Suspicious calls reported again

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Residents of Independence and Springfield townships have once again reported suspicious calls soliciting money.

Some residents have received calls for the "Clarkston Fire Department" and the "Davisburg Fire Department," neither of which exists.

There is an Independence Township Fire Department and a Springfield Township Fire Department, but neither is or has been soliciting any contributions.

One area resident called The Clarkston News and said she had received a very aggressive call soliciting money for the "Clarkston Police Department," which also does not exist. Police protection is provided in both townships by a contract from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Katie MacKay, coordinator of Clarkston High School's SEARCH program and "Just Say No" Club said that parents and business in the area are also being called by by someone claiming to be soliciting money for "Just Say No."

"It's not that we don't need the money," she said, but they are not doing any phone solicitations at this time, and the callers do not represent "Just Say No."

Township officials in both Springfield and Independence urge people not to contribute to any solicitation over the phone without first being sure it is a legitimate cause.

Citizen complaints may be directed to: Leigh L. Dennis, Complaint Examiner, Consumers Protection Division, Department of the Attorney General, 525 W. Ottawa St., Lansing, Mich. 48913, phone (517) 373-1140.

Paper boy saves 80-year-old woman

For the past nine months or so, Dion White, 12, of Mary Sue, Independence Township, has traveled along his paper route, delivering newspapers to about 30 homes along his course.

On Thursday, Feb. 9, he was walking along Griggs Street when he noticed 80-year-old Flossie Baines lying on the iced sidewalk.

"I remember seeing her lay there, and she said, 'Help, help, pick me up,'" White said.

The courageous young man admitted feeling "kinda' nervous," but he tried to lift the woman himself, nonetheless.

When his effort proved unsuccessful, he told her he would go get help.

He went from house to house until he found someone home to help the woman, who had been lying outside in the near zero temperatures for a few hours, he recounted.

White said he hasn't seen Baines since the incident, as she is still recovering at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Pontiac from injuries suffered to her hip.

sorts of goodies. Once the overhead lights were turned off in the gym, the daddies even decided it was OK to dance a while. The young elementary school girls were more than eager to dance to the latest tunes by Billy Ocean, Debbie Gibson and Bananarama.

Sashabaw retail center gets conceptual OK

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A prominent Michigan developer came forward with plans for a "retail center" in the heart of Independence Township's planned office corridor.

After discussing the plan for almost two hours, planning commission members gave it conceptual site plan approval Feb. 9 by a 6-0 vote.

Voting yes were Chairperson Brent Bair, Joseph Figa, Jo Fussman, Bruce Mercado, Richard Oppmann and Daniel Travis. Steve Secatch was absent.

In a master plan designed to map out future growth in the township, planners had targeted the area along Sashabaw Road from Clarkston to Maybee roads as the Sashabaw Corridor, an area for office, research office and light industrial development.

Bloomfield Hills developer Ken Kojain happened to pass the Sashabaw and Clarkston intersection as he drove his girlfriend home one evening.

"Boy, this site really needs commercial development," he recalled saying to himself.

He subsequently designed a retail strip that would house five to six stores on a 3.5-acre site in the southwest corner of the intersection.

As architect Christopher Longe explained the project, township planners flipped through photographs of several other projects the Kojain family has developed in the state, including the two six-story glass office centers shaped in a wave on Big Beaver Road and Livernois in Troy.

Although most planners found the samples impressive, they cautioned against developing anything too trendy for the area.

"You can do nice architecture, and it can be modern, but I don't want to see junk in this community," warned Figa. "While I'm on this commission, I'm going to demand good architecture."

Planners also questioned the developer about water retention pools in the parking lot, septic needs and traffic flow into and around the center.

"Adequate deceleration lanes and passing provisions along both roads should be part of this development," said Bair.

"I'd like to see a natural (landscaping) space rather than a wall against the (adjacent rural residential property)," said Richard Oppmann.

Although absent from the meeting, Secatch submitted a written statement to Bair stating that he did not support the plan.

Secatch listed parking, exits, the service drive, septic needs and wetlands as his concerns. Although the property consists of 25 percent wetlands, the developer assured the planners that the county and township wetland ordinances would be adhered to.

"This is a small development for us, but it means a lot to me," Kojain said. "Our reputation is for quality developments. We want a compatible building."

"We're very choosy with our tenants, we don't lease to first time businesses. This is not a transient center," he added.

Township Planner Richard Carlisle told planners that he recommended approval of the project if their concerns were met.

Reunion

The Clarkston High School class of 1964 will celebrate their 25th class reunion this year.

A planning session is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 7 p.m. for anyone interested in helping with the reunion.

For the location or further details contact George White at 625-8655 or Marty Madison Wilson at 625-1285. Both can also be reached at Pine Knob Elementary School, 625-1583.

Tentative date for the reunion is Aug. 25 at the Deer Lake Racquet Club, White Lake Road, Independence Township.

Corrections

In a story in last week's Clarkston News about Independence Township Firefighters honored for long-time service, two names were misspelled. They should have been: Robert Morse, a 25-year member of the department, and Bill Rausch, a 15-year member.

An article in last week's Clarkston News about a Feb. 21 retirement party for Howard Altman, director of elections for Oakland County and former Independence Township Clerk, should have said the $25 ticket also covers a gift. For more information, call 858-0564.

Golf, ski building planned at Indian Springs park

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A new, 7,000-square-foot golf starter building which will also serve as a cross-country ski center in winter months is planned for Indian Springs Metropark.

The Huron-Clinton Metropark straddles Springfield and White Lake townships.

A site plan for the new building was unanimously approved by the Springfield Township board Feb. 9.

Indian Springs, with main entrance off White Lake Road, is in the process of adding a public 18-hole golf course.

The first nine holes opened last fall, and the second nine should be open by summer, according to Daniel Duncan, chief planner for the Metroparks, who was on hand at the Springfield Township board meeting.

The golf building and one hole of the course are located in Springfield Township, with the remainder of the golf course located in White Lake Township.

The Oakland County Road Commission has vacated sections of Teggerdine and Crosby Lake roads in White Lake Township for the park, and an access for emergency vehicles has been created in the park to compensate for the road closings.

The new two-story building is to have a dark wood exterior, Duncan said later in a phone interview. The upper level is to be the golf starter area with food bar and restrooms. (No liquor is sold, however, at any Metropark in the system.)

The lower level is planned as a storage area for golf carts. There are also provisions for fuel storage and fueling of golf carts.

In the winter months, the building also is to house the cross-country ski rental operation, with the food bar and restrooms available for skiers, Duncan said. Eventually, they might add more exterior lighting to accommodate nighttime cross-country skiers who might use the center.

The golf starter building will be located off the main access road into the park, south of the existing nature building.

Duncan said they hoped to begin construction as soon as the weather breaks, and anticipate completion by late summer or early fall of 1989.

Indian Springs Metropark, the second newest park in the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, has not charged an entrance fee up to now. But this is to change come summer. The park is to charge a $2 per day fee or $10 annual permit, the same as the rest of the Metroparks.

Maybe Road rezoning OK'd despite protests

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Despite loud protests by almost a dozen area residents, the Independence Township Board approved the first reading to rezone an area north of Maybee Road east of the Chestnut Hills subdivision.

The 6-1 vote could change the 72-acre parcel from rural residential (three-acre minimum lot size) to single family residential (15,000-square-foot minimum lots), paving the way for a proposed 160-single-family-home development on the site. A second reading and adoption is necessary before the rezoning takes effect.

Voting yes were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Clerk Richard Holman, Treasurer John Lutz, trustees Daniel Travis, William Vandermark and Mel Vaara. Voting no was Trustee Frank Millard, whose opposition to the plan drew loud applause from those in attendance.

"The amount of development in that area of Maybee and Dixie makes traffic horrendous," Millard said. "It's nicely proposed, but it's just too dense."

Neighbors of the proposed development, living primarily in the Chestnut Hills subdivision, agreed with Millard's comments.

"Chestnut Hills is unique -- it's the only subdivision that connects two major roads (Waldon and Maybee)," argued Pete Nico, of Snow Apple Drive. "It tends to be used as a shortcut; adding a new subdivision will take that same traffic pattern."

Township Planner Richard Carlisle told the board that residents of the proposed subdivision would access primarily onto Maybee Road, but that they might also access through Chestnut Hills. He estimated that 1,500-1,600 traffic trips would be generated per day by subdivision residents.

Other residents objected to school overcrowding and the atmosphere of the development.

"I came here for the beauty of a small town atmosphere, and I was assured it would stay that way," said Bob Briggs of Mockingbird Lane. "Just because there's property there doesn't mean that you should jam 150-160 homes there and ruin that small town atmosphere."

One resident spoke in favor of the development saying, in essence, that things could be a whole lot worse.

Dr. James O'Neill who holds an option on a major portion of the property told residents that he has held onto the property to "keep the community the way we like it."

"We could have zoned it multiple-dwelling and had 3,000 people there," he said.

"The sovereign state of Michigan could rezone the property for 1,500-3,000 units, creating virtually no traffic," he said later, referring to the state's consideration of the site for a prison a few years earlier.

"I love this community," O'Neill told residents. "Any development is one I don't like to see, but this is a reasonable request."

Holman told residents that the property will be developed; the question is how.

"The property cannot remain (rural residential) forever, the last thing we want is for a judge to decide. A moratorium is not going to work," Holman said.

"Frankly, it's a good development," said Vaara. "It's suited to the master plan." The township's master plan was designed to map out future growth in the area.

Carlisle told the board that he recommended the rezoning, as did the township planning commission, because it adhered to the master plan and it complemented the neighboring property.

Meetings to cover architect, computers

Two special meetings are upcoming in the Clarkston school district.

At a special meeting planned for 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 20, in the administrative offices, 6389 Clarkston Rd., the school board will consider approving an architect's contract for future school construction projects.

District administrators, along with Tom Howard representing the school board, have met with architects and with representatives of the construction management firm of Walbridge Aldinger to further negotiate a contract.

On Feb. 27, the Clarkston school district will hold a joint meeting with Lake Orion school district to hear a presentation by Plante & Moran on computer purchases. Both districts are considering business computer purchases.

The meeting will take place at 7:30 p.m. at a location yet to be determined. For more information on the location, call the Clarkston administrative offices at 625-4402.

A computer purchase in Clarkston for business and student personnel services has been considered for a year or more, according to board President Janet Thomas. The district currently uses the services of Oakland Schools and has no control over the cost of such services.

New owner at Springfield van conversion plant

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The new owner of a van conversion plant in Springfield Township has plans for expansion that will increase the number of employees.

C Tech, Inc., formerly Tra-Tech Midwest, began preparing for operation immediately after the sale was finalized on Feb. 3. C Tech purchased the business from Neoax, the Connecticut-based firm which owned Tra-Tech.

"The opportunity to buy this came at the right time and the right place," said new owner and president Dave Johnson.

Johnson also owns J E, Inc., an automotive supply firm in Flint which makes, among other items, dye-cast aluminum wheels.

"I retained a number of key people in the business with expertise," Johnson said. "We'll be involved not only in van conversion, but in high cube commercial trucks."

He explained that they will be putting patented, European-designed boxes on truck chassis.

In addition, he said they will be doing upfitting or car conversions -- doing special additions to cars -- on domestic and possibly some foreign cars. Johnson also said they would be involved with General Motors in the upfitting of vehicles to be exported, such as Blazers, Suburbans, trucks, etc.

"We will for the first time utilize the paint building on a three-shift operation," he said. "And we project that the production facility will, by next year, go to a two-shift operation."

Currently, C Tech has 16 employees, Johnson said. Within 90 days, he estimates there will up to 70 employees.

"We're just starting up," he said. "We just completed purchasing and inventory. Today, we're working on the first van."

"I think all the people we brought back to work feel good about the future and where we're going," he continued.

Johnson also said they expect the customers to be satisfied with the quality of the product. They will provide a 50,000-mile warranty compared to the more common 12,000-mile or 12-month warranty.

"And that's a big step to take in this business," he said.

Johnson, a Grand Blanc resident, is a former General Motors Corp. employee. He left GMC in 1984 to open his own company.

Tra-Tech made the news six months ago when a raging fire nearly destroyed the plant on Aug. 3, causing about $3 million in damages.

The former president, Grant Grebeck, oversaw the rebuild of the plant, and an estimated 63 people employed at the time of the fire were put to work in temporary quarters.

The van conversion plant has been located in Springfield Township since early in 1986.

NEW OWNER Dave Johnson takes over the helm of the van conversion plant in Springfield Township. C Tech, Inc., formerly Tra-Tech Midwest, plans expansion and additional employees at the plant.

Rezoning denied for Clarkston Rd. apartments

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A plan to build apartments at Sashabaw and Clarkston roads was defeated by Independence Township Board members Feb. 7, as it was by the township planning commission in December.

The board voted 6-0 to accept the planning commission's recommendation to deny rezoning of the 60-acre parcel from rural residential to multifamily residential.

Voting yes were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Clerk Richard Holman, and trustees Mel Vaara, Frank Millard, Daniel Travis and William Vandermark. Treasurer

John Lutz was absent.

The primary reason for denial was the project's inconsistency with the township's master plan, members said. The master plan was designed by the township as a blueprint of future growth for the area.

However, at least one member criticized the developer's record, prompting an angry exchange between the two.

"That chair doesn't give you immunity from slander," said Occidental Development representative Michael Myers to Vandermark.

"(Those charges) are not correct. They're not provable," he said angrily.

The township master plan designates the area as office space and research office space.

"This was arrived at after careful thought by the growth committee," said Richard Carlisle, township planning consultant.

Vaara agreed. "It's a beautiful property, it's been studied many, many times. Personally, I'm very opposed to the rezoning."

Occidental representative John Weaver told the board that the rezoning would create a less dense usage than what the master plan dictates, and would create a tax base for the area.

"The owner of the property is concerned with it's inactivity," said Weaver. "He wants to take advantage of this offer."

Although the board denied the proposed rezoning, Ronk thanked the developers for their interest.

"It's not that we're opposed to developing the property," he explained. "We just have to be extremely cautious in that area."

One objects to office rezoning

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A request to rezone a corner of Sashabaw and Clarkston roads in Independence Township for offices met with opposition from just one resident during a public hearing before the planning commission Feb. 9.

The commission voted 6-0 to recommend rezoning a three-acre parcel in the northeast corner from rural residential to office, so that a two-story 15,000- to 20,000-square-foot office building may be built there. The planning commission makes recommendations on rezonings, and the township board has the final say.

Voting yes were Chairperson Brent Bair, Joesph Figa, Jo Fussman, Bruce Mercado, Richard Oppmann and Daniel Travis. Steve Secatch was absent.

Township Planner Richard Carlisle told commission members that the intent of the township's master plan, created to map out future growth in the area, was to develop a cluster of local commercial development in the four-corner intersection.

"My recommendation is approval. An office zone would buffer commercial development to the south and residential development to the north," Carlisle said. "It's a very logical transition."

But at least one nearby resident disagreed.

Michael Clark, of West Washington, Clarkston, spoke on behalf of Pierre's Orchard & Country Market, which lies just south of the proposed rezoning. Clark listed septic needs and traffic among his concerns.

"It's too intense of an office and commercial use. The roads at this point can't support it," Clark said.

"It's 350 feet to the crest of the hill; traffic coming over will be a problem," he added.

Carlisle told the commission that offices are traditionally low traffic generators and that he expected about 185 to 250 total trips a day from the development.

"The master plan shows Sashabaw as a major north/south link," said commission member Jo Fussman. "Office next to commercial is not unreasonable. Most homeowners would choose office because it's a lower use."

Firefighters gear up

The Independence Township Fire Department will soon be sporting a new wardrobe.

Township board members Feb. 7 OK'd the purchase of 22 firefighting pant and jackets sets, the latest in heat protection, Chief Gar Wilson told members.

"It's the latest in protecting of heat and also in letting heat escape from the body," he added.

The new suits are tan in color and are made of a material called Nomex III. The outer shell of the garments are constructed with Gore-tex thermal liner with a moisture barrier.

The $8,360 purchase will outfit more than half of the department, Wilson said, replacing some firefighting sets that are 8-10 years old.

The fire department solicited bids for the fire suits and selected the Apollo Fire Equipment Co. of Utica for the purchases.

Fire station needs new location

BY GAR WILSON

To The Taxpayers Of The Charter Township Of Independence And The Village Of Clarkston:

On March 28, the Independence Township Fire Department is asking you, the voters, to pass a $1.5 million bond issue. This bond issue will be used to purchase, renovate and furnish the old Pontiac dealership located at 7151 M-15.

The township currently has three stations. Station #1, located at 3 E. Church, was built in the late 1920s. Station #3, located at 5241 Maybee Road, was built in 1969. In 1987, Station #2 was built at the corner of Sashabaw and Clarkston roads to replace an aged structure originally constructed to house farm equipment.

The Church Street station is in dire need of replacement. It serves as the township's central station, yet it was designed to house an auto dealership during the 1920s.

It is extremely inefficient for heating, cooling and fire equipment maintenance. The office, dispatch and housing space available are very inadequate for a central fire station. If approved by the voters, the Pontiac dealership site will solve these problems.

This proposed site on M-15 has 18,700 square feet with ample space for parking. The building will give us a 6,000-square-foot apparatus bay, which will enable us to have all necessary equipment at the central location, where it more than likely will be used more than at the other stations across the township.

There will be sufficient housing and office space for a central station. The remainder of space in this building will house the Oakland County Sheriff's Department substation.

We are also presently in negotiations with the Michigan State Police for the possible move of the Pontiac Post to this location. I WANT YOU, THE COMMUNITY, TO UNDERSTAND THAT THE STATE POLICE WILL NOT TAKE OVER THE RESPONSIBILITIES THAT ARE NOW THE SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT'S. However, the visibility of more law enforcement officers surely won't be harmful.

The purchase of an existing building, even with extensive remodeling costs, would cost about one-half to three-quarters of what it would to purchase property, construct a new building and furnish it.

The following is a comparison of additional taxes for renovation of the Pontiac dealership vs. construction of a new facility.

RENOVATION OF DEALERSHIP PROPERTY: To payoff bond issue at 8 percent interest, four-tenths (.403) of a mill would be levied.

If the fair market value of your house is:	You would pay the following in extra taxes per year:
$60,000	$12.09
80,000	16.12
100,000	20.15
160,000	32.24
200,000	40.30

CONSTRUCTION OF A NEW FACILITY: To pay off bond issue at 8 percent interest, almost seven-tenths (.672) of a mill would be levied.

If the fair market value of your house is:	You would pay the following in extra taxes per year:
$60,000	$20.16
80,000	26.88
100,000	33.60
160,000	53.76
200,000	67.20

Much consideration has been given to the cost of property and construction at today's rates vs. What the costs may be in three or four years.

For this reason, it is much more sensible to proceed now with the central station. This site is the best location for immediate and easy access to the area covered by Station #1.

Gar Wilson is chief of the Independence Township Fire Department.

J-high dilemma

Julie Campe

I visited Sashabaw and Clarkston junior high schools last week, and I couldn't help thinking about my own school days in the buildings.

I went to Sashabaw as a 7th-grader, and the school seemed huge. Once, a girl came out of the bathroom by the cafeteria, and she was crying, and her hair was dripping wet.

My 7th-grade friends and I stared in amazement and were quickly informed by a wise, old 9th-grader that the girl was from Clarkston Junior High and, therefore, had received a "swirly."

My brother, Ron, also a 9th-grader, later informed me that a swirly was when your head was dunked in the toilet, and the toilet was flushed.

As impressionable 7th-graders, my friends and I believed every word of it. No doubt about it, life in junior high was tough.

So you can imagine my horror when I learned that summer that we would be moving, and I would have to attend Clarkston Junior High School.

My parents were getting divorced, and as a teen, I was almost more mad at them for making us switch schools than for splitting the family.

"You only have two years, and then you'll be with your friends again in the high school," my mother told me when I'd complain.

But what did she know? Parents knew so little then.

Two years was forever, and what about the football games? Who would I root for? Plus, I had already been indoctrinated with Cougar spirit. Wolverines were bad, and Cougars would devour them.

My first day at CJHS was terrible. My mother had told me that CJHS was smaller and that I wouldn't get lost, but I didn't believe her. It had two stories. And how was I supposed to remember which was the down staircase and which was up?

Plus, I had registered late, so my name didn't appear on any of the teachers' lists. That meant I had to go to the front of the class in each hour to give my name. I just knew that everyone would stare.

I didn't want to tell anybody that I was a Cougar at heart because I feared the dreaded swirly. So I just tried to keep quiet.

But then I ran into Carol Olney, who I knew from summer playground programs.

"Hi, Julie," she said.

Then she made the announcement.

"You guys," she called to her friends. "Julie's from Sashabaw, but she'll be going to Clarkston from now on. She's going to be hanging around with us."

I waited in fear. What would they do?

But they just smiled and said hello and walked with me to my next class.

Maybe this wouldn't be so bad, I thought, smiling gratefully at Carol.

Next, I met another familiar face, Kelly Brumback, who I had also known since childhood.

"Julie!" she said, and she started joking and teasing, but in a nice way. She was playful as a puppy, and she made me forget I was new.

Then, in gym class, Toni Biagini informed me that she lived on Greene Haven, right behind my new house on Shelly Drive. She would stop by in the morning to pick me up on the way to the bus stop, she said.

And she did, every morning throughout junior high.

Later in the year, when Toni, Kelly, Carol and I would meet up at sporting events against the Cougars, I would introduce them to a few Sashabaw friends.

As for my biggest dilemma, I cheered for both teams.

Jim's Jottings

The recent stories on chemical warfare shook loose some memory cells that have been dormant for a long time.

There was no mental recall when Iraq was accused of gasing Iran, but when Libya was accused of being capable of producing poison gases some of my childhood pretend games came back to me.

When my father returned from World War I he brought all his gear with him. There was his all wool dress khaki uniform, all wool leggings, hat and gas mask.

As I recall all four of us kids put those leggings on at one time or another until they were tattered and worn too much to wrap around our legs.

The uniform pants were jodhpur style to accommodate the leggings. They laced up the side. I don't remember ever wearing them, probably because my dad's 6'4" size was too much for my 6-year-old body. I do remember the harsh fabric.

And the gas mask. I went into numerous battles with my trusty mask strapped to my head, and the filter tank hanging below my waist.

The mask had a mouth piece inside to breath through. Properly used it protected me from the dreaded mustard gas that had left spots on my dad's lungs. Couldn't have hit him too bad though, he lived for 92 years.

Even when the flexible tubing from the mask to the tank was worn through it still kept me alive as I crept through the enemy lines or up to the front.

Dad often mentioned taking messages "to the front". His diary reveals that he also shot a lot of dice (crap), played a lot of poker and spent the rest of the time eating. Much of his diary tells of eating or trying to get a bath.

Oh, yeah, he wrote (daily in his diary) of the rain and mud of France. But, never did he write about the kind of gas attack that can't be cured by Rolads.

As we moved every couple years from 1926 to 1944 that gas mask went along. I don't know when I quit playing soldier with it. Probably about the time I enlisted in the Navy.

And, what's one of the first drills I experienced in the Navy? You got it! Being put in a room with a bunch of sailors and strapping on a gas mask. We were given sniffs of various gases, but the mask was to be used only when we had taken all the tear gas we could stand.

For a while I didn't think tear gas was so bad. It made tears run, but it wasn't that bad. Suddenly, it was unbearable.

Ah, well, sometime I'll tell you about making burr baskets and nearly setting the barn on fire.

It was worth staying through two overtimes in the Michigan vs. Iowa basketball game to hear the announcer laugh and say, "Some guy just yelled at the referee, 'I hope you take all the money you're getting paid for this game and invest it in S & L's'."

Fed up with sewers

What is the deal over on Northview? The state has set a double standard where they are pumping thousands of gallons of polluted water out of the ground directly into Parke Lake and has told the residents that they must abandon their wells when city water is made available. They have been pumping this water for over two months. The reason they are doing it is to rid the area of ground water, so they can put in sanitary sewers for the new condos, which are built in a swamp; sewers for the new shopping center, which is built abutting a swamp; and for the good of the residents on Northview.

We, the residents, did not and do not need the sewers. We want good water. Still, we are not connected to the city water system. There are several people that don't have the old, stinky water any more because their wells have been pumped dry trying to get the ground water level down.

In conclusion, I think they should abandon the sewer project because they must pump this pollution out of the ground. This would mean that the persons that planned this project incorrectly would have to eat crow and admit they made a mistake, and we know that happens to people in politics that must admit they made a mistake.

Fair is a success

The Clarkston Elementary School Fair Raffle Committee would like to say a big thank you to the many businesses who, with their generous donations, made our fair a giant success.

The Fair Committee

U of D says thanks

On behalf of the students from the University of Detroit's Clarkston Campus, we would like to extend our warmest appreciation to the Clarkston community for making us feel "at home" during our six-year stay at the Colombiere Center.

During our six years, we became a visible part of the Clarkston community by holding numerous car washes at Clarkston Motors and by participating in the annual Fourth of July Parade, which we could not have successfully entered without the help and support of Dr. and Mrs. James O'Neill.

We enjoyed dining at Carol's Village Grill, Alexander's, the Clarkston Big Boy and the Clarkston Cafe. A special thank you goes to the Deer Lake Racquet Club for allowing us to host our annual spring and winter dinner dances. Their hospitality went above and beyond our expectations.

Many students also enjoyed skating on the Mill Pond and cross country skiing and sledding at Colombiere. We will take these memories and many others of this community with us as we close our doors at the end of the 1988/89 academic year.

As University of Detroit Alumni, we would again like to extend our deepest gratitude to you, the Clarkston community, for all of your support during the past six years.

Waste is problem

When COG (Citizens for Orderly Growth) held its regular meeting Wednesday, Feb. 8, Susan Singer from the Oakland County department of Public Information gave a slide presentation and answered questions concerning the solid waste program in Oakland County.

An incredible half-ton of solid waste is generated per person each year. Different ways have to be found to deal with this problem.

Among them are the separation of newspapers, glass and plastics. It was also brought out that a new landfill site must be established in Oakland County.

Dump is bad news

Remember Love Canal? Toxic pollution so widespread it endangered the lives of an entire community and forced families to abandon forever their homes and property?

It's scheduled to happen right here in Michigan unless we do something right now to stop it. Without immediate steps, not only is our Water Wonderland doomed to become a toxic wasteland, but we and our children could become an endangered species.

'If it Fitz ...'

Life before
JOA

Jim
Fitzgerald

When state Sen. John Kelly is thinking of going to France, I wonder if he depends on the OEF, as much as I depend on the JOA when I'm thinking of getting out of bed.

"Are you getting up this morning?" my wife asks, and I answer, "It depends on the JOA."

In case you've been dead, the JOA is the joint operating agreement proposed between the business operations of the Free Press and the Detroit News. And the OEF is the officeholder expense fund that many Michigan legislators use to keep from spending their own money.

For almost three years now, the JOA has been the determining factor in my home. Remodel the bathroom? New chairs for the living room? A Florida vacation? Wear my employee identification badge? It depends on the JOA.

If the JOA is rejected, I might be looking for a new job in another town. No sense spending a lot of money on our home if we'll soon be moving. No sense dipping into our savings for a vacation if we might need those savings to pay the bills while trying to find someone willing to hire a 62-year-old professional marathon sitter.

A frenzy over new badges

JOA approval would mean some new workers in the Free Press building, coming over from the News. So last August, when then-Attorney General Edwin Meese III OK'd the JOA, it was decreed that every employee would have to show a new photo ID card to get beyond the guards in the lobby. Pictures were taken and clip-on badges distributed in a huge rush that turned out to be unnecessary. At the last minute, opponents persuaded a federal court to delay implementation of the JOA.

Last week, after another federal OK of the JOA, employees were urged to rescue those badges from where they were thrown in disgust five months ago, or again have new badges made quickly. Beginning Monday of this week, no badge, no entry.

Except, for the third time, a court stopped JOA implementation. When I came to work Monday morning, no one asked to see my badge, which was too bad: I would have had to bend over to show it.

Sen. Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe Woods, is the most visible leader of the group that keeps getting the JOA delayed and leaving thousands of newspaper workers on hold. Kelly strongly believes he is fighting to preserve newspaper competition nationwide. Probably, Kelly also strongly believes it's wonderful that Ralph Nader's public litigation agency is paying the legal cost of Kelly's never-ending, judge-to-judge battle to get Kelly's face on TV and his name in the newspapers.

When it comes to spending, Kelly is clever that way. According to law, the purpose of OEF money - leftover campaign funds and direct contributions - is to finance expenses "incidental office." In his 1988 OEF report, Kelly said he spent $816.04 on a September trip to Nice, France, for a "visit to French economic 'enterprise zones' and hi-tech industrial parks operated by the French local government."

A hard look at jai alai

Kelly also revealed he paid $376 in OEF funds to Eastern Airlines for "jai alai investigation." And $188.95 for two dinners in Windsor for "discussion on Canada free trade agreement." And $101 for one night in a hotel while attending a boat race in Holland (OEF reports are traditionally cryptic, but I think we can assume that's the Holland in western Michigan, rather than the Netherlands; otherwise there would have been an added charge for investigation of thumb enterprise in dike-zones).

Anyway, when Sen. Kelly's wife asks him if he's going to the jai alai games today, I wonder if he ever answers, "It depends on the OEF."

Jai alai is a gambling game played with a ball and long curved wicker baskets in Florida. Is it incidental to being a Michigan state senator that the senator fly to Florida to watch jai alai?

Kelly obviously decided the answer is yes, but I wonder what Ralph Nader would say.

Kelly might well suggest he wouldn't want to travel from Michigan to France or Florida if he weren't a senator. And I might well suggest he kiss my identification badge.

The Roads We Travel

Not in El Salvador

Brent
Bair

There has and continues to be a lot of attention given to the drunk drivers on our roads, and rightfully so. They are a threat to us all.

The penalties have been increased in an attempt to discourage people from driving after they have become intoxicated. A fellow employee sent me an excerpt from the "Bars and Stripes" that lists the penalties for drunk driving in other countries. I thought you would find them as interesting as I did. Compare them to our penalties.

Australia: The names of the drivers are sent to the local newspapers and are printed under the heading: "He's drunk and in jail."

Malaya: The driver is jailed, and if he is married, the wife is jailed also.

Turkey: Drunk drivers are taken 20 miles from town by the police and forced to walk back under escort.

Norway: Drunk drivers are sentenced to three weeks in jail at hard labor and one year loss of license. If there is a second offense within five years, the driver's license is revoked.

Finland and Sweden: Drunk drivers receive an automatic one-year jail sentence at hard labor.

Costa Rica: Police remove the license plates from the drunk driver's car.

Russia: The drunk driver's license is revoked for life.

England: The drunk driver receives a one-year suspension of his license, a one-year jail sentence and a $250 fine.

France: The drunk driver loses his license for three years, receives a one-year jail sentence and a $1,000 fine.

Poland: The drunk driver is jailed, fined and forced to attend political lectures.

Bulgaria: A second offense results in execution.

El Salvador: A drunk driver's first offense is his last. He is executed by a firing squad.

So now how tough do you think our drunk driving penalties are? Whatever you do, don't drink and drive in El Salvador!

Armed robbers take $100 cash, cigarettes

Police are looking for suspects in the Feb. 11 armed robbery of Dandy Oil on Sashabaw Road in Independence Township.

A station employee told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies that two subjects entered the store around 4:25 a.m. Saturday and appeared to be looking for something.

After one of the men asked for a pack of Marlboro cigarettes, he pulled out a large chrome automatic handgun and asked for money, according to the police report.

The report said the clerk gave the suspect about $100 from the cash drawer, and then the second suspect asked for a pack of Newport Light 100 cigarettes.

The two men left the store, walked around the north end of the building and then headed west across the parking lot.

Footprints in the snow indicated that the two headed toward a nearby street where a vehicle had been parked, according to the report.

Police said the suspects were in their late 20's, one with blond hair, standing 5 feet, 10 inches tall, with a dirty blue jean jacket and fingerless gloves. The second suspect is described as standing 5 feet, 8 inches tall, with jeans and fingerless gloves.

Anyone with more information should call the sheriff's department at 858-4950.

St. Trinity Lutheran Church dedicates addition

After many months and much hard work, a new addition to St. Trinity Lutheran Church, 7925 Sashabaw Rd. in Independence Township, was dedicated last Sunday.

Groundbreaking for the addition, which almost doubles the size of the church, took place last June.

The dedication took place during the 11 a.m. service on Feb. 12. Following the service, there was a congregational pot luck dinner.

"The purpose of the addition is to serve the Lord and our community more adequately," said the Rev. Michael Klafehn.

Out front, a sign reads, "Pardon our construction, but we're growing in Christ."

Inside, there is still work to be done, but activities are already underway in the new, 8,000-square-foot addition.

The original 10,000-square-foot church was dedicated in December of 1976.

But according to Bill Billig, chairman of the building committee, the congregation has grown significantly. "There was a need. After a 2 1/2-year study and building process, we've found out it doesn't come easy."

Klafehn said they not only added space, but they addressed a number of architectural inadequacies in the building at the same time.

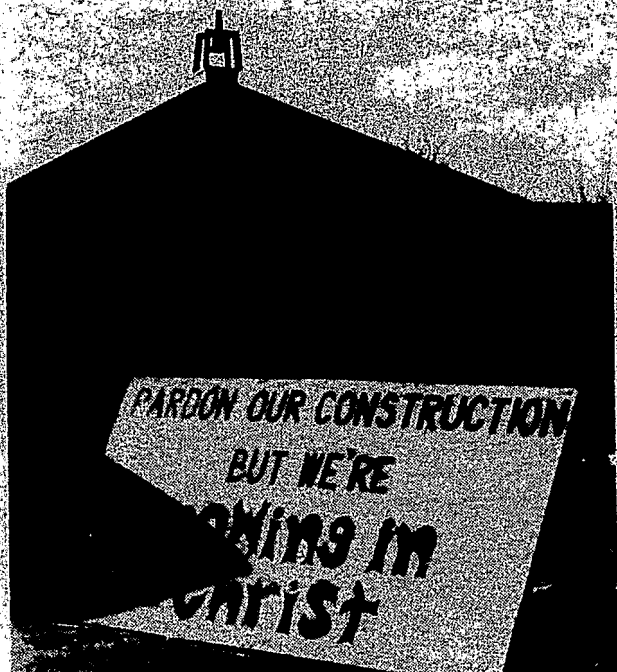

For instance, a vestibule was added on the front entrance, keeping cold air from entering the building and creating extra space in the narthex.

Many classrooms were added, including a new preschool area which can be divided into Sunday school rooms. There is also a new nursery and library.

New offices were added for the pastor and for the Director of Christian Education and Youth, Richard Schempt, as well as new general office areas and storage space.

The kitchen area was more than doubled, and new equipment was added. A kitchenette is also now available in the newly constructed multipurpose room, which is a good area for meetings, Klafehn said. On the outside, the parking area has been enlarged for the growing congregation.

In the narthex, the building committee has kept a log of all volunteers who have helped with the project. Many from the congregation have helped with clean-up work and painting. Come spring, they will help again when it is time to landscape around the new addition.

A NEW ADDITION to St. Trinity Lutheran Church, 7925 Sashabaw Rd., Independence Township, will be dedicated Sunday, Feb. 12 at the 11 a.m. service. A sign outside indicates that the church has been going through the stages of construction.

Springfield calls for united effort in tax reform

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Springfield Township Board has decided to take the initiative on tax reform.

The board not only unanimously passed a resolution on tax reform at its February meeting, but it is setting up a meeting with representatives of neighboring townships and municipalities to talk about what can be done.

A tentative date for such a meeting was set for Wednesday, Feb. 22. Interested people may call the Springfield Township offices at 625-4802 or 634-3111 for further information and location.

"It is important for us to sit down with representatives of school boards and municipalities," said Supervisor Collin Walls. "We have to find a way to quit fighting each other and get things fixed."

One of the concerns, Walls said later, is that in order to arrive at some meaningful change in property tax, we collectively need to stop doing things on our own. Solidarity is needed in order to be heard at the state level.

The resolution passed by the township board will be sent to the governor, legislators, Oakland County commissioners, all municipalities within Oakland County, local school boards, the Michigan Townships Association and other organizations.

It stated that Michigan property tax rates are among the highest in the nation, yet Michigan has one of the nation's lowest rankings with respect to state funding of local school districts. It also stated that the burden of financing local schools is disproportionately placed on property owners.

It further noted that the legislature has repeatedly failed to enact meaningful property tax and school financing reforms.

The resolution urged the state to take immediate steps to implement property tax and school financing reform, using existing state revenues and without simply resorting to additional tax increases or new taxes.

It further urged special interest lobbies to "set aside their individual interests on this important issue and to act in the best interests of Michigan citizens and Michigan school children."

No more waste

State officials, without the knowledge and approval of most of us, have agreed to let Michigan become a toxic dump for the poisonous and radioactive wastes of seven states.

They are putting at risk the safety of 27 million people by threatening the contamination of 95 percent of our nation's fresh water -- the Great Lakes and all the rivers and water basins of the region, including even the underground water tables. All against the advice of national science groups and health authorities, who warn that the waste dump WILL LEAK!

We need your help to stop this madness which could risk all that we love and live here for! Please join us in letting Governor Blanchard and our legislators know how we feel. Write to Don't Waste Michigan -- Northern Chapter, Box 445, Petoskey, MI 48770.

Resident urges area recycling

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Labeling his request "urgent," one Waterford Township resident asked the Independence Township board to move forward in creating a waste recycling program.

Tom Struck of Eagle Lake Drive in Waterford told members that upon moving to the area from California, he looked for a recycling program in which to take part and discovered the area had none.

Speaking during the public comment section at the Feb. 7 meeting, Struck said he had attended a recent forum on the problems of public waste sponsored by the League of Women Voters and had learned about a recycling program in Holly.

Struck asked the board to "appoint a commission to look into a recycling program and oversee the implementation of such."

In answering Struck, Supervisor Frank Ronk said the township was already making some movement forward.

"We are involved with the county on a solid waste program that (right now) has no provision for recycling. (We will) enter recycling into it," Ronk said, adding that it would be at least 1 1/2 years before a recycling program would begin.

"There is no large recycling depot to take to; if that was available, it would be apt to come sooner," Ronk explained.

"It's going to require a big training program," he said. "The sooner we get started the better."

Ham operators share their communication skills

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Six years ago, two men met while enrolled in a novice ham radio operators course. Today, they are teaching others about their favorite hobby.

Al Monroe and Tom Smith, with assistant Jim Decker, are to instruct people of all ages during a 12-week course at the Independence Township Senior Center in Clintonwood Park beginning next week. Since the average age of a ham operator is 47, they hope to see plenty of young faces in the crowd.

"They will enjoy it for a lifetime," said Smith, a Pontiac resident. "People come from all walks of life. Judges, teachers, factory workers, high school and junior high school students."

The weekly two-hour class will teach students the rules and regulations, how to use morse code and a little theory on ham radio operation. At the end of the course, a test for a radio license is administered.

"We have a good success rate," said Smith. "Everyone that sticks it out gets a license."

Since Smith and Monroe, who have had their license for six years, are advanced hobbyists, they are qualified to teach the novice course. They belong to the Oakland County Amateur Radio Society (OCARS) Radio Club which is sponsoring the course with Independence Parks and Recreation.

The twosome became involved in teaching when OCARS had an opening due to time conflicts with its regular teachers. They have enjoyed it ever since.

"We get gratification from getting people into a good hobby," Smith said. One of the few problems the club has is letting people know it exists, he added.

Flyers and ads on public service cable channels in Clarkston, Waterford and Lake Orion provide some publicity for the novice course but many are still unfamiliar with ham operators, said Monroe.

Some of the hobby's benefits include meeting new people, serving the community during emergencies, spreading international goodwill and providing an outlet for handicapped individuals.

Besides enrolling in the novice class, the twosome encourage interested people to attend OCARS monthly meetings at St. Trinity Lutheran Church on Sashabaw Road, just north of Clarkston Road. The club meets the first Thursday of every month at 7 p.m.

"Anybody is welcome," said Monroe. "You don't have to be a ham operator."

Registration for the novice class is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 21 at the senior center, 5980 Clarkston Road, Independence Township, from 7 to 9 p.m. The class is free, students only pay $15 for materials, and is open to all ages. Instruction begins the following Tuesday, Feb. 28, at 7 p.m.

College update

Dave Jokisch needs only 43 points in his last eight games for Lake Superior State's basketball team to reach the 1,000-point club.

The Clarkston High School graduate continued his assault on Great Lakes Intercollegiate Conference opponents the first week of February during games against Wayne State and Saginaw Valley. Jokisch scored a team-high 23 points and grabbed six rebounds during a 90-78 setback against the Cardinals.

He's averaging 24.2 points per conference game and 19.4 overall in 20 contests. The 6-foot-6 forward also leads the team in rebounding (53) and assists (108).

During his previous three seasons at Lake Superior, Jokisch averaged seven points and four rebounds per game.

Gymnastics

Three girls from Independence Township took part in the Acronaut Invitational gymnastics competition at Pontiac Central over the weekend.

Cara Rayner, of Pine Knob Road, scored 8.35 in the floor competition and finished in eighth place. She also had scores of 7.5 in the vault, 6.5 in the beam and 6 in the bars.

Bethany Rayner, also of Pine Knob Road, scored 8.15 in the floor, 8 in the vault, 7.05 in the beam and 6.75 in the bars while competing in the Advanced Optional Junior division.

Kelly Simko, of Horseshoe Circle, had scores of 7.9 in the floor, 7.85 in the vault, 7.95 in the beam and 5.8 in the bars while competing in the Class II division.

Ski teams run away with title

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Start packing the bags, Mom; the Clarkston High ski teams are heading north.

Both the boys and girls teams continued to pummel their Southeastern Michigan Ski League opponents last week en route to clinching the title.

Once the Wolves get past Thursday's regional at Pine Knob, it's on to the state meet up north where Clarkston will meet its stiffest competition of the year.

"Petoskey and Gaylord both are strong in boys (skiing), and Traverse City is strong in girls," said CHS coach Janie Huling. "I'm not sure how we will place in the state, probably somewhere from first to fourth."

On Tuesday, Feb. 7, the boys team wiped out Cranbrook 10-30 with Rob Brown leading the way for the victors with a time of 41.31 seconds. Shawn Lambouris was second with a clocking of 47.24; Bart Roeser, third at 49.3; Matt Warren, fourth at 50.36; and Brian Zoss, finishing off the clean sweep with a time of 50.8.

The girls also had little trouble disposing of Cranbrook as Tami Mitchell won the race with a clocking of 50.7; Heather Johnson finished second at 54.63; Tina Shepard and Kay Brophy tied for third at 54.79; and Karen Lowe was fifth with a time of 55.23.

On the following day, the Wolves returned to action at Pine Knob for a tri-meet against Bloomfield Lahser and Waterford Mott. Once again, the Wolves were too much for the competition to handle.

The boys topped Lahser 15-26 with Lambouris leading the way. He finished the day with a clocking of 37.81. Ed Warner at 39.38 was third; and Roeser (39.53) was fourth. Nathan Burge finished fifth with a time of 39.54.

Mitchell continue to excel for the girls as she finished with a combined time of 40.60 during a 15-27 victory. Lowe was second at 42.37 and Shepard, third at 42.91. Carrie Roeser (43.78) was fourth.

Lambouris (first), Warner (third), Roeser (fourth) and Burge (fifth) all scored for Clarkston in a 13-26 romp over Waterford Mott.

Mitchell (first), Lowe (second), Shepard (third) and Roeser (fourth) paced the girls' 10-30 victory against the Corsairs.

Including the Mott victory, both teams sported perfect 8-0 records heading into the league championship.

In the boys competition, Clarkston easily outdistanced Brother Rice 112 to 137 for first place as Brown won the slalom (39.95) and the giant slalom (36.16). Lambouris also raced well, finishing ninth in the slalom with a time of 43.73 and sixth in the giant slalom with a clocking of 37.93.

It was just as easy for the girls to bring home the gold as they topped Rochester Adams 97 to 112 for the league title.

Mitchell placed second in the slalom and giant slalom with times of 48.02 and 42.30, respectively.

Shepard was eighth in the slalom with a time of 50.47 and 10th in the giant slalom at 43.41.

Time Out

Action

Peter Auchter

With all the exciting action in high school sports recently, it almost made me forget about the lousy weather.

Thursday, the ski teams returned victorious from the league championships. Friday night, the boys basketball team knocked off Pontiac Northern to get back into the league race. Monday night, the volleyball team topped Lake Orion to take control of the GOAL. Quick, somebody buy a lotto ticket.

It's enough to make your head spin. Or at least make it worthwhile to slosh through a river of slush to get back into your car after the game ends.

Anybody else out there notice the mess in the high school lot, especially on Monday night after all that lovely snow and rain? My feet got cold just looking at the stuff.

At first, I tried to be logical and walk around a deep puddle -- or should I say lake? -- in an effort to keep from discovering the water resistance of dress shoes.

After a short walk I realized there was no end to the mess, and I was slowly drifting away from where I was parked. Time for a new plan.

The alternative was to walk through the water and hope to find a shallow spot (I have no patience). I didn't.

I've got to start wearing my boots. I guess they won't do me much good sitting in the trunk of my car.

Friday night was another adventure. I arrived early for the junior varsity basketball game and was doubly rewarded -- I got a good parking spot and watched a good contest. But then the fun started.

Since no one else at The News enjoys working on Friday nights, the fools, I volunteered to take

Wolves rally for first place

Clarkston tops Lake Orion, takes over lead in league

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After Monday night's heart-stopping performance, don't be surprised if fans don't start calling the varsity volleyball team the "Cardiac Kids."

Down 13-9 in the third game of an important Greater Oakland Activities League contest to determine who's the best, the Wolves rallied to beat Lake Orion 9-15, 15-7, 16-14 to take over sole possession of first place.

"It's a great feeling," CHS coach Gordie Richardson said. "I'm so happy for the kids that have worked hard for a league championship."

Clarkston did it thanks to the outstanding play of the entire team; nobody stood out individually, but everybody did what they had to for a victory.

With Clarkston trailing 13-9 in the third game, the Wolves slowly crept back into it point-by-point, allowing Orion plenty of opportunities to win -- but it never happened.

Heather Behrens stopped one Lake Orion potential rally with a neat tip over the net; and Coy Carlson followed it up with a couple of successful serves to knot the score at 14 apiece.

Jami Lerner then took control with a tip over the net to put Clarkston up by one and then slammed home the winning point on the next play.

The successful rally graphically proved to Richardson how much his team has improved since the start of the season.

"There's been a lot of times early in the year when we could get back (into matches) but not all the way back," he said. "The last two weeks we have been coming back (all the way)."

Lake Orion started the first game as if it were on a mission, ripping off six straight points before Clarkston could get on the board.

But the Wolves began a series of rallies and culminated the first string of points with a service ace by Wendy Cummings, cutting the Dragons' lead to 7-6.

Unfortunately, the Wolves couldn't do much more in the game as Orion went on to win rather easily.

The second game started out much like the first, with Orion up 3-1 before the Wolves got rolling. Behrens began serving with Clarkston down a point at 5-4 and didn't stop until the Wolves were up 12-5 and in control of the game.

After two points by Orion, both clubs struggled to score as defense became an important issue. The teams photos at the Daddy-Daughter Dance at North Sashabaw Elementary. No problem, I thought at the time.

So, off I went in search of cute daddy-daughter photos after the JV contest ended. When I returned to the high school 45 minutes later, the parking lot -- slush and all -- was filled to capacity.

With a trusty Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy nearby to keep people honest, I decided against starting a new row and headed out toward the dirt lot near the football field. There I found plenty of parking. Kind of like the guy in the Highland commercial.

The walk back to the gym wasn't a whole lot of fun -- it isn't in the summer either -- but the game was certainly worth the effort. With past CHS stars like Tim McCormick, Ed Whitaker and Dan Jokisch in the stands, the 1989 edition kept the tradition of outstanding basketball teams alive and kicking.

Hopefully, things won't change much next month when playoffs get underway. Except for the weather, that is. I've suffered enough, haven't you?

Arm and Shoulder Pain

Why suffer from arm and shoulder pain when in most cases there is a ready explanation and treatment? The cause, quite often, is a misalignment of one or more of the spinal bones, which causes an impingement of the nerves that leave the spine radiating into the neck, shoulders and arms. A thorough examination and analysis by a spine specialist should give you immediate relief and help us find the underlying cause of the problem and correct it. Get relief. Give us a call today.

JV Wolves split

Tough defense and a never-say-die spirit helped the junior varsity basketball team against Pontiac Northern Friday night.

Unfortunately, the Huskies escaped with a hard-fought 50-46 victory. Afterward, Coach Tim Kaul was anything but distraught about the loss.

"Give my kids credit," he said. "They played their hind ends off to get back in it."

The Wolves, who now sport an 11-6 overall record, made a game of it by relying on their defensive play. Jerrod Johnson and Dereck Raymond did exceptionally well on the defensive side, Kaul said.

On the offensive end, Bill Knight led the way with 23 points. Chris Wasilk chipped in with 10.

Northern had a six-point lead in the first quarter and extended it to a 15-point cushion before the Wolves canned back-to-back buckets to cut the deficit down to 11 at halftime.

Still down by 10 with time running out, the Wolves regrouped to score the final six points of the contest to make a game of it in the end.

"The kids showed some character," the coach said. "They are really working hard."

Earlier in the week, the Wolves pounded Holly 72-50 as Knight scored 21 and Johnson added 11. Overall, 10 players scored for Clarkston.

Wolverines win 10

Clarkston Junior High hit double figures in the win column for the first time in a long while with two victories over Waterford schools last week.

Jason Kinzler scored 16 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to pace the Wolverines to a 61-50 win over Crary on Feb. 7 at home. Jeremy Deloney also had 16 points, Dave Smith scored 10 and dished off six assists. Craig Gamett had nine points and Devin DuPree six assists in support.

Two nights later, the Wolverines visited Mason and topped the Mariners 62-54 with Smith leading the way. He had 16 points, nine rebounds and five assists. Deloney scored 16 points, Gamett had 12 points and Kinzler added 10 points and 10 rebounds.

With three games left in the season, the Wolverines' record stands at 10-3.

Wolves slide past Huskies on hardcourt

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

One down, one to go.

With an outstanding effort from several players, the varsity basketball team avenged one of its two Greater Oakland Activities League losses Friday night. The Corsairs are up next when the Wolves travel to face Waterford Mott Thursday.

Against Pontiac Northern, Kevin McCormick scored 30 points, while Reggie Reed and Scott Weeks added 14 apiece to pace the Wolves to a hard-fought 70-63 victory that took the sting out of an earlier 72-70 loss to the Huskies.

"I'm extremely happy," said Clarkston coach Dan Fife. "But we are not over the hump yet."

The victory boosts the Wolves' league mark to 5-2, while Northern falls to 6-2, meaning Clarkston now has the opportunity to tie for the GOAL title if it can win its final three games against Lake Orion, Mott and Waterford Kettering.

"I'm extremely happy. But we are not over the hump yet."

CHS Coach Dan Fife

Northern started out of the gate fast and led 19-12 after one quarter before an 18-2 Clarkston run in the second quarter put the Wolves up for good. At the half, Clarkston led 36-30.

The Huskies, playing without their top scorer Antoine Gilder who sat out for disciplinary reasons, used a full-court press against the Wolves. Thanks to the fine play of senior guard Darin Brandt, the strategy backfired on Northern.

"They handled the pressure well tonight," said Northern's coach Dave Chism. "I thought that they executed very well."

Fife agreed, complimenting the play of his senior guard.

"If we could get (the ball) over half court, we could score, it seemed to me," he said. "Our kids are used to pressure."

(See WOLVES, Page 25)

KEVIN MCCORMICK is nearly unstoppable near the basket as he burns Northern for 30 points to help the Wolves inch closer to a GOAL title Friday night.

Wolves trounce Northern to tighten race

The teams played even 18-18 in the third quarter and almost did again in the fourth as Northern refused to give up, no matter how far behind it got at times.

"I knew the game was not out of reach," said Fife. "They were down by 17 against (Pontiac) Central and came back."

Reed, a guard, polished off the Huskies down the stretch with excellent free-throw shooting. He canned 3-of-4 shots to help Clarkston extend a 65-63 lead to a more comfortable 68-63 advantage in the final moments.

The junior tallied nine of his 14 points in the second half.

"Reggie Reed came off the bench and was a big factor," Fife said.

Earlier in the week, Clarkston hosted Holly and busted the Broncos 65-45. Three players scored in double digits for the victors. McCormick led the way with 22 points; Reed had 14 including two three-point shots; and Jim Huttenlocher added 12.

Clarkston led 18-10 after one quarter and stretched its advantage to 33-24 at halftime. A decisive 17-9 third quarter polished off the visitors.

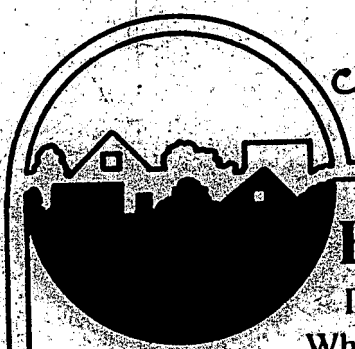

"They handled the pressure well tonight. I thought that they executed very well."

had 12 side-outs between them before someone scored. Jenny Graham served up the final three game-winning points for Clarkston.

Once again, the Wolves fell behind when the third game got underway. Orion jumped out to a 3-0 advantage

"It's a great feeling. I'm so happy for the kids that have worked hard for a league championship."

Coach Gordie Richardson

before Clarkston rallied to cut the lead to 8-7.

When the Dragons tried to put the Wolves away with a 5-2 run, Clarkston served up its final rally of the night to walk away with the win.

The victory ups the team's GOAL mark to 8-1 and its overall record to 16-13. Clarkston hosts Brandon on Parent's Night Feb. 15 and can wrap up a league title with a victory.

On Saturday, the Wolves hosted the 11th annual Clarkston Invitational tournament. The hosts did fairly well, finishing the day with a loss to Lansing Waverly in the semi-finals.

The Wolves began the day with a 17-15, 15-11 win over Royal Oak Dondero as Behrens, Graham and Carlson all had five kills apiece. Grohs had 14 assists and was 11-of-11 serving, with three aces. Jamie Law added 10 digs.

Against Romeo, the Wolves won 15-13, 15-9. Carlson was 9-of-9 attacking with nine kills; Grohs had 16 assists; and Behrens was 13-of-13 serving, with three aces and 13-of-14 in serve reception. Sue Cohoon was five-of-five serving, with one ace.

Clarkston continued to roll during pool play with a 15-2, 15-7 win over Ferndale.

Kelly Avenall had two kills in two attempts; Michelle Sykes was six-of-six serving, with two aces; and Amy Blome was four-of-four serving, with two aces.

Sterling Heights Stevenson, the eventual champion of the tourney, stopped Clarkston 9-15, 8-15 in the final games of pool play.

Carlson had seven kills and was 14-of-17 attacking; Lerner was six-of-six attacking, with three kills; Grohs was 10-of-10 serving; and Cummings was eight-of-eight with one ace.

Sykes was six-of-six serving, with an ace; and Law had 14 digs.

Against Lansing Waverly, the Wolves lost 0-15, 15-11, 3-15.

"They played real good defense," Richardson said. "Things didn't fall in place real well."

Lerner had five kills and Behrens three while Carlson was three-of-three serving with an ace to lead Clarkston.

On the day, Behrens was perfect in serving, going 46-of-46, with nine aces. Sykes also was perfect at 16-of-16, with three aces. Carlson was 48-of-57 attacking, with 27 kills; and Lerner was 25-of-29, with 12 kills. Grohs was 15-of-19 attacking, with nine kills and had 62 assists. Law was 38-of-48 in attack reception.

JV Wolves win with teamwork

Good lines of communication helped the junior varsity volleyball team shut down Lake Orion at home Monday night.

After a loss in the first game, the Wolves helped each other out and rallied to win 11-15, 15-12, 15-2.

"They played real well tonight," said Coach Kecia Powell. "After the first game, they did a nice job of talking to each other."

The win ups the team's record to 12-13. With three matches left in the season, Powell looks forward to a winning campaign.

Jodi Lopucki, with seven kills, and Kim Kolody, with perfect 23-of-23 serving, paced the Wolves' victory.

After dropping the first match, Clarkston trailed 12-9 and was in danger of getting swept at home by the tough Dragons. But thanks to a good block by Stacey Secatch for a point and a slam by Lopucki, the Wolves rallied to a 14-12 lead before Secatch served up the winning point.

Clarkston started the third game on a roll, scoring the first 10 points. The Wolves were never seriously threatened as they easily polished off the Dragons.

Two advance

Although he would have liked to advance a couple more, Clarkston wrestling coach Scott Strickler was happy for the two grapplers who made it to the state meet.

Senior Chris Luzi, at 112 pounds, and junior John Terpstra, at 145 pounds, won individual championships at the Lansing Sexton Regional Saturday to earn a spot in the state meet in Battle Creek.

Strickler was especially pleased to see Terpstra make it to the big time.

"I always like to have underclassmen make it so they can experience it and come back strong the next year," he said.

While only two wrestlers remain alive in the individual competition, the entire team is still challenging for a spot in the team state meet. The Wolves travel to Walled Lake Western for regional competition against West Bloomfield, Davison and Howell on Feb. 15. If they can win there, it's on to the quarterfinals and a date with the winner of the Brother Rice regional featuring Lake Orion and Hazel Park as well as the host school the following Wednesday.

For now, the wrestlers and the coach are basking in the glory of what they have accomplished so far.

"These guys are really working hard," the coach said. "But we are going to take it easy this week (during practice) and relax a bit."

Other competitors for Clarkston at the Sexton regional Saturday were Jason Campbell and Adam Atkinson, both missed making the state meet by one match, Jerry Lawrence, John Anderson and Joel Davis. Since three of those five are returning next season, things are looking up for Strickler.

"We are 14-1 this season but we are looking even better for next year," the coach said.

PREPARING FOR THE DANCE, the youngest Rauth daughter, Alicia, pins a boutonniere on her father as her sisters watch. All seven Rauth daughters accompanied their father to the daddy-daughter dance at Marion High School in Birmingham on Feb. 10.

Dad is surprise host to seven at dance

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Vincent Rauth went to a daddy-daughter dance last Friday night with his daughter, Alicia ... and Ellen and Catherine and Anne and Mary and Cecilia and Veronica.

All seven daughters accompanied him to the daddy-daughter dance at Marion High School in Birmingham. It was the culmination of 19 years of attendance for the Rauth family at Marion and almost as many years of daddy-daughter dances.

Alicia, 18, the youngest of the Rauth daughters and a senior at Marion, will graduate this spring.

"The school is free at last," laughs Irene Rauth, wife and mother of the large family who has lived for the past 18 years in the Deer Lake Knolls subdivision, Independence Township.

The Rauth family also includes two sons, Peter, 15, and Michael, 29. Michael graduated from Brother Rice in Birmingham, and Peter is a sophomore at the school.

All of the Rauth children have been honor students, and all of the oldest have gone on to graduate from college.

Just the thought of putting nine children through college would strike fear in most parents, but the Rauths also faced yearly high school tuitions at Marion and Brother Rice which started out at $300 and now are closer to $3,000.

When Irene, a librarian at the Livonia Public Library, is asked how she and her husband, an architect with Giffels Consultants in Southfield, could afford putting nine children through college today, she just smiles and says, "There are a lot of student loans."

The children have worked and earned scholarships and fellowships that helped out, too.

But on Feb. 10, the topic of discussion at the Rauth home is not on college and the future, but on high school and looking back.

There is an air of excitement as six daughters arrive from six different states to surprise dad. Peter is also there, quietly staying in the background as his sisters get ready for the dance. The only child who could not make it home was Michael and his wife, Kathie, who live in Maine.

Kathie had originally planned to attend the dance, too, making a grand total of eight "daughters" for Vincent to escort.

Alicia and Anne came up with the idea last fall to surprise Vincent for this final dance by all coming home to attend. They conspired further with some of their other sisters during the holidays at the Deer Lake Racquet Club where Ellen, 21, was working during semester break from college.

It wasn't easy to keep it a secret from dad, nor was it easy to coordinate everyone's plans, says Irene. But somehow they did. Five of the daughters arrived within an hour of each other at Detroit Metro Airport, rented one car, and drove to the Independence Township home together.

Veronica, 32, came from Tampa, Fla. Cecilia, 30, arrived from Steubenville, Ohio. Mary, 27, came up from Houston, Texas. Anne, 25, arrived from Arlington, Va. Catherine, 23, flew in from Baton Rouge, La. Ellen drove over from South Bend, Ind., where she attends the University of Notre Dame.

While they wait for unsuspecting dad to arrive home from work, they share stories about school days at Marion and laugh a lot.

Some of the same nuns have been at the school as long as the Rauth daughters have been attending. Sometimes that was an advantage, sometimes not.

"They never did get us by the right names," says Anne.

"After Mary went through school, one chemistry teacher called all the rest of us Mary," says Catherine. But the rest of the girls didn't mind because Mary got "A's" in chemistry.

Mary, on the other hand, says that is a two-way street. She remembers her first algebra test. She was nervous and didn't do well. The nun let her retake it, and she did much better.

"The nun told me, 'I knew you'd be like your sisters,'" Mary says.

Veronica and Anne went back to the library once after they had graduated, and one nun came up to them and asked sternly, "Where's your uniform?"

Looking at the seven sisters, it is easy to see how the nuns could get them mixed up. Some look enough alike to be twins.

Friend to Friend

I'm homesick

AWARE

Dear Friend to Friend:

My problem is that my boyfriend gets along very well with my stepdad (whom I don't get along with). I'm glad my parents like him but it's kind of awkward because none of my friends like my stepdad; they think he's weird.

I guess we don't understand him. I know I don't. Anyway, it's good that my boyfriend likes him, but I question if my boyfriend is weird because my stepdad is weird, and they get along.

For example, we all went out to dinner, and my boyfriend paid more attention to him.

My stepdad acted like a slob and weird, as usual. Well, I was embarrassed, and my boyfriend thought it was so funny.

I'm not jealous or anything, but I question why he likes my stepdad so much. I asked him why and told him he is weird, and now he tries to act like my stepdad to tease me.

I don't mind but it kind of bugs me a little. Is it normal? Is he normal (to like someone that is not normal?)

Stepdaughter

Dear Stepdaughter:

Maybe you don't have a problem. Maybe your boyfriend is crazy like a fox. And just maybe your stepdad isn't as bad as your think.

Granted you don't like him and he irritates you, but the reason your boyfriend may not have a problem with him is because he is not his stepfather.

With no emotional ties and without the rivalry of a stepson-stepfather relationship, your boyfriend perhaps just doesn't have the same feelings of irritation and annoyance as you.

Allow your boyfriend and your stepfather to get along, and let your boyfriend help you to see your stepfather in a slightly different light.

Who knows, you may discover in time that your stepdad is not all that bad.

Dear Friend to Friend:

I feel really confused, and I don't have an answer to clear it all up -- that's why I need help.

Recently, I started going out with this guy, and I can't complain -- I always have a great time. The problem is that I've started to care, and I don't think he has.

It's not that I love him or anything. I would just like to know he cares and that he wants to date me. And I want him to know I care. I've tried to talk to him before about it but he seems to think I'm getting upset over stupid little things.

I think I pushed him too far the other day -- he's not speaking to me. I'm not sure if he's fed up with me or if he's waiting for me to apologize. I am totally confused.

One-Sided

Dear One-Sided:

Relationships are often very confusing because you don't know what the other person is thinking. We feel in this situation it is extremely important that you figure out what you want before you approach him.

You mentioned in your letter that you always have a great time with him, yet you are complaining because you're not sure if he cares. What is it you want: fun on a date or a boyfriend who shows in some other way that he likes you and cares about you? Do you want a long-term commitment from him?

You will need to decide these things for yourself before yourself before you can confront him and ask him what he wants out of the relationship. Perhaps he's just as unsure and sometimes confused as you.

Another point to keep in mind: Quite often boys do not want to make the same kind of emotional commitment as girls do. And they often have greater difficulty dealing with their feelings. Respect that this is frequently the reality of the situation and be sure of what you want from the relationship.

Dear Friend to Friend:

I am having a hard time dealing with being so far away from home. I moved because I was having problems with my home life.

Now that I'm here, I'm homesick. I like living here, but I can't handle living out in the middle of nowhere. I miss my friends, but most of all, I miss a very close friend.

I love him, but he's there in Clarkston, and I'm here. He's having problems, and I wish I could be there to help him. He's been doing a lot of drugs (including cocaine), and I'm very concerned for him. I talk to him, but he doesn't understand what's happening to him.

He's the sweetest guy in the world, but he had a couple of weeks in which he had several -- let's call them spats -- with his friends and even with me, which has never happened before. Could you please tell me what I should do?

Concerned With Home

Dear Concerned With Home:

We actually see two problems you are trying to solve: being too far from home and your concern for your friend.

You sound very homesick, and we're not sure from your letter what your options are. If the move is temporary, perhaps your knowing you'll be returning will help you get through the homesickness.

However, if this is a permanent situation, one way to adjust is to get some new friends where you're at. any move is a major stressor, and you are not unique in feeling this pain.

Get involved in activities where you are, make some new friends, and maybe find a counselor or therapist you can talk to regularly.

The other problem may be the more difficult one. It is really hard to see someone you care about taking a self-destructive course. Then, to be so far away increases

Club notes

The Juniors of Chief Pontiac #377 American Legion have volunteered a lot recently.

They bowled in a special education bowl-a-thon, raising $1,000, and held Christmas parties at two nursing homes, taking a gift, candy, ice cream and cookies and Santa Claus.

Members took gifts to the veterans at the Battle Creek V. A. Hospital, the Legion Villa and the veterans at Clinton Valley Center.

The group also visited their "adopted" boy at Oakdale Center in Lapeer, where they held a pizza party and gave gifts to 50 boys. Another party was given for 100 veterans' children at the Legion Hall.

A Rock-a-thon raised money for muscular dystrophy, and an upcoming bowl-a-thon is also to raise money to fight the disease.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hubbach of Bridge Lake Road, Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Erica Lianne, to Randall Scott Koerber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randall G. What's Cooking

Pat Young

In honor of George

February is a big month for cherries, thanks to George Washington and his celebrated cherry tree. Here is an unusual and tasty side dish that will go with nicely any meat entree. And leftovers will keep well in the refrigerator for another meal.

BLACK CHERRY CHUTNEY

4 cups ripe fresh or frozen sweet black cherries, pitted
1/4 cup red wine vinegar
1/4 cup dark brown sugar
1/4 cup molasses
2 cloves garlic, peeled and chopped
1 bay leaf
2 small hot peppers
3 whole cloves
2 teaspoons green peppercorns
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
Freshly ground pepper

Combine all ingredients in a stainless-steel pot. Cook covered for 30 minutes over low heat, stirring every 15 minutes.

Uncover and continue to cook, stirring often, until the mixture is the consistency of jam, about 20 minutes more. Always keep 1/4 inch of liquid on the surface. If the chutney starts to dry up or stick to the pot, add 1/4 cup water at a time.

Pet of the Week

Simply elegant

Adina is a beautiful, pure-bred Afghan hound. She's 2 1/2 years old, and her long, brindle-colored gray and brown fur has a silvery appearance.

This pet would be best in a one-person home, because she tends to get attached to one individual. She is well mannered and in very good condition.

Adina can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The adoption fee is $35. She is already spayed.

Dad surprised by invitation from all seven girls

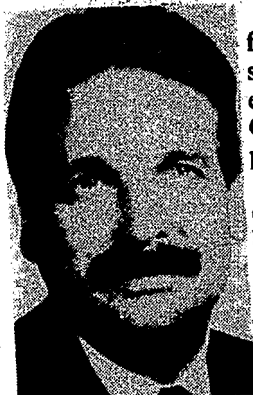

(DAD, from Page 35)

"One thing that's nice about so many sisters is that we borrow each other's clothes," Catherine offers. "When we come home, our wardrobe expands," Anne adds.

Alicia, the ringleader of the daddy-daughter dance plans, has decorated the house for the occasion.

Business Briefs

Advisor appointed

Robert Olsen

Robert A. Olsen, a chartered financial consultant in the Clarkston area, has recently been elected as chairman of the Oakland County Local Development Corporation.

The purpose of the non-profit organization is to promote small business in the Clarkston and surrounding areas by offering small business loans in conjunction with banks at below market interest rates and terms.

Olsen was appointed to the position by a board of 31 members.

Winner announced

The winner of the Valentine's Day "Colombear" at Yogurt and Yesterdays was announced on Valentine's Day.

Staci Cool of Amy Drive, Independence Township, was the lucky person to win the drawing for the huge, cuddly bear at the Dixie Highway, Independence Township, business.

Roses adorn the table where Valentine cookies are laid out in a festive pattern.

Irene and her daughters have shelled shrimp that Catherine brought up from Louisiana. Vincent thinks he is taking Alicia out to dinner. He doesn't know that he and all seven daughters, plus Irene and Peter, will be enjoying a festive meal of stir-fry that the girls prepared at home.

More stories are told, and more laughter spills from the living room as Veronica recalls the time she and classmates "emptied the library of books" during their senior year.

Peter, watching out the window for the arrival of Vincent, sees him pull into the driveway.

"He's here!" is whispered in unison as the daughters line up on the couch.

Vincent walks in the front door, immediately suspicious when he sees Irene grinning. He peeks around the corner into the living room.

He stands there, just for an instant, with a very surprised look on his face before saying, "Are you kidding?"

"Hi, dad!" comes the response from seven daughters. "Can we go to the dance with you?"

THE RAUTH FAMILY pose for a partial family portrait before the dance last Friday. In back, from left, are Catherine, Veronica, Mary,

7th graders win poetry contest

Two Clarkston Junior High School seventh graders won poetry honors in a National Poetry Contest sponsored annually by The Macomb Fantasy Factory in Mount Clemens.

Ashli Ball, 12, and Kristy Swartout, 12, wrote the winning poetry as elementary students and had the work submitted last spring by their teachers.

Ashli's poem, "Rainbows and Roses," captured third place in the youth division, earning her a cash prize and a certificate of merit. Ashli also received an honorable mention in the youth division for her poem, "My Fellowship Runner in the Sky."

Kristy received an honorable mention for her poem, "The Cemetery," inspired by a classroom project at the Sashabaw Plains Cemetery. She also received a certificate of merit.

In addition, both girls will have their work published in an upcoming chapbook, "Ego Flights."

Kristy credits her ability to her parents' influence. "My dad's an English teacher," she explained.

Ashli, meanwhile, said that the words just come to her when she thinks about her topic.

"I usually write when I'm bored," Ashli said.

By Tracy King

NATIONAL POETRY CONTEST winners: Ashli Ball (far right) and Kristy Swartout are congratulated by their former teachers Sue Banworth (far left) and Joanne Strobel. The winning poetry, written by the Clarkston Junior High students as class projects, is to appear in an upcoming book published by The Macomb Fantasy Factory.

Sad to be away

your feelings of helplessness.

The truth is, though, that even if you were right here in Clarkston, you might still feel very helpless and inadequate. The "spats" are very likely a result of his drug usage. Many people take drugs to escape their problems not realizing this complicates their lives.

One thing you can do is keep pointing out what his behavior is and how it is hurting him. don't lecture and turn him off, but let him know you care and that you consider him an important person in your life, and you want him to use his outstanding qualities in a better way.

You alone cannot change him or be responsible for him. Please let us know how this works out and how you are doing.

Friend to Friend is provided by a panel of Clarkston High School students working under AWARE, a community organization dedicated to action and education against substance abuse. Letters may be addressed in care of The Clarkston News, 5-S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48016.

Drop off used books for a good cause

The Independence Township library will soon open the book on another Friend of the Library sale. Donations of mysteries, romances, westerns fiction or non-fiction are now being accepted at the library on Clarkston Road during regular business hours. Textbooks and magazines cannot be accepted, but paperbacks in good condition are needed. Proceeds from the annual sale, slated for April, will be used in selected library programs. Ideas, costumes wanted for summer picnic

Community groups and individuals may be interested in helping plan a "Flashback to Summer" celebration at Independence Oaks County Park.

Sponsored by the county parks and recreation and the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, the event is planned for noon Saturday, May 20, at the county park on Sashabaw Road.

Activities are to evolve around the food, games and entertainment of each era (1800's-1900, 1920's-'40's, 1950's-'60's, and 1970's to present).

But the organizers are looking for people with innovative ideas, costumes or knowledge of those eras. Donations are also being accepted for raffle prizes and awards.

The day's festivities are to conclude with a waterski show and fireworks display. Last year's Old Fashioned Picnic was attended by over 8,000 people.

For more information, call 625-8223.

Ball benefits Rainbow

A Sweetheart Ball is planned to benefit Rainbow Connection, a locally based organization which grants wishes for terminally ill children.

The benefit ball is set for 8 p.m. to midnight on Saturday, March 4, at the home of Clarence and Sharron Catallo of Clarkston. Black tie is optional.

Tickets for the event at $125 per couple are available by contacting Pati Campbell at Rainbow Connection, 666-2800, or Janet Vernier at 625-2721. Tickets are limited to 75 couples, and the deadline for purchasing is Feb. 25.

THE FINAL FIVE are surrounded by a sea of empty chairs in Room 5 during the CJHS spelling bee. From left are Shea Kammer (1st place), Stephen Locher (5th place), Chris Ditmyer (3rd place), Andrea Matzelle (2nd place) and Jill Theryoung (4th place).

8th grader wins bee on 'vicious'

Over 400 words were used to eliminate all but one of Clarkston Junior High School's 10 best spellers.

Eighth-grader Shea Kammer first spelled "jackal," the word missed by runner-up Andrea Matzelle, then spelled "vicious" to take the win.

"I felt pretty good," he said when the competition was over on Feb. 7.

For winning, he'll get a dictionary with his name on it and will advance to the March 17 countywide spelling bee, sponsored by Lawrence Institute of Technology and The Detroit News.

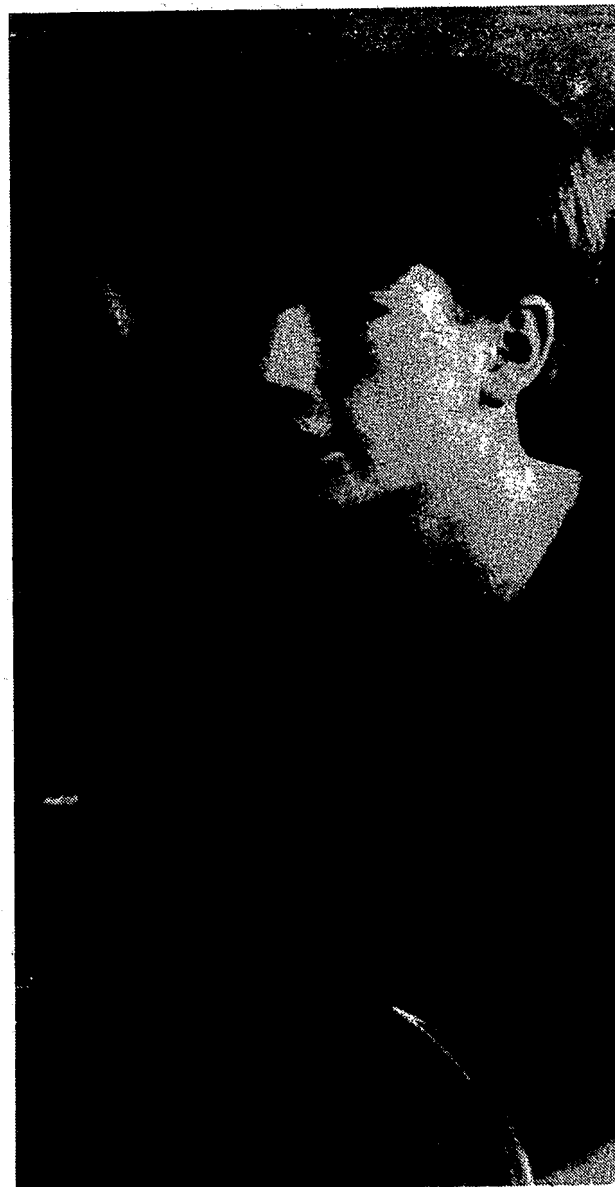

It was tough competition this year, said pronouncer, Barbara Glover.

The 10 spellers competing in the final competition at CJHS finished tops of 107 spellers at the school, she said.

The finalists were: Kammer, 8th grade, first place; Matzelle, 8th grade, second place; Chris Ditmyer, 7th grade, third place; Jill Theryoung, 7th grade, fourth place; Stephen Locher, 8th grade, fifth place; Kristy Barefoot, 6th grade, sixth place; Jon Dean, 6th grade, seventh place; Joel Sandford, sixth grade, 8th place; Christa Herron, 7th grade, ninth place; and Bill Gordon, 7th grade, tenth place.

Judges for the spelling bee were Suvonne Hogan and Gerry Ostrom.

By Julie Campe

"VICIOUS" is the winning word in the annual spelling bee at Clarkston Junior High School, where eighth-grader Shea Kammer coolly spells it correctly.
