4 recalled School enrollment up

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN Clarkston News Staff Writer

Four teachers were recalled in Clarkston schools due to a resignation, a request for a half-time teaching position and increased enrollment at elementary schools.

Larger kindergarten class sizes caused an extra section of kindergartners to be added to four elementaries in Clarkston school district -- North Sashabaw, Pine Knob, Andersonville and Bailey Lake -- although enrollment figures were not available Sept. 5, said Conrad Bruce, director of personnel in Clarkston schools.

Danielle Blanchard was recalled to teach four hours of music and drama at Clarkston Junior High School. She is replacing Anita Carlson who resigned to move to Traverse City schools. Blanchard taught at Sashabaw Junior High last year. Carlson taught at North Sashabaw Elementary and Sashabaw Junior High.

Bonnie Valuet requested to be moved to a half-time teaching position at Pine Knob Elementary kindergar-

Jodie Cobiel Blaszkowski was recalled to to teach kindergarten at Pine Knob Elementary. She taught kindergarten half time at Andersonville Elementary last Deborah Bowser Rose was recalled to teach two sections of kindergarten at Andersonville. Last year, she taught second grade at North Sashabaw.

Michele Gallagher Shaltz was recalled to teach third grade at Pine Knob. She taught first grade at Bailey Lake last year.

Jean Bierlein was moved to kindergarten at Bailey Lake. She taught second grade at Pine Knob last year.

Oak park man, 28, killed on I-75

A 28-year-old Oak Park man was killed and another was injured Sept. 2 when their car drifted off I-75 and struck a sign pole at the Dixie Highway exit ramp in Springfield Township.

Brian David Roper was dead at the scene at 9:26 p.m. last Saturday, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) report.

The driver, John Jay Haddo, 23, of Ferndale was in critical but stable condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital Sept. 5.

Neither men were wearing seat belts at the time of the accident. According to OCSD accident investigator Frank Willyard, there were no skid marks on the pavement and no evidence of an attempt to brake.

Willyard said he didn't know why the car drifted but guessed that the driver and passenger had fallen asleep. Alcohol was not a factor.

According to relatives, the men were the best of friends and had been fishing and camping, said Willyard.

The accident is under investigation, he said, adding that four serious accidents occurred in Oakland County over Labor Day weekend. Two of them involved fatali-

Grandpa saves toddler from pool

BY LINDA WALSH LAPINSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Quick action saved the life of a 2-year-old girl Labor Day afternoon when the toddler slipped out of sight of her watchful relatives and ended up in her grandparents' back yard pool.

Whitney DeNio, 23 months, is doing "super, just great," said her grandfather, James Arnold of Laurelton, Independence Township, who pulled the tot from the water beneath a solar-plastic pool cover.

"She's doing a lot better than I am," Arnold said. "It was very scary -- horrible. I never experienced anything like this."

Whitney wandered away from a family gathering about 5:30 p.m. Sept. 4, and relatives noticed her absence after about three minutes, said Arnold

Apparently, she went through a door that no one thought she could open, and she fell into the pool.

"I dove into the pool and handed Whitney to my son-in-law, Dan Frushour, who immediately started to push on the baby's ribs to remove the water in them," said

Whitney's aunt, Vicki Frushour, administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, while Dan Frushour ran into the house and called the Independence Township Fire Department, Arnold said.

'We were so thankful how fast the paramedics responded because, by the time Dan hung up the phone and walked out the door, he was flagging the truck in," said Arnold, adding that the emergency workers gave Whitney oxygen and took blood.

Whitney was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, where she remained overnight for observation. Whitney is just doing fine because she was only under the water for one minute, said Arnold.

"We are all very grateful," he said.

At the time of the incident, Whitney's mother, Tami, was cutting the lawn; and Whitney's father, Michael, was fishing. Relatives were looking after Whitney and other children in the house.

Drug-free work policy adopted by school board

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN Clarkston News Staff Writer

A new drug-free work policy in Clarkston schools won't change how employees with drug problems are treated.

Quick-acting staff treat bee sting

A 9-year-old Andersonville Elementary School student had a first day of school he won't soon forget.

Nathan Sommers was outside during lunchtime recess when he was stung by a yellow jacket. Thanks to the competent staff at the school, the boy, who suffers from extreme allergies to bee stings, is doing

"They did a beautiful job," said Nathan's mother, Nancy Sommers. "If it wasn't for their fast thinking, Nathan wouldn't be with us now."

School secretary Beverly Brown quickly gave Nathan a shot of his allergy medicine, and staff member Patricia Moore called emergency medical technicians who treated him, said school principal Sharon Devereaux.

"They didn't say a word; they just acted," De-

She said Brown closely monitors the medication kept in the building for the three or four students like

Nathan has a history of rough first days of school. Last year, his knee was stung by a honey bee the first day, but his reaction was not as serious, Nancy said.

But because the Andersonville staff recognized the seriousness of this recent sting, Nancy said she couldn't thank the staff enough.

"I'll admit Mom panicked," she said. "But they knew exactly what to do, and I'm thankful for it."

The Clarkston School Board unanimously adopted a Drug Free Work Policy Aug. 14, based on the Drug Free Work Place Act (DFWPA) passed by U.S. Congress Nov. 18, 1988. But disciplining an employee will follow the same guidelines under the union contract already in existence.

Conrad Bruce, director of personnel services for Clarkston Schools, said the policy will be listed under the code of staff conduct for Clarkston Schools employees.

Under policy regulations, a statement will be issued notifying employees that it is unlawful to manufacture, distribute, dispense, possess or use controlled sub-

Conrad said wording was added to the DFWPA policy to include the use of alcohol. The policy refers to work-related hours for school district employees.

The drug-free policy was mandated by the federal government, and the it pertains to any institution -- such as the Clarkston school district -- that receives more than $25,000 per year in grant money from the government.

Bill Jackson, director of business services, said Clarkston school district receives about $750,000 in grant money from the federal government. The Department of Education supplies about $300,00 in federal grant money for remedial reading programs, special education, program improvements, library books and pre-school programs.

Jackson also explained that lunch programs in the district receive about $300,000 in grant money from the Department of Agriculture, and the Department of Labor supplies about $150,000 in grant money for all types of employment-related programs, including job

The district would not have adopted the policy if it didn't receive federal funds, said Bruce, adding that there hasn't been a drug problem with Clarkston school district employees.

The DFWPA also requires that a drug-free awareness program be established for employees, so Clarkston schools recently established an Employees Assistance Program (EAP) for district employees.

"It was time to start a program -- most of Oakland (school districts) have programs," said Bruce.

The program was modeled after those in Royal Oak and Birmingham, said Bruce. The EPA will cover all areas of counseling, including marital and financial. Consulting Associates, Inc., Southfield, is the agency the Clarkston school district will use for counseling services.

Bruce said no school funds will be used for counseling services. The employee's insurance covers the cost of counseling, and employees will attend sessions only on a voluntary basis.

Sales tax proposals get mixed reviews

BY BONNIE WATTLEWORTH Clarkston News Special Writer

As can be expected with any proposal involving tax dollars, there are many conflicting reactions to two plans to raise Michigan's sales tax that will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot.

"My major disappointment is that there are two proposals," said Clarkston School Superintendent Gary Haner. "This might confuse the voters, and often they vote no on both issues."

Haner said he favors the two-cent proposal.

"To me, the voters are looking for and deserve a reduction in property taxes," he said, adding that this plan would provide immediate funds for Clarkston schools.

"We are on a crisis path," he said. "This would provide more immediate relief as opposed to the long-term relief provided by the half-cent proposal."

School board President Janet Thomas said she also supports the two-cent plan because it provides property tax reform.

"I guess at this point I'm basing my decision on whether some tax reform is written in the proposal," she said. "The half-cent proposal is more of a Band-Aid approach instead of a reform. The two-cent proposal reduces property taxes while giving more money to the schools."

Independence Township Board Clerk Joan McCrarysaid there are problems with both plans, but she prefers the two-cent proposal.

"The two-cent plan would give property tax relief," she said. "It would provide a uniform state levy and revise the School Aid Formula."

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls said he doesn't agree with either proposal.

"I think they both stink," Walls said. "The only one that offers property tax relief includes a two-cent sales tax increase."

Walls said the half-cent proposal would not help taxpayers because it does not offer any tax relief.

"It doesn't do anything for anybody except increase taxes." he said.

Springfield Township Trustee Nancy Strole, a member of Citizens Unfairly Taxed (CUT), said she supports CUT's alternate plan that could appear on the ballot in 1990.

The CUT plan offers about $500 million in property tax cuts. The money lost to the tax cut would be replaced by new state appropriations to provide Michigan schools with an extra $100 to $200 million.

CUT guarantees:$3,000 to $3,100 per student at a 17-mill rate. Under the current system, Clarkston levies

Enrollment and audit on school agenda

School enrollment figures and the annual audit are on the agenda for the Clarkston Board of Education meeting Monday, 7:30 p.m. Sept. 11, at 6389 Clarkston Rd., Independence Township.

The agenda also includes employee recognition for 25-year employees who will receive watches for their years of service to the district, and one 35-year employee will be awarded a clock

An update and video is to be presented by Judith Backus about the Michigan Educational Assessment. Program (MEAP) for Clarkston Schools. Plus; adult education graduation requirements will be discussed.

$3,200 per student at a 35-mill rate, so CUT guarantees about the same amount of money per student at a lower millage rate, Strole said. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation.

"It even goes beyond the sheer money," she said. "It basically sets a new system and eliminates the catch-22 many school districts are in."

CUT would shift the school funding burden trom the property owners to state funding "where it should be," Strole said.

To have the CUT plan added to the 1990 ballot, at least 250,000 voter signatures will be needed.

Strole opposes the half-cent proposal -- slated to appear on the ballot this fall -- because "it doesn't provide a dime in property tax relief," she said.

She opposes the two-cent proposal -- also on the ballot this fall -- because it could cost Michigan taxpayers $90 million in lost deductions, she said.

"Sales taxes are not deductible on federal income taxes, while property taxes are deductible," she said.

Strole said another drawback to the two-cent proposal is it eliminates the Headlee override that places a cap on property taxes.

"Under Headlee, your property taxes can go up no higher than the consumer price index," she said. "If your assessment goes up 30 percent, instead of under the current system where your taxes would only go up 4.5 percent, you'd be hit with the whole 30 percent."

Volunteers to call 400

Survey to cover school buildings

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN Clarkston News Staff Writer

Residents in over 400 homes in the Clarkston school district should receive phone calls in the near

The school board held a special meeting Aug. 30 to discuss what questions would appear on a survey of Clarkston school district residents.

The goal of the survey to find out what community members want in educational facilities -- a new high school a new elementary school or renovations to the elementary schools:

"The survey should indicate what we should intend to do with those buildings," said board Secretary Mary Jane Chaustowich.

Voters in Clarkston turned down a $68.8 million bond proposal June 12, which would have allowed Clarkston schools to build a new high school and elementary school, plus renovate other buildings.

Chaustowick said the board needs to know what the public wants and what voters are willing to support.

George White, principal at Pine Knob Elementary, conducted surveys in 1983 and 1987 and will be in charge of surveying Clarkston voters this time.

White uses a volunteer committee to help construct questions for the survey, and the volunteers will also place calls to about 400 homes.

Board President Janet Thomas said the the committee should develop questions and should present the ideas to the board.

White said the committee will meet for the first time Sept. 8, and proposed questions should be presented to the school board a few weeks after that.

The 12-member survey committee is made up of administrators, teachers, members of the community, a secretary and two board members, said White.

About 40 people, representing each building in the school district, are to help do the telephone survey.

"We will have about 300-400 hours of volunteer time (used for the survey), "said White.

How safe are Jet Skis?

Deer Lake residents, police, township talk about problems

BY BONNIE WATTLEWORTH Clarkston News Special Writer

As the popularity of Jet Skis on area lakes escalates, so does a debate about whether the personal water craft is a dangerous nuisance or summer fun.

"Some say people on Jet Skis don't follow the rules of the other boaters," said Sheryl Stickley-Schreefel, assistant director of Independence Township Parks and Recreation. She said many boaters complain about Jet Skis, a brand name for a type of water scooter.

'It does create havoc to have somebody (on a Jet Ski) cutting in and out and crossing too close to the other boaters," she said.

But those who use the personal water craft disagree that they are dangerous. 'It gets people out and gets people active," said Troy Wilmot of Clarkston Road, Independence Township. "It's a good, clean, fun sport." Wilmot, who is a sales representative of Anderson Sales and Service, a Bloomfield Township personal water craft dealer, said manufacturers provide ample safety pamphlets with each craft sold. The sport keeps growing year after year, and safety has to be a part of that growth factor," he said. "Manufacturers are doing everything they can to promote

Highlighting the growing concern is a recent incident on Deer Lake, when a malfunctioning Jet Ski traveled across the lake without its rider and ended up in a resident's back lawn. Basically, a guy went out and made a repair on his Jet Ski and went out on the lake to test it," said Deputy David Wurtz of the Oakland County Sheriff's

"I looked at the Jet Ski and knew that if we kept going, it was going to hit us. I wondered why it was not veering off and looked at it again and noticed no one was on it."

The Jet Ski should have circled, and its engine should have turned off instead of continuing across the lake, he said. But the owner of the personal water craft was not ticketed.

The runaway Jet Ski landed in Diane Parrott's back lawn. While she was not at her Deerhill Drive, Independence Township, home when the incident occurred, she returned to find the marks the craft left on her property.

"There were burn marks on our grass right near our deck," she said. "It looks like to me that if it landed where the markings are, it came within five feet of our deck."

One of Parrott's neighbors who witnessed the incident said she thought it was going to go airborne into her Mary Morrissey of Sagamore Drive said before the Jet Ski landed in Parrott's lawn, it nearly hit the boat she and her family were in.

"I looked at the Jet Ski and knew that if we kept going, it was going to hit us," she said. "I wondered why it was not veering off and looked at it again and noticed no one was on it."

Many boaters seem to dislike the small craft. But those who use them say they are not a danger if used properly.

"They're not dangerous if you stay out of the way of the boats," said Derek Lachman, 14, of Dark Lake Drive, Independence Township. "Some people like to cut in front of the boats, but it's not dangerous if you stay out of their way. I sort of feel more in control on them than

The average price of new cars has more than doubled in the last 10 years. And during that time, the average cost of repairing damaged vehicles has shot up. The reason? The cost of your car - if you bought it as replacement parts - would be two to four times more than the cost of a whole new car.

That's why State Farm researchers work with automakers to help design stronger, easier-to-repair cars. And that's why we helped found 1-Car, which trains body shop people in the latest repair techniques.

Noon-1 p.m. Pizza party lunch. $1 donation per person.

1-2 p.m. Craft Workshop

The most common complaints against Jet Skis are reckless boating, violating the counter-clockwise traffic flow and traveling too fast in slow-no-wake zones, he said. Most people cited for violations involving Jet Skis are between the ages of 18 and 25.

'Jet Skis are viewed as toys by a lot of people who ride or purchase them," Wurtz said. "But in the eyes of the law, they are baby boats regulated by the same laws as full-sized boats."

A boater has to be 16 years old to operate a Jet Ski or a full-sized boat. Anyone between the ages of 12 and 16 has to obtain a boating safety certificate before operating a water craft.

PERSONAL WATER CRAFT commonly are referred to as Jet Skis, although that is the name of one model made by Kawasaki Motors, Inc. There are as many different makes and model of the small crafts as there are opinions about their safety.

& Lounge

Wilmot said he thinks it would be a good idea to require all boaters to get a license before they can take their craft out on the water.

Many would prefer to have the craft banned from area lakes. Several years ago, Deer Lake residents signed

"Jet Skis are viewed as toys by a lot of people who ride or purchase them. But in the eyes of the law, they are baby boats regulated by the same laws as full-sized boats."

David Wurtz

a petition to have Jet Skis removed from the lake.

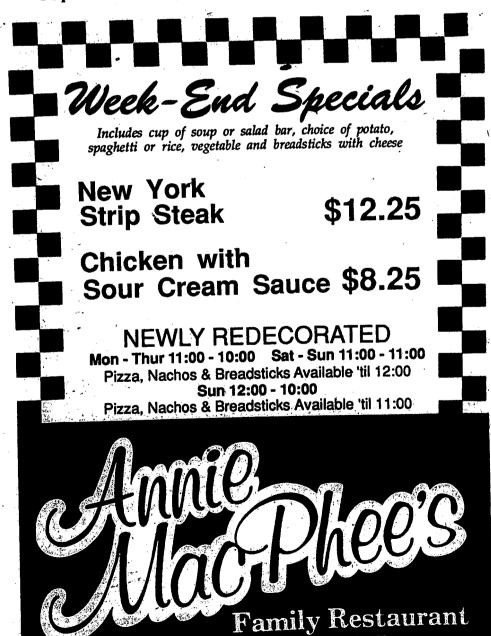

Stickley-Schreefel said the parks and recreation department, which operates the beach and boat launch on White Lake Road, Clarkston, receives a lot of complaints against Jet Skis, but the water scooters cannot be banned from Deer Lake.

"We just don't have the authority to do that," she said. "It's a public access boat launch."

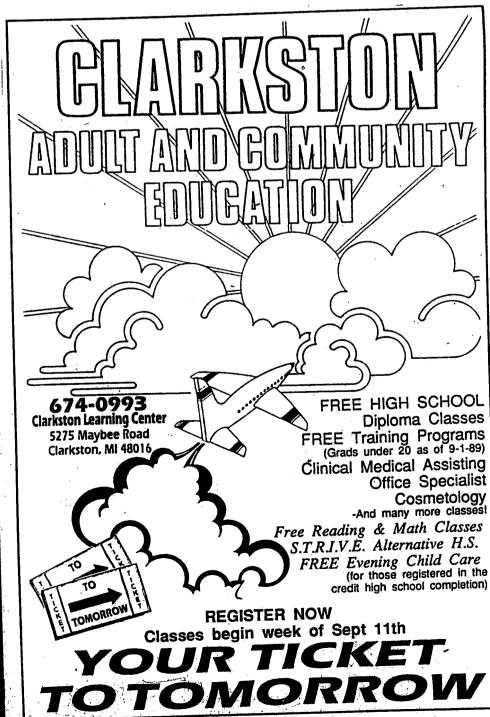

And Wilmot pointed out personal water crafts are Class A Inboards, so all inboards would have to be banned from Deer Lake to ban Jet Skis. "Many of the people who dislike personal water craft on the lake have inboards themselves," he said. "They find out they'd have to be banned too and they're not willing to do that."

Channeling the stream ?

I've decided to get my life in order today, so I guess I'll start by organizing my thoughts.

First, I'll make a few lists of these streams of consciousness, and I'll decide what to do with them later.

Things that annoy me:

1. People in my apartment complex who honk their car horns at 5 a.m.

2. Stupid television commercials, such as the cruise ad that has a person singing, "If your friends could see you now!" as an enticement to join that cruise line. Does anyone really select a vacation based on what his or her friends would think?

3. Potholes in driveways off of busy roads, such as those off Dixie Highway (to be remedied by the ongoing construction).

4. Tailgaters.

5. Food packages that say "Open here" with a dotted line but no perforation, so you end up having to use a knife or scissors anyway.

6. The word, "basically" because it's basically misused. 7. The door to my apartment because it sticks and is a daily frustration.

8. Having a headache and not being able to get the cap off the aspirin bottle.

Things to do before I get too old or die:

1. Get a pilot's license.

2. Have a child or two.

3. Go back to school and study something really interesting.

4. Learn to ice skate.

5. Learn to wind surf. 6. Talk to my parents and their siblings about family history, their opinions on life, death, God, parenthood, childhood, morality, education, etc.

5. Clean the cobwebs above the refrigerator.

Pete Kalohn has been in the dog house most of his life. Until recently his locale was only figuratively speaking. Now it's literal.

And, he put himself into his canine's residence. What's more he admits to it . . . through ridicule, laughter and no sympathy.

It takes some dogs longer than others to train their masters. Masters should understand their shortcomings and pick dogs with lesser intelligence. That was Peter's first mistake.

He bought a white Bouvier des Flanres to patrol and erect monuments on his Lake Orion lawn. Bouviers are big dogs. They are also smart, lovable, and hairy when left very long without trimmings.

Pete and his Bouvier have been as good friends as the dog wanted to be for 3 or 4 years. For some reason, the master decided his pet needed a new house. Pete built it under the deck/porch on his house.

Cubby (that's what Pete calls ol. lovable) would have nothing to do with it. Pete begged, promised, pushed, and threatened he did a lot of threatening, his most experienced weapon.

Calling a Bouvier Cubby is like calling Chubby Checkers Slim.

Having run his fuse short, and reasoning having long left his mind, Pete got into the dog house and coaxed Cubby to join him. Cubby looked, smiled and stayed outside.

Irritated and sweaty, Pete gave up. He turned inside the house to crawl out . . . and he got stuck. One shoulder was hard against the door jam. Pete yelled several times for his daughter. "Mary Beth, Mary Beth, Mary Beth!"

Mary Beth came, saw and laughed.

Gentle Pete was gentle no longer. "Getame the sabre saw and shut up," he shouted. More cursing followed. More laughter followed, also.

After sawing his way out of the coop, and simmered down only slightly, Pete asked Mary Beth, "Ok, how would you have done it?""

"I would have taken a cookie and thrown it into the dog house," she said. And, she did. And, in went, Cubby to no so so in all all all

Time to cut pork

Every taxpayer in the state of Michigan should write their representative and request a copy of "Pork Barrel Awards 1988-89."

My representative, Mat. J. Dunaskiss, offered to send me a list of items included in the state budget that were deemed unnecessary. I was surprised first when I received it -- it was 50 pages in length.

I was even more surprised when I began to read it and see where some tax money is being spent. For example, a $5,000 grant was made to Plymouth for an ice sculpture.

And $700 to Lenawee Intermediate School District for a horticulture project to allow students to grow and care for an aromatic herb garden. And $21,000 for Flint to assist 25 families to develop and implement landscape plans for their homes. And on and on and on ...

As long as the taxpayers of Michigan don't know how the money is spent in Lansing, the porkiticians will spend it any way they want and get away with it. Knowledge is the key, and thence lies the power.

Committee wins praise for party

On Aug. 13, a certificate of appreciation was presented to the high school post-graduation all-night party committee for 1989 by Rev. Bill Schram on behalf of Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church.

The certificate will be displayed for all to see at the high school in the main office, along with an accompanying letter that was presented at the same time.

"The members of Sashabaw Presbyterian Church express our appreciation for the contribution you have made to the welfare of the senior students of this community, and therefore to the community in general. Your hard work and vision have provided an opportunity for us all to show our pride in the graduating seniors while at the same time providing a safe environment in which they can celebrate. In doing so, you have allowed individuals, businesses and organizations to come together in an expression of support of an effort for which we can all feel proud. Trust Within Your Heart ...

By Tom Erickson

Sing with your heart The words that God will start. Sing and speak from your Very heart. And then, my friend; You'll find your start. Look inside, for everything You wish to find And happiness will bring to you A new state of mind. Seek those that you must find And with your friendship, Your trusts will bind. Seek to find ... Look to see. And move with Your heart; And every move that you make Will be but a good start. Trust, my friend; Within your very heart ...

North Sashabaw gets PTO money

North Sashabaw Elementary staff and students feel so fortunate to have such a supportive Parent Teacher Organization.

This summer the PTO funded a playground project. The project included pavement, a basketball court and fencing around the entire playground.

The staff and students send a most grateful thank you for this project.

Report from New Mexico mountains

BY PAT YOUNG

Hello, Clarkston!

I thought there might be at least a few people back there who might be wondering whatever became of Pat Young, former Clarkston News reporter, after she moved to New Mexico.

My husband, Jeff, and I left Michigan on July 15 heading west. Three days and 1800 miles later, we arrived at our 89 acres of mountain property east of Silver City, N.M. (It actually took three *trips to get our belongings out here -- this was our third and final trip.)

We immediately drove to Pheonix and purchased a 29-foot travel trailer which would be our home" for the next few years while we build a log home and barn. (We're going to build the barn first, and perfect our technique before starting on the home.)

The first thing we discovered was that we moved to the desert southwest during the "monsoon season." The second thing we discovered was that the earth turns to an incredible mucky clay that collects on your shoes by the inches with every step where you have disturbed the soil.

Naturally, we did a lot of "soil disturbing" in preparation for building, so we dealt with a lot of mud. But fortunately, the "monsoons" are ending and the earth is drying out.

And earth is something both Jeff and I have become intimately acquainted with recently. We've dug ditches for water and septic lines, and then refilled them atter laying the pipe. That's a lot of earth to move, and requires more muscle than my body is generally familiar with But I have a feeling I'll be a lot stronger before we're done.

We will start on the barn this fall, which means more digging, lots of rock collecting (for stone foundation walls) and a lot of wood cutting.

We will cut our own logs and have our own saw mill to ready them for construction. It will probably be at least a year before the log barn is completed.

In the meantime, we're settled into our travel trailer (very cozy!) and I have an "open-air" laundromat -- a wringer washer sitting outside and clothes line.

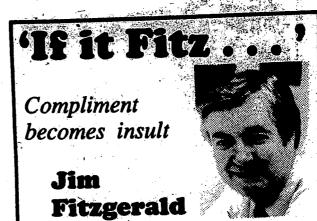

Our mail is delivered 12 miles down the road, and Silver City (the nearest real town) is an hour's drive away. We have no phone, and generate our own electricity with gas generators. (We will use a lot of solar power once we get the home built.)

But we what we've lost in "civilization" we've gained in the pristine, peaceful setting of our New Mexico homestead. Outside our door is a 7,000foot mountain over which the Sun rises each morning In the evening, we can watch darkness advance up the same peak as the sun sets in a rainbow sky behind us. Night time greets us with a million stars not visible near city lights.

We can hear coyotes barking up and down the canyon, and watch hawks soaring overhead. If we walk quietly at dusk, we can see deer browsing, or owls taking flight.

Yes, the area is short on people (nearest neighbor - three miles away) and sometimes it's a little lonely. But it's never short on wild life and it's certainly rich in scenery. Besides, "civilization" is only an hour away!

Pat Young a New Mexico resident, is a former reporter for The Clarkston News:

Boy, I wish I'd said wow.

It was at a barbeque party in the backyard of a Grosse Pointe home. Only a few of the guests had arrived, and my wife and I talked about the unusual clothing worn by one of them, a handsome, well-built young man. To us, he looked like he'd come directly from his bed, in his pajamas.

It was a one-piece garment. The shirt neckline dipped to near his waist, and the pant legs ended just below his knees. The material was well wrinkled and covered with various brightly colored patterns.

"I'm sure that, in stylish circles, there is a correct name for that outfit, but old poops like us don't know it," I said, feeling dull in my gray trousers and sweater. "What bugs me is the guy looks great. If I wore that suit, people would fall down laughing."

A few minutes later, I was introduced to the fashionable fellow. He said he was delighted to meet me, and his gregariousness was so obvious that I had no hesitation in fingering the sleeve of his shirt and exclaiming:

"Boy, I sure like your outfit!" And the young man said to my wife and other people standing nearby: "Hey, can you believe that? He called me boy!" Oh, my. He was black, and I'm not.

This was a switch. I'm the guy who usually complains about the racist remarks made at suburban cocktail parties. There was even a time when I made a point of saying something extremely nasty to anyone unfortunate enough to tell a racist joke within earshot of the buffet table from which I was trying to extract hors d'oeuvres without spilling my drink.

That was many years ago when I was still smarting from serving in a segregated Army. I didn't mind disrupting social occasions by objecting loudly when some white Christian blamed the nation's problems on blacks or Jews. The truth is I relished the arguments that usually followed after I accused someone of insulting me by taking it for granted that I wouldn't object to his foul racist tongue.

My wife soon persuaded me I wasn't changing any minds, but I was ruining a lot of parties. So now I don't go to many parties where I'm liable to hear racist remarks, and when I do get caught within hearing of such obscenity, I simply tighten my mouth and walk away. I'm not proud of becoming such a polite guest, but there you are.

Sure, I have friends, some of them black, with whom I can exchange jokes about black pimps or drunken Irishmen. But we know where we're coming from. There's nothing funny - and everything sad - about most racial remarks made at suburban cocktail parties.

But, there I stood, at a Grosse Pointe party, accused of calling a black man "boy." I was the plantation foreman, and he was the slave, although slightly over-dressed for picking cotton. Oh, Lord, what an embarrassing position for a card-carrying, bleeding-heart, liberal pain in the butt. I have many conservative opponents who would have donated big bucks to the ACLU just to see me squirm. I wanted to explain to the man in the pajama suit that my boy was prompted by his costume and used in the exclamatory sense, like wow. He wanted to know how old I though he was. I guessed 35 and he said 27. It wasn't enough that I demeaned his heritage; I also had to say he looked eight years older than he was.

The black man was so good-natured about the situation, I wasn't sure he was offended, so I held off on the explanation. He was called into the house, and I figured we'd talk more later. But he left early, and the matter remains unresolved. I don't know if he thinks I'm a racist or just a boob.

Isn't it a lousy shame that an old poop like me, who paraded with Civil War veterans, still has to be careful about the use of such an innocent word as boy? Won't we ever, ever grow beyond the cruel unfairness of racial stereotyping - so far beyond it that we've forgotten which words used to buzz?

$2,000 computer stolen from school

A $2,000 Apple computer and software were stolen from Pine Knob Elementary School on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, sometime between Saturday, Sept. 2, and Sunday, Sept. 3.

Apparently, someone broke into a classroom on the east side of the building, which is not visible from the road, said Principal George White, who added that the theft was discovered by a teacher who noticed a broken window.

White said the computer is used by students in an adjusted studies program -- a special education program for emotionally impaired youngsters who are brought into Pine Knob from the five elementary schools in the Clarkston school district.

A free pamphlet titled "Lyme Disease in Michigan" is available from the Oakland County Cooperative Extension by calling 858-0880 or by writing 1200 N. Telegraph Road, Pontiac.

The pamphlet provides information on signs and symptoms of Lyme disease, prevention and treatment techniques, effects of the disease in animals, the tick that carries the disease and removal of the tick.

The pamphlet was prepared by the Michigan Department of Public Health, Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Michigan Department of Agriculture and Michigan State University, East Lansing.

In Michigan, the first human case of Lyme disease was reported in the Upper Peninsula in 1985. Last year, more than 30 cases were reported statewide including reports from 17 counties in the lower peninsula. Already this year, the number of cases statewide has risen to 83.

Nan's Beauty Talk

Be flexible about fashion. Trendy is trendy, but having your own look is what's really in. Fashion sets a style or a mood, but you don't have to follow it by rote. The best policy...adapt the laws of fashion to create your own identity. You'll see a new style in all the hottest fashion magazines, but instead of copying it, change it ever so slightly to reflect your own personality. Fashion then becomes the foundation for a look that's all you! The trick is to choose wisely among a vast array of options, in a manner that's both flattering and appropriate. How do you select the right one for you? Nan's Design Team can take you step-by-step and show you how and why each type of cut would be right or wrong for you. REMOVE UNWANTED HAIR EASILY! "I'm looking forward to it," Powell said. "When I went to orientation, I said 'OK, this is great. I'm ready to go; let's leave now.' "

While she plans to study electrical engineering, she said she already has checked into some activities related to drama and music.

"I signed up for piano and voice lessons already, so I'm ready to start," she said. She also plans to audition for university music groups.

This summer, Powell gained some engineering experience by working for a robotics design firm in Troy. And when she wasn't working with computers, she was going out with friends.

Wolves are down but not out

BY PETER AUCHTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Tattered strands of blue and gold crepe paper, mixed with chunks of grass, cluttered an empty locker room as the Clarkston coaches huddled in a small room down the hall Friday evening.

Moments before, the locker room was filled with players shedding their dirty uniforms along with a few tears after the Wolves lost to Grand Blanc 20-17.

Against a "bigger, stronger, faster" team, Clarkston stayed close enough to win throughout the contest.

Sports

The Wolves only needed a few breaks at the end to pull out a victory. Unfortunately, the Bobcats got the breaks and the win.

To a man, the loss was discouraging for the Wolves. Coach Kurt Richardson was frustrated, but proud, of the effort his charges put forth.

"They (Grand'Blanc) were bigger, stronger and faster than us, and our kids played with them every d-moment," he said. "Those kids will bounce back (from this loss); they have a lot of guts."

In almost every statistical category, the Wolves proved superior against the Bobcats. Clarkston had more first downs (12 to seven), more passing yards (71 to none), more total offensive yards (268 to 223), fewer fumbles (zero to one) and fewer penalties (30 yards compared to 60).

But when it counted most, the Bobcats came up with a break (as in timely penalty) to gain the momentum. The final blow was Tom Webber's 25-yard touchdown run off a fake field goal that provided the margin of victory.

After a 40-yard run by Dana Tell to the Clarkston 8-yard line, the Wolves defense stiffened and pushed the Bobcats back to the 17, where they faced a fourth-and-goal situation early in the fourth quarter. That's when Webber made his TD run.

Jason Kinzler opened the scoring for the Wolves off the opening kickoff, going 80 yards for a touchdown. David Marks added the extra point for a 7-0 lead just 10 seconds into the game.

Grand Blanc didn't waste time responding on its first possession. Tell ran 50 yards for a touchdown with 9:35 to go in the first quarter. Tom Dusseau's extra point attempt tied the score and capped a 72-yard scoring drive.

Clarkston couldn't move the ball on its second possession and was forced to punt. Grand Blanc took over on its own 33.

Once again, the Bobcat offense moved the ball down the field to set up a 15-yard touchdown run by Tell. Along the way, Grand Blanc converted on a fourth-and-one situation at the Clarkston 17-yard line and overcame two five-yard penalties.

Before Tell's second touchdown run, Dugan Fife made a touchdown-saving tackle along the visitor's sideline. In the process, he knocked himself out and had to be carried out on a stretcher. He returned to the sidelines later in the game, in uniform and good spirits, but saw no more action.

On its next drive, Clarkston's John King broke loose for a 79-yard touchdown run. Marks added the extra point to knot the score at 14-all with 1:05 to play in the first quarter.

Neither team mounted an offensive threat in the second quarter. The game remained tied at halftime.

Clarkston opened the third quarter with a 68-yard scoring drive that put it in front 17-14 on a 20-yard field goal by Marks.

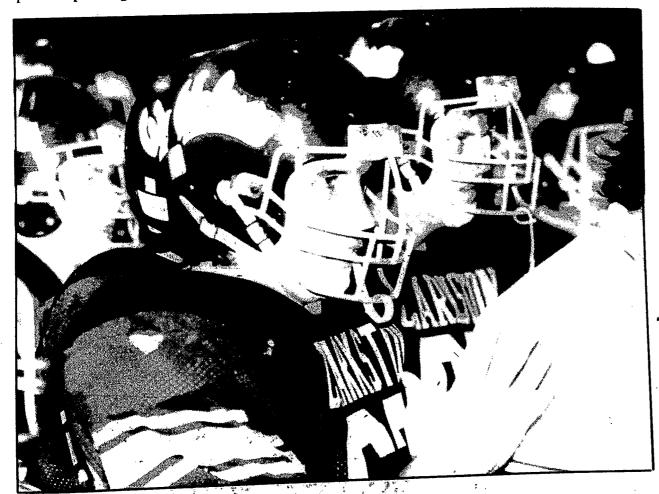

On the drive, Wally Wyniemko caught an eightyard pass; quarterback Dane Davis ran for 14 yards on three carries, and Grand Blanc helped out with a 15-yard penalty.

Brett Kinzler became the main runner for the Wolves in the second half due to a change in defense that keyed on fullback King after his impressive first-half effort.

"They took him away from us," said Richardson.
Grand Blanc then began its last scoring drive on its own 28 late in the third quarter. The drive finished up early in the fourth quarter with W. ber taking it in from 25 yards out.

The closest Clarkston got to Grand Blanc's end zone the rest of the way was the 35-yard line. David Tinkis recovered a fumble for the Wolves late in the game, but they could not convert it into a score.

Clarkston now travels to Saginaw Heritage for Friday's contest. Last year, Saginaw handed the Wolves a 22-14 loss.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS concentrated on winning the game against Grand Blanc Friday night right from the start. Unfortunately their effort wasn't enough, the visitors prevalled 20-17.

Junior varsity football team rallies for Wir

Showing poise beyond their age, the junior varsity football team rallied for an impressive victory at Grand

Down by a point with seven minutes to play and the ball resting 80 yards from the Bobcats' end zone, the Wolves marched down the field to win the game on Dan Griffiths' 3-yard run with 1:08 to play. Jon Wyniemko scored the two-point conversion to make the final score

"The last drive used up six minutes," said Coach John Craven. "It was a great drive by the kids. This (type of drive) isn't something that you see this early in the season.

Clarkston opened the scoring on a run by Brian Davis. Griffiths, who finished with 113 yards on 20 carries, set up the score with a 20-yard run to the Grand Blanc six-yard line.

Frosh scorch scoreboard

Scoring 100 points combined during the first week of the freshman football season, the two Clarkston area junior high schools whet the fans' appetite for an offensive show Sept. 6.

Both Clarkston and Sashabaw junior high wiped out their opponents last week while warming up for the first of two meetings between the teams at Clarkston High School Wednesday, Sept. 6.

Clarkston Junior High topped Milford 50-0 with seven players scoring for the Wolverines. Jeff Galley was the top point producer with one touchdown run and two touchdown passes. Gary Young snared one of those TD tosses and Steve Hunkele caught the other one.

Other touchdown scorers for Clarkston were Aaron Kirk, Jason Roughton, Justin Trappero and Dan Schoff.

With only 25 members due to the pay-for-play format this fall, Coach Steve Himburg was pleased with the team's victory.

'It felt good," he said. "Everybody had a chance to play. Everybody is going to have to contribute to make

Sashabaw Junior High also had an easy time of it last week, handing Lakeland a 50-0 loss. Jerry Anderson and Matt Smith scored two touchdowns apiece. Anderson and Greg Fisher each topped the 100-yard mark in rushing as

Other touchdown scorers for the Cougars were Fisher, Mike Robinson and Craig Ginter, who caught a pass from Nick Shires. Smith, Andy Howe and Anderson converted extra point attempts.

While the offense did well, the defense helped set the stage for the rout.

"Our defense did the job," said Coach Mike Stefanski. "There were lots of turnovers."

Steve Cohoon was the top defensive player for the

The Bobcats dominated the rest of the first half yet led only 7-6 at the intermission.

"They were kicking our cans," said Craven. "We were lucky to be down 7-6. The second quarter was all Grand Blanc."

Griffiths put Clarkston back out in front with a touchdown run early in the third quarter. He also converted on the two-point try to make the score 14-7.

Grand Blancthen responded with a 60-yard touchdown-run and two-point conversion to reclaim the lead at 15-14.

On its winning 80-yard drive, Wyniemko hit Jeremy Burke with a pass on a fourth-down play to keep the drive alive. The quarterback also scrambled for 14 yards on Wyniemko finished the day by completing six-ofnine passes for 70 yards. Davis stood out defensively, collecting 11 tackles. "I was pleased for our first game," said Craven. "We played well."

Clarkston will host Saginaw Heritage Thursday evening. Last season, the Wolves won 30-0.

Time Out

Too tough to take

Peter Auchter

From Jason Kinzler's opening kickoff return to the final frustrating moment, the varsity football team gave it all it had against Grand Blanc Friday night.

That's probably what made the loss so hard to take. For the Wolves to succeed this season, they will have to live and die off their emotions. Visitors to the home team's locker room could visibly see what the effect the loss had on the team from the coaches down to the guys in the trenches. This one hurt, literally.

I can only hope they can harness their emotions and use it as a lethal weapon against Heritage on Friday night and in the Greater Oakland Activities League games during the weeks that follow Players were whooping it up on the sidelines following Kinzler's touchdown run as if it were November and Clarkston was fighting for its life. It seems this season, every game will be treated like a playoff game.

As the game wore on, and Grand Blanc eventually claimed the lead, the players on the bench turned to the full-house crowd and led them in cheers in hopes of sparking a rally. Nobody was ready to give up yet.

When Dugan Fife went down injured late in the first half, fellow quarterback Dane Davis (who battled Fife for the starting spot) stormed up and down the sidelines during the delay, slapping shoulder pads and verbally pumping up his teammates.

It must be November! This isn't the playoffs, you say? The weather certainly cooperated. (That's the last time I clean out the car and hang up my jackets in the hall closet where they supposedly belong!)

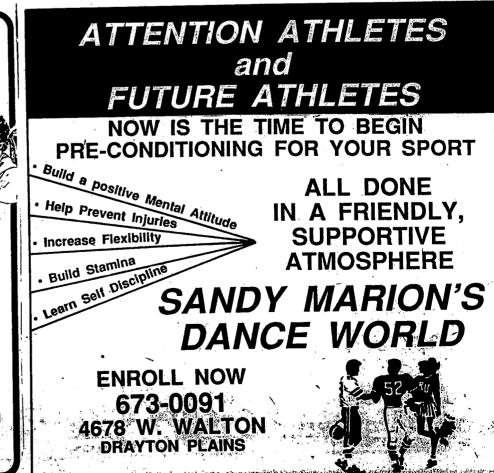

In all it was a fun night at the game, except for the final score. It should be an interesting, and winning, season for the football team. Nobody who cares this much can be labeled a loser.

Things are certainly looking up for the varsity girls basketball team. In fact, other teams are literally looking up at the Wolves, who field two six-footers.

Clarkston began the season with a couple of wins and should be highly competitive this fall. I can hardly wait for the GOAL season to begin. The battles within the league should be fierce as

With a little luck and a lot of talent, maybe the Wolves will be able to make some noise in the playoffs come November. Even if the weather doesn't cooperate. (Unless the roof leaks, that is.)

Basketball team wins again with tough defensive effort

BY PETER AUCHTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Swartz Creek put up a fight, but in the end became the third straight victim of the Clarkston girls basketball team.

A strong second quarter, the Wolves outscored their opponent 16-5, gave the home team an insurmountable lead. Clarkston coasted to a 45-33 victory to up their record to 3-0.

Susan McKoin and Rhonda Jokisch again led the Wolves in scoring, netting 19 and 13 points, respectively. Celeste Steinhelper added eight and Jenny McChesney had five to complete the scoring for the victors.

"Those (four) have done the majority of the scoring," said Coach Larry Mahrle. "We are still not playing well offensively."

Thankfully, a tough pressure defense has allowed the Wolves to get away with their less-than-spectacular play on the offensive end so far.

"The defense played well tonight," the coach said.
"I'm real pleased to be 3-0 at this point."

The teams traded baskets early in the opening quarter, the score was knotted at six with three minutes to play. McChesney and Jokisch hit a couple of baskets to push Clarkston out in front 12-9 after one quarter.

In the key second stanza, McKoin nailed back-to-back shots from the paint to begin Clarkston's scoring run. McChesney's three-point shot with less than three minutes left in the half put Clarkston up 22-9. Steinhelper beat the buzzer to hand the home team its largest lead of the half, 28-14.

Both teams went cold early in the third quarter. McKoin scored all seven of Clarkston's points in the period and the Wolves led 35-25 heading into the final quarter. That's as close as the visitors came to gaining the lead in the second half.

The other twin tower in Clarkston's lineup, Jokisch, took over in the fourth, scoring six of the Wolves' 10 points.

Clarkston opened the season last week with a road victory against Lakeland. The Wolves won 61-24. Jokisch led the team with 17 points. McKoin had 16, Steinhelper eight and McChesney six. Clarkston led 35-16 at the half.

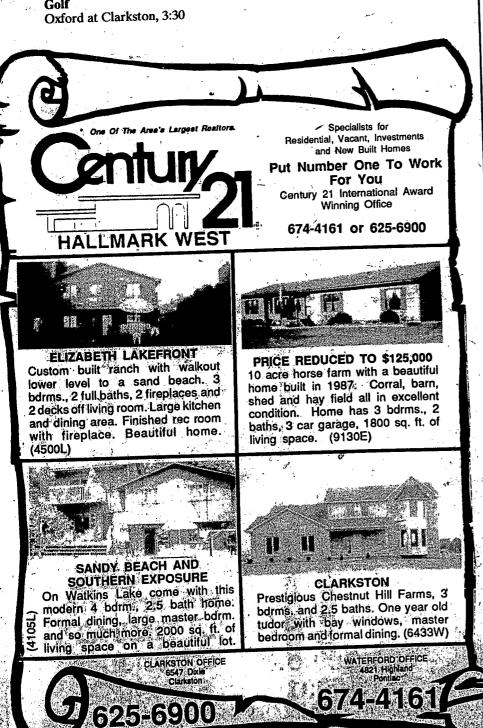

Two days later, the Wolves handed Rochester at 48-40 loss. McKoin was the top scorer with 24 points. Jokisch had nine and McChesney seven.

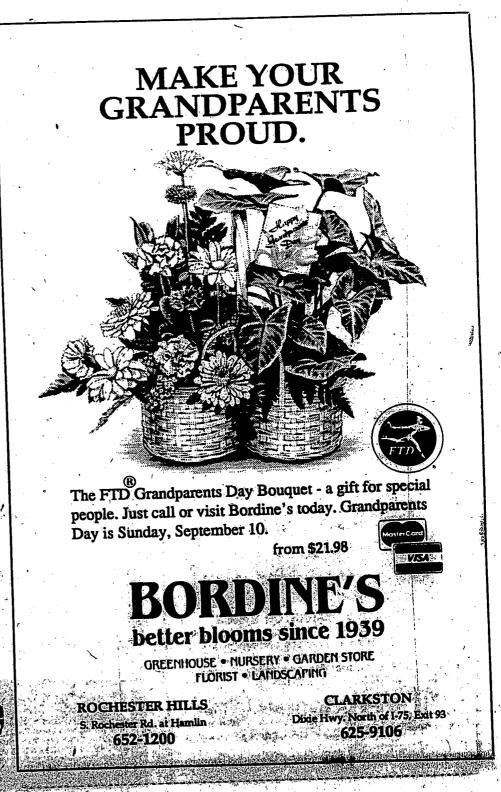

The Wolves now await Rochester Adams for a Thursday evening contest at Clarkston High School. With a talented and experienced lineup to call on, Mahrle looks forward to the rest of the season.

Of the 11 players on the varsity team, five are seniors, five are juniors and the other is a freshman. When the going gets rough, Mahrle hopes the experience will pay

"We are senior dominated, no question," he said. "I think that helps when things get tough out there. They keep their composure."

Returning starters include seniors McKoin, Jokisch and Steinhelper along with junior McChesney. Other team members are Beth Walker, Stacey Secatch, Carrie Roeser, Jody Lopucki, Tami Mitchell, Alyson McChesney and Sharry Bronson.

Buying a new home makes good financial sense

There are many good reasons for buying a new home, according to the Michigan Association of Home

Today's new homes include the most advanced products and technology. New homes are equipped with modern appliances and amenities and are designed to fit the needs of today's buyers.

Houses built today are as much as 50 percent more energy efficient than homes built before oil prices skyrocketed in the 1970s. Extra insulation, efficient heating and cooling systems, double glazed windows and insulated doors are just a few of the fuel efficient features built into new housing. They can save homeowners hundreds of dollars a year in utility bills.

New homes usually come with warranties on workmanship and material used. This protection will give you additional peace of mind in making your purchase.

Buying a new home also makes good financial sense, regardless of whether house prices are appreciating quickly in your area. With most mortgages, you gradually increase the proportion of the house you own while decreasing the amount you owe to the lender. As your equity builds, your personal wealth increases.

A house can allow you to increase your wealth through a process called leveraging. Suppose you buy a $100,000 home, with a $10,000 down payment and a $90,000 loan.

If your home increases in value to $110,000 over the next few years, you would own equity of more than $20,000 (the $10,000 down payment plus the $10,000 in appreciation plus the amount you had paid off on your loan). Therefore, you would have more than doubled the original amount that you originally staked in your house. What other investments allow you to earn so much so

Tax laws have changed considerably in recent years. Even with the changes, your home is still one of the best tax shelters for your income. You can still deduct mortgage interest and property tax from your federal and state income tax returns. So if you are in the 28 percent bracket, you are receiving the equivalent of a 28 percent discount on your mortgage interest and property tax payments.

If you deposit your savings in a bank account, you must pay taxes every year on the interest you earn. With a house, you won't have to pay taxes on the appreciation unless you sell it and buy a lower priced home or move into a rental unit.

The tax laws permit a one-time exemption of $125,000 of appreciation on your principal residence after you turn 55. If you want to tap the equity in your home when you are approaching or pass retirement age, this provision allows you to do so without being hit with a big tax payment.

Never rush into a home purchase without exploring as many options as possible. But once you find a home and a financing package that fits your needs well, don't postpone the purchase in the hopes of finding a better deal in the future. If you are tempted to gamble that interest rates and or house price will fall, remember that the stakes of your gamble are high and the odds are against-you.

Opinion of Bill Myers

Canadian journey can be hair raising

First, Canada went bilingual, to keep the people in Quebec from revolting. Now the country is quadrilingual: English, French, Japanese and metric.

In British Columbia and Alberta, you feel conspicuous when dining if you aren't using chopsticks. In Banff, Alberta, Canadians have ordered hotels to save at least 30 percent of the hotel rooms for the natives. The Orientals have the rest.

As to metric, Canada went to this system with a vengence. Nobody knows how far a kilometer is, and everyone has forgotten the old English system because it can't even be mentioned. No kidding - a Vancouver lumber dealer advertised 2-by-4s and got hauled into court

If you think this is silly, try figuring out how much a gallon of gas costs you. It's sold in liters (33.6 ounces, isn't it?), and you pay in Canadian dollars, around 1.23 to the U.S. dollar.

Okay, so you have a rental car and extra kilometers over the allowance cost you 19 cents Canadian. The little Toyota you have looks as though it would get 27 miles to the gallon. Suppose you want to drive to Banff and back from Lake Louise. In pre-metric days, the trip was 73 miles. How much will the gas cost you at 43 cents Canadian per liter plus the cost of mileage at 19 cents per kilometer?

An even bigger problem is entering Canada 100 percent legally. Air Canada gave me a pamphlet listing items restricted from entry. One is hair.

Hair is permitted only if it has been "commercially washed, processed or dyed." I have never had a commercial hair-wash. Only processing my hair has had was with a comb. I tried a little dye once, but it came out looking

I got through the border inspection by pulling my golf hat down over my ears, but the darned thing stuck and I had to wear it to dinner.

Once across the border, and except for the metric system, Canada is a great country. Mother's folks all come from Ontario. Our family has vacationed there for nigh onto a century. Dad canoed there so much they gave him a guide's license.

This time, Jennifer and I did the Canadian Rockies the old-fashioned way: by train. Starting at Calgary, we took VIA RAIL, the Canadian version of Amtrak. There's a special train that does the stretch from Calgary (or Jasper) all the way to Vancouver, all by daylight.

The daylight ride is made possible by an overnight stop halfway, at Kamloops. The train gets underway the next morning and continues down the Thompson and Fraser rivers to Vancouver. We rode it both ways. On the return, you can branch off at Kamloops and go northeasterly to Jasper.

Seats are reserved on the coaches. Breakfast and lunch are served, airplane-style. There is bar services. The roadbed is first-class. Continuous rails cut out the clickety-click of the old trains. The ride is smooth and quiet. Coaches are air-conditioned.

There's lots of action on the way. Thirty-eight freight trains a day go over this route, probably the busiest stretch of railroad in North America.

If you should ever take this trip, by all means include Jasper National Park. It is the crown jewel of the Rockies far nicer than Lake Louise. Place to stay is Jasper Park Lodge. Avoid Banff; it's a shotgun marriage of New York and Tokyo.

We spent five days at Jasper and never backtracked. We rented a car (Avis) and after leaving Jasper drove down the beautiful scenic highway to the Columbia ice fields and on to Lake Louise, spent a day at the Chateau, then drove on to Calgary and caught the plane to Toronto. Air Canada is a dandy airline.

Calgary itself is a good town and a couple days there will be pleasant. The Glenbow museum and the Olympic complex will take a day to cover. Westin Hotel is excellent.

Speaking of hotels, the Four Seasons in Vancouver rates with us among our top 10. When breakfast is brought to the room, even the newspaper has been warmed. Nothing like starting the day with hot news.

Just so we can call this a financial column:

Going back through seven business cycles since 1954, the firm of Kleinwort Benson reveals that the real yields of 30-year government bonds have always exceeded the inflation rate. "Real" in this case means the interest rate minus the inflation rate.

Even in 1980-81, when inflation was running wild, real yields were 2.76 percent. In the last cycle, July '81 to May '80, the real yield averaged 4.75 percent. Historically, real yields are around 3.5 percent.

Meanwhile, holders of governments have enjoyed serene slumbers. Stock owners toss and turn a lot.

With weeds she creates beauty to enjoy at home

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN Clarkston News Staff Writer

An eye for color and balance is Patsy Carlson's most important tool in creating the dried arrangements she'll be selling at Clarkston Community Historical Society Crafts and Cider Festival.

Patsy, who has spent seven years collecting weeds from all over Michigan and one part of Ohio, said her arrangements sell well because she has "a good product that doesn't fall apart.

"This was all done by accident -- and it works," said Patsy, explaining that she started by making arrangements just for herself. But soon, others began asking her to make them, too.

People often remark to her about how full the arrangements look, she said, adding that they're made of five to seven different weeds.

On a typical weed-collecting day, Patsy gets an early start and drives -- sometimes two hours or more -- to an undisclosed part of the state.

There, she'll spend the entire day gathering a particular variety of weed. Afterward, she'll drive home and immediately tie the plants in bundles and hang them upside down to dry.

Her best weeds are found in parts of northern Michigan, but she also gets one variety near her father's home near Cincinnati, Ohio, she said.

Festival set for Sept. 16, 17

Games for children and an expanded food area are new this year to the 15th annual Clarkston Community Historical Society's Crafts and Cider Festival

The festival is set for 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 16 and 17, in Clarkston's Depot Park.

Over 70 artists and crafts people will exhibit their wares this year, including such works as paintings, drawings, photographs, stained and beveled glass, hand-woven and painted baskets, fibers, soft sculpture, wood works, furniture, primitive folk art and toys.

Also at the festival will be fresh-baked doughnuts and cider, sold by members of the historical society, which also will sell a coffee mug printed with scenes of local architecture.

The third in a series, the scene on the mug this year was drawn by Jim Russell. The 1987 mug was drawn by Sally Kubani; Bob Hubbock drew the mug for 1988 mug for 1988.

The society also will sell "Heritage," a book about Clarkston's history edited by Jennifer Radcliff; feather trees; and old-fashioned Christmas ornaments.

Games for children -- in the playground area of Depot Park -- will be managed by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Depart-

Proceeds from the event will help fund a local history room in the Independence Township Library. For more information, call Lisa Briggs at 541-6099.

Local potter glazes the way to festival

BY LINDA WALSH LAPINSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dorothy Barnett doesn't know what first attracted her to ceramics, but 15 years ago, she took the challenge and is still happy about her decision.

"I just knew it was something that I would enjoy doing," said Dorothy, a Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, resident.

Driving up the drive of her five-acre home, a visitor enters a world of colorful and peaceful beauty. It's easy to understand where Dorothy gets her ideas for the color arrangement of her glazes and the abstract designs she incorporates in her pieces.

Browns and greens in the trees, the myriad of colors from the flowers right outside the front door and the cool blues found while looking at the water of Whipple Lake right outside her studio window "are inspirational to me and do reflect in my work," she said.

Ten years ago, Dorothy enrolled in classes at Pewabic Pottery in Detroit, and her journey began. In each of her finished pieces she felt improvement that prompted her on, she said.

She started with ashtrays and jumped at the idea of selling her wares in the first Clarkston Community Historical Society Crafts and Cider Festival in 1974.

"I had a card table right outside Rudy's Market to sell my ashtray and small bowls," she recalled.

"It helps to be around people with the same interests; we help inspire each other with new ideas."

Dorothy Barnett

Dorothy still attends workshops at Oakland Community College-Royal Oak Campus to be with creative and interesting people.

Potter's career takes shape in Clarkston festival

"It helps to be around people with the same interests; we help inspire each other with new ideas," she said.

Each of her pieces begins as a ball of clay wedged in a pyramid shape. It is then placed on the potter's wheel. Unlike the old potter's wheel, which was run by muscle power of the artist, Dorothy's wheel is now run by electricity. The ball of clay is then worked into the size and shape she desires.

Some of the final pieces are designed into vases, serving bowls, chip dip servers and platters, although the casserole dish is her favorite object to make, she said.

After the initial shaping comes the drying. Each piece takes a different time to dry, so Dorothy works on several pieces at once.

Summertime is a little easier to dry the pieces because they can be set outside, she said. After the first firing or bisque firing -- three kilns line the wall of her studio for this job -- the glazes are applied.

The pieces are then fired a second time, at which time the pieces come to life. They're either fired in the electric kilns in the studio or in an outside kiln a distance away from her house.

The outside kiln was built by Dorothy and her husband, Charles, 10 years ago. Temperatures reach from 2381 to 2390 degrees Fahrenheit.

The kiln is equipped with special fire bricks to retain the higher temperatures needed for different glaze finishes. This final firing also makes the pieces dishwasher, oven and, most importantly, microwave safe, she said.

Tricia Rhodes, Dorothy's 8-year-old granddaughter, who is a potter in her own right, can be found trailing behind her grandmother describing the different items to be found. Tricia also has several pieces she is working on and likes to make baskets with pieces of fruit in them.

Dorothy not only enjoys the actual making of the ceramic items, but she enjoys going to the shows. Again, her husband gets in the act by helping her in the initial setting up, although he doesn't return until it is time to go

Dorothy plans to get into the show circuit again. She has traveled as far as Tawas City with her wares. Her two-year layoff has given her a brand new start, and she already sees an improvement in her work,

On Sept. 16 and 17, she won't have to travel far from home to show her work. Once again, she'll be part of the crafts and cider festival in Clarkston's Depot Park.

DOROTHY BARNETT spends lots of time at her potter's wheel, especially when preparing for fairs such as the Crafts and Cider Festival in Clarkston.

Antiques display beautiful weeds

The process is time consuming but necessary, she said. The weeds would become brittle if not tended to immediately after picking.

pick and gather weeds with her, although Stacie won't be available for gathering weeds this fall. She recently started her freshman year at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo.

Arranging the weeds is also another time-consuming venture for Patsy.

"I spend about four to six hours on each arrangement," said Patsy. "I like being creative, and I get excited when I'm using new colors."

She gets great satisfaction in taking weeds and boxes and making something beautiful of them, she said.

She usually uses antique containers to make her arrangements. The containers may be from old sewing machine drawers, cheeses boxes, advertising boxes or whatever she might find while antique searching.

Patsy plans to sell her arrangements at three other shows this fall -- The Elf-Shelf in Troy and Hand-Crafter shows in Brighton and Northville.

And she wants people to enjoy the arrangements as much as she does.

"I've always felt successful at this, and I couldn't continue on if I didn't feel successful," she said.

Stray ready for a happy home

Bowser is an irresistible male 4-year-old cocker spaniel mix.

Black and tan, Bowser was rescued as a stray, and he has been at the shelter for almost a month, where he's captured the hearts of the workers. He needs a home and a family that will appreciate his wonderful personality.

He likes children and other pets, but Bowser gets so excited when he sees children that the shelter workers suggest he live in a home with children over seven years of age.

Bowser hasn't been neutered yet, but a volunteer at the shelter has offered to pay for for the procedure. His adoption fee is $30.

Bowser can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

New cable show focuses on family

North Oaks Community Church in Clarkston will be hosting two TV series this fall.

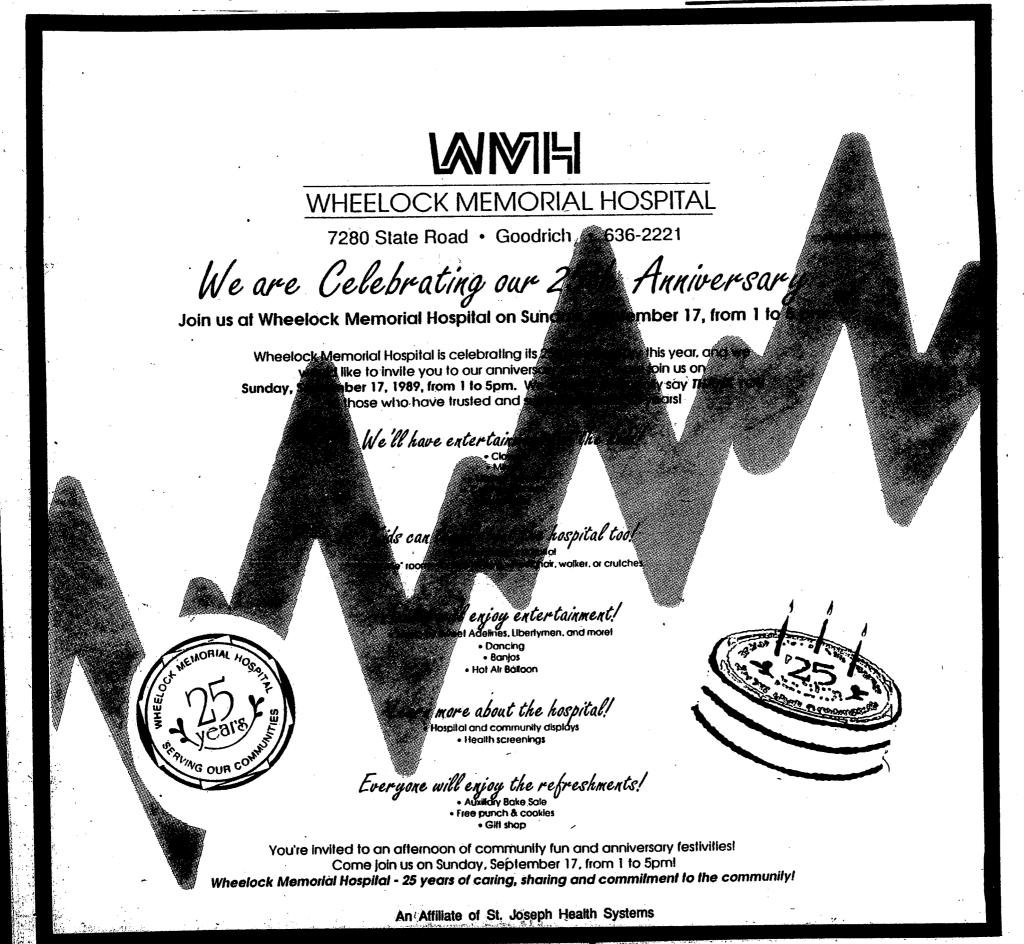

The first is "Focus on Family" featuring Dr. James Dobson, one of America's foremost authorities on the family and author of several best-selling books, including: Preparing For Adolescence, Dr. Dobson Answers Your Questions, Love Must Be Tough and The Strong Willed Children.

Originally presented in 1978 and seen by more than 50 million people, the classic film series is being shown once again because Dr. Dobson's insights on the family remain valid.

In Independence Township, this series will be shown Mondays and Thursdays from 7 to 8 p.m. on United Cable television, Independence-Clarkston Channel 65 beginning Sept. 11.

The second series will be shown on Waterford

MICHIGAN'S #1 ERA REAL ESTATE OFFICE

Former roommates open M-15 medical practice

BY PETER AUCHTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Roommates in college, two doctors in the Clarkston area extended their relationship to business world.

Physicians Matthew Kulick and Paul Haduck both reside in Waterford Township and plan on working in the Clarkston community for a long time.

Besides the newly opened office at 5885 M-15 in Independence Township, the doctors also work out of the Springfield Medical Clinic on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township on alternate days.

What's New in Business

Early next year, the doctors hope to move their M-15 practice to a new building near the corner of Clarkston and Sashabaw roads.

"(The M-15 corridor) is saturated with doctors," said Kulick. "So we thought we'd try it out there."

At Clarkston Family Care, the doctors offer a wide range of services including office surgery, pediatrics, physical therapy, weight control and minor emergencies. And, while they are affiliated with Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, Kulick said they will go anywhere their patient is comfortable.

"We can do just about anything to make them happy," said Kulick.

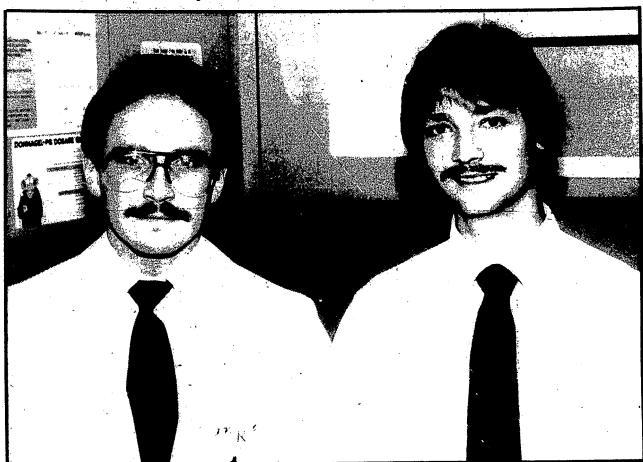

He graduated from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, in 1984 and completed his graduate work at Michigan State University, East Lansing, in 1988. Kulick, who recently married, resides in Waterford Township with his wife, Lynne.

Haduck earned his bachelor's degree from Oakland University, Rochester, before meeting up with Kulick when he attended Michigan State. The Waterford Township resident is engaged to Lori Rugenstein.

Both followed in the footsteps of their fathers.

Physician Richard Kuhk works out of the Perry Medical Clinic in Pontiac while physician Walter Haduck is retired after 30 years of work in the Auburn Hills area. Clarkston Family Care is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. but is closed Wednesdays.

NEW DOCTORS in town are Matthew Kulick and Paul Haduck of Waterford Township.

They opened their Independence Township office on M-15 in early August.

Helpful hints to keep weight loss in perspective

According to the world famous Hayden Planetarium in New York City, N.Y., if you weigh 130 pounds, you would tip the scales at an incredible 41,318 pounds on Jupiter and a hefty 2,237 pounds on Neptune.

Yet you'd weigh just 14 pounds on Mars and a measly two pounds on the moon. Fortunately, people don't have to travel for light years eating freeze-dried food or drinking space shakes to lose weight effectively.

Everything is relative in life, especially when you consider weight loss, says Florine Mark, area director of Weight Watchers.

"Put weight loss in perspective," she says. "Losing just five pounds is extremely important when you need to slim down to stay healthy. If you set realistic goals for yourself and stick to your weight loss plan, you will shed those extra pounds and not only look but also feel great.

When you reach a weight loss goal, reward yourself," adds Mark. "For every five pounds lost, enrich yourself with tickets to an entertaining event, a new book or a new addition to your wardrobe.

"Your that much closer to being healthier and more shapely. But don't beat up on yourself if you stray from your food plan. Instead, forgive yourself and get back on your program the next day. What's important is that you keep trying and never give up."

The same holds true with physical activity, she said. "Every bit of exercise is beneficial as long as it is a low to moderate impact, long duration activity that you do on a regular basis," says William McArdle, exercise physiologist for Weight Watchers International.

"Use it or lose it. ... Your body can't store benefits gained from exercise. It loses them if the momentum is not kept up. People of all ages can enjoy walking, biking, swimming and gardening."

The following tips should help keep things in perspective:

- Visualize yourself at goal weight. Motivate yourself by comparing your pre-weight loss image to a new you in a trim outfit or bathing suit.

- Discuss your weight loss experiences with friends, family or formal support groups who can relate to what you're going through and provide emotional support. Talking with others can help identify what triggers binges or other self-defeating activities.

~ Interact with people instead of starving yourself from having fun because food may be involved. It's important to focus on aspects of a social event besides the food that is served. Enjoy the atmosphere, fun activities and the opportunity to meet some interesting new people. Having a good time includes much more than

~ Learn how to eat properly while losing weight or you'll gain it all back. Devote your energy to lasting good health and eating habits, rather than fads and short-lived weight loss that might damage your confidence and vitality. It's all right to reach for the stars when exploring for the new, slimmer you; just be sure to keep your feet on the ground and put things in perspective. In weight loss, as in life, everything's relative.

Sisters sweep Ann Arbor pageant

To have a daughter win a beauty pageant is a rare occurrence. The odds against having two daughters sweep a beauty pageant are pretty high, but the Fantettis of Independence Township beat the odds.

Their two daughters swept the Little Miss American Beauty Pageant held recently in Ann Arbor. The two girls, both students at Pine Knob Elementary School, will go on to the national competition which will take place in Ohio in December.

Koriena, 8, was first place for her age group in the swimsuit, modeling and photogenic competitions. She was first runner up in the two remaining categories, which were beauty and talent.

Kendra, 10, entered three of the five categories. She won first place for her age group in the modeling and swimsuit competitions and first runner up in the beauty competition.

(Kendra) was really pleased because she had never done modeling at all," said Ruth Fantetti, the girls' mother.

Koriena swept the Kids of America Pageant in Lansing earlier this summer. She qualified for the national competition in Dallas in July, but was unable to go because of an unexpected family trip, Ruth said.

Kendra finished third runner up in the beauty competition in the 10-to-12-year-old division of that pageant.

Ruth added that Koriena appreciated the Clarkston Rotary Club for sponsoring her in the Ann Arbor pageant. The club covered all the fees for the compe-

Healthy Helpings

Theme pizza

Betty Wagner

For the next two months, I will have the privilege of writing another food column for The Clarkston News while Tracy King is away. Tracy's Healthy Helpings is a big hit, I know.

My column will feature conventional recipes. I will reduce the fat whenever possible while still maintaining the integrity of the recipe, but I will include some of my favorites that are not especially low fatt

Of course all of my recipes are healthy, but I have a passion for pizza, and I'm mad about muffins. Sometimes it doesn't hurt to treat yourself to a sweet ending.

So please let me hear what kind of conventional recipes you would like to see, and I'll do my best.

There was a time when I made pizza every Sunday night. That's when our children were still children and living at our home. Now, I admit, I often succumb to ordering out after a day of Sunday play and with only two people to feed.

My favorite pizza dough comes from "The All New Fannie Farmer Boston Cooking School Cookbook," Little, Brown and Co., 1959.

Often I change it -- add whole wheat flour, cut the salt, use olive oil; it needs to rise only 15 minutes. But you can use refrigerator pizza dough; frozen bread dough, defrosted; any pizza dough recipe; or even purchase it from a carry-out food store.

The greatest thing about pizza is the creative aspect. You can top the crust with whatever you choose and have on hand in the refrigerator, or you can be very traditional with tomato sauce, pepperoni, sausage, mushrooms, green peppers and mozzarella cheese.

The usual guidelines for me are some sort of sauce and some kind of cheese. I love to build theme pizzas; my husband is a patient sort of guy. Here are two for the adventuresome.

PIZZA DOUGH

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Bake for 12 to 20 minutes. Makes one 12-inch pizza

1 cup warm water*

1 (1/4-ounce) package dry yeast

1 teaspoon sugar

1 teaspoon salt 1 tablespoon oil

1-1/2 cups pizza or all purpose flour

1-1/4 cups whole wheat flour

*Water temperature depends on mixing method; 110-115 degrees if dissolving yeast into water, 120-130 if dry yeast is combined with flour and water is added to that.

1. Combine yeast and water. Let stand for 5 minutes. Add sugar, salt and oil

2. Beat in 1-1/2 cups white flour until smooth. Add whole wheat flour until dough is firm enough to handle. DO NOT ADD TOO MUCH FLOUR!

3. Knead until smooth. Put in plastic bag; allow to rise for 15 minutes or so. Roll or press out on greased pizza pan or stone.

For a food processor:

1. Combine both flours and salt in work bowl.

requests may be examined at the Springfield Township Clerk's Office, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan, during regular office hours Monday through Friday until the date of the meeting. J. Calvin Walters Springfield Township Clerk Process to blend.

2. Add sugar and yeast to 110 degree water. Let stand for about 5 minutes. Stir to dissolve. Add the oil.

3. With motor running, add water in a stream through feed tube for about 60 seconds.

4. Remove dough from work bowl. Knead in additional flour if dough is too sticky. 5. Put in plastic bag; allow to rise 15 minutes or so. Press out on greased pizza sheet or stone. Place on toppings and bake as above.

SHRIMP CREOLE PIZZA For 12-inch pizza

1/4 to 1/3 cup shrimp cocktail sauce

1/2 pound shelled, cooked, deveined shrimp 1/2 cup chopped green onions, both white and green portion

1/2 cup thinly sliced green pepper strips 1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese

1. Spread sauce on rolled our 12-inch pizza dough. 2. Top with shrimp, green onions and green peppers. 3. Sprinkle cheese over top, Bake in preheated 450 degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

WHO IS ON THE LORD'S side let home hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches. For they love the praise of men more than the praise of God. It is said a sign of endumes is the preaching of the gosphel to the whole world but I say unto you is has been preached unto all the known world before 70 AD, the utter, destruction of Israel by God, fullfilling Mat 24.14, the fullness of times, God has judged the earth in his righteousness by the word of the truth of the gosphel (Jn 9.39) (Jn 12.31), which is come unto you as it is in all the world (Col 1.5,6)
Hope of the gosphel which has preached to every creature which is under heaven (Col 1.23). But I say, have they not 1.23). But I say, nave trey her heard? Yes, verily their sound went unto all the earth and their words unto the ends of world (Rom 10.18) (Rom 15.19) (Rom 1.5) (Rom 16.26). Therefore they that were scattered abroad went every where preaching the word. (Acts 8.4) This continued by the space of two years so that all they which dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus both Jews and Greeks (Acts 19.10). Christ's return is not hinged on the preaching of the gosphel into all the world according to scripture. If anything seducers will wax worse and worse and the form of godliness, dening the power thereof, will be more prevailent. This doctrine presents false signs to the unsuspecting to hold them in bondage to a system of self-righteous works (Jn 8.33,34,37-40). If you have no desire to serve God in truth no desire to serve God in truti and in the spirit you will be held in this system. God only leads those that want to worship Him in spirit and in truth. There are only a few that will continue (Mat 22.14) (Mk 4.15-20,23-25) (Mat 7.14) Most will not (whomsoev 7.14). Most will not (whomsoever) come to the righteousness of God but will continue to hold the truth in unrighteousness denying the work of the Cross of Christ, having faith in themselves and their works rather than Christl. !!!LX35-2*

WHO IS ON THE LORD'S side? Thus saith the Lord, the world passeth away and the lust thereof but he that does the will of my father abides forever. He that says I know God and keeps not his commandments is a liar and the truth is not in him. As my father hath taught me, I speak these things for I do always those things that please him. If you continue in my word then are you my disciples indeed. He that loves me not does not keep my sayings. Recieve the promise of the father which you have heard of me. For John truly baptized in water but you shall be baptized in the Holy Spirit. It is your father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom. Repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. As Peter yet spake these words the Holy all on them the word, as on the gentiles also was poured out the gift of the Holy Ghost. They heard them speak with other tongues and magnify God. The brethren heard that the gentiles had also received the word of God. That word I say, you know it, began from Galilee, after the baptism which John the baptist preached. Forasmuch God gave them the like gift as he did unto us, who believed on the Lord Jesus. Some say except you be circumcised after the manner of Moses (or John the Baptist) you cannot be saved so Peter rose up and said unto them, you know God made a choice that the Gentiles should hear the word of the gospel and believe. And God which knows the hearts bare them witness giving them the Holy Spirit even as he did us, purifing their hearts by faith. Now therefore why tempt you God. (Acts 10.34, 35) (Mk 3.27) (Mk 4.2.4) Mk 3.35) (Mk 3.29,30,35) (Ijn 3.22).

PRAYER TO THE HOLY Spirit. Holy spirit. You make me see everything, and show me the way to reach my ideals. You give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrongs that are done to me and you are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones, in your perpetual glory. Amen. Persons must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking for your wish. After the 3rd day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. Thanks St. Jude for favors received. !!!RX36-1*
