School site tested; Feb. 11 election set

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston Board of Education has taken two more steps toward the creation of a new Clarkston High School.

On Dec. 10, the board formally set Monday, Feb. 11, 1991, as the special election date. On this day, voters will face three bonding propositions.

The board also passed a resolution calling for an examination of the proposed high school site: a 110-acre parcel at the intersection of Flemings Lake and Clarkston roads.

According to Steve Lenar, director of business services for Clarkston schools, the site testing will cost about $33,000. Results of those engineering examinations will be relayed to the board later this week.

If voters approve, the site may be used to house a new high school as well as a new campus of Oakland

Community College.

On the Feb. 11 ballot will be a three-part package that will cost $84.75 million. The issues include an elementary option, a secondary option and a swimming pool option.

The options are detailed as such:

■ An elementary option, at $24.6 million, includes the construction of a new elementary school and renovation of all existing schools.

■ A secondary option, at $54.6 million, includes building and equipping a new high school; renovating the current high school as a middle school to replace Clarkston Junior High; and upgrading the current Sashabaw Junior High as a middle school.

■ A swimming pool option, at $5.4 million, includes the construction of a new swimming pool at the new, proposed school.

The facilities package would be paid for with a bond issue using zero coupon bonds, which spread the cost of the program equally over a 30-year period.

Fine, probation are penalty for burro death

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ronald Keen, 48, was sentenced last week to two years probation and $871 restitution for mistreating an American burro.

The Andersonville Road, Springfield Township, man also was ordered to spend five days in the Oakland County Jail. However, Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Fred Ziem suspended the sentence as long as Keen follows his probation.

Keen's probation includes a monthly inspection of all his animals by the Michigan Humane Society, which will receive the $871 in restitution. Keen must also pay for a licensed veterinarian to examine his animals if the probation department deems it necessary.

Keen raises horses, rabbits and goats on his farm. Most of the animals are exhibited by his sons in local and statewide 4-H programs.

The Dec. 5 sentencing stems from February 1989 when the 18-year-old burro, Lucky Star, was confiscated from Keen's farm. The humane society investigated the farm after receiving a tip from neighbors.

The investigators found the burro malnourished and standing two feet deep in his own manure. His hooves were in such poor condition that the burro had trouble walking.

At the humane society, workers tried to nurse the ailing burro back to health. It was there that the burro acquired the nickname "Milton Burro." Despite the efforts of the workers and an Auburn Hills veterinarian, the animal died five days later.

In mid-October, Keen was found guilty of animal cruelty in a trial that lasted six days.

Take precautions to prevent crime over holidays

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Historically, Christmas is considered one of the most joyous times of the year, but it's also a season known for its high crime rates.

Besides larcenies and break-ins, personal assaults are a major concern for police officials.

Dave Scott, a detective with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, offers helpful hints that could ensure you of a happy and safe holiday season.

■ Don't leave a business, store or party unescorted. There's safety in numbers, especially at night.

■ When shopping, don't park in remote, poorly lit areas.

■ When Christmas shopping, don't leave packages in your car uncovered. Put them in the trunk or hide them under the seats. This rule can also apply to car phones and radar detectors. Don't give someone a reason to break into your vehicle.

■ If you have a lot of shopping and can't hide all your presents, occasionally move your car. This way, a thief can't stake out your vehicle for a significant period of time.

■ Make sure the lights in and around your home work. Motion-oriented lighting systems can help scare away prospective prowlers.

■ If your vehicle breaks down, put your hood up and wait in your vehicle with the doors locked. When someone does stop to assist, crack your window and ask for them to call the police. Even if more than one person stops, keep requesting police assistance until a car actually arrives.

■ Be prepared in case your car quits or gets stuck in some desolate area. You should carry a hat, blanket and gloves in your vehicle. Salt and kitty litter can also help a car get traction if it becomes stuck.

■ Be responsible to family members. Leave a note indicating where you will be and when you'll expect to arrive back home.

■ In the case of celebrating the holidays, if you've had too much to drink, have someone sober drive you home. Spending the night at a friend's home can be another good option.

According to Scott, common sense should rule a person's habits during the holidays.

"Common sense is the bottom line during this time of the year," Scott said. "If people remember to think in terms of their own personal safety, it will make our jobs a lot easier."

Land bid turned down

A bid to buy a one-acre parcel at the intersection of M-15 and Waldon Road was turned down by the Independence Township Board Dec. 4.

Robert Martin submitted an offer of $75,000 for the three-parcel lot, so he could build a hamburger establishment. He had given the township a $100 check as a token of good faith.

The board voted unanimously to deny the offer. According to Supervisor Frank Ronk, the property is worth more than the $75,000 offered by Martin. With the denial, the $100 good-faith check will be returned to Martin.

Bids are still being accepted for the land.

Pedestrian hit by car

A 61-year-old Springfield Township woman is in an intensive care unit at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, after being struck by a car.

On Dec. 5, Aphride Hassopolis was struck by a car while trying to cross Dixie Highway near I-75. At 3:55 p.m. last Wednesday, the woman was hit by an automobile driven by Onda Clark, 43, of Springfield Township.

According to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Hassopolis walked in front of the south-bound vehicle. Clark tried to avoid the pedestrian but was unsuccessful.

No tickets were issued at the scene.

on the sofa. At meal times, the older kids take turns feeding the quintuplets, who can be demanding at times.

Life with the Springfield quintuplets

L'Esperances thrive on patience, pattern and play

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Ask the L'Esperances to describe the past three years as parents of quintuplets, and you'll inevitably hear of financial hardship and hard work.

You'll also hear stories of great fun. Like the unveiling of the family's Christmas tree, the first one the quints really acknowledge.

"We started early, the weekend after Thanksgiving," says Ray Sr., father of the tribe.

"We made them shut their eyes and led them into the living room to the couch," adds mom Michele. "They sat there and just looked. We told them if anyone touched the tree it would come down."

Almost three years old, the Springfield Township quints are now talking, bouncing preschoolers.

Along with the quints, the L'Esperances are parents to two boys, ages 10 and 7; two nieces; and two step-children, who visit on weekends.

Seated in the living room, Michele's lap is given up to Veronica, the quietest and most sensitive of the quints.

Ray is sprawled before the fireplace, the object of many kisses, hugs and romps from the other four, who crawl about him as a human ladder.

Despite the many distractions, Ray converses easily and without hesitation.

"I don't think people realize how normal we are," Ray says. "We might have more pressures — and certain aspects make for trying times — but people don't understand that we're just a normal family."

The L'Esperances are as normal as can be expected for a family of quintuplets — the country's first and world's second set to be conceived by in-vitro fertilization.

There are birthdays to plan and bedtimes to enforce. There is laundry to do and more laundry to do. The family thrives on routine.

"We do laundry every day," Michele says, simply.

When clean laundry is folded, the outfits are stacked in several groups of five to make dressing easier. At mealtime, the older children are each assigned a quint to feed. Bathtime is done in unison, with all the quints in the Jacuzzi at once.

The system works for everyday activity, but in certain stages, things can become pretty hectic, Ray explains.

"Our biggest thing lately is potty training," he says. "When one said they had to go potty, we'd have to undress them all."

Thankfully, this aspect of child-rearing is almost over, he adds.

The group concept has its pluses and minuses, says Ray.

When one quint learns something, he or she "teaches all the others." But when one quint makes mischief, the damage is usually multiplied by five.

"We try to lay down with them for awhile at bedtime," Ray says, beginning another quint tale.

"One night I fell asleep and the next thing I know Michele is at the door, the babies have pushed the beds together, taken the sheets off with the mattresses alongside and they're using them as a slide," Ray recalls.

"One (quint) can't push the mattress off the bed," he adds, shaking his head. "They need all five."

The quints are still called "the babies" more from (See YOUNGSTERS, next page) habit than by definition.

Though they bear a resemblance, the quints are not identical — a fact reaffirmed by their different personalities.

Erica, both parents instantly agree, is the lead troublemaker. Nicknamed "animal," she is the first to make mischief. She is very flexible and can "climb up things you would not believe," say her parents.

Danielle is gentle, loving and acts as the "mother" of the group. She has a surprising temper and favors pigtails in her hair.

Veronica, the most sensitive and docile in the group, usually plays quietly by herself. She has her feelings hurt easily and will cry when anyone raises a voice at her.

"We do laundry every day."

Michele L'Esperance

Alexandria is feminine and loves lacy clothes. Her parents describe her as "impish."

Raymond, the only boy among the quints, is also the only blonde. He is close to Veronica and often takes a lot of grief from his sisters. He is "starting to hold his own" with them, his parents admit, but generally life with the four, (especially these four, says Michele) is tough.

Though neither Ray nor Michele admit life is easier as the quints grow older, having them under their own power does save time.

"It used to take us two hours to go anywhere," Michele says. "By the time they were all bathed and dressed and fed ... then the packing up and the coats — then they're impatient..."

"It's harder now in others ways," she says. "You have to keep an eye on them more."

That very morning, for instance, two of the quints had received a healthy application of peanut butter in their hair, which was used to remove the gum from their

The L'Esperances attempt to use the "step" procedure in disciplining the children. If someone misbehaves, he or she has a privilege taken away, or is sent to the bedroom.

Many of the difficult aspects of raising quintuplets don't directly involve the children, Ray explains.

Just the diaper bill, for instance — one of many heavy financial burdens — comes to $275 a week.

Ray works two jobs, which cuts into time for the family, his wife and himself.

"I used to work out a lot," he says, wearily. "We were just talking about that last weekend.

"I'd love to join a health club again, but financially there's no way," he says.

Despite the difficulties, the quints have become an enriching part of the L'Esperances' lives.

Meeting day changed in Springfield Township

Starting next year, board meetings in Springfield Township will be changed to 8 p.m. the second Wednesday of each month.

The board unanimously voted to change the meeting day from 7:30 p.m. the second Thursday of each month to Wednesday, taking effect after Jan. 1, 1991.

Trustee Dennis Vallad requested to change the day, and Clerk J. Calvin Walters requested the later time because it would interfere with a Rotary Club meeting held on the same evening, he said.

AT THEIR one-year birthday, the L'Esperance quintuplets of Springfield Township are invited to a celebration at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, where they were born. With them are their parents, brothers and medical personnel.

Storytellers abound in my family, though most of them would not consider themselves such.

As a kid, I would sit quietly listening, soaking it in, not yet old enough to contribute stories of my own to adult conversation.

My grandmother, Lydia Steward, would have been the last to volunteer an event in her life, but she had the gift of getting to the meat of a story.

Once as an adolescent, I sat before her with pen and paper and asked her to tell me about her life.

"There ain't nothing to tell," she said, smiling and shaking her head.

Schooled to the eighth grade in Missouri, Grandmother had ascended as high in education as her town and family could provide. She soon married and began a family, which ballooned to five children.

To her, it was a difficult life, and maybe even sad. She never talked much about herself and did not attract attention.

"What about your parents?" I asked her. "When were they born? What were their names?"

She was surprised that anyone would want that information, but she indulged me with whatever she could remember.

Her mother, Amanda Alice Rodgers, was born in 1882 in Arkansas, Grandmother recited. She married George Hiram Moore, who was born in 1881 in Missouri.

Grandmother then listed other relatives and eventually digressed. That's when the real stories unfolded.

It seems that Amanda had a brother named John who fled from his patriotic duties during World War I.

"He took to the hills," Grandma said about her uncle. "He didn't believe in the war."

John was a "quiet, dark boy" and was not heard of for years. Then, one day, George was called in to identify a body that turned out to be his son, John, who had been murdered.

Though the mystery was never solved, the family believed that John's wife or his wife's lover may have killed him. John's money also was stolen from his small home in "the hills."

Grandmother told the facts without much expression, much as a good reporter or police investigator would.

She continued. Amanda had a sister named Lucy who was six months younger than her niece, my grandmother. Lucy and Grandma grew up as friends, rather than as aunt and niece.

But Lucy married a man named Will who mistreated her.

"He drank and was stingy," Grandmother said. When Lucy talked of leaving him, Will stole away with their son, Alan.

So Lucy found herself a job and left her daughter, Opal, with her family. Meanwhile Alan was raised by Will's family, who said Lucy was dead.

Lucy and Opal ended up moving to California—ironically, so did Will. Eventually, Alan found his way to California after he served in World War II. By chance, he discovered Lucy and her identity.

"Lucy was so happy," said Grandmother, recalling the letters she had received.

Alan lived with his mother for a year and then was killed in a car accident.

Grandma stopped talking and stared out the window, as if remembering other times—much as I stare at the computer screen now, remembering the times when my grandmother was alive.

Accreditation difficult but worthwhile

BY PAT MACARTHUR

Accreditation means different things to different people.

To a high school administrator, it may mean making sure the building fulfills the requirements necessary to continue to be accredited.

To high school teachers, it may mean an enormous amount of work required to evaluate their building every seven years.

To members of the community, it may mean children are attending a school striving for excellence beyond state requirements, or that children will have a better shot at the university of their choice.

But with the State of Michigan moving toward school improvement and the mandate of school improvement plans, North Central Accreditation becomes far more important.

North Central has always required accredited schools to complete a thorough evaluation every seven years.

In the past 14 years, this has worked to develop goals for the school to move forward.

When the next evaluation approaches, the staff needs to determine what has been accomplished, what has not, and why certain areas have not improved.

Clarkston High School has made a great effort, particularly in the last six years, to improve their educational facility through this process.

This evaluation process, in which Clarkston has been involved for the past year, is a first step to our school improvement plan.

Staff members are diligently evaluating every conceivable area of the high school, including the physical facilities, services and curriculum offered to students, and the entire staff.

This essential first step lets us know where we are and how we, as individuals as well as a unit, are presently doing.

From there we develop the direction we need to move.

This is not an easy process. The world in which today's students will live is vastly different from the world many of us knew during our own educational years.

As educators committed to building excellence in our school, we know that the more we put into this study, the better the results. No, it is not an easy process, but it is an exciting one.

As staff begin to exchange dialogue about the conditions of today, it is impossible not to envision the possibilities of tomorrow.

As they begin to question the practices of yesterday, they are able to dream of new potentials in the future.

It is these possibilities, these potentials that make all of the effort worthwhile.

Pat MacArthur is a teacher at Clarkston High School.

Jim's Jottings

During the football game last Monday night between the 49ers and Giants the camera zoomed in on a burly lineman's head.

He had his helmet off and the lens closed on the left side of his face. There on his ear was a tiny gold round earring with a gold cross dangling therefrom... cross as in religion, not Red.

I have no problem with that. I used to have. It has only been in more recent years that I accept men in earrings, women with multi-shaded hair, boys with wild or unmanaged hair and girls with indecent whatever without comment.

There was a time, like when our son was teenage and into shoulder-length hair, that I would choose words almost sharp enough to cut his mane whenever he was near.

And, there was that revolting, deafening, non-understandable music... so they called it. I could have DDT'd the Beatles. More than anything else in their generation, I hated most the noise our kids loved.

I was not a fan of mini-skirts either, especially in our house. Oh, I'd pretend when around "the boys," but really I didn't like 'em.

I wore blue jeans when I was youthful, so have little trouble with that wearing apparel today. Thing is, I wore bib overalls, not denims that hurt on sight. How do people get into and out of those things? And the holes in my denims were from washing, wearing and hard times; not from acid, rocks or shotguns.

But, I don't care. They can be painted on. They can be nothing but seams and rivets. My contrary comments are over.

Nowadays when the music of a generation or two ago is played we dance to it and love it. We still can't understand the words, if there are any, but the beat is good.

I still have a pair of bib overalls, but I choose jeans with a scooch more room, as O. J. Simpson used to advertise. In a way I've joined 'em.

My hair is still conventionally cut, though there's less of it. And, so is my son's. So, too is the hair on a whole bunch of the young folks I see on the streets.

I don't mean to imply that the teenager is conservative. Heavens no. There's enough of them out there with gnarled hair and twisted clothes... wearing colors so bright they scare pit bulldogs... playing car radios loud enough to drown out the first-Saturday-of-the-month tornado alert sirens, to make sure everyone knows this generation, like all others, has their thing.

But, I don't care or stare. I am not going to say things that might get me compared to Plato, 428-347 B.C.

Here's the way he knocked the young 'uns of his day:

"Our youth have an insatiable desire for wealth; they have bad manners and atrocious customs regarding dressing their hair and what garments or shoes they wear."

OFF TRACK

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Dec. 12, 1990 7

Letter to editor

Hats off to News

From time to time it's nice to have someone place a feather in our cap. As I sat reading The Clarkston News today, my voice filled the air with, "Boy, I love this paper!"

I guess it's my time to place a feather in all the caps of the people who make up The Clarkston News. (The list would be too long to mention individual names.)

The real enjoyment began early — thanks to Donna Fahrner, who provided me with my first subscription sent to the halls of Western Michigan University, when I was just 17 and living in Kalamazoo — and continued on to the University of Minnesota and finally the enjoyment and value received today as a concerned parent, citizen and business person within this community.

Even a local paper in a relatively small community can't keep all its readers happy all the time, but that's not its purpose. The purpose of a newspaper is to provide news, comments, features and photographs to its readership.

I find the news to be reported and covered extremely well; I find comments to be equal and encouraged to all its readership, even though I don't always agree with the comments; I also find the features and photographs very entertaining!

I often read the comments from people in the paper, which I echo: "That's why Clarkston is special." The Clarkston News is one of the reasons that Clarkston is so special.

Happy holidays and keep up the good work.

I crawl into the insulation above the washing machine, where I can walk freely behind the walls.

Most of my time is spent here now, safe from It.

After darkness falls, and all is illuminated, I creep up the basement stairs and stalk past the room with the cage.

My body is alert and flinches at the slightest sound. I see It restrained by the steel webbing.

Clumsy and stupid. It gnaws noisily, teeth bared on a bone. The fur is coarse, like the creatures beyond the glass.

It came after dark one night, while I was grooming in the large room. Several days and nights have passed and It hasn't gone away.

I am often hungry. It lumbers downstairs to my food when the man and the woman are not looking.

I cry pitifully to the woman in the kitchen, but she rushes too fast.

"Silly cat, I've fed you," she says, in the queer voice she uses with me.

From my nervous place beneath the cupboard, I see the man and woman. They make a great noise and I see It flop on the floor. There is always noise from the man and woman when It is around.

I watch as It leaps and tears the pieces on the floor.

The man SHOUTS! Such a NOISE! I streak quickly to the quiet room above.

Beyond the glass, the movements flicker and are still.

I never go beyond the glass below. I have been beyond the glass above, when the woman carried me out to the space beyond the quiet room.

The air was warm, and remembering, I cry.

The woman is angry and flings open a door to the enclosed space.

Has she seen me? Twitching, I watch her walk from the room.

At the open door, I freeze at the sounds from beyond. I don't remember the cold and, puzzled, I crouch.

The scents and sounds are stronger now, and I look about in a whirl. Slowly, slowly, I step forward.

The movement crashes everywhere and I am frightened. A dizzying blur passes behind, then forward!

Quickly, I move to the edge and catch sight of the man through the window below. He is before the talking box and doesn't see me.

Rescue! I plead to him silently.

Waiting nervously, I calculate the space below.

With a whoosh I leap to the decking and glimpse the man twitch with surprise.

I hear his voice through the window.

"Is the door open upstairs?" he calls worriedly.

Finally, he calls my word again and again out through the night.

For a moment, he has forgotten It. I begin to purr from the protected place beneath the deck.

Why Gramp believes in books

Jim Fitzgerald

Tricia toppled my crest, which is how you become crestfallen. "Watch where you step; my crest is on the floor," I told her. She didn't understand.

Tricia is only 4 and doesn't realize her candid opinions can be abrasive. And embarrassing. For example:

On the day after her little brother was born, only Grandpoop was available to take Tricia to a school Halloween party. It was mostly fun. Tricia has a bite problem that will allow some orthodontist to retire wealthy at 35. When she bobbed for apples, she bit her nose and splashed water on people at both ends of a long corridor.

As we waited forever in face-painting and balloon-twisting lines, Tricia saw many faces she recognized and told each one what had just come out of her mother's stomach. One nice woman responded kindly, noting that little boys were fine, although sometimes they "could be a bit of a pain."

"Yeah, like Matt," Tricia said. "He's in my nursery school, and HE'S A REAL BIG PAIN."

The woman, whom I'd never seen before, was accompanied by a boy who was Tricia's size. I didn't have to ask; from the flush on my face, I knew he was Matt.

I told Tricia it isn't nice to tell a mother her son is a big pain. "But he is," Tricia explained, easily dismissing the adult suggestion that she should be dishonest. After I spent several minutes carefully explaining tact, Tricia said she wanted to buy a doughnut "from that big fat woman over there."

Crushed by technology

Back to my fallen crest. I'd just read Rudyard Kipling's marvelous "The Elephant's Child" to Tricia. It has long been my guilty conceit that I'm not an ordinary out-loud reader. I don't do it by rote. I put emotion into each word. I add lib dramatic flourishes and vary my tone to reflect the character whose dialogue is funneled mellifluously through my mouth.

"How did you like that book?" I asked.

"The video is better," Tricia said.

The little bugger ran across the room, whipped a cassette into the VCR, and there it was: Kipling's "The Elephant's Child," narrated by Jack Nicholson, with music by Bobby McFerrin.

Holy Moses and, as Kipling would say, you're a better actor than I am. Gunga Jack. Nicholson has won Oscars. When he speaks for a snake in "The Elephant's Child," he doesn't only hiss the words, he leers them. And McFerrin doesn't worry, he's happy because millions of people buy his recordings.

My crest was trampled by modern technology. What chance does an old grandpoop have?

Seriously, he has the chance to remember it all begins with the written word, and many unfortunate children don't have books in their homes. There might be an old TV set, but if there isn't the opportunity to read, or be read to, the child is terribly deprived.

Unlike television, reading is more than a temporary, entertaining diversion. It is crucial, permanent access. Access to imagination, adventure, knowledge, education and a decent income. No child should be denied that access.

Donate a good book

The Detroit Free Press Gift of Reading program needs books to give to needy children for Christmas. Books, suitable for kids 7 and under, can be dropped off at the Free Press or one of the drop-off sites in the metropolitan area.

Or mail a check to: Gift of Reading, Free Press Charities, Box 64701, Detroit 48264-0123. For more information, call 222-6873 between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

How do you like the way I slipped in that commercial? You say they do it better on TV? Please don't hesitate to trip over my crest.

Vandals strike thrice

A vacant building on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, was struck by vandals three times last week.

In each episode, entry was forced through a padlocked side door. Local teen-agers are suspects in the occurrences, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report.

On Dec. 4, vandals ransacked the building, which formerly served as headquarters for the Reminder Newspapers and is still being used to store equipment. Police reports indicated that the building sustained about $3,000 in damage.

The other two episodes occurred on Dec. 9 and Dec. 10. On Dec. 9, the Independence Township Fire Department was alerted because several small fires had been lit in the building. The fires were extinguished without incident.

On Dec. 10, forced entry was discovered again, but no further damage was evident.

The above information was compiled from reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Two-car accident sends one to hospital

A 17-year-old Springfield Township man was hospitalized after his car crossed over the median and struck a vehicle northbound on Andersonville Road.

On Monday, Dec. 3, Edward Pomazanko lost control of his car and collided with an automobile driven by Judith Hallett, 48, of Springfield Township. The incident occurred near the intersection of Andersonville Road and Northwest Court.

According to reports at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, the accident happened at 4:30 p.m. when the roads were slick with slush.

Hallett and her passenger, Pamela Kellum, of Independence Township, were uninjured. Pomazanko was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Council to present two-lane plan to SEMCOG

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston officials won't be able to appeal the widening of M-15 until Friday, Jan. 18.

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) originally was to hear the appeal Dec. 7.

But the date was postponed at the request of village President Sharron Catallo, who wanted time to study an alternative with the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT).

MDOT plans to widen M-15 from two lanes to five lanes from Dixie Highway, Independence Township, north to the village boundary.

The plan calls for M-15 to taper to three lanes with paved shoulders at Paramus (on the east side of M-15) and Middle Lake Road (on the west side of M-15). The three lanes taper to two lanes after about 200 feet.

The village council would prefer only two lanes at Paramus and Middle Lake roads. The village boundaries include Middle Lake Road on the west side of M-15, but not Paramus on the east side of M-15.

The council voted 6-0 Dec. 10 to approve a two-lane design alternative for that portion of the widening.

At a previous council meeting, council members protested the widening of M-15 for fear that the highway would someday be widened through the village.

CJHS take second in statewide Knowledge Bowl

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A 12-person team from Clarkston Junior High used its collective brain power to grab second-place honors.

The group finished second among Michigan's middle schools in the Knowledge Bowl.

Held bi-annually across the nation, the Knowledge Bowl pits junior high and middle school students against one another in a battle of wits. Last week, 466 schools comparable to CJHS in student enrollment participated in the contest.

The Knowledge Bowl is held by linking a school's computer into one at the contest's headquarters and sending several multiple-choice questions via the visual

"I think one of the main reasons that they did so well was that they worked as a team."

Suvonne Hogan

screen. Once a choice has been made, a supervisor keys it in, and the correct answer is displayed on the screen for the contestants.

Clarkston's team was composed of seventh-, eighth- and ninth-grade volunteers. They had to answer 200 questions in 14 categories. The total number of points possible was 2,000.

The Wolverines correctly answered 178 of the 200 questions and culminated 1,357 total points. The total ranked second among the 13 Michigan-based schools engaging in the contest. Traverse City Junior High finished in first place with 1,506 points.

On the national level, CJHS finished in 206th place out of 466 schools. The Wolverines' final tally of 1,357 points also surpassed the contest's average median score of 1,312.

The Wolverines' total set a new mark for the junior high, eclipsing the previous finish by a mere five points. Ironically, that tally, set in 1987, was good enough to capture the state's top score three years ago.

Suvonne Hogan, a media specialist at CJHS and contest supervisor, was thrilled with the students' finish.

"It was fantastic," she said. "I think one of the main reasons that they did so well was that they worked as a team. We've had teams in the past dominated by a few individuals, but these kids worked well together in coming up with their answers."

The team members included: Jaime Evans, Robert Reichner, Pat Wall, Timothy Szykula, Michelle Ries, Katie Lockwood, Claire Kammer, Carla Merritt, Scott Sanford, Jenny MacArthur, Ryan Moore and Joel Sanford.

STUDENTS at Clarkston Junior High competed in the Knowledge Bowl last week. They scored 1,357 out of a possible 2,000 points. The final tally was the second highest score in the state and it ranked 206th in the country. The 12-person team, composed of seventh, eighth and ninth graders, correctly answered 178 out of 200 possible questions sent via computer terminals. The 1,357 points was the highest total ever scored by a CJHS team in the four-year history of the Knowledge Bowl.

Oh Christmas tree, how safe are ye?

More than one million lush and sturdy natural Christmas trees are available at 104 "cut your own" tree farms in Michigan this holiday season AAA Michigan reports.

The most prevalent are scotch pines, averaging about $3 per foot, and spruce, costing an average of $4.30 per foot.

Proper safety tips should be followed to make sure a Christmas tree does not turn into a fire hazard once it is put up in the home and decorated. AAA Michigan offers the following tips to tree buyers:

■ A live dry tree is a serious fire hazard. Make a fresh cut in the base of the tree and keep plenty of water in the stand and check water daily.

■ Check wiring in light strands for cracks, frays or other deterioration which can be hazardous. Replace old bulbs with new "cool burn" bulbs.

■ Do not use candles to decorate a tree. Even a well-watered tree can ignite in moments.

■ Keep lights out of reach of young children who may rearrange them in a potentially dangerous manner.

■ Keep cords off furniture, curtains, etc. Contact with an electrical arc could ignite them.

■ Turn off all decorative lighting before leaving home.

■ Feel live tree needles daily. When the needles become dry and brittle or break off easily, the tree should be removed.

■ Artificial tree buyers should make sure their tree has been approved by Underwriter's Laboratory or another reputable testing facility for fire and combustion retardance.

Lawsuit filed over proposed Deer Lake sewer

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An Independence Township resident has decided to take the township to court over the Deer Lake sewer system.

Charles Myers of Sagamore filed a lawsuit with the Oakland County Circuit Court last week. He announced his actions at a Dec. 6 public hearing held by the Road Commission for Oakland County.

Myers told those in attendance that the suit calls for the blockage of the sewer system and the disbanding of the Downtown Development Authority (DDA).

The DDA was created about five years ago to improve landscaping, lighting, water and sewer along parts of Dixie Highway and M-15. The DDA also will be funding the sewer project slated for Deer Lake Road.

The project will connect a sewer line at the southern part of White Lake Road and intersect with Dixie Highway to the west. The total length of the sewer system proposed at the public hearing was 4,330 linear feet.

The hearing was called to gauge public sentiment on a project that has divided the residents in that area for nearly a year. Last month, a request to designate Deer Lake Road as a natural beauty road was denied by the Road Commission.

Many of those residents in favor of the sewers believed the request was a ploy to stop the sewer lines from being laid.

Bob Lalone, a Dixie Highway resident and advocate of the sewer system, blasted Myers shortly after his announcement.

"I don't know why he (Myers) is so obsessed with this road," Lalone said. "They've (DDA) overpassed his road (Sagamore), but he's still filing a suit. If we were living in the 1800s, he'd be one of the people blocking the railroads to the west."

A day after Myers announced his lawsuit, Supervisor Frank Ronk said he was unaware of its existence.

"I haven't heard anything," Ronk said. "We hear rumors of potential suits everyday and it's hearsay until I see some documentation."

According to Myers, the suit will come before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Barry Howard on Dec. 19.

Myers, who said his suit was representing 10 area families, referred all his comments to attorney Peter Donlen. Donlen was unavailable for comment.

Mystery solved

When a mysterious "artifact" box arrived at Pine Knob Elementary School this week, students in Deborah Luczyn's fourth-grade classroom were ready.

Armed with almanacs, state books, history book and other reference guides, the students set to work in evaluating about 20 clues, compiled by fourth-grade students from somewhere in the United States.

A plastic bag containing cotton led students to believe the box originated somewhere in the south; this fact was further confirmed by recipes for grits and pecan pie.

Students assembled a jigsaw puzzle of the state flag, identified peach pits and Spanish Moss, and correctly guessed that Georgia was the state of origin.

Predictably, identifying the town where the box originated was more difficult.

The students muddled over a piece of gold from the Dahlonega Gold Rush of 1828, a pair of child's coveralls, and a baseball card of Rick Honeycutt.

They were further puzzled by sea shells, a set of maps and a couple of Little Debbie bars.

After deducing that several of these items might be made in the state, and after researching a photo of a man said to have given the town its name, the students identified Oglethorpe, Ga., as the town in question.

The investigation took just about an hour.

Students in a fourth-grade Oglethorpe classroom are simultaneously analyzing artifacts from Clarkston, compiled by the Pine Knob students.

The Pine Knob students expect that their box will be easier for the Georgia students than their box was for them. The reason: for the tree, for instance, the Pine Knob clue said the sample was the state tree, while the Georgia box said "a tree in our area."

"Plus they had Isiah Thomas and he won two championships," said one Pine Knob student.

No word yet from Georgia on whether students there were successful.

Woodhull Meadows receives plat approval

A one-acre development slated for Woodhull Road received tentative preliminary plat approval from the Independence Township Planning Commission.

On Nov. 29, the planning commission voted 6-0 in favor of the proposed Woodhull Lake Meadows. Commission member Richard Oppmann was absent from the meeting.

The site is zoned for single-family residential.

The developer plans to subdivide the parcel into four residential lots. The development would be located just south of the Pelton Heights subdivision.

The next step for the proposal is tentative preliminary plat approval from the township board.

Board offers support to POH

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital (POH) received moral support from the Independence Township Board last week.

POH is currently bogged down in Ingham County Circuit Court over a battle to put a hospital at the corner of White Lake Road and Dixie Highway in Independence Township.

The board unanimously approved the a resolution of support Dec. 5, in the hopes of seeing the court case come to a quick and victorious close for POH.

The lawsuit, levied by one of the hospital's main competitors, is over a Certificate of Need (CON) granted by the state in November 1989. The CON, in high demand by Oakland County hospitals, gives POH permission to build a new facility in Independence Township.

An Independence-based facility is considered necessary by hospitals officials due to the overload at the Pontiac location on M-59 and Perry Street.

Last September, a planning group from POH met with the township planning commission and gave them several ideas of what the hospital has planned for the 50-acre site. Proposed ideas include construction of a two-story, 110-bed facility with possible entrances on Dixie Highway and White Lake Road.

According to Brian Fausone, assistant administrator at POH, an Ingham County judge is still reviewing the matter and it's uncertain when a verdict will be rendered.

Trustee gives up seat to take county job

Independence Township Board Trustee Frank Millard officially announced his resignation last week.

In a letter to the board, he said the resignation would go into effect after Dec. 31, 1990.

Millard, a member of the board since 1988, was elected to the Oakland County Board of Commissioners in the November primary election. He will be in charge of district three, which covers Independence, Springfield and part of Waterford townships.

Township Supervisor Frank Ronk thanked Millard for his loyalty to the township and wished him luck with his new job.

Ronk was uncertain when Millard's replacement would be named.

Parks budget OK'd

A $122,500 1991 budget was unanimously approved for the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Department Nov. 29.

The township board voted unanimously to approve the department's budget — the last portion of the township's overall budget to be adopted for the year.

The parks and recreation department's revenue consists of $80,000 from the township's general fund and $42,500 from fees, surplus from last year's budget, interest and contributions, said Sherry Swindell, parks and recreation director.

In October, the board approved a $1.45 million overall township budget for 1991.

Donations to help Moscow Christmas celebration

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

A group of Clarkston-area residents will warm up Christmas in Moscow this year.

Members of the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection are collecting donations to help in Moscow's first public celebration of Christmas in 73 years, according to the Rev. Charles Lynch.

It all began when Lynch read an Associated Press article about the Rev. J.S. Canty, an American Episcopal priest who is heading up the U.S. drive for donations.

Lynch tracked down Canty and learned that Clarkston was the first community in all of the United States to offer help.

In Lynch's church on Clarkston Road, Gus and Judy Konopnicki are directing the efforts of the Clarkston community.

"It's really exciting, especially with all that's happening," he said, adding that there's a "terrible need" in the Soviet Union for food and clothing.

The winter is likely to be difficult for the citizens — some estimate that it will be the second toughest winter since World War II, he said.

Items needed include toys of all kinds, aspirin and other over-the-counter medication, toothpaste, tape, pens, non-perishable food, cosmetics, clothing for children and adults, and any other Christmas items, such as Christmas cards, said Lynch.

Anyone who would like to donate should call the church at 625-2325. Monetary donations may be made payable to The Church of the Resurrection — Moscow.

In Moscow, the celebration begins Christmas Eve in Red Square with candlelight caroling to the bells of St. Basil and the reading of the Christmas story in front of the Kremlin. Following will be a lighting ceremony of a huge official Christmas tree in the center of Gum department store, decorated with thousands of Christmas cards from the United States.

Soviets are sending cards to decorate a tree in the United States, and extra cards go un-opened to hospitals.

Donated Christmas gifts will be distributed to orphanages, hospitals, institutions and those in need.

The overall sponsor is the non-profit Soviet-U.S. Joint Conference on Charity, established by an act of the Moscow City Council and also registered in the United States with tax-exempt status.

What is it?

Holiday lighting can be inexpensive

Since Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer doesn't make his rounds until Christmas Eve, you'll probably depend on electric lighting to brighten your home during the holiday season.

Decorative lighting — when used correctly — is a safe and inexpensive option, according to Joan Bradley, Detroit Edison lighting specialist.

Bradley advises holiday decorators to examine every light string carefully for chipped or damaged sockets and for frayed wires.

"Any such items should be throw out," she said. "Also, throw out any lights that do not have the Underwriters Laboratories (UL) seal. The seal indicates the light meet specific safety standards."

Bradley said holiday lighting can be penny-wise as well as safety-wise.

Most strings of lights have an operating cost of a half cent to 7 1/2 cents per string for six hours of use, she said. Twinkle-type lights use even less electricity because they are off half the time.

Bradley offers the following safety suggestions:

Indoor Lighting

- Use no more than three sets of standard lights on each indoor extension cord.

- Never use lights on a metal tree. Instead, a lighted revolving color wheel or low-wattage colored floodlights may be used to illuminate the tree.

- Keep lights away from carpeting, furniture, curtains and drapes. Some standard lights produce enough heat to scorch or damage items they touch.

- Use only flame-resistant ornaments and other decorations, including artificial snow, on and around the tree.

- Don't put the tree near an active fireplace.

Outdoor lighting

- Use only weather-resistant equipment and lights manufactured for outdoor use.

- Use only outdoor extension cords with molded plugs and sockets. Keep cords out of the way to prevent tripping accidents.

- Keep all electrical connections off the ground and hang sockets downward to prevent water from seeping into them.

- Fasten extension cords or light sets to wood or hardboard surfaces with insulated staples; never use nails or tacks because they may pierce the wires and cause shock or shorts.

- Don't run outdoor lighting cords through door or window openings where they can be damaged.

A wish

By Kori Keil

If I had a wish

it would not be for fancy fish, or gold and worldly treasures,
or lots of luxurious pleasures.

To have my wish would be divine;
I'm sure you'd find it very fine.
And now the moment you've been waiting for,
I'll tell you my wish, open up the door.

Now there is no need to dawdle,
now, for you, my wish I'll model:
I wish to paint a portrait, not of my brother or my aunt or my niece.

I wish to paint a portrait of love and worldly peace.
I don't know how I'll do it,
though I know it's meant to be,
I need to paint a portrait of peace and harmony!

Kori Keil is a sixth-grader at Sashabaw Junior High School. She wrote the above poem in conjunction with the Parent Teacher Association Reflections contest at Bailey Lake Elementary school.

Reporter's Notebook

Flemings Lake resident Amanda Brewer didn't know what to think when she saw a large flaming object fall from the sky last Friday.

At 5:45 a.m. Dec. 7, the Independence Township woman was shocked to see a strange burning object from a window of her home.

She saw a large fiery ball with a shimmering tail streaming behind it.

"I thought the moon was falling," she exclaimed. "It was really fascinating, but it appeared to be headed for the top of the Pine Knob Ski Lodge."

What Amanda saw was a large meteor that had entered Earth's atmosphere. Due to its enormity, the meteor was seen for many miles by hundreds of Michiganders.

Meteorologists believe it landed somewhere in the Allen Park area, nearly 50 miles away.

A training exercise on Clarkston's Mill Pond startled a few passersby.

One person called The Clarkston News after seeing three "frogmen" in the pond, apparently looking for a person.

It turns out that the men were Independence Township firefighters conducting a training exercise on water rescue.

A recent press release made us think the United States was getting creative with defense.

The press release, calling for items to be sent to service people in the Middle East, referred to Operation Dessert Shield, which conjured up images of giant eclairs used as barricades and enormous globs of pudding dropped from the air — or perhaps a simple bribe of the enemy, using U.S. chefs' most tantalizing creations.

Items for Reporter's Notebook are compiled by Clarkston News staff members.

OT thriller an eye-opener for Wolf cagers

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston varsity basketball coach

Dan Fife looks into his players' eyes for wins and losses.

After his Wolves went through a season-opener roller coaster in regulation, leading Pontiac Central 42-33 at the half, falling behind the Chiefs 67-60 after three quarters and then tying the game 85-85 after 32 minutes, Fife peered into his players' eyes and liked what he saw heading into overtime.

PAUL NEWMAN once played "Cool Hand Luke," but Clarkston's Luke Fedio played hot against Lamphere, scoring 17 points.

"They knew they could win the game," said Fife about his inexperienced squad with only one returning starter matching up against a highly-ranked Chief team at Pontiac's field house.

In overtime, a pair of free throws each by Clarkston's Chris Wasilk and Derek Wiley and then a layup by Dugan Fife put the Wolves ahead 91-88 with 56 seconds left.

Chief LaShawn Taylor sank a free throw to close the gap to 91-89. Pontiac got the ball again after a Wolf turnover

"Anytime you beat a team like that, it's important to the kids and the program."

Coach Dan Fife

with 16 ticks left. But Pontiac missed a shot and both a Wolf and Chief held on to the rebound. The possession arrow was in Clarkston's favor, and then it was over.

"I'm proud of them," said coach Fife about his squad. "They withstood pressure against a great team. They could have tucked it in early."

Coach Fife said what helped get the Chiefs back in the game, hurt them down the stretch. Pontiac had the Midas touch in its 34-18 third quarter but cooled off in the fourth quarter and in overtime.

He also said Clarkston's press "stymied" the Chiefs and the Wolves were not outrebounded by the taller Pontiac squad.

The Wolves helped themselves on the free throw line, sinking 28 of 38 (74 percent) while Pontiac made 14 of 20 (70 percent).

Each team nailed five 3-pointers.

The coach said his players, even with his son Dugan Fife being the only returning starter, made a smooth transition from last season's regional final team to the season opener.

"It's like they never missed a beat from last season," said coach Fife. He added, "Anytime you beat a team like that, it's important to the kids and the program."

That "program" deserves much credit, considering the team only had one returning starter on last season's 20-5 team and the 1990-91 edition is again full of inexperienced players who have hit mid-season form early.

Junior guard Dugan Fife led all scorers with 31 points. Wiley, a transfer from Rockford, scored 15, Mark Galbraith had 13, Wasilk 12, Sean Halleran nine, Jason Lund six and Luke Fedio five.

Dan Price netted 28 for the Chiefs and teammate Alan Rainge scored 18.

Friday night the Chiefs will host Greater Oakland Activities League foe Lake Orion.

Clarkston 91, Lamphere 56
(Dec. 7 at Clarkston)

The Wolves made it back-to-back 91-point wins when they topped Lamphere in their home opener Dec. 7.

The Wolves gave no indication of a letdown after their OT victory over Pontiac Central, jumping ahead 12-0 against the Rams and finishing with a 23-14 first quarter. The Wolves then led 45-28 at the half and extended their already big advantage with a 27-10 third quarter.

As in the season-opener, Clarkston had four players in double figures. Fife poured in 26 points, Fedio netted 17, Galbraith 14 and Wiley 13. Jon Wyniemko added six, Halleran five, Wasilk and Nate Pomeroy each with four, and Devin Dupree two.

David McHalpine was the only Ram in double figures with 11.

Ironically, Lamphere, 0-2, sank seven 3-pointers while the Wolves hit four, but a pesky Wolf defense held the Rams to 13 field goals (Clarkston made 28).

Winter sports preview

"My goal is to keep them focused and finish strongly," said Strickler, whose team last year finished second in the Greater Oakland Activities League, to eventual state champion, Lake Orion.

Six Wolves qualified for state last season, with three of them placing in the finals at Battle Creek.

Strickler says his team has three goals, to make the state finals, win the Oakland County meet and win the GOAL.

"I've expected a lot from the kids and they haven't let me down," said the coach. The Wolves opened the season by winning five matches at the Howell 6-Team Dual Dec. 8.

Strickler said his team is in excellent condition. One way his wrestlers have kept in condition is by competing in fall

"My goal is to keep them focused and finish strongly."

Coach Scott Strickler

sports for the Wolves. Only three of the 31 team members did not suit up for a fall sport.

Another way the Wolves have kept in shape is by running, often running before school at 6 a.m.

"It was their idea," said Strickler, who grins after the remark. If the wrestlers want to run at dawn, the coach has to be there with them.

Strickler also cites team unity and "leadership of the returning wrestlers" as strengths.

Two of those returners are senior co-captains Damon Michelsen and Joel Davis.

Michelsen, who had a 35-11 overall record with 19 pins last season, finished sixth in the state in the 160-pound division. He will be wrestling at 171 this season.

Davis was a regional qualifier his sophomore year before injuring his elbow last year before the districts began. He still managed a 23-5 record with 12 pins.

Sophomore Jerry Anderson, fifth in the state at 119 pounds, returns to wrestle at 125. He was 34-9-1 with 16 pins as a freshman.

Fellow sophomore Jeff Deroseau, 35-10 with 17 pins, returns after qualifying for state at 103.

Senior Alex Martin, 19-18 with nine pins, was a regional qualifier at 140.

Strickler also expects good seasons from returning lettermen seniors Joe Webb (Hwt.), Tony Miller (Hwt.), Mike Stanton (135), Jason Slater (152), juniors Matt Seitz (145) and Brian Davis (160) and sophomore Jason Roughton (135). In addition, he likes what he sees in new sophomore additions Pat Forbes (112) and Sean Mick (119).

"I've been fortunate not to have a senior-oriented team," said Strickler, which has helped the Wolves over the years avoid a wipe out of talent and experience at graduation.

The Wolves will be put to the test early by facing always-tough Temperance-Bedford in the Lansing Eastern Invitational Dec. 15, followed by the Oakland County Meet Dec. 21-22.

And that will just be the beginning, as the main part of the schedule begins after the holidays.

Wolves howl in Howell, win all 5 duals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

One meet in one day gave Clarkston's varsity wrestling team a 5-0 record.

The Wolves won all five matches at the Howell 6-Team Dual tournament Dec. 8.

Clarkston, picked in some polls as the best team in the state, will host Berkley and West Bloomfield Thursday (Dec. 13) at 5:30 p.m. The Wolves won't be home again until Jan. 10.

Clarkston won the Howell meet by stopping Flint Northern 50-16, Davison 40-26, Grand Ledge 42-27, Monroe Jefferson 36-16 and Howell 40-25.

Host Howell was runner-up (4-1), followed by Jefferson (3-2), Grand Ledge (2-3), Davison (1-4) and Northern (0-5).

Clarkston coach Scott Strickler was impressed with his team's consistency in the season-opener meet.

"We're an excellent conditioned team," said Strickler, "and as the day went on, we maintained that level."

Strickler knew his veteran wrestlers would be solid, and they didn't disappoint, but he also had praise for some underclassmen.

"I was very impressed by the sophomores," said Strickler, who had eight sophomores (out of 15 weight divisions) compete at Howell.

Five wrestlers finished the day undefeated. Sophomore Jeff Deroseau (103) went 5-0 with five pins, sophomore Jerry Anderson (125) was 5-0 with three pins, senior Mike Stanton (135) finished 4-0-1 with three pins, senior Damon Michelsen (171) also was 4-0-1 with four pins and heavyweight Joe Webb was 3-0 with two pins.

Other Clarkston wrestlers who squared off at Howell and their records are: Pat Forbes (112) 3-2, Sean Mick (119) 1-4, Charlie Liggett (130) 2-3, Alex Martin (140) 4-1, Steve Cohoon (145) 3-2, Jason Slater (152) 2-3, Brian Davis (160) 0-2, Brent Hummel (160) 1-2, Joel Davis (189) 2-1 and two injury defaults; heavyweight Jon Roy (0-2).

Co-captain Joel Davis reinjured his elbow and will most likely not wrestle again until the Oakland County meet on Dec. 21-22.

5 earn medals for B team

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's "B" wrestling team finished fifth out of 12 teams at the Ferndale Tourney Dec. 8.

What's even more impressive with the finish is that the Wolves only fielded nine wrestlers in 13 weight divisions, automatically losing ground to other teams who competed with a full team.

The "B" team, consists of mostly Wolf underclassmen who wrestle against varsity competition.

East Detroit won the meet.

Clarkston's Matt Seitz (152) 3-0 and Nathan Smith (171) 4-1 both captured first in the meet.

Other Wolf earning medals were heavyweight Tony Miller who placed second at 2-1, Steve Locher (119) took third at 4-1, and Rick Detkowski (160) was fourth at 2-2.

Other Clarkston wrestlers who competed were Mike Cain (135) 2-2, Frank Lafferty (140) 2-2, Brad Hranich (145) 0-2, Kevin Brown (189) 2-2.

7th & 8th Cougars thrive in 3rd quarter

The Cougars swept the Wolverines Dec. 5 in junior high boys' basketball between the two arch-rivals.

Sashabaw's eighth graders downed Clarkston, 62-32, and the host Cougar seventh graders topped the Wolverines, 36-26.

In the eighth grade game, Sashabaw only led 22-14 at the half, but pulled away with a 21-12 advantage in the third quarter followed by a 19-6 fourth quarter bulge.

Mike White led Clarkston with eight points, Jason Graves had six, Pat Mulligan four, Keith Ford and Rich Bevins each had three and Brad Agar, Corey Bildstein, Jon Dean and Jeremy Jenson each added two.

Agar grabbed five rebounds, Bevins and Graves each pulled down four. Jenson picked the pockets of three Cougars and Mulligan had two other steals. Mulligan also had two assists.

(Sashabaw stats were unavailable).

In the seventh grade game, an 11-3 third quarter by Sashabaw was the big difference.

Clarkston led 6-5 after the first quarter. The Cougars then outscored the Wolverines, 4-2, in a low-scoring second quarter, putting them ahead 9-8 at intermission. Clarkston couldn't come back after the Cougars big third quarter.

The Cougars held the Wolverines to only five baskets and Clarkston only managed to make 16 of 32 free throws.

Eric Crysler paced the Wolverines with eight points and Tim O'Rourke netted seven. Bryan Dankert and Scott Hill each added three, Dan O'Hearn had two, and Paul Wolven, Mike Broggi and Jeff Mull all had one.

Tim Wasilk scored 11 for the Cougars (only Sashabaw stat available).

Pierce pierces Coug's

BY BOBBY BRAZIER
Clarkston News Special Writer

After a disheartening loss to Pierce, Sashabaw Junior High's eighth grade boys' basketball team rolled past Lake Orion, 52-35, Dec. 3.

The host Cougars led the entire way, outscoring Lake Orion in every quarter.

With the victory, it almost knocks Lake Orion out of the league race. Sashabaw and Pierce are presently tied for the lead with one loss apiece.

Pierce 43, Sashabaw 42
(Nov. 26 at Sashabaw)

All good things must come to an end.

The brilliant streak of 11 consecutive wins over two years by the Sashabaw eighth-grade team finally came to an abrupt halt as Pierce handed the Cougars a heart-breaking 43-42 setback.

Pierce started quickly as it built a 14-7 advantage over one period.

But, ever so slowly, Sashabaw crept back into it. With the score tied at 30, Mark Ryan nailed a 3-pointer and it looked as if the Cougars would indeed pull it out. But it wasn't meant to be.

With the victory, the Pirates gained a bit of revenge. Last year, the Cougars downed Pierce by one point.

JV hoop team comes back after loss in opener

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston JV boys' basketball squad came back strong after being wiped out days earlier.

After losing 84-55 in the season opener against a tough Pontiac Central team on the road, the Wolves downed Lamphere, 80-46, last Friday at home.

Clarkston jumped out in front 27-9 after eight minutes and Lamphere couldn't catch up, never getting closer than 12 points.

"The key thing was the way our defense applied pressure early," said Clarkston coach Tim Kaul, whose team used a pesky full-court press for most of the first half.

Matt Underwood paced the Wolves with 19 points, with 15 of those in the first half. Matt Smith scored all 11 of his points in the first half and Nick Shires also poured in 11.

Jeremy Deloney netted nine, Chris

Combs eight, Scott Rooney and Scott Matusz each had five, Dan Scheib four and Eric Ryan, Chris Colburn, Ben Jackson and Steve Black each added two.

Pontiac Central 84, Clarkston 55 (Dec. 4 at Pontiac Central)

Clarkston had a difficult time stopping Chiefs Tim Webb (19 points) and Mike Houston (18 points) in Pontiac Central's 84-55 win over visiting Clarkston in the season opener.

Pontiac led 22-12 after the first quarter and extended the advantage to 48-34 at the half.

"We got down early. I think we did get intimidated, which is uncharacteristic of our teams," said coach Kaul. "They had a couple of legitimate dunkers and (Tim) Webb is an exceptional guard."

Underwood paced the Wolves with 17 points, connecting on seven of 10 free throws. Ryan scored 11, Shires eight, Deloney and Smith each had five, Scheib four, Combs three and Colburn two.

Swinging from the heels

All-county or all-Oakland Press?

James Gibowski

It isn't usually classy for a sports columnist to rag on another newspaper.

And the Oakland Press is not a rag. It covers high school sports better than either of the two Detroit newspapers.

But there is one thing about the Press' prep coverage that has bothered me ever since I moved into the area nine months ago, its way of labeling a player all-county or a team No. 1 or No. 25 in the county.

The Press certainly has the best means to give these labels, its sports reporters cover more Oakland County teams than any other newspaper.

But labeling that a player is

1-ranked Cheifs (sic) 91-89 in an overtime thriller. The non-league contest was the season opener for both clubs."

Whatever happened to attribution?

Something is missing if there isn't a source next to the rankings.

In the Dec. 4 edition of the Oakland Press, 25 high school players are ranked along with 15 teams. The 72-point bold headline above the rankings states, "Oakland County's best ..."

Other publications and associations usually let you know, describing a player as an AP all-stater, a Detroit Free Press first team all-stater or the No. 1 team in the state by the Detroit Free Press.

The Oakland Press Dec. 4 edition, in the second paragraph of the Clarkston vs. Pontiac Central basketball game recap, it states, "File's Clarkston basketball team, ranked No. 6 in Oakland County in Class A, went into Pontiac Central and upset the No.

1-ranked Cheifs (sic) 91-89 in an overtime thriller. The non-league contest was the season opener for both clubs."

And besides, they might have been selected first team all-county by some other newspaper.

Deer hunters rack up 2nd best season

An estimated 300,000 white-tailed deer were harvested in Michigan by firearm deer hunters during 1990's Nov. 15-30 season.

This year's season was one of Michigan's best, second only to the 1989 harvest of 334,930 animals, according to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The deer harvest is estimated throughout the 16-day season by a southbound hunter traffic survey, which has provided an early, accurate estimate of the harvest for three decades.

Final harvest figures, which will be available in June, are based on a mail survey of this year's deer hunters.

Thirty-nine hunting accidents, including two fatalities, occurred during the 16-day firearm deer season. These figures compare to 35 accidents, including four fatalities, reported in 1989.

Michigan leads the nation in deer hunting recreation, with about 10 million days annually spent afield.

THE HOLIDAY SEASON IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER...

'Twas the night before Christmas
And all through the land
People were cursing
With Christmas Light Strings
in hand

When out in North Oakland
There arose such a clatter
'Twas Frost Irrigation
Stringing Lights on a ladder

Rooflines or trees
Inside or out
It doesn't matter
Just give us a shout

So this year don't worry
We'll put your lights up in a hurry
We'll take your lights down
When the season is no longer around.

Holiday greeting bags save time, money

Post offices in the Detroit area will distribute holiday greeting bags to customers to be used for handwritten greeting cards. The plastic bags will help the Postal Service separate handwritten cards and speed the sorting process.

"Handwritten greeting cards are not readable by our automated sorting equipment," said John M. Horne, Field Division general manager/ postmaster of the Detroit Division.

"By using these bags, customers will help us bypass the automated equipment and send the cards directly to the proper sorting operation. This will save time and money," Horne said.

Horne explained that the Postal Service is moving from a manual sorting operation to one that will be fully automated by 1995.

"Handwritten addresses must largely be read and processed by hand," he said. "And, while both automated and manual methods get the same delivery results, automated processing is by far the most efficient and least costly. Keeping postage rates down hinges on automated processing of mail."

Though type-written holiday addresses are preferred, the holiday greeting bags should help with traditional handwritten addresses.

"It's a small item for holiday mailers, but it will pay big dividends for the Postal Service," said Horne.

Energy, organization launch secretarial service

HEATHER BOWLES started up Your Personal Secretary in October in Independence Township. She hopes to expand enough to offer 24-hour services.

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Not many 21-year-olds have an opportunity to start their own businesses, but Heather Bowles opened up Oct. 1 — after careful research.

The 21-year-old owns Your Personal Secretary, a secretarial service that offers bookkeeping, word processing, resume-making and telephone answering to clients. Heather also is a notary.

Before opening, she and her mother, Carol Bowles, checked the Clarkston area's viability. They found that the nearest secretarial service is in the Pontiac area, says Heather.

So she opened her office in Ritter's Country Square, Dixie Highway, Independence Township. Heather's father owns Ritter's Square and C.B. Custom Builders.

To date, six accounts — including the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce — use her services, she says, adding that the Chamber keeps her busy.

"I perform all secretarial duties for them — answering the phone, sending out brochures and bulk mailing."

Like any new business, Heather is always on the lookout for new customers. She calls services listed in The Clarkston News classified advertisements, and she leaves flyers and business cards whenever the opportunity arises.

Once, a well-placed card at the Independence Township Library earned her a client who needed a bid typed.

"He walked into the library and wanted to know if they had a typewriter he could use," she says. "They didn't have one but told them of my services."

The stone mason left Heather's office saying, "You saved my day," says Heather, proudly.

Heather projects that it will take about a year for word to get out about her business offerings.

While she doesn't offer a 24-hour answering service yet, she'd hire people to fill a 24-hour schedule if business warranted it, she says.

Currently, Your Personal Secretary is open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Heather is studying business in the evenings at Oakland Community College, Auburn Hills Campus,

What's new in business

after previously attending Baker College in Flint.

She's also taken computer classes at Clarkston Community Education.

"In my spare time I watch houses for people and feed their cats and dogs," she says. "I water the plants, too."

Heather also has an active social life — like any other single 21-year-old.

"I play softball and wallyball, and I have a boyfriend, too," Heather says.

She dreams of expanding her business and gets excited thinking about what the future might have in store for her.

"Some of my friends didn't give me a positive attitude about starting my own business, and it kind of brought me down," Heather says. "But one friend said, 'wouldn't it be great if there were Your Personal Secretaries all over the world?'"

With a big smile on her face, Heather adds, "That's what I'd like — Your Personal Secretary all over the world."

Modern-day Santa has as much fun as children

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It's often been said that Santa can't be everywhere, so he needs helpers to fill in at malls or parties — wherever the young, or young at heart gather for Christmas joy.

But how is one to know if the Santa is a helper — or the real thing? After all, the real Santa Claus lived about 1,800 years ago, and what would Santa be like if he moved among us today?

Would he be retired from a job? Live closer to civilization than the North Pole?

Would he be married more than once — having step-children and children of his own? A modern-day Santa might even have grandchildren and drive a recreational vehicle (RV), making it easier to transport his toys to craft shows, where he may sell them.

And a modern-day Santa might not use the name of Santa Claus.

One man, who fits the above description, was seen recently at Bordine's Better Blooms on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township. He claims he's the real thing.

Each weekend between Thanksgiving and Christmas, he welcomes all the good boys and girls, giving them a candy cane and a plant before they head home to dream of Christmas.

For everyday life, he uses the name "Lloyd Roudabush," and he lives in Walled Lake with Mrs. Claus, also known as Wilma. They've been married for 19 years. This is a second marriage for both of them, and each has four children from their previous marriage. Wilma also had another son who died from leukemia. Between them, they have 15 grandchildren.

Lloyd's appearance adds to his believability as Santa. The girth is real — as is the beard, which Wilma curls for his appearances. His hair is long enough to curl

SANTA is used to all sorts of encumbrances, such as this balloon string that rests in his face. Santa, however, only concentrates on the children's wishes. Here, he listens to a good boy at Bordine's Better Blooms' holiday open house.

out from his cap, but it's not completely gray yet, so Wilma dyes it when it gets close to Christmas, she says. The beard and mustache are natural, much to the surprise of those who yank it.

Recently three teen-age boys at a party gave a pull to his beard.

"You should've seen their eyes," Lloyd says, with a laugh. "They got real big when they saw it was real."

Lloyd says he gets the most beard pulling from the very young children or the adults.

He wears a leather belt with the names of his eight reindeer tooled into it, and Wilma's sister has made him some extra suits in case the others need to be laundered.

Lloyd says his popularity is growing as Santa. He recently was asked if he wanted an agent.

"We're busy enough," Wilma says, pulling out their appointment book with the places and dates marked for the visits they'll be making to schools and parties. Lloyd makes house calls, too.

His appearance can delight or frighten children, he says, adding that he doesn't want to be a "mall Santa."

"I can spend as much time as I have with the children who come to visit here (at Bordine's)," he says. "One boy, who was about eight or nine years old, brought a book marked with what he wanted."

The beard and mustache are natural, much to the surprise of those who yank it.

In it, he had marked 300-400 lures and explained to Santa what some of lures were used for, Lloyd says.

He once received a request for a bull — the young girl's father worked in a rodeo. Another girl wanted a fishing pole, so she could fish with her dad, Lloyd says.

About one in three visiting children are too frightened to come near him, he says.

One little girl recently went to see him, but when she got close she told Santa, "We're not allowed to talk to strangers."

"I wish we could video tape what goes on up here," Wilma says. Wilma, who dresses like Mrs. Claus, takes photos of the children with Santa.

"We would be on the Sunday night video show," Lloyd says, referring to the TV program, "America's Funniest Home Videos."

When the Christmas season is over, Lloyd and Wilma take a week off, and then Lloyd goes out to his workshop where he starts cutting out patterns for the wooden toys he makes to sell at craft shows during the year.

Lloyd's retirement status gives him the opportunity to work at what he enjoys. He's a retired General Motors worker.

"We do about 18 craft shows a year," he says.

Wilma and Lloyd pack up their RV and sell the toys, as Santa's Treasures, throughout the United States.

"We enjoy doing what we do," Wilma says. "We wouldn't be in it if we didn't like it."

SANTA and Mrs. Claus plan to take a week off after Christmas to bow hunt. They're avid hunters and spend time in the woods when not preparing for the Christmas season.

DANGER OF WRONG PRICING

QUESTION: Doesn't it make sense for a home owner to set the selling price for his own home?

ANSWER: Since human nature is predictable, there is a better than even chance that you'll put the wrong selling price on your home. You may price it far above its fair market value because of sentimental attachment or expenditures you have made. A home remaining on the market for months due to over-pricing, frequently becomes a "White Elephant." It eventually sells for a much lower figure.

Or, you might under-price it. Your safest bet is to list it with a Realtor who will help you price it correctly.

AN OVERPRICED HOME that remains on the market for months frequently becomes a "White Elephant".

NEWLYWEDS: Dr. and Mrs. John Schultz.

Nesbit, Schultz wed in Seattle

Karen Margaret Nesbit and Dr. John William Schultz exchanged wedding vows Oct. 20, 1990, at Bethany Presbyterian Church, Seattle, Wash.

The Rev. Terry Figgins officiated the 11:30 a.m. ceremony.

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Seattle Pacific University, Seattle, Wash., and is a registered nurse at University of Washington Medical Center. She is the daughter of Norman and Sally Nesbit of Boulder, Colo.

The bridegroom is a 1988 graduate of Wayne State School of Medicine, Detroit, and is a physician at the University of Washington. He is the son of Bob and Brenda Schultz of Clarkston and Dr. Joan Schultz-Arnold of Clarkston.

Maid of honor was Teresa Figgins, friend of the bride. Other attendants were Kristin Schultz, Linda Humphrey and Liz McNamara-Aslin.

Best man was Eric Nelson, friend of the groom. Other attendants were Bob Nesbit, Chris Kortge and Stephen Crocker.

A reception was held at the Space Needle, and the couple took a wedding trip to Hawaii.

They now reside in Seattle, Wash.

Foster, Griwatsch are united

Linda Jo Foster and Michael James Griwatsch were united in marriage Sept. 15, 1990, at St. Mary Queen of Angels, Swartz Creek.

The Rev. Amos H. Wischmeyer performed the 2 p.m. mass before 175 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Bill and Jan Foster of West Church Street, Clarkston. A 1980 Clarkston High School graduate and a 1984 Michigan State University, East Lansing, graduate, she is employed by Classic Vend Corp.

The bridegroom is a 1978 graduate of Swartz Creek High School and a 1983 graduate of the University of Michigan Ann Arbor. He is store manager of Herman's World of Sporting Goods. He is the son of Charles and Norma Griwatsch of Lennon Road, Swartz Creek.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white taffeta gown embellished with white lace and trimmed with sequins and pearls. It featured a v-cut back and short puffed sleeves accentuated with bows. She carried a cascade of peach and white roses and carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Nancy McCarrick, sister of the bride, of Palm Harbor, Fla. She wore a jacquard royal blue gown with a high-low hemline.

Another attendant was Mrs. Gail Lindsey, the bride's sister, of Lake Orion. She wore the same apparel as the matron of honor.

Flower girl was Monica Foster, the bride's niece, of Wealthy Street, Clarkston.

Best man was Steve Coppo. Other attendants were Matthew Griwatsch, David Griwatsch and Mark Griwatsch, brothers of the groom.

Joseph and Patrick Griwatsch, brothers of the groom, performed the altar services, while Kenneth Foster, brother of the bride, presented the readings.

The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Sonia Foster, was a soloist, as was Mr. Gary Mills.

The couple took a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and northern Michigan and make their home in Dundee.

NEWLYWEDS: Mr. and Mrs. Griwatsch.

Yes, Virginia there is a Santa

The late Charles A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, gives the true picture of Santa Claus in this reply to a little girl's letter:

Dear Editor: I am eight years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Please tell me the truth. Is there a Santa Claus?

Virginia O'Hanlon

Dana replied in this editorial, which still holds a distinguished place among the literary triumphs of American journalism:

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. They do not believe except what they see. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, compared with the boundless worlds about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas, how dreary the world would be if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias! There would be no childlike faith, then, no poetry, no romance, to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except which childhood fills the world would then be extinguished.

Not to believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus; but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Not everybody sees Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not; but that's no proof that they were not there. No one can conceive or imagine all the things that are unseen or unseeable in the world.

You may tear apart a baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world that not the strongest man, not even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture that supernal beauty and glory beyond. It is all real. Ah, Virginia, in all the world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus? Thank God, he lives, and he lives forever! A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the hearts of children.

Traditional Hanukkah fare

Betty Wagner

Laurie Stern of Clarkston celebrated Hanukkah Sunday with about 20 family members. She decorated her house with blue and white balloons in keeping with Hanukkah colors and served favorite family foods.

But first, the children received gifts and played. Peter, Laurie's 7-year-old son, and his cousins looked forward to receiving Hanukkah gelt, gold foil-covered chocolate coins packed in a mesh bag.

For the dairy meal, Laurie served latkes made from a potato pancake recipe that has been in her family for at least four generations. This same recipe was printed in The Detroit News by Laurie's cousin, Barry Goldman.

Laurie also served tuna salad, egg salad, vegetables with a dairy dip, rolls from a Jewish bakery and her best recipes for baked goods. For the children, Laurie made Fannie Farmer's peanut butter cookies.

At sundown on Tuesday, Laurie and Peter lit the first candle for Hanukkah, the Jewish Festival of Lights, that begins Dec. 12 and continues for eight days.

TRADITIONAL LATKES Serve with sour cream and applesauce.

5 pounds Idaho potatoes
2 very large Spanish onions
4 eggs
1 heaping tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup pancake flour
Peanut or other vegetable oil for frying *

1. Peel potatoes and store in cold water. Grate potatoes and onions on fine end of hand grater. Squeeze excess liquid from mixture. Add the other ingredients, except pancake flour, and mix well. If liquid forms on top, drain off. Add pancake flour and mix again.

2. Heat two large skillets with 1/4-inch peanut oil. When oil begins to smoke, using a soup spoon, carefully ladle batter into oil and flatten with spatula. You will get about five latkes in each pan. Do not crowd. Turn when brown. Drain on brown paper and serve hot.

Yields about 40 latkes and gets oil all over everything.

* Peanut oil has a higher smoking point than many other vegetable oils so you can get the pan hot for crisp latkes.

APPLESAUCE Adapted from "Basic Microwaving" by Barbara Methven, microwave cooking library, copyright 1978 by Publications Arts, Inc.

3 cups peeled, sliced apples
1/4 cup water
Cinnamon to taste

1. Place fruit and water in 1 1/2- to 2-quart casserole. Cover. Microwave at HIGH 5 to 9 1/2 minutes, stirring after half the time, until fruit starts to turn transparent.

2. Stir in sugar. Let stand, covered, 2 to 3 minutes. Stir before serving. Puree, in food processor or blender, if desired.

Note: Laurie adds cinnamon but no sugar for applesauce to serve with latkes.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES from "The All New Fannie Farmer Boston Cooking School Cookbook," 10th edition, 1959, Boston Little, Brown and Co., Toronto.

Set the oven at 350 degrees. Cream together:

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup peanut butter

Beat in:

1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar

Stir in:

1 egg
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup flour (preferable pastry)

Arrange by teaspoonfuls on cookie sheets. Press flat with a floured spoon or mark with a floured fork. Bake until firm (about 10 minutes).

Makes 60.

Home-economist Betty Wagner resides in Independence Township. Her "Microwave Plus" cable-TV program appears on Independence-Clarkston Channel 65.

Determining evergreen types: it's in the needle

All needled evergreens aren't pine trees any more than all dogs are beagles.

You can become an ace in telling one evergreen from another with these tips from Michigan State University horticulture specialist Curt Peterson.

"All you need to do is remember one characteristic that distinguishes pines from spruces from junipers and so on," he says.

Pines, for instance, usually have from two to five needles packed in a bundle.

They may be long or short or somewhere in between, but if you find needles bundled together, you have a pine tree.

Look at the needles to identify spruce trees, also. In this case, examine the needle. Roll it slowly between your finger and thumb and you'll notice that it is not round or flat but rather four-sided.

Spruce trees range in color from dark green to quite blue.

If you try this with a fir needle, it won't roll because it's flat. And, like spruce needles, fir needles don't grow in bundles. Fir trees resemble spruce trees: they tend to be tall, dark and symmetrical.

Like pine trees, firs may be used for Christmas trees. (Spruces are too quick to drop their needles when they're cut and taken indoors, so they aren't as popular around the holidays.)

Another common evergreen is the juniper. Juniper plants come in a variety of shapes. Some are tall, some are short, some are virtually flat and do their growing horizontally.

Again, Peterson says, look at the needles. They are lapped over one another like shingles on a roof or scales on a fish.

Foliage may range from soft to prickly, but all junipers share the overlapping needle trait.

If you run into a dark green evergreen with shiny, flat needles that remind you of fir needles but aren't still or prickly, you're looking at a yew (also called taxus).

The soft foliage and tolerance for shade make yews popular landscape plants.

"For landscaping purposes, many other traits are more important than leaf shape," Peterson points out.

"Whether a tree is adapted to moist or dry soil, how tall and broad it gets, whether it's prone to certain insect or disease problems — traits like these are important when you're trying to choose plants for your home grounds.

They determine whether the tree or shrub you plant has a good chance to survive and thrive there.

"It's definitely a good start to be able to tell a pine when you see one, however," he adds. "If you see a plant you like and go looking for it, being able to narrow the search down to one plant family is a definite advantage."

... My Way

A time to remember

Matthew Sailor

Several days ago we received our first snow of the year. Besides adding to the adventure of driving my venerable car, it's also a wake up call to begin getting ready for Christmas.

Christmas is by far my favorite holiday. Sure it's a great way to get stuff that I'm too broke to buy and a well deserved break from school, but it's more than that.

For some odd reason it's a time of year when people are friendlier than usual (except for Christmas shoppers stuck in long lines for which the converse is true). They look up old friends and get together with family members whom they haven't seen in ages. Even kids are on their best behavior looking out for Santa Claus.

It's also a time of year when people are more aware of those less fortunate than themselves. The charities come out in force, and the evening news is crammed with stories about well-to-do people helping the disadvantaged.

Unfortunately that's all this goodwill is — a news story, a passing fad. It's gone as soon as the decorations come down and the New Year's resolutions begin to be ignored. Like so many social issues in our society, helping the poor gets old and the media moves on.

When was the last time you heard about the starving folk in Ethiopia? Do you think they've all got full bellies now? No, but the press just about did that one to death, and they had to move on before the public got bored.

The AIDS virus ran a similar course. Any talk show, any newspaper, any magazine had bunches of stuff about it but now it's old news. The latest rage has been the environment, but in a few months everything will die down and you'll never know we have a problem.

So this Christmas after you've bought your expensive presents and dropped your spare nickels and dimes into Santa's little red bucket remember what you're doing.

Matthew Sailor is a senior at Clarkston High School.

Fun projects: Angel ornament, rag heart, barrette

If you're looking for home-made gifts for the holidays, following are a few projects that are simple and fun.

Most of them require a few items from a craft store and a few hours of your time. The items are a sampling of the projects that children delved into during Super Saturday, sponsored by Clarkston Community Education.

The crafts were taught by volunteers:

Kim Broquet taught students how to make angel ornaments; Shelly Wallace showed students how to make a rag heart, and Sue Deevey helped students create balloon and hot loop barrettes.

They're suitable for children and adults.

ANGEL ORNAMENT

Materials needed for angel ornament:

Colored or white paper creative twist — small amount.

Metallic creative twist.

Iridescent creative twist.

Foil garland stars — for halo.

One-inch wooden ball with hole drilled in it.

Paint for face and head (if desired). Use a medium flesh color for painting head.

Spanish moss or chenille for hair.

Ribbon or lace for around neck.

Ribbon, thread or fishing line for hanging ornament.

Scissors.

Hot glue gun.

Tacky glue.

Directions:

1. Paint wooden ball for head, if desired.
2. Unwrap and cut metallic creative twist into three nine-inch lengths. Cut again in half, lengthwise.

3. Join top and bottom of strips to form loops. Force the top and bottom of the strips into the hole in the ball. When all three of the strips are in the ball — remove and place hot glue in the hole. Replace the strips in the hole with glue.

4. To make four petals of iridescent creative twists, cut into 3 1/2-inch strips, making one end of the strip rounded to form the petal shape. With the straight end of the strip, gather and use tacky glue at neck.

5. Hot glue hair on head.

6. Form circular halo with small tail to glue at end, and push through hair.

7. Untwist metallic twist and cut one piece of the twist to measure 7 inches by 2 1/2 inches wide. Form and hot glue wings out of this.

8. Add a bow at the neck made from ribbon or lace.

9. Add ribbon, thread or fishing line to hang the ornament.

RAG HEART

Materials needed for rag heart:

Wire heart, 6 inches

Scissors

1/8 of a yard of fabric

Wire hanger

Cardboard ruler (1 inch by 5 inch)

Ribbon

Hot glue gun with glue.

Directions:

1. Tear each piece of fabric longways into 1-inch strips.

2. Cut the fabric strips into 1-inch-by-5-inch lengths.

3. Knot strips around wire heart. (See figures 1 and 2). If you have a print and a solid fabric, one solid piece of fabric is placed every third or fourth piece of fabric.

4. Tie the ribbon into a bow, and use hot glue gun to secure bow.

5. Tie wire piece onto heart as hanger.

Figure 1

Figure 2

BARRETTES

Materials needed to make decorative barrettes.

Metal barrettes.

Balloons — 20 are needed for each barrette.

Hot loops, which can be purchased at craft stores, optional.

Directions:

Tie four balloons together around the centers, using the fifth balloon to tie the group of four balloons to the barrette. To complete the barrette, four groups of the tied balloons will be needed.

To use the hot loops on the barrettes, the same directions are followed as the balloons, but the hot loops must be cut in half.

Gift-giving origin found in story of Jesus' birth

WE PRESENT the story of the birth of Christ because of its simple beauty and because it reminds us of the origin of our custom of giving gifts on Christmas.

AND IT CAME to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor.

And all went to be taxed; every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea; unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem.

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

AND THERE were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them: fear not; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day, in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly, there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying:

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

AND IT CAME to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them. (LUKE 2:2-20)

NOW WHEN Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem.

Saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.

When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared.

And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard of the king, they departed, and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.

When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

and when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshiped him; and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh. (MATTHEW 2:2-11)

Reunion

A 15-year reunion for the 1976 graduating class at Clarkston High School is planned for July 6, 1991.

The problem, says organizer Mike O'Neill, is that they've lost the addresses of their classmates.

If anyone knows the whereabouts of members of the CHS class of 1976, please call O'Neill and his wife Kathy at 694-3836. Or call Denise Domroese at 623-1737.

You may also write to Clarkston Class of '76, P.O. Box 390, Clarkston, MI 48347.

A pet for Christmas? Think it over

Christmas — few words conjure up more excitement among adults as well as children. The spirit of giving abounds and people just seem happier.

Christmas cards and holiday greetings often picture cuddly puppies and kittens popping out of gaily wrapped packages or decked out in ribbons or bows. Their images have become so commonplace that people tend to forget what they depict — pets as holiday gifts.

While giving a pet for Christmas might seem like a great deal of fun, all too often it's a negative experience for the animal and the recipient, according to the Michigan Humane Society.

New pets need quiet time to adjust to their new surroundings. The excitement and generalized confusion of a holiday celebration can be a frightening experience to an animal unaccustomed to his surroundings. The human members of the family are especially busy during the holiday season and may not have the extra time to help the new pet become adjusted and give him the extra care and attention he needs.

In addition, close surveillance of the pet may not be possible. Potential holiday dangers for the new pet, as well as established ones, include chewing on tinsel, ribbons and electric cords — all dangerous things that can cause serious illness or even death.

Finally, owning a pet is a personal choice and responsibility. Most people would prefer the opportunity to choose their own pet — to select that certain pet that has the qualities and temperament that matches their lifestyle. When you give someone a pet, you are making a choice that they'll have to live with for 10 to 15 years.

If a "living" gift is definitely the choice, however, don't introduce him until the excitement and confusion has subsided. This sensitive being deserves his best chance at a good, loving home and the post holiday period offers the greatest likelihood of a successful match-up.

National delegate

Carol Eberhardt of Clarkston was among 5,000 Girl Scout delegates and visitors in Miami Beach for the 45th National Council Session/convention of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. (GSUSA).

A highlight of the event was First Lady Barbara Bush launching the national Girl Scout literacy project, "Right to Read." Mrs. Bush is the honorary national president of the Girl Scouts.

Obituaries

Martha Fischer

Martha Fischer, 84, of Brandon Township died Dec. 3, 1990.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Richard P. (Marianne) Anderson of Oxford; son, Walter Fischer of Berlin, Germany; seven grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

The funeral was Dec. 6 at the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, Independence Township. Burial was at the Seymour Lake Cemetery.

Myrtle M. Perry

Myrtle M. Perry, 85, of Clarkston died Dec. 10, 1990. She was born in Clarkston on April 10, 1905, and spent most of her life here.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Joseph F. Perry Sr.

Mrs. Perry is survived by her son, Joseph F. Perry Jr. of Alger; grandchildren, Michael J. Perry and Brenda K. Beckwith; three great-grandchildren; brothers, Bill Kelley of Clarkston and Arthur Kelley of Clarkston; and sister, Mrs. Doris Inman of Lake City.

The funeral was set for 11 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 13, at the Goyette Funeral Home, Clarkston, with the Rev. Douglas Trebilcock officiating. Burial was scheduled for Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township.

Arrangements were made by the Goyette Funeral Home, Clarkston.

Memorial tributes may be made to the American Lung Association.

Author-educator Maya Angelou gave the opening keynote address. National pollster Louis Harris announced the results of a national survey on the impact of Girl Scouting on today's girls.

The National Council meets every three years to elect national board members, to review the past years' actions and to plan the direction of Girl Scouting for the next triennium.

With 3.2 million members, GSUSA is the largest voluntary organization for girls in the world. Its sole focus is to meet the special needs of girls, from all walks of life and from every racial/ethnic and religious group.

Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council serves 6,000 girls.

Promoted to senior V.P.

Donald C. Brockman of Meyer, Independence Township, has been promoted to senior vice-president at Ellis, Naeyaert and Genheimer Associates, Inc., Troy.

Brockman has been employed at the architectural and engineering firm for 21 years. Prior to his promotion he served as the vice-president.

Honored for 25 years

A Clarkston-area resident was recently honored for his long-standing service to Lennox Industries at the company's annual employee service awards ceremony.

Raymond Clifford has been employed at Lennox for 25 years. He received a watch in recognition of his commitment to the company.

Lennox manufactures commercial and residential central air conditioning units and heat pumps at its Eastern Division sales and manufacturing headquarters in Columbus, Ohio.

Representing Michigan

Frank Dennis of the Davisburg area was one of three Oakland County residents who represented Michigan at a recent North Central Midwest Regional 4-H Leaders Forum in Kansas City.

The forum was designed to develop leader skills and attitudes needed to address youth development issues. Participants enjoyed track workshops, historical tours, crafts and keynote speakers.

Pet of the Week

TRASHER'S all black with a white spot on his chest.

Endearing puppy

Trasher's still a puppy, only 4 months old, so he might get into things. And his name will fit for a while.

But this Labrador retriever-mix pup shows promise of being a great pet. Once he gets older, he will settle down, a shelter worker says.

He likes other cats and dogs and will probably be good with children once he gets past his puppy stage.

Trasher's not housebroken yet, but crating him will help to train him. He was picked up as a stray.

The $60 adoption fee includes neutering.

To adopt Trasher, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Auburn Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.
