Study predicts more traffic snarls

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Over the next 20 years, a majority of the thoroughfares in and around Independence Township could exceed the roadways' capacities.

This was one of the many projections tabulated by the Northern Oakland County/ I-75 Corridor study, conducted by a consultation group for the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT).

Since November 1990, MDOT has been developing a study that will offer ways to alleviate traffic congestion along a 12-mile stretch that includes parts of Independence and Springfield townships.

This 12-mile stretch extends from M-24 in Auburn Hills to Dixie Highway in Springfield Township.

On Feb. 12, representatives from MDOT and Schimpeler, Corradino Associates, a consulting firm based in Louisville, met with a sparse crowd to discuss their findings.

These findings were based on four separate scenarios from information compiled by MDOT and the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

According to all four scenarios within the study, three local thoroughfares presently exceed their capacities of traffic flow. They include the White Lake Road area from Andersonville Road to Dixie Highway and from Dixie Highway to M-15. In the Waldon Road area, Sashabaw Road to Clintonville Road was also tagged at over capacity in terms of traffic flow.

Without some sort of modification to the existing infrastructure, the study cites, these three thoroughfares could double in traffic flow by 2010.

The study also forecasts that nearly 13 of the 17 targeted "corridor" thoroughfares in Independence and Springfield townships will surpass their maximum capacities within the next two decades.

Of the four scenarios, the one concerning "buildout" was perhaps the most telling forecast. The buildout forecast predicts the amount of development that will occur around the thoroughfares.

While there is no set timeline on when all the available land will be developed, the study shows that many of these 17 thoroughfares will be looking at two to three times their maximum capacity when urban sprawl is (See TRAFFIC, next page)

BIRTHDAY surprise has new meaning for Courtney Taylor, modeling her newly wrapped broken arm.

First-grader breaks birthday traditions

BY ASHLEY BALL

After breaking her arm twice at two consecutive Feb. 2 birthday parties, 8-year-old Courtney Taylor of Independence Township has had enough birthday surprises for awhile.

When Courtney broke her arm last year on Feb. 2 at her cousin's birthday skating party, Courtney's parents, Micheal and Joann Taylor, took the accident in stride. They figured that's the breaks.

It certainly didn't stop them from scheduling Courtney's own birthday party this year on Feb. 2. They even planned a special outing for Courtney and 23 of her friends to a local aerobic gym for kids.

But this year's birthday party was deja vu for the Taylors when Courtney once again broke her arm when she fell off an air mattress at the gym.

While the Taylors aren't going to eliminate birthday parties for Courtney in the future, neither are they anxious for her to start a tradition of birthday breaks. So they've decided that Courtney's next birthday party will definitely not be held on Feb. 2.

And what if she's invited to someone else's birthday party on that date?

"We're not superstitious," Joann Taylor said, laughing, "but it's pretty clear that Feb. 2 is not Courtney's lucky day. I might let her go if the party's held in a padded cell."

Just for good measure, the Taylors say that next Feb. 2, they'll probably plan a quiet day at home with Courtney and her sister, 12-year-old Nicole, and pick one of the other 364 days of the year to party.

patterns and how each causes problems with a community's quality of life," said Joe Corradino of Schimpeler Corradino and Associates. "And from these patterns we'll devise some alternatives to hopefully curb the congestion."

Businessman appointed

Ed Adler, co-owner of the Food Town grocery chain, was recently named to the Pontiac Stadium Building Authority.

On Feb. 7, Adler was appointed to the authority by Gov. John Engler. Adler will be replacing Doris Taylor of Pontiac, who was appointed by then-Gov. James Blanchard.

His duties will include attending monthly meetings and setting policies for the operation of the Pontiac Silverdome. The position holds a four-year term.

look at all the scenarios, determine what's viable and come up with some specific goals. The results of their findings will be discussed at a public forum in May, where they will discuss their plans of diffusing the congestion.

Until that time, MDOT will measure the impact of four general alternatives ranging from $39 million to $113 million in cost. Due to their tentative nature, bits and pieces of each proposal will probably be implemented into the final recommendation.

Corradino said a multitude of changes could be made to the corridor, but only a segment of those will be addressed for modification.

"Odds are we're going to make everyone a little mad before this is all done," he explained.

Thief's poor luck means year in jail

A Clarkston area man, currently in prison, had an additional year tacked on to his sentence for a crime he committed nearly four years ago.

Scott E. King, 21, convicted of breaking and entering last month in Oakland County Circuit Court, was sentenced Feb. 14 to another year of imprisonment.

He is currently serving a four to 10-year sentence in the Manistique Prison for a series of break-ins and larcenies between 1987 and 1989.

King was just recently found guilty of breaking into a dressing room at the Pine Knob Music Theater, where he supposedly lived for a while. He was tied to the 1987 incident when his fingerprints matched those on a broken bottle, found backstage. This marks the fourth building that King was found guilty of breaking into since 1987.

King was originally arrested by police in 1989 for trying to dispose of stolen property and for stealing a car phone from the vehicle of then Chief Assistant Prosecutor Richard Thompson, who is now county prosecutor.

Board supports troops

U.S. troops received unanimous support from the Springfield Township Board Feb. 13.

Trustee Nancy Strole drafted and read a resolution specifically for area residents.

Clerk J. Calvin Walters supported Strole's motion to send copies of the resolution to families living in Springfield Township whose relatives are serving in the Persian Gulf.

Second cable protest planned

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A push for free TV reception is the cause of a second protest in Springfield Township.

The rally is planned for 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, March 9 and 10, at the Springfield Mobile Home Park on Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

Mobile home park residents are to gather in protest against the park owner, who sold the park's power TV antenna to a cable TV company, which now charges for "free" stations, such as CBS, NBC and ABC.

Without cable, televisions get poor reception, said Ed Washburn, president of the owners' association at the park.

Interior antennas, or "rabbit ears," don't work in a mobile home park because there's too much metal in a mobile home park, according to a protest organizer.

Rising costs from the cable company make it difficult for many retired park residents to afford the cable service, Washburn added.

North Oakland Cablevision, which services the mobile home park, charges a monthly fee of $14.95 for basic service.

The fee is what any resident in a mobile home, single home or apartment would pay per month for cable service.

The group first protested the cable-TV fee Dec. 1 and 2, when more than 60 people carried signs during a snowy day.

The March rally also will draw attention to other areas, such as rent mediation and rent arbitration, Washburn said.

In mobilizing his own protest forces, Washburn hopes other mobile home owners join in the protest, he said.

Tom Magna, general manager of Springfield Estates Mobile Home Park, refused to comment and instead referred all questions to his attorney, who was not available for comment.

Washburn invites anyone who has an interest to write to him at: Springfield Mobile Home Owners' Association, P.O. Box 664, Clarkston, MI 48347.

Planners recommend approval of horse facility

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After presenting a dust-control schedule, an Independence Township man finds himself closer to regaining his Reese Road equestrian facility.

On Feb. 14, the Independence Township Planning Commission unanimously voted to recommend the modification of a special land use for a 30-acre parcel at the southeast corner of Oakhill and Reese roads.

This special land use request must go before the township board for final approval.

The petitioner, Joseph Martines, requested that his farm be restored to its former use, an equestrian training facility. However, the matter was tabled at the Jan. 24 meeting when several neighbors complained that Martines' training track threw too much dust into the air.

The planning commission directed Martines to submit a dust-control schedule before the members reconsidered his request.

A month later, Martines came to the meeting with such a schedule. Through the assistance of an expert, Charles Kuhn, who served as a consultant to the township, a schedule was created.

The schedule calls for the track to be watered down prior to floating (leveling) and that an evaporated salt mixture be applied during the dry months of summer. The mixture would help the ground retain its moisture and cut down on the amount of flying dust.

When asked how the situation could be monitored, township building department Director Beverly McElmeel said a member of her department could periodically check on the track.

Another concern brought up at the Jan. 24 meeting was the running of dirt bikes on the track. Martines said they would no longer be permitted on the track, and only maintenance vehicles would be allowed.

Commission members were pleased with the proposal.

"This schedule seems like a reasonable solution to the problems revolving around the track," said Richard Oppmann. "I would agree to returning this property to its former use."

All tied up

Julie Campe

I wasn't surprised when Sara Spiece of Independence Township called about ribbons last week.

She said she didn't like the name of the Red Ribbon Committee that formed in opposition to the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee.

The Red Ribbon Committee voiced opposition to Clarkston schools' bond issue proposals, which was fine according to Sara.

But red ribbons also represent opposition to driving drunk — a campaign that has been in existence much longer than the Red Ribbon Committee.

"I just thought it was a conflict of messages," she said. "If you want to put a red ribbon on your vehicle, ... someone might misconstrue it as being opposed to the bond issue.

"We have such a strong campaign in this community against drunk driving," she said.

She painted another scenario. What if a person had a red ribbon, representing support of not driving drunk, on one side of the car and a blue ribbon, representing support of Clarkston schools, on the other side?

What might one think?

"Any other color would be better than red," Sara said about the Red Ribbon Committee. "Green, purple, anything."

But not yellow — please.

A little history about local ribbons: The Blue Ribbon Kids Committee was formed in 1988 and came up with a school millage campaign theme of: "Blue ribbon kids need blue ribbon schools."

Huge blue ribbons were then tied around trees and on doors in the area to symbolize support for the school millage.

Since blue ribbons are associated with first-place prizes, the ribbons meant that Clarkston area residents thought that Clarkston kids were No. 1 and should be the top priority.

***

As for yellow ribbons, that practice reportedly began in the Civil War when a soldier told his beloved to display a yellow ribbon if she still wanted him after the war.

Today, the ribbon symbolizes support of U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf.

In this area, even residents without family members in Operation Desert Storm are displaying the ribbons.

But in other areas near military bases, the ribbon displays can be dangerous. Homes that display those ribbons have been targets of crime, such as attempted rape and burglary. Apparently, criminals there assume that if a yellow ribbon is displayed, a woman probably is home alone or not home very often.

***

Of course, there's the ever-popular red, white and blue ribbon that represents patriotism in general.

Ribbon sales of those colors reportedly are up, as is the sale of yellow ribbons.

***

All these ribbons are a little overwhelming, though colorful, bright and cheery.

It only makes me wonder what's next?

Perhaps a teal-ribbon campaign for a fresher, greener environment, and a clearer, bluer ocean?

Maybe a stark black-and-white-ribbon campaign for a more technologically sound America?

And maybe light brown ribbons in support of eating more fresh bread.

Voters passed up a great deal

I can't believe it! I can't believe that the voters of Clarkston have passed up one of the best deals in town! A totally renovated and updated school district for a relatively small increase in taxes.

We desperately needed the first two proposals because of an increase in the number of children in the area and the poor condition of Clarkston Junior High. The junior high that I went to 20 years ago was more modern than Clarkston is now.

The solutions to the problems were simple but obviously not simple enough for the "no" voters. What is the problem, people?

Do you think that you can't afford it? My family income is $43,000 for five people, and my property taxes are $3,000 per year. Because of this I am eligible for the Homestead Property Tax Credit which will refund $897 this year (if I were over 65 the refund would be $1,200).

Passage of all three proposals would have meant an increase of only $10 to $15 per month after the credit!

We don't drive a fancy car; we don't go out to dinner, but we live very comfortably. Anyone who says that they can't afford an increase in their taxes like that is living beyond their means.

Or maybe they are wasting money on cable-TV or other luxuries.

As for people like Zona Sommers who say that we don't need new and bigger facilities: "Wake up and smell the coffee!"

Haven't you been in the schools to see the crowded classes, the inadequacy of the science and computer labs, the lack of seating space at lunch, etc., etc.?

Haven't you seen all the new houses going up all over the community? When my son was born 12 years ago, he was the only child under the age of 15 on my street. There are now 21 in that same stretch of road!

Sure our taxes are going up; mine have more than doubled in the past five years, but so is everything else.

Are you boycotting milk, gas, cars and anything else that has almost doubled in price in the last few years, Zona? I doubt it.

Some people are too selfish and short-sighted to see beyond their own personal wants and desires. It's too bad that there are so many in this district.

I am truly afraid that my three very bright children may never reach their full potential in this school district and will have a hard time getting into good colleges.

It's too bad that so many people here seem to have their priorities and values backwards.

What message is this sending to our youngsters, the leaders of tomorrow? I am almost ashamed to live here.

A "yes" voter,
name withheld by request

Question school leadership

With the overwhelming defeat of our school bond issues, parents with children in this school district have to feel some anxiety and apprehension to what is about to be debated before the school board in coming months.

Our children's future will hang in the balance.

I attend some of these board meetings and I know I am concerned.

I do not delight in the fact that these so crucial bond issues were defeated.

Some sort of bond issue was certainly needed and might have had a chance of passing if only certain individuals in power had presented a more realistic package. Instead, they acted with illusion of grandeur and we all lost totally.

Two years have gone by and our administration is still trying to act credibly. You must show the entire community the need not the greed.

Now is the time — now more than ever — to forcefully question our current leadership in their decision-making process at every turn.

I would not like to see our educational system and students suffer more than it already has because of the inability of our current leadership.

Contrary to the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee and the current administration thinking and personal desires, there are a great number of equally concerned people who feel a conservative, better-managed, and more-informed administration is needed.

The voters again have mandated it.

Many to pray for

I'm assuming that most of you reading this column would consider yourselves a part of the middle class America. I'm not sure of the criteria but let's just assume we're in that category.

The point is that most of us have our share of comforts and those extras that seem to be commonplace. And, our children and grandchildren benefit from the advantages. Which leads us to the following prayer, written by a woman in a Kansas church to be read to her women's society meeting. Since then, the prayer has shown up for publication around the country:

"We pray for children who put chocolate fingers everywhere, who like to be tickled, who stomp in puddles and ruin their new pants, who sneak Popsicles before supper, who can never find their shoes.

"And we pray for those who stare at photographers from behind barbed wire, who are born in places we wouldn't be caught dead, who never go to the circus, who live in an x-rated world.

"We pray for children who bring us sticky kisses and fistfuls of dandelions, who sleep with the dog and bury goldfish, who hug us in a hurry and forget their lunch money, who cover themselves with Band-Aids and sing off key, who squeeze toothpaste all over the sink, who slurp their soup.

"And we pray for those who never get dessert, who have no safe blanket to drag behind them, who watch their parents watch them die, who can't find any bread to steal, who don't have any rooms to clean up, whose picture aren't on anybody's dresser, whose monsters are real.

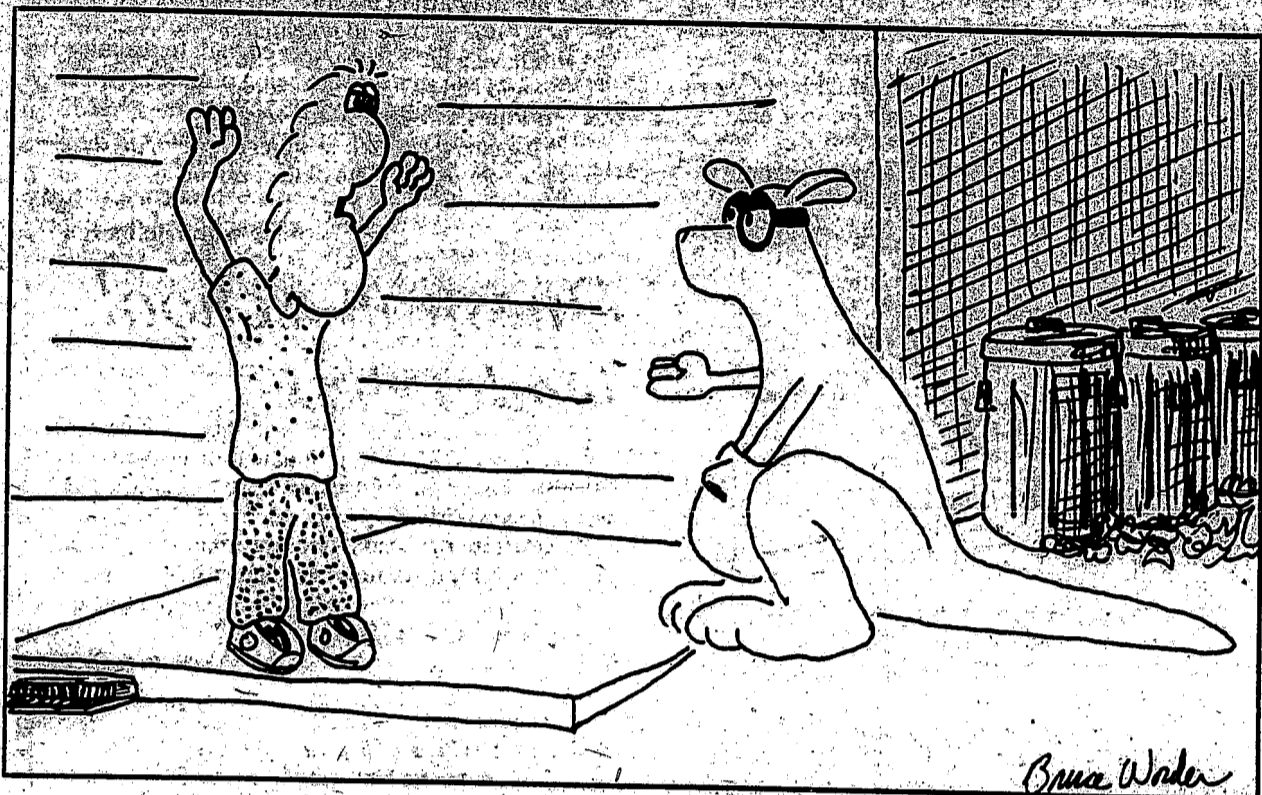

"We pray for children who spend all their allowance before Tuesday, who throw tantrums in the grocery store and pick at their food, who shove dirty clothes under the bed, and never rinse out the tub, who get visits from the tooth fairy, who don't like to be kissed in front of the car pool, who squirm in church and scream in the phone, whose tears we sometimes laugh at and whose smiles can make us cry.

"And we pray for those whose nightmares come in the daytime, who will eat anything, who have never seen a dentist, who aren't spoiled by anybody, who go to bed hungry and cry themselves to sleep, who live and move, but have no being.

"We pray for children who want to be carried and for those who must, for those we never give up on and for those who don't get a second chance. For those we smother . . . and for those who will grab the hand of anybody kind enough to offer it. Amen."

Partying ethically means buying your own booze

Jim Fitzgerald

I brought my own drink to three parties. But I didn't use my glass that hangs around my neck on a chain. I want Bob Giles to know that. Giles, editor and publisher of the Detroit News, has suggested my party conduct was unethical.

Not just mine, but the conduct of about 400 journalists and guests at the Michigan Press Association Convention in Grand Rapids last month. The burning question: Is it ethical for a newspaper person to accept free booze and hors d'oeuvres from corporations that desire the newspaper's favor?

"MPA's 'tradition' of permitting utilities, companies and suppliers to sponsor social events at the convention seems to be an antiquated practice among journalism organizations," Giles said in a letter to F.T. (Buck) Weaver, MPA president and publisher of the Jackson Citizen-Patriot.

Ironically, when I ran into Weaver at the convention, in the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel, he amusingly recalled the time he entered my hotel room unannounced, even though we didn't know each other then, sat down and accepted a drink.

It happened many years ago, at an MPA convention on the MSU campus in East Lansing. Weaver came through my door by mistake. He thought he was in the Michigan Bell hospitality room where free refreshments were due everyone wearing a convention badge.

Which reminds me that, before 1960, the MPA accepted more than a few free drinks from an establishment that member newspapers wrote about. It accepted free office space on the MSU campus from the State of Michigan. This freebie was given back after a weekly newspaper hack named Fitzgerald wrote a tisk-tisk column about it and some MPA directors decided I might be right for the first time in my stupid life.

But back to Giles' letter to Weaver. After pointing out that as most modern newspapers "began to examine the ethics of elected officials, editors and publishers concluded that their own ethical considerations came down on the side of telling our friends outside the business that it wasn't such a good thing to accept their hospitality in this way anymore . . . (this) acknowledged the awkwardness of continuing an appearance of conflict by accepting convention entertainment from organizations we cover in our news columns and express opinions about on our editorial pages."

Giles suggested MPA directors might review freebie policy. One MPA director is Ed Wendover, publisher of The Community Crier and a long-active opponent of the joint operating agreement between the News and the Free Press. In a letter to several MPA members, he thanked Giles for his ethical concern and suggested total membership reaction be sought. And Wendover couldn't resist mentioning that:

" . . . this ethics complaint comes from the publisher of a newspaper that shares 50-50 in the BIGGEST HAND-OUT EVER SNIVELED FOR and dished out to Michigan newspapering. The JOA adds up to a lot of cantaloupe balls!"

My goodness! All I can say is the MPA membership of about 300 newspapers consists predominantly of weeklies, and, as a former weekly editor, I predict many weekly executives will react negatively to the suggestion that their integrity can be purchased for a beer and a finger sandwich.

Also: Three free receptions at the January convention, hosted by AAA Michigan, Manistique Papers Inc. and Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Michigan, offered wine, cheese and sticky after-dinner drinks. I don't like that stuff, so into each party I carried my own trusty vodka and tonic, purchased at the bar.

And for the next convention I'll dig out the glass-on-a-chain necklace that allows a drinker to use a plate and silverware at stand-up cocktail parties. For many years the swinging glass was my convention trademark, before I grew old enough to act my age. When conventioners see me enter the hotel with my own drink hanging from my neck, they'll realize that, as a big-city columnist, I have even more integrity than when I was a small town journalist who played no favorites: I'd accept a free drink from whoever offered it, and reward the giver with nothing more than my promise to come back for more.

From This Perspective

Lessons too late

Tracy King

Perhaps the most surprising thing about the recent school bonding election — apart from the overwhelming loss — was one of the main factors blamed for the proposals' defeat.

People just didn't believe enrollment projections, I was told.

Of all the reasons I could list for the proposals failing, this one held the least amount of water in my mind.

But as letters continued to pour into The Clarkston News this week, I realize that, truly, people don't believe growth is occurring.

As far back as 1986 (and probably earlier — my files only go back to 1986) the district has pointed to a need for new facilities.

The 1986 determination was based not on the selfish wishes of administrators, but on a 138-page facilities audit conducted by then-architect Charles W. Sherman.

Another audit — this one compiled by a computer using live births, the number of students already enrolled in Clarkston schools and on documents provided by the township planning department — was conducted in 1990 by Greiner Inc., another architectural firm.

The Greiner team determined the same thing as the firm before it: Clarkston would need updated facilities including a new elementary school, a new high school and modifications to existing schools.

Even with these studies, some residents still insisted that projections were fabrications. Enrollment is down, they argued.

That's true, current enrollment at the high school is down. But as the district moves the ninth grade to the high school — and as the large middle and elementary populations grow up — that won't be the case for long.

As even this information failed to affect some residents, I wondered whether they had been to the schools recently.

Did they know that most elementary schools had no rooms for music? Or that food is served in the hallways?

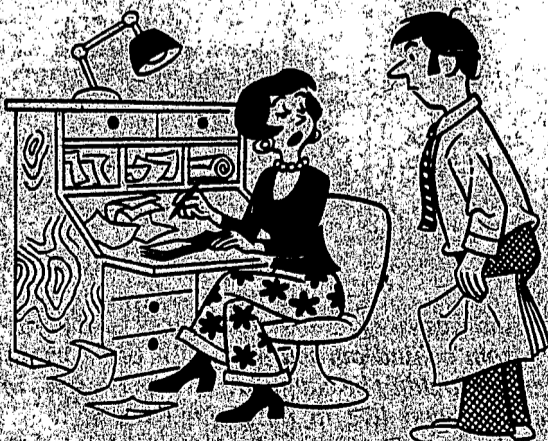

Did they know that the library at Clarkston Junior High holds only 30 students at one time?

Had they driven through Independence Township lately and seen any new construction? Had they contacted the township building department to learn how many developments were planned or underway?

Even if enrollment were not a factor, did they realize that Clarkston Junior High was 60 years old and constructed in the 1930s?

Evidence of inadequate facilities is apparent in almost every single school building. Township growth is even easier to spot.

It surprises me that disbelief of enrollment projections affected the vote. It saddens me that the learning will take place after the vote was held.

"YOU SAY I'M OVERDRAWN. I SAY YOU'RE UNDERDEPOSITED."

Only what we deserve

Once again the voters have vented their petty frustrations on the group least able to protect itself — the children of the Clarkston School District.

The "no" vote can only be explained by ignorance at best, or at worst, a conscious mean-spirited lack of concern for the student in the Clarkston schools.

It is a safe assumption that a substantial majority of the "no" voters will, during the next year, squander more than what this tax increase would have cost them individually on activities or purchases far less deserving than providing first-rate educational facilities for this district.

Even worse, the real culprits will never be held accountable.

It starts with a township board that caters to every developer who shows up with a blueprint and bulldozer, regardless of the impact of this development on the schools, the roads or the quality of life in general.

It extends to our state legislators who have utterly failed to step up to their obligation to provide adequate school financing and property tax relief.

But the most serious failure rests with the local school board. If this crisis was manufactured as some suggest, then the board and the administration have misled the public. If the crisis is genuine, as I believe, then they are guilty of mismanagement or at least a failure to be persuasive leaders of community opinion. In short, they have lost the confidence of the public.

In any event integrity dictates that the board should immediately resign and make provision to turn the reigns of the school district over to a new board who can either manage or lead or both.

If they fail to do so, then the organized opposition to these millage proposals, if they are genuinely interested in quality education, should themselves lead a recall campaign against each and every board member.

Of course none of these events will occur. Instead, having achieved their goal of protecting their precious pocketbooks, the same voters who turned down these proposals will in upcoming elections unthinkingly return to office those who have led us to this present predicament.

Truly, we get the government, and the school system, we deserve.

Richard A. Meyer

Cable-TV fee hike unfair

This letter is to make United Cable (UC) customers aware of my dissatisfaction with UC's latest marketing play, which is really nothing more than another annual cost increase.

Since I started subscribing to cable about five years ago, the basic rate has gone from $9.95 to $20.25.

This is more than a 100 percent increase and averages out to 20 percent a year.

I have never experienced increases of this nature from any other service that I have subscribed to. I did have a tough choice, I could pay the increases or give up the cable.

UC forces this choice on its customers because it has captured an audience and is banking on the fact that the majority of subscribers will accept the increases rather than give up their cable service.

Eventually more subscribers are going to feel the same way I feel. I have been taken advantage of long enough.

Instead of UC passing on their cost increases to their customers, they should start looking at some cost-cutting measures in order to absorb their added cost.

These are hard times for everyone. UC customers cannot ask their employers for 20 percent increases every year.

If UC customers stop long enough to examine the way the two packages that are being offered after March 15 are marketed, they will see that 50 percent of the basic service could easily be reached with an indoor or outdoor antenna.

What UC has done is taken the most popular channels, along with the premium channels, and made them inaccessible without the basic service, thereby forcing its customers to accept the new higher price for what is really nothing more than basic service.

I do not want to give up my cable service, nor do I want to pay an additional $1.50 per month for a service I currently have.

I hope that this letter will spark other UC customers to also write UC and express their displeasure with this cost increase being forced on us as a captured cable service audience.

Hopefully between us we can convince UC's management to forego the requested increase.

Please write to UC at Marketing, United Cable TV, 4500 Delemere, Royal Oak, Mich., 48073.

He'll live with voters' decision

I write this letter as an individual school board member and not as a representative of the board of education as a whole.

Now that the facilities bond issues has been defeated, I am compelled to offer my response.

We, as a board of education, have the responsibility to state to you, the voting public, our considered view regarding the state of the school system, its present condition in areas of curriculum, facilities and general function.

The recent bond proposals were, of course, directed solely to the issue of facilities.

In this area we have the responsibility to come to you with a clear statement of the needs as we see them, and with a proposed solution along with the underlying rationale.

I believe we have done that. I believe we have asked the hard questions regarding student population and demographic trends and have considered all the alternative responses to meet the educational needs of our children now and into the future.

I believe we have asked the hard questions of just what our children need to know for future success and how we may best prepare them.

This district has a well-conceived long-range facilities plan. Based upon our study, the board unanimously voted to submit the recent bond proposals to you for a vote.

It appears that our collective vision of the facilities required for proper education of Clarkston's children is quite different from the view held by many voters. Therein lies our problem.

Perhaps this election result had much to do with the Gulf War, or with our declining economy, or with both. We know little of the duration or of the personal pain to be suffered with either event.

For some it was, perhaps, simply a money-taxation issue. Perhaps the vote related more to a perception that we, as a board, are not good enough stewards of the funds placed in our hands now.

Perhaps the collective voice was an expression of several of the above concerns.

Regardless of the reasons of the demise of these three proposals, regardless of our individual convictions pro or con, we face these problems together. We shall find a solution together because we cannot find a solution separately.

I do not propose that this vote has changed my opinion about the condition of our schools. It has not. I do not propose that this vote has changed my view of what a Clarkston education is, can, and ought to be. It has not. I know fully well that buildings, in and of themselves, teach nothing. But crowded buildings reduce teaching effectiveness and student learning.

This fact is inescapable: adequate facilities are important. Reasonable minds may differ as to the meaning of "adequate."

There is another inescapable fact, when dealing with young minds, and that is this. Knowledge is power.

Think briefly of a person who has one — he or she likely has the other. The very best that we can do for our children and grandchildren is to give them two things. We must give them roots so that they know who they are and where they came from. But we must also give them wings so that they can fly on their own.

Education does this. Good education does it well.

On Feb. 11, the board asked much of the voters of this community, and the request was refused. I, for one, will live with that decision and will continue to work diligently for, and on behalf of, the children of Clarkston.

In making future decisions I welcome all differing and dissenting viewpoints on all issues. This is the only way we can succeed.

Finally, if I am perceived as being greedy for your tax dollar please know that my greed derives from a deep-seated desire to ask for and expect a good solid education for every Clarkston kid.

In the final analysis, can you expect anything less of me?

Thomas Howard, vice president
Clarkston Board of Education election results.

Rather than repeatedly offer an educational program that seems to be suitable from a distance, possibly more realistic measures need to be applied to show the district's true plight.

For example, I hope the school board seriously considers split sessions in the school buildings affected by overcrowding.

Again, this type of decision should not be one based upon resentment, bitterness or vindictiveness because of the bond issue failure, but rather based upon stark reality.

If spatial conditions are currently unsatisfactory and voters are not willing to provide the necessary funds, then changes need to be made in the housing of the students as early as the 1991-1992 school year.

This seems to be the only rational approach to the school district's dilemma.

All registered voters have the right to vote according to their conscience.

Regardless of their individual beliefs and reasons, one message has been sent loud and clear. The majority of the voting populous is strongly opposed to a bond issue that would levy money to construct and renovate buildings that house Clarkston's children and serve the community as a whole.

I would hope that others who were disappointed with the Feb. 11 results would support the school board in making changes that may not appear to be appealing but are unavoidably necessary.

Ronald G. Zeeman

Help school board through problems

The following is a letter sent to the Clarkston Community Schools superintendent. The author asked that it be reproduced as a letter to the editor.

This letter is written in response to the Feb. 11 bond issue election. Prior to the election, there were many arguments for and against the bond issue.

With the defeat, however, it is unequivocally clear that the majority of the voters do not appear eager to improve past or current school programs or facilities as proposed by the school board.

Voters twice in recent years have defeated bond issues intended for the same purpose. Likewise, it has been a struggle to approve operating millages.

Without showing feelings of bitterness or vindictiveness, maybe it is time for school officials to give the people of the community what they want by virtue of the

Give electorate honest proposals

The recent bond election, both its results and its prelude, illustrates that you have not yet learned how to deal with the electorate.

Letter after letter argued that there is no actual space shortage since the number of students has not grown but, rather, has decreased.

Official positions printed in the paper did not directly deal with these statements, but instead, blithely restated that the student population has increased.

Anyone who has been around long enough and is interested knows that the high school student body is at least 20 percent smaller than it was 10 years ago.

Instead of respecting the intelligence of the electorate, you gave us threats that the school day would be split into two sessions, a loss of accreditation, and so forth.

You should realize that most of us are at least as smart as you are, some of us have as much education, some of us have as much administrative experience, and most of us are having to deal with a recession.

Also, most of us do not want to pay more taxes at all, much less to an organization that has lost its credibility.

In prior elections for operation money you threatened us with loss of extracurricular activities and other desirable items and then used the money to increase the salaries of administrators.

A large number of citizens think you have far more of these administrators than you need, much less can afford.

In summary, I believe that you should start dealing with electorate as if we were intelligent, concerned and skeptical; and give us honest and detailed proposals.

Quit trying to use authoritarian pronouncements; you are public servants and are supposed to be responsible to us.

Cluster housing OK'd protect wetlands, woods

BY BETTY WAGNER
Clarkston News Special Writer

One of the most beautiful parcels of land in Springfield Township was the subject of discussion for more than an hour Feb. 13.

In two separate motions, the board unanimously approved cluster housing as a special land use and a site plan for Black Lake Forest. The approvals are contingent upon revisions of the master deed and by-laws in accordance with comments made by the board and township attorney.

The proposed 66-acre development, engineered by Del Lohff of Kieft Engineering, Inc., is south of Davisburg Road and in the area of Ellis and Bigelow roads.

The cluster housing option allows houses to be built more closely to each other in order to preserve the natural beauty and resources of the parcel. The special use applies to single family residential zoning of one unit per acre.

The density doesn't change, only the lot size.

The proposed Black Lake Forest comprises 40 half-acre home sites and 34 acres of general commons area, which includes 14 1/2 acres of wetlands, 36 acres of woodlands and a 7.7-acre lake.

The deed restrictions require underground wiring; a provision to preserve trees, natural terrain and wetlands; septic set 100 feet from the lake; 20-foot-wide paved roads; and a storm sewer system to divert water into the wetlands and lake.

During the public hearing, four people voiced concern about erosion, lake expansion, water and septic problems. One complimented the development proposal.

Marv Stanley, a 20-year resident of Davisburg Road, said Black Lake Forest is a spectacular piece of property and the plan serves it well.

Following the public hearing, the board reviewed the plan, master deed and by-laws. They expressed concerns about location of the mailboxes, storm sewers, culverts, drainage, density, one home site, a common road and the driveway coming off Davisburg Road.

After hearing comments by Lohff, the board recommended changes in the master deed and by-laws and made the changes necessary for plan approval.

Supervisor Collin Walls, who had earlier said township engineers would resolve the problems quickly, noted that the development has come a long way.

"It's a unique and quality plan to deal with unique property," he said.

Trustee Margaret Bloom said she was glad to see the roads aligned.

Trustee Dennis Vallad also liked the project.

"They've done an excellent job with a very beautiful piece of property," he said.

Wolves head north for state ski finals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Only 10 girls' ski teams still have a shot at winning the state championship, and Clarkston is one of them.

The Wolves earned a trip to the Feb. 25 state finals at Nub's Nob (near Harbor Springs) by finishing second at the Feb. 14 regionals.

It's the ninth straight year the team has qualified for state. Last year, Clarkston placed fifth at the championships.

Grand Blanc won the 16-team regional with 57 points followed by Clarkston's 160 1/2. Fenton was a close third with 165. The top two teams qualify for the state championships, along with the top four individual skiers who are not members of the top two teams.

Carrie Roeser earned medals in both the slalom and giant slalom and Kim Carpentier picked up a medal in the giant slalom.

Roeser finished fourth in the giant slalom (46.97) and sixth in the slalom (46.38). Carpentier was 10th in the giant slalom (48.65).

"Carrie always comes through when we need her," said her coach and mother, Judy Roeser.

The coach said Carpentier is peaking during post-season competition.

"Kim is really coming on late in the season," said coach Roeser.

The coach also pointed out that Becky Rumph made the Wolves breath a little easier with her performance in the slalom.

Clarkston knew Fenton was breathing down the Wolves' necks for a second and final spot into the state finals. Because Carpentier (53rd, 62.87) and Andrea Raymond (41st, 57.85) did not finish as fast as expected in the slalom, Rumph's run became even more important (the top four runs of six skiers are added for team totals).

Rumph was the last Wolf skier down the slopes and she finished both runs in 57.13 for 39th place. As it turned out, Raymond's 41st finish still would have put Clarkston in second place, but the Wolves didn't know that for sure at the time.

Other Wolves and their places in the slalom were: Sandra Linberg, 15th (48.36); Missy Crites, 30th (57.13).

Other Wolves and their places in the giant slalom were: Raymond, 22nd (50.16); Crites 25th, (50.23); Linberg, 27th (50.45); Courtney Whittaker, 69th (56.23).

About 90 girls skied at the regionals. Coach Roeser expects Grand Blanc and Marion to field two of the toughest teams at state. She also expects Petoskey and Harbor Springs to be tough, especially since they are used to skiing at Nub's Nob.

The coach said one other advantage northern teams have at state is that the runs are longer because state competition is held up north. During the regular ski season, southern teams compete on shorter courses while northern teams ski on longer courses.

Boys 7th at regionals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston boys' ski team placed seventh out of 16 teams at the regionals Feb. 14.

Only the top two teams (plus the top four skiers who aren't members of the top two teams) advanced to the state championships at Nub's Nob Feb. 25.

"I know they would have liked to have skied better, but it just wasn't their day," said Clarkston coach Judy Roeser, adding, "I'm still proud of them."

Clarkston senior Brian Zoss earned two medals by finishing ninth in the slalom (38.89 seconds) and giant slalom (43.63).

About 111 skiers competed.

Other Wolves in the slalom and their finishes were: Mike Miller, 24th (41.14); Justin Whittaker, 25th-tied, (41.17); Dave Studt, 53rd (45.71); Bryson Menke, 71st (51.02); Mike Kozlowski, 85th (71.54).

Other Wolves in the giant slalom and their finishes were: Whittaker, 15th (44.39); Menke, 40th (45.74); Studt, 43rd (45.94); Kozlowski, 48th (46.15).

Grand Blanc won the meet with 116 points, followed by Rochester Adams 160 1/2, Fenton 165, Rochester 182 1/2, Bloomfield Hills Lahser 206, Bloomfield Hills Andover 218, Clarkston 218 1/2, Flint Carmen-Ainsworth 237 1/2, Detroit County Day 268 1/2, Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook 306, Lake Orion 330, Flint Powers Catholic 348, Flushing 364 1/2, Holly 495, Waterford-Kettering 565 1/2, Waterford Mott 613.

Crunch time! Wrestlers prepare for state

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

They're Grrrrrrrrreat.
Clarkston varsity wrestlers already know Tony the Tiger.
For the next two weekends, Tony the Tiger and Battle Creek will know about Clarkston.

This weekend the Wolves will be sending six wrestlers (Damon Michelsen, Jerry Anderson, Jeff Deroseau, Joel Davis, Joe Webb, Jason Roughton) to the Class A individual state finals at the cereal city. The following weekend (March 1-2) the entire Clarkston team competes there for the team state championship.

Clarkston, rated second in the state, has been on course all season to face No. 1 Temperance-Bedford in those team finals. It's the first Clarkston wrestling team ever to make the finals. But it wasn't easy. In fact, the Wolves were 30 seconds away from being eliminated in the regional finals.

Clarkston 31, Howell 26
(Regional finals at Lake Orion)
Clarkston's chances of reaching the state finals hinged on 30 seconds and the skill of co-captain Joel Davis.

After the Wolves demolished Flint Kearsley, 56-16, in the regional semifinals, Clarkston (No. 2 in the state) met Howell (No. 4 in the state) in the finals.

The Wolves led 25-20 with only two matches remaining. Howell expected to win the last match on a pin (six points) because it was sending returning heavy-weight state champion Kyle Steinacker to the mat. Steinacker later did pin Clarkston's Joe Webb in only 41 seconds.

Knowing this, Clarkston coach Scott Strickler told Davis before the match that he had to win in order for his team to take the regionals and advance to state.

Davis, a 189-pound senior, was up 5-2 against Tony Baruzinni. But the Howell wrestler tied it at 5-5 with 1:30 remaining in the final period.

Baruzinni continued at the standstill and then Davis wisely drove himself out of bounds with 30 seconds left.

With Baruzinni on top, Davis immediately reversed himself for the go-ahead points and a few seconds later pinned Baruzinni with only 14 ticks left on the clock.

Davis said after he heard the referee's whistle, he made the switch and then "cradled him (Baruzinni) and put him on his back."

Davis said, "It was kind of nerve-racking. And a nice win."

Those 30 seconds were also tough on his coach.

"I sat there calm and collected until that match," said six-year coach Strickler. "It was the single most exciting moment of wrestling since I've been coaching."

Davis shared the victory with his teammates, pointing out that they were the ones who put him in the position to win it.

"Everybody else came through, too," said Davis.

In fact, six other Wolves came through with wins before Davis stepped onto the mat.

Jeff Deroseau (103-pounds) began the finals with an 8-2 decision over Andy Lamb.

Howell came back with two straight pins: Ryan Lane (112) against Pat Forbes at 3:08 and Nick Wahl (119) against Terry Melvin at 2:45.

But Wolf Jerry Anderson (125) came back to crush Kurt Triewieler, 13-2, and Jason Roughton (130) stopped Roger Nickleson, 9-4.

Howell's Kurt Lane (135) nipped Mike Stanton, 2-1.

Alex Martin (140) then came through by giving the Wolves their only pin, stopping Otto Wendell at 3:59.

Clarkston's Rick Mini (145) then battled to a 6-6 draw with Jeff Prince. That was followed by a Howell win when Cliff Curd (152) topped Steve Cohoon, 10-5.

Two Wolf seniors then set up the heroics for fellow senior Davis. Jason Slater defeated Rick Pniewski, 10-2, and Damon Michelsen got past Jason Steinacker, 6-1.

Six of eight place at individual regionals (Feb. 16 at Lake Orion)

Michelsen and Anderson wrestled their way to individual regional championships and Deroseau, Roughton, Davis and Webb placed to qualify for state.

The six state qualifiers tied last year's mark for the most Wolves ever sent to the finals. Two other Clarkston seniors who won the district and competed at the regionals, Alex Martin and Jason Slater, failed in their bid to continue onto the state finals.

"I've got to be the happiest coach in Michigan," said Clarkston coach Scott Strickler. Strickler plans on being happy for at least two more years after this already-successful season is over. Three of the state qualifiers at Battle Creek this weekend are sophomores.

Michelsen, a 171-pound senior, pinned all of his opponents for the regional title. He stopped Lake Orion's Jim Frye at 3:24 in the finals.

"Damon dominated as usual," said Strickler about his co-captain, who is 45-1-1 on the season and ranked No. 1 in the state.

Anderson, a 125-pound sophomore who is 47-1 and ranked No. 2 in the state, topped Holly's Andy Winogradsky on a 6-3 decision. Anderson's only loss was an 8-0 decision to Belleville's Steve Davis. Anderson is expecting to meet Davis in Battle Creek.

Deroseau, a 103-pound sophomore, lost only his second match of the season when he was pinned in the finals by Pontiac Northern's Walter Hamilton at 1:25. Deroseau, 42-2, had previously stopped his Greater Oakland Activities League foe in twice in close matches.

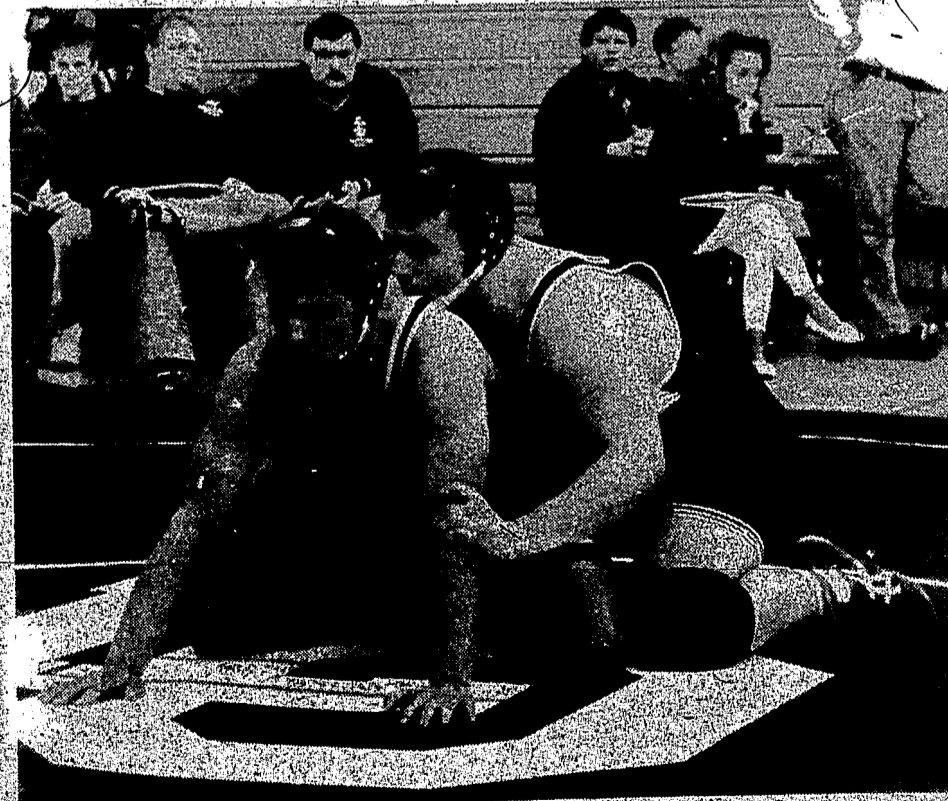

Senior heavyweight Webb also lost in the finals, getting stopped by Davison's Jim Jacques, 5-1. Webb's record is 27-6.

"Joe has been a pleasant surprise. He gives 70 pounds to just about everybody," said coach Strickler about Webb who is a "small" heavyweight at 190 pounds. Strickler has had a pleasant situation all season, having two quality heavyweights (the other being Tony Miller) to step in when needed.

Roughton, a 130-pound sophomore, took third by edging Owosso's Jeremy Ford, 7-6. Roughton, 25-8-1, has especially been strong in the second half of the season.

Davis, the team's other senior co-captain wrestling at 189, placed fourth after getting edged by Holly's Rob Roberts, 11-10, in overtime.

A national record was set at the regionals when Flint Kearsley 189-pounder Matt Brady, 68-0 on the season, won his 212th career match.

Oh, brother! Clarkston coach makes crucial decision

Clarkston coach Scott Strickler had to make an interesting decision during the wrestling team regionals Feb. 13.

Strickler's team had already clinched a semifinal win over Flint Kearsley before the 189-pound match began.

Wrestling for Kearsley was Matt Brady, who was 65-0 on the season. One more win would give Brady a national record for most wins in a season, breaking an old record of 65 set by Strickler's brother, Matt, a few years ago.

Since the Wolves had already clinched a win and had to go against a tough Howell team later in the regional finals, Strickler decided to rest his best 189-pounder, Joel Davis.

Brady went on to win his match, but the Wolves still clobbered Kearsley, 56-16.

Later in the regional finals, a fresh Davis went on to pin his Howell opponent with 10 seconds remaining in a key win that helped the Wolves advance to the team state finals.

After the match, coach Strickler called his brother and started the conversation by saying, "I've got some good news and some bad news..."

Matt Strickler was happy about his brother's team success. And about losing his record, he replied, "Records are meant to be broken."

No GOAL opponents block Wolves from title

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's varsity volleyball team found the right numbers this season.

Last year it was 2-8 in the Greater Oakland Activities League, this season it's 8-0.

Last season the Wolves finished fourth in the GOAL, this year they have clinched first.

The biggest reason for this turnaround has also been numbers, numbers like 11 (Jenny Graham), 23 (Becky Kosek), 21 (Heather Steinhelper), 9 (Candy Polenz), 8 (Laura Garlitz), 19 (Stacey Tinkis) and others.

The Wolves won the GOAL championship at home Feb. 13 when it defeated Brandon 15-3, 17-15.

"Every year your goal is to try and when the league championship," said Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson, whose team last won the title in 1989. "It helps to bring recognition to the school."

It looked as if the Wolves were going to run away easily from Brandon, but the Blackhawks had a different idea.

After they were trounced in the first game, the Blackhawks came back to lead the second game, 12-3.

But at that point, Graham helped get the Wolves back in the game with several kills, closing the gap to 12-9.

Brandon had two game points later in the game, but Polenz made a game-saving kill when the Wolves were down 14-12 and Steinhelper did the same when down 14-13.

The game was knotted at 15-15, and then Clarkston pulled it out for a 17-15 game, match and GOAL championship.

"They played hard, but it wasn't ever an easy win," said coach Richardson.

Richardson said his squad "didn't stay mentally focused" at the beginning of the second game put away Brandon while it was down after the one-sided first game. He gave credit to Brandon for coming back, but also gave credit to his Wolves for coming back after trailing 12-3.

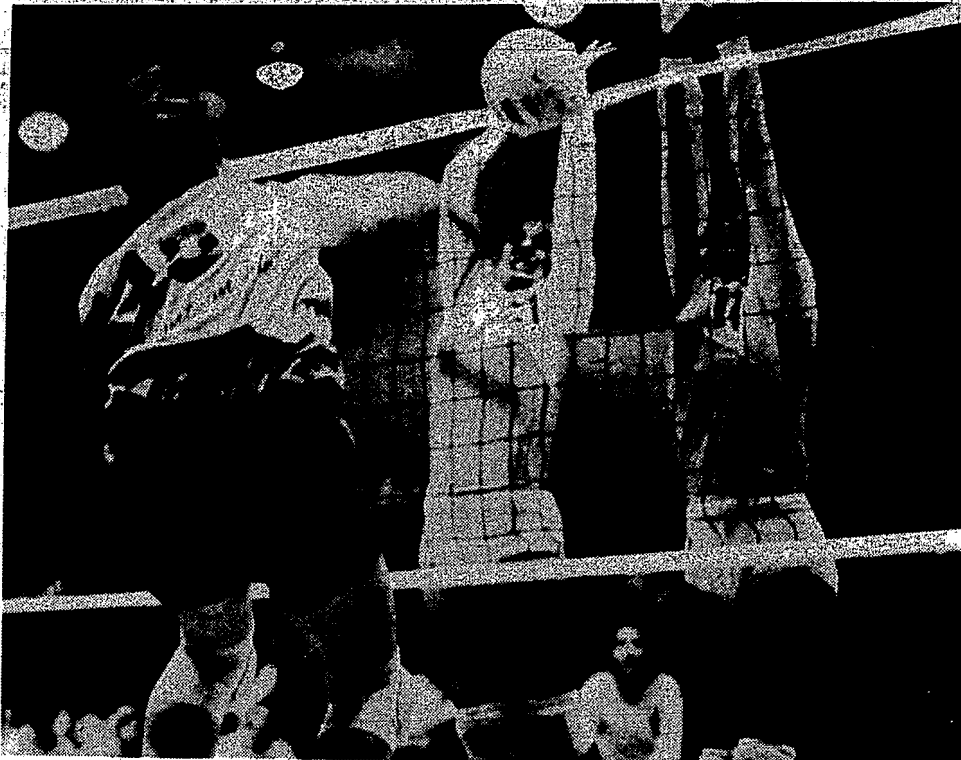

Clarkston 1-2-2 at the Garber Invitational (Feb. 16 at Essexville)

Clarkston won its first match but could only muster two ties in remaining action at the Garber Invitational.

Clarkston coach Richardson said his team played "inconsistent" volleyball.

The Wolves began the day with a hint of that inconsistency. They stomped Montrose in the first game, 15-0, but narrowly won the second game, 18-16.

Clarkston then settled for a 6-15, 15-

HEATHER Steinhelper and Jenny Graham go up for a block against Brandon. Clarkston won the GOAL match in two games.

12 split with Bad Axe in the second match.

The Wolves lost the third match, 5-15, 10-15, to Pinconning, which is the No. 3 rated team in class B.

"We didn't play with a lot of intensity," said Richardson about his team's performance against the cheese city.

The Wolves came back to then play their strongest volleyball of the day, tying Holland Christian, 13-15, 15-13. Richardson said his team played "great" against the state's No. 7 rated team in class B.

But after that strong performance, Clarkston was eliminated from the tournament by Davison, 3-15, 5-15.

"We didn't seem to have enthusiasm," said Richardson. "We had poor movement and transition."

In totals at the tournament, Polenz led the team in kills with 17, followed by Graham (16) and Steinhelper (14). The team combined for a .205 attack percentage.

Kosek had a 94.3 setting percentage, making only nine errors in 157 attempts.

The Clarkston team served at 90 percent with 17 aces while its serve reception percentage was 74.4.

Tinkis led the team in digs with 21, Graham had 20 and Garlitz 18.

Steinhelper had 10 blocks while Graham totaled seven.

Cagers continue to apply pressure, win

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Jon Wyniemko rarely plays half a game and has a higher G.P.A. than P.P.G. But if you want to know why the Clarkston varsity basketball team is undefeated and ranked fourth in the state, watch the way Wyniemko and his teammates play pressure defense.

After Clarkston was up only 18-16 after eight minutes at Brandon last Thursday night, Wyniemko and the tough Wolf defense took over in the second quarter to outscore the Blackhawks, 16-6, and take a 34-22 lead at the half.

"Jon changed the whole complexion of the game," said Clarkston coach Dan Fife about the junior. "He turned our intensity level up like it was night and day."

The Wolves then went on to hold a 55-37 bulge after three quarters and then coasted to a 72-46 win over the Blackhawks. With the win, the Wolves improved to 16-0 overall and 8-0 in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

And if the Wolves win games with their defense, they add the icing to the cake with their offense.

Dugan Fife had another one of his typical games. When the junior guard wasn't finding an open man with his accurate passing, he was using his dead-eye on the basket by scoring 31 points, which included sinking three 3-pointers and hitting 10 of 10 free throws.

Mark Galbraith scored 13 and Luke Fedio had 10. Fedio scored eight in the second quarter.

Derek Wiley added eight, Chris Wasilk four and Jason Lund, Dereck Raymond and Wyniemko each had two.

Brent Rodak led the Blackhawks with 15 and Greg Alban added 13.

Clarkston 75, Ferndale 47
(Feb. 12 at Clarkston)

Basketball is not a game of inches. At least that's the way Clarkston approaches and finishes a game.

Ferndale arrived at the Clarkston gym with 6-foot, 9-inch Carlos Kennedy and 6-foot, 8-inch Paul Reid, but it left with a 75-

47 loss to the Wolves.

Kennedy scored 19 and Reid only managed four points.

"We did an excellent job against him (Kennedy)," said coach Dan Fife. "He had to work for his points."

The Clarkston coach was especially glad with the way his team handled him because last year Kennedy paced Ferndale to a 4-point win over the Wolves. Last year, Kennedy blocked 11 Wolf shots. Last week, he only blocked two.

Clarkston's pesky defense also had a number of steals to give Ferndale fits. And if that wasn't enough, the Wolves had plenty of offensive punch, including sinking 20 of 29 free throws (Ferndale was 12 of 18).

Clarkston led 20-12 after the first quarter, increased its lead to 39-22 at intermission and then coasted for the win.

Dugan Fife scored 29 points, which included hitting 10 of 12 free throws. Galbraith had another solid performance, scoring 14. Wasilk scored eight. Fedio six, Lund, Raymond and Wiley each had four, Wyniemko three, Sean Halleran two and David Smith one.

Snowmobilers should take precautions

Before heading to Michigan's 4,500 miles of groomed snowmobile trails, it's important to have the proper equipment and take precautionary measures that will make the sport safer.

When it comes to using snowmobile equipment, snowmobilers should have ample trails to choose from, since Michigan ranks third in the nation in the number of snowmobile trail miles, behind Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Michigianians enjoy an ever-increasing number of groomed trails every year, since about $1.7 million of the state gas tax collected annually from the fuel purchased by sledders is spent to create, improve and expand them.

The Department of Natural Resources reports several hundred miles of new snowmobile trails will be added in the next three years.

To avoid accidents this season, snowmobilers should be aware of local ordinances.

In the winter of 1988-89, the last data available, 394 snowmobile crashes were reported in Michigan, resulting in 11 fatalities, 339 injuries and 79 cases of property damage. Alcohol was a factor in 90 percent of the snowmobile fatalities as compared to 49 percent of all traffic fatalities.

AAA Michigan offers the following safety tips for snowmobilers:

- Don't drink alcohol before or while snowmobiling.
- Don't snowmobile alone, especially in wilderness areas.

■ Steering mechanism and track should be checked regularly and maintained properly.

■ Don't venture out in snowstorms or subzero weather.

■ Carry a first-aid kit, compass, map, matches, and aluminum foil-type blanket that reflects heat back to the body, as well as snacks and dry socks.

■ Dress warmly, avoiding loose clothing that can tangle in equipment.

■ Stay on marked trails and watch for fence, wires and stumps concealed by snow.

■ Don't cross lakes or rivers unless certain that the ice is at least six inches thick.

■ Drive at reasonable speeds that allow constant control of the vehicle, especially on blind trails.

JV cagers reach 14-2 mark

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Nick Shires, Eric Ryan and Matt Underwood equaled the scoring of Brandon's entire team as the Clarkston JV basketball squad downed the Blackhawks, 64-53, last Thursday.

The Wolves are now 14-2 on the season.

One dozen of Shires' two dozen points were from the free throw line, including a torrid 10-of-10 from the charity line in the final quarter. Four of those free throws were also via technical fouls from the Brandon bench.

Ryan nailed three 3-pointers as part of his 13 points. His "hat trick" came just

Clarkston grad shines for WMU

Rob Laurie, a Clarkston High School graduate, has been spectacular in goal lately for the Western Michigan University hockey team.

Laurie, a junior, has posted a 5-0-0 record in his last six games for the Broncos. WMU is currently ranked 15th in the country.

Overall, Laurie is 5-2-1 with an .855 saves percentage and a 3.97 goals against average.

The Broncos will finish their regular season this weekend with a home series against No. 1 nationally-ranked Lake Superior State University.

two days after he had sank five 3-pointers against Ferndale. The entire Wolf team only managed to make about four 3-pointers during the first 14 games of the season.

Wolf Matt Underwood also had a solid performance with 16 points, sinking most of his shots from inside the paint.

Clarkston was ahead of the hosts, 17-13, after the first quarter and expanded its lead to 35-27 at the half. The Wolves increased their lead to 50-38 after three quarters and hung on for the win.

"We never could really pull away," said Clarkston coach Tim Kaul.

Scott Rooney and Dan Scheib each scored three points, Chris Combs and Jeremy Deloney each had two and Steve Black added one.

Clarkston 60, Ferndale 52
(Feb. 12 at Clarkston)

Ryan's five 3-pointers in the first half were to much for Ferndale in a 60-52 Wolf win.

"He (Ryan) established our lead," said coach Kaul. Ryan finished the game with a game-high 19, all of which came in the first half.

Clarkston jumped out to a 24-4 advantage after the first quarter.

"We created a lot of turnovers," said coach Kaul about his team's pressure defense. "They (Ferndale) seemed slow and disorganized."

The Wolves took a 39-23 lead into intermission and continued to lead 46-33 after three quarters. Ferndale never got closer than to within eight points in the final quarter.

Shires scored 13, Matt Smith had eight, Combs and Deloney each had six, Black four and Underwood and Rooney both added two.

A perfect GOAL

The Wolves have owned this winter sports season.

Every time Clarkston varsity athletes have competed with Greater Oakland Activities League opponents, they have won.

It doesn't matter if it's basketball, volleyball, wrestling, girls' skiing or boys' skiing.

It doesn't matter if the Wolves are playing against Captains, Dragons, Huskies, Corsairs or Blackhawks.

Clarkston is 27-0 against GOAL competitors (and that's not including the wrestler's GOAL meet victory).

GOAL opponents are running out of time. There are only two volleyball matches left against the Wolves and two basketball games remaining.

And the Wolves aren't just experiencing this success within the league. The girls' ski team will be competing at the state championships Monday and the following weekend the wrestling team goes to state.

And, of course, post-season action hasn't even started for the 16-0 basketball team and the 20-7-9 volleyball squad.

Clarkston Athletic Director Paul Tungate better start ordering five "91s" for those GOAL championship banners inside the gymnasium.

Call for unity

The Springfield Mobile Home Owners Association held a protest Dec. 1 and 2, 1990, at Springfield Estates Mobile Home Park. The protest was against park owners, who sold the parks power antenna system to the cable company.

We lost our choice of television reception in our park. The cable company could possibly take complete control of TV viewing in all mobile home parks throughout the state of Michigan.

The Springfield Mobile Home Owners Association has scheduled a follow up protest for March 9 and 10 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at Springfield Estates on Dixie Highway.

Primary issues are: losing are choice of reception for commercial paid broadcast channels, rent mediation, rent arbitration and extra charges for adults living in our homes. These are just some of the issues; there are many more.

Subscription cable should be an option -- not forced. I have written my state senator, Dave Honnigman of the 17th District, to support a bill that would require mobile home parks to supply an underground television antenna system for choice of reception when there are no exterior antennas allowed, per ordinance or park policy.

Any concerned mobile home owners who share these same views, come and unite in numbers. We need you, and we think you need us.

In the voting District 17 alone, there are a minimum of 5,145 mobile home sites. If we can estimate two registered voters per mobile home, this represents 10,290 voting constituents, which could certainly sway a vote in District 17.

If you would like to start an association or have just an interest, please write to: Springfield Mobile Home Owners Association, P.O. Box 664, Clarkston, MI 48347.

Or write to the state association: Mobilehome Owners' Legislative Association of Michigan, 158 Shore Breeze, Brighton, MI 48116.

According to the Department of Commerce, you cannot be evicted from a mobile home park for filing a complaint or forming or joining an association within the park. Mobilehome owners are protected under Public Act No. 336 of 1988.

Edward Washburn, President
Springfield Mobile Home Owners Association

400 quarts picked up

ON THEIR first used oil pickup of the day, Doug Carlson (left) and Jim Reed stop at the home of Roxie Fittonneville on Sashabaw Ridge Road, Independence Township. To mark the occasion, Roxie convinced her son, Justin, 4 1/2, to help out. Saturday, Feb. 16., was the first day of the Independence Township Groundwater Leadership Team's used oil pickup service. Clarkston area residents called volunteers from the team to pick up about 400 quarts of oil. "We were dumfounded" by the response, said Carlson, a volunteer in the group. Roxie said she made an appointment for the pickup because she "just didn't know where to put the oil." She knew it would eventually contaminate ground water if dumped in garbage that would end up in a landfill. "We were saving it until we found something," she said. The program, while recycling some of the township's used oil, also raises awareness about the dangers of ground water contamination, said Carlson. The team, sponsored by the East Michigan Environmental Action Council, is considering a battery recycling program next. But there's still another weekend of oil pickup for area residents. To schedule a time, call 625-1800. (Photo by Julie Campe)

JENNI Salata's first-place photograph depicts her wish for a twin sister. "To take these pictures of myself, I blocked half of the camera lens, set the timer, then ran to get into place," wrote Jenni. "Then, I blocked the other half of the lens, changed my sweater, set the timer and ran to the opposite side of the picture." Jenni, 8, is a third-grader at Bailey

Lake Elementary School, where the PTA held the annual Reflections contest. She also earned honors in the literature category.

Culture thrives in elementary school

Creativity poured forth from Bailey Lake Elementary School the past few weeks.

In the annual Parent Teacher Association Reflections contest, many earned honors for their work in literature, visual arts, photography and music.

The work was judged in two age categories: kindergarten through third grade and fifth and sixth grades. The students were asked to adhere to the theme: "If I Had a Wish."

In literature (K-3), Jenni Salata earned a first-place honor with her haiku. Adrienne Verla finished second, and Jamie Leigh Clarkson finished third. Honorable mention went to Keith B. Maciejewski.

In literature (4-5), Jennifer Essex placed first with a moving poem about war in the Persian Gulf.

Kori Weingust placed second, and Sara Krzyckowski placed third. Honorable mentions were given to two poems by Weingust and another by Krzyckowski and to Jennifer Rooding and Megan Cahill.

In music, fourth-graders Jonathan Moniaci and Brienne Kohs tied for first place with their compositions entitled: "A Wish" (by Moniaci) and "A Song for Peace" (by Kohs).

In the visual arts (K-3), kindergartner Lauren White placed first with her bright interpretation of "Peace," which shows people harmoniously playing together. Judges called it "highly original."

Placing second was third-grader Adrienne Verla, followed by third-place winner Katie Moniaci, a first-grader. Third-grader Blake Coc earned a fourth-place from judges.

Fifth-grader Erica Holman placed first in the visual arts in her category, with a watercolor depicting her wish: "I wish the whole world had good food!"

Fifth-grader Elaine Thompson finished second in that category.

Honorable mentions in the visual arts were given to Brittany Guinane (kindergartner), Adam Gebus (second-grader), Laura Greenwag (fifth-grader) and fourth-graders: Ryan Miller, Halanna Sanders, Christina Rooding, Jennifer Rooding, Fallon Romano and Rachel Armstrong.

In the photography category, third-grader Jenni Salata, 8, finished first with a black and white photograph that she double exposed to express her wish for a twin sister.

Her photograph, again a double exposure, of herself and her mother placed second.

Adrienne Verla's photograph of a butterfly, entitled "First Flight" placed third, and she earned an honorable mention for her photograph of trees in autumn.

A sampling of the winning literature entries follows.

If I Had a Wish

By Jamie Leigh Clarkson

If I had a wish, I would wish that my cat, Bosco, would live forever and never die because he is so special. I love him very much.

But when he goes to heaven he will be specialer than he is right now. But now he is almost ready to die. If I pet him every day he will live longer. But I notice he will die someday.

But he is very nice to me except his two back paws. If you touch any one of them, he will bite you and maybe smack you. Maybe one or maybe both because he is very old, and his bones hurt very badly I'm sure.

He sleeps in a lot of places, but his favorite blanket to sleep on is the blanket with the cats on it.

Bosco is all black, even on his nose, and he has green eyes and black in the middle of the green eyes.

If I had a wish, he would live forever!

Jamie Leigh Clarkson, 6, is a first-grader at Bailey Lake Elementary School. Her story placed third in the annual Parent Teacher Association Reflections writing contest.

If I Had a Wish

By Jennifer Essex

If I had one wish,
It would be peace
No bombs bursting in air,
Or no seas with red glare,
No children with wary eyes,
Or no parents without sleep,
No people crying day and night,
Or no people that always weep.
Me with my brother there,
I try not to lose sleep.
But it is hard,
Not being able to talk to him,
Or even be able to hear his voice.
But please if I could have my wish,
I'd have no men die,
Or have any sunken ships.
Without all those thousands of people,
It seems there's no reason
For them to die,
Because I love my brother,
And all the men there,
I wouldn't want a single man to die,
Not really even Saddam.

Jennifer Essex, 10, is a Bailey Lake Elementary School fourth-grader. Her poem placed first in the annual Parent Teacher Association Reflections writing contest.

By Adrienne Verla

If I had a wish it would be for all children of the world to come together and learn about each other's ways of life. By doing this, we could learn to understand why different people do what they do.

If we could start working on this right now, while we are children, we could think of our world in a new light. We could open doors, we could stop wars. I know we could do it if we try and work together. We can make it happen, and by the time I grow up in the 21st century, we could have world PEACE.

But for now all I have to do is wish for PEACE.

Adrienne Verla is a third-grader at Bailey Lake Elementary School. Her entry placed second in the annual Parent Teacher Association Reflections writing contest.

If I Had a Wish

By Kori Weingust

If only I had a wish
I would wish for a world full of chocolate
Chocolate light bulbs glowing Chocolate pencils to write with while nibbling on the end
If you're lost in the woods, don't worry just grab a little piece off a chocolate tree or drink from a chocolate stream
Chocolate fingernails to chew on when you're nervous
Chocolate snow so that in the winter you can have a ball
Oh, if only I had a wish

Kori Weingust is a fifth-grader at Bailey Lake Elementary School. Her poem placed second in the annual Parent Teacher Association Reflections writing contest.

If I Had a Wish

By Sara Krzyczkowski

If I had a wish,
I'd make it into two,
That's what I'd do.
Then I'd change it to three,
And go sit in a tree,
and think, if I had
as many wishes as dishes,
And fishes in all those dishes,
How many fishes would I have?
Then I'd change three into four,
And shut the treehouse door.
After that I'd double four
To make eight,
And go to dinner because I was late.
Then I'd add one to make nine,
Just think, all those wishes could be mine!
But first I have to get the first wish!

Sara Krzyczkowski is a fifth-grader at Bailey Lake Elementary School. Her poem placed third in the Parent Teacher Association Reflections writing contest.

If I Had a Wish

By Jenni Salata

No wars, more caring
Helping, sharing, loving, peace
World companionship

Jenni Salata, 8, is a third-grader at Bailey Lake Elementary School. Her haiku placed first in the Parent Teacher Association's annual Reflections writing contest.

WHY A TITLE SEARCH?

QUESTION: Why is a title search necessary when you buy a home?

ANSWER: Skipping the title search is like buying a new car without a warranty except the stakes are higher. Although you may be the only buyer, others may also claim rights to the property. There may be an easement to restrict the use of your land or unpaid taxes. An heir to a former owner may claim a share of the property. A title search will check for any such possible claims and determine if the title is clear. Your deed does not eliminate claims that others may have. It simply transfers the seller's right of ownership to you.

A TITLE SEARCH will check for clouds on the title.

Pet of the Week

Pretty in pastel

Amanda is known as a pastel calico cat. Her colors are the same varied shades a calico cat is noted for, but softer.

The 2-year-old domestic short-hair cat is already litter-box trained.

Amanda likes children. Her front paws have been declawed, and she's been spayed.

Her adoption fee is $25.

To see Amanda, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Auburn Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Microwave Plus

Cherry recipe in time for George's birthday

Betty Wagner

February can't leave without my sharing a new microwave cherry recipe.

Actually cherries aren't plentiful in February except in cans. The cherry season is from late May through August.

But because George Washington's birthday was Feb. 22 (but is celebrated on Feb. 18 so people can have Monday off work for a long weekend to ski) and because George has been accused of chopping down a cherry tree, and admitting to it, I feel compelled to bake a cherry pie to eat sometime during the month of February.

So here is Cherry Peach Cream Pie from the latest cookbook from the microwave cooking library series, "Microwave Speed Meals" by Barbara Methven, copyright 1991 by Cy DeCosse, Inc.

CHERRY PEACH CREAM PIE

- 8 ounces cream cheese
- 1/4 cup powdered sugar
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 graham cracker crust (8-inch)
- 2 cups frozen unsweetened peach slices
- 1 can (21 ounces) cherry pie filling

1. In a small mixing bowl, microwave cream cheese at 50 percent (medium) for 1 1/2 to 3 minutes or until softened.

2. Add sugar, milk and extract. Mix well. Spread evenly over crust. Set aside.

3. Place peaches in 2-quart casserole. Cover.

4. Microwave at high for 2 to 4 minutes, or until defrosted, stirring once. Drain.

5. Add cherry pie filling. Mix well.

6. Spoon pie filling evenly over cream cheese layer. Chill 2 hours or until firm.

The 10th Annual Christmas Auction of the Inde-Spring Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association was a huge success.

With the help of auctioneer Paul Hickmott of Oxford, the chapter raised over $5,000 for its scholarship fund. The auction included a new feature this year: models wearing furs from a Brand Blanc business.

Nationally, ABWA chapters award $2.94 million in scholarship funds in their respective areas. Inde-Spring Charter Chapter contributed $10,000 to this figure.

America's leader

George Washington established a lasting place in American history as "The father of his country."

Born on Feb. 22, 1732, Washington was the first man elected president of the United States.

Among his most notable achievements, Washington led the country to independence from Great Britain in the Revolutionary War and helped shape the direction of the fledgling United States.

Washington guided the country as president for two terms and was revered by the American public.

Henry Lee, one of Washington's generals, described him as being "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Brought up by old colonial standards, Washington believed in hard work, public service and worshipping God.

Perhaps his most endearing quality was his honesty.

However, contrary to legend, there is no truth to the tale that Washington chopped down his father's cherry tree and confessed, "Father, I cannot tell a lie."

Since the first nationwide celebration of his birthday during the Revolutionary War, America has continued to commemorate the birth of its first great leader.

The Other Side of Things

Talk about science fiction!

Ashley Ball

I frequently surprise my science teacher, Mrs. McMillen, with how much I know about ions and chlorophyll and isotopes and osmosis.

At least she seems surprised every time she says, "Ashley, don't you know anything?"

But I definitely know more than I want to know about such scientific mysteries as why eggs sometimes have red spots inside them, why you should never hold a gerbil too long, and what flies do every time they land on your arm.

I've learned this invaluable scientific trivia in Mrs. McMillen's hands-on Life Science/Pre-Biology class — right before lunch every day.

What's more, I've learned all these things WITHOUT A SCIENCE TEXT! I'M NOT KIDDING!

A few parents of ninth-graders were horrified when they learned from their kids at the beginning of the year that we weren't going to have a science textbook this year. (The rest of the parents are probably learning that vital bit of information from this column — right here in the sixth month of the school year!)

Technically, we have a book, but it's so old and out of date that Mrs. McMillen tells us not to bother bringing it to class. Besides, we have new books on the way — big, fat, beautiful biology books that should arrive about three days after the end of the school year.

But if you think instruction in ninth-grade science at CJHS has lagged because we don't have a text, think again! Mrs. McMillen has kept us right up there on the cutting edge of the latest scientific information with her knowledge, her notes, her drawings and, of course, her qittos.

Without a text, Mrs. McMillen has guided us fearlessly and successfully through the most complicated science equations, properties of photosynthesis and cell theories.

She's also introduced us to those areas of science critical to the understanding of life as we know it today — like how to clean out a gerbil cage, why we shouldn't turn the faucet handle marked "gas," and when it's OK to hang The Dead Squirrel from the I-beam across the top of the room (it's when we have a sub).

We've measured flagpoles by looking through a protractor, watched a video of the insides of someone digesting fiestas (I think it was one of the eighth-grade teachers), and deciphered guinea pig communication. (Amazingly, it's very similar to gerbil communication.)

And we've learned that everything that can go wrong with an elaborate $500 classroom marine aquarium will. The oxygen can leak, the water can get cold, the plants can die, the light can burn out, and the food can get lost. We're just lucky we've never had any fish in it! (However, if I mention that Moby Dick Pet Shop generously donated the aquarium, maybe they'll donate the fish, too!)

But don't think for one minute that our learning experience in Mrs. McMillen's class has been limited merely to these loftier realms of scientific theory. I should say not! Our room is applied science in action. Why, since the year began, we've watched Pat cut Jenni's hair, watched Jenni slap Pat, watched Pat pinch Jenni, watched Jenni bite Pat, watched Pat continually break up with Jenni, and watched Jenni and Pat kiss and make up.

It's amazing how much you can learn about life science/pre-biology without a text.

Ashley Ball is a ninth-grader at Clarkston Junior High School.

Block grant goes to sidewalks, Lighthouse

Lighthouse North and walkers on North Holcomb Road will benefit from some of Clarkston's money.

The Clarkston Village Council voted 5-0 Jan. 14 to give $1,000 to Lighthouse North and use $5,600 to fix sidewalks in the village. Trustees Eric Haven and Robert Whitmer were absent.

The money comes from federal Community Development Block Grant Funds, which must be used to serve the disabled, needy or in-community service-type areas.

Lighthouse North, a non-profit organization on Maybee Road, Independence Township, serves eight townships and villages within: Springfield, Independence, Holly, Rose, Groveland, Brandon, Orion and Oxford. The funds can be used to serve the physically disabled and senior citizens.

Sidewalk repairs on North Holcomb Road will use up the remaining $5,600.

You give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrongs that are done to me and you are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones, in your perpetual glory. Amen. Persons must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking for your wish. After the 3rd day, your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. Thanks St. Jude for favors received. ICE is thick, so an auger is necessary to create a fishing hole. Lloyd Vergin of Springfield Township plans to catch fish big enough to win the ice fishing contest sponsored by the Young at Heart senior citizen group from Springfield Township.

They wish for fish

Photos by Sandra G. Conlen

COFFEE and hot chocolate keep the fishing contestants warm on Saturday, Feb. 16. Bertha Dennis pours a hot cup of java while husband Frank, left, and Helen Vergin wait their turn. About 24 contestants braved the cold winds to fish for prizes supplied by local merchants.
