Set Time Back One Hour

Don't forget to set your clocks back this weekend.

The daylight savings time change officially takes place at 2 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 27, so don't forget to set your clocks back one hour before you go to bed. That returns time to "standard" time.

As a memory aid, think of: "Spring forward, fall back."

It's a good idea to use the time change as a reminder to change the batteries in your smoke detectors, too.

$11 million township budget OK'd

Library, police see biggest increases; parks and recreation money slashed

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

The Independence Township Library and the police fund will both receive more money next year, under the township's 1992 budget.

These two items were part of an $11 million budget unanimously approved by the township board Oct. 15. It's scheduled to go into effect Jan. 1, 1992.

According to township finance director Kerry Donahoe, the 1992 budget is a 2.8 percent increase over the 1991 $10,519,229 budget.

Donahoe said the 1992 budget is similar to this year's budget. The library and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCSD) substation received the biggest hikes in the new budget.

Police fund

The police budget for 1992 has been set at $1,354,444, an increase of $89,386 over 1991's budget. A special levy of 2.2108 mills finances the sheriff department's service. One mill is $1 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation.

This increase allows the Clarkston substation to be re-structured by adding two new officers and one clerical worker. For police coverage, the township contracts with OCSD to provide protection.

Sgt. Joe Quisenberry said the added personnel is a positive leap toward bolstering the substation.

"This re-structuring of the substation will result in a slight increase in additional patrol hours and allow more flexibility in implementing our department's programs," Quisenberry said. "It's a step toward transforming our substation into a community-based department."

Library fund

The library, which is still under construction on Clarkston Road, will receive $546,744 in 1992. The money comes from a special levy of .7324 mill. The money allocated for 1992 exceeds this year's budget of $443,722. The library's funds in 1992 also surpasses the 1990 budget by 52 percent, when it received $360,000.

According to library Director Molly Lynch, the money for the upcoming year will go toward periodicals, computers and establishing activities and programs for the public.

"Our first concern is purchasing more books," she said. "According to state figures, each public library averages about 2.5 books per person. In Independence, that would figure to be 62,500 books. However, we've only have 27,000 volumes in our library. So, we've got a long way to go."

General fund

Over the past two years, the township's general fund has remained constant with the budget, rising from $3,714,735 this year to $3,716,784 in 1992.

Goody grabbin' time 6-7 p.m. Thursday

Prospective ghouls and goblins take note!

The area's municipalities have officially set trick or treating hours for Halloween night.

The Village of Clarkston, Independence and Springfield townships have all scheduled their goody grabbin' time from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31.

Adults are urged to chaperon young children, and all costumes should be adorned with some sort of reflective material, such as a silverish adhesive strip, so passing motorists can see youngsters along the roadside.

Springfield board approves $1.88 million budget

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Board members unanimously approved $1,882,154 for the 1992 Springfield Township budget Oct. 15.

The special meeting followed an Oct. 9 budget hearing, where a few people questioned the board about its spending.

Rick Green of Clark Road asked about the chlorination of the roads and cost. Board members explained that the overall cost of chlorination had gone up.

On the positive side for the board at the hearing, O.D. Livermore of Big Lake Road said, "This budget has no fat in it, and I think the board has done a good job with it."

Adopted last Tuesday, the township budget consists of seven smaller budgets: general fund, fire fund, police fund, parks and recreation fund, cemetery fund, cable TV fund and the Shiawassee Basin Project.

"There is no magic formula that will reflect how each budget is determined," said township Supervisor Collin Walls. "Each budget is approached on its own merits."

Following is a breakdown of officials' plan to spend the $1.88 million in 1992:

General fund: A budget of $946,604 was approved — an increase from last year's $905,900. The general fund pays for such things as salaries and wages of township employees and operating expenses.

Police fund: A 3 percent increase in the contract cost from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and the additional funds for a new deputy increased the police fund from $290,100 in 1991 to $369,200 for 1992.

Fire fund: New equipment for the fire department pushed up the 1992 fire fund to $242,300 over last year's $162,100.

Parks and recreation fund: The budget for parks and recreation was up from 1991's $122,500 to $160,200 for '92.

Cemetery fund: The budget for the cemetery remained the same at $500.

Cable TV: Cable TV will have a budget of $16,000, which is up from the 1991 $6,000 budget.

Shiawassee Basin: A $147,350 budget was approved for the Shiawassee Basin project, up from 1991's $107,650 budget. The Basin is a 300-acre park on Eaton Road, for which parking, walking trails and ball fields are planned on 90-acres of the land.

Budget approved

The general fund revenues expected for 1992 include: $636,284 in property taxes, $500,000 in licenses and permits, $1,495,954 in state shared revenue, $384,185 in service charges, $260,500 in interest and rents, $343,991 in other revenue and $95,870 in other financing services.

Included in the list of expenditures for the 1992 budget are $197,600 for the township board, $90,350 for the supervisor's budget, $63,450 for elections, $228,240 for assessing, and $226,524 for the clerk's budget.

Also included in expenses for Independence are $70,000 for legal costs, $5,000 toward the board of review, $131,944 for the treasurer's budget, $64,101 for data processing and $146,182 toward township hall.

Cemetery, building, lighting, recreation

In addition, the township is spending $76,440 on expenses at the Lakeview Cemetery, $596,658 on building expenses, $62,640 on street lighting, and $507,807 on the parks and recreation department.

According to Ann Conklin, director of the township parks and recreation department, this amount is 10 to 15 percent less than the 1991 budget. She said her department will be forced to cut back in the upcoming year.

"This means we're going to have to curtail some of our services next year and try to do the best we can with what we've got," she said. "Some special events will have to be scaled back, and we won't be able to fill our vacant position of assistant parks director.

"At this point, it's really too early to know what programs might be cut or reduced in 1992," she said.

Business is business, regardless of gender, say 4

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

Gender is not an issue with four women who own businesses in the Village of Clarkston.

To mark National Business Women's Week Oct. 21-27, the four were asked to reflect on their experiences as business people.

All four said they enjoyed owning businesses in the Village of Clarkston.

Georgene Sloan, the 5-year owner of the Village Bookstore, said she likes her career, though it's a bit hectic.

"I like being my own boss, and my customers are wonderful," Sloan said. "It's a challenge trying to keep up with all the new books on the market because 4,000 new titles are released by national publishers each month.

"The economic climate is also providing a challenge, but my sales are higher now than last year, and that's a good sign," she said.

"I've really never thought of myself as a business woman. I just come in and do what I have to do in order to run my restaurant."

Carol Borngesser

Carol Borngesser of Carol's Village Grill thinks of herself foremost as a business person.

"I've really never thought of myself as a business woman," she said. "I just come in and do what I have to do in order to run my restaurant.

"I've worked all my life, and like any owner I've put in my fair share of extra hours," Borngesser said.

When advising other prospective business owners — male or female, the quartet mentioned money and determination.

"I'd tell anyone looking to start their own business that they have to expect a lot of extra hours," said Leta Calcote, owner of the antique and folk art store, Calcote Country. "It's a very time-consuming endeavor. I easily put in 60 to 70 hours of work per week."

Denise Howard, owner of Milieu Gallery, said prospective owners should always be ready to pay for any added expenses.

"Regardless if you're a man or a woman, it usually takes a lot more capital to start your business than you originally estimate," Howard said. "And, most importantly, new owners have to realize that they're not going to make money right away.

"It could be some time before they realize a profit," she added.

Business Profile/ Betty Simmons

Betty Simmons is assistant vice president at Old Kent Bank of Brighton, Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

Family: Sons, Mathew, 24, a student in the Detroit College of Law, and Daniel, 21, a pre-med student at Michigan State University, East Lansing. Betty Simmons is single.

Educational background: 14 1/2 years of school, including high school and college, plus in-house business education.

Career history: Simmons has been in the banking business for 27 years, including 18 years with Old Kent. On Oct. 15, 1978, Simmons opened the Clarkston branch of Old Kent Bank -- the only branch in north Oakland County.

Job responsibilities: Operating the Clarkston office, lending to retail establishments, lending to small commercial establishments, cultivating business.

Community activities: Member of the North Oakland County Builders Association (NOCBA), the Women's Council of the NOCBA, and a past director and officer of the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Favorite food: "Chocolate -- anything chocolate."

Favorite TV show: "I don't watch enough TV to say, but if I did, I'd probably say 'Cheers.'"

Last movie she saw: "'Awakening.' It was moving."

Hobbies: Boating, cross-country skiing, racquetball, bicycling.

How she copes with stress: "Exercise of some kind. Racquetball is wonderful for stress."

Business philosophy: "This is a people-oriented business, so we have to give them very good service. People are number one. If they're not here, we're not here."

Advice to women entering the business world: Educate and inform yourselves. "We need more women."

Biggest challenge as a female in business: "Having anyone in business give credibility to a woman in business. You have to prove yourself twofold ... You will be questioned twice. ... You do more homework than if you were a man."

Coping with that: "I gradually grew with the bank, and it's been long enough that you just deal with it."

Biggest help in business: "The main thing is being friendly and empathetic to an individual. Banking is intimidating anyway, and when people need a loan, it usually means they need help with a problem. ... There's a lot of listening involved."

Turning point in career: When she was asked to become manager of the new Clarkston office shortly after she joined Old Kent.

"That was the turning point. It was an opportunity that was given to me that I accepted, even though I wasn't sure I was ready for it. I thought I'd learn it, and I did."

Traits most helpful in business: "Gutsiness, willingness to take risks or chances. You have to take some risks to gain."

County's solid waste plan covered in public forum

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

If the proposed Oakland County Solid Waste Plan has left you scratching your head in puzzlement, consider attending a community forum tonight.

"Without the incinerator, ... the county would need to create five to six additional landfills over the next five years. And odds are they would begin looking for those sites in northern Oakland County."

Commissioner Frank Millard

At 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 23, a public forum will be conducted in the Clarkston Junior High gymnasium to talk about the Nov. 5 ballot issue. The event is sponsored by the Independence Republicans, the Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce and the Independence Township Groundwater Leadership Team.

The forum will give visitors an opportunity to hear a balanced discussion, pro & con, on this issue. Oakland County Commissioner John Pappageorge and Karen Kendrick-Hands, attorney and member of the East Michigan Environmental Action Council, will be presenting the differing points of view.

Oakland County Commissioner Frank Millard will serve as the forum's moderator.

Th solid waste plan will be offered as a county bond proposition. On Nov. 5, voters will be asked to allow Oakland County to borrow nearly $500 million for installation of an incinerator and expansion of a landfill. Both items would help dispose of solid waste more efficiently and reduce the number of additional landfills over the next couple of decades.

The incinerator is presently proposed for Auburn Hills, and Eagle Valley landfill in Orion Township has offered to expand its facilities for the county.

Millard said voter passage of the proposal would minimize the need for additional dump sites over the next 30 years.

"If the entire program is passed, that one landfill (Eagle Valley) could last the county for 30 years," he said. "Without the incinerator, however, the county would need to create five to six additional landfills over the next five years.

"And odds are they would begin looking for those sites in northern Oakland County," he added.

Facilities, communication on school board agenda

As of Tuesday, no action items have been scheduled for approval at the Oct. 28 Clarkston Board of Education meeting.

Instead, there will be administrative reports, an oral presentation of a "facilities need" report and review of a proposed communication plan.

Under discussion items, the board is scheduled to talk about a possible millage that would help pay for maintenance of the district's schools.

The school board meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the administrative office building at 6389 Clarkston Road, Independence Township.

For more information, call 625-4402.

Eagles hold benefit for ailing member

The Clarkston Fraternal Order of Eagles will be holding a benefit gala for one of their members, who's suffering from cancer.

Donald W. Rush, 51, of Independence Township is afflicted with advanced head and neck cancer. In an operation earlier this year, doctors removed Rush's teeth, half of his tongue, his lymph nodes, and part of his jawbone to curtail the spread of the disease.

Rush has been involved with the Eagles since the 1970s, and he was the organization's vice president until his illness forced him to resign last year.

The Nov. 9 benefit will help pay for his past treatments as well as others in the future.

Held at the Eagles Club on Maybee Road, the event is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. The highlights of the evening will include dinner, a live band, raffles and an auction. A cash bar will also be provided to guests.

Admission is free.

For more information on the benefit, call the Clarkston Eagles at 625-9838.

The bard and bovines

Julie Campe

Wafts from unseen cow dung surrounded The Thinker and I as we pulled into Stratford, Ontario, last week.

Sure, the town (noted for its its Shakespearean festival) is surrounded by farms, but we had never been so cloaked with bovine smells. We smelled it, too, as we checked into our motel just outside the town of 27,000 people.

The owner, friendly and smiling, greeted us with, "Who do you believe, Clarence Thomas or Anita Hill?"

He noticed our surprise and said, "Oh, yes, it was headlines here, too. Every paper. What a terrible thing. It was rotten for your whole country."

The cow smell was not noticeable inside the motel office.

"Who do you think was lying?" I asked him.

"Thomas," he said. "Thomas was lying through his teeth."

He continued along that vein as he gave us paperwork -- and then more paperwork.

"There's a new tax now, but you can get a rebate. Just fill this out and send your receipt to the address inside," he said, giving us a booklet.

Then, he pulled out another form and explained that the province of Ontario, too, had levied a tax that was rebatable. We could get our money back on lodgings and goods but not food, services or such things as tickets to plays, which had drawn us Stratford in the first place.

One pamphlet read: "7% GTS." "What does the new 7 percent tax pay for?" I asked him.

He stopped everything and stared incredulously at me. Then he just shook his head and sighed. As if speaking to a very slow learner, he explained, "It's supposed to reduce the deficit -- our national debt. But the deficit has gotten bigger -- they're just spending more."

The Thinker had finished filling out one of the forms.

"Two more weeks," the motel proprietor muttered, as he handed us our keys.

Then he pointed to the calendar and explained that the motel would be closing and soon he and his wife would be off to Fort Myers, Fla., where they would spend the first two or three weeks reading and -- best of all -- not talking.

They've been doing it for years, he said. At first, the neighbors in their condominium thought they were snobs, but soon they came to understand.

After a whole season of the tourism business -- without so much as a half-day break -- they needed the isolation, not to mention the warm, relaxing weather.

Besides, said the proprietor, nearly everyone in the condominium was from Wisconsin.

"Wisconsin!" he repeated. "They're crazy. Do you know that when they're there for the winter they'll fly all the way to Wisconsin for a day and come back with 20 pounds of cheese? Cheese!"

He shook his head. "And in the summer, they have these parties -- they invite us every year -- and they all rent boats and go out on the water -- for days -- and they eat cheese. What kind of party is that?"

All the talk about cheese and Wisconsin reminded me of the smell we noticed as we came through town. I asked him about it.

"Smelled it in town, did you?" he asked and then chuckled.

"It all depends on the wind," he said, explaining that one particular farmer was the source of it. Other farmers had fans and such.

"So you can smell it in town?" he said again and then laughed outright. "They've complained before, but what can they do? The farm is too far away."

He didn't say it, but Fort Myers does not have a ready supply of holsteins and Aberdeen Angus, despite its heavy Wisconsin population. And only two weeks away!

I too was harassed

I'm going to try and tell you how much the Senate hearings on the confirmation of Judge Thomas meant to me.

Anita Hill's coming-out testimony gave me the strength and support I needed to tell publicly of the treatment I received while employed by General Motors in 1943.

I know, my experience was 48 years ago and attorney Hill's was only 10, but my memory is vivid as to exactly what took place while cleaning floors at AC Spark Plug during World War II.

Thank goodness my mother did not learn of the treatment I had to endure. She would have been extremely angered at her youngest son being put through such embarrassment, such degradation.

Hill's descriptions of scenes and sentences attributed to Judge Thomas, repeated as often as possible by the first-apologizing senators, would have made my railroading father blush . . . would you believe smile?

But, they were mild as compared to the epithets shouted in my direction by the women machine operators at AC.

I was a janitor, age 16. I was tall, skinny, innocent and frightfully unworldly. These women were in the workforce in wartime . . . brazen, independent and outspoken.

I wasn't even aware of thigh muscles until one day when I was cleaning a spitoon by one of these woman's machine.

I didn't think it was any of their business what I had done, or who I had been with the night before, though at least one of them asked each day.

What did they care whether I thought the back seat of car was more comfortable than the front? Why did they want to see me for just a few minutes after work? What kind of fun were they willing to show me?

I found the answers to questions like these and others when I got with my older friends. And when it finally soaked in what these women were really talking about I kept my head down and the broom moving when in their department.

I recall totally that my action seemed to only encourage them.

I should have come forth. I should have told their superiors and my boss. I should never have let it continue. Like Anita Hill, I regret now not bringing harrassment charges against these panting, teasing, fun-loving women who expressed so much interest in my body or portions thereof.

Of course it would have been my word against theirs, but I did tell my older buddies and they would have supported my testimony.

Now, again, thanks to Anita Hill, my experience of having been humiliated by sex-related remarks (though they didn't touch me) is out in the open. I feel great mental relief. I'M FREE!

Now, 48 years wiser, I wonder if there's any chance of getting my old job back at AC?

School lucky to get this principal

An Open Letter To The Staff, Parents And Students Of Pine Knob Elementary School:

This is not an easy letter to write. I'm losing my boss — who is our principal at Clarkston Elementary, a highly respected professional, a colleague and a friend — since the decision was made by our superintendent, Gary Haner, on Oct. 14, to move two principals to new building assignments by January 1992.

I want to tell you how fortunate you are to receive Bill Potvin at Pine Knob. You will find in this man not only professionalism, but warmth for people. He's an administrator who cares for his staff and students. Bill encourages his staff to grow professionally and to be innovative. He's a friend to all.

You are so lucky — treat him well!

Sickening smoke

This letter is in regards to burning leaves. It makes me sick!

The other day I tried to walk around the block and had smoke in my eyes, and I could hardly breathe.

It's hurting the ozone layer, and most people who recycle don't even think twice about burning leaves. Please stop burning leaves and help to make our world safe for generations to come.

Village ZBA needs credible leaders

As a resident of Clarkston who is concerned with the future direction of the village, I must comment on the use upgrade from a funeral home to a bed and breakfast, brought before the Zoning Board of Appeals by Buck and Joan Kopietz.

I attended the initial standing-room-only meeting and listened to the concerns expressed, especially those of the Main Street residents. These concerns, along with misconceptions and misinformation (i.e. the widening of Main Street), were allowed to be expressed without being clarified by the chairman.

The board has the obligation to separate fact from fiction. Without a true understanding of the consequences, these unclarified fears will hinder an objective decision and foster further division between residents.

I can only hope that the board members voted objectively, rather than from pressure raised by the emotional expression of those fears.

I believe no further application should be allowed to come before this board until it has the credible leadership capable and wiling to supply answers to these concerns.

Bond proposal on cable program

An important bond proposal concerning the county's solid waste plan will be on the ballot in a few weeks.

In order to help cast an informed vote, I encourage everyone to watch the upcoming video on this subject. The video will be cablecast 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 30, on Independence-Clarkston Channel 65.

And remember to vote on Tuesday, Nov. 5.

Forum focuses on waste bond issue

This evening, Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 7:30 p.m., at Clarkston Junior High School, there will be a public forum on the Oakland County Solid Waste Plan on the vote that is to be held on Nov. 5.

This important meeting will give everyone the opportunity to hear the magnitude of the current dilemma facing Oakland County in an effort to get rid of its trash.

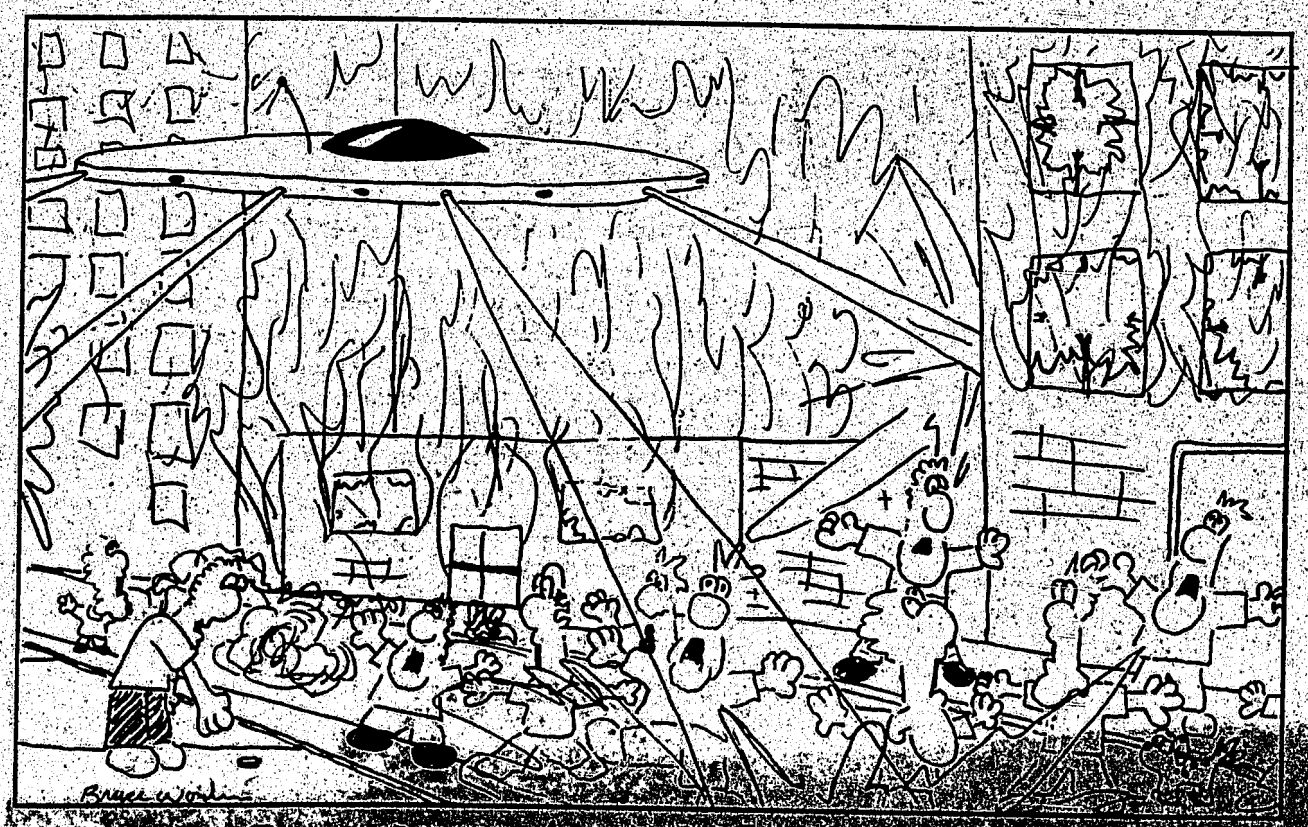

This is a very important vote on a very important issue. We no longer have the luxury of having cans full of trash hauled away to "who knows where." Too often this seemingly mundane issue is ignored because: "Out of sight is out of mind."

We face a genuine crisis in this community, county and state if we do not begin now to use our resources and intelligence to comprehensively plan for the handling of our solid waste.

We urge all of you to attend this meeting this evening and to vote on Nov. 5.

Kneel cheating can be traced to the nuns

Jim Fitzgerald

My favorite minister revealed he is switching to pro-choice. "Stand or kneel," he told his congregation, "the choice is yours."

That was several Sundays ago, and I'm still having trouble adjusting to this new freedom of worship. During more than 60 years of attending Roman Catholic and various Protestant services, I've always preferred to sit in the back of the church so I wouldn't have to keep track of whether it was time to stand, kneel or sit. I simply did what the people in front of me did.

But now some of the people in front of me are standing and some are kneeling. And I'm sort of crouching, prepared to go either way, but uncertain which.

My favorite minister, an Episcopalian, explained that he decided to quit kneeling during service prayers because an upright posture showed more joy and exaltation in God, to whom the prayers were addressed. That's how people usually prayed in the olden days, he said. But, he stressed, to each his own. The people in the pews were free to assume whatever position they chose.

On a recent Sunday, a man was lying down in his pew.

"That looks like an acceptable choice," I whispered to my wife. "Could I put my head in your lap?"

My wife explained that the prostrate man was apparently a street person who'd wandered into the church looking for spiritual uplift, if not postural. She said one of the things she liked most about our church is that it welcomes everyone, regardless of disheveled appearance or irreverent attitude. She implied that was how I got in.

Ultimately I'll surely extend my crouch to the kneeling position, even if the majority of the congregation stands with their rector. Unfortunately, I'm afraid I kneel more in nostalgic defiance than in reverent supplication. Blame it on the nuns of my childhood.

Today my kneeling is purposely sloppy. My knees bend against the kneeling bench, but half my rump rests on the edge of the seat behind me. This is more comfortable than penitential, but that's not the main reason I'm a serial cheat kneeler. The main reason is I enjoy that no one hisses, "Jimmie Fitzgerald, kneel up straight!"

That's what the nuns often did in the 1930s on weekday mornings when St. Stephen School classes always began at 8 a.m. mass in St. Stephen Church. The only thing worse than cheat kneeling was for a student not to show up at all. The only valid excuse for absence was if the kid were sick enough to stay home and receive the holy sacrament of extreme unction, also called the last rites.

Back to today: You might think it would be awkward for a parishioner to kneel for prayers while the preacher is standing, even though he is pro-choice. After all, he is the shepherd and we are the flock, so shouldn't we follow his example? I quit fretting about that question when I noticed that, while my favorite minister was standing at the altar, his wife was kneeling in the congregation.

People who know about such religious subjects assure me that kneeling is becoming passe in many churches, including Catholic. I'm reminded of 20 years ago when Pope Paul first asked bishops to study replacing one-on-one confessions with a prayer of general confession in which congregations would confess sins jointly and receive joint absolution from the priest.

I wondered what would be done with all those no-longer-needed confessionals, and came up with such suggestions as planters, backhouses and mini-offices on wheels for psychiatrists who wanted to go where the neuroses were. They could park them in front of Catholic churches where old-fashioned parishioners might be wandering around looking for someone to talk to.

It's more difficult to imagine a market for unneeded kneeling benches. The best I can do is shoe stores, although shoe salespersons more often genuflect than kneel.

I used to genuflect on the bare church aisle, and I often heard "Jimmie Fitzgerald, your RIGHT knee, not left!"

Walkers set pace for SCAMP '92

Three cheers to the 265 walkers who shared their time and energy to make the Walk for SCAMP a great success.

While walking, not only did you reach out to SCAMP but also to Clarkston by picking up trash along the routes.

Together you covered 1,400 miles, obtained pledges of $11,300 and turned in trash to fill several garbage bags. What a great day for SCAMP and our community! Congratulations and thank you for your efforts.

A special thank you to chairpersons Zac Bell, Sandy Erskine and Maureen Moss, who did a wonderful job organizing the day; to all those who pledged our walkers; to the many businesses who donated food and supplies; and to disk jockey Lance Howard, who entertained everyone with great music.

A special thank you also to our many volunteers who worked on registration and rest stops to ensure the safety of our walkers and who worked behind the scenes baking treats and ensuring a fun-filled day.

Your efforts will help make SCAMP 1992 a reality for 250 special special youth in north Oakland County. We couldn't do it without you!

Like 'Connection'

It was so kind of a new Clarkstonian to praise our Kids Connection staff at Clarkston Elementary.

Although the Clarkston Elementary staff has the qualities that our new neighbor affirmed, I would like to recognize the Bailey Lake Elementary Kids Connection staff, Mrs. Chamberlain and Mrs. Carosella.

Their enthusiasm, sensitivity, organization and dedication means so much to my family. My children always enjoy going to their before- and after-school Kids Connection time.

Mrs. Chamberlain and Mrs. Carosella go that extra mile. It seems to be forgotten or not recognized enough in our society today.

So to Mrs. Chamberlain and Mrs. Carosella, thanks for the memories. My family and I speak of you with highest regards in caring for children. We know it is a positive for our children to have you as their before- and after-school caregivers.

You shine at Bailey Lake Elementary for all the children at Kids Connection.

From Our Perspective

Sharing information

Doug Carlson

Once again Julie Campe has been receptive to letting an organization to which I belong have a column in The Clarkston News on a regular basis.

Before I get into our goals and aspirations I'll give you a brief history of who we are and how we came together.

Basically, we're nothing more than a group of local residents who are vitally concerned about the problems facing the Clarkston school system and the quality of education that we're providing to our children. Very simply, we'd like to do whatever we can to help improve that quality.

We came together last year when the $85 million bond issue was put to a vote. The more we talked about it, and the more we looked into it, the more we were convinced that it was an "overkill" solution to some admittedly very real problems.

We felt we needed some first-hand knowledge about what was really going on in our school system before we could support a tax increase of the magnitude being proposed. The proposal failed by a 2-1 margin.

We continued our efforts during the last election by working for the election of three candidates to the Board of Education who, we believed, were in agreement with our views. Two of three were successful, and we felt our efforts had paid off.

We surfaced, facetiously, as the Red Ribbon Committee, but a more serious and accurate appellation might be "Citizens for Fiscal Responsibility in the Clarkston School System."

This leads into our goals and aspirations. First of all, we believe that it will be extremely difficult to pass future millage proposals in Independence Township given the property tax situation in the State of Michigan.

One has only to look at the closeness of the recent millage renewal vote or the defeat of the parks and recreation proposal to get the picture. Therefore, the schools are pretty much going to have to make do with what they have.

What our group plans to do in the coming months is to visit as many schools as possible to see for ourselves what problems are inherent in each of them. During these visits we talk to the principal and, if it's convenient, to some of the teachers.

We compile data on enrollment, student-teacher ratios and head-count trends. We tour the buildings to see what condition they're in, and we observe how crowded the classrooms are.

Since our group is comprised of people with considerable expertise in maintenance and architecture, our observations are of more than passing interest. We develop ideas on how things might be done differently, for example. In our two visits to date, we have been well received and given the utmost cooperation by all concerned.

In addition to the above, we're examining the budget for the entire Clarkston school system for 1991-92 and comparing it to budgets and expenditures in the two previous years. We want to determine how much money is being spent on the students and how much is being allocated elsewhere.

The purpose of this column will be to provide you, the residents of Clarkston, with information on what we find out and to give you our thoughts on possible solutions to some of the problems.

We simply want you to know what we know. We believe that if we all work together we can get through these difficult times and provide an excellent educational system for our children.

Doug Carlson is a member of Citizens for Fiscal Responsibility in Government, which is comprised of area residents who are studying the Clarkston school operations.

New group studies school

BY JULIE CAMPE
Clarkston News Editor

Bill Rausch is not one to turn away from controversy, though he'd rather talk about "the facts" than high emotions.

Rausch and about 15 others have formed a group to independently examine the operations of Clarkston schools.

Officially, they're registered with Oakland County as "Citizens for Fiscal Responsibility in Government," though others have dubbed them the "Red Ribbon Committee" as an anti-Blue Ribbon Committee. The Blue Ribbon Committee was formed to support the school ballot issues.

The group is comprised of people with a cross section of professions, most in their late 40s with an average length of residency ranging from 20 to 25 years.

"When the bond issue failed, there was some real bitterness. We didn't want that."

Bill Rausch

"They recognize the need for the children, but they also recognize the need to stay in their homes," said Rausch, about the members' motivations for working on the group's project.

It all began when voters turned down bond issues for $85 million that would have financed a new high school, new elementary school, swimming pool and improvements to existing school buildings.

Citizens groups take close-up look at schools

Rausch and a few others spoke publicly against the bond issue — and felt the heat from bond issue supporters.

"When the bond issue failed, there was some real bitterness," said Rausch, a 36-year resident of the community. "We didn't want that. Hopefully, this will bring the community together again."

The purpose of the group is to find solutions to the school district's facilities problems by focusing on the existing $27.8 million school budget.

So Rausch and other members of Citizens dug in. They've begun examining each school building and plan to spend equal energy examining each line of the school's budget, comparing it to previous budgets.

The tasks take hours, but the challenge is met by the architects, engineers, facilities managers, school teachers, construction managers, accountants, builders and more who make up the group.

Their opinion so far?

Structurally, the buildings are OK, but they need cosmetic improvements, maintenance and updating, Rausch aid.

He added that the administration and school board have not "put much emphasis on the maintenance, repair and upkeep of any of the facilities" as evident from a visual study of the buildings and from a look at the budget.

"We agree with what the architects have told them is wrong with the schools since 1988; we don't agree on how to solve it," Rausch said.

And that will be the key to getting community support for whatever solution the school district chooses, said Rausch.

To help get the word out about the school conditions, Citizens is writing a periodic column about the members' findings that will appear in The Clarkston News. The first column debuts this week.

Rausch said the column is intended to be factual and as objective as possible — they consult with school officials on nearly all information.

"We have been well received by both the faculty and staff; everyone has been very cooperative," said Rausch.

"Hopefully, when the community gets all the information, they'll understand," he said.

And the group members — some of whom don't have children in the schools — don't have preconceived solutions, Rausch said.

"It may shake out that they'll need a bond issue for the elementary school," he said. "Hopefully, we'll ultimately get the facilities back in shape, and if we do need a bond issue, the people will take a look at it."

He noted that other aspects of school operations may come to the surface as well — salaries, for instance.

"There'll be some tough issues come to light," he said. "It's going to be interesting."

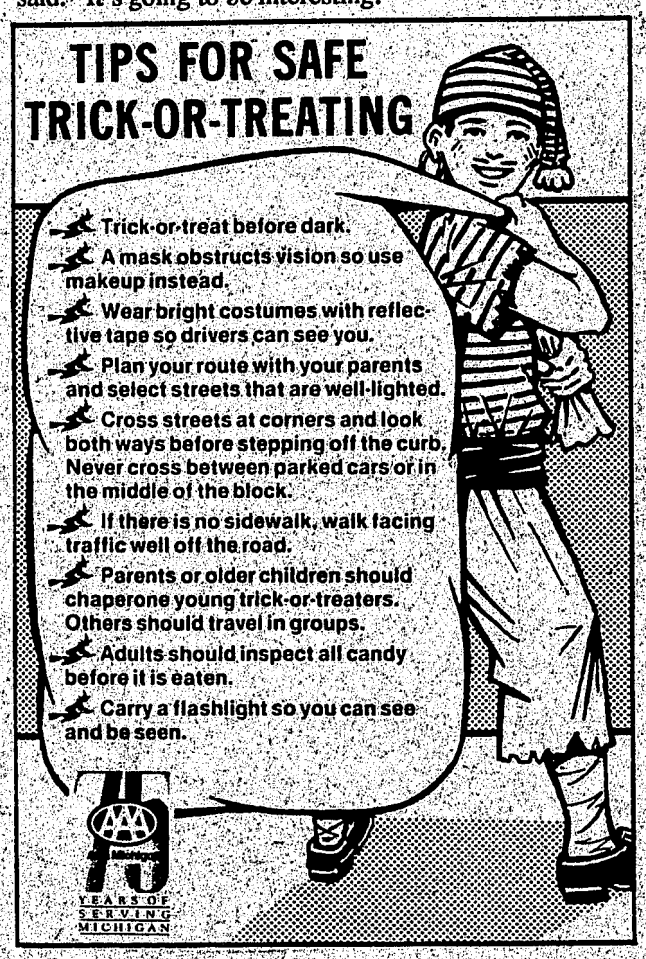

New voting booths OK'd

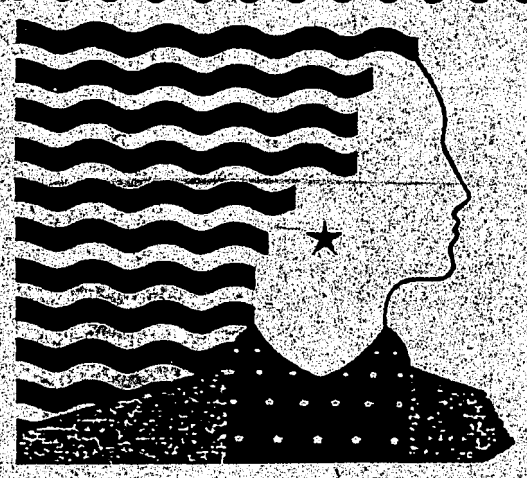

Voters will be using new machines in Springfield Township for the Nov. 5 special election.

The board voted unanimously at a special Oct. 15 meeting to amend the budget to pay for eight voting booths worth $2,000. The board transferred money from the capital outlay budget to the elections budget for the purchase.

Clerk J. Calvin Walters requested the purchase and said the new booths will be compatible with a new township voting system in the works.

On the ballot Nov. 5 is an Oakland County proposal for a bond issue to pay for an incinerator to handle some of the county's waste.

National Businesswomen's Week
Oct. 21 through 27

Seventy years ago, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. (BPW) was organized in St. Louis, Missouri. The goal then, as now, was to promote and support a high standard of achievement for women in business and in the community.

BPW is the oldest and largest organization of working women in the United States. A non-profit, self-governed organization composed of approximately 165,000 members throughout the nation, it strives to achieve specific gains for women under the law; equal pay for equal work; removal of sex discrimination in education and employment; equal representation in political organizations; child care services; tax reforms equalizing treatment for women and men; and equitable treatment of women in insurance and pension plans.

As a branch of BPW, the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's organization provides career information and help to women who wish to expand their talents and abilities through educational training programs. Members of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women are united by the common concern that women here and throughout the world would be treated equitably in all areas of their lives.

Township hikes rates at Lakeview Cemetery

BY CURT MCALLISTER
Clarkston News Associate Editor

It just became more expensive to be buried at Lakeview Cemetery.

On Oct. 14, the Independence Township Board voted to raise both plot and burial charges at the Independence-based graveyard. Township officials said the last rate increase for lot sales was in 1979, and the last reported rise in the cemetery's opening and closing charges were in 1986.

Prior to the hike, the rates were below those at All Saints and the Ottawa Park cemeteries. These increases now makes Lakeview's costs comparable to the area's other two cemeteries.

The biggest increase occurs in the cost of graveyard space for non-residents. The amount was raised from $300 to $375.

Originally, the hike was proposed for $350, but Trustee Bruce Mercado prompted the board to tack on an additional $25 for non-residents.

"We estimate that Lakeview will probably fill up in 25 to 30 years, and I'd like to think that I can be buried there," Mercado told the board. "I don't want to see it fill up quickly on account of non-residents."

George Anderson, director of the township Department of Public Works, explained that a non-resident is a person who has never lived in the township. Former residents, who pass away in another city or state and requested to be buried in Lakeview, will be given residential rates, he added.

Other new rates at the cemetery for lot sales include: $300 (up from $250) for township residents, $100 (up from $75) for the cremation section and $50 (up from $25) for the baby section of the graveyard.

New rates for the opening and closing costs of a burial include: $300 (up from $250) for regular burials, $55 (up from $35) for cremation and $50 (up from $25) for babies.

The rates of Saturday burials have risen from $100 to $150, while Sunday and holiday burials remain the same at $200.

The cost of disinterments have also been increased from $300 to $350.

Ridgepoint construction begins

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Stage two of a two-step proccss was completed at a special meeting of the Springfield Township Board Oct. 15.

The board voted unanimously to approve a site plan for a site condominium project on Tindall Road. A cluster option, which paved the way for the Ridgepointe project, was approved Oct. 9.

A site condominium project looks like a single-family subdivision, except the homeowner only owns the house and a small "building envelope" surrounding it. The property between homes is owned by the condominium association, which is comprised of homeowners.

At the special meeting, the board decided that corrections to the master deed and bylaws should be approved, which allowed developer Bruce Burskey of West Bloomfield Township to begin construction.

"He (Bruce) has started his project as of Oct. 17," said Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls.

The project calls for 38 single-family residential homes to be clustered together so that the rest of 52 acres can be kept in its natural state.

According to Burskey, the two-story ranch homes will be constructed with brick and wood and will range from $120,000 to $150,000. Lots range from one-half acre to three-fourths acre.

Burskey also said the entrance to site will not change the country appeal of the area.

Millage rates hiked

Millage rates for 1992 were unanimously approved by the Springfield Township Board at a special meeting Oct. 15.

The township board acted on millage rates for the general fund, fire fund and the police fund only.

One mill is $1 for every $1,000 assessed property valuation. For example, the owner of a $100,000 home assessed at half its market value ($50,000) would pay $180.95 in property taxes in 1992 for the township's general fund, police fund and fire fund.

The 1978 Headlee Amendment to the state constitution automatically reduces the millage rate if property values increase at a rate higher than the rate of inflation. New construction is taxed at the full rate.

The general fund rate is 1.0485 mills, which is down from 1991's rate of 1.1917 mills.

A rate of .8332 mill was set for the fire fund, which is less than 1991's .8452 mill. For the police fund, the rate was set at 1.7373 mills, which is up from 1991's 1.52 mills.

The total millage rate is up for 1992 at 3.6190 mills from 1991's 3.5569 mills, which doesn't include the library millage rate.

The library's .4929 millage rate is controlled by the Springfield Township Library Board.

Five days added to burning schedule

If your fall yard cleanup day was rained out last weekend, don't despair.

You still have a few chances to burn your leaves in Independence Township.

A new burning ordinance listed last Saturday as one of the last days permitted for burning, but it rained, so many people couldn't burn, said Chief Gar Wilson of the Independence Fire Department.

"We were bombarded with calls," he said. "Due to popular demand, we are adding five days to the 1991 burning calendar."

They are: Sunday, Nov. 3; Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 16 and 17; Sunday, Dec. 8; and Sunday, Dec. 15.

"We knew we were going to have problems," said Wilson. "Spring is the busy time, but we wanted to get (the burning restrictions) started so we could see what problems we had, so we could amend the ordinance the first of the year.

"We forgot a couple things. One, many people work six days," he said. And, if it rains on Saturday, homeowners generally use Sunday as a cleanup day.

The fire department has been tracking problems to find ways to improve the ordinance, he said.

Are employees and employers being shortchanged in their health-care insurance?

YES, both employees and employers are losing if the insurance does not cover chiropractic care.

When a musculoskeletal problem occurs (which is common among workers), the employee suffers debilitating pain. The employer suffers too, in the cost of having a valuable worker absent from his or her job and possibly hospitalized for an extended period. This can be interpreted in further losses resulting from reduction in product quality and production, and the additional cost of hiring and breaking in substitutes. Everybody gains if the employee is back on the job as quickly as possible. That's why it is important to know that reputable scientific studies done by medical sources comparing chiropractic care against medical and physical therapy non-surgical care of the back and neck show that chiropractic procedures relieve chronic and severe pain, both immediate and long term, in half the time it takes medical physicians (who are not trained in chiropractic procedures).

No wonder as many people with back pain choose to go to chiropractors as go to orthopedic surgeons. This fact is stated in Spine journal*, in a report published by the Department of Medicine, University of Texas Health Science Center.

RESEARCH SUPPORTS THE FACTS

Oregon Workmen's Compensation Study (1971). Rolland Martin, M.D., Director, Workmen's Compensation Board.

Examining the forms of conservative therapy the majority received, it is interesting to note the results of those treated by chiropractic physicians.

A total of twenty-nine claimants were treated by no other physician than a chiropractor, 82% of these workmen resumes work after one week of time loss. Their claims were closed without a disability award.

Examining claims treated by the M.D., in which the diagnosis seems comparable to the type of injury suffered by the workmen treated by chiropractor, 41% of these workmen resumed work after one week of time loss.

British Medical Research Council Study (1990) reported in the British Medical Journal for June, 1990.

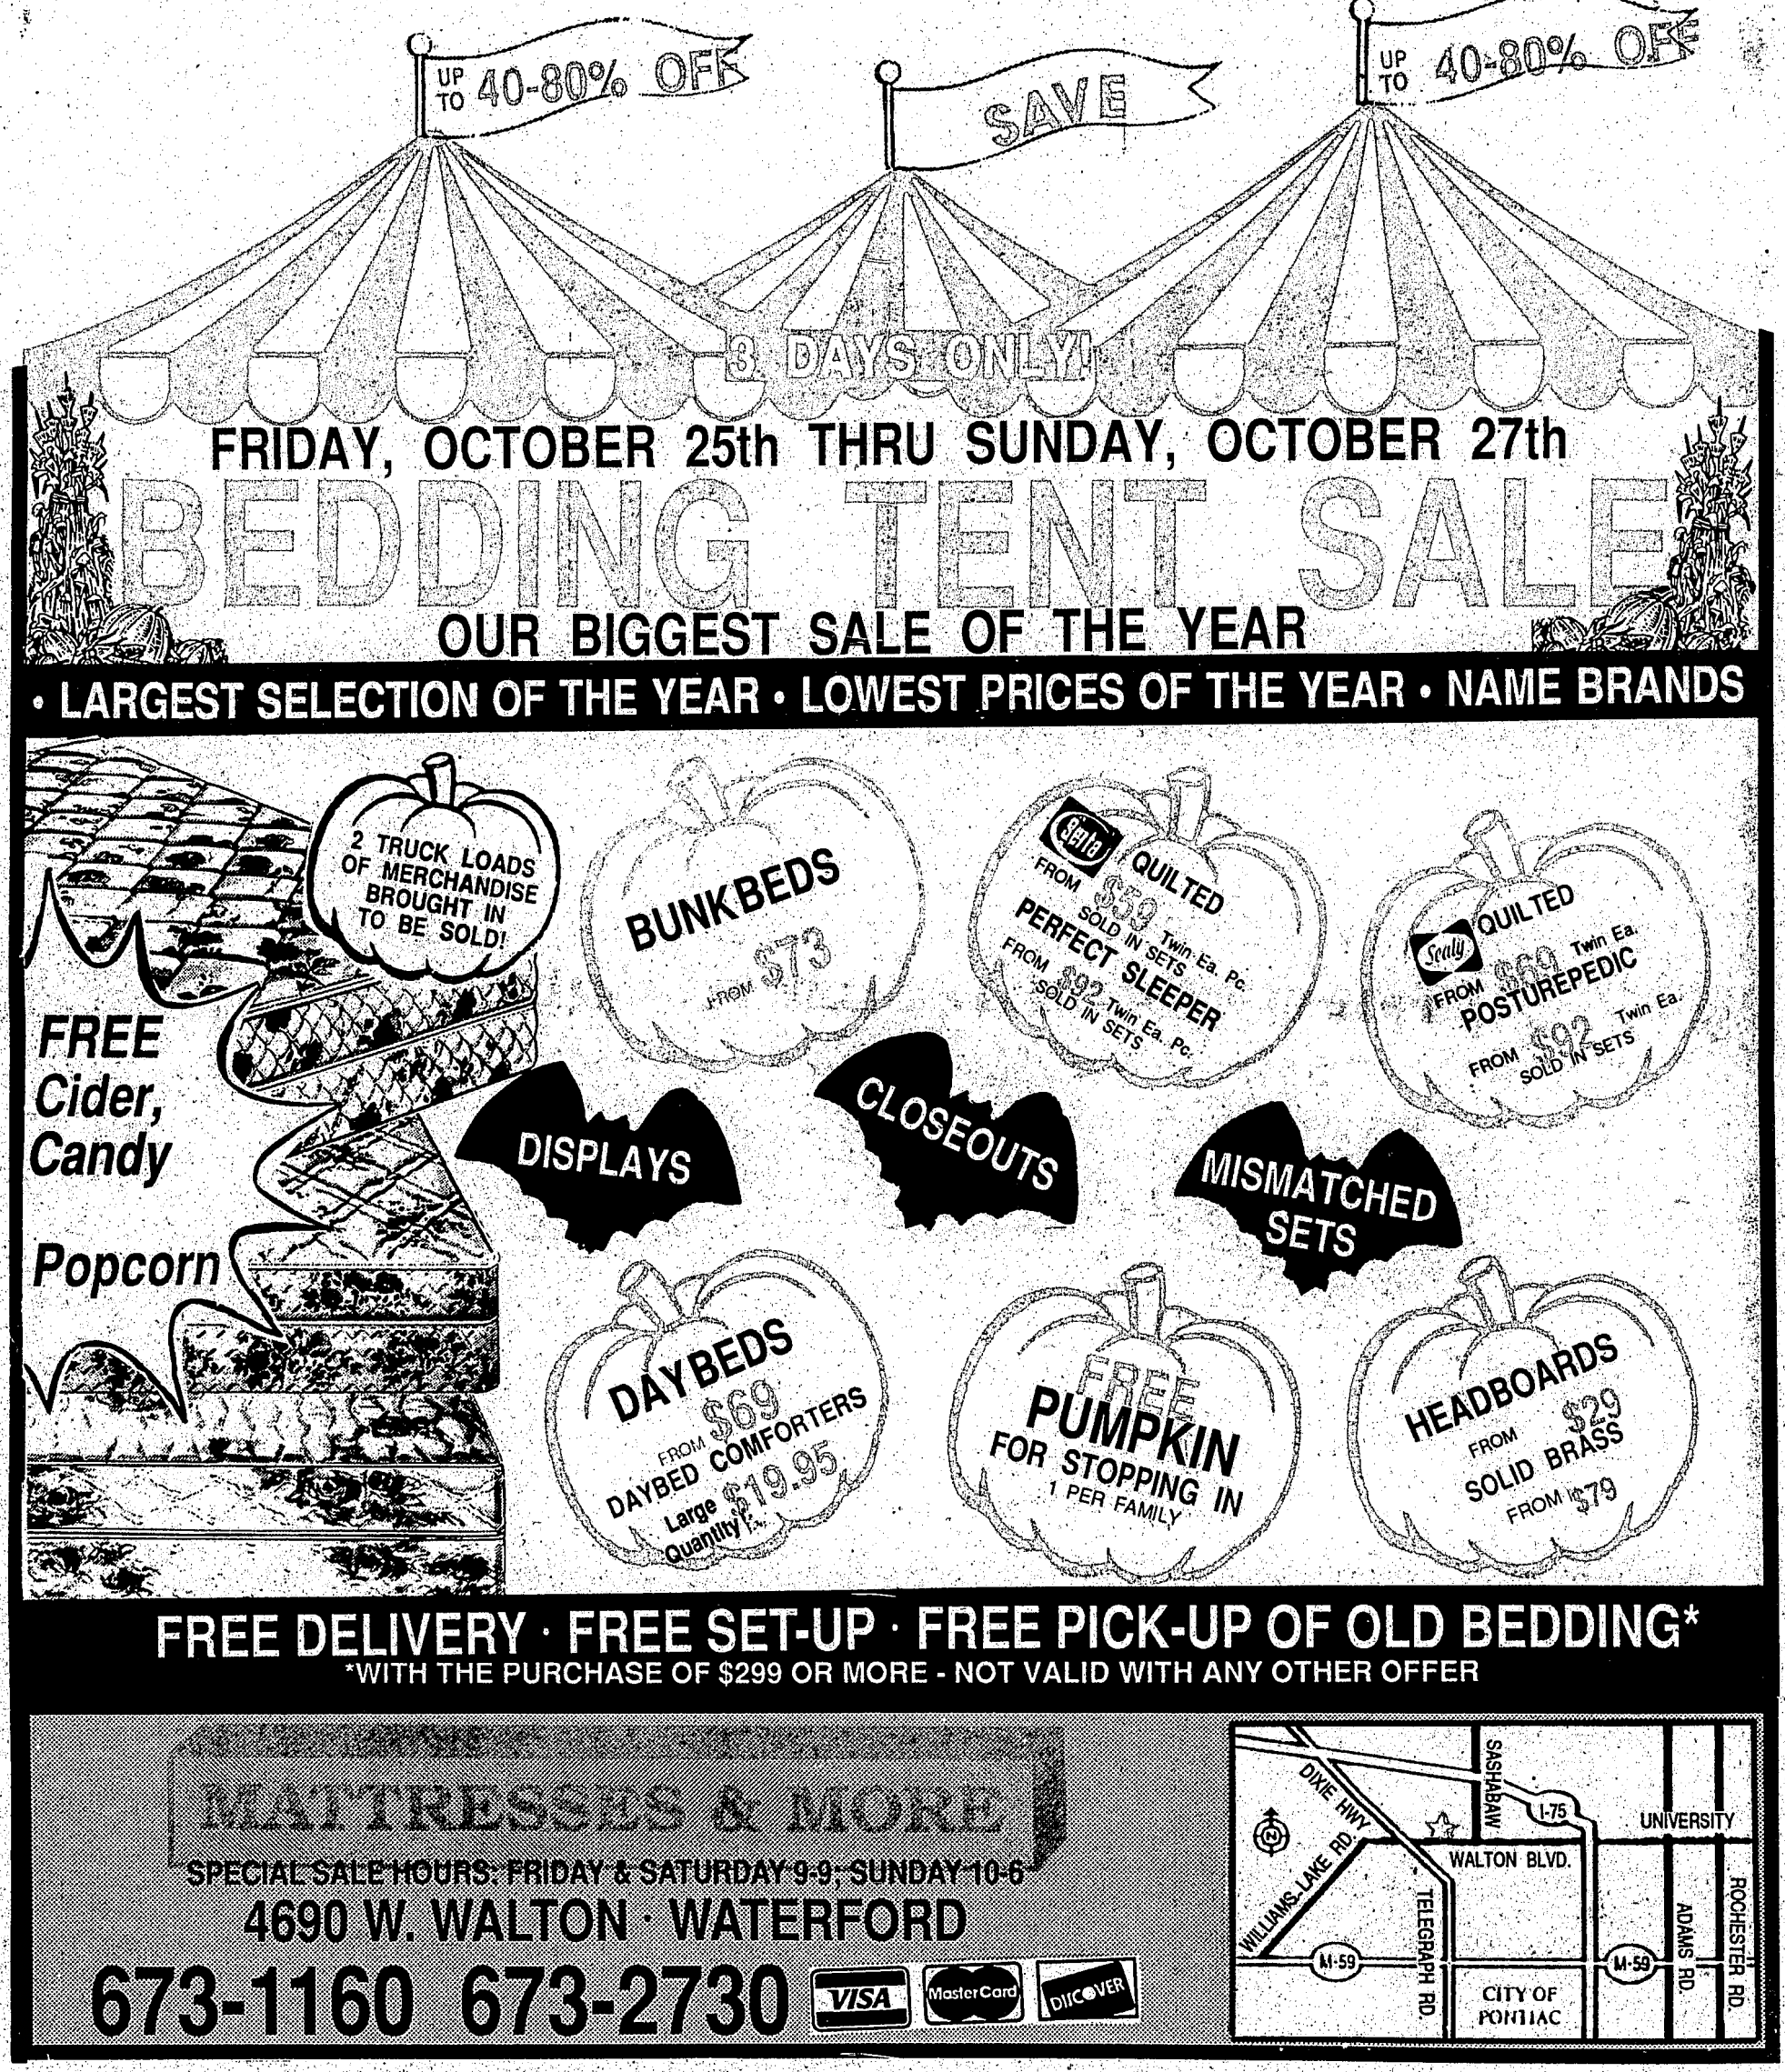

Results - Chiropractic treatment was more effective than hospital outpatient management, mainly for patients with chronic or severe back pain. A benefit of about 7% points on the Oswestry scale (between three quarters and twice as effective according to Dr. Tom Meade, medical researcher in charge of study) was seen at two years. The benefit of chiropractic treatment became more evident throughout the follow-up period. Secondary outcome measures also showed that chiropractic was more beneficial.

Conclusions - For patients with low back pain in whom manipulation is not contraindicted, chiropractic almost certainly confers worthwhile, long term benefit in comparison with hospital outpatient management. The benefit is seen mainly in those with chronic or severe pain. Introducing chiropractic into NHS practice should be considered.

British Medical Research Council Study (1990) reported in the British Medical Journal for June, 1990.

Some 300,000 patients are referred to hospitals for back pain each year, "of whom about 72,000 would be expected to have no contraindications to manipulation." If all these patients were referred for chiropractic instead of hospital treatment, the annual cost would be about $6,640,000. Our results suggest that there might be a reduction of some 290,000 days in sickness absence during two years, saving about $21,580,000 in output and $4,814,000 in social security payments. As it was not clear, however, that the improvement in those treated by chiropractic was related to the number of treatments, the cost of essential chiropractic treatment might be substantially less than $6,640,000. The possibility that patients treated in hospital would need more treatment during the second year than those treated by chiropractic (see above and table VI) also has to be borne in mind. There is, therefore, economic support for use of chiropractic in low back pain, through the obvious clinical attributable to chiropractic treatment is in itself an adequate reason for considering the use of chiropractic.

Calvary Lutheran Church celebrates 30 years

FOUR pastors gather for the 30th anniversary celebration of Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church Oct. 12. The Rev. Paul Johns (front, right) served as pastor from 1960 to 1965. He is now director of stewardship in Chicago for the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America. Next was the Rev. Arlon Stubbe (back, right), who served 1966-71. He is now pastor of Saron Lutheran Church, St. Joseph. The Rev. Bob Walters (back, left) began in 1971 and was joined by the Rev. Tom Struck (front, left) in 1988. (Photo by Julie Campe)

Births, deaths, weddings, new friendships — all are part of the 30-year history of an area church.

In spring 1960, the Board of Missions of the Augustana Lutheran Church extended a call to Paul A. Johns, who would become Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church's first pastor.

In late January 1961, the church was officially organized, and it recently celebrated 30 years in the Clarkston area.

"It was lots of fun remembering things from the past," said the Rev. Bob Walters, current pastor of the church. "Hard things are forgotten, while personal relationships and the faith are remembered."

From 22 people who attended an interest meeting at the home of Johns, the church has grown to population of 1,215.

"Numbers are really not the key, but being able reach people is what is important," Walters said. "We have 375 family units, which is very important to the foundation of the church."

"We look at the celebration as launching pad for the future. What is really important is the personal relation, which comes from being together."

The Rev. Bob Walters

A small building was built at the present location on Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township. In 1978, a sanctuary and offices were added, and in 1986, a fellowship hall and offices were added.

"We have shown steady growth over the years," said Walters. "At this point I have confirmed some members that I baptized."

In celebration of the church's 30 years, the Rev. Paul Johns spoke during special services, and a banquet marked the occasion.

At the celebration, laypeople Marje Hood, Les Purslow and Karen Simmons were on hand.

"These people have been around since the beginning," Walters said. "They had a good time telling stories of what has happened in the past."

According to Walters, the celebration is important because it's the people who make these things happen.

"We look at the celebration as launching pad for the future," he said. "What is really important is the personal relation, which comes from being together."

Golfers finish season 7th at state

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston golfers outshot some higher-rated teams and finished seventh at the Class A state finals.

The Wolves totaled 338 strokes at the par-72 Walnut Hills Country Club in East Lansing Oct. 19. Muskegon Mona Shores edged Traverse City, 318-319, for the title.

Among the higher-ranked schools the Wolves defeated in the finals was Birmingham Brother Rice, which shot a 342 for 11th place. A week earlier, Brother Rice topped the Wolves by 18 strokes in the regionals.

Twenty-four schools qualified for the finals by placing first, second or third in eight regionals. Sixteen other schools sent golfers which qualified individually.

"Finishing seventh overall, I'm pretty happy. Everybody played hard," said Clarkston coach Jim Chamberlain, who thinks the finish may have been the best in the school's history.

Freshman Jayson Buchmann (see related story) had the best round for the Wolves, shooting a 79 which tied him for ninth. The top 10 golfers received medals.

Senior Dave Studt shot an 83 and senior Pete Luster fired an 86.

Chamberlain said Studt had a slow start but "he never quit," finishing strong, and pointed out that Luster "came back from a lot of mistakes."

Senior Derek Bildstein, who along with Luster shot an 81 for the Wolves' best scores at the regionals, finshed with a 90 at the finals.

"Derek never got a break," said Chamberlain. "He went on a bogie binge and couldn't break out of it."

Senior Mike Brown also finished with a 101 (only the top four scores from each team counted in the final standings).

"It was a cool day," said Chamberlain. "Conditions weren't conducive to good scoring."

The coach, however, was glad to see that the cooler weather didn't stop Wolf supporters.

"We had a nice following. Lots of parents walked around the course," said Chamberlain.

The bulk of the team will be graduating next spring but Chamberlain is encouraged by Buchmann returning for three more years and a host of underclassmen which played well on the JV squad.

Several of those JV players got a taste of the finals by caddying for the varsity.

After the finals, Chamberlain told the JV players (most of them freshmen) he had high expectations for them in two or three years.

"They asked me, 'What's wrong with next year?'" said Chamberlain.

Next year those young Wolf golfers will have plenty to shoot for, defending the Greater Oakland Activities League title and hoping for another shot at state.

Freshman's 79 ties him for 9th best

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Freshman Jayson Buchmann isn't old enough to drive, but he has easily earned his license to drive on the fairways this fall.

Buchmann fired a 79 and tied for 9th individually at the Class A state golf finals Oct. 19 at Walnut Hills Country Club in East Lansing.

"I play against older players all the time," said the 5-foot, 6-inch, 115-pounder, who bested well over 100 of the state's top upperclassmen. Buchmann earned a medal for his 7-over par round and joined his team in a seventh-place finish.

Since Buchmann attends Sashabaw Junior High School and the rest of his varsity teammates attend Clarkston High School, the team had to make a special trip to pick him up for away matches.

And coach Jim Chamberlain always made sure the van made its five-minute east-bound trip to pick him up.

"I'm very proud of him," said Chamberlain, who added that Buchmann's teammates shared in that feeling. "Everybody was happy for Jayson."

Buchmann, who averaged 40 for nine holes this season, only had to take 31 putts at Walnut Hills.

Putting and chipping have always been Buchmann's strengths. And as he gets older and stronger, he expects to shave off a few strokes off the tee.

Buchmann, who also plays basketball, first began playing golf when he was eight years old. His father, Alan, is an avid golfer and his mother, Linda, also plays a few rounds each year.

The freshman said with most of the Wolves' top golfers graduating, next season "they'll expect more out of me."

But Buchmann won't be alone. Several other talented underclassmen from Tim Kaul's successful 19-1 JV squad will join him next fall.

Chamberlain said he doesn't think Buchmann's ego will balloon his sophomore year.

"He knows he has to keep working at his golf game. He's dedicated," said Chamberlain.

And next year, sophomore Buchmann won't have to wait for the van.

Soccer team advances in district action

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A 6-0 blasting of North Farmington has advanced Clarkston's varsity soccer team into the second round of Class A district play.

"It wasn't much of a game," said Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald, who knows the competition will continually get tougher into the playoffs.

The Wolves will next play away against the winner of Birmingham Brother Rice and Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

Clarkston, 12-5-1, struck for two goals in the first seven minutes of the match.

Forward Scott Rooney tapped in a goal with an assist from Devin Dupree. Dupree headed in the second goal and it was Rooney's turn to assist.

Rooney made it 3-0 when he knocked in a goal after a long throw in from Aaron Phillips.

Chris Colburn gave the Wolves a 4-0 bulge before the half after a throw in by Dupree.

Clarkston continued its onslaught in the second half when Dupree scored an unassisted goal. Jim Drysdale closed out the Wolves' scoring when he headed in a corner kick off the foot of Ray Torrance.

Goalkeepers Mike Miller (first half) and Nathan Forbes (second half) shared in the shutout.

Saginaw Heritage 2, Clarkston 1
(Oct. 16 at Saginaw)

Saginaw Heritage, one of the top-10 rated teams in the state, edged Clarkston 2-1 in Saginaw Oct. 16.

"They outplayed us in the first half," said Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald. "We outplayed them in the second half and had a ton of chances."

A ton of chances but only one goal against the team Fitzgerald called "the best team we've played."

In fact, Heritage, 15-1, has given Clarkston two of its five losses this season. Earlier this fall, the Wolves lost to the Saginaw team, 3-1, in the Springfield Christian Tournament.

Heritage led 2-0 at the half and almost put the match out of reach in the second half but Clarkston goalkeeper Mike Miller stopped a penalty kick.

With about one minute remaining in the match, Clarkston fullback John Conlen spoiled the shutout by scoring a goal after taking a crossing pass from Aaron Phillips. Conlen and the Clarkston defense went beyond their defensive positions for more offensive pressure.

But Heritage held on in the closing seconds to preserve the win.

Clarkston co-champs after romp of Captains

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Most teams would be quite happy with a 41-0 win and a share of a league title.

But Clarkston's varsity football team isn't most teams.

"It was anti-climatic," said Clarkston head coach Kurt Richardson about his team's 41-0 pasting of Waterford Kettering last Friday night in Waterford.

The victory earned the Wolves (4-1 in the GOAL and 6-1 overall) a share of the Greater Oakland Activities League championship with Pontiac Northern. Northern handed the Wolves their only loss of the season the previous week in overtime.

That loss to the Huskies not only prevented Clarkston from winning the GOAL outright but it hurt the Wolves in their playoff chances (Clarkston moved up to the fourth and final spot in the computer rankings this week but the Wolves will not know if they're in the playoffs until after the final game of the season).

Last Friday's game featured the GOAL's top statistical offense (Kettering) against the league's top statistical defense (Clarkston).

The defense clearly won.

And don't forget that Clarkston's offense is rated second while Kettering's defense is last.

"Defensively, we played well," said Richardson, who especially pointed out the play of Chris Combs, E.J. Stumph and Nick Shires.

The Wolves blanked the run-and-shoot Captain offense by putting pressure all night on quarterback Don Fellows (13 of 33 passes for 128 yards with one interception).

And the Captains were held to only nine yards total rushing.

"We put in some special blitzes, mixing up their reads," said Richardson.

Captain Fellows went into the game with 13 touchdown passes but it was Clarkston quarterback Dugan Fife who captained the night's scoring.

Fife, a 61 percent passer who now has 13 touchdown passes and 1,167 yards (and 169 yards rushing), passed for two touchdowns and ran in for two more.

Fife opened the scoring at the 8:24 mark when he connected with halfback Dan Grittiths for a 58-yard touchdown. Matt Smith kicked the PAT.

Griffiths scored again less than three minutes later on a 3-yard run. Smith's kick made it 14-0.

The Wolves scored three more times in the second quarter.

Linebacker Brian Davis picked up a fumble and returned it 20 yards for a TD at the 6:29 mark. Smith kicked the PAT.

Fife scored from six yards out at 4:58. Smith kicked the PAT.

With 23 seconds left, Fife scrambled and then galloped 26 yards for a touchdown as time ran out before the half. Smith's kick made it 35-0.

The Wolves closed out the scoring in the third quarter when Fife hit tight end Jeremy Burke for a 41-yard TD. Smith's kick failed (his first failed kick of the season).

Clarkston, which had 167 first downs compared to Kettering's nine, amassed 248 yards in the air. Fife completed 11 of 19 passes with one interception and Shires connected on two of six.

Jon Wyniemko caught eight passes (48 so far this season) for 103 yards. Griffiths grabbed one for 68, Burke one for 41, Bryan Hambell two for 28 and Dave Smith one for eight.

Halfback Justin Tappero led the Wolves in rushing with 48 yards on 13 carries. Griffiths was carried seven times for 40, Davis three for 37, Fife four for 33, Marc May three for 19, Eric Ryan two for 14 and Brad Hranach one for three.

Wyniemko paced the Wolves in tackles with six, Davis had four, Matt May and Steve Black each had three an Adam Kirk and Chris Combs each had two. Combs' two tackles were both quarterback sacks for a minus nine yards.

Brandon takes advantage of JV Wolves' cold shooting

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was cold in Brandon's gym Oct. 17.

Actually, the room temperature was fine, but the shooting touch of the Clarkston JV girls' basketball team was nearly freezing.

Clarkston sank only 15 of 72 shots from the field (21 percent) as the host Blackhawks topped the Wolves, 43-36.

The loss dropped Clarkston's record to 10-3 (4-2 in the Greater Oakland Activities League).

> "Brandon's team has improved tremendously over the years."
> Coach Janet Swan

Clarkston led 14-11 after the first quarter, but the Blackhawks went on an 11-4 roll in the second quarter and then never trailed.

"Brandon's team has improved tremendously over the years. They even beat Kettering's JV Tuesday night. Still, I think we have the talent to beat them," said Clarkston coach Janet Swan.

Jennifer Woutinen paced the Wolves with 10 points and seven rebounds.

Erin Patterson and Lisa Goforth each scored nine, Shawna Greene netted seven and Shannon Binkley added one. Patterson hauled down eight rebounds and Binkley cleared six boards.

Clarkston 41, Waterford Mott 37
(Oct. 15 at Mott)

Shawna Greene sank a career-high 17 points to help Clarkston edge host Waterford Mott, 41-37.

Greene also had five rebounds and four steals.

It looked as if the Wolves were going to run away with the game in the first quarter, taking a commanding 15-3 advantage. They continued to lead 28-13 at the half but the Corsairs trimmed it to 33-28 after three quarters.

Other scorers for Clarkston were Lisa Goforth with nine, Jennifer Woutinen six, Shannon Binkley four, Sarah Antonazzo three and Erin Patterson two.

Woutinen had nine rebounds, Goforth eight and Patterson seven.

Clarkston coach Janet Swan said Goforth's rebounding was especially outstanding.

"Those rebounds are really helpful when they come from a guard," said Swan. "It's usually the forwards with all the rebounds."

Clarkston 43, Lake Orion 17
(Oct. 10 at Clarkston)

Clarkston held Lake Orion to just two points in the second half as the Wolves crushed the Dragons, 43-17.

The Wolves led 27-15 at the half and then outscored the Dragons 16-2 in the second half.

Jennifer Woutinen and Erin Patterson each scored 10 points, Shawna Greene eight, Lisa Goforth six, Sarah Antonazzo four, Shannon Binkley three and Amy Bishop two.

Patterson had 10 rebounds, Binkley nine and Woutinen eight.

Sadie Caruso also had six steals.

Wolverines defeat 'Hawks for third straight grid victory

Clarkston Junior High's ninth-grade football team topped Brandon, 30-8, for its third straight victory.

The Wolverines (who defeated Waterford Mott 28-12 and Lake Orion 20-0 in the two previous games) improved their record to 5-2.

Clarkston, which led 22-0 at the half, opened the scoring when Matt Wagner ran 70 yards for a touchdown.

Jason Graves, who totaled 72 yards rushing, had a 34-yard touchdown run.

Quarterback Pat Mulligan connected with Brad Agar for a 36-yard TD.

Rich Bevins also plunged in from a short distance for a score.

Defensively, the Wolverines sacked the Blackhawk's quarterback nine times.

"It was the best defensive game we played all year," said Clarkston coach Steve Himburg.

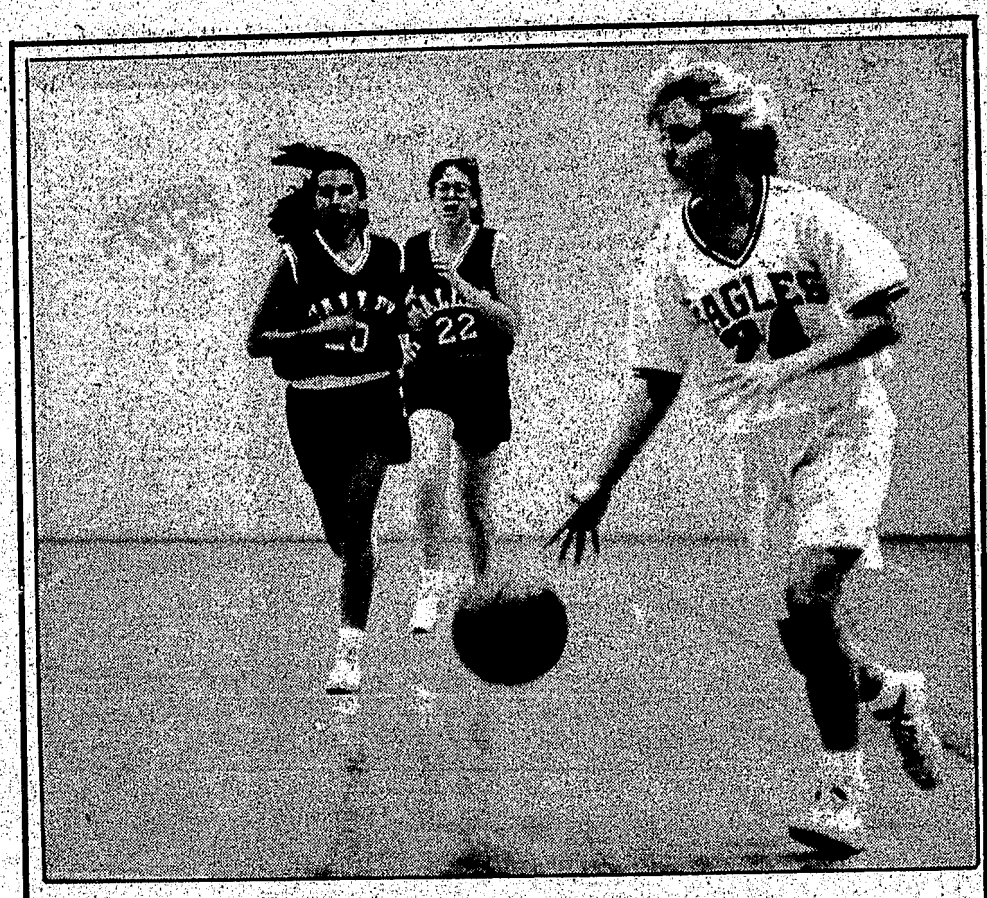

The coach pointed out the play of Bevins, Charlie Nolen and Jason Moshier.

"They did a very good job defensively," said Himburg.

Take the last train to Clarkston
and I'll meet you at the station
You can be here by 4:30
'cause I've made your reservation
don't be slow, oh no, no, no
(with apologies to the Monkees)

Seattle is only three air hours away from Michigan.

Luckily, I took the train there during my recent vacation.

Lucky because via Amtrak I met people like Lisa Miller, Bob Jones and Marty Gosser.

It's difficult not to meet people on a train. There's time for small talk on a plane, but on a train there's time for some long talks.

My first long talk took place when I boarded in Battle Creek (I took a bus from Flint to get there).

"Is anyone sitting here?" I asked a pretty 30ish woman heading west.

She, who I later found out was Lisa Miller (an R.N. from Ann Arbor), said there wasn't anyone sitting next to her. So I plopped my luggage on a rack above the seat and sat down.

We quickly found out we were both coincidentally traveling to Seattle. She was visiting her sister, whose family sold their house in the Midwest and left for Seattle without a job. The lure of the Northwest seems to make some people take that chance.

During a three-hour stop in Chicago, Miller and I walked a few blocks to downtown Chicago where, after waiting for protestors against American policies in El Salvador to pass by, we stood and drank a beer in a tavern (Chicagoans don't sit).

The next day (after passing through Iowa and Nebraska) on a two-hour stop, we walked around a sleepy downtown Denver on a Sunday morning with Brian and Claudia, a couple from Boston.

Later that night (while in between Wyoming and Idaho), Brian accused me of "changing the rules as you go along" in a fierce card game of "Hearts." Actually, Brian also accused another card player, Matt Hosek, of the same conspiracy.

Hosek is a recent college graduate who spent most of his life living in Germany. He was on his way Chicago to find a job and/or continue college in Seattle.

Bob Jones and a group of his fellow Texan senior citizens were on their way to see Seattle and British Columbia. Jones is from Muleshoe (pronounced "Muulshew,"), Texas, and proud of it. I was one of the fortunate ones on the train to get an official Muleshoe pin.

Jones even taught me a little history. I didn't know President Lyndon Johnson was such a womanizer until he explained it to me.

This column is about a train ride so I won't say much about Seattle. However, on my way back from a Seattle Mariners baseball game (the night before I returned to Michigan), there was a five-alarm fire at a low-income housing project less than a mile away from where I stayed.

My friend, Carrie Parks, works for the Red Cross in Portland, Ore. She volunteered to help those escaping the fire who were arriving for shelter at Rainier Beach High School (where Jimi Hendrix attended school). Carrie's husband, Gary Akizuki, and I went along and the three of us helped out until 6 a.m.

After that night, I had a better appreciation in life for the little things, as well as the Red Cross.

On my return trip to Michigan via Chicago, I took a more northern route. This time the traveler who sat next to me was Marian Webb, a 60ish woman from Kent, Wash., who was traveling east to visit someone in Cincinnati. She spent much of her time working on crossword puzzles.

Bill Mattson of Junction City, Ore., a retired school teacher, was an interesting person I met at lunch (the food isn't too bad, if you don't mind a little movement from the rails while eating). He was one of the few survivors of the Baton Death March during World War II, when American prisoners suffered under the Japanese. Mattson will soon join other survivors in the march's 50th anniversary.

During a five-minute stop in mountainous Whitefish, Mont. at about 6 a.m., I jumped off and asked Florence Leach (a resident of Whitefish) if she knew who Steve Howe was (Howe is a former Clarkston resident and now New York Yankee who lives in Whitefish).

She told me a lot of celebrities live in her town, including Jim Nabors and a Sutherland (Donald, Keifer?).

The rest of the trip back to Chicago (through North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin) was pretty uneventful. However, when I reached Chicago, there was a definite problem. There was a gas leak in Hammond, Ind. so a train couldn't go through that area.

I, along with others that needed to get to Michigan, was put on a bus heading east. Marty Gosser, a student at Albion College who sat next to me, already knew he wouldn't make it back in time to Albion when he boarded the bus.

Our bus driver got lost but we still managed to get to Porter, Ind., where we were told a train would soon pick us up. Two hours later, after three or four busloads of tired people spent time, money and patience in one of Porter's two taverns (you sit in Indiana), we boarded a train.

Needless to say, I arrived in Battle Creek late (the last bus connection had left about three hours earlier).

So Amtrak paid for three cabs, two went to Lansing and mine went to Flint (where my car was parked). Olga May-Hemley of Tacoma, Wash. sat in the back of the cab with me while John Patrick Cafarelli drove.

Actually, Cafarelli more like flew us back to Flint. Somewhere in the fog about 4 a.m., he was stopped for speeding.

If there is anyone who could talk his way out of a speeding ticket (besides Gov. John Engler's driver, of course), it is Cafarelli. And he did just that after explaining to the officer that he was trying to get us back to Flint after our long ordeal on the tracks. He also mentioned it was his birthday that morning (it really was), which didn't hurt. (Cafarelli would make an excellent defense attorney).

When I got back to the station in Flint, the gates were closed. I limboed my way under a fence and Cafarelli carefully handed me my luggage.

I waited alone in my car for about 30 minutes before an early-morning employee opened up the gate.

I drove back to Clarkston and had to to begin work in a few hours. There were stories to write.

After the trip, after meeting new people, there were plenty of stories to tell.

Dankert throws past Kettering, 1,000 mark

RUSTY Mitcham celebrates a touchdown with Nathan Abney (far right). Abney scored on a 17-yard run. Related photo on page 27.

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Quarterback Kevin Dankert completed his 12th and 13th touchdown passes and went over the 1,000-yard mark as the Clarkston JV football team defeated Waterford Kettering, 25-6.

The win improved the Wolves' record to 5-1-1.

Clarkston coach John Craven reflected, "In my 19 years of coaching, I've never had someone throw over 1,000 yards."

And Dankert still has two more games remaining to add to his impressive stats.

The Wolves opened the scoring in the first quarter on the ground when halfback Nathan Abney scored from 17 yards out.

A 3-yard Dankert to Jamie Jones touchdown pass made it 12-0 with 10:20 left before the half. The touchdown was set up by fullback Kevin Covert's 32-yard run on a draw play which saw plenty of daylight.

Clarkston scored early in the second half. On the fourth play of its first drive, halfback Joe Davis went off tackle and scampered 49 yards for a touchdown. Brian Phipps kicked the PAT for a 19-0 advantage.

Kettering scored its only touchdown in the third period when Brent Bundridge's pass was intercepted and returned 79 yards for a Captain TD. (Bundridge had a little revenge with his own interception of a Captain pass.)

But the Wolves countered with about eight minutes left in the game on a 21-yard TD pass from Dankert to Josh Watson.

"We came out flat, we hadn't practiced much. But we played much better in the second half," said Craven.

The coach was happy to see his Wolves finally score in the second half. It was the first time in five games Clarkston scored in the second half (despite that, it still is 4-0-1 during that span).

Craven was quite pleased with his defense. Linebacker Brian "Oscar" Bologna paced the Wolves in tackles with 6 1/2 and defensive tackle Brian Boggs had five.

Dankert completed nine of 15 passes for 133 yards.

Watson caught four passes for 56 yards, Bundridge grabbed two for 37 and Jones had two for 23.

The Wolves complemented an aerial attack with some strong running, 319 yards on 40 attempts.

Davis rushed for 87 on 10 carries, Dankert totaled 76 yards on 11 attempts and Covert ran for 66 on four carries.

Clarkston's next action is Oct. 24 when it hosts Garden City at 6:30 p.m.

Varsity cagers roll past two GOAL opponents

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Clarkston's defense held Brandon to single digits in the first three quarters en route to a 50-39 victory.

The Oct. 17 win on the Blackhawk court upped the varsity girls' basketball record to 11-2 (5-1 in the Greater Oakland Activities League).

The Wolves led 31-15 at the half and 42-22 after three quarters.

Clarkston guards Stacey Tinkis and Laura Seitz each had six steals.

The Wolves depend on their frontcourt players for scoring punch but Clarkston

"The guards have been playing super basketball all year long."

Coach Larry Mahrle

coach Larry Mahrle said senior Tinkis and sophomore Seitz have been vital to the offensive attack.

"The guards are the reason the way the girls (frontcourt scorers) have been playing so well. The guards have been playing super basketball all year long," said Mahrle, who points out that point guard Tinkis has only made 28 turnovers in 13 games.

Alyson McChesney earned game-high scoring honors with 16 points and Courtney Whittaker added 13. Heather Austin scored seven, Heather Steinhelper six, Tinkis four, and Seitz and Lesley Allen each with two.

Jessica Shilling was the only Blackhawk in double figures, scoring 11.

Clarkston 64, Waterford Mott 57 (Oct. 15 at Mott)

Waterford Mott was breathing down the Wolves' necks but Heather Steinhelper decided to give her team some needed breathing room.

With about four minutes left in the game and Clarkston up by only one point, Steinhelper nailed a crucial 3-pointer (her ninth of the season). The Wolves then held on for a 64-57 GOAL victory.

Clarkston led by two after the first quarter and by eight at the half, but host Mott cut the deficit to 45-40 after three quarters.

Steinhelper was all over the court, scoring a game-high 21 points, pulling down 10 rebounds and passing for five assists.

Teammates Alyson McChesney and Courtney Whittaker helped in the offensive attack with each scoring 14 points. Laura Seitz also picked off seven steals.

Other Clarkston scorers were Seitz with six, Shannon Jenks four, Heather Austin three and Stacey Tinkis two.

Kelly Rose paced the Corsairs with 18, Angie Gadzinski had 12 and Jaime Miller 10.

The Wolves helped themselves by shooting a hot 18 of 25 (72 percent) from the free-throw line while Mott could only manage 13 of 28 (46 percent).

PRICING YOUR HOUSE RIGHT

RELO WORLD LEADER IN RELOCATION

NOBODY - BUT NOBODY is more aware of current home values than your local REALTOR.

MAX BROOCK INC. REALTORS
27 S. Main, Clarkston
625-9300

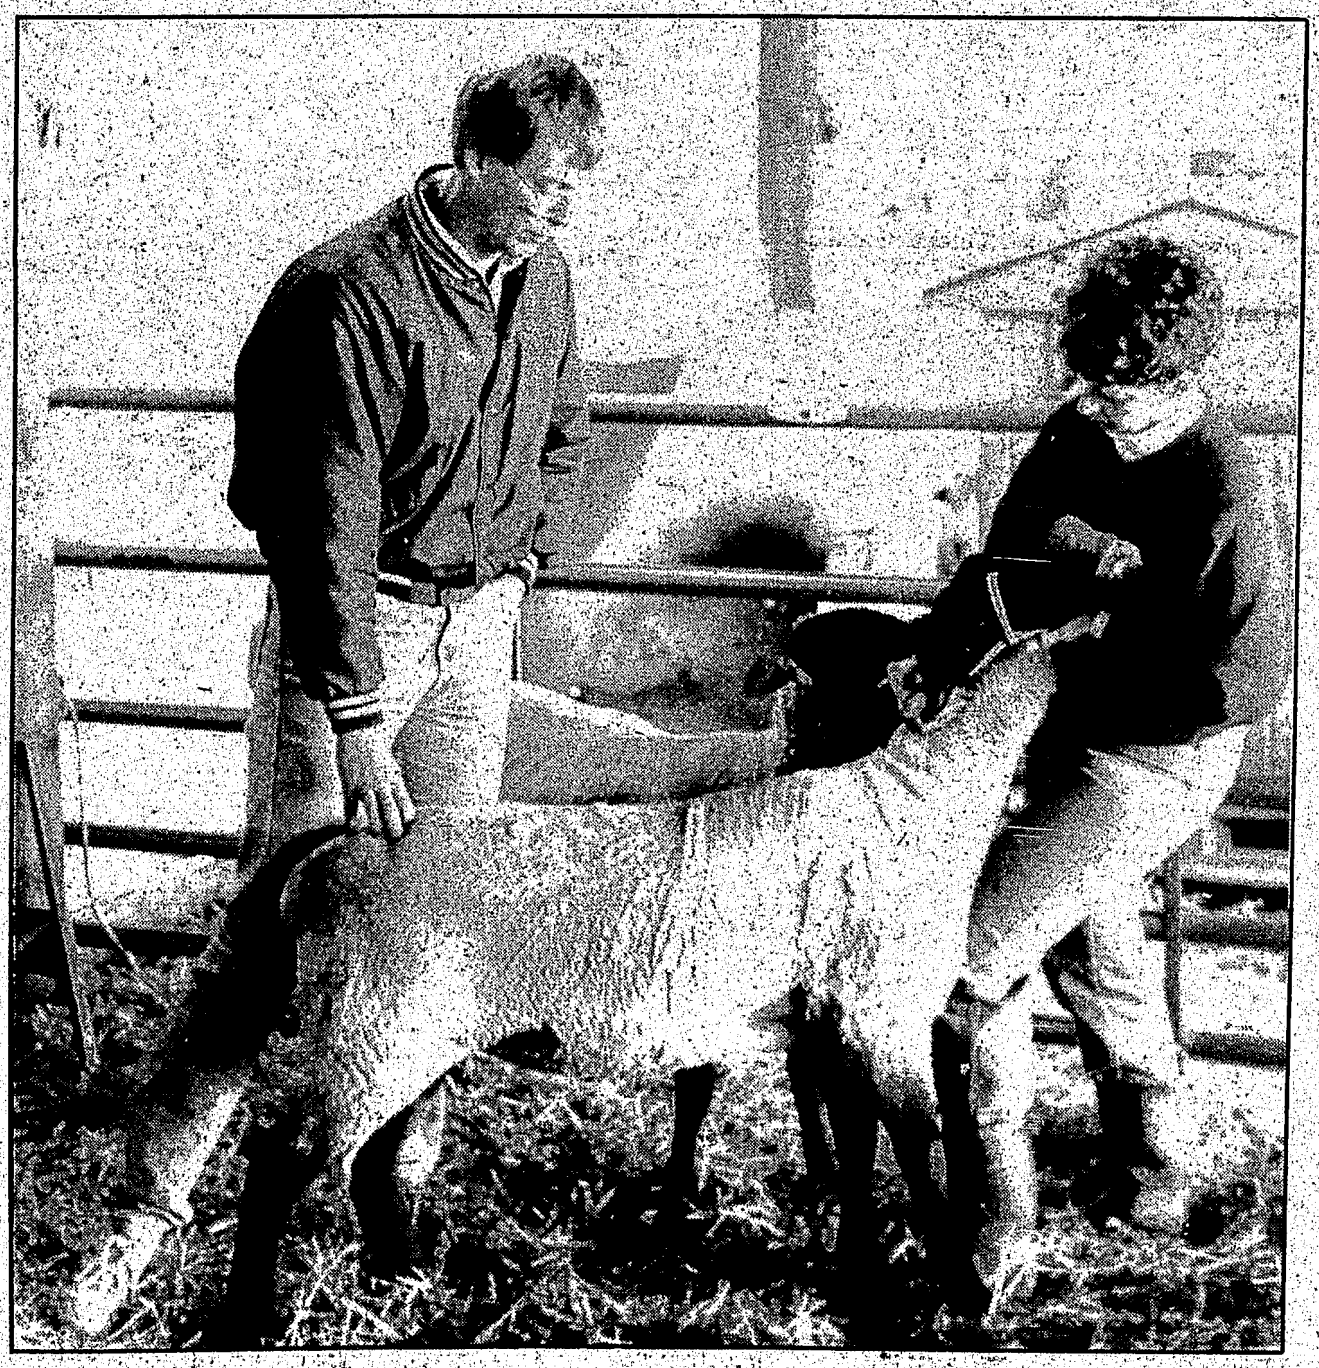

QUESTION: What is the best way to put the proper selling price on a home?

ANSWER: The value of your house is not what you think it is - or what the buyer thinks. It is determined chiefly by the location, the neighborhood, and the current market. An over priced house sitting on the market for months becomes almost impossible to sell. So first, you must get in line with the market. That means a realistic appraisal.

Nobody - but nobody - is more acutely aware of the current housing market than your local Realtor. Or you can hire a qualified independent appraiser. You may be pleasantly surprised to find out that you were intending to price your house for less than its fair market value.

JOE KAPINSKI, a Genesee County extension agent with Michigan State University, demonstrates how a "market lamb" is judged for quality by state livestock officials. Here, he is assisted by fellow sheep raiser Marlene Gavin of Springfield Township. This program was one of many held at the Skyview Farm on Trotter Road, Springfield Township, Oct. 19. Mom, son make friends as summer volunteers

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A mother and her 8-year-old son load the cooler for another couple of hours of what they call summer fun.

But they're not heading to the beach this time. Instead, they're taking meals to people confined to their homes.

"We had just moved here from Vermont, and I was looking for something to do," said Colleen Mabel of Sashabaw Ridge Drive, Independence Township.

"One day I was looking through The Clarkston News and saw a one-liner about the senior citizen's center at Clintonwood Park needing volunteers.

"I gave them a call and they said they desperately needed help and, for that matter, still do. Within two days my son Jonathan and I were delivering meals to shut-ins."

According to Mabel, it was just what the doctor ordered for everyone concerned.

"It was just what this lonely heart needed. It gave us something to do and really didn't interfere with any of our other summer plans. The people we delivered to were just super. They really looked forward to us coming, and we looked forward to going," she said.

> "Being a volunteer allowed me to integrate myself into the community. It helped me learn my way around."
> Colleen Mabel

Mabel, a registered nurse, had decided to take the summer off from work once she and her husband, Richard, moved to Michigan. Richard Mabel is an administrator at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

"I just wanted to spend some time with my children and take this summer off," said Mabel. "We went to the beach a lot, and for anyone who feels that being a volunteer will take up all their time, they are wrong," she said.

According to Mabel, volunteering wasn't just fun; it was also helpful.

"Being a volunteer allowed me to integrate myself into the community. It helped me learn my way around," she said.

It was also a good experience for Jonathan, who has a 13-year-old brother named Ryan.

"It was a lot of fun," Jonathan said. "I learned all of their names, and they learned mine. One person even gave me a piece of woodwork. I really had a great time visiting the people."

Five days a week Colleen and Jonathan would spend about an hour and half delivering the meals.

"You don't have to spend as much time as we did on it if you don't want to. We just liked it and volunteered for that much time. Most of routes take only about half an hour," she said.

Mabel said she would encourage anyone who can to volunteer.

"It is a very needed program along with being very rewarding. We often stayed and chatted with the people because they were so nice. I really believe that it would be something that most anyone would enjoy," said Mabel.

For two newcomers to the area, volunteering has been an enhancing experience not just for them, but also for those who otherwise would not have received a wholesome hot meal.

COLLEEN MABEL and her son Jonathan display the cooler they used while making deliveries of meals to shut-ins during the summer. The Mabels had recently moved to the Clarkston area from Vermont when they decided to volunteer.

Back in 1910, "caring" meant Pontiac residents raising $25,000 to build "Oakland County's First Hospital" in what was then a village of 5,000 people.

Five years later, caring meant the Oakland County Hospital Association donating the hospital to the thriving industrial center of Pontiac...and Oakland County Hospital became Pontiac City Hospital, which was changed to Pontiac General Hospital in 1931. Today, new communities all over Oakland County look to the same hospital for caring in the 1990's for services such as:

- Complete care for new mothers and babies, including family-centered birthing and northern Oakland County's leading intensive care unit for newborns.
- Satellite centers offering walk-in medical care and diagnostic services.
- Expanded programs in physical rehabilitation, county-wide psychiatric services and cardiac care.
- State-of-the-art laser and outpatient surgery.

With these new "caring" services and a patient base throughout Oakland County, our hospital has earned a new name.

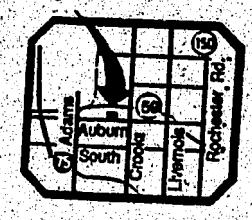

This multi-faceted, contemporary cross represents the international symbol for compassionate, community oriented health care. The repeating lines, which comprise the cross, signify the diversified parts of the North Oakland Medical Center, a medical facility with many aspects, affiliates, divisions, services, and organizations all working together for the people of the North Oakland County area.

Carry-out service for pets - sort of

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Rover, Rusty and Felicia may not appreciate a new business in Springfield Township, but their owners sure will.

A Springfield Township couple has figured out a way to make pet care easier for busy pet owners.

Pet Gro Express delivers pet foods and supplies straight to the homeowner, eliminating the time-consuming step of shopping.

"We researched the market and the pet owner needs for two years before we set out on this venture in May," said Katherine D. Herzog Dorr, who runs the business with her husband, Don.

Don said it was a good decision to open the business.

"We always knew we wanted to go into business for ourselves, and they say you should do something you enjoy," he said. "We have pets of our own and know that it takes a lot time to care for them properly."

What's new in business

Basing their business out of their home in Springfield Township and a warehouse in Springfield Township, the couple continue to maintain other jobs.

"We both work," said Katherine. "But we see to it that our customers are serviced at their conveniences. ... We will fill their order anytime they want. We do weekend and evening deliveries if it is necessary."

Their own pets — a Cocker spaniel, Kayley, and a black Labrador, Magnum — sparked their interest in the field, said Don.

"We learned a lot about the nutritional needs of our pets and now can help others to find the right type of quality and the extent of food their animal needs," he said. "It is up the pet's owner to select the food best for its nutritional requirements."

KATHERINE Dorr and her husband Don of Springfield Township own Pet Gro Express, which delivers pet supplies directly to customers' homes or offices.

According to the Dorrs, they carry a full line of pet supplies to be delivered, ranging from collars and toys to the right type of pet foods.

More than 100 customers currently opt for delivery through the Dorrs.

"They call us up, give us their order and the time to be delivered; and we deliver it right to their home — or a lot times right to the office where they work," said Don. "We have a lot of married couples who both work, and it makes it hard for them to find time to look for and get the pet supplies they need. That's where we come in. We make it convenient for them."

Each month, the Dorrs select a Pet-of-the-Month from the names they have of current customers.

"Once we select a pet, a picture of the pet runs in our ad, and we also give the pet a variety of gifts," said Katherine. "The pet owners really seem to enjoy the idea."

All deliveries are made by appointment. Customers range in age from 20 to 60.

"It seems that people of all ages are taking advantage of the service," said Don. "We have a fully stocked warehouse, but if they need something special, we can get it in a couple of days."

While business has been good, the Dorrs said they would be happy to add even more customers to their list.

"We want to continue to grow and service as many people as possible," said Don. "Right now the response has been tremendous."

Juggling careers, families and pets can become a chore — as the Dorrs themselves know — but at least now pet owners have another option.

Wood-care specialists prefer tuning up a kitchen

BY DENNIS V. CARTER
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Scratches and a dull finish on the cabinets detract from what would otherwise be a beautiful kitchen, but what can be done to bring it back to life?

Well, Ray and Lisa Smigelski of Oakhill Road, Independence Township have a few answers for that question.

In July, the Smigelskis began operating Kitchen Tune-up, a franchise for refurbishing wood such as that found on kitchen cabinets.

"I guess I'm like most people in that I've always wanted to go into business for myself," said Ray. "After 14 years of office work with Michigan Bell, I just decided it was time."

After attending several franchise shows in the area, the Smigelskis narrowed their choices down to two operations.

"I gave up my job with Michigan Bell and had to make a decision on what I was going to do," Ray said. "It came down between a cleaning service and Kitchen Tune-up."

After weighing the pros and cons, Lisa said they just decided to "go for it."

In June the two attended a franchise school in South Dakota, where they became certified as wood care specialists.

As wood care specialists, they can "tune up" in a kitchen, bathroom or just about any place that wood is used.

"We can do antiques, paneling and furniture," said Lisa. "Whatever is wood, we can do."

The couple uses commercial solvents to get rid of the grime and uses oils to hide the nicks and scratches.

Kitchen Tune-up also offers a way to give a kitchen a totally new look by replacing handles, backplates, hinges and pulls.

"We offer free quotes for a do-it-yourself door program," Lisa said. "We have eight different doors to choose from. It's less expensive than replacing, which can cost $5,000 to $12,000."

Commercial businesses and real estate companies have also found the Smigelskis' process inviting.

Real estate companies have found that by redoing the kitchens, they can add value to the homes for sale, said Ray. "It can be a real plus when trying to sell a home."

Working together out of their home, the Smigelskis have found they now have more time to spend with their 9-month-old son, Austin.

"Ray used to work from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. and found it hard to spend much time with Austin," Lisa said. "But now that we set our own schedule, he has more time to spend with our son."

By appointment, the Smigelskis will visit a home or business and give a free demonstration of their handiwork.

"If someone chooses our services, we can be in and out usually in one day," said Ray. "This makes it a lot more convenient for the customer."

LISA and Ray Smigelski opened their own franchise of Kitchen Tune-up in July. So far, business is going well, say the Independence Township couple.

Pet of the Week

COCOA is a hard-luck dog who's looking for a loving family.

Cute Cocoa

Cocoa is a battered pooch in need of a loving family.

This 10-month-old cocker spaniel-mix was taken away from his owners when it was discovered he was being abused. Cocoa weighs 34 pounds and is yet to be neutered. Despite his past treatment, he is reportedly outgoing and very loving.

His adoption fee is $70, not including his heartworm preventative medicine. Those who adopt a pet during October will receive a nylon collar for puppies and cats as well as a nylon leash for dogs, courtesy of Pet Supplies Plus.

In October, those who adopt pets will also receive a Pet Supplies Plus gift certificate for dog or cat food, dog shampoo, pet odor eliminator, food additive for cats, food bowl, jug of litter and litter pan for cats and pet toys.

To see Cocoa, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Rochester Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

AIDS topic of parent-teen meeting Nov. 7

AIDS is the topic of a special program for parents and children 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 7, at the Clarkston High School gym.

Featured is "My Name Is Pam Rogers and I Have AIDS," a 30-minute live stage play performed by Crossroads Productions. The free play follows the story of a young college woman who learns that she has AIDS. How she became infected with the disease and how she and her friends react to the news are the plot elements of the production.

A discussion period following the production will be led by experts from the Midwest AIDS Prevention Program, with help from Clarkston pediatrician James O'Neill and Red Cross representative Julie Paddison.

The program is open to all area parents and adults and is recommended for students of grade six and up.

For more information, call Clarkston Area Youth Assistance at 625-9007.

Supervisor attends school bus conference

Kevin Bickerstaff of Clarkston Community Schools is among the 300 Michigan school bus fleet supervisors who met for an annual conference Oct. 21-24.

The conference of the Michigan Association for Pupil Transportation took place at the Amway Grand Plaza, Grand Rapids, and covered state and federal changes for school buses.

Topics ranged from vehicle designs and added safety equipment to the newly required stop arm — a stop sign-like arm to be installed on the left side of the school bus. Other topics were exits with reflectorized visibility, flammability standards, alternative fuels and school bus construction.

In Michigan, 787,000 students ride in 14,282 yellow and black school buses daily, while traveling some 164 million miles annually.

Garden plot planned for tiny green thumbs

By next spring, children will have another feature to enjoy in Clarkston's Depot Park.

A special children's garden is in the works across the sidewalk near the playground at the park on Depot Road in downtown Clarkston.

The Clarkston Village Council agreed to provide timber and topsoil for the garden, and the rest of the materials are to be donated.

The idea behind the garden is to provide scented, colorful and textural materials to interest children, as well as items that might attract birds and butterflies, said Mary Helpern of Waldon Road, Clarkston, one of the organizers.

"Most of the things in this garden the kids can taste," she said, explaining that they won't plant anything harmful if swallowed.

Helpern and Sara Hillman of Wealthy Street, Independence Township, also plan to use lots of perennials, so upkeep will be easy.

"It's a real hardy garden," Helpern said.

Donations of any garden materials are needed to complete the project. Since many people rearrange their gardens in the fall, Helpern said now is a good time to donate such things as bushes, perennial flowers and groundcover, herbs — and anything non-toxic.

In addition, bird baths, sun dials and other garden structures are also wanted, she said.

In the spring, bright flowers such as marigolds and cosmos will be planted, she said.

For more information, call Helpern at 625-1743 or Hillman at 625-0642.

We are not a Jack-of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. But what we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We don't get your job and sub-contract it out, or sell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do.
