Voters give loud no to construction

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Three school bonding proposals were overwhelmingly defeated by Clarkston voters by an almost two-to-one margin Feb. 11.

About 7,400 of the area's 18,000 registered voters turned out to defeat all three proposals in every single one of the district's precincts.

As early returns were chalked in on a blackboard in the district administrative office at about 8:30 p.m., a stunned crowd of about 50 people watched in silence.

Superintendent Gary Haner described his reaction as "dumbfounded."

"Not by the loss," Haner said, "but by the overwhelming loss."

Though totals are not final until certified by the Oakland County Board of Canvassers, early totals are as follows:

For Proposal A, the district's elementary package: 2,602 voted yes and 4,781 voted no.

For Proposal B, the district's middle school and high school package: 2,767 voted yes and 4,641 voted no.

For Proposal C, the district swimming pool: 2,251 voted yes and 5,134 voted no.

The magnitude of the defeat makes another vote on new construction unlikely, according to Haner.

"Because of the nearly two-to-one margin of defeat,

"Most people questioned the enrollment figures. They still didn't see the growth."

Paul Van Klaveren

it will make it extremely difficult for me to come back to the community for a return vote in the immediate future," Haner said.

In speculating why the proposals did not pass, Haner pointed to the tax burden of the bond debt and a general disbelief of enrollment projections.

"The number of kids in the district, however, doesn't begin to address the need to replace the 60-year-old Clarkston Junior High," Haner added.

Board members, too, pointed to enrollment projections. (See BOND, next page)

Board calls for alternative plan

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Larger class sizes, portable classrooms, alternate school days and double day sessions are some of the options Clarkston school board members will consider after the failure of three bond proposals Feb. 11.

The bond proposals would have funded construction of new facilities, the "preferred" option for managing overcrowded classrooms, according to school officials. Residents voted down proposals by an almost two-to-one margin.

According to district predictions, classrooms in Clarkston are expected to grow by an additional 870 students over the next five years.

The overcrowded conditions that exist today make some immediate steps necessary, according to Superintendent Gary Haner.

"Two things are almost certain," Haner said. "Larger class sizes at all levels and less space for service rooms like music and computer rooms.

"The larger impact the year following could include portable classrooms," he continued, adding that double day sessions could follow after that.

Immediately after early vote totals were read by the board secretary during the board's regular meeting Feb. 11, members instructed the superintendent to draft a plan outlining alternatives.

Though the board had discussed construction alternatives prior to the election, it was hoped the alternatives would not be necessary, members said.

"We would have preferred construction but that option is not made available to use by means of the community," said Trustee Durham Downs.

"(The superintendent should) plan his recommendation based on his view of which alternatives are most educationally sound," Downs added.

The superintendent is expected to make a preliminary report on his recommendations at the March 11 regular school board meeting.

Calling for names of area service people

Due to numerous requests, The Clarkston News will be publishing the names of Clarkston area residents who are serving in the Persian Gulf war.

The listing is planned for Wednesday, Feb. 20. To add your loved one's name to the list, call or write by Friday, Feb. 15: 625-3370, or The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346.

Please include the following information: Name, rank, address (optional) and pertinent information such as year graduated from high school and or college. If known, please include a job description.

We also would welcome photos of the service people, as well as the names of their parents, spouses and children.

Please include your phone number, so we can reach you if we need more information.

All three bond proposals fail

tions as the source of discontent among voters.
"I was asking people whether they didn't support the millage or didn't see the need," said Paul Van Klaveren. "Most people questioned the millage figures. They still didn't see the growth."

Added board Vice President Thomas Howard, "Our absolute pressing need is at the grade school area."

"We can see the numbers as they come along," Howard added. "We're going to have to come up with some rather creative recommendations."

After the totals were read by the board secretary, members discussed the best way to evaluate alternatives to new construction and directed the superintendent to document alternative plans for the board's review. (See related story)

The board also heard a statement read by a member of the Red Ribbon Committee, which had worked to prevent the proposals from passing.

Bill Rausch, a member of the Red Ribbon Committee told the board to "come up with a reasonable bonding issue."

"Those of us who formed this informal group are not against the enhancement of the school facilities or paying additional taxes to reasonably upgrade these facilities," Rausch read from a prepared statement.

"We do believe the improvements should be made for the needs of the students and not the wants of the administration," he added.

The $84.75 million dollar bond proposal included the construction of a new elementary school and renovation of five existing elementary schools; construction of a new high school, renovation of existing high school and Sashabaw Junior High, and the construction of a new swimming pool.

The three bond issues would have raised the district's tax rate by 4.25 mills. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

Reunion

A 15-year reunion for the 1976 graduating class at Clarkston High School is planned for July 6, 1991.

The problem, says organizer Mike O'Neill, is that they've lost the addresses of their classmates.

If anyone knows the whereabouts of members of the CHS class of 1976, please call O'Neill and his wife Kathy at 694-3836. Or call Denise Domroese at 623-1737.

You may also write to Clarkston Class of '76, P.O. Box 390, Clarkston, MI 48347.

Youth shot in scuffle with teen

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A 17-year-old Independence Township youth was shot in the upper thigh last week after confronting a teen suspected of a break-in.

On Wednesday, Feb. 6, Brian C. Lucas of Sunnydale was rushed to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, after being struck by a bullet fired from a .25 caliber handgun. He was discharged three days later, Feb. 9.

The incident occurred on Cheeseman Street near Sashabaw Road, Waterford Township.

According to a report with the Waterford Police Department, Lucas and four friends drove to the vicinity to find a 16-year-old Waterford Township youth. The group suspected the teen of breaking into a friend's home on Forest Street, Waterford Township, earlier that day.

The group found the teen at the Area Code 313 arcade on Dixie Highway. Due to the noise caused by the teens' initial confrontation, they were asked to leave the arcade.

However, they caught up to the suspect a short time later on Cheeseman Street. The teen-ager, who was reported as a runaway at the time, fired a shot at the group, striking Lucas.

The teen fled the scene but turned himself in to authorities the next day, after conferring with his father. He is scheduled to be arraigned on charges of attempted murder and possession of a weapon in juvenile court this week.

Country Club of the North half way to rezoning

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Township took a step closer to gaining a colossal golf course and housing development last week.

On Feb. 6, the Independence Township Board voted 6-0 to grant the proposed Country Club of the North first-reading approval to rezone 625 acres. Trustee Bruce Mercado was absent.

A second reading and adoption of the rezoning has been scheduled tentatively for Feb. 19. If the second reading is approved, the rezoning will be granted, and then actual plans may be submitted.

Currently zoned rural residential, the developers requested a change to planned residential development (PRD).

A PRD is a rezoning tied to a specific plan for a residential development larger than 160 acres. This type of zoning calls for at least 20 percent of its land to remain "open space" with a limit of one single-family residential unit per gross acre.

Rural residential zoning requires a three-acre minimum lot size.

Slated for the northeast corner of Clintonville and Waldon roads, the 800-acre development straddles the Orion-Independence township border, with 175 acres in Orion. The project would include a 36-hole golf course surrounded by several "villages." The number of homes in the entire development is uncertain, but the limit stands at 600.

At the Nov. 29, 1990, planning commission meeting, the project's planner said the total project would be worth $153 million upon completion and would take nearly 12 years to complete. The first phase would be the building of the golf course, which could take two years to finish.

An estimated $8 million in annual tax revenue is expected to be generated from the development.

Even though the board favors the rezoning, questions were already beginning to surface about the plans. Engineer Randy Ford of Hubble, Roth and Clark expressed his concerns about the internal roads' widths, found in and around the "villages."

Ford said the roads' widths should meet Oakland County standards, which are 27 feet. The project planners indicated that they want the internal roads to be 24 feet wide.

"We'd like to keep these roads small and rural," explained project attorney John Carlin.

Township planner Richard Carlisle said these conditions are under consideration, and a bevy of permitted conditions concerning the specifications are being drawn up by the township.

Another concern discussed at length was the fate of an old homestead on the property. The house represents 150 years of farming occupation on the land.

A couple of trustees would like the homestead to remain, while the planners envision a transplanted historical site.

"The faster we get going,
the sooner we bring tax dollars in."

Attorney John Carlin

"Because the home was only built in 1953, we feel that it's not of significant historical value," Carlin said. "But we understand it's the land that's of historical value, so we're leaning toward a roadside site to recognize the area's heritage."

Carlin emphasized that his client, Country Club of the North, would like to proceed as quickly as possible. He said Orion Township has already rezoned the area planned unit development and is patiently awaiting the plans to issue building permits.

"The faster we get going, the sooner we bring tax dollars in," Carlin quipped.

Promoting drug-free lifestyle

STEVE Pearson, a deputy with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, speaks to Clarkston High students interested in the "Just Say No" program. Pearson spoke on the dangers of drug abuse and gave an officer's perspective on the world of narcotics. This was the first of two seminars that the students must attend before they can speak to elementary and junior high classes. Adviser Katie MacKay said between 75 and 100 CHS students are expected to promote the advantages of a drug-free lifestyle. (Photo by Curt McAllister)

Door-to-door yellow ribbon sale may be a scam

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

A possible yellow ribbon scam may prey on the patriotic spirit in abundance in the area.

An Independence Township woman who lives near the Springfield Township border said three teen-age boys came to her house after dark on Feb. 1, claiming to be selling $5 yellow ribbons, of which $2 would go to the Red Cross.

However, only one boy came to the door, while another waited in the car and another looked around the exterior of the house.

And another suspicious detail — the boys didn't carry any ribbons, said the woman, who told the boys she didn't want any ribbons because she already had some.

The boys immediately left but didn't stop their car at any of her neighbors' houses, she said.

The woman, who asked not to be identified, said she called the Red Cross, where officials said they didn't know of any such sale on their behalf. Also, Clarkston High School officials also knew nothing of the sale.

Further, the boys did not carry any identification badge, which is required of all solicitors in Independence Township, where solicitors must be registered. Springfield Township does not require the registration of solicitors.

While the ribbon sale may have been legitimate, the woman didn't think so.

"It's people taking advantage of this war thing and trying to get money under false pretenses, preying on your emotions," she said.

She also noted that her neighborhood has been besieged by break-ins to vehicles and garages. The boys may have been scouting the area for a future theft, she surmised.

Detective Steve Parker of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said he had received no complaints of a ribbon scam but said the woman's theory may be "possible."

If residents get such a suspicious request, they should get a good description of the people and their vehicle — including a license plate number, Parker said. Then, they should call the police immediately, who can catch up to the suspects and question them.

Plus, permits are required in Independence Township, so residents may ask to see the solicitor's identification badge. If there is none, advise the solicitor to obtain one at the township office, he said.

"We're all trying to support our troops," Parker said.

"If people are interested in buying something to support people in Operation Desert Storm, they should contact the local American Legion posts or contact the township hall to see who's authorized to sell."

Officials in Springfield and Independence townships said they had received no ribbon scam complaints and knew nothing of a ribbon sale to benefit the Red Cross.

Used oil pickup

Residents of Independence Township can have used motor oil picked up anywhere in the township by calling the Independence Township Groundwater Leadership Team.

The used oil will be taken to a recycling center. Pickups will be made Saturday, Feb. 16, by appointment, between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

The pickup and recycling are conducted for no charge.

To set up an appointment, call 625-1800.

Board action clears the way for M-15 widening

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With a unanimous vote, the Independence Township Board has cleared the way for the widening of M-15 this summer.

On Feb. 5, the trustees approved the signing of a $275,000 contract with the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT), which calls for improvements to M-15.

These improvements consist of widening the stretch of M-15 from Dixie Highway to Paramus, Independence Township. The road is to be widened from two lanes to five lanes beginning at Dixie Highway. The widening will continue north, where it will feed into three lanes about 400 feet north of Paramus. The center lane will serve as a left-turn lane.

On Jan. 14, these plans were approved by the Clarkston Village Council, after concessions were made concerning lengthy turn lanes originally proposed at Paramus and Middle Lake roads. These lanes have been condensed from 50-foot widths to 30-foot widths.

With the signing of the contract, the township has agreed to splitting the cost with MDOT. The township will pay for $250,000 of the project, while MDOT covers $25,000. The township's portion of the cost will be covered by funds in the Downtown Development Authority (DDA).

The DDA was created five years ago to improve landscaping, lighting, water and sewer along parts of Dixie Highway and M-15. Funding for the DDA comes from tax increment financing, which captures taxes from that area and uses the money for improvements to that area only. No additional taxes are required, and residents from other areas are not taxed for DDA projects.

The township has already paid for a large chunk of the initial project. About two years ago, Independence improved storm drainage from M-15 to Dollar Lake. The endeavor cost the township nearly $143,000.

Within the approved contract's guidelines, MDOT has agreed to pay for half of the $50,000 safety path construction. These concrete bikeways will travel along both sides of M-15 from north Dixie Highway to the southern township limits on the west side and to Paramus to the east.

The second phase of the project, estimated at $210,000, will be the construction of water mains along both sides of M-15, from the existing water main at Dixie Highway to north of Paramus Drive.

The final phase will be the installation of lighting conduits for future street lights on both sides of M-15, from north of Dixie to north of Paramus Drive. This phase will cost $15,000.

The project is scheduled to begin in the summer and should take a little less than a year to complete.

Supervisor Frank Ronk is relieved that the project is finally rolling, and he appreciates the board's patience during negotiations, he said.

"I want everyone to know that this is a very long and hard-coming decision, and I'd like to thank the board for helping our office through this process," he said.

DDA expansion hearing on Tuesday, Feb. 19

Residents concerned about the expansion of the Downtown Development Authority's (DDA) boundaries should attend the Tuesday, Feb. 19, public hearing.

The hearing is based on a proposal that would enlarge the downtown district boundaries over which the DDA exercises its powers. The expansion would cover White Lake Road from Dixie Highway to Andersonville Road, Independence Township.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the township annex, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

Further information, including a map of the proposed downtown district boundaries, may be obtained by calling the clerk's office at 625-8111.

If sweepstakes prize sounds too good to be true, it probably is

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

If you, too, have received an "express gram" informing you that you've won a sweepstakes prize, be sure to read the fine print.

If the notice asks you to send money to claim your prize, you probably shouldn't — and you may want to report the company to the U.S. Postal Service, which will investigate the legality of the sweepstakes.

Lois Beardsley of Independence Township recently received such a notice, informing her that she'd won a second prize in the "Huge $300,000 Bonanza," a sweepstakes based in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Then she read the small print, which asked her to send $15 to receive the prize. She did not return the postcard. But she thought others, too, should beware.

"I'm getting pretty disgusted," she said. "I haven't fallen for it, but if you haven't read the small print, you might get taken in. I think everyone should be aware."

Mickey Gonzalez, Clarkston postmaster, said Beardsley's advice should be taken.

"The rule of thumb is if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is," he said.

In this particular case, he said, "don't do it. I received the same thing."

He said he requested an inquiry from the Postal Inspection Service, which will check if the company is legitimate. If there's fraud involved, the Postal Service could press charges.

Township officials receive raises

Seven full-time Independence Township officials and departments heads received salary raises last week.

At the Feb. 5 board meeting, the township trustees voted to give raises to three elected officials and four department heads, effective Feb. 5. The raises varied between 3.2 and 5.5 percent in the seven salary approvals.

Those full-time officials receiving a hike in their 1991 salaries include: Supervisor Frank Ronk, from $49,000 in 1990 to $51,500; Clerk Joan McCrary, from $44,000 to $46,500, and Treasurer John Lutz, from $44,000 to $46,500.

Department heads receiving raises include: DPW Director George Anderson, from $43,500 to $45,450; Parks Director Ann Conklin, from $42,500 to $44,500; Assessor Dave Kramer, from $42,000 to $44,000; Building Director Beverly McElmeel, from $43,000 to $45,000, and Fire Chief Gar Wilson, from $44,000 to $45,980.

A call for statesmanship

Julie Campe

If more statesmen served as government representatives and leaders, there would not be a need for such extreme censorship of reports on war in the Persian Gulf.

As it is, the military censors every media report on the war — to such an extreme that even former military officers who are now journalists criticize the practice.

The censorship is a sign of the administration's fear — of public opinion. A true statesman would not let public opinion dictate his actions. Of course, a true statesman may not win an election.

Even so, once a politician has won political office, he should at least aim toward statesmanship.

For example, military censors are cutting out or changing even non-military secrets in news reports.

In an early news report, a pilot was interviewed following a successful sortie.

The reporter described the pilot as "giddy" following his first mission. The censor changed the word to "proud."

That change didn't protect any military secret, but it did protect the military's image. (What image is that?) That concern over image is indicative of today's politics.

It's bad enough when politicians use day-to-day public opinion polls on which to base their decisions. But now the top politicians are trying to manipulate the day-to-day opinions to match their policies.

Thus far, the military also has barred photographs of dead soldiers, going so far as to disallow photographs at Dover Air Force Base, where bodies usually are flown into the country.

If photos of dead bodies are shown, the administration reasons, the people might not be so supportive of the war. It could get messy, as it did during the Vietnam "conflict."

But hiding the facts doesn't change the facts. Everyone knows that in a war, people die.

It's probably true that most of us don't actually visualize what death looks like. And the administration is afraid that if we actually see photographs of death, we'll reject it.

Maybe they're right — hopefully, they're right.

However, they should give the American people a little more credit. Censoring photos isn't going to hide death from the people. The number of deaths will not change merely because we do or do not see photos of the dead soldiers' faces.

Our leaders must make decisions on the facts — not on the waxings and wanings of public opinion.

They made the decision to enter this war; only they can make the decision to end it — or not.

If the administration were confident that they could justify the war and their decisions during the war, they would not bother about censoring photographs and adjectives.

If they were true statesmen, their decisions would be the same, regardless of how much the public knows and sees.

Letter policy

Letters to the editor must arrive at The Clarkson News office by noon Monday to be considered for publication in Tuesday's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual or on any one topic. We discourage copies of letters sent elsewhere and require that all letters be signed and include an address and phone number. We may withhold names on request but will not publish unsigned letters. Address all letters to: Letters To The Editor, The Clarkson News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkson, MI 48346.

Editorial

Defeat calls for positive approach

The sound defeat of three bond proposals on Monday clearly indicates that taxes are a big problem in the area — so big that they override the problem of crowded schools.

The results don't mean that the "no-voters" don't care about kids; rather the results show that people are fed up with paying high property taxes.

The margin of defeat is so large that it would be pointless to schedule another vote on the issue. The "yes-voters" were so well-organized that they could not increase their efforts to any great effect.

The election results show that the majority of voters simply doesn't want to pick up the $84 million tab for a new high school, elementary school, swimming pool and school additions. That construction would have cost the owner of a $120,000 home an extra $255 a year in taxes.

The problem with such results at the polls is that people find themselves in a negative mode.

And at this crucial time, positive action is needed. If not new buildings, what is the solution to crowded and inadequate school facilities?

A positive approach would have the no-voters and the yes-voters working together with school officials on the answer — and quickly.

And if property taxes are too high, what can be done about it? A positive approach requires school officials as well as no- and yes-voters working on the problem statewide.

This is the time to attend school board meetings (second Monday each month at 7:30 p.m. in the administrative office on Clarkson Road) and township and village board meetings (Independence: first and third Tuesdays each month at 7:30 p.m. in the township annex on Main Street; Springfield: second Wednesday each month at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall on Broadway; Clarkson: first and third Mondays each month at 7:30 p.m. in the village hall on Depot Road).

You might also consider speaking or writing to your state representative and senator — or the governor, who has an "open door" 11 a.m. to noon on Thursdays (write a month in advance to schedule a time: Public Office Hours, State of Michigan, P.O. Box 30013, Lansing, MI 48909).

Above all, get geared up for double-day school sessions in a few years, so we can all make the best of the situation. JLC

Timely prayers

The following prayers were submitted by Bill Morse of Glenburnie Lane, Independence Township, who first came across the comforting words as a member of the U.S. armed forces in World War II. In this time of war, they may be useful to others, he said.

The Naval Hymn

Eternal Father, strong to save,
Whose arm hath bound the restless wave,
Who bidst the mighty ocean deep
Its own appointed limits keep,
O, hear us, when we cry to thee,
For those in peril on the sea!

Fliers' prayer

Lord, guard and guide those who fly,
Through the great spaces in the sky.
Be with them always in the air,
In darkening storms or sunlight fair,
O, hear us when we lift our prayer,
For those in peril in the air!

Jim Sherman

Jim's Jottings

Did you hear
the one about...

When I hear or see (or both) a comedy routine I more often think of the writers than the deliverers.

Who thinks up the routines in the case of shows, like Jackie Gleason or Lucy, or jokes in the case of stand-up comics?

Note I didn't mention a recent popular comedian, like Dick Gregory or Eddie Murphy. Getting laughs with filth shouldn't even be legal on the telly, and that's the only place I'm likely to see them.

I've rolled with clean Bill Cosby on stage in Reno. I like Jay Leno, and I like some lines written for Evening Shade, Murphy Brown and Bob Newhart.

It was these writers I was thinking about when wet paint was mentioned in a conversation with John Patrell. We decided a good comedy writer/actor could make a funny routine with that "Wet Paint" sign.

Everyone knows a person seeing such a sign wants to make sure the sign isn't lying. We have to touch it. A Red Skelton could touch it, look foolish for having touched it, and wipe his finger on his new suit as he walked away doing a double take at the mark he left.

Or, he could mime it out by printing another sign saying "Yes, it is!" with a cloth hanging on it reading, "Wipe Here, Fool."

The same type of situation exists for the "Dead End" sign on a road. We don't believe it. Just ask the people who live on a dead-end street. Their driveways are getting worn out by people who don't believe a road can actually end.

Another sign could be put up by the comedian at the end of the road reading: "Who do you think that dead-end sign was meant for, dummy?"

The comedy writers get their ideas from real life, I'm told. That being the case, and all of us being different, I can see why so many comedians have original, and seemingly unending, material.

At one time we had an employee who wrote jokes and captions for cartoons. She's the one who told me there are people like her who write cartoon captions but can't draw, and people who draw cartoons but can't write captions.

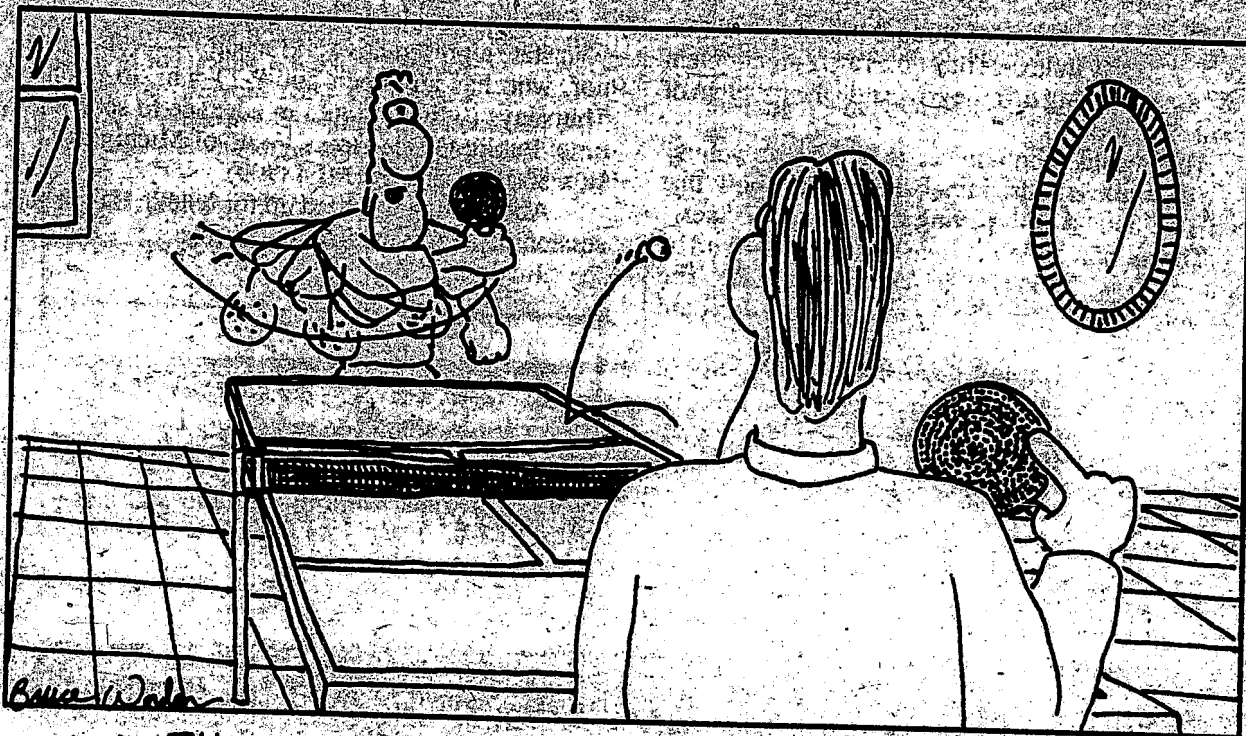

She'd submitted some jokes to Phyllis Diller and been paid for them.

I wish I had an original joke to end this column with. Like: When it comes to inflation we're all in the same boat — the Titanic. Or: The wife of a busy tycoon won a divorce charging him with inattentiveness. She told the judge: "If anything ever happened to me, my husband wouldn't be able to identify the body." But you've probably heard it.

OFF TRACK

...AND THUS THE GAME DRAGGED ON FOR HOURS UNTIL THE TWO CYCLOPS AGREED TO CALL THE GAME OFF, DUE TO LACK OF DEPTH PERCEPTION.

From This Perspective

Autos, electricity and other displays

Tracy
King

On one of the recent snowless days of February, I faced the daunting challenge of entertaining two young people, ages 10 and 14.

They had arrived in full-outerwear, hoping to enjoy the wonderful skating, skiing and outdoor activities for which Michigan was famous.

When the weather didn't cooperate, I scoured lists of other famous Detroit institutions, looking for alternatives.

Being that both my visitors were honor students, I settled on Greenfield Village and the Ford Museum. They might at least enjoy building their minds, I decided.

Forget that I, myself, wasn't particularly interested in cars — I had guests to consider.

In an effort to reinforce the day's entertainment value, I swung into my favorite hamburger joint along the way.

When the last french fry, onion ring and dill pickle had been polished off, I ignored my grown-up urge to head home to nap and turned the car toward Dearborn.

Any goodwill I had bolstered for the day dissolved at the ticket booth at the entrance to Greenfield Village.

We would be paying full price (well over the cost of a movie ticket), though all of the buildings were closed for the winter.

"You can walk around the village," the ticket-taker firmly reminded us.

Well, we were already there, I sighed. We went in.

Walking among the houses of many famous people ("Actual houses!" I was heard to exclaim more than once) my feelings for the outing began to change.

By the time we reached Thomas Edison's Menlo Park laboratory, I was downright enthusiastic about the trip.

What it must have taken to actually invent during that era!

Moving to the Ford Museum, I was drawn to the photographs of Henry Ford. Shown with Thomas Edison, his face was one of pure wonder as Edison recreated his light-bulb experiment in the now-famous Menlo Park lab.

Ford so admired Edison that the lab was moved to Greenfield Village as a monument to inventing and knowledge.

It wasn't enough that Ford experimented with automobiles and created the Ford Motor Co.; he wanted his and Edison's work to be available for people to learn.

Heading back toward home, my young visitors thanked me for the museum outing.

"It was interesting," the older one said, politely. I looked out the window with new eyes at the line of cars ahead. I noted a plane hanging suspended in the sky above.

Ford does more than just teach visitors about electricity and engines at his museum, I decided.

He reminds us what can be done with a spirit to achieve.

'If it Fitz ...'

Modern diaper shoulders laugh

Jim
Fitzgerald

My first thought was I hoped no one had seen the stupid thing I'd just done. No adult, Adam Fitz saw it, but that was OK because he's only 3 months old, hardly mature enough to recognize my stupidity, even though he had his face in it, so to speak.

My second thought concerned something similarly dumb that happened years ago on the golf course. My friend Ralph hit his ball into a creek, barely. After surveying the situation, he determined the ball was playable if he swung with one foot in the water and the other on shore. Ralph removed the shoe and sock from his left foot, carefully rolled up his left pant leg, and took his stance over the ball with his unshod foot on dry ground and his shod foot in the creek.

The subsequent extended hilarity gave Ralph time to think. When it was quiet enough for him to be heard, he claimed he soaked his expensive footwear on purpose strictly for shoddy laughs. Sure.

If youthful Adam Fitz had been smart enough to laugh at my stupidity, I also would have told him some weak lie. Not that my newest grandchild isn't pretty smart. For instance, he's already bulimic, and a youngster is usually into his or her teens before figuring out this method of pigging out without becoming fat.

Whenever he's awake, Adam Fitz is sucking formula or cereal through a large nipple. He pauses only long enough to spit up, thus cleverly avoiding obesity. I find it astonishing that he is already sophisticated enough to worry about being too fat to get a date for the prom.

There is a clear connection between Adam Fitz's eating habits and the stupid thing I did: I was feeding him his bottle in the usual manner. He was on my lap, with his head in the crook of my left arm; the bottle was in my right hand, and there was a diaper draped over my right shoulder. Except it wasn't actually a diaper.

When my middle-age children were babies, it would have been a diaper. That was when diapers were made of cloth and, after use, were washed. Today, diapers are made of bulky paper or something similar and, after use, are dumped in a waste basket near where I shave. Cloth diapers were perfect for feeding an infant, but paper diapers just don't make it. So it is more correct to say I shoulder an ordinary cloth, also good for shining shoes, or feeding Adam Fitz.

You have undoubtedly figured out what I did that was so stupid, but I'm going to finish this story anyway. That was my attitude the first time I told it, at the dinner table during the Michigan Press Association convention at the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel in Grand Rapids last month. I was reminded of modern diapers by the modern meat on my plate. Because of the generic boneless cut, there was no way to tell what it was before eating it, so I asked the waitress.

"Sun Valley Pork," she said. I said I could visualize the movie ad: "Tyronne Power and Sonja Henie starring in 'Sun Valley Pork.' Did the pig ice skate? The waitress looked like she wanted to call the cops.

Anyway, as I thoughtfully told my dinner companions, the modern cloth on my shoulder was for the old-fashioned reason: To absorb the spit-up when I burped the baby after feeding him. But the cloth was on my right shoulder and I burped Adam Fitz against my left shoulder, soiling my favorite lounging shirt.

Also, speaking of modern changes, it is no longer common to use baby powder while changing diapers. Which is just as well; I'd probably powder between the wrong cheeks.

Letters to the Editor

Uneven coverage

As I read this week's Clarkston News I was deeply disturbed with the uneven coverage of the pro and con letters to the Editor on the school bond issue.

The school bond issue is of great concern to the citizens in this community.

Even though Tracy King wrote a very uninformed pro editorial this could be excusable.

However, when you print 10 letters for the bond issue and four against, this is not professional journalism.

When you received about even pro and con you should have given the community which you serve a fair shake.

Of the 10 letters for the issue, five can be identified as directly connected to school related personnel, I.E. teachers, school board members and the really cute letter from the third grade student.

If the school personnel had stated some hard facts you might have justified their letters.

C. L. Weber

Need realistic school proposal

First, a thank you for printing my letter in last week's paper for the start of the Red Ribbon Committee.

I thought folks would be curious as to the results of the phone calls I received. One underlining theme was that voters didn't mind solving overcrowding conditions and modernization through remodeling and the adding-on to existing schools.

They opposed the building of a new high school and elementary, and no one favored involvement with the county and OCC. They opposed the density, residential impact and burden on roads.

The people concluded that the school board could be more fiscally responsible. Some thought the school administration was deceitful and intimidating.

We not only need a more realistic proposal to present to the voters, but we need to root out these individuals who hold such power over others.

People see tax increases as never-ending and don't see improvements, even though the tax base is broadening.

The Red Ribbon Committee,
E.F., et al

Don't accept NC-17 ads

Thank you for a hometown newspaper that reports and supports family values.

I'm sure you're aware that the Motion Picture Association of America recently did away with the "X" rating for hardcore pornographic movies. They changed the "X" to an NC-17 rating.

These films are still X-rated films, but by removing the stigma of the X rating, Hollywood is hoping that our local theaters and video stores will begin to look and rent pornographic movies.

One large video rental chain in America has already been duped. In the past they refused to stock or rent X-rated videos because they wanted to be identified as the "Family" video store. Immediately after the NC-17 rating replaced the X rating, they announced they would begin to stock and rent NC-17 movies!

My hope is that The Clarkston News will not be fooled and that you will make it a policy not to accept advertising for any NC-17 rated movies.

Our Clarkston area families are important enough for each one of us to do our part in protecting this God-given living institution.

Micki Harding

News from desert

My husband, Tom Bills, has been in the Middle East since the beginning of October. In the first month that he was gone, he wrote, telling how much he enjoyed reading The Clarkston News that wonderful neighbors had been sending him each week.

He commented that he had never had the luxury of reading the paper, and he was enjoying it cover to cover — including the weekly crime log.

I would like to share a portion of two letters Tom sent to Bailey Lake Elementary, after receiving surprise packages from the parents and children. Many of the schools in Clarkston and members and youth from the Clarkston United Methodist Church have also sent some wonderful things.

* "It's Thanksgiving and this morning I got your beautiful package. Having it arrive on Thanksgiving was perfect timing, and you can't imagine how much I appreciated getting it. Not only was it filled with wonderful things, but the thoughtfulness and caring it demonstrated are something I will always remember ..."

* "Awestruck is a good word to describe me, as the two additional boxes you sent me arrived. I was very touched by your thoughtfulness when I got the first box, but when the other two arrived, I couldn't believe the magnitude of what you had done. My deepest thanks to you ..."

I would also like to share a more recent excerpt of an article Tom wrote for the magazine published by his company, Cadillac Products. It helps express our gratitude for the heart-warming response we have received during this difficult time from the very best support group — the Clarkston community.

* "One extremely gratifying aspect of this deployment has been the outstanding support from back home; both general support as a member of the U.S. military and specific support of my family and me from the U.S. citizenry, our community of Clarkston and Cadillac Products.

"I was involved in the tail-end of the Vietnam War, and the contrast in support from the American people between then and now is incredible. Through the 'any serviceman' letter-writing program, the support is abundantly evident. In fact, there is so much 'any serviceman' mail that there is no way everyone who sent something will get a response. It's a shame, since a lot of folks will never know that they helped send an important message to us all. I hope that the support from the American people continues as events unfold."

During a time when our nation is faced with making many critical decisions that will affect all of our futures for generations to come, the people of Clarkston also have some important decisions to make.

I am confident, as I pass through town and see flags and ribbons displayed in every direction, that as we continue to work together and support one another we will make the right decisions and be able to secure a bright future.

Many thanks to to wonderful people of Clarkston.
Pam Bills

Still hostages in Lebanon

Americans are showing well-deserved support for our troops overseas by tying yellow ribbons on their cars, trees and houses.

Let us not forget, however, about our American hostages in Lebanon, who have been help prisoner for five long years. In all of the publicity on the war with Iraq, our attention has been focused on the soldiers fighting the war and on the cruel, inhumane treatment of our POWs; but these prisoners in Lebanon are Americans, too, and it's time that we start remembering them.

So the next time you see one of our symbolic ribbons, remember our five heroes in Lebanon.

Dan Martin

Oil pick-up dates available

Thank you for your strong support of "keep the oil out," the used oil pick-up project of the Independence Township Groundwater Leadership Team. Because of the substantial threat to our community's drinking water, it is critical that as much used oil as possible be recycled.

Any other type of disposal, of even small amounts of used oil, pollutes the ground water we all rely on for household use. Our water supply is just as vulnerable to oil pollution, but we can do something — we can recycle.

Our pick-up program is intended to make recycling easier. If your readers want to have their used oil picked up and recycled, they can call us at 625-1800. We will be scheduling oil pick-up appointments between 1 and 3 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 16, and on Saturday, Feb. 23.

Campaign help is appreciated

We'd like to thank the many volunteers and supporters who worked to promote the cause of good schools for children.

Countless volunteer hours, sleepless nights, extra efforts, public criticism and the anxiety of waiting are all part of the burden we share when we choose to work for the passage of bond and millage elections.

Thanks for caring and for showing why the word "Kids" belongs in the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee.

Action needed

The Red Ribbon Committee would like to take this opportunity to thank those citizens who supported the committee and the defeat of this bond issue.

Now is the time for all the citizens of this community to expect the school board to call for the formation of a committee from the community who will be independent of the school administration and special interest groups, to come forth with a reasonable bonding issue.

Those of us who formed this informal group are not against the enhancement of the school facilities or paying additional taxes to reasonably upgrade these facilities.

The Clarkston (Mich.) News Wed., Feb. 13, 1991 11

We do believe the improvements should be made for the needs of the students and not the wants of the administration.

We also feel that the mandate has been made for the school board to take control of this issue and to do whatever is necessary to maintain that control.

The citizens, the majority of whom have spoken, must now also take control.

In the next school board election, take careful note as to who is watching out for your interest and vote accordingly.

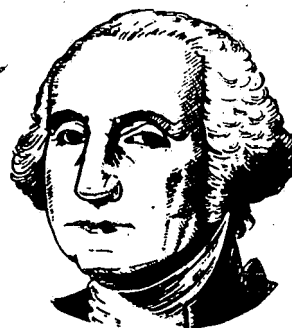

Perhaps some of you will find it in your best interest to become candidates at the time of the next election.

International performer shares tales of travels

BY KRISTIN WHISNER

In my previous letter I gave you a lot of factual information about what we do in Up With People. Now I'd like to share with you a more personal view.

The following is a rewritten excerpt from my journal during the month of November 1990.

Due to our hectic schedule I was exhausted and, for the first time, was not looking forward to meeting a new host family.

I had temporarily lost sight of why I was really there. But, as I hope you'll see, people somehow have a way of setting you back on track.

Note: Kristin's cast has been in Norway since Jan. 7. They are now in Denmark and are scheduled to perform throughout Germany through March 23 and then in the Netherlands until May 4.

Looking at my reflection in the window, I tried to do something with my bushead. ("Bushead" is a word we use in Up With People to refer to the state of your hair and face after a 16-hour bus trip.)

Inwardly I groaned, hoping that my host family in the next city wouldn't have any plans for us, so I could escape to bed.

We were on our way to Hazelton, Penn. It was late, and I was tired.

The buses pulled up to the auditorium and, after unloading the suitcases, I rushed in to find my allocation sheet.

Glancing down, I read ... two cats, one dog, no kids.

Then, there was Patrick: 6 years old and creator of the paper dinosaur.

I read further.

What's my host code? Dinosaur. Great! Now I just needed to find my roommate, Erica, from Mexico, so we could start our hunt for the right host family.

We pushed our way through the crowd of families, looking for anything or anybody resembling a dinosaur.

Then I saw it — a piece of construction paper with four legs, waving at the end of the arm of a beaming 6-year-old!

I double-checked my sheet — there were no children written down — but it said "dinosaur" boldly in red marker.

I surveyed the scene. There was not just one kid, but three — surrounded by two parents and five other people (who I found out later were neighbors). I counted again. Nine very excited people.

"Erica, does your sheet say 'dinosaur' too?" I ask, as my dream of a quiet evening began to fade. "Yeah!" she says. "There they are!"

The next 15 minutes were a whirlwind as we kissed and hugged every family member and their neighbors, found our suitcases and piled into the van.

On the way home, I drifted off into my thoughts, giving an occasional smile or "uh-huh" to the chatter in the car.

Mrs. Dolon, my host mom, brought me back to reality.

"I hope you don't mind if we stop and pick up a few more people," she said. "We're having a party for you girls tonight! Everyone is so excited to hear about you!"

Party! My inner alarm went off. What day is it? I got out my calendar, murmuring that the party sounded great.

It's Friday, the day that most normal people — who don't have to get up at 6 a.m. the next day — go to parties.

By the time we got home, I had resigned myself to the fact that I would not be getting the sleep I so desperately needed.

(Right now you may be thinking that I am not a whole lot of fun. But, at this point, I had been with less than five hours of sleep per night for the past two weeks! I had transcended into a new state of being.)

Nevertheless, I fixed my hair, put on my best smile and went downstairs to make the best of things.

No sooner had I filled my plate, than I met Kelly: 9-year-old Kelly, spunky, charming, sweet and severely hearing impaired.

She promptly informed me that she wanted to learn a song called "God's Skin," which we do in sign language in our show. We lost no time and went upstairs so we could work on it.

Later, we came down and showed her family and her guests. Kelly was on stage with us the next night and did a super job!

Then, there was Patrick: 6 years old and creator of the paper dinosaur.

He whirled around and around the house, occasionally slowing down to show me his latest Lego creation.

At 13, Shannon was the oldest, and we talked for an hour about cheerleading and boys, and then boys some more.

Mrs. Dolon was a home manager and very artistic.

The next 15 minutes were a whirlwind as we kissed and hugged every family member and their neighbors, found our suitcases and piled into the van.

She showed me her latest projects and gave me a few tips on my cross-stitch project.

Mr. Dolon was a businessman who played in an Irish band on the side!

Needless to say, I was soon engrossed in conversation with my hosts and their friends, and having a great time!

The best part of the night was still yet to come.

At the encouragement of their fans, Mr. Dolon and his band brought out their instruments and began to play. Little by little we all joined in, clapping and singing while more daring people ventured onto center stage to act out the lyrics.

I couldn't have been more content. I was sitting by the fire, surrounded by wonderful people, with Kelly asleep in my lap.

I looked at my watch: 1:02 a.m!

I guess I was going to put off my sleep yet another night. But it was worth it.

Like we say in UP WITH PEOPLE — we'll sleep next year.

Vandals take to greens early

With warming temperatures, some vandals decided to hit the greens early last week.

On Monday, Feb. 4, employees at the Pine Knob Golf Course on Royal St. George, Independence Township, discovered severe damage to six greens. Police estimate that the damage occurred around 1:30 a.m. that day.

According to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, investigators surmised that the guilty vehicle was of the four-wheel drive variety. The report said that the unidentified vehicle did several "wheelies" on the greens, skinning them of their turf.

There are currently no leads to the identity of the vandals. Golf course officials figure it will cost about $100 a hole to repair the damage.

Board offers support to troops, president

With war in the Middle East, the Independence Township Board approved a resolution of support for U.S. troops and President George Bush.

On Feb. 5, the board unanimously drafted a resolution of support for those stationed overseas and their loved ones back home. The resolution reads:

"We, the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence, on behalf of all our loyal citizens, some of whom are in the armed services, and who have sons and daughters in the armed services, want the President of the United States to know that we stand with him and the United Nations in confronting an aggressor in the Middle East."

Trustee Jean Saile, who suggested the idea of a resolution, said she was pleased that most of the country was rallying to the support of our service men and women.

"I feel very gratified that the public is taking the stance of backing our military," she said. "When this first came about in August, I remember seeing a lot of anti-war protesters and my thoughts went back to Vietnam."

"Joan (McCrary) and I felt a resolution of support was the least we could do for our troops and families," she added.

In addition to the resolution, the trustees agreed to dedicate a moment of silence to the troops after reciting the pledge of allegiance at each board meeting.

Joint effort means lots of stationery for troops

Desert Storm Connection

BY BETTY WAGNER
Clarkston News Special Writer

Some support war.
Some support peace.
But all the business owners in the Impressive Type Building, Waterford Township, support our troops in the Gulf. And together, they have proved it.

Heidi Margetson, co-owner of Take Note with Heidi Graphics, Inc., heard about the U.S. troops' need for stationery.

Heidi, of Tamarack, Independence Township, presented several designs for notes and stationery to her colleagues in the Impressive Type Building.

Clarkston-area residents who helped choose the design were office manager Chris Johnson of Flemings Lake Road and Dawn Funk of Fir Street, Independence Township, and Marc Cooper of Andersonville Road, Springfield Township.

Within a week, the owners of the separate businesses, who often work together, were ready to pack and send the supplies to Michigan troops.

"The people who worked together on the project have different views on the war and whether we (U.S. troops) should be there," said Heidi. "But they all support

HEIDI Margetson, Marc Cooper, Chris Johnson, Buck Clements and Dawn Funk prepare to pack 30,000 envelopes and stationery and 1,000 pencils to send to Michigan troops stationed in the Persian Gulf.

the troops. I'm just glad everybody got together and did this."

Since ink in ballpoint pens dries up in the desert, Buck Clements, a veteran of Vietnam, contacted his client, Gold Bond of Tennessee, who agreed to provide and imprint 1,000 sand-colored pencils.

The pencils are stamped with: "We're with you" and the names of the donors.

A banner is packed in the box with the paper and pencils as a patriotic gesture. Dawn Funk, using a new paper printing system, designed the banner. With an American flag at one end and an eagle at the other, the banner reads "These colors never run."

Many of the project workers have family and friends in the Gulf, which may have added to their receptiveness to Heidi's proposal.

Dawn, a 1976 Clarkston High School graduate, said, "I have a brother who's getting ready to go. Two neighbor friends have gone. I know two people personally from church."

Heidi, a 1985 CHS graduate, has a friend in the reserves who may be going soon.

But, she said, "maybe I did this because my dad was in Vietnam when I was born. It's real hard for me — I can't support a war, I don't believe in war, but I support the troops."

Buck, a former Air Force military policeman, knows a marine who is in the Gulf.

"It makes you feel good to be able to do something to support the guys," said Buck. "Being a Vietnam veteran, we didn't receive that kind of attention. When we came home we wanted to deny we'd been there."

Four contribute to troop support

Four businesses in the Impressive Type Building at 5734 Williams Lake Road, Waterford Township, pooled their talents and resources to send stationery, envelopes and pencils to Gulf troops from Michigan.

Take Note with Heidi Graphics, Inc., owned by Sue Williams and Heidi Margetson contributed graphic design and mailing.

Impressive Promotions owned by Marc Cooper and Buck Clements arranged for Gold Bond to donate and imprint pencils.

Sign-It, owned by Marc Cooper and Zane Johnson, contributed the banner that Dawn Funk designed. Impressive Type, Inc., owned by Marc Cooper contributed printing and press time.

P and G Graphics and Chope Union of Auburn Hills, a supplier of Impressive Type, Inc., donated the paper and envelopes.

To purchase stationery to write to the troops, contact Sue Williams at 673-7270. A set of 50-count stationery sells for $6.

All proceeds will benefit Family Assistance Center, 1500 W. Eight Mile Road, Detroit, which provided the names of the two Michigan troops.

Recipients of the stationery are: Commanding Officer, 210th M Police Battalion, Operation Desert Shield, New York APO 09616-0006 and Commanding Officer, 207th Evacuation Hospital, Operation Desert Shield, New York APO 09616-0006.

Children of soldiers receive support

A Pontiac-based organization has started a weekly support group for children of U.S. service men and women stationed in the Middle East.

"Kid's Company" meets Saturdays, 11 a.m. to noon, at the Boys and Girls Club of Auburn Hills, 220 S. Squirrel Road.

Another branch gathers at the Central United Methodist Church at 3882 Highland Road from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

There is no charge for any of the sessions. The program is sponsored by Families in Transition, a non-profit organization and counseling agency providing services for children and families experiencing separation, divorce or other transitional life changes.

Environmental group begins oil recycling program

Doug
Carlson

For more than a year now, a small band of dedicated Independence Township residents have been working on ways to help clean up and protect our environment.

The project was initiated by the Eastern Michigan Environmental Action Council (EMEAC) in conjunction with township officials.

Similar groups are functioning in other areas of the state as well.

The Independence Township group's first project was a forum on environmental concerns and was open to the public.

The next project, which kicks off Saturday, Feb. 16, involves a free oil pick-up service for the benefit of local residents.

On that date, and again on Saturday, Feb. 23, group members will come to your house and pick up any used oil you've been trying to get rid of.

Simply stated, the group doesn't want to see used oil poured into the ground because it eventually seeps into our ground water which, of course, is the source of our drinking water.

In studying this problem, the group learned that one quart of oil can contaminate 250,000 gallons of water.

We also discovered that more oil is dumped each year in the state of Michigan than the EXXON tanker, Valdez, spilled in the waters of Alaska, a total estimated at 11 million gallons.

At any rate, if you have some used oil you'd like to get rid of, give us a call at 625-1800.

There is no charge for this service. All we ask is that the oil be in clean, sealed containers.

Plastic milk jugs and laundry detergent bottles are perfect for this purpose.

Compared to the disaster in the Persian Gulf, and the Exxon Valdez spill in Alaska, our efforts would seem to be insignificant.

Well, we can't do anything about those areas, but we can do something about Independence Township.

With your cooperation, we can protect our drinking water, our health and our future.

While on the subject of the environment, there was an interesting editorial in last Sunday's paper entitled "Sprawl."

The article focused on the need for regional planning in order to cope with the population resettlement patterns that will occur in the years ahead.

The article was written as a result of figures released by the U.S. Census Bureau and a report issued by SEMCOG (Southeast Michigan Council of Governments).

The problem, as SEMCOG sees it, is that the population of Metro Detroit will increase by six percent by 2010, but 40 percent more land will be used to accommodate that growth.

Higher taxes will be needed in growing communities to pay for such things as water and sewer lines, essentially duplicating facilities already available in older urban areas.

In addition, landfill space will grow ever more scarce and costly, and suburban sprawl will threaten wildlife, wetlands and woodlands.

Toxic waste cleanup and combined sewer overflows will become more acute and expensive, causing other ecological dilemmas as well.

The article concluded by stating: "But local leaders have a choice: They can resolve now to work together to manage growth, development and demographic change — or permit southeast Michigan to be overwhelmed by them."

Doug Carlson is chairman of Citizens for Orderly Growth.

Free video production workshop offered

If you're a video camera buff or if you've got an idea for a local cable-TV show, you may want to sign up for a free workshop.

Beginning March 21, a video production workshop will be offered 7-9 p.m. Thursdays at the United Cable Public Access Studio on Waldon Road, Independence Township. The studio is next to Clarkston Junior High School. To sign up for the workshop, call 625-7069.

Public Access Director Joel Burnell said the six-week workshop is mandatory for anyone who would like to volunteer in the studio.

Plus, it's a great opportunity for people who want to learn the skills for their own purposes, he said.

The workshop covers basic and advanced camera operations in the professional studio and on location. Plus, participants will learn every studio production crew position: audio, lighting, directing, graphics and more.

Since the public access studio will be expanding its broadcasting times to include Saturdays, more volunteers will be needed, said Burnell.

The workshop is the first step in producing your own show or helping others with their shows, he said.

Board likes the look of office service districts

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two new zoning districts are one approval away from being adopted by the Independence Township Board. On Feb. 6, the board voted 6-0 twice to approve the first readings of the office service one (OS1) and office

Rezoning hearing on 50-acre Maybee parcel

A 50-acre parcel near Maybee Road will be considered for rezoning by the Independence Township Planning Commission.

On March 7, the planning commission plans to hold a public hearing to gauge the community's concerns.

The property is northeast of I-75, where Maybee Roads runs east and west and curves to the north. The petitioner, M/W Properties, is requesting that the land be rezoned from rural residential to single-family residential.

The public hearing is set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 7, in the township annex, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston. For more information, call the township planning office at 625-8111.

service two (OS2) districts. Trustee Bruce Mercado absent.

Both districts would apply primarily to office zoning developments and all businesses complementary to an office-business environment.

The OS1 district is intended for small sites with minimum road frontage and lot depth, which may be located between residential areas and commercial areas or thoroughfares. The most prevalent area for this type of district would be along the M-15 corridor.

The OS2 is intended for sites larger than the OS1. The district adheres to areas where there may not be a need to provide for a compatible transition between commercial and residential areas or between thoroughfares and residential areas. This district will most likely be located along the Sashabaw corridor.

The permitted principal uses under both districts were chosen for their low-traffic generating characteristics.

The uses they have in common include: office buildings, medical and dental offices, veterinary offices and hospitals, banks and credit unions, public utility offices, training and educational centers, photographic studios, retail office supply stores, florist shops, business service establishments and personal service establishments like beauty parlors, shoe repair and tailor shops.

The OS2 district has a few more added uses such as laundry and dry cleaning outlets, private service clubs, pharmacies and computer centers.

The OS2 has also set aside a few special land use provisions. Establishments allowed under these provisions include sit down restaurants, research and design centers, general or specialty hospitals and motels and hotels.

Clerk Joan McCrary welcomed the addition of these two districts.

"I think this (the districts) is a great idea because it provides a buffer between commercial and residential areas and gives prospective businesses an option besides commercial land," she said.

However, a commercial land owner, Michael Stonerock, didn't like the idea of the additional districts.

"This isn't a compromise for the residents," he said. "There are many people along M-15 and Sashabaw who bought their properties for its commercial value and this is going to hurt the value of their land."

The second reading for both districts is planned for the board's Feb. 19 meeting.

WATERFORD Mott cannot stop Clarkston's Sean Halleran from scoring. Halleran scored four points in last Friday's Wolf win.

Wolves back to normal after slow-down scare

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dugan Fife and Derek Wiley combined for 49 points to pace Clarkston to a 72-51 victory over Waterford Mott Friday.

Fife scored 32 points, including four 3-pointers, and Wiley totaled 17, with three long-range bombs.

The win upped the Wolves' overall record to 14-0 and their Greater Oakland Activities League mark to 7-0.

Clarkston coach Dan Fife was worried before the Mott game because the Wolves had played sluggishly three days earlier in a 34-31 win over Flint Northern.

"Tuesday's win was almost a loss for us," said coach Fife. "After the game, I gave my team as bad of a tongue lashing as I've given all season."

Wiley said some of the tongue lashing also happened during the game.

"Coach was up screaming," said Wiley.

Clarkston is rated No. 5 in the state by the Associated Press. The high ranking means higher expectations.

"I told them 'you're the ones that dangled the carrot in front of my nose,'" said coach Fife, who has a 155-44 (.779) career record at Clarkston.

Clarkston fell behind the Corsairs, 9-3, early in the opening quarter. But the Wolves then scored 10 unanswered points, taking a 13-11 lead after eight minutes.

Dugan Fife helped put some distance between the Wolves and Corsairs in the second quarter. Within 60 ticks on the clock, the 6-foot, 3-inch junior guard sank two free throws and two 3-pointers to put his squad up 31-23.

Senior Mark Galbraith then put in a short jumper at the buzzer to give Clarkston a 33-25 lead at the half.

The Wolves, with some hot shooting and their typical tenacious defense, increased their advantage to 52-36 after a 19-11 third quarter spurt. Then they cruised to a 15-13 fourth quarter.

In addition to Dugan Fife and Wiley, Galbraith scored 13, Luke Fedio and Sean Halleran each netted four and Chris Wasilk added two.

Bill Seet scored 21 for the Corsairs and Tom Bradley added 10.

The Wolves were red hot at the free throw line, sinking 17 of 21 (81 percent) while Mott sank six of 11 (55 percent).

Clarkston 34, Flint Northern 31 (Feb. 5 at Clarkston)

Flint Northern's slow-down offense almost worked, but Clarkston hung on for a 34-31 win.

Clarkston prepared for a slow-down game in practice, but it still seemed like a mystery to the Wolves when they took to the court against Northern.

Clarkston coach Dan Fife said it was the first time an opponent had applied the stalling tactics to his team in the eight years he has been coaching.

Northern scored only nine points in the first quarter, but it was enough to take a 9-5 lead.

But Clarkston outscored the visitors 10-2 in the second quarter and 13-10 in the third to take a 28-21 advantage into the last period.

Clarkston led throughout the final eight minutes but it wasn't over until a long 3-point shot missed its mark as time ran out.

Dugan Fife, who has been averaging nearly the team's entire point total against Northern, led all scorers with 12 points. Galbraith scored eight, Jon Wyniemo had six, Chris Wasilk four, and Sean Halleran and Wiley each had two.

Naje McCune was the only Northern player in double figures, scoring 10.

Girls ski to second straight divisional title

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston girls earned five medals in the Feb. 7 divisional to help clinch their second straight Pine Knob Division ski championship.

The Wolves finished second out of 10 teams in the slalom and first in the giant slalom at the Pine Knob Ski Resort. This, combined with Clarkston's 8-1 regular-season record, gave the Wolves the overall championship.

Coach Judy Roeser was happy with the way her girls skied.

The meet took place in 50-degree weather, making the slopes sloppy.

"The conditions were incredible, terrible," said coach Roeser.

Roeser also said some of her Wolves complained about a "confusing gate," a gate which made it difficult for the skiers to decide whether to go right or left.

But the weather, a gate and the nine other teams couldn't stop the Wolves from keeping their title.

Senior Carrie Roeser picked up two medals by placing second in both the slalom (finishing two runs in 48.07 seconds) and the giant slalom (two runs in 51.67). The top 10 racers in each event received medals.

Cranbrook Kingswood's Amanda Norcross took first in the slalom (46.10) and the giant slalom (51.46). The giant slalom race was especially close, with Norcross edging Roeser by a mere 21 hundredths of a second.

Kim Carpentier had a solid day on the slopes, placing sixth in the giant slalom (53.09) and ninth in the slalom (50.61).

Sandra Linberg took seventh in the slalom (50.54).

Other Clarkston skiers and their places in the slalom were: Andrea Raymond, 20th (53.90); Missy Crites, 22nd (54.88); and Becky Rumph 25th (55.43).

Other Wolves and their places in the giant slalom were: Raymond, 11th (53.81); Linberg, 18th (55.36); Crites, 25th (56.78); and Courtney Whittaker, 46th (62.64).

Swinging from the heels

Zoo-logically speaking

James
Gibowski

Someone told me
It's all happening at the zoo.
I do believe it,
I do believe it's true.

from Paul Simon's "At the Zoo"

Wolves are revered at the Clarkston High School gym, which these days is also known as The Zoo.

But The Zoo isn't a friendly place for other creatures, like Huskies, Dragons, Rams and Blackhaws.

The noise generated by the Clarkston student section makes the Wolf gym one of the toughest places to play. And this noise, coupled with fielding the state's No. 5 rated basketball team, has made the Wolves untouchable so far this season.

"You can't have much of a cheering section without a good team," said Adam Kirk, who with fellow juniors Mark White and Eric Venegoni are the creators of The Zoo.

The three think of themselves as continuing the noisy tradition of cheering for the Wolves while trying to get opponents rattled.

Some of the crowds in the past were known to get a little too rowdy, so The Zoo trio made sure they first talked things over with the zookeepers, Principal Bob Burek and Assistant Principal Brent Cooley.

"One of our goals is to keep it positive," said Venegoni.

Positive and noisy.

One of the ways they manufacture that noise is by rattling plastic jugs filled with pennies. The animals in the zoo also cheer along with the varsity cheerleaders and create some of their own original cheers.

"...Is that not the scoreboard clock?
Yes, that is the scoreboard clock ...

... Is that not the winning team?
Yes, that is the winning team ...

Diehard members of The Zoo usually wear clothes as noisy as their voices. One game they might wear a sombrero; another day they wear towels on their heads, and still another they wear hockey masks.

Megaphones, "Balls" (a stuffed basketball head with legs), a pulley that transports Balls who rides on a stuffed giant crayon (The Zoo's version of a Scud), and eye charts for referees are some of the spirited objects used at games.

Sometimes "DD" armbands are worn. "DD" stands for Dugan's Disciples. Dugan Fife, a Clarkston guard who is averaging nearly 30 points a game, is also recognized by The Zoo in another way. A huge scorecard is taped on the wall, with Zoo followers keeping track of Fife's points by marking them down, basket after basket.

Posters bearing "Lethal Weapon III" (which depicts Fife, Derek Wiley and Chris Wasilk) and others are also in view.

Clarkston players aren't the only ones getting attention from The Zoo. Opposing players are sometimes singled out.

In a one-sided game with the Wolves ahead of Waterford Kettering 19-0 at the start, The Zoo began to cheer for the lowly Captains. After the game was over, the losing Kettering team gave The Zoo a standing ovation for their spirit.

Who is allowed to sit in The Zoo?

"No membership required," said White.

"You don't have to have a gold card," said Kirk.

Venegoni said high school students, alumni in college and even junior high students are welcomed with open arms. However, he points out, "We shun adults. The parents just don't have it."

But Venegoni said there is one way parents could possibly sit in The Zoo section ... if they are willing to be hit in the head with flying "Balls" on his Scud, not be upset by a noisy megaphone or could care less if a few pounds of confetti land on them.

Rumor has it that some parents were even voicing The Zoo's cheer of "Who let the Wolves out?" at a local restaurant after Clarkston edged Pontiac Northern in a thriller a few weeks ago.

MARK White, Adam Kirk and Eric Venegoni started The Zoo this season during Clarkston basketball games and plan to help continue it next season.

Sometimes gyms at other area high schools get a taste of The Zoo when it goes on the Zoo World Tour.

In addition to White, Venegoni and Kirk, the true blue members of that "Mobile Zoo" squad usually consists of Chad Hetherington, Brian Hambell, Melissa Barnett, Jason Head, Dan Griffiths and Dave Hernandez. They are joined by others, including the JV cheerleaders and JV basketball team.

Visiting gyms sometimes do not appreciate the Mobile Zoo. When the Clarkston students went to a game at Detroit Catholic Central, the plastic jugs with pennies were not allowed in the gym (some confetti, however, was smuggled inside).

But The Mobile Zoo later got revenge. Near the end of a tight game, with both cheering sections trying to outdo each other, The Mobile Zoo finally quieted the all-boys' school cheering section by yelling,

"We've got girls,

yes we do.

We've got girls,

how 'bout you?"

The Zoo recently received some formal recognition when Clarkston Athletic Director Paul Tungate mentioned them at an all-school pep assembly. The school's electronic message board has also displayed information about where and when The Zoo members will meet before leaving for an away game.

The players are also aware of The Zoo. One of them, Derek Wiley, appreciated the fact that his name was on a poster, especially since Wiley had just transferred to Clarkston this year.

Coach Dan Fife likes the spirit of the group.

"They're entertaining. Our players enjoy it. It fits right in with the great support we get from Clarkston," said Fife. "Also, when we go to play in the tough gyms, they help us."

The Zoo, which is gearing up for the end of the regular season and then March Madness, won't stop after this basketball season. Plans already are being made to make next year as noisy as ever.

This Zoo is not on any endangered species list.

Boys 3rd at divisionals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Brian Zoss and Bryson Menke each earned a pair of medals in divisional ski racing Feb. 7.

With the Wolves' third-place finish in the divisionals, coupled with a second-place finish during the regular season (8-1 in dual meets), Clarkston finished third overall in the 10-team Pine Knob Division.

The conditions at the divisional were miserable for the skiers, with temperatures in the 50s, causing slushy snow.

Clarkston, along with first-place Rochester Adams and second-place Lahser, now advance to the Southeastern Michigan Ski League finals Feb. 20.

Zoss, a senior, placed second in the giant slalom (two combined runs in 47.53 seconds) and third in the slalom (two combined runs of 41.41).

Menke took third in the giant slalom (48.37) and eighth in the slalom (42.50).

Lahser's Kyle Greene finished first in the slalom (40.19) and Andover's Mike Lovell took first in the giant slalom (47.11).

The top 10 racers in each event earned medals.

Other Wolves and their finishes in the slalom were: Mike Miller, 15th (43.94); Justin Whittaker, 26th (45.51); Mike Kozlowski, 48th (70.28) and Dave Studt, 49th (73.06). Overall, Clarkston placed third in the slalom.

Other Wolves and their finishes in the giant slalom were: Whittaker, 19th (49.74); Studt, 26th (50.96); Miller, 41st (52.53); Todd Conklin, 48th (53.33).

"I was really pleased," said Clarkston coach Judy Roeser. "There was a good deal of competition among the boys' teams."

Wrestlers surprise Dragons early in districts

8 Wolves advance to individual regionals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston varsity wrestlers eliminated defending state champion Lake Orion, 45-14, en route to a district team championship.

Three days later, eight Wolves qualified for the individual regional by placing in the individual district.

Clarkston 45, Lake Orion 14
(Feb. 6, Class A district semifinals at Linden)

Clarkston, which has usually come from behind by winning its heavier weight matches, started strong early against Lake Orion.

"We kind of shocked them," said Clarkston coach Scott Strickler, whose team advanced to the regionals at Lake Orion June 12 (results were unavailable at press time).

The opening 103-pound match wasn't shocking, with Clarkston's Jeff Deroseau pinning Rob Majcher at 1:25. The sophomore has only lost once all season.

However, the Dragons failed to live up to expectations in the next two matches.

When the two squads met earlier in the regular season (Clarkston edged the Dragons 35-26), Lake Orion pinned the Wolves in both the 112 and 119 matches for 12 points.

But at the district, Clarkston 112-pounder Pat Forbes lost but won a moral victory by losing on a 7-2 decision against Dragon Mark Steffans. This was followed by Clarkston pounder Terry Melvin's 6-4 upset win over Tony Lankford.

"That took the wind out of them," said Strickler. "If we can start like that with any team, it's about over after that." Clarkston continued on a roll, winning the next three matches. Jerry Anderson (125), who has lost only once all season, stopped Jason Thorpe in a major decision, 16-2. Jason Roughton (130), who has been getting stronger as the season progresses, pinned Keith Bowers at 4:39. Mike Stanton (135) edged John Sutton, 4-2.

The Dragons fought back to win two of the next three. Dragon Matt Steffans (140) edged Alex Martin, 2-0, and teammate Jeff Wiscombe (152) pinned Steve Cohoon in 57 seconds. Clarkston's Frank Lafferty (145) stopped Lake Orion's Jason Griffen, 9-5.

The match between Clarkston's Brian Davis (160) and Brian Hunter ended in a 3-3 draw.

The Wolves then closed out the match with three pins. Damon Michelsen (171) pinned Ruben Delosrios at 1:45, Joel Davis (189) pinned Jim Frey at 3:14 and Joe Webb (hwt) pinned Rob Chaney at 1:10.

Strickler was happy about stopping the Dragons, again.

"Beating them twice was quite a feat," said the coach. "It (the district win) reassured my feeling that the first time shouldn't have been that close."

Clarkston 66, Swartz Creek 3
(Feb. 6, Class A finals at Linden)

The Wolves only lost one match in their 66-3 blitz over Swartz Creek for the district championship.

Clarkston's Cohoon was the only Wolf to lose, getting edged 4-2.

Eight Wolves won on pins: Deroseau, Forbes, Melvin, Charlie Liggett, Jason Slater, Michelsen, Joel Davis and Tony Miller.

Martin won on a void, Stanton won on a 15-0 technical fall, Anderson won on a 13-0 major decision and Lafferty edged his opponent, 11-10.

Eight Clarkston wrestlers place
(Feb. 9 at the individual districts at Rochester Adams)

Deroseau, Anderson and Michelsen, Clarkston's terrific trio who have a combined 121-3-1 record (with 89 pins), took first places at the individual district meet.

The top four wrestlers who placed at the meet will next wrestle at Saturday's individual regional in Lake Orion.

Five other Wolves, Webb, Roughton, Martin, Slater and Joel Davis also qualified for those regionals.

"All have a good chance to make it to state," said coach Scott Strickler.

The Greater Oakland Activities League did well at the districts. In addition to Clarkston's eight, six placed from Lake Orion and five others from Waterford Kettering.

Deroseau defeated Pontiac Northern's Walter Hamilton, 5-5, in OT criteria in the 103 finals. Anderson (125) won his division by edging Holly's Andy Winohradsky, 4-3. Michelsen placed first after pinning Lake Orion's Jim Frye at 4:40.

All other Wolf wrestlers who placed finished third.

Webb (hwt) won by an injury default over Waterford Kettering's Frank Crane; Roughton (130) blanked Grand Blanc's Rob Root, 4-0; Martin (140) topped Rochester Adams' Kevin Smitko, 9-1; Slater (160) defeated Milford's Dave Strand, 5-2; Joel Davis edged Lapeer East's Andy Zeeman, 7-5.

JV learns volleyball is more than just technique

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The ball has been bouncing better lately for Clarkston's JV volleyball team. After beginning the year 0-5, the young Wolves have been improving. They have a 6-5-4 mark in their last 15 matches.

KAREN Taulbee goes on the attack against Lake Orion.

"I've really enjoyed working with them and watching them develop," said coach Dallas Thorn. "I'm proud of them, but they've got to continue to work hard."

The most obvious improvement has been in the team's attack percentage. In the first third of the season, the Wolves had a minus-.062 percentage. That meant it was hitting more balls into the nets, on the floor or out of bounds instead of over the net for winners.

But as of Feb. 10, the Wolves raised their attack percentage to 68 percent.

Thorn said the major improvement was due to the team getting their timing and approaches in sync.

"Setting also helped," said Thorn. The first phase of a good offense is good sets, which in turn results in good kills.

"Dawn Gawron is developing into a consistent setter," said Thorn. Gawron has also been strong at the service line, serving 90 percent.

Captain Rachel Seifferlein leads the team in kills (68) and attack percentage (79 percent).

The team as a whole has also improved in the crucial serve department. The first third of the season the Wolves were serving at 79 percent. Now they are serving at 83 percent.

Thorn said 5-foot, 8-inch Jenny Oliver has become an "all-around" player because she combines her height with good service return fundamentals (80 percent service reception).

Seifferlein leads the team with 19 blocks while teammate Karen Taulbee has 17.

Michelle Wade leads the Wolves in digs with 28, followed closely by Oliver and Brenda Bailey who each have 25.

Injuries and illnesses have hurt the Wolves, which have included broken bones, the chicken pox, pneumonia and bronchitis.

"We haven't practiced with our whole team of 12, except for maybe six times this season," said Thorn.

Thorn said her team has many good athletes, but their mental toughness was lacking, especially at the beginning of the season.

"My team is very athletic, but attitude is also important. Once they got down three or four points a game, they didn't know how to get out of it," said Thorn. That has slowly been changing, and with that change has come more wins.

Thorn said her squad does have a disadvantage against some teams who have strong junior high programs. Some schools start playing in the seventh grade, while Clarkston volleyball players don't begin playing until ninth grade. She said Clarkston players in ninth grade are just starting to learn technique while other teams are beyond that, learning strategy.

This is the first season Thorn has coached volleyball (she previously has coached softball and basketball). She credits much of her new-found knowledge from varsity coach Gordie Richardson and from the game itself, which puts unique pressure on coaches because of limited substitutions (3) and timeouts (2) and the big way momentum is a factor.

"I learned that you can't take any game for granted," said Thorn. "You've got to play every game like it's the last one. And if you don't play as a team, you might as well not show up."

The JV players are learning that lesson along with the coach.

WHICH OPINION IS RIGHT?

QUESTION: I think my home is worth $70,000, my neighbor says it's worth $85,000, but a prospect claimed it was not worth a cent more than $60,000. Who's opinion should I trust?

ANSWER: The value of your home is not what YOU think it should be, or your neighbor or even a casual prospect. It is determined chiefly by the location, the neighborhood and the current market. Nobody, but nobody, is more acutely aware of the current housing market than your local REALTOR. Put your faith in his hands and he'll recommend the best possible selling price.

Neither sleet nor snow stops Polar Rhinos from ride

While most people on New Year's Day were inside their warm houses watching football or breaking a one-day resolution, 24 cyclists took a bike ride around Clarkston.

Members of the Flying Rhino Cycling Club circled 15 miles around the Clarkston area in the second annual "Polar Rhino" ride. The first year, five cyclists took part.

Cyclists rode over snow-covered dirt roads with their mountain bikes.

They began at the Kinetic Systems

Bicycle Store in downtown Clarkston, then traveled down Main Street and continued to Washington, Holcomb, Bridge Lake Road, Gibbs Road, Kier Road, Ellis, Oak Hill, Allen and then back to Holcomb, Washington and Main.

The club's next ride, the "Back-40 Challenge," will be May 12, when the Polar Rhinos turn back into the warmer Flying Rhinos. The rides are open to the public. For more information, call (313) 625-7000.

JV again needs overtime to stop Waterford Mott

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Nick Shires scored eight of his 24 points in overtime to spark Clarkston's JV basketball team to a 50-44 win over visiting Waterford Mott Friday night.

"We held it to one overtime this time," said Clarkston coach Tim Kaul, whose team raised its record to 12-2 with the win. Earlier in the season the Wolves edged Mott in double overtime on the Corsair court.

The Wolves were hot from the free throw line when it counted, sinking six of seven in OT (the squad also hit 6-of-6 in the double overtime at Mott).

Clarkston led for most of the low-scoring game, leading 12-8 after the first quarter, 20-16 at the half and 30-24 after three quarters. But a fourth-quarter surge by Mott tied it at 38-38 in regulation.

"When we were ahead by six, we had a terrible time getting the ball in the basket," said Kaul.

Shires and Matt Underwood, however, were shooting well and the game plan in OT was to get it to either one of them.

Underwood finished the game with 17, Chris Combs had four, Scott Rooney and Jeremy Deloney each netted two and Eric Ryan added one.

Clarkston 65, Flint Northern 38
(Feb. 5 at Clarkston)

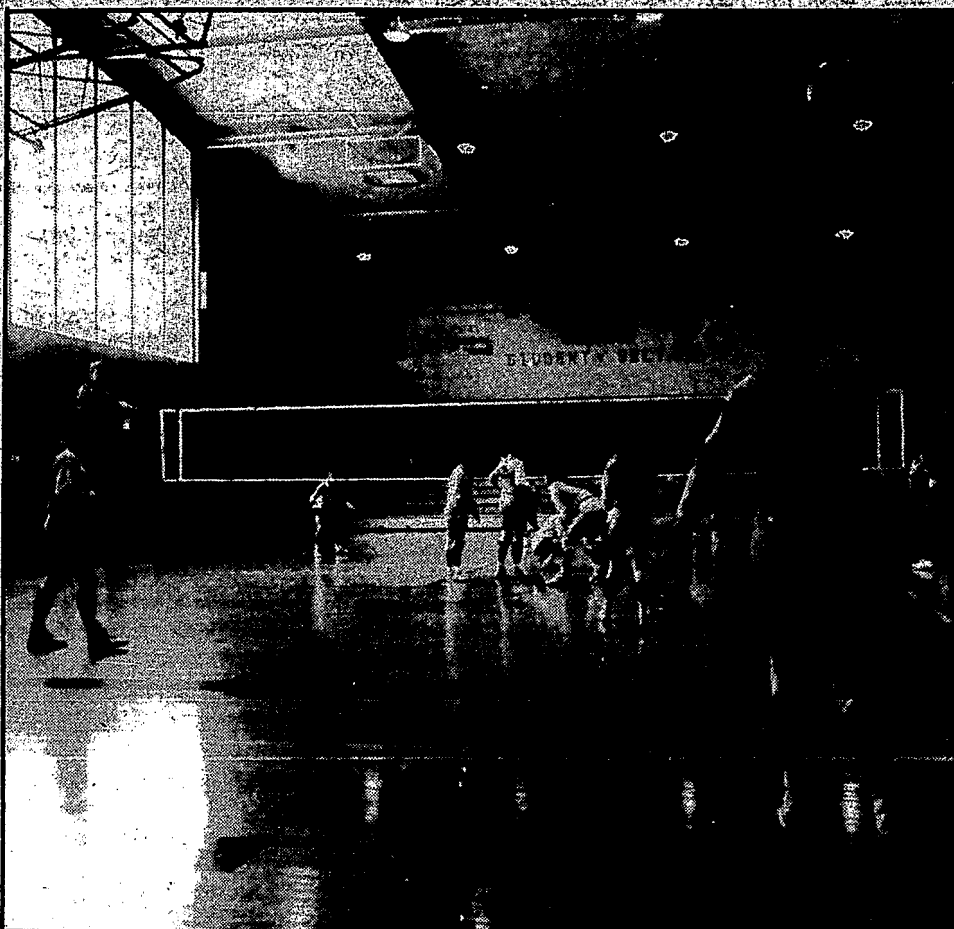

Clarkston's best half of the season paced the Wolves to a 65-38 romp over Flint Northern.

Clarkston jumped out to a 17-6 first quarter lead and then continued the splurge with a 38-10 bulge at the half.

"Our half-court defense was the best we've had all year," said coach Kaul.

The Wolves were also strong offensively, with three players reaching double figures. Underwood sank 19 points, Shires scored 16 and Scott Matusz netted 10.

Rooney scored six, Matt Smith had four, Combs and Ben Jackson each had three, and Dan Scheib and Jeremy Deloney both scored two.

Four place in AAU meet

Four Clarkston Wrestling Club grapplers placed in an AAU freestyle meet in Roseville.

Ten Clarkston area wrestlers competed at the meet at Lake Shores High School.

A.J. Grant and Joe DeGain each placed first. Grant won the 65-pound Junior Division and DeGain captured the 145-pound Schoolboy Division.

Randy Gates finished second in the 85-pound Junior Division and Ryan McAleer placed third in the Midget Division.

Next action for the wrestlers will be at a Mid-Michigan Wrestling Association meet this weekend at Holly.

Recreation Roundup

BATON TWIRLING LESSONS

Baton twirling lessons will begin soon. Girls or guys in grades K-6 may participate in the class, which is tentatively scheduled for Thursday evenings.

The instructor will be international baton twirling champion Carrie McCallister.

Children will learn the fundamentals of using a baton and in the process increase their eye hand coordination and social skills.

DROP-IN GAMES NIGHT

If you like to play either pool, backgammon, euchre or pinocle, why not get out, meet some people and play one of these games on a weekly basis?

Drop-in games nights will be offered on Tuesday nights, beginning Feb. 26 at the Independence Township Senior Citizen Center. The program is open to anyone 18 years old or older.

Tournaments will also be offered occasionally in all four of the games.

Game night hours will be 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Participants can drop in any time during the two-hour period.

3-ON-3 TEEN BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

A 3-on-3 boys and girls basketball tournament is planned at Clarkston Junior High on Saturday, March 2, for players ages 12 to 17.

The deadline to register is Feb. 28. The cost is $20 per team.

Teams must have four players on a roster. Separate age groups are set up: 12-13, 14-15 and 16-17. Boys and girls will play in different divisions. Winners will get sweat pants.

JR. BASEBALL AND YOUTH SOFTBALL REGISTRATION

Early bird registration continues until March 15 for youths ages of 7 through 17 who wish to play baseball or softball this summer.

Those registering during the early bird registration period will pay $35 (if a resident) or $40 (for non-residents).

Those not registering early will either pay $45 (residents) or $55 (non-residents).

Early bird registration is Feb. 4 - March 15 (8 a.m. to 5 p.m.) or March 18 thru March 22 (8 a.m. to 7 p.m.).

Regular registration is March 25 through March 29 (8 a.m. to 5 p.m.).

The season begins the week of June 3 for Pony and Midgets; June 15 for all other leagues.

DISCOUNT TICKETS FOR THE ROYAL HANNEFORD CIRCUS

Tickets are available for the low price of $5 per person (a $3 discount) for the Royal Hanneford Circus on Sunday, April 21.

The circus will feature Bruno's Tigers, flying acrobats and the Royal Hanneford award-winning elephants.

The tickets, for the 1 p.m. show, are on the lower level and are great seats.

Those interested in these limited supply of discount tickets should all the rec. department.

WALK MICHIGAN

Participants in any of the rec. department's free "Walk Michigan" walks not only will get some exercise but will have a chance to win a free trip for two to Mackinac Island over Labor Day weekend.

At the conclusion of each day's walks, there will also be drawings for prizes. The Grand Prize winner will be drawn from all entrants of the 1991 Walk Michigan program.

The next scheduled walk is Wednesday, Feb. 27, at Clarkston High School from 6:30-7 a.m., 2:30-7:30 p.m. This is an indoor walk.

KIDDIE KICKERS SOCCER

Starting this spring the rec. department will be offering an instructional program for youngsters ages 4, 5 or 6. The age cut-off for this program is Aug. 1, 1990. Children must turn four on or before this date and may not turn 7 years old on or prior to this date.

Children will be taught the basics of soccer in a non-competitive atmosphere. The program will be run on Saturday mornings beginning April 20. Program time is 10 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. at Sashabaw Plains Park.

ADULT SOCCER LEAGUE

The rec. department is looking for adult men's and women's soccer teams to play soccer this summer at Clintonwood Park. There will be divisions for under-16, under-19, and open teams. Anyone can play, no matter what their age or ability is. For more information, call the rec. department.

SPRING SOCCER REGISTRATION

Youths ages 5-11 can register for the 1991 Spring Soccer program at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department. They will be placed on teams provided space is still available.

Registration is for under-8, under-10 and under-12 leagues. The cost is $30 for residents and $35 for non-residents.

ADULT OPEN GYM SCHEDULE

Mondays - Pine Knob Elementary, 6-10 p.m.

Thursdays - North Sashabaw Elementary, 6-10 p.m.

Thursdays - Sashabaw Junior High, 8-10 p.m.

A $1 charge is collected at the door of each open gym location.

It's a good idea to call the Parks and Recreation Department the day of each open gym to confirm its availability. Occasionally the schools will call and cancel the open gym times for their own use.

HIGH SCHOOL AGE OPEN GYM SCHEDULE

Thursdays - Clarkston Elementary, 7-9 p.m.

A $1 charge is collected at the door. It's a good idea to call the rec. department the day of each open gym to confirm its availability.

Architect named for Pine Knob changes

The operating body for the Palace of Auburn Hills and the Pine Knob Music Theater has chosen a national architectural firm to renovate the Independence Township amphitheater.

Rossetti Associates, a national architecture firm that helped design several arenas including the Palace, was given the task of rejuvenating the 16,000-seat theater. The firm was selected by Arena Associates, a three-man entity that owns and operates the Palace.

Frank Rewold and Son, Inc., of Rochester has also been selected as the project's general contractor. The company, considered one of the state's top contractors, is credited with renovations at the Palace, Meadow Brook

Hall and Rochester's Leader Dog For the Blind School.

Purchased last November, Pine Knob is scheduled to undergo a $5 million facelift. The physical improvements planned for the 18-year-old facility include improving ingress and egress options, increasing the number of restrooms and concession stands, installing giant video screens for lawn patrons and expanding box office facilities.

The new Pine Knob is expected to host 50 to 70 special outdoor events during the May to September season.

The renovations are to begin with warmer weather, said Palace officials.

Love letters, cookies unite couple

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

For Tom and Judy O'Brien, it was love at third sight. After more than a year of correspondence, the couple were engaged at their third meeting.

But their first and second sights of each other were pretty good, too, says Judy.

"He was good-looking," she recalls, "and he had a good sense of humor. He was fun to do things with — he still is."

The two — both teachers at Sashabaw Junior High School — have lived in the Clarkston area for 25 years.

Their daughters, Erin and Shauneen, were graduated from Clarkston High School; and the youngest O'Brien daughter, Kate, is a CHS sophomore. The O'Briens also have a grandson, 2-year-old Ryan Thomas, who they love to see when he visits with his mother, Erin.

Their tale of love is not all that unusual, claim Tom

"He was good looking, and he had a good sense of humor. He was fun to do things with — he still is."

TOM AND JUDY O'Brien have been married nearly 33 years. Both graduates of Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, they were hired by "Doc" Green, Clarkston's superintendent in 1966. At Sashabaw Junior High, Tom teaches industrial arts, and Judy teaches math. The two were offered more money to teach at Walled Lake back then, but one drive through downtown Clarkston convinced them to move to the area.

Judy O'Brien

and Judy.

It all began in St. Ignace where Judy lived and became friends with a girl who had moved from Tom's hometown of Ontonagon. St. Ignace is in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, across from Mackinaw City. Ontonagon also is in the UP — on the northern side, right on Lake Superior. However, it's about four times closer to Wisconsin than to St. Ignace.

One weekend Judy and her friend visited Ontonagon, and they ran into Tom and his friends. After a weekend of activities together, Tom and Judy began writing to each other — a correspondence that lasted 1 1/2 years, filled with love letters and baked goods.

Tom was in the service and traveled around a lot. "Once in a while, she'd send a package of cookies," he remembers, smiling. "The rum balls were real good." He begins to laugh.

"About 20 years later, I found out it was her mother who made the rum balls," he finishes, snickering and still marveling at the discovery.

Judy, too, is laughing. She also has stories — not many for publication, though, she says.

However, Judy says, up until the honeymoon, she was confident in her decision to marry Tom.

Tom was stationed in Tucson, Ariz., and arrived home on Thursday for the wedding on Saturday, Sept. 6, 1958.

Immediately after the wedding, they began the long ride to Tucson — the scenic route through Wisconsin and the Midwest.

"Tom doesn't talk when he drives, and I didn't know that," Judy says. "I come from a big family of talkers, ... and he concentrates on the road."

"I thought, 'Uh-oh,' and wondered if I had said something or done something. ... He wouldn't answer me."

"So I started reading him Reader's Digest anecdotes, but he wouldn't laugh," she says.

Tom smiles. It was one of many tricks they played on each other — though Tom truly does prefer to concentrate on the road, rather than talk while driving.

"I still read Reader's Digest to him on trips," says Judy, laughing.

The couple had many adjustments to make, particularly since both were far from home.

"You relied on each other," says Judy. "You didn't have the opportunity to go home to Mother."

In addition, Tom and Judy's families were different from each other.

"Tom came from a family that was real sexist oriented," explains Judy. "At my house, my mother

ston Junior High School, Tom convinced school officials to allow her to take wood shop (along with the mandatory drafting), and she became the first girl in that school's history to enroll in a "boy's" class.

After a weekend of activities together, Tom and Judy began writing to each other — a correspondence that lasted 1 1/2 years, filled with love letters and baked goods.

"It takes a special kind of woman to put up with that."

Tom O'Brien

worked, always. She owned her own business. We grew up in a household of four girls, one boy, so I grew up with the idea that we were equal. ... That was an adjustment at first."

In that area, Tom did a lot of the adjusting.

"Tom does a lot around the house — a lot more than he ever did before," Judy says.

And both were in college when their first daughter, Erin, was born, so the work, by necessity, had to be shared.

Later, when second-born Shauneen attended Clarkston Junior High School, Tom convinced school officials to allow her to take wood shop (along with the mandatory drafting), and she became the first girl in that school's history to enroll in a "boy's" class.

Then there were Tom's 18 years in Independence Township's on-call fire department, which meant hectic evenings, weekends and holidays, plus canceled plans and an empty chair and dinner time.

"It takes a special kind of woman to put up with that," admits Tom.

"She'd be all dressed up to go somewhere and the alarm would go off, and I'd take off, and ... It takes a special-type person," he says, shaking his head.

"We never waited meals," says Judy about how she and the kids coped. "If he came home, he could have it warmed up."

It's all a part of learning to live with one another and adapting to each other, she says.

"We just went into it thinking it would last forever. And when you got to rough times, you had to do something to make sure it would," Judy says.

"It was the way we were brought up," says Tom, adding with a smile, "I'm a good listener."

CHS meeting Thursday

Parents of Clarkston High School seniors are invited to attend a planning party on Thursday, Feb. 14.

At the meeting, the parents will plan the CHS post-graduation party for the Class of '91.

The meeting is set for 7 p.m. in the high school media center.

Students display worldly skills in geography

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

At just 12 years of age, Lisa Herron and Ian Bower of Clarkston Junior High have proved that they already know a lot about the world.

Last week, the two seventh-graders overcame a field of 48 classmates to reach the finals of the school's geography bee. In the end, Bower edged Herron by correctly answering more questions on the written-exam portion of the bee.

The geography bee was sponsored by the National

"I just flipped through my geography book and studied some maps to prepare for the contest," Bower said.

"Basically, we have learned a lot in my geography class with Mrs. Glover, and I didn't really study a lot for it," Herron admitted.

Both students will receive certificates of recognition at the school's Feb. 13 honors assembly.

"I just flipped through my geography book and studied some maps to prepare for the contest."

Ian Bower

Geographic Society, who has been sponsoring these competitions for three years. Nearly 40,000 schools across the country participate each year.

Nationally, the contests are offered to students in the fourth through eighth grades. Clarkston Junior High only has seventh-grade geography classes, so the schoolwide contest has been restricted to those students alone.

By winning the competition, Bower was required to complete a 60-question written examination. If he scores high enough on the exam, he could qualify for the national competition in the spring. The school will be notified of his scores in March.

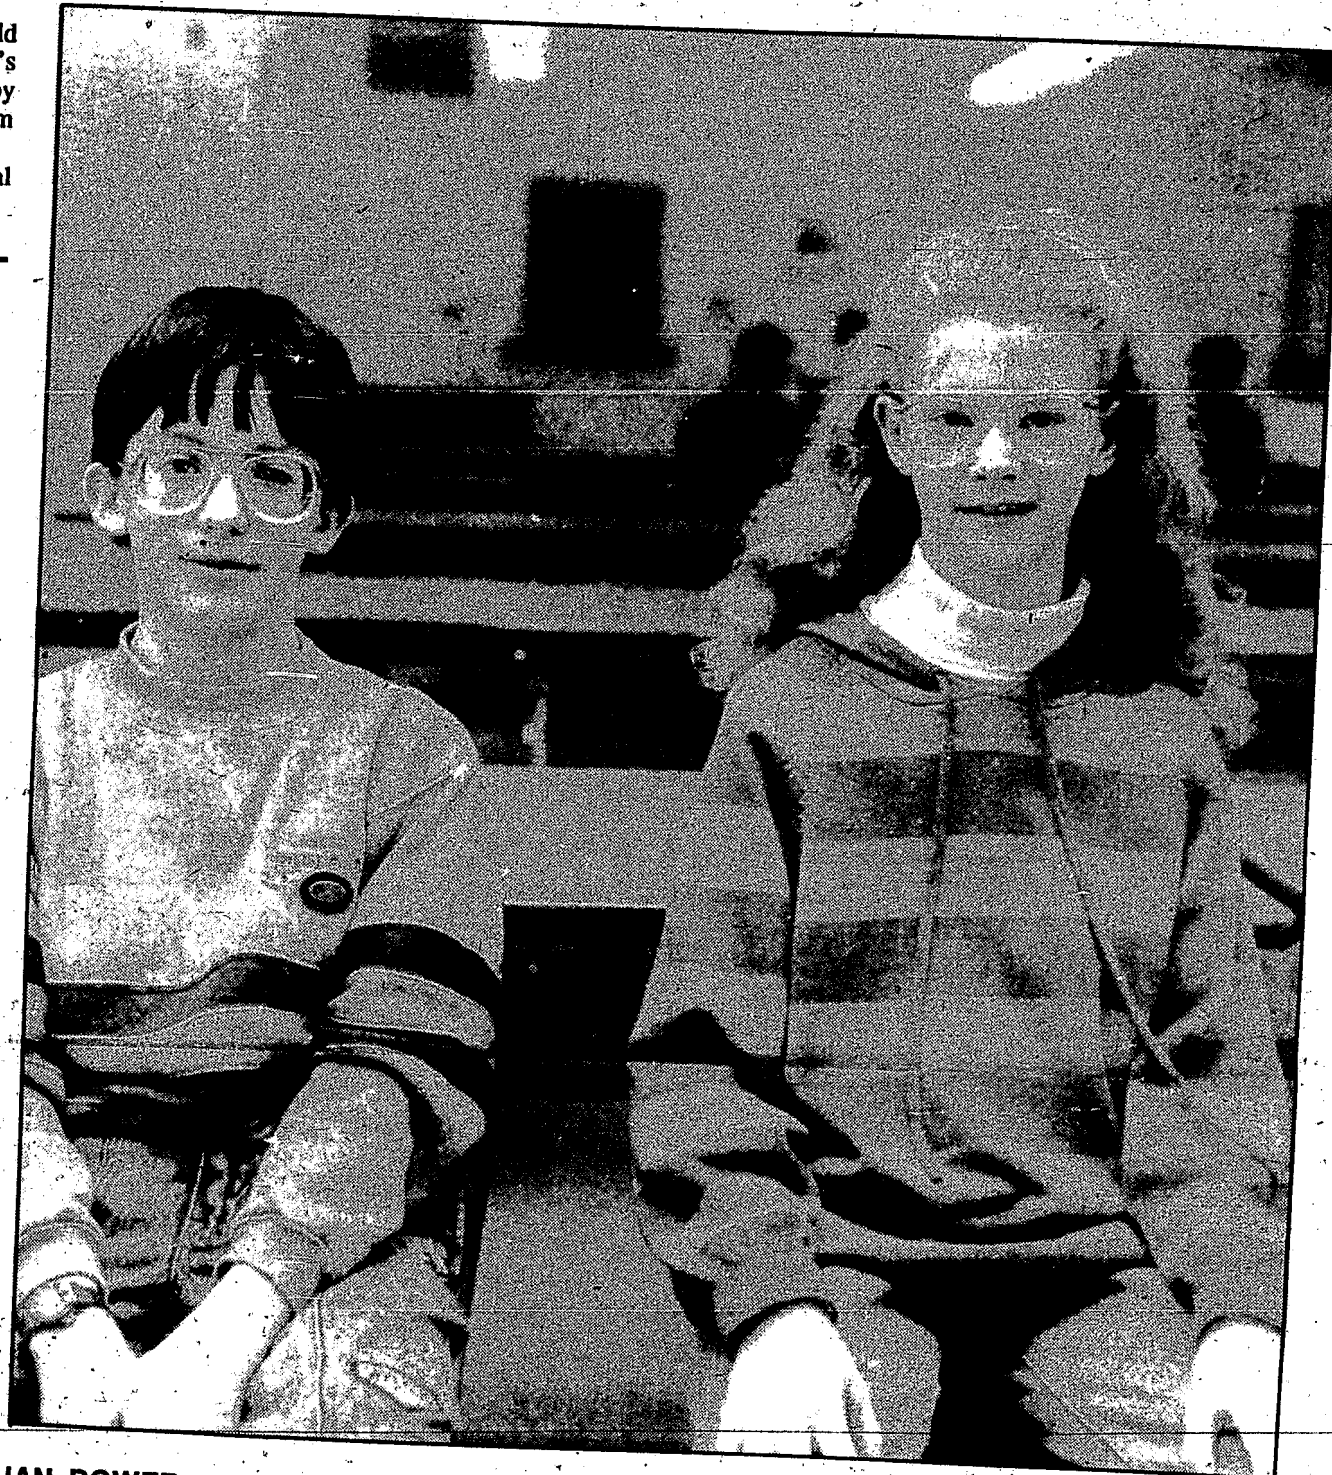

The national qualifiers will compete in the U.S. championships in May, with a $25,000 college scholarship being awarded to the winners in each category.

In the Clarkston Junior High competition, the entire contest took roughly an hour to complete. The field was reduced from 48 to 10 to two. A total of 123 oral questions were answered in the preliminary rounds of the bee.

Barbara Glover, a geography teacher and moderator of the bee, said the contest provided all the students with an opportunity to stand out from their peers.

"We do this to give many kids an opportunity to shine, maybe kids who wouldn't normally shine," she said. "That's one of the things we do at the junior high level."

Bower and Herron said they used different methods in preparing themselves for the geography bee.

IAN BOWER and Lisa Herron are the top finishers in the third annual geography bee at Clarkston Junior High School. Bower finished in first place, and Herron was second.

The Other Side of Things

It's prom time in Clarkston!

Ashley Ball

Well, here it is, only 94 days until the ninth-grade prom, and I'M NOT READY!

I still have to get a tan, a dress, a perm, a manicure, choose the perfect shade of eyeshadow and straighten my teeth. All before May 18.

I decided my top priority was to pick out a prom dress — something fashionable, flamboyant, fast and formal. With this in mind, I rushed right over to the A&P. Not to get a prom dress, but to pick up a hot-off-the-press copy of The Biggest Prom Issue Ever.

For several days, I flipped through the magazine, saying things like, "Oh, I love this one ... Wow! Check this out!" to whoever happened to walk through the family room.

Shimmery emerald. Plunging neckline. No back. Ruffles. Matching shoes. Matching handbag. Matching barrette. Matching date. Hey!

"I like this one," my mom suggested.

"That's not a prom dress!" I pointed out. "That's a turtleneck sari. You're looking at a Pier 1 advertisement! I want a prom dress ... something fabulous and flashy."

"Flashy?" my dad inquired as a frown settled across his forehead. He sat down beside me on the couch and looked over my shoulder as I flipped the pages.

"Nice," he commented absently. "But that one's a little short ... don't you think?"

"Not really."

"And that one's too bright," he frowned, "... you know, too shiny."

"I don't know," I mused, "I like it."

As I continued turning pages, my dad began describing every dress. I'M NOT KIDDING! He had suddenly become an authority on prom dresses.

"This one," he advised, "is too low ... this one is too tight ... too old ... too glamorous ... too sexy ... too red ... too black ... too lacy ... too ..."

"Dad!" I cried in exasperation. "You act like you want me to go to the prom looking like a ninth-grader!" My dad looked up in surprise. "That's the general idea, isn't it?"

I slammed the magazine shut in frustration.

The next day, my mom and I stopped by Halina's on Dixie highway, then Wendy's at the mall.

I saw it right away. The dress of my dreams — a glistening swish of sheer emerald lace, radiant over yards and yards of matching rustling satin ... strapless and stunning. This. Was. The. Dress. For. Me.

My mom turned pale.

Oh, well, there were lots to choose from, and I soon found another one I liked.

"Isn't this beautiful!" I gushed, pulling a short, bright pink, ruffled dress from the rack.

"Why, yes, Ashley," my mom agreed brightly. "I think that's a lovely dress for a young girl. A good choice."

On second thought, maybe it wasn't the dress for me after all. I moved on down the rack.

But as we left for home without a dress, my mom was upbeat.

"We'll find something," she said. "You've got plenty of time. The perfect prom dress is somewhere out there waiting for you ... one that you'll really like."

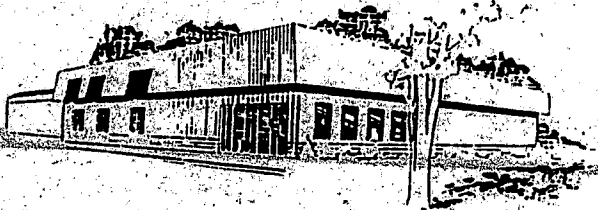

"It's easy to find one that I like. The problem is ... will Dad like it?" I grumbled. "I don't think they make prom dresses in gray flannel pin stripe."

Ashley Ball is a ninth-grader at Clarkston Junior High School.

Club notes

Poppy girls Tara Chapple and Shannon Chapple from the American Legion Chief Pontiac Post #377 received a letter from Barbara Bush. It read:

"Word has reached me that you are two very important volunteers in the veterans' poppy program and that you help at a home for handicapped boys as well. Good for you!"

"The President and I are so proud of you and hope you will continue your wonderful service to others."

The letter was signed with a hand-written postscript: "You are wonderful!"

In other club news, Junior Miss Poppy Tara Chapple presented the Juvenile Diabetes Association with three "Track II Glucose Monitors" from the Chief Pontiac Auxiliary.

Tara and her sister, Shannon (Senior Miss Poppy) attended the "Support the Troops" rally and participated in "The Agless Follies" at the post, both giving their poppy speeches.

Honors

Michelle Graham of Clarkston is a recipient of the Lion/Lioness Club Scholarship for the academic year 1990-91 at Madonna College, Livonia.

The scholarship is given to hearing impaired students with a 3.0 minimum grade point average. Graham is a social work major with a 3.74 grade point average.

Mary Thompson of Clarkston is a recipient of the DeSeranno Scholarship for the academic year 1990-91 at Madonna College, Livonia.

Teressa is a graduate of Clarkston High School and received her degree at Walsh College.

She is employed at KMPG Peat Marwick in Detroit, where she resides with her husband, Darin Farough.

At the completion of the fall semester at Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C., Stephanie Jean Forsten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Forsten of Holly, was named to the B-average dean's list.

Stephanie, a 1990 graduate of Springfield Christian Academy in Springfield Township, is a freshman majoring in office administration in the School of Business Administration.

Seven student were named to the first semester honor roll at the STRIVE Alternative High School.

Stephanie Josey earned a 3.95, the highest grade point average for the semester, followed by Corey Powell (3.8), Melanie Magnuson (3.72), Corey Soncrainte (3.46), Danyail LeMaster (3.38), Tim Kitchen (3.14) and Julie Luscomb (3.0).

STRIVE Alternative High School is a program of the Clarkston and Adult Education Department of Clarkston Community Schools.

Healthy Helpings

Dining out the dietary way

Tracy King

The Clarkson (Mich.) News Wed., Feb. 13, 1991 35

If your Valentine celebration includes a romantic candlelight dinner at a restaurant, you can splurge a little and still keep within the healthy guidelines you have set for yourself.

Many restaurants are featuring more menu selections that can fit into a nutritious and healthful eating style.

While it's true that patrons may have less control over how foods are prepared when they eat out, they can still choose the restaurant, the foods on the menu, and how much they eat.

The following tips are offered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as part of its program, "Eating Right, The Dietary Guidelines Way."

Choosing a restaurant

Full-service restaurants provide the greatest variety and flexibility in types of foods available and in preparation methods.

Since items are often prepared to order, you can ask to have your food prepared differently than the menu may specify.

Among the things they may be able to do include limiting fat and salt, reducing the portion size or serving sauces on the side.

■ See if you can order fish, poultry or meat broiled without added fat — and have the skin removed from poultry.

■ Ask about serving sizes to see if petite servings or half-portion are available.

■ Determine the availability of food not on the menu, such as low-fat or skim milk, fresh fruit, etc.

Menu munchies

Sitting and talking makes meals eaten out enjoyable. Remember, however, to go easy on foods such as peanuts or pretzels, bread and butter, etc.

■ Try steamed seafood, raw vegetables or fruit for appetizers. Go easy on rich sauces, dips and batter-fried foods such as cheese sticks, fried vegetables and chicken pieces.

■ Many crackers are high in fat and sodium, so enjoy just a few and limit the spreads and dips.

Charting a nutritious main course

Think about what you had or plan to have for the remainder of your day's meals.

■ Choose meat, fish or poultry that is broiled, grilled, baked, steamed or poached rather than fried. It's possible that broiled or fried entrees can be basted with fat, so request that lemon juice, wine or only a small amount of a fat be used with yours.

■ Many restaurants serve large portions of food. If

When eating out means fast food, be selective

Fast-food meals are more popular than ever before, but making nutritious meal selections at fast-food places can be a challenge.

Many fast foods are low in fiber and high in calories, fat and sodium.

Follow these tips to eat out at fast-food places the Dietary Guidelines way:

■ Choose regular sandwiches instead of doubles; and choose plain types instead of those with lots of extras such as bacon or sauces.

■ Breaded, deep-fried fish and chicken sandwiches (especially those with cheese, tartar sauce or mayonnaise) are higher in fat than plain burgers.

■ Order roast beef for a leaner option than most burgers.

■ Be aware that many fast-food items are high in the portion you are served is larger than your usual serving, ask for a take-home bag.

■ Choose dishes flavored with herbs and spices rather than with rich sauces, gravies or dressings.

The dessert dilemma

If your sweet tooth kicks in after dinner, try ordering fresh fruit, sorbet or sherbert instead of heavy cakes, pies or ice cream.

For more information, order a copy of the new USDA booklet, "Eating Better When Eating Out Using the Dietary Guidelines."

The booklet is available for $1.50 by writing the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 70, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. Be sure to specify Item No. 175-V on your envelope and include a check or money order payable to the Superintendent of Documents.

sodium. It isn't always easy to predict which items are highest.

A quarter-pound hamburger with cheese has 1,225 milligrams (mg) of sodium; a regular-size order of fries has 150 mg; and fried chicken has 800 mg.

■ When fixing your sandwich, choose lettuce, tomatoes and onions; go easy on pickles, mustard, ketchup and other condiments high in sodium.

■ Skip the fries if you're ordering a sandwich that's deep-fat fried or made with sauce.

Choose a small rather than a large portion of fries, or have a salad instead.

■ At the salad bar, load up on fresh greens, fruits and vegetables, but go easy on dressings, cheeses and creamy salads.

Heating help is available from OLSHA program

Oakland County residents who are elderly, low-income or handicapped may be eligible to receive help with home heating bills.

The Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency (OLSHA) has a Targeted Fuel Assistance program (TFA) that can provide those eligible with a one-time payment from $50 to $200 toward fuel costs.

OLSHA will determine eligibility. Applicants should have proof of the last 12 months income for everyone in the household and a copy of the latest heating bill.

A shutoff notice is not necessary to qualify for this program.

OLSHA will take applications starting Jan. 7. To start the application process, call OLSHA's toll-free number: 1-800-482-9250.

If OLSHA determines that you are eligible for assistance, it will arrange payment of heating costs directly to the provider: Consumer Power, Detroit Edison, or Fuel Oil Dealers.

The program cannot pay for light bills.

Romantic evening an inexpensive evening

If your Valentine's Day plans call for a romantic evening at home, the energy costs will be less than a quarter, according to an analysis by Consumers Power Co.

A meal prepared in your kitchen followed by a classic movie on video will cost the utility's electric customers about 23 cents.

The energy costs for preparations of a dinner, which might include the following, are:

■ tossed garden salad: refrigeration for one hour, 1 cent.

■ baked Cornish hens with wild rice stuffing: baked in an electric oven for one hour, 13 cents, or in a gas oven, 4 cents.

■ broccoli with cheese sauce: cooked on top of an electric or gas stove at a cost of less than a penny.

■ dessert of raspberry ribbon pie or chocolate brownie torte: baked for 15 minutes at an electricity cost of about 2 1/2 cents or a gas cost of about 1 cent.

Following dinner, settle down to enjoy a classic romantic movie on videocassette for a total energy cost of about 3 cents to power the television and video cassette recorder for two hours.

By dimming the lights from 150 watts to 25 watts, the electricity cost per hour would drop from about a penny to about 8/10 of one cent.

Community education at a glance

Daddy-Daughter Valentine Dance

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE NOTICE OF PROPOSED ZONING AMENDMENT

At a regular meeting of the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence, held on February 5, 1991, the Board proposed the following text amendment to the Township's Zoning Ordinance 83, to create the zoning designation of Office Service Two District:

Date: May 31, 1990

Revision: July 24, 1990

Revision: October 12, 1990

Revision: December 6, 1990

Revision: December 17, 1990

ARTICLE XXVII - OFFICE SERVICE ONE DISTRICT Section 27.01. OS-1, Office Service One District.

The intent of the Office Service One District is to provide locations for low intensity uses which primarily include office uses, and business and personal services uses which are dependent on and supportive of an office environment. The Office Service One District is intended for smaller sites with minimum road frontage and lot depth which may be located between residential areas and commercial areas and/or thoroughfares.

The District shall be characterized by uses which: generally operate during normal business hours; produce a low volume of traffic; are compatible transitional use between commercial and residential areas and/or between thoroughfares and residential area; and, are located in buildings which are architecturally compatible with the residential community.

The Office Service District is not intended to permit commercial retail uses that generate a large traffic volume. A limited range of business and service uses are permitted for the benefit of official personnel, tenants and visitors, provided that offices remain the predominant use within the District.

Section 27.02. Permitted Principal Uses.

1. Office buildings for the use of any of the following occupations: Executive; administrative; professional; accounting; writing; clerical; stenographic; drafting; and sales.
2. Medical and dental offices, including clinics and medical laboratories.
3. Veterinary offices and hospitals, including accessory boarding, provided no outdoor exercise runs or pens are permitted.
4. Banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations.
5. Publicly owned buildings, public utility transformer stations and substations, telephone exchanges, and public utility offices.
6. Training and/or educational centers where such centers are designed and intended to provide training at the business, technical, and/or professional level.
7. Photographic studios.
8. Retail office supply, computer and business machine sales.
9. Business service establishments such as printing and photocopying services, mail and packaging service, and typing and secretarial services.
10. Florist shops.
11. Personal service establishments, such as barber and beauty shops, watch and shoe repair, tailor shops, locksmith and similar establishments.

Section 27.03. Special Land Uses.

1. Private service clubs, fraternal organizations and lodge halls.
2. Pharmacies, including stores selling or renting durable medical equipment.
3. Data processing and computer centers including the servicing and maintenance of electronic data processing equipment.
4. Laundry and dry cleaning customer outlets, provided dry cleaning or laundry plants serving more than one customer outlet shall be prohibited.

Section 27.04. Site Plan Review.

For all uses permitted in the Office Service District, there must be site plan review as required under Section 5.12.

Section 27.05. Area, Height, Bulk and Placement Requirements.

Area, height, bulk and placement requirements in accordance with Article XXX, Schedule of Regulations.

This text amendment will be voted upon at the regular Township Board meeting of February 19, 1991, at 7:30 p.m. at the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan. Complete information is available in the Clerk's Office, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE NOTICE OF PROPOSED ZONING AMENDMENT

At a regular meeting of the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence, held on February 5, 1991, the Board proposed the following text amendment to the Township's Zoning Ordinance 83, to create the zoning designation of Office Service Two District:

Date: October 12, 1990

Revision: December 6, 1990

Revision: December 17, 1990

ARTICLE XXVIII-OFFICE SERVICE TWO DISTRICT Section 28.01. OS-2, Office Service Two District.

The intent of the Office Service Two District is to provide locations uses which primarily include office and technical uses, and business and personal services uses which are dependent on and supportive of an office environment. The Office Service Two District is intended for larger sites than the Office Service One District and where there may not be a need to provide for a compatible transitional use between commercial and residential areas and/or between thoroughfares and residential areas.

The District shall be characterized by uses which: generally operate during normal business hours; produce a low volume of traffic; may require some service areas along with storage facilities; and, are located in buildings which are architecturally compatible with the surrounding area.

The Office Service District is not intended to permit commercial retail uses that generate a large traffic volume. A limited range of business and service uses are permitted for the benefit of official personnel, tenants and visitors, provided that offices and technical uses remain the predominant use within the District.

Section 28.02. Permitted Principal Uses.

1. Office buildings for the use of any of the following occupations: Executive; administrative; professional; accounting; writing; clerical; stenographic; drafting; and sales.
2. Medical and dental offices, including clinics and medical laboratories.
3. Veterinary offices and hospitals, including accessory boarding, provided no outdoor exercise runs or pens are permitted.
4. Banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations.
5. Publicly owned buildings, public utility transformer stations and substations, telephone exchanges, and public utility offices.
6. Training and/or educational centers where such centers are designed and intended to provide training at the business, technical, and/or professional level.
7. Photographic studios.
8. Retail office supply, computer and business machine sales.
9. Business service establishments such as printing and photocopying services, mail and packaging services, and typing and secretarial services.
10. Florist shops.
11. Personal service establishments, such as barber and beauty shops, watch and shoe repair, tailor shops, locksmith and similar establishments.
12. Laundry and dry cleaning customer outlets, provided dry cleaning or laundry plants serving more than one customer outlet shall be prohibited.
13. Private service clubs, fraternal organizations and lodge halls.

Section 28.03. Special Land Uses.

1. Sit-down restaurants serving food and beverages. Consistent with the intent of this District to allow uses which produce a low volume of traffic, the uses authorized under this subsection shall not include those which: permit food and beverages to be served on the premises in motor vehicles; sold at a drive-through window; and uses which otherwise have a carry out service as a material part of the business.
2. Research and design centers where said centers are intended for the development of pilot or experimental products, together with related office buildings for such research facilities where said offices are designed to accommodate executive, administrative, professional, accounting, engineering, architectural, and support personnel.
3. General or specialty hospitals.
4. Motels and residence hotels providing temporary lodging.

Section 28.04. Site Plan Review.

For all uses permitted in the Office Service District, there must be site plan review as required under Section 5.12.

Section 28.05. Area, Height, Bulk and Placement Requirements.

Area, height, bulk and placement requirements in accordance with Article XXX, Schedule of Regulations.

This text amendment will be voted upon at the regular Township Board meeting of February 19, 1991, at 7:30 p.m. at the Independence Township Hall Annex, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan. Complete information is available in the Clerk's Office, 90 North Main Street, Clarkston, Michigan, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

ANGELA GISELLE: Once upon a time, I told the Mother Goddess exactly what I wanted in a life partner. And as Aphrodite is bound to do, she took my list and added to it a few wise details. Then she checked it over and brought you to me. In our beginning I tried to deny my feelings for you and keep from falling in love, but luckily Venus is persistent, patient and strong holding us together until I had no choice but to succumb to her spell. Angela, you are a beautiful woman and how fortunate I am that you had the courage to become who you are and to love as Sappho did on the Isle of Lesbos. Daughters of Isis, sister to sister, woman to woman, friend to friend we shall go on loving as only lesbians can. Caring for each other even when we care for others as well. Demeter, Goddess of a Thousand Names, I thank you for my "Princess in Shining Silk." Blessed Be. Love, Serena Holly. IILX7-1*

DETROIT Piston all-star Joe Dumars had an attentive after-school audience during his speech at Clarkston High School.

Piston's message attracts a crowd

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Detroit Piston guard Joe Dumars has taken the NBA's recent "Stay in School" campaign one step further.

The final school bell rang at 2:20 p.m. Feb. 6, but about 800 Clarkston High School students refused to leave. Instead, they attentively listened to Dumars give a speech and answer questions in the gymnasium.

Dumars spoke in the gym for a little over a half hour and then spoke again to a smaller group in another part of the high school.

GMC sponsored the visit. Dumars is under contract with the company.

The Piston guard gave his speech four days before he started for the East squad in the NBA All-Star game in Charlotte, N.C.

Dumars was introduced by Clarkston head basketball coach Dan Fife. Dumars would later say he had already heard about the Clarkston coach and the school's highly-rated basketball team before it was decided he would come to Clarkston.

Most of Dumars' speech was about saying no to drugs and the importance of family and friends.

"It never interested me to try drugs," said Dumars. "I was too caught up into doing something positive and constructive to worry about doing drugs."

Dumars grew up in Arcadia, La., where his mother still lives in the same house she has had for 50 years. Arcadia is where much of the movie "Steel Magnolias" was filmed.

Dumars said when people would come up to him and egg him on by saying, "We're going to go smoke this joint," he'd reply, "I'm going to go shoot some baskets."

He said eventually the people with drugs no longer offered him any.

"Once you develop a reputation, people know," said Dumars.

Dumars said teen-agers should pick their friends wisely.

"You choose your friends by the way you carry yourself," said the Piston, adding, "Watch out for fast talkers."

Dumars also said people can question themselves when it comes to decisions.

"Most of the time, your first gut feeling is right," he said.

Dumars then fielded questions from the students.

Some of the questions and replies were:

Did you think in high school you'd be playing in the NBA?

"I didn't know for sure, but I was hoping."

Are you friends with Michael Jordan?

"We are friends every day, except for four or five days a year (when they play against each other)."

Who's the best player?

Michael Jordan.

Are the Pistons going to three-peat?

"Are we gonna three-peat? (before Dumars could answer the crowd drowned him out with cheering)."

Dumars was presented with a Clarkston cap by varsity basketball player Dugan Fife.

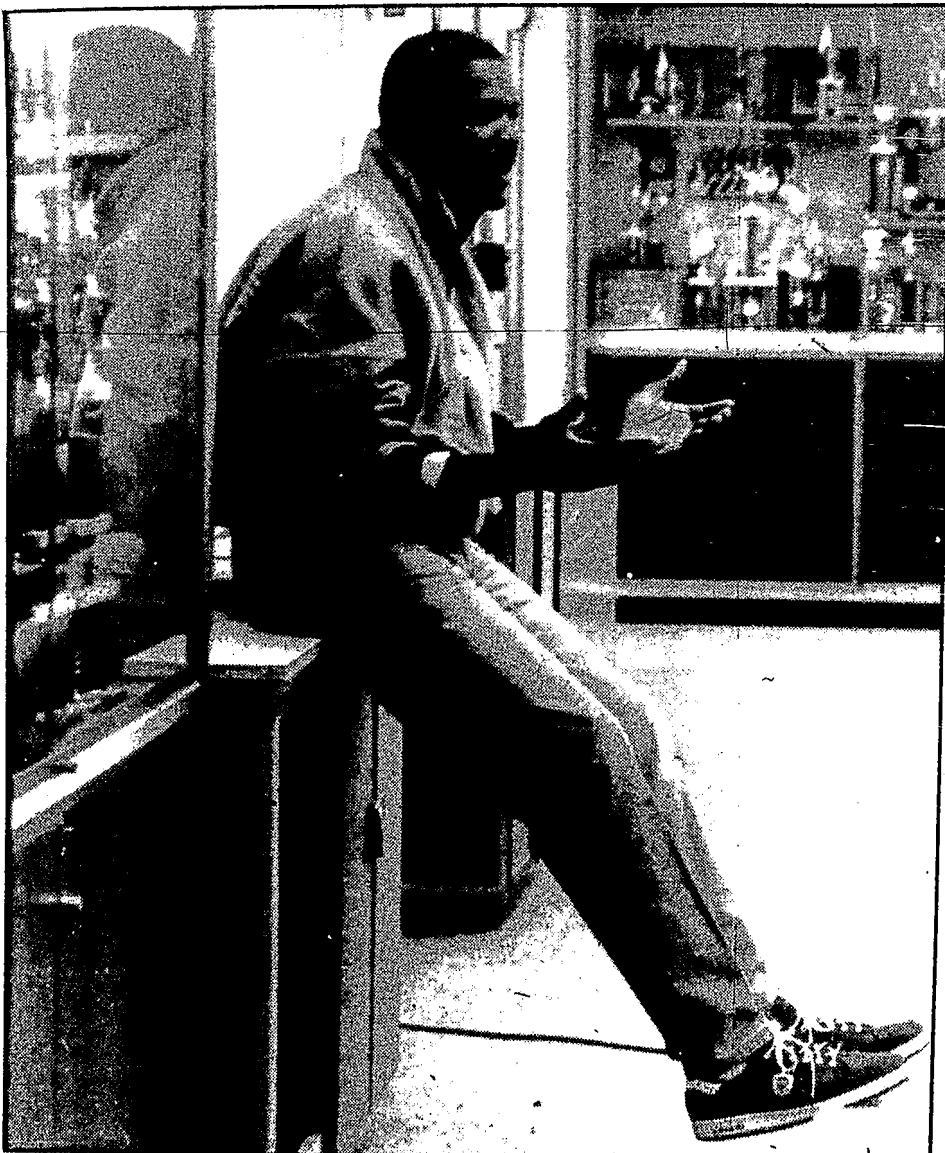

Dumars' final stop was in the school's band room where he spoke briefly to three groups, the Just-Say No club, Students Against Driving Drunk, and D-Bug (Principal Bob Burek's student leadership organization). He later spent time posing for photos with students involved in the groups.

The 27-year-old talked fondly about his parents while speaking to the groups. He said his mother told him the key for raising seven children successfully was listening.

Dumars quoted his mother by saying, "Parents and grown-ups talk all the time, but never listen."

So Dumars said when he visits schools, he makes sure to tell himself, "Listen to those kids out there that are talking to you."

It was an all-star week for Dumars, watching the slam-dunk and three-point contests, playing in the East's 116-114 win over the West, and listening to the concerns of Clarkston students.

AFTER his speech in the gym, Dumars later spoke to small groups about how important it is for children not only to listen to parents, but for parents to listen to their children.
