Last-minute order saves dog Bruno

BY LINDA WALSH LAPINSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A last-minute 14-day restraining order from Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Richard Kuhn temporarily saved the life of Bruno, a year-old pit bull mix terrier residing at an Independence Township home.

The dog, described as "unpredictable" by Sgt. Ronald Leake of the Oakland County Animal Control, was ordered to be destroyed Monday, Oct. 16, by Judge Gerald McNally of 52nd District Court, Independence Township.

Owned by Gale Gatton of Pine Knob Lane, Bruno is accused of repeatedly chasing a neighbor and her small dog and ripping their screen door by attacking it.

Mrs. Gatton has 14 days to prove that Bruno is not vicious, despite two or three complaints filed against Bruno at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

On one instance Sept. 27, Bruno allegedly chased next-door-neighbor Mrs. Henrietta McIntyre and her small dog into their home. Immediately after reaching safety, McIntyre suffered a heart attack, for which she spent several days in the hospital. The heart attack was caused by the dog's aggressiveness, she said.

Eight witnesses testified during an Oct. 13 show-cause hearing before McNally, and he ruled that the dog should be destroyed rather than merely confined.

At the hearing, McIntyre said she felt she was a prisoner in her own home. The dog should be destroyed, she said.

According to June VanKeuren of the 52nd District Court, McIntyre has filed two or three previous complaints about the dog.

Kenneth Taber, an animal control officer with Oakland County Animal Welfare, also testified that the dog possesses the aggressive behavior of a pit bull. He, too, described the dog as "unpredictable."

"This is a lot of bunk.

Judge McNally has overstated himself. Bruno is not vicious and aggressive."

Joseph Gatton

McNally ordered that the dog be destroyed because he was concerned that the dog would harm someone else, said VanKeuren.

According to Carl Anderson, division manager of Oakland County Animal Control, on Monday, Oct. 16, a TV station appeared at the shelter Monday, Oct. 16, to film the owners of the dog. The owners were trying to show that Bruno was not vicious, and he should not be destroyed.

According to Weldon Graham, the brother of Mrs. Gatton, the family has sworn statements from other neighbors stating that they have never had any problems with the dog.

Graham said the dog is not dangerous; it's just pit bull "paranoia."

Kathleen Riganon, the dog's original owner, came to the shelter in defense of the nature of the dog. She originally gave the dog to Mrs. Gatton's mother, Loretta Graham of Pine Knob Lane, when Bruno was a puppy.

Mrs. Graham gave the dog to her daughter, who plans to move the dog to her new Fenton home.

Bruno's family said they'll try their best to save their dog from death.

"This is a lot of bunk," said Joseph Gatton, Mrs. Gatton's husband. "Judge McNally has overstated himself. Bruno is not vicious and aggressive."

"We have three daughters. They are with the dog all the time. They have never been attacked," he said.

According to Michigan's Public Act Statute 426, a vicious animal is defined as one that has maimed, dismembered or killed another, Bruno has done none of these things, said Mr. Gatton.

"We are going to try to get as much media coverage as possible to help our cause, to get Bruno back," he said.

Mr. Gatton set up a fund to help pay Bruno's legal costs. To donate, call Loretta Graham at 673-1773. Money not used on Bruno's case will be donated to People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals.

Bruno remains at the Oakland County Animal Shelter.

Theater-hotel plan unveiled

BY CAROLYN WALKER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Questions about Independence Township's need for a hotel, four-screen theater and more businesses filled the air at last week's planning commission meeting.

On Oct. 12, the commissioners spent an hour listening as an extensive proposal, geared for 140 acres off White Lake Road and Dixie Highway, was unveiled.

Following their presentation, West Bloomfield developers BEG Enterprises found their enthusiasm quickly tempered as, one by one, the commissioners expressed displeasure with many aspects of the combination housing, office, specialty shop, hotel, theater proposal, called Independence Valley Campus.

At the informal meeting, architect Alexander Bogharts explained plans to construct 200 housing units fronting White Lake Road, a 1,000-seat theater, a hotel with 200 rooms, 250,000 square feet of office space and some 300,000 square feet of commercial property in phases that could take well over 10 years of construction.

They plan to seek Planned Unit Development (PUD) zoning, which permits multiple uses on a single parcel of land. PUDs are tied to a specific site plan and need approvals from the planning commission and the township board.

He asked the commission to consider approving the proposal in concept so that finer detailing could be started.

He assured the commission that several acres of "high quality" wetlands would be preserved.

The commissioners, however, expressed grave concerns about the project, questioning, especially, whether or not there is a need for more commercial development along Dixie Highway.

The site, one of two large, pristine wetland areas in Oakland County, according to Daniel Travis, is currently (See THEATER, next page)

Theater, hotel, retail, homes thrust before planners

zoned for single family residences and is master planned for research offices.

"There would have to be a strong case made ... why this is a better thing to do with this land," said Chairperson Brent Bair, referring to criteria that a developer prove a benefit to the township to obtain a PUD zoning.

"It's probably one of the last pieces of beautiful acres and rolling hills in that part of the community," said Joseph Figa, who estimated the project would call for some 30 acres of asphalt and parking lots "the size of football fields."

"It really doesn't excite me much at all," he said.

Jo Fussman agreed. "I'm just not real eager to see it come. To have it thrust upon us in this magnitude is a big shock."

To reinforce their point, the commission members added that the township's one midnight-shift Oakland County Sheriff's deputy could not patrol the theater effectively should there be late-hour showings.

Increased traffic was also a concern.

"I'm just not real eager to see it come. To have it thrust upon us in this magnitude is a big shock."

Jo Fussman

The developers, in turn, said they were "taken aback," by the commission's response. They had, they said, received favorable feedback in three previous informal meetings with other township officials.

Bogaerts said they would be willing to come back before the commission with revised plans and asked that a sub-committee be formed to guide them.

In response, Bair and commissioners Richard Oppmann and Steve Secatch agreed to sit on a sub-committee.

While the commission looked unfavorably on the development of specialty shops, some members said they were in favor of a hotel.

A hotel could benefit research offices or the proposed, though not yet approved, Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, which would adjoin the site.

"I want to see it developed to the betterment of nature and the community," said Travis, summing up the feelings of the commission.

No formal action was taken.

Special meeting on Springfield budget

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Springfield Township residents packed the township hall last week for a hearing on the 1990 proposed budget.

After the about two-hour hearing Oct. 12, the board set a special meeting on the budget adoption for 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 25, at the township hall, 650 Broadway.

The extra meeting would give the board time to react to residents' concerns, said Supervisor Collin Walls.

During the hearing, about 12 residents expressed concerns over paying for road chloride, ambulance service, salaries for elected officials, more financial aid from the township for senior citizens, the parks and recreation budget and Shiawassee Basin Park -- a newly acquired 400-acre park.

Zona Sommers of Clark Road asked the board to consider paying the total amount for chloriding the township roads.

The proposed budget allows for only partial payment for chloriding the roads, and rest of the payment would be paid by homeowners.

Another budget item concern came from Jerry Smith of Ormond Road, who questioned the board about the funds allocated for grant application for Shiawassee Basin Park.

Smith said he couldn't see spending money for a park when Springfield already is a rural area.

Is Greene Haven Drive area toxic?

Township mom starts cancer information group

BY CAROLYN WALKER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Jim Sprague is a vision of strapping, emerging manhood. At 17, he is tall, with curly red hair and a winning smile.

To look at him, you would never guess that cancer cells course through his veins.

But they do.

And they have for the past four years.

Jim is matter-of-fact about his disease. He says, simply, that he is going to get well.

A childhood dancer, Jim's first clue that he had acute lymphocytic leukemia came suddenly and dramatically.

He went to stand up, and he couldn't.

Without warning, he was paralyzed from the hips down.

Hospitalized immediately, doctors discovered the cancer and a mass that was blocking his spinal cord. They began chemotherapy, which led to spinal meningitis and then a bowel obstruction.

"He kept saying he was going to beat it," says his proud mother, Jody, marveling at his progress and adding that he has a year of chemotherapy treatments left.

His father, James, adds with a laugh, "If the Lions had that kind of spirit, they'd have been winning."

Cancer has touched the Sprague family all too frequently. Jim's maternal grandmother died from breast cancer. And two dogs have died from cancer while another is recovering.

Jody is suspicious that the cancer attacks came with their move to Greene Haven Drive, Independence Township. She wonders, seriously, if environmental contaminants have played a part.

As she sits in their living room, she hauls out volumes of cancer and environmental information. She then points in the direction of her neighbors' homes and begins a depressing litany: brain tumor, breast cancer, lung cancer, pancreatic cancer and on and on.

An informal survey conducted by Jody shows as many as 15 families in her immediate vicinity have experienced cancer.

CANCER is all too familiar to Jody, Jim (center) and James Sprague. The family resides on Greene Haven Drive in Independence Township.

Spurred on by her fears and convictions that pollutants play a part in cancer and birth defects, she is helping to co-found a group called Parents Against Cancer Plus and Kids Against Cancer Plus.

Members currently meet in their homes, she says. Self-funded, they hope to expand, make the group non-profit and put pressure on the government to do controlled studies about cancer and birth defects and their causes.

Jody is also doing a cluster study for the Michigan Department of Public Health and is a member of the newly-formed Independence Township citizens group working with the East Michigan Environmental Action Council, which studies ways to preserve the township's groundwater.

"Let's find out why," she says simply.

To obtain more information about the Parents Against Cancer Plus organization call Jody at: 625-9264.

Planners table Dixie office plans

Too many unanswered questions prompted members of the Independence Township Planning Commission to table a proposed office building Oct. 12.

Developer Rick Pearson of G.C.I. Construction Co. approached the commission seeking final site plan approval for a building he plans to construct at the top of Waterford Hill.

He was not, however, able to resolve concerns about landscaping, a retaining wall and a dumpster while at the meeting.

He was advised by the commissioners about the kinds of materials they would like to see implemented and told that he could return on Nov. 9.

Forum on proposed $2 million bond issue

Three dates are set for public forums on the proposed $2 million bond issue to buy or construct a new fire station in Independence Township.

The bond proposal will appear on the ballot Nov. 7. If approved, the money would pay for a central fire station to replace Station No. 1 on Church Street, Clarkston.

The informative meetings, with question and answer sessions following, are:

~ 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 24, 3 E. Church St., Clarkston.

~ 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 26, at 7825 Sashabaw Rd., Independence Township.

~ 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2, at 5241 Maybee Rd., Independence Township.

Mom's plan funds field trips

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Sherry Regiani, petite and pretty, speaks softly and wears a bright smile. But her words are filled with determination.

She admits she's one of the "lucky ones." She doesn't have to worry about food, clothing and shelter. In the past, one of her biggest worries was whether she could make enough extra money to afford a fun family vacation.

The state of public schools didn't concern her because her oldest child attended a private school, and the younger two weren't in school yet.

But it's all changed now. A flight instructor, Sherry, 37, recently took stock of her life and quit her extra job as an aerobics instructor, and she slowed down her other activities to spend more time with her three children and husband.

Now, her two school-age children attend Clarkston Elementary School, and Sherry found herself immersed in school activities.

She was appalled at what she found.

With the recent budget cuts because of the loss of about $1.6 million in state aid, Clarkston Elementary cut all the money for the "extras" — the school field trips, motivational speakers and cultural events.

Only trouble is, the events are planned a year in advance; so all the commitments for this school year are made, but there's no money to pay for it.

To maintain the activities, parents will be asked to pay the $10-$15 or so for each event for each child, said Sherry, adding it's not a problem for her family.

But it is for other families.

"Clarkston Elementary is unique in that the area has exclusive areas, but others aren't," she said.

Nonetheless, Sherry was surprised when one mother said she'd keep her son home from school on field-trip days because she couldn't afford that money for each child.

"I went home and cried," said Sherry.

As a teacher, she knows that the majority of learning is visual, and she distinctly remembered the field trip to Ford Motor Co. that she took as a child in about third or fourth grade.

It left an impression and made all the book learning make sense, she said.

The thought of that mother set her in action. Sherry organized a benefit dinner for Nov. 11 at the Holly Hotel. At $75 per person, $50 from each ticket goes to the school. And the money will pay for assemblies, busses and field trips at Clarkston Elementary.

"This is one small thing that we can do something about," she said. "There are times you have to say, 'I'm lucky. I'm glad I'm lucky. This is time to give something

AN ELEGANT dinner is just the thing to raise money for field trips at Clarkston Elementary, says Sherry Regiani, mother of three.

Benefit dinner funds school field trips

A "dressy" benefit dinner 7-10 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 11, should raise about $5,000 for field trips and assemblies at Clarkston Elementary this school year.

Organized by Sherry Regiani, mother of three, the affair for 100 people is set for Holly Hotel, 134 Battle Alley, Holly. Tickets are $75 per person, and $50 goes directly to the school and is tax deductible.

Clarkston schools lost about $1.6 million in state aid this year, so budget cuts eliminated all the money for field trips and assemblies that were scheduled in advance last year.

But the field trips are an important part of learning, said Sherry. So she organized the gourmet dinner, consisting of: soup, salad, appetizers, roast leg of lamb, vegetables, bread, desserts and more.

A pianist will play throughout the evening.

Sherry said she didn't plan to "shame people into buying tickets," but anyone who did purchase one would gain "a sense of satisfaction."

"The people who are in the more fortunate positions should do this and have fun doing it," she said.

For more information, call 625-5222.

And it's for a good cause. The time to reach children — to make them "learn to enjoy learning" — is when they're young, she said.

"What the field trips do is bring bits and pieces of the outside world down to a pace that the child can learn from," Sherry said.

A teacher may plan a lesson around a field trip. For instance, a child might read about animals in danger of becoming extinct. And then the class might visit the Detroit Zoo.

Or maybe the children will visit an orchard and discover why apples turn red. Or maybe the children will write stories, and, during an assembly, see their stories come to life when a troupe of actors perform them for the whole school.

"If they're not given an opportunity, they don't know there are open doors out there," said Sherry. "It makes them want to do something better. They come home enthusiastic."

Nan's Beauty Talk

If you're considering perming your hair or even if you already have, it's important to have as much knowledge and information about the perming process as possible. What you should and shouldn't expect, how the process works, and how to care for and maintain permed hair are some of the most important issues to be dealt with, preferably before a drop of perm solution ever hits your hair. Everyone is entitled to a good perm, one that meets their realistic expectations, and one that looks great immediately — not four weeks after leaving the salon! The following tips should help you get what you want out of your perm. During your consultation with Nan's expert's, discuss what you want the perm to do, also your hair's length. How long do you expect your perm to last? How do you intend to style it afterwards? Do you plan to apply color over permed hair? All of these questions are essential. They allow you and your stylist to determine exactly what is (and is not) possible for your particular hair type. Foundation seeks ideas and funds for school kids

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The corporate name is long, but its goal simple: raise funds to supplement the arts and science education of Clarkston school district students.

It's important to note, however, that the Clarkston Foundation for the enhancement of public education wasn't established to replace funds lost by failed millages.

"We support the public school beyond the tax dollars," said Dr. James O'Neill, one of nine board members. "It's long past due that we do that."

For now, the board meets monthly for breakfast to organize and plan for the future. One event already scheduled is a January 18 benefit by the Clarkston Village Players. The Clarkston Band Boosters donated their benefit night to the foundation since no other suitable night was available. For ticket information, call 625-CARE.

The money raised from that event and others like it will help pay for special projects and equipment previously unavailable, said Bill Bliesath, the president of the foundation.

"We are here to promote the arts and raise money for Clarkston kids," he said.

Such events as art fairs, workshops, guest artists' visits, writing workshops, poetry competitions, drama, problem-solving activities or competitions, programs in ecology, communications, community service or human relations may be funded with foundation dollars. The group looks forward to hearing from the teachers and public about other ways on spending the money once it's in hand, Bliesath said.

"We have to bring in the money to match up with the ideas," he said. "We need people to come to us with spending ideas."

One way the foundation is spending money already is through a motto contest open to Clarkston school district residents age four to 18. Contestants must be residents of the district but may attend a private school outside the district.

The entry must be five words or less and will be used by the foundation. Winners at each school will receive a $25 savings bond. The winner from the private school classifications will receive a $25 savings bond. The overall winner earns a second $25 bond. Deadline is Dec. 1. Mail entries to the foundation (see address at bottom of story).

The foundation, a public charitable trust organization, is non-political, non-profit and not affiliated with Clarkston schools in any way. Dave Reschke, principal at Sashabaw Junior High attends foundation board meetings as a liaison between the school system and the foundation.

James O'Neill and Kim Beattie, who met for breakfast Oct. 16 at Spring Lake Country Club.

"We are for the schools, not with them," said Kim Beattie, a board member. "We have no formal ties."

Also, money raised will help all students in the Clarkston school district — not just those in Clarkston schools.

Anyone interested in contributing funds or suggesting ideas should phone the foundation at 625-CARE or write to: Clarkston Foundation, P.O. Box 16191, Clarkston, MI 48016.

So easy
Julie Campe

What's a facilitator? That word keeps cropping up as a title for people. According to Webster's Dictionary, to facilitate means to make easier.

I can picture a person here or there, hovering around, just waiting for a chance to make things easier for someone. Does the facilitator in a school help the custodian with an awkward bucket?

Or would that person listen in on the principal's conversations and make a list of pros and cons, so decision-making would be easier?

Maybe they offer tips to students on how to memorize spelling lists or physics formulas.

Perhaps they're kind of like efficiency experts, timing motion and measuring distance, making athletes, cooks, physicians, drivers, artists, dentists and others simply faster.

The world of state and federal legislators could use a few facilitators to make budget-cutting easier and to make law-making faster. But after a week, the person would probably end up with a function as nebulous as a lobbyist.

What's a lobbyist? According to Webster's Dictionary, a lobbyist tries to influence a public official.

How do they do that? Do they hang around, acting cool, so public officials will want to emulate them? Maybe they smoke in the pool rooms, and those public officials just can't help themselves from being influenced by those lobbyists.

Perhaps those lobbyists wear designer clothes and go to all the best sporting events and concerts and form a group that's so desirable that public officials will do almost anything to get in.

I even interviewed a lobbyist once, and I still don't know what one is. He said he listened in on legislative talks, and he presented views of the people who pay him to be influential to the public officials.

I guess that means he gets paid to talk and to listen, though I'm still not sure what he actually does.

Maybe it's kind of like what happens at the local level here in Independence or Springfield townships. Say the township officials are planning to install a sewer down your road, but you have to work the night of the public hearing.

So you ask your neighbor or your sister to show up in your place, to tell the supervisor that you don't want to lose your beautiful maple and oak trees. You want them to influence the public officials.

So lobbyists may do that all day long — and for money. I bet they don't need facilitators.

Give high school sports back to kids

The Clarkston area used to be known for the support it showed its youth, but now that support has turned bitter.

Historically, high school sporting events drew people together, fans and young athletes alike. School and community spirit was shared and good sportsmanship exemplified.

Now, however, so-called adults are interfering with the game and are setting examples of poor sportsmanship.

Teens concerned about environment

I would like to commend and thank teacher Bill Genshaw and the 10 Clarkston High School teen-agers, members of a newly formed environmental club at the school, who spent their day off from school last Friday cleaning debris from the streets of Independence Township.

In just one morning they gathered some 20 bags of trash, broken car parts, bottles and fast food papers from Dixie Highway, Sashabaw Road, M-15 and Maybee Road. The improvements to these areas were immediately noticeable.

We can be thankful that we have these fine and caring young people in our community. Hats off to them! And fie on the litterers among us.

Carolyn Walker

It seems that many disagree with the Clarkston High School football coach's strategy — not in itself unusual in this period of armchair coaches.

But those adults are publicly comparing the athletic skills of teen-agers. The atmosphere of sports games has become more like a horse market than a fun-but-competitive game for children.

And what about that long-lamented loss of respect for authority that these same adults complain about in today's youth?

A case could be made for starting any one or two young athletes at a particular position, but the coach has the final say. Adults especially should recognize that and accept it, rather than complain publicly, week after week.

Even if adults don't like the decision, they can set a good example by learning to live with it and by helping the teen-agers live with it.

However, the teen-agers seem to be doing just fine, without the help of adults.

So let's put the ball back in the hands of the kids.

Jim's Jottings

For the most part I eat lunch at home alone. Toasted bacon and tomato sandwiches are in a tie with coney-topped hot dogs as my favorite lunch. However, since bacon and frankfurters are two of the five worst foods for me I settle for less.

This summer I tried to substitute smoked breakfast turkey for bacon with tomato for a sandwich. I tried cutting it thick, thin and medium.

I fried it fast, slow and microwaved the turkey. It's not bad, but it's not as tasty as bacon fried anyway.

Cheese isn't particularly good for me either, but I figure if it's on toast and the cheese is melted the bad stuff is gone.

For the most part leftovers take care of my appetite, which some bookwriters and diet pushers say is mental. Even if it's imagined it still has to be satisfied.

Thus it is that I scan grocery store shelves as I search for a new deodorant, potato peeler, ice cream, or rye bread. (Why is rye bread wrapped in stronger plastic than regular white? Why is regular white put in stronger plastic bags than a store's so-called home made bread?)

A few months ago I spotted Doubletree Food's microwaveable Lunch Bucket assortment. There's spaghetti, lasagna, scalloped potatoes and various soups. Tuesday I tried Hearty Chicken Soup.

The instructions on Doubletree's buckets say take off the plastic cover, tear off the metal top, replace the cover and microwave for 75 seconds.

When I tore off the metal top all I saw was slices of carrots. Shades of Elizabeth Baldwin. (She even puts carrots in Pansy's corn flakes.) I grasped the bucket to reread the label. Hearty Chicken Soup it said.

75 seconds later I turned the soup with my spoon. The carrots made way for the chunks of potatoes, which were followed by little green peas being chased by kernels of corn with celery close behind.

My curiosity was aroused more than my appetite. "Where's the chicken?", I asked the radio. I spooned out a chunk of pale red stuff that looked something like corned beef. I couldn't tell by the taste if it was beef, chicken or venison. I do know it was tough.

Ah, there appeared two chunks of chicken breast. Both had been hiding under one carrot slice.

It was time to read the list of ingredients to see if I could eliminate beef and venison from my guess list.

Since the bucket is rounded in such a way I couldn't read the label without spilling the soup, I ate it. Not bad. It may be a good thing I couldn't read the label first. Here's what else it had:

Dried whey. You know what that is? It comes from the song, "Whey Down South in Dixie". Then there's food starch modified, partially hydrogenated soybean oil and good oil monosodium glutamate. I wish they hadn't just partially hydrogenated the soybean oil.

Kids deserve positive support

I just read the Oct. 12 edition of The Clarkston News, and, frankly, I'm appalled at the childish actions being taken by what are supposed to be mature adults.

The kids out there on the football field are giving everything they've got toward winning a football game and what recognition to they receive? Do we read articles applauding their efforts? No! All we see are letters condemning one player or another for something they don't have any control over.

These kids are playing the position that the coaching staff has placed them. If you disagree with that decision, take it up with the coaching staff or school administration.

I, for one, have not attended each and every conditioning workout or each and every one of the two-a-day practices the week before school or each and every practice after school.

Therefore, I feel that I cannot pass judgment on any player. I would suggest that there are very few of you that are qualified to pass judgment on these players as well.

First and foremost, let's give the game back to the kids. After all, they are the ones playing their hearts out game after game. Let's support these kids for what they have accomplished.

I would hate to look back at my high school athletic achievements and only have memories of what was printed in the paper condemning the abilities of one player or another.

The kids today have enough troubles facing them each and every day. They don't need the childish actions of some adults.

I would like to join the majority of the fans, kids and adults, in giving these kids all the support they need, regardless of what position they play or what school activity they choose to participate in.

It takes a tremendous amount of time and dedication. These are the traits that are admired by most.

Let's see more positive support of these kids. They deserve it.

Unfair to judge boys publicly

For the past two weeks we have read a variety of articles expressing opinions regarding the Clarkston High School football program.

Although everyone has the right to express personal opinion, we find it very disconcerting that this is being done at the expense and without regard for the feelings of two fine athletes.

Dane Davis and Dugan Fife are exceptional young men. Anyone knowing them would be proud to be associated with either of the two. We believe it is extremely unfair to both boys to publicly compare or judge their talents and contributions to the team.

This entire issue should be handled privately among players, coaches, parents and school officials. Public criticism cannot, nor will not, resolve the matter.

If one wishes to publicly question or criticize the policies, or philosophy of Clarkston athletic programs, fine. So be it. There may be legitimate reasons for doing so.

But, by publicly attacking personalities, undeserved pressure is being placed on two great kids. Being a high school athlete presents enough pressure in itself without the added burden of dealing with a critical public.

Kathle and Doug Pierson

Focus on team not on individuals

We would like to express our opinion on the recent letters published in this paper.

As recent graduates of Clarkston High School (1989), receiving The Clarkston News weekly at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, brings home a little bit closer.

The recent publicity about the Clarkston High School football team has really disappointed us. We have always viewed Clarkston as a very spirited and supporting community.

We're beginning to think we are wrong. In all the letters written, there were only a few that commended the team on a job well done. The people are overlooking the concept of teamwork and focusing on individual playing.

We would like to take this time to compliment the Clarkston High School football team for a job well done and keeping the spirit through thick and thin. In addition, remember that Dugan Fife is your ally, not your enemy, because of his last name.

Good luck, Wolves!

Keep athletes out of controversy

Once again, the football program, Coach (Kurt) Richardson and Dan Fife are the focus of a great deal of attention in the letters to the editor column of this newspaper.

Most of the controversy revolves around the position of quarterback involving Dane Davis and Dugan Fife. I would like to take this opportunity to comment on observations I have made concerning the aforementioned individuals.

First of all, Dan Fife and I have worked together in the CHS basketball program for seven years. I have always found Mr. Fife to be a person of the highest integrity as well as someone who has consistently stood for ethics in sports. He is certainly not the type of person who would exert "political" pressure on a fellow coach to start his son at the expense of another athlete.

Mr. Richardson and I taught together at Sashabaw Junior High for several years prior to his transfer. Mr. Richardson is a disciplined coach who dedicates himself to his team. In knowing Kurt to be an independent thinker, there is no doubt in my mind that his decisions concerning the football team are motivated by his desire to build a strong program, not "political" expediency.

Dane Davis and Dugan Fife are the young men who find themselves in the middle of this controversy. Both of these boys are former students of mine whom I personally hold in the highest regard. They are outstanding athletes, as well as superior students and class leaders.

Whether or not Coach Richardson was correct in his change at the quarterback position, I think that these young men would be best served at this time by allowing them to finish the season with a minimal amount of further turmoil in the newspaper.

Both Dane and Dugan are valuable assets to the football team regardless of what position they are playing. Let's encourage them and their teammates to have a productive finish to the season.

I have known and been friends with Dane's parents for several years as well as the Fifes. I know that both families want the best for their children. At this point in the season, I think that we should let the coaches coach and let the kids play, with the end result culminating in a successful season for the Wolves.

Support for Barrow

We must have a metropolitan solution to the education crisis and more comradeship between center city and suburbs.

As a public service, the post office would provide free mailing privileges to all students to send their homework around to other students. Telephone companies could provide local telephone rates for students who need explanations from our better students.

All kinds of competition and prizes for students doing more homework but best of all more peace and friendship in the Detroit metropolitan area.

The undersigned is proud to be a member of the Tom Barrow team. The whole Detroit metropolitan area needs him as the next mayor of Detroit.

Elf takes away threat

Jim Fitzgerald

It's been 13 years since I began worrying about the damage the Pentagon might do to fruit flies in the Upper Peninsula.

In 1976 I wrote: "Project Seafarer could alert our submarines in time to assure what every peaceful nation wants - total revenge. But the Pentagon is having trouble with citizens who don't want the Seafarer antenna grid buried in their neighborhood. Tests have shown that Seafarer waves cause mutations in fruit flies. No humane person wants hunchbacked fruit flies buzzing around his bananas."

Seafarer was the second name for the submarine communication system that the Navy originally wanted to bury under 2,700 square miles of our Upper Peninsula. It is now called ELF (Extremely Low Frequency). The $400-million project is needed to prevent any rotten Russian from enjoying the ashes of New Jersey.

As described by the Pentagon in the 1970s, the problem was this: If the Soviets pushed the big button first, they might wipe out the entire United States before we could return the push. Our only survivors would be our submarines, but they'd be so far underwater they wouldn't know what the Soviets had done. The question was how to notify the subs so they could push their nuclear buttons and destroy Russia right back, so there, too.

The first name the Pentagon gave the underground network was Project Sanguine. That was in 1974 when it was first suggested that the Upper Peninsula would be a good place to bury it. There was a protest from UP citizens who didn't want to scar their earth and endanger their fruit flies. Pentagon brass blamed part of the project's unpopularity on the word sanguine, which is tricky.

One dictionary definition is that sanguine means to be "eagerly optimistic; cheerful." It also means "the color of blood."

Some Pentagon admirals apparently decided people weren't being optimistic and cheerful about Project Sanguine because of its bloody connotation. It sounded like a movie starring Vincent Price. When the chicken civilians heard the word sanguine, they didn't become cheerful about their nation's nuclear capability. They became doleful about their fruit flies' capability to stand up straight.

So the name was changed to Project Seafarer. A seafarer, according to the same dictionary, is simply "a sailor or mariner." After all, the push-the-button message would be beamed to submarines, so why shouldn't it be carried by a sailor? And what decent American could be disturbed by anything named Seafarer? The word has a great swashbuckle to it. Errol Flynn instead of Vincent Price.

A few years later, the Pentagon decided it wouldn't do any good to build Seafarer underground, because ever-more-powerful Soviet bombs could destroy it no matter how deep it was buried. So the antenna system was scaled down to cover only 56 miles and built above ground on utility poles. And the name was changed again, this time to ELF. That wouldn't frighten the most nervous environmentalist. Elves work for Santa Claus. Would an elf hurt a fruit fly?

No, according to Lt. John Smythe, commander of the Navy's ELF Detachment at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base near Marquette. Smythe said last week that more than two years of testing indicated ELF is no threat to the ecology, and messages can be safely sent to submerged submarines everywhere.

Smythe probably didn't discuss the original premise of Sanguine-Seafarer-ELF, which was that the antenna system would be used to send messages to our subs after a Soviet first-strike wiped out conventional means of communication. Now that the system is as easy to destroy as a telephone pole, what sense does it make?

It turns out that ELF isn't even a deterrent, let alone a ghastly means of committing last-gasp revenge. So why bother with it, especially now that rampant peace has broken out? Does anyone really believe the Soviets will attack New Jersey?

But I shouldn't ask such dumb questions. The important thing is that our $400 million be spent on weapons, so the United Friends of HUD can't steal it. Any hunchbacked-fruit-fly could tell you that.

Support for fire station bond issue

I support the upcoming bond issue for the Independence Township Fire Department for several reasons.

The mere possibility of the state police locating in our township should bring to mind the many times we all travel through towns seeing their patrol cars. Most of us automatically slow down. The combined visibility of the state police AND the Oakland County Sheriff's Department together in our township creates a greater feeling of protection. Isn't that worth $20 more in your taxes per year?

Let's look at the insurance coverage we all have on our homes. The better the fire department, the better the town class rating that affects what your insurance premium costs you.

Ask your agent what the difference in premium would be if the town class in Independence was upgraded. You will find the difference is more than $20 per year, offsetting any increase in your taxes for the bond issue.

I have lived in Independence Township for eight years. Two years ago, I had a snowblower accident at home and needed medical attention immediately. My wife called the fire department, and what seemed an eternity, was actually less than two minutes when they arrived.

When you have an emergency, there is great satisfaction in knowing the fire department is centrally located and staffed with emergency medical technicians able to reach you before the ambulance companies can.

We, in Independence Township, have much to be proud of. No matter how you compare it, whether it is $20 per year, or a tank of gas or the price of a ticket to a sports event for the fire department to acquire a new central station, equipped for the betterment and safety of we, the residents, it is not too high a price to pay.

Think about it hard and fast. Support your fire department on Nov. 7. Everybody is a winner in this case.

Make N. Holcomb like S. Holcomb

I attended a meeting of the Clarkston Village Council on Oct. 9 when one of the items on the agenda was the repair or rebuild of North Holcomb, not the need for repair but the extent and nature of such repair.

As is often the case, I thought of a question I would like to have had answered while I was walking home.

Why not make North Holcomb look like South Holcomb?

Improvement of this nature would maintain the continuity of Holcomb, would not downgrade the appearance or charm of the street and should not affect the major part of that charm.

Some people feel that a smoother street will encourage speeding, but a person who has the intelligence and maturity level that sends him or her racing through a residential area will do so regardless of road conditions. They do so now. It is regrettable that the state allows these people to maintain a driver's license.

Nor is truck traffic a function of road surface. I would think a northbound driver would choose to turn right at Washington and make his left turn onto M-15 with the protection of the traffic light rather than under the fang-and-claw conditions at Miller and M-15.

Repeat: Why not make North Holcomb match South Holcomb?

American variety beautiful, hardy

"What is American bittersweet?" I'm asked
"Why can't we just go pick it the way we used to?" ask those older people who do know what it is and what it is used for.

Bittersweet is a vine that grows to produce beautiful orange and crimson clusters on stems — only to be used in fall arrangements. Years and years ago, it was prevalent and used as decorations in a vase or on a wreath.

In Michigan, it has been nearly destroyed by indiscriminate yanking off of long vines or stomping on the vine because the people did not recognize it in its green stage of growth.

No one intended to kill it.

Michigan passed a law in 1962 to protect the land owner of where it grew. It is not a protected species.

Now, here is the rub. Oriental bittersweet is not the same thing. It is not native to North America.

Oriental is a scrawny, small pale-colored product that does not hold together like the native American variety.

Both varieties will grow wild, and both will grow in your yard — that is if you can find any of the Celestrus Scandens (American) plants.

You'd better be sure your purchase is Celestrus Scandens, too, and not Celestrus Orficulatus — the scrawny one.

We cannot get any to produce in less than eight years, so be prepared to wait. So few people live in the same place long enough to get any value out of having it grow.

My big vine is over 40 years old and the young ones about 12 to 15 years old.

Red ribbon campaign

Just Say No rally planned

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Business people in the Clarkston area may be tying red ribbons to their buildings next week. The gesture shows their support for substance abuse awareness.

October is designated Substance Abuse Awareness Month in Michigan, and Oct. 23-27 is Red Ribbon Week.

With members of the Clarkston Area Optimists distributing ribbons at $5 a shot, the week should heighten the community's awareness of substance abuse, said the Rev. Bill Schram.

The proceeds from the ribbons will be used to throw a Just Say No rally at the Clarkston High School cafeteria for elementary kids 7-8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 21, and another rally for junior high kids 8-10 p.m. that same day.

"Prevention is probably the final cure for the problem of substance abuse," Schram said. "As long as there's a demand, people are going to find a way to get (drugs)."

During Red Ribbon Week, members of the high school Just Say No club are going to talk to elementary school kids, and the money will also pay for a breakfast for them, Schram said.

The older teens provide a positive role model for younger children, he said.

"We target younger kids because they're the ones who, hopefully, haven't started yet," he said. "They'll see the older kids who don't use drugs. ... And the community display will support people who don't use drugs."

At the rally, refreshments will be served, and children will be entertained by CHS Mime Troupe members, cheerleaders, pompon, skits, clowns, balloons and an Oakland County Sheriff's Department drug-sniffing dog.

Bittersweet (American) vividly accents the grapevine wreath or the dried arrangement. It is not painted; it is not plastic. It lasts for years and can be rearranged and rearranged again without fear of it falling apart and leaving the tiny bare center. It does not have to be sprayed like the Oriental does to get it to hold together long enough to use it.

To see the two varieties is to note the desirability of the American bittersweet.

Athletic turmoil

It is with a sense of sadness and frustration that we read again in The Clarkston News about the controversy surrounding the Clarkston High School football team.

It was only one year ago that our family was going through the same turmoil, disappointment and then disillusionment with the athletic department, high school administration and Clarkston schools administration.

Our son, who was also a senior and had given his heart and soul for four years to Clarkston football, was replaced in the quarterback position by then a freshman who this year again causes a similar controversy.

The reason given then by Coach (Kurt) Richardson, "He (the freshman) is going to be a star."

Only by coincidence did this player happen to be the son of Clarkston's basketball coach and receive preferential treatment by the freshman eligibility rule and other football training programs that year.

This year, history repeats itself, and another fine young man in his senior year, who had exhibited total leadership qualities, in addition to his ability to best handle the quarterback position on the team, was replaced.

According to the coach this year, the team is trying a new offensive game plan. Same result, but a different excuse! And still remaining unquestioned by the administrators of the program and schools!

My concern is not only for Dane Davis and the same purposefully unfair treatment he has received, but for the rest of the football team and all the students in athletics at Clarkston High School.

Isn't the purpose of an athletic program to teach our students good sportsmanship, fair play and equal opportunity? I feel Coach Richardson is not teaching these qualities to his team but is rather conducting a private training camp to foster one particular family in Clarkston.

We AGAIN implore the athletic department, high school and district administrations to stop looking the other way and blindly trusting its football coach and look hard and fast into the questionable management, coaching and decision making in Clarkston football.

Myers should cover bond fluctuations

I am writing to you in regards to a September article, written by Bill Myers.

As a financial consultant, I help people make decisions regarding their investments. The biggest part of my job is to point out every aspect of an investment scenario to my client.

In his article Bill Myers neglected to mention that the $100,000 invested in muni-bonds is subject to capital fluctuations. Depending on where interest rates go from the time of purchase the $100,000 in muni-bonds could be worth more or less.

However, the money invested in the annuity is 100% guaranteed against capital loss by the issuing insurance company. The interest rate can fluctuate though.

The fluctuation in capital when investing in bonds is a very important aspect that should never be left out when considering such an investment.

This should be very fresh in the minds of anyone who has invested in Government bonds over the last three years who have experienced a loss in capital.

Sincerely,
Michael R. Marcum II

OLHSA can give back dignity

The Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency (OLHSA) has implemented many self-help programs throughout its 25 years of service.

Their programs were designed to have an impact on poverty by providing services to the low-income and economically disadvantaged and to help these people become self-sustaining.

OLHSA's anti-poverty program has helped me combat homelessness, hunger and the agony of being stripped of self-dignity.

OLHSA has given me hope; they have given me back my pride. One phone call to 858-5180 can help you, too.

Refreshing to hear residents' opinions

My thanks to Springfield residents who took time from their busy schedules to participate in the township budget hearing and board meeting held Oct. 12.

It was refreshing to see so many new faces at a board meeting -- and even more refreshing to listen to their constructive questions, comments and suggestions.

Due to the diverse input from residents, the board voted to table adopting a 1990 budget that evening and will instead hold a special meeting of the board beginning at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 25 at the township hall.

I recognize that the budget ultimately adopted by the board on Oct. 25 is unlikely to fully please everyone -- probably no one. The size of the pie is limited and can be sliced just so many ways. I'm confident, however, that all the suggestions made by residents at the hearing will be carefully considered.

Thank you, Springfield residents, for your interest -- and for helping us to carry our elective responsibilities as best we know how.

Rabies found in bats

Rabies has recently been diagnosed in 15 bats, primarily in lower Michigan. Affected counties are Huron, Newaygo, Clinton, Kalamazoo, Kent, Livingston, Muskegon, Oakland, Shiawassee and Washtenaw.

Rabies is a fatal viral disease that can affect all warm-blooded animals including humans. In the recent rabies cases, humans and animals were exposed to the rabid bats.

In humans, treatment is effective if started immediately after the occurrence of the bite from the rabid animal. Once symptoms of the disease occur, treatment is not successful.

Following exposure to rabies, dogs and cats with current rabies vaccinations are immediately revaccinated then quarantined and observed. Unvaccinated dogs and cats should be euthanized following rabies exposure because they become a serious threat to public health.

In recent rabies episodes, several pet dogs and cats were euthanized because they were unvaccinated and exposed to a bat with rabies.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture encourages all pet owners to have their dogs and cats routinely vaccinated against rabies. You are also encouraged to refrain from handling any bats or wild animals, especially if the animal appears to be ill.

Real estate broker honored for heroism in Flint

BY LINDA WALSH LAPINSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Randy Koerber, a Greene Haven Court, Independence Township, resident doesn't consider himself a hero, but the Flint Fire Department does.

Koerber was recently honored by the Fire Department for saving a woman from drowning in the Flint River last fall.

Koerber, broker and manager of The Michael Group, Inc., real estate office in Independence Township, was attending a graduate real estate class at the

"I kept thinking ... 'What would my dad do?'"

Hyatt Regency, Flint, last fall when an elderly man frantically pounded on the windows of the conference room, said Koerber.

"He was screaming and pointing to the river," Koerber said, adding that the man then disappeared.

Koerber ran out the door and ran to the river, where he heard a person "howling a death-sounding cry."

"As I looked over the railing, all I could think was what a long ... long way down it was to the water. I then located from where the howling was coming and saw the person who was holding onto the bridge support. I also noticed that the sides were solid concrete," Koerber remembers.

Koerber knew not to jump in to save the person because then they'd both be stuck in the cold water.

"I kept thinking ... 'What would my dad do?'" he said. "Dad taught us water safety as children because we lived with the Detroit River in our front yard."

By this time, Bob West, the security guard from the Hyatt Regency, was on the scene.

"Together we looked around to find something to throw to the person. Nothing was to be found," said Koerber.

So he ran to the Water Street Pavilion, next to the hotel, where he remembered that several men were working with ropes. He grabbed a rope and made a loop while running back to the river.

"What seemed like an eternity was only about two minutes," said Koerber. "I threw the rope to the person, who grabbed the rope, but it took a lot of convincing to have her put the rope around her. ... She finally did."

While they consoled the person in the water, the two anxiously awaited the fire department and the water rescue team to arrive, said Koerber.

They later found that the person was a female about 30 years old, he said.

By the time the fire department arrived, she had been in the water about 20 minutes, all the time wearing a heavy winter coat -- suitable for the snowy October day.

"We just stood by and waited until the fire department pulled her out," Koerber remembers. "All the while she never stopped her blood curdling scream."

After the whole ordeal was over, it was difficult to go back to the classroom, he said.

"The adrenalin was still pumping, and only to me her screams could still be heard," he said. "Concentration was very hard. That day we never heard about the woman, if she was OK, or what really happened."

Three days after later, the fire department called and said the woman was going to be fine. Though she never contacted Koerber personally, he said.

He didn't hear anything more until he September, when he was invited by the Flint Fire Department to the awards dinner.

He attended with his wife, Donna, and their children: Kim, and her husband, Jim Hill; Scott, and his wife, Erica.

During the dinner, Koerber said he heard of heroic deeds done by others.

"Some of the people dared their lives to save another," he said. "I still feel I didn't do much, though I feel quite honored."

'Don't let things get bottled up'

BY LINDA WALSH LAPINSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Paul Schull knows all too well the feelings of anger, grief and isolation when losing a parent through death. Now in 10th grade at Clarkston High School, Paul remembers how he felt when his dad died. Paul was in sixth grade at the time.

"I was mad at every one; I was even mad at God," said Paul.

He attempted to go alone through the grieving process, he said, adding that a few close friends helped him out, but he didn't talk about it much back then.

"I was mad at every one; I was even mad at God."

"Guys tend to bottle up," he said.

They are not as apt to talk about their feelings, and things get out of control. For instance, "when people brought up my father's death, emotionally I couldn't handle my feelings," said Paul. "I felt at a real loss."

Two years later, he still felt that life was chaotic. But in eighth grade, his teachers asked him to help the slower learning children at Clarkston Elementary School. And by helping others, he helped himself, he said.

"I felt by helping the children to complete something, even just their homework, I was helping them feel good about themselves. And I also felt good about myself," he said.

In the ninth grade, Paul, friends and CJHS counselor Larry Sherrill initiated a help group called the Student Crisis Team.

The group got together to share experiences, not just losses through death as Paul had experienced, but any type of hurt was shared, he said.

It takes time to build the trust of the people in the group, he said. They all have to know that things shared within the group will not be discussed outside.

Currently a CHS sophomore, Paul, with the help of social worker James Butzine, introduced the Crisis Team at the high school. And more people have joined.

The experience has influenced Paul's outlook on life. He plans to work in an occupation where he can help people, he said.

"I don't see myself sitting behind a desk all day from 9 to 5," he said. "I want to work with people."

Paul also plans to join All God's Children, Inc., a new program at St. Daniel Catholic Church, Clarkston, that helps teens deal with the loss of a family member either through death or divorce.

He recommends such a group to anyone who is experiencing a loss, especially teens.

"If I could offer advice to anyone, I would tell them don't let things get bottled up," he said.

PAUL SCHULL, a Clarkston High School sophomore, doesn't mind talking about how he felt when his father died four years ago. His experiences may help others, he says.

Cable-TV delays cause schools to turn to Bell

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Money isn't exactly pouring down the drain in Clarkston schools, but it is falling through some wires.

Without complete cable-TV hook-up in rural Springfield Township, two schools in the Clarkston school district use Michigan Bell wires to connect with the district's new $415,000 computer system.

The cost is $120.27 per month — plus an $820 installation fee, and the cost could continue into the next school year, according to William Neff, director of administrative services in the Clarkston school district.

The school district bought the computer last year in hopes of saving money that otherwise would be spent on renting computer services from Oakland Schools. The annual cost for the services from Oakland Schools was estimated to rise from $62,000 to $111,000 during the 1989-90 school year.

School officials planned to use cable-television lines to connect the computers in all of the schools.

However, rural Springfield Township doesn't have complete cable service yet from North Oakland Cablevision, Neff said, adding that Cablevision officials three times failed to show up for meetings with Clarkston officials about cable hook-up.

The school district uses the computers for finances, payroll and student services, which include student data, or attendance and grades.

In Springfield, Andersonville Elementary and Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus are the schools incurring the temporary expenses with Michigan Bell.

United Cable Television provides cable services for Independence Township and the remaining buildings in the Clarkston school district.

Group helps children, teens with grief

BY LINDA WALSH LAPINSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A new group provides support for children who have lost a parent or other family member, either through divorce or death.

All God's Children, Inc., started Oct. 15 at St. Daniel Catholic Church, Independence Township, and St. Anne Catholic Church, Ortonville.

The goal of the group is to provide an environment for healing and acceptance, to reach out to hurting and grieving children, said Freida Arpoika, Religious education director for St. Daniel Catholic Church.

"We have been aware for a long time the need for a program like this," said Laone Trese, coordinator of the program for the two parishes.

The program was started by National Executive Director Suzy Perkins Yehl when, shortly after her divorce, her son asked if there were any other families like theirs.

Arpoika saw the program at a conference run by Dava James Szuch. She brought the information to Trese who is specially trained to implement the programs in the two parishes.

The philosophy of the program is to train school personnel, religious education teachers and concerned individuals, so they can help and support children who need to talk about their own feelings.

This support is important especially at a time when the children's parents are caught up in their own pain and unable to help their children, said Trese.

The program — separated into different age groups — consists of 12 sessions, divided into two six-week semesters. Each semester has an all-day retreat.

For more information about the program, call Arpoika at 625-1750 for registration at St. Daniel Catholic Church. Or call 627-3965 to register at St. Anne's parish.

Enrollment is limited, so interested people should call as soon as possible. Information can also be given if a school group or church group is interested in starting a program of their own.

Finance director hired in Independence

A new finance director has been hired for Independence Township.

Approved in a unanimous vote by board members at a special meeting Oct. 11, Kerry Donahoe, 32, is scheduled to begin work in two weeks and will be paid an annual income of $35,000.

He replaces Peter Dobrzeniecki who left the position last spring.

A father of four and resident of Goodrich, Donahoe currently works as an assistance finance director in Birmingham.

Donahoe, who was recommended for the position by township Clerk Joan McCrary, was selected by the board after interviews with two other candidates.

Time to sign up for Chamber Expo

It's time to reserve a booth at the third annual Clarkston Community Expo sponsored by Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

About 40-50 exhibitors are expected to rent booths at the Expo 6-9 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 8, at Deer Lake Racquet Club, said Brenda Orlando, a Springfield Township resident and president of the Chamber.

Last year 29 exhibitors participated, she said. "We've gone all out this year. We plan to showcase the community," said Orlando.

She said exhibitors are businesses, service organizations and clubs, and they're more representative of the Clarkston area.

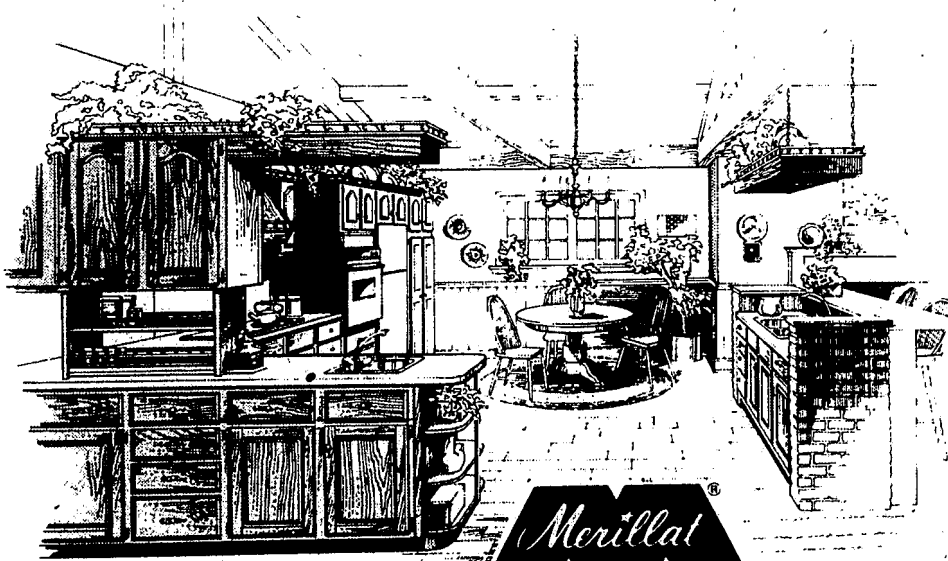

"There will be a sampling of food from different merchants; people will be able to pick up coupons, samples and give-aways," she said.

Anyone interested in being an exhibitor can call Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce at 625-8055.

Tickets are available from local businesses or from the Chamber.

GOAL title within reach

Wolves remain step ahead

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Only a few seconds separate victory from defeat as the boys cross country team clinched a share of the league title.

Clarkston beat Brandon 22-33 on Oct. 10, but the race was much closer than the final score might indicate.

Jason Wenger won the race with a time of 17 minutes and 43 seconds. Brandon's top runner, Scott Bevis, finished three seconds off the pace. Kellie O'Neil was third for Clarkston at 18 flat. Brandon's Adam Caldwell crossed the line five seconds after O'Neil to take fourth place.

The fifth through eighth spots were decided by three seconds. Fortunately, three Clarkston runners placed ahead, by just a second apiece, of the next Brandon runner.

The Clarkston runners who placed fifth through seventh were Jim Haviland (18:14), Paul Brisson (18:15) and Todd Wozniak (18:16).

"Wozniak secured the victory with his best race of the year," Coach Mike Taylor said.

Clarkston now owns a perfect 5-0 dual meet record and awaits the Greater Oakland Activities League meet at Independence Oaks Tuesday, Oct. 24. Spectators are welcome. The race will be run on the trail surrounding Crooked Lake, and admission is free.

Should Clarkston win the GOAL meet, it will claim sole ownership of the league title. If any other team wins, the Wolves would be co-champs.

Last Thursday, the Wolves lost their first dual meet of the season. A strong Lakeland squad topped CHS 22-38 at Independence Oaks.

Wenger (17:09) finished second, O'Neil (17:18) fourth, Haviland (17:59) ninth, Wozniak (18:06) 11th and Ben O'Rourke (18:55) 13th for the Wolves.

Other Clarkston runners who finished in the top 20 were Mark Leineke (19:12) in 14th place, Jacob Kniss (19:24) in 16th place and Brad Patterson (19:40) in 18th place.

"I'm pleased. The middle of the pack came through," said Taylor.

The coach credits the dedication the entire team has shown since practice began in August with Clarkston's success in the field this fall.

Clarkston warms up for the league meet Friday at the Oxford Invitational.

Schaffer excels

Without much fanfare, Sonya Schaffer continues to cruise past the opposition in girls cross country.

The Clarkston High senior is the lone girl on the team due to the pay-for-play system, but that hasn't prevented her from winning every dual meet she has entered this fall. In addition, she hasn't lost to any GOAL harrier in any race.

Her streak continued with wins against Brandon (22 minutes and two seconds) and Lakeland (21:43). She wiped out the competition against Brandon. The second-place finisher was more than four minutes behind her.

JV girls hoops team plays strong game, defeats 2 opponents

Teamwork helped the junior varsity basketball team whip Brandon and please its coach at the same time.

"They played like a team," said Coach Kay Pearson. "They knew where the open girl was and got her the ball. Everything clicked."

The result was a 65-23 victory over the Ladyhawks. With the win, the JV Wolves' record stands at 8-5.

Guards Stacey Tinkis and Jennifer Gill scored 17 points apiece to pace the Clarkston attack. Gill also pulled down an incredible 17 rebounds from her guard spot.

Heather Austin added 14 points, and Lesley Allen had six.

Clarkston led 32-10 at the half and added 22 fourth-quarter points to put away the Ladyhawks in style.

Two days earlier, the Wolves bested Waterford Mott 48-31 with a second-half rally.

Down 23-20 at the intermission, Clarkston limited Mott to eight second-half points en route to victory.

Heather Steinhilber scored 20 points, and Austin added 14 for the Wolves.

SONYA SCHAFFER is a step away from the finish line and another victory in girls cross country competitions. Schaffer is the lone Clarkston girls runner this fall.

Brandon routed JV griders winners

For the second week in a row, the junior varsity football team was involved in a rout. The only difference this week, though, is that they were winners.

Clarkston High pounded Brandon 51-0 Thursday evening to up its record to 6-1. Running backs Dan Griffiths and Eric Ryan combined for a big night in the backfield.

Ryan scored three touchdowns and carried eight times for 124 yards. Griffiths handled the ball 10 times, gained 163 yards and scored twice.

Luke Fedio caught a 60-yard pass from Matt Seitz for another Clarkston touchdown. On a trick play, quarterback Jon Wyniemko hauled in a pass from Griffiths for a 27-yard touchdown. Brian Davis scored the other touchdown.

Fedio, twice, and Dan Lamrouex, once, converted the extra point attempts.

On defense, Clarkston continued its fine play in the backfield with four interceptions. Wyniemko, Mike Stanton, Davis and Dave Smith each picked off one pass. Will Madison led the team in tackles with seven and quarterback sacks with two.

CJH wins again

With more than 400 yards rushing, the Clarkston freshman football team crushed Pierce last week.

"With over 400 yards on the ground the offensive line did an exceptional job," said Coach Steve Himburg.

The Wolverines won 30-14. Four different players scored for Clarkston Junior High. Jeff Galley, Steve Black, Jason Roughton and Justin Tappero all scored once.

Roughton also was the leading rushing with 118 yards. Tappero added 100, and Jeremy Doty had 90.

Defensively, Clarkston intercepted three passes. Doty, Galley and Aaron Kirk all recorded an aerial theft.

The victory ups Clarkston's record to 6-1.

Time Out

Who me?

I'm beginning to feel like a jinx.

Twice I've seen the Clarkston High cross country team run. Once they won, and once they lost. But that's not the point. Both times the race was a half-hour late in starting.

Coincidence or just bad luck? I don't know. But I'm real curious to find out. Fortunately, I haven't had this effect on other sporting events.

At least not yet, anyway.

Although there are only three games scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday next week, all three are worth catching if you can. (I know you can find the time if you really try.)

I know the leaves are falling by the bushel full (if only they would fall in a bushel), and the car needs new anti-freeze before the cold weather returns, but all that can wait until the weekend. Sports fans may have to wait quite a while before seeing three action-packed games like these.

The fall sports season is ending (the golf and tennis teams have already finished up), meaning each contest is doubly important — if that is possible.

Let's begin at the junior highs where the Clarkston Wolverines will host the Sashabaw Cougars in a season-ending football game. Unlike years past, both are enjoying much success on the gridiron (the two schools have a combined 13-1 record as of Oct. 11). But in this rivalry, the records are tossed out the window. Whoever wins this one will have the bragging rights in Clarkston for another year. Sashabaw beat the Wolverines 28-0 earlier this season.

On Tuesday evening, the girls basketball team will have a chance to avenge its only loss on the season when it hosts GOAL foe Waterford Kettering. The Captains' 53-46 victory on Sept. 28 snapped a nine-game winning streak. Hopefully Clarkston has learned its lesson from that one. No matter how it turns out, the game should be close in the end.

Finally, the boys cross country team (unbeaten in the Greater Oakland Activities League) will try to lock up a league championship at the GOAL meet Tuesday afternoon beginning at 4 p.m. on the trail surrounding Crooked Lake in Independence Oaks. The scenery alone is worth more than the admission price (it's free, by the way).

For those who work and may have trouble arriving in time for the meet, don't worry, I'll try my best to be there — jinx and all.

Know anyone who has an unusual talent or hobby? We'd like to hear about it. Give us a call at The Clarkston News. 625-3370

Girls hoops team continues winning ways

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Consider the following: the varsity basketball team sports a pair of six-footers, a pair of McChesneys and a pair of Steinhelplers.

Last week, Clarkston High added a pair of victories to its near "pair-fect" 12-1 overall record.

On Thursday, Oct. 12, the Wolves showed Greater Oakland Activities League rival Brandon why they are strong contenders for the title, besting the Ladyhawks 64-36.

All three pairs on the Clarkston roster contributed to the victory. Rhonda Jokisch (6-foot, 2-inches) scored a game-high 19 points and grabbed nine rebounds, and Susan McKoin (6-0) added 11 points.

Celeste and Heather Steinhelpler, the latter playing in her first varsity game, scored 12 and three points, respectively.

Jenny and Alyson McChesney contributed eight and three points, respectively. Jenny also had a game-high nine assists.

"She had a great floor game," said Coach Larry Mahrle.

Clarkston's reserves got their names on the score sheet against Brandon as well. Jodi Lopucki led the reserves with four points. Carrie Roeser had two, and Sharry Bronson and Beth Walker added one apiece.

"We played well tonight," the coach said. "I'm real pleased to be where we are at."

Where the Wolves are at is 4-1 in the GOAL and 12-1 overall. Their only loss was to Waterford Kettering. Clarkston hosts the Captains on Tuesday, Oct. 24, in a return match that could determine the league championship.

Clarkston wasted little time in dispensing with Brandon, outscoring its host 17-2 in the first quarter. Oddly, the Ladyhawks scored first in all four quarters before folding to the more talented Wolves.

Jokisch used her height to her advantage in the paint during the first-quarter rush, consistently hitting on short turnaround jumpers in the lane. She finished with 10 points in the first quarter.

Brandon opened the second quarter with its best scoring string of the night, outpointing the Wolves 6-1 before Jokisch hit her next basket to set things right for Clarkston.

Defensively, the Wolves kept the Ladyhawks in single digits for most of the first half. Only two free throws with 12 seconds left pushed Brandon into double digits.

Clarkston led 32-10 at the half.

The second half went pretty much the same as the (See WOLVES, Page 27)

Ask The Dentist

Q: I have dentures. Why is it necessary to come in to see the dentist?

A: Although your denture will retain its shape, your mouth will continue to change. The gums continue to recede and shrink causing the jaws to come closer together. To prevent and correct these problems you should visit your dentist regularly. At the appointment, the gums, jaw joint, and tongue will be checked as well as denture fit.

Brandon takes the fall against Wolves

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Three quarterbacks, two place kickers and almost everybody except the team managers played for the varsity football team Friday night.

"Lots of kids got playing time. That's the best thing about it," said Coach Kurt Richardson. And picking up a victory, that is.

Clarkston High defeated Brandon 54-6 in its homecoming game.

The scoresheet illustrates how many players saw action in the game. Eight different Wolves scored, none more than once.

Clarkston scored early and often, racking up 20 first-quarter points. John King completed a 74-yard game-opening drive with a 5-yard touchdown run. David Marks added the extra point for a 7-0 lead with 10:46 to play in the first quarter. On the play preceding the touchdown, King rambled 60 yards down the right sideline but couldn't elude the final Brandon tackler.

Brandon was stopped on its first possession and was forced to punt. A high snap resulted in a fumble in the end zone. King and Terry Schimke converged on the loose ball, with Schimke recovering it for a touchdown. Marks' extra point try was blocked. With 8:26 remaining in the first quarter, Clarkston led 13-0.

On its next possession, Brandon again fumbled the ball away. Clarkston took control at the Blackhawks' 30-yard line. Six plays later, the Wolves had another touchdown.

Quarterback Dugan Fife's 1-yard TD toss to Kevin Keilitz was set up by an 18-yard run off a reverse by Dane Davis. Marks kicked the extra point for a 20-0 edge with 5:53 still left on the clock.

A 91-yard kickoff return on the ensuing kick from Clarkston proved to be the only points Brandon could muster.

Clarkston's next drive ended on the Brandon 14 when the Wolves failed to convert on a fourth-and-seven play.

Moments later, however, Brandon again fumbled the ball away -- David Tinkis recovered for Clarkston -- to give Clarkston an excellent scoring opportunity.

Fife completed two passes to Brett Kinzler, good for 17 yards; and Jason Kinzler ran three times for 14 yards to set up a 1-yard TD run by Fife. Marks kicked the extra point, giving Clarkston a 27-6 lead with 6:26 to play in the first half.

Brandon finally hung onto the ball on its next drive (See GRIDDERS, next page)

Defense the key

Sashabaw's strong defense again helped the Cougars stay unbeaten in freshman football.

The Cougars have yet to yield more than eight points to any opponent. Two games remain on the 1989 schedule: Flint Central and rival Clarkston.

On Wednesday, Oct. 4, the Cougars warmed up for those battles by topping Mason 28-8.

Marc May scored two touchdowns to lead Sashabaw Junior High. Quarterback Nick Shires tossed a touchdown pass to Matt Smith for another score. Jerry Anderson had the other touchdown. Smith, on a pass from Shires, and Anderson scored on two-point conversion plays.

Sashabaw's record is 7-0.

(GRIDDERS, from previous page) — but was forced to punt. Clarkston again had excellent field position, starting at the Blackhawks' 38.

Fife completed a 10-yard pass to Jason Kinzler and a 16-yard pass to David Eby that brought the ball down to the 3-yard line. After a penalty set Clarkston back to the eight, Jason Kinzler scored. Marks added another extra point to close out the scoring in the first half at 34-6.

Clarkston proved just as explosive in the second half as it did in the first as Brandon continued to give up the ball deep in its own end.

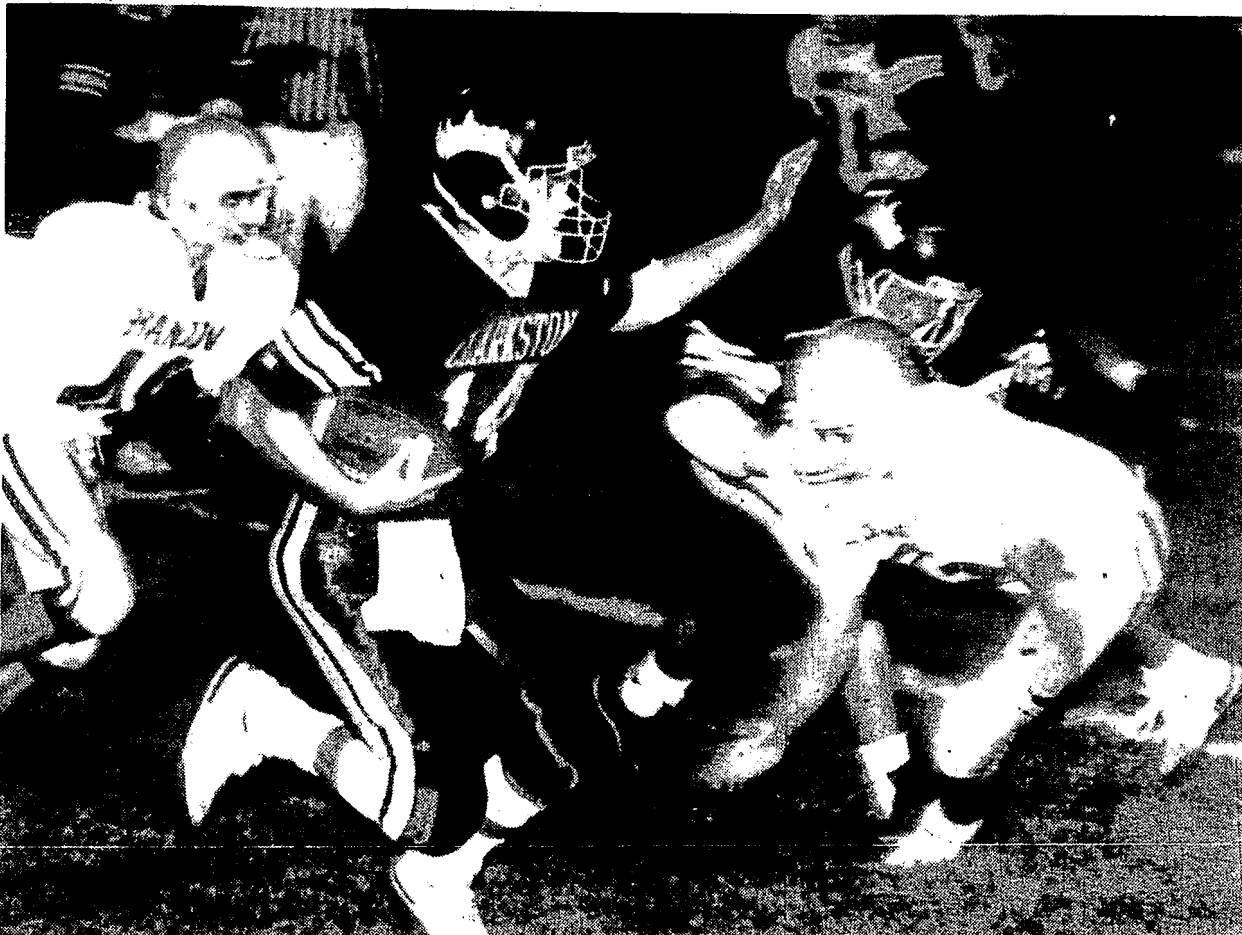

The Wolves' first drive of the second half began on the Blackhawks' 29. Two plays later, Brett Kinzler scored from 23 yards out. Chad Hetherington, usually the holder on kicks for Marks, added the extra point. CHS led 41-6 with 8:52 to play in the third.

Brandon finally strung a few good plays together and got the ball away from its end zone. After another punt, Clarkston began yet another scoring drive.

Matt Howe scored a touchdown off a 11-yard run. Hetherington kicked the extra point to cap a 53-yard drive and put Clarkston out in front 48-6.

Clarkston's final score came as a result of another Brandon fumble. The drive began on the Blackhawks' 8-yard line.

After a penalty set the Wolves back to the 13, quarterback Davis completed a nine-yard pass to Erich Becker. Joel Davis ran the ball on the next two plays, eventually scoring a touchdown from two yards out.

DANE DAVIS cuts around right end on a reverse play for a big gain Friday night against the Brandon Blackhawks. Clarkston won the football game easily first, with Clarkston in control most of the time. (After Brandon scored the first basket of the period, that is.)

Two days earlier, the Wolves toppled Waterford Mott 41-20.

"We were kind of sluggish at times, but we came away with the win," said Mahrle.

Jokisch scored 12 points; McKoin and Celeste Steinhilper had eight apiece, and Jenny McChesney added six.

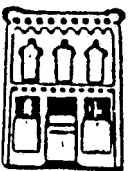

An 18-2 run in the third quarter opened up a close ball game and propelled Clarkston to victory.

The Wolves led 19-14 at halftime.

Teens spend day off cleaning litter from roads

SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston New Staff Writer

The Clarkston area looks a little cleaner, thanks to about 10 Clarkston High School students who banded together with a concern for the environment.

High school students had the day off from school Friday, Oct. 13, but members of the newly formed Environmental Concern Group spent the day picking up trash from the roads in Independence Township.

"This group is not just talk; they are action," said Bill Genshaw, a teacher at CHS, as he helped the students collect some of the trash.

The cleanup project is just the beginning for the environmental group. About a month ago, junior Holly Walker held the first meeting for the group, and already, they have an agenda.

They plan to plant trees and to write letters to fast-food restaurants about food containers.

The organization is intended as an umbrella group for students interested in such other environmental issues as animal rights, said Holly.

The group also plans to publish a newsletter with helpful information about the environment, she said.

It seems that Holly and the other students listened well when Genshaw told them: "If you're not part of the solution then you're part of the problem."

On Oct. 13, two students talked as they picked up litter from Waldon Road.

"It's a worthwhile thing to do," said Lisa Carter.

Julie Fyda agreed. "Somebody's got to do it," she said.

Career exploration

Uncertain about what career to pursue? A career interest workshop is set for 6-9 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 24, in Room 804 at Clarkston High School.

For $10, instructor Jill Bogges will help high school seniors as well as adults explore career and educational goals.

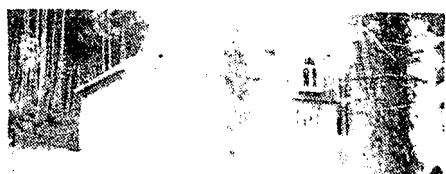

An occupational interest test will be given to target each person's goals, and information on colleges, universities, trade schools, scholarships and student loan opportunities will be distributed. The program is sponsored by Clarkston Community Education.

For more information, call 674-0993.

You may know the danger of high cholesterol—but do you know your number?

U.S. government health experts say all adults 20 and older should have their blood cholesterol levels screened.

Opinion of Bill Myers

*New, better ways
to lose your cash*

William A. Myers is a retired Lapeer County editor and investments manager from Boca Raton, Fla.

Never have I seen so many investment schemes as in the last few years. They seem to have spewed out when brokers' commissions were deregulated and the profit pie had smaller pieces for the salesmen and management.

Then along came limited partnerships and tax shelters and variable annuities and split annuities and universal life, real estate investment trusts, offshore bank accounts, and so on and so on.

Some weren't as bad as others. Most of them just didn't work out, particularly the investment trusts and limited partnerships and tax shelters. There was too much overhead, too many operators skimming off the cream and leaving the investors with pale blue skim milk.

Annuities, for example, promised big returns - but not only for limited times. The sellers didn't mention, unless cornered, that there were "exit fees" up to 6 percent if you wanted to cash in before five years.

The life insurance feature was worth less than one-half of 1 percent of the promised return, but you'd think it was a big deal. You could buy term life insurance yourself for just a few dollars.

The Colonial Fund had a deal whereby the rate of return was higher than usual rates, but it turns out that part of the "income" was your own money. My neighbor, Anges Lund, got stuck by Goodbody for a bundle of this fund. I went to a lawyer and he made Goodbody give back the money. They did it with tears in their eyes, for their commission was $7,000.

Merrill Lynch has had a package called "Totem" whereby you were guaranteed 100 percent of your investment back after nine years, I think it was. Meanwhile, you were drawing sizeable returns each year.

Well, all it was, they split your investment of, say, $10,000, into two piles. About half of it went into zero coupon bonds. At that time, zeros would double in value in about nine years. So, $5,000 became $10,000 at the end of the period, and so you got your investment back.

The other half paid interest plus part of the principal - a "declining balance," it is called - so at the end of the plan, that half of your investment had disappeared.

It wasn't all bad, but you could have done better just buying zeros yourself and putting the rest in an income fund and drawing out more than you could under Merrill's fancy plan called "Totem."

The other day there came across my desk (actually, my desk is a door with four 2x2's and an end-table holding it up) a deal from "TFI." Maybe it stands for "Tax-Free Investment." Address: San Jose, Calif.

What you do is send some money to TFI in Switzerland. It goes into a "trust account," and then the boys buy some overseas stocks or whatnot.

Now for the prize for the investor. Says the TFI brochure:

"An investment in an offshore trust account is a privacy investment. If you wish to report it, that is your choice. There is no tax ID requirement in Switzerland, and you remain unknown to any government in the world . . . Each account is exempt from U.S. capital gains and income taxes, and so are you, unless you choose to report the income or gains." (Italics mine.)

If you don't choose to report, there is a little matter of a felony, for you are perjuring yourself when you sign your income tax and don't report an item like this.

"Current annual yield" is 23 percent, says the brochure.

Well, maybe. But it reminds me of those big rates the Mexican bank used to promise. According to complaints I heard, you got the interest all right, but you didn't get your principal back.

Reporter's Notebook

A court reporter at 52nd District Court, Independence Township, noted that more people had called regarding a pit bull case than about a Groveland Township murder case this week.

A caller to The Clarkston News was disappointed last week to learn that no reporters were available to cover an impersonation case in Detroit.

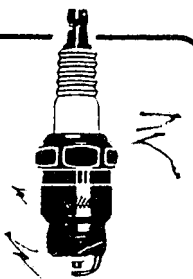

The caller was from a national muck-raking paper and offered to pay a reporter to cover the case before the woman left for California.

A staff member explained that The Clarkston News was a small weekly paper and didn't provide such services.

The caller, clearly befuddled, protested: "It says here that you're a tabloid."

"Tabloid" refers to the size of paper The Clarkston News is printed on, as opposed to a "standard" size, also known as a "broadsheet," that area daily newspapers are printed on.

Items for Reporter's Notebook are compiled by Clarkston News staff members.

Needlework, embroidery inspired by grandmother

BY LINDA WALSH LAPINSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Arlene Dettore appreciates the good things in life, like conversation and fine craftsmanship.

The mother of eight uses those skills when she teaches eight embroidery classes and holds six-hour long sewing sessions for former students -- kind of like quilting bees.

A Peach Drive, Independence Township, resident, her love of the art came from her grandmother, she says.

"Grandmother saved corners of bedsheets, cut them into squares," Arlene says. "During our summer visits, to entertain us she had us draw pictures on them. I became great at drawing at cups and saucers.

"Grandmother then would have us embroider our

10 years and has been a needlework judge for the Michigan State Fair.

"I love the judging," she says. "I can get right down in the and look at everything."

Arlene has changed the format of the quilting process just a bit.

"Traditionally, the backing material was a muslin," she says. "I have changed to a Pellon fleece. It makes the piece more flexible and transportable.

"I like to take the piece I am working on with me, even outside," she says, adding that Pellon grabs the fabric and doesn't slide as muslin does.

Arlene's work will be on display Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10 and 11, at Calcote Country. She also displays her work at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association.

pictures, only using the outline stitch. After the stitching, we would make them into hot pads," she remembers.

"What I liked the most about that was she would hang them all around the kitchen. ... She used them," Arlene says.

Arlene used that same positive reinforcement and encouragement in raising her children and now offers it in her crazy quilt classes, she says.

Victorian patchwork, often referred to as crazy quilting, has been popular since the 1890s. It's worked entirely by hand, and the many varieties of embroidery stitches placed on the outside fold of the fabric enhance the design.

The choice of color and design of the fabric in relation to choice of the stitches add texture and dimension to each of the pieces created.

"I like to take the piece I am working on with me, even outside."

sion to each of the pieces created.

Motifs, beads, buttons and ribbons can be added to embellish the article and sometimes become the focal point on the piece, says Arlene.

The skill is in the evenness of the stitches. Preferably loose rather than tight -- so they lay on top of the fabric -- not pulled inside the fabric, says Arlene.

"You choose your master print and six complimentary fabrics, two of them being solids," she says.

Then comes the color choices of the embroidery threads and the type of decorative stitches.

"That's where the fun begins," says Arlene.

The variety of stitches makes each piece unique; combining two stitches or making your own stitch all add to the creative fun.

Arlene still finds joy in it even though it's become a job for her. She conducts classes at eight area stores, including a class every other Thursday at Calcote Country, Main Street, Clarkston.

She's also a member of the National Standards Council of American Embroiderers Guild, Embroiderers Guild of America and the Needlework Textile Guild of Michigan. Plus, she's taught seminars and for the past the Christmas Open House Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10 and 11, at Calcote Country, Main Street, Clarkston.

Couple find work rewarding in Brazilian Mission

BY CAROLYN WALKER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Three new grandchildren awaited the Rev. Clancy Thompson and his wife, Doris, when they returned to Independence from Brazil this year. And they have savored every precious minute that they've spent with them.

Ordinarily for the Thompsons, the pleasures of grandparenting are miles and years apart.

Doris and Clancy, who was pastor of the Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church off Maybee Road for 15 years, left for Brazil in 1986 for a supervisory position with the Brazilian National Mission Field.

It was their second working jaunt to the South American country, where they train lay leadership and lay missionaries among the Brazilian people. Their first stay in Brazil began in 1958 and ended in 1971.

"You have to be very versatile," Doris says of their career demands.

The couple, who are in the United States on a one-year furlough until June 1990, feel they are doing God's work as they teach from their base in the modern city of Sao Paulo.

Those folks trained by the Thompsons work either in their own churches or go throughout the Brazilian state establishing new churches or working as missionaries among unconverted people.

"We teach the basics of Christian living. How to have daily walks with God through the Bible and prayer," says Clancy. "To get that as a lifestyle is a different ball game. They have to mature in their own walk with God."

According to Doris, studies show that approximately 85 percent of the Brazilian population practices lives. Clancy was raised in the Free Methodist Church.

Doris, whose mother died when she was three, was sent to various relatives' homes to live. She became a Christian at age 10 after living with a Christian family.

"God had a hand on me," she recalls fondly.

The two met at Spring Arbor Junior College near Jackson and completed their educations at Greenville College in Illinois.

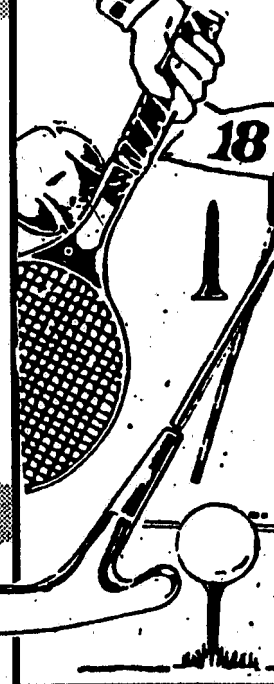

Clancy then received his theological training at Asbury Theology Seminary in Kentucky.

Having spent the last several months sharing their Brazilian experiences with Christians throughout the United States, the couple has only good things to say about their lives in two different countries.

"It's a very rewarding life," Clancy says. "There's no doubt about it."

Doris agrees with a smile. "We enjoy our work and living there. The hard part is being separated from our families."

Prize-winning chili recipe

Betty Wagner

Winning a trophy was not first on her mind when Sherie Zale stirred up her version of Diet Workshop's chili for the Keating Beach Chili Cook Off.

Sherie said she "just wanted to have something to eat that wasn't high calorie" at the subdivision's annual chili cook off and beach party. She rejoiced that her neighbors appreciated her low-calorie, low-fat offering.

"Everyone was pleasantly surprised that it was a diet recipe," she said. "It's different and has good flavor."

Sherie and her husband, Don, who have shed 67 pounds between them, discovered Diet Workshop three years ago. Eating low-fat, low-calorie foods and using portion and frequency control have since become a way of life for the couple and their five children.

According to Sherie, it's not necessary to never have a cookie or favorite dessert; just you be in charge of the amount and the frequency of the treat.

Sherie now works for Diet Workshop — with classes in Independence and Springfield townships — as a registrar, instructor and moderator. Look for more about Sherie, Diet Workshop and more delicious recipes in coming weeks.

Halloween magic show filled with the mysterious

BY LINDA WALSH LAPINSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's that time of year again. Ghosts and goblins lurk in the shadows. Magic fills the air. And Richard Ashley loves it.

For one and a half years, Ashley, 21, of Greenview, Independence Township, has been entertaining people with his magic tricks.

"I got into magic after watching the magicians on the television, and I wanted to prove to myself how the act was done," said Ashley.

"The outward appearance of my act may be one of calm, but we all do have our own opinions; and we even have out and out spats on agreeing on how things should be done," said Ashley.

This year, Ashley and his fiancée, Lori Nelson, and her best friend Kelly Land are helping Ashley with his program.

"We have increased our number of tricks from four or five to 12," said Ashley.

He also gets help from his two childhood friends, Tom Myers, who acts as production manager, and Dan Bailey, stage and prop builder.

The performances are held in conjunction with the Trilogy of Terror sponsored by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation and Oakland County Parks and Recreation. The festivities take place at Clintonwood Park, Clarkston Road.

The Trilogy of Terror is comprised of haunted trails, a haunted house and the Mystery of Magic. The magic show takes place at 6:30 p.m., 7:45 p.m. and 9:15 p.m. Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 26-29.

Tickets can be purchased in advance for $1 at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, 90 N. Main, Clarkston.

Trilogy of terror coming

A trilogy of terror will overtake Clintonwood Park four the days preceding Halloween.

Haunted trails, haunted house and a mystery of magic shows are sponsored by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation and Oakland County Parks and Recreation from Thursday, Oct. 26, to Sunday, Oct. 29.

The haunted trails and haunted house cost $3 for those 13 and older and $2 for all others. They are open from 6-9:45 p.m. each night.

The mystery of magic costs $1 per person per show and runs three times each of the four nights.

Non-refundable tickets must be purchased in advance at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation office, 90 N. Main Street, Clarkston. Hours 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. are Monday through Friday. Guided tours will be conducted every 15 minutes, and each tour is limited to 20 people.

The program is not recommended for children under five. Refreshments will be available to purchase. On-site babysitting will be available as well.

In the event of inclement weather, all tours will be rescheduled.

MAGIC is the hobby of (from left) Dan Bailey, Richard Ashley, Lori Nelson, Tom Myers and Kelly Land. The group is to entertain on Halloween.

Pet of the Week

APRIL LIKES being with anything and everyone. She'd be a wonderful pet in her new home. (Photo by Peter Auchter)

April comes in fall

April, a 9-month-old sheltie mix, is waiting to arrive at your home like a fresh spring breeze. Sheltie dogs look like collies but are much smaller. April is compatible with dogs, cats and children. The shelter worker said she loves everything and would be good in almost any home setting. April can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The adoption fee for April is $65 and includes the spaying fee.

Facts about kids, fire

In observance of National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8-14, members of the Independence Township Fire Department urge residents to take care to prevent fires, and share information with children.

Following are facts about kids and fires:

- More than 300 people die in residential fires each year as a result of child fireplay.
- Child fireplay is the leading cause of death in residential fires for preschool children.
- Fires started by children playing (mostly with matches or lighters) represent three out of 10 preschool child fire deaths.
- Three-quarters of all fatal victims of child-playing fires are 5 years old or younger.
- Each year more than 28,000 residential fires are caused by child fireplay with direct property damage of more than $150 million.
- 37 percent of preschool fatalities occur between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.
- A study done several years ago indicated the most frequent cause of fires involving unattended children in multiple-death fires was child fireplay, usually with matches or lighters.
- Smoke detectors are not present in 84 percent of the homes where preschool fatalities occur.
- Curiosity is the most common reason children play with fire.

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

- 1) Constitutionally dedicate to schools:
 - a. 2¢ increase in sales/use tax;
 - b. Current statutory revenue sources, including lottery profits and some cigarette/liquor taxes;
 - c. Increased share of existing sales/use tax (51% to 75%) to substantially replace annual school appropriation.
- 2) Reduce property taxes in most school districts. Replace school taxes with permanent statewide millage (9-mills on residential/farm; 14-mills on businesses) plus non-voted local millage not subject to voter rollback. Limit voter-approved increases to 4-mills.
- 3) Set per-pupil funding guarantees subject to change by law requiring 2/3 vote.
- 4) Activate increased statutory penalty to deny all non-guaranteed state funds to schools not adopting core curriculum and improvement plans.

Should this proposal be adopted?

ALSO ANY ADDITIONAL AMENDMENTS OR PROPOSITIONS THAT MAY BE SUBMITTED.

THE POLLS of said election will be open at 7 o'clock a.m. and will remain open until 8 o'clock p.m. of said day of election.

Junior Miss contest changed to 'Young Woman of the year'

The Clarkston Junior Miss Program for high school seniors this year will be presenting the Young Woman of the Year, according to Barbara Hamaker, who heads the event.

Miss Program gives scholarships for excellence in youth. Each contestant will do a 90-second talent presentation, a group physical fitness and a poise and appearance routine.

They will be judged by a panel evaluation on their performance and their scholastic achievement. The winner will advance to the Michigan Young Woman of the Year program to be held in Marshall.

Any senior high school girls in the Clarkston area who are interested should call Hamaker at 625-4041.

The national program changed the emphasis this year to a scholarship program rather than a beauty pageant, said Hamaker in a written statement.

The Clarkston program also has had some drastic changes. Due to renovation of Clarkston High School's John Kirchgessner Auditorium, problems in obtaining new seats and the inability to finish the auditorium before December, the Clarkston program will be held at a new auditorium at Brandon High School Nov. 18.

WHO IS ON THE LORD'S side: let him hear what the spirit is saying to the churches. But they obeyed not, neither inclined their ear, but made their neck stiff that they might not hear, nor receive instruction. You say still unto them that despise me "the Lord hath said, you shall have peace!" And you say unto everyone that walks after the imagination of his own heart, "no evil shall come upon you!" Both prophet and priest are profane! You have refused my word! Your heart is towards Egypt. Yea, in my house have I found your wickedness saith the Lord. Pharisees and scribes ask why to the disciples of Christ transgress the commandments of God (truth of the gospel) by your tradition? You hypocrites! This people draws near to me with their mouth and honoreth me with their lips and their heart is far from me. In vain you do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men, vain imaginations, philosophies, and Jewish fables. Hear and understand! That which comes out of the mouth defiles the man. Every plant, which my Heavenly Father has not planted, shall be rooted up. Those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart and they defile the man or women. For out of the heart proceeds evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies, pride, foolishness, rebellion, covetousness, deceitfulness, cares for this world and deceitfulness of riches and lusts of other things, which choke the word of God. Full well you reject the commandments of God, disobeying Christ, so you may keep your own tradition! Wherefore your way shall be unto you as slippery ways in the darkness. You shall be driven on, and fall therein for I will bring the evil upon you, the year of your visitation saith the Lord. Get thee behind me satan! You are an offense unto me. For you savor not the things that be of God but the things that be of men. For whomsoever will save his life shall lose it and whomsoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. ILLX41-2

Happy happening

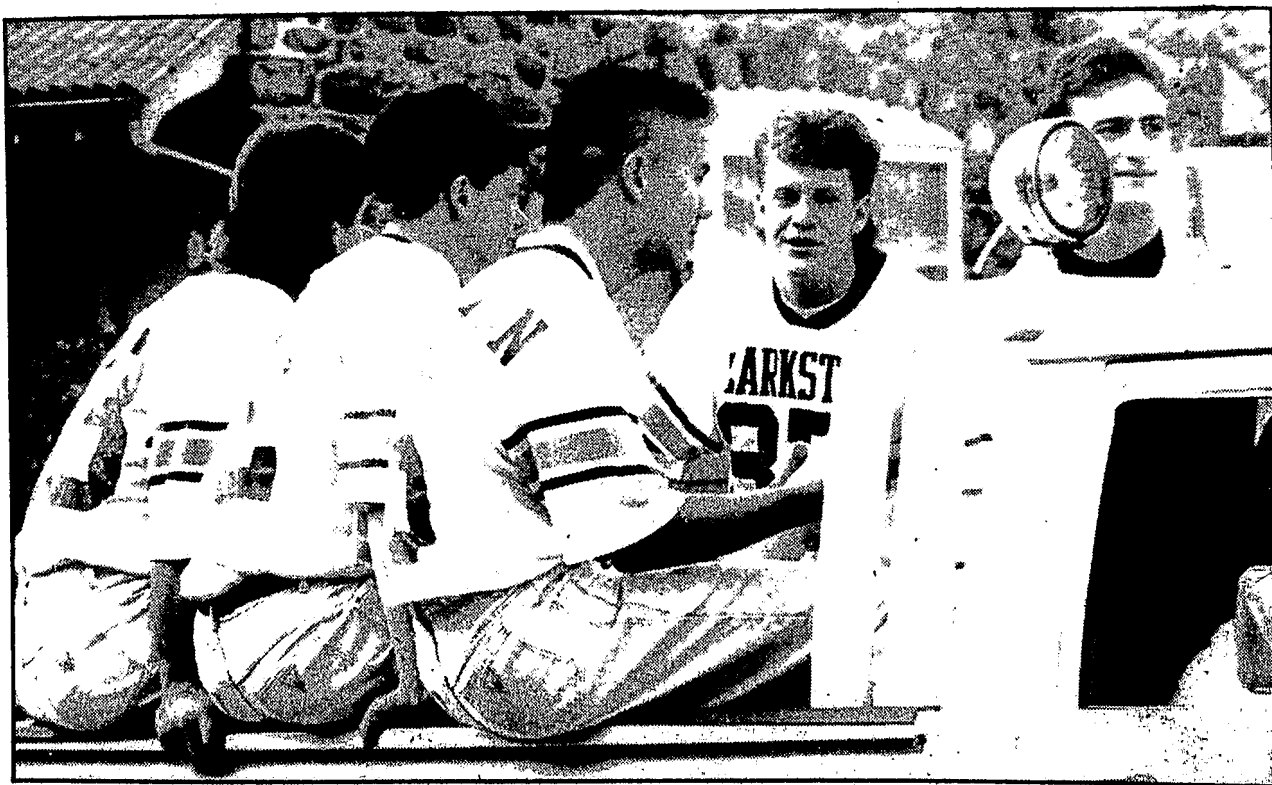

CLARKSTON JUNIOR HIGH cheerleaders entertain the large crowd that turned out for the homecoming parade in downtown Clarkston.

'UNDER THE BOARDWALK' was the theme of this year's homecoming at Clarkston High School. The sophomore, junior and senior classes created floats.

VARSITY FOOTBALL MEMBERS relax in the back of a truck while motoring down Main Street after a big win against Brandon the night before.
