Millage goes before residents

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The future progression of the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department could be on the line Aug. 6.

On June 4, the township board unanimously voted to conduct an operating millage election for the parks and recreation department. The millage will come before the residents Aug. 6, with the township seeking not more than one mill over five years.

Ann Conklin, director of parks and recreation, said the money would go toward the operation of the department. She said the money received from the township's general fund could then be used to supplement the development of Baycourt Park on Andersonville Road.

Maintenance of Clintonwood Park and its senior center on Clarkston Road; Sashabaw Plains Park on Maybee Road; and Deer Lake Beach on White Lake Road would also be covered under the general fund.

If a one-mill request is approved by the voters, residents would be required to pay the township $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation each year.

That means a homeowner with a $100,000 home assessed at half its market value ($50,000) would pay $50 a year to the township for parks and recreation operations.

In a past interview, Conklin stated that the parks and recreation department has grown to the point where it needs additional funding.

Millage: thumbs up

*Downs falls; Thomas re-elected;
Karlstrom, Helpern newcomers*

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston school election resulted in the demise of an incumbent and a close approval of a millage renewal.

Despite the efforts of 1,202 no voters June 10, the school's operating millage passed with 1,595 residents casting yes votes. The election also saw incumbent Durham Downs turn his four-year seat over to Kurt Karlstrom in the school board race.

Incumbent Janet R. Thomas retained her four-year seat on the board by collecting 1,314 votes. She finished second to Karlstrom's 1,471 votes, while Downs finished third with 1,224. Candidate David O'Ryan finished a distant fourth with 810 votes.

Thomas and Karlstrom will be sworn into office at the July 8 organizational meeting.

In the battle for the one-year seat, Joseph Helpern good and the bad, and I think the new members will find the defeated Carol Balzarini 1,647 to 1,086. Helpern was sworn into office by interim President Thomas Howard, shortly after the announcement of final tabulations. He will be replacing John Needham, who resigned earlier this year due to demands from his job.

Howard admitted he was relieved about the passage of the 20-mill operating millage.

"I'm gratified that it passed," he said. "It's unfortunate, however, that so many people voted against something that's a necessity in this district."

If the millage had failed, Howard said, another one would have been on the ballot in August. He said the district's finances would have only gotten the schools through half the year.

Karlstrom, excited over his victory, praised his campaign committee for its diligence prior to the election. He listed communication as his first goal in office.

"I want to open a line of communication between the board and the public," he said. "In the next month or two, I plan on meeting individually with the district's

Boy found guilty of reckless gunplay in death

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

A 14-year-old Independence Township boy has been found guilty of a lesser charge in the shooting death of a 15-year-old friend.

The Sashabaw Junior High School student was found guilty of reckless use of a firearm in the death of Carmen Blehm of High Street, Independence Township. A jury rendered the verdict June 4 before Oakland County Probate Court Judge Eugene Moore.

The teen was originally charged with involuntary manslaughter after he accidentally shot Blehm in the head

Dec. 15 in his Oakvista home. She was rushed to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital for treatment but died the next day.

Police investigators reported that the teens were alone in the home when the boy took out a .32 caliber derringer handgun, belonging to a parent. According to the boy's testimony, the gun discharged while he was playing with it, striking Blehm in the head.

The teen is presently being held at Children's Village, Pontiac, until he is sentenced by Judge Moore June 21.

A charge of reckless use of a firearm could result in anything from probation to incarceration in a juvenile facility until the boy is 19.

principals and instructors to gauge their needs."

Helpen said he was thankful toward the public for giving him the opportunity to implement his ideas.

He listed three goals that he hoped to accomplish by next year. They included designating a millage for school maintenance and transportation, publishing all school board minutes in the local newspaper and changing the debt retirement millage rate from a declining rate to a fixed rate. He said this move could help generate nearly $23 million for the schools.

On a departing note to his fellow board members and the public, Downs praised his successors but warned them of the task ahead.

"I'm disappointed in not being re-elected, but I wish the new members and the existing board all the best," Downs said. "Through my experiences with the board, I've seen the good and the bad, and I think the new members will find the problems here very real."

Parks millage next

"We're growing so quickly that the township's general fund can't keep up with our needs," she said. "This millage will help us provide better services to the community and keep up with its growing demands. If it doesn't pass, we'll be able to maintain but not expand to our public's needs."

Statistically, resident participation has more than doubled in the past three years. Parks and recreation records show that 16,598 people participated in recreation-sponsored activities in 1987. In 1990, the number rose to 34,791.

Senior citizen participation has also risen in three years. It has gone from 21,000 in 1987 to 28,000 last year.

The entire township board was optimistic about the millage and its chances of passing.

"I'm glad we'll be taking this show on the road," said Trustee Daniel Travis. "Our parks and recreation department is a tremendous asset to this community and, in terms to Baycourt Park, I'm looking forward to polishing this hidden jewel."

Waldon Woods OK'd

A 38-lot subdivision proposed for Waldon Road has been approved for construction.

On June 4, the Independence Township Board unanimously granted final plat approval for the Waldon Woods subdivision. The development is planned for the south side of Waldon Road, between Cramlane and Eastlawn.

The 19-acre site is zoned single-family residential. The project was OK'd subject to internal road plan approval by the Road Commission for Oakland County.

Diplomas have special meaning for these grads

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Tears, smiles, flowers and photographs marked graduation evening for 52 Clarkston Community Education pupils.

The June 6 ceremony filled the Clarkston High School Kirchgessner Auditorium to capacity, and cheers and tears erupted freely as students in Adult Education and STRIVE Alternative High School accepted their diplomas.

For most, the return to school meant a triumph over

"A lot of kids take their moms for granted, but she has taken the place of the father I never had. (Mom), I didn't always treat you the way I should, ... but I respect you."

many hardships. For some, the path took years to complete. A few agreed to tell their stories on graduation night.

Brenda Carlson said she had spent 22 years of frustration and hope and finally realized she "had to finish what I started long ago."

With help from her family, she was successful, and she now plans to go to college.

"I certainly have learned what discipline, hard work and stick-to-itiveness can do," she said. "Life is a continual learning experience, no matter what stage of life you're in."

She thanked her husband, Larry, for support and her son, Tim, who often prepared meals instead of going out with friends while his mother was in school.

Jennifer Conn, who burst into tears when her list of thank-yous reached community education Director Marilyn Allyn, said she appreciated the help from her fiancé, who made sure she was awake every morning and sometimes drove all the way from Fenton to give her a ride to school.

She also thanked her mother.

"A lot of kids take their moms for granted, but she has taken the place of the father I never had," said Conn.

"I didn't always treat you the way I should, ... but I respect you," she said.

Angela Runyon, who was honored at the beginning of the ceremony for holding the highest grade point average of the graduates, said she was so filled with emotion that she could not read her prepared speech.

"It's the best award I've gotten in my entire life," she said. "This is incredible."

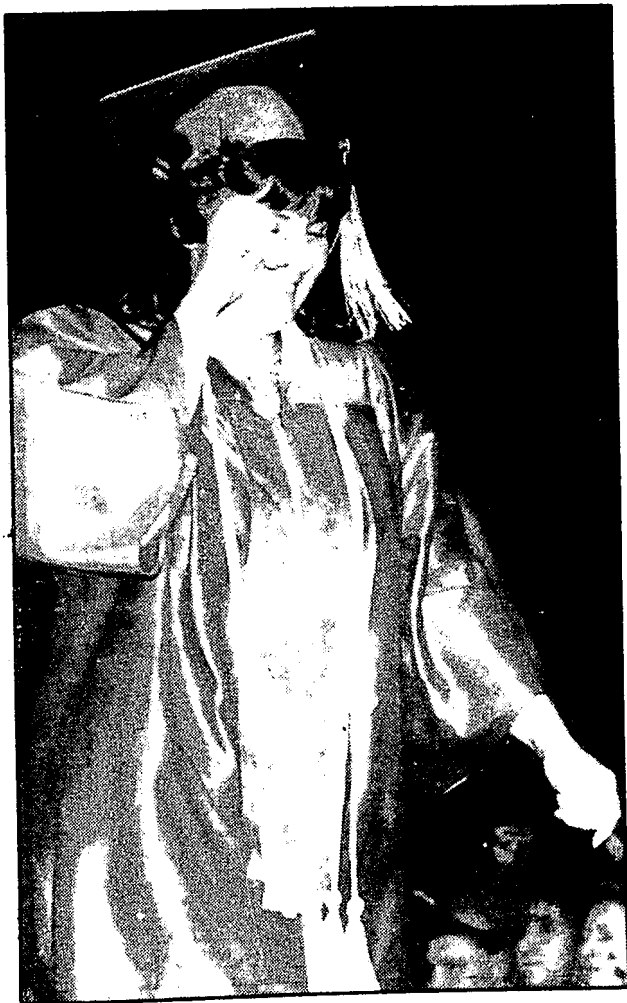

Corey Soncrainte said he owed a lot to the staff at

WHEN Jennifer Conn reaches the point in her speech where she thanks Marilyn Allyn, she bursts into tears and can't continue. She gets a little support from Beth Ford, supervisor of adult education. But eventually, Allyn reads part of Conn's speech for her.

KAREN Neubeck of Drayton Road wipes away a tear after she is awarded honors.

JAMI Lee Smith, 10 months, may not remember this evening, but his mother will. Sue Edwards received her diploma with her son in the audience.

DAN Trevithick says he plans to join the Navy and to continue his education.

STRIVE Alternative High School.

"When I first dropped out of high school, I never thought I would go back," he said.

Then he met the staff at STRIVE.

"I never thought I'd find a school where the staff cared as much," he said.

Pam Drozdowski thanked Funshine, who cared for her daughter, Nicole, while Drozdowski was taking classes. She also thanked her parents and teachers.

Reba Krepp said she had been out of school almost 10 years and could not believe that she was "up here in front of all these people."

"When I was in high school, all that mattered was having fun," she said. "I quit."

Now, she tells her third-grade daughter, "An education is something no one can take from you," and she can more easily say that now that she has her own diploma, she said.

Dan Trevithick congratulated his fellow classmates and then said, "I never thought this day would come because I was supposed to graduate six years ago. I didn't think I had to earn it — I thought I could just slide by."

However, he finally realized that he needs the diploma "to get anywhere," so he returned to school. He also has succeeded in other areas of his life.

"Today, I can proudly say ... that I've been drug and alcohol free for almost two straight years," he said. "I wouldn't get up here if I didn't have my family — they're the most important."

He also thanked the staff at community education. "They're not there (only) to do the job; they're there to be friends," he said. "I almost dropped out. ... I had so many people pushing for me that I decided to stick with it."

Jennifer Neumann said she had mixed feelings about graduating.

"I'm excited to be here, but I'm going to miss the people," she said.

She recalled her beginnings at Clarkston Community Education.

"I thought it was going to be like my former high school," she said. "I was surprised to learn that it was not just a school — it was a family."

Neumann credited her friends and staff for helping her through school. She also thanked her parents.

"You never gave up on me," she said.

Area men charged with drug ring participation

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Four men with ties to the Clarkston area have been charged in connection with an Oakland County drug ring. The quartet are among a group of 13 others suspected in a cocaine distribution ring, which spans from Michigan to Florida. On May 30 and 31, 10 of these men were arraigned in 52nd District Court, Independence Township, on charges of participating in the ring coined "The Breakfast Club."

According to Eric Kaiser, special assistant to the Michigan Attorney General, the nickname stems from the group's choice of meeting places. The suspects reportedly discussed their plans over breakfast at various restaurants in the Ortonville and Clarkston areas.

The investigation was conducted by the Southeast Michigan Conspiracy Organization, a task force comprised of federal, state and local police agencies.

Kaiser said the group is responsible for moving more than 50 kilos of cocaine into the county. He said the ring had been in operation since at least 1983, with a few members leaving and then returning over the eight-year period.

The four local men arraigned before Judge Gerald McNally include: Jimmy Dean Cooper, 57, of Clintonville Road, Independence Township; Daniel Dibble, 39, of Andersonville Road, Springfield Township; Fred Haslip, 33, of Pine Knob Lane, Independence Township; and Donald Simmons, 31, of Ortonville. Simmons attended Clarkston schools in the 1970s.

Each man has been charged with one count of conspiracy. Three of the men, excluding Haslip, have also been charged with multiple counts of delivering and manufacturing a controlled substance.

McNally set bonds at 10 percent of $50,000 for Simmons, 10 percent of $125,000 for Dibble, 10 percent of $125,000 for Haslip, and 10 percent of $125,000 for Cooper.

Each man is presently free on bond.

Due to the severity of individual charges and the quantity of cocaine the group allegedly brought into the county, each man is facing life imprisonment.

The suspects are scheduled for a preliminary examination June 11 in 52nd District Court, Clarkston.

Request to ban ticket sales denied

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Independence Township Board told a Pine Knob Music Theater official that it doesn't favor a request that would ban all independent ticket sales at the amphitheater.

On June 4, Hugh Lombardi, the head of security at the Palace of Auburn Hills and Pine Knob, asked the board to reconsider its stand on a request issued by his superiors nearly two months ago.

At the April 16 board meeting, the trustees overwhelmingly turned down a request by Palace officials to ban the sale of all tickets on the theater's grounds.

This request included people selling tickets at equal or below value.

At that meeting, several trustees said it was unfair for patrons to absorb the loss of unused tickets in the case of a cancellation. Board members turned away the request, noting that the present scalping ordinance was deterrent enough at the amphitheater.

Lombardi told the board that all sales should be banned for image and public protection purposes. He said the sight of a "ticket seller" is unappealing, and many patrons in the past have been duped by people selling fake or old tickets.

The board agreed that these are definite problems but stood fast by its previously stated opinion.

"I agree that it's low-class to see people selling tickets in the parking lot, but I have a problem with a couple or foursome selling off their extra tickets at face value or a little below," said Trustee Bruce Mercado.

Treasurer John Lutz suggested to Lombardi that the theater set up a refunding window, so people could cash in on their extra tickets. This idea was echoed by Clerk Joan McCrary and Trustee Daniel Travis.

Lombardi said he would take the idea to his supervisors.

This request could be futile, however.

Two months ago, Tom Troz, director of information, facilities and booking at Pine Knob, was quoted as saying that a refunding system was out of the question. He said the money from ticket sales are part of a contractual agreement between the facility and the artist.

As soon as a ticket is sold, Trzos said, the money is immediately dispersed among the concert's active participants.

Stone Valley receives preliminary approval

The Stone Valley subdivision is one approval away from becoming reality.

The Independence Township Board unanimously voted to grant preliminary plat approval June 4. The subdivision has been slated for the corner of Stickney and Sashabaw roads, Independence Township.

The 23-acre site is to provide 34 lots for single-family residential units. The homes will be equipped with individual wells and septic tanks.

The paving of Stickney Road to Sashabaw Road is also included in the plans. This paving project will exceed about 600 feet.

The board is to consider final plat approval at the June 18 meeting.

My father's daughter

Julie Campe

It's difficult to characterize the role my father has played in my life. Incidents spring up, unbeckoned.

One evening -- I was about 7, I think -- chaos broke out in the LePere household. If I remember correctly, I was fighting with Andrew the Horrible, as usual.

In the meantime, my mother was in the middle of a conflict with my teen-age sister, who was trying to get ready for her date, Kurt, who was standing outside, ringing the doorbell. No one went to the door, however, except our miniature schnauzer, Peaches, who yipped and yapped.

Finally, someone -- my father, maybe? -- opened the door for Kurt, who came into the living room just in time to see me burst into howling tears because Andrew the Horrible -- in a rage -- had flung my doll (who was nearly human to me) across the living room, where it somersaulted into my parents' bedroom, splitting its stomach wide open.

Stuffing spilled out. Cradling the remains of the doll, I barged into my mother and sister's argument and yelled, crying, that my doll was dead and couldn't my mother fix it?

My mother, wrapped up in some unfathomable grown-up crisis, snapped, "There's nothing I can do," and continued her "conversation" with my sister.

I was devastated.

In the living room, Peaches barked her high-pitched bark and ran circles around Kurt, who stood surveying the battle scene with wide eyes. I was embarrassed about crying in front of him but was unable to stop.

Somehow, my sister finally escaped with Kurt, and The Horrible slipped out to bug one of my brothers, and I discovered that my dad had scooped up my doll and had begun sewing it.

I stopped crying and watched.

"These are sutures," my dad told me. "She'll have a little scar, but she'll be as good as new."

Solemnly, I accepted the doll, who was, indeed, good as new -- only she would need gentle care and strict watching to make sure she did not fall into enemy hands again.

I knew all about sutures because I had developed a need for a few myself on occasion. And my dad had told me about them, though at that point I had not yet seen him stitch up real people.

I -- and my brothers -- used to beg him to let us go with him on housecalls. On the few occasions we did accompany him, he left us in the car and told us to be good, and that soon became boring.

We soon learned that the only fun times to accompany my dad were when he planned to meet a patient at the office after hours.

We could actually go inside and, every once in a while, watch him stitch up a foot or take a bug out of someone's eye.

On one occasion, I wandered in and out of the treatment room, fascinated by the procedures but leaving every time I felt woozy, which became more and more frequent until I had to stay out of the room completely.

Later in life, a friend asked what it was like growing up the child of a doctor.

I didn't know. For me, his roles of parent and physician were inseparable. As a child, I thought all fathers answered their children's cries in the middle of the night and brought home ear drops from work and explained the birds and the bees along with other bodily functions whenever the topics came up.

As a self-conscious teen-ager, I used to dread the oft-heard question: "Are you Dr. LePere's daughter?"

I take small pleasure now when people ask him, "Are you Julie Campe's father?"

Jim's Jottings

Just jotting names

I had just hit a rather decent drive off number-two hole at Indianwood Golf and Country Club when my partner said to me, "Ok, now go back and lay by your dish!" Sometimes Duane Houk is funny. Sometimes he just a pain in the dish.

I found an old note in my desk about going to lunch in Ithaca with the publisher of the Gratiot County Herald, Bob MacDonald. The note had to do with Bob's restaurant tipping habits. The waitress there told me, "Mr. MacDonald thinks tipping is a city in China!"

Marie Hiatt was telling her folks, Hazel and I about the grades she was earning at Michigan State in her sophomore year. Biology was her concern. She hadn't wanted to take it, and it's a struggle. She said, "I did get five points for giving blood, though and that'll help." That conjured up father Mickey Hiatt's imagination. He said, "Holy cow! If they'll give five points for a pint of blood, how many points can you get for a finger? If they were giving points for organ donations when I was in college I could have come out with a 4-point. Of course, I would have been anemic and wouldn't have had any skin, limbs or inter-working parts."

Former Oxford resident Suzzy Biegers had an auto accident in North Carolina. She's very thankful she had an airbag to prevent her from more serious physical harm. However, chemicals in the airbag burned through her clothes and made her face raw. I know, airbags aren't suppose to break.

Former Oxford Leader editor and public-relations man for Pontiac Schools, Clem Cleveland, stopped by last week. He was barefoot and complaining of the heat. He's been in Barrow, Alaska for a year and left 30-degree weather for 85 here. Clem's also in school public relations in Barrow and recently ordered a half-million dollars in computer equipment to bounce classroom lessons off the tundra to their five school districts. The money comes from taxes on the Alaska oil fields. Two of the schools are over 500 miles apart.

Bill Knapp's restaurants advertise "soup made from scratch." When I was a boy on the farm and was told to feed the chickens, I fed them scratch. Now then, is Bill Knapp's soup made from mixed grains, or do they mean its made from the beginning? I may find out on my next birthday when I can get 65 percent off.

When Bob Myers sold his Lapeer County Press a couple years ago, I wrote that one of my newspaper heroes was gone. Ah, thankfully, not so. He's keeping his old Royal typewriter humming. He recently obtained and printed the confidential figures on how much each community, company and carrier is being charged for dumping toxic waste in Metamora dump. Bureaucrats wouldn't release the figures, but Bob got 'em. Don't go away, Bob.

Letters to the Editor

'Mouthy Band' organized, fun

To my knowledge, I am the only member of the "Mouthy Band of Local Eccentrics" who lives on expensive lakefront property. Therefore, I assume I was the one referred to by Name Withheld by Request.

During the past 30 years or so, I've been a member of a wide variety of work groups, committees, activist groups, etc. Some were in college; some were in church; some were at Ford, and some were in the various communities in which we've lived.

Of all these groups, I can't think of one that was better organized, more dedicated or more fun than the Mouthy Band of Eccentrics mentioned so prominently in last week's Clarkston News.

In the first place, we are not against paying higher taxes to bail out our schools. What we're against is unrealistic "pie in the sky" proposals that have no basis in fact and will never be approved by voters with any intelligence.

So what are the facts? That's what we'd like to find out. Therefore, we've launched a program in which a group of us will visit each school in the district to see for ourselves the conditions that exist. Armed with a survey form we've developed, we hope to ascertain the student enrollment and teacher-student ratio for each of the last three years.

We will observe the condition of the building, both inside and outside, talk to the principal and hopefully talk to some of the teachers.

When we're done, we will send a report of our findings to each principal, the school board and The Clarkston News. The report will include recommendations that we feel would alleviate some of the problems in each school and in the system as a whole.

We've already completed our tour of the high school and have formulated some ideas about what we found. And (hold onto your hats) some of these ideas would involve a tax increase.

And we're certain that when we visit the other schools next fall, we'll have other recommendations that will involve a tax increase also. But not $85 million worth, and only enough to solve the district's most basic and serious problems.

Now, back to our group for a moment. Two of us are planning to relocate outside of Michigan in the near future. In the meantime, we could easily vote "no" on everything and let the residents of Clarkston pick up the pieces. So why don't we? Why even bother to get involved in school issues? Because we love Clarkston and the people who live here. Personally, I want to leave Clarkston the same way I found it 20 years ago, a great place to live, with excellent schools. I think it's worth the effort.

In conclusion, I'd just like to say that it was interesting to note that Name Withheld by Request followed one of the most basic principals of journalism: If you're going to write something stupid, never, ever sign your name.

Teens responsible for own actions

Since when do 15-, 16- and 17-year-olds need to be watched over at lunch?

This is in response to the field trip to Detroit by the Clarkston High School students.

Are they that immature that they can't take responsibility for their actions? They knew what the consequences would be for consuming alcoholic beverages.

Are Mommy and Dad going to be there when they drive intoxicated and end up killing someone in an accident?

No! Parents can't bail them out then. Why don't you help your children by letting them suffer the consequences for their actions today, not after school is out.

Responsibility is part of growing up, and, as parents, we all need to teach it — sometimes it hurts.

Talented parents

The teachers of North Sashabaw Elementary School would like to publicly thank our Parent Teacher Organization for another successful school year. This organization has worked extremely hard on so many activities, such as: school fair, fall fund-raiser, Santa's shop, financial support to all classrooms for extras, Science Fair, funding of field trips, playground improvement, special programs such as Detroit Opera Company's "Little Red Riding Hood," school play "Tumbleweeds," field day and many other activities.

This organization's joint efforts of giving of their time and talents have truly been appreciated by teachers and students.

'If it Fitz . . .'

That glint in the eye
may be outlawed next

Jim
Fitzgerald

My friend Ralph had a glint in his eye. I was reminded of the old saying: "I knew you when you were only a glint in your father's eye."

I quickly warned Ralph not to blink away the glint. At least not until a doctor had taken a picture of it and shown it to the woman who might gestate Ralph's glint into a person.

Ralph demanded to know whether I were federally funded. "If you are, it's against the law for you to tell me it's possible to remove a glint by blinking," he said.

I assured Ralph that no tax money has ever touched my hands incoming, only outgoing. And I advised him to have a guardian appointed for his glint.

It may be recalled that, many years ago, I wrote that some anti-abortionists were so extreme they made a guy feel guilty of murder for breaking a date. Continuing in the same facetious vein, I said I expected pro-lifers to propose pro-glint legislation, claiming life begins at perception rather than conception.

I thought I was being absurd. I didn't know what absurd was.

A few weeks ago, a Michigan judge said he would appoint a guardian for the embryo in any parental case that he handled. If, as the law allows, a 17-year-old seeking an abortion asked the judge for a waiver of the parental consent requirement, he would refuse because of the testimony of a scientist, given in a Tennessee case, that life begins at conception.

Never mind that, according to the highest court in the land, abortion is legal. Never mind that the girl may have been raped and impregnated by her father, and her mother didn't give a damn. Never mind the terrible trauma that the unwanted birth could cause the teenager. The important thing is that the embryo be adopted.

We don't want no Little Orphan Embryo 'round here. "Arf, arf," said Sandy.

Moving right along toward zenith absurdity, the Michigan Senate has proposed that doctors must show photographs of developing fetuses to all women seeking nonemergency abortions. If this proposal becomes law, doctors would be required to try to scare women with descriptions of the alleged medical and psychological risks of abortion, and refer them to advocates of "abortion alternatives," most often called birth.

The premise of this absurd legislation is that all women are dumb as dirt. So dumb they don't realize most legislators are men, and if men had babies, abortion pills would be sold in vending machines for 25 cents a dozen.

Finally, at the tip-top of the absurdity list, there is the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling that family-planning clinics that accept federal money can't even whisper the word "abortion" to clients.

That means if a woman is employed by the State of Michigan, she can use her government-funded insurance to pay for a doctor to give her a legal abortion. But if a woman has no job, state money can't be used to prevent her from having a child that will most likely be supported by state money. And if her doctor has 10 cents of federal subsidy in his pocket, he can tell her to go to hell, but he can't tell her where to go to learn how her unwanted pregnancy might be legally terminated.

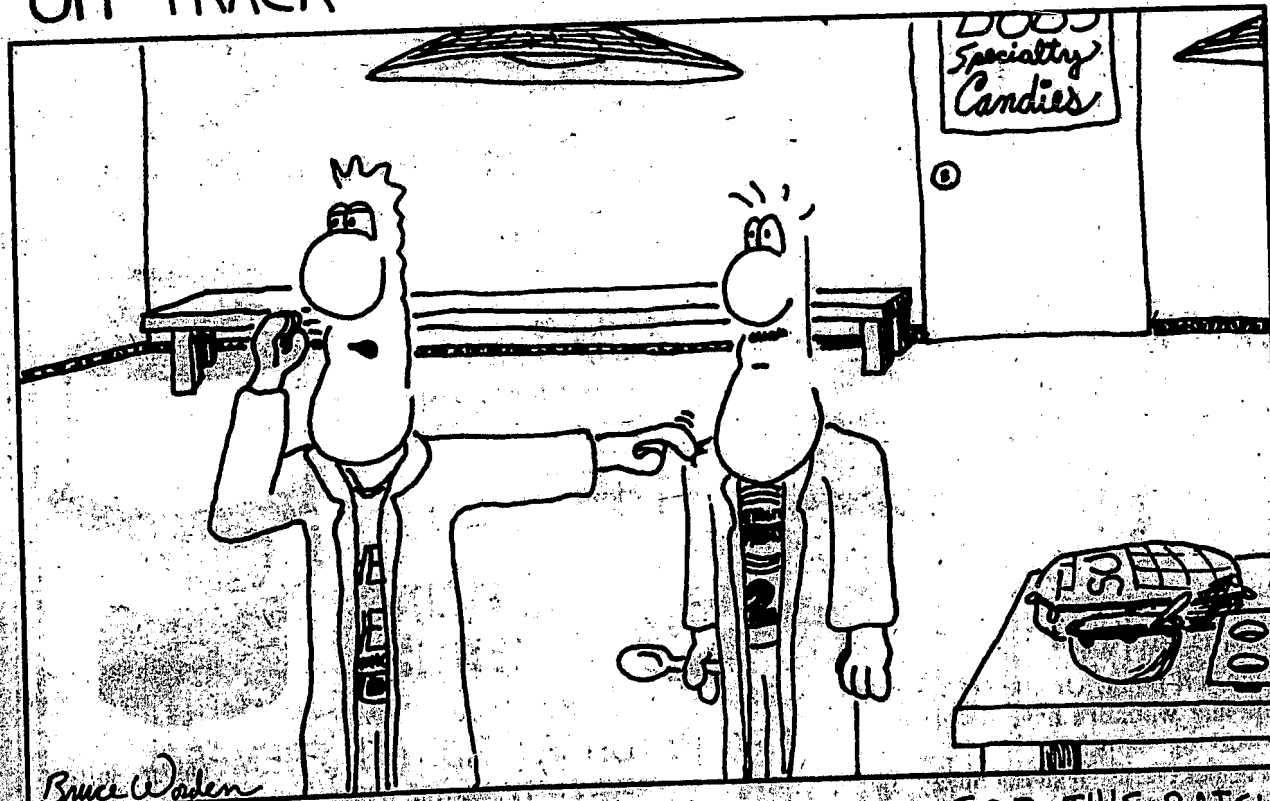

So what's so absurd about suggesting that federally funded clinics be forbidden to advise welfare fathers to rub their sore eyes, for fear of destroying glints?

My frivolous exaggerations don't mean I think there's anything funny about abortion. I worry about how close even the earliest abortion comes to killing a human being. But I also worry about how much of a woman is killed when the government uses her body to have a baby she doesn't want.

Whatever, you can be sure that abortion is here to stay, legal or not, safe or risky, no matter how incredibly absurd the anti-choice ideologues get.

So, let's get off everybody's back. Let's let a glint be our reminder to lighten up.

Merci to teacher, principal for effort

We want to thank Mrs. Carol Arend, a French teacher at Clarkston High School, and Dr. Robert Burek, the principal at Clarkston High School, for giving our son, Michael, the opportunity to attend their year French class during the first hour of the 1990-91 school year at Clarkston High School.

Michael learned more verb tenses and vocabulary. He was also able to practice speaking French this year. Mrs. Arend encouraged Michael and included him in all class activities. We point with pride to the willingness of Mrs. Arend to spend both her time and effort for our son. She is certainly a very outstanding teacher.

This year, Michael especially enjoyed reading "Le Petit Prince" by Antoine de Saint-Exupery in French. Michael liked both the author's style and philosophy. The class discussions not only increased his level of French, but also helped his awareness of the adult world.

Merci beaucoup a Mrs. Carol Arend et Dr. Robert Burek pour la classe francaise. Ils son fantastic. Son oncle, sa tante, sa cousine, et son cousin vont arriver a les Etats-Unis de la France cette etc. Michel va parler francais avec eux.

Community values history, children

Recently, our third-graders from Clarkston Elementary went on our infamous Community Walk as a culminating activity to our history lessons on Clarkston. The community opened its arms and made history come alive for our kids. Thank you.

Supervisor Frank Ronk told our kids about our community then and now. The kids were invited to sit in the Annex behind the township hall and could visualize what a town meeting must be like.

The antique store invites us in and gave us some history via antiques and treated all the kids with a candy stick.

The owner of the country store told us a little history on The Clarkston News building and invited us down to the "basement" — crawl space, dirt floor and all (kids thought it was awesome).

Ivan at the music conservatory invited in a group of kids and gave them a history lesson as well — and gave them a keepsake, a beautiful tin box full of history.

Mrs. Mauti invited some groups back to see her beautiful flower and vegetable gardens. Mrs. Hudson invited Shaun's class into her historic home. Mr. Ormiston, Mrs. Erskine, Mrs. Zeile, Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Lin talked with our kids at their homes. The kids got to meet our previous supervisor, Mr. Smith, watering his lawn.

This is all very special because the only person who knew we were coming was Mr. Ronk and the workers at the township hall. The businesses and people of the community demonstrated what value this fine community has on history and most of all the value they have on our young people.

Thanks for helping us keep our kids' curiosity alive.

Starry, starry day

Sandy Boggemes and Peggy Strutz deserve many thanks for their endless hours of work on our Reach for the Stars Day for third-graders at Clarkston Elementary School. The day was incredible, full of meaningful educational events.

Fifteen parents served as presenters. They gave a mini-history lesson on 10 famous people and had a follow-up activity directly related to their famous person.

A special thanks to Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Manojlovich, Mrs. Stein, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Breen, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. Ginn, Mrs. Weber, Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Forton, Mrs. Olinger, Mrs. Hosler, Mrs. Kamischke, Mrs. James, and Mrs. Prudhomme.

We also had lots of moms who baked "star cookies" for the kids' break times. Mrs. James, Mrs. Weber, Mrs. Szykula and Mrs. Denstaedt helped serve the cookies and lemonade to the kids.

The third-grade teachers had a follow-up quiz game on Florence Nightingale, Steve Yzerman, Orville and Wilbur Wright, Jacques Cousteau, Walt Disney, Lady Bird Johnson, Rachel Carson, Picasso, Helen Keller and J.F. Kennedy. It became very clear what a wealth of information the kids had learned.

A special thanks to the company that planned a super activity of aerobics, obstacle courses and games. This was the follow-up activity for J.F. Kennedy's lesson, in which the kids were informed about the president's physical fitness tests. The company did a fantastic job.

Also, the Independence Township Fire Department brought out their Smoke House that simulates what the kids should do in case of a real fire. This great hands-on experience will leave an impression on their lives and possibly save lives.

Thanks, Sandy and Peggy. Our kids learned lots while having fun, and best of all they felt like real stars.

Our kids are special, and we got such pleasure out of our kids getting the lessons and learning how much adults are willing to help them. The students, as usual, were polite, grateful and just plain great to be around.

Operation Earth great, with help

The third-graders at Clarkston Elementary School did an extensive unit on our earth and its environment. We call it Operation Earth.

Thanks to all the moms who baked goodies for our Operation Earth Bake Sale. It made $450.

A special thanks to Mr. Theisen, the general manager of an area greenhouse and garden store, for giving our kids a real deal. Mr. Stein from the same store (and Donnie's dad) picked out six great trees. He and his workers planted them for our kids and explained how to take care of our trees.

All the kids from Clarkston Elementary have an invested interest — they bought the baked goods. Last year, we bought trees during our Operation Earth unit, and one day soon our kids will have the shade they need and deserve. We are already enjoying their beauty. Thanks, Mr. Theisen and Mr. Stein.

Also, Independence Township, through a grant, helped us by arranging a field trip to Eagle Valley Landfill. It was an incredible experience, and we want Vince Paris and Carol Lippencott to know how much we gained from their valuable input. Thank you.

Meanwhile, don't be surprised that our little "environmentalists" will be reminding people to recycle, reduce, reuse and compost.

War stories to education: memorable experience

BY KRISTIN WHISNER

"Hey, EC! How are you?" someone said behind me. "Hi!" I said, giving back a playful glare. "I'm fine." EC is a nickname I recently required after giving my fellow cast members a two-hour presentation on the ins and outs of the European Community to prepare them for a symposium on 1992. It was one of the projects I encountered when I took on an internship with the Education Department of Up With People, and I don't think I will ever live it down.

Not only have I received a new name, but I am jokingly asked to give an opinion on how any topic is affected by EC 1992. I have also been given gag gifts, such as an EC deck of cards and EC felt-tip pens. So, as you can see, being an intern has its moments, and, looking back on it, I wouldn't trade it for the world.

As an intern, one of my responsibilities was planning educational opportunities in the upcoming cities in coordination with the needs of the other departments, then taking necessary action to see it through.

I also managed an education crew of 13 people who were in charge of creating a positive cast community. Together, we planned news briefings, theme days, cultural dinners, a cast party and regular environment booths for the audience and the cast.

I was also responsible for thorough communication to the PR teams going out, to help them prepare for any special needs we might have. Later on in my job, I got the chance to "test my wings" when the education coordinator left for three weeks on a special Czechoslovakian tour. During this time, I was able to take complete responsibility for the Education Department and act on her behalf.

Unknown to most people, many educational opportunities are available in Up With People. These experiences are formal and informal and range from guest speakers and internships to international cast members, study groups and host families. For each cast member to gain from these opportunities, it's important that they're self-directed learners.

My host "mom" and I were watching the CNN coverage of the Gulf War on television, and, as the bombs were exploding, I saw her involuntarily flinch.

Internships such as mine are offered in every department. For instance, there are jobs in lighting, sound, finance, admissions, promotion, dance, vocals and many other areas. Each internship lasts six weeks (although mine was an exception, running 12 weeks), and they are chosen on the basis of application. Throughout the year, each student is allowed to complete an internship with the exception of promotion, which can be repeated several times. The goal of the internship is to eventually reach a point where the intern can completely do the staff member's job, and many interns go on to work for Up With People later on.

Throughout the year, Up With People sponsors many guest speakers for us to receive more in-depth information on specific topics relevant to the area we are traveling in. For instance, in the Netherlands we had a symposium on the European Community and speakers on the Dutch Red Cross and the dikes that control the water level during sea storms. We also have presentations by cast members on their cultures, as well as on areas of expertise that they may have.

Occasionally, study groups will form in which a small group of people will leave the cast to do a special study. So far this year, there have been study groups to Brussels to study the EC, to a Dutch monastery to experience their lifestyle, to a deaf institute, to New York to study AIDS, to Quebec, and to Maine to complete a weekend outward-bound excursion.

Being in Europe during the Gulf War opened up the doors for more in-depth discussion with our host families on war and other world issues. In one of the cities we visited in Germany, I had a unique experience — my host "mom" and I were watching the CNN coverage of the Gulf War on television, and, as the bombs were exploding, I saw her involuntarily flinch.

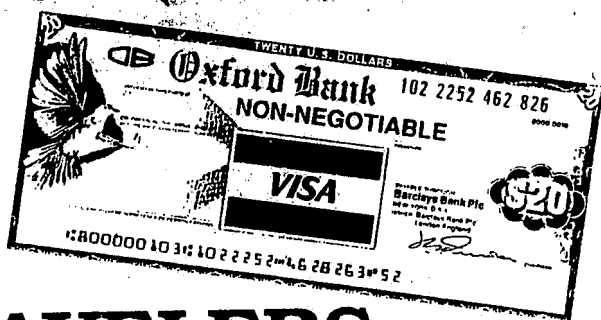

Seeing that I was noticing this, she began to tell me about her experience as a teen-ager during World War II. Her father had manufactured gold coins and was sewing them in the linings of clothes to help the Jewish people escape. Consequently, he was arrested by the Gestapo, and Giesla and her family were sent to a camp.

She went on to tell me about her experience in the refugee camps later supervised by the American and British soldiers. Three hours later, at 2 in the morning, I stumbled down to bed to get a short night's sleep. It's at moments like these when I wish I had a tape recorder to record every word, but I tried to capture everything in my journal as best I could.

As you can see, the opportunities to learn are endless and also very individual. Some people learned a new language, and others the technical aspects of the mixer. Personally, I feel I gained a lot from internships in promotion and education, my host families and my experiences in community involvement. Through them, I learned to be more flexible and open and to work in a constantly changing environment.

Kristin Whisner of Independence Township returned to the United States on May 8 after a four-month tour of Europe with the rest of her Up With People cast. Their stay in the United States was short, however, as they left June 2 for a month-long tour of Panama. The cast's final performance will be July 7 in Dallas, Texas.

Boosters to build team building for CHS athletes

BY CURT MCAILLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Clarkston High School athletes will have a "team building" next fall, courtesy of the Clarkston Athletic Boosters.

On June 10, the Clarkston Board of Education voted to allow the boosters to build a 25' x 110' facility at the south end of the football field.

The building is to include two ticket booths, a trainer's room, an official's room, and two team rooms.

The team rooms will include bathroom facilities but not showers or lockers.

The structure is to be used during activities that occur on the football field or track, so teams won't need to return to high school lockerrooms or buses during intermissions.

The building will be used by boys' and girls' athletic teams.

Patterned after a similar building at Howell High School, the facility will cost about $20,000. The boosters have pledged to raise the money and build the facility. Booster President Dwight Spiker said his organization should have the money raised in four to five weeks, with construction beginning in the middle of July.

Trudy Locher, publicity chairwoman for the boosters, said her organization is already looking for donations.

"We're going to target people in the community who are willing to donate something," she said.

Spiker said the building should be completed by the middle of August.

Varsity football coach Gordie Richardson said he isn't about to look a gift horse in the mouth.

"If someone is going to give us the facility, it's hard to say 'no,'" he said.

Depot Park concert schedule announced

Free concerts in Clarkston's Depot Park have been expanded by one this year.

Sponsored by the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce, the concerts in the village park run 7-9 p.m. on Fridays in July. For the first time, a concert also will be offered on Friday, June 28.

Concert-goers also may purchase refreshments from community groups during the concert, though one night still is open if any community group would like to use it as a fund-raiser, said Chairman Donald Brose.

So far, refreshment hosts scheduled include the Clarkston Area Optimist Club, Clarkston Educational Foundation, Clarkston Band Boosters and Lighthouse-North.

The concerts are free; however, donations are accepted by mail: Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce, Concert Fund, 5897 Dixie Highway, Clarkston, MI 48346.

The concert schedule this year includes:

June 28 — Executives Big Band

July 5 — The Pontiac Play Boys (Dixieland)

July 12 — Russ Simonson Quintet (Jazz)

July 19 — Auto City Banjo

July 26 — Metropolitan Jazz Orchestra

Pumped up and airing out

BRANDON Myers, 5, finds the Davisburg Mill Pond a good place to use his energy on Saturday, June 8. The Wayne resident, who was visiting his Aunt Charlotte Greve of Andersonville Road, Springfield Township, found that he enjoyed climbing and jumping off a concrete cylinder almost as much as he enjoyed swimming. Brandon easily made friends with children at the park by asking such questions as "When's your birthday? How old are you? How do you climb this thing?" He also introduced himself to adults. He asked the father of a toddler, "Are you his grandfather?" (Photo by Julie Campe)

Country Club of North construction to begin

Construction for the first phase of the Country Club of the North has been given the green light by the Independence Township Board.

The board voted unanimously June 4 to allow first-phase construction of the 800-acre site to begin.

The first phase includes building two 18-hole golf courses near the intersection of Clintonville and Waldon roads and cutting out nearby entrance roads. This phase is expected to take two years to complete.

Straddling Independence and Orion townships, the land has been set aside for the two golf courses, a club house and about 250 residential units. The entire project will take about a decade to complete.

About 600 trees are expected to be removed or cut down during the various construction phases. However, the project's attorney, John Carlin, said the developer will probably replace twice that number by the time the project is finished.

According to Carlin, first-phase construction will take place 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. five or six days a week.

Library furnishings approved by board

With the construction of the 16,000-square-foot library addition now underway, the Independence Township Board has invested in some top-of-the-line furnishings.

On June 4, the board unanimously approved of two companies to furnish the interior of the revamped library. The cost of both packages combined is $310,232. They were recommended to the board by project architect, TMP Associates, Inc.

Office Pavillion was selected over 11 other bidders to furnish the library with various office accessories such as desks, filing cabinets and movable, partitioned walls. The cost of that package is $206,448.

Library Design Associates was chosen to equip the library with specialty equipment such as stacked shelves, card catalogs and furniture for patrons. That package's cost is $103,784.

The library is expected to be completed by fall.

AIR CONDITIONING TIP

When its 90° in June and the cotton wood fuzz is falling like snow in January, it is affecting the operation, efficiency and life of your air conditioner.

Because of the design and operation of air conditioners, a lot of air is drawn or forced through a coil called the condenser. When the condenser is clean, normal heat transfer takes place. When the condenser gets dirty with dust, leaves, grass clippings or cotton wood fuzz, the flow of air through the coil can get restricted.

When air flow is restricted, your air conditioner has to work harder, operation costs go up and major failures often occur.

Refer to your operational manual for suggested maintenance on the air conditioner or call a local qualified air conditioning contractor to perform this and other important maintenance and service operations.

One of these days ...

MOST drivers leaving Independence Township and entering Orion Township have noticed the signs commemorating the Lake Orion Dragons' 1990 Class A wrestling state championship. But when will drivers entering Independence Township see the signs commemorating the Clarkston Wolves' 1991 Class A wrestling state championship? Only Independence Township officials know the answer to that one. (Embellishment of photo by James Gibowski)

Roeser, Michelson chosen for senior athletic awards

Carrie Roeser and Damon Michelson have been chosen as Clarkston High School's 1990-91 Senior Athlete Award winners.

The awards were announced June 10 at the senior honors' award banquet. The selections were reached by a vote of the Clarkston coaches.

Roeser, who last weekend finished third in the 800-meter run at Midwest Meet of Champions in Indianapolis, competed in three sports for the Wolves.

In the fall, she was a starter on the varsity girls' basketball team. Coach Larry Mahrie described her as the team's best defensive player.

Roeser was an honorable mention all-state skier during the winter season.

This spring, she broke the school's record in the 800 run (2:18.4). She is also a part of a record-holding 3200 relay team (9:22.6).

Michelson won the 171-pound individual wrestling Class A state championship this winter and a week later the co-captain joined his teammates in winning the team state championship.

He recently received a three-quarters full scholarship to wrestle at the University of North Carolina.

Michelson was also an All-Greater Oakland Activities League football player, often leading his team in tackles last fall.

All-star Juzysta will play at Tiger Stadium July 2

Clarkston senior Kevin Juzysta will soon have something in common with Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Al Kaline, Hank Aaron, Joe DiMaggio and Jose Canseco.

Juzysta will be playing on the out-field grass of Tiger Stadium in a July 2 high school all-star baseball game.

The 10th annual East vs. West game begins in Detroit at 11 a.m.

Juzysta was selected as one of the elite players because he hit .524 this season, breaking the school's batting average record.

Juzysta isn't the first Wolf who has ever played for the East squad. Steve Tungate, who broke the consecutive-game hitting streak record for Oakland University this spring, played in the all-star game in 1988.

Football coach needed

A football coach is needed at Clarkston Junior High School.

Clarkston Athletic Director Paul Tungate said applications will be taken for the ninth-grade Wolverine coaching position until July 1.

For more information, call Tungate at 625-0906.

Officials urged to register

It's official.

Individuals interested in becoming a high school athletic game official for the 1991-92 school year may now register with the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

From now until July 1, the majority of the over 10,000 game officials in 11 sports will submit their application. The July date is an important one, as it is the deadline for officials who wish to be listed in the MHSAA's annual directory.

While early registration is promoted heavily, new officials are free to register with the MHSAA anytime during the year. MHSAA registration fees are among the lowest in the nation. Five dollars is charged for each sport an official wishes to work, and the processing fee is $15.

Previously registered officials will be assessed a $10 late fee for registration after July 1. The processing fee includes liability insurance coverage of up to $1 million for officials while working MHSAA contests.

For more information, contact the MHSAA at 1019 Trowbridge Rd., East Lansing, MI 48823 (517) 332-5046.

DAN Fitzgerald is looking forward to his first season as the Clarkston varsity boys' soccer coach.

New soccer coach will begin season emphasizing defense

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Dan Fitzgerald likes a challenge. In fact, that's one of the reasons why he jumped at the chance to be the new boys' soccer coach at Clarkston this fall.

Fitzgerald replaces Neil Granlund, who built the team from scratch when he first formed the team eight years ago.

The new coach will inherit a varsity team which finished below .500 and was known by some opponents as playing an overly-aggressive style of soccer.

Fitzgerald said the 1991 edition of the Wolves will be aggressive but will not play "hack" soccer.

"None of that is going to happen," said Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald said there is "obviously some talent" returning from the varsity and also is aware that last fall's JV squad finished undefeated.

He has already met briefly with many of the players who will be trying out this year and he liked what he saw.

"They seemed anxious," said Fitzgerald, who works in customer service for the American Distribution System when he is not coaching or playing soccer.

Fitzgerald said he doesn't yet know which type of offense or defense the team will run.

"I can't decide the format until I see the talent," said Fitzgerald.

But the coach said he will immediately emphasis defense.

"I don't like to give up a lot of goals," said the coach.

From what Fitzgerald knows about the Greater Oakland Activities League, he pointed out, "That's a league we can be competitive in."

Fitzgerald graduated from North High School in Granite, Ill. in 1979, earning four varsity letters in soccer as well as being all-state his senior year.

He then became a four-year starter for Oakland University, which reached the national semifinals in 1982-83.

After college, Fitzgerald played on some top-notch clubs and then started his coaching career at Oxford High School, coaching the varsity there in 1984.

In 1985-86, he coached the Rochester High School varsity team.

He left Rochester to be the assistant men's soccer coach at Oakland University from 1987-89.

He stopped coaching in college because of job commitments, but since 1987 he has been involved in the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association, coaching Olympic-caliber players.

Clarkston Athletic Director Paul Tungate said he hired the new coach not only because he was impressed with Fitzgerald's resume, but that, "He can work well with kids."

That's difficult to display on paper in a resume, but it will be more easily seen on the soccer fields this fall.

Spaniard's net game earns co-MVP title

BY BOBBY BRAZIER
Clarkston News Special Writer

Walking through the halls on the first day of school is hard enough for new students.

Last fall, Alex Garayo was walking in from another country.

Alex was not satisfied with his English, and to make matters worse, he didn't know anyone at Clarkston High School. But through his intelligence, personality and sense of humor, Alex has adapted quite nicely to our culture.

Being involved in soccer and tennis while taking such classes as AP physics, AP calculus, chemistry and modern literature would be an overload schedule for most students. But Alex, who graduated June 12, somehow maintained a 3.2 grade point average.

Alex, whose host family consists of Bill, Debbie, Leigh and Kristie Reuter, is the son of Alejandro Garayo and Merche Corta in his native Spain. Alex also has one brother, Nacho, 19.

Alex was fortunate to meet another exchange student, Peter Irbblad of Sweden. This gave him an opportunity to do more activities, such as one of his favorite hobbies, cycling. He also loves to play basketball.

Clarkston has advantages and disadvantages to Alex. He likes the fact that anyone can play more than one sport. In Spain, Alex could only play soccer. He also loved to attend the basketball games.

"The basketball games, they were good," said Alex of Clarkston's impressive 22-1 basketball season. "I like football, too, but the basketball was more exciting."

However, at the top of Alex's list was the pizza. He thinks it is better and says it is cheaper.

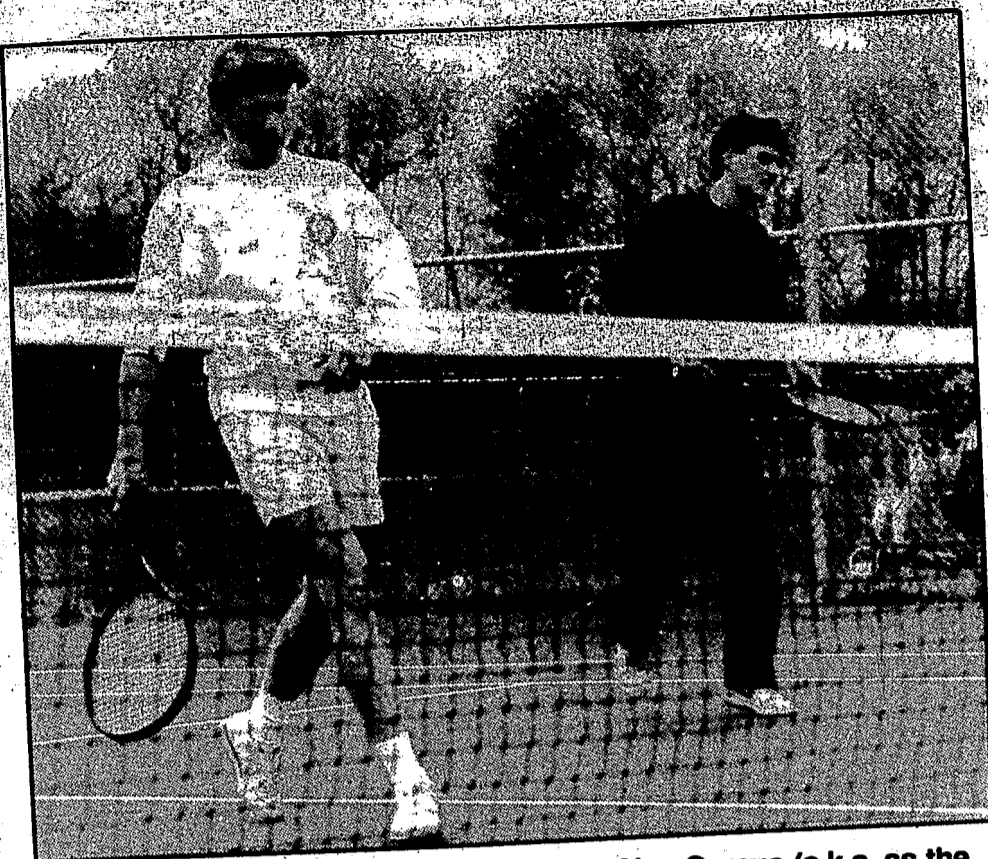

To Alex, there were few disadvantages, but he does think the weekends are better in Spain. He lives in the city back home and in the country here. So, for him that took a lot of getting used to.

"Here, when you have to go to the mall ... it's like 20 or 30 minutes. When you live in the city, everything's within five," said Alex.

Alex played varsity tennis this spring and achieved the best record on the tea while playing No. 1 and No. 2 doubles. He was also voted co-Most Valuable Player.

Alex says what he misses most are "My family, my friends and my motorcycle."

Alex will be returning soon to Spain, but someday he would enjoy coming back to Clarkston for a summer.

HOLLAND'S Maarten Cense and Spain's Alex Garayo (a.k.a. as the "European Connection") teamed up to play strong No. 2 doubles for Clarkston this spring.

DNR to investigate metal traces in landfill

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Officials with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) intend to investigate metal traces found in the groundwater around the Powell Landfill.

Sub granted final plat approval

The second phase of the Independence Valley development has been approved by the Independence Township Board.

The board unanimously granted final plat approval June 4. This approval paves the way for the petitioner, the Ylvisaker Investment Co., Pontiac, to begin construction on the 31-lot addition.

The second phase is planned for the east side of the Pine Knob Road and Sashabaw Road intersection. Zoned suburban farm residential, it's next to Independence Valley's first phase. The initial phase has 13 lots, which were approved by the board in 1988.

Two more phases are planned for the surrounding land, owned by the investment company. The overall project is to include a 54 residential lots.

I-75 study scheduled

The northern Oakland County I-75 corridor study will be discussed at an open house meeting June 26 at Pine Knob Elementary School from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The meeting is the third in a series sponsored by the Michigan Department of Transportation. It will focus on the impacts of the four alternatives discussed at the Feb. 12 meeting.

MDOT staff plus representatives from the study's consulting firm, Schimpeler Corradino Associates, will be present to meet with interested area residents.

For more information, call Philip Chisholm at (517) 373-9534.

The metal traces were just a few of the contaminants discovered through tests conducted by the DNR over the past three months. The tests were conducted by installing seven monitor wells around the perimeter of the closed Clarkston Road landfill. The results were released late last week.

The tests did not show, however, in which directions the contaminants were heading; and they did not pinpoint the source of the contaminants.

The landfill was created in the 1940s and closed in 1978. The DNR reportedly shut down the site because of insufficient topsoil covering and an inadequate compaction of dumped materials.

According to Kurt Martin, project director for the East Michigan Environmental Action Council, the metals were identified as arsenic, lead and cadmium. He said traces of ammonia and freon compounds were also found through testing.

Overall, Martin said he wasn't surprised by what was found in the tests.

"The metals weren't a big surprise, but we'll have to wait and see how extensive the damage is," he said. "There's some pretty nasty stuff in that dump, and the wells in town are a pretty serious indicator."

Martin was referring to residents along Main Street, Perry Lake Road and Northview Drive who have been forced to hook into municipal water lines due to contamination of their wells.

Lisa Scarpelli, a geologist and project manager with the DNR, said the tests were conducted for two purposes. These purposes include: verification that the Powell Landfill is responsible for the area's well contamination and finding out the directional flow of groundwater from the site.

She said these factors will become more evident in the second phase of the testing, which should be completed by the fall. She said this initial phase was to identify some of the contaminants in the site's surrounding groundwater.

"The concentration of metals were a little higher than normal. ... The findings could be anything from a rusted radiator to a natural source."

Substances tested for and not found included sulfur compounds, pesticides and PCB. About 10 contaminants were searched for during the monitoring process.

After the second phase is completed, a DNR consultant will be asked to recommend alternatives for remediation of the site. Martin said $150,000 has already been set aside for cleanup purposes. The financing came from the DNR's "quality of life" bond program, which helps pay for such matters when the primary operators refuse responsibility.

The average cost of remediating a landfill usually runs between $20 million and $100 million.

Like Martin, Scarpelli said nothing struck her as extraordinary in the initial test results.

"Overall, the tests were what we expected," she said. "The concentration of metals were a little higher than normal, but our field analysts will be checking this out over the next month. The findings could be anything from a rusted radiator to a natural source."

Kristy DePouw of Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township; Barb Hole of Rose Township; Jennifer Kirk of Bloomfield Hills; and Christine Neadow of Orion Township.

The women have fun with their name. Most often, they refer to themselves as "Material Girls," but sometimes they use "Crazy Quilters." (Photo by Julie Campe)

Material Girls' skill helps Red Cross

Women blend old with new to produce patriotic crazy quilt

BY DEBORAH WILSON

A three-hour class turned into a passion for crafty Orion resident Christine Neadow and her friends.

Neadow, who lives in the historic "Penny Mansion" on Lake Orion, enjoys putting fabric scraps together into squares, wall hangings, pillows and quilts.

It all began when she and Ginny Beeckman of Independence Township and Peggy Bruni of Clarkston took a quilting class from Independence Township resident Arlene Dettore.

The women enjoyed it so much that they — and a few others — began to meet once a week to practice their craft — much like the old-fashioned quilting bees.

These women, however, are not traditional quilters. Instead they have revived the craft of crazy quilting.

Crazy quilts are squares of fabric, with little rhyme or reason, that are stitched together in a hodgepodge manner. Unlike traditional quilts, which follow exact piecing patterns and often duplicate flowers, crazy quilts have no design.

Kristy DePouw of Rattalee Lake Road, Springfield Township, said two stories are behind the name.

One story is that women in insane asylums were given scraps of fabric to sew into blankets. They weren't allowed to have scissors, so they ripped the fabric scraps.

The other legend holds that pioneer women made blankets and items of clothing from whatever pieces of fabric that were available.

DePouw tends to believe the first legend as it lends itself to the name "crazy quilt."

The crazy quilts of today are not so abstract. Although the fabric is still torn rather than cut, today's crazy quilters do follow some sort of design. The edges of the scraps are folded over, and the pieces are joined by embroidery stitches. The colorful threads and variety of stitches enhance the beauty and add to the individual appearance of each quilt.

Look carefully at any crazy quilt, and you will find a spider stitched into it. According to Neadow, the spider is meant to bring good luck to the owner. The crazy quilters ensure the continuity of this tradition in each quilt, square or pillow they make.

Reflections Section 2

The Clarkston News

Wednesday, June 12, 1991

The group, whose members jokingly call themselves the "Material Girls Club," includes Neadow, Beeckman, Bruni, DePouw, Dettore, Rogene VanFleteren of Independence Township, Barb Hole of Rose Township, Jennifer Kirk of Bloomfield Hills, Peggy Gilson of West Bloomfield and her twin sister Patsy O'Rielly of Dearborn.

Working independently during the week and together once a week, the Material Girls recently completed a Desert Storm crazy quilt. The nine squares are made from shades of red, white and blue fabric and represent a feeling of pride and patriotism — and even a little anti-war sentiment from one quilter.

The women personalized each square. A U.S. Navy patch, Desert Storm patch, flag, dates of the war, the quilters' names and patriotic mottos are just some of the colorful designs embroidered into the fabric.

The quilters plan to sell their creation through a June 22 silent auction and will raise funds for the American Red Cross.

"When we started this, it was the middle of the war," Neadow said. "There are a lot of servicemen still over there. The money is to stay local to help families with members in the Gulf."

The Desert Storm quilt will be displayed at area businesses, including Calcote Country on Main Street, Clarkston, where silent auction bids may be made. It also will visit the Orion branch of the Oxford Bank and quilter Jennifer Kirk's store, The Pastry Den and Collectibles at the Fox and Hounds restaurant, Woodward Avenue, Bloomfield Hills.

Other locations are not yet definite. The Material Girls plan to complete the auction tour by the June 22 silent auction final bid day.

The group members are excited about their first joint project and are thinking about making one quilt a year. They're speculating on choosing abused children as the beneficiary of next year's project.

Now that the quilt is complete, the women are working on their own individual projects. When they meet, they discuss ideas and admire each other's accomplishments.

"It's more than sharing the quilt; we share our lives," said DePouw.

"We talk about all of our problems," said Beeckman.

"But we don't have any," said Neadow, and the group immediately burst into laughter.

Besides getting together to do something pretty and productive, they have discovered a deeper bond — friendship. The women take turns hosting the meetings and serving lunch.

It was apparent they liked being together. One week, while members worked on their squares, vacationing Beeckman called from her car phone in her motor home to check in on the group.

Crazy? No, but definitely a dedicated crazy quilter.

Student Spectacular a 'great day for the kids'

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

The Student Spectacular in May proved to be a great showcase for the talent of the community's youth, according to one organizer of the event.

"It was a great day for the kids," said William Bliesath of the Clarkston Foundation, one of the sponsoring educational foundations of the north Oakland County event at the Palace of Auburn Hills.

CLARKSTON High School musical groups sang and danced to an audience during the Student Spectacular May 18 at the Palace in Auburn Hills. Many pieces of art by Clarkston students were also on display at the event, which featured several northern Oakland County schools. (Photo by James Gibowski)

About 1,200 pieces of children's artwork were displayed, and about 1,000 children entertained with their talents. About 5,000 to 6,000 people showed up for the event, which culminated in a concert by Ricky Skaggs, said Bliesath.

"It was just a wonderful day," he said.

Community groups from the north Oakland County area helped by selling raffle tickets, for which they received a commission.

"It could have gone better financially, but we chose to give full prizes — we had $85,000 in prizes," said Bliesath. "Many groups did well, and we hope more will join next year."

"We netted $20,000, which went to local community groups," he said, noting that Clarkston Junior High School raised $1,100 by participating in the raffle ticket sale; plus, the school earned a $5,000 bonus by selling the grand prize raffle ticket.

"From our town's standpoint, it went well," said Bliesath. "Now that the grounds have been laid and people are aware, people know what you mean when you say Student Spectacular."

He said that Palace officials were helpful, as were the many volunteers who put the event together.

Bliesath said Clarkston pediatrician James O'Neill was "inspirational in getting it going."

"He's one of those who does an awful lot behind the scenes that people don't know about," Bliesath said.

QUESTION: I have just agreed to purchase a home. It is extremely important that I move in within three days after the closing date. Is there some way I can prevent the possession date from being delayed?

ANSWER: If closing is important within a certain time limit, be sure that the phrase, "time is of the essence" is inserted into the sales agreement.

If this key phrase is not included, then either the buyer or seller can delay settlement for a "reasonable" time. What may be reasonable for one party may be unreasonable for the other. At this juncture, it may become a matter for the court to settle. Be sure to consult with your Realtor and attorney.

Industrial arts teacher 'distinguished' in field

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Often hard work and dedication are overlooked or taken for granted, but recently a Springfield Township resident was honored for his service in education.

John C. Hovis, a Pontiac Northern High School teacher, received the Paul M. Shilling Distinguished Service Award from the Michigan Industrial and Technological Education Society.

Hovis was honored for his hard work and significant contributions in promoting the goals and objectives of industrial education through service to the Society.

"It came as a big surprise," said Hovis. "I always wonder each year who will receive it. As they announce the winner, they tell a little about the person; and soon it begins to narrow down where you feel it may very well be you."

Hovis, who is a vocational-technological department head and teaches woodworking and science, has been involved in the all-volunteer society for some 20 years.

"I began teaching after graduating from Michigan State University and then joined the Society," he said. "I have found the society a great way to exchange ideas and information, which enhances our ability to train our students."

Hovis, who serves as the Society's chaplain, received the award at the May convention in Grand Rapids.

The award is presented based on the contributions an individual makes over many years. The three-member committee looks at what a person has done over the long-haul, not just one year," explained Hovis.

Hovis has held many positions in the Society, from president to resolutions committee chairman.

Hovis said the Society is helpful in his field.

"I've always felt the Society was important to the teaching of the students and have worked to see that goals and objectives of society were fulfilled," he said.

In his free time, Hovis keeps up with his daughters' athletics and is involved in his church youth group.

Hovis said he enjoys teaching, though the educational system has changed over the last 30 years.

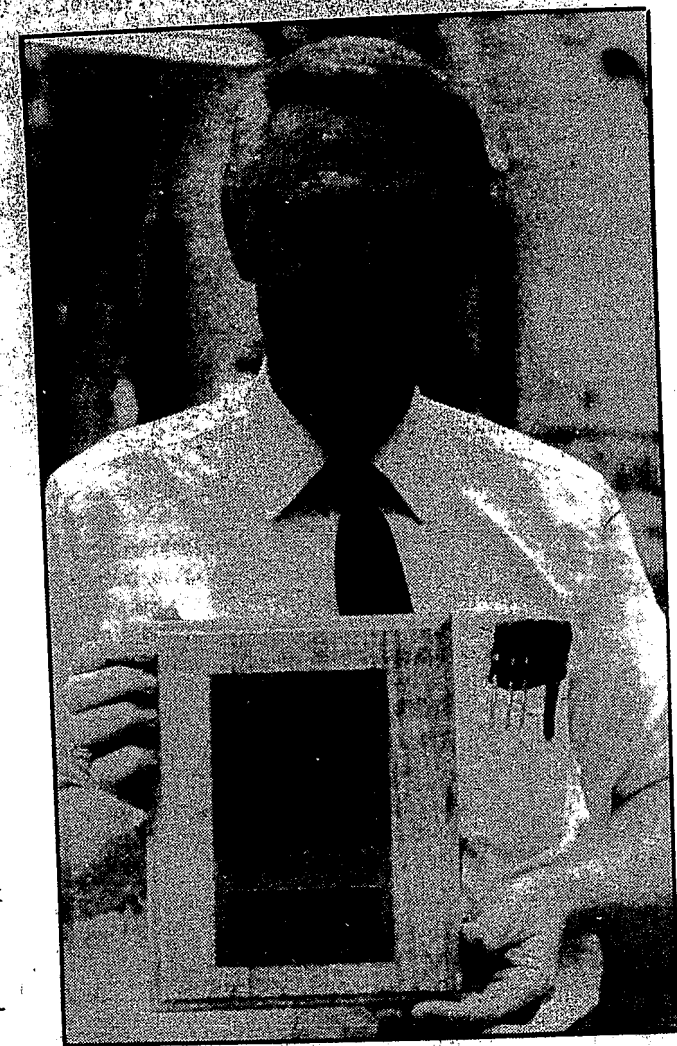

"I've seen a lot of changes over the years, and for the new teachers just coming into the system, it probably looks very tough," he said. "But since I have grown into the system, it doesn't really seem that tough."

Hovis, who began his teaching career in the army as an instructor, said he appreciates the award from the Society. He noted that awards, too, can motivate students.

"When these students receive an award, it's like an athlete receiving a letter in their sport," he said. "It helps to motivate them. It gives them something to shoot for."

According to Hovis, receiving his award was a great honor, one he will always be proud of receiving.

It also proves that hard work and dedication are not always overlooked.

JOHN C. Hovis displays the award he received at the May Michigan Industrial and Technology Education Society convention in Grand Rapids.

CHS graduate accepted by U.S. Naval Academy

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Aspirations of being a fighter pilot encouraged Ronald Gibson Jr. to pursue the U.S. Naval Academy, and now that dream is a step closer to reality.

The 18-year-old Mohawk, Independence Township, man was recently notified of his acceptance at the prestigious military school. He is scheduled to begin training in Annapolis, Md., July 9.

Gibson, presently a freshman at Michigan State University, East Lansing, is a 1990 graduate of Clarkston High School. He said his interest in the Naval Academy perked during his junior year.

"My parents had brought it to my attention, so I decided to pursue it by filling out several applications," he said.

"The thought of being a Navy pilot has always intrigued me," he added.

To graduate from Annapolis, Gibson will be required to endure four years of intense training and schooling. Only then can he contemplate his possible future as a pilot.

While at school, Gibson said he would most miss his family, friends, girlfriend Margot Coxen and his 1978 El Camino.

RONALD Gibson Jr. has been accepted by the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md. He is the son of Ronald and Joyce Gibson of Mohawk, Independence Township.

While at CHS, he was involved in a variety of activities, including National Honor Society, Blue and Gold, Student Council, D-BUG, varsity football and track. As a senior on the track team, he was a state qualifier in the pole vault.

For the past three summers, Gibson also has served as a lifeguard at Deer Lake Beach, Independence Township.

32 racers initiate pinewood derby

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The world of the Pinewood Derby racing has become more state of art over the years, with the racers more sleek, aerodynamic and faster.

On June 1, the Pioneer Club — a Christian scouting group — held its first derby with 32 racers ranging from pre-schoolers to adults rallying for awards.

The derby at the First Church of God on Clarkston

"This is for the racers to have fun. What is really important is that they enjoy the race and have a good time while they prepare the cars for the race."

Jan Oakley

Road, Independence Township, is poised to become an annual event.

Jan Oakley, the event's coordinator, said the derby went well.

"This was our first year, but I feel we had a good turnout considering all the other things going on this time of year," she said. "Next year we plan to hold the derby earlier in year around February or March. This will probably help to increase the amount of racers."

Events of this nature usually take a lot of preparation.

"I was told it usually takes about six months to put a derby together, but with the help of the adult leaders, we managed to do it in just four weeks," said Oakley. "I would really like to thank all the adult leaders who helped put this together. Without them this would not have happened."

Contestants in the derby designed, constructed and painted their own cars, then raced them.

During the derby preliminaries, three cars ran against each other in a division, with every car running once on each lane to eliminate any lane advantage. Computer scheduling ensured that each car competed against at least four other cars during the three races. Points awarded per race determined which cars advanced to the semifinals.

All racers at the derby received a certificate for "Racer Extraordinaire," "Semifinalist," or "Finalist".

According to Oakley, wins and losses are not important.

"This is for the racers to have fun. What is really important is that they enjoy the race and have a good time while they prepare the cars for the race," she said.

Awards were given in three categories: "Fastest Car," "Fastest All Divisions," and "Best Design."

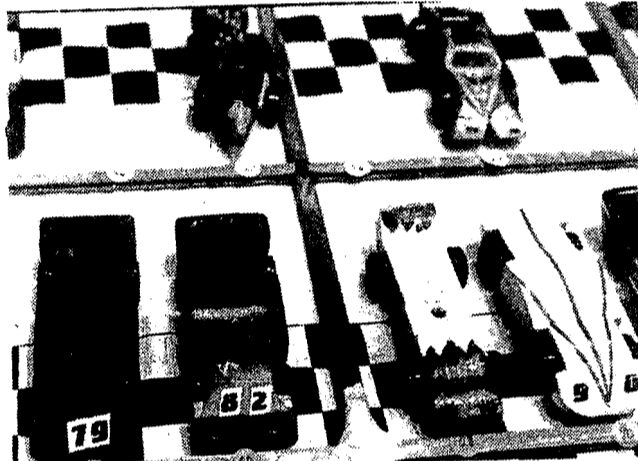

The three divisions were: Division 1, grades 1-3; Division 2, grades 4-7 and Division 3, adult leaders and all comers.

The winners were as follows:

FASTEST CAR: Division 1 - 1st place, Jessica Holman; 2nd place, Josh Ball; 3rd place, Megan Malugin. Division 2 - 1st place, Bruce Albright; 2nd place, Becky Ryser; 3rd place, Erin Malugin. Division 3 - 1st place, Pam Albright; 2nd place, Darin Banner; and 3rd place, Charlie New.

BEST DESIGN: Division 1 - 1st place, Sarah Pomeroy; 2nd place, Amanda Isham; 3rd place, Kelly Harrington; honorable mention, Megan Malugin. Division 2 - 1st place, Donavon King; 2nd place, Bruce Albright; 3rd place, Erin Malugin; honorable mention, Ryan Shaul. Division 3 - 1st place, Rev. Bonita Laude-man; 2nd place, Barry Albright; 3rd place, Pam Albright; honorable mention, Charlie New.

FIRST PLACE FASTEST CAR, ALL DIVISIONS: Jessica Holman.

PINEWOOD Derby race cars have changed over the years as can be seen by these sleek, high-tech, racers awaiting a turn at the track last week.

Remember dogs this summer

While August is the time for the traditional dog days of summer with Canis Major rising high in the evening sky, all summer can seem like dog days to the pets of careless owners.

Heat and humidity can combine to make life miserable for pets.

The Michigan Humane Society offers some helpful tips for pet owners, in the hope of averting some potentially life-threatening situations:

■ Never leave a pet in a parked vehicle. Temperatures can rise to life-threatening lives in 15 minutes or less.

■ If the pet is outdoors, be sure shade is available all day.

■ Fresh, clean water must be available at all times.

■ Exercise is best done in the early morning or late evening, when temperatures are lower and the pavement is cooler.

■ Don't over-exert puppies or kittens. They often don't know when to stop.

Many summertime injuries can be avoided with a little common sense and forethought on the part of pet caretakers.

Careful use and storage of fertilizers, pesticides and cleaning products will prevent accidental poisonings.

Pet owners who allow pets to ride in the back of pickup trucks or with their heads hanging out of car windows are taking risks with their pets' health. Infections of the eyes and ears from particles blown into them and pets injured or killed by leaping out of moving vehicles are not uncommon.

Heat can hurt pets

On a hot summer day, the air inside a car heats up quickly. On an 85-degree day, for example, the temperature inside your car — with the windows slightly opened — will reach 102 degrees in 10 minutes. In 30 minutes, it will go up to 120 degrees. On warmer days, it will go even higher.

A pet's normal body temperature is 101.5 to 102.2 degrees. A pet can withstand a body temperature of 107-108 degrees for only a short time before suffering irreparable brain damage — or even death. The superheated air in a closed car interferes with the pet's normal cooling process, that is, evaporation through panting.

If your pet is overcome by heat exhaustion, you can give immediate first aid by immersing it in cold water — and contact your veterinarian immediately.

Help wanted for camping program

A new program was established to raise funds to send disadvantaged youngsters from the Clarkston area to summer camp.

The "Help-A-Camper" program, part of Clarkston Area Youth Assistance (CAYA), was created because contributions and other sources of revenue for CAYA are down this year, according to Garry Pullins, director of CAYA.

Community groups and individuals are invited to contribute to the camping program by sending money to the Help-A-Camper program, CAYA, 6590 Middle Lake Road, Clarkston, MI 48346.

Camp Oakland charges CAYA a discount rate of $115 per camper for a full week of camping. About 60 children attend each year, which means CAYA must come up with $6,900. CAYA also hires Clarkston school buses to transport the children to Oxford and back, bringing the total cost of camp well over $7,000.

ing the total cost of camp well over $7,000.

CAYA has been using Camp Oakland for the last 25 years. Youngsters are referred by their school teachers in hope that the camping experience will provide the students the opportunity to explore, be independent, meet new friends and grow in many ways.

Camp Oakland provides such experiences as archery, nature study, fishing, boating, arts and crafts, swimming, games and sports, treasure hunts, talent shows and more.

The camping program also inspires the campers through self development, and it builds a sense of self-worth.

This summer, the camp will be helping the campers with develop skills dealing with conflict resolution and problem solving.

For more information, call CAYA at 625-9007.

Watch for signs of heat stress

Record May temperatures throughout Michigan serve as a reminder to be alert to heat stress.

Temperatures above 80 degrees, coupled with high humidity, can be dangerous, especially to the elderly, says Sue Wells, area manager for Consumers Power Co.

"We want to caution people that excessive heat can place a strain on the heart and can even cause death," says Wells.

Even without a heat wave, if you feel hot and uncomfortable, you should take steps to avoid heat stress.

Signs include: dizziness, rapid heartbeat, diarrhea, nausea, throbbing headache, dry skin (no sweating), chest pain, great weakness, mental changes, breathing problems, vomiting and cramps. If you experience some of these early warning signs, seek medical help.

The best way to avoid heat stress is to keep cool. Spend as much time as you can in cooler surroundings such as your basement, an air-conditioned mall, movie theater, library or other public building.

If you have air conditioning, it can provide lifesaving relief from heat stress, especially if you have heart disease. Even a fan, which draws cool air into your home at night and keeps the air circulating during the day, can help you keep cooler.

A cool bath or shower can provide some relief from the heat.

Your chances of getting sick in hot weather are increased by a weak or damaged heart, hypertension, problems with circulation, diabetes, a previous stroke, being overweight, infection or fever, alcoholic beverages and skin diseases or sunburn.

During hot weather, wear lightweight, light-colored, loose-fitting clothing. Wear something on your head when outdoors.

Don't wait until you're thirsty to drink. In hot weather, your body needs more water, so drink often and in reasonable amounts. Avoid too much coffee or tea; water and fruit beverages are better.

Watch what you eat. Hot foods and heavy meals just add heat to your body. Don't take salt tablets or increase your potassium intake without your doctor's permission.

Focus on positive before shopping for swimsuit

It's that time of year again — time to stand in a small, brightly lit cubicle, face a full-length mirror and try on swimsuits.

If this is not your idea of a good time, you're not alone. No matter what size or shape, most women feel anxious when it comes to trying on swimsuits.

"In our society, looking good in a swimsuit is often defined as the ultimate test for a woman to judge her body shape," says Florine Mark, area director of Weight Watchers.

"Shopping for a swimsuit forces her to face this issue, and for many it can be very discouraging. But it doesn't have to be that way," Mark says.

"The trick is to turn the experience around by building a good self-image before you shop. Focus on the positive changes you've already made in your lifestyle and your figure," she says. "This can give you the confidence you need to make swimsuit shopping fun."

To choose a flattering swimsuit, you may want to follow these tips:

■ Different styles of swimsuits flatter different body types. Try on many styles to find the most flattering for you.

■ Covered-up is in. Today's styles offer many options, like boy-cut legs, "shorts" bottoms and flattering skirts.

■ Highlight your best figure feature. For example, if you have a trim waist, look for suits with a belt, or try a '50s-style two-piece suit.

■ Look for interesting patterns and colors — they can be a figure booster. For example, diagonal stripes or alternating colors can create the illusion of slimness.

■ Choose a color that is flattering to your skin tone.

■ Look for suits that offer special firming panels to help control your figure.

■ Build up a good body image before you shop. Stick to a healthy eating plan; do some moderate exercise, and take care of your skin — it can help you to feel more confident.

■ Look your best when you head out to shop. Attractive hair and makeup will help you to feel good about yourself.

■ Shop for a total beach or pool "look" — an attractive cover-up, summer sandals and flattering sunglasses — to make the shopping event more fun.

■ Consider catalog shopping. Many now offer a variety of suits in slimming styles, and you have the advantage of trying them on in your own home.

■ Think "active." Moderate exercise can help you to feel and look more toned in a relatively short time. Try to walk daily, climb the stairs (instead of riding elevators) and enjoy outdoor activities. Spot exercises (such as sit-ups and leg lifts) can help tone up muscles in problem areas.

FIRST-grader Meghan Ronk guides the cage ball between the pylons during Clarkston

Elementary School's field day June 7 at the high school's football field and track.

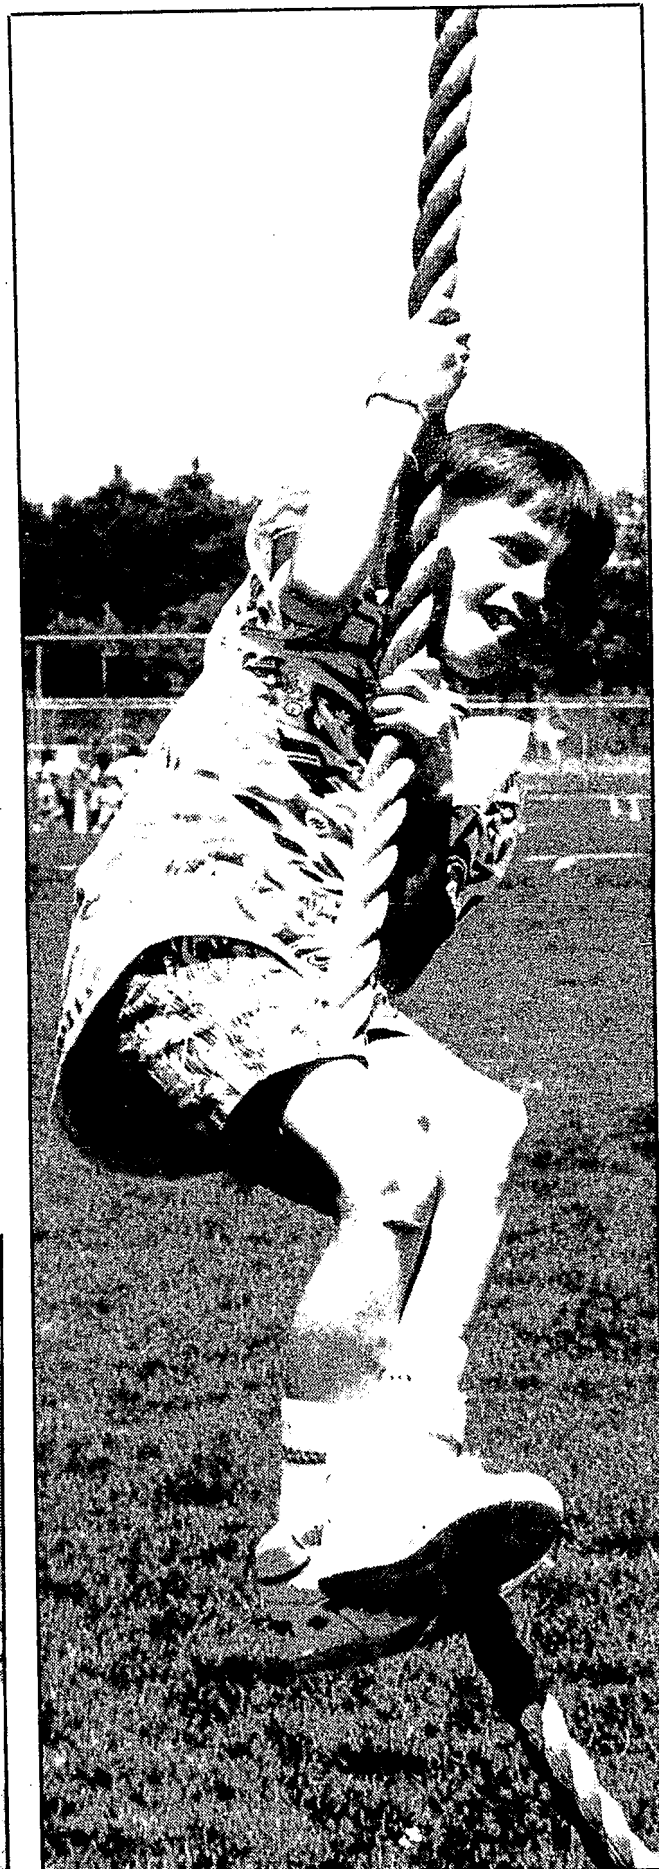

ONE nice part about losing in the water balloon toss is getting cooled off on a hot day. Kindergartners, first- and second-graders competed in the afternoon and third-, fourth-, and fifth-graders took part in the morning.

Having a ball

MATT Evans climbs the rope while taking his turn on the obstacle course. The second-grader finished the course in 1:09.9.
