More growth likely in the 1990s

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Growth, growth, and growth top the list of predictions for the 1990s among local school and government officials.

And while managing growth will be a priority, many recognized the need for projects that go along with it, such as solid waste management, the need for better state legislation and patience among all people.

Most of the officials interviewed for this article had innovative, progressive ideas for the upcoming year, and almost all of them were optimistic in their outlook. Some safely refused to speculate on what the New Year would bring.

Growth isn't all bad

Independence Township will see more growth, predicts Supervisor Frank Ronk, but it won't be rampant, unchecked growth.

The township expects to better accommodate the needs of the growing township with more staff members and a beefed up police patrol.

"Probably growth will continue," Ronk says. "Maybe not as rapidly — more on a level plane."

"I think the outlook for better roads is good; traffic will continue to get heavier; it's just a fact that it's going to do that."

The Supervisor also expects good relations to continue among factions in the township.

"I think most of our associations with the schools and the village will continue to be harmonious," Ronk says.

"Probably in the next year our staffs will increase, not noticeably, but by a few people."

"We can look for law enforcement in our area to be more noticeable with the addition of three deputies in January," he adds.

"There are some good things that happen with certain aspects of development," Ronk says. Dealing with the byproducts of growth

While Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls refrains from making predictions for the New Year, he does identify issues that will likely surface in 1990, primarily that of solid waste.

"A big issue faced by all municipalities in Oakland County is having to deal with solid waste in its entirety," (See CLARKSTON, next page)

Closed for holiday

The Clarkston News office will be closed on New Year's Day, Monday, Jan. 1, 1990, so there are early deadlines for the Jan. 3 paper.

Walls surmises.

As a possible solution to the growing problem of solid waste, Springfield Township is considering a recycling center proposed by Clarkston Disposal's Rick DeKowski. A site plan for the recycling center is under review by the township planning commission and zoning board of appeals.

Among the supervisor's list of projects for 1990 is determining the proper use for the Shiawassee Basin, a 400-acre park across the street from Davisburg Elementary school.

"A project more locally is planning the development or non-development of the Shiawassee Basin," Walls said. "We're in the beginning of the planning stages."

The basin was acquired two years ago with money from the Michigan Land Trust fund and is planned for recreation purposes.

"Hopefully by the middle of the year we will complete the planning process and, based on that, will begin some development, or plan use or non-use as the case may be," Walls adds.

allo doesn't feel comfortable offering predictions and instead chooses to wish everyone health and prosperity for the new year.

"I've given up predicting because things are changing too rapidly," Catallo says.

A wish list

It's not difficult to determine what school officials are hoping for in 1990.

As state funding problems whittle away at revenues for the Clarkston school system, officials look for alternative sources of funding.

"I set as a goal, by design, the passage of the millage," said school board President Janet Thomas. "Hopefully it's something all encompassing, so that this is not a problem or situation all the time."

Thomas adds that part of the solution must come from Lansing in the form of legislation.

Clarkston and Independence Township will see more growth, Thomas predicts.

In looking at 1990 from global perspective, she says economically we may be headed for harder times.

"There have been some dire predictions from economists that the economy will get soft or flatten out," Thomas says. "I hope those aren't too accurate."

"We live in a changing world; the '80s and '90s are characterized as a period of transition. We're getting out of manufacturing and are more of an information society," she says.

Among the things Thomas would like to see in the next decade is more of a coming together.

"I hope we could get into a point in time when all of us could understand one another — not agree with one another, but understand," Thomas says.

"We need to support one another, so we don't segment society."

"It would make us all better people," she says.

Independence says no to Deerwood sewer payback

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A developer hoping to be reimbursed for a sanitary sewer system built in Independence Township walked away empty handed after meeting with township board members Dec. 19.

The board voted 6-0 to refrain from negotiating a payback agreement with developer John C. Helveston Jr., whose company constructed a sanitary sewer for the Deerwood subdivision in 1973-74.

According to township officials, Helveston developed portions of Deerwood but ran into financial difficulties and was forced to abandon the project.

Helveston is seeking $417,000 from the township board, stating that in 1975 board members approved a motion to negotiate some sort of payback agreement.

Voting to deny this latest request for a payback were

"This township has never taken a position of paybacks since I've been on this board."

Treasurer John Lutz

Supervisor Frank Ronk, Clerk Joan McCrary, Treasurer John Lutz, trustees Frank Millard, Daniel Travis and Mel Vaara. Trustee William Vandermark was absent.

An attorney for Helveston, John DeMarco, reminded the board that the sewer was now being used by several other subdivisions, including Hunter Creek Park, Cranberry Pointe and Olde Sturbridge.

The motion to negotiate a payback, subject to mutually agreeable terms, was passed in 1975. Since then, the two sides have corresponded, DeMarco said.

When Helveston came before the board to begin negotiations in 1985, the measure was tabled so that statements from former board members could be obtained.

DeMarco asked the board what he should do next. "The previous board has already agreed 'let's do it,'" DeMarco said. "Now let's get it done."

"I don't think this board can change its position," he added. "Mr. Helveston is not going to be hard to deal with."

Board members questioned township attorney Gerald Fisher about whether the township was bound by the 1975 motion.

Fisher answered that the motion was only an agreement to negotiate and that the payback depended upon a "mutually agreed upon arrangement."

Township board members then indicated they did not plan to negotiate with Helveston.

"This township has never taken a position of paybacks since I've been on this board," said Lutz.

"My question is if the board agreed at that time (to the payback), why didn't they do it at that time?" Ronk said.

"That was 14 years ago," said Vaara. "It should have been dealt with then."

"This board is just not comfortable (with a payback)," Ronk said.

After the discussion, Ronk said he could guess the direction DeMarco might take.

"The courthouse," DeMarco replied, suggesting he would sue the township over the issue.

Voter rolls will be thoroughly cleaned in January

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When was the last time you voted? Or moved?

If it has been longer than five years, your voter registration stands a chance of being canceled under a new state law.

The law requires a municipality to maintain only a five-year active voter list and to cancel the registrations of those unknown to the township for more than five years.

A voter is considered active if the township has some record of activity during that five year period, which includes moving, signing an election petition or voting.

Around the first of the year, the voter roll is reviewed, and all residents who have been inactive for five years are sent a notice. If they do not contact the township election department within 30 days, their registration is canceled by law.

The procedure cleans up the rolls and allows the township to keep better records, says Independence Township Elections Clerk Rosemary Howey.

"We never cancel anyone without verifying that they've moved," Howey explains.

"We don't want to disenfranchise anyone," she cautions. "We try to be very careful. We know their vote means a lot to them."

Under the old law, the township kept a four-year active voter list. If a resident was not active after four years, he or she was put into an inactive file, maintained for six years. This would keep voter registrations alive for offices, which allows them to remove the resident from the rolls.

There are between 16,000 to 17,000 active voters in Independence Township and about 3,500 inactive voters, Howey estimates.

Consequently, the first of the year is a busy time in the elections office.

"It's quite a project," Howey says. "We have to get all these notices out and keep files that give them 30 days. ... Everyone (in other townships) is in the same boat."

Notices to inactive voters will likely be mailed from the township within the first two weeks of January, Howey says.

Absentee voters should start early

Absentee voters are encouraged to allow themselves plenty of time to complete the voting procedure.

If the voter is having a ballot mailed to him, the process takes an average of two weeks, says Independence Township Elections Clerk Rosemary Howey.

A voting application must be filled out and signed by the voter before a ballot may be mailed, Howey explains. Elections officials must actually match the voter's signature to their records on file to avoid fraud.

After the signature is verified, the ballot is sent and must be received by the elections office before the polls close on election day.

"The day after the election, we always receive some in the mail, which makes us feel bad," Howey says.

Residents may also cast an absentee ballot in person at the elections office in the township hall annex building, 90 N. Main Street, Clarkston.

The deadline for obtaining an absentee ballot for the Feb. 12 school millage election is 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 10, 1990.

"We try to be very careful. We know their vote means a lot to them."

Rosemary Howey

10 years, instead of the five now outlined by the new law.

"With the six-year extended inactive list, we might know that a resident doesn't still live here, but we couldn't cancel without waiting for the six years to end," Howey explains.

In the case of deaths, the elections department receives notices from the Secretary of State or deeds

Firefighter injured in garage fire

Combustibles stacked near a wood-burning stove were the likely cause of a fire that caused extensive damage to a home on Indianwood Road, Independence Township, Dec. 23.

Firefighter Steve Goss suffered second degree burns in the blaze — probably from hot water that burned through his gear, said Capt. Steve Ronk. Goss was treated and released from the Clarkston Ambulatory Care Center.

About 2 p.m. last Saturday, township firefighters were called to the scene on Indianwood Road, west of North Eston Road. The fire was so strong, the firefighters at Station No. 2 on Clarkston Road could see the flames from their fire station.

"It was really rolling from the get-go," said Ronk.

Apparently, the homeowner had stoked the wood-burning stove in his garage and left the room. When he returned and opened the door, the fire erupted, said Ronk.

Though no dollar estimates were available, the fire caused extensive damage to the garage and a second story attic, said Ronk.

Village West project boasts 'natural look'

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Even though the site condominium project is still under construction, interest has run high among future Village West homeowners.

Construction on the 5.7-acre parcel of land near the Deer Lake Beach in the Village of Clarkston should be completed sometime in the spring, probably around the end of April, said Ron Zilka, president of Vintage Construction Co.

"We are on the down side (of the mountain of work that needed to be done)," he said recently. "The sewers are in; the roads are in. ... I'm real happy."

What's New in Business

All that's left to do is the curbing and underground electrical work, Zilka said.

When it's completed, there will be eight homes on the site covering the 5.7 acres. Sixty percent of the acreage will be common land. (Each of the eight buyers will own 1/8 of the property.) The remaining portion will be sold off in small cubicles that homes can be built upon.

The average price for the 2,000- to 2,400-square-foot lots is $125,000, Zilka said. Area brokers will market the project. Four customers have placed a deposit on a plot in Village West.

Zilka doesn't expect many problems in finding interested homeowners for the remaining sites once the project is complete.

"It's a real attractive piece of land," he said. "We feel these eight lots are an asset to the community."

He went on to list a number of attractive features:

- a one-acre pond that fronts all lots.
- heavily treed landscaping.
- natural look to property.
- homes will be compatible with Clarkston's architecture.
- within walking distance of the village.

Zilka looks forward to working with customers once they purchase their plot of land. He hopes to continue a business relationship with them all.

"Hopefully, all eight (homeowners) will want Vintage Construction to build their home, but I don't believe in locking a customer in to live in the project," Zilka said.

RON ZILKA, president of Vintage Construction, stands on the undeveloped property abutting Deer Lake before work began. Most of the natural beauty of the Holcomb Road property will be retained when the project is complete, Zilka said.

BE WARY OF NET LISTING

QUESTION: I told my real estate agent that I wanted $120,000 for my house. He offered to sell it if he could keep anything OVER that amount he received as his commission. What do you think of the arrangement?

ANSWER: If an agent proposes to guarantee you a certain sum from the sale of your home in return for the chance to keep anything OVER that amount, you have been offered a "net listing". This arrangement is open to so much abuse that it is illegal in about half the states.

Any number of complications can arise. The AGENT'S interests are now paramount although the law requires that you, the client, must come first.

THINK TWICE before offering to sell your home with a net listing. It is open to much abuse and is often illegal.

Woman killed in Sashabaw crash

A Brandon Township woman was killed, and an Independence Township woman was seriously injured Friday, Dec. 22, after being pinned in their vehicles following a head-on collision on Sashabaw Road.

Diane Michelle Brown, 27, of Wildwood Loop, Brandon Township, died shortly after emergency workers rescued her from her smashed vehicle.

The car was so smashed, it took over 30 minutes to extricate her, said Capt. Steve Ronk of the Independence Township Fire Department.

The other driver, Patricia Louise Langdon, 49, of Maybee Road, Independence Township, remained in stable condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital on Dec. 26.

A second set of equipment was used to extricate her from her vehicle, said Ronk, adding that the severe cold temperatures made it imperative to have the two crews working at the same time to quickly rescue the pinned victims.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, Langdon was driving south on a curvy portion of Sashabaw Road, about 1/4 mile north of Independence Oaks County Park, when she crossed the center line and struck the northbound vehicle driven by Brown.

Both drivers were wearing seat belts at the time of the accident.

The road was dry but was white with salt, and the day was sunny.

Safety belts are still saving lives

Don't forget to buckle up over the holidays and every day you drive.

The grim statistics alone should be enough to con-vince us all to wear safety belts. According to the Michi-gan Coalition for Safety Belt Use:

■ Traffic crashes are the number one killer of Americans ages 1-44.

■ Safety belts reduce the likelihood of fatal or serious injuries by 40-50 percent.

■ $750 million a year is spent on medical costs in Michigan due to the non-use of safety belts.

■ The probability of being involved in a motor-vehicle injury accident during a 75-year lifetime is higher than 86 percent.

There are more statistics, but we've all heard them in one form or another. More convincing are the unfortu-nate stories — too many of them.

As a journalist in a small town, it's difficult to see the accident reports week after week. If the victim isn't known personally, he or she is known by someone you know.

Many victims survive a car crash only to face months and sometimes years of rehabilitation. Some are young — teen-agers not even finished with high school. Some are older — mothers, fathers, grandfathers.

And many of the serious injuries could have been prevented.

■ In a national survey of registered voters, 86 per-cent agreed that wearing a safety belt will one day save their lives. Yet national safety-belt usage is only about 46 percent.

If you don't already buckle up, maybe that could be a New Year's resolution for the next decade. JLC

Saddened by priest's sudden death

BY BEVERLY TERRITO

This winter has a bitter-coldness to it that has chilled deep into the hearts of the people of St. Daniel's commu-nity. We are saddened by the sudden passing of our pastor, the Rev. Charles Cushing.

We are like sheep in the snow, longing for the warmth and care of our shepherd's embrace.

We miss the rugged man with the tender heart. We knew of his unselfishness, his honesty, his practicality — our church buildings are monuments to his dedication to the needs of our parish.

We knew of his brilliance, his wit, his knowledge of scripture and church history — his writing and homilies were profoundly meaningful to us.

We knew of his controversies and hardships — they helped him appreciate and counsel our needs with compassion.

His gruffness never fooled us because his softness never left us. Now, his absence is hurting our hearts the most. We come together in our love and loss and feel a unity and realize this community has flourished through his love and leadership.

Now we have to trust and pray in the faith that he encouraged, that our parish, this flock, will continue to grow and thrive with a new shepherd.

We can draw from the strength Father Cushing nurtured in us, and we will keep his spirit alive in our midst because we will always remember this man, our friend, our pastor, Father Charles Cushing.

Beverly Territo is an Allen Road, Independence Township, resident.

Jim's Jottings

Jottings isn't going to get very serious this New Year's week. It'll stick more along the lines of: The little boy says to his father, "Daddy, I put a stick of dynamite under the teacher's chair today."

"You did," responded the father, "You go right back to school and apologize."

His son asked, "What school?"

Then there's some new legal definitions the police chief of Charleston, South Carolina come up with. It fits Michigan, too.

Misdemeanant: A guy who swears he won't do it again.

Felon: A guy who lets other people swear he won't do it again.

Judge: A man who sentences an armed robber to five years in prison and then runs across him at the supermarket that same night.

Police officer: A guy who risked his life to catch a crook who will be released on bail an hour later.

Prosecutor: A guy who learned all he knows by watching a tv show like 'Let's Make A Deal.'

Sheriff: A politician who pretends he is also a law enforcement officer.

Police chief: A law enforcement officer who pretends he is not a politician.

Bailliff: A guy whose loud snoring proves that he has no interest in the case.

High-priced lawyer: The only one who really convinces a crook that crime doesn't pay.

Crooked politician: A guy who always manages to benefit from the one thing he claims to hate the most—a lenient judge.

That definition about of a high-priced lawyer reminds me of the remark a lawyer made to his client. . . "When I was a boy my highest ambition was to be a pirate."

And the client said, "That so? Congratulations!"

Someone gave me a collection of jokes (?) that are so old the address promotion cards of the Mallard, Inc is Detroit 16, Michigan.

I'd like to recycle a couple:

Tom: "Why are most wives like umpires?"

Dick: "I'll bite--why?"

Tom: "They never think you're safe when you're out."

A safety sign read: "School--Don't Kill a Child." Beneath it was scrawled, "Wait for a teacher."

I said the jokes were old. One last one: Mother: "Are you teaching that parrot to swear?" Johnny: "Naw! I'm just telling him what he shouldn't say."

Jokes (?) like that sort of make you glad the year is over, doesn't it?

I'll try to not expose you to such pain in the next decade. . . decade? Wow, where did the '80's go? Happy New Year!

Letters to the Editor

Tax reform needed

I was surprised that two of the letters in last week's edition were not intended to be sarcastic when they were saying that Clarkston schools does not need everyone's positive vote on the coming school millage.

Unfortunately, because of the effects of the Headlee Amendment, the state, separate from our local school, has in effect taken from us property taxes to prevent a state budget deficit. For that reason, I believe that state tax reform is necessary, although not the nonsense provisions the state pushed at us in the fall election.

However, Clarkston schools, the children, and the community cannot wait for the statewide politics to sort itself out. The voters of this community have done an excellent job of monitoring school budgeting practices and wringing out any excesses.

It would be obvious to anyone who has taken the time to examine the school's financial situation and review the quality of services we enjoy to see that the schools are, by and large, run very lean. In addition, the voting public has demonstrated that it would in the future not hesitate to discipline any excesses in spending. The proposed millage vote is not about increasing taxes, but is merely an effort to start on the road back to the level of school funding of the past, to assure the continued delivery of quality educational services.

This millage vote is different than every other school millage vote as a community have faced. It is not just important, but imperative, to the continuing viability of a credible school system in our community.

Neil E. Wallace

Act of kindness

An act of kindness in our community should not go unnoticed. This week, more than 50 sixth-graders at Sashabaw Junior High School contributed to a fund to buy presents for needy children in Oakland County.

This effort was sponsored by Mrs. Joy Kunkler, a parent, and Mr. Brown and Mrs. Brown, sixth-grade teachers.

On Saturday, Dec. 16, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and four students, Brian Sword, Janice Baird, Holly Holewinski and Leana Kapper, took time from their busy schedules to shop for toys that Mrs. Kunkler will deliver to the Michigan Department of Social Services this week.

I'm proud of these students, teachers and parent for this generous contribution of time and money.

Principal

Spread the word

Throughout the history of our civilized or not so civilized world, the "new leader" would terrorize the intelligentsia so as to eliminate any protest.

Those leaders know that the source of power was knowledge. By keeping the "peasants" ignorant, these leaders could do as they pleased. Our state legislators are an excellent example of this as regards their funding of public schools.

Unfortunately, we have a similar situation in Clarkston. For too many years the problems of the Clarkston schools were just "swept under the rug." Most of us were kept ignorant about the condition of our schools. That's the way our school board thought it ought to be. But, as a result of several broad based millage efforts, a few concerned citizens have finally learned the truth and are speaking out.

Our problem, as evidenced so well by several recent editorials in the local newspapers, is that too many people in Clarkston aren't aware of what is needed in an educational program to properly prepare children for competition in a world economy.

Clarkston has a five year curriculum plan which will provide a sound basic education for the 1990s, but it is not based on a five-hour day, which should not include a study hall, with rigorous academic standards, and a full program of math, lab sciences, arts, literature, English and foreign languages.

For those of you who agree with the above paragraph, the time to act is now. The obvious lack of knowledge that exists in some segments of this community can only be overcome through the sharing of information. This is a major responsibility of an educated population. As a parent or concerned citizen, please help us to get the necessary information out into the community.

Not only amusing, but heartwarming. That's how James Morrison of Madison Heights describes his story of "one man's victory over the Michigan Department of Treasury, Sales Tax Division."

Like many, Morrison admits he's not fond of the tax collector. Before telling the anti-collector story that made him so happy, Morrison offers two examples of why it seems to him "that in the past 10 years the Michigan Department of the Treasury has gone to extremes to collect additional revenues:

"The first involves collecting a 'use' (sales) tax on core deposits on reconditioned parts purchased from auto supply stores. The core deposit is paid to ensure that the old part is returned so it can be rebuilt and resold. At the time the deposit is made, a 4 percent tax is collected, but when the old part is returned, the tax is not refunded.

"The second example is a much more recent innovation. All fund-raising functions, such as "Vegas parties" used by churches and other organizations, which have to be licensed by the state, are now being assessed for past due sales tax on any food or beverages sold. By state law, an organization can only have two Vegas parties a year. In the organization I belong to, since we average between $200 and $300 a party on the food and beverages, the amount owing to the state for a year only amounts to $12.

"So a victory over the people who collect the sales tax, however small, deserves recognition."

That victory was witnessed by Morrison's friend Tim in 1988 while boating up north, on Crooked Lake, near Conway. Tim stopped for supplies and saw two men in business suits coming out of a bait and tackle shop. "We're not going to get anywhere with this guy," one said angrily to the other while snapping shut his attache case. "Let's go!"

The owner told Tim the men were from the state sales tax division and they'd been telling him he had to collect sales tax on worms, as well as on tackle and other items. And the owner had protested, saying worms were food and therefore tax-exempt.

"The gentlemen from Lansing were nonplussed by that statement, and insisted that the owner start charging sales tax on the worms, and remit that tax to Lansing," Morrison said.

"The owner then grabbed a handful of worms, washed them under running water in the sink, popped them into the micro-wave oven and when it dinged, he took the worms out and ate them.

"It was at this point that the gentlemen from Lansing left." Defeated.

It's Worth A Try: Recently I wrote: "The art of advertising is to fudge the truth." Soon, I received this note from Robert Heilman, owner of Fort Fudge Shop Inc. of Mackinaw City: "I was pained and upset to see how you used the word 'fudge.' That was very slanderous... I hope you never see fit to use the term 'fudge' in the same manner again." Heilman also sent a box of delicious fudge.

All I can say is, the art of advertising is to Lincoln Continental the truth.

From This Perspective

I resolve

Tracy
King

My New Year's resolutions for this year:

* Always finish writing my column at least one-half day before it's laid down into the paper, instead of waiting until I get to the printing facility.

* Never sample the grapes in the produce department.

* Always stay within 10 miles of the speed limit, even on major four-lane highways that have not adopted the new 65 mph speed zones.

* Never hit the snooze alarm more than once each morning.

* Always pay close attention to the last item on the agenda at planning commission meetings.

* Never eat pizza after 10 p.m.

* Always choose a proper parking space instead of leaving the car idling at the curb to "just run in."

* Never wear safety pins.

* Always put gas in the car instead of waiting for my husband to do it the next time he drives.

* Never be so tired that I can't put my contact lenses in their little case before cleaning them properly.

* Always leave for the airport at least 90 minutes before a flight.

* Never leave my car doors unlocked saying that there isn't anything to steal and it's a nice neighborhood anyway.

* Always say my prayers and always choose going to church over reading another section of the Sunday New York Times.

* Never scoot through the stoplight as it changes from yellow to red.

* Always do all the dishes before going to bed at night.

* Never mail the rent (just one day) late.

* Always tackle the hardest story first each day, instead of writing the easiest one.

* Never blow off paying tolls at those unmanned toll booths.

* Always let another car into the line of stalled traffic.

* Never cancel dentist appointments for no reason other than: "ya' know I just don't think I'm up to it today."

* Always write thank you notes within a week of receiving the kindly service.

* Never lose my temper at slow drivers.

* Always remember that being thin tastes better than any potato chip could taste.

* Never ignore New Year's resolutions.

No bus service endangers children

The decision of the Clarkston school board to discontinue the bus stop at Royal St. George and Bristol Park Drive (in Independence Township) was passed.

Henceforth, a kindergartner and a second-grader have been left to walk 3/4 of a mile on a deserted, wooded, winding road with no sidewalks and no means for safety to their home.

Although Royal St. George is a meticulously maintained road with paved bypasses for all of the school buses and large trucks, the board feels that the driving ability to travel this road is more important than the safety of the children that it is delivering.

The board's attitude has been pathetic regarding this situation. Although the many parents at the school board meeting expressed (a wish for) continuation of the service, the board showed total disregard.

As the parent of these children, I hold the Clarkston community school board, Mr. (Mel) Vaara and Mr. (Kevin) Bickerstaff personally responsible for the safety of my children.

And as a note to Mr. Vaara, how many times would you allow your kindergartner to walk this route, or would they?

Brighter holiday

The holiday season was made a lot brighter for some area residents, thanks to a joint effort between people of all ages.

Students from Clarkston High School and senior citizens worked side-by-side to deliver Christmas baskets to about 60 families over the holidays.

This would be an impossible task without the help of everyone involved. It took cooperation to get everything packaged and delivered.

The police, firefighters and federal employees donated about $400 for purchases, and Bailey Lake Elementary and CHS students donated canned goods for the baskets.

Thanks to all.

Thoughts to ponder

Some thoughts to ponder for the new year:

Why the township has a 20 percent increase in revenue from taxes and schools face Headlee rollback every year.

Why the Downtown Development Authority will collect $800,000 in "captured excess taxes" — $560,000 of which come directly from school taxes when schools face $1.7 million shortfall in revenue.

Why the school board's "proposed" cuts total $2.145 million when shortfall is $1.7 million.

Why Downtown Development Authority wants to expand its boundaries — further increasing the taxes it takes from the school system.

Why Clarkston schools will have one of highest millage rates when we go "out of formula" next year — yet are facing budget cuts.

Snowy I-75 claims life of Flushing man

A 28-year-old Flushing man was killed, and two others were injured on a dark and snowy morning Dec. 26 on I-75, Springfield Township.

Duane K. Stilwell, who was not wearing a seat belt, was a passenger in the back seat of the car in which he was killed.

The driver, Chris Amede Hungerford, 36, of Flint, was treated and released from Flint Osteopathic Hospital.

A passenger in the front seat, Thomas Ginter, 28, of Flint, was listed in stable condition about 4 p.m. Tuesday at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

The driver of the other car, Lawrence Michael Leddy, 40, of Pinconning, was not injured.

About 6:35 a.m. Tuesday, Leddy was driving south on I-75 about 1/4 mile south of East Holly Road, when his car spun out, and he ended up facing north on the shoulder of I-75, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

Then Hungerford's car spun out and struck Leddy's car on the shoulder. Alcohol was not a factor, and tickets are pending the investigation, according to the police report.

Automobile theft no longer just big city crime

In Michigan, a motor vehicle is stolen every eight minutes, and more of these thefts are occurring in outstate areas. It is no longer just a big city crime, according to Terry Buckles, president of Michigan Association of Insurance Companies (MAIC).

The number of auto thefts decreased 5.7 percent statewide through September of 1989, compared to the same period a year ago. Meanwhile, motor vehicle thefts in the city of Detroit declined 17.7 percent.

However, cities such as Battle Creek, Jackson, Dearborn, Grand Rapids and Saginaw each experienced increases in this type of crime so far in 1989.

Although the number of thefts in Michigan has declined significantly in the past few years, the state's 1988 motor vehicle theft rate of 741 per 100,000 people was considerably higher than the national rate of 540. The most populated areas of the state still experience the highest theft rates, of course.

According to Michigan Department of State Police statistics, the value of the 67,211 motor vehicles stolen here in 1988 is estimated at $472 million, or 70 percent of all the property stolen in the state last year.

State motorists typically pay from around $50 to several hundred dollars a year per vehicle for theft insurance coverage. Rates vary according to factors such as geographic location and value of the vehicle.

Protection against theft losses is included in "comprehensive" coverage, an optional part of the auto insurance policy. This year, premiums paid by some Michigan consumers for this type of coverage have decreased somewhat due to the success of public and private initiatives, which have reduced auto theft in the state.

One such program, H*E*A*T (Help Eliminate Auto Theft), is a statewide tip reward program funded by auto insurers that pays for information leading to the arrest and prosecution of suspected thieves and chop shop operators.

Citizens can call the tip line at 800-242-HEAT with information on stolen cars and suspected auto theft activities. Qualified HEAT tips are rewarded with up to $1,000 each for information that leads to the arrest and prosecution of suspected individual auto thieves, or up to $10,000 each for tips that result in the arrest or binding over for trial of chop shop operators.

Also, state legislation enacted in 1986 contained a number of provisions that have proved to be beneficial in combating auto theft.

These include: 1) permitting insurers to impose large deductibles on claim payments made for vehicles stolen with the keys left in them; 2) requiring vehicle owners to file a theft report with the police to recover any claim; and 3) creating the Auto Theft Prevention Authority within the State Police to provide financial support (through a $1 fee on each insured vehicle) to law enforcement agencies and private groups for theft prevention programs.

Avoiding theft

To reduce the possibility of theft, the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies recommends the following:

- Park in a lighted spot whenever you can. Thieves prefer vehicles located in a darkened area.

- Close all windows and lock all doors. Police officers say far too many car owners leave their cars unlocked while they run into a store for "just a minute."

- Keep costly items out of sight and locked up. There's nothing more tempting to a would-be thief than to spot a collection of gift-wrapped packages or newly cleaned clothes or expensive sporting goods lying in plain sight. Put them in the trunk where they can't be seen.

- Park with front wheels turned sharply to the right or left, making it difficult for the professional to tow your car away.

- Always activate any theft deterrent device you may have installed on your car.

- If you park in a commercial lot or garage, leave only the ignition key with the attendant. Retain all others.

- Keep license and registration in your wallet or purse.

- If you have a private garage, use it. Lock both the vehicle and garage.

Salary hike discussion

Salary increases for Independence Township elected officials will be decided by township board trustees.

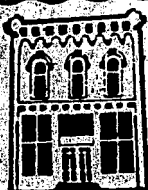

A compensation committee made up of the trustees was formulated by the township board during its regular meeting Dec. 19.

"The trustees are capable of doing the adjustment if there is to be one," said Supervisor Frank Ronk.

Pay scales for the three elected officials were last adjusted in April 1989, the first time the officials had received raises in two years.

The current full-time salaries of the elected officials are $45,000 annually for supervisor and $40,000 annually for the treasurer and clerk.

The committee will conduct the salary discussions among themselves at an open meeting scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 9, at the township hall annex, 90 N. Main Street, Clarkston. A time for the meeting has not been confirmed.

Holidays quiet except for power failure

Except for a power outage late Christmas day, things were quiet over the holidays, according to area officials.

About 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 25, about 1,200 residents reportedly lost electricity in Independence Township, and a few skiers were stranded on chair lifts at Pine Knob Ski Resort. A generator quickly brought the skiers to safety, but others weren't as lucky.

Officials from Detroit Edison, who were short-handed due to illnesses, said Tuesday that they had absolutely no record of the power failure, though some area residents said they reported the outage.

In Independence Township, firefighters responded to three or four calls on Christmas Eve, and there were no major fires.

"Everything was (busy) the week before when everybody was running around," said Capt. Steve Ronk.

It was "quite slow" for police officers, as well, said Detective Steve Parker of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

"Too many people out for the bad guys to get out and do their thing," he said, adding that holidays bring more family problems but fewer break-ins.

There was an increase in people who failed to pay for gasoline over the holidays, he said.

In Springfield Township, all was quiet likewise.

"Holidays, we don't usually get too much of a problem," said fire Chief Marlan Hillman.

Reporter's Notebook

Don Borngesser of Carol's Village Grill on Main Street, Clarkston, is known for his snappy put-downs. One day at lunch, he was told that The Clarkston News had just received its FAX machine. "It's about time The News got all the facts," he replied.

On one of the Sunday television news-talk shows, the topic was about airlines giving public warnings if terrorists have made threats. The commentator asked the former state department deputy what the airline passenger should do if the flight they planned to take was a potential terrorist target. The deputy said, "The first thing they should do is put their personal affairs in order." That's comforting.

A modern shopper at a local supermarket laid eight of those frozen Lean Cuisine packages on the conveyor, followed by four six-packs of Rolands.

If governments can give tax abatements to lure industry, why don't they give tax relief when an announced zoning adversely affects homeowner property values ... like when they say a certain acreage has been picked as a dump site?

Items for Reporter's Notebook are compiled by Clarkston News staff members.

Opinion of Bill Myers

Ticking time bomb
turns out to be dud

William A. Myers is a retired Lapeer County editor and investments manager from Boca Raton, Fla.

Sometimes I wonder if the Wall Street Journal is trying to be sensational. You know, like the publications at the check-out counter at the supermarket.

Not long ago, there was a story on page one of the "Money and Investing" section with a heading about call provisions for tax-exempts being a "ticking time bomb." The reporter was Alexandra Peers, and I'd guess she's a little new in the business.

Whatever, Alexandra in her scare story told how the high-coupon municipals of a few years ago, say 1984, sported big coupons of as much as 12 and 13 percent.

Shudder! Shudder! In a few years, say 10 years from the date of issue, most of these bonds will be called, and the bondholders will get only par or a little more for them. People will suffer, the market will be in disarray, because the owners will have to buy replacements, and they won't find yields of 12 percent - and they'll be in disarray themselves.

Alexandra assumes, it appears, that people with these high coupons don't already know that today's market price will gradually shrink down to 100 or 102 or whatever the call price is. (It seldom is less than 100.)

Apparently the Journal's reporter doesn't know that today's market price is based on the very calls that so alarm her. The price takes into account that the shrinkage in market value will be offset by the larger coupon you get in the meantime.

The price estimate shown on your brokerage statement each month is based on these high-coupon bonds being called at the first call date in the bond contract. If they aren't called, it will be because interest rates are higher than the call price, and the issuer can't replace them with bonds at a lower rate.

Once in a while, a small tax district will just overlook the advantage of calling bonds. If they goof, you're the winner.

Here's an actual example from the Aug. 28, 1989, Blue List of municipal bonds for sale that day:

Puerto Rico Elec. Authority, 9.125 percent due 7/1/15. Pre-refunded (money on hand to call them) at 103 on 7/1/95. Priced to yield 6.5 percent.

That "price to yield" is to the call, when the holder will be paid 103 for his bonds. That figures to a dollar price of 114.607. Currently, the return will be 7.96 percent.

Pretty high, you think? Not when you allow for shrinkage from 114.607, the call price, to 103. You'll be giving up 11.6 points for that premium amount of interest the next six years.

Now, if the bonds sold on a 6.5 percent yield-to-maturity basis - that is, if their 9.25 percent coupon would last until July 1, 2015, then the price would be $132.625. The longer lush years of 9.25 percent interest payments would be offset by your getting only par, or 100, when the bonds mature in 2015.

If a bond salesman quotes you a price on a bond selling over par, ask him what the yield to the first call date is. Forget what the big coupon is. The only thing that counts is what your average yield will be from the day you buy it to the day when it will likely be called away from you.

Pay no attention to what the current yield is. Disregard what the yield to maturity is (if price is over par) and focus on just one thing: the yield to the first call.

Hospital-medical insurance has become a positive mania in America. Skyrocketing costs frighten people, and in their panic, folks believe there is some magic in "insurance."

Blue Cross calls it by its right name: prepaid medical/hospital costs. As the costs go up, so does the insurance. A policy is no free ticket. You simply pay in advance (plus a 5 percent overhead cost) for the doctor and hospital bills that will hit you as an average person over the years.

If your employer pays them or if you pay them, it doesn't make much difference. It comes out of your hide either way.

If you have Blue Cross, chances are you'll trot to the doctor oftener than you would if you paid the shot each time out of your pocket. That's one reason why the premiums of Blue Cross and other companies keep climbing.

One reason employers pay for Blue Cross is that it's deductible, and if they gave you a raise instead, both you and the employer would pay Social Security on your bigger paycheck.

If the insurance is to cover health costs, then why not insurance to cover your automobile and your homeowners policies? Collision and fire and other disasters heap on costs for you, too. And burglaries. And gold mining scams. And frozen water pipes. And losses at the dog track.

Do you know someone who volunteers time or talents to a good cause? We'd like to hear about it. Give us a call at

Girl qualifies for pre-teen national pageant

SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Becky Olsen, 10, found out first hand Dec. 10 how it felt to be on center stage.

It was hot, and she felt nervous, said the fifth-grade Clarkston Elementary student.

But her nervousness must not have shown too much because the Langle, Independence Township, resident, was named second runner-up in the Miss Pre-teen Grand Rapids pageant.

She competed against 65 other girls in the contest sponsored by the East Coast Pageant, Inc. Pageants are held in 27 cities throughout the United States. Entry fees are $300.

Becky was sponsored by Forrest and Jackie Milzow and Oakley, Olsen and Associates, both of Independence Township.

She took along some loyal supporters as well to the Grand Rapids pageant: Parents, Robert and Hana, and brother, Bobby, 13.

Judging criteria included: a sportswear competition, evening gown competition and questions answered by the contestants.

Becky said the host for the evening asked her, "What was the best part of the evening?"

"Meeting new friends and gaining experience," Becky replied.

As a runner-up, Becky is eligible to compete nationally in Orlando, Fla., Dec. 31. But with a $1,500 cost, Becky isn't sure she'll be going.

Her mother, Hana, said each girl is required to have a mother with them as a chaperon.

"We have other commitments on Dec. 31, but if we could find a sponsor, we would go," Hana said.

BECKY OLSEN, 10, of Independence Township is proud of the trophies she won as second runner-up in a Grand Rapids pre-teen pageant Dec. 10.

Wolves beat bug, CC

Basketball team remains unbeaten at 5-0

BY PETER AUCHTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Decimated by the flu bug, Clarkston High's basketball team relied on a few fresh faces to keep their record perfect.

Two starters, Gary Kaul and Jason Brown, were out of the lineup due to illness, and a couple others played at less-than-full-strength for Coach Dan Fife's team last Thursday night.

Wally Wyniemko and Marc Sanderson started in their places and played well, the coach said. Scott Trekman and Mark Galbraith also saw considerable time off the bench and responded accordingly.

"Those guys did an outstanding job," said Fife. "We had a lot of kids out of position — in different positions — tonight."

Trekman finished with 10 points, and Galbraith had eight, including a crucial six in the final quarter when Central was desperately trying to regain the lead from the Wolves.

Dugan Fife led the victors in scoring with 31 points. Twenty-four of those came after halftime. Reggie Reed had three triples and finished with 13 points.

Clarkston's 74-65 victory bumped its pre-Christmas vacation record to 5-0.

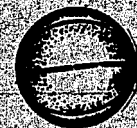

Bill Knight, who finished with six points, scored two early baskets, and Reed canned the first of his triples to get Clarkston out of the gate fast against the Shamrocks. But Catholic Central hung tough and never let their hosts gain more than a point advantage during the first quarter.

Catholic Central then took control of the contest in middle half of the second quarter, building a 28-21 lead. Clarkston closed the gap to a point, at 34-33, at the half.

Fife then took control of the game in the third quarter, beginning with a three-point shot to tie the game at 36-all. Clarkston led by one point, 49-48, after three quarters.

In the fourth, Galbraith hit a couple of quick baskets to spark the Wolves, who still were having trouble shaking the Shamrocks.

Reed began the winning scoring run for the Wolves with a triple to put CHS up 60-59. The Wolves led the rest of the way. Fife scored the next eight points for Clarkston to give the home team a little cushion heading down the stretch.

Time Out

Goodbye, Clarkston

By the time many of you will read these words, I'll already have worked my last day at The Clarkston News.

Yes, Clarkston, this young lad has found himself a new job. A promotion of sorts, if you will. I'm headed for a daily newspaper, The Morning Sun, in Mount Pleasant.

Writing for a major daily newspaper is my dream, and this opportunity is one small step toward that goal.

At The Morning Sun, I'll be coordinating coverage of the area high schools (nine in all) and occasionally writing feature articles on Central Michigan University.

Before I pack up my things and leave, though, I'd like to say thanks to all the people of Clarkston, Independence and Springfield for 2 1/2 wonderful years. I won't get into personal thank-yous because there are just too many people who have lent me a helping hand, and I don't want to leave anybody out. (No need to tick someone off on my final day.)

I don't think I'll ever forget this time in my life. Clarkston has become a second home.

I'll keep in touch with the local activities through The News; I'll become an avid reader of the paper just like everybody else around here.

The Clarkston News has undergone many changes during my stay here. Of all the people working here on April 22, 1987 (my first day) only one remains in the same job. Who could that be? It's advertising manager Stu McTeer. Fortunately, some things never change. Hopefully, Stu will stick around a while longer to tell the new people in the office all his wonderful stories. I know, I've learned something from his tales. I just can't figure out what, though. (Editor's note: the stories are great the first time around, the second time they are so-so, for the third time and beyond you'll have to guess and hear it. But it's worth it.)

Another change was of the physical variety. The editorial department moved into brand spanking new offices on the second floor of our building downtown. At first we rejoiced, no longer having to put up with the non-stop talkers in the advertising department on deadline day. (Ours and theirs never matched up. It made for a constantly noisy office.) But soon, we became accustomed to the peace and quiet upstairs and missed "the good old days." I guess we'll never be 100 percent happy.

During my stay I also saw The Clarkston News progress into the 21st Century. (If you ever want to see a Clarkston News reporter go bonkers, just mention "progress" a couple of times, and see what happens. It's a lot of fun. Trust me.)

Anyway, the changes that have been made since 1987 are remarkable. When I began, three reporters had to share one computer to typeset their copy. When two of the three reporters waited a tad too long to write up their stories, problems arose. Today, we all have our own computers. And nice ones, too!

Also, we have a modern phone system with a built-in intercom, auto redial and 10 pre-set numbers. Wow, no more of those black box phones with the rotary dial. (Kids, ask your parents what those looked like.)

The latest addition is a FAX machine. Now, time-wasting trips to our main office in Oxford are no longer necessary. (Or at least not as much as they were in the past when every little thing had to be hand delivered. With my hand, no less.)

We're still working on a new copy machine. I think the repair man is on our Christmas list nowadays. Or well, we can use the company.

Hopefully the changes will keep coming here at The News in the months and years ahead. Take care Clarkston. I'll miss you.

Clarkston sports year-in-review for '89

APRIL 5

Don Balzarini and Lori Walker, representing Pine Knob Ski Resort's cafeteria, finish first in their respective age divisions in a recent qualifying event at Boyne Highlands for the annual Grand Marnier Chefs Ski Race.

APRIL 26

The CHS boys track team defeats rival Pontiac Northern. Jason Wenger wins both the 1600- and 3200-meter races to key the win.

MAY 3

Dave Jokisch finishes his college basketball career at Lake Superior State with 1,076 points scored. He also finishes third on the Lakers career assist list with 356.

MAY 10

Historical church becomes 'lighthouse' for needy

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

The historical Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church on Maybee Road, Independence Township, has seen better days, but it soon will be receiving a new purpose. Once used to feed the soul, now it will be used to feed the body — or stomachs of hundreds of northwest Oakland County residents.

The building, still owned by church members who now occupy a new building across the street, may also be used for township parks and recreation programs, as well as programs through Clarkston Community Education.

The main function, however, will be to house Lighthouse-North, a branch of the Pontiac-based Lighthouse, which provides services to the needy in the area.

The Rev. William Schram, pastor of the church, said he and church members are thrilled to see the historical building used again, after a dormant period when there was not enough money to pay for maintenance.

"I love it," Schram said. "The building has been a combination of something we felt guilty about because we couldn't keep it up the way we wanted and a resource we could offer the community."

"The only thing we ask is that people help fix up the building," he said. "Everybody is pitching in as they can."

With manpower and supplies from the parks and rec. department, monetary and material donations from churches and service groups in the area, and potential donations of services from area electricians, plumbers and architects, the building is on its way, said Schram.

Sherry Kaars, director of Lighthouse-North, is likewise happy with the building, built in 1855.

"It's ideal for us," she said. "The money for the building is nothing. ... Independence Township has just bent over backwards to help us."

"Because of all the donated time we're receiving, ... it truly has become a community effort. I tell everybody,

"I think the sun is shining on the building over there."

The targeted opening for Lighthouse is sometime in January, said Kaars.

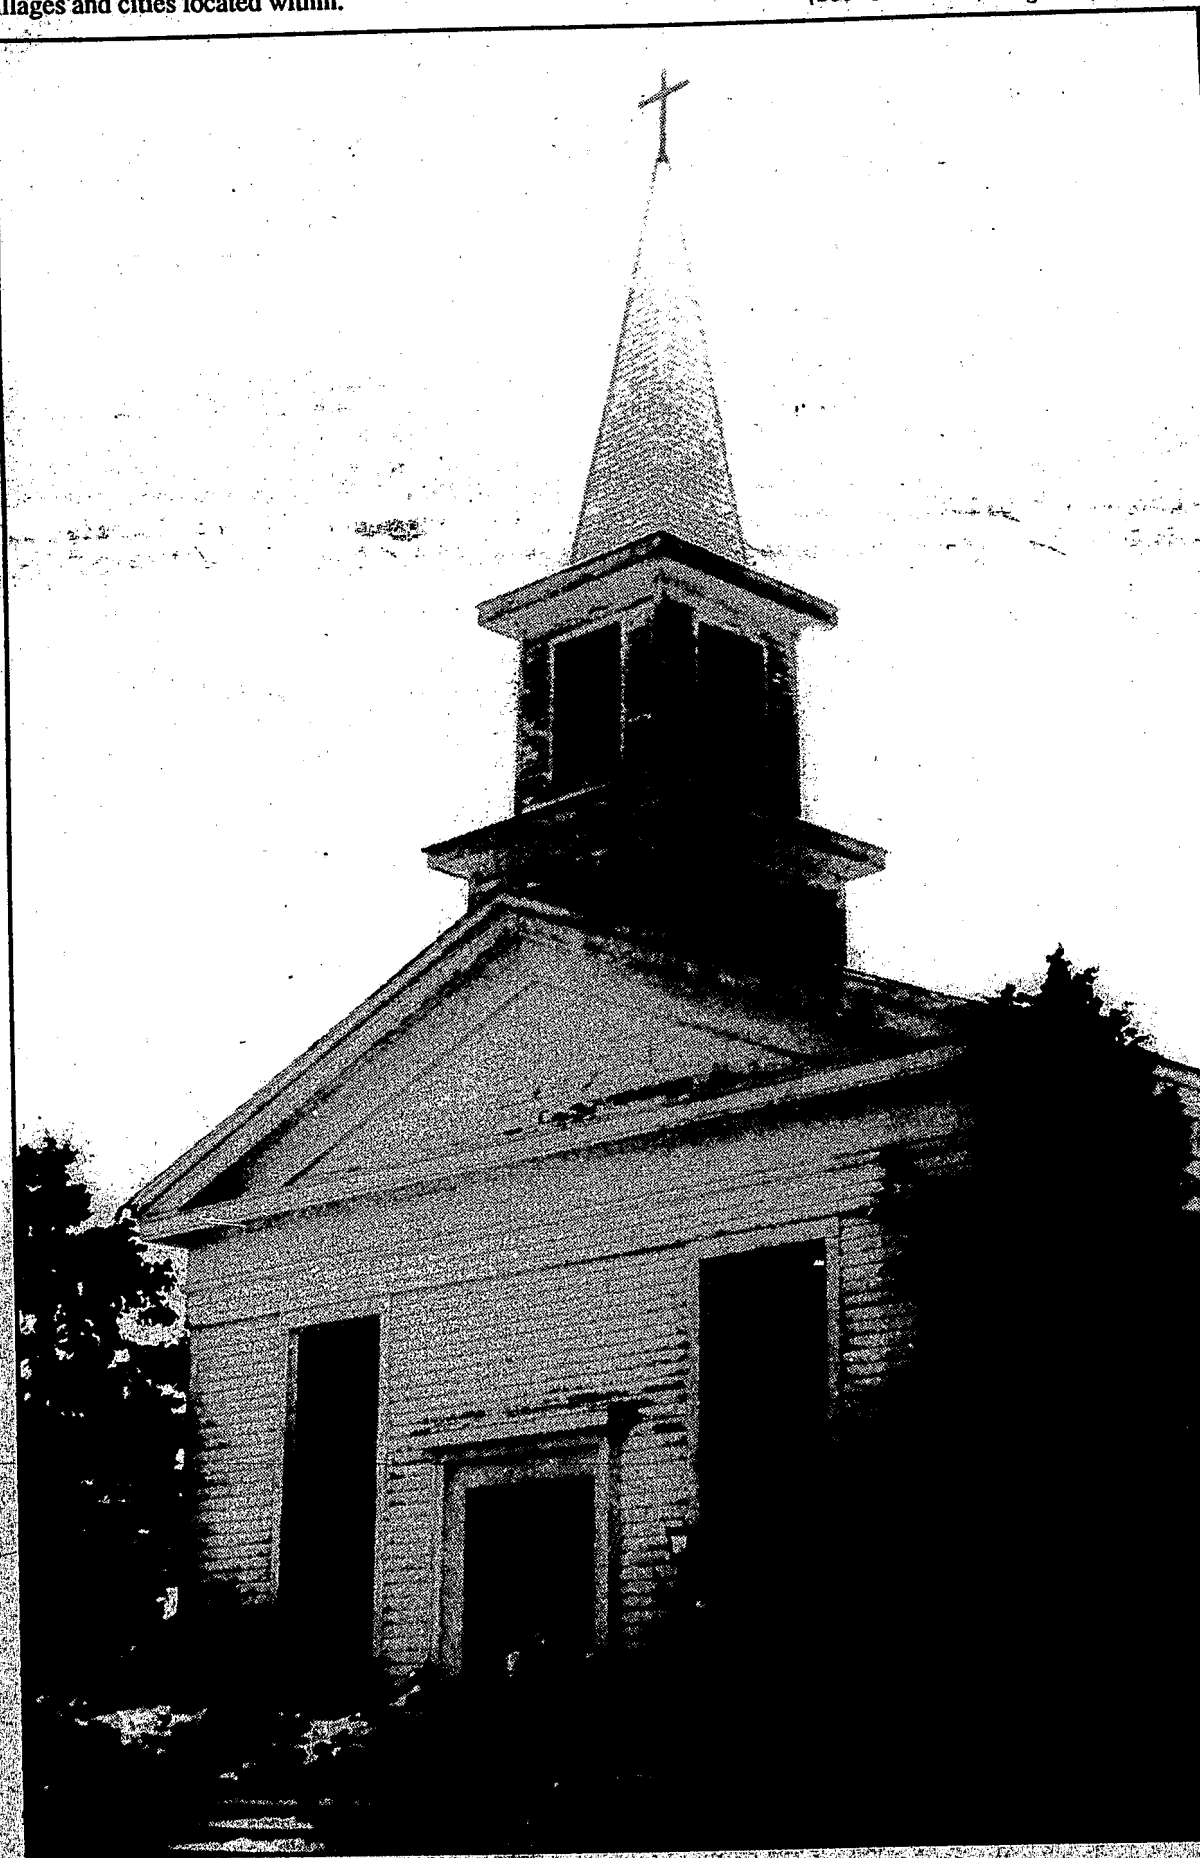

Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the areas to be served are the townships of: Brandon, Springfield, Oxford, Independence, Orion, Holly, Groveland and Rose, plus the villages and cities located within.

Operating with Kaars working full time plus two part-time people and lots of volunteers, the proposed services include: emergency food, clothing closet, rent and mortgage assistance, medical emergency, senior outreach, transportation for seniors, landlord-tenant mediation, financial assistance and security deposits.

SHERRY KAARS, director of Lighthouse North, looks forward to having renovations complete at the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church. Programs are to begin in January 1990 for Lighthouse North and Independence Township Parks and Recreation.

Church restored to help area needy

Thanksgiving and Christmas assistance, information and referrals, community planning and problem solving, volunteer opportunities and a community center.

Most people don't think of this area as being in need, said Kaars, but a lot of "working poor" live here — families who have jobs and work but still can't make ends meet, or families who work but have no medical insurance, so one illness wipes out their finances.

"Sometimes it's not $5,000 or $6,000 that will put someone on their feet; it's amazing what one mortgage payment can do," she said.

Lighthouse-North is likely to be an asset to the area because of its connections with social service agencies and service groups, Kaars said.

"We don't want to take over anyone's program, but we can ... help another program," she said.

While they'll gladly accept donations of canned goods and clothing, they most need money to complete renovations and to provide for the needy, said Kaars.

In the meantime, volunteers will be working on the water supply, the handicap provisions and bathroom improvements.

"We want the building preserved," said Kaars. "I've always been kind of an antique buff. I love old buildings and fell in love with it as soon as I saw it."

Temperature controls the flavor of tomatoes

There's no reason why a fresh tomato purchased in November, March or May can't taste just as good as what you buy or grow in August. That's the message coming out of Florida's tomato growing industry.

The key to proper color, flavor and texture is temperature.

"When we pick them, tomatoes are green and hard," says Wayne Hawkins, executive vice president of the Florida Tomato Growers Exchange.

"They have to be, to withstand the rigors of packing and shipping. Tests have shown, however, that mature green tomatoes have all the vitamins, minerals and nutritional content of a red ripe tomato.

"They'll also develop that bright red color, softer texture and the full flavor you want in a tomato but only if they're stored at room temperature, like bananas, until they finish ripening."

Tomatoes that are refrigerated before they finish ripening suffer chill damage and lose flavor as well as color.

Between mid-October and the end of June, Florida will supply this country with over one billion pounds of fresh tomatoes.

"Americans, on a per capita basis, are eating more fresh tomatoes than at any other time in history," said Hawkins.

"We'll all enjoy them more if retailers and consumers will keep fresh tomatoes warm — like they are on the vine," he said. "That's what nature intended."

Numbers of '89: summary of diseases to elderly

More Americans are living longer than at any other time in our history.

Individuals over the age of 65 have become the fastest growing segment of the population, but greater longevity has led to an increase in the occurrence of age-related and degenerative diseases.

As 1989 draws to a close, the following statistics summarize the impact that several age-related and degenerative diseases — such as Alzheimer's disease, coronary heart disease and glaucoma — have had on America's elderly.

Alzheimer's disease claims another 100,000 lives

During the past 12 months, 100,000 people have died from Alzheimer's disease, a progressive, irreversible brain disorder.

The causes of Alzheimer's disease remain a mystery, and there is no known cure. Usually running its course in from two to 15 years, with the average length being seven years, Alzheimer's disease slowly but inevitably disables the mental capabilities of its victims. Toward the end, patients require care and monitoring 24 hours a day.

In 1989:

■ 250,000 new cases of Alzheimer's disease were reported;

■ the total number of people inflicted with Alzheimer's disease reached 4 million — one in 10 are over age 65 (some are in their 40s and 50s);

■ the incidence of Alzheimer's increases greatly with advancing age. Recent studies indicate the about 3 percent of those 65 to 74, 19 percent of those 75 to 84, and 47 percent of those 85 and over could have the disease;

■ the total cost for the care and treatment of Alzheimer's patients is now $88 billion annually, the average cost of care for one Alzheimer's patient that has been institutionalized is between $20,000 and $35,000 per year;

■ more than half of the total number of nursing home beds in the U.S. were filled by individuals suffering from Alzheimer's disease — about 70 percent of Alzheimer's patients are cared for at home;

■ about 30 million Americans are over age 65. As many as 14 million Americans could be afflicted with Alzheimer's disease within the next 50 years.

In 1989, 1.5 million Americans suffer a heart attack

Every 32 seconds, someone dies from coronary heart disease. Almost 5 million Americans suffer from this disease. While a decline in smoking, better eating habits, increased exercise and improved medical care has resulted in a decline in the mortality from heart disease, it still remains the number one killer in America.

A year-end summary on the impact of heart disease shows:

■ 1.5 million Americans suffered a heart attack, resulting in an estimated 540,000 deaths. More than half of these individuals — 350,000 — died before they reached the hospital;

■ about 55 percent of those who suffer a heart attack are over age 65 — almost 80 percent of those who die from heart attacks are age 65 and older;

■ more than half of all those who died from a heart attack were women;

■ Heart disease was the second leading cause of death for women over age 40 and the number one cause of death for women age 65 and over;

■ out of the 60 million Americans who suffer from hypertension (high blood pressure), about 250,000 died from this disease;

■ of the 972,000 deaths attributed specifically to cardiovascular disease (diseases of the heart and blood vessels), hypertension was the largest single underlying cause.

Glaucoma remains the leading cause of blindness

Glaucoma has caused more blindness in America than any other disease. Not a single disease, glaucoma is actually a group of visual disorders.

Although what causes glaucoma remains a mystery and there is no cure, it can be controlled if detected early. In fact, many cases of glaucoma could have been prevented with regular testing and early treatment.

The numbers on glaucoma indicate that:

■ about 5,400 went blind from glaucoma in the past year;

■ an estimated 300,000 new cases were diagnosed, meaning the total number of Americans now suffering from glaucoma has reached 2 million;

■ 100,000 people lost some degree of vision to this disease;

■ $500 million was spent on direct treatment of glaucoma, and the disease was responsible for an estimated $2 billion in lost productive work time as a result of vision loss or impairment.

Statistics were provided by the National Institutes of Health and were compiled by the American Health Assistance Foundation, Rockville, Md.

Anti-Diet Weight Loss

The New Alternative

SUFFERING IS OPTIONAL

If you have tried dieting in the past and failed, you are not alone. For many, diet is part of the problem, not its solution. Thin people don't want to eat more than they should. So how come you do? When you learn to think about food the way thin people do, then you will eat casually and controllably, just as they do.

Based on successful work with overeaters in therapy, this unique, ten-week program was developed to help healthy people to finally control their eating without the need for discipline and the constant struggle against temptation.

WHY WAIT?

This small-class experience is not another diet or food supplement program, but a new opportunity for a permanent change in your relationship with food and your body. You can be happy with both. NOW.

PREVIEW: January 10, 1990 7 p.m.

To give you a full description of this effective solution to over-eating, we offer a full, two-hour preview at our offices. Admission is $10. Call early to reserve your place, as seating is extremely limited.

FINANCIAL ADVICE from

James R. Filak, C.P.A.

Should you own property in joint tenancy?

One of the biggest financial mistakes married couples make is to hold all the property they own in joint tenancy with right of survivorship. If one spouse dies, such property automatically goes to the surviving spouse.

You may think this issue is a concern only for the wealthy, but that's definitely not the case. It's not unusual for couples to acquire during their lifetime a joint estate exceeding $600,000. That is the maximum amount that can go to your heirs (other than your spouse) tax-free when you die. Above that amount, your estate could pay 37% to 55% to the tax collector.

To illustrate this concern, suppose a married couple held in joint tenancy everything in their $1 million estate. If one spouse died, his or her estate would be valued to $500,000. The estate would pay no tax. Actually, there would be no estate tax even if the estate exceeded the $600,000 exemption because of the unlimited marital deduction for property that goes to one's spouse.

But suppose the surviving spouse died a year or two later and left everything to the couple's children. The unified estate and gift tax credit would allow $600,000 of the $1 million estate to pass tax-free, but $400,000 would be subject to estate tax.

A wiser approach might have been to switch ownership on enough property to allow certain assets to pass directly to the children instead of passing automatically to the surviving spouse and creating estate taxes on the second estate. Another option might have been to put some of the property in trust for the children, with the surviving spouse receiving income for life.

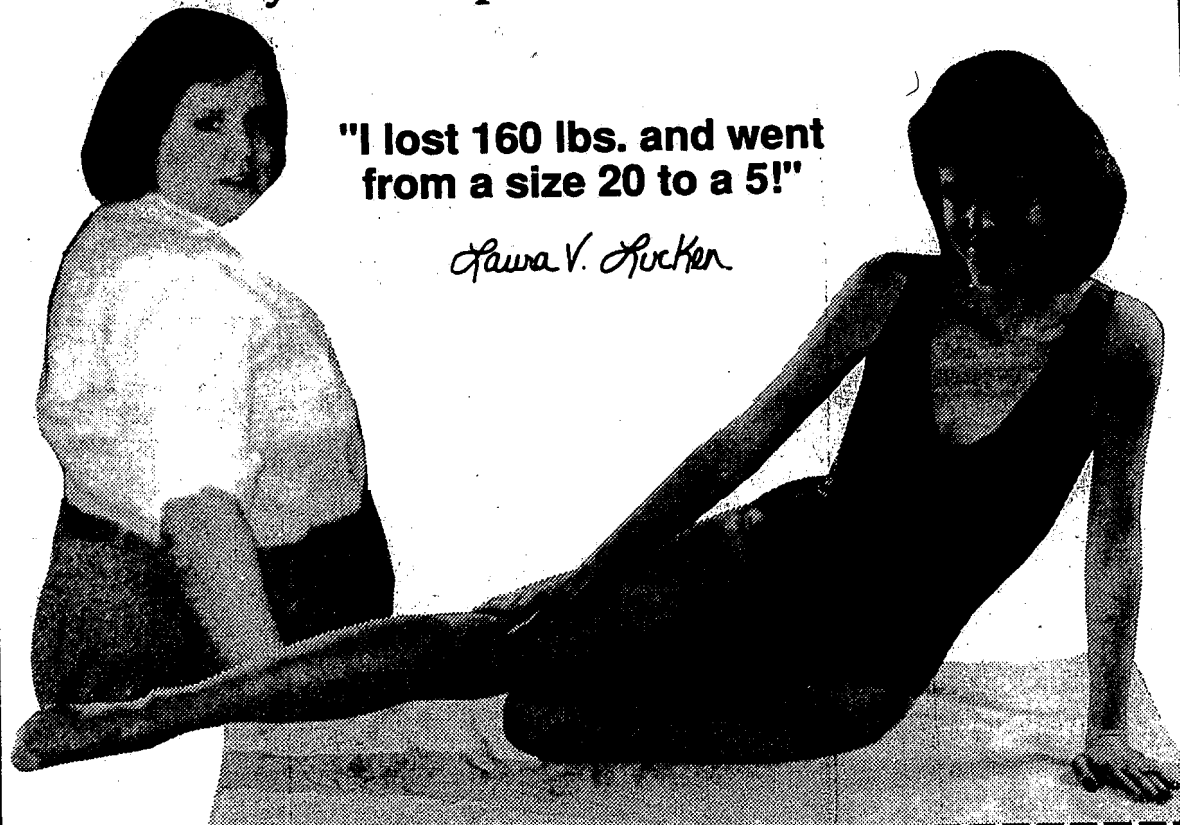

You and your spouse should be aware of the tax problems of holding property as joint tenants with right of survivorship. Take time to review the form of ownership on your assets and decide if any changes need to be made. Contact us for assistance in this area.

Microwave Plus

New products
on the market

Betty
Wagner

Have you any plans for your holiday gift money? If you're like me and you put that money in your billfold, it will be gone soon. And you won't know where you spent it — for groceries, drycleaning, lunch?

So use that money as the gift it was intended to be and treat yourself to something special — something you may not otherwise buy. I have discovered several new, made-for-the-microwave products that you may enjoy owning.

One is the MicroBrew by FarberWare; the other is the Wilton MicroBakes. Marilyn Schanze, founder and former president of the American Cooking Institute and a microwave specialist, introduced me to the product.

I was intrigued when Schanze said I could have a cup of flavorfully brewed coffee in just two minutes. Incredible! I must see this for myself. FarberWare complied and sent me a MicroBrew to test.

The packaging is wonderfully attractive and lets the consumer know that the MicroBrew coffee maker features include:

n A cool water extraction process for superior coffee flavor without bitterness.

n Durable construction that's dishwasher safe.
n A MicroBrew coffee measuring scoop for the best cup of fresh brewed coffee, every time.

n A three-year warranty backed by the most trusted name on housewares, FaberWare. (I will add that I was delighted to read in the use and care pamphlet that no return card is necessary under this warranty.)

The product is recommended for use in ovens of 500 watts or above.

And now you want to know whether the MicroBrew lives up to its claims — a resounding yes! In four minutes, requiring very few steps, I can brew a mug and a quarter of delicious coffee. And if I decide I want another mug soon, I needn't wait for a machine to cool down; I simply run the empty MicroBrew under cool water, then fill it again.

Wilton Enterprises, the people who make cake decorating items, sent me a sample of one of their new MicroBakes cake pans. The pans, which come in 15 different special-occasion shapes, are only for use in the microwave. They are perfectly sized for any commercially packaged microwave cake mix.

Wilton has designed these cake pans with the exclusive "Micro Grid" system on the bottom of the flat pans that provides even heat distribution so you can get consistent baking results. The pans are reusable; top rack dishwasher safe; and guaranteed to provide you with years of fast, easy and convenient baking.

Labels are attached to each pan with easy decorating ideas. Adults as well as children will enjoy baking and decorating cakes. Collect all 15 shapes and have a cake-baking party for you or your child's next birthday.

MicroBakes pans, which retail for $4.95 each, are carried by craft, cake-decorating, and department stores nationwide, or order them from Wilton Enterprises, 2240 75th Street, Woodridge, Ill. 60517. For more recipe ideas using MicroBakes, send a stamped self-addressed No. 10 envelope to the same address.

Both products were tested in 650-watt microwave oven by Betty Wagner, certified home economist.

Home economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her "Microwave Plus" cable-TV program airs on Independence-Clarkston Channel 65.

Year end planning saves money

Some year end tax planning now can mean a dollar savings for taxpayers when they file their 1990 return, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

The following tips were provided by IRS district director John Hummel:

■ Pay off consumer loans, such as credit card bills. Personal interest expense is 20 percent deductible for the 1989 year. In 1990, only 10 percent will be deductible; and in 1991, the deduction will disappear completely.

■ Clean out the attic and make contributions of old furniture or clothes to your favorite charity. The fair market value of such items is fully deductible.

■ Check how much tax was withheld from your paycheck so far this year and make an estimate as to the total that will be withheld through the end of December.

If that amount is not at least as much as your total tax for 1988, or at least 90 percent of what you expect to owe for 1989, you could get hit with a 10 to 12 percent penalty. You can minimize any difference by making an estimated tax payment in January 1990 for the 1989 tax year.

Hummel also gave this advice:

"Remember, for 1989, you must have a social security number for any dependent age 2 or older; down from age 5 or older for 1988. If all your dependents do not have a social security number, it's best to check with the Social Security Administration now and get the ball rolling.

"Finally, it's never too early to start looking for a tax return preparer, if you're going to use one. The earlier you call, the earlier you can make an appointment, file your return and receive your refund.

"And this year, you'll want to ask your preparer about the electronic filing option. By using this method, you can receive a refund in as quickly as two weeks (as compared to six to eight weeks when filing in the conventional manner.) Start your taxes and tax planning now to make your taxes less taxing this year."
