Bouvier saves house from fire

Chaz, a 2-year-old Bouvier, saved the day — and a whole lot more — Feb. 6, when she awakened her household before a faulty gas valve caused a fire.

About 5 a.m., Chaz, a blond female dog, awakened Carole Rudd, the roommate of Chaz's owner, Nancy Armentrout of Rioview Drive, Independence Town-

Lucky thing, too—the temperature was over 100 degrees in the house — the result of a faulty gas valve that was stuck open; said Nancy.

- Nancy tried to turn it off but to no avail. When she turned on the blower, smoke filled the house.

So Carole called 9-1-1, and the two women grabbed Chaz and their two cats and went outside to wait for the firefighters to arrive.

"I've never been so scared in all my life," said Nancy, adding that the Independence Township Fire Department was there in no time.

"They were great," she said: "They were polite. ... They even put a runner down on the floor, so they wouldn't get our carpet dirty."

Nothing was damaged — the firefighters turned off the main gas valve and used huge fans to pull smoke from the house, said Nancy. The odor was gone in two

But the real hero was Chaz, said Nancy....

"If it hadn't been for that baby ... waking us up, I hate to think what would have happened," she said.

'Looking at it realistically, she probably got so hot, she didn't know what to do," Nancy said. "She sensed something was wrong."

Millage passes by

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN Clarkston News Staff Writer

The 5.6321 millage request for Clarkston schools was approved Feb. 12 with 4,063 yes votes and 3,378 no

"It was busy," said Rosemary Howey, elections clerk in Independence Township.

About 7,441 of the township's 17,000 registered voters turned out. The vote total is not official until it's certified by the Oakland County Board of Canvassers, which takes about a week, she said.

At the school board meeting Monday night, the crowd burst into applause when Superintendent Gary Haner gave the "thumbs up" signal the moment the election outcome was reported to him.

More than 500 parents, teachers and administrators worked on the millage campaign in the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee.

The campaign slogan, "Clarkston Has a Heart for Kids," was represented by a heart symbol on buttons and T-shirts, sweatshirts worn by the workers.

The committee gathered at the Spring Lake Country Club, Maybee Road, Independence Township, to hear the election news and to celebrate.

Workers were jubilant about the outcome.

"Hurray! We knew we'd win all the time," said Linda Ryan, co-chair of the committee. "I'd like to thank the yes voters.'

David Reschke, principal of Sashabaw Junior High, also served as a co-chair.

"Congratulations to the community," he said. "This is the largest vote total ever."

because he was meeting with TV and radio stations interested in the outcome of the election.

Don't forget to vote Monday

Clarkston's primary is Feb.

BY RENEE GLOVINSKY Clarkston News Staff Writer

It looks as if the Village of Clarkston primary election Monday, Feb. 19, will determine the make up of the Clarkston Village Council.

Only members of the Republican Party are vying for spots on the ballot for the March 12 general election. No Democrats are running.

Polls for the primary are open from 7.a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday at the Clarkston Village Hall, 375 Depot Road,

The only contested positions are the three trustee slots; for which there are five candidates: incumbents Eric Haven, Dominic Mauti and William Basinger - plus newcomers Leslie Haight and Charles Weber.

Running unopposed are the following incumbents:

Sharron Catallo, president; Norma Goyette, clerk; and Artemus Pappas, treasurer.

Incumbent Lillian Bauer, who also serves as deputy clerk and secretary, is running for the position of assessor.

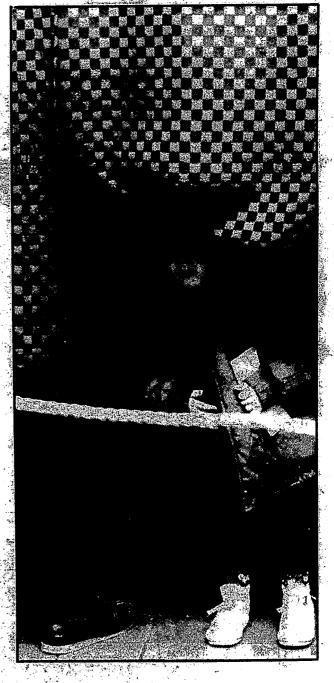

The assessor, the treasurer and the clerk do not have a vote on the board.

According to Pappas, "The village doesn't really need an assessor because (Independence) Township doesn't bear the contract to the contr all of the assessing. But the law states that we must have an assessor, so Lillian is paid $50 a year just in case we need her to sign assessments."

For now, village officials are preparing for the election, said Pappas, who also serves as village manager.

"It's hard to tell the outcome," he said. "Because there is a contest for the trustees, there may be a large. amount of voters."

Masked armed robber takes $1,500 from store

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

A clerk at M & R Drugs on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, was robbed at knifepoint Feb. 6.

A ski-masked man wearing mirrored sunglasses entered the store about 10 p.m. and announced to a crowd of onlookers that a holdup was in progress.

The man threw a black purse at the clerk and displayed a 12- to 15-inch survival knife.

According to several witnesses, the man said "This is a holdup—I don't want to have to hurt anybody; just give me the money."

The frightened clerk stuffed about $1,500 into the bag and threw it back at the intruder, according to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The man fled south on foot, the report said. No one

Several witnesses described the man as white, 5 feet-7 inches, tall, 150 pounds, wearing a light blue jacket, jeans, work gloves, a ski mask and boots.

The man was covered with mud and had stuffed unknown objects into his clothing to appear heavier, the witnesses recalled.

The man spoke in a deep voice and appeared to be about 30-35 years old, they said.

Several witnesses outside the drugstore recalled seeing a suspicious-looking brown station wagon parked on the side of the structure.

The car's two occupants appeared nervous, the witnesses said.

After police were called to the scene, tracking dogs were called to follow the man's scent.

The dogs tracked the man's steps as far as a dumpster at a gas station near Maybee Road, the report said.

Police are interviewing potential suspects in the incident

"We're interviewing witnesses that may be suspects," said Oakland County Sheriff's Department Detective Steve Parker.

"Some of the witnesses that were involved could know of something going on," Parker added.

Independence Township has not been the scene of an armed robbery in over a year, Parker recalled.

Anyone with any information about the robbery is asked to call the sheriff's department at 858-4960.

Care center threatened by bomb

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

Several area senior citizens centers have been the target of bomb threats during the past week.

Grovecrest Care Center of Clarkston, on Sashabaw Road, Independence Township, has reported two such incidents.

The first, on Feb. 7, occurred at about 2 a.m., according to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

A nurse on duty told police that a male caller said several bombs had been planted and were set to go off unless she destroyed all of the center's employee files.

Police searched the facility, and no bombs were found.

Three days later, at about 3 a.m. on Feb. 10, a caller asked to speak with a female employee.

When the caller was told that the employee was not working, he said that if personnel files were not placed outside within 15 minutes, he would blow up the nursing home.

The nurse on duty told the caller that she didn't have a key for the files, but he persisted in his threats, the report said.

At one point the man told the nurse to "talk dirty and make him horny," according to the report.

Grovecrest officials told police that a suspicious man had been seen in the building about 11 p.m.

The man was white, 6 feet tall, 145 pounds, black hair and a mustache. The man left before anyone could question him, the report said.

No bomb was found.

This woodland ordinance not just run of the mill

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

A woodlands ordinance proposed for Independence Township got a thorough thrashing from the building community at a public hearing Feb. 8.

The document also received an equal share of support from residents.

The township planning commission heard comments from about 20 people during the lengthy hearing; they then tabled the ordinance, agreeing that it needed

"We learned a lot," commission member Jo Fussman told those at the hearing.

A woodlands ordinance would determine when trees could be removed, what type and how many trees could be removed, what exceptions existed and what fines would result.

The proposed Independence Township ordinance was drafted and numerously revised by the township attorney based on suggestions from planning commission members.

"The ordinance has to be fair and clear. (But) we don't want to leave protection of trees to the whim of developers."

Joseph Figa

The final version of the ordinance will require approvals from the planning commission and township board before becoming law.

Attorney Gerald Fisher told the crowd that the ordinance sought a balance between saving trees and using land.

"The intent or notion is to create a balance between tree preservation and (just as importantly) to authorize an ability to use property fairly and equitably," Fisher said.

Builder Grant Ward of Springfield Township opened the public hearing with a lengthy critique of the ordi-

"I wonder if you're trying to regulate an industry that doesn't need regulating," said Ward, whose building experience includes Deerwood III in Independence

'Some of those homes (in Deerwood) wouldn't be able to be built based on your ordinance," he argued.

Martin Rubin, representing the Builders Association of Southeast Michigan, agreed. the important value of trees.'

Jim Charal, owner of Keift Engineering in Independence Township, told members that requirements in the ordinance were unrealistic, especially those which required a registered forester to do a tree survey before building.

"There are 198 registered foresters in the state. ... Foresters are all currently employed by government and private industry; none are in a position to work for individuals," he said.

Several residents spoke in favor of the proposed ordinance.

"I live in the woods; I like woods, and I really support the woodlands ordinance," said Lorraine Hall of Independence Township.

"I'm in favor of the woodland ordinance," echoed Sylvester Backer of Stickney Road, Independence Township. "I don't want Clarkston to be another Troy or Southfield."

Commission members agreed that all the comments had been valuable.

"The ordinance has to be fair and clear," said Joseph Figa. "(But) we don't want to leave protection of trees to the whim of developers."

"This particular ordinance could use additional work," said Bruce Mercado.

Visas can wait

A switch from petty cash to Visa cards for Independence Township incidental expenses needs more study, board members decided Jan. 16.

Township Clerk Joan McCrary suggested that four Visa cards be issued for use by department heads for township business expenses. Currently, department heads request cash in advance from the petty cash fund, McCrary

The township would open two accounts: one card would be used by the Parks and Recreation Department up to $1,000, and three cards would be used by other township officials with a $2,000 limit.

The cards would be issued to department heads only; department heads would take full responsibility for all charges made.

The procedure would allow for more convenience and better tracking of expenses, McCrary explained.

Trustee Frank Millard told the board that he wasn't comfortable with four Visas "floating around." He also asked McCrary to check with the township auditing firm to assess their opinion of the practice.

The measure was tabled for a later date.

Full-time officials receive raises of 8-10 percent

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

Pay raises for the supervisor, clerk and treasurer were approved by the Independence township board with little discussion Feb. 6.

The raise amounts were determined by a committee of township board trustees, who met on two separate occasions to discuss the increases.

Supervisor Frank Ronk will receive an 8.8 percent salary increase from $45,000 to $49,000.

Clerk Joan McCrary and Treasurer John Lutz will see raises of about ten percent, from $40,000 to $44,000.

The raises go into effect during the next township period.

The board voted 6-0 in separate motions to approve the individual raises; in each case the raise recipient abstained from voting.

"I think the raises are a bit conservative; but we like to stay on the conservative side."

Trustee William Vandermark

In presenting the raise figures, Trustee William Vandermark said he thought the raises were still too low.

"This is my personal opinion, but I think the (raises) are a bit conservative." Vandermark said. "But we like to stay on the conservative side," he added.

Last year the supervisor received a seven percent raise while the clerk and treasurer received increases of just over five percent. The 1989 raises were the first increases the full-time officials had received in two years.

Trustees told the board that the raises were determined by comparing similarly sized townships and the salaries they paid to full-time officials.

The board voted to keep the pay scale for township board trustees at its current level.

Communities to protest a hike in light rates

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

Several communities, including Independence Township, may be joining in a fight against Detroit Edison regarding rate hikes for street lighting.

The electric company has proposed that new street light charges be paid in advance. Currently, the utility allows the capital investment fees for the lights to be amortized over time.

For a new subdivision, for example, the requirements could be very costly. Underground and overhead wiring for just one light costs approximately $1,880; for a subdivision requiring 150 lights the cost would be

The City of Novi filed a petition with the Michigan Public Service Commission to intervene, and invited other communities to help in the protest.

Independence Township Treasurer John Lutz told the board that he felt the issue was worth the fight.

"After reviewing the information and listening to the comments from other municipal officials, I would recommend to the board that we make a financial commitment to support the City of Novi in fighting this rate change proposed by Detroit Edison," Lutz told members in a letter.

Lutz added that the contribution would total no more than $2,000, depending on how many municipalities

About 30 communities have shown an interest in fighting the rate hike, Lutz said.

Board members told Lutz to investigate further and suggested that the township should set a limit to their

The board is to take up the issue at a later meeting.

STATE REP. Mat J. Dunaskiss

Dunaskiss announces bid for Michigan Senate

State Rep. Mat J. Dunaskiss (R-Lake Orion) announced his candidacy for the Michigan Senate at a campaign kick-off party Feb. 9 in Waterford, which about 400 people attended.

Dunaskiss is seeking the 8th State Senate seat being vacated by current Sen. Rudy Nichols, who plans to run for a judge's seat.

Because the Republican control in the Senate is on the line in the 1990 elections, the 8th Senate District could be one of the most heated races in the state.

"I am excited about the prospect of running for State Senate and serving in the majority caucus," said Dunaskiss. "Support for this race from the community has been overwhelming. ... Endorsements and financial support have been far beyond my greatest expectations.'

Dunaskiss, whose district as a state representative includes Independence Township, said he's received endorsements from elected officials in every municipality in the Senate District, which includes Rochester Hills, Rochester, Pontiac, Waterford, Auburn Hills, Keego Harbor and Orion, Oxford, Addison and Oakland townships.

Dunaskiss is currently serving his fifth term in the Michigan House of Representatives and is a former Oakland County Commissioner.

In the 1988 race, Dunaskiss was re-elected with 79.5 percent of the vote. In the House, he currently serves on the Public Health, Transportation, Liquor Control and Corporations and Finance Committees. He is also chairman of the House Republican Task Force on Recycling.

Green Acres sewer plan unhindered by hearing

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

Few people spoke out against plans to build a sewer in the Green Acres subdivision.

A hearing to determine necessity for the project drew about 30 subdivision residents, and most seemed to welcome the sewer improvements.

Of the three people that spoke during the hearing, most had questions about how the system would affect them.

"I thought that only 24 residents (would be assessed) now I hear that there is a possibility of 29 or 30," stated Jan O'Roark, a resident of the subdivision.

Department of Public Works Director George Anderson explained that currently 28 residents would be affected, but the number could change after the township assessor finishes his calculations and after construction bids have been accepted.

Some parcels may be assessed twice because they

Another resident questioned whether the township would control rate increases.

"Is this sewer going to hook into the Detroit sewer system," questioned the Langle Drive resident. "If there's an escalation of cost, do we have impact?"

Anderson explained that although the sewer would connect with the Detroit system, all rate changes would be controlled within the township DPW building.

The cost of sewer service was estimated at $40 a quarter; Anderson said rate hikes were not likely to occur within the next few years.

The sewer would run along East Church Street, Langle Drive and Townview. The estimated cost of the project is expected to be $178,000, which will be split between approximately 28 subdivision residents over a 10 or 15 year period.

The average cost per homeowner was calculated at

Village council is conscientious

Garbage cans, garbage bins, trash barrels—at $595 each, let's call them trash receptacles.

There seems to be discussion around town as to why the Clarkston Village Council spent as much as they did on the trash receptacles: Items such as these; constructed for heavy duty municipal use, are very costly. Several catalogs and price lists are available in the village files if anyone is interested in studying costs.

The village council deliberated for almost two years before spending this amount as they were not happy to do so; however, the older "trash cans" were in bad shape. Without a doubt this is an expensive item.

When selecting the new trash receptacles, various considerations had to be made with regards to cost, vandalism, appearance and budgets.

The council chose the trash receptacles they be lieved to be the best value for the money and with the longest life expectancy.

Community Development Block Grant funds were used to pay for these after the Council had held the appropriate public hearings on the spending of Community Development Grant funds (Few, if any residents attend these hearings.)

I have worked with village councils for almost 28 years; and Thave yet to see a council who was governing as was quoted in an Oakland Press article "like they live on an expense account."

Traditionally, Clarkston Village councils are extremely conservative in their disbursements.

The village primary is coming up on Feb. 19. I would hope that village residents will vote to retain a council that is doing a conscientious job.

Art Pappas, Village Manager

Thanks to all

The Clarkston Board of Education would like to thank everyone involved with the successful passage of our millage. There were far too many groups and people to mention by name — there were more than 500 of you who actively participated in the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee and volunteered many hours of your time.

Just say yes to Children's Fund

BY DAVID C. MILLS

You ve seen or heard the commercial dozens of times, Its message is brief but powerful, its analogy unmistakable.

A fresh egg is dropped into a sizzling frying pan and instantly disintegrates before your eyes. The announcers commanding voice bellows: "This is your brain. This is your brain on drugs. Any questions?"

As a matter of fact, the Children's Trust Fund of Michigan (CTF) does have a few questions. For instance, what about all of the hundreds of thousands of children who are abused by adults who use drugs? Why aren't more people in Michigan willing to help them?

While hard-hitting anti-drug message repeatedly urge young people to "just say no" to drugs, it's sadly ironic that the vast majority of people in this state unfortunately continue to just say no to the Children's Trust Fund of Michigan — a non-profit, independent organization that works to prevent child abuse.

Check the CTF box on your state income tax form, and you can take an active role in the war against drugs by helping to build strong families and prevent child abuse and neglect in Michigan.

The Children's Trust Fund is a source of funding for 51 local programs throughout the state that work to prevent child abuse and neglect. CTF has received less than $1 million in donations which is only a fraction of the amount needed to help with the monumental task of preventing child abuse before it

What's more disturbing is that CTF check-off donations have continued to decline over the past few years.

In fact, if every Michigan taxpayer donated $5 in 1990, it would result in $21 million in donations that could be used to help hundreds of thousands more children and families in every county of the state.

We can't win the war against drugs if we ignore the war against child abuse.

Please — just say yes.

David C. Mills is executive director of The Children's Trust Fund

racy King

As he expected he would, Benjamin Franklin made modern day news this week.

Back in the 1700s Franklin set aside a $2,000 trust for a college in Boston. The trust was set to come due in approximately 200 years, or around the year

The only condition attached to the trust was that the money be used for education in the trades, skills that Franklin considered invaluable to society.

The trust money grew substantially, and, today, is worth several million dollars.

That in itself is newsworthy, but even more interesting is the forward thinking of Benjamin Fran-

Franklin probably did think of the gift for its monetary value, and from what I know of Ben Franklin, he likely spent many pleasurable hours imagining how the trust would be received in a world 200 years older.

These founding fathers were very creative, practical people As Franklin might have hoped, his contribution has provoked a lot of modern day thought.

For instance; how many of today's world leaders think enough about the future to consider making such an impact?

Today's leaders can barely consider the impact on the next generation, much less the impact on ten to twelve generations.

Another thought — what would the world be like 200 years from now?

After reviewing the incredible changes from 1790 to 1990, and recalling all of the events inbetween, (world wars, the Great Depression, the rise and fall of the Berlin Wall, and countless other whelming to envision what the events), it seems ove next 200 years could bring.

And yet another thought, what good cause would best benefit from an amount of money; and how fast would the money grow?

Would it be realistic to expect a quadrillion dollars to gather in that account over 200 years? And would there be any trees left to spend it on?

It is to Franklin's credit that he knew enough about the importance of trade skills to limit the use of his money to that end.

Indeed, trade skills like printing, which was Franklin's special skill; have survived and even flourished.

I wonder if Franklin, wherever he is, is satisfied with his country on the year his trust comes due

If he had known life in 1990, would he have changed his contribution?

What would your contribution be?

Iacocca's quiet

Fitzgerald

Darrien Earle has announced her engagement to Lee Iacocca; but the hasn't done likewise. Why

"There hasn't been time," Earle recently told a repor-ter. "And there are some complicated changes in company rules that I don't understand either, but he said they stopped him from announcing it. It's kind of hard to explain."

I guess so. There was a time when I worked for Chrysler, a few slots below Iacocca's position as chairman. I was a stock piler. That didn't mean I advised the corporation investments director on how many shares of which stock to purchase. It meant I worked in a parts plant and when a part was needed somewhere, I picked it up and sent it

Even with stock options, I didn't make quite as much money as Iacocca does. (My stock option was: If the part was too heavy for me to pick up, I could either break my back or wait an hour for a forklift, thereby earning the scorn of a hurry-up foreman who would break my spirit.) But there was no company rule preventing me from announcing my engagement.

Admittedly, I couldn't get a date, let alone a fiancee. But that's not the point. The point is maybe Darrien Earle should wake up and smell the motor oil.

Lee Iacocca is Chrysler. The corporation can barely run a classified ad without his picture. This is an executive smart enough to save a bankrupt corporation everyone else gave up for dead. This is a best-selling author so popular and powerful that many intelligent politicians believe he could be elected president.

So we're supposed to believe Iacocca can't announce or even confirm his engagement because there's a company rule against it? Just like there's a company rule against taking a corporate screwdriver home under your shirt? It's much easier to believe Dan ien Earle should wait a while before choosing a silver pattern.

But maybe it's unfair to insinuate that Iacocca is preparing to slip out of a relationship. That's what I was fold by a reporter close to the automotive romance scene. She said Iacocca's problem might be a company rule against announcing employees' engagements at company expense.

Does that mean Iacocca wanted to make the announcement part of a Chrysler TV ad, with a rebate guaranteed if his marriage doesn't last as long as Roger Smith's?

No, the reporter said, it's more like a company rule against employees using Chrysler's public relations staff, or memo pads and fax machines, to announce personal business, such as getting engaged to persons who are not Chrysler employees or suppliers.

Oh sure, that explains the delay. Iacocca didn't have any personal stationery on which to announce the engagement and hasn't had time to order some from the printer, or the printer said there were several customers ahead of him, and lacocca would have to wait.

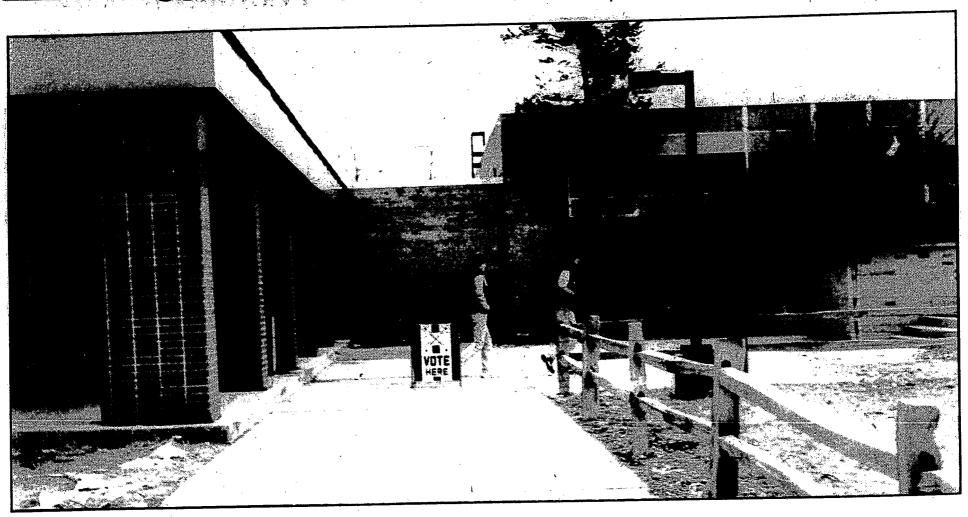

This isn't the first time lacocca confounded me. In his 1988 book, lacocca admitted he went to a marriage counselor to try to save his brief second marriage. One of the smartest, wealthiest, most powerful men in the world hired a $75-per-hour stranger to tell him how to get along with his wife

Oh well. There is one lacocca question easier to answer, It was asked last week by Tom Griesdom, general manager of WXYZ-TV (Channel 7). Griesdom was upset by the "Barroom Brawl" publicity given his favorite news anchor, Bill Bonds, for alleged involvement in a saloon scuffle

If the incident had involved Lee Iacocca, Griesdom asked; "Do you think this would have been presented in, the same light? Would he have been hauled out on the front page of the Detroit News two months after" the alleged incident happened?

Not by this journalist. I'd wait for lacocca's announcement, and if it didn't come in a year or two, I'd start waiting for someone else at the altar. Where I work, it's a company rule, a

Teens charged with larceny

Two Independence Township teens were arrested after they were seen stealing tools from a van on Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Eric James Seifferlein, 18, of Whipple Tree Lane and Jonathon Douglas Cort, 18, of Lancaster Hills Drive have both been charged with larceny over $100, a felony.

The two are scheduled to appear in 52nd District Court, Independence Township, for a preliminary hearing on Feb. 15 at 2:30 p.m.

Seifferlein was released on a personal recognizance bond, and Cort, a previous offender, was released after paying $100 in bail money.

Police were dispatched to an address at Lancaster Drive, where a complainant had reportedly followed the suspects

According to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, the complainant had seen the two suspects steal two tool boxes from his van at McDonald's Restaurant on Dixie Highway, where the complainant worked.

The two suspects ran on foot, which allowed the complainant to follow them to the Lancaster address. Although the two would not answer the door, the two boxes were eventually placed outside the apartment, the report said.

When police arrived, the door was opened by one of the suspects, who said, "We're having a bad day."

The other suspect stated, "We gave him back the boxes; what more do they want?"

The two were both frisked, handcuffed and transported to the Oakland County Jail.

Christian school misses state deadline, stays open

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Staff Writer

Springfield Christian Academy remains open, despite threats by the state that it would be shut down for not submitting information on its operation.

The Michigan Department of Education set a deadline of Jan. 21. for Springfield Christian Academy, and 30 other Michigan private schools, to submit the informa-

David Vanaman, an administrator at the school, said the state has not contacted the school for several months.

"We missed another deadline;" Vanaman said: "At this point there has been nothing official."

Springfield Christian Academy is run out of the Dixie Baptist Church on Dixie Highway, Springfield

The school has been charged with not filing reports on such things as teachers, curriculum and days of opera-

In May 1989, school officials received a letter from the state stating that a formal complaint was being filed. The school was given until January to come under compliance or it would face closure.

Vanaman said he has heard that the state likely won't move to close the school for a full year.

We heard unofficially that even if the state does decide to move for closure, we would still be open all next school year," he said.

"We heard from a legislator that the board of education would likely wait until after an election year,"

"They could bandy it around for the next 10 years!" he exclaimed.

The Rev. Paul Vanaman, principal at the school, has argued that church schools should be exempt from state

"We believe the church exists by the will of God, not by permission of the state," Vanaman said last spring.

"To send in a demanded piece of paper ... we would acknowledge that the state has authority to demand that paper," Vanaman said.

Arkansas conference OK'd for township clerk

Springfield Township Clerk Calvin Walters will attend the International Institute of Municipal Clerks conference in Little Rock, Ark., May 20-24.

The board voted 6-1 to approve about $900 for air fare and lodging for the trip, with Trustee Charles Oaks casting the lone dissenting vote. Walters will be reimbursed for expenses."

Michigan is to host the conference next year, said Walters, adding that he wanted to attend the Arkansas conference so he can encourage others to attend Michigan's conference next year.

Michelle Spies is getting a flavor for the footlights. The Clarkston High School student plays a featured role in the Clarkston High School production "Annie Get Your Gun," to be performed on several dates this March.

Michelle auditioned for the part of "little girl" on the advice of one of her teachers. She shares that part and the part of Nellie with another young actress.

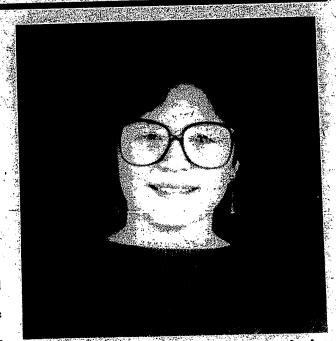

Play practice has kept Michelle busy; she is required to attend rehearsal every weekday after school.

The only difficulty for the young actress is that she doesn't like "walking over there every day."

Otherwise, Michelle says she plans to audition for other plays in the future.

The play can be seen at the Kirchgessner Auditorium. Call 625-0900 for show dates and times.

$900 purchase helps planning coordinator

Some new equipment in Springfield Township should make Planning and Development Coordinator Doug Lewan's job a little easier.

The board unanimously approved $900 to buy the items Jan. 11.

As of Jan. 19, Lewan said a $235 planimeter, an instrument used to measure irregular shapes, was still on order.

Already in use are the drafting table, chair, lamp and T-square, which make up the remaining $635 for the items purchased, Lewan said.

"They make my job easier," he said.

Now he'll be able to spread out plans and make zoning changes himself rather than sending them someone else to make the changes, he said.

Lewan has been employed by Springfield Township since August 1988. Before coming to Springfield, he was employed by Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., an engineering firm in Bloomfield Hills.

Township parking solutions offered

Problems, problems and more problems arise for our township and for Clarkston village parking at the township hall in order to attend various township hall meetings

Solutions are numerous and various:

1. Not allow people to attend — only to follow the meetings via the cable television route.

2. Make more parking spaces at the hall — in front of the buildings out toward M-15.

. 3. Make more spaces down the hill toward Parke

4. Buy and/or condemn adjacent land south or north of the present parking log to accommodate the public

5. Compel cars to be parked down at the two lots downtown but provide a shuttle bus to drive people to and from up that hill.

6. Build a new township hall outside the village where there is space enough to provide adequate parking slots as our citizens become much more active in their own local government.

For this, there are three available locations. With these three, the township government would be taken out of the village — if and when it votes for cityhood.

A. On part of school board property land between board office and township library. I believe there was a total of 40 acres in that parcel. There is already two parking lots there and could be used if need be for any overflow.

B. On part of that land already owned by the township on Flemings Lake Road. You know — where that big white and yellow building for the water and sewer department are. I think there was 27 acres in that parcel.

C. On part of the township park on Clarkston-Orion Road.

Of course, a legal decision would have to be made as for community school property to benefit only Independence Township taxpayers and not those school taxpayers of Springfield Township, whose money was also used to buy that land.

This school board has already donated part of its land to the Independence Township Library — without regard to the school taxpayers in the western portion of this school system.

Other readers must have ideas and suggestions as they try to find a parking space and then give up and go

Cooperation helps

Thank you for your recent article on retail flight in the Village of Clarkston. This was a timely article which brought out a variety of views on the subject.

However, I do not understand the comments of Artemus Pappas, who stated that "retail zoning is not really an issue because we don't want to tell landlords what to put in their buildings" as "this would cause hardship."

Since when have governments not told people what

One of the responsibilities of government is to pass laws which tell people what they can and cannot do within the community and in some cases with or on their own property, when it is considered to be in the best interest of the community.

One example that comes to mind is the situation, some years ago, when the owner of the gas station at the corner of Main Street and Clarkston Road was prohibited from retaining a sign on his property.

This caused him hardship, but was an enforcement of an ordinance that the Village deemed appropriate for whatever reason.

Is this different in principle from enacting and enforcing a zoning ordinance that would zone downtown Clarkston for retail and thus encourage the eventual return of retail stores, albeit requiring some adjustment on the part of landlords?

If the majority of the people of the Village of Clarkston do not want a retail district, they probably do not have to have one.

However, my customers at the Village Bookstore (people living both the village and the township) have consistently expressed their disappointment at the loss of so many stores in the village. No one—not even one person—has ever indicated approval of the increase in office spac

You will also recall the petition a couple of years ago, signed by many concerned citizens, asking Clarkston-Village. Council members to address the issue of retail flight.

I realize that my informal public opinion survey is skewed in favor of those who want the retail district to continue.

Those who do not favor downtown shopping are presumably not patronizing our stores and, as a result, are not making their opinions known to us.

We don't know how many people actually want to eliminate the retail district; however, since a significant number of people are expressing a desire for a viable shopping area, to allow the destruction of this district constitutes a failure of our responsibility to the needs of the community.

I do not believe the public has a duty to keep any retail store in business.

It is the merchant who is responsible for creating a business that people wish to patronize. However, in a situation such as that which exists here, the retailers cannot do it alone.

If the people of Clarkston do want to retain this shopping district, all segments of the community must work together to create a healthy retail environment; otherwise, village shopping may, indeed, be a thing of the past Georgene R. Sloan Village Bookstore instead of Michigan.

Gee whiz. Edwin, mebbe they just didn't appreciate the climate in these here parts. They way I figger it, they was just purely ignorant, or surely they woulda! seen that the only place right for settlin' in must be Independence Township.

But, golly, never mind them. I finally found the place myself so no harm done. Then, see, just when I start feelin at home here — say about eight years later — some old fogey goes and makes a putdown 'cause my kinfolk didn't birth me here.

Gee willikers, Edwin, I was jus' thinkin' this was a free country and I could cross any state or county line I wanted to. Mebbe you could set us all straight on that. I don't seem to recollect any NOT FOR SALE signs on the house I bought.

Come to think of it, ya' better stop developing that there property ya' own in Brandon Township. Ya' know, that lake property. It's just mighty liable to attract more newcomers. It might even raise property assessments over there, too, so ya' better let go of it right quick.

'Bout that property tax system ya' don't like. How come ya' didn't fix it way back when? Ya' know, you'all coulda' taken care of it even before us "boomers" was born. Was ya' too busy Edwin?

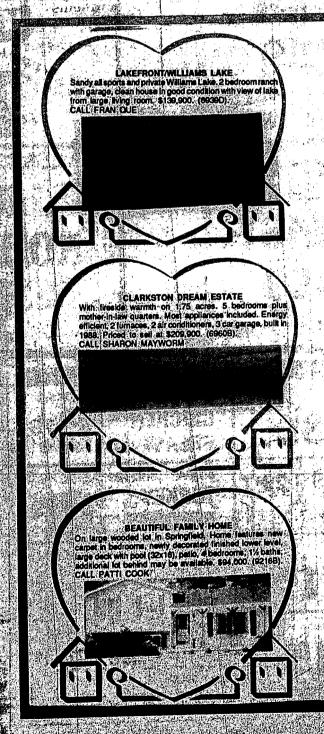

Well, I may not be smart about where to settle down, but I sure do know an old coot when I see one. Dagburnit.

Cutathon benefit

If you need a haircut, you could set it up for Sunday, Feb. 25, and contribute to a good cause at the same time.

The Glitz hair salon in Independence Pointe, M-15, Independence Township, is holding a cutathon 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. that day.

Every penny raised goes to the Mike Quinn Christian Service Fund, which will benefit Michael Quinn, a 16-year-old Lake Orion resident who has leukemia and needs a bone marrow transplant.

So far, doctors have been unable to find a perfectly matched donor, and a search is one for someone with the right blood tissue type. The testing is expensive, and the money raised from the cutathon will help with the costs, said Sherry Barnett of The Glitz.

A battalion of hairdressers will be armed and ready to cut ($10), blow-dry ($15 with cut) and do minimanicures ($5) on everyone who walks through the door. To make an appointment, call 625-1001, Otherwise, it's first-come, first-serve.

For information on being tested, call Life for Brandon at 855-5715 for details on testing alternatives.

If you're between 18 and 50 years old and have no history of hepatitis, heart disease, cancer or AIDS, a simple blood test is all it will take to see if you can help Michael or perhaps someone else looking for a donor.

School millage issue passes

the factors and plans to work with the seniors, others in need and the state legislature toward meaningful reform

"We have to get beyond rhetoric and get to action," Haner said.

The 5.6 mills were necessary to offset losses in state aid. Clarkston lost over $1.5 million in the 1989-90 school year from state aid funding, and would have lost over $1.7 million in the 1990-91 school year if the millage didn't pass. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 property valuation.

Since the state aid formula ties funding to the local millage rate, local school districts lose money whenever the Headlee Amendment to the state constitution takes effect.

The Headlee Amendment automatically lowers the millage rate whenever property values increase at a higher rate than the rate of inflation.

Even though the millage is for only one year, it will allow the return to educational levels of 1988.

Cuts would have included no busing for junior and senior high, a five-hour school day and no athletics or extra-curricular activities.

CLARKSTON HIGH SCHOOL

VARSITY WRESTLING, Feb. 10
CHS qualified eight of its team members for regional on Saturday, Feb. 10. "This is the most qualifiers Clarkston has ever had; ! said varsity coach Scott Strick-

Taking first place as district champs were freshman Jerry Anderson at 119 pounds and senior Jerry Lawrence, at 171 pounds, who is two-time district champ.

Taking second place were senior John Anderson at 130 pounds, senior John Terpstra at 145 pounds and junior Damon Michelsen at 160 pounds.

Taking third place were Alex Martin, junior, at 140 pounds, and Tim Kerr, senior, at 152 pounds.

In fourth place was freshman Jeff Deroseau at 103 pounds, who forfeited both second and third place due to Another mishap for the Wolves occurred when freshman Jason Roughton broke his hand during Wednesday night's meet

"I was optimistic that he would qualify, but he's a freshman, and he'll be back," Strickler said.

Overall, the Wolves did outstanding, added Strickler. They are gearing up for the Regional meet Saturday, Feb. 17. According to Strickler, the top four weight classes in this meet will compete in the state tournament in Battle Creek Feb. 24.

"The odds are definitely in our favor," Strickler said. "I'm so optimistic about our chances that I've already ordered the van for the state meet."

The Wolves suffered a loss against Pontiac Northern, 62-57 Friday. The team went downhill in the second quarter. It was a constant upward battle. The Wolve's current standing is 13-3.

JV BASKETBALL

CHS 69, Rochester 59

The junior variety team had a tremendous turnout Tuesday, when the Wolves won by a 10-point lead. High scorers of the game included Luke Fedio with 20 points, Jason Lund with 13 points and Jeremy Burke with 10 · 115 (1.0 m) (1.0 m)

"Luke was hotter than a firecracker," junior varsity coach Tim Kaul said.

CHS 58, Pontiac Northern 56 Friday night's win went down to the wire.

"This was a huge win for us," said Kaul. "This is the first time we beat them on their own court."

Within the last few seconds of play Devin Dupree hit a three-pointer to tie the game. The Wolves got the ball back after Dave Smith took a charging foul, and then Fedio made the winning basket at the buzzer.

"We had great team effort," Kaul said. "I'm extremely pleased. Out of my 17 years of coaching, this is the best win ever."

The Wolves are currently 13-3.

Warm temps don't halt ski team's success

BY RENEE GLOVINSKY Clarkston News Staff Writer

Who would have believed that on Thursday, Feb. 8, the temperature in Michigan was 57 degrees? Well it was. And this warming factor didn't stop the Clarkston Wolves from skiing into yet another victory of the season.

The battle consisted of an all-day tournament at Pine Knob Ski Resort in Independence Township. Starting at 9 in the morning and winding down around 4 p.m., the skiers had their day cut out for them.

The boys took second place overall, while the girls

Both teams did an outstanding job," said varsity coach Judy Roeser.

There were two events during the tournament -- the first being the slalom and the second being the giant slalom (GS), Roeser explained.

Both teams did an outstanding job."

Coach Judy Roeser

Medals were given out to winners in both events. For the girls team, Tami Mitchell received a medal for first place in both events; Carrie Roeser received a medal for sixth place in the slalom and ninth place in the GS; Karen Lowe received a medal for 10th place in both events; and Heather Johnson received a medal for eighth place in the slalom only.

For the boys team, Brian Zoss led in fourth place; Matt Warren took sixth place; and Matt Foyteck came in including Rochester Adams, Waterford Kettering and Waterford Mott; Brian Zoss took first against Lake Orion; and Matt Warren came in first against Rochester.

Although the team was able to ski in such warm conditions, they do hope for more snow to be able to finish

Prep Profile/Tami Mitchell

Born: Aug. 26, 1972. Favorite food: Filet mignon. Favorite TV show: "21 Jump Street" Favorite movie: "Man From Snowy River." Changes: "I would change my grades." Idol: Her grandfather, Carol Frantz. "He does everything he wants to do in life."

Favorite subject: Math. Favorite teacher: Miss Cutshaw. Hobbies: Skiing and soccer. Future goals: To attend Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, and to work in a math-related field.

"As long as I am happy, I will be successful." Biggest help: "People that have helped me out the most are Howard Lovett, Steve Towens and Mike Foyteck."

TAMI Mitchell admires her grandfather's attitude toward life.

What are the

The following information was provided by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

What are youth sports? Youth sports should be programs that enhance:

2. Develop the ability to interact with peers.

3. Gain some autonomy from parents. 4. Build a strong mind and bou physical activity. 5 Learn how to follow direction.

6: Understand the differences between good sportsmanship and poor sportsmanship.

7. Improve or develop self confidence.

8. Develop the ability to deal with small disappoint-9. Acquire skill in a life-long leisure activity.

10. Develop social skills. Youth sports are often filled with disappointments to children because: 1. They are chastised by their parents, fans, and coaches for failure to perform to the highest standards (i.e. strikes out, makes an error; walks a batter, lets in a goal,

2. They spend most of each game on the bench because they aren't one of the "better" players

3. They played 'outfield" all the time, never get play in the infield where the action is.

4. Adults encourage the "winning is everything"

5. They become afraid to make mistakes.

benefits of youth sports?

Games become pressure situations.

7. Peers tease those less efficient in games.

8. Too much emphasis is placed on the game.

9. Poor sportsmanship affects everyone involved with the team.

10. They dread being in the limelight because everyone will see them make a mistake, rather than applaud

11. They often give up activity at an early age because they feel they are not talented enough to p pate without reprisal. Often these same/children never attempt to play that activity again in their lifetime because of their earlier negative experience.

How parents and coaches help reinforce the positive and reduce the negative aspects of the activity:

1. Parents should take time to practice with their children and reinforce confidence while helping them develop their skills. 2. Take extra care in complimenting a child for his or her effort rather than dwelling on mistakes.

3. When offering suggestions for improvement, make sure they are presented in a positive manner. -4. Take the time to get involved with the child's team to help develop a positive atmosphere. 5: When you notice a child or an adult making fun of or degrading another child, make sure your own children are reassured that this is not appropriate behavior. Help them learn compassion for others.

6. Applaud both teams for their effort, win or loss, 7. When participating in an activity yourself; make sure you are providing a good role model for children and

8. Remind children that these are games, and they

9. As a coach or a parent, help develop a balance between winning and development.

10. Show acceptance of all players regardless of their ability, size, shape or personality. Kids will pick up

11. Coaches and parents should not let a child leave games feeling upset and worthless.

12. Give young athletes responsibility. It helps make them feel important

13. Reinforce good sportsmanship.

Hopefully, this information will help parents and coaches to create as positive an environment as possible

Thoughts of spring sports

Renee Glovinsky

Because the weather has been leaning toward spring lately, it isn't surprising that so many people have already oiled their baseball gloves for the upcoming softball season.

Going to Highland Park over the weekend, I saw many youngsters tossing the ball. It looked fun.

For the last two years I had planned on joining a softball team. It's really rough finding a team that has any openings. It also doesn't help that I waited until two weeks before the season began to sign up - both years. All the same though, I wanted to play. I wanted to feel the excitement of being on a team.

This year I plan on acting early. My name will be on several lists so that I'm sure to get on at least one team. Hopefully.

But even with great effort, many people don't get placed. There is an alternative though. Finding another sport other than softball. Other team sports do exist. Some of them are played locally; others may take some hunting to find. I made a list of some common activities as well as those you may only have seen on Channel 9 around midnight.

FINANCIAL ADVICE

from James R. Filak, C.P.A.

FINANCIAL RESOLUTIONS FOR 1990

If you make just one resolution for 1990, let it be this: Simplify your tax and financial position. The following suggestions should help you keep this resolution.

1. Review your will. Tax law changes in recent years have outdated many estate plans. If you don't have a will, get one. Even singles should control the disposition of their estate. 2. Eliminate consumer debt. Only 10% of the interest is deductible in 1990. If you can't eliminate it, replace it with lower cost debt. Cut out credit cards, or pay the outstanding balance every month to avoid interest charges. 3. Improve your recordkeeping. Pull all your financial records together in one place. Have separate files for investments, insurance policies, will and estate documents, deeds, and your home (cost and improvements). 4. Establish a savings plan. Begin building a savings reserve to cover unexpected ex funds for new opportunites. 5. Reassess your insurance needs. Meet with us and your insurance agent to determine if you are overinsured in some areas, underinsured in others.

6. Investigate before you invest. Develop an investment plan and stick to it. Resolve never to buy penny stocks, "hot tips", or any product sold by telephone pitchmen. 7. Plan for your retirement. The earlier you plan, the less financial pain. Take full advantage of plans offered by your employer, and supplement them as appropriate with a plan of your own.

8. Review your record of earnings with the Social Security Administration (SSA). Your benefits are based on these records, and the SSA cannot correct errors that are more than three years old.

There are others, too. Every community parks and recreation office has a list of its activities all year 'round. Sign up early, and don't let this sports season pass you by.

Builder held for threatening customer, with gun

BUILDER Thomas LaValley is arrested after allegedly breaking into the home of a customer with a shotgun.

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY

A Clarkston home builder has been released on bond in the weekend assault on an Oxford man who was one of his customers

Thomas LaValley, 52, allegedly entered the home of Robert Theriot on Coryell, unannounced Saturday morning carrying a loaded shotgun. Theriot and his two sons, ages 10 and 11, were home at the time,

According to a neighbor who lives two doors away, one of the children came to his door and said a man had a gun to his father's head. When the neighbor asked who the man was, the child named LaValley.

Oxford Police reports indicate Theriot and LaValley struggled with a 20-guage, single-shot shotgun. After the gun went off, the struggle moved from the house to the outdoors, which is where the two men were when Oxford Police arrived.

By that time the gun was empty, but when arrested LaValley was found to be carrying more ammunition in a pocket and in his truck. Though he denied pointing the gun at Theriot's head, he allegedly admitted threatening him.

According to Lyle Ring, the neighbor, there have been problems before between LaValley and his customers on Coryell St.

"He promises all these things to be done, then he forces you to close on the house or he'd put it back up for sale," Ring said. "Really the guy is nuts. He doesn't have it all together."

Got a story idea?

Ring said his problems with LaValley included the grading of his property, which he had to pay another company to do, and interior work, such as hanging cabinets.

"There were a lot of neighbors involved." Ring said.
"We put a lien on the property for things we had in the house
... carpeting, tile, etc. The first time you deal with him, he's the greatest guy in the world."

According to the Michigan Dept of Licensing and Regulation, no formal complaints have been registered against LaValley.

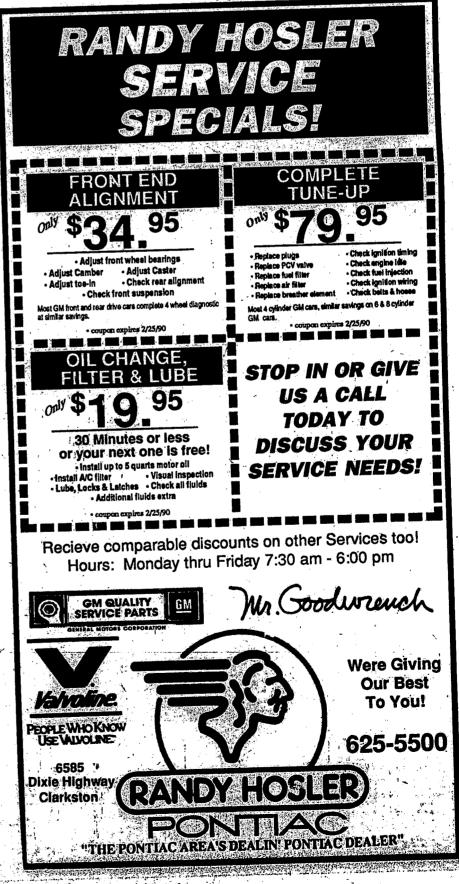

Theriot had reportedly withheld payment of $45,000 from LaValley for similar reasons. The family had moved to Oxford from Louisiana only recently.

LaValley posted 10% of a $250,000 bond and is free awaiting a preliminary investigation Feb 20, before 52-3 District Court Judge James Sheehy. He faces charges of breaking and entering, felonious assualt, and possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony.

Superintendent's contract extended by 4-3 vote

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN Clarkston News Staff Writer

Parents rallied in support of Superintendent Gary Haner on election day Feb. 12 when the Clarkston school board voted 4-3 to extend his contract.

Though the item was not on the agenda, the board granted Haner a one-year extension on his contract. Voting yes were Vice-president John Needham and trustees Elaine Schultz, Thomas Howard and Paul VanKlaveren. Voting no were President Janet Thomas, Secretary Mary Jane Chaustowich and Trustee Karen Foyteck.

The board met in closed session Feb. 5 to evaluate Haner. Under Haner's current contract, the board must take action by Feb. 28, or the contract would automatically be terminated, Haner said after the meeting.

Durham Downs of Allen Road, Independence Township, was one of the first of about 15 to speak on Haner's behalf.

'Gary has succeeded on all accounts,' Durham said, referring to the criteria for evaluating a superintendent. "The people in this room know he is doing an excellent job.'

Clarkston needs to hire the best to run the schools,

"I was on the board when Gary was chosen, and he is an excellent choice. I'm astonished there is not more support from this board."

Dr. Steven Werner

Downs said.

"We have the best, and we want you to approve a contract extension (for Haner)," he said.

member, also voiced approval for Haner.

"I was on the board when Gary was chosen, and he is an excellent choice," Werner said. "I'm astonished there is not more support from this board."

All of the speakers addressed the board with positive comments about Haner's performance as superintendent. He's been employed by the district for about 18 months but was also employed in the Clarkston school district when he first started teaching in the fall of 1966, leaving in June 1971 for another job.

Haner has held four other superintendent positions. After the meeting, Haner said he wanted to remain in the Clarkston district.

"I'm not looking for another job," he said. "I desire to spend the next nine years here in Clarkston before retiring from education."

Haner has relatives in the Clarkston area, but also wanted to return to the district in which he first started his teaching career, he said.

"We returned first to Clarkston and secondly to the Clarkston schools in anticipation of being here and taking it into the future," Haner said.

two years ago when he arrived to take over the superintendent's position in July 1988, he said.

"I'm disappointed with the indifference with the board," Haner said.

All of the other aspects of the community, work place and family have been positive, Haner added.

One of the school board's primary functions is to hire and fire the superintendent. Haner said he is employed by representatives of the community, and it was heartwarming to see the support from the community, but the 4-3 vote for extending his contract makes it difficult. Haner recalled advice he was given during a workshop he attended when he was hired for his first superintendent's job.

"You will find that a 4-3 board is more than a piece of lumber," Haner was told.

After the meeting, Thomas said she did not consider 'no" vote a punitive action toward Haner.

Opinion of Bill Myers

U.S. should listen to its own advice

William A. Myers is a retired Lapeer County editor and investments manager from Boca Raton, Fla.

Free elections: Free elections. Free elections. That's the answer to problems in Nicaragua, in Panain China, in East Germany, etc. So they itell us: It might also be the answer to a few of the problems in Did Chicago under Mayor Daley have free elections? Did Kansas and Texas and Cook County, Ill., have free elections in the 1960 presidential race?

Our Congressmen - House of Representatives, that is are reelected as many times as they want. Of the ones who run again, 99 percent are reelected. Free elections?

You might suspect there's something fishy. That 99 percent may be even a little better than Russian elections.

And where do Congressmen get the millions of dollars to snow under opponents dumb enough to run? Not from the voters in their district. From the big heavy-hitters from wherever they happen to be - the savings and loans, the big companies, the American Medical Association, the Farm Bureau, the National Education Association. Whoever wants special laws, special favors, and whoever has the cash to back up their desires.

Spare your $100 donation to your Congressman. It won't even get him to answer your phone call. It will be like tossing a grape to a beggar. The most powerful body in the world, the U.S. Congress, in the most powerful country, isn't free with its favors. And in another sense of the word, the elections aren't free - that is, free, meaning without restraint. It takes money to make the mare go.

We don't say the voters are paid in each congressional district. They're just smothered with publicity, with government-paid mail, with hours of television ads, acres of billboards. Come Election Day, the boys with the money have paid poll-watchers, paid drivers, paid phone

To run against a Congressman, a challenger doesn't have the money, and he's not liable to get it, because he's a poor risk.

Gerrymandering, or tailoring of voting district boundaries, produces another advantage for the party in power in each state.

So the big interests pay the fiddlers and get to call the tune. In civics classes, they call the process "free elections.

Do you think more of the same will transform Nicaragua and Panama and East Germany and the communist countries?

A couple of fellows from Texas dropped in to peddle life insurance to save Jennifer and me estate taxes sometime down the road.

Essense of the deal:

1. We give the sons and daughter the money to buy a life insurance policy on us. Cost: $144,000 up front for a million-dollar policy.

2. When the second of us dies, this $1 million would pay the tax on about a $2 million estate, after exemptions the net amount subject to federal tax.

3. The policy accumulates earnings without tax. The heirs use the proceeds to pay the estate tax.

4. From Day One, we have $1 million in life insurance, payable when the second of us dies.

This is the Texas pitch. A little shopping around and some figuring with the calculator reveals:

2. Mortality tables give the "second to die" of this charming Myers couple 20 years.

2. One insurance company quotes a rate of a company rated A+ (superior) by A.M. Best for 15 years of level-rate term insurance of $6,490 per year. That totals $97,350 for 15 years. There is no cash value. The next five years after that; premiums average about $50,000 per year, as the Grim Reaper looms larger.

3. The Texas deal costs more, and the cost is up front now. It doesn have a cash value as years go by, but you'd wait six years before you got your money back - and without interest.

4. You could buy $1 million in 8 percent zero coupon bonds, maturing in 20 years. Cost: $208,000. No taxes during the period, nor at maturity.

Summary:

1. Paid-up lifetime life insurance. Cost now: $144,000.

2. Term life policy, 15 years level annual premium: $6,490. Then sharply increased rate. Total for 20 years: $358,000.

3. Buy $1 million in zero coupon bonds yielding 8 percent. Cost now: $208,000. Worth more each year, and marketable. (Assume interest rates level.) You also have control of the money. The life policies have to be owned by the children for them to get the death benefit without

So these are the facts. They ought to be good for debate on a long winter Sunday afternoon.

The Wall Street Journal not long ago printed a table of real estate limited partnerships. In 12 partnerships sponsored by leading firms, only three have a selling price, plus principal and income paid from the start, that equals the original investment. And, mind you, I used the high in the selling column price column.

Buyers, beware.

Marriages require work before and after vows

BY RENEE GLOVINSKY Clarkston News Staff Writer

Thousands of men and women in this country walk down the aisle every month and say I do. The chances that they will end up as another divorce statistic remains high.

Divorce in this country is still on the upswing; but that shouldn't scare couples from exchanging their vows. Even though a high proportion of marriages fail, some area counselors feel that with more effort, couples can learn to stay together through better and through worse, through richer and through poorer.

Pastor Glen Currie of the Maranatha Baptist Church in Clarkston works with couples who are planning on getting married as well as with those who have been struggling to achieve marital bliss.

"Some common worries that pre-married couples speak of are financial; (others include) the number of children they plan on having, compatibility and family relationships," he said.

Currie explained that he usually meets with a premarriage couple over a period of nearly six months prior to the wedding.

"I meet with the couple on a regular basis. By getting to know them, I am assured that they are ready," Currie said.

During each session, he conducts a review with the couple dealing with various topics.

He also suggests a number of books the coupleshould read, including "Formula For Family Unity," by Walter

Pastor Robert Davis of the Christ Community Church in Rochester has been a pastor for 23 years. He has worked with a number couples prior, during and after their marriages

"I was considering to offer group classes for couples," he said, "but I didn't want to get into a 'factory' mentality."

Common fears that prenuptial couples face can be sexual, financial or psychological. Another problem is the fear of being known intimately by the other, Davis said.

He also pointed out that each couple is different.
"When a a man and a woman come in, I will give them written projects to do at home," Davis said.

"Some of the sessions to follow will focus on the bride and groom's answers. Issues include the philosophy of marriage, the purpose of getting married, why they have decided to get married, and the importance for communication," he added.

Other issues emphasized are conflict resolution, spending time together, setting good patterns, money, sex and children.

"One of the major areas for a couple to concentrate on is the development of intimacy," Davis said. "There are many different types of intimacy: intellectual, emo-

Married couples as well as couples considering marriage have to develop intimacy in all these areas, Davis said.

"One couple had to learn recreational intimacy," he added. "When they would play tennis, the man would serve the ball 90 mph while the woman would serve the (See MARRIAGE, Page 8) pre-beaded materials can be cost less.

"We are into fuss," Terri admits.

Some of the brides are wearing "Mom's" gown, or having parts of it sewn into the bridal gown. Some of the parts from the mother's bridal gown are even being sewn into the flower girls' dresses, says Terri.

The cathedral train and the detachable train are also big fashion item for brides, she says.

The long trains came back into style after the weddings of Princess Diana and "Fergie." Because President Nixon's daughters were the last brides to live in the White House, there have been few weddings of prominence to watch in this country, she explains.

When designing a gown for a bride, Terri likes to work for about six months.

After brides come to Terri with ideas, she takes measurements and sends the bride shopping for material.

A custom-made gown requires three to five fittings. "There's a lot of hands-on designing for the bride, and the gown is tailor-made to fit the personality," Terri

The baby boom generation, unique in many ways, also claims this distinction: It is the first to have come of age: at a time when one out of two marriages in this country end in divorce.

Today, the children of the "Age of Divorce" are themselves of marrying age.

Surprisingly, they are traditional, optimistic and marrying in record numbers, according to bride publica-

Of course, some scars remain. Some of us have embraced marriage too impetuously, hoping to escape our pasts by creating the kind of 'perfect' relationship our parents never had.

Others, frightened by the fragility of marriage, and skeptical about the possibility of a lasting, happy marriage, have avoided marriage, and anything approaching

Still, nine out of ten young adults will marry at least once during their lifetime, predicts Andrew Cherlin, author of Marriage, Divorce, Remarriage.

"People have a deep-scated need for the kind of secure, long-term, intimate relationship that marriage promises."

Finally as a by-product of the age of divorce, marriage today has become much more flexible.

The modern definition of marriage embraces not only the traditional husband/wife roles, but also marriages in which both partners work, marriages in which there are no children, and marriages in which the father stays home to care for the children.

Couples today feel free to form creative partnerships, based on love and friendship, that can be molded and shaped to meet their needs.

Use different approach when buying wedding gifts

Now that wedding season is upon us and the list of gifts to buy is growing long, you are confronted or challenged with a decision. What will be a special and wonderful gift that the couple will cherish forever?

Those guests who don't want to give the typical bridal registry selection of assorted place settings; china and crystal, should consider some of the suggestions offered by Ann Lawrence, renowned designer and purveyor of antique linens and laces.

Most people are comfortable with the familiar and tend to stick to the same gift over and over.

It means so much more to the recipient when you select something a little different or unusual.

"I feel that the quality and type of gift is a real reflection on the giver, so it is important to personally choose something," says Lawrence.

Create an individual type of gift — perhaps one centered around a particular theme.

Some ideas to win their hearts — "Romantic Weekends," a set of Venetian cordial glasses and decanter; "White Nights," a basket filled with a white Brussels lace bed cover, sheets and pillowcases; "Tea for Two," a teapot and tea caddy; "My Favorite Things," a wicker hamper filled with an assortment of dishes, glasses, linens; and "Sweet Dreams," his and hers silk robes and dressing gowns.

If you know the couple well; then consider their lifestyle and select their gift accordingly.

For the contemporary couple who loves to entertain, a selection of Majolica luncheon plates or serving pieces

Traditionalists might enjoy a cashmere paisley throw, a bamboo rocker or toile tray made into a small side table.

Perhaps they like old fashioned things — items such as linen tablecloths, a pair of continental six linen pillow shams with lace trim or a set of six matching Irish linen damask handtowels are a few of Ann Lawrence's favor-

A garden setee or a wicker-loveseat could/capture the romanitic and practical side of the outdoor enthusiast.

Some unwritten rules that are helpful to remember when giving a gift: Even though many etiquette experts; say you have a year to send your gift, Ann Lawrence feels that is too long.

Three to six months seem to be much more timely as well as appropriate. How much you spend really should depend on you. She strongly believes it is the thought that counts and something from the heart means much more than a-careless choice. Avoid giving a gift just for the sake of giving it. If it comes down to that, do not be original but opt for the most boring of traditions, which is giving money.

Marriage requires pre-planning

"The solution was for the woman to take tennis lessons. Her game improved. The other solution was for the man to be less competitive with his wife — to learn to have fun together," Davis explained, adding that the couple had been married for 25 years.

For people that have been married for several years and feel that the love they once knew has withered, Davis says that the marriage doesn't have to end. People should learn to love their spouses all over again, he said.

"I've heard men tell me that they don't love their wives anymore," he said. "I've told them that feelings follow commitment.

"If you set your mind to love and are committed to that decision, the love will follow," he explained. "People must recognize that marriage goes through many stages."

Davis said that 95 percent of failing marriages are due to couples shifting focus from each other to their jobs.

'The man should not stop courting his wife," Davis said. "They should have at least one night alone where they can talk, problem solve or just be together."

Another major problem that couples face is nitpicking. Davis said that each partner should be affirming. Find something that is good and truthful about one another rather than being critical.

Seeking advice from a marriage counselor has proven to be helpful.

"A third party helps," Davis said. "Marriage doesn't have to be on the rocks before people seek help.

Weddings are moré varied

BY AMY DELONG Auburn Hills Argus Staff Writer

If you flip through the pages of your parents' wedding album and then through a friend's parents' album, you probably won't notice much difference between them.

The bride is standing in front of the church clad in a full, snow-white gown with a perfect red rose bouquet. The three bridesmaids to her side are wearing shades of pastel. And the groom and his party are decked out in black tuxedos with tails.

Now compare two newlyweds' albums. Chances are you'll find some striking differences.

From the choice of transportation to the ceremony to the bride's bouquet, modern weddings are reflecting the individuality of the blissful couple.

Although the groom is still limited to basic colors and styles in wedding attire, family and friends at the wedding may be surprised when the bride walks down the aisle.

Although the groom is still limited to basic colors gaining groun Bridal sale bridal parties.

And when

Glamour is the new buzzword in wedding gowns and brides are choosing dresses they feel good in.

Two-piece gowns aren't just for the mother of the bride or for second marriages. Mermaid-style dresses which have a tight fit to the knees and then flair out (like Morticia of the Addams Family) have become popular recently along with the straight-cut sheath gowns.

According to Kimberly Murphy, owner of Anthony Jordan's Bridal and Lingerie in Pontiac, fewer brides are choosing tradition.

"Brides don't want the good ole little daddy's girl style. (They) want to show off their busts," Murphy

Murphy's shop even has black wedding dresses although none have been sold.

Personality is a part of the trend. Priscilla Husercau, owner of Priscilla's Bridal And Dressmaking Service in Pontiac, is finding her 30-year, in-home dress making business booming because she "gets the bride that wants something special."

"I've had to turn work away," Husereau says.
Kris Austin, co-owner of The Fitting Room in Rochester, has had to add racks to hold all of her special order dresses.

The bridal party is also opting for chic and unique

Although the pastels of old are still popular, reds, teal and combinations of black and white are quickly gaining ground.

Bridal salons all report fitting black and white

And when it comes to flowers, more brides and their bridesmaids are heading to their backyards to arrange their bouquets.

"(Wedding parties) seem to be going to garden flowers," says Olde Towne Florist owner Cynthia Siwiecki says.

Phlox, hibiscus and dyed Queen Anne's lace are a few favorites although some more unusual flowers like anemones and calla lilies have found a good-size audience. Siwiecki says more brides prefer colorful, free bouquets as opposed to the rounded one- or two-flower bouquet of the past.

And instead of choosing a bouquet from a picture, the bride will choose the individual flowers and have the bouquet custom made.

The trip to the church is fast becoming personalized with carriages, vintage limousines, stretch limos and luxury cars:

Executive Limousine Service in Auburn Hills has many requests for their 40-foot Starship limo and a 1970 Damler Rolls Royce.

"We get a lot of requests for older cars, something out of the ordinary," says spokesperson Edie

Even photographers are getting into the movement toward personalization.

One reason wedding albums looked so similar in the past was because photography studios only offered packages of 8x10 photographs.

But now, couples feel the individual pictures are more important than the album package. More studios are offering different photo sizes and charge per picture, according to Gerry Frye, owner of Frye Photography in Pontiac.

"(Couples) can eliminate some of the pictures they don't want in 8x10 and use different sizes," says Frye. "In three years I have not sold an album with just 8x10s."

Without question, weddings of today are vastly different from weddings of yesteryear.

Work of wedding baker is icing on the cake

NO WEDDING is complete without the wedding cake. Nancy Kudich of Moringstar, Independence Township, is putting together a three tiered cake as a sample of her work. Nancy has made only three wedding cakes to date, but she has decorated many other special occasion cakes over the last five vears. She bakes all of the cakes in her home. Most of the brides like a combination of white and chocolate cake with the traditional white icing, she said. (Photo by Sandra G. Conlen)

3 contest winners tackle tough issues in essays

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

Three Clarkston Junior High school students have been named winners in the 21st annual America and Me Essay Contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance.

Capturing first place within CJHS, Ashley Ball wrote about symbolism in the Statue of Liberty and how she reacted to the statue during a recent trip to New York.

Second place winner Christa Herron chose foreign takeover as her topic — specifically, how America might be protected from excessive foreign influence.

Kelly Sadler took third place with her essay on homelessness and how the population can work together to relieve the problem.

Ashley's first place essay now advances to the state level competition, from which the top 10 essays in Michigan will be selected.

The top 10 statewide winners will be honored at a banquet in Lansing and at a meeting with Michigan's top governmental leaders in late May.

A team of finalist judges that includes Gov. James Blanchard will determine the top statewide winner.

ESSAY WINNERS (from left) Kelly Sadler, Ashley Ball and Christa Herron pose with their English teacher, William Rathburg. The three submitted essays on "America & Me—How We Will Work Together," in a contest sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance.

Worldwide travel for area girl is full of adventure

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

There is only one sure thing about the upcoming year for Kristin Whisner of Independence Township. The year will be full of adventure.

Kristin, 21, is embarking on a 10-month world tour with the entertainment organization "Up With People,"

Kristin was one of 550 young people chosen to make up five "casts." The casts travel to about 70-80 cities in a variety of countries, performing and working in community service.

The aim of Up With People is to breed peace through

"People think it's all fun; but I'll work 16-18 hours a day, with erratic schedules that part is tough."

Kristin Whisner

friendship and understanding.

"I didn't expect to get chosen," Kristin said from her room at Miami of Ohio, where she attends college.

"I'm really excited about the whole thing." That excitement is also mixed with a bit of apprehension. Although her experience will be mind-broadening, it also promises to be a lot of work.

"In deciding to go, it was hard," she admits. "People think it's all fun; but I'll work 16-18 hours a day, with erratic schedules — that part is tough."

Kristin says that for every two hours of performing she'll do, she will work for four hours in community service — whether in hospitals, prisons, senior centers or schools. A great deal of work is required before Kristin's departure date, scheduled for July.

Students pay a program fee towards their year of travel and are encouraged to spend the months before joining the program raising the money themselves.

Kristin has set a goal of raising $10,000. "It's very scary, but somehow it always keeps working out," Kristin says.

During the past eight months she has reached more than a third of her target; using a variety of creative fundraising techniques.

She is selling "stock" in herself, for example. For $100a "share" she will deliver a prospectus on herself and Up With People.

The stock includes quarterly reports on her progress, as well as her travel itinerary. At the conclusion of her trip, she will present a slide presentation to her stockhold-

Kristin is also participating in a mini-marathon this spring to raise some needed travel funds. The nine-mile race is held in Cincinnati for the National Heart Association. Kristin is hoping community members make pledges for her before the race.

Kristin, daughter of Robert and Marilyn Whisner of Fawn Valley, Independence Township, was selected primarily on the basis of a personal interview.

Her experiences will likely increase the value of her "personal stock," a stock that seems pretty valuable

The Garden Patch

Does water softener hurt plants?

Gardeners rarely run out of questions -- even in the winter. Here are some questions and answers provided by the Michigan State University, East Lansing, Extension.

My house plants, which were growing so well during the summer, have all but stopped growing. Some have lost leaves and others are producing only a few new leaves, and those are small and pale. Do these plants need fertilizer?

Probably not. Leaf drop and reduced growth in houseplants in late fall and winter are usually due to low light levels. Plants that have to rely on 100 percent natural light just don't get enough light to grow well.

Under low light conditions, plants need little or no fertilizer and less water than they needed when they were growing actively.

What's the procedure for forcing branches from flowering landscape plants?

After New Year's, remove branches from such plants as flowering quince, forsythia, fruit trees, maples, hickories or willows.

Cut branches to a length of one and one-half to three feet on a day when temperatures are above freez-

Be sure to remove branches carefully so that you preserve the shape of the plant.

Place the cut ends of the stems in a bucket of water and place the bucket in a well-lighted spot with temperatures around 60 degrees.

Mist flower buds occasionally as they begin to Place branches in a cooler location at night -- 40 degrees or so -- to double or triple the length of the time that flowers last. Keep the cut ends of the stems in water at all times.

What caused the flower buds on my Christmas cactus to fall off?

Several things can cause bud drop in Christmas cacti, including too much water, too much nitrogen fertilizer, low light and high temperature.

Moving a plant from one spot to another may also cause buds to drop, especially if the humidity in the new location is low.

I'm planning a midwinter vacation and can't find a plant sitter. What can I do to make sure my plants will be OK while I'm gone?

Plants that can be allowed to dry out between waterings will probably do fine without you for a couple of weeks. Just water them thoroughly before you go.

Plants that need moist soil around their roots all the time can be watered and placed inside a plastic bag. This will keep the air around the plants moist and slow the drying out of the soil.

Be sure to place the bag where it won't be exposed to direct sun - it may get too warm inside it.

For a large number of plants, group them in a bathtub or other enclosed area or set them on a tray of wet gravel and cover lightly with plastic.

If you're turning down the heat before you go, be sure to set plants well away from cold windows.

I get my water from well and had a water softener installed to take the iron and sulfur flavors out of it, along with the hard water minerals. Is the water OK to use to water my houseplants?

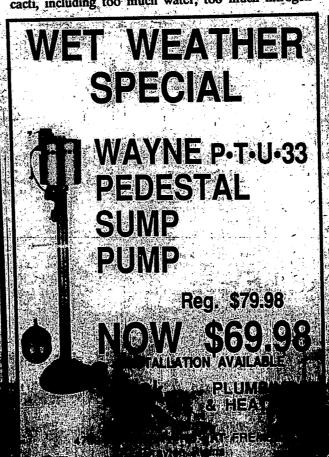

Rain water, distilled water or melted snow would be better. The sodium in softened water may damage plant roots and leaves. It can also cause buds and flowers to drop off and stop plant growth altogether.

What can I do to help landscape plants that are bent by a load of snow or ice?

While the snow or ice is on the plant, there's not much you can do that won't do more damage. Propping branches may help, but it may also cause them to snap off where they rest on the support. Trying to shake off ice or snow may damage branches more than just leaving them alone.

Tips to make bicycling a safe, family sport

Bicycling continues to be an increasingly popular sport. This year, more parents than ever will be buying new bikes for their youngsters.

Because of the growing number of accidents, safety specialists recommend that parents purchase a helmet for their youngster to accompany every bike.

Head injuries are the most common bicycle-related injury, causing approximately 1,300 deaths and more than 400,000 hospital visits in the United States annually.

Many of these injuries could be prevented or lessened if the rider wore an approved safety helmet. A recent study in The New England Journal of Medicine concluded that wearing a bike helmet can cut the risk of head injuries by 85 percent.

The study also found that children suffered 60 percent of the head injuries, but only two percent of the injured children were wearing helmets.

"The human head is designed to absorb only so much impact," said Dr. James Wasco, medical director at the Lynn, Massachusetts-based New Medico Head Injury System. "An approved helmet can greatly reduce the severity of injury.'

Children often believe that they are very skilled on a bike. However, even the most adept rider is at risk without a helmet - a hole, rock in the road or drunk driver can all cause accidents. In addition, younger children often have difficulty gauging the speed or distance of on-

Obviously, a collision with a car or object while riding a bike can cause serious injury. But head injuries can also occur from a fall off a bike in the driveway.

'Head injuries can cause lifelong disabilities," said Dr. Wasco. "Our therapists work with head-injury victims every day who require specialized treatment to overcome such disabilities as memory loss, speech problems, temper disorders and paralysis.'

When buying a helmet, keep in mind that products approved by ANSI (American National Standards Institute) or Snell Memorial Foundation have been properly tested for safety standards.

Here are some additional tips for parents:

Start the helmet habit with your child's first bike.

■ Set a good example for your child — wear a helmet yourself.

■ Make sure your child always wears a helmet, even for short rides - most accidents happen close to home.

"A bike can be a great toy for a child," said Dr. Wasco, "but keep in mind that bikes are also moving vehicles, and the rider needs proper protection."

Pet of the Week

FROTO'S ready for a new home because his previous home burned down.

Froto the dog

His name is unusual, but his message is the same. He wants to be a loyal friend to his new family.

Froto is a 10-month-old Bouvier and Labrador re-

Froto's housebroken and heartbroken. His previous owners home burned down, and he found himself without a place to live.

He's good with other dogs and children and must be neutered before leaving the shelter.

Froto's adoption fee is $60.

He can be adopted at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Trouble with high utility bills? Help is available

The Michigan Public Service Commission, the state's regulated gas and electric companies and rural electric cooperatives are encouraging senior citizen and low-income utility customers to "Be Winterwise" if faced with high bills they cannot pay this winter.

Winterwise" customers will be protected against loss of their utility service.

In announcing the official start of the sixth Be Winterwise campaign, the MPSC said that because of substantial reductions in state funding for heating assistance programs, everyone is gong to have to be more "Winterwise".

This winter it's even more important than last year for customers to conserve energy and to sign up for protection programs early in the heating season.

All major state regulated utility companies will offer assistance and/or shutoff protection programs this winter, some of which were developed as part of the Energy Assurance Program (EAP).

There's much to know about Florida?s home parks

Brother Don's RV Park on Tamlami Trail just east of route 951. Note the variety of homes, single wide, park model, and motor homes. Note; too, how neat the grounds.

January tour of Florida than we ever knew before. For divorces." instance, we learned there is a difference between RV parks and mobile home parks. We thought they were The lots are about 10 feet longer and wider. synonymous.

With a sister living in a mobile home park and a brother in an RV park, each believing their mode of living better than the other, we learned:

In case you don't know, in a mobile home park they take the wheels off, put a base around the bottom and plug you in for permanency. They may be singlewide home or double-wide or a variation of each, depending on park restrictions.

In an RV park wheels are supposedly left on, there may be buses, motor homes, campers, fifth wheels or mobile homes, again depending on restrictions.

My brother has two lots in his RV park in Collier County, Florida (near Naples). On one he has an Airstream trailer. On the other is a "Park Model". It's limited to 12' x 40' size and a screened porch can be added up to the size of the original mobile home.

The 3-year-old park has a pool, ponds, club house, security, hor tub, tennis and putting green. Lots are sold for $18,000 and $38,000 and there is a $50 a month assesment, Brother, Don, says other RV parks may rent and/or lease space.

He also talks about the real and unreal of county restrictions. In RV parks in Collier county the "homes" are to be moved out onto the Tamiami Trail within 24 hours of a hurricane warning, 35 mph winds.

There are just five trucks in the county capable of moving the homes. Many of the homes are allowed by law to-have attached porches. There are 554 home sites in his park. It's impossible to move all those homes in a month, let alone 24 hours like the law says.

My sister's park in Clearwater has about 280 pads. All homes are secured to the ground. They pay about $225 a month for rent and services - mowing, garbage, sprinkling, etc. Most mobile home parks have pool, recreation building, shuffle board courts and "a room big enough for people to meet for coffee and tell who died", sister Barbara says, adding, "other

Plus some other comments and pictures

The scene both boater and looker yearn for in Florida.

Mobile home living can put you close to your neighbors, as seen from this picture from the fourth floor of a motel near Venice Our first note on this scene was about crowdedness in Florida (which it is), but there are also many less congested parks.

We'll always wonder and spend extra time looking at banyon trees, like this one outside Ernest Heminway's house in Key West. The root system is fascinating.

This thatched roof building, called a "chick ee" is at the Snook inn on Marco Island. It's a walting area for restaurant customers. There are several on the island:

Quick sweetheart sweets

Betty Wagner

Today is Valentine's Day, and you forgot to buy or prepare that special treat for your sweetheart. Dinner hour is fast approaching. What can you do?

Look in the cupboard for a microwave cake or brownie mix. The cupboard is bare. Someone used the last mix and didn't replace it. Sound familiar?

Ah, but you do find the reusable plastic pan that comes with the cake mix; even the reusable brownie pan

Microwave Times, January/February 1990 issue published by Recipes Unlimited, comes to the rescue. Editor Janet Sadlak is a home economist and heads a test kitchen staffed by other home economists and microwave cooking specialists.

Besides providing interesting, workable microwave recipes, the newsletter offers recipe adaptations. In the recent issue, a section titled "As Good as a Mix" offered these scratch recipes for reusable microwave cake and brownie pans.

MICROWAVE BROWNIES

1/2 cup butter or margarine

1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate

3/4 cups sugar

1 teaspoon vanilla 3/4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour

1/4 teaspoon baking powder

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/3 cup chopped nuts, if desired

1. Combine butter and chocolate in 1-quart mixand-pour bowl.

2. Microwave at HIGH, uncovered, 1 1/2-2 minutes or until chocolate is just about melted, stirring once. Blend in sugar thoroughly. Beat in egg; blend in vanilla. Add flour, baking powder, salt and nuts; stir until blended.

3. Spoon into 7-inch square plastic pan; spread evenly.

4. Microwave at HIGH, uncovered 4-4 1/2 minutes or until no longer doughy, rotating pan once or twice (do not overcook). Cool. Cut into squares.

About 16 servings - 135 calories each.

MICROWAVE CHOCOLATE CAKE

3/4 cup hot water

1/4 cup unsweetened cocoa

1/3 cup cooking oil

1 cup sugar

1 egg !

1 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour

1/2 teaspoon soda 1/4 teaspoon baking powder

1/4 teaspoon salt

1. Combine water and cocoa in 1-cup glass measure. 2. Microwave at HIGH, uncovered, 40-50 seconds or until heated; mix until smooth. Set aside.

3. Blend together oil and sugar in mixing bowl. Beat in egg and vanilla. Add flour, soda, baking powder, salt and cocoa mixture. Mix with fork or whisk until smooth.

4. Pour into ungreased 7-inch round plastic cake

5. Microwave at HIGH, uncovered, 4-5 minutes or until no longer doughy, rotating pan once. Let stand 5 minutes; if desired invert onto serving plate. Frost as

About eight servings - 260 calories each.

MICROWAVE YELLOW CAKE

1/3 cup cooking oil

2/3 cup sugar

2 eggs

1/4 teaspoon almond extract

1/3 cup milk

2/3 cup unsifted all-purpose flour

1 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt

1. Combine oil and sugar in small mixing bowl. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each. Blend in almond extract and milk. Add flour, baking powder and salt. Stir with fork or whisk until smooth.

2. Pour into ungreased 7-inch round plastic cake

3. Microwave at HIGH, uncovered, 4 1/2-5 minutes or until no longer doughy, rotating pan once. Let stand 5 minutes. If desired, invert onto serving plate. Cool and frost as desired or serve with fruit and whipped cream.

About eight servings - 210 calories each. Tip: If planning to remove cake from pan, line

QUESTION: It looks like I'm the exception to the rule. I put a lot of money into renovating an overpriced home and now I'll have to sell at a loss. Any suggestions?

ANSWER: You might consider renting the house out for at least a year or so before selling. In that way, the house will be considered a business investment and you can deduct the loss as a business expense.

While you're renting it out you can also benefit from other benefits such as depreciation and maintenance expense deductions. If you sell a house which is your primary residence and take a loss, this is not tax deductible. This is a tricky area, so check with your accountant.

THERE ARE WAYS to soften the blow if you sell your home at a loss.

The Clarkston News

Scott Leigh, 2, who is held by his brother Eric Leigh, a sixth grader at Clarkston Junior High School, is making his cupcake decision.

EVERY GHOST town has some scary parts of town. The Lost Mine at the Wild West Jamboree on Feb. 4 has some of the local visitors shaking in their boots.

Howdy!

JUSTIN GAY, a second grader at Clarkston Elementary, is eating at the Tombstone Saloon during the Wild West Jamboree Feb. 4.

THIS COWPUNCHER, David Olinger of Deerwood, Independence Township, is lassoing up a cow at the Circle 'C' Ranch, or Clarkston Elementary, during the Wild West Jamboree on Saturday, Feb. 4.
