M-15 widening plans prompt protest

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Construction on the widening of M-15 is to begin next spring -- but not if the Clarkston Village Council has its way.

The council protests the plan to widen a portion of M-15 to five lanes and plans to appeal the decision Dec.

"I don't know if we can get this decision changed, but I have to try."

President Sharron Catalo

7 before the executive committee of the South Eastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

Council members fear that widening the road to five lanes south of the village limits will make it easier for future highway officials to widen M-15 to five lanes through the Village of Clarkston to I-75.

To appear before the executive committee, village President Sharron Catalo must find three of SEMCOG's 45 review committee members to agree to the village council appeal. A spot on SEMCOG's agenda was not secured at press time.

An agreement between SEMCOG and the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) requires a SEMCOG review of projects MDOT plans to implement within SEMCOG's region.

MDOT plans to widen a half-mile section of M-15 -- from Dixie Highway to Paramus Street, Independence Township -- from two lanes to five lanes. Under that plan, northbound traffic would filter back into two lanes around Paramus Street. The project is estimated to cost $827,000, with funds coming from federal and state governments.

The project was first proposed in 1978, but in 1986 the village council recommended a three-lane proposal to SEMCOG. Village officials still contend that three lanes would be best.

However, a SEMCOG report "reluctantly" recommends five lanes with the outer two lanes to be used for right turn lanes and a center lane for left turns.

In response, the Clarkston Village Council asked its consulting engineer for an opinion on the issue.

At the Oct. 22 village council meeting, Richard Beaubien, transportation director of Hubble, Roth and Clark of Bloomfield Hills, also recommended the five-lane widening to the council, which uses Beaubien's engineering firm as a consultant, as does Independence (See VILLAGE, Page 18)

Happy Halloween

VAMPIRE Eric Wischmeyer, front, parades with other ghosts and goblins during the pre-school Halloween party at Clarkston United Methodist Church on Waldon Road on Monday, Oct. 29. Other Halloween events that took place over the weekend include the Clarkston Farm and Garden Club's parade in Depot Park and pumpkin carving and a costume party at the Church of the Resurrection.

Community Expo Wednesday, Nov. 7

Business displays, food and lots of mingling likely will take place during the Fourth Annual Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce Community Expo Wednesday, Nov. 7.

Set for 6-9 p.m., the Expo is at the Deer Lake Racquet Club, 6147 White Lake Road, Independence Township. Admission is $2.

Area businesses and services are to display tables with piles of information. Lots of door prizes and complimentary hors d'oeuvres also will be available. For more information, call 625-8055.

Don't forget to vote Tuesday

Voters in Independence and Springfield townships face a local ballot proposal as well as county, state and national candidates in the general election Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Polls are open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in both townships. A complete listing of the candidates and an explanation of the issues is on Page 12.

In Independence, nearly 800 people turned in absentee voter ballots as of Monday, Oct. 29.

"For a general election, it's good -- it's more than usual," said Elections Clerk Rosemary Howey, who usually uses the number of absentee voter ballots to predict voter turnout on election day.

However, this year, "some organization has been sending out applications to those older than 60," she said.

That's good -- many people have filled them out and sent them in, said Howey. But it throws off the estimate of voter turnout.

It also has deceived some people. Apparently, campaign literature accompanied the applications, which carried a return address of Independence Township, said Howey.

"Some people were led to believe that we sent them," said Howey, explaining that the township did not and would not send campaign literature to voters.

Independence Township

Police issue

What it says:

Shall the Charter of Township of Independence be authorized to continue the levy of one (1) mill for a period of three years to partially finance police services, commencing with the 1991 levy? Approval of this proposal would renew the authorization for a levy of one dollar ($1.00) per one thousand dollars of state equalized value above the total limitation imposed by Article VIX of the Michigan Constitution.

What it means:

If approved, township residents would continue to pay one mill for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation.

For example, the owner of a $100,000 home assessed at half the market value ($50,000) would pay $50 per year for four years for police coverage.

The money would help pay for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department personnel who cover Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston.

Independence Township

Township candidate on the Nov. 6 ballot

After cruising to an easy win in the Aug. 7 primary election, Independence Township Clerk Joan McCrary is up for re-election Tuesday, Nov. 6.

McCrary, a Republican, collected 606 votes in the primary election, and she continues to run unopposed in the upcoming general election.

She was appointed township clerk in July 1989, after her predecessor, Richard Holman, stepped down. State law requires townships appointee to re-run for their positions in the first available election.

Township board members serve four-year terms.

Springfield Township

Library issue

What it says:

Springfield Township Library Operating Tax Increase: Shall the library tax of one-half (1/2) mill be levied for operating purposes of Springfield Township Library, commencing with the fiscal year starting January 1, 1991?

What it means:

If approved, about $87,000 would be collected each year to operate the Springfield Township Library on Andersonville Road. The money would pay for such things as building maintenance and other day-to-day operating expenses.

A homeowner with a $50,000 home would be assessed at half the market value ($25,000). Since one-half mill is 50 cents for every $1,000 assessed property valuation, that homeowner would pay $12.50 per year for the library.

The owner of a $80,000 home assessed at half the market value (40,000) would pay $20 per year for the library.

The levy is for an indefinite period of time. The only way to end the levy would be for residents to vote it out.

Soviet mother, son feel at home in Independence

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

America has been called many things, but to a pair of visiting Soviets it's the land of never-ending smiles.

Lyudmila Peredry and her son Yuroslav have been in the Clarkston area for nearly 25 days. The couple hail from Kiev, where Lyudmila teaches high school English. She also specializes in American literature.

Yuroslav is in his third year at Moscow State University, where he is pursuing a mathematics degree.

Lyudmila is currently the guest of Independence Township residents David Katz and Carolyn Goyette, a Birmingham English teacher. Yuroslav is staying at the neighboring home of Terry and Betty Heren.

Last year Goyette met Lyudmila on a school exchange and invited her to visit the United States.

Upon arriving in America, the couple was surprised to be surrounded by so many smiling faces.

"I remember crying as I read the words on the (Lincoln and Jefferson) memorials. I'd read those words in my literature books, but they seemed so powerful in those monuments."

Lyudmila Peredry

"This is truly a country of laughing people," Yuroslav said. "The people we've met so far are very hospitable."

His mother concurs.

"I like the people here because they are trying to make us feel at home," Lyudmila added. "We are not accustomed to so many smiles because most of the people in the U.S.S.R. don't do it openly."

However, it took some time for the Peredrysts to reach America.

According to Lyudmila, the process of obtaining

"Back home, people have started taking an interest in religion. We didn't study it when I was in school, but I intend to research it better."

Lyudmila Peredry

visas was almost unbearable. She had to get her visa in Kiev, and Yuroslav obtained his in Moscow. Adding to the difficulty, only three cities in the Soviet Union have flights bound for the United States. The pair was forced to fly out of Moscow.

Lyudmila had to travel from Kiev to Moscow to meet her son. Due to the vastness of the Soviet Union, her trip took 12 hours by train.

They landed in Washington, D.C., and were given a tour of the capitol. Lyudmila remarked that she enjoyed the tour of monuments, but the Lincoln and Jefferson memorials struck a special chord.

"I remember crying as I read the words on the memorials," Lyudmila said. "I'd read those words in my literature books, but they seemed so powerful in those monuments."

"You're lucky to have had men like this," she said. "They've made great contributions to the development of this country."

YUROSLAV Peredry (left) and his mother, Lyudmila (right), are visiting the United States for the first time. The Soviet citizens were invited to Independence Township by Carolyn Goyette, who made a similar visit to the U.S.S.R. last year.

Being a school teacher, Lyudmila noted that American history books are obsolete in terms of Soviet history.

"The history book I read made factual errors, especially in regards to the Cold War," she said. "The book reads as if the Cold War was still going on, and the Soviet people believe it was over in the early '80s."

Lyudmila also said Soviet culture, in terms of clothing and current conditions, are outdated in many of the reference books.

Both of the visitors remarked on the emergence of "glasnost" in the U.S.S.R. and how the citizens are responding to it.

"Some of the people feel 'poisoned' by glasnost," Yuroslav said. "Glasnost has destroyed many of our past ideals, and a lot of the older people are fighting the truth."

"Before glasnost, everything was hidden from the people," Lyudmila explained. "I saw the setbacks, but we were continually told that everything was good. The people have got to know what happened in the country's past 70 years."

The openness of glasnost has also garnered an interest in religion.

"Back home, people have started taking an interest in religion. We didn't study it when I was in school, but I intend to research it better," Lyudmila said. "I believe you must have religion in your heart, in terms of all-around development. People have to find their own ways to God."

Mother and son intend to return home in late December, where they plan to pass on their adventures to friends and colleagues.

"I plan to talk to teachers and some of the classes," Lyudmila said. "By answering questions and showing pictures, I'll tell of our experiences. Many are eager to learn of this country, and they know I'll tell the truth."

"For my friends, they are longing to know more about America," Yuroslav added. "For most of them, it's a dream to visit America, and I'll be happy to tell them all about it."

Despite the differences in countries, Lyudmila said all the world's countries should work together in preserving the environment.

"I don't think we should surge ahead in consumption, but look at what we're doing to the environment," she said. "All the countries spoil the environment and we have to look at being more efficient."

"It's time for men to look deep inside their souls and do what's right for the entire planet," Lyudmila added.

Parochial school gets final approval

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Nearly one year after it was set to open, the Everest Academy parochial school had its first phase approved by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

On Oct. 25, the planning commission voted 6-0 to approve the final site plan for the first phase of development, slated for a 40-acre parcel on Clarkston Road. Commission member Daniel Travis was absent from the meeting.

The first phase entails the construction of two two-story building for students in kindergarten through eighth grade. Boys and girls will attend separate facilities with each building holding about 600 students.

The buildings would function under separate administrations. Two separate gymnasiums are under consideration in the school's future plans.

Despite the approval, a couple of commission members questioned the school administration's intent to one day become more than just kindergarten through eighth grade.

"I'm hesitant in approving this plan because they (architects) haven't definitely stated the buildings as K-8 on the site plan," said Steven Secach. "I don't want them coming back in 10 years, before a new planning commission, and saying 'we've got another building for nine through 12 (grades).'"

Project architect Bob Burnhardt said he had no problem in designating the building as K-8 on the site plan. He added that its deletion was an oversight on his part.

Township resident Robert Morgan asked the commission why the buildings' plans had been altered from a previous meeting. Morgan said he had earlier understood the buildings to be one story in height, and now they were slated for two stories.

Chairman Brent Bair said the planning commission had always considered the buildings as two-story structures.

The final site plan was approved, subject to the following conditions:

- notation of K-8 on both buildings in the site plan.
- location of school sign to comply with township ordinance.
- septic system to only be in service for five years or until the next phase goes into effect.
- revision of square-footage discrepancies on site plan.

New park means traffic, maintenance concerns

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Final plans for Shiawassee Basin Preserve drew negative comments from some area residents, but officials plan to go ahead with the plans.

After many hours of meetings and discussions, final plans for Shiawassee Basin Preserve were presented to Springfield Township residents Oct. 23. Shiawassee Basin is a 400-acre park north of Davisburg Road and west of downtown Davisburg in Springfield Township.

During the public meeting, an Eaton Road resident expressed concern over added traffic. The northern section of the park is to enter from Eaton Road.

"Eaton Road is not easy to travel," the resident said. "The county won't come out and take care of it."

Planning consultant Richard Carlisle of Carlisle

Associates said he understood the problem.

"The people are trying to develop a park, and they are sensitive to this," Carlisle said.

Roger Bower, chairman of the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Commission, said the commission tried to have the least impact on all situations.

"To use the property at all, the only access is from Eaton Road," Bower said. "It's safe, and there will be a minimum of cars."

A gravel parking lot for 20 cars is planned for the northern portion of the park.

"Gravel is more in keeping with the park-like setting," said Carlisle.

Another resident asked how the township would finance the park maintenance.

Trustee Nancy Strole said the board will develop a budget anticipating the costs, and two rental houses on the property also will help generate revenue.

The township also is likely to receive a $172,000 grant from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund. The state Legislature is to act on the grant within two

Shiawassee: something for everyone

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Hiking, camping, biking, baseball and soccer soon may be taking place at the 400-acre Shiawassee Basin Preserve.

The plans for the park north of Davisburg Road were presented to the public by Carlisle Associates of Ann Arbor Oct. 23. The park is divided into two areas — one section of the park to the south has 90 acres, and the northern section has 300 acres.

Railroad tracks running through the 400 acres form a barrier between the two sections, causing the division. The park development, slated for 10 years, is estimated at about $1 million.

In the southern portion, which has a more level terrain, active recreation facilities are proposed. Listed are some of the proposed plans for the two parcels:

- Four baseball fields and two soccer fields.
- Parking for 200 cars — 100 for each area.
- Good soils for development and septic suitability.
- Two comfort stations.
- Tot lot.

- Bridge.
- Pond improvements.
- Bike path.
- An eight-foot-wide one-mile-long trail for hikers.
- Three pavilions.
- Concession pavilion.
- Buffer plantings around ball fields separating the park from residential homes.
- Landscaping.

The southern portion would be developed in two separate phases. Estimated costs for phase I is $428,335, and phase II is $336,666.

In the northern portion of the park, which is a more hilly terrain, passive types of recreation are planned, such as hiking and primitive camping.

Proposed plans for the 300-acre northern section include:

- Parking for 20 cars.
- About three miles of hiking trails.
- Two restrooms.
- Two picnic shelters.

Estimated cost of the northern section is $260,589.

Stealing the scene

Julie Campe

This month was going well until Andrew the Horrible began his antics again.

First, David the Fair (my mother's eldest son) appeared with his wife, Carol, and daughter for a much-awaited visit. The family oohed and ahed over Madeleine, the clever 3-year-old, who has changed a lot since we saw her last.

Andrew, on the one day he graced us with his presence, appeared not to have noticed how bright and adorable Madeleine was. Instead, he managed to appear neutral about Madeleine and, indeed, David the Fair's visit.

Perhaps we can't blame Andrew wholeheartedly for his later deed — we did throw attention toward others that day, attention that normally he would have demanded for himself.

Later in the month — Oct. 11, to be exact — we heard the news that Nicholas LePere Hutloff was born in New Jersey. He is my sister, Valerie, and her husband, Glen's, second child and weighed 6 pounds, 14 ounces.

My mother, Juanita, who is self-appointed communications director within our extended family, triumphantly heralded the news.

Of course, the next time we saw Andrew, we talked of the newest baby's personal habits (we considerably did not compare them to Andrew's, which have improved somewhat since childhood). We mulled over 5-year-old Ursula's reaction to her new baby brother. And we did not once consider how this birth affected Andrew.

Who would have figured? Miles away, across the country, the latest family development did not alter our ways of life too much — or so we thought.

The next bit of family news came in the way of a photograph serving double duty as a postcard.

Aunt Pat in the Ann Arbor area received hers first and startled Juanita with a phone call.

"So Andy and Michele are married, huh?" she said (or said something like that).

Juanita was shocked and quickly ran to check her mailbox, which was empty.

It appears that mail from Frankfurt (Mich.) takes two days to reach Ann Arbor but three days to reach Waterford Township.

My mother was shocked — not that Andrew the Horrible eloped with his fiancée, the fair maiden, Michele — but because her sister Pat was the first to know.

"I've always been his favorite aunt," Pat explained to Juanita later. (How naive Pat is to claim that distinction. What might befall her later?)

I was not surprised in the least about the marriage, only at the lack of subtlety in timing. Usually, Andrew the Horrible makes his needs known in a way that is not too obvious — he quietly manipulates conversations, situations and other circumstances until all attention is focused on himself.

Perhaps the month's family developments were too far out of Andrew's control this time, and he was forced to resort to desperate measures.

He probably figured that all of that family attention was pouring out to others, and he just couldn't stand performing on the fringe of the spotlight any longer.

On the flip side, perhaps this was his last scene as a lead player — maybe he's realized that he needn't grab center stage all the time. A bit part now and then should do for the rest of his life, and this could serve as his last astounding act.

Does that mean I'll have to give up his nickname? I don't think I'll act too hastily on that one. Better wait until next month.

Half-mill would update library

The Springfield Township Library will be on the ballot again on Tuesday, Nov. 6.

I urge all of you to vote yes for the millage.

As an active patron and employee of the library, I would like to share some facts with you.

The library has more than 4,000 registered patrons. That sounds like a lot of people, doesn't it — and it's growing daily, just as the population of the township is.

The current book budget is not adequate to keep up with the requests of our readers. The reference department is outdated, as is the non-fiction section.

It is very difficult helping students with reports and school work when we have such a limited amount of materials.

The "little school house on the corner" is bursting at the seams. We need more room to grow along with the community in order to better serve you.

The 1/2 mill that is being asked for will only cost the average household the cost of two hard cover books. That's not really all that much, is it?

Please, remember the library needs you yes vote on Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Bonnie Moore

On Tyner's side

I would like to say good luck and give support to Deborah Tyner on her bid for circuit judge.

I am not an attorney, so I am not looking for access to her when she becomes a judge. My support for her is to show that you can buy yourself an election.

As for her opponent, Sheehy, I saw a letter in last week's paper signed by a group of citizens, most of whom I recognized as lawyers.

Are they impressed with Sheehy because he is one of the good old boys, or are they trying to gain favor?

I had an occasion to sit in Sheehy's court, and my observation was that he treated the parties with very little respect or dignity if they were not represented by an attorney.

The one sentence handed out was excessive in my opinion. When I mentioned this sentence to a prosecutor, he/she said it was excessive for the offense in line with previous cases. "He is running for election." (the prosecutor said.)

So, Deborah Tyner, I don't care if you are buying the election, as long as you are using your money and will treat everyone with dignity and respect no matter what their status is in life.

But don't be bought and paid for before I cast my vote.

C. L. Weber

Move library up in list of priorities

On Nov. 6, residents of Springfield Township are being asked to vote on a millage question for the library.

Please take the time to visit the library and check for yourself how well it serves this community.

You will find that the service provided is exceptional. More than 4,300 residents are currently registered. For the past 14 years the library has been operated by contributions from the township general fund.

Approval of the millage will allow the library to have separate and guaranteed funding.

As the community has grown, needs for increasing funding have also grown to the point that it becomes difficult to balance various requests and needs against dollars available.

We realize that you face very similar problems and ask that you visit the library, verify the need and put the library within your priorities by supporting the millage.

Collin Walls,
Springfield Township Supervisor

Jim's Jottings

The top-rated commercial on television these days has something to do with crackling breakfast cereal.

What is it with so much emphasis on the sound breakfast cereal makes?

The popular commercial has a man and woman, these days you can't tell if it's husband and wife, look at each other, and one says, "Did you eat all the Crackling Oat Bran? The other, with their mouth full, responds according to script . . . a mumble, head twist, etc.

What do they think happened to it? The goldfish ate it? Are they going to shoot the eater, or is the eater expected to get hung if they answer 'yes'?

The thing about the commercial that bothers me is the word "crackling."

Obviously some survey has proven beyond a doubt that noisy cereal is preferred, and the ad-agency writers are taking advantage of it.

The conclusion must be that the appeal for breakfast cereal is in the mind, not the stomach.

A little research on my part at Food Town proves just how much emphasis is being given to how sound relates to satisfying hunger.

I counted 24 cereals that had either the word "crackling" or "crunchy" on the front. And, some of those had multiple flavors of crunchy something, like berries.

That's the first time I read of a berry crunching. But, Quaker has 'em in their Cap'n Crunch, Cap'n Crunch Peanut Butter and Cap'n Crunch Berries.

Quaker also has "now crunchier" Cinnamon Life and Crunchy Rice Bran.

No one outdoes Kellogg on anything, including boisterous breakfast food. They're the ones with the Crackling Oat Bran. Their Mueslix is both "golden crunch" and "crispy blend." They have Crispix, "crunchy, sweetened" Corn Pops, Rice Bran "crispy brown" and crunchy baked cereal.

Along comes Ralston with Rice Bran Options (crunchy oat nuggets) and "crunchy blend" Double Chex.

Post is in there with "crunchie oak clusters" Fruit & Fibre and Fruity Pebbles that are "crisp rice."

General Mills comes along with Kiks (crispy corn puffs), Raisin Crisp and Toast Crunch.

Cold cereal takes up 75 percent of breakfast food shelving. Cream of Wheat, oatmeal and other noiseless breakfast-type edibles take up less than a fourth of the shelf space in the cereal aisle. All pancake and waffle mixes together use four feet.

It struck me as unusual that the most popular breakfast cereal, corn flakes, says nothing about sound affects in its labeling.

Shredded wheat is known to crunch. It doesn't brag about it. Neither do Wheaties or Cheerios. Maybe the others should reconsider their advertising emphasis.

Especially, bran cereal should down play crispness. It's my mind, I think, not my stomach.

Support library

Springfield Township Library is again asking the residents of Springfield Township to vote yes for a millage.

The first request lacked less than 45 votes to pass. The amount this millage would cost the average household per year would be about $30 — less than $3 per month.

To those who use the library, it's unnecessary to explain that the services of the library are well worth much more than that.

But the attitude of "no new taxes" (but more services expected) is a tough one to reason with.

Unfortunately, it's an attitude voiced all too often and it's holding back good public services.

We need to re-evaluate our priorities!

Support your library — the information center for your township. Vote yes for library millage on the November ballot.

'If it Fitz...'

Want obscenity?
Your tax dollars at work

Jim Fitzgerald

"Fear No Art," the Ann Arbor art exhibit currently exploring obscenity, is sponsored by a private, nonprofit production company. No public money is involved. No bozo-like Sen. Jesse Helms can protest that taxpayers are being forced to subsidize a dirty picture show. That's too bad.

The purpose of "Fear No Art" is to test the community's limits of taste, decency and censorship. The largest section of the show is devoted to works of a controversial nature. Viewers are encouraged to make written evaluations of each exhibit. Too obscene for public consumption, or not? It's an OK idea, as far as it goes.

But I'd like to see an exhibit that more directly addresses the complaint most often heard during the vociferous debate over the infamous Mapplethorpe photos and the National Endowment for the Arts: "I don't care how obscene something is, just as long as my tax money doesn't help pay for it."

The show could be called "Fear No Subsidy." There would be the usual suspect works featuring bare skin, genitals and other possible obscenities that ordinary people usually don't have to see except when they look at themselves. Also displayed, as usual, would be painted portrayals of ghastly violence committed on human beings, some even as bloody and sickening as the moving pictures that children watch on television every day.

The unusual feature of the "Fear No Subsidy" show would be exhibits not usually considered art, but nevertheless possibly as obscene as human genitals, and publicly funded. Viewers would be asked if they want their tax dollars to (wholly) pay for such possible obscenities as:

- Mass graves in Panama: CBS-TV's "60 Minutes" recently revealed that several thousand civilians were killed when the U.S. invaded Panama to kidnap Manuel Noriega. Our government told us fewer than 250 were killed. "60 Minutes" showed grieving survivors trying to identify missing loved ones hurriedly buried in huge unmarked pits. The Pentagon had no comment on the suddenly mounting casualties.

- President George Bush's new Air Force One. The jumbo Boeing 747-200 has 85 telephones, 10 TV sets, 11 VCRs, two kitchens and seven bathrooms. And the president's luggage is never lost.

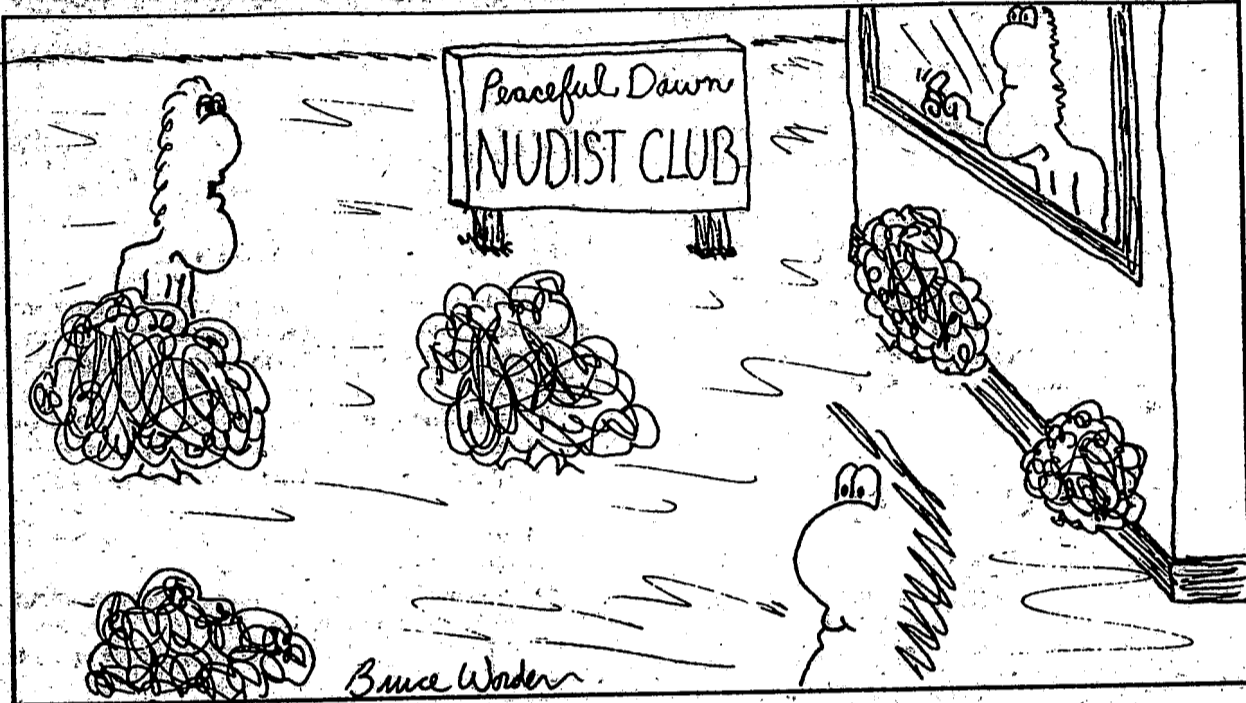

- The training of Salvadoran soldiers at Ft. Benning, Ga. Last November in El Salvador, at least eight Salvadoran soldiers murdered six Jesuit priests, their housekeeper and her teenage daughter. It's believed some of these soldiers were trained to kill at Ft. Benning. The New York Times reported: "Over the last 10 years, the U.S. has spent nearly $5 billion on El Salvador. In that time, the Salvadoran forces have killed over 40,000 civilians, most of them because someone thought they were politically suspicious."

- $500 million worth of computers to hunt Soviet submarines. The purchase is against federal law because the computers haven't been tested, but the Navy signed a contract with Boeing Co. guaranteeing no price hike if the computers were ordered by a certain date — regardless of whether they worked. Of course, it doesn't really matter if the computers turn out to be duds, because there's no need to hunt Soviet submarines. And what's $500 million between the friendly Pentagon and the defense industry that loves to hire retired generals and admirals to fill highly paid do-nothing positions?

- The travel costs of the first military messenger sent to the home of an 18-year-old U.S. soldier killed in desert combat because Saddam Hussein is Hitler reincarnated and always has been, we just didn't happen to notice until he began messing with the price of gas at our pumps.

You don't want your tax money to help pay for anything as obscene as a photo of human genitals? Dear Lord, give me a break.

OFF TRACK

I SAID I'D BE THERE IN A MINUTE, DIDN'T I??
GEEZ, KEEP YOUR PANTS OFF.

From This Perspective

Pain, and gain

Tracy King

The Detroit Free Press Marathon has finally, released its grip on my friends.

Last summer, when three of them had triumphantly announced they would be running in the October race, I wasn't the slightest bit fazed.

"Sure," I chuckled to myself. You and the six million-dollar man.

I had watched the Boston Marathon on television a few times, struck by the sheer endurance it must take to run 26 miles.

Twenty-six miles. You run for something like three hours, and that's a good time.

Television cameras would train on the lead runner's legs, sinewy and strained, while commentators ranted about the incredible training regimen the runner had suffered.

Those runners were serious. They didn't drink beer till the wee hours of the morning. They didn't eat frozen dinners, or watch late movies.

These guys will never do it I pledged, watching, as they cracked open a can and charted their courses for the next four months.

The first few weeks were easy enough. We listened to groans about sore lungs and legs; we uttered the appropriate "wow!" as their distance increased from five to six miles.

But then, it really began to get painful. No more could we have a casual conversation about world events, current romances or even what to do that evening.

They talked about running. About shoes. About courses, carbohydrates, and glucose.

Oh sure, I run occasionally — exhausted and exhilarated after my two miles — but this was way over my head.

We couldn't choose restaurants: they ate only pasta or pancakes. We couldn't plan activities: they needed hours to stretch, run and recover.

This is too much, I swore, as September turned to October. These guys aren't even living. Why on earth are they doing this?

"Where are you going to be!" they demanded in a frantic telephone call the night before the race.

Pat, dutifully, promised he would begin to run with them at the 20-mile marker, if they made it that far.

"Well?" I demanded later that afternoon.

"They all made it," Pat answered, relieved.

Apparently one had run three hours and 50 minutes; the other two had done it in four-and-a-half hours.

They had cried when they crossed the finish line, Pat revealed.

Calling to congratulate them, I told them how proud I was of their achievement.

"Are you glad it's over?" I wondered. Yes, they answered.

Finally, back on the same track.

Miller capable

I read several different papers in my area, and I have noticed many ads on the candidates for the state representative seat of the 61st district. I have also received fliers and have heard both candidates speak.

I feel to help our district out more we should set aside the words Democrat and Republican. Let's look at who is willful and qualified to go to Lansing to fight for what our district demands and desires, and I know Fred Miller is the man who can get the job done.

After hearing both candidates speak, (I think) Fred Miller will be capable to go to Lansing and take a stand on the issues, whereas Tom Middleton did not present himself well enough to go to Lansing to get any job done.

We need someone who is robust and decisive to start making a difference in North Oakland County. Thus, I would support Fred Miller and ask more people to support Fred Miller.

About time for M-15 widening

I had an altogether different letter than this one written about this — the south end of M-15 — but a funny thing happened when I called the (Independence) township (office) about it.

It seems that they already knew that SEMCOG and the Michigan Department of Transportation had already decided on widening M-15 to five lanes.

Hallelujah! It surely took long enough!

The same morning I read about the Village of Clarkston's attempt to restrict to three lanes, I got a ticket on M-15 for passing on the right. Even the deputy stated the need for something to be done. The condition has been in existence for more than 15 years.

Even over at Sashabaw Road we have had the flare-outs, but M-15 is a state-controlled highway.

The village of 1,000 shouldn't control the thousands of drivers on a state trunk line. M-15 is not the domain of the village.

When will the public be informed that the five-lane project will be let for bid this winter for construction to start in the spring of 1991?

We would like to thank everyone who helped put together our first annual Homecoming Pancake Breakfast.

A special thanks goes to everyone who worked that morning, and especially to Dr. Robert Burek, Mr. Brent Cooley and Mrs. Ginny Farmer for helping us serve.

Also thanks to the community, the coaches and players who attended the breakfast.

We hope to make this an annual event, so hope to see everyone again next year.

Festival a success

Thank you to everyone who helped at Clarkston Elementary's Festival of the Arts.

More than 20 local artists and businesses donated their time and talent to conduct workshops for our students. More than 30 parent and grandparent volunteers helped with scheduling, provided lunch and assisted our presenters.

Do we have to wait for another 15 years?

Interstate 75 has been open for 27 years. I had to lose more than two acres of my land for it. I hated the fact but am very glad to use it.

For the good of those thousands and thousands of drivers on M-15, we realize some sacrifices have to be made.

The village's whimperings have gone on long enough.

Thank you teachers and staff for rearranging your classrooms and your schedules.

The CHS Mime Troup and the Encores from Sashabaw Junior High did such a good job, as did the Tuxedo Brothers from Detroit.

Of course, none of this would have taken place without the support and encouragement of our principal, Mr. Potvin.

It's easy to look good when everyone helps out. The Festival of the Arts was wonderful for our student only because of all of you who took the time to care. Thank you sounds so small, but is meant with all our hearts.

Township library benefits all ages

I am writing in support of the millage for the Springfield Township Library. The library serves the people of Springfield from the pre-school child to the older citizens. If you could see the pre-schoolers enjoying their sessions and know the pleasure the large-type books and the talking books bring to people who have difficulty seeing, you would know how much we need this millage.

Elect John Engler

Isn't it interesting that Gov. Blanchard, who has held office for these many years, can only muster television spots that take cheap, misleading shots at Sen. Engler? You would think that the governor would have a whole list of accomplishments to tout. The truth is, the same problems the state had when Blanchard took office still exist, thanks to the Governor and his Democratic controlled House. It is time we turned Blanchard and all his Democratic colleagues out of office. John Engler deserves the chance to show what he can do. Please join me in electing John Engler.

Dale A. Stuart

Middleton support

As members of the 61st District, we share many common concerns. Naturally, we all want good government that is responsive to our needs.

Also, we want leadership in elected office that is trustworthy and dedicated. We believe our friend Tom Middleton can meet these needs as Republican state representative.

What we find most striking about Tom is how earnestly he desires to make a difference in the quality of life for residents of the 61st District. Tom is a family man who faces the problems that we all share. He brings a fresh perspective to government that is long overdue.

Tom Middleton has built his campaign with the support of working men and women throughout the district. He has not sought large corporations to back his campaign.

We support Tom Middleton and ask that you give him your vote election day.

Burning allowed in some areas, with restrictions

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

As the abundance of leaves gathers on area lawns, so does the smoke created from burning them.

Open burning is allowed in Springfield and Independence townships, once a property owner obtains a permit by calling 625-1924 in Independence and 625-4801 in Springfield. The practice is banned in the Village of Clarkston.

Though open burning and its effect on the environment is expected to prompt restrictions at the state and federal levels, health concerns top most complaints at the local level.

"It really does cause a lot of problems if anyone has respiratory problems of any kind," said village Manager Artemus Pappas.

Clarkston Village Council members voted to ban open burning last year. Though Pappas acknowledges bagging can be difficult and time consuming, he has received few complaints since the practice began.

"It's a hardship for some people, but they seem to be working with us," Pappas said.

The village offers bags and a pickup service to residents on three consecutive weekends in October and early November.

Medical concerns can prevent burning permits from being issued in Independence Township. Yet according to Independence Department of Public Works figures, about 60 percent of all Independence Township residents still choose to burn their leaves.

"The only time we're liable to refuse a permit is for medical problems," said Capt. Neil Ashley of the Independence Township Fire Department.

"The products of combustion are the same as wood in the fireplace," he adds. "It's the smoke that affects people."

"On days where the air is thicker and the smoke hangs low — in the rural areas it's not as much of a problem, but in the subdivisions — it hangs in the air, gets into houses and bothers everybody," Ashley added.

Independence Township officials currently are evaluating a new ordinance that would limit burning to certain times of the year, Ashley said.

Provisions of the current ordinance require the following:

- Leaves must be burned in small piles.
- The pile must be stirred frequently to cut down on the amount of smoke.
- A hose or fire extinguisher must be kept close at hand.

- The pile must be attended at all times.
- The burning must be completed before dark.
- Residents must call the fire department on the day they plan to burn.

Springfield Township has a similar policy. Residents there are required to obtain a permit and are told "no black smoke, out by dark and try not to aggravate the neighbors," says Springfield Township Fire Chief Marlan Hillman.

Despite these rules, burning can be a problem. "Everybody burns at the same time," Hillman said. "There's just too much smoke."

Boy accidentally sets home ablaze

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

A fire at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 23, gutted the basement of a home on Fowler Road, Independence Township, and killed one pet bird.

According to Chief Gar Wilson of the township fire department, a 13-year-old boy was home alone about 7 p.m. and tried to start a fire in the fireplace with wet wood.

When it wouldn't start, he poured gasoline on it. When he threw the match on the logs, a small explosion occurred, throwing a log out of the fireplace and simultaneously igniting gasoline that had been spilled on the floor as well as igniting a nearby chair.

The boy tried to extinguish the fire with blankets without success. He then got a fire extinguisher from upstairs, but it hadn't been serviced recently and didn't work.

Finally, he grabbed one of the family's bird cages and escaped from the burning home.

The call to the fire department came from a neighbor's house on Fowler Road, which is off Sashabaw Road, south of Maybee Road, said Wilson. Two of the family's three birds survived the blaze.

The boy suffered slight smoke inhalation, according to Capt. Mike Fahrner, adding that the fire was under control in about 20 minutes.

The blaze gutted the basement, caused heat damage to the kitchen and dining room and caused smoke damage throughout the house.

Damage was estimated at $35,000 to $50,000 — about half the value of the house, said Wilson.

Gasoline, which is highly flammable, should never be used to start a fire and should not be stored near sources of heat or where sparks may ignite it, said Wilson, explaining that one gallon of gasoline is equal to three sticks of dynamite.

He added that the number fires per year in the township has greatly decreased, despite a growing population.

The decrease probably is due to fire prevention programs. Fire personnel present fire prevention material to all lower elementary school children each year, said Wilson.

Stride Rite

Childhood. Step by step.

Recently, the American Podiatric Medical Association put a number of baby shoes under demanding examination. The association found only several styles that were worthy of its seal of acceptance. The styles were all made by one company. Stride Rite. They became the first and the only baby shoes to carry the coveted APMA seal.

This milestone comes after seven decades, an entire era in which parents of America have trusted Stride Rite. For the greatest range of styles and sizes. For materials of uncompromised quality. For proper fit and enduring, comfortable construction. For our proven support of every child's freedom of movement and every parent's freedom of choice.

Life skills join academics in elementary classroom

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Clarkston elementary students will be learning more than reading, writing and arithmetic in classrooms this year.

Lessons on self-discipline, responsibility, good judgment and getting along with others also will be taught, as part of a new pilot program called Skills for Growing.

Skills for Growing was created by Lions Club International, the National Association of Elementary School

"Kids today are a real challenge. The more we can do to help them, the better they'll be."

Sharon Devereaux

Principals, the National Parent Teacher Association and Quest International. Funding in Clarkston has come through a federal Drug-Free Schools grant.

Elementary principals, with two teachers from each school, were trained in the program, which brings together parents, educators and members of the community.

Parents of Andersonville Elementary School were introduced to the program in a special meeting Oct. 23.

"Andersonville Elementary has always provided a positive school climate, but we can always be better," Principal Sharon Devereaux explained to the 50-or-so parents attending.

Students showed their enthusiasm for the program with a special intermission recital, coordinated by music teacher Gloria Lacey.

"When, when, when do you ask?" sang one group. "When they're not busy at another task," the other group answered.

Success of the program depends on five key parts, Devereaux explained.

■ Classroom curriculum: units with themes such as growing as a group, making positive decisions and growing up drug free.

■ Positive school climate: schoolwide events during the year related to themes such as friendship, families, cooperation and school spirit.

■ Parents as partners: a series of three parent meetings designed to support parents as their children's first teacher.

■ Community involvement: activities designed to create a spirit of cooperation between community and school members.

■ Training and follow-up support: an implementation team carries out the program at each school. Supplements are provided to classrooms, and assistance is offered through a toll-free phone line.

Because family involvement requires good listening skills, parents were treated to a short skit portraying bad listening and were asked to engage in a listening exercise. Participants were asked to relay their favorite family experiences to a stranger.

At Andersonville Elementary, the Skills for Growing program is coordinated by fifth-grade teacher Russ Samuel and Nancy Weightman, a second-grade teacher.

Students in the program have recently completed a paper quilt for the multi-purpose room. The quilt features a square for each child, with a school house decorated in a way special to each one.

Summing up the purpose for the program, Principal Devereaux put it this way: "Kids today are a real challenge.

"The more we can do to help them, the better they'll be," she added.

Forum focuses on growth, planning

Community planning and growth in Independence Township is the subject of a special forum sponsored by the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee.

The program is set for 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 8, at the Clarkston Board of Education office, 6389 Clarkston road.

Frank Ronk, Independence Township supervisor, is to detail information on the Downtown Development Authority, projected changes along the Sashabaw Road corridor, hospital plans, hotels, supermarkets and shopping centers and new and single-and-multiple-family developments.

The forum is the second in a series designed to help make citizens more aware of community issues and the impact on schools and school funding.

The Blue Ribbon Kids Committee is a group of parents and citizens of the Clarkston Community School District whose purpose is to serve as advocates of Clarkston schools by communicating and supporting issues that affect public education at local, county and state levels.

QUESTION: Why has real estate proven to be such an excellent investment over the years as compared to other investments?

ANSWER: Housing prices have gone up steeply since the mid-60's for two basic reasons. First, the number of new housing units built each year was far below that which it should have been. Since there is a steady growth in population, this puts pressure on our housing reserves and prices rise.

Second, there have been inflationary increases in land, labor and material costs that go into building a house. Historically, real estate values have always increased faster than the cost of living.

Wife charged with assault after domestic dispute

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A 46-year-old Circle Drive, Independence Township, woman was charged with felonious assault after allegedly stabbing her husband during a fit of rage.

Sunday benefit for leukemia sufferer

An auction, music and snacks are the attractions at a benefit for Joette Kovacik Sunday, Nov. 4.

Kovacik, a leukemia sufferer awaiting a bone marrow transplant, is trying to raise $165,000 for her operation. To date, about $10,000 has been raised.

The benefit Sunday is set for 2-9 p.m. at the Four Seasons Inn, 10816 Dixie Highway, Springfield Township. Music and entertainment will be supplied by The Jammin' June Boys, two disc jockeys who are donating their time for Joette.

Hot dogs and snacks will be sold, there will be a 50-50 raffle, and items will be auctioned. Items to be sold and auctioned at the benefit have been donated by Clarkston and Waterford-area business people. All proceeds will go to Joette's transplant expenses.

Joette has suffered from the disease for more than 14 years, and the transplant is necessary to save her life. A perfect bone marrow match has not been found, and Joette's insurance company doesn't cover operations for imperfect matches.

For more information, call Pat or Maryann at 625-4805.

Donations can also be made at the North Oakland Community Credit Union, telephone: 338-9694.

Maria Deneen was arraigned before Judge Gerald McNally in 52nd District Court, Independence Township. Each count of felonious assault carries a maximum penalty of four years imprisonment. Deneen remains free on a $1,000 personal bond.

On Monday, Oct. 15, police arrested Deneen for stabbing her husband, Roger Deneen, in the hand. The 36-year-old man sustained a half-inch gash and was treated by members of the Independence Township Fire Department.

According to the police report, the woman walked into the couple's living room and ordered the man to leave. She reportedly went into a tirade and threatened to kill the man if he didn't comply. Shortly after, she grabbed a knife from the kitchen and tried to coax their teen-age son into helping her kill the man.

The husband and his son tried to wrestle the knife from her, and the man was cut in the process. The woman ran upstairs, with the man following behind. During the chase, she allegedly clubbed the man with a frying pan and a vacuum cleaner extension.

She locked herself in a room and the husband called police. Police arrested her shortly after arriving.

If you get a deer, help out DNR

Deer hunters should take note of a request from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

To assess the condition of the Michigan deer herd, the DNR asks that hunters bring their deer to a Michigan DNR office to have the deer aged and other biological information taken.

All hunters need to do is bring in the deer head with antlers (if male). From this, DNR officials will age the deer, measure the antlers and record the location and date of kill, according to Timothy C. Payne, district wildlife supervisor.

The information will help the DNR to better determine age structure and physical condition of the herd as a whole. In exchange for the information, hunters will receive a successful deer hunter patch (enclosed).

Youngster injured in car-bike accident

A 10-year-old Springfield Township boy was injured after riding his bicycle into the side of a passing car last week.

On Thursday, Oct. 25, Julie Mellen, of Independence Township, was driving east on Foster Road, Springfield Township, when the boy merged onto the roadway from his Clement Road driveway.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, the 32-year-old Brucedale Street woman swerved to avoid the boy, but the boy was unable to stop his bike and hit her car.

Shortly after 5:30 p.m., the boy was rushed to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, where he was treated and released the same day. Mellen, who was wearing her seat belt at the time of the accident, escaped injury.

Northcrest II receives A-OK from planners

The density around Dixie Highway and White Lake Commons is likely to get higher with the approval of the Northcrest II project.

On Oct. 25, the Independence Township Planning Commission voted 6-0 to approve an additional 20 units at condominium development. Commission member Daniel Travis was absent. Northcrest currently is comprised of 54 units on 28 acres.

The next 20 units were planned for six acres, zoned for multiple family residential. Located near the White Lake Commons plaza, the development will have roadway accesses on Dixie Highway and White Lake Road.

Commission members voiced support of the addition and said it would enhance the area.

"I think this project is going to be a very nice addition to the current development," said Bruce Mercado.

Joe Figa echoed Mercado's sentiments.

"It should look pretty nice when it's completed," Figa said.

Village council to appeal M-15 widening plans

Township.

"I'm sorry you didn't get the answer you wanted," Beaubien said. "My recommendation is five lanes and to look at driveway consolidation."

The concentrated number of driveways leading to the commercial businesses in the half-mile stretch has created a lot of traffic accidents, said Beaubien.

In 1987, 43 accidents were reported in that half-mile stretch; in 1988, 43; in 1989, 27.

After the meeting, village Manager Artemus Pappas said the number of driveway cuts will affect businesses in the area.

"The people (SEMCOG) keep glossing over the cuts," Pappas said.

During the meeting, Beaubien said local governments should watch for such potential problems as unsafe curb cuts when reviewing site plans.

Council members voiced concern over an M-15 bottleneck, Main Street parking and the preservation of the village's historic district.

If M-15 is widened to five lanes, a bottleneck will be created when five lanes narrow to two lanes on M-15 at Paramus. That's particularly a problem for northbound traffic.

"It's moving the safety factor up closer to town --

"I'm sorry you didn't get the answer you wanted. My recommendation is five lanes and to look at driveway consolidation."

Engineer Richard Beaubien

there's no getting rid of the problem," said Trustee Dominic Mauti.

Trustee James Schultz added, "People will go faster."

"It will take care of the smaller accidents, but there will be bigger accidents," Mauti said.

Parking on Main Street was another concern for council members, who feared that the highway would some day be widened through the village.

Trustee Eric Haven said Main Street parking should be preserved to keep the village business district intact. The historic residential area, north of the business district, could also be in jeopardy with increased traffic that could result from the M-15 widening. That area, too, should be protected, according to council members.

After the meeting, Pappas said, "It's easy to see that the long picture would be to make all of M-15 into five lanes, even though they (MDOT) say they are not going to."

Pappas said he would like to see something in writing from SEMCOG and MDOT that M-15 through the village business and historic district would not become five lanes.

In a letter to MDOT and SEMCOG, Catallo said the village is trying to divert heavy truck traffic around the village, and A&P grocery store has moved to a new location, thus reducing the amount of traffic even more on M-15.

Catallo said she wasn't certain that residents living close to the area were aware of how the widening would affect their home values, but she hoped they would show concern.

"I don't know if we can get this decision changed, but I have to try," Catallo said.

3 Wolf runners earn trip to state meet

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Three Clarkston runners qualified for state and four Wolves earned all-league status in cross-country action last week.

Class A Holly Regionals (Oct. 27 at Swartz Creek GC) Clarkston (boys) 5th

The Wolf boys' team placed fifth with 117 points, highlighted by Jim Haviland's ninth-place finish (16:52) and Todd Wozniak's 21st finish (17:17). Both seniors qualified for the state meet this Saturday at the University of Michigan Golf Course in Ann Arbor.

Freshman Angie Brown also qualified for the girls' state meet by placing 18th (21:26).

Walled Lake Western won the boys' regional with 73 points, followed by Lakeland, 76, and Milford, 77. The top three teams qualify for state in addition to the individual qualifiers.

Brian Pickl of Milford was medalist, finishing at 15:57.

Host Holly won the girls' regional with 58 points, followed by Milford, 66, and Brighton, 85.

GOAL Meet (Oct. 23 at Independence Oaks) Clarkston (boys) 2nd

Clarkston (girls) 2nd

Clarkston boys placed three runners in the top 11 and Angie Brown defeated all league foes at the Greater Oakland Activities League meet Oct. 23.

Brandon won the boys meet with 37 points, followed by Clarkston (58), Lake Orion (83), Pontiac Northern (98), Waterford Mott (112), Waterford Kettering (135).

Haviland earned all-league status by finishing a strong fourth (17:16) at the meet, which was won by Waterford Kettering's Brodie Laduc (16:49). Last year's league champ, Pontiac Northern's Dionne Finney, finished seventh (17:26).

Wolf Wozniak finished 10th, teammate Jacob Kniss was 11th, Brad Patterson 15th, Paul Brisson 18th, Duane Poole 24th and Steve Tungate 27th.

Lake Orion repeated as girls' champion with 34 points, followed by Clarkston (4), Waterford Kettering (74) and Brandon (86).

Brown, a freshman, crossed the finish line first at 22:03, easily defeating second-place finisher Jennifer Farrell of Kettering (22:48).

Wolf freshman Melissa Mutter was fifth (23:02), senior Amy Rayner was close behind in sixth (23:04), senior Stacey Secatch placed 18th (26:20) and freshman Kristie McGee was 25th (31:15).

Brown, Mutter and Rayner earned all-league honors for their finishes.

Kettering takes over lead in GOAL race

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Waterford Kettering controlled the basketball game and thus controlled the league championship.

The revenge-minded and host Captains stopped Clarkston, 55-46, Oct. 24, to win the biggest Greater Oakland Activities League game of the season.

Kettering's only GOAL loss occurred weeks earlier when the Wolves dramatically downed the Captains by one point. Clarkston split games with Pontiac Northern while the Captains beat the Huskies twice.

Both teams have a few GOAL games remaining, but are not expecting any upsets.

"We got a little helter-skelter out there," said Wolf coach Larry Mahrle about the loss at Kettering. "We got out of our game plan."

Captain Jen Land, after missing several games because of a knee injury, scored 10 points. But it was another Captain that gave the Wolves fits.

"We never boxed out Julie Schmitt," said Mahrle about Schmitt's 21-point, 15 rebound performance.

Clarkston's three-year starter Jennifer McChesney, who has had some classic battles with her friend and foe Land over the years, paced the Wolves with 16 points, including two 3-pointers. Sister Alyson McChesney poured in 14 points and one 3-pointer and Heather Steinhelper netted 13 with one 3-pointer. Beth Walker scored two and Courtney Whitaker added one.

Kettering led 26-22 at the half and 39-34 after three quarters. The Wolves pulled to within three in the last quarter but a Captain surge put the game out of reach.

The Wolves will also be getting ready to host district action, which begins Nov 12.

Despite the loss and the probable second-place finish, Mahrle has been quite happy with his team's performance.

"The girls have been overachievers," said Mahrle, who points out that most GOAL coaches predicted the Wolves would finish anywhere from second to fourth in the league.

Clarkston 69, Lake Orion 33 (Oct. 26 at Clarkston)

It was the McChesney sisters 43 and Lake Orion 33, and the Wolves 69 and the Dragons 33 in GOAL action Oct. 26.

Alyson McChesney scored 24 points and grabbed 18 rebounds and Jennifer McChesney netted 19, which included three 3-pointers.

The win gave the Wolves a 13-record overall and a 6-2 mark in the GOAL.

Clarkston jumped out ahead 15-2 after the first eight minutes, extended the bulge to 34-16 at intermission, then continued to dominate in the second half.

Steinhelper added 10 points for the Wolves, Walker and Whitaker added four, Stacey Tinkis, Laura Seitz, Carrie Roeser and Lesley Allen each scored two. Roeser also had seven steals.

Mary Armstrong led the Dragons with 14 points.

Lake Orion won the JV game, 32-25.

Swinging from the heels

Right on the mark

Autumn automatically brings about falling leaves, cooler weather, shorter days and, add to that list, David Marks kicking extra points.

Marks just completed his senior year of football nailing 25-of-25 PATs. The 5-foot, 6-inch, 138-pounder also connected on four of seven field goal attempts this season, including one for 41 yards.

"He very well could be the best kicker ever at the school," said Clarkston head coach Kurt Richardson. "And he's made some big tackles for us, too."

One of those was a touchdown-and-game-saving tackle late in the game against Pontiac Northern this season. The Wolves finished the year at 6-3 and nearly made the playoffs.

Marks is no stranger to perfect years kicking PATs. His sophomore year he kicked 22-of-22 while playing JV.

He credits his success to "keeping his eye on the ball" while kicking.

And before kicking, he never looks up. He knows there are aggressive and often noisy defensive linemen itching for the chance to block a kick.

"I can feel it," says Marks about that tension on the other side of the line. But he never saw it, only seeing where holder Chad Hetherington would place the ball.

"I don't think about anything before kicking. I go out there and just do it," said Marks.

Marks will be the first person to say that kicking isn't a one-man operation. He gives credit to his holder Hetherington (who placed the ball for Marks for three years) and his snapper, Mike Stanton.

Marks has praises for assistant coach Don Buchanan.

"He's helped me a lot," said Marks about Buchanan, who used to kick himself for Central Michigan University.

Buchanan said Marks still "needs work on leg strength," but said the senior has a "good live leg."

Marks, who attended a kicking camp at Albion College in the summer, averaged getting the ball back to the opponent's 8-yard line on kickoffs and most of the time those kickoffs have had a good amount of height.

DAVID Marks kicks an extra point against Garden City as Chad Hetherington holds. Marks was a perfect 25-for-25 in PATs this season.

Buchanan and Marks both feel the kicker has a good chance of being a walk-on for some college team next fall. Marks plans on majoring in business.

Buchanan also points out that Marks has another ingredient to being a good kicker. "He works well on his own," said Buchanan.

Practice after practice, Marks spent much of his time alone kicking while the other players would be passing or running.

"I get teased for it. They think I've got it easy," said Marks about some good-natured ribbing from his teammates. But once it's game time, those teammates appreciate and know Marks was all-business.

Marks' chances for running or passing were put to an end when he suffered a back injury several years ago.

His soccer-style kicking in football originated from his playing soccer from kindergarten through eighth grade. He also kicked for the Clarkston Chiefs.

He started to kick for Clarkston Junior High, but left because the Wolverines rarely scored that year. No touchdowns means no PATs.

But the Wolves' offensive attack kept Marks busy.

And Marks kept referees busy all season, making them raise both hands straight above their heads.

3 Wolves earn GOAL honors

Golfers swing statistically

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dave Studt edged Derek Bildstein for the best overall 9-hole average for Clarkston High School varsity golfers this season.

Studt finished with a 43.6 average while playing in 13 dual matches and three tournaments. Bildstein had a 43.7 average overall, competing in 11 dual matches and three tournaments.

The total number of matches played for each player varied, with those shooting the best scores in matches or practice earning the chance to compete more often.

The Wolves, who will have nearly all of their golfers returning next season, finished the season 9-4 overall and 7-3 in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Golfer	Dual Ave.	Tourney Ave.	Overall
Dave Studt	44.1 (13)	85.3 (3)	43.6
Derek Bildstein	44.2 (11)	85.7 (3)	43.7
Jason Head	42.5 (10)	96.5 (2)	44.1
Pete Luster	44.1 (11)	90.0 (2)	44.3
Jason Jarvis	44.4 (10)	91.5 (2)	44.8
Jeff Coxen	46.2 (5)	88.5 (2)	45.9
Mike Brown	47.2 (6)	89.0 (1)	46.5
Marc Swartout	47.7 (6)	—	47.7

second behind GOAL champion Lake Orion.

Studt was chosen all-league. Bildstein and Jason Jarvis were named honorable mention.

Above is a chart listing the top eight Wolf golfers' dual average, tournament average and overall average. The number of matches played are indicated within the parenthesis.

Tough Bulldogs end Wolves' playoff dream

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Vince Lombardi once said his Green Bay Packers never lost a football game—time had just run out while they were behind.

Time ran out Friday night for the Clarkston varsity, with its playoff chances finally ending, appropriately, on the last play of the game.

With the ball on the Brighton 35, three seconds left and the Wolves down 16-14, Quarterback Dugan Fife launched a bomb into the end zone. The ball was tipped up but its flight down to the grass clinched a playoff berth for the visiting Bulldogs. Brighton, 8-1, will now face Traverse City at Mount Pleasant Saturday in a Region 1 Class AA playoff.

At one point it looked as if Wolf head coach Kurt Richardson was going to gamble on the foot of David Marks for a long 51-yard field goal attempt (or possibly a fake) instead of the "Hail Mary," but that distance was out of range for the senior kicker. A 41-yard attempt by Marks just a few minutes earlier had fallen a few feet short.

"This was the first round of the playoffs for us," said Brighton head coach Bill Murray about the importance of the game. "They're (Clarkston) one of the better teams in the state."

No one had to tell Richardson about the quality of his team, a 6-3 squad which lost to two playoff teams (Brighton and Troy) by a combined seven points and to Lake Orion, which nearly made the playoffs.

"It rips your guts out," said Richardson about the close loss which ended Clarkston's chances of becoming the first Wolf team since 1977 to compete in post-season play. "But these kids never gave up."

The two best examples of his team not giving up were the trimming of a 16-

"It rips your guts out."

Coach Kurt Richardson

7 Bulldog lead and then the last drive that nearly worked, which started on the Wolves' own 20-yard line with 50 seconds left.

Richardson felt one of the game's keys was the Wolves not capitalizing on good field position in the opening period.

"We wasted a quarter," said Richardson about his team which ended up having more first downs (15-11) than Brighton. "We should have scored early on to take the advantage."

Neither team scored in the first quarter. But Bulldog Todd Nibbe broke the shutout when he returned a punt 82 yards for a touchdown. Several Wolves were near Nibbe as he first began his run but he somehow evaded them and raced down the right sideline. Rusty Larson kicked the PAT.

Clarkston running back Dan Griffiths tied the game before the half on a 3-yard touchdown run. Marks, who finished the season with a perfect 25 of 25 PATs, kicked the conversion.

The Bulldogs regained the lead in the third quarter when Larson kicked a 24-yard field goal.

Brighton increased that lead minutes later to 16-7 when Brian Mahier ran 20 yards for a touchdown. The Bulldog kicker was so excited about the PAT, he forgot to bring the kicking tee onto the field, thus missing the conversion.

After the ensuing kickoff, the Wolves drove 63 yards with Fife scoring on a 1-yard sneak. Marks' kick made it 16-14 before the start of the final quarter.

The fourth quarter field goal attempt and the last-second "Hail Mary" were the last good chances of any possible Wolf comeback.

The game was close statistically. The Wolves rushed for 120 yards while the Bulldogs ran for 141. Fife completed 12 of 21 passes for 114 yards with no interceptions while Brighton connected on 1 of 18 for 115 yards (Jon Wynnemko intercepted one Bulldog pass).

Griffiths rushed for 89 yards on 16 carries. Fife ran 11 times for 21 yards, Matt Howe carried three times for 12 and Steve Black ran once for eight.

Fife completed passes to five different receivers. Griffiths caught four for 33 yards, Chris Figa grabbed four for 31, Wynnemko caught two for 13, David Smith grabbed one for 28 and Kevin Juzysta caught one for nine.

Defensively for Clarkston, Joel Davis was all over the field with six solo tackles and 10 assists. Kurt Golarz had five solos and two assists, Brian Davis five solos and one assist, Dereck Raymond four solos and four assists, Wynnemko four solos and two assists, Mike Moller four solos and one assist, Mike Stanton and Joe Webb three solos each, and Damon Michelsen two solos and five assists. Michelsen also recovered a Bulldog fumble.

About the winner:

Steve Himburg, Clarkston Junior High School head football coach and Clarkston News guest picker for games Oct. 26-28, picked an amazing 18 of 20 games correctly to win $50 in The Clarkston News Football contest.

Himburg only guessed wrong by picking Clarkston over Brighton and West Virginia over Boston College. But his choices of the Jets over the Oilers, St. Joseph's over Wayne State, Green Bay over Minnesota, Colorado over Oklahoma and San Diego over Tampa Bay were shrewd picks.

M. Parker Bates Jr. of Independence Township, a past winner, picked 16 correctly, as did Suzanne Antonazzo of Independence Township and Mark Warner of Clarkston.

Clarkston News sportswriter James Gibowski picked 12 games correctly.

Recreation Roundup

ADULT OPEN BASKETBALL

The Open-Basketball League begins Sunday, Dec. 2. Sign up as teams. Names also will be taken of individuals wishing to be placed on a team. Those names will given to the managers.

MOTHER-SON DANCE

Moms, bring your best guy(s), from grades K-3, out for a night of refreshments, dancing and an all-around good time.

The event is set for 6:30-8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 13, at the Senior Citizen Carriage House (within Clintonwood Park). The cost is $5, and early reservation is advised. Tickets can be purchased at the rec. department.

PONY BASKETBALL LEAGUES (15-18 years)

The Pony Basketball League will begin Sunday, Dec. 2. The rec. department requests that teams sign up. However, individual names will be taken and passed along to team managers.

League notices will be sent to returning teams from the 1990 season Nov. 26.

ADULT CPR

Anyone interested in learning the valuable skill of cardiopulmonary resuscitation will have the opportunity to do so for free on Wednesday, Nov. 7, or Monday, Nov. 19.

The classes, from 6 to 10 p.m., will take place at Fire Station #2 on the corner of Sashabaw and Clarkston Roads, Independence Township.

No costs are involved except for those people who may want to purchase a book at the class for $10. Registrations are limited.

ADULT OPEN GYM SCHEDULE

Mondays - Pine Knob Elementary, 7-10 p.m.

Wednesdays - Clarkston High School, 7-10 p.m. (not available on Nov. 7 and after Dec. 19)

Thursdays - North Sashabaw Elementary, 6-10 p.m., (not available Nov. 22)

A $1 charge is collected at the door of each open gym location.

It's a good idea to call the Parks and Recreation Department the day of each open gym to confirm its availability. Occasionally the schools will call and cancel the open gym times for their own use.

There will be no open gyms over the Thanksgiving or Christmas holidays. Schools are closed.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Call 625-8223 or stop by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. The office is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Jokisch returns to Wolf court

Everyone had thought Rhonda Jokisch played her last basketball game ever on Clarkston's court last fall, but they were wrong.

Jokisch, who teamed up with fellow Twin Tower Susan McKoin last season, will once again play at Clarkston High School, but this time as a freshman on the Michigan Wolverine squad.

The Wolverines, a 1990 NCAA tournament team, will be playing an intrasquad game in Clarkston, Wednesday, Nov. 7 at 7 p.m.

Admission is free.

Brighton wears down JV Wolves in finale

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's JV football team failed to take advantage of first-half field position, losing to undefeated Brighton, 25-6, last Thursday.

The Wolves ran 39 plays in the first half and had the ball five times inside the Bulldogs' 25, but could only score once.

And after the hosts took a 13-6 lead at the half, Brighton shut down the Wolves in the second half.

"They physically wore us down," said Clarkston coach John Craven. "They left us drained. We had nothing left in the second half."

Brighton's JV squad finished 9-0, the school's freshmen were also 9-0 and the varsity 8-1.

Clarkston finished its season 5-2-1, not losing since its opener against Troy.

"Our kids played hard," said Craven. "The Brighton coach said we were the toughest team they played this year."

Brighton opened the scoring in the first quarter for a 7-0 lead.

Clarkston got on the scoreboard with 5:00 left in the second quarter on a 14-yard run by Greg Fisher. Matt Smith's kick for the PAT failed.

On the ensuing kickoff, Brighton ran the ball back for a quick touchdown. Wolf Tom Duty blocked the extra point and the Bulldogs took a 13-6 advantage into intermission.

Clarkston stopped Brighton's opening drive in the third quarter. The Wolves then made it to the Bulldog 30 but were halted at that point.

Clarkston later fumbled on a lateral and the Bulldogs recovered, setting up a score and a 19-6 lead.

The Wolves made it as far as the Brighton 35 in the last quarter, but the Bulldogs held and drove 65 yards for the last score.

The Wolves rushed for 154 yards, with Fisher totaling 101 on 20 carries.

Quarterback Nick Shires completed 11 of 22 passes for 88 yards. Smith caught four passes for 56 yards and Adam Rice grabbed four for 18.

Marc May paced the Wolves with six tackles, Jeff Tyrrell had 5 1/2, Matt May, Andy Howe and Duty each had five and Chris Combs totaled 4 1/2. Smith also intercepted a Bulldog pass.

Fire hazard prompts coffeemaker recall in U.S.

A few models of coffeemakers have been recalled because they could overheat and pose a potential fire hazard, according to Bob Cesario of the Independence Township Fire Department.

Cesario said the Michigan Fire Service News listed coffeemakers from Proctor Silex, Inc., which manufactured automatic drip coffeemakers between June 1985 and November 1986 and is conducting a voluntary recall of its products.

The coffeemakers were sold under the Proctor-Silex, Sears Counter Craft, Sears Kenmore and J.C. Penney brands.

To determine if your coffeemaker is being recalled, check the model and series numbers on the bottom of your coffeemaker to see if they match the list of recall numbers below.

If the numbers match, stop use immediately and call toll-free 1-800-341-3333 for confirmation and instructions on how to return the coffeemaker for a free replacement.

If the numbers do not match, your coffeemaker is not being recalled. Below is the list of brands and model numbers that are being recalled:

Proctor-Silex brand: A415AL, A416AL, 1416N, A420AL, A435AL, A450AL, A500W, A510W and A500S, A505N and A507W.

Sears Counter Craft and Kenmore brands: 360.480293 (last digit may vary), 360.480272 (last digit may vary).

J.C. Penney brand: 784-2178H (last letter may be "O").

Proctor-Silex 4-digit series numbers and J.C. Penney "O" numbers (last four digits only): 2458, 3058, 3158, 3258, 3358, 3458, 3558, 3658, 3758, 3858, 3958, 4058, 4158, 4258, 4358, 4458, 4558, 4658, 4758, 4858, 4958, 5058, 5158, 0268, 0368, 0468, 0568, 0668, 0768, 0868, 0968, 1068, 1168, 1268, 1368, 1468, 2068, 2168, 2268, 2368, 2468, 2568, 2668, 2968, 3068, 3168, 3268, 3368, 3468, 3568, and 4868.

Busy mom enjoys creative activities

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Monarae Dunn likes everything to be "just so," she says. That attitude helps her in her work, home, family and love of drawing.

But keeping things just so within her home gets a little crazy at times with her large family, she says.

Monarae was the divorced mother of two children when she married her husband, Rodney, about seven

"My first husband thought women shouldn't work outside of the home and that I should take in ironing."

Monarae Dunn

years ago. Their combined family added up to six children, from age 18 to 26.

The Dunns extend their family even farther and include three close friends of their children as their own children. Now the grandchildren are arriving. They have five at this time, and three more are to be expected in the spring, including a set of twins.

Monarae's energy seems to be boundless as she lists her home and work activities.

"I designed and helped build this house," Monarae says of the home on Andersonville Road, Springfield Township, she constructed with her former husband.

"This kitchen was designed by a woman," she says,

Some of Monarae's work is displayed publicly. She painted the murals at Andersonville Elementary and also designed the seal for Springfield Township.

pointing to the cooking and laundry areas that make up one large room.

Now she's extending her design farther — into the yard — and has helped design and construct a converted barn into a studio with different work areas.

When Monarae's not designing something for her home or helping her husband at his business, Dunn's Auto Detailing, she works full time in quality control at Pine Design. Recently, her hours have dropped to about 40 a week (from about 60), and with the extra time on her hands, she decided it was time to start painting portraits, Monarae says.

"I used to sketch portraits during lunch hour (in high school) and charge $5," she remembers.

Some of Monarae's work is displayed publicly. She painted the murals at Andersonville Elementary and also designed the seal for Springfield Township.

She's designed signs for travel trailers as well as for Nanjo's Pizza on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township. She also has created needlepoint canvas designs, and she's currently designing leaded glass windows for the front windows of her home.

Monarae's not afraid to tackle any job that comes along.

MONARAE DUNN, a woman of many talents, paints portraits part time. She is pictured with a portrait of her daughter, Angela, and a sketch of granddaughter, Jessica, in her home on Andersonville Road, Springfield Township.

"My first husband thought women shouldn't work outside of the home and that I should take in ironing," Monarae says.

But there doesn't seem to be a job that Monarae won't perform.

"When my two children went up north for a weekend, I built a swing set for them because they were a little taller than normal," she says, pointing to the tall swing set that still sits in the backyard.

In the barn that's under construction, Monarae is planning an area for auto designing and detailing, a studio area upstairs, an office area and a wood shop. All will be under one roof.

Monarae even built and designed the stairs leading to her studio.

"Someone told me a woman can't build stairs," she laughs, gesturing to her handiwork.

Monarae says she's looking forward doing portraits in her new studio. But for now she paints in the kitchen of her home or on the deck when the weather cooperates.

She would like the luxury of working with live models, but most people don't have that kind of time, Monarae says. For the time being, she'll continue to paint portraits from photographs.

Rotary gift helps leukemia sufferer

Leukemia sufferer Joette Kovacik recently received a cordless AT&T telephone from Clarkston Rotary Club President Dick Beardsley and President-elect Brent Cooley.

The telephone will help Joette overcome her impaired mobility due to her devastating disease.

She is seeking donations to help pay for a bone marrow transplant, an operation that is expected to cost about $165,000. Medical insurance will not cover an operation involving a less than perfect match in tissue, which is likely to be Joette's case.

So far, fund-raising efforts have yielded $10,000. To help Joette meet her rising medical bills, donations can be made at the North Oakland Community Credit Union, telephone: 338-9694. Financial and other forms of support also can be made by calling the Kovaciks at 674-0785.

A Waterford Township resident, Joette is a graduate of Clarkston Alternative Education.

In service

Marine Pvt. Owen J. Stout, a 1990 Clarkston High School senior, has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

Grads

Susan H. Young of Dark Lake Road, Independence Township, received a bachelor of arts degree from Ohio State University Aug. 30. Susan was affiliated with Phi Mu social sorority while attending Ohio State.

Matthew W. Hargett and Martin P. Puroll of the Clarkston area were among the about 900 students who completed degree requirements this summer at Lawrence Technological University, Southfield. Both earned degrees in mechanical engineering.

Nelson, Powers exchange vows

Marget Elaine Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Nelson of Davisburg, and Patrick Joseph Powers II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Powers of Grass Lake, were married Saturday, May 12, at Calvary Lutheran Church of Clarkston.

The Rev. Robert Walters of Calvary Lutheran Church and the Rev. David Harvey of St. John's Catholic Church of Fenton performed the ceremony before 150 guests.

Organist was Susie Jones, and the flutist was Michelle Groven-Nelson. Jim Hokenson sang "With You," and Inger Nelson and Phil Powers sang the duet, "Vow Song," the lyrics of which were written by the bride and bridegroom.

The bride wore a short-sleeved, white satin gown with a modest train. The bodice and sleeves were trimmed in lace, sequins and pearls. She wore a circular headpiece of pearls and a white tulle veil.

Inger Nelson of Kalamazoo, the bride's sister, was the maid of honor. She wore a floral print, ankle-length dress in blues and pinks on a white, gray and charcoal background in blue mini heels.

Bridesmaids were Martha Huttenlocher of Royal Oak and Jan Powers of Grass Lake, sister of the bridegroom. Their dresses were the same as the maid of honor's. They carried bouquets of spring flowers.

The bride's mother wore a tailored mint green silk suit with a matching multi-colored blouse in mint green, tan, blues and purples.

The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece silk pink knit dress with a floral design on the bodice.

Other attendants were Emily and Renie Cavanaugh of Lansing and Katie Powers, niece of the bridegroom.

Best man was Phillip Powers of New York City, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Eric Wied-

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Joseph Powers II.

mayer of Grass Lake and Brian Kuepele of Farmington Hills. Ushers were Bill Merkel of Hartford, Conn., and Greg Mulholland of Grand Blanc, friends of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the Spring Lake Country Club in Clarkston.

The newlyweds took a honeymoon camping trip to the upper peninsula. They are living in Mount Pleasant, where both are completing their master's degrees in educational communication at Central Michigan University.

The bride is a graduate of Clarkston High School and Central Michigan University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Chelsea High School and Central Michigan, where he is a graduate teaching assistant.

Home serves as a diner for deer

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Springfield Township home has been serving as a "deer diner" for the past four years.

Garry and Bonnie Upcott of Pine Ridge Lane have been frequented by deer ever since they've been in the area. Their home is located next to a heavily wooded area that abounds with wildlife.

According to Bonnie Upcott, the family lays out carrots and salt licks in their backyard. This ritual is done all year long.

However, when winter's blustery season arrives, the family puts out large amounts of corn for the hungry deer.

THESE wooden deer are often visited by their flesh and blood counterparts at the Upcott residence in Springfield Township. The replicas are situated next to the feeding area, but the deer are more interested in the food than their lifeless comrades.

And they mean a lot of corn. "From January to April, we buy about 800 pounds of corn for the deer," Bonnie Upcott said. "We only put out the corn during the real cold months. It would be a little overbearing, financially, if we put corn out all year long."

"From January to April, we buy about 800 pounds of corn for the deer."

Bonnie Upcott

Upcott said the deer visit less frequently during the warm-weather months, due to the amount of food available in the woods. She also mentioned that her neighbors put out food for the deer, and they consistently clean up each offering.

At times, she said, the deer arrive in groups of six or seven. On one occasion, they witnessed 13 deer milling around the feed bin in the backyard. Recently, the most visible visitors are does, with one bringing her three yearlings on a regular basis.

However, the main attraction is when the lone buck arrives.

"He's huge, with a beautiful rack," Bonnie Upcott said. "The first time my husband saw him through the binoculars he could hardly contain himself."

Bonnie Upcott said her husband is a hunter — but only when he travels up north. At home, the deer serve as a type of soothing recreation.

"They are really fantastic animals to watch," Bonnie Upcott said. "Deer are as smart as they are beautiful. I see them staying in our area for a long time."

Time ticks when you're babysitting

Ashley Ball

Babysitting is a wonderful arrangement — parents pay a teen-ager to look after their child while they go out for a carefree evening of worry.

But things usually go well for me and my little charges. Babysitting, as I see it, is a teen-ager's last chance to really play — Lego's, Play-Dough, Lite-Brite — with an expert.

Unfortunately, when I was the babysitter, I was not always lucky to have a babysitter who was eager to play.

I remember one my mom hired when I was five. As soon as my parents left, the babysitter asked Laura and me if we'd like to play hide and seek. We hid, but she never came to find us. I'M NOT KIDDING! When my parents got home, three hours later, Laura and I were still hiding quietly under the bed. My mom was amazed that the house was so clean.

The only problem I've ever encountered occurred when I was babysitting this very intellectual four-year-old who only wanted to discuss the pros and cons of Mr. Roger's musical theory that children will never go down, never go down, never go down the drain. It was a slow evening. But, as I said, things usually go very playfully.

That's because I strictly adhere to the two basic NEVER and ALWAYS rules for successful babysitting.

1) NEVER bring along a surprise box — the kids you're sitting have much better toys than you have.

2) ALWAYS teach all the walking, talking kids THE PHRASE THAT PAYS ("The best variety ... 15 hits in a row ... 99.5 the FOX!!") in case they should answer the phone before you.

One of my frequent babysits is kindergartner T.J.

Karagosian, a Nintendo buff who wears Nintendo T-shirts, eats Zelda and Link-shaped Popsicles, and even named his new puppy Mario.

Once, T.J.'s mom asked me to babysit on a Sunday night. Since I go to church on Sunday nights, I offered to take T.J. along for the evening. We picked him up, and as we drove out of the neighborhood, T.J. leaned over my dad's shoulder and announced:

"I know what we could do!"

"What's that, T.J.?" my dad asked.

"Well," T.J. cleared his throat, then spoke right up, his eyes bright. "We could skip church and go to Ashley's house and play Nintendo!"

I also babysit T.J.'s neighbor, 4-year-old Christyn Reuter. A real sweetie, Christyn has a fetish for fancy shoes. No penny loafers, Keds, or Reeboks for her. Her mom says if it isn't flashy, Christyn isn't interested.

One day when I arrived to babysit, Christyn met me at the door and thrust a new pair of clear plastic jelly shoes in my face.

"Look, Ashley!" she cried in delight. "Glass slippers!"

But my little babysits and I have our sit-and-talk moments as well — like when 6-year-old Alex Kuhnell and I were discussing whether or not I was old enough to have car dates.

"What kind of car do you want to date, anyway?" he asked.

I glanced sidelong at him to see if he was joking. He wasn't.

"Oh, I don't know," I mused, "maybe a Lamborghini ... maybe a Geo."

"Yeah," he agreed, "... a Geo would be nice."

I glanced at the clock. "Come on, Alex," I said, "let's play a quick game of Monster Mash. Your parents will be home soon, and we'll have to put the toys away."

Clearly dismayed that our evening of games had passed so quickly, Alex grumbled, "Boy! Time ticks!"

During the last three years, I've had some good times babysitting. It's amazing, though, how quickly my babysits grow up. When I started sitting T.J. and his little sister, Audrey, she was just a baby. Now she walks and talks and everything!

But that's nothing compared to my shock this year when I noticed that two of my first babysits are in junior high — with me! Like Alex says, time ticks.

Ashley Ball is a ninth-grader at Clarkston Junior High School.

Instructors wanted

If you have a hobby, skill or talent, you may want to share it with others through Clarkston Community Education's Adult Enrichment program.

The program needs instructors to teach adult non-credit classes. Currently, classes are offered in the areas of: computers, business, professional development, health and wellness, arts/crafts and hobbies, and special events.

Obituary

Raymond C. Ebej

Raymond C. Ebej, 56, of Coconut Creek, Fla., and formerly of Pontiac died Oct. 26, 1990.

Mr. Ebej was an analyst for the Ford Motor Co. and was a member of the Pontiac Federation of Musicians and the American Theatre Organist Society and was the former organist for the Rolladium Roller Rink. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Pontiac and was organist for the Bethel United Church of Christ for 18 years.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sylvia Ebej of Union Lake; his children, Mrs. James (Tamara) Williams of Ortonville and Todd Ebej of Bradenton, Fla.; dear friend, Ronald Furman of Coconut, Fla.; two grandchildren; two stepgrandchildren; sisters, Joyce Chaitin of Citrus Heights, Calif., and Marilyn Schosnauer of Alturas, Calif.; brothers, Brian Ebej of North Olmstead, Ohio, Douglas Ebej of White Lake, and Fred Ebej of Shelton, Wash.; nine nieces; three nephews; and a cousin, Patricia Pyle of Union Lake.

The funeral was set for 11 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 31, at Ottawa Park Cemetery Chapel, Independence Township, with the Rev. Dan Gabler officiating. Burial also was set for Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Memorial tributes may be made to the Michigan Cancer Society.

Garden Corner

Creating mounds of mums easy any time of year

You might say that chrysanthemums are the stars of the autumn perennials garden.

They bloom profusely and continue to bloom after the first frosts have zapped tender annuals.

Mums offer a seemingly endless variety of flower sizes, colors and shapes. And, because they are perennial

"Mums are generally easy-care plants except that they need pinching in the spring and summer to form bushy, compact plants."

Tom Stebbins

plants, they come up and flower year after year without replanting.

Fall is a good time to select mums, suggests Tom Stebbins, extension horticulturist at Michigan State University, because you can see firsthand what each variety has to offer.

You can buy plants in bloom and simply pop them into sunny spots in the garden for instant and continuing enjoyment.

You can also plant flowering plants in the spring, he points out, or green cuttings.

The best spot for mums combines fertile, well-drained soil with plenty of sunlight, Stebbins says.

Mulching the ground is a good idea, he suggests. In the spring, summer and fall, a couple of inches of course mulch suppresses weed growth and conserves soil moisture. In the winter, 3-to-4 inches of mulch protects the plant's crown from freezing and frost heaving.

After plant tops die in the fall, cut them to the ground and dispose of them away from the planting site. This removes any disease organisms that might be present on the old foliage or stems. Then mulch.

In the spring, remove about half the winter mulch in early April and loosen the rest. Finish removing the winter mulch in early May.

"Mums are generally easy-care plants except that they need pinching in the spring and summer to form bushy, compact plants, and they grow quickly and need dividing about every two years," Stebbins says.

Pinching is simply removing about a half-inch from the growing tip of each stem every two weeks from the time new spring growth reaches 6-to-8 inches in height until about July 15.

Without pinching, plants tend to develop tall, weak stems and few flowers, Stebbins explains.

Dividing plants every other year reduces crowding, which can contribute to foliage disease development, and provides new plants for the garden.

Divide plants in the spring, after the average date of the last killing frost.

Lift plants out of the soil and gently wash some of the soil from the roots. Separate the plants carefully, replant the small ones and discard the old ones.

To reduce the chance of disease in mums, plant in well-drained areas with good air movement, Stebbins advises.

Plant low-growing, bushy varieties 2-to-2 1/2 feet apart, and other, more compact mums 1-to-1 1/2 feet apart to minimize crowding.

Good air circulation around plants is important in preventing the development of fungus diseases, which thrive on wet foliage.

Water mums deeply once a week during dry weather, keeping water off the foliage as much as possible and watering early in a day so leaves can dry quickly, Stebbins says. Several plant diseases and insects can plague garden mums. A well-selected planting site, proper spacing and a fall garden cleanup can go a long way to preventing pest problems.

Hail, hail Michigan

Tracy King

"Nothing's as Good as a Michigan Meal" proved to be true Oct. 17 at a chef competition sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Though the winning recipes may not be the most healthful, more than 20 of their ingredients hail from Michigan, so they've got to be good, right?

The following recipes were developed by Charles D. Rachwitz of Charley's Crab in Detroit, the winner in the competition.

PARSNIP PANCAKES WITH NORTHERN SPY APPLES, SOUR CREAM AND WHITEFISH CAVIAR

Serves 4 to 6

- 3/4 pound parsnips, peeled and coarsely grated
- 1/2 Northern Spy apple, peeled and coarsely grated
- 1/4 cup onion, finely diced
- 1/4 cup flour
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon fresh thyme, finely chopped (or 1 teaspoon dried)
- 1 tablespoon olive oil for cooking
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 4 tablespoons whitefish caviar
- 1 tablespoon fresh chives, snipped

Combine parsnips, onion, apple, thyme and flour; toss gently. Lightly beat eggs and fold into mixture. Add salt and pepper, toss gently.

In nonstick fry pan, heat butter and olive oil. Form pancakes into silver dollar size by using approximately one ounce of mixture. Cook until golden-brown; 2-to-3 minutes on each side.

Place on platter and garnish each pancake with a dollop of sour cream and whitefish caviar.

GREAT LAKES PICKEREL BAKED WITH BLACK WALNUTS, CHARGRILLED ROMA TOMATO BASIL SAUCE AND GRILLED SWEET CORN SALSA

- 6 8-ounce pickerel filets, boned and skinned
- 1/2 cup black walnuts, finely chopped

- 1/4 cup bread crumbs
- 4 tablespoons oil
- salt and pepper

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Season fish with salt and pepper and brush with oil. Place on oiled cookie sheet. Combine black walnuts and bread crumbs; sprinkle down center of each filet. Bake for 8 to 10 minutes until fish flakes and topping is golden brown. Serve with Chargrilled Roma Tomato Sauce and Grilled Sweet Corn Salsa.

CHARGRILLED ROMA TOMATO BASIL SAUCE

- 1 1/2 pounds Roma tomatoes
- 3 shallots, finely diced
- 1 clove garlic, finely diced
- 6 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup Michigan Chardonnay
- 3 tablespoons basil, finely julienned
- Salt and freshly ground pepper

Remove stem and blacken each tomato over an open flame. Cut tomatoes in half and carefully squeeze to remove seeds but save the blackened skin. Place seeded tomatoes in blender and puree until smooth. (Tomatoes should be freckled with the blackened skin.)

Heat oil in a saute pan and cook shallots and garlic for one minute. Add tomato puree and wine. Season with salt and freshly ground pepper to taste. Reduce heat and simmer sauce until thickened, approximately five minutes.

As sauce simmers, skim foam and discard. Add basil. Cook for one minute; keep warm until ready to serve.

GRILLED SWEET CORN SALSA

- 4 ears fresh seasoned corn
- 1/4 cup red onion, finely diced
- 1/2 of a red pepper, finely diced
- 1/2 of a green pepper, finely diced
- 1 tablespoon cilantro, finely diced
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- Juice of 1 lime
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Freshly ground pepper to taste
- 1 small tomato, skinned, seeded and diced

Shuck corn and place in pot with 1/2-inch boiling water; cover and steam for 7-to-8 minutes. Place corn on hot grill and cook until golden; refrigerate until cool enough to handle. Cut corn off cob. Toss remaining ingredients with corn. Refrigerate until ready to serve, but serve at room temperature.

Garnish pickerel with tomato basil sauce and sweet corn salsa.

CORNUCOPIA COOKIES

- 4 egg whites
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup powdered sugar
- 3/4 cup all purpose flour
- 4 ounces melted, unsalted butter, cooled
- 1 tablespoon vanilla

Preheat oven to 350. In large bowl, whisk egg whites and sugar lightly until sugar is dissolved. Whisk in flour until well-blended; add melted butter and vanilla. Spray bottom of cookie sheet and pour 6 4-inch circles of batter on tray; bake until golden brown.

Remove from oven and immediately form into cones. If cookies become too brittle to roll, place in oven for one minute. Keep cooled cookies covered until ready to serve with Late Summer Peppered Fruits.

LATE SUMMER PEPPERED FRUITS

- 1/2 pint raspberries
- 1 ripe peach, peeled and sliced
- 1 cup blueberries
- 6 pieces Bay City Honeyrock melon; each piece sliced into four attached to form a fan
- 1 teaspoon table grind black pepper
- 1 teaspoon granulated sugar
- 1 tablespoon Grand Marnier liqueur
- 2 teaspoons Pernod liqueur
- 1 1/2 cups heavy cream
- Fresh mint

Place in large bowl all fruit except Honeyrock melon; add black pepper and toss gently. Add sugar, Grand Marnier and Pernod. Gently fold in cream.

Place fanned melon slice on each plate. Place cornucopia cookie opposite melon and fill with peppered fruit, spilling fruit from cookie to the melon. Evenly distribute remaining sauce on plate and garnish with fresh mint.

PEAR STRAWBERRY SPARKLING WATER

- 2 ripe Bartlett pears, peeled and diced
- 1 cup strawberries, sliced
- 1 cup ice cubes
- 16 ounces sparkling water
- Sugar to taste

In a blender, puree pears and strawberries. Add sparkling water and ice cubes; puree until smooth. Taste and blend in small amounts of sugar as needed. Pour into six stemmed glasses and serve with dessert.

Pet of the Week

CORY'S short and sweet. He likes children but not other animals.

He'd turn your home into a castle

Cory is a Pembroke Welsh corgi. One characteristic of the Welsh corgi is the short legs, and Cory is no exception. His short legs make him look quite stocky.

The 3-year-old has been neutered, and he's housebroken. His adoption fee is $35.

Cory is orange and white, resembling the color of a fox.

He's good with children, but Cory doesn't like to be around other animals. He'd have to be "king of the castle," according to a shelter worker.

To see Cory, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Auburn Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

WHO IS ON THE LORD'S side? He that listens to lying vanities forsakes his own mercy (Job 27:8) (Job 37:24). (Dan 4:37) (Psa 7:9). Christians are not sinners saved by grace but in Grace, by repentance, saved out of their sins never to willfully return to sin, by the renewing of the mind to the Word of God, to obey, Holy and unblameable before God! We are Holy, righteousness of God in Christ and called into light (truth) and have a relationship with Him, not sinning! Christians are not in sin, or have it in them, and Holy at the same time nor once saved always saved forever. Obedience to the Word of God (faith) is the key which is true faith which works by love for God and His wisdom who he says he is. Its impossible to be a Christian and still believing your in sin at the same time or have a demon as a Christian. You are in Christ filled with power and love to obey Him or a hypocrite believing the traditions of men, selfish, disobeying God from the heart having an appearance of Godliness but filled with pride deceiving men: if you say you are in sin in your thoughts, deeds, and word every day and claim you know God at the same time you are a hypocrite, deceived of men, loving to listen to lies, and have not a love for the truth to walk in it. You are lost and deceived and love to have it that way if you are not seeking to know the truth. You are in sin and an enemy of God and His Christ because you hate the truth and will not come to the light. You are too lazy and its easier to go with the flow of men's religion - The Harlot - to Hell. (1 Pet 4:18) IILX43-2

You give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrongs that are done to me and you are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones, in your perpetual glory. Amen. Persons must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking for your wish. After the 3rd day, your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. IIRX44-2*

Wary at first

THESE BASHFUL young men step into the world of street dancing a little warily. Until they learn the steps to the music, they hang back and observe the older kids. Dancing was one of the arts Clarkston Elementary School pupils could delve into on Friday, Oct. 26 -- the school's first Festival of the Arts. (Photos by Sandra G. Conlen)

TWO pupils give dancing a try during one of their stops Friday.

DANCERS from the Dance Place in Holly limber up before helping with routines that Clarkston Elementary School students will learn in street dancing.
