Teens save Main Street home

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Jason Simpson, 15, and Chris Neighbors, 16, went to find their friend Matt Cook last Tuesday afternoon, they were just looking for something to do on a lazy summer day.

Little did they know they would become heroes. When they arrived at the Robert Cook family's

The Skee Brothers Band makes its Concerts in the Park debut on Friday, July 22.

The country/western band will belt out the music from 7 to 9 p.m. in the park adjacent to Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot, in downtown Clarkston.

There is no admission charge for the concert series every Friday evening in July, which is sponsored by the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Popcorn and soft drinks are sold at the events to help offset costs and donations may be made in the Band-Aid boxes found in local businesses. Joan Kopietz of Tierra Inc. on Main Street, Clarkston, is the organizer of

"I just thought someone was burning something," Chris said.

But when they walked around the back of the home they knew something was wrong. They opened the basement door, and smoke poured out.

No one was home at the Cook residence at the time, so they went around to the front door, entered the home. and looked down the basement stairs. When they saw flames, they went back to the living room, found the Clarkston phone book, and called the Independence Township Fire Department from the Cooks' phone.

"I can still feel the effects of the smoke," Jason said later as firemen were finishing up at the scene.

The fire was contained to the basement, Fire Chief Gar Wilson said at the scene, but there was some smoke damage to the home.

Later, Capt. Neil Ashley said it would be better when someone sees smoke not to enter a house and endanger his or her life. Instead, go to a neighbor's house.

and call the fire department.
"The boys had good reason to call, just from the smoke they saw, without entering the home," Ashley said.

Monitoring wells down

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Bonnie McVeigh has been making phone calls again, and again she's getting results.

This time she called to find out why monitoring wells hadn't yet been installed beside the site of the June 10 fuel spill on Interstate-75.

McVeigh first called all over the country to ensure that the site would be excavated and filled with clean soil.

At that time, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) required monitoring wells around the spill site to track the direction and speed of the jet fuel flow and to know in advance of any water contamination.

But no monitoring wells were installed. McVeigh, whose Flemings Lake Road residence abuts the spill site, became worried.

After two weeks of calling the DNR and Leaseway Transportation, who's responsible for the cleanup, the drilling for the monitoring wells was started July 13.

"I'm glad they're finally going in, but I'm upset that I had to (check up) on it," said McVeigh. "It shouldn't be my responsibility.'

Apparently, there were communication problems within Leaseway, said McVeigh, who even went one step further to protect the health of her family and her neighbors.

After a neighbor talked to the jet fuel manufacturer, Amoco, and was told they should immediately stop drinking their well water, McVeigh negotiated for bottled water for herself and her neighbors, paid for by Leaseway Transportation.

Tax supporters pay their share

The Reys. Bill and Jenny Schram, both as Independence i ownship residents and as ministers. supported the millage increase for Clarkston schools.

Plus, the Rev. Bill Schram of the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church has been an avid supporter of SEARCH, a drug abuse program at Clarkston High School that would have been lost if the millage had not been approved.

The Schrams, in an effort to show their support of Clarkston schools, sent a letter and a personal check to the Clarkston board of educa-

Because they live in a church-owned home, they do not pay properly tax. So the Schrams sent the school board a check equal to the 5.5 mill increase on the assessed valuation of the church parsonage.

"It's just something we felt strongly about," Schram said later in a telephone interview. "We wanted to show that the recent millage was important, and to support it, we agreed to pay."

department when they noticed smoke in the Main Street home of their friend Matt Cook.

If the boys hadn't called, the house could have been lost. Wilson said.

The first firefighters down the stairs encountered flames about 5 feet high. The fire started in a basket and a pile of wood near a gas-fired hot water heater. It could have been smoldering an hour or two before discovered by the boys.

The fire damaged only a small area, but it would have spread quickly in the old wood-frame house, Wilson said, adding that he would tell the Cooks to seal off an old vent that would have made the fire spread even faster.

"It would have been a good battle to even stop it," he said.

Signs of the time

Just in time for August primary election, the Springfield Township Board approved amendments to the township's political sign ordinance.

Trustee Charles Oaks made the motion to approve the amendments on second reading July 14, saying, "I should be able to put what I want in my own front yard."

The amendments allow residents to put political signs in their front yards without a permit, but they will still need permits to place political signs anywhere else in the township.

Residents must abide by all other sections of the ordinance, including length of time the signs may be up. Signs may be put up 21 days before and must be removed 13 days after an election.

Clarkston council adds village manager post

BY PETER AUCHTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Before accepting the newly created job of village manager for Clarkston, Treasurer Artemus Pappas wants more details on the day-to-day requirements.

The village council created the position of village manager at its July 11 meeting in an effort to take some of the workload off Clerk Norma Goyette.

Treasurer Artemus Pappas, who recently retired from teaching, was the first candidate asked to fill the position. He tentatively accepted, but asked that a job description be written before the next meeting.

"I think that this is a trial thing for both of us," he said. "I kind of like the no-authority manager, the clerktreasurer type.'

While exact guidelines were unavailable, Trustee William Basinger said he would compose some before the next meeting when the village council votes on whether to accept Pappas.

Generally speaking, the village manager would act as a supervisor for the town's Department of Public Works and handle all their calls since the DPW has no full-time employees. He would also handle administrative duties, attend seminars and research topics to better inform the part-time council members in an effort to speed up the meetings, said Basinger.

The village council voted 6-0 to tentatively set the manager's pay at $24,000 per year for a 40-hour work week. Should Pappas want the job, his current treasurer's salary of $6,000 would be replaced with the higher sum?

As treasurer/manager, Pappas' first priority would be completing his work as treasurer. The remaining hours in his work week would be spent as manager. Pappas said he normally works 15 to 20 hours per week as treasurer and doesn't want to take on more responsibilities than he can handle.

'I'm going to have to grow into this thing," he said. 'You can only do so much."

Basinger asked that village attorney John Steckling research the problems a dual role of manager and treasurer could cause.

· Should Pappas take on the added responsibility of village manager, his authority to sign checks would be given to President Sharron Catallo. He would still write out all checks, but would forward them to Catallo for her problems at the next council meeting, Monday, July 25, and Basinger will provide a written job description to Pappas and other village council members before the council votes on the matter.

'Right now, it's great because it's cooler," she said. "Usually, I like working days."

A 9- or 10-year veteran of road construction, Robach said she enjoys her job operating the tube floater (a machine that helps finish the concrete).

"I love it, being outdoors. I just like that line of work," she said.

Electronic and mechanical failures have delayed the project by many days, said George Yonish, project manager.

The delays only make the job more frustrating, but it's no different than other paving situations, he said. "It's all the same," he said July 21, after working 13

Most of the preliminary work is finished during the day, and the actual paving takes place at night, he said, adding road construction usually occurs during the day. "It's a different atmosphere, really," Yonish said. "Men get tired quicker. They don't get the proper rest. The vision is worse, with shadows and headlights. Traffic has been bad out here, really. It's marked 45 miles per hour, but nobody obeys it."

Sewers planned for 2 township sites

Two sewer systems in Independence Township are a step closer to construction.

No one spoke at the July 12 public hearing for the Northview Drive sewer, but Trustee Daniel Travis' call for a show of hands of people who thought the sewer was necessary resulted in support from about 10 people.

The board voted 6-0 in acknowledgment of the need for the sewer, to be extended down Northview Drive from Perry Lake Road to M-15. Trustee Dale Stuart was absent.

The board also set an Aug. 9 public hearing to discuss the special assessment district, comprised of property owners who would benefit from the about $190,000 sanitary sewer.

The sewer is to accompany a water system that is to be extended from Perry Lake Road, north of I-75. The water connection is to be paid for by the federally funded Superfund because 19 wells along Northview are contaminated with toxic substances.

No one spoke in the public hearing for the about $400,000 Spring Lake sewer, to be paid for by the developer of property on Maybee Road.

Board members voted 5-1 to issue bonds to cover construction costs. The developer, Shouybib Investment Co., needs the sewer before it can build apartments or condominiums on two 35-acre parcels next to Spring Lake.

Trustee Carol Balzarini voted against the bond issuance.

"I've opposed this from the beginning I'm not going to quit now," she said, referring to earlier state-ments against the lift station required for sewers that don't operate on gravity.

A gravity flow system was opposed by property owners along Waterford Road because it would have crossed some of their property.

Construction was scheduled to begin July 18, said George Anderson, director of the township department of public works.

When inanimate objects begin exhibiting distinct personality traits, it's best just to name them and go with the flow. I'm calling my windshield wiper, on the driver's side, Holden.

There appears to be a major rebellion of some sort going on with Holden, who will not hold onto the windshield. Although one never knows. Sometimes he works; sometimes he doesn't:

The last major refusal came during the downpour we had Saturday evening. Along with everyone else on the ride, Holden wasn't sure how to react to water falling from the sky.

What he did was flop off the windshield and hang across the window on the side of the car, say a few dozen times, as we were trying to make it from Rochester to Clarkston.

The only way to get Holden back on track, all too briefly, was to unroll the window, reach outside and push at precisely the right moment to match the rhythm of the other wiper (which has no problems. I knew Holden was not to be relied upon during rainstorms, although his latest performance was topped all previous. Before we left that day, the sky looked cloudy and it felt like rain, but so what? It hadn't rained all summer.

Somewhere, in the back of my mind, I'd put "windshield wiper repair" on the things-to-do list. Every week, as I didn't use the wipers and didn't think about Holden, the item became lower and lower priority.

Wow, what a mistake. He's at the top of the list now, along with "don't leave sunroof open on parked car if sky is cloudy" and "shut house windows if it looks like rain."

Ironically, suburbanites began accusing me of stereotyping after I wrote an anti-stereotyping column. Satire is prickly.

Mort Baldock of Royal Oak put it this way: "Your columns have concerned themselves recently with the despicable behavior of suburbanites who apparently concentrate on despoiling your lovely, beguiling city. It seems the out-of-towers wantonly litter the city and horrors! - indiscriminately urinate wherever the urge may seize them. Then there's the lady who observed the suburban couple in amorous dalliance, giving in to their emotions in a true suburban spirit.

"Now then - how do you distinguish out-of-town wastewater from that of a Detroiter? Did the perpetrators lift the wrong leg, in what might be a peculiarly rural style? And the public fornicators - Did they have tattoos on their behinds reading 'Birmingham-Bloomfield'?"

Baldock was referring to a column in which I said suburbanites visit my Lafayette Park neighborhood to get near the Grand Prix and the fireworks - and to take our parking places, throw wine cooler bottles on our lawns, and pee in our bushes.

But Falso wrote: "Satire is a tongue-in-cheek exaggeration often used to make a serious point. I exaggerated some common local stereotypes about suburbanites, not to ridicule the suburbanites, but to ridicule people dumb enough to believe the stereotypes are universally true."

Baldock also was referring to a letter I printed from a Lafayette Park neighbor, Catherine Kurek-Ovshinsky, who complained about two suburbanites "fornicating for all to see" on a Lafayette Park lawn in broad daylight during the Grand Prix. How did she know they were suburbanites?

.It should be stressed that Kurck-Ovshinsky realizes this was an isolated incident. She is much more concerned with the priorities and values of a city administration that seems intent on making downtown the playground for metropolitan Detroit, perhaps with casino gambling. She also realizes there's a possibility that, absent identifying tattoos, the loving couple were not out-of-towners. But:

Around 86 percent of the Detroit population is black; the fornicators were white. And most of the few whites still living here are trying to make the city a better place to live, so it isn't likely they'd behave that way on a Lafayette Park lawn."

So Kurek-Ovshinsky went with the overwhelming odds, the same as most of us would do. The same as Joseph Sobran did, on the flip side. Sobran is the ultraconservative syndicated columnist who often appears in the Free Press to balance Doonsebury. Monday he wrote that Detroit is a dump - "not just here and there, but all over town" - and put the blame squarely on black crime.

Sobran surely realizes some Detroit crime is committed by whites, but he went with the 86 percent odds. If almost all the people living in an area are black, almost all the crooks - and victims - will be black.

But beware of stereotyping. The great majority of Detroiters don't steal cars, just as the great majority of suburbanites don't urinate in Lafayette Park bushes.

Sobran wrote: "Black crime is still the touchiest of subjects. Liberals have a set of stock answers. One is that poverty causes crime . . ." Sobran doesn't believe it.

Only a fool would deny that poverty causes crime. But poverty doesn't justify crime, or excuse it. That distinction between causing and justifying is an important point Sobran refuses to recognize, especially when it's espoused by a dreaded liberal.

Certainly it's easier to understand why a jobless black Detroiter steals than why a wealthy suburbanite trashes a Detroit neighborhood. He of that worker

Finally, speaking of stereotyping, Sobran was guilty of it when he said all of Detroit is a dump. There's much that's undumpy in Detroit, otherwise why would so many smart suburbanites come here every day?

Sheriff responds

In answer to a recent letter to the editor (June 29) regarding drunks and drinking at Pine Knob Music Theatre, I would like to explain how these issues are handled by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Pine Knob pays for these police services. Our main function at these concerts is to provide traffic control into and out of the theater grounds.

In addition to traffic, we attempt to control drinking and possession of alcohol by minors. On an average evening we work with 10 to 12 officers, or a ratio of one officer per 1,500 patrons

We never knowingly allow an intoxicated person to drive. Last year we issued close to 1,000 tickets for alcohol violations, and we receive strong support from the 52nd District Court in Clarkston.

Pine Knob management and Ogden Foods are also aware of our efforts to control illegal use of alcohol and have been most cooperative in any request we make of

In the specific incident mentioned, I understand the concern of the gentleman who was struck by the 17-yearold driver. He had clearly been drinking, but was slightly injured, and was turned over to his parent with a "reckless-driving" ticket.

The officers at the accident scene had no way of testing the driver and felt that leaving their post to transport him to jail might create further hazards in dispersing the concert traffic.

If they held him until traffic cleared, the time lapse would have affected any alcohol test given at the jail.

Officers are given latitude in their field decisions, and in this case they made a valid choice of action. We, of the sheriff's department, are pledged to a strong enforcement of drinking and driving violations, and we appreciate the concerns of those we serve.

Renewal on ballot

The taxpayers of Independence Township back in 1980 demonstrated their caring for and knowledge of their community by voting for the fire millage. They trusted their department to provide the best service at the most reasonable cost to them.

Your fire department has expanded beyond the fighting of building fires and making resuscitator runs to such specialized areas as the Right to Know, Hazardous Materials and to a more sophisticated Emergency Response program. Since the millage vote in 1980, our yearly emergency responses have increased as much as 51 percent.

our fire department is again requesting your support. Passage of the requested millage renewal will again demonstrate that you, the taxpayer, trust your fire department to be able to assist you in your time of need.

In next week's paper, we will list a breakdown of what we have accomplished since the millage passed in Please remember to vote on Aug. 2. Please also remember this is only a millage renewal.

Check out library

A recent article I read stated, "A library can be the soul of a small community. The information contained within its walls and the programs it offers are vital to a community's social and intellectual well being."

Although no one would accuse me of being an intellectual, I believe that the Springfield Township Library is a vital part of the community.

Have you visited our library recently? Are you among the over 2,900 users of this community service? If not, please visit and see for yourself what an asset we have in both staff and facilities.

It hardly seems possible that it was only about 10 years ago that the existing building was opened and efforts to develop a top-notch library began. Today the building is filled beyond capacity.

In a couple-weeks, our library will need your support. The Library Board is asking for approval of a millage that will allow them to continue and expand the fine service they are currently giving.

Please take the time to visit the library, talk with our dedicated and very helpful staff and learn first-hand why we need your help and support.

The library has developed and continued to function from township general fund contributions. They do not have their own millage and their request for funds must be weighed each year against the need for funds in other areas.

As the size of our community increases, the needs and desires for services increase. We no longer receive Federal Revenue Sharing funds, which once made up nearly 15 percent of township revenues. The demands on existing sources of funds are increasing as the needs of the library and other areas increase.

Increasing taxes is never popular. All I ask is that you check the facts yourself. Visit the library. Check out the accomplishments and observe the need for increased

We have a library that we can all be proud of, and our library needs us all to be informed and to vote Aug.

The Roads We Travel

Who to call

> Brent Bair

There appears to be a high level of confusion regarding who is responsible for maintaining and improving roads. A common question is:

"Who is responsible for the roads in the village and the township, and who do I call if I've got a concern regarding a road?"

There are four types of roads in the village and township: private roads, village streets, county roads and state highways (also referred to as state trunklines).

Private roads are the responsibility of abutting property owners. The village is responsible for village streets, and it is the village that should be contacted regarding concerns about village streets.

In the township, if it is not a private road, then it is a county road under the jurisdiction of the Oakland County Road Commission (OCRC). Townships in Michigan do not have direct responsibility for roads. County road commissions are responsible for all nonprivate local roads in townships.

The OCRC is responsible for only three roads in the village: Clarkston Road east of M-15; Washington Street from M-15 west to White Lake; and White Lake Road from Washington Street south to the village limit. The remainder are private roads or village streets.

If you have a concern regarding a county road, call the OCRC's Department of Citizen Services at 858-4804. They will get you an answer to your concern.

The numbered roads in the village and township, US-10 (Dixie Highway), M-15 (Ortonville Road) and I-75 are the responsibility of the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT).

MDOT, however, contracts with the OCRC to do normal maintenance on the state highways, such as snow removal and pot hole filling. That's why you will see county trucks out working on those roads. Major changes, such as the current widening of I-75, are carried out totally by MDOT, using contractors.

To make it easy for you, if you have a concern about a state highway, call the OCRC at the number provided above. If the OCRC staff cannot give you an answer directly, they will pass your concern onto MDOT for response.

Next week: "I pay all these taxes; why can't I get my

It's illegal to pass on right at Waldon-Main

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Even with the signal blinking Kathy Hyde's intention to turn right, drivers try to pass her van on the right - creating near-accidents, as happened five times in two days last week.

The location of Hyde's narrow driveway, flanked by stone walls, is the culprit, but it's also illegal to pass on the right at that spot, she said.

If you were to drive west on Waldon Road across Main Street, Clarkston, you would end up in Hyde's driveway.

"It's a mess," Hyde said. "We get sworn at a lot. People get out of their cars trate because they have to slam on their brakes."

She and her husband always use their blinkers and are as cautious as can be because they often have their 1-year-old in the car, she said.

"We're more worried about him than about any damage to the car," she said. "People say to us, 'Why don't you go another way?' Well, that's our only driveway."

If people continue to pass on the right, deputies from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) told her to get a description of the car, the license plate

Cash, checks gone

A walkie-talkie and about $7,000 in money were stolen July 15 from Tim's Towing on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

About 6 p.m. July 14, deputies at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) responded to an alarm at the Independence Township business, but the owner found nothing missing.

The next day, a brown leather case with $2,100 in cash, $4,330 in checks and $500 in Visa and Mastercard receipts was discovered missing.

A $1,800 walkie talkie was also missing.

The case is still under investigation, said Detective Sgt. Doug Hummel of the OCSD.

number and a description of the driver, and they would attempt to ticket the drivers at fault.

Sgt. Berry Zeeman of the OCSD said drivers commonly pass southbound Main Street vehicles that are turning left onto Waldon Road. But it's illegal, he "Even though it's not marked two lanes, there is space togothrough there,... (but) people should not pass on the right," he said. "It's not marked. It's not a continuous flow of traffic."

Anyone stopped for passing on the right would be ticketed for improper passing, he said.

Drain situation frustrates Independence resident

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ernie Severance is worried again about the Walters Lake drain on his property on Lakeview Drive, Independence Township.

An ongoing problem because of the debris the drain carries from Clarkston Road into Walters Lake, the drain was improved and cleaned two years ago when the Oakland County Road Commission improved the curves

Rezoning OK'd

Property at 9282 Dixie Highway was rezoned from residential (R-3) to office service (OS) by the Springfield Township Board on July 14 in a 5-0 vote.

Treasurer Patricia Kramer was absent from the board meeting, and Clerk J. Calvin Walters abstained because he has a possible interest in purchasing the property.

Supervisor Collin Walls expressed his support of the rezoning, because it would provide a buffer between the residential and commercial areas.

"I am not in favor of commercial property up and down Dixie," he said.

There was no indication from the property owner, Lloyd Bain, regarding the intended use, Walls said, but an OS zoning allows for some service-type businesses as well as office, such as barber or beauty shops.

Auto shop to move

The site plan for a 30-by-64-foot building at Bridge Lake Auto Parts on Dixie Highway was approved by the Springfield Township Board on July 14.

Owners Madeline and Steve Poniatowski Jr. want to move their Steve's Auto Repair shop from its present location at the corner of Andersonville Road and Dixie Highway in Waterford Township.

"I just want to put it all in one area to oversee the operation," he said after the meeting.

They would also be adding landscaping and asphalt parking areas to the complex.

Following the approval, Supervisor Collin Walls said, "Mr. and Mrs. Poniatowski have assured me the newbuilding will be just like the rest of the improvements they have made to the property, and they have done an excellent job."

on Clarkston Road in the northeast quadrant of the township.

But now it's a mess again, said the 16-year resident of the township and former president of the lake property owners association.

"It's a drain big enough that a small child could walk in, but it's filled up with dirt now," he said.

Even without much rain this year, dirt almost fills up the concrete drain and has left a peninsula in Walters Lake, he said.

One of the catch basins was filled with water July 14, even though it had been weeks since any significant rain dropped, Severance said.

At this rate, the drain could quickly fill up entirely and flood the nearby homes, he said, adding road commission officials haven't yet inspected the situation.

"I want them to clean this mess up," he said. "It's their responsibility."

Before the bottle return law, 40 to 50 beer cans and bottles could be found at the drain outlet at any given time, he said, adding residents would clean up the mess.

through the drain. Although government officials say the trash won't hurt the lake, the effects may take a while to show up, said Severance.

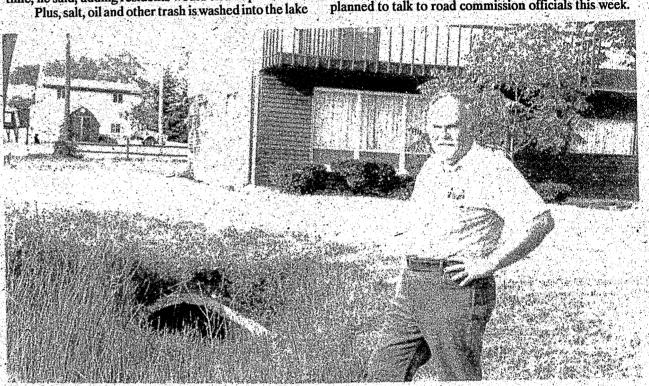

When he called the complaint number at the road commission, the clerk was very nice and had documentation of his previous calls, he said. Yet the drain problem still exists.

Walter Doherty, spokesperson for the road commission, said he didn't personally know of the Walters Lake drain problem, but he gave a name and number of someone Severance could call who would investigate it.

"We try to resolve these things," he said. "We try to be something more than an unreachable bureaucracy. A single citizen is very important to us."

The road commission usually negotiates with the township to find a solution in cases such as these, he said, adding he hadn't talked to township officials and couldn't speak on this particular case.

Independence Township Supervisor Frank Ronk said he was aware of the Walters Lake drain problem and planned to talk to road commission officials this week.

THE WALTERS LAKE DRAIN is almost filled with dirt and residue from Clarkston Road. The drain deposited materials that have formed a peninsula in the lake across the street from Ernie Severance's residence of 16 years on Lakeview Drive.

The award was given in recognition of an innovative program to revitalize an East Detroit neighborhood.

"I make the time to help, but I have to be selective," says Brenda, who works an average of 60-70 hours perweek. "If you can help somebody else improve the quality of their life, that's the basis of my decision (on what areas to help in). It is very satisfying."

AGE: 42

FAMILY: Married 20 years to Tom Schneider. They have one daughter, 16-year-old Jennifer. The family lives in the Cranberry Lake area of Independence Township.

They are a family of commuters. Brenda drives 90 miles a day to and from the Renaissance Center in Detroit. Tom commutes 140 miles to work at Michigan State University, Lansing. Jennifer commutes 40 miles a day to Marian High School in Birmingham, where she will be a senior this fall. "I love what I come home to," Brenda says: "We've lived here 10 years. Clarkston is a special community."

OCCUPATION: Vice president and director of community relations for Manufacturers Bank. A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, she joined Manufacturers Bank in

She serves as a resource person for universities, schools, businesses, labor unions and governmental agencies. She has appeared on talk shows and authored a newspaper column, Money Go Round.

She chairs the bank's public affairs committee, is a former member of the Consumer Advisory Council for the Federal Reserve Board, and serves on the editorial review board for the Journal of Retail Banking. She was recently named to a state school board panel to help with the projected $102 million deficit in Detroit schools.

Vocational school sports new name

Anyone dialing the voc school recently may have noticed that the school has a new name.

The Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center is now the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus.

The name change was approved by Oakland Intermediate School District board of education in late June.

"The name is more reflective of current programs, technical equipment and career goals of the students who are going on for post-secondary degrees," said Dan Manthei, principal at the technical center.

The school has also been named administering agent for a $30,000 grant awarded by the Michigan Department of Education to develop a regional delivery system of vocational technical educational services in the northwest quadrant. (The region consists of four school districts - Brandon, Clarkston, Holly and Waterford, plus Oakland Community College.)

The grant is one of four awarded by the state, Manthei said.

In the past the four school districts, plus OCC and the voc school have offered vocational technical education programs, but there was no coordinated plan, Manthei said.

"The regional delivery system would be developed to complement rather than compete," Manthei said.

News of the school's name change and grant was announced at the July 11 Clarkston board of education meeting.

Also at the meeting, assistant principal Doug Pierson reported that Oakland Technical Center is conducting several 80-hour training sessions for skilled trades employees of CPC Engineering, General Motors. The school contracted with GM for the training, which started the end of June.

Fireworks off for county 4-H fair

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

There will be no fireworks display at the Oakland County 4-H Fair this year.

On July 14, the Springfield Township Board rejected the request for a fireworks permit due to the severe drought conditions, the proclamation from Gov. James Blanchard banning fireworks and the liability of the township if there were a fire.

Although the 4-H Fair Board has insurance, said Trustee William Whitley, "a million dollars worth of insurance doesn't go very far if you burn down a couple

He also said he thought the township would be sending a bad message to the community that things are OK if fireworks were allowed.

"Things are not OK," he said. "It's a desperate situation."

Trustee Glen Vermilye agreed, saying younger people might be running around with fireworks as well.

Supervisor Collin Walls said they sympathized with the fair board and noted that the county fair has been held in Springfield Township for many years. But there was not much rain in the long-range forecast for this area. which has been plagued by drought.

The vote on the motion not to approve fireworks at the fair this year was 5-0. Treasurer Patricia Kramer was absent, and Trustee Charles Oaks, a volunteer firefighter in Springfield Township, abstained.

The fireworks would have taken place on Aug. 3 after dark. The Oakland County Fair is scheduled Aug. 1-6 at Springfield Oaks County Park on Andersonville Road near Davisburg.

Springfield cuts tax rate

No truth in taxation hearing will be held in Springfield Township this year.

The board voted at its July 14 meeting not to hold the hearing.

A truth in taxation hearing is necessary, by state law, if the township is going to collect tax funds in excess of the previous year. (Any taxes at the current operational millage rate, minus any Headlee rollback, when property taxes assessments have increased).

By not holding the hearing, the township will be limited to .9151 per mill. Under the Headlee Amendment, they would only be allowed .9217, and Supervisor Collin Walls noted that the difference is mininal.

p.m. before the regular board meetings and it was very productive," she said. "But only two people came. I'm hoping people have begun to pay attention. We need to work together.' Superintendent Gary Haner agreed, saying, "The one encouraging thing to me is that I'm hearing the same concerns from the board and the community. It says these are things we ALL need to work on."

It was Haner's first board meeting as superintendent of Clarkston schools, and he reiterated to the audience a goal he had shared with the board and the press: convening a committee on excellence to incorporate goals and concerns of the community and the schools about education in Clarkston.

A new item on the school board agenda was reflective of his open communications policy: A welcome of guests and community comments item at the beginning of the meeting.

During that segment of the meeting, Johns recapped the success of the millage election. "We've distilled a few key ideas from the campaign," she said.

The outpouring of volunteer workers - over 600 was due in part to the critical aspect of the campaign, but was still wonderful, she said, as was the overwhelming victory of the millage increase.

On June 13 in nearly a 2-1 margin, voters approved a 5.5 operational millage increase for Clarkston schools and a $5.2 million bond issue for school repairs. Of the district's registered voters, 7,028, or about 45 percent,

The success was due, in part, to the person-toperson approach, Johns said, and to the network in each school building - "There was never a letdown in enthu-

New committees worked with non-parent groups and printed materials focused on areas that were festering, she said.

Durham and Jan Downs, part of the millage committee, offered their expertise in computers to provide the school district with a strong data base that will be a continuing asset, Johns said.

Spirit, emotion and especially communications were key ingredients in the campaign. "We helped you tell people what you wanted," Johns said, "and people turned out because they were better informed. We have high expectations that the honest and open communications will be ongoing."

Books, staff, buses feel effects of millage OK

New science textbooks are on the way for seventhand eighth-graders in Clarkston schools. The books, at a cost of $18,900, have been ordered along with approximately $59,000 in other textbooks for schools throughout Merrill Publishing Co.'s "General Science" was chosen following research by a science curriculum committee in Clarkston. Approval of the textbook came at the July 11 school board meeting.

Also, due to student demand for science at Clarkston High School, the board voted to rescind the layoff notice of teacher Richard Erhardt.

The actions of the school board are a continuing implementation of "Plan B," the plan which will restore programs in Clarkston schools to the level of 1986-87, following voter approval of a 5.5 operation millage increase in June.

Last month, the board reinstated 40 teachers, 16 non-instructional staff members and renewed the contracts of four administrators, including a full-time athletic director.

Under Plan B, a total of 24.5 support teachers and 19.5 classroom teachers at all levels will be reinstated or hired, including teachers in the following programs.

Elementary schools: music, physical education, reading support, media specialists, gifted program, foreign language. Two math support positions and a social worker are being filled.

Junior high: counseling and music. Two remediation teachers are also being filled.

Senior high: two counselors and the SEARCH program.

A district computer coordinator is also included in the plan, along with additional instructional computers at the junior high level, and improvement of administrative software at the district level.

Non-instruction personnel reinstated or hired under Plan B include library aides, school clerks, special education aide; secretary to the athletic director, bus

Plan B also restores or adds to the extracurricular activities (such as music, athletics, student government and other student activities), classroom teaching supplies, computers, special trips and school buses.

Five new buses, two 72-passenger buses and three 19-passenger special education buses, were approved at last month's board meeting.

In addition, secondary student bus route service will be reinstated to subdivisions off Nelsey and Holcomb roads, and an elementary school bus route will be added in the Green Acres subdivision, between the village of Clarkston and Deer Lake, when school resumes in the

New-look absentee ballots here

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Voters who are using absentee ballots for the Aug. 2 primary will see something a little different this year, said Clerk Richard Holman of Independence Township.

For the first time, computers will be used to count the votes, so voters will have to use a wire to punch a computer card, he said, adding residents voting in the regular way will see no change.

The absentee voter ballots were mailed July 15, and voters should use extra caution this year and read all instructions before voting.

The change to computers was necessary because 1,500 absentee voter ballots were received in the primary four years ago, and the counting board spent 17 hours counting them, said Rosemary Howey, the clerk in charge of elections.

The new computer system should shorten the counting time and require fewer people, Holman said, adding they expect a smaller number of absentee voter ballots this year.

Overall, the computer card should be easier for everyone in the long run, said Howey.

"Any change is difficult," she said. "I'm sure we're going to get phone calls because people are going to be confused, and understandably."

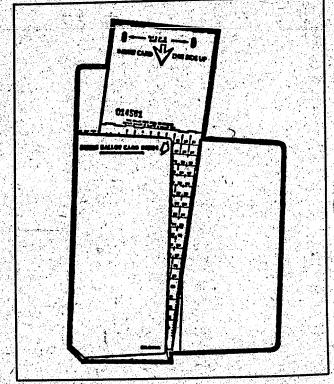

Everything is explained in the instructions, but township employees would be happy to answer questions, she said.

The most common problem with past absentee voter ballots will still be a problem this year, and voters should be on the lookout for it, she said.

In a primary, residents can only vote in one party. The purpose of the primary is to nominate the candidates within each party - to narrow down the choices to one person for each position in a political party. So if a voter chooses a candidate in the Republican Party, he may not choose a candidate in the Democratic Party or in the Tisch Independent Citizens Party.

"It's like running three separate elections for the same day," Holman said.

If someone votes for candidates in more than one party, the ballot card will automatically be disqualified by the computer, said Holman.

COMPUTERS will count absentee ballots.

"It's no different than the past paper ballots," said

Other than using an enclosed wire instead of ink to vote for a candidate, the rules are still the same, she said.

Voters should also make sure they punch the hole all the way through the cardboard and through the plastic foam backing, so the computer won't get confused by hanging cardboard.

Also, the cardboard ballot should not be separated from the plastic foam, and the enclosed green envelope should be placed around the ballot to hide the voter's choices. The green envelope may also be used to register write-in candidates.

Sports camp teaches kids basic skills of soccer

BY PETER AUCHTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Slowly but surely, America is beginning to embrace the world's most popular sporting activity.

To help increase awareness among children, three nationally certified coaches spend their summers away from school teaching in soccer camps around the area. The latest stop for the Michigan Soccer School of Excellence was in Independence Township last week.

"It's the number 1 youth sport in America," said Morris Lupenic, one of the coaches. "The last five years the growth (of the sport) has been incredible."

Bob Bukari, one of the instructors, is the state youth coach for the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association (MSYSA) that oversees all affiliated recreation programs in the state. He also is in charge of Olympic development for the youth leagues.

Bukari and Greg Thompson, a staff coach for the MSYSA, are teachers and coaches at Detroit Country Day in Birmingham. Lupenic coaches at Marian (girls) and Catholic Central (boys).

The instructors, former college players, worked with about 40 children from the Clarkston area on the soccer fields behind Bailey Lake Elementary from July Thompson, who works with the 8-and-under group, says ice hockey, a sport much more familiar to Americans, favorably compares with soccer. The same basic tactics and maneuvers are needed to succeed.

When teaching the game to kids, he tries to get them to think-on-the-fly, as you have to do in hockey, instead of follow a predetermined plan of action.

We try to give them the match experience so they can expand their creativity," he said. "The toughest thing to develop is for the player to improvise."

A few years ago, Michigan's soccer boom was pretty much limited to the Troy area. Nowadays, much to the delight of soccer enthusiasts, parity has set in on the high school level. Just this past season teams from Grand Blanc and Lansing, not Troy, battled for the state crown. That's a good sign, said Lupenic. But Clarkston kids have to work hard if they want to keep up with the pack. "This community needs (soccer camps)," he said.

"Just to the north (of Clarkston), Brandon will be going for a state title next year."

With the World Cup coming to America in 1994, the next decade may bring with it another soccer surge.

"I think the World Cup will help," he said. "The kids will be able to see the best and idolize them."

Four gain

Four teens from Independence Township recently won a state title in track at the Hershey Track and Field Meet, qualifying them for a shot at a national championship. The statewide tournament at Howell on July 15 brought together about 600 kids, ranging in age from 9 to 14, who are enrolled in track programs sponsored by their local parks and recreation departments. Jill Attaman, Jessica Doty, Bethany Rayner and Kelly Raup were part of a 10-person team sponsored by Independence Township Parks and Recreation. They won the 400-meter relay race, beating out 27 other teams. Depending on the performance of other teams in the seven-state Midwest Region, the girls might have qualified for the nationals in Pennslyvania on July 25, said Coach Gene Attaman.

"They are state champions and have a chance to go to the nationals," he said. "They did outstanding, as did the rest of the team."

Individually, Attaman was the only girl to place in an event. She took fifth in the 100-meter dash

A golfer's dream

A Pontiac man realized a golfer's dream July 11 when he sank a hole-in-one at the Pine Knob Golf Course.

Joe Cardillo was using a 6-iron on the 165-yard third hole when he registered the ace. It was the first of his career.

Cardillo, who resides on Watkins Lake Road, finished the nine-hole round with a score of 52.

Time out

Funny game

Peter Auchter

Sometimes kids can do the strangest things, not to mention the funniest, without even trying. Comics of the world, eat your hearts out.

Watching a T-ball game - either the baseball or softball variety - is entertainment at its highest level. Head out to a local ballfield at 10 a.m. Mondays and Wednesdays; you'll be pleasantly surprised.

Oh sure, there is an abundance of goof-ups and blunders, enough to keep Channel 4's Bernie Smilovitz in business for years. But there is an equal number of good - sometimes lucky - plays turned in by the participants.

At no other level of baseball, from the Pony League to the Major League, is there as much entertainment as there is in T-ball.

Ignoring the 11th Commandment (don't fix what isn't broken), I've got a way to make a good thing even better.

First, everybody in the field will be outfitted with a butterfly net strapped to the back of one hand. An official Huckleberry Finn slingshot will be issued to each and every player as well.

With these tools at their disposal, the infielders will have a 50-50 shot at nailing the runner heading to first base. Hopefully, it won't hurt too much should they succeed. After all, boys and girls, this is just a game. Not an exercise in the Persian Gulf.

One problem solved, two to go.

For the hitters, we'll install repelling magnets in their bats and baseballs. As all good scientists know, whenever the bat magnet is waved anywhere near the ball magnet, a reaction will take place. In other words, a guaranteed hit no matter how bad the batter swings.

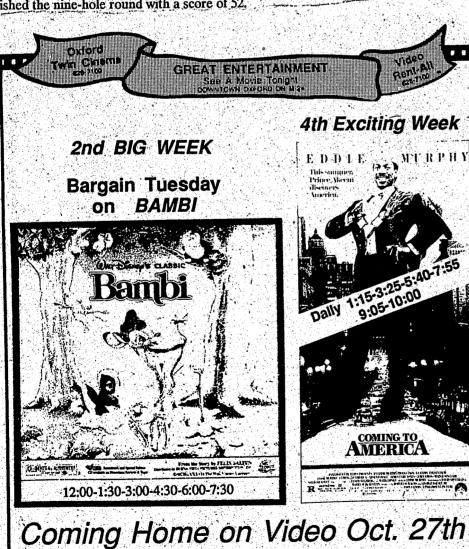

Two problems down, one to go.

For the distinguished base runners - who never fail to get hung up between bases, overrun stop signs or plain just don't know where to go - there will be electronic helmets complete with radio receivers. Now the coach can call out directions in stereo and nobody would have an excuse such as, "I didn't hear ya coach!"

Ahh, now that's much better. Of course, none of these changes will happen overnight, but they're something to look for in the coming years. Maybe by the time I'm a grandpa and watching a T-ball game, these futuristic devices will be commonplace. Then again, maybe by that time we'll be playing a new sport.

Zero-gravity soccer anyone?

Cash goes to vans for seniors

Senior citizen van expenses in Holly and Independence townships will be eased by approximately $6,000 from Springfield Township, following township board action July 14.

The board voted to divide its Southeast Michigan Transit Authority (SEMTA) credit between the two senior citizen center vans, because seniors in Springfield Township use vans from both townships.

Springfield's SEMTA allowance is just over $6,000 this year. Because the township can no longer charter a SEMTA bus, the allocation is divided between the two senior citizen centers for the use of the vans.

But Springfield Township resident Steve Jantz told the board that the Independence Township Senior Center brochures state that only Independence Township seniors can use the vans.

When contacted after the meeting, the center's assistant coordinator Sharon Turner said the expense became too great and citizens from many other townships were requesting use of the van. She also said they had not received last year's allocation from Springfield Township.

Part of the problem, Walls explained later, is a mixup in communications. He said the situation would be corrected, and the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center would receive last year's and this year's allocation, providing services would be available to seniors in Springfield.

The criminal soon fled, and police tracked him but didn't catch him.

Five spent :12-gauge shotgun shells were found outside the residence and in a neighboring yard, said Detective Sgt. Doug Hummel of the OCSD. One live shell was also found.

Three holes had been shot into the service door near the garage, and the shotgun blast struck the the wall and the car inside.

agrees to reconsider Sashabaw sewer

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Staff Writer

It looks as if a sanitary sewer on Sashabaw Road will get the necessary support, even though it was rejected in a split vote by the Independence Township Board on July

The proposal was to get a second chance July 19, after one of the board members changed her position, and another board member, absent from the first meeting, could attend.

Following a July 12 public hearing, Supervisor Frank Ronk, Treasurer John Lutz and Clerk Richard Holman voted in favor of the sewer, proposed for Sashabaw Road between McDonald's Restaurant and Waldon Road, where a shopping center is in the planning Voting against the sewer were trustees Carol Balzarini, Daniel Travis and William Vandermark. Trustee Dale Stuart was absent.

After the 3-3 vote, which defeated the motion to approve the sewer, Holman said he planned to ask the board to reconsider at the next meeting, when Stuart would be present.

On July 14, the planning commission also voted to ask the board to reconsider and to give the board a list of reasons to approve the sewer.

Balzarini, who is a member of the planning commission and the township board, said confusion surrounded the vote and that she now favors the sewer.

"I think it was a communication problem," she told planning commissioners. "The full-timers were totally aware of the project from start to finish. The part-timers were not.

"If we don't do it now this way, the money to do this will come out of a (tax increment financing authority) on Sashabaw, which means less money for landscaping and lighting.'

Planning consultant Richard Carlisle said he couldn't understand the township board's first action.

"Sashabaw Road was pinpointed by this commission and the board as the focal point for growth," he said. "You can't have good growth on septic tanks.

This is what planning is all about. Right now on Dixie Highway it's always a catch-up game. ... Let's make Sashabaw the showcase."

At the July 12 public hearing before the township board, residents showed up from Bow Pointe Drive, a private road from which residents were accidentally notified that they might have to pay for the sewer.

Bow Pointe residents will not be served by the Sashabaw Road sewer and will not be asked to pay for it, said George Anderson, director of the township department of public works.

Before the error was detected, two Bow Pointe residents forcefully objected to paying for the sewer.

Another resident, Sharon Ashton of Sashabaw Road, said she was angry that she was not informed about the plans for a sewer. She added that she was not asked to sign a petition requesting the board to consider the sewer, and she did not want to pay for it.

Paul Verhey, who owns property on Sashabaw Road, said he originally signed the petition, requesting a sewer to be paid for by all of the benefiting people. But he didn't think it was fair to make everyone pay, he said. "One person asked for this sewer, not the 45 people involved. ... Let him pay for it, if he wants it," he said.

Patricia Kent owns property on Sashabaw Road and said she and her neighbors had wanted a sewer for years. She added that she was grateful to the shopping center developer for starting the petition.

"I think it's the best thing I've heard in a long time," she said. "I think it will do the whole area a lot of good and encourage the right type of growth."

After voting against the sewer, Vandermark said the shopping center developer should pay for it.

"It's going to encourage rapid growth in that area. Do we want that?" he asked.

Balzarini said she never knew about the developer's plans to ask others to help pay for the sewer.

. "It seems to me that (he) should be paying for this or at least most of it," she said

Arkan Jonna, who owns five grocery stores in Michigan, plans to build a medium-sized grocery store at the southwest corner of Sashabaw and Waldon roads.

He also plans to rent space for a drug store and to rent an additional 25,000 to 30,000 square feet for community service type tenants, such as a dry cleaner.

After the vote, Anderson said Jonna had always planned to ask the benefiting property owners to split the

He added that the board's action was focused on the necessity of the sewer, not the method of paying for it.

It would take about eight months to go through the petition process again if the board did not reconsider, he

Springfield awards 15-year cable-TV franchise

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

North Oakland Cablevision is coming to Springfield Township, and some residents could have service as early as November or December.

Following a public hearing July 14, the township board voted to award the cable franchise to North Oakland Cablevision.

President of the company Gary Voelker, a township resident, was on hand with two other representatives of the firm to answer concerns of residents during the public Steve Jantz asked if the company would be monitoring all calls regarding cable and were told that there would be a 24-hour toll-free phone service available.

Per the franchise contract, the company has agreed to maintain an office during normal business hours within the township or not more than 10 miles outside. Subscribers will be credited for outages that extend more than 24 hours after the company has been notified.

An in-home two-way system will be offered that allows residents to add or delete pay services, without the need for a visit by company personnel, and allows parental control on individual channels.

Jane Campbell, township resident, asked if the system would be high resolution compatible. She was told that engineering technology must first be refined...

Her husband, John Campbell, asked about additional charges for homes more than 200 feet from the primary cable service. He was told that the charge would depend on each situation.

Homes located within 200 feet of the service will be provided cable service at an installation charge of $20 (discounts will be given during the first 90 days of system marketing in any given area). Homes farther from the service will have additional charges for time and materials necessary.

Residents can buy the basic cable service (43 channels) for $14.95 per month with additional charges for extra services and channels. The system will have a minimum of 54 channels.

The company will pay the township 3 percent of gross revenue as a franchise fee during the first six years, and 6 percent for seven to 15 years, with a maximum overall fee of 5 percent. The company will pre-pay $10,000 to the township.

During the first four years of the franchise agreement, the township board may elect to use the $10,000 for equipment for a public access channel instead of as a fee advance. In addition, North Oakland Cablevision would commit 2 percent of its gross revenues to assist in the support of the public access channel.

The township began the process of acquiring cable television in early 1987, when several companies expressed an interest in Springfield Township. After seeking proposals through advertisements, the township received three. The two companies submitting proposals in addition to North Oakland were Empire Cable and After extensive review, the township board voted to give North Oakland first chance at the franchise, which is a 15-year contract.

The company has agreed to initially provide service to areas that have 15 homes per mile, and additions to the system when density reaches 20 homes per mile. Approximately 75 percent of the township will eventually. have cable service.

"I've never been involved with cable and never had it," Walls said after the board awarded the franchise. "But I've worked-with people (on this) who are exceptionally cooperative. I believe we've made the proper

38-lot subdivision receives first OK

Residents on Snowapple and Eastlawn roads may have some new neighbors behind them next year.

Developer Michael Hofer's 38-lot Waldon Woods subdivision south of Waldon Road received the first approval from the Independence Township Planning Commission, and Hofer said he hoped to begin construction in September.

The commission members approved the tentative preliminary plat for 18 acres in a 4-1 vote July 21. Additional approvals from the commission and from the township board are necessary before construction can begin.

A tentative preliminary plat shows the subdivision layout including lot sizes, lot configuration, streets and water and sewer plans.

Carol Balzarini cast the lone dissenting vote. After the meeting, she explained her rationale.

"It's just a lot of little things that add up to one big thing," she said, listing changes to the land, the trees and Waldon Road, where a passing lane may be required.

"Unfortunately, he meets all of the ordinance requirements," she said.

Voting in favor of the plat were Chairperson Brent Bair, Joe Figa, Jo Fussman and Steve Secatch. Dr. Bruce Mercado and Richard Oppmann were absent.

The commission also recommended that the zoning board of appeals allow a 10-foot setback variance for the front yards to allow some of the houses to be staggered for aesthetic purposes.

Hofer said he could build in the 15,000 square-foot lots without the variance, but the subdivision would look better if the houses could be staggered.

Belgians find Americans friendly

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Staff Writer

From July 1 to July 16, a black, yellow and red flag rippled in the wind from the front porch of the Fenton residence on Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Barbara Fenton said the Belgium Flag would fly from their home every day that the Draguet family of Soignies, Belgium, stayed with them.

The Draguets left last weekend; and the parting was sad, said Barbara. The two families had built up a high regard for each other.

Before the plane flight out of the country, the two families gathered in the Fentons' living room to talk about their friendship. Bob Fenton sometimes served as an interpreter.

It all began in July 1984 when the now 21-year-old Alain Draguet arrived at the Fentons' residence to live while attending Clarkston High School as an exchange

Through Alain, the Fentons learned about Belgium, about the French language and about Alain's family.

At the Fentons' invitation, Alain's mother, Lina, visited for a week in December of 1986. Then, Bob Fenton, a 1979 CHS graduate, traveled to Belgium for a year-long visit with the Draguets.

Bob, who earned a bachelor's degree with a major in French from Oakland University, Rochester, could fluently read and write French, but he knew his speech wasn't as smooth.

He was happy to have a chance to practice the language, he said, adding he enjoyed living with the Draguets.

Bob's parents, Barbara and Charles, visited him at the Draguets in Belgium, and the family relationships were solidified.

The Draguets, who had traveled through the United States twice before Alain's year-long stay, were impressed by the friendliness of the people, said Andre, Alain's father.

The only drawback is the language barrier, he said. Still, people always ask about their travels and their country, and he does his best with the English he learned in school.

He laughed when he told of the most commonly. asked question: "Where is Belgium?'

Americans aren't familiar with European geography, he said.

The questions people ask reveal a little about themselves, he said. For instance, after they find out where Belgium is, Americans always ask, "What do you think of this country, and what do you think of the people?" Andre said.

"It's in the American mentality to worry about what others think about them," he said. "And people take it personally if you don't like their country."

Does your child SCOLIOSIS?

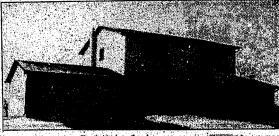

Chiropractors, as pioneers of spinal research, recommend that the best time to detect scollosis is when the child is in the most vulnerable years (4-10 years old). Scoliosis, which is the lateral or side to side curvature of the spine, can eventually cripple a person. Unfortunately, without early detection, it can remain unnoticed until it has progressed to crippling proportions. Have your child checked for scoliosis by a doctor of chiropractic. The curvature can often be corrected or reduced through regular chiropractic adjustments. Don't let your children suffer needlessly.

A 26-year-old Brandon Township woman was injured in a three-car accident July 11 on Sashabaw Road. Independence Township.

Francis A. Monaco, who was not wearing a seat belt in the 5:55 p.m. accident, was treated and released from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Monaco was driving northbound on Sashabaw Road when a southbound vehicle, driven by Terri L. Copenhaver, 22, turned left onto Clarkston Road, colliding with Monaco's vehicle, according to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD).

Copenhaver's vehicle then rolled over and struck a westbound vehicle on Clarkston Road that was stopped at the traffic light. The westbound vehicle was driven by Mona Rae Cottick, 38, of Newcastle, Independence Township, who was carrying four passengers. None were

A car stolen from Clarkston's Depot Park on July 10 turned up the next day in Buffalo, N.Y.

A 17-year-old Brandon Township boy was stopped at the Canadian - United States border by a U.S. customs officer, said Sgt. Patrick Miles, in charge of the North Oakland Auto Theft Squad for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The customs officer ran the license plate number in the computer and found it listed as stolen, so the car was confiscated, said Miles.

The boy's identity will not be released until the investigation is complete and he's been charged with the crime, he said.

The 1984 Ford Bronco was stolen between 8:30 and 10:30, a.m. Sunday, July 10, while its owner, Steven Coulter, was cycling in the Clarkston area.

Strange questions greet visitors

In Belgium, which rests between France and Germany on the North Sea and has about as many people as the city of New York, foreigners are a common sight and don't usually attract attention.

Also, not many people would be offended by what others had to say, he said. But differences exist between the two cultures.

Alain said he was shocked by the drugs he saw as a CHS student.

"When I was here in school, many young people used drugs," he said.

The American society seems to put a great emphasis on drugs and alcohol, as illustrated when he and his 23-year-old brother, Philiep, were asked to show their passports when they lunched at the Renaissance Center, Detroit. Belgium doesn't have a drinking age.

Another "stupid law" is the law prohibiting alcohol sales before noon on Sunday, Andre said.

Andre tried to buy a bottle of champagne as a house gift for the Fentons' relatives up north, with whom Andre visited on Lake Huron. He was told to come back in a few hours when the sale would be legal.

He couldn't understand the law, he said.

But what he dislikes most in the country is the prevalent racism. It exists all over the world, but it seems so unprovoked here, he said.

When they visited Cedar Point during their stay, they overheard people talking badly about innocent blacks who crossed their paths. But it's also more subtle, he said.

"At times, Americans aren't conscious of it themselves," he said.

On the other hand, the people are very nice. "The warmth of the welcome is really impressive," he said. "No matter what state you go into, it's always the Alain agreed.

He laughed when he told of the most commonly asked question: "Where is Belgium?"

"The way the people go to you to say hello and say,
I want to speak to you.' In Belgium, the people are more reserved," he said.

Philipp's favorite part of his visit is the Fenton family, he said, adding he did not like a common American food, peanut butter.

Laughing, Bob pointed out that Philipp eats something equally disgusting, sugar and sour cream.

Lina said she wishes she could speak English to convey her feelings to the kind people she has met. She wants to return the warmth, she said.

Bob said the lifestyles between the two countries are-different.

In Belgium, many women are still in the home and cook everything from scratch. Americans wouldn't find prepared foods, such as a Betty Crocker cake mix in Belgium, he said.

Also, families are smaller in Belgium. A family with four children would be considered huge, Lina said.

The Draguets pointed out that almost everything is bigger in America - cities, the cars, the distance between houses.

In Belgium, public transportation is so extensive that many people don't own cars.

And in Belgium, there are no open fields, no undeveloped land. Everything is old and is used and Across the street from the Draguets' residence is a 1,000-year-old cathedral.

It's a great country, said Bob.

STUDENTS AND TEACHERS learn from each other during an experimental study conducted by Dr. Andrew Gunsberg of Oakland University at Bailey Lake Elementary School on July 13. The month-long program, which meets one day a week, teaches pre-kindergarten pupils how to cope in a classroom and shows instructors how well youngsters react to different teaching methods.

Kindergarten 'summer school' serves dual role

BY PETER AUCHTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

With mothers and younger siblings in tow, about 30 pre-kindergarten students have become the subjects of an Oakland University educational study.

Wednesday mornings, from July 13 through Aug. 10, the kids gather at Bailey Lake Elementary for a series of 11/2-hour introductory kindergarten activity sessions conducted by Oakland University's Dr. Andrew

To make the transition into a classroom experience for the children as painless as possible, parents were invited to stay and watch the proceedings

While the goal is to familiarize children with the classroom experience, Gunsberg, assistant professor of ec the ses early childhood education, al of the early childhood curriculum course he's teaching

Graduate students enrolled in his class double as mentors for the children who participate in a variety of activities ranging from playing house to painting or coloring during each session. Each mentor uses a different teaching technique. Some play with students like a friend, others only respond when asked and still others

"It's a pilot study on different teaching studies and their effect on children's behavior," the professor said.

Unfortunately, Gunsberg needed to limit the number of students in the class and accepted registration on a first-come, first-serve basis. Several parents thought the program was sponsored by Clarkston schools and couldn't understand when their children were turned

While the program is an experiment this summer, the sessions may become a regular event for all area students, Gunsberg said.

"If this does work out, then this might be something the school district considers valuable," he said.

Oldies spring to life with The Hits

BY PETER AUCHTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Request a song, especially one from the 1950s or 60s. Chances are good that the two-member band, The Hits, knows how to play it.

Before forming the musical group, the two Clarkston High School graduates were part of a country/ western band. Before that, Mark Harrington was involved in heavy metal and Terry Stevenson in folk music, of the Crosby, Stills and Nash variety.

The twosome made the radical switch from country/western to oldies after watching an act in the Back Seat Saloon in Keego Harbor one night about six years

"I always liked oldies music," said Stevenson, a 1974 graduate of CHS. "The oldies scene was happening, it was really cooking."

Harrington, a 1975 graduate of CHS, knew the time was right to make the switch.

We really liked what (the oldies groups) were doing so we decided to break away" from country/ western, he said.

Because of their vast musical differences, the twosome are confident they can please almost every type of audience. They devote a good portion of their stage performances nowadays to requests.

One of their goals as performers is to involve the audience as much as possible, if the conditions are right.

"We try to get the audience involved, but you can tell when the audience doesn't want to be bothered," said Stevenson. "You don't want to embarrass anyone."

The group got plenty of experience and exposure by working five nights a week at Fox and Hounds in Bloomfield Hills for several years. They also picked up a lot of extra work from patrons of the establishment.

A two-week gig in Hawaii and a stay on Mackinac Island were two of their more unusual engagements. But they were thankful for their long stay at the Fox and Hounds for more than just the exotic adventures the job spawned. "We were the house band five nights a week," said Harrington. "We we able to do that because of the tremendous turnover they have. I saw new faces every night. That keeps it fresh for you."

After a few years of performing night-after-night, the lifelong Waterford Township residents decided it was time to broaden their horizons.

Both Harrington, a father of three, and Stevenson, a four-time dad, are actively involved in their respective churches as worship leaders.

Harrington attends Zion Evangelist in Clawson with his wife Susan and works with junior high age students, teaching them Christian principles through drama, skits and music. Stevenson leads the worshipers in song each service at Shepard Fellowship, the White Lake Township church he attends with his wife Christine.

Ivan Rouse, director of the Clarkston Conservatory of Music, knows both of the musicians and is impressed with their artistic ability.

"Terry can play everything by ear," he said. "Mark also is very talented."

Performing oldies still is the staple of their show they limit themselves to weekend one-night stands now but their musical tastes are changing.

"I'd like to be a Christian singer," said Stevenson. "I'd like to do that, but it doesn't pay the bills."

The Hits' next gig will be at the Cedar Crest Academy on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township on Friday, July 29.

Both musicians grew up in families heavily involved in the music business in some way.

Stevenson is the 11th of 12 children. His father. called Uncle Jimmy Stevenson, was a famous piano player on many old Detroit television shows like Soupy Sales, The Johnny Ginger Show and several others.

At one time, eight of the Stevensons earned money from their music careers. Today, four remain working musicians.

"I come from a long line of musicians," Stevenson said. "We are really blessed because we love it."

Harrington has three brothers who were working musicians at one time, but he is the only one making a living at it today. His parents like music - his father plays the accordion - but never made it a profession.

"We have been around (music) forever," said Harrington. "We have a lot of fun with it."

The twosome have worked together musically for 12 years now and have gotten to know each other's capabilities pretty well. Performing people's favorite songs, though, remains their specialty.

'If one of us knows (the song) we can play it," Harrington said. "The combination works really well."

Benefit concert features The Hits

Two Clarkston High School graduates will fill the air with golden melodies from the 1950s and 1960s when they perform at the Cedar Crest Academy on Friday, July 29.

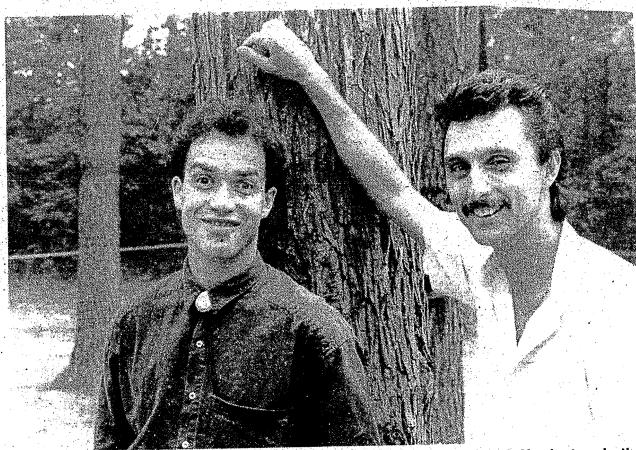

Presented by the Clarkston Conservatory of Music, The Hits (who are Mark Harrington and Terry Stevenson) will entertain at the picnic-and-dance event for a $10 donation.

Ivan Rouse, director of the conservatory, has known the men for a number of years and was extremely pleased when he got them to play at the private elementary school at 8970 Dixie Highway in Springfield Township.

'They can play '50s' and '60s' music magnificently," he said. "They are both very talented."

The audience is/encouraged to bring a picnic and enjoy the music of The Hits from 7 p.m. until midnight. All proceeds from the concert go toward the Clarkston conservatory.

For tickets, call Dolores Imbrunone at 625-7270.

THE HITS, a two-man band that plays music from the 1950s and 1960s, consists of Terry

Mother, son share '88 graduation celebration

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ever since she had to leave school at the age of 16 to care for her sick mother, Yvonne Sampson wanted to go back and get her diploma.

Two years ago, she began working toward that goal, and this June 8, she graduated from the Adult Performance Level Program at Clarkston Community Learning

A week later on June 15, her son Jon graduated from Clarkston High School.

He was happy about the mother-and-son graduations. Yvonne had asked her son if it would bother him if she graduated from high school at the same time.

I told her sure, go ahead," Jon says. "She's had a lot of illness and I think it's a great-accomplishment for Yvonne's decision to go back to school came about when she suddenly had more time than usual after the family band stopped performing.

She played keyboard, her husband, Jack, sang, and Jon played drums in the band. A friend played guitar.

But when Yvonne had carpal tunnel surgery on both hands, the band dissolved. Her husband and son now have a disc jockey business instead, and Yvonne has a new diploma that she hopes will lead to further education and a real estate career someday.

"It was different, to go back to school after 23 years," she says. "And a lot of work."

Jack, who works for General Motors, says he gave both mother and son a lot of encouragement.

"I thought it was great. I told them to go for it," he says. "It seemed my wife had a clipboard attached to her for two years."

Many times, mother and son had mutual assignments and studied together.

Jon plans to go on to a career in radio broadcasting or recording engineering, and will attend Specs Howard School of Broadcasting in Southfield next spring.

But first, the Independence Township family has a couple of disc jockey bookings in Florida, and a weeklong vacation in Hawaii to enjoy this fall.

The trip to Hawaii was a graduation present to Jon from Yvonne's father and stepmother.

"They told him three years ago if he made it through high school without any major difficulties, they would send the whole family to Hawaii," Yvonne says. "And they kept their promise."

Blame it on Elvis

Excuse me, Mr. Norm, put down your newspaper for just a sec. Hey, Mrs. Norm; how about stepping out of the kitchen. You people look a bit preoccupied, maybe even troubled. So what's up?

Oh, wait a minute. I think I see the problem here. Little Johnny had his hair cut today. It happens,

Only thing wrong is that he had it all cut off - all except for the little skull and crossbones on the back of his head. Wow, I didn't know they could do that with

So, Lguess this comes as quite a shock to you folks. See if this doesn't help. Let's play a little game; sort of a quasi-psychotic "Name That Tune." Bet you can't.

Heard any good Megadeath lately? No? How about the Dead Milkmen? Metallica? Sex Pistols? Answer's still no, huh?

I'll bet Johnny is familiar with these bands. And that's fine; it's his choice. Because there is one thing, Mr. and Mrs. Norm, that you must remember: The bobbysox and poodle skirts of your generation have given way to the combat boots and male earrings of ours.

Thirty-some-odd years ago the door to an entirely new sound of music was opened; and with it a Pandora's

How else can one explain the state of rock music today? Even that very essential term, rock, has been rendered obsolete. Instead, you are left with a gaggle of factions, each with its very distinct style and sound.

At one end of the spectrum, the dark end as they'll proudly relate to you, are the Metals. What used to be allencompassed in one term, Heavy Metal, has now given way to such genres as Speed Metal and Thrash Metal to boot, along with the famed original, Metals' followers are a different breed. They're easy to identify, just like their music. Fathers know them as the guys their daughters bring home to dinner in recurring nightmares.

They're the people who have been voted most likely to use the phrase "like man" 25 or more times in a sentence ... and then pass out at your feet with a blood alcohol level of .250.

And unless a song has five or more electric guitars blazing away at once, they won't listen. Any resemblance between them and a certain curled-up-lip hound dog singer is purely coincidental.

Also at this same shady side of the musical spectrum is a no-less volatile, but much different sect called the Punks. Punks, true Punks, are a somewhat rare find.

The term in society and music today is used to describe anything that is a bit "off-the-wall," so to speak. This includes everything from computer-clean musical sounds of New Wave and Progressive (both distinct relatives of Punk, higher up the evolutionary ladder) to any kid with a skateboard and a "punk" uniform freshbought from Hudson's.

In reality, true Punks would have nothing to do with a Hudson's or with a look or sound that was "in" at any given time. Given their druthers, they would have nothing to do with organized society at all.

The norm means conform, and that they won't do. So, as everyone else's lives take a right, the Punks hang dance? Great, let's slam dance. Don't know what it is?

Example: You're in one of their clubs. Wanna

Have you seen Bob Probert cross-check? Close enough

And hey, how bout that music, feedback and all! Sounds like someone turned on five radio stations simultaneously. Oh, my ears! Hey, look, the band's done. But don't applaud, spit. Yes, in true Sid Vicious - Sex Pistols

And if they like the crowd, well, they'll give them their own little form of appreciation. But it usually doesn't make it past the first two rows. When you gotta

Please leave your social graces at the door, anarchy rules this enclave.

Thirty years ago a King was called rebellious for singing a song and swinging a hip on national television. Thirty years later his actions are paled by comparison.

If this trend holds true, the ways of the music world 2018 are anybody's guess.
