Tax requests

Township asks residents to approve 3 proposals

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Voters in Independence Township won't have much choice in electing local officials Tuesday, Nov. 8, although they'll have plenty to think about when voting for local proposals.

Only Republicans are running in Independence, so only one person will appear under the voting machine lever for each office.

On local issues, voters will be asked to renew 1.5 mills for four years to cover part of the cost of police protection; to approve a new one-half mill for four years to improve the newly acquired Baycourt Camp park on Andersonville Road; and to approve a bond for up to $2 million to build an addition to the township library on Clarkston Road.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

When selecting local officials, voters do have another option, however, said Rosemary Howey, who helps run elections from the township clerk's office.

The local level is the best opportunity for a write-in candidate to win a spot in government, although it doesn't happen too often. In Independence, a write-in candidate would need to receive more votes than the other candidates, probably around 6,000 or 7,000 votes, she said.

Into the Halloween spirit

A GHOULISH CAFE was created in the Clarkston Junior High media center by media specialist Suvonne Hogan and her assistants last week. For three days, students could dine in the center while Hogan, dressed as a witch, read ghostly poems and stories. Eerie music played in the background, and students were treated to candy for dessert. Most brought their own "grisly delights" for lunch, since the cafe's menu offered such items as "bat wing stew" or "monkey brain cake." (Photo by Pat Young)

Something new at the polling place: Voters will be asked to declare party

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Voters will see something different at the polls this year. After they exit the voting machines Nov. 8, they will be asked to fill out a form declaring their political parties.

Clerks who run elections don't like the new state law that requires the declaration for the 1992 presidential primary.

But after residents in Independence and Springfield townships vote Tuesday, Nov. 8, they'll see a table where they will be asked to fill out the form.

Voters aren't required to say whether they are a Republican or Democrat, but if they don't declare one or the other by Feb. 17, 1992, they won't be eligible to vote in the March 17, 1992, presidential primary in Michigan.

Clerk Richard Holman of Independence Township said he didn't like the change.

"We who are conducting elections are not at all happy," he said. "If you chose for philosophical reasons not to declare, you would be ineligible to vote in the 1992 primary. ... We are not at all pleased with this."

"This is pure politics," he said. "The only reason this law passed is because every politician wanted a list of who's a Republican and who's a Democrat. They have no understanding of the operations. We have a proud history in Michigan of not having to declare that."

Springfield Clerk Calvin Walters said the extra procedure puts a burden on Michigan clerks who run the elections because it adds a step in the already busy day.

"It's a nuisance," he said. "You have to change your (computer) program to run this through."

Walters stressed that voters don't have to declare Tuesday. They can wait until 1992 or take home the form and think about it and then mail it at a later date. And voters can change their minds before the 1992 primary, he said.

The party preferences can be changed any time up to 30 days before the presidential primary, but all changes must be submitted in writing to the township clerk.

This year, the Democratic Party held a caucus to choose Michael Dukakis as their candidate, and Republican delegates chose George Bush. Plans for the 1996 presidential election haven't been made yet.

Holman said clerks are starting early to ask voters to declare their parties because the Nov. 8 election is the best opportunity to contact the voters, since a high voter turnout is expected during presidential elections.

Be prepared, say officials

Don't forget to vote on Tuesday, Nov. 8. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Your precinct is listed on your voter registration card.

Voters will have an easier time if they come prepared and have their choices written out, said Clerk Calvin Walters from Springfield Township.

He expects an hour-long wait and recommends that anyone eligible to vote by absentee voter ballot do so. The ballots may be filed as late as Monday, Nov. 7, so if registered voters find out over the weekend that they won't be able to make it to the polls, they can still vote Monday, he said.

Rosemary Howey, who helps run the elections in Independence Township, said the busiest times would probably be toward the evening, when voters stop by the polls after work.

If people can arrange to show up at other times, they'll probably have a shorter wait, she said.

To help in the decision-making process, materials will be on hand for voter consideration while they wait, she said, adding that voters are supposed to spend only two or three minutes inside the voting machines.

Poll workers usually give them a little more time, but everyone should come to the polls with their minds made up, she said.

Screeching halt for speeding trucks?

Clarkston and Independence leaders work with police to address problem

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Police will crack down on truck traffic within the Village of Clarkston in November in an effort to cut down on the number of speeding heavy-duty vehicles.

Jerry Wilford of Main Street spoke Oct. 26 on the village's behalf during a meeting between township and village officials and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department on the ever-increasing dangers of high-speed truck traffic.

"Drivers set the speed limit," he said. "I have yet to go out on Main Street and not see a car or truck speeding. Trucks go over the curb to pass left-turning traffic."

The village currently subcontracts its police protection from the township, and Independence contracts with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. According to the latest agreement, the village receives four hours of traffic patrol Monday through Friday in exchange for paying the 2.5-mill townshipwide tax rate for police coverage.

Village President Sharron Catallo called for the meeting between township Supervisor Frank Ronk, village manager Artemus Pappas, Wilford, Capt. Carl Methany of the OCSD and herself after residents complained the traffic situation was too dangerous.

If the sheriff's deputies began pulling over the speeding trucks, maybe the drivers would find an alternate route around town, she said.

"If the word got out it would help," she said. "Between 10 and 11 p.m. you can hear them (the trucks) go ba-bumpa, ba-bumpa, ba-bumpa through town."

Catallo also expressed concern about the significant drop in the number of tickets written in the village since the new police contract was approved in February.

Figures prepared by Pappas show $23 in ticket revenue for the month of February. In March, the village collected $588. In April, the amount dropped to $265. The May total rose to $306. During the summer months of June, July and August the ticket revenue was between $100 and $150 monthly.

"We are not concerned about the money," Catallo said. "But during the summer months we noticed a slackening (in coverage)."

Wilford agreed that money isn't the issue, just peace of mind.

"The object isn't tickets but to bring the speed down. I'm simply looking at speed," he said. "The residents deserve some sort of tranquility."

Lunch discussion

The monthly Clarkston Board of Education meeting is coming up a little sooner than usual in November. The meeting was moved up from Nov. 14 to next Monday, Nov. 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the board offices, 6389 Clarkston Rd.

Assistant Principal Mel Vaara and Supervisor of Food Services Mary Claya will report on the pros and cons of a satellite program (a central kitchen) for school lunches.

Also on the agenda is an overview of three programs at Pine Knob Elementary School, a substance abuse awareness program, a reading program in cooperation with Pizza Hut, and PTO sponsored cultural events for the pupils.

A contract for cafeteria employees will be ratified by the board. The board will also appoint district auditors for this school year.

Methany said the sheriff's department shares the village's concerns on truck traffic and will change its four-hour patrol schedule throughout the month of November in an attempt to slow down the heavy-duty vehicles.

"I'm concerned about trucks as well," he said. "The one accident you might have all year is with a cement truck, and those are fatalities."

Busy ballot faces Springfield Township voters

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two races for Springfield Township positions and two millage requests, one for parks and recreation and one for the library, will be decided Nov. 8 by voters.

In the treasurer's race, Democrat Joe Gorka faces Republican Lois Stiles. In the other race, five candidates are running for four trustee positions on the township board.

Incumbents Charles Oaks (R) and Glen Vermilye (D) are seeking re-election, while three new candidates threw their hat in the ring: Margaret Bloom, Nancy Strole and Dennis Vallad, all Republicans. One incumbent, William Whitley, did not seek re-election and another, Ruth Ann Hines, ran for another position and lost in the August primary election.

Trustees, as members of the board along with the full-time supervisor, clerk and treasurer, vote on all legislative and policy matters within the charter township.

Oaks, 41, has been a trustee since 1986 and is also a volunteer firefighter in the township. He owns Davisburg Auto Service on Davisburg Road in the downtown area of Davisburg. He and his wife, Marlene, have three children.

Oaks said the township needs to try to keep spending down. Another major concern, he said, is controlling the growth.

"I am personally opposed to R-3 zoning (1/2-acre residential lots)," he said.

Vermilye, 52, has been a member of the board since 1974 and has served in other capacities in the township government. He lives on Scott Road with his wife, Marie, and works out of the Flint area for Monroe Systems for Business. The Vermilyes have four children.

Vermilye sees maintaining Springfield's identity as a major issue for local government "and staying local for the people of the township." Also, he said they need to keep the environment rural, complete with the rabbits and the woods; maintain the rural standard of living; and keep development on an even par.

Bloom, 52, has been a township resident since 1946. She and her husband, Robert, live on Rattalee Lake Road. She has been active in Boy Scouts, 4-H, Oakland County Farm Bureau and Springfield Township Historical Society.

A graduate of Clarkston High School, Bloom attended Pontiac Business Institute. She is a secretary at the Springfield Township offices.

She sees a significant issue in the township as growth -- directing and controlling it is of vital importance. "And I feel we've done that with our new zoning ordinance," she said.

Also significant is placement, she said, pointing out that there are a couple of industrial parks, mobile home parks, and areas with larger residential lots throughout the township.

Strole, 46, and her husband, Wayne, and their family have lived in the township three years. She has been active in groups fighting prisons and youth camps in the township. Before moving to Springfield, she lived in the Washington, D.C., area, where she served as director of research and communications for an international association and as director of public affairs for a national coalition. She has a degree in international studies and communication.

Strole sees the major issue facing the township as pressure from being part of the last remaining greenbelt along the I-75 corridor between Detroit and Flint.

Gorka, Stiles want township treasurer's post

Joe Gorka, Democrat

Lois Stiles, Republican

When Patricia Kramer, who has been treasurer in Springfield Township since 1974, decided not to seek re-election for health reasons, three candidates vied for the position in the primary in August. Planning Commission Chairman Joe Gorka, Trustee Ruth Ann Hines and current Deputy Treasurer Lois Stiles.

The victors of that primary, Gorka, a Democrat, and Stiles, a Republican, squared off for the Nov. 8 election, when voters will choose a new treasurer.

Gorka, 34, a township resident for 11 years, lives on Woodland Trail with his wife, Laurel Larson. He is owner and president of Gorka and Associates, which provides engineering planning and management services to United States industrial firms. He earned a degree in accounting and financial administration from Michigan State University.

He has served on the planning commission seven years, five as chairman; was co-founder of the Springfield Township parks and recreation department and youth group; and served on numerous other committees including the Michigan Environmental Action Council.

If elected, Gorka said he would initially look at the position as full time, but if he felt it required less than full-time, he would cut back the pay commensurate with the hours, explaining that he would rather save the township money.

"I will have an open mind in the beginning," he said of the consideration to make the job part-time, "and certainly begin full time."

He said a significant issue in the township is its status as one of the last rural and environmentally sensitive areas remaining in Oakland County. Through his experience on the planning commission, he has found that it faces threats ranging from prisons to toxic dumps.

"We need to plan ahead and make good growth decisions to protect the natural resources that constitute the rural characteristics of Springfield Township," he said, adding that he believes in a "total management" approach to township government, including better communication between the township and residents.

Stiles, 56, a township resident for 20 years, was a long-time local business owner with her late husband, Jim. She resides on King Road, and attended Eastern Michigan University and Oakland Community College, earning a degree from OCC in 1988.

She has served as deputy treasurer of Springfield Township for three years, and plans to be a volunteer with the adult reading program later this year.

Stiles said it is important to be a treasurer who can do the complete job, be in the office full time, and be there to oversee the total tax collection, for example, and handle every phase of the position.

"If it was part time, you'd need a full-time deputy and part-time assistant plus the treasurer," she said.

She sees guiding growth in the township as a major issue and controlling it to maintain what residents want. She added that "the new master plan does give us some guidelines."

Stiles also said that the township needs more economic development in the form of small businesses and services in the community.

Library, parks on Springfield ballot

Springfield Township voters will be asked two local questions on the Nov. 8 ballot: to approve one-half mill for operating purposes for the library and to approve one-half mill for operation, maintenance and development of parks and recreation facilities.

The township library is asking voters to approve a permanent half-mill for operating purposes in the Nov. 8 election. The library board's hopes are buoyed by the fact that a request for a full mill barely lost in the August primary.

"The other was so close, it only lost by 100 votes," said library Director Cathy Phillips. "So we think the one-half mill has a pretty good chance. We've been out talking to people and hopefully got our message across."

A half mill is 50 cents per $1,000 of assessed property valuation and would cost a homeowner of an $80,000 home about $20 per year. It is estimated that the millage, which if passed would not be collected until 1989, would generate about $65,000 for the 1990 library budget.

The money would be used for operation, building

Five race for 4 trustee spots

"It's creating developmental pressures on the township and is part of the reason why this area is being cited for controversial government programs," she said. "We're already feeling the impact of this, and there is tremendous concern among residents about the quality of life and open spaces they've come to enjoy."

Vallad, 35, has lived in the township for eight years. He and his wife, Jean, and family live on Sunset Cove. He is a product engineer at General Motors, with a master's degree in engineering from the University of Michigan.

Vallad sees the biggest problem facing the township as dealing with the needs and requirements of a growing community with limited financial resources.

"The township has grown so fast and drawn the reserves down" in its attempt to meet the needs of the residents, he said. He sees the two millage requests on the ballot (1/2 mill each for parks and recreation and the library) as a positive way to help that situation.

Supervisor Collin Wallis (R) and Clerk J. Calvin Walters (R) are running unopposed on the Nov. 8 ballot. Six candidates for the parks and recreation commission are also running unopposed, incumbents E. Roger Bower (R), Robert Clark (R), and Betty Hull (R), and new candidates Tim Holmes (R), William Leddy (R) and Helen Vergin (R).

Five candidates are running for the non-partisan, six-member library board in the township, James Banes, Kristine Bower, Ruth Gruber, H. Aldene Nihill, and Mary Watson. Banes is the only candidate who is not an incumbent. The sixth position could be filled by a write-in candidate with the most votes.

All positions in the township are for four-year terms.

The library board candidates are included on an official, non-partisan paper ballot, as are some of the Circuit Court and Court of Appeals judges, because there was not enough room on the voting machine ballot for all the candidates and issues in the township.

The polls will be open in Springfield Township from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 8. Voting precincts are listed on voter registration cards, but if residents have questions about where to vote, they may call the township offices at 625-4802 or 634-3111.

Tax requests on Springfield ballot

maintenance and upkeep, salaries, new book purchases, and other daily operating expenses, said Phillips from the historical building which houses the township library.

The parks and recreation department is asking for a half mill for operation, maintenance and development of parks and recreation facilities for five years.

This, too, would generate about $65,000 for the 1990 parks and recreation budget, or about two-thirds of the department's current budget request.

The money would be used for all operational expenses, capital outlay on existing parks, and youth and senior citizen programs, according to parks and recreation Director Sherry Swindell. She added that the parks and recreation commission is hoping the township will still contribute to the budget, so they can save about $5,000 each year for development of current parks.

"Federal Revenue Sharing Grant funds that used to help the department ended in 1986," Swindell said. "Since then, parks and recreation has been funded through the township general fund."

Last year the budget was $65,000, and this year it has been approved at $73,000.

A millage will aid in the development of additional parks and recreation facilities, said both Swindell and parks and recreation Chairman Glen Guilds. Softball fields, soccer fields, etc., will be difficult to develop without the added revenue a millage can provide. Money from the millage could also be set aside for matching grant funds.

The cards we're dealt

Kathy Greenfield

Sources of stimulating reading on college campuses are not confined to the libraries and book stores. There are bulletin boards, of course, and the inevitable graffiti on bathroom partitions.

Some of the best places to roam and read, however, are the hallways where professors have offices. Terrific items are taped to their doors including comic strips, newspaper articles and all kinds of tidbits of knowledge.

Last week I found a copy of something I've been wondering about for some time in a back hallway stuck on a door belonging to an Oakland University sociology prof.

Although I've heard the information before, this time it included the source.

Under the heading of "Leading School Discipline Problems" were these lists from a study by the Fullerton, Calif., Police Department and the California Department of Education, as published in the Junior League Review:

1940s

Talking
Chewing Gum
Making Noise
Running in the hallways
Getting out of place in line
Wearing improper clothing
Not putting paper in wastebaskets

1980s

Drug abuse
Alcohol abuse
Pregnancy
Suicide
Rape
Robbery
Assault
Burglary
Arson
Bombings

The 1980s list is, of course, troubling. But is it accurate for the teens going to school in our community? The answer is sort of, according to Dr. Robert Burek, principal of Clarkston High School.

"Attendance and truancy are more major problems for us," he said.

At Clarkston High School drug and alcohol problems during school are almost nonexistent, he said. Unfortunately, the list reflects realities when teens aren't in school.

With the possible exceptions of burglary, arson and bombings, "these are all problems, serious problems" facing young people everywhere including Clarkston, he said.

Burek looks back to his own high school days in the late 1950s to find the reasons why. Street drugs didn't exist and drinking wasn't even considered when his friends chose an evening's activities, he said.

Beyond that, the changes in family life stand out -- primarily that Mom isn't home anymore.

"You call home, very seldom does somebody answer," he said. "In the '50s, you called home, somebody was always home."

He's not trying to make a value judgment, Burek said, but rather look at how things have changed. "These are the cards you're dealt," he said. "You don't complain, you handle it."

Thus, the current challenges for educators are to get kids in school, keep them there, motivate them, and teach them skills that meet their needs.

On the flip side, Burek has found some extraordinarily positive changes in today's students.

"I think they're brighter, more articulate and involved," he said, also expressing admiration for the caring he sees teens exhibit for peers and others in the community.

It's nice to know there's a bright side, one that carries a great deal of strength of its own.

Opinions

The Roads We Travel

Road tax support

Brent Bair

Most of you know by now that one of the items on next Tuesday's ballot will be a $25 motor vehicle fee to be assessed against vehicles belonging to residents of Oakland County.

The revenues from it are to be used in Oakland County for road improvements. Up to 10 percent of the revenues could be used by local communities for transportation services for the elderly and handicapped. The fee would be in effect for 10 years.

While the fee is not the local option tax that was requested of the Legislature (a local fuel tax of 2 or 3 cents was preferred), it is what the Legislature gave us and is all we have to work with.

It does represent an opportunity to raise money for much needed road improvements. The following are some reasons why you might vote for or against the fee.

WHY YOU MIGHT VOTE FOR THE FEE:

1. You believe that the roads are deteriorating, becoming more congested, you are concerned about the number of serious accidents on them, and you think something needs to be done.

2. You understand that the principle sources of revenue currently available for road improvements are the state fuel tax and license plate fees, both of which are relatively fixed and each year becoming more inadequate. (An independent research firm in Washington, D.C., found that due to the impact of the more fuel efficient vehicles, the average Michigan driver paid 6 percent less in fuel tax in 1987 than he did in 1981.)

3. You understand that although you pay a lot of other taxes such as property tax, they tend to go for other services such as schools, fire protection, etc. (Michigan ranks in the top eight states in expenditure per person for health, education and welfare, but 48th in expenditure for roads.)

4. The community you live in will get back 99 percent of the fee you pay (the Secretary of State will keep 20 or 25 cents for collection costs).

5. Your elected community officials will have total control on how the money is spent.

6. This is the first road tax where Oakland County will get back all of what it generates; none of it will go to subsidize the northern counties as our other road taxes do.

7. Independence Township Supervisor Frank Ronk has served on a special committee to make sure the township and village get back what they generate. Independence Township could receive about $400,000 over the next 10 years. Clarkston would receive about $20,000. Other communities whose roads you travel to get to work will also receive money to improve the roads you use.

WHY YOU MIGHT VOTE AGAINST THE FEE:

1. You are satisfied with the condition of the roads and are willing to let them get worse.

2. You think the road agencies who are using current road taxes to plow the snow, fill the pot holes and grade the gravel roads should stop providing those services and pave gravel roads and widen congested roads instead.

3. You think that all other taxes you pay for schools, parks, fire protection and police protection should go for roads instead.

4. You believe that your community will be able to magically come up with the needed funds without any tax or fee increase.

5. You plan to win the lottery and move to the South Seas where there are no road problems, so you don't care what happens here.

Jim's Jottings

Persistent Jottings readers know an ex-Oxford Leader editor started a newspaper in Alaska nearly two years ago.

Linda Weld and her husband, Jeremy (he quit his job as a ranger to become the pressman) are in Glenallen. She says it's 200 miles from Fairbanks, 200 miles from Anchorage and 200 miles from Canada.

We talked about another matter this weekend (she was subpoenaed and wanted to talk to someone about it), then I asked if there was any interest in her town about the trapped whales.

Remember how those three, then two, grey whales were trapped off Barrow, Alaska and we spent a million bucks to free them? These are the same whales Eskimos are allowed to wound or kill.

That's right, wound or kill. The Eskimos have a "strike" limit as well as a killing limit.

Linda admitted their teenage sons were excited about the rescue, and that it was on the news a lot. But, since they don't allow television in their house, except when they rent one to see things like the Olympics, she wasn't as aware of the news coverage as others.

The thing that bothered this Copper River Country editor most was the world interest in saving the whales when every year Eskimos are lost, sometimes for weeks, out on the ice and there is no great effort to find them. Some never return.

"Last year," she said, "one group was lost twice and no one went out looking for them." Apparently, saving whales is "in", saving people is not.

Linda mentioned one good thing that the rescue effort accomplished. That was the involvement of the Russians. Many of the Eskimos in Alaska have relatives in Russia, and for years they were not allowed to visit them.

Last year visitation was allowed, and now, Linda hopes, there could be almost an open border.

Linda's getting subpoenaed, for something she wrote, must border on harassment. It was only because we insisted that she write crime stories or accidents. She wanted everything and everybody to be nice... as she is.

I haven't heard this one as a commercial, but it would be a good one: "Abortion is a terrible thing. The only thing worse is an unwanted child."

The New York Times reports, Americans throw away no less than 16 billion disposable diapers, 1.6 billion pens and 2 billion razors each year. That's a small part of the 1,300 pounds of household waste per person.

Eighty percent of this waste is buried, some of it contaminates the soil. We are headed toward separation of our waste... glass, food, burnables... and the sooner the better, for health's sake.

Editorial

Our area endorsements for the upcoming election

We can remember years when a full slate of candidates for township board seats appeared on local ballots. This year, it's different with no local races in Independence and only two in Springfield.

Certainly part of the problem involves the decision to have township board candidates run for election every four years and appear on the same ballot as the candidates for President of the United States on down.

In 1984, Democrats across the nation and in our community were swept out of office -- or not voted in -- because of the tendency of many voters to flip the lever for straight party choices during national elections.

We think the situation is most unfortunate on the local level, where it doesn't seem to matter at all which political party a candidate chooses.

All candidates live in communities small enough to allow knowing them or others who know them to enter into election decisions. And, of course, newspaper reports tend to be quite thorough, so readers can decide over a period of time whether or not they like the way someone already in office thinks or votes on issues.

Indeed, we think township and city trustee positions should be non-partisan.

For now, however, we need to deal with the candidates and issues at hand for the Tuesday, Nov. 8, election. Our opinions follow:

In INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP, we think voters should not hesitate a moment to vote yes on Proposal No. 1, the renewal of 1.5 mills for police coverage. The Oakland County Sheriff's Department deputies are doing a fine job, and we need them.

We also support Proposal No. 2, the library bond proposition. Independence Township's library has had to deal with inadequate space and the problems thus created for far too many years.

We're told that 49-acre Baycourt Park camp on Andersonville Road will become a wonderful place with a little help from some friends -- in other words, the taxpayers. Swimming, fishing, cross country skiing, camps and other programs for community members will be possible if voters say yes to one-half mill. Should they? The answer is yes if such things are of value to them. We will be interested to see if voters support the concept.

In SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP, there actually is an interesting race between candidates for township treasurer -- Democrat Joe Gorka and Republican Lois Stiles. We have received many letters from township officials and community members supporting one or the other.

We're interested in Gorka's approach of seriously considering the possibility that he could be treasurer on a part-time basis and, therefore, save the township some money. We believe he's sincere, and that he really cares about the community. He's certainly devoted plenty of time to environmental issues and to his appointed post on the planning commission. His fellow commissioners selected him chairman, and that's a plus.

Stiles is also apparently a hard worker and someone who cares deeply about her community. As township deputy treasurer, she has been, we're told, essentially doing the job of treasurer for some two years since illness forced the current treasurer to cut back hours to an absolute minimum. Stiles, too, has the respect of co-workers and she is an asset to her community.

Frankly, we'd like to see both of them win -- and we wish such good candidates would spread themselves out instead of running for the same office. Nonetheless, we're going to recommend Gorka because of the depth of his township involvement.

In the Springfield Township trustee race, we find ourselves truly enthused about candidate Nancy Strole who carries some remarkable credentials. She has already served her community well as "merely" a resident by taking an intelligent stand against the work-and-learn camp proposed just across the Springfield Township line.

Strole is on the ballot with fellow Republicans Dennis Vallad, Charles Oaks and Margaret Bloom. Glen Vermilye is running for a trustee seat on the Democratic ticket. We also recommend retaining the incumbents -- Vermilye and Oaks -- and voting for Bloom, who appears to be quite capable and works as a secretary at the township hall. Vallad also appears to be a candidate who would be an asset on the township board.

Springfield's ballot request for a library operating tax increase of 2 mills should be approved by voters if they care about protecting a vital part of their community and allowing some growth.

The request of one-half mill for parks and recreation is another value question -- if voters want to provide such services and maintain parks in their community, they should say yes. KLG

Letters to Editor

Disservice to board

In Kathy Greenfield's column of Oct. 26, she continued to repeat a flawed thought, which does a disservice to the township board and further adds to the growing "pot boiling" re: cityhood for the village.

She stated that the township officials referred to the village as "just another subdivision." They did not, nor do I believe the intent of the statement The Clarkston News reporter took down was properly phrased.

I must paraphrase that trustee's comment and set the tenor of the meeting in which the remark, unfortunate as it was, was made.

The discussion was concerning the village's refusal (at the time) to accept the full millage for police protection. Their aim was to pay less than the balance of the residents in Independence. (The village contracts with the township for police and fire services.)

During the debate, a trustee offered, "They (the village) should pay their fair share. ... They shouldn't be considered any differently than, say, any subdivision in the township."

One voice, one opinion and taken out of context leads to ill-feelings at a time when clarity and a sense of "total community" should prevail.

Fashion statement

Jim
Fitzgerald

I want to make a fashion statement.

Every time our son runs through our home on his way from somewhere else to somewhere else, my wife yells the same thing at him: "TRY ON THOSE PANTS!"

Also, when Nancy Reagan threw out the first ball for a World Series game, she wore a blood red dress, probably borrowed from a blood bank. "Women wear red so they will stand out in a crowd," my wife explained.

I've never seen George Bush, Michael Dukakis or any other campaigning candidate wear anything except a dark suit. I'm sure these men also want to stand out in the crowd. Just as I'm sure none of those dull suits is borrowed from a men's clothing store.

The fashion statement I want to make is: "Huh?"

Our son has been old enough to vote for several years. He has completed his education, is responsibly employed and even shaves once in a while, and I am no longer comfortable calling him Nerd. I gave him that public pseudonym when he was a little boy, not to disparage him but rather to grant him the same anonymity enjoyed by his two sisters.

I've always believed my family members deserve the freedom to deny me thrice, or even more. That is, when someone notices they have the same last name as mine, and asks if they are related to the columnist who writes such dumb stuff, they are in a position to say they never heard of me.

So I most often refer to the kids as "Ferd, Nerd and starts with T and Rhymes." My wife is "my wife." My grandchildren's last names are different from mine, so I can use their real first names without violating their right to say, "I never heard of him."

Relatives deny kinship

Members of my family learned to say those five words soon after mastering "Mummy" and "Daddy." Except for my wife, of course, who waited until after our first date.

Anyway, my wife, the Catalog Queen of the World, buys pants for Nerd through the mail. She also orders him suits and shirts. He doesn't ask her to do it; he doesn't want her to do it. He says, he doesn't have time to try on clothes he doesn't want so his mother will know whether to hem them or send them back to the catalog empire.

My wife says she doesn't want a son who goes to weddings looking like he was just thrown from a freight train. So she continues to nag him to try on clothes he doesn't want. In this argument, I'm on Nerd's side. I figure he's old enough to dress himself. The only time his attire bothers me is when he's running late, which is always, and gets dressed in the apartment elevator.

There's a reason for today's column giving Nerd valid justification for telling acquaintances he never heard of me. It helps me ask this important sociological question: When it comes to clothing, why is it acceptable for women to do what men wouldn't dare do?

If it were revealed that President Reagan borrowed his suits from Sears and failed to report it as required by law, people wouldn't accuse him of being unethical. They'd accuse him of being a cheap fop.

If Bush wore a bright red suit for his next campaign speech, Dukakis would win the election.

President doesn't borrow clothes

If my son kept nagging his mother to try on dresses she didn't want, I wouldn't ask him to buy me some pants, I'd get him therapeutic help.

Don't tell me men can be goofy, too. Don't tell me about the middle-age men who open their shirts to the waist and wear clanky chains around their necks. I'm not talking about those silly guys any more than I'm talking about Tammy Bakker.

I'm talking about reasonable, respected people -- men important enough to run for president. And women important enough to be married to the president, not to mention me.

How come Nancy Reagan needs so many different dresses that she has to borrow some, but her husband can wear the same dark blue suit every day? How come, when our son comes through the door, his mother tells him to try on pants before she says hello?

How come my wife sleeps with a man she never heard of?

Defending the right

The United States of America has long been last, great hope of mankind. The freedoms enjoyed here are present in no other nation on the face of the earth.

Our system of democracy guarantees to each citizen the right to vote; to express through the ballot box our personal choice(s); and obligates our leaders to honor our selection, according to majority vote.

I am disheartened, therefore, to find that signs advocating a "Yes" vote on Proposal A are being stolen (over 200 in the Waterford area alone) from the private property of proponents of Proposal A.

If this is allowed to continue, there will be very little difference between elections here and those held in Marxist countries with their so-called "free" elections.

I encourage our law enforcement officials to act at once to prevent this act of trespass, theft and oppression; I encourage witnesses to report thefts, along with the license plate numbers, to the police; and I encourage all citizens, whether opponents or proponents of Proposal A to put a stop to this outrageous behavior.

As Voltaire once said, "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Toni Hunt

Support for Stiles

It has come to my attention that the residents of Springfield Township will have an opportunity to elect a real caring, qualified person for the office of Springfield Township treasurer.

I have known Lois J. Stiles and her late husband, Jim, for many years. She has been deputy treasurer of Springfield Township for the last three years and has had complete responsibility for the treasurer's office for the last year during Pat Kramer's illness.

Lois also has 25 years experience as a successful small business owner (Clarkston Shoe Service and The Bootery in Holly). Her past experience in the community qualifies Lois for the office of treasurer.

As many of you know, I served as supervisor of Springfield Township for many years and, in addition, represented the area for eight years in the State House of Representatives.

It gives me great pleasure to express my support for Lois Stiles as treasurer of Springfield Township.

Claude A. Trim

Signs are removed

I am supporting a "YES" vote for Proposal A. I placed a sign on my front lawn as have others on my street.

To my disgust, I've learned someone is going around removing those signs. A "YES" vote is the correct vote to end the tax funding of the murdering of unborn babies as a means of birth control.

Vote yes on Proposal A to end tax-funded murder.

John Pyke

Gorka support

Joe Gorka is a young man with unlimited capabilities and has been interested in Springfield Township for years, serving as a member and chairman of the Springfield Township Planning Commission.

This work has sparked additional interest in him to share his many qualifications and to seek the office of Springfield Township treasurer.

Joe has proven he can and will continue to work with the township board and planning commission. Joe is cooperative and willing to work with people. He has a positive attitude for Springfield Township and wishes to continue his same attitude as a member of the Springfield Township Board.

During my 16 years as township clerk, the members of the township board have experienced a good working relationship with each other. Joe is one who will be able to contribute his knowledge and capabilities to continue this relationship.

I will be supporting Joe Gorka for treasurer on the Nov. 8 ballot, and ask that you vote for the most qualified candidate. Vote Joe Gorka for Springfield Township treasurer.

J. Calvin Walters

Progress limited

As an early member of the Clarkston Community Women's Club, I am deeply concerned with the progress made by the Independence Township Library.

The women's club was responsible for starting the library and many other people helped to raise the money to build the present building.

Now we need to help it grow again by voting for the library bond issue. This will enable the library to enlarge sufficiently to meet its present and future needs.

This summer I brought my granddaughter each week to the children's story hour. Because of the shortage of space, the children were shunted into one corner of the workroom, surrounded by typewriters, etc. There is just no room for such groups in our present building.

I hope that the new bond issue is approved so our library can serve us all better now and in the future.

Janet Rose

Credit to township

I know that Nancy Strole, a candidate for Springfield Township trustee, is held in high regard by many Springfield residents. What they may not realize, however, is that Nancy has also earned the respect of others.

Whether meeting with state legislators and officials in Lansing, addressing the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, or responding to requests for help from local officials and citizens in other parts of our state, Nancy is a credit to Springfield Township and to its residents.

I've had the pleasure of working closely with Nancy in the successful battle to defeat the state's infamous attempt to place the "work and learn" juvenile detention facility on the Springfield Township line at Camp Holly. I'm also familiar with her fine work on the Holly Prison

Fact-Finding Committee.

Whatever the challenge facing her community, Nancy brings to the task and bright and inquisitive mind, a reputation for hard work and thorough research, and considerable professional skills honed by years of experience working in the governmental arena and as an adviser to citizens' organizations throughout the United States.

Above all, Nancy displays a sincere commitment to her community and a proven ability to provide a strong and effective voice for area citizens.

As an elected trustee of Springfield Township, I believe that Nancy Strole will be an outstanding representative for Springfield residents.

She will be there

I have tried to publicly stay out of the local elections, but since another township official has come out publicly for a certain candidate, I feel I should let it be known who I endorse for Springfield Township treasurer.

It is Lois J. Stiles. Lois is the only candidate that has the knowledge and experience of the treasurer's duties. Even her opponent recognizes this fact and has repeatedly asked her to do the treasurer's work, if he is elected, while he pursues his other business.

Lois has declined his offer. We do not need a figure-head treasurer. Lois is committed to that and has proved it by working after office hours and on several weekends this past year.

Let's not step backwards. Elect a treasurer who will be there when you need her. Lois has already proven to me that she will make an excellent treasurer; and she will make an excellent board member.

She is an independent thinker and will make decisions for the best interest of the township. Vote for Lois J. Stiles for Springfield Township Treasurer Nov. 8.

Patricia L. Kramer, Treasurer
Springfield Township

Library too small

As a high school student using the Independence Township Library, I have found the library too small and lacking a quiet place to study.

To expand the building and its resources would be of great help to all students and the general public. I urge voters to vote Yes for the library and library bond proposal on Nov. 8.

Kristine J. Rudolph

Candidate support

Lois J. Stiles is the best person to be elected for Springfield Township Treasurer.

Since she submitted her petition, she has attended township board meetings, park commission meetings, library board meetings, budget workshops, planning commission meetings and zoning board meetings. Has her opponent?

Lois has made a commitment to be a full-time working treasurer. Has her opponent?

Lois has experience investing township funds. Does her opponent?

Lois knows the duties of the treasurer's office. Does her opponent?

Lois may be small in stature, but she is head and shoulders in qualifications above her opponent. Vote for Lois J. Stiles for Springfield Treasurer on Nov. 8.

What happened?

Local government is the one level of government where the people can really make a difference.

They had an election where the issues weren't discussed or debated. No one of the candidates (except for trustee) had to explain how they would like to see the township grow.

What has happened in Independence Township that the people go to the voting booth and do not have a choice? The three full-time positions of supervisor, treasurer and clerk had a choice of one.

My solution was not to pull the lever for whichever one I would have voted against -- if there had been a choice.

Therefore, my only satisfaction was to count the total number of people who went to vote to the total number of voters for each candidate.

As it turned out, others must have felt the same way, for there was a difference in the numbers.

M.J. Kaski

Making memories

Those of us who braved the brisk weather on Saturday, Oct. 29, truly enjoyed the children's Parade of Costumes in Depot Park along with the delicious cookies and cider provided by the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club.

Events like this give our children memories for years to come. This activity is a wonderful example of the community involvement initiated by many fine organizations in the Clarkston area.

Keep up the good work!

It could be better

As a resident of Independence Township for approximately 13 years, I have come to know our library in many ways.

My first exposure was as a mom bringing my

(See MORE LETTERS, Page 12)

Tax requests number 3 in Independence Township

To enter a write-in candidate, voters need to carry a pen into the voting machine. Once inside, voters will see slots at the top of the machine -- one slot above each office. Simply push back the slot for a particular office, and paper to write on will be exposed. However, once the paper is exposed, a voter can't change his mind and pull a lever for another candidate for the same office.

Write-in candidates are usually entered in each election, but it's unlikely that one will win, said Howey.

"A lot of people will probably vote straight ticket," she said, adding that the chances of a write-in candidate winning depends on how many of the township's 14,500 registered voters turn out.

In the 1984 presidential election, 10,070 people cast votes. Supervisor Frank Ronk, running unopposed, received 6,959 votes, so a write-in candidate this year would probably have to beat that figure, said Howey.

In 1984, about 1,500 absentee voter (AV) ballots were returned, and as of Oct. 28 this year, over 1,200 AV ballots were returned, so Howey expects a voter turnout this year similar to 1984, she said.

Republican candidates for township offices are incumbents Frank G. Ronk, supervisor; Richard A. Holman, clerk; John Lutz, treasurer; Daniel F. Travis, trustee; William D. Vandermark, trustee; and newcomers Frank H. Millard, trustee; and Mel Leroy Vaara, trustee.

On local proposals, Ronk said he expects good response to all the requests, particularly the 1.5 mill renewal for police protection.

"I have no doubt they'll approve the police millage," said Ronk, adding that another 1 mill that expires in 1990 also brings in money for the police fund.

The 1.5-mill tax would generate about $542,540 a year for four years to help cover the costs of two deputies per shift in Independence, double the coverage available before the 1.5 mills were first approved in 1986.

The one-half mill for improvements to Baycourt Camp park has a pretty good chance, too, said Sheryl Stickley-Schreefel, acting director of the township parks and recreation department.

"The response from people who have been out there has been fantastic," she said. "It's been overwhelming. The people have been thoroughly impressed with it."

About $189,539 would be generated each year for four years, and the money would go toward capital improvements to Baycourt only, said Stickley-Schreefel.

Before the park on Andersonville Road can be used, a parking lot and roof repairs to the main lodge are necessary. Other repairs include beach construction on Greens Lake, heating in the main facility and minor structural repairs on the main building and outlying buildings.

The remainder of the money would be used to operate the facility, which should one day be self-supporting through money-raising activities at the park, she said.

To address concerns of Greens Lake residents, Stickley-Schreefel said fishing boats are the only types of boats that the township would consider launching from the park.

The 49-acre park was purchased with a $375,000 grant from the Federal Land Trust Fund and $125,000 from the township.

James Hibler, director of the township library, is equally optimistic about approval for the $2 million bond request to build an addition to the existing 3,900 square-foot library.

"We've had nothing but positive reactions from people," said Hibler. "Most people say it's about time. The word on the street is this is going to pass. Everybody who comes in knows the need. We don't even have to sell it. They just say yes."

If approved, the township would sell bonds to raise up to $2 million for the Clarkston Road addition. To pay off the debt, the township would set whatever millage rate necessary to cover the costs over an undetermined number of years. Voters will be asked to approve an operational millage sometime in the next few years, said Hibler.

Rough estimates call for a 20-year period to pay off the debt, so annual payments would probably be about $188,785, which would require the township to levy about one-half mill, costing the owner of a $90,000 home, assessed at half its market value, about $22.50 a year.

The money would be used to add another 15,000 square feet to meet the projected community needs for the next 20 years, said Hibler, adding that the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education has agreed to contribute land for the addition if the bond is approved.

The addition would include a quiet study area, meeting room where programs could be presented, children's room, local history room, better access for handicapped people, better parking and lighting, better display areas and more shelves and materials.

"Right now, we're really cramped," he said.

The library was built with private contributions and no taxpayer money in 1969. At that time, population was around 12,000, annual circulation was 26,000 items and the book collection numbered 9,750 volumes. There were 24 parking spaces, 20 seats and the building measured 3,900 square feet.

In 1988, the population served is 28,000, with 100,000 annual circulation, 20,000 volumes, 28 seats, 35 parking spaces and, still, 3,900 square feet.

In the year 2000, the population will probably be around 40,000, with 200,000 annual circulation, 110,000 books, and a need for 24,000 square feet, 140 seats and 100 parking spaces, Hibler said.

There aren't any architectural plans yet because not enough time was available before the election, he said, and they didn't want to spend taxpayer money on the expensive plans if the bond issue wasn't going to pass. They estimated the cost by studying library construction in communities such as Lake Orion, Rochester and Auburn Hills.

"We were just acting very prudently on that, I believe," he said. "We really did not have enough time to put all that together before the election."

More Letters

children to storytime, and I will always remember the warm feeling which my family enjoyed during these sessions. I felt proud to be a part of a community that cared so much about its youth that it provided these enriching sessions, despite limited facilities and funds.

During the ensuing years, our three children have spent many pleasurable hours at our library participating in the summer reading programs as well as many of the holiday activities. Many of these have become family traditions.

In recent years my return to school as a library student has provided me with yet another reason to use the library facilities of our community.

I have come to appreciate the fine collection of reference materials available at our library, which are outstanding considering its present size.

I have also had the opportunity to visit many of the libraries in adjoining communities and observe the benefits of additional space and funds.

There are quiet areas for study, computer facilities, children's collections of award-winning books, and expanded program for both children and adults in the community. There are so many possibilities, and the passage of the upcoming bond issue would afford a good start in this direction.

In the last year I have also come to know our library as a part-time employee and have found the staff to be both knowledgeable and personable.

They are most capable of providing the expanded programs if given the space necessary. Please allow them the opportunity by supporting the bond issue on Nov. 8.

Michelle McTeer Wisniewski

Candidate cares

We are delighted to offer our support of Joe Gorka in his bid for the treasurer's position on the Springfield Township Board in the upcoming election of Nov. 8.

Joe has ardently supported the people of this community by working on our behalf to ensure that the environment is one we can continue to enjoy.

As Springfield Township faces the pressures of growth and expansion, we will need someone with his integrity and experience to ensure that the interests of the residents are first and foremost. Joe truly cares about this community and its people.

As Springfield Township treasurer, Joe can oversee the growth of the community and appropriate management of the budget.

His background in business and finance makes him the ideal candidate of the job. With his help, we are likely to get the most for our tax dollar. We need Joe Gorka!

Gretchen and Jerry Reeves

Important day

An important day for all Americans is soon approaching -- Nov. 8 is Election Day. This date is especially significant for the voters in Springfield Township -- this is your chance to elect Nancy Strole, township trustee.

We have had the privilege of working with Nancy on last year's battle against the Department of Social Services' plan to house juvenile delinquents at Camp Holly.

Nancy was instrumental in organizing RAID (Residents Against Ineffective Detention) and worked tirelessly night and day to research and ultimately defeat this ill-conceived program.

Nancy has chosen to be involved in our community in a caring and positive way. She has the tenacity and courage to stand up for what she believes in and will make an outstanding contribution to the Springfield board.

Please support Nancy Strole with your vote for Springfield Township Trustee on Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Letter uncalled for

I am writing this in regard to T. Miller's letter in the Oct. 19 paper.

Mr. Miller, you have no right to criticize anyone in the "Parent questions football decisions" story unless you've been in that type of situation yourself.

It was not having "daddy" do all the dirty work. It's a parent who is proud of his son and is supporting him because he did not get a fair chance. I know my father would stick up for me like that if I was ever in that kind of situation.

More than a "few" players have quit the football team this fall. You only focused in on one, though, which you had no right to do.

The humiliation and embarrassment is not having your father support your best interest at a board meeting. It is having a ninth-grader start before you in your senior year.

Your letter was uncalled for, Mr. Miller, and I think you owe some people an apology -- because you're the one who needs to grow up!

Night to remember

To the staff of Independence Oaks Nature Center and the countless volunteers responsible for staging the one and only night of Halloween to remember, thank you!

Your imagination and creativity were deeply admired and appreciated. The location and variety of different "stages" on the trail caught us by surprise effectively each time.

The performance of each artist portraying those fabled characters traditionally associated with Halloween was enjoyed tremendously by young and old.

At the end of the trail -- delicious apple cider and doughnuts -- who could ask for anything more?

Thank you, again, Independence Oaks Park, for practically being located in "our back yard."

Independence Ghost
(Name Withheld by Request)

P.S. And thank you to the almighty creator of this universe for the abundance of beauty he provides for all of us to enjoy -- and for painting the clouds and the sky at sunset time on this day of unbelievable hues of pink, yellow and orange tones.

When the darkness set in, the moon illuminated our trails with full power -- and it is still shining while I am "jotting" down these few lines.

I.G.

Voters will find many questions on Nov. 8 ballot

Independence Township Questions

Independence Township is asking for a renewal of 1.5 mills for four years for part of the police protection costs; a new one-half mill for four years to improve the newly acquired Baycourt Camp park on Andersonville Road; and a bond for up to $2 million to build an addition to the township library on Clarkston Road.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

What it says:

PROPOSAL NO. 1 -- POLICE MILLAGE RENEWAL

Shall the Charter Township of Independence continue the previously authorized levy of one and one-half (1 1/2) mills for a period of four years to partially finance police services, commencing with the 1990 levy? Approval of this proposal would renew the authorization for a levy increase of $1.50 per $1,000 of state equalized value above the total tax limitation imposed by Article IX of the Michigan Constitution.

What it means:

A renewal for four years for part of the costs of police protection would generate about $542,540 a year. Township voters first approved the one and one-half mills for two years in 1986. Residents in the Village of Clarkston do not vote on this issue. In 1990, voters will be asked to renew a separate one-mill levy first approved in 1980 for the remainder of the police fund.

If approved, a homeowner with a $90,000 home assessed at half its market value ($45,000) would continue to pay about $67.50 a year.

What it says:

PROPOSAL NO. 2 -- LIBRARY BOND PROPOSITION

Shall the Charter Township of Independence, Oakland County, Michigan, borrow a sum of money not to exceed Two Million Dollars ($2,000,000) and issue its general obligation bonds therefore, for the purpose of defraying the cost of constructing, furnishing and equipping an addition to the existing Independence Township Library?

What it means:

If approved, bonds would be sold to borrow up to $2 million to build an addition to the township library on Clarkston Road. To pay off the debt, the township would set whatever millage rate necessary to cover the costs over an undetermined number of years.

To repay the debt, the township will probably have to generate enough money to cover an estimated annual payment of about $188,000 for about 20 years. The cost to an average homeowner with a $90,000 home would be about $22.50 a year.

Clarkston Schools are to donate land for the addition if the bond issue is approved, and voters will be asked to approve an operational millage of about one-half mill in the future.

What it says:

PROPOSAL NO. 3 -- BAYCOURT PARK MILLAGE PROPOSAL

Shall the Charter Township of Independence be authorized to levy one-half (1/2) mill for a period of four years for the purpose of improving and maintaining the newly acquired Baycourt property on Greens Lake, commencing with the 1990 levy? Approval of this proposal would authorize a levy increase of $.50 per $1,000 of state equalized value above the total tax limitation imposed by Article IX of the Michigan Constitution?

What it means:

If approved, the millage would generate about $189,539 a year for four years, which would cost a homeowner with a $90,000 home about $22.50 a year.

The money would be used for capital improvements, such as a parking lot and beach construction, to the township's new 49-acre Baycourt Camp on Greens Lake at Andersonville Road. The park was purchased with a $375,000 grant from the Federal Land Trust Fund and $125,000 from the township.

Springfield Township Questions

Springfield Township is asking for one-half mill for five years for the operations of the parks and recreation department and one-half mill for an indefinite number of years for library operations.

What it says:

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP LIBRARY OPERATING TAX INCREASE

Shall a library tax of one-half (1/2) mill be levied for operating purposes of Springfield Township Library, within the overall legal library tax rate limitation of 2 mills, commencing with the fiscal year starting January 1, 1989?

What it means:

If approved, the millage would generate about $65,000 a year indefinitely to cover operating expenses in the library. Currently, the library is funded through the township's general fund. The cost to a homeowner with a $80,000 home assessed at half its market value ($40,000) would be about $20 a year.

What it says:

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP PARK AND RECREATION OPERATING TAX INCREASE

Shall a Parks and Recreation tax of one-half (1/2) mill be levied for operating, maintenance and development of Parks and Recreation facilities and programs for a period of five years (5) commencing with the fiscal year starting January 1, 1989?

What it means:

If approved, the millage would generate about $65,000 a year for five years to be used to operate existing parks and recreation programs. Currently, the parks and recreation department is operated with money from the township general fund.

If approved, the millage would cost an average homeowner with a $80,000 home about $20 a year for five years.

Oakland County Questions

In Oakland County, voters are asked to consider only one issue, a $25 vehicle registration fee to fund road improvements in local communities.

What it says:

MOTOR VEHICLE REGISTRATION FEE

Shall a $25 (Twenty-five Dollar) motor vehicle registration fee be imposed on each motor vehicle registered to an owner residing in the County of Oakland, with the revenues therefrom being used exclusively in Oakland County and specifically earmarked for the purposes set forth in the "Local Road Improvements and Operations Revenue Act," being Public Act 237 of 1987, with said fee to be effective for vehicle registrations for a period of ten years?

What it means:

If approved, residents will pay $25 a year for each renewal of a registration for cars, trucks and motorcycles. It doesn't apply to boats, mopeds, historic vehicles or agricultural equipment.

The money paid by residents will be returned for use in their communities, so Independence Township, for example, would receive $3.961 million over 10 years. About $200 million would be generated in the county in the next decade.

The money is to be used for road improvements or operations on any county road or city street. Up to 10 percent can be used for public transportation services for the elderly and handicapped.

Statewide Questions

Voters in the entire state will be asked to consider whether or not tax money should be used to fund abortions for poor women, whether the constitution should be changed to include specific rights for victims, whether the state should borrow money to clean up contaminated sites and whether the state should borrow money to improve existing parks.

What it says:

STATE PROPOSAL A --

Restrict use of tax funds for abortions for persons receiving public assistance.

Public Act 59 of 1987 is a law that states that tax funds shall not be used to pay for an abortion for a person receiving public assistance unless necessary to save the life of the mother.

What it means:

If approved, Medicaid would stop paying for abortions for poor women unless the mother's life is in danger. Medicaid is health coverage for the poor, funded by tax dollars.

A yes vote means tax money should not be used to fund abortions for the poor. A no vote means tax money should continue to be used to fund abortions for the poor.

What it says:

STATE PROPOSAL B --

A proposal to include crime victims' rights in the constitution.

The proposal would amend the constitution to provide:

- 1) That crime victims shall have certain rights throughout the criminal justice process.
- 2) That crime victims' rights, as provided by law, shall be the right to be treated with fairness and respect for their dignity and privacy; be reasonably protected from the accused; be notified of court proceedings and attend trials; confer with prosecution and make a statement to court a sentencing; restitution; timely disposition of the case; and information about conviction, sentence, imprisonment and release of accused.
- 3) That legislature may enact laws to enforce crime victims' rights and provide for assessments against convicted defendants to pay for crime victims' rights.

Should the proposed amendment be adopted?

What it means:

If approved, the state constitution would be changed to include specific rights for victims of crimes. Among the changes is permission for courts to require convicted criminals to pay for the victim's court costs. The amendment would also allow the victim to be notified of court proceedings and trials and give victims information about conviction, sentence, imprisonment

Many questions

and release of the accused.
What it says:

STATE PROPOSAL C --

A proposal to authorize bonds for environmental protection programs.

The proposal would:

1) Authorize the State of Michigan to borrow a sum not to exceed $660 million dollars to finance environmental protection programs that would clean up sites of toxic and other environmental contamination, contribute to a regional Great Lakes protection fund, address solid waste problems, treat sewage and other water quality problems, reuse industrial sites and preserve open space; and

2) Authorize the state to issue general obligation bonds pledging the full faith and credit of the state for payment of principal and interest on the bonds; and

3) Provide for repayment of the bonds from the general fund.

Should this proposal be approved?

What it means:

If approved, the money would be used to clean up some contaminated sites, to design ways to treat solid waste, sewage and water problems, and to preserve land.

If approved, the state would sell bonds to borrow $660 million. The money would be paid back through the general fund, which is funded from taxes. The debt wouldn't require a tax increase because the state is finishing paying a debt of the same size for another project. Instead, the new debt would prolong similar payments.

What it says:

STATE PROPOSAL D

A proposal to authorized bonds for state and local recreation projects.

The proposal would:

1) Authorize the State of Michigan to borrow a sum not to exceed $140 million dollars to finance state and local public recreation projects; and

2) Authorize the state to issue general obligation bonds pledging the full faith and credit of the state for payment of principal and interest on the bonds; and

3) Provide for repayment of the bonds from the general fund.

Should this proposal be approved?

What it means:

If approved, the money would be used to improve existing state and local parks. It would not be used to purchase parks.

If approved, the state would sell bonds to borrow $140 million, to be paid back from the state general fund, which is funded from taxes. It would not require a tax increase because the state is paying off a similar debt and would instead continue to make payments to clear the loan.

Burning trash destroys garage

One firefighter was injured Oct. 29 when he fell from a ladder while fighting a garage fire, apparently caused by ashes in a garbage bag, on Peasant Run Road in Independence Township.

Dave Johnson was treated for torn ligaments and smoke inhalation following his fall, said Assistant Fire Chief Gordon Mason.

Johnson was extinguishing the fire Saturday night while standing at the top of a ladder that was leaning on garage trusses when the burned trusses broke, causing him to fall, said Mason.

The fire at the McDormott home off of Maybee Road began around 8:55 p.m., said Mason. Two teens had been working on a car in the garage and went inside the house for a moment. When they returned, the garage was in flames.

The blaze caused about $10,000 damage to the garage, minor damage to the house and burned two cars.

According to Michigan State Police arson investigators, someone dumped ash trays into a garbage bag and then set the bag in the garage, where the bag ignited.

The flames could be seen for miles around, and crowds of people from the Lake Oakland Woods subdivision flocked to the scene, Mason said.

"It was kind of spectacular there for a few minutes," said Mason. "There were a lot of people down there."

Quiet Halloween eve

Hooligans must have been busy Oct. 30 because crime in Independence Township was normal and did not increase on so-called devil's night, said Detective Steven Parker of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

"There was nothing major at all," he said.

Vandalism associated with the eve of Halloween was not out of the ordinary for a Sunday evening, Parker said.

"One year you could have a big one, the next you might not have anything at all. It's sporadic," he said.

Force successfully defends its U.S. title

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Although they looked different, the impeccable performances remained unchanged for a group of martial arts specialists.

Dressed in non-traditional royal blue gees, the Clarkston Force Tae Kwon Do club continued to dominate the United State Open championship, winning the team title for a third straight time.

Led by instructor Joe Sanders, the 32-member team brought back 37 trophies from the weekend competition in Akron, Ohio, on Oct. 22. The year before, the 45-member Force won 54 awards. In 1986, 22 people involved in the Clarkston Community Education sponsored program brought back 33 trophies. During its three-year reign as U.S. champs, 99 competitors have won 124 trophies for the Force.

"You are looking at a team of champions," Sanders said. He beamed while presenting the awards Oct. 24 at Pine Knob Elementary School, the team's practice site. "I'm very proud of them. They tried their best. There wasn't one of my students who didn't put it on the line."

The list of trophy winners follows:

Brian Watson, third place in form and fighting.

Jim Rosenberger, first in fighting, third in form.

Ready for action

Basketball team defeats Flint Central, prepares for showdown with Kettering

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Several girls took turns in the spotlight for the varsity basketball team last week, powering the Wolves to victory twice.

Clarkston has beaten its opponents 10-of-12 times after starting the season with a 1-2 mark, losing only to highly rated Waterford Kettering and Flint Northwest during that timespan.

Against a talented Flint Central club at home Oct. 27, most of the scoring was spread out among four players as Clarkston won, 56-48.

Susan McKoin paced the scorers with 11 points, many off short bank shots underneath the basket.

Jenny Grohs had 10 points and Rhonda Jokisch and Celeste Steinhilper added nine apiece for the victors.

"It's a good team win for us," said head coach Larry Mahrle. "I like the way we put it together in the second half."

Throughout most of the game, Central and Clarkston battled back and forth with neither team able to gain the upper hand. The Wolves pulled away late in the game with Steinhilper and McKoin doing most of the damage offensively.

Flint Central, playing with only six players, one being All-Stater Coquese Washington who scored 23 points, took advantage of Clarkston's miscues in the early going to stake itself to a 7-2 lead late in the opening quarter.

"We had a lot of turnovers," the coach said.

Grohs scored the first six points for the Wolves and kept Central within range during the first half. Clarkston made a game of it in the second quarter thanks to perfect shooting from the free-throw line, including a 6-of-6 performance from Jokisch.

"Jokisch was a big pickup for us," Mahrle said.

Jenny McChesney's bucket just before the half cut Central's lead to 19-17.

McKoin found an open area under the basket early in the third quarter, and Ingrid Larson added five points late in the stanza to propel the Wolves to a 33-29 lead after three quarters.

Flint rallied in the final stanza for a one-point advantage before McChesney put Clarkston out in front for good with a bucket.

Steinhilper scored six straight down the stretch to push Clarkston's lead to 10 at one point as the Wolves coasted to victory during the final four minutes.

Earlier in the week, the Wolves bumped their Greater Oakland Activities League record to 5-1 (remaining a game behind leader Waterford Kettering) with a 56-41 victory over Lake Orion.

Once again, balanced scoring by the Wolves proved to be too much for their opponents. Grohs paced the team with 16 points. Jokisch made 14 points and McKoin added 12 for the victors.

The Wolves limited Orion to just five points in the second quarter, while scoring 16, to build a 30-21 halftime lead.

Clarkston closes out its home schedule Nov. 3 against GOAL foe Pontiac Northern. Its last three games (against Kettering, Flint Northern and Lake Orion) are on the road.

Sports benefit

To help raise funds for the Clarkston Schools athletic programs, Central Michigan University will stage an intrasquad game at CHS on Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Starter Ed Wilcox, three sophomores from CMU's talented rookie class -- Jeff Majerle, Sean Waters and Yamen Sanders -- plus a pair of outstanding junior college transfers, Carson Butler and Carter Briggs, will round out the team.

Game time is set for 7 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. A $2 donation is requested at the door.

MICHELLE DARBY (front) and Celeste Steinhilper watch the action unfold as the girls basketball team rallies in the fourth quarter to down Flint Central.

SUSAN MCKOIN (left) and Rhonda Jokisch of Clarkston fight for position underneath the basket while waiting for a rebound against Flint Central Oct. 27.

Odell honored

When Missy Odell found her groove on the volleyball court, Wayne State returned to its winning ways.

The Clarkston High School graduate's outstanding play helped pull the Tartars out of an early season tail spin recently and improve their record to 13-8 overall and 5-4 in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Odell, a sophomore, made 15 kills, three solo blocks, assisted on four others and finished with an attack percentage of .324 while helping WSU top its fiercest league rival, Oakland University, in five games, 11-15, 12-15, 15-7, 15-12 and 15-13, on Oct. 11.

Four days later, Odell and company visited Oakland University to take part in a six-team invitational. The Tartars, with plenty of help from Odell, won the tournament.

The league recognized the middle hitter-blocker's outstanding play by naming her the women's volleyball player-of-the-week. She had 84 kills in 24 games during that time span. She also had 11 solo blocks, 28 block assists and 37 digs while finishing with a team-high attack percentage of .327.

Overall, Odell owns the second-highest attack percentage (.242) and number of kills (246) for the Tartars while playing in all of the team's 82 games as of Oct. 15.

Open for walkers

When cold weather hits the area, Clarkston schools respond by opening their doors to residents who enjoy walking on a regular basis.

People are invited to use the halls of Clarkston High School or Sashabaw Junior High School beginning Monday, Nov. 7. Walkers can use the facilities in the evening from 4:30 to 8:30 Monday through Friday until April 26.

Time Out

Watch out

Peter Auchter

File this one in the "When Will They Ever Learn?" Department.

Twice last week, unsuspecting coaches in the Clarkston school district were greeted to ice-water showers on the sidelines after winning emotion-packed contests.

Of course, dumping on the coach is nothing new. But at least this time it was only water and not verbal abuse. Harry Carson and company of the New York Giants found great pleasure in repeatedly dousing Bill Parcells a few years back during the NFL playoffs. For some, this form of celebration is more fun than watching the game.

For example, take the junior varsity team's victory over North Farmington last week. The win gave Coach John Craven his first unbeaten season as a coach in 16 years at Clarkston. Everybody on the Clarkston side of the field schemed to get the coach wet during this memorable moment. And they made sure the photographer from the newspaper (me) was in on it.

As the final seconds ticked off the clock, several players prepared the icy brew to be dumped, while the assistant coaches calmly strolled as far away from Craven as they could without drawing suspicion. It worked to perfection -- the players pulled it off like old pros -- as evidenced by the surprised look on the coach's dripping wet face.

But did he mind? Of course not. As long as you're a winner just about anything goes. Even a cold shower on a semi-cold afternoon.

After the dousing, the jubilant Wolves picked up their coach (it must have been a surge of adrenalin that did it) and triumphantly marched off the field on the way to the bus. Closed fists were pumping in the air and people were yelling and screaming at the top of their lungs. The athletes were pretty excited as well.

Speaking of the vocal parents, relatives and friends, many of whom jumped the fence in the waning moments of the game to join the celebration, it was good to see a large number of you out there for the afternoon contest. It made the magic moment a little more meaningful.

A day earlier, Sashabaw Coach Mike Stefanski was on the receiving end of a dumped bucket of water after his Cougars topped cross-town rival Clarkston.

Same situation as the junior varsity deal. The coach had no idea what was going on. Only problem was the players probably could have used a step-stool in order to get the bucket over the coach's head. But, hey, as long as the guy gets wet who really cares?

JV Wolves top Raiders, finish unbeaten

As the clock ticked off the final seconds, everyone associated with the junior varsity football team knew what would happen next -- except for the coach.

A bucket of ice water provided a surprise sideline shower for veteran coach John Craven as Clarkston capped its first unbeaten season in his 16 years at the helm with a 14-6 win Oct. 27 over tough North Farmington.

"I'd trade that for an unbeaten season anytime," the elated coach said after the drenching. On several occasions in years past, the Wolves have come close to perfection only to spoil it during the final game of the season. It didn't happen this time around.

"It's a dream come true," the coach said. "Before the season people weren't giving us much hope, which makes it a sweeter season."

The 7-2 North Farmington club didn't go down without a struggle, dominating the first half while staking itself to a 6-0 halftime lead.

"We were fortunate to be down 6-0," the coach said. "Our defense was bending but not breaking."

A blocked punt by North Farmington set up its only score of the day. The Raiders recovered the ball on the Wolves' 15-yard line and hit paydirt two plays later. The kick on the point-after attempt failed.

At halftime, the Wolves' coaching staff made a few blocking adjustments, and it paid off for a couple of touchdowns.

"We didn't tell them much at halftime, but it was like a different team out there in the second half," Craven said. "The kids played well in the second half. It was a great way to end the season."

Jerrold Johnson got Clarkston on the board in the third quarter on a 6-yard run with 8:45 to play. The score marked his 11th touchdown of the season, probably a junior varsity record.

David Marks continued his hot kicking streak, nailing the extra-point attempt between the uprights for the game-winning point. He finished the year with 23 consecutive conversion kicks for the Wolves, setting a JV record.

Quarterback Chad Hetherington capped the team's scoring on a 1-yard run with 3:37 to go in the third quarter. Marks added the successful kick on the point-after attempt.

From then on, the Wolves' defense took control and shut down the Raiders.

Derek Raymond made nine tackles to pace the victors. He also recovered a fumble to stop a North Farmington drive. John Terpstra had eight tackles.

Johnson sealed the victory with a pass interception with less than three minutes to play. After completing the aerial theft, Johnson rolled on his back and kicked his feet in the air in celebration.

On offense, Jason Kinzler (91 yards on 14 carries) and Joel Davis (84 yards on 13 carries) did most of the damage. Kinzler's 32-yard run early in the second half set up Johnson's touchdown.

First-half blues

Shaking off its first-half blues, the junior varsity basketball team rallied to beat Flint Central last week.

The Wolves, who lately have struggled in the first half offensively, downed visiting Central, 47-31, on Oct. 27.

Lauren Caston scored 15 points and Beth Walker added 13, including 9-of-10 from the free-throw line to pace the victors.

Coach Debbie Wilson was pleased to see her team rebound for the win, the team's twelfth in 15 games.

"They got going in the second half and it worked on offense real well," she said.

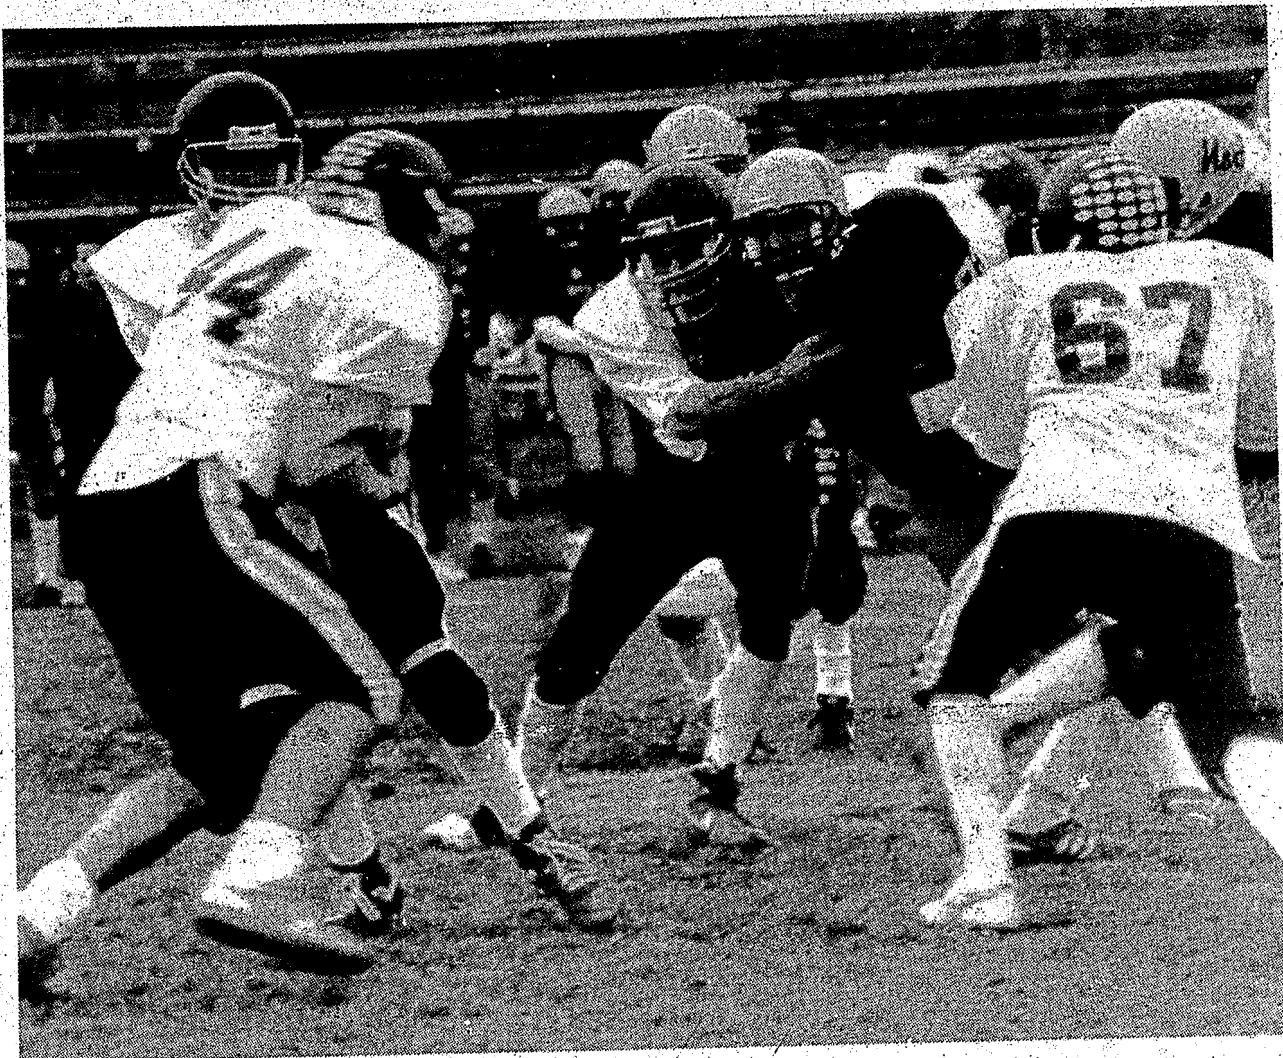

Carrie Roeser added eight points for Clarkston.

Earlier last week, the Wolves crushed visiting Lake Orion, 40-16.

Jenny Graham paced the team with 14 points. Walker, with nine, and Roeser, with eight, were next on the scoring parade.

Clarkston jumped on the Dragons early in the contest and built up a 23-8 lead by halftime.

Several tough teams still lie ahead for the Wolves including rematches with Greater Oakland Activities League foes Waterford Mott and Kettering.

JOEL DAVIS takes a handoff from quarterback Chad Hetherington and plows into the line for a few yards in the junior varsity football team's last game of the season—a victory against North Farmington.

your child

SCOLIOSIS?

Chiropractors, as pioneers of spinal research, recommend that the best time to detect scoliosis is when the child is in the most vulnerable years (4-10 years old). Scoliosis, which is the lateral or side to side curvature of the spine, can eventually cripple a person. Unfortunately, without early detection, it can remain unnoticed until it has progressed to crippling proportions. Have your child checked for scoliosis by a doctor of chiropractic. The curvature can often be corrected or reduced through regular chiropractic adjustments. Don't let your children suffer needlessly.

Cougars wrestle win away from Wolverines

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Under conditions better suited for mud wrestling than football, Sashabaw gained a measure of revenge against Clarkston in a season-ending grudge match.

Wear and tear on the football field at Clarkston High School finally took its toll on the area between the 40-yard lines. Only a few strands of grass remained, leaving a slippery quagmire for the junior high-football players to run through.

Unfortunately, most of the contest took place in the muddy areas as both teams had trouble moving the ball offensively. The game featured two blocked punts, an interception returned for a touchdown and too many fumbles to mention.

In the end, Sashabaw avenged an early season loss to its cross-town rival with a hard-fought 14-8 win.

"They showed a lot of heart," said Cougars head coach Mike Stefanski. "They played with pride. I'm very proud of them."

Clarkston opened the game on offense and marched down to the Sashabaw 22-yard line before turning the ball over on downs.

A costly penalty and tough defense by the Wolverines cornered the Cougars deep in their own end, and they were forced to punt from their own 10-yard line.

A host of Wolverines broke through the line and blocked the punt into the end zone. Luke Fedio recovered it for a touchdown with 4:53 to play in the opening quarter.

Dan Griffiths ran in the successful two-point conversion to boost Clarkston's early lead to 8-0. The momentum clearly was with the Wolverines, but the Cougars didn't give up.

"We wanted the game more," said running back Kevin Heidisch.

On its next possession, Sashabaw moved the ball down to the Clarkston 29-yard line before turning the ball over on downs. Two plays later, the momentum swung the Cougars' way.

Heidisch picked off an errant pass in the flat and raced 15 yards into the end zone for a touchdown with 11:43 left in the first half. Jon Wyniemo passed to Jeremy Burke for the successful two-point conversion to tie the game.

"The kids played their butts off," said Stefanski. "This has been a great season."

Griffiths' 27-yard run highlighted Clarkston's next offensive drive, but the Wolverines couldn't punch it into the end zone.

Neither team threatened to score during the rest of the half, both just wallowed in the mud.

Sashabaw took the second-half kickoff and promptly marched 50 yards downfield before turning the ball over on downs at Clarkston's 25-yard line.

The Wolverines couldn't move the ball and punted for the first time. Sashabaw defenders broke through the line and blocked the punt, with Heidisch recovering the ball on Clarkston's 17-yard line.

One play later, Heidisch broke into the open and scored the game-winning touchdown for the Cougars with 3:31 left in the third quarter.

"The (offensive) line did a great job blocking for the backs," he said.

A pass play for the two-point conversion fell incomplete.

The nearest Clarkston got to the Cougars' end zone the rest of way was the 36-yard line.

"This one was tough to lose," said Clarkston's head coach Steve Himburg. "Some of the kids played their hearts out. We have nothing to be ashamed about."

Griffiths was outstanding on defense as well as offense for Clarkston. He intercepted a pass late in the game to give his team one final shot at winning, made numerous tackles and rushed for more than 100 yards.

His counterpart on the Sashabaw side was work horse Brian Davis, who also excelled on both sides of the ball on the sloppy gridiron.

As for the horrid field conditions, it didn't seem to bother the players one bit.

"It was football weather," said Davis, who was covered in mud from head to toe. "An awesome game."

Clarkston ends the season with a 4-3-2 record. Sashabaw's final mark is 5-3-1.

Soccer team splits in playoffs, ends season on down note

Mother Nature tried her best, but nothing short of a natural disaster would have stopped the varsity soccer team during its first district game.

It rained, it snowed and the field turned to mud, but Clarkston played on. Without missing a beat, the Wolves downed visiting Walled Lake Central Oct. 24 to win its seventh game of the season.

Andy Lafluer and Ryan Forbes netted a pair of goals apiece to pace the team to the 6-1 victory. Tim Cashin and B.J. Deloney captured the other two scores for the hosts. Carl Schmidt and Forbes racked up an assist apiece.

"Monday night (against Walled Lake Central) we were the superior team," said Coach Neil Granlund. "The team played superb."

Two days later, Clarkston had to face a highly rated Grand Blanc team, state champions last season, and were bumped from the playoffs.

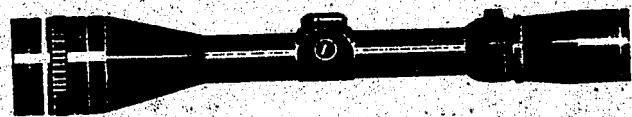

"They (Grand Blanc) were rated 10 in the state, and they deserve it," the coach said.

The Wolves end the season with a 7-11-1 record.

Series excites entire family

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

While in California to watch her son play in the 1988 World Series, Barb Gibson had the pleasure of visiting with the former Tiger's greatest fan.

When Kirk Gibson hobbled back to his Los Angeles home after his dramatic ninth-inning World Series home run in the opening game, his 2-year-old son, Kirk Robert, eagerly greeted him at the door.

"Yeahhh Dodgers! Yeahhh Daddy!" shouted the excited youth, dressed from head-to-toe in Dodger Blue and rhythmically pumping a fist into the air just as his father did earlier in the evening.

Since the elder Gibson was injured and didn't expect to play in the opening game, he sent his wife and son home early to avoid the post-game traffic jam. They arrived home just in time to turn on the television and watch the dramatics unfold in their living room.

Afterward, it was hard to tell who was more excited -- father or son.

"It's like seeing Kirk 30 years ago," Gibson's mother said of her grandson. "He runs with much abandonment."

The drama and speech teacher at Clarkston High School attended all five World Series games, but didn't have much opportunity to sight-see while in the Sunshine State this time around due to a hectic schedule.

In August, she visited her son for a month and took the time to explore the area -- once she learned how to handle the freeway system.

"It took me three days to get up the nerve," she said of her first experience on the highways. "It didn't worry me this time."

Except, that is, for the motorcycles that tend to cut between cars traveling at high speeds quite often.

The 1988 Fall Classic marked the second time the Gibsons were personally involved in a World Series. As a Detroit Tiger four years ago, the Waterford Kettering graduate played an instrumental role in leading the team to the world title. But it was a lot more fun the second time around, his mother said.

After Gibson's game-winning home run, the Los Angeles fans cheered wildly for their new hero -- much to the delight of his mom.

"As a mother, it just tickled me to see him get his just due," she said. "I really enjoyed it."

With the World Series victory, Gibson joins teammate Rick Dempsey in an elite group of players who have won a championship in both the American and National leagues.

"There never was a doubt in '84," she said. "In L.A. they were underdogs the whole way. The team got stronger as more problems arose. In comparison, the two were entirely different."

BARB GIBSON enjoyed her stay in California while watching her son Kirk play in the World Series for the Los Angeles Dodgers in October. She was especially thrilled to see the crowd react positively when her son took the field in the ninth inning of the opening game.

Wolves regroup for '89 season

Varsity football team will return hungry for revenge next fall eager to wipe out memories of 2-7 record, says coach

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Revenge inspired many of Clarkston's opponents to victory on the gridiron this fall due to the school's strong football tradition.

After years of success and winning records, the varsity football team suffered through a down season and finished with a 2-7 overall mark.

Considering the strength of the junior varsity team (9-0 record) and the two freshman teams (Clarkston 4-3-2 and Sashabaw 5-3-1) plus the return of many experienced varsity players, the 1988 season may soon be written off as a minor glitch in the history of the football program at CHS.

"These kids will be hungry as h--- next year," said Coach Kurt Richardson. "We'll be the ones getting revenge next year."

Add North Farmington to the list of teams the Wolves will be gunning for in the 1989 season. The Raiders visited Clarkston Friday night and blitzed the Wolves for a 24-7 victory.

In a span of less than nine minutes during the second quarter, Clarkston went from seven points ahead to 17 behind due to a rash of miscues.

North Farmington took the lead for good early in the second stanza after a short 20-yard punt gave the Raiders possession on the Clarkston 29-yard line. Joe Sturtz rushed in from 7 yards out for the touchdown. A pass play on the two-point conversion attempt was good to put the visitors in front, 8-7.

On the next offensive series, Clarkston again was forced to punt from deep in its own end of the field. A bad snap went through the end zone on the play for a safety and two more points for the Raiders, who now led, 10-7.

After the free kick following the safety, North Farmington took possession on Clarkston's 48-yard line. From there it took only four plays to push into the end zone again for another touchdown. A 29-yard pass from Mike Filipovich to Kevin Goff finished off the scoring drive.

Disaster struck a third time for the Wolves on its next series of downs when the Raiders broke through the line to block a punt attempt. North Farmington recovered the ball on the Wolves' 5-yard line.

Two plays later, Sturtz had his second TD of the game and Farmington led, 24-7, with 2:37 still to play before halftime.

"Our special teams broke down," said Richardson. "I'm proud of these kids. They could have let down and been blown out in the second half, but they weren't."

Clarkston drove for its only score of the evening on its first possession of the game. John King rushed 48 yards for a touchdown to complete a 74-yard drive with 3:51 to go in the opening quarter. Ken Phipps kicked for the extra point.

"John King has come into his own at running back for us in the second half of the season," the coach said.

The Wolves' defensive unit squashed North Farmington on its first offensive possession, racking up quarterback sacks by Joe Martinez and Shane Marietta.

Rob Himburg intercepted a Filipovich pass in the third quarter in the end zone to thwart a scoring attempt by the Raiders.

"They played good defense tonight," said North Farmington coach Jim O'Leary. "They are tough and aggressive. But you get in a hole and it's hard to come back. What can you do?"

Clarkston drove within North Farmington's 40-yard on a couple of occasions in the second half but couldn't punch the football into the end zone.

4 arrested in connection with church robberies

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

By Sunday, music may be playing again at three Independence Township churches following the return of stolen equipment this week, and Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson should once again be able to make phone calls from his county-owned automobile.

Four men were arrested last week in connection with the break-ins of three Independence Township churches and a Perry Lake Road residence, the theft of an automobile, and the theft of a car phone at Thompson's residence.

Scott Edmund King, 19, and Derek Mikulski, 17, of Independence Township were arraigned Oct. 29 before Magistrate Lawrence Doyle and Oct. 31 before Judge Gerald McNally on four counts of breaking and entering a church, one count of breaking and entering a residence, one count of larceny from an auto and one count of unlawfully driving away an auto.

Leonard Bernard Doan, 19, of Wixom was charged with breaking and entering a residence and a church.

Jeffrey Pitoniak, 21, previously of Independence Township and now residing in Pontiac, was charged with breaking and entering a church and unlawfully driving away an automobile.

If convicted, the maximum sentence for breaking and entering a residence is 15 years, and 10 years for a church, said Detective Sgt. Douglas Hummel of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The suspects were apprehended last week when Pontiac Police stopped three of them in King's car and found items from the First Church of God, Clarkston Road, which was broken into twice, said Hummel.

The men admitted breaking into the First Church of God as well as Sashabaw Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road and the New Hope Bible Church on Sunnydale, said Hummel, adding that investigators found the men in possession of the stolen computers, two drum sets, four guitars, and many microphones, speakers and other equipment.

The equipment is to be sorted out and returned to the proper churches this week, he said. Thompson's car phone will also be returned.

The suspects told Hummel that they didn't know Thompson lived at the residence, and that they definitely would not have taken the phone if they had known, said Hummel.

Police also charge the suspects with stealing an automobile from a Perry Lake Road, Independence Township, residence and burning it in Milford, Hummel said, and they may also be responsible for a break-in at the Perry Lake Road residence.

High-speed chase results in car crash, 2 arrests

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Genesee County sheriff's car was smashed Oct. 30 during a high speed chase that began on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township, and ended with the arrests of two teens charged with a string of breaking and enterings (B & E) in Springfield and Groveland townships.

Anthony Carter, 17, of Flint was arraigned Oct. 31 before Judge Gerald McNally at 52nd District Court. He was charged with two counts of B & E and one attempted B & E. If convicted, the maximum sentence for a B & E is 10 years, five years for an attempt.

Leslie Moore, 16, also of Flint, faces a hearing in Oakland County Probate Court, since he is a juvenile.

About 2:21 a.m. Sunday, Deputy Ken Quisenberry was responding to an attempted breaking and entering of the Springfield Inn at Rattalee Lake Road and Dixie Highway in Springfield Township, said Detective Sgt. Anthony Valet of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

One his way, Quisenberry spotted a suspicious car with its lights out in front of the Dixie Highway Bridge Lake Market, which was closed, said Valet.

Quisenberry turned around to investigate, and the car took off at a high speed and raced onto northbound I-75. Quisenberry followed and got close enough to the vehicle to identify the two boys, but the teens didn't stop, said Valet.

Instead, they drove up the freeway toward Flint, where they exited the highway and smashed into a waiting Genesee County Sheriff's car. The teens tried to drive away but left the roadway where they were apprehended, said Valet.

The teens are charged with breaking into and stealing a cash register from Groveland Party Store, Dixie Highway, Groveland Township, and breaking into and stealing oil and other car-related items from Herk's Auto Supply on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township, said Valet.

The teens admitted to attempting to break into the Dixie Party Store, also in Springfield Township, he said.

Break-in attempts with similar patterns were reported at other Dixie Highway businesses, as well, said Valet.

Planners say no to shopping center

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Conceptual plans for an new A & P grocery store and shopping center on the former Boothby property on Dixie Highway met disapproval from the Independence Township Planning Commission.

Only commission member Dr. Bruce Mercado opposed the denial of the conceptual site plan at the Oct. 27 meeting. Voting in favor of denial were Chairperson Brent Bair, Jo Fussman, Steve Secatch, Carol Balzarini, Richard Oppmann and Joseph Figa.

Developer Bill Weatherford of Weatherford-Walker Development said after the meeting that he planned to return to the planning commission with another concept.

"That's no problem," said the Farmington developer of 50 such shopping centers in Michigan. "We'll just attend to all of the problems they brought up. ... We're trying to be good neighbors and build something they would like and, in their estimation, would fit the community."

Mercado expressed approval of the shopping center in general.

"This is a major development for the Clarkston area, by all means," he said. "I don't consider it a new one; it just moved down the road."

Proposed for 25.26 acres zoned for commercial use at the southeast corner of Dixie and White Lake Road, the plan called for bulldozing the oak tree-filled property to make the site level.

Commissioners did not like the loss of trees, and they also voiced disapproval over the architectural style of the A & P store, landscaping, massive parking lot and space for lease that would separated from the main shopping center and might detract from the site. They expressed approval over the design of the rest of the shopping center.

Fussman said the topographical conditions of the land and the character of the community call for an original design instead of the standard A & P store, updated from the colonial design at the M-15, Dixie Highway intersection to a modern, high-tech look with a green metal awning.

"The cookie cutter plan could be developed in Rochester or San Jose or anywhere," she said. "I have a real problem with that, especially after having walked this site and seeing the beauty and the 90-year-old oak trees."

Figa agreed, saying, "I still think the A & P (design) does not fit at all the character of the shopping center or this area."

As an example, he noted a new Farmington A & P built of stone with an original design rather than the standard design. He added that the Dixie Highway plans didn't call for saving trees, which would be much more appealing than small, new trees planted in a landscaping plan.

Weatherford said large trees would interfere with the shopping center's visibility and added that a stone grocery store would be cost prohibitive.

Figa countered by listing the value of established plants.

"Mature trees don't take away from the center," he said. "You can't begin to replace a mature tree in your lifetime or mine. The way the site is graded, I don't think you're going to save anything. You're going to end up stripping it."

Secatch added that stone didn't have to be used, but rather the design itself should be improved and employ the same materials of king-size utility block in earth tones, synthetic plaster fascia and Insulcrete.

Oppmann suggested taking advantage of "the unconventional" layout of the land and changing the A & P design to fit the style of the other shopping center stores which would also fit with the community, he said.

"You can't have a shopping center that would have such conflicting architectural styles," said Oppmann. "I think this community is looking for a unique solution. We're looking for a good way to develop this site, which would preserve the values of the community."

Architect Howard Nudel said he understood the planning commission's point of view but that customers and business owners demanded large parking lots because everyone wants parking close to their stores.

"As an architect, even though my client doesn't want to hear it, I'd love to see more trees, more landscaping," said Nudel. "But the reality is, we're a mobile society. ... We want to get into the shopping center and find a place that's close to park. It's the nature of the animal, if you will. ... We have to try to find that happy medium. It's a very sensitive line we're traveling on."

The historical Boothby house, formerly a gift shop, is to be relocated and restored on Main Street, Clarkston, by Independence Township resident Jon Abbott.

Business is good at the present A & P store, currently operating from the Dixie, M-15 intersection, and the store needs to expand, said Weatherford.

Plus, the long-term lease is ending soon, so A & P owners hoped to have the new, 40,000-square-foot store operating from Dixie Highway by fall of 1989.

The design presented to the planning commission called for two Dixie Highway entrances, one primary White Lake Road entrance and one secondary White Lake Road entrance to be shared with Northcrest Condominiums.

Each year, a witch appears

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Sue Cattin is putting down her broom, er, books in December after 15 years of teaching kindergarten at Andersonville Elementary School and 24 years in the Clarkston school district.

When she retires, she will be remembered for her annual portrayal of Wanda Witch as well as for her dedication to teaching.

At least judging from the fact that high school students who attended Andersonville still remember her on Halloween with comments like, "Well, this is the day that Mrs. Cattin will be dressed up as the witch," her character is unforgettable.

"Kids love it," says Cattin, or rather Wanda Witch, readjusting the hideous nose on her green face. "I go from room to room, swing open the door, and let out this blood-curdling cackle."

When she started teaching kindergarten at the school, she always dressed up as a Halloween character, but Wanda Witch didn't evolve for several years.

"I would be a football player, or Little Red Riding Hood, but you couldn't DO anything with those characters," Cattin says, putting the finishing touches on Wanda Witch's black outfit, including a spider sandwich hanging around her neck and a tall witch hat.

"And besides," she says with a grin, "I do make a rather good witch cackle."

The kindergartners happily return from recess to their festive room, decorated with pumpkins and skeletons, and to their teacher, who on this one day a year, becomes Wanda Witch.

About next Halloween, when she is retired, Cattin says, "Well, I just may have to come back and make a surprise visit."

Bazaar guide to holiday gift shopping

BY KATHY GREENFIELD
Clarkston News Editor

Christmas must be just around the corner. All the signs have appeared -- frost on the windshield, a hint of snow in the air and a festive bunch of holiday bazaars.

For the next two weekends, people who like the idea of presenting perfect homemade gifts -- made in someone else's home -- and who enjoy the thrill of the hunt can delight in shopping at nine bazaars in the Clarkston-Waterford-Ortonville area.

You can map out your shopping strategy with the following list:

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, NOV. 4 AND 5

Crafters Corner, a juried arts and crafts show at St. Daniel Catholic Church from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both dates. About 40 artisans are expected.

St. Daniel's Rosary Guild will provide snacks, sandwiches and soup all day both days, plus a bake sale. Raffle items include a quilt.

The church is located at the corner of Holcomb and Miller roads in Clarkston.

SATURDAY, NOV. 5

Christmas Bazaar and Bake Sale, put on by members of the Seymour Lake United Methodist Church, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Luncheon will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Among the crafts will be crocheted items, grapevine wreaths and floral arrangements. Grandma's Attic, with used items, is a popular place. The bake sale features homemade pies, breads and cookies. For lunch, priced at $3 for adults and $1.50 for children, dine on all-you-care-to-eat spoon burgers plus homemade salads and desserts. The church youth group is cooking up a storm for the candy shop.

The church is located at the corner of Sashabaw and Seymour Lake roads in Brandon Township.

Santa's Workshop Show and Sale, sponsored by the Clarkston Area Jaycees, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Clarkston High School.

About 100 crafts people are expected with everything from wood items to honey. The number represents many local crafters. Food and snacks are sold by the Clarkston Band Boosters, and proceeds from table rentals are used for community projects by the Jaycees.

The school is located off Waldon Road between Sashabaw Road and M-15 in Independence Township.

Christmas Bazaar at the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Crafts of all types will be found as well as a table of Christmas trims made by church members.

Lunch will consist of tasty homemade soup and sandwiches. Also popular is the homemade baked goods table, which usually sells out in two to three hours.

This is the fifth year for the bazaar and the first year it is being held in the current church building rather than the historic church building across the street.

The address is 5300 Maybee Rd., adjacent to North Sashabaw Elementary and Sashabaw Junior High School, Independence Township.

Annual Christmas Craft Show by the Waterford Golden Age Club Craft Class, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the CAI Building, 5640 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township.

There will be over 25 tables of handmade items as well as a soup and sandwich luncheon.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, NOV. 11 AND 12

His Handiwork Arts and Crafts Show at the Church of the Resurrection from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both dates.

Holiday aromas of brewing spiced cider and baking Stewarts' Shortbread will greet the shoppers. About 35 juried artisans are expected.

Church members are hosting the bake sale, luncheon of soup and fresh baked goods and raffle of a stained glass nativity scene and a doll with a complete wardrobe made by the church women.

The church is located on Clarkston Road across from the Independence Township Library.

Christmas Bazaar at the First Church of God from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Featured are Granny Watson's Attic Sales and a huge bake sale.

There will be gifts, crafts and dinosaurs galore. All proceeds go to missions.

The church is located at 6300 Clarkston Rd., Independence Township.

SATURDAY, NOV. 12

Christmas Craft Show, the 11th annual gathering from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the CAI Building, 5640 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township.

Over 65 tables of handmade items are expected and shoppers can participate in a free raffle. Free movies will be available for children while their parents shop.

Food and beverage sales will benefit the Teen Club for equipment purchases for the center.

Arts and Crafts Fair, presented by the Waterford Kettering High School Band Boosters, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Over 100 juried crafters are expected at Waterford Kettering High School on Bender Road off Hatchery Road in Waterford Township.

Hat box maker likes pretty things

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The example set by her mother and grandmother probably contributed to Holly Watson's love of crafts and flair for creativity.

"My grandmother (Bessie Haggitt) taught me how to sew," said the Cummings Drive, Independence Township, resident.

"When I was little, she let me get on the sewing machine and make diapers for my dolls," said Holly. "She really encouraged me to be crafty. I just love to sew."

Holly has always made items for herself, but when she made herself a Victorian hat box out of fabric, satin and feathers, her friends fell in love with it, and the demand for her product grew. Out of that blossomed a small business, and Holly now sells her boxes at craft shows.

"It just makes me feel good to use them, to go to something pretty and take my stuff out. It just makes you feel good about yourself, like you're pampering yourself."

At first, she made the boxes to order for friends, choosing colors and patterns to blend with the colors and styles of a person's bedroom or living room. Although she has some prepared in advance for the upcoming Santa's Workshop, Holly prefers to take orders to blend her work with her customer's surroundings.

The response has been overwhelming, said Holly. "When I originally started doing this, I didn't think it would get to this point," she said. "But people wanted more, so I started getting into it."

The decor of Holly's home, which she renovated with her husband, David, reflects her talents in design.

"I probably got it from my mother," she said. "Her house is beautiful. I like to have a pretty house. We both work hard. My husband is a carpenter, and he's done a lot of work on this house."

The Victorian hat boxes were a natural progression

HOLLY WATSON, posing with her son, Adam, mixes motherhood and a career with a money-making hobby of selling Victorian hat boxes made of lace and other fancy things.

from her interior design hobby, Holly said.

"I'm kind of old-fashioned, so this was attractive to me," she said. "These are so pretty, I thought it would really complement someone's room, just sitting in a corner."

The boxes could be used to store leather gloves, a belt, jewelry or hats. Or just for show, with feathers streaming out or fur or dried flowers, she said.

Made with flower-printed fabric and a combination of lace, satin, silk flowers, dried flowers, birds or bows, the boxes range in price from $15 to $44 for a single box depending on the size to $35 to $55 for a set, depending on the extra touches.

Remembering how it feels to be a shopper, Holly said she wanted to offer some less expensive items so people can still buy something pretty even when they don't have much money.

For $6 or $7, Holly will sell different colored cords with a pretty tassel at the end to use on a Christmas tree or a door knob or a banister. And for $7.50, a person can buy a scented, padded hangers with lace and a flower to hang special clothing.

Holly hopes customers enjoy her hat boxes as much as she does.

"To me, they're really feminine," she said. "They're basically for women. It just makes me feel good to use them, to go to something pretty and take my stuff out. It just makes you feel good about yourself, like you're pampering yourself."

"We seem to get away from that in all the hustle and bustle of it all. We need to get back to it all."

Holly works full time at Chief Pontiac Credit Union, has a 6-year-old son, Adam, and pets, Murphy the dog, Wicket the bird and Muffin the cat. And she enjoys using her hands in her hobbies.

"I can't sit still," she said. "I have so much energy, I burn it up doing that. It's been really fun. I wouldn't do it if it wasn't fun."

And the project has special meaning to her since her 88-year-old grandmother, who inspired her hobby, passed away Oct. 30.

Holly's first hat box was made from old material found stored away in her grandmother's house. Now the box will be a constant reminder of her, she said.

Cuddly as a kitten

Whiskers may look like a bunny, but she acts more like a cat. She'll cuddle up on the bed for a nap with her foster family and is trained to a litter box.

She is a 6-month-old Rex rabbit with extra-short, super-soft, cottony fur. Her white with brown coloring is much like a seal point Siamese.

Whiskers is very friendly and likes other pets. All she needs is a good home.

Whiskers may be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The $20 adoption fee includes her spaying before leaving the shelter.

Join Optimists at their first evening meeting

The Clarkston Optimist Club has planned its first evening meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 9, and community members are invited.

The agenda includes hot hors d'oeuvres, coffee and tea for a $5-a-person fee at the door, plus a slide presentation by Tim Nowicki on "Wildlife at Independence Oaks." Nowicki is a naturalist at the county park in Independence Township.

The meeting begins at 6 p.m. at Spring Lake County Club, 6060 Maybee Rd.

Previously, the Optimists met each Wednesday at 7:30 a.m. for breakfast at Spring Lake, but they have decided to meet for dinner the second Wednesday of each month at 6 p.m. beginning Dec. 14. They will continue the breakfast gatherings on all other Wednesdays.

The club works on projects for young people in the community, and the goal is to attract greater membership among those who cannot meet for breakfast each week. Men and women who work or live in the community may join. This year's president is Duane Lewis, principal of Clarkston Junior High School.

HERMAN AND ELLA JAENICHEN celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary with cake, Bingo and friends at the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center.

Banter still flows after 70 years

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Although Ella Jaenichen was a country girl and Herman Jaenichen was a city slicker, they managed to work through their differences and build a marriage that has lasted as long as some people's lifetimes.

The couple celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary last week. It seems that laughter, hard work and a good argument now and then contributed to the longevity of their relationship.

The Springfield Township couple were married Oct. 28, 1917, by a lawyer in Detroit. On Thursday, Oct. 27, they celebrated the occasion with friends, cake and bingo at the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center.

Through all the talk during the celebration, the Jaenichens of Dixie Highway managed to explain how their marriage lasted so long.

"Faith," said Herman, 93. "Love. We haven't brought the knife out yet."

Ella, 87, laughed a comfortable laugh, as she probably has laughed throughout their lives together.

"We don't stay mad very long," she said.

Herman, wearing a wide smile, recalled why he first wanted to marry Ella. "She came from a wonderful family," he said. "She's a wonderful woman. Of course, we fight once in a while."

"Tit tat," said Ella.

"There aren't any secrets to it," said Herman. "We have one pocketbook. And she's the boss."

Ella laughed again. "He's good natured," she said. Both are World War I veterans. Herman served in the 77th Division, D Battery, heavy artillery, where his hearing was impaired.

Ella served as a nurse, and she kept the career after the service. Herman worked as an electrician, although they also worked their Dixie Highway farm for many of the 36 years they've lived in Springfield Township.

The Jaenichens have one daughter, Laura; seven grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Grad

Janet Lamm, an August graduate of Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, is employed as a special education teacher in the Mio-Au Sable Schools.

Lamm received a bachelor's degree in education-teacher of emotionally impaired. She is the daughter of Tom and Sally Lamm of Robertson Court, Clarkston.

At college

Kim Reynolds made the 11-member pom squad at Oakland University, Rochester. A sophomore at the university, she is majoring in psychology.

Reynolds was graduated from Clarkston High School in 1987. She is the daughter of Doug and Georgia Reynolds of Ortonville.

Honors

Shari Ashton was named to the 1989 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

A Clarkston High School graduate, Ashton is a junior in electrical engineering at Tri-State University, Angola, Ind. Her parents are Dennis and Sharon Ashton.

Old Boothby home to have Main Street address

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Built in 1876 by the son of a pioneer and more recently used as a gift shop, a familiar home at White Lake Road and Dixie Highway will see yet another era added to its 112-year-old history.

The Boothby home is coming to Main Street, Clarkston, to be restored as a stately residence.

"That home belongs on Main Street," said Jon Abbott, who purchased the house with his wife, Barbara. "It's going to give Main Street another historical home."

The Abbotts, who are avid antique collectors, live on Paramus Drive in Independence Township. Whether they will move into the home themselves or sell it is still up in the air, but Abbott is excited about restoring the historical home.

"We're going to keep the exterior intact and completely rebuild the inside," he said. But they plan to keep the two-story frame home in period and are using the services of friend and area builder Bill Rousch.

Abbott recently purchased the home from the Clarkston Heritage Group, which is made up of Ken Rogers of Evans Realty, Ric and Jim Huttenlocher, Tom Snyder and Ken Winship.

The Heritage Group is in the process of selling the property where the home is currently located to Weatherford Walker Development Inc., of Farmington Hills.

A spokesperson for the development corporation, Bill Weatherford, said they will put a shopping center on the property.

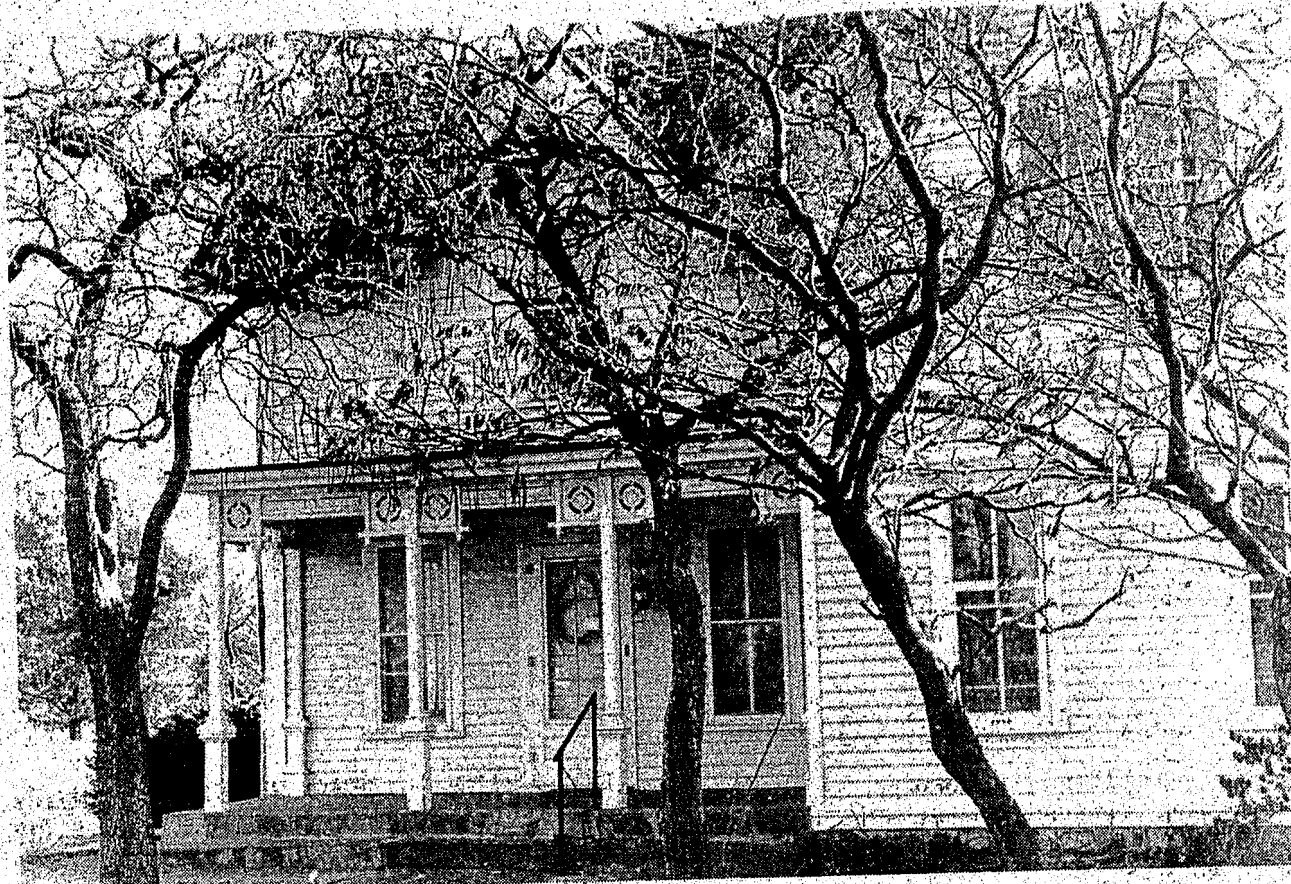

Abbott has hired Davis Moving of Flint, the same firm that moved the Ritter home from Dixie Highway to Main Street, for the task of moving the Boothby home to its new location sometime in the near future.

"I bought the last residential lot on Main Street," Abbott said.

The 112-by-300-foot lot is located at the north end of Main Street on the east side. It is the last residential lot before the commercial property near I-75, with a buffer of trees in between.

The Boothby home was originally built in 1876 by Ephriam and Jane Addis. Ephriam Addis was the son of Clarkston area pioneers Peter and Mary Addis. It was an elegant home, with two front parlors, a formal dining room and a spacious farm kitchen.

When it was built, Dixie Highway was known as Old Territorial Road, and the Addis family could watch the Barnum and Bailey Circus go by, headed from Pontiac to Flint. The circus trek each summer was a highlight for area residents.

THE BOOTHBY HOME at the corner of White Lake Road and Dixie Highway is coming to

Main Street, Clarkston. It was purchased by Jon and Barbara Abbott.

For many years around the early to mid-1900s, the home was owned by the Boothby family, which eventually opened Boothby's "Old Farm Shop" in the 1950s. The shop on the first floor of the home featured fine gifts, linen, Waterford crystal and other imported goods from some 25 countries. The Boothbys also lived in the home and decorated with many fine antiques.

Boothby's gift store remained open until about a year ago, when the son Tom Boothby finally closed its doors.

Rogers of the Clarkston Heritage Group said when they bought the home as an investment, it was with the intention of saving it from the wrecking ball.

"I know Tom Boothby, who solely resided in the home at the time, was interested in our commitment (to preserving the home)," Rogers said. "We're just tickled to death that the home will remain part of Clarkston. And we felt Jon Abbott was the right person to purchase it." Abbott thinks so, too, and is just brimming with plans for the home's restoration once it is moved. He is also interested in the history of the home and has collected newspaper clippings of stories done on the home.

As for his wife, Barbara, Abbott said she just "rolls with the punches on the crazy things I do," and that includes purchasing and moving the Boothby home to Main Street.

He added with a grin, "When we got married, I promised her an adventure."

The tale of one kitty

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The latest chapter in Willa's life is a happy one.

Named after the Pulitzer prize winning authoress Willa Cather, the kittenish feline, not quite 1 year old yet, roams every corner and shelf of the Village Bookstore in Clarkston. She'd probably read if she could but seems content to drape herself over the books.

A sign on the front door announces the shop's newest addition: "Please don't let the cat out. Thank You!"

The story of Willa the cat began several months ago when the black and gray tabby showed up at the doorstep of Judy Nichols on Paramus Drive, Independence Township.

She advertised and posted notices, but no one claimed the cat. Already the owner of a cat and a dog herself, Judy talked her friend and bookstore owner Georgene Sloan into adopting the cat.

On Sept. 8, Georgene, who never had a cat before, hesitantly took the cat in, deciding that the bookstore could use a good watchcat, and this particular cat could use a good home.

"I always wanted a cat, and thought that if I ever got one, I would want one who needed a home," Georgene said.

She named the cat Willa after the authoress by the same name because she thought it was a "gentle and affectionate name" befitting the cat.

It didn't take long for Willa to acquire a fan club of bookstore patrons. Even if they don't need a book, they stop in to give Willa a scratch behind the ears, and Willa loves it.

She has a "people-attracting" personality, cute and mischievous, according to Georgene, who has become quite attached to her new pet.

While it was originally intended that the cat would stay at the store, Willa now travels home every night to Georgene's Hadley Road home.

"She's captured my heart," Georgene says, affectionately hugging the cat.

It's the stuff children's stories are made of.

Younger motorists involved in more accidents

Teenage drivers are three times more likely to be involved in a traffic accident than many older motorists, according to a report by the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies (MAIC). Statistics also indicate that crashes involving young people tend to be more deadly.

According to the MAIC report, 20 percent of drivers aged 15 to 19 are involved in a traffic accident each year. By comparison, less than 7 percent of 45 to 54-year-olds are involved in a roadway crash.

Although drivers ages 20 to 24 have a lower accident rate than teenagers, they are still involved in more crashes than older persons. The rate of accident involvement declines gradually with age.

MAIC President Terry Buckles said 15- to 24-year-old drivers also have greater involvement in fatal accidents than do all other age groups.

"These are the reasons younger motorists pay more for car insurance," Buckles said. "They have more accidents and more costly accidents. The higher price is a reflection of higher insurance pay out."

A younger person who is the principal driver of a motor vehicle typically pays 40 to 200 percent more for coverage than older drivers, according to MAIC findings.

The surcharge is reduced as the driver grows older and is generally discontinued by insurance companies when or before drivers reach the age of 25.

Premium surcharges are generally much lower for young drivers who use the family car only on an occasional basis. These typically range from 20 percent for 24-year-olds to 90 percent for 16-year-olds, but vary from one insurance company to another.

The insurance industry representative offered the following suggestions for reducing or at least controlling the cost of auto insurance:

- Drive less. Rates are determined by the amount and type of driving you do.
- Select your car carefully. Rates are based on its cost, reparability and performance characteristics.
- Coordinate personal injury protection coverage if you have other accident and health insurance.

- Choose higher deductibles on collision and comprehensive coverages.
- Consider a more economical type of collision coverage -- but make sure you understand when you're covered and when you're not.
- If you have an older car and it is not financed, consider dropping both collision and comprehensive coverage.
- Drive carefully. Most traffic tickets and at-fault accidents will automatically increase your rates.
- Use safety belts. Insurers offer rate discounts for drivers who buckle-up.

Friend to Friend

He won't leave me alone

Dear Friend to Friend:

I have a good friend who embarrasses me whenever we go out. She is really loud and obnoxious. She drinks a lot and swears all the time. She thinks I should just accept her as she is, and I try until we go out and she embarrasses me again.

Obviously it's my problem and not hers because she's happy with the way she is. Any suggestions to help me cope with this dilemma?

FRUSTRATED FRIEND

Dear Frustrated Friend:

It sounds like you already have the answer to your problem. You know you have two choices: You can put up with her or not see her anymore.

You apparently find enough good points in your relationship to continue to see her despite her embarrassing actions. You seem, too, to be taking responsibility for her actions when you're out together by being embarrassed by her. Perhaps, you should look carefully at what you get out of this relationship, and why having her as a friend is important to you.

In addition, try again to let her know how you feel about her behavior and that her actions have placed your friendship in jeopardy.

Dear Friend to Friend:

I have this ex-boyfriend who is driving me totally nuts! He was a great guy when we were going out steady, and when we broke up, he was still always around.

I didn't think much of this weird relationship being a "bad" one at the time, but recently I found out he was dating a lot of girls at the same time he was with me.

He told me lies (that I believed), and he told the other girls lies, too! He made me hate those girls and them to hate me to make himself feel important (because we fought over him).

He said he didn't want a steady girlfriend, but he was just like a boyfriend to me. He even told me he loved me.

For six months, off and on, we were dating. I had many chances to go out with other guys, but all I wanted was him. Well, now it's come to the point that I totally hate him because of everything he has put me through (which I didn't deserve). He hates me because I embarrassed him in front of his jock buddies.

The problem is that I can't seem to get him out of my life. He is always threatening me and my friends, especially a boy who is a friend of mine. I want him out of my life because he's not worth the trouble. I think he's a real jerk.

Can you give me some rational suggestions on how to get him to lay off my friends and me? He can't seem to see that we'd all be happier if we could stay out of each other's lives.

READY TO STRIKE BACK

Dear Ready:

We can tell by your letter that this is a very frustrating situation for you. We think, however, that some of your reactions to his actions perhaps led him to keep it up.

There are, therefore, two suggestions we have for you. One would be to seek an authority figure (such as a parent or counselor or assistant principal) to help you handle the situation. However, this could create other problems because his friends could get involved and the threats from them could be upsetting.

A more practical suggestion might be to ignore what he's doing to you and your friends. Don't give him the satisfaction that he's getting to you as we're sure this encourages him. Whenever you see him, do not talk to him or react to him in any way. If he talks to you, look the other way and walk away.

We're positive that if he's not getting a reaction from you, then the threats will become less. We know that ignoring isn't easy and keeping your temper in check is hard, too. But, you can only control your own behavior and not his.

Whatever he is doing to harass you is done out of his own insecurity. You certainly don't have to lower yourself to his level. We again emphasize that it's not going to be easy, but because you want to put an end to this situation we feel you'll be able to use our rational suggestions. Good luck.

Fairy tale for kids

Parents can round up the gang Saturday, Nov. 6, for some live entertainment on stage at Mason Junior High School in Waterford Township.

"The Emperor's New Clothes," the classic Hans Christian Anderson fairy tale will be presented at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the Independence Township Library for $3.

The children's play is sponsored by the American Association of University Women that serves the Waterford-Clarkston area.

Proceeds from the play will be used for the club's educational foundation, which offers grants to women to continue their studies, said AAUW president and Clarkston resident Elizabeth Smith.
