Economy to remain stable in '89

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Although a little fragile, the economy will probably continue to be stable in 1989, with a little difficulty in the first half of the year but with lower interest rates in the second half of the year, according to the vice president an investment securities company and a chief executive of a bank.

Clarence G. Catalo, a Buffalo, Clarkston, resident and senior vice president and director of the North Central Division of Paine Webber Inc., said the market looks difficult for the first half of 1989.

"Interest rates appear to be headed a point or so higher on both the short and long end," he said. "Few people believe the economy is slowing down, which means there will be tremendous pressure on interest rates to rise."

By the second half of the year, there could be visible signs that the economy is slowing down, which will allow

Holiday weekend slow for police, fire

New Year's weekend was quiet for most emergency workers.

"We've had six or seven runs so far this year," said Capt. Neil Ashley of the Independence Township Fire Department. The department was called for accidents, medical emergencies and a smoke investigation, he said.

"Everything has been minor. It was pretty quiet," said Ashley. "There is no normal for a holiday weekend. If we would have had slippery roads, we would have had problems."

The action at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department was minimal as well, said Detective Sgt. Doug Hummel.

"It wasn't busy," he said. "It was surprising."

The holiday weekend brought a few more family fights than usual, but crime was down, he said.

Men charged in Dixie shooting

BY JULIE CAMPE

Two men were arrested and charged with assault with intent to murder after they allegedly fired shots at two vehicles on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township, on New Year's Eve.

The preliminary exam is scheduled for Friday, Jan. 6, before Judge Gerald McNally in 52-2 District Court, Independence Township.

The driver, Richard Lawrence Clark, 20, of Burton and his passenger, Gregory Robert Canburn, 21, of Grand Blanc were charged with the crime, which carries a maximum life sentence.

Canburn was also charged with possession of a firearm, which carries a two-year mandatory sentence, and carrying a concealed weapon.

Bond was set at $100,000 cash for each, and both remain in the Oakland County Jail.

Around 5:20 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 31, two vehicles were heading south on Dixie Highway, when a Trans Am holding Canburn and Clark began "playing traffic games" -- zipping in and out of traffic, speeding up and slowing down, said Detective Sgt. Anthony Velat, of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The drivers of the two vehicles attempted to turn onto Davisburg Road to get away from the Trans Am, and as they turned, they heard shots fired, said Velat.

When they stopped, they found dents -- bullet marks -- in one of the vehicles, and they called the sheriff's department, which notified other police departments in the area of the Trans Am.

Clark and Canburn were arrested by Waterford interest rates to start falling, he said.

"The effect of falling rates should fuel a bull market into the early 1990s. For the meantime, I'd advise being a bit cautious," he said.

David Harrison, chairman and chief executive of First of America of Southeast Michigan, resides on Deerwood, Independence Township, and also said the interest rates would probably rise in the first half of the year and will probably lower in the second half.

That's OK, though, because that's the method used by the Federal Reserve Board to control inflation, he said.

"Inflation won't be a major factor in 1989," he said, adding that it will probably be around 5 percent, which is still too high, but OK because it's controlled.

"By and large, we'll be in pretty good shape in 1989," said Harrison.

"I think exports will be the bright side of the economy based on the value of the dollar being what it is currently, compared to the yen, mark and pound."

Township police around 5:30 a.m. on Dixie Highway at Telegraph Road, Velat said.

"Beer was found in the car, so apparently they had been drinking," said Velat. "Motive, we have none."

Michigan has experienced several highway shootings recently, but residents shouldn't be alarmed, said Velat.

"These things are often done by copycats," he said. "As soon as it gets splashed in the newspaper and on TV, they start copying it. ... It's a very isolated incident. I have a better chance of getting hit by lightning."

Velat advises drivers to stay away from suspicious vehicles.

"If someone is acting crazy on the road, back off. Don't get involved," he said.

"Few people believe the economy is slowing down."

probably be good but not quite as good as 1988, he said. The machine tools industry has grown and, since the U.S. industry is highest in quality worldwide, it should remain strong.

The health of the machine tools industry could directly affect this area, Harrison said.

"We're located in quite a robust machine production area in southeastern Michigan," he said, adding that auto production will not be as robust and will depend on consumer ability to finance their cars.

"We're going to witness a little less consumer spending in 1989," he said. "I think the consumer is a little over-extended, in debt."

Right now, the consumer savings rate is only 5 percent, which is low. But it could be good if they're using their money to pay off debt, he said.

In general, "consumers will be as well-off in 1989 as 1988," he said.

One uncertain factor that could affect the entire economy is new taxes, Harrison said. "The economy is in a fairly fragile state right now, and any new taxes could tip it into a recession."

Harrison believes new taxes are not necessary.

"Government spending and the deficit will be less an issue in 1989," he said. "If we confine government spending to 4 percent of (gross national product) or less, the deficit will decline. We can probably solve our deficit situation without a tax in the next four or five years, if we can contain government spending."

"By and large, we'll be in pretty good shape in 1989."

Dixie shopping center approved in concept

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Developers of an A & P shopping center sighed in relief Dec. 29 after the Independence Township Planning Commission approved the conceptual site plan for a 94,000-square-foot center on Dixie Highway and White Lake roads.

The 5-2 approval included 14 conditions, but it came just in time for the developers. Weatherford-Walker Development had a Jan. 6 closing date to purchase the 25.26-acre site, contingent upon the Dec. 29 approval; and Dan Clevenger from A & P was told to find another site if the plans weren't approved this time.

Voting in favor of the plans were Chairperson Brent Bair, Jo Fussman, Bruce Mercado, Steve Secatch and Daniel Travis. Voting no were Richard Oppmann and Joseph Figa.

The plans had appeared before the commission three times before finally gaining the first approval. Another approval is necessary before construction can begin. Clevenger said the new A & P store should be open by Christmas.

THE A & P store design receives a more favorable opinion from the planning commission the third time around.

The Dec. 29 plan showed an architectural design more to the liking of the commission members, an area of the site left in its natural site, and the transplanting of about 25 existing mature trees.

"We have enough history to know that, one, we serve our tenants and, two, that we're cooperative, ... and we make every effort to blend into the community," said Bryce Kelley of the changes. Kelley represented Weatherford/Walker Development.

"We've come off the, quote, modern design," said Dan Iacovoni, also from Weatherford Walker. "Once you get into the center, we want it to be a human scale shopping center," he said.

"I don't believe the footprint of this center has changed at all. You lost a little creativity in the pressure of time, and I continue to be disappointed."

Richard Oppmann

Two commission members still did not like the concept, despite the changes.

"I don't believe the footprint of this center has changed at all," said Oppmann. "You lost a little creativity in the pressure of time, and I continue to be disappointed."

Figa objected to the architectural design, in particular, a green aluminum band around the A & P store.

"The color doesn't bother me so much," he said. "The green looks like a tack-on to the building. Where you're at now on Dixie, it looks like a tack-on. ... It looks terrible. ... It seems like you totally disregarded the site from the beginning."

Figa also lamented the loss of trees and existing vegetation on the site, as did Fussman.

"I guess we're going to have to live with that fact,"

New building plans on school's special agenda

The first regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the Clarkston school board in 1989 will take place at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 9, in the administration building at 6389 Clarkston Rd.

The public is welcome to attend school board meetings, and there is an opportunity at the board meetings for community comments.

The following Monday, Jan. 16, a special school board meeting is set for 7 p.m. in the administration building.

The purpose of the special meeting will be to hear a report from the facilities committee on recommendations for new and existing school buildings. The committee was formed to act as an advisory group to the Clarkston Board of Education and has been meeting throughout the fall.

Dixie site earns 1st approval

said Fussman, noting that the severe grade differences made it difficult to develop without losing trees.

Kelley defended Weatherford-Walkers' plans, pointing to the offer to transplant mature trees -- a difficult task.

"It's clear we're not building a forest," he said. "We are masquerading. But we are trying to put back some of the feel and character on the site. We're trying to set a tone."

Mercado expressed approval of the plans.

"I am very encouraged and impressed by the amount ... of cooperation that's taken place," he said. "I recognize that the green band is a matter of taste. I respect A & P that if that's their national campaign, it's important."

Bair said he liked the plan and that the details could be worked out before final approval.

"No, we haven't gotten everything we wanted, but, yes, the developer has worked with us as much as he can," Bair said. "We have a difficult piece of property here. There's no way you're going to preserve the terrain, period."

The shopping center at the former Boothby property includes space for a 35,000-square-foot A & P grocery store, to be moved from its Dixie and M-15 location, and space for Arbor Drugs and other retail stores.

An antique refinishing building and a welding business are to be off the site by Jan. 5. The buildings are to be removed before construction begins on the shopping center.

The center will be accessible from Dixie Highway and White Lake Road, and the developers are to extend the White Lake Road right turn lane from the shopping center driveway to Dixie. The center turn lane may also be extended.

Berms and landscaping are planned for the perimeter of the site, and undeveloped portions at the ends of the shopping center and at the corner of the parking lot are to be saved for future development if the economy holds out.

"No, we haven't gotten everything we wanted, but, yes, the developer has worked with us as much as he can. We have a difficult piece of property here. There's no way you're going to preserve the terrain, period."

Chairperson Brent Bair

New director at helm of parks and recreation

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ann Conklin, coming on board Dec. 19 as the new director of Independence Township's parks and recreation department, said one factor adding to her decision to take the job was the department's excellent reputation throughout the state.

"The program was established some 17 years ago, and words cannot say how good it has become," Conklin said.

Conklin, 33, comes to Independence Township from Howell, where she has worked since 1978 as both program coordinator and director.

"This program here is much bigger, more progressive," Conklin said. "There is a larger staff, and financially (the township) is able to afford a higher commitment to the program."

As director, Conklin will be responsible for total administration of the department, including budgeting, evaluating and implementing programs and hiring and firing staff.

One major project on Conklin's agenda is the preparation of Baycourt Park, a 50-acre parcel recently acquired by the township, planned as a public park.

As for her greatest challenge in the job, Conklin says she expects it will be in trying to keep everybody happy.

"You have to offer a variety of programs for all kinds of special interests," she said. "You have to provide facilities in a first-class manner, while also working cost-effectively."

"Really, what I plan to do first, is to get to know the system, the programs and the people," Conklin said.

Conklin, a graduate of Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, grew up in Tecumseh with her five brothers and two sisters.

She fills the position left vacant when Timothy Doyle, parks and recreation director for 17 years, left to work on a doctorate degree.

ANN CONKLIN, new director of the township parks and recreation department, will oversee the township's five park facilities, leagues programs and 10 staff members.

Stories that never were

Julie Campe

The best thing about writing a column is you can write about things that wouldn't normally get in the paper.

Sometimes we get story ideas that just don't work, for one reason or another. Maybe the timing is wrong. Or maybe the person just doesn't want anybody to write about them.

I always ask my family and friends for story ideas. One time, my dad, a physician, told me about a patient -- a wonderful woman who had raised 40 or so foster children. Perfect for a Mother's Day story.

But when I called her, she was surprised that I would want a story on her because, she said, she hadn't done anything special. She said she would think about it.

When I called her back, she politely told me that she didn't want to do the story because, she said, "The good things I do are between me and the Lord."

How can you argue with that?

The next story idea that didn't work also came from my dad. A woman who lived in the rural part of the township loved cats. And somehow, all of the abandoned cats in the area found their way to her home.

She just couldn't bear to call the animal shelter to come and get them, so she kept them all and spent her earnings on veterinary bills and cat food. She didn't want to do the story because she couldn't afford to have anymore cats, which would surely be dropped off if she did the article.

Another story that never was involved my sister-in-law (at the time, she was just a friend -- I had not yet married her brother). I'll just call her The Adventurer. She backpacked for five months through Kenya and Europe, encountering all sorts of adventures.

In Kenya, where she spent the bulk of her time, she fell ill and was sent to a hospital where she couldn't understand anyone because of the language barrier. To this day, she doesn't know what ailment she contracted.

She saw lions and giraffes and elephants and animals that I had never even heard of. She climbed to the top of a mountain carrying a 60-pound pack and still marvels at the sight. She camped in the open Kenyan air and traveled by foot and by boat.

In Europe, she hit city after city, stared at Michelangelo's David and lolled in the sun in Portugal, where she found the best weather and the best value for her dollar.

The Adventurer refused to do the story because she didn't want the attention. (Just so she doesn't kill me, I ask that if you know her, please don't ask her about her Kenya trip or mention this column in any way).

See, Tori, that wasn't so bad, was it?

A lot of people out there would make great stories, if only someone would tell us about them and if only they agree to do the story.

Any takers?

Letter to Editor

No mobile homes

Several weeks ago, the following letter was sent by COG (Citizens for Orderly Growth) to the Independence Township Board and the planning commission.

In addition to the Jan. 12 public hearing, COG will hold a meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Sashabaw Elementary School Media Center to discuss this and other issues. All interested residents are invited to attend.

Sashabaw Elementary School is located on Maybee Road between Sashabaw and Clintonville roads.

Doug Carlson
COG Chairperson

Dear Township Board:

This letter is being written in response to the article in The Clarkston News regarding the proposal to build approximately 305 manufactured (mobile) homesites on 76 acres off Clintonville Road.

As you know, COG surveyed township residents earlier this year to get their opinions on future growth within the township. Of the 567 surveys distributed, 274 or 48 percent were returned to us by mail, indicating a high degree of interest in growth on the part of township residents.

In this survey, 69 percent of the respondents indicated they did not want mobile homes within the township at all, and another 12 percent indicated they would be acceptable only on a very limited basis.

If the COG survey is a fair representation of the opinions of township residents as a whole, then additional mobile home development is something that most residents feel is undesirable in this area.

Further, the use of a PUD -- Planned Unit Development -- in this situation is not the use that was intended when this type of ordinance was adopted by the planning commission.

The purpose of COG in addressing this issue is threefold: (1) to bring to everyone's attention that such a development is being considered, (2) to encourage all interested residents to attend the public hearing on this matter on Jan. 12, 1989, at the township annex, and (3) to remind the township board and planning commission that the development of such a community appears to be contrary to the wishes of most residents of Independence Township.

COG members believe that what happens to one parcel of land within the township affects us all, and if we want Independence Township to remain the type of community which it is, we have to be alert to any and all changes in zoning or development. This is what COG is all about.

Jim's Jottings

Of all the commercials on television these days, the one that gets me the most is by American Express credit card. Their newspaper and radio ads are just as upsetting.

American Express has a guarantee on products purchased with their card. It covers breakage for 90 days.

In the advertisement a woman has bought a glass bowl for her or his parents. It's exquisite. Precious.

In the radio script, a man has bumped into a woman knocking the vase to the ground, breaking it. He apologizes. She laughs. "I see you're smiling," he says.

"Yes," she laughs, "for the first time in my life I did something intelligent. I bought it on my American Express card. They guarantee it for 90 days."

Ok! But, let's be realistic. First of all, this woman, trying to find this perfect gift for her in-laws, has shopped for hours, maybe days. At the very last minute, just before leaving Europe, she found them a present.

Now she has finally found this ideal gift, and it's one of a kind. It always is. Never, if you break something, can you find an exact duplicate.

And, even if you did, you now have to go back to the store, by now an ocean away, fight the mob at Piccadilly Square, have your credit card rechecked and found overdrawn . . . and you're laughing? You're not laughing, you're crying. You're also very angry at this clumsy oaf who bumped into you. You're wondering if a properly placed kick would make this careless wretch of a man watch where he's going next time.

Maybe if you broke something of his, American Express would replace it with their 90-day guarantee.

A few months after moving to a small town a woman complained to a neighbor about the poor service at the local drugstore. She hoped the new acquaintance would repeat her complaint to the owner.

Next time she went to the drugstore, the druggist greeted her with a big smile, told her how happy he was to see her again. He said he hoped she liked their town and to please let him know if there was anything he could do to help her and her husband get settled. He then filled her order promptly and efficiently.

Later the woman reported the miraculous change to her friend. "I suppose you told the druggist how poor I thought the service was?" she asked.

"Well, no," the woman said. "In fact, and I hope you don't mind, I told him you were amazed at the way he had built up this small town drugstore, and that you thought it was one of the best run drugstores you'd ever seen."

We all might keep that in mind in 1989.

Deputy spreads some Christmas cheer

It's easy to become cynical in the newspaper business, so it's good every once in a while to be reminded that some people perform admirable acts without ulterior motives.

Just before Christmas, someone broke into the home of an elderly couple in Independence Township. Their Christmas presents were stolen, as were some of their few belongings.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy taking the report felt so sorry for the couple that he went out and bought presents for them, in hopes of replacing the stolen goods.

The News office received two calls on his action, and we tried in vain to get the story. But the deputy refused.

It was just a private act of kindness, his wife told us.

But we and the callers agreed that it was an incredible act of kindness and one that doesn't happen too often.

Deputies take break-in reports all year long, and they, too, are subject to cynicism. This particular deputy genuinely cares for the people in his community, the callers told us.

He didn't do it for a promotion at work or to gain the admiration of his neighbors. He did it because it made him feel good to help the couple.

We feel lucky to have him in our midst. JLC

Tell representative your view on school funding

When the state legislature finished its session in early December, the issue of reforming school funding was, once again, left undone.

A bill which would have raised sales tax and lowered property tax was defeated. But critics of Gov. James Blanchard's proposal say it would not have cured the injustices of school funding, anyway.

The bill was a tax shift rather than a tax reform. There was no additional money, no change in the way school districts received money, only a shift in where the money came from.

Michigan constantly searches for ways to encourage business and industry in the state. Yet one of the state's most valuable resources--the children--keep getting put off.

People who are unhappy with the way education is financed in this state should make a New Year's resolution right now to let their representatives and senators know about it.

The state legislature reconvenes in January, and school funding could again become an issue. Write to your state representative and senator today to let them know you are unhappy with school funding the way it stands. Ask them to please look into this again, and make sure it's a reform, not just a tax shift.

Senator Richard Fessler's address is: State Capitol, Room 130, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

Representative Mat Dunaskiss's address is: State Capitol, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

The Roads We Travel

Spring litter

Brent Bair

Pretty soon, the countryside, including the road sides, will be covered with snow, and everything will look nice and clean for the winter.

But then the snow will melt in the spring, and we will once again be reminded of what lies along most of our roads, especially our rural gravel roads. Litter.

One of the readers of this column contacted me a few weeks ago regarding the amount of debris that had been dumped along her gravel road and the fact that she could not get anyone to pick it up and haul it away.

The township advised her of the annual clean up program where she could bring the debris in for disposal. Her neighbors refused to rally and turn out for a clean up campaign, and the road commission advised that it was not high on their priority list of things to do.

Obviously, since the stuff is near a road, it should be the concern of the road agency, right? Maybe, but is it worth pulling someone off a grader so that gravel roads do not get graded as often to do litter pick up?

Each year, about six months in advance of the beginning of the budget year, the various departments of road agencies, such as the road commission, put together their work programs. After deducting vacation time, holidays and estimated sick time, the remaining available work days for the crews are then allocated among such things as gravel road grading, pot hole filling, shoulder maintenance, drainage work and so on, based on identified needs.

Generally, more of all of that type of work is needed than can be accomplished with the staff available. If something else is added, such as litter pick up, even more of that much needed work does not get done, and the results of not doing it can be decreased safety and more accidents, a more rapid deterioration of the roads, and greater wear and tear on the public's cars from riding on rougher roads. Given those consequences, which would you choose to do?

Litter pick up is a very labor intensive activity. One suggestion that often comes up is that the road agencies should use those individuals currently occupying space in our local jails to do the work.

Actually, that was tried a few years ago, and it didn't work out very well. It took so much supervision to get any work done, that it wasn't worth it. As the saying goes, you get what you pay for. What are you going to do if they goof off? Fire them? Arrest them and put them in jail?

You may occasionally see some litter pick up along the state highways because the state pays the road commission to do it, but they don't pay for much. The state has also used kids from the governor's summer work program for disadvantaged youths, but the supervision problem exists here also.

I'm afraid I couldn't solve that reader's problem. The ultimate solution, of course, is to get people to stop dumping and littering. It must be folks from those surrounding communities. We know that no self-respecting resident of Clarkston or Independence Township would do such a thing!

When I originally volunteered to do this column six months ago, I figured that I could write it on a weekly basis for a long time because I had lots of information the readers might find interesting. Well, I've covered 26 topics that I thought would be of interest, but maybe I have not yet covered a concern that YOU have.

What about you? Do you have any questions or concerns involving roads that you would like me to address? You can send questions or comments to me in care of The Clarkston News, 55 Main St., Clarkston, MI 48016.

Brent Bair is chairman of the Independence Township Planning Commission.

What a hassle

Jim Fitzgerald

Some things are almost impossible to believe. Would you believe a handicapped person couldn't use a handicapped parking space because it was occupied by a Detroit police car, and the healthy cop at the wheel refused to move?

Would you believe, in fact, that the police car was straddling two handicapped parking spots, and the officer wouldn't move over to make one available for a woman with a handicapped parking permit who must be carried from her car and placed in a wheelchair?

Or how about this: Would you believe the handicapped woman's son, when he protested, was arrested, handcuffed and locked up in the nearest police precinct?

And the mother was left behind, alone in a car she can't drive, with no way to get home?

Aw, c'mon. Such an outrageous thing could never happen. Or if it did, there had to be a damned good reason for the cop's behavior.

That was my reaction when I heard this incredible story from Randy Moss, 36, a short-order cook who lives in the Six Mile-Telegraph area. He said it actually happened to him and his 61-year-old mother, Maxine Moss, who is crippled by polio, when they tried to shop in a small shopping center at Eight Mile and Lahser. Police car on the spot

Randy Moss said he politely asked the police car driver - Officer William Barksdale - to move, and Barksdale refused, saying he was busy with police business. It appeared he was taking a stolen car report from a woman seated in the backseat. A second officer, Shirley Jones, was in the passenger's seat.

Moss continued to insist the police car move, and he admits he became angry and profane as Barksdale continued to refuse to vacate one of the handicapped spots; "I was hot - not real rational." At one point he pulled open the police car door, which had been slightly ajar.

"That's when the officer got out and grabbed me. At first I resisted by pushing, but then I realized that wouldn't help my mother, so I calmed down," Moss said. "They bent my back and were rough putting on the handcuffs. Five days later, I'm still sore."

Moss was taken to the 8th (Northwest) Precinct and charged with interfering with an officer, a misdemeanor. "When I couldn't reach my father by phone to tell him to go get my mother, I told a lieutenant (J. Lashbrook) my problem, and he was nice. He sent two officers to my car and they took her home."

Moss said he was locked up for 2 1/2 hours before making $100 bail. His court date is Feb. 1.

"There wouldn't have been any trouble if the police had only moved so we could use a handicapped parking space," Moss said. "I can't understand why they wouldn't when I asked them politely. I realize I got too angry later, and I'm not talking to the press to escape a fine. I just want the public to be aware of how my handicapped mother and I were treated by two police officers."

The other side is quiet

OK, so what do the officers involved say? Nothing, to me. Officer Jones advised me to take my questions to the police public information section. That's standard procedure. The cops involved tell the press to talk to information cops who talk to the cops involved and then tell the press what the cops involved said, maybe. It's now the most productive means of communication, but maybe it keeps some embarrassing truth out of the newspaper.

In this case, I drew Lt. Philip Foster. After investigating, Foster reported that Moss' story to me had omitted "a few gory details." Such as? Foster wouldn't say, preferring to "wait until court."

So there you have it. In a check back, Moss denied skipping even one gory detail. Stay tuned for a court verdict.

In the meantime, remember no one denies that this fess began when an un-handicapped cop refused to move a police car out of a handicapped parking space so a handicapped person could use it. And it happened in a city grievously wounded by murder, drugs and overflowing jail cells.

Do you believe it? Do you believe there had to be a better way for the law to handle the situation?

Interim parks director rewarded with new position

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For the past six months, the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department has operated under the steady hand of interim Director Sheryl Stickley-Schreefel.

Calling her work 'commendable,' township board members voted unanimously Dec. 20 to make Sheryl a permanent part of the Parks Department staff. As of Dec. 21, Sheryl will work as Assistant Director of the Parks and Recreation Department, working under the department's new Director Ann Conklin.

"I'm really excited," Sheryl said. "We have a lot of ideas to work on," she said.

During Sheryl's six month tenure as interim director, the department completed the purchase of Baycourt Park, a 50 acre facility that will be developed into a community park. Plus, Sheryl has worked to renovate the Township's Senior Citizen's Center, on Clarkston Road.

"There were some ... improvements that were needed out there," she said, "I'm really proud of that; it's a hopping place."

Sheryl was first hired by the township as a part-time umpire in 1972. Throughout the years, her responsibilities have included softball director and director of special activities.

"It just kept adding up," Sheryl said, laughing.

About the directorship, Sheryl said, "It's one of those things. I might have been interested, but I had a little boy in May, and I was really interested in spending more time with him."

Sheryl admits she will still be very busy.

"In the 90's, we hope to develop a community center, with a pool," she said. "There are a lot of things on the horizon."

SHERYL STICKLEY-SCHREEFEL, interim parks and recreation director for the past six months, filled the newly created position of assistant director of the department.

Couple leave from Clarkston

They'll go around the world in 365 days

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

If the world is an oyster, Tom and Carrie Wilford will likely find a few pearls.

The recently married couple, son and daughter-in-law of Jerome and Lucia Wilford of Main Street, Clarkston, set off Dec. 27 for a year-long trek around the world.

"It's something we've been saving for," said Tom, 37.

"You just set priorities," added his wife Carrie, 32. The couple is flying first to London, where they plan to celebrate New Year's Eve. The next stop is Scotland, and then they'll enjoy two weeks in Athens.

"Our main focus is Asia," Tom said, "but we decided to do Europe first."

Among the other stops mapped out in the couple's itinerary are Pakistan, Thailand, India and Nepal, where they plan to spend at least a month.

"I've been to India before but only for a week," Carrie said. "I fell in love with it. I just knew I'd go back."

Worldwide travel is not new for Tom or Carrie. Tom first traveled overseas from June of 1983, and then again in April of 1984. Carrie lived overseas for several months.

"I've always traveled in a westerly direction, hitting all of the Asian countries first. This time we're going in reverse," Tom said laughing.

"Travel is like malaria," Tom said. "Once it starts, you never get over it."

The couple met Dec. 29, 1985, about three years before their worldwide voyage together.

"The day we met, I had just come back from Hawaii, and Carrie had recently returned from overseas," Tom explained.

"Right away when we met, we talked about travel. Our conversation lasted for about five hours that night," Carrie added.

"I knew right then that I would marry him," she said, teasingly. "It took him a little longer to realize."

Tom, who has worked for a number of years selling advertising space, said he expects no difficulty when he comes back a year from now to find a job.

Carrie does freelance work for accounting firms and said her current employer hopes to rehire her when she comes back.

In the meantime, their household furnishings from their Cleveland, Ohio, residence will remain in storage until they return and find a new place to live.

The couple acknowledges that what they've planned is the realization of something most people only dream of.

"It's one of the great adventures of life," Tom said. "Anybody can do it. It's like anything, you just have to set your mind to it."

CARRIE AND TOM WILFORD stop at The Clarkston News the week before their year-long journey around the world. Tom's parents live on Main Street, Clarkston.

Car-deer accidents usually stop in December

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was about 7 a.m. one morning last October, and Matt Coleman had just swung onto Dixie Highway, making his way to work. As he traveled south, approaching the Davisburg intersection, something suddenly stopped the car and smashed through the windshield.

Coleman, of Tartan Drive, Springfield Township, had just been involved in one of the more than 40,000 car deer accidents that take place in Michigan each year.

More than half of the accidents take place during the three month period ending in December, according to figures from the Michigan State Police (MSP).

"A lot of the accidents occur just prior to hunting season, when the deer are mating," said MSP Sgt. Larry Richardson.

Michigan, which has the second largest deer herd in the nation, starts its hunting season Nov. 1 for bow and arrow shooting, and Nov. 15 for gun shooting.

"From what I understand, there are steady reports of deer accidents in the Northern areas of Michigan," Richardson said. "I think about half of the reports taken by the UP (Upper Peninsula) post are deer accidents."

Kent County recorded the largest number of deer/vehicle accidents with 1,363 reported for the year.

In Oakland County, 630 accidents involving deer were reported to the State Police in 1987; 48 of those resulted in human injuries, including the accident involving Matt Coleman.

In his case, the deer went completely through the windshield, sending shards of glass into his face. He estimates he was traveling about 40 miles per hour.

Richardson, who investigates accidents for the State Police, says the severity of car/deer accidents can vary.

"You can have an accident where the deer will walk away, or you might do major damage," he said.

Typically, if the car's fender is lower, the chances are greater that the deer will fly up into the windshield, he said.

Burning of the greens

The annual "Burning of the Greens" is coming up at Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The ceremony is planned for 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 8, behind the church on Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township.

A puppet presentation by puppeteers from the First Baptist Church of Davison is to follow the burning.

Residents are invited to drop off their spent Christmas trees anytime before the burning, said the Rev. Robert Walters. The trees should be placed behind the parking lot at the back of the church.

ALREADY MEGAN PLANTE, 8, of Independence Township, can shoot and block and score and skate really fast, as she proves to her cousin, Jason Blehl, 5.

Justice for all

Peter Auchter

Hurray for justice. Finally, the bad guys are getting their due in the sports world.

After years and years of corrupting our youth, sleazy coaches, boosters and the lowest form of life, sports agents may be busted along with the student athlete when they illegally entice college athletes, if Gov. James Blanchard signs a couple of bills that lie before him.

Personally, I was glad to hear the Supreme Court decided in favor of the NCAA recently in its battle to suspend University of Nevada-Las Vegas basketball coach Jerry "The Shark" Tarkanian for recruiting violations. For a while, I thought the world included too many cheaters that prospered. Where have all the role models gone?

Last month, a press release detailing new legislation dealing with sports' biggest problem (corruption of our youth) crossed my desk, and I was overjoyed. Let the mountains resound with joy!

Sponsored by State Representative Joseph Palamara (D-Wyandotte), the bills prohibit the giving or promising of financial incentives by agents and boosters to student athletes whose intercollegiate eligibility has not yet expired.

If the governor signs the bills into law, it'll be a great step forward for the state. People will have to think twice before offering illegal incentives.

As it stands now, some rich dude with nothing better to do than watch football (or basketball or baseball or hockey or anything sports related) can throw his weight around (along with money and jobs) behind the scenes at his favorite college to make his alma mater a winner without any regard for the law.

Does he care if someone of authority catches wind of the activity? Nope. All he'll lose is the right to see his school on television for a couple of years.

The university itself (by losing TV revenue) and the rest of the athletes are the big losers. Even the coaches, don't say they don't know what's going on, could escape by switching schools or leagues.

Wouldn't that be great if we all could do that in real life?

Say I embezzle money from my boss for years and finally he begins to realize he's losing money faster than he should. When things get a little too hot in the frying pan, I resign and force someone else to clean up my mess.

It's time we all treated the sports world as real life and not some fantasy land with its own rules and regulations. Excluding boxing, for obvious reasons, those caught fighting should be charged with assault and battery, and illegal activities should result in fines and jail sentences.

Let them know, enough's enough. We want our sports, we don't want the garbage that currently goes with it. Have a nice day.

Missing highlight of '88

One highlight was inadvertently omitted from the sports year-in-review in last week's Clarkston News. The Clarkston High School varsity boys track team should have been credited with winning the Greater Oakland Activities League title for the first time in more than 30 years.

Important news for Medicare participants:

How a new Medicare surtax could push you into a higher Federal Income Tax bracket.

If you receive Social Security and pay Federal income tax bills of over $150 per year, your 1989 income tax is going to rise. Part "B" Medicare premiums will be paid, in part, by an income tax surcharge—for expanded coverage provided by the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988.

Some Medicare participants will become "top bracket" Federal taxpayers. This group consists of single retirees with taxable income in the $18,000-$21,000 range, and married couples with income from $30,000-40,000 per year. (Precise brackets change each year.)

If you are in this group, you should attend this important Dean Witter seminar which will explain the benefits of tax-advantaged income.

Seniors ski free

Senior citizens can ski free during Silver Streak Week, a week designated to encourage Michigan's older residents to take advantage of the state's winter wonders.

The Michigan Travel Bureau, along with 41 winter resorts, will provide free downhill lift tickets or cross-country trail passes to anyone 55 years old and up.

In addition, Pine Knob Ski Resort in Independence Township will offer free rental on equipment.

The travel bureau has published a brochure listing the facilities participating in Silver Streak Week. Call 1-800-5432-YES for a copy. Hearing impaired callers should phone 1-800-722-8191.

Jokisch starring

Although Lake Superior State College's basketball team continues to suffer through a slow start, a Clarkston High School graduate continues to shine during his senior year.

Dave Jokisch of Ellis Road, Springfield Township, has started all eight of the Soo Lakers' games so far and leads the team in offensive rebounding (15 total), defensive rebounding (25) and assists (42) from his forward position.

In addition, Jokisch set a school record for assists in a game with 17 against St. Mary's College on Dec. 17 when the Lakers won 117-107. The old mark was 16.

His highest scoring game of the season is 24 points. He averages nearly 15 points per game to go along with his five rebounds per game average.

As a team, Lake Superior of Sault Ste. Marie sports a 2-6 overall record and a 0-1 mark in Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) play.

Jokisch and his teammates will invade Lepley Sports Center at Oakland University, Rochester, Jan. 12 for the first of two GLIAC battles between the rivals.

Spikers wanted

Volleyball players are desperately needed for a recreational league sponsored by the Independence Parks and Recreation Department beginning in January.

League play on Thursday nights is scheduled to begin Jan. 5 at Clarkston Elementary but more teams are needed immediately.

Games will be officiated and three men and women must be on the court at all times. Three games will be played nightly.

Ten games comprise the season. Cost is set at $20 per person. Call the parks and recreation department during weekdays at 625-8223 for more information.

Beat goes on

After completing a storybook career at Clarkston High School, a Springfield Township resident has continued to excel on the basketball court in college.

Ali Fedio, a 1988 graduate of CHS, currently shoots hoop for Grand Valley State University. The freshman averages 6.5 points per game after playing in seven of the team's first 10 games.

She has 41 rebounds and nine steals while shooting 53 percent from the free-throw line and 50 percent from the floor.

The Lakers face Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference foe Oakland University in Auburn Hills on Feb. 4 in Fedio's nearest contest to Clarkston.

Member search

The Quad County Officials Association welcomes any interested persons to attend its next monthly meeting in hopes of boosting membership.

The group meets the first Saturday of each month at Springfield Christian Academy on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township at 10 a.m. New people to officiate games are needed.

For more information about the group, call Dan Pierce at 625-7672 or Jim McNabb at 623-1555.

The next meeting is scheduled for this Saturday, Jan. 7.

BILL SANDERS will speak Jan. 9.

Self-esteem week includes parents

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Principal Duane Lewis became concerned last year after an unusually high number of students at Clarkston Junior High School attempted suicide or talked about it.

So he and Dr. Robert Burek, principal of Clarkston High School, combined forces and scheduled nationally known speaker Bill Sanders, to speak to students, faculty and parents.

"It's always a concern at any age, but with this age in particular a lot of kids don't feel good about themselves," Lewis said. "They're changing so fast. So much is going on."

"Our counselors got a lot of kids who came in and who were real upset with their lives to the point of talking about suicide. The national statistics are startling on teen suicide. It's (one of the leading causes) of death for teens. It's a national issue, but it's also a local issue.

"We need to do some intervention-type things," he said.

Sanders, the author of "Tough Turf," a book for teens, and "Almost Everything Teens Want Parents to Know," is to address junior high school students Monday morning, Jan. 9, senior high school students in the afternoon, faculty after school and parents from the entire district at 7:30 p.m. at the CJHS gym.

"I've heard that he's a good speaker," said Lewis, adding that he hopes students will be inspired so that they will go home and tell their parents to show up for the evening program.

In preparation for the talk, a crisis team was established at the junior high school, so staff and students will

The team will be available all year, so suicidal students can be referred to them.

Township teen nets two prize fish

Patience paid off with a couple of big fish for an Independence Township boy three days before Christmas.

Chris St. Charles spent his first day off from school on Whipple Lake ice fishing. The Sashabaw Junior High School 7th-grade student began at 7 a.m. and stayed out in his shanty until 4 p.m. without a break. Fortunately, the results were well worth the wait.

Along with several smaller fish, Chris brought home a 30-and-1/2-inch pike that weighed almost seven pounds and a 22-inch bass weighing in at nearly five pounds.

Chris' brother Mike and his friend Gary Kortge helped out by moving the shanty onto the lake.

A lingering holiday gift

Tell me, what is it that lasts longest from the holiday season? Is it the cards? Is it the presents? Is it the memories? No, I'll tell you what it is, it's the calories!

For long after the ties from your obscure fourth cousins have been buried deep in a dresser drawer and long after the holiday Hallmarks are out on the corner awaiting trash pick-up, Grandma's baked ham will still be repeating on you. Repeating every time you look in the mirror and don't like what you see, every time your pants feel a little more snug than they did just a month ago.

As they say, "A moment on the lips, a lifetime on the hips," or more appropriately, "Scarfig down a Christmas dinner ain't no way to get no thinner."

Every holiday season it's the same old song, "On the first day of Christmas my true love gave to me--food! On the second day of Christmas my true love gave to me--more food!"

Why is this? What is it about the holidays that turns ordinary relatives into super-human food producers? And why does it have the exact opposite affect on me?

For every super-human food producer, there must be a super-human food consumer. That's where I come in. Better judgment goes right out the window. "Now Dave, I just finished baking Christmas cookies just the way you like."

"Gee, Grandma, you mean the ones with extra sugar and gobs of butter and lots of other fattening food stuffs?"

"That's right, dear, all for you. Forty batches of 'em.

Enjoy!"

"Thanks, grandma."

Maybe that's where the problem lies. I'd have absolutely no complaint about how much I ate or what my post-holiday weight was if my relatives were lousy cooks. On the contrary, I'd probably welcome it if they were. Life would be so much easier.

When seconds were passed around the table, you could easily wave them by on the premise of still trying to choke down firsts. The traditional Christmas visiting tour would be cut short as soon as the holiday snack tray made an appearance.

"Well, Aunt Betty, like I said...Oh look, the snack tray. Guess this is good-bye."

And, most importantly, you'd actually be thinner on Jan. 1 than you were on Christmas Eve. (Imagine pledging as a New Year's resolution to gain back all the weight you lost over the holidays! It boggles the mind.)

But, alas, no. This just isn't the case. My relatives produce enough good food for an army, and I, in turn, eat like one.

So, keeping this in mind, I make this impassioned plea: Dear grandma, dear aunts, and everyone else to whom this may apply--did anyone ever tell you carrot sticks are very Christmassy?

Pat Young

Okay. So you consumed your year's allotment of calories over the Christmas holidays. Now is the time to honor that new year's resolution that you made, and start dieting.

If the word diet makes you think of bland food, the recipes below will change your mind. They come from the recipe collection of Susan Howard, who takes her cooking demonstrations to Diet Workshops in the area.

LASAGNA ROLL-UPS

15 ounces low-fat ricotta cheese
1 egg
2 ounces Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon garlic powder or salt
2 ounces Monterey Jack cheese, grated
1/2 can or packaged spinach
5 lasagna noodles
1 2/3 cup spaghetti sauce, plain

If using frozen spinach, thaw and squeeze out juice. If using canned spinach, drain and squeeze out juice.

Mix cheeses, add spinach, garlic and egg. Mix well.

Cook noodles until tender. Drain and rinse noodles. Dry noodles one at a time on a towel.

Divide cheeses into five equal portions and spread on noodles. Roll up noodles and place seam side down in casserole dish. Spread sauce over.

Cover dish with plastic wrap and microwave for five to seven minutes or until hot. If using a conventional oven, heat to 350 degrees, cook casserole with oven-proof cover for 20 minutes.

HOT TACO SALAD

1 pound ground turkey
1 package taco seasoning
4-ounce can chilies
1 package low-calorie Ranch Dressing mix, dry
24 ounces low-fat cottage cheese
1 small box taco shells
2 cups mozzarella cheese, grated
Shredded lettuce
Chopped tomatoes and onions
Salsa sauce

Cook ground turkey with taco seasoning and chilies.

In a bowl, blend cottage cheese and Ranch Dressing (it will be thick).

Crumble taco shells into the bottom of a 9-by-13-inch pan. Next, layer meat mixture, then cottage cheese mixture, topping with mozzarella cheese.

Bake in a 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Before serving, sprinkle lettuce, tomato and onion over the top and serve with salsa sauce.

Piled snow can be a road hazard

Property owners piling snow high along roadways and shoulders or pushing it to the opposite side of the street can cause hazardous conditions for motorists, and Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) officials also warn that it's against the law.

State law prohibits businesses and citizens from dumping snow on roadways and shoulders or piling it so high at driveway entrances that it obstructs the vision of motorists.

The department recommends that residents keep the shoulder in front of their driveways clear and that they also clear snow for a short distance from the driveway in the direction of approaching traffic.

"That way the view of a motorist entering the roadway from a driveway is not obstructed," said Maury Witteveen, MDOT's chief of maintenance.

"When clearing your driveway, push the snow away from the roadway and to the sides of the driveway for its full length," he said. "That will eliminate the problem of the high snow banks blocking a driver's view."

Witteveen said large business should make special arrangements ahead of time to remove snow from their driveway entrances and driveways. In some cases, it may be necessary to truck snow away from parking facilities.

Violators leave themselves open to fines and lawsuits for public liability and property damage. For a charge to be filed, a police officer must witness the violation or a citizen must file a complaint.

All property owners and persons hired to remove snow are responsible for maintaining safe traffic conditions and preventing careless snow-removal techniques.

125- CARD OF THANKS

The flowers, cards, money for memorial fund, calls from friends and deeply concerned people we have never met. Also, Bossardet Funeral Home, Wheelock Memorial Hospital and the Oxford Police and Fire Department. We were overwhelmed with your thoughtfulness. Thank you all, Debra's loving family. !!!LX1-1*

SKIERS of all skill levels hit the snowy hills at Pine Knob Ski Resort in Independence

Township last week despite a lack of natural snow. Cold weather along with artificial snow makers kept the runs white and the customers happy all day long.

PLENTY OF SKIS line the wall at Pine Knob Ski Resort in Independence Township last week as vacationers took advantage of the holidays to get in a little skiing.
