Barn fire

Firefighters battle blaze seven hours

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Authorities are still investigating the cause of a fire that destroyed a Springfield Township barn last weekend.

About 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 23, the Springfield Township Fire Department rushed to a Scott Road home- stead to combat a reported blaze. Upon arrival, they discovered a large barn fire on the property of Lloyd Vergin.

The Springfield fire department was later joined by six other departments who came to stop the spread of a smaller fire to an adjacent barn.

According to Springfield Fire Chief Marlan Hillman, the larger of the two barns was just collapsing as they arrived. The barn had been used to store hay and farm equipment.

A $90,000 silo was also destroyed in the fire.

Hillman said firefighters also stopped a small blaze that had spread to a smaller barn. He said it took nearly half the fire departments to drag the smoking bales from the second building and properly extinguish them.

Despite the amount of destruction, Hillman said the milkhouse connected to the destroyed barn was spared by the fire.

Hillman estimates that the destruction of the first barn, its equipment and the silo figures around $150,000 in total losses. He added that no one was injured in the seven-hour ordeal.

Hillman praised the cooperation of all the departments in combating the fire.

"All the departments did a good job pulling together to fight this fire," he said. "They made sure that those burning bales didn't do to the second barn what they did to the first."

Residential assessments up 8 percent in township

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

If you own property in Independence Township, you probably have already received your assessment change notice.

And if you're like most residents in the township, your property probably increased in assessed value — on average, by 8 percent, according to township assessor David Kramer.

Residential changes in the township ranged from a 27 percent increase to no change, Kramer said, adding that, on average, most commercial, industrial and developmental classifications of property also increased in assessed value.

The notices of assessment changes were mailed

How to appeal your assessments, next page

Friday, Feb. 22, said Kramer.

"We'll be glad to answer all inquiries," he said, adding that he encourages people to call or stop in for explanations.

Property owners also may appeal their assessments — by reason of value or hardship — to the Board of Review in March (see related story).

The value of property is important because it determines the amount of property taxes a person will pay. In Michigan, property is assessed, or taxed, at half its market value.

However, just because some property increased in assessed value by 8 percent, it doesn't mean taxes automatically go up by 8 percent.

In Michigan, the Headlee Amendment to the state constitution automatically rolls back the millage rate whenever property values increase at a rate higher than the rate of inflation — about 4.5 percent.

The full effect of the increase in assessed property value won't be felt until a particular millage is renewed, thus used at its full rate to determine tax bills.

The assessment change notices mailed last Friday show the property's state equalized value in 1990 as well as the assessed value in 1991. If there is a change in value, the notice gives the reason.

For more information, call the assessing department at 625-8114.

Board of Review hears assessment notice appeals

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

If you think your assessed value is incorrect on your notice from Independence Township, you may appeal the amount.

You also may appeal the assessed value if you face financial hardship.

According to township Assessor David Kramer, "Property is assessed at 50 percent of its true cash value, so the taxpayers should ask themselves the question, 'Is my property worth twice this amount?'"

If a taxpayer thinks his property is not worth twice that amount, he should call the assessing department to rule out an error and for an explanation of how the value is determined.

If the taxpayer still disagrees with the value (or is facing financial hardship), he may appeal his assessment at the Board of Review, which meets 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 11, 12, 13 and 14, and 1-9 p.m. Tuesday, March 12.

The Board of Review, comprised of three township electors, will hear appeals based on two reasons only — value and hardship.

To make an appointment, call the assessing department at 625-8114, or stop in at 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

In the case of hardship, residents should bring proof of their financial hardship. It's a good idea to bring a copy for each Board of Review member.

Larceny hearing waived

A 29-year-old Springfield Township man, charged with stealing ventilation equipment from a Pontiac church, waived a Feb. 21 hearing in 50th District Court, Pontiac.

Donald C. Sturgis was ordered to Oakland County Circuit Court by Judge Louis Fairbrother on a charge of larceny over $100.

According to police, Sturgis installed the unit at the Gethsemane Christian Church last February and later returned and stole it. The unit was reportedly resold to a country club in West Bloomfield Township.

Sturgis is being held in lieu of a $30,000 bond.

Evidence

If you dispute the value determined by the assessing department, you can use the following information as evidence:

■ Appraisal records in the assessing department; review them to make sure no errors were made. Do this as soon as possible — once the Board of Review is in session, the records may not be available because the Board may be using them.

From those records, verify the accuracy the following information: taxpayer name and mailing address; parcel size and tax description; building size, age, characteristics; property address; assessed valuation history; purchase price.

Are there characteristics that are not listed that could make a difference in your assessment? For instance, is your home near a contaminated site? Has lightning destroyed half your house?

■ If you recently purchased your home for less than the value placed on it by the assessor, and if others also recently purchased similar homes in your neighborhood for less than that value, that's the best evidence that the actual market value might be lower than the cash value established by the assessor.

■ Recent appraisal designed to estimate the fair market value of your home. A written copy would work best.

Tips

If you do appeal your assessment notice to the Board of Review, remember to follow these guidelines:

■ Limit your comments to questions of value or hardship. The Board has no authority on the amount of taxes themselves — just on the value of your property. The Board also has no authority on how your tax money is used.

■ It's not enough to merely say your taxes are too high and should be appealed. The Board only determines whether the value of your property is listed accurately.

■ For each Board member, a neat copy of each piece of evidence would be helpful.

For more information, call the assessing department at 625-8114.

Board tables Country Club rezoning

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Developers of Country Club of the North golf course and housing development will have to wait a few weeks more for a crucial township decision on their project.

The Independence Township Board voted unanimously Feb. 19 to table the second reading of an amendment to rezone 620 acres at Clintonville and Waldon roads.

Legal issues prompted the delay but are to be ironed out by township attorney Gerald Fisher.

The board previously approved the first reading of the ordinance amendment, which called for a rezoning of the rural residential and local commercial parcel to a zoning category called planned residential development (PRD).

A second reading and adoption are necessary before the rezoning takes effect.

A PRD is a rezoning tied to a specific plan for a residential development larger than 160 acres. This type of rezoning calls for at least 20 percent of its land to remain "open space" with a limit of one single-family residential unit per gross acre.

Before the PRD receives final approval, Fisher said the developer's attorney, John Carlin, should settle the following legal concerns: the duration of the project's phases, the exact designation of many of the buildings on the blueprints, definite timelines for water and sewer hookups, acquisition of an open-space easement and discussion of the decrease in total residential units.

The Country Club of the North, slated for the northeast corner of Clintonville and Waldon roads, has been designed to hold 600 residential units in addition to two 18-hole golf courses. However, planning consultant Richard Carlisle said the total number of residential units may drop to 250.

Once these matters are ironed out, the proposal will be sent back to the planning commission for its review and recommendation. It will then return to the township board for consideration. After the rezoning is adopted, the project needs additional approvals for each phase of

Reporter's Notebook

A recent phone call to The Clarkston News by Iva Caverly of Independence Township, informed a reporter that two new kittens at her residence were adopted from the Michigan Humane Society, Auburn Hills.

One kitten resembled a photo running in the "Pet of the Week" column, but the other is yellow or golden in color, Iva said.

Iva cares for children in her home, and the little ones dubbed the yellow cat "Desert Storm," she said.

A letter all the way from Florida contained the following message on a newspaper clipping of Editor Julie Campe's photo: "Such a neat hairstyle!"

Perhaps the new hairstyle should have come sooner?

Beginning with free yellow ribbons and U.S. flags, one area real estate firm has expanded into patriotic T-shirts and sweatshirts.

Dunlap, REALTORS/ERA is an official distribution point for Operation Desert Storm T-shirts ($10) and sweatshirts ($18). Totally tax deductible, the sale benefits Michigan servicemen through the Desert Storm Relief Fund.

The items are in high demand, said manager Carol O'Neil from her 31 S. Main St., Clarkston, office.

"People have been calling our district office in Farmington Hills from as far away as Colorado," she said.

O'Neil added that she and her co-workers are happy to volunteer as distributors of the items.

"We all know somebody over there," she said.

Another way to help the relief fund is to attend a benefit dinner-dance planned for Friday, March 15, said O'Neil. Set for Pennas Hall, 38400 VanDyke in Warren, the $40 dinner-dance includes a seven-course dinner, open bar and a band. For reserve seating, call 373-6303.

Wall of Fame honors different sort of all-star

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

If you're an athlete at Clarkston High School, there's a good chance you'll be recognized through your activity. The same goes for extra-curricular efforts such as drama and music.

But what if you're a star student?

Up until a year ago, star students may have captured the rapt attention only of beaming teachers, parents and department heads.

They're now the spotlight of everyone entering the Clarkston High School building. They're on the Clarkston Wall of Fame.

The Wall of Fame concept originated almost two years ago in the office of the Principal Robert Burek. An interested committee, made up of Vic Hart, Holly McCafrey, Walt Winiemko and Gordie Spelbring, began to nominated by the staff and selected by a committee.

It showcases the student selected for the annual principal's award, the national merit finalists, the school's All State recipient and winners of the Boy's State and Girl's State award.

Daughters of the Revolution honorees are showcased in the Wall of Fame, as are top students chosen annually by each academic department.

Student council members and National Honor Society members also share the space.

Other items of interest include a list of principals all the way back to 1956.

The 25-year members of the Clarkston staff are honored here, along with current staff, teachers chosen for profile and exchange students.

Atop the showcases are photographs of other activity at Clarkston High School.

Though the photographs are not of academic significance, they show "student life" at the school, according to Burek.

The overall effect of the Wall of Fame is "subtle," he adds.

Though it primarily drew the attention of students when it was first unveiled, parents and visitors from other districts now frequent the area.

"I'm real proud of it," Burek concludes.

"It keys on a tradition of excellence."

Principal Robert Burek

visit other schools with "Halls of Fame," and the idea grew to reality last summer with help from Mel Vaara, Bill Tymko and Dave Blum.

In the front reception area of Clarkston High School, a carpeted corner now enshrines Clarkston's academic stars.

"It keys on a tradition of excellence," Burek explains. "It's the first thing people see — and the first thing they ought to see."

Once the committee had formed its ideas, Clarkston archives were searched for material and documents on academic all-stars as far back as the 1970s.

Construction was made possible by a combination of funds from the district, the high school and by private fund-raisers.

Benches were removed to make way for display cases; special spotlights were installed; and plush carpeting in the Wolves' blue was installed to set off the area.

Mixed reaction to White Lake DDA expansion

Planners say DDA can erase White Lake Road blight

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Mixed opinions from 25 residents met a plan to expand the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) to the White Lake Road area.

The Independence Township Board held the Feb. 19 public hearing to gauge public opinion on the proposed move. The proposal is currently being developed and should come before the township board sometime next month.

As explained by township planning consultant Richard Carlisle, the DDA expansion would cover a mile and a half stretch along White Lake Road from Dixie Highway to Andersonville Road.

The DDA was created about five years ago to improve landscaping, lighting, water and sewer along parts of Dixie Highway and M-15. Funding for the DDA comes from tax increment financing.

Carlisle said DDA funding could revitalize the property values in the mostly industrial area and erase the increasing blight.

Referring to a recent survey conducted by the township, Carlisle illustrated the condition of the corridor. Of the 15 properties surveyed in the area, he said, only two did not suffer from some sort of physical deterioration.

Carlisle said the other 13 sites suffered from detriments such as: building deterioration, unpaved parking

"I don't see the supposed blight on White Lake Road as being exceptional."

Sylvia Cajema

lots, unsightly storage areas and non-conformance with zoning requirements.

"It's our opinion that this continual deterioration will lead to continual blight in the immediate study area and those surrounding it," Carlisle said.

Carlisle also pointed out that 70 percent of the area's properties have shown no increase in property value in 1989-90.

"The ability to enhance the township's tax base has been hampered by the deterioration of some of these properties," he added. "It's our recommendation that we implement the DDA's tax increment financing program to rejuvenate the White Lake Road area."

In tax increment financing, money is captured by the township after state equalized values (SEV) in the DDA are "frozen" at the base year. After that year, any increased tax revenue due to an increase in property values are captured for use with the DDA. That money — from within the DDA boundaries only — is used for improvements with the DDA.

Carlisle said the area's initial improvements would probably begin with roadway realignment and street light installation. Sewer and water privileges and appropriate storm drainage systems could be added later. Carlisle said the time frame for this multi-phase expansion would be five years, not unlike the improvements made to parts of Dixie Highway and M-15.

Some residents had mixed feelings on the possible expansion.

"I don't see the supposed blight on White Lake Road as being exceptional," said Sylvia Cajema of Clarkston Road. "It can't be any worse than the vacant buildings around town like the old A & P store."

However, White Lake Road property owner Joe Cash said the expansion could benefit him and other land owners.

"The property value of my land hasn't budged in the past 10 years, and I'm glad you guys (township officials) are doing what you're doing here," he said.

Imagery of war

Julie Campe

Books and poems have formed my perceptions of war -- with all the horrors and challenges and codes of honor.

Stephen Crane's "The Red Badge of Courage" I read in my early years and again just a year or two ago. I also recently read "For Whom the Bell Tolls" by Ernest Hemingway. Both books aptly described the terror and anticipation of battle. Both were moving.

But nothing compares to my first reading of "Dulce et Decorum Est" by poet Wilfred Owen. I was a college freshman, and I remember how the poem's imagery startled and even shocked me at the time. The poem still has the same effect. A portion of the poem illustrates this:

"Gas! GAS! Quick, boys! -- An ecstasy of fumbling
Fitting the clumsy helmets just in time,
But someone still was yelling out and stumbling
And floundering like a man in fire or lime. --
Dim through the misty panes and thick green light,
As under a green sea, I saw him drowning. ...

... If you could hear, at every jolt, the blood
Come gargling from the froth-corrupted lungs
Bitter as the cud
Of vile, incurable sores on innocent tongues, --
My friend, you would not tell with such high zest
To children ardent for some desperate glory,
The old lie: *Dulce et decorum est
Pro patria mori.*"

My English professor translated the Latin: "It is sweet and becoming to die for one's country."

After class and for weeks afterward, my thoughts kept returning to the terror of being caught without one's gas mask. At that time, I took comfort in the fact that, unlike World War I warfare, modern wars would not use such atrocious weapons as toxic gas. Of course, I had not yet heard of Saddam Hussein, nor did I know then that the United States still had an arsenal of chemical weapons.

Eventually, I found time to read "All Quiet on the Western Front" by Erich Maria Remarque. The simple language made the experiences of the protagonist so immediate. I felt as if he were my brother.

Through Remarque's details of daily life on the Western Front, I gleaned the horrors of war and even the horrors of staying alive.

Of all the images in that book, one scene remains in my memory though years have passed since reading it.

It is dark in the forest and full of smoke. Horses, sturdy, intelligent and majestic, are used for transportation -- and then fighting begins with all the deafening booms and sharp cracks that accompany war. The horses, confused and blinded by the smoke and darkness and noise, crash through the forest, screaming. They maim themselves on unknown objects in the woods or are shot by gunfire.

They scream wildly and run about, helplessly dragging their unusable body parts and tripping over their entrails.

The war-hardened soldiers -- accustomed to witnessing the deaths of men -- can't stand the torturous noise from the animals.

One old soldier -- a farmer in normal life -- has been brave and business-like and uncomplaining throughout the entire war. But the ongoing sound of the horses' screaming is too much.

"Like to know what harm they've done," he says in sadness and frustration, pacing in his hiding place. "I tell you it is the vilest baseness to use horses in the war."

Signs of a slowing recession

A couple people we follow who study such things are predicting an end to the recession this summer. One named June, another July. They were that precise.

While none of us should risk the family holdings on their statements, their words may retard the growth of grey hair for another few months.

Jim Hagerbaumer, an economist in Chicago we read, says a "cluster of special indicators suggests that the economy will recover around July. That would make it a 10-month recession, just about average length."

Hagerbaumer cites inventory rebuilding, pickup in consumer sentiment, stock market rally and the all-but-won war as 'indicators'.

The man who predicted the June date is an economist with Manufacturers Bank of Detroit.

In Oxford Bank's publication, "Perspective," the writer said in his February issue, "It is likely that the recovery will begin with an upturn in residential building. Recovery should begin during the latter half of 1991."

No single business has more to do with the economy than home building. Think about it! Whatever it takes to make a home . . . wood, paint, furniture, white (durable) goods, etc . . . all make the world of commerce move, hopefully upward.

Right now mortgage rates are low, and there is money to lend and spend. The holdup, as we see it, is consumer confidence. When a little confidence returns and it merges with some pent-up urge to spend, the economy will move again.

Until we hit this slow period in 1989, we had experienced 24 quarters of moderate to robust gains. The Federal Reserve policy change in 1988 is blamed for our not getting to 25 quarters.

Today the Federal Reserve is doing the opposite of three years ago, lowering interest rates and releasing some pressure to hold inflation down.

Remember, over 90 percent of the people who want to work are working. Money IS available. Mostly it's the confidence in the economy that's lacking. Of course, it isn't only confidence in the economy that concerns us. Confidence in our state, local and federal government is not exactly high.

The latter will always be with us, but the former, confidence in the economy, is what will change and improve things . . . but we have to get the war over first. JAS

An alternative school proposal

Now that the bond issue has failed, we as a community should come together, instead of blasting each other in the paper. YES voters are knocking NO voters, and NO voters are knocking YES voters.

As a supporter of the bond issue, I can see why this bond issue failed: additional taxes for a larger bond issue.

If you look at the last two years, the taxpayers of this district have seen potential tax increases of 10 mills: four mills for the February 1990 election, four mills for this bond issue, and an average assessment increase of 16 percent for the past two years, which equals two mills.

This large bond issue was just too much to swallow. You have to remember that 70 percent of Independence and Springfield residents do not have children in school; however, they will support the schools if they see their money being used wisely. I am not sure this was a wise proposal, considering the cost.

So I am proposing to the district a new package that will cost half as much as the proposal that failed. What we need is a new junior high, not an elementary and high school. We do need a small addition to the high school. We can build one school instead of two. We can build a junior high school at half the cost of a high school.

The following are the reasons why I believe we can build less and still solve the problems of space at the elementary, junior high and high school levels:

1. Turn Clarkston Junior High into a K-5 elementary. It meets the standards of the other elementary schools. It would probably hold as many students as Bailey Lake and has a gymnasium the same size as the other elementary schools.

Only a portion of the school is old, but it is probably more structurally sound than the larger addition of the school. A new roof was put on last year, and the building was updated for fire codes.

While this would put two elementary schools next to each other, this area of the district is highly populated and would always support two elementary schools. Students living north of Waldon Road could then attend this "Waldon Elementary School."

2. Changing the present high school into a junior high is a disadvantage because it would be a waste of facilities. A junior high does not need a gym that holds 1,500 spectators, a parking lot that was designed for students driving to school, a 1,500-seat football stadium and an auditorium. I believe that a new junior high could be built on Clarkston Road, next to the administration building on property owned by the district. A small addition to Sashabaw Junior High would probably be needed.

3. As for a new high school, what is wrong with the present building that cannot be fixed? There is no question the high school needs a larger library, cafeteria, gym and labs. A new wing could be put on south of the school where the driveway leads to the bus garage. A new access road to the bus garage would be built behind the small social services building.

During the summer, the cafeteria and library could be refurbished into six classroom labs, which are needed. The new library would meet North Central Accreditation guidelines.

The cafeteria would be able to hold all the students, and an auxiliary gym (multipurpose room) could be used for volleyball, wrestling, cheerleading, etc., and would have no seating.

All games would be held in the main gym, where seating is available. The school's plumbing, locker rooms, parking lot, athletic field and science rooms could be updated.

While some people feel the auditorium is small, the present gym is large enough to hold the complete student body for assemblies.

I feel there is no need to buy additional property, build a new high school along with a second athletic complex, and another elementary school when it's not needed.

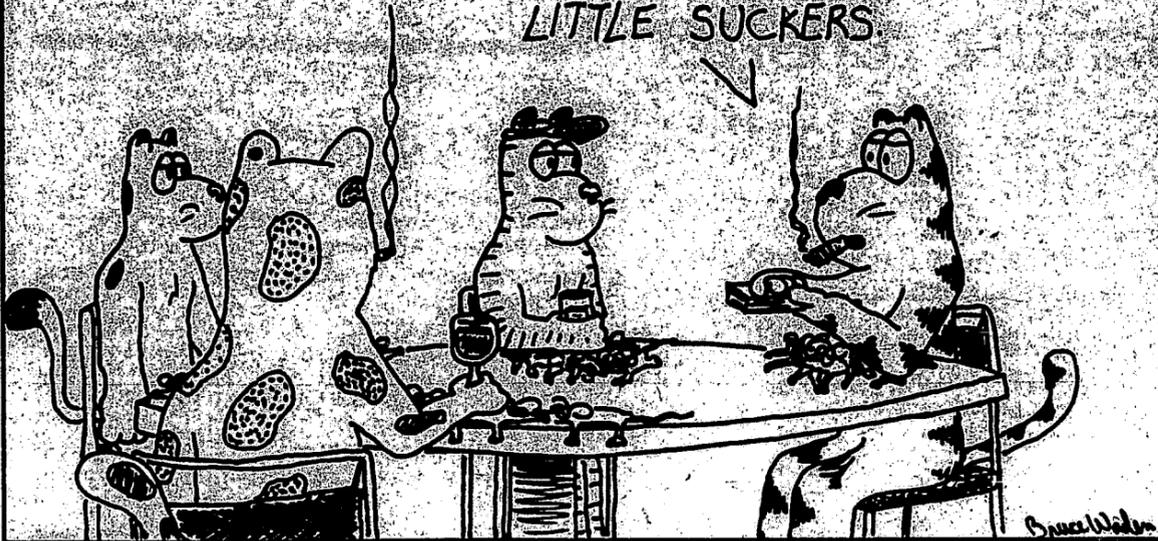

No one in this school district wants to see half days for our students, but we have to realize we must live within our means.

A new junior high school and an addition to the high school will solve the problems at all three levels of education.

This proposal is by no means perfect, but it does solve the space problem and helps keep taxes down. If you feel this has any merit, contact the Blue and Red Ribbon Committee and your school board members.

Son Jim took Linda Limmer as his bride Feb. 15 in Flint. At his bachelor party it took eight guys to fasten an iron ball and chain to his ankle. But it took just one girl to accomplish the same effect with a gold ring. They seem made for each other--she works for GM, he drives 'em; she plays a good game of golf, he tries to; her job is teaching various jobs, his job is listening; Jim loves dogs and has three of them, Linda likes his ceramic dog; she's a Democrat, he's . . . well, all the family likes her and that's important.

Am I the only one who continues to get suckered by the television listing of a game starting at 1 p.m., only to find it has 47 hours of pre-game hype?

When the postal service first brought out ZIP codes they said town names wouldn't be needed, just ZIPs. So why aren't we just putting the street name and number and ZIP on our mail?

Some weeks ago I wondered in this column when people "get up" and when they "get down" from a dining table. Our grandson occasionally (when reminded) asks to get down. A caller suggested we get down when our feet don't touch the floor, and get up when our feet do touch the floor. Sounds right.

Why does it cost the same to mail a letter to Lansing as Los Angeles?

One last question this week. Next time you look at advertisements for watches, notice where the hands are pointed. I looked through the whole watch section of a catalog. All the watches' hands were at ten and two. I asked a watch repairman why. He said he thought the hands were always at 4 and 8 because it was 20 minutes after eight when President Lincoln was shot. I think the hands at 10 and 2 are to frame the name. What do you think?

I'll close with some newspaper bloopers. This from the New York Times: "A completely automated typesetting system, developed and put into operation with the cooperation of the typographical union, was demonstrated yesterday by The Composing Room, Inc., a printing company at 387 Park Avenue."

From the Vermonter: "An Italian sinner will be served at 5:30 p.m. at the Essex Center United Methodist Church."

And, from Television/Radio Age: "Shakespeare didn't have public television in mind when he warned about the ideas of March."

From This Perspective

Hurry, spring

Tracy King

As February winds down, I try hard to remember why winter is among my favorite seasons.

I am also fuzzy as to why spring rates last on my list.

Sealing the last of my seed orders from the catalogues that covered my dining room table all month, spring seems welcome, indeed.

Asparagus, Easter eggs, the smell of snow melting, roses, open windows, the return of golf, strawberries, lilacs, spring cleaning, pale-yellow linen, the songs of birds.

How does that hold a candle to frozen ground, shades of gray and cold-chapped skin?

Steeling myself for the slow passing of time, I force a review of the late-winter attractions.

Good books, thick soup, deep purple, green and rust, crackling fires, green beer, rosy cheeks, thick sweaters, indoor blooms, spicy chili, ice skating, sunny Sundays, mittens, hot chocolate.

As certain as these things are, I will face the same longings from spring to summer, from summer to fall.

The mites in the garden, heavy air, warm pop, mosquito bites, the drone of baseball, ants, yet another bounty of weeds—all will bring an urge for fall to come quickly.

Fall will pass in a fiery splendor: acorns and pumpkins, crusty roast pork, cold winds whispering "hurry!" and I will wish for the heartiness of winter.

Frozen ground, blankets of snow, thoughts of spring.

Tough to be a taxpayer when help should be fired

Jim Fitzgerald

John Donald of Detroit and David Raben of Livonia provide the latest reminders of how frustrating it is that taxpayers can't fire their government employees, or at least kick them in the shins. What's the sense in being boss if you can't demand competent service from the hired help, or else?

Competent service? How about just answering the lousy phone, you bozos?

In fairness to Donald and Raben, it should be mentioned that they complained before we went to war with Iraq. Everybody safe in the United States feels silly griping about comparatively minor irritations while blood is flowing in the Persian Gulf. But life goes on, as surely as cliches, and ignoring bureaucratic fumbles here won't save one life over there.

Donald figures he has a refund coming on his 1990 Detroit city income tax. He wants his money as soon as possible, but can't begin the process, he said, because he can't get a city income tax form.

Over three weeks ago, Donald said he was told by a friendly bureaucrat that the forms hadn't arrived from the printer yet. Could that be? Just that day I'd read that, in the Detroit school system, teachers often receive supplies one year after ordering them. But surely our city, always short of funds, wouldn't begin 1991 without a more-than-adequate supply of the forms taxpayers need to pay 1990 taxes to their ever-needy government.

It should be easy to find out: In the phone book, it says call 224-3323 for "City Income Tax Form Requests." For 14 straight weekdays, during regular business hours, I punched that number at least five times an hour (Yes, I'm stubborn. Also, I've discovered that the push button phone, when regularly used, provides the physical exercise required to keep my body in Vic Tanny shape. I'd use a rowing machine, except it's too big for my desk).

The line was busy on every call but one, when there was no answer to 22-rings. That was at 10:30 a.m. on a Tuesday and everybody in the office was probably busy investigating how the hell a call got through: "OK, what overzealous public servant hung up a receiver?"

I remained intrepid. The phone book also says to call 224-3315 for "City Income Tax Assistance Requests." It took me only two days to get an answer, and when I said I needed assistance in getting information on the availability of city income tax forms, I was instructed to call 224-3323, the number I'd been futilely punching for two weeks.

That's when I screamed and turned trepid.

"The city is earning interest on my money," John Donald told me. "I want my refund so I can earn my own interest." He added that when he expressed his frustration to the City Ombudsman's office - whose mission is to help frustrated taxpayers - "they told me to get off the phone."

As for David Raben, early this month he was informed by mail by the state Department of Treasury that there was an unpaid balance on his 1989 state income tax. He was instructed to phone one of two numbers if he had any questions. Raben quickly discovered that both numbers had been disconnected at the state's request. So he called the department's collection division and was told, by recorded message, that the number was only for ordering tax forms.

Yet another treasury department number, supplied by the phone company, was answered by a machine that instructed Raben to enter his Social Security number. He did, and the computer replied that the department had no record of his account.

Giving up, Raben wrote to the Department of Treasury on the back of its collection notice: "How in the heck do you people expect to do anything right with junk stupid letters like this? You ask a taxpayer to call and then provide a trail of phony phone numbers. Go to hell!! You can call me to resolve this. My real phone number is . . ."

Such vituperation may not be polite, but it's the only satisfaction available to taxpayers who can't fire their employees, or even kick them in the shins.

Column

Thoughts by a departing reporter

Trends come and trends go, and each decade seems to have a phrase describing the mood of society during that time.

The '70s were dubbed the "me" generation, and the '80s were labeled for materialism. The public became tired of materialism and searched for another outlet — thus the age of volunteerism, the '90s.

In this decade, all sorts of organizations are calling for volunteers to come forward — we even have an all volunteer army fighting a war in the Persian Gulf.

I guess I got carried away by the moment. No, I didn't join the army. I volunteered to take a lay-off.

The Clarkston News is not immune to the sagging economy, and when we were told that one writer would be laid off, I signed up.

It means I won't walk around town with my camera bag over my shoulder and a notepad in my hand. I'll miss it, but hopefully there will be other employment out there for me ... soon.

Most of all, I'll miss the people I've met through reporting for The Clarkston News.

In the news room at 5 S. Main St., interesting philosophical ideas are often exchanged. One thought provoking tidbit was — "Do you write for your readers, or do you write for yourself?"

The realization sets in — I write for myself. As I try to weave words into meaning, it serves as kind of a therapy in my life.

Even as I think about signing up for unemployment benefits, my thoughts turn to taking along a notepad. Funny thing about becoming a reporter — there's always a story waiting to be written.

The Clarkston area isn't without news. There'll always be news here — be it school issues or traffic snarls predicted for the future. The paper and its staff does the best to report news and sports in the coverage area.

I'll miss doing feature stories about Clarkston area residents, which fast became my favorite assignment. They're the stories that generally appear in the Reflections section.

But most all, I'll miss photographing the people and places of Clarkston. It's a great feeling to think that a photo you took will become part of someone's scrapbook.

I hate goodbyes, so I'm not saying goodbye. But so long for the time being. See you around town ...

~Sandy Conlen

Letters to Editor

'Exemplary Zoo'

To The Clarkston High School "Zoo" And All Their Friends Who Were At The Utica Eisenhower Game:

I have always enjoyed your wild, but not destructive or obscene, antics. You are very entertaining and great support for our teams.

Well, Tuesday night I got to enjoy a different side of you. While being bellowed at by an ex-drill sergeant (he had to be — no one else could act like that) for using confetti, you were the fine young adults Clarkston is so proud of.

In fact, you acted more like an adult than the person from Utica Eisenhower, who has to be three times your age.

Beverly J. Lund

Pay own bills

In monitoring the police calls for the Clarkston area, I hear numerous calls for the police to be dispatched to unlock cars.

For less than a dollar, these people could have a spare key in their wallets or purses. If the time, including driving, is an hour, we are probably talking $20 cost to the taxpayers.

These people should be referred to wrecker services to open their doors and pay their own bills.

The police officers could spend this time enforcing handicap parking violations and other traffic laws for the benefit of the community.

Charles Mann

Letter policy

Letters to the editor must arrive at The Clarkston News office by noon Monday to be considered for publication in Tuesday's paper. We reserve the right to edit all letters for brevity and clarity and to limit the number of letters from any one individual or on any one topic. We discourage copies of letters sent elsewhere and require that all letters be signed and include an address and phone number. We may withhold names on request but will not publish unsigned letters. Address all letters to: Letters To The Editor, The Clarkston News, 5 S. Main St., Clarkston, MI 48346.

Responsibility or resignations

As a parent and former educator, I am always interested in the status of education throughout the country and in our community.

Although a native Michigander, I have lived in Ohio and New York, and in all my experiences relative to school mileage and bond issues, I have never confronted such a muddled, confusing, contradictory presentation as the one given by our school administration in recent years.

Would you believe that I voted for all three proposals? Despite the lack of communication on the part of the administration, I sensed the need for more monetary support from the taxpayers.

Yet I could not believe that a majority of the voters would respond affirmatively.

We can meet the educational needs of the community only by a review of the present administration, which could include the removal of the top echelon.

Failure, in recent years, to gain the confidence of the electorate is detrimental to the real needs of our educational system.

I completely agree with Mr. Kurt Karlstrom who, in the Feb. 20 issue of The Clarkston News, stated "I would not like to see our educational system and students suffer more than it already has because of the inability of our current leadership."

This community will support education when the electorate again has faith in the school board and the administration.

We should not need the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee or any other organization to sell us ideas.

We do not like to be threatened by drastic curriculum cuts and devaluation of our real estate in an effort to gain our vote.

Also, it is inadvisable to insult senior citizens by accusing them of indifference. Let the school board be responsible or let the members resign.

Anne Hubchen

I will sign name

I am not ashamed to sign my name or give facts pertaining to my position on the school proposals.

I am a graduate of Clarkston High—third highest of 48 students in the Class of 1951. We are having our 40th Reunion in June.

In 1951, the present Clarkston Junior High with no additions housed kindergarten through 12th grade, so I'm well aware of the changes.

This building was necessary to replace the school building that now serves as the Independence Township Hall because of school building's poor condition. Township hall will be standing when the present CHS bites the dust, so that old excuse won't work now.

Our four children are also Clarkston graduates—two in the top 10 of their class. At present we have five grandchildren who are students in Clarkston schools.

I always participated in school activities for our children at every level. I served as P.T.A. president, membership chairman, on numerous committees, in the library, as a room mother, chaperon and wherever needed.

Now I am there for our grandchildren: collecting Kroger receipts, Campbell soup labels, at programs and on Special Persons Day. I have been in the schools and know about work that has and is being done.

I also know that in the elementary school libraries and others, programs which were in the hallways when we were overcrowded are now in classrooms. Some of the portables are used for Santa's Shed and the rest of the year not even for storage.

If you did not believe my statement of declining enrollment was true, why didn't the administration, Blue Ribbon committee or other "yes" voters prove me wrong?

Why would they give for publication a Fourth Friday count of a fewer number of students than there were and thus get less money from the state?

I thank God we still have a few rights regarding the spending of money we work for. I am happy for name withheld that paying only $10 to $15 extra per month is not a problem for you. There are many in this area who would find it a real burden.

I did not say I could not afford to pay more—I said these proposals are not needed now. However, our car is a 1984; we aren't hooked up to cable TV; do not own a VCR or plan to wake up and smell the coffee, as none of us drink coffee.

There are no facts to prove that one, more or any children automatically appear with each new house. We do know of many homes where the children are grown, gone, and taxes for them have doubled the same as yours.

(Superintendent Gary) Haner and some of the Blue Ribbon people have told them to move if they cannot afford to pay more.

Our family has been on this land since 1836—yes, eighteen hundred thirty-six, and neither we nor anyone else should be forced to move to supply the whims of a few.

If you really believe what you have written and are almost ashamed to live here, perhaps you should consider their advice.

I would hope the message all students receive is that we care about their education and preparation to live and work, as that is what they are suppose to be in school for.

Frills and extras are nice but not necessary and certainly will not be provided free after graduation.

If ever we are presented with proposals which are true and if threats are not used to influence voters, I will both work for and vote yes. This could be a wonderful example for all students.

I do say thank you, and I very much appreciated that the children were not subjected to as many threats or frightening talks as they have been in the past.

Bomb scare causes store evacuation

An unidentified person phoned in a bomb scare at the Food Town grocery store Feb. 23.

According to a report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, an employee in the deli area took the phone call at about 7 p.m. The employee said a person, sounding young, warned her that a bomb had been planted in the back of the store and was going to explode within 20 minutes.

After the caller hung up, the employee alerted her supervisor of the call and the store was evacuated. Police conducted a search but did not find a bomb.

Another counterfeit $20 bill reported

For the second time in two weeks, a counterfeit $20 bill has been turned into local authorities after being passed off at an M-15 establishment.

On Tuesday, Feb. 19, a counterfeit $20 bill was used to pay for food at the Dairy Queen. A similar bill was used to pay for food at LB's Muffins and Yogurt just three days prior.

Oakland County Sheriff's Detective Dave Scott said these incidents aren't restricted to Clarkston alone. Scott said a few of these phony bills have turned up in the Lake Orion area as well.

Scott said the counterfeit currency is probably related to a heist in southern Oakland County last month. Apparently, equipment that can be used to reproduce money was stolen from a Ferndale-based printing company.

Scott said some of the stolen equipment has been recovered, but the secret service is continuing its investigation into the matter.

Township adds office districts

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two new zoning districts were adopted by the Independence Township Board Feb. 19.

Unanimously approved in both instances, the office service one (OS1) and office service two (OS2) districts were added to the township's long list of zoning designations.

Both districts apply primarily to office zoning developments and all businesses complementary to an office-business environment.

The OS1 district is for small sites with minimum road frontage and lot depth, which may be located between residential areas and commercial areas or thoroughfares. The district will most likely pertain to parts of the M-15 corridor.

The OS2 is for sites larger than the OS1. The district applies to areas that may not need a compatible transition between commercial and residential areas or between thoroughfares and residential areas. The district will most likely be used along portions of the Sashabaw corridor.

The permitted principal uses under both districts were chosen for their low traffic-generating characteristics.

The uses they have in common include: office buildings, medical and dental offices, veterinary offices and hospitals, banks and credit unions, public utility offices, training and educational centers, photographic studios, retail office supply stores, florist shops, business service establishments and personal service establishments such as beauty parlors, shoe repair and tailor shops. The OS2 district allows a few more uses, such as laundry and dry cleaning outlets, private service clubs, pharmacies and computer centers.

Under the OS2, a few other uses are allowed with special land use permission, including sit-down restaurants, research and design centers, general or specialty hospitals and motels and hotels.

Former Clarkston man killed in California

A former Clarkston-area man was allegedly murdered by his own wife in California three weeks ago.

Jennifer Dean, 26, was arraigned Feb. 13 in Victorville, Calif., for the stabbing death of Curtis J. Dean. She is currently being held in a California jail, on a charge of murder, with the bail set at $500,000.

She is charged with killing her husband in their home Feb. 8. The couple had been living in California about two years prior to the incident. They have two daughters, ages 3 and 4.

Oil pick-up days extended

The Independence Township Groundwater Leadership Team has decided to extend the initial round of used motor oil pickup one more week to Saturday, March 2.

"Keep the Oil Out" has been an overwhelming success with more than 1,400 quarts now recycled for refining into usable oil products, according to organizers.

"The response has been incredible," says Doug Carlson, project leader.

The extension will allow participants to pick up all of the oil from calls they have received, along with additional calls that may occur.

Both Morgan's Service Station in Clarkston and

Roy Brothers Amoco on Sashabaw Road have accepted the oil for their refining tanks.

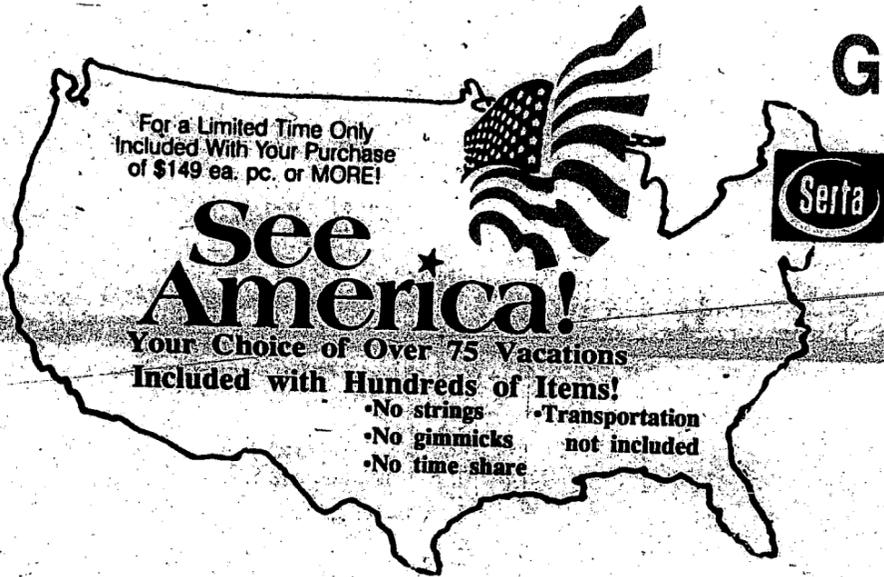

The team reports several new members have joined as a result of the project.

This local team, formed with the help of the Eastern Michigan Environmental Action Council (EMEAC), is focused on protecting ground water from pollution by household hazardous products.

If you would like more information about the team and its projects, or wish to have used oil picked up, call 625-1800.

This weekend's hot tickets

Wrestlers go to state

What: Clarkston's varsity wrestling team, the states No. 2 rated team, competes at the Class A state team championships. Opening match against Grandville.
When: Quarterfinals begin Friday (March 1), 8 p.m. If Wolves keep on winning, semifinals are Saturday (March 2), 11 a.m.; finals same day at 5 p.m.
Where: Kellogg Arena in Battle Creek

What to expect: The Wolves should have no problems with Grandville. If they advance, they will go up against the winner of Flint Carmen Ainsworth - Warren Lincoln at 11 a.m. on Saturday.

Most likely, the Wolves would face the Warren team. Clarkston coach Scott Strickler said, "Warren Lincoln has six outstanding kids, but there's 13 weight divisions."

If Clarkston does advance to the 5p.m. finals on Saturday, it would most likely face Temperance-Bedford, the state's No. 1 rated team.

"They'll (Temperance-Bedford) be the favorite, but at that level, anything can happen," said Strickler. "If we do see them, we'll give them a good match."

Last year, Temperance-Bedford lost in the finals to another GOAL team, Lake Orion.

Volleyball team at districts

What: Clarkston's varsity volleyball team, 22-7-9, competes at the Class A district tournament, with its first match against the winner of Waterford Kettering-Pontiac Central

When: Saturday (March 2), 11 a.m.
Where: Waterford Mott High School

What to expect: The Wolves, GOAL champs, will most likely play Waterford Kettering at 11 a.m. Clarkston already defeated the Captains twice in straight games during the regular season.

If Clarkston advances beyond the opening round, it would most likely play West Bloomfield in the finals at 12:30 p.m.

West Bloomfield, one of the area's highest-rated teams, tied for first with Rochester Adams for a league co-championship. Clarkston, however, defeated Adams twice this season.

If Clarkston does eventually play against West Bloomfield, coach Gordie Richardson knows his squad will be facing a taller team.

"Our key to winning will probably be serve reception and controlling the flow of the game," said Richardson. We need to force their big blockers to move around a little."

Hoop team faces Northern

What: The Clarkston varsity boys' basketball team, 19-0, will either win the league title outright or share it with final regular-season game foe Pontiac Northern.

When: Friday (March 1) approximately 7 p.m. (whenever the 5:30 p.m. JV game is finished).
Where: Clarkston High School gym

What to expect: Clarkston coach Dan Fife is expecting more of the same when his team hosts 13-3 Pontiac Northern.

Earlier in the season, a basket by Clarkston's Chris Wasilk at the buzzer gave the Wolves a 64-62 win over the Huskies in Pontiac.

Fife plans on another close game.

"I wouldn't expect anything else. It's an intense rivalry," said the coach.

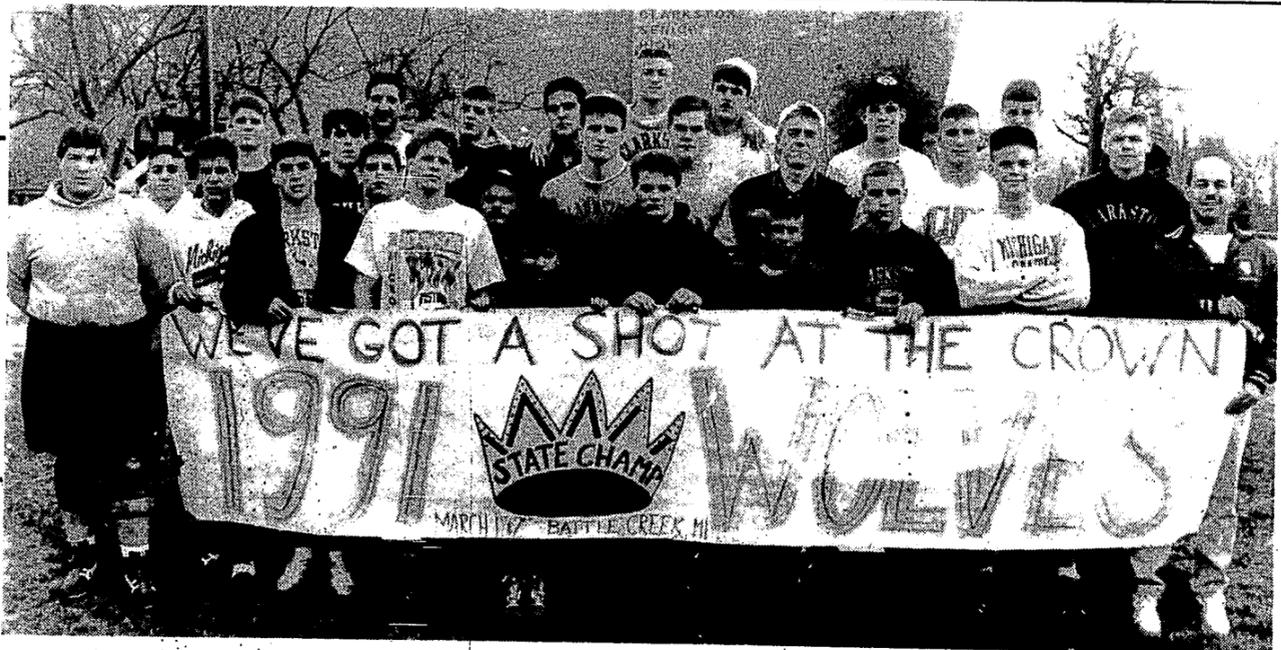

Clarkston is 9-0 in the GOAL while Northern is 8-1.

"We'll either win it outright or we'll share it (the league title) with them," said Fife. "It's the 20th game, we'll go at them."

If you plan on seeing this game, it's recommended that you arrive earlier than normal to purchase your tickets.

Michelsen proves he's No. 1 at 171

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Damon Michelsen lost in the districts his sophomore year, he thought of "those guys" that go on to become state champions as being "unbelievable."

Two years later (last Saturday at Battle Creek, in fact), Michelsen became one of those unbelievable wrestlers.

The Clarkston senior, rated No. 1 in the state throughout the year, crushed Brighton's Kelley Shaw, 15-2, for the Class A 171-pound state championship.

It was the first ever state championship by a Wolf wrestler.

"It meant a lot to be the first one. Clarkston's had a lot of good wrestlers," said Michelsen, a team co-captain, who will return to Battle Creek this weekend with his team for the state team championship.

YOU don't need a scale to find out Jerry Anderson's weight division.

Two of Michelsen's teammates came close to being the first Wolf state champion earlier in the day. Jeff Deroseau (103) placed second and Jerry Anderson (125) was third.

Wolves Jason Roughton (130), co-captain Joel Davis (189) and Joe Webb (hwt.) also earned trips to the state finals but did not place.

Michelsen had pinned Shaw in the first period earlier in the season at the Lansing Sexton Invitational.

But Michelsen admitted to still being a little nervous before meeting him in the finals.

Michelsen, 49-1-1 on the season, thought the turning point in the match was halfway through the first period.

"He had my leg up in the air but couldn't take me down," said Michelsen. "That was his best move but he couldn't take me down. That gave me confidence."

"Confidence" is an understatement. After leading 7-0 in the first period, the Wolf senior expanded his advantage to 12-1 after the second period and continued for the 15-2 major decision.

Michelsen, who had family and friends from around Michigan and Chicago see him win it all, said all of the hard work and training during his career was worth it.

"It's all paid off. I'd do it all again," said Michelsen referring to lifting weights and running at 6 a.m., in addition to his regular practice. In the fall, he also starred in football, making the all-Greater Oakland Activities League team.

Clarkston varsity coach Scott Strickler felt the emotion after Michelsen's victory.

"There were a few wet ones trickling down after Damon won," said Strickler. The coaches present the medals to their own wrestlers during the victory ceremonies following the match.

Strickler said Michelsen's win was especially impressive because few of the state final matches were one-sided. And because the senior was the No. 1 ranked wrestler, "people were out to get him."

"Damon was in true championship

Damon Michelsen
First at 171

Jeff Deroseau
Second at 103

Jerry Anderson
Third at 125

form," said Strickler.

Even though Deroseau and Anderson couldn't quite win it all, Strickler has good reason to be very satisfied with their results. Both are only sophomores.

"I will have some more state champions before I'm done coaching," said Strickler, who doesn't expect to have to wait much longer.

Deroseau, 47-2, lost in the finals to Walled Lake Western junior Andy Fritz, 4-3, in overtime. The match ended in a 3-3 tie. In overtime, the referee penalized Deroseau for stalling to put Fritz up 4-3. Deroseau had time to come back but couldn't overcome the 1-point deficit.

If Deroseau had tied Fritz after overtime, criteria points would have given the match to Deroseau.

"He backed up a little," said Clarkston coach Strickler about the crucial stalling point against his wrestler.

Strickler said Deroseau wrestled well all weekend to get to the finals.

"Jeff probably had the toughest road," said Strickler.

Anderson was 51-1 going into the semifinals against Belleville's Steven Davis. The sophomore's only loss of the season was an 8-0 decision against Davis. Anderson, who finished sixth at state as a freshman, also lost to Davis, 5-3, at state last year.

Davis, who often wrestled at 130 during the regular season, again topped Anderson this year, this time on an 8-5 decision.

Davis led 6-0 in the third period, but Anderson started to come back near the end of the match.

At least a few times, Anderson said Davis purposely head butted him to get a bloody nose, causing a break in the action.

"I was never tired but I know he was tired," said Anderson about Davis' unique way to get a breather.

Davis ended up getting pinned by Brighton's Mitch Zoldowski in the finals. Anderson edged Holly's Andy Winohradsky, 4-3, for third place.

Coach Strickler said Webb, Davis and Roughton had the disadvantage of never wrestling at the state finals before.

"It's tough going there for the first time," said Strickler, pointing out that sophomore Roughton will "know what to expect" next year.

"They all worked hard," said Strickler of his six athletes that earned their way to state.

That hard work paid off for a first, second and third.

Girls 8th at state, Roeser 15th in G.S.

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston girls, skiing on courses steeper and twice as long as normal, finished eighth at the state finals Monday at Nub's Nob.

Clarkston was one of 10 teams which qualified for the finals, with Petoskey ending up winning the title. Eighty skiers competed, which included some individual skiers who qualified in addition to those on the 10 teams.

The skiers raced in the sun on six inches of fresh snow.

"I think I got the maximum out of the team this year," said Clarkston coach Judy Roeser, whose team won the Pine Knob Ski Division and the Greater Oakland Activities League title before its trip to state.

Carrie Roeser, the steadiest skier for Clarkston all season, again paced the Wolves by racing for the state's 15th best time in the giant slalom (68.28 seconds) and 20th in the slalom (88.81).

"I'm very proud of her. She gets everybody up for the race," said coach Judy Roeser about her daughter, Carrie. "Even if she wasn't my daughter, she'd still be a joy to coach."

Gaylord's Anna Estelle won both events, the slalom at 77.20 and the G.S. at 64 flat.

Other Wolf finishes in the giant slalom were: Kim Carpentier, 43rd (74.86); Missy Crites, 48th (78.20); Sandra Linberg, 57th (90.02); Andrea Raymond, 60th (221.22). Courtney Whittaker did not finish both runs. The top

Other Wolf finishes in the slalom were: Raymond, 49th (102.46); Linberg, 53rd (107.65); Becky Rumph, 57th (108.89); Crites, 60th (109.96); and Carpentier, 66th (139.22).

Coach Roeser noted that the northern teams had an advantage at Nub's Nob because they are used to competing on the longer and steeper courses during the regular season. Clarkston also did not get the chance to practice runs with gates before the finals.

"The courses were twice as long (compared to Pine Knob), so the times were almost doubled," said Judy Roeser. "And they're not used to skiing that fast (the steeper slopes)."

Petoskey finished with 72 points, followed by Harbor Springs 77.5, Birmingham Marion 119, Marquette 149, Cadillac 182, Grand Blanc 188, East Grand Rapids 232, Clarkston 274.5, Brighton 297, Kingsford 311.

SANDRA Linberg speeds down the slopes at Pine Knob during the Southeast Michigan Ski League meet last week. Linberg also skied at the Class A state championships Monday.

Swinging from the Heels

Wrestling with a new sport

This winter, the Clarkston varsity wrestlers have been my teachers and I have been their student.

Prior to this year, I had very seldom covered wrestling matches for a newspaper and I had watched only a few matches as a spectator.

The most "wrestling" I had ever done was when I was about five or six years old against my older brother, Paul (whose wrestling name was "Winner"), and my younger sister, Doreen (a.k.a. "Chicken Noodle"). I proudly named myself "Buckalobeat."

I played basketball, football, tennis and ran track in high school but never even saw a wrestling match because Bay City All Saints never had a wrestling team.

Sure, we had a few days of wrestling in phys. ed. class my sophomore year. I remember our teacher, Dennis Miller, trying to explain everything we needed to know about the sport in a two-day unit. He told us that in high school and college wrestling "You can do anything you want, except what you see on TV" (All-Star Wrestling).

So, I matched up with Phil Pawlicki, one of my basketball teammates, and we gingerly went through a couple of holds, always making sure we wouldn't come too close to hurting each other for the sake of our basketball careers.

It was during this class that another classmate, Jerry Briggs, strutted around the mat pretending to be Thunderbolt Patterson (one of the more popular "bad guys" of All-Star wrestling at the time) while his cohort, Tom Tarkowski, walked behind with a jacket in case Thunderbolt broke a sweat. Nowadays, Thunderbolt would be assisted by someone like a Lovely Linda. Tarkowski couldn't come close to being her.

A few years later, Thunderbolt Patterson ... (Briggs) became my brother-in-law. Now he is assisted by the Lovely Doreen (who, of course, was once known as "Chicken Noodle").

During the 11 years that I taught in high school, I watched a few wrestling matches and even took a few photos.

But this year was different, having to write about and photograph the Clarkston wrestlers on a regular basis.

And what a year it's been. The Wolves have been rated No. 2 in the state all season long, they won their first ever Oakland County Championship, won the Greater Oakland Activities League title and will be wrestling at the team state championship this weekend in Battle Creek.

Last weekend, Damon Michelsen won Clarkston's first ever wrestling state championship. Jeff Deroseau placed second and Jerry Anderson was third.

This success wasn't the only thing that made me become more of a wrestling fan. Even more so was the way the Wolves won many of their matches.

In three straight regular-season dual matches against Waterford Kettering, Rochester Adams and Lake Orion, the Wolves came from behind to edge all three opponents.

Michelsen, Deroseau and Anderson were always consistent. But there were other heroes.

Clarkston defeated defending state and GOAL champ Lake Orion when heavyweight Tony Miller won the last match of the night. Miller wasn't even supposed to wrestle this year because of a knee injury. Miller's heavyweight teammate, Joe Webb, also came back from an injury and reached the individual state finals.

Joel Davis' key win against Howell with only 30 seconds remaining in the regionals made it possible for the team to advance to state.

Seniors Jason Slater, Alex Martin and Mike Stanton were consistent. Jason Roughton came back from an illness to reach the individual state finals.

And there are others on this team, a squad that often had more sophomores on the mat than seniors.

I still have much to learn about wrestling. I figured out most of the points that are quickly awarded by a referee during a match, but not all of them. Clarkston head coach Scott Strickler and assistant coach John Vega, along with the wrestlers, have been very patient and helpful when I've asked them to explain things about their sport.

The Wolves have made me realize the purity of the sport, pure because each athlete wrestles within a weight division, man against man without any bats, rackets, footballs, etc. And they've made me realize how important conditioning is to become one of the state's elite teams.

I've come a long way from my "Buckalobeat" days.

Win or lose this weekend, I'll continue to be a fan of wrestling.

Thanks, Wolves.

Volleyball team scorches Dragons

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Scoring 20 of the final 23 points helped Clarkston's varsity volleyball team to a 15-8, 15-3 win Feb. 20 over host Lake Orion.

The Wolves held a slim 10-8 lead in the first game and then took five straight points for the opening game win. The one-sided second game clinched the match.

Heather Steinhelper sparked the Wolves by serving 18-of-18 with two aces. She also had three digs.

The win raised league champion Clarkston's Greater Oakland Activities League record to 9-0 and its overall mark to 21-7-9. Last season the Wolves were 18-18-4.

Clarkston has one regular-season match remaining at Brandon Feb. 27 before heading for the district tournament at Waterford Mott on Saturday, playing the Waterford Keuring-Pontiac Central winner at 11 a.m.

In the victory against the Dragons, Jenny Graham was 11 of 13 in attacks with 10 kills, 4-of-4 in serve receptions and she had three digs.

Stacey Tinkis was 10-of-11 in attacks with four kills, 9-of-9 serving with two aces, and she had five digs.

Becky Kosek had 13 assists and was 9-of-9 serving, with three digs.

Candy Polenz had seven digs.

Also of note, Laura Garlitz broke the school record for serving aces in a season by smacking 70 of them, so far. (The previous record was 67). Garlitz is followed closely by teammate Polenz, who has 66 this year.

JV hoop team needs another OT

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's JV basketball players proudly wear blue and gold, but they're making their coach a little more gray.

Last week, for the third time this season, the JV squad went into overtime before finally winning, this time edging host Uica Eisenhower, 57-52.

Clarkston coach Tim Kaul after the game joked that at least this time his team only went into one overtime instead of double overtime (his Wolves stopped Waterford Mott Jan. 8 in two OT's).

The Wolves almost didn't make it into overtime against Eisenhower. After three close quarters, they were down 49-47 with six seconds left in the game.

But Clarkston's Nick Shires, who was double-teamed, sank a basket with one second left for the tie.

Two free throws by Shires, along with a basket each by Jeremy Deloney, Scott Rooney and Steve Black was all the scoring needed for the win.

Shires led the Wolves with 21 points, Black had seven, Rooney six, Matt Underwood, Chris Combs and Scott Matusz each had five, Matt Smith and Deloney both had two and Dan Scheib added one.

Clarkston 62, Waterford Kettering 40
(Feb. 22 at Clarkston)

Ten Wolves scored as Clarkston routed Waterford Kettering, 62-40.

Clarkston's lead grew from eight after the first quarter, to 18 at the half, to 24 after three quarters.

"We controlled the tempo," said coach Kaul, whose team record jumped to a hefty 16-2.

Shires scored 19, all in the first three quarters.

Coach Kaul said Shires has easily been his team's

7 grapplers win at Holly

Seven Clarkston Wrestling Club members took first place in Holly Feb. 16.

The local wrestlers competed at a Mid-Michigan Wrestling Association meet at the Benjamin-Sherman Middle School, which was sponsored by the Holly Roughriders.

Three Clarkston wrestlers captured firsts in the 13-14 age division: Corey Grant (100 pounds-A), Eric Endreszl (130) and P. J. Vandermeer.

In the 11-12 division, Jeremy Brown (176) took first and Franz Geleski (105) was second.

In 9-10 action, A. J. Grant (59-A) and Franco Vega (90) both finished first, Jason Putnam (59-B) and Ryan McAleer (63-B) each placed second, and Matt Baker (85-A) took third.

In the 8-and-under division, Brian Endreszl (67-A) earned first and Joe Green (hwt.) finished second.

Next action for the Clarkston Wrestling Club is March 9 when it travels to Davison for the MMWA regionals.

most consistent scorer, while the rest of the scorers vary. "Other than Nick, I don't know where the scoring will come from game to game," said Kaul. Smith netted nine, Underwood eight, Deloney seven, Rooney five, Black and Matusz each had four, Ryan, Chris Colburn and Ben Jackson all had two.

Match-up defense still no match for Wolves

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Whether they've been nail-biters or laughers, Clarkston's varsity basketball team has won them all this season.

The Wolves crushed Waterford Kettering, 73-40, last Friday and three days earlier hung on for a 50-47 win over Utica Eisenhower.

Clarkston, rated No. 4 in the state, improved its overall record to 18-0 overall and 9-0 in the Greater Oakland Activities League with the victory against Kettering.

The Wolves will host tough Pontiac Central on Friday. A win would give Clarkston the outright GOAL championship, a loss would make the Wolves co-champions with the Huskies.

Clarkston 73, Waterford Kettering 40

(Feb. 22 at Clarkston)

Clarkston coach Dan Fife not only was happy because his team won, but because of the way it played.

"I thought we played very well in the first half," said Fife, whose current team has the longest winning streak (18) in his coaching career. "We also played outstanding team defense."

Clarkston jumped out to a 17-6 first period lead before a jam-packed gym on Parent's Night. The Wolves stretched that advantage to 35-19 at the half and 54-27 after three quarters.

Offensively, the Wolves were once again led by the sharp shooting of Dugan Fife, who scored 28 points, had four 3-pointers and sank 8-of-8 free throws.

"Dugan really played well in the first half," said his father, Dan, who pointed out that the guard has also averaged eight assists and six steals this season.

David Smith also added some offensive spark for the Wolves, coming off the bench to score 11 points, which included three 3-pointers.

"The last couple of weeks he's shot with a lot of confidence," said the coach about Smith.

Derek Wiley scored nine, Chris Wasilk eight, Luke Fedio six, Mark Galbraith and Jon Wynnemko each had four, and Jeremy Burke added three.

Kettering, 5-13 overall and 3-6 in the GOAL, was led by Tad Smith's 15 points, the only Captain to reach double-figures.

Clarkston 50, Utica Eisenhower 47

(Feb. 19 at Utica)

Utica Eisenhower's defense looked different to the Wolves at the beginning, but there was nothing different about Dugan Fife's 3-point shooting at the end.

Clarkston edged Utica, 50-47, for the non-league win.

"It was a physical game. They used a 1-3-1 and a match-up on defense. We haven't played against a lot of defenses like that," said coach Dan Fife.

Clarkston was up by seven at the half, but the hosts came back and led 47-45 late in the game.

But a 3-pointer by Dugan Fife regained the lead for the Wolves and two free throws by Galbraith gave Clarkston more room.

Utica prevented itself from getting one scoring opportunity late in the game when it was called for three seconds.

"We weren't shooting well so we had to beat them on defense," said coach Dan Fife.

Dugan Fife, who has been averaging about 30 points a game, scored 24. The junior guard also picked off 10 steals.

Teammate Wiley added some offensive punch, scoring 16, which included four 3-pointers.

"He took some of the heat off Dugan," said Dan Fife.

Galbraith netted five, Jason Lund and Wasilk each had two and Fedio added one.

Steve Ryan scored 16 for Eisenhower.

LOSS OF A GRANDPARENT

For the majority of children, the first encounter with death in the family comes through the death of a grandparent. Grandparents have a special place in the life of their grandchildren, for they represent an unconditional love that can be treasured for a lifetime. The question for the parent is how to explain and make acceptable to the child the death of so important a person in the child's life. It's not an easy situation. The temptation is to avoid it by telling the child a convenient story and by excluding the child from the funeral service. But this is cheating the child in a very important way. The rites and rituals that we use to mark the end of life are our way of saying a significant and appropriate good-bye. To have this opportunity taken away can leave the child with many unresolved feelings. It can also possibly damage trust between child and parent.

Ski teams finish in top 5 at Southeast meet

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Clarkston boys placed fourth and the girls tied for fifth in the Southeast Michigan Ski League meet at the Pine Knob Ski Resort Feb. 21.

Grand Blanc won both the boys' and girls' races.

Carrie Roeser had the best day for a Wolf, finishing fourth in the slalom and eighth in the giant slalom.

Boys

Clarkston coach Judy Roeser called the boys' finish a "moral victory."

"They did well. They were really pulling for each other," said Roeser.

Bryson Menke had the Wolves best finish by placing 13th in the slalom in 38.41 seconds. Brother Rice's Brian McFadden won the event in 34.92 seconds.

Other Wolf finishes in the slalom were: Justin Whittaker, 17th (39.20); Dave Studt, 19th (39.68); Mike Kozlowski, 20th (40.59); Brian Zoss, 36th (53.56). Brad Stricklin did not finish. The top four places were added for the team totals.

Zoss placed had the best two runs for the Wolves in the giant slalom, placing 19th (46.63). Grand Blanc's Gavin Smith won it in 43.69.

Other Wolf finishes in the G.S. were: Menke, 22nd (46.93); Whittaker, 25th (47.31); Kozlowski, 31st (47.71); Studt, 32nd (47.90); Todd Conklin, 48th (50.43).

Grand Blanc won the boys' meet with 85 points, followed by Rochester Adams with 123, Fenton 132, Clarkston 148, Bloomfield Hills Lahser 149, Flint Carmen-Ainsworth 189, Birmingham Brother Rice 197, Milford 216 and Walled Lake Central 243.

Girls

A couple of disqualifications hurt the Clarkston girls' chances to move up in the standings at the Southeast Michigan Ski League meet.

"We should have done better," said Clarkston coach Judy Roeser, whose team tied for fifth. "It just wasn't our day."

Carrie Roeser raced to place fourth overall in the slalom by completing both runs in 42.67 seconds. Grand Blanc's Niki Brown won the event in 39.27.

Other Wolf finishes in the slalom were: Andrea Raymond, 24th (50.03); Missy Crites, 32nd (64.53); Kim Carpentier, 35th (70.76). Sandra Linberg and Becky Rumph both didn't finish.

"I don't scream at them," said coach Roeser about the times any of her skiers ever "DQ". "They already feel bad enough when they get to the bottom of the hill."

Carrie Roeser had another strong finish in the giant slalom, taking eighth in 49.76 seconds. Marian's Natalie Burge won the event in 48.67.

Other Wolf finishes in the G.S. were: Raymond, 22nd (20.29); Carpentier, 27th (52.92); Crites, 28th (53.10); Courtney Whittaker, 30th (53.32); Linberg, 33rd (53.62).

Girls, boys win GOAL

Since the GOAL league meet was canceled at Pine Knob because of the recent warm weather, the results from the regionals counted towards the GOAL championship.

Clarkston, which won all of the regular season girls' and boys' GOAL races, also was credited with winning the GOAL meet for the boys and girls' teams. The Wolves were followed by Lake Orion, Waterford Kettering and Waterford Mott in both divisions.

In addition, Carrie Roeser and Brian Zoss received gold medals for their efforts, Mike Miller took a silver and Justin Whittaker, Missy Crites and Becky Rumph earned bronze medals.

BRIAN Zoss finished 19th overall in the giant slalom at last week's Southeast Michigan Ski League meet at Pine Knob.

Coug's top Wolverines

BY BOBBY BRAZIER
Clarkston News Special Writer

After two narrow defeats against Clarkston this year, the freshman Cougar basketball team gave the Wolverines a taste of their own medicine.

Sashabaw escaped past Clarkston, 36-33, at the high school gym, Feb. 18.

Sashabaw, 2-11, led 19-16 at halftime and held on for the win.

"The team played a real good defensive ball game. Josh Watson, Garrett DeWitt and John Weeks played one of their better games this year," said Sashabaw coach Jim Smith. "This is a big game for us. It makes the whole season better."

Weeks led the Cougars' scoring attack with 14 points, DeWitt had nine, Watson added seven and Tony Lucca, Keith Brotemarkle and Mike Lemke each had two.

Clarkston's Kevin Dankert led all scorers with 17.

Laurie co-player of week

Clarkston High School graduate Rob Laurie shared the Western Michigan University hockey team's "player of the week" honors for strong goaltending against the nation's No. 1 college team.

Laurie, a junior, joined freshman goaltender Craig Brown for the honors. Laurie stopped 33 shots in Friday's 4-2 loss to No. 1 Lake Superior State University. Brown stopped 38 shots the next day in a 2-1 loss to LSSU.

It was the first loss in goal for Laurie since Nov. 10. Laurie is 5-3-1 for the season, making 227 saves for an .860 saves percentage and a 3.99 goals against average.

WMU coach Bill Wilkinson said, "Even though all the other Broncos were doing their jobs in working to shut down the Lakers, both Rob and Craig faced over 35 shots. They came up with some critical saves in key moments that kept us right in the battle throughout the weekend. They both played super."

The third time was a charm for the Sashabaw Junior High ninth grade basketball team, which defeated arch-rival Clarkston last week for the first time this season. (Photo by Ashley Ball)

Grant helps Lighthouse prevent homelessness

An increasing number of homeless families in the North Oakland County area has put pressure on area assistance agencies.

At least one agency, Lighthouse North, will soon be better equipped to handle that need.

Lighthouse North recently received an $80,948 federal grant. The grant comes from the Federal Emergency Management Assistance Board and targets the prevention of homelessness.

Gala benefits school

The third annual Cedar Crest Academy (CCA) gala is planned for 8 p.m. Saturday, March 9, at The Mansion at Pine Knob.

"Through the Looking Glass" is the theme of the evening, which will include music by First Impressions, dancing, entertainment and gourmet hors d'oeuvres and desserts.

Proceeds will benefit library development at CCA. Tickets, $35 per person and $50 per patron, are a tax-deductible donation.

For ticket information call Cedar Crest Academy at 625-7270.

The grant offers a family the payment of one rent or mortgage payment if it will prevent an eviction or stop a foreclosure.

The assistance will not help everyone because of the restrictions that are placed on the use of the dollars, but it is a true blessing to the families it will be able to help, says Sherry Kaars, director of Lighthouse North.

"Lighthouse North is constantly busy with calls from families who are about to be put out on the street because they cannot pay their rent or make their mortgage payment," Kaars says. "It's hard to be an interviewer here at Lighthouse and sit face to face with families who are desperate and afraid."

"They want to know what to do now that their unemployment is gone, the savings are gone and they are three months behind on their mortgage," she says.

To apply for assistance from Lighthouse North, North Oakland County residents should call 673-4949. Anyone outside of this area should call the Main Lighthouse Office at 335-2462.

Two named to township seats

The Independence Township Board named two people to fill seats on the planning commission and board of review Feb. 5.

Cel Yarber, a member of the zoning board of appeals for the past one and half years, was chosen to sit on the planning commission. She will be filling the void left by Bruce Mercado, who ascended to the township board last month.

Yarber is to begin her term at the Feb. 14 planning commission meeting.

William E. Willson, a retired General Motors employee, was also selected to fill a vacant seat on the board of review. He worked at GM for 42 years before starting up his own engineering consulting firm. Willson is presently assisting the Swanson-Erie Corp. with various national and European clientele.

BOB Bartley has been a certified Nordic ski instructor for eight years. The Independence Township resident has skied for 20 years. Most students learn his cross-country techniques through courses at Independence Oaks County Park on Sashabaw Road.

Not all downhill for new ski students

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Bob Bartley doesn't give his students a snow job when it comes to cross-country ski instruction.

Bartley, a firefighter-paramedic for Bloomfield Township, is a nordic instructor certified through Professional Ski Instructor of America.

The Independence Township resident has been a cross-country skier for 20 years and an instructor for the past eight years. His lessons are given through the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department.

Bartley often gives his lessons at Independence Oaks County Park, but the site can change if a group or individual desires a different one.

He charges $8 per person for group instruction and $25 for private lessons, with lessons lasting one and a half hours. He will teach a minimum of four in a group. Usually his groups comprise four to 20 people, from 5-year-olds to senior citizens.

"At the end of the lessons, everybody roots each other on," said Bartley. "People you don't know, you tend to get to know."

If the students don't have skis, they can rent them at most county parks and other places such as Coach's

Corner.

During the one and a half hours, Bartley teaches four basic techniques: the diagonal stride (walking with the skis), double pull (pushing yourself with the ski poles), uphill techniques and straight-run downhill. A discussion of equipment is also part of the lesson.

"Downhill people are more party-oriented and fashionable. Cross-country skiers are more outdoorsy and interested in nature."

Bob Bartley

Bartley suggests that people take one lesson from him, ski on their own for a year, and then if they want more advanced instruction, take another lesson.

Bartley said about 40 percent of his students have had prior experience in downhill skiing.

He said there usually is a difference in the type of people who downhill or cross-country ski.

"Downhill people are more party-oriented and fashionable. Cross-country skiers are more outdoorsy and interested in nature," said Bartley.

Bartley said beginning cross-country skiers are surprised to find out that cross-country is not just skiing on a flat surface. In fact, there can be a good amount of downhill depending on how comfortable the skiers feel with their skills.

"You can go anywhere to do it," said Bartley, who points out that most public golf courses in the area allow cross-country skiing.

Many cross-country ski trails in Michigan. Some people can even get a flavor of skiing in their backyards or on nearby side roads.

Area discovery nets 4,000-year-old spearhead

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

In shopping for a place to call home, Joe and Jeannie Gates were attracted to Independence Township's Whipple Lake.

So, apparently, were Indians who lived on the very same plot of land 4,000 years ago.

The Gateses became aware of their prehistoric predecessors while digging up their backyard for a septic field.

While in the process of throwing rocks from the area being dug, Joe picked up an unusually large and heavy clump of dirt.

"Something scratched his hand," Jeannie recalls. "There was a point sticking out."

After clearing the dirt from the object, the two found what they thought to be an arrowhead.

While they thought the find to be somewhat unusual, they had no idea of just how rare of a find it would become.

While they thought the find to be somewhat unusual, they had no idea of just how rare of a find it would become.

"We thought 'Wow — but big deal,'" Jeannie says. Almost five years later, Jeannie thought of the arrowhead while leaving for a trip to the Cranbrook Institute of Science.

"Just for fun I decided to grab my arrowhead and see what Indian did it," Jeannie explains.

The Gateses left the arrowhead at the front counter.

"An expert called the next day and said that it was 4,000 years old and was from the prehistoric era," Jeannie adds.

That expert was Dr. Richard W. Redding, curator of collections at Cranbrook. According to Redding, the arrowhead was not an arrowhead after all, but was actually a projectile point.

"An expert called the next day and said that it was 4,000 years old and was from the prehistoric era."

Jeannie Gates

THE SPEARHEAD found by the Gateses is believed to be a Brewerton Point created in the late Archaic period, sometime between 2500 to 1200 B.C.

The piece was identified as a corner notch Brewerton Point made during the late Archaic period dating between 2500 and 1200 B.C. The spear head matched those in a book authored by Charles Martines, a contract archaeologist and current operations manager for Oakland Historical in Pontiac.

Though it's believed no other prehistoric pieces have been unearthed in the Clarkston area, an arrowhead was discovered near Maceday Lake in the 1930s; other pieces have been found near Paint Creek.

The Gateses plan to mount the arrowhead and keep it in their home.

The Gateses' residence is the source of another piece of local history, though much more recent than 4,000 years.

The site of the home was also one chosen for a log cabin built by Mr. Bailey, for whom Bailey Lake and Bailey Lake Elementary School were named. (Whipple Lake was formerly called Bailey Lake, according to a book on Clarkston history.)

"We're romantics," Jeannie insists. "We love history. We watched that Civil War thing and gobbled that up ..."

Who needs Civil War stories when you've got your own 4,000-year-old spearhead to contemplate?

RON RODDA
Sales Manager
"Let's discuss your Career in Real Estate Sales"

QUESTION: I have a mortgage loan that is fifteen years old and have now accumulated enough money to pay it off early. Do you think this is wise or could I put my money to better use?

ANSWER: Chances are you might be better off to keep the mortgage and put the prepayment cash in savings or securities. With a mortgage that is old, the interest on the debt and the interest you'd get from the savings would probably be not too far apart. With the right investment, you might even get a higher rate of return. The advantage is that you have a cash reserve while still earning almost as much, if not more than you would save by paying off the debt.

THINK TWICE BEFORE paying off an old mortgage early. The money might better be invested at today's higher interest rates.

The Lenten season, which occurs around mid-February through the end of March, offers us a good opportunity to test willpower.

Those following the Lenten practice are asked to give up something they value during this period and are asked to refrain from eating meat on Fridays, Ash Wednesday and Good Friday.

Many people turn to fish during this period. While seafood can be naturally nutritious, it is often passed by those who just don't know how to prepare it tastefully.

The following recipes are adapted from Better Homes and Garden's Calorie Trimmed Recipes.

VEGETABLE-SAUCE FISH FILLETS

Four servings

- 4 fresh or frozen fill fillets
- 1 medium tomato, peeled, seeded and chopped
- 3 tablespoons finely chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons snipped parsley
- 2 tablespoons thinly sliced green onion
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dried rosemary, crushed
- 2 teaspoons butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup white wine
- 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch

Thaw fish, if frozen. Arrange fish fillets in a single layer in a 10-inch skillet.

Combine chopped tomato, celery, parsley, green onion, salt and rosemary. Top fillets with the tomato mixture. Dot each fillet with 1/2 teaspoon of the butter or margarine.

Combine 1/4 cup water, wine and Worcestershire sauce; pour into skillet. Cover and simmer for 10 to 12 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Remove fish to serving platter; keep warm. Strain pan juices; measure 3/4 cup juices. Combine one tablespoon cold water and the cornstarch. Stir into skillet with the reserved 3/4 cup pan juices. Cook and stir over medium heat until thickened and bubbly.

Cook one minute more. Spoon sauce over fish. Serve immediately.

MARINATED SOLE

Four servings

- 1 pound fresh or frozen sole fillets
- 1/2 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
- 2 tablespoons snipped parsley
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon minced dried onion
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Thaw fish if frozen. Separate into fillets; place in plastic bag in bowl.

Combine pineapple juice, parsley, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, minced dried onion, dry mustard and salt. Pour over fish in bag. Marinate in refrigerator for six hours.

Drain fish, reserving marinade. Place fillets on unheated rack of broiler pan. Turn under any thin edges. Broil four inches from heat for four or five minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested, brushing occasionally with marinade.

WILD RICE SHRIMP CREOLE

Six servings

- 1 pound fresh or frozen shrimp in shells
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/3 cup green pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 28-ounce can tomatoes, cut up, reserving liquid
- 1 3/4 cups water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dried rosemary, crushed
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 six-ounce package regular long grain and wild rice mix
- Bottled hot pepper sauce

Thaw shrimp if frozen. Shell and devein shrimp. In three-quart saucepan cook onion and green pepper in butter or margarine about five minutes or until tender.

Add undrained tomatoes, water and seasonings. Stir in both packets from rice mix.

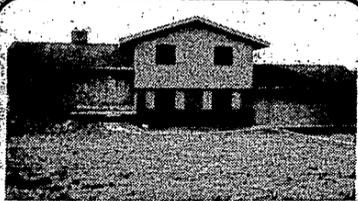

Cover; simmer 20 minutes. Add shrimp. Cover; simmer 10 minutes more. Pass hot pepper sauce.

The Other Side of Things

So who needs a Pulitzer Prize?

Ashley Ball

Well, here it is—a whole year since my first column appeared in The Clarkston News. I've had lots of fun. Actually, more fun than I probably should have had, considering this is a NEWSPAPER!

But after a year of writing fluff, I've decided to branch out, to expand my repertoire beyond the fun and fantasy of column-writing to the hard stuff of journalism. That's right. I'm going to become a serious journalist—a news reporter. Just like Jim and Tracy and Curt and Sandra and Brenda.

I'll no longer confine myself to merely harassing my teachers, friends and family in my column. I'll harass the WHOLE TOWN on the front page! (Just kidding.)

Seriously, I want to hit the streets of Clarkston to report the real news, the facts, the nitty gritty of what's happening to shape our lives and mold our minds, to raise the consciousness of the community, and to find out why Rudy's doesn't carry king-sized PB-Max's.

I spoke with my editor, Julie Campe, and she thought the reporting idea was wonderful. Before my first assignment, she gave me The Big Talk ... you know: stick to the point, don't express your own opinion, and take DIRECT QUOTES.

"And don't forget," Julie said, helpful and upbeat as usual, "news stories aren't funny or fictional ... they're factual."

"Factual? You mean, as in boring?"

Julie cleared her throat and continued.

"One more thing," she added. "You might find note-taking simpler and speedier if you left the vowels out of words ... sort of like shorthand."

So with pencils and notepad and camera and film and gum and candy and pop in hand, I set off on my first assignment.

I titled it: "PAO. A EEA. IAY." It was about a ce u ia ei a ec ua u at ... I a ee. EIEIO ... well, you get the idea. Looking over my notes, I couldn't decide whether I was the next Brenda Starr or the next Vanna White.

Back at the office, Julie skimmed my notes with a quizzical look. "Ashley, you were supposed to leave the vowels out!"

So there were a few little things I still had to work out.

But everything was moving right along. With any luck, I'd soon be covering important township and board of education meetings and who knows what else.

I was mentally mapping out my journalistic future when sports reporter Jim Gibowski asked if I'd like to start doing some of the weekly prep profiles on students at CJHS, SJHS and the high school.

I didn't want to hurt his feelings, but it certainly wasn't the journalistic edge I was looking for in my career. I wanted assignments with depth and challenge, perhaps something leading to a Pulitzer prize.

"You'll be interviewing and taking pictures of stand-outs on the various sports teams ...," Jim was explaining.

Big deal, I thought, disappointed that I hadn't been assigned to cover the study on traffic snarls in the village.

"Boys' basketball," he continued, "girls' volleyball, wrestling ..."

"Boys' basketball?"

"Yeah," Jim continued, "and girls' tennis and ..."

"Did you say boys' basketball?" I asked again. "And boys' football? And boys' wrestling? And boys' volleyball? And ..."

Jim looked up from his desk. "Ashley, we don't have a boys' volleyball team."

"Oh, that's OK," I assured him. "When do I start?"

Ashley Ball is a ninth-grader at Clarkston Junior High School.

Garden Corner

Short season needs quick crops

A short growing season doesn't mean you can't have a successful vegetable garden.

But it does mean that you need to select the varieties you plant with care.

Bernie Zandstra, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University, explains that the growing season for any area is the number of days between the average date of the last frost in the spring and the first 32-degree reading in the fall.

In Michigan, this period may vary from 60 days to 170.

"The key to vegetable gardening in short-season is to select quick-maturing varieties of warm-weather crops," Zandstra says.

Use the days-to-maturity information in seed catalogs and lists of extension-recommended varieties to select crops and varieties that will have time to produce in your area.

If your growing season is 90 days, for instance, you would want to select such short-season crops as snap beans (50 to 60 days) slicing cucumbers (55 to 68 days) summer squash (45 to 55 days) early tomatoes (62 to 75 days) and bell peppers (67 to 78 days).

Pumpkins (110 to 120 days) and sweet potatoes (120 to 150 days) would clearly be out of the question, and watermelons (85 to 97 days), muskmelons (85 to 90 days), late-season sweet corn varieties such as Silver Queen (94 days) and various vining winter squashes (85 to 100 days) would be borderline.

"Keep in mind that the actual dates of the first and last frosts can vary a great deal from the average figures given for local growing season," Zandstra points out. "In any given year, the last spring frost may occur well before or well after the average date."

So if you decide to gamble on planting a long-season or borderline variety, it's a good idea to hedge your bet with a short-season variety so you're sure to harvest something.

You can extend the season somewhat by protecting cold-sensitive crops from spring and fall frosts, he adds.

The length of the growing season is less critical for crops that will tolerate low temperatures and/or frost, he notes.

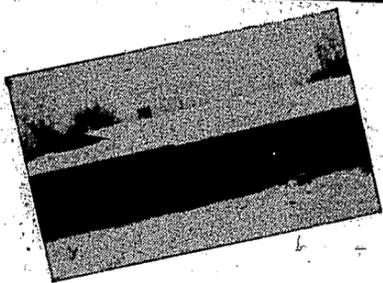

The cole crops—plants in the cabbage family—onions, peas, radishes, lettuce, carrots, spinach and other crops that can handle cool weather can be planted before the frost-free date, and many can be planted again in midsummer for a fall harvest.

Some, such as brussels sprouts, even improve in quality after a frost or two.

"The availability of short-season warm-weather varieties, combined with the range of crops that are naturally cold tolerant, means that even short-season gardeners can grow a wide variety of crops," Zandstra sums up.

"It just takes a little planning and some luck, some years, and information on average frost-free dates, recommended varieties and planting dates from the local Cooperative Extension Service office," he adds.

County Extension offices are listed in the telephone book under "County Government."

Zapping the ACT

Interested in improving your ACT scores? This workshop is designed to help you achieve your highest possible scores on the ACT, reduce any test anxiety and the negative effects you might suffer, and give you general and specific strategies for multiple-choice tests.

Presented by Profiles Corp. with Clarkston Community Education, the workshop is 6-9 p.m. Monday, March 18, at Clarkston High School. Class fee is $41.

Unless noted otherwise, registration and all activities take place at the Clarkston Community Education Center, 5275 Maybee Road, Independence Township.

Pet of the Week

Smart and friendly

Hans, 3, has German blood lines — he's about 90 percent German shepherd, a shelter worker estimates.

Though Hans came to the shelter as a stray, he's partially housebroken. With a little time and patience, housebreaking should be a success. The dog is very smart and learns quickly.

He's good natured, but the shelter suggests that he live in a home without small children. He weighs about 65 pounds and could frighten a small child.

Hans' adoption fee is $35, which includes neutering.

To see Hans, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Auburn Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Engagement

Carl and Barbara Coulter of Clarkston announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Lynn Coulter, to Phillip Andrew Dufrin, son of Norman and Mary Ann Dufrin of Clarkston. The bride, a 1988 graduate of Clarkston High School, is a student at Michigan State University, East Lansing, majoring in child development. The groom, also a 1988 graduate of Clarkston High School, is a co-op student at Michigan State University, majoring in electrical engineering and working at ERIM in Ann Arbor. A July 13 wedding is planned.

At college

Tamar Topous, daughter of Tom and Emily Bor-ton of Waterford and James Topous of Long Beach, Calif., recently became a member of Delta Delta Delta social sorority at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

She is a junior majoring in public relations and is a 1987 graduate of Clarkston High School.

New arrival

It's a boy for Chris and Julie Maier of Union Lake. John Christopher Maier was born at 4:30 p.m. Feb. 13, 1991, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. With brown hair and blue eyes, the baby weighed 10 pounds, 10 1/2 ounces, and measured 21 1/2 inches long. He has one sister, Nichole Maier, 3.

Grandparents are Bill and Joy Maier of Chicago, Ill., and Sally and Tom Bullen of Clarkston. Great-grandparents are Charles and Gladys Grabow of Chicago, Ill., and Leola Stageman of Clarkston.

Blackett, Garza exchange vows

Julie Kaye Blackett and Dean Aaron Garza were united in marriage Dec. 1, 1990, at the Clarkston United Methodist Church, Clarkston.

The Rev. Jon Clapp performed the 6 p.m. double-ring candlelight ceremony.

The church was decorated with white velvet pew bows, red roses and pine cedar roping on all the altar railings, plus white velvet bows and poinsettias.

Altar and candelabra arrangements included pink gerbera daisies and carnations, white dendrobiums, orchid sprays, nerrine lillies, red roses and pine, cedar and fresh ivy sprays.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Clarkston High School and a 1987 graduate of Michigan State University, East Lansing. A social worker at the Judson Centre, Royal Oak, she is the daughter of Darrel and Judy Blackett of Nadette Drive, Clarkston. She is the granddaughter of William and Charlotte Abare.

The bridegroom also attended Michigan State University, East Lansing, and is a product designer at Detroit Forming. He is the son of Aaron and Ophelia Garza of Westland and the grandson of Jennie Dominguez.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a long, white raw silk gown with long sleeves, cuffs and a large portrait collar neckline, which featured a large rose at the center of the collar. The double-tiered veil was attached to a Juliet cap adorned with silk roses, made and designed by the bride's mother.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of red roses, gardenias, stephanotis, white dendrobium and fresh ivy with pine and cedar accents.

The bride's gown and bridesmaids' gowns were made by Denise Kring of Waterford.

Maid of honor was Jill Blackett of Worcester, Mass. Matron of honor was Colleen Humphrey Feldkamp of Lansing. Other attendants were Irene Garza of Westland, Diane Carroll of Chicago and Denise Korrey of Boca Raton.

They wore long hunger green velvet sheaths with matching jackets. All carried cascade bouquets of pink gerbera daisies, nerrine lillies, fire and ice roses, dendrobiums, white freesia and fresh ivy.

Best man was George Asher. Other attendants were Jeffrey Blackett, Mike Rossi, Mike Cox and James Feldkamp.

A reception for 250 guests was held at the Pine Knob Mansion in Clarkston. For their wedding rip, the newlyweds took a Windjammer cruise in the Caribbean. They now reside in Royal Oak.

Honors

Michelle A. Darby of Reese Road, Independence Township, and Amy D. Pilarcik of Greene Haven Drive, Independence Township, were named to the dean's list for the first semester at Miami University, Oxford Ohio.

Lisa Jo Hendrix was named to the B-average dean's list at Bob Jones University, Greenville.

A 1988 graduate of Springfield Christian Academy in Springfield Township, she is a junior majoring in elementary education in the School of Education.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Michael Hendrix of Clarkston.

The Boisterous Bohemians won the fifth annual Sashabaw Junior High School air band contest on Feb. 21 with the song, "Bohemian Rhapsody" by Queen.

The five freshman outpointed 18 other groups from all grades. Members included Becky Bartlett, Angie Smith, Kari Cosner, Stephanie Staszak and Heidi Schneider.

Sarah Hunter of Clarkston was one of 75 students from the College of Arts and Science at New York University who traveled to Venezuela this month as Alumni Scholars.

Hunter was chosen on the basis of high academic standing, personal achievement and dedication to helping her community.

Clarkston resident Stacey M. Secatch from Clarkston High School was honored for superior achievement in mathematics by the Mathematical Association of American - Michigan Section at a banquet in Ypsilanti.

She was one of the top 100 finishers of the 18,000 students statewide who took a two-part examination in mathematics.

Freshman Lisa Brinn is among the Alma College, Alma, students named to the dean's list for the 1990 fall term.

Brinn, a 1990 graduate of Clarkston High School, is the daughter of John and Susanne Brinn of Whipple Tree Lake, Independence Township. She is planning to major in biochemistry at Alma College.

Engagement

Robert and Gail Squire, formerly of Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Amy Ann Squire of Waterford to Jeffrey Robert Chamberlain of Holcomb Road, Independence Township. He is the son of Paul and Carolyn Sadows and Ron and Carol Chamberlain of Holcomb Road. The bride elect is a 1987 graduate of Springfield Christian Academy and is employed at Wally Edgar Buick Chevrolet, Lake Orion. The prospective bridegroom is a 1986 graduate of Springfield Christian Academy and plans to graduate from Bob Jones University, S.C., May 3, 1991, with a major in marketing and a minor in sociology. A June 1 wedding is planned.

Charter Township of Independence
STATE OF MICHIGAN
COUNTY OF OAKLAND

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE
ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING THIRD AMENDMENT
TO DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY ORDINANCE

The Township Board having determined that the intent and purpose of Article II of Chapter 22 of the Independence Township Code of Ordinances shall be furthered by amending the boundaries of the Downtown District, as provided below, and the procedures for adopting the ordinance creating the authority in the first instance having been complied with in connection with the adoption of this amendment.

THE TOWNSHIP BOARD OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE, COUNTY OF OAKLAND, STATE OF MICHIGAN, ORDAINS:

PART I OF AMENDATORY ORDINANCE

Section 22-22 of the Independence Township Code of Ordinances shall be amended so as to extend the boundaries of the Downtown District so that the Downtown District shall consist of the property described on Exhibit D attached hereto and made a part of this amendatory ordinance by reference. Henceforth, Section 22-22 shall read as follows:

The boundaries of the Downtown District, within and with respect to which the authority shall exercise its powers, are hereby designated by the description set forth on Exhibit D, attached hereto and made a part of this Ordinance by reference. This designation is subject to alteration or amendment as the Township Board may deem appropriate in the future, subject to limitations provided by law.

PART II OF AMENDATORY ORDINANCE

In all other respects, the Downtown Development Authority Ordinance shall remain in full force and effect as previously adopted and effective.

PART III OF AMENDATORY ORDINANCE

This amendatory ordinance shall be codified so as to incorporate the final language of Section 22-22, as designated above, as part of the Independence Township Code of Ordinances, in the place of the language initially adopted.

PART IV OF AMENDATORY ORDINANCE

A certified copy of this amendatory ordinance shall be filed with the Secretary of the State of Michigan promptly following adoption.

PART V OF AMENDATORY ORDINANCE

This amendatory ordinance shall take effect immediately on the date of publication.

CERTIFICATION

The foregoing Ordinance Establishing Third Amendment to Downtown Development Authority Ordinance is hereby certified to be the authentic record of the Ordinance which was duly adopted by the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence on the 19th day of February, 1991, and published on the 27th day of February, 1991.

PUBLIC NOTICE

"BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW"

Charter Township of Independence NOTICE OF APPROVED ZONING AMENDMENT

At a regular meeting of the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence, held on February 19, 1991, the Board approved the following text amendment to the Township's Zoning Ordinance #83, to create the zoning designation of Office Service Two District:

Date: October 12, 1990

Revision: December 6, 1990

Revision: December 17, 1990

ARTICLE XXVIII - OFFICE SERVICE TWO DISTRICT

Section 28.01. OS-2, Office Service Two District.

The intent of the Office Service Two District is to provide locations uses which primarily include office and technical uses, and business and personal services uses which are dependent on and supportive of an office environment. The Office Service Two District is intended for larger sites than the Office Service One District and where there may not be a need to provide for a compatible transitional use between commercial and residential areas and/or between thoroughfares and residential areas.

The District shall be characterized by uses which: generally operate during normal business hours; produce a low volume of traffic; may require some service areas along with storage facilities; and are located in buildings which are architecturally compatible with the surrounding area.

The Office Service District is not intended to permit commercial retail uses that generate a large traffic volume. A limited range of business and service uses are permitted for the benefit of official personnel, tenants and visitors, provided that offices and technical uses remain the predominant use within the District.

Section 28.02. Permitted Principal Uses.

1. Office buildings for the use of any of the following occupations: Executive; administrative; professional; accounting; writing; clerical; stenographic; drafting; and sales.

2. Medical and dental offices, including clinics and medical laboratories.

3. Veterinary offices and hospitals, including accessory boarding, provided no outdoor exercise runs or pens are permitted.

4. Banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations.

5. Publicly owned buildings, public utility transformer stations and substations, telephone exchanges, and public utility offices.

6. Training and/or educational centers where such centers are designed and intended to provide training at the business, technical, and/or professional level.

7. Photographic studios.

8. Retail office supply, computer and business machine sales.

9. Business service establishments such as printing and photocopying services; mail and packaging services, and typing and secretarial services.

10. Florist shops.

11. Personal service establishments, such as barber and beauty shops, watch and shoe repair, tailor shops, locksmith and similar establishments.

12. Laundry and dry cleaning customer outlets, provided dry cleaning or laundry plants serving more than one customer outlet shall be prohibited.

13. Private service clubs, fraternal organizations and lodge halls.

14. Pharmacies, including stores selling or renting durable medical equipment.

15. Data processing and computer centers including the servicing and maintenance of electronic data processing equipment.

Section 28.03. Special Land Uses.

1. Sit-down restaurants serving food and beverages. Consistent with the intent of this District to allow uses which produce a low volume of traffic, the uses authorized under this subsection shall not include those which; permit food and beverages to be served on the premises in motor vehicles; sold at a drive-through window; and uses which otherwise have a carry out service as a material part of the business.

2. Research and design centers where said centers are intended for the development of pilot or experimental products, together with related office buildings for such research facilities where said offices are designed to accommodate executive, administrative, professional, accounting, engineering, architectural, and support personnel.

3. General or specialty hospitals.

4. Motels and residence hotels providing temporary lodging.

Section 28.04. Site Plan Review

For all uses permitted in the Office Service District, there must be site plan review as required under Section 5.12.

Section 28.05. Area, Height, Bulk and Placement Requirements

Area, height, bulk and placement requirements in accordance with Article XXX, Schedule of Regulations.

The motion to approve this zoning text amendment was offered by Vaara and seconded by Saile. The vote on the motion was as follows: Ayes: Lutz, McCrary, Mercado, Ronk, Saile, Travis, Vaara. Nays: None. The motion carried.

This zoning ordinance text amendment is effective immediately upon publication.

Respectfully Submitted,
Joan E. McCrary
Township Clerk

PUBLIC NOTICE

"BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW"

Charter Township of Independence NOTICE OF APPROVED ZONING AMENDMENT

At a regular meeting of the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence, held on February 19, 1991, the Board approved the following text amendment to the Township's Zoning Ordinance #83, to create the zoning designation of Office Service One District:

Date: May 31, 1990

Revision: July 24, 1990

Revision: October 12, 1990

Revision: December 6, 1990

Revision: December 17, 1990

ARTICLE XXVII-OFFICE SERVICE ONE DISTRICT

Section 27.01. OS-1, Office Service One District

The intent of the Office Service One District is to provide locations for low intensity uses which primarily include office uses, and business and personal services uses which are dependent on and supportive of an office environment. The Office Service One District is intended for smaller sites with minimum road frontage and lot depth which may be located between residential areas and commercial areas and/or thoroughfares.

The District shall be characterized by uses which: generally operate during normal business hours; produce a low volume of traffic; are compatible transitional use between commercial and residential areas and/or between thoroughfares and residential areas; and are located in buildings which are architecturally compatible with the residential community.

The Office Service District is not intended to permit commercial retail uses that generate a large traffic volume. A limited range of business and service uses are permitted for the benefit of official personnel, tenants and visitors; provided that offices remain the predominant use within the District.

Section 27.02. Permitted Principal Uses.

1. Office buildings for the use of any of the following occupations: Executive; administrative; professional; accounting; writing; clerical; stenographic; drafting; and sales.

2. Medical and dental offices, including clinics and medical laboratories.

3. Veterinary offices and hospitals, including accessory boarding, provided no outdoor exercise runs or pens are permitted.

4. Banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations.

5. Publicly owned buildings, public utility transformer stations and substations, telephone exchanges, and public utility offices.

6. Training and/or educational centers where such centers are designed and intended to provide training at the business, technical, and/or professional level.

7. Photographic studios.

8. Retail office supply, computer and business machine sales.

9. Business service establishments such as printing and photocopying services, mail and packaging services, and typing and secretarial services.

10. Florist shops.

11. Personal service establishments, such as barber and beauty shops, watch and shoe repair, tailor shops, locksmith and similar establishments.

Section 27.03. Special Land Uses.

1. Private service clubs, fraternal organizations and lodge halls.

2. Pharmacies, including stores selling or renting durable medical equipment.

3. Data processing and computer centers including the servicing and maintenance of electronic data processing equipment.

4. Laundry and dry cleaning customer outlets, provided dry cleaning or laundry plants serving more than one customer outlet shall be prohibited.

Section 27.04. Site Plan Review

For all uses permitted in the Office District, there must be site plan review as required under Section 5.12.

Section 27.05. Area, Height, Bulk and Placement Requirements

Area, height, bulk and placement requirements in accordance with Article XXX, Schedule of Regulations.

The motion to approve this zoning text amendment was offered by Vaara and seconded by McCrary. The vote on the motion was as follows: Ayes: Lutz, McCrary, Mercado, Ronk, Saile, Travis, Vaara. Nays: None. The motion carried.

This zoning ordinance text amendment is effective immediately upon publication.

Respectfully Submitted,
Joan E. McCrary

RAY Maloney shares his zest for self-esteem with parents at a Clarkston Junior High PTA program for Positive Connections Theme Week. Maloney bolsters a student's potential and ability to get along with others through positive self-esteem training.

Educator shares self-esteem savvy with parents

The message was simple. Implementing it may not be.

If you're looking for ways to increase your child's self-esteem — look within yourself and the level of your own.

This was the message from Ray Maloney to Clarkston Junior High parents gathered Feb. 14 for Positive Connections Theme week.

Maloney, founder and director of the Self-Esteem Center in Birmingham, has spent the last 15 years studying self-esteem. As headmaster of Kensington Academy,

"Until we care about ourselves as adults, it's pretty hard to pass it on to our children."

Ray Maloney

Bloomfield Township, he noticed two problems with students — not getting along together and failure to reach potential.

As an educator, he has worked with more than 5,000 young people and close to 40,000 parents. Information gathered from these contacts and from immersing himself in reading, listening to tapes and attending workshops on self-esteem prompted him to make a career change.

With an increasing belief that self-esteem was the key to the two problems, Maloney decided eight years ago to devote his full-time efforts to carrying the message to educators, parents and counselors.

"Self-esteem is contagious," said Maloney. "Until we care about ourselves as adults, it's pretty hard to pass it on to our children."

He said recent research indicates that to enhance your children's self-esteem, you must love yourself.

There are no quick fixes to raising self-esteem, which he defined differently from self concept. Self concept is a collection of facts about a person — positive and negative. Self-esteem, he said, is how much you value who you are, including the positive and negative.

But here are actions parents can do to enhance a positive self-esteem cycle:

- Listen to your children
- Help them develop special talents and gifts, not ones you wish they had.
- Encourage them to take charge, be responsible for their actions.
- Model your values, and encourage them to set

Skits center on self-worth

BY SANDRA G. CONLEN
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Diamonds were the topic of study for Clarkston Junior High students Monday morning — not the type mined from the ground or purchased at the jewelers, however.

Rather, the sparkle from the precious stone helped the group, Wavelength, relate self-esteem to students. The theme of Wavelength's program is: "The Diamond Inside of Me."

Sixteen CJHS students helped to perform the skits with the five-member Wavelength troupe, and students and faculty gave thunderous applause when the program was over.

Wavelength arrived at 8:30 a.m. Feb. 11 at CJHS to practice with the 16 students chosen to help act out the scenes.

They depicted situations many junior high students face in their lives, such as dropping out of school, substance abuse, prejudice and the effects of destructive family life.

The five characters, Shorty, Miles, Jason, Cindy and Nikki, all have some of the self-esteem problems eighth-grade students might face.

Shorty considers dropping out of school and has a bad relationship with his father. Jason has a big ego, and his ego gets in the way of his friendships. Miles is thought of as the nerd, and his parents are getting a divorce. Cindy's the cheerleader but starts drinking. Nikki is the new girl who wants acceptance and considers her weight problem the reason for not making the cheerleading squad.

Shorty, played by Ray Thompson, enlisted the help achievable goals.

"As parents we model for our children what it is like to be an adult," said Maloney. "Show your kids that you can make mistakes and that you recover."

But he challenged parents to consider their main role.

"Your basic job as a parent is to get rid of your kids," he said.

Letting go produces responsible, happy, successful, independent and self-sufficient adults.

And isn't that what we all want as parents?

of CJHS student Nick Bielak for an opening scene about dropping out.

"I hate math," says Shorty.

"Yeah, it gives me gas," Nick says to uproarious laughter from the crowd.

When Shorty is sent home because of his poor appearance, a fight erupts after his father arrives home, too.

But when Shorty's father attacks his self-worth, he relies on what his grandmother has told him.

"I'm going to make it," says Shorty. "Everybody has a diamond inside them."

Shorty's grandmother has consistently told him to believe in himself and to say something good about himself, he says.

It's Shorty who convinces Miles to start thinking positive about his life and teaches him to say something good about what he does best, using the "boom" method.

When the players interact with each other, saying something good, they raise their hands and yell out, "Boom."

At the end of the skits, the actors and the 16 students marched out on the stage one by one, yelling out their names and positive qualities.

The crowd responded with a loud "boom" after each person's trip to the microphone.

It was a positive experience for all those involved and kicks-off a week-long celebration for Positive Connections, a program designed to help students bolster their self-esteem.

Each teacher will receive a booklet from Wavelength, a non-profit educational corporation comprised of actors. Its mission is to help maintain a positive attitude for all the students.
