MEAP scores rank with 1989

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Students in the Clarkston area tallied scores consistent with those achieved in last year's Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) tests.

"The students did pretty good," said Dr. Judith Backes, coordinator of staff development and curriculum. "We saw some increases in the new reading tests, and the middle school students fared pretty well."

Done on a yearly basis, MEAP tests assess student knowledge in mathematics, science and reading comprehension. Each student is tested in three-year intervals to evaluate the amount of knowledge retained over that period.

All passing scores are determined on a criterion set by the State of Michigan. In math and science, the criterion is a 75 percent accuracy rate.

According to Backes, a deviation of five percentage points over last year's scores would be considered a significant change.

"We're looking for a steady, positive change over the years," she said.

Mathematics

In the field of mathematics, students in the fourth, seventh and 10 grades are tested.

In 1990, 94.4 percent of Clarkston's fourth graders passed muster on the math testing. It was a slight drop from the 95.3 percent scored by last year's students.

Seventh-graders accumulated a 82.4 percent passing rate this year, after scoring 83.3 percent in 1989. Tenth-grade students scored a 79.3 percent accuracy rating, which was a mere drop from the 80-percent mark registered last year.

Science

In the science segment, 78.9 percent of the area's fifth-graders met the statewide criterion. In 1989, the 84.4 percent of students achieved the standard.

According to Backes, these particular scores could be deceiving because this was the first science test taken by this year's fifth-graders. Last year's students had the luxury of taking the same exam during their stay in the fourth grade.

This year, eighth-grade students scored 63.6 percent (See TEST, Page 4)

Boy charged with manslaughter

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

A 14-year-old boy has been charged with killing a 15-year-old girl in his Oakvista, Independence Township, home last week.

The boy, a Sashabaw Junior High School student, has been charged with involuntary manslaughter. His is being withheld because he is a minor.

The girl, Carmen Blehm of High Street, Independence Township, was shot in the head Dec. 15, while visiting the youth's home. She was rushed to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital that evening but died later the next day.

Officials at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said the shooting was accidental in nature. Police determined that the small-caliber hand gun discharged while the teens were playing with it.

The girl, a high school dropout, was buried last Thursday in Lakeview Cemetery, Independence Township.

Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Gerald Poisson said the charge stems from the youth's gross negligence in the handling of a firearm,

The boy appeared in Oakland County Probate Court Dec. 19 on the charge. He is scheduled to face a Jan. 8 preliminary examination.

If convicted, the boy could be held in a state facility until he reaches the age of 19.

Judge's order restrains Deer Lake sewer for now

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

An Oakland County Circuit Court judge delivered a restraining order to Independence Township last week, so he could investigate a citizens' lawsuit over the Deer Lake sewer proposal.

On Dec. 19, Judge Barry Howard prescribed the restraining order after listening to the basis of the suit.

The suit stems from a year-long controversy involving a 4,330-linear-foot sewer line along Deer Lake Road.

The project would connect a sewer line at the southern part of White Lake Road and intersect with Dixie Highway to the west.

Ten area families, adamant about the sewer project, decided to take the township to court to stop the enterprise. They fear that the sewer line construction will disturb the natural integrity of the roadway.

Besides stopping the project, the suit also calls for the disbandment of the Downtown Development Authority (DDA), an entity created for the improvement of parts of Dixie Highway and M-15.

The DDA will be responsible for funding the sewer project.

Charles Myers, a Sagamore resident who filed the suit in early December, was happy with the restraining order.

Tuition approved

Doug Lewan, planning and development coordinator for Springfield Township, is going to be reimbursed for half of the tuition he paid for graduate classes.

The Springfield Township Board unanimously approved $365 be reimbursed to Lewan for two of his classes at Wayne State University, Detroit.

In a memo to the board, Lewan said he had paid for his tuition up to this point. But the two classes for which he requested reimbursement are related to work he does within the township.

"We were pleased with his decision. Our goal was to stop the sewers."

Chuck Myers

What was the same and the same

"We were pleased with his decision," Myers said.
"Our goal was to stop the sewers. The township can't do anything until the suit is settled next month."

Township officials saw the decision as a rational move on the part of the judge.

"It was a very understandable action for the judge to make," said township attorney Gerald Fisher. "During discussions with both sides, it was apparent to him that this case was somewhat complicated. So he decided to

Corrections

In the Dec. 3 issue of The Clarkston News, a story about an Andersonville Road, Springfield Township, accident should have said that Pam Kellum was a witness to the accident.

In the Dec. 12 issue of the Clarkston News, a photo of a Clarkston Junior High School seventh grade basketball player shooting a free throw was incorrectly identified as Joe Jenson. Scott Hill was actually the player shooting. The incorrect player/number information was supplied by a roster from the school.

take some time out to investigate the suit."

Fisher said the move is not unusual, especially when a judge is facing a backlog of cases.

While in court, Fisher filed a summary disposition, which would dismiss all charges against the township.

The case is set to reconvene Jan. 23, with a verdict expected the same day.

Judge reflects on decision heard' round the world

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Despite being thrust into international spotlight, 52nd District Court Judge Gerald McNally hasn't been affected by the exposure of the Dr. Jack Kevorkian "suicide machine" case.

Earlier this month, McNally dismissed murder charges

"Without question, this case attracted more attention than all my others combined."

Judge Gerald McNally

against the physician, who had helped an Oregon woman commit suicide via his machine. The woman was suffering from Alzheimer's disease at the time of her death in Groveland Township.

McNally's decision was based on the fact that he couldn't find any evidence that the doctor had violated a Michigan law. He said only two other known cases involving "assisted" suicide existed in Michigan legal history.

In 1920, a man killed his wife, who was suffering from multiple sclerosis. He turned himself in and admitted to mercifully killing his wife. The man was later found guilty of first-degree murder in circuit court.

The other case involved a drunken incident in 1983 where a spouse shot himself after finding his wife in the act of adultery. Upon her intoxicated urging, he killed himself.

McNally found no correlation between the two episodes and the Kevorkian case because the doctor didn't actually kill the woman.

In his 22 years as judge of the 52nd District Court, Independence Township, McNally said this was the most prominent case to come before him.

"Without question, this case attracted more atten-

Open positions filled

The Independence Township Planning Commission and Board of Review will be getting new blood in 1991.

The township board filled five vacant seats on three committees Dec. 18. Three of the appointees were reappointed to their previous positions.

Harry Mosher, a member of the wetlands board since 1984, was named to a three-year term on the planning commission. He will replace Commissioner Jo Fussman, who is stepping down after six years.

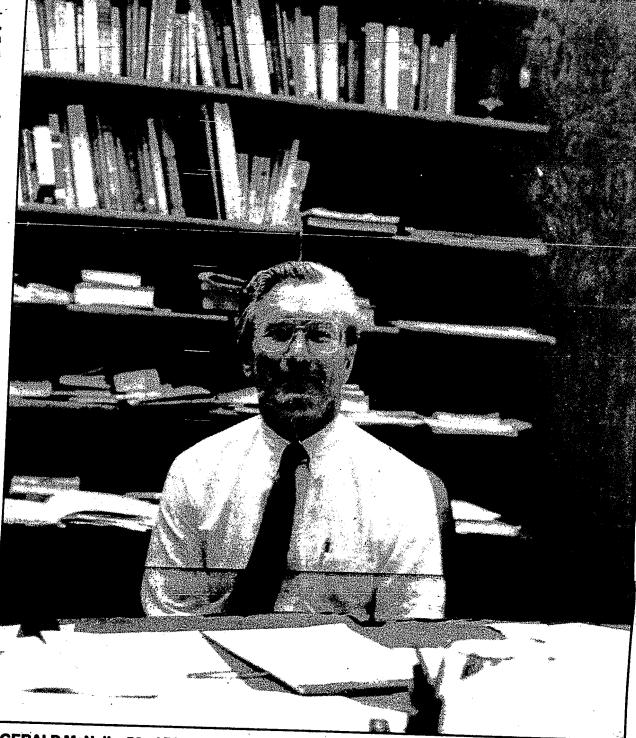

Township Supervisor Frank Ronk praised Fussman's dedication to the planning commission.

"Jo has been an outstanding person on our planning commission," Ronk said. "She's always been good about participating on sub-committees, which met during the day or night. We're really going to miss her."

Commissioner Joseph Figa also agreed to serve another three-year term on the planning commission.

Ron Davis, former Rotary Club president and employee at the National Bank of Detroit, was named to a two-year term with the board of review. Rainee Stricklin was also reappointed to serve another term.

The township board also voted to retain Tim Palulian on the Economic Development Board. The position holds a six-year term.

GERALD McNally, 52nd District Court judge, dismissed murder charges against Dr. Jack Kevorkian in the controversial "suicide tion than all my others combined," he said. "The international exposure was unique to our courtroom.

"I felt like we hit the media lottery," McNally joked. Considering the importance of the case, McNally said the two-day ordeal was relatively carefree.

"The media was easy to work with. They were very accommodating with their equipment," he said. "In terms of security, there were no problems before or during our preliminary examination."

Despite speculation surrounding a possible appeal

"Law has a tendency to respond to the squeaky wheel, and this is definitely a squeaky wheel."

Judge Gerald McNally

from the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, McNally said the officials agreed not to file an appeal.

"I was hoping they would appeal the decision, but Dick (Prosecutor Richard Thompson) doesn't intend to file an appeal," McNally said. "However, we both agreed machine" case. McNally, a 22-year veteran of the bench, said the case was the most prominent of his career.

that the state legislature should deal with this kind of case."

McNally hopes that the exposure of the case and public sentiment spur the legislature into creating a law on suicide regulation. At least with a law on the books, McNally figures, its validity can be tested and upgraded.

"This is reminiscent to surrogate parenting or ultralight regulation. The law will be forced to respond to these situations when society becomes pinched," he surmised. "Law has a tendency to respond to the squeaky wheel, and this is definitely a squeaky wheel."

When asked how he wanted to be remembered in handling this case, he responded, "that I focused a lot of attention on a social problem in an unregulated area."

Shortened township hours for holidays

The last chance to pay property taxes this year in Independence Township are coming up soon, according to Treasurer John Lutz.

Anyone who plans to use the payment as a deduction on 1990 taxes should note that the holidays have shortened township office hours, said Lutz.

The township offices are closed Monday, Dec. 31, and Tuesday, Jan. 1.

So the last days to pay taxes are Thursday and Friday, Dec. 27 and 28, when the township will hold its regular hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Family dynamics

Julie Campe

I didn't know my husband's family when the children were young, but I can get an idea of their behavior from how they act with each other today.

D.J., the oldest and a proud member of the U.S. Marines, is the responsible, prepared one. For instance, in August of 1990, he heard that he might be shipped to Saudi Arabia, so he immediately bought Christmas presents for all of his siblings and father.

Apparently, he felt he couldn't trust his wife, Shaun, to do it (though she's impeccable about birthday and other holiday greetings), or maybe that was one pleasure he wanted to experience before facing the Unknown. Anyway, D.J. has been in Saudi Arabia for months now, but his gifts arrived, with a personal greeting to each family member, in time for Christmas.

Tori, the second-born (and oldest daughter) also is a responsible one and accepts her position as big sister, though she is actually the smallest of the children.

On Sunday, Dec. 23, five of us gathered at the Campe residence to celebrate December birthdays -- four of them. Only Tori was born in a month other than December, so she -- happily, even -- baked pumpkin pies (for The Thinker) and, for the rest of us, baked her Grandmother Malone's famous moist, deep chocolate bundt cake that has a secret ingredient in its zesty chocolate icing.

We didn't make Tori sing "Happy Birthday" alone but instead sang it four times and four times lit candles on the cake (Tori's idea) and four times waited while the birthday person made his or her wish and then splattered wax all over Grandmother Malone's famous cake (each time defity extinguishing the candle flames). I'll let you know later if the wishes come true.

I will skip the third child for the moment to talk about the fourth child, Alex. She is a middle kid, without the distinction of being the oldest or youngest (though she is the tallest daughter). She learned the importance of independence early in life and has always had a sort of family outside of the family.

This Christmas was no exception. She told everyone she would be spending the holiday at "home," which some interpreted to mean her San Francisco apartment.

However, we tracked her down at her Aunt Pat and Uncle Jack's Oakland, Calif., home.

"I told you I was spending it at home," she told us that day.

We should have known. At any rate, Alex had a merry Christmas despite being snowless and siblingless.

This brings us to Chris (alias The Thinker) who is not only a middle child but also the youngest son, which means he does not mind and even expects that Tori would bake pies especially for him.

He and Audrey, The Youngest Campe, share many of the same personality traits and usually provide the entertainment for family gatherings.

For example, on Christmas day, we took a brisk walk to try out our new Christmas presents (warm socks for me, warm gloves and binoculars for Chris, a warm scarf for Audrey and a thick winter coat for Don, the patriarch of the family).

Soon enough, Audrey was insisting that Chris play a game of "Pie" with her. Pie is a game of tag in snow. It requires that the players make a large circle in the snow and then slice the circle into pieces of "pie." With that shape marked in the snow, the game of tag may begin, but the players are restricted to the pie paths in the snow.

Chris wholeheartedly agreed, and the game quickly began and just as quickly deteriorated into a snow fight, with Audrey ending up as an angel in the snow.

But as Chris pointed out, Audrey herself was no angel -- only the image she left in the snow could claim that title.

Letter to the Editor

Desert update

I am writing this letter to show how much our service people in Operation Desert Shield appreciate mail from the states.

I teach a Mom and Tot Art Class for the Waterford Parks and Recreation Department. As a part of a recent project, the children, ages 2-5, and their parents made "Hearts of Love" posters by cutting out colorful pictures from magazines. WE included our address requesting a reply if it were possible.

I would like to share with you the Heart of Love letter that we received from Staff Sgt. Gregg Poole.

Carolyn Romein Independence Drive

Dear Ms. Romein, Eric, Karlie, Mathew, Jimmy, Beth, A.J., Nicole, Jamie, Daniel, Paige, Scott, Jesse, Jessen, Jessica, Erica, Amy, Sabrina, Daniel, Crystal, Jimmy and parents of all:

Whew!

I hope this letter finds you all in good health and spirits.

Let me thank you all on behalf of myself and unit for taking all the extra time, trouble and care in the beautiful posters. They were very much enjoyed by all.

My name is Gregg, and we are home-stationed out of Shaw AFB, Sumter, S.C., with the 9th Tactical Intelligence Squadron.

My people and myself maintain the air conditioning and supply the power (diesel generators) for our mobile communication vans. They are wall-to-wall computers with assorted communications equipment. They pick up data from satellites and AWAC aircraft on Iraqi movements.

The job is not as glamorous as a fighter pilot's but necessary.

We've been here over 120 days and no end in sight. My youngest would fit right into your class. She just turned three.

I'm sure by now it's darn cold there and probably covered with snow. I was stationed at Grand Forks, N.D., as my first assignment for four long, long winters.

It's actually been cool to cold here in the evenings through early mornings. But there's still a few hours of heat in the early afternoon. They did issue us all winter field jackets.

Make sure all you young'uns watch those Christmas cartoon specials for me. I'll really miss them.

Have a wonderful holiday season. Merry Christmas and a very happy New Year to you all.

Your friend in the sand and sun, Gregg Poole

P.S. If there's anything I can do or questions I could answer for you all, please don't hesitate to ask.

Jim's Jottings

Jim Sherman

Robert Stemple, chief executive officer of the largest industrial company in the world, said, "Economists have been predicting a recession for six years. I think they finally got it."

I do too.

The slowdown (some say stopdown) is here -- and has been since before Saddam Hussein took Kuwait August 2.

While General Motor's Stemple was talking United States, I'll make my remarks more regional.

Annually this time of year I write my views of how the new year should be faced, economically. Frequent readers remember my suggestions of taking a cautious approach to spending (buying).

There were, of course, times in the soaring '80s when good times were predictable. Inflation was under control, employment was high, our country was at peace, growth was all about us.

Today, in northeast Oakland County 'things' are still fairly good, economically. Thanks to a movement away from auto-related operations, toward service and non-auto, the growth that has come to this area has meant more stable conditions than we experienced in the '70s recession/'depression.

Northeast Oakland has diversified. We have more technological centers than anywhere else, I'm told. More than Ann Arbor, more than Silicone Valley, more than the Boston area.

We have chip makers, component parts makers, several plastic extrusioners, EDS, office buildings, union headquarters, a university, a community college, recreation/entertainment, etc besides most of the same auto-related suppliers.

The biggest slow area is the City of Pontiac. And, we're not saying there are no hardships. The closing of Sea Ray Boats, the slowdown in residential and commercial building, the tax and gas increases and effects of creeping recession have hit some residents hard.

There are, however, factors at work that lead us to believe the slowdown will not be as long as the 1980-84 depression. For one thing, there are a lot more people in Northeast Oakland (and elsewhere) receiving steady, uninterrupted income.

The number of people on regular and early retirements is considerably higher today than 10 years ago. Those guaranteed incomes to so many people 55 and older are a great deterrent to recessions.

True, car sales and production are down... which affects this area most, but car dealers (I've been told by a couple dealers) are making a better margin (profit) now than a year ago. Auto makers are still predicting huge sales for 1991 models when compared to figures a decade or so back.

A lot of people will still be working. A lot of people will be on unemployment (which, in some cases is substantial income), a lot of people will be on government payrolls.

1991 won't be a year we all build up our equity and savings accounts, but we think more of us will be doing better starting in September.

Most of the thoughts I've written here are based on our not getting into a shooting war. Which brings me to my wish for the New Year: May President Bush not let American blood be soaked up in the oily sands of Iraq/Kuwait.

CHS blood drive a big success

On behalf of the patients in the area hospitals I want to express sincere gratitude for all the generous blood donors at Clarkston High School. At their blood drive on Dec. 11, 141 students attempted to give with 116 pints of blood actually given. Included in this number were 83

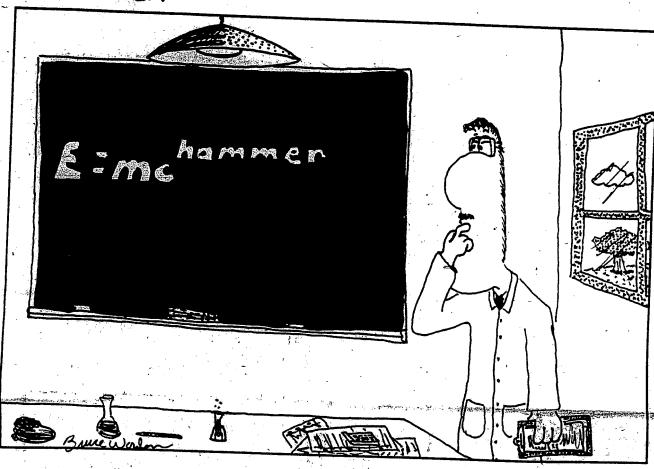

first-time donors

All the students can be proud of their participation in the humanitarian effort of providing blood to those in need. The high school ranks seventh in the number of donors among all high schools in the five-county metro-

A special thanks to the students who organized the blood drive and to Becky Craig, Principal Robert Burek and the band director, Cliff Chapman.

The firing of Emie Harwell, predictably, drew a loud and extended outburst from our sports writer James Gibowski.

An obvious sports-lover and active member of Tiger Stadium Fan Club, Jim was absolutely furious a full 24 hours after the news was announced.

The Clarkston News parking lot drew similar emotion from Advertising Manager Stu McTeer this week.

The News' lot is always crowded, forcing motorists to park horizontally and diagonally in the tiny space. It can take several minutes — and at least six or seven shifts from forward and reverse - to inch from the lot on any given day.

When motorists failed to comply with the Private Parking sign posted in the lot; Stu began championing the cause personally.

Startled, I watched as he chased an offending truck from the lot.

"You'll have to park elsewhere," he said loudly, waving his arms. "This is a private lot?".

What conviction, I wondered, silently.

In attempting to recall issues that had stirred such a passion within me, I was surprised to come up with very few.

Oh, sure, I love flowers... but would I be prepared to fight for them?

As defined, passion is a feeling of compelling force; a strong or extravagant fondness, enthusiasm or desire for anything.

The passion flower, in fact, is named for its resemblance to wounds of Christ, incurred while wearing the crown of thoms.

Said Buddha, "through zeal, knowledge is gotten; through lack of zeal, knowledge is lost. Let a man who knows this double path of gain and loss thus place himself that knowledge may grow."

Passion, I've decided, is a noble trait.

Yet, not having experienced this sort of extravagant emotion very often. I can only guess that passion isn't always comfortable.

A passionate person is said to be dominated by vehement emotion, whether it be fear, joy, grief, desire or anger.

Am I ready for that?

In the name of knowledge, I begin to practice raising my voice and waving my arms.

Slow drivers suddenly come to mind. And potholes ... and busy signals ... and liverwurst ...

Employees follow mayor's lead

Jim Fitzgerald

It doesn't really do any good, does it? That's a halfanswered question I'm frequently asked about my constant carping against public employees for screwing the public. Ghost parking tickets, for example. Among the peasants, there's a widespread feeling that city department heads and other top officials are so busy enjoying and protecting their lofty trough positions that they can't be bothered with such pesky details as aggrieved citizens with legitimate complaints.

It's no wonder. In the infamous FBI tapes that Ken Weiner secretly made of his conversations with Mayor Coleman Young, pesky details get short shrift. Several times, Weiner gives the mayor such vague reports as: "You have three, four hundred thousand in cash." And Young never asks: "Well, exactly what the hell is it, $300,000 or $400,000?"

Imagine that. If your bank teller said you had $300 to $400 in your checking account, you'd want to know which figure was correct, especially if you'd just written a check for $350. But for Young, a $100,000 difference is a pesky detail not worth questioning.

Such a financially cavalier attitude is typical of the mayor's entire persona. He looks at the big picture - tearing down a perfectly viable Ford Auditorium to make rich banking executives happy, for instance. Never mind such pesky details as the many nearby deserted buildings that should be torn down before they fall down. The bankers to downtown without also subtracting. They re most interested in adding to their treasury, and Mayor Young obviously understands where the bankers are coming from.

Also revealed in the Weiner tapes: Young didn't want to deposit too much of his holdings in the city's only black bank because, he said, it would be too much like doing business with your gabby cousin. So what if he's always preached support for minority businesses? That's a pesky detail, easy to ignore.

Mayor Young does things his way and rejects news media requests to explain his actions to the public that employs him. So why shouldn't his top aides follow the leader? Why should the director of the Municipal Parking Department offer a public explanation for the countless cars cited for parking where they were never parked? Ghost tickets are pesky details compared to the big picture, which is collecting enough fines, one way or another, to justify the existence of the fine collectors.

But that doesn't mean no one up there is paying attentin. Witness the experience of a minor city employee recently victimized by the parking department. She wrote a complaint to the Parking Violations Bureau, noting that a copy was going to me. She soon received a stern phone from a top executive of the bureau.

"We don't know how he found her and her phone number, but he did," the victim's husband told me, "He said she wouldn't have to pay the fine and warned her, about six times, to never write to Jim Fitzgerald."

For the obvious reason (her job), I'm not revealing the names of those involved. But there's no reason not to give the name of Albert R. Kelly, 68, who is disabled and lives in the Cass Corridor. Last May, for some unknown reason, the handicapped parking sign was removed from in front of his apartment building. Selden Manor. He contacted the proper city department and was told the sign would be replaced as soon as possible.

Six months later, despite repeated phone calls, there's still no sign. "Nobody in the sign section will give me their name," an angry Kelly said this week. "They say the signs are available, but they have a big backlog of work and don't have time to deliver one.'

Handicapped parking signs are pesky details. So are streetlights. In my Lafayette Park neighborhood, on a street where cars are regularly stolen, the lights were out Dec. 4, 7, 9, 10, 11 and 12. I'll bet you city service isn't that lousy in Mayor Young's neighborhood.

I'll bet $1 or $100,000. What's the difference?

Township officials, Monaghan could learn from American industry

Doug Carlson

During the past several days, I've thought a lot about the Ernie Harwell situation.

Like everyone else, I'm totally puzzled as to why they would fire the best announcer and finest person in baseball. Beyond that, I'm surprised, dismayed and disgusted at the way it was handled, especially by my former hero, Bo Schembechler.

Once I sorted through all these emotions, I got to thinking about Tom Monaghan and Bo Schembechler's insensitivity to the Tiger fans.

First, they tear down Tiger stadium or soon will. Then they "retire" Ernie Harwell. Next to go, probably, will be the Olde English "D" on the uniforms.

Monaghan, Schembechler and WJR have taken it upon themselves to decide what the fans want. But in reality, the fans no longer matter. The Tigers get their money from TV revenues. This makes their decision to do away with the old and bring in the new relatively easy. They simply say, "These are good business decisions." The bottom line is how much money they'll ultimately make

The Harwell situation also got me thinking about Ford Motor Co., where I spent 30 years of my life. At Ford, I saw us pull out of the early '80s recession through a process called "Employee Involvement."

Our chief executive officer, Don Petersen, gradually convinced top management that bringing employees at all levels into the decision-making process would ultimately pay off. And it did, handsomely.

Employees were told that their ideas on how to do their jobs more efficiently would be welcomed. In the assembly plants, especially, it was amazing to listen to the ideas that people "on the line" had, ideas that had been buried for years because no one ever listened or cared.

Today, the practice of listening to, and involving, employees in the business is widespread in American industry — and paying off. The tough times we're going through now are a result of a multitude of external forces, not because we quit listening to people.

I've mentioned Ernie Harwell and Ford Motor Co. because of several letters to the editor that have appeared recently in The Clarkston News.

From what I read, it seems that many people feel they're not being heard by local, state or federal government.

Government just assumes they know what we want, but no one ever asks us. There are people in Clarkston, I'm sure, who would like to see our quaint little community become more modern, with malls, boulevards, music theaters, etc. Like Tom Monaghan, who truly believes that we'll really love a new, glitzy stadium and a young, rah-rah announcer.

Two years ago, COG surveyed over 250 township residents to determine who they feel about their township. We compiled their responses in a comprehensive and professionally done report and presented it to the Independence Township Board and Planning Commission.

I often wonder whatever happened to it. They way we're going is not the way people responded in the survey. The town we're going to ultimately get is not the town most people want. Just like the new Tiger announcer will not be another Ernie Harwell.

But, after all, what do we know? We just live here.

Samaritan wanted

Everyday we fill the brown grocery bags, and everyday the stream of pain comes in the door. Everyday the problem is different — yet the same. Everyday they look for the Samaritan to relieve the misery.

By filling thousands of grocery bags a year, we help your neighbors and mine relieve the hunger that often robs them of will. Everyday we sort the used clothes and store the crutches and wheel chairs. Everyday we visit the seniors, transport the handicapped and fill the prescriptions. Everyday we write checks, contact the landlords or repair the rickety stairs.

But who is in that stream of pain? Maybe the young mother and baby sleeping in the car outside her apartment. We saved her from homelessness with $40.

Maybe it's the 78-year-old woman who worked cleaning for others and now can't afford to pay the taxes on her little home or purchase her blood pressure medicines.

Maybe it's the young man who started a successful pizza restaurant across from a local factory only to have another cutback close the factory. He cried when he asked for food for his pale, trembling wife.

Which one do we refuse? How do we decide?

To fill the brown grocery bags and write the checks and transport the seniors and interrupt the pain, Lighthouse North needs a Samaritan.

To help us make the hard decisions, we need your kindness. We need you to fill our little Brown Bag.

Because we know of your sacrifice, we solemnly pledge that clients are first, but good stewardship demands excellent management. We stand ready for your review anytime and hope you will volunteer and help us make the tough decisions.

Everyday the stream of pain comes in the doors, and everyday we fill the brown grocery bags, and everyday we make the tough decisions. Today Lighthouse North needs you to make a tough decision.

Please help.

TREES AND MONEY

QUESTION: Is it true that planting trees on vacant house lots can increase the value of that property?

ANSWER: A study in Amherst, Massachusetts indicates that, while planting trees on an avevage-sized lot can add between 7% and 15% to the land value, you can risk reducing the value by overdoing it.

The study shows that land value increases at about $300 per tree of six-inch diameter or more up to a total of sixteen trees. The next ten trees increases the land value by only $200 apiece, and the 30th tree is considered "worthless." Any trees beyond the thirty may actually REDUCE the land value according to the study.

PLANTING TREES on a vacant lot can increase its value, but too many can reduce the value.

Volleyball team opens with tourney title

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's volleyball section of the trophy case will have to be opened early this season.

Clarkston's varsity came from behind in the semifinal and final matches to win the Lansing Waverly Tournament championship Dec. 22.

In semifinal action, the Wolves lost the first game to host Lansing Waverly, 12-15, narrowly won the second game 16-14 (after trailing 8-12) and then clinched a finals' berth by winning the deciding third game, 15-6.

"What turned the match around was we blocked real well," said coach Gordie Richardson about his squad's 13 blocks in the semifinal.

Clarkston again fell behind in the finals. Coldwater won the opening game 6-15, but the Wolves took the final two, 15-13, 15-5.

"They played real well. I'm happy for the team," said Richardson, whose team raised its record in season-opening action to 5-0-1. The Wolves finished 18-

Richardson credits the tournament win to his team's improvement in practice, the girls' coachability and the "quality time" of the non-starters playing in key role situations.

Serving is always a key in volleyball, and the coach was pleasantly surprised by his team's 71 aces.

"I don't recall the last time in my years of coaching that we had such an ability to score on our serving," said Richardson.

And about coming from behind.
 "These kids. They don't get flustered," said Richardson.

The Wolves are expecting much from three-year letterman Jenny Graham, and she didn't disappoint in the tournament. Graham finished the day with a .310 attack percentage, a 90 percent serve reception percentage; and she served 44 of 48 (92 percent) with eight aces.

Becky Kosek, the team's setter, set 219 times with only seven errors.

Kim Kolody and Candy Polenz each had a serve reception percentage of 90 percent and Kolody served 18 of 20 (90 percent) with three aces. Laura Garlitz also nailed 22 aces while serving.

As a team, the Wolves had an 85 percent serving percentage and an 82 percent serve reception percentage.

In the tournament opener, Clarkston downed Potterville (former Class D state champions), 15-12, 15-10. Kosek had five kills, and Polenz served 11 of 12 with four aces.

The Wolves split with Coldwater in the second round, 13-15, 16-14. Graham made 16 of 18 attacks with eight kills. Stacey Tinkis served 11 of 13 with two aces. Graham (13 of 13) and Tinkis (11 of 11) were perfect in serve receptions.

Clarkston stopped Charlotte 15-8, 15-9. Polenz converted on 10 of 14 attacks with four kills, and Graham was six of six with two kills. Garlitz served 12 of 12 with three aces. Tinkis was 4-of-4 in both serve and attack receptions.

The Wolves crushed Lansing Eastern, 15-1, 15-8. Graham made 10 of 12 attacks with six kills and had six of six serve receptions and seven of nine attack receptions. Polenz served 10 of 10 with four aces to go along with five kills. Heather Steinhelper and Kosek each had two blocks.

In the 12-15, 16-14, 15-6 semifinal win over Waverly, Steinhelper had seven of the team's 13 blocks, and she also was successful on 17 of 21 attacks with three kills. Garlitz, who served out the key second game, was 12 of 15 with eight aces. Graham made 15 of 17 attacks with seven kills and made nine of 13 digs. Polenz was a perfect 11 of 11 in serve receptions.

In the 6-15, 15-13, 15-5 finals victory over Coldwater, Kosek served 11 of 11 with three aces. Polenz made 12 of 15 attacks with eight kills, and Graham was 10 of 12 with four kills. Kolody was five of five serving.

The Wolves next take the court Jan. 5 at the Walled Lake Invitational.

Wolves edge Catholic Central

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Once again, being on the road against a team rich in basketball tradition has not stopped the Clarkston varsity basketball team

A layup by guard Dugan Fife with a half minute left gave Clarkston a 63-62 victory Dec. 20 against always-tough Detroit Catholic Central in Redford.

The Wolves, now 4-0, are playing like seasoned veterans despite only having one returning starter (Fife). The nailbiter at Catholic Central, now 2-1, came only a few weeks after the Wolves' season-opening dramatics at powerhouse Pontiac Central, a 91-89 OT win over the Chiefs

The game in Redford was a continuous seesaw. Clarkston led 19-17 after the first eight minutes but the hosts took the lead, 34-32, at intermission.

Clarkston regained the advantage by taking a 51-49 lead into the fourth quarter. It wasn't over until Fife's final basket and the final tick on the clock.

The Wolves were paced by Fife's 27 points, along with Mark Galbraith's 15 and Derek Wiley's 14. Sean Halleran added four and Luke Fedio had three.

Bob Kummer led Catholic Central with 20 and teammate Steve Whitlow had Both teams were deadly from the 3point range. Clarkston nailed six (three by Wiley, two from Fife and one by Fedio) and Catholic Central hit five bombs.

The Wolves also found their mark on the free-throw line, sinking 19 of 26 (73 percent). Catholic Central made 11 of 17 attempts (65 percent).

JV sparks in 2nd half

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's Matt Smith made sure Detroit Catholic Central had a miserable second half.

Smith came off the bench to score 17 of his 18 points after intermission to spark the Clarkston JV boys' basketball team to a 65-52 victory over host Detroit Catholic Central.

Catholic Central led 24-22 at the half but the Wolves jumped ahead 43-38 after the third period and then ran away in the fourth.

Clarkston coach Tim Kaul, whose team is now 3-1, said Smith and his teammates finding the shooting touch in the second half, along with a strong second half press, were the differences in the game.

"We couldn't throw the ball in the ocean in the first half," said Kaul.

But the Wolves' new-found shooting touch and an aggressive defense immediately shook up Catholic Central at the beginning of the third quarter when Nick Shires stole the ball and scored, and Smith did exactly the same thing the next time the hosts tried to bring the ball down court.

"The whole complexion of the game was changed from that point," said Kaul.

Eight other Wolves scored in addition to Smith. Shires poured in 10, Matt Underwood and Eric Ryan each had eight, Chris Combs seven, Jeremy Deloney six, Scott Matusz and Scott Rooney both with three and Craig Ginter two.

Underwood also grabbed 11 rebounds and Matusz came off the bench to clear eight off the glass.

Clarkston 61, Lake Orion 44 (Dec. 14 at Clarkston)

Clarkston jumped ahead 20-10 in the first quarter and never looked back, stopping Lake Orion, 61-44.

"They never made any runs at us," said coach Kaul about the JV Dragons.

"We controlled the game from the onset and played well defensively." Ten Wolves made it into the scoring column, led by Deloney's 14 and Shires' 10.

Ryan and Smith each scored seven,
Matusz and Steve Black both had six

Ryan and Smith each scored seven, Matusz and Steve Black both had six, Combs four, Underwood three and Ginter and Rooney each had two.

Clarkston wrestlers clinch championship before finals begin

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was all over, but the night had just begun for four Clarkston wrestlers.

Before Jeff Deroseau, Jerry Anderson, Damon Michelsen and Joel Davis stepped on the mat in Saturday night's final matches at the Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge campus, Clarkston had already clinched its first-everOakland County championship in the two-day event.

With the four Wolves in the finals, along with Clarkston heavyweight Joe Webb's 3-2 decision over Avondale's Robert Hager for third place and Alex Martin's 140-pound fourth-place finish (Lake Orion's Matt Steffens stopped Martin, 6-2, for third), the team had already earned the first engraving of "Clarkston" on the huge championship trophy since the tournament originated in 1960.

Clarkston coach Scott Strickler, who in pre-season had said the county championship was one of his team's three goals this season (the others being the league and state championships), told his four finalists, "The team has a trophy in the pocket, go wrestle for yourself."

So sophomores Deroseau and Anderson and senior Michelsen topped off the championship night with victories and Davis took second, to help give the Wolves 210 points and a comfortable margin over second-place and defending champion Lake Orion (183 points). Wrestlers from 43 schools earned points in the annual event.

Deroseau was involved in the most dramatic match of the finals, facing the fourth-best 103-pounder in last year's state finals, Pontiac Northern's Walter Hamilton. With the Wolf behind 2-0 in the first period, Hamilton picked him up and threw him down with an illegal slam.

Deroseau landed on his head and lay injured. If the Clarkston sophomore chose to not continue to wrestle at that point, he would have won with Hamiliton's disqualification.

"It hurt. I was kind of stunned," said Deroseau. "But I don't believe in winning it on disqualification. I wanted to earn the win."

After nearly a five-minute delay,

Deroseau again faced Hamilton, tied up the match at 2-2 and then in the last minute of action went ahead 5-2 for the victory.

"It takes a big guy to come back," said coach Strickler, who had coached four county meet finalists last season but never had any individual champions until the three Saturday. "Jeff's not a quitter."

Deroseau is now 16-0 on the season. Clarkston's Anderson had no problems in his 125-pound final, crushing Rochester Adams' Matt Olson, 15-4.

"I won it for my brother," said the 17-0 Anderson, whose brother, John, finished second in last year's 130-pound division at the county meet.

Clarkston co-captain Michelsen also had an easy time, pinning South Lyon's Matt Nicholas at 0.43 in 171-pound finals action.

Michelsen, who had pinned all four of his opponents in the competition, enjoyed the Wolves finishing ahead of Lake Orion for the first time in his career.

"It means a lot. I've beaten Lake Orion before, but our team has never won," said the 16-0-1 Michelsen. Davis, Clarkston's other co-captain, looked strong in the 189 finals until Ferndale's Claude Presley found an opening and pinned the Wolf at 2:48.

In addition to Clarkston and Lake Orion, two other Greater Oakland Activities League teams finished in the top 10, Waterford Kettering (fourth with 167.5 points) and Pontiac Northern (10th with 126 points).

Rochester Adams, which will host Clarkston on Jan. 11, finished third with 174 points.

Kael Williams of Southfield Lathrup, who won the 130-pound division, was named the meet's Most Valuable Wrestler in the lightweight division. Lake Orion's Jeff Wiscombe, winner at 145, was selected as the Most Valuable Wrestler in the heavyweight divisions.

Other county champions were Waterford Kettering's Frank Crane (hwt.), Milford's Brian Perkins (112), Lakeland's Steve Hein (119), Waterford Kettering's Dan Deciechi (135), Novi's Mike Gowans (140), Brandon's Arlo Sims (152) and Athens' Tom Gizoni (160).

Football enthusiasts look forward to New Year's Day as the perfect beginning of the new year.

Some people I know gather all the televisions in the house and set them up around the room in easy view of the couch. This allows football afficionados to watch many games simultaneously.

The best way to feed such people, if they happen to reside in your home, is with a simple buffet that offers easily eaten food for sustained TV viewing.

I've selected a menu from: "Microwaving for Holidays & Parties" by Barbara Methven and Joanne Crocker, Copyright 1981 by Cy DeCosse Inc. It includes blackeyed peas for good luck, lemon-buttered Brussels sprouts for good health, ham sandwiches for good eating, and Christmas cookies for a good, easy dessert. Have a happy New Year's Day.

BLACK-EYED PEAS Serves 10

I pound dried black-eyed peas

Hot water (heat in microwave, don't take from hot water

2 1/2 cups hot water

4 ounces salt pork, cut into 1/2-inch cubes

1/2 cup chopped onion

1 small clove garlic, minced

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/8 teaspoon cayenne

1/2 bay leaf

1. In a 3-to-4 quart microwavable casserole, combine peas and enough hot water to cover.

2. Microwave at HIGH 5 to 7 minutes or until water boils. Microwave at HIGH 2 minutes longer. Let stand 1

3. Drain peas. Add 2 1/2 cups hot water, the salt pork, onion, garlic, salt, cayenne and bay leaf; cover.

4. Microwave at HIGH 5 minutes. Reduce to 50 percent (MEDIUM); cook 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 hours or until peas are tender, stirring every 20 to 30 minutes during cooking. Remove bay leaf.

Tip for thicker peas: After half the cooking time, remove 1/2 cup of peas; mash. Return to casserole and continue cooking.

Advanced preparation: prepare the day before and refrigerate. To reheat, microwave at HIGH 20 to 30 minutes or until hot, stirring two or three times during cooking. Prepared or reheated peas can stand up to 1 hour, covered, before serving.

LEMON-BUTTERED BRUSSELS SPROUTS

Serves 10

2 packages frozen Brussels sprouts

1/4 cup water

1/4 cup butter or margarine

1 tablespoon grated lemon peel

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1/4 teaspoon salt (optional)

Dash pepper

1. In a 2 1/2- to 3-quart microwavable casserole combine Brussels sprouts and water; cover.

2. Microwave at HIGH for 14 to 16 minutes or until fork tender, stirring after half the cooking time. Set aside,

3. Place butter in a small dish. Microwave at high 30 to 45 seconds or until melted. Stir in lemon peel, lemon juice, salt and pepper.

4. Drain Brussels sprouts. Add lemon butter, tossing to coat.

GLAZED HAM

Cook a precooked boneless ham in the microwave to set the glaze, or use any of the spiral-cut hams on the market today and heat according to package directions. 1/2 cup packed brown sugar

2 tablespoons prepared mustard

5-pound fully cooked boneless ham

1. In a small bowl, mix brown sugar and mustard. Score ham fat in diamonds, cutting only 1/4 inch deep.

2. Place ham scored side up in 8- by 8-inch baking dish. Spread glaze over ham.

3. Microwave at HIGH 10 to 15 minutes or until glaze is set, basting twice. Serve hot or cold sliced ham with whole grain or rolls and condiments.

CHILDREN were treated to gifts and candy canes during a holiday party at Clarkston Community Education. Helping out with the party were high school students in S.T.R.I.V.E.

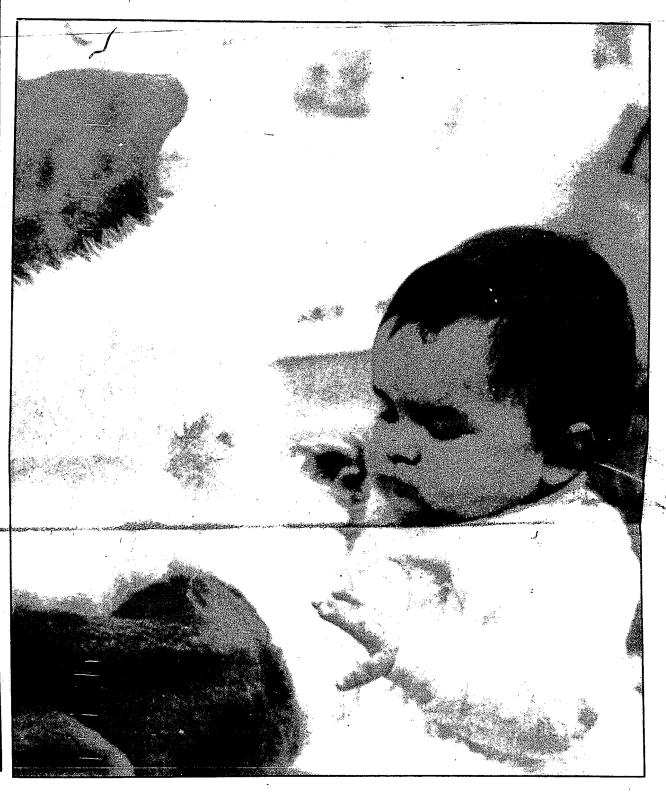

THINKING carefully, Zachary Spencer, 3 1/2, takes his time before giving Santa his wish list during a holiday party at Clarkston Community Education.

Santa's busy day

NOT SHY at all, Eddie Anzures, 10 months, first takes a fistful of Santa's beard, then discovers the white trim on Santa's red suit. Eddie's curiosity ends with the candy cane Santa gives him. Eddie promptly drops it and watches while Santa's helper retrieves it. Given it again, Eddie drops it again — promptly — and watches intensely as Santa's helper picks it up again. He even dropped it a third time before Santa's helpers caught on to his tricks. Santa visited high school students, their children and preschool children at Clarkston Community Education on Dec. 21.
