FIREFIGHTERS roped off the area surrounding a fallen electrical wire on Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township, and await the Detroit Edison crew. A squirrel that was electrocuted was blamed for the tree fire on Mother's Day.

Squirrel cuts power to church

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

A squirrel climbing some electrical wires caused a tree fire and lost its life in the process on Mother's Day. About 10 a.m. Sunday, May 12, fifth-grade children took advantage of the warm weather and studied outside during their Sunday school class at Calvary Lutheran Church, Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township, said the Rev. Robert Walters.

Suddenly, the squirrel was electrocuted and the electrical wire between the church and Oxford Bank fell on a tree not far from the children.

At the same time, power went out in the church, where adults and other children worshipped.

"We had no power whatever," said Walters, adding that a little light entered through the stained glass, but the organist had to switch to the piano.

"We just decided our eyes would adjust to the dark, and they did," he said.

Meanwhile, the wire ignited a tree near the church parking lot. Fortunately, no cars were damaged.

After informing the adults in church, the fifth-graders helped the Independence Township Fire Department direct traffic away from the area, and firefighters roped off the area with bright yellow streamers until Detroit Edison employees arrived a few hours later.

Capt. Steve Ronk said it was pure luck that the wire did not hit buildings or cars. He added that Independence Township has had no major fires in the past year.

With fallen electrical wires, firefighters can't extinguish any fires until the electrical company turns off the power. Instead, firefighters keep others away from the dangerous area and wait for the power company crew.

"I guess that's quite common for Edison," said Ronk about the cause of the fallen wire.

As for the squirrel, "it went quickly," said Ronk.

Woman found dead in Springfield

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The body of a 42-year-old Flint woman was discovered in a rural part of Springfield Township May 11.

Lt. Robert Smith of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said Springfield residents stumbled onto the remains of JoAnne Dawkins about 10 a.m., Saturday. The body was found along the side of Bridge Lake Road, north of Davisburg Road.

According to Smith, Dawkins died of multiple stab wounds. He said the body had probably been on Bridge Lake Road two to three days, due to signs of decomposition.

Smith declined to comment on whether evidence of sexual molestation existed. He said that information could jeopardize the pending investigation.

Police officials only discovered the identity of the woman May 13. Smith said his office received a tip from the Flint Police Department Monday, saying the description of the body matched that of a Flint woman missing since April 30.

The woman was positively identified later that day.

The investigation has been turned over to the Flint Police Department because it appears Dawkins was murdered in Flint, and her remains were dumped in Springfield Township.

Anyone with information on the case is urged to call the Flint Police Department at 766-7036.

Options target overcrowding

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

A range of options for potentially overcrowded Clarkston schools was unveiled to school board members at the regular meeting May 13.

The administrative recommendations were requested by the board after residents voted down new construction in last February's bond election. The board took no action on the list of options and there was little discussion.

It is expected that the administrative recommendations will be discussed again once enrollment is determined next fall.

The report was coordinated by Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara and Administrative Services Director William Neff, with input from other school administrators.

The range of options are listed by priority and include pro and con arguments for each item. Priority one is the most important, priority two is second most important and priority three options are not recommended, Vaara said.

Included in the list are the following:

Elementary Level

■ Priority one options include: moving the fifth grade to the middle school, and reclaiming the Clarkston Community Education Center for elementary school use.

These recommendations would only be undertaken if alternate space can be found for the junior high schools and the adult/community education programs. The action would not eliminate programs.

■ Priority two options include: eliminating remaining elementary music rooms, reclaiming latchkey space for classroom use, using one single classroom split into learning resource centers, eliminating computer rooms at elementary schools by putting computers into classrooms, eliminating the gifted room at Pine Knob Elementary School, eliminating developmental kindergarten, eliminating remedial programs.

The report adds that the administration does not recommend that the above items be considered as viable options.

■ Priority three options include: converting gyms to regular classroom use, eliminating elementary libraries and media centers, using a bookmobile for libraries, creating a computer lab on a bus.

Middle School Level

■ Priority one options include: adding portables.

■ Priority two options include: moving ninth-grade to the high school.

■ Priority three options include: housing grades 6-7 at Sashabaw Junior High School and grades 8-9 at Clarkston Junior High School, housing grades 5-6 at Sashabaw Junior High School and grades 7-8 at Clarkston Junior High, housing grades 7-8 at Sashabaw Junior High and grades 5-6 at Clarkston Junior High, converting home economics areas to special education or regular classrooms; enclose the gym stage at Clarkston Junior High and use for a classroom, Remodeling Clarkston Junior High paint and work rooms in the industrial arts area into a classroom.

New ticket prices makes event more spectacular

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The upcoming Student Spectacular has been made more affordable to area residents.

The May 18 event, featuring displays of more than 1,000 works of art, 50 student performances in drama, mime, dance, jazz bands, concert bands and an evening concert by Ricky Skaggs, will be held at The Palace of Auburn Hills.

Parking and entrance to the Student Spectacular Showcase, scheduled for 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., are free.

Adult ticket prices for the evening Ricky Skaggs concert were reduced to $18.50. Student prices are now $10.

The event, involving schools from Clarkston, Brandon, Holly, Lake Orion and Waterford, is expected to draw some 6,000 people.

One highlight of the day-long program is the raffle of three automobiles and more than a dozen cash awards.

Only 5,000 tickets are available for purchase. The tickets, set at $100 each, are now on sale.

The drawing will be held at 10 p.m.; winners do not have to be present to win.

Students from the various school districts have been preparing their performances and displays for weeks.

Among the scheduled performances are the following:

■ 10:20 a.m. - The Sashabaw Junior High School Encore Singers.

■ 11:00 a.m. - The Clarkston High School Jazz Band.

■ 12:40 p.m. - The Clarkston High School Wind Ensemble.

■ 1:00 p.m. - A variety of Clarkston student vocalists

■ 1:40 p.m. - The Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers

■ 3:40 p.m. - The Bailey Lake Elementary School Book Review.

Also available are VIP location concert tickets for $25 each, and Benefactor concert tickets for $100 each.

For more information, call 625-CARE.

School overcrowding options unveiled

High School Level

■ Priority one options include: moving ninth grade to the high school.

The report adds that the administration recommends keeping the ninth grade in their present buildings for the 1992-93 school year.

■ Priority two options include: creating double-day sessions.

■ Priority three options include: year-round school to increase capacity.

Other Options Studied

■ Priority one options include: increasing class size.
■ Priority two options include: eliminating advance placement programs.

■ Priority three options include: eliminating autistic program at Clarkston Elementary, Middle School and High School to create space, eliminating remedial programs, eliminating high school woodshop area to create classroom space, using Oakland Technical Center - Northwest classes to maximum capacity, offering zero-hour or seventh hour classes.

Also, maximizing use of large rooms such as study halls, evaluating the impact of the new private school, reconverting office space to classroom space at high school, obtaining portables from the county to replace special education classrooms, proving special education services in child's own classroom, using administration offices for classrooms, adding study halls in grades 6-12.

Math teacher receives recognition in science

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Should you ever want to know how the "paraphysas and the parathyroid gland affect calcium absorption," Clarkston High School math teacher Holly Rupprecht likely has the answers.

In March, Holly became the first high school teacher to present research findings to the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters.

Holly's scientific research, conducted over the past two summers at Alma College, Alma, was funded by a grant from the Kellogg Foundation.

Though she holds a certificate in math, "there was never any question" that science is her first love, Holly says.

"I grew up in Midland and both my parents were chemists," Holly says. "Science was all around. It was fun.

"I've always loved biology," she adds. "I've always loved doing lab work."

After receiving a degree in biology with a natural science interest, Holly also obtained certificates in chemistry, physics and, of course, mathematics.

She applied for the research opportunity at Alma College partially because of work her chemistry students had been doing.

"They were doing individual science research projects and papers of publishable style," Holly explains. "I hadn't done research in awhile and felt rusty. I felt compelled to update myself in that area."

After being selected as one of the teachers to conduct research, Holly commuted to Alma over a 10-week period.

At first, she worked on a variety of projects with teams of people; eventually she and Larry White, a professor at Alma, focused on experiments centered on osteoporosis and linkages between it and calcium metabolism.

The work was "pure research," and involved working with highly technical equipment. But the real thrill, Holly says, was in presenting her work to the academy.

Though her findings were very technical and therefore may not have been understood by all who attended, the work was well received, she says.

"Most (scientists) that come to the Academy are very versed in their own areas," she explains.

Though working with scientific research was pleasurable, Holly says teaching will always be her primary avocation.

"I'd like to do some more research, but I don't think I'd trade teaching," she says, smiling. "I think research helps me to be a better teacher."

HOLLY Rupprecht, a math teacher at Clarkston High School, recently presented her zoology research findings to a prestigious science institution. Her research was conducted over the past two years at Alma College.

Director up to the challenge

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Being named director of the Independence Township Library has given Molly Lynch the opportunity to reacquaint herself with her hometown.

Beginning May 20, the 1970 Clarkston High School graduate starts a job in the township she called home for nearly 20 years. As director, Lynch will be in charge of reorganizing the library, which is under construction to expand it to 20,000 square feet.

Prior to landing this position, Lynch was the library manager at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac. She had been employed there since 1975.

Lynch has a master's degree in library science from Wayne State University, Detroit, and a bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant.

During her career, she has participated in 17 professional organizations and has been published four times in library journals. Lynch has also delivered 21 presentations to various professional groups in her field.

She said her first-year goals as director include meeting as many township residents as possible and visiting several of the area schools' librarians. Lynch said these meetings would give her a better grasp of what the community wants from the new library.

"I plan on listening to what everyone has to say about the new library and what they expect from it in the future," she said. "Communication is the only way I can try to meet the needs of the township residents."

Lynch considers herself a good planner and said those skills will be tested early.

"My biggest challenge will be doing everything in a short period of time," she said. "My work really begins when construction is completed in the fall."

Lynch, who presently lives in West Bloomfield, is looking to move back to the Clarkston area soon. She said that her eagerness to return is somewhat surprising.

"I really am surprised to find myself excited about returning (to Clarkston)," Lynch said. "Ten years ago, I was saying that I'd never come back to Clarkston. But after living in West Bloomfield, I've found that I really do want to come home."

"I guess this move was meant to be because I've always found myself comparing other towns to Clarkston," she added.

MOLLY LYNCH, a former resident of Independence Township, is returning to take over duties as the library's new director.

Dearborn man injured in crash

A 37-year-old Dearborn man was injured when his car hit a tree on southbound I-75 May 10.

Husein S. Marashi was taken to Pontiac General Hospital after losing control of his car near the intersection of I-75 and Rattles Lake Road, Springfield Township. He's been treated and discharged from the hospital.

According to a police report at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Marashi's accident occurred around 1:55 p.m. He was wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident.

Marashi was issued a ticket for careless driving from an officer at the scene.

Hunting hearing set for June 11

Residents concerned about hunting around Heather Lake should attend the June 11 public hearing at the Independence Township Hall.

The public hearing was re-scheduled by a Michigan Department of Natural Resources committee. The first meeting, April 23, was canceled due to an administrative snafu at the Orion Township Hall.

A committee meeting is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. in the township annex, 90 N. Main, Clarkston. The committee is to elect a chairperson and review Act 159, Public Acts of 1967.

The meeting will be immediately followed by a public hearing at 7 p.m.

At the hearing, testimony will be taken from interested people regarding hunter safety concerns around Heather Lake, which borders Independence and Orion townships.

Interested people may attend and offer comments, orally or in writing.

Kieft Engineering 'adopts' village highway

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The fresh, clean look of M-15 through the Village of Clarkston was completed at the hands of Kieft Engineering employees and their families.

The company's efforts caught the attention of at least one resident, who wrote to The Clarkston News asking for help in identifying the volunteers.

After Mrs. William Liddicoat's letter appeared May 8, in which she said she would "like to know who they are so that I can thank them in person," more than one caller to the news identified the good samaritan as Kieft Engineering of Main Street, Clarkston.

The company adopted a three-mile stretch of M-15, between Dixie Highway and I-75, through a program offered by the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT).

Four times a year, at least 12 volunteers must adorn their safety vests, pick up their "Adopt-a-Highway" bags, and pick up debris along their roadway.

MDOT allows the work to be completed sometime within a four day stretch.

It took 17 Kieft volunteers about two hours to complete the cleanup, says office manager Noreen Hacker.

Library's used book sale begins Thursday

Book lovers have a chance to stock up for the summer during the annual Friends of the Independence Township Library book sale May 16, 17 and 18.

The sale takes place at the Masonic Temple at the southeast corner of Main and Washington streets, Clarkston. Sale hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

An extra feature this year is "Buck-a-Bag" time on Saturday afternoon. During the final two hours of the sale, customers may fill an entire grocery bag of books for just $1.

Browsers can expect to find paperback and hardcover books ranging from fiction classics, children's books, cookbooks and recent fiction and non-fiction.

Proceeds from the book sale are donated by the Friends to fund children's programs, such as the summer reading club, and to build the library's collection of adult and children's materials. "Dun's Regional Business Directory," a $375 reference set, was one major purchase made possible by the Friends' 1990 book sale.

"It's work," Noreen says, "but it's sort of a social thing."

After Kieft's Del Lohff proposed the idea, the company applied to the state. Along with the application, participants are encouraged to choose a first, second and third option for cleanup.

Though M-15 is a high traffic area, it doesn't get as dirty as a stretch of highway, Noreen muses.

"Actually when you have a street in a residential stretch it's not nearly as bad as Dixie or I-75," she explains. "Village businesses tend to keep things pretty clean."

Marine visits fourth-grade pen pals

A corporal in the U.S. Marine Corps helped fourth-graders in their geography and writing lessons—from across the world.

While stationed in Bahrain, Saudi Arabia, Cpl. Rod Parke, 23, was a pen pal to Marilyn Brown's fourth-grade class at Pine Knob Elementary School.

"I've known the Parke family for years—this is so special," says Brown, explaining that she taught Rod's older brother, Tim, and younger sister, Juli, when they were elementary students.

"Our new English book has a whole chapter on writing letters," says Brown. "I asked Marge, (Rod's) mother, if we could use him as an assignment."

Marge, of Clarkston Road, Independence Township, agreed immediately, and Parke soon received about 30 "friendly" letters in perfect letter-writing style.

That was in October, and the class received answers in November. They've been writing back and forth ever since. At Christmas, the whole school got into the act by signing huge banners and sending one to Parke and two to "any soldier."

With each return letter, the class talked about the war and looked at cities and countries on the map.

"They really enjoyed keeping up with the war and knowing someone there," says Brown. "The kids followed the war on their own."

On Tuesday, May 15, the pupils met their pen pal in person when Parke visited their classroom while home on leave.

"I get tears in my eyes to think about it," says Brown. "It was a wonderful experience for them."

Mandatory recycling to start Oct. 1

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Beginning Oct. 1, all Independence Township residents will be responsible for separating their trash for recycling purposes.

On May 7, the Independence Township Board approved the second reading of an amendment to the solid waste ordinance. The motion passed 6-0, with Daniel Travis absent from the meeting.

The amendment also calls on all waste haulers to start offering recycling pick-ups. Refusal on the parts of either the residents or the haulers could result in a misdemeanor fine.

According to Clerk Joan McCrary, the township has already begun an informational program by mailing out instructional brochures to the residents. Area waste haulers are also being informed of the program and the type of schedule they will be expected to follow.

McCrary said township representatives are to visit area schools and associations to provide helpful hints for a smoother transition.

She added that a program is also underway to help those residents who can't afford to buy the recyclable containers.

For more information on recycling, call the township offices at 625-5111.

ISN'T IT TIME?

Mom not always trustworthy

Julie Campe

My relationship with my mother began honestly enough, but somewhere along the line I learned that I couldn't trust her completely.

I remember that when I was in fourth grade, she told me that my hair had so many tangles it looked like a rat's nest.

She said this as she struggled to brush them out with me in tears -- and I guess she was right, though to this day I don't know exactly what a rat's nest looks like.

In fourth grade she also told me that my coloring job was the best in the entire world. But when I showed up the next day in school and proudly displayed it, I found that not only was it not the best -- it was nearly the worst in the entire class. The other children somehow managed to stay inside the lines and even found a way to exert even pressure on the crayons so there were no blotches in the shades of color.

I was astounded that my mother could be so wrong. But I was to find that that was only the beginning. Troubled, I accused her of lying.

She was not troubled at all.

"I wasn't lying. It is the best in the entire world -- to me," she said, giving me a hug and wearing that baby-talk look.

I was nearly too old for such mush. But any assurances that may have been absorbed were snickered away by Andrew the Horrible, who I spied peeking around the corner behind my mother's back. He used to display a certain expression that everyone but my parents knew denoted evil. And at that moment, it was demonic.

Though I knew I couldn't trust him as far as I could spit a watermelon seed, I felt that I could trust his opinion on my artwork. Three years my junior, he already could color within the lines, I discovered.

Later, without a snicker, we colored together -- he, wisely saying nothing, and me, coolly watching his technique. I did not copy him then but waited to try out my new-found skills at school.

Andrew was so obviously un-horrible that evening that it gave me goose bumps.

My mother was her same self, oohing and ahing equally over our artwork. She did not notice that I did not ask for her opinion.

A few years later, as a junior high school student, I momentarily lapsed and confided to her that I feared I was growing fat. Something was wrong with my hips -- they were huge, I said.

"Nonsense. They're just right," she answered, looking up from some chore, which she resumed.

I was not entirely convinced and even considered asking Andrew the H. his honest opinion.

It turned out I didn't have to. Just then, he arrived home from school and, setting his books down, looked at me, puzzled.

"Have you gained weight?" he asked. It's a good thing he is not my mother.

Soft Summer's Breeze

By Le-Lane McCarty

Soft summer's breeze
Pushes gently at the tattered curtains
Hanging from broken windows
Once bright patterns of flowers
Bleaching in the sun

The old screen door
Tap taps rhythmically in time
To some forgotten melody
Letting nothing in Nothing out

Faded paper peels off the walls
Teddy bears and curly-haired dolls to settle in the dust of years
Laying thick on the floor
Trackless and unscuffed

Was she happy here
Did she smile and laugh
Or did she shed her tears
Quietly, when she was alone

Was her life full with love
Or as empty as this house
Stands now
In the soft Soft
Summer's breeze

Could They?

By Le-Lane McCarty

Sing a song of sixpence
Pocket full of rye
Everything is upside down
The world has gone awry
It's my mom and my dad
They fight all the time
I wish that I were five
Listening to the nursery rhymes
My mother read to me
When it was time to go to bed
All the kings' horses and all the kings' men
Couldn't put Humpty-Dumpty together again
Could they?

Man needs top dressing

One more repeat ad, then I'll come back 'live' as they say on the tube. This one is from June 6, 1974. I had just as many opinions about hats then as now, only my inventory has enlarged to include a 10 gallon, a slouch hat and a helmet.

Hats for men are out. Too bad. Comments about my attire double when I wear a hat. Which means that besides my wife one of the kids are critical of whatever color combinations I choose.

The male today is the peacock. Colorful and smelling. But, like the peacock, the male looks better with a top dressing.

With Memorial Day a light straw with a spring-like band should be donned to highlight the head as white shoes do the feet.

Man should also have a darker straw to give suitable contrast with other duds.

And, no golfer should take to the links without a hat. Whether it be a billed type or brim, turned up or turned down, a man should have a hat for protection from the sun and to give a completeness all golf outfits need.

Man should also have a captain's hat whenever he goes in a boat for other than fishing, when he should have a fishing hat, preferably old and felt.

A snowmobile hat is a necessity as is one for hunting. For winter and fall wear a man should have at least one Tyrolean, a snap brim, a plaid, a stocking hat and a cap.

One should never sit down to a euchre game without an eye shield hat and, of course, man has to have one working hat. Mine's blue denim and very stained.

Too, man should have a hat or two for laughs or to make appearances when something a little unexpected might get the evening off to a light-hearted start. Like a black derby and a stove pipe, top hat.

Now, to the point of this discourse. Man, or woman, has no trouble finding all of these hats except one.

Can you guess which it is? Look them over before going on.

Give up?

The summer straw.

I've been in Rochester, Lake Orion, Drayton Plains, Oxford, Imlay City, two malls and men's stores in larger cities and heard, "No, we don't carry them any more. Had some last year and they didn't sell."

Earlier this year I saw some at Osmuns in Tel-Twelve and I should have made my selection. Time and money stopped me then. I lacked both.

In Samia a couple weeks ago the second men's store I visited had a small selection. Actually, one. And, that wasn't exactly my size, but I was going into withdrawals. The middle of May and me without a straw hat!

All is better now.

And, there is hope that hat hunting might be easier in the next couple years. Some clerks told me the stylists say men's hats are coming back.

A cynic would say, "so's the iron horse."

Letter to Editor

Agree on merits

In the April 3rd edition of your newspaper, you published a letter by James Gibowski of Clarkston.

In his letter, Mr. Gibowski argued that Rep. Middleton and I ought to support legislation to prohibit municipal bonding by any Michigan city or county for the purpose of constructing a new professional baseball stadium.

First, I think that government should stay out of the building or financing of stadiums. The way I see it, if a new sports stadium is a sound idea, private enterprise will find a way to provide the financing.

Miami's new football stadium is a perfect example. No public money went into it.

On the other hand, if private investors cannot be attracted to finance a new stadium, that is a good indicator that the project is not sound. If that is the case, then why sink public money into it? Then it is just a subsidy, and subsidizing business is not one of the things which I believe government should do.

However, as a believer in democracy, I have difficulty justifying a prohibition against allowing the people of a municipality to vote on whether to approve a bond issue for any purpose, including building a sports stadium. I would hope that most could be persuaded to vote against such a bond, but it is the right of the people to decide for themselves whether or not to risk their tax dollars on a particular project.

So I'm with Mr. Gibowski on the merits, but with the caveat that the decision ought to be left to the people whose tax dollars will be committed.

JOA is last jerk needed

Jim
Fitzgerald

In their all-important battle to see who gets credit for keeping the Detroit Tigers in Detroit, Mayor Coleman Young and County Executive Ed McNamara should form a JOA.

I say this because, as any reasonable person must concede, it would not be practical for a new stadium, or for Tigers uniforms and souvenirs, to be labeled either "Wayne County (Except for Detroit) Tigers, Courtesy of Ed McNamara, Nyah, Nyah" or "Detroit (not the rest of Wayne County) Tigers, Courtesy of Young, Nyah, Nyah."

Everybody knows how a JOA (joint operating agreement) works because the Free Press and the Detroit News agreed to a 100-year JOA in 1989. A good indication of how much employees of the newspapers like the arrangements is a sign, updated weekly, in the Free Press sports department. This week, it says: "JOA Countdown: 98 years, 31 weeks."

The idea of a JOA is to combine the business operations of two entities while keeping the news and opinion operations separate. It is easy to see how this would enable Young and McNamara to work together toward a single goal and still say rotten things about each other.

In discussing McNamara's rush to kiss Tigers President Bo Schembechler on the 50-yard line, Young has called McNamara crazy and accused a McNamara aide of running off at the mouth. McNamara has been more subtle, but snidely condescending. He said Young is welcome to try to satisfy Schembechler's lust, if he can. The plain implication is that McNamara doesn't think Young is up to the job.

Obviously, the main disagreement concerns whose ego gets buttered - which peerless leader wins the right to posture politically as the man who saved Detroiters from the terrible fate of not being allowed to buy a luxurious baseball stadium for Tigers owner Tom Monaghan, leaving poverty-stricken Tom with one less landing field for his helicopter.

A more minor disagreement concerns how the lucky public should pay off the estimated $125-million (more likely $200-million) debt required to build the stadium. McNamara thinks a tax might be needed to supplement gate receipts. He also thinks there should be a public vote on the question. Young thinks those are stupid ideas. He insists a surcharge on game tickets will completely cover construction costs. And, presumably, citizens won't have time to vote in any dumb election because they'll be too busy earning enough money to pay $100 to sit in the bleachers.

But Young and McNamara do agree a new stadium is Detroit's most pressing need, especially if under-funded libraries are forced to close, leaving our children with nothing to read except a million-dollar scoreboard surrounded by beer advertising.

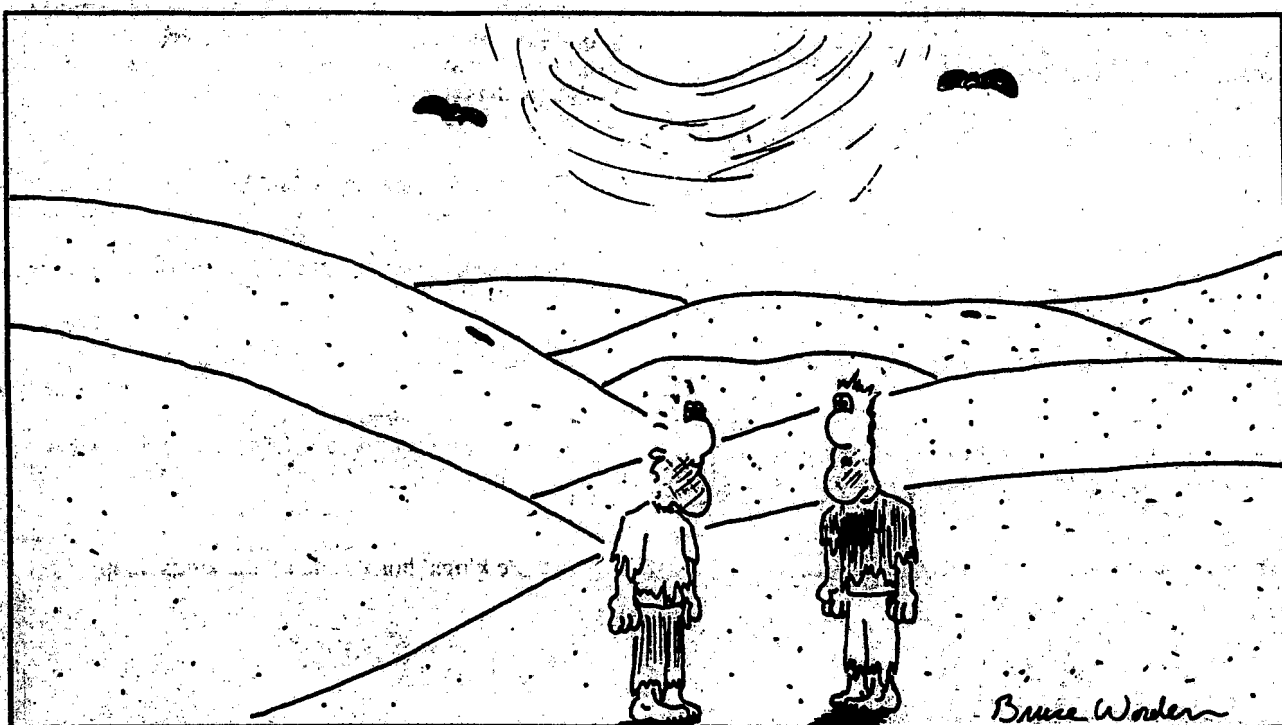

They agree a new stadium would be good business for Detroit, so they should appoint a JOA agency to combine and handle all county and city business dealing with Tigers. That way, all public praise and criticism would fall on the agency and be equally avoided by Young and McNamara. Like when subscribers call the Detroit Newspaper Agency to complain about poor delivery. It's the DNA that jerks them around, not the Free Press or News.

Young and McNamara still would be free to hold separate news conferences and issue separate news releases in which they'd say nasty things about each other and pose for holy pictures. Except on weekends, when they would be required to speak simultaneously into the same microphone and issue combined multi-paged news releases in which you couldn't find whatever you were looking for. This would teach a dazed, confused public to appreciate their weekday blather.

Ironically, a leading opponent of a new stadium is state Sen. John Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe Woods, who fought the newspaper JOA as long as Ralph Nader's money held out. Kelly's ploy is legislation forbidding either Young or McNamara to sleep with Schembechler in anything except a used, restored bed. Kelly's purpose is to posture politically even more shamelessly than Young and McNamara.

Stop the city, stop the county, stop the state. I want to get off.

School offices in the vacant Food Town building?

It sounds ridiculous, but so does trying to fit 870 new students into currently overcrowded classrooms.

Of course nobody knows for certain whether 870 new students will enter the district by 1996. Computer-generated data suggests the figure is accurate, but only actual enrollments will prove whether the predictions come true.

Still, classrooms are already crowded. And, as such, school administrators have been preparing for the worst.

In the months since Clarkston-area voters defeated the school bond proposal, the administrators have been working on a list of options. The complete list is now in the hands of school board members.

The report includes everything from increasing class size, to teaching music in school hallways to instituting year-round school.

Not all of these are advocated by school administrators, but the thought that these are considered is sobering enough.

Some of the options on the list include eliminating Latch Key programs for 471 students. The move would create 1.5 classrooms. Latch Key is important, the report says, but shouldn't diminish opportunities of school-age children.

Converting school gyms for classrooms is also an option; that would mean that students would have to eat lunch in their classrooms and remain in a windowless room all day.

Other options suggest fifth-graders be moved to the middle school. Or that portables be used for special education.

The list goes on and on.

Once enrollment figures are compiled this fall, administrators will determine which of the measures are necessary.

For next year, at least, the milder of the options will likely be exhausted. As enrollments grow, the district could be forced to move lower down the list.

Who knows? Maybe finding administrators at the Food Town building isn't so far-fetched after all.

Blue Ribbon Kids flier insulting

I was recently given a copy of a flier that was prepared by the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee for distribution to members of that group and core school supporters, but not the general public.

The flier covered a variety of topics, but the bulk of it was devoted to disparaging Janet Thomas and Carol Balzarini as candidates for the Clarkston Board of Education in the upcoming election.

Now I know Janet and Carol well enough to realize they don't need any help from me in defending themselves from the allegations made in this flier. However, the document included two statements that rattled my cage also.

The first was, "Neither of these candidates have children in the school system, and we are deeply concerned about their commitment to our kids and their education."

The second was, "As we stated, the 'Red Ribbon' people are taking the lead at this point, but a few of them are parents of children now going to school in our district."

What this says to me is that I should no longer have a voice in our educational process since our children are no longer in the Clarkston school system. Well, if that's the case, then they should no longer need the substantial tax dollars which I pay in to the system each year either.

During the 18 years that we have lived here, we have supported every single millage proposal or bond issue that has been offered except the last one. And we would have supported that one if it hadn't been so excessive. We have supported these proposals even though our children have long since graduated from the Clarkston school system. We have done so because we feel that other children should have the same educational opportunities that our children had.

So to imply that I should no longer be allowed to participate in Clarkston's education process is patently ridiculous and an insult to my intelligence.

Who are these Blue Ribbon people to tell us what we can and can't do regarding our school system? If anything, they have succeeded only in strengthening my resolve to lessen their impact in our community and to return our school system to those who are more positive, upbeat and reasonable.

In their flier, the committee openly supports Durham Downs and Joe Halpern as active Blue Ribbon Kids Committee workers.

Needless to say, neither of them will get my vote on June 10.

Doug Carlson

Vote for those who will listen

The voters have spoken again on the school issue, and the powers to be are "dumbfounded" (Supervisor Gary Haner). Dumbfounded I can believe because the voters spoke the same thing two years ago, and nobody is still listening.

I attended the school board meeting, and Mr. Durham Downs, a present school board member, felt it was his elected duty to chastise me — because I was against the millage — for not attending all the school board meetings.

Mr. Downs, you would not listen to me when we spoke two years ago at the voting booth when the administration tried for another outlandish building proposal, so why would you listen at a meeting?

When we are paying close to $100,000 to Mr. Haner to do what we want, it should not be necessary to attend all these meetings. The board and the administration should be listening to what the majority are saying at the voting booth.

We don't have enough time to watch all of our employees. While we were busy trying to defeat this issue, the township officials were busy voting themselves another raise.

The first thing Mr. Downs said after the defeat was to instruct Mr. Haner to implement the punishment on the children because the voters did not vote his way. Mr. Haner, according to the press, also follows this theory. Mr. Downs and Mr. Haner, you were not interested in alternative construction, and now you are talking larger class sizes and, the big threat, double school sessions.

Mr. Downs and Mr. Haner did not mention looking into a plan of remodeling facilities and adding on the rooms "needed," which could be completed at a fraction of the costs.

Then, on Feb. 25, the school board voted Mr. Haner a 6.5 percent raise ($5,458), a 4-3 vote. So, Mr. Downs, why did you vote for this raise when the voters just stated very clearly at the polls that they did not feel Mr. Haner was doing the job to deserve salary and benefits totaling close to $100,000?

This is why I will have to urge support for Janet Thomas, who voted against the raise, and Kurt Karlson for the four-year position and Carol Balzarini for the one-year position. I believe these candidates will gain control of the school board and listen to the voters when we speak at the voting booth.

Council distant

The Clarkston Village Council is out of touch with our community. An illustration of that is their recent action to strike down the proposed Bed and Breakfast Ordinance.

It is my opinion that the council has a tendency to confuse election with coronation. The council's reasons for denial boiled down to two major points:

1. Lack of public support.
2. Quoting Bill Basinger, "to protect our pristine residential zoning."

As to Point One: I was at the public hearing, as well as the other meeting where this issue was addressed. Everyone in attendance was in favor of the concept.

Point Two: The council is diligently protecting a "pristine" concept of zoning that historically never existed in the village and does not exist today. Commercial enterprises have been in the residential districts since the founding of this town. It was part of the local economy. The same still holds true today. There is an active business in every neighborhood in the village. The point of all this is that we're fine.

I brought proof that bed and breakfasts were working in more than 13 communities in our state. The council refused offers to have other community representatives speak at a meeting. They also refused to contact these communities.

I also offered to go door to door in the village to get a true feeling of support for this issue. This offer was met with silence. I really question how much they really want to know the feelings of the residents.

The village council needs to lighten up. They should take a good hard look at their philosophy and recognize that they need to take a practical approach. One only need to take a look at our eroded downtown business district and blighted properties that dot the Main Street section to believe that the current philosophy is not working. They owe it to all of us to promote a healthy economic environment.

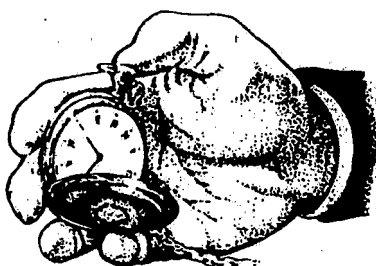

Carol Eberhardt

WHEN Olde Sturbridge subdivision holds its annual sale, the children in the neighborhood find a way to get in on the act, too. Here, they hawk hot dogs, popcorn, lemonade, cookies and more. Jaime Uhazl and Sarah Szurpicki, both 10, came up with the idea last year. With Sarah's dad serving as the cook, the girls and their friends expanded their sales this year. The two set it up so all the neighborhood kids worked in shifts throughout the evening Friday, May 10. Located nearly mid-way in the subdivision off Perry Lake Road, Independence Township, they had a good chance to catch hungry shoppers. With the money, they will first pay back their parents for the "stuff" they bought, then donate 25 percent to Lighthouse North. With the leftovers, they'll pay themselves a little, said Sarah, adding that the sale was going well as of about 6 p.m. Friday. Jaime explained their decision to donate to Lighthouse North, which helps the needy in the area. "We thought it would be a nice thing to give to the poor," she said. "We're just doing it for fun. We don't need that much money." (Photo by Julie Campe)

FACE-painting kind of tickles the cheek, finds Danielle Nicole Mersino, 3, who gets the treatment from Brita Graham, a SJHS eighth-grader.

A BRIGHT red heart is a special treat for Rachel Carter, 2 1/2. Carolyn Stickney, a Sashabaw Junior High School ninth-grader, and other SJH mime members painted faces, hands and arms of preschoolers during LINDSEY Eaton, 6, announces that she's been painted by mime members before — at her school fair. Just for good measure, though, Carolyn Stickney gives her another painting on her cheek.

ERIC Mersino, 2, feels a little too shy to have his face painted by Sashabaw Junior High School mime member Katy Gillette, a freshman. But he intently watches as his mother, Dawn Mersino of Beechwood, receives a painting on her hand. The SJHS pupils missed second, third and fourth hours to perform the face-painting and to lunch at McDonald's.

Land purchased for water tower

A location is now available for a new water tower in Independence Township.

The township board voted 6-0 May 7 to buy a small parcel near the intersection of Dixie Highway and White Lake Road. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent from the meeting.

With the decision, the township has agreed to pay the land owner, Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, $45,000 for the parcel. The money will come from the budget of the township's Downtown Development Authority (DDA).

The land has been slated for a 500,000-gallon water tower.

The tower will be "spheroid" in shape and serve the southwest quadrant of the township. Construction of the tower is scheduled to begin soon with completion projected around next spring.

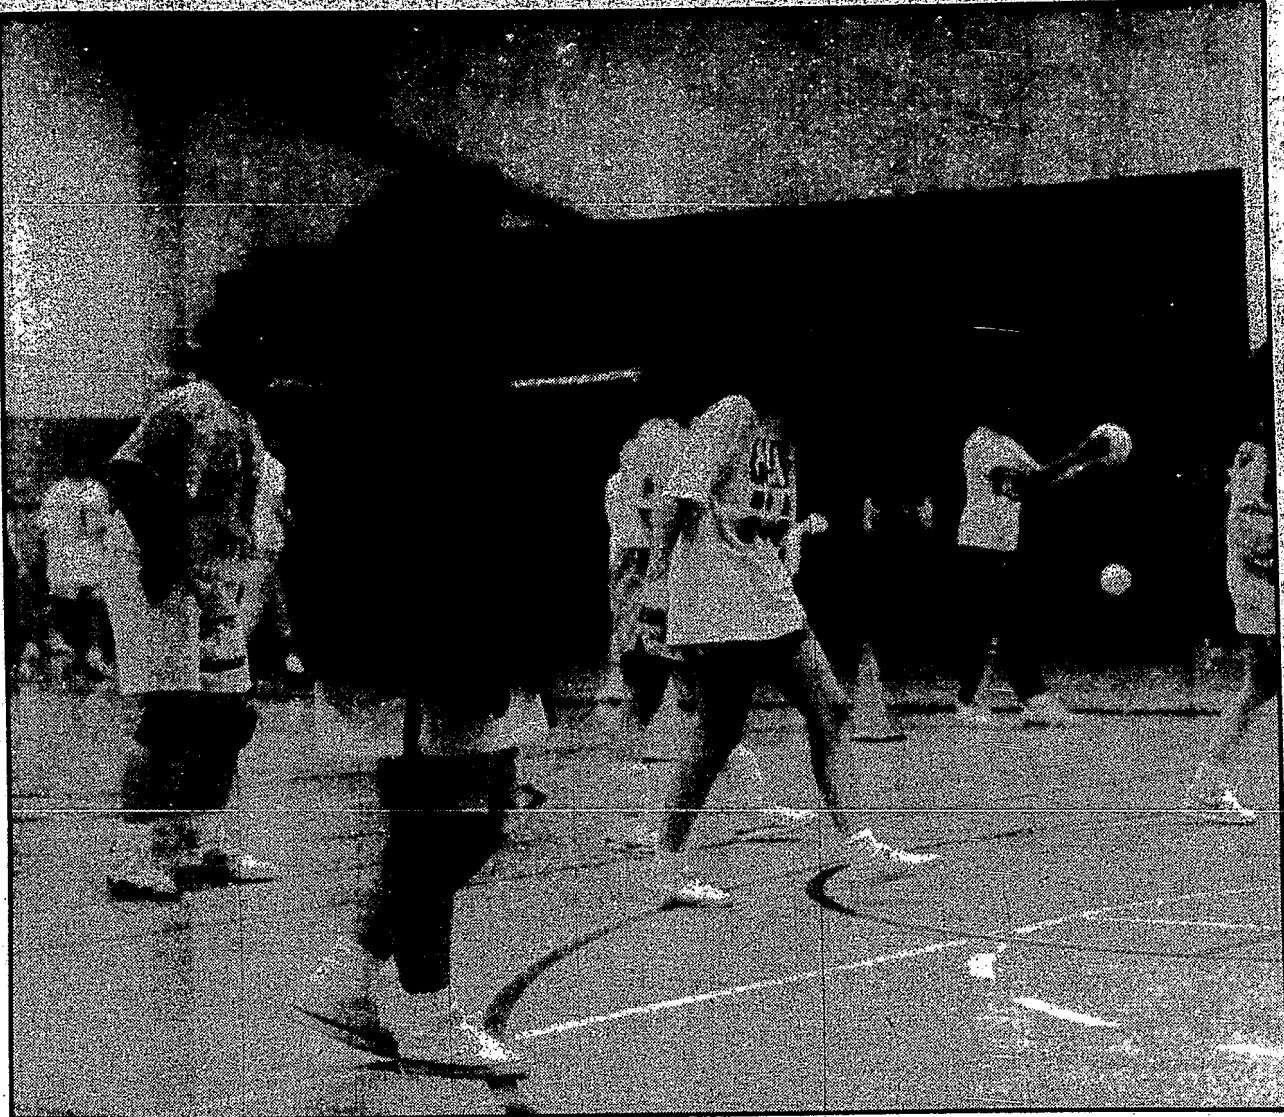

No ticket? Then no walking at Pine Knob

Non-ticket holders will no longer be allowed to walk the grounds of Pine Knob Music Theater while a show is in progress.

This regulation was initiated by an amendment to the loitering ordinance and was approved 6-0 by the Independence Township Board May 7. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent.

The amendment was requested by the management of the new Pine Knob Music Theater, which is now owned and operated by the Palace of Auburn Hills. The management said this action would cut down on the rowdiness and vandalism that occasionally exists in the amphitheater's parking lots.

Those non-ticket holders found on the grounds will be issued a $35 citation by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and removed from the premises.

Township OKs safety paths

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Four safety paths have been approved for construction this year, with four more on the way in 1992.

On May 7, the Independence Township Board voted 6-0 to authorize the start of the bidding process for construction of four safety paths. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent.

Estimated at $350,000, these safety paths will be paid for from the budget of the Safety Path Fund.

■ Sashabaw Road, from Clarkston Road north to Independence Oaks County Park.

■ Waldon Road, from Almond Lane east of Gulick and Waldon roads to the Independence Square Shopping Center to the west.

■ Main Street, from north village limit line to Northview Road.

■ Holcomb Road, from north village limit line to Bluegrass Drive.

Construction of these safety paths should start in early July, with completion scheduled around late September.

At the meeting, the board also approved of four recommendations made by the safety path committee for 1992. These pathways include:

■ M-15, from Cranberry Pointe north to Deer Ridge Drive.

■ Sashabaw Road, from Pine Knob Elementary School north to Waldon Road.

■ Sashabaw Road, from Interstate 75 north to Clarkston Road.

■ Clarkston Road, from Eston Road east to Heather Lakes subdivision.

Reporter's Notebook

Sue Banworth and Rhonda Irish, organizers of the all-day Science Fair at Pine Knob Elementary School, wanted everyone to know that the day was a success — thanks to the help of lots of people.
For instance, about 20 people from the community spoke to children about their area of expertise in science. Plus, school officials helped out all they could with the event for all of Pine Knob's 450 children.

A few other elementary schools in the district may add the event to their school's schedule next year, said Banworth.

Sort of like Andersonville Elementary School's exemplary Festival of the Arts program, which is spreading to other schools.

What a fun exploration of a subject!

When one student lagged off stage during a Clarkston High School mime rehearsal and picture-taking session for The Clarkston News, another student yelled to him, "Come on! Now is not the time to rebel."

Is the township board ready to examine the prohibition of cigarette vending machines in Independence Township?

At the May 7 board meeting, Trustee Mel Vaara told the board that he read an article about a Rochester area community eliminating cigarette vending machines from public places. The law was created to cut down on the number of minors purchasing cigarettes.

Vaara asked Supervisor Frank Ronk if this matter could be considered for a future agenda. Ronk said the topic could probably be discussed at a future meeting.

Items for Reporter's Notebook are compiled by Clarkston News staff members.

Bryant Caudill

Kori Weingust

Clinched on 'queued'

Twenty-five fifth-graders from throughout Clarkston Community Schools were queued up in the quasi-corporate atmosphere of the board office.

But when the final words were spelled, Bryant Caudill, 11, stood alone as the spelling bee champion of the entire district.

To win, the Pine Knob Elementary school pupil spelled "quasi," the word misspelled by first runner-up Kori Weingust of Bailey Lake Elementary School.

To clinch the title of champion, Caudill spelled "queued" correctly.

"I was really nervous," said Caudill after the bee. "When there were only two people left, I got really shaky."

He said he did not expect to win.

"I didn't think I was going to make it past the first round, so I was pretty relieved," he said.

Caudill, son of Barbara and Norris Caudill, is in Rosemary Krause's class at Pine Knob Elementary.

Blue Ribbon Kids newsletter under fire

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

A newsletter for a ballot question committee has come under fire for listing preferred candidates in the June 10 Clarkston school election.

However, a chairman of the committee said the newsletter did not break any rules.

According to state law, "ballot question committees cannot support or oppose candidates," according to a spokesperson in the Oakland County elections office.

However, the spokesperson said no complaints have been filed against the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee, which is registered as a ballot issue committee that receives or spends more than $1,000.

The committee sent the newsletter to its about 525 members.

Among other information, the newsletter listed the four candidates for the four-year school board term -- Durham Downs, David O'Ryan, Kurt Karlstrom and Janet Thomas -- and placed an asterick next to Downs' name.

It also listed the two candidates for the one-year term -- Joe Helpem and Carol Balzarini -- and placed an asterick next to Helpem's name.

It later noted that Downs and Helpem "have been very active for some time in the Blue Ribbon Kids Committee and have great concern for the education needs of our children. They both have children in the school system and are aware of problems that exist."

It stated that the positions of Karlstrom and O'Ryan were unknown.

And it said that Thomas and Balzarini were a concern because neither have children currently attending Clarkston schools and because they are affiliated with a community group that opposed the last school bond issues.

Thomas said it was inappropriate for a ballot issue committee to endorse candidates.

"It does not necessarily reflect the views of the hundreds who work in good faith for the ballot proposals for the committee," she said, pointing out that "they haven't bothered to talk with candidates."

But, she added, "people are people."

Blue Ribbon Co-chairman Dale Ryan said, however, that the newsletter did not breach election rules.

"It was done very innocently to bring our people up to date to let our people know where we stand," he said, explaining that it was not a flier passed out to the public.

In addition, no formal complaints have been filed, he said.

"No one's called and informed me of anything," he said.

A tribute to moms

ABOUT 136 youngsters at Pine Knob Elementary paid tribute to their mothers May 10. All of the developmental kindergarten and regular kindergarten classes sang songs for their mothers, who packed the school's gymnasium. Besides the songs, the students presented their moms with paper flowers and painted ceramic vases. The appreciative mothers paid them back with plenty of hugs and kisses. (Photo by Curt McAllister)

Paramed named primary carrier

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Experience proved to be the determining factor as Paramed, Inc., was named the primary ambulance service in Independence Township last week.

The township board voted 6-0 to approve the Pontiac-based carrier May 7. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent.

With the decision, Advanced Medical Transport (AMT), based in Independence Township, must play the backup role.

The trustees had to choose a primary service, due to an ambulance licensing ordinance ratified April 16. The ordinance was created to alleviate the confusion over two ambulance services in the same township.

The ordinance calls for each service to be licensed in the township when it obtains an insurance policy of $5 million. But when two services are licensed, the ordinance mandates that one be chosen as the primary service.

Paramed, Inc., will receive the first opportunity to respond to all emergency calls, unless all of its vehicles are out of the township. The secondary service is then called if this should occur. If both carriers are more than 12 minutes away from the scene, then the closest service receives the call.

Supervisor Frank Ronk said both companies were comparable in cost, but the sub-committee went with the carrier with the most experience. Paramed has been working in conjunction with the Independence Township Fire Department for nearly 20 years, while AMT started up March 4.

Despite the decision, Ronk said he's confident in the abilities of both services.

"Both companies are comprised of good, capable people, and they'll do a good job in Independence," he said. "With two companies, competition is bound to exist, but the residents of this township will be the receivers of the benefits."

Business briefs

Veterans get gifts

Men and women who served in the military in Operation Desert Storm are eligible for a special Homecoming Gift Package from the Kroger Co., Coca-Cola and Elias Brothers Big Boy Restaurants.

The program, "Operation: Welcome Home," includes a $10 gift certificate for Kroger supermarkets, a Kroger bakery cake inscribed with a personalized message, certificates for a free 12-pack of any Coca-Cola product and an original Big Boy double-decker combination dinner for two with large Coca-Cola at Elias Brothers Big Boy restaurants throughout Michigan.

Michigan Desert Storm veterans can register for the Homecoming Gift Package at any of the 78 Kroger stores in Michigan. Upon presenting military credentials, the package will be sent directly to the recipient's home. The offer is good through May 1992.

Eyeglass can be reused

People with old metal and reusable plastic frame glasses may want to drop them off at the Lewis E. Wint and Son Trust 100 Funeral Home, Clarkston, May 20 to June 16.

During that period, the Wint Funeral Home, other Trust 100 funeral homes, and area churches are sponsoring the "New Eyes for the Needy" campaign in the area.

The program recycles old eyeglasses for those who can't afford to buy new ones.

Non-prescription sunglasses, cataract glasses, soft cases and precious metal scrap (such as old watches, jewelry, cuff links and silverware) also are accepted.

Eyeglasses collected will benefit people in this country as well as those in other countries.

Lewis E. Wint and Son Funeral Home is on South Main Street, Independence Township.

New appointment

Laura D. Bernier

Laura D. Bernier of the Clarkston area has been appointed to information systems officer, communications services, at Comerica Inc.

Bernier joined the company in 1990 as a senior communications engineer. She received an associate's degree in 1982 from Oakland Community College.

Comerica Chairman Eugene A. Miller made the announcement of Bernier's appointment.

New sales manager

Former Clarkston area resident Roger J. Johnson has been named life sales manager for the State Auto Insurance Companies based in Columbus, Ohio.

Johnson, a graduate of Clarkston High School and Ferris State College, joined State Auto in 1982. Prior to that, he held a number of positions with another insurance company and for a while taught and coached for Morley Stanwood High School in Morley.

At State Auto, Johnson has served as a field sales representative, sales manager and branch manager. In 1988, Johnson was elected to the executive board of the Pennsylvania Association of Mutual Insurance Companies for a three-year term.

State Auto, a 70-year-old insurance company group, provides home, auto, business and life insurance to more than 800,000 policyholders in 17 states.

MATT Seitz (far left) heads for third and then he (center) is waved home by Clarkston manager Roy Warner. Matt Underwood (far right), who drove in Seitz and Jeremy Burke, arrives at third for a triple. The action around the hot corner took place in the first game of a doubleheader against Waterford Kettering May 9.

Master miffs Milford, Wiley whiffs Waterford

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's varsity baseball team defeated the county's top-ranked squad, split two close games in a doubleheader and won easy over a league foe.

After the four games, the Wolves' overall record went to 9-7 and their Greater Oakland Activities League mark rose to a league-leading 7-3.

Clarkston 8, Milford 4 (May 10 at Clarkston)

Clarkston led 5-0 after two and held on for an 8-4 win over the tough visitors from Milford.

"This was a great team win for us. Milford was the No. 1 team in the county," said Clarkston manager Roy "Pops" Warner. "Darren Master took charge of the game and did a terrific job on the hill."

Chad Hetherington started for Clarkston and pitched two innings, allowing no hits, no runs and one walk while striking out two. Matt Seitz pitched the next three innings, giving up three hits, four runs and one walk, with one strike out. Master cleaned up in the last two innings, not allowing a run or hit while walking one and striking out four.

Kevin Juzysta was the Wolves' spark plug, starting three rallies. The senior led off the first, second and fourth innings with singles, also scoring in each of those innings.

Jim Jenkinson tripled and singled and Master had two singles. Mike Stanton, Hetherington, Dugan Fife and Seitz each singled.

Waterford Kettering 10, Clarkston 9 (May 9 at Clarkston-1st game)

A ferocious Wolf comeback fell one run short.

Waterford Kettering led 9-1 in the top of the fourth and then held on to edge Clarkston 10-9 in the opener of a GOAL doubleheader.

Clarkston scored four times in the bottom of the seventh to pull within one and threatened for more.

"We had runners at second and third and two out. One more hit, but no cigar," said Clarkston manager Warner.

Clarkston used four pitchers to try and stop the Captains. Kevin Mull, who suffered the loss, hurled 2 1/3 innings. Chris threw 2 2/3 innings, Mike Corcoran and Darren Master each pitched one, all in relief.

Juzysta was a perfect 3-for-3 with a double, Matt Underwood tripled and doubled, Stanton had two singles and Master and Fife each singled.

Clarkston 5, Waterford Kettering 4 (May 9 at Clarkston-2nd game)

Trailing 3-0, Clarkston scored twice in the fourth and three times in the fifth to edge Kettering in a six-inning game that was shortened by darkness.

Clarkston only had five hits but used them to its advantage.

Underwood singled in two Wolves in the fourth and Wasilk's triple drove in two more in the fifth.

The other three hits were a Seitz double and singles by Juzysta and Stanton.

Derek Wiley raised his record to 5-0 on a 3-hitter. Only one of his four runs allowed was earned. He walked three and struck out four.

"Derek pitched an excellent game in the darkness," said manager Warner. "It was a big game for us because we kept a one-game lead in the league."

Clarkston 9, Pontiac Northern 3 (May 6 at Clarkston)

Clarkston broke a 3-3 tie with six runs in the fourth for a 9-3 win over Pontiac Northern.

Wiley walked, Wasilk singled and Juan Chavez walked to open the fourth. Juzysta's fielder's choice scored Wiley. Hetherington walked and Jenkinson's singled drove in in Wasilk. Fife singled in Chavez, and Master doubled in Hetherington and Jenkinson.

Master picked up the win in relief, pitching 2 1/3 innings of hitless and scoreless ball. He walked three and struck out one. Hetherington started, going 2 2/3 innings, allowing two hits, three runs (two earned) two walks and striking out two.

Juzysta and Fife each socked a pair of singles, Master had a double and Wasilk and Jenkinson each singled.

Roeser's versatility helps Wolves tie Northern

Carrie Roeser

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Track Coach Gordie Richardson has always said he could place senior Carrie Roeser in any event and get results.

That was verified in a key Greater Oakland Activities League dual meet with Pontiac Northern May 7 at the Clarkston track. Both teams were undefeated in the GOAL going into the meet.

With two events left and the Clarkston girls' team trailing 59-55, Richardson had to make a crucial decision that involved Roeser.

The coach thought Northern would probably win the last event (the 1600 meter relay), which would give the Huskies 64 total points. So in order for the Wolves to tie, they need to sweep all three places (for nine points) in the 3200 run.

Richardson felt he had two runners, Melissa Mutter and Amy Rayner, who would take two places. But since Heather Schaeffer was ailing, he needed one more runner. Knowing that, he asked Roeser, who had just won the 800 run, if she could run the 3200 run instead of the 1600 relay.

"He wanted to know if I could do it," said Roeser, who hadn't competed in a 3200 run since last year.

Roeser not only ran the distance race,

"I wasn't expecting it, so I didn't have time to get nervous."

Carrie Roeser

she finished second, behind teammate Mutter and in front of Rayner.

Northern did win the 1600 relay and the meet ended in a 64-64 tie, setting up a May 21 rematch in the GOAL meet which will break that tie for the sole rights to the league title.

"I had cramps for four or five laps," said Roeser about her run.

Roeser said the switch from the relay to the 3200 run actually was a relief to her because she knew if she ran in the relay "it was going to be neck-and-neck."

And she added about her sudden entry into the 3200, "I wasn't expecting it, so I didn't have time to get nervous."

However, Roeser's time in the 3200 made the Huskies nervous.

Clarkston second at its own invitational

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston girls only won one event but still finished second May 11 in the eight-team Clarkston Invitational track meet.

Clarkston senior Carrie Roeser was the lone Wolf who placed first, breaking the tape in the 800 meter run in 2:26.9.

Clarkston coach Gordie Richardson was pleased with his team's performance, noting that many girls had their best times of the season. The Wolves also competed without a few key athletes.

Six meet records were broken.

Livonia Stevenson easily won the event with 156 points, followed by Clarkston at 78, Northville 76, Marian 72, Royal Oak Kimball 44, Avondale 26 and Waterford Mott and Lahser each with 22.

The Wolves picked up several points in the field events. Michelle Wade was second in the discus (86-0) and Rachel Seifferlein took fourth (85-0). Seifferlein was second in the shot put (33-11 1/2) and Wade took fifth (31-5). Kristen Stanton placed sixth in the high jump (4-8).

Clarkston's 1600 relay team of Heather Schaffer, Sandra Lindberg, Stanton and Roeser ran the distance in 4:20.02 for second.

Two other relay teams took third: the 800 relay team of Stacey Secatch, Tracy Chamberlain, Stanton and Angie Brown (1:53.45) and the 3200 relay team of Melissa Mutter, Schaffer, Stanton and Roeser (10:28.96).

The 400 relay team of Secatch, Shannon Binkley, Cara Rayner and Brown placed sixth (59.91).

Chamberlain was third in the 300 low hurdles with a solid time of 49.67 (one second off the meet's record). Teammate Cara Rayner took sixth (52.41).

Binkley was sixth in the 100 low hurdles at 17.17.

Mutter was fourth in the 1600 run (6:00.56) and Amy Rayner was close behind in fifth (6:01). Amy Rayner took fifth in the 3200 run (13:49.89) and Mutter was sixth (13:58.91).

Secatch ran the 100 dash in 13:53 for sixth.

Six meet records were broken (with all six formerly being held by Clarkston athletes): Marian's Michelle Coughlin in the long jump (15-5 1/2), Marian's Beth Crowe in the high jump (4-11), Marian's Nicole Eberle in the 1600 run (5:34.5), Stevenson's 800 relay team (1:51.60), Stevenson's 400 relay team (53.2) and Stevenson's 1600 relay team (4:19.4).

Michelle Wade placed second in the discus at the Clarkston Invitational.

THERE was heavy traffic during the first handoff of the 3200 relay at the Clarkston Invitational. Wolf Melissa Mutter (second from right) hands off to teammate Heather Schaffer (center). Clarkston placed third in the event.

The best senior girl and boy athletes will be announced soon at Clarkston High School.

I was going to name my choices in this column, but News reporter Curt McAllister convinced me I would be crazy to do so.

These selections are often controversial, and not just at Clarkston. High schools throughout the country will be announcing their awards for top athletes and with that will be many happy athletes and parents and nearly as many (if not more) disappointed athletes and parents.

There is no one perfect way to choose these awards.

Clarkston coaches vote for the top athletes. Sometimes the top athletes are obvious, sometimes they are not.

There are a number of variables which help the coaches decide: number of sports played (and the type of sports played...), the athlete's statistics, post-season awards won, academic standing, personality, etc.

Coaches, however, not only might have a natural bias toward the sport they coach, but they're so busy coaching their own sport that they might not get much of a chance to see athletes competing in sports they're not coaching.

With this in mind, I'd like to propose a more statistical way to choose the top athletes.

Actually, the idea isn't my own. It is similar to the way they were chosen at Jackson Parkside High School, where I once taught. It called their awards the boy and girl "Top-Flight Eagle Awards." Tony Dungy, who would later play quarterback for the University of Minnesota and defensive back for the Super Bowl-winning Pittsburgh Steelers, appropriately ended up with the most total points in the school's history.

Parkside later merged with Jackson High in the 80s. I talked with the current Jackson High Athletic Director, Jerry Reis, and he told me Jackson High has been using a statistical way of choosing their top athletes since 1972 (called the W. Earl Holman Award), without any problems.

Statistics are totaled from a senior athlete's four-year career. The following formula is one I've combined with Jackson High's current formula, what I still remember from the one at Parkside and one or two of my own additions (Clarkston, of course, could add any additional touches if it ever considered such a formula):

- 6 points for every varsity letter earned
- 3 points for every JV letter earned
- 2 points for every freshman letter earned
- 4 points for earning all-league honors (honorable mention does not count)
- 10 points for being on an all-state team
- 10 points for individually being first, second or third team all-state (only if the athlete's team did not win a state championship)
- 1 point for being a captain on a team
- 10 points for having a cumulative G.P.A. of 2.0, 11 points for a 2.1 ... up to 30 points for a 4.0.

Athlete with the highest point total wins the award.

A mathematical formula may sound a little cold and it may miss a few intangibles. It isn't perfect.

But it does take away some of the guesswork. And it is much harder to argue with a formula than with opinions of coaches.

I would feel comfortable giving awards to the senior girl and boy athletes who would finish with the most points using this formula.

But as Curt has already warned me, it's not my choice to make.

39 runs in two games makes JV 16-0

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Three more "mercy" wins upped the Clarkston JV baseball team's record to 16-0.

The Wolves have some amazing statistics to go along with their perfect record.

After 16 games, Eric Ryan is 6-0 pitching with a 0.80 ERA. Eric Carlson is 4-0 (1.61 ERA), Aaron Phillips is 2-0 (0.00) and Craig Garnett is 3-0.

Some of the Wolves heavy hitters are: Scott Matusz (batting .531 with 24 RBI), Tom Doyon (.500 with 27 runs scored and 21 stolen bases), Jason Jarvis (.463 with 21 RBI and 22 runs scored), Nick Shires (.465 with 16 RBI), Brent Bundridge (.586), Carlson (.500).

Clarkston 18, Milford 8
(May 10 at Milford)

Clarkston scored in every inning to wipe out Milford, 18-8, in five innings for its 16th straight victory.

The win also revenged a loss from last season.

"Milford was a real big win for us," said Clarkston Manager Kurt Richardson. "They were 15-2 and have an excellent, well-coached team. They ended our undefeated streak at 13 last year."

One of the highlights of the Wolves' 17-hit attack was a grand slam by Scott Matusz.

Jason Jarvis ripped two doubles and two singles (1 RBI), Brent Bundridge lashed three singles (2 RBI), Eric Carlson poked a double and single (2 RBI), Chris Combs had two singles (2 RBI), Nick Shires (2 RBI), Jeff Galley (1 RBI), Eric Ryan (1 RBI), Matt Smith and Tom Doyon each singled.

Eric Ryan pitched the first two innings, allowing five runs (four earned), five hits and two walks while striking out two. Eric Carlson pitched the last three innings, giving up two hits and two runs (one earned) while whiffing three Milford batters.

Clarkston 21, Waterford Kettering 0
(May 9 at Waterford Kettering-1st game)

Ryan and Craig Garnett combined on a 1-hitter and the Wolves scored 11 times in the fifth en route to a 21-0 pasting of Waterford Kettering in five innings.

The Wolves jumped out to a quick 5-0 lead in the top of the first.

Ryan pitched four innings, giving up one hit and three walks while striking out eight. Garnett mopped up in the fifth, striking out one.

Doyon had two singles (4 RBI), Shires doubled and had two singles (3 RBI), Matusz doubled (3 RBI), Jeff Marshall singled (2 RBI), Galley singled (2 RBI), Ryan doubled and singled (1 RBI), Smith singled (1 RBI) and Bundridge had two singles.

Clarkston 11, Waterford Kettering 0
(May 9 at Waterford Kettering-2nd game)

Carlson threw a 1-hitter and the Captains again kept coming up with only goose eggs in an 11-0 romp by the Wolves.

Carlson struck out seven and walked only one.

The game was tied at 0-0 after three innings, but Clarkston scored once in the fourth, four times in the fifth and then six in the sixth.

Carlson helped his own cause by belting a double and a single (3 RBI) and Matusz had two singles (3 RBI) to pace the Wolves. Marshall singled (2 RBI) and Dan Eby had two doubles (1 RBI).

Doyon and Bundridge each had a pair of singles and Aaron Phillips and Jarvis each singled.

Clarkston 9th at Oxford, fall to tough Huskies

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Jim Haviland placed third in the 3200 meter run for Clarkston's best finish at the Oxford Invitational May 11.

Haviland, a senior, finished the race in 9:56.4.

The Wolves' 18 points tied them for ninth in the meet with Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook and Sterling Heights.

Pontiac Central won the invite with 110 points, followed by Pontiac Northern at 90 1/2 and host Oxford at 66.

Paul Brisson's personal best time of 2:01.44 in the 800 run placed him fourth.

Al Manser tied for fourth in the 300 low hurdles (42.3) and he took sixth in the 110 high hurdles (15.7).

Paul Krause took fifth in the shot put (45-6). The 3200 relay team of Brisson, Steve Cohoon, Haviland and Todd Wozniak also placed fifth (8:25.6).

Pontiac Northern 90, Clarkston 47
(May 7 at Clarkston)

Clarkston athletes finished first in four of five field events, but it wasn't enough against defending state champion Pontiac Northern.

The Huskies won every running event, except one, to defeat Clarkston, 90-47 in Greater Oakland Activities League varsity boys' track action May 7 in Clarkston.

The lone Wolf runner who won was Jim Haviland in the 3200 run.

Paul Krause was a double winner, taking both the shot put and discus. Jason Granlund won the pole vault and Chip Sloan tied for first in the high jump.

Clarkston finishes and times/distances
Pole vault: 1. Jason Granlund (8-6), 2. Steve Bennett (8-0), 3. John Zamora (7-6)
Long jump: 3. Chris Figa (17-11 1/2)

SWIM LESSONS

Swim lessons are being offered for anyone ages two to adult.

There will be three sessions with 10 classes in each session. Classes will be held Monday through Friday.

Registration begins June 3 on a first-come, first-serve basis.

TRADING CARD SHOW

Trading card vendors are still needed for the Jr. Baseball/ Youth Softball Kick-off Trading Card Show, Saturday, June 15.

More than 1,500 youths and their parents are to participate. One highlight of the show will be a visit from some well-known area athletes who will sign autographs. Also planned is a sports memorabilia raffle.

PRE T-BALL CLINIC

This clinic is one way to introduce 5- and 6-year-old boys and girls to baseball or softball.

Although these children may not be ready to participate in Jr. Baseball/ Youth Softball Leagues, the clinic gives them an opportunity to learn the basics of the game. The clinic covers proper throwing, batting and fielding techniques.

The fee is $20 for residents. The program is set to begin June 18 and run through July 30 (no class July 2). The class is planned for 3-4 p.m. Tuesdays at Clarkston High School.

WALK MICHIGAN

Participants in any of the rec. department's free "Walk Michigan" walks not only will get some exercise but will have a chance to win a free trip for two to Mackinac Island over Labor Day weekend.

At the conclusion of each day's walk will be drawings for prizes. The Grand Prize winner will be drawn from all entrants of the 1991 Walk Michigan program.

The next scheduled walk is Thursday, May 23, at Clarkston High School (indoors) at 6:30-7 a.m. and 2:30-7:30 p.m. This is an indoor walk.

ADULT SOCCER LEAGUE

The rec. department is looking for adult men's and women's soccer teams to play soccer this summer at Clintonwood Park. Divisions are under-16, under-19, and open teams. Anyone can play, no matter what age or ability level.

QUESTION: I am engaged to be married. We have about $18,000 in the bank between us. Our question is whether to invest our savings in a home or rent an apartment until we are ready to have children.

ANSWER: Apartment rents are climbing as available space lessens. On top of this, the monthly rent checks represent money that is gone forever. On the other hand, house payments are a form of forced savings and actually build an equity for you. All you need to do is deduct the interest and property taxes from your income. Also, you can probably look forward to a good profit when you eventually sell.

Either way you decide - have a happy honeymoon!

Wolf netters push Dragons to the limit

BY BOBBY BRAZIER
Clarkston News Special Writer

The Lake Orion boys' tennis team, undefeated in the Greater Oakland Activities League, was tested by Clarkston May 7, but the Dragons prevailed in a three-set final match.

With the team score tied at 3-3, Lake Orion freshman Kevin Peacock secured his team's win with a 6-0, 3-6, 6-2 victory over Kevin Brown.

The loss dropped the Wolves' record to 7-4 overall and 5-3 in the GOAL.

The Wolves did manage to sweep the doubles. Alex Garayo and Maarten Cense dominated Ryan Harrelson and Bob Zielinski, 6-1, 6-0. Bobby Brazier and Craig Coxen came from behind to pull out a 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, win over Greg Gowans and Bob Erickson. And at No. 3 doubles, Renny Abraham and Jeremy Doty defeated Matt Kern and Danny Birmingham, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4.

Clarkston's Jason Gross, who had been playing very well of late, was beaten 6-1, 6-1, by Jason Weidman. No. 2 Wolf Marc Swartout also lost, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, to Eric Wertheimer. At No. 3 Clarkston's Grant Manley lost to Eric Hernandez, 7-6, 6-3.

Clarkston 5, Waterford Mott 2
(May 6 at Clarkston)

Clarkston beat defending GOAL champ Waterford Mott for the second consecutive time this year, whipping the Corsairs, 5-2.

Gross played sensational in routing Mott's No. 1 singles player, Jeremy Lange, 6-3, 6-2. Swartout also played well in crushing Joel Smith at No. 2, 6-3, 6-1.

Mott's Trent McCarty saved a match point and rebounded for a narrow 6-4, 4-6, 7-5 victory over freshman Brazier at No. 3 singles. Brown walloped Rob Thomas, 6-0, 6-0, at No. 4.

In doubles, the "European Connection" of Garayo and Cense fell to Chris Hesano and Pat Boisvert, 6-4, 7-6. Clarkston's Brendan Kelly and Coxen beat Kyle Gaca and Leo Misewicz, 6-0, 6-7, 6-3. Wolves Chris Harkins and Doty were impressive in routing Jamie Hill and Matt Canterburg, 6-4, 6-0.

Softball team even after topping Milford

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

After losing three straight Greater Oakland Activities League games, Clarkston's varsity softball team got back on track with a non-league win over Milford.

With the win, Clarkston evened its overall record to 10-10. The three GOAL losses dropped the Wolves to 4-7 in league play.

Clarkston 8, Milford 3 (May 10 at Clarkston)

Clarkston scored in every inning in an 8-3 win over Milford.

The Wolves never trailed in the game. Milford scored once in the fourth to cut Clarkston's lead to 3-1. But three Wolf runs in the fourth, highlighted by Becky Kosek's triple which drove in two, put the game out of reach for the visitors.

"Becky had a great game offensively and defensively," said Clarkston Manager Carla Teare about Kosek who had a triple, singled, 3 RBI and scored two runs.

Beth Walker smacked a double and single, Heidi Parrott and Heather Austin each ripped a pair of singles and Jenny McChesney had one single.

Teare was also impressed with the pitching of Jenny McChesney.

"Jenny pitched another good game. She continues to improve," said Teare about the right-handed senior who allowed five hits and three runs (two earned). She struck out four and walked two.

Waterford Kettering 2, Clarkston 0 (May 9 at Clarkston-1st game)

Waterford Kettering scored all of the game's runs with two in the second to edge the Wolves in the opener of a GOAL doubleheader.

Clarkston could only manage three hits, with a double by Kristi Bailey and singles off the bats of Kim Choops and Kosek.

Kettering only had five hits off Jenny McChesney, who didn't allow a walk while striking out four Captains.

"Jenny pitched a great game. We had a couple chances and did not capitalize on them. We had a good team effort," said Manager Teare.

Waterford Kettering 10, Clarkston 5 (May 9 at Clarkston-2nd game)

Kettering led 8-0 after five innings and then held on for a 10-5 win over Clarkston in the nightcap of a doubleheader.

"The team made better contact with the ball this game, but we let down defensively, giving up seven unearned runs," said Manager Teare. The Wolves made four costly errors.

Clarkston scored all of its runs in the sixth inning, highlighted by two singles from Jenny McChesney and one each from Kosek and Alyson McChesney.

Jenny McChesney finished the game with three singles, Alyson McChesney had two, and Walker, Kosek, Parrott and Bailey each had one.

Jenny McChesney pitched the first four innings and took the loss. She gave up eight hits, six runs (one earned) and didn't walk a batter.

Colleen pitched three innings in relief, allowing seven hits, four runs (two earned). She walked one and struck out one.

Pontiac Northern 4, Clarkston 3 (May 6 at Clarkston)

Pontiac Northern upset Clarkston 4-3, winning its first-ever softball game against the Wolves.

Northern broke a scoreless tie with three in the fourth. Candy Polenz singled in Jenny McChesney in the bottom of the inning to cut the lead to 3-1.

The Huskies scored what proved to be the winning run in their fifth.

Clarkston scored two in the sixth but fell one run short.

Polenz had two singles and Kosek, Choops and Heather Austin each had one single.

Austin suffered the loss while going the distance. She gave up five hits, two earned runs, walked two and struck out five.

PAM Scroby takes a pitch against Waterford Kettering.

A real author visits

CHILDREN'S writer Chris Conover visits Doris Bonnell's third-grade class to talk about how a book is made. Conover, a New York resident, writes and illustrates children's books and is now working on her 19th book. Her about $1,200 visit during Author Week at Clarkston Elementary School was paid for by the Parent Teacher Association. Conover spoke to students in small groups and in large groups. The pupils were prepared to ask questions. "Do you like lobsters?" asked one observant boy. "Your book has lots of crabs and lobsters." Conover laughed and answered, "Yes, I have a collection of lobsters at home." Another student asked, "Does your hand hurt when you write?" Conover said that after all the practice she's had, her hand no longer hurts. (Photo by Julie Campe)

Entertainer lands job on cruise line

Clarkston High School alumnus Alec Puskas, 26, will be spending the summer cruising in waters near Russia and Scandinavia.

The 1983 Clarkston High School graduate was hired by the Royal Viking cruise line as a singer.

A Seattle, Wash., resident, Puskas heads to Miami, Fla., May 31 for a month of rehearsal before arriving July 1 in Copenhagen, where he will work on a ship called "The Sun," which holds 750 people.

Puskas has spent the last two cruise seasons on the Holland-America cruise lines. Those ships were smaller than The Sun and held 1,200 people, said Puskas.

Considered a "deluxe" cruise, The Sun offers larger state rooms and public rooms. As an employee, Puskas will be performing in three shows in each two-week cruise and when not performing will work as cruise ship help.

He will have port time off, so he'll get to tour Leningrad, Helsinki, Oslo, Amsterdam, London and the Baltic area, he said.

In his past two years of entertaining aboard cruise ships, he's learned a lot, seen a lot, and had a lot of fun, he said.

"It's a lot of fun," said Puskas. "It's a lot of work. And being out of reality for more than half a year at a time is a rough adjustment."

For instance, he said, on a cruise, "everybody's happy."

"You're waited on hand and foot. I haven't made my bed or washed dishes in over a year," he said. "You meet wonderful people."

But the work is demanding.

"It is a tough deal," he said, adding that it's been a rewarding experience. "I'm not on Broadway, but I am working and getting to see some really wonderful places."

After this cruise season ends, he plans to return to Seattle and possibly open a business featuring his stained glass windows. Plus, he may perform in Seattle area theaters.

Puskas is the son of Fred Puskas of Clarkston and Nancy Beier of Alameda, Calif.

Named interim college president

David A. Spencer of the Clarkston area was named interim president and chief executive officer with full authority of the office for Walsh College, Troy.

Spencer, executive vice president, was named to the position by the board after President Jeffery W. Barry resigned suddenly due to a health condition. Barry had held the position of president for 21 years.

Spencer, 40, has been employed by the college for 12 years and has led the operations side of the college for more than one year.

A private, upper division college, Walsh offers the final two years of study toward a bachelor of accountancy or a bachelor of business administration degree. The graduate program under Barry's guidance now includes four master of science degrees in the areas of finance, management, professional accountancy and taxation.

From scratch: High school students build house from start to finish

INSTRUCTOR Dick Moscovic says he appreciates the support of parents, administration and business associations in building a 2,200-square-foot house with about 30 students. The home is on Goldfinch, off Hummingbird, which is off Maybee Road.

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

On a typical day on Goldfinch, Independence Township, 15 or so teen-age boys mill around a house under construction, wearing leather tool belts and big smiles.

Open house shows students' work

A Monday, June 3, open house showcases the workmanship of about 30 high school students.

The students, in the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest's building trades program, have constructed a 2,200-square-foot, three-bedroom home at 6700 Goldfinch, Independence Township.

Neighbors, parents, friends and school officials may want to stop by during the 5-8 p.m. open house to check out the work.

Through the program, headed by Dick Moscovic, the students tried their hands at many of the building trades: rough carpentry, brick-laying, roof-shingling, and more.

According to Moscovic, the program is possible because of support from parents, school administrators and organizations such as the North Oakland County Builders Association and the Association of Builders and Contractors.

"The program could not exist because of me or any one person; it's a total effort," said Moscovic. For more information, call 620-9711.

They saw boards, staple "J-channels" and prime drywall. This is one class in which they will not fall asleep.

"Mr. Moscovic!" calls one student from around a corner of the house. Another from inside the garage also calls to the teacher.

Meanwhile, instructor Dick Moscovic explains to Brandon High School senior Marc Simmons that the J-channels must be clipped on angles so they'll form a corner when the pieces meet.

A J-channel, Clarkston High School junior Tom Morris later explains, fits around the windows of a house so the siding will lock into it.

"Like that nail locked into your foot," chides Morris' fellow student Ted Trumper, a Brandon senior.

Morris laughs and admits that he accidentally put a nail through his foot with a nail gun earlier in the year.

He later points out a photocopy of his foot X-ray — clearly showing the nail — that hangs in the "classroom" of the building trades program. It symbolizes the potential danger in the building trades and the seriousness the students must bring to class.

Hands-on approach to learning

The classroom is a trailer with folding chairs and lots of machinery and tools. But the real learning takes place when the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest (OTC-N) students work on the house itself.

In the OTC-N program, students from Clarkston, Brandon, Kettering, Mott, Holly, Springfield Christian and Our Lady of the Lakes high schools spend either mornings or afternoons at the site and spend the rest of the day at their high schools. This year, 15 students attend the morning session, and 17 attend the afternoon session.

(See HOUSE, next page)

SENIOR Tom Hockey places a J-channel around the edges of a window.

House-building gives pupils hands-on experience

(HOUSE, from previous page)

Through the North Oakland County Builders Association (NOCBA), builder Michael Hoffer of Welcome Homes, Inc., sponsors the house this year. That means he provides the house plans and materials and then sells the house when the students have completed it.

The students, in turn, get to dabble in many of the building trades by helping professionals with the foundation; roughing in the house; shingling the roof; helping professionals in plumbing, heating and electrical work; installing drywall; trimming the house; and performing all of the siding and brick work.

Afterward, the landscaping class at the OTC-N works on the grounds.

Skills stay with students

Moscovic has taught the building trades program for three years through OTC-N. Previously, he taught the program for four years through Clarkston High School.

This form of education is ideal, he says.

"This is the real thing," says Moscovi. "This is taking a classroom and putting it into practicality, into action. These kids walk away with a suitcase full of knowledge they'll use the rest of their life. ... The skills don't change awful much."

Many of the students end up entering the building trades. And their high school experience helps them choose which trade, says Moscovi.

He adds that some of the students enter other fields, but the knowledge and skills they picked up in class will be useful when they own their own homes.

"Most of these guys are not going to be a four-year college student. Some are," he says.

Many probably will work while attending a community college, and some may attend the four-year Associated Builders Contractors (ABC) apprenticeship school. In fact, ABC and NOCBA co-sponsor two scholarships a year for OTC-N students to attend the ABC school.

Program helps building trades

Paraprofessional Steve Wyckoff, a 1981 Clarkston High School graduate and former student of Moscovi, now helps Moscovi with the program, which he calls a "pre-apprenticeship" program.

Wyckoff, who holds a bachelor's degree in education from Saginaw Valley and is working on an advanced degree at Eastern Michigan University, has a few years of experience in the building field. He says the OTC-N program is important to the building trades.

SENIOR Mark Simmons of Brandon High School gets a little help from instructor Dick Moscovic. The crew expects to complete the house in time for the June 2 open house.

They find building trades tough but satisfying

"There's a shortage of skilled labor," he says. "This can help add youth to the building trades."

Plus, the program is good for the students. It builds self-esteem and gives career direction.

"Unfortunately, a lot of kids think to get your hands dirty, it's degrading," Wyckoff says.

But building is useful and satisfying work. Plus, it

"These kids walk away with a suitcase full of knowledge they'll use the rest of their life."

Teacher Dick Moscovic makes abstract classroom learning concrete.

"If a kid can't learn his fractions off a chalkboard, he can learn it here because he can see it on the ruler. It makes sense to him," says Wyckoff.

For the most part, the students are eager to learn and are polite and respectful, says Moscovic.

"I'm really appreciative of the type of kid I get," he says. "We're really getting some quality kids. They look forward and want to move on."

Gives pupils direction

The kids, in turn, appreciate the class.

"It gives you an overview of what it's really like being a carpenter," says Morris, whose foot is now recovered. "It teaches you how to get along with people—you have to."

Randy Liford, a CHS junior, agrees.

"It teaches you to work as a team," he says.

Tom Hockey, a senior, says he liked the structure of the program.

"It's a lot better than any class in the high school because it's all together," says Hockey. "It's not as strict. A teacher isn't looking over you the whole time. You're assigned a job, and you're expected to do it. You have any questions, you ask the boss."

One student, Jack Brocklebank of Auburn Hills, brings a unique experience to class. A laid-off General Motors employee, Brocklebank enrolled in the class to learn other skills. He discovered that the experience educates him in many ways.

"It gives you a chance to make your own mistakes and then fix them," he says.

Plus, working with the young adults helps him understand his own teen-age son, he says.

"Here, I can be friends; I don't have to be a parent," he says. "Sometimes you even learn about your own son. I thought he was weird, but I found out he's like everyone else."

Morris quips, "And with Jack, we get to learn about the old people."

Liford quickly adds, "And we're understanding our parents more now, too."

They laugh, appreciating each other's company, as co-workers do.

Moscovic, when he gets a rare moment to himself, surveys the scene. After 23 years in education, he still finds energy and enthusiasm to bring to work.

"It's still enjoyable," he said. "I still get excited about it."

Tips for making your home safer

New, expecting or veteran parents should take some time to survey their homes for ways to improve child safety.

Some inexpensive, readily available items can be installed, and sometimes common sense is all that's needed. Parents and caregivers not familiar with infant behavior will want to review their home environment with special needs in mind.

■ First and foremost, make sure fire alarms are installed, and check to make sure they are working properly. All family members should be rehearsed in a fire/emergency escape plan. Emergency phone numbers, including your phone number and poison control center, should be posted.

■ Inspect all electrical cords to appliances and lamps for frayed or damaged insulation, which could result in bare wires.

■ Burns can be avoided by installing guards or gates around fireplaces and wood-burning stoves. In the kitchen, pot and pan handles should be turned inward so they are inaccessible to young hands.

■ Stairs should have safety gates at the top and bottom. If your stairs have balusters or pickets that are more than four inches apart, consider replacing them.

■ Keep toddlers' and babies' cribs away from window-blind cords or lamps with cords.

■ Area and throw rugs should be attached with adhesive tape or non-skid backing to keep them from moving.

When doing your survey, don't confine your preventive measures to the interior. Exterior fences, gates and garage overhead doors all should be made as safe as possible.

Bumps, falls and the like are unavoidable with young children and toddlers, but surveying your home at your child's level for sharp edges, trip hazards and potential temptations can help decrease the chance of injury.

Q. The interior walls of my basement are always damp, and puddles form on the floor after it rains. What can I do to prevent this?

A. The first line of defense against a wet basement is proper grading. Inspect the grade around your home to insure a positive slope away from your foundation. Make sure all downspouts have splash blocks or extensions to divert water runoff away from the foundation during rainstorms.

If surface water is properly diverted and your basement is still wet, the probable cause is groundwater. You can prevent groundwater penetration by laying drain tile at the same height as the footing around the exterior perimeter of the house and waterproofing the outside wall surface.

Dig away the earth from the problem wall down to the base of the footing. Scrape away all loose earth, which should reveal any cracks in the wall. Next, use a stiff brush and warm water to clean the foundation. Chisel and rake out all cracks or faulty joints and fill with a mortar mix.

After the wall is dry, trowel a heavy coat of asphalt roof cement or any of the many available sealers from the foundation up to the earth line. Problem walls may take two coats.

Now that the wall has been waterproofed, you must give the groundwater a path to escape. This path is a drainpipe laid around your footing. This drainpipe, available at hardware stores and home improvement centers, must be perforated to allow water to seep in and be taken away.

Lay the pipe next to your footing at a slight slope made by a gravel bed. Cover the pipe with 6-12 inches of gravel, and place some building felt over the gravel. Backfill above the building felt, making sure you have proper grading.

The end of the drainpipe should lead to a sewer or dry well. A dry well is simply a large hole dug in the earth away from your home and filled with gravel into which the drainpipe empties.

Resolving a wet basement is a large job and can sometimes be solved without digging. The professional technique involves forcing a special sealing compound along the base of the wall under pressure. It tends to flow to the wall and into the fissures and cracks. The cost usually depends upon the severity of the problem.

Grow herbs for fun, flavor, fragrance

Most people know that herbs are ideal for spicing up soups, stews, vinegars, jellies and relishes, and that the right herb can add zest to fish, meat and poultry.

But herbs — actually parts of herbs, such as flowers, leaves, roots, seeds and bark — can be counted on for more than improving the flavor of food.

Many doctors suggest eucalyptus herbal rubs or balms for their patients with strained muscles or mild back problems. Herbs often are used for cosmetic purposes or artistic endeavors. People love to drink chamomile or scented geranium herbal teas and unwind from a hard day's work in a relaxing bath accentuated with sweet flag or sweet violet.

The appealing fragrance of dried herbs entices many either to buy or make their own pot pourri, sachets and wreaths, which boast a long-lasting herbal aroma. Mint and rosemary are among the most popular herbs for this purpose.

Better yet, herbs are among the easiest of all plants to grow. Gardeners appreciate the variety of shapes sizes and colors in which herbs come and put them to use in Mint and rosemary are among the most popular herbs for pot pourri, sachets and wreaths.

HERBS are easy to grow and even easier to use around the home. The plants can add the perfect touch to recipes, baths and teas.

decorative containers or rock gardens or as groundcover.

When matched with annuals and perennials, herbs help make eye-catching additions to beds and borders. Many herbs spread quickly. A physical barrier, such as a landscape fabric, helps confine them.

Some herbs take less effort to grow than others, so it's important to decide before starting how much effort you intend to put forth. If you have time to spend, begin from seed. Otherwise purchase started seedlings or rooted cuttings. When planted, these tend to take root quickly, enabling the gardener to reap their benefits early.

Planting seedlings is simple. Most herbs prefer full exposure to sun, though some require shade. For instance, dill (Anethum graveolens), Roman Chamomile (Chamaemelum nobile), chives (Allium schoenoprasum), parsley (Petroselinum crispum), English Lavender (Lavandula angustifolia), and coriander (Coriandrum sativum) all thrive in full sun.

Among the herbs that grow better in partial shade are mint (mentha spp.), tarragon (Artemisia dracunculus), chervil (Anthriscus cerefolium), thyme (Thymus vul- garis), and rosemary (Rosmarinus officinalis). Herbs also vary as to their soil requirements. Some grow well in rich soil, others in moderately rich or sandy soil. And all have different watering needs. Specific planting directions should come with the seedling package. If not, as the nursery salesperson or contact your local extension agent.

Light fertilizing in the spring with an all-natural fertilizer high in nitrogen helps herbs get off to a good start, but over-fertilizing results in large plants with less flavor and reduced aroma.

When planting seedlings between larger annuals or perennials, lay down a landscape fabric to limit the herbs' spreading capabilities and to block most weeds.

Once your herbs are growing well, parts can be pruned as needed, as long as enough foliage remains to allow regeneration. Herbs are best pruned on a cool, shade-filled day. This enables the plant to recover before it must face a full sun again.

Leaves for drying should be pruned to the plant's flowering. Toss away damaged or diseased leaves and wash the good ones in cool water. Store them on a tray or rack out of the sun. Too much light ruins the flavor and bleaches the color.

Next, crush the dried leaves and store away from light, perhaps in a freezer, until needed.

Herbs have been around for a million years, and they may be for a million more. They're versatile and hardy, and with a little preparation, easy to grow. Whatever your need, there's bound to be an herb that's perfect for you.

Natural patch not that simple

Wildflowers, once the poor relations of their carefully hybridized, domesticated cousins, have found a new popularity in recent years.

Gardeners looking for low-maintenance, season-long flower displays or plantings with a natural, informal beauty are turning to wildflowers.

Unfortunately, reality may fail to live up to gardeners' expectations.

Lee Taylor, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University, says gardeners following the "till, sow and enjoy" approach to wildflower gardening might be disappointed.

He cites research at Cornell that showed that plots tilled and sown with various wildflower seed mixtures reverted in a year or at most two years to native weeds.

The seed plots were showiest the first year, with the peak display coming in the fall.

But weeds quickly invaded and outcompeted with Western and exotic species.

The seed mixture that contained many species already naturalized to the area performed the best, but even it didn't turn into the lush wildflower meadow pictured on the seed packet.

By the third summer, it was indistinguishable from the other weed-choked plots.

"If you're interested in establishing a native wildflower planting, the easiest way is simply to quit mowing a particular area or till it and let native species move in on their own," Taylor suggests.

"You could speed the process along by sowing seeds of desirable species or transplanting purchased plants into the area," he adds.

"Buying plants will speed up the process but increase the cost. Transplanting plants from the wild may be illegal."

Be prepared to water and weed to remove less desirable plants, he advises.

"As the Cornell researchers found, all gardening requires weeding, and meadow gardening is no exception," Taylor says.

"Simply sowing a packet of meadow wildflower seeds won't guarantee you an attractive, work-free flower display."

Composting can help soil, reduce landfill waste

With nearly one-third of existing landfill space filling up in the next five to seven years, many across the nation are looking at alternatives to disposing yard waste in landfills.

Some are turning to composting, the process of turning organic materials — grass clippings, leaves and twigs, as well as coffee grounds, vegetable scraps and egg shells — into humus, a rich soil nutrient.

Finished compost or humus is one of the best soil conditioners around. A healthy dose of humus enables sandy soil to retain water and nutrients and helps clay soil drain and "breathe" properly.

Composting requires air, so don't forget to turn the pile every two to seven days.

It also releases nutrients slowly but steadily, so they don't burn or harm plants. And humus stimulates the spread of beneficial microorganisms in the soil, which are constantly at work improving soil structure and fighting disease-bearing bacteria.

To produce faster composting action, add a compost activator, available at garden stores. The products are specifically designed to speed up the chemical and bacterial action needed to decompose vegetable matter.

Even novice gardeners can produce useful compost throughout the year. For best results, follow these simple guidelines to convert big piles of refuse into little piles of compost:

■ Start with the pile. A compost pile can be located on the ground or contained in a simple enclosure or in a 30- to 55-gallon plastic bag.

Be sure to place bins on a well-drained site that is shaded from direct sunlight. If the pile or bin is uncovered, put a sheet of plastic on top to keep out excess moisture, which slows decomposition.

When using a plastic bag, shake or invert it. Also, punch holes to allow air to enter, and keep the top of the bag open.

■ Feed it a balanced diet. Use mostly plant matter, and don't add meats, fats or dairy waste, all of which actually slow down composting. Your goal is to achieve a mixture of four parts of carbon-based plant material (including leaves, sawdust and even Spanish moss) to one part nitrogen-based plant material, such as grass clippings and vegetable peelings.

■ Shred material before composting. Chop materials or put them through a shredder. Shredded material creates more surface area for hungry microorganisms to feed on.

■ Layer your pile. Build your compost pile in layers, watering each as it is completed. Start with two or three inches of coarse materials, such as cornstalks, twigs or straw, to let air reach the bottom of the pile. Next, add three to six inches of organic materials. If desired, add two cups compost activator (from garden stores). Continue layering the pile until you reach a height of 30 inches.

■ Measure the temperature. Ideally, the compost should "cook" at 140-160 degrees for the first few days, high enough to destroy weed seeds and disease organisms. Special thermometers are available to keep track of compost temperatures.

■ Turn the pile. Composting requires air, so don't forget to turn the pile every two to seven days. The process of turning the pile provides an opportunity to add more shredded green and dry matter.

■ Keep the pile moist. But not soggy. A handful of compost feels about the same as a squeezed-out sponge. If you keep the pile damp and turn it every few days, you'll have compost ready to use in six to eight weeks.

Gardeners who compost are safely returning kitchen debris and yard waste to the soil. It's an easy, safe and environmentally wise alternative to sending garbage to overflowing landfills. In addition, composted soil is a much healthier place for plants to grow.

Lead crystal may pose health hazards

Lead crystal decanters and other serving pieces may be pretty to look at, but they may not be the ideal places to store beverages and food.

According to Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension, harmful amounts of lead can leach out of the glass and may seep into the beverage or food as it is stored for a period of time.

The FDA (Food and Drug Administration) is warning against the routine use of lead crystal for food and drink storage," says Treitman.

Drinking from a crystal glass once in a while is not a problem, says Treitman. However, if a person has a daily glass of wine, he or she should not use a crystal goblet.

Excess consumption of lead is linked to problems in mental development in children. Therefore, Treitman says don't feed children or babies from crystal baby bottles or tumblers. Further, pregnant women and women of childbearing age should not use crystal ware for food or beverage consumption.

To minimize risks of excess lead consumption:

- Don't use lead crystal goblets every day.
- Store liquor in original bottles — use crystal decanters only for short-term use at the table.
- Don't store food or beverages especially high in foods — for example, orange juice, wine or alcohol — in crystal containers.
- Don't feed children or babies from crystal bottles or glasses.
- Pregnant and childbearing-age women should not use crystalware for food consumption and storage.

PAYING 10% OR MORE FOR YOUR MORTGAGE?

REFINANCE AT OLD KENT.

If you're paying 10% or more in mortgage interest, you should see us about refinancing at today's low rates. You could save thousands of dollars over the term of your mortgage — and lower your monthly house payments, too.

Get a Home Equity Line of Credit at No Additional Charge.

When you refinance, you may also qualify for our Home Equity Line of Credit — with no additional fees. So you can borrow for the things you need, like home improvements or a new car, at an interest rate that's much lower than most installment loans or credit cards. And the interest may be tax-deductible, too.

Check into Refinancing — with The Refinancing Checklist.

We can tell you how much you may be able to save by refinancing. All we need is some basic information about your current mortgage. The following checklist tells you what we need to know. Bring the information into any Old Kent office — and we'll determine how much you may save by refinancing at our rates.

There's no charge for this service. So why not do it today? After all, you have nothing to lose — and a lot to gain.

Earth tip

Americans throw away 18 billion disposable diapers every year, enough to go to the moon and back seven times. About one percent of all of America's landfill space is occupied by disposable diapers, which can take up to 500 years to decompose. Manufacturers recommend that disposable diapers be washed out before discarding them, but only five percent do. This means that every year up to three million tons of untreated feces and urine end up in landfills rather than in the sewage system every year.

Fun Daze encompasses events of past five years

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

With Fun Daze coming up this Saturday, events chairman Drew Creamer is hoping for a good turnout from area residents and Mother Nature.

May 18 will mark the fifth consecutive Fun Daze weekend in Clarkston, and Creamer said it's bound to be the best one yet.

According to Creamer, this year's events will be a conglomeration of those activities held over the past five years. The events include: five variations of either road races or walks, a dunk tank, a moon walk chamber, coloring contests for the kids, a magic act, and exhibitions of dance, gymnastics and karate.

A disc jockey will also be set up in Depot Park Saturday, accompanied by a fire truck exhibit, courtesy of the Independence Township Fire Department.

This is the third consecutive year that Creamer has been involved in Fun Daze. He is the president of ON

THE BOARD, Inc., a walking advertising firm. Creamer became involved with the event through his affiliation with Rotary International, which is responsible for creating Fun Daze.

Creamer said this year's featured event, the 10K road race, includes extra incentive in the form of monetary prizes. In the 10K run, the first five male and female runners will receive savings bonds. The first-place finisher will receive $500; second, a $400 bond; third, a $300 bond; fourth, a $200 bond; and fifth, a $100 bond.

Creamer said these prizes should help motivate the field of runners.

"In the past, we've always attracted one good runner who blows away the rest of the field," he said. "The ... prize money should help tighten that gap of competitiveness amongst the other runners and give everyone something to shoot for."

"It should provide for a more enjoyable and interesting race," he added.

Creamer said nearly 300 runners participated in last year's road races, and he's hoping for 400 to 600 runners this weekend.

Creamer is confident that the event will come off well. He gives much of the credit to the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department. He said their experience in handling large events has been instrumental in preparing for Fun Daze.

Creamer said the proceeds from Fun Daze weekend will go back into the community.

Historically, the event breaks about even, but there's usually enough money left over for a gift to the community. One such gift are the green "National Historical District" flags in the village.

Despite the hours put into the event, Creamer said it's all worthwhile.

"There's real intrigue in putting together an event that means something to the community," he said. "The preparation is time consuming, but it's all worth it in the end."

"And before you know it, you've got an event the public looks forward to attending every year," Creamer added.

Fun Daze events broader this year

The Fifth Annual Fun Daze Saturday, May 18, offers activities for the whole family, many of them free.

Planned for Depot Park, Clarkston, runners may run through the scenic Clarkston area for T-shirts and prizes, and walkers may walk for fun.

Plus, games are offered for children, and a health area is informative and useful for everyone.

Events, sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club, Independence Township Parks and Recreation and the Women's Health Center of Clarkston, take place in Depot Park unless otherwise noted. A schedule of events follows:

8:30 a.m.

Registration Deadline: The fee is $4 for the one-mile Fun Run or walk. For the 5K and 10K runs, the fee is $14.

9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Kiddie Games: Kids of all ages may take part in such free games as the sawdust coin scramble, sack race, egg toss, water balloons. (Sponsored by the Clarkston Area Jaycees)

9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Healthy Lifestyles Fair: Runners and non-runners may visit stations such as blood pressure, fat content, fatigue, health quiz, and exercise equipment displays. (Sponsored by the Women's Health Care Center of Clarkston)

Dunk Tank: Visitors will have a chance to "dunk" someone. (Sponsored by the Clarkston Area Jaycees)

Moon Walk: Children may jump inside a structure and feel as if they're walking on the moon. (Sponsored by the Clarkston Area Jaycees)

9:30 a.m.

Elementary Fun Run Challenge: For elementary school children who participate — half of the registration proceeds go to their school's Parent Teacher Organization or Parent Teacher Association.

Fun Run or Walk: One-mile Fun Run or Walk begins in Depot Park.

10 a.m.

5K and 10K runs: Races begin and finish in Depot Park.

Coloring Contest Award Winners: Winners of the Independence Township coloring contest announced.

Used Book Fair: Used book sale takes place 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, corner of Main and Washington streets, Clarkston. Sponsored by the Friends of the Independence Township Library.

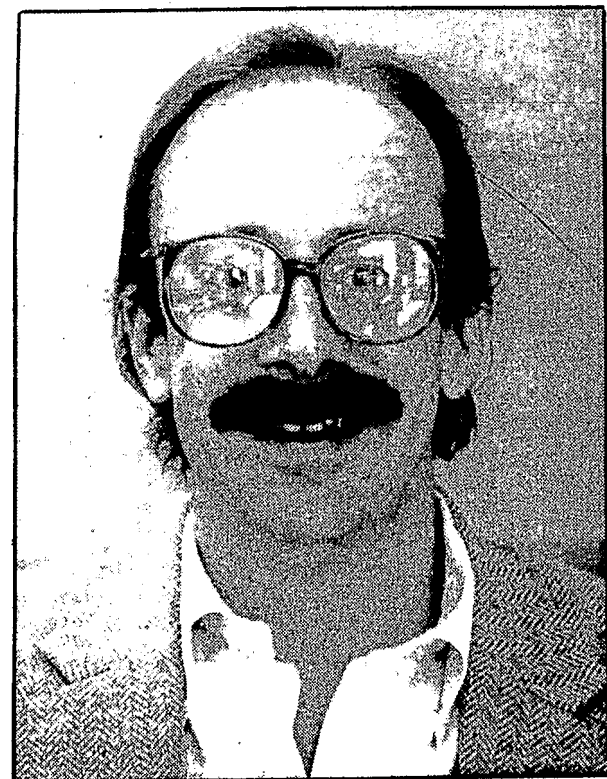

10:15 - Noon

Dance and Gymnastics Exhibition
Sanchin Systems Karate
Academy of Koei-Kan Karate-Do Exhibition

11:15 a.m. (approximate)

Awards Ceremony: For the 5K and 10K runs, awards will be given for the overall top three finishers and to the divisional top three finishers. The top male and female runners in the 10K receive $500 U.S. savings bond for first place, $400 bond for second place, $300 bond for third place, $200 bond for fourth place and a $100 bond for fifth place.

■ For more information on Fun Daze, contact the parks and recreation department at 625-8223.

DREW CREAMER is the events chairman for Fun Daze this year. He said Saturday's entertainment will be a culmination of the past five year's events.

Scenic routes take lots of planning each year

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Denise McIntyre is precise about the directions to her house.

"After you turn on Princess Lane, go about three-tenths of a mile," she says, then laughs.

She admits that she's been measuring lengths a lot lately.

She helps her husband, Michael McIntyre, in his annual marking of the Fun Daze courses.

The couple got into the act during the first year of Fun Daze — shortly after they moved to Independence Township.

"We had put on road races before in Waterford, so I called up Dick Greenfield and offered to help," says Michael, a Pontiac Central teacher.

Greenfield, instigator of the Clarkston Rotary community event that's now in its fifth year, promptly accepted Michael's offer.

So each year, the McIntyres mark the course, set up watering stations and mile markers — and sometimes even participate.

In the early years, they were too busy registering people to actually take part, says Michael.

But now that the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department is involved, everything runs a lot more smoothly — and Michael, who ran his first Boston Marathon this year, is free to run the 10K course.

"I like the course," says Michael. "It's very challenging. I'm not a hill-runner, but it's a beautiful course."

Michael recalls that the first year's course was even hillier, though still beautiful. Even experienced runners found the course demanding, so they changed it a little to remove some of the steep inclines.

"It's still considered a hilly 10K," Michael is quick to point out, adding that the 5K is mostly flat.

He recalls that the challenge in the first year was to simply to design a good race.

"It's gotten to be more than that," he says. "It's a community effort. It's kind of like Christmas — you plan and plan for two hours."

Denise, a nurse, normally walks the one-mile Fun Run course with her son.

"It's really exciting to see the big crowds," she says.

And among those crowds this year might be a famous runner or two, says Michael, explaining that this year's prize money is likely to draw bigger talent to the area.

"Running is one of the few sports where you can be with one of the best in the world, elbow to elbow," he says.

At the very least, runners are likely to touch elbows with the best of Clarkston.

THE MCINTYRES make Fun Daze a family day. Michael (back, right) plans to run the 10K; Denise (back, left) and Colin (who turns 12 on Fun Daze May 18), plan to walk or run the one-mile Fun Run; and Maureen, 7 1/2, plans to try the children's games. Preparation is a family event, too. The children help pass out fliers to residents along the course, asking them not to burn leaves or let their animals run loose on the day of the race.

Health stations benefit attendees

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Women's Health Center of Clarkston will be helping runners and non-runners at the Clarkston Fun Daze May 18.

The health center is one of the corporate sponsors of the fifth annual event, donating $1,500 in cash and between $2,000 and $3,000 in materials and time, according to Michael Mosharo, administrative director.

This is the second year it has been a sponsor and it probably will be one for many more years. Mosharo said the event already draws a good number of Clarkston area residents and hopes it will expand and draw more people from the entire northern Oakland County.

"I expect an additional 200 runners this year," said Mosharo, who said he expects the run to continually draw more participants year after year. Cash bonds have been added this year for top finishers, which will most likely draw more runners.

Mosharo said about 10 of the 18 health center employees will be helping out at Fun Daze. They'll help runners who need assistance during and after the race. They will also set up a variety of health stations at Depot Park for runners and non-runners.

One of those stations will feature a display of exercising equipment, including a stepper, bike, rowing machine and cross-country simulator.

People also may have their blood pressure checked, find out more about fatigue if they are anemic, have their fat content figured out, take a health quiz and even get a little consultation.

Mosharo said Fun Daze will be photographed on video this year and will be made into a short production. The video will be broadcasted on all local cable stations throughout Oakland County shortly before next year's event takes place. The Clarkston Chamber of Commerce and some other groups also will see the video.

"We want Fun Daze to start getting more notoriety," said Mosharo.

Mosharo said the health center has been preparing for the event two or three months before it begins. However, he said, health center employees plan to get an earlier jump for the 1992 Fun Daze by starting this fall.

Anyone interested in helping with Fun Daze through the health center can call Mosharo at 625-6660.

Free fun

The Clarkston Area Jaycees won't be using Fun Daze as a fund-raiser.

Instead, they'll use it as an opportunity to help out the community, said Mary Forst, chairwoman of the board.

For the third year, the Jaycees will be offering free children's games 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in Depot Park on Saturday, May 18. Games include a sawdust coin scramble, sack races, egg toss and water balloons.

"It gives the kids something to do while Mom and Dad are out running or while Mom and Dad are recuperating," said Forst.

The games are "free fun," she said, adding that the Jaycees' members "all like kids."

"We just do it as a community service, just for fun," she said.

The Jaycees also offer one game for adults. For a small fee, adults and children may try their luck at the dunk tank.

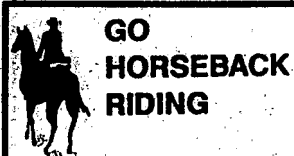

-By Julie Campe

Lots of help

According to organizer Drew Creamer, the Fifth Annual Fun Daze is offered through a community-wide involvement.

Businesses have donated money and prizes, and many non-profit groups also have helped with volunteers or money or expertise.

Contributing community groups include: Clarkston High School Interact, Clarkston Athletic Boosters, Clarkston Area Optimists, Clarkston Rotary, Independence Township Fire Department, Independence Township Senior Center and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Fun Daze races: all in the family for Dickies

THE DICKIES have made Clarkston's Fun Daze an annual family tradition. The group has collected T-shirts earned in Fun Daze races over the past three years.

BY TRACY KING
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The annual Fun Daze event is a family affair for the Dickies of Ellis Road, Independence Township.

Bill Dickie and his children, Brett, 9, and Becca, 6, have taken part in the foot races for the past three years. Vicki occasionally walks in the one-mile race with her children and is the family's photographer.

"Trainer," she describes herself, smiling.

Training for the races takes on different forms in the Dickie household.

Brett runs the wooded roads near his house before

"It's a good day for the whole family."

Bill Dickie

the event and works out and stretches before the race itself.

Bill runs regularly throughout the year with a Clarkston group known as the "wolf pack."

Members typically run about 50 miles a week and, eventually, compete against one another in the Fun Daze race.

Though the ages of the runners vary, competition is a big part of the fun.

"We're competitive when timing a 15-mile run," Bill says. "About 12 miles in, when we see the barn, we try to brutalize each other."

"Even though we're all good friends," he adds.

More preparation comes the night before the race, when Vicki traditionally prepares spaghetti for the family.

Bill describes the Clarkston Fun Daze 10K route as a "mountain goat course" for its hilly nature.

Brett says the one-mile course is similar.

"Sometimes in Clarkston's Fun Daze you go up a lot of streets," Brett says. "There are some hilly roads."

He and his sister proudly wear Fun Daze shirts earned in running the event and say, despite the hills, the race is "easy."

Must be all that training and spaghetti.

Scenic courses

THE COURSES for the Fifth Annual Fun Daze running and walking events begin in Clarkston's Depot Park, just off Main Street. The one-mile Fun Run or Walk circles the Mill Pond. The 10K and 5K runs travel south to Middle Lake Road and then circle back north, where the 5K returns to the finish and the 10K continues through Deerwood subdivision. The course is scenic, but its hills make it a challenge. During the races, onlookers may take part in games or visit the Healthy Lifestyles Fair. Lots of free games for children are offered. And for the first time, cash bonds will be awarded to top finishers in the 10K race.

Deputies talk safety to elementary school pupils

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

"Oohs" and "yucks" escaped from the audience of fourth- and fifth-graders May 2 during Deputy Doug Edgar's presentation.

And during school liaison officer Joe Lambourn's presentation, the Pine Knob Elementary pupils stretched their arms high to share stories of their own.

Edgar is part of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Marine Division, which handles water rescues, and also serves on the executive board of the Oakland County Deputy Sheriff's Association (OCDSA).

As part of Child Safety Awareness, he showed video tapes of water rescues — with and without the proper life jackets — and of dummies in car crashes — with and without seat belts.

Judging from the students' reactions, they understood Edgar's message: They should always wear safety belts in a moving vehicle and should wear life jackets in a moving boat.

He noted that state law now requires back-seat passengers to wear safety belts.

Life jackets are similar, he said.

"In an accident, there's no time to get a cushion or life jacket out," he said.

He also told the students to always make sure ice is "Sadly enough, we usually only get to talk to children when it's a crisis."

Deputy Doug Edgar

thick enough before venturing out on it.

Lambourn talked to the children about drug and alcohol, suspicious circumstances and crime prevention.

Students would be wise to write down the license plate numbers of suspicious vehicles and to get a description of suspicious people. Notice how they look, and then tell parents or teachers, he said.

He and the children talked about people who drink alcohol. If they're 21, it's OK to drink one glass of beer, for example, said Lambourn.

The children volunteered examples of when it's bad for people to drink. They shouldn't drink if they hurt their kids or wives or husbands, if they drink and then drive, if they drink a whole lot, if they become mean, and if drinking affects their jobs.

Most of the pupils had stories of their own.

One boy said he and his family had begged his uncle to stop drinking, but he wouldn't listen; and now he's dead.

"Was it a car accident?" asked Lambourn.

"No," said the boy. "He shot himself."

Another student said her mother's husband kept breaking into her house and taking things.

"That's a really tough situation," said Lambourn. "The police can get involved only if there's a court order. We'll still come out if there's trouble, but we can't decide which property belongs by your mother and which to your father."

"He's not my father," the girl quickly interjected. "He's my step-father."

The day at Pine Knob kicked off the Child Safety Awareness program sponsored by the OCDSA.

Each child took home a letter to his or her parents explaining the program, an OCDSA hat, and a form to fill out the serial numbers and other information about valuables in the home.

"Hopefully, before they get to the junior high and are offered alcohol and drugs, we reach them," said Lambourn.

Next year, the program is to be expanded.

Edgar said the safety program is helpful.

"Sadly enough, we usually only get to talk to children when it's a crisis," he said.

POLICE have no trouble keeping the attention of Justin Prystash (left), 10, and Matt Baker, also 10, during an assembly May 2.

Accountant receives top honors

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An accountant who resides in Independence Township has been named the 1991 Woman of the Year by the members of the Inde-Spring Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA).

Each year, the members select the woman they feel has made a significant contribution to the chapter and the image of the ABWA in the community.

Janet Gillespie of Pinewood is this year's recipient. She received an engraved trophy at the March 26 chapter meeting.

An accountant of 4 1/2 years, she is presently employed with the Bloomfield Hills School District.

Janet is a graduate of Lansing Community College where she earned an associate's degree in accounting and data processing.

She has lived in the Clarkston area for four years with her husband, Dennis, and their two children. The Gillespies have been a host family to Maarten Cense of Urk, Amsterdam, since the summer of 1990. Her son, Brian, and Maarten are scheduled to graduate from Clarkston High School this June.

Janet's daughter, Heather, is presently in her fourth year at Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, where she is studying graphic arts and design.

Janet's hobbies include tennis, hiking, sewing and shopping.

A member of the Inde-Spring chapter since 1988, Janet was thrilled over her recent honor.

"I'm very excited that they chose me," she said. "I've been a member for three years, and it's a great honor to be involved in such an elite group."

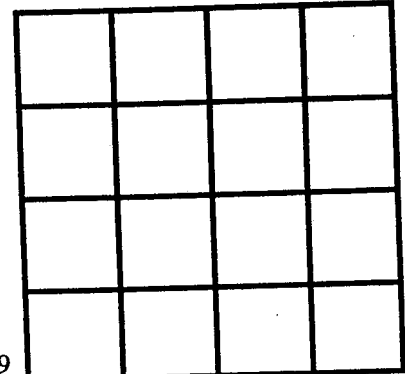

JANET GILLESPIE has been selected as the 1991 Woman of the Year by the Inde-Spring Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

Two bands fare well at national festival

Two Clarkston High School instrumental music groups performed well in a national festival April 16 in St. Louis, Mo.

The CHS Symphonic Band earned a Superior rating, and the CHS Wind Ensemble earned an Excellent rating from a panel of nationally recognized experts at the National Adjudicators Invitational Festival at the Keil Opera House.

In addition to the ratings, the Wind Ensemble won first-place honors in its music level division, with the Symphonic Band earning second place in its respective division. Division levels were determined by music difficulty.

The festival performances were by invitation, based upon the festival ratings at local, state and district Band and Orchestra Association events; recommendations of music education colleagues; and a performance audition tape.

The Superior rating earned by the Symphonic Band qualifies for entrance in the Grand National to be held within the next two years.

Adjudicators for the event included Jack Williamson, director of bands at Central Michigan University; Jared Spears, professor of music at Arkansas State University; James Copenhaver, director of bands at University of South Carolina; and Harry Began, director of bands emeritus at the University of Illinois.

Bands participating in the festival represented Virginia, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Alabama, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Director of Clarkston's instrumental music is Cliff Chapman.

Spring concert May 21

A free spring concert May 21 shows the talent of Clarkston High School vocalists.

The "Friends Forever" concert is planned for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the CHS Kirchgessner Theatre and includes song such as "Friends" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The performance features the Fraulins, Choralaires, Varsity Concert Choir, Barbershop Ensemble, Girls Select Ensemble and Madrigal Singers.

In addition, senior members of the choirs will be honored with certificates, awards and pins. At the concert, the following awards will be given: outstanding musician, most improved musician, most valuable musician, unsung hero and a special sunshine award. In addition, someone will receive a music scholarship.

The choirs are directed by Grayce Warren.

CJH concert Thursday

The award-winning Clarkston Junior High School Symphonic Band is featured in a free spring concert Thursday, May 16.

The CJHS Symphonic Band as well as the Seventh-Grade Band and Sixth-Grade Band will perform at 7:30 p.m. at the CJHS gym.

Under the direction of Julie Mathews and Cliff Chapman, the bands will present a varied program of music, reflecting the progress and talent of the students performing.

The Symphonic Band earned a First Division Rating at the state festival at North Farmington High School Friday, May 3.

The event was sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association (MSBOA).

The CJHS Symphonic Band, comprised of eighth- and ninth-grade instrumental music students at Clarkston Junior High, qualified for entry in the state festival with the band's First Division Rating performance at the District MSBOA Band Festival March 16.

Lite snacks

Tracy King

Adults aren't the only ones that are affected by diets high in fat.

The American Heart Association says that children, too, must limit fat content to less than 30 percent of a day's total calories.

One major reason for limiting fat content in a child's diet is that the incidence of obesity in children is increasing.

Children who eat diets high in fat and cholesterol in childhood tend to carry those habits into adulthood.

Further, the AHA says it is very likely that the changes in arteries that eventually lead to heart attacks begin to develop in teen-agers.

Snacks are a major source of a child's daily fat intake.

To control the amount of fat a child consumes, the AHA offers the following snack recipes.

Apple Muffins

18 muffins

6 tablespoons oil

1/3 cup sugar

1 egg or 2 egg whites or egg substitute equivalent to one egg

1 1/2 cups skim milk

1 cup whole wheat flour

1 cup buckwheat flour

3/4 teaspoon salt

4 teaspoons baking powder

3/4 teaspoon cinnamon

1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

1 large apple, chopped

Stir together oil, sugar, egg and milk. Mix together dry ingredients.

Add liquid mixture to dry ingredients, stirring only enough to moisten the flour, then add the chopped apple.

Dip the batter into oiled 2 1/2 inch muffin tins, filling each cup two-thirds full.

Bake at 400 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

Confetti Yogurt

Six servings

3 cups mixed fresh fruit (apples, grapefruit, oranges, berries, pears, melons, bananas or fruit of your choice).

2 cups vanilla low-fat yogurt

1/4 cup sunflower seeds

Prepare fruit, then mix with yogurt. Refrigerate for at least two hours before serving. Top with sunflower seeds.

Oatmeal Carrot Bars

24 bars

1/2 cup brown sugar

1/3 cup margarine, melted

1 egg

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

3/4 cup carrots, shredded

1 cup whole wheat flour

1 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 cup oatmeal

1/4 cup wheat germ

1/2 cup raisins

In a small bowl, cream together sugar, margarine, egg and vanilla until light and fluffy. Add carrots and mix well.

In another bowl, thoroughly stir together flour, baking powder, oatmeal and wheat germ. Stir dry ingredients into the creamed mixture; fold in the raisins.

Pour mixture into a vegetable oil-sprayed 9 x 9 x 2-inch pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Let cool. Cut into bars or squares.

Pet of the Week

Big Jake energetic

Jake is a big, energetic dog and he's looking for a home.

This 9-month-old Basset hound and Rottweiler mix weighs 65 pounds. He's been neutered and his adoption fee is $35.

Due to his size, Jake isn't recommended for families with small children. He does get along with other dogs, however.

To see Jake, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Rochester Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

~Curt McAllister

JAKE, 9 months, has lots of energy.

Charter Township of Independence NOTICE OF APPROVED ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

At a regular meeting of the Township Board of the Charter Township of Independence held on May 7, 1991, the Board approved an amendment to the Township's Code of Ordinances, as follows:

SYNOPSIS OF LOITERING ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

An Ordinance to amend Chapter 8, the Criminal Code, of the Charter Township of Independence Code of Ordinances, to add a new provision with regard to loitering.

Section 1 of Ordinance

Chapter 8, Article V, Section 8-82, shall be amended by adding a new subsection (7) reading as follows:

Chapter 8 CRIMINAL CODE

ARTICLE V. OFFENSES AGAINST PUBLIC PEACE.

Section 8-82. Loitering.

It shall be unlawful for a person to stand idly, linger, or delay in movement in any public place and concurrently:

(7) remain on the premises of a concert/entertainment theater during a performance without a ticket for admission to such performance.

Section 2 of Ordinance

Except as specified above, the Charter Township of Independence Code of Ordinances will remain in full force and effect.

Section 3 of Ordinance

The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby ordered to take effect immediately upon publication in the manner prescribed by law.

The motion to approve this ordinance amendment was offered by Lutz and supported by Mercado. The vote on the motion was as follows: Ayes: Lutz, McCrary, Mercado, Ronk, Saile, Vaara. Nays: None. Absent: Travis. The motion was carried.

Respectfully Submitted,

WHO IS ON THE LORD'S side hear and understand the word of the Lord! To the churches who vainly say they know me, hear this and know! Thus saith the Lord: "You have offered unto baal these many times; and rejoice in doing evil. You continue to walk, heartily, in the imagination of an evil heart, refusing my words; and now, stiffnecked before Me and with your mouth vainly worshipping. Me giving only blemished burnt offerings and sacrifices; hating, mocking my word to obey Me from the heart. I have sent My word these many times but you foolishly reject me. Therefore I have brought evil upon you. You now stand in your fire, your fear, and your doubt! So call upon your Gods you have made, and let them save you for I will not hear! My fire is kindled in Zion, against the works of your hands; by giving you over to them. Fear and destruction will overcome you. You are given over to your enemies, you who have continually rejected My word and call good evil and evil good. Fear hath taken hold of the hypocrites in Zion! I hate sin, saith the Lord! "What difference between you and the sinner and ungodly for they also hate my word to do it?" You hate Truth! IILX19-2

CERAMIC painting captures the attention of Allison Turner during the Andersonville Elementary School Festival of Arts May 8. Students select and rotate through a variety of cultural activities throughout the day-long program.

NICHOLAS Bornhill prepares his T-shirt for the tie-die bucket during a session of Festival of the Arts May 8. The annual event at Andersonville Elementary features a variety of artistic and musical activities throughout the day, along with several special assemblies.

HEATHER Fitzgerald creates a colorful painting on a fabric T-shirt as a remembrance of this year's Festival of the Arts at Andersonville Elementary School.

VOLUNTEER Kerl Dearing assists Heaven Reinhert with construction of a woven paper basket. The annual Festival of the Arts day at Andersonville Elementary School utilizes the skills of volunteer craftspeople and musicians. Each classroom is turned into a mini workshop, which students select as part of their day's activities.

CANDY-MAKING, stenciling, quilting and a variety of other activities were all part of the fun at Andersonville Elementary School May

8. Here, (from left) Katl Schneider, Tricia Vettralno and Nathan Fletcher prepare to enjoy the fruits of their labor.
