Bond fails by 55 votes

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Staff Writer

Voters narrowly defeated a $1.5 million bond issue March 28 that would have covered costs of relocating the Independence Township central fire station to the former Hosler Pontiac property on M-15.

With 7 percent voter turnout, the issue failed by 55 votes, with 471 yes votes and 526 no votes. The unofficial results were in from the township's 12 precincts by about 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Lawsuit filed over recycling

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Staff Writer

A much publicized plan to locate a cardboard sorting facility in Independence Township is now in the hands of a circuit court judge.

R.J. Hoffman Mangement, Inc., filed a lawsuit against Independence Township March 22, two weeks after township planning commission members voted unanimously to withdraw a special use permit previously granted for the 10-acre sorting facility proposed for White Lake Road.

In Independence Township, recycling facilities require a special use permit to operate.

A hearing was set for March 29 before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Gene Schnelz to allow lawyers for the planning commission to show why the relief should not be granted.

The suit seeks damages in excess of $10,000 for costs Hoffman incurred and asks that the special land use permit be reinstated, that site plans and permits for the facility be approved and that the township be prevented from interfering in the development of the facility.

Time officially begins at 2 a.m. on Sunday, April 2. But residents who don't want to stay up that late should just remember to set their clocks ahead one hour before retiring on Saturday night, April 1.

"Obviously it was a very light turnout," said township Clerk Richard Holman after all the votes had been tabulated. "We were cautiously optimistic. We knew it was close."

"That site is out of the question now," Holman added. Voters were asked whether the township should borrow the $1.5 million dollars and issue general obligation bonds to acquire, construct, renovate, furnish and equip the former Hosler structure for use as a public safety complex.

Along with the central fire station, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department had planned to relocate their substation in the facility. State police were considering a move into the facility as well.

If approved, the bond issue would have cost an average homeowner with a $100,000 house $20.15 a year in extra taxes.

To repay the bonds the township would have levied about .403 mills over about 20 years. One mill is $1.00 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation.

"The election came on the heels of a big assessment issue, but we thought the project still had a lot of merit," Holman said.

Fire Chief Gar Wilson said the facility was sorely needed because the present station on E. Church Street

Dixie easements needed for spring construction

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Staff Writer

A water main along Dixie Highway is scheduled for spring construction if the township completes easement negotiations with property owners.

An easement grants the right to use property owned by another for such things as roads, sewers or utilities; but not all property owners have agreed to let the township cross their property with the underground water line.

The township offered $1 to several property owners on the east side of Dixie Highway for easements needed before work on the main can begin. Of about 15 easements needed, five property owners have not yet signed the easement agreements.

Township board members voted unanimously March 21 to offer the five owners fair market value for the 12-foot strips of land needed for easements.

If the owners reject the offer, the township will begin land condemnation proceedings, which if successful, would legally force the landowner to sell the property to the township.

Township Clerk Richard Holman told the board that not all five property owners are unwilling to accept the one dollar price but that some owners have been unreachable.

The properties are all thought to be used commercially, said Ronk.

Last February, township attorneys settled a long dispute with property owner John T. Long over an easement across his property for the water main expansion.

Part of that agreement stipulated that work on the main shall be performed on a Sunday or when businesses are closed; work shall be completed within the day started; and that the premises would be restored to their original condition.

The conditions would apply in each agreement reached.

"This water main extension would be a real benefit (to property owners). There would be no real damage to their property in construction," Ronk said.

Once all easements are obtained, the township plans to hook together two to three water systems to act as a back-up in case of water failure in the area. was badly cramped.

The new facility would have been better located to quickly serve residents living in the north end of the township and would have provided better access onto M-15, Wilson said.

The township probably won't discuss plans for locating the public safety complex anywhere else in the township during the current township board term, Holman said.

Water tower planned for Dixie Hwy.

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Staff Writer

Those passing the corner of Dixie Highway and White Lake Road in Independence Township may soon see a new elevated water tower.

Township board members voted unanimously March 21 to authorize engineering plans for the project, along with a sanitary sewer project planned for Dixie Highway and White Lake Road.

Once the plans are drafted, the township and the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) boards must approve the projects.

The engineering plans are needed to determine the cost of the projects. If approved, the projects will be paid for by money borrowed by the township's DDA.

The DDA was established along parts of M-15 and Dixie Highway in 1986 to promote development of business districts by improving the landscaping, roads and sewer and water service.

. In January, board members decided that future downtown improvements in the area should be financed with the sale of government bonds — a debt to be repaid from future tax revenue generated within the DDA. Voters would not be asked to approve a tax increase.

The water tower is expected to hold 400,000 gallons of water when completed. Board members will consider its type and design at a later date.

"The water tower is needed in conjunction with our entire system," said Supervisor Frank Ronk later. "We need a reservoir to give us adequate pressure, and individual pump houses just won't do that."

Ronk said another water tank is planned for the future on department of public works property on Flemings Lake Road.

The sanitary sewer improvements are planned along the south end of Deer Lake Road from White Lake Road to Dixie, including Sagamore. The 12-inch sanitary sewer line was estimated at more than $400,000, according to engineers from Hubbel, Roth and Clark, Inc.

"It would open up that entire Dixie area, and would allow development along Dixie to go with the sanitary sewer," said Supervisor Frank Ronk.

"DDA money would be used to benefit property owners within the DDA but also residents along Phelan (Drive)," said Clerk Richard Holman.

Wetlands board formed

In an effort to preserve nature, the Clarkston Village Council recently appointed members to a wetlands board of review.

Trustee Douglas Roeser, Jackson Byers, Ruth Basinger and Barbara Thomson comprise the board with one position still open, said Roeser.

The village's wetlands ordinance and its board of review are patterned after the ordinance and board developed by Independence Township, the village council trustee said.

"Theirs has been very beneficial, and (the village's) should be very valuable and protect our wetlands," he said. The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., March 29, 1989 3

The April Fool

In France the victim is an "April fish." In Scotland the fooled person is called "gowk," which means a cuckoo, the emblem of simpletons.

For centuries, the custom of playing practical jokes on April 1 has been observed in countries around the world; yet its origins are unknown.

One theory relates the strange holiday, sometimes known as All Fools' Day, to the vernal equinox, which occurs on March 21. This is a time when nature "fools" mankind with sudden changes in the weather.

なる時代に

The playing of April Fools' jokes was brought to America by the British and has continued to be observed by adults and children alike. One thing is certain, on April Fools' Day, all people have an excuse to play the fool.

Be cautious of strangers at the door

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Staff Writer

Common sense is the best way to deal with strangers who come to the door, according to police.

Last week, a Lakeview Drive, Independence Township, resident called police after a man came to her door asking to use her telephone. The man became angry when she refused.

The ploy is often used by robbers, according to detectives at the Oakland County Sheriff Department (OCSD).

"That's the way breaking and entering (suspects) operate," said Sgt. Thomas Quisenberry.

"They knock on the door to see if anyone is home and then ask if Joe lives here," Quisenberry said, as an example.

He added that although the Lakeview Drive incident was the only recent case he knew of, similar incidents may go unreported.

"An officer may take down the information, write it into his notebook and alert other officers but won't write a report. There just isn't a whole lot there."

Quisenberry said residents may notice an increase in solicitation from vendors; some may be operating without a township license allowing them to go door-todoor.

"Vendors may come around and drop off about 10-12 people to go door-to-door to sell a service. They may look shady, but they're there for a reason."

If a suspicious-looking person comes to the door, residents are encouraged to get an accurate description of the subject and any vehicle that he is driving and call police, Quisenberry said.

police, Quisenberry said. Use common sense, he advised, and residents shouldn't let anyone inside unless they know them.

Andersonville pupils "read for rainbows"

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

Kermit the Frog would have been proud of their rendition of his famous song, "Rainbow Connection." The pupils were having a great time. And there probably wasn't a dry eye among the staff involved in the finale of Andersonville School's Reading for a Rainbow project.

In conjunction with Reading Month in Michigan, the staff of Andersonville School designed a program which combined the "joy of reading with the spirit and pleasure of giving," according to a newsletter sent home to parents.

The pupils gathered pledges and donations for the books they read over a three-week period and gave the money to the Rainbow Connection, a non-profit, Clarkston-based organization which grants wishes to terminally ill children.

The program kicked off on March 1 with teachers dressed up as their favorite storybook character --- everyone was there from Raggedy Ann and Andy to Pippi Longstocking - and the pupils infused with a liberal dose of spirit for the project.

The program ended on March 23 with an emotional assembly where the pupils sang rainbow songs and heard Pati Campbell, executive director of the Rainbow Connection, tell them that their donation would help send a little girl named Melissa and her family to Disney World for three days. That is as long as Melissa can be away from a dialysis machine, because she has lost her kidneys to disease.

March was a special month at Andersonville. Outside every room was a rainbow with a pot of gold coins at the end of it. The students earned points for reading books, and for every five points they earned a gold coin for the pot of gold. For every 10 points they earned a chocolate "gold coin."

At the finale, pupils who earned the highest number of points were awarded certificates. School wide, there were a total of 10,056 points earned for books read. How points were earned varied by grades, but that figure represented a lot of reading.

In addition to points, the children earned money from their pledges for the Rainbow Connection. Their goal was $1,000, which they exceeded by giving Campbell a check for $1,378.05.

Chairman of the rainbow project at Andersonville was kindergarten teacher Debbie Licata. Also on the committee were teachers Susan Powers, Mary Schulte, Patricia Moore and Gloria Lacy.

Licata, Powers and Schulte spent a lot of time the day before the finale frosting "rainbow cakes" for the children to eat after the assembly. The supplies were purchased, along with rainbow sherbet, at a special price from A & P and Krogers stores.

"The whole staff supported the program. And there were also tons of parent volunteers and a $50 donation from the PTO to purchase prizes (such as the chocolate coins)," said Principal Sharon Deveraux.

Pupils and staff could also purchase rainbow Tshirts at cost, which were sold as a "spirit raiser," she said.

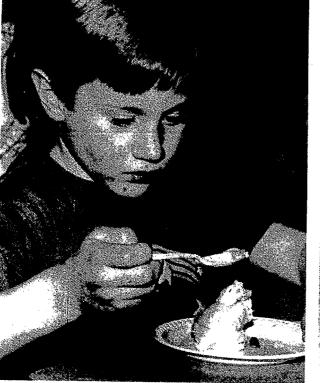

But there was no shortage of spirit at the assembly last week. While the children locked hands and swayed to the tunes of rainbow songs, some of the words of one song they sang, "The World is a Rainbow," seemed particularly appropriate for the occasion:

"The world is a rainbow, with many kinds of people, and when we work together, it's such a sight to see."

program which took place in March at Andersonville School, culminated with an assembly on March 23. Pupils clasped hands and sang rainbow songs, and gave a $1,378.05 donation to Rainbow Connection, raised by pledges and donations they earned reading books.

Reese Road teen hang-out targeted for demolition

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Staff Writer

An old barn used by area teens for parties is the latest target for demolition under Independence Township's property maintenance ordinance.

The owner of the 100-year-old barn on Reese Road near Bitterbush, Independence Township, was given 30 days to demolish the property. The township board voted unanimously on the action March 21.

After 30 days, the township will take action in circuit court to have the structure razed in accordance with the ordinance.

Ordinance enforcement officer Don Phillips told the board that he inspected the barn and found large holes in the flooring, broken floor joists and a crumbling foundation.

Residents have reported lights flickering inside the barn in the early hours of the morning, Phillips said, and beer cans were found scattered inside.

There was also some evidence of satanic worship found in the house, Phillips said.

"There was more in the house, but in the barn, there was a lot of spray-painted names of heavy metal groups (that sing about satanic material), Phillips said later.

In the house, inspectors found feathers and something that had been burned in a metal tray, Phillips added.

Phillips told board members that the structure was sound and could be fixed, however.

The only resident speaking during the public hearing on the violation denied that the building was reparable.

"The building is about to fall down," said Hugh Shanahan, of Bitterbush, Independence Township. "It would take a major renovation and thousands of dollars to close that building up. My biggest fear is that a child can get in there."

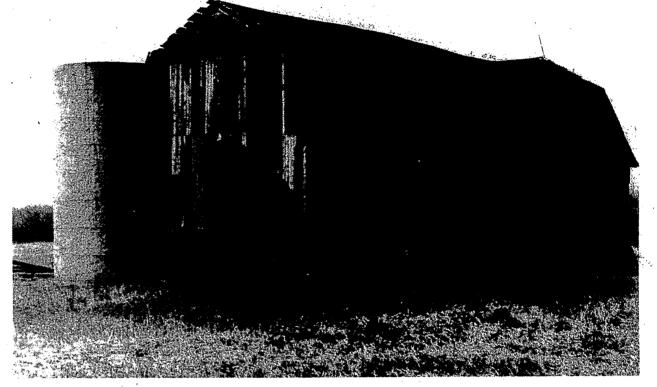

Shanahan told the board that the Oakland County Sheriff's Department had received 57 separate calls about incidents at the property and that he, himself, had stopped teens at the barn 12 times.

"It's a fairly serious problem; there is a potential to have someone injured in the building," he said.

Phillips told board members that a house on the property had burned three times before finally burning to the ground. The owner had been asked to board up the house with "little cooperation," Phillips said. Phillips added that he had spoken with the owner the previous day, and that the owner said he would board up the barn's doors during the first week of April.

Fire Chief Gar Wilson told the board that the fire marshall had found signs of fires inside the barn in the form of campfires.

"When the house burned, was boarded up," Wilson said. "You can't stop them from getting in."

RESIDENTS COMPLAINING of teen parties in a dilapidated barn on Reese Road near Bitterbush prompted Independence Township Board members to call for its demolition. The owner has 30 days to tear it down before the board takes court action.

A modern-day Abe Lincoln appeared the other day, although he wasn't quite as tall as our 16th president.

His name was Kevin, and he appeared amidst the commotion of lunch in this busy and crowded Clarkston News office.

We had ordered carry-out luncheon specials from that new Chinese restaurant, Empire Szechuan Garden, on Dixie Highway just across the Independence Township border in Waterford Township.

We had just finished unpacking the carefully packaged food when we discovered that a bowl of soup was missing.

Before we could even pick up a telephone, in came Kevin, apologizing for forgetting our soup. He realized right after we left that we didn't have that bowl of won ton, so he immediately drove it to US.

No, he didn't exactly walk a dusty road for miles as Lincoln did to return a nickel (according to legend), but he did brave a left turn onto one of the most treacherous stretches of roads in the area — the dreaded Dixie Highway near Andersonville Road — and all for a bowl of soup.

I tasted my first detergent-scrubbed broccoli last night. It tasted like soap with a little aftertaste of broccoli.

As a kid, I didn't like that green stuff. It looked like small trees. I only began eating it a few years ago (it tastes good now), and I began eating a lot of it after my dad gave me the umpteenth article on what foods to eat to prevent cancer and reduce risk of heart disease.

I guess I have my dad and Meryl Streep to thank for my latest culinary dish.

My computer printer blew a fuse last Wednesday, and it's still in the repair shop. It's a major inconvenience, but it's not as bad as what happened at deadline Monday.

On Monday, I somehow damaged an entire disk full of stories, representing a whole day's work for reporter Pat Young.

For about a half hour, it was a major stressout. We tried all sorts of tricks on the computer to make it find those stories on that disk, even though they didn't show up on the directory.

Finally, Computer Whiz Luan came through with a secret key to it all, and we could call up the stories intermingled with computer symbols. Then, we even found the stories in real words.

Letters to the Editor

In full support of assistant principal

We are outraged at the hypocritical action of the Clarkston Community Schools administration toward Assistant Principal of Clarkston Senior High School Jan Gabier.

Jan Gabier has been with Clarkston since 1961 and served as an administrator since 1970. We have both attended Clarkston High School and saw several administrators in a short period trying to run the school.

Jan Gabier was the only stable person to be there through it all. Each of us have seen her deal effectively with students and the public. She was always willing to help students who needed or wanted help. Jan Gabier has given Clarkston High School stability and effective discipline throughout her career.

The reason for letting Jan Gabier go is based on ...complaints from students and parents relative to Gabier's conduct in discipline-attendance and her `unacceptable' style in managing crisis and confrontations.'

Neither one of us remember her dealing with anyone in an "unacceptable" manner. The people who Miss Gabier must continually confront are the people who are frequently absent without an excuse: both of us have repeatedly seen parents come in and sanctify their "Little Angel" from all wrong doing (even missing four our more days of school without parent consent). Often these people became angry and belligerent at the person in charge of disciplinary action and report them to someone at a higher level.

All persons in a role of disciplinarian receive these derogatory complaints. This does not justify the dismissal or demotion of Jan Gabier.

In school we are taught we must work effectively. with others around us because there will always be someone you do not agree with. It is time for the administration to practice what they preach at all levels,

We hope the board will make the correct decision to keep Jan Gabier as Assistant Principal of Clarkston High School. If this does not happen, it will give the sad description of the "professionals" that are trying to run Clarkston Schools.

And may we suggest to Miss Gabier, if the outcome is not to your satisfaction the administration could be held liable for professional discrimination.

Unclear coverage

The Clarkston Body Recall exercise group was very disappointed in your recent coverage (Feb. 22). We are concerned that readers might misconstrue our program.

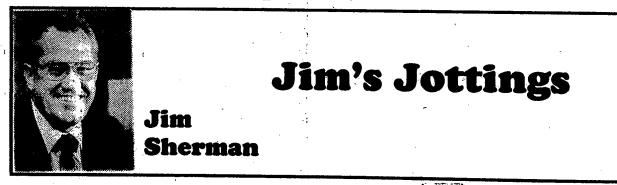

We question the full page layout with only two pictures and little pertinent information. The two conspicuous blank spaces were sufficient enough for a clear, concise explanation of our purposes and goals. An hour of observation and picture taking resulted, in our opinions, in a definite lack of clarity.

Body Recall is beneficial physically to all ages. A few remarks from various persons would have confirmed favorable results experienced. More representative photos of our exercised might have been included.

In order to stimulate interest and understanding among readers, we hope any future coverage will prove more productive.

Let off some steam by writing a letter to The News' editor

I should have read Harvey Mackay's motivational book "Swim with the sharks (without being eaten alive)". But, since Gratiot County Herald publisher Bob MacDonald did read it, and he put the most remembered story in the book in his weekly column, I can just repeat it.

"The founder of Holiday Inns, Kemmons Wilson, never got his high school diploma, but they asked him back anyway to-give the commencement' address to a graduating class at the school he: attended. He said, 'I really don't know why I'm here. I never got a degree, and I've only worked half days

Clarkston couple visit foreign land

March 17, 1989 Kathmandu, Nepal

"India is the world's only functioning anarchy." -Nayan Momaya, Bombay businessman.

Carrie and I arrived in New Delhi, India, via Athens on Jan. 25. Here Carrie had her first introduction to the "Toot-Toot"or auto-rickshaw. The name "Toot-toot" comes from the driver's constant honking of the horn. In India there is a saying, "You can drive without brains but you can't drive without a horn."

The following day (Jan. 26) was Republic Day, celebrating the anniversary of India's establishment as a republic in 1950.

Each year there is a most spectacular and enormously colorful military parade. We witnessed various marching army regiments followed by the navy.

When the air force marchers passed, low-flying jets awed the crowd. Then came 100 elephants with mounted riders followed by the camel corps followed by more marchers and then tanks and other vehicles. After the military came floats of different Indian states and government agencies. All in all, it was an amazing parade.

Our stay in New Delhi included visiting the Mahatma Gandhi Museum, an international doll museum plus the Red Fort which dates from 1648.

Inside the Red Fort we felt the city noise and confusion were light years away from the fort gardens and pavilions.

From New Delhi we traveled by train southwest to Jaipur. Located in a desert-like landscape in the state of Rasjastan, Jaipur is a very colorful city.

The bazaar is a carnival of activity with fruit venders next to cloth merchants, small bicycle repair shops squeezed between stalls selling jewelry, everywhere hindu temples dedicated to various deities and sacred cows wandering aimlessly.

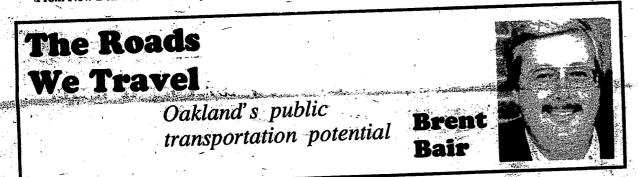

Jaipur is also known as the "Pink City" from the pink-colored sandstone with which the buildings in its old, walled city are constructed. In Jaipur, we met Ed and Vicki, a British-New Zealand couple, and traveled with them through much of Rasjastan.

Near the desert, we stayed for a few days in the delightful little village of Pushkar. Clinging to the edge of a lake, Pushkar is a scared Hindu-city and strictly vegetarian.

During our stay there, Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi came to pray at Pushkar's famous Hindu temples. One of our favorite amusements was watching the wild monkeys that lived in the trees next to our hotel.

Traveling still southwest, we arrived at the lake city of Udaipur. The city's most famous sight, the Lake Palace, was used as a location for a recent James Bond movie ("Octopussy"). We met an Indian man who had a part in this film, and he showed us different parts of the city used in the filming.

The Lake Palace was built in 1754 by Maharana Jagat Singh II. It covers an entire island. Today, the Lake Palace has been converted into a luxury hotel. One (See TRAVELERS, next page)

I've been asked to comment about the potential of public transportation (transit) in Oakland County.

For those of you who have been following this column, the first question that could come to mind might be, "What qualifies this person who writes about roads to comment on the potential of public transportation?" Well, not only did the master's degree level transportation planning program I went through spend a lot of time on transit planning, but I eventually taught a graduate level course on the subject and pursued funding for a Ph.D: dissertation on the topic of performance measures for transit funding.

Yes, I actually worked as a consultant for cities planning the location of bus routes. In fact, one of the reasons I was offered employment in Oakland County was because of this background, in addition to my "roads" background.

Given all of that, what do I think is the potential of public transportation solving our transportation problems in Oakland County? ÷.

de you with a very

It costs a lot of money for both the bus and driver all day long. Once you make it to work, who rides the bus during the middle of the day? Will the route go past shopping areas to serve and thus be able to serve travel needs other than work trips?

Consider where all of our employment sites are today. Are they clustered together so they can be easily served by public transportation.

No, they are the new office buildings in Southfield, Troy, Farmington Hills, Novi and soon ... Auburn Hills. Due to our recent development patterns, there simply are not enough people traveling from any given "A" to some other "B" to be able to justify running rail systems or even fixed route bus systems between those points.

The term "justify" must ultimately relate to the perception of the taxpayers who must pay for such service, since the revenues from the fare box seldom cover the full cost of providing this transportation alternative.

As an aside, it is interesting to note that taxpayers tend to criticize when a bus runs relatively empty mid-day or in the evenings but have no problem with the fact the there is little traffic on the roads or freeways they might travel at those same times of day.

There are a lot of red-blooded American males out there. Sometimes they father the children of unwed mothers. Sometimes they squeeze the buttocks of a passing waitress. Women should beware of the red-blooded American male female-fanny-clutcher, especially in close quarters.

The close quarters warning was implied by Thomas Kizer, the lawyer defending Livingston County-Sheriff Dennis DeBurton against accusations that DeBurton twice clutched the rear end of a waitress during a party at the Chemung Hills Country Club in Howell, and also grabbed her by the arm.

While denying the allegations, Kizer said the waitress was "making a mountain out of a molehill ... Given the circumstances - a social event at a private facility where people are in close quarters, where there is a lot of camaraderie and people are having a drink or two - this is an abuse of the criminal process."

I guess that means the only time it's criminal for a man to give a woman an unwanted clutch is if it happens in a public setting, there's no party in progress, no spirit of fellowship evident, no booze being served, and he has to reach across an empty room to grab her bottom.

The importance of red blood was stressed by baseball player Wade Boggs when a court ruled his former girlfriend couldn't sue him for allegedly accusing her of extortion in an FBI interview. She can only sue him for loss of income and expenses she claims Boggs owes her for the four years she traveled with him on road trips while his wife stayed home:

"One thing has to be put in perspective," Boggs said, "I did not commit a crime. It's not like I did drugs, or shot someone, or ended up in prison. You know, there are a lot of red-blooded American males out there.'

Certainly. And, beside red blood, a lot of them are also afflicted with large muscles, big heads and wandering hands - all dangerously susceptible to close quarters.

I'm reminded of what Detroit Councilwoman Barbara-Rose Collins said in a Detroit News interview concerning the possible political consequences of the well-publicized paternity charges against Mayor Coleman Young. It was no big deal: "Most people in Detroit are black and they know about black men," Collins said.

Does that mean black males like Young have more American red blood than males of other races?

In the same News article, the Rev. James Holley also made light of the possibility that Young may have fathered a child out of wedlock.

There are very few black men that don't have children outside of a (traditional) relationship," Holley said.

Male American red blood strikes again. Beyond psychiatry

Wade Boggs has blamed his extramarital excesses on a disease that makes him addicted to sex. One of the symptoms of this deadly disease is obviously American red blood. Should Boggs see a doctor? Yes, said Dennis (Oil

Can) Boyd, one of Boggs' Boston Red Sox teammates. ovd told some New England reporters that Boggs was a "sex fiend" and questioned the Red Sox organization for not sending Boggs to a psychiatrist. Boyd was apparently angry because when Boyd threw a temper tantrum in 1986, the Red Sox made him submit to a psychiatric evaluation.

opumistic picture because of my interest in transit. However, due to the development patterns that have occurred in Oakland County and the resulting travel patterns, the potential looks rather bleak.

Let's take a look at the types of public transportation we are most used to in other areas, namely "line haul" commuter rail service and "fixed route" bus serv-

In both cases, the transit service runs from point ice "A" to point "B." There have to be enough travelers living close enough to the route and wanting to go to points "B" (or "A" on the return trip) to make the service viable Now take a look around your neighborhood. How close do you live to a major road where a bus might run? How many of your neighbors work in the same area of the county as you do?

If a bus were to stop near your house and travel to near where you work, how many other people might live within convenient walking distance to a possible bus stop on the route to your work site and be willing to use this service?

It appears to be OK to spend lots of money and consume lots of land to provide extra lanes of roadway to accommodate rush-hour traffic, even though those extra lanes are not needed the remainder of the day; but it is not OK to use tax money to provide bus service that might not be used as much during the "off-peak" periods of the day. Interesting, isn't it?

All of the above might suggest a rather bleak picture. for the future of public transportation in Oakland County. Is that true? Is there nothing available that might help?

The answer is yes and yes. Yes, the potential of fixed route public transportation will be very limited for many years, but yes, there may be some other forms of public transportation, known as paratransit" that could help. I'll comment further on this in my next column.

Brent Bair is chairman of the Independence Township Planning Commission.

Was Boyd equating a mere temper problem with what happens to an American male afflicted with red blood? What nonsense.

It was recently revealed that Steve Garvey, retired baseball star, allegedly impregnated two women shortly before marrying a third woman. That gives you an idea how serious it can be for an American male to suffer from red blood.

Boyd should realize that Boggs is beyond psychiatry.

Surgery is probably the only cure. When it comes to the plight of the red-blooded American male; trapped in close quarters with camaraderie and a nontraditional relationship, it is important for everyone - especially women - to remember that boys will be boys.

And jerks will be jerks.

Worldwide travelers write on lifestyle in India

(TRAVELERS, from previous page) evening we splurged and dined there.

Eastward from Udaipur we passed through Jaipur to Agra. For me, the world's most beautiful building is the Taj Mahal, located in Agra.

Words cannot describe the amazing sensation that you feel walking toward the "Taj." You approach through a fort entrance upon pleasant landscaped gardens. At the opposite end of the garden there is a large plaza and another massive area with giant doors swung open. Crossing through this gateway, your eyes adjust to the cool darkness. A quick walk takes you into the sunlight, and there in sparkling white marble is the Taj Mahal.

The Taj Mahal has been described as the most extravagant monument ever built for love, constructed by Moghul Emperor Shan Jahan in memory of his wife, Mumtaz Mahal. The emperor was heartbroken when Mumtaz, to whom he had been married for 17 years, died in 1629 in childbirth, after producing their 14th child. Often, people will cry when they see the Taj Mahal. My wife. Carrie, certainly was teary eyed.

We flew from Agra to the remote central Indian village of Khajuraho. The temples of Khajuraho are one of India's major attractions. The temples are superb examples of Indo-Aryan architecture built between 950 to 1050 A.D. The designs surrounding the temples are exceedingly fine with artistic stonework depicting Indian life of 1,000 years ago.

The temples also are very erotic with two elements appearing over and over again and in greater detail than anything else --- women and sex. While in Khajuraho, we met a young Bombay couple and had an afternoon journey with them to a delightful treehouse lodge built over the Ken River.

In Khajuraho, the following conversation was between Carrie and a hotel employee after we had ordered an evening snack of tea and toast. Also, we requested a 6 a.m. wake-up call along with breakfast at 6 a.m. the next morning.

Knock, knock (we open the door).

"Yes?'

"You want toast and tea?"

"Yes."

"Well, here is coffee."

"No, we don't want coffee, only tea and toast." "OK."

He leaves and returns 10 minutes later and knocks on the door.

"Here is your tea and toast."

"Very good. Thank you."

"Tomorrow you want me to knock on your door at 6 a.m.?"

"Yes."

"Then at 6:30 a.m., after you get dressed, you'll have breakfast?"

"No, we must leave by taxi tomorrow at 6:30 a.m. so we must have our breakfast at 6 a.m."

'OK. You want me to wake you at 6 a.m. and bring your breakfast at 6:30 a.m.?"

"No! Wake us up at 6 a.m. and also bring us breakfast at 6 a.m. OK?" "OK. You want tea, toast and omelets?"

"Yes."

"Two omelets or one?"

"Two."

"OK. I wake you up at 6 a.m. and bring you two omelets, toast and tea at 6:30 a.m.?

"No! All at 6 a.m. Wake-up and breakfast, OK?" "OK, at 6 a.m. everything?"

"Yes, everything at 6 a.m. OK?"

"OK. See you tomorrow at 6 a.m. with breakfast. Good night."

"Good night."

The following morning we were awakened at 6:15 a.m., our breakfast came at 6:30 a.m. and our 6:30 taxi arrived at 7:30.

From Khajuraho we flew to Varanasi. Situated on the banks of the sacred Ganges River Varanasi is one of the most important Pilgrimage sites in India. Along the west bank of the Ganges are a long string of bathing ghats, or steps, leading down to the river. Also, there are "burning ghats" where bodies are cremated.

By row boat, we took a sunrise river tour on the Ganges. The Ganges is a very polluted river and into this filth thousands bathe, swim, brush their teeth and communicate with nature. Large pipes are spilling raw sewage into this holy river, and women nearby are washing laundry. It is most appalling.

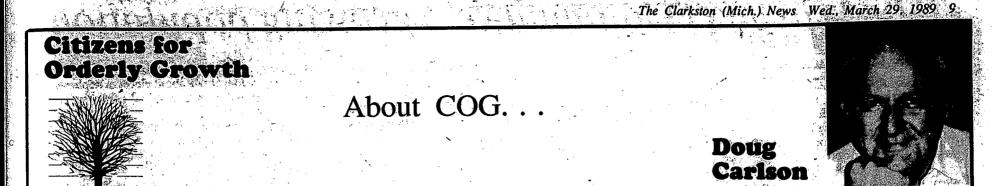

Later in the evening we flew from Varanasi, leaving India, to Kathmandu, Nepal.

All the best, Clarkston. Tom Wilford

Note: Tom and Carrie Wilford are son and daughterin-law to Jerome and Lucia Wilford of North Main Street in Clarkston. Tom is also a Clarkston High School graduate. Before leaving on their year-long journey around the world in December, the couple visited The Clarkston News and promised to send regular updates on their travel adventures. This letter is the second of their travelogue.

Some time ago, I talked to Julie Campe about the possibility of COG having a twice-monthly column in The Clarkston News as a public service.

Since Julie is familiar with our organization, and understands what it is we're trying to accomplish, she agreed wholeheartedly with our proposal. We thank her for this opportunity and hope it proves beneficial to all concerned.

Citizens for Orderly Growth (COG) was formed in 1987 by a group of Independence Township residents in anticipation of growth that is going to change Clarkston as we know it today.

COG is not against growth. Nor could we stop it if we wanted to. We simply want it to occur in such a way that the basic character of our township will not be lost.

We want to do everything we can to preserve the rural atmosphere and small-town lifestyle that we presently enjoy. In short, as business and industry move out I-75, we do not want a Rochester Hills to happen here. Therefore, we are concerned about every parcel of land within the township, not just those in and around the village.

At this point, I'd like to add that another group, similar to COG, has been formed which covers much of North Oakland County. This group, called the Northern Area Citizen's Conference, is comprised of residents in Orion, Independence, Oxford, Addison, Metamora and Dryden townships.

Their goals, much like our own, are to ascertain the aims and desires of residents of these townships and to promote the advancement of those aims through good inter-government planning and communication. I'll talk tore about this group in future articles

Basically, what COG is trying to do is act as a conduit between township residents and the township board, planning commission, and zoning board of appeals.

We want you, the residents, to know what they're contemplating, and we want them to know how you feel about their ideas. We plan to do this on a broad basis through this column in The Clarkston News.

In addition, we plan to notify residents in specific areas of pending zoning changes or potential development that is being considered for their areas. It is then up to those residents to let the township know how they feel about such development --- pro or con.

If requested, COG will try to help, if we can. We played such a role in the recent proposal to build a mobile home park on Mann Road in the far southeast corner of the township. We felt it was the type of development that residents in that area should be aware of.

The developer came to our meeting and presented his proposal to those in attendance. It gave nearby residents an opportunity to hear the developer's proposal first hand and to ask questions in a relaxed and informal atmosphere.

Prior to the developer presenting his proposal to the township planning commission, members of our group distributed flyers to more than 100 nearby residences, notifying them of the forthcoming meeting.

We like to think that our efforts contributed to the large number of people who attended that meeting.

Again, COG's primary role is to let you know what is being contemplated so that you can act accordingly. COG will take a position on an issue if it is one that we feel will have a significant impact on our township. Part of the basis for our position will be the townshipwide opinion survey which we took in 1988. This survey will be the subject of my next article.

Our meetings are the first Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot Street. Our next meeting is April 5th.

If you have any questions about COG or would like to become involved, please feel free to call me at 625-8474.

Doug Carlson is the chairman of Citizens for Orderly Growth.

Free blood pressure talk

A free high blood pressure program is offered through "Meet the Doctor," an ongoing series spon-sored by the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center.

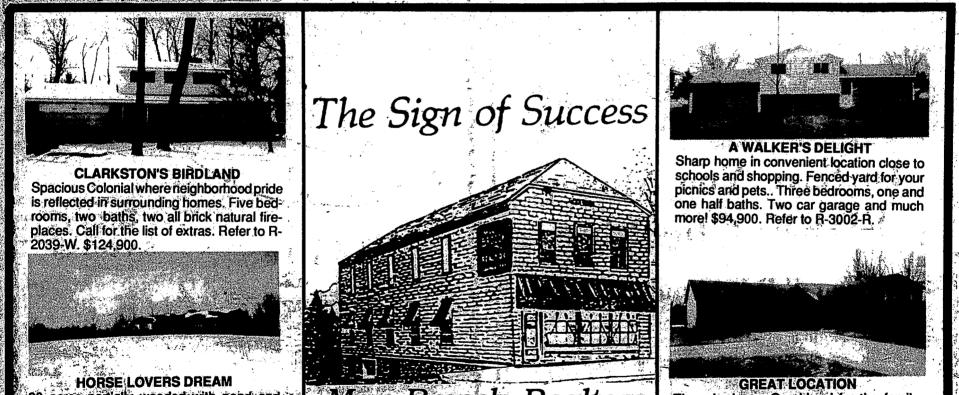

The program is from 7:30 to 8 p.m. on Wednesday, April 5, at Dr. James O'Neill's office, 5885 M-15, Independence Township.

It will be presented by Dr. Loren Baylis, a Clarkston family practice physician.

Topics to be considered include the body's reaction to high blood pressure, methods of treatment and prevention. There will be ample time for questions and comments.

About 55 million Americans suffer from high blood pressure.

THE REPORT OF A VIEW AND A REPORT OF A VIEW AND A VIEW AN

70 beds to meet Colombiere's growing population

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ailing Jesuit priests and brothers seeking health care in the area usually choose to live out their sunset years at Springfield Township's Colombiere Center, a structure centered in an expanse of property along the township's southeast border.

The rolling woodlands create an atmosphere of calm for residents of Colombiere; however, the center's 30-year-old building has long since outgrown the needs of residents hoping to find peace there.

Formerly a college, Colombiere is now home to about 55 Jesuits and Brothers from the Detroit-Chicago area. The program was established to house just 16 such residents.

Jesuits have been ordained as priests, whereas brothers have not been ordained but work in similar ways.

In addition to Colombiere's Jesuit infirmary, the building is also home to Insight, an alcohol and drug rehabilitation program, and serves as a conference center for various religious groups holding meeting and retreats.

Beginning in July, winds of change will blow through the facility, bringing with them noise, dust, laborers and a much needed renovation.

Theft foiled by alert neighbor

Two men were arrested after an alert neighbor reported them for allegedly stealing lumber from a nearby house.

The two were arraigned March 21 in 52nd District Court by Judge Gerald McNally. They were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court in a preliminary exam held the following day. Bond was set at $10,000 each; neither had posted a required 10 percent of the amount by March 24.

Curtis King 35, of Union Lake and Bobby Rush, 31, of Pontiac face charges of larceny over $100. The felony charge carries a mandatory five-year sentence if the suspects are convicted.

Police were called to a home in Heather Lake Estates off Clarkston Road, Independence Township, about 10:30 p.m. March 20, said Detective Sgt. Thomas Quisenberry of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD).

A neighbor had noticed the men loading wood into a pickup truck and called police, he said.

The neighbor gave police a description of the vehicle, and officers stopped the van down the street.

With the expansion, which will create 70 beds at ³ Colombiere, the center's staff is growing to better serve the Jesuit's social needs:

"We want to create diversion," explained Marylin Garner, who with Cheryl Kennedy, makes up the center's new special services department.

"The Jesuit's medical needs are met --physically they're taken care of -- but they have many, many other needs, like companionship."

In describing the need for volunteers, the staff at Colombiere revealed a glimpse of the Jesuit's lives at the center. Kennedy and Garner led the way down the wide carpeted hallways that make up the living quarters at Colombiere.

Most Jesuits and brothers choose to receive health care at Colombiere -- as opposed to other health care providers -- for the "community" they feel at the center, explained the Rev. Robert D' Amico, director at the center.

"It would be the difference between staying home with a private duty nurse, or going to a nursing facility, D'Amico said.

A laundry room and well-stocked kitchen are provided for those who prefer their own efforts to those of the staff. Several lounges invite residents interested in cards, TV or conversation. Various pets line cages and tanks along the hallways. The individual rooms, though small, are clean and bright. And individual chapels have been established for the Jesuits' private daily masses.

Although Colombiere is a comfortable, peaceful place, D'Amico admits that the adjustment from life outside Colombiere can be difficult.

"After 40 years of being heavily involved in the community, it can be quite traumatic. Often friends and

Rabies warning

The Oakland County Animal Control Division is warning residents to stay away from wild animals which may wind up in their back yards.

"We recently had an incident where a raccoon got in a fight with a dog and the raccoon tested positively for rabies, We caution residents to stay away from wild animals," said George Anderson, manager of the Animal Control Division.

Residents are urged to be wary of of wild raccoons and skunks they see during the daytime hours.

"These animals are nocturnal and shouldn't be out during the day. If they are, they are usually diseased," he said.

Anderson advised residents who see wild animals in their yards to call the animal control division at 391-4103. family can't come visit The median age of the Jesuits is 79-80. They no longer talk about nieces or nephews; they talk about grand-nieces or grand-nephews," Father D'Amico explained.

Another adjustment in Jesuits' lives is the manner in which they worship, Garner added.

"With spiritual functions (outside of Colombiere), the public would be involved. Their spiritual life here is very isolated. There is one place in the building where theygo. It would be nice if they could get out at times. The health care staff just doesn't have time to do that," she said.

That's where Kennedy and Garner fit in, D'Amico explained.

The two have begun providing Jesuits with social activities, on request, Garner said, adding that the request must be "within reason."

"We have a wood burning shop downstairs, and one resident likes wood burning, but he can't put the pattern on the wood any more. So we do the layout for him and he makes signs for us," she said.

"Yesterday we took two residents out to lunch," Kennedy added.

The two said that as residents learned more about what was available to them, the number of requests were growing, along with the need for more volunteers.

Among the typical requests of Jesuits are writing letters for them, reading to them, walks, transportation to and from destinations and taking them to lunch or other cultural events.

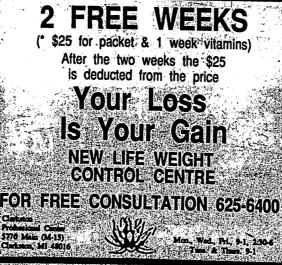

"Not everyone wants to talk or do something," Garner said. "Some just want to sit quietly and hold hands."

"For us, it's like being paid to be Christian," she added.

Anyone interested in volunteering is asked to contact Kennedy or Garner at 625-5611, ext. 215.

Dust control OK'd

Residents of Springfield Township who live on dusty gravel roads can once again get help from the township through a county chloriding program.

The township board March 9 voted to again contribute two-thirds of the cost if residents who submit applications to chloride their roads contribute one-third. The chloriding is done four times during the year, and helps stabilize the base of dirt roads.

The cost this year is 32 cents per foot, up 2 cents from last year. The township will cover the increase, paying 22 cents, and residents will still pay 10 cents.

Last year, about 41 miles, or roughly two-thirds of the township's 58 miles of gravel roads, were chlorided in the county program. If the same number of miles are chlorided this year, the cost to the township will be about $49,000.

Residents of secondary roads (primary gravel roads are already maintained by the county) who want their roads chlorided should contact the Oakland County Road Commission Citizen Service Department at 858-4804 for applications.

Generally, residents in an area contribute together and designate one person to collect for the service. Applications for chloride must be submitted to the road commission by April 28.

CHS alumni stabbed to death in Southfield

A man found stabbed to death at a Southfield apartment March 22 has been identified as Jeffrey K. Leak, 28, formerly of Clarkston.

Southfield police were called to Leak's apartment on Beech Road, Southfield, just after 4:30 p.m. to investigate a stabbing report.

Officers found Leak lying in the vestibule of the building with stab wounds to his torso. He was treated at the scene and taken to Providence Hospital, Southfield. where he was later pronounced dead.

Daniel William Hahn, 25, of Southfield was arrested and charged with open murder in the stabbing.

He was arraigned March 23 in 46th District Court by Magistrate A. Kay Stanfield-Brown. He is being held without bond in the Oakland County jail pending a March 31 preliminary exam.

The weapon believed used was confiscated as part of the investigation.

According to Southfield Police Officer Gary Conant, the stabbing is believed to be the result of a domestic altercation.

Leak is the son of David and Sally Leak of Clarkston. He is a 1979 Clarkston High School graduate.

With Easter vacation upon us and high school spring sports still on the starting blocks, let's turn our attention to the national sporting world.

Last week, I quick-picked Georgetown to win it all in the NCAA men's basketball tournament. Next time I had better let my typing hands (yes, sports fans I-use both fluently) idle for a while before choosing a favorite team. The results can't get any worse.

So, now it's down to the Final Four, and Michigan is still alive and ready to take its Cinderella slipper to Seattle. But enough about them and the tournament; I don't want to start another Sports Illustrated jinx with my writings. I'll wait 'til after the tourney to tell you who I liked. Messing up one team (my sympathies to the Hoyas) fills my quota for the season.

An aside to those who are interested in this type of information on the Final Four: Seton Hall is a private school in South Orange, New Jersey, that was established in 1856.

Now you can wow your relatives with this info when Seton Hall squares off with Duke this weekend.

The NBA playoffs, especially the Eastern Conference, should be one heck of a show. Who cares about the regular season, let's get to the playoffs now New York, Cleveland, Boston with a healthy and in-shape Larry Bird and the Pistons along with a host of other top contenders and pretenders will make every series from first round to last worth watching in my book.

Hopefully the Pistons can take it a step further this spring and summer and bring home a championship to Auburn Hills for all to see and enjoy.

But I'm not making any sort of prediction at this time. (It's the jinx factor again.) ***

In other Detroit sports news, the trade of Tom Brookens saddens me. Although he wasn't the best player the Detroit Tigers ever had, he was my favorite.

He played the role of little David, battling against a slew of third-base candidates for the Tigers throughout the 1980s and always came out a winner in the end. In the eyes of all the kids who were either never picked for those playground games or kicked out when someone else came around, he was a hero.

Brookens' forte was versatility, and that's something age doesn't take away from you. He never was a power hitter or a spectacular fielder, just a good everyday player who didn't make

GOAL defenders Boys track team looking to repeat feat

BY PETER AUCHTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

After many years of falling painfully short, the boys track team at Clarkston High finally won the Greater Oakland Activities League title last season.

Winning it a second time will be tough, said Coach Walt Wyniemko.

"You can't sit in the woods this year," he said of the opponent's incentive to beat the Wolves.

The opening two weeks will show what the team is made of since the season begins with three tough meets against Milford, Rochester Adams and league rival Pontiac Northern.

But Wyniemko has plenty of talented athletes to work with - 55 kids turned out for the team. Part of the lue to the freshmen who can compete for Clarkston for the first time this spring.

headlines in the sports pages for all the wrong reasons.

Manager Sparky Anderson said he didn't want to lose Brookens, but the trade had to be made in an effort from keeping the Tigers from growing old together a la the sad-sack Baltimore Orioles.

While Sparky's telling the truth, he could have kept Brookens on The trade of Luis Salazar was a good old-for-young exchange. Brookens! deal wasn't.

Oh well, the next thing, you know the Tigers will be playing in a domed stadium in Lapeer with a bunch of players fresh from high school. (Of . course, I have been slightly off with my predictions lately.)

But, anyway you slice it, the baseball season should be interesting. Let's play ball. Land So Section

Seniors Jeff Shupe, Jodi Lueck, Marc. Pierson, Chris Blimka, Larry Hess, Chris Vandermark and J.J. Price will provide the leadership. Wyniemko said he also has a good strong junior class as well.

The field events always have been a Clarkston strong point, and the coach hopes the trend will continue in 1989.

Although the team can't look past its first two nonleague meets, meeting GOAL foe Pontiac Northern definitely ranks as one of the most important battles of the season.

In past years, it was losses to the Huskies that cost Clarkston the GOAL championship. Last season; the Wolves ended that streak. Wyniemko enjoyed every moment of it.

"It was a real fun thing," he said. "(This season) the league will be real, real-competitive. It should be an interesting season."

Tough tests come early for Wolves

BY PETER AUCHTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

For four years running, the girls track team at Clarkston High hasn't lost a dual meet. If it finishes the first month of the season unbeaten, the Wolves may never lose.

But that's easier said than done. Clarkston opens at home against Milford on April 6, and then the Wolves face Rochester Adams the following Tuesday. Adams was a Oakland County and regional champion last season.

It doesn't ease up after that, as the Wolves travel to the Andover Relays and then host Greater Oakland Activities League rival Pontiac Northern.

"We have the toughest schedule in a long time," said Coach Gordie Richardson, but he's not worried. "I'm looking forward to it. You'll find out in a hurry how good we are."

He will field a young team. There are two seniors, Nicole Hocking and Jenny Davis.

Middle and long distance races will once again be one of Clarkston's strong suits due to its strong cross country program. Runners such as Lisa Palazzola, Emily Winfield and Jenny Mahler should help a lot, the coach said

The team also has strong hurdlers in Bree Michelsen, Michelle Darby and Sarah Kortge as well as several sophomores and one freshman.

"They will be good hurdlers," the coach said. "That should be a strength."

Michelle Falwell, a sprinter, returns with a killer instinct in her eye and is ready to go, the coach said. The remaining sprinters are inexperienced.

Celeste Steinhelper and Michelle Blevens will be strong in the 400 meter race.

Although he doesn't have a superstar in the field events as in year's past (Ali Fedio last season), Richardson hopes to make up in numbers what he lost in talent.

Five or six athletes are competing in the shot put and discus for the Wolves.

"We have a lot of youth," the coach said. "How quick they develop will be a key. That will make a difference.'

Davis, Hocking and Tracy Chamberlain will compete in the long jump. Steinhelper is the only experienced high jumper. All of those athletes possess the potential to excel, the coach said.

The addition of freshmen to the varsity team has bolstered the numbers out for the squad (35 athletes) and may make a difference down the stretch.

"The 9th graders play a major role in our success," the coach said, adding that they will have to learn to handle varsity pressure under fire. "Some of those young ones will have to battle through this. Hopefully, they can compete as they have worked (in practice).

THE CLARKSTON MERCHANTS senior citizen volleyball team won the A-minor Northwest Senior Volleyball League on March 21 with a come-from-behind victory. The Merchants won 45 games during the season. Team members are

HS students learn from visit to inner city school

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

The distance between inner-city Detroit schools and the affluent suburbs was bridged, if not in miles at least in spirit, when four Clarkston High School students participated in the New Detroit program on March 14,

The New Detroit program was developed after the race riots in the late 1960's to combat prejudice and racism, and has been successful every year since in bringing students from Detroit and the suburbs together to learn more about each other,

Two weeks ago, the four CHS students, who are also student council members and class leaders, joined 500 other students from the tri-county area of Detroit (Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties) at Detroit Mercy College.

Seniors Holly Edmunds and Nicole Hocking, junior Celeste Steinhelper and sophomore Missy Rinehart attended from CHS. They were split up into different classroom groups to work on New Detroit projects and hold discussions.

We talked with inner city kids about our views of them and their views of us," Missy said.

The next day, Nicole and Holly visited Cass Tech High School in the middle of Detroit, while Celeste and Missy were host to two inner-city students at CHS.

Nicole said she and Holly were a little scared to go, because the school is in "a really bad part of Detroit." But she said they were really comfortable once they got to the school.

"Every person I met was friendly," Nicole said. "I even participated in the classes."

"I thought I'd be looked down on," Holly added. "But they didn't judge anyone."

Cass Tech is about 80 percent black. One of Detroit's elite schools, it is a public school by application only.

"Their curriculum was based on what they want to go into," Nicole said.

"They had a lot more programs than Clarkston," Holly added.

Meanwhile, the two black students visiting Clarkston were impressed by the smaller atmosphere, according to Celeste and Missy. Cass Tech is eight floors and takes up a city block.

"They really liked the one-on-one relationship between teacher and student," Celeste said. "And they liked the cafeteria food here.'

One felt uncomfortable because there were only two blacks here," Missy added. "But a lot of people socialized with her.'

In general, though, the CHS students agreed that the people from Cass Tech in Detroit were friendlier than the people out here at CHS.

Their views of us were more real than ours of them," Holly said. "We didn't know as much about them, that there were as many positives."

Detroit program that brings together students from inner city Detroit and from the suburbs.

Nicole added that "the way they look at us and we look at them is distorted. They think (ours is) perfect and rich. We think (theirs is) drugs and killing."

Yet, she said, people are the same everywhere.

"There are good people and bad people everywhere you go," Holly added.

All four girls agreed that the experience made them more aware of the positives in Detroit and more aware of how people get their views and feel about each other.

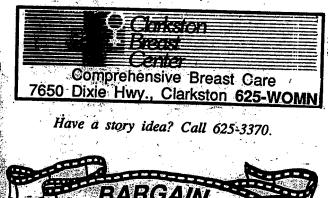

"It didn't just affect us," Nicole said. "It affected everyone."

Their thoughts were echoed by Becky Craig, CHS teacher and student council advisor.

"It is really neat for the kids and me to see other people's points of view," she said. "We're so far removed from the inner city.'

Some of the activities were very enlightening, she added, such as a game they played that pointed out the frustrations of not understanding one another.

"It's good to see how much we have in common," she said. "We have the same goals and the same problems.'

Folk, blues singer-writer hails from Clarkston

Kitty Donohoe, a folk and blues singer-songwriter who is capturing an ever-widening audience of fans around the country, began her musical career in Clarkston.

Donohoe is performing this Friday night, March 31, at 7 p.m. in the main gallery of Paint Creek Center for the Arts in Rochester. Tickets for this first in a Friday night Coffeehouse Concert Folk Music Series are $4 per concert or $18 per series for non-members, and $3 and $15 for PCCA members. For more information, call 651-4110.

Donohoe, a 1968 graduate of Clarkston High

KITTY DONOHOE, a folk and blues singersongwriter, kicks off the Paint Creek Center for the Arts Coffeehouse Concert Folk Music Series on March 31.

School, sang in local talent shows and played in rhythm and blues bands she formed with her older brother and his friends. A year after graduating from high school, she took her music and her guitar on the road in pursuit of a musical career.

The road has led her to rising fame and a busy schedule. Her weekdays are frequently filled with trips to schools across Michigan, and her weekends take her to performances and festivals. She is also featured on radio folk programs.

Now a Lansing-area resident, Donohoe has been acclaimed by critics as a "bright ... singer-songwriter ... whose skills, beauty and talent are superbly matched." Her first album, "Farmer in Florida," widened her circle of exposure and has been acclaimed as "fast becoming a folk music standard." She has also published songbooks, including a collection of original and traditional Michigan songs, and another compiled especially for Michigan's 150th birthday.

But even with her talent for capturing audiences with warm performances and her rising popularity across the country, Kitty Donohoe has not forgotten her "roots."

As she prepares to perform in neighboring Rochester, she reminisces about Clarkston.

"I liked the fact that it was a small town. It was a nice place to live, a sheltered environment," she says. "There were lots of good people and good memories."

Parents see how middle school works

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

The men in business suits and women in high heels may have looked a little out of place in the student desks, and one parent, Bob Wyatt, brought along his tennis shoes for gym class; but they were all getting a good lesson in the middle school concept.

The occasion was the observance of "National Middle School Week" at Clarkston Junior High School with a special "See for Yourself" program for parents.

A group of randomly selected parents were invited to attend a fourth-hour class with an "adopted" student (a student other than their own) on Wednesday, March 22.

They also attended a brief introductory session where Principal Duane Lewis and Assistant Principal Ginny Farmer shared with them an explanation of the middle school concept.

Lewis listed five important aspects of the middle school concept for the visiting parents:

1. A full exploratory program in sixth and seventh grades (where all students would go through a series of classes before making their own decisions on classes).

2. An inter-disciplinary "team teaching" plan, where staff plans as a team at intervals throughout the school year.

3. The need to explore a program that looks carefully at 10- to 14-year-olds' social, emotional, psychological and physical aspects, all of which change rapidly at this age.

4. The de-emphasizing of competitive programming and activities and looking at cooperative learning.

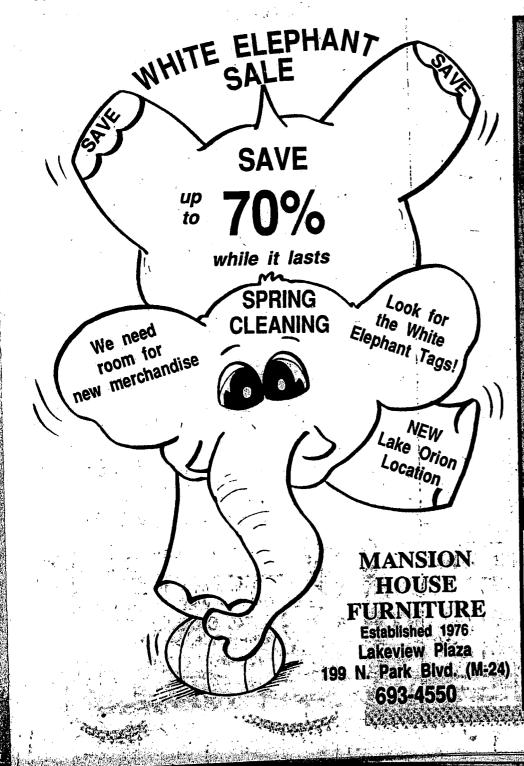

5. The need for middle school students to have opportunities to form friendships and develop social skills.

"We're not there yet," he said. "There's still work to be done."

The middle school concept, introduced last year in the Clarkston School District, is still being put into place.

But the "See For Yourself" program, which was also successful last year at Clarkston Junior High, is one way to bring a group of parents into the school, Lewis said, and let them see where the programs are heading.

Committee fills needs in county solid waste plan

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

Oakland County is ahead of other counties across the nation in putting together an integrated solid waste plan for the future.

That was the word from Suzan Rollins Singer, director of public information, who coordinated a luncheon last week where county officials updated the media on the plan.

County Executive Dan Murphy echoed her words. "For the past 10 years, I've worried about solid waste, but it is difficult to get people to deal with it," he said. "The plan is the only one like it in the United States. It will be a worthwhile plan to take care of solid waste in the future."

The Oakland County plan incorporates three areas

1. Recycling and composting, with plans for at least one composting facility, two county-owned recycling facilities and room for private industry as well. The goal is to recycle 20 percent of solid waste by 1995.

2. Resource recovery, with plans for up to three "cookers," or incinerators where solid waste could be turned to energy.

3. A 40-year county landfill to handle non-recyclable items.

Larry Fox, of Bishop, Cook Purcell & Reynolds, attorneys who specialize in solid waste programs, is coordinating the Oakland County program.

He estimates that recycling facilities would require about 10 acres each. Composting and resource recovery sites would require about 20 acres each. The landfill will require a minimum of 460 acres.

Currently underway is selection of the landfill site, to be picked "blindly" by a committee of 25 residents from virtually every township in Oakland County. The committee will be given only specific information about potential sites but not locations.

According to Director of Public Works Milt Han-dorf, the county chose a "grade A" consulting firm, Rogers, Golden & Halpern, to coordinate the landfill siting process.

John Rogers from the Philadelphia-based consulting firm explained how the siting committee was chosen from 147 applicants to represent every area of the county and include a wide variety of expertise.

One of those committee members, Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls, said the committee is "the best I've had the privilege of working with."

Rogers urged the media and the public to come to committee meetings and observe the site selection process.

All meetings take place in the cafeteria of the Oakland County Courthouse Building, 1200 N. Telegraph Rd. Except for July 8, meetings are 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursdays. The schedule is as follows:

March 30 - Groundwater protection and why it is

May 25 - Criteria development for site ranking June 8 - Criteria development for site ranking

June 22 - Criteria development for site ranking

June 29 - Criteria development for site ranking

July 8 - Saturday site ranking workshop

Rogers' firm, with its staff of planners, scientists and engineers, is selecting the sites for the committee to consider. He said his firm will be the only ones to know the actual locations throughout the siting process.

The landfill will incorporate the newest technologies, and the committee will deal with all kinds of issues in selecting the site, including environmental, social and economic.

According to county statistics, there are one million residents in Oakland County, each generating a half ton of waste a year. That's 3 million tons of solid waste a year - a figure that grows with the county's population.

No matter what other methods are used, a landfill is still necessary for those items which cannot be recycled and for the materials left over from those which are recycled, according to Rogers.

The county has been working on a solid waste plan for 10 years, as current landfills are rapidly filling. (Six working landfills are in the county, with a maximum of five years life left in them.)

An integrated program with the highest environmental standards is necessary, Fox added. "But do it now."

"We followed all the rules," said Robert Hoffman, president of R.J. Hoffman Management and former Waterford Township supervisor.

"We came to them and explained everything and got the necessary permits. For them to go backwards—the way they went about this is totally wrong," he said, "We all have rights. They can't arbitrarily take away those rights," he added.

Township attorney Gerald Fisher said he had just received the suit and could not comment on it specifically. He added that he was not suprised when it arrived.

"I was not shocked; I was just hoping that (Hoffman) would have taken advantage of the many other alternative uses for the land," Fisher said.

"The fact is the planning commission felt very strongly about the great risk that project posed to the environment," he said.

Planning commission Chairperson Brent Bair said he supported the planning commission's decision.

"It was a unanimous decision; it was not just one person who felt that way," Bair said.

"If the question is did we do right, we consulted with council. It's not like we just ran off and did what we wanted to do. It's now in the hands of council."

/Hoffman and his brothers, James and Richard, first proposed the 9,800-square-foot cardboard sorting facility in July, 1988.

The project was granted special land use in July, subject to several conditions. Planners granted conceptual site plan approval in September, subject to additional concerns; and the final site plan for the project was tabled in December due to environmental and legal concerns.

At the March 9 meeting, planners voted to withdraw the special use with a motion that listed six reasons:

• A proposal to undertake wood shredding had not previously been proposed;

• the processing operation was different from the one first proposed;

• the petitioner failed to give a specific description of property use;

• the planning commission had determined that the pond on the property was too environmentally sensitive;

the petitioner did not exercise discretion with his property;
and the commission learned of problems that had occurred with the petitioner relative to solid waste disposal.

In the lawsuit, attorneys for Hoffman state that "none of the reasons stated by the planning commission in the withdrawal of special land use ... legally justify such action by the planning commission."

The suit said Hoffman purchased the land contingent upon the special land use permit and conceptual approval granted by planners and had incurred $85,000 worth of costs as a result.

The suit addressed the points in the planning commission's motion to deny the special land use:

• Wood shredding is already a permitted use in areas zoned heavy industrial and didn't need special use permits;

• the initial application described a sorting and recovering of building materials, which would include wood shredding;

• environmental concerns were not justification for withdrawal because the township engineer had recommended approval based on conditions the petitioner was willing to follow;

• the charge of violations with regard to other ordinances in Independence and Waterford townships had not resulted in proven guilt;

• and Hoffman was willing to abide by concerns registered by township engineers and the township planner.

What is Reflexology? Reflexology is a therapeutic technique in the Natural Health field, which deals with the nerve endings that are located in the hands & feet. These nerve endings act as reflexes to each gland, organ & part of the body. (7,200 nerve endings in one foot).

Toxic acid deposits form & crystallize causing blockage of proper blood & nerve supply to reach the reflex area. These deposits are caused by stress, improper diet, lack of exercise, injury to a gland, organ or part of the body. These deposits are formed in other areas of the body, but more so in the hands & feet for they are the farthest from the heart.

Reflexology'S purpose is to free these nerve channels which is done by the hands of the Reflexologist. Once these deposits are broken down - they are picked up by the blood stream, dissolved instantly & brought through the eliminating system. Since 24 qts, of blood pass through the heart every 3 minutes & the blood transfer is made in the hands & feet, one usually notices results during & after the 1st treatment:

Independence Township board members are taking steps for those who can't by investigating a barrierfree township hall.

Board members voted 6-1 to instruct engineers to take another look at old engineering plans that had been drawn up to make the structure accessible to handicapped and elderly residents.

The plans had been set aside after the cost estimates were unaffordable.

Voting yes were Supervisor Frank Ronk. Clerk Richard Holman, Treasurer John Lutz and trustees Daniel Travis, Mel Vaara and William Vandermark. Trustee Frank Millard voted no.

Lutz told the board that the barrier-free project could be paid for, in part, with community development block grant funds.

"If we are to remain at township hall, I would like to make some long-range plans," Lutz said.

Some board members argued, however, that the Village of Clarkston's effort to obtain cityhood could mean that the township would move from its current

Noise hikes OK'd for Meadowbrook races

A loud rumble of car engines will fill the Waterford Hill racetrack during the first weekend in August.

After hearing from organizer Mike Sheridan, of G.P. Publishing in Pontiac, Independence Township Board members approved a noise variance request for the 1989 Meadowbrook Historic Races.

Although the marque car this year is Ferrari, owners of other older exotic automobiles will attend from cities across the nation.

An estimated 125 cars have entered the racing field for the several races held throughout the weekend; almost all of the cars date from the prewar 30's to about 1972, Sheridan said.

Along with the race, a parade, an ice cream social, musical entertainment and judging make up the events of the weekend.

Members of the public will-be admitted free for time trials held on Friday, Aug. 4.

Plans reviewed for barrier-free township hall office. The village lies in the center of the township and is awaiting a decision on cityhood from the state Boundary Commission.

Others said it would be unwise to spend money on an engineering study when the board already knows the

In-house computers added to schools

The contract for a new, in-house computer system for business and student services was approved by the Clarkston Board of Education March 13.

The contract with International Business Machines/Computer Management Technology is for $435,000, to be paid over a five-year period.

Over this five-year period, it is estimated that the district could save between $175,000 and $450,000. After the contract is paid off, the savings will increase.

This is due to the fact that Oakland Schools, where Clarkston has paid for the use of services up to now, has increased their fees from $62,000 to $111,000 effective of July 1 to cover costs of updating their system.

The new IBM/CMT system in Clarkston will handle business services such as budget, general ledger, purchasing, accounts payable, cash receipts and disbursements, warehouse inventory, fixed asset inventory, payroll and personnel.

Student management applications would include student records, scheduling, grading and attendance.

Films on families start next Thursday

Six films detailing the protection and strengthening of family relationships will be shown at St. Daniel Catholic Church.

A family life expert, Dr. James Dobson, portrays the pressures today's parents are susceptible to in his new film series titled, "Turn Your Heart Toward Home."

The first film of the six-part series is scheduled to 'run on Thursday, April 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the church's activities building. The remaining five will be shown

"Economically we're going to kill it," said Vandermark. "I'm inclined not to do it and to not spend money on studying it."

In discussing the previous study, board members said the cost of a barrier-free elevator was over $100,000.

Engineers from Hubbell Roth and Clark, Inc., the township's engineering firm, said a simple report, photos and sketches would cost the township about $2,000.

Lutz told the board that the township currently has almost $8,000 in its county-funded barrier-free design account, and another $14,000 in its contingency account.

Engineers from HRC will now review, study and prepare a plan for the township on the barrier-free feasibility.

"The federal government is going to start looking at (barrier-free facilities)," Lutz said.

"It would behoove us to get on the bandwagon in improving our own nest," Ronk said.

Concrete plant OK'd for Tindall Road

Holly Sand and Gravel, located on Tindall Road in Springfield Township, got the green light from the township board for the addition of a concrete ready mix plant adjacent to the current facility.

Jim Thornley of HollySand and Gravel was on hand when the board gave its unanimous approval to the site plan. The plan was already approved by the planning commission with the request of additional plants in the area of the berm screening the facility.

The one major area of concern about the new plant turned out to be no concern at all, and that was regarding the ash used to make concrete.

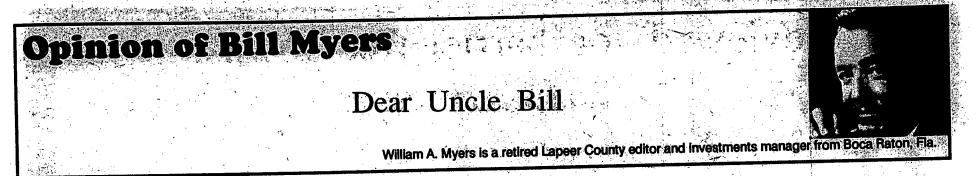

Supervisor Collin Walls said the ash was from power plants, and was not the dangerous ash that comes from waste disposal plants.

Thornley explained that the harmless ash was used as an inexpensive additive or filler to make to concrete and at the same time solved a problem for the power plants of what to do with excess ash.

Dear Uncle Bill:

Here's a pretty tough article from Forbes on bonds: Enough to scare a fellow. Any comment?

Ben Myers

Lapeer, Mich.

(The article, by Allan Sloan (Jan. 23 issue), tells of the clobbering of RJR Nabisco's bonds after the leveraged buyout, and the Washington Public Power Supply System default. "The bondholders put up most of the money; not only do they almost never share in the profits, they don't even always get their money back," wrote Sloan. "Demand that dealmakers give you a piece of the action.")

Dear Ben:

Forbes is a pretty good magazine, but it often sensationalizes a piece. The good girls are swept up with the bad when the Forbes paddy wagon comes along

Was this writer Sloan the same left-wing financial writer who used to be with the Detroit Free Press? Seems I remember he pilloried the Detroit banks because they wouldn't loan money to the Statler hotel, which was going bankrupt.

I agree that the RJR Nabisco deal and its leveraged buyout so hurt the hitherto well-rated RJR bonds that they dropped 20 points in one day. These LBOs have made me wary of so many industrial utilities which depend on atomic energy. So I concentrate on telephone bonds. No labor problems, no anti-nuke demonstrators, no fuel problems with environmentalists hollering about acid rain and greenhouse effects.

On the municipal side, I'm getting weary of holdings of housing bonds and their incessant partial calls.

I don't like hospitals, except for a few-like University of Michigan, connected with the medical school. I don't like nursing homes or retirement homes, or these garbage-into-electricity schemes. And I don't like industrial development revenue bonds, where the security is that of the private corporation.

That leaves me with several good electric revenue bonds like Intermountain Power of Utah (coal-fired and AA-rated); Jacksonville Electric of Florida; Georgia Municpal Electric (Meags, they call them), already pre-approved by the Georgia courts. I like almost any water-and-sewer rev's of established cities - even Detroit.

Naturally, general-obligations are on the goodguys list. Dormitory bonds have always paid off. Recently, I got some Charleston, S.C., dorms yielding 9 percent on the zero coupons. Airport rev's look okay - the larger airports, that is. Insured issues get AAA ratings.

There is a lot of merchandise around, but it needs sorting. It aint's like it used to be. So few things are.

Ol' Uncle Bill

Gerrit Baker, the sage of Boca Raton and oftmentioned in this column dropped ;me a note:

"In 1948, we put $15,000 into U.S. Defense bonds," he wrote. "We could have used the money then and bought 12 new Chevrolet Belairs. But we put it in the Savings Bonds instead, and let it stay, and finally put it into HH bonds, where it is today. "Now the $15,000 has become $115,000. If I cashed the bonds, after taxes I'd have $93,500.

"With the $93,500, I could buy only seven Chevrolet Caprices - equivalent of the 1948 Belairs. I have lost ground."

Road work at park

Albert A. Dettore & Associates of Livonia recently was awarded a $15,558.12 contract for two projects at Indian Springs Metropark in Springfield and White Lake Townships.

The work involves construction of a cul-de-sac on Crosby Lake Road and Teggerdine Road and removing the sections of those roads which now run through Indian Springs Golf Course.

Meet Cricket, the 3-pound celebrity dog

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

Even as a 6-week-old, 1 1/2-pound puppy, Cricket filled a very large void in the hearts of Clarkston-area veterinarian Howard Schwartz and his wife, Karen.

They lost their "Spuds McKenzie look-alike" bull terrier, Badger, to cancer at the age of eight and were thinking of getting another dog when Schwartz heard of a litter of very small Yorkies in Union Lake. And so Cricket came into their lives.

Now, two years old and a whopping 3 pounds, she has wiggled her way into the hearts of a lot of other people as well.

Wednesday, March 29, 1989 The Clarkston News

"It kind of intimidates the rest of us," Schwartz says. People come into his Clarkston Veterinary Clinic on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, and remember her name — but not his.

Cricket shares, or rather takes over the limelight from three cats who also have "celebrity status" at the clinic, including Butty. Butty was a homeless cat who wisely chose the Schwartz residence to walk into one day several years ago and has been a part of their lives ever since.

At Schwartz's Boyne Highland Trail home, Cricket isn't the only pet, either. There are two, 10-pound Siamese cats, a canary, three cockatiels and tropical fish. But it doesn't take long to see that Cricket has earned a very special niche of her own.

Shortly after Badger was gone, Schwartz says a client came into the clinic with another of the Yorkie litter. He was so taken by the tiny puppy that he went out on his lunch hour and came back with Cricket.

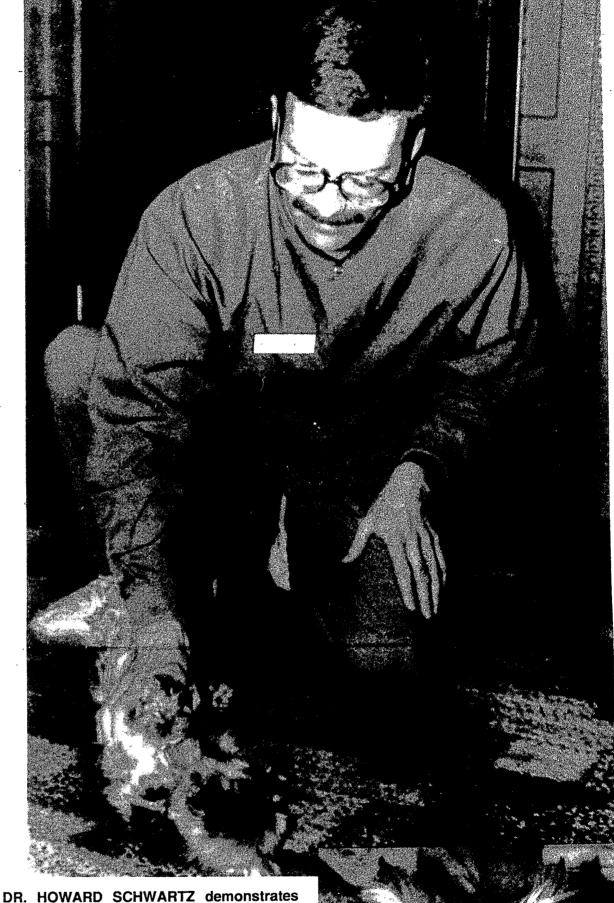

Cricket "commutes" to the clinic with Schwartz nearly every day, and he says, "God forbid if someone comes in to see her, and she's not here."

Occasionally, she also visits Karen's dry cleaning business in Rochester, where she no doubt has another whole group of fans.

Karen took Cricket to obedience school. She was the tiniest dog in the class and a quick study.

At the Clarkston Veterinary Clinic, she happily performs her repertoire of tricks for any audience. She rolls over, plays "dead," sits, stands, walks, dances, retrieves and does a pint-size version of a "mean dog" rather interesting patients. There was the boa who swallowed a beach towel, and another who swallowed a heating pad. Both recovered nicely.

Schwartz doesn't recommend reptiles as pets for most people. Rather, he might recommend a nice tank of tropical fish for the person who cannot keep a dog or cat.

In his 14 years as a vet, Schwartz even has a "fish growl. She has toys bigger than she is which she drags around the office.

"She's extra fun, but needs extra precautions, too," says Schwartz.

Because she is so small and delicate, they must be careful not to let children pick her up, and they literally "scout the yard and skies" for wildlife before letting her out in their backyard. A hungry hawk or prowling critter might mistake the miniature pet for dinner.

Schwartz has been fond of animals all of his life. As a child, he met James Langammer, then a veterinarian at the Detroit Zoo, and an acquaintance of his father's.

Schwartz also met Langammer's pet, Annie, a 140pound South American Anaconda and promptly developed a keen interest in herpetology, or the study of reptiles. Little did he know that many years later, he would perform life-saving surgery on Annie when she developed a football-sized tumor.

Because he is one of a small number of veterinarians who specialize in herpetology, he has had some story" to tell. There was the time he sutured a large gash on an exotic, tiger shovel-nose catfish after anesthetizing it by dropping Alka-selzer tablets in the water. The fish survived the surgery nicely, but unfortunately leaped out of his tank at his owner's home the next day and died.

Most of Schwartz's patients are the more common variety, such as household dogs and cats. He offers all the usual services at the clinic, which he purchased from retired veterinarian Earl Davis in 1985, as well as more out-of-the-ordinary services.

For Schwartz, it's a labor of love.

"I liked science, and I liked animals. Once I found out there were people who devoted their lives to animals, I made up my mind," he says. "It was the best of both worlds.

Oh, sure, he has other "fantasies" about what to do for a living, he says, like own a golf course with a Chinese restaurant on it, but veterinary science is his life.

"It's all I've every wanted to do since I was eight years old."

CRICKET is well known to visitors at the Clarkston Veterinary Clinic, some of whom come in just to pay the miniature Yorkie a visit.

BY PAT YOUNG Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Ken Larrance of Springfield Township answered a wrecker call on Jan. 31, 1988, he didn't know it might change the course of his life.

He didn't know that, over a year later, he would still be recovering from the accident that ensued. And though he has lived and worked in the Davisburg area since 1972, he didn't expect the outpouring of caring from friends, neighbors and even strangers.

Ken and his wife, Rita, live in a small home on Dixie Highway where he also runs his business, Dixie Auto Body. But since that January evening last year, the equipment at his auto body shop has been unusually quiet.

Ken had just finished talking to a police officer on M-15 in Independence Township, near Lewis E. Wint & Son Funeral Home, and was walking back across the road to his wrecker between 6 and 7 p.m. when he was struck by a car.

He was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac with both legs broken and his back broken in two places.

When he was able to go home two weeks later, he had a removable body cast from his neck to his hips, and casts on both legs that he would wear for several months. His right leg was shattered so badly that it required bone grafts. It is still in a cast and may require yet another surgery. Reaching for his crutches has become second nature.

At the first word of his accident, people rallied, Rita recalls. "My phone rang constantly, and people asked what they could do to help."

Ken is a member of Davisburg Rotary Club, which he calls "the little club with a big heart." But he expands that fond expression to his community as well.

"I could give you a story about how Davisburg is a little community with a big heart," he says. "Davisburg and Rotary -- they've done a lot for me. Words can't express how people helped out."

The Davisburg Rotary Club helped build him a ramp up to the front porch for his wheelchair. They located a van with a lift to get him to therapy.

They even came over to the house to make sure he got in the van without problems, then followed him to the medical facility and waited until he was done with therapy to make sure he got home all right.

They located a VCR for his living room and brought him video tapes to pass the time. They put up a new television antenna, and brought him books to read and motivational cassettes to listen to.

While Ken names off all the things Rotary has done for him, he is also quick to point out all the other good things Rotary does, such as contribute thousands of dollars to good causes and distribute Christmas baskets of food and toys to needy families. They handle concessions stands at area events and organize other fundraisers to earn the money for their many projects.

But when tragedy struck at home, Rotary was there to help, and so were many others in the community.

Rita says they had a "basket full of cards," some from people they'd never even met.

Flowers and fruit baskets arrived, and folks stopped by to visit -- friends, Rotary members, customers and neighbors.

KEN LARRANCE of Springfield Township is still recovering from an accident over a year

Ken says there were a couple of customers who knew he liked coneys. They still come by the house and bring him coneys now and then.

Ken and Rita were surprised and touched by the outpouring.

"You don't realize how many people care," Ken says. "It's more than just words; they show they care."

Davisburg, he says, is one of the greatest communities he's ever lived in.

"Pastors would come to visit, people I hardly knew," he adds, not to preach, but just to care.

And at a time like this, Rita adds, "you can't get along without family."

The Larrances have two children, Gayle Losinger of Pontiac and Daryl Larrance of Oxford. They also have three grandchildren, who found that grandpa had lots of time to visit with them from the hospital bed that for many months graced the living room.

The accident "changed their life," Rita says.

But it also endeared them to a community called Davisburg.

"It's something you read about and don't experience," Ken says, "The way your neighbors will help you when you need it."

The days of the dinosaur revisited

Hard work and creativity paid off for six students in Loretta Gagnon's class at Bailcy Lake Elementary School.

A second place ribbon was their reward for a dinosaur exhibit at the statewide Michigan Discovery Science Fair March 17 at Oakland University, Rochester.

With guidance from teacher Loretta Gagnon and paraprofessional Elaine Peterson, the students created their project from start to finish. Following is a copy of their group report on their creation:

"We voted on the topic of dinosaurs for our project.

Our teacher gave us each a name of a plant eating dinosaur. The dinosaurs we rescarched were: Triceratops, Ankylosaurus, Antasaurus, Stegasaurus, Dipliodocus, Brontosaurus and Brachiasaurus.

"We drew a picture of our dinosaurs, made clay models and painted them. We found from charting our research that herbivore dinosaurs all ate plants. They all had sharp teeth or snouts to dig up and tear plants to eat. Most of them used their tails to protect themselves. They all lived in the Jurassic or Cretaceous Era. They were all friendly and peaceful dinosaurs.

"From our research we found out that herbivore dinosaurs had many things in common but also had some differences."

The students involved were: Matt Lorion, Scott d in a Lovchuk, Chris Wheatley, Jeremy McIntosh, Rachel Armstrong, Jim Haver and Shane Leek.

Spring special

Call it a sweet excuse for a spring salad, or a fruity holiday dessert. But the "Bluenose Special," which I sampled at the Clarkston Learning Center in December, is a good excuse for eating any time of the year.

I have no idea where the name comes from, or even where the recipe comes from. But the end result is delicious.

BLUENOSE SPECIAL

- 2 cups crushed vanilla wafers
- 2 cups chopped cranberries
- 1 large diced banana
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts

2/3 cup sugar

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 cup confectioners sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons sugar

Mix cranberries, banana, 2/3 cup sugar. Stir in walnuts and set aside.

Put 1 cup crushed vanilla wafers in bottom of large glass pan.

Beat butter or margarine with confectioners sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Pour over vanilla wafers and spoon fruit mixture over top.

Beat cream with 2 tablespoons of sugar until it peaks. Spoon over fruit mixture and sprinkle the rest of vanilla wafers over top.

Chill overnight before serving.

Pet of the Week

Pound is a Newfoundland-mix, 5-year-old pet who didn't fit into the family plans when they moved.

He is a fairly large dog, with medium to long black and white fur. He loves people and cats, but he's not fond of other dogs.

Pound is housebroken and good with children. He would love another chance to prove he is a gentle giant of a pet.

Pound can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The adoption fee for Pound is $67, which includes his neutering before leaving the shelter.

Luck o' the Irish

An article on employability written by a teacher from the Oakland Technical Center has been accepted for publication by The Balance Sheet, a national magazine for business teachers.

Article published

Louise Dube's article, Employability Skills -- Plus, will be printed later this year by South-Western Publishing Company in Cincinnati, Ohio.

In her article, Dube outlines the steps involved in preparing a personal employment portfolio to use in job seeking. Suggested items include a title page, table of contents, biographical sketch, job objective statement, resume, profile sheet, diplomas, certificates, awards, letters of recommendation and work samples.

The luck of the Irish was with Loretta Graham, a bus driver for Clarkston Schools, two weeks ago.

Loretta won the St. Patrick's Day prize in a contest sponsored by the Clarkston Auto Wash and L. B. # Meats + Deli.

From Clarkston Auto Wash on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, Loretta won five free washes. From L.B. # Meats + Deli, she won two prime cuts of meat, her choice.

Measles outbreak, vaccinations advised

Due to reports of measles outbreaks in other areas of the country, the Oakland County Health Division asks parents, physicians and schools to make sure children, patients and students are protected against measles.

Measles, caused by a virus, typically results in a rash illness lasting four to 10 days. Although measles was a very common childhood illness in previous generations, the development of vaccines against it in the 1960s, along with immunization programs and requirements, have resulted in greatly reduced levels of the disease over the past two decades.

Health experts say children should be immunized against measles at 15 months. The injection used usually contains vaccines against German measles (also called rubella) and mumps as well.

Oakland County Health Division and other public health departments provide immunizations at no charge. Interested persons can obtain more information through the Oakland County Health Division Immunization Clinic, at 858-1301 in Pontiac or 424-7045 in Southfield.

ONCE THEY'RE over age 3, the Easter egg hunters know they have to be quick to get eggs, and they stand prepared on the sidelines, waiting for the whistle. Behind them, on the south side of Maybee Road, is the original Sashabaw Presbyterian Church, now an historical landmark. The weather, warm and breezy, cooperated for the annual hunt, and even the Easter chicken showed up.
