No answers yet in contaminated water

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Contaminated water hasn't left Clarkston, and it hasn't left the thoughts of the Clarkston Village Council. And the council's frustration about getting answers through governmental bureaucracies continues to flow as much as the tainted water.

Lois Graham, environmental sanitarian for the Michigan Department of Public Health, updated the council about contamination findings (see chart) Oct. 14.

"I don't want you to panic or think you're sitting on a time bomb," said Graham.

Trustee Douglas Roeser told Graham that he wished her department could test every village resident's water and added, "If you can't do it, we should do it."

Council President Sharron Catallo told Graham, "I'd really like to see the whole Main Street done."

Graham responded, "We don't have the lab capacity."

Graham suggested that the problem be solved not by well replacement but rather through a hookup with another municipality's water source. She also said the council should start to request funding to solve the problem.

But she admitted the budget still isn't settled and said, "I still don't know what I have to work with."

Graham spoke about several homes in the Northview Drive area of Independence Township now drinking bottled water because of Freon contamination. Graham said the Freon most likely came from "crushed (aerosol) cans" at the Powell landfill on Clarkston Road.

She also discussed the water contamination of five houses near the intersection of Clarkston Road and M-15.

The Village Muffler & Brake Specialist is located at that intersection. The site used to be a gas station and continues to house four buried gasoline tanks.

Graham said some of the residences affected in that area have water contaminated with gasoline products but pointed out, "I can't say all the contamination is attributed

Three school administrators to retire

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Three Clarkston school administrators announced their resignations to the Clarkston Board of Education Oct. 14.

The board voted unanimously to accept the resignations of John T. Hayden, Mel LeRoy Vaara and William E. Neff due to retirement.

Hayden, principal of North Sashabaw Elementary School, said in a letter, "I have very much enjoyed my 30-plus years with the Clarkston schools but feel that the time has come to move into the next phase of my life." His last day is Dec. 31.

Vaara, assistant superintendent in charge of auxiliary services and interim principal at Clarkston High School, announced that his last day would be June 30, 1992. "It has been a great run of 37 years," he said in a letter.

Neff, director of administrative services, said his last day would be July 1, 1992, but that he wished to Benefit fund for fire survivor

A fund was established in Oxford last week to help the survivor of a Springfield Township building fire.

Julie Tripp, a lifelong Oxford resident, was saved from the early morning Oct. 3 blaze at an apartment building on Dixie Highway and Davisburg Road.

She has moved in with her parents on Park Street, Oxford. The First Baptist Churches of Oxford and Davisburg have established a fund to help her get back on her feet.

"Since the tragic fire in Julie Tripp's apartment and because of the loss and ruin of many of her possessions, ... (we have) established a Tripp Restoration Fund," said associate pastor James Kester.

Anyone who would like to donate goods or money is invited to help. Make checks payable to First Baptist Church of Oxford, attention Julie Tripp Relief Fund.

Tripp also needs furniture, clothing, linens and miscellaneous items. Call the church at 628-1204 for more information.

Questions still flowing over water contamination to that (the Village Muffler & Brake Specialist site). There could be other sources."

Some members of the council said they have been frustrated in the past about the buried tanks and are seeking results, with or without the aid of state or local government agencies.

"I think we should concentrate on getting the tanks removed," said Trustee Robert Whitmer.

"We've been going around and around, not getting any of these people to do anything," said Roeser.

Village manager Artemus Pappas has especially been frustrated in his efforts to find out more about the buried gas tanks. Among others, Pappas has sought answers from the Michigan Department of Health, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, the Oakland County Tank Testing Office, the state fire marshal and the local fire marshal.

Pappas and the council thanked Graham for appearing at the meeting.

However, even Graham and her office apparently haven't communicated with all the other agencies on the matter.

"I don't want you to panic or think you're sitting on a time bomb."

Lois Graham

When council members asked Graham whether the gasoline tanks had been tested by the state fire marshal's office, she replied, "He (the state fire marshal) ordered the test as far as I know."

However, when Lt. David Smith of the state fire marshal's office was contacted the next day, Smith said the site wasn't tested.

"We don't have any field investigators," said Smith, who said some people will graduate from inspector school on Oct. 25. One inspector stationed in Northville will cover five counties.

And even though the state fire marshal office won't have any field investigators until Oct. 25, Jennifer Beam of the Oakland County Tank Testing Office has for months been saying that her office is unable to test a tank unless the state fire marshal office first confirms possible leakage at a site.

In the meantime, questions continue to flow about water contamination in Clarkston.

Superintendent Gary Haner said that the position of elementary principal had been posted, but the new person would be placed at Clarkston Elementary School.

Clarkston Elementary Principal William Potvin will be placed at Pine Knob Elementary School, and Pine Knob Elementary Principal George White will be placed at North Sashabaw Elementary to take Hayden's place, he said.

"It is healthy for the organization when we have multiple positions at the same level ... for those persons to rotate their assignments at that level," he said.

Following this philosophy, residents "can expect that other rotations will follow in the future," he said. The other positions have not been posted yet, he said.

Survey results: School perceptions depend on number of years in district, number of children

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

A sampling of Clarkston school district residents shows a discrepancy in perceptions about Clarkston schools.

The survey, designed by Oakland Schools and conducted by about 40 parent volunteers Sept. 16-19, asked 20 questions to about 400 randomly selected registered voters.

A committee is to study the results and present recommendations to the school board.

Lindson Feun, research and evaluation consultant for Oakland Schools, analyzed the responses, comparing answers to the survey with the number of years the respondent had lived in the school district, for instance, or the whether the respondent had children in the school system.

A definite trend emerged, Feun told the school board Oct. 14.

The longer a respondent had lived in the district, the less likely he or she was to have children in the district.

Plus, the longer a respondent had lived in the district, the less likely he or she was to consider school facilities a problem.

"The pattern holds true throughout the survey," said Feun. "Those who have lived in the district longer don't consider it a problem."

However, the long-time residents considered lack of discipline in students a significant problem, while those who had lived in the district a shorter time did not consider it a problem.

Further, those without children in the district were more likely to favor year-round school than those with children in school.

Feun also pointed out that in many categories a lot of respondents said they "didn't know" the answer.

"People are not well informed. They have perceptions based, perhaps, on incomplete information," Feun Survey results will be printed next week.

said.

The discrepancy between the perceptions of long-time residents and newer residents may be attributed to one other factor — education, said Feun.

Of those who have lived in the district more than 20 years, 52 percent said the last grade in school they completed was "some high school (grades 10-12). Of those who have lived in the area 16-20 years, 56 percent responded with "some high school."

In contrast, 25 percent of those who have lived in the district 1-5 years said the last grade they completed was "college graduate."

"The people who have lived here the longest tend to have less education, so it's a value system," said Feun.

In a few categories, long-time and newer residents agreed.

For instance, about 70 percent of all residents opposed joining another school district to solve facilities problems.

And 43 percent of all respondents said use of drugs/substances was a "very serious" problem, said Feun.

"The pattern holds true throughout the survey. Those who have lived in the district longer don't consider it a problem."

Lindson Feun

One other problem showed up through the survey, as well. District residents receive information about the school district in widely different ways.

For instance, 28 percent receive their school information from The Clarkston News, 18 percent from school newsletters and 15 percent from word of mouth. The rest received their information from nine other sources.

Of those who have lived her longest, about 40 percent receive information from The Clarkston News, while about 20 percent of new residents listed it as the major source.

Of those with children in the district, about 39 percent listed the school newsletter as the major source of information about schools. Of those without children in the district, 35 percent listed The Clarkston News.

Nancy Stark, director of public information for Oakland Schools, said the board will need to analyze the information further and then figure out a way to related to the residents.

"You're going to have to look at a more diverse community and find a different way to communicate to it," said Stark. "Where school news comes from is significant. ... First, figure out your message; then, figure out how to deliver it."

"You're going to have to look at a more diverse community and find a different way to communicate to it."

Goose hunting recommended on Heather Lake

BY JULIE CAMPE

A Hunting Area Control Committee has recommended controlled goose shooting with certain restrictions as one way to cut down the goose population on the

Reporter's Notebook

Before the Clarkston Board of Education voted to accept the resignations of administrators John Hayden, Mel Vaara and William Neff (due to retirement), school board President Thomas Howard quipped, "Do I hear a motion to deny this request?"

Hayden, sitting in the audience, responded, "I object."

It's a record for Joel Burnell and his cable crew from United Cable's public access studio.

The crew used four one-hour tapes to record the Clarkston Board of Education meeting Monday, Oct. 14, and ran out of tape.

"It's a record for us for any meeting," Burnell said, explaining that he records township and village meetings, too.

Officially, the board adjourned the meeting around midnight.

Items for Reporter's Notebook are compiled by Clarkston News staff members.

64-acre lake off Clarkston Road.

To take effect, the Independence and Orion township boards must approve the recommendations.

The committee was comprised of Orion Township Supervisor Jo Ann Van Tassel, Independence Township Supervisor Frank Ronk, Oakland County Sheriff's Department Lt. Gerald Reeves, Michigan State Police Sgt. Robert D. Swackhammer and Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Sgt. Larry D. Sargent.

During public hearings in the past year, area residents' requests have ranged from banning hunting from the area to continuing shooting at geese to scare them away from the lake.

Hunting Control Committee recommendations

After the hearings, the committee recommended three steps to solve the goose problem on Heather Lake. They include:

1) The Heather Lake Homeowner Association (HLHA) should continue goose roundup during the molting period in cooperation with the DNR Wildlife Division.

2) Due to the size of the lake, limited hunting — outside of existing safety zones — does not present a danger to people or property that can normally be expected in the vicinity.

3) A controlled access goose shoot should be conducted on the lake under the sponsorship of the HLHA with cooperation of the DNR Wildlife Division. This shoot should be limited to a maximum of three to four individuals at one time.

The HLHA should develop criteria for participants that satisfy concerns of area residents.

Suggested criteria:

a) Proof of successful completion of a course in hunter safety education.

b) Proof of previous hunting experience in the form of a previously issued hunting license.

c) A current Michigan hunting license.

d) A Michigan duck stamp.

e) A federal waterfowl stamp.

f) Shot shells should be limited to No. 2 or No. 4 steel shot.

g) One week in advance, the Heather Lake Board should notify all homeowners within Heather Lake Estates of all planned hunts. The notice should include dates and times of the controlled hunts.

h) The shoot should be non-recreational in nature and very limited in scope. The goal is not to kill large numbers of geese but to drive them from the lake and to prevent Heather Lake from becoming a goose sanctuary.

Rationale for recommendations

According to the committee, Heather Lake is rapidly developing as a goose sanctuary, causing problems to property surrounding the lake.

For instance, the geese, with help from lawn fertilizer, have created aquatic nuisance weed growth on the lake. And the neighborhood beach often is littered with goose droppings, making it unsafe for sunbathers. Cleaning the beach costs $40 per session.

In addition, lakefront residents suffer from excessive numbers of geese loafing and grazing on their lawns.

The committee also said that limited hunting does not present a danger to area residents because the lake is so large. Further, a controlled goose hunt in the past worked well, and no unsafe hunting practices occurred. Two goose roundups during molting period were not as successful.

The committee focused on the portion of Heather Lake Estates bounded by Newcastle Drive to the south, Hawksmore Drive to the west, Klais Drive to the north, and Shrewsbury Drive to the east.

Dates have yet to be set for the matter before Independence and Orion township boards.

Water worries

A MAP provided by the Michigan Department of Public Health shows the water wells tested in downtown Clarkston. Along Northview Drive, Independence Township, Freon was found in the water. Those residents have been connected with a municipal water supply, thanks to money from the federal Super Fund. Along Main Street, five residential wells were found contaminated. The source of the contamination is not known. Some health officials speculate that an abandoned landfill on Clarkston Road is responsible, while others suspect that underground gasoline tanks at the Village Muffler Shop are responsible. (See story, Page 1)

The Senate sank lower this week

When controversies arise at government meetings on all levels, the officials postpone action.

They let the populace cool off and hope something will come along to keep them away from the next meeting. Officials keep doing this until there is no audience, then they vote.

This happened at the Senate vote on Clarence Thomas. Only this time it backfired. (This is being written prior to the promised 6 p.m. vote of Tues., Oct. 15. We expect another postponement.)

When the Judiciary hearings ended many elected officials in America were stained to some degree. The stain-carrying brush of scorn and rejection hit the entire Senate, with the committee being targeted more specifically.

With the TV ratings in, there is still more proof, if any were needed, that the way to get Americans' attention is to talk dirty and involve sex.

The senators did an outstanding job of repeating certain words over and over, but not until they apologized for "having" to say them.

They had the audience in day time, prime time and night time, and changed no minds except for the few who had hopes that our senators had some integrity.

The whole TV affair would not have been aired if one of the senators or an aide had not leaked a confidential FBI report.

Anita Hill did not volunteer to come forth. Thomas was not asked about the allegations in her sworn statement to the FBI. Only after the report was leaked, perhaps illegally according to Sen. Biden, did the circus come to our living rooms.

Biden promised an investigation. Any bets on blame being cast?

One thing we can be sure of... the senators will relate how hard they worked this week, and will vote themselves another raise, bounce some more checks and neglect to pay their cafeteria bill. JAS

Arkansas and Frankenmuth

Jim
Sherman

Many downtowns in small-town America are deteriorating. Observations on a recent, backroads trip through four states proved that the deterioration is not always confined to the downtowns.

Of course, I didn't have to drive through Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas to gain this knowledge. There are several instances here in Michigan.

The super-store comes into the neighboring bigger town and slowly the dime stores, shoe stores, appliance stores, etc. in hometowns across the USA fade away.

Some downtowns stay a little vibrant with "themes." Williamston, Mich and Van Buren, Ark both took the antique store (mall) route. Some survive with service-related businesses.

A store owner in Van Buren told me, "As Fort Smith (their neighbor) grew, Van Buren just dried up and turned into junk shops." Antique lovin' Hazel agreed with that assessment for some of their stores.

But, the backward slide of small town downtowns isn't the point of this column. We went to Arkansas for a newspaper convention. One of our writers, Dennis Carter, is from Mountain Home, AK, and he has high praise for AK.

So, we decided to drive around the state a bit. Historic, touristy, Eureka Springs was great. The drives on highways 7, 23 and 62 are scenic, around Bull Shoals and up the highest mountain range in Arkansas; Magazine Mt., 7,763 ft. were twisty and fun.

Besides a native craft shop sign on every other fence post, the scenes were... retaining ponds on numerous hillsides, corrugated metal lean-to shelters, orchards of peaches, apples, blueberries and grapes, and hundreds of chicken coops.

Now we're getting to the point of this column, chickens. Singularly or in multiples these long, low coops with curtain sides appeared throughout our trip. It appeared about equal, those that had been abandoned and those still in service.

Chicken raising rates right up there with cotton and rice as leading products of Arkansas. Grocery shoppers may recognize the Tyson brand on chicken packages. Tyson's home is in Arkansas.

I believe Georgia is the largest chicken-growing state in the nation, but Arkansas has plenty. And, with all the anti-cholesterol literature in circulation, more and more chicken is needed.

Plus, and here's the real point of this column, Frankenmuth, Mich continues to need more and more each year.

More tourists visited Frankenmuth last year than Mount Rushmore and Graceland combined. Between Memorial Day and Labor Day 348,000 people dined on Zehnder's chicken, etc. That's nine percent more than 1990.

It appears whatever chicken Arkansas can grow, Frankenmuth, KFC, Church's, J. L. Wishbone and the no-red-meat dieters will buy.

Shooting unfairly blamed on hunters

In the Oct. 2 issue of The News, there was a very inaccurate and obviously "anti-hunter" article by Mr. Dennis Carter regarding the shooting of a Mrs. Giacalone's cat.

How and why does Mr. Carter label the shooter as "hunter?" And why is "hunting season dangerous to pets?" At the time of the shooting, I believe there was no hunting season open. So why was the shooter automatically a hunter?

Probably some neighbor saw the cat carrying home a squealing baby rabbit or perhaps got tired of the cat plucking birds off their feeder.

Does Mr. Carter realize that a loose house cat becomes perhaps the worst predator of all—because they kill for fun, not just for something to eat.

Dear ol' Tabby may be great around the house (and, yes, we have two of 'em), but in the field it's a killing machine.

I think Mr. Carter owes us hunters an apology.

Poor word choice

This letter is in regards to an article in your paper the week of Oct. 6. The article was about the Independence Township Fire Department selling one of its fire stations.

Proud SJHS mom

My daughter attends Sashabaw Junior High. I would like to compliment the staff on the good communication that was exhibited at the last parent-teacher conference. Many parents attended, and I believe we all had a good quality conference with our child's teachers.

On another occasion just last month we had a back-to-school night for the parents. I was impressed again with the staff. They are very enthusiastic educators.

I also find the parent coffees very informative. These coffees are hosted by the principal. At the last one, we learned about the school programs, and many other questions were answered.

I feel the communication is good between Sashabaw Junior High and the parents.

I'm proud to be a parent of a Sashabaw Junior High student.

Good luck at state

Congratulations to our sons, members of the varsity golf team at Clarkston High School.

On Friday, Oct. 11, they captured second place in their regional tournament, and Saturday, Oct. 19, they will advance to the state finals.

This is a rare accomplishment for Clarkston golfers, and this goal had not been achieved since 1984.

Along with the determination and constant practice on the part of our sons, we would like to thank coaches Jim Chamberlain and Tim Kaul for their patience and devotion. Also a thank you to the country club for offering our golfers a supportive course at which to play.

Last but not least we can't overlook the other nine varsity golfers who contributed to an undefeated GOAL season. And to the JV golfers, look ahead—some day this may be you.

'If it Fitz ...'

Age has its price
but the children
help pay it

Jim Fitzgerald

The answer is I likely won't have to attend Adam's funeral, or his mother's. The question is what's good about being an old poop.

The question was raised in a depressing article headlined "The Not So Golden Years" in the Oct. 7 Newsweek. The author is Eli Rubinstein, a retired psychologist living in what he calls a "well-planned retirement community" in North Carolina. Rubinstein is a healthy 72-year-old widower, financially secure, "with three grown and successful children and three adorable grandchildren."

"But I'm growing old and hating it," Rubinstein wrote. "Any retiree over 65 who claims to be happy - or even content - with his or her present condition either is lying or forgetting the past. . . . Nothing takes the place of being young and vigorous."

Rubinstein complained that his old friends are dying or ill. He's worried about what his next physical examination will discover. He said it was reassuring to wake up alive every day, but painful that "the days inexorably tick off on the calendar in my mind."

I'm over 65 and, although not retired, I don't work half the hours I did 20 years ago. Whenever I say I should retire, my wife asks "from what?" I recently lunched with an old friend and 90 percent of our conversation concerned the newly dead and the about to be. I once went 35 years without seeing a doctor, but this week I'm having my second physical in three years, and I'm nervous.

So I nodded in agreement many times while reading Rubinstein's dirge of the senior citizen. And I wrung my mind for a cheerful antidote to his bleak outlook. Something beyond the cliché that growing old is better than the alternative.

There is the satisfying fact that, based on how I prefer spending the leisure hours of my semiretirement, indications are I would lead a useful existence as a full-time loafer. By useful, for example, I mean skillfully inducing somnolence.

Adam is only 11 months old, and not yet used to his designated bed when visiting his maternal grandparents. Grandma put him in, several times, but he cried and had to be retrieved. So, at midnight, Grandpoop took over - successfully.

"I simply rubbed Adam's back for a while and blew under his ear, and he went to sleep," I later explained to anyone who would listen, trying not to brag too much about accomplishing what Grandma couldn't. It was one of the proudest moments of my life, and Grandma is sick of hearing about it.

There is 5-year-old Tricia, who knows the alphabet but not how to spell. She prints weird combinations of letters and then insists that I read them aloud. Until you've heard me pronounce hjtxo, you don't know how useful an old poop can be.

You can see where I'm headed here. Many young people - children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, nieces, nephews and so on - are important to me. Someday they're all going to die, but - selfishly, cowardly - I don't want to be around when it happens.

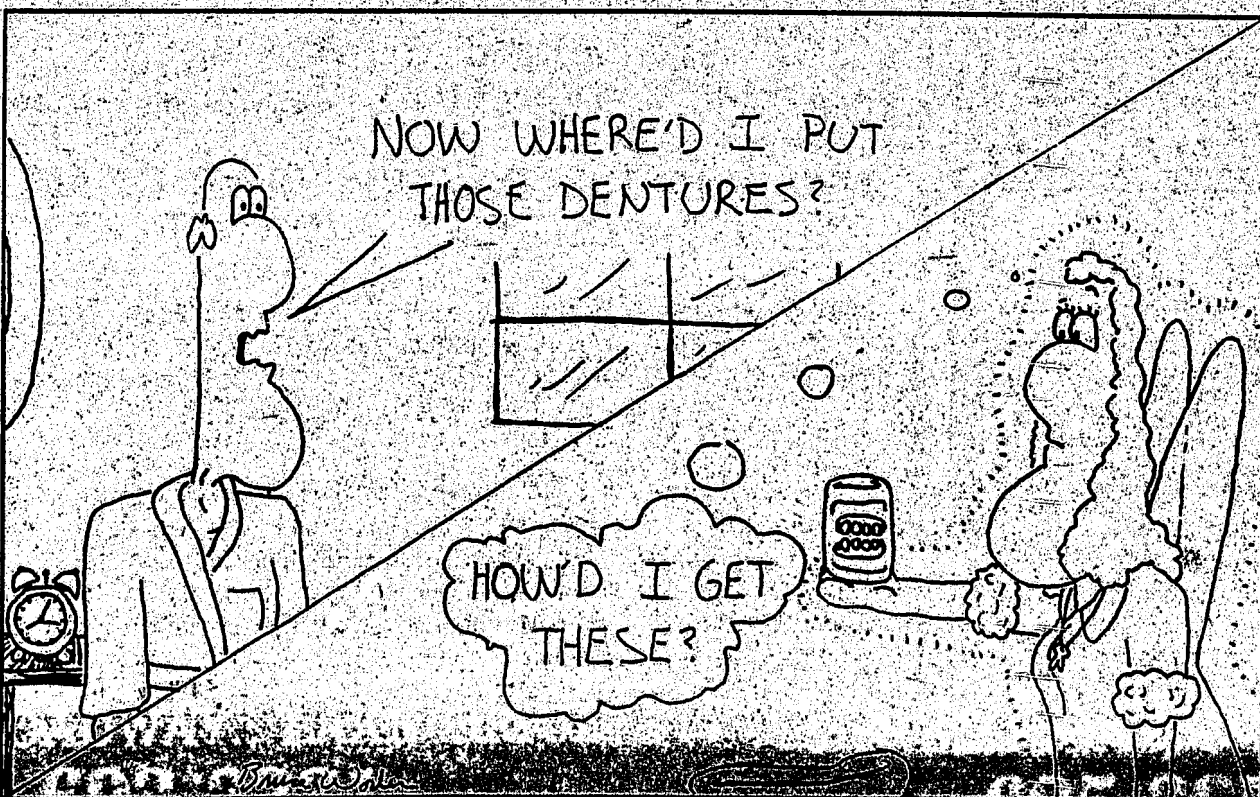

I can stand it when my much-loved ancient contemporaries drop off, and I expect them to reciprocate similarly. That's how the actuarial table works, and there's no reason knocking it.

But, barring any god-forbidden variance in the general scheme of things, I won't have to mourn the loss of the young people who delight my life and carry my immortality. I suppose I could survive such a terrible anguish - other old people somehow do it every day - but I don't want to try.

So, Eli Rubinstein, that's one good thing about being an old poop: the inexorably ticking days mean you likely won't see those "three adorable grandchildren" die.

In the meantime, I'm in a well-planned retirement community - would anyone care?

Nine acres become residential on Dixie

It doesn't happen often, but the Springfield Township Board voted unanimously Oct. 9 to approve rezoning a parcel from commercial to residential.

"We don't get to many of these," said Collin Walls, township supervisor. "It is usually the other way around with someone wanting to change from residential to commercial."

With the vote, nine acres on Dixie Highway owned by Howard Miller have been rezoned to single housing residential, which requires a 2 1/2-acre minimum lot size. It had been zoned for general commercial business.

The vacant land includes a five-acre parcel and a four-acre parcel.

Charlie the cat recovering at home

Charlie the cat is recovering satisfactorily after being shot last week in Springfield Township.

"He's got a body full of pellets, and we hope they'll work themselves out," said Shirley Giacalone, owner of the cat. "He's dragging one leg, but he's doing OK."

Giacalone said that even though a Michigan Department of Natural Resources official speculated that hunters may have been responsible, she doesn't think that's the case.

"Charlie was not shot by a hunter," she said. "It wasn't an accident. He was not shot with a full load that hunters use."

"I know a hunter wouldn't do it because he was shot at very close range. A hunter wouldn't do that. It couldn't be an accident," she said.

Hostage's message: Never give up

BY JOE FERRARI

Imagine being locked in a basement with shackles attached to one of your arms and one of your legs while you lie there clad in only your underwear with a blindfold on.

That's not a scene out of a horror movie, but a reality for former hostage David Jacobsen, who was held by members of the Islamic Jihad for 17 months back in 1985.

"Iran is the great Satan of terrorism in Lebanon," Jacobsen told about 250 people gathered at the Royalty House in Warren Sept. 25 as part of the Library Cooperative and Detroit Free Press Author Luncheon series. "They ordered the kidnaping of 95 percent of the hostages."

Jacobsen said the kidnapers, who still hold many hostages including Americans Terry Anderson, Tom Sutherland, Joe Cicippio, Jesse Turner and Alann Steen, are all part of one group — The Hizbollah Party of God.

"The Hizbollah Party of God are nothing more than hunting dogs for Iran," Jacobsen said. "They used seven different names. The Islamic Jihad is the same as the Revolutionary Justice Organization. I was held in the same area with other hostages."

Jacobsen was held with the Rev. Lawrence Martin Jenco and the Rev. Benjamin Weir, along with Anderson and Sutherland. Jenco and Weir were released a few years ago after being held more than a year, while Jacobsen was released as part of Oliver North's arms-for-hostages deals.

Jacobsen told many stories about his captivity, including one about why he was released when no one else was for a period of years.

"The arms-for-hostages deal was leaked by the Soviet KGB," he said. "They were desperate to help their Iraqi allies. Had this information been released when the Soviets wanted it, I would still be a hostage in my seventh year with Terry and Tom."

In his book, "Hostage: My Nightmare in Beirut," Jacobsen goes into great detail on why he and the others were taken. He believes that when Iran took over the U.S. Embassy in 1980, American tied up all of Iran's assets. He added that $8 billion has been resolved, and only $200 million has not been accounted for.

That, combined with the fact that Iran is hurting economically, means the hostage ordeal may be coming to a close, Jacobsen said. "Iran is in serious economic trouble. They will need to establish trade with France, Germany or the United Kingdom but can't do that until the hostages have been released."

Peggy Say, Anderson's sister and author of "Forgotten: A Sister's Struggle to Save Terry Anderson," agrees that an end to American hostages in Lebanon is near.

"The American hostages are, at best, a minor annoyance," Say said. "We know they are going to come out. We have to watch them do it in their own way. I talked to (recently released Irish hostage) Brian Keenan. The way he spoke and acted was like Terry."

Say, who's been fighting and campaigning for the release of all the hostages since her brother was captured, said she feared that her efforts would have a detrimental effect on the well being of the hostages.

"Brian told me the hostages knew what I was doing," Say said. "He said, 'What you did or said only helped us. There's no worse feeling than thinking the world abandoned you.'"

Steen's wife, Virginia Rose, told the audience that once her husband is freed, she is going to pamper him and "give him whatever he wants."

She wants to keep him away from the media so he can catch up with what's happened in his family life and the world in general.

Steen, who had been married to her husband for only six months when he was kidnaped, encouraged everyone to write to the White House so the president won't forget the hostage issue.

"Write to the White House and tell them we care," she said. Secretary of State "Jim Baker laid the groundwork. Keep the message going to the White House. We need to know America cares."

Stranded kids placed with grandparents

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Two children whose mother is charged with abandoning them have been placed in the home of their paternal grandparents.

On Oct. 10, Oakland County Probate Court Judge Eugene A. Moore changed an earlier ruling by Referee William Kopp that would have placed the 1- and 2-year-old boys with their father, Scott Allen of Independence Township. While the grandparents have custody of the children, the boys will be under the supervision of the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS).

The boys' mother, Lisa Allen of Brandon Township, is accused of child abandonment, while the father is charged with failing to protect the two young boys.

Fire damages White Lake Road company

An early morning fire Oct. 10 damaged a business on White Lake Road, Independence Township.

About 5:30 a.m. last Thursday, township firefighters were called to extinguish a fire at Clarkston Metallurgical Processing.

According to Independence Fire Chief Gar Wilson, the flames were put out in about 15 minutes.

"This was not a really big fire," said Wilson. "It has been about year since we have had a really big fire in the township."

The cause of the fire is under investigation, according to a company spokesperson. The amount of damage also has not been determined, he said.

The fire caused a power outage for part of the day and also damaged the roof and some of the company's equipment. As of Oct. 11, the company was still without 30 percent of its capacity.

According to Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson, the referee didn't have all the information necessary to make a decision.

Police would have told the referee that the father appeared "glassy-eyed and reeked of marijuana" when he arrived to pick up his truck several hours after Lisa Allen's arrest, said Thompson.

The prosecutor also said the father admitted to police that he had just smoked marijuana.

According to Moore, everyone seems to agree that the appropriate placement is with the grandparents.

But Assistant Prosecutor Edward J. Cibor didn't agree. According to Cibor, the children are at risk if placed with the father or the grandparents since they live together in Independence Township.

In his ruling, Moore stipulated that one of the grandparents be with the children at all times.

At this point, social workers and attorneys for the parents and the children testified that temporary placement of the children with the grandparents is acceptable.

According to the father's attorney, Lawrence Russell, the only person who doesn't think it is acceptable is Cibor.

The issue now is whether it will be handled through the DSS or voluntarily through the father.

A pretrial hearing for Scott Allen is scheduled for Oct. 24 in Oakland County Probate Court.

If the parents are found guilty of neglect, the court can terminate the couple's parental rights to the children.

Lisa Allen is being held in Oakland County Jail and is facing criminal charges of child abandonment in Oakland County Circuit Court. If found guilty, she could receive 10 years in jail on two counts of child abandonment and one year in jail on two counts of fourth-degree child abuse.

She and two males were arrested about noon Oct. 7 at a suspected Pontiac crack house on Paddock Street.

Police then discovered that she was the mother of two toddlers who were found alone and crying, dirty and hungry about 9:30 a.m. that day on the porch of a nearby house on Melrose, Pontiac.

False alarm ordinance dropped by township

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

An ordinance to charge residents of Springfield Township for false alarms was discussed and then dropped by the Springfield Township Board Oct. 9.

The modified ordinance called for different stages of informing the residents of the penalty for the false alarms.

In the first case of a false alarm, the offender would receive a letter explaining the ordinance. In the second case, offenders would receive a letter of warning. In the third case, the offender would be fined $25. In the fourth case, the offender would be fined $50, and on the fifth and any more cases, offenders would be fined $100.

The time period of offenses had not been determined but turned out to be a moot point when the ordinance was later dropped.

According to Trustee Nancy Strole, sheriff's deputies in the township spend about half their time running down false alarms. She said that one school in the township had 14 false alarms in a six-month time period.

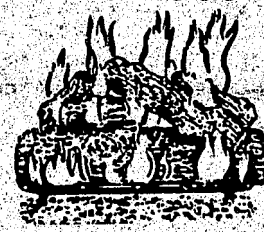

After much discussion Trustee Charles Oaks echoed much of the crowd's feelings when he said, "I will personally go and unplug my alarm before I will pay the township $25."

At this point township Supervisor Collin Walls asked the board if there was any objections to just dropping the ordinance. After no response, the ordinance was dropped.

Ridge Pointe clustering OK'd, but not construction

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Though the "cluster option" was approved for a Tindall Road housing development Oct. 9, construction won't begin immediately.

The Springfield Township Board voted unanimously Oct. 9 to approve cluster housing for Ridge Pointe. By clustering the homes together, some of the natural features of the 52 acres will be preserved.

However, the board voted 4-3 to table the site plan for the site condominium project, so the board would have time to review the master deed and bylaws for the project, which had been submitted that day.

Voting to table were Supervisor Collin Walls, Treasurer Lois Stiles and trustees Margaret Bloom and Nancy Strole. Voting against tabling were Clerk J. Calvin Walters and trustees Charles Oaks and Dennis Vallad.

Developer Bruce Burskey was disappointed by the board's decision. Before the vote, he asked them not to table it because his entire summer construction season had been used getting through the planning commission procedures before reaching the township board.

"If you table this for a month, I won't be able to start construction on the property until the spring," Burskey said. "I will work with you on the master deed and bylaws in any way you want, if you will at least let me start to rough grade."

After the motion to table the plan was approved, Vallad presented a motion to allow Burskey to begin rough grade with the condition that he would meet any board requirements of the master deed and bylaws.

The motion failed, 3-4. Voting in favor of the proposal were Vallad, Oaks and Walters. Voting no were Walls, Stiles, Bloom and Strole.

"The master deed and bylaws are a key to the whole development," said Supervisor Walls. "The two go hand in hand."

Strole suggested that Burskey request a special meeting if he didn't want to wait until the November township meeting for consideration.

Before the board took action, Mike Powell of Powell and Associates Engineers of Waterford explained the proposal to the packed township hall.

Under a standard subdivision option, the zoning requires that houses be placed on one-acre minimum lots. That would mean that 52 houses could be placed on the Tindall Road parcel, but it would also mean that many trees would have to be cleared.

However, by building only 38 homes and clustering them together, 28 acres could be left in their natural state, Powell said.

The concept is designed to keep the country atmosphere and leave as much of the land as possible the way it is, he said.

Township board members voiced approval of the cluster idea.

"I usually am against any type of cluster," said Strole. "But in this case I feel there will be less disturbance with the cluster plan. I feel it meets to a higher degree the requirements for clustering. I think the residents will be much happier with this option."

Stiles agreed. "There is going to be some amount of disturbance, but I feel this plan shows less ... destruction to the natural face of the property," she said.

With the clustering of homes, houses will be placed

"I usually am against any type of cluster. But in this case I feel there will be less disturbance with the cluster plan."

Trustee Nancy Strole

Drug-free zone at Davisburg El.

Drug-users and pushers better think twice before approaching Davisburg Elementary School in Springfield Township.

The township board voted unanimously Oct. 9 to create a Drug Free School Zone within 500 feet of the Holly Community Schools building on Davisburg Road.

A 1988 state law provided for strict penalties to be imposed on drug trafficking by individuals 18 years of age or older trafficking to someone three years younger than themselves.

Joan Clements, a representative from the Holly school system, presented to the board a plan to create up Drug Free School Zone at Davisburg Elementary.

According to Clements, the signs would be provided by the Holly school system and either put up by the school or by the Road Commission for Oakland County.

on lots of one-half to three-fourth acres.

As site condominiums, the development will look like a single family subdivision. However, the homeowner will own only his building and a small "building envelope" surrounding it. The property between houses — and the 28 acres to be left in their natural state — will be owned by the condominium association, which is comprised of homeowners.

A master deed and bylaws will determine the rules of the development and may govern such things as architectural style of homes, snow removal and lawn maintenance.

According to Vallad, allowing the rough grade to begin would not hurt anything because the developer couldn't really do anything more to the land until the site plan was approved.

However, Walls said that allowing the rough grade to begin would set a bad precedent for future projects.

Father found guilty of neglect

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

David Lewis Simpson, 23, of Independence Township was found guilty of neglecting his 5-year-old son Oct. 9 in Oakland County Probate Court.

It took the six-person jury less than two hours of deliberation to return the verdict of guilty against Simpson. Simpson is currently on trial with Paul Matthew Salvino, 23, of Independence Township on charges filed in July connected with sexual abuse of the young boy.

After deliberating an hour, the jury asked to return to the courtroom so that Judge Barry M. Grant could again explain the law's definition of neglect.

It took only a few minutes for the jury to make their decision after Grant finished.

This verdict paves the way for Grant to permanently end the parental rights to the child by Simpson. Grant is expected to make that determination Nov. 6.

According to Assistant Prosecutor Lisa Tomko, this is the best thing for the child.

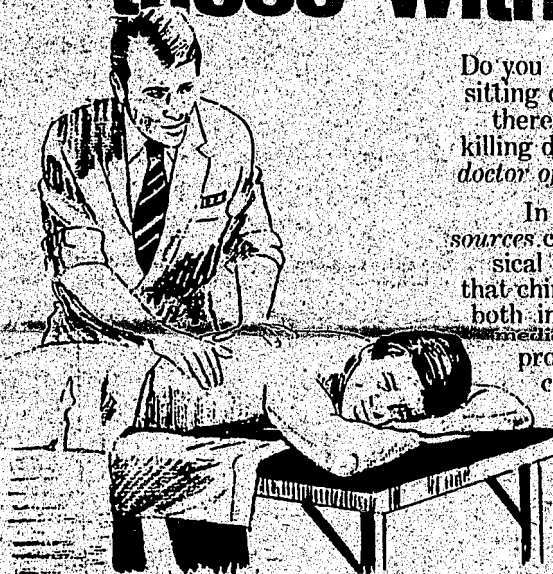

Simpson's defense attorney, Len Gorz, declined to comment on the outcome because of the Simpson-Salvino criminal case in the Oakland County Circuit Court.

According to Gorz's comments in earlier proceedings, he conceded Simpson was showed neglect in allowing the boy to smoke and drink, but still contends that Simpson did not physically or sexually abuse the child.

Carolyn Dean of Caro, the boy's mother, pleaded no contest to neglect earlier in the month. A no-contest plea is not an admission of guilt but is treated as a conviction for sentencing purposes. Grant is expected to rule on her parental rights Dec. 4.

According to officials, the child is now in foster care.

Some considerations for those with back pain.

Do you have pain or discomfort in your back while standing, sitting or even lying down? If so, you will be happy to know there is an effective treatment that does not require pain-killing drugs or surgery. The procedure is administered by a doctor of chiropractic.

In fact, the following scientific studies done by medical sources comparing chiropractic care against medical and physical therapy non-surgical care of the back and neck show that chiropractic procedure relieves chronic and severe pain, both immediate and long term, in half the time it takes medical physicians (who are not trained in chiropractic procedure). No wonder as many people with back pain choose to go to chiropractors as go to orthopedic surgeons.

If you have been suffering without adequate relief, it might be wise to get a second opinion.

RESEARCH SUPPORTS THE FACTS

California Workmen's Compensation Study (1972), C. Richard Wolf, M.D.

Average lost time per employee — 32 days in the M.D.-treated group, 15.6 days in the chiropractor-treated group.

Employees reporting no lost time — 21% in the M.D.-treated group, 47.8% in the chiropractor-treated group.

Employees reporting lost time in excess of 60 days — 12.2% in the M.D.-treated group, 6.7% in the chiropractor-treated group.

Employees reporting complete recovery — 34.8% in the M.D.-treated group, 51% in the chiropractor-treated group.

Oregon Workmen's Compensation Study (1971), Rolland Martin, M.D., Director, Workmen's Compensation Board.

Examining the forms of conservative therapy the majority received, it is interesting to note the results of those treated by chiropractic physicians.

A total of twenty-nine claimants were treated by no other physician than a chiropractor. 82% of these workmen resumed work after one week of time loss. Their claims were closed without a disability award.

Examining claims treated by the M.D., in which the diagnosis seems comparable to the type of injury suffered by the workmen treated by the chiropractor, 41% of these workmen resumed work after one week of time loss.

British Medical Research Council Study (1950) reported in the British Medical Journal for June, 1950.

Results — Chiropractic treatment was more effective than hospital outpatient management, mainly for patients with chronic or severe back pain. A benefit of about 7% points on the Oswestry scale between three quarters and twice as effective according to Dr. Tom Meade, medical researcher in charge of study) was seen at two years. The benefit of chiropractic treatment became more evident throughout the follow-up period. Secondary outcome measures also showed that chiropractic was more beneficial.

Conclusions — For patients with low back pain in whom manipulation is not contraindicated, chiropractic almost certainly confers worthwhile, long term benefit in comparison with hospital outpatient management. The benefit is seen mainly in those with chronic or severe pain. Introducing chiropractic into NHS practice should be considered.

British Medical Research Council Study (1950) reported in the British Medical Journal for June, 1950.

Some 300,000 patients are referred to hospitals for back pain each year, "of whom about 72,000 would be expected to have no contraindications to manipulation." If all these patients were referred for chiropractic instead of hospital treatment, the annual cost would be about $6,640,000. Our results suggest that there might be a reduction of some 290,000 days in sickness absence during two years, saving about $21,680,000 in output and $4,814,000 in social security payments. As it was not clear, however, that the improvement in those treated by chiropractic was related to the number of treatments, the cost of essential chiropractic treatment might be substantially less than $6,640,000. The possibility that patients treated in hospital would need more treatment during the second year than those treated by chiropractic (see above and table VII) also has to be borne in mind. There is, therefore, economic support for use of chiropractic in low back pain, though the obvious clinical improvement in pain and disability attributable to chiropractic treatment is in itself an adequate reason for considering the use of chiropractic.

Business briefs

Government should turn to private sector, he says

Gary R. Stonerock, president of Air-Land Surveys, Inc., of Clarkston, met with Michigan's U.S. senators Carl Levin and Donald Riegle and Rep. Bob Carr Sept. 24, advocating greater use of the private sector for federal surveying and mapping programs.

Stonerock's visit to Washington, D.C., was part of a national legislative conference sponsored by the Management Association for Private Photogrammetric Surveyors (MAPPS), a business association of surveying and mapping firms. Air-Land Surveys is a MAPPS member firm.

"The federal government spends $1 billion per year on surveying and mapping activities and employs nearly 10,000 federal workers in this area," Stonerock said. "Of that amount, only 4.5 percent, $45 million, is contracted to a highly qualified private sector that includes 250 private mapping firms and 6,000 surveying firms across the United States."

"The federal mapping establishment duplicates private sector equipment, personnel and capabilities and wastes tax dollars," Stonerock said.

"With the economy in a slowdown, it is particularly important now that the federal agencies contract out to the private sector. Air-Land Surveys, Inc., can help bring federal contract dollars to Clarkston, so we can continue our growth and expansion and hire more people," he said.

He also said it didn't make sense for the government to spend tax dollars to buy equipment and hire people to do the same work that private firms are qualified to perform.

"Not only do federal agencies fail to contract a significant amount of their own surveying and mapping work, but many agencies do work for other federal agencies, as well as state, local and even foreign government, in unfair competition with the private sector," Stonerock said.

He added that he was pleased with the reception he received from the Levin, Riegle and Carr.

Air-Land Surveys, Inc., is a 17-person firm formed in 1969 that provides aerial photography and computer mapping to engineers, city and county public works agencies and private development firms.

Photographer's work accepted for exhibit

Three prints created by Beth Sayles Richards of Independence Township were recently accepted into the General Collection of the 100th Exhibition of Professional Photography held last summer in Dallas.

Sayles, owner of Sayles Studio, Waterford, submitted "New Horizons," "New Kid on the Old Block" and "Art and Soul." All were accepted.

Her work and more than 2,500 other photographic works constitute the world's largest annual exhibit of professional photography gathered simultaneously under one roof. More than 6,000 entries submitted to Professional Photographers of America, Inc., for entry into the exhibition were judged by 70 eminent photographers.

Sayles received a merit certificate for each accepted entry, which can be applied toward the master of photography degree granted by the association.

Golfers earn swing at Class A state title

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Most schools have at least one good golfer. Some even have one good enough to qualify for the state finals.

This Saturday (for the first time since the mid-80s), Clarkston will be one of only 24 schools to send its team to compete at the Class A state finals.

The shotgun-style tee-off time at the par-72 Walnut Hills Country Club in East Lansing begins at 10 a.m.

"The kids are very anxious and excited," said Clarkston coach Jim Chamberlain, whose team on Monday had a practice round on the Walnut Hills course.

Clarkston qualified for the finals by finishing second in the regionals Oct. 11 at the Pontiac Country Club (the top three teams from each regional qualify for state, along with the top three individuals if they are not members of the top three teams).

Four Wolves combined to shoot a 327 on the par-72 course, second to Birmingham Brother Rice's 309, Birmingham Seaholm took third.

Pete Luster and Derek Bildstein each shot an 81 for the Wolves, Dave Studt fired an 82 and Jayson Buchmann had an 83. Mike Brown also shot an 88.

"They kept their heads pretty well. They didn't do anything to jeopardize the team," said Chamberlain, who's been stressing golf course management (the mental part of the game) all season long to his players.

Chamberlain said Luster (averaging 39 for nine holes this season), Buchmann (40 ave.) Bildstein (41 ave.), and Studt (41 ave.) will tee up in East Lansing for sure. As of Tuesday, the fifth spot will go to either Brown or Jason Jarvis.

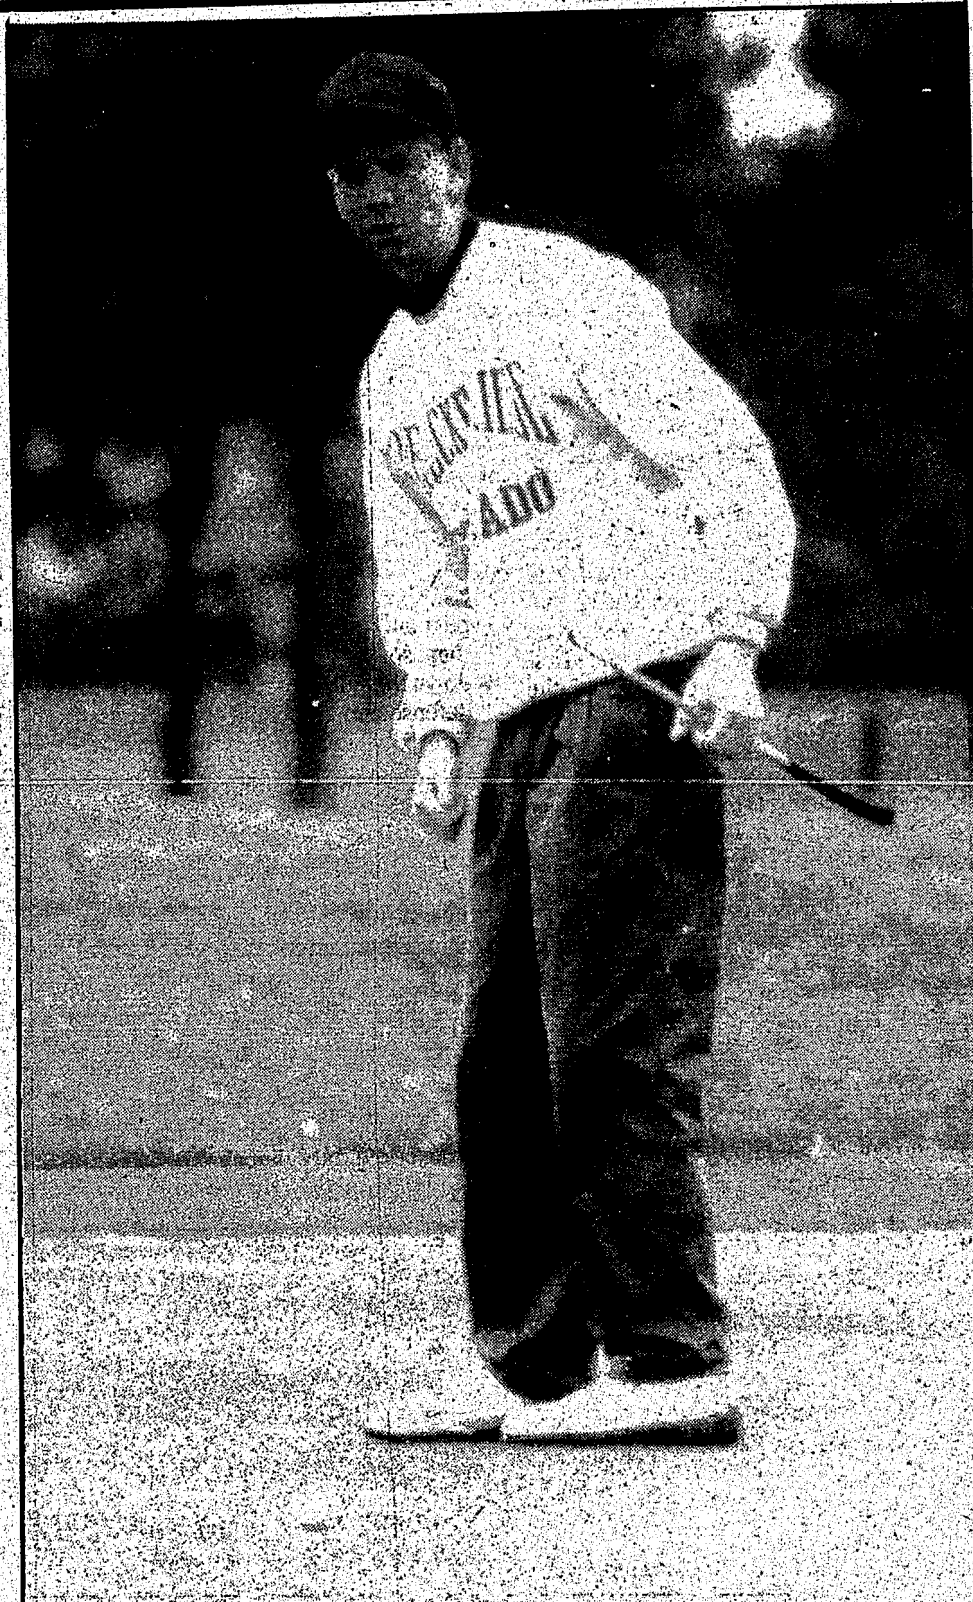

Chamberlain thinks Lansing Eastern, which plays on the Walnut Hills course during the regular season, is the favorite. But he adds, "You can't discount Brother Rice."

About the Wolves' chances, Chamberlain admits, "Obviously, we're an underdog."

But he liked what he saw in Monday's practice round.

"We're capable anywhere," said the coach.

The Wolves passed that first major step of capability, being one of the elite teams that qualified.

MIKE Brown waits for his putt to drop during regional competition.

Clarkston 2nd at GOAL meet (Oct. 8 at Bald Mountain)

Clarkston finished second at the league meet but still managed to win the overall Greater Oakland Activities League championship.

The Wolves were edged by Lake Orion, 319-321, at the meet but their second-place finish, coupled with their undefeated regular season, gave them the overall GOAL championship.

Clarkston's finished with 18 combined points, followed by Lake Orion with 17, Waterford Kettering 13, Waterford Mott 7, Brandon 5 and Pontiac Northern 0.

Wolf Pete Luster finished second overall with a 77 on the par-71 course, being edged by Lake Orion's Matt Kern with a 75.

Wolves Jeff Coxen and Derek Bildstein each tied for sixth with 80s and Clarkston's Jayson Buchmann and Dave Studt tied for 10th with 84s.

OT loss to Northern hurts playoff chances

Wolves can tie for GOAL title with win over Kettering Friday

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Overtime is sudden death for some football teams.

Sudden life for others.

A 21-14 OT loss to Pontiac Northern last Friday night wasn't necessarily the death of Clarkston's playoff chances, but the Wolves will now have to depend more on other teams knocking off region leaders to help resuscitate those chances.

The loss was the first one for the top-10 ranked Wolves, who dropped to 5-1 overall and 3-1 in the Greater Oakland Activities League. Clarkston could earn at least a tie for the GOAL title with a win over host Waterford Kettering Friday night.

The Huskies, 4-2 overall and 3-1 in the GOAL, could be the ones sharing that title if they stop Waterford Mott Friday.

Northern got the chance to score first in overtime and took advantage of the opportunity.

On a third down and five, quarterback John Hignite tossed the ball to the left-hand corner of the end zone, over Wolf defensive back Dugan Fife and into the arms of wide receiver Derek Wynns for a touchdown. Hignite kicked the PAT.

The Wolves took the ball at the 10 and it looked as if they were about to tie the game on first down when quarterback Fife connected with a leaping Jon Wyniemko in the same left side of the end zone.

But instead of a touchdown, Wyniemko was penalized for offensive interference and Clarkston found itself in a second and 25 situation.

Fife was pressured on the next two downs, scrambling to the 13. On fourth down, a pass closely sailed over the outstretched hands of Wyniemko.

The referees rushed off the field when the game was over and Clarkston head coach Kurt Richardson rushed just as fast toward an official to let him know how he felt about the close call against his receiver.

Richardson briefly voiced his opinion and walked back to shake hands with Northern head coach Jon Brown.

Brown and Richardson have shaken hands before, but the previous few years it was the Huskies who lost a close game.

Brown said he always respects Clarkston and hopes the Wolves respected his Huskies more after the win he called "the biggest" in his four years of head coaching.

"Maybe they were a little more hungry," said Richardson about the Huskies. "We didn't play up to our capability. We had a breakdown in basics, didn't block, didn't tackle."

Northern began the game with a long drive but lost a fumble on the Wolf 2-yard line.

Clarkston opened the scoring early in the second quarter when Fife scored on an 8-yard bootleg to the left side. Matt Smith kicked the PAT.

On the ensuing drive, Husky half-back Charles Talley (who rushed for 167 yards on 25 carries) culminated a 68-yard drive by running in a touchdown from 30 yards out. Hignite kicked the PAT.

The Wolves regained the lead, sparked by Wyniemko who intercepted a Husky pass and returned it 33 yards. The senior then spread out wide to the left, raced down the sidelines, beat a confused Husky defense and grabbed a 49-yard pass from Fife for a touchdown. Smith kicked the PAT and the Wolves led 14-7.

Northern quickly ate up 68 yards before the half and Talley scored from one yard out. Hignite's kick tied it.

Both coaches said they made defensive adjustments at the half and neither team scored after intermission (the Huskies came quite close late in the game but Fife intercepted a Hignite pass).

Northern's next score, in overtime, proved to be the difference.

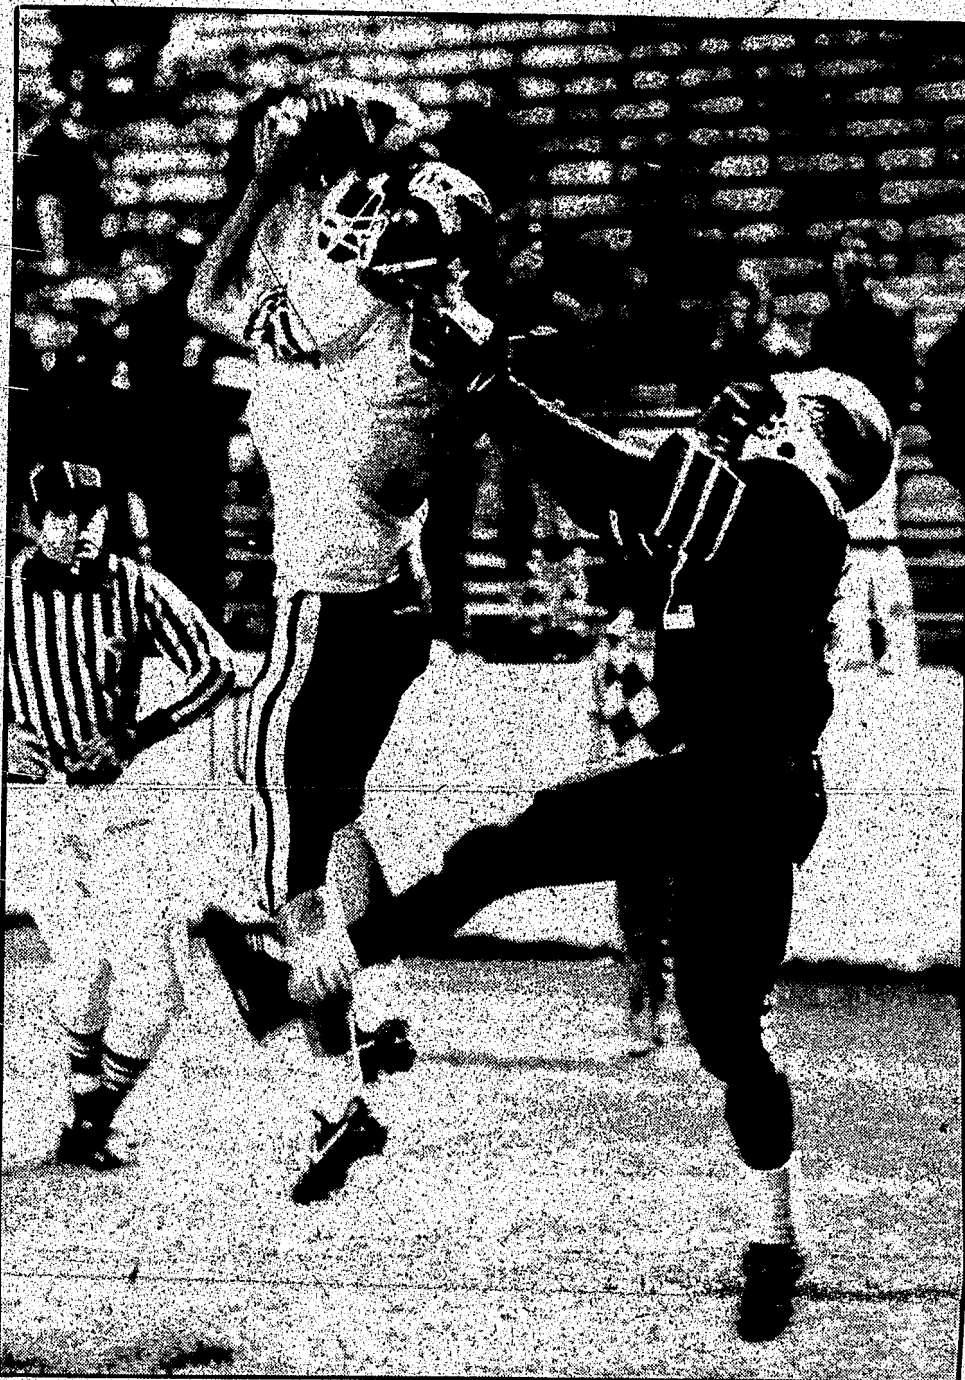

While Talley was running for 167 yards, Clarkston's top runner, Dan Griffiths, could only manage 31 yards on 11 carries. Fife ran 11 times for 33, Eric Ryan rushed three times for nine and Brian Davis carried three times for three.

Fife completed 10 of 15 passes for 137 yards. The Huskies gained 83 yards via air.

Wyniemko caught six of those passes for 102 yards, Griffiths caught two for 12, Dave Smith grabbed one for 12 and Luke Fedio caught one for 11.

Defensively, Chris Combs led the Wolves with seven tackles; Brian Davis (who also had one interception) had five; Fife and Kyle Powell each had four; Nick Shires, Jeff Tyrrell, E.J. Stumph, Ryan and Gary Young all had three.

The Huskies had 14 first downs compared to the Wolves' 11. Clarkston was penalized five times for 40 yards and Northern was whistled three times for 25.

JON Wyniemko caught this touchdown pass in overtime, but it did not count because an official penalized him for offensive interference. (Photos by James Gibowski)

Scharl, Brown medalists at Richard invitational

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston girls were edged out in two dual meets and placed 9th in the Gabriel Richard Invitational in cross-country action.

Lakeland 24, Clarkston 32
(Oct. 10 at Independence Oaks)

Lakeland placed in three of the top four spots to defeat Clarkston 24-32 on a cool, sunny day.

Lakeland's Lisa Achenbach took first (20:38) on the hilly course around Crooked ninth (26:12) and Shelly Draves 12th (26:36).

Clarkston 9th at the Gabriel Richard Invitational (Oct. 12 at Buhr Park)

Leah Scharl and Angie Brown earned medals as the Wolves finished 9th out of 14 teams at the Gabriel Richard Invitational.

Scharl placed eighth, running the distance in 20:36. Brown finished a solid 14th, crossing the finish line in 21:08.

Other Wolves and their finishes were Lisonn Hutchinson 52nd (23:35), Stacey Patterson 56th (23:47) and Shelly Draves 87th (26:10).

Eagles fly past Wolves

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI

Lakeland and Lake Orion proved to be too much for the Clarkston boys' cross-country teams in dual meet action.

The Wolves also placed eighth out of 14 teams in the Gabriel Richard Invitational.

Lakeland 15, Clarkston 48
(Oct. 10 at Independence Oaks)

Lakeland, Oakland County Meet champs and one of the best teams in the state, outran Clarkston in a non-league dual meet.

The top five finishers were all from Lakeland, including first-place runner Dean Rugh, who completed the hilly Independence Oaks County Park course in 16:51.

The loss dropped Clarkston's overall dual meet record to 3-3 and raised Lakeland's to 6-0.

The top Wolf was sixth-place finisher Derek Lachman who finished in 17:48.

Clarkston's Brad Patterson was 10th (18:04), Tony Quigley 12th (18:12), Steve Cohoon 13th (18:22), Curt Duca 16th (18:54)

Despite the loss, Clarkston co-coach Mike Taylor thought the Wolves ran well against the tough visitors.

"It was the best varsity effort since the MSU Invitational," said Taylor.

Other Clarkston runners and their places and times were: Duane Poole 18th (19:03), Eric Carlson 19th (19:10), Adam Pastor 20th (19:12), Eric Woodward 27th (20:12), Mark Deevey 28th (20:16), Bruce Avenall 30th (22:43), Matt Warner 31st (23:45), Scot Matusz 32nd (25:16).

Lake Orion 19, Clarkston 38
(Oct. 8 at Clarkston)

Lake Orion took five of the first six places to top the Wolves in Greater Oakland Activities League action.

The only Clarkston runner to finish in the top six places was Derek Lachman, second place in 17:52. Dragon Lance Guidi was 10 seconds faster than Lachman.

The win upped the Dragons' GOAL record to 4-1, dropping the Wolves to 3-2.

Other Wolves who figured in on the team scoring were: Steve Cohoon seventh (18:37), Brad Patterson eighth (18:39), Eric Carlson 10th (19:12) and Adam Pastor 11th (19:17).

Other Clarkston runners were: Curt Duca 12th (19:24), Duane Poole 13th (19:31), Tony Quigley 14th (19:41), John Gilbert 19th (20:03), Mark Deevey 20th (20:21), Eric Woodward 22nd (20:31), Bruce Avenall 28th (23:07) and Matt Warner 29th (23:21).

Clarkston 8th at the Gabriel Richard Invitational (Oct. 12 at Buhr Park)

Derek Lachman medaled but defending champion Clarkston finished eighth at the Gabriel Richard Invitational.

The Wolves totaled 217 points in the 14-team event. Lakeland finished first.

Lachman earned his medal by finishing 15th in 17:08. Teammate Steve Cohoon was 38th (17:54), Brad Patterson 43rd (17:59), Tony Quigley 60th (18:27) and Curt Duca 61st (18:27).

"It was a super finish. The best race of the year."

Coach Mike Taylor

Lake at Independence Oaks County Park.

Clarkston's Leah Scharl wasn't far behind Achenbach, taking second in 20:50. But the Wolf freshman was followed by two Lakeland runners.

Clarkston's Angie Brown was fifth (23:06) and teammate Lisonn Hutchinson sixth (23:24). Stacey Patterson finished eighth (24:59) and Shelly Draves 11th (26:52).

Lakeland improved its dual meet record to 5-1; Clarkston dropped to 4-2.

Lake Orion 26, Clarkston 31
(Oct. 8 at Clarkston)

A one-two finish by Clarkston runners still wasn't enough to stop Lake Orion.

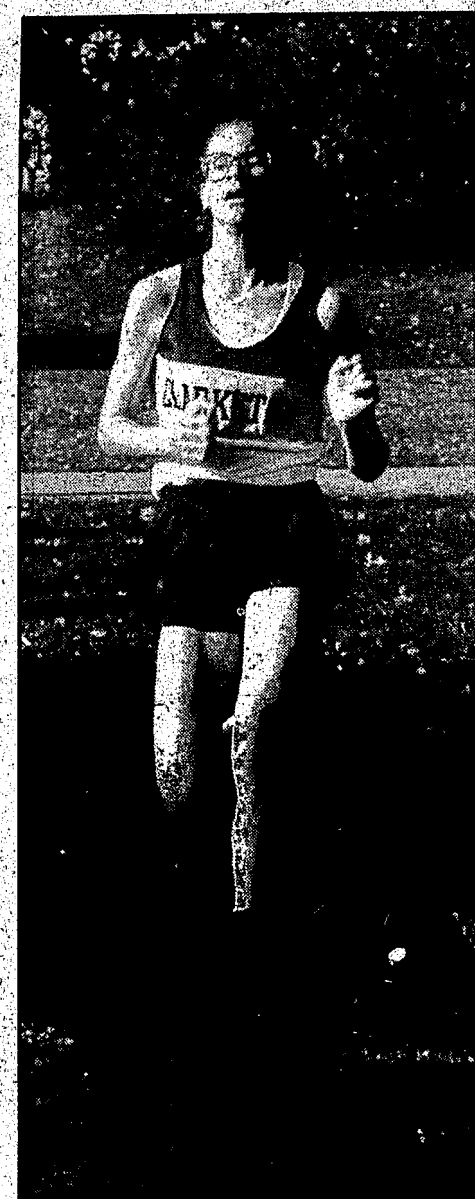

The Dragons (5-0 in the Greater Oakland Activities League) had enough depth to stop the Wolves (4-1 in the GOAL).

Clarkston freshman Leah Scharl led the field by finishing in 21:24 and she was followed by sophomore Angie Brown's 21:34.

"It was a super finish. The best race of the year," said Clarkston co-coach Mike Taylor about the two Wolves who battled for first.

But Dragons finished third through sixth and another one took eighth.

Lisonn Hutchinson placed seventh (24:26) for the Wolves, Stacey Patterson

FRESHMAN Leah Scharl finished second overall in the meet against Lakeland.

JV gridgers tie Northern

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Pontiac Northern and Clarkston's JV football game Oct. 9 was a good preview of the following night's varsity clash.

Both the JV and varsity squads finished in regulation with 14-14 ties.

However, while the varsity settled its game in overtime (the Huskies won 21-14), the JV had to settle for a tie (no OT in JV play).

Clarkston coach John Craven doesn't like to tie but said his Wolves played well against the bigger Huskies, who had previously allowed only six total points all season.

"It was a good game for our kids. They really came to play," said Craven about his 4-1-1 Wolves.

At first it looked as if Clarkston wouldn't have to worry about a tie as the Wolves took a 14-0 lead.

In the first quarter, Clarkston quarterback Kevin Dankert culminated a 65-yard drive by scoring on a broken-play scramble. Brian Phipps kicked the PAT.

Halfback Nathan Abney later plunged in and Phipps kicked the PAT to add to the lead.

But Northern got on the scoreboard with only 30 ticks on the clock before halftime by scoring from eight yards out. The PAT made it 14-7.

The Huskies scored again early in the third quarter on a 65-yard touchdown pass.

"It was the only time all night that the defense goofed. Other than that, the defense played well," said Craven about the long Husky TD pass which tied the game.

That Wolf defense came through late in the game, stopping the Huskies deep in Clarkston territory.

For the fourth straight game, the Wolf offense didn't score in the second half (However, Clarkston has still managed to be 3-0-1 in those games).

Defensively, P.J. Vandermeer led the Wolves with eight tackles, Brian "Oscar" Bologna had six-and-one-half and Brian Boggs had five.

Dankert completed 11 of 21 passes for 142 yards with one interception. Brent Bundridge also threw one pass (to Dankert) for 15 yards.

Josh Watson caught three passes for 50 yards, Bundridge grabbed four for 45, Rusty Mitcham snared three for 29 and David Hartke caught one for 15.

Leading rushers were Dankert with 32 yards on four carries and Abney with 23 on five attempts.

Wolf cagers crush Dragons

Nine Wolves scored as the Clarkston girls' basketball team easily slayed the Lake Orion Dragons, 50-17.

The Oct. 10 victory on the Clarkston court improved Clarkston's overall record to 9-2 (3-1 in the Greater Oakland Activities League) and dropped the Dragons to 4-7 overall (0-4 in the GOAL).

Clarkston shut out Orion 7-0 in the first quarter and led 22-4 at the half.

Heather Steinhilber paced the Wolves with four 3-pointers and 15 points.

Alyson McChesney netted 10 points, Shannon Jenks and Laura Seitz each had six, Lesley Allen added four, Anne Brueck three, and Stacey Tinkis, Heather Austin and Amy Schroeder each had two.

Netters finish season 8th at regionals

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston girls' tennis team ended its season by winning four first-round matches at the regionals.

"It was good winning four," said Clarkston coach Dick Swartout, whose players the past two years only won one first-round match at the tough Class A regionals.

Clarkston finished tied for eighth out of 11 teams at the Oct. 11 event played at Troy Athens.

Birmingham Seaholm placed first and Rochester was second, both qualifying for the state finals.

Clarkston's No. 1 singles player,

Kristy Swartout, was one of the Wolves getting past the first round. She demolished Hazel Park's Kristin Weinand 6-1, 6-0. But then she fell to Rochester's Amber Shane (the No. 4 seed), 0-6, 0-6.

The Wolves' No. 4 seed, Jessica Miller, double-bageled Hazel Park's Melissa Savage 6-0, 6-0, in the opening round. But then she lost to No. 1 seed Katie Mellow, 2-6, 0-6.

The No. 1 doubles team of Tracey

Ortwine and Naoko Iida came back to top Royal Oak Kimball's Sage and Geisler 3-6, 6-4, 6-3. The Wolf-duo then lost to eventual champion Casey Collins and Gayle Jaranilla of Rochester, 2-6, 3-6.

Clarkston's No. 2 doubles team of Katie Morris and Amanda VanKlavern double-bageled Pontiac Northern's Nishii and Takeda 6-0, 6-0, before being double-bageled themselves in the second round against the Bloomfield Hills Lahser team of Fishman and Freidinger.

Caroline Allison, the Wolves' No. 2 singles player, was eliminated in the first round by Kyna Getsinger, 2-6, 2-6.

Clarkston's No. 3 singles player, Heather Shaw, defaulted because of illness.

The Wolves all-freshman No. 3 doubles team of Kelly Wall and Jody Weatherington lost to Rochester's (No. 3 seed) team of Grimm and Busch.

Kickers tie tough Brandon squad

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's varsity soccer team won one match and tied another against Brandon this season, but the Blackhawks still won the league title.

In its most recent meeting Oct. 14, Clarkston led 1-0 but Brandon came back to tie it at 1-1 and clinch the Greater Oakland Activities League championship with a 6-1-1 mark.

The Wolves finished 4-3-1 in the GOAL.

Clarkston's Devin DuPree opened the scoring with an unassisted goal.

But Blackhawk Matt Erickson knocked in the tying goal with about 20 minutes left in the match. Brian Bridgeman assisted.

Mike Miller tended goal for the Wolves and Brett Evanson was in the nets for the Blackhawks.

Waterford Mott 3, Clarkston 2 (Oct. 9 at Clarkston)

A goal by Waterford Mott's Garrett Dugan broke a 2-2 tie with three minutes left in a Corsair league victory over the Wolves.

Scott Rooney scored both of Clarkston's goals.

Jeff Cardinal and Aaron Simpson scored the other two goals for the visitors.

Golfers sink aces

Two Clarkston area golfers recently fired holes-in-ones.

Janet Frahm Yee aced the 142-yard eighth hole Sept. 15 at Bald Mountain Golf Course in Lake Orion.

Brad Rogers scored his hole-in-one Aug. 10 on the 10th hole at Atlas Valley Country Club in Grand Blanc.

Both of the golfers also became eligible to win a one-week trip for two to Scotland in the Drambuie Rusty Nail Hole-in-One Sweepstakes.

Clarkston equestrian advances to nationals

Christopher Rumbold of the Clarkston area is among 26 junior riders to qualify for a national horse show in New Jersey, Oct. 29-Nov. 3.

Rumbold's efforts at a Sept. 21 regional in St. Louis earned him a spot in the 1991 Rolex-Maclay National Championship for the ASPCA Horsemanship Classes at the National Horse Show in East Rutherford, N.J.

Rumbold and 25 other qualifiers will join 124 others from Southeast, Northeast and Western Regionals in the 108th national finals.

Rumbold and the other riders are tested in three separate phases on different aspects of the riders' equitation, including jumping a course, a flat phase and then a final test determined by the judges.

Winning the Rolex-Maclay is equivalent to achieving the junior national title in tennis or gymnastics.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

INVESTING IN LAND

Ron Rodda
Sales Manager

"Let's discuss your Career In Real Estate Sales"

THE KEY TO A GOOD LAND INVESTMENT is predicting the need for that land in the future.

MAX BROOCK INC. REALTORS

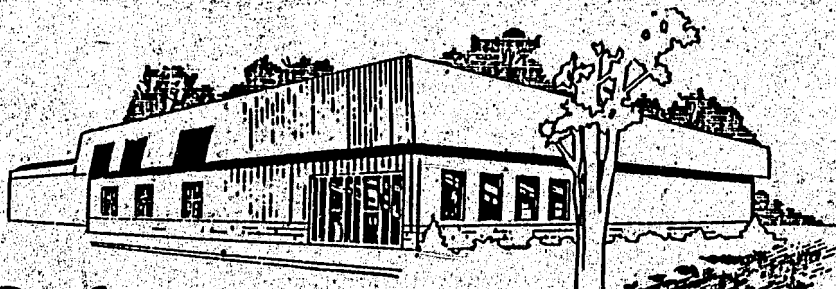

27 S. Main, Clarkston
625-9300

QUESTION: What is the key to a good land investment?

ANSWER: One of the nice things about investing in land is that it rarely presents management problems. However, since it will produce no income, it should be bought only if you are financially able to carry the debt. If you prefer to pay taxes on a long-term capital gain, rather than ordinary income, then land can be an attractive investment.

The key to a good land investment is predicting land needs of the future. Here is where the experience of a good, local Realtor comes in. He has intimate knowledge of community needs, and can forecast the best areas for growth potential.

Saving geraniums for next year takes special care

With a little effort and some luck, you can overwinter geraniums from this year's garden for replanting next spring.

Tom Stebbins, master gardener specialist at Michigan State University, East Lansing, says one overwintering method stores dormant plants, while two others keep plants growing.

"Whichever method you decide to try, store only healthy-looking plants," Stebbins advises. "Plants that are growing poorly or showing signs of disease are poor choices for overwintering."

To overwinter dormant plants ...

To overwinter dormant geraniums, dig the plants carefully before frost. Then gently shake all the soil from the roots, being careful not to damage the roots. Hang the plants upside-down in a cool, dark place with temperatures between 45 and 50 degrees and low humidity. A cool, dry basement is ideal.

During the winter, take the plants down once a month and soak the roots in water for one to two hours. Then spray the roots with a protective fungicide spray to prevent disease.

After the danger of frost is past in the spring, cut the plants back to about one-third of their original height and plant them in the garden. You can also pot them up and start them growing indoors earlier.

To overwinter growing plants ...

To overwinter growing geraniums, you can start with either cuttings or whole plants.

Take cuttings while the plants are still actively growing. Cut the desired number of 3- to 4-inch shoot tips and strip off the lower leaves. Dip the cut ends in a mixture of equal parts rooting hormone and captan wettable powder.

Stick the cuttings in a rooting medium of coarse sand or a mixture of coarse sand and sphagnum peat moss. Cuttings should not touch one another. Water thoroughly and cover the container with a plastic bag. Then place it in a north or east window where it will receive bright light but no direct sunlight.

Rooting should take three to four weeks. Then place rooted cuttings in individual pots and set pots in a well-lighted spot, such as a south-facing window. Frequent pinching and fertilization with a low-nitrogen, high-phosphorous and potassium fertilizer will be necessary to keep plants from getting spindly.

You can also dig and pot whole plants to grow indoors.

To grow whole plants ...

You can also dig and pot whole plants to grow indoors. Cut each back to one-third of the original height and place it in a 6- to 8-inch pot. Water thoroughly and begin monthly fertilization about a week later. Place pots in a well-lighted location to help them adapt to indoor conditions.

"Geraniums grown indoors need at least four hours of direct sunlight every day to flower," Stebbins says. "If you don't care whether they bloom, a less brightly lighted location will be adequate to keep the plants growing."

The above information is provided by Outreach Communications of Michigan State University, East Lansing. For more information, call Stebbins at 517/353-3774 or L. Johnson at 517/336-1555.

Pet of the Week

Clever Clipper

Clipper, a male Labrador retriever mix, is hoping someone will give him a home.

This 10-month-old brown pup is friendly, according to those at the Humane Society.

At present, Clipper — who was a stray — weighs in at 51 pounds.

His $72 adoption fee includes spaying.

For the month of October, those who adopt a pet will receive a nylon collar for puppies and cats and a nylon leash for dogs, courtesy of Pet Supplies Plus. They also will receive a gift certificate from Pet Supplies Plus for dog or cat food, dog shampoo, pet odor eliminator, food additive for cats, food bowl, litter and litter pan for cats and pet toys.

To see Clipper, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Rochester Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

10 free shade trees

If you join the National Arbor Day Foundation in October this year, you'll get 10 free shade trees.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit foundation's efforts to encourage tree planting throughout America.

The 10 shade trees are Red Oak, Weeping Willow, Sugar Maple, Green Ash, Thornless Honeylocust, Pin Oak, River Birch, Tuliptree, Silver Maple and Red Maple.

"These trees were selected to provide shade and beauty and a variety of forms, leaf shapes and fall colors," said John Rosenow, executive director of the foundation.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Nov. 1 and Dec. 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The 6- to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced for free.

To become a member of the foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Shade Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Oct. 31.

Month promotes awareness of breast cancer

Women age 40 and over should have regular mammograms to detect breast cancer early, when it is most treatable.

During October, National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the Cancer Information Service of Michigan (CIS) urges the regular mammogram test.

William Stengle, coordinator of the CIS, said information specialists staffing the 1-800-4-CANCER number are prepared to answer questions about early detection of breast cancer.

They'll also send callers a free brochure on mammography, as well as give referrals to local qualified mammography facilities. Mammography, an X-ray of the breast, can detect breast cancer in its earliest stages.

"Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in American women," reports Vainutis Vaitkevicius, breast cancer specialist and president of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

"One in nine women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime," Vaitkevicius said.

In 1991 in the United States, over 175,000 new cases are projected, and 44,000 women will die of the disease, he said. In Michigan, 5,500 new cases are projected with 1,500 deaths.

"By following a simple three-step early detection program, many women can save their own lives since the survival rate for localized breast cancer has risen to 91 percent due to advances in early detection and improved treatment," he said.

Supporters of the National Breast Cancer Awareness Month recommend the following three-step early detection program:

■ Schedule regular mammograms. Have an initial screening mammogram by age 40, one every year or two to age 49, and every year after 50. Patients whose immediate relatives had breast cancer at an early age should have their first mammograms earlier.

■ Practice monthly breast self-examination. A woman's physician can show her the proper method.

■ See a physician for regular breast examination. Do this at least every three years until age 40, then every year.

For free brochures and information on mammography and breast cancer, contact CIS at 1-800-4-CANCER.

Warning signs of breast cancer

1. What are the chances of developing breast cancer? What are the current statistics on survival?

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in American women, and one in every 10 women will develop it in her lifetime.

Fortunately, the survival rates for breast cancer are increasing. The survival rate (defined as the "five-year relative survival rate" because it is based on statistics over the course of five years after treatment for breast cancer) has risen to 75 percent. That figure jumps to 90 percent for localized breast cancer.

These improved survival rates are due to advances in early detection techniques, improved surgical procedures, and new forms of adjuvant (postsurgical) hormonal therapy and chemotherapy.

When detected and treated early, breast cancer need not be life-threatening. Most women who have been treated early for breast cancer go on to lead long and productive lives.

2. What are the risk factors for developing breast cancer and how can women protect themselves against breast cancer?

Simply getting older and being a woman puts you at risk; two-thirds of cases occur in women over age 50. The risk is also increased if a woman has a history of breast cancer in her family, has never had children, had her first child after age 30, began menstruating before age 12, began menopause after age 55, or eats a high-fat diet.

There is no way to prevent breast cancer, but the best protection is early detection and prompt treatment. Early detection includes regular screening mammograms, breast exams by a physician, and monthly breast self-exams.

3. If a woman does not have a family history of breast cancer, does she risk developing it?

Yes. In fact, 80 percent of women who develop breast cancer have no family history of the disease, while chances of getting breast cancer increase if a family member has also had it, this does not mean that a woman is free from risk if no one in her family has had breast cancer.

4. What are the warning signs of breast cancer?

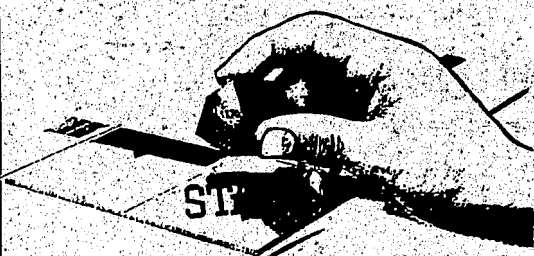

The most common sign is a lump or thickening in the breast. Other signs are a change in the size or shape of the breast, discharge from the nipple or a change in the color of the skin of the breast or areola (skin around the nipple). However, often there aren't any tangible signs of breast cancer until the disease has progressed into its advanced stages. That's why a mammogram, which can detect breast cancer before it is seen or felt, is so important.

4. How is breast cancer detected?

The most effective detection method is mammography. If a lump or group of abnormal cells is detected, further evaluation will be necessary.

Other breast cancer detection techniques include thermography, which measures breast heat patterns; ultrasonography, which uses high-frequency sound waves to create an image; and transillumination, which uses a beam of light to inspect the breast. These techniques are currently being evaluated and have not yet proven to be as effective as mammography for early detection of breast cancer.

Students need homes

Three more homes are needed for foreign exchange students in the area.

One student attends Clarkston High School, and two attend Waterford Keeler High School. The pupils will be in the area for the entire school year, said Pam Hankins, community coordinator for International Education Forum.

The only requirement of the host families is to "open their homes and hearts to foreign exchange," she said. For more information, call 338-6083 (daytime).

WATER TAPS - SEWER TAPS

Saturday sewing

INA SNIDER of Bluewater Drive, Springfield Township, learns the secrets of silk applique in Betsy Travis' class.

SEWING a quilted vest is instructor Sue Reeves. A "Super Saturday" for adults, offered Sept. 27 through Clarkston Community Education, allowed students of all ages to create items for gifts — or to keep them for themselves.

BETHANY Hartwell of Rose Township weaves ribbon through lace, which will be attached to a quilted vest.

DEBBIE Cabra (front) of Highland and Beth Ford work on their quilted vests Sept. 27 at the Clarkston Community Education building on Maybee Road. After the day-long Super Saturday, adults took home items of their own creation.
