Sentenced in family murders

Teen to serve up to 4 more years

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The fate of Brandon Wayne Carnell, a 14-year-old Springfield Township boy charged with the June 22 shooting of his father, mother and 11-year-old sister, now rests with the Michigan Department of Social Services. Oakland County Probate Judge Sandra Silver, in a sentencing hearing Dec. 12, recommended that Brandon, now 15, be held in a detention facility until age 19. In making the ruling, the judge transferred jurisdiction over Brandon to the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS), which will now set up screening and will decide what type of treatment the teen will receive and where he will be placed.

The DSS also determines how long Brandon will be held.

"At 19, there will be a hearing as to whether he is held."

Rabies found in stray cat

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Lab reports confirming rabies in a cat found in Auburn hills Nov. 12 are prompting warnings from animal control officials.

"This is the first case of rabies in a domestic Oakland County animal since 1972," said Carl Anderson, Oakland County Animal Control Division Manager. "What worries us is that whatever bit the cat had rabies. Whether it was a bat or raccoon or another animal, we don't know."

According to Anderson, the cat was found along I-75 and Walton Boulevard, Auburn Hills, last month and was accepted by the Oakland County Animal Control kennel as a stray.

When a kennel attendant tried to take the cat out of its cage, the cat scratched her on the wrist. As part of normal kennel policy, the cat was then quarantined for 10 days for observation.

Anderson says the cat appeared healthy up until the ninth day when it developed a runny nose, a symptom common to the ailment known as distemper.

When the cat died on the 10th day, animal control officials sent its body to the State Health Lab in Lansing to check for rabies.

Pedestrian killed by I-75 driver

A man walking along I-75 near the M-15 intersection was killed Dec. 6 after being struck from the rear by a car.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, 27-year-old Carlos Dewayne Roger of Union Lake was walking north along I-75 in the right traffic lane when he was hit at about 10:50 p.m. by a car driven by 17-year-old Michele Lynn Olsen, Davisburg Road, Springfield Township.

According to the report, Olsen told police that she saw a man in her lane a second before impact, but was unable to avoid him.

Medical rescue personnel who responded to the call for help said they saw a car stuck in the median of I-75 and speculated that it belonged to Roger.

Olsen was wearing her seat belt at the time of the accident and was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital. No tickets were issued.

a definite threat to society, and, in that event, they could keep him to (age) 21," said Fern Ogans, a probate court judicial secretary.

"Its very unlikely that they'll keep him until he's 19, she added.

"Time will tell," said Dr. Paul Vanaman, a longtime friend of the family, and principal of the church-run Springfield Christian Academy, where the Carnell children attended school.

"I am just willing and anxious to just see what happens," Vanaman said in reaction to the sentencing. Brandon pleaded guilty Nov. 23 to two counts of open murder, one count of first degree murder and three counts of possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony.

He has been held in Children's Village, Pontiac, since the night of June 22, when detectives were called to the Carnell residence by Carnell's father Michael, 35, who told them he and his wife and daughter had been shot by someone.

When deputies reached the Carnell residence at 8711 Andersonville Road, near Edgar Road, they were met by Brandon, who said his family had been shot by a white man and a black man.

Later, Brandon told detectives he had shot his family. Police uncovered a .20 gauge shotgun in a pond at the back of the Carnell property.

Brandon's mother Carol, 36, and his sister Candace were found dead in the kitchen. Both had been shot in the back. Michael Carnell, who had been shot twice, once as he walked from his car towards the house and the second time in the kitchen, died later at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Brandon told detectives he shot his family because he often felt picked on to keep his room clean and to get better grades, according to police reports.

Vanaman said he hadn't visited Brandon for two to three weeks.

"I'll likely get down there this week to see him," he said.

Gun-toting driver reported on M-15

Although the incident could not be called the act of a highway vigilante, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies did receive a report of a gun-toting motorist on M-15, Independence Township, Dec. 12.

A woman driving south on M-15 north of I-75 told police that she came upon a car trying to turn right out of the American Legion driveway, according to the police report.

She says she slowed and blew her horn, while the driver turned right and headed south onto M-15.

As the woman drove alongside the car, described as a Pontiac Bonneville with Ontario license plates, a passenger in her car reportedly looked at the driver and said something to him.

The man rolled his window down and pointed a gun at the two, according to the police report.

The two ducked, and the vehicle headed south on M-15 and turned right onto Washington Street.

No identification was made of the driver.

Rabid cat found

The report came back positive.

The kennel attendant and the Animal Control veterinarian are now undergoing a series of five shots.

"The shots are now not near so bad as they used to be," Anderson says. "They're now given in the shoulder area, which leaves you with a sore arm, but that's about it."

Anderson says the symptoms of rabies are hard to identify because they are similar to those of distemper. He says if pet owners notice any unusual behavior in their pets they should take them to a veterinarian immediately.

If any stray or wild animals are seen with a foaming mouth or watery eyes, don't try to approach it, call the local animal control department instead.

"The best protection for your pet against rabies is to keep its rabies vaccine up to date," said Anderson.

Dixie child care center to open doors in spring

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A new child care center which will eventually handle up to 132 children is planned adjacent to Cedar Crest Academy on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

The group forming a corporation to create the new facility includes Joe and Pat Duran, owners of Energy Craft Homes and builders of Cedar Crest, and Bette Moen and Dolores Imbrunone, educational director and administrative director, respectively, at Cedar Crest Academy, a private day school.

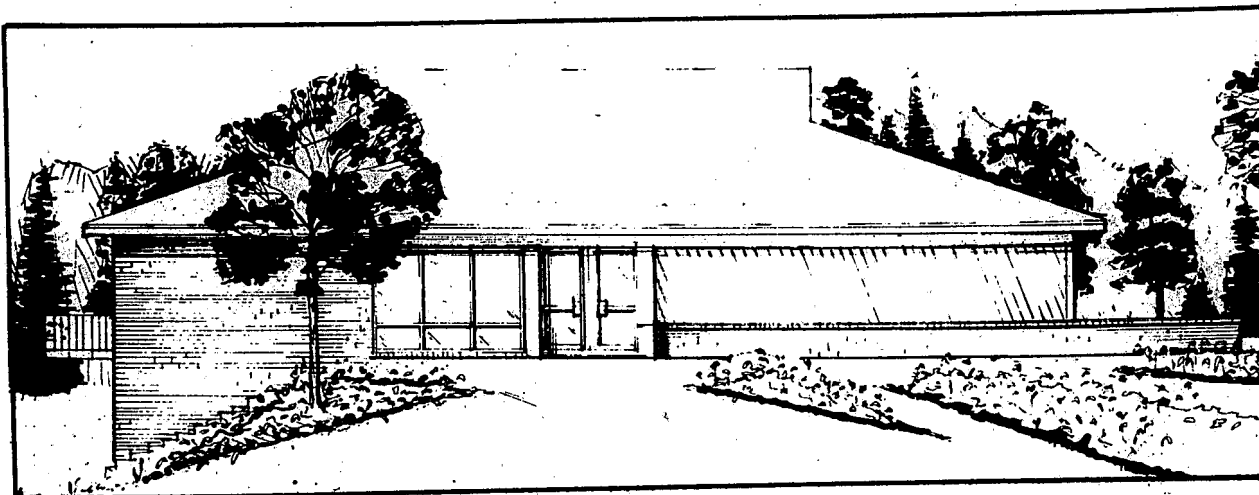

All four were at the Dec. 8 Springfield Township board meeting seeking site plan and special use approval for the project.

Special use for the property, which is zoned residential, was approved unanimously. The site plan received conditional approval from the board, pending approval by the zoning board of appeals and clarification of two drainage concerns on the property.

Children's Tree Day Care and Learning Center will hopefully be open by late spring, according to Pat Duran.

"We do have a phone now and are answering questions," she said. "We already have a list (of children who would attend)."

The center is to be built on a vacant parcel of land comprised of five small lots on a little less than an acre of land. The group also has options on lots six through 11,

CHILDREN'S TREE Day Care and Learning Center is to hold 132 children next to Cedar Crest Academy on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

Crest Academy on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

which would make an area of about two acres and includes property to the edge of Bridge Lake. Cedar Crest Academy also owns property down to the lake.

Phase one of the project calls for a 3,300-square-foot level that could hold 66 children, from infants to school-age. If response is good, they plan to continue immediately with phase two, a walk-out, lower level that would make the center 6,600 square feet and double the capacity for children. High fencing is planned for the facility and playground areas.

"We don't know until we get in what the area needs," Duran said. "We may add a special care area. We can grow with (the community's needs)."

Duran said they are following state guidelines for schools because there is the potential for expansion of the Cedar Crest campus. The two projects are working in conjunction with one another, she said.

When several board members expressed concern about safety in the parking area and suggested setting the building back 20 feet on the property, Duran said, "We choose the site plan we did because of the slope to the property. We are using the space we had for the plan."

She also said they didn't want to be further from Cedar Crest because some children attending the academy may also be using the center facilities, in a latchkey or extended care service for working parents. A sidewalk and drive will join the two facilities.

The group has already addressed some concerns of the planning commission, Supervisor Collin Walls said, such as lighting in the area and redoing landscaping due to safety problems in coming out of the drive on Dixie Highway.

Trustee Nancy Strole said, "It's an excellent concept, but I'm still concerned with safety and think it should be back 20 feet."

Moen responded, "Try to imagine a mother carrying a baby and a diaper bag, with a toddler by the hand. I don't want her to have to walk too far."

Moen and Duran pointed out that the further back the facility sat, the farther the children would have to walk in inclement weather.

Trustee Dennis Vallad suggested that the board approve the special use and give conditional approval to the plan. But he added, "I want to be assured that water is draining back to the wetlands."

Most of lots six through 11 are wetlands, Duran said later. She told the board they are willing to work with them to make sure the drainage is satisfactory, both on the back of the property by the wetlands, and at the front

"The nurturing and education of the children of our world must be a priority. We must invest in their care, learning, fitness and creativity."

where the other drainage concern was focused.

Several board members praised the plans for the new child care center, saying it was an excellent concept.

Moen said later, "The nurturing and education of the children of our world must be a priority. We must invest in their care, learning, fitness and creativity. Children's Tree is an endeavor to provide an environment of love, peace and opportunity for acquisition of knowledge and artistic growth."

Park $ means better swimming

Swimming pond improvements and a new water timer for an irrigation system are in store for two Oakland County parks in the area.

The county parks and recreation commission recently adopted a $9.3 million budget for 1989, which included the improvements for the pond at Independence Oaks, Sashabaw Road, Independence Township; and for the irrigation system at Springfield Oaks County Park, Andersonville Road, Springfield Township.

The budget also included money to start Orion Oaks between Clarkston, Baldwin and Joslyn roads in Orion Township. In 1989, architectural plans are to be completed, and a maintenance center is to be constructed.

Planned as an eight-to-10-year project, Orion Oaks will be a year-round, outdoor-oriented residential and day activity facility for use by groups and organizations.

New reporter joins the News staff

A new reporter started writing for The Clarkston News last week.

Tracy King of West Bloomfield Township will be covering Independence Township and Planning Commission, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and features and photographs.

She took the place of reporter Julie Campe, who became editor after Kathy Greenfield left for an editor's position at the Flint Journal.

A graduate of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Tracy has seven years of broadcast media experience as a reporter and program producer.

Past jobs included senior news producer for WZZM-TV, Grand Rapids; general assignment reporter for WAVE-TV, Louisville, K.Y.; bureau reporter for KFVS-TV, Cape Girardeau, Mo.; and assistant news director for WSIU-FM (NPR affiliate), Carbondale, Ill.

When she's not working, Tracy enjoys skiing with her husband, Pat, and reading.

Time to get Fido's tags

Dog owners beware- the Oakland County Animal Control department is planning another door-to-door inspection for valid dog licenses, beginning March 1.

Last spring, inspectors issued 5,000 tickets to residents with unregistered dogs, according to Oakland County Animal Control Manager Carl Anderson. Ticket recipients were charged a $15 fine plus court costs.

"It's the only program we found that works in getting pet owners to get their dogs registered," said Anderson.

Dog licenses for 1989 may now be purchased at the Independence Township treasurer's office for $7.50 or for $5.00 if the dog has been spayed or neutered. Owners must have proof of rabies vaccination before a license will be issued.

Pet owners who purchased licenses last year will receive a renewal application in the mail.

Planners trounce rezoning bid for apartments

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A plan to rezone a portion of Independence Township property to make way for apartments met with almost unanimous opposition from residents and planning commission members Dec. 9.

The commission voted 6-0 to recommend denial of the request to change 60 acres from rural residential to multi-family residential zoning. Voting yes were Chairperson Brent Bair, Jo Fussman, Joseph Figa, Bruce Mercado, Daniel Travis and Steven Secatch. Richard Oppmann was absent.

The request now goes to the Independence Township Board, which has the final say in rezonings for the township.

Michael Myers, a representative of Occidental Development, Ltd. Southfield, said the company plans to build between 240 and 400 apartments on a portion of land surrounded by Clarkston, Sashabaw and Flemings Lake roads.

In a memo to commission members, Occidental Representatives said the development would fill the "Eight hundred multiples have already been approved in the township. Many feel that that's a sufficient amount of multiples to last the community well into the future."

Planning Consulnt Richard Carlisle

need for apartments in the area, increase the tax base for the township, increase consumer spending by tenants and provide a quality development for the area.

Commission members were not convinced.

"I'm opposed to multiples in this area," said Secatch. "The land is most suited to office space. That's what the master plan outlines."

The master plan, designed by the planning commission as a blueprint for growth in the area, designates the proposed site as most suitable for office or research space.

"We are not rushing to get development in this area," said Bair. "If we have to wait for office development, fine."

Residents in attendance at the meeting spoke against the development as well.

William Vandermark, a Cherrylawn, Independence Township resident who also serves as a township trustee, said the developer did not have a good reputation.

"Their track record is atrocious," said Vandermark. "We've had a lot of input from homeowners about the job done in Oakland Woods. There was no fire wall built, and there are one-inch cracks in the basement."

Oakland Woods is a subdivision south off Maybee Road between Sashabaw and Oak Park roads.

After the meeting, Myers responded to Vandermark's allegations.

"I believe the chairperson of the planning commission said (at the meeting that) he owns one of our houses and that he was satisfied by our work," said Myers.

At one point in the Dec. 8 presentation, Occidental representative John Weaver told commissioners the development would increase the township tax base by about $210,000 a year.

When asked how many children a 360-unit-apartment complex would generate in area schools, Occidental spokesmen answered "seven."

"That's an insult to our intelligence," responded Michael Clark, a Clarkston area resident.

Myers said the number was reached by surveying similar complexes developed by the company.

Township Planner Richard Carlisle told commission members that he recommended denial of the rezoning.

"Eight hundred multiples have already been approved in the township," he said. "Many feel that that's a sufficient amount of multiples to last the community well into the future."

Tax bills mailed

It's tax time again in Independence Township. Tax statements were mailed to township residents Dec. 1 and are due Feb. 14.

The bills vary greatly from resident to resident, according to township Treasurer John Lutz. The amount of the bill is based on the state equalized value on property, meaning residents are taxed on 50 percent of what their property is said to be worth.

The moneys collected will be used for the funding of schools, fire and police protection, the safety path program, the general fund and any special assessments, said Lutz.

If you have not received a tax statement, contact the treasurer at 625-5111.

Board approves school bus money

Three new Clarkston school buses, purchased this summer, will be financed for two years.

The action is due to an enrollment drop of 151 students, giving the district less revenue than anticipated, according to Bill Jackson, director of business services.

The amount to be financed is $100,841 at an interest rate not to exceed seven percent. Financing the bus purchase will cost the district approximately $10,000, Jackson said. But the loan can be paid off at any time if the district is in a position to do so.

Federal funds may clean up Springfield Township

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The first community clean-up day in half a decade and mandated equipment for the fire department will be two items earmarked for 1989 Community Block Grant Funds in Springfield Township if they are approved as appropriate expenditures of the federal moneys.

The decision was made following a Dec. 8 public hearing. The township's share is estimated at $28,208 for 1989.

According to federal regulations, block grant funds must be used to benefit low and moderate income populations, prevention or elimination of slum and blighted conditions or to meet urgent community needs.

Township resident Linda Francis, who owns an antique shop on Dixie Highway, suggested that the board hold a free cleanup day in the township. She prepared a detailed study of haulers for the board to consider, and suggested using Springfield Oaks, or maybe Davisburg Park, as a pickup point.

Supervisor Collin Walls said he thought her suggestion was an excellent one.

"We haven't had a cleanup day for five or six years," he said later. The township stopped having cleanup days when they arranged an agreement with a Rose Township landfill for residents to deposit trash. But the landfill has since closed, and Jaycees, the community organization which helped with roadside cleanup, has also disappeared in Springfield Township.

Walls said he hoped that volunteers and community organizations would help insure that this community cleanup day is a roadside cleanup as well as an opportunity for residents to get rid of trash. The cleanup day probably won't take place until fall, because the funds, once approved, wouldn't be allocated early enough to plan one in the spring.

The board approved $11,000 of the $28,208 for the community cleanup project. In addition, they approved $17,000 for the purchase of an air compressor and related accessory equipment for the fire department which would be used to fill the breathing apparatus used by firefighters.

The equipment is mandatory for the fire department, said Fire Chief Marlan Hillman.

If one or both of those items are not approved as appropriate expenditures for the federal money, the board agreed on another request by Hillman. The fire chief asked for a jeep, at approximately $11,000, to replace two "antique" vehicles used by the fire department, especially for brush fires.

In the past, block grant moneys have been used for economic revitalization, a senior citizen center study, historic preservation, fire equipment, and improvements downtown, at parks and in the fire hall, said Walls.

The township is in the third year of a three-year economic revitalization plan that the board had approved, he added.

Most recently, block grant funds have been used for improvements on Dixie Highway and to help implement the Springfield Township Economic Plan.

Funds were also allocated for a survey done in the township, which indicated that residents would rather have a community center used by all than a senior center. Also, an architects' study showed that renovation of a building in Mill Pond Park was not economically feasible for the center.

For that reason, and because block grant funds could not be used unless it was specifically a senior center, Walls said, the plan was not being pursued at this time.

Other suggestions for the 1989 allocation of block grant funds included remodeling a portion of the Mill Pond building for use by Neighbor for Neighbor, and making a contribution of $1,000 to the Oakland County Human Resources' job chore program, which helps the elderly.

Walls also suggested continuing the three-year program of revitalization. A one-mile area of Dixie Highway starting at the township line was targeted for beautification in the plans. There was no estimate of cost, because much of the labor and materials was to be volunteered.

New representatives in Springfield

Supervisor Collin Walls and newly elected Trustee Dennis Vallad were named Springfield Township board representatives to the planning commission and the zoning board of appeals, respectively, Dec. 8.

Walls agreed to be the board representative on the planning commission at least until July of 1989, when some of the staggered planning commission terms expire.

The current appointments of Joe Gorka and Zona Sommers, which would have expired in July of this year, had previously been extended until December due to the election year. Both Gorka and Sommers were reappointed to another term on the planning commission at the Dec. 8 meeting.

Other members of the planning commission are Marge Reuter, new chairman of the planning commission, Don Holmes, Lee Ann Oliver and David Field.

The township board reappointed Harry Kirk and Skip Wendt to the zoning board of appeals. Other members of that board include Dennis Strelchuk, Field as the planning commission representative and Vallad as the township board representative.

The board also named newly elected trustee Nancy Strole as the township's delegate to the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) and another newly elected trustee, Margaret Bloom, as the alternate representative to SEMCOG.

Jelly
candy

Julie
Campe

I was shopping for holiday goodies the other day when I saw a package of jelly candies -- you know, the type that's fruit flavored and coated in sugar.

The sight brought back the image of my grandmother, Lydia Steward, who died earlier this year.

She used to love that candy. In her later years, after osteoporosis and arthritis had twisted her back and hurt her knees, and three heart attacks had weakened her, and hardened arteries had deprived her brain of the ability to remember day-to-day events, a few jelly candies would bring a big smile to her normally vacant face.

She especially loved the fancier types of jelly candy -- the candy that actually looked like slices of oranges or grapefruit.

She had a sweet tooth, but, oddly, not for chocolate, as do nearly all self-respecting sweet lovers in my family.

She explained all of that when I was seven or eight. I used to spend the night at her tiny apartment in Pontiac, which she rented from a cousin.

She didn't have much money, although I didn't know it at the time. I would go over on the weekend and play all day long on the floor, covered in carpet worn thin from years of walking.

At night, we talked. Snug in her double bed, our heads side by side on feather pillows, I asked her all the things I had thought about during the day.

Mostly, they were thoughts typical of a child, such as, "What's your favorite kind of ice cream?"

"Vanilla," she answered.

"Not chocolate?" I asked, astounded, and yet already thinking about making vanilla my favorite, too.

"No, not chocolate," she answered. "Austin (her deceased husband) and the kids always wanted chocolate pies and chocolate cake. I got so tired of it."

I had to think about that for a while.

"But, Grandma, you always make chocolate," I said. "You mean, you make it and you don't even like it?"

She only nodded.

"What about fried chicken or chicken and dumplings?" I asked. "You make that all the time, too. Do you like that?"

"Oh, yes," she said, smiling. "I remember the first time I tried to kill a chicken."

I was shocked to think of my gentle grandmother as a killer of chickens, but I kept it to myself and only listened.

"I begged and begged my mother to let me try," she said. "No, you can't kill it," my mother said. "You're not big enough yet." But I begged her and begged her, and, finally, she said OK. So I found the chicken, and I put its head through the ringer, and I started to turn it, but I couldn't turn it hard enough and quick enough, and the chicken got away and started running all over the yard."

My grandmother laughed and laughed, but I just stared, picturing the sight.

"My mother was right," she said. "I wasn't strong enough yet."

She laughed some more.

Her stories gave me plenty to think about during the week, so that the next time I spent the night, I would ask her more questions.

Sometimes, we would begin talking in her living room, before we went to bed.

"Have a jelly candy," she would say, politely holding the dish out to me as we began our conversation.

To be continued next week.

The Roads We Travel

Good news

Brent
Bair

Pretty soon, we'll get to work or get home, step out of the car, and notice that the car is coated with a white film.

Our reaction will probably be to plan to get the car washed because we recognize the substance as salt, and we know that leaving the salt on will lead to rust.

I noted in a previous column that there is a growing concern regarding the use of salt on the roads and that no other alternatives have been identified which are as effective as salt. Sand is the obvious substitute, but it eventually fills up our storm sewers, streams and lakes. Also, while it makes ice less slippery, it is not as effective as melting the ice. Leftover sand on dry pavement also presents a slippery situation.

There is another substitute that has been receiving increasing attention. It is called calcium magnesium acetate (CMA). It is made by stopping anaerobic digestion one step short of producing methane gas. The liquid extracted is passed over dolomite limestone to form CMA. It is then dried to a granular substance that can be spread like salt.

It has been tested in several states, including Wisconsin, Massachusetts and California. I've read some of the test results.

Here's the good news:

1. It melts snow and ice.
2. It does not negatively impact the environment.
3. It is much less corrosive to metal.
4. It can be made from landfill runoff.

Now here's the bad news:

1. It takes longer than salt to melt the snow and ice, which would mean you could expect more accidents until the melting is complete.
2. It takes more truckloads of it to cover the same distance, thus resulting in more time to get all the roads treated (again more accidents).

Jim's Jottings

Gifts you are not likely to see under various trees this Christmas:

Equitable school financing from Governor Blanchard or the state legislature to the citizens of Michigan.

A fully clothed Cher on Hollywood's awards nights.

A tussle haired president Reagan on Christmas morn.

But, we would like to give some the following gifts:

A Little Caesar's Pizza to Tom Monaghan, and a replica of Monaghan's leaning tower for the Fox Theatre stage.

I'd like to give patience in large quantities to those of us who will be trying to travel in Michigan next summer when 83 bridges will be replaced.

I think Paul Harvey should have his very own Jesse Jackson doll.

A language of their very own to Arizona, Florida and California who had to vote on speaking English.

I'd give GM, Ford and Chrysler a bigger and better sales year, and they'd give us bigger and better incentives, and, oh yes, better, more trustworthy cars and trucks.

I'd like to give readers and viewers a year without a stock market report or a weather forecast. Both end each year with a record of more bad news than good.

Let's have Michigan Bell reach out and touch

3. It is lighter than salt, requiring that the trucks be tightly covered, and the workers where it was tested were concerned about breathing the dust from it.

4. There is not enough of it currently available, nor will there be in the near future to meet the needs of all the road agencies.

5. It costs up to 40 times more than salt, and although that price may come down a little with increased production, it is expected to always cost a great deal more than salt.

How many additional accidents, including injuries and an occasional fatality, are we willing to accept to make the switch?

Last year, the Oakland County Road Commission paid over $1 million for salt to treat the state highways and county roads in Oakland County. That was about $1.24 per registered vehicle in the county.

If CMA had been purchased, the cost would have been almost $40 million, or about $52 per registered vehicle. That $50 million would have represented almost the entire budget of the Oakland County Road Commission. They might have been able to purchase it, but they would not be able to afford the trucks and drivers to spread it.

The road agencies are not opposed to switching to a better substitute; they are simply not convinced that CMA is it. They are concerned about the accident implications, and they cannot figure out how they can afford it.

Here's a thought. The voters were not willing to pay a $25 registration fee to improve the roads. Do you think they would be willing to pay a $50 registration fee per vehicle to switch to CMA? Would you?

If we are really serious about getting salt out of the ground water, how many of you own water softeners? Where do you suppose all that salt goes that you keep dumping into the softener ALL year long?

AT&T, and combine their bills if for no other reason than to save stamps. Then we donate the money to AT&T for them to distribute to operators as a reward for not saying, "Thank you for using AT&T".

For Christmas I'd forgive Ollie North and Jimmie and Tammy Bakker. The day after Christmas I'd confine them to share a jail cell.

Instead of giving the Detroit News and Detroit Free Press a joint operating agreement, I'd give the "losing money" Free Press to Coleman Young so he could have his very own media to blame for all that's wrong with Detroit.

I'd give the American public a year without a Rambo or Arnold Schwarzenwhatever movie. No, make that a decade.

Toyota needs higher jumpers for their advertisements. I'd give them the winner of the Calaveras County frog jumping contest.

I'd give snowmobilers snow, fishermen a west wind, hunters a keener eye and slower trigger, and horse shoers the pitch.

For golfers, a better memory bank to remember the entire ritual of head down, straight left arm, slow back swing, head down, eye on the ball, visualize your target, head down, shift your weight, follow through, head down, bend your knees, don't scratch in public and keep your head down.

For northern travelers, I'd have the highway department complete I-75 again.

To Jottings readers I'd give constant good health, good weather and happiness.

Letters to the Editor

Proud of park

The Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission takes pride in serving the people of our community in Oakland County and in preserving the wildlife and natural resources of our parks.

We would like to clarify some of the concerns expressed by Joanne Cook in a recent letter to the editor. With more than 12 miles of nature trails, a lake for fishing and non-power boats, the nature center and naturalist staff, Independence Oaks has always been designed as an environmentally maintained park.

Over the years, though, we have found it necessary to upgrade our trails at Independence Oaks for the safety of hikers and skiers.

Our plan is to 1) control erosion and drainage problems by instituting some ditching at the edge of the trails and by properly sloping the surface of the trails, 2) bank and contour the curves so that skiers would properly turn on the downslope of the trails, and 3) widen and level certain areas along the trails so that grooming equipment can properly set tracks for cross country skiers.

We do use the brush to build piles to improve the habitat for small animals and birds.

There is still some work to be done to totally finish the job along the trails, and debris is to be picked up.

We appreciate comments from any residents that would help us do a better job and to be more involved in our parks system.

We encourage the residents of Oakland County to visit Independence Oaks, enjoy the cross country trails rated the best in southeast Michigan or hike the nature paths and judge for yourself.

Recreation Commission

Appreciate the paper donations

The Men of St. Daniel Catholic Church wish to thank the people of Clarkston who decided to pitch into our recent paper drive instead of pitching out their unwanted newspapers.

You helped us collect over 30,000 pounds of newsprint that will be recycled into energy-saving insulation instead of unneeded and costly landfill.

For those unaware, St. Daniel's hosts a paper drive every three months, the next one being March 2, 3 and 4, 1989. In the last four years, the Men's Club has collected over one-half million pounds of paper.

We realize it takes effort to bag or tie up your newsprint and bring it to us. For that, we say thanks again; start saving those papers again; see you again in March.

Better watch out

To: The Village of Clarkston
From: The North Pole

Last year, I made special trips to my kids who weren't home for Christmas. I saw all my girls and boys in Grovecrest Nursing Home, St. Joseph's Hospital and the nursery schools in Clarkston.

I really like Clarkston. I passed out shoes to the needy and candy to thousands. This really spread the joy of Christmas, thanks to the Rotary Club for the shoes and Mr. Greenfield for boxes of candy canes that I forgot to pack in my sleigh.

I also want to thank that sweet flower, Daisy Dowling, for replacing my glasses that I lost eating cookies and milk some place. Clarkston is a real groovy place. Ho! Ho! Ho!

I had lunch at Carol's Village Grill; it was great. I had two of everything. My tummy was so big, hohohoho ho, I had to borrow a big car from Alex Bruni to get me to all those boys and girls that were good all year.

Rudolph was so angry because he had to stay parked at the grill, hoho ho. Thank you, Alex, but it doesn't compare to flying.

I'm really busy this time of year making toys, trimming the elves hair and trying to keep up with Mrs. Clause making cookies and candy.

But I had to take time out from brushing the reindeer to write and say thanks to all of Clarkston for a wonderful Christmas. I had such a jolly time, I'm going to make some special trips to your village again this year.

I have so many goody surprises for all the old and the young, but we can always use good ideas to help others (My local North Pole number is 625-8257).

I really have got my work cut out for me, with all these special trips. I have to make so many more dolls, trains and all those candy canes. I'm seeing stripes already, hohoho.

Remember to make out your Christmas list early; obey your mom and dad. Make sure you eat good food and brush your teeth. Most of all, help the people that are getting old, because they are my girls and boys, too.

Good Fall To All

P.S.

I like chocolate chip cookies and Nestle's Quik.

Thanks for talent

The Academy Singers, from the Academy of Popular Vocal Arts, recently had the opportunity to successfully present their Eleventh Annual Christmas Concert at Oakland University.

These talented young singers and dancers come from 20 different junior and senior high schools in the tri-county area.

What's exciting for us, since we live in Independence Township, is that over one-third of our students (15) live in Independence Township. Since we just moved here last year, we didn't fully realize this.

It's now become even clearer to us that much of the success of The Academy of Popular Vocal Arts is due to the fine musical training these students receive in the Clarkston Public School System.

For the past 11 years, The Academy Singers have recorded 12 albums. They have appeared on "Kelly and Company," "Good Afternoon, Detroit" and "Sunday in Detroit." Most recently, they were featured in Channel 7's Emmy Award-winning special, "Santa Goes Back in Time."

During these 11 years, Ms. Jan Merz, the Choral Music Teacher at Sashabaw Junior High School has continued to send us young people that she has trained musically.

Inevitably, after a rigorous audition, these young people make The Academy Singers. Each year, our standards for excellence continue to present a challenge for these young people. On every occasion, they meet this challenge. This year is no exception.

We wanted to take this opportunity to let our friends in Independence Township know about the wonderful musical programs that we have in Clarkston. The band program continues to be one of the finest in the state (many of our Academy Singers are also members of the band). The choral music program is also one of the finest in the state.

Jan Merz is just one of the many choral music educators that make this program so successful. We want to thank them and the administration that supports them. More importantly, we want to thank the parents who care so much about their children that they open their minds and hearts to the wonderful world of music.

Last, but not least, we would like to thank the 15 Academy Singers who so willingly share their talents with others: Jenny Brown, Tamara Clark, Jeff Funck, Erin Gaiser, Merideth Green, John Haden, Claire Hulleza, Pella Lazaris, Matt Oliver, Carrie Monroe, Alicia Nyberg, Renata Srugis, Tracey Waananen, Scott Wood, and Scott Zumwalt.

Laughing

Jim
Fitzgerald

I was bleeding from two wounds. I was exhausted from a forced march. Strange hands invaded my body and harsh straps held me prisoner. Dressed only in boxer shorts and knee-high black socks, I looked like a supporting actor in a macabre stag movie.

It was my annual physical examination, the first one in seven years.

I don't like to think about it. I like to think about funny things. Driving to the doctor's office, I was passed by a pickup truck carrying four portable johns. Wouldn't it be funny if the john doors swung open to reveal a person sitting inside each one? And there was a long queue of people running lockstep behind the truck?

That's the type of funny thing I like to think about. It's my brand of day-dreaming or fantasizing. I like to think up cartoons that Richard Guindon might draw on a slow day. For instance, have you noticed the paint jobs on the link fences at intersections near busy freeway exits?

I mean the stoplight intersections where traffic moves slowly enough for idling drivers to do a little sit-down shopping. The fences discourage motorists from rolling down the embankment onto the freeway. These fences are occasionally spray-painted silver, very carelessly, with nearby flora and fixtures also getting a good coat. I suspect this imprecise painting is done from a moving vehicle.

And I visualize a curbside peddler holding up a bouquet of flowers, unable to move because he has been spray-painted stiff into a silver statue.

Or how about "No Standing" signs? I look at them and see pedestrians following orders, lying down flat on the sidewalk.

Out on the curb

You get the idea: I not only don't like going to the doctor, I don't like anything about it, because it's not funny. But my wife said it was dangerous for me to have an annual physical once every 10 years. She doesn't want me to drop dead unexpectedly; she wants a warning so she can be prepared. I have the feeling that, if my demise surprises her, there'll be no funeral: I'd be put out on the curb with the rest of the trash.

So she made the appointment and I showed up on time, pausing at the public rest room near the doctor's office so I'd be comfortable if there were a long wait in the waiting room. But a nurse immediately ushered me into a back room and, first thing, asked me to fill a little bottle. Oh, Lord, how can I be so dumb?

After this slow start, my finger and arm were pricked for signs of life. I was attached to several machines by long wires and forced to march up and down two steps 36 times, holding the trailing wires like a forlorn bride with no attendants for her train.

Also I had to blow as hard as I could into a hose, activating something that look suspiciously like a lie detector. The nurse said I was a better blowhard than most men my age and size. I blushed all over.

My doctor, who is also my wife's doctor, came in and comforted me by saying, "I will now remind you of why you stayed away from me for seven years." And that's what he did, prodding, pushing, pulling, rapping, snapping and going where no man had gone before him, except him.

Maybe she wanted the chair

When he could find nothing ailing me, he wondered if my wife had noticed some symptoms of poor health that he had missed. What was it that, after seven years, prompted her finally to insist that I get up and go see him?

I thought about it. I think she wanted to sit in my stuffed leather chair.

As I prepared to leave, the doctor handed me an envelope addressed to him. That was something new, since seven years ago. Inside were three tongue depressors along with instructions that said the depressors weren't for depressing my psyche. More precisely, they were for facilitating the transport of smudges of something from my toilet and through the postal system to my doctor for laboratory testing.

"There are many challenges in life," he explained. I told him I didn't want to think about it. I used to be a mailman.

Independence becomes fully computerized

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Labeling their computer system indispensable, the Independence Township Board proved Nov. 16 that they are indeed part of "The Computer Age."

The board voted unanimously to spend $12,552 to double the capacity of their current computer system and to ensure that all departments within the township can access the system.

"The computer system has proven very, very useful," said Supervisor Frank Ronk. "We couldn't live without it."

"If we don't go forward, we'll be denying our machine its function," said Trustee Daniel Travis.

During the past three years, the board has purchased a mainframe computer and computer terminals for every township office except the library. The township computer system is capable of addressing 36 computers, terminals or printers.

The township has encountered some problems with the system. According to Clerk Richard Holman, a communication system purchased to connect the Department of Public Works (DPW) building with the township system has never worked correctly.

"None of us are computer experts," Holman said. "We voted to approve that system based on a recommendation from our former auditor," Holman said. "We're in a negotiating process with them right now to recoup some of the expenses we incurred while installing it."

Of the $12,552 approved by the board, $5,632 would be used for International Business Machines Corp. (IBM) modems, cables, software and a converter needed to effectively hook up the computers at the DPW and Lakeview cemetery to the main computer system.

The remainder of the money will be used to expand the ability of the computer system to address 72 devices, up from the 36 it addresses now, according to Finance Director Peter Dobrzeński.

This will allow the library and fire department systems to be added later.

The township buys the computer equipment directly from IBM and receives a 30 percent discount.

"The only problem in doing this, (the expansion), is that it may slow the system down," Dobrzeński told board members.

"The more people you have on the system, the slower it's going to be," Holman said. "We're going to try to live with it, but if it's too slow, we may have to come back in 1989 and ask for $8,400 in equipment to speed up the system.

"We hope we don't have to do that, but it's possible," he added.

Treasurer John Lutz expressed approval for the additions.

"Working with the computer on a daily basis, it's very well needed," he said. "It's shown its value in the community."

New solid waste ordinance

Garbage haulers need license

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Residents may not notice any difference with a new solid waste ordinance in Independence Township, but garbage carriers serving the area will be busy during the next few weeks.

"I don't like to see it when they make more restrictions on our business, but there's nothing we can do about it," said Rick Detkowski, owner of Clarkston Disposal Service.

Adopted by the township board Dec. 6, the ordinance requires all garbage haulers within the township to be licensed through the clerk's office.

Disposal service operators must submit detailed descriptions of their equipment and procedures, must identify the number of households served and must provide a complete schedule of the days, areas and streets the company plans to service, according to the ordinance.

Township Supervisor Frank Ronk said the new ordinance was passed to make the township comply with the Michigan Township Charter Act. The act presumably protects townships from annexation attempts, in part, by proving that the township has licensed garbage service.

"There won't be any change in status," Ronk said. "Residents will still be able to contract with whatever or whoever they wish. This is the last criteria to make us in full conformity with the charter act."

Leonard Smith, owner of Smith's Disposal, Clarkston, says he'd like to see the township license only the smaller, independent disposal companies.

"Some of the bigger haulers can afford to cut their prices, and their costs at the landfill are cheaper," Smith said. "Those big companies are going to eat us up."

Don Moore, owner of Moore's Disposal, Clarkston, agrees.

"I would hate to see Independence Township go with the bigger haulers," Moore said.

The disposal companies have until Jan. 1 to apply for their township operating licenses.

"It will be difficult, I don't know when I'll have time to do all of it," Smith said. "Outside of that, I guess we can get along with it."

Junior high school students get new computers

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Junior high students in Clarkston schools will soon be working on up-to-date International Business Machines (IBM) computers.

As part of Plan B when the millage was passed in June of this year, a commitment was made to purchase new computers for the two middle schools. Currently, computer labs in the two schools are equipped with Commodore computers, which are limited and not compatible other computers in the district.

At the Dec. 12 school board meeting, the board heard a report honoring that commitment from Dr. Judith Backes, director of staff development and curriculum. Fifty student stations of the IBM Model 25 are to be purchased at a cost of $1,106 each or a total of $55,300.

Each student station includes a color monitor, dual disk drive, 640K memory, a mouse, and software.

Each junior high school computer lab will be equipped with 25 of the new computers. Textbooks currently in use will still be appropriate, but some new software, at a cost of about $100 per school, will have to be purchased. At a later date, other software is to be purchased as the computer program is expanded.

Backes and Paul Witek, computer coordinator for the district, were part of a committee that researched computer technology and made a recommendation to the board for the purchase of the computers.

The committee sent out a survey to teachers and support staff in October, Backes told the board, and the results of the 283 surveys returned gave them useful insights into instructional technology.

They learned, for instance, that, on a whole, Clarkston teachers are unaware of emerging instructional technology but that over 80 percent indicated they wanted training in the use of it.

The committee developed broad goals in instructional technology for Clarkston students and teachers, Backes told the board.

For students, the goals included familiarity, experience and application of current and emerging technologies, use of technology for personal productivity and to enhance the learning experience, and ability to adapt to changing technologies.

For teachers, the goals include making them aware of current and emerging technologies, skill in management applications, use of instructional technologies as an integral part of curriculum and in instruction, access to current technologies, and ability to adapt to changes in technologies.

In choosing a computer system, the committee made site visits to Birmingham and to IBM regional headquarters in Southfield. They viewed presentations from Tandy Corporation, Apple Computer and IBM. Each company was given a set of criteria developed by the committee.

The IBM Model 25 computer was chosen, she said, because it is compact, easily secured, and a faster processing machine. It will also articulate with the IBM compatible machines now being used at the high school.

"We realize this is a big item," Backes said of the $55,300 purchase. "But it will have a big impact on technology in the district."

Residents speak against Maybee Road rezoning

Planners recommend change from rural to single family residential

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

About a dozen residents voiced objections to the density that would be allowed if 72 acres were rezoned on Maybee Road.

The Independence Township Planning Commission voted 5-1 Dec. 8 to recommend changing the zoning from rural residential (three-acre minimum lot size) to single family residential (15,000-square-foot minimum lot size). The township board has the final say.

Voting in favor of the rezoning were Chairperson Brent Bair, Commissioners Jo Fussman, Joseph Figa, Daniel Travis, and Bruce Mercado.

Steven Secatch voted no, and Richard Oppmann was absent.

Developer Gerald Anderson told commission members that his company would like to build up to 160 single family homes north of Maybee Road, east of Chestnut Hills Subdivision.

During the public hearing, most residents expressed objections to the rezoning.

"My concern is that we don't pack in more people just because the land is buildable," said Bob Briggs of Mockingbird Lane, Independence Township. "We moved out here to enjoy nature. We need to think about places for our kids to play."

Gregory Gerald of Woodcrest Ridge, Independence Township, had another concern.

"A fair amount of people already cut through our subdivision to get to Waldon and out to I-75," he said. "I don't agree that most people will access out onto Maybee Road."

Doug Carlson, a Phelan Drive resident and chairperson of Citizens for Orderly Growth (COG), also objected to the rezoning.

"I'm against any changes in zoning that would increase density," he said.

COG, formed about a year ago to serve as a liaison between government on residents on growth issues, submitted a letter to the commission citing several objections to the proposed rezoning. The letter was read aloud and included in the public record of the meeting.

Township planning consultant Richard Carlisle recommended approving the zoning change.

"It conforms with the township's master plan, and complies with development plans," he said.

Commission members spoke in favor of the change because they said it met the township's long-range plans.

"We've put a lot of time and thought into developing the master plan for the township," said Chairperson Brent Bair. "This would be consistent with what we have planned, and I would recommend that it be rezoned."

"The development is balanced with the neighboring properties," said Bruce Mercado. "And we do need a tax base to pay for our schools."

Anderson said the value of the proposed homes would probably be between $175,000 and $180,000.

New fire equipment OK'd in Springfield

New fire fighting equipment, including foaming equipment, an up-to-specs radio, and 30 pairs of bunker pants and boots, was approved by the Springfield Township board on Dec. 8.

The board voted 6-0 to approve the equipment purchases. Trustee Charles Oaks, an on-call firefighter, abstained from voting.

In all but one case, the equipment will be ordered from the lowest bidder. The radio bid was not the lowest at $995, but it was the lowest one that met standards, according to Springfield Township Fire Chief Marlan Hillman.

Some equipment, such as the bunker pants and boots, was ordered at a lower cost through Oakland County bulk purchasing, Hillman said.

The new equipment costs about $7,300, including $4,186.20 for the pants and boots, which are regulation for the firefighters.

A bid for a compressor to fill the breathing apparatus used by firefighters was tabled because, in a separate action, the board voted to use 1989 Community Block Grant Funds for the purchase.

New 42-lot sub planned for M-15

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A 42-lot subdivision in the Cranberry Lake area received the first approval from the Independence Township Planning Commission Dec. 8.

Commission members voted 4-2 to approve a tentative preliminary plat for Cranberry Pointe subdivision, to be located on 33 acres east of M-15, north of Cranberry Lake, Independence Township. The plat, which consists of lots over 15,000-square-feet, also needs approval from the Independence Township Board.

Voting in favor of the plat were Chairperson Brent Bair, Daniel Travis, Jo Fussman and Bruce Mercado.

Voting no were Joseph Figa and Steve Secatch. Richard Oppmann was absent.

A tentative preliminary plat shows the layout of the lots, roads and utilities.

Developer Craig Smith of Biltmore Properties Corporation, described plans to develop several sites that will eventually be sold to builders.

He told commissioners that he didn't plan to create lake access for homeowners and that a portion of the property that extends into Cranberry Lake will be donated to the Independence Land Conservatory.

Some commissioners expressed concern about the effect of the development on the lake's natural ecosystem.

"I'm a fisherman, and I wouldn't want to disturb the fragile breeding ground that exists in that area," said Travis.

Other concerns were expressed about creating an entrance to the subdivision along M-15.

"I don't know what the answer is, but I'd like to see an alternative (to exiting on M-15)," said Secatch.

"I'm not going to vote for any development until something is done on M-15," said Figa.

Township Planner Richard Carlisle said he liked the proposal.

"All of the lots meet or exceed the requirements," Carlisle said. "All of the lots are arranged in an appropriate manner."

Helping you to cope

The stress of trying to fulfill so many demanding roles in our careers, family and community very often takes its toll. Headaches, backaches, stiff necks and indigestion have become commonplace. What we once would have considered to be an illness, we now accept as "normal."

Chiropractic is a natural healing science that allows your body to begin to function properly and express total health. By releasing impinged nerves within your spinal column, chiropractic health care allows your nervous system to function properly and your body to adapt to all the stresses and strains of your environment. Library comes of age with new computers

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Help with anything from homework to personal finances to word processing will soon be available to the public via computer at the Independence Township Library.

Township board members disagreed over the purchase but eventually voted 4-3 to approve spending $10,990 to purchase an International Business Machines

Corp. (IBM) System 2 Model 30 computer for patrons, an IBM System 2 Model 60 computer for library administrators, two matrix printers and assorted software packages.

Voting yes were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Treasurer John Lutz and trustees Mel Vaara and William Vandermark. Voting no were Clerk Richard Holman and trustees Frank Millard and Daniel Travis.

Before the approval, a motion to purchase only one system, for use by patrons, failed with a 3-4 vote.

Voting yes were Holman, Millard and Travis. Voting no were Ronk, Lutz, Vaara and Vandermark.

A portion of the system will be funded with money from the library memorial fund.

Hibler said that before asking the board for the computers, he talked to Clarkston High School's computer teacher to determine what students were learning at that level.

After the computers are installed in the next few months, library patrons will be able use various word processing software packages, several learning packages and software on personal finances, to name a few.

"While we're not the high school, we are seeking to complement what they do with computers," Hibler said.

Before the vote Dec. 6, some board members disagreed on the computer purchases.

"I just don't think the purchase is prudent at this time," Trustee Frank Millard told board members. "There just isn't the space. It isn't anything that couldn't be set up later."

Trustee Daniel Travis agreed. "How about the manpower needed to train and monitor patrons? You just don't have the horses."

"We felt all along that computers are vital to our operation," Hibler said. "By not having them, we really miss out. Our productivity is lower."

Gravel on the way for rural township roads

Residents living along Whipple Lake and Dartmouth Roads in Independence Township should soon see some needed improvements.

The township board agreed Dec. 6 to use money from its Oakland County Tri-Party Program for drainage work and more gravel on Whipple Lake Road from Pine Knob Road to Eston Road, and on Dartmouth Road from Whipple Lake Road to Princeton Street.

"These are areas we have identified as priorities," said township Supervisor Frank Ronk.

The tri-party program allows the township board to identify roads that need improvements and then split the cost of repairs with Oakland County and the Oakland County Road Commission.

Of the $94,400 estimated total cost of the Whipple Lake and Dartmouth roads improvements, the township will pay $27,334.

Work on the improvements is scheduled for fall of 1988 but will be completed in Spring of 1989 if necessary, said to Ronk.

This holiday season, Apple makes it easy.

Now is the best time to buy an Apple II or Macintosh computer. Because if you make your purchase with the Apple Credit Card, you can take your system home the same day, with no payments and no finance charges* billed until February '89.

Put a Macintosh Plus to work in your home office and watch the productivity begin! Team up your Macintosh computer with Microsoft Works™ software and you can create customized letters, memos, and proposals; turn big tasks like budgeting and financial analysis into small ones; and get the power to manage a mountain of information.

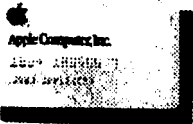

If you need more powerful options, get the Macintosh SE for your business growing needs. The expanded storage capacity of the Macintosh SE allows room for large spreadsheets and databases, and powerful word processing programs. Plus, with the built-in expansion slot, you can plug in large screen monitors or special application cards.

The compact, affordable Apple IIc Plus makes an excellent gift for the entire family. It's the perfect solution for first-time buyers who want an affordable, easy-to-use computer. And along with Claris AppleWorks™ there's something for everyone in your family. AppleWorks combines word processing, spreadsheet, and database management in one software package.

Last, but certainly not least, the Apple IIc® may be one of the most remarkable personal computers you've ever seen... or heard. It features high-sophisticated graphics capabilities that allow the artist in you to draw, paint and design in over 4,000 brilliant colors. And the Apple IIc can recreate up to 15 different sounds simultaneously. With Claris' AppleWorks GS™ you'll get virtually everything your family needs for personal productivity: word processing, with spell checker and thesaurus; mail merge; spreadsheet, database management; desktop publishing; and more.

Hurry in today for more information about how Apple makes it easy this holiday season.

Elwell develops paging system for bedridden

BY CHARLOTTE WALL

It's been an exciting year for George Elwell. He's accepted an early retirement from his employer of several years, and he has begun to work full-time at a business he loves - developing paging systems to help those less fortunate than himself.

He has traveled to several conventions to show his equipment, met scores of people, and he has added a new line to his growing business.

Elwell, who resides at the border of Orion and Independence townships, believes that communication is important. For that reason, he wants to open doors for those who may not find communication as easy as simply dialing a telephone or walking up to another person.

A year ago, he completed the planning and found a manufacturer for the Silent Call system, an in-home, portable communication system for the hearing impaired.

This fall, the manufacturer, Pulsar Control of Hendersonville, Tenn., began constructing Elwell's latest system, the Med-A-Call, a communication system for the bedridden or wheelchair-bound.

He says he began his work in the development of the systems after watching a deaf brother-in-law struggle in the hearing world. His Christian belief that people are placed on the earth to help one another also was a leading factor in the development of the Silent Call.

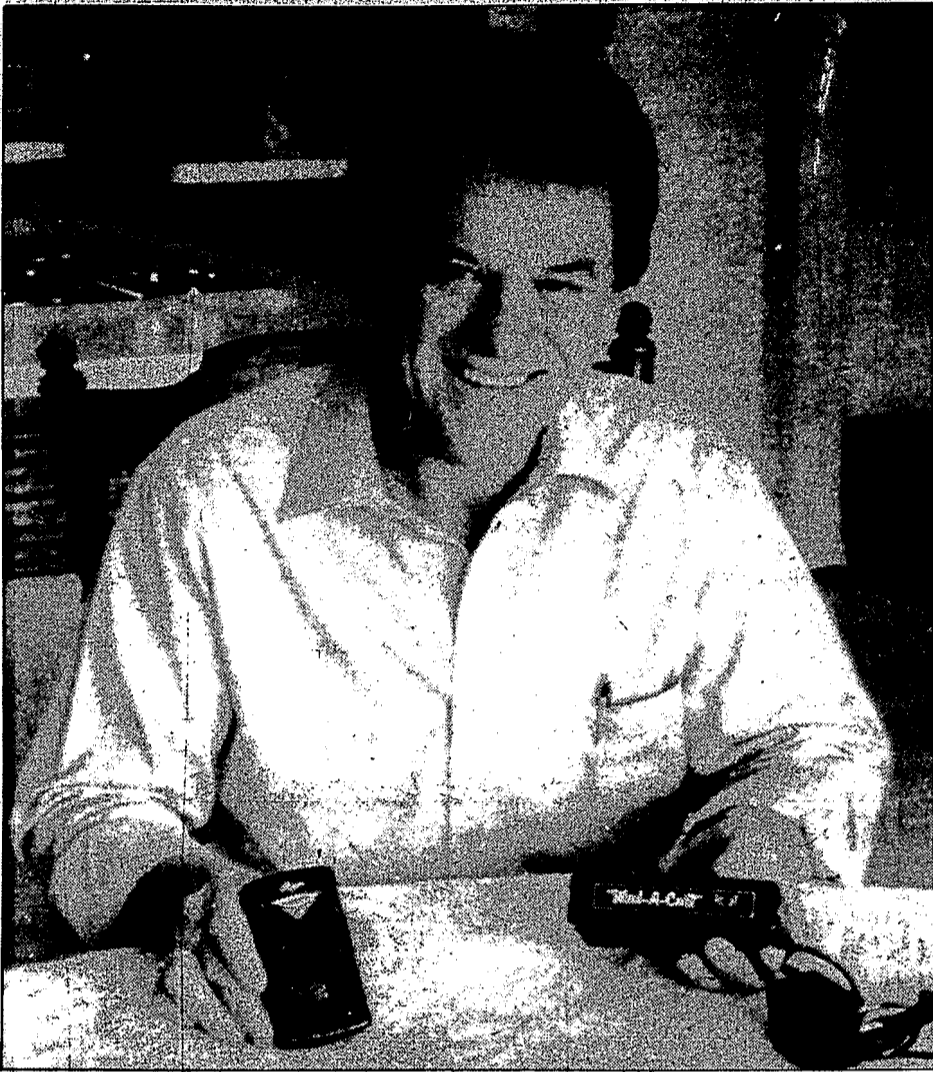

As with Silent Call, the Med-A-Call system was developed because Elwell felt there was a need for a quality, efficient, inexpensive paging system.

He says the business has been built on the phrase, "People don't care how much you know until they know how much you care."

The Silent Call system is a series of monitors, transmitters and a receiver. Vibrations from a monitor worn by the system's user alert the hearing impaired person when there is a knock at the door or a ringing telephone.

The system also includes a Sleep Alert monitor, which flashes a strobe light to awaken a person when a message is transmitted. The system includes a smoke alarm which transmits messages to either the daytime monitor or the Sleep Alert.

Elwell says his success with Silent Call led him to develop the Med-A-Call. The two systems are compatible. The Med-A-Call system is marketed through Michigan Bell and Sun Medical, as well as in several locations throughout the nation. Elwell is seeking to have the system approved for coverage under Medicare.

GEORGE ELWELL says his new paging system, Med-A-Call, is easy to use, easy to install, portable and within the reach of an average person's budget. The system gives confidence to bedridden or wheelchair-bound people and their caretakers.

At the time Elwell invented the Silent Call system, he was employed as a lead engineer for an automotive company. In that capacity, he learned the importance of proper designing and manufacturing.

Quality in his products is important to him. Once the products are on the market, Elwell shows his confidence by placing a two-year guarantee on the equipment. The warranty is about a year longer than that of most systems produced by other companies, he says.

The Med-A-Call system consists of three units - a receiver, a pager transmitter and an AC adapter recharger.

Like the Silent Call, the system is portable, and can be moved from one location to another with the ill or handicapped person.

For example, if a bedridden person is usually cared for by a spouse, the system and the person could be moved into the home of another relative when the spouse is away on a trip.

The system allows the caretaker the relief of being able to care for a home and yard, while knowing that he or she will be paged if needed.

For the ill or handicapped person, the system allows a sense of confidence. "He knows his needs will be answered," says Elwell. "Help is a button's push away."

The Med-A-Call system can be purchased in two ways - either with the vibrator system to be compatible with the equipment for the hearing impaired, or with a sound system for those who can hear and speak.

He says the system can be used in homes, nursing centers, hospitals and hospices.

Although the Med-A-Call system is new, Elwell has already received one letter of recommendation from a satisfied customer.

The customer's wife is bedridden with a disease that causes her to choke. Shortly after obtaining the Med-A-Call system, the man was in the shower. He had placed his transmitter on the counter in the bathroom. When his wife paged him, the closed door and resonance from the counter top alerted him to his wife's problem. He said he heard the page, even over the sound of the running water inside the shower. The man credits the system for saving his wife's life.

Elwell says his equipment is priced to be within reach of the average person's budget. Installation of the system can be accomplished with simple household tools.

For further information, or to order the system, visit one of the distributorships or call 391-1710 (voice) or 391-1799 (those with phone equipment for the hearing impaired), or write Silent Call Corporation, P. O. Box 16348, Clarkston, MI, 48016-6348.

Census Bureau calling this week

The Census Bureau is collecting data on employment and unemployment from area residents this week, through Dec. 17, according to Dwight P. Dean, director of the bureau's Detroit regional office.

The Census Bureau's monthly current population survey includes a national sample of some 56,000 households and is sponsored by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, primarily to gather the employment and unemployment data.

Information supplied by individuals is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

The local data will contribute to December's national labor force picture to be released Jan. 6 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The third quarter unemployment rate in the United States for 1988 is 5.5, as compared to 6.0 in 1987 and 6.9 in 1986.

Motorist escapes after high-speed chase Sunday

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The peace in those early Sunday morning hours ended quickly when Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies noticed a 1987 Chevy Z-28 heading toward them.

Meetings, legals stay the same

The Springfield Township board will continue to meet on the second Thursday of the month in the township hall, 650 Broadway, for 1989. The board meets at 7:30 p.m.

The board voted 6-1 at its regular board meeting in December to continue the same meeting times. Treasurer Lois Stiles was the only no vote. She suggested moving the meetings back to the second Wednesday, which was the meeting night in 1987.

The board voted unanimously to continue using The Clarkston News for legal publications.

The events that were to unfold included a high-speed highway chase, a pursuit on foot and a stolen car getaway. As of Dec. 12, police had made no arrests in the incident.

About 6:43 a.m. Dec. 11, Deputies Ken Quisenberry and Doug Edgar had radar in at least one of their two cars trained on traffic along I-75, north of Sashabaw Road in Independence Township.

After clocking a Z-28 traveling over 90 mph, the deputies attempted to catch the car and paced it at over 100 mph for more than four miles, according to Detective Sgt. Doug Hummel.

When police turned on their overhead lights, the car slowed to 40 mph allowing the deputies to position themselves in front and behind the car.

About two miles south of Sashabaw Road on I-75, the Z-28 drove off the roadway through a field and hit a fence.

One, possibly two subjects then fled on foot behind a row of houses on Pine Knob Lane, according to the police report.

Eight other police units were called to assist in tracking the suspects, Hummel said. After about a half-hour, dogs tracked a scent to a residence in the 5200 block of Westview Road.

At that moment, a resident in that block informed deputies that his pickup truck had just been stolen, said Hummel.

Investigators found a butcher knife and some sheets in the area where the truck was last seen.

In contacting other departments in the area, Hummel said police in Saginaw reported a recent armed robbery involving a knife.

The '78 Chevy Z-28 was registered in Fort Wayne, Indiana. When contacted, the owner reported the vehicle stolen.

Police have not yet recovered the pickup truck, and the incident remains under investigation, said Hummel.

Park permits on sale

Outdoor enthusiasts may want to purchase park permits now for the 1989 seasons.

Indian Springs Metropark permits are available for $10 a year ($5 for senior citizens). Daily permits are $2.

The park is located on White Lake Road in Springfield and White Lake townships, but the permit can be used at any of the eight Metroparks in Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Determination has helped a Springfield Township resident to new heights in quarter horse showing.

Kristy King of Kier Road has shown horses for more than three years and won many accolades during that time.

When she reflects on her career, 1988 is sure to be one of her best years.

She is first in the nation in showmanship, second in the nation in horsemanship (first in Michigan) and third in the nation in western pleasure.

The 1988 graduate of Clarkston High School belongs to the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) which includes nearly 9,000 youth members and scheduled more than 2,000 shows per year.

Wolverines win, Cougars next

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With two convincing victories under its belt, Clarkston is prepared to renew its rivalry with crosstown nemesis Sashabaw.

Last season, the Cougars triumphed twice, but Coach Bill Bildstein's crew appears a lot tougher in 1988. Case in point, Clarkston crushed visiting Holly 58-35 on Dec. 8 to up their early season record to 2-0.

The victory mirrored the team's season-opening win over Farmington.

"We have to be patient and run the offense and get the job done inside," the coach said.

Craig Garnett scored a team-high 13 points and David Smith added 12 plus six assists for the victors. Devin DuPree added 11 points. Jason Kinzler was tough on the boards, collecting nine rebounds.

The Wolverines led the entire away against Holly, beginning with a bucket by Jeremy Deloney. By the end of the opening stanza, the hosts were up 15-6.

"Once we got up, I went to a zone (defense) to force them outside," the coach said of Holly's shooters.

Clarkston stretched its advantage during the next eight minutes, with Garnett doing most of the scoring.

Holly played the Wolverines even in the third quarter before Clarkston blew past them in the fourth with a 20-9 scoring spree.

Two nights earlier, Clarkston hosted Farmington and emerged a 46-31 victor.

Kinzler was the top offensive threat for the Wolverines. He scored 12 points and grabbed eight rebounds. Garnett added 11 points, six boards and four blocked shots.

Deloney was the third player in double figures for the victors with 10 points to go along with five rebounds. DuPree had six assists and seven steals and Smith added five steals for Clarkston.

The Wolverines' clash with Sashabaw on Thursday, Dec. 15, at Clarkston Junior High. Game time is set for 6 p.m. It's the team's last game before the Christmas break. Clarkston returns to action Jan. 5 on the road against Flint Central.

Hoops team victorious

After a tough overtime loss to Pontiac Central three days before, the junior varsity basketball team rebounded to pick up its first victory of the season Friday night.

Scouting reports indicated Walled Lake Western couldn't handle the full-court press, so Coach Tim Kaul worked on preparing a special surprise for the Warriors when the teams met for Clarkston's home opener.

The Wolves' press worked to perfection as they whipped Western 76-28 to up their early-season record to 1-2.

"We played two pretty good teams in our first two games," the coach said. "I'm pleased with (the players') efforts tonight. It's easy to get down on yourself."

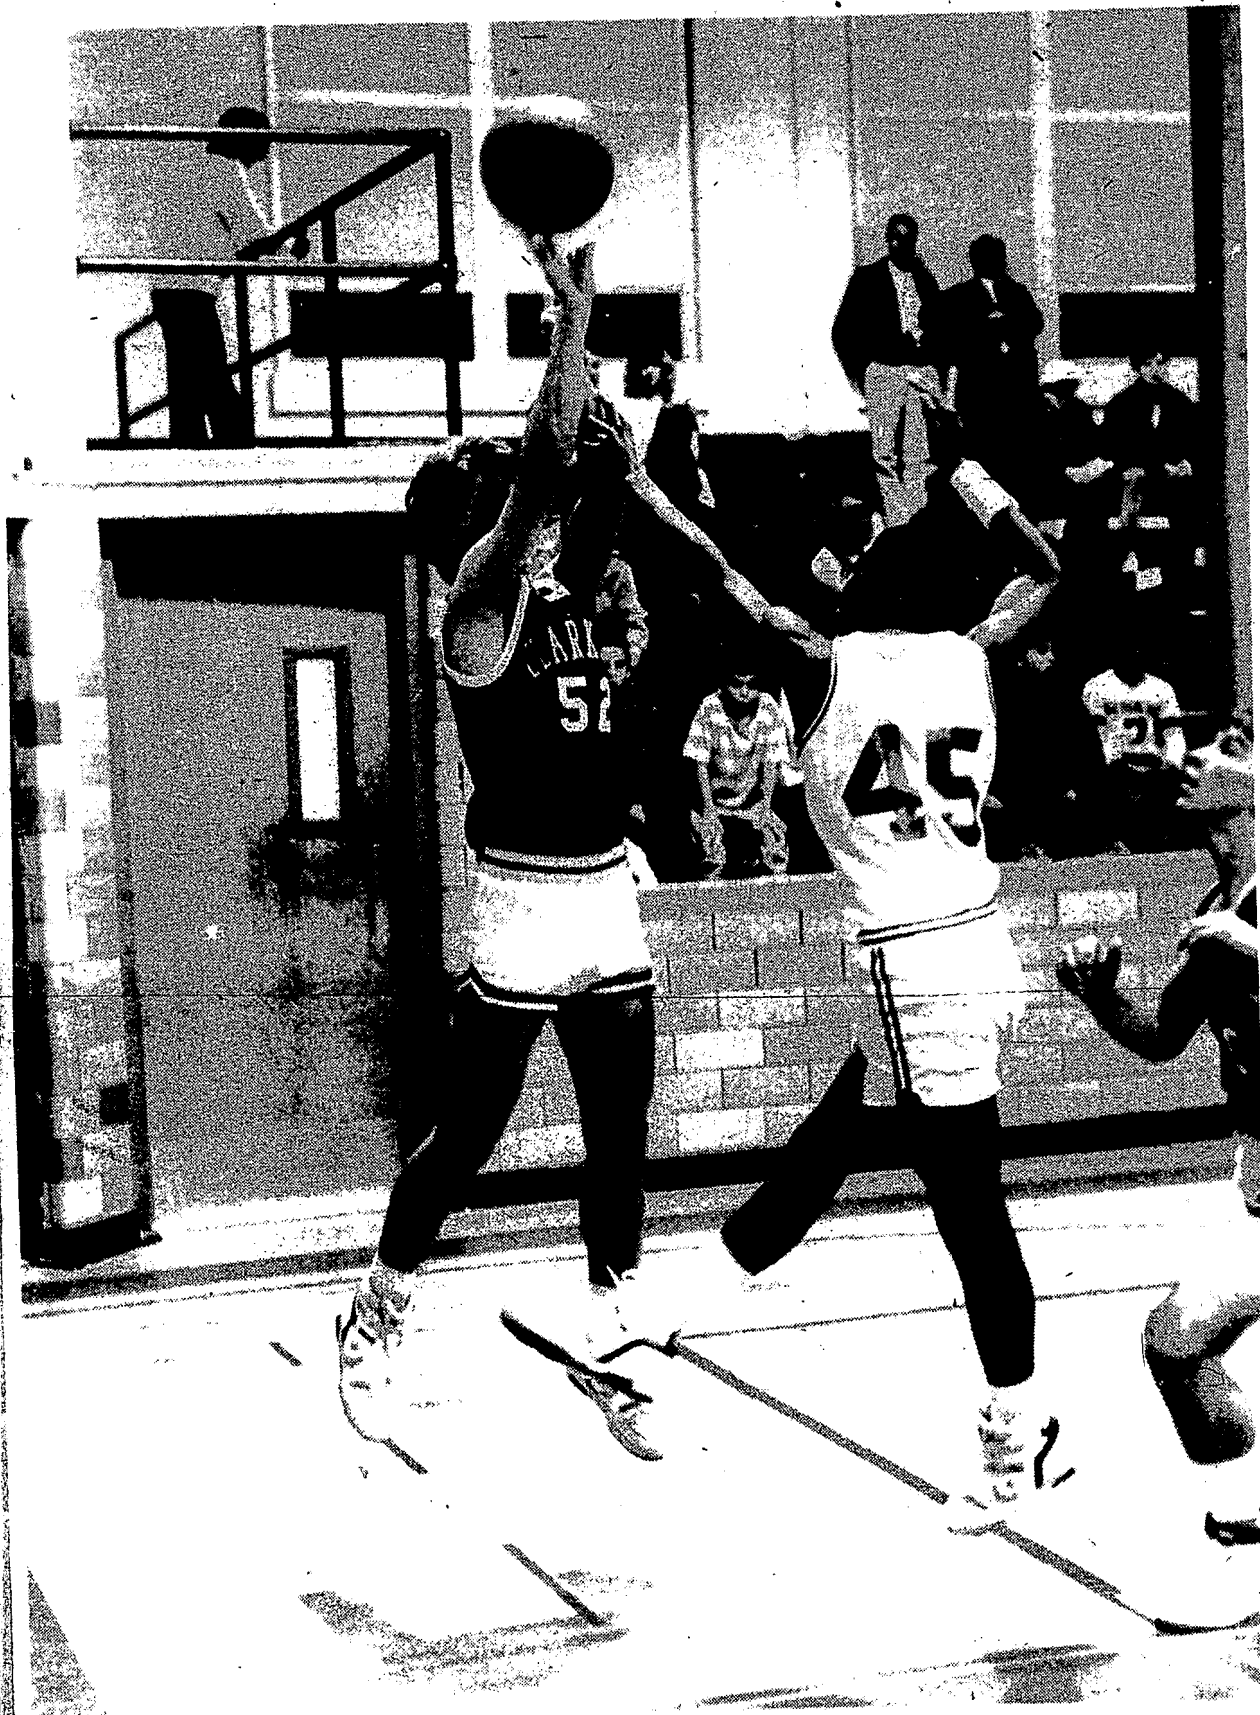

Five players scored in double figures for the victors. Bill Knight led all scorers with 17 points. Jerrod Johnson was next with 13, and Luke Fedio, Mike Stoutenburg and Chad Hetherington all added 10 apiece.

Western managed to keep the score close in the early portion of the first quarter before Clarkston began to press. Once the Wolves applied pressure, the Warriors folded like a wet noodle.

After a Western basket cut the Clarkston lead to one (10-9) late in the opening stanza, the Wolves ripped off 27 points to Walled Lake's two before halftime to stake itself to a 37-11 advantage.

Many times it would take Western two or three possessions to get the ball over the center line. The second half was practically a mirror image of the first.

Earlier in the week, Clarkston lost to Pontiac Central in overtime on the road. The final score was 62-51.

JEREMY DELONEY lets a jumper go over Jeff Boykin of Holly during first-half action on Dec. 8.

Deloney scored 10 points and grabbed five rebounds in the Wolverines' season opener.

Walk with Olympian on Dec. 31

Anyone who can run, walk, toddle or roll is eligible to enter the 19th Annual Little Caesars Pizza Fun Run/Walk on New Year's Eve at Belle Isle.

Springfield Township resident Gary Morgan, who participated in the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea, will be a special guest and participate in a four-mile competitive race walk.

The race will be officially judged, with awards going to the first male and female finishers, and commemorative plaques for the first 50 across the line.

All events begin and end at the Brodhead Armory. Times are as follows:

○ 4 p.m. -- Children's one-mile run/walk (12 and under).

○ 4:05 p.m. -- Open one-mile run/walk.
○ 4:35 p.m. -- Four-mile competitive walk.
○ 4:40 p.m. -- four-mile fitness walk.

Race entry fees range from $6 for those 12-and-under to $10 for adults. Late registration after Dec. 23 is $8 and $13, respectively. Entry fees include Little Caesars Pizza, pop, fruit and beer with a champagne toast for adults, long-sleeve shirts and awards.

Early registration and shirt pick-up is scheduled for 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Dec. 17 at the Belle Isle Casino. Shirts can't be mailed. Late registration will be accepted on race day, but availability of shirts can't be guaranteed.

For more information, call 224-1184 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. weekdays.

Coach notes improvement

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Last year's pain should be this year's gain for the varsity volleyball team at Clarkston High School.

Inexperience hampered the squad throughout the 1987-88 campaign that ended with a loss to Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL) powerhouse Lake Orion in the district finals at Rochester.

Four seniors and nine juniors provide Coach Gordie Richardson, in his second year at the top coaching spot for the varsity team, with hope.

"We'll be better than we were last year," he said. "It'll depend on our defense."

The returning seniors are Kelly Avenall, Heather Behrens, Jenny Grohs and Coy Carlson. Juniors are Susan McKoi, Ingrid Larson, Amy Blome, Michelle Falwell, Michelle Sykes, Wendy Cummings, Jamie Law, Sue Cohoon and Jami Lerner.

"They worked hard in the off season to improve," the coach said. "Twelve of them played varsity a year ago. They understand (the system) and know what's going on."

Everyone on the team will have to know their job if Clarkston is to compete for the GOAL title in 1989.

As usual, the GOAL will be tough from top to bottom. Brandon and defending champ Lake Orion should challenge for the top spot. The Blackhawks boast a couple of experienced seniors, while the Dragons have plenty of new talent to replace graduated seniors.

Waterford Mott played a lot of sophomores last season, meaning they will be in the same boat as Clarkston -- a wealth of experienced underclassmen.

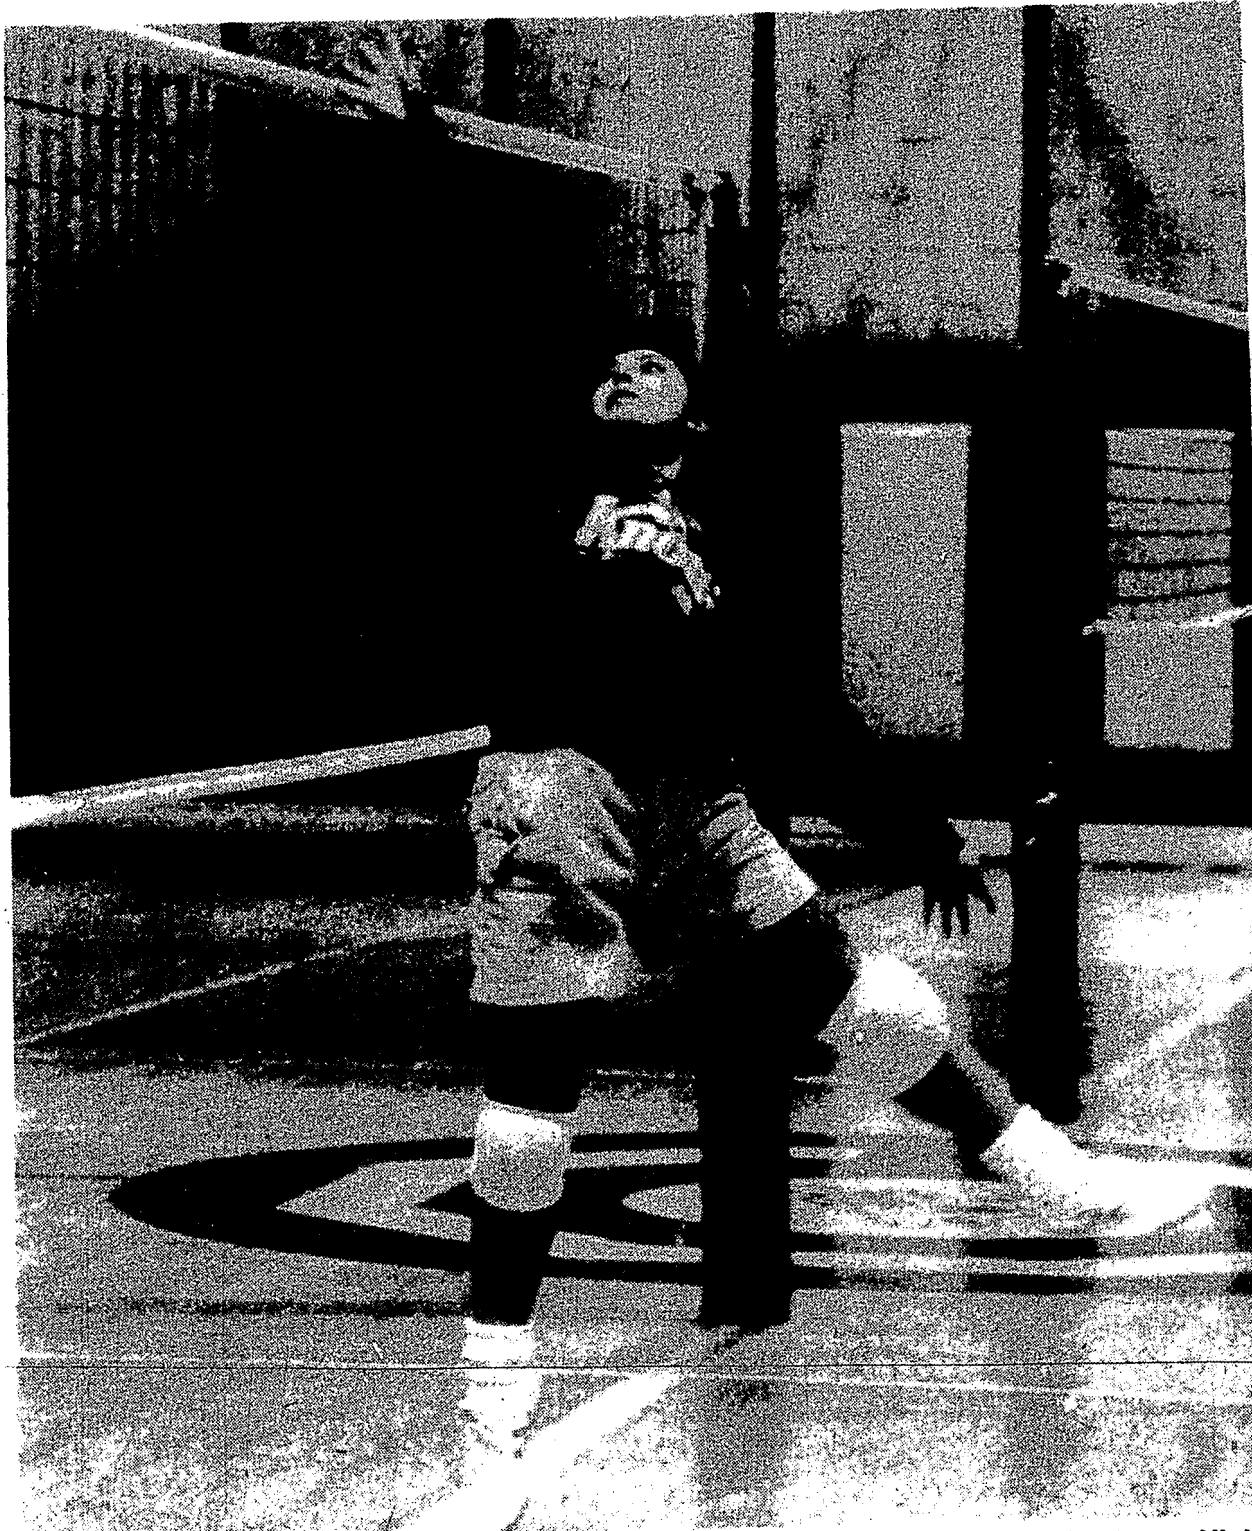

Kettering will be tough, too, even though the Captains will have a new head coach.

"They gave us a run for the money," Richardson said of Kettering. "With a new coach, you never know what's going to happen. They are the darkhorse."

Pontiac Northern will probably be the most improved team in the league, the Clarkston coach said.

Although the regular season doesn't get underway until the new year, Richardson will get an early look at how well his team has improved since last year's playoffs during a six-team scrimmage at Flint Central Dec. 17.

Clarkston begins the regular season in a tournament at Walled Lake on Jan. 7. The Wolves open the home season two days later against Waterford Mott.

WENDY CUMMINGS, a junior, punches the ball over the net during a practice session for the varsity volleyball team at Clarkston High School last week.

Wolves win opening tourney

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

While the varsity wrestlers practiced in the cafeteria after school Monday, the first-place trophy from the Ferndale Invitational stood alone atop a nearby table.

For the second time in three years, Clarkston won the season-opening prep wrestling tournament. The team skipped the event last season.

Coach Scott Strickler was proud of every athlete on his squad after the matches ended Saturday evening.

"Everyone won at least one match," he said. "I expected to do well (at the tourney) but they went a little further than I expected."

In fact, Clarkston ran away with the team title amassing 223 points. Second-place East Detroit finished with 186 and host Ferndale had 140 points to end up a distant third.

Individual champions for the Wolves were Chris Luzi at 112 pounds, John Anderson at 130, John Terpstra at 145, Jerry Lawrence at 160 and Jason Campbell at 189.

Ferndale Invitational

TEAM RESULTS -- Clarkston 223, East Detroit 186, Ferndale 140, Utica 120, Lamphere 102.5, Royal Oak Dondero 100, Chippewa Valley 96, Warren 72, Madison Heights 46, Romeo 22.

INDIVIDUALS -- 103, Chuck Morgan (F) pinned Scott Naden (ED); 112, Chris Luzi (C) pinned Garrett Lovas (L); 119, Charlie Dickens (ED) def. Dan Watters (L); 125, Chris Klebba (U) def. Brian Mondalek (ED); 130, John Anderson (C) def. Bob Skovran (U); 135, George Fillar (ED) def. Ted Diomme (U); 140, Chad Biggert (R) pinned Mike Cavender (F); 145, John Terpstra def. Charlie Locklear (L); 152, Joe Lembo (ED) def. Bob Layton (W); 160, Jerry Lawrence (C) pinned Tony Oweas (MH); 171, Tracy Boyd (D) pinned Joel Davis (C); 189, Jason Campbell (C) pinned Claude Presley (F); Hwt, Jim Ebersoll (F) pinned Bruce Moore (W).

But they were not the only winners for CHS.

Joel Davis, at 171 pounds, finished in second. Dave London at 125, Damon Michelsen at 152 and Adam Atkinson at 135 all finished third in their respective weight classes while Tony Miller, at heavyweight, and Matt Cook, at 140, wound up in fourth place.

Overall, 11 of 13 wrestlers won a medal at the meet. "That's really encouraging," the coach said. "That's what these guys are out here for, they know now what it takes to win."

While the statistics reveal a convincing victory for Clarkston, the wrestlers won't let the early victory go to their heads.

"I don't want to take anything away from the team's victory," said Campbell, a senior, "but I know that I wasn't really challenged."

Luzi, another senior, agreed that the competition wasn't as tough as the Wolves will face later on in their schedule.

The team's total of 223 points surprised the coach since only eight teams were at the tourney. Usually, the 200-point plateau is broken during 16-squad invitationals, he said.

With little time for rest, the Wolves battled in a quad meet at Goodrich Dec. 13, results will be in next week's Clarkston News.

The Oakland County meet, at Oakland Community College's Highland Lakes campus and Orchard Ridge campus for Friday and Saturday looms as an important meet for Clarkston.

"(The schedule) gets tougher every week," the coach said. "Some are saying the Oakland County meet is the best tournament next to the states."

The Wolves goal for 1988-89 remains the same -- to go where no Clarkston wrestling team has gone before, i.e. the Top 10 in Oakland County.

"We have to start one step at a time," the coach said. "We can't sit and harp on what we did last Saturday."

Lake Orion and Hazel Park should be the favorites once again at the county meet which will feature 42 teams.

ROB LAURIE, (kneeling far right), a 1987 graduate of Clarkston High School, is one of nine players with Michigan roots on the 1988-89 Western Michigan University hockey team. The Bronco tied and lost to Lake Superior State in a two-game series over the weekend.

Basketball team races past Walled Lake

Wolves beat up Western before enthusiastic crowd

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Loud rock 'n roll music and thunderous ovations greeted the boys varsity basketball team Friday night during warm-ups for its home opener.

In return for their hospitality, the Wolves provided the lively student section -- armed with homemade noise-makers -- with plenty to cheer about as they rolled to an easy 71-51 victory over Walled Lake Western.

The win bumps Clarkston's non-league record to 2-1.

"It's a good win for our kids," Wolves' head coach Dan Fife said. "They all were a little nervous out there for their first home game; it was a great crowd."

Kevin McCormick topped all scorers with 20 points to pace the victors. Jim Huttenlocher had 16, while Scott Weeks and Reggie Reed were next with eight points apiece.

Fife was especially pleased with Huttenlocher and Weeks after the game.

"Scotty and Jimmy needed that game for themselves," he said. "I was happy to see that."

Darin Brandt and Dugan Fife scored six points apiece.

Both teams started even, and the score was tied at eight midway through the opening quarter. McCormick then hit back-to-back buckets to start Clarkston's 8-3 surge at the end of the stanza to push the home team out in front by a 16-11 margin.

After a pair of successful free throws by Reed, Weeks canned a shot to bump the Wolves advantage to 20-11 and the rout was underway.

JV looks good

Just as the varsity volleyball team looks toward the defense to lead it to victory, so do the members of the junior varsity squad.

With the season opener still a month away, Coach Kecia Powell will get a good indication of how well her club stacks up against top notch competition when Clarkston travels to Flint Central Dec. 17 for a six-team scrimmage.

For now, it's just practice, practice, practice. "We are working on teaching skills right now," Powell said. "They are a good group of kids. We should do all right."

Fourteen girls comprise the roster of the junior varsity team. Of those, one is a junior, the rest are sophomores.

Julie Bishop, Jennifer Boggs, Jennifer Graham, Kimberly Kolody, Becky Kosek, Christi Oppmann, Heidi Parrott, Candence Polenz, Stacey Secatch, Kimberly Southern, Michelle Studt, Amy Tower and Beth Walker are the 10th graders on the team. Jodi Lopucki is the lone junior.

The home season for the junior varsity team begins Jan. 9 against Waterford Mott.

Time Out

They're back

Peter Auchter

Hold onto your hats, the wrestlers at Clarkston High school are back.

If they grapple anything like they did during the season-opening invitational at Ferndale, good times lie ahead for CHS wrestling fans.

Two years ago, the Wolves won the championship at Ferndale. Last season, prior commitments got in the way of a title defense. They went to the Grand Blanc invitational instead.

Now, in December 1988, the team returned to Ferndale and successfully defended its title from two years ago. They didn't beat up on many two-bit pansies to do it either. Powers like East Detroit, Ferndale and Utica along with others from Madison Heights, Lamphere, Royal Oak Dondero, Mount Clemens, Chippewa Valley, Warren, Madison Heights and Romeo all were there ready to knock out the Wolves.

Before the season, Coach Scott Strickler predicted his squad would be tough in tournaments due to outstanding talent in several weight divisions. Valuable team points can add up quickly with a few individual championships during these weekend parties.

Hats off to Chris Luzi, John Anderson, John Terpstra, Jerry Lawrence and Jason Campbell. All won championships for the Wolves.

Luckily, the athletes didn't make a liar out of their coach and his pre-season prediction and performed as expected -- they won.

In case the going got rough for the Wolves, Strickler added a little incentive for his guys before the tourney got underway. He would shave off his beard if Clarkston won it all.

Obviously, it was just what the athletes wanted to hear because they ripped through the opening rounds of the tourney in fine fashion, winning 12 of 13 matches.

Sitting in the stands with the wrestlers, gentle jabs already were flowing the coach's way before lunch time. "Get ready to shave," was the message the athletes were sending out.

When the semi-final rounds rolled around and some of the Clarkston boys began losing, the disappointment was clearly etched in their faces. They wanted to win bad no matter what the odds were against them. Instead of writing off an individual loss and enjoying the team success, they wanted to help the squad win.

With that kind of attitude, this team can go nowhere but up from here on out. Remember the little ol' ant moving that rubber tree plant? Well, I bet that little guy could have pinned a grasshopper 10 times his size without a second thought.

Sure there will be some rough times ahead, but there also should be plenty of good times to cancel them out. Up next is the Oakland County meet, this weekend. What could happen there is anybody's guess. But then that's what I thought about the Ferndale tourney.

Varsity team tops visitor for 2nd win later in the quarter increased Clarkston's advantage to 32-19. By halftime, the Wolves were up 38-22.

McCormick and Huttenlocher combined for 20 points in the first half alone.

"We scored in spurts," the coach said. "We made the buckets when we had to."

Clarkston substituted in the third quarter, but the rout continued.

Gary Kaul came off the bench and promptly nailed a three-point shot. The Wolves now led 55-27. Western ripped off eight straight points to end the third period.

Fife inserted the starters for the beginning of the fourth and the Wolves quickly took back control of the game.

After two rough games -- against Redford Catholic Central and Pontiac Central -- the Western contest provided the Wolves with a little breather. As it turned out, it's just what the team needed.

"Walled Lake is down," said Fife. "It was a bad shooting night, and we didn't play well."

Earlier in the week, the Wolves traveled to face Pontiac Central and wound up on the short end of a 70-59 final score.

Clarkston led 39-35 late in the third quarter when the momentum shifted Central's way. The Wolves never got back into the game.

McCormick lead all Wolves' scorers with 18 points. Fife added 15 in the losing cause. Weeks and Reed had seven points apiece.

Clarkston's final game before the Christmas break is against Brandon at home Dec. 15. The Junior varsity game is set to begin at 6 p.m.

Bring Christmas To Those Less Fortunate

Max Brook, Realtors annual toy drive begins! All toys will be distributed to Children's Village, a home for abused and neglected children ranging in age from 2-17. We urge community members to help. A drop box for new toys, gift wrapped if possible, is located inside the Max Brook office at 27 South Main Street (625-9300). We suggest gifts that would be enjoyed by either sex that each gift include an age designation. The deadline is December 21. The office is open Monday through Thursday 8:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Friday 8:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., Saturday 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Sunday 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Due to the fact Children's Village does not accept Christmas Gifts after December 22, we are asking in advance to ensure no child is forgotten over the Holiday.

Township planners OK rezoning

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A request to rezone 15 acres in the southeast corner of Clarkston and Pine Knob Roads in Independence Township came as a pleasant surprise to township planning commission members.

If passed, the rezoning request would create even bigger lots than the township envisioned when it created its master plan for the area.

Commission members voted 6-0 to recommend approval to the township board, which has the final say. Richard Oppmann was absent.

Developer James Mleczo told planning commission members Dec. 8 that he wanted to create seven parcels of land on the 15.5 acre site.

He requested that the zoning be changed from rural residential three-acre-lots to suburban farm residential lots ranging in size from a half acre to one-and-a-half acres.

"The rezoning application actually creates less density than what the master plan indicates," township Planner Richard Carlisle told commission members. "I recommend approval."

Steve Finkle, Manager of Pine Knob Music Theatre, expressed concern that any future residents living in the area will be blocked in their homes on concert nights.

"By putting homes here, you'll create problems that can only get worse," Finkle said. "You're inviting residents to have headaches."

Chairperson Brent Bair reminded residents that the purpose of the commission was to hear issues pertinent to the rezoning of property.

$1,500 stolen from health club locker

A patron at the Deer Lake Racquet Club, White Lake Road, Independence Township, reported $1,500 missing from a locked locker in the club's men's dressing room Dec. 12.

According to an Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, the money was taken between 5:30 and 7 p.m.

The patron told police that club attendants give out keys to each locker. The report says club administrators will watch to see if more than one key is being used at the locker.

The patron reported keeping his locker locked while using club facilities, but says he kept the key to his locker outside of the sauna for 15 minutes at one point during his visit.

School cafeteria contract OK'd

Approval of a contract for cafeteria managers by the Clarkston Board of Education completes all contracts for the district in this fiscal year.

The unanimous approval came Monday night after Connie Bruce, director of personnel services, presented the contract to the board.

Five cafeteria managers are in the district, he said. The one-year contract, effective July 1, 1988 through June 30, 1989, represents a five percent increase in wages.

Level one is now at $7.92 per hour, level two at $8.15, and level three, in the third year, is at $8.61 per hour under the new contract.

The Sashabaw cafeteria manager will get 25 cents per hour more than the others, Bruce added, because she is handling two cafeterias.

Newsletter possibility for Springfield

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A periodic newsletter to highlight township news could become a reality for residents of Springfield Township.

Results of a survey done by Trustee Nancy Strole indicated residents wanted an increase in communication with the township government, and one suggestion was a township newsletter.

Township board members discussed the feasibility of a newsletter Dec. 8.

Treasurer Lois Stiles asked if the township had ever had one before.

"There was an attempt during the sesquicentennial," said Supervisor Collin Walls. The publication was called "The Post."

"We tried a township newsletter once," added Clerk J. Calvin Walters.

"I think it died when I became supervisor," said Walls, joking that he was not much of a writer.

Strole volunteered to spearhead the effort to generate another township newsletter, possibly a publication that would go out three or four times a year.

"I think it's a good idea," said Trustee Margaret Bloom. Several other board members concurred.

But Walters said that the last one died because the cost of publishing and distributing it became prohibitive.

Trustee Dennis Vallad offered to get a cost comparison worked up to aid in studying the feasibility of publishing another township newsletter.

Walls asked township residents in the audience if they thought it would be something useful, and several responded that it was a good idea.

"I think what I'm hearing is yes, if it's not cost prohibitive," Walls said.

The board agreed informally to have Strole proceed with investigating the possibility of a newsletter.

Icy roads contribute to head-on collision

Two people were injured Dec. 10 in a head-on collision on icy Davisburg Road, south of Bigelow Road, Springfield Township.

Susan Marie Acker, 17, of Andersonville Road, Springfield Township, was driving westbound on Davisburg Road when she hit a patch of ice and crossed the center line in one of the curves just south of Bigelow, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

Acker's car struck another car driven by 21-year-old Robert Alan Schloff of Oak Creek Lane, Pontiac, who was heading eastbound along Davisburg Road, according to the report.

Acker, who was wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident, was treated and released from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. Schloff, who was not wearing a seat belt, was listed in stable condition Dec. 12 at POH.

Schloff was ticketed for expired license plates, and Acker was ticketed for a citation not listed in the report.

New sub planned

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A new, 16-lot subdivision called Spring Crest received its first nod of approval from the Springfield Township Board on Dec. 8.

The board unanimously gave tentative preliminary approval to the subdivision, located off the Bridge Lake Road service drive between Clark and Big Lake roads.

Tentative preliminary plats show the layout of roads, lots and utilities.

Ed Salter, engineer and developer of Spring Crest Subdivision, told the board the one-and-a-half acre lots would have 200-foot minimum frontage and that he was striving to "retain the rural atmosphere" of the area.

Small wetlands on some of the lots will not be affected by the development, said Salter, who is also the developer of Springfield Acres, another township subdivision.

Several board members told Salter they were impressed with the layout. Salter plans to begin construction in the spring on the 27-acre parcel.

The next step is getting approvals from the county, i.e., drain commission, road commission, etc. Then Salter is to return to the board with a final preliminary plat. After approvals from the township and county on that plan, he can prepare his final plat.

Holiday drawing yields 4 winners

Four people were the lucky winners of holiday prizes at Beverly's Flowers and Gifts, M-15, Independence Township.

About 200 names were submitted during the Nov. 27 open house, marking the Christmas season.

"We really like doing this," said manager Lesley Hardenburgh. "It's nice. People are so happy when you tell them they've won. It's exciting."

Prize winners were: Dee Lockard, first place, $100 gift certificate; Michelle Ryeson, second place, $50 gift certificate; Bobelle Hardenburgh, third place, $25; and Heather Amburn, fourth place, poinsettia.

Harrison elected to regional position

David Harrison of Clarkston has been elected to the board of directors of the Metropolitan Affairs Corporation (MAC).

Harrison, chairman of the board at First of American, was elected Thursday during MAC's annual meeting of the members.

MAC serves as a private nonpartisan regional affairs organization that stimulates action and new initiatives for critical public policy issues affecting greater Detroit.

"Winter"
Snow flakes falling from the sky.
Christmas carolers going by and by.
Santa Claus and mistletoe
And sleigh bells ringing in the snow.

"Snow"
The snow touches the ground
Very silently as if a dream
Coming true or a lucky fountain's
Wishes coming to life
-Claire Kammer
Clarkston Elementary, Grade 5

Santa Claus brings lots of gifts.
He goes to countries on different shifts.
He's pretty rad, a jolly good fellow,
If you're hyped up, he'll make you mellow.
He comes at midnight on the 24th,
Of the month of December, not April of course.
He drives a sleigh all covered with snow.
He laughs a lot, smiles and says "ho, ho, ho."
Santa Claus will soon be in town
With a great big smile, surely not a frown.
-Brandon Williams

"Christmas"
Christmas is loving, caring, joy and peace. Relatives you haven't heard from come to share the joyous season.
People singing songs of love, joy and peace. People are showing they care once again. And sharing all the special feelings that only come when Christmas is here.

'Princess' makes children smile

Clarkston High School's Drama Department will transport their audience to the magical kingdom of flowers at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 17, when they present "The Princess Who Wouldn't Smile."

The children's play by Roger L. Danchik with music by John Stevens will be performed in the CHS Kirchgessner Auditorium. Tickets are $1.

The poor princess, played by Carrie Slade, never smiles, but her father, the king, portrayed by Mark Young, is determined to make her laugh. He royally proclaims that anyone who can do this will earn her hand in marriage.

Aaron Kurilik, who plays Ferdinand, tries to do this in order to achieve princess status for his homely and domineering daughter Kasandra, played by Rebecca Abdo.

The ill-gotten plan of this slap-stick pair is sure to keep the audience laughing, but Sammie, the page, played by John Haden, saves the day and the princess.

The play is geared toward elementary age children and features light songs and audience participation.

"The Princess Who Wouldn't Smile" is being produced by special arrangement with Baker's Plays, Boston, Mass.

It is directed by Barbara Gibson, theater and speech teacher at CHS. Pianist for the performance is Steve Murphy, who is director of music for Spring Arbor College, Spring Arbor.

THE ANTICS OF Ferdinand, played by Aaron Kurilik and his daughter Kasandra, played by Rebecca Abdo, will keep the audience of

"The Princess Who Wouldn't Smile" in stitches, says director Barbara Gibson, a Clarkston High School teacher.

BRAKE PRICES?

UNTIL THEY PULL
THE WHEELS,
THEY'RE PULLING YOUR LEG.

Think about it. How do some brake places know what your next job'll cost if they've never seen your brakes to begin with? Answer: they don't.

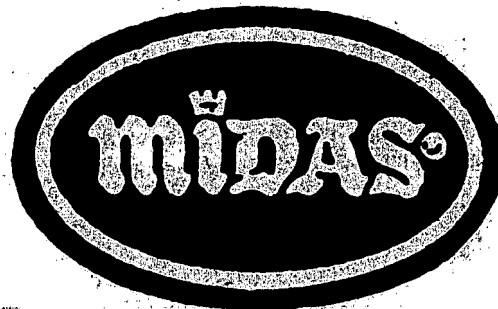

Fact is, there's no way anyone can figure out exactly what the price will be. There are just too many possibilities.

That's why at Midas, we pull all four wheels before every brake job. To get inside your brakes. To inspect them. To positively determine what's gone wrong. From a nine dollar can of fluid to a new master cylinder.

And when we're finished, we'll give you a pinpoint estimate of the entire job. With a price that won't go up when the job's done. That's our promise to you.

So when it comes time to pay, you'll have a leg to stand on.

Empty nest mom busy with arts and crafts

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Once a teen-age roller skating champ, Sherrill Raguso is rolling along to a possible new career, ready or not.

Two months ago the Independence Township woman started painting sweat shirts, "just for fun." Thirty "shirts by Sherrill" later, she has more orders than she can possibly handle.

"I don't know how I'd make a business out of this," she says. "I don't do them that fast."

It takes Sherrill about two days to do one sweat shirt. She uses fabric dye rather than paint, because it is softer and more washable. But it is tricky; she has to use a blow dryer to stop the dye from "bleeding" as she works.

Most of her creations exhibit faces and flowers; some have "Mardi Gras" designs with colorful ribbons added to the artwork. A typical shirt sells for $40.

She has also made some for family members, like "just married" shirts for her son and his wife.

Sherrill likes to knit, too, because it's more relaxing, but wouldn't want to mass produce knitted products. Playing tennis for years has made knitting harder to do, she says. She still plays tennis regularly at the Deer Lake Racquet Club, where she is a member of the Friday Suburban tennis team.

She grew up in this area, attending the former one-room, Clintonville School. Her father, a dentist, liked the country life.

Sherrill says she was not a particularly healthy child, so her mother pushed her to do more physical activities. She hunted with her dad, was a cheerleader in school, climbed trees, and at 14, began roller skating competitively.

She skated, both figure skating and dancing, in state, regional and national competitions until the age of 18. Her skating career began at the Rolladium in Waterford Township, the newer version of which still stands on M-59.

Twice, Sherrill says, she skated in national competition in Denver, Colo., only to come in fourth or fifth when the altitude of the "mile-high city" made her ill.

Sherrill quit skating competitively when she went off to Michigan State University, East Lansing, where she earned a degree in medical technology and met her husband of 30 years, Tom Raguso, a Bloomfield Hills attorney.

She also reigned occasionally as a college queen, including being chosen a member of the Michigan State Homecoming Court and being voted an honorary lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, chosen by some 300 cadets.

She never really took art classes during her school years that might have led to her later-in-life "shirts by Sherrill," but says, "In the one-room school, I would get all my other work done, then draw and color to pass the time."

Everyone in the Raguso family has a little creative talent, as evidenced by the various projects under way or on display in their Boyne Highland Trail home. Tom is a cartoonist. Sons Kevin, 28, and Tony, 21, do commercial art. Daughter Leslie, 26, paints a few sweat shirts similar to her mom's.

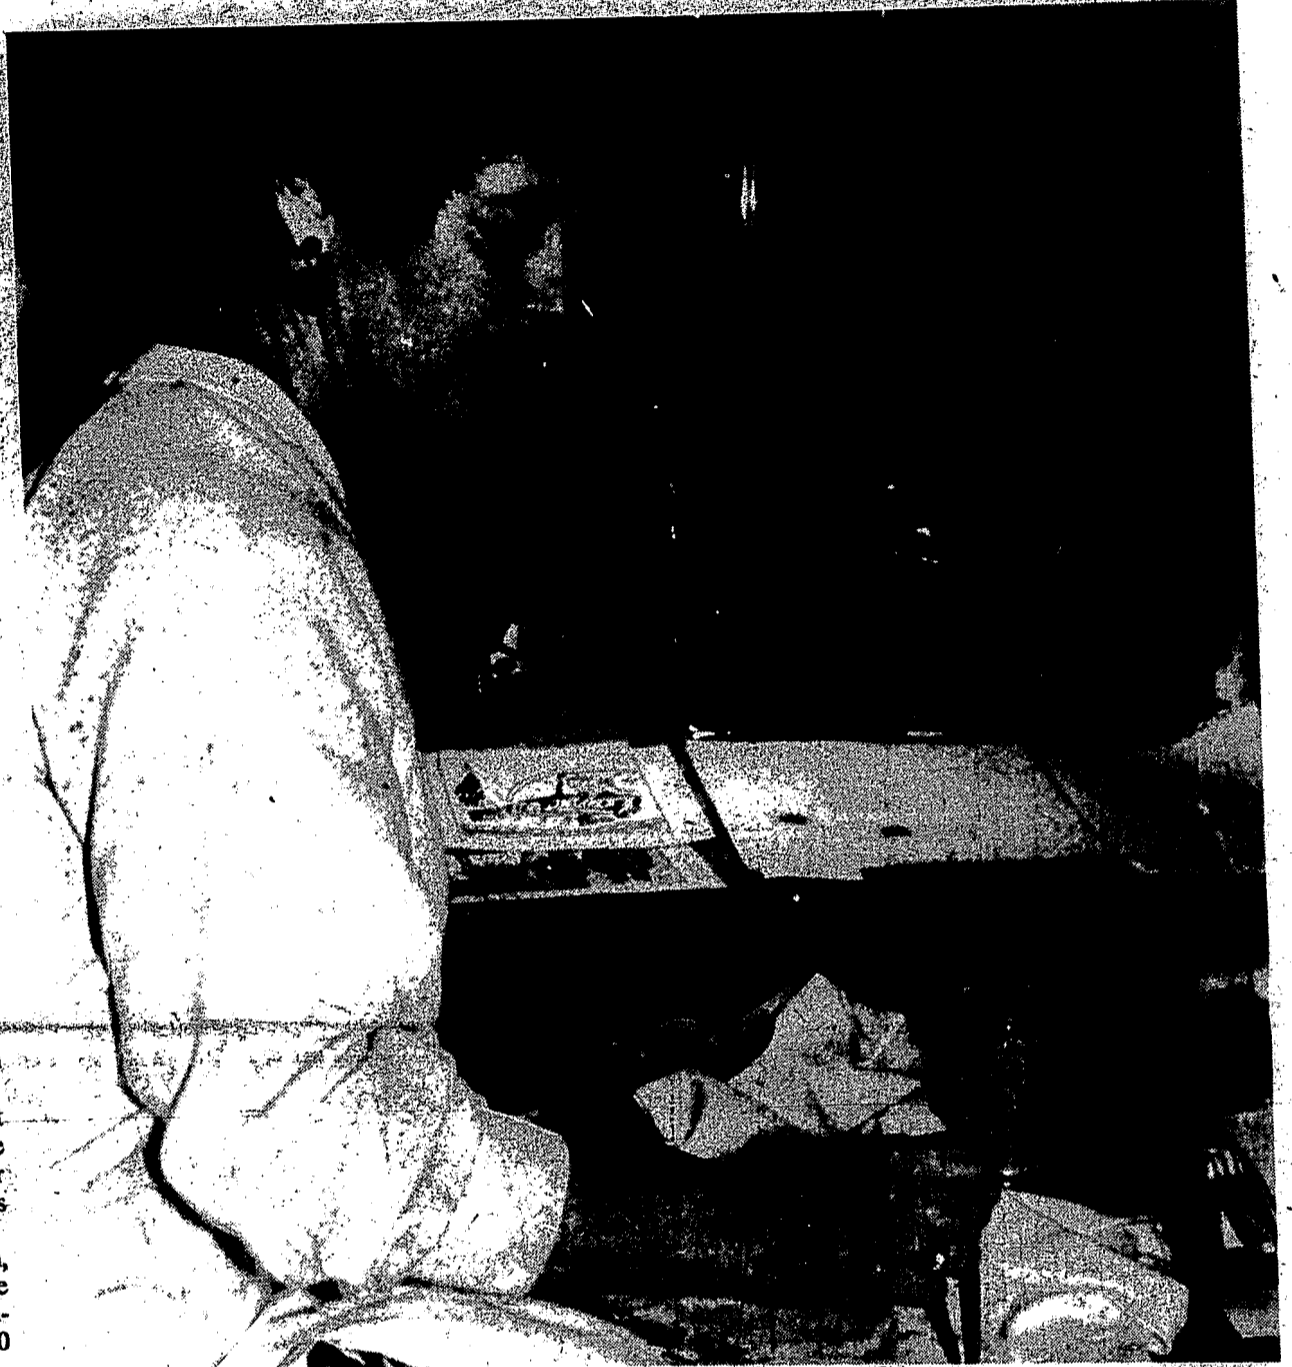

Sherrill creates silk flowers, too. And she has hand

Painted name tags for the upcoming Oakland County Lawyers Wives' Christmas party. She is president of the wives group.

In the family room of her home, the pool table is covered with plastic, taken over by the various craft projects.

When asked why she does all these things, Sherrill smiles and says, "Because I hate housework."

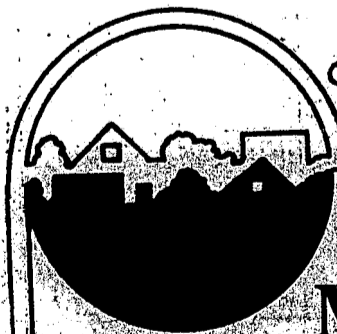

SHERRILL RAGUSO works on a hand-painted sweat shirt in her Independence Township home. Samples of "shirts by Sherrill" are sometimes displayed at the Deer Lake Racquet Club, White Lake Road, Independence Township.

Friend to Friend

Double the enjoyment

Dear Friend to Friend:

I recently wrote to you, and I just wanted to follow up on my letter. My problem was with an ex-boyfriend who was making my life miserable. He was mean and nasty to me and most of my friends, too.

I just wanted to write in and tell you what I learned from your answer, my friends and my family.

I realized that he wasn't worth my trouble. I was the one making problems for myself. I couldn't accept the fact that I was the one who had to change the way I felt. I was trying to make him change.

I realize now that I am the one who controls what happens to me and the way I take on a bad situation. I had to let go of my hurt, and now that I have, I'm so much happier.

I didn't want to listen to what anybody had to tell me about how I felt and what I had to do about it. I learned about controlling the way I felt, handling a hateful situation and, more importantly, I learned to listen to people who were trying to help me.

Everyone kept telling me to stop trying to change everyone else and take a look at myself. Well, I did, and I've taken taken a lot of steps to make myself happier. I started doing things for myself and taking time to do things for special people.

I've also solved some of my little problems that were bothering me. I've taken control of myself by dieting, and I've already lost some weight. I took a good look at my life and turned it around to make myself happy. I grew up a lot in a short time, and I feel a lot better about myself.

I want to thank you, my friends, and myself for helping to change my life for the better.

Thanks,
Positive Changes

Dear Positive Changes:

We are really glad that we could help you, but ultimately you helped yourself. This doesn't mean you won't encounter other problems, but maybe you can apply what you learned from this situation to other problem situations. Keep in touch.

Dear Friend to Friend:

I have a "seasonal" problem, and I have to figure out what to do before Christmas comes this year. See, I have two sets of parents because of the divorce of my parents who have now remarried.

Well, my problem is that I live with my mom, and I don't know who to spend Christmas Eve with or Christmas Day.

I think that I would like to go to my dad's, but my grandmother is coming, and I feel I should be at my house because of that. I don't know what I want to do. It's up to my sister and me, but I don't want to hurt either of my "sets" of parents' feelings. Help!

Season is the Reason

Dear Season is the Reason:

Christmas time creates a lot of problems, especially when you have two sets of parents due to divorce. The bright side of this, though, is you also might get "double the holiday enjoyment."

The possible solution that we see is to have two Christmases. You might have one the day before Christmas and one on Christmas day. A lot of people feel that waking up in the morning, running downstairs and seeing the presents is the best part.

If you are like this, you can actually go through this twice by arranging two Christmases. It sounds like you and your sister have control over this situation, and both sets of parents will probably go along with what you and your sister want.

Don't try to guess what's going to make your parents and grandparents happy -- you'll ruin your own holidays by doing this.

Let others know how you would like to enjoy the holiday season with them. And then just enjoy your double pleasure. Merry Christmas.

Friend to Friend is written by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under AWARE, a community organization devoted to action and education against substance abuse. Letters may be addressed in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Songs of the season

Part of Handel's "Messiah" is to highlight the musical celebration at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church at 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18.

The adults are to perform some of Handel's works, and the children's choir is to present a musical pageant. Everyone else will have a chance to sing some Christmas carols.

A soup and sandwich supper will follow at the church at 5300 Maybee Road next to North Sashabaw Elementary School, Independence Township. For more information, call 673-3101.

Microwave Plus

Gift ideas

Betty Wagner

One of my favorite holiday gifts, to both give and receive, is a book. With 75 percent of households owning a microwave oven and the rest of them probably hoping for one for Christmas or Hanukkah, what would make a better gift than a microwave cookbook?

"The Great Microwave Dessert Cookbook" by Thelma Pressman (published by Contemporary Books, Inc., Chicago) is an interesting selection as most people don't particularly think of cooking desserts in their ovens.

Yet Thelma aptly leads us through a delicious array of confections from cakes, pies and even cookies to candies, mousses and sauces.

The first two recipes that I have selected do not usually appear in microwave cookbooks.

STEAMED FRESH PEACH CAKE

- 1 cup fresh peach pulp* (or other fresh fruit pulp) from about four ripe peaches, stones removed, processed in food processor or blender
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 1 cup raisins

BRANDY SAUCE

- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
- 4 egg yolks, well beaten
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2-3 tablespoons brandy

For cake: Blend the peach pulp with soda and set aside. Cream together the butter and sugar. Add eggs, water and vanilla, and beat until blended. Combine dry ingredients.

Blend dry ingredients into creamy mixture. Stir in peach pulp, nuts and raisins, and blend thoroughly.

Pour batter into greased six-cup bundt or ring mold. Place on microwave rack over 1/2-inch boiling water, and cover with tight lid. Cook on high (600-700 watts) for 10-11 minutes or until long pick comes out clean. Let stand 15 minutes before unmolding.

For sauce: Cream together the sugar and butter. Add egg yolks and cream, and beat well. Cook on medium (300-350 watts) until mixture thickens slightly, stirring twice, about 5-6 minutes. Add the brandy to taste. Serve cake warm with sauce. Flame with brandy if desired.

*I used drained, canned.

KAHLUA FUDGE

- Makes about 1 1/2 pounds
- 1 pound confectioners' (powdered)
- 1 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup Kahlua
- 1 cup walnuts

- 2 cups mini marshmallows
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Place sugar, cocoa, milk, Kahlua and butter in a 2-quart bowl. Cook on high (600-700 watts) for 2-2 1/2 minutes. Stir well to blend ingredients completely.

Stir in walnuts, marshmallows and vanilla. Immediately pour into a lightly greased 8-inch dish and allow to cool completely in refrigerator before cutting into squares.

CRACKED GINGERSNAPS

- 3/4 cup shortening
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 4 tablespoons molasses
- 1 egg
- 2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Extra granulated sugar for coating

Cream shortening and sugar in mixing bowl. Add molasses and egg, beating well. Blend dry ingredients together (except extra sugar); add to batter, and mix by hand until smooth. The batter will be stiff. Refrigerate batter at least two hours.

To bake, form chilled batter into 1-inch balls. Roll in granulated sugar, and place 12 balls three inches apart in a circle on a sheet of parchment paper placed on the bottom of your microwave.

Youngsters' Yuletide verse

The Worst Christmas Eve That Ever Was
We were going to get a Christmas tree, but dad tripped and broke his knee.

There was a hospital nearby so we didn't grieve,
But it was closed, tonight was Christmas Eve.

When we got home Santa crashed into our garage,
I really thought he could have used a massage.

All the reindeer flew away without him (what luck),
We had to help him down the chimney when he got stuck.

We thought we'd open our presents, but hey!
They were stolen during the night, anyway.

That was the story of Christmas morning and Christmas Eve.

I'm glad it never happened--it was too bad to believe.

He gave my mom spice.
He gave my sister a walkman,
And my dad a mini van.

"Christmas is..."
Christmas is a time for caring,
Loving, smiling, singing, sharing,
Christmas is so many things.

It's full of joy,
Delight and dreams,
It's jovial,
It's merry and gay,
It's trees,
It's snow,
It's a happy day.
Everyone remembers Christmas day
Santa, bells and of course...play!

Timely treat

Do not press the cookie dough; just leave it in the shape of a ball, and it will spread out as it cooks.

Cook on medium (300 to 350 watts) for 5 minutes. The cookies will be slightly soft but will become quite firm as they cool. Repeat with remaining batter.

If you wish, you may keep the dough covered in the refrigerator for a few days and bake them fresh each day. What a treat for children arriving home from school to share some freshly baked cookies from their very own mix from the refrigerator. Makes 50-60 cookies.

Thelma includes several pages of instructions and tips on making candy in the microwave. She offers 20 candy recipes from favorites to unusual ones, such as Turkish Delights. But fudge cannot be beat as a hostess gift at holiday time. So here is what Thelma calls "the easiest fudge recipe I have used," and I am sure she has tested many.

ALMOND CREAM CANDY

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 2 cups whole natural almonds
- 1 tablespoon vanilla

Place a large sheet of foil on a flat tray or cookie sheet

Combine sugar and sour cream in a 2-quart glass measure. Cook on high (600-700 watts) for 6-7 minutes, stirring every 3 minutes.

Stir in nuts and vanilla and, working quickly, stir to coat almonds, and immediately pour on to foil. Allow to cool, then break into pieces. Candy will become crisp. Store in tightly closed container.

Have a happy holiday season, and let your microwave take much of the work out of holiday food preparation.

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her "Microwave Plus" cable-TV program airs on Independence-Clarkston Channel 65.

Snow shoveling can stress heart

Strenuous lifting of heavy snow after a storm can cause stress to the cardiovascular system, warns the American Heart Association of Michigan. Frequent breaks can help prevent problems.

The AHA says persons must remember to breathe when shoveling. Holding one's breath while lifting the wet snow can cause sudden, rapid changes in the heart rate and blood pressure. Breathing keeps oxygen flowing in and out at a normal pace.

These signals should alert persons to cardiovascular stress:

- tight squeezing pain in the chest, possibly moving to the arms

- shortness of breath, excessive sweating and nausea

- dizziness and/or fainting

If any of the symptoms are felt during or after shoveling, help should be sought immediately. Ignoring the warning signs could cost one's life.

For persons of all ages, the AHA advises applying ice immediately to injuries from falls or sore muscles. A pain reliever could also be used according to directions. Medical attention should be sought if the pain persists.

Learning together

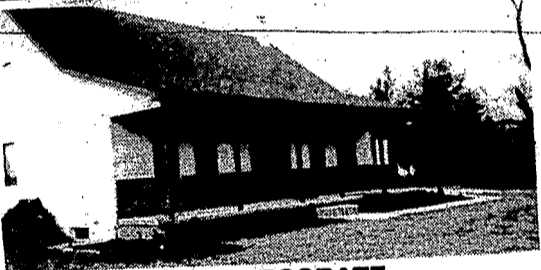

CATIE BAETENS, a second-grade student at Clarkston Elementary, has fun with a classmate during a sing-along with two other second-grade classes on Dec. 8.

Photos by Peter Auchter

CLARKSTON ELEMENTARY second-grade students from Sherril Bailey's, Betty Kozma's and Carol Campbell's classes get together once a week for a group learning session. Each teacher switches to a new classroom every week providing the students with a fresh outlook. Bailey teaches Spanish, Kozma handles critical thinking and Campbell explains different works of art. The hour-long sessions are capped by a sing-along led by Bailey on the guitar.

CLARKSTON HIGH SCHOOL students rehearse a scene from a children's play, "The Princess Who Wouldn't Smile," which will be performed in the high school auditorium at 10 a.m. Dec. 17. From left, the cast includes: Carrie Slade as the princess, Mark Young as the king, Rebecca Abdo as Kasandra, Aaron Kurilik as Ferdinand, and John Haden as the Sammie, the page. Tickets for the play are $1.

"THE PRINCESS WHO WOULDN'T SMILE" features Carrie Slade as the princess and Mark Young as her father, the king. The Clarkston High School children's play will be performed Dec. 17.

Acting!
