32 cut from Clarkston school staff

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

At a special meeting of the Clarkston school board on April 24, 30 teachers and two administrators were laid off for the 1989-90 school year.

A quiet school board voted unanimously on two separate motions for the administrative and teaching staff reductions. But if voters approve a reversal of the Headlee rollback in the June 12 election, some of the staff would be recalled.

According to the Headlee Amendment, the millage rate is automatically rolled back whenever assessed property values increase at a higher rate than the rate of inflation. Voters can overturn the automatic rollback.

"It's always regrettable that you have to pink slip staff because it does have a direct effect on the education of our children," said school board President Janet Thomas later.

The cuts were due to the overall financial posture of the district, program cuts possible for the 1989-90 school year, anticipated reductions in state aid school funding, the expected return from leave of higher seniority teachers, the expected decline in enrollment at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus, and anticipated loss of revenue from the Headlee rollback.

The administrative contracts not to be renewed are for Sharon O'Leary Johnson, alternative education principal at the Clarkston Learning Center, and Susan Maciak, communications coordinator for the district.

Ten teachers were laid off from the elementary schools: Durelle Pitser, Jodee Cobeil-Blaszowski, Shannon Ford, Lauri Gregory, Staci Elliott, Deborah Bowser, Mary Schulte, Kathleen Blahunka, Michele Gallagher Shultz and Natalie Potvin.

At the middle school-high school level, another 16 staff positions were cut: Daniel Willenborg, Ilona Rosehart, Nancy Frumkin, Daniel Blanchard, Kristine Nemesi, Gayle Conwell, Claudia Keglitz, Bryan Dowd, Joan Hessel, Eric Stromberg, Charles Carmody, David Johnson, Debra Wilson, Robert Devereaux, Sandra Sbrabian and Cheryl Mix.

At the Oakland Technical Center, Barbara Mack was laid off, and in special education three people were laid off: Maureen Moss, Pamela Neville and Sharon Steinhilper.

Of the 30 teaching positions, all but three were newly hired in the 1988-89 school year.

Teens smash into brick wall

Two Pontiac teens were critically injured after they failed to stop at a flashing red light and hit a brick wall on Main Street, Clarkston, April 22.

Brian Lynn Ulmer, 17, of Pontiac and Carmelo Hernandez, 17, also of Pontiac were traveling west on Waldon Road around 2:20 a.m. Saturday.

According to an Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, Ulmer failed to stop at a flashing red light at Main Street. The car continued through the intersection at a high rate of speed and struck a four-foot brick wall on the west side of Main Street in the Village of Clarkston.

Neither Ulmer nor Hernandez were wearing seat belts at the time of impact. They were taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital where they were listed in critical condition April 24.

Police recorded skid marks of 120 feet on the pavement, according to the report.

No traffic citations have been issued.

Bad checks bouncing through Independence stores

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Business owners, beware — a rash of bad checks has been reported to police in recent weeks.

"There seems to be an influx, an increase in Independence Township," said Detective Sgt. Thomas Quisenberry at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD).

Most of the checks have been returned because an account is closed.

"It's a scam," Quisenberry said. "The account is closed, and they have 20 checks left over, and they try to dump them around town."

"We've recovered a couple lately from Wonder Drugs and A & P (on M-15, Independence Township)," Quisenberry added. "(But) they're not the only ones."

The best way to avoid being stuck with a bad check is to demand good identification.

"In businesses or stores that accept checks, often the owner isn't the clerk in the transaction," Quisenberry said.

"A clerk should get I.D., preferably a picture driver's license, and make sure it matches the person writing the check."

"Some checks have a name, address, phone number and maybe a driver's license number, but you don't know who is cashing it," he added.

Quisenberry suggested obtaining a second piece of identification or "anything to help track that person down."

The chances of finding a bad check writer are good as long as there's some identification, he added.

Anyone convicted in an account closed situation face a two-year high misdemeanor; the penalty for non-sufficient funds varies on the amount of the check and when the check was written.

Quisenberry said the latest influx of bad checks could result from a higher number being reported.

"Business people are wising-up and are not just eating the amount," he said.

Quisenberry said clerks shouldn't accept a check if they suspect it's bad. If a check is returned because the account has been closed, call the sheriff's department at 858-5417.

Biker, 7, hit by car

A 7-year-old bicyclist was injured April 20 when he was struck by a car on Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

Gonars Modris Ejups, 31, of Pontiac, told police he was driving along Pine Knob Road just south of Waldon Road about 5:30 p.m. when a bicyclist darted out in front of him, and he was unable to stop.

He hit 7-year-old Duane R. O'Brien of Pontiac, according to an Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

According to the police report, Ejups said he was driving 35 mph in a 25 mph zone. Police examined the skid marks on the street to determine that he was speeding.

Ejups was wearing his seat belt and was not injured. O'Brien was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, where he was treated and released.

Ejups was cited for speeding in the incident.

Layoffs possible

Jan Modesitt, head of the math department at Clarkston High School, told the board she was concerned about the teacher layoffs, especially the math teachers.

"It is most important that we have a qualified teaching staff," she said.

Board Secretary Mary Jane Chaustowich reiterated a concern she voiced a week earlier when the board approved $1.6 million in recommended program cuts that would be made in the fall if Headlee is not reversed.

"I find it difficult to discuss hiring an administrator (in view of all the cuts) for the current vacancy at the high school (an assistant principal position)," she said. "I feel it should be filled from within."

Recycling may grow with state grant

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

If the Village of Holly gets the Michigan Clean City Grant it has applied for, drop-off centers for recycling newspaper and glass could be added in Springfield, Groveland, Rose and Holly townships.

Currently, the only drop-off for Holly's recycling effort, which is open to any area resident, is at 201 Elm St. in the Village of Holly. Drop-off centers might also be expanded to include collection of plastic, aluminum, tin, grass clippings, cardboard and computer paper, according to Holly Village officials.

The Springfield Township Board unanimously supported the effort of Holly Village at the April 13 board meeting.

In a letter from Holly Village President, Ardath Regan, other "resolutions of intent" for the recycling effort were also laid out, including mandated recycling in Holly and composting rather than burning leaves.

Officials from Holly Village will not know until fall if Holly is the recipient of a Clean City Grant.

Also at the April meeting, Springfield Township Board members voted unanimously to approve a resolution from Holly Village that urges the State of Michigan to adopt mandatory recycling legislation and municipalities to adopt ordinances supporting this.

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls serves on Oakland County's landfill siting committee and Solid Waste Board.

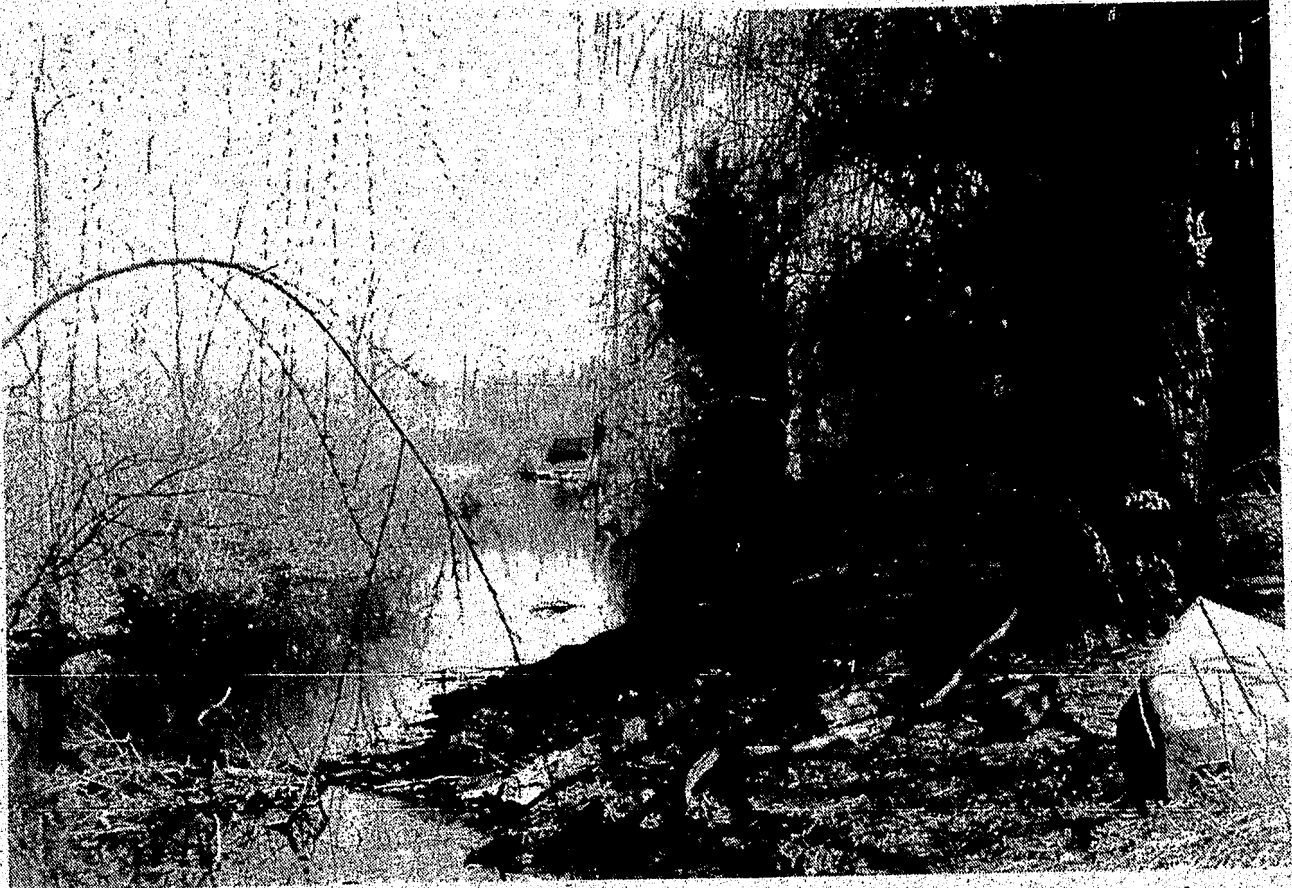

Before the board voted on the resolution, he said, "Quite frankly, this board will be dealing with mandatory recycling within six months in order to comply with the Oakland County plan."

Meeting dates change

The regular monthly meeting of the Springfield Township board has been moved back one night for May and June.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 10, and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 7 for those two meetings. Board meetings take place in the township offices at 650 Broadway in Davisburg.

The change was made due to conflicts with meeting dates of the Oakland County landfill siting committee, on which Supervisor Collin Walls serves as Springfield Township's representative.

THE SOUTH BRANCH of the Clinton River in Clarkston may become a six-foot-deep canal if residents living alongside it have their way.

Public hearing on Middle Lake canal

Plans for a canal behind Middle Lake Road in Clarkston is the subject of a public hearing at a Village of Clarkston Wetlands Review Board meeting 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 2, in the Village Hall on Depot Road.

Before construction can begin, the proposal must receive approvals from the village wetlands board, Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and Soil Conservation District.

If approved, the south branch of the Clinton River would be turned into a canal. The channel would be six feet deep and 40 feet wide, with the spoil deposited on the banks, according to an application made to the DNR.

The channel would allow access to Middle Lake for about 12 property owners living along the proposed channel, said Gary J. Tressel, village engineer and petitioner for the project.

Tressel, a resident of Middle Lake Road, said he was acting in support of his neighbors living along the proposed canal.

Some opposition has arisen from residents concerned about boats on Middle Lake, Tressel said.

The channel area was regularly cleaned out for boats about 20 years ago, according to village Manager Artemus Pappas. In recent years, however, the channel has filled with silt, Pappas said.

The proposal would require cleaning out the area. No land would be cleared, Tressel said.

The Clarkston Village Wetlands Review Board will meet at 7 p.m. at the Village Hall on Depot Road.

Friends, family say goodbye to Davisburg attorney

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Longtime Davisburg attorney E. Leonard Howarth died last Thursday, April 20, after a year-long battle with cancer, at the age of 46.

He was well known by friends as a humanitarian who would always help someone in need. When he first opened his law practice in Davisburg, one of his first fees was a bushel of wheat. He frequently used the barter system to help out a client who couldn't afford to pay money.

He was well known by many others as the eccentric attorney who showed up at the courthouse in blue jeans and a long pony tail in the early days of his practice. In later years, he wore a suit, but the eccentric side of him never changed.

His two law offices in Davisburg hinted at the man inside: one is painted red, white and blue like an American flag. The other, more conservative, sports a "Lenny the Lawyer" awning on the outside.

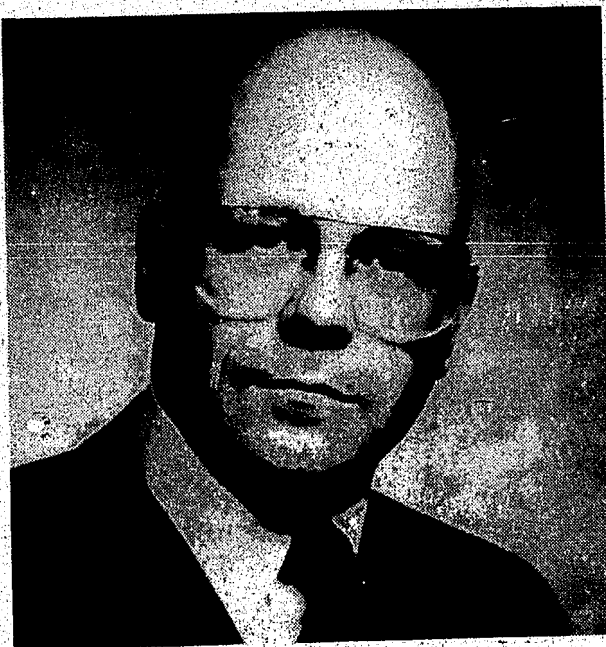

For many years, he was a perennial candidate. In 1976, he ran against L. Brooks Patterson for prosecuting attorney in the primary election, frequently using unorthodox campaigning. His platform was "Let's quit the chicken — it."

Later, in 1982, he ran as a Democratic candidate for the state Senate.

He was also a cave-exploring adventurer, a minister and a spark plug of the Davisburg Rotary Club.

Howarth graduated from the Detroit College of Law in 1969, and was a member of the State Bar of Michigan. Since 1970, he practiced throughout Michigan as well as in the federal courts and U.S. Tax Court.

On Sunday, a former classmate of Howarth's from Ferndale High School, Gov. James Blanchard, flew in to

E. Leonard Howarth

Clarkston in a helicopter to pay his last respects to Howarth.

According to Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent of Clarkston schools, the Michigan State Police first called him to arrange a landing on the Clarkston High School parking lot but decided the football field would be more satisfactory. Vaara was on hand to open the gates and greet Blanchard when he arrived Sunday afternoon.

Howarth is survived by his wife, Nancy, and two daughters, Alyce and Erin. Erin, 18, lives in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. and attends Vassar. Alyce, 19, lives at home and attends the University of Michigan, Flint.

The funeral service took place Monday, April 24, at Lewis-E. Wint and Son Funeral Home in Clarkston.

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls, who attended the funeral service, said, "(Howarth) was being honored and leaving life just like he lived it. It was not a traditional service.

"There was jazz music while we were seated," he continued. "And a guitarist sang a song about living young. It fit him."

Lakeview cemetery chapel fund planned

Citing a "considerable interest" on the part of Independence Township residents, a chapel fund may be organized at Lakeview Cemetery on White Lake Road.

George Anderson, director of the township department of public works, introduced the idea to the board April 18.

Anderson told the board that several families and funeral directors had expressed a desire to erect a chapel at the cemetery. He suggested organizing a chapel memorial fund to pay for its cost.

He predicted that the cost of the $80,000-$90,000 chapel could be raised over a period of five to 10 years.

According to a letter to the board from Anderson, one couple plans to donate their son's memorial fund to help pay the cost of the chapel.

The fund would be used solely for the construction of the chapel; a columbarium may also be added to house the remains of those cremated, Anderson added.

Sunday, a subject was cited for open intoxicants after police noticed a suspicious vehicle parked on M-15, Independence Township.

Sunday, trespassers were cited after they were found driving motorcycles on private property on Greenview, Independence Township.

The above information was compiled from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Firefighters chase teen bottle-throwers

Three Clarkston area teenagers may have been in the wrong place at the wrong time April 23.

The three drove past the Independence Township central fire station on Church Street, Clarkston, and tossed a bottle at two men standing nearby, according to an Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

The two men, both firefighters, raced into a nearby firetruck and chased the teens until they were able to stop them on Clarkston Road just east of M-15.

A passing Oakland County Sheriff Deputy took over from there.

A case of beer was found inside the teen's vehicle and at least one teen was described as being very intoxicated.

The firefighters decided not to press charges but demanded that the teens parents be notified.

Open house planned for home built by students

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

One new home in North Pointe Subdivision, Waterford Township, has a little younger work crew than most. The home was built by high school students from Brandon, Clarkston, Holly and Waterford schools participating in the building trades program through Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus.

The building trades program is taught by Dick Moscovic, building trades instructor at the Tech Center. A trailer at the building site in the 120-home subdivision offered space for classroom instruction, and the students got hands-on instruction constructing the home.

Working in two-hour shifts supervised by Moscovic, they roughed in the house, hung dry wall, insulated and did carpentry. They also worked with subcontractors provided by the sponsoring builder to pour the basement and do plumbing, electrical and heating work.

During a ceremony on April 19, a sign was erected at the site, 2472 Woodborne, saluting the North Oakland County Builders Association (NOCBA) and Mike Hofer, president of Welcome Homes, Inc.

Hofer was the host builder this year, in cooperation with NOCBA. He provided the materials, subcontractors, plans, and a site in the North Pointe Subdivision.

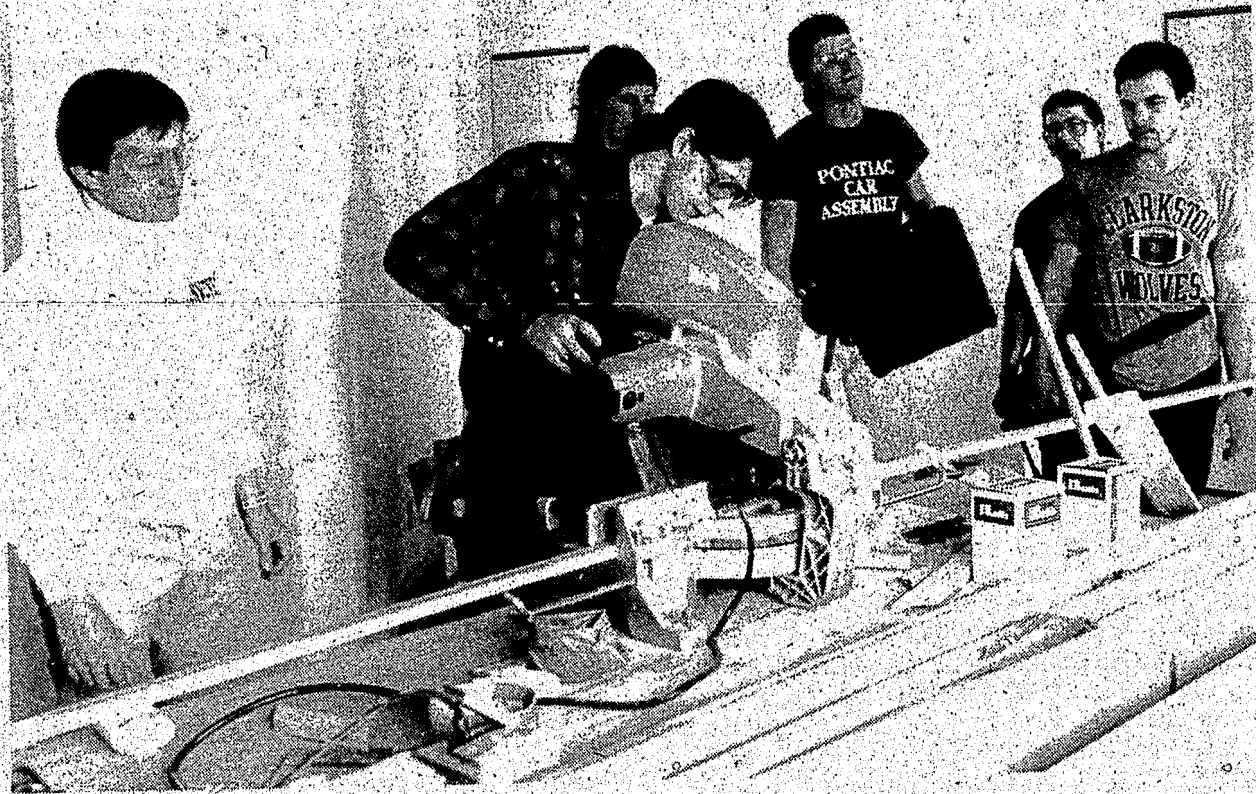

The building trades program which began last Sept. 21 was offered to CHS students for the first time in five years. The new program offered through the Tech Center was put in place after several years of planning by a committee that included, among others, Bill Neff, director of administrative services for Clarkston Schools, and Dan Manthei, principal at the Tech Center.

Twenty-four students, including four from Clarkston, are enrolled in the building trades program this year. The object of the exploratory class is for students to get a variety of experience in different building trades.

Students learn that building a house is a very technical game, Moscovic said. They learn that everything from reading blueprints to knowing codes takes technical skill.

The one-story home is scheduled for completion by the end of the school year.

The public can view the finished home during an open house planned from 1-4 p.m. on Sunday, June 4. North Pointe Subdivision is located off Clintonville Road, 1 1/2 miles south of Maybee Road.

INSTRUCTOR Dick Moscovic (left) watches while Jim Cohoon works on a power miter saw in a home built by students enrolled in the building trades program at Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus. Watching (at right) are three more Clarkston High School students in the program, Tim Kerr, Bill Kruger and Travis Williams. An open house is planned at the home in June.

The flavor
of the east

Julie
Campe

Sitting in the back seat of Val and Glen's Toyota Tercel, my knuckles turned white as I held on for my life. The entire trip had been leading up to this moment.

It started off badly enough. Chris had a case of the flu, so our trip was delayed by a day. Then, the first morning in Boston, I scooted my suitcase and felt shooting pains in my back.

I spent two days in bed, staring at David and Carol's ceiling. Lovely.

My 1 1/2-year-old niece, Madeleine, kept shooshing everyone whenever she came into the room. She thought I slept a lot and wondered why I never got out of bed.

While I lay there, Chris saw the Boston Marathon, and he went to the MIT book store and out to lunch.

I read the Sunday New York Times. All of it.

When I was finally able to get up, things got better. Chris and I mastered the Red and Green lines and went to Harvard Square, Newberry Street and Quincy Market, where we had a few of Boston's Best Brownies at Faneuil Hall.

We visited the aquarium and saw the development along Boston Harbor (talk about growth!), and we walked through the North End ("Little Italy").

We ate swordfish, and David graciously showed me how to de-vein shrimp — even let me do all 2 1/2 pounds.

Eventually, we made our way through southern Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York (right through the Bronx). We ended up in Piscataway, N.J., where Valerie showed us the campuses of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J., and Princeton University, Princeton, N.J. (she attends Rutgers).

Later, Ursula, 3 1/2, gracefully performed her latest made-up ballet steps while wearing her fancy pink tutu.

But the real adventures didn't begin until Saturday, when we hit New York City.

I guess it's kind of our fault. We told Glen we wanted the real flavor of the city, so he started with the taxi cab angle of the Big Apple — darting in and out of traffic lanes, with only hair widths to spare.

Later, we rode in a few legitimate taxis, and they were slow as slugs compared to Glen.

We started with a walk through Central Park and made our way to Fifth Avenue, where we saw FAO Schwarz, Steuben glass, Saks, Trump Tower, the old Scribner's building and more.

We witnessed a protest on behalf of the planet Earth, and we bought souvlaka from a street-side vender. We saw the ice rink that Donald Trump fixed when the city couldn't, and we gawked at the Rockefeller Center.

We tried not to stare too much at the homeless and the blind people selling pencils, and we walked quickly through 42nd Street, where drugged out people huddled around garbage cans and leered from adult movie house doorways.

The World Financial Center was pretty slow on a Saturday, but we visited it anyway and ended up in Battery Park, where we caught a ferry to Ellis Island. As we waited for the ferry to pick us up again, we stood bunched together on the windy dock, and we understood very well what Liberty's poem means when it refers to the tired, huddled masses.

Dinner was the best: Crawfish, shrimp and okra gumbo and chicken and dumplings at the Gulf Coast.

We were so sated that our knuckles didn't even turn white when Glen sped through Manhattan and across the George Washington Bridge back to New Jersey.

Letters to the Editor

The story is clear

The removal of Jan Gabier as assistant principal of Clarkston Senior High School is OH SO CLEAR NOW! How could we have missed the unfolding of the pages? It just took a short while for us to reach the real PUNCH line!

Picture the story — Bob Burek comes to our community as principal of Clarkston Senior High, and with him came Sandy Srabian as a counselor. Bob Burek goes to a half-time central board office position and half-time administrator in the high school.

Sandy Srabian moves to a half-time administrator in the high school. Jan Gabier is removed as assistant principal in mid-year! Sandy Srabian takes over Jan Gabier's office, secretary and some of her duties! HOW MUCH CLEARER COULD IT BE?

I don't think there is much doubt about who will officially become the next high school assistant principal.

Oh, yes, one more twist to the story — even though Jan Gabier has been removed from the high school, she still must handle the high school driver education program and the night school adult education program.

Ironically, don't you think? She wasn't good enough to stay at the high school, but she is told she will direct those programs, not by choice but by decree from the powers above...

Wake up, people. The bed time story is over.

Removal is unfair

Jan Gabier deserves a citation for her honest, fair and consistent way of performing her former duties as assistant principal at Clarkston High School — not a kick in the pants by the people who haven't stood in her shoes in such a tough job.

She had to deal with disciplinary problems all day long and with irate parents who often wanted exceptions made for their kids. Is it any wonder that a few parents purportedly complained about Miss Gabier to Dr. Burek?

The policies at the high school regarding student attendance and behavior are clearly written, and Miss Gabier followed them to a T. Jan didn't care if the guilty party was a school board member's child, the son of a teaching colleague or anyone else with an "inside advantage."

If a student deserved suspension, he/she got it. The rules and penalties applied equally to everyone. Frankly, this type of fairness is pretty unique, and it's definitely not popular.

Isn't it strange that Miss Gabier's consistent methods of handling attendance, student discipline and parent complaints — some of her actual strengths — were the very points cited as her weaknesses at the school board meeting? (Incidentally, I noticed that most of the board members were not duped by the weak excuses used to support her dismissal.)

Since when are such qualities as firmness, fairness and honesty considered faults?

Community members need to demand full accountability from those who asked for the removal of Jan Gabier from her position at the high school. CHS has lost a decent, hard-working administrator.

Jim's Jottings

Policemen are your friends. Much is written and said about the good they do... how they are there in time of need.

Policemen go to elementary schools to talk to the younger students of bike safety, warn of strangers, and to promote goodwill toward all men in blue.

However, policemen are also used for training the young in other ways. Parents and others may mention them in teaching tikes to do things right.

Such as: "If you don't come here this minute I'm going to call the police!" "Get out of the street or a policeman will arrest you!" "I'm going to call the police if you don't quiet down!"

I'm not going to say right here in print for all to read that some of this language has been used in the rearing of my grandson, but...

The grandchildren, Danny, 4, and Karen, 11 months, accompanied their parents to Arizona while we were there on vacation.

We frolicked in the hot sun, splashed in the pool, napped, took walks, ate Cherrios, and looked for road runners, snakes, and lizzards.

One of the fun restaurants in Scottsdale for kids is Bobby McGees. It's a chain with eateries in Hawaii, California, Colorado, Texas, and Arizona. All waiters, waitresses, and greeters are dressed in costume.

There was a pirate, cowboy, seniorita, etc, and there was a policeman. The policeman was assigned our table. He had a lingo a mile long, as did the other help.

They do a great job on "Happy Birthdays". Four will get together and sing, only there is no comparing it to the traditional song. We heard three versions in an hour, all different and entertaining.

The policeman told us jokes, played tricks and talked us into having appetizers, which we never have... especially at those prices.

The policeman, Mr Meaner, was not accepted well by Danny. As soon as he left out table, Danny complained of a sore tummy. He cuddled up to his mommy.

On the next trip to our table, Mr. Meaner made up something to allow him to say to Danny, "You're under arrest!"

First Danny took to his dad's lap, then around the table he came to mommy, with his second sore tummy. However, mommy was busy feeding Cherrios to Karen to slow down her pounding the highchair tray. What did parents do to quiet kids before Cherrios?

The policeman was persistent. He told Danny he was "under arrest" three times during the evening. The last time, thankfully, Danny had grown to like the policeman.

Now, as I said, I'm not saying his parents made police threats in training our grandson, but after the experience with Mr Meaner they probably won't use the same technique on Karen.

He will be missed

I didn't know him well. But I know that he represented the very best side of humanity. While dying of cancer, he candidly talked of what it was like and how to cope with it, thoughts I could share with the rest of the community through a story I wrote earlier this year.

Those of us who have known the loss of a loved one to cancer understand what the family of Lenny Howarth went through. Those who are suffering from cancer today might have gleaned some comfort from Lenny's story in the Feb. 8 edition of The Clarkston News.

Offering suggestions for feeling better while coping with the disease, he said, "Even if you don't live, you live a better life while you do."

And so he did, until his death on April 20.

The Roads We Travel

Roads would not improve with county takeover

Brent Bair

A few months ago, I commented on what I thought would happen to our local road system and road maintenance services if Independence Township became a city. My conclusions?

Our taxes would go up, and we might see some improvements in road maintenance and a few more road improvement projects. Why?

Because as soon as the new city officials started receiving road related complaints about roads that used to be the responsibility of the road commission and now would be the responsibility of the city, those officials would realize that the normal road revenues (gas, tax and license plate fees) were simply not adequate and would look for other ways to generate the needed revenues to provide the services demanded by the taxpayers.

In other words, those officials would reach the same conclusion officials in every other city and village have reached in this county and would seek additional revenues.

The biggest incentive for seeking funds to fix the roads would be that those officials would no longer be able to direct the complaints to the road commission. The responsibility for the roads would rest with those officials.

Well, thus far the township has not become a city, but there is still a possibility for another change in the control of the roads in our community.

For years, County Executive Daniel Murphy has not only expressed interest in taking over the road commission, but has even endorsed legislation that would permit him to do so. Of the 83 counties in Michigan, only Wayne County has abolished its road commission and put those operations under the control of the county executive.

Whether or not that change was beneficial for Wayne depends on how bad a job the road commission was doing and how much better things are today.

If you listen to the Wayne County politicians today, you get one story. If you talk to the staff who are trying to get things done down there, the story changes considerably.

So what do I think would happen if Dan Murphy were to take over the road commission?

Our taxes would go up, and we might see some improvements in road maintenance and a few more road

He was a colorful character, traits often highlighted in the many stories written about him. But "Lenny the Lawyer" Howarth was also a deeply caring humanitarian whom friends say would give his last dime to help another.

Cancer does not discriminate. It takes the young and the old, the good and the bad.

Lenny was definitely one of the good guys. He will be sadly missed in the little community of Davisburg where he lived and worked for so many years.

Thanks for car help improvement projects. Sound familiar?

The reasons are, the same as before. Once Dan Murphy and the 27 county commissioners can no longer blame the road commission but must assume direct responsibility for the condition of the county roads, they, too, will learn that current funding levels are grossly inadequate and will begin looking around for other sources of revenue (other taxes!).

The county (and cities and villages) still have some authority to raise taxes to meet identified needs. The road commission has never had the power to raise taxes, regardless of the extent of the needs or how bad the situation has become.

Even though the county's budget has grown significantly in recent years due to property tax and other revenues from all the development, Mr. Murphy has indicated that he is not about to invest any additional county funds in roads unless he has control of the road commission and thus control of where the moneys are spent.

The road commission has offered to sign a binding legal contract guaranteeing that Mr. Murphy could pick the projects, but apparently that is not good enough.

Here is something to think about. If county taxes are raised for road improvements, where do you think those improvements would occur, in Independence Township or further south in the county where the majority of the population (and voters) reside?

All 27 county commissioners would want to make sure their area got their "fair share," but there are more commissioners in the southern half of the county than the northern half.

Here is something else to think about. Why would anyone want to take over an agency that is grossly underfunded and faced with overwhelming demands due to the traffic problems related to the tremendous economic development that has occurred in the county in recent years?

It is analogous to someone running up to the captain of the Titanic with an offer to buy the ship. AFTER the ship has struck the iceberg!

Taking a shot
at Ted Nugent

Jim Fitzgerald

A young friend, probably for the first time, was impressed with me. "Hey," he said, "I read in the newspaper that Ted Nugent thinks you're nuts and a hypocrite. I'm surprised that you're well-known enough for Ted Nugent to even know you're alive."

Ted Nugent? It had to be explained to me that Nugent is a rock and roll singer. "He's really wild; you'd hate his music," my young friend said. "They call him the Motor City Madman."

OK, it's true my appetite for rock and roll doesn't go much beyond the Beatles. But to each his own. I don't care what kind of noise Nugent makes, as long as I don't have to listen to it. And I certainly wouldn't criticize Nugent if he didn't enjoy my old Glenn Miller albums. Different tunes for different generations.

"It's not music, it's hunting," my young friend said, and handed me a clipping of an article written by my favorite outdoors writer. In it, Nugent said this about antihunters:

"They're nuts, anyway. They ought to face reality. Death is death, whether their roast died from an electric shock or a sledgehammer in the skull or my roast died from my arrow or bullet."

Motor City Hypocrite?

And, getting more personal, Nugent added that he wanted to be sure "Free Press columnist Jim Fitzgerald spells my name right when he writes about what a subhuman I am. Double coverage. That's terrific. He stands there in his leather shoes and belt and hollers about my bearskin. What a hypocrite."

Oh, my. To give Nugent the well-spelled double coverage he desires, I must once again repeat why sport hunting sickens me:

I don't enjoy killing mosquitoes; it's not a sport, like golf. I wouldn't enjoy killing the beef for my hamburger. It's a fact that slaughterhouse workers don't enjoy their work, to the extent that they often require psychiatric counseling.

It's nature's way to feed upon itself, and there's nothing to be done about it, especially if you worry about a vegetable that starts as a seed, grows large, and ultimately dies, much the same as a dove. But why does a thinking, rational human being enjoy hastening the inevitable death of any living thing?

I understand the pleasure of exploring the wilderness in hopes of seeing wild animals. I understand the fellowship of deer camps, and the fun in showing a youngster the raw beauty of a forest and its inhabitants. I understand killing for needed food.

I don't understand why it is fun for a hunter to put out bait, hide up in a tree, and then shoot the bear that comes to eat the bait. Instead of killing the bear, why not take its photo?

Instead of going to a hunting preserve and paying cash to blow little birds to pieces, why not shoot skeet?

What, in God's name, is the pleasure of pulling the trigger and watching a living thing fall, bleed, perhaps writhe a while, and die? That's fun?

Thrill kills aren't necessary.

Of course, as Nugent said, "death is death" whether the animal dies from a sledgehammer or a bullet. But it is nonsense to say that obvious fact makes a man wearing leather shoes the same as, for instance, one of the brave hunters - equipped with high-powered rifle and four-wheel-drive trucks - who enjoy killing buffalo crowded out of Yellowstone Park.

About the Yellowstone hunt, the New York Times reported: "From 25 feet away, Bill Dede drops a female with a single rifle shot to the head. The creature stumbles a few feet, then collapses, blood spilling into the snow. 'This is a once-in-a-lifetime thrill,' Dede says, looking over his kill."

Ted Nugent thinks that type of sport - killing for pleasure, not meat - is fun, and it's hypocritical of me to criticize it while wearing a leather belt. Without hearing his wild music, I'm sure I'd like it better than his twisted logic.

If people ever stop killing animals just for the fun of it, they may someday stop killing each other for equally specious reasons such as religion and real estate, and that would be the end of war.

Sure, I must be crazy to believe that utopian day will ever come. Just call me Motor City Madman II.

Walk for hunger

Clarkston area residents have an opportunity to make a significant contribution to the less fortunate of our community by participating in the 1989 Lighthouse Hunger Walk on Saturday, May 6.

Lighthouse is a last-chance emergency relief human service agency which serves Clarkston and northern Oakland County. In 1988, 22,431 clients received free food from Lighthouse.

Since its beginnings in 1981, the annual Lighthouse Hunger Walk has raised approximately $135,000 to feed the hungry in Oakland County. Last year 500 walkers raised $30,000, greatly surpassing the goal of $25,000.

The 1989 goal is $30,000. Walk participants solicit pledges either as a one-time donation or on the basis of number of miles walked. The walk course is six miles through the downtown Pontiac area.

Gov. James Blanchard is the honorary chairman of this year's Lighthouse Hunger Walk. For registration materials or more information, please call Lighthouse at 335-2462, weekdays.

Reducing waste is a good start

Every day I am becoming more and more aware of man's impact on the environment.

How many disposable items do we have in our society? What are we teaching our children when we so nonchalantly throw away everything? We are teaching them that the earth is expendable. But the earth, our only home, is not expendable.

We as a society must learn to respect our earth. We must learn to recycle waste products such as newspapers, glass, used motor oil, etc. The list is endless.

I predict that within a few years' time we will have new laws regarding waste that we generate, laws pertaining to stricter control of factory emissions, laws regarding mandatory recycling of waste products, and laws regarding biodegradability of waste products.

We as consumers can demand companies to produce items and packaging which is biodegradable.

I have taken steps to reduce the waste I generate in my household: I have stopped using disposable diapers (which take 500 years to disintegrate), I save newspapers for the local church paper drive, and I collect discarded foods from my kitchen (potato peels, egg shells, etc.) for use in my garden.

What can you do to reduce your waste?

People's attitudes must change regarding recycling. Just as it was cool to smoke a few years ago and now it's practically taboo, so the attitude regarding our environment will change.

Mark my words.

Headlee rollback is not a loss

The Headlee Amendment prevents increases beyond the inflation rate. How can an increase that never existed be a loss?

I am tired of this type of propaganda. In Mr. Haner's blue letter dated April 6, this rollback which he called a loss was 1.08 mills or $550,000.

In The Clarkston News dated April 19, the rollback was stated as $1.6 million or 2.2678 mills. It looks like more math and science should be taught to not only the students but also to the school administration.

Did the teachers' 6 percent raise for next year occur before the budget was forecast? What inflation rate was this 6 percent raise based on?

I thought automatic years of service raises were already in the teacher contract. I am still irritated over the five-hour instead of six-hour classroom time in the second year of the existing teacher contract.

I am tired of "Give me more, give me more." If you think I am irresponsible for this attitude, what do you think of our state Legislature?

I cannot support any additional local school taxes until our state Legislature creates a base for schools, for example, 12 percent of the state budget for local K-12 schools.

Premium is unfair

I want to clarify the supplemental premium (sur-tax) seniors will pay because of the new Medicare/Catastrophic Act that became effective in 1989.

Many seniors thought the additional supplemental premium would be paid for by their Blue Cross/Blue Shield supplemental insurance or any other insurance company (Medigap).

No, no you are wrong!

It is a tax payable to the IRS paid by you, the senior. The words "supplemental premium" are misleading and confusing—done so by our elected politicians who thought they could get away by sneaking in an additional tax for seniors only.

As more and more seniors are understanding the Medicare/Catastrophic Act they have become furious. "How could our Representatives do this to us?" I am asked.

You, adult children, who have senior parents inform them of what is occurring, otherwise if this act is not repealed, your parents may one day be forced into poverty or fall a burden on you.

Transplant patients thankful for organs

We are writing on behalf of the nearly 450 people in Michigan who in the last year received transplanted organs: hearts, heart-lungs, livers, pancreata and kidneys.

We are young children, teenagers and adults; we are parents and children of people who received the Gift of Life — an organ given through the generosity of a family grieving the sudden, tragic death of their loved one.

This is Organ and Tissue Donor Awareness Week. We transplant recipients have a message to each Donor Family: We want you to know who grateful we are for everything you have made possible. We want you to know what your gift of life has meant to us, each patient and family.

~The baby whose growth was stopped by kidney failure, who faced certain death, who now grows and plays and who brings joy instead of pain to his parents ...
~The teenager who spent her life dying, who now looks forward to living, to finishing high school and her senior prom ...

~The young physician, unable to practice medicine due to his illness, now back at work helping others ...

~The father who knows he will watch and help his children grow to adulthood.

Our lives have changed. Your gifts have brought us back from lives of sickness and pain, away from the edge of death. Our lives are precious to us and our families because we know how fragile life is.

And our lives are doubly precious because we know they began again in the tragedy of your loss, began with your generosity during the most terrible hours of your family's life, when your loved one tragically died.

In Michigan alone, there are nearly 700 people awaiting kidneys, 41 awaiting hearts, 17 pancreata, 15 livers and two heart-lungs. Many will die while waiting due to the tragic shortage of donor organs.

We have a message for everyone who has not considered organ or tissue donation: Please fill out a donor card (available at any Secretary of State's office) and place it on your driver's license. If you have any questions about organ donation, please contact the Organ Procurement Agency of Michigan at 1-800-482-4881.

You can be part of the miracle of transplant by giving the Gift of Life.

A widow or widower with an adjusted income of only $6,700 will pay this additional sur-tax. A couple will begin paying with an income of $11,100. To me, that is just above the national poverty level which is $5,770 for a single person and $7,730 for a couple.

For each $150 tax liability on your income tax return, payable in 1990, add a 15% sur-tax (supplemental premium) with a maximum of $800 tax for a single person or $1,600 for a couple. The following year the tax increases 25% and by year 1993 it jumps to 28% capped at $2,100. Wow!

According to the Institute for Research on the Economics of Taxation, 46% of senior citizens will pay this additional sur-tax (supplemental premium) and 56% will pay by year 1993.

To add an additional sur-tax for only seniors is outrageous. What happened to "Read my lips, no new taxes?"

We seniors must stop this Medicare/Catastrophic Act but you must call and voice your opposition today. Call or write.

Bailey Lake pupil in "Music Man"

There's a familiar face from Independence Township in Waterford Mott High School's spring musical, "Music Man."

Jimmy Territo, a fourth grader at Bailey Lake Elementary School and the son of Joseph and Beverly Territo, auditioned and won the role of Winthrop in the well-known musical.

Winthrop is a sad little boy who gets caught up in the deceiving charm of the music man and later finds out the man is a fraud. Jimmy both sings and acts in the role.

Four of Jimmy's brothers and sisters graduated from Waterford Mott and acted on the same stage under the direction of Dick Williams, according to his mother.

Williams, an Independence Township resident and drama teacher at Waterford Mott, is also director of "Music Man."

The musical runs April 27 and 28, and May 4, 5 and 6 in the high school auditorium at Pontiac Lake and Scott Lake roads. Performances begin at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets at $4 are available by calling the school at 674-4134. At the door, tickets are $5.

"Jimmy is also in his school's talent show (May 25 at Bailey Lake) and has a piano recital coming up soon," says Beverly. "So he's going to be on stage a lot."

Does your child have SCOLIOSIS?

Chiropractors, as pioneers of spinal research, recommend that the best time to detect scoliosis is when the child is in the most vulnerable years (4-10 years old). Scoliosis, which is the lateral or side to side curvature of the spine, can eventually cripple a person. Unfortunately, without early detection, it can remain unnoticed until it has progressed to crippling proportions. Have your child checked for scoliosis by a doctor of chiropractic. The curvature can often be corrected or reduced through regular chiropractic adjustments. Don't let your children suffer needlessly.

Business survey to plan for Springfield growth

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A two-part business retention study scheduled in Springfield Township should help plan for the future as well as help businesses currently located in the township. "It's a chance for businessmen to have a say on growth in the township," said Doug Lewan, planning and development coordinator for Springfield Township.

On April 13, the township board unanimously voted to support a survey and business retention program in cooperation with the Springfield Township Economic Development Committee, Davisburg Rotary Club, Bank One and Michigan Bell.

Lewan has been designated as project manager.

The survey, which includes questions about township services, the economic future and the businesses themselves, will be sent to 140 businesses (including home occupations) in the township. When the results are compiled, a task force will make recommendations in a final report.

According to a resolution passed by the township, the survey will help identify problems which the township might be able to address, identify future plans of businesses, and open up lines of communication between businesses and the township government.

The two-part survey, sponsored by Michigan Bell at no charge to the township, includes first a mailing, then a face-to-face interview, according to Lewan.

"It will be community intensive," he said, using many volunteers. Training of volunteers and mailings explaining the survey will begin soon, with the survey itself tentatively planned for June.

"It's a way to find out exactly what we have," Lewan explained, "And give us definite directions for economic growth in the township."

Math winners named

Five Clarkston High School students were honored for their achievements in the 32nd Annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition.

The students are: seniors Marie Powell (who also qualified last year) and Doug Treder, juniors Brad Wilson and Matthew Cook, and sophomore Meredith Higdon.

The students were introduced to the board of education on April 10 by Jan Modesitt, chairperson of the mathematics department at CHS, and given framed certificates of achievement.

The math competition is open to students statewide on a voluntary basis. About 21,000 students elected to participate in this year's contest, including 53 from CHS, according to Modesitt.

Part I of the competition, which is co-sponsored by several Michigan corporations plus the Mathematical Association of America, consists of a 100-minute test. The top 1,000 students are invited to take Part 2, including the five students honored from CHS.

The combined scores from Parts 1 and 2 determine the rank of the top 1,000 students statewide.

This is the second consecutive year that CHS has placed five finalists among the state's top 1,000 students in the competition, Modesitt said.

She offered congratulations to the five for their accomplishments in mathematics.

"You've done yourselves and your community proud," she told them after their introductions.

Cable-TV set for July

North Oakland Cablevision is close to the point of starting service to some of the residents of Springfield Township, according to Gary Voelker, president.

Voelker was at the April township board meeting to get approval for aerial cable rather than underground on two private township roads, Sherwood and Patrick, because conditions on those roads would make it impractical for underground.

The board gave Voelker unanimous approval.

Voelker reported to the board that the head-end site, the location they transmit and receive from, would be completed soon.

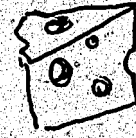

"We hope in May to turn people on," he said. The cable service is expected to be completed by July.

Don't Be Shy

Vigil illuminates problems with child support

BARBARA PETROFF, pictured with her granddaughter, Christine, is organizing a Clarkston chapter of ACES. A nationwide

ACES candlelight vigil is planned locally for 7 p.m. Thursday, April 27, on the steps of Royal Oak City Hall.

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Township resident Barbara Petroff knows first hand the frustrations of fighting for child support as she raises her 4-year-old granddaughter, Christine.

But she found a lot of support in a self-help group, ACES (Association for Children for Enforcement of Support, Inc.), a non-profit organization founded in 1984 which now has 15,000 members nationwide.

That is one of the reasons, she says the organization's candlelight vigil, "Light a Spark of Hope for Forgotten Children," is so important. It is a way to draw public attention to children living in poverty because of unpaid child support.

The third annual candlelight vigil is going on nationwide. In this area, it takes place Thursday, April 27, at 7 p.m. in the front steps of Royal Oak City Hall, 211 Williams. The local vigil is for Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Nationally, over $18 billion is owed in child support, according to figures compiled by ACES. In Michigan, the figure is $2.8 billion, and only 19.6 percent of that has been collected.

It costs the government millions in welfare, Petroff said, when child support is not paid.

ACES is dedicated to assisting disadvantaged children affected by parents who fail to meet legal and moral obligations. It provides educational information concerning child support and legal rights.

"I've learned to use the legal system and not be intimidated," Petroff says.

She is organizing a Clarkston chapter of ACES, with the first meeting planned for Tuesday, May 9, at 7 p.m. in Pine Knob Elementary School. The group would meet once a month on the second Tuesday of each month.

Interested persons may contact Petroff at 625-1959.

Baseball

Wolves 0, Rochester 5
April 15 — Jon Koslosky gets the only hit in Clarkston's first game this season.

Wolves 3, Ferndale 5
April 15 — CHS racks up 8 hits in the second loss of the year. Darin Brandt goes three for three at the plate, and Todd Bennett hits two for two.

April 17—The Wolves pick up their first win of the season and are undefeated in the GOAL. Senior Ben Underwood is the winning pitcher, giving up only three hits. Jon Koslosky hits three for three; Underwood hits three for four.

April 18— Pitcher Kevin Keilitz picks up the win against the Milford team, with help from Brandt, who hits three for five; Koslosky, three for five; Bill Jawlick, four for four; and Matt Carson, three for four. Koslosky and Jawlick each hit a home run.

April 20 — CHS comes out on top in the double header against Pontiac Northern. In the first game, Underwood pitches the whole way for the win. Brandt goes two for four at the plate; Carson goes three for four with one home run; Bennett hits two for three; and Erik Mackson hits two for two.

In the second game, Erick Phillips pitches the entire stretch and gives up five hits. Koslosky hits five for five; Phillips hits two for four; and Doug Lederman hits one home run in his two-for-five record at the plate. The Wolves are 4-2 overall, 3-0 in the league.

Wolves 4, Brandon 2
April 17 — Omar Trevino spun a 2-hitter for the Wolves as they slipped past Greater Oakland Activities League foe Brandon.

"We didn't hit very well, but we played good (defense)," Coach Kurt Richardson said of the game.

Wolves 8, Lakeland 5
April 18 — The Wolves' mound corps continued to shine as Matt Smith tossed a 2-hitter to stop Lakeland in its tracks.

April 20 — Dugan Fife was the winning pitcher in the opener with relief help from Trevino. Jenkinson was the top hitter with a 2-for-3 performance at the plate. Mike Corcoran threw a 5-hitter in the nightcap to

The victories pushed the Wolves' early season record to 4-0 despite a lack of offensive firepower.

Wolverines 6, Holly 5
April 17 — Clarkston rallied with four runs in the sixth inning to top Holly at home. Four players knocked in a run apiece for the victors.

Devin DuPree, Garnett, Halleran and Jamie Young all had an RBI. Jeff Wagner pitched four shutout innings but Garnett, who relieved him, picked up the victory.

Wolverines 15, Crarys
April 18 — DuPree went four-for-five at the plate with four runs batted in, while Dave Smith and Mark White added three hits apiece to pace the Wolverines to their fourth straight victory.

Halleran had two RBI's in the game. Jarvis was the winning pitcher.

Overall, Clarkston has a healthy .388 team batting average. Leading hitters for the Wolves are Smith (.636), Deikowski (.600), Seitz (.500), Halleran (.444), White (.429) and DuPree (.400).

Softball

April 17 — Colleen Cruz pitched six strong innings for the Wolves, who led 7-4 going into the seventh inning, before things fell apart.

April 18—After a shaky first inning, Lauren Caston pitched four good ones for the Wolves. Lakeland scored six times in the opening inning to hand Clarkston its second loss on the season.

April 20 — Clarkston feasted on poor pitching performances by the Huskies to win this double-header easily.

Although the Northern contests didn't test the Clarkston batters, Coach Dennis Bronson said he's got a good group of hitters.

April 17 — The Wolverines raced out to a commanding 12-3 lead in the first three innings only to see Holly make a game of it later. Clarkston won the contest in eight innings.

Julie Smith had four hits including a double and a triple; Tina Nolen had three hits, and Jayna Rose added two including a triple to pace the victors.

Angela Shuttleworth and Jennifer Andryco were the pitchers for Clarkston.

April 18 — The shoe was on the other foot the following day as the Wolverines found themselves down a lot of runs early (9-2 in the fourth) before they rallied to make a game of it.

Nolen had three hits and three runs batted in to lead the team. Melissa Barnett and Missy Irish had two hits and two RBIs apiece.

The loss evens the Wolverines' record to 2-2.

CHS goes the distance against Northern

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With their top sprinter injured, the boys track team relied on distance events to beat out rival Pontiac Northern.

Jason Wenger won the 3200-meter and 1600 races to help the Wolves, now 2-1 overall, defeat their top foe in the battle for the Greater Oakland Activities League title.

But that's not to say he didn't have help from his teammates.

"It was a good victory for us," said Coach Walt Wyniemo. "With (Jeff) Shupe hurt, it was a good team victory. It really was."

Jody Lueck won two events, the long jump (with a 21-foot leap) and the 110 hurdles (in 14.96 seconds).

Paul Krause won the shot put with a showing of 45 feet, 3 3/4 inches. Wally Wyniemo was third with a toss of 37-7 3/4.

Jeff Locher led a trio of Wolves in the pole vault at 11-6. Ron Gibson and Rob Brown tied for second at 11.

Lueck placed second in the high jump, just two inches out of first place.

J.J. Price won the discus in a breeze with a throw of 140-10. Teammate Ross Rosenthal was second at 118-7.

Brett Kinzler (11.62) was second in 100 dash, and Dane Davis (11.95) was third for the Wolves. Chris Vandermark was third in the 1600 run with a time of 4:53.49. Chris Blimka was second in the 400 dash with a clocking of 53.74.

"The seconds and thirds made a big difference for us," the coach said. "Our times were real good. Our kids rose to the standards."

The 400 relay team of Locher, Erick Becher, Davis and Kinzler won with a time of 46.77.

Locher (44.27) was third in 300 hurdles as was Jason Kinzler (24.32) in the 200 dash. Paul Brisson finished third in the 3200 run with a time of 11:09.

While the victory was an important step to the GOAL title for the Wolves — they are defending champions — the coach isn't ready to celebrate.

"This is only one step in the whole thing," he said. "We still have to face them at the league championships here (at Clarkston)."

Wolves win with defense

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Consider it poetic justice. After working their hind-ends off in the first half without a goal, Kim Kolody nets the game winner for the girls soccer team while resting on the seat of her pants.

With 27:30 to go in the game, midfielder Tami Mitchell raced down the far sideline before hitting Kolody with a crossing pass. Kolody then redirected the ball into the net while on her backside.

Karen Lowe added an insurance goal about 18 minutes later off a direct free kick as the Wolves downed Greater Oakland Activities League foe Waterford Mott 2-0 on the road.

Besides the two goals in the second half, Clarkston had numerous opportunities to score. The Wolves finished with a whopping 33 shots on goal, 20 in the first half alone.

Clarkston began the game with the ball and kept the pressure on the Corsairs from the onset. Mott rarely moved the ball past midfield during the first 20 minutes of play.

Several bobbles by Mott's goalie provided Clarkston with extra chances to score, but the team couldn't capitalize.

Between the goals by Kolody and Lowe, Nancy Carosella had an excellent scoring chance go down the tubes when she rang her shot off the goal post.

After a slow start this season, the team is starting to come alive, Coach Hana Olsen said.

"We played really good," she said. "The passing out there was great. The team is gelling well."

Katie Rieman earned the shutout in goal.

The victory boosts Clarkston's overall record to 2-1 and its GOAL mark to 1-0-1.

Earlier in the week, the Wolves hosted GOAL rival Lake Orion and tied the Dragons 1-1.

On April 13, the Wolves beat non-league foe Lapeer East 1-0 on a goal by Lowe. Rieman again earned the shutout for Clarkston.

BMX season opens

The 1989 bicycle motocross season shifts into high gear with the season opener at Waterford Oaks on May 8.

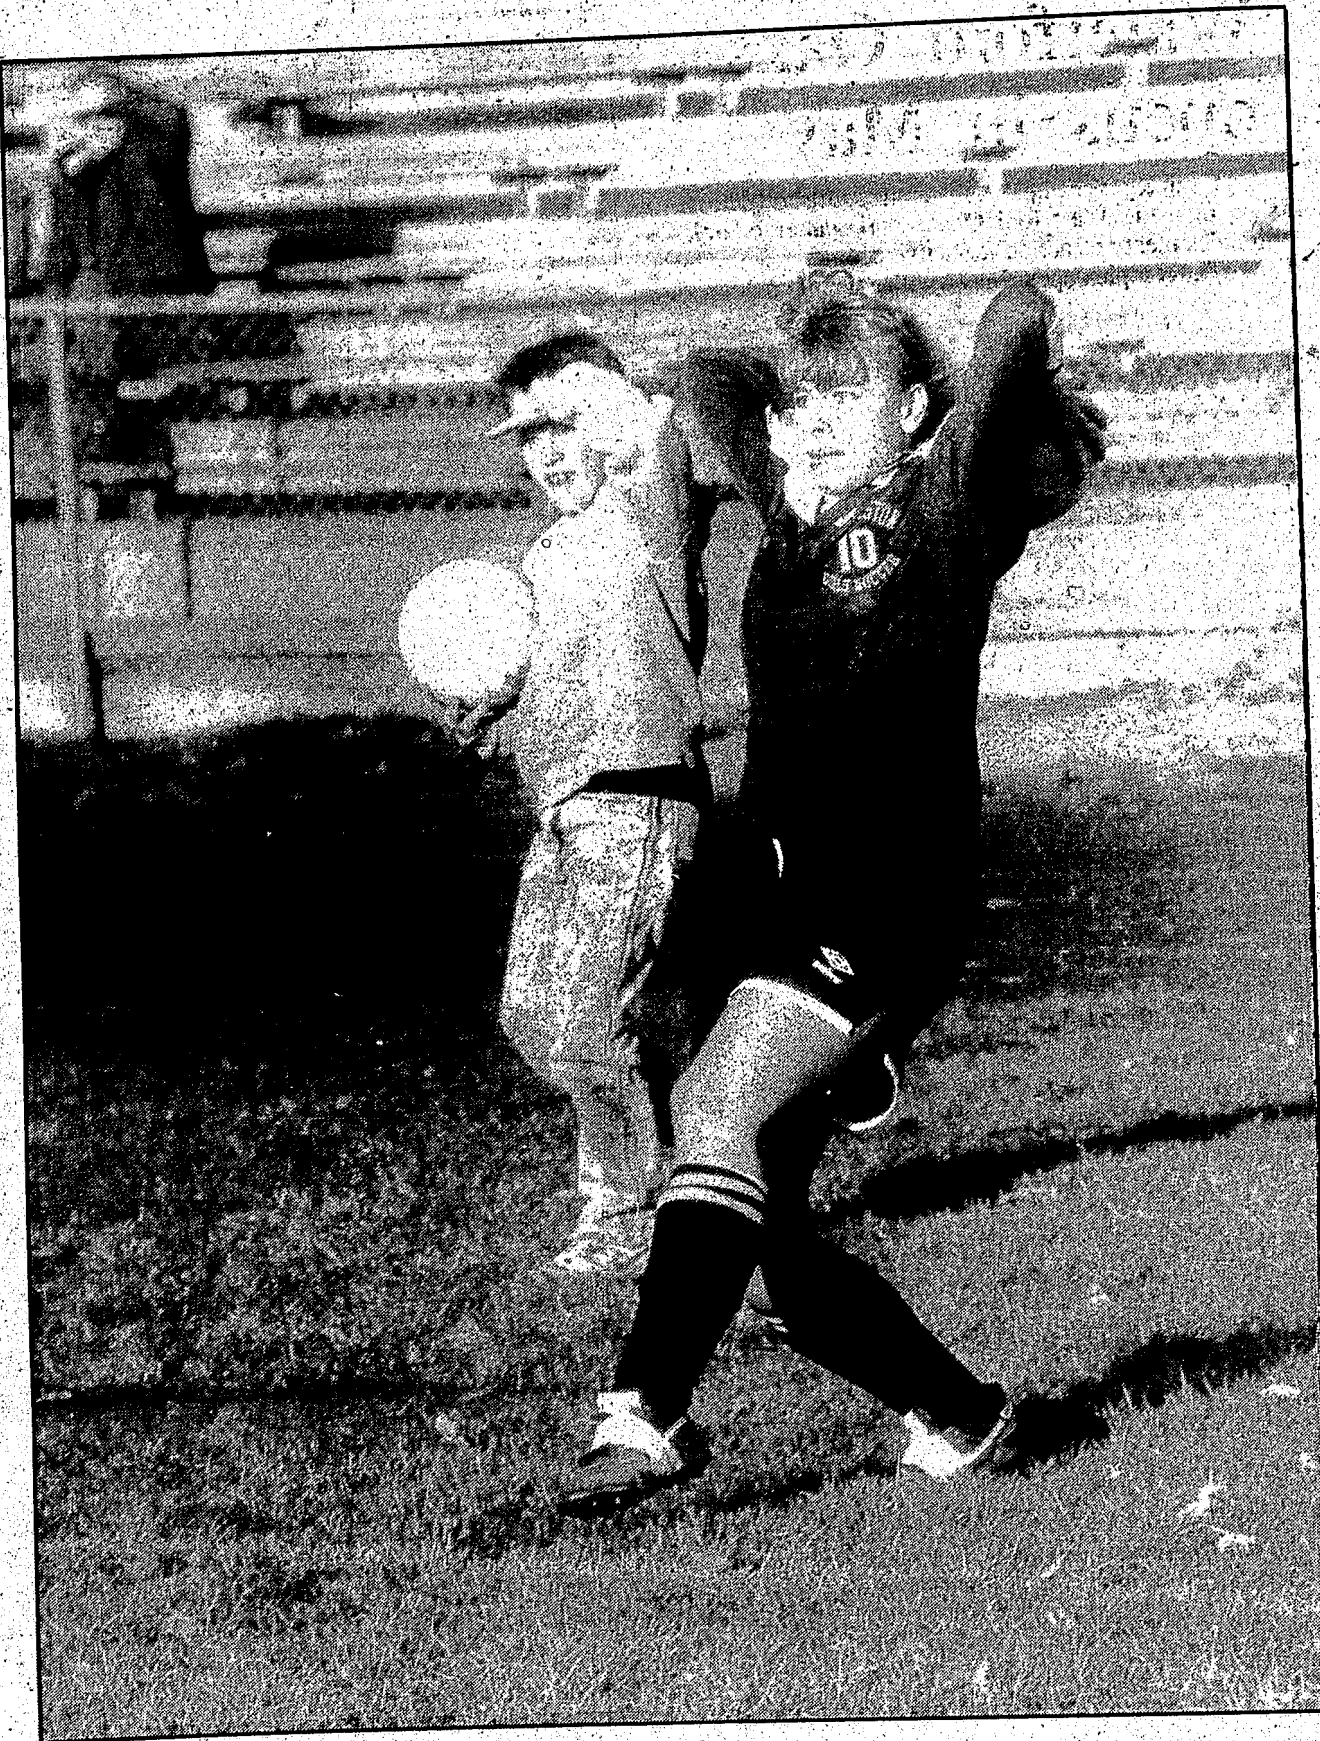

A full schedule of practices and tournaments continues through the summer. Supervised practices are scheduled for Mondays and Tuesdays from 5 to 8 p.m. through Aug. 29.

A non-sanctioned beginners program, designed for racers with no previous BMX experience, is set for Thursday nights.

Racing, sanctioned by the National Bicycle League (NBL), begins May 13.

The Waterford Oaks track, rated as one of the top 10 courses in the country, will host the NBL Nationals July 1 and 2. Top racers from across the nation will attend the two-day event, considered a highlight of the BMX season.

Helmet and bike rentals are available at the Waterford Oaks track. Waterford Oaks County Park is on Scott Lake Road, between Watkins Lake Road and Dixie Highway. For more information, call Vicki Zuthof at 858-0915.

Girls track team makes strides

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Solid performances from top to bottom enabled the girls track team to snap its losing streak with a win over Pontiac Northern.

A strong showing in the field events plus contributions from the distance runners helped the Wolves to a 73-55 win against their Greater Oakland Activities League rival.

"It was a pleasant surprise," said Coach Gordie Richardson. "We swept the shot put and the discus. That's 18 solid points we haven't been getting."

Stacey Secatch came through in the shot put with a toss of 27 feet, 8 3/4 inches to win the event. Karri Sikes

Individually, Lisa Palazzola won the 1600; Chinavare won the 800; Roeser won the 400, and Jenny Mahler won the 3200.

"We ran real well," the coach said. "The distance kids did what they had to do."

"There were good performances and good times from everyone on the team. They did a heck of a job." won the discus with a throw of 75 feet.

The 3200-meter relay team of Nichole Chinavare, Carrie Roeser, Kim Toretta and Emily Winfield were winners with a time of 10 minutes, 48.4 seconds. In the 800 relay, Michelle Darby, Tracy Chamberlain, Michelle Blevins and Michelle Folwell raced to a first-place time of 2:03.7. Northern won the other two relays.

SONYA SCHAFFER finishes off her share of the 3200-meter relay for the Wolves against Milford.

McCormick hoops camp set for June 19

Athletes who also like to write have a chance at a scholarship to the annual Tim McCormick basketball camp.

McCormick, a former Springfield Township resident who currently plays in the National Basketball Association with the Houston Rockets, is offering three scholarships to the winners of a writing contest.

To enter, kids should write a short essay explaining why they want to attend the McCormick camp. The entries should be sent to Tim McCormick Basketball Scholarship Contest, 6595 Middle Lake Rd., Clarkston, MI 48016 in care of the athletic department. The winners are to be selected on June 1.

The week-long camp at Clarkston High School, open to students in fourth through ninth grade, begins Monday, June 19, with the same format as last year. A University of Michigan or Detroit Pistons player may make a special appearance during the camp.

Reporter's Notebook

It's always great fun watching reactions of children when a Clarkston News reporter shows up at a school event with a camera. Since children generally love to have their pictures taken, they pretend they don't want to and do everything they can to get you to snap their picture.

At a recent program in Clarkston Elementary School's multipurpose room, a young pupil sitting cross legged at the front of the crowd first gave the reporter his name, then watched intently. When all else failed, he tried a little "diplomacy," complimenting the reporter's shoes.

Independence Township resident Jon Abbott (restorer of the Boothby house on Main Street, Clarkston) stopped in The Clarkston News office April 24 and mentioned that he spent Saturday, April 22, in New York City.

Turns out that he dined at the Gulf Coast restaurant in Manhattan—the same place, same day, same time that staff member Julie Campe also dined. Small world.

The Detroit Monthly magazine this month carries another article written by former Clarkston News Editor Kathy Greenfield.

The Independence Township Fire Department got a special thank you from township Trustee Frank Millard, whose 11-year-old daughter fell and sprained her ankle at Clarkston Elementary April 13.

"I want to commend the fire department," Millard said during the board's April 18 meeting. "They responded very well."

Items in Reporter's Notebook are compiled by The Clarkston News staff.

25-unit apartment complex OK'd

A two-building, 25-unit apartment complex planned for Dixie Highway received a unanimous site plan approval from the Springfield Township Board April 20.

The Courtright Dickson Apartments site plan was tabled last month until permits from the Oakland County Health Department and Road Commission were received. The permits were received in time for the April board meeting.

The apartments are to be located on the west side of Dixie Highway, near Lowrie Landscaping in Springfield Township.

Poetry Corner

Never Say Goodbye (a tribute to Doreen Stuart)

I'll never understand why you had to leave me.
Your absence has put an emptiness in my heart that will never again be filled.
I have so many questions,
but only you know the answers.
Now that you're gone, all I can do is wonder.
I would do anything to see you just one more time,
so I could hear your laughing voice and see your dancing eyes
as we held hands and talked for hours into the night.
I wish I could have told you again
how much I really do love you.
The stolen hours I spent with you are so invaluable to me.
I miss you terribly,
but your presence is always felt.
So many things remind me of you because you touched my life
in so many different ways.
My memories of the time I had with you are still very much alive,
even though you are not.
Something terrible has taken you from me,
and that makes me so angry!
How could this happen to you?
Although I'm angry, I'm also very sad,
for this has forced me to say goodbye to you
long before I was ready.
But the more I thought,
the more I realized
that we haven't really said goodbye.
True friends never say goodbye.
So this is not a farewell, my forever friend,
but until we meet again....
I love you.

Citizens for Orderly Growth

Growth and taxes

Doug Carlson

The next COG meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 3, in the Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot Street.

The speaker will be Clarkston School Board member Mary Jane Chaustowich, who will discuss the relationship between growth and taxes. In view of the forthcoming millage election, this is a timely topic and should provide an interesting meeting.

The meeting is open to the public, and your attendance is encouraged.

Back in December, 1988, there was a meeting of homeowners' associations and other interested parties in Oxford, Lake Orion, Independence, Metamora, Addison and Dryden townships. Their purpose in coming together was a mutual concern about how to retain the semi-rural character of the north Oakland County area.

The group formed a non-profit organization called the North Area Citizens Conference (NACC), elected a board of directors, and determined membership dues.

Jim Reed, who is on the board of directors, and I are representing Independence Township, but all interested parties are encouraged to become involved. As the group proceeds, I will report its progress through this column.

A little over a month ago, the NACC was contacted by a group representing residents in Holly, Brandon and Groveland, asking if they could network with the NACC, since they have similar concerns about future development in their areas. A networking system between the two groups is being worked out.

In their first meetings, the NACC developed a series of issues which they felt should be addressed by the respective townships. Some of these issues are:

- Concern about increased density of housing, more intensive road development, extension of sewer services, overdevelopment of apartments and condominiums and the location of heavy industry.

- Development of a comprehensive wetlands ordinance.

- Development of a woodlands ordinance.

Like Independence Township, the NACC will develop a survey of public opinion on these and many other issues.

In addition to the above, the NACC developed a "wish list" of points and concerns which they plan to address in due time. Included in this list are the following items which I thought might be of interest to you:

- Try to create interaction between the planning commissions of the various townships since their decisions also affect their neighbors.

- Protection of our lakes through the adoption of ordinances against "keyholing."

- Support of existing downtown business establishments as opposed to developing "mini malls" or "strip malls" in the area.

- Resolution of the problem of trash dumping along rural roads.

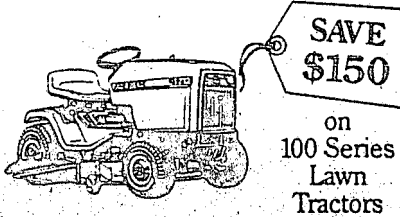

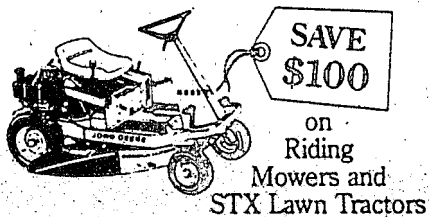

- Liaison at the state level — especially with the legislature and the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The next meeting of this group will be Saturday, May 6, at 1 p.m. in the Oxford Library. If you would like to become involved, please feel free to attend.

Doug Carlson is chairperson of Citizens for Orderly Growth.

Opinion of Bill Myers

"Catastrophic" tax lives up to name

William A. Myers is a retired Lapeer County editor and investments manager from Boca Raton, Fla.

Why, oh why, did Congress in its infinite wisdom ever set the scale of the Catastrophic Health Tax increase of $22.50 per $150 of tax liability?

Because it would make the bite look smaller, perhaps? Because few people would translate that into a 15 percent jump in tax?

While the lawmakers were being so sly, they also cunningly put the tax into effect Jan. 1, 1989, but said it wasn't necessary to figure this in estimated tax for 1989. If you don't allow for it, then you will have the whole schmeer hit you with your April 15, 1990, return.

Some have already figured that $22.50 extra for every $150 you pay is 15 percent.

The rate lasts only a year. Then it goes to $37.50 per $150 - and that's 25 percent. If the Congressmen are getting howls now at 15 percent, let them wait a year until the populace understands it will be 25 percent in 1990. Let the AARP do some more back-pedaling furiously and claim this all was never their idea.

After 1990, it will go up 1 percent a year - 26 percent, 27 percent, 28 percent. Lord knows when it will stop.

Just this year, a couple 65 or older

(and thus eligible) will pay up to $1,600 extra tax. By 1993, the lid will go up to $2,100.

Golden years. Indeed they are - for the U.S. Treasury.

A while ago, I announced a prize for the first person to write and tell me a word in the English language that had the letters "UFA" in that sequence somewhere in the word.

First to reply was the sage of San Francisco, Dr. Fred Bold, with the word "tufa," which we challenged, because it wasn't the one we had in mind, and we thought he had made it up in a devious attempt to win the prize.

Dr. Bold then sent us a page from his dictionary:

tufa (toofa) n. Geol. A porous rock formed as a deposit from springs or streams.

So we packed off his valuable prize to him.

The word we had in mind was "manufacture," but we had to allow the entry of tufa, stupid word that it is. Sounds more like the latest oat bran cereal.

Just above tufa on the dictionary page was "tuckahoe." This is the edible sclerotium of a subterranean fungus. Class dismissed. Permanently.

This is the week for bits and pieces of information.

At an investment seminar, we learned that (with some exceptions, of course) if the surviving spouse of a decedent is not a citizen of the United States, the marital deduction is disallowed.

This was part of a federal law passed Nov. 10, 1988, and summarized on page 455 under Estate Tax 26,2056 of the Federal Register.

Better get your spouse naturalized.

Zero coupon bonds: You can overpay on the cost basis if you sell before they mature.

Example: You buy a 10-year zero coupon bond, maturing 1999. Your cost is $400, say. The yield is 10 percent to maturity, when the bond will be worth $1,000.

So suppose you sell the bond in 1992 - three years after purchase.

Your cost basis is not what you paid for it, but the compounded accreted value for the time you held it - in this example, three years.

If the yield was 10 percent on the $400 you paid for it, then the first year's accreted value would be $40, plus 10 percent, or $40, for a total of $440.

The next year, though, the accreted value is $440 plus 10 percent, or $44, or a total of $484.

The third year, 10 percent more, or $48.40, making $532.40 for your cost basis after three years.

If you had used just straight interest of $40 a year, you might have assumed the cost basis had become 3 times $40, or $120, for a total of $520.

Doesn't sound like much for just one bond. If you had 100 of them, though, it would be a $1,240 higher cost basis and therefore $1,240 less capital gains tax - $1,240 times .28 percent tax equals $347 you've saved by struggling through my figures.

Made it worthwhile to buy the paper, didn't it?

Reflections SECTION 2

Wednesday, April 26, 1989 Page 33

Once upon a time, there was ...

BY PAT YOUNG
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Once upon a time, there was an principal named Bill Potvin who knew that his pupils at Clarkston Elementary School were interested in writing, so he designed a Creative Writing Program.

As a result of a fundraiser in the 1987-88 school year, he was able to schedule a unique group of professional actors called The Storybuilders out of Ferndale to come to the school in the spring of 1989.

But first, he hired a professional illustrator to come in on March 2 and meet with each grade level, fueling their interest with on-the-spot illustrations of story ideas they created.

Then, over the next month or so, teachers taught units on creative writing and worked with those students who wished to write their own story. There was no pressure for students to write, and they did not know they would be rewarded with The Storybuilders Show at the end of the project.

They simply wanted to write. And for every student who did, a special Creative Writing Certificate was awarded.

Teachers in grades 1-5 turned in the top stories from their classes, and these students received a "Principal's Blue Ribbon Award."

The top stories were given to The Storybuilders, who came to the school on April 11 and acted out three stories for the entire school, much to the surprise of the students whose stories were chosen.

First, the three actors, Mimi Spiwak, Michelle Walker and Dan Spahn, performed "The Alien and Me" written by second grader Takouhy Teberian.

To the delight of the the sea of spellbound faces before him, an alien creature with a nose on top of his head and a singing bush for a sidekick said to an Earthling girl, "Excuse me, I seem to be slightly lost..."

Looking at his map, he showed her the solar system he was aiming for when his space ship developed problems and he got stuck on Earth.

Borrowing a "gas can" (a young student) he filled it at a "gas pump" (a teacher) and poured it into his ailing "space ship" (never mind that it was really a piano used by music teacher Gloria Lacy).

The alien's new friend showed him some Earthlike things, such as beaches and sand castles and television.

Before flying off in another space ship which rescued him, he thanked her with a lesson of his own: It was good, he told her, that she wanted to be friends with him because sometimes when people see someone different, they're afraid to be friends.

The next story, "A Huge Problem," was written by third grader Julie Koval.

There was a young girl named Julie who lived on a farm. Her mother, who was milking a cow, sent her on an errand to borrow flour from a friend for making cookies.

At the friend's house, Julie drank buttermilk which made her grow taller than a house.

Her mother shrieked in horror. First, she tried to help Julie return to normal size by calling in a psychiatrist — after all, she thought, they are "shrinks," right?

But that didn't work, and finally, she had Julie drink another glass of buttermilk, which, alas, reversed the process; and Julie returned to her normal, childlike size.

All's well that ends well.

The third and final story acted out by The Storybuilders was called "Bridget's Bridge," written by fifth grader Anne Scott.

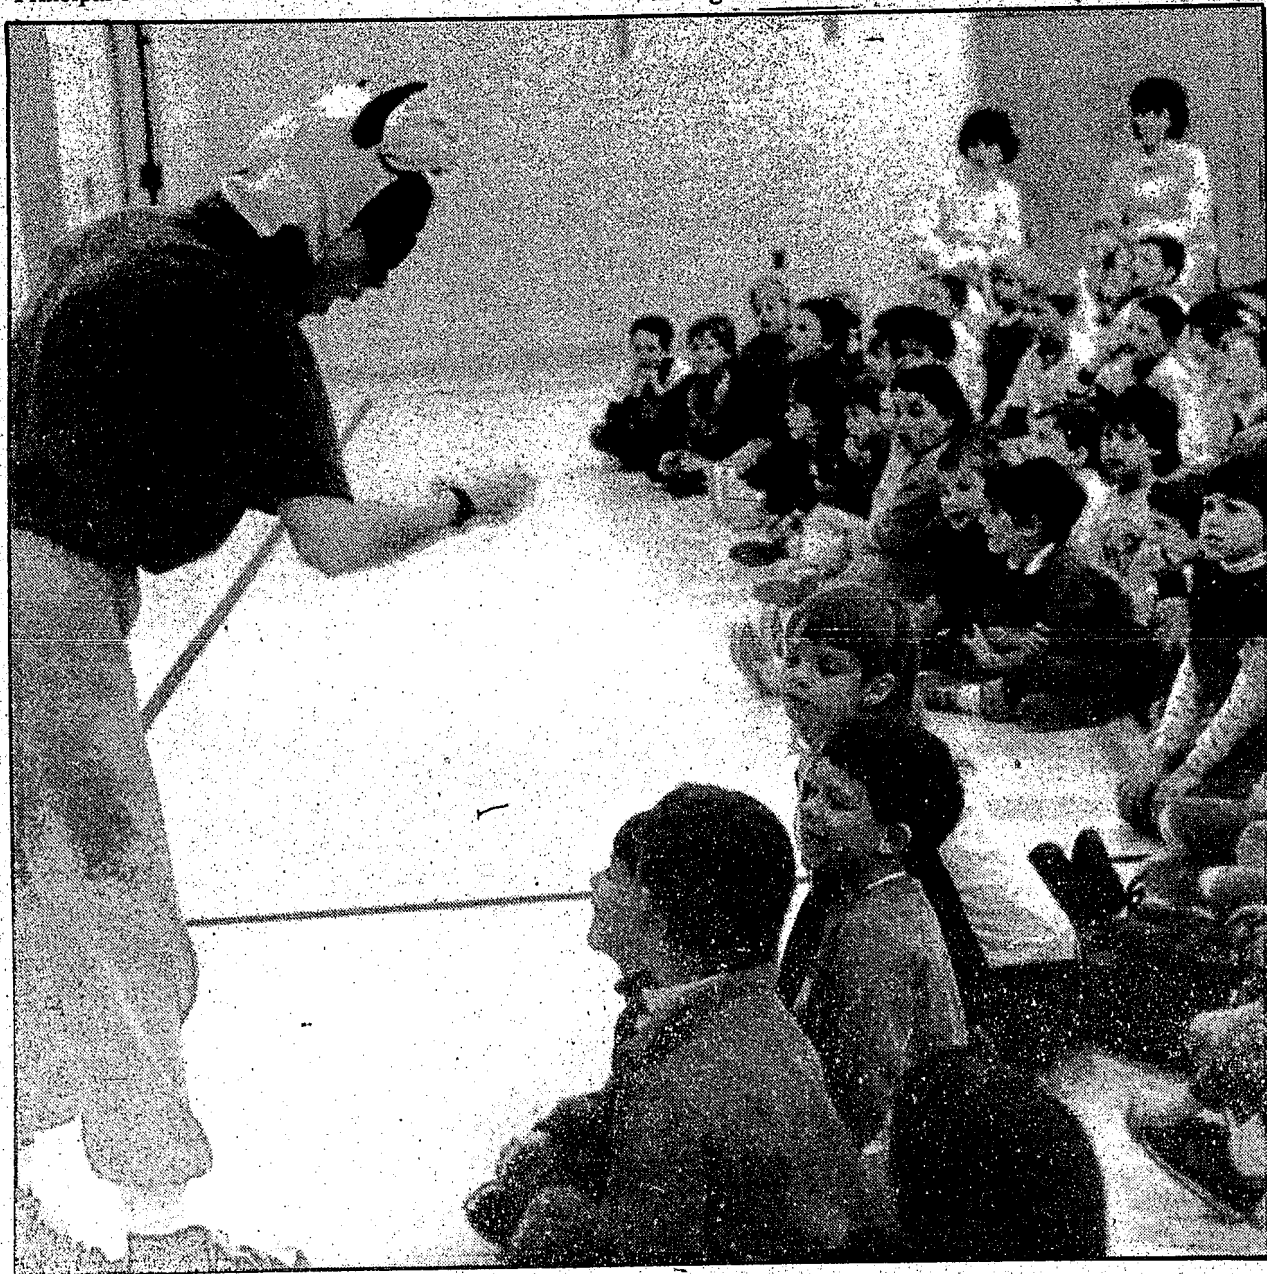

It seemed that a cow named Bridget lived in Holland with a farmer, but she was always trying to get at the pasture across the river, where, naturally, the grass always seemed greener.

After several adventurous failed attempts to cross the river, Bridget watched as workmen built a bridge across the river. The farmer named it Bridget's Bridge, and Bridget the cow finally tried out the pastures on the other side.

The Storybuilders, masters at improv, had a captivated audience for the hour-long assembly.

And Potvin, who plans to repeat the program next year, said it "exceeded my expectations." The staff was pleased; the pupils took it seriously, and the parents had nothing but good comments.

The moral to this story is that, given a little spark and encouragement, children's imaginations can do wonderful things. And in the process, their writing skills are honed for the future.

THE STORYBUILDERS act out stories written by pupils at Clarkston Elementary School during a creative writing program. Three professional actors with Storybuilders were at the school, Mimi Spiwak, Michelle Walker and Dan Spahn. Here "Bridget the Cow" tries to reach greener pastures.

AN ALIEN, portrayed by Dan Spahn, visits earth as he acts out a story, "The Alien and Me," during a special program at Clarkston Elementary School.

"Notable" musicians honored in state contest

DOUG TREDER and his tenor saxophone will appear in the Youth Arts Festival May 12. Doug's invitation to play followed his performance at a statewide solo and ensemble festival.

Two Clarkston High School music students were recognized for outstanding performance at a state-wide music competition.

Vocalist Mark Young and tenor saxophone player Doug Treder won top honors at a recent state solo and ensemble festival in Howell.

As a result, the two will participate in the Youth Arts Festival at Western Michigan University May 12.

The state contest required each participant to perform two pieces and demonstrate their ability to sight-read music. Those participating earned the right to compete in an earlier district contest.

Youth Arts Festival participants will take part in various auditions and rehearsals, and will perform in a concert conducted by Donald Schliecher, currently director of bands at the University of Michigan.

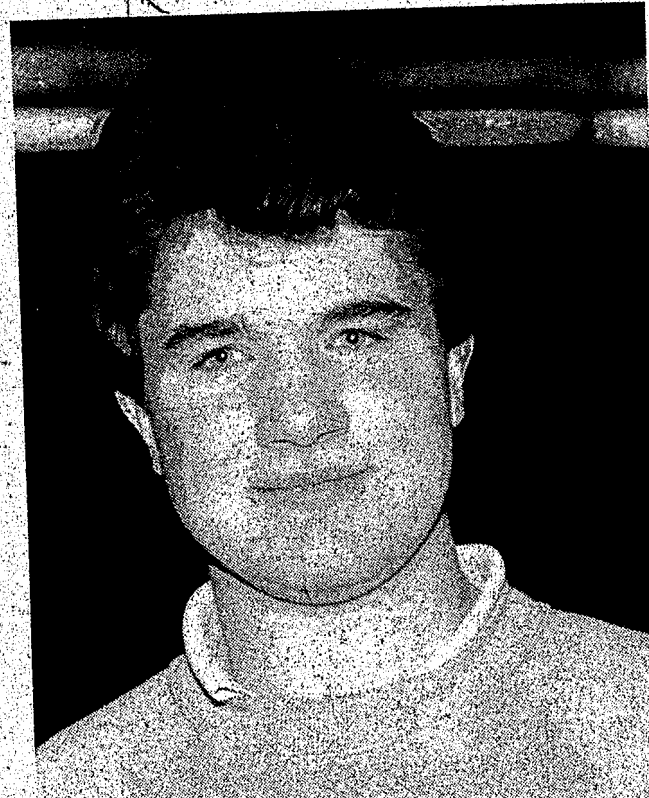

Other Clarkston High School students recognized at the state solo and ensemble competition include:

Rating I

- Jennifer Johnston
- Alicia Nyberg
- Carrie Slade
- Matt Oliver & Scott Zumwalt (tenor/bass duet)

Rating II

- Carrie Monroe
- Marie Powell
- Melissa Sloan
- Robert Taylor
- Scott Zumwalt
- Rebecca Abdoo & Melissa Sloan (soprano/alto duet)
- singers in the a capella quartet
- madrigal singers

A BARITONE SOLOIST, Mark Young was chosen as one of the state's outstanding soloists. He is one of 10 soloists that will participate in the Youth Arts Festival May 12 at Western Michigan University.

Honors

David A. Wulbrecht, an Oakland University, Rochester, student from Clarkston, was initiated into Beta Gamma Sigma national honor society in business and management on April 14.

Membership in the society is the highest national recognition a student can receive in an undergraduate or graduate program in business or management. To be chosen, a student must rank in the upper five percent of the junior class, upper 10 percent of the senior class, or upper 20 percent of the master's class.

Wulbrecht received his masters in business administration.

Luke Windram of Clarkston, an eighth grader at Roper City and Country School in Birmingham, was one of eight students from that school who chose to exhibit his project in the Science and Engineering Fair of Metropolitan Detroit.

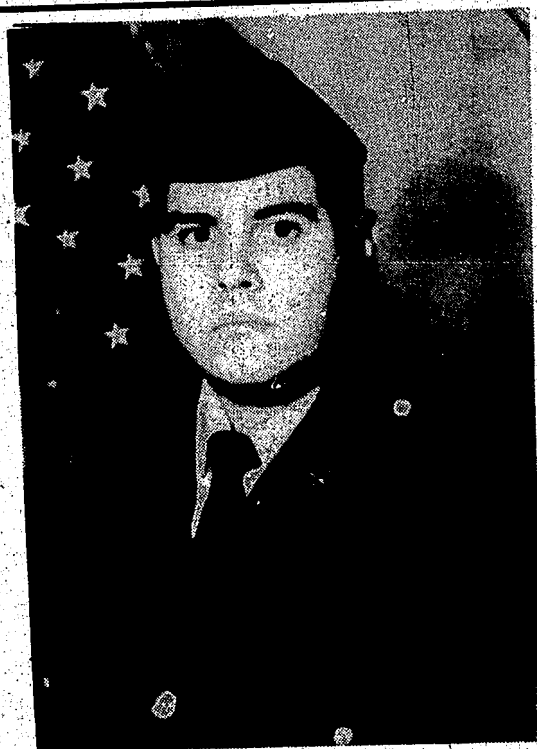

He received an honorable mention award for investigating the effects on acceleration caused by changes in the length of an engine exhaust chamber.

A number of area students have been recognized for outstanding academic achievement during the past year at Eastern Michigan University.

The students earned cumulative grade point averages of 3.0 or better on a scale which extends to 4.0.

In service

Pvt. Robert R. Mendieta Jr., son of Pat Mitchell of Tartan Drive, Clarkston, and Robert Mendieta Sr. of Colton, Calif., has completed basic training at Fort Sill, Okla. During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid and Army history and traditions. He is a 1987 graduate of Brandon High School.

McElmeel and Eicher trade vows

Sheila Ann McElmeel and David Alan Eicher exchanged their marriage vows at the Dominican Sisters Chapel in Oxford. Fr. Charles Cushing, from St. Daniel's Catholic Church, performed the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Bev and Jim McElmeel of Rustic Trail, Independence Township. A 1982 graduate of Clarkston High School and 1986 graduate of Central Michigan University, she is employed by the K Mart Corp as a copywriter.

The bridegroom's parents are Kathy and Al Eicher of Bloomfield Hills. A 1982 graduate of Lahser High School and also a 1986 graduate of CMU, he is employed by Video Trend as a sales rep.

For her Nov. 19 wedding, the bride wore a gown of satin, sequins and pearls with a cathedral-length veil and train. She carried a bouquet of silk roses, stephanotis and ivy accented with pearls.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister Mary Beth McElmeel. Bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Laurie Sweet of Bloomfield Hills and college roommates Sandra Hebert of Troy, Julie Meyer of Birmingham, Julie Gartner of Wyandotte and Diane Bauman of Southfield. They wore black floor-length gowns.

Best man was Eric Nordlund. Groomsmen were Jim McElmeel, Paul Sweet, Rick Reid, Jeff Baker and Greg McTaggart.

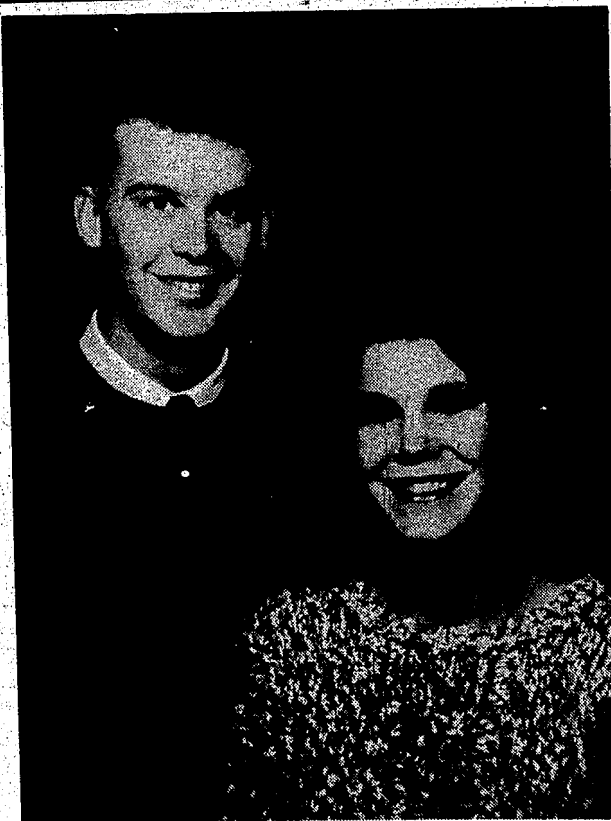

The ceremony soloists were Lisa George of Chicago and Kevin Dennis of Bloomfield Hills; both formerly of Clarkston. The music, performed by a string quartet, was arranged by the bride's cousin Jonathon Hirsch.

Following their reception at Indianwood Golf & Country Club, the couple took their honeymoon trip to Barbados. They are residing in Bloomfield Hills.

NEWLEYWEDS: Sheila Ann McElmeel and David Alan Eicher

Engagement

Mr. Gerald Garrett of Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township, and Ms. Barbara Garrett of Williamsbury, Pontiac, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lisa Marie Garrett, to David Lee Hendry of Folkstone Court, Troy. The bride-elect is a 1986 graduate of Clarkston High School and is a junior at Oakland University, Rochester, where she is majoring in human resources development. She is employed in the billing department of Broner, Inc., Troy. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Hendry of Folkstone Court, Troy. He is a 1983 graduate of Troy Athens High School and attends Oakland Community College. He is a decorated veteran of the U.S. Army and is a clerk at Michigan National Bank. A June 3 wedding is planned.

New arrivals

James and Christine Duris Cunningham of San Diego, Calif., are the proud parents of a baby girl.

Elizabeth Theresa Cunningham was born March 18 at Scripps Hospital, San Diego. She weighed 9 pounds, 13 ounces and measured 23 inches long.

Maternal grandparents are Joseph and Elizabeth Duris of Hillside Drive, Clarkston.

James and Paula Duris Earnest of San Diego, CA are the new parents of a baby girl.

Joseph Patrick Earnest was born April 4 at Sharp Hospital, San Diego. He weighed 8 pounds, 13 ounces and measured 20 inches long.

Maternal grandparents are Joseph and Elizabeth Duris of Hillside Drive, Clarkston.

Club notes

Women leaders, thinkers and policy makers from around Michigan gathered in Lansing on March 15 for the annual Joint Legislative Day.

The event, co-sponsored by The American Association of University Women, The Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women, The League of Women Voters and The Junior League, addresses issues of concern to the more than 18,000 members of the four groups.

The keynote speaker was Robert Bowman, State Treasurer. He presented an optimistic outlook on the financial future of our state.

Joan Rogers and Sharon Johnson represented the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club at the conference.

The day was filled with workshops designed to help women be better able to effect change through the legislative process.

Grad

John Patrick Duris was among the December, 1988, graduates of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

John is the son of Joseph and Elizabeth Duris of Hillside Drive, Clarkston. He is presently employed at the Mission Agency of San Diego, Calif., and is preparing to enter law school in the fall.

Friendship revisited

Kristen Bilicki

11:30 p.m. Monday night. As I walked into my house, slowly closing the door behind me, I expected a reprimand. I was late, so naturally stern words were appropriate for the situation. Instead all I was greeted with was, "Meredith called, she's coming in a week and she'll be staying three days."

This was a shock to me. Unanswered questions swarmed through my mind. Why now? Why after six months away, did she call me? Why after six months did she finally decide to come back to Michigan?

Meredith is my best friend. We had been through so much, and then suddenly she and her family moved to New York. Even if I was given years to prepare, I still would have been shaken by her absence.

I could no longer call her up and hysterically recite my problems one after another, hour after hour. We couldn't go out to lunch on Sunday afternoons, or get together on Friday nights. Even though we always wanted to make plans, we ended up just sitting and talking.

There are also the memories of writing notes in class, talking at lockers, walking around the halls making endless circles in the mornings. Don't ask me why. It is just something people in junior high school do.

I think, as I look back, it has something to do with fitting into the social climate at school. It doesn't really matter now, a few years have gone by now, even if I felt like making my rounds, who would I walk with?

Who would I go to see movies with, who would I rent "Ladyhawke" with? That was our thing. We loved every moment of that movie, maybe in some way it gave us hope that there could be romance, magic, tenderness, and beauty in the world.

At any rate, in our silly teen-age way, it represented our dreams. It became our theme movie. In fact, I even bought the soundtrack, and I listen to it as I write this. It still holds the nostalgia of romantic heroes coming to carry us off into the sunset.

Maybe it represents a happiness and security in youthfulness that in some ways seems lost. I can remember crying as I listened to the music at a time when the distance to New York seemed unbridgeable. Why now, out of the clear, blue sky, was she calling me?

Many times I angrily wrote letter after letter, complaining to her and threatening her with foolish, desperate words, begging her not to forget our friendship. Yet I never had the nerve to send them. I needed someone to tell my pain, worry, and despair to, and also my happiness, successes, and most of all someone who understood the way a foolish melodramatic movie could make a girl, for no apparent reason, feel like crying.

Monday 9:27 p.m. I made sure I kept myself occupied, doing senseless odd jobs to pass the time. I dreaded the fact that I had to call her. After six months of silence, I had to break the muteness by telephoning New York. As I dialed the phone, I secretly prayed the line would be busy, or that I could just leave a message, thus putting off the impending doom of an actual conversation.

"Is Meredith there?"

"Who's calling, please?"

"Kristen..." I was delighted when I heard a sudden rumble on the other side of the phone line, the I heard the familiar squeal of delight, in a way that only a friend can give when saying the word "Hello!"

At least I felt comfortable holding the phone. We talked as though she had never left. Instead of long drawn out pauses, the time went by too quickly, there was too much to say.

10:15 p.m. I hung up the receiver on the telephone, she really was coming back! Like the times in the past, we made plans for all the things we were going to do but I would still be content to just sit and talk. Maybe even listen to the theme song from "Ladyhawke" and cry, and once again dream the romantic dreams of forgotten teen-age memories.

Taking steps to assist the needy

The March of Dimes is gearing up for its largest fundraiser, WalkAmerica. This nationwide 25 kilometer walk-a-thon takes place Sunday, April 30. Thousands will be walking to continue the fight against birth defects—the leading cause of death among infants.

A new route in Clarkston has been added to the other nine walk sites this year, with the assistance of local residents and businesses.

Mel Vaara, assistant superintendent of Clarkston Schools, helped secure the location of the walk's start/finish area, at Clarkston Elementary School. The walk begins at 9 a.m.

Richard Detkowski of Clarkston Disposal Service has volunteered to distribute, pick up and dispose of all walk items and debris.

Miff Cook of Joseph Cook and Associates donated the use of her property for the walk's first checkpoint on Holcomb Road.

Clarkston's A & P Store will donate two cases of apples for the walkers.

Other merchants and residents are also donating to the WalkAmerica in Clarkston.

Money raised will help fund a variety of programs in southeastern Michigan, including the Young Adult Obstetrics Clinic at Henry Ford Hospital, a genetic research program at the University of Michigan, and a study involving chromosome abnormalities causing Down Syndrome at Wayne State University.

The March of Dimes also supports a variety of public health education programs, including a series of programs on teen pregnancy. The programs provide factual information to teenagers and their parents and are often the first step in breaking communication barriers.

WalkAmerica is the largest outdoor fundraiser in the country.

Friendship revisited

Kristen Bilicki

11:30 p.m. Monday night. As I walked into my house, slowly closing the door behind me, I expected a reprimand. I was late, so naturally stern words were appropriate for the situation. Instead all I was greeted with was, "Meredith called, she's coming in a week and she'll be staying three days."

This was a shock to me. Unanswered questions swarmed through my mind. Why now? Why after six months away, did she call me? Why after six months did she finally decide to come back to Michigan?

Meredith is my best friend. We had been through so much, and then suddenly she and her family moved to New York. Even if I was given years to prepare, I still would have been shaken by her absence.

I could no longer call her up and hysterically recite my problems one after another, hour after hour. We couldn't go out to lunch on Sunday afternoons, or get together on Friday nights. Even though we always wanted to make plans, we ended up just sitting and talking.

There are also the memories of writing notes in class, talking at lockers, walking around the halls making endless circles in the mornings. Don't ask me why. It is just something people in junior high school do.

I think, as I look back, it has something to do with fitting into the social climate at school. It doesn't really matter now, a few years have gone by now, even if I felt like making my rounds, who would I walk with?

Who would I go to see movies with, who would I rent "Ladyhawke" with? That was our thing. We loved every moment of that movie, maybe in some way it gave us hope that there could be romance, magic, tenderness, and beauty in the world.

At any rate, in our silly teen-age way, it represented our dreams. It became our theme movie. In fact, I even bought the soundtrack, and I listen to it as I write this. It still holds the nostalgia of romantic heroes coming to carry us off into the sunset.

Maybe it represents a happiness and security in youthfulness that in some ways seems lost. I can remember crying as I listened to the music at a time when the distance to New York seemed unbridgeable. Why now, out of the clear, blue sky, was she calling me?

Microwave Plus

Tested by time

Betty
Wagner

Jean K. Durkee of Lafayette, La., says that custard bread pudding best represents 100 years of good cooking in the Lafayette area.

Many Lafayette residents prepare and serve this delicious dessert to family and friends. It is composed of "on-hand" ingredients that were as readily available yesterday as they are today. So it is a classic.

Jean, a home economist, organized and authored the lovely "VOILA Lafayette Centennial Cookbook 1884-1984: A Century of Acadian Cooking from Open Fire to Microwave."

CUSTARD BREAD PUDDING 8 servings, Page 196. (All recipes tested by Betty Wagner in a 650-watt microwave oven.)

3 1/2 cups stale French bread cut into cubes and toasted dry

2 1/4 cups warm milk

4 whole eggs

1/2 cup sugar

1 teaspoon vanilla

3 tablespoons butter or margarine

Cinnamon to sprinkle

While preheating the oven to 350 degrees, place bread cubes in a 7x9-inch glass dish and toast until dry. Remove from oven.

Warm milk in a saucepan. In a 2-quart bowl or measuring cup beat eggs. Add sugar, vanilla and warm milk slowly. Mix well. Pour egg mixture over bread cubes. Dot top with butter and sprinkle cinnamon evenly over top.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 to 40 minutes or until knife comes out clean. Let sit 10 to 15 minutes before serving.

Whiskey Sauce (Recipe submitted by Ainee Billeaud Labbe)

1 cup butter or margarine, softened (2 sticks)

1 cup confectioner's sugar

1 egg yolk, beaten

4 tablespoons whiskey or sherry

In food processor or electric mixer, cream butter. Add powdered sugar and egg yolk. Blend until smooth. Add whiskey a teaspoon at a time, mixing well. Serve bread pudding hot, topped with whiskey sauce.

(Microwave directions from Jean Durkee)

Place toasted bread cubes in a 2-quart pyrex ring mold dish. (Or make one by placing a 4-ounce juice glass with open side up in the bottom of a 2-quart Pyrex round baking dish.) Place milk in 2-cup Pyrex measure in microwave on HIGH (100 percent) 2 to 3 minutes until heated through. Beat eggs. Add sugar, vanilla and warm milk slowly. Mix well and pour over bread cubes. Dot with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon. Microwave on HIGH 7-10 minutes, rotating dish two times. Serve as above with whiskey sauce.

Well aware of today's calorie conscious person, Jean offers a low-calorie update of this recipe. Use skim milk, a sugar substitute according to package directions and a butter substitute (such as Butter Buds or Molly McButter). Then follow the same directions for cooking either conventionally or in the microwave.

"Old fashioned Cajun gumbo often serves as the main course for a meal in South Louisiana," says Jean. And a good Roux is the gumbo's secret. Here is Jean's microwave version of a rich, brown Roux. It takes less time and stirring than conventionally prepared Roux. ROUX, an equal mixture of flour and oil, is the base of stews, gumbos, etouffees and sauces often made in south Louisiana. Here is Jean's adaptation to the microwave.

2/3 cup oil

2/3 cup flour

Mix oil and flour together in a 4-cup measure. Microwave uncovered on HIGH 6 to 7 minutes. Stir at 6 minutes. Roux will be light brown at this time and will need to cook 30 seconds to 1 minute longer to reach the dark brown color so important in making Louisiana gumbos and stews. The Roux will be very hot, but usually the handle on your glass measuring cup will stay cool enough to touch.

2 cups onion, chopped

1 cup celery, chopped

1/2 cup green bell pepper, chopped

1/4 cup hot water

4 cloves garlic, minced

1/4 cup parsley, chopped

1/4 cup green onion tops, chopped

Add onion, celery and bell pepper to Roux in measuring cup. Stir and return to microwave. Saute on HIGH 3 minutes. Add garlic, parsley and green onions to Roux, stir and return to microwave. Saute on HIGH 2 minutes.

You should have about 3 3/4 cups of Roux now; if any oil has risen to the top pour it off. Slowly add enough hot tap water to bring Roux to the 4-cup mark. Stir and you will have a smooth dark Roux in only 12 minutes. Roux freezes very well and you are ready at this time to put together a delicious gumbo or stew.

Jean authored 2 microwave cookbooks with a Cajun flavor. Both books, "Tout de Suite a la Micro" (See CAJUN, Page 44)

Pet of the Week

JUST WAITING and wishing for a good home.

He's no tramp

This 8-month-old terrier mix named Tramp is a look-alike for the famous Walt Disney character by the same name, but he's really a gentleman.

The light tan and black pup is housebroken, good with children and has a bubbly, playful personality. But he's not used to other pets.

Tramp can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The adoption fee is $57, which includes his neutering before leaving the shelter. He is up to date on all shots.

Wanted: Families needing child care

EurAupair Intercultural Child Care Programs is seeking families interested in including a young European in their family life in return for live-in child care assistance.

Beginning this spring, the non-profit EurAupair, a U.S. Information Agency designated exchange visitor program, will arrange for 18- to 25-year-old girls (and a limited number of boys) from Scandinavia, France, Germany and Spain to be placed with American families.

Through authorized programs only, the U.S. Government now permits au pair exchange participants to spend a year living as an equal member of a family (au pair means "on par" or equal in French) to learn about American culture and family life.

The participant cares for the family's children in exchange for the family sharing their home and meals, and providing for expenses such as airfare, pocket money and continuing education classes.

"Our program provides families with a responsible European Big Sister or Brother who lives at home and is available to the children as the parents' needs require," said Anne LaPlace, midwestern regional director.

Families interested in obtaining more information on the EurAupair Intercultural Child Care Program should contact the EurAupair Head Office toll-free at 1-800-333-3804 or the local Community Counselor, Lisa Scholl at (313) 822-7626.

Move into Michigan Bell Touch-Tone or Custom Calling Services by May 17 and we'll connect them free.

Order by May 17. You can move in on a big Michigan Bell offer. Order touch-tone, call forwarding, three-way calling, or any of our other custom calling services and we'll connect them free. All you have to do is call toll free by May 17 and tell us what you want.

You can pick:

Call waiting service keeps you from missing important calls by letting you put one call on hold while you answer another. And where available, the cancel call waiting feature is provided automatically at no extra charge.

Call forwarding service so you can transfer all your incoming calls to another telephone number and not miss any calls when you're not home.

Three-way calling service lets you add a third person to your conversations so you can save time and avoid callbacks.

Speed calling service where you can complete your calls faster by using just one or two digits to call selected numbers.

Touch-tone service lets you add speed, accuracy and convenience to your dialing.

Choose any or all and pay no connection charge.* That can be a savings of at least $30.50. But only if you order now. So call today and make your phone do a whole lot more for a whole lot less.

Business customers call 1 800 445-5MBT, ext. 700.

Residence customers call 1 800 482-8055, ext. 678.

*Monthly service rates still apply based on rates effective April 28, 1984. Touch-tone and custom calling services are available in most areas.

Cajun cooking for microwaves

wave" and "Toute de Suite a la Microwave II" were published before Cajun food became so popular. Jean says that cajun cuisine has been in the Lafayette area for many years and will continue to be long after the popular fad wans.

Here is her Turkey gumbo from "Toute de Suite II" so you can use the Roux.

TURKEY GUMBO

- 2 (10 ounce) frozen cut okra, cooked
- 1 (1 pound) can tomatoes, chopped and drained
- 3 cups turkey stock
- 5 cups warm water
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon red pepper
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon tabasco
- 3-4 cups cooked turkey, cubed

First prepare the Roux. Remove outer wrapper and place both cartons of okra into Roux. Add tomatoes, stock, water, salt, pepper, Worcestershire and tabasco. Cover and microwave on HIGH 10 minutes. Add turkey and check seasoning. Cover and microwave on HIGH 10 minutes. Serve with steamed rice. Gumbo may be frozen.

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her "Microwave Plus" cable-TV program airs on Independence-Clarkston Channel 65.

A delicate display

A CLARKSTON area artist is one of 30 stained glass artists to exhibit their work at the County Galleria, Executive Office Building, 1200 North Telegraph, Pontiac. Mike Molnar's untitled work is an example of what visitors will see at the show. The "flat glass" pieces are suspended in 72 brick arches overlooking a sculptural garden where the blown and fused pieces are displayed. The Galleria is open to the public from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday through April 28. For tour information, call 858-0415. An artist will accompany groups of 10 or more.

Mommy-son dance coming

Clarkston Community Education is offering the perfect Mother's Day treat for moms, grandmas, aunts or favorite female friend.

In response to many requests after the success of the daddy-daughter dances, Community Education is offering a mother-son square dance on Friday, May 12, from 7 to 9 p.m., at Clarkston Elementary.

Boys from kindergarten through sixth-grade can invite their mom or special person for a fun evening.

Wayne Ball, the square dance caller, guarantees, "No one needs to know anything about square dancing."

He says everyone will have a wonderful evening of fun as he patiently guides the group in line and circle dances.

The fee for the evening is $6 per couple, with refreshments included.

To register, contact any Clarkston elementary facilitator or call Jeanne Molzon at the Clarkston Learning Center at 674-3141.

Charter Township of Independence NOTICE OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE

At a regular meeting held on April 18, 1989, the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence proposed a new ordinance to amend Chapter 14 of the Code of Ordinances of the Charter Township of Independence.

The proposed ordinance pertains to the licensing and regulation of floating retail sales within the Township.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
COUNTY OF OAKLAND
CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE
ORDINANCE NUMBER
ORDINANCE TO LICENSE AND REGULATE
FLOATING RETAIL SALES

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE ORDAINS:
The Charter Township of Independence Code of Ordinance shall be amended by adding the following provisions:

CHAPTER 14.5

Sec. 14.5-1 Intent, purpose and Short Title.

1. It is the intent of the Township Board to insure that persons engaged in floating retail sales shall not conduct a commercial, for-profit business for which a permanent premises, approved following submission and approval of a site plan, would normally be required in the Township. It is the further intent and purpose of this Chapter to provide an informational record with regard to the persons and entities who will be engaged in floating retail sales activities in the interest of avoiding irresponsible and/or fraudulent sales activities.

2. This ordinance shall be known and may be cited as the Ordinance to License and Regulate Floating Retail Sales, and shall be referred to hereinafter as "This Chapter".

Sec. 14.5-2. Definitions.

For purpose of construing this Chapter, the following definitions shall apply:

1. "Charitable Group" and/or "Nonprofit Group" shall mean a group, entity, association or individual which is, or is part of, a bona fide, religious, charitable or nonprofit activity of a type that would not be required to pay real property taxes on property if the activity were conducted at a specified premises.

2. "Floating Retail Sales" and/or "Floating Sales" shall mean the sale of the public of products or services from a location which is not a permanent location for which a Certificate of Occupancy has been issued for such use under applicable codes and ordinances. A floating sale shall not mean a sale made at a private residence or to a business customer at a fixed premises.

3. "Public Place" shall mean any public right-of-way, publicly owned property, and/or any outdoor place to which the general public is invited.

4. "Sale" shall mean a retail transaction in which goods or services are offered or sold to the public, in person and in a public place, in exchange for money or other property or the promise to pay money or other property.

Sec. 14.5-3. Regulations.

1. There shall be no floating retail sale conducted in the Charter Township of Independence unless and until a license for such activity is applied for and issued pursuant to this Chapter.

2. A license under this chapter shall be issuable only to a charitable or nonprofit group.

3. Floating sales shall be conducted between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and during daylight hours on Saturday and Sunday.

4. No floating sales activities shall be conducted with the improved portion of a public street, road or highway, nor within ten feet of same, without the expressed, advanced authorization from the Township Board. Such authorization may be granted to floating sales activities which have been conducted in such right-of-way areas by the group making application at least once in each of the passed five years.

5. Each person engaged in floating sales will have identification on his or her person.

6. Floating sales by any individual or group may be conducted not more often than three days in any six month period.

7. At each location where floating sales are conducted, there must be a copy of the license issued under this ordinance for display upon request of a police officer and/or other township ordinance enforcement official.

8. If floating sales activity is to be conducted on private property, such activity must be a permitted use on such property in accordance with the codes and ordinances of the Township.

9. If a promotional or advertising sign is to be utilized, such sign may not be larger than one square foot.

10. Floating sales activity shall not be conducted in a location which is within a residential zoning classification under the zoning ordinance.

Sec. 14.5-4. Licensure.

1. Application procedure. A person seeking a license under this ordinance shall, at least 14 days prior to issuance of a license, submit all of the following:

a. If a floating sales activity is to be conducted on private property, there must be a written authorization signed by the occupant of the property, specifying the days, dates and hours for which the authorization has been granted.

b. If floating sales activity is to be conducted on a public sidewalk or right-of-way, and/or a shopping center or mall, there must be a written authorization signed by the occupant of any residence and/or business establishment within 25 feet of the location at which such floating sale activity is proposed, specifying the days, dates and hours for which the authorization has been granted.

c. Proof that the person or group or entity is a charitable and/or nonprofit group, including, but not limited to:

i. The name, address and phone number of the principal office of the group or entity.

ii. The officers and/or principals.

iii. The intended use of sale proceeds.

iv. Any and all written promotional materials utilized in connection with the floating sales activity.

d. A description of each and every good or service to be sold.

e. The name and address of each person to be engaged in floating sales.

f. The days, dates and hours floating sales are proposed to be conducted.

g. The location where floating sales are proposed to be conducted.

2. The supervisor may permit an application to be presented less than 14 days in advance upon good cause shown for the inability to comply with such advance notice requirement, and if there is time to scrutinize the application materials.

3. The township clerk shall review the application and issue a license if all requirements for licensure are met, as provided in this chapter. If, upon review, the clerk determines that an application does not comply with this chapter, the clerk shall inform the applicant of the reason or reasons for the denial of licensure.

4. The license issued under this chapter shall contain the following information:

a. The name of the charitable or nonprofit group.

b. The address and phone number of the principal office of the group.

c. The days, dates and time the floating sales activity may be conducted.

d. The location at which the floating sale activity may be conducted, including as specifically as possible the boundaries of such activity.

e. A description of each and every good or service authorized to be sold.

f. The name and address of each person to be engaged in floating sales.

EFFECTIVE DATE

This ordinance shall be effective immediately upon publication following adoption.

The proposed ordinance will be voted upon on May 2, 1989, at the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, at 7:30 p.m. A complete copy of the proposed ordinance is available from the Clerk's Office, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

A "LAND BEFORE TIME" room in the preschool class at St. Trinity Lutheran Church, Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, intrigues youngsters such as Shane Conroy, who reaches out to feel tyrannosaurus rex.

The room, including a smoking volcano, was set up by Director of Preschool Nancy Stewart and teacher Jean Gould after the young pupils learned about dinosaurs during their preschool studies.
