Teacher's aide saves choking elementary student

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The quick actions of a teacher's aide at Bailey Lake Elementary School saved a child from choking to death nearly two weeks ago.

Janet Proctor, a Thendara Park resident, successfully performed the Heimlich maneuver on fifth-grader Heather Hunter to dislodge a piece of food in the youth's throat.

According to Bailey Lake Principal Doris Mousseau, Hunter was eating her lunch in the school cafeteria when a piece of pizza crust got caught in her throat. The girl began gasping for air, and slid under her table wheezing. Despite the efforts of two teachers, they were unable to help the girl.

Mousseau said Hunter was unconscious for nearly two minutes before Proctor successfully performed the maneuver.

"After Janet did the maneuver and got the piece of crust out, she yelled, 'breathe, Heather, breathe,' and miraculously Heather started gasping," Mousseau said.

"The ambulance was there within five minutes, but if it weren't for Janet I believe we might have lost Heather."

Principal Doris Mousseau

"The little girl was scared but showed no signs of brain damage, despite being unconscious for two minutes."

Mousseau said a kitchen worker called 911, and the ambulance arrived two minutes after Hunter was resuscitated.

"The ambulance was there within five minutes, but if it weren't for Janet I believe we might have lost Heather," Mousseau said.

Proctor, still shaken by the incident two weeks later, did not want to talk about the ordeal.

Mousseau said Heather Hunter's parents sent Proctor, a teacher's aide of 13 years, an arrangement of flowers in appreciation of her efforts. Heather's father didn't want to comment on the incident because "he didn't want his daughter to relive the episode," he said.

The principal remarked that the fifth-grader is doing well, and life — for the most part — has returned to normal.

Residents take sides over Deer Lake Road plan

Road Commission officials say Natural Beauty Road designation won't affect plans for sewer

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Officials with the Road Commission for Oakland County met with Deer Lake Road residents Sept. 19 to discuss the possibility of designating their roadway as a "natural beauty road."

Bill McEntee, spokesman with the road commission's Environmental Concern Committee, made it clear that a beauty road designation would not cancel a sewer line system scheduled for Deer Lake Road in Independence Township.

"This public hearing is to determine your roadway's validity for a natural beauty road," McEntee said. "This decision will have no bearing on the sewer system; however, it could determine in what manner of delicacy the project is carried out."

According to McEntee, the determining characteristics of a natural beauty road are that it must have outstanding natural features along its borders, with vegetation native to Michigan. The road will also be judged in terms of its geographical and horticultural uniqueness to the area.

McEntee said the ultimate decision will be made by a three-member panel of road commissioners. The decision will be based on residents' statements at the public hearing and McEntee's own investigations of the Deer Lake Road.

At the public hearing, McEntee faced two factions in the 12-person audience.

Chuck Myers, a Deer Lake Road resident with a degree in horticulture, told McEntee that he has identified 34 different trees, 13 varieties of vines and 120 types of vines along the roadway.

Among the trees are six oaks about 150-200 years of age.

Myers said Deer Lake Road should be protected, due, in part, to its natural setting.

"Most of the residents moved onto this road because its a sheltered area away from the hustle and bustle of civilization," he said. "We like this road's present condition, and I'd like to see it preserved."

A few residents spoke against the natural beauty road designation.

"My concern is that Deer Lake Road is a school bus route, and most natural beauty roads are only one lane," said Dixie Highway resident Bob Lalone. "How is a bus supposed to travel down a road, with hardly enough room for one vehicle?"

George Vieira of Sagamore Road thinks the whole idea of the beauty road designation is to stall the sewer plans.

"Any other time, I'd agree to this type of proposal, but the timing is suspect," he said. "I oppose this request because people are using this topic as a plug to block the sewer project."

McEntee told the residents that he has seen sewer lines successfully installed on natural beauty roads, with no detrimental damage to the surroundings.

McEntee said the county road commission accepts only 50 percent of all natural beauty road requests submitted. However, he added, Oakland County ranks second in the state in terms of the total number of beauty roads.

According to McEntee, the road commission should make its decision within the next three weeks.

Teen driver dodges deer, hits Holcomb tree

A 16-year-old Springfield Township youth was injured after he swerved to miss a deer and struck a tree on Holcomb Road, Independence Township.

On Friday, Sept. 21, Brent L. Rogers of Davisburg Road was traveling along Holcomb Road near Ellis Road about 3 p.m. when a deer ran across the road. The teen told police that he lost control while dodging the deer and hit a tree alongside the road.

Rogers, wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident, was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

DDA, school study relations in changing climate

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Calling on the Clarkston school board for support, officials from the Independence Township Downtown Development Authority (DDA) unveiled preliminary plans to expand its boundaries.

The DDA was formed in 1986 as a 10-year project to improve sewage, water, lighting and landscaping on parts of Dixie Highway and M-15 in the township.

The authority works by captures any taxes above the amount collected in 1986 from properties in that area. The DDA uses the money for improvements to that area only.

As long as the Clarkston school district remains in the state's school aid formula, the value of properties in the DDA is not used to calculate state aid.

Should Clarkston go "out-of-formula," however (almost a certainty next year, according to administrative officials), the district would lose the money captured by the DDA.

DDA officials estimate its current annual income at $600,000. About $420,000, or 70 percent of that revenue, comes from taxes collected in the school district.

In a presentation to the school board Sept. 10, DDA officials explained the authority's purpose and asked for board support as the school's financial picture changed.

"(When the DDA started) we decided the schools would not be out of formula for 12 to 14 years," explained DDA member Frank Ronk, supervisor of Independence Township.

"Things have happened to change that, and the

"We want to promote economic growth while increasing property tax valuation."

Dick Ayers
DDA president

schools could go out of formula sooner," he said.

"It's not our intention to deprive the schools of funds," Ronk added. "The DDA program will create a tremendous windfall at the end."

A windfall for the schools would occur when the DDA dissolves in 1996. At that point properties taxed for DDA improvements would become properties taxed for school revenues, according to administrative officials.

Throughout its existence the DDA has connected five major well sites, establishing a connected water system in the area, according to DDA President Dick Ayers.

"The main thing we wanted to establish is a water system," Ayers said. "Also, a sanitary storm sewer. These exist, but we wanted to tie them together."

"Within the district, our goals include safety paths, street lighting, streetscaping and other improvements," Ayers added. "We want to promote economic growth while increasing property tax valuation."

Currently, DDA boundaries exist along Dixie Highway from the Waterford Township border at the south to Foster Road at the north, plus along M-15 from Dixie to Paramus Road.

DDA officials hope to increase the authority's boundaries to include White Lake Road from Dixie Highway to Andersonville Road, a primarily industrial sector in the township, Ayers said.

"We need industrial tax base," he stated. "There's no sewer or water in the area. If we get it in there, we'll see growth and get those industrial base taxes."

School board President John Needham thanked DDA officials for their presentation and suggested the board study the matter further.

It's important for both sides to see the other's viewpoint, Needham added.

"The board has taken pleasure in the good relationship (between the board and the DDA)," Needham said. "It's been to a multiple advantage, as long as we continue to see the perspective on both sides."

"We can see that revenue out there," Needham added, "but it's like seeing a big meal, and we're starving now. We don't know if we can wait."

Board members asked and were told the DDA could dissolve early if it accomplished its goals ahead of schedule.

School facilities plan underway

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

The next step in plans for a new high school and elementary school in the Clarkston school district is to hire a construction manager.

At the Sept. 17 special Clarkston Board of Education meeting, the board approved the selection process, to be completed by Nov. 12. If a firm is chosen by that date, the board may request voters to approve a February bond issue for the construction.

The selection process is as follows:

Superintendent Gary Haner, with the help of a review by a facilities committee, is to recommend three qualified firms to the school board.

The firms are then to submit a Request For Proposal, which will be reviewed by the administrative staff and a school board subcommittee.

Then, the committee and any interested board members are to visit the construction site and the firm's office.

Finally, the entire board will formally interview the firms. The board is to select the top choice at the Nov. 12 meeting.

The process should go quickly, said Haner, because the district went through the same steps just two years ago — when voters defeated a request for a bond issue to build a new high school.

Haner said a February election is preferred because it takes four years to actually occupy new school buildings — including the election process, bond process and construction itself.

At present, a population "bubble" has hit the elementary level, and a new building is needed immediately, he said. Five years from now, that bubble will hit the high school.

Plus, the high school is outdated and too small, and one middle school — Clarkston Junior High — is "questionable as an everyday facility," he said.

Budget hearing Oct. 2

Budgets are the topic of a public hearing before the Independence Township Board Tuesday, Oct. 2.

The hearing on budgets for the general fund and special revenue funds is set for 7:30 p.m. at the township annex, 90 North Main St., Clarkston.

A copy of the proposed budget is on file and available to the public for inspection in the township clerk's office. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. For more information, call 625-5111.

Register to vote by Oct. 9

Independence Township officials are alerting all residents that Tuesday, Oct. 9, is the last day for voter registration in the Nov. 6 general election.

Registrations can be picked up at the township clerk's office at 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Officials request DNR hearing

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Based on the testimonies of a few area residents, the Independence Township Board unanimously passed a resolution Sept. 18 that could initiate the end of hunting around the Heather Lakes Estates subdivision.

Heather Lakes Estates is at the intersection of Baldwin and Clarkston roads and borders Independence and Orion townships.

The hunting debate stems from recent goose hunting in and around Heather Lake. Residents have complained of hunters walking through the neighborhood and firing shots close to their homes.

With the goose population on the rise in Michigan, the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) created

"This issue doesn't have anything to do with the pros or cons of gun control. We just feel that a subdivision is no place for gunplay."

Jody Risher

an extra nuisance hunting season that precedes the existing goose season by 10 days.

The four hunters using Heather Lake contend that they are trying to reduce the growing goose population in the area.

The resolution supports the residents' plea for an end to firearm discharge around the subdivision. Township officials are to ask the DNR to hold a public hearing to ban hunting from the subdivision.

On Sept. 17, the Orion Township Board passed a similar resolution regarding a hunting ban. This type of request would call for the DNR to create a Hunting Area Control Committee.

Appearing with nine other neighbors, Heather Lakes resident Jody Risher said the subdivision has outgrown the sport of hunting.

"All the residents feel our neighborhood is too mature, in terms of growth, to allow gunfire," Risher said.

"This issue doesn't have anything to do with the pros or cons of gun control," she added. "We just feel that a subdivision is no place for gunplay."

Risher estimates the number of geese around the lake at 1,000, but she figures only 16 have been killed by hunters.

"The sad part about this situation is that most of the hunters in question are our neighbors and high-ranking officials on the lake's homeowner's association," Risher said.

Risher said she witnessed one of the hunters last week, pointing his gun over a house when aiming at a duck.

Neighbor Doris (Biscoe) Bailey is also concerned with the safety of the children who romp around the subdivision.

"Our children are constantly playing in and around the subdivision. Their safety has to be taken into consideration," she said. "If one of them is injured by a hunter, I'll hold our board (homeowner's association) responsible."

The board members were adamant in their support of a hunting ban.

"I think it's ludicrous for us to think that the DNR, when you have a subdivision, would wait until incidents occur before taking action," said Trustee Frank Millard.

"The township will talk to the DNR as soon as possible," said Supervisor Frank Ronk. "We'll pursue the possibility of stopping hunting around the lake before the coming of the October fiasco."

Reporter's Notebook

Marine Staff Sgt. Roger Keith says the North Oakland County area is a difficult area in which to recruit new Marines.

Generally, about 10 percent sign up for the Marines because the military is a family tradition, said Keith, who is based in Pontiac.

Another 40 percent sign up to get their college paid for. The remaining 50 percent sign up because they're not sure in which direction to head in their careers, education and lives.

Keith, who heads the recruiting for the North Oakland County area, says most high school students in the Clarkston, Lake Orion areas have enough money to pay for school, which leaves only those who are at a standstill or those for whom a military stint is a tradition.

Rarely do people sign up for patriotic reasons, he says, adding that the Persian Gulf situation has not affected recruitment a bit.

The U.S. Marines are looking for a few good trombone players — and trumpet players and saxophone players and ...

Marine Staff Sgt. Roger Keith, a recruiter, says top musicians are a priority for recruiters because the famed Marine Corps Band is in short supply.

The only effect the Persian Gulf crisis has had on the Marine recruiting office in Pontiac has been a few more phone calls from "crazies," says Staff Sgt. Roger Keith.

Since Iraq invaded Kuwait, a few callers have voiced strong anti-Arab opinions, using derogatory language, and offering to enlist to help in killing the enemy.

They are promptly turned away, said Keith. "They're not the kind of people we want in the Marine Corps," he says, adding that the Marine Corps is the toughest and best of the country's armed services.

Trusting our officials

Julie Campe

Public trust is perhaps the most important aspect of the jobs of public officials — once lost, it's difficult to regain.

Recently, examples of imprudent spending and deceitful expenditures at the national level have shocked the public — but spending at local levels is just as important.

Government officials in Springfield Township, Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston have less money and, therefore, less to spend unwisely — generally, they do indeed spend it wisely.

To keep area residents up to date on those expenditures of tax dollars and to maintain public trust, The Clarkston News writes about any expenditure over $1,000.

We usually list the item purchased, from whom it was purchased, its cost and its purpose. The stories are simple (and kind of boring) — but they're still important.

For example, the Clarkston Village Council recently approved a new copy machine to replace a machine that had outlived its useful life after producing about 47,000 copies.

So last week we ran a normal story listing the details. (The council's whole discussion was recorded by volunteers from United Cable public access and was aired on Independence-Clarkston Channel 65.)

However, it seems that a few village officials did not want us to reveal where the machine was purchased and where it will be used.

The machine was purchased for $1,100 from Office Max, Inc., in Madison Heights. Apparently, a few village officials would rather have kept that point quiet because Clarkston area office supply business owners may take offense that the item wasn't purchased from them.

(The council generally takes the low bid — an accepted practice in local governments.)

Further, a few officials also did not want us to reveal that the machine would be placed in the home of village Manager Artemus Pappas because the village's office on Depot Road is overcrowded — Pappas usually works from his home due to the space problem.

Their concern on this point was theft, though a copy machine can be stolen from an office as easily as it can be from a home. (The council insures the machine wherever it is.)

Some may argue that this is only a copy machine, and good relations between newspaper staff members and government officials are more important than taking issue over an unimportant purchase such as a copy machine.

It is only a copy machine. And officials acted prudently in their decision to buy and from whom to buy and where to place the machine after the purchase. There was no wrongdoing.

But keeping those details out of the public eye would have been wrong and would have lost them the trust of the public.

Letters to the Editor

Joette needs help by November

At the age of seven, Joette was diagnosed with leukemia and was expected to live only seven more years maximum. She has reached the age of 21, and her mother often says, "She is writing medical history."

Joette attended Clarkston Schools and continued life as normally as possible with her disease.

She turned to Clarkston's Alternative High School program where she was a leader in encouraging others to overcome problems and find strength in themselves. She is a very strong willed, positive and courageous young adult.

Today Joette faces a mountain in her journey through life. She needs a bone marrow transplant by Nov. 1.

Joette and her mother have been seeking funds to help cover the costs of paying insurance premiums of $165 a month. Their overall goal is to raise $40,000. This money will be used to help cover costs such as blood testing for bone marrow matches ($457 each), bone marrow bank searches ($300 each) and donor procurement funds ($20,000).

All donated funds will be spent directly on medical and health insurance costs only. The dollar amount seems unreachable, but by working together we can help her reach her goal. If you are willing to share in this effort, this is how you may be able to help.

How can we help Joette reach her goal?

20,000 donations at $2 each = $40,000

10,000 donations at $4 each = $40,000

5,000 donations at $8 each = $40,000

2,500 donations at $16 each = $40,000

1,000 donations at $40 each = $40,000

500 donations at $80 each = $40,000

250 donations at $160 each = $40,000

All donations, of any size, are needed.

Our community has proven to be caring and helpful in times of need. We hope that you will consider giving a monetary gift toward Joette's bone marrow transplant. If you are willing to share in this effort, send your donations made out to the Joette Kovacik Donation Fund, North Oakland Credit Union, 100 Auburn Rd., Pontiac, MI 48342.

Your canceled check will serve as your receipt for tax purposes. If you are unable to contribute monetarily, the American Red Cross will test your blood for possible bone marrow donations at no cost. Call 1-494-2774 for more information.

Please remember Joette, her family and this project in your daily prayers. You can make the difference in this girl's life. You can help her cross this mountain and live.

On behalf of Joette Kovacik and this fund-raising project, we thank you for your kind consideration.

Dumb to punish problem solvers

Julie Campe wrote of some comments made by a real estate person (Sept. 19 issue) in a meeting discussing the need to hire more staff to reduce overcrowding in elementary schools in Clarkston.

This person generously suggested that administrators and teachers should relinquish recent pay raises to pay the cost of additional staff. She also said "the problem is going to be twice as bad, if not triple," because of the apartments and houses cropping up near Pine Knob El.

I must assume, if she is a successful real estate salesperson, she directly benefits from the sale of properties in the Clarkston district that produce the kids that create the overcrowding in schools.

In addition, I must assume the developers and builders also reap financial gain from the sale of those properties.

So, rather than dump on the educators, who must resolve the problem, let's dump on those who created the problem — developers, builders and real estate sale-people, who gain financially in creating the problems. Let's assess that crowd in some way to share the costs of buildings and staff resulting from the properties they produce.

I know it's pipe dreaming — I don't know how it could be done, but it sure seems dumb to punish the people who must resolve the problem by suggesting loss of pay, particularly by one who probably helped create the problem and who gained financially as a result.

Political plan costly to seniors

We all will be paying more in increased fees and taxes but our clever politicians decided not to give us the bad news until after the elections (mid-Nov.). How clever they are.

Congress is not telling us they also propose to increase spending over $27 billion more in 1991 than they did in 1990, even though we still have a huge budget deficit, not including the S and L scandal or the Saudia Arabia crisis.

Are they insane? No, they say, we will just keep socking taxes to the public, they can't do anything about it. But can we?

The elderly will be hit twice and the hardest. Let me explain. We seniors pay taxes like anyone else and want to pay our fair share, but now there is a plan to reduce Medicare benefits by $11 billion and in addition, increase the Medicare premiums from $28.60 per mo. per individual to $115 per mo. and could reach $150 per mo. based on a sliding scale for middle-income elderly. We seniors still purchase a Medigap policy (Blue Cross, etc.) as Medicare only pays 78.6% for approved procedures and charges. If some procedures are eliminated, seniors will pay out-of-pocket expenses as Medigap pays 20% of approved procedures only.

Another plan to punish the elderly is a proposed taxation plan on Social Security benefits (monthly checks). A tax increase from 46% to 57%, depending on income. Sounds to me like the Medicare catastrophic surtax is back.

But remember, Congress needs to find more dollars to reduce the budget deficit and they just can't stop spending. Is it an illness, disease or insanity?

Why can't they look right in their own offices, with a staff of 18-plus, and a budget of about $1 million each. Surely they could reduce spending of say 10%, in that area, and they, too could make a sacrifice. And what about the second half of their 50% pay raise they will receive January 1, 1991? Should they be entitled to that at this time?

What can the average citizen do about this mess? Call or write your legislator and tell him or her you want no increased spending, no increased taxes or fees. Leave our Medicare alone. If they froze spending at today's level the budget deficit would be wiped out in 2 years without increased taxes. It's that simple.

If our "leaders" who put us in this mess, will not listen then we the people must boot them all out of office come this November election.

Sincerely,
Virginia Piluras, Oxford

More lame arguments arise from pro-hunting crowd

Jim Fitzgerald

In the wake of The Great J.C. Penney Wimp-out, the weakest argument I heard from people who kill animals for fun is that my priorities are out of whack and I should stop worrying about the killing of Bambi and start worrying about the killing of innocent children in the crime-filled streets.

For two reasons, I call this the "exclusionary argument." 1) It assumes that a person must support one cause to the exclusion of all others, and 2) It excludes all use of good sense by the people who believe in it.

The exclusionary argument is used in all debates, not just Bambi vs. Macho. All anti-abortionists are accused of not caring about babies once they're born. All pro-abortionists are accused of genocide. Neither arguments holds up under the most casual scrutiny.

If I didn't have good sense, I might say hunters favor killing to the exclusion to all other options, including baseball. That's ridiculous. Also ridiculous was J.C. Penney's cave-in to pressure from pro-hunting groups upset by the meager marketing of one line of boy's clothing with an antihunting message.

Who the hell says Penney's must sell guns and other hunting gear to the exclusion of shirts that might appeal to someone who doesn't want to kill a deer for kicks? You might as well say TV sets and decent literature shouldn't be sold in the same department store.

Along with the exclusionary argument, another limp retort was that, instead of petting Bambi, I should protest the Humane Society's killing of thousands of unwanted dogs and cats. That argument completely ignores my point, which is simply that it's unfortunate anyone enjoys killing any sentient being.

Homeless dogs and cats are the product of people - and governments - too dumb-cruel-cheap to stop the rampant reproduction of domestic pets. But does the Humane Society enjoy killing kittens? Are abandoned puppies lured by bait into the gunsight of a Humane Society employee hiding in a tree?

An outdoors writer recently complained that he and many others had to travel up to 300 miles to Indiana to sit in swivel chairs and shoot doves, because Michigan doesn't allow it. (There may also be a state law against shooting sunsets.)

I'm sure these hunters made the long trip simply because they were starving for dove meat, not because they relish the power of snuffing out a life. Otherwise they would have stayed home and shot skcet.

Some of my best friends are hunters, no kidding, and I don't care if my granddaughter marries one. I think there's something to be gained from our debate, and only wish my critics would respond to what I write instead of offering irrelevant arguments concerning street crime, abandoned dogs, hunting camp fellowship, crop management, license fees, hamburgers, vegetarians, the smell of the forest and so on.

One more time: If we ever became a civilization that won't kill animals for the fun of it, maybe someday we'll quit killing people for any reason.

Probably the most informed hunter's opinion I've received came four years ago from John O. Cartier of Ludington, former editor of Outdoor Life magazine: "The responsible hunter never enjoys killing; he kills only to fulfill the purpose of the hunt. It is the one activity for which there is no substitute. There is no possible suggestion through simulation (camera instead of gun) . . . One either hunts, or one does not hunt. The situation permits no middle ground."

Buy why do something you don't enjoy? Some readers objected to my recent quoting of Henry David Thoreau: "the squirrel that you kill in jest, dies in earnest." A Southgate hunter actually retorted: "Everyone knows that squirrels have an 80 percent mortality rate every winter."

Which I answer with another quote, this one from Rachel Carson:

"We cannot have peace among men whose hearts find delight in killing any living creature."

From This Perspective

A new day dawning

Tracy King

My husband has become a fix-it fanatic. Startled, I gaze upon outside lights that have begun to glimmer. I bathe beneath a shower nozzle that positively sprays. The garbage disposal chums on command.

This is the dawn of a new day.

In our pre-old house era, tools consisted of a hammer for bug-killing and an old screw driver mixed in somewhere among the mismatched silverware.

This was a man who, when asked to hang a plant, bought seven different types of hooks just so he'd be covered.

But, like a snowball gathering speed, success has bred success and Pat is tackling tasks in triumph.

I welcome this mechanical mastery with mixed emotion. It's nice to have hot water, sure, but these accomplishments threaten a very delicate balance of household power.

A fine line of assignments has been tuned over six experimental years, each task carefully balanced with another.

I do correspondence: bills, birthdays and well-wishes. Pat does taxes and automobiles, including anything resulting from the running thereof.

I do laundry and am the only one who wipes the kitchen counter tops. Pat is the primary weekday cook.

I make the bed. Pat takes out the trash. Kitty litter has yet to be assigned.

(Of course, we the task-masters are quite different from the mysterious "someone" who lives with us, as in "someone" left the light on in the garage, and "someone" left newspapers all over the living room floor.)

(And, of course, I really do everything. I try to let Pat "pitch in" so he can, you know, feel like a man of the '90s.)

This traditional touting of the tool-belt, though, has me nervous.

Of course I wouldn't be expected to know the first thing about bolts, rivets and such. But with Pat busy fixing things, what wholesomely feminine task would I be expected to embrace?

Darning? Candle making?

If it gets much worse, I'll have to start masking the trouble spots.

("Noise? That banging, you mean? I'm sure it's nothing.")

Maybe then we can put this repair ruse to rest. And Pat can get back to real jobs.

Like vacuuming.

Man requests Boothby house bed and breakfast

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A request for a permit to run a bed and breakfast business on Main Street, Clarkston, was the reason for Bruce Farrell's appearance before the Clarkston Village Council Sept. 24.

The council referred Farrell to the planning commission.

Farrell, a Waterford Township resident, said he would like to buy the Boothby house at 180 N. Main St. and operate a bed and breakfast business.

Village Manager Artemus Pappas said Farrell was probably too late to make the Oct. 1 agenda of the planning commission, but he may want to attend anyway — the commission is facing a similar request that night.

The historical Boothby house was moved recently from the corner of White Lake Road and Dixie Highway, Independence Township, and now rests in a residentially zoned lot in the village.

Farrell said he understood that the zoning laws of the village would not allow a business to exist in a residentially zoned area, but he would like to have a permit to run a business.

"Fenton and Holly have a lot of these (bed and breakfasts)," he said.

Trustee Douglas Roeser said the council had just completed meetings concerning the Goyette Funeral Home on Main Street, in which rezoning from residential to funeral home was denied.

"We're against spot zoning," Roeser said.

Village President Sharron Catallo noted that, "He's not asking for a zoning change."

Farrell said he didn't intend for the bed and breakfast to be a gloried place to stay but a home open to traveling guests.

In the village, requests for rezonings or permits must first appear before the council, which refers the issue to the planning commission. The commission is to recommend action to the council, which makes the final decision.

Township gets tough on noise

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Watch out, skateboarders, partiers and lovers of loud music — your noise soon may be against the law.

The first reading of an amended section to the existing noise ordinance was unanimously approved by the Independence Township Board Sept. 18.

The current ordinance deals with the decibel levels of outdoor events and gatherings. The proposed amendment covers "offenses against public peace."

The proposed amendment was drawn up after township resident Mike Saint of Lakeview, Independence Township, complained of a skateboard ramp near his home that was in operation at all times of the morning and night.

His persistence spurred the township board into creating an amended section pertaining to all varieties of noise.

The second reading of the amendment — set for Tuesday, Oct. 2 — must be approved before it can be adopted.

Under the proposed amendment, the following acts will be considered unlawful:

- Operation or control of a parked or moving vehicle with sound amplification equipment producing sound audible at more than 50 feet. The township board can grant permission for people using sound equipment for reasons of meaningful expression.

- The creation of construction noise at any time prior to 7 a.m. and after sunset Monday through Saturday. On Sunday, construction noise will be limited to the hours of 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

- Noise created by domesticated birds or animals for longer than 15 minutes at a time, and audible at 50 feet from a resident's property line.

- The playing of radios, televisions, stereo equipment and musical instruments with such volume that the sound is audible at 50 feet from the property line. This provision doesn't apply to a commercial and non-commercial recreational or religious institution, with respect to noises that occur after 9 a.m. and prior to 11 p.m.

- Yelling, shouting and making other loud noises between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m., where the sounds are audible more than 100 feet from the respective property line.

- Removal of garbage before 7 a.m. and after 11 p.m.

- Unloading materials with loud vehicles between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m.

- Utilization of off-the-road vehicles such as skateboards and snowmobiles after sundown and prior to 8 a.m., where sound is audible from 50 feet of the property line.

These provisions will not apply to police, fire, ambulance or other emergency vehicles. Public evacuations are also exempt from this amendment.

According to township officials, the ordinance will be enforced by the township building department and local police.

Dam controversy heats up around Hillview Lake

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An eight-year squabble over a dam on Hillview Lake could be resolved by the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

However, the DNR has yet to wage a full investigation into the conflict, which has divided the lake's residents.

The small lake is southeast of the Baldwin and Indianwood roads intersection, bordering Independence and Orion townships.

According to James Wagner of Indianwood Road, the controversy stems from the alleged tampering of a dam in the middle of the lake. The dam controls Hillview Lake's water levels.

Wagner contends that lake residents are placing boards in the small dam, which is raising the water level.

Wagner said his subdivision, at the lower part of the lake, is being besieged by the rise in water, and the homeowners are paying the price.

"Several basements have been flooded by the excess water, and I know of seven neighbors who have had to replace their septic fields," Wagner said.

Wagner said he can tell when the boards are put in the dam because his sump pump begins to run.

Within the past couple of years, Wagner said he has removed two 6-inch and one 4-inch boards from the dam.

Nearly three weeks ago, Wagner and fellow resident Donald Salter went down to the dam to remove some recently placed boards. Once there, the two were con-

"That dam doesn't belong to anyone. I feel we have as much right to remove the boards as they have to put them in."

James Wagner

fronted by several lake residents, and a verbal confrontation ensued.

Fearing a fight, the police were called to simmer the situation.

"That dam doesn't belong to anyone," Wagner said. "I feel we have as much right to remove the boards as they have to put them in."

Lake resident Edward George of Hillview Shores was one of the residents involved in the verbal confrontation on Sept. 8. He refused to discuss the incident or the problems revolving around the dam.

Wagner said the homeowner's association has told the upper lake residents to refrain from putting boards in the dam, but they refuse to comply.

Wagner said the DNR has sent him a letter stating that the boards are in violation of the DNR's Inland Lakes and Streams Act. When asked how much assistance the DNR has provided to the situation, Wagner said, "About as much as you can put in your eye."

Cheryl Rankin, DNR official for the Clarkston area, was unavailable to comment on the situation.

Wagner said a geological study should be done to gauge the effects of the altered lake levels.

"A study should be done to see the effects of the water levels on all homes around the lake," he said. "But until that time, I'll continue to take out the boards because they're adversely affecting my life."

Township takes messy yard complaint to court

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A homeowner has pushed the Independence Township Board to the limit.

On Sept. 18, the township board voted 5-2 to file a complaint with the Oakland County Circuit Court over a messy yard at the corner of Allen and Rattalee Lake roads. Once a complaint is filed with the court it transforms into a lawsuit.

The property is owned by Martin LaPratt. Voting yes were Supervisor Frank Ronk, Treasurer John Lutz and trustees Mel Vaara, Daniel Travis and Jean Saile. Voting no were Clerk Joan McCrary and Trustee Frank Millard.

McCrary, who lives near LaPratt's property, said LaPratt should take it upon himself to rectify the situation. She didn't think the township should spend its own money in alleviating the matter.

According to Beverly McElmeel, director of the township's building department, LaPratt has been given numerous warnings and opportunities to clean up the construction materials in the front yard.

LaPratt has been restoring the home on his property for over a year, and the strewn materials around the home have become unsightly, said McElmeel.

"Mr. LaPratt has done a good job in terms of restoring his home. It's the grounds that are in bad condition," she said. "He just wants to work at his own pace on the project. Unfortunately, it's at his neighbors' expense."

McElmeel explained to the board that LaPratt's first notification of a violation was in the fall of 1989. He was given 45 days to clean up his yard, but LaPratt didn't comply.

The township gave him another chance to clean up his yard in the latter part of 1989. However, due to the weather, they extended the second deadline to May 30, 1990.

He was ordered to grade the property, seed or sod the property and install a driveway adjacent to Allen Road.

LaPratt didn't make the May deadline, and the property remains in violation of township ordinances.

"I think we've done more than bend over backwards to help him (LaPratt) clean up this problem," said township attorney Gerald Fisher. "But it appears to be more of a hobby than a commitment for him."

"Mr. LaPratt has done a good job in terms of restoring his home. It's the grounds that are in bad condition. ... Unfortunately, it's at his neighbors' expense."

Beverly McElmeel

If the court gives the OK, the township is to contract out workers to improve the grounds.

In that scenario, LaPratt would have to pay for the work done to his property. If he didn't comply, it would be added to his tax roll.

LaPratt could not be reached for comment.

Township sets millage rates for 1991

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Independence Township Board last week established millage rates for the upcoming year.

The township's 1990 total State Equalized Value (SEV) is $491,762,900, less the Downtown Development Authority's (DDA) captured revenue, leaving $473,776,500 SEV as the base of the board's decisions.

In 1989, the township's total levy was 6.999 mills, an increase over 1988 of .0204 mill. This year's increase is 1.0192 mills. This includes the voter-approved library debt and operations of 1.35 mills plus the 1 mill police renewal. However, due to Headlee rollbacks, the increase is less than the voter approved millage.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation. The Headlee Amendment to the state constitution automatically rolls back the millage rate whenever property values increase at a rate higher than the rate of inflation.

The 1991 millage rates established by the board include:

■ General Fund millage rate at 1.1633 mills, down from the voted 1.4100, for a total levy of $551,144.

■ Fire Fund millage rate at 2.6705 mills, down from the voted 3, for a total tax levy of $1,265,220.

■ Police Fund millage rate at 2.3902 mills, down from the voted 3, for a total tax levy of $1,132,421.

■ Safety Path millage rate at .4451 mills, down from a voted 0.5, for a total special assessment levy of $210,878.

■ Library Operating millage rate at .75 mills, as voted, for a total tax levy of $355,332.

■ Library Debt millage at 0.6 mills for a total tax levy of $284,266, for the payment of general obligations tax library bonds.

The township board will conduct a public hearing on Tuesday, Oct. 2, to receive public comment relative to adoption of the township's 1991 budgets for all general and special revenue funds.

Village flag recognizes Vietnam POWs, MIAs

A new flag was raised on a temporary pole at the corner of Washington and Main streets, Clarkston, Thursday, Sept. 20.

Congress designated Friday, Sept. 21, as National POW, MIA Recognition Day; and the flag was flown throughout the weekend in commemoration of the missing soldiers.

About 2,296 veterans are still missing from the Vietnam War, and 73 of those missing are from Michigan. About 8,300 soldiers are also missing from the Korean War.

Clarkston Village Manager Artemus Pappas said the post is temporary because the large flag pole, holding the flags of the United States and the state of Michigan, does not function properly.

Day dedicated to fire instruction

Firefighters from Independence Township are helping in a Fire Prevention Day at the Palace of Auburn Hills Monday, Oct. 8.

Set for 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., the admission is free, as is parking, said Independence Township Fire Chief Gar Wilson.

The prevention day is ideal for school groups, as well as club members, scouting troops or families.

People who show up will have a chance to learn about fire prevention as well as see the Palace for free, said Wilson, adding that food will be sold at concession stands.

Featured during the day will be fire trucks, equipment, demonstrations, EMS equipment, survival helicopter, repelling off the Palace walls, Smokey the Bear and Sparky the Dog.

A fire safety house may also be in operation, so people can practice fire escape and learn about fires, said Wilson.

Hosted by the Auburn Hills Fire Department, firefighters from the following communities will be participating: Bloomfield Township, Orion Township, Pontiac, Rochester, Rochester Hills, Troy, Waterford Township, Independence Township and Selfridge.

In addition, county and statewide groups and emergency groups will be there, as will be equipment suppliers and representatives from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital and the University of Michigan Burn Center.

For more information, call the Independence Township Fire Department at 625-1924.

New ordinance requires photo in township files

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An amendment to better protect homeowners from negligent solicitors was unanimously approved by the Independence Township Board Sept. 18.

The present ordinance requires prospective solicitors to obtain a permit before conducting any type of sales in the township.

The added amendment mandates that all potential solicitors provide a picture identification card when applying for a township permit. The picture will be photo-tion is the growing number of solicitors gaining entry to the township.

According to township Supervisor Frank Ronk, 1,000 permits were distributed to salespeople last year.

Presently, all solicitors are required to wear a township-submitted badge for identification purposes.

Township Clerk Joan McCrary sees the amendment as a benefit to the township, as well as the homeowner.

"With everyone's photo on file, we'll know exactly who we're dealing with," she said. "And if some type of problem ever arises, we'll have a picture on the person at our disposal."

"Probably the best advice we can give the community is to ask a salesman for his I.D. badge," McCrary said. "That way you know he or she's legitimate."

copied and accompany the person's written application in the township files.

This amendment was proposed on the request of Sgt. Joe Quisenberry of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

According to Quisenberry, a few incidents spurred his appeal, including a case of criminal sexual conduct that occurred nearly two weeks ago.

On Sept. 11, a 17-year-old girl was assaulted by a man posing as a door-to-door salesman. The man gained entry to the home, acting as jewelry salesman, and assaulted the girl.

Clawson Tank nets abatement

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clawson Tank owner Robert Harding was granted only 10 years of tax abatement for his industrial complex by the Springfield Township Board, though he requested 12 years.

On Sept. 13, Harding requested a tax abatement for the $2.3 million worth of improvements he has made constructing a new building on a 147-acre parcel on White Lake and Andersonville roads.

Industrial businesses are eligible for a 50 percent reduction in property taxes for 12 years, contingent upon township board approval.

The board voted 5-2 to grant 10 years of tax abatement. Voting yes were Supervisor Collin Walls, Clerk J. Calvin Walters and trustees Charles Oaks, Dennis Vallad and Margaret Bloom. Voting against the abatement were Treasurer Lois Stiles and Trustee Nancy Strole.

"In my view, tax abatements have not achieved what they were intended to do," Strole said. "They are limited to a select few, and none of the commercial businesses benefit — only the industrial businesses."

Strole compared tax abatements to "robbing from Peter to pay Paul."

Stiles said she did not have a good experience with tax abatements.

Though Oaks voted for the tax abatement, he said he's not in favor of the concept and would like to get rid of tax abatements altogether.

"As a small businessman I didn't get a break," said

Oaks, who owns the gas station in downtown Davisburg. The Clawson Tank building is expected to be completed in November, Harding said.

Currently about 140 people are employed at Clawson Tank, and Harding anticipates that the new building will bring an increase of 20 more employees over a two-year period, he said.

Harding requested 12 years of tax abatement because it could help draw other businesses into the area, he said.

His new complex has space for other businesses; however, each business must appear before the township board to receive a tax abatement.

"We will do more for the community with this kind of tax base," Harding said, after the motion was made for 10 years of tax abatement.

Harding asked the board to reconsider 12 years before the final vote.

"We have no water and sewer," he said. "We need to put some bait out there."

But Harding was grateful to the board in the end.

"Thanks for what I got," he said. "I wish it could have been more."

Practicing precision

Clarkston High School Band members will take to the CHS playing field in full uniform on Saturday, Sept. 29.

The band is to give an exhibition performance at the end of the Clarkston Invitational Marching Band Contest.

The evening performances of 12 bands begins with opening ceremonies at 5:30 p.m.

Performing in Flight III — for bands with up to 70 members — are Algonac, Eisenhower, Grand Blanc and Flat Rock Carlson. In Flight II — for bands with 71-110 members — are Clio, Lakeview, Lamphere, Lake Orion, Livonia Franklin and Dondero.

In Flight I — for bands of 110 or more members — are Novi and Troy Athens.

CHS performs exhibition style at the end of the contest because the host school does not compete.

Awards will be presented at the end of the evening's competition.

Wolves blank Mott, get fired up for Dragons

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dan Griffiths 220, Waterford Mott 80.

That wasn't a final score and no, they haven't named a school after the Clarkston junior running back, but last Friday Griffiths ran for 220 yards while the Corsairs totaled 80 on offense in the Wolves 28-0 victory on a rain-drenched field at Mott.

The Wolves dominated the game, getting 22 first downs while Mott could only manage two.

The win gives Clarkston a 3-1 overall record and 2-0 mark in the Greater Oakland Activities League, setting up a key match-up this Friday at 7 p.m. in the Pontiac Silverdome against defending league champ Lake Orion.

"Dan Griffiths and the offensive line pretty much controlled the whole game," said Clarkston head coach Kurt Richardson, adding that he thought his Wolves showed "real improvement" against the Corsairs.

Richardson said when the season started, he wasn't exactly sure what to expect from Griffiths, who ran for over 1,000 yards in JV action last season.

"We didn't know how tough he was going to be, but he's more than proven himself," said Richardson.

The Clarkston coach said his senior "hogs" on the line have also proven themselves. Just ask opposing defensive players with mud and grass stains on their backs.

Those helping Griffiths find daylight are center Joe Webb, guards Damon Michelsen and Todd Conklin, tackles Kurt Golarz and Aaron Harrison and tight end Dereck Raymond.

After Clarkston stopped Mott on its first series of downs, the Wolves drove from mid-field with Griffiths eventually scoring from 1-yard out. Sure-footed David Marks kicked the PAT.

Halfback Matt Howe increased the Wolves' lead in the second quarter by scoring a 2-yard TD after another long, time-consuming drive. Marks kicked the PAT for a 14-0 lead which stood until halftime.

Clarkston put the game out of reach with two touchdowns in the third quarter. Howe scored a 1-yard touchdown (Marks kicked the PAT).

The Wolves' final score came after Griffiths ran 65 yards, lunged towards the goal line and fumbled. Clarkston wide receiver Brian Davis' effort of pursuing the action paid off as he fell on the loose ball for the touchdown. Marks again kicked the PAT.

A few other touchdown drives were stopped by Clarkston fumbles. The Wolves fumbled five times during the rainy night, losing three.

All of Mott's yards came on the ground, with the Corsairs completing none of their seven passes.

Wolf quarterback Dugan Fife completed six of nine passes for 96 yards. Jon Wyniemo caught two passes for 43 yards, Chris Figa grabbed three for 28 and Raymond caught one for 25.

In addition to Griffiths, Howe totaled 46 yards rushing on 11 carries, Brian Davis carried three times for 11, Jeff Newlon ran four times for 11, Steve Black carried once for 4 and Fife ran once for minus-3.

Adam Kirk recovered a fumble for the Wolves and neither team threw an interception.

Linebacker Michelsen led the Clarkston defense with eight tackles and three assists and linebacker Joel Davis hauled down five Corsairs and assisted on four. Webb also had three tackles and Raymond, Mike Moller and Craig Garnett each had two.

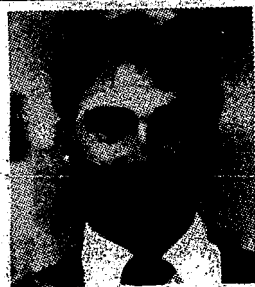

Richardson said his players are looking forward to the experience of playing in the Silverdome. He said one of the keys of the game will be to stop Lake Orion running back Jim Vackaro.

Richardson said one benefit of playing in the Silverdome is, "It takes away the home field advantage. We'll have as many fans there as them." (The game was originally supposed to be played at Lake Orion but some damaged bleachers at the Dragons' field caused the switch.)

Another benefit is that playing inside the dome removes one obstacle in their passing attack.

"It takes away a rainy night and us not throwing the ball," said Richardson.

Richardson and his team know it won't be raining cats and dogs, but they especially hope it won't be raining Dragons.

Guest column

Grassless gridiron memories

Deja vu.

That's how I felt when I learned the Clarkston High School football team was to play conference powerhouse Lake Orion in the Pontiac Silverdome.

You see, I had a similar experience seven years ago, as a senior on the Lapeer East football team. We were scheduled to play Lake Orion in a non-conference game at the dome.

Needless to say, the only time I had ever been to the Silverdome was to watch the Lions play. Our game was part of a prep double header that evening, and anticipation was running high. We had looked impressive in our opening season win against Imlay City High, and we were looking to strut our stuff in Pontiac.

I kept thinking, I'm going to play on the same field as my football idol, Billy Sims. Boy, this is going to great!

As far as I know, Lake Orion was our high school's first-ever contest against a GOAL opponent. Scouting reports indicated that the Dragons had a stifling defense and a college-sized backfield. At that time, the Dragons' offense ran from the "full-house" formation, and all three running backs averaged 210 pounds. Those three backs alone weighed as much as the front three of our defensive line.

I remember stepping out of the visitor's tunnel, and the enormity of the stadium was the first thing that hit me. Despite the sparse crowd of 400 people, I was "geeked" by the moment.

Unfortunately, this was also our team's first experience with Astro Turf.

Astro Turf is nothing more than a thin layer of carpet over a field of cement. Like the sirens of mythology, its attractiveness can lull you into submission then drag you down into a world of hurt.

Prior to the game, I had purchased some turf shoes for $15, and the speed of the turf's surface felt much like that of a track. I felt like quicksilver just running practice routes, but so did everybody else.

However, once the game started the turf became a flesh-eating monster. Being tackled on Astro Turf is not a pleasing experience because there is no "give" like a grass-covered field. No wonder so many pro players' careers are cut short on this stuff, I remembered thinking.

I also remember catching a short swing pass, late in the second quarter, then getting nailed by two defenders. It wasn't the blow that hurt, but the rugburn, which extend from my wrist to my elbow. I hadn't considered wearing arm pads or long sleeves for the game, and it came back to haunt me.

We had about three players go out with injuries during the course of the game. One of our starting defensive backs contracted "turf toe" late in the game. The painful expression on his face made you want to run flat-footed the rest of the contest.

Well, Lake Orion beat us 21-0, but the game was much closer than the score indicated. The only battle left was to see who got to the team whirlpool first, back at the high school.

Despite the loss, the game was probably my most memorable. For two hours, our team knew how it felt to play under the smoke-filled, Teflon-covered roof of the Silverdome.

Good luck on Friday, Clarkston. But keep in mind, the meanest thing on the field that day might not be your opponents in green, but the green you tread upon.

Netters go after GOAL

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston girls' tennis team has won three of its last four league matches and it did well at the Hartland Invitational.

Clarkston 6, Pontiac Northern 1 (Sept. 24 at Clarkston)

Clarkston won four matches outright, won two others by default and gave a battle in its only loss as the Wolves downed Pontiac Northern 6-1.

The victory upped Clarkston's overall record to 5-3 and 5-2 in the Greater Oakland Activities League. Northern dropped to 0-6 in the GOAL.

Northern's Cindy Bui won the lone match for the Huskies in No. 1 singles by edging Kristy Swartout, 7-6 (7-3), 6-4.

In No. 2 singles, Caroline Allison blasted Pam Sandhu 6-1, 6-1. No. 3 seed

Heather Shaw topped Jasmine Burnett 6-2, 6-4 and Becky Rumph was credited with a win in No. 4 singles after a default. In doubles play, the No. 1 team of Kate Morris-Amanda VanKlaveren easily got past Brett Verhellen-Gue Yang 6-1, 6-0 and Jessica Miller-Tracey Ortwine won with the same 6-1, 6-0 score over Stephanie Ramos-Rose Foster in No. 2 action. Melissa O'Dea-Buffy Deuel were credited with a win in No. 3 by default.

Hartland Invitational (Sept. 22 at Hartland)

Allison, a junior, won all three of her matches to win the No. 2 singles division of the Hartland Invitational.

Each player competed in three matches during day-long action Saturday.

Fenton took first place in team competition, East Lansing's JV squad was second and Clarkston came close behind those two teams. Eight teams took part in the Wolves' division.

Miller won two matches to place second in No. 4 singles. Shaw won two to place third as did the No. 2 doubles team of Morris-VanKlaveren.

Swartout won one match for seventh, the same fate as the No. 3 doubles team of Rumph-Kim Carpentier.

The No. 1 doubles team of Ortwine-Frauke Winkel defaulted because of an injury to Winkel.

Lake Orion 5, Clarkston 2 (Sept. 20 at Clarkston)

Allison and Shaw's victories gave the Wolves a split in singles action, but Clarkston was blasted in all three doubles for a 5-2 Dragon victory.

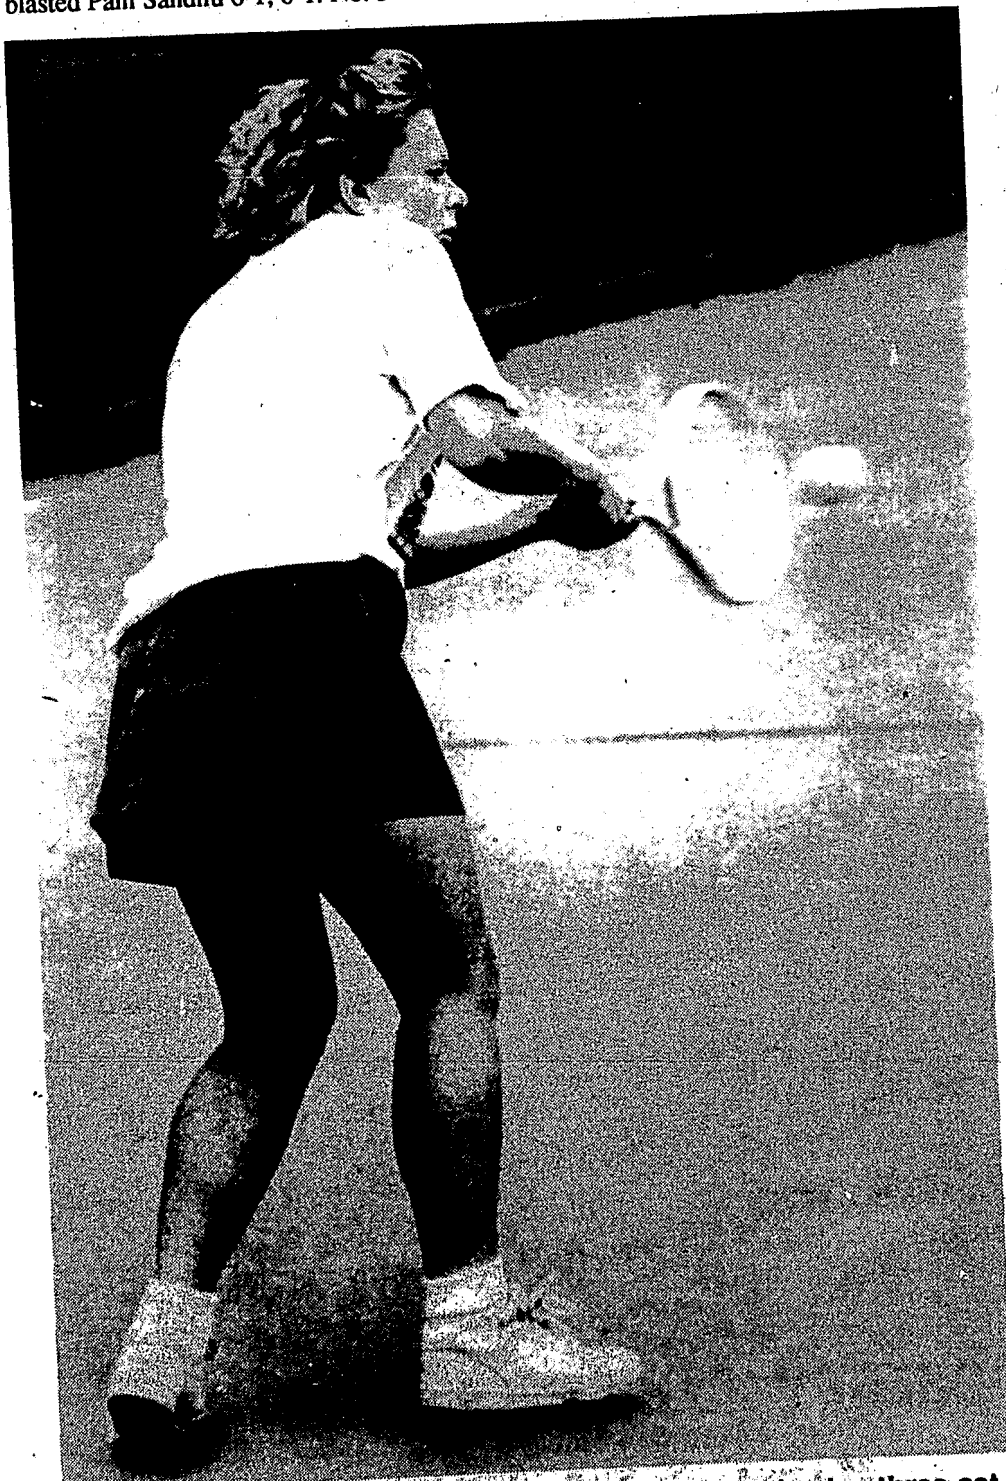

Allison topped Kyna Getsinger 6-4, 6-4 to win in No. 2 singles and teammate Shaw edged Holly Daily in a long 4-6, 6-4, 7-5 duel. Shaw's win was especially satisfying for the junior because up until that match, Daily was the only player this season to defeat her.

Lake Orion's Kristen Plunkett earned a double-bagel job 6-0, 6-0 in stopping Swartout for a win in No. 1 singles. In No. 4 singles, Dragon Stacy Zoellner blanked Miller 6-0 in the first set and then held in a second-set tiebreaker 7-6 (7-5).

In doubles, No. 1 Krista Peterson-Jenny Zimmer topped Ortwine-Winkel 6-1, 6-0; No. 2 Paula Mejta-Michelle Bendel stopped Morris-Van Klaveren 6-1, 6-1; No. 3 Pam Simmons-Kim Leidike also had a 6-0, 6-0 double bagel against Deuel-O'Dea.

TRACEY ORTWINE lunges for a volley in doubles action against Lake Orion.

HEATHER Shaw blasts a two-handed backhand during her three-set victory over Lake Orion's Holly Daily.

Clarkston 6, Waterford Mott 1 (Sept. 17 at Mott)

The Wolves swept all four singles matches and two of three doubles to rout Mott, 6-1.

Swartout, a freshman, topped Danielle Thomas 6-2, 6-3 in No. 1 singles. No. 2 Allison got past Stephanie Lacey 6-2, 6-4. No. 3 Shaw defeated Shannon Simpson 6-3, 6-0 and No. 4 Miller had no problem with Wendy Brandon 6-1, 6-0.

In doubles, the No. 1 team of Winkel-Ortwine consistently defeated Jeni Bowser-Carly Lyon 6-3, 6-3. No. 3 O'Dea-Deuel had the most exciting match of the day, edging Sarah Heineman-Kara Sidwell 7-6 (7-5), 3-6, 6-2. The Corsairs No. 2 team of Chris Jozwiak-Angie Schell stopped Rumph-VanKlaveren 6-0, 6-2.

Clarkston 6, Waterford Kettering 1 (Sept. 14 at Clarkston)

Clarkston won two three-set matches en route to a 6-1 victory over visiting Kettering.

In No. 3 singles, Shaw turned back Liz Fuller 6-2, 4-6, 6-2 and in No. 3 doubles Carpentier-O'Dea outlasted Kim Peterson-Cassandra Sparkman 6-2, 2-6, 6-2.

In other singles action, No. 2 Allison defeated Kelly Baker 6-0, 6-4 and No. 4 Miller stopped Karyn Crabtree 6-2, 6-4. Nikki Bejin picked up the lone victory for the Captains by blanking Swartout 6-0 in the first set and then holding on 7-6 (7-4) in the second.

The No. 1 doubles team of Ortwine-Winkel crushed Dawn Gidcumb-Gwen Smith 6-1, 6-1 and No. 2 doubles VanKlaveren-Morris got past Heather Allison-Ivane Gallegly 6-2, 6-3.

Swinging from the heels

Swishing sisters

Can you imagine the wonderful 1-on-1 basketball games the McChesney sisters must have?

"We're pretty even," says Jennifer.

And being teen-age sisters, there are other 1-on-1 games off the court. Jennifer using her quickness to get into the shower first, Alyson pivoting and getting her foot in the bathroom door to get ready for school. And don't forget that jump ball about who gets control of the telephone.

Like it or not, bathrooms have always brought families closer together. But something else has even brought them closer together.

"Basketball has helped bring us together," said Jennifer.

"I look up to her," said Alyson about her older sister. "She has made me have a more intense attitude about sports."

While the sisters may win some and lose some at their house, they are both well above .500 when they team up for Clarkston basketball.

The McChesneys, 40 percent of the starting five, are a big reason why the Wolves are currently 4-1 (as of press time). And Jennifer, a 5-foot, 5-inch senior, three-year starter, and all-Greater Oakland County Activities League selection, was a big reason why the Wolves were 18-2 last season. Alyson, now a 5-foot, 8-inch sophomore, looks as if she, too, will be a three-year starter when her high school career is over. She gained some valuable experience last season by making varsity as a freshman.

"They're very dedicated, hard-working, very coachable and knowledgeable about how to play the game," said varsity coach Larry Mahrle about the sisters. Mahrle adds that they are enjoyable to have in practice and are good examples of the types of student-athletes the girls' basketball program loves to have.

Both girls have also competed in AAU basketball.

Jennifer, who has a special interest in math and engineering and is thinking about attending Miami of Ohio, has a grade point average of 3.7. Alyson, who likes science, has a 3.86.

On the court so far, both have been averaging about 13 points and five rebounds per game.

Alyson's strengths are her jumping ability and inside game, pivoting from anywhere on the paint.

"She has great individual offensive moves," said Mahrle.

Jennifer is the complete player with a smooth outside shot, sometimes connecting from 3-point range. She is a true guard but this season has played strongly in both the front and back court. Mahrle feels comfortable wherever she is on the court and calls her "a great passer who reads the flow of a game well."

Jennifer, who calls her younger sister "more shy" than herself, admits she can "read" her sister a little better than anyone else.

The two athletes, who team up in the spring for varsity softball, like the way the team has been playing this season and the Wolves' new pressing defense.

"We have a well-rounded team. This year has been going better than I thought it would," said Jennifer about a young team which lost two big all-GOAL starters in Rhonda Jokisch and Susan McKoin. "Our defense keeps us in the ball game."

When goals are discussed, neither one can avoid using the word "team."

"I don't like to look at individual stats," said Jennifer. "I just try to make the team better."

Alyson said, "My goal is to play 100 percent every game. And never give up for the team."

The two are varsity Wolves but they almost were varsity Captains, moving from the Waterford Kettering school district about five years ago. Both have friends at Kettering and sometimes those friends are met on the court or softball diamond.

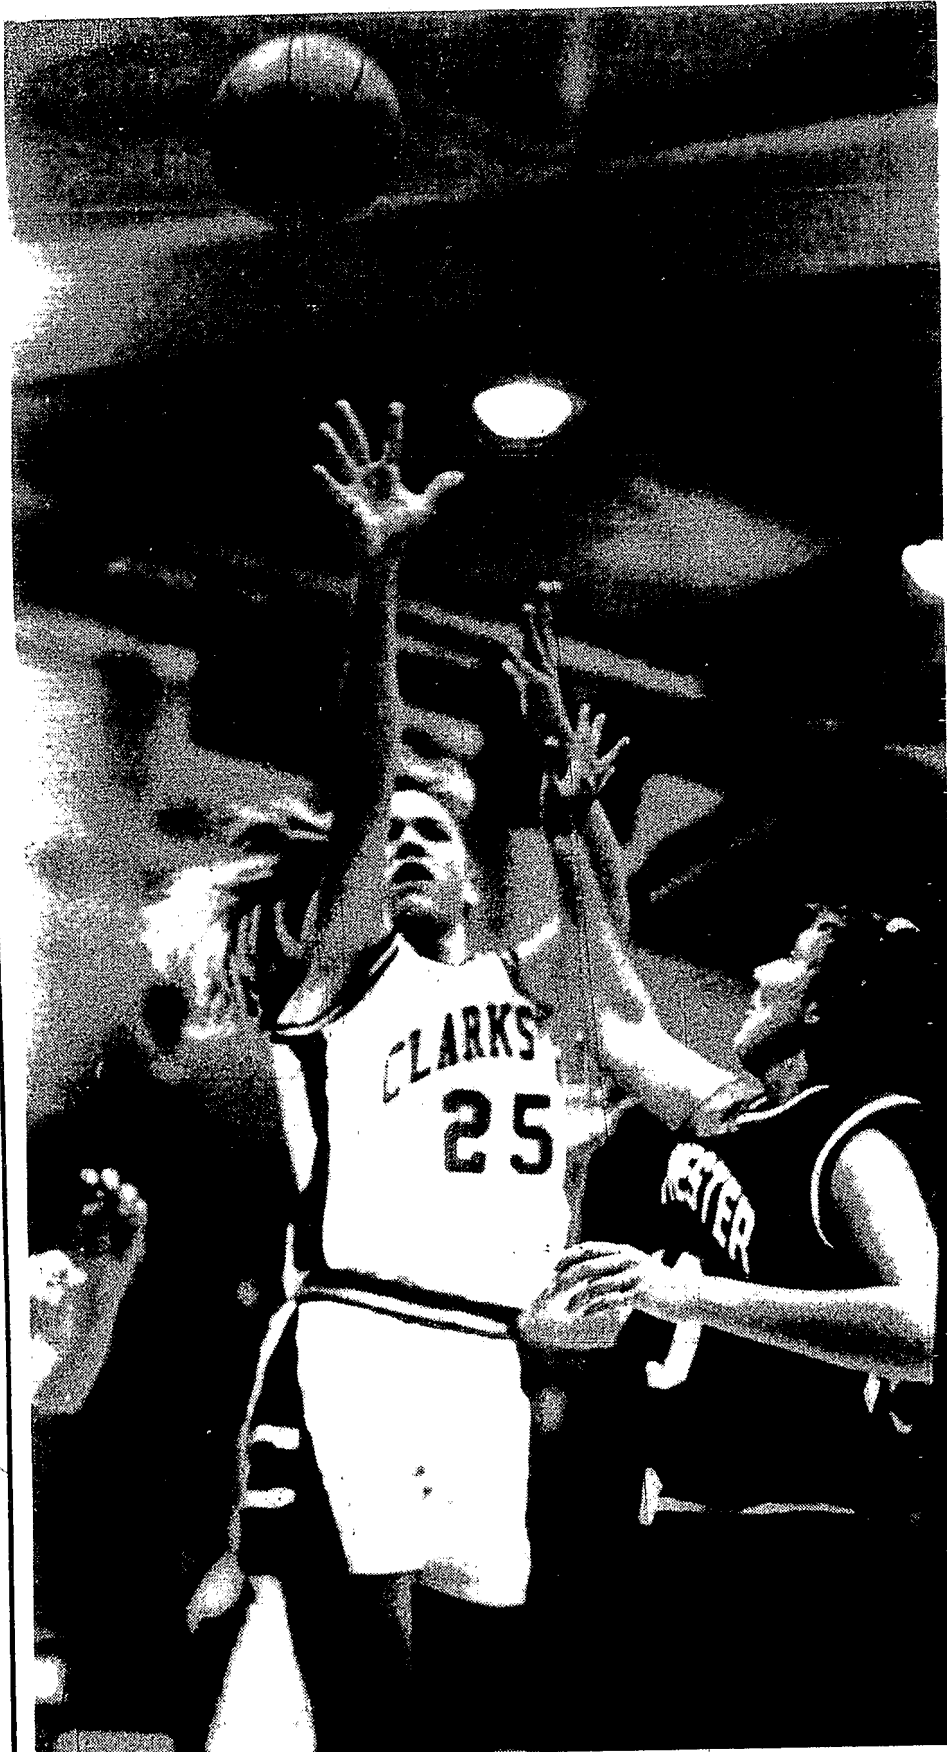

One battle between friends Jennifer especially looks forward to is with Kettering's Jennifer Land. The two will meet each other on the Clarkston court Sept. 27 and again at Kettering Oct. 23.

Alyson and Jennifer received their competitive genes from their parents, and David McChesney, both competitors in tennis and swimming.

No doubt, coach Mahrle, new schoolmates, teammates and neighbors in Clarkston are glad the McChesneys moved here.

An extra bathroom and phone would have made things a little more convenient.

But all is forgiven because of the addition of the basketball hoop on the garage.

SOPHOMORE Alyson McChesney most likely will become a three-year starter like her older sister.

JENNIFER McChesney is again playing the type of basketball to earn herself all-GOAL recognition.

Rochester doesn't turn over for Wolves

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dorothy said, "There's no place like home," but she was only half right when it came to the Clarkston girls' basketball team.

After being mostly on the road at the beginning of the season, the Wolves last week finally played on their home court, getting past Grand Blanc but losing to a tough Rochester squad.

Rochester 54, Clarkston 43
(Sept. 20 at Clarkston)

The Wolves hurt themselves with 27

turnovers (mostly stolen passes) as Rochester broke Clarkston's 4-game winning streak in a 54-43 non-league win.

Some hot shooting by Clarkston's Jennifer McChesney helped the Wolves take an early 11-4 lead, but the Falcons ended the first quarter with a 15-14 advantage.

Rochester coach Tom Hawes then had his team go into a diamond-and-one defense from the second quarter on, always having one player and sometimes two covering Jennifer McChesney. The strategy worked as the senior scored about the same amount of points in the last three quarters as she did in the opening quarter.

She finished with 14 points.

Rochester, 6-0, outscored the Wolves 11-6 in the second quarter to take a 26-20 halftime lead.

In addition to putting the skids on all-leaguer McChesney, the Falcons didn't have too many problems breaking the Clarkston press. The Wolves, 5-2, have given nearly all of their other opponents fits with a full-court press.

The Falcons went ahead 38-30 after three quarters and the Wolves never got closer than eight points away in the final quarter.

Heather Steinhelper and Jennifer McChesney both scored 14 for the Wolves, Alyson McChesney totaled 11 points and eight rebounds and Beth Walker scored four.

Molly Burr and Kathy Morrison each poured in 16 points for Rochester and Heather Lange had a season-high 11.

The Falcons were busier all night at the free throw line, sinking 20 of 27 (74 percent). Clarkston made 12 of 17 (71 percent).

Rochester made it a sweep by winning the JV game, 50-20.

Clarkston 42, Grand Blanc 34
(Sept. 18 at Clarkston)

Clarkston held Grand Blanc to only 20 points in the first three quarters en route to a 42-34 non-league victory.

The Wolves 12-7 after the first quarter, 23-12 at the half and 38-20 after three. A 14-4 Grand Blanc fourth quarter still put the visitors short.

Jennifer McChesney finished with 16 and Courtney Whittaker had eight. Alyson McChesney scored six, Carrie Roeser, Walker and Steinhelper each had four.

Ann Hollar was the only Grand Blanc player in double-figures with 12.

Clarkston also won the JV game, 33-31.

HEATHER Steinhelper concentrates on a free throw against Rochester.

CARRIE Roeser flips the ball to a teammate during action against Rochester.

Cyclists fall for colors

A good way to see the changing fall colors would be to see the colorful back roads while riding a bike.

Kinetic Systems and the Flying Rhino Cycling Club will help give anyone that opportunity Sunday, Oct. 14, as they sponsor the Back 40 Ride, rides (not races) through scenic north Oakland County back roads.

Cyclists can choose from three different rides on dirt road routes. The A Ride is 15 miles of flat to rolling roads; the B Ride is 26 miles of rolling to hilly roads; the C Ride is 40 miles of rolling to hilly and somewhat challenging roads.

In all three rides, traffic density is low.

Cyclists may either register the day of the event and pay $15 or pre-register and pay $12. To pre-register, send a check and letter postmarked by Oct. 5 to: Kinetic Systems, Flying Rhino Back 40 Ride, 60 S. Main, Clarkston, MI 48346-1354. Make checks payable to the Flying Rhino Cycling Club.

Registration and the starting point of the race will take place at Clarkston High School. Registration opens 7:30 a.m. and closes at 10:30 a.m. Those involved with the A Ride and B Ride can start their ride any time between 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Cyclists in the C Ride must begin by 9 a.m.

Fees include a 100 percent cotton T-shirt, road maps, sag service and light refreshments.

It is suggested that riders bring water bottles. Sag service ends at 3 p.m., riders may finish later on their own time. Bikes should be in good working order. Cyclists should wear a helmet when riding.

For more information, call Robert Linden at 625-7000.

In good hands

Youth players get in free

Youth soccer players will now be able to see the big guys play for free.

Any player who participates on a recreational soccer league through the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department is invited to attend Clarkston JV and varsity boys soccer matches for free.

Team members wearing their recreational uniforms will be allowed into the matches free of charge.

Future home matches will be: Oct. 1 against Flint Southwestern (JV at 5 p.m., varsity at 7 p.m.); Oct. 11 against Waterford Mott (JV at 5 p.m., varsity at 7 p.m.); Oct. 16 against Valley of Grand Blanc (JV at 4 p.m.); Oct. 18 against Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes (JV at 3 p.m.); Oct. 18 against Oxford (varsity at 5 p.m.); Oct. 19 against Holly (varsity at 5 p.m.).

A few swings make big difference for golfers

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two Clarkston varsity golf league matches were decided by a total of three swings in recent Greater Oakland Activities League action.

The Wolves defeated Waterford Kettering 184-185 and were edged by Lake Orion 172-174. The split, coupled with a victory over Brandon, gives Clarkston a 4-2 GOAL record.

Clarkston 181, Brandon 197
(Sept. 21 at Spring Lake CC)

The third time was a charm for Clarkston golfers against Brandon. After two rainouts of previous matches, the two teams finally got a round of golf in, despite more rain.

Clarkston's Jason Head was medalist with a 43. It was the third straight time a Wolf golfer was medalist. Teammate Mike Brown fired a 44, Jason Jarvis had a 46 and Dave Studt had a 48.

Aaron Elowsky shot the best round for Brandon with a 47. John Alban had a 48, Andy Okalovitch and Ryan Johnson each finished with a 51.

Lake Orion 172, Clarkston 174
(Sept. 20 at Spring Lake CC)

Lake Orion finished stronger on the last hole to edge the Wolves by two strokes.

The Dragons shot three pars and a bogie on the last hole while Clarkston finished with one par, two bogies and one double-bogie.

Clarkston's Derek Bildstein earned medalist honors with a 41. Teammates Head and Jarvis each shot 44s and Studt totaled 45.

Lake Orion's Todd Sherwood fired a 42, Pat Marcus and Mark Bellanger each had a 43 and Terry Gromacki shot a 44.

Clarkston 170, Oxford 180
(Sept. 19 at Oxford Hills)

Medalist Jason Head paced Clarkston with a 37, helping Clarkston to a 10-stroke victory over Oxford in non-league play.

In addition, Bildstein shot a 41 for the Wolves. Studt fired a 45 and Jarvis finished with 47.

Kevin Szydliek topped the hosts with a 42, Trew Stransky had a 43, Matt Hale a 45 and Doug Mertz a 50.

Clarkston 184, Kettering-185
(Sept. 18 at Spring Lake CC)

Clarkston coach Jim Chamberlain wasn't pleased with the stroke total of his players, but the Wolves still managed to edge visiting Waterford Kettering, 184-185.

"We were 20 strokes over what we should be," said Chamberlain.

Kettering's Mike Morgan, with a 44, edged out Clarkston's Studt (a 45) for the medalist title.

Brown and Nathan Pomeroy each shot 46s for the Wolves and teammate Pete Luster had a 47.

Other Captain golfers were Matt Couture with a 45, Mike Ritchie had a 47 and Tom Hughes finished at 49.

Milford 176, Clarkston 206
(at Dunham Hills in Milford)

"I'm glad it's over," said Clarkston coach Chamberlain about his team's highest stroke total of the season, 206.

Chamberlain and Milford coach Jim Koresky both agreed that the pin placement on sides of several hilly greens were tough. Koresky said it was the toughest he had ever seen them placed at the Dunham Hills course.

Milford's Darren O'Brien did the best job of combating the greens, earning medalist honors with a 40. Teammates Jerry Mueller and Aaron Johnson both fired 45s and Willis Bullard had a 46. All four Milford golfers placed ahead of the best Clarkston score.

Luster shot a 47 for the Wolves, Studt had a 47 and Brown and Pomeroy each had a 55.

Kickers shut out

The Clarkston boys' varsity soccer team continues to look for some offensive punch, getting shut out in two matches.

Royal Oak Kimball 1, Clarkston 0
(Sept. 29 at Royal Oak)

Host Royal Oak Kimball scored the match's only goal in the second half for the 1-0 victory.

"We could have pulled this one out," said Wolf coach Neil Granlund, in reference to two Clarkston shots which nearly found the net, one hitting the side post and another bouncing off the top crossbar.

With the non-league loss, the Wolves dropped to 2-7 overall.

Ironically, the Wolves put a little more pressure on the Royal Oak goalkeeper than what the hosts offense did to Clarkston. Royal Oak's goalie made 10 saves while Wolf goalkeeper Scott Strawsburg stopped eight shots.

Lake Orion 3, Clarkston 0
(Sept. 21 at Clarkston)

The Dragons applied constant heavy pressure on Clarkston goalkeeper Strawsburg and it paid off in a 3-0 victory.

The match was played in Clarkston under rainy and slippery conditions.

Lake Orion took a 1-0 lead into intermission of the match between the two Greater Oakland Activities League foes.

The Dragons scored twice in the second half to wrap it up.

Strawsburg made 24 saves in goal while his Dragon counterpart stopped 10 Wolf shots.

The loss dropped Clarkston's GOAL record to 1-2.

Field finale

Local athletes run sweetly at Hershey

Thirty Clarkston-area athletes competed in 42 different events at the Hershey Track and Field Michigan State Finals in Howell July 13.

The 13-14 year-old 400 meter relay team of Kelly Raup, Derenda Howard, Mary Forbes and Jill Attaman took first with a 55.06 finish. (The time later proved to be second best in an 8-state region, with Illinois finishing at 54.8. The Illinois relay team later won the national finals).

Leah Scharl also took first in the 1600 meter run for 13-14 year-old girls, bringing the tape at 5:49.6, 30 yards ahead of the pack.

Placing second were: (11-12 girls 400-relay team Leah Howard, Becky Moore, Jamie Symons, Nicole Bauer 59.77)

Placing third were: Jacob Haidux (13-14, 1600 run, 5:26); Jill Attaman (13-14, 100 dash, 13.57).

Placing fourth were: (13-14 boys 400-relay team of Kevin Findley, Marc Moore, Matt Wenger, John Zamora, 53:84).

Placing fifth were: Becky Moore (11-12, 200 dash, 30.59).

Placing sixth were: Kelly Sadler (13-14, 800-run, 2:45.5); (9-10 boys 400-relay team of Jonathan Burklow, Adam Lecch, Clint Powell, Josh Lafferty, 1:07.2).

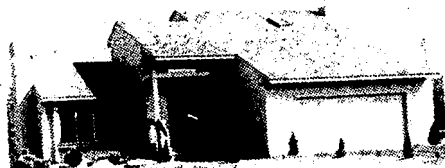

Other local athletes competing at the state meet were: Alaina Dodds, Jennifer Bauc, Jeremy Lafferty, Mindi Thompson, Brian Ginn, Janae Fonseca, Jason Monroc, Chris Evans, Nicole Fonseca, Stephanie Burklow, Erin Hearn.

The team, sponsored by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, was coached by Gene Attaman and assisted by Jack Leech. The athletes trained for a month before the state meet. About two weeks before the state meet, a local meet was held, with first-place finishers at that meet qualifying for the state meet.

Volunteer participation from 68 Michigan cities, townships, counties, YMCA, community education or recreation departments makes the program possible for the 9-14 year olds competing at the Hershey foods-sponsored meet.

Wolves ran to four of the top five places to give the Clarkston boys' cross-country team a lopsided 22-36 victory over Pontiac Northern Sept. 18 on the Husky course in warm, sunny conditions.

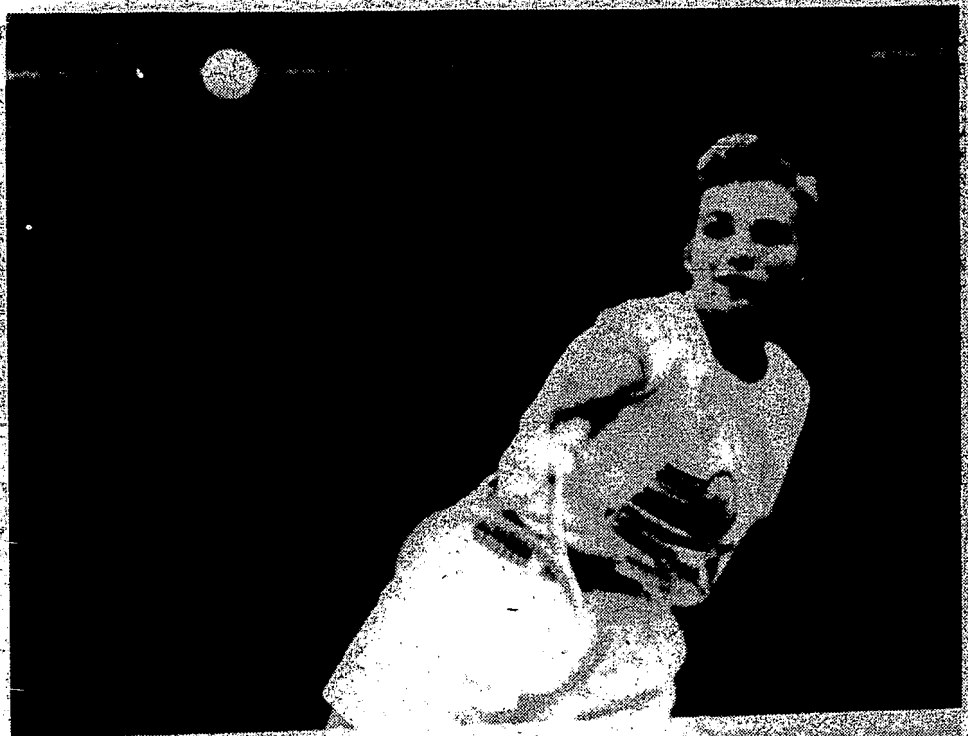

The Huskies only had one girl running (Jodi Cross took fourth) as the Clarkston girls' team easily won.

Northern's Dionne Finney edged Clarkston's Jim Haviland for first place. Finney crossed the finish line at 17:31 and Haviland arrived at 17:33.

Clarkston's Todd Wozniak took third (17:42), Wolf Jacob Kniss was fourth (18:01) and teammate Paul Brisson was fifth (18:26).

Ernest Sledge (18:48) and Micah McDonald (18:53) placed sixth and seventh, respectively, for the Huskies. Clarkston's Brad Patterson rounded out the Wolves scoring by taking eighth (18:55).

In girls' action, Clarkston freshman Angie Brown (24:30) edged freshman teammate Melissa Mutter (24:31) for first place. Amy Rayner was third (24:45), Stacey Secatch took fifth (27:25) and Sara Klopfer placed sixth (29:49).

Defense sparks JV offense

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Wolf defense set up two second quarter scores and an 85-yard kickoff return helped to launch Clarkston's JV football team to a 40-7 victory over Waterford Mott Sept. 20.

With the Wolves ahead 14-7 in the second quarter, Chris Combs recovered a fumble on the Corsairs 25 yard line. A few plays later halfback Justin Tappero scored at the 5:30 mark from three yards out for a 20-7 advantage.

About three minutes later, Dan Eby blocked a Mott punt on the Corsairs 15 yard line. Quarterback Nick Shires then connected on a 10-yard touchdown pass to Adam Rice. Matt Smith's kick for the PAT gave the Wolves a 27-7 lead at the half.

The Wolves then scored twice in the fourth quarter to put the game out of reach. Anderson found pay dirt from four yards out at the 11:51 mark and Aaron Kirk scored on a 15-yard reverse with 2:57 left. Smith kicked the PAT.

"The kids are starting to believe in themselves," said Clarkston coach John Craven, whose team upped its record to 2-1. The victory was the 100th of Craven's JV and freshman coaching career in Clarkston.

Craven praised the play of the Wolves' offensive line, tackles Steve Hunkele, Jon Roy and Scott Janssen, guards B.J. Stumph and Eby and center Jeff Tyrrell.

At the beginning of the game, it was Mott's offensive line doing most of the moving as the Corsairs scored from 20 yards out at 6:44 in the first quarter for an early 7-0 lead.

But on the ensuing kickoff, Anderson took away Mott's momentum with an 85-yard kickoff return. Smith's conversion kick tied it up.

At 9:21 in the second quarter, Jason Roughton's 3-yard touchdown run and a Smith PAT gave the Wolves a 14-7 lead. Clarkston's defense then took over to set up two straight scores.

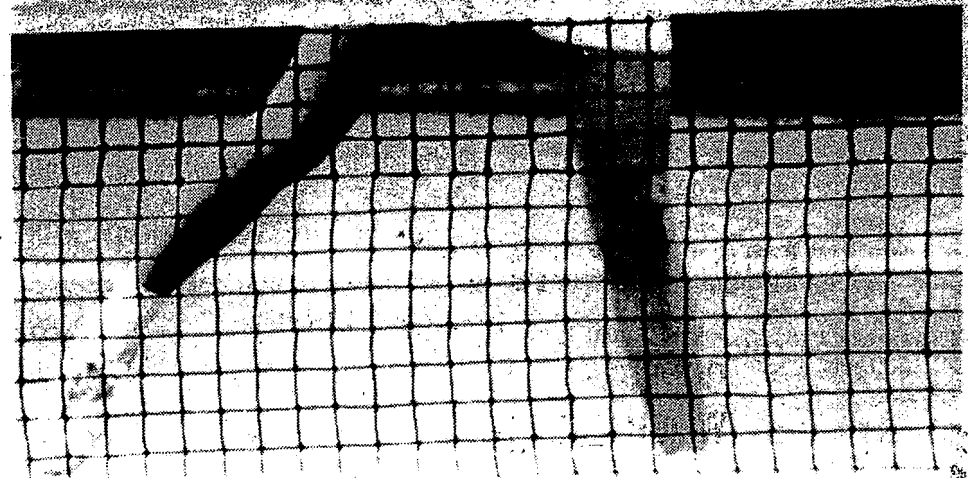

Anderson kept the Mott defense busy all night. In addition to his long kickoff return, he rushed for 143 yards on 16 carries. Tappero ran for 48 on 10 carries.

The Wolves completed three of four passes for 28 yards.

Marc May recorded 8 1/2 tackles while Matt May made seven. Each twin brother also intercepted a pass.

Anderson also made 5 1/2 tackles, Roughton recorded five and Steve Cohoon had two quarterback sacks. Combs and Janssen each recovered a fumble.

The Wolves will host Lake Orion Thursday, Sept. 27 at 6:30 p.m. It will be the last home this season for the JV squad, which will go on the road for its last four games.

Recreation Roundup

VOLLEYBALL MIXERS

Those interested in playing co-rec volleyball for fun and exercise will be able to play on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at Sashabaw Junior High School.

Volleyball players of all ability levels can participate in the fun-based matches. Teams are changed weekly to facilitate meeting people and to insure that everyone has a chance of winning some matches.

The program has currently begun but there are a few openings for new players. Register as soon as possible with the rec department to insure yourself a spot.

HAUNTED FOREST

Those that dared tour the Trilogy of Terror at Clintonwood Park last year, will be happy to know an all new "Haunted Forest" is being planned for you entertainment.

This event is sponsored by Independence Township Parks and Recreation and will take place at Clintonwood Park. Tickets must be purchased in advance at the Parks and Recreation Department, 90 N. Main St. in Clarkston, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The Haunted Forest will be operating on Oct. 25, 26, 27, 29 and 30. Tickets will be sold on a first come, first serve basis, so early purchase of tickets is advised. They will go on sale Oct. 1. For more information, call the rec department.

PUNT, PASS AND KICK COMPETITION

Youngsters from Independence Township are invited to participate in a Punt, Pass and Kick competition to be held at Clintonwood Park, Thursday, Sept. 27.

The competition, which is free, is open to boys and girls 8 through 13 years old. Children will be placed into classifications by the age they will be Nov. 1, 1990. Participants can pre-register at the rec department or register at the site the day of the event. Proof of age must be presented, either with a birth certificate or baptismal record.

The competition will take place at Clintonwood Park's Softball Field #2.

On-site registration times are: 4:30 p.m. to 5:15 p.m. (ages 8, 9, 10); 5:30 p.m. to 6:15 p.m. (ages 11, 12, 13).

Competitions begin promptly at 5:30 p.m. (ages 8, 9, 10) and 6:30 p.m. (ages 11, 12, 13).

Winners from this competition will advance to the regional competition which will also take place at Clarkston. Top regional finishers will participate in the state championships to be held at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Each participant will receive one punt, one pass and one place kick as part of their competition. Winners will be determined by a combination of accuracy and distance. Participants may enter the competition in only one city.

MEN'S 30-AND-OVER BASKETBALL LEAGUE

There will be a Men's 30 & Over Basketball League that is set to begin its season on Thursday, Oct. 4. Sponsor fees for this league will be taken through Sept. 28.

If you have a team you would like to get registered or you yourself would like to get on a team, call the rec department. League play will run for eight weeks followed by play-offs for the top five teams.

The cost to enter is a $75 sponsor fee and $15 resident player fees/$20 non-resident player fees (a minimum of nine players are required per team), and $16 per game for officials. Games will be played at Clarkston Elementary School.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Call 625-8223 or stop by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. The office is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Interaction is goal of Clarkston autistic program

SYMPTOMS of autism include unusual motor activity such as the frequent flapping of arms.

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Lisa Daiek is about to begin class in a specially designed wing of Clarkston Elementary School.

Her five students, visible through a special two-way mirror, are autistic.

Each child quietly entertains himself with books, games and toys in the room, rarely interacting with the other students.

Apart from this quiet solitude, it is difficult, at first, to notice anything unusual about the students.

However as Lisa gathers the students around a large table for the daily lesson called "calendar," the students' special communication problems become more apparent.

Each child is asked to walk around the table to say hello to each of his classmates and teachers.

Though some do this easily, hugging or touching their teachers and classmates, others have noticeable difficulty with the task — they don't understand what is being requested, or they're uncomfortable making eye contact, or they simply can't communicate well enough to say hello.

These students struggle, covering their faces, running away or standing silently while gazing elsewhere.

Autism is a developmental disability that affects a person's ability to interact.

An autistic person usually has abnormal responses to sensations such as sight, touch, taste or balance. A simple touch on the arm, for instance, might feel as if it were greatly magnified.

People with autism typically have delayed language skills and do not understand concepts without relating specific objects to them.

A request to "come here" might only be understood when it is phrased as "come sit in this chair," for example.

The disability cannot be cured, nor is it known what causes autism.

It is known that the disease affects five out of every 10,000 newborns; it occurs in boys four times as often as girls, and it results in a wide range of abilities.

The Autistic Classroom

Addressing the different abilities of her students is the hardest part about teaching in an autistic classroom, says Lisa Daiek.

Her classroom is composed of five students — the maximum number — which she oversees with the help of teacher's aides. Five students learn in another autistic classroom at Clarkston El., and, for the first time, an autistic classroom has been established at the junior high level at Sashabaw Junior High.

Clarkston became a "center" program for autism

"The hardest part is to try to find mutual interests for our kids, so that they have the same interest as the general population."

Teacher Maureen Ziegler

two years ago, which means it accommodates students from the entire northern half of Oakland County.

The program is fully funded through Oakland County Schools.

Although only one autistic student lives in the Clarkston area, district officials agreed that the program was important.

"It is important for society and people in the school environment to understand autism," said Robert Brumback, special services director for Clarkston Community Schools.

It is also helpful for autistic students themselves to interact in a normal school environment, Brumback adds.

"When (some of these) kids came to us they had never seen a normal youngster in a school environment," he says.

Student interaction is a normal part of the autistic classroom at Sashabaw Junior High, where students range in age from 11 to 13.

On this day, like most days, five students skip study hall to join the autistic students for a game of Trivia.

Teacher Maureen Ziegler has divided students into teams and fires away the questions.

"Look at me," she addresses one student, establishing eye contact. "Groundhog Day is in what month?"

The student, momentarily confused, answers "1987."

Patently, Maureen says, "Yes, there was a Groundhog Day in 1987, but in what month?"

When the student slowly gives February as the right answer, his fellow students clap him on the back and give a loud cheer.

As the autistic children get older, it becomes even more important for them to interact with other children, Maureen says, especially those of the opposite sex.

"The hardest part is to try to find mutual interests for our kids, so that they have the same interest as the general population," Maureen explains.

step in working with autistic children is establishing eye contact.

Garden Corner

A gardener's green thumb is developed, not born

A green thumb isn't like blue eyes or brown hair — it's acquired, not inborn.

Success with indoor plants is generally a matter of learning about how plants grow and providing them what they need: proper light, water and nutrients.

Problems with houseplants are usually related to those three requirements.

In the winter, low light is a common culprit in plants that fail to thrive in the home. Will Carlson, extension horticulturist at Michigan State University, says the shortage of natural light in winter means many plants simply don't get enough to grow well.

Symptoms of insufficient light include sudden loss of significant quantities of leaves, leaf yellowing, small the bottom of the pot or out the drainage hole.

To treat an immediate problem, immerse the pot in water to saturate the soil. After 30 minutes, or when bubbles stop rising from the soil, remove it and allow it to drain. Repeat this process until the water draining from the soil and pot looks clear.

Brown leaf tips or edges are also common symptoms of exposure to hot and or dry air, Carlson notes.

This is usually a problem during the winter, when home heating systems make indoor air desert dry. To prevent or treat the problem, increase the humidity around plants.

Misting is of little value, Carlson says. He suggests instead moving plants away from heat registers and heat-generating appliances and grouping plants on a tray of wet gravel or placing them in a bathroom or other area that tends to be more humid than the rest of the house.

For extremely sensitive plants, a terrarium or orchid case may be the only way to provide adequate humidity.

Yellowing leaves and poor growth may be symptoms of cramped roots.

Plants that grew a great deal over the summer and have outgrown their pots or those that have been in the same containers for a long time may need repotting into larger containers.

Check them by tapping the rim of the pot gently on a table or counter to loosen the root ball and then tipping it out into your hand.

A solid mass of roots with little or no soil showing or a large number of roots circling the soil ball means it's time to repot.

Use a container about two inches wider and deeper than the old one.

"If a plant isn't doing well but isn't potbound, leave it in its present container," Carlson advises. "There's a certain amount of stress involved in repotting, and that might be the last straw for an already ailing plant."

As a general rule, plants tolerate being slightly underpotted better than being potted in large containers, Carlson notes. Overpotted plants are often overwatered and suffer problems related to soggy soil.

Spots on leaves may be due to fungi, bacteria or viruses, or insect activity.

Quite often the only practical way to deal with a diseased or insect-infested plant is to dispose of it before the problem spreads to other plants.

For assistance in diagnosing plant problems, contact your local Cooperative Extension Service office.

Brown leaf tips or edges are common symptoms of exposure to hot and or dry air. This is usually a problem during the winter, when home heating systems make indoor air desert dry.

leaves and/or stunted growth.

The antidote, of course, is more light, usually delivered by way of fluorescent tubes, which give more light for the energy they use and give off much less heat than incandescent bulbs.

Plants may be able to survive on a diet of low light, but when you combine overwatering or overfertilizing or both with insufficient light, you set the stage for their early demise.

Overwatering most frequently leads to root rot. Keeping the soil saturated all the time drives out oxygen. Plant roots need oxygen to live and grow. Without it, they die and rot, and the plant wilts as if it were parched.

The truth is, of course, that there are simply no roots to take up the water that is present.

Overfertilizing — which may consist of applying too much fertilizer, fertilizing too often or fertilizing when plants aren't growing (as in the winter) — causes soluble salts to build up in the soil and on the rim of the container.

These appear as a white or yellow crust on the soil surface, plant stems and containers. A common symptom is browning of leaf tips or margins.

Accumulated salts may burn plant roots and other tissues that come into contact with them.

To prevent salt buildup, apply enough water to the soil once a month to thoroughly leach all excess salts to

Clarkston autism program grows

(AUTISM, from previous page)

Giving music as an example, she says while most teens are listening to rock and roll, one autistic child could identify nothing but music from Sesame Street.

The class now listens to snippets of popular music, and members are encouraged to identify the selections.

Personal Progress

Interaction has made a big difference in the life of John Nolan, says his mother, Michele.

"He seems to have matured a lot," Michele says.

"He knows how to take care of himself and he listens.

"He's happy and excited to get on the bus in the morning," she adds.

John, 7, was diagnosed with autism at age three when his speech developed too slowly.

When the Nolan family moved to the Clarkston area three years ago, Michele approached school district officials, who weren't sure they could service John.

The only alternative was to transport John to a community in the southern half of the county, which Michele says was "very upsetting."

John now attends regular morning kindergarten at Clarkston El.; he spends each afternoon in the autistic classroom.

"The district was very open and receptive," Michele says. "The teachers have a great ability to work with the kids."

Like many "normal" kids his age, John enjoys swimming and watching Pee Wee Herman on television.

He has a sense of humor, too. When Michele feeds John's baby sister Ashley, and she spits out her food, John laughs and laughs, Michele says.

Michele says her main goal for John is that he become mainstreamed.

"We look at a lot of long-term goals," Michele says. "He does a lot around the house, with chores."

"Academically, it is very difficult," she says. "We'd like him to find a way to communicate, with reading and writing."

For the Nolans, living in the Clarkston area, the school district has gone a long way toward helping that become a reality.

Microwave Plus

New product means less mess

Betty Wagner

Reynolds Metals Co. has just introduced a new non-stick cooking paper called the Microwave Wrap.

The cooking paper is treated with a grease and moisture resistant organic coating and is recyclable. Even the box it is packaged in is made of 100 percent recycled paperboard.

Reynolds Microwave Wrap won't stick to food, doesn't allow steam build-up in the microwave, won't absorb grease or moisture and won't shred or tear, according to Thomas W. Krusinis, Reynolds brand manager. It is approved by the Federal Drug Administration for food contact and is certified Kosher.

Every box contains a brochure showing and explaining how to use the wrap. Use it to cover, wrap and even as a liner to prevent foods from sticking to the dish during cooking. However, don't use it with microwave browning units or browning dishes.

For your interest, here are some of the recipes contained in the brochure.

PERFECT, NO-MESS BACON

1. Place a sheet of Microwave Wrap on microwave-safe plate; top with one paper towel. Place up to four slices of bacon on towel; cover with a second sheet of Microwave Wrap.

2. Microwave two slices on HIGH for 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 minutes; four slices 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 minutes.

HOT DOGS

1. Place hot dogs in buns. Wrap each, butcher-wrap style (four corners toward inside), in a 12-inch sheet of Microwave Wrap; place seam-side down in microwave.

2. Microwave one hot dog on HIGH 30 to 45 seconds; two hot dogs 45 seconds to 1 1/4 minutes.

CHILI OR SPAGHETTI SAUCE

1. Keep your microwave oven clean by covering casseroles and microwave-safe bowls of chili or spaghetti sauce with sheets of Microwave Wrap.

2. Microwave 1 1/2 cups spaghetti sauce on HIGH 3 to 4 minutes.

REHEAT PIZZA WITHOUT USING A PLATE

1. Place one or two pizza slices on a sheet of Microwave Wrap.

2. Microwave on HIGH 45 seconds to 1 1/2 minutes.

CORN ON THE COB

1. Brush medium-size shucked ears of corn (fresh or frozen) with softened margarine or butter. Individually roll each ear in a 10-inch sheet of Microwave Wrap; twist ends to seal. Place seam-side up on microwave-safe plate.

2. Fresh corn: Microwave one ear of corn on HIGH 3 to 5 minutes; two ears 5 to 9 minutes.

3. Frozen corn: Microwave one ear of corn on HIGH 5 to 6 minutes; two ears 8 to 9 minutes.

CHEESE NACHOS

1. Place a sheet of Microwave Wrap on a microwave-safe plate. Arrange 20 tortilla chips in an even layer on sheet. Sprinkle with 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese and 2 tablespoons each canned chopped green chilies and sliced ripe olives.

2. Rotating once, microwave on HIGH 1 1/4 to 2 minutes, or until cheese is melted.

Are you doing all you can to reduce your taxes?

Every day that you delay tax planning can cost you plenty in overlooked tax opportunities.

To find out if you are doing all you can to trim your taxes, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that you review these mid-year tax tips.

Defer income, accelerate deductions if...

Effective tax planning begins with knowing how and when to defer income and accelerate deductions.

Under this classic tax strategy, you reduce taxes by postponing income until a later year.

At the same time, you try to offset current income by increasing the amount of deductions you can claim right away.

This tax strategy works best when you expect federal income tax rates or your personal tax bracket to remain the same or decrease in a subsequent year.

If you decide that deferring income will work for you this year, you may want to ask your employer to delay a year-end bonus or commissions until after December 31, 1990.

Another option is to defer interest income by buying short-term government securities or certificates of deposit that mature sometime next year.

On the other hand, CPAs point out that if you expect tax rates or your personal income to increase in 1991, you may reap greater tax benefits by accelerating income and deferring deductions to next year, when they may be more valuable.

Contribute to a 401(K)

In 1990, you can contribute up to $7,979 to a 401(K) plan.

Whatever amount you deposit automatically reduces that amount of income on which you are taxed.

If your employer doesn't offer a 401(K), find out if you can still deduct your contributions to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

Earnings on both types of accounts grow tax-deferred.

Make interest less taxing

Another way to earn tax-deferred or even tax-free interest is by choosing the right type of investment.

For example, if you buy tax-exempt municipal bonds issued in your state, the interest will be free from federal and state income taxes.

Other tax-advantaged investments include U.S. EE Savings Bonds and treasuries.

Keep in mind that if you are in the 28 percent bracket, a tax-free investment earning seven percent is the equivalent of an investment with a 9.72 percent taxable yield.

Shift income and save

You may be able to save taxes and build college funds for your children by transferring assets into their names.

Any interest and dividends earned by a child age 14 or older are taxed at the child's rate, usually 15 percent.

For children under age 14, the first $500 of unearned income is tax-free, the next $500 is taxed at their lower rate and unearned income in excess of $1,000 is taxed at the parent's highest marginal rate.

Reduce consumer loans

Credit costs more than ever. This year, you can deduct only 10 percent of the interest charged on personal loans, credit card accounts or unpaid tax bills. Next year, the deduction will disappear completely.

To eliminate your consumer debt, consider liquidating some of your investments. You can then borrow funds to finance other investments.

Keep in mind that interest on investment loans is fully deductible up to the amount of your net investment income.

In 1990, you can also deduct up to 10 percent or $1,000 of the interest in excess of your net investment income. Alternatively, you can use the proceeds of a home equity loan to pay off your personal debt.

Remember, you can still deduct interest on home equity loans of up to $100,000.

Make your age work for you

Your age may be the key to unlocking the profits in your home.

If you are at least age 55 and meet certain ownership and use requirements, you can exclude from taxable income up to $125,000 of the profit realized from selling your principal home.

Note that this exclusion-of-gain provision is available only once in a lifetime per person or couple.

So, if you plan to marry and you have not yet claimed the exclusion, find out whether your prospective spouse has.

Otherwise, you may end up carelessly forfeiting this valuable tax break.

Offset rental income

If you expect you rental property to generate taxable income, you may want to accelerate or increase some of your allowable operating expenses, such as repairs, advertising costs, fire and liability insurance and even maid service.

Keep in mind that taxpayers with an adjusted gross income (AGI) of $100,000 or less can still deduct up to $25,000 in passive losses, including those associated with a rental property that they actively manage.

For owner with AGIs over $100,000 the $25,000 active rental loss allowance is reduced by 50 cents for every dollar of income.

Once an owner's AGI exceeds $150,000, the allowance is totally phased out.

Donate to charity

If you itemize, charitable contributions remain deductible.

And there's a bonus if you donate appreciated property: you can deduct the full value of the asset and avoid paying tax on its appreciation at the same time.

But be warned, such gifts may make you vulnerable to the Alternative Minimum Tax.

In addition to gifts of property, you can deduct expenses associated with volunteer activities, including transportation costs.

Check your withholding

Make sure that you are withholding enough tax from your paychecks. This year, if you fail to set aside at least as much tax as you owed in 1989, or at least 90 percent of your 1990 tax liability, you will be hit with a penalty on the underpayment.

If your withholding is way off the mark, CPAs advise you to update your W-4 right away.

For further information on how to trim your 1990 tax bill, you can request a copy of "19 Tax-Saving Tips for 1990" from the Michigan Association of CPAs.

Republican Club in the making

Anyone interested in forming a Republican Party club for the Clarkston area should call John Lutz, treasurer for Independence Township.

Lutz said that, in the primary election this year, one or two Republicans were listed as candidates for each of 12 precinct delegate seats in the township.

That's a lot of interest, he said.

In addition, many people may be interested in helping the Republican Party but not necessarily interested in being a candidate.

A club in the area could provide an avenue for those people, Lutz said.

For instance, a local club could get information out about candidates for judgeships or university boards — areas that people normally don't know much about.

Area residents who are interested should call Lutz at 625-5111.

Making cider the old fashioned way

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY
Oxford Leader Editor

When fall colors begin to turn and the first, cold cider of the year is made, Clarkston area folk don't have far to travel to see the sweet, brown liquid being made.

Paint Creek Cider Mill, located on Orion Road in Goodison, presses all-natural cider on a site that has housed a working mill since 1835. Paint Creek has been in the cider business since at least 1903. Since 1976, Lucy and Jerry Mancour have been the keepers of the decidedly low-tech business.

Apple pressing began this year just in time for the Labor Day weekend, and will continue every few days through the fall months with a progressively different mixture of apples as the season advances.

"It's shelf life is five to seven days so you don't want to make too much ahead," says Lucy Mancour, standing at the counter where apple products of all kinds are sold alongside the cider.

Paint Creek cider is all-natural. All that's in it is apples; no preservatives, no sugar. "It's one of the few things left," Mancour says.

It starts with fresh apples from the Almont area. Last week Macintosh and Paula Reds were going into what Mancour calls her husband's "secret formula." As different varieties become available the formula will change.

"There are thousands of varieties of apples," Jerry Mancour says. "You look for juice and flavor. You've got to go by how sweet it is." That sweetness can actually be measured on what is called the Brix Scale.

Mancour didn't know all of this when he and his wife bought the mill. He'd been in the hardware business and been an engineer when he purchased the building from, appropriately enough, a Mr. Miller.

The original flour mill on Paint Creek was built by Needham and Merilla Hemingway in 1835. A copy of the original deed granting them the rights to the millrace, signed by John Quincy Adams, hangs in the restaurant that is now housed in a wing of the mill.

That first building, which also served as an early post office, burned and a second mill was built on the site. In 1876, it was purchased by William Goodison, but in 1956, Miller dismantled it when he decided it was beyond restoring. The current mill was built utilizing many of the original wooden beams.

The 15-foot water wheel that can now be seen from Orion Road was built in 1957. Paint Creek supplies the water, and two dams control the speed of the wheel.

"All I saw was work when I looked at it (the mill)," Lucy Mancour says. She said her husband does "basically everything. He knows it inside and out."

When it comes to making the cider, the process is fairly straightforward. Forty to eighty bushels of whole apples are washed, then placed in a grinder, which stands outside the entrance to the building. The freshly ground fruit travels inside to the press through a tube. "They layer a press cloth and then they use a big hose," Lucy Mancour says. "It shoots ground up apples into the cloth."

Then the huge press goes into motion. Layers of apple, sandwiched between cloths, are squeezed together over a period of hours. "You won't be able Mancour says, as the press goes into action yet again. The process can't be rushed. "You have to squeeze it real slow to let the juice out," he says. "If you run it too fast the cider is cloudy."

When the pressing is done, the juice is filtered through a cloth sock into a holding tank, and the dried remains of the apples, now called pomace, are removed. "It'll be almost as dry as cardboard when it's done pressing," Lucy Mancour says. "It really squeezes it out."

The cider is then pumped into refrigerated tanks, which hold it at 37 degrees. "That's what we sell it at," Jerry Mancour says.

This day's pressing, the fourth of the young season, contains Macintosh and Paula Reds. A blackboard mounted on the side of the press records those facts for visitors to see.

And the taste? It's tart-sweet, a sure sign of early-season cider. But it is good, thirst-quenching and healthy. If you so desire, you can also purchase the traditional doughnuts, and Paint Creek, which now features a full-service restaurant, also offers apple pies and other treats in the cider mill.

The restaurant, under the direction of former cruise-ship chef Rajeev Patgaonkar, is open for dinner Tuesday through Saturday and for Sunday breakfast. Its big windows overlook the creek, and the Mancours have left the wildlife in its natural state, except for adding a few pots of colorful impatiens.

After 14 years, the Mancours seem to have become attached to the place. "We have two ducks that have been coming back for eight years or so," Lucy Mancour says. "We named them Needham and Merilla." Perhaps someday the Mancours' photos will be displayed here, alongside those of their predecessors.

Groundwater team is targeting oil contamination

Oil contamination of groundwater is the first topic selected by the Independence Township Groundwater Leadership Team.

The team's recently announced One-Step-At-A-Time Program targets oil as one of the most serious problems.

"The team was startled to learn just how significantly our drinking water is threatened by used oil," said Jim Reed, a project planner. "Just one quart of oil can contaminate 250,000 gallons of water, as much water as one person drinks in a lifetime."

The team's research has shown that warnings on oil cans for the handling of used oil are so often ignored that an estimated 11 million gallons are dumped each year in Michigan's sewers, fields, roads and on the ground. And they found that most of this is believed to end up in our groundwater.

"This is not just a matter of bad-tasting water," said Tom Stone, a project planner. "Used oil is classified as cancer causing because it has heavy metals and other toxics."

All of this is of particular concern to the team because all of the residents of Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston are dependent on groundwater for drinking and other household uses.

Of the 12 contaminated groundwater sites in North Oakland County (two of which are in Independence Township), seven appear to be from oil or gas contaminants.

All of this had led the team to select used motor oil handling as its number one priority in the One-Step-At-A-Time Program.

"We need ideas from the community for changes that each of us can undertake to minimize the contamination of used oil on our local water supply," said Reed.

"We will then make public the responses and begin promoting their use ... one step at a time," he said.

Responses should be sent to the Independence Township Groundwater Leadership Team at 21220 W. 14 Mile Rd., Birmingham, MI 48010 or in care of The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346.

Groundwater program in place

BY DON WOODWARD

Let's talk numbers.

In 1988 the total waste lubricating oil in the United States was 1.351 billion gallons. We recycled 1.3 percent. Japan recycled 70 percent of its used oil.

If we had recycled 4.3 percent, the additional amount would have replaced more than 29 million barrels of crude oil. In 1988 we imported 29 million barrels of crude oil from Kuwait.

Now, let's bring the numbers closer to home.

If you mow the lawn, drive a car or use a power boat, you may be contributing to the largest part of our household hazardous waste. Used motor oil is responsible for 40 percent of the water pollution.

Used oil is a major problem and a major opportunity. That's a good reason for the Independence Township Groundwater Team to choose motor oil for its first action campaign.

In our new program, we're taking One Step at a Time.

Used motor oil, the first step, is a major hazard. The oil, with all its chemical additives, can cause cancer. When oil is dumped into landfill or on the ground, it seeps into the groundwater below. And every household in this area relies on groundwater, either through wells or a public system.

What can you do about it?

Join our program to reduce and recycle used oil. Keep alert for our messages during the coming weeks. Call us at 258-5188.

Let's put a stop to our reliance on imported oil and protect the quality of our water. We can do both at once by taking one step at a time.

Don Woodward is a member of the Independence Township Groundwater Leadership Team.

State of Michigan County of Oakland Charter Township of Independence PROPOSED NOISE ORDINANCE

An ordinance to amend the Charter Township of Independence Code of Ordinances by adding a new section in the Criminal Code promoting the public peace by regulating outdoor noise.

Section 1 of Ordinance Chapter 8 CRIMINAL CODE

ARTICLE V. OFFENSES AGAINST PUBLIC PEACE

A new Section 8-87 shall be added to Article V, Chapter 8 of the Independence Township Code of Ordinances, reading as follows:

Section 8-87. Offensive Noises.

1. Regulations.

It shall be unlawful to cause or permit any of the following acts to occur out of doors:

a. Sound amplification from vehicle: operation or control of a parked or moving vehicle with any sound amplification equipment in or on such vehicle producing sound which is clearly audible more than 50 feet from the vehicle, provided, however, if a person demonstrates in advance to the Township Board that this provision results in an unreasonable restraint upon desired expression, and that there are no other reasonable means of expression with respect to speech intended to be disseminated by such person, the Township Board shall grant such person the right to use sound amplification equipment for the specified time, place and manner which will reasonably afford the opportunity of expression.

b. Construction noises: the creation of noise which is clearly audible beyond the property from which it is emanating, resulting from the erection (including excavation), demolition, alteration or repair of any building, and the excavation of streets and highways, at any time prior to 7:00 a.m. and after sunset, Monday through Saturday, and at any time prior to 10:00 a.m. and after 6:00 p.m. on Sunday. A deviation from such limitation shall be authorized if a permit is obtained in advance from the Township Supervisor, or the Supervisor's designee, upon a showing that the noise will not result in an unreasonable disturbance of one or more residential occupants.

c. Animal and bird noises: the keeping of any animal or bird which, by causing continuous or substantially continuous noise for more than 15 minutes which is clearly audible more than 50 feet from the property line on which the noise is emanating.

d. Radio, stereo equipment and musical instruments on property: the playing of any radio, stereo equipment and television set, or musical instrument in a manner and/or with such volume, from any property so as to produce sound which is clearly audible more than 50 feet from the property from which it is emanating, provided, however, this provision shall not be applicable to a commercial non-commercial recreational or religious institution with respect to such noises which occur after 8:00 a.m. and prior to 11:00 p.m.

e. Loud expressions at night: yelling, shouting, hooting, whistling, singing, or the making of other loud noise by any person or persons between the hours of 11:00 p.m. and 7:00 a.m., where such expressions are clearly audible more than 100 feet from the property from which such expressions are emanating.

f. Removal of solid waste: the creation of noise audible more than 50 feet from the source of the noise in connection with the removal of solid waste from any premises except between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 10:00 p.m.

g. Unloading of materials: The creation of noise in connection with the loading or unloading of materials, goods or other merchandise by the use of motorized equipment, metal-tired hand trucks, racks, conveyors, or other types of equipment during the hours of 11:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m., where the noise from such loading and/or unloading is clearly audible more than 100 feet from the property from which the noise is emanating.

h. Recreational equipment: Utilization of recreational equipment, such as skateboards, snowmobiles, off-road vehicles, and the like, after sundown and prior to 8:00 a.m. where the noise emanating from such activity is clearly audible more than 50' from the property line from which the noise is emanating.

2. Exemptions.

The terms and provisions of this Section shall not apply to police, fire, ambulance or other emergency vehicles and shall not apply to excavations or repairs of streets, highways, bridges and/or utilities on behalf of the Township, County, State or Federal government and/or duly authorized utility during the evening hours when the public health, safety and/or welfare renders it necessary and/or appropriate to perform such work during the evening hours and/or on Sunday.

3. Governing rules in the event of conflicting Ordinance provisions.

In the event of conflicting Ordinance provisions regulating noise and sound, the Ordinance provision having the most restrictive regulation shall be applicable.

Section 2 of Ordinance

Except as specified above, the Independence Township Code of Ordinances shall remain in full force and effect.

Section 3 of Ordinance

The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby ordered to take effect immediately upon publication in the manner prescribed by law.

The proposed ordinance will be voted upon on October 2, 1990, at 7:30 p.m., at the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan. The entire Code of Ordinances is available for public review in the Clerk's Office, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted,

Extensive dating doesn't result in better spouse

Women who "comparison shop" for potential husbands by dating extensively do not report any greater marital happiness than women who marry their first sweethearts, according to a University of Michigan study.

"We found that extensive dating or intimate involvement in the dating state doesn't make a difference one way or the other in the success or happiness of a marriage," said U-M sociology Prof. Martin K. Whyte.

Most important, Whyte found, was how much the women were in love with their intended husbands at the time of their marriages and how they and their husbands structured day-to-day marital relations.

In researching his recently published book, "Dating, Mating and Marriage," Whyte and his colleagues interviewed 459 Detroit-area women who married in different eras: pre-World War II brides who married between 1925 and 1944; those who entered marriage during the "baby boom" years 1945-64; and women who married between 1965 and 1984, during and after the rise of feminist and sexual liberation movements.

Study participants were asked to estimate how many different men they had dated, the age at which they first went steady, the number of "steadies" they had and whether they had engaged in premarital sex.

They were then asked to rate the quality of their marriage and number of marriage problems on number scales. They also indicated whether their marriage had ended in divorce or separation.

Contrary to the popular belief that extensive dating experience helps one to make the right choice of mate and gives one a better chance of "living happily ever after,"

Whyte found no correlation between dating practices and marital success.

"The length of the dating experience, the number of dating partners, the length of the relationship with the eventual first husband and the degree of sexual intimacy with that husband — none of these predictors had any significant independent influence on the fate of the marriage," he said.

The factor that influenced marital quality, Whyte found, was the degree of romantic love experienced at the time of marriage.

A questionnaire asked respondents to recall how much in love they had been before first marrying.

"We found that how romantically the women felt about the man they were about to marry and the degree to which that feeling was mutual clearly related to marital success," he said.

The U-M researchers also found modest correlations between having an elaborate wedding and marital stability, high marriage quality and fewer marriage problems.

Marrying young, they found, was associated with marital instability, lower-quality marriages and more marital problems.

Shared financial control, shared family values and shared leisure activities were associated with marital success.

Despite recent changes in premarital experiences — including increased independence from parents prior to marriage, premarital sex and cohabitation — Whyte predicted little change in Americans' belief in what he terms the "marketplace-learning conception" of dating. "Even though our research suggests that the American dating culture doesn't work, there are no alternative ways to select a spouse that appear preferable."

Americans are likely to continue relying on the imperfect dating process in their search for marital happiness," he concluded.

The above information was provided by the University of Michigan News and Information Services.

Call for desert letters

Regina Blanchard, a Waterford Township resident who likes to read The Clarkston News, said that area residents may feel as she does about U.S. service members.

Many members of the U.S. armed forces are in Saudi Arabia, but some don't get a lot of mail, which can be depressing, said Blanchard.

But residents from this area can write letters to service people they don't even know, brightening up those service members' days.

Blanchard distributed the address to area churches but asked that it also be printed in The Clarkston News because others may want to help.

To send a letter, address the envelope to: Any Service Member, Operation Desert Shield, APO NY 09848-0006.

Temperatures changing slightly

If you live in Mississippi, Georgia or surrounding states, your year-round temperatures are slightly cooler now than they were 70 years ago.

It's become a little warmer, however, in the north-east and west.

Among hundreds of weather station sites studied nationwide, the biggest changes in average annual temperature have been a drop of 3.78 degrees at Washington, Ga., and an increase of 3.23 degrees at Schenectady, N.Y., according to a U.S. Department of Agriculture scientist.

"On average, though, the change at nearly 1,000 official weather stations over the past 70 years was about a 1/3-degree decrease," said Sherwood B. Idso, a physicist who is studying environment changes for USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Almost all the weather stations were in small towns or suburbs, away from what Idso calls the "urban heat islands" of metropolitan areas.

"Our study, plus a half dozen others, indicate we have not yet begun to feel global warming due to the greenhouse effect," said Idso, noting that their work contradicts claims from other scientists that the Earth has already warmed 1 degree in the past 100 years.

He said inaccurate assumptions in computer models result in overestimating the damage global warming will inflict on Earth.

"Some estimates have half of Florida and Louisiana under water, as well as more than 1/10 of Virginia, Delaware and New York," he said. "I do not agree with such catastrophic predictions."

Summer temperature change throughout the nation over the past 70 years, for example, was less than 1/100 of a degree but ranged from an increase of 4.7 degrees at Lodi, Calif., to a decrease of four degrees at Hazelton, Idaho.

During the winter, the extremes were a gain of 6 degrees at Baker, Ore., and a loss of 7 degrees at Lewisburg, Tenn.

The net winter-time change for the entire nation was a cooling of about 1.5 degrees.

Idso, who works at the research agency's U.S. Water Conservation Laboratory in Phoenix, is a member of a team that is subjecting crops to environmental conditions expected in the next century, such as the doubling of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere.

regression minus affliction and indetermination.
blue dawn discerns no desire to battle, overtaken of backbone and the all-purpose passion.
time to get among this season that pokes and persists.
consecrated with so much that seems obtuse and biased.
they confess to me what i desire to heed.
no preaching beneath the eaves.
table top advances rarely in sight.
ostracized from a fellowship under siege.
no want to fight.
the demand for change.
crippled in its web and towed with its chains.
blades are greener and the great blue clever.
lodged in a flask that clutches the heart and mind.
bars on its walls and sewage in its lines.
life is for the living and an awkward wholesome kind.

Thrilling audiences even after 30 years

The 30th anniversary season of the Clarkston Village Players opens with a Woody Allen comedy.

"Don't Drink the Water," a comedy about American tourists caught in an American embassy in a communist country, runs Fridays and Saturdays, Oct. 5, 6, 12, 13, 19 and 20 — plus a benefit performance on Thursday, Oct. 18.

Curtain is 8 p.m., and the $6 tickets may be purchased in advance from Tierra, Main Street, Clarkston. A limited number of tickets may be available at the door.

The performance takes place in Depot Theater, 4861 White Lake Road, Independence Township — formerly a real train depot. Audience members annually enjoy the Players' ability to "freeze" on stage when a train rumbles loudly next to the theater. After the train passes, the Players resume action.

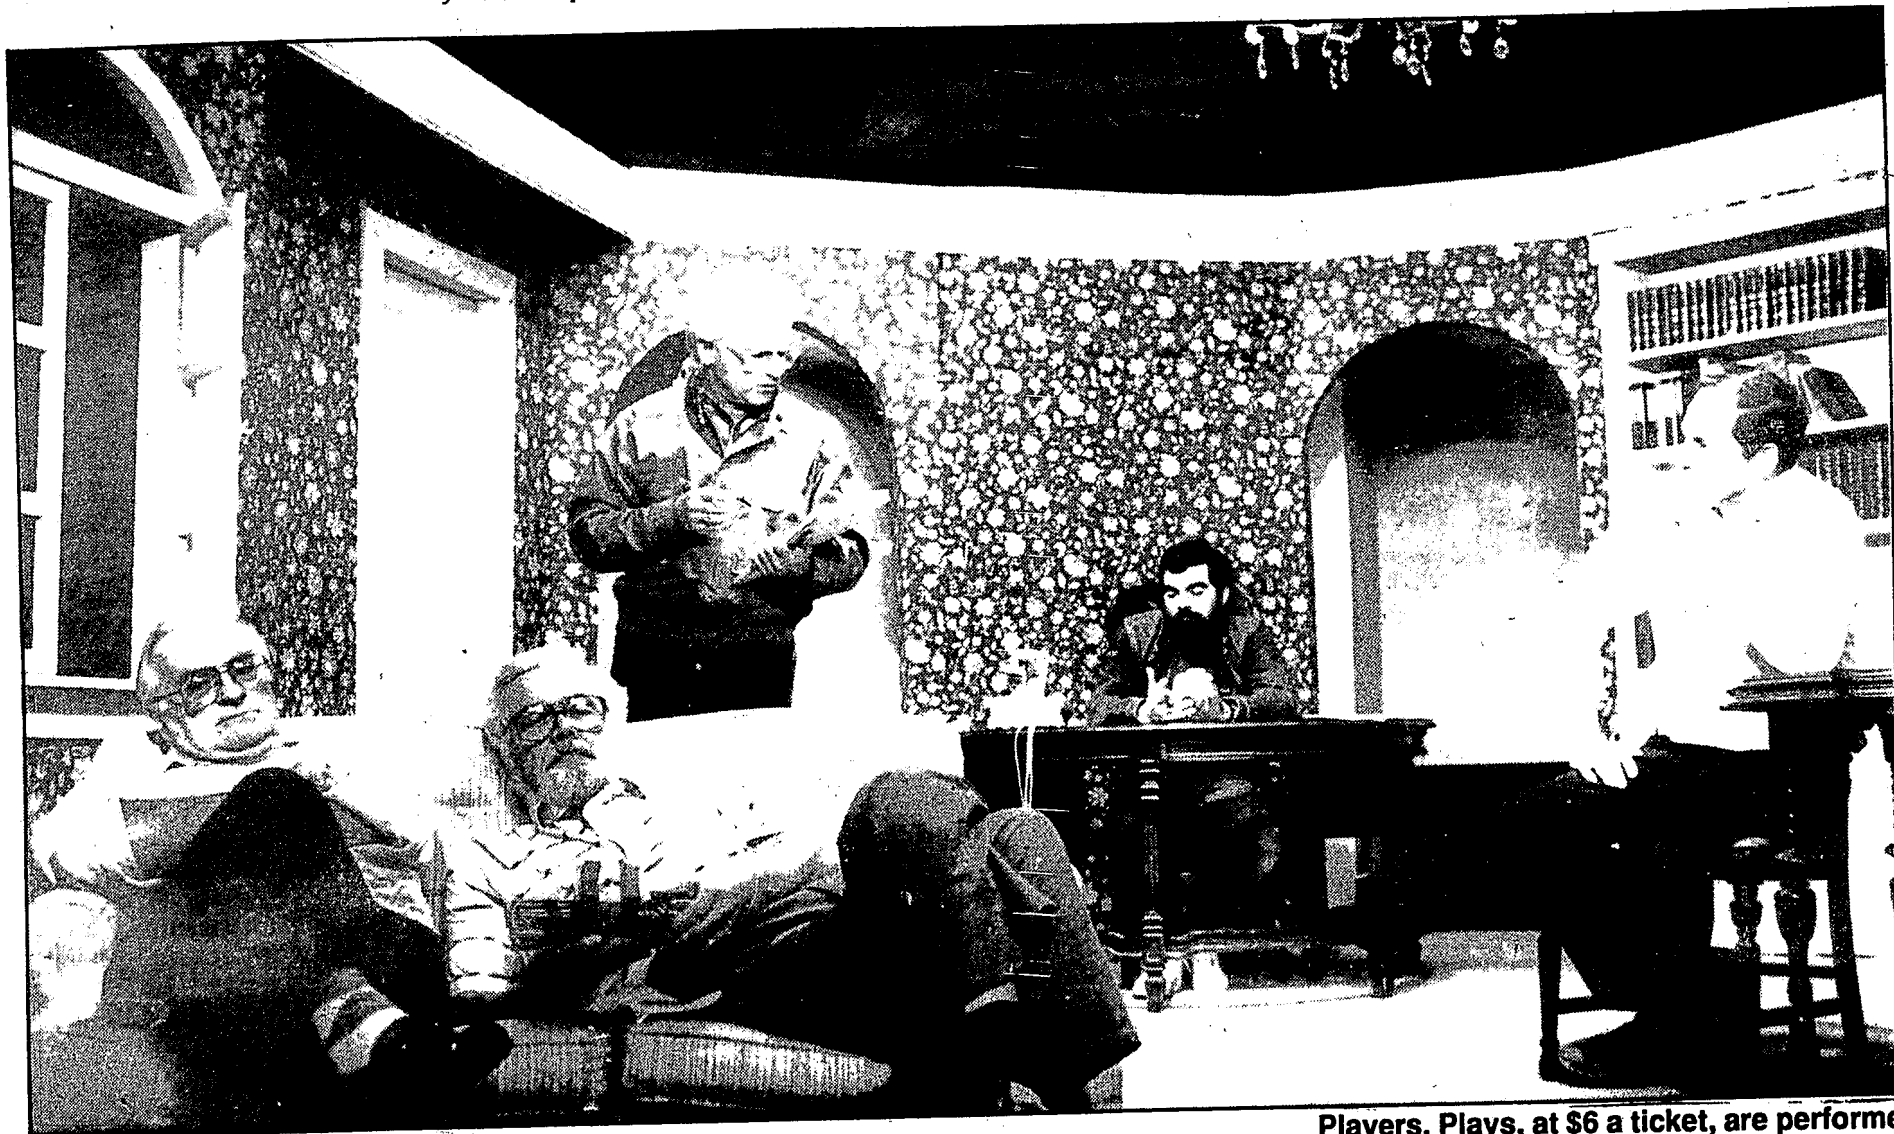

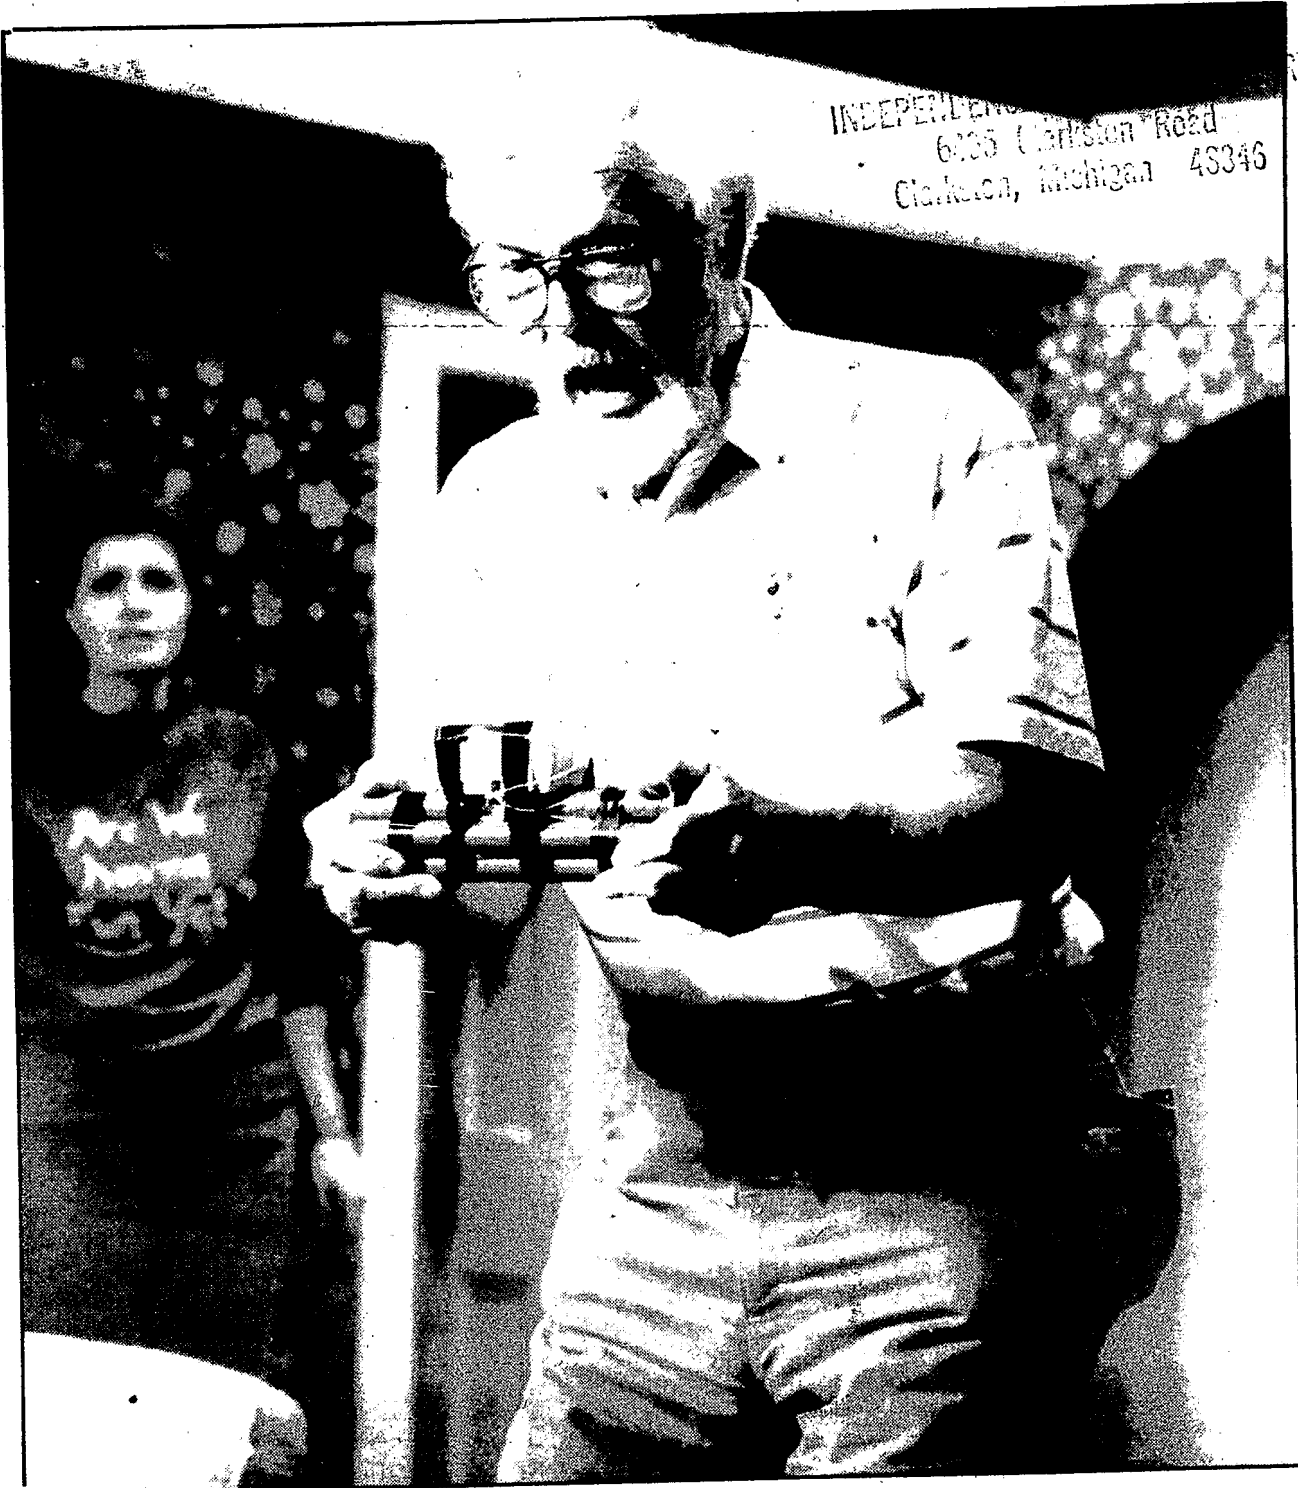

"Don't Drink the Water" is directed by Verne Vackaro and produced by Don Foster. Stage manager is Marybeth Boyea.

The cast includes Jack McCaffrey as Walter Hollander, Linda VanNatta as Marion Hollander, Scott Birkmeier as Axel Magee, Larry McGee as the Sultan, Vera Johnson as Countess Bordoni, Doug Fuller as Father Drobney, Robert Kaminskis as Kilroy, Cynthia Lohmeier as Susan Hollander, Tom Logan as Krojack and Don Foster as Kasnar.

DYNAMITE startles Jack McCaffrey, who plays Walter Hollander in "Don't Drink the Water," opening Oct. 5. Linda VanNatta (background) plays his wife, Marion Hollander.

DIRECTOR Verne Vackaro (standing) gives a few tips to the cast of Woody Allen's "Don't Drink the Water," which opens the 30th anniversary season of The Clarkston Village Players. Plays, at $6 a ticket, are performed at the Depot Theater, 4861 White Lake Road, Independence Township.

The Other Side of Things

Tips on becoming a defensive running back

Ashley Ball

One requirement for high school graduation in Clarkston is at least one year of gym. Many of us ninth-graders have decided to get it over with this year before the — da dum — DREAD SHOWERS are required over at the high school. My gym class is second hour and — what luck — the first unit is football.

Co-ed.

Playing football, I soon found out, is not that bad if:

- you know what's going on,
- you can catch and throw a football,
- you're a member of the varsity football team.

First, Mr. Warner, our coach, divided us into teams. Fortunately, my team had some of the Wolverines on it. Unfortunately, my name was at the top of the class list, which was alphabetical, and that meant that I had to go get the football from the office.

Without any help.

Desperately, I called on all the knowledge I possessed about footballs: hmmm... brown, uh, rough, well, ... oh, yeah. There's one. I picked it up out of the bin.

"No, no, Ashley," Mr. Warner shouted so loud that most of the people in China could hear. "We're playing football, not basketball."

"I knew that," I laughed nervously and headed back to the office. One down, three to go.

Then Nathan Abney brought out the Velcro belts with fabric squares stuck on them that we'd wear around our waists. The other team would grab the flags off our belts.

"I thought we were playing football," I confided to Jill Theryoung as we rummaged through the flags to find colors to match our outfits. But the flags were pretty much all the same shade of dirty yellow.

Heading out to the football field, Jill and I masked our nervousness by laughing and joking.

After some general instructions from Mr. Warner, we chose our playing positions. I would be a running back. I only had to ask one question, "How far do I run back?"

Mr. Warner is always patient and happy to answer our questions, but there were times I thought he looked depressed.

On the first "down" or whatever, I ran right into the quarterback. Next I ran into the other running back, who was running forward. ("No, no," I coached her later, "you're supposed to run back!")

Then Mr. Warner coached me that the other team was playing offense and that I was supposed to be on the bench. I'M NOT KIDDING! They were playing offense! I thought they were playing FOOTBALL! It was all very confusing, and the high school showers were looking better all the time.

That afternoon, I borrowed a football from the Teran twins, Brett and Jason, and my dad gave me a few pointers on how to throw and catch and run out for passes. The next afternoon after school, my neighbor, Matt Tandrup, threw some passes for me. We also worked on the run-out pass. After a few days, both my dad and Matt were pleased with my improvement.

By the end of the week, I was really beginning to like football — the vigorous warm-ups, the huts, hikes and huddles ... the glorious victories — and stomping off after heartbreaking defeats.

Then one Thursday morning, it happened — I surprised everyone in my gym class when I caught a run-out pass for a TOUCHDOWN! I was thrilled. All that practice was paying off.

That evening, I retold my football fear to my dad who suggested we branch out and work on blocking.

"You never know," he said, as we walked into the backyard to begin our workout, "your coach might switch you to playing defense tomorrow."

"Dad, how many times do I have to tell you," I asked, trying to be patient. "We aren't playing defense — we're playing football. And we will be for at least three more weeks."

My dad paused and started to say something; then he smiled and threw a bullet pass right into my hands.

"Maybe we'll play defense when the football unit is over," I explained, lobbing the ball back to him.

It was great being able to talk sports with my dad.

Ashley Ball is a ninth-grader at Clarkston Junior High School.

Luncheon benefits human rights

A morning of sharing and support for victims of repression has been scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 4, at the Cushing Center at St. Daniel Catholic Church.

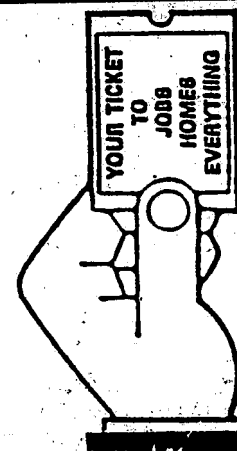

Maria Teresa Tula, the United States representative for the Co-Madres Committee of Mothers and Relatives of El Salvadorans, will be honored.

The special presentation and luncheon benefit has been organized to allow participants to share the experiences of political repression against family members and friends with various communities and congress.

Maria Teresa Tule joined the Co-Madres after her husband was arrested and imprisoned. He was released but later assassinated in 1980. Maria Teresa continued to work with the committee and to raise her five children.

The program is set for 10 a.m. at the Cushing Center, 7010 Valley Park Dr. in Clarkston. Tickets are $10. Proceeds benefit the Co-Madres organization.

For more information, contact St. Daniels at 625-4580 and ask for the Christian Service Office.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

FINANCING "HANDYMAN" SPECIAL

QUESTION: I have a chance to buy a "Handyman Special". It is worth $48,000 but I can get it for $40,000 because it needs repairs. I can arrange for the $40,000 financing, but will need another $8,000 for repairs. Any suggestions?

ANSWER: Your answer may be a construction commitment loan based on the future value of your home — after improvements. If the bank agrees to a 75% loan, they will give you $30,000 (75% of the $40,000 sale price) for payment to the seller. It will release the remaining $6,000 (75% of $8,000 improvements) for payment when the work is completed. Be sure you have reliable estimates. Construction costs have a way of escalating.

YOU CAN FINANCE your "Handyman Special" based on the future value after improvements.

Homework help

Help on all types of homework soon will be just a phone call away.

The Homework Hotline Project will resume operation this year on Oct. 1. The hotline is open 4-8 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Telephone banks are staffed by certified teachers accepting calls from students throughout metropolitan Detroit.

Most of the teacher/operators who worked on the hotline last year will be returning; therefore, callers will have a seasoned group of operators available to them.

The Homework Hotline Project is a joint effort of the Detroit Federation of Teachers, the Michigan Education Association, Marygrove College and this year is operated in conjunction with WXYZ-TV Channel 7's "Assignment Education" program.

Students and parents who need homework help can call 1-800-356-1909 (outside Detroit) or 1-313-345-7000 (in Detroit).

Postal tips for military mail

The Postal Service has some helpful hints for Americans mailing parcels or packages to military personnel deployed to Operation Desert Shield.

Following these guidelines, your packages will get their promptly and efficiently.

■ Use a sturdy carton, large enough to accommodate the contents.

■ Use some form of cushioning to protect the articles inside. Seal the parcel securely. Use pressure-sensitive tape. Avoid using brown wrapping paper, cord or string on the outside.

■ Print the service member's name and address on the lower right portion of the package on one side only. It should include the service member's name, rank and service number, military organization or unit, and the APO/FPO address. It's important to have the current APO/FPO address, which should be available from that service member's base in the United States.

■ Put your return address in the upper left corner of the package. Also, include your return address on a piece of paper on the inside of the package.

■ Remember the hot temperatures and heat of the Saudi Arabian climate when considering what to send to the troops there. Temperatures in the desert exceed 100 degrees regularly.

■ Items to send that are popular with the troops include audiocassette tapes, newspaper clippings, gum and hard candy.

■ Make sure to attach a parcel post customs declaration form (Form 2966-A, available at local post offices) on all your packages.

■ The fastest way for packages to get there is priority or first-class mail, which allows for a 5-10-day delivery.

For All Stages of Presbyopia ... Varilux Infinity

If you're over 40 and can't easily read this ad without glasses, you're probably presbyopic.

If you're already wearing bifocals or reading glasses, you'll be excited to learn how Varilux Infinity "lineless" progressive lenses can correct presbyopia and provide clear, continuous natural vision.

The Varilux Infinity "custom fit" concept unveils a technological breakthrough in vision care. Reading, sharp focus at arm's length, seeing at a distance—all become crisp, clear, and above all, enjoyable again! And getting used to Varilux Infinity is amazingly quick and comfortable.

Varilux Infinity is the ultimate high-performance lens. Isn't the best quality eyewear worth the investment in your eyesight—perhaps your most precious possession?

Possum Corner opens with female group

Celtic music and folk songs from a female perspective open the the Possum Corner Coffeehouse Fall 1990 Concert Series.

The first group featured is Just Friends, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 29, at 8 p.m.

All concerts are held at Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church at 5331 Maybee Rd., Independence Township.

Just Friends consists of Judi Morningstar, Lori Cleland, Rosemary Kornacki and Cecelia Webster. The four share the playing of two hammered dulcimers, a Celtic harp, guitars, bass, mandolin, banjo and autoharp, while they sign harmonies at the same time.

Traditional and contemporary folk, ragtime, blues, Celtic, old-timely, bluegrass, classical, show pieces and original tunes are included in their repertoire.

Tickets are $8 for adults, $7 for members and $6 for senior citizens and children under 15.

Tickets are available at all Ticketmaster locations, at The Book Place in Lake Orion, at the door the night of the concert or by phone at (313) 645-6666.

JUST FRIENDS will perform Saturday, Sept. 29, at the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church as part of the Possum Corner Coffeehouse fall 1990 Concert Series.

Pet of the Week

SHORT AND SWEET and full of love, Ginger is going to make some family very happy.

Short and sweet

Ginger's former owners couldn't spend enough time with her, so they gave her up for adoption.

She's a 1-year-old dachshund mix weighing about 19 pounds.

Ginger likes children and other pets, and more than anything, she needs a family to spend time with her.

She's been spayed, so her adoption cost is $35.

To see Ginger visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Rd., Auburn Hills, or call 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

How Old Did You Say Your Furnace Was?

With Consumers Power's 24-Hour Heating Protection, It doesn't Matter.

Old or new, any furnace can quit--anytime. Protect yourself and your family-- 24 hours a day seven days a week-- with the Heating Security Plan from Consumers Power.

Get year-Round Peace Of Mind.

A small one-time fee now is a smart way to get peace of mind that lasts all year long.

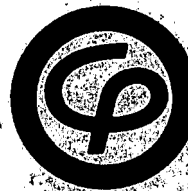

With the Heating Security Plan, there's no easier way to avoid unexpected service calls and costly repairs on your gas heating equipment. You can even get coverage to protect your gas water heater or additional space heater.

Don't Be Left Cold and Helpless.

Now's the time to start thinking about the cold winter ahead. Mail your Heating Security Plan contract today. Or call your local Consumers Power office for your copy of the Heating Security Plan.

Be warm all winter.

AUTUMN LEAVES will stick with Linden Barclay all year round. Each time he wears his sweatshirt he'll be reminded of the fall.

Leafing all their worries behind

NATURALIST Mike George of Indian Springs Metropark in White Lake explains the art of painting leaves, which are pressed onto shirts and pillowcases creating beautiful designs.

PAINTING sweatshirts is fun when mom is along. Mary Ann Carr, right, helps daughter Bethany and son Jonathan paint bright leaves on their shirts during the Leaf Print T-shirt session at Indian Springs Metropark in Springfield and White Lake townships.

NICOLE STEELE, 6, of Hillsboro Road, Springfield Township, designs a shirt with painted leaves.

TINA ARLE, 11, got to stay for an overnight birthday party in Dawn Steele's (right) honor.

The girls culminate their party time by decorating shirts at Indian Springs Metropark.
