Students walk for Middle East peace

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Though candles were snuffed by snow and biting winds Jan. 17, spirits were not.

About 50 Clarkston High School students trekked from the high school on Waldon Road to the evergreen tree on Main Street, Clarkston, in support of peace — and of U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf.

The students intended to walk the entire way with lighted candles, but the weather didn't cooperate.

About 7:30 p.m. last Thursday, the students gathered around the tree at Main and Washington streets.

They pledged their allegiance to the U.S. flag and to the United States itself, offered a moment of silence, and sang "America the Beautiful." All the while, Channel 7 TV News cameras blazed away.

The ceremony was organized, in part, by Lisa Carter, a CHS senior.

Earlier in the day, she explained that the ceremony was intended to promote peace.

"This isn't pro-war or anti-war but for peaceful resolve of the war," she said.

By withstanding the cruel January weather, the students showed their resolve that day.

Council approves M-15 plan

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It looks as if M-15 will be widened this summer — with the Clarkston Village Council's blessing.

The council initially opposed the widening but voted 5-0 Jan. 14 to approve a "compromise" widening plan.

Trustees Eric Haven and William Basinger were absent. That clears the road for the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) to widen the stretch of M-15 from Dixie Highway to Paramus, Independence Township.

The revised MDOT plan represents an agreement between MDOT, village council President Sharron Catallo, and Gary Tressel of Hubble, Roth and Clark (HRC) engineering firm, which represents Clarkston.

"It's a decent compromise," said Catallo at the meeting.

The council opposed the original plans, which called for lengthy turn lanes at Paramus and Middle Lake roads,

"It's a decent compromise."

President Sharron Catallo

using village property on the west side of M-15. The compromise reduced the lanes from a 50-foot width to a 30-foot width.

Council members balked at the wider turn lanes because they thought it would set precedent for future widening efforts through the Village of Clarkston.

The adopted plans call for M-15 to be widened from two lanes to five lanes beginning at Dixie Highway. The widening will continue north, where it will feed into three lanes about 400 feet north of Paramus. The center lane will serve as a left-turn lane.

Council members expressed concern for trees that would possibly be removed from the northwest corner of Middle Lake Road and M-15.

Catallo said MDOT will replace any trees removed and added that the project could be completed by winter.

"It'll be a mess," Catallo said.

White Lake and Holcomb roads are to serve as an alternative traffic route while M-15 is under construction, she said.

At the Jan. 15 Independence Township Board meeting, Supervisor Frank Ronk said the modifications should begin this summer.

"After 20 years this thing is really going to happen," Ronk said.

Brisk sales of U.S. flags

American flags are sold out in Independence Township, but area stores are ordering more.

"We are sold out," said Ken Pagels, store manager of Damman Hardware on Dixie Highway.

After the U.S. bombed Iraq Jan. 16, the store sold its entire inventory of about 100 U.S. flags in many styles by Saturday. They expected more flags on Tuesday, said Pagels.

It was the same story at Clarkston True Value Hardware on M-15, according to sales clerk Heidi Geror.

"We've had lots of calls on flags," she said, adding that the store had sold out.

Dennis Dael, son of the owner of Country Value Hardware, M-15, said his store, too, had received many requests.

While the store usually stocks flags for Memorial Day and the Fourth of July, he said they had not stocked any this winter.

"Usually you don't look for a war to sell a lot of flags," he said, adding that he expected a shipment Tuesday.

Randy Truax, manager of ACO on Sashabaw Road, said his store didn't carry flags but could have sold many.

"We had a lot of requests," he said.

A special presentation Jan. 30 is designed to answer questions about three school proposals.

The session is set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Clarkston Board of Education office, 6389 Clarkston Road.

Sponsored by the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee, the presentation will cover the Feb. 11 election school bond proposals for a new high school, new elementary school and a swimming pool.

School administrators get raises, health care cuts

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Salary and benefit increases for some school administrators were unanimously approved by the Clarkston school board Jan. 14.

The increases were part of a tentative two-year contract negotiated by the district and employee groups representing building administrators and central office staff.

The superintendent's compensation was not affected by the contract. His salary and benefit package is set separately by the school board.

The two-year package grants pay increases of 6 1/4 percent to employees the first year and 6 1/2 percent the second year.

The administrators and directors agreed to a change in their insurance package under the new tentative contract. The district uses a Blue Cross Messa insurance policy, which now requires employees to pay a deductible for policies.

Severance pay was also increased under the new agreement. The severance amount was increased from $20 to $25.

"This year, as with the teachers, they made a concession with health insurance."

Duane Lewis

Increases were determined by comparing salaries and benefits of similar districts, according to Duane Lewis, director of personnel services.

In fact, Clarkston administrators ranked next to last in the county for salaries, Lewis noted.

Attention was also paid to contracts reached with other employee groups, he said.

"The package is consistent with what we've done with other employee groups," Lewis said. "This year, as with the teachers, they made a concession with health insurance."

The raises mark the first increase this employee group has received since July 1989. The contract becomes effective once it is ratified by both groups and is retroactive to July 1, 1990.

The tentative contract agreement affects the following changes the first year:

■ Grade level one: salaries for assistant principal at the junior high level, the athletic director and the director of information service increase from $46,831 to $55,659.

■ Grade level two: salaries for the director of community education, director of special services, assistant principal at the high school and all elementary principals increase from $50,489 to $59,316.

■ Grade level three: salaries for principals at the junior high level increase from $52,894 to $61,722.

■ Grade level four: salary for the high school principal increases from $57,103 to $65,930.

■ Grade level 10: salaries for the director of personnel, director of administrative services, director of business services, director of staff development and curriculum increase from $58,816 to $67,909.

■ Grade level 11: salary for the assistant superintendent increases from $60,574 to $69,938.

Bond issue results affect district, OCC plans

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate

The upcoming bond election in Clarkston will be watched closely by Oakland Community College (OCC) officials.

Should the proposal for a new high school pass, OCC and Clarkston officials would continue negotiating a "joint campus."

The joint campus would be located on the site of the proposed new high school, something widely thought to be beneficial to both groups.

"None of our campuses are located much past the mid-point of the county," explains George Cartsonis, director of college communications at OCC.

"Clarkston is an up-and-coming center of population growth," Cartsonis adds. "It's a win-win situation."

Clarkston would economically and academically benefit from such a joint venture, administration officials agree.

It's predicted the district would save about $2 million in construction costs to the new high school should a joint facility be built.

In addition, students and residents would gain convenient access to higher education, district officials say.

OCC would realize benefits by eliminating site acquisition costs, construction costs, the cost of developing plans for the campus and a reduction in operating costs, Cartsonis says.

"It's only a matter of time before we establish a be attached, a separate entrance would accommodate college students.

Facilities that could be shared by the two include computers, library and cafeteria. High school classrooms, which are usually empty in the late afternoon and evening, could be used by the college when attendance is high.

"The concept is to make education more efficient," Cartsonis explains.

Cartsonis describes something he terms "tech prep" when describing benefits of the joint campus.

"Kids take classes in the high school that they repeat to a lesser or greater degree at the college level," he explains.

The combination of efforts between the high school and college "satisfies both parts," he says, and "saves time and saves expense."

Both the Clarkston school board and the OCC Board

"(But) should this plan not come through," Cartsonis adds, "we would continue to explore a possible site in that general area."

Lawsuit gives village a voice

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Officials in the Village of Clarkston filed a lawsuit Jan. 11 to allow them to intervene in an ongoing lawsuit over Clarkston's bid for cityhood.

In July 1990, Independence Township filed a lawsuit against the State Boundary Commission to stop the cityhood process. A court date has not yet been set in the township's lawsuit.

Without the village's lawsuit, village officials may not have been allowed to speak during court proceedings, according to Thomas Ryan, an attorney representing Clarkston.

Now that the village is an intervening party, they are allowed to participate in the suit, Ryan said.

Village Manager Artemus Pappas said the village has paid about $1,800 in attorney fees regarding the lawsuit to date. And for the last three years, $50 per year has been paid to a Michigan Municipal League defense fund, which will help cover the cost of the lawsuit.

Independence Township officials expect to pay about $5,000 to $6,000 in legal fees, according to earlier reports.

Township officials filed the lawsuit because they feared annexation by the village. Further, they said the township would lose part of its tax base if the village were to become a city.

Village residents requested cityhood in the hope that the designation would allow them to better preserve their historical district, as well as protect them from township rule — and taxes.

Village boundaries take in one-half square mile in the southwestern quadrant of Independence Township, which is 36 square miles.

The Village of Clarkston was formally organized in 1832 as a unit of government separate from Independence Township.

The village has completed several steps in seeking cityhood, and the suit has not stopped the village from forging ahead with the cityhood process.

After the State Boundary Commission approved cityhood for the village, village voters voted 228 to 157 in favor of cityhood in May 1990.

That election began the cityhood process.

In the fall the second step toward cityhood was completed when nine charter commission members were elected. Once the charter is completed by the commission, it will be presented to the State Boundary Commission for approval before it's presented to the voters.

Voters will then be asked to accept the charter, as well as to elect officials to run the government.

Charter commission members expect to have the charter completed sometime in late April, after about eight scheduled meetings drafting the charter.

fun and hard work in a statewide contest this weekend.

Rory Roberts, 17, and Robin Link, 18, are competing in the state's Junior Miss Young Woman of the Year contest this weekend in Marshall.

Roberts placed first in Clarkston's Young Woman of the Year contest, and Link was first runner-up. Since Clarkston has had such a strong program over the years, contest organizers invited the school to send two contestants to the statewide contest.

The girls will be judged in such categories as academics, talent, poise and appearance, physical fitness and a judge's interview. Winners receive scholarships.

Roberts and Link left Monday for a week of activities in Marshall — which meant the girls had to take final exams early.

Roberts, the daughter of Virgil and Diane Roberts of Whipple Lake Road, Independence Township, plans to perform a tap dance to Yankee Doodle Dandy for her talent.

She is a member of the Blue and Gold Club, Interact and SADD and enjoys swimming and softball. To prepare, she's been doing a lot of dancing as well as reading the newspaper, watching television news and reading Newsweek.

"It's going to be kind of stressful, but it'll be fun," she said Monday.

To cope with the stress, she said, "I'm just not going to worry about winning. I'll just have fun."

Link, who is singing "I'm in Love With a Wonderful Guy" from "South Pacific," expressed a similar attitude. "I feel really good about everything," she said. "I feel confident that I'll just do the best I can."

Link is president of National Honor Society and of the senior class and is a member of the Madrigal Singers, Drama Club and Blue and Gold Club. She is also active in

Business office grows

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Acting on advice of auditors and the former business director, the Clarkston school board voted unanimously to create a new position in the district business office.

In a memo to board members, Director of Business Service Steve Lenar pointed to changes in state reporting procedures, the addition of new local programs and federal projects, which have increased the demands on the business department staff.

The cost of the new position would be offset by interest earned in the Trust and Agency Fund, other interest earnings and improved cash management of the General Fund, Lenar said.

The new employee will be hired immediately to replace an employee retiring this fall. The overlap will allow the new employee sufficient time to train, according to Lenar.

When the retirement occurs in the fall, the board would be asked to evaluate the hiring of the additional employee.

The recommendations came after an 18-month review of the business department staff by district auditors, and an out-going interview with former Business Director Bill Jackson.

Office-storage plan wins final approval

An office-storage facility was unanimously granted final site plan approval by the Independence Township Planning Commission Jan. 10.

The two-acre parcel, formerly reserved for trucking transport, is at the corner of Andersonville and White Lake roads.

The petitioner, Donald Moore, plans to establish an office and storage area for his garbage disposal business. The site will only store trucks and empty containers. The storage of vehicles will be on the premises.

The site plan, approved subject to the following conditions:

- The business sign is limited to six feet in height.
- The fence is to be only eight feet in height around the site.
- The landscape plan will be reviewed and revised by the township planner.
- No containers will be cleaned on the site.
- The safety path requirement will be waived in respect to the area.

Inspector's pay hiked

The substitute building inspector in Springfield Township is getting a pay raise.

The Springfield Township Board voted unanimously Jan. 9 to hike the pay, established in 1986, from $12 to $17.50 per inspection — or from $30 to $45 per day, whichever is higher.

The inspector also will receive 26 cents per mile under the new fee schedule.

LISA VALLAD, 12, spells "sashay" to win the Clarkston Junior High School Spelling Bee, while first runner-up Jon Carline, 14, looks on.

Repeat spelling bee winner 'sashays' to CJHS victory

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Two hours and 385 words after the annual spelling bee began Jan. 16, Lisa Vallad was announced the winner — her second victory in as many years.

The bee for sixth-, seventh- and eighth-graders at Clarkston Junior High School pitted 109 students in a battle of words.

Vallad, 12, came out on top — but not without a struggle.

She and first runner-up Jon Carline, 14, went through six rounds, where both misspelled the same words. Finally, Carline misspelled "transparency." To win the title of champion, Vallad spelled that, as well as "sashay," correctly and was greeted with a round of cheers from the onlookers.

Judges Barbara Glover, Suvonne Hogan and Jerry Ostrom said the contest between the final two was the longest in recent history.

Vallad, a seventh-grader, is the daughter of Dennis and Jean Vallad of Sunset Cove, Springfield Township.

After winning, Vallad said she felt "great" and said she prepared for the contest by flipping through the dictionary.

She surprised many last year when she won the contest as a sixth-grader, and many expected her to perform well again this year. She attributes her success to "a pretty good memory."

However cool she appeared, Vallad admits to feeling nervous.

"I have a habit of cracking my knuckles and playing with my hands," she said.

Runner-up Carline said he, too, felt nervous — but he had a way to cope.

"You just pay attention to the other person. You just look around and read what's on the walls," he said.

The eighth-grader is the son of Keith and Susan Carline of Villa Crest, Independence Township.

Brad Shea finished second runner-up, and Tim O'Rourke finished third runner-up.

Vallad now advances to the next level of competition March 11-15. The location has not yet been announced. If Vallad can't be at the next competition, Carline will take her place.

The mighty sortie

Julie Campe

It was wrenching last week to watch the live reports of war -- the first such U.S. deployment in my cognizant lifetime.

The 24-hour coverage was top-notch, especially from the CNN Baghdad crew. While other reporters took cover in bomb shelters, the CNN crew crawled around in the dark in their hotel, still reporting what they had seen and heard, helping the military as well as the general public. (Were they crazy?)

I only wish the 24-hour coverage didn't dissipate so quickly, though I realize that regular programming -- and commercials -- must return.

While I was glued to the television or radio for much of the week, a diversion was necessary every once in a while.

The word "sortie" served that purpose. It's a perfect example of what elementary school teachers around the world try to teach their students: that the meaning of a word should be discernible from its context.

I figured sortie was some new-fangled military term meaning "mission" or "attempt" -- something that had never cropped up in "Top Gun" or other such military movies.

But Stu McTeer, our advertising manager and resident historian here at The Clarkston News, said the word has been used for years.

Another source said the word may be related to a French word meaning "to go."

An etymological problem such as this requires a quick trip to the Oxford English Dictionary (OED) -- a gift from the Andrew the Not-So-Horrible. I was pleased to drag out my seldom-used magnifying glass and take a look.

Both sources were correct. Sortie comes from the French sortie, meaning "a going out, etc."

Or it could be from the French sortir, "to escape," according to Webster's Ninth New Collegiate Dictionary.

What's more, the OED lists the first written record of its use in its present sense as 1795 -- by Seward. Other military personnel used the written word as well: Wellington in 1811 and Prescott in 1843.

According to the OED, a sortie in those times and now is "a dash or sally by a besieged garrison upon an investing force."

It is frequently used in a phrase: "to make a sortie."

According to Webster's, a sortie is 1) a sudden issuing of troops from a defensive position against the enemy 2) one mission or attack by a single plane 3) foray, raid.

As of this writing, the allied forces have made about 5,000 sorties to Iraq -- and they continue to sortie even as I write.

The trip to the reference books was a nice break from the intensity of the war reports.

Work served as another break. It seems that area residents are bent on making sorties on the school district's proposal to build a new high school.

Judging from the letters we've received, most people who oppose the plan are simply sick of paying taxes.

Some of those letters won't appear in The Clarkston News because they arrived without a phone number (each letter's author must be verifiable), without a readable name, without a readable letter, or without a signature.

Some that arrived without a phone number we could look up in the phone book. However, some names were not to be found.

A suggestion for future anti-tax sorties: continue to use the mighty pen -- but please include a phone number.

School issues focus of meeting

With the school election coming up Monday, Feb. 11, there's not much time left to learn more about the issues on the ballot.

A presentation for the general public is set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 30, at the Clarkston Board of Education office, 6389 Clarkston Road, Independence Township.

Representatives from the school as well as the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee are to present information and then answer questions.

The session is an ideal time to get answers, whether you're planning to vote yes or no -- or if you're undecided.

At the meeting, you can find out why school officials think a new high school and elementary school are needed, how they determined that need, and how it will be paid for.

You can also find out how the school district plans to handle space problems should the bond proposals fail Feb. 11.

The meeting is a quick way to find out the facts. For more information, call the board office at 625-4402.

If you miss that meeting, you can read up on the ballot issues in the Feb. 6 Clarkston News. JLC

Jim's Jottings

Never so focused

It is Wednesday, January 16. It's the day President Bush may start a war in the Middle East.

I'm having trouble focusing on anything else.

While I was in World War II, I didn't stay this focused even when under attack off Okinawa. Of course, I was an indestructable 19 years old.

I cling to newscasts and devour newspaper reports, then with just as much fervor I shut them out. I'm caught between wanting to know everything and not wanting to know any more.

I pray.

We're defending countries that weren't included in our geography lessons 50 years ago. The West Bank was in Paris, now it's in Jerusalem.

God is on all sides in this war. The same God. But then, so is Satan.

My thoughts ramble.

Our compliments to ABC television and Peter Jennings for giving us the clearest picture of the Middle East region in his program, "Line in the Sand." It was aired January 13.

If you didn't see it . . . A map of that area was marked out on the floor. Jennings walked on it. Two steps covered 500 miles; the distance planes from Israel would have to cover to hit Baghdad.

Kuwait wasn't any bigger than Jennings' big toe.

The single man walking his camel in the desert and a group of Bedouins were exactly like my stereotype picture.

What Jennings didn't show, but something that has been featured on programs a year or so ago, was the Kuwaitis driving their Range Rovers and Mercedes to the track to bet on camel races.

Are we risking our youth so that the Kuwaitis may resume their opulent ways?

My thoughts go back to our president's extreme focus on getting a United Nations resolution favoring "all necessary means" to return Kuwait to the Kuwaitis.

In the past such presidential action (it comes out later) has included promises of aid in one form or another in exchange for a vote. In Washington and Lansing it's called "politics" . . . you vote for mine and I'll help you.

Have we been obligated in order that our president can prove he's not a "wimp"? Is his "oilman" background influencing his decisions to free oil-rich Kuwait?

It is Monday, January 21. My focus on the Middle East is stronger. Now it is on our youth . . . some captured, some killed, many waiting.

Just like you, I have heard Iraqi-Americans tell the horrors Saddam is capable of . . . gas warfare, burning oil fields, burning oil on seas, using captured Americans as shields and having sent terrorists here and elsewhere with various weapons.

These Iraqis do not give much hope of it being a short war. They promise a very bloody war for foot soldiers, because of the heat, sand, wind and rain, which they say favor desert-raised people.

Our Generals assure us the war is going as they expected, that we are hitting and "re-visiting" targets, that the equipment is working great and troop morale is high and they are ready. They at times seem too pleased. They also appear to have underassessed the enemy in some instances.

I did not want this war, but now that we are in it I want us to use "all necessary means" to end it. ALL necessary means. Now!

Deep freeze

Tracy King

A sport enthusiast I may be, but when ice fishing was proposed by a certain member of the household, I didn't exactly leap for boots and a parka.

If I understand the pastime correctly, the fisherman is to sit immobile atop a frozen lake and watch a small hole for movement.

Now I may be crazy, but this is a good time? I didn't really like fishing to begin with — all that piercing with twisted metal hooks — and to my knowledge, no one in my family really liked it either.

Even in the summertime, fishing had been quickly abandoned after little success.

I was unconvinced, but this did not dampen the enthusiasm of our new winter sportsman. I watched, quietly, as the necessary tools were assembled.

The first of these was the ice "shanty," which was to be built in the garage.

Carpentry, too, was above and beyond my realm of interest, so I watched from a distance as lumber was purchased, tools were borrowed and sawdust was brushed from clothing onto the floor.

Building things was not exactly among the repertoire of the new winter sportsman, either; and from the bits of conversation I could pick up, I guessed the shanty was taking on new dimensions all the time.

One day, I came home to find the garage available for its original intention.

I wasn't sure whether the shanty project had been abandoned and the wood appropriately discarded or whether the shanty had found its way to the ice, but I wasn't asking questions.

Shanty or no shanty, the ice fishing had begun.

The winter sportsman began disappearing for long stretches of time, both day and night. A weird kerosene odor began penetrating the laundry room, and the best buckets shifted position.

My curiosity shifting, I decided to venture out. I had no trouble locating what I believed to be the shanty, but I was a bit surprised by its actual hinges and form.

I stepped around an actual door and discovered an ice-fishing paradise.

Huge, 24-quart, two-piece buckets held bait. Complicated devices called "tip-ups" poised above holes. From special hooks hung tools that, though they'd make pretty good spaghetti strainers, were to be used to scoop ice from the water.

The winter sportsman, ever the gracious host, turned down the portable television and busied himself with adjusting the special heat lantern.

Did I want to hang my coat? Something to drink? Politely, I inquire after the fishing.

Something was wrong with the barometric pressure, the winter sportsman explained with authority. Nobody was catching anything.

Just to be sure, the entire round of tip-ups and lures and lines and weights were carefully checked.

Nothing yet. But did I want to see the ice scoop work?

Dead can't go home again

Jim Fitzgerald

The subject was military funerals. In Saturday's newspaper, there was this instruction from a mortician: "When you drape an American flag over a casket, the stars should be in the upper right corner, viewing the casket lengthwise from the feet."

Whose feet?

In the next day's newspaper, a Marine officer in charge of picking up dead bodies said it was a miserable job, of course: "But then again, you're basically helping your fellow marines out. They're helpless. It's one of the last things that'll ever be done for them. That's what we're after. We do it right and do it soon, so they can go home."

Wrong. "They" don't go home. Ever. Their lifeless remains are retrieved and dispatched to far-off destinations. That's progress. In World Wars I and II, it wasn't practical to send corpses back to grieving families. The dead were buried "over there." But, 46 years later, despite this marvelous advancement in user-friendly military corpse handling, "they" will not be going home from the Persian Gulf.

If leadership fails again and the killing starts, "they" will mostly be young men whose lives have barely begun. Many teenagers. I think of freckles and laughing, roughhousing, talking about girls, examining pimples in the mirror. I think of my grandson, now playing high school basketball, and of my nephew, only a few years older, now stationed on a supply ship near Iraq.

Some of "they" will fight reluctantly, worried that they're risking death for nothing more than lower prices at the gas pump. Many of them will go into battle eagerly, influenced by their macho lets'-kick-some-butt Commander in Chief. Whatever their attitude, if "they" are killed, that will be the end of their time on Earth. Right there. Something else will be put in a body bag.

It will be their feet and the end of the casket opposite the flag's stars, in their hometown, but "they" won't be there. Ever.

Another thing I learned from a newspaper article is that "body bags" isn't the correct term. According to proper military nomenclature, it's "human remains pouches." Military officials won't reveal how many of these pouches have been shipped to Saudi Arabia, but unconfirmed reports have cited "tens of thousands."

Tens of thousands.

In 1967, with tongue in cheek and thumb at nose, I wrote a column suggesting the Vietnam War might end quicker if President Lyndon Johnson were required to attend all U.S. military funerals. My serious point was that the nation's top brains, then incredibly sending men into space, were not thinking hard enough about how to stop the killing and heartbreak and terrible waste of war. My plea was for Johnson to goose these bright guys; to tell them to forget all other projects until they got us out of Vietnam. Facetiously, I proposed that Johnson might be more inclined to administer this prodding if he had to personally comfort the survivors of every American killed in Vietnam.

Astonishingly, one of Johnson's top military aides - Lt. General J.B. Lambert - took seriously my proposal that the president had time to become a daily pallbearer. Lambert sent me a long letter saying the Defense Department went to tremendous lengths to make sure our war dead were well buried, and their survivors well comforted, even if Johnson couldn't join the mourning in person. One paragraph:

"Widows, children, parents and other eligible next of kin of the deceased servicemen are provided Gold Star Lapel Buttons which may be worn as visible recognition of their loved one's sacrifice."

Today, the same as 25 years ago, I wonder how many young widows and shattered mothers need a gold button to remind them that their dreams were killed thousands of miles away, and the dead body is coming home in a human remains pouch.

Onward and Upward. In the war after the next war, the pouch will probably have wings and operate like a homing pigeon.

Agree with PLUS

I would like to commend Mr. Pullins of the Clarkston Youth Assistance Program on making what must have been a very difficult decision — eliminating a severely handicapped child from their program.

I agree with this decision.

As one who was raised in a family of two disabled children, I am aware of the pain one feels when their child is refused admittance to any treatment center, school or as in this case a community help program; however, one must be realistic.

This program is made up primarily of volunteers. With the exception of Mr. Pullins and his secretary, these volunteers are not professionals and in no way are they qualified to deal with the handicaps the child in question was born with.

Perhaps those who feel a serious injustice has been served would be willing to volunteer their time to be a companion to a mentally and/or physically disabled child. That way the program could be designed to include these special children.

It's sad that this incident has received such extensive coverage from you. I sincerely hope it hasn't placed this community program in jeopardy.

One dying wish

To The Clarkston Community:

The TRUST 100 Network of family-owned funeral homes has received a letter from the Children's Wish Foundation in regards to a recent wish.

Craig Shergold, a 7-year-old boy, has expressed a wish to the foundation to be listed in the "Guinness Book of World Records" for receiving the largest number of "Get Well Wishes" for an individual.

If you wish to help us honor his dying wish, please

No more taxes

I, for one, do not appreciate the upward spiral of property taxes. The state is not going to give us property tax relief; therefore, it is up to you and I to control tax increases.

We can accomplish this as property owners by voting NO to any millage increases and by challenging your tax assessments.

This is time to exercise your voting rights. Times are tough now financially, so vote no against the ridiculous $80 million school bond issue. Your "no" vote must be counted.

Timely package

Clarkston High School Student Council sponsored a Red, White and Blue Week. The staff and students brought in books, razors, food, stationary, etc., to send to our military forces in the Middle East. We sent over 140 pounds of goods to our soldiers, and we received the following letter from Capt. John Dobbins, USA F Troop 355 Flight Commander.

Dear Students and Faculty of Clarkston High School:

Thank you so much for your thoughtful package in support of the service men deployed to Desert Shield. Your kindness and generosity has brought unbounded delight to the 355 Tactical Fighter Squadron (TFS).

The 355 TFS normally calls Myrtle Beach Air Force Base in Myrtle Beach, S.C., home, but for the past four and a half months we have been a long way from there. Your wonderful package helped to bring us just a little closer to home, in spirit, if not in fact.

The 355 TFS flies the A-10 attack aircraft. The A-10 is probably the ugliest airplane in the US Air Force inventory and has earned the nickname of "Warthawg."

But even if it is ugly, good looks don't count for much in a fight. With our 30 mm cannon and guided missiles, we will do what is needed. It is your support that climbs into the cockpit with us every time we fly. It is almost as if you are here cheering for us.

This short letter cannot truly express the gratitude each and every fighter pilot and support crew of the 355 TFS want to show to you.

But I and all the members of the 355 TFS do humbly and sincerely thank you for your gift, your concern, and for the support you have shown us.

You have bolstered the morale of other Americans a long way from home.

John Dobbins, Capt., USAF
355 TFS, Flight Commander

Ordinance OK

An ordinance to allow bed and breakfast establishments in the Village of Clarkston would seem to me to be an easy choice for those council folks about to decide that issue.

As both a village and township property owner — as well as a frequent B&B guest in Michigan and elsewhere — I see a lot of virtues in putting out a welcome mat for visitors by providing affordable, pleasant overnight accommodations.

What is left of our dwindling downtown merchant group would no doubt agree they could benefit from the potential business.

As "good neighbors," B&B owner-operators have very compatible interests with most village residents. By their very nature, proprietors are preservationists bent on retaining the charm and appeal of another era — and on maintaining their properties in exceptional and impeccable condition.

If there is a downside to all this, I can't see it.

THE management at Wazoo's Market has donated two wheelchairs to both Clarkston and Holly high schools. In attendance at the presentation were (from left to right): CHS and Andersonville roads, Independence Township, collected money during the holidays and bought two new wheelchairs for the schools.

Store manager Leonard Wasczinski Jr. said the store collected over $391 from its patrons. In turn, Leonard Wasczinski Sr., the market owner, matched the public's contributions of $391.

The wheelchairs were purchased from RRT Specials of Pontiac. Due to the Christmas season and the purpose behind the purchase, RRT owner Jim Barimacom sold the wheelchairs at reduced prices.

Originally, the market's employees hoped to donate a wheelchair to a needy family but couldn't find one. So cashier Debbie Watson contacted a Holly High School official and asked if they needed a wheelchair.

Holly welcomed the offer, so Leonard Wasczinski Jr. decided to call CHS, and their response was identical. Both schools plan to use the $800 wheelchairs for emergency situations.

The schools' representatives were pleased with Wazoo's gesture.

"This is a much needed gift to our school," said CHS Vice Principal Ginny Farmer. "We've needed a spare wheelchair for a while, and it was very nice for them (Wazoo's Market) to think of us."

Holly instructor John Church echoed the sentiment. "This is an unbelievable gift for us ... just unbelievable," he said.

Board might add White Lake Road to DDA

CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Township has taken the first step toward expanding the Downtown Development Authority's (DDA) jurisdiction to White Lake Road.

On Jan. 15, the township board voted 6-0 to seek an adjustment to the DDA's current boundaries. This adjustment calls for the addition of White Lake Road.

The purpose of this addition is to rejuvenate the area's sagging property values with DDA assistance.

Residents may voice their opinions on the expansion at a public hearing set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 19, at the township annex, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

The DDA was created about five years ago to improve landscaping, lighting, water and sewer along parts of Dixie Highway and M-15. Funding for the DDA comes from tax increment financing.

Tax increment financing is money captured by the township after state equalized values (SEV) are "frozen" at the base year. After that year, any increased tax revenue due to an increase in property values are captured for use within the DDA. That money — from within the DDA boundaries only — is used for improvements within the DDA.

Currently, the mile and half stretch of White Lake Road is without the services of water, sewer and appropriate storm drainage.

According to Supervisor Frank Ronk, the DDA has researched this expansion for nearly a year and concluded that it would be beneficial to the community.

The new boundaries would cover White Lake Road from Dixie Highway to Andersonville Road.

Ronk said White Lake Road would reap the benefits provided by the DDA.

"There are several properties in that area that will benefit from the sewer and water provided under the DDA's jurisdiction," he said.

Ronk pointed to the increase in property values that have occurred along Dixie Highway since the DDA was created. If given time, he said, the same type of prosperity could arise on White Lake Road.

Despite its successful development, the DDA's future could be in jeopardy.

On Jan. 23, an Oakland County Circuit Court judge will hear an Independence Township resident's lawsuit over a proposed sewer along Deer Lake — a DDA project.

In addition to stopping the sewers, the man is asking for the disbandment of the DDA.

Two acres rezoned

A Sashabaw Road rezoning paves the way for a new office in Independence Township.

The rezoning of a two-acre lot on the east side of Sashabaw Road, south of Maybee Road, was approved 6-0 by the Independence Township Board Jan. 15.

Originally zoned single-family residential, the petitioner, Robert Shell of the Forward Building Co., requested an office zoning. The land has the acreage to support an office building of 16,000 square feet.

Japanese as third language blocked by board

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

A divided Clarkston school board voted against offering Japanese as a third language in the district.

The 4-3 vote came after a lengthy discussion and a presentation by Curriculum Director Judith Backes Jan. 14.

Those voting in favor of Japanese were Durham Downs, Thomas Howard and Sheila Goins Hughes. Voting against the new class offering were Karen Foyteck, Paul Van Klaveren, President John Needham and Janet Thomas.

A curriculum committee had selected Japanese after much scrutiny, Backes told the board. Though German had been considered, most literature on language suggested schools offer one of three "critical" languages, such as Japanese, Russian or Chinese.

The district currently offers Spanish and French.

Bomb threat spooks school, nursery school

An unidentified caller gave officials at the Clarkston Learning Center and Sashabaw Junior High School a scare last Friday morning, Jan. 18.

According to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, a woman called the attendance office at Sashabaw Junior High with a threat.

Described as sounding 30-ish, the woman claimed that she had planted three bombs in the nursery school across the street on Maybee Road. The SJHS attendance secretary said the woman ended her call with maniacal laughter.

The school was evacuated shortly after 9 a.m. and the Independence Township Fire Department was alerted. The room and school were found to be clear, and the students were allowed to finish the day in their classrooms.

Earth tip

Installing low flow aerators on kitchen and bathroom sink faucets will save hot water and will cut water usage for a family of four over 3,300 gallons of water per year.

"There are a lot of budget and space problems. I'm not sure it's a good addition."

Karen Foyteck

After surveying parents of exploratory students, the committee settled on Japanese, Backes explained.

"It's clear — obviously Japanese takes much longer to learn and students don't reach proficiency as soon as students of French or Spanish," Backes said. "But it's important to look at."

First-year Japanese would be offered the first year, with second- and third-year levels offered in upcoming years, Backes said.

Enrollment in Japanese was expected to draw students currently studying French and Spanish, she added. The new offering was expected to alleviate overcrowding in existing language classrooms.

Backes admitted staffing the course may be difficult because Wayne State University, Detroit, is one of the few universities graduating Japanese instructors. One option, she added, might be to hire a certified Japanese national to teach.

Some board members questioned why new classes were being offered when current buildings were already overcrowded.

"We're crowded for space now," said Foyteck. "We continually add classes, but you don't bring us classes to delete."

"Where are we going to put this?" she questioned. Clarkston Junior High Principal Vince Licata told the board that one classroom could be created within his building.

Foyteck also questioned the financial viability of adding Japanese.

"The (existing) two language classes are too large in the language offering," Foyteck said. "Japanese is such a difficult language; the smattering they start to get here is not enough to do much with."

"Plus the staffing problems," Foyteck said. "We may end up having certified teachers in the room. There are a lot of budget and space problems. I'm not sure it's a good addition."

When questioned, Backes said the committee had not set a minimum number of enrollments necessary to make the class viable.

Suggestions to do so were quelled by some board members because "we haven't done that for any other class."

Some board members suggested placing the course on the class schedule, and re-evaluating the offering once it's determined how many students are interested.

"We, as seven members, cannot try to anticipate numbers this fall," said Howard. "Judy asked us to conceptually go ahead and I think we should approve it."

Durham Downs agreed.

"This is an implementation issue," he said. "The administration has a responsibility to implement guidelines."

"We can come back again if we need to see this again."

Once the vote was logged against adding Japanese, Superintendent Gary Haner suggested that board members put their concerns in writing so the curriculum department might address them if the issue comes up again.

Two injured in fatal Dixie crash

Two Clarkston area residents were hospitalized in a crash that claimed the life of a 21-year-old Holly man.

On Jan. 16, Kurtis Schultz of Holly was killed after his car crossed the centerline and struck a vehicle driven by David Kirby, 37, of Clarkston.

According to police reports, the accident occurred at 3:35 p.m. on Dixie Highway, north of Interstate 75, Springfield Township.

Clarkston area resident Pat Lyons, 57, was traveling north on Dixie when the accident happened, and her vehicle was struck by Schultz's skidding car. She was treated and released at an area hospital.

Kirby is currently listed in stable condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. He is scheduled to go home within the week.

Safety path snow removal considered by board

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Outdoor walkers will have to stick to cleared roads — at least for a little while longer.

A proposal to clear snow from Independence Township safety paths is under consideration by township officials, who discussed the issue Jan. 15.

The board is to consider the issue again on Tuesday, Feb. 5, after the safety path committee studies the snow removal proposal.

The snow removal request stems from the concerns of township Trustee Mel Vaara, who believes the amount of winter pedestrian traffic merits a snow removal service.

"I see a number of people walking on the streets because the safety paths aren't clear of snow and ice," Vaara said. "When I brought this up at the last meeting, I was hoping we could clean the paths with trucks from the DPW (Department of Public Works)."

On request from Supervisor Frank Ronk, parks and recreation Director Ann Conklin researched the township's ability to deal with such a service. She said the township does have some equipment that could be converted for snow removal, but additional accessory equipment has to be purchased.

She outlined three options for getting the job done. The first option, estimated at $12,705, would do the job at the lowest possible cost.

Options two and three were outlined as equipment deemed necessary for appropriate snow removal in the future. These costs were $20,655 and $31,940 respectively. Conklin said some of the equipment in the most expensive option is versatile and could be used during the warm-weather months. These items include a $26,700 tractor and a $3,750 broom addition.

Besides equipment, Conklin tabulated the projected cost of labor. She estimated that 16 hours of labor per snowfall would cost the township $458. On the other hand, the cost of labor for daily inspections would run the township nearly $5,500 over a 14-week period.

Ronk asked township attorney Gerald Fisher if the township could be held liable if a person were injured in a "slip and fall." Fisher said he didn't think so because the paths aren't sidewalks, and the safety paths have never been designated for winter use.

"I see a number of people walking on the streets because the safety paths aren't clear of snow and ice."

Trustee Mel Vaara

Ronk suggested that the matter be referred to the safety path committee and the board openly approved.

Trustee Daniel Travis voiced concern about the proposal.

He said he was opposed to a snow removal service because the township could be held liable if the service were provided. He did agree, however, that the safety path committee should look at the request.

Mercado chosen to fill void on township board

BRUCE Mercado has been chosen to fill the seat on the township board vacated by Frank Millard.

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Bruce Mercado, a member of the Independence Township Planning Commission, has been selected to fill a vacancy on the township board of trustees.

On Jan. 15, the township board unanimously approved Mercado's appointment. He is replacing Frank Millard, who left after being elected to the Oakland County Board of Commissioners last November.

Mercado, 33, a dentist, has served on the planning commission for three years. He said that experience should serve him well in his new position.

"The planning commission provided me with an understanding of local government and the processes involved in getting proposals presented and passed," he said. "I'm excited about this opportunity and looking forward to the challenge."

His colleagues voiced approval of Mercado's appointment.

"He worked extremely hard on the commission and in the community," said Supervisor Frank Ronk. "He's just an all-around, good person with compassion for what happens in our township."

At this time, the board hasn't selected a replacement for his commission seat, but Ronk estimates that it will be done sometime next month.

Besides the planning commission, Mercado is an active member of the Clarkston Area Optimist Club and the Chamber of Commerce. He serves on the boards for both organizations.

Raised in Rochester, he is a graduate of Adams High School. He possesses a bachelor's degree in package engineering from Michigan State University and is an alumnus of the University of Detroit's dentistry school.

He and his wife, Marcia, have been married for seven years and have lived in the township just as long. They have three children: Stacey, 6; Christine, 2; and Maria, six months.

Republican club has new name, jurisdiction

The Republican Club of Waterford Township has changed its name and boundaries to increase its local membership.

In early January, the organization became known as the Waterford-North Oakland Republican Club. Its jurisdiction also was expanded to include 26 more communities, in addition to Waterford Township.

Several of the communities now under the club's jurisdiction include: the villages of Clarkston, Lake Orion and Oxford; the townships of Springfield, Independence, Orion, Oakland, Addison and Oxford; and the City of Auburn Hills.

According to former President Glen Curtis, the purpose of the club is to assist in the election of Republicans on a countywide and statewide basis. This particular organization serves the northwest sector of Oakland County.

The current membership stands at 70 members. Annual membership fees are $10 per person.

For more information on the club, call President Bill Quine at 673-1336.

War could mean more business for one firm

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

A Clarkston-area manufacturing firm may benefit from the United States' use of military weapons and

Womens' roles

Though many American women are currently serving alongside men in Saudi Arabia, all branches of the U.S. military have policy or regulations excluding women from combat.

"No woman can go into any combat-related specialty... surprisingly, we have them that want to drive tanks," said 1st Sgt. John Bailes, of the Army Recruiting Headquarters, in Pontiac.

According to "Women in the Army Policy Review," a government document published in 1982, women are excluded from certain units and specialties when they enlist, including infantry, armor, artillery, and scout and attack helicopters. The Navy, Marines and Air Force have similar prohibitions based on policy, not law, which state that women may not be on duty on ships or aircraft on combat missions.

Bailes said, however, that by congressional mandate, women are fully trained to defend themselves, and know they can come under fire when serving in mobile hospital, supply and support jobs. "There's nothing to say that if I'm a faithful typist sitting here typing and paratroopers are dropping outside my window that I just type," he said.

Bailes also said that all enlisted personnel choose the job they want when they sign up. "I think that's important to know," he said. "In case of attack they have to be able to defend themselves."

Persian Gulf Connection

equipment.

Sheldahl, based in Minnesota, manufactures flexible printed circuit boards, which are used in all the major U.S. aircraft, said Terry Shepler, marketing manager.

Shepler declined to say which aircraft were outfitted with Sheldahl products, explaining that some of Sheldahl's work is "classified."

The Clarkston branch of Sheldahl, on M-15 in Brandon Township, holds a Clarkston mailing address. It serves the big three automotive companies, according to Cliff Morris, account manager.

Sheldahl may not be well known to the general public, but it's well known to the firms it supplies, according to Shepler and Morris.

While the automotive end of Sheldahl has been affected by the slowdown of the economy, the military-aerospace end might pick up, said Morris.

"We're so closely related to the auto companies that when people aren't buying cars, ... our business goes down," he said.

The military-aerospace consumption of Sheldahl products, however, could take up the slack.

"I'm just happy that (the products) are working for them," said Shepler, adding that his company hasn't received any new orders as a result of war in the Persian Gulf. Rather it has received requests for faster delivery of items already on order.

"We're a sub-tier supplier," Shepler explained. "We're not a major supplier."

However, the military is likely to order more materials to replace used equipment in the future, he said.

And if past trends are any indication, Sheldahl's military-aerospace technology is likely to spread to commercial uses in the future.

War anxiety hotline

If you're feeling anxiety about the war in the Persian Gulf, you can get some help through a new Desert Storm Anxiety Hotline.

Offered by Henry Ford Health System, the telephone number is (313) 876-7100. The hotline describes symptoms and offers suggestions for those who need help.

Dr. Glenn Davis, chairman of psychiatry and a post-traumatic stress disorder expert at Henry Ford, says the crisis in the Gulf has made it difficult for many Americans to carry on with their daily lives.

Many of these feelings are not unusual, but it's important to recognize the symptoms of anxiety, to know how to deal with them, and to know where to go for additional support.

Girls' skiing record snowballs to 5-0

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Five and 83 hundredths of a second doesn't seem like much of a time span, but it is in skiing.

That was the margin of victory for Carrie Roeser as the Clarkston senior helped the Wolves to a 12-30 win over Rochester.

The victory on Jan. 17 at Pine Knob gives the Wolves a 5-0 record in the Pine Knob Division.

Roeser's combined time for her two runs was 45.36. Teammate Sandra Linberg, an exchange student from Sweden, took second at 51.19. Wolf Kim Carpentier was fourth (51.85) and Andrea Raymond placed sixth (52.82).

Clarkston's Becky Rumph came in seventh (55.82).

Jenny Schroeder had the the best runs for Rochester, finishing third at 51.38.

Clarkston 17, Kingswood 23
(Jan. 15 at Pine Knob)

Kingswood took two of the first three places, but Clarkston's team depth carried the Wolves to a 17-23 victory.

For the first time this season, Clarkston's Roeser didn't finish first. The Wolf senior placed second at 40.80, sandwiched between Kingswood's Amanda Norcross (39.24) who took first and Courtney Lower (41.50) who placed third.

But Clarkston dominated after that, placing Wolves in the fourth through eighth places.

Carpentier finished fourth at 41.57, followed by Raymond (42.21), Whittaker (42.36), Linberg (42.80) and Missy Crites (43.06).

Clarkston coach Judy Roeser was pleased with her team's showing.

"This was the test to see how good we really were. We still have a couple tough meets, but this win is a big one," said coach Roeser.

Clarkston 13, Waterford Kettering (no score)

(Jan. 14 at Pine Knob)

Kettering not only was defeated by the Clarkston girls' ski team, the Captains stopped themselves from any chance of winning.

Only two skiers finished for Kettering (four need to finish), forfeiting the meet. The win for Clarkston gave the Wolves a 3-0 record.

Jenna Hall did finish for Kettering. She placed second with her combined two runs time of 45.40.

But Hall was surrounded by Wolves. For the third straight race, Roeser finished first. The senior was faster than Hall by over three seconds at 42.63.

Linberg took third for the Wolves (45.98). Raymond was fourth (47.14) and Crites took fifth (47.62).

Carpentier placed sixth (47.82) and Rumph was seventh (49.14).

Boys continue to be undefeated on slopes

Three juniors and a freshman paced the Clarkston boys' ski team to a 15-21 victory over Rochester.

The win on Jan. 17 at Pine Knob gives the Wolves a 5-0 record in the Pine Knob Division.

"We are halfway through the season and still undefeated. I'm thrilled," said Clarkston coach Judy Roeser.

Wolf junior Bryson Menke was the fastest down the hill with his two runs combined clocked at 42.47 seconds.

Fellow junior Dave Studt was third (43.51), junior Justin Whittaker placed fourth (43.90) and freshman Mike Kozlowski finished seventh (45.50).

Senior Todd Conklin finished 10th for the Wolves (71.51).

Scott Van Horne had the best two runs for Rochester, taking second at 42.85.

Clarkston 16, Cranbrook 20.
(Jan. 15 at Pine Knob)

Senior Brian Zoss won his fourth straight race to lead the Wolves to a 16-20 win over Cranbrook-Kingswood.

Zoss took first, totaling 37.85 seconds, followed by teammate Menke's second-place finish (38.05). Studt was fifth (40.05) and Whittaker came in eighth (41.11).

Kozlowski placed ninth (41.41) and Bill Miller was 11th (52.02).

Cranbrook's Ben Kast had the best finish for Cranbrook, taking third at 39.58.

Clarkston 11, Waterford Kettering 29
(Jan. 14 at Pine Knob)

Zoss made it three for three and so did his teammates as the Wolves crushed Kettering, 11-29.

It was the third straight victory for the Clarkston boys' ski team, 3-0, and the third straight time Zoss finished first. Zoss' combined time for both runs was 39.89 seconds.

Menke took second for the Wolves (41.53) and Studt was third (42.79). Kettering's Chad Cole had the best runs for the Captains, taking fourth at 43.98.

Whittaker rounded out the Clarkston scoring with a fifth-place finish (43.98).

The two other Clarkston skiers were freshman Kozlowski, who finished seventh (44.59), and Conklin, who was eighth (45.26).

Wolves finally drag down Dragons

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

In a five-day period, the Clarkston varsity wrestling team defeated the defending Class A state champions, crushed another league foe and won an invitational.

Clarkston 35, Lake Orion 26
(Jan. 15 at Lake Orion)

Clarkston coach Scott Strickler kept his team in the locker room, he didn't want it to see what was happening on the mats.

Moments before the Wolves took on host Lake Orion, the Dragons had turned off the lights in the gymnasium, shined a spotlight on their 1989 state championship banner and played the song, "We Are the Champions."

After that was finally over, it was the Wolves' turn to turn off the lights of the Dragons. And, just barely, they did.

As it had in the two prior matches against tough Rochester Adams and Waterford Kettering squads, the Wolves found themselves behind at Lake Orion.

The upset-minded Dragons, who had a 7-3 record going into the match, were ahead 26-19 with only three matches remaining.

But as it has done in the past, the true-blue, torrid trio of seniors Damon Michelsen, Joel Davis and Tony Miller came through.

Michelsen, a 171-pound undefeated co-captain who is ranked No. 1 in the state, battled with Lake Orion's Jim Frye before the Dragon was pinned at 5:23.

Davis couldn't pin an evasive Brent Bailo, but the 189-pound co-captain worked his way to a 10-0 major decision over the Dragon, putting the Wolves ahead, 29-26.

That set the stage for heavyweights Miller and Lake Orion's Rob Chaney in front of a noisy packed gym. Chaney was ahead 2-0 going into the final period. A minor decision by the Dragons would have

"This is the first time I was on a team that beat Lake Orion in a dual meet."

Joel Davis

resulted in a 29-29 tie.

But Miller and the Wolves had been in this situation before, and once again Clarkston prevailed.

Miller tied the match on a reversal, went ahead 5-2 on a near fall, and then pinned Chaney at 4:41.

And once again, Miller, who wasn't expected to wrestle this season because of a knee injury, strode to his awaiting, high-fiving teammates, managers and coaches.

"I had confidence in him the whole time," said Clarkston coach Scott Strickler. "I knew it would only take Tony one move to beat him."

What was Miller thinking while being down 2-0 before the last period?

"I heard the screaming and stomping on the stands," said Miller about the boisterous Lake Orion fans, who cheered for a Wolf defeat. "It got me going more."

The victory especially meant a lot to the Clarkston seniors.

"This is the first time I was on a team that beat Lake Orion in a dual meet," said Davis, who has battled the Dragons ever since he was a seventh grader at Clarkston Junior High. (Seniors who previously wrestled for Sashabaw Junior High once topped Lake Orion in eighth grade).

Clarkston's undefeated 103-pounder Jeff Deroseau, ranked No. 1 in the state, started the night off by pinning Rob Majcher at 3:07.

But the Dragons came back with two pins of their own. Mark Steffans (112) stopped Pat Forbes at 1:23 and Tony Lankford (119) finished Terry Melvin at 3:56.

Clarkston regained the lead with three straight wins. Wolf Jerry Anderson, the state's No. 2 ranked 125-pounder, crushed Jason Thorpe, 15-0. Jason Roughton (130) stopped John Sutton, 11-7, and Mike Stanton (135) defeated Tony Scott, 8-4.

But the advantage switched back to Lake Orion after the next four matches, with three Dragon wins and a draw.

Matt Steffans (140) edged Alex Martin, 5-4; Jeff Wiscombe (145) pinned Matt Seitz at 3:23; Jamie Gazell (152) and Wolf Steve Cohoon had a 5-5 draw; Dusty Miller stopped Jason Slater, 6-1.

Clarkston 56, Pontiac Northern 9
(Jan. 17 at Clarkston)

Clarkston demolished Pontiac Northern by winning 10 of 13 matches, including eight pins.

"It was probably the best we wrestled all night," said coach Strickler, adding,

"and it was Parents' Night."

The win raised the Wolves' dual record to 12-0.

Pontiac Northern, which finished 10th in the Oakland County Meet, could only manage victories at 112 (Walter Hamilton topped Forbes, 13-1) and 130 (Fred Benton edged Roughton, 9-6).

Pontiac's Nick McKnight and Steve Locher ended in a 2-2 draw.

Wolves getting the eight pins were: Deroseau (103) over Micah McDonald at 1:09, Anderson (125) over Charles Watkins at 3:48, Stanton (135) over Jeff Calhoun at 1:43, Martin (140) over Marcel Butler at 1:29, Cohoon (152) over Adrian Morris at 3:31, Slater (160) over Edwin Watson at 3:33, Michelsen (171) over Darius Finney in 36 seconds and Miller (hvt.) over Willie Vaughn in 44 seconds.

Clarkston's Seitz (145) edged Jamell Humphrey, 1-0; and Davis (189) topped Pat Duncan, 7-2.

Clarkston first at the Lansing Sexton Invite (Jan 19 at Lansing)

The Wolves placed nine wrestlers to win the Lansing Sexton Invite, their fourth invitational victory this season.

Clarkston, with 162 points, finished well ahead of second place Rochester Adams (115). Charlotte (108 1/2) took third, followed by Brighton (98), Holly (91 1/2), Belleville (90 1/2), Plymouth Salem (78), Lansing Everett (73), Lansing Sexton (63), East Kentwood (45), Saginaw (45), Grand Ledge (44), Livonia Churchill (32).

Two Clarkston wrestlers remained unbeaten after the action. Deroseau (103) won on a technical foul over East Kentwood's Damon Rogers, 15-0 and Michelsen (171) pinned Brighton's Kelly Shaw at 1:50.

Four Wolves made it to the finals before being defeated. Charlotte's Brock Gutierrez, the state's No. 1 rated heavyweight, pinned Miller at 4:43; Everett's Tyler Webb (189) edged Davis in an overtime decision, 6-4. Holly's Fernando Moreno (140) nipped in, 4-2; Belleville's Steven Davis (125) stopped Anderson, 8-2. Davis, rated No. 1 in the state handed Anderson, the state's No. 2 rated wrestler, his first loss.

Three other Wolves placed third: Roughton (130), Stanton (135) and Seitz (145).

Fourth-quarter spurt clinches JV hoop win

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Nick Shires provided the offense and Steve Black the defense to help the Clarkston JV boys' basketball team raise its record to 7-1 with a 55-40 victory over host Waterford Kettering.

With the Wolves ahead, 37-34, after three quarters, Shires scored eight of his game-high 18 points in the last eight minutes for the offensive punch.

On the other end of the court, Black came off the bench to hold Kettering's big center, Jim Lloyd, to only two points in the last period. Lloyd had 12 points before being shadowed by Black.

"We went to Nick a lot in the last quarter," said Clarkston coach Tim Kaul.

Kaul also appreciated the job Black did on Lloyd, who weighs over 200 pounds.

"Steve did a nice job of staying in position," said Kaul. Black also helped the cause with six points.

Matt Underwood scored 14 for the Wolves, Jeremy Deloney had nine, Todd Smith four, and Scott Rooney and Eric Ryan each had two.

Clarkston 60, Imlay City 41
(Jan. 15 at Clarkston)

A tough Wolf defense and a 26-point performance by Shires paced Clarkston to a 60-41 victory.

"We really much controlled the game," said coach Kaul, "but we couldn't pull away until the end."

Clarkston led 28-14 at the half and 42-29 after three quarters.

Imlay City hurt themselves as the Wolves scored 20 points off of the visitors' turnovers.

In addition to Shires' 26 points, Rooney scored seven and Smith, Scott Matusz, Ryan and Deloney each poured in six. Underwood had two and Chris Combs added one.

Dankert's 46 barely enough

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Kevin Dankert burned the nets with 46 points, but he and his Wolverine teammates still needed overtime to edge Lake Orion, 70-66, Jan. 15.

"Kevin hit a big shot to put it in overtime," said Clarkston Junior High ninth-grade coach Dave Jokisch, who added, "The kids played really hard."

The Wolves also received some offensive support from Brent Brundridge who scored 11 and Nick Bielak who netted six. Jamie Jones hauled down eight rebounds.

Clarkston Junior High 65, Brandon 63
(Jan. 10 at Brandon)

Brundridge and Dankert combined for 54 points to lead the Clarkston Junior High ninth grade basketball team to a 65-63 victory over Brandon Jan. 10.

"It was our first game back from the break, so it was hard to get our shooting touch back," said coach Jokisch. "But our big-kids played hard and did a good job on defense."

The Wolverines led by five after the first quarter, trailed by six at the half, but came back in the second half.

In addition to the one-two punch of Brundridge and Dankert, Keith Conklin scored five points and pulled down seven rebounds, Jones scored four with six boards and Bielak added two points.

Nate Domke scored 17 for Brandon.

Mott hot against Cougars

BY BOBBY BRAZIER
Clarkston News Special Writer

Waterford Mott downed the host Sashabaw ninth-grade Cougars in every quarter, as the Corsairs rolled to a convincing 57-26 win.

Rusty Mitcham led the Cougars with nine points, Chris Sievers added four, John Weeks and Keith Brotemarkle each pitched in three, Tony Lucca and Ryan Medlin both had a pair, while Garrett DeWitt, Brad Shires and Brad Ryerse all had one.

A disappointed Mitcham said, "We could have built a house with all the bricks we laid."

ADAM Leech (left), Derek Hool and their coach Rod Hool recently competed at a hockey tournament in South Bend, Ind.

Good skates reach finals

Two Independence Township youths competed in the Shillelagh Holiday Tournament Dec. 27-29 in South Bend, Ind.

Derek Hool and Adam Leech, along with their Lakeland Hockey Association Mite "A" Hawks teammates, made it into the finals of the tournament, which featured teams from as far away as Pennsylvania and Missouri.

The Hawks were coached by Rod Hool, Derek's father, along with Don Schiebold and Don Healy.

Derek Hool, a third grader at Pine Knob Elementary and Leech, a fourth grader at Bailey Lake, are top-scoring centers for the Hawks.

In the Hawks first game against the Meramec Sharks of St. Louis, Derek Hool scored the tying goal in the second period. The game finished as a 1-1 tie.

The Hawks won their next two games by 5-0 scores against teams from Downers Grove, Ill. and Homewood, Ill. Leech was part of the line that accounted for seven of the 10 goals.

The Hawks' 2-0-1 record qualified them for the finals against the Warren Voyagers. Warren won the all-Michigan final game with a 3-0 win over the Hawks.

Both teams received trophies and each skater received a medal.

The Hawks, sponsored by Mail Marketing Plus of Walled Lake, will next skate at the Little Caesars Youth Hockey League playoffs in February.

If the varsity boys' basketball team had been playing in Los Angeles, the spectators would have left at halftime, twice.

The Force can be with you Jan. 29

Anyone ages 7-and-up interested in becoming members of "The Clarkston Force," an award-winning tae kwon do karate team, can register through Clarkston Community Education.

Those who would like to become a part of the Force can register during the first class on Jan. 29. Classes will be on Tuesday and Thursdays, 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., at Pine Knob Elementary.

Cost is $25 for four weeks. Two people can register for the family rate of $40.

The class is taught by Joe Sanders, a fifth degree black belt master in tae kwon do and hapkido karate.

City.

But the Wolves play in Clarkston, not La La Land. And since the Wolves' faithful don't have to worry about a traffic jam on M-15 or Dixie Highway, the fans stayed (the popcorn sellers were happy).

The Wolves aren't expecting any huge halftime lead this Friday when they travel to Pontiac Northern in a key Greater Oakland Activities League matchup. The squads are rated as two of the top 10 Class A teams in the state.

Clarkston 67, Waterford Kettering 32 (Jan. 18 at Kettering)

The game was all but over before Waterford Kettering had even scored.

Clarkston took a commanding 19-0 lead over the Captains and continued to turn it on for a 67-32 thumping of host Kettering.

The Wolves, 8-0, outscored the Captains 22-2 after eight minutes; eight minutes later led 38-9, and then were ahead 60-15 after three quarters.

"It's typical of Kettering to always make a strong run at us, but this time they didn't do it," said Clarkston coach Dan Fife.

Dugan Fife had another one of his typical games, scoring 27 points with a couple of 3-pointers, passing for eight assists and making six steals.

Derek Wiley scored 10, Chris Wasilk had eight, Sean Halleran six, Luke Fedio five, David Smith four, Jeremy Burke three, Dereck Raymond two, and Mark Galbraith and Jon Wyniemko each with one. Galbraith also pulled down 10 rebounds.

Tad Smith was the only Captain in double figures, scoring 11.

Clarkston 79, Imlay City 53 (Jan. 15 at Clarkston)

Dugan Fife's 13 points in the second quarter helped the Wolves to a 79-53 win

"They tried to run with us, but our kids played well defensively."

Coach Dan Fife

over Imlay City.

It was the first loss of the year for visiting Imlay City, one of the state's top 10 teams in Class B. It was also the third straight game that the Wolves scored 79 points against their opponents.

Clarkston led 16-12 after the first quarter, but Dugan Fife and company erupted for a 28-10 second quarter to put the game out of reach.

"I thought they physically played us as hard as (Detroit) Catholic Central," said coach Dan Fife about Imlay City. "They tried to run with us, but our kids played well defensively."

The coach has been impressed with his son Dugan Fife's shooting, who has been nailing over 50 per cent of his shots from the field this season. The senior guard also made two 3-pointers and was nine of 10 from the free throw line during his 35-point effort.

"He's a good shooter. I've always known it's been there, but I'm especially noticing it this season," said Dan Fife.

The coach also noticed the play of some other Wolves.

"Chris Wasilk played well tonight, and Raymond and Wyniemko played well off the bench," said Dan Fife.

Wasilk scored 13, Galbraith and Halleran each had eight, Fedio five, Wyniemko four, Jason Lund, Raymond and Wiley all had two.

Brian Franny and Ted Reintjes each scored 10 for Imlay City.

Wolverines and Coug's battle in OT thriller

BY BOBBY BRAZIER
Clarkston News Special Writer

The Clarkston Junior High ninth-grade basketball team won another thriller over the host Sashabaw Cougars, 72-68, in overtime, Jan. 17.

Clarkston, 5-1, scored all four of the overtime points.

The Wolverines started quickly, building a 23-14 advantage. But Josh Watson then ignited a 9-0 Sashabaw run to tie the score. The Cougars took a 33-29 lead into the locker room.

In the second half, the lead changed hands an amazing seven times.

Sashabaw, 0-7, looked as if it would pull it out when it mounted a 56-48 lead with only six minutes left. However, Clarkston went on an impressive 16-4 run in four minutes.

With the score tied at 68 and time running out, Sashabaw's Rusty Mitcham blocked a shot to preserve the tie at the end of regulation.

"Both teams played hard down to the end," said Clarkston coach Dave Jokisch. "We just happened to get lucky and be on the winning end of the stick."

Wolverine Kevin Dankert scored a game-high 31 points and Brent Brundridge netted 22. Jamie Jones added seven and Keith Conklin and Nick Bielak each had five.

Watson led Sashabaw with 25 points, John Weeks added 17, Mitcham poured in 11, Tony Lucca added six, Garrett DeWitt chipped in four, Ryan Medlin and Jason Kneisce each had two and Brad Ryerse added one.

The rivals will meet once more this season on Feb. 18.

Reporter's Notebook

Residents living in the vicinity of the Pine Knob Music Theater are worried about the upcoming summer.

At the Jan. 15 Independence Township Board meeting, Mel Vaara said that several area residents had called him airing their concerns. He said that many neighboring residents were worried about the effects of an expanded schedule in 1991.

According to officials at the Palace of the Auburn Hills, the facility's new owner, about 70 more shows will be added to this summer's schedule.

Supervisor Frank Ronk said he understands the residents' concerns and they will be discussed in the township's future negotiations with the amphitheater.

Residents living within bell-ringing distance of St. Daniel Catholic Church, Clarkston, heard the bells toll 27 times Jan. 22 for the 27 million abortions performed since the Supreme Court's 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision, which legalized abortion.

In the classified advertising section this week, you'll find this interesting little ditty under the real estate section: "For sale: one medium-size Middle East country. Handyman special. Dictator optional. No reasonable offer refused. Act now, please! 1-800-EAT-SAND."

Someone out there was willing to spend $8.50 to vent their spleen. Hope it helped. Hope everyone takes it in the humorous way it was intended.

The Clarkston branch office of the Secretary of State may not close after all — if the state Senate Appropriations Committee approves alternate cuts in the Secretary of State budget.

A vote is expected by the end of January, according to new state rep. Tom Middleton, who said there's a slim chance that the office on Dixie Highway, Independence Township, will stay open.

An Independence Township man experienced his own "dog day afternoon" last week.

On Jan. 20, police visited a Dubuque residence where a man was lamenting over damage to his vintage automobile.

According to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, the man was being harassed by a neighboring dog. Apparently, the uninvited dog kept appearing at his residence in an attempt to reach his female dog, which was in heat at the time.

Early that afternoon, the homeowner caught the pesky mutt and closed it in his garage while he went to retrieve its master. Shortly after, the man and the dog's owner returned to find that the dog had run wild in the garage.

The distraught homeowner found paw prints and scratches on the hood of his 1967 Chevrolet Corvette. Apparently, the dog had become overly excited and jumped on the car to see out the window.

The homeowner is now looking for ways to remove the surface scratches from his car.

An employee at Pine Knob Ski Resort has a knack for smiles. Last week, the recording on the answering machine said the snow flakes were "as big as doilies" at ski hill on Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

The cable station HBO appeared prophetic in its Jan. 16 movie schedule.

Shortly after 7:15 p.m., war broke out in the Middle East with a U.S.-led air attack on Baghdad, Iraq. Coincidentally, HBO aired the movie "Top Gun" at 8 p.m.

Ironically, it was about this time that the first dog fight of the war occurred over the skies of Baghdad. It involved a 28-year-old Michigan man who successfully downed an Iraqi fighter jet. The man is also a graduate of the Top Gun aerial school in New Mexico.

New subdivision OK'd

Residents along Maybee Road, Independence Township, may have new neighbors soon.

A 40-acre subdivision slated for the north side of Maybee Road, between Tamarack and Marvin, received final site plan approval from the Independence Township Board.

On Jan. 15, the board voted 6-0 to approve the Sheringham Place development. The missing vote was due to the absence of Frank Millard, who resigned to accept a seat on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners.

The site is zoned single family residential and is to hold 74 separate lots. Each lot is 15,000 square feet in size.

With the creation of the development, services such as water, sanitary sewers and storm sewers will be provided to the residents. A passing lane is also scheduled at Maybee Road and the new Sheringham Boulevard.

Earth tip

Collection keeps them young at heart

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Calling themselves "kids at heart," Jim and Patricia Carlson have engaged in an appropriate hobby throughout recent years.

The couple collects toys.

The Carlsons' most treasured pieces are Schoenhut toys, jointed wooden dolls and animals crafted in the early 1900s. Other favorites include carousel horses, pull toys and platform toys.

Some of the Carlsons' pieces were found at shows similar to the upcoming Clarkston Toy and Doll Show. (See box)

Other pieces were traded, ordered from special toy

dreds" of pieces, the hobby is ongoing, explains Jim.

"It's like when you are five years old and your first pictures are drawn outside the lines," he begins. "What happens is you continue to refine the picture closer and closer to what you're looking at."

The quality of the antique pieces is important in determining their value. As such, some of the items are much more expensive than others.

"Some toys are three to four dollars while others are thousands of dollars," Jim explains. "The average collector kind of selects at his or her discretion and income level."

Part of the enjoyment of collecting is the knowledge that accompanies the hobby, Jim says.

"We like to be knowledgeable," he says. "We do a great deal of reading and research."

"But we've found the only way to be really knowledgeable about toys is going either to look at them physically or to gain an appreciation through observation," he adds.

catalogues or purchased at special toy auctions.

The hobby is richly rewarding, says Jim.

"I think collecting anything is very necessary," he explains. "Whether it's information on family history, stamps or toys, it's important not only to capture history, but it takes your mind off of things."

The couple has always been interested in folk art, Jim explains. They knew they wanted to collect, and eventually it became a choice between furniture and toys.

A visit to the couple's Independence Township home makes it clear what the decision eventually became.

Classic toys of many varieties are artfully displayed throughout the living space.

One larger carousel horse adorns the hallway; another carousel horse stands in the family room.

An entire circus of Schoenhut figures is gathered on a table in one corner; huge antique horse and buggies sit on others.

A glass case holds Noah and his ark, an antique set of more than 100 pieces. Blocks, dolls and a variety of other animals also draw attention.

Though the Carlson collection is made up of "hun-

Garden Corner

Select houseplants suited to indoor conditions

With an outdoor garden at rest for the winter, attention may now be paid to indoor foliage.

Like outdoor plants, indoor greenery has different needs. Some plants need more light than others, so the difference between a green thumb and a black one is selecting plants that will grow well in the light conditions your home or office provides.

Michigan State University Extension horticulture specialist William Carlson says that most plants sold as houseplants will at least survive under normal home conditions.

If you want your plants to thrive, however, you'll need to make some effort to match plants' light requirements to light levels around your home.

"Light is usually the limiting factor on houseplants, especially in the winter," Carlson says.

"The short, often cloudy days of a Michigan winter just don't provide enough light for many plants," he adds.

Some foliage plants grown in low-light conditions tend to have elongated stems and small leaves, and flowering plants may fail to flower.

Other plants do very nicely in low light, and if that's all your home or office has to offer, it's best to select one of those very tolerant plants.

The list includes Chinese evergreen (Aglaonema commutatum), pewee plant (Aglaonema crispum), cast-iron plants (Aspidistra elatior), bamboo palm (Chamaedora erumpens), parlor palm (Chamaedora elegans), corn plant (Dracaena fragrans 'Massangeana'), heartleaf philodendron (Philodendron scandens), snake plant (Sansevieria trifasciata) and pothos (Epipremnum aureum).

These plants will grow in low, indirect light such as sunlight filtered through a curtain to shadowless light from a north window.

They may be more than eight feet away from windows and receive no direct light at all.

The majority of foliage plants grown indoors need several hours of direct sunlight or bright, indirect light.

Such popular plants as Norfolk Island pine (Araucaria heterophylla), asparagus fern (Asparagus setaceus), spider plant (Chlorophytum comosum), dumbcane (Dieffenbachia maculata), red-edge dracaena (Dracaena marginata), rubber plant (Ficus elastica), peperomia species and Boston fern (Nephrolepis exaltata 'Bostoniensis') will do quite nicely four to eight feet from brightly-lighted east, south or west-facing windows.

Plants with a higher light requirement — more than four hours of direct sun or bright, indirect light — usually do best within four feet of brightly lighted east, south or west windows or under artificial light.

These include croton (Codiaeum variegatum), jade plant (Crassula argentea), wax plant (Hoya carnosa) and African violets (Saintpaulia ionantha).

Flowering plants usually need more light than foliage plants do, Carlson observes. Though they may grow well and look healthy at lower light levels, they may not flower unless you supplement natural light with artificial light.

Carlson recommends fluorescent lights because they give off more light per unit of electricity used and produce very little heat.

Though special plant growth tubes are available, they tend to be hard to find and expensive.

They also aren't necessary — the light from standard cool-white bulbs is adequate for growth by most plants.

The Other Side of Things

A midwinter night's dream

Ashley Ball

Are you sick and tired of school — of getting out of bed at 5:30 in the morning to come up here and listen to the same old 1-2-3?

And what about the lunches they serve — I mean, how many more fiestas can you stand? I say it's time to get out of this miserable slush and cold and take a few days off ... get away ... have some fun!

It's not like you're really going to miss anything, right? Great! Then, I suggest you take a little vacation like I do every winter. And I know the perfect spot ...

It's a warm, sunny island just off the coast of California. A magnificent place that time passed by. Where enchanting red rooftops ramble over the sand.

Inside, red carpets lead to a hushed upstairs. Marble steps open to a gallery of floors and open iron-work elevators. I climb high above the courtyard and look over white railed balconies.

Outside, I sip pop and munch pretzels on the shaded lawn while my parents visit with friends. I write my initials on the lowest board of the gazebo. Palm trees sway along the beach, and I can feel the ocean spray, cool against my face and arms.

In the lobby, I draw pictures in the great vats of sand. A black iron plaque says that Edison, himself, installed the lights. I spend hours exploring. A short blue hallway leads to rooms where presidents have stayed. Another hallway shrinks to tiny doors like Alice saw in wonderland. My parents wonder where I am.

A video in our room tells of a hundred years of history and how this wonderful hotel has stayed the same as it was long ago — and how time has passed it by.

My dad rents a yellow sailboat with puffy white sails. He lies on the warm deck with my eyes closed, deciding what I'll order for lunch when we return to shore.

I hear a buoy ringing in the distance. Suddenly it's close and loud, and I realize that I hate it; and I reach out and smash my hand down on the button on top of the radio beside my bed. I squint at the flashing numbers. It's 5:30 in the morning.

Outside my window, icy tree limbs crack and pop in a fierce winter wind. It's still dark, but, through the blackness, I can see the white slush on the ground has refrozen.

My algebra book is still open on the foot of my bed from last night, and I can hardly remember having dreamed anything at all.

Mid-term exams start today. My first one is algebra. As Mr. Bronson hands out the exam questions, he is cheerful.

He is smiling.
He lives for this.

FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE

QUESTION: How does real estate investment fare as a method of making you financially independent in your old age?

ANSWER: Being financially independent in your later years is a feat by itself. According to a study by the U.S. Government, of all people over the age of 65, only 6% are financially independent. Also, according to this same study, all of the lucky segment became financially independent partly or wholly through ownership of real estate. No one buys their first home as a reason for financial independence at retirement but that's the way it normally works out.

OWNERSHIP OF REAL ESTATE is the major source of wealth for those in retirement years.

The 1990 AAA Michigan party guide offers the following recipes to "warm up" your holiday gathering.

The south of the border recipes are part of the agency's annual guide to safe parties and include several recipes for non-alcoholic drinks.

The free guide is available at AAA Michigan branch offices and many traffic safety and substance abuse groups.

MEXICAN CORNBREAD

1 1/2 cups milk

1/2 cup salad oil

3 eggs, beaten

1/2 cup cream-style corn

1/2 cup canned jalapeno peppers, finely chopped

1 1/2 cup cheddar cheese, grated

4 bacon pieces, crumbled

1/2 cup sweet pepper, chopped

In a 10-inch, well-greased skillet, combine ingredients and cook on stove over medium heat for five to 10 minutes.

Place skillet in oven and bake at 375 degrees until brown. Shake gently to loosen.

Ski Day on Friday

Beginners and experienced skiers alike may hit the slopes when they're not in school on Friday, Jan. 25.

The annual Ski Day, sponsored by the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance, is set for 1-5 p.m. Friday at Pine Knob Ski Resort, Pine Knob Road, Independence Township.

For that day only, youngsters may buy a lift ticket for $8 and may rent skis for $7. In addition, volunteers from the youth assistance will furnish hot cocoa.

The event is scheduled annually to give youngsters something to do when they're off from school.

Though the event is geared toward middle school children, younger children may ski, too, if they're accompanied by an adult.

For more information, call Youth Assistance at 625-48346.

Pet of the Week

Jovial Johnny

Johnny's just a year old, and he's without a home. The collie mix has three colors on his coat: brown, black and white.

He likes children but should live in a home with children over age 8, according to a shelter worker. Though he's not housebroken yet, patience and crate training should do the trick.

Johnny's $70 adoption fee includes neutering.

Visit Johnny at the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Auburn Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Mozart remembered

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart was born Jan. 27, 1756, in Salzburg, Austria.

Considered one of the greatest composers of the classical period, Mozart left more than 600 compositions when he died in 1791, just short of his 36th birthday.

Revered as a musical genius, Mozart began performing when he was only 3 years old and completed his first composition at the age of 5.

His brilliant compositions include sonatas, operas, symphonies, serenades and piano and violin concertos — many of which are still performed throughout the world.

One of Mozart's best known and admired works is the opera "Don Giovanni."

Mozart came from a musically gifted family. His father, Leopold Mozart, was a conductor with the Austrian Symphony.

Mozart never attended school. And while his genius celebrated today, he died in poverty.

Tax season underway; time for organization

Now is the time for Michigan taxpayers to start organizing their records and receipts and to get ready to file their 1990 federal income tax returns, according to Internal Revenue Service District Director John Hummel.

"The tax forms have been mailed, and my office is geared up and ready to answer any questions that taxpayers may have concerning tax law changes for 1990 and how to file," Hummel added.

According to Hummel, there are very few changes that will affect 1990 returns, so many taxpayers should be able to prepare their own returns using last year's return as a guide.

"The important message to taxpayers this year is to file early and consider having your return filed electronically," said Hummel. "Electronic filing means faster refunds and more accurate returns."

Taxpayers can receive assistance from the IRS in a variety of ways. They can call with tax questions on a toll-free information line at 1-800-829-1040 or can call a pre-recorded system, TELE-TAX, at 1-900-829-4477.

This computer-assisted program provides information on more than 150 tax topics, 24 hours a day.

Taxpayers may also visit any of the 22 offices statewide.

Finally, to order forms and publications free of charge, taxpayers can call a forms order number toll-free at 1-800-829-3676.

CHS senior wins essay contest

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

While most Clarkston High School students were Christmas shopping last December or finishing up school work before winter break, senior Michelle Davis was writing a serious essay.

Her essay, to the topic of, "Freedom: A Right or a Privilege?" was good enough to earn first-place honors in the annual Clarkston Area Optimist Essay Contest.

For her efforts, Davis, 18, won a $200 U.S. Savings Bond and a medallion. Plus, she and her parents were treated to a breakfast with the Clarkston Optimists, where she read her creation aloud.

Davis said she was "surprised" to hear that she had won the essay contest, but some of her CHS classes may have prepared her for the contest.

The daughter of Cynthia Davis of Amy Drive, Independence Township, Davis enjoys her French and English classes at CHS, as well as her government class, in which the teacher and class members go over the current news daily.

Her activities in National Honor Society and the Blue and Gold Club keep her busy, she said.

After graduation from CHS, Davis plans to attend the University of Michigan, where she plans to study liberal arts, marketing and international business.

The Optimists also awarded medallions and breakfasts to the second-place winner Stacy Carr of Bigelow Road and to third-place winner Staci Hill of Deer Ridge Drive.

MICHELLE Davis, 18, is a senior at Clarkston High School.

Freedom; a right or a privilege?

BY MICHELLE V. DAVIS

The subject of freedom brings a diversity of viewpoints from those around the world. From the different perspectives of different people, it means various things. The ability to have freedom, however, is not necessarily automatic. It is, consequently, a privilege.

Since there is no one governmental ruler on the Earth, it is up to each country to help decipher the laws. These laws are the influencing factor, and a result of, freedom — or in some cases, the lack of freedom.

Often what one considers a small freedom is taken for granted. As an American citizen, day-to-day decisions are never thought of twice. To inhabitants of another country, however, these "decisions" are more than that — they are freedoms.

Through the history of the United States, the power of voting has been viewed as our nation's greatest asset.

Our land of the free, however, didn't always grant this privilege as openly as it does today. There were the days when blacks and women were denied this freedom. As time went on, however, gradual improvements were made, which have resulted in a system allowing individuals to express their opinions in a diplomatic fashion. Freedom, therefore, became expanded through our nation.

Even the president of our country is the decision of the vote of the people. Voters are allowed to elect those they feel are qualified to run our country. On the other hand, countries that use a monarchy form of government deny citizens the opportunity to choose those who they want making their decisions.

An extreme form of control over people occurs in the Far East. Couples wishing to have more than one child won't necessarily receive this prerogative. One might question how one can live with such limited freedom. Unfortunately, the living conditions of this area must sanction such a limitation. As you can see, freedom must sometimes be sacrificed to benefit a larger group as a whole.

It is guaranteed that every country will put restrictions on its citizens, for people need to be controlled to some extent. The outcome results in a stronger country.

As a citizen of the United States, however, one is also guaranteed the four basic freedoms as stated in the first amendment: speech, religion, press and right to bear arms.

As you can see, it is not expedient to give these privileges in all countries. The ruler and/or government is the deciding factor of freedom for each of its citizens.

Freedom, therefore, lies in the hands of each country. As a result, the decision for a government to grant freedom to its people leaves them among the privileged.

Valentine contest for junior high kids

A Valentine contest for junior high school students is a chance to be creative as well as earn some cash.

Sponsored by the Independence Township Library, contest entries must be submitted by Thursday, Feb. 8.

One entry is allowed per person in the following categories:

Verse: Write an original poem (or adapt a familiar one). Ideas: ballad, limerick, sonnet, free form, couplets.

Arts and Crafts: Create a work of art for your Valentine. Ideas: Use paint, paper, photographs, feathers, ribbon, lace or any scrap materials. Make it three-dimensional (for example, use a flat box), a cut-out, a fold-out or a collage. It could be a miniature or be up to 18 x 18 inches (limit 3 inches deep).

Wit and Humor: Try this category if you have a sharp funnybone and think like a comedian. This is the place for puns, jokes, zingers or one-liners.

Attach a name, phone number and category to each entry (one per category per person).

A $10 "bag of bucks" will be awarded for the best entry in each of the categories, and the Valentines will be displayed in the library.

For more information, stop in the library at 6497 Clarkston Road, Independence Township, or call 625-2212.

Mail order is cataloging, list management, product selection, and a whole lot more, we have not been going at the marketing job right. We have produced a catalog using freelancers. We're looking to expand by starting a full time, one man marketing department. This person will write and produce our catalog/magazine, then track its results, then refine our catalog and marketing. You will use Desk Top Publishing on a Macintosh, do the photos, find new products, and do internal marketing. This is a job for a worker, not an executive. A one person-band. Position is limitless. WHO IS ON THE LORD'S SIDE? To the church's apostasy and hypo-crisy has taken hold of you! Christ alone is the Lord of His followers that obey him! If you had a child that you instilled in that child to know to do good and he or she flatly refused to do it and wouldn't even consider to do good even when they knew to do good and was even told what they should do and still the would not, what would you do with that child?... Therefore, what do you think God is going to do to those that flatly refuse to even consider nor turn to do what they know they should do- "Seek God and obey Christ and His Word? The time is at hand! It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God! To sin willfully after you have tasted (known) the Life and Light of Christ, there is no more sacrifice for sin but a fearful-looking of indigna-tion, the removal of the Holy Spirit and to be given over to your worldly desires to be judged! Ahi Ahi Ahi Ahi Ahi! "666" Vengeance is mine saith the Lord! "Now let your Gods, that you have created and the molded images (denominations) save you, you that have seen and yet do not see and you that have heard and do not hear! I have called and you have refused! Therefore you house is left unto you desolate til you say "Blessed is He that comes in the name of the Lord that He is both Lord and Christ." IILX3-2

More than a dog's life for this spaniel

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

One fellow — orphaned early in life — has been a hero, survived a lonely eight-day trek in the northern wilderness, and at age 93 still enjoys a hearty bowl of dog chow.

Brett, 13 1/2 in human years, is a Brittany spaniel who lives with the Koyl family on Semindale, Springfield Township.

Brett was orphaned by his first owners after an automobile accident on Dixie Highway took their lives in 1978.

The couple were friends of Michael and Robyn Koyl, who followed Brett's progress when he went to live with a relative of the deceased couple.

But two years later, the Koyls happily adopted Brett as their own pet.

Brett easily adjusted to life with the Springfield family. For a while, he lived an ordinary dog's life, serving as a faithful companion to the Koyl children: Adam, 14; Ben, 13; and Chelsea, 8.

But then Brett became a hero when a neighboring dalmation named Foster tried to jump over a fence and hooked his collar on the top.

"Brett never barked much," Michael said. "But (that day) he gave some warning barks."

When the family looked out, there was Foster, hanging from the fence, choking in his collar. Brett had saved Foster's life.

Though his heroism was appreciated, Brett carried on a normal dog's life. For instance, he tagged along whenever the children went to the beach or to a sledding hill, said Robyn.

He also accompanied the family on vacations. His sense of smell — a useful hunting ability — helped him get out of a thorny situation two years ago.

The Koyl family, along with Brett, stopped on a Friday evening in West Branch to look over a building site that Michael would work on the next morning. They stayed only briefly.

The family continued about 30 miles to the north, staying the night in Glennie. The next morning when Brett was let out, he didn't return.

"The area was desolate," Michael said.

As the weekend drew to a close, the family grew worried that Brett wouldn't be back by the time they headed south to their Springfield Township home.

Leaving word with Glennie residents about Brett's disappearance, the Koyls sadly returned home, fearing the worst for their pet.

But eight days later, Brett turned up in West Branch — near the building site the Koyls had visited on the way to Glennie.

Michael figured that Brett traveled 30 miles south and must have crossed the AuSable River in his trek.

"Brett looked like he came out of a jungle swamp," Michael recalled.

In tribute to Brett's adventure, Adam placed a "Jungle Expert" patch on Brett's doghouse — a meaningful gesture, since Adam collects patches and does not dispense of them lightly.

Although Brett enjoyed the attention, he has given up hunting and trekking in the northern woods. He suffers from hip dysplasia, and old age is setting in.

The Koyl family expect no heroics now — just the warm comfort from living with an old friend.

"We're glad to have had him for so long," Robyn said, watching out for Brett as he feebly walked about the family room.

Brett, however, still takes pleasure in life. He heartily enjoys his daily dog chow.

grown up with the Brittany spaniel in Springfield Township.
