Call for two resignations

Residents demand action from board

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

About 75 angry parents crowded into the Clarkston school board room Nov. 13 and demanded that the board set a date for a millage election.

In a three-hour discussion, about 20 parents voiced disapproval with the condition of Clarkston schools. One parent, William Bliesath, even called for the resignations of the school board president and secretary, while at the same time announcing his candidacy for a seat on the board.

After the discussion, the board voted 6-0 to set a Feb. 12 election when voters will be asked to approve an extra millage. The board did not set a millage rate.

Voting yes were President Janet Thomas, Secretary Mary Jane Chaustowich, Treasurer Thomas K. Howard and trustees Elaine Schultz, Paul VanKlaveren and Karen Foyteck. Vice-President John Needham was absent.

Bliesath read aloud a letter that said the board, especially Thomas and Chaustowich, suffer from the "Failure Syndrome" (see letters to the editor, Page 7).

The president and secretary are part of the "Old Board" and are part of the cause for Clarkston schools poor financial and educational conditions, Bliesath said. "The failures of these board members cannot be tolerated any longer," he said.

After the meeting, Thomas said she would not resign from the board.

"I don't intend to resign," she said. "I represent more people than were in the room last night."

Independence man killed in accident

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An Independence Township man was one of two killed when a truck was smashed by a freight train near downtown Pontiac early Nov. 11.

A witness told police the truck was attempting to drive around the warning gates when the crash occurred.

The Grand Truck Railroad train reached the Franklin Road crossing about 2:48 a.m. last Saturday when a GMC pickup truck driven by James E. Draper, 19, of Pontiac, attempted to cross the track.

Draper and Robert E. Martin, 27, of Independence Township were both thrown from the truck and were pronounced dead at the scene, said Pontiac Police Sgt. Cornelius McLaurin.

The mangled remains of the GMC truck were strewn for a quarter mile from impact.

"It's one of the worst I've seen," McLaurin said, adding that the intersection was not a particularly dangerous one.

The truck had been waiting in the westbound lane of Franklin Road near downtown Pontiac. The witness told police the Draper truck attempted to follow another vehicle that had just skirted the crossing gate.

A multiple car accident on Dixie Highway resulted in the death of an Independence Township man Nov. 6.

James Morris, 20, of Mary Sue Street, died after the car he was riding in struck two vehicles and overturned.

The car was then struck by another vehicle heading north on Dixie Highway.

According to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Morris was a passenger in a car driven by Tracy A. Gougeon, 28, of Waterford Township.

The vehicle was traveling north on Dixie near the I-75 interchange about 9 p.m. Monday when it struck the car in front of it. That vehicle was driven by Dawn Markus of Colorado; Markus was wearing her seat belt and was not injured.

After hitting the first car, Gougeon's vehicle went across the roadway, hit a parked semi-truck and flipped over, the report said.

Moments later, the overturned car was hit by another vehicle traveling north, driven by Herbert Henry Person, 74, of Independence Township. According to police reports, the second collision did not cause Morris's death.

Person told police he looked away for a moment and when he looked up he was unable to avoid hitting the Gougeon vehicle. Person was also wearing his seat belt and was not injured.

Neither Gougeon nor Morris were wearing seat belts; they were transported to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital where Morris was pronounced dead. Gougeon released himself from the hospital, according to hospital officials.

Morris had attended Clarkston's Alternative Education program and planned to attend Oakland Community College in January, said Ginny Farmer, assistant principal of Clarkston High School.

"This was a student that came to us from Sashabaw Junior High and basically became the leader of the Learning Center," Farmer said.

"He was class president of alternative ed.; he was just a marvelous student," she said.

Residents concerned over growth, development

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Growth, development and the government process are some of the concerns of Springfield Township residents who responded to a township survey in October.

The board voted 5-2 Nov. 9 to send a newsletter to township residents three times a year. Voting yes were Supervisor Collin Walls, Clerk J. Calvin Walters and trustees Nancy Strole, Dennis Vallad and Margaret Bloom.

Voting no were Treasurer Lois Stiles and Trustee Charles Oaks.

In casting his dissenting vote, Oaks said there was probably a better way to spend $2,800.

Before vote, Walls said the township information could be printed on the public access channel once cable is hooked up in Springfield Township.

Gary Voelker, president of North Oakland Cablevision, Inc., said, 60 percent of homes are hooked up to cable already.

Stiles voiced concern for sending out a publication when the information could reach 60 percent of the homes at no charge.

Strole, who brought the newsletter idea before the board last February, said four percent of Springfield residents responded to the newsletter. Of that four percent, only 10 percent said they didn't want the publication, she said.

John Campbell, an advertising executive, said the four percent response is higher than could be expected, and a response of four percent in his business would be used as a good indicator of a national trend.

The publication is to be mailed out in January or February plus May and September. The cost is about 25-27 cents per issue.

Meadowbrook, Independence Township, and brother to Larry Martin of Auburn Hills, Tony Martin of Clarkston and Kim Wilder of Lake Orion.

He was a 1979 Clarkston High School graduate and attended Oakland Community College.

According to his father, Martin enjoyed fishing, golfing, bowling, hunting and other vigorous activities.

"He carried everything in the trunk of his car in case anybody came along and wanted to do something," said Ronald Martin, adding that his son's death was difficult to talk about.

Robert will be greatly missed, he said.

"He was like a large flood light," said Ronald Martin. "When he walked into a room — no matter what the mood before — the room just seemed to light up. ... He'd have people smiling. He was kind of like a beacon of light."

He and his family appreciated the help from family and friends, he added.

"We're extremely fortunate, that way," he said. "We have a very large family. We have an awful lot of support."

Corrections

A photo on Page 36 in last week's Clarkston News should have listed four Clarkston High School students as student council officers.

An editorial in last week's Clarkston News should have said that members of the Clarkston High School Just Say No Club helped rake the lawn of Bonnie Valuet, the mother of a CHS student who was seriously injured in an accident.

A story in last week's Clarkston News about plans for the Independence Township library addition should have said that a 20,000-square-foot addition was in the works for the building on Clarkston Road.

In last week's Clarkston News, a story on Joe Sanders' Clarkston Community Education karate team should have said that Clarkston's 21 members took home 15 percent of the trophies awarded yet made up just five percent of the 460 people competing in the tournament.

A story about new banners in downtown Clarkston should have said the Clarkston Rotary Club also contributed to the project.

Education is the responsibility of all of us

BY THE REV. JENNI SCHRAM

Education is an area of concern for me. As the mother of school-aged children, as a pastor, as a member of this community, I become nervous when I hear how nonchalantly people consider the importance of our schools and the formal education of our children. When a community stops caring, the future is jeopardized. Education. It is a word tossed about in many circles, yet we rarely take the time to consider the full impact of education upon ourselves and our children.

Often times, our understanding of education is limited to classroom academics, forgetful of the ways home and peers educate us. Our education exists in all area of our existence. It begins with our birth and ends with our death.

We put much blame for a poor education upon a school system, while taking credit ourselves for outstanding performance by our children. But the education in our schools can only be as good as we — the parents and the community — make it.

The schools will prosper with our support. When we financially support our schools, when we instill in our children values of respect for persons and things. When our children know that they are loved and cared for by family and community, then the schools can be a place of learning and growth and development.

Without parental involvement in a positive way, and without community support for its programs, we ask the schools to do an impossible task.

Many of our current social ills are blamed on the schools — they have failed to teach our children love and respect and caring and upright morals. But it is not the responsibility of the school to build upon them for they should be taught at home from the time of birth.

As parents and members of the community we cannot expect the teachers to be superhuman social workers, solving all the social ills of our society as they impact upon our children in their learning environment.

As parents and members of the community we need to take responsibility for our children and to let the teachers teach, which is after all, the job they were hired to do. We do our children no favors when we expect teachers to be more than teachers and to provide the support students need but which should come from the home.

Our schools are a part of who we are as a community. The schools reflect our true attitudes and feelings about education. Our children reflect our true attitudes about education through the ways we have prepared them at home and readied them for formal education outside the home.

Our future lies in the hands of the young people of today. Each of us must ask whether we are supporting the development of the next generation and how we are involved in their growth and development. Or do we mainly stand on the sidelines pointing out the negative as we see it, highlighting the failures, destroying self-esteem and the will to achieve?

The future is our children — and they are our responsibility.

REV. JENNI SCHRAM, pictured with daughter Katie, believes the future belongs to the children and parents should take the responsibility to educate them properly.

Knowledge is part of youngster's entire life

BY PEGGY PALMITER

How do we get children motivated to learn? How can we fight the increasingly high illiteracy rates in the United States? How can we improve the reading abilities of our nations' school children? And how do we decrease the numbers of adolescents dropping out of our nations' high schools?

We look for someone to blame for these problems. Some point at the schools, for not teaching the right things, or not teaching them well enough. Others suggest that parents are not instilling the appropriate values to encourage children to learn.

What we are learning, in my research and others', is that the answer lies in the relationships between schools and families. The tasks needed to learn and succeed are taught in both homes and schools, with different tools and different teachers.

The approach that encourages learning is the approach that makes knowledge part of a youngster's entire life, not only in school. The ability to succeed is the ability to see learning as having an impact on everything else you do. Children must see the vision of knowledge as part of their lives.

This takes a team approach between schools and

Be inquisitive; take challenge

BY DR. SUSAN E. COLEMAN

Education, what a powerful word. It can transform a young child or adult into a knowledgeable, valued individual capable of making tremendous contributions to self, family and society.

All that is needed is an inquisitive mind and the ability to dream. Question, then find the answer; dream and accept the challenge. Both provide long and lasting rewards for individuals (young and old); corporations, countries — the list goes on and on.

We can all see the benefits of education in everyday life. A middle-aged woman learns more about nutrition and exercise to better improve her health for the present and future.

A corporate executive is learning another language to better position himself and his company for changes in the business climate.

A young boy who loves math and the sciences pushes his teachers for more instruction. He wishes to absorb more knowledge, faster.

A young woman aspires to become a physician. This is her dream and one that she is determined to make come true.

A country once small is now large. Financially and families. A team approach is more than appearing for a parent-teacher conference, voting for a millage, or telling a parent when a child fails a course.

It means parents, teachers and administrators being partners in the education of children. Instead of pointing fingers, parents play an active role in their children's education, both at home and at school.

Instead of shaking their heads about family situations, teachers care about their children's lives after they leave the classrooms. They know that their students' successes depend on the connections between what they are learning and the rest of their lives.

Parents, get involved in your child's education! What are their study habits, what are they learning, can you observe in the classroom? And teachers, put parental involvement high on your list of essential teaching techniques! Children will be the benefactors, as will we all.

Highlighting education

To highlight American Education Week Nov. 12-18, the Clarkston Education Association asked three professional women, Clarkston residents all, to write a relevant piece.

Susan Coleman is physician specializing in internal medicine, and she's medical director of the Women's Health Center of Clarkston, Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

The Rev. Jenny Schram has been co-pastor of the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, Maybee Road, Independence Township, for six years and presently serves the Lakeshore Presbyterian Church, Port Huron, as interim minister.

Peggy Palmiter has been a practitioner, administrator and instructor in the area of child welfare. She is a past president of the Michigan Chapter, National Association of Social Workers and is presently working on an inter-disciplinary doctorate in sociology and social work at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

PEGGY PALMITER believes people must work together.

Chaustowich also commented after the meeting. "The people of Clarkston elected me," she said, said, adding she would not resign.

Before the vote Monday night, representatives from parent-teacher groups at North Sashabaw, Pine Knob, Bailey Lake and Clarkston elementary schools presented petitions and letters, asking the board to set a millage election date.

Susan Sajdak, representing parents from Sashabaw

Junior High School, said children used out-dated textbooks and inadequate labs — just a few examples problems at the junior high.

Teacher Rosemary Lewis, speaking as "a concerned parent," urged the board to take action.

After the formal presentations, board members took turns with discussing why there was no definite millage plan.

"We are gathering information," said Thomas. "February is being discussed but not decided."

"We are perceived as sitting on our hands," said Treasurer Howard. "It's time to take our hands out and gloves off and start working."

The audience applauded his comments.

Before the meeting, Superintendent Gary Haner said Clarkston faces an estimated $2 million less in state aid this year, above the $1.6 million cut from last year's budget.

Parents in the audience wanted the board to act that very night, while board members wanted to put off a decision about a millage election.

Trustee Karen Foyteck said the millage plan should include enough money for two or three years.

Haner said he would only recommend levying enough millage for one year because of the present variables: the Headlee Amendment to the state constitution, which automatically rolls back the millage rate whenever prop-

Budget cuts could reach $2 million

In an emotional meeting Nov. 13, about 75 parents showed up to discuss a proposal to cut $2 million from the 1990-91 Clarkston school budget.

Parents were angry that the board waited almost a month to discuss the cuts publicly.

Vicki Little of Deer Ridge, Independence Township said her school-age son has come home and discussed the proposed budget cuts, yet she knew nothing about it.

The proposed list of cuts were circulated throughout the audience, but one parent, Bill Bliesath of Fairchild Circle, Springfield Township, said it was rumored that the budget was not to be discussed.

"Is it true that you (the board) said to the administration and the superintendent that they were not to talk about this with others?" he asked.

One board member denied the allegations.

"We are not secreting information away," said Trustee Karen Foyteck.

Before the meeting, Superintendent Gary Haner said Clarkston faces an estimated $2 million less in state aid this year, above the $1.6 million cut from last year's budget.

Following is a list of items that could be cut from the 1990-91 school year and the amount of money it would save. The list totals $2 million and was revised Oct. 18 by the school administration:

1. Eliminate one central office position ($60,000): a) eliminates several central office services; b) redistribute most important job functions; c) actual position eliminated to be determined.

Reduce curriculum planning functions ($110,000): a) eliminates summer curriculum work; b) eliminates subject area coordinators; c) eliminates substitutes for curriculum and staff development; d) eliminates all in service and conference money; e) eliminates curriculum supplies.

2. Eliminate five custodial or grounds positions ($125,000): a) less frequent cleaning of some areas; b) reduced grounds care and building maintenance.

3. Eliminate all remaining extra-curricular activities ($200,000): a) includes all athletics b) includes athletic director and secretary.

4. Eliminate remaining elementary support staff and supplies ($400,000): a) eliminates music and physical education; b) eliminates district reading and math support; c) eliminates librarians and media aides; d) eliminates gifted program.

5. Eliminates middle school and high school busing ($400,000): a) special education required by law; b) reduce frequency of elementary stops; c) maximize the number of children on each bus; d) may require longer elementary runs.

6. Reduction to a five-hour school day for kindergarten through 12th grade ($750,000): a) eliminates approximately 22 secondary teachers; b) eliminates secondary accreditation; c) eliminates middle school concept; d) eliminates some state incentive money; e) eliminates several hours of secretary or clerk time; f) eliminates hot lunch program — nutrition break only; g) eliminates most or all elementary recess time; h) eliminates all secondary elective choices (e.g. band); i) would not increase class size; j) close buildings at day's end to save utility costs; k) eliminates all Latchkey; l) eliminates most community education enrichment courses.

If a five-hour day, reduce special education services ($100,000): a) may cause parent appeals; b) school will meet only minimal requirements.

Bliesath said he was certain that the community would back a millage plan now.

"The Realtors are crying now," he said. "The support and guilt are there now."

Ed Owens of Sun Valley Circle, Independence Township, asked the board to consider asking for enough money to make Clarkston schools an excellent school system and not mediocre.

"I have only been here one year, and my children are penalized by the community I choose to live in," said Owens.

Thomas said the people of Clarkston have consistently supported millage requests when given the facts and when they perceive a need.

Love those pork bellies

Julie Campe

I admit, I have always been a bit preoccupied with food. My first semester at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, I dreamed about home-cooked dishes.

But it's been disheartening to learn that the true definitions for certain business-related terms have nothing to do with food.

In early childhood I conjured up vivid visions of such things as pork bellies, bull markets, prime rate, bear markets and blue chips.

I figured pork bellies, though they sound disgusting, were probably like bacon or hot dogs. Or if they weren't food, they were probably like a football — a pigskin, full of air. A pleasant, harmless and fun item.

In movies, when grown men in dark suits would get excited about them, I decided pork bellies must have something to do with sports and were not a food after all.

Still, that did not explain a bull market. But I figured out that one, too.

I pictured a Western, 4-H-type outdoor sale, where cowboys bought, sold or traded large, healthy bulls and other cattle.

Kind of risky getting into that market because you never knew what a strong bull would do — go berserk or just wait patiently for the slaughter or possible get sick and die from some unforeseen problem.

The prime rate probably had something to do with the bull market, I decided. Maybe it was the going price for the best meat available. I never could figure out all the fuss over this rate, though, because who's going to complain if their steak prices go up or down by 1 percent or so?

People who paid attention to that must be very good shoppers, I thought — probably clip coupons all week.

The bear market was a bit more difficult to explain. I didn't know anyone who ate bear. But maybe the animals were used just for rugs or oils, I thought.

I figured a bear market was especially dangerous — all those wild animals in one small area. If one acted up, they all probably would go haywire, maybe even killing each other. A bear market must be tricky, I thought.

Blue chips, I deduced, had something to do with cow chips and blue ribbons. Perhaps the feces of blue-ribbon cattle were as valuable as the cattle themselves. Or maybe they were just an indicator of how valuable a bull or cow was.

Of course, they could indicate the value of any animal.

Now, thanks to such informational items as the Associated Press Stylebook, I know the more traditional definitions of these terms.

Blue chip (derived from poker, a card game in which blue chips are the most valuable) describes certain stock in a company known for its long-established record of making money and paying dividends.

A bear market is a period of generally declining stock prices.

The prime rate is the interest rate that commercial banks charge on loans to their borrowers with the best credit ratings.

A bull market is a period of generally increasing market prices.

Pork bellies are ... what are pork bellies, anyway?

Letters to Editor

Wetlands are neither safe nor healthy

We are alarmed at the bullishness of the planning commission's endeavors to recommend restrictions on privately owned wetlands and wood-lots beyond the excessive controls already being imposed by the state and county government agencies.

Two attempts to find and spell out essential exemptions without completely gutting their ordinance have failed.

Their claimed purpose for such an ordinance is to keep Springfield Township rural and to protect its health, safety and welfare (desirable and needed motivations), but the board's claim contradicted its actions of the past — the facts that wetlands and unkept scrub brush are not healthy or safe but degenerate our quality of life.

A few years ago, Springfield Township eliminated the most essential rural enterprise in the world (the occupation that gave meaning to the word "rural") from its plan and outlawed it with their ordinance: agriculture.

Recently they have been presented evidence that wetlands are not healthy, safe or desirable, but they refuse to listen.

Numerous property owners, citizens of Springfield Township, have attended both previous meetings opposing the ordinance addendum proposed, but still another attempt will be made on Nov. 21 to ram this dirty thing through.

The only supporters of such an ordinance are those who want other people's property controlled and thus

We have viewed the ultimate in ignorance — a smoking scientist trespassing upon privately owned wetland (advocating its preservation) so he might find a weed there to cure the cancer caused by the weed he was smoking.

Rabid rodent found in Springfield Township, a head-liner in the Ortonville Reminder — on Gibbs Road, a certified natural beauty road, but what about safety? health?

We are also alarmed that some members of the Springfield Township Planning Commission have residential roots no deeper in the soil of Springfield Township than the tire treads of their mobile home.

We think it is time for Springfield Township citizens — property owners — to respond en masse and perhaps generate some "hot wheels" to the commission's temporary residents.

Alcohol not just a teen problem

BY TONY PINHO

In society today, teen-agers accept an overabundance of the blame. Such is the case with the problem of drinking and driving.

Sure, drinking and driving is a problem for teen-agers, but it is also a problem plaguing adults. Every day at 2 in the morning, thousands of adults drive home from bars drunk. Yet some adults still view drinking and driving as a teen problem.

I also dislike that some parents have the attitude that the school system should teach their kids about the dangers of alcohol.

My personal feeling is that this doesn't help a kid my age. By the time a child reaches high school, it's too late to teach them those values.

Plus, it's up to the parents to communicate with their children.

Tony Pinho is a 17-year-old Clarkston High School student.

Jim's Jottings

When I told my friend, columnist Jim Fitzgerald I was going north to kill a deer he said, "You can't say that. You collect them." I remember when I got on DNR officials' cases when they talked about the fall "deer harvest."

I only used the word 'kill' to try to irritate him a little. He knew it, of course, and reacted in his usual peace-loving way.

In years past I've stealthed my way deep into the woods and swamps in search of that trophy buck. Then, as grey grew thicker on my head and reason took over, I strayed not far from a road. In case I had to defend myself against a charging buck or bear I didn't want to have to drag the carcass more than a minor heart-attack-producing distance.

This season I've decided to lean against a tree next to the car, which will be just off a trail. It's part of the aging process, I think. Only if a buck has a magnificent rack of 10 or more points will I sight him on the 30.06.

Part of this conviction comes from something Jerry Olrich said last time we hunted together. He passed up a buck with deformed horns. Why? He never let one go by in years past.

It has to do with grandchildren. He couldn't take home anything less than a well-formed 8-point for his grandsons to see.

I still have the hunting urge, but it has more to do with the season and vacationing than stalking. I like being out of doors in the crisp air. After all, we wear enough clothes to hold out the antarctic cold.

And, when a snow has fallen and the pine bows are hanging from the weight ... and the sun glistens off the flakes ... and the raven calls and another answers ... the 'hunt' is forgotten and 'it doesn't get any better than this' becomes the theme.

There's nothing wrong with sitting in silence, whether it be in the living room or a forest.

There are lots of differences, of course, like woods' silence is broken with chickadees flitting and chirping near the bill of your cap. The wind will rustle some stubborn leaves on the oaks. A squirrel will chat overhead, then dart to the next tree and look back at you.

And, some darn, road-hunting guy will drive his pickup within earshot. That isn't irritating, however, unless it wakes you up.

Which brings me to the greatest part of deer hunting ... sleeping in the woods. It's wonderful how, even when laying in the snow, with the north wind swirling around your nose, and the temperature at 15 degrees, you can fall asleep in the woods.

Hunters don't sleep long, but, wow, a little bit is so refreshing. It's the best preparation for an evening in the cabin with friends, a toddy, a large meal, a fireplace and lounge chair.

That today, my friends is my kind of "deer hunting."

Letters to the Editor

Parent calls for two resignations

This is an open letter to the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education, as read at the board meeting on Nov. 13.

Good evening. My name is Dr. William Bliesath. I am a parent with children in the Clarkston schools, and I want to express my concern about the present condition of our schools and the lack of leadership from this board in dealing with a crisis of this magnitude. I will keep this presentation short because of the large number of people who are equally upset and may wish to speak this evening.

I have been very active in our schools over the past several years and have, I believe, a good perspective about our present crisis. I am also a management professor at Mott College in Flint with a master of business administration in finance and a doctorate in educational administration, all of which help me to comment on the performance of this school board.

I would like to discuss tonight what Dr. Eugene Jennings of Michigan State University, East Lansing, calls the "Failure Syndrome."

The members of what I'll call the "Old Board" have a bad case of it. President Jimmy Carter had it, too, so it can happen to anyone. But it must be cured, or the performance of the organization will continue to fall.

We have fallen so far that our children are facing a major crisis of overcrowding, shortages of support staff, outdated textbooks and other unacceptable conditions, with more severe conditions on the horizon to possibly include half-day sessions, minimum busing, no athletics and the loss of accreditation.

What are the characteristics of the Failure Syndrome? We have plenty of examples right here. Let me cite several I have observed:

1. A total lack of trust, bordering on paranoia. The Old Board doesn't trust the parents, teachers, administrators or even some of the new board members.

As a result, they try to do everything themselves. The results are obvious. That's why so many are here in the audience to show their concern.

An example of this lack of trust is the almost total lack of delegation resulting in the high number of number of meetings held by this board.

While their efforts might be appreciated, one meeting per month should be sufficient. Subcommittees should perform all of the "grunt" work. This board has meetings all the time — a sure sign of a weak board — the Failure Syndrome.

2. This lack of trust further manifests itself through a defensive posture in all interactions. We see it at board meetings, for example, in shabby, disrespectful and condescending treatment of parents who care enough to come to these meetings to speak.

Such behavior, while characteristic of the disease, is inexcusable. I will state now that I or other concerned parents will be at all subsequent meetings and will rise up in support of any person who is being treated in a similar manner.

3. With failure comes a limiting of options. Those who are failing continue to curl in and seek guidance only from themselves rather than reaching out to those who can help.

The fact that our current crisis and the impending cuts were only added to tonight's agenda at the last minute by one of our newest board members is reflective of this reluctance to ask for help until it is too late.

Until "they" have "the" answer, they don't want to talk about it. Unfortunately, the process used and the answer generated will more than likely be the wrong one. Bad decisions keep getting worse.

4. The inexcusable expenditures to "study" among other things a new high school by the previous architect, which amounted to approximately $600,000 without a contract in place were approved by these same members of the Old Board.

They spent approximately $60,000 on a site study for land we didn't and won't ever own. They signed a contract over the objections of their own legal counsel with the same architects who consumed all of this money (See MORE LETTERS, next page)

'If it Fitz . . .'

The charm
is gone

Jim
Fitzgerald

When I learned a huge conglomerate had purchased the (Lapeer) County Press, I drove 65 miles north to the County Press office and removed my award plaques from the wall. It was probably a silly thing to do, but there you are.

The County Press is the country weekly where I worked until 1976. For its first 151 years, it was owned by a succession of small-town printers and editors who attended cockfights, not meetings of a board of directors. As of Jan. 1, the owner of the County Press will be Capital Cities/ABC, the same corporate giant that owns radio station WJR and the Oakland Press in this area, and a long string of media properties across the nation.

It doesn't seem right. It's as though Len Ganeway got a clean shave and joined the Radio City Rockettes. The McCounty Press.

Len Ganeway is the pen name of Bob Myers, the final individual owner of the County Press. Around 10 years ago, after writing under his own name for 45 years, Myers changed his byline to "Len Ganeway, Staff Geezer." But every reader knows Ganeway is really Myers because Ganeway regularly announces it in his column.

So why bother with a pseudonym if you're not going to hide behind it? The only plausible answer is that Myers is one of the world's true eccentrics. His idea of a grand gourmet time is to drive to a Bob Evans restaurant and gorge on fried mush. He drives there in a Mercedes, dressed like a street bum.

When I began working at the County Press in 1951, fresh out of the MSU School of Journalism and proud of it, the newspaper was owned by Bob, his brother Bill and their father, Harry. My first big assignment was to go to Bill's house and help his wife move a freezer.

I was paid $45 a week to sell advertising, write sports and deliver newspaper to post offices and retail outlets. My intention was to stay two years and then switch to a big-city newspaper and become famous. But I wrecked an uninsured County Press car while not on County Press business — I was on a fall color tour, counting how many area saloons had green ceilings — and had to stay two more years so damages could be deducted from my paychecks.

By that time, I'd become hooked on working for a newspaper that was published for its ordinary readers and no one else. If advertisers or governments didn't like our style, they could go bag it. Once a federal official not only forbade us to print a certain piece of news, he forbade us to publish his name. So we filled a portion of the editorial page with nothing but his name, reprinted hundreds of times.

I stayed at the County Press for 25 years, becoming editor in 1961 when Bob Myers became sole owner. We didn't agree on everything, but Myers never tried to curb me from being an anti-establishment, semi-clown, bleeding-heart liberal editor in a strictly conservative Republican county. A few years after I left, the Chamber of Commerce (justifiably) gave Myers its annual Man of the Year award. I like to think he'd never have won it if I'd stayed.

I switched to full-time column writing for shorter hours, better pay and the chance to fulfill a longtime ambition to reside in a downtown high-rise. (I've been anti-bucolic ever since living in an Army pup tent during World War II). That was 14 years ago, and I've continued to read the County Press regularly, despairing in its commercial excesses — car ads attached to the front page masthead, for Lord's sake — and exulting in its innovative independence. It is still America's largest rural weekly, and the best.

If you write for newspapers as long as I have, you'll win a few awards for the same reason a monkey will write a good novel if allowed to punch a typewriter long enough. I was content to leave my plaques at the County Press as long as it was owned by some bearded old character who puts nom de plume on his fried mush.

Capital Cities/ABC doesn't cut it. I've brought my awards home to remind me of 25 happy years spent working for more satisfaction than money at the fiercely rebel newspaper that just won't be the same with a drive-up window.

From this perspective

All in the family

Tracy
King

The American family may be disintegrating in other parts of the country, but at my house it just continues to grow.

We started normally enough: my father, mother, brother and I.

Then all too typically things changed, and a whole group of newcomers entered the picture. We added half-sisters, a stepmother, a stepfather, step-brothers and a stepsister to our family almost instantly.

At first, this seemed complicated to my brother and I only as we explained our new relationships to classmates. (Sure she's my real sister. We're just sort of diluted.)

As our reshuffled family began to move forward, however, things would get tangled.

Although we were strangers, my stepparents and I were faced with situations reserved for real parents and children. There were I-have-custody weekends to get through, borrowed cars to negotiate and instant siblings to accommodate.

Our comforting, familiar house took on a whole new appearance, and certain rooms were suddenly off-limits.

It took years to appreciate the patience and fairness of my stepfather, Jay. It has just been recently that I have begun to understand the intelligence and wise non-interference of my stepmother, Mary Anne.

After awhile, peace and organization did settle, just in time for in-laws.

Here was a complicated relationship. Not only did I inherit an extra set of parents (as if I needed any), but they were also my husband's parents, with all the protectiveness and caring that the relationship can bring.

To make matters worse in my case, these two were really good parents, the kind Dr. Spock would point to as "parents who knew what they were doing." (Would they watch me raise my own children and snicker?)

After in-laws joined my family, I began to acquire stepsister-in-laws, stepnephews, second cousin in-laws and whole classifications of family that I couldn't even follow.

The yearly calendars sent to me by my mother (the real thing) became clogged with birthday reminders thoughtfully written in.

I became extra, extra broke at Christmastime. Holiday planning? It is nothing short of chaotic.

Despite the hundreds of complications that our growing family has faced, dozens of pairs of eyes have begun to turn to me.

"When will she increase our ranks, bear children of her own?" I hear them question, silently.

I begin to think of the relationships I may, someday, have to explain to my children.

("This is your second-step-aunt-in-law, dear.")

"Don't look at me," I say aloud. "I have to, first, get used to the family I have."

and who may now sue us for a large amount of additional money.

Our new superintendent questioned these expenditures and has been given a hard time by the Old Board ever since. How much failure can we afford? I want to ask the superintendent under the freedom of information act whether these expenditures matched the deficits incurred during 1987 and 1988. I am sorry to say that I think they will.

5. We have a fine staff of teachers, administrators and support staff who have done so well with so little for so long. But when was the last time they were praised by this board? Did Dave Reschke or the Sashabaw Junior High staff receive even a phone call from this board for his staff's winning of a national award?

The morale in Clarkston is falling fast, due in large part to the venomous, hostile and always negative comments from this board. Yes, it's the Failure Syndrome.

I could list other examples, but the point is this: the parents of our children have had enough. I am, therefore, asking for the resignations of Janet Thomas and Mary Jane Chaustowich from the Clarkston Community Schools Board of Education for the good of the kids and our community. The failures of these board members cannot be tolerated any longer.

Unfortunately, because the Failure Syndrome has clouded their judgment, they probably won't resign; so I am announcing my candidacy tonight for the school board position available in June, 1990.

Upon joining the board, my objective will be to provide sound and reasonable educational opportunities for our kids. I will also support a slate of candidates for the June, 1991, school board positions, as well.

Looking for help

Next week Holly Seventh Day Adventist Church members will be visiting people in Clarkston to enlist their help in the Denomination's relief organization.

First organized in Iowa in 1904, "Ingathering" has taken place all over the world every year, providing funds for local, national and foreign relief, education and health.

Sixty-four Community Service Centres all over Michigan help to feed, and to clothe the poor and victims of disaster. Bed clothing is provided for those suffering the loss of homes by fire, flood and tornado, and tents to house the homeless.

In the Centre in Holly, volunteer directors Evelyn and Harry Wohlers and helpers — working 1466 voluntary hours — have helped 2,424 persons, providing over $5,000 of food, 620 articles of clothing and 58 items of bedclothing this year so far.

They have also dispatched over nine tons of clothes, etc. to the Eastern ADRA relief center in Baltimore. ADRA, or Adventist Disaster Relief Association, was at work after Hugo struck and in San Francisco.

It was mentioned by the director of the federal relief agency on ABC the evening of the disaster. He listed S.D.A.'s with the Red Cross and the Salvation Army as an organization that could be depended upon to provide immediate assistance to those in need.

Besides disaster relief and help for the unfortunate, ADRA and Community Services provide Five Day Plan non-smoking clinics, cooking and better nutrition seminars and blood pressure testing facilities all over the nation.

Every cent you give goes to the recipient because, unlike many other relief organizations, all staff are either volunteers or are employees of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

For the past 86 years Adventists have been going from door to door about this time of year, exchanging a cheery and encouraging greeting and a piece of literature for a donation. Please be liberal this year. The one you help may be yourself — one day!

Call for part-time state legislators

Do we really need full-time legislatures?

This Nov. 7 election showed us that when one of the most important situations come up, our legislators punt and put the education ball out to you and I to decide how we want to cheat the children of Michigan out of the education they deserve and to increase the already over-taxed citizens of Michigan.

The amount of money saved by having a part-time legislature would sure be a good start to revamping the education system of Michigan.

We were proud to say our education system was one of the best. Can we say that now? Yet we are spending more $$$ Are we throwing money out that old proverbial window? Let's stop it now.

Lansing is filled with lawyers and teachers; you and I should be admiring them. Only problem is they seem to put their own needs (being re-elected), wants (more prestige) and desires ahead of common sense.

To give you an idea of some of the things that are costing you, I and the school children of Michigan money:

House Bill 4523 — Allow name changes after divorce; Senate Bill 75 (passed) — Establish Michigan Garden Week; Senate Bill 535 — Allow clergy to give premarital AIDS counseling; Senate Bill 539 — Prohibit city and village ordinance from preventing music lessons in private homes; House Bill 4164 (passed) — Township board to select person to assess damage by dog.

Others:

House Bill 5014 — Condominium association to enforce no pet rules; House Bills 4120-4130 and 5058 — Special assessment for parking, parks and subway (these are really scary); House Bill 4285 — Increase local tax rate for garbage collection; House Bill 4102 — No weapons for illegal bus drivers; House Bill 4435 — Prohibit hunting while drunk; House Bill 5005 — Increase hotel-motel county tax rate; House Bill 4681 (passed) — DNR may increase park entrance fees when credit card is used.

This is just some of the very important work that is being done in Lansing.

This is only from 14 pages of the 58 pages of status report that Lansing has been working on.

I ask you, do we really need a full-time legislature? As you can see, very little is being done regarding education-property tax relief.

Hoping you voted no-no as I did,

Marie E. Remmert

Penny Stretcher ads too jumbled contains yourself jumbled you more first the it ask and paragraph paragraph which The as this version now words the sense? same reading are is you makes all the chaotic of like letter as ads.

The first paragraph of this letter — jumbled and chaotic as it is, like your ads, contains all the same words as the paragraph you are now reading. Ask yourself, which version makes more sense?

I frequently find a need for the Penny Stretcher when I am looking for services or an item for sale. As in the first paragraph of this letter, it is frustrating, time consuming and downright inconvenient to sort through everything to try to find what I want.

Recent services that I have been shopping for include: backhoe/trenching, topsoil delivery, sand delivery, cement contractor, rubbish pick-up and haul away, reupholstery, drywall texturing, electrician, tool and equipment rental, air conditioning service and auction sales.

Recent items for sale that I have looked for include: used car, radial arm saw, automobile parts, building materials, garage door sales, VCR equipment, used lawn-mower, boating equipment, apple orchard/cider mill and boat storage.

If the Penny Stretcher categorized its ads, it would have been a very useful publication to help me locate what I need and want. However, it isn't (categorized) and it's not (useful). As a result, when it arrives, it heads straight for the trash. Please categorize those ads!

Village fathers should lighten up

I think it's a bunch of bureaucratic — that the owners at Carol's Village Grill have been told that they can't display notices of Clarkston area events, activities, meetings, etc.

Carol's has become a meeting place, sort of a town center, for learning all about what's happening in the community. Many times I've strolled past the restaurant, stopped at the front window, and learned about area craft shows, charitable events, picnics, etc. that my family and I can partake in.

I mean it's not as if they were displaying political posters or advertising. Quite the contrary.

I would suggest that the city fathers "lighten up" and let the folks at Carol's go back to doing what they did so well — provide a valuable community service by keeping area residents apprised of activities with communications in their front window.

Travels with Carrie

Philippines most interesting of Asian countries

Note: Tom and Carrie Wilford are son and daughter-in-law to Jerome and Lucia Wilford of North Main Street, Clarkston. Tom is also a Clarkston High School graduate. Before leaving on their year-long journey around the world in December, the couple visited The Clarkston News and promised to send regular updates on their travel adventures. This letter is the seventh in their travelogue.

Oct. 5, 1989
Queenstown, New Zealand

Ferdinand Marcos and his chief henchman are in hell together. They are in boiling tar. The henchman says to Marcos: "Boss, I know that I did terrible things in my lifetime, but you have done worse. Why is the tar up to my neck but only up to your waist?" Marcos replies: "Because I am standing on Imelda's shoulders."

~A popular joke in Manila

I have always wanted to visit the Philippines; Carrie was less keen to do so. This all changed in Bali when we met a well known Filipino artist, Jerry Navarro, who invited us to Manila. Arriving late at night, Jerry greeted us at the airport and drove us into the city and to our hotel.

The Philippines are most interesting among the countries of southeast Asia. Spain held an iron grip upon the Philippines for close to 400 years. The great Spanish influence throughout islands was the Catholic church. The Philippines are unique for being the only Christian country in Asia: over 90 percent of the population claims to be Christian.

In 1898 after the Spanish-American War, the United States liberated the Philippines from the Spanish. After victory in Manila Bay, Admiral Dewey sent back the message: "Have captured Philippines; what shall we do with them?"

The reply was to annex them in order to ensure America's duty to "Christianize them." Americans set out to convert the country to the American way of life, and no doubt there must have been considerable amazements to discover the Philippines had already been Christianized.

For the next 50 years, the Philippines became an American outpost in southeast Asia. With the end of World War II, the Philippines finally became an independent country.

A popular expression in the Philippines is "400 years in a convent and 50 years in Hollywood." This sums up the country's history under very different colonizers.

Manila is the capital of the Philippines. The city reminds me of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. How can Manila be so beautiful and at the same time so ugly? World War II had much to do with Manila's miseries. The city was second only to Warsaw as being the most bombed city of the war. Political corruption has also damaged Manila.

The rule of Ferdinand and Imelda Marcos siphoned off billions of dollars that could have been used for the development of Manila and the Filipino countryside.

Carrie and I toured the Marcos presidential palace and were shocked and disgusted at how the former Filipino first family could live with so much junk.

Picture the White House in Washington, D.C., with black velvet painting on the walls, and you have a general idea of the Marcos' taste in decorating.

While the average Filipino lived in poverty, Imelda Marcos owned 3,000 pairs of shoes! The current president, Cory Aquino, has wisely chosen not to live in the presidential palace but to open the building to the public as a museum.

We made several trips into the surrounding countryside of Manila with our friends, Jerry and Emma Navarro. We enjoyed seeing Tagaytay. This is a bit hard to explain. Basically, the Taal Volcano has a lake inside from which emerges a smaller volcano, inside which is another lake. From the Tagaytay Ridge, you look down upon this incredible view.

Visiting Pagsanjan Falls was another adventure. Here we rode in a brightly colored wooden canoe while our two guides pushed, shoved and pulled the canoe up river to Pagsanjan Falls, where we crowded onto a bamboo raft and were ferried under a raging waterfall.

You ears ring from the roar of the water as it pours down upon you. Back once again in your canoe, you shoot the rapids through the narrow rocky canyon.

Our last evening in Manila we had a unique dining experience at a restaurant called the Hobbit Hole. All the waiters, waitresses and bartenders are midgets.

An interesting Filipino mode of transportation is the Jeepney. These wonderfully colorful vehicles are found on all the streets of Manila. They operate as a poor man's taxi. For only a few pesos, you can travel anywhere in Manila.

Our short stay in Manila was only for one week. We could have stayed longer in the Philippines, but with the start of the rainy season, we decided to head for Australia.

Our friends had shown us warm, Filipino hospitality. Both Carrie and I felt a tremendous sadness as we said our goodbyes. We were not only leaving friends but also leaving Asia, where we had traveled for six months.

On July 28th, we arrived in Melbourne, Australia. All the best, Clarkston.

Grant funds van for wheelchairs

The handicapped and elderly in Independence Township will benefit the most from this year's Community Development Block Grant money.

The funding comes from the federal government and is to be spent by local communities to assist low-income residents and to eliminate slum and blight conditions. This year's amount is estimated at $55,757.

Because most of the census areas in Independence Township are not considered slums, it's difficult to find expenditures that fit within the guidelines, said Treasurer John Lutz.

The township board voted unanimously to spend 22 percent of the money, or $12,000, on the purchase of a new van with a hydraulic lift to accommodate those in wheelchairs.

After much debate, the board also unanimously ruled that 58 percent of the money, or $32,605, be used to make areas in the township barrier free.

Township Treasurer John Lutz proposed that money be set aside for an elevator in township hall.

Other members argued that the elevator was too expensive and that the future of township hall was uncertain.

"I'm not committed to an elevator because of the $150,000 cost of construction," said Trustee Daniel Travis.

Trustee Frank Millard added, "I don't want to tie money up for an elevator in the future when we don't know if we're going to go in that direction."

Board members eventually agreed that the money could be used on a variety of barrier free projects throughout the township, if needed.

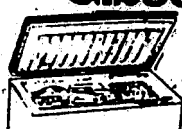

The remaining grant money in the 1990-91 budget will be allocated to a contingency fund and to public services, including SCAMP, Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, the Meals on Wheels program and the Consortium for Human Development.

DR. SUSAN COLEMAN believes education is very important for people of all ages.

Education is a powerful word

politically successful, they accomplished this by setting long-term goals and not deviating from them.

For many people education is a simple and natural process. It is part of their lifestyles. They seek to grow from it. This applies to their health, school, work, hobbies or families. They understand all the benefits of education.

Yes, indeed, education is a powerful word. For those who understand its value, the rewards are high. Be inspired, be inquisitive and most of all do not be afraid to make a dream become a reality.

Athletic director thanks volunteers

I would like to thank all volunteer Athletic Booster Club members for their help at all home football games, home soccer games, home girls' basketball games and the football banquet.

In total, these people worked a potential of 44 nights from Aug. 30 to Nov. 17. Their help during this time of budget cuts has been greatly appreciated.

I would like to thank the Emergency Medical Service unit from the Independence Township Fire Department for their volunteer service at all 18 home football games. Also, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Reserves deserve a special thanks for volunteering to supervise all varsity games.

Lastly, I would like to thank Peter Auchter for his excellent coverage of all fall sports. He covered all 15 teams at all three buildings as fairly as could be expected.

Preservation push

The October issue of Michigan Natural Resources magazine features an article on the evergreen swamp. To quote: "The evergreen swamp is a sheltered haven where life is sustained and renewed."

And then I walk by the Village West condominium project under construction on property that is a true evergreen swamp.

I am saddened by this needless destruction of our natural resources. Look around at our community; this destruction seems to dominate.

We residents need to develop an independent/Independence spirit to preserve what has always been an attractive place for all creatures to live. Run rabbit run.

Future of fire station uncertain after bond defeat

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A public safety complex for Independence Township likely won't be on a ballot for a third time, according to township officials.

After the bond issue for the project failed in two elections, Fire Chief Gar Wilson said it's obvious residents don't approve.

In an election March 28, the bond issue failed by just 55 votes. Wilson blamed poor voter turnout — two percent of eligible voters went to the polls.

On Nov. 7, the $2 million bond issue failed on a vote of 3,639 to 2,432. Voter turnout was about 36 percent of the township's about 17,000 registered voters.

"I don't really feel I'm going back to the people," Wilson said. "It's obvious people don't want to put up any more money."

If the bond issue had passed, the township planned to negotiate the purchase of a facility on Ortonville Road, formerly the Hosler Pontiac dealership.

The owner of the building, Lehman Investment, owned in part by Ed Adler, has now reportedly begun renovating the structure for other tenants. Calls to confirm the renovation were not returned. Adler also owns the Clarkston Mills on Washington Street, Clarkston, and Food Town grocery store on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

The former Hosler site "is probably out of range for any future use of the fire department," Wilson said.

If the bond issue had passed, the department had planned to share the building with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCS) for use as a Clarkston substation and possibly a new location for the the Michigan State Police post, now located in Pontiac.

The OCS will remain in their existing substation next to township hall, Wilson said. The state police will likely continue their search for a location near I-75 and M-15.

For now, the department will continue to operate the central fire station, Wilson said.

"We will stay here until we can't operate from here

Employees evacuated following bomb threat

A bomb threat prompted managers to evacuate employees from White Lake Plastics, White Lake Road, Independence Township, Nov. 10.

According to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, a woman caller contacted the plastics office about 6:50 p.m., saying "There's a bomb in there behind you, in a closet."

When the caller was asked her name, she answered, "I'm the lady who put the bomb in there — I want to watch you blow up."

The caller said the bomb was to detonate in two minutes.

Employees were evacuated, while a foreman and two others attempted to shut down equipment.

Police searched the building. Nothing of any suspicion was found, and after a few minutes the building was declared safe.

Computer upgrade

The Independence Township Fire Department is expanding its computer system to better communicate between its three fire stations.

Township board members unanimously approved the estimated $12,000-$13,000 upgrade in their meeting Nov. 8.

The expansion includes a network to link the stations via phone lines, which would allow fire personnel to access hazardous material information, inspection records and medical and fire reporting records. The fire station would also have access to the township's main frame computer in township hall.

The necessary equipment consists of a number of peripheral items and will be purchased from a chosen bidder.

"I don't really feel I'm going back to the people. It's obvious people don't want to put up any more money."

Chief Gar Wilson

any longer. Whether that's one year, two years or five years away, I don't know."

Among other options available to the department are closing the central station and operating from the two existing stations or finding another site.

"We will continue to look for property with a building on it that we could either buy on an annual payment or could lease," Wilson said.

"If that happens, the money would have to come out of the operating section of the budget, and we would have to cut back on other things."

In the meantime, problems with the existing fire station have worsened since the vote, Wilson said.

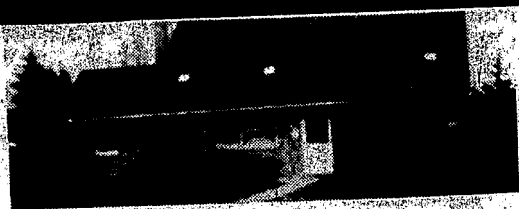

A pumper truck has broken, leaving only a 1969 model in operation.

"I can't replace the pumper; I couldn't buy one that would adequately serve the township's needs that would fit in here," Wilson said, referring to the small size of the fire station.

Wilson offered thanks to those who voted in favor of the bond issue and said he hoped those voting no still supported the fire department in general.

"I'm hoping that people haven't abandoned their support for the fire department because we're there to serve them."

"I'm not doing it for Gar, I'm doing it for the people," Wilson said.

"THE LITTLEST Christmas Tree," this year's Christmas performance at Andersonville Elementary School, will be performed Dec. 20. About 40 students have volunteered to appear in the presentation, despite long after-school practice sessions. In a section of the play, the students play the Orff, as shown here. The production is coordinated by Gloria Lacey.

RACHEL JELINEK concentrates on getting her portion right during practice for her school's upcoming Christmas play.

YOUNG STUDENTS like Stacey DeVos dedicate two hours of practice time each week to prepare for Andersonville Elementary's Christmas play.

Wolves are upset in first round

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Lapeer West wrote the final chapter to Clarkston High's success story in girls basketball Monday with a thrilling last-second victory.

The visiting West team beat the Wolves 62-60 as a buzzer-beating shot fell off the rim during a district opening contest at Clarkston High School. The loss eliminates the Wolves from the playoffs and leaves their record at 18-3.

"We had a great season," said Coach Larry Mahrle, reflecting a day after the disappointing defeat. "Eighteen victories and a league championship. I'm real pleased."

As they have all season, Susan McKoin and Rhonda Jokisch carried the scoring load for Clarkston. McKoin finished the game with 19 points, including 13 in the second half; and Jokisch added 18. Celeste Steinhelper had nine points, and Jenny McChesney scored eight in supporting roles. Carrie Roeser and Heather Steinhelper each had a basket apiece.

Lapeer West started fast and built a 9-4 lead in the early going. Clarkston cut the deficit to one on a basket by Celeste late in the first quarter before West again took control. Clarkston trailed 16-13 after one quarter.

The visitors continued to roll early in the second quarter and increased their lead to seven at 22-15. Jokisch then scored six straight points, and McChesney made two free throws to give Clarkston a one-point lead midway through the quarter.

The teams traded baskets the rest of the way. Roeser made the last of the baskets to give Clarkston a 27-26 advantage.

McKoin held the hot hand early in the second half, helping the team build a 44-36 lead with 1:07 to play in the third quarter.

Clarkston led by as many as nine points before Lapeer West closed the gap to 46-39 heading into the final quarter.

Midway through the fourth McChesney scored to keep Clarkston out in front by seven at 54-47. That's when things fell apart for the Wolves; they were outscored 15-6 the rest of the game.

"It was just a situation where we ran into a hot ball club," said Mahrle. "(Lapeer West) should be tough to beat."

The Wolves learned first-hand how tough West could be as the visitors sank three consecutive uncontested three-point shots from the corner to wipe out Clarkston's lead for good.

Clarkston had a chance to win it in the end, but a last-second shot fell off the rim as the buzzer sounded.

Dionne wins in state PPK

Justin Dionne of Independence Township finished first in his age group during the finals of the Michigan Punt, Pass and Kick competition at the Silverdome Sunday.

Dionne, who played for the Clarkston Chiefs football team this fall, was best among the nine-year-olds competing.

Last year, Dionne also made it to the finals but finished fourth. The state finals Sunday marked his seventh Punt, Pass and Kick tournament since he was eight, his father, Tom Dionne, said.

"I'm real happy and proud," said the elder Dionne.

Dionne qualified for the finals by placing first in the Waterford Parks and Recreation-sponsored Punt, Pass and Kick competition. He then advanced to the regionals in Rochester and then to the Silverdome.

All the competitors completed the passing portion of the contest during halftime of the Detroit Lion-Green Bay Packer football game.

The Punt, Pass and Kick tournament judges the skill of players through scores determined by distance and accuracy.

RHONDA JOKISCH, flanked by her parents, signs a letter-of-intent to play basketball at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, in the Clarkston High School library after school on Wednesday, Nov. 8. Jokisch is the fourth in her family to earn a full athletic scholarship to college. Joining her at U of M currently is one of her three brothers, Dan. Paul is a U of M alumnus, and Dave attended Lake Superior State. (Photo by Peter Auchter)

New Programs

YOUTH VOLLEYBALL — Instruction and leagues for both boys and girls in grades three through 12 will begin in January.

Our long range plan is to have a high school and junior high school-age boys volleyball team that will travel and play in a competitive league.

Having seen Clintonwood Park's volleyball courts being used almost constantly this summer by a variety of age groups, we see this as a great area for growth. If you have either a boy or girl who would be interested in participating, call 625-8223.

GIRLS BASKETBALL — Instruction and leagues for girls in grades three through eight begins in January. Players will learn the fundamentals of the game, polish their skills and gain some experience in game situations. For more information, call 625-8223.

Holiday Programs

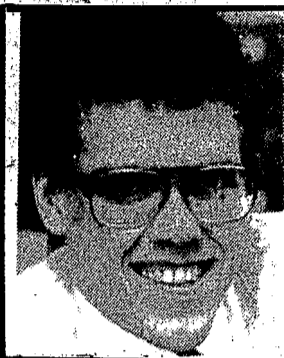

HOTLINE TO SANTA — Santa and Mrs. Claus will be taking phone calls on Dec. 18, 19, 20 from 3 to 5 p.m. to hear those Christmas wishes.

If you have a Christmas wish you would like Santa or Mrs. Claus to hear, call 625-8725. Remember call only from 3 to 5 p.m. because Santa and Mrs. Claus are very busy getting ready for Christmas.

JINGLE BELL BALL — A holiday party for the mentally impaired that will feature refreshments, dancing and a visit with Santa Claus.

Football news

Here I sit, high atop The Clarkston News building in historic Clarkston (OK, it's only the second floor, but it provides a nice view) anxiously waiting for the winter sports season to get underway.

Monday's spring-like weather certainly didn't help set the mood, but I didn't mind the fly in the ointment, if you'll excuse the cliché. Anytime we can get no-jacket weather in November — in Michigan no less — we'll take it.

Hopefully, the pay-for-participating setup won't hurt the junior high or high school programs.

Boys basketball, wrestling, skiing and volleyball are on the agenda at CHS, and I'm looking forward to them all — although standing in the cold at Pine Knob is a little much. It seems I always forget just how cold it gets standing out there watching the racers ski. A pair of gloves, thermal socks and a warm knit hat will find a permanent home in the trunk of my car soon — very soon.

Fortunately, basketball, wrestling and volleyball are played indoors and therefore are a little easier to take, weather-wise.

All should be fun to watch, however.

Saturday's light rain made playing tackle football in the slushy mess that was left behind fun. Unfortunately, it was only a two-on-two battle among friends, but it was fun all the same.

On Sunday, as I made my way to the Silverdome to watch the Lions beat up the Green Bay Packers 31-

If you would like more information on any of these programs, or have ideas for new programs, call the Independence Township Parks and Recreation department at 625-8223, or stop by the office in the bottom floor of the township hall, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

Time Out

22, I realize why players like Jerry Ball cry for more money. I was in pain. I was cut up. This is a game?

Sure, it would have helped to have been in shape, but that's not my point. That game was hard work. Just like the gladiators of days gone by. All that was missing was a cheering/jeering crowd to offer a thumbs up or down after each battle.

While the hits didn't hurt on gameday — this adrenalin stuff works great — I knew I was in for some fun as soon as the game ended. I wasn't disappointed. But I'd do it again. In the rain, snow or slush. Just about anything but the parking lot of my apartment complex. (I'll leave that for the real wild and crazy guys. My elevator still makes it to the top floor without much difficulty, if you know what I mean.)

Soon after finishing the game, I realized the only down side to playing in a mud bowl is cleaning up afterward. What we needed was one of those 25 cent do-it-yourself car wash stalls.

Nice white cleats are now forever muddied (that's just on the inside), and four shorts and three sweatshirts were mud soaked. I was glad I hadn't driven to the game site.

When the heat of the battle subsided, the cold reality was hard to take. And let me tell you, it was real cold.

Co-workers (all female) wondered why I went through this willingly. They wouldn't have done it had they been paid. And I guess that's just as well. After all, boys must be boys.

Sashabaw sewer work to begin by December

Work on the long-awaited Sashabaw Road sewer project could begin in late November.

Construction on the $260,900 project had been delayed for several months while the township obtained necessary easements along the sewer site.

Easements grant permission to use land belonging to another for such things as roads or sewers.

At the Independence Township Board meeting Nov. 8, engineers told members that the delay has forced the initial contractor on the project to raise his prices by 15 percent.

Now that all easements have been obtained, engineers recommended that the board award the contract to the next lowest bidder.

Board members voted 6-1 to grant the bid to CD Cole Co.

Voting yes were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Clerk Joan McCrary, Treasurer John Lutz and trustees Frank Millard, Daniel Travis and Mel Vaara. Trustee William Vandermark voted no.

The new contractor told engineers that work could begin Nov. 27 and would last about 75 days.

The sewer will extend along Sashabaw Road from the McDonald's restaurant to Waldon Road.

Thanksgiving worship at United Methodist

The annual community interdenominational Thanksgiving worship service sponsored by the Independence Township Pastor's Association will be hosted this year by Clarkston United Methodist Church, 6600 Waldon Road.

Participating churches include: Calvary Evangelical Lutheran, Clarkston United Methodist, Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church, North Oaks Community Church, St. Daniel Catholic Church and Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church.

The service begins at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 22, and will feature a combined choir from several of the churches as well as brass and handbell music.

The Rev. William Schram of Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church will be giving the message. The offering will be donated to Lighthouse-Clarkston. Child care will be provided for babies and pre-school children.

Reporter's Notebook

When acting clerk Artemus Pappas informed Clarkston Village Council President Sharron Catallo that a regularly scheduled meeting fell on Dec. 25 and asked if it should be changed, she jokingly wondered why.

"What's wrong with that," she said. "We'll do dinner here."

Opening the volumes of mail addressed to The Clarkston News/Penny Stretcher doesn't offer much excitement but at times can be quite humorous.

For example, included in Monday's mail was a press release from a Detroit-area radio station that was addressed to "Ms. Penny Stretcher" in care of The Clarkston News.

Should this person exist, the mail can be picked up at The Clarkston News office.

Reporter's Notebook is compiled by Clarkston News staff members.

Attention parents:

Does your son or daughter play on a sports team? If so, ask their coaches to call The Clarkston News each Monday before noon, so we can include your team's results on our Scoreboard page.

Berlin Wall crashes close to home

3 Clarkston Junior High students share family experiences of historic event

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

School books can only teach so much. The rest is learned through experience.

Such was the case for students in Barb Glover's classes at Clarkston Junior High last week when the Berlin Wall figuratively came crashing down.

Instead of reading a textbook, students learned through shared family stories and taped television news broadcasts. They then drew posters commemorating the historic event. The posters were hung on the walls throughout the building.

"This day will be in the history books," Glover said. "It's been exciting. I hope it will be a date these kids will remember."

families' first thoughts with the Clarkston News Friday.

Before the fall of the wall, Stephanie Sanders was promised a trip to East Germany (her mother's native land) as a high school graduation present, but she didn't know if it would be possible. Now, the dream trip of her life may come true after all.

Reaction to the news was pretty strong in the Sanders household.

"My mom was cutting onions (when she heard the news)," Stephanie said. "I couldn't tell if she was crying from the onions or about the wall."

Stephanie's grandfather was rounded up by the Nazi's during World War II to be executed with the rest of the Jews.

Somehow, he managed to elude death by falling to the ground as the firing squads shot their victims. Unhurt, he later crawled out of a pit of dead bodies and escaped to America. Once there, he joined Stephanie's mother and aunt, who had escaped from Germany earlier.

Russell Verman's grandfather, originally from Hungary, emigrated to the United States when he was 18 and always had plenty of stories to tell of the Berlin Wall.

"He hoped to live to see the wall come down," Russell said, adding that, "My dad was just overwhelmed."

Personally, the new freedom given to East Germans means something special to Russell, as well.

"I was happy to hear that relatives could come over here, and I could go there someday," he said.

Sara Klopfer also was glad to hear the news she could visit with relatives she has never seen. Her father is a native East German.

"He couldn't believe it," said Sara of her father's reaction to the news. "He was stunned. My aunt (calling from California) was hysterical — she was laughing and crying."

Reaction throughout Clarkston Junior High, including those students without personal ties to East Germany, was favorable, thanks in part to the many posters that were drawn by Glover's first and third hour sixth-grade classes.

"The children are talking about it; it's had a snowball effect," the teacher said, adding her personal feelings of the event: "I never thought I'd live to see this day."

THREE Clarkston Junior High School students share their family experiences following news reports of the dismantling of

A happy homecoming is planned

When the Berlin Wall came down on Thursday, Nov. 9, Independence Township resident Hana Olsen was among those cheering the historic event.

"It's my home town, what can I say," she said Monday. "I've been watching the tube all week."

Olsen's family immigrated to the United States in 1955, before the wall was built, thanks to her mother's intuition that something bad was about to happen, said the Clarkston High School girls soccer coach.

Since that time, Olsen has returned to visit her homeland, and relatives still living there, but didn't like what she saw.

"It was very, very depressing," she said. "I can't understand why the Germans waited this long."

With the wall coming down, section by section, Olsen has another trip to Berlin planned for March. This time she is looking forward to the vacation.

"It'll be kind of fun," she said. "I can't tell you how happy I am."

HOUSE VALUE VS LOT VALUE

QUESTION: What is the proper relationship between the cost of a lot and the value of the house on it?

ANSWER: Old rules of thumb have lost much of their meaning. It used to be that land represented about one-sixth of the home's purchase price. Then it moved up to one-fourth. And it will change again as the cost of land continues to rise.

Nevertheless, the land value versus house value ratio can not be totally dismissed because it does, to some extent, affect the resale value of the property. It may not make much difference if you put an inexpensive house on an expensive lot, but it could be a mistake to have too much house for the land.

Business Briefs

Third generation joins garden store

The third generation of the Bordine family has joined the management team at Bordine's Better Blooms during its 50th anniversary year.

Kimberly C. Bordine graduated in 1987 from Michigan State University, East Lansing, with a bachelor of science degree in horticulture, emphasizing floriculture and business.

While attending MSU, she was vice-president of the horticulture club and a member of Delta Gamma fraternity. She completed internships at Molbak's Greenhouse and Nursery in Woodinville, Wash., and Paul Ecke Poinsettias in Encinitas, Calif.

Kim also worked for two years at Molbak's, learning retail management before returning in September to be the garden store supervisor of Bordine's Dixie Highway, Springfield Township, location.

As a member of the Professional Plant Growers Association, Kim traveled to Australia in 1988 for a month-long horticultural tour.

In 1939, Bordine's was founded on Rochester Road, Rochester, by Darrell and Marian Bordine. Since 1976, the company has been led by their son, Bruce.

Bordine's has developed into an industry leader, known for service, quality plant material and state-of-the-art growing technology.

Landscape design wins gold award

Lowrie's Landscape, Inc., of Dixie Highway, Springfield Township, recently won a gold landscape design award in the category of Residential Landscape Construction Over $20,000.

The company, owned by Tom Lowrie, was honored at the Metropolitan Detroit Landscape Association Annual Banquet Nov. 10 at Laurel Manor.

The award was for work performed on the Hubner residence, for which Matt Madsen will also receive a landscape design award in the Environmental Improvement Awards contest.

Cafe reviewed in Michigan magazine

The November issue of Michigan Living magazine hails the Clarkston Cafe in Clarkston for cuisine and ambiance.

Len Barnes, author of "Dining in Michigan" and editor-in-chief of the magazine, wrote that "even the brownstone outside the cafe carries on the obvious preservation ethic of this one-traffic-light town's main street."

Clarkston Cafe features a dinner menu of 32 entrees, including filet mignon, New York strip steaks, sandwiches, omelets, fish and an array of appetizers. Barnes recommended the morel mushroom appetizer and the "Clarkston style" onion rings. He rated the lamb rack with rosemary crumbs and honey mustard sauce "excellent."

Michigan Living, the official publication of AAA Michigan, is circulated monthly into the homes of 1.5 million members.

Citizens for Orderly Growth

Concerned with hotel-condominium-office-retail-theater development

Doug Carlson

Following is an article that was in the Nov. 6 edition of Crain's Detroit Business magazine:

"A local partnership bought a 140-acre parcel in Independence Township last month for an undisclosed amount and plans to develop it as mixed-use project.

"Dan Gilbert, one of the three general partners, said the township's planning commission got its first look at preliminary plans for the site at its meeting in mid-October.

"He said an informal presentation was made on the project, which would be one of the largest developments in the rural Oakland County township, located northwest of Pontiac.

"Initial plans for an unspecified mixture of detached condominiums, a hotel, offices, retail space and a movie theater. But the plans, designed by Bloomfield Hills-based Alexander Bogaerts & Associates Inc., could change.

"We are simply in the preliminary planning stage, trying to work with the township as closely as possible to do the highest quality development we can," said Gilbert, who also is president of a Birmingham-based residential mortgage banking firm.

"Although no formal request has been made, the partners will seek to have the property rezoned as a planned unit development (PUD), which allows different types of uses under a single classification. The entire vacant site currently is zoned for homes on minimum lots of 1.5 acres.

"A PUD on the site is 'not in compliance with our master plan,' said township supervisor Frank Ronk. 'I don't think that means it's a "no" right off the bat, but they are going to have to work with the planning commission and do some negotiating.'

"Regarding the office and hotel, Ronk said the township 'needs some sort of facilities of that nature.' There are no hotels in the township, which has one small movie theater.

"The vacant parcel is on the southwest corner of Dixie Highway and White Lake Road.

"The state equalized valuation on the property is $418,400, township records show. That means the land has a true cash value of $836,800.

"The site contains a 40-acre wetland, which will be preserved as is, said Gilbert, president of Rock Financial Corp."

The article goes on to talk about Gilbert's association and the purchase of the property, but you get the idea.

This proposed development first surfaced in The Clarkston News several weeks ago. As a result, I went to township hall to find out what I could about it.

I was told not to get too concerned about the project since it was only in the exploratory stage. Yes, they had met with the developers, but it was simply a courtesy afforded to anyone who approaches the township with such a proposal, etc.

Besides, they said, the planning commission would have to review it first and make a recommendation. Since the planning commission had reviewed it, and essentially turned it down, I pretty much forgot about it until it turned up again in Crain's.

Now I am getting concerned. These developers didn't pay three quarters of a million dollars for property without some confidence that they'll get what they want out of it.

I've lived here long enough to see these things work their way through the system until it's too late to stop them.

Well, I can assure you that COG will fight this project, as will the people in the surrounding neighborhoods.

The question is, will the township listen? Why not come to our next meeting where this will be a topic of discussion? It will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 30, in the Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot Road. If you're at all interested in what is happening to your township, you should make a point of being there.

Doug Carlson is the chairman of Citizens for Orderly Growth.

Theater casting change

In the upcoming productions of "Man Enough," presented by the Clarkston Village Players, the part of "Sheila" will be played by Sandy Sanford instead of Karen Knight.

Township budget hearing

A public hearing to discuss the adoption of Independence Township's 1990 budget for all general and special revenue funds is set for Tuesday, Nov. 21.

The hearing, at the township hall annex, begins at 7:30 p.m.

A copy of the proposed budget is available for inspection by the public at the clerk's office, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Springfield board listens to hunting concerns

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

About six residents voiced opinions for and against hunting in Springfield Township Nov. 9.

The township board took no action, but Supervisor Collin Walls said he received about eight to 10 phone calls, twice as many as last year, from residents concerned about hunters in the area.

"They have an honest fear for safety of their family," Walls said.

One person heard a bullet ricocheting, he said. Springfield residents expressed concern over the danger of hunting.

Peg Sokolnicki of North Edgar Road, Springfield Township, said she called the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) when she heard shots near her home.

The DNR didn't investigate the shots because the people were probably target shooting on state land, she said, adding that hunting season is dangerous. She is concerned for her children's safety.

"I don't let my children out in hunting season," said Greg Stevens of Ratalee Lake Road, Springfield Township.

Sokolnicki said, "They should be able to be out." Stevens, a township hunter for 10 years, represented the pro-hunting side of the discussion. But all hunters

42-lot sub OK'd for M-15

A 42-lot subdivision in the Cranberry Lake area obtained final plat approval from the Independence Township Board Nov. 8.

A plat shows the layout of the lots, roads and utilities.

After a lengthy discussion on several administrative details, board members voted unanimously to grant the final approval.

Cranberry Pointe is to be located on 33 acres east of M-15, north of Cranberry Lake, Independence Township.

Beverly McElmeel, director of the building and planning department, told members that the developer had addressed all concerns of the township planners and engineers.

Although Oakland County Drain Commission officials had been concerned about soil erosion and about a small discoloration of the lake, representatives are now satisfied, she added.

Board members questioned the developer, from Biltmore Properties, about efforts to contain overflow water from heavy rainfall and about plans to reforest areas that had been damaged in early construction.

Township attorney Gerald Fisher expressed concerns about deed restrictions and suggested that an association be developed to oversee maintenance and preservation of some project elements.

Springfield hearing on Dixie rezoning

Residents near Dixie Highway and Lavon Drive may want to show up at a public hearing before the Springfield Township Planning Commission Tuesday, Nov. 21.

James Tomblinson of Flint is requesting a rezoning of his 14-acre parcel of property from single family residential to general business.

The meeting is at 7:30 p.m. in the Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway.

should have permission from property owners before hunting, he said.

"If they are violating the law, then turn them in," Stevens said.

Currently Springfield is open to hunting.

To close the township to hunting, the township would request a committee, to be comprised of the township supervisor plus representatives from the Michigan State Police, Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) and DNR, said Walls.

The township board would act after receiving the committee's recommendations.

Residents may call the OCSD or DNR if they hear shooting close to their home. Hunters are required to be 450 feet away from dwellings and carry written permission while hunting on private property.

The DNR has the jurisdiction to ticket a hunter in violation of the law.

Walls offered assistance to those in the audience who were concerned about hunters.

"If the sheriff's department is not giving you the proper response, call in here, and we will help," said Walls. "There is a thing called courtesy and law."

Township meets Dec. 13

The regular monthly meeting of the Springfield Township Board has been moved back one night in December.

The board is to meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 13, at the township hall, 650 Broadway. The meetings usually take place on the second Thursday of the month.

The date was changed because it conflicted with a meeting date of the Oakland County Landfill Siting Advisory Committee (OCLSAC) of which Supervisor Collin Walls is a member. Walls is to serve as temporary chairman for OCLSAC in December.

Opinion of Bill Myers

Quake and storms are all Bill's fault

William A. Myers is a retired Lapeer County editor and investments manager from Boca Raton, Fla.

The good Lord seems to be telling our family something. We are beginning to get the message only now, because we aren't very bright.

First, Hurricane Hugo blasted St. Croix, where my son and his wife and their son, William Anthony, 5, live. They spent the night in their half-completed home the night of the big blow, sheltering besides themselves a neighbor's child, plus two dogs, two cats and a guinea pig.

There was no glass in the windows yet, so they held sheets of plywood against them with a car and a Jeep they drove into the house.

For some five hours, Hugo ripped and snorted and screeched, but everything held together. Little William slept through the whole thing, quite likely because he was the only one with a clear conscience.

Their Montessori school down near the beach lost part of the roof, and a lot of books got soaked. I didn't know schools used books any more.

There have been no lights or water since. So much for Hugo. School has been reopened, sort of.

Hugo also hit the area where my brother has a condo, north of Charleston, but he wasn't there, and besides, he's rich.

Back to Beulah, Mich., which we had left just about this time. One of those nasty little cyclones which smack Lake Michigan now and then ripped down the lake, toppled some big trees, blew a few roofs off and left seven inches of hailstorms. We were out of town, so the Heavenly message missed us.

Then came Oct. 20 in San Francisco, where my Baby Sister (the one who writes the impertinent letters) and her husband, Fred, live. Here two children live not too far away.

So here's Baby Sister at 5:04 p.m. on the 13th floor of their apartment on Nob Hill, and suddenly the whole place starts rocking. The refrigerator and the telly stop. There are no lights. The chandeliers sway and gyrate crazily. Books pop out of the bookcase. A Chinese screen topples, a Royal Doulton figurine flies off the shelf.

The Siamese cat lets out a howl and heads for sanctuary - under the bed. (He hadn't come out yet by Oct. 24).

Meanwhile, ol' Fred's driving home from his Walnut Creek law office, north of Oakland. At 5:04 p.m., he's on the approach to the Bay Bridge.

A minute later, he's cussing as only he can do, because traffic has stopped and he's due home early because they have tickets to the opera that night.

A fellow comes along the line of cars to tell them the bridge has collapsed and they should try to turn around and get out of the mess. Fred does just this and takes the long way home over the Golden Gate Bridge, which is still intact.

The worst was yet to come. He had to walk up the 13 floors to the apartment because there was no power for the elevator.

Next day, he walked down the 13 floors to get some flashlight batteries, and the fellow in the store just laughed at him. So he walked back up to Floor No. 13, and last I heard, he has been there since.

You think that's funny? Try climbing 13 flights with a gimpy knee.

Back to Florida. The paper this morning reported the coldest Oct. 24 ever recorded.

I am herewith confessing my sins and doing my best to get into a state of grace before the roof falls in.

Good news about the Social Security "cost of living" boost for next year. Your benefit check will go up 4.7 percent. If you are now getting, say, $1,000 a month, then your first check, due Jan. 3, 1990, will be $1,047. That amounts to $564 more for the year.

Now for the bad news: if you are working for somebody, the amount taken out of your paycheck goes up from 7.51 percent to 7.65 percent. Say your pay is $1,000; then $76.50 will be deducted, up from $75.10 in 1989.

Not so bad? There's a catch: in 1989, you were taxed only on the first $48,000. The 7.51 percent skim quit at $48,000, for a total of $3,064.

In 1990, the new rate of 7.65 percent prevails until you've earned $50,400; that means $3,855 in tax next year.

The Social Security tax you pay directly will go up $250.

Your employer will be hit the same way. One way or another, it will somehow come out of your hide - an extra $500 for Uncle Sam.

The misbegotten soul who works for himself, who doesn't have a boss to split the bill with, at least for a while, will pay the whole shot: 15.30 percent on the first $50,400 he makes. Total: $7,711. This year, it was $7,209.

Ouch!
I work for myself (nobody else can stand me), and this 1990 tax of 15.3 percent just about equals the net Social Security that I will draw. I say "net" because I pay 28 percent income tax on half of my Social Security income.

That Social Security income results from my having paid into the Social Security fund since 1938 - half a century ago. Under Social Security, after 50 years of contributions, I'm breaking even on my pension. Some security!

Sisters combine forces on craft business, child care

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Barb Townsend of Independence Township often depends on her sister, Judy Glass of Farmington, to keep her paints running smoothly.

Barb paints on cloth, mostly sweatshirts and linens, and Judy is the business manager for Hand Painted Sweatshirts by Barb.

"Judy organizes me," said Barb.

A math major, Judy's organizational skills stay at peak level for Barb's business, Judy said.

The sisters work together about three times a week, despite the long distance between Independence and Farmington.

But Barb, who moved to Independence Township about a year ago from Livonia, enjoys her new home.

"I've always said Barb had a country heart," said Judy.

Other difficulties also arise, namely, children: Judy has a 6-year-old son and a 3-year-old daughter. Barb has three daughters: a 5-year old and 3-year-old-twins.

When they're together, it's often Judy's job just to watch the children. Barb must make time during her busy schedule for painting.

"I get up at 5 a.m. and paint until 7 a.m.," said Barb.

At that time, the house is quiet; she's more alert, and she can enjoy her coffee while working on her creations, she said.

Barb has done oil painting for a long time but started painting on the sweatshirts about two years ago.

When Judy became business manager, Barb started selling at craft shows.

One of Judy's first jobs as business manager was to contact different craft shows, she said.

"I have slides for juried shows, and some places I must physically take the merchandise to them," Judy said. By the end of this year, they will have been to 15 craft shows, including Santa's Workshop Nov. 18 at Clarkston High School.

The two did a show previous to Mother's Day at Jacobson's department store in Dearborn and will be there again Dec. 9.

The store displays Barb's items for about two weeks before she arrives, and then she'll be there between 1-4 p.m. to paint small items with simple designs and take special orders from customers.

Judy helps out in that area, too. She spreads a base coating of paint on some of the items.

"If I had to do all of this, I couldn't paint," said Barb.

Judy is one of Barb's biggest fans. "Each shirt is unique, and Barb's color combinations are classy," said Judy.

Judy and Barb's mother, who lives in Florida, also helps as their "best model."

"She wears the grandmother shirt Barb painted, and one time a stewardess didn't want her to get off the plane until she told her where she got her shirt from," said

Combined with Barb's artistry, the two are successful selling hand-painted linens and sweatshirts at local craft shows.

Craft wholesaling business becomes family affair

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Members of the Warren family were typical crafters when they started.

Daughter Val would create a few embroidered pieces, or would paint scenes on wood plaques, and the family would rent a table at a craft show or bazaar.

After they sold out of their items at a few shows, the three women put their heads together to decide how to keep their tables better stocked.

"Val and her brainstorms," laughs Jackie, mother of her partners, daughters Val and Carol.

"We were just messing around," Val explains. "I thought if we had other things to sell, to give us variety..."

The idea has developed into a thriving wholesale craft business, aptly named VMC Handcrafts, short for Val-Mom-Carol Handcrafts.

The company contracts with various artists and promises to pay them for the craft at a price the artist sets. The company makes its profit through fees charged to the artist and with money they earn by selling the craft at market price.

VMC Handcrafts has thrived during the five years of its existence in part because of what the three call the "big business" of the craft industry.

"It is big business," says Carol. "If (a craft item) is in style, it will become quite competitive."

The three explain that items for sale are no longer the simple works of hobbyists, but elaborate handmade items. The crafts might go in and out of style -- for instance pigs are coming back in as ducks are heading out -- but quality and workmanship is a must.

VMC Handcrafts includes in its inventory everything from ceramics, to knitting, to floral arrangements to jewelry.

The three scurry around Jackie's Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, basement to uncover examples, such as a stuffed bear in a letter sweater which plays a college fight song.

The merchandise is elaborate and attractive and fills up most of the spacious basement.

Throughout the "in season", which runs from September to December, the company might work in several shows per week.

Packing and loading the craft items has been worked into a science, which the three demonstrate.

The three partners have wisely split up the responsibilities of running the company.

"Mom worked books for years in town so she does that," Carol explains. "I worked retail for eight years and Val did taxes."

The three all look to Carol to arrange the company's two regular show tables. "We now ask ourselves 'would Carol put that there'?", explains Val.

They all acknowledge that working together -- family or not -- hasn't always been easy; but they've crafted a situation that works.

Santa's Workshop this Saturday

Santa's Workshop craft show is set for 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 18, at Clarkston High School.

Sponsored by the Clarkston Area Jaycees, the show features area artisans with wares ranging from baskets and wreaths to baked goods and Christmas ornaments.

Admission is free. The school is off Walden Road between Sashabaw Road in M-15, Independence Township. For more information, call 625-2539.

Children's Christmas party tickets out

Tickets are available now for the annual children's Christmas party sponsored by the Independence Township Library.

The Dec. 9 party is geared toward children ages 3-8, and the 125 available free tickets go fast, said children's librarian Ann Rose.

Because of the high demand, admission is by ticket only, and the free tickets must be picked up in person from the library on Clarkston Road, said Rose.

The party consists of a puppet show and Christmas stories, gifts, cookies and an optional $1 picture with Santa.

Co-sponsored by Independence Township area businesses and service clubs, the party is set for 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 9, at the Church of the Resurrection on Clarkston Road across from the library. For more information, call 625-2212.

OH, CHRISTMAS TREE! Sweatshirts like the one pictured above are among Barb Townsend's creations that will be for sale at Santa's Workshop Nov. 18.

Judy, adding that they've received orders for the grand mother designs from people in Florida.

Barb custom designs her paintings from pictures in books, from which customers are welcome to choose a design, she said.

One of Barb's more recent designs is a harvest scene, family tree and Christmas tree that have small wooden ornaments pinned to the sweatshirts. The ornaments are removable for laundering.

It lets the people wearing the shirt create their own scenes with the ornaments.

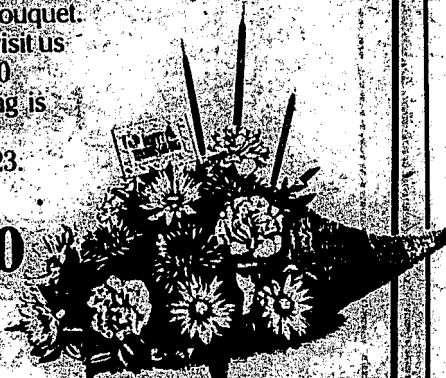

The sisters said they offer painted sweatshirts and pants for children at reasonable rates. Other items for sale are painted linens and bibs.

If customers bring their own sweatshirts, Barb charges $10 an hour to paint decorations.

Springfield resident molds students' interest in art

CONNIE CONTOS DAROS of Springfield Township shares her love of art with students at the Valley School in Flint. Daros schedules professional artists to teach the students.

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The focus on science and math has been gathering steam in the debate over childhood education, but what about art?

Isn't art just as important to a child's development? One Springfield Township artist says the answer is yes.

"Art directly correlates with development in a young person," says Connie Contos Daros, artist in residence at The Valley School in Flint.

"A total well-rounded human being can do certain things through drawing and color at different developmental levels," she adds.

Daros' job reflects the importance of art at The Valley School, a private, non-denominational day school for students from pre-kindergarten through the 12th grade.

As an artist in residence, Daros schedules professional artists as teachers each semester, making up a department that includes pottery and ceramics, fiber art, photography, art history, print making and drawing and painting. Many of the courses are mandatory requirements for students at different age levels.

Daros has scheduled classes on demand in areas such as calligraphy and portraiture, the only requirement being that the interested student gather up three friends to make up the four-student minimum class size.

That's a lot of art for any elementary, middle school or high school; but The Valley School isn't an ordinary school.

Each of its approximately 160 students travel from as far away as Lapeer, Frankenmuth and Rochester to attend classes designed for those with special potential.

Daros' own son was transferred to The Valley School, and after Daros fulfilled her promise to teach there temporarily, she found that she wanted to stay.

A long-time Springfield Township resident, Daros doesn't mind the regular commute to Flint. Her husband is in the medical profession there, and she volunteers regularly at the Flint Institute of Arts.

In fact, an early middle school teacher who encouraged her to pursue art as a child, hired Daros for the teaching position in Flint and works with her at the Flint Institute of Arts.

Daros, now an accomplished watercolorist, says, although she may not have been born with artistic talent, attention to the craft is what counts.

"Anyone can learn to draw or have a spark of creativity, but whether they like to do it — that can determine how far they take it," Daros says.

"I've seen students with minimal ability but with such an intense interest level ...," Daros recalls, adding that in her art program, she tries to gear the courses towards each person's motivation.

With Daros in charge of the program, students at The Valley School can't help but get the spark they need.

An Apple for the Teacher

Susan Powers
first-grade teacher

By Elizabeth Bisbikis

Enter — one vivacious and energetic teacher surrounded by 20 curious and eager students. That would be Susan Powers thoroughly enjoying her first-grade class at Andersonville Elementary School.

For 14 years, Susan had taught learning disabled students but decided to take a major step — that of becoming a general education teacher. When this opportunity arose in January, 1988, she did not hesitate to take it and has not regretted it.

She is dedicated to her students, offering them opportunities to achieve greater heights throughout the year.

"Six- and seven-year-old children have such a desire to learn, and they are not afraid to take risks," says Susan. "At this time, they have all attained success."

The message that she hopes to convey is to never give up, and ever accomplishment, no matter how small, is important. Her attempts to instill a good self-concept are reflected in her goals.

Born in Celina, Ohio, she lived there until she attended college. She obtained her bachelor of art degree at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, and her master of arts degree from Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio.

After she had taught for 3 1/2 years in Defiance, Ohio, she moved to Michigan. Susan was a special education teacher then and continued in this capacity here in the Bailey Lake and Clarkston elementary learning resource rooms.

Teaching first grade at Andersonville has brought many exciting career changes, and she has gained new friends who have come to respect her for her complete dedication to her family, and the teaching profession.

Her endless energy abounds in her family life with her husband, Rick, and her two young children. She enjoys family-oriented activities. One such activity is hiking. One of the family's goals is to hike the Appalachian Trail. Rick has previously hiked half this trail, the longest in the world.

Scuba diving is another favorite. Susan enjoys the underwater serenity where she can view beautiful animal and plant life. She has even ventured through old ship ruins. She recommends this sport highly.

Family travels have included Canada, Florida and Bermuda. Living on Lotus Lake offers the Powers family many wonderful opportunities for winter and summer recreation.

She is a member of St. Daniel Catholic Church, Clarkston, where she has organized Bible school classes. She is also a member of the education commission there. She was director of a summer school program involving reading and math.

At Andersonville Elementary School, she is constantly involved in committee work benefiting the school and its students. Susan is a friendly and charming personality who extends her hand readily, and her peers readily accept it.

An Apple for the Teacher is provided through the efforts of the Clarkston Education Association. This week's author, Elizabeth Bisbikis, is a first-grade teacher at Andersonville Elementary School.

Tips for making your Thanksgiving Day easier

Don't let all the last minute details of Thanksgiving dinner give you the butterflies this year.

"The great variety of side dishes that accompany the traditional Thanksgiving dinner are enough to give even the experienced cook a problem," says Sylvia Treitman, home economist of the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

Planning recipes that can be made up ahead and either frozen or refrigerated is the key. Get your pen and paper and cookbooks out, and get started.

Some other tips to help:

— Make a shopping list and equipment list. Figure out which serving items you will need to use and get them out and polished. Protect with plastic bag or clean cloth.
— Make an actual schedule, what day you will do each task.

— Clean and cut all vegetables used for all dishes one-two days ahead and store in plastic bags.

— Prepare bread dough and freeze all ready to be baked fresh day of dinner.

— Make seasoned croutons for stuffing ahead. (Stuffing should not be assembled ahead of time; nor should turkey cavity be pre-stuffed for safety sake. Warmth can cause growth of bacteria, leading to food poisoning.)

— Make cranberry relish ahead and freeze or refrigerate.

— Pre-bake yams or sweet potatoes one day ahead.

— Prepare pumpkin pie, freeze and bake fresh on Thanksgiving Day, or bake the day before and refrigerate; warm up to serve.

— Set table a few days ahead; just over with cloth to keep clean.

— Make centerpiece way ahead — start now if you can.

— Prepare marinated vegetable salads one to two days ahead, depending on ingredients.

Volunteer garbage men? Why not?

Suzanne Baumann

This afternoon, as I stood outside, my fingers met up with an unusually nasty autumn breeze. A torn piece of gum wrapper rode along with my gloves as I pulled them out from my coat pocket.

As it was caught up by the wind and blown a few feet in front of me, I chased it, thinking, "There's too much litter around here already. I'm not going to make it worse."

Usually, I'm the type of person who says, in a case like this, "If it had been a Styrofoam fast food container that just fell out of my pocket, maybe I'd go after it. But this little piece of foil? What harm can it do?"

By itself, I think, that gum wrapper couldn't do awfully much, but gum wrappers are very sociable creatures. They find others. And candy wrappers. Business cards. Cigarette butts. Pieces of lint. As I knelt down to retrieve my garbage, I discovered the surrounding grounds were covered with those "little things" that had fallen out from the pockets of others.

A short while ago, I was part of a community clean-up day with our recently formed environmental concern group.

The figures went as follows: 2 1/2 miles of roadside. Ten people. Three hours. Eighteen large bags filled with garbage ... and still plenty left on that stretch (despite the fact that we never stopped for a break) left untouched.

The litter kept going on and on. It seemed to multiply as I worked. A section of roadside that looked immaculate at first glance could yield a quarter of a bag's worth of scraps.

"No matter how hard we try," I was told that day, "we're never going to be able to get it all."

The roadside trash had its own stories to tell, although I didn't quite understand all of them. Like that grimy gray bath towel in the ditch by the street. Did it blow off somebody's clothesline? Had some gentleman laid it down for a lady who preferred to cross ditches rather than using the nearby driveway? Had somebody taken an outdoor mud bath?

Or take the shopping list I found. The writer was looking for something he or she called "baby juice." Is this some kind of new cannibalistic party drink? As long as it comes in returnable bottles.

I worked for a little over an hour in a residential area. Most of the trash in its vicinity, I've decided, comes from people who believe they're doing their part, putting their garbage in bags for the pick-up service they paid good money for, only most if it ends up being dragged around the neighborhood by animals.

As I picked up, I looked around for the guilty party. The beagle trying to jump the fence behind me? The Doberman across the street? The raccoon in the middle of the road, intestines trailing behind? I think that one learned a lesson.

While I was crawling around on my hands and knees, I was amazingly never once hit in the head by a cigarette butt tossed from a passing car. I'd estimate that there was a good two-inch lining of used, occasionally lipstick-stained cigs up and down either side of that road.

I bet you thought those white lines were painted there by the road service, right? Out of the smokers who don't throw cigarettes from their car window, a good percentage of the rest must dump out the ash trays directly onto the ground, I discovered as I picked up around a self-service car wash.

If any of the people who accompanied me on clean-up day happen to be reading this, I know you heard what I'm about to say a thousand times that day, and you can skip over this part.

To the rest of my readers, this is the first time it really hit me — those little things make a big mess!

At the car wash, most of the litter I collected was obviously stuff people just brushed off the car seats or shook from the floor mats, maybe even things that just happened to fall out of the car while someone stepped out. They add up faster than I ever believed possible.

I, for one, plan to be a lot more careful about where I let my garbage fall. If I drop something and let it lay, I'll be sure it's on an easily vacuum-cleaned surface.

Suzanne Baumann is a junior at Clarkston High School.

Thanksgiving dinner: How much does it cost?

As the weather turns cold and Michiganians settle into November, thoughts turn to roast turkey (or goose for the Michigander) and pumpkin pie.

Having family and friends gather for a big turkey dinner on Thanksgiving Day is part of a great American holiday tradition. It's also a good energy value for electric customers of Consumers Power Company.

How much of an energy value? Consider the following: the cost of the electricity needed to cook a traditional Thanksgiving meal for 12 guests in 1989 is approximately 60 cents.

The meal costs break down as follows:

* The cost to roast a stuffed turkey in an electric oven for four hours: 42 cents.

* Mashed potatoes: a large pan cooked on an electric burner for 20 minutes costs two cents.

* Giblet gravy-cooked on the stove for 10 minutes costs one cent.

* Dinner rolls? Bake the homemade variety for 20 minutes: cost of electricity is 3 1/2 cents. (For the not-so-ambitious chef, prebaked dinner rolls can be heated in the microwave oven for three minutes for an electricity cost of a 1/2 cent.)

* Bake a vegetable casserole in an electric oven for 30 minutes: cost of electricity is five cents.

* No Thanksgiving dinner would be complete without pumpkin pie. Bake two pies for an hour in your electric oven: 10 cents.

If, while the dinner is cooking, the family gathers around the television to watch the parade or football game, the cost of electricity to power the TV for four hours would be five cents.

Former coach, teacher heads LeMead's restaurant

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Lynn Mead, head chef and managing partner of LeMead's on Dixie Highway, is a firm believer in the "garbage in, garbage out" motto.

He'll only buy the best ingredients and use top cuts

LYNN MEAD is the head chef and managing partner of LeMead's, a family restaurant on Dixie Highway.

of meat to prepare for customers of his new restaurant. "All the food is prepared fresh," he said. "If you buy quality products, you don't have any problems."

Mead, a former food service instructor at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus and more recently co-owner and executive chef of Chipper's Restaurant at Spring Lake Country Club, can't recall ever being out of the kitchen, so to speak.

LeMead's opened for business June 1 and has done reasonably well considering the on-going construction on Dixie Highway.

"It's been a crimp on business, but that's a fact of life," Mead said. "(Business) has been good. The highway department tells us it's just a matter of days before they finish work on this end of Dixie."

The opening of LeMead's is the third restaurant

What's New in Business

Mead has owned at least a part of. A group of Clarkston area residents own the corporation. Mead is the managing partner, but everyone helps out any way they can, he said.

Mead grew up in Ypsilanti but graduated from Northeastern University, Boston, with a business degree. He later earned a master's degree in education at Wayne State University, Detroit.

He has also been in the army, attending military food service schools, and remains an active army reserve food advisor.

Closer to home, he was the junior varsity soccer coach at Clarkston High School for about five years until business commitments forced him to quit after the 1987 season.

"That's the one thing I really miss," he said. "I thoroughly enjoy coaching."

He lives with his wife in a subdivision near Bailey

Lake Elementary in Independence Township. The Meads have one child. She attends the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. When possible, she also helps out at the restaurant.

Helping out with the day-to-day operations at the restaurant are assistant managers Becky Kellar and Robin Larvick.

"They do an excellent job taking care of the customers," Mead said.

The restaurant's lunch menu includes chicken pitas, chicken breast barbecue, beef fajitas and pitas, steak and cheese sandwiches, the classic club, slim sam and LeMead's Special, one-half pound ground round on a grilled onion roll. Prices range around $4.

At dinnertime, a full line of family entrees, including fish, shrimp, a variety of pasta dishes and beef and pork selections are offered.

Daily specials are listed for lunch and dinner. The restaurant offers top-of-the-line quality at reasonable prices, Mead said.

He hopes to secure a liquor license for the 100-plus seat restaurant in the future, so beer and wine can be added to the dinner menu.

LeMead's opens at 6 a.m. for breakfast daily, 7 a.m. on Sundays.

IRS seeks residents

At least two Clarkston area residents haven't received their federal income tax returns. Both Geraldine O'Neill and Betty J. Hopkins are being sought by the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS believes most of 1,281 refund checks that could not be delivered belong to taxpayers who moved or changed their last names during the year and failed to notify the postal service or IRS.

If you believe you are due a federal income tax refund, but have not yet received it, call the IRS, toll free at 1-800-424-1040.

Keep turkey safe and off the hips

At the first Thanksgiving, Pilgrims and Indians rejoiced in the bountiful harvest with a festive abundant dinner.

Today, the tradition of a hearty meal remains intact, but the holiday brings to many weight-conscious individuals a feeling of anxiety rather than joy.

To help avoid overeating at Thanksgiving, Weight Watchers offers the following tips:

* Starting the week before Thanksgiving, tell yourself every day, "Of course I can control my eating on Thanksgiving."

* Enlist your family's help for the cooking and/or cleaning up to help you avoid too much "taste-testing" and left over nibbling.

* Do not starve yourself before the holiday meal. You'll be tempted to overeat if you're ravenous by the time the meal is served.

* Dress slim. Wear an outfit that hugs your waist attractively instead of dressing in baggy pants or skirts that "leave room for eating."

* If you don't want to overindulge, select the foods you want, then position the other foods away from arms' reach and spend most of your time concentrating on enjoying your family and the conversation.

* Place your utensils down between each bite and eat slowly, so you can taste and enjoy your Thanksgiving meal.

* The holiday should not become more important than YOU. Holidays come and go quickly, but the pounds that accompany the festivities do not. Remember the essentials: plan ahead, eat smart and keep positive attitude!

The good old American turkey is pulling into the fast lane this Thanksgiving. With today's hectic lifestyle, more consumers are seeking time-saving techniques for their feast.

"There are lots of ways to save time in preparing your Thanksgiving dinner, but pre-stuffing a turkey should not be one of them," says Sylvia Treitman, home economist at the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

The warm, moist environment of the turkey cavity encourages bacterial growth. The odds of contracting food poisoning in pre-stuffing your bird are not worth the risk.

Some local markets may feature completely cooked pre-stuffed turkeys and accompaniments as a time saver, raw stuffed poultry or commercially frozen stuffed turkeys.

For all turkeys, removing stuffing is essential after roasting. For safety, reheat stuffed poultry, as pockets of cold stuffing may remain, and this is unsafe.

A safe practice for all turkey is to divide leftovers into small portions and refrigerate. Leftover cooked turkey will keep three to four days in the refrigerator. Use stuffing and gravy within one to two days.

These products need special attention. To avoid food poisoning, follow these tips.

Cooked pre-stuffed turkey from the deli

- Immediately remove all stuffing to a container.
- Serve turkey and stuffing hot or refrigerate until serving time.

Raw pre-stuffed bird

- Roast immediately, same day of purchase.
- Remove stuffing immediately when done.

Commercially frozen stuffed turkey

- Roast frozen; do not defrost before cooking.
- Remove stuffing when done.

For more information, call the Food Hotline, 858-0904.

Lighthouse needs help

Lighthouse, a human services agency in Pontiac, is short of donations this year for the annual food baskets distributed for Thanksgiving.

Normally, Lighthouse feeds 4,500-5,000 people with 1,500 baskets, consisting of turkey, vegetables, stuffing, bread and dessert.

In its 14th year, the program also feeds some Clarkston area residents. Anyone who would like to donate money or food should call 335-2462 or write or visit Lighthouse, 109 Williams St., P.O. Box 424, Pontiac, MI 48056 by Friday, Nov. 17.

For more information, call 335-2462.

When I was young

By Christine Fleicher

When I was young
I was like a book, empty, waiting for my pages to be filled.
As I grew my pages began to fill,
pages turned into chapters.
All memories I behold,
all them I can bestow
remembering youth as I hit my older days, my book almost complete.
As I turn back the pages and look upon them,
I see all the happy and sad memories that fill this book.
As this book fills its final page
I look upon it and think to myself if I could rewrite this life, I wouldn't change a thing.

Christine Fleicher is a 17-year-old Clarkston High School senior.

You

By Bruce A. Stewart

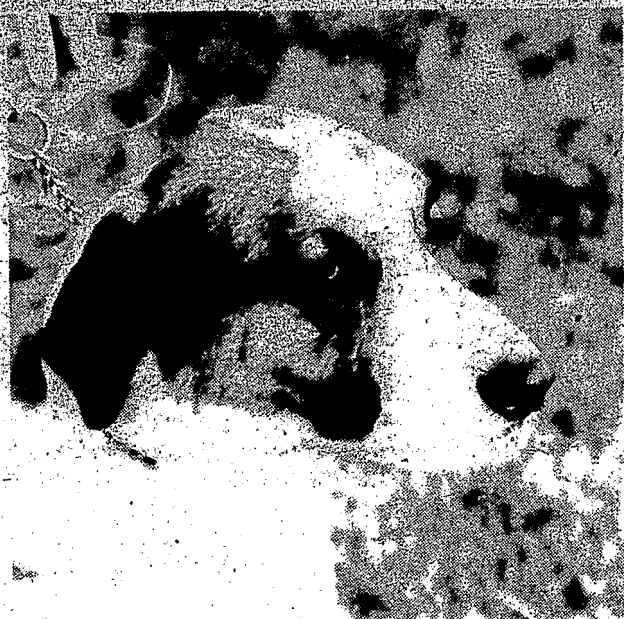

I can't stop and listen, halt and look.
Taste the presence and feel its mood.
Bleak existence built on a mound of gold clay.
From afar I bleed, not of red and not of green but of you.
Walls of emotions and floors filled with tears.
I lie on this couch of terror and love.
Sink into its dreams and situations.
Pull myself up with reality that never listens.
Tragedy in the fall tress.

It is damp outside and suitable for blue thoughts.
Sentimental and acidic words that kiss many memories.
A longing for a hold with a touch.
A talk with a word of meaning.
Scent of fragrance with a smell.

Walking in two.
The established you.

Bruce A. Stewart resides in Independence Township.

New leadership idea for Clarkston Junior High

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

A new team concept in student leadership began at Clarkston Junior High School in September.

So far things are running smoothly, said Counselor Marge Dever.

"They are a real enthusiastic group," she said. "The kids are there because they want to be."

Whenever volunteers are needed, it's common to see more hands raised than students are needed, the counselor said.

Instead of the usual school government arrangement in which a few students are selected to organize school events, the new set-up allows for more of the student body to become involved.

"It's a whole new concept," Dever said. "I'm real excited about it." Dever is co-sponsoring the group with Jayne Bannister.

In grades six and seven, 90 kids signed up for the leadership program. In grades eight and nine, 80 kids decided to join. Each interested student needed two teacher and 15 student signatures on a petition.

From the two large groups, the student body then (See FUTURE, next page)

Future leaders

(FUTURE, from previous page)
voted for its leaders — one set for grades six and seven another for the upper students.

"They represent the whole school, not just one class," Dever said.

For the sixth and seventh graders, Jill Attaman was voted president; Arica Cooper, vice president; Lisa Herron, treasurer; and Kelly Raup, secretary.

Shea Kammer is president for the older students. Anne Brueck is vice president; Lisa Kenny, treasurer; and Lisa Kozierowski, secretary.

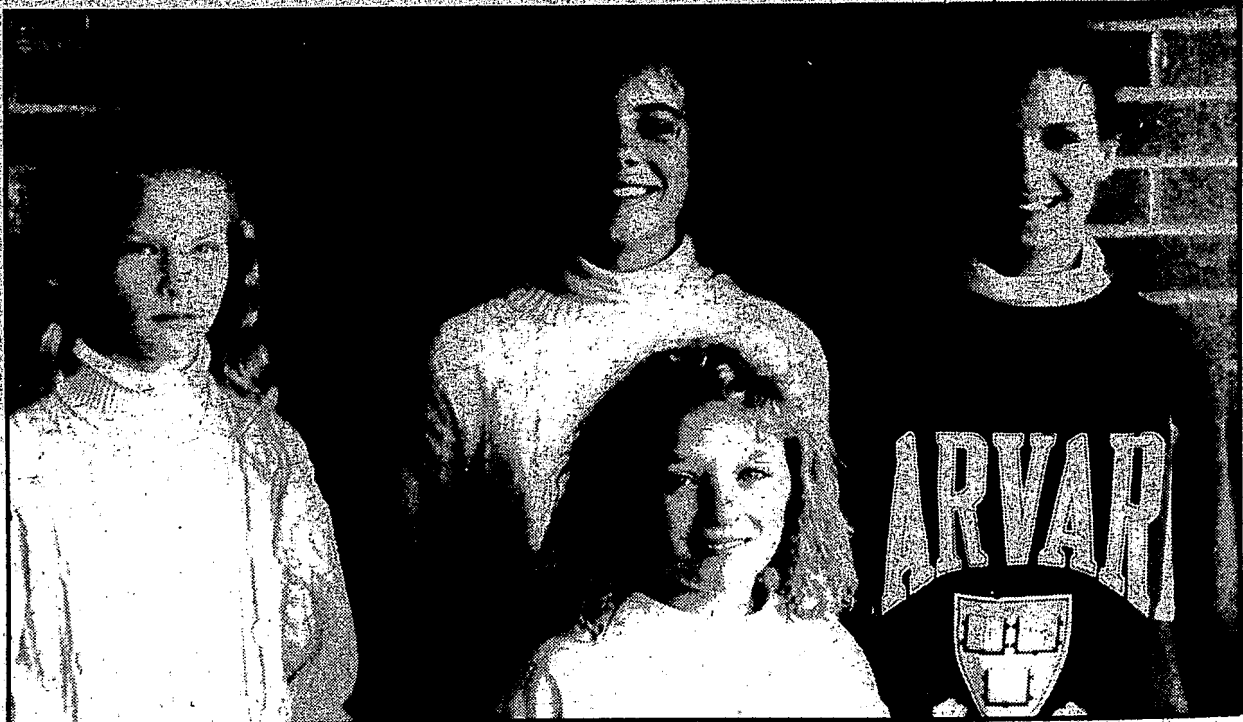

With a large number of students involved, the leadership duties will be divided among all, Dever said.

"We used to burn out the student council members" by the end of the school year, she said. "More kids will be a big advantage."

One thing's for sure, the entire group should remain busy throughout the school year.

A number of students marched in the Homecoming Parade in downtown Clarkston; some participated in the SCAMP walk and a fund-raising candy sale to purchase equipment the kids believe would be beneficial for the school, said Dever.

Future events include two or three community service activities, one social event per month and doing things relating to the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

WHO IS ON THE LORD'S side let him hear that hath an ear to hear. He that humbles himself shall be exalted and he that exalts himself shall be humbled. To label myself a prophet, teacher, father, pastor, Rev. priest, or apostle or evangelist or rabbi or chaplain so and so and to have it so people will call me that is having a desire for mens admiration in the heart and not being crucified with Christ. A hireling! An enemy of the cross of Christ! It is another means of undergirding men's system of domination over men's souls and faith in God. Its a tool to create authority over men's conscience to have them follow them and systems, conforming to the world's ways, rather than teaching men to follow Christ, being lead of the Holy Spirit and be mindful of the things of Christ. By the system of religion people will be allowed to remain in all sorts of selfishness, pride, and lusts serving mammon. They never will come to accountability because of false doctrines, vain imaginations of men, and Jewish fables. Men want to steal and lord over the flock of God. All in that system of the flesh, refusing to seek out and do truth, will never be able to walk by faith because the people are carnal; using the name of Christ to seduce, sold to the sin of unbelief in Christ as Lord of his body and not men. The Holy Ghost and doing the word of God is the faith, comfort, and leadership of the body of Christ. All that ministers speak are not necessarily the truth and it is needed to rightly divide the word of truth by the Holy Spirit. The calling of pastor to a person or any other office, doesn't mean he or she is an old testament priest. Anyone who decides to come to God and be forgiven can go to him directly thru Christ. The only mediator between God and man is Christ Jesus. We have (today) prophets, pastors, evangelists, and apostles in reality, acting and thru their teachings, like priests of old insisting all have to come under their dominance. Its not what God has set forth through spirit and in truth. This comes from a lack of truly being crucified with Christ and really being mindful of the things of Christ. Their belly is their God and they want all to be circumcised in religion even when they don't even obey what they do know. They will absolutely persecute and (or) despise those, or tolerate also, that walk after the Spirit of Christ and not after the flesh. ILLX45-2
