Burned man called hero

BY DENNIS V. CARTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

A Clarkston-area man is being called a hero after he suffered severe burns at an industrial building and courageously prevented a fire from spreading.

Mike Beach of Clarkston is listed in stable condition at the University of Michigan Burn Center, Ann Arbor, where he was taken by helicopter from Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital following the Oct. 18 accident.

According to officials from Stephen Scherer, Inc., in Rochester Hills and from fire department officials, the fire began around 8 a.m.

Beach was transfering a pail of an acetate-water mixture to a storage tank in the company when a flash chemical fire started. Apparently, static electricity ignited vapors from the mixture, according to company officials.

Beach was burned on the upper half of his body but still shut off power and helped contain the fire that burned him, said his boss.

"It was a one-in-a-million chance of this happening," said John Scherer, president of J. Stephen Scherer, Inc. "He (Beach) showed extreme courage after the fire started. Instead of just dropping the mixture onto the floor, he set it down so it would not spill and endanger anyone else. He also showed the presence of mind to shut off power switches. It was a heroic effort on his part after (See HEROICS, next page)

Don't forget to vote Tuesday

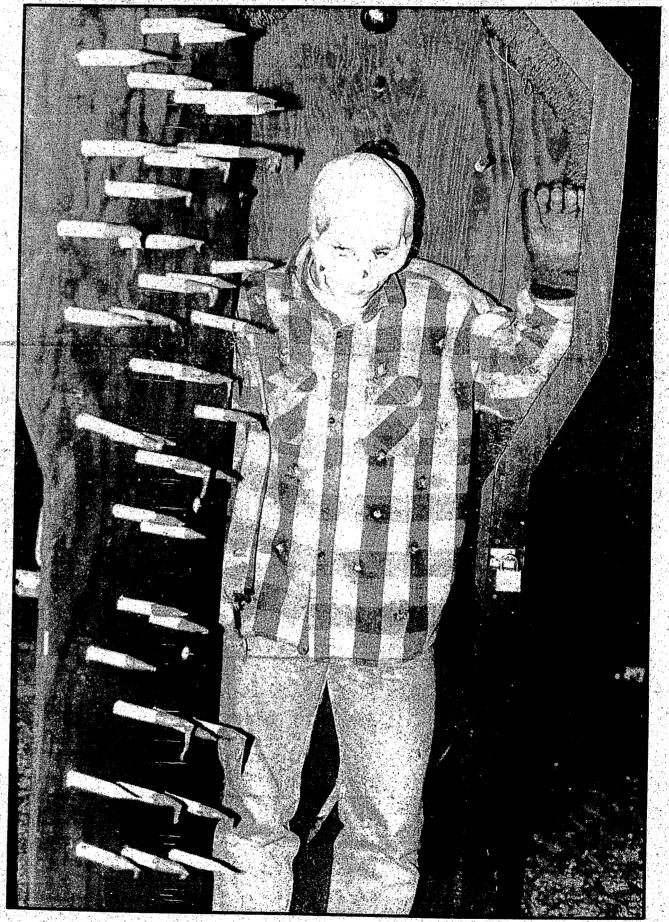

The polls are open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 5, for a special countywide election.

On the ballot is a bond proposition.

If approved, it will allow Oakland County to sell up to $500 million in bonds to begin a solid waste management system in Oakland County. The county would not increase taxes to repay the debt but would generate revenue by selling electricity created by a waste-to-energy-incinerator to be built and by charging fees to waste haulers.

The plan calls for building and equipping solid waste processing and disposal facilities, including a household hazardous waste program, one or more recycling facilities, one or more composting facilities, a sanitary landfill and an incinerator.

If you vote yes on Nov. 5, that means you give the county permission to borrow the money and to begin the program. If you vote no, that means you don't give permission to borrow the money or to begin the program.

Open forum Nov. 7 focuses on YMCA proposal

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

Henry Woloson of Independence Township has rekindled the effort to establish a YMCA in the Clarkston

Woloson, a vice president of finance for a countybased manufacturing company, has scheduled a community forum for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 7, at Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church, 6805 Bluegrass Drive, Independence Township.

The meeting is meant to gauge public opinion on the prospect of a YMCA facility in the Clarkston area and of the types of programs the community would like to see Woloson said he was inspired by the early efforts of area residents Buck Kopietz and Dennis Darrow, who contacted YMCA officials in May about a facility in Clarkston. Woloson said Darrow has offered to help him with his future endeavors.

Like Darrow, Woloson has held a YMCA membership in another part of Oakland County and sees the benefit of having such a family-oriented facility in Clark-

Martin Davies, another employee at the company, was treated and released from Crittenton Hospital in Rochester Hills.

According to Scherer, the building and equipment were not damaged.

Employees extinguished the flames before firefighters arrived, said Rochester Hills Fire Marshal Greg Walterhouse.

"Since we don't have a comparable facility around here, a 'Y' would definitely benefit a growing area like Clarkston," Woloson added.

Woloson said he has contacted numerous organizations and community leaders in the Waterford and Clarkston areas about the Nov. 7 public forum. Most of all, he urges all interested citizens to attend the meeting and voice their opinions about a YMCA in their area.

Woloson said YMCA officials will be on hand to answer questions about their organization and to monitor the public's sentiment about a possible program in Clark-

While a YMCA facility in Clarkston may seem inviting, Woloson said it could take several years and millions of dollars to reach this goal.

Before we can consider a free-standing facility, we have to find out if there's enough community support to offer programs, then find out what type of programs they

After that has been achieved, Woloson added, the YMCA will look to rent out space in existing buildings to carry out these programs. Woloson said a building will only become an option when club membership is large enough to necessitate one.

Board tosses around SJH salad issue

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

The Clarkston School Board is used to people who want to talk turkey, but they ran into one parent Monday night who wanted to discuss salad instead.

On Oct. 28, parent Cindy Dye asked the school board to overturn Sashabaw Junior High's procedure that does not allow students to share a salad purchased from the school's salad bar.

Dye told the school board that her 14-year-old daughter and two friends were verbally reprimanded for sharing a salad this past month. She said the trio had been sharing a plate of salad since the first day of school and didn't understand why they couldn't do what they pleased after buying it.

"You'd think that the school would encourage their students to share and learn how to economize their money," Dye said. "I think that once an item is purchased you should be able to do whatever you want with it.

"I don't believe that their sharing is costing the food services any additional money," she added, "If it was, I'd be the first to admit that they were wrong.257

Dye also told the board she was displeased with the way the girls were told they were breaking school policy. She said a school janitor yelled at them in front of their peers, and Vice Principal Michael Dillon told two of the girls to return their forks unless they were willing to pay for their own salads. Dye said her daughters were told by Dillon that their sharing was a "disorganization to the lunchroom."

"I'm very upset in the way this was handled," Dye said. "They were embarrassed in front of their peers."

Sashabaw Junior High Principal Jean Lang said her kitchen staff had told her that the ''no sharing' rule had been in place since the salad bar was implemented.

"It's always been an assumption that there is to be no sharing of items from the salad bar," Lang said, stating health and cleanliness reasons for the unwritten policy.

Lang stated that the policy would be posted in the lunchroom from now-on.

Supervisor Gary Haner said the policy shouldn't be overturned and listed a few reasons why! They include: health department restrictions, financial considerations and not confusing those sharing students with disadvantaged pupils who get free lunches through a federal program.

On a suggestion from Dye, board members Joseph Helpern and Paul Van Klaveren asked that the administration look into the prospect of different size salad plates and pre-wrapped salads.

Supervisor Gary Haner said he would look into the prospects and report on their validity at a later date.

School fights disease with rubber gloves

BY CURT MCALLISTER Clarkston News Associate Editor

With communicable diseases on the rise in America, Clarkston school employees have been issued their own line of self defense—latex gloves.

According to William Neff, director of administrative services in Clarkston, these rubber gloves have been available to employees for the past couple of years. He said the gloves were ordered after school districts throughout the county and state developed a model for dealing with students with communicable diseases, including Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS).

Neff said the gloves are kept in the schools offices and custodial rooms.

Under the approved model, all employees are mandated to wear these gloves when they come in contact with blood, vomit and other bodily fluids. This rule pertains to all school employees, ranging from teachers to custodians to bus drivers.

Neff said the Clarkston school district provides a training session for all employees each year on the appropriate way to use the gloves.

He said the district will continue to order the latex

Abandonment charges dropped against mother

BY DENNIS V. CARTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Abandonment charges were dropped against a 26year-old mother charged with leaving two toddlers cold and hungry outside a Pontiac crack house.

Two lesser charges were upheld.

Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson was unhappy with the judge's decision.

Chief Judge William Waterman of the 50th District Court; Pontiac, dismissed the abandonment charges against Lisa Allen Oct. 17 after one day of testimony.

According to Waterman, prosecution failed to show that Allen "wholly abandoned" her children in the same sense as a mother who leaves her young children on a doorstep or in a garbage can.

Allen's attorney, Robert E. Taub of Novi, said his client was overcharged in the case.

Waterman said, "I believe she did not intend to stay away from those children forever."

Waterman sustained misdemeanor charges against Allen, a Brandon Township resident who has a Clarkstonmailing address, and continued her $30,100 bond. She remains in the Oakland County Jail.

According to Prosecutor Thompson, Waterman's decision is "tragic" for children of crack addicts.

"It is completely out of touch with reality," said Thompson. "This is really a sad day for innocent children, and it really sets a low standard for parents. His decision leaves children completely unprotected."

According to Thompson, the decision will be appealed to the Oakland County Circuit Court.

After a day of testimony from witnesses, Waterman made his ruling.

During the testimony, witnesses described the activities of Allen on Oct. 5 and 6.

According to one witness, Allen drove around Pontiac, buying and using crack cocaine, while her boys, ages 1 and 2, were in the back seat of her truck

Mona Harrah, who baby-sat the children at a friend's house on Kenilworth street, said Allen went out and exchanged sex for a $50 rock of crack cocaine while Harrah watched the boys.

Gregory "Magic" Marks, an admitted crack addict and alcoholic, testified that Allen left the boys with him at a known crack house at 650 Melrose.

Police were called by a neighbor after Marks asked for help with the children. "I sat with the kids until 8:30 the next morning, and she never did come back," Marks

According to Marks, the children were left with him wearing wet clothes with no change of diapers and no food. There was no heat at the house on 650 Melrose, and several windows were broken.

Marks sought help because the children were shivering from cold temperatures, which Marks estimated dropped into the 40s during the night.

Allen was arrested at noon on Oct. 6 after police saw her and two men go into a vacant house at 9 S. Paddock, which was known to be a crack house, according police Pontiac Police officer Stephen Witkowski, said that Allen told him she loved her children and would never do anything to harm them.

Assistant Prosecutor Deborah Walker Pekor had asked for Allen to be bound over to circuit court on two counts of child abandonment, a 10-year felony, and two counts of fourth-degree child abuse, a 1-year misde-

The children remain in the custody of their paternal grandparents, who live in Independence Township.

In a related case, the children's father, Scott Allen of Independence Township, faces trial Nov. 25 before Oakland County Probate Court Judge Eugene A. Moore. If found guilty of neglect, the court could permanently end the father's parental rights.

Hearings focus on four rezoning requests

Three requests to rezone property off Maybee Road and a request to rezone a parcel on Sashabaw Road are the subject of public hearings Thursday, Nov. 14.

The Independence Township Planning commission is seeking public input on the topics at 7:30 p.m. in the township annex, 90 N. Main St., Clarkston.

First is a request to rezone 10.74 acres east of Clintonville, north of Maybee Road, from single family residential to suburban residential.

Next is a request to rezone a 78.38-acre parcel and a 58.88-acre parcel from single family residential to suburban residential. The parcels are north of I-75, onehalf mile east of Clintonville Road and south of Maybee Road, abutting Morgan Lake.

■ Another request is to rezone 49.59 acres on the north side of Maybee Road, across the road from Mount Zion Temple, from rural residential to suburban residential.

Finally, Steven P. Imarino, on behalf of Auto City Service, Inc., requests that part of 4.26 acres at I-75 and Sashabaw Road, north of the public car pool parking lot, be rezoned from freeway service to motor vehicle service station — only on the front 62,500 square feet of the parcel.

Rezonings require recommendations from the planning commission plus approvals and adoptions from the township board.

Springfield Board endorses county bond proposal

All seven members of the Springfield Township Board of Trustees recommend that residents vote "yes' on Oakland County's solid waste bond proposal when they go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 5, according to a press release dated Oct. 26.

In an unusual step, the board authorized the press release to "collectively and publicly recommend" how residents should vote on a ballot issue.

The bonds would be used to implement a solid wasteprogram that would include recycling, reduction, composting, household hazardous waste disposal, a waste-toenergy facility (incinerator) and some landfilling-

About 50 percent of the county's waste stream would be handled by the recycling and reduction—a very high goal, according to Springfield Board members.

The board emphasized that the county is not asking. for a tax increase and that passage of the proposal should not result in any new or additional county taxes to residents, since the county plans to finance the bonds through use fees charged to waste haulers

If voters don't approve the bond proposal, each of Oakland County's its own waste stream, according to the Springfield Board.

In addition, the board predicts that failure to build anincinerator would result in the need for many more landfills, which is the least acceptable form of waste disposal according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency,

Should that happen, waste haulers would likely resurrect potential sites already filed with the state Department of Natural Resources — many in northwest

Oakland-County.

Board members pointed out that opponents of the county plan claim that recycling can take care of all trash disposal needs. However, Seattle, Wash., a leader in recycling efforts, is trying to achieve a 60 percent recycling goal. The remainder of Seattle's waste-currently more than 50 percent — is shipped to Oregon landfills.

The members also noted that Oakland's incinerator would have the most advanced environmental technology in the country and would not be like the Detroit incinera-

Further, the bond money will not pay for only the incinerator but also for developing facilities and programs for recycling, composting and disposal of hazardous waste.

Like many other governments, Springfield already has approved the Oakland County solid waste plan. Without voter approval of a financing mechanism, however, the plan is little more than a piece of paper, according to board members.

The seven members of the Springfield Township Board are: Supervisor Collin Walls, Clerk Calvin Walters, Treasurer Lois Stiles and trustees Nancy Strole, Charles Oaks, Margaret Bloom and Dennis Vallad.

Networking tower OK'd in Springfield

BY DENNIS V. CARTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Communication could soon improve for some Oakland County employees.

The Springfield Township Board unanimously approved a site plan for a communication tower Oct. 23, subject to three conditions.

The 400-foot-high tower is planned for the rear of. Road Commission for Oakland County property in Springfield Township on Dixie Highway.

According to township Supervisor Collin Walls, the tower will greatly enhance and improve the countywide communication system.

'The tower will be part of an eight-element power system, which provides a communication networking for ...

the sheriff's department, DPW and parks and recreation, he said.

The plans call for the tower to be constructed in a 75by-85-foot fenced area. A small building also will be built to house electronic components and a stand-by generator.

The following were conditions of the board's ap-

1. In the landscape plan, Motorola contractors must plant Black Pine trees as screening because they have a better chance of survival than other types of evergreens.

2. The Road Commission for Oakland County must submit a letter stating that the wooded area behind the project would be left in its natural state for screening; it can't be removed or altered.

3. An easement for a storm sewer must be granted to serve the nearby Holly Greens industrial park.

Gas leak causes mall evacuation

Shoppers and workers were evacuated from stores in an Independence Township strip mall Oct. 24 after people reported smelling gas.

Oakland County Sheriff's Department deputies rerouted traffic and blocked access to the mall at the intersection of Sashabaw and Maybee roads.

Emergency crews from Consumer's Power Co. discovered a leak outside the buildings and made the needed repairs, said Wayne MacDonald, area manager for Consumer's.

No gas was detected inside any of the stores, he

Middle East fashion

Julie Campe

Fall fashion shows will likely skip one part of the world — unless they focus on head scarves.

A friend with connections in the Middle East passed along information that the U.S. Embassy gives to Americans visiting or living in Saudi Arabia.

The Embassy advises "conservative dress for both men and women, particularly in public places."

For men, that means long trousers and shirts that are not open below the collarbone—and no jewelry, particularly neck jewelry.

For women, that means skirts well below the knee and sleeves at least elbow length. Pants are not recommended, though Pakistani-style baggy pants covered by a long shift sometimes are considered acceptable.

The government itself does not have an official dress code. However, often employers have specific dress codes that are conditions of employment.

While Saudi Arabian women must wear head coverings, the government does not require non-Muslim Western women to wear them. However, Western women without head coverings sometimes are challenged in public places.

Women also should not wear a Saudi Arabian "abaya" to cover up improper or immodest dress — that is considered offensive to many Saudis.

Members of the Organization for the Promotion of Virtue and Prevention of Vice (the mutawwaiin) have appointed themselves the judges of acceptable clothing and sometimes confront people on the street and may even have them arrested.

According to the Embassy information, mutawwaiin "who are not accompanied by a uniformed police officer do not have the legal authority to detain or remove you to another premise."

However, if they do have a uniformed police officer with them, watch out. They can "take you to police or mutawwaiin headquarters."

The Embassy recommends not relinquishing any documents to the mutawwaiin. But the best method is to avoid difficult situations.

For instance, be alert, the Embassy advises, and try to go on quietly about your own business. If you're hailed or confronted, be polite and confident and try to move away.

If the mutawwaiin persist, "it is advisable to try to leave the scene entirely and, if necessary, to involve other people, to help you understand what's happening and why these people are accosting you."

If you're a woman, don't allow yourself to be touched. If they do touch you, "protest loudly and vigorously."

Usually, however, members of the organization will not arrest a Western woman. Instead, they will arrest her husband and force him to listen to a lecture and sign a promise to ensure his wife's proper dress and behavior in the future.

"It is not advisable to use Arabic" when dealing with the mutawwaiin, according to the Embassy, which does not give a reason why.

The Embassy also warns women to be "business-like and reserved in public, particularly in their dealings with men, e.g. male shopkeepers, since excessive familiarity or friendliness is often misconstrued in this culture."

Overall, the best policy in wardrobe and behavior is to "make the judgment on the conservative side."

That means: choose the head scarf and keep your smiles to yourself.

Incinerate? Yes, reluctantly

We have been trained as a throw-away society. We have disposable everything, including . . . cameras, diapers, cars, etc.

Broken covered wagons were left in the desert, war-time equipment left on site and non-returnables left by the roadside. Some even relate 'disposable' to spouses.

Our government offers rewards for litterers, but seldom is a fine paid, and littering seems to continue at the same pre-fine level.

While there is much more consciousness of recycling (non-littering), to reverse the easy, throw-it-away habit will take longer than we have time for.

We are not wholehearted, blind supporters of the county incinerator to be voted on Nov 5. Indeed, we are concerned for both what comes out the smokestack and the ash that's left.

However, we're equally concerned at continuing to put non-incinerated materials into landfills.

They leak. If not immediately, eventually.

Landfills are also limited in supply. When all the lined holes are filled with garbage, debris and cover, what do we do?

Our printing plant wastes a ton of newsprint a week. As of this, week, we have to pay someone to take it ... and they don't want it.

There isn't enough market out there for recycling all the paper products being produced.

Recycling takes time, money and demand. Time and demand are not, and will not be available before all holes will be filled.

We think the incinerator has to be built.

We just have to put our trust in the county to build it and run it safely. We put our trust in government with great reluctance.

However, we believe we have no other choice. The most successful recyling program in the United States has results under 45 percent. Oakland citizens are no different from other citizens.

We have to vote to incinerate. JAS

Strong season

Congratulations to the 1991 Clarkston High School Marching Band on capping a highly successful competitive season by placing second at the state championship in Plymouth Saturday.

The Clarkston community should be proud of each of these students for their musicianship, their team spirit, their sense of pride in themselves and in their school.

At every band competition we attended, the band members conducted themselves with dignity, professionalism and good sportsmanship. We were proud to know they were representing Clarkston.

A special thank you should go to Clarkston schools? director of bands, Clifford Chapman, and the outstanding group of volunteers he has recruited to assist with the programing. Without these volunteers and the volunteers in the Clarkston Band Boosters, a treasure would be lost.

One of the most important things we adults can give to young people is an opportunity to participate in positive activities that teach discipline, sportsmanship and the rewards of a job well done.

There are many fine things about living in the Clarkston community, and one of them is the district's fine music program. We urge everyone to come out and support your school bands and see next year's CHS Marching Band.

One final salute to the 1991 Percussion/Drum Line on consistently winning first place during the season's competition.

To paraphrase Roy Hobbes in "The Natural," you are the best there ever was.

With your yes vote, Oakland County will recycle more than any other similar type of community in the United States. Our recyclables, trash and household hazardous waste will be picked up at our homes and busi-

After reducing and recycling at least 50 percent of our trash, the unrecyclable garbage will be used as fuel to produce $20,000,000 worth of energy annually in a technologically advanced waste-to-energy trash incinerator.

No new landfills will be needed until well past the year 2010 if the bond proposal passes. Michigan mandates that Oakland County must have a plan to manage our trash for 20 years. Numerous landfill sites will need to be sited if the bond proposal does not pass.

The bond proposal is not a tax increase. That's why Richard Headlee and L. Brooks Patterson are supporting the plan.

Help stop landfills, save money, mandate extensive recycling and exceed Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Agency trash management guidelines by voting yes Nov. 5.

Wetlands at risk

Quietly last week, a Michigan State Senate Committee approved Senate Bill No. 522.

This bill would eliminate the right of local communities to prevent the destruction and elimination of vital wetlands

These wetlands are an important part of keeping our community drinking water, as well as our lakes and streams, clean and usable,

For a substantial time, we have recognized the importance of local control and accepted the burden of protecting ourselves.

This Senate Bill will not only eliminate local control, but it will, in effect, mean no control because of the restrictions of time and budget that already hamper the activities of the Department of Natural Resources.

It is imperative that each and every one of us write and call the members of the state Senate, starting with Dave Honigman and Mat Dunaskiss.

Every one of should be concerned enough about this important issue to do something, immediately

A stylish downtown isn't built on leers

Fitzgerald

Several Fridays ago, at 9 p.m., my wife and I sat down for dinner in a nice restaurant in a downtown Detroit hotel. The waitress confided that we were the first customers since she began work at 4:30 p.m.

She was fully clothed.

I'm not identifying the restaurant because the waitress' boss might be unhappy that she told me she'd been playing cards with a cook and a waiter in the kitchen for four hours. She didn't know she was talking to a famous columnist. My fame has allowed me to go unrecognized at family dinners. My family.

Don Vargo, owner of the 1940 Chop House, was recently quoted by another famous columnist as saying his luncheon waitresses would work almost topless. "I intend to dress them - or undress them, take your pick - in as little as I can get away with," Vargo said.

The publicity attracted many eager-to-leer customers, including my friend Ralph, who was disappointed: "I've seen less clothing on nuns."

Ralph exaggerated, but not a lot. During inaugural skin week, the 1940 waitresses wore ordinary cocktail dresses offering a glimpse of thigh, a glance of cleavage and a bit of belly. Dirty old men like Ralph had hoped for more - something like the floppy Windsor dancers who (I'm told) wear only enough G-string to accommodate the insertion of a $20 bill.

Please note the (I'm told). I avoid nudie establishments because Lembarrass easily, and embarrassment comes in double doses when naked women come with lunch; I'd be embarrassed for the women who, for whatever reason, are willing to strip for money. And I'd be embarrassed to be seen patronizing a sleazy business that encourages human beings to sell so much of themselves.

But I enjoy sexy cocktail dresses; teasy mystery is more crotic than no secrets kept. Which makes this the appropriate time to pause to plug "The Misanthrope" at the Attic Theatre. Moliere's 325-year-old comedy has been updated to today's Hollywood, and one of the talented stars is healthy Andree Chippi in spike heels and a barely mysterious first-act mini-cocktail dress. I wouldn't say Chippi alone is worth the price of admission, because the tickets don't cost that much.

End of commercial and back to the 1940 Chop House, which is only two minutes from my home on the east edge of downtown. The cocktail-dressed waitresses work only at lunch, which I never eat, but I often have dinner there. Our waitperson was male two Fridays ago and I ordered prime rib of beef, medium rare. I received an overcooked hunk of beef that couldn't be reasonably chewed.

I hate to make fusses, which also embarrass me. It was a busy night, with a big private party upstairs. I realized the fault was in the kitchen, not with the waiter, I refused his apologetic offer to bring me something else. me for the beef.

The moral for owner Don Vargo is that an excellent, fully clothed waiter like that is a bigger asset to business than a dab of decolletage.

Finally, while we're still downtown, there was a conversation last week with Ernie Swan who has been playing piano there for 39 years. Now at the Omni Hotel lounge, Swan said there was something he's been wanting to say for years, and I should put it in the paper. OK, I never disagree with my extreme elders.

You often see high-profile politicians, sports figures, media personages, and business executives on television, or in the newspapers, urging everyone to come downtown and help Detroit stay alive," Swan said, "But you never see those same high-profile people in downtown Detroit at night, having dinner or a drink. If they'd all leave the suburbs and come here one or two nights a month, it would do more than a new baseball stadium to keep our restaurants from dying?

Amen. Put your high profile where your mouth is. I've been trying to do my part, but my wife says I need a profile-lift.

Guest Column

B&B decision will cost village, owners

BY BUCK KOPIETZ

On Oct. 8, the Clarkston Zoning Board of Appeals refused our request for a use change at 155 N. Main St.

We wanted a change from a mortuary to a bed and breakfast. We felt this change was well within the limits of the village zoning ordinances.

I would like to clear up some of the misinformation and rumors concerning the property and our request.

First, we were applying for a change in use from funeral home to B&B. This was not a request for a variance. There are only three non-conforming commercial properties in Clarkston, and any decision by the ZBA would not affect any other properties in the village.

B&B more appropriate use

This would not open the flood gates for encroachment of commercial into residential. Our zoning laws allow for a change of use in non-conforming commercial property as long as "the proposed use is more appropriate to the district than the existing non-conforming use."

This should have been the only issue for determining the change in use by the ZBA. Instead they made their decision based on the organized opposition who attended the meeting.

The most controversial issue deals with the agreement signed by the Goyettes and the ZBA in 1973. And though the ZBA ruled in favor of a B&B on this issue, many of the people who are against the B&B project felt this agreement would not allow a change in use except to a single-family residence.

Emotional opposition

It was after this ruling at our first ZBA meeting that a few people began developing resistance against our project through emotional persuasion and misinformation. This agreement is a good example. Many people were told this agreement had to do with the Goyettes expanding parking for the funeral home. This agreement does not deal with that issue at all.

The Goyettes approached the ZBA for a variance to allow the expansion of the residential apartment on the second story to make it more suitable for Mrs. Goyette's mother. There are two conditions in the agreement that limit the use of the property:

1) The first restricts the expanded residential second story from being used for any purpose related to a funeral

2) The second and most controversial condition states, "With regard to the residential character of Petitioner's premises, Petitioner or any successor to his interest may not use said premises except as a one-family dwelling." If "residential character of the Petitioner's premises" is defined as the second story apartment, then this condition only limits the use of the second story part of the building and not the first floor business use.

In effect, this agreement allowed the Goyettes to only expand the single-family portion of the property, which would be consistent with its zoning district.

Since the agreement does not define what is meant by the "residential character," most members of the ZBA felt the agreement was too ambiguous. They determined it not to be binding on a change of use to a B&B.

We are having a hard time understanding why there is any opposition to having a B&B at this location based on the reasons that have surfaced.

It will not set a precedent because we have the legal right to do this project, which we will prove through litigation.

It is a shame that we and the village will have to go through the time and expense to prove how unreasonable a few people can be.

Buck Kopietz of Main Street, Clarkston, and his wife Joan are attempting to renovate the former Goyette Funeral Home to a bed and breakfast facility.

Countywide plan efficiently takes care of waste

BY FRANK MILLARD

The State of Michigan has mandated by Michigan Act 641 that each county in the state submit a plan to deal with the total flow of trash for a 20-year period.

After almost 5 years of planning and more than 150 open meetings, a final plan was adopted by more than two-thirds of Oakland County's municipalities in February 1991, with conditional approval from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) on Aug. 23.

Oakland County government is now ready to move forward in addressing the long-term solid waste disposal needs of its citizens.

Exceeds EPA standards

Oakland County's Act 641 plan is an integrated plan that surpasses Environmental Protection Agency standards.

The plan includes recycling, composting, source reduction, waste to energy (incineration) and landfilling, each of which is designed to complement the other.

It is anticipated that if the plan is approved and put into operation, Oakland County will required only the Eagle Valley Landfill in Orion Township to handle the landfill needs of the entire county for the next 30 years.

This is welcome news indeed for the residents of north Oakland County, for it will remove the threat of landfills being sited in our area for years to come.

On the other hand, if the pending plan is not implemented, Oakland County will require up to five new landfills to handle the volume of waste, and the logical areas to host such landfills will no doubt be those areas: north of M-59, the area in which we reside:

Not like Detroit's incinerator

The waste-to-energy facility should not be compared to the infamous Detroit incinerator or other similar, facilities. The Oakland County waste-to-energy facility will use the most advanced air pollution control system. available and is designed to capture 99.9 percent of the

By source reduction, composting and recycling, most of those toxins previously incinerated will have been removed, therefore producing a cleaner, burn and less toxic ash required to be landfilled.

No extra taxes

On Nov. 5, the citizens of Oakland County will vote on whether to authorize the county to sell up to $500 million in bonds to finance the integrated solid waste

The cost of the plan is $200-$500 million, depending on how many municipalities sign the inter-governmental agreement and guarantee their waste stream to the

It is important to know that the entire cost of the system will be paid by the sale of electricity, recycled materials and charges for solid waste disposed of at the facilities — and not by tax dollars.

By approving the bond issue, the voters of this

Oxford Bank presents

county, in addition to approving the financing plan, will be pledging the county's full faith and credit for its payment and will not be voting in additional taxes to pay

In my view, failure to approve this bond issue may cause the entire solid waste plan to be abandoned with the municipalities then left to their own means or worse, having the state DNR stepping in to design and implement its own plan for our community, which is something I, for one, would not like to see.

The integrated plan provides maximum environmental protection while keeping the user fees at a very cost-efficient amount.

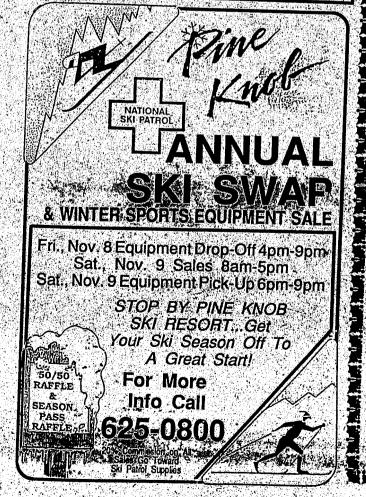

Projections show that though the integrated plan may be more expensive at its start up, in the long run this county plan will be less expensive than that which will be available through the private sector in the years to come.

In closing, as county commissioner for a district that could be designated for future dump sites should this plan fail, I am hopeful for its success. I believe that the time for rhetoric has passed, and we must move forward to address this critical issue.

Please vote Nov. 5.

Mentorships provide inside look at working world

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Editor

A few teen-agers at Sashabaw Junior High School are getting a "real world" look at potential careers.

Through a mentorship program at the school, children spend a few hours a week with with someone in the field of their choice.

"Mentorship programs are important because they give kids a chance to have hands-on experience in an area, doing something real and meaningful," said teacher Sue Kiser. "You learn so much more when actually doing."

The mentorships sometimes encourage pupils to continue studying the field, and sometimes they allow the children to find out that they don't really like that area — which is helpful, too, said Kiser.

The mentorship may also help students in social areas. For instance, pupils learn how to introduce themselves, how to shake hands, how to greet others and how to make and take phone calls.

Many companies — small and large — participate in mentorship programs because it's a way they can help improve the education of today's youngsters — a concern of many in the business world, said Kiser.

In Sashabaw's mentorship program, the pupils are eager and prepared.

"They're ripe for this," said Kiser. "They have a lot of interests."

Since it takes place before they enter high school, it will help them choose which courses to take to prepare for college or the working world.

As members of the school's gifted program, the students are exposed to lots of creative and challenging tasks. If they're matched up with a mentor, they spend about three hours a week with that person and must make up any missed school work. Their parents usually provide the transportation.

So far, pupils this year are working at the Oakland Technical Center-Northwest Campus, the Oakland University Drama Department and The Clarkston News.

More pupils still are hoping to find mentors, such as

Royal Commission of Inquiry On Chiropractic In New Zealand (1979).

The Commission has found it established beyond any reasonable degree of doubt that the chiropractors have a more thorough training in spinal mechanics and spinal manual therapy than any other health professional. It would therefore be astonishing to contemplate that a chiropractor, in those areas of expertise, should be subject to the directions of a medical practitioner who is largely ignorant of those matters simply because he has had no training in them.  (NZR, p.305).

Study (1971), Rolland Martin, M.D., Director, Workmen's Compensation Board.

Examining the forms of conservative therapy the majority received, it is interesting to note the results of those treated by chiropractic physicians:

A total of twenty-nine claimants were treated by no other physician than a chiropractor. 82% of these workmen resumed work after one week of time loss. Their claims were closed without a disability award.

Examining claims treated by the M.D.

in which the diagnosis seems comparable to the type of injury suffered by the workmen treated by the chiropractor, 41% of these workmen resumed work after one week of time loss.

British Medical Research Council Study (1990) reported in the British Medical Journal for June, 1990.

Results - Chiropractic treatment was more effective than hospital outpatient management, mainly for patients with chronic or severe back pain. A benefit of about 7% points on the Oswestry scale (between three quarters and twice as effective according to Dr. Tom Meade, medical researcher in charge of study) was seen at two years. The benefit of chiropractic treatment became more evident throughout the follow-up period. Secondary outcome measures also showed that chiropractic was more beneficial.

Conclusions - For patients with low back pain in whom manipulation is not contraindicted, chiropractic almost certainly confers worthwhile, long term benefit in comparison with hospital outpatient management. The benefit is seen mainly in those with chronic or severe pain. Introducing chiropractic into NHS practice should be considered.

A Scary Fright By Grampa Jay

At last it is here, a dark, scary Halloween night Everyone in the house is in for a horrible fright The bats are flying low, close by all over the sky Cats and dogs are howling in the alleys nearby

The wind, a ghostly whisper through a nearby tree A barn owl is hooting, but it is too dark to see The owl swoops low for his dinner to catch a mouse Sudden light blinds the owl; he crashes into the house

A dull thud hits the window, it breaks in a loud crash-Screaming, the family tries to avoid the flying glass Someone knocks over the light; they're now in the dark And the broken light bulb begins to make a big spark All is quiet, but suddenly a strange fluttering sound Then, with a howl, through the window jumps the old hound When he steps on the broken glass, he lets out a loud howl And then by the wing the hound dog catches the old owl

Screams of the family, howling hounds, sounds like a witch Then mother found and turned on a different light switch Owl pecked the hound dog's nose, out the window took flight Family vowed they would NEVER forget this Halloween night.

Griffiths runs wild; Wolves hope for playoffs

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

It was Dan Griffiths 384, Garden City 41.

Actually, 384 is the amount of yardage the Clarkston halfback put on his rushing odometer last Friday night. Garden City barely got out of first gear with Griffiths' remarkable yardage, along with his five touchdowns, was easily enough mileage to help the Clarkston football team zoom past the hosts, 48-0, on a wet Garden City field.

Griffiths, who had 192 yards at the half and sat out the final quarter, said he had plenty of help from his blockers.

"I'm taking the linemen, a tight end and two fullbacks out to dinner," said Griffiths, who now has rushed for 1,039 yards this season (He also has rushed for over 4,000 yards the last four years when combining his one year on ninth-grade, one year on JV and two years on varsity):

The victory improved the Wolves' record to 7-1. Clarkston, currently the fifth-rated team in the Class AA Region 3 (the top four teams reach the playoffs), will travel this Friday to face a tough Brighton team at 7:30 p.m. in the regularseason finale. The Wolves will need a victory over Brighton for any chance to make the playoffs, yet a victory would not necessarily guarantee them a spot.

"We've got to have some help. I'd say it's a 50-50 chance," said Clarkston head coach Kurt Richardson about the Wolves' chances to make their first playoff appearance since 1977.

But Richardson and his team know they have to first help themselves on Fri-

'We talked about it. It doesn't mean a thing unless we beat Brighton. First things first," said the coach.

In the rout over Garden City, Griffiths opened the scoring on a 7-yard touchdown at the 6:05 mark of the first quarter, Matt Smith kicked the PAT.

The Wolves scored three more times in the second quarter. Quarterback Dugan Fife ran in from 14 yards (the PAT failed), Fife connected with Bryan Hambell on a 20-yard TD pass (Smith kicked the PAT) and then Griffiths scored from 67 yards out as time ran out (Smith kicked the

The third quarter was all Griffiths. He hit pay dirt from 2 yards, 45 yards and 82 yards out. (Smith kicked all three PATs).

Coach Richardson said once Griffiths passed the 300 mark he was going to take him out of the game. But instead of making a typical 5 or 10 yard run on his last carry, Griffiths reeled off his long 82-

Fife only threw six passes on the rainy night, completing four for 80 yards. Jon Wyniemko caught two for 38 yards, Jeremy Burke grabbed one for 22 and Hambell caught one for 20.

Garden City only managed 57 yards in the air.

In addition to Griffiths' 384 yards, Eric Ryan carried six times for 22, Fife ran twice for 11, Brian Davis carried three times for 10, Justin Tappero ran twice for nine, Nick Shires carried once for five and Steve Black ran once for four.

Black led the Wolves defensively with three tackles and three assists, Davis had three tackles and one assist and Luke Fedio had three tackles. Ryan also had one interception.

Ironically, the Wolves only had three more first downs than Garden City (10-7).

State rushing record set in '29

fiths rushed for 384 yards against Garden City, there was speculation as to whether it was a state record.

Griffiths' total was extraordinary, but it wasn't the best ever.

According to John Johnson, communications director for the Michigan High

After Clarkston halfback Dan Grif- School Athletic Association, Menominee's Francis Tallent ran for 527 yards in a 1929 game against Kingsford.

Tallent only carried the ball nine times during his record performance and his team blitzed Kingsford, 150-0.

The Michigan record is the fourthhighest total in the nation.

SOME Wolves celebrated by taking a mud bath at midfield moments after winning the district championship.

Phillips shines in OTs

Soccer mudslingers capture first district

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Aaron Phillips doesn't like overtimes so he ended two of them as quickly as possible.

Phillips knocked in an overtime goal Oct. 23 and three days later it was deja vu as he and his Clarkston varsity soccer teammates dramatically won two straight playoff matches to capture the school's first-ever district championship.

The Wolves edged Waterford Mott, 2-1, in OT to win the title last Saturday afternoon on a muddy Corsair field. Clarkston advanced to the district finals by edging host Bloomfield Hills Lahser, 1-0, in OT, and blitzing North Farmington, 6-0, on the Wolves' field.

After Phillips kicked in the winning goal against Lahser, he said it was the biggest goal of his career. But three days later when he headed in the district-clinching goal against Mott, he admitted, "This one's better."

The district win advances Clarkston (14-5-1) to the regionals in Grand Blanc Wednesday, Oct. 30 where the Wolves will square off against Saginaw Heritage (18-1) at 7 p.m. Clarkston lost two close matches, 3-1 and 2-1, to Heritage in regular season play.

Mott, which split a home-and-away series with Greater Oakland Activities League foe Clarkston, took an early lead on a Jeff Cardinal goal about 10 minutes into the match.

The Corsairs took their slim 1-0 lead into halftime and continuing to blank the Wolves early in the second half.

But 10 minutes into the half, Clarkston's Scott Rooney took a pass from Jeremy Deloney and tied up the match.

Both teams played even from that point. Strong defensive play by both the Corsairs and the Wolves (Mike Miller made several key stops in goal) sent the game into OT.

About four minutes into the overtime, Devin Dupree had a throw in from the right side which went past teammate Jeremy Thompson. But it didn't go past Phillips, who headed in the game-winner.

"He (Dupree) overthrew it," said Clarkston coach Dan Fitzgerald, "but sometimes that works out better. Phillips was in the right place at the right time."

Phillips, who Fitzgerald calls a "streaky player," also was in the perfect place when he scored in OT against Lahser.

The match was sent into OT after Lahser had missed three free kicks late in regulation (Rooney also nailed a 70 m.p.h. shot which hit the crossbar).

But Phillips kicked in the goal for the 1-0 win. He downplayed the dramatic score after the match, near his wild-withjoy teammates, by saying, "It was luck."

Luck can happen once, but twice ina-row?

Whatever it was, Phillips' goals clinched the district championship and even roused the usually low-keyed Fitzgerald.

"Both games were pretty emotional," said Fitzgerald, who in his first year at Clarkston guided the team from last-place in the GOAL to a district championship. "I really got excited. It was nice to see for these guys who ve worked so hard. It was nice to do some things nobody thought JEREMY Johns leaps high to head the ball during Clarkston's overtime win over Waterford Mott. Looking on is John Conlen (26). Johns, Conlen, goalkeeper Mike Miller and the rest of the Clarkston defense held the Corsairs to only one goal. The Wolf defense also shut out both North Farmington and Bloomfield Hills Lahser in the first two district matches.

Swinging from the Heels

Go see Doc

James Gibowski

T ifty years ago, there weren't any face guards, night games or even Wolves, but there was football at Clarkston High School.

Much has changed since that 1941 Clarkston team took the field (In fact, the country changed greatly just a few months later when Pearl Harbor was attacked), but the coach of that team, Ralph "Doc" Thayer, remembers much about his grid-

"I think we played seven games and won six," said Doc, 83, who still resides in Clarkston with Eleanor, his wife of 57

He certainly remembers his players. "Dave Wainman and Edwin Ross were halfbacks. Edward Ross was the quarterback and Bill O'Roark was the fullback," he quickly says after glancing at a 1941 team photo.

The photo also brings back some sad memories.

"Stan Perrin was president of the student body, he played the violin. He was killed in an air crash (shortly after he graduated)," recalls Doc. Perrin and several other players on the team (Doc didn't pass his physical because of a heart murmur) were soon off to war after they gradu-, ated.

But in the fall of '41, Pearl Harbor was quiet and the Clarkston football field (where Clarkston Junior High now practices) was full of the sounds of a stillyoung sport.

The football was bigger then so the teams relied more on running.

"Four yards and a cloud of dust," said Doc, who really isn't a doctor.

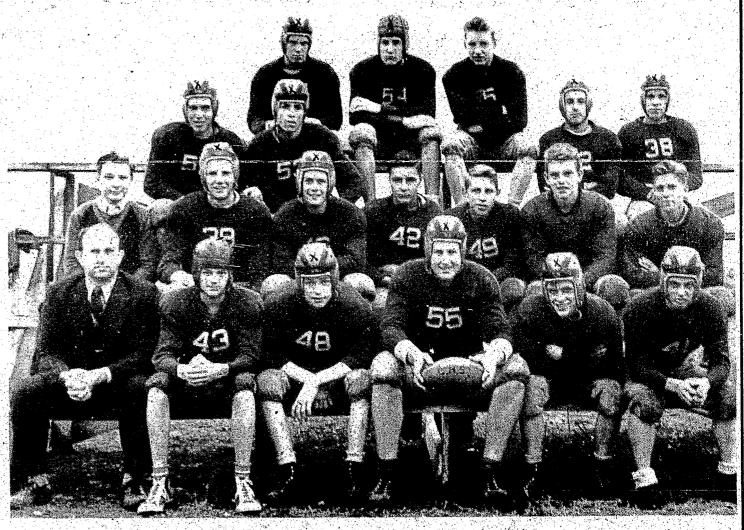

Doc, who retired in 1970, taught business classes at the high school. Since he coached football, he always housed a first-aid kit in his classroom.

If someone suffered a minor injury, Principal Bob Waters would tell the student to "Go see Doc Thayer."

Doc coached both football and basketball from 1937-51 and baseball from 1937-52. He also was in charge of the golf team and received no pay for his coach-

But his extra assignments didn't stop with coaching. He was also the school's athletic director, marked the field before games and even mowed the grass during the summer.

'I even fixed the roof in the gym. They don't know what coaching is today," laughs Doc.

Eleanor shared many odd-hour dinners with her husband.

"I took the extra hours for granted. That was his job. I went to all the games," said Eleanor.

Clarkston wasn't always the Blue and Gold. The original school colors were blue and white. But Doc said the colors changed in 1942 when someone pointed out that the curtain overhanging the school's stage was blue and gold.

In 1941, Clarkston was Clarkston and not the Clarkston Wolves. About 130 students attended grades 9-12.

Among Clarkston's opponents were Big Beaver, Clawson, Log Cabin, South Lyon, Linden, Lake Orion and Oxford.

The games were played on Fridays at 4 p.m. before sparse but enthusiastic crowds (there weren't any bleachers).

There were some unique rules back

"If you came out in a quarter, you couldn't go back in that quarter," said

And if a sub entered a game, he had to sit out a play by standing on the field away from the huddle (to help prevent coaches from calling the plays).

Discipline problems were rare but every once in a while a player would get kicked off the team two weeks for smoktelevision, usually Michigan, Michigan State and the Lions.

Doc still watches a little football on playing and winning.

He last saw Clarkston play about 20 years ago.

"I hardly know any of the players or their parents," said Doc.

That's too bad. Dugan Fife, Jon Wyniemko, Brian Davis, Dan Griffiths and the other '91 Clarkston players sure wear the Clarkston colors well, Okay, even Dugan Fife would have a tough time throwing that old fat football. And head coach Kurt Richardson would hate those old substitution rules.

But 50 years later, Clarkston's still

SASHABAW'S John York caught this pass deep in Clarkston territory.

Cougars continue string of close wins over rival

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

A few points can go a long way.

For the fourth straight time, Sashabaw Junior High School's ninth-grade football team only needed one touchdown to defeat cross-town rival Clarkston Junior High.

Quarterback Toby Evans threw an 8yard touchdown pass to Dennis Wisser (Wisser also caught the 2-point conversion) early in the first quarter. That proved to be the lone scoring in the game as the Cougars edged the Wolverines, 8-0, Oct. 23 at the Clarkston High School field.

The Wolverines, on the Sashabaw 15-yard-line, almost scored late in the game but a Clarkston pass bounced off a receiver and into the arms of Cougar Wisser.

Sashabaw's Eric Endreszl rushed for 75 on 16 carries to help the Cougar cause.

Sashabaw edged Clarkston, 8-6, earlier this season and last year the Coug's nipped the Wolverines, 6-0, in both of their meetings. (Sashabaw has only swept the Wolverines three times in 21 years of competition).

Why the close, low-scoring games?
"I think we know each other's styles," said head Sashabaw coach Mike Stefanski. "We know what to expect. They're good defensive games. We really go at it. They're very emotional games with a lot of mental mistakes,"

Both teams became 5-3 after the

Sashabaw Junior High 7, Lake Orion 2 (Oct. 16 at the CHS field)

Sashabaw topped Lake Orion for the third straight time, edging the Dragons, 7-2

The winning score occured in the fourth quarter when Dennis Wisser returned a punt 32 yards for a touchdown (Mike Godoshian kicked the PAT).

Late in the game, the Cougars elected to take a safety instead of punting from the end zone Sashabaw quarterback Toby Evans completed eight of 19 passes for 60 yards.

Godoshian led the Cougars with seven tackles and seven assists.

JV Wolves find out they can win on the ground

BY JULIE CAMPE Clarkston News Editor

Two touchdowns in the last two minutes of the first half was more than enough for the Clarkston junior varsity football team.

The Wolves beat Garden City 32-0 at home Oct. 24 to improve their record to 6-1-1.

"We started out slow," said coach John Craven, "The turning point was those two quick touchdowns before the half."

In the first quarter, Kevin Dankert scored from 11 yards out, but the PAT was unsuccessful. Then Joe Davis ran for a 2-yard touchdown, and Dankert's pass to Brent Bundridge was complete for the 2-point conversion.

With two minutes left in the first half, Dankert scored on a quarterback sneak. The kick was unsuccessful for the

With just seconds left in the half,

Clarkston scored again with a 21-yard Dankert-to-Bundridge pass, making the score 26-0.

In the third quarter, the Wolves scored a final time in the game with a 3-yard pass from Dankert to Marty McGeough.

As a team, the Wolves racked up 266 yards rushing on 41 carries. In the air, they gained 92 yards and completed 10 of 22 passes — the first time this season the team did not have 100 yards in the air.

Individually, Nathan Abney rushed for 94 yards on 11 carries, while backup running back Mark Tersigni gained 51 yards on four carries.

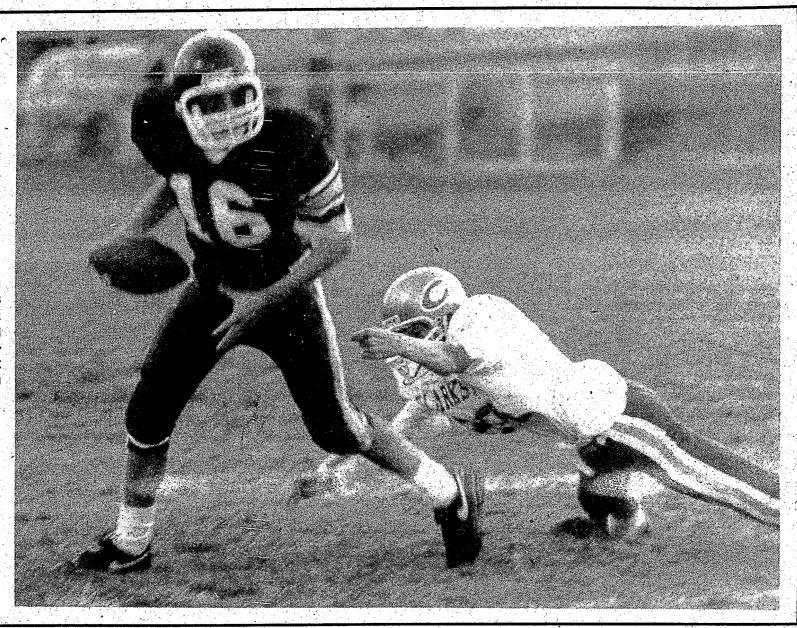

Defensively, John Zamora led the way with eight tackles. Mark Kulka and Kevin Covert contributed with 4 1/2 tackles enjoys.

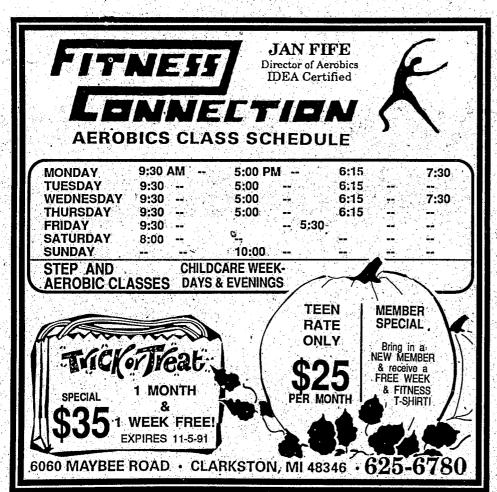

Pat Sornson, Bundridge, Mike Porritt and Douglas Labrie each recovered fumbles for the Wolves.

The team faces undefeated Brighton Oct. 31.

Loss to Huskies hurts cagers in GOAL

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

Pontiac Northern is doing everything it can to try and spoil Clarkston's fall sports season.

A few weeks ago in varsity football action, the Huskies topped the Wolves in overtime, hurting Clarkston's playoff chances.

On Oct. 24 in varsity girls' basketball, host Northern edged Clarkston, 48-47. The loss put the Wolves (11-4 overall and 5-2 in the league) two games behind Greater Oakland Activities League-leader Waterford Kettering.

The Wolves previously had crushed the Huskies, 67-39, Oct. 1 on the Clarkston court.

A free throw by Northern's Trisha Watson with 47 seconds left gave the Huskies a 1-point lead. Clarkston then had a chance to tie or go ahead but missed on two free-throw opportunities.

"They played a very physical game, which sometimes doesn't play into our hands," said Clarkston coach Larry Mahrle, who added, "Trisha Watson played a great game.

Clarkston led 15-9 after the first quarter.

Both teams played even in the second and third quarters and the Wolves took a 38-32 advantage into the final quarter.

But the Huskies, 7-2 overall and 4-2 in the GOAL, erased that deficit and held on for the win.

"Our defense let down in the fourth quarter," said Mahrle, "and we missed two or three easy layups."

Clarkston's Alyson McChesney was the game's leading scorer with 20. Courtney Whittaker finished with 17, Heather Steinhelper six, Laura Seitz and Stacey Tinkis each had two.

Rhonda Hammond paced the Huskies with 16 and Detra Coleman had 13.

Rochester Adams 60, Clarkston 51 (Oct. 22 at Clarkston)

Clarkston jumped out to an 11-0 lead but the tough Rochester Adams squad, ranked No. 3 in the state, came back to stop the Wolves, 60-51, in a seesaw non-league game.

The Wolves went ahead 15-5 after the first quarter but Adams, 13-0, took a 1-point lead at the half when it erupted for a 24-13 second quarter.

Clarkston regained the lead by going ahead, 41-39, after three quarters.

But Adams countered with a 21-10 fourth quarter to clinch the victory.

"It was a very good basketball game," said Mahrle, who was especially impressed with Adams' quickness:

Mahrle said his Wolves jumped out to an early lead because of an effective press.

"Pressing teams (Adams) don't like to be pressed," said the coach. Alyson McChesney and Adams'

Jeannine Augustin each scored 23. Augustin sank three 3-pointers.

Courtney Whittaker added 13 for the Wolves, Heather Steinhelper had six, Laura Seitz five and Stacey Tinkis four.

JV cagers hand Adams its 2nd loss

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI
Clarkston News Staff Writer

Crushing Pontiac Northern and outlasting once-beaten Rochester Adams improved the Clarkston JV girls basketball record to 12-3.

Clarkston 46, Pontiac Northern 17 (Oct. 24 at Pontiac Northern)

The Wolves held the Huskies to only five first-half points in a 46-17 Clarkston romp.

Clarkston jumped out to a 16-2 lead, stretched it to 24-5 at the half and increased it to 40-11 after three quarters.

Erin Patterson paced the Wolves with 12 points and six rebounds. Jennifer Wuotinen (five rebounds) and Shawna Greene each netted eight points, Shannon Binkley and Lisa Goforth each scored six, Amy Bishop tallied four and Rachel Olney scored two.

The victory gave the Wolves a 5-2 record in the Greater Oakland Activities League:

Clarkston 47, Rochester Adams 40 (Oct. 22 at Clarkston)

Shannon Binkley's season high 15 points, along with six rebounds, paved the way for a 47-40 win over Rochester Adams.

The loss was only the second of the year for the Highlanders.

"This game was a big win for us after our loss to Brandon. It really got the girls fired up and ready to go for our upcoming games against Northern and Kettering," said Clarkston coach Janet Swan.

Adams edged out in front 8-6 after the first quarter and continued with a slim 18-17 lead at the half.

Clarkston pulled ahead 32-30 after three quarters and held on for the win.

In addition to Binkley's scoring, Shawna Greene scored 11, Lisa Goforth eight, Erin Patterson five, Amy Bishop and Jennifer Wuotinen each had three and Sadie Caruso two. Woutinen also swept five boards.

JV golfers finish 19-1, set sights on future

BY JAMES GIBOWSKI Clarkston News Staff Writer

The state's seventh best Class A golf team will be losing many players to graduation, but the 1992 squad will be in capable hands of some talented underclass-

Next fall, the Clarkston varsity golf team will return Jayson Buchmann (a freshman who finished tied for ninth overall at state this year) and will feature members of a 19-1 JV team vying for other starting

Seven of the 10 golfers on that 19-1 JV team were freshmen, Coach Tim Kaul expected much from the frosh before the season and he wasn't disappointed.

"It's an exceptional class and nothing dissuaded me from that opinion," said Kaul.

The coach said his team was suc-cessful because "They're better at course management and they're anxious to play and practice."

Kaul also pointed out that most of his players have caddie experience (at Forest Lake Country Club), which helps them know the sport better.

In fact, many of the players (even sans tips) caddied for the varsity at the state finals, getting the feel of what it's like to compete at the championship.

Bloomfield Hills Lahser handed Clarkston its only loss of season, edging the Wolves 179-183 at Spring Lake Country Club. But when Clarkston traveled to the Knights' course, the Wolves won, 226-240.

In addition to its regular-season success, the Wolves also did well at a county-wide JV tournament at the Pontiac Country Club. No team scores were kept but Clarkston freshman Jon Dean fired an 81 which was the day's best score. Freshman Chris Harbert shot an 84, sophomore Ryan Carlstrom a 91 and freshman Corey Bildstein a 92.

Kaul said his team's total that day would have defeated at least a third of the varsity teams that recently competed in the Class A regionals on the same Pontiac

The coach said he appreciates his team being accomodated at Spring Lake Country Club ["Dan (owner Dan Fife) gives us reduced green fees].

But Kaul said there is one thing his team and the varsity could use.

"The only thing we need is a driving range," said Kaul.

The 10 JV golfers this season and their 9-hole averages were: Dean (44.7), Carlstrom (45.5), Bildstein (46.1), Myles Mosher (46.6), Brad Ryerse (46.7), Brandon Scheib (47.0), Harbert (47.2), Ryan Schilling (48.8), Jeremy Jenson (50.8) and Brad Shires (58.8).

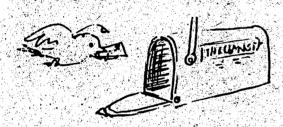

Dean was selected as the team's most valuable player, Carlstrom was picked as the most improved player and Mosher received the coach's award.

Aloha-bound

EMILY Livieratos (left) and Jennifer Gill won't be home for Christmas and they want it that way ... at least this one time. The two Clarkston Pom Pon Squad members will be leaving around Dec. 19 to perform at halftime of the nationally-televised Eagle Aloha Bowl football game in Honolulu, Hawaii Dec. 25. The cost of the trip is $1,800 each. Livieratos, a senior, and Gill, a junior, have already cut their costs in half with donations and fund-raising. The Clarkston Athletic Boosters have donated $300 to each girl. The girls, who are still seeking community sponsors, have also been selling candy and items from a Christmas gift catalog. Livieratos and Gill were selected for the trip because of their efforts when the Clarkston squad attended the NCA Superstars camp this summer. They were judged on dance, leadership and how fast they could learn routines. Anyone wishing to sponsor the girls can contact Clarkston High School at 625-0900.

AT THE Blockbuster game, Eric Zeile, 9, won a fish, a gun and a game of Ludo. The fourth-grader and many classmates enjoyed the annual Clarkston Elementary School Fair on Saturday, Oct. 26. Despite the rain, the event went well, according to organizers.

TWO of Carley Gray's brothers attend Clarkston Elementary School, so the 3-year-old accompanied them to the school fair, where she won a ring and yo-yo.

BRETT Miller, 5, wins a balloon car racer at Blockbuster bowling. He also won sunglasses, a wrist band and fish. His grandfather won a coloring book in the school raffle.

Friends find rewards in art, new framing business

BY DENNIS V. CARTER Clarkston News Staff Writer

Regenia Leehy and Kari Assemany have the right frame of mind to give the finishing touch to a piece of art or special item.

Regenia of Union Lake and Kari of Independence Township have eight years of framing experience between them. In may, the two opened the Artful Framer in the Independence Town Square at the intersection of Waldon and Sashabaw roads.

"We do custom picture framing, which is about 75 percent of our business," said Regenia. "But] we also handle artwork and will frame just about anything. We even framed a hockey stick once."

Opening the Artful Framer was a life-long dream of

What's new in business

Regenia's

"Owning a business was something I have always known I would one day do," she said. "But it can be really scary when the reality of the pressure of owning a business hits you."

Kari and Regenia, who are both married, pooled their life savings to open the Artful Framer.

"I kept nagging and nagging her (Kari) to go into business with me," said Regenia. "Then finally one day last November we sat down at a table at my house and decided to go for it."

The two began their framing careers at the same business, but each was promoted and sent to different

"We were friends and, of course, stayed in touch. After we went to different stores, we started talking about opening our own business, said Regenia.

As part of the services offered at the Artful Framer, Kari and Regenia can assist those looking for a certain lithograph.

"We have 20 artists available in the store and access to about 1,000 more that we can get lithographs from. All we need is the name of the artist or the name of the print, and we can usually get it," she said.

So far, business has been about what they expected,

REGENIA Leehy and her friend Kari Assemany have eight years of framing experience said Régenia.

"With the economy the way it is, we kind of started at a bad time, but we feel with the Christmas season coming up it will be strong for us," Regenia said. "Now that the center is beginning to fill up, that will help." between them. So far, their Artful Framer business is going well, said Regenia.

Since the Artful Framer is open seven days a week, there's always a time convenient to busy customers.

"We both love art, and we both realize that people in have busy schedules, so we try to make it easy for our customers to have access to us," Regenia said.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

SOME BENEFITS OF AGE

IF YOU WANT MORE HOUSE for your dollar, you have good reason to consider purchasing an older home.

> MAX____ BROOCK ____INC . REALTORS

27 S. Main, Clarkston 625-9300

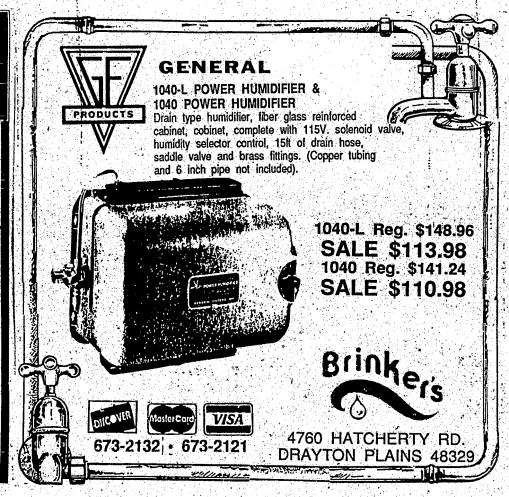

Ron Rodda Sales Manager "Let's discuss your Career in Real Estate Sales"

QUESTION: What are the advantages of purchasing an older home?

your dollar, you reason to conhave good cause to look over older houses. For one thing, there are more old houses than new ones. For every new house that will go up this year, there are some 45 existing homes already on the market.

Many older homes offer more abundant space - a special attraction if you have a large family, but a limited budget. Most old homes are in well-established, well-developed neighborhoods. There will be no waiting for streets to be paved, sewers to be connected or schools to be built. All that is going to grace the neighborhood is already there.

Expanding service

A Clarkston-area therapist has found that residents in nursing and rehabilitation facilities often need individual counseling to adjust to problems in addition to their physical illnesses.

Rick Hale, president of the Consortium for Human Development, Inc., a non-profit outpatient mental health and substance abuse agency with locations in Independence Township, Troy and Novi, has extended the Consortium's services on a trial basis by voluntarily counseling residents at the Georgian Bloomfield Nursing and Rehabilitation Center in Birmingham.

If the Consortium can obtain funding, the program will be extended to other nursing and rehabilitation facilities, where people need individual counseling.

"I've given a lot of thought about people with serious physical illness who must adjust to a nursing home environment," Hale said. "They certainly have many stressful problems to cope with and often badly need counsel from a trained therapist."

Since residents can't get out to counseling clinics, the therapist has to make "house calls" to the nursing or residential facility.

"Many of the people I see at Georgian Bloomfield suffer from multiple sclerosis, and some are head injury patients," Hale said, "When a relative or loved one is confined to a nursing home, their problems are not solved. In fact, many new ones are beginning,

"Some residents face considerable stress in the new environment, which can lead to depression," he said. "He or she not only must adjust to a debilitating physical condition but to the nursing facility as a new living environment as well."

Other problems for such residents include coping with being away from family and loved ones or stress from personal financial problems.

Hale hopes to expand the program if he can receive government funding or sponsorship by private businesses or individuals.

The Consortium doesn't have a lot of money since it attempts to provide therapy using a sliding scale basis, so that low-income, uninsured people are able to get the same expert service as those who are fully insured.

In addition to providing individual and group counseling for alcohol and drug abuse problems in three clinics, Consortium staff also go into the workplace to help local companies develop drug-free environments.

Other counseling programs involve individual and family therapy for substance abuse; emotional issues such as stress, depression or anxiety; and relationship issues such as divorce, blended families and adolescent changes.

Collector hosts carousel auction

A Clarkston carousel art collector is co-hosting the first ever Midwest auction for crafted carousel horses and merry-go-round figures.

Jon Abbott and his wife, Barbara, of Paramus, have sold to celebrities such as Ricky Nelson and Charles Bronson:

The Abbotts' goat served served as the model for one figure in a Franklin Mint Collectible set of carousel animal models and is only one of three in the world.

The auction is planned for 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 9, at the Holiday Inn, Farmington Hills, at 10 Mile and Grand River roads.

Admission is free. Bidders will receive a number upon entering the auction. A preview is set for 6 p.m. Friday and 8-10 a.m. Saturday.

Though merry-go-round animals have nostalgic value to some, serious collectors pay top dollar for the critters based on size and carving detail—anywhere from $3,000 for a stander horse to $148,000 for a Dentzel Rooster (Sotheby's 1989 sale price).

Carousel collectors like to tell the story of "the brass

It started around 1890 and meant a free ride to kids who rode the merry-go-round when carousels were in their heyday:

It began when carousel operators tried to encourage people to sit on the outside row of carousel animals — the animals that didn't pump up and down as did the inner rows of critters.

The operators offered a free ride to anyone who could grab a brass ring from an arm of a stand near the carousel. To get the ring, a rider would sit on the outside row and lean out to snag it. Because of high liability, only six to eight carousel operators today still offer the prized brass ring.

Now, the brass ring has become a metaphor for excellence.

A NEW NAME FOR CARING

North Oakland Medical Center

Pontiac General Hospital Division

461 West Huron Pontiac, Michigan 48341-1651 (313) 857-7200

Back in 1910, "caring" meant Pontlac residents raising $25,000 to build "Oakland County's First Hospital" in what was then a village of 5,000 people.

Subsidiaries Seminole Ambulatory Care Center Division

Pontiac Health Care

Division

Five years later, caring meant the Oakland County Hospital Association donating the hospital to the thriving industrial center of Pontiac...and Oakland County Hospital became Pontiac City Hospital, which was changed to Pontiac General Hospital in 1931. Today, new communities all over Oakland County look to the same hospital for caring in the 1990's for services such as:

Waterford Ambulatory • Complete care for new mothers and babies, including family centered birthing care Center and northern Oakland, County's leading intensive care unit for newborns.

Satellite centers offering walk in medical care and diagnostic services.
 Expanded programs in physical rehabilitation, county-wide psychiatric services and cardiac care.

State of the art laser and outpatient surgery.

With these new "caring" services and a patient base throughout Oakland County, our hospital has earned a new name.

Progressive? You may be eligible for award

If you know of a business that has initiated progressive and supportive policies for women employees, it's time to nominate it for an award.

The Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) is seeking applications for Business of the Year.

Any business operating in the Waterford-Clarkston community is eligible. Applications are available from Tierra Arts and Design on Main Street, Clarkston, or by calling Susan West at 362-4466 or 625-2092. Deadline to apply is Monday, Nov. 4. Nominations must be returned to Susan West, 7820 Deerhill Drive, Clarkston, MI 48346.

Winner of the Business of the Year Award will be honored at the BPW's dinner meeting planned for Thursday, Nov. 14, at the Deer Lake Racquet Club.

BPW club seeks outstanding women

Do you know an outstanding woman? Now's your chance to honor her.

The Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) is seeking nominations for Woman of the Year. This annual award is designed to honor women who have distinguished themselves in their careers and/or communities.

Any woman living or working in the Waterford-Clarkston area is eligible. She need not be a professional, nor does she have to be a member of the BPW.

Selection will be made on the basis of leadership and service rendered in the interest of community betterment.

Nomination forms may be picked up from Tierra Arts and Design on Main Street, Clarkston, or by calling Susan West at 362-4466 or 625-2092.

Nomination deadline is Monday, Nov. 4. Nominations must be returned to Susan West, 7820 Deerhill Drive, Clarkston, MI 48346.

Winner of the Woman of the Year Award will be honored at BPW's dinner meeting set for the Deer Lake Racquet Club on Thursday, Nov. 14.

Pet of the Week

ROCKY is a lovable pooch who's good with cats and children.

Rocky's a champ

Rocky resembles Rin Tin Tin, and he's in need of a new home.

This 1-year-old German shepherd-mix is white, weighs 56 pounds and is housebroken. He's reportedly good with children and cats.

His $104 adoption fee includes neutering and heartworm preventative medicine.

To see Rocky, visit the Michigan Humane Society, 3600 Auburn Road, Rochester Hills, 852-7420. Hours at the non-profit shelter are 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Exploring English

Amber Gebrowsky

English is one of the most widely used languages on earth. One out of every seven human beings is able to speak it. One-half of the books in the world are printed in English. It is the language with the largest vocabulary, with as many as 2 million words. Not all of these words make sense, though.

Think about food. There is no egg in eggplant, and you won't find pine nor apple in pineapple. You won't find any ham in a hamburger. French fries weren't invented in France, and English muffins weren't invented in England. Sweet-meats are candy and sweetbreads are meat.

When we speak English every day, we take it for granted. But when we explore it, we find that boxing rings aren't square, quicksand works slowly, guinea pigs aren't pigs, and they aren't from Guinea

Why is it that writers write and singers sing, but, grocers don't groce, hammers don't ham, and fingers never fing? The plural of tooth is teeth, so shouldn't the plural of booth be beeth? One goose, two geese, one mouse, two meese? One cheer, two cheers, one deer,

Why is is that you can make amends but never just one amend? What happens when you have a drawer full of odds and ends and you get rid of all but one? If you make a horsehair mat from the hair of a horse and a camel hair coat from the hair of a camel, what is a mohair coat made from?

Maybe all English speakers are insane. Why else would we park on a driveway and drive on a parkway? Recite at a play and play at a recital? Have noses that run and feet that smell? How can a fat chance and a slim chance be the same thing? How is it possible for overlook and oversee to be opposites when quite a lot and quite a few are the same thing?

Why is it that we only talk about certain things when they are absent? Have you ever seen a strapful gown, a horseful carriage, or a sung hero? Who has ever metsomeone who was combobulated, ruly, or peccable?

What a unique language English is: Your house burns up as it burns down. You fill in a form by filling it out. It is things like these that prove that English was created by humans, not computers. It is a language that shows the creativity of the human race (which is as much of a race as the rat race). So I'll leave you with one final thought: How can I wind up this article as I wind it down?

Amber Gebrowsky is a ninth-grader at Sashabaw Junior High School.

We are not a Jack of-all-trades. We can not guarantee you the absolute lowest price as we will not sacrifice the quality products or workmanship that you deserve. But what we will guarantee is an honest and fair price with products and workmanship of the highest quality. We also do our own work. We don't get your job and sub-contract it out, prisell it. So if you are only looking for the cheapest way out, call someone else who claims they can beat any price. If you are out, call someone east with they can beat any price. If you are looking for an honest and fair price, quality products and workmanship, dependability and someone that will dependability and someone that will still be here after your job is completed, give us a call. Helping you make your home the one you've always dreamed of is what we do,

Creatures of the night

THIS MAD DOCTOR, a.k.a. Tim Walton, prepares to pull the switch on his electric chair in Clintonwood Park's Haunted Forest.

PAT HAASETH, an employee with the Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department, strikes a ghoulish pose.

WHAT would Halloween be without an 8-foot spider? This web-slinging menace was created by parks and recreation employee Brian Doyle.

FRANK PHIFFER, a volunteer from the senior center, scared many a visitor as an illuminated skeleton in one of the Haunted Forest's three haunted houses.

A CREATURE of the night rises from her grave to grab at several unsuspecting guests visiting her cemetery.
