Pair charged with molesting boy

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A father and his friend have been charged with sexually abusing a 5-year-old boy.

The father, David Lewis Simpson III, 23, and his friend, Paul Matthew Salvino, 23, both of Independence Township, were charged with five counts of first degree criminal sexual conduct, which carry a maximum sentence of life imprisonment; two counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct, which carry a maximum sentence of 15 years imprisonment; and first degree child abuse, which also carries a 15-year imprisonment sentence.

The two men face a preliminary exam before Judge Gerald E. McNally at 9:30 a.m. Aug. 5 at 52nd District Court, Independence Township.

According to an Oakland County Sheriff's Department detective, deputies were called to the Salvino residence on Circle Drive, Independence Township, at 3:15 a.m. on Wednesday, July 24, after a neighbor reported hearing screams from the house and saw suspicious activities.

Upon arrival, the deputies viewed the child being forced to smoke and partake of a soft drink containing alcohol.

A preliminary alcohol test — which is not admissible in court, according to the detective — showed the child's blood alcohol level at .11. Michigan law considers a level of .10 intoxicated for a driver. A later test showed the child's blood alcohol count at a higher level.

In a prepared statement, Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson said, "These are outrageous and barbaric crimes perpetrated on an innocent child. This 5-year-old boy was introduced to violent sexual encounters, initially through pornography and then through actual practice. The community must stamp out pornography and the indifference to pornography which contributes to this type of horrible crime."

According to Chief Assistant Prosecutor Gerald Poisson, the child was forced to have intercourse with a female who had been at the house earlier and was also forced to have oral sex with Simpson and Salvino.

Poisson also said that investigators found pornographic materials at the Caro residence of the child's mother, Carolyn Dean. According to Poisson, the child's mother had witnessed the father abuse the child in past and did nothing to prevent it.

Dean was reported to have been at Simpson's parents' home in the Clarkston area while the father had the child at Salvino's residence.

Concours, ice cream in Depot Park

Clarkston area residents will be within driving distance of three vintage car events Aug. 2-4.

The Concours in Depot Park in downtown Clarkston is 6-9 p.m. Friday, Aug. 2. The annual event features a display of vintage race cars, live music by the Dixie Strollers Dixieland band and an ice cream social to benefit SCAMP.

SCAMP volunteers will scoop out the ice cream and serve soda with proceeds going directly to SCAMP, a summer camp for children with special needs.

Engines will be roaring at the Seventh Annual Pioneer Meadow Brook Historic Races Aug. 2-4 at the Waterford Hills Race Way on Waterford Road, Independence Township. Jaguar, Lotus, Ferrari, Austin-Healey, Corvette, Cobra and Alfa Romeo autos are expected to compete.

On Aug. 4, the grounds of Meadow Brook Hall at Oakland University in Rochester will host the 13th annual Concours d'Elegance, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

More than 200 classic automobiles will make up the entire field, including a 1929 Duesenberg Murphy Boattail Speedster, 1932 Stutz, 1957 Gaylord, 1937 Packard and a 1941 Mercury convertible.

Some wooden-bodied cars will be displayed, including a 1947 Chrysler T & C Sedan owned by Blaine Jenkins of the Clarkston area.

In addition, artists from around the country will be displaying their work at the Concours d'Elegance Invitational Automotive Art Exhibit at Meadow Brook Hall, Aug. 2-4.

For ticket information or further details, call 373-2500.

Springfield man killed in crash

Kurt Lyn Wert, 24, of Springfield Township was fatally injured in a one car accident July 26.

According to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department report, Wert was heading north on Tindall Road and for no apparent reason drove left off the roadway and struck a tree at 1:10 a.m.

Wert, who graduated from Holly High School, was taken to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 2:15 a.m.

According to Wert's uncle, Patrick Caverly, Wert was well liked in the community.

Wert was buried July 29 at the Lakeside Cemetery in Holly with more than 80 cars in the procession, said Caverly.

Father, friend charged with sexual abuse of boy, 5

Dean, who was never married to Simpson, is married now but currently separated from her husband. Her son does not share her last name nor his father's last name.

The boy was taken from both his parents July 24 and placed in Oakland County Children's Village.

Simpson was out on parole after being released from prison in December of 1990. In 1987, he was convicted of assault with intent to rob while armed, and of breaking and entering.

Salvino had been charged in 1987 of felonious assault and malicious destruction of property, but the charges were later dropped.

This incident occurred in the same house at 4825 Circle Drive, Independence Township, that was the scene of a stabbing just three months ago.

On April 8, Robert Salvino, the 22-year-old brother of Paul Salvino, allegedly stabbed his mother, Maria Deneen, in the stomach with a pen knife.

Robert Salvino was charged with felonious assault. However, his mother was terminally ill and dropped charges against her son. On June 25, Maria Deneen died of cancer in a New York-based medical facility.

Simpson and Salvino are being held in Oakland County Jail with bail set at $500,000 each.

Judge McNally decided against the request by Assistant Prosecutor Deborah Walker to either deny bond or set it at $1 million cash for each man.

According to Poisson, the investigation is continuing.

Parks department loses assistant

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

After 19 years of service to Independence Township, Sheryl Stickley-Schreefel is calling it quits.

She will be stepping down from her position of assistant director at the parks and recreation department

Host families needed

Clarkston-area families still are needed to host international high school students who are visiting the Clarkston area this summer.

The teens are ages 15-18, have their own spending money and are fully insured.

Students in the Pacific Intercultural Exchange (PIE) are from Yugoslavia, Spain, Germany, Argentina, Brazil, the Soviet Union, Colombia, France, New Zealand and other countries.

PIE is a non-profit educational organization that has sponsored more than 12,000 students from 18 countries since its founding in 1975.

For more information, call 1-800-245-6232.

Aug. 2. Schreefel is retiring so she can spend more time with her two youngsters, Erik, 3, and Kelli, 8 months.

She is married to Hellmuth Schreefel of Waterford Township.

After nearly two decades of service, Schreefel is finding it hard to say goodbye.

"This is going to be a big transition for me," she said. "I'm definitely going to miss the department and the people who work there."

The Independence Township Board has already recognized Schreefel for her years of dedication. The trustees presented her with a plaque of commendation at a special board meeting July 29.

Ann Conklin, director of the parks and recreation department, said Schreefel will be sorely missed.

"In her 19 years here, she's been an extremely important part of our department," Conklin said. "Sheryl's innovation and vitality has aided in the development of the parks and recreation."

"I respect her decision because it's nice to see someone so committed to their family," she added.

Conklin said Schreefel's position would remain vacant until the beginning of October, so a suitable replacement can be found.

The life and times of a recycled newspaper

A LOCAL resident gets the news.

HERE IS her special place to keep the used papers.

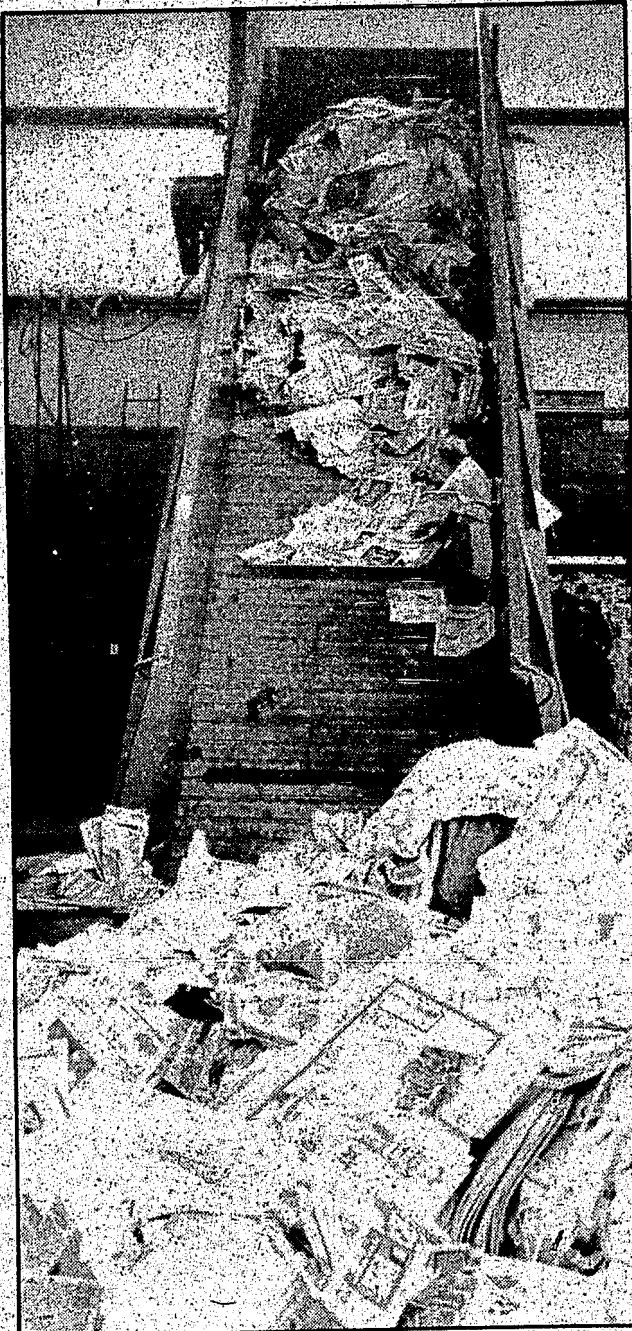

THE PAPERS are set to be picked up at the curb for recycling.

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

As more and more people become concerned with environmental issues, recycling has been pushed to center stage.

In October, it will become mandatory to recycle in PAPERS HEAD up the feeder belt to the compactor.

USED PAPER is pushed by a tractor onto the compactor's feeder belt so it can be sent up Independence Township.

So, with this in mind, let's take a look at what a product such as a newspaper would encounter during the recycling process.

After a newspaper has been received and read, one township resident puts it in a special place in her garage to be saved until it's time to place them at the curb.

"I recycle everything I can," said Barb Zabel of Independence Township. "I place my recycle items in a red recycling bucket and put them out with my regular trash. I can put my class 1 and 2 plastics, paper and glass at the curb, but the other items I take to Waterford."

Zabel finds other ways of recycling by using a mesh bag that can be used over and over again to bring home

"Only when consumers start to purchase recycled products will the market open up enough to make it profitable. Recycling is very costly."

Rick Detkowski

store items, such as groceries. She also donates her old magazines to schools.

"It is everyone's responsibility to save the environment. Some things may seem small, but it all adds up. Just by doing something like hanging your laundry out on the line to dry saves energy," she said.

Once the newspaper is picked up, it goes to a recycling center.

"We process about 75 tons of newspaper a week," said Rick Detkowski, president of Clarkston Disposal, Inc.

"We are the only recycling facility of this type in Oakland County, and we just put up this new building to handle the large flow newspapers we are getting," he said, referring to his Springfield Township building.

Once the newspapers have been baled, they are sent to a mill in Kalamazoo to be recycled into paper that will be used again.

According to Detkowski, there are not enough mills to handle the flow of recycled paper.

"We are able to move our paper, but there are lot of places which are just sitting on their paper because there the belt and dumped into the compactor, which makes the square bales.

More on recycling

is not enough places to handle the flood of recycled paper. We make sure that our paper bales are clean, which has helped us move our paper."

Education of the consumer is an important part of the overall recycling process, he said.

"Only when consumers start to purchase recycled products will the market open up enough to make it profitable," Detkowski said. "Recycling is very costly. You have to add extra personnel, extra trucks, and someone has to be at the center to make sure the paper that goes in into the baler is clean," he said.

Clarkston Disposal has been recycling for three years, with the new facility opening up this spring.

"The number one thing is that recycling is important. That is why we have spent so much money on that aspect of our business, but the market place is also going to have to change to curb some the cost of recycling," said Detkowski.

For recycling to work, everyone is going to have to work at it, he said.

It's a process that takes group participation and must be carried through the entire life cycle of a product from start to finish.

THE FINAL bales are stacked and ready to be sent on their way to the recycling mill.

BALES OF paper come out of the compactor automatically after being readied for recycling.

Once the bales are made, they are stacked and later sent to a recycling mill.

White Lake Road water tower OK'd

An Illinois-based firm has been hired by the Independence Township Board to build a water tower at the intersection of White Lake Road and Dixie Highway.

At a special meeting July 29, the board voted 6-0 to accept the construction bid of $678,500 from CBI Na-Con Inc. of Plainfield, Ill. Trustee Daniel Travis was absent from the meeting.

The chosen bid was the lowest of three finalists, which included: Caldwell Tanks Inc. of Louisville at $817,800 and Pitt-Des Moines Inc. of Pittsburgh at $827,815. Construction of the 500,000-gallon water tower is expected to begin this summer, with completion slated for next spring.

The tower will be the first phase of revitalization for the White Lake Road area, under the Downtown Development Authority (DDA). Money from the DDA's budget will be used to pay for the "spheroid" shaped tower.

Big cash winner

Gerald L. Inscho of the Clarkston area was one of 13 Michigan residents who won $5,000 in the Lottery's newest instant game, "Cash in a Flash."

The tickets went on sale May 16, and so far 34 people have won prizes.

Three hurt in crash

Three people were injured but not hospitalized in a three-car incident on Waldon Road, Clarkston, July 24.

According to police reports, Sandra Northey, 52, of Troy struck the rear of vehicle driven by Jefferey Chapel, 20, of Independence Township, while Chapel was stopped for a construction flagman.

Chapel's vehicle was then pushed into the rear of a vehicle driven by Marc Petrusha, 19, of Independence Township, who was also stopped by the flagman.

According to the report, Northey said something flew into her eye, and as she took her hand away from her eye, she looked up and saw a vehicle stopped in the roadway. Unable to stop, she struck the vehicle.

No citation was given at the time.

Wint, Goyette merge funeral home business

Harold A. Goyette and Lewis E. Wint, long-time Clarkston residents and funeral directors, announced the affiliation of the two local firms into one. Together they will continue to serve the community and will operate out of Lewis E. Wint & Son Trust 100 Funeral Home at 5929 S. Main St.

Harold Goyette stated the affiliation will allow the firms to operate more efficiently. And, as a result, it will help to keep costs reasonable for families.

"By joining together as one firm," he said, "we can continue to offer everything families have come to expect from us and more. It will be a pleasure to be associated with such a fine family."

The two firms have served the Clarkston area independently since the mid 1950s.

According to Wint, "Since Harold and I are both well acquainted with the services provided by each other, there will be little difficulty in affiliating the two firms. We were honored by the confidence and trust placed in us, in Harold's plans for the future."

Lew Wint founded the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home in 1959 following attendance at Michigan State University and graduation from Wayne State University School of Mortuary Science. His son, Bill, joined the firm in 1984 following graduation from Western Michigan University and the University of Minnesota School of Mortuary Science.

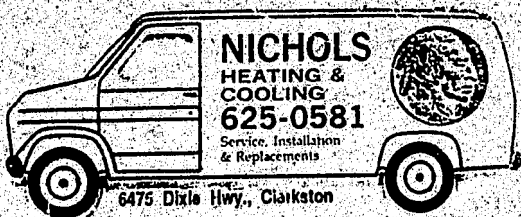

Harold Goyette acquired the former Sharpe Funeral Home in Clarkston in 1958, following his service in the U.S. Air Force and graduation from Wayne State University of Mortuary Science. His association with Lew goes back to 1955, when they worked together at the former J. Lee Voorhees Funeral Home in Pontiac.

Both men have been active in community affairs and other important organizations, including the Michigan Funeral Directors Association. Harold and Lew have both served as president of the Clarkston Rotary Club and have each been recipients of the Clarkston Community "Citizen of the Year" award.

Jim's Jottings

Taxing thoughts

Thoughts on property tax have passed through my mind many times, just as they have yours.

Not just the two times a year when these taxes are due, but also during election periods, at 19th-hole discussions and friendly gatherings.

We have editorially stated that property taxes are a good way to support schools. The money is collected locally and doesn't have to pass through greedy hands in Lansing and Washington.

We have also complained aloud how wrong it is for people to be taxed out of their homes when they get older and are living off limited income.

The latter thought has come to me more and more frequently in direct relation to the aging process.

For several years I've been confident our elected officials in Lansing would remedy this situation. After all, it has been the topic of every session of the legislature for many years.

Seniors have regularly pointed out their potential hardship. Legislators universally nod their heads in agreement, and express sympathy and understanding.

But, they have done very little.

A majority apparently do not have the will to substitute an income-tax increase or sales-tax increase for property tax.

They love the tax status quo, except for gasoline tax.

I haven't totally given up on Lansing's doing something to keep seniors from having to sell their homesteads, but as I close in on 65 I'm wavering.

There's some relief for seniors in low-income brackets whereby the state pays taxes up to a certain figure. And, that's good that far.

But as property values increase, through inflation, neighborhood sales and re-assessment of communities, the tax relief is less relieving.

Our federal government uses the graduated income tax to gather much of its income. It adds on some others, just like Michigan does, to bring additional income.

But generally it's the graduated income tax that we know most about. Since sales tax is unusually hard on low-income people (less fair) we suggest the Lansingites drop property tax and go to a weekly-paid graduated income tax.

Certainly, with all the computer knowledge available, a formula can be worked out to give schools much of what they claim they need, provided very little sticks to fingers at the capitol.

With a check for taxes being written 52 times a year the pain would appear less severe. We would hardly notice it. And, we could all live in our homesteads happily ever after, fairy book style.

Leave handicapped spaces for disabled

It seems hard to believe that anyone would knowingly park their car in a spot designated handicapped parking, but this is becoming general practice for our community.

I have witnessed in recent months people whom I would consider prominent members of society violate this law without even batting a lash.

This group of people includes elected officials, librarians and store owners.

If I see someone parking in these spots, I am, at first, anyway, polite and courteous and simply remind them that they are in the wrong parking space.

The excuses I hear are ludicrous if not laughable.

"I will just be a minute." "If I see a handicapped person I will move." "I'm just running in and I'll be right out."

Do these so-called educated people actually think that they can justify or rationalize their actions and their need to break the law?

In reality, there are no excuses, and once you make the conscious decision to park in a handicapped zone, you jeopardize the rights of others who may not be as fortunate as yourself.

These zones were established for people with physical handicaps and were not designed for "quick stop" parking, so you can run in and get a Dove Bar. It doesn't matter if you are at the automatic teller after the bank is closed; it doesn't matter if you are waiting to pick your wife up after work, and it doesn't matter if you are in a rush.

The wheels of vehicles without permits should never touch a handicapped parking space, period. Everyone is human and will have lapses in judgment, but if everyone made a real effort to obey this simple law, it would ease my mind as well as the person who really needs the parking space.

Looking back

While Jan Wilton (now Lawson), Michael Lockard (and his fiancée, Jane) and I decorated the Deer Lake Racquet Club for Clarkston High School's 10-year reunion last Saturday, we ran across some people decorating for Clarkston's 50-year reunion to be held the same night.

We compared statistics. We had a class of more than 500. They had 20-some in their class. Fewer than 200 were attending our reunion, less than half our class. More than 30 were attending their reunion (their first ever), nearly everyone who knew about it.

They said they might join us if our music wasn't too loud. Their decorations, by the way, were beautiful.

Later that night, I did not notice any decorations as I was too enthralled with the sight of my former classmates.

Some traveled from afar to reach the party — Jon Territo and his wife, Michelle, came from Florida, as did Matt Hool and Rich Lamphere; Joe Duris and his wife came from New York; Julie Hawke came from South Carolina; David Mallett came from Washington, D.C.; Roy Robb came from Arizona but left his wife and son at home, bringing only his daughter for the visit (she did not, however, come to the reunion, though Roy passed photographs around).

Others came from all over Michigan.

It was great to see September Irish and her husband, who have one child and are expecting another. And Julie Sanders and Shelly Jensen, who are married with two children apiece, were their usual, humorous selves.

Many people were expecting children, but Carol Olney may have been closest to her due date. Her beauty has not diminished, but since high school, so I asked if she'd like to be the Clarkston News' own Demi Moore.

She flatly declined, muttering something about how The Clarkston News couldn't airbrush stretch marks as well as Vanity Fair.

Kellie Brumback's quick wit ran rampant, leaving laughter in her path. When people remarked how thin she looked, she quipped, "It's easy. I just barf twice a day."

Naturally, those who did not know her well were a little nervous about her answer (for the record: she's not anorexic — she simply eats right and exercises, she said).

Maria Livieratos, one of the original members in cell physiology teacher Holly Stephens' science club at CHS, had, indeed, followed the path she had set in high school. A mother and wife, she is in her third year of medical school at Wayne State University.

It was heartwarming to see my former basketball teammates: Julie Hawke, Cathy Schrubba (now Drake) and Mary Barks (now Jacobs). We four had a few adventures together, from traipsing all over Cedar Point to horseback riding to midnight forages in the neighborhood in which the three of them lived.

In fact, those three went shopping at a mall before the reunion, and who should they run across? Dennis Bronson, our ninth-grade basketball coach, whom they used to visit as players.

Dee Gallo (named Most Improved Player in ninth-grade basketball) looked elegant and refined in her white evening gown, as did Merci Sanchez in her black gown. Merci, by the way, won a door prize of a cruise for two. I volunteered to accompany her, but she plans to take her husband, she said.

Craig Schnabel now sports curly hair (and is single), and Rod Martin looks like a professor with a beard and wire-rimmed glasses (he is not single).

Throughout the evening, people asked about the whereabouts of a few classmates, such as David Moss (Japan, maybe?), Brian Barlow, Jeff Sawyer, Julie Greetham, Sherri Owens, Dave Muhleck and loads of others.

I happened to notice when the class of 1941 began to leave — they were holding their ears as they walked through our crowd. The song that was playing: James Brown's "Feel Good," complete with screaming. (Not too far from "In the Mood" really.)

At the end of the evening, I said goodbye to Jeff Armstrong, whom I did not know well in high school. I had talked to him a few times that night and learned that he lived in Germany. I had noticed that at times he stood at the fringes of smaller groups of people. Perhaps not many of his old friends had come to the reunion.

He said the evening had been strange for him.

"I'm oceans apart from this," he said. "I can walk into a room in London or Germany and not know anyone and have fun. Here, I don't fit in."

Many of our classmates had kept in touch with each other, so they had things to talk about, I told him. But it was small solace. Some things don't change.

The evening had included a moment of silence for our classmates who have passed away: class president Devin O'Neill, Scott Dennis, Cheryl Maxim, Joe Fry and possibly others about whom we don't know.

It also included a moment of class when, at the end of the evening, Tammy Johnson announced that she had found a gold ring. While it was beautiful, she said she could not keep it because she knew it belonged to one of her classmates, who were like family.

That was a fitting comment to end the evening.

Letters to the Editor

All for merchants

I read the letter to the editor in the July 24 Clarkston News regarding the fact that Mr. Ed Biegan had taken offense at efforts by a local "Main Street store" to curtail thieving in that store by limiting the "student" access to a part of the store where they are concealed from view of the store personnel.

Is Mr. Biegan completely naive? Why not go to some of the other store owners and ask them about how our innocent lambs of school kids steal — particularly, it seems, in the summer time.

Many of the kids who are very adept shoplifters come from well-off families, and if Mr. Biegan thinks that measures are too strong that limit where the "students" can go or how many can enter at a time — let him run a store and see how much booty a gang of 10 or 12 of our young people can steal in about 10 minutes!

I'm all for the merchants, and some parents need to question how and where some items their kids bring home come from. Who paid for them?

Brooke Bennett

Shoplifters most often are teens

Lest there be confusion regarding what downtown store directly and vigorously attempts to control shoplifting, I am proud to confirm that it is Coach's Corner. In a perfect society such assertive, preventive measures would be unnecessary, but in our society they are vital. My choices are:

- (a) directly and vigorously prevent shoplifting
- (b) raise prices to cover losses
- (c) hire more employees to prevent shoplifting and raise prices
- (d) go out of business

To my honest customers, I pledge to pursue every reasonable means to prevent and prosecute shoplifting. You will benefit because I will be able to offer competitive prices in a small-town store. Please don't be offended, I do this for me and you.

As to why I target students in my anti-shoplifting efforts, I offer a quote from my human behavior consultant, Richard Brozovich, Ph.D., licensed psychologist: "Empirical research demonstrates that shoplifting behavior peaks in the 13-18 age group. Shoplifting occurs across all socioeconomic groups and is best controlled by curtailing opportunity, providing constant surveillance and promoting public awareness of certain prosecution for those apprehended."

David McNeven,
Owner of Coach's Corner

Sign will remain

This letter is in response to the teary-eyed letter written by Mr. Biegan.

I think by now that many Clarkston residents are aware of what local merchant Mr. Biegan was referring to that requests younger students from entering the backroom of Coach's Corner's store.

It is very obvious to me that this frustrated gentleman has very little idea how large of a problem shoplifting really is.

It is a shame that he lets his ego get in the way and refuses to put himself in the shoes of the merchant. I agree that the majority of the Clarkston kids are model citizens, but the plain truth is, shoplifting is a problem, and this is one way of insuring it doesn't turn into a bigger problem.

This respected establishment has been in business for 18 years, and never has a customer voiced his/her disapproval for this sign. As an employee, I am just as offended of being accused of stealing as you would be if I accused your daughter of stealing.

Anyway, if you ever decide to come through "Tainted Town" again, please be assured your daughters are welcome to shop here, but the "shoplifters beware" sign will hanging right where it was before.

David Lilienthal,
Coach's Corner employee

Confusing news

Jim
Fitzgerald

The City of Detroit plans to go to court to force the federal government to count 38,000 more Detroit residents in the 1990 census. City lawyers plan to settle out of court for three people and one dog.

Did I get that right? Maybe not. Big news events have been occurring in rapid succession lately, and a disinterested bystander can become confused. So I could be wrong, but I think the following is what's been happening:

Warren Beatty was pictured nude on the cover of Vanity Fair magazine. Because his hands were strategically placed, it was impossible to see his smirk.

Running back Barry Sanders failed to report to the Detroit Lions training camp even though there are three years left on the five-year $5.9 million contract he signed in good faith. He is reportedly seeking a raise to at least $2 million a year.

One of Sanders' 56 lawyers explained that money is inconsequential to Sanders, who is primarily driven by the desire to become a respected role model for youngsters who will prosper from learning that only wimps keep their promise. And that sports fans are suckers who enjoy throwing money at athletic phonies.

After witnessing a crime, Detroit Councilman Gil Hill demonstrated he hasn't forgotten all he learned during his many years as a police officer. He rushed to a phone, dialed 911 and ordered pizza.

Mayor Coleman Young refused to give the time of day to the City Council and news media. Young said he is required to give the time of day only to the people, and he plans to do it by going door-to-door. He will tell them it's too late.

President George Bush said it was OK for a man who smoked pot 20 years ago to be a U.S. Supreme Court justice, just as long as, once he's on the court, he rules in favor of capital punishment for a teenager who smoked pot last week.

Bill Cosby won a "Regular Guy" contest cosponsored by Aqua Velva. For people who quit shaving years ago, it was news to learn that Aqua Velva is now a laxative.

Gov. John Engler was stopped for freeway speeding. The governor forgave the interruption of state business after the cop paid $5,000 to have his picture taken with Engler. A member of Engler's staff said the money would be spent on a civil rights project aimed at demonstrating that, under law, all citizens must be treated equally, and Engler should give up his citizenship.

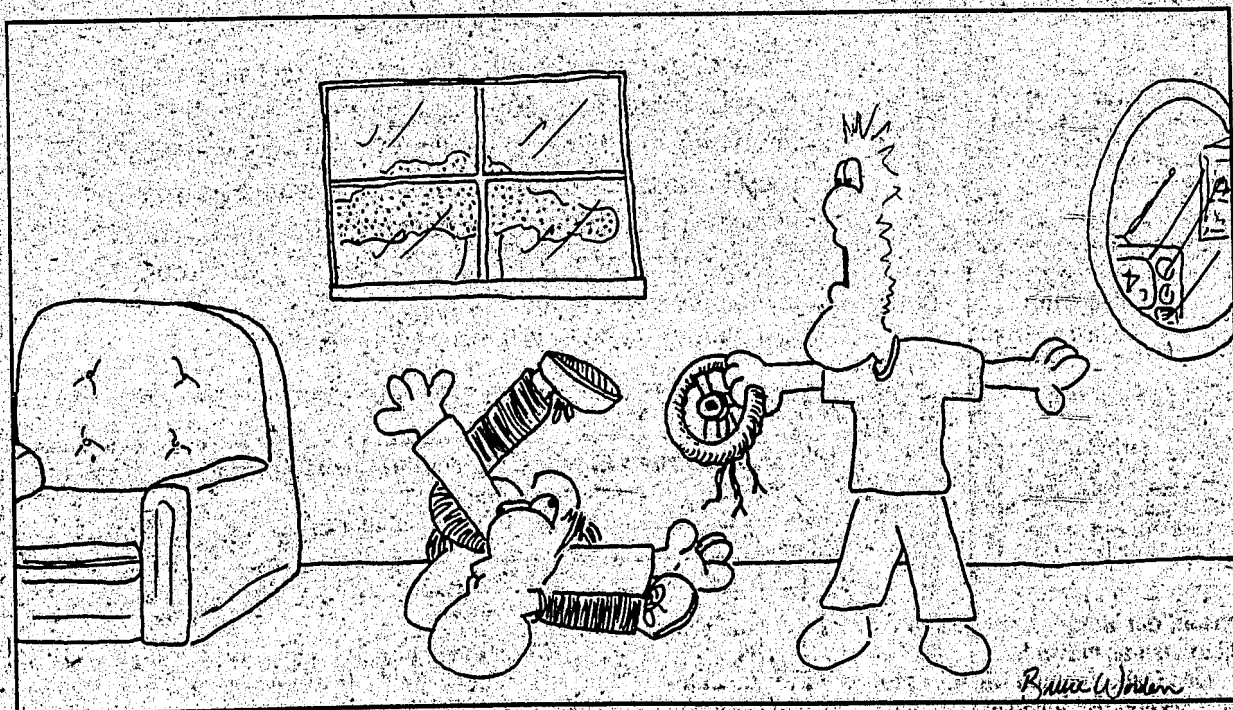

This month, for the first time in its 77-year history, the Detroit Athletic Club began allowing women in its Grill Room during lunch hour. It will be 77 more years before women are allowed to eat lunch there. Similarly, the DAC recently built a parking garage in back but members continue to double-park in front, blocking traffic and greatly angering nonmembers who must pay to park at nearby 36th District Court while they go inside to fight ghost parking tickets.

It was revealed that money raised here during the Civil War to help fight slavery down South is still deposited in a Detroit Bank while Mayor Coleman Young waits for Gen. Ulysses Grant to sign the withdrawal slip.

A local TV critic wrote that Detroit Tigers announcer Al Kaline should be fired for flubbing his lines. I hope not, because Kaline recently described Wade Boggs as "an ineptual hitter." I'm not sure what that means, but if Boggs ever breaks new ground by having sex with a relative while running the bases, I want to hear about it from Kaline.

Upward and Onward.

New photo radar helps keep an eye on speeders

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Click. Gotcha!
This could happen to you if you choose to exceed the speed limit.
A new photo radar system employed July 29 will actually take a picture of a speeding vehicle and its license plate. A few days later, the owner could receive a ticket in the mail.

The new photo radar system combines a high-speed camera with a radar unit. Once a violator passes by, a photograph of the vehicle and corresponding registration plate is taken.

into use July 29. The system takes pictures of speeders as they pass by.

According to State Trooper Dan Thomas of the Michigan State Police, the objective of the program is safety.

"With this setup, we don't have to actually pull the vehicle out of the traffic. It can be an unsafe situation pulling a vehicle out of traffic. You never know what they will do. Also, there is a problem of getting back into traffic," he said.

In Oakland County, the photo radar will be set up at three sites, including one in Springfield Township:

■ I-75 between Grange Hall Road and Dixie Highway, Springfield Township.

■ on Duck Lake Road between M-15 and Jackson Boulevard.

■ on I-696 at Lincoln Drive.

The new system will be "on watch" five days a week with state police troopers having it two days, the sheriff's department having it two days and the state police motor carrier officers having it one day a week.

"There are only three states in the nation which have been selected to test this system," said Thomas. "Other than Michigan, you have New Jersey and Washington state."

The only other system in Michigan operates in the Kalamazoo area, he said.

Radar gets candid with speedsters

display board can be seen by drivers, showing them the speed they are traveling at the time they pass the unit. According to Thomas, 150 photos will be taken per day, during daylight.

"This machine could take 800 photos if you had that much film, but we put film in that takes up to 32 photos a roll. With the flash, the photos could be taken at night, but we are just going to use it during the day for now," Thomas said.

In the beginning, only warnings will be issued to the violators.

"We are going to be testing the system for six months to see if it usable. During that time no tickets will be mailed out — the violators will receive a written warning," Thomas said. "The warning tells them how fast they were going and when they were speeding."

With the new system, a private radar detector in a vehicle will not be able to warn the driver of the photo radar.

"The radar beam on this system shoots out at an angle, not down the road like the cone-type. By the time the beam hits the vehicle and sets off the radar detector, the picture has already been taken," said Thomas.

The protection, preservation, proper maintenance and use of Village watercourses and wetlands in order to minimize or eliminate disturbance to them and to prevent damage from erosion, turbidity or siltation and to prevent a loss of fish or other beneficial aquatic organisms, a loss of wildlife and vegetation or the destruction of the natural habitat thereof;

WHEREAS, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has recently experienced severe budget reductions and does not contain the resources necessary to assure the protection of the Village's lakes, streams, floodplains, floodways and wetlands, and

WHEREAS, other local municipalities in the State of Michigan share with the Village of Clarkston the need to protect their lakes, streams, floodplains, floodways and wetlands, and

WHEREAS, it has been documented that the wetlands in the State of Michigan and throughout the United States are disappearing at a rapid rate as a result of development; and

WHEREAS, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources does not maintain jurisdiction over many of the wetlands throughout the State, and

WHEREAS, the President of the United States has pledged there shall be no net loss in the amount of wetlands, and

WHEREAS, continued and increased local control of wetland regulation will be important to ensure that the President's pledge is a reality.

NOW, BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that the Village of Clarkston Council opposes the adoption of House Bill No. 6208, amending the Goemaere-Anderson Wetland Protection Act, as introduced on November 8, 1990 by Representative Griffin, or any other proposed legislation which limits or restricts local units of government from enacting regulations to protect wetlands.

Bay Court Park open to visitors

Area residents still have a chance to visit Bay Court Park before the Aug. 6 election.

The park, purchased by Independence Township with state grant money, is on Andersonville Road, between Parview Drive and White Lake Road.

The park will be open to visitors 4-6 p.m. Wednesday, July 31; 6-8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 1; 4-6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 2; and 1-5 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 4.

The park, which is not open to the public yet because it needs such renovations as a parking lot and driveway, will be one of the beneficiaries if voters say yes to a special one-mill levy for the operations of the parks and recreation department. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation.

Ann Conklin, director of township parks and rec., said visitors to the park so far have been positive.

"The property speaks for itself," she said.

For more information, contact parks and rec. at 625-8223.

Conflicting reports about buried gasoline tanks

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Ask a question about some buried gasoline tanks in Clarkston and you get conflicting answers.

The tanks, which have concerned the Clarkston Village Council in recent meetings, are at the corner of Clarkston Road and M-15. The current business there is Village Muffler & Brake Specialist, but gasoline stations once inhabited the corner, one as recently as five years ago.

Some members of the Clarkston Village Council recently discussed their concerns about the age of the tanks and also speculated about whether the tanks are tied to a few cases of confirmed water contamination near the muffler business.

Lois Graham, environmental sanitarian for the Michigan Department of Public Health, said the cause of the contamination still is unknown.

Gus Voss of Village Muffler & Brake Specialist said he leases the property from owner GPL Investments in Pontiac. He said his business still pumps about 500 gallons of gas every month or two for employee or customer use but not for the general public.

Voss, who has been at the location about five years, said he thought two brand new 8,000-gallon tanks were put in about six-and-a-half years ago when Sunoco started pumping gas there.

However, Larry (a co-owner of the property, who said he "has nothing to hide" but refused to give his last name) of GPL Investments said new tanks weren't put in, but the two existing 8,000 gallon tanks were "re-piped" at that time.

Larry also said the tanks were as old as what was reported on a 1986 registration form, a form required by the state fire marshal to be completed by every gas station owner in the state. According to that registration form, the two tanks would now be 19 years old.

But those aren't the only two tanks on the corner of M-15 and Clarkston Road. Two 40-year-old 4,000-gallon tanks also are buried on the premise, according to the filed registration form.

Voss and co-owner Larry also differ on the use of those two tanks.

Voss said he thought the two 4,000-gallon tanks were "shut down forever."

Larry, on the other hand, thinks gasoline is still being used in some way from the 40-year-old tanks.

Whether gas is stored or at least occasionally being pumped from a tank is of importance. According to state law, the Underground Storage Tank Act states that if gasoline tanks are not used for pumping or storage for one year, they must be removed from the property.

Jennifer Beam of the Oakland County Tank Testing Office said her office is aware that the Michigan Department of Public Health has recently been testing houses located near the gasoline tanks for possible water contamination.

Beam said since 1988 in Oakland County, 470 releases of gasoline from tanks have been confirmed, but, she added, "very few affected the drinking water."

Clarkston Village Manager Art Pappas said about six months ago someone from the state fire marshal's office verbally told him the property "was in compliance." However, Pappas' request to see it in writing has so far been in vain.

Pappas first inquired about the tanks six months ago, but he said he has been frustrated while trying to get answers from a series of sources, including the Michigan State Department of Natural Resources, the state fire marshal, the local fire marshal, the Michigan Department of Public Health and the Oakland County Tank Testing Office.

New machines to simplify, hasten election process

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

On Aug. 6, voters in Independence Township will be treated to a little technology.

And "little" is the right word.

With the parks and recreation operating millage less than a week away, the township is preparing to unveil 50 new voting machines. These units stand about five feet

"I don't think these units will be as intimidating as the older voting machines with levers."

Elections Clerk Rosemary Howey

tall and can be disassembled to fit into a briefcase weighing 12 pounds.

The new machines will be replacing about 40 voting booths, which were between 30 and 40 years old. Each booth weighed about 600 pounds a piece.

Independence Township Clerk Joan McCrary said the new units and an electronic vote counter will cost the township $48,000. She said the purchase will save the township and the school district a lot of money in the long run.

McCrary said the township had been hiring an outside company to come in and program the older booths at $2,000 per election. School elections, on the other hand, cost the district around $10,000 in preparation fees.

With the new units, these outside sources will no longer be needed because township personnel will be able to program the machines themselves.

Unlike their predecessors, the new machines provide the voter with a punch card. These cards are inserted into the machine, and the individual casts a vote by punching out a designated spot. Each card is accompanied by a voter's guide, which provides the voter with directions and his election choices.

According to McCrary, the older machines are presently being sold off to smaller townships. So far, the township has sold 14 booths and collected $700. About 20 machines. Fifty of these devices will be in use during the Aug. 6 parks and recreation operating millage election.

operating machines remain in storage, awaiting prospective buyers.

Independence Township Elections Clerk Rosemary Howey said she likes the new machines because they don't overpower the user.

"I don't think these units will be as intimidating as the older voting machines with levers," Howey said. "With these, if you feel you've missed a category, you can go back, where the previous machines didn't have this

Voters asked to OK millage for parks, recreation

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

The future progression of the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department and Baycourt Park will be coming before the voters next week.

On Tuesday, Aug. 6, Independence Township will be conducting a special election asking residents to support an operating millage for the parks and recreation department. The polls are open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

An explanation of the ballot issues follows.

New voting machines to speed up elections option." (MACHINES, from previous page)

Besides simplicity, this new system will make life a lot easier in the township's 13 precincts. With the purchase of an electronic vote counter, the precinct workers will no longer have to tally their results.

They will only be required to gather all the punch cards and bring them to township hall. There, the cards will be put through a vote counter, which processes 300 ballots per minute.

McCrary said this process should take one-third the time of previous elections, while alleviating problems at the precincts.

"In the past, our precinct people had to worry about counting the votes and dealing with interested parties," she said. "This way, everything is done at township hall in the matter of an hour or so."

McCrary said each precinct will be equipped with one demonstration model of the new units, so voters can practice before casting their votes.

A unit has also been set up at township hall for practice purposes. It's available to any registered voter during office hours. Anyone with questions on the upcoming election or the new machines can call the township offices at 625-5111.

What the proposal says:

Proposal for Parks and Recreation Millage for the operation of Township Parks and Recreation programs and facilities at:

- Baycourt Park and Community Center
- Clintonwood Park
- Deer Lake Beach
- Sashabaw Plains Park
- Senior Center

and for future acquisition of land and development of new park programs and facilities.

Shall the Charter Township of Independence be authorized to levy up to one (1) mill for a period of five years for the operation, preservation and maintenance of the Township Parks and Recreation programs and facilities and for future acquisition of land and development of new park programs and facilities? Approval of this proposal would authorize a levy increase of one dollar ($1) per one thousand dollars ($1,000) of state equalized property value, and requires voter approval under Article IX of the Michigan Constitution.

What the proposal means:

If a one-mill request is approved by voters, residents would pay the township $1 for every $1,000 in assessed property valuation each year.

That means a homeowner with a $100,000 home assessed at half its market value ($50,000) would pay $50 a year to the township for parks and recreation operations.

This money will be used for the operation and maintenance of the parks listed above. The general fund money that the township usually sets aside each year for park operations will go toward the renovation of Baycourt Park on Andersonville Road.

Ann Conklin, director of the parks and recreation, said the millage would generate about $570,000 per year. This amount is almost equal to the sum the parks and recreation department receives from the township's general fund annually.

After five years, Conklin said the township will evaluate the condition of the parks before deciding how to further finance the department.

Conklin estimates that it will take about $5 million to renovate the 50-acre park.

Besides the general fund, other possible sources of revenue for Baycourt include: donations, state grants and park fees.

Under Baycourt's master plan, most of the existing buildings are slated to be restored for various uses and a beach is proposed on Greens Lake. The 10,000-square-foot lodge is also proposed as a community center.

Northbound runners roll past Village Bakeshop

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff-Writer

Muck, swamps, sand, railroad trestles or even the temptation of a Clarkston Village Bakeshop cinnamon roll couldn't stop hundreds of runners from completing a three-day, 333-mile relay race from Novi to Mackinaw City.

Twenty-six teams of 10 runners (from several states and Ontario) began the second annual race 5 a.m. on Friday, July 26 in Novi. One of the exchange points that day was in downtown Clarkston. Runners finished the first day in Bay City, where they camped.

The second day saw them running until they were about 15 miles east of Lewiston, their second campsite. The teams completed their race on Sunday, entering Mackinaw City before dusk.

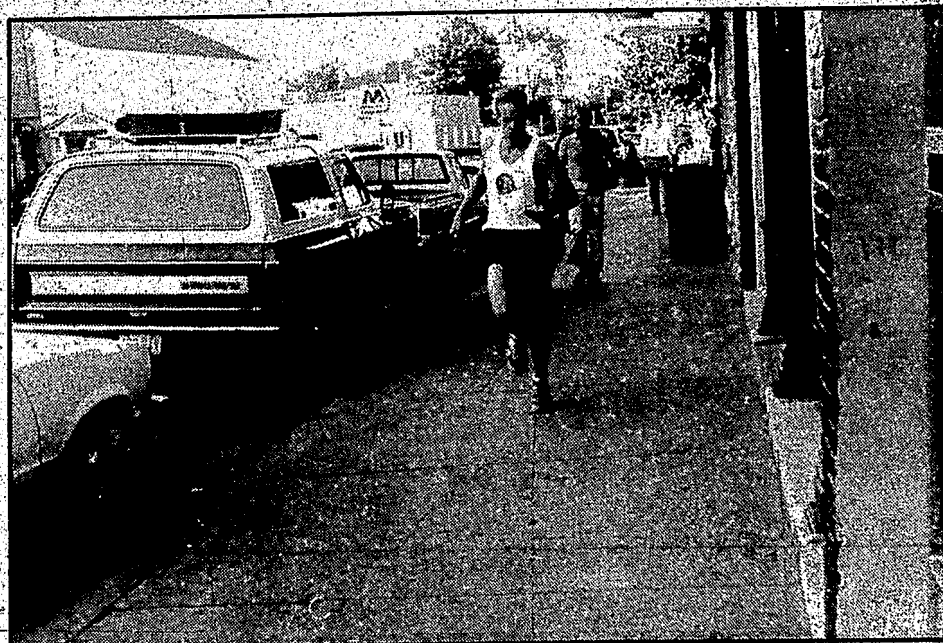

One of those teams, the Wolfpack, comprised many runners from the Clarkston area. The Wolfpack finished ninth by completing the course in 34 hours, 24 minutes and 38 seconds. Times were handicapped if any runners were female or men over 40. The winning team was Roids Boys of Grosse Pointe, who finished in 31 hours and 41 minutes.

Clarkston dentist Dr. Michael Hennessy, who led the Wolfpack team, said he was pleased with his team's efforts, especially since it was the first time nine of the 10 Wolfpack runners competed in the event.

Clarkston's Bill Dickie ran in the race last year. The other eight runners were Jim Lawson and Paul Van Klaveren of the Clarkston area, Steve Mills of Springfield Township, Steve Elliot of Union Lake, Joe Kalina of Lake Orion, Jerry Loviska of Flint and Cindy and Karry Barnett of Ypsilanti.

Hennessy, who pointed out that his team was sponsored by Runnin' Gear in Waterford, said most of his team has already expressed interest to run the race again in 1992.

Runners used the sidewalks in downtown Clarkston as part of the 333-mile course to Mackinaw City.

Daredevils improve with every splash

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Deer Lake Daredevils have improved and they have the numbers to back it up.

The Daredevils, who last year were called the Dolphins, are in their second year of competition in the Tri-Cities swim league.

Last year the Deer Lake Racquet Club-based team sent three of its swimmers to the league finals. This summer, six swimmers qualified.

"I wasn't sure what to expect, but they did really well. They improved," said new coach Don Neal, who coaches Pontiac Northern High School boys' and girls' teams during the school year.

The six Daredevils who competed in the July 25 finals were 9-year-old Haley Kamischke (25 meter freestyle); 12-year-olds Ashley Halleran (50 butterfly, 50 backstroke), Angela Ruth (50 breaststroke) and Natalie Vaughn (50 freestyle); 13-year-old Kelly Wall (50 breaststroke, 50 freestyle); 15-year-old Pat Wall (50-backstroke, 50 breaststroke).

Neal realizes it takes more than one or two years to get a highly-competitive swimming program started.

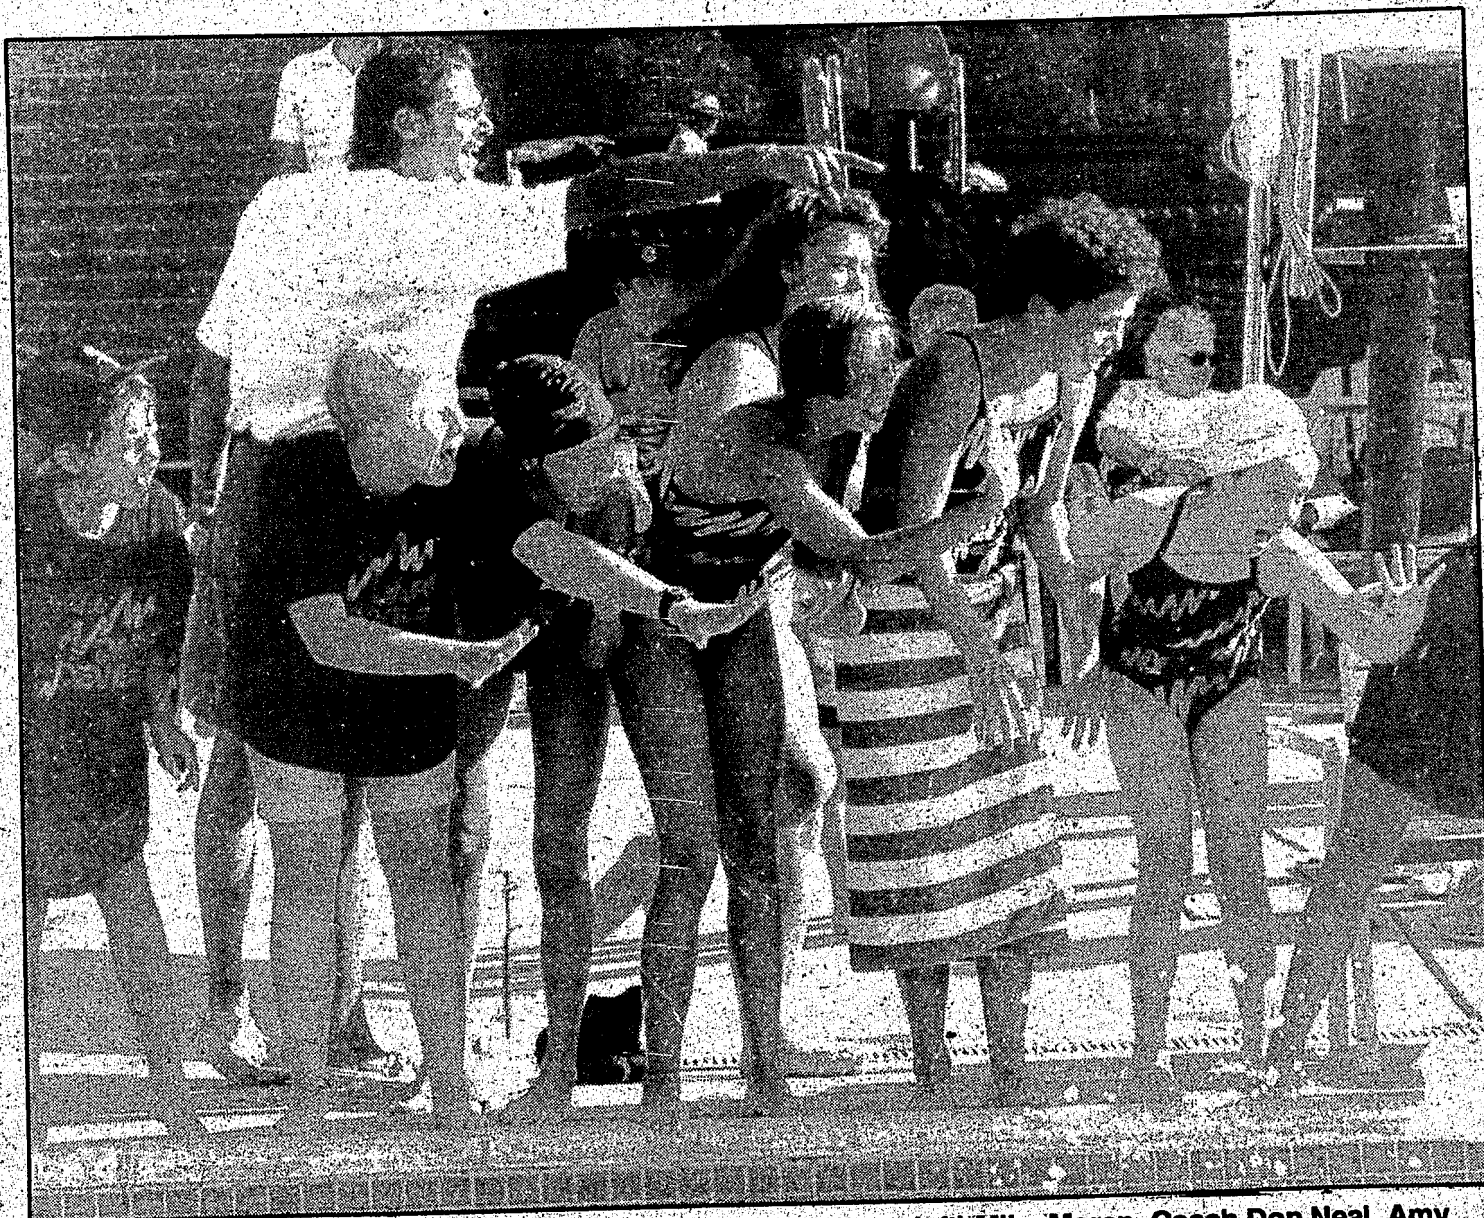

"They shouldn't expect to be a tremendous team in the second year," said Neal, whose Daredevils finished 1-6 during the regular season.

The Deer Lake squad had 33 swimmers, the smallest team in the league. Sometimes the Daredevils had to swim against teams with more than 70 swimmers. Some events (within the numerous age divisions) were absent of any Daredevils, allowing opponents to pick up uncontested points.

Neal said the competition has helped his swimmers "know how to win and lose."

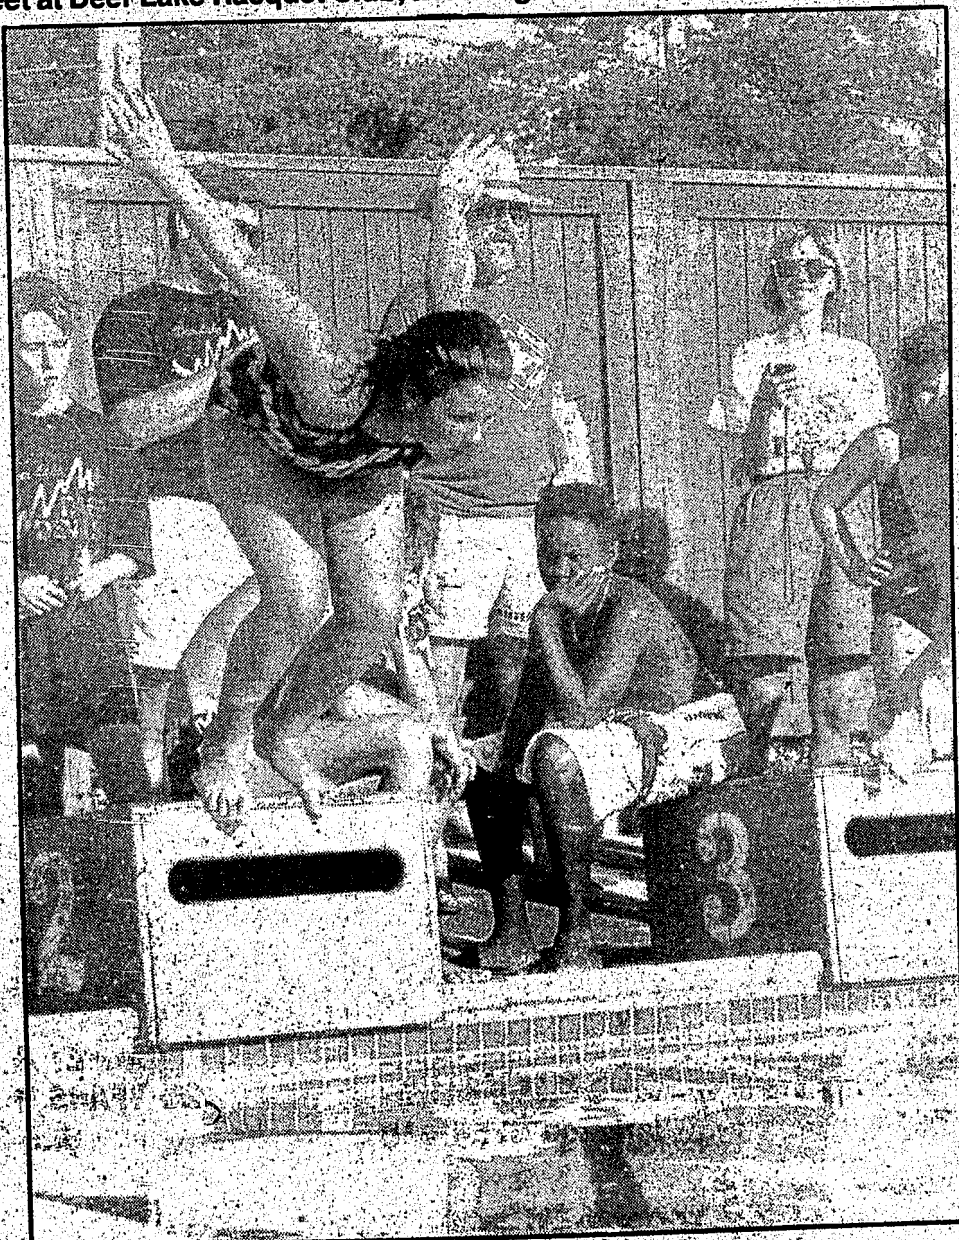

But the coach points out that the competition is only part of it. He also stresses fun on his team and hopes his swimmers continue to be interested in competitive swimming, especially since Clarkston High School does not have a swimming pool or swim team.

In addition to the six finalists, the other Daredevils who competed this season and their ages were (5) Lydia Jenaras;

BRIDGET Kennedy gets ready to dive in during at the start of the breast stroke.

Team building put on 'hold'

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The new "team building," originally planned to be erected this fall next to the football field, is now put on "hold," according to Clarkston Athletic Director Paul Tungate.

"It's on hold until we get the money raised," said Tungate about the building which will be used by football, soccer and track teams. It consists of two team meeting rooms, lavatory facilities, an officials' room, a trainer's room and two ticket booths.

The estimated cost of the facility is between $40,000 and $60,000 and will be paid completely through donations and fund raisers. Tungate said fund raising will continue throughout the fall and winter sports seasons and he hopes enough money will be raised in time for construction in the spring.

One way people can donate is by joining the "Block Club." People can donate $10 per block. Members of the Block Club will be recognized someplace within the building. Donations to the Block Club can be sent to: Clarkston Athletic Booster, 6992 Cranberry Lake Road, Clarkston, MI 48348.

Soccer sign-up deadline Aug. 3

Soccer players of all ages can still sign up for leagues sponsored by the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department.

The deadline for signing up is Saturday, Aug. 3.

In addition to the regular slate of leagues, Soccer Director Fiona Brown said this fall under-10 and under-12 leagues for girls are offered.

And, Brown said, because of their popularity this spring, the men's and women's adult soccer leagues will continue this fall, playing matches on Sundays at 4 and 6 p.m. Whole teams should sign up for the adult leagues, but the rec. department will try to find teams for individual players.

Brown said one change will be that the under-14 travel league will be discontinued, but an under-14 "house" team will play locally.

High school coaches for the Kiddy Kickers and under-8 leagues are needed, and applications are accepted taken for referees and those working on the lines, Brown said.

For more information, call the rec. department at 625-8223.

Fall softball leagues open

Ball players may register for fall adult softball leagues through Aug. 7 at the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, unless leagues are filled earlier.

The rec. department offers men's, women's and co-recreational leagues that play twice a week, once a week or on weekends. Games begin in August at Clintonwood Park in Independence Township.

For fees and other information, call the rec. department at 625-8223.

Ace at 12th hole

Sam Cosma of the Clarkston area fired a hole-in-one June 5 at Pine Lake Country Club in Orchard Lake.

Cosma sank the ace on the 158-yard 12th hole.

The hole-in-one makes Cosma eligible to win a trip for two to Scotland in the Drumbie Rusty Nail Hole-in-One Sweepstakes.

A GOOD FLOOR PLAN

A FLOOR PLAN that makes sense is an important consideration when buying a home.

QUESTION: I have been looking at old homes but they all seem to have jumbled up floor plans caused by adding rooms and changing room sizes. What is your guide to a good floor plan?

ANSWER: A sound floor plan is one where you can get to the separate areas of the house without going through another area (like a bedroom). The different areas should be well separated. The kitchen should be easily accessible from the dining room and recreation area.

Improperly placed or oversized windows can make furniture arrangement impossible. A good floor plan is only appreciated when you have suffered through a bad one.

Fife a national 'senior to watch'

Clarkston senior Dugan Fife most likely will end up playing college basketball next year.

But the 6-foot, 3-inch all-state basketball player has also been receiving plenty of recognition for his football skills.

Fife is listed in the current edition of Street & Smith's College Football, a magazine distributed nationally. His name, school, city and state are published among other high school quarterbacks across the country in the "Other prep seniors to watch" section, a section which follows the magazine's choices for its 1991 High School All-America Team.

From his junior year to the present,

Fife has been recruited by a host of universities for either basketball or football, or both sports.

Fife, who attended the elite Nike basketball camp this summer and will be one of the leading candidates for the state's Mr. Basketball award in 1992, averaged nearly 30 points on last year's 22-1 basketball team. His strong and accurate passing arm helped the football Wolves come to within one game of the state playoffs last season. This past spring he was also the shortstop on the varsity baseball team, earning second-team all-Greater Oakland Activities League honors.

The winner of $1,000 worth of free dry cleaning from Clarkston One-Hour Martinizing on Ortonville Road, Independence Township, is Donald C. Blanchard of Waterford.

The drawing for the Clean Getaway Sweepstakes was July 5 for the 70 Martinizing dry cleaning stores in the area. One person from each store won a year's worth of free dry cleaning.

One customer's name from each store also was drawn as a finalist for the grand prize Caribbean Cruise. From the Clarkston store, Judy Stevens of Edgewood, Independence Township, was selected as a finalist.

A drawing from the 70 finalists, to be held at a later date, will determine the grand prize winner.

Allen-Care provides homey, adult foster care

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It is affectionately known as "grandma's house." But it is really much more.

Allen-Care, on Parview Drive, Independence Township, is a state-licensed adult foster care facility with private and semi-private rooms for five people in a home atmosphere.

"My mother and grandmother both stay here, so we have a personal as well as professional interest in our adult foster care home here," said Pat Allen, who is co-owner with her husband, Jim.

Opened in March 1990, the adult foster care includes 24-hour supervision, personal care, meals and necessary transportation — in addition to room and board.

"We have the type of atmosphere which I know that my grandfather would have wanted for my grand-doctors.

Allen-Care is equipped to provide other services. "Our care provides for meal planning supervised by a dietitian, shopping, linen and laundry service and assists in delivery of pharmaceutical and medical supplies. We even have a hair dresser come in to do the ladies' hair," Allen said.

The facility includes a living room, dining room and yard that are free of barriers to wheelchairs. The entire house is fully wheelchair accessible.

"We want the ladies to feel like this is home; everything is designed to make it easy for them to move around," Allen said.

Allen decided to open the facility with her husband, Jim, a UPS driver, when it became necessary to find help for her mother, who was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis in 1967.

After caring for her mother for many years on their own, the Allens began to investigate the possible of foster care.

"We found that there was an unmet need for foster care in homes, so we decided to open one of our own," she said.

It took the Allens over a year to get the project off the ground.

"We contacted the Department of Social Services and sent in our application," said Jim Allen. "Then we had to find a place and then go through the many state inspections before we could actually open the doors for business. We had many years of experience of dealing with the care-giving part, but going into business for ourselves was a different story."

Three caregivers work split shifts, so there is 24-hour supervision.

According to Jo Loucks, who has been a caregiver at Allen-Care for five months and is working on her bachelor's degree in social work, taking care of the elderly is fun and rewarding.

JO LOUCKS, a caregiver at Allen-Care, walks with Dorothy Mays, a 90-year-old resident, up the specially designed wheelchair ramp to the house.

"These ladies tell some fascinating stories. I just love to sit and listen to them tell about the events in their lives," she said. "Many times the care of the elderly is overlooked. We want their quality of life to be improved, so they don't feel like they are a forgotten part of our society."

Friends and loved ones can visit the residents of Allen-Care in a comfortable atmosphere — in fact, it is a lot like a trip to grandmother's house.

What's new in business mother. It is the ideal situation for people 65 and older who need basic care but not nursing home-type care," said Allen, who has 18 years of experience as an occupational therapy assistant working with the mentally impaired and elderly.

Networking with such community services as the library, senior center and churches, Allen-Care provides access to the needed parts of everyday life. Independence Township's senior center bus takes residents to Pontiac hospitals and to in-town services such as stores and

In silence, mimes share pain, joy, grief, humor

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

When Oakland County Parks needs mimes, it looks to Clarkston High School.

This summer Clarkston graduate Melissa Bas and Clarkston senior Tim Newman (and Clarkston graduate Ted Fletcher, an alternate) have entertained young and old at Oakland County parks by starring in a traveling Mime Troupe.

The Mime Troupe is a part of Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission's "Mobile Recreation." Most of the mimes in the past have also been Clarkston graduates.

The troupe has been performing about nine skits in 45-minute shows since June and will continue through August. In addition, Bas and Newman sometimes offer a short mime workshop where the audience can even take part in tug of war (without a rope, of course).

Bas, a sophomore at Michigan State University majoring in elementary education, was in a mime troupe when she attended Clarkston High School.

"People have always told me I have an expressive

"Sometimes kids really like us, but sometimes it's hard to get their attention. They have to watch and use their imaginations. It makes them think."

Tim Newman

face," said Bas, after removing her "line of silence."

Newman, who was also in the summer traveling show last summer, will again be in the high school's mime troupe after the summer is over.

Mimes wear plain (often black and white) clothes to help put more emphasis on their expressive faces. They also work with hardly any props, which makes it even more important for the audience to use their imaginations.

In this day of television, especially quick MTV-style camera takes, it's sometimes difficult for the mimes to entertain children.

"Sometimes kids really like us," said Newman, "but sometimes it's hard to get their attention. They have to watch and use their imaginations. It makes them think."

Bas and Newman are spending much of their summer in silence, but they are loving the times when they have filled Oakland parks with the sounds of laughter.

"People have always told me I have an expressive face."

Melissa Bas

ONE of the Oakland County Parks Mime Troupe skits features that often dreaded trip to the dentist, in this case doctor Tim Newman. You might see pain, but you won't hear any from patient Melissa Bas, a Clarkston High School alumnus.

THE DENTIST, played by Tim Newman, finds it challenging when squirting water into the mouth of his not-so-patient patient, Melissa Bas.

Homeowners add to chemical problem

That old saying about being part of the solution rather than part of the problem has never been more true than today, when everyone from your neighborhood to your representative in Congress probably feels some degree of concern about pesticides in the environment.

Though the spotlight is on pesticide use in large-scale commercial agriculture, every homeowner who sprays tomato plants with fungicides, spreads weed-and-feed fertilizer on the lawn or wages chemical warfare against ants in the pantry is playing a small role in the controversy over pesticide residues in food and surface and ground water contamination.

That is not to say that properly used pesticides pose grave threats to well-being.

"When used according to label directions, which come out of years of study of effectiveness and safety, the pesticides available to homeowners are extremely safe, to the user and to the environment," says Larry Olson, Michigan State University pesticide education coordinator.

"Misuse or improper storage or disposal of leftover chemicals or containers, however, can contribute to the overall concern about pesticides in the environment," he said.

For information about chemicals and pesticides, call the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service at 858-0880.

Park discount card for disabled people

A special discount card gives free entry to people with disabilities at a few Oakland County parks.

The Handicap Discount Card, issued in cooperation with the Oakland County Easter Seals Society, permits free entry on weekdays for the cardholder and vehicle passengers at Independence Oaks near Clarkston, Addison Oaks near Oxford, and Groveland Oaks near Holly.

Independence Oaks features a one-third mile paved nature trail with interpretive stations, plus wheelchair-accessible paths, shelters, picnic tables and fishing piers.

The card also entitles its holder to a reduced entry fee of $3.50 at two waterparks and 25 percent off camping at Addison Oaks and Groveland Oaks at all times.

In addition, the card reduces fees by 50 percent for facilities including the tennis complex, shuffleboard and volleyball on weekdays.

To be eligible for the card, applicants must reside in Oakland County, be at least 18 years old and permanently disabled (mentally or physically). They must also receive some type of disability compensation from a recognized agency and have a signed physician's statement certifying their disability.

A number of private businesses have agreed to honor the card as well.

For more information about other benefits of the card, call Sandy DeVance at 858-4945 or Tedde Schild at the Easter Seals Society, 338-3030.

Calendar just for community events

Clubs and service organizations may want to make a quick call to the Community House of Birmingham before scheduling any big events.

The Community House is offering a Community Calendar so organizations can avoid scheduling events on the same day in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties.

The free service is patterned after a similar one based at the Field Museum in Chicago.

The Community Calendar for the tri-county area works this way: Planners of special charity events sponsored by non-profit organizations are asked to submit in writing the following information on their future events:

Nature and name of the event, name of the sponsoring organization, date, time, place, name and telephone number of contact person.

This information should be sent to: The Calendar Keeper, 380 S. Bates, Birmingham, MI 48009.

Beginning Sept. 16, planners may check out potential dates for an event by calling the Community House at (313) 644-5832 and asking the Calendar Keeper to replay the information listed for specific dates.

Pet of the Week

Huggable Hannah

Hannah is a bundle of energy who's looking for a home.

This brindle boxer is 1 year old and weighs 45 pounds. She's been spayed but isn't suggested for families with small children, due to her size.

Hannah's adoption fee is $35.

To see Hannah, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Rochester Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

-Curt McAllister

HANNAH is a little hyper at first meeting, so she would do best with a family who would appreciate her energy.

Photographer wins national award

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Despite a national photography award to her credit,

Jenni Salata, 9, can't name her favorite of the arts. The Bailey Lake Elementary pupil, soon to be a fourth-grader, loves the piano and recently stopped her violin lessons to spend more time on her favorite instrument. But she also likes painting and drawing — and, now, jewelry-making, which she does with her mother, Lynn. Of course, there's still photography. This summer, her grandfather, Ralph Haskin of Anchorville, is going to show her how to develop black and white film.

With his help, she already learned how to shoot double exposures, one of which placed first in her school's Parent Teacher Association Reflections contest. It then captured the top award in the statewide Reflections contest.

Better yet, Salata recently was informed that her photo placed third in the nationwide Reflections contest, netting her a $100 check, a certificate, and a book donated to her school library in her honor from Reader's Digest magazine.

Her photo, depicting two images of herself facing each other on opposite ends of a sofa, was not her top choice of entries, Salata said, explaining that her first choice did not turn out.

She had tried to photograph herself playing the piano and accompanying herself on the violin — but the photos turned out with a black line in the center, she said, adding that she plans to try it again this summer.

She also plans to ride her new bike a lot this summer around her Ranch Estates, Independence Township, neighborhood. Before she won $100 for her photography, she had been asking her parents to buy her a new bike but was told she would have to make her old one last another year.

When the check arrived in the mail, Salata knew exactly what to do with the money.

"The bike was $119 plus tax, but my dad (John) paid the extra," Salata said.

Salata enjoys all school subjects and especially math and English, but she can't narrow down a career yet.

"I have so many things I like to do, I don't know what is my favorite," she said.

She admits that she's thinking about becoming a pianist. In fact, as a first-grader, she placed first in her school's Reflections contest in the music composition category.

In this year's contest, she decided to branch out. "I was going to do some other things — artwork. But my mom was in charge of it, and she picked my dad (an artist) to judge the art, so I couldn't enter that," she said.

Photography was a good outlet of her creativity, she found. Plus, it provided her with a new bike, which proved to be a good outlet of her energy.

JENNI SALATA, 9, won a national award for her photography efforts. She also enjoys making doll-size foods and accessories with her brother, Johnny, 5.

Pianist captures state honors

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

When Jonathan Moniaci, 10, isn't playing kickball or building models, he usually can be found playing the piano.

"I like playing it because, well, I think it's fun," said Moniaci, who recently finished his fourth-grade year in Rayna Auger's class at Bailey Lake Elementary School. Moniaci also likes composing on the piano and recently won a state award for his efforts.

After winning the Parent Teacher Association's Reflections contest at his school in the music composition category, he placed third in the statewide contest.

The son of Doug and Lavonne Moniaci of Wa-La-Hi, Independence Township, Moniaci said he named his composition "A Wish," which was the theme of this year's Reflections contest.

He did not expect to win a state award, though, he said.

"I was really surprised," he said. "I got a letter in the mail. My mom waited for me to get home (to open it)."

To enter the contest, he first wrote the music, then played it on a cassette tape, which the judges heard to make their decisions.

The contest gave Moniaci an opportunity to really compose something, rather than merely experiment on the keys.

"I haven't written (music) down on paper before, but I've kind of made up little tunes," he said.

Though he doesn't know yet what he plans to do as a career, Moniaci said he'll continue studying music.

BEFORE school is out for the summer, composer Jonathan Moniaci, 10, agrees to play the school piano a little for the photographers.
