Stoplight in place by month's end

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

The long-awaited stoplight at M-15 and the north ramp of 1-75 will be in place by Jan. 29, state highway officials confirmed.

The light poll and power lines are already installed. The light will be a regular stop-and-go light; no turns or phasing will be used.

The light comes on the heels of complaints from the public, said Assistant Traffic Engineer Bill Drongowski. 'We were investigating that area north on M-15; it was part of a study of the general area to take a look at what we can do ... coupled with police and citizen complaints regarding accidents at the location," Drongowski said.

"The study found volumes such that a signal was necessary," he added.

Last spring, residents from three area subdivisions organized a petition drive to publicize their push for a stoplight farther north on M-15 at Cranberry Lake Road or Amy Drive.

The petitions were circulated after an accident critically injured a 17-year-old motorist, who was attempting to turn left onto M-15.

The highway department does not plan to put a light at either street, Drongowski said.

"Not at the present time; (however), conditions can change," he added.

'Unfortunately, with M-15 being a two-lane road right through that area, it's difficult to put a signal there without reconstruction," he explained.

Nancy Breen, a Shelly Drive resident active in last spring's petition drive, said the I-75 light is welcome, but it may not do enough. "That's good news," Breen said about the light. "I talked with some of my neighbors, and my only concern is I wonder how much it will help us. "It will stop the traffic going north on I-75, but we'll still have ramp traffic," Breen said.

"Our real concern is that it's really not going to break up traffic," she said.

Pulphus to spend life in prison

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

In a lengthy sentencing proceeding, a circuit court judge ordered Hezekiah Pulphus Jr. to spend the rest of his life in prison, without parole, for the murder of 19-yearold Patrick Walsh.

Walsh, a Springfield Township resident, was stabbed to death last June in a Grand Rapids suburb, where he was attending college.

Pulphus, 20, was taken to Southern Michigan State Correctional Facility in Jackson, where he will be assigned a prison, said a clerk for Kent County Circuit Court Judge Dennis Kolenda.

Before sentencing Pulphus Jan. 15, Judge Kolenda heard lengthy testimony from the family of the victim and the accused.

Pulphus continued to claim he was innocent at the sentencing hearing, but his first-degree murder conviction carried a mandatory life sentence.

Pulphus was found guilty of murder by a nine-man, three-woman jury Dec. 7. Pulphus, a repeat felony offender, had been convicted on other felony charges prior to his arrest.

The stabbing of Patrick Walsh occurred outside a Grand Rapids convenience store, where Walsh had stopped on his way to work at a nearby bakery.

Four suspicious-looking black males had been seen near Walsh's car before the stabbing; moments later Walsh stumbled inside asking for help. He later died at a Grand Rapids hospital.

Pulphus was arrested after police receive anonymous tips from witnesses.

Accuséd rapist to plead no contest. Correction

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

The man accused in a string of Oakland County rapes, including one in Independence Township, will securred likely plead no contest to the charges to avoid putting his victims through a trial.

Steven A. Szeman, the accused "ski-mask rapist," will appear before Oakland County Circuit Judge Robert L. Templin Feb. 2 on 49 counts for first-degree and second-degree criminal sexual conduct, armed robbery, breaking and entering and assault with intent to rob.

Szeman plans to plead no contest to the charges, said a spokesperson for Lawrence Kaluzny, Szeman's attorney. A no contest plea is recorded as a conviction on the charges, although the accused is not admitting guilt as he would by pleading guilty.

Szeman, formerly of West Bloomfield, is currently serving a 140-year sentence for the assault of a Cleveland-

He was arraigned last April in three Oakland County courts within the districts where the alleged rapes oc-

When appearing in 52nd District Court-Clarkston on the Independence Township charges, Szeman waived his preliminary exam, as he did in 47th District Court in Farmington Hills and 48th District Court in Bloomfield Township.

Most of Szeman's alleged attacks occurred along the 14 Mile Road corridor in the Bloomfield and Farmington Hills area.

However, Szeman was linked to the assault of a woman at North Crest Condominiums on Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

The 51-year-old woman had just returned home when she was raped at knifepoint.

MOTORISTS will see some relief at the heavily traveled M-15, I-75 Intersection with the location of a stoplight. The light should be in place by Jan. 29, highway officials said.

A story about Clarkston teachers' opinions about the upcoming millage election in last week's Clarkston Newsshould have attributed the following quotation to Clarkston Elementary School teacher Debbie Shotwell:

"Some (of the newer teachers) are talented enough that they can go to a place where there isn't a problem with money.'

Cityhood could take another year

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Editor

Though the Michigan Boundary Commission verbally OK'd cityhood for the Village of Clarkston Jan. 16, the village may not become a real city until spring of 1991.

The procedures following boundary commission's decision will probably take 12-14 months and a series of three elections, said Trustee William Basinger at the Jan. 22 village council meeting.

To explain the procedures and answer any questions, the council set an informational meeting for 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 26, at the village hall on Depot Road.

p.m. Monday, Feb. 26, at the village hall on Depot Road.

Basinger explained the upcoming procedures toward cityhood.

First, the boundary commission must issue its written order regarding cityhood for Clarkston — expected Feb. 6, said Basinger.

The next step is the first election process.

"We promised the citizens that we would make sure they get an election on cityhood," said Basinger.

That means that 5 percent of the village's registered voters (35 people) must file a petition requesting an election — but no one can sign the petition until the

"In the next few weeks, there's going to be a lot of rhetoric running around ... to instill fear of change in our citizens."

Trustee William Basinger

written decision comes from the boundary commission. Just for safe measure, they plan to collect 50 signatures, said Basinger.

The petition language has already been drafted and is awaiting approval from the commission, Basinger said.

For anyone who would like to sign it, the petition will be available Tuesday, Feb. 6, in the village hall on Depot Road.

They have 45 days to collect signatures. Then, the petitions must be approved by the boundary commission, which will set an election date—probably April or May.

If residents approve the concept of cityhood, then another election will be held — this time to appoint nine citizens (who are not currently holding elected positions in the village) who will be responsible for creating a charter for the city.

A charter will cover such things as taxation and a form of government.

The charter is then sent to the state for approval, and another election is set, so residents may vote on the charter itself.

If that is approved, then the village will finally become a city.

"There's plenty of time for debate," said Basinger.
"In the next few weeks, there's going to be a lot of rhetoric running around ... to instill fear of change in our citizens. I have no doubt that our citizens can sort out the facts."

A MOBILE RECYCLING unit has been made available to independence Township residents at the Department of Public Works building, 6050 Flemings Lake Road. The bin features separate containers for clear glass, newspaper and cans. The bin is maintained by Clarkston Disposal Inc. and is open between 8-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Vandalism may be work of teens

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

Sun Valley Drive, on Independence Township's east side, was the target for an unusual number of damaged vehicles during the week.

Seven vehicles were either broken into or had their windows broken on Sun Valley Drive on or around the 15th of January.

In five cases, the front or side windows were broken. A wallet, tapes, cash and papers worth $400 were taken from one car, and a car phone and radar detector worth $350 were taken from another.

Police suspect the vandalism is a random act of teen-

"There's been a large rash of this," said Detective Steve Parker of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. "We probably have kids rifling cars, using a center punch to smash the windows."

A center punch is a device commonly used to mark steel or metal. It uses a spring-loaded, large nail that engages, Parker explained.

No one saw or heard anything around the time the incidents occurred.

The damage to the vehicles was a random act, Parker said.

"These things happen, and then you don't hear about anything like it again for a couple of months," he said.

Anyone with any information about the incidents

gets township support

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston Area Youth Assistance (CAYA) program will continue to receive financial support from one of its biggest sponsors — Independence Township.

Board members unanimously approved a $6,500 contribution to the organization, a $500 increase over last

CAYA is in its 28th year of working towards "delinquency prevention through community involvement."

Organizers conduct programs on issues such as teenage sexuality, learning differences, holiday-related stress and step-parenting.

The organization conducts fund-raisers — which in 1990 will include a Alfred L. Carter memorial concert in February, a bowl-a-thon in April and a benefit play in May — but greatly depends on cash and in-kind contribuspokesman Garry Pullins.

"We are in a better financial situation than last year, but we do rely heavily on contributions," Pullins told the board Jan. 16.

At least one board member thought the contribution should be bigger, in an effort to fight drugs.

"I wish it could be more," said Trustee Frank Mil-

"I'd like to see, as a township board, movement in a coordinated effort to serve our children. I'd like to see a . real plan take place to coordinate treatment," Millard said. "We need to have an all-out fight, at least in this township.'

Pullins described some of CAYA's efforts in the area of drugs, but admitted that many efforts had been cut because of school funding problems.

Springfield changes, legal notice publication

Springfield Township legal notices will no longer be published in The Clarkston News.

The township board voted 6-1 Jan. 11 to publish those notices required by law in The Oakland Press, a daily newspaper.

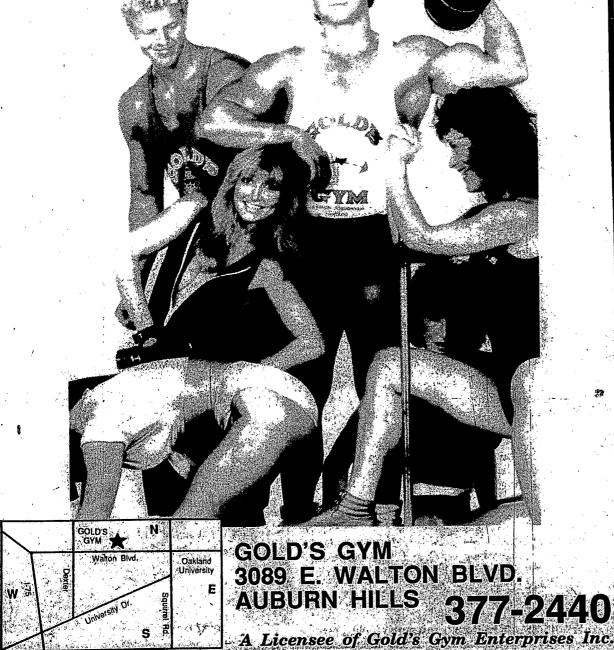

The Clarkston News is published weekly.

Trustee Dennis Vallad cast the lone dissenting vote. After the meeting, Clerk J. Calvin Walters said the township planning commission had changed its meetings to Mondays, and Springfield can't meet publication deadlines of The Clarkston News any longer.

The law requires legal notices to be published not less than eight days or more than 10 days before a meeting is to take place.

Plus, The Oakland Press offered publication at a lower advertising rate per inch than The Clarkston News as well as another weekly newspaper in the area that the township board considered, he said.

New truck for park supervisor

BY TRACY KING Clarkston News Associate Editor

Bids will be solicited on a new truck for the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, despite concerns voiced by at least one board member Jan. 16.

Parks and Recreation Director Ann Conklin told the board the truck was needed for use by Mike Turk, the Clintonwood Park Supervisor.

The 3/4-ton pickup truck Turk now uses would be rotated into use with the department's other two trucks, Conklin explained.

Turk's hauling needs were limited, so Conklin was requesting a smaller mini-truck replace his current 3/4ton pick-up truck.

Trustee Frank Millard questioned why Turk couldn't use one of the existing trucks for his work, or if another truck is needed, why purchase a new one.

"Why not buy a used one?" Millard questioned. "There are plenty of good ones out there."

The department uses the vehicles until they die, explained Supervisor Frank Ronk. "They're used until they don't run anymore," Ronk

Conklin explained that the three trucks used in the park would be rotated for ball park maintenance, including dragging the fields. Turk's truck, when new, would not be used for that function.

Conklin was advised to take bids on both a minitruck and a 3/4-ton pickup to see which was more cost effective for the department.

Sealed bids on the vehicles will be accepted at the clerk's office until 4 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 31.

Weight limits put on some county roads

The Board of Road Commissioners for Oakland County imposed emergency weight restrictions on selected Oakland County roads - including Sashabaw Road in Independence Township — Jan. 18.

The restrictions are an effort to preserve the surface and base of roads threatened by unexpected warm temperatures.

- Warm temperatures in the middle of winter can be a most destructive force for roads, according to John L. Grubba, managing director of the Road Commission for Oakland County.

"The frost line is still deep ... the water cannot be absorbed by the earth, and the humidity will not permit adequate evaporation," he said. "The roads then, quite literally, begin to float on the frozen earth.

"This circumstance puts both the surface and the base of the road in great jeopardy."

Greatest danger to the roads in these circumstances is presented by vehicles with extremely heavy cargo loads, generally trucks and commercial carriers.

The newly imposed weight limits require that affected vehicles traveling in Oakland County Class "A" routes reduce by 25 percent the allowable axle load.

These actions don't affect normal passenger vehicles, vans and small trucks. Affected vehicles are those normally referred to as commercial carriers.

Roads covered by this order in Oakland County include gravel and paved sections of the county road system. Typical among these roads are selected portions of such roads as: Milford, Sashabaw, Rochester, Dequindre, John R, Long Lake, Commerce and Middlebelt.

It has been more than a decade since January road weight limits were imposed in Oakland County.

Improvement on phone skills for Springfield

Springfield Township board members and township hall employees have an opportunity to improve their phone skills.

At the Jan. 11 meeting the board unanimously voted to pay $69 per person for a seminar in positive phone skills offered by Walsh College of Accountancy and Business Administration in Troy.

Supervisor Collin Walls thought it was a good idea for board members and employees to refresh their phone

Phoenix sheds manufactured housing myth

"Modular housing is building the 21st century," says Jim Siudara, president of Phoenix Homes in downtown Oxford. "This type of housing is definitely the wave of the future."

The walls of Siudara's offices, located upstairs in the Acheson's Jewelry Building, are lined with framed pictures of homes Phoenix has built in the area.

"We can keep the retail price 20-25% below traditional stick-built houses," Siudara explains. "Because house is delivered to a site mobily. 90-95% of our work is completed in a climatecontrolled factory, we don't expose materials to poor Amish at Heckaman Homes. "Everything fits perfectweather, and never lose a day's work."

The modula, (sometimes referred to as industrialized) house is built from the inside out. In this way, the company can better insulate and caulk to eliminate air filtration. The term modular simply means that the Siudara's homes are built in Indiana by the ly," he says. "They're the kind of people who take pride in their work." All homes are built to comply with BOCA building standards.

"These homes are customized, not generic," Siudara says. "They are not trailers. They are cape cods, ranches, colonials, offering from 1,000 to over 3,000 square feet of living space. We can add and remove walls, windows, you name it." Over 40 different models are available, selling from $40,000-$100,000.

Siudara says banks are happy with, and even prefer, loaning to industrialized construction, as it's known, because they know up front what the product is and the exact price. Plus the manufacturers stand behind the builders.

As general contractor, Siudara is willing to work with customers. "If they have an uncle who does foundations, and can give them a deal, great," he says. "I'll make sure it's done to code."

Once a home is ordered, it is usually delivered within 60-90 days, and ready for occupancy 15-30 days after that.

Siudara is a licensed builder who takes pride in the modular concept.

"The myths surrounding manufactured housing are quickly eroding," Siudara says. "There is nothing that cannot be done at a quality higher than the traditional stick-built structure."

"People are excited to order a home, get just what they want for just what they wanted to pay, and take occupancy in under 120 days," he says. "I like people. And I really enjoy making people's dreams come

State of mind

> Julie Campe

Working weekends is the pits, but there is one benefit. It's so quiet — with no phone calls or other interruptions — that concentration is easy.

Sometimes four hours pass in what seems like an hour. It's a satisfying feeling to be so focused for a time and to be conscious only of the ideas or processes with which I'm occupied.

It kind of reminds me of high school math classes (not my favorite subject), when the mind could be completely absorbed in the world of numbers. Sometimes it was startling to come out of that state of mind. Everything looked strange.

Similar experiences occurred while doing research for college papers. Full days in the library would seem like just a few hours, and the work was interesting and filling.

It's a pleasure to meet up with the experience at work.

Funny, after all those weekend hours, fatigue isn't even a factor. In fact, the mind seems refreshed after all that use.

It's not a state of mind that can be achieved by passive activities — watching television, for example. While hours may fly past like minutes in that situation, the mind is not refreshed but rather dulled.

I liken it to physical activity, when the mind is so focused and so in-tune with the body that the body can simply perform its functions without the mind being conscious of the individual steps involved.

Sometimes little kids are best at this. With older children, adults sometimes tell them each little step along the way: "First, hold the ball like this. Then, stand like this, pointing in this direction. As you bring your arm back like this, take a step in this direction and then ..."

In that case, the mind is too busy concentrating on each step to see and feel the whole procedure.

Younger kids might just watch the whole thing and then try to copy the actions without instructions. Their minds seem to have taken in all the steps, and they simply perform the movements as a whole.

Kind of like typing, I guess. There, you don't look at each individual letter, but rather you look at each word, and the mind somehow makes the right letters come out through the fingertips at the right

I can see how easy it would be for writers and artists and other creators to lose track of time and let their creativity carry them away. Some may work for 20 hours straight and end up sleeping during the day and working at night (thus earning adjectives such as "eccentric").

It is an enticing prospect.

Hours can pass quickly while reading, too, but, for me, it's not usually the same experience concentration on something. Except sometimes.

"Zen and the Art of Motorcycle Maintenance" was such a book for me in that area. The autobiographical book by Robert Pirsig reads like a novel and is intriguing on all levels.

The plot itself covers Pirsig's search for himself literally because the philosophy professor underwent shock therapy while in a mental institution. When he was released from the hospital, entire chunks of his life were blank, and he was a different person.

So he traveled cross country to revisit some of the places he knew he had lived, though he had no recollection of them.

On another level, he searches for his own essence and strives to "be." Kind of like the focused work or ainletics except he's like that nearly every minute of the day.

It's intriguing because the book occupies different levels of the reader's mind simultaneously.

Letters to Editor

Show them you care

On the surface, Clarkston looks like an ideal community. There are a lot of new housing starts, it's close to I-75 yet still cozy and rural. Look, there are even summer concerts in the park. Yes, this shines of pride in America. Too bad we're proud to be Americans who say, "To hwith Clarkston!'

I know that there are those of you without schoolage children who may not understand our plight. Your home may be worth a lot now, but who will want to buy in a neighborhood where school days are only five hours

Seniors, when you raised your family, someone else paid your child's education bill. Now we pay taxes to support your programs: Medicare and Social Security. Don't drive us away with negativism.

To those of you who say you'll send your child to a private school, listen to this. Five thousand dollars a year will not guarantee a quality education. I know, we've been there.

Clarkston has fought it's way down to the bottom. We are are the lowest funded school district in the wealthiest county in Michigan. Even so, we spend one of the highest percentages of dollars going directly to education. There are no frills from your tax dollars in Clarkston.

We are asking for your help for one year. This millage can maintain the full school day, the lunch program, Latch-key and school buses. It can help reinstate programs lost to the Headlee cuts of last year.

Without it, school will end at 1:30 p.m. There will be no buses for junior high and high school students. No Latch-key services for working parents and no lunches, only a short nutrition break.

Before you pull that lever on Feb. 12, ask yourself these questions: Who will compete in tomorrow's world? Who will furnish the technology to build better cars, appliances, TV sets and bring America back on top?

Who will be our attorneys and judges and fight for the rights of the citizen? Who will be our politicians and diplomats and bring us world understanding, maybe even

Years ago, a daughter of friends graduated near the top of her class in a non-accredited, no-frills school. She almost didn't make it at Michigan State University, East Lansing. Most of her friends dropped out. Let's not ever let this happen here. Our children are our future. Let them shine; let them grow. They will be our leaders of tomorrow. Show them you care; Vote yes.

Mrs. Sherry Regiani

We have to pay for it ourselves

The millage election on Feb. 12 will tell a lot about this community and its priorities. The schools - our schools — are begging us for help.

They are doing everything they can to convince us to give the students in Clarkston — our children — a better

Indirectly, they're asking us to protect our property values to keep our community safe from the delinquency that is born of apathy.

Many argue that money is not what is needed to save our schools — that better management, stricter teachers, fewer frills, etc., would solve the problem.

Perhaps these ideas are valid, and certainly they should be considered. However, if we want Clarkston schools to maintain their good reputation and be competitive with other schools in Michigan and around the country, we have to be willing to pay for it - just like the other communities do.

No one likes to see their taxes go up, but, of all the taxes we pay, school taxes give us the most value for our money — educated citizens.

Please make this a top priority. Vote YES for the millage on Feb. 12.

We just took a quick, 10-day trip to Florida for relative visiting, vacation and tour. I'm going to try not to bore you with some observations. I figure if they are varied enough no one will be too unhappy.

Picking up a rental car at Tampa International Airport is easy. Getting it to the terminal to pick up your luggage is not.

Clearwater's beach must be among the whitest and best kept in the world. Highway 19 through Clearwater may be the busiest route in the world.

Inside Countryside Mall at Clearwater is a large ice-skating rink. It's very busy. Owners tried to take it out in favor of more cart-shops. Shoppers objected so much the rink stayed.

The weather map on St. Petersburg TV channel 13 is pink. I don't know why I made that observation.

My brother-in-law told me pelicans eventually go blind from diving in salt water. No one seemed to know how long pelicans live.

Tampa must have the most expensive housing on the west coast of Florida. Vacant lots in the Port Royal area are a half million dollars. The yachts in front of the homes cost more than the lots so you can imagine the price of houses.

There are many signs on Hgy 41 through the Everglades telling motorists to turn their car lights on. An atmosphere change and boredom have caused several accidents. Florida motorists often have their ocean or gulfside seafood place for oysters or crab or clams. We didn't find one, ever. We settled for the Docksider on Plantation Key. Not bad, but more typical of Lake Michigan's Algonac.

The numerous bridges down the keys appear new, whether 7 miles or 100 feet long. We remember only two drawbridges, so driving is relatively fast ... for Florida.

We met a man in Florida who had headed the Secret Service for two presidents, Vince Mroz. He shot the man who shot President Truman. Having been to Key West 18 times, he recommended we stay at Ocean Key House Suite Resort at the end of Duval St. I haven't paid that much for a room since The Lodge at Pebble Beach. It was nice.

A night later, at Lantana, our room cost was just a little more than the tax at Ocean Key, which is 11 percent.

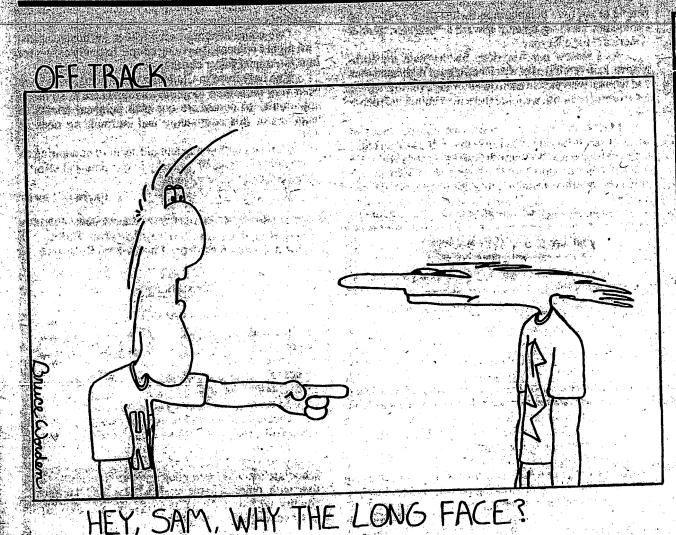

There's a Margaret Truman laundromat in Key West. It's on the corner of Truman and Margaret Streets.

The nicest place we ate was Siple's Garden Seat in Belleair. The best fish we had was grouper with lemon butter at Pelican Bend, Isle of Capri. Best salad was at Gentleman Jim's in Stuart; Caesar from the salad bar with anchovies, croutons and cheese on the side. The funnest place was Erin's Isle on highway 951 going toward Marco Island. The singing plano player, Kenny Russo, never took a break.

Our biggest disappointment was a revisit to Epcot Center. It had hardly changed since our being there over 5 years ago.

Know the pledge of allegiance before attending. It may have been years, but you will be required to stand and say the pledge. Out loud: With your hand over your heart.

Don't be alarmed by at least one empty seat on the board; someone always comes in late: I doubt that they, don't know the pledge — it's more likely that their kitchen clock mins slow

There is a public comment section for residents with gripes, although hardly anyone speaks.

Closed session signals the end of the meeting. This is when the board discusses things that are private.

At planning commission meetings, members look (very, very closely) at changes proposed in the township including developments, zonings and ordinances.

Coffee isn't brewed here, so members of the planning commission bring their own Thermoses.

Don't worry if you don't know much about a the subject is explained well, first by the person proposing the change, then by the township planner. You'll learn even more as the commission members first ask questions one-by-one, and then offer comments one-by-one.

The subject matter requires this detail. Bring your own Thermos.

Like the township board meetings, stay clear of the front. Cable doesn't cover these meetings, but the problem here is blueprints. Someone is always flinging huge blueprints; either on the table or at the easels near the front.

You'll learn a lot about roads, landscaping, fire safety and gardening because commission members have backgrounds in these areas and often offer helpful tips in their areas of expertise.

In both of the meetings, board and commission members deal with issues competently and fairly

But don! I take my word for it. See for yourself.

Sit Bity. Is nothing sacred? Fitzgerald

In a current TV commercial, a man demonstrates that the Bonzai kitchen knife can be used to cut a leather shoe in half. Two firm slices in the instep area quickly and cleanly separate the toe area from the heel area. No struggle, no ragged edges.

I was impressed, but puzzled. This is not a new feeling for me. Many years ago, according to TV commercials, there was a wristwatch that kept on ticking while attached to an anchor dragged across the Atlantic Ocean floor from New York City to London: And there was an electric razor that would shave a peach.

I wanted to buy that wristwatch, but he sitated. My budget was tight, and it would be foolish to make an unnecessary purchase. How soon was I going to be walking the Atlantic floor from New York City to London? Perhaps I should wait until my vacation plans were firmed up for that summer.

As for shaving a peach, I wasn't interested. It has never mattered to me if a peach's skin is smooth or scratchy, because I always peel it before eating it, the same as a banana. On the other hand, I never peel an apple, so I might be interested in an electric razor that would shave an apple, except linever see an apple that needs a shave. I sthink they are antihirsute...

Also, there is the fact that I have never liked electric razors. I've tried them and missed the cool wetness of the shaving cream required for a regular razor shave. The feel and the smell wakes me up in the morning, I know a man who had trouble getting to sleep, and his doctor advised him to get into bed at night in the same position he usually found himself in when he woke up in the morning. So he went to bed with a safety razor in his hand and shaving cream on his face.

If I did shave a peach, I would use a double-edged razor and Burma Shave: Many people insist electric razors are better because they can be plugged into a dashboard and you can shave while driving a car. But I never see a peach driving a car. I think they use public transportation.

Anyway, what puzzles me is the marketing strategy behind TV commercials for a watch that keeps ticking at the bottom of the ocean, or a razor that shaves peaches, or a knife that cuts shoes. Is there really enough public demand for these products to justify the considerable advertising expenditure?

The Bonzai knife costs $19.95 and that price includes several smaller knives if you act quickly. That's a bargain. sure, but right now I'm looking at my shoes and wondering why I might want to cut them in half.

For walking a half hour all over hell's half acre? Kicking a halfback? Equalizing a foot race with a halfwitted half-pint? Dancing the half step under a half-moon?

I don't think I need a Bonzai knife. However, I mayfile a lawsuit over another TV commercial. I got the idea from Bette Midler.

Midler successfully sued a corporation for using her voice - or an acurate imitation of it - in a commercial without her permission. I'd like to sue Tott's for using our songor a miserable mangling of it - in a commerical without our permission.

Our song - my wife's and mine - is: "I Only Have Eyes for You." We get misty-eyed every time we hear it because the pianist played it on our first date, the night we left the saloon without paying the check and the waitress followed us into the parking lot and interrupted us necking in a 1949 Plymouth coupe,

When I first heard the tune of "I Only Have Eyes for You in a Tott's commercial. I was prepared to mist. But then I heard the lyrics: "Are the stars out tonight. I don't care if it's cloudy or bright, I only have Tott's for you."

My God, man, is nothing sacred? I don't even know what Tott's is. A wine? It doesn't matter, I'm going to sue. Onward and Upward. Is that a peach waiting at the bus stop?

We need to stop blaming others

Do you remember the childhood idiom — "When you point a finger at someone there are three more pointing back at you?"

Well, it seems that every time I pick up a newspaper, flip on the TV, tune in a radio station or engage in casual around-the-town talk, the general concession seems to be to point a finger at someone else for everything from drugs in the street to poor school system; layoffs; homeless men, women and children; disease; and yesterday there was a rather lengthy documentary on how the government was ultimately responsible for infertility among couples desiring to have children.

All of the above situations are tragic, no doubt about it, and our hearts go out to friends and neighbors stricken with these obstacles.

Our hearts, but what about our hands and our minds? Do we have, along with our overwhelming compassion, the fortitude and drive inside each of us to personally help in some way?

It has been said that if every adult person donated just five hours per week to any cause they choose, we could do without the help of government, almost totally wipe out crime, drug abuse, illiteracy, poverty, etc.

None of us can save the world, but what about the people in our own neighborhoods. Just think of it - we could start building upward toward a "brighter, gentler America," for everyone.

As I review our American history with my fifthgrader, I am reminded of a rich heritage of dedicated men and women who picked each other up and even carried the less fortunate along, weaning them to eventual independ-

Maybe we need to examine the consequences of some of our behaviors. Routines that rob us of precious moments that could be otherwise used to spend invaluable time of "one on one" with a young child looking for direction, giving recognition to a friend or neighbor, our own children, sacrificing monetarily to upgrade our schools.

choosing to order or offer pop as opposed to alcohol in support of someone trying to pull themselves out of the snares of drug addiction.

One could become a club leader for boys or girls. Last night I witnessed a young couple lovingly caring for four interracial foster children.

I've only lived in Clarkston a few years, but I have been very motivated to get involved. There is so much opportunity to contribute our own personal talents to members of this community and surrounding ones as Clarkstonians young and old seem to be aspiring to new heights with visions worthy of our time and efforts. Let's go for it! Get involved!

Follow Iacocca's school advice

The topic of school millage is upon us once again. As long as school districts include percentages of the school budget for sports, I am convinced that the voters will once again say no. Pay to play.

Remarks made by Mr. Lee Iacocca, chairman of Chrysler Corp., to the magazine publishers and editors in October 1989 touch on many points that are lacking in our educational system. He states:

"American isn't going to fare very well in marketing or manufacturing or much of anything else in the '90s with the highest functional illiteracy rate in the industrialized world and high school graduates who can barely read their own diplomas. (I couldn't read mine either, but it was in Latin. Theirs are in English.)

"One obvious thing we can do is keep kids in school long enough to give them the skills they'll need.

"The biggest physical investment a community makes is in its school buildings. Why are they closed 180 days a year? Why are they closed all summer? The kids aren't home planting crops anymore.

"Those kids are going to be competing against Japanese kids who go to school almost year round, including Saturday mornings ... kids who know as much when they leave high school as our college graduates.

"Who do you think is going to win that competition, especially in the 21st century, when brainpower will count for everything and muscles will count for nothing, even on a factory floor?

"Today our students lay on the beach or shoot baskets all summer and then spend the first month or two in the fall reviewing all the material they forgot since spring.

"One reason millage issues fail is that the public has been throwing money at education for years and seen no restructuring to make the schools more efficient.

"People aren't getting their money's worth, and they know it, so why the h—throw good money after bad when they see no fundamental changes taking place in education and the test scores keep going down?"

Make your vote count on Feb. 12

BY FRANK RONK

Normally I don't attempt to advise the residents of our community on how they should direct their support for issues other than governmental issues.

However, on Feb. 12, there will be a question on the ballot for an increase of support for the continuation of the present service offered within our school system.

It is important to note that we approved a like amount of millage support for our schools a few years ago, but through our own action in approving the Headlee Amendment and its effect on the millage, it caused a reduction in funds that will continue to be reduced until the legislature in Lansing decides to act responsibly and adjust the school funding formula.

We, in local government, are constantly attempting to make our representatives in Lansing generate actions that will give the necessary legislation that is required.

There has been a real attempt by the Clarkston schools to detail the funding reductions that have caused the problems of available moneys in most school systems in Michigan. These figures are most confusing to many voters and consequently do not register the impact of need that is being conveyed by those publications.

Basically, to continue our school millage funding as we voted it and intended to do previously, we must again vote to return the moneys that the Headlee Amendment has taken away as our state equalized valued has grown here in the Clarkston school district.

The most important charge we have as parents, grandparents and good citizens in our community, is to continue to educate our youth in any way we can to keep this area in which we live the great place it has been and will be in the years to come.

In my duties of serving this very special community of ours, I have constant contact with the residents of the Clarkston school district, and I am sure the large majority of them know that this funding that will be provided at the Feb. 12 vote is truly needed to educate our kids.

They will need all the help in education that they can muster together to prepare them to deal with the many problems they will face as they leave their school years here in Clarkston and go on to become valuable citizens in our society.

I would only hope that every qualified voter in the Clarkston school district will go to their voting place on Feb. 12 and make their vote count in our community needs.

Frank Ronk is Supervisor of the Charter Township of Independence.

Schools important to home buyers

To all Clarkston homeowners without children in school, We are the homeowners that will be selling our houses sometime in the near future.

Now the question is: What type of family is going to buy our three- and four-bedroom houses? Certainly not senior citizens.

I would guess that our prospective buyers will have either preschoolers or school-age children and will be vitally interested in the condition of our school system.

Our school system is much more important to home buyers that the magical address of Clarkston.

So please understand that your support for the school millage is vitally important to maintain the value and saleability of our homes.

Be a yes voter.

It's time to fix our own problems

We cannot sit back and wait for the State of Michigan or some other governing body to "fix" our school financial problems.

It is true that by passing the school millage in February we will have a "Band-aid" solution, but as a parent of two teen-agers, I don't think we have a choice.

My daughters have both benefited by the extras the Clarkston school district has offered, and I have seen them grow and develop through participation in the very activities we will lose next year without coming to the aid of our school district now.

In October, the Clarkston High School Marching Band, under the dedicated and talented direction of Cliff Chapman, took third place in state competition — the highest ever in the history of the school:

Although this was not a well-publicized honor, it was a proud moment to see all the gifts and talents these young persons have to offer.

We have very talented athletes and musicians in our schools; the affective education they learn from participation in these extra-curricular activities can never be gained through regular academic classes. It is through these activities they learn how to encourage and support others, be a "team player" and strive together toward common goals. Our kids are our future; what Clarkston will lose by just one year without these programs will take years to regain. The children of Clarkston are depending on us what message will we send them on Feb. 12?

Property values in jeopardy

The Michigan Association of Realtors is strongly supporting statewide reform in the method of raising revenue for school systems.

This complex issue hopefully will be resolved in the near future — but in the meantime, we must support the millage for the Clarkston school system.

We cannot let the future of our children's education and home property values be jeopardized by not passing this one-year millage.

Still looking for good answer

It has been very interesting to read all of the letters concerning the millage vote coming up in February. Many widely divergent opinions have been expressed, and all are valid from each writer's point of view.

Like many others, I believe it is necessary to have a good curriculum in our school system, adequate facilities and materials and a reasonable extra-curricular program. However, I get a little tired or people implying that I am not living up to my responsibilities if I vote no on a millage proposal.

I am currently paying enough taxes to all levels of government. The problem is that those various levels of government are not using or distributing my money properly. In the mail I recently received a publication which clearly pointed this out.

If I recall correctly, it indicated that prior to having a lottery the State of Michigan spent approximately 30 percent of its general fund income on education and that now approximately 7 percent of the general fund goes to education. That is the problem!

I have also read that there are a number of people meeting every week to help get the millage passed and that the number is growing. If we pass the millage, will those same people continue to meet and work with vigor to solve the problem with state funding? Somehow, I do not think they will.

This is the dilemma. If I vote no, the kids suffer. If I vote yes, I remove the incentive to solve the real problem. I am still looking for a good answer upon which to base my vote.

Christmas cards are recyclable

What have you done with last year's Christmas cards? If you still have them, we can certainly use them.

The American public today is becoming more aware of the tragedy of child abuse and neglect. You have doubtlessly seen the same stories I have.

But the American public is not aware of some of the programs in operation to rescue the innocent victims of brutality.

For the past 17 years I have donated my time and energies as a member of the Board of Trustees of one such organization - St. Jude's Ranch for Children in Boulder City, Nev., a nonsectarian facility just outside Las Vegas.

St. Jude's doubled in size this year when it purchased a closed home for girls; it is doing a good job.

It could do a bigger and better job with more support. Help me help these kids by alerting your readers to St. Jude's unique fund-raising project — recycling used Christmas cards.

Please send your Christmas card fronts to: St. Jude's Ranch for Children, P.O. Box 1426-LE, Boulder City, NV 89005-1426. For further information call (702)293-3131.

quality of education our children receive.

Many students have benefited from the Clarkston school district and have received athletic and fine arts scholarships. It would be a disservice to our children today not to afford the same opportunities Clarkston students have received in the past.

Failure to pass the millage would deprive many children from pursuing higher education through scholarships, not to mention the many other devastating cutbacks the schools would incur.

We appreciate and salute the efforts of some very hardworking and dedicated parents who put the education and future of our children on the top of their priority lists.

We would like to share with you a passage that recently appeared in a PTA bulletin quoting Abraham Lincoln.

"A child is a person who is going to carry on what you have started. He is going to sit where you are sitting, and when you are gone, attend to those things which you think are important. You may adopt all the policies you please, but how they are carried out depends on him. He will assume control of our cities, states and nations. He is going to move in and take over our churches, schools, universities and corporations ... the fate of humanity is in his hands."

How can we, as parents and citizens of Clarkston, not see the tremendous responsibility our schools have on our future? We must vote yes so the children can get the quality education that they desperately need and deserve. The fate of our children and community are now in your hands. ### First fund-raiser nets $3,000

The Clarkston Foundation would like to say thank you to those persons who helped to make our first fundraiser such a success with net proceeds of more than * The Clarkston Village Players, who put on a special performance of "Sherlock's Last Case" at no charge.

* The Madrigal Singers, those talented students from Clarkston High School, who exemplify through their poise and song why we are so proud of our Clarkston school children.

* To Patti Barnett and Mary Alice Cook, who not only bought tickets, but also helped sell tickets, made punch, and set up tables. (No, we don't ask all of our sponsors to do this much.)

* To our other sponsors who bought tickets and took the time to attend the play. Your active support was critical to the success of this effort, too.

Since we have recently distributed grant request forms to the teachers and staff of the Clarkston school district, your support comes at a very important time. We will now be able to provide additional funds for enrichment programs in the arts and sciences, which would not have been possible without your help.

If anyone in the community has an idea about a project for kids, which is oriented toward their enrichment in the arts and sciences, or would like to offer support, please call the Clarkston Foundation at 625-CARE.

See millage from student's viewpoint

We would like to address the upcoming millage vote Feb. 12, which would determine our future as students and athletes in the Clarkston area.

Clarkston has always been known for its excellence in both education and extra-curricular activities. We as students feel it is really unfair to those of us who are working extremely hard to receive an academic or an athletic scholarship to the the school of our choice.

Without the millage increase, our schools will lose their academic accreditation and with a shortened day it will take away all the special classes such as physical education, art, band, drama, industrial arts, music and many more.

Most of all it will be taking away from our opportunities for a well-rounded education.

In doing so, all of this will affect our choice and acceptance to colleges or major universities.

Put yourself in the position of a student. How would you feel? We are very concerned about our future.

Please vote yes; show us that Clarkston has a heart

One-time chance to pay unemployment

I want all businesses to know the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) is offering employers who owe delinquent unemployment insurance taxes a special one-time chance to pay off those taxes and have all penalties and interest canceled.

Called CAROT (Cancel Add-ons Remit Only Taxes), the program allows employers to get their accounts up to date before we begin an aggressive enforcement program to collect all unpaid taxes, penalties and interest.

Employers must apply by Jan. 25 and be ready to pay all back taxes by July 31.

I urge all employers who owe taxes, think they owe taxes or are not sure if their tax forms have been properly filed in the past to fill out the simple CAROT application form and return it to MESC.

If employers have questions about CAROT or need an application form, they should immediately contact their local MESC office or call toll-free 1-800-638-3994.

Elizabeth P. Howe, Director Michigan Department of Labor

Consider priorities

The voters of the Clarkston school district are being asked to support a millage election on Feb. 12 that will seriously affect the future of not only children but our entire community as a whole.

I know taxpayers are tired of increasing property taxes; believe me, as a single-income household I feel the effects as much as anyone. But, people, the schools are not using scare tactics. There definitely will not be enough money to run basic programs next year. Why you ask?

School financing is a complex issue. The Headlee Amendment and state aid formula have contributed greatly to our current dilemma. But, if you believe the school district is trying to deceive you or waste your money, please visit the Clarkston Board of Education office and review the financial records — they are open for public

According to a recent audit by (auditors) Plante and Moran, Clarkston spends less per pupil than any other district in Oakland County.

Please consider the following when going to the polls in February.

If the millage does not pass:

1. There will be no busing for junior high and high school students.

2. There will be no athletics.

3. There will be a five-hour day.

4. There will be no Latchkey.

5. The high school will lose accreditation (which means your child will not be able to get into major colleges).

6. There will be no gym, music, math or reading support classes.

7. The value of your property will go down.

These items only highlight some of drastic changes that will occur if we do not approve the millage.

Citizens, please consider the priorities in our lives. What is more important — a new VCR or education? A membership at a health club or schools we can be proud of? A new suit or a well-rounded curriculum? A trip up north or the future of our children, and ultimately our community's future?

Please vote yes on Feb. 12. Our children's fate is in your hands — your fate is in your hands!

Optimists advocate Clarkston millage

The Clarkston Area Optimist Club is one of 136 such clubs in the State of Michigan whose motto is "Friend of Youth."

With this understanding, the Board of Directors of the Clarkston Area Optimist Club have authorized me to officially endorse and recommend a "yes" vote for the upcoming Clarkston Community School District millage vote, at 5.6 mills, for one year on Feb. 12.

The funds generated from the successful passage of this millage increase request are very needed. Our public school district is in need of modernization.

This "boost" will ensure, at least for one year, a chance to re-kindle the fire in the best community school district in Oakland County.

Our club encourages a yes vote on Feb. 12. Bruce Mercado, President Clarkston Area Optimist Club

Wrestling Wolves face a challenging meet

BY RENEE GLOVINSKY Clarkston News Staff Writer

All those wrestle maniacs out there can look forward to a great week of Clarkston wrestling.

Thursday, Jan. 25, the varsity Wolves will be up against Lake Orion at 5:30 p.m.

"This should be a very challenging meet for us," said Clarkston varsity coach Scott Strickler. "They're ranked second in the state, and we're ranked eighth. It's going to be a clash between two state power houses."

This meet will determine the winner of the dual-meet season, said Strickler.

The Wolves, who placed third in the Lansing-Sexton Invitational Jan. 20, have had a hot season. Plymouth-Salem took first with 148; Lansing took second with 159 points, and Clarkston took third at 134.5 points.

Sports

"We had 11 out of 13 guys place, which showed our evenness," said Strickler. "Other teams had more champions going into the tournament. We only had one team champ, so we were very well balanced."

Individual Place Winners include: John Terpstra-1st place; Jeff Deroseau- 2nd place; Jerry Anderson-3rd place; Damon Michelsen-3rd place; Joel Davis-3rd place; Tim Kerr-4th place; Jerry Lawrence-5th place; Joe Webb-6th place; Matt Boucard-6th place; John Anderson-6th place; and Mike Stanton-7th place. Hockey deserves more coverage

Sunday, Jan. 21, was the first time in 10 years that an NHL all-star game was aired on a major television network. I wonder why.

I'm not saying that hockey is ready to compete with a Piston/Laker game on a rival channel (like it did Sunday), but it seems by now that the sport should be as popular as "Monday Night Football".

It has to be one of the quickest action-filled sports around today. It offers not only one sport for spectators to view but two - hockey and fighting.

Hockey has grown. It is played throughout the nation including California and various Southern states. So it's not only for us Northerners anymore.

Many high schools offer hockey programs even though the sport can be very expensive.

It's just a little confusing when one turns on the set and sees more of Hulk Hogan and King Kong Bundy than he or she does Mario Lemieux or Kirk Muller.

How many sports fans have actually been to the Palace yet to watch the Pistons? Probably not many, especially if they aren't holders of season tickets.

With a capacity of 21,000, probably only 2,000 tickets are actually available for the general public, making it very unrealistic for those true sports fans to even dream about seeing a game in person.

is a little disturbing when the networks offer promotional gimmicks to try and lure the general public into coming down to the Palace. Recently during one game I actually saw a message on the bottom of the screen offering free posters to the first

Do you know someone who volunteers time or talents to a good cause? We'd like to hear about it. Give us a call at The Clarkston News. 625-3370.

20,000 attendees.

Estimating that there are at least 16,000 ticket holders along with a few thousand reserved tickets that probably go to local radio stations and V.I.P.s, it really doesn't leave much opportunity for the rest of the metro-area.

Instead of fretting about it though, there is a solution. Why not give the high school and junior high schools your support. After all, the future Joe Dumars or Bill Laimbeers may be right in your own backyard. These kids aren't corrupted yet by the business-side of sports, and these kids really want you to be there.

Girlspikers hope to rebound

RENEE GLOVINSKY Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Wolves varsity volleyball team has been in a real slump this season and is doing all it can to get out of

Wednesday, Jan. 17, was a hard loss for the team when it played Kettering and lost both games with identical scores of 5-15.

Monday, Jan. 22, was another bruising battle for the team as they lost to Waterford Mott 7-15, 10-15.

A total of eight serving errors in the second game kept the Wolves down.

Susan McKoin served 8 for 8 with 13 kills and 6 attempts, and Kim Kolody played a good defensive game; yet the Wolves couldn't handle the tough competition.

'I feel terrible for the girls,' said Clarkston coach Gordon Richardson, "They want to win so badly, but we

TAXES AND THE OLDER TAXPAYER

The tax law has some provisions that apply only to older taxpayers. One of these provisions affects those 55 or older, so that's a good age to begin your awareness of these special provision.

special provision.
Sale of Residence - Those who are age 55 or older who sell their residence (home, condominium, co-op) in which they have lived for at least three of the last five years may exclude up to $125,000 of the gain on the sale. This is a once-in-a-lifetime election; give it careful consideration before you use it.

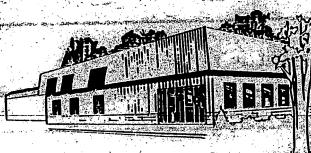

Standard Deduction - For 1989, the standard deduction is $5,200 for joint filers and $3,100 for singles. In addition, joint filers can add $600 to the standard deduction if one spouse is over 65 ($1,200 if both are over 65) and $600 if one spouse is blind ($1,200 if both are blind). Single-filers additional amounts are $750 for age 65 and $750 for blindness. Taxlaw considers you to be 65 on the day before your 65th, birthday. Thus, those who turn 65 on January 1, 1990, will qualify as 65 or over for 1989, entitling them to the additional standard deduction amount ($600 for the standard deduction amo to the additional standard deduction amount ($600 joint, $750 single).

Social Security Benefits - Social Security benefits are nontaxable unless one-half of the benefits plus income from all other sources (including, tax-exempt interest) exceeds $32,000 for joint filers or $25,000 for singles. The amount of Social Security benefits subject to tax will not exceed 50%.

The Medicare surfax has been repealed. Taxpayers eligible for Medicare benefits were to pay a surfax of 15% of their regular 1989 tax liability up to a maximum of $800 ($1.600 joint). The 1989 tax forms were printed before the surfax was repealed. So you should ignore the 1989 tax return instructions on calculating and paying the surfax.

What is the millage for?

Editor's note: This column was produced by a group of students, parents and friends of Clarkston Community Schools called The Blue Ribbon Kids Committee. They are working to communicate school issues, clarify financial questions and promote the passage of the upcoming millage. Additional questions may be sent to P.O. Box 443, Clarkston, MI 48016.

1. What is the millage for?

The 5.6371-mill request is needed to offset losses in our school funds caused primarily by the Headlee roil-back and the decreasing support of education by the state.

2. Why did the school board decide to request 5.6371 mills?

This is the amount of millage needed to restore the level of programs that was approved by the voters in the successful 1988 millage election and eliminate the necessity of making deep and damaging additional cuts in 1990-91.

If approved in February, our total school tax rate will still be slightly less than the voter-approved 38.83 mills. At the present time, Clarkston schools is collecting only 34.94 mills of the 38.83 and expects to be reduced to 33.39 mills by June of 1990.

The gap between voter-approved mills of 38.83 and June's anticipated rate of 33.39 is a direct effect of the Headlee Amendment.

3. What happened to all the money from the 1988 millage?

The fact is that the 5.5 mills did not generate as much money as anticipated. "Projecting" budgets for in-formula schools like ours is not an exact science because there are too many factors that change the results.

These factors include: changing property values, changing enrollment, changing state aid formulas, changing cost of living (Consumer Price Index) and the subsequent impact of the Headlee Amendment.

Remember, when your taxes go up because of assessments, our "in-formula" school district does not receive any additional money.

1988's millage was deep-sixed early by:

- Unexpectedly low increases in state aid funding,
   Unexpectedly high increases in State Equalized
- Unexpectedly high increases in State Equalized Valuation, generating a bigger Headlee rollback and thus less state aid to Clarkston,
  - Lower enrollment than had been anticipated.
- 4. What could the schools have done about the 1988 millage?
  - They could have been clairvoyant.
  - They could have asked for more millage.
- Or, in hindsight, they could have asked for only one year's approval at a time, as is being done this year.
  How long will this one last?

This request is for one year only.

Our financial planners can clearly see a light at the end of the tunnel. But funding for next year still depends upon the property tax system with no definite reform yet adopted.

There is always the chance that the Patterson/Anderson ballot issue will change how Michigan schools are funded (although it isn't even on the ballot yet).

As proposed, if Patterson/Anderson is eventually approved, it will reduce our millage rate down to 28 mills, which would eliminate the 5.6371 mills now being requested.

Regardless, until some significant reform occurs, we have no choice but to take care of ourselves.

6. Why does the Headlee Amendment affect schools more than it affects townships, villages and cities?

Headlee basically had a good idea. Keep a check system on government bodies in neighborhoods of galloping property assessments. No windfall profits to overspend. Keep the growth of the government budget in line with the Consumer Price Index (inflation). Thus, the Headlee rollback was born.

However, here's the basic problem for in-formula schools:

In-formula schools depend on the State of Michigan for a guaranteed level of funding. Every year, the legislature uses their "infinite wisdom" to determine a new formula, which sets that level. The formula is never the same from one year to the next.

Here's the catch. The formula guarantee is based on our millage rate. When the Headlee Amendment rolls our millage down, our schools receive a double reduction because that lower millage rate is the basis for the state's formula.

Township, village and city government millages are also rolled back by the Headlee Amendment, but they do not operate under the restriction of a state aid formula. Therefore, they may receive increases of 4 to 7 percent, while the schools only receive increases of 1 or 2 percent.

Tin toys 'fascinate' Clarkston area collector

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN Clarkston News Staff Writer

About five years ago, Lon Harmon went to a garage sale across from his mother-in-law's home in Clio, and he saw some old toys at the sale. Something clicked, he said.

Bitten by the bug, he became an avid collector of antique toys and now sells or trades his wares. He plans to Lon started collecting before his retirement from Chrysler Motors Dec. 31, 1987, but he finds he has more time for the hobby since retiring.

He finds his toys at garage sales, toy shows; flea markets and antique stores, he said.

When he began to collect the toys, he built shelves into one wall of his Rattalee Lake Road home in Independence Township. Behind glass doors the toys keep almost dust free.

"I have to dust about once a year, and it's time, but we're moving, so I may wait," he said.

Lon and his wife Lois are moving to Eureka Springs, Ark., where they hope to start a bed and breakfast busi-

"Tin toys are a prime example example of a beautiful art medium," he said. "They're very detailed exquisite pieces.'

Some of his favorite collectibles are called penny toys and nickel toys. The name is derived from their cost.

"The tin is so delicate," Lon said. Holding a toy, an observer can understand Lon's amazement at the toys lasting from the early 1900s to How those particular toys could last through normal child's play is amazing, he said.

Lon doesn't have any toys from his own childhood. "As a child I foolishly smashed up my toys," he said. Lon and Lois have two children: Brad, 22, and Kelsey, 19. Lon is saving the toys they played with in hopes that they will enjoy them sometime later, he said. He's proud of his own collection.

"It's nothing super-duper, but I love my own collection," he said.

Collecting toys is like looking at history. The styles actually depict an era, and history is retained, Lon said.

But most of all Lon finds his toy collection therapeutic. It's great therapy to take a car and look at all the

Area college kids make music with a message

BY RENEE GLOVINSKY Clarkston News Staff Writer

A rock band? Not quite. A church choir? Not that either. One band in Clarkston can't be classified in any single category; It has a sound and a message all its own.

The group "Project GOD," which stands for Giving Others Direction, consists of Clarkston area residents Shawn Smith, Dean Vanderkolk, Heather Smith and Norm Dufrin along with Joe Zuzula from Saginaw.

Project GOD, originally created in 1986, has seen members come and go. The current members, though, have been together for four years.

have been together for four years.
"We are all best friends," said leader Shawn Smith.
"Music holds us together as a band, but friendship holds us together in life."

The group has already recorded its first tape, consisting of four songs, three of which are originals.

All the members have an equal role in creating as well as performing the music. This, they say, gives the music many different elements.

"Music holds us together as a band, but friendship holds us together in life."

Auctioneer Paul Hickmott of Hickmott Sales and Service, Oxford, dedicated his time to auction off nearly 200 donated crafted items that raised over $5,000 for scholarship funds at the 9th Annual Christmas Auction held by the Inde-Spring Charter Chapter of American Business Women Association (ABWA) at Heather Highland Golf Club Nov. 19.

This year's auction was dedicated in the memory of Leonard "Lenny" Howarth, a Davisburg lawyer who passed away last year and who auctioneered the event for many years.

The event was attended by 177 guests from surrounding areas. For a $10 ticket donation, they were treated to an afternoon of exciting competitive bidding, luncheon, a 50/50 raffle awarding $133 and over 100 door prized donated by local businesses and affiliates. Plus, a handmade quilt raffle drawing was the finale.

Two of the chapter's scholarship recipients also attended this event: Chris Hardy of Clarkston, a third-year recipient, was awarded an ABWA National Grant while she attends Albion College, Albion, for pre-law; and Julie Truxton of Holly attends Ferris State University, Big Rapids, for para-legal.

REAL ESTATE

Valerie Phaup designated broker

QUESTION: My home is for sale. One prospect offered to rent it with option to buy. What is your advice on this situation?

ANSWER: The "Rent with option to buy" offer is usually made by someone who is not a serious buyer for ANY house. I'd suggest putting the offer aside and looking for a bonafide prospect who wants to BUY the house not rent it. However, if you MUST rent your home under these circumstances, be sure that there is a consideration for the option over and above the rent. Remember, you are reducing your sales prospects down to one - and that one is quite dubious.

Renting your house with an option to buy, REDUCES YOUR PROSPECTS TO

We invite you to look into our library

We've expanded our resource center to include a library of special audio-visual programs. They're educational aids that deal sensitively with topics ranging from how to explain death to a young child to coping with the loss of a loved one. If you or someone you know might benefit from these programs, they're yours to borrow. We also have a variety of new books in our library for your use.

Families or individuals may choose to view the audio-visual tapes at our funeral home. Or, you may wish to arrange a showing for your community meeting, since they may serve as a basis for group discussion in classes, church groups or civic organizations. Also, our books may be lent out for as long as needed.

If you'd like more information on our library, just stop by the funeral home or give us a call at 625-5231.

National soup month

Betty Wagner

To celebrate the end of national Soup Month, here are two nutritious, low-fat soups that I've adapted to microwave preparation from "Eater's Choice" by Dr. Ron Goor and Nancy Goor (Houghton Mifflin Co.) that are loaded with beta carotene, vitamins A and C and calcium. TARRAGON SQUASH SOUP

Stalks from a bunch of broccoli, washed, trimmed, cut into pieces

1 1/2-2 pounds of acorn squash, cooked

1 can chicken broth or two cups chicken broth or bouillon Water to thin consistency

1/4 teaspoon white pepper 1 teaspoon dried tarragon

1 oat bran English muffin, torn into small pieces

- 1. Place pieces of broccoli stalks in a Pyrex dish; cover; microwave on HIGH for five minutes or until tender.
- 2. Place cooked stalks into a food processor and puree.
  - 3. Pierce squash at least three times with a long-timed fork. Cook 6-8 minutes per pound.

4. Scoop cooked squash out of shell; add to chicken broth; puree in food processor or blender.

5. Mix together pureed squash-broth, pureed broccoli stalks, pepper, tarragon, muffin pieces. Add more water for thinner consistency, if desired. Adjust seasonings.

6. Heat at HIGH until desired serving temperature or heat using temperature probe set to 150 degrees and microwave power at 70 per cent (ROAST).

BROCCOLI SOUP 1 tablespoon canola oil (Puritan brand) or olive oil

1/2 cup chopped celery

1 medium onion, chopped 1/3 cup long grain brown rice

1 cup water

1/8-1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper

1 bunch broccoli

2-3 cups skim milk

1. Microwave oil, celery and onion on HIGH for 1 minute; stir. Cook at HIGH for 1 more minute or until vegetables are soft.

2. Add rice, water and pepper. Microwave at HIGH for 5 minutes; reduce power to 50 percent (MEDIUM) for 20 minutes.

3. Prepare broccoli by separating flowerets from stems. Cut stalks into "nickels" or chunks of even size.

4. Place broccoli in a Pyrex dish. Microwave at HIGH for 5-8 minutes or until tender.

5. Reserve one cup flowerets. Add remaining cooked broccoli to rice mixture. Cover; cook for 5 more minutes or until rice and broccoli are soft enough to be pureed in the food processor or blender.

6. While processing broccoli mixture, slowly add skim milk. Reheat to desired serving temperature at 80 percent (REHEAT). Garnish with reserved flowerets. Serve immediately.

Red Cross blood supply at critical point

The American Red Cross blood supply typically needs a boost during the winter holidays and summer months (December through January and June through August).

School and plant shutdowns during these times leave bloodmobiles idle for critical weekends.

This year, in addition to a bitter cold spell and serious flu epidemic, there has been a series of major bloodmobile cancellations that will account for the loss of about 2,000 pints over the next few weeks.

Normally, in order to supply the 65 area hospitals in Southeastern Michigan, the Red Cross must collect a minimum of 1,000 to 1,200 pints of blood daily.

Faced with the present situation, if the Red Cross doesn't collect at least 1,200 pints every day for the next two weeks, it will have to resort to an emergency appeal. It is dangerously low of types O positive and O negative.

There has been a steady depletion of the blood inventory since mid-November when it was at 5,800 pints. On Jan. 16, the inventory was at 1,700. At the very minimum (minimum meaning that if an emergency need arose it could not handle the increased demand), the Red Cross needs to keep a three-day, 2,500-unit supply on hand.

Red Cross donor centers are located in Ann Arbor, Bloomfield, Dearborn, Livonia, Oak Park, Port Huron, the Renaissance Center, Roseville and Southgate. Plus, 13 mobile units make rounds in the area. For an appointment to donate blood, call 494-2800.

The white sands of Clearwater

Clearwater Beach-The temperature was just 68, so umbrellas (right) were popular for wind breaks.

Condo developments line the beaches on the 'city side' of the key as far as you can see.

By JIM SHERMAN, publisher

The white sand beaches of Clearwater, Florida are a giant magnet to sunbathers and beach walkers.

They are hundreds of feet wide and miles long. And, unbelievably white. They are also clean. The city obviously dedicates considerable time and money to maintaining the beach area.

Clearwater Beach is on Sand Key which stretches several miles north and south just off the west coast of mainland Florida. The Keys serve as a barrier between the Gulf of Mexico and the mainland, lessening damage from wind and water.

Highway 60, which starts at Tampa International Airport, runs through Clearwater and over Garden Memorial Causeway to the Beach. You can drive the length of Sand Key, about 20 miles, on Gulf Boulevard.

The City has built piers many feet out into the gulf for fishermen and walkers. Piers are also great for people-watching. Built about 10 feet above the sand and water, you can get a good view of the activity.

The 'activity' is the same for most beaches.
.. sun bathers of all dimensions, volleyball players, sand castle builders, lovers, eaters, those with metal detectors, sea gulls, pelicans and lifequards.

The best-known pier on the beach is Pier 60. Many hotels and condominium buildings are in the vicinity. It's big and especially popular with fishermen. Starting last January 1 everyone who lishes in sultwater off Florida had to have a license.

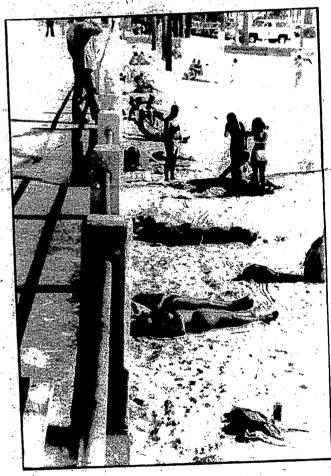

This pie was taken out by Hurricane Elena in 1985. The breeze also took the beach, and the city made breakwaters of rocks to prevent future damage. Then signs were put up telling people not to swim near the rocks.

People did swim near the rocks. People were hurt swimming near the rocks, and now the city has to remove the rock breakwaters to prevent lawsuits.

There are also signs along the beach cautioning "Stingrays in the area." You're supposed to splash the water furiously before entering.

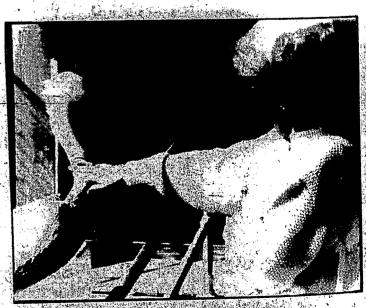

We ate at a fine restaurant not far from the beach at Belleair. Siple's Garden Seat has been on Druid Road since 1920. It's just north of Belleair Country Club, a private golf resort nown for many years as Belleview-Biltmore Country Club.

A very popular beach and playground is Caladesi Island State Park. No roads lead to the island, however, it's walkable in low tide, or there's a ferry. It's at the north end of Sand Key.

Some sunbathers used the man-made pier as a wind break.

While a pelicen welts for someone to feed it, Mrs Sherman tried to pet it. She did too, reporting it "let surely". Seed he case his mouth very wide studying business administration. He shares his theological views with the other band members.

She plans to apply her medical education to missionary work. She and band member Norm plan on going with a church group to Guatemala this year.

Dean is presently attending Oakland Community College, majoring in computer science. He would like to be a professional writer or film maker.

You must find a trade while you are pursuing your dream," he said.

Dean has never had any previous musical training he just fell into the band by accident, he said. Other members are happy for that.

Joe, the newest member, is presently a senior at Michigan State University, East Lansing, earning a degree in physical science with a minor in mathematics.

"I would love to be a professional musician," said Joe. "but I see teaching as being more practical."

All members would like to see Project GOD become incorporated.

"If we were incorporated we could reach out to other mediums and become a name that people would recognize," said Joe.

Such Christian rock stars as Amy Grant and Michael W. Smith have influenced Project GOD along with secular groups such as Simon and Garfunkel and U-2.

"We are trying to give to others what God has given to us."

Shawn Smith

Heather and Shawn's father, Frank Smith, has also been a big inspiration and helper to the group.

Frank is a part-time soundman for the singers. He assists the band during all rehearsals using electronic sound equipment kept in his basement/studio.

'We honor his opinion," said Heather. "His opinion is what we base our decisions on."

The band has many upcoming plans ahead. It will release its first full-length tape in May, featuring 10 songs. The group will be going on tour for three months

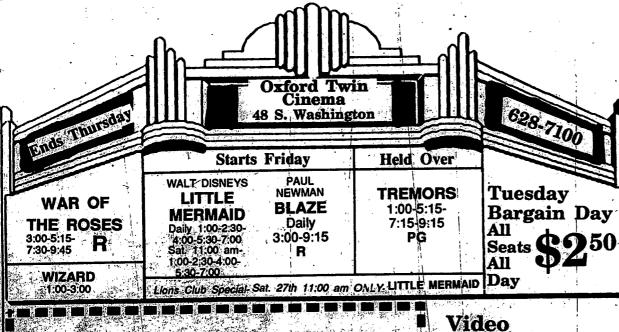

FRANK SMITH is not only the father of two Project GOD band members, he is also the soundman. Helping the members at each rehearsal and telling them what changes to make takes a lot of time and expertise.

To get a taste of its unique sound, people are welcome to attend a Project GOD concert 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 26, at the Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church, 6805 Bluegrass, Independence Township.

We are trying to give to others what God has given to us," said Shawn.

WHO IS ON THE LORD'S WHO IS ON THE LORU'S SIDE? Hear ye this house of Jacob (the churches) which are called by the name of Israel, and are come forth out of the waters of Judah which swear by the name of the Lord and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth nor in righteousness." For they call themselves ness.* For they call themselves of the Holy City, and stay themselves upon the God of Israel. The Lord of Hosts is his name. O that you had hearken w my commandments! Then had your eace been as a river, and your righteousness as the waves of the sea: There is no peace to the wicked, saith the Lord. Woe to him that covets an evil covet-ousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evill Have not sorrows taken hold of you as a woman in travail? For the greatness of thine iniquity are thy skirts discovered, and thy heels made bare. You that are accustomed to doing evil can you do good at the same time? You have forgotten me and trust in false-hood! I have seen your adultewicked, saith the Lord. Woe to hood! I have seen your adultehood! I have seen your adulteries, and your neighings, the lewdness of your whoredom, and your abominations on the hills in the fields. Woe unto thee, O Jerusalem! Will you not be made clean? Thus have they loved to wander; they have not refrained their feet, therefore the Lord does not except them. He will now remember their iniquity and visit their sins. Then said! AH! Lord God! Behold the prophets say unto them, you An! Lord God! Benold the prophets say unto them, you shall not see the sword, neither shall you have famine. But I will give you assured peace in this place." Thus saith the Lord, "the prophets prophets in my prophets prophesy lies in my name. I have not sent them, neither have I commanded them, neither spake unto them. They prophesy unto you a false They prophesy unto you a false vision and divination and a thing of nought, and the deceit of their heart. But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there are false trachers among you, who privily bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction. themselves swift destruction.
And "many" shall follow their pericious ways, by reason of whom the way of truth is evil spoken of (unbelief). TAKING A BOW is the entire crew from "The Princess and the Pea" (from left)! Nick Knauss, Cate Jantzen, Eric Scislowicz, Carrie Linenger, David Lynn, Emily Bate, Peter Mahnken, Tony Chiappetta and James Navarre. The first-graders in Kathy Williams'

Cedar Crest Academy class were responsible for their own costumes and scene designs.

A sensitive fair maiden

CAPTIVATED by the performers of "The Princess and the Pea" are (from left): Griffin Baker, April Downs, Becca Knauss, teacher Kathy Williams; Jordan Baker, Lauren Azoni, Alice Bate and teacher Mirlam Bate. The first-grade class at Cedar Crest Academy, Springfield Township, rehearsed Jan. 22 for a performance before their parents Jan. 24.

THE PRINCESS, played by Emily Bate, 7, can't get to sleep on a stack of mattresses because she feels the pea under the mattresses, proving she's a real princess.
