Area residents say no to Proposal A, B

Fire bond issue defeated by residents in Independence Township

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Residents in both Independence and Springfield townships voted overwhelmingly against two statewide tax proposals in Tuesday's special election. In Independence Township, voters also defeated a $2 million fire bond issue.

In voter turnout described as "excellent," Independence Township residents voted against Proposal A with 5,170 voting no and 939 voting yes. The vote against Proposal B was cast with 5,404 voting no and 571 voting yes.

The votes are not official until they are certified by the Oakland County Board of Canvassers.

The fire bond issue, on a ballot in Independence Township for the second time, was defeated with 3,639 voting no and 2,432 voting yes.

The fire bond issue was first defeated March 28 by just 55 votes in an election that drew few eligible voters.

In Tuesday's election, 6,182 of the approximately 17,000 registered voters turned out to cast their ballots.

Independence Township Fire Chief Gar Wilson said although more people voted on the fire issue in Tuesday's election, the outcome was disappointing.

"People have spoken," Wilson said. "More people voted and I said if more people voted we would (have our answer)."

Wilson expressed dismay at what the vote meant for the future of the downtown fire station.

"The station downtown is not going to make it. Its in bad shape. The new trucks won't fit into it," Wilson said.

"If we have to shut that station down, what will we do?"

In Springfield Township, voter turnout was calculated. (See TAX, Page 9)

Man literally takes up cross

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN AND LINDA WALSH-LAPINSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writers

As soon as Mike Gainor, 34, appeared in the Clarkston area, he attracted attention.

The call to The Clarkston News on Halloween said a Christ-like figure, bearded and bearing an 85-pound cross, was walking down Dixie Highway near White Lake Road, Independence Township.

Tall and thin, Gainor did indeed resemble Christ carrying the cross.

But modern adaptations had been made. The cross rested on a single wheel, and a backpack was strapped to the bottom of the cross.

Gainor, wearing a bright orange knit cap that hid short-cropped hair, was friendly.

He was working in some Oklahoma oil fields and waiting to take a factory job when he received a calling to take up the cross about 3 1/2 years ago, he explained.

"The Holy Spirit called me to the ministry," Gainor said. "The Lord made it clear to take up the cross."

Since then, Gainor has traveled through the Western and Northwestern regions of the United States. He's now on his way to the East Coast, which will probably take another five years, he said.

Gainor plans to travel throughout the whole country before his journey is over, he said.

People frequently invite him to dinner. In Independence, a woman handed him a bag of venison burgers, and her daughter passed him a box of vanilla wafers.

"It's humbling to be on the receiving end," he said.

Judge rules Springfield man is guilty of neglect

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Springfield Township man was found guilty of neglect after Oakland County Animal Control (OCAC) officers found several dogs, horses and fowl without food or water on his Rattalee Lake Road property last September.

Ronald Myers was found guilty by Judge Gerald McNally, 52nd District Court, Independence Township, Nov. 2. McNally reduced the charge to neglect from cruelty to animals, which he said was too strong in this case.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies were first called to the property in September on a report of several horses running loose, said Carl Anderson, division manager for the OCAC department.

When deputies arrived, they found several chickens and dogs running loose in the yard and called for the OCAC to investigate, Anderson added.

OCAC officials found 20 fighting roosters in a cage, five pit bulls chained up, two terrier puppies, three pit bull puppies, one pheasant, and two peacocks in the front yard. Another 30 roosters and more pit bulls were found in the back yard.

"They were fairly healthy looking," Anderson said. "They weren't weak or thin; it was just a matter of having no food or water in front of them."

Eleven of the dogs and two horses were seized from the property; the fowl were left behind because the OCAC did not have facilities for them.

"It was a surprise to find all of that," Anderson said. "Neglect is common ... we don't often have (that many animals)," he added.

Myers could not be located for comment.

Anderson said Myers recovered the animals from the OCAC but has since gotten rid of many of them because the number of animals per lot size violated Springfield Township ordinances.

OCAC officials are to periodically check on the remaining animals and will make a report of the findings at Myers's sentencing Feb. 9.

Christian man walks to spread the word

He encourages people to walk with him in each town. Through it all, he's never felt threatened, even though he has traveled through downtown Los Angeles and the projects in Chicago. He was a bit worried about his upcoming visit to Detroit, he admitted.

To cope with threatening situations, he follows Christ's example and just moves on, he said.

With the onset of cold weather, Gainor may return to Arizona for the winter, he said.

For the first two years of the journey, Gainor attached foam padding to the cross, making it less painful to carry. In Montana, he bought a set of football shoulder pads that now eases the discomfort of the cross.

As he talked, Gainor pulled literature from the leather pouch attached to the cross bar of the cross to share the written word of the Gospel. Gainor considers himself a Christian but doesn't affiliate with any particular denomination, he said.

While his family is supportive, they don't completely understand his mission, he said.

Whenever somebody interviews him, he asks that they send a copy of the article to his mother in Pennsylvania — perhaps his way of obeying the fourth commandment in Christian doctrine: "Honor your Mother and Father."

So far, Gainor has worn out three pairs of shoes in his travels. He cares for the leather by mink oiling them each day. He discards them when they crack, but he said his heels are good for 1,000 miles, and the soles are replaced every 2,000 miles. He also repairs the cross along the way.

His life is full and rewarding, he said, but he's not alone as often as he'd like.

Every night, Gainor sleeps in his camper, usually parked near the area he intends to walk in a two-day period.

Except when returning to the camper at night, the cross is always with him, he said.

When he must leave the cross, Gainor padlocks it to a stationary object.

After talking to the reporters, Gainor continued his journey, cross on shoulder, munching vanilla wafers.

A day in the life of a detective

Paperwork, phone calls, court dates, and, yes, even exciting moments

BY LINDA WALSH LAPINSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Unlike the glamorous lives of detectives Crockett and Tubbs of television's "Miami Vice," real detectives spend a lot of time doing paper work and talking on the phone.

The job does have its exciting moments, though, according to Detective Steve Parker of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD).

A Clarkston high school graduate, Parker has been in the criminal justice system for 14 years. He lives in the Waterford area with his wife, Sharon.

His father retired from the OCSD in 1979, and Parker has lived with the life of a detective for most of his life. A Vietnam veteran, Parker started as a detention officer, working in the Oakland County Jail.

"When times are good, crimes are down a little. When times are bad, crimes rise because everyone is trying to stay alive — even the criminals."

Not to diminish the importance of a detective's instincts and persistence, Parker explains the daily routine he and his fellow detectives experience.

A typical day begins at 8 a.m., when a detective reviews reports of the previous day until about 3 a.m. A decision is then made if the case has enough information to follow up.

Some of the cases that are investigated are: civil matters, failure to pay, frauds, robberies and murders.

"Four hours of every day can be spent on the phone," said Parker.

Each case is worked on as the information becomes available. Once an investigation is complete, the information is taken to the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, where it is reviewed. If the prosecutor deems there is sufficient evidence, a warrant will be issued.

"I can be working on six different cases at once," said Parker. "It is very important to have the correct information because I can sit around for half a day waiting for the prosecutor to issue a warrant, and if information is not complete, my time has been wasted,"

News to 50 cents

Single copy prices of The Clarkston News go to 50 cents each this week.

Subscription prices also rise: $13 a year in Oakland County, $15 a year in Michigan (outside of Oakland County), $19 for out of state subscribers.

"For now," Publisher Jim Sherman said, "the best deal is to get The News by mail. Subscribers in this area can save $13 a year over newsstand cost."

DETECTIVE Steve Parker of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department reviews the day's cases at his desk in the detective department.

he said.

Though he has never felt threatened by his position, every precaution is taken for his safety, he said.

"After I identify myself and I explain what could and/or may happen, most individuals do cooperate," said Parker.

After the warrant has been issued, the suspect is served. If the suspect is cooperative, he'll be asked to come to the sheriff's office. If he's uncooperative, the detective arrests the suspect and takes him to jail.

The individual is then booked: fingerprints and photos of the individual are taken and filed.

The suspect next goes to court for arraignment before a judge or magistrate. The charges are read to the person, and the bond is set. Then, the trial date is set.

"During all these steps, I can have these five or six steps going at once in different cases," Parker said.

The procedures can take place over any length of time. Sometimes it can take one to two days, or it can drag out for weeks, months or years, according to the type of crime, the evidence, finding of the suspect and getting all of these factors working together, said Parker.

Some days spent in court, a detective starts early, and lunch is something he never sees.

"We are at the court house on different days for different type of cases," said Parker.

At certain times of the year certain types of crimes are committed more frequently. Robberies are rampant during the holiday season, especially from cars. A car can be sitting in the parking lot, and all the packages be taken. It is a type of criminal holiday shopping.

"We are called to more family fights in the summer time," Parker said. "People are hot, drink more and, because everything is outside, more of the disturbances are heard and therefore reported."

Plus, it's not a 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. job, he said.

"We all have beepers and car phones. I can be called any time of the day or night; we are on call 24 hours a day," he said.

Every detective keeps a book of habitual criminals operating in a certain area. Depending on the criminal's method of operation, the detective can use it as a reference when a certain type of crime is committed.

"You would be surprised how many of the criminals act repeatedly in the same manner, time and time again; therefore each detective has a lot of repeating names," he said.

Despite the frustrations, discouragement and stress that his job encompasses, Parker admits, "I really like my job. I enjoy the investigative end of the department. I get to see many cases come to an end."

Parker hears a lot of complaints about the criminal justice system, but he believes in it, he said.

"I have no problems with the justice system," he said. "Some people get off more lenient than they should, but I feel the process does accomplish its goals."

"We will always have the overcrowding in the jails, and it does hinder the system. When times are good, crimes are down a little. When times are bad, crimes rise because everyone is trying to stay alive — even the criminals."

Grocery strike averted

Despite rumors of an upcoming strike, shoppers will continue to get the service they have come to expect from Food Town on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

Negotiators for Food and Commercial Workers Union Local 876 settled differences with company owners Nov. 5, according to union representative Ed Lively.

One week earlier, union members had voted 100 percent in favor of a strike, Lively said.

Wages were the point of discussion among the two groups. The union is midway between a four-year contract with the food store.

New computer makes treasurer's job less taxing

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Springfield Township residents can expect to get tax information quicker because of the new computer system purchased by the township recently.

Treasurer Lois Styles said summer taxes were processed on the new system, but the tax statements the residents receive look the same because the county still prints the statements for the township.

"This was my dream," said Styles, as she held her arms open to the new equipment that fits in her office space.

She became deputy treasurer, or deputy to the deputy, she said, in 1985 and hoped to someday have a computer system that would simplify and speed up the process of delivering tax information to the residents of Springfield.

Styles purchased the equipment after approval from the township board but not before she thoroughly researched the system.

She said she visited other municipalities and observed what they could do with their systems, and she also shopped to find the best system suited to the needs and budget of Springfield Township.

The $9,800 software system is for the tax administration and cash receipting system Styles intends to have running within a month or so.

The $8,588 computer, printer and modem allows for transmission from one computer to another, and furniture for the computer equipment came to $1,463.

Styles said she still needs to purchase another office chair because her deputy clerk, Phyllis Bradford, is sitting on a folding chair with a cushion on it.

In the past, the filing system for the township tax statements were contained in two drawers. Now she can call up tax statements quickly when residents come into the office for information.

"This lessened the time," she said.

Residents love it, too, she said. It also helps in giving the proper share of tax money to the four school

*Guaranteed
snickers*

Julie

Sex is the topic of discussion this week all over town (though people talk about it other weeks, too).

On cable-TV, the Independence-Clarkston Channel 65 is airing a show about peer pressure and sex, and Clarkston High School's Just Say No Club sponsored a talk on teen sexuality. Even the Parent Teacher Organization at Sashabaw Elementary scheduled a talk on the subject for next week.

Adults and children alike snicker when the topic comes up — humans just aren't comfortable with the subject.

But it makes interesting conversation — especially if you can get people talking about their childhoods and how their own parents broke the news to them about "the birds and the bees."

My own mother was not exactly comfortable with the subject.

One day, my younger brother — a fifth grader at the time — asked her what oral sex was.

She couldn't come right out and say it, so she said, "You know what oral means, right?"

My brother paused and said, "Oh, yeah. We give oral presentations in school. So oral sex means you talk during it."

My mother broke out laughing uncontrollably, and my brother just left the room, still puzzled (to this day, he's probably confused).

Some parents try to be scientific about it.

My cousin Rod's mother was a librarian and had the latest information on the subject. So one day — when Rod and his sister, Vicki, were in about sixth and seventh grades — children's books on sex suddenly appeared all over the house, he said.

She tried to talk about it with them. But she used her "serious voice," and Rod said he and Vicki only laughed and wouldn't listen.

My own dad, a doctor, one day came home with a book called "How Babies Are Made" and made us all listen to him read it aloud.

The book started out with flowers and progressed to chickens and roosters and then to dogs. Eventually, it made its way to humans.

The book showed a naked female paper doll and a naked male paper doll, and then immediately changed to two paper dolls under blankets in a bed.

From just the pictures, you couldn't understand what was happening. But the words that went with them were startling.

We were varying ages — all young — and could only giggle at what my dad read.

"No," we thought. "That doesn't really happen. People don't really do that."

It was inconceivable to us.

Often, children learn the facts or half-facts from friends and older brothers and sisters. Some of the older ones even delight in watching that painful young age in someone else.

My husband, Chris, for instance, did not make the teen-age years easy for his younger sisters.

When his youngest sister was about 15, for example, he drew a crude picture of a male human — with certain parts in anatomically incorrect positions on the body.

Then, he showed it to his mother and said, "Mother, you've got to have a talk with her. She drew this. She thinks this is what a man looks like. She needs your help."

His sister was mortified, but his mother was certain that she had a mission and insisted on explaining male anatomy to the poor girl, who did, in fact, know that much from science classes.

Jim's Jottings

This is a personal column about someone few of you have ever met. All of us who do know her cherish her.

Jean (Jeannie) Martin Sura passed away last week in Arizona after a 9 or 10 year fight with cancer. Fight is the right word. The comments of her doctor at Mayo Clinic in early September, as repeated to me by her son, Tom, tell much about her strength.

The doctor told Jeannie that through her spirit and medication she had been able to do about whatever she wanted. You've continued playing golf, you haven't given up much. Now the disease is taking over, he said.

What's my outlook, she asked? Wheelchair, cards, sitting outdoors he said. That's not good enough, was Jean's response.

Indeed, she went home and cooked dinner for her children and grandchildren, "continuing her patter of smart remarks," Tom said.

Jean and her husband, Eugene, talked it all out. "Who does this sound like?" Tom asked me. "I don't want any damn flowers. It will look like a funeral." That's Jeannie.

The Suras moved to Lake Orion in 1953. We first met them in 1955 shortly after we came here. It has been a continuous friendship. Both Suras have teaching degrees. Both are well read, intelligent, socially active, community minded and worked to help and heal others.

Jeannie edited our Clarkston News nearly 3 years. She wrote two columns a week and reported for The Lake Orion Review after that. Her wit and humanity made one column popular, her capabilities in the kitchen made her recipe columns well read.

"Active" could have been Jeannie's middle name. She went skiing at son Mike's place in Snow Mass, Colorado last year. The Suras skied all their lives, including doing ski patrol in Oakland County resorts and their second home at Sugar Loaf.

They were ardent golfers, being members at Indianwood in Lake Orion for years, and Sugar Loaf, and at their Arizona home in Leisure World. In her late 60s she took up singing, she never gave up party giving or party going.

She could organize people and parties as well as anyone and faster than most. She'd have something going for the kids as well as the adults often using only her enormous imagination, enthusiasm and energy. She passed those attributes along to her sons... she gave those same feelings to all of us when we were around her.

Jeannie got just about everything out of life she wanted to, mostly because she put so much into life. She and Gene lived in four places, and had lots of friends in all: Detroit, Lake Orion, Sugar Loaf and Mesa, AZ. All are richer for knowing Jean.

I never met anyone like Jeannie, and I mean it in the friendliest term. We loved the scrappy, witty, competitive Jeannie, and all of us who know her will miss her. We're so sorry it's a "30" for Jean Martin Sura.

Alcohol remains problem for teens

We are all aware of the increasing number of alcohol-related accidents involving teens. But it doesn't mean much until it touches someone you know and love. For me, this happened Oct. 28, in an accident that involved Clarkston High School senior Rick Davis.

Because of my personal friendship with Rick and his mother, Bonnie Valuet, I didn't know how I would respond when I was asked to interview Rick's friends, who were raking the leaves at the Valuet home while Rick remained in the hospital with serious head injuries.

When I arrived, I asked the kids why they were there.

"We are raking the yard because we love Rick and his mom," was the response I received.

The answer infuriated me; it just was not enough.

I tried to keep my professional wits about me. But I kept wondering if young adults really had love for their friends and their moms, even love for themselves and their parents, they would not be drinking and driving. They should not drink at all — legally and morally each kid who drinks and drives is in jeopardy, and at fault.

We have all been guilty of doing stupid things — not using common sense — but we all should know better about drinking and driving.

Young adults have everything to live for; they have been given every opportunity by their parents to learn, grow and experience only the best life has to give. Do they feel they are immortal and nothing will ever happen to them?

I hope they think again. They don't possess an inalienable right to mortality.

The schools have bent over backwards to bring speakers on the subjects of drugs and alcohol. Tom screamed at the teens; knowledgeable people from the area have spoken to them, and several groups have been started to help their every need. Several teens involved in Rick's accident are members of the high school Just Say No Club. Is it all in jest their response that they understand?

Young adults are the future, for themselves and for us older adults. We need them; we love them. As a mother who buried her son this summer, I don't want to see anymore senseless killing of our young people destroyed by the chemical culture our society has galloped into.

Show a success

Recently I did a magic show at Clintonwood Park as a part of Independence Township Parks and Recreation and Oakland County Parks and Recreation's Trilogy of Terror. There were many different groups and individuals who helped make the show a great success.

I would also like to extend a very special thank you to Dan Bailey, Tommy Myers and Kelly Land for their great work on stage and to Randy Herzog for the amount of time and the great ideas he contributed to the show. I'd also like to thank my parents.

The most special thank you I give to my fiance Lori Nelson for the time, energy, work, and dedication she put into the show on and off the stage. And also for putting up with me throughout the past few weeks.

Good to be home

Tracy

America may be the land of plenty, but I had always seen it differently.

The country's abundance seemed wasteful to me most of the time, and as I prepared to leave on a long trip to Europe, I scorned much of what I saw around me.

Crowded shopping malls blighted most views. Half-empty cars clogged the freeways, wasting precious resources. And patrons packed fast food restaurants, forgetting their discriminating palates.

I couldn't wait to arrive in Europe — now there was a land of authenticity. Europeans were naturally stylish; they would know how to eat nothing but the regional best. History would loom at every corner, and culture would practically be felt.

Europe didn't disappoint me.

The Parisians were chic; the Germans were hearty and jovial, and the Italians were passionate and aggressive.

The Swiss alps were breathtakingly beautiful, as was the view of the sea from atop the cliffs along the southern Italian coastline. The French architecture was consistently stunning, and the artistic accomplishments of every culture were truly amazing.

Yet after several weeks of traveling, when the European way had become my way, images of America began to filter back to me.

I remembered the comfort of my own home, reading newspapers on Sunday while eating French toast, which, paradoxically, could not be found in France. I missed nachos, baked potatoes and chicken breasts, simply prepared.

We became friendly with a family in Greece and were entertained in their home. Our host was a member of the Greek Army — an honorable position in that country — and his apartment was considered one of the more lavish in the city.

Still, there were no telephones, no multiple baths; and when I compared it with the homes of the well-to-do in this country, I was embarrassed at all that Americans take for granted.

I began to think of American skyscrapers and the throb of a city at midday. I thought of new, working plumbing, bountiful grocery produce departments and single family homes. America was indeed the land of plenty. And I was anxious to return.

Now, settling into the comfort of my desk at The Clarkston News, reviewing the competent jobs of reporters Carolyn Walker and Linda Walsh-Lapinski, who filled in for me in my absence, my older impressions of Europe seem faded.

I still shake my head at America's strip malls and still avoid fast food, but there are other things to appreciate; and it's good to be home.

Upholding husbandry

Jim
Fitzgerald

When my wife asked me why I was two hours late for dinner, I said I couldn't tell her because I had to protect the confidentiality of the husbandry.

She knew what I meant because, just a day earlier, we'd watched "The Final Days" on TV. It reminded us of how hard Richard Nixon worked to protect the confidentiality of the presidency.

I was also reminded of where I was and what I was doing when various astonishing aspects of the Watergate saga became news bulletins. On the Saturday night that special prosecutor Archibald Cox was fired, for instance, I was discussing world problems in a saloon in Port Huron. And, as though it were yesterday, I remember it was due to the inspiration of Richard Nixon that I realized it would be wrong to ever tell my wife where I was on that fateful evening in 1974.

It is important to understand that Nixon didn't participate in the Watergate cover-up to save his own skin. The reason he balked at making the Watergate tapes public wasn't to avoid disgracing himself and embarrassing his supporters. The purpose of his lies was not to keep his job and escape a possible prison term.

No, Nixon didn't ruin his political career in an unsuccessful attempt to prove he wasn't a crook. He did it all for future presidents, to save them from congressional inquiries, FBI investigations, and other "fishing expeditions" that violate the confidentiality of the presidency.

I feel the same way about the confidentiality of the husbandry. I don't care about myself, but it is my duty to think of the future. I don't want to set any precedents that would shatter the happiness of husbands yet unborn.

It is important to the security of the husbandry that wives not be allowed to go on fishing expeditions. Wives must be required to describe specifically the information they're seeking. They must not be allowed to paw through a husband's entire day on the pretense of investigating one alleged tardiness.

I can't be influenced by what the polls show concerning my loss of popularity in the bedroom. Oh, it would be easy for me to tell my wife everything I do when she isn't looking. But that would be cowardly. That would break faith with the husbandry.

Let me make one thing perfectly clear. I have done nothing wrong. I am not a philanderer or loiterer. I have nothing to hide. But when my wife asks such a general question as "Where were you?" I can't answer without endangering the peace of every man who, in the thousands of years to come, will shoulder the grave responsibilities of the husbandry.

A husband could miss the 9 a.m. train to work. That would set his entire day's schedule back one hour. The ultimate result is he arrives back home at 7 p.m. instead of 6 p.m. And his wife asks: "Where have you been?"

The wife really wants to know where the husband was at 6 p.m. when she expects him home. But this is not what she asked. Instead, she asked for an irrelevant review of his entire day. This type of haphazard investigation gnaws away at the very foundation of the husbandry.

The husband can't risk responding to such a scatter-gun inquisition. His answer would be subject to too many different interpretations.

To explain why he was late for dinner, the husband would also have to explain why he was late for every appointment that day, including lunch. The wife was not a party to this lunch and it has no bearing whatsoever upon her inquiry. It is none of her business that it took three hours.

Wives must clearly define the scope of their investigations. A proper question would be: "Were you late for dinner because you had to stop to save 16 orphan babies from drowning?"

To protect the confidentiality of the husbandry, the husband should answer no questions that can't be answered with a simple yes or no.

Onward and Upward. And thank you, Mr. President.

The first ever Mother-Son Dance sponsored by Independence Township Parks and Recreation was such an overwhelming success that a second dance had to be added.

Two lucky winners were escorted to the dance by limousine. Jordan Barclay, Jeff Carpenter and their escorts were treated to the ride of their young lives.

A total of 130 moms and sons took advantage of the opportunity and danced and partied the nights of Oct. 18 and 19 away.

Our special thanks go out to all the people who made donations to this very special event. It is our intent to offer many more special events of this nature to help parents and their children spend more quality time together. The moms and sons decked out in their finest smiles sure made this a truly special event.

The Clarkston Athletic Boosters sponsored the garbage bag sale for athletes to help offset their pay-to-play costs.

Due to shortages from the supplier, we have not been able to fill all orders. The supplier assures us that we will receive our shipment shortly. We apologize to all for the inconvenience this has caused.

Let coach coach

Recently, I have read with interest all of the letters regarding the quarterback situation. This whole thing brings back memories of when I use to scout and coach at Clarkston High. Those were the glory days when Clarkston would win week in and week out by more than 30 points.

The next head coach was not as dynamic but worked as hard as anyone I know and continued to win. In every situation, parents of Clarkston would get involved in the football team.

Parents have no reason to get involved in the operations of the football team. The reason behind football is to give young men learning experiences that can be applied toward life. Life is unfair, and all individuals must adjust to change.

In closing, I want to say that Coach Richardson is completely correct in starting the younger player. The reason for this is that the younger player has the future years to develop even greater abilities.

So if you don't start the younger player you are truly hurting him more. These decisions are hard, but a coach with strong moral courage plays the younger player. Parents of Clarkston let the coach coach!

Donald J. Campe,
California

If you traveled by Clintonwood Park the week of Oct. 23, you probably were treated to shrieks, screams, moans and groans. Clintonwood Park was haunted with our first annual Trilogy of Terror. More than 1300 brave souls were lead through our haunted forest, houses and mazes. From the screams and shouts heard from those that dared enter, the Trilogy of Terror was a haunting success.

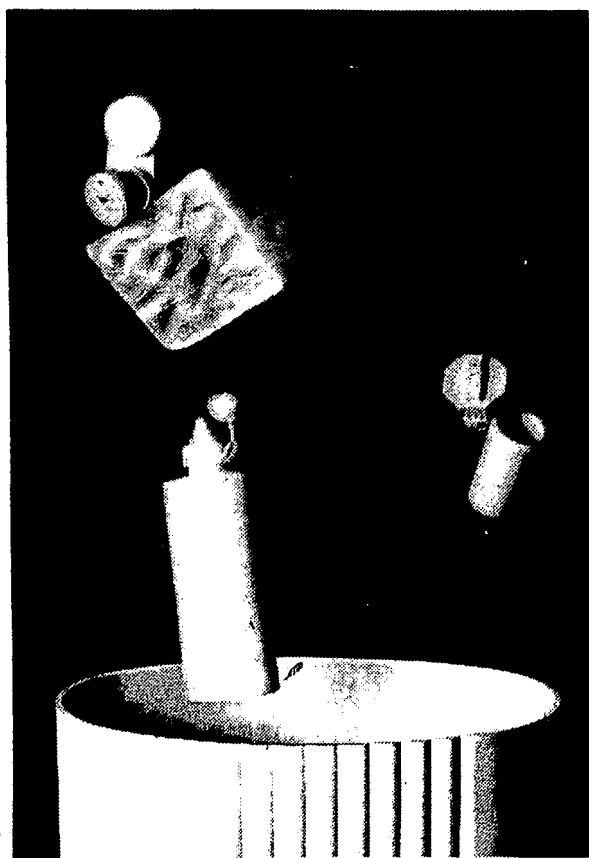

The Mystery of Magic presented by Ashley and Company also added an element of magic to the event. Unfortunately, we could have taken through twice as many participants, but time did not allow. Next year provisions are being made to expand the numbers.

In keeping with the Halloween spirit, a Halloween Hop was held at Springfield Oaks Activity Center for mentally impaired adults. From all the smiles and laughter, you could tell a good time was had by all. This year's event was enjoyed by more than 250. Again, donations received for this event were instrumental in making it special.

Fall peril for pets

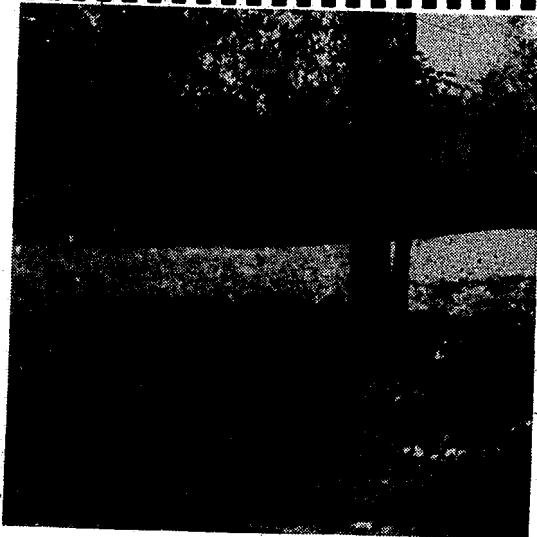

Winterizing the family vehicle can pose a serious threat to pets, wildlife and children.

A task as routine as changing the anti-freeze in the radiator can be deadly if the waste is not handled properly.

The main ingredient in anti-freeze is ethylene glycol, a highly toxic substance with a "sweet taste." When the used product is left lying in an open container, its appealing taste can attract animals and children. Ethylene glycol (anti-freeze) is so highly toxic that even a very small amount can be fatal to an animal.

If you suspect your pet has ingested anti-freeze, contact your veterinarian immediately. Prompt treatment is of the utmost importance.

This type of tragedy can be prevented if you dispose of used anti-freeze in leak-proof containers with child-proof tops and thoroughly flush areas where anti-freeze may have spilled. Be sure to rinse out all containers that may have contained anti-freeze as well.

lated at 28 percent. The vote against Proposal A was cast with 1,640 voting no and 200 voting yes. Proposal B was defeated with 1,685 voting no and 124 voting yes.

Proposal A, in part, calls for an increase in the sales/use tax from 4 cents to 4 1/2 cents per dollar and constitutionally dedicates funds for local schools.

Proposal B, calls for an increase in the sales/use tax to 6 cents per dollar, reduces school property taxes, sets permanent school operating millages not subject to voter renewal and constitutionally dedicates funds for local schools.

The $2 million bond issue defeated in Independence Township would have been used to construct a new public safety complex to house the township's central fire station, a substation for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and possibly a Clarkston post of the Michigan State Police.

Travels with Carrie

Lesson in comparative shopping in Hong Kong

Note: Tom and Carrie Wilford are son and daughter-in-law to Jerome and Lucia Wilford of North Main Street in Clarkston. Tom is also a Clarkston High School graduate. Before leaving on their year-long journey around the world in December, the couple visited The Clarkston News and promised to send regular updates on their travel adventures. This letter is the sixth of their travelogue.

"Hong Kong is the most capitalistic city in the world." — Corney Chow, an American businessman living in Bali.

Bali has been our wonderful island home for 6 1/2 weeks, with only a few days left on our Indonesian visa we reluctantly left Ubud, Bali. On July 15th, we flew to Hong Kong.

We were accustomed to the slow pace of Bali, to living on slow motion Bali time. We arrived in Hong Kong and immediately needed to make adjustments to the fast pace of the city. Hong Kong can be fascinating, or it can be overwhelming. We found it to be a bit of both.

Shopping in Hong Kong can be amazing in the vast amount and varieties of goods available. But the shopper in Hong Kong will soon find out that Chinese merchants can be very rude. Competition in Hong Kong is so fierce that merchants have little patience for the window shopper. There is no such thing as fixed prices. Buying a camera in Hong Kong can become an exhausting exercise in comparative price shopping.

Although Hong Kong is known for shopping, there are other attractions. For me, the most favorite of Hong Kong's attractions is the White Star Ferry Line. You can purchase a ferry boat ticket for six cents second class, lower deck or splurge and for nine cents buy a first class upper deck.

Once aboard, you are transported across busy Hong Kong Harbor. The sights you see are exotic. A Chinese junk silently sails by, a speedy water taxi cuts across the bow, giant ocean-going cargo boats silhouetted against the sunset, glass skyscrapers on Hong Kong Island turn golden reflecting the last rays of the day's sunshine.

At night, Hong Kong is bright lights and neon. The narrow streets that during the day are packed with people seem even more populated at night. The workers of Hong Kong's sweat shops come out at night. In the past, Hong Kong, because of its strong economy, has attracted people expire, and what will happen afterwards is the subject of considerable speculation. The mood in Hong Kong these days is tense. The average Hong Kong citizen believes that when the Chinese government reclaims Hong Kong their lives will change for the worse.

We arrived in Hong Kong just five weeks following the massacre in Tiananmen Square, Beijing. Hong Kong University students were selling sets of photo postcards with scenes of Beijing before and after the massacre in Tiananmen Square. People were waiting in several lines to buy these postcards.

On Monday, July 19, Typhoon Gordon barely missed hitting Hong Kong. Hotels and restaurants had posted meteorological updates. As the typhoon approached, strong gusts of wind blew down construction scaffolding and blew out windows. Then it rained, and rained and rained.

Carrie and I were a bit nervous; the windows in our hotel room rattled, but none was broken. The following afternoon the storm had passed, but the damage to crops in the countryside, boats and buildings caused by high winds, savage seas, falling trees and floods was very expensive.

The peninsula hotel in Hong Kong is world famous. A friend in Bali gave us a letter of introduction to the hotel manager of the peninsula, and he invited us to have high tea in the elegant hotel lobby.

Because of his position he said that he could arrange for us to spend a night in the peninsula at half price of the regular tariff. We declined his generous offer, for, even at half off, the cost for one night's lodging at the peninsula would be $185 (U.S. dollars, not Hong Kong).

A special highlight in Hong Kong was checking at the American Express office for our mail and discovering 45 letters from family and friends.

After five days in Hong Kong, on July 20th, we flew to the Philippines.

All the best Clarkston.

Tom Wilford

Letter to Editor

from surrounding Asian countries.

Once in Hong Kong, the new immigrant discovers that living conditions are very crowded. The work place often times is appalling. The toys and garments made in Hong Kong frequently are produced in what is known as a sweat shop.

Land is scarce in Hong Kong; sweat shops are usually found in high-rise apartment buildings. Several workers are crammed into a room with poor ventilation and no fire escapes. One of life's tragedies is that Hong Kong is notorious for fires occurring in sweat shops.

Since 1842, Hong Kong has been a British Crown Colony. In 1898 Britain was given a 99-year lease by the Chinese government to 948 square kilometers of the new territories. On July 1, 1997, this lease agreement will

Raise the flag for the veterans

Americans will be raising their flags on Saturday, Nov. 11, in recognition of Veterans Day, a day to honor all who served in United States wars.

Originally called Armistice Day, the holiday was first recognized in the United States, Great Britain and France on Nov. 11, 1918, to celebrate the ending of World War I. After the armistice, it became a day of remembrance for all war casualties from those countries. In 1945, the observance was expanded to include World War II casualties.

With the end of the Korean War in 1954, the day officially was proclaimed Veterans Day in the United States. However, from 1971 to 1977 it was observed on the fourth Monday in October. This date, which separated the holiday from the original anniversary of the armistice, proved unpopular. The official observance of Veterans Day was returned to Nov. 11 in 1978.

Traditionally, the day is filled with parades and tributes to servicemen and women. Also, a national commemoration service is held at Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va.

HOW MUCH CAN YOU SPEND ON A HOME?

When buyers, particularly those purchasing for the first time, decide to buy a home, they must first determine how much they can afford to spend, says Sharon Mayworm, Broker of MainStreet USA.

"There are three crucial factors involved in determining your spending range," says Sharon Mayworm. "These are: the size of your down payment, the closing costs and your ability to qualify for a loan," she continues.

MainStreet USA is a member of RELO/The International Relocation Network, the nation's oldest and largest referral network of independent real estate brokers. The RELO network, headquartered in Chicago, provides a wide range of relocation services to help transferees and their families sell a house in one community and purchase a home in the new community.

To figure out the size of your down payment, first figure out your net worth. Mayworm says this will help you determine how much you will have left over to meet your expenses once you have moved.

"Although how much you pay and how much you put down each will be determined by the lender who finances your purchase, it is worthwhile to figure out how much you could comfortably pay without putting too much stress on your monthly installments," she notes.

According to Mayworm, there are many loan alternatives available to home buyers. She describes a few.

*Conventional loans, loans not insured or guaranteed by the government, require borrowers to make a minimum down payment of approximately 20 percent.

*A loan insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) usually requires a down payment equal to about 5 percent of the home's appraised value and carries interest slightly below those of conventional loans.

*Financing with 5 to 10 percent down is available if you purchase private mortgage insurance (PMI). This insurance works much like the FHA program, but the insurance is purchased from a private company.

"Not all your money will be applied toward the down payment," Mayworm warns. "More than likely, thousands of dollars will be used to pay closing costs, a major expense many first-time buyers overlook," she adds.

Closing costs fall into two categories: costs associated with making the loan and expenses linked to the actual transfer of property from the seller to you, Mayworm explains.

The last of the three crucial factors is your ability to qualify for a loan.

"The size of your down payment, the interest rate on the mortgage and your income are all important factors in determining how large a loan you can get," says Mayworm. "Interest rates and income will also determine the size of your monthly payment and also the highest monthly payment you can handle," she concludes.

Woman injured in bowling alley crash

A two-car collision in the parking lot of the Cherry Hill Lanes North Bowling Alley, Dixie Highway, Independence Township, injured an Independence Township woman Nov. 4.

Margaret Ann Gretz, 44, of Timber Ridge, was driving south through the parking lot about 8:40 a.m. last Saturday when her car collided with a westbound car driven by Christopher James Chamberlain, 18, of Farley, Springfield Township.

Both drivers had failed to see the other approach because of a high cement retaining wall, according to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Gretz was treated and released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. A passenger in her car was not injured; both were wearing their seat belts when the collision occurred.

Christopher, who suffered only minor injuries in the crash, was also wearing his seat belt.

No charges were filed against either driver.

Fouls, Mott push Wolves to limit

RHONDA JOKISCH leaps high to score a basket over a Lake Orion defender in an earlier contest. Jokisch continued to excel on the hardcourt against Mott last week.

McKoin, Jokisch spearhead attack

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Coach Larry Mahrle stood for most of the fourth quarter, anxiously barking defensive assignments to the varsity basketball team Friday night.

The Wolves were hosting Greater Oakland Activities League rival Waterford Mott and were in danger of letting a lead slip away late in the game.

In the end, the home team prevailed. Clarkston escaped with a 37-33 victory. Not until the buzzer sounded, however, could Mahrle relax -- knowing victory was in hand.

"You are going to run into this type of game over the course of the season," the coach said. "We got into foul trouble; ... good solid defense won it for us in the second half."

Despite the good defense, Mott outscored Clarkston 23-17 after the intermission to make a game of it. Three starters, McKoin, Celeste Steinhelper and Jenny McChesney were in foul trouble.

Clarkston's record is now 8-1 in the GOAL and 17-1 overall. Two games remain in the regular season.

Susan McKoin was the leading scorer for the Wolves with 15 points. Rhonda Jokisch, the only double figure scorer, had 13 points and 15 rebounds.

Mott was hot from the free-throw line (three-of-three) in the early moments of the game, while Clarkston's was not (two-of-six), and it helped the visitors take a 5-2 lead.

A short jumper by Jodi Lopucki with 3:46 to play in the first was Clarkston's first basket of the night and gave the Wolves their first lead at 6-5.

Clarkston then proceeded to score eight unanswered points. McKoin had a bucket, then stole a pass and fed Steinhelper for a basket. Jokisch had a hand in the next two baskets, first scoring herself and then dishing off to Steinhelper under the basket for an easy score.

Mott closed the first quarter by hitting two free throws. Clarkston led 14-7.

After sinking five straight free throws in the opening quarter, the Corsairs of Mott did a 180-degree turnaround and converted only one-of-10 attempts in the second quarter. Clarkston was a little better at the line, making good on four-of-seven attempts. The Wolves led 20-10 at the half.

Mott, rapidly gaining momentum in the third quarter, forced a Clarkston timeout with 4:03 to play in the quarter. At the time, the Wolves were hanging onto a 24-18 lead.

After three quarters, Clarkston High still held a comfortable advantage at 29-22. The Wolves still had that seven-point bulge with 2:32 to play before a Mott surge made it exciting in the end. Clarkston helped out by missing the front end of four straight one-and-one attempts.

Clarkston finished the game converting 17-of-34 free throws. Mott was 11-of-24.

The Wolves host West Bloomfield Tuesday and Brandon Friday night. Junior varsity game time is 5:30 p.m. for both contests. District play begins at Clarkston on Monday, Nov. 13.

Laurie stops 28

Rob Laurie continues to play well for the Western Michigan University hockey team, despite picking up his first loss of the year.

The sophomore goalie from Independence Township made 28 saves, but the Bowling Green Falcons won 9-7 on Saturday, Oct. 28. Laurie is 2-1 on the season with an .847 saves percentage and a 4.35 goals against average.

Kalamazoo-based Western Michigan, ranked one of the top 15 teams in the nation in two national polls, is 5-1 overall and 3-1 in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association, good for fifth place.

Clarkston Force wins 29 trophies

With 29 trophies for 21 members, the Clarkston Force karate team once again proved its worth at the 19th annual U.S. Open Tae Kwon Do Karate Championships recently.

The 25 members who competed in Akron, Ohio, on Saturday, Oct. 28, make up just five percent of the 460 people enrolled in Joe Sanders' Clarkston Community Education program -- yet they brought home 15 percent of the trophies awarded.

The Force won 13 firsts, eight seconds and eight thirds. A list of winners follows:

Linda Childers (2nd in form, 1st in fighting), Brian Childers (2nd in fighting), Eric Engelhard (1st in form, 1st in fighting), Michael Gochenour (2nd in form, 3rd in fighting), Denise Schulz (2nd in form, 1st in fighting, 3rd in breaking), Joseph Cuthbertson (1st in form, 1st in fighting, 1st in breaking), Justin Viner (1st in fighting), Paul Cuthbertson (2nd in form, 3rd in fighting), Phil Cuthbertson (3rd in form, 1st in fighting, 1st in breaking), Rickey Goeckel (1st in form), Robbie Goeckel (3rd in fighting), Eric Corbett (3rd in form, 2nd in fighting), Chris Hamilton (2nd in form, 1st in fighting), Bobby Schultz (3rd in fighting), Ian McCluskey (3rd in fighting), Jeremy Moore (1st in fighting.)

John Webb, James Fogarty, Jeff Lund and Tom McCloskey also participated.

JV hoopsters lose

Despite getting nine points from Stacey Secatch and Stacey Tinkis, the junior varsity basketball team lost to Waterford Mott Friday night.

The Corsairs won 39-35 to drop Clarkston's record to 11-7. In addition to the top scorers, Sharry Bronson had seven points and Leslie Allen 15 rebounds for the Wolves.

A week earlier, the junior varsity team topped Lake Orion on the road 29-27. Jennifer Gill led the team with 10 points. Allen added eight.

Athletic fee due Nov. 14

Clarkston students in grades 9-12 who want to play winter sports are required to pay the $164 fee on Tuesday, Nov. 14, between 2:30 and 7 p.m. at Clarkston High School.

Checks should be payable to Clarkston Community Schools, said Paul Tungate, athletic director.

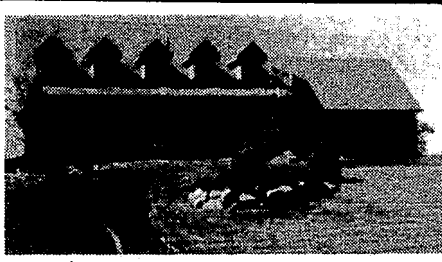

Students who don't make a sports team will get a refund, he said. For more information, call 625-0900.

Time Out

Prediction time

Peter Auchter

By the time you read this, the Clarkston High girls basketball team will be readying for its final regular season game (Brandon, Friday about 7 p.m.). What a season it has been. (What else can be said?)

Despite its 17-1 overall, 8-1 league records, the team has had its share of troubles during the course of the season but has fought through them consistently.

Starter Susan McKoin was out for 1 1/2 weeks with an ankle injury; Tami Mitchell went down for the year with a knee injury, and intermittent free-throw troubles have haunted the Wolves but have yet to cost them a game.

With the way the playoff system works -- everybody gets in -- anything can happen. Hopefully, the Wolves will prosper in the second season as they are now.

It will be interesting to see if Clarkston is matched up with arch-rival Waterford Kettering somewhere down the road (it won't be in district play this year). The teams split their season series as they usually do. We need a tiebreaker to decide who's really the best. May it will come in the playoffs. Those of us in search of a good basketball game (darn, those Piston tickets are hard to come by) will certainly have our fingers crossed.

Speaking of those world champion Detroit Pistons, I might as well throw in my two-cents worth since its time for predictions. (For fun, cut this article out of the paper and keep it in a safe place until April. Maybe you could keep it inside your physics book. It's got to be good for something. Anyway, in April you can look back and see how right -- or wrong -- I am. Or was. Whatever it ends up being.)

With the way things look now, as of this writing, the Pistons should repeat as NBA champions. I see little trouble in winning the division title but a lot of stormy times ahead in the playoffs. Most of the series should go the limit. It'll be a dogfight to the very end. But the Pistons will remain superior. Unless serious injury should befall more than two of the team's top nine players. Then this prediction shall be rendered null and void.

In the West, I think the San Antonio Spurs will make a lot of noise this year thanks to David Robinson but need maybe another year of seasoning before they can challenge the Lakers. (Remember the Pistons of a few years ago?)

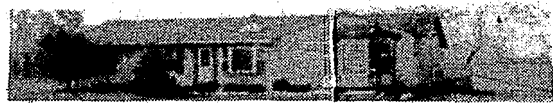

So, I guess that leaves the Lakers to face the Pistons in June. Grab your playoff tickets now. It should be a dandy. And this time, there will be no complaints when we take the title.

Remember you read it here (along with a couple of hundred other places) that the Pistons will win it all.

Early prediction: The Detroit Tigers will not win the World Series next year. They also won't finish last. (How's that for a safe bet?)

State meet ends successful year for 2 harriers

Both Clarkston High runners entered in Saturday's cross country state finals, one in the boys race and one in the girls, finished 28th best.

Jason Wenger and Sonya Schaffer represented the Wolves at the state meet in Flint. Wenger ran the 3.1-mile course in 16 minutes, 46 seconds. Only two Greater Oakland Activities League runners ran faster. (Dionne Finney of Pontiac Northern and Dennis Ryba of Lake Orion.) Schaffer finished in 20:15. The only GOAL rival to beat her was Mary Mick of Waterford Mott.

"Both Jason and Sonya did a fine job this season and have represented Clarkston very well," said Coach Mike Taylor.

In the team competition, Detroit Catholic Central won the boys title; Ann Arbor Pioneer was second, Milford third (also third in same regional as Clarkston), Lakeland was fourth (second in Clarkston's regional) and Holly ninth (first in Clarkston's regional).

West Bloomfield won the girls' title; Ann Arbor Pioneer was second.

At the cross country team's banquet Tuesday night, Wenger was named the Most Valuable Player. Todd Wozniak won the Most Improved Player award.

"Todd has gone from being a complete rookie to 30th place in the toughest region in the state," the coach said. "He is a much more confident and aggressive runner. He never let us down."

Since the start of the season Wozniak has lowered his time from nearly 20 minutes to 17:09.

While Coach Taylor admits everyone on the team was a serious candidate for the MVP award, Wenger's quiet leadership abilities helped the team the most, he said.

"He has worked hard to become a top-notch runner," the coach said. "As a three-time varsity letter winner he has helped build this team into one of the top teams in the state."

In his sophomore year, the boys did not win a meet. Next year, Clarkston had an average team. In 1989, the Wolves won the GOAL title.

Schaffer earned a three-year plaque at the banquet. She was the lone runner for the girls team this season due to the pay-for-play system. But that didn't hinder her performance one bit, the coach said.

"Sonya has been one of the very best athletes to ever run at Clarkston High School," he said. "I have lost track of how many times she has been All-League or how many medals she has won."

Parks and recreation director sets 2 new records

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Ann Conklin, 33, mostly likes to dig in and work. But lately, she's added speeches and extra administrative duties to her already busy schedule as director of the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

In February, she became the first female and the youngest person ever to hold the position of president of the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association (MRPA), a group comprised of parks and recreation directors from across the state.

Ironically, it was former Independence parks and recreation director Timothy Doyle who encouraged her in the MRPA, she said.

Parks and recreation is generally a male-dominated field, and Conklin was uncomfortable with all the fuss that accompanied her election by her peers, she said.

"I don't like that," she said. "I'd rather be known as a respected professional. Who cares about my gender? I'm more proud of being the youngest person elected."

"I think it's more important to earn it through your work and reputation. ... I'd be offended if someone came up to me and said, 'I voted for you because you're a woman.'"

In new her position, Conklin must act as spokesperson for the group, so she's quickly learning to cope with media duties and lots of travel. But she still has to perform functions of her township job.

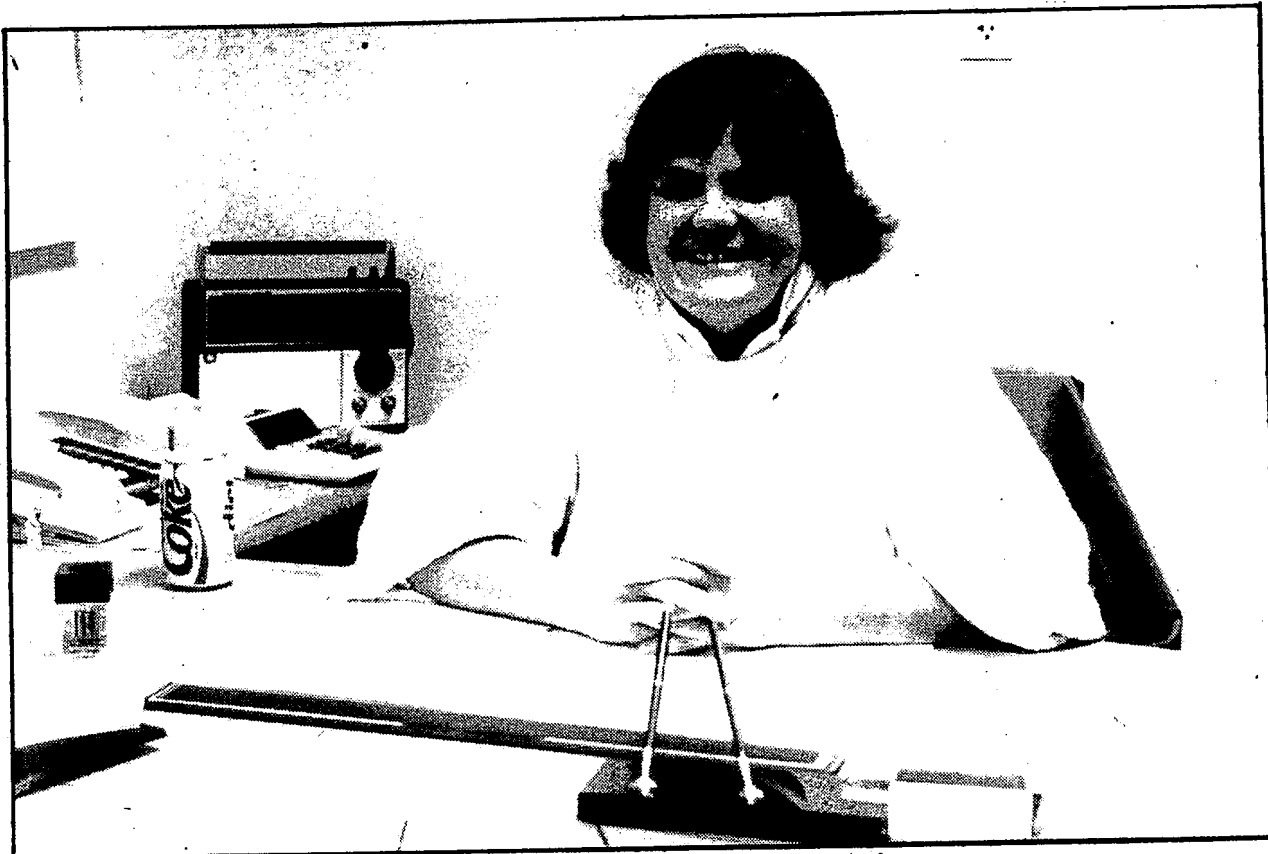

Fortunately, she's used to working hard. She and her brothers and sisters were raised to give their best effort, she said.

"It was never stressed to be a high achiever; it was just 'Do the best you can,'" Conklin said.

That attitude goes with her chosen career.

"We're a very intense breed," she said. "We work hard because it's the nature of our business. ... We're basically a pretty close-knit organization."

Conklin, who lives in Lancaster Apartments, Independence Township, said she enjoys the Clarkston area.

ANN CONKLIN of Independence Township is adjusting well to her term as the youngest president ever for the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association. "People still call me a little bit green behind the ears," she says with a laugh.

The Independence Township Board has been particularly enjoyable to work with, she said.

"I like the support that they give, not only to parks and recreation but to the public sector," she said.

A fan of the Tigers and the Pistons, Conklin also likes to travel and spend time with her family. She's a member of St. Daniel Catholic Church and also finds time for cross country and downhill skiing and walking.

The parks and open areas of the area are another reason Independence is a good place to be, she said.

"Clintonwood Park is probably one of the nicest in the state," she said. "I think it's a real tribute to the community."

Athlete-student-conductor leads busy college life

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Tom Ruelle, son of William and Dorothy Ruelle of Maybee Road, Independence Township, could be a candidate for a modern Renaissance man.

At 22, he is a senior at Saginaw Valley State College, University Center, majoring in physical education with minors in music, art and psychology; and he carries a 3.1 grade point average.

A Clarkston High School graduate, he attends Saginaw Valley on a football scholarship and plays offensive guard.

Not to feel stifled in one activity, Tom also played a year of baseball (he would have played more, but the "Coach Wyniemko really helped me and guided me. He's the one who made me want to go to college. Me and my brother both want to go into education because of him."

football coach frowned on that) and was all conference and all district in the javelin throw on the indoor track team.

On the outdoor track team, he added the hammer and discus to his javelin throw — despite never having participated in track and field events, except for the shotput in seventh and eighth grades at Sasabaw Junior High School.

This year — now that football is over — he plans to play baseball and participate in track and field events.

A tuba and low bass player at Clarkston High, Tom played trombone at college and was a member of the jazz band. He also sang and is now conducting at St. Matthew's church in Milwaukee.

He also works in the weight room at the college's new Ryder Fitness Center and holds a part-time job at Powerhouse Gym.

Plus, he and his girlfriend, Cindy Gieger, were elected to represent their peers on the homecoming court at Saginaw.

Tom has a simple way to keep track of his busy events. "I sit down and think on Sunday night; I organize my schedule," he says. "It keeps me out of trouble. I have more than enough time than I need."

He is handsome and energetic. Even sitting in a chair, talking about his activities, he gives the impression of motion. Perhaps it is the intensity of his voice or the tense position of his muscles — as if he were ready to run at any moment.

He is also modest and grateful to those who have helped him along the way.

At Clarkston High, there were music teacher Grayce Warren and band teacher Cliff Chapman.

Then there was baseball coach "Pops" Warner, for whom he played right field.

And football coach Walt Wyniemko was an inspiration to himself, as well as his twin brother, Jim, he says.

"Coach Wyniemko really helped me and guided me," Tom says. "He's the one who made me want to go to college. Me and my brother both want to go into education because of him."

One year, Tom was home for a week for teacher observation — a requirement in his education courses.

He chose to observe Wyniemko, and while he was watching him coach after school, CHS alumnus Steve Wycoff showed up.

Wycoff, a record-holding CHS high jumper as well as a former javelin thrower at Saginaw Valley, gave Tom a two-day lesson in the proper form for javelin throwing.

Tom practiced then "wowed" the track and field team when he debuted at Saginaw Valley. He beat the throws of people who had been throwing for four and five years, he says.

Wycoff was a great help — plus the form is similar to the throws he used to make from right field to home plate, he says.

Now weighing a solid 225 pounds, Tom says he has another goal in sight — to slim down to 205 pounds and compete in a decathlon.

He'll probably be singing while he works out.

TOM RUELLE and his girlfriend, Cindy Gieger, 20, of Bad Axe were elected to represent their peers on the homecoming court at Saginaw Valley. A senior, Tom and his twin brother, Jim, faced off for the last time on the gridiron when Saginaw Valley played Hillsdale in football. After graduation, Tom plans to immediately enter graduate school.

CAYA PLUS program needs 'a few good men'

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Garry Pullins likens his work in the PLUS program with the advertising slogan of the United States Marine Corps.

"We are always looking for a few good men," said Pullins, with a smile. Clarkston Area Youth Assistance social worker currently is searching for men to volunteer for PLUS, a local organization that operates like the Big Brother/Big Sister program.

Men, and women, from their 20s on up have volunteered to spend time with children in the Clarkston area, filling in the need for a role model in single-parent homes, since 1979. Pullins would like to see that tradition continued into the 1990s and beyond.

"We (began the PLUS program) to better serve the kids in our community," said Pullins from his small office above the senior center in Clintonwood Park. "But we have run into the same problem as the national group."

That problem is lack of men volunteering. While women volunteers also are needed, finding men has proved to be more difficult, Pullins said.

Currently there are six matches, but three boys are on the waiting list. Some have been on the list for two years. Personal characteristics of the three boys follows:

* One is 14 and enjoys swimming, bowling, putt-putt golfing, camping, rollerskating, drawing, biking and woodworking.

* Another is 12 and enjoys baseball, hunting, football, fishing, bowling, movies, animals and camping.

* The third is nine and enjoys sledding, biking, kites, rollerskating, baseball and constructing models.

Volunteers who enter the PLUS program choose their child from lists similar to the one above. The system isn't first-come, first-serve. Some kids are left on the waiting list for years because a suitable match can't be found, said Pullins.

Before a person can volunteer to be a big brother or big sister, he or she is thoroughly checked out beforehand. A home visit, three personal references, police check and two training sessions are required.

Volunteers also are asked to stay with the program for at least a year to provide the child with a little stability in his life.

"Ideally they make contact on a weekly basis to let the child know they are interested," said Pullins. "Hopefully they will get comfortable, so kids can let problems they couldn't otherwise talk about be known."

Area businesses and organizations have donated time and money to PLUS. The Clarkston Jaycees, for example, sponsor an annual Christmas party. All attempts are made to keep out-of-pocket expenses at a minimum for volunteers, Pullins said.

Anyone interested in joining the PLUS program should contact Clarkston Area Youth Assistance at 625-3330.

"There is never a problem," matching kids to volunteers, said Pullins.

Park permit makes good holiday gift

Hard-to-buy-for people often stump shoppers searching for the perfect gift. Holiday shoppers can get a jump on the season with a gift that keeps giving — an annual vehicle permit for the Oakland County Parks.

With the permits, outdoor enthusiasts can enjoy recreational opportunities at three Oakland County Parks.

During the winter, Addison Oaks (north of Rochester) and Independence Oaks (Clarkston) offer cross-country skiing on groomed hills. Equipment rental, ski lessons, ice skating and ice fishing also are available.

In spring, summer and fall, the annual vehicle permit allows daily entry to Addison Oaks, Independence

Oaks and Groveland Oaks, near Holly. Park visitors can rent a canoe, rowboat or pedalboat for fishing or exercise; swim or sunbathe at sandy beaches; ride a waterslide; visit the nature center; hike a trail or enjoy a family picnic.

The permits sell for $16 for Oakland County residents ($8 for each additional permit) and $26 for non-residents. They are available at Addison Oaks and Independence Oaks county parks or at the Oakland County Parks and Recreation administrative offices in Pontiac.

As an extra bonus, 1990 passes are valid this November and December as well.

Director plans 1,500-square-foot library addition

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

If everything goes smoothly, area residents could be using a new library addition in 1991, said James Hibler, Independence Township Library director.

"Things are going ahead as planned," said Hibler. "There's a lot of planning involved."

In November last year, voters approved a $2 million bond issue to cover the cost of the 15,000-square-foot addition to the existing 3,900-square-foot building

"It's a one-of-a-kind item.
It's unique to our community."

on Clarkston Road.

Eventually, voters will be asked to approve an operating millage, too, Hibler said.

In the past year, Hibler, his staff and community members have comprised a research committee to figure out the best features for Independence's library.

They visited new or improved libraries in such communities as Orion Township, Bloomfield Township, Taylor, Troy, Plymouth, Hartland, Milford and Canton; and they talked with officials from libraries such as Ann Arbor and Howell, which are in the process of being improved.

They've compiled a list of 18 architects and hope to choose one in the next month or two, he said.

As for the plans, officials from other libraries had lots of advice, said Hibler.

Officials from every library said they should have included more meeting space. Orion Township has one large room, but officials said they could have used two. Bloomfield has three, but all are constantly in use.

Since Independence's new library addition is supposed to take the township well into the 21st century, Hibler is considering two meeting rooms — one that possibly could be separated into two and one that may serve as a cultural room, with original artwork.

"We're actually building a library for what will be needed in the year 2009," he said, adding that they're trying to anticipate future technology.

The facility will need all of the electrical capabilities to house the increasingly electronic storage of materials. Plus, it needs to serve the needs of children, elderly and handicapped — and the staff.

"As a professional librarian, I can see we need a facility that's inviting to people — one where people can find their way inside very easily, where they can help themselves," Hibler said.

Committee members are considering floor coverings, furniture and fixtures, as well as traffic patterns and logical, easy-to-use placement of materials. They've seen libraries made of brick, wood, metal and glass.

"Our community has extensive historical roots, so we might lean toward a facility that has more of a historical feel to it," he said, adding that traditional building materials, such as wood, would give a more welcoming atmosphere than flashy, high-tech materials.

Another important component is the local history room funded by the Clarkston Community Historical Society, Hibler said.

All in all, the preparations are falling in line, he said.

"It's really exciting. The staff and the people we've talked to are excited," he said.

Teacher recall, asbestos on school board agenda

The regularly scheduled Clarkston Board of Education meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 13, at the administrative offices, 6389 Clarkston Rd., Independence Township.

The agenda includes: the recall of one teacher and asbestos at the Clarkston Community Education Center.

Renovation celebration

The Springfield Township Library will be having a "renovation celebration" 2-4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 11, including refreshments.

The Library Board and staff will be on hand to greet the public, who will be able to see the newly-sided exterior. The library is located at 10900 Andersonville Rd., Springfield Township. For more information, call 625-0595.

Got a story idea? Call 625-3370.

Library facts

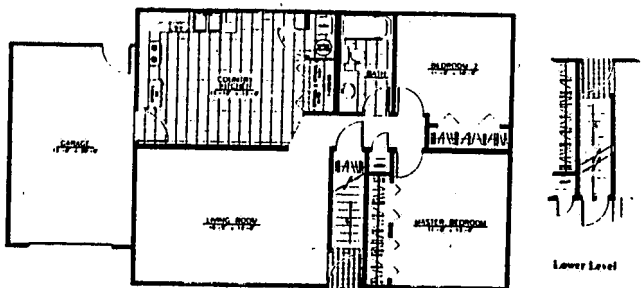

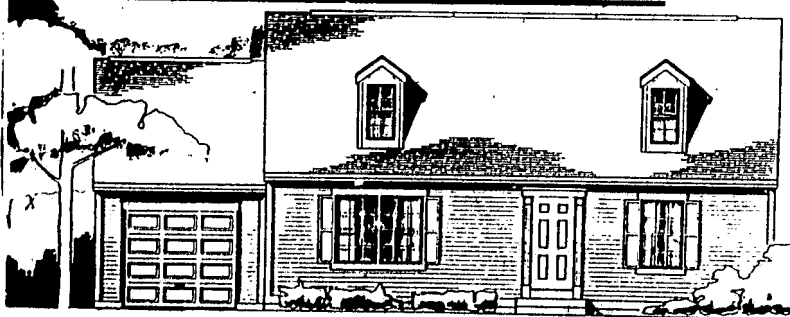

The Independence Township Library was built with private contributions and no taxpayer money in 1969.

At that time, population was around 12,000; annual circulation was 26,000 items, and the book collection numbered 9,750 volumes. There were 24 parking spaces and 20 seats, and the building measured 3,900 square feet.

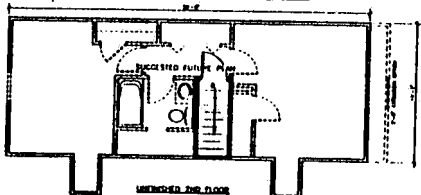

In 1988, the population served was about 28,000, with 100,000 annual circulation, 20,000 volumes, 28 seats, 35 parking spaces and still 3,900 square feet of space.

In the year 2000, the population probably will be around 40,000, with 200,000 annual circulation, 110,000 books, and a need for 24,000 square feet, 140 seats and 100 parking spaces.

Independence library director elected to 12-member council

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

James Hibler, director of the Independence Township Library for over 10 years, has found himself in the middle of an "information explosion."

"It's exciting," said the Independence Township resident. "This is a really rapidly-changing profession

"It's exciting. This is a really rapidly-changing profession and one that's becoming more necessary to people in society."

and one that's becoming more necessary to people in society."

He listed the literacy problem in America and the services libraries provide to children and to adults for pleasure and recreation and personal development.

"People are going to be relying more and more on libraries in the future," he said. "People are furthering their education on their own. They're developing themselves."

Hibler is doing all he can to meet the needs. He was recently elected to the newly-formed Advisory Council of Wayne Oakland Library Federation.

One of 12 members, Hibler represents 18 medium-sized libraries. Elected by his peers, he received the most votes and was appointed to a three-year term.

"It's an honor to be elected by my peers, but it serves a useful function," he said. "I wanted to be certain our community was served."

The federation is comprised of about 60 libraries, and usually the larger libraries had the most say, he said.

The new council "is really good because up until now, there hasn't been this type of mechanism for the members to have their say," Hibler said.

The council is to advise on administrative policies and procedures and budget matters.

"This is a responsible council," he said. "It will have a lot of say in what services libraries will provide in the next decade."

The biggest issue facing public libraries is automation, said Hibler.

One goal is to provide a computer system to connect all the communities involved, which would offer a combined catalog and would speed up the delivery of materials between libraries.

Another challenge is the rapidly changing methods of storing information in this information explosion. Now, information is stored on books, tapes, computer disks and more.

In the future, more probably will be stored electronically, that is, on computers.

"The libraries of the future will be able to provide more information much quicker," he said.

If Hibler has his way, libraries will be ready when people want to improve themselves or develop hobbies.

"This is a real prime profession to be in," he said. "Our time is here, ... as far as its importance in society."

When not working, Hibler, 41, spends time with his wife, Cynthia, and son, William, 10 months. He also enjoys running, weight lifting, sports, and reading — particularly history.

JAMES HIBLER has served as director of the Independence Township Library since Aug. 13, 1979.

Opinion of Bill Myers

Bond returns beat
stocks, real estate

William A. Myers is a retired Lapeer County editor and investments manager from Boca Raton, Fla.

Pension fund managers - and a number of private investors - are beguiled with chances for big returns in real estate.

Like the reports of your friends when they come back from the racetrack, you hear only of the successes.

Figures compiled by Salomon Brothers for the years 1982-88 - all boom years - show results poorer than the same money put into the stock market or into bonds.

Among other things, the cost of managing real estate investments is twice that of what mutual funds charge for managing portfolios of stocks. Management fees are probably three times that of managing a bond portfolio.

Here is a summary of the results for 1982-88:

Total Return (price change plus dividends or interest)
Real estate	185.09%
Stocks*	302.28%
Long-term bonds	256.48%

*Standard & Poor's 500 index

Don't let the boys kids you that under their management, they'll beat the stock averages. Last figures I saw, only 20 percent of bank trust departments, for example, did better than the stock market.

I think if the bond results - which in the above figures were from taxable bonds (not for pension funds, of course) with 28 percent pulled out for income tax - were calculated on tax-free municipals, the net result would be even better, and also compared to returns from stocks.

Today, stock dividends are about 3.5 percent; after 28 percent tax, net 2.52 percent. Corporate bonds pay in interest, say, 9.5 percent; after 28 percent tax, net 6.84 percent.

Some California general obligations, tax-exempt, recently came out at 7.25 percent.

To get back to pension funds, I run one for a Michigan insurance company. The whole schmeer of assets is in telephone bonds and U.S. government (or agency) bonds, mostly current-coupon issues, but a fair amount in zero coupon bonds.

In all immodesty, the fund's income is three times the pension payouts, and further contributions from the company haven't been necessary for several years. Actuaries say it's "fully funded," but to this simple country boy, if you're taking in three times as much as you're paying out, you're in pretty good shape.

One of my descendants operates on the opposite principle and has survived for half a century. So there you are.

The salesmen touting "universal life" policies emphasize the amount of insurance you're getting, all in addition to the dividends from stock investments made by the company.

So you plump down $100,000 and your life is insured in that amount. And your $100,000 then goes to work for you in the stock market.

What the boys don't tell you is that $100,000 worth of life insurance could be bought at these costs for the next 10 years, starting at these ages (quotes are for a male non-smoker):

Starting Age	Annual Cost*
30	$176

40	$217
50	$416

*Level cost for 10 years. Quote from Transamerican Life.

Even at age 50, the cost is less than one-half of 1 percent (41 cents per $100). So your annuity or universal life or whatever throws in very little for the insurance part.

The decision-making process in the corporate world, for which these graduates of Harvard get paid six, maybe seven figures (from Barron's, in a story about JMB Realty pulling in its ears as business lags.) Quote:

"Burton E. Glaznov, a JMB executive vice-president, acknowledged that the subject of not offering Carlyle XVIII has been discussed. 'If we had to decide today, we might make one decision, but six months from now, which is closer to when we'll have to make a decision about Carlyle XVIII, we might make an entirely different one,' Glaznov says."

To move over to Manhasset, Long Island, the Press of that sophisticated town reports on a wedding.

"After the wedding, a happy reception was held at the North Hempstead Country Club, the facilities of which were ideal for the occasion. A non-loud band of Bill Harrington preserved the sanity of the elders but was lively enough to permit a large number of Lehigh fraternity and sorority people to engage in their strange rites. One had all the dancers lying on their backs and waving their feet in the air."

Citizens for Orderly Growth

Mega-mall could be traffic nightmare

Doug Carlson

At last Thursday's (Nov. 2) COG meeting, nearly 30 residents listened to Don Althoff and Dick Carlisle discuss the proposed Auburn Hills Mall, which is planned to open in 1992.

Don, from Lake Angelus, talked about the efforts his community is making to stop the mall from becoming a reality.

Dick, the Independence Township planning consultant, talked about the effect the mall would have on our township and surrounding townships.

The mega-mall, as it is often referred to, is planned for the I-75/Baldwin Road area. In terms of pure size, the buildings alone would encompass an area approximately four times the size of the Silverdome. Another 180 acres would be devoted to parking. The mall would be nearly twice the size of the Oakland Mall or the Fairlane Mall in Dearborn.

The developers plan on drawing customers from a 20-mile radius. It doesn't take too much imagination to envision the impact it would have on businesses in Independence Township and surrounding areas.

In addition to the economic impact, the effect the mall would have on traffic in this area is frightening, to say the least.

Analysts of the situation believe that the additional traffic generated by a mall this size could result in a virtual gridlock in and around the I-75/Baldwin Road area.

How would you like to be heading north on I-75 on a Friday night from someplace like the General Motors Corp. Tech Center when there's a tractor pull at the Silverdome, a concert at The Palace and/or Pine Knob, shoppers heading for the mall, and others heading north for the weekend?

The developers claim the mall will provide jobs for 5,000 people in north Oakland County. If you think about it, however, most of these jobs will be low-paying clerk jobs in the various stores in the mall.

How many "help wanted" signs do you now see in the various fast-food and other businesses in this area? If they can't find employees now, think of how much more difficult it will be if the mall siphons off 5,000 potential employees from this area. Again, it will make things much more difficult for local businesses, some of whom are struggling to stay in business as it is.

Another effect of the mall will be the tremendous burden it will place on the sewer systems in the immediate area. Some analysts feel the systems will be incapable of handling such an overload.

And, finally, there are 32 acres of wetlands that stand to be destroyed if the mall is built as planned. Because of this, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) must give their approval if the project is to proceed. Although they could put a damper on the whole thing, the DNR is often inconsistent and it's hard to predict how they might react in this situation.

Because the developers must obtain a variety of permits from various government agencies, all is not lost, at least not yet.

What can you do to keep this mall from destroying our area? The most effective action you can take would be to write your congressman or state senator, especially since as much as $13 million in federal funds may be used to assist the developer in widening roads, etc.

COG would be happy to provide you with a suggested brief letter and the addresses of the appropriate congressman or senators to whom you should write. Simply call me at 625-8474, or drop COG a line in care of P.O. Box 16451, Clarkston.

And, as always, if you'd like to find out what COG is all about, please feel free to attend our meetings. My next article will mention the date, time and place of our next meeting.

TEEN-AGE sexuality is the topic of the evening, as Dede Ginns-Gruenberg speaks to an audience in the Clarkston High School cafeteria Wednesday, Nov. 1. The workshop is one of five sessions the CHS Just Say No club plans to host this year.

Speaker advises teens to set limits regarding sex

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Laughter came from the audience as the overhead projector displayed information. The topic was one that often causes snickers in a crowd — sex.

About 50 people gathered in the Clarkston High School cafeteria Nov. 1 for discussion about teenage sexuality, sponsored by the Clarkston High School Just Say No Club and Clarkston Area Youth Assistance.

As people arrived for the evening discussion, a student read questions projected on the overhead. No answers were given at that time, but the stage was set for discussion about a sometimes taboo subject.

Katie McKay, sponsor of the CHS Just Say No Club, said laughter is a common reaction to topics people don't feel comfortable with.

Guest speaker Dede Ginns-Gruenberg, registered nurse and family life educator from West Bloomfield, had prepared the questions and statements from previous speaking engagements.

While working in a doctor's office, she saw many pregnant 12 year-old girls. She decided to do something about educating young people, she said.

Dede sprinkled her statements with humor about the serious subject and also gave advice to the teens.

The number one reason girls have sex is because the girl doesn't want to lose her boyfriend, she said.

"When a boy tells you that everyone else is doing it, tell him, 'then you won't have any trouble finding someone to do it with,'" Dede advised the girls.

Before going on a date, Dede suggested role playing.

A double standard still exists for men and women, she said.

Young men also feel pressured into having sex, she said. To handle the situation, she suggested saying: "I'm emotionally involved as you are," instead of using the familiar saying: "I just want to be friends."

Self-esteem is important for students when dealing

"Say in the mirror, 'This is how far I'm going tonight.'"

Dede Ginns-Gruenberg

with pressures of sex and drugs, said Dede.

There's a correlation between low self-esteem and drug and alcohol problems, she said.

If students make a mistake concerning sex, it's OK to feel bad, she said. But then set a date for self-forgiveness for the mistake.

After the meeting, McKay, the club sponsor, voiced concern about the number of adults who did not attend the evening session on sexuality.

"My biggest disappointment is the parents and the teachers who aren't here," McKay said.

Only a handful of parents were in the audience.

Teachers sometimes can send a double message when they tell students to attend a session such as Wednesday's teen sexuality session — and then tell them there's a big test the next day, said McKay.

If teachers don't want students missing class during the day, then they should help promote an evening program, she said.

Future Just Say No programs are: Teen Stress, Dec. 6; Self-Esteem, Jan. 10; Loss, Feb. 7; and Eating Disorders, March 7. For more information call McKay at 625-0900.

Doctors warn of consequences

Severe consequences often accompany teen sexuality, according to three area physicians who sponsored a Nov. 1 workshop about the subject.

Presented by family life educator Dede Ginns-Gruenberg, the discussion took place in the Clarkston High School cafeteria.

Sponsoring the talk were specialists in obstetrics and gynecology: Stanley A. Dorfman, Robert M. Robbins and Andrew J. Halperin. Clarkston Area Youth Assistance also helped sponsor the evening.

The doctors supplied the following information to students about the consequences of having sexual intercourse:

- * One million teens got pregnant last year.
- * 554,000 teens had babies last year.
- * Four out of 10 of today's 14-year-olds will get pregnant before age 20, and two out of the 10 will have babies.

Of those teens who had intercourse, this is what happened:

- * Eight in 10 dropped out of high school.
- * Six in 10 who married were divorced in five years.
- * Seven in 10 went on welfare.
- * Their income was $8,000 a year.
- * Their babies are twice as likely to die during pregnancy.

The doctors plan to move into new offices in Independence Pointe on M-15, Independence Township, January, 1990. They plan to close their current office at 4680 Dixie Hwy., Waterford Township, and to continue working from an office at 1695 Woodward Ave., Bloomfield Hills.

'Nightmare on Dvorak Street'

Independence plumber gets into Halloween spirit

Trick-or-treaters got a special treat Halloween if they traveled down Dvorak Street in Independence Township. Kevin Fangel decided to decorate his yard for the special occasion.

Fangel, 31, is engaged to be married and has lived on Dvorak about 14 years but never decorated previously.

"My neighbor likes to give me a hard time about not decorating," he said, joking. "She thinks I don't decorate because my Christmas tree isn't in the front window -- it's in the back."

Fangel started early making just a few decorations, but then he "got caught up in the fever of the holiday," he said.

On Halloween night, Fangel put out even more decorations. Coffin and cardboard skeletons greeted Dvorak Street beggars, while haunting music rang out.

Fangel had so much fun with Halloween that he plans to decorate for Christmas, too. He's already collecting lights, he said.

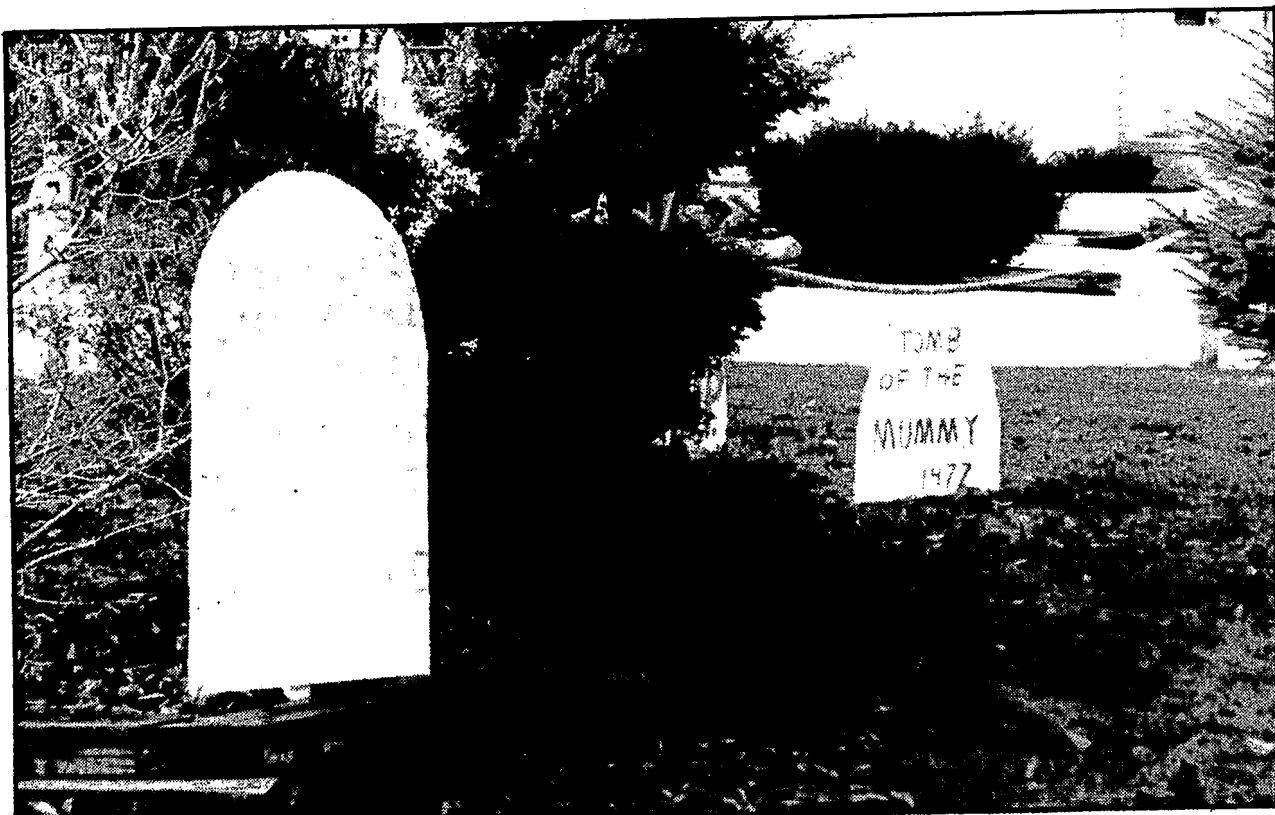

Plus, he has visions for next year's Halloween festivities -- more decorations, he said.

"I want to make things that are more water resistant for next year," he said.

This Halloween, Fangel was late getting home from work, so he didn't time to put on a costume, he said.

"I was dressed as a plumber," Fangel said, and plumbing happens to be his full-time occupation. He works at Brinker's Plumbing and Heating, Waterford Township.

A HALLOWEEN surprise greets trick-or-treaters as they make their way down Dvorak Street in Independence Township. Homeowner Kevin Fangel says he's just a kid at heart and enjoys making spooky decorations.

Life Savers

Who are they?

The people pictured above represent a small percentage of the medical team at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital's (POH) 24-Hour Emergency Trauma Center. Every day these and other highly trained professionals are dedicated and ready to provide treatment within a second's notice... for all kinds of illnesses and injuries imaginable... major or minor. The POH staff is prepared for whatever comes through the doors of the Emergency Center.

Recognized as one of the top emergency centers in the State of Michigan, POH is renowned for saving lives. Many of the patients treated at POH are severe cases — the result of motor vehicle accidents, or severe bodily malfunctioning such as heart attack and strokes. Lesser injuries such as broken bones, cuts and bruises are handled quickly and efficiently. POH's 24-Hour Emergency Trauma Center provides:

- Full-time Emergency Medicine Physician Specialists
- All nurses certified in Advanced Cardiac Life Support
- 24-hour in-house coverage and staffing of surgical and medical residents
- 24-hour staffing of operating room personnel
- A high-tech Medical/Surgical Intensive Care Unit staffed by specially trained ICU nurses

You can be a life saver too.

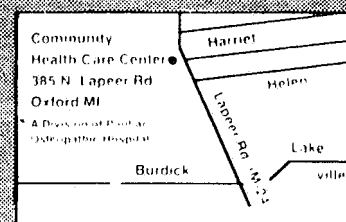

POH is now offering a free booklet, 'The Life Savers' Home First Aid Guide. The booklet is full of useful medical information for you, often the first "aide" at the scene of an injury, illness or accident. It covers everything from the symptoms and treatment of the common fever, to how to identify a heart attack or stroke and what action should be taken. Also covered are the proper first aid treatments for insect bites, sunburn, cuts, bruises and much more.

Keep the Life Savers' Home First Aid Guide handy in your home. In an emergency, it can make a "life saver" out of the first "aide." For your free booklet call POH at: (313) 338-5385. Or, fill out the order form below and mail.

Wife gets surprise cruise for birthday

JANET and Louie Collins of Clarkston enjoyed their cruise.

Janet and Louie Collins of Clarkston recently returned from a cruise on the S.S. Constitution in Hawaii. They boarded in Honolulu, sailed to Maui, Molokai and then to the big island of Hawaii where they spent several days at the Royal Waikoloan Hotel in Kona.

The trip was a surprise birthday gift for Janet from Louie. He planned the entire trip with the help of Pat Lightcap of Clarkston Travel.

Their children, Pamela and Timothy Quinn of Royal Oak, and Nichole and John Spillum of Sylvan Lake, surprised them both with transportation to the airport on the morning of their departure via a stretch limousine.

They even arranged for the family dog, Benji, to ride to the airport with them in the limo.

"Such a beautiful vacation and the most fantastic birthday gift a woman could ever receive," said Janet, after the trip.

She declined to say which birthday she celebrated.

Smith, Dworek united in marriage

Diane Smith of Andersonville Road, Davisburg, married Jeffrey Dworek of Highland 4 p.m. Oct. 7 at Waterford Community Church. The Rev. Philip Whisenhunt performed the traditional protestant ceremony before about 225 guests.

The church was decorated with large contemporary flower rail arrangements and white tulle pew bows.

The bride's parents are Robert and Helen Smith of Andersonville Road, Davisburg. A 1987 graduate of Clarkston High School, the bride is assistant manager at The Gap.

The bridegroom's parents are Edwin and Dorothy Dworek of Highland. He is a 1989 graduate of Ferris State University, Big Rapids. He is a 2nd lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white, silk cape-collared sheath with a double tiered skirt. The collar was appliqued with lace, pearls and sequins. The tiara headpiece was lace with pearls and sequins with a puff of tulle, trimmed with pearls. Plus she wore a detachable floor-length veil trimmed with pearls and sequins.

She carried an arm bouquet of roses, calla lilies, orchids and seasonal flowers.

Maid of honor was Deanna Stricklin of Ortonville, who wore a teal moire shawl-collared dress in a ballerina length.

Other attendants were Wendy and Kathy Rollins of Andersonville Road, Davisburg, and Jennifer and Kim Dworek, the groom's sisters. They dressed the same as the maid of honor and carried arm bouquets of roses, lilies and seasonal flowers.

Flower girl was Dana McCreary, and ring bearer was Kevin McCreary, both of Southgate and both cousins of the bride.

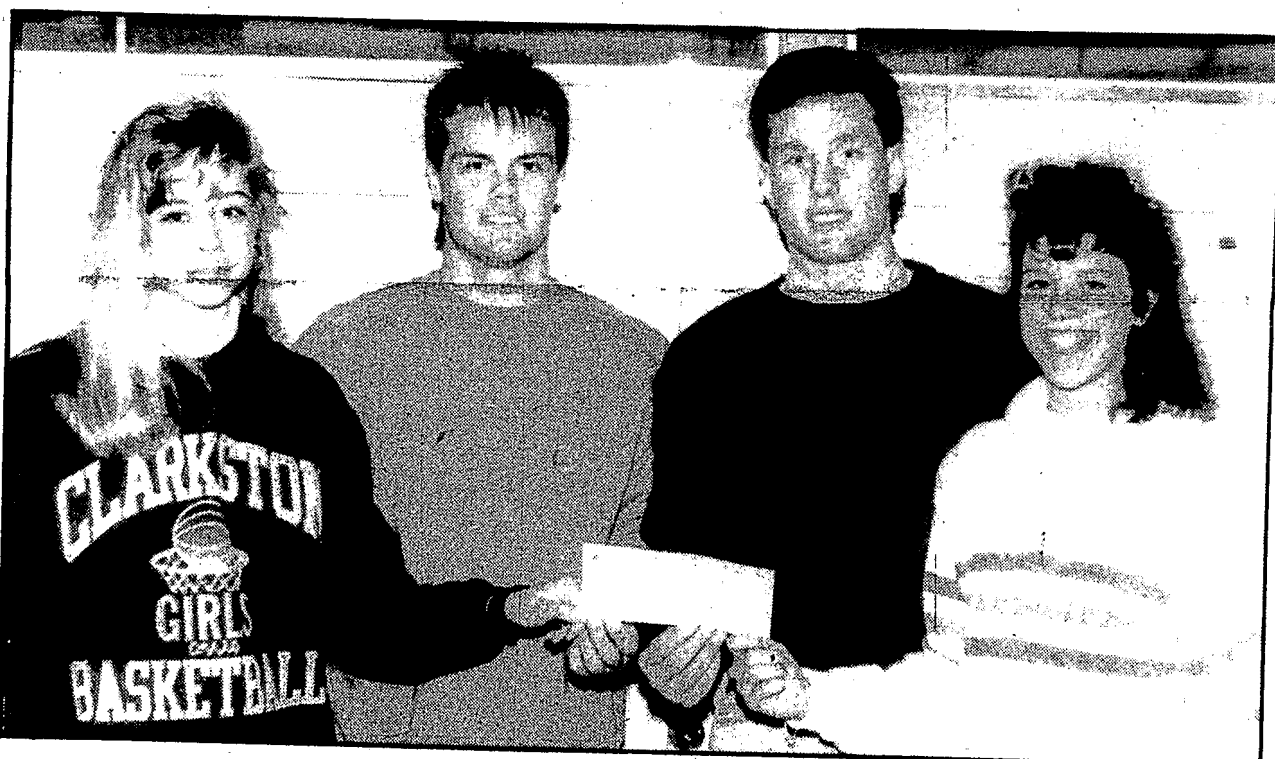

Mike Kohler of Milford served as the best man. Other attendants were Jim Packla; Steve Smith, the bride's brother; Derek Manquen and Charles Dworek, the groom's brother.

The reception for 225 guests was held at the Waterford Community Church, Waterford.

The newlyweds took a wedding trip to Mackinac Island and make their home in Fredericksburg, Va.

NEWLYWEDS: Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Dworek.

CLARKSTON HIGH School class officers display the school's contribution to disaster relief efforts in North Carolina in the wake of Hurricane Hugo. Student council members voted unanimously to donate the entire $150

Club notes

The Clarkston-Area Optimist Club has selected Dr. Bruce Mercado as its president for the year beginning Oct. 1, 1989.

Mercado is a dentist in Independence Township, a member of the Independence Township Planning Commission and a resident of Independence Township.

Other club officers include: Patrick Flanagan, first vice president; Roger Diedrich, second vice president; Dr. David Wright, secretary-treasurer; Larry Stout, youth activities director; the Rev. William Schram, community service director; Paul VanKlaveren, membership director; Patrick O'Rourke, fellowship director; Mike Cascone, finance director; Duane Lewis, publicity director.

Chartered in 1986, the Clarkston-Area Optimist Club has 31 members and meets every Wednesday at 7:30 a.m. at Spring Lake Country Club.

Major service activities of the club include: Oratorical Contest (middle school), Essay Contest (high school), Just Say No Rally (elementary), Bicycle Safety Program (elementary), Youth Appreciation Breakfast (all levels), Tri-Star Basketball (elementary and middle school).

Members of the Chief Pontiac #377 American Legion and Auxiliary of Clarkston have been busy lately.

At the annual birthday dinner honoring the past commanders and presidents, the War Bonnet was presented to the Department of Michigan Commander Al Kline, and an Indian Princess head dress was presented to Department Auxiliary President Laurette Riddle.

Past department commanders were in attendance, and special guests were: 18th District Commander Glenn Comstock, Auxiliary President Brenda Dees, Post Commander Richard Kendall, Auxiliary President Donna Kendall, National committeeman Roy Cicote and his wife, Angie, Senior Miss Poppy Kim Ward and Department Junior of the Year Nikole Rutterbush.

The Juniors of Chief Pontiac helped serve. Several members of the post and auxiliary recently attended fall conference in Battle Creek.

Ivy Lee Reinhardt received the National Field Service Award for her work in service of the veterans. She is currently serving as the department chairman for children and youth.

New arrival

It's a girl for John and Nancy Rogers of Holcomb Road, Clarkston.

Hope Elizabeth Rogers was born Oct. 25 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. She weighed 7 pounds and measured 20 inches long.

Grandparents are Barbara Nolin of Nashville, Ind., Milton Nolin of Reno, Nev., and Bill and Beverley Rogers of Greensboro, N.C.

Great-grandparents are William and Ruby Nolin of Montpelier, Ohio, Beth Rogers of Penney Farms, Fla., and Russell and Dora Partington of Greensboro, N.C.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

IMPORTANCE OF COMPARABLES

Valerie Phaup

QUESTION: I understand the most important task in selling a home is deciding on the right sales price. How do you come up with the best price?

ANSWER: This is not done by looking into a crystal ball or consulting with a guru. The most important factor is the price of comparable sales in your immediate area. These are sales which have already been completed of homes as nearly like yours as possible.

The sales should also be near in time, for five-year-old sales have almost no meaning in today's volatile financial market. Also, the homes should be similar in style, size, and condition as your property-the closer the better.

THE SALES price of your home must be based on comparable sales in your immediate area.

CHS alumnus in South Haven medical practice

A Clarkston High School alumnus recently returned to Michigan to practice medicine after living in Colorado.

Joseph Lessard, an osteopathic physician with a specialty in internal medicine, joined the practice of Dr. Joseph Anders in South Haven.

Previously, Lessard was chief of the Internal Medicine Department at Evans Army Hospital in Colorado Springs, Colo., where he held the rank of major in the U.S. Army Medical Corps.

He received his undergraduate degree from Michigan State University, East Lansing, and his medical degree from the University of Health Sciences in Kansas City, Mo. He then completed a four-year training course in internal medicine at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

He is diplomate of the National Board of Examiners for Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

Lessard's wife, Jinna, is a registered nurse and currently holds the rank of captain in the U.S. Army. The Lessards have two children: Loni, 9, and Aaron, 7.

According to Lessard's sister, Judy, Lessard and his brother, Louis — also a physician, were greatly influenced by Clarkston osteopathic physicians Ronald LePere and Alfred Hamilton.

Louis Lessard is with Health Central of Lansing, where he is in family practice.

Lessard is the son of Marian and Louis Lessard, who lived in Clarkston for many years.

Pet of the Week

Shades of love.

Shadow, a 6-year-old female shepherd mix, is affectionate and likes to be around other people and pets.

She especially likes other dogs and shows a keen intelligence, according to the shelter workers.

Shadow is spayed, so her adoption fee is $35.

To adopt Shadow, visit or call the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Choir festival features 6 schools

Choirs from six North Oakland high schools will perform a free concert at Waterford Mott High School on Wednesday, Nov. 15.

The Greater Oakland Activities League Choral Festival features Clarkston High (Madrigal Singers, Varsity Concert Choir directed by Grayce Warren), Waterford Mott (Concert Choir), Lake Orion (Lake Orion Commotion, Chorale), Waterford Kettering (Concert Choir), Pontiac Northern (a capella choir, northern lights) and Brandon (Guys and Dolls, Varsity Choir).

A Massed Choir performance conducted by Ron DeRoo, director of choirs at Waterford Mott, also is scheduled for the 7:30 p.m. concert.

Free program on learning styles author Digby Sharp, a learning consultant for Michigan Public Schools, who holds degrees in speech, language, pathology and audiology from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.; and a degree in clinical psychology from Wayne State University, Detroit.

According to Sharp, many styles of learning are used by children: some learn best through their eyes, others through their ears, some with tactical input and movement.

Some children are "left" brained and are able to organize and structure information analytically, but right-brained thinkers are holistic and create ideas through artistic modes. Sharp is to explain some of these differences.

For more information, call 625-9007.

A free program on how children learn may be of interest to Clarkston area parents.

Sponsored by the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, it is scheduled for 7-9 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 16, at Sashabaw Elementary School, 5290 Maybee Rd., Independence Township.

The speaker is author Digby Sharp, a learning consultant for Michigan Public Schools, who holds degrees in speech, language, pathology and audiology from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.; and a degree in clinical psychology from Wayne State University, Detroit.

Undies galore

Suzanne Baumann

Every so often we hear the stories about the times when this century was still young, when adolescent boys, hearts pounding, would race behind the wood shed with a Sears catalog to look at the women's undergarments section. Corsets! Garters! A four-page spread! Black-and-white illustrations! Exciting stuff!

Kids these days just can't seem to get the same kind of thrills. Why should they hide behind a woodshed (where would they start looking?) when they can see illustrations of similar quality on a tabletop at Wendy's?

All they have to do is shake some inserts of the the Sunday paper to find undies galore in full-color photographs. Women, men and children, all standing in a line against a solid background, hands to their sides, smiling at anyone who cares to look. A block of copy reading, "Save 15 percent on our entire stock of cotton briefs." Those four pages in the Sears catalog have expanded to somewhere around 40 ... just for the women's section alone!

This is a department store catalog. Since the revival of mail order, our house has been a target for many specialty underwear ("intimates," they usually euphemise) catalogs.

Most of the models in these books are seen in their natural state, usually lounging around in their bedroom. Many of them read.

I once used to read in my underwear, too. Everytime my sister would barge into the room, she'd make it clear that she thought I was crazy. So to keep her content, I read only when fully clothed.

Lingerie specialty catalog models must live, on the other hand, a very private, lavish life. Gone are the groups of seven against their white background. Here it's one model per photograph, always in a richly decorated, romantic-looking room, filled with antiques, oil paintings and floral arrangements. Many times he or she stands directly in front of a window.

A photographer would say the window light gives an impression of tranquility. An idealist would say the model is looking out upon miles of miles of rolling hills, water fountains, and breathtaking gardens without another person in sight — far away from all of life's troubles. A realist would say this person's an exhibitionist, living in a subdivision, who likes to stand in front of the window, waiting until the neighbors walk by seeing him or her half naked.

Of course, there are also several unnatural positions such as the man with an open trenchcoat and bikini shorts, chewing on the earpieces of his glasses while looking at a globe. If I took a poll of my readers, less than half of them could honestly admit they dress like that to look at a globe. Or take the woman in a lace teddy, standing on one foot, holding onto the back of a chair, chest thrust forward, looking over her shoulder — a common position for us all.

In the book I looked at most recently, each model was used an average of 20 times in the same catalog. It would seem that these people spend their entire life roaming around the house in nothing but their dainties.

What a life!

Microwave Plus

Fast squash meals
with microwave

Betty Wagner

You can cook up some mouth watering recipes with winter squash that are packed with a bonus of good nutrition. Winter squash comes in a variety of sizes, shapes and textures and is loaded with beta carotene. Grocers' vegetable bins are filled with them now.

Most supermarkets offer the following varieties: acorn that looks like its name; butternut that looks like half of a dumbbell; buttercup that is green and orange like the acorn but shaped like a cardinal's hat; and spaghetti that is yellow and shaped like an ellipse. Tough rinds and seeds, fibrous centers and deep colors make it easy to distinguish winter from summer squash.

The American Institute of Cancer Research encourages Americans to "eat foods high in beta carotene (which is converted to Vitamin A after consumption)." Winter squash is one of those foods that "have been associated with lower rates of some cancers."

But sometimes we are not sure how to prepare various types of squash. As I was checking out of the supermarket with a spaghetti squash, a woman said,

"How are you going to prepare that?" Here is what I told her:

I'll cook the squash in the microwave at 6-8 minutes a pound as I would cook any squash. Then I'll mix up the sauce ingredients. The sauce will heat up in the microwave while I cut open the spaghetti squash and arrange the strands on a platter. By using prepared spaghetti sauce, frozen broccoli cuts and pre-cut mushrooms and the speedy microwave oven, supper will be ready in about half an hour.

QUICK SPAGHETTI SQUASH SUPPER

- 1 (2-pound) spaghetti squash
- 1 (15 1/2-ounce) jar spaghetti sauce
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh oregano
- 2 cups frozen broccoli cuts
- 2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
- Parmesan cheese

1. Cut a wedge out of the top of spaghetti squash. With a sharp knife, pierce each side. Microwave at HIGH for 8 minutes a pound. Using oven mitts remove squash from oven. Cut lengthwise; remove seeds and scoop out strands. Set aside.

Sauce

1. Combine jar contents, fresh oregano, frozen broccoli and sliced mushrooms in a 2-quart Pyrex dish. Microwave at 80 percent (REHEAT) until temperature probe inserted into center of dish reads 150 degrees or until sauce reaches desired serving temperature.

2. Serve over cooked strands of spaghetti sauce. Sprinkle Parmesan cheese over top.

CORRECTION

The recipe for Hot Taco Casserole in last week's Clarkston News (Betty Wagner's Healthy Helpings column) should have included 24 ounces of low-fat cottage cheese in the list of ingredients.

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her "Microwave Plus" cable-TV program airs on Independence-Clarkston Channel 65.

WHO IS ON THE LORD'S side let him hear that hath an ear to hear. He that humbles himself shall be exalted and he that exalts himself shall be humbled. To label myself a prophet, teacher, father, pastor, Rev, priest, or apostle or evangelist or rabbi or chaplain so and so and to have it so people will call me that is having a desire for mens admiration in the heart and not being crucified with Christ! A hireling! An enemy of the cross of Christ! It is another means of undermining men's system of domination over men's souls and faith in God. Its a tool to create authority over men's conscience to have them follow them and systems, conforming to the world's ways, rather than teaching men to follow Christ, being lead of the Holy Spirit and be mindful of the things of Christ. By the system of religion people will be allowed to remain in all sorts of selfishness, pride, and lusts serving mammon. They never will come to accountability because of false doctrines, vain imaginations of men, and jewish fables. Men want to steal and lord over the flock of God. All in that system of the flesh, refusing to seek out and do truth, will never be able to walk by faith because the people are carnal, using the name of Christ to seduce, sold to the sin of unbelief in Christ as Lord of his body and not men. The Holy Ghost and doing the word of God is the faith, comfort, and leadership of the body of Christ. All that ministers speak are not necessarily the truth and it is needed to rightly divide the word of truth by the Holy Spirit. The calling of pastor to a person or any other office, "doesn't mean he or she is an old testament priest. Anyone who decides to come to God and be forgiven can go to him directly thru Christ. The only mediator between God and man is Christ Jesus. We have (today) prophets, pastors, evangelists, and apostles in reality, acting and thru their teachings, like priests of old insisting all have to come under their dominance. Its not what God has set forth through spirit and in truth. This comes from a lack of truly being crucified with Christ and really being mindful of the things of Christ. Their belly is their God and they want all to be circumcised in religion even when they don't even obey what they do know. They will absolutely persecute and (or) despise those, or tolerate also, that walk after the Spirit of Christ and not after the flesh. IILX45-2

DeLaney (played by Chris Kage), Donal DeLaney (Jesse James Lundy), Josie DeLaney (Marty Johnson), Shiela McGardle (Karen Knight), Frank Quinn (Jack Dawson) and Tom

'Man Enough'

DONAL DeLANEY (Jesse James Lundy) explains life as he knows it to his sister Shiela (played by Karen Knight) in the Clarkston Village Players latest production "Man Enough." The play opens the weekend of Nov. 17. Call 681-3937 after 5 p.m. or see Tierra Arts in downtown Clarkston for tickets ($6 a piece).

TOM LOGAN (Dean Vanderkolk) shares a laugh with Frank Quinn, a priest and second cousin to the DeLaney family in the play "Man Enough."
