bee costume as if she didn't have a care in the world.

In fact, Amy's world took a dramatic turn only six short months ago when she nearly lost her right arm in a devastating traffic accident, one in which she was lucky to escape with her life.

Amy and her mother, Nancy, were on their way Nov. 14 to the girl's dancing class on M-15 when their van was struck from behind by another vehicle and pushed into oncoming traffic.

The impact of the first car broke their seats and threw the two (Amy wore a seat belt, but her mother did not) backward into the rear of the van.

The second impact caved in the passenger side of their vehicle, severely tearing the girl's upper arm and adding to the facial injuries she sustained during the initial crash.

Nancy, who suffered a ruptured spleen, and Amy were both knocked unconscious.

take place June 29.

Also in conjunction with National Safety Belt Use Week, the family went to Bob-Lo Island on Monday where the children were given awards by Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin.

"Since the accident, it's automatic. They buckle up; there's no more playing games," Howard says. "They know what could happen."

Michelle adds, "Nobody rides in my car without safety belts."

Nancy credits the efficient work of Independence Township paramedics and firefighters with saving Amy's arm.

The rescuers spent 45 minutes removing the child from the van with a Hurst rescue tool, commonly called "the jaws of life," she says. And one paramedic even crawled under the blanket with Amy to comfort her during the process.

"She just kept saying, 'Get me out of here. Get me out of here,'" Nancy recalls.

Amy's father, Mark, who had been notified to meet the ambulance at the hospital in a half hour came instead to the scene of the accident, rationalizing that it must be bad if the paramedics were allowing that much time for departure.

"When I heard him say, 'It's OK, honey, daddy's here, I went out (unconscious),' " Nancy says.

She pauses for a moment to consider a certain irony. It was Mark, a former Lions Club member, who presented the Independence Township Fire Department with a check to buy its first Hurst tool in 1980.

"It's kind of ironic," she says, noting that such a

Pop quiz

David Kwasnick

Attention, Detroit sports buffs! I have a little quiz for you. Which one of the following doesn't belong: A) Detroit Red Wings, B) Detroit Tigers, C) Detroit Pistons, D) Detroit Lions.

Here's a hint - three are winners, one is a Vaudeville act. Still don't get it? OK, how about this - the (blank) of the Serengeti they're not.

If you haven't guessed "D) Detroit Lions" by now, you're either from out of state or have spent the last too many years beaver trapping in the Upper Peninsula. Either way, you're better off than most Lions fans.

Oh, Detroit Lions, when will you catch on? In case you haven't noticed (and I'm sure you have), Detroit has seen a resurgence in the sporting world.

Why, with the recent success of three of her four major sports teams, not to mention record-setting boxer Thomas Hearns (that is until some guy with a foreign country for a first name decided to knock his chin up to his ears) and playing host to America's lone Grand Prix, Detroit is truly deserving of the title "City of Champions."

So the question remains, when are the Lions going to become part of Detroit?

Yes, Motown football is indeed lacking, to put it mildly. It seems to be one endless trail of disappointments.

Why, between blue-chip players gone bust (Have you heard the Lion's definition of a franchise athlete? A football player who doesn't perform like Ronald McDonald.) to poor coaching (Darryl Rogers believes in testing for drugs; and those who test negative will be given some. Something has to work!) to problems at the front desk (If William Clay Ford was a car, he'd be an easy recall. Spontaneous combustion doesn't help things.), it's a wonder the Lions get as many fans in attendance as they do.

But more than unfair to the fans, the Lions' legacy of haplessness is unfair to the players themselves - those individuals who have the ability to play anywhere else in the league but are strapped with the fact that they must remain here.

Success breeds success and failure breeds failure. Let's hope the City of Champions can work a little of her magic this fall. After all, she does have room for one more jewel in her crown!

Friend to Friend Guidelines for parents

Summertime is party time, so parents of teens may find some guidelines helpful.

Summertime is also a busy time for the Friend to Friend panel, so they've provided articles that will be printed under their banner from time to time during summer vacation from school.

"Guidelines for Teenage Parties" was provided by Sis Wenger and Associates, a firm that specializes in alcohol and drug education.

There are many pressures on our youth leading to their use of alcohol and other harmful drugs.

In addition to a powerful need for peer-group acceptance, our youth is bombarded by television and other media messages that promote the use of chemicals to give pleasure and avoid pain.

Some parents further compound the problem by permitting underage children to drink in their homes, adding to the confusion about the acceptability of drinking.

When your teen is hosting a party ...

Sit down with your teen and discuss understandings, expectations and responsibilities.

Establish a guest list. Avoid "open house" parties. Decide what should be done if uninvited guests arrive.

Set a time limit, a definite start and ending time.

Agree to rules ahead of time, such as: no drugs, including alcohol; no smoking; no leaving the party and then returning; no uninvited guests; lights left on; some rooms of the house off limits.

Be alert to signs of alcohol or drug use. Decide how to handle a guest who attempts to bring alcohol or drugs or who is otherwise uncooperative.

Know your responsibilities as a parent. The responsible adult at a teenager's party is visible and aware. Remember, it is illegal to serve drugs, including alcohol, to minors. You are legal responsible for anything that may happen to a minor who has been served in your home.

If a guest arrives under the influence of alcohol or drugs, call the parent to ensure the guest's safe transportation home. Do not let a person drive while under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

Invite another couple or parent over. Other adults are company for you during a long evening and can be of help with chaperoning.

When your teen is attending a party ...

Call the host parent. Make sure that your basic ground rules, such as parental supervision and no alcohol/drugs, will be followed before you give your consent to attend a party. If your teenage complains that you don't trust him or her, explain that the issue is not one of trust, but rather an issue of parents agreeing on certain ground rules.

Check the party plans beforehand with your teen. Know where your child is going and with whom. When taking your teenager to a party, wait to see that he/she is inside the house. If you don't know the host parents, go to the door and introduce yourself. (This is easier when the children are not of driving age.)

Make it easy for your teenager to leave a party. If there is drinking or drug taking or any reason your teenager wishes to leave a party, make an arrangement that your child can call you, or a designated adult, and you will come. Urge your child not to stay if drinking and drugs are present. He/she can pretend to be ill to remove himself/herself from that situation. Also, urge your child never to ride home with a driver who has been drinking.

Be up to greet your teenage when he/she comes home from a party. This is not only a good time for sharing, but is a good time to observe the condition of your child upon returning from a party. Many parents make it easy for the child to come home under the influence of drugs/alcohol because the child knows the parent will not greet him/her.

If your teen is staying the night with a friend, check with the parents of the friend beforehand to verify that this is acceptable to them, they will be home, you both agree on curfew hours and alcohol/drugs or any other house rules.

Friend to Friend is provided by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under AWARE, a community organization devoted to action and education against substance abuse. Letters may be addressed in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Keeping picnic food safe to eat

With the summer season upon us, many people have begun to "think picnic." Unfortunately, along with summer outings comes an increase in the number of food-related illnesses. Exactly how are we to keep summer picnics safe?

"The best way to fight food poisoning is to keep perishable foods cold between preparation and serving," says Linda Exum, Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service home economist.

At warm temperatures, 40 degrees and over, food poisoning bacteria can begin to multiply and cause illness. At summer temperatures of 80 degrees and above, they multiply very quickly.

For a safe, worry-free picnic follow these simple guidelines:

Keep perishable foods, such as ham, lunch meats, hot dogs and salads, in the cooler. All mayonnaise-based salads should be kept on ice, but that doesn't mean that the mayonnaise is the food poisoning villain. Its high acid content actually slows bacterial growth. Homemade mayonnaise, however, if made without lemon juice or vinegar, can be risky.

Coolers should be well insulated and packed with either ice or a freeze-pack insert. When possible, they should be kept in the shade with lids on.

Try to pack only what you will use at the picnic, but if you follow certain precautions, you can safely use leftovers. Place perishable foods back in the cooler as soon as you finish eating. Don't leave them out while you go for a walk or a swim. When possible, put the chest in the passenger area of the car for the trip home; it's cooler than the trunk.

If you were gone no more than four or five hours and your perishables were kept on ice except when cooked and served, you should be able to save the leftovers.

This news release was provided by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service. For more information on food safety contact the foods hotline, 858-0904, Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

A Rose in London

Anne Rose, children's librarian at the Independence Township Library, is presently on a study tour in London, England.

"The tour will broaden the literary experiences on which Anne can draw and give her credit toward her second master's degree," said her husband, Herb.

She plans to meet and discuss works with British authors of juvenile books as well as perform on-site research into past British authors.

"Along with the professional growth and the academic achievement, however, we suspect and hope she will enjoy herself," Herb said.

Engagement

VANDERCOOK-BROWN: Susan M. Vandercook and David L. Brown, both Pontiac residents, plan a September wedding. The bride-elect, a graduate of Waterford Mott High School, is employed by Mr. G's in Independence Township. Her fiancé, a Clarkston High School graduate, is employed by Saturn.

At college

Laurie Haggitt has been elected president of the dormitory council at Central Michigan University's Cobb Hall.

Haggitt, a 1987 graduate of Clarkston High School, has also received a leadership scholarship from the university in Mt. Pleasant.

Her parents are Robert and Marilyn Haggitt of Andersonville Road, Springfield Township.

In service

Marine Pfc. Paul T. Stephens has been promoted to his present rank while serving at Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, 29 Palms, Calif.

A 1987 graduate of Clarkston High School, he joined the Marine Corps in September 1987. He is the son of Holly E. Stephens of Fowler Road, Independence Township.

Smart, Smiley exchange their vows

Jean Marie Smart and James P. Smiley were wed May 28 at the Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church in Independence Township.

The double-ring candlelight service was conducted at 3 p.m. by the Rev. Frank VanValin and the Rev. Ed McCallum.

The bride is the daughter of Clifford and Delores Smart of Independence Township. A 1983 graduate of Clarkston High School and 1988 graduate of Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, she is employed by Clarkston Community Schools as a Latchkey teacher.

Her husband's parents are Alton and Arlene Smiley of Marlette. A student at Central Michigan University, he plans to graduate in 1989.

The bride designed her gown and it was made by her mother. The bodice and skirt front were fashioned of heirloom French Chantilly lace, from her mother's wedding gown, over white satin. The cathedral-length train featured ruffles of chiffon cascading from the lowered waist in back to the train's full length.

The bride made her headpiece, a wreath of white satin roses and a waist-length illusion veil. She carried a spray of fresh white roses, gardenias, freesia and daisies.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Christina Smith of Orion Township. Bridesmaids were Kelly May of Clarkston; Lisa Paulson of Clarkston; Ann Smiley, the bridegroom's sister-in-law, of Phoenix, Ariz.; and Jeanette Smart, the bride's sister-in-law, of Bolingbrook, Ill. The bride's 8-year-old niece, Carissa Smart, served as junior bridesmaid.

They wore royal blue lace tunics over royal blue taffeta, waltz-length gowns and carried sprays of fresh white roses and daisies gathered together with white satin ribbon.

Best man was Dave Smiley, the bridegroom's brother, of Phoenix, Ariz. Groomsmen were Mike Smart, the bride's brother; Mike Smith, the bride's brother-in-law; Scott McDonald; and Jeff Boyne. Serving as junior groomsmen was Michael Smart, the bride's nephew.

The reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Maybee Road, Independence Township.

The newlyweds took their wedding trip to Fairfield Glade, Tenn. They will reside in Orion Township for the summer, then move to Mt. Pleasant.

Newlyweds: Jean Marie and James P. Smiley

Engagement

Brumbach-Arnold

Robert Brumbach of Independence Township and Judith McGregor of Pontiac announce the engagement of their daughter Kellie L. to Kevin A. Arnold, son of Bruce and Ruth Arnold of Elk Rapids.

The bride-to-be is a 1981 graduate of Clarkston High School and a 1985 graduate of the Flint Osteopathic Hospital Paramedic Program. She is employed as a paramedic by Medic One. Her fiancé is a 1977 graduate of Hillsdale College. He is employed as sales coordinator of Frontline, an ambulance manufacturer.

A July 23 wedding is planned.

Honors

Phyllis Truba of Independence Township has been awarded a Jesuit Scholarship to attend the University of Detroit in order to pursue a pre-communications degree at the Clarkston Campus.

She was graduated from Oakland Community College in June 1987.

Scott Ferrell, a 1985 graduate of Clarkston High School, has been selected as a 1988 member of the Outstanding College Students of America.

A student at Michigan State University, he is the son of James and Peggy Ferrell of Hubbard Road, Independence Township.

Daniel Travis recently returned from a two and one-half week European Concert Tour with the Miami Men's Glee Club.

A junior at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, he auditioned for the opportunity to participate in the tour through the countries of Austria, Germany, Switzerland, France and Liechtenstein.

Travis was graduated from Clarkston High School in 1986. His parents are Daniel and Betsy Travis of Perry Lake Road, Independence Township.

David Johnston, a Clarkston High School graduate, is a member of the Madrigal Singers, a choral group at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

The group consists of 14 to 18 singers, selected by audition, specializing in Renaissance music. They planned to perform in Ireland June 12-19 during a concert tour to celebrate the 1,000th anniversary of the founding of Dublin.

Johnston's parents are Wayne and Sheryl Johnston.

Jane B. Chika of Perry Lake Road, Independence Township, is on the dean's list for the 1988 winter term at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Three students with Clarkston connections are on the dean's list for the second semester of the 1987-88 school year at Hillsdale College, Hillsdale.

Jeffrey Billig, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Billig of Mustang Drive, Independence Township, is a graduate of Clarkston High School.

Jennifer Lyn Farough, a Clarkston High School graduate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Farough of Sun Lakes, Ariz.

John Stapleton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stapleton of Deerwood Drive, Independence Township, is a graduate of Parkway West High School, St. Louis, Mo.

The dean's list for the second semester 1987-88 at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, includes two Independence Township residents.

Elizabeth Pilarcik resides on Greene Haven Drive. Kristin Whisner resides on Fawn Valley Drive.

Grad

Karin Karlstrom is a recent master's degree graduate from Ball State University, Muncie, Ind.

After completing a master's thesis, Karlstrom graduated with a master of science degree in health science.

She also submitted a proposal for the United States Secretary's Award for Innovations in Health Promotion and Disease Prevention. The Secretary of Health and Human Services will publish the proposal and Karlstrom will receive a monetary award.

She is the daughter of Carl Gunnar and Maryann Karlstrom of Independence Township.

CHS grad on stage at Cedar Point

Visitors to Cedar Point, Ohio, might see a familiar face in a live show in Frontier Town.

Jon Territo, a 1981 Clarkston High School graduate and a 1987 University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, graduate, stars in "Surfin' Summertime" in Lusty Lil's Palace.

His mother, Bev Territo, of Reese Road, Independence Township, thought Clarkston area people might want to know in case they're planning a trip to the amusement park.

"All the shows at Cedar Point are well put together," she said. "They're all live." Jon is well-suited to this particular show, which

Responses wanted

Confirmations are only trickling in for the Clarkston High School Class of 1963 reunion, so Sheila (Goins) Hughes would like classmates to respond.

The class's 20th reunion was so much fun they had to ask people to go home so the restaurant could close, she said.

The 25th reunion is planned Aug. 20 at the Deer Lake Racquet Club in Independence Township and responses are needed by Aug. 1.

Members of the CHS classes of 1962 and 1964 are may also attend the party if they wish.

For more information, call Hughes at 625-6263 or Diane Jenks Phalen at 625-6263.

Living thermometers

You don't need a thermometer to figure out the temperature, reports International Wildlife magazine.

All you have to do is listen for the snowy tree cricket in late summer and early fall. Count the number of chirps in 15 seconds and add 39.

The total is the temperature in Fahrenheit.

requires his dance and vocal abilities, she said. "Jon is just having a ball. He's doing so well. The show is really cute. It's quick. It's colorful. It's just all fun."

Before starting his summer job, Jon worked as a substitute teacher in Clarkston, Brandon and Holly school districts, as well as other areas. Some of his students may want to stop in, too, said Bev.

On Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, Jon performs from noon to 3:45 p.m. in the 25-minute show. On Tuesday, Friday and Sunday, he performs from 4:30 to 8 p.m.

Pet of the Week

WE ARE BURMESE if you please.

Two little kittens

These two Burmese-mix, 6-month-old kittens are victims of a "population explosion." Their former owner just had to give up a few cats.

One kitten, Kyoto, is a male; the other, Kisha, is a female. They are a little small for their age, but they are very friendly and playful, and already housebroken. Both are handsome cats, slender built like Burmese cats and brown toned.

Kyoto and Kisha can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The shelter is closed on holidays.

The adoption fee for Kyoto is $35 and for Kisha, $45. The adoption fee includes their shots and worming, and their spaying or neutering at the shelter.

An Apple for the Teacher

Lois Grice

By Elizabeth Bisbikis

Because Lois Grice has a sense of humor and a bright outlook on life, she is able to instill these qualities into her first-graders.

Lois enjoys teaching, especially first grade.

"These children have high hopes and expectations and definitely an enthusiasm for learning," she says.

She is, herself, a motivating factor in her students' progress and development.

Lois has made a home for her students as well as a home for herself at Andersonville Elementary School for several years. She has taught grades one through five during her teaching career including one year at Prince George County Schools in Virginia while her husband, Gordon, was in the service.

Starting her life growing up in a farm near Ewart, Mich., she has been instilled with strong values and a fine appreciation of the work ethic.

She likes first-graders' enthusiasm.

After graduating from Central Michigan University, she married Gordon Grice, also a Clarkston teacher. They have been married 28 years.

Their three children, Matthew, Laura and Anita, have their own lives and families, but live within close proximity, retaining a sense of family closeness.

Lois and Gordon travel frequently, with the state of Washington as one of their favorite spots.

She also maintains a busy life in addition to teaching. She is a member of Alpha Delta Kappa, a teachers sorority, and is a member of Gethsemane Lutheran Church in Holly.

Some interesting sidelines to her career involve her interest in good health, which resulted in participating in sales of Shaklee products. She also studied herbal first-aid and iridology. Currently, she is studying homeopathy.

Not only a friend to children, Lois has a genuine interest in helping friends and neighbors, especially those in need of kindness and friendship.

Her colleagues find her a happy, giving person very contented with life and someone who will give of herself when called upon.

An Apple for the Teacher is provided through a committee of the Clarkston Education Association. This week's author is Elizabeth Bisbikis, first-grade teacher at Andersonville Elementary.

AMY LICATOVICH, 4, poses outside her home in her tap dancing bumble bee costume. Back in shape after a devastating auto accident, she asks only why it had to happen when she was wearing her seat belt like she was supposed to, her mother says.

She hasn't missed a beat

machine later saved their daughter. "In 1980 they didn't have one."

Amy's recovery from the accident has been remarkable by anyone's standards.

A portion of her humerus (upper arm bone), believed to be lost in the accident, was found in nearby tissue and repaired during seven hours of surgery at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac.

A plate anchored inside her arm with eight screws is scheduled to be removed in the future, her mother says.

According to Nancy, it never occurred to Amy during her ordeal that she might miss her mid-June recital despite the fact that she had missed five months of practice.

"She all along was under the impression she was going to be in the recital," Nancy says, beaming. "She got back in to tap class and made it for the recital. ... She did great."

"She's done so good. It's a miracle. It really is a miracle."

EACH CALL to another operator requires Tom Smith, of Pontiac, to log the station number to avoid duplication.

Yes, ham!

Is anybody out there?

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ham radio operators across the continent banded together for 24 hours last weekend to prepare for the worst.

Once a year during the last weekend in June, the system is put to the test during "Field Day," sponsored by the American Radio Relay League-June 25-26.

The event allows participants to practice as if it were an emergency situation, checks out how well the system would work, helps ham operators sharpen their skills and provides a contest as an outlet for their competitive spirit.

A group of amateur radio operators from around the area converged on George Smith's house on Maybee Road, Independence Township, last weekend and converted his backyard into a mobile emergency radio station.

From the tall and skinny antennas spread around the yard to the two red portable generators for power, the guys were determined to reach as many other operators as humanly possible during a 24-hour period.

When it was all said and done, the Clarkston group - numbering about a dozen - managed to get in touch with nearly 800 people across North America.

"I'd say we did pretty good," said Tom Smith, who was taking part in his fifth Field Day. "We never shut down (during the 24-hour period)."

A portable lap-top computer was used to keep track of stations they had contacted and prevent duplications. Although it is now a hobby, the men realize their recreational activity would become invaluable during a crisis.

"If there was an emergency," Smith said. "This group would be involved."

Some of them already have helped others with their radio skills. When a major catastrophe or natural disaster occurs, they sometimes have the only usable open lines of communication for the public. During the Mexico City earthquake, Smith helped a friend get in touch with loved ones.

"That was the only means she could get through on," he said.

Others within earshot echoed the thought.

"We serve the public," said Ron Foster. "Along with having fun for ourselves."

But they can help with more than just national disasters, Smith said.

Amateur radio operators are needed at walk-a-thons so that they can easily call for help should anyone require it while on the course.

One thing that irks some of the ham operators is being confused with CB users. Al Monroe used to be an avid CB fan but switched to being a ham radio operator about five years ago.

"I got tired of all the hassles (of CB)," he said.

Along with Smith, he enrolled in an adult education program on the subject through Clarkston Community Education in 1983 and became hooked on it.

They picked up other friends involved in ham radios in the area by talking with them nightly. They all get together annually during Field Day for fellowship as well as a little practice.

Other members of the group at Smith's house over the weekend included Al Vidrio, Frank Lesner, Brad Wheaton, Ron Welch and Jim Decker.

AL MONROE, of Independence Township, tries contacting another ham radio operator across the country during a "Field Day" activity Saturday afternoon.

Just singin' in the dirt

Almost all birds bathe regularly, but not necessarily in water.

International Wildlife magazine reports that pheasants, quail, wild turkeys and many other birds prefer to clean themselves in dirt.

This process, known as "dusting," is not only pleasurable but also beneficial. Dust absorbs excess oil in feathers, and it may also prevent the spread of parasites.

Dog is man's best friend, but even good friends sometimes hurt each other. Last year, more than 3,000 letter carriers were bitten by dogs. Please help your letter carrier do his or her job safely by keeping your pet fenced or leashed.

The Postal Service reminds you that you can lose your home mail delivery if you don't restrain your dog. If your dog bites a letter carrier - as more than 3,000 dogs did last year - you can be liable for damages. Please keep your pet fenced or leashed.

Microwave Plus

Holiday sippers

Betty Wagner

Serve up some refreshing punches for the 4th of July. These drinks can stand alone or accept a flavoring of "spirits."

ICED TEA PUNCH

- 1 1/2 quarts water
- 1 teaspoon whole cloves
- 1 cinnamon stick
- 4-5 tea bags
- 1/2 cup sugar
- Juice of 1 lemon
- 2 cups orange juice
- 8-ounce can crushed pineapple

Place water in 2-quart Pyrex punch bowl or 2-quart Pyrex measure. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave at high power for 12-14 minutes or until water boils. (It may take less time to boil water in tea kettle on surface unit.)

Add tea bags and steep for 10 minutes. Remove tea bags, dissolve sugar in hot tea and cool.

Microwave lemon at high for 30-45 seconds. Squeeze out juice. Add lemon and orange juice to tea. Place pineapple and its juice in blender and liquify.

Add to tea. Stir before serving and serve chilled. Garnish with fresh lemon slices.

UNWHISKEY SOUR PUNCH

- 1 6-ounce can frozen orange juice

- 1 6-ounce can frozen lemonade
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 10-ounce jar maraschino cherries
- 2 cans pineapple tidbits (5 1/4 ounces each)
- Package colored toothpicks
- 1 orange, sliced
- 1 lemon, sliced
- 1 33.8-ounce or 1-liter bottle chilled club soda

Remove lids of frozen orange juice and lemonade. Microwave at high power for 1 to 2 minutes or until defrosted. Pour into a large pitcher along with 2 tablespoons sugar, liquid from cherries and pineapple. Cover and refrigerate.

Spear pineapple and cherries on picks. Just before serving time, pour soda and juices into punch bowl. Garnish each serving with pineapple-cherries.

For a Whiskey Sour Punch, add 1 fifth chilled blended whiskey to punch bowl or add to taste to each glass.

To make an ice ring to float in center of punch bowl, cut orange and lemon slices and freeze in ring mold filled with water.

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her "Microwave Plus" cable-TV program appears weekly on Independence-Clarkston Cable Channel 65.

Beat summer heat

On extremely hot days, plan activities in air-conditioned places. Visit the library, shop at a mall or go to the movies.

The following tips to seek relief are also offered by Consumers Power Co.:

Use fans to create air movement and remove body heat.

Take cool baths or showers.

Wear clothing that is lightweight, light colored and loose-fitting.

Wear a hat or use an umbrella outdoors to shade your head and neck.

Drink fluids often and in reasonable amounts, even if you're not thirsty.

Slow down and take it easy; physical activity produces body heat.

Avoid hot foods and heavy meals.

Monitor your salt intake and don't take "salt tablets" without your doctor's permission.

Avoid alcohol. It can put a strain on your heart and interfere with your body's fight against heat stress.

Check with your doctor or seek other medical help if you experience some of these early warning signs of heat illness: dizziness, rapid heartbeat, diarrhea, nausea, throbbing headache, dry skin (no sweating), chest pain, great weakness, mental changes, breathing problems, vomiting and cramps.

REACT to provide I-75 coffee break

Oakland County REACT will again be operating a Safety Break over Independence Day weekend in the rest areas of I-75 between Dixie Highway and Holly Road in Springfield Township.

Team members and other volunteers will serve free coffee and refreshments to motorists stopping in at the north or southbound rest areas from 4 p.m. Friday, July 1, through 10 p.m. Monday, July 4.

The Safety Break is a community service project that REACT began in 1970. The objective is for motorists to have a cup of coffee and take a few minutes from the pressures of expressway driving.

If motorists encounter problems while traveling in Oakland County or need directions or other local assistance, they can call on Citizens Band Radio. The team will monitor Channels 9 and 19.

Team members volunteer their time for the holiday weekend project as a community service.

Oakland County REACT is a non-profit organization. Its main purpose is to monitor CB Channel 9 and assist the public by relaying information on accidents and road hazards to the proper authorities, giving directions and providing assistance to disabled vehicles.

For more information, call 673-9683.

Obituaries

Michael, Carol and Candace Carnell

Michael, Carol and Candace Carnell of Springfield Township died June 22. They were the father, mother and sister of Brandon Carnell.

Also surviving are Michael Carnell's parents, John and Vivian Carnell and three brothers; and Carol Carnell's mother, Jovita Alvarado, grandfather, Jose, four brothers and three sisters.

They were members of the Dixie Baptist Church in Springfield Township.

The funeral was June 27 at the Dixie Baptist Church with Dr. Paul Vanaman officiating. Arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Independence Township.

Rev. Hubert M. Karl

The Rev. Hubert M. Karl, 74, of Independence Township died June 26.

He was a pastor in the Benton Harbor area, then served in children's ministry with RBM Ministries for 42 years. He also served as teacher and administrator in various Christian schools.

The last 14 years, he served on the faculty of Midwestern Baptist College and received his doctorate degree.

Surviving are his wife, Viva; children, Mrs. William (Sandra) Wiley of Batesville, Ind., and Mrs. Edwin (Joanne) Fahey of Independence Township; grandchildren, Bruce, Erin, Stephanie, Marty and Terry; and sister, Mrs. Marie Wolff of Milwaukee. He was preceded in death by his daughter, Diane.

The funeral is scheduled Wednesday, June 29, at 7 p.m. at the Waterford Community Church with the Rev. Dalton Myers and the Rev. Phillip Whisenhunt to officiate. Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery, Hastings. Arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Independence Township.

Memorials may be made to RBM Ministries for Anchor Point Camp.

Myrtle Lumsden

Myrtle Nolan Lumsden, 87, of Ann Arbor and formerly of Clarkston died June 19.

Born Sept. 20, 1900, in Salem Township, she was the daughter of Andrew and Antonette (Geigler) Fahrner. She was married to Byron Nolan, who preceded her in death in 1963, and later to Orville Lumsden, who preceded her in death in 1978.

Mrs. Lumsden was a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of Ann Arbor Elks No. 325.

Surviving are her sisters, Mrs. Harold (Iva) Layher and Mrs. Merrill (Viva) Rayment, both of Ann Arbor; and several grandchildren, great-grandchildren, nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her sister, Genevieve, and brothers, Andrew, Elton (Mike) and Fred.

The funeral service was held June 22 at the Muehlig Chapel, Ann Arbor, with the Rev. Kim R. Taylor officiating. Burial was at Forest Hill Cemetery.

Memorial tributes may be made to Hospice of Washtenaw or the American Cancer Society.

Cecil James Smith

Cecil James Smith, 83, of Independence Township died June 27. He was a member of the Independence Township Senior Citizens and a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his children, William M. of Holly, Joan Weglarski of Independence Township, Mrs. Robert (Mary Lou) Mann of Royal Oak, Patricia Smith of Ferndale and John of Ohio; nine grandchildren; and brothers and sister, Edgar Smith of Milford, Nellie Sullivan of Oregon and Leota Schillman of Florida. He was preceded in death by his wife, Marie.

The funeral is scheduled Thursday, June 30, at 10 a.m. at the Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, Independence Township. Burial will be in Ottawa Park Cemetery, Independence Township. Visitation is on Wednesday from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

The 2ND READING will cover the following changes to the Political Signs Ordinance #49:

SECTION 1.3 the definition of "Agent" is hereby amended to read in its entirety as follows:
Agent means a person acting on behalf of a candidate or committee for purposes of this ordinance.

SECTION 3.1 is hereby amended to read in its entirety as follows:
Permit Required. No signs shall be placed or installed until a written permit has been obtained from the township, with each election requiring a separate permit. A property owner shall not be required to obtain a permit or otherwise comply with this Article III in order to personally install a sign on his or her property, however, the balance of this Ordinance shall still apply.

SECTION 3.2(4) is hereby amended to read in its entirety as follows:
If applicant is an agent, a statement that agent has the authority to act for and obligate the candidate and committee.

SECTION 4.1 is hereby amended to read in its entirety as follows:
Removal Required. The removal of all signs shall be secured and completed by the persons responsible, or the property owner if no permit was required, within the time limitations provided by Section 2.4.

SECTION 4.7 is hereby amended to read in its entirety as follows:
Sale of Signs. During the period of time the Township is required to store the signs as provided in Section 4.6, the persons responsible may acquire ownership and possession of the signs from the Township by paying the Township any outstanding costs of removal, and complying with all other provisions of this Ordinance, if applicable.

The balance of Ordinance No. 49 shall remain in full force and effect, except as specifically modified herein.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the proposed ordinance amendments are entirely contained in this Notice. Questions may be answered at the Springfield Township Clerk's Office, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan, during regular office hours Monday through Friday until the date of the 2ND READING.

FLYING SWINGS prove to be a thrilling ride for Susan McCarty of Clarkston and Tim

WHEN THE BAUMGARDNER brothers, Patrick, 3, and Clifford, 6, climb into the flying saucer ride, Clifford takes a moment to make sure the chain is safely fastened around his brother. Then, the Independence Township boys are off in the world of make-believe.

TOWN WIDE CELEBRATION

Happy 10 years to Oxford Cinema

Except for a six-year drought in the 1970s, it seems there has always been a theater in Oxford.

But, Oxford Twin Cinema, at the northeast corner of Washington and Stanton Streets, is still a relatively young child. After a fire destroyed the town's only theater in 1972 it took 6 years to start another. Oxford Twin Cinema owner Arnold Simmons re-opened the doors for service on June 28, 1978.

And, starting June 29 this year, Simmons is planning a special 10 year anniversary celebration.

"We'll give away over $10,000 in prizes and gifts," Simmons said.

Simmons said prizes will include: 2 and 1/2 carat simulated Van Pler & Tissany diamonds; emeralds; a 35 mm camera outfit; tee-shirts; stuffed toys; video coupons; and wooden nickels worth $1.

"We're also going to let loose 600 colorful balloons from the top of the roof on June 29, around 4 p.m.," Simmons said. "There will be something in every balloon — but in certain ones there will be a number. If that number matches a number we have picked here, that person will win a prize."

A promoter, he also plans to decorate the outside of his theater. Look for an 8-foot helium balloon flying overhead.

For the $10,000 in prizes Simmons has planned 2 separate types of drawings — drawings for adults and drawings for children." The celebration runs through July 11.

Oxford Bank began as an independently owned bank 104 years ago. That spirit of independence remains an important aspect of Oxford Bank. Not dependent on a "main office" out of the community area but a community bank built, staffed and aspiring to serve the people of this area is an attribute of this bank that hasn't changed in 104 years.

We look back and wonder what manner of men and women labored to bring forth the first rudiments of our community area. What spirit, belief and wisdom drove these early community builders onward to create their own bank dedicated to serve this area! Many changes have come about over the past century. But the challenge remains. On top of one person's achievement, another builds. On top of one person's victory, another aspires.

The future belongs to us. Together we build. Together we grow. Together we excel.

As your area independent community bank, we pledge to continue serving this area with the finest in financial services. We know you want it that way.

Think big

Cinema owner started small, grew

By DON RUSH
Leader Editor

Though he was a salesman for Sears, in the back of his mind he still knew something more was out there.

Arnold Simmons wanted to operate his own business. However, he didn't know what to get into and he didn't want to take too big of a risk.

He had a wife, Joyce and three children (Diana, Linda and David) to think about.

"I knew I needed more money," Simmons said. "So I started delivering the Detroit Free Press on the side. I delivered 400 dailies and 800 papers on Sunday for 2 1/2 years. All that money I set aside and saved for a business," he recalled recently, relaxed in his office at Oxford Twin Cinema and Video Rent-All (which opened in 1985).

With their money saved, the Simmons family looked for their niche in the business world. They had opted to buy a franchise from the fledgling Jerry Lewis Cinemas.

"We flew out to California, met Jerry Lewis," Simmons said. They made their down payment and flew back home to Drayton Plains.

"Forty-five days later we read Jerry Lewis couldn't come through with the business. We asked for our money back, and we got it back.

"I asked my attorney if there were any theaters for sale. He said he thought there was a good theater up in Oxford," Simmons said.

Simmons then went through a series of talks with the owner of the Oxford Oprea House, the late Ray Forman.

"For 40 days I would come to the show and buy a ticket. I'd count the number of people, compare ticket numbers — Mr Forman didn't want to give out any figures. I wanted to get some idea of how the business was doing," Simmons said.

In 1971 Simmons purchased the theater — and around 9:30 p.m., February 9, 1972 the 80-year-old Oxford Oprea House was destroyed by fire.

"It was a total loss. The movie ("Trail of the Hunter") was over. Everybody was gone and the theater was locked up. We don't know what (the fire's) origin was," Simmons said.

Simmons was still employed by Sears (he'd retire from the store in 1977) at the time. It took him 6 years of permit pulling, drafting, planning, and additional property acquisition before he was ready to open Oxford Twin Cinema.

To construct the new, 2 auditorium theater, Simmons had to purchase the property south of the Oprea House — the old Oxford Fire Hall, which was also destroyed by the fire.

Oxford Twin Cinema opened for public use on June 28, 1978. And ever since, for Arnold and Joyce Simmons business has been exceedingly good.

"I can honestly say the community has been very good to Joyce and I over the past 10 years. They've really backed us in the movie business. They have helped us grow," Simmons said.

The "community" he speaks of not only takes in Oxford, but extends up to Mayville, as far south as Birmingham, over to Clarkston and Brandon and east to Leonard.

"From a 9-mile radius of downtown Oxford there are 75,000 to 80,000 people. Last year we drew in 100,000-120,000 people into the theater. I'm proud of my business," he said.

Simmons said the secret to his success has been his dream to be better and bigger — not thinking small. With that in mind he sits up in his office and plans, not only for tomorrow, but for 3 years down the road.

From delivering papers and selling for Sears, Arnold Simmons is now in the movie business.

"I used to work at Sears; when they planned a promotion, they planned a promotion 90-120 days in advance of the sale. I put a lot of thought into what movies I want. I look at the director, the producer, the cast.

"I like to promote. In 1979 we promoted the movie "Going Coconuts" with Donny and Marie Osmond. We did a number of things, and had excellent news-media coverage. We won a 1979 Oldsmobile for best theater in the nation promoting a movie. We were flown out to Utah and met Donny... He's a real nice young man. The kind of person you'd like to have as your next door neighbor."

Over the years Simmons says he has also tried to give back to the community. "Maybe I should get actually involved more. We support the community, especially the young people," he said.

Simmons has sponsored baseball, softball, and young ladies entering teenage beauty pageants. He is also a member of the Oxford Area Chamber of Commerce, a life-time member of the Optimist Club and a member of the Lions Club.

"I don't get involved like I should, but I'm still involved in that I support the groups. You always need the members who are willing to work and then you need the ones who support," he said.

Because of his belief that "kids are our future," he also is a proponent of the "Just Say No" campaign. He even displays that message in his theater.

"We show a trailer (follows a movie) that says something like 'Say no to drinks, kids.' Some parents don't like that. It hurts me when those parents say they don't like that. But, if I can save one life, it's a success," he said.

Over the past 10 years, Simmons has also had a

"Travel Series" on Sundays. Proceeds from these shows go back to the community. This year Oxford-Addison Youth Assistance will receive funds. (see related article.)

Simmons like to sit in his office overlooking the lobby of the theater. It is cluttered. His favorite chair is tattered. There are papers upon papers upon papers. Pictures of movie stars adorn his walls. This is his space.

He looks around, what does he see. "This area is going to grow. I foresee in the next 20 years we will be built up from the City of Pontiac to the City of Lapeer. Commercially we have to establish ourselves with some excellent merchants. We're going to have to prepare.

"Do we want to keep the community in the 1890s? Do we want to grow, or stay small? What we have to do is think positive. I have my long range goals, and I look at them periodically to see where I'm at. My wife wants me to retire. But I don't think I'm ready."

Currently, Simmons is planning an expansion of his theater; he plans to add 9,500 square feet. If all goes his way, some of his "long range" goals may be happening very soon.

His addition will on to the north of his current building. Inside the addition will be 2 new screens, seating around 390, and a 2,500 square foot video lobby.

The current lobby will be used for retail.

Span the globe while in Oxford

Fall in love in green fields of the mystic island, Ireland. Climb the mountains of Colorado. Enjoy the tradition and colors of Spain. Do all this and more in downtown Oxford.

For the past 10 years would-be globe trotters have toured the world via the movie screen. The World Travel Adventure Series has been seen every Sunday in the fall and winter, at Oxford Twin Cinema, for those 10 years.

"People really enjoy it," owner Arnold Simmons said.

The series includes 6 tours, narrated by "well known" speakers. Each tour is from 90-120 minutes long, and starts at 3 p.m. Season tickets cost $16.50.

And, while Simmons has continued to show the travel series, he likes to stress one point in particular.

"All the proceeds go back into our community. I don't keep profits from these films. Last year the profits went to a senior citizens group. This year Oxford-Addison Youth Assistance will co-sponsor, so they'll receive the proceeds," Simmons said.

Oxford-Addison Youth Assistance is an Oakland County program. OAYA works closely with Oxford Area Schools and the probate court. They sponsor programs for youths and parents and offer counseling.

This season's series will begin October 16, and runs through April 16.

- ☛ October 16: Colorado, narrated by Stan Midgley.
- ☛ November 13: Ireland, narrated by Dr Charles Forbes-Taylor.
- ☛ January 15: Spain, narrated by Robert Pearce.
- ☛ February 19: Romain Wilhelmen will speak, program to be announced.
- ☛ March 19: The South West, narrated by Dennis Glen-Cooper.

a Happy Anniversary

From 'extravagant' to worth a buck

By ANNETTE KINGSBURY -
Leader Staff Writer

There has been a theater in Oxford, virtually on the same spot, since 1891.

It was then Oxford Opera House was built by Joseph Powell, a probate judge, on vacant land on Washington Street. The lot was the site of the Commercial Hotel. The Oxford Opera House was a brick structure with a dome on top that cost $8,000 and took 5 men 3 weeks to build. (The workmen were paid 15 cents an hour.) The old Opera House stood until 1972, when it was destroyed by fire.

The railroad was crucial to the success of opera houses, which were springing up around the country after the Civil War. Professional touring companies made the rounds, and Oxford was on the route of the Detroit-Bay City Railroad.

"Word got around that Oxford had the only really legitimate stage for 15-20 miles around," wrote Karen Bush, in her master's thesis "The Oxford Opera House". By the turn of the century, over 500 companies were on the road.

"The better the theater, the better the company that would come, as long as there was railroad access," Bush continued.

Visitors to the Opera House walked through front doors that opened onto a lobby. To one side was a cloak room, to the other a ticket office. Twin stairs led up to the second level, which was the gallery. The seats were suspended by steel rods, "rods which unfortunately obscured the view of any spectators unfortunate enough to be positioned behind them," she described.

The floor was flat, not sloped as in modern theaters. The chairs were of the folding variety, so they could be removed for dances. Light came from gasoline chandeliers.

The stage was 20 feet wide, "hardly extravagant, but better than anything else between Detroit and Bay City," Bush says. "But the thing that set the Oxford Opera House apart from all other buildings in the village was the roof.

And a magnificent roof it was." It was topped by a dome. Local residents turned out regularly, fall through spring, to see a wide variety of productions. In summer the place was usually shuttered because of the heat; otherwise it was hardly ever dark during the early years. Even indoor baseball was played there in the winter.

But, the advent of moving pictures almost caused its demise. Another theater opened in the village showing moving pictures and charging a lower fee, and business fell off at the Opera House, prompting one local man to offer to purchase it for a stables. It went through several owners, and at one time was sold for $1 at a sheriff's sale.

Ultimately the Opera House prevailed by embracing the competition. In 1913 it became The Oxford, a motion picture theater. The first films were shown by one projectionist with one projector, cranking with one hand and rewinding with the other.

The first permanent screen installed was cumbersome and didn't last long and was replaced by a hinged screen which could be lifted up to free the stage for other activities.

By 1926, the year Ray Forman bought it, The Oxford was back on its feet, but in serious need of repairs. A fire in 1934 did in what was left of the original interior. Skylights had to be removed, as were the entrance stairs, and the gallery had to come down. The dome, however was still intact. A marquee, which the theater had never had, was added.

Forman was sole owner of the building for 40 years. In 1971 he sold it to Arnold Simmons. One year later the Oxford Opera House burned to the ground. The adjacent buildings were also compromised, and later torn down.

It took 6 years, but Arnold Simmons rebuilt in 1978 on the same spot and an adjoining lot that had housed the fire department. The theater is now called the Oxford Twin Cinema, and in order not to repeat history, has incorporated a video rental business under the same roof. The movie screen lives comfortably side by side with its latest rival, the VCR.

When the new theater opened in Oxford, in 1978, "Grease" and the "Bad News Bears Going to Japan" were the movies showing.

To rent a movie go to the theater

Where else would you go for a movie. The theater? Right.

And, where else would you go to rent a movie. The theater? Right.

Arnold Simmons, owner of Video Rent-All, is also the owner of Oxford Twin Cinema in downtown Oxford. After all, the movie business is the movie business.

Simmons opened his video business in 1985. He has 3 satellites of the business, besides the theater location: at Addison Food, Leonard (1,800 movies); Indianwood Party Stop in Orion Township (200 movies); and an Albion, Michigan location, with over 2,800 movies.

The Video Rent-All in the theater lobby has over 3,300 movies in stock. Needless to say, business has been good: they have over 5,000 customers.

"In 1984 Joyce (Simmons' wife) and I decided to convert a small portion of our theater lobby to the video business. We purchased about 350 movies that we knew were big in the theater and started Video Rent-All," Simmons said.

Simmons said when he first decided to go into the business, he only purchased 1 or 2 copies of each title. But that was then. In 1988, things are a little different.

"It has gotten to the point where we purchase anywhere from 15 to over 1,000 copies of any title. We expect to sell over 1,000 copies of "E.T." and are now taking orders for them," he said.

During the business's 4th anniversary celebration (June 29-July 11) the tapes can be ordered for $19.95, marked down from $24.95.

The Simmons were first introduced to the idea of operating a video business through Columbia Pictures. Columbia also suggested that the way to build a membership was not to have a membership fee.

"We followed their suggestions, and have never charged a membership fee. All you need to join is a valid driver's license and a valid telephone number," Simmons said.

Video Rent-All also honors other companies' coupons, and offers the video customer a free bag of popcorn. The business is computer operated, for faster service.

"The future of the video business looks really good. We are going to expand the video store in early 1989 to over 2,500 square feet," Simmons said.

Video Rent-All is open from 11 to 11, 7 days a week, 365 days a year.

Working together

Owner Arnold Simmons and the friendly people at the Oxford Twin Cinema/Video Rent-All. From the left, Tasha Marks (front), Tina Maguire, Kerry Kinnee and Christie Schultz, (back) Keith Grunenwald, Kelly Kinnee, Gail Rathburn, Dawn Sletoff, Kim Pllarakl, manager Juanita Vaughn, Steryl Rathburn and Simmons. Missing is Arnold's wife, Joyce Simmons. Vaughn has worked at the Twin Cinema since August 23, 1979. "It's a great job," she says. "It's a good in-between job and a good summer job for students." She added some of the workers will go on to be teachers, nurses and sales representatives.

We are the "King of Kegs"

I would like to take this time to personally congratulate Arnold Simmons on all his fine achievements and contributions to our community. Giving men, such as yourself, are hard to find. Arnold, together we've proved that even in today's business world, a handshake is all that's needed. I look forward to opening our second location in Lakeville in July. Best of luck to you and Joyce.
